Jordanian Factions Battle in Civil War

By United Press International
Heavy fighting between the Jordanian army and Palestinian guerrillas raged in the streets of Amman today and four cities to the north. It also broke out in the Lebanese capital of Beirut where guerrillas seized the Jordanian Embassy.

Marshal Habes Al-Majali, commander of the Jordanian army, imposed a total curfew on Amman and said "any violator of the curfew would be shot." But the guerrillas paid no heed and the pencil thin minarets of Amman were bathed in smoke from fires throughout the city.

Syria threatened to intervene on the side of the Palestinians, and the guerrilla's radio appealed to the 12,000 to 15,000 Iraqi troops stationed in Jordan to join in the fighting. Israel watched events carefully, prepared to intervene if its security is threatened.

There was no word on the fate of the 54 hijack hostages held by guerrillas in various parts of Amman or of the 100 Americans and 160 Britons stationed in the Jordanian capital. The Americans were told Wednesday to stay close to their homes.

Jordan had been on the brink of civil war since Wednesday when King Hussein installed a military government because of the threat to his kingdom posed by the Palestinians and because of past fighting that killed or wounded 1,000 persons.

The guerrillas united under Yasser Arafat, head of the Al Fatah commando group, and announced their opposition. Shots sounded through the capital Wednesday following a general strike that shattered the windows of Amman's business houses.

Fighting broke out in the north at the towns of Zerga, 13 miles northeast of Amman, at Salt, 22 miles northwest; at Irbid, 45 miles to the north, and at Ramtha, eight miles east of Irbid. Each side claimed victories in a series of tank and artillery duels.

This morning, Jordanian army cars rolled into Amman from the hills south of the city, and the rattle of heavy machineguns punctuated the almost continuous thunder of artillery. Shells struck near the U.S. and British embassies and at Jordanian army headquarters.

The seven hills of Amman echoed in an almost incessant thunder as the army used its tanks and artillery for the first time in Amman against the guerrilla strongpoints. Fighting raged hours later.

Amman was cut off from the outside world. Heavy fighting broke out at the airport, and it was closed. Telephone and telex lines were cut and there were reports the post office building housing them had been captured by the Palestinians.

Reports of the battles came from Amman radio, from Damascus radio and from diplomats. The airwaves were filled with coded messages from guerrilla headquarters in Damascus exhorting them to fight on until total victory.

Smoke spread over Amman like a pall and the fighting intensified each hour, correspondents there reported in pooled dispatches sent through diplomatic channels. They said some shots were fired at the Inter-Continental Hotel where they were holed up and that a heavy firefight broke out across the street.

Swedish cameraman Olle Ofven of Stockholm was shot in the right leg while taking pictures from a balcony of the hotel.

SMALL BOAT shown at bottom, the "Galilee," is towed toward Honolulu after three persons were rescued from the sinking craft after spending 48 days adrift while en route from Tahiti to the U.S. (UPI)

SURVIVORS from the 45-foot sloop are introduced by naval officer after they managed to stay alive 48 days while adrift. They are, from left, Lauren Louise Kokx, 21, Ojai, Calif.; Julian Ritter, 60, captain of the sloop, and Winfried Herringhoff, 27, West Germany. They survived without food during their ordeal. (UPI)

Three Survive 48 Days Adrift

HONOLULU (UPI) — The three gaunt survivors of the disabled sloop Galilee told Wednesday of how they survived 48 incredible days of drifting at sea on "algae, courage, and every so often a flying fish."

The three, two men and a woman, were spotted by a U.S. Navy supply ship two days ago 422 miles northwest of Honolulu. They were emaciated and described as "living skeletons."

The three were Julian Ritter, 60, an artist who left Santa Barbara, Calif., three years ago in the Galilee to sail through the South Seas; Lauren Kokx, 21, of Ojai, Calif., who has been sailing off and on with Ritter, a family friend, for the past two years, and Winfried B. Herringhoff, 27, a ceramics salesman from Sydney, Australia, who joined the ship in Bora Bora while traveling in the South Pacific.

Although quite thin—Ritter lost 38 pounds, Miss Kokx, 34 pounds and Herringhoff, 48 pounds—and still weak, all were cheerful and appeared surprisingly healthy. They met with newsmen aboard the USS Niagara Falls shortly after it docked.

Solon Discouraged By Sawtooth Delay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, said Wednesday he still had hopes action would be taken during this session of Congress on bills to protect Idaho's White Clouds and Sawtooth mountains.

McClure said he was "disappointed" in a statement made by Rep. Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo., chairman of the House Interior Committee, that the bills would probably have to wait until the next session of Congress for action.

The measures would create a 508,800-acre national recreation area in the mountains of central Idaho, give the peaks national park status, and impose a moratorium on any new mining claims.

McClure, a member of the Interior Committee, said while Aspinall had indicated it would not be possible to act on the bills, "I still have hopes that if some other committee action is cancelled we might be able to squeeze this in."

Reds Press Encircled Soldiers

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces under cover of supporting artillery fire early today attacked eight battalions of Cambodian troops trapped 49 miles north of Phnom Penh, a military spokesman said.

The heavy assault against the 4,000 government troops dug into foxholes and trenches alongside vital Highway 6 marked the first use of artillery in the Cambodian war by the Viet Cong, the spokesman said.

Military sources said the Cambodian high command urgently requested American jet bombers for an attack against the Communist forces. UPI learned three Cambodian battalions were poised at Skoun 35 miles northeast of the capital to push northward in efforts to relieve the isolated task force.

In South Vietnam, South Vietnamese infantrymen supported by heavy U.S. air strikes and artillery killed 46 Communist troops in renewed heavy fighting near fire base O'Reilly, military spokesman reported today.

Thirty-eight North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers were killed by air strikes Wednesday seven miles northwest of the outpost situated 390 miles north of Saigon and 12 miles east of Laos. A government soldier was reported wounded.

UAW Head Travels To Locals

DETROIT (UPI) — United Auto Workers President Leo-nard Woodcock and other UAW officials set off on a four-day cross-country tour today to work on local grievances that could tie up General Motors corp. production even after a national strike is ended.

Main-table negotiations between GM and the UAW were in recess until Tuesday, which will be more than a week after 343,610 workers at GM plants in the United States and Canada struck when the three-year contract expired.

State Charges Theater Owner

BY CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Correspondent
JEROME — The Idaho State Department of Labor Wednesday became the latest to file charges against the manager of the Frontier Theater here.

According to Prosecuting Attorney S.A. Kolman, the complaint was filed Wednesday by Eldon C. Ryals on behalf of the state agency.

The complaint alleges theater manager DeWayne Foust failed to carry workmen's compensation insurance as required by law.

The charge stems from an accident six weeks ago when Jerry Powell, 21, working as a janitor at the theater, tripped on a loose board on a stairway and fell, injuring his back.

Powell filed an accident report with the industrial accident board in Boise, which ordered Foust to pay all of Powell's doctor and hospital bills. The complaint alleges Foust has failed to do so, the prosecutor said.

The theater manager was bound over to district court Wednesday by Probate Judge Russell Shaud during a preliminary hearing on an earlier charge of disseminating material harmful to minors.

Mrs. J.B. Thomason had filed the complaint after noticing what she considered an offensive picture on the theater display window on Main Street.

Foust also faces a third charge of hiring underage girls to work at the theater. Judge Shaud took this charge under advisement.

Foust claimed in the hearing the girls lied about their ages when applying for work.

No New Murder Clues

JEROME — No new clues were reported today by Jerome sheriff's officials investigating the murder of Reuben Stohler, 60, Jerome farmer whose body was found in the basement of his farm home Monday morning.

Officers took fingerprints at the Stohler house Wednesday, and also said their check of all local bars and clubs has turned up no clues as to the man's whereabouts prior to his death.

An autopsy report indicated two stab wounds were made with a knife or other sharp object, officers said.

The victim was found by his son, Delhardt Stohler, San Mateo, Calif., who was called here when neighbors reported to officers there was no milk to be picked up Sunday morning at the Stohler farm.

Angry Latins Assail Police

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A festive parade celebrating Mexico's Independence Day erupted into violence Wednesday night in the nation's largest Mexican-American community when a crowd of young Chicanos estimated at about 4,000 confronted officers with rock and bottle throwing and firebombings.

At least 50 persons were arrested and 15 sheriff's deputies injured—including one who was shot in the arm by a sniper.

A 60-year-old civilian also was shot in the knee and a hospital in the area reported another man was being treated for a gunshot wound in the shoulder. Officers said both were the result of sniper fire. Ten other persons suffered injuries and were treated at hospitals with two in serious condition.

Deputies said sporadic sniper shots were fired during the height of the disturbance but it was "hard to determine whether all of it was gunshots and not firecrackers."

The number of deputies employed in the area was not revealed but estimated by newsmen to be more than 250.

The focus of the violence was East Los Angeles Junior College, whose trustees denied the Chicano Moratorium Committee permission to use the stadium for a rally, and nearby Belvedere Park.

The parade, in which 2,500 persons participated, ended in the school's parking lot. Earlier, near the end of the march, deputies said the initial incidents of violence occurred as officers on motorcycles were pelted with rocks and eggs.

When the brief parking lot rally ended, a crowd marched to a sheriff's command post shouting slogans such as "Chicano power" and pelted officers with rocks. Parade monitors, members of Mexican-American groups, unsuccessfully attempted to hold back the group by linking arms in a human chain.

Kills Roaches

NEW YORK (UPI)—A New York housewife recently saw an ad for a "sure fire roach killer" and mailed $2.98 to a Dallas mail order house to give it a try, the Better Business Bureau reported Wednesday.

A few days later the product arrived: Two blocks of wood.

The housewife, not identified, hardly could argue with the efficiency of the device but still she was angry.

Gets $250

TWIN FALLS — Damages of $250 were awarded by a Fifth Judicial District court jury Wednesday afternoon to Edward F. and Kerry Pedersen, Twin Falls, in a $25,500 damage suit against Percy Lee Montgomery.

The plaintiffs asked damages as result of a March 12, 1969 traffic accident in which Kerry Pedersen, a minor, was injured. The complaint charged the defendant was under the influence of alcoholic beverages at the time his car and the Pederson vehicle collided.

GOLDA MEIR, Israeli prime minister, says she looks forward to a "very good meeting" with President Nixon at a press conference at her arrival at the airport in New York Wednesday. Mrs. Meir denied a report by the U.S. State Department that Israel had violated the Middle East cease-fire. She is in the United States to seek military aid and discuss other problems of the Middle East. (UPI)

Reds Offer 'Bug-Out' Ceasefire

PARIS (UPI)—Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh said today the Viet Cong would agree to a cease-fire in Vietnam if the United States would pledge to withdraw all of its troops from South Vietnam before June 30, 1971.

Mme. Binh, "foreign minister" in the Viet Cong's so-called Provisional Revolutionary Government, ended a five-week boycott today and met the new American negotiator, David K. E. Bruce, for the first time.

She offered an eight-point peace initiative which called for discussions on the freeing of prisoners of war if the United States would agree to the first condition of withdrawal.

According to the text of her conference statement, Mme. Binh said that if the U.S. government declares its readiness to withdraw its troops by the mid-1971 deadline "The People's Liberation Armed Forces will refrain from attacking the withdrawing troops of the United States, and those of the other foreign countries in the U.S. camp, and the parties will engage at once in discussions on:

"The question of ensuring safety for the total withdrawal from South Vietnam of U.S. troops and those of the other foreign countries in the U.S. camp, and

"The question of releasing captured military men."

"The question of Vietnamese armed forces in South Vietnam shall be resolved by the Vietnamese parties among themselves," she added, apparently referring to the longstanding U.S. contention that North Vietnamese troops are present in South Vietnam in massive numbers.

