TWENTY CENTS

Autumn Arrives

IN SEASON for the arrival of Autumn today is Sandy Weigh, Jerome, holding a spray of richly colored leaves. Despite cool weather, few leaves have fallen in the Magic Valley area so far this year, but foliage is starting to turn from summer's green to gold and red in many locations. And on Saturday, there was an inch of snow atop Galena Summit — a warning that winter is approaching.

T.F. Levies Higher

BY BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writer
TWIN FALLS — Levies for 1970 to provide budgets for all taxing units in Twin Falls County were submitted Monday to the board of county commissioners for approval with only Twin Falls county and Twin Falls city exceeding the four per cent revenue increase allowed by state law.
Twin Falls county's income will be up by about 11 per cent with the anticipated seven per cent already approved by special action of the Idaho State Tax Commission. The increase covers additional cost of replacing structures at the county fair grounds destroyed by fire.
As for Twin Falls city's revenue, which is up 9.7 per cent over 1969, County Clerk Harold Lancaster said he listed the levy for the total amount on the levy sheet for county commission action. No special appeal was made to the tax commission but county commissioners have indicated they will not act to reduce the figure.
Chairman Heber Loughmiller said last week he was aware of the anticipated increase in the city levy but it would be presented the tax commission as received from the city.
"We do not want to go to court again," Loughmiller said. He pointed out last year

Bannock County officials reduced the levy of a taxing unit in their county which was in excess of the four per cent allowed by House Bill 304 and the commissioners were taken to court by the taxing unit and lost their case. Loughmiller said this indicates the county commissioners do not actually have the authority to rule on tax levies within the county other than the county general levy. The commissioners here will leave the final decision to the state tax commission, he said.
City Manager Jean Milar, who prepared the city figures, is on vacation and unavailable for comment, although it is understood the city's budget increase is to some extent in connection with services for newly annexed areas.

The annexation increases the city's assessed valuation by some $1-million but the state law makes no allowance for this and maintains the revenue must still be held to a four per cent increase. With cost of living increases and salary increases going beyond four per cent, city officials say it is not realistic to try to stay within the limitation.
Lancaster said all other taxing units including school districts, College of Southern Idaho and highway districts have held within the four per cent limitation. A few, he said, even show reductions.
What the levies mean to the taxpayer add up to a tax increase which everyone probably anticipated, Lancaster said.
If a person living in Twin Falls city, for example, thought last year's taxes were high, he can count on about 31 cents more per $100 of assessed valuation this year. Total taxes for a Twin Falls resident last year were $12,2674 on each $100 of assessed property valuation. This year he will be paying $12,5817.
Although the Twin Falls city assessed valuation is up by some $1 million, the total county assessed valuation is up only about $700,000. This may seem impossible but the change takes place because of expanding city limits with the county. Usually Twin Falls county's growth amounts to a one to two million dollar increase annually, Lancaster said.
Out of the total $12.58 the Twin Falls taxpayer will be paying, county officials have control over only about $2.00. Under new state tax laws, the separate taxing units certify their needs to the county in dollars and cents and Lancaster's staff must figure levies which will bring in this amount based on assessed valuation. The four per cent increase is allowed in revenue brought in, not on the levy figure.
Total Twin Falls County assessed valuation is now $56,760,000 and a year ago was $56,083,000.

War Halt Ordered

By United Press International
King Hussein of Jordan ordered his army in Amman today to cease firing in the Jordanian civil war and demanded "absolute observe." The cease-fire order was issued after he accused the Syrian army of invading Jordan.
With the situation worsening by the hour the Pentagon disclosed in Washington it had alerted American armed forces in the United States and Europe for possible evacuation of American citizens from Jordan where the army and Palestinian guerrillas have fought a civil war since Thursday.
An Israeli military spokesman in Tel Aviv said 200 Syrian tanks moving under cover of an artillery barrage had seized the city of Irbid, 14 miles south of the border, in a move that outflanked the Golan Heights cease-fire line and brought Syrian armor to within 18 miles of Israel.