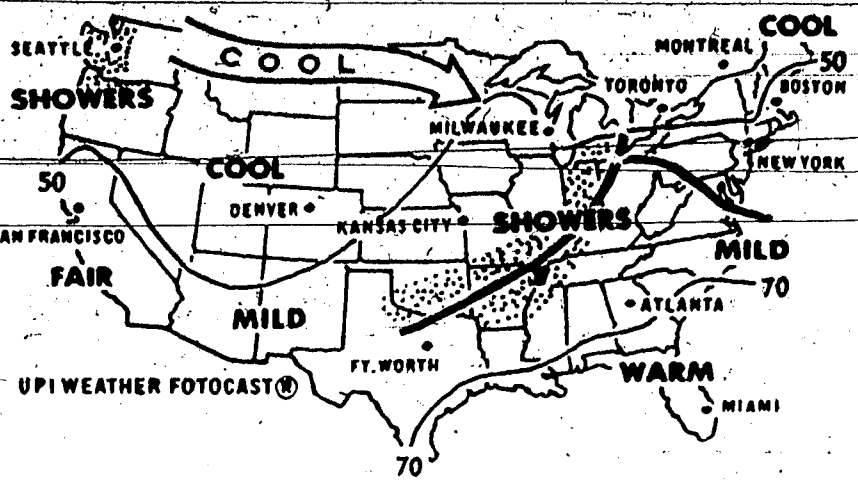

YOUNG MEXICAN-AMERICAN involved in disturbances at Los Angeles following a parade celebrating Mexico's 50th anniversary of independence is handcuffed by sheriff's deputies. The disturbances broke out as crowds dispersed, except for some unruly elements who refused to go home. Five deputies were reported to have been injured. (UPI)

Agnew Cites Radicals

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew wound up his first fall campaign swing with a rousing attack on "radical liberals," like Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and an appeal to "forgotten Americans," like the American working man. Agnew called Hart one of "a little band of radical liberals... who frustrate the will of the new majority of the American people." He spoke Wednesday at an afternoon stop at Midland, Mich., and repeated the refrain here Wednesday night before flying back to Washington, D.C. The Michigan swing was in support of Hart's opponent, Mrs. Lenore Romney, who is trailing badly in polls. Gov. William G. Milliken, who succeeded Mrs. Romney's husband George when Romney became secretary of housing and urban development, attend the $100-a-place dinner here, along with about 1,400 party faithful. Agnew used a tunnel from the Pantlind Hotel to the convention hall to avoid about 100 peaceful dissenters and left by car immediately afterward for the airport. While here, Agnew vowed, "There will be no amnesty for draft dodgers," a dig at a Michigan state Democratic platform plank urging amnesty for draft resisters. Hart, Democratic governor nominee Sander M. Levin and state Attorney General Frank J. Kelley have disavowed the plank. Agnew told the dinner, "There are great choices in life. Millions of young Americans chose the path of courage and more than 40,000 of them died for their decision. A few hundred slackers who chose another path are just going to have to live with the consequences of their decision." Agnew said, "It's incredible... that the opposition party of this state would formally embrace resolutions favoring unilateral pullout of our forces from South Vietnam by Christmas of 1970."

New Auto Tax?

A BOEING 727 Tri-Jet deplanes passengers at the Twin Falls City-County Airport after landing on a non-stop flight from Cleveland. The huge plane, owned by United Airlines and on charter, was the largest ever to land at the local field. It carried a group of Ohio business and professional men bound for a holiday at Sun Valley.

BOISE (UPI)—A $40 a year tax on automobiles was suggested Wednesday as a means of phasing out property taxes used for streets and highways.

The suggestion was made by the executive director of the Association of Idaho Cities, Ed Simmerman, who said $14 million would be needed to replace money presently collected through property taxes.

He made the report to the legislative Interim Committee on Highway Needs which met Wednesday in Boise.

Simmerman is a member of the subcommittee which has the responsibility of developing data on the various taxing bodies which have control over construction of streets and highways.

Boise Mayor Jay Amyx, who is also a subcommittee member, said the tax would be based on a graduated basis based on the weight, age and value of the car.

Buckeye Charter Flight Joslin Field's Largest

A Boeing 727 Tri-Jet from Cleveland carrying 55 professional and businessmen bound for Sun Valley, became the largest plane ever to land at the Twin Falls City-County Airport, Joslin Field, when it touched down late Wednesday afternoon.

The big United Airline plane, with a crew of five, was on charter by members of the Commonwealth Club of Cincinnati. The Sun Valley holiday and business sessions will last until Sunday afternoon at which time the jet will return for the pickup flight back east.

The plane is capable of carrying 110 passengers. The payload of the flight into Twin Falls was listed at 11,275 pounds and there were 2,200 pounds of baggage aboard. Landing weight of the plane was given as 140,000 pounds.

Before a return flight to United's big base at Denver, the plane took on 2,000 gallons of jet fuel delivered by Reeder Flying Service. Members of Hughes Air West regular ground crew serviced the plane.

The 727 used only half of the new east-west runway at the airport for takeoff. The local field is the only one in Magic Valley capable of accepting commercial jet planes and also four-engine prop-jet planes.

Two Sun Valley buses took club members to the resort. A Sun Valley official, with the group, said landing of big planes like the 727 at Twin Falls will be commonplace during the winter ski season. Regularly scheduled jet service is maintained here by Hughes Air West utilizing 90-passenger DC-9 planes.

Only two mints are operated by the U.S. federal government — one at Philadelphia, Pa., and one at Denver, Colo.

Chapter Seeking Rights

Members of the Twin Falls Chapter, Idaho Education Association, voted Tuesday to ask the board of trustees of School District 411 for the right of exclusive representation in the district.

Reid Pfefferle, association president, said this will enable the local chapter to negotiate directly with the board in representing the needs of Twin Falls teachers, counselors and administrators.

The action came at the chapter's first meeting of the 1970-71 school term.

Duke Wiseman was appointed by Pfefferle to serve as chairman of a committee to plan a social event early in October.

Other committee members are Barbara Shockley, Sue Remaley, Jack Watts, Tina Stevens, Clarence Parker, George Walton, and Mrs. Blanche Peay.

Visitors Like Judging Paintings At Fair: Artists Not Impressed

system adopted this year, proved popular with fairgoers but less acceptable by the artists.

Mickey Marshall, in charge of the exhibit this year, said plans are being made for future shows to be judged by the public in a special popularity contest and by art judges as well.

Two artists shared honors in this year's event. Juanita Miller, Twin Falls, won by popular vote on Thursday and Saturday while Leon Smith, also Twin Falls, won on Wednesday and Friday. In over-all voting, Mrs. Miller received first place and Smith second. Smith's painting was an oil of a winter time moonlight scene. Mrs. Miller painted a portrait on velvet entitled, "Mr. Walters."

Second runner up in the contest was Darwin Taylor who exhibited a seascape. Mrs. Miller also earned the "best of show" award at the Jerome County fair's art show this year. The Buhl and Twin Falls art guilds sponsored the show at Filer this year.

Lead Tax Opposed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The lead industry vigorously opposed President Nixon's proposed tax on lead in gasoline today with the warning it could backfire and cause more pollution than it would stop.

John L. Kimberly, executive vice president of Lead Industries Association, told the House Ways and Means Committee in prepared remarks that oil companies will have to add so-called aromatic chemicals to gasoline to boost octane ratings if they switch from lead.

Aromatics, Kimberly said, could boost exhaust pollution by 25 per cent over emissions from gasoline with lead.

The day Jell-O cream pies lowered their prices.

People are going absolutely wild. All because we realized they had less money to spend on fancy desserts. So we lowered our prices.

Now everybody can afford to fix the kind of dessert their family deserves. Light, smooth, rich Jell-O cream pies. In four different flavors.

Chocolate, Lemon meringue, Banana cream and Coconut cream. The day Jell-O cream pies lowered their prices. Just an insignificant day in the annals of history.

Unless you're a housewife with a family to feed.

Report On Campus Radicalism

WASHINGTON — Despite his flamboyant rhetoric, Sen. Gordon Allott (R-Colo.) has sounded a reasonable warning in his charge that the President's Commission on Campus Unrest is likely to issue a report that will be a "faceted whitewash" of campus radicalism.

These developments seem to support Allott's indictment. A majority of the nine-man commission headed by former Governor William Scranton of Pennsylvania "frankly and vigorously has taken a pro-student stand," according to one of Scranton's intimate advisers.

Lt. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis, who is black, has been black-balled in his attempts to find a job in the academic world because he has stressed the law-and-order theme in meetings of the commission.

Some White House staff members complain that President Nixon's top domestic affairs assistant, John D. Erlichman, packed the commission with left-leaning members in a "panic-stricken" response to the violent reaction of students and academicians to the Cambodian invasion.

General Davis is described by White House sources as the only commission member who seeks out the law enforcement point of view, although others say Davis gets strong support from Police Chief James Ahern of New Haven, Conn. Leaders of the so-called pro-radical group include Joseph Rhodes, Jr., the young Negro who is a junior fellow at Harvard; Dr. James E. Cheek of predominantly black Howard University, and Bayless Manning, dean of the Stanford Law School.

Other commission members include Erwin D. Caham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor; Martha Derthick, a professor at Boston College, and Rebus O. Ortigue, Jr., former president of the National Bar Association (not the ABA) and head of the New Orleans Urban League.

Most Nixon people commend Scranton for his fairness, but complain that he leans over backward to give a hearing to both black and white militants. They also say the commission is in danger of being dominated by young Rhodes, who greeted his appointment to the commission by blaming President Nixon for the killings at Kent State University and since has dispatched his own "task forces" to investigate campus problems across the country.

Senator Allott, it is now acknowledged, got the material for his blast at the commission from White House staffers. Even without such acknowledgment, his sources would be obvious. For example, the Colorado Senator cited precise details in telling the story of a young commission investigator who tried to "browbeat the military" into furnishing him with a helicopter and a military escort so he could serve some subpoenas in Michigan.

Allott also is echoing the complaint of these staffers when he declares that "some of these commissioners are hardly objective investigators." He uses almost identical language in charging that the commission has given too much time to its hearings to speeches by radicals, and that the commission was "rude, arrogant and high-handed" in dealing with such "non-radicals" as philosopher Sidney Hook and physicist Edward Teller. Both Hook and Teller called for more discipline on campus — but, says Allott, they "were treated with disdain and contempt when they testified."

It is, of course, fair and reasonable for Scranton to plead that critics refrain from prejudging the commission while its report is still being prepared. But the rumblings from White House staffers have a familiar as well as an ominous tone, to wit, that the commission seems overly preoccupied with the faults of the "system."

For The Birds

It looks as though Magic Valley hunters are going to have their birds — but they shouldn't plan to eat them.

A report by Dr. Terrell O. Carver, state health administrator, showed seventy-five per cent of the game birds tested in Idaho revealed traces of mercury poisoning.

And in the next "breath" his report warned citizens not to eat more than one meal of pheasant a week. Added was the warning that pregnant women avoid food known or suspected to contain mercury. Also, that the back and all giblets of the pheasant be discarded.

It was indicated it might be possible to eat pheasant more than once a week without dire effects. But the one meal, one bird was favored.

To which the Times-News puts the question: Why eat pheasant at all?

If there is any danger in eating such a bird — and a man and commission who should know have said as much — then we fail to see why pheasants should be eaten.

The Times-News would suggest that, rather than "live dangerously" by eating a pheasant, the hunters — if they have to hunt — should shoot then let the birds stay where they fall.

But then telling people to not eat pheasant because it may kill them might not do much good. For years now we — and the experts — have been advocating use of seat and shoulder belts in cars, eliminating alcohol if you plan to drive, cutting out the use of cigarettes.

Yet many people still drive without the belt, drink all they can hold and puff cigarettes most of the time.

Perhaps there will be many who just can't wait to get their teeth into a poisoned pheasant.

Revenue

Sharing of federal revenues with the states, an idea greeted with considerable enthusiasm when it was broached, apparently is going to be laid to rest, at least for this session of Congress, for the very good reason that there isn't anything to share. Prospects are dim that there will anything to share in the foreseeable future, as federal deficits are projected for the next two or three years, at least.

Federal income taxes have proved to be so successful a method for raising vast sums of money that some Congressmen have not appeared to realize there was any limit on what they wanted to spend. The constant reminders of President Nixon to hold the line to combat inflation have been unsuccessful in several instances, especially when Congress considered economy would be unpopular with powerful segments of the population in an election year. But the federal income tax has perhaps been too successful, in that inadequate resources have remained for the support of state and local governments. This unfortunate circumstance led to the idea for revenue sharing, which does not take into account the source of the difficulty, namely, excessive federal spending.

As The Wall Street Journal so aptly put it: "States and localities would find it easier to raise more of their own revenue if the federal government were raising and spending less."

This appears to be a forlorn hope, despite its cogent logic, not alone because of the perilous jungle paths the world is traveling, but also because every special interest group, including states and localities, wants more and more federal services, programs and funds.

It is plain that even so rich a nation as the United States has limits. We must recognize the truth of the old saw that we can't eat our cake and have it, too.

MR. SPECTATOR

The Rise And Fall

Ever read Edward Gibbon's "The Decline and Fall Of The Roman Empire"?

As you remember, there were five reasons for that fall, according to the author who did his thing back in 1788. Got a note from E. T. Edgerton, Kimberly, the other day and he was nice enough to list these five causes for us.

We'll pass them on:

(1)—The rapid increase of divorce—the undermining of the dignity and sanctity of the home, which is the basis of human society.

(2)—Higher and higher taxes and the spending of public money for free bread and circuses for the populace.

(3)—The mad craze for pleasure. Sports becoming every year more exciting and more brutal.

(4)—The building of giant armaments when the real enemy was within. The decadence of the people.

(5)—The decay of religion—faith fading into mere form—losing touch with life and becoming impotent to guide the people.

To which Mr. Spectator might add the question: Are there lessons here for us today?

Dear Mr. Spectator: Section 18-6203, Idaho Code, declares that "it shall be unlawful for any person or persons in this state to keep open (on Sunday) any theater, moving picture show, play house, dance house, race track, merry-go-round, circus or show, concert saloon, billiard or pool room, or variety hall."

The law provides that "if a number of the qualified electors residing within the limits of any incorporated city or village equal to a majority of the votes cast at the last general election therein shall petition the council or board of trustees . . . to permit theaters or moving picture shows to keep open on Sunday . . ." an ordinance may be passed, etcetera . . .

My question, Mr. Spectator, which your readers may also ask, is: Did Twin Falls conduct such an election? If not, then the theater operators are guilty of violating the law and are subject to the penalties of said law, to wit: "any person . . . violating this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than $30 or more than $250 for each offense and shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed 90 days and upon a second conviction any license which may have been granted for opening and maintaining any such place of business shall also be rendered void, and shall not be renewed within two years next thereafter."

And, in closing, may I ask just what is a "concert saloon"?

The Newsroom Oracle

ALL WOUND UP AND READY TO GO

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

"Slaughter"

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our son, 15, has Osgood Slaughter on his left knee. The doctor said to give his leg complete rest; no unnecessary walking and no sports.

He has been very active in sports and wants to go out for football and basketball when that time comes.

We can't make him understand that he needs to rest the leg. It is doubly hard when his school coaches insist that they didn't give up their activities when they had it. He also has several classmates with Osgood Slaughter and they aren't curtailing their activities. What do we tell him? — D.E.T.

It's not Osgood Slaughter. It's Osgood-Schlatter's disease. But you aren't the only one who calls it "Slaughter." I've run across the same term from others recently.

I am surprised to hear of school coaches who would urge a boy to continue in sports with a diseased knee — and good coaches don't. I also wonder if they know what the disease is, and whether they think that Osgood-Schlatter's is a general term for any old kind of a "lame knee."

That applies also to these "several classmates" who claim to have it. I doubt if they know what they are talking about. Osgood-Schlatter's disease is a disorder of a specific part of the leg. Through injury or other cause, the bone has distorted circulation. While it is in that condition, putting weight on it can shorten the bone, deform it, and do such mischief that even surgery may not correct it later.

There is no medication to cure it. Only time and rest will let the circulation resume, and it may take months, sometimes many months.

My advice is to have your doctor refer you to an orthopedist (bone specialist) to remove any doubt as to whether this really is Osgood-Schlatter's. Then I'd insist on following whatever advice the specialist specifies.

Depending on the degree of trouble, restriction of activity will vary. Sometimes "taking it easy" suffices. Sometimes a brace. Sometimes a cast. In some instances, youngsters have been confined to a wheelchair for a time.

I wouldn't take a chance on ruining this boy's leg. If he won't listen to medical advice, then I'd put the leg in a cast.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have gradually been losing coordination in my fingers of my left hand and can hardly pick up anything. The fingers are bent and I can't straighten them out. I work in the dietary department of the hospital and have to be careful that I don't drop dishes. I balance a tray on my hand instead of holding it as there is no strength in the fingers.

I hope you can give me some idea what causes this. I am not sick so don't want to see a doctor. — Mrs. W.W.

I'm afraid you need a mild scolding, especially since you work in a hospital. You don't have to be sick in bed to need a doctor's help.

While it's not possible to guess accurately what ails your hand, something is wrong with it. Probably your supervisor at the hospital would be glad to tell you which doctor to see. Getting treatment soon enough often forestalls worse trouble later.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told by more than one friend that after a person has eaten, if he drinks as much water as he can hold, it will cut many of the calories. Is there any truth in this, and how would it affect a pregnant woman? — S.K.R.

No truth to it. Calories are in the food eaten and not reduced by dilution. I wouldn't recommend it for a pregnant woman. It might have no effect other than to send her to the bathroom oftener and make her uncomfortable but I see no point in it.

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH

School Dilemma

WASHINGTON — In their efforts to help the nation's troubled schools, the separate branches of the federal government sometimes seem to be working at cross purposes.

The confusion goes beyond the current controversy over busing students to achieve racial balance. A wholly different question is at issue in a court case which involves the local District of Columbia schools.

The case has national importance because similar legal efforts are to be pressed elsewhere—efforts which challenge unequal sums spent on different schools in the same school district.

In 1967, Federal Appeals Court Judge J. Skelly Wright told the D.C. School Board that it must not discriminate "on the basis of racial or economic status" in the operation of the mostly black Washington schools. That seemed logical, since Wright found that proportionately more money was being spent on the schools in predominantly white D. C. suburbs than in the inner city schools.

Now Wright is being pressed by a militant black, former school board member Julius Hobson, to put teeth in his 1967 ruling. Wright has determined that the board is still spending more money in the "richest and whitest" parts of town. He has ordered the Board to say why it should not be required to equalize next year's per school expenditures within a five per cent variation.

That, too, sounds logical enough, but wait a minute! Since 1964 Congress has been passing laws and presidents have been signing laws, which provide for spending more money on schools with large numbers of children from low income families.

That is the thrust of the popular Head Start program. It is the central doctrine of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act that school boards should favor schools which serve neighborhoods of low economic status. Equalization is an old concept in education. Many states aid local school boards under complex formulas which give more financial help to those districts which have fewer economic resources.

More and more, however, educators are trying to meet individual educational needs—the needs of the individual student. Equalization, as a concept, makes less and less sense as the focus narrows toward the individual student.

In some schools the needs of many individual students may be for unusually expensive programs. For example, a vocational or trade course in which 12 to 15 youngsters spend two hours each day with an instructor, may meet an educational need for many students in inner cities. Those courses are expensive, however. So are courses which seek to compensate for unrewarding home backgrounds.

That is the irony of Wright's original ruling and his new demand for equalization. The students he wants to help need a little discrimination. They are going to need programs in their school which are more expensive than those in the suburbs.

PAUL HARVEY

Curable Cause

What causes crime? Sociologists are having altogether as much difficulty answering that question as medical men are having finding an answer to cancer, and probably for the same reason: that there are many kinds of crime and cancer and thus diverse causes.

Are any of the causes for crime curable?

Ten years ago we tried to blame our nation's rising crime rate on "poverty." Then we surveyed the situation and discovered that Mississippi, with the most poverty, had the least crime.

There was a spell when it was easiest to blame the church or the school.

But school and church attendance was going up—and so was crime.

More recently we deduced that "prosperity" rather than "poverty" was the root cause of crime.

Yet the highest of the high-crime areas are the big-city ghettos.

That may not be the contradiction it appears to be.

From the ghetto, seeing the fat, indulgent world on TV could breed restlessness for instant improvement.

have not heard: broken homes, mental deficiency, overcrowding, delinquent subcultures, child neglect, poverty

And they found there are quite as many young people subjected to these conditions who do not commit crime as the number who do.

Indeed, some of these conditions have provoked excellence in individuals.

Research for the report appears to have been thorough, yet among all the duly noted conceivable causatives for crime, one is noteworthy by its absence!

And it is the one which FBI Director Hoover blames most: legal idleness.

A comparison of civil strife in 114 nations shows that in the United States 11 of every 1,000 persons were involved and in 11 other Western democracies, only 7 per 1,000.

We Americans are a more violent people than we like to think.

But what makes us appear more violent than we are is the fact that we allow violent men to continue to circulate in our midst pending trial.

Impatient Americans are inclined to want a neat, pat formula for eradicating crime overnight. From the older nations we may learn to live with crime without being overwhelmed by it.

BERRY'S WORLD

Now, what do we do?—One's a hijacker, and the other wants to continue the flight as scheduled.

Court Deals Blow to South Racist Schools

By United Press International
Mississippi's private schools, where many white children have fled in the wake of total public school desegregation, were dealt a second financial blow within a week Wednesday by the federal government.

A three-judge federal court ruled that a 1969 Mississippi law establishing a loan program to private school students is unconstitutional.

Only Friday the Internal Revenue Service said it was revoking the tax exempt status of five more private school foundations in Mississippi which refused to adopt non-racial admission policies. This eliminates a big source of revenue for the private schools since donations cannot be deducted from federal income taxes. "There have been many attempts by states formerly operating de jure segregated school systems to provide state assistance to students who leave newly integrated public schools to attend private schools," the court said. "All such attempts have been held unconstitutionally permissible uses of state funds." Also in Jackson, Miss., Wednesday, Gov. John Bell Williams predicted another effort would be made to get the Southern Governors' Conference, meeting next week in Biloxi, Miss., to take a strong stand against the forced busing of children. A strong antibusing resolution failed to gain the necessary three-fourths majority of delegates last year. In Washington, it was disclosed that 87 congressmen have signed an antibusing petition filed with the U.S. Supreme Court, which takes up the issue Oct. 12. Judge J. Braxton Craven of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals said at Alexandria, Va., Wednesday that the courts, at some point, must leave the "mechanics" of desegregation to school officials. Craven told a civil rights attorney challenging desegregation practices in Asheville, N.C., schools the courts should be concerned with principles rather than mechanics.

Campus Reception Buoy President

CHICAGO (UPI)—President Nixon says he would like to make more college campus appearances if he could get a fair hearing.

In an informal chat with Newsmen Wednesday night, the President bemoaned student dissidents who refuse to listen to those they don't agree with. "The time is coming when great universities can only have nonentities—cannot have controversial people—on campuses," the President said, noting that all politicians and men of stature are controversial.

Nixon flew here Wednesday, following a speech at Kansas State University, to boost Republican Sen. Ralph Smith's election campaign and do some quiet lobbying among the Midwest news executives for his foreign policy.

He made a 30-minute, off-the-record presentation Wednesday to editors, publishers and broadcast executives from 10 Midwest states after White House and State Department advisers had delivered lengthier background briefings on the rationale behind his Middle and Southeast Asian policies.

Nixon scheduled a meeting today with the editorial boards of Chicago's four major daily newspapers. He also was to meet with leaders of Chicago's Polish-community and mark Citizenship Day by attending naturalization ceremonies for more than 100 immigrants.

The President hosted a reception for the news executives at the Sheraton Blackstone Hotel here. His appearance took some of the limelight from a $100-per-plate fund raising dinner across the street in the Conrad Hilton Hotel honoring Smith's Democratic opponent, state Treasurer Adlai E. Stevenson III.

Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, defeated for the vice presidency by the Nixon team in 1968 and a possible Nixon opponent in 1972, addressed the Democratic dinner.

Nixon was heckled by about 50 young people shouting epithets and obscenities during his nationally televised address at Kansas State, but made it clear he was pleased with the generally friendly reception he received from the 16,000 persons, most of them students.