Hussein's cease-fire apparently applied only to the Amman area where Cairo newspapers said 6,000 persons had been killed in the civil war and where they said the bodies of thousands of persons were strewn in the streets, raising the possibility of serious epidemics.
Guerrilla radio broadcasts reported heavy fighting in the Irbid area and at Salt, 15 miles northwest of Amman, the site of a major Palestinian refugee camp. The guerrillas said they had "liberated" all of north Jordan but fighting was still going on at Salt.
The respected Tel Aviv newspaper Yedioth Haronoth openly speculated that U.S. intervention was imminent and said Washington would send in paratroops if Hussein asked for help. But in his first broadcast since the war started Hussein announced the Syrian invasion and appealed to the Syrians not to fight Jordanians.
Shortly afterward he ordered the cease-fire in Amman as of 5:15 p.m. (11:15 a.m. EDT).
Hussein said, "In response to the appeal of conscience and national duty and to put an end to the tragedies which the (Syrian) conspiracy imposed on our country, and in appreciation of our major responsibilities in these historic moments in the life of our nation, I order an absolute and strict observance of the cease-fire as of this moment."
Fifth-four airplane hijack hostages are believed still in the Amman area although no word of their fate has been received in several days. There are also about 400 American citizens in Jordan and any American intervention would be to evacuate them.
Parts of Amman, a city of 600,000 was in flames and smoke spiraled over the burning city. The Palestinian Red Crescent appealed for help

Council Considering Ban On Open Burning

TWIN FALLS — Ordinances designed to cut down on pollution in Twin Falls will be placed on second reading during tonight's regular city council meeting.
Ordinances No. 1478 and 1479, prohibiting open burning and burning of garbage and rubbish, will be among three ordinances on second reading. Ordinance No. 1476, adopting a fire prevention code, also will be on second reading.
Resolution No. 1015, providing fees at the new sanitary landfill, is expected to be adopted, according to an agenda set for the meeting.
An ordinance requiring application for building permits for new construction or addition to commercial buildings be accompanied by certification of licensed architect or engineer, certifying design of structural components meets requirements of uniform building code, will be considered.
Downtown parking problems will be discussed as will appointments to the Youth Advisory Commission.
Regular business, including expected approval of license applications and building permits, will be conducted. Department heads also will make monthly reports.
Councilmen also are expected to designate Sept. 17-23 Constitution Week and Sept. 20-27 Home Builders' Week.

Upturn In Jobs Forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson says the nation's 5.1 per cent rate of unemployment will ease by December without using government subsidized job programs backed by Democrats.
Hodgson estimated about one-third of current unemployment resulted from defense spending cuts rather than a general slump in business. In that connection, he said, the average period of idleness for jobless workers in recent months was eight to nine weeks, while the average in 1958 and 1961 was 17 weeks or longer.
Although there is a great deal of "transitional unemployment," Hodgson said, there also are "areas where there are rather deep and rather substantial unemployment." He said the Labor Department had already set aside $25 million in manpower training fund for the seven most distressed states—California, Oregon, Washington, Alaska, Rhode Island, Maine and Michigan—to pay for public service employment and additional job skill training programs.
The official Tass news agency said Luna's earth controllers coaxed the craft down gently by remote control of its braking engines, which set the silver sputnik down in stages like a jack in reverse.
The agency pinpointed its landing spot in selenographic coordinates as 0 degrees 41 minutes south latitude and 56 degrees 18 minutes east longitude, "in the area of the Sea of Fertility."

Bank Shaves Prime Rate Half Point

NEW YORK (UPI) — A major New York bank today shaved its prime rate by a half point.
The Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. said that, effective immediately, the new rate would be 7 1/2 per cent, down from the 8 per cent that has prevailed for months.
Pressure for a prime rate cut had been building up for some time but, up to now, only a few minor banks throughout the country had taken such action.

Ex-Gov. Robins Dies At Age 85

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — Dr. C. A. Robins, first Idaho governor elected to a four-year term, died in a Lewiston hospital Sunday at the age of 85.
Gov. Don Samuelson and former Govs. Robert E. Smylie and Charles Gossett expressed sorrow at news of his death.
Hospitalized almost continuously for several months, Robins had suffered a series of heart attacks during the past two years.
A native of Defiance, Iowa, Robins was graduated in 1907 from William Jewell College in