"This was nothing," he told the newsmen in an informal chat at the reception, adding that some of the students later apologized to him.

"A little heckling is all right," the President said.

Centenarian Recovers From Stroke

TWIN FALLS — H. C. Gettert, 189 Buchanan St., who at 102 years of age is one of the most "Senior" residents of Twin Falls, is recovering from a stroke suffered June 2 at his home.

Gettert, who says he first came to Twin Falls in 1908 and returned on a permanent basis in 1914, was until June 2 of this year driving his own automobile, and he is convinced he will be doing it again.

"Last June I was driving my car wherever I wanted to go and now I'm learning to walk again," he commented about his recent illness.

Bedfast for some time following his stroke, he is now up and able to get around by means of a walker and says as soon as he can get his appetite back he is certain he will start gaining back some of the weight he lost.

Gettert will be 103 on Jan. 28, having having been born Jan. 28, 1868, in Iowa. Until he was 21 he lived on a farm and worked for his family, and then went to Chicago.

Gettert thinks he is probably the oldest living son of a Civil War veteran, his father having fought in the Civil War and participated in the famed Sherman's march to the sea.

In Twin Falls he was in the real estate business for 23 years, operating an office on Main Avenue. He made his first visit to Twin Falls via stage coach from Gooding.

On his 100th birthday, Gettert also observed his 50th wedding anniversary and received letters, gifts and congratulatory mail throughout the United States and from several foreign countries.

He said he didn't marry until he was 50 because he kept waiting until he thought he could support a wife.

Ordered to the hospital after suffering the stroke, Gettert refused to go. Too many people die in hospitals, he reasoned and he adds, "Those checkups they give you are terrible. I've had a few and they're enough to kill you."

Japanese Military Rise Eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Some officials here and in other western capitals believe events in Asia will force Japan to undertake a major expansion of her present modest military establishment in the next four or five years.

There even is speculation that application of the Nixon doctrine—to remove virtually all American troops from Asia—taken together with mainland China's growing nuclear power will convince Japan it must acquire its own nuclear weapons.

That would not be a difficult thing for the world's third ranking industrial power.

For the record, Japanese officials deny that they are thinking in these terms. However, there are signs that some influential Japanese officials are concerned about the trend in Asia.

Yasuhiro Nakasone, Japanese defense minister, during talks here last week with Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and other top officials, cautioned the United States against pulling its forces out of South Korea too fast, contending that too hasty a move might induce panic there.

Nakasone said that in general he was in favor of the Nixon doctrine of reducing the U.S. military posture in Asia. But he said it would be a great mistake to proceed too rapidly. The United States has announced that it intends to reduce the authorized strength of its ground forces in South Korea from 60,000 to 40,000 by the end of this year.

Interestingly, before Nakasone headed the Japanese cabinet as director-general of the defense agency last January he was understood to be an advocate of acquiring nuclear arms for Japan.

Now he says that he opposes such an idea since that is the position of his government, but it is believed that personally he and a number of other rightwing leaders in Japan believe that realistically Japan cannot forego indefinitely the acquisition of such weapons.

Advisors Named

WENDELL — Will Spalding, Wendell High School principal, announced Wednesday that Mrs. Annette Eaton would serve as senior class adviser for the coming year. Other class advisers are Mrs. Pat Mathers, juniors; Lance Worley, sophomores, and Mr. and Mrs. Cheryl Grounds, freshmen.

Club advisers include Mrs. Frances Lamb, annual; Mrs. Gay Petersen, cheerleaders and pep club; Dorothy Berni, drill team and FHA; Lynn Farnworth, Foreign Language Club; Mrs. Ellen Cox, Honor Society; Coaches Ed Otton and Yogi Behrens, Letterman Club; Leslie Snyder, Pep Band and Spalding student council.

Filer Kiwanians Cited As 'Best'

FILER — The Filer Kiwanis Club won the Utah-Idaho District achievement award as the outstanding club in the district at the recent Utah-Idaho Kiwanis convention in Salt Lake City, according to Lawrence Knigge, delegate from the Filer club.

The Filer club was the only Idaho Kiwanis club to win an achievement award, Knigge said. He reported on the convention at Tuesday's luncheon meeting of the club in the Methodist Church fellowship hall.

Roger Vincent Ed Marshall, of Filer was installed as a new member by installing officer Art Chatburn. Clarence McKibben, program chairman, presented Dr. Fred Kallusky of Buhl who spoke on "Harmony in Music," telling of the history of music and the origin of musical instruments. He presented a selection by Beethoven on the piano. Guests were Jacob Tolk, Filer; Harold Cook and Byron Wright, Twin Falls, and Clyde Schroeder, a member of the Kiwanis-affiliated Key Club. Tekka Vathaa, Filer High School exchange student from Finland, was also a guest.

"CHEER UP, DAN", the "fortune" might read, "things are looking up." But Dan Obenchain of Robertson and Obenchain insurance agency in Twin Falls might feel otherwise about the progress of the downtown redevelopment project, to judge from the glum look on his face. Actually progress is continuing apace, with cement being poured in the third and final block of the project this week. (Times-News photo by Dan Johnson.)

Military Retiree Widows Bypassed by U.S. Benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Col. X saw combat duty in two wars, was wounded twice, and decorated for heroism three times.

He retired at the age of 50 after 30 years of service. At 55, he died of a heart attack.

His widow thought she'd continue receiving checks from the government for a portion of his retirement pay. But she found herself cut off without a cent.

Military retirees are the only career employees of the federal government whose widows do not automatically receive a survivor annuity based on the retired pay the husband was receiving at the time of his death.

Under the Civil Service retirement program, the government pays part of the cost, so that an annuity of any given amount is far less expensive than it would otherwise be. For example, a sergeant retiring at age 50 after 30 years service would have to pay $43.77 a month to assure his wife of a continued income of $201.88 a month should she outlive him. But a Civil Service worker of the same age and length of service would pay only $14.21 a month to provide his wife with the same protection.

A bill is now pending in Congress that would remove the threat of destitution in old age which hangs over so many military wives. Sponsored by Rep. Charles S. Gubser, R-Calif., it would give military retirees the same kind of low-cost, automatic coverage that civil servants get.

A House armed services subcommittee headed by Rep. Otis Pike, D-N.Y., has held hearings on the bill (HR6226) and is expected to recommend its enactment.

If and when it does get through, servicemen already in retirement will be offered a once-only opportunity to bring their wives under its protection. Those retiring in the future would be covered automatically.

Students Plan Fete For Teachers

WENDELL — Elementary students are making posters promoting the teacher reception slated for 8 p.m. Sept. 22 in the Elementary All-Purpose room in an effort to promote attendance.

Each student will present his poster to his parents and the teacher who has the most posters returned to the reception will receive a cash prize.

In addition to honoring the faculty, the reception will include a panel to be moderated by Dick Thomas, program chairman. Panelists will include Rev. John Steppert, United Presbyterian church pastor; Douglas Schrank, businessman; Sheriff Earl Brown, Marlin Lancaster, Gooding stake presidency counselor; Will Spalding, high school principal, and Charles Miller, pharmacist.

23 Students From Valley Earn Tuition

POCATELLO — Twenty-three Magic Valley students are among the 148 upper classmen at Idaho State University receiving associated student scholarships for the first semester.

They include Connie Fenstermaker, Buhl; Dean Froehlich, Hansen; Donna Blakeslee, Filer; Ward Maxfield, Paul, business; Maureen Fries, Twin Falls, graduate student; Jeanette Hahn, Buhl, and Cynthia Anderson, Filer, medical arts.

Barbara Fuller, Jerome; Brian Lamb and Rose Mahannah, both Buhl; Dana Rayborn, Hailey; Debbie Thompson and Robert Sutherland, both Twin Falls; Barbara Baird, Carey; Thomas Vaughn, Wendell; Christine Gilette, Declo, and Shirley Ingle, Filer, liberal arts.

Carolyn Baryburker, Eden; Iris Slane, Hagerman; Brent Martens, Buhl; Rebecca Jones, Gooding; Phyllis Ryan, Rupert, and Cheryl Chambers, Filer, education.

Club to Meet

WENDELL — The Wendell Lions' club will begin its fall meetings at 7:30 p.m. Monday with a dinner meeting at Woods Cafe, Jerome.

John Steppert, publicity chairman, said wives will be special guests. Everett Cox, Wendell, will present several musical numbers.

Scholarships

POCATELLO — Scholarships have been accepted by the state board of education, trustees for Idaho State University, for Barbara McClain, Rupert, $1,000; Vona Morton, Burley, $375; and Marilyn Henning, Twin Falls, $50.

Mini-Sleeve Uniform Displayed

TWIN FALLS — Mini-sleeves may be the new uniform fad with members of the Twin Falls Police Department thanks to some custom made shirts ordered by a new officer.

Frank Lumm, recently of California, wanted to look right in his new job as a patrolman, so he sent away his measurements, including a 33 inch sleeve, to a uniform supply firm.

The shirts arrived this week.

count and his successful experience with the Reith count in 1929 had a lot to do with his early conversion. Today's hand gave George a top score. With 23 Reith points he had an opening no-trump. With 18 points Jacoby could have jumped in spades but chose simply to raise to the no-trump game. The heart lead simplified things for George. He knocked out West's ace of spades and made four spades, three hearts and three diamonds for a top score. Why was it a top score? Somehow or other, no one else opened the South hand with anything but a club. North always responded with one spade. Some South players let him play there. This was before the days of one round forces. Others did raise. Some North players made four spades. Most were held to three when East opened the king of clubs and continued the suit after receiving the eight from West.

What do you do now?
A—This is a real problem. It is going to be hard to invite a slam, but you must make some try. We recommend temporizing with three diamonds.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You do bid three diamonds and your partner bids three hearts. What do you do now?

NOT MUCH, IF anything, works better to keep an old man lively than a couple of glasses of beer. Such is the claim of a medical fellow who specializes in ailments of the aged. He has conducted extensive studies with psychotherapeutic drugs, too, but finds them lacking. Is this good news, sir? ... YOU KNOW HOW a karate expert breaks a brick with the edge of his open hand? Client asks how much force goes into such a wallop. About 135 pounds, ordinarily. Greatest impact ever delivered in this manner, so far as the records show, was 196 pounds.

AM TOLD THE OLDEST of all writing is a thing called the Papyrus which is said to date back maybe 6,000 years. At last report it supposedly was in the municipal museum of Istanbul. And its first lines allegedly read: "Alas! Times are not what they used to be. Everyone wants to write a book and the children are no longer obedient." Fascinating, if factual.

LANGUAGE MAN—The words "criss-cross" started out as "Christ's cross" ... Originally, "boss" was "bass," the Dutch word for uncle ... "Bottle" once meant "the hide of goat" ... And long ago, long ago the hair of a platinum blonde was described as "auburn." And so ends our Language man's schedule of summer reruns.

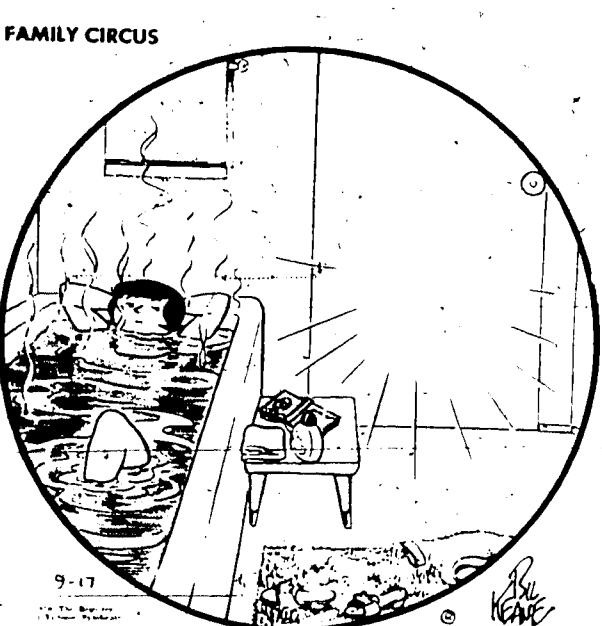

NOTE IT CLAIMED ABOUT 20 per cent of the members of the Mensa Society possess an I.Q. of at least 161. Maybe so. That's on the Cattell Index, however. It's equal to about 142 on the Terman Index. Still remarkably high, certainly ... THE SNAPPING SHRIMP makes a noise like a gunshot. A whole reef of them sounds like a rifle range. At some places along the beaches of Japan, you feel like running for cover, I'm informed.

CUSTOMER SERVICE - Q. "Can a piece of music composed by a computer be copyrighted?" A. Not as such. Some citizen has to claim it ... "Who is the Louise that Lake Louise was named after?" A. A daughter of Queen Victoria ... Q. "How many drivers have been killed in the Indianapolis 500?" A. 54 in 55 races.

THE BODY BUILDER - Sugar Ray Robinson won 175 of his 202 prize fights. You know how he keeps in shape now? He lives on the eighth floor of a New York apartment house. He pushes the elevator button on the first floor, then races said elevator to the eighth by running up the stairs. Usually beats it, too.

CONSIDER THIS - Ten years ago nationwide there were about 11 million women in their twenties. Ten years from now there are expected to be about 20 million such. This is the motherhood bunch. Population prognosticators expect another baby boom. Steel yourself.

ON STRIKE FOR JUSTICE

Minton Lauds Strengths

BOISE (UPI) — Al Minton, secretary of Idaho's Department of Commerce and Development, said today a combination of social, economic and political strengths make "for the good life for each of us."

Minton, speaking before the Idaho Health Association's annual meeting, said the "strength and power of the state of Idaho in the west and our nation... is the proper use of our total resources."

"Without a properly developed economy, no nation will have the strength to maintain its social or political strength over the long haul."

Minton said too often "we mesmerize ourselves into avoiding change, to keeping things the way they are, taking the easy way out. That's not the psychology we need for survival."

He urged that Idaho be given the opportunity to develop its economic strength, "knowing full well you'll create problems of ecology, knowing full well we'll need more engineers."

"We have no choice or alternative before us," Minton said. "Unless we proceed in an orderly development of our economic strength and powers, this will be abruptly forced upon us by a future world."

"We'll solve problems as they arise — and if you stop to think about it, that isn't a bad definition for progress."

Fred Humphreys, vice chairman of the Idaho State Board of Health, said Idaho had sufficient laws on the books to stop pollution and noted "you have to have pollution before you can control it."

He said the standards for controlling pollution already set were the "relatively inexpensive" steps to be taken.

"To control these problems—that's a big job and it takes a lot of time and money."

Humphreys said it was important to remember that Idaho and other western states were built on a pioneer spirit. Often, he said, those who developed Idaho were "fighting nature and nature often won."

Torrijos' style was illustrated during a weekend tour that began in Santiago de Veraguas, southwest of Panama City.

The local agricultural reform commission reported that town-folk were jealous of a hard-working peasant named Candelario, whose corn and rice crop showed great improvement over last year.

Torrijos sat under a gnarled tree and wiped perspiration from his face with an already soaked handkerchief.

SANTIAGO DE VERAGUAS, Panama (UPI)—Gen. Omar Torrijos is campaigning intensely in rural areas to win popular support for his two-year-old revolutionary regime.

His strategy includes listening to complaints, settling arguments and buying drinks.

Torrijos, commander of the national guard and Panamanian strong man, has spent all but eight weekends since he seized power stumping the countryside for conversations with the middle class and peasants.

The 41-year-old soldier said none of Panama's "politician" presidents had ever spent so much time outside the capital.

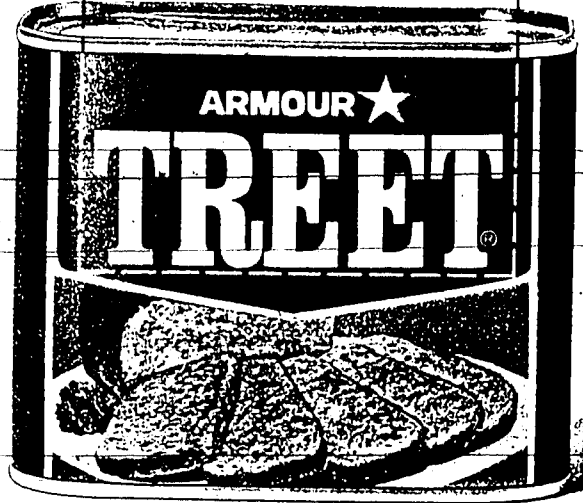

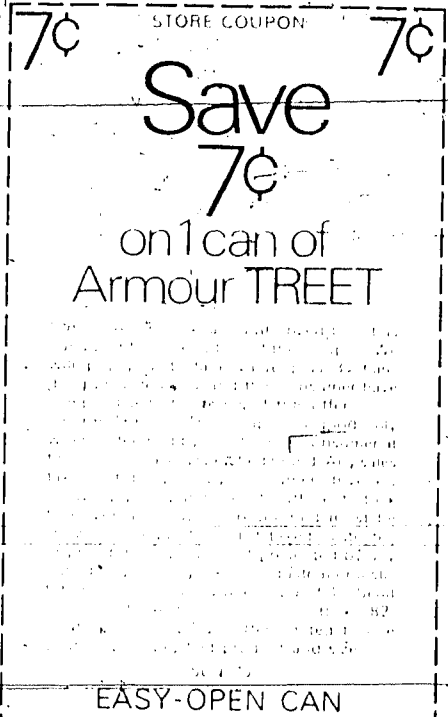

"They (the people) need faith and communication," he said. "Seven thousand guns don't mean a thing without dialogue."

As for the complaints he has received, Torrijos said: "The world doesn't accept an injustice. Nobody accepts an injustice."

T.F. Fair Winners Nixon's Vietnam Policies

Endorsed In Hansen Poll

WASHINGTON — Cong. Orval Hansen said today that President Nixon's policy of gradual withdrawal of American forces from Vietnam and his decision to send U. S. troops into Cambodia received a hearty vote of approval from those responding to a poll he recently conducted in the Second District.

The Idaho Congressman said 67 per cent of those answering his questionnaire favored the President's plan for orderly withdrawal of U.S. troops as fast as the South Vietnamese can take over their own defense. 13 per cent called for the immediate, total and unconditional withdrawal of U. S. troops, and 11 per cent preferred expanding the war and pressing for military victory. 6 per cent mentioned other plans, and 3 per cent expressed no opinion.

Hansen reported that Second District constituents showed overwhelming support for President Nixon in his decision to send American troops in Cambodia. Approval was voiced by 72 per cent, disapproval by 20 per cent, and no opinion by 8 per cent.

Comments from respondents on the Vietnam conflict ranged from "Bomb North Vietnam and wipe them out where they come from" to "Bring our boys home as fast as planes and ships can carry them," Hansen said.

The congressman said that a number of people felt like one Twin Falls man, who qualified his "immediate withdrawal" choice with opinion that it should be "conditional upon the release of all prisoners held by the North."

Highway Agency Sets Open House

SHOSHONE — In recognition of National Highway Week, an open house will be held from 3:30 to 8:30 p. m. Monday at the District Two headquarters, Shoshone.

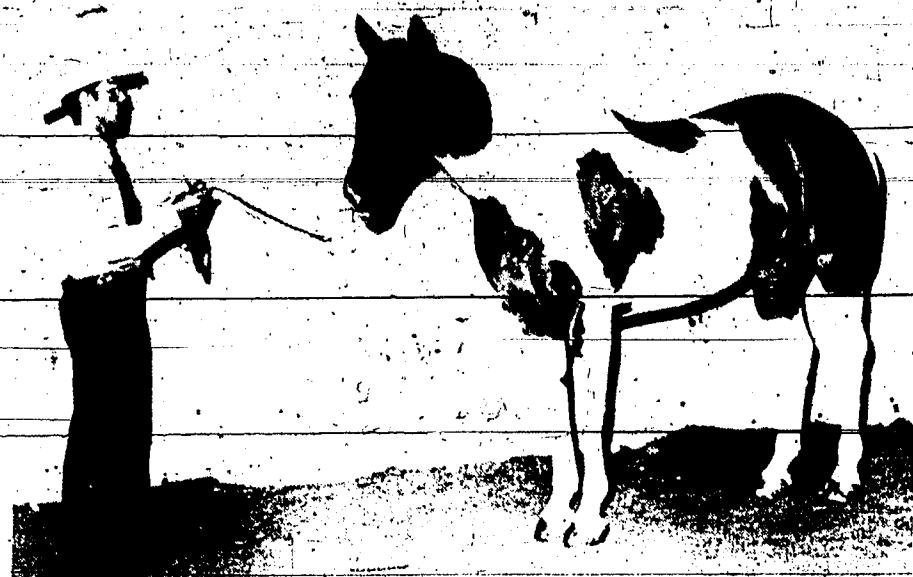

Tours of the shops and recently completed office addition will be given.

The new addition cost $173,300, reports Howard L. Johnson, district engineer.

The construction, 36 by 135 feet of brick and block construction houses the laboratory and Civil Defense Emergency Operating Center.

Reynolds Construction Inc., Twin Falls, recently completed the structure.

The public is invited to the open house.

NIGHT WATCHER, a five-year-old gelding owned by Dr. Lyle Wonderlich of Twin Falls, was named reserve grand national champion in his class at the recent American Paint Horse Association national finals held at Amarillo, Texas. At the completion of three go-rounds in the paint judging system, the bay Toblano gelding had placed fourth, second and fourth against the best geldings in the nation. These placings earned him enough points to wind up as reserve champion. Another Wonderlich horse, Ruff Doo Dee, did well in both halter and performance classes.

Social Security Queries Probed

If you have any questions about your Social Security, address them to Jim Davis, P.O. Box 1239, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.

the checks continue in your name.

Q. I have at least 40 quarters of coverage now under social security which I can draw on at age 62 or 65. If I should marry before that time, would I still be able to draw on my own social security or would I have to draw on my husband's as a wife? Would I draw at the same rate as a wife as I would if single and drawing on my own social security?

A. Your question seems to imply a fear that you would have to take a wife's benefit (if you marry) even if the benefit on your own has potential entitlement on both social security accounts, but in effect she would receive the higher of the two benefits. She would not be able to receive both.

Q. I am a widow with four young children. I expected my social security benefits to stop when I went to work full time, but I still get the same amount every month. Why?

A. With four young children, your family is still entitled to the maximum benefit amount based on your husband's earnings. Families with three or more survivors entitled to monthly benefits usually get this maximum.

Since your four children continue to collect social security, your family keeps getting the same amount — the family maximum — whether you work or not.

Stopping your check and increasing the amount paid to each of your children could cause an interruption in your payments. For this reason, and to save administrative costs,

Q. I have heard that more than 20 million people have the protection of Medicare. How many of them are being helped by it?

A. More than 4 million people were admitted to hospitals last year and had most of their bills paid by Medicare. About 500,000 of them were admitted to "extended care facilities" for post-hospital skilled nursing care. About 290,000 received home health services after a hospital stay. In 1969, Medicare paid an estimated $4.7 billion in hospital insurance benefits and $1.9 billion in medical insurance benefits.

Q. As a college student, I work part-time each semester and full time during college vacations. The social security contributions coming out of my pay could help me meet expenses. Why deduct from my earnings now, considering the number of full time years in the future I'll have to pay? Will I really get my money's worth over the long run?

A. You and other young workers — part time or full time — are earning valuable social security retirement, survivors, and disability insurance protection worth more than the social security contributions you pay. If you have 1 1/2 years or more of recent work in your social security record, you and your family may count on monthly benefits if you become disabled. And your family would get monthly benefits if you died. Earnings of as little as $50.00 in any three month calendar quarter will assure you of credit toward this valuable insurance protection.

SWENSEN'S MARKETS COME IN SECOND AGAIN!!

Yes Indeed Folks, Swensen's Little Markets "Almost" bought the Grand Champion 4-H fat steer at the Twin Falls County Fair this year, but after Swensen's bid all they could afford, the honors went to a big grocery store across town.

However, Swensen's Markets are proud to say they were able to get the bid on a beautiful fat 4-H steer raised by John Ramseyer, Rt. 1 Filer, and Swensen's will be selling choice cuts from this fine animal this weekend. Swensen's Markets are proud of the achievements of the young men and women in 4-H and FFA and are happy to support these programs and the livestock industry of Magic Valley. In further support of our local livestock industry, Swensen's Markets buy all their carcass beef locally and sell only U.S.D.A. Graded Good & Choice meat. Swensen's Markets do not use imported boneless beef in their ground beef in spite of its price advantage over domestic.

Radicals Opening Own Classrooms

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—About 60 "alternative schools" are open this fall in the San Francisco area, operated by young radicals who are convinced the public school system is dying.

That's an increase in four years from a mere half-dozen private progressive schools left over from the John Dewey era.

"Just in the last two months, the growth in interest is dynamic, fantastic," says Mrs. Joan Levinson at Berkeley educational Switchboard, a volunteer information center.

The schools are founded on the premise that the trouble with public schools is that adults are always ordering children around — effectively killing a child's strong natural desire to learn.

Traditional schools are run by bureaucrats and tenured teachers for their own convenience, says Jacques Goldman of the San Francisco Educational Switchboard.

"The public school system is dying," says Mrs. Levinson. "The little bit of sense it used to make is dead."

"The teachers are running prisons. They are afraid of the kids, afraid of their ideas, and afraid of their concern about building a better future society."

Marketing Proposal Examined

WENDELL — More than 20 craftsmen from Gooding, Lincoln, Blaine and Camas counties met Tuesday night with the Gooding County Planning Commission and the Wood River Development Resource Board to consider a unique marketing program for hobbyists.

Artisans working in a wide variety of crafts, from pottery, rock collecting, glass, metal and graphics, to collage, shingles, plaster of paris and plastics met with Paul Yost, a salesman who covers six states, as well as with the county groups. Yost said he would represent the artisans on his route, offering their wares for sale in Nevada, Utah, Montana, Arizona and Colorado as well as throughout Idaho.

Aldrich Bowler of Buhl, owner of the Snake River Pottery Co., volunteered to help the group locate a centrally placed warehouse from which their wares would be dispatched. Coordinated packaging and sales efforts could lower overhead for the hobbyists, they agreed.

Wendell Peabody of the Federal Office of Economic Opportunity said there might be a chance of obtaining federal funds, since the majority of the artisans rank in the lower level of income, due to the limited market in their immediate locality for their products.

The group will display their products at a showing sponsored by the Boise Art Association in Boise this weekend.

An invitation was extended to others in the Magic Valley, especially senior citizens and Junior Achievement craftsmen, to consider joining the group. It is estimated that there are at least 100 or more artisans in southern Idaho who make all or part of their living from sale of their products.

The group agreed to meet again Oct. 29 at 8 p. m. in the offices of the Gooding County Soil Conservation Service. The artisans will present lists of their products and discuss the marketing association further at that time.

RESERVE SEATS for Twin Falls Bruin home games were provided by some young and ingenious resident near the high school football field. These seats, obviously not the work of a professional carpenter, serve the purpose by being high enough to give the football fan a view over the fence around the field. They are attached to an equally high fence directly adjacent to the high school football field. Carpeting and even a shade over one of the seats adds to the comfort of the spectators.

Gem Court Sets T.F. Session

TWIN FALLS — Six cases are on the docket for the Idaho Supreme Court when it convenes in Twin Falls Tuesday.

Ruth A. Vollmer, acting clerk of the Supreme Court, said cases to be heard in Twin Falls are those appealed to the higher court from the local area's district courts. They will be heard in sessions beginning Tuesday and continuing through Thursday.

Cases to be heard include those of Bill Wilson versus Carl Gilb and Argonaut Insurance Co., an appeal on the decision of the Industrial Accident Board as to the defendant's eligibility for compensation benefits; Joe Taylor versus Max Herbold and Max Herbold Inc., an appeal on a Fifth Judicial District Court case in Minidoka County before Judge James M. Cunningham, who denied the defendant a new trial requested on grounds Taylor, who received a verdict of the court for more than $10,000 damages, failed to mitigate his damages as required by law.

Other cases include Adelle R. Toews, Heyburn, versus Western Farm Bureau Life Insurance Co., an appeal from Fifth District Court in a case heard before Judge Cunningham in which the defendant was awarded $50,000. The defendant insurance company appealed the decision on grounds the lower court erred in finding the life insurance policy was in effect on the day the insured husband of the plaintiff met his accidental death.

Another case is that of Warner C. Mills, commissioner of law enforcement versus James G. Holliday, Ogden, Utah. The defendant had appealed the Fifth Judicial District Court decision of Judge Cunningham regarding the Idaho law on refusal to take a blood alcohol test and the court's suspension of the Utah man's driving permit.

The other cases on the docket include a rehearing by the Supreme Court on the matter of alimony payments ordered by Judge Theron Ward in the divorce case of Janet C. Chugg versus Raymond J. Chugg.

Donors Exceed Quota

WENDELL — Wendell blood donors exceeded the 75-pint quota by five pints in giving 80 pints Wednesday.

Mrs. Darlene Simerly and Mary Gill each received a two-gallon pin during the drawing held at the American Legion Hall.

Roger Brown; Wendell, who underwent heart surgery Tuesday in Salt Lake City, needed 14 pints of blood. This amount was set aside for him during Wednesday's drawing. Brown was reported improving after the surgery.

Mrs. Harold Holsinger was chairman for the drawing. Physicians in charge included Dr. Harold Holsinger and Dr. M. E. Scheel. Registered nurses were Mrs. Jim Gunning, Mrs. George Benson, and Mrs. Veronica Maus.

City employees Ed Johnson and Claude Marble helped load and unload equipment. Aides at the numbering table were Mrs. Dean Williams and Mrs. Earl Schrenk. Typists included Mrs. Neal Ambrose and Mrs. Nelson King.

Mrs. Bill Brown served as receptionist; Mrs. Bill Duggan, Mrs. G. D. Pierce, Mrs. Richard Eaton and Mrs. M. E. Scheel were donor room aides; and canteen workers came from the Home Improvement Club.

Armory Plans Contract Let

BURLY — Initial steps were taken Wednesday for obtaining a new state armory for Burley, with the approval of a contract by the state board of examiners to the architects.

It was reported at Boise a contract for $13,000 has been signed with the state and C.A. Sundberg and Associates, Idaho Falls architectural firm. The agreement calls for preparation of plans for a building containing approximately 15,000 square feet.

Burley City Clerk Charles Shaddock said national guard officials had approached the city last winter about possible financial participation in the proposed armory, but he noted "the city is not in any financial condition" to participate at present.

The city will provide land for the new armory on city owned property near the Burley Airport. Shaddock said the city will maintain controlling interest in the property. If the building eventually would be no longer used as an armory the land will revert to the city.

Shaddock added there is a possibility that if the city financial situation improves, the city might be able to participate in the building costs so that more adequate facilities could be included in the new armory.

Grouse, Fish Needs Studied

BURLY — Idaho Fish and Game officials discussed sage grouse population and fish habitat and management needs on Bureau of Land Management lands today with BLM officials and wildlife service biologists from throughout Idaho.

Speakers this morning were Bob Autenreith, Charles S. Blake, Paul Jeppson, Bob Bell and Hugh Harper. This afternoon Errol Nielson and Dick Norell were to discuss big game

Other subjects discussed included all game management techniques used by the state fish and game department and economic value of wildlife resources.

Herman McDevitt is slated to speak at a dinner meeting tonight. Final sessions, to open at 8 a. m. Friday, will feature presentation of a combined resource management plan with emphasis on cows and wildlife.

School Plans Work Proceeds

GOODING — Architects for the new Gooding High School are expected to present plans for the new building to school trustees in November, and Supt. Dee Keller said Wednesday he hopes bids can be let early in December.

C.T.A. Architect and Engineer Planners, a Twin Falls firm, is drawing the plans for the new school. Voters approved the bond issue for the new school in May, 1959, but the bonds could not be sold because of supreme court rulings concerning the legality of bond votes in which only property owners could participate.

The bonds were sold last August with First Security Corp., Boise, the low bidder for the $1.1 million issue. Ed Peterson, of the architectural firm, told school officials earlier that approximately $100,000 in construction costs has been lost since the passage of the bond issue.

In other business at the September board meeting, Supt. Keller told trustees attendance in the Gooding school system is slightly higher than last year's and trustees discussed state eligibility guidelines on providing free hot lunches for pupils from low income families.

Problems Muled By Jerome Board

JEROME — Jerome County commissioners have been meeting for the past three days and still haven't found a solution to two problems facing the county.

The board has been working on the yearly mill levies and discussing possibility of hiring a public defender.

S. A. Kolman, county prosecuting attorney, has criticized the commission for not enacting a public defender system when the law firm of May, May and Bennett, Twin Falls, presented its bill for legal service as court-appointed attorney in the Michael Dillon case. Kolman said if the county had a public defender system at the time of the appeal in the Dillon case, the cost to the county might have been greatly reduced.

At the original trial, the public defender law had not been enacted and the county would have been unable to use the public defender.

If the commissioners decide to use the system, the appointee

Former Resident Sets Date

TWIN FALLS — An Oct. 16 wedding is planned by Roberta Lower and William Beane. The engagement was announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lowe, Portland, former Twin Falls resident. Beane is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Naylor, Portland.

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Hahkins, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Ruth Lower, Wendell. Miss Lower and Beane were graduated from Parkrose High School. She is secretary with United-Pacific Cascade Insurance Co. and Beane is employed with Fowler Manufacturing Co.

Miss Lower is the grand-

DEAR ABBY: My husband's parents are vacationing in Europe, and they left the key to their apartment with us so we could water their plants.

My husband's younger brother is a professional man and the father of two children. It was rumored that he is having an affair with his young, single secretary.

Last evening when my husband and I stopped by my in laws apartment we found this secretary, half-asleep, naked in the bedroom (My brother in law was not there.) We just said "Hi" to her and left quickly.

Should we say something to my brother in law for using his parents' apartment for a love nest?

Should I tell my sister in law? Should the in laws be told when they return? Should anything be said? And if so, to whom?

NEW YORKERS

DEAR NEW YORKERS: There is no point in saying anything to anybody. If you said "Hi" to the sleeping beauty, she knows you saw her and she will surely tell her Lohario that his choice of a love nest was for the birds.

DEAR ABBY: I thought your reply to the girl whose fiance thought they should live together before getting married was very old-fashioned.

Before I marry a guy I plan to find out what he's like to live with, (I mean his disposition, habits, etc.) and living together for a while is a perfect way.

Just because two people live together doesn't mean they have to sleep together.

KAY

DEAR KAY: You're right. It doesn't mean they have to—but they usually end up that way. If you want to find out what a guy is really like to live with, (I mean his disposition, habits, etc.)—ask his mother.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is in a very fine nursing home. It's a 50 mile drive to the home and back. When I get there, about half the time I find my mother asleep, and she sleeps the whole time I am there, so she doesn't even know I've been to visit her. And on those rare occasions when she's not sleeping, she confuses me with my cousins and aunts. Sensible conversation is out of the question as she babbles, rambles and is very forgetful. And she's deaf on top of it.

I am 48 years old and have started my "change," and those drives take an awful lot out of me. I used to go three times a week, but now, on my doctor's orders, I go only once a week. My problem is my father. He keeps telling me I should go more often, which makes me feel guilty and depressed. I gave the nurses at the home my telephone number and I told them if Mother needs anything to call me and I would come right out with it. What more can I do?

DEPRESSED DAUGHTER

DEAR DEPRESSED: Listen to your doctor. Visit when you are able. And don't feel guilty.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ANDREA: Don't trust a man who tells you about his past romances. One day he might be telling others about yours.

Hunt Signs Top 3 Davis Cup Players To Pro Net Pacts

NEW YORK (UPI)—Lamar Hunt announced Wednesday the signing of Arthur Ashe, Bob Lutz and Charles Pasarell to World Championship Tennis contracts, thus stripping the U.S. Davis Cup team of three of its most members.

Pirates Hike Lead as Mets and Cubs Lose

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Manny Sanguillen collected three hits, drove in one run and scored two Wednesday night as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Philadelphia Phils, 5-3 and increased their lead in the National League East.

The Pirates, engaged in the three-way battle with the Cubs and Mets, scored twice in the first inning when Matty Alou singled, stole second, Al Oliver doubled, Bob Robertson walked and Sanguillen singled.

The Pirates scored another run in the second off loser Jim Bunning when pitcher Bob Moose singled home Bill Mazeroski who had doubled.

A double by Sanguillen an infield single by Richie Hebner and a wild throw by Larry Bowa accounted for the Pirates' fourth run in the third. Sanguillen singled for his third hit of the game in the fifth and scored on a triple by Hebner.

Cards 8, Cubs 1

CHICAGO (UPI)—Bob Gibson pitched a six-hitter for his 22nd victory of the season and Ted Simmons and Jose Torre hit home runs Wednesday as the St. Louis Cardinals routed the Chicago Cubs, 8-1.

Gibson struck out five in gaining his 10th victory in his last 11 decisions and allowed only one run—Ron Santo's 26th homer of the season in the fifth inning.

The Cardinals took a 2-0 lead in the second when Torre singled, Luis Melendez doubled and Simmons was walked intentionally to load the bases. Glenn Beckert bobbled Ed Crosby's grounder, allowing both Torre and Melendez to score.

Expos 4, Mets 2

MONTREAL (UPI)—Steve Renko, a former New York farmhand, allowed five hits Wednesday night to give the Montreal Expos a 4-2 victory over the Mets and shove them two games behind Pittsburgh in the National League East Division pennant race.

Two of the hits given up by Renko were solo homers by Art Shamsky in the fourth and seventh innings, but aside from those lapses he was in control, yielding no walks and striking out two, to drop the Mets two games behind first place Pittsburgh.

The Expos, who took two straight from the Mets, pushed across three runs in the third inning. Losing pitcher Tom Seaver, now 18-12, walked John Bateman, and when Bobby Wine bunted, Donn Clendenon threw the ball wild to first base to let Bateman go to third.

Mary Staehle singled to score Bateman and a single by Jim Coe brought home Wine.

Florida Players Deny Rumors Of Dissension Tearing Club

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Denials of dissension were plentiful around the Florida football camp Wednesday after sophomores linebacker Fred Abbott created a furor by quitting the team and verbally blasting coach Doug Dickey.

Wright Wins 20th as Angels Tip Twins 5-1

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Clayton Wright pitched a three-hitter Wednesday night to become the second California pitcher in history to win 20 games as the Angels defeated the Minnesota Twins 5-1.

The signings assured Hunt that the million dollar competition involving the 32 top players in the world, which Hunt announced during the recent U.S. Open championships, gave the group the finest players available since Ashe, Lutz and Pasarell represent three players previously committed to international play under national federations.

Contract money was not divulged but even the poorest finisher in Hunt's field of 32 would be guaranteed $12,000 by merely appearing.

Ashe said that the original letter sent to him and the other top players by Hunt was objectionable to him since, if he agreed to play in Hunt's million dollar event, he would also allow Hunt to arrange his schedule for the entire year.

This was negotiated however and Ashe said "I will play in the 20 tournaments of Mr. Hunt's million dollar circuit," and he smiled, "in the 21st if I get that far."

"I will also play in the big four—Australia, France, England and U.S.—but the rest of the year is up to me," Ashe said. Ashe said he would also play in the $200,000 tennis classic.

Ashe, of Gum Spring, Va., was vague on how many of the Pepsi Grand Prix tournaments he would play next year but stressed that he had played 43 weeks of competitive tennis this year and "that's just too much."

At the same time, Hunt also announced that Marty Reissen of Evanston, Ill., and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., had renewed their contracts with World Championship Tennis.

Yacht Club Denies Protests

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—The New York Yacht Club, faced with its first protest procedure since 1934, rejected the foul claims of both skippers Wednesday and ruled that Intrepid's opening race victory over Gretel II of Australia in the 1970 America's Cup series would stand.

As the sole governing body in America's Cup races but also the defending yacht club in the series, the NYAC said it leaned over backwards to be fair to the Australians. Under the circumstances, however, the race committee felt it had to disallow Aussie skipper James Hardy's protest.

Gretel II's skipper protested that he had to tack in order to avoid a collision with Intrepid during the start of the race.

Abbott quit the squad late Tuesday saying he was tired of being treated like an "animal" and rapping what he said was "Dickey's emotionless style of machine football."

"Yesterday (Tuesday) we had our first practice since I've been here," said Dickey. "I have no qualms about the morale of our squad and feel we have no problems on that score."

Senior linebacker Mike Kelley echoed Dickey's remarks and said "the spirit was great and the morale, in my opinion, was never better."

Quarterback John Reeves said the team may have been depressed by the closeness of the Duke game since the Gators were a two-touchdown favorite, "but as far as dissension—no, absolutely not."

Safety Jack Burns said reports of dissension were "a bunch of bull—there just isn't any."

These remarks were in marked contrast to statements by Abbott, a 225-pounder from Brooksville, Fla., who had been shifted to defensive end Monday to replace the injured Jack Youngblood.

Abbott said the shift had little to do with his decision to quit.

"I have had the feeling since spring practice that I couldn't fit into Dickey's emotionless style of machine football," said Abbott. "Playing for Coach Dickey has stripped me of my self-esteem and personal pride."

"I'm not an animal and neither are most of the team. We are people—something Dickey may not have playing for him at Tennessee. We need to be inspired by our coaches and personally Dickey does not inspire me."

Judge Says Colts May Use Home Park

BALTIMORE (UPI)—A Maryland judge Wednesday gave the Baltimore Colts approval to play their home opener in Memorial Stadium here the night of Monday, Sept. 28, against the Kansas City Chiefs.

The Baltimore Orioles had contended that the game, rescheduled from Sunday, Sept. 27, to accommodate a national television audience, would ruin the baseball diamond for the doubleheader between Baltimore and Washington the next afternoon.

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland (UPI)—Billy Casper, the leading moneywinner of the U.S. circuit, shot a two-under-par up Wednesday in practice for the Alcan golfer of the year championship and was installed as 5-1 favorite for the title he won last year at Portland, Ore.

"I had a nice steady round, played well, and liked it," said Casper, after his round. The tournament begins Thursday.

Casper said: "Good shots don't get penalized here. If you aim for the fairway and hit it, the ball stays there and doesn't bounce off into the brush or the rough. And the greens are soft and holding, even though they're small. I like it."

Australians Bruce Crampton and Peter Thomson are rated 12-1.

Tigers 6, Indians 3

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Home Runs by Al Kaline and Jim Price triggered a six-run fourth inning Wednesday night to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers won Wednesday night's game against the Cleveland Indians, 6-3.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Texas, Notre Dame, Mississippi and Oklahoma, among an elite group that will fight it out for the national football championship this year, ranked as overwhelming favorites in Saturday college action.

Texas, the defending champion, and Mississippi, led by talented Archie Manning, both were rated off-the-board choices against California and Memphis State. Notre Dame, an offensive powerhouse led by quarterback Joe Theismann, was rated 20 points better than Northwestern while Oklahoma, still powerful despite the loss of Heisman Trophy winner Steve Owens, was a 16-point favorite over Wisconsin.

Duke is a 13-1-2-point favorite over Maryland, Clemson is nine over Virginia, Colorado 6-1-2 over Indiana, Kansas State 13 over Kentucky, North Carolina 10 over North Carolina State, UCLA 7-1-2 over Pittsburgh and Purdue 12 over Texas Christian.

Army was rated 12 points over Baylor, Florida 13 over Mississippi State, Tennessee 15 over Southern Methodist, Oregon eight over Illinois, Kansas 3-1-2 over Texas Tech, Missouri 11 over Minnesota, Georgia Tech 7-1-2 over Florida State, Michigan State 2-1-2 over Washington, South Carolina 17 over Wake Forest, Alabama 13-1-2 over Virginia Tech, Georgia 7-1-2 over Tulane, Louisiana State 15 over Texas A&M, Oregon State 1-1-2 over Iowa and Southern California 11 over Nebraska.

In Friday night's pro opener, the Los Angeles Rams are 10-1-2 point favorites over the St. Louis Cardinals and on Saturday night, the New York Giants are rated 3-1-2 points better than the Chicago Bears.

In Sunday games, Atlanta is 3-1-2 over New Orleans, Baltimore is 5-1-2 over San Diego.

Maker Signs Idaho Baseball Letter

MOSCOW—John Smith, head baseball coach for the Idaho Vandals, announced today that Bob Maker Jr., Moscow, had signed a National Letter of Intent to attend the University of Idaho this fall.

Smith said that Maker was one of the outstanding players in the state and was the finest player he saw in the Idaho American Legion baseball state tournament held at Lewiston.

Maker hit .636 during the tournament. In high school, Maker was voted the most valuable player and led the team in batting with a .333 average.

Three Area Friday Tilts Boast Unbeaten Teams

Idaho Meets WSU in Battle of Palouse; Idaho State Faces Tough Tulsa Eleven

Magic Valley high school teams enter their third-fourth weekend of the season with six winning and two other undefeated, but tied, clubs remaining. But by midnight Friday, at least three of them will have a blemish on their record as Shoshone is at Wendell, Oakley at Castleford and Casmas County at Rimrock — to account for six of the seven teams.

The weekend also will be the highlight for home "inter-district" competition with Borah at Twin Falls, Skyline at Minico, Blackfoot at Burley and Vallivue at Buhl.

Another all winning team, Glens Ferry, opens its conference slate at Gooding while Carey, which has a tie, plays host to Bliss. The other is Raft River which has won three games and hasn't been scored on as yet. Coach Kay Harper's Trojans will host Hagerman in a Saturday afternoon game. Perhaps the "cinderella" team so far has been Coach Bill Clossen's dozen at Shoshone. Actually, Coach Clossen has 15 men, which gives him four substitutes. But he's thinking of bringing up some of the sophomores — there are 10 of them out.

"We have 15 boys who really like to play and that's how we've been playing. We get awfully tired at the end of a game. It's like our last game. We tied with Gooding 0-0 but after I kept looking across the field and seeing all their reserves, I figure we won it."

It will be a tough assignment for the Indians this week as they travel across to play at Wendell. The Trojans have a power defense and aren't hurting in any department. But they also have Kirk Dennis who is the epitome of "break away" descriptions.

Glens Ferry follows up its big win over Jerome by traveling to Gooding where the Senators haven't been able to get across the goal line as yet but has yielded only two touchdowns defensively. Glens Ferry has a big, speedy backfield that will test any defense. The feature in the Magic Valley Conference will bring the thrice-victorious Oakley Hornets to Castleford where the Wolves have posted a 2-0 record. Both have shown ability to score from well out with Oakley liking the air and the Wolves liking the ground.

Camas County has won a pair by lopsided scores but will run into an offensive buzz saw at Grand View. Rimrock's Raiders have boomed through a couple of foes and never looked as devastating as it did last week in whomping a good Richfield team.

The afternoon feature could well come at Hailey where the winless Wood River Wolverines will play host to the Jerome Tigers at 1 p.m. Wood River still has the sticking defense but its major problem has been moving the ball inside the 20-yard line. Sophomore Jimbo Hurst looked sharp in passing last week. Jerome undoubtedly will be smarting from the three-touchdown blitz that Glens Ferry threw at it last week in claiming that decision.

In another afternoon affair, Carey plays host to Bliss and the Panthers are heavily favored.

Burley, 2-1, steps into Eastern Idaho Conference play to take on Blackfoot with the only key to that one being Minico. The Spartans dropped Blackfoot 14-6 and toppled Burley 27-6.

Buhl, winless after two outings, entertain Vallivue which reportedly has one of the top tackle prospects in the area. Filer, 0-2, but looking considerably better in its second outing, will host the Valley Vikings, who have won two and lost one. This should be Filer on the ground with Valley leaning more to the air behind Larry Richman.

A traditional rivalry unfolds at Kimberly with the Bulldogs hosting Hansen. Kimberly is 1-2 against 2-1 for Hansen. Hansen will have to grind the ball to score while Kimberly has that homerun punch in Rod Rudolph and Mike Erickson. Still on the east end, Murtaugh, not untracked and 0-3, plays host to Deco which is 1-2.

In the lone Saturday afternoon game, Raft River puts its ultra-quick defense against Hagerman. Coach Kay Harper feels last week's win over Hansen was significant. "We won our first two, but we weren't sure how good we were. But after topping a big team like Hansen, we feel we can win a lot of ball games." Hagerman has dropped two in the Magic Valley conference.

MOSCOW — From one tough one to another, said Don Robbins as the Idaho Vandals prepared for another road game with the WSU Cougars to be played in Spokane's Albi Stadium on Saturday.

"We faced one of the finest teams in the country last Saturday and the Air Force Academy is a team which could end up with a 9-2 season or better. They are extremely quick, have great discipline and played the Vandals like a team in mid-season form. They did not make a mistake, they took four of our turnovers and turned them into touchdowns and they played very well on the defense. They have a fine quarterback in Bob Parker and he directed a perfect game in scoring 45 points," Coach Robbins said.

"The Vandals did have a few bright spots with our young athletes and although we did not move the offense the way we planned, our staff thought that Randy Peterson and Fred Riley ran well. Darrell Burchfield, (sophomore from Boise) caught four passes and defensively Bill Cady and Ron Linehan impressed the staff. Kelly Courage (another sophomore making his first start on defense) looked good despite the fact that the Air Force's Parker picked him out for the passing attack," Robbins added.

This week the Vandals will spend a lot of time in preparing for the Cougar game. They realize the Vandal offense must be geared for a top performance in order to take the Cougars.

Robbins said there were no serious injuries and he also hoped that Jack Goddard, split end and Larry Bosma, 270-pound center, could return to action this week. Both players missed the opening game.

"We must get better performances from our quarterbacks and although I felt that both Steve Olson and Tom Ponciano did a credible job, I felt they looked a little rusty," Robbins said.

The Vandals plan a full week of work on the practice field through Thursday and will leave for Spokane on Friday to hold an early afternoon workout on the new Astroturf in Albi Stadium. They will stay in Coeur d'Alene on Friday evening and will bus to the game from there on Saturday morning.

Robbins feels that the workout on the Astroturf is necessary so that many of the newer players get used to the artificial grass. The Vandals have played on the turf but the first one is always new in the beginning of the season.

Fort Marcy Wins U.N. Handicap

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Rokeby Stable's Fort Marcy, showing the form that made him a champion in 1967, drew off in the stretch at Atlantic City Wednesday to win the $125,000 United Nations Handicap easily by five lengths.

The rich prize had eluded the 6-year-old gelding in each of the past three years when he finished second each time. There was no denying him in this 18th running of the even as he left Fiddle Isle in the wake at the end of the 1 3/16 mile race over the turf course.

Fiddle Isle, racing outside California for the first time, got within a length and one-half of Fort Marcy half way through the stretch but his challenged then petered out. Fiddle Isle paid $3.00 and $2.40 and Mr. Leader returned $3.00.

POCATELLO — It's out of the frying pan and into the fire for the Idaho State football team. The Bengals dropped a 39-10 decision to the newest member of the Missouri Valley Conference, Drake, last week, and now take on an established member, rough tough Tulsa.

The game will start at 12:30 Mountain Time and will be carried by the Bengal Football Network live from Tulsa with air time 12-10.

ISU assistant Tom Lovat scouted the Golden Hurricanes in their 7-3 win over Cincinnati last week, and said Tulsa is a physical team. "Tulsa is big and strong and likes to use its muscle," Lovat said. "They beat Cincinnati mainly because of their superior physical condition. By the fourth quarter Cincinnati was worn down."

The Hurricanes have a pair of fine quarterbacks but they didn't get untracked against Cincinnati because of the fine pass rush that Cincinnati put on. Since ISU has a big, fast line that gives Defensive Coach Randy Tyson hope that his front four can put enough pressure on the passer to disrupt their throwing.

"Tulsa has two quarterbacks," Tyson said.

"Johnny Dobbs is their passer. He likes to put the ball in the air. Then they have Drew Pearson, who is good on the rollout and sweep."

Whoever is under center he has a fine tailback in Josh Ashton, who likes to carry the ball 25 times a game. He gained 93 yards against Cincinnati.

Defense won the game last week for Tulsa, and it was a pair of mooses who got a lot of credit. Linebacker, Pedro Williams and 236 pound tackle Chuck Cummins did a lot of good work to enable the Hurricanes to win.

After viewing films of the loss to Drake, Head Coach Ed Cavanaugh named offensive tackle Ken Krahn and middle backer Ras Cattolico as his players of the week. Most of ISU's somewhat meager ground yardage was gained behind Krahn blocks.

Twin Falls Entertains Borah, Skyline Will Invade Minico

Winless Twin Falls plays host to undefeated, and powerful, Borah in a non-conference game Friday night while Minico, smarting from its first loss, opens Eastern division, SIC, action by hosting air-conscious Skyline.

Minico should be smarting a little from a last-minute 10-7 defeat to the Boise Braves but this time out Coach Corky Hill's face an entirely different mode of attack.

Despite the loss, Coach Hill wasn't totally displeased with his Spartans. "I felt us boys from the country gave the big city boys a pretty good game," he said. Then he added, "We will have to get more out of our offense."

The Spartans scored in the first three minutes of the game and protected that until Boise, in a typical Coach John Gianandrea drive, hammered 96 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter, then won it with a 17-yard field goal with 46 seconds left.

This time out, the Spartans' defense will be heavily tested in the passing secondary as Skyline brings the SIC's best passer-receiver combination in Ross Goddard and Kelly Diest. Goddard has hit on 20 of 55 passes for 358 yards and four touchdowns. Diest has received 13 of them for 316 yards and all four scores.

Minico's Reed Nelson and Jerry Groesbeck and tops in the league in rushing but have played in one more game and their average per carry drops them back into the second five. John Fennell, booming one punt 66 yards in the air Saturday, leads the loop with a 42.8 yard average.

Offensively, Minico has accumulated 731 yards in 165 plays over three games — only 102 in the air — while Skyline has 555 yards in 116 plays in two outings — more than half on Goddard's arm. On defense, Minico has limited three foes to 501 total yards against 42 for Skyline.

Twin Falls Coach Norm Thomas will run into the loop's best offensive machine and he has the problem of losing the first two and trying to get ready for Borah. Two men quit the team Tuesday, dropping available manpower to 40.

The Bruins ran into all sorts of problems against Capital with about the only bright spot being the play of junior middle linebacker Dennis Blackwood. Twin Falls has accumulated only 261 yards — 66 in the air — in two outings with senior halfback Allen Scherbinske having 101 of them in rushing. Borah has the total offense leader in Mark Lingren with 530 yards — 316 passing — and a 9.3 average per rush carry. Tom Bassett has an 8.9 average. Scherbinske ranks 13th in rushing and eighth in average

Candidate Scores In Fair Art Show

TWIN FALLS — Most of the candidates for election in the November general balloting in Twin Falls County were on hand at the fairgrounds in Filer to make political hay, shaking hands and passing out campaign material.

Leon Smith, Republican hopeful for the office of prosecuting attorney, managed to get the attention of fairgoers in a different way. While his opponent was shaking hands, Smith was busy winning blue ribbons.

He entered four paintings in the fair's art show, one of which won the purple ribbon two of the four days of the show and placed second in overall popularity by fairgoers. This year the public voted for the paintings they like best and a winter moonlight landscape called "Moonlight on White" received the most votes.

Smith has only been painting the past few years but his work ranges from abstract to landscapes and still life. One of his fair entries was an abstract called "Revolt" and another "Quaking Aspen" is a painting Smith plans to donate to the new Gooding County Courthouse. The other, "Looking over Clover", is a painting of the Clover Trinity Lutheran Church in a landscape setting of his own design.

Classes Scheduled

HAILEY — Members of the Sawtooth Board of Realtors said this week no advance registration is required for special classes offered in Blaine County under the direction of the Idaho Real Estate Commission.

L. James Koutnik, Twin Falls, will instruct classes in "The Essentials of Real Estate" from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. for seven weeks beginning Sept. 25. The September meeting will be held in the district courtroom, Hailey. Other meetings are slated for Oct. 2, 9, 16, and 23 at the Ketchum city hall; Oct. 30 at the courtroom, and Nov. 6 at the Ketchum city hall.

Licensed and non licensed real estate salesmen and brokers are eligible to attend, and officials estimated most attending will be individuals interested in real estate and businessmen interested in the aspects of the business.

Court Hearing Scheduled

TWIN FALLS — A preliminary hearing for a Twin Falls man charged in connection with the death of his step-son, has been tentatively set for 10 a. m. September 25 in Twin Falls Police Court.

Gerry Lewellyn, 30, was arrested on a charge of involuntary manslaughter after his step-son, Shawn Stone, 22 months, died of head injuries at a Boise hospital.

Lewellyn is in custody at the Twin Falls County Jail in lieu of $2,000 bond.

Sentences Pronounced For Pair

TWIN FALLS — Three-year sentences meted two men convicted of perjuring themselves during a trial in Twin Falls will begin later this week when they are transported to Boise.

The sentences were handed James Brent O'Dell, 19, Twin Falls, and Delbert Lee Crawford, 25, Eden, by District Judge James Cunningham.

The two men were remanded to the custody of Sheriff Paul Corder after sentencing Monday. The sheriff said it will be late this week before Crawford and O'Dell are transported to the Idaho State Penitentiary at Boise.

Judge Cunningham retained a 60 day jurisdiction over O'Dell, and after O'Dell serves 60 days in the penitentiary the judge can order him released and placed on probation.

HANGING PRIZE WINNING painting in his office, Leon Smith, Republican candidate for Prosecuting Attorney in Twin Falls, hopes his first attempt at politics will turn out as well as his first art showing efforts. While other candidates were hunting for votes at the fair grounds last week, he attracted some voter attention by winning three awards with this painting, one of four he entered in the fair's art gallery.

Dust Chills All World

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In the annals of weather it is known as "eighteen hundred and froze-to-death."

What happened to make A.D. 1816 "the year without a summer?"

In Essa, the magazine of the Environmental Science Services Administration, Patric Hughes of the Environmental Data Service harks back to that strange year and discusses a possible explanation for its miserable weather.

In the Northeast United States heavy snow fell in June. There was frost in July and August. From June 6 to 9 severe frost occurred as far south as Virginia. Ice was seen near Philadelphia. Crops were killed.

Clinic Set At Wendell

WENDELL — All children in the Wendell school district between the ages of 1 and 12 are asked to participate in the rubella clinic Sept. 29.

Vaccine will be given from noon through 3 p. m. Parents of pre-schoolers are being encouraged to bring their children. The project is sponsored by the South Central District Health Department. Shots will be given by Dr. Harold Holsinger.

Volunteers are needed for non-professional aspects of the clinic. Anyone wishing to offer services should call Mrs. Lou Grout at 536-2498.

It was not just a regional disaster. England was cold, too, in that summer of no summer, and 1816 was famine year there and in France and Germany.

Actually, 1816 was "just one of a famous series of cold years," Hughes said. From 1812 to 1817, "it was cold over the whole world."

Come down to 1913 and to William Humphreys, a U.S. Weather Bureau scientist. He suggested that the cold years were caused largely by volcanic dust in the earth's atmosphere.

Such dust partly shields the earth from the sun's radiations but permits heat to escape, thus lowering the planet's temperature. There were three major volcanic eruptions between 1812 and 1817.

The worst was Tambora in Indonesia. For five days in April, 1815, it belched flame and ashes and fiery stones. It was estimated that Tambora's "titanic explosion" hurled up to 100 cubic miles of dust, ashes, and cinders into the atmosphere, "generating a globe-girdling veil of volcanic dust."

Years earlier, Benjamin Franklin had suspected that volcanic dust might affect weather. Gigantic eruptions in Japan and Iceland were followed by a "famous cold year" in 1785, and Franklin thought there must be a connection.

Hughes goes on to say that volcanic dust, lingering in the

The West Coast has the fewest thunderstorms in the United States—less than 10 a year.
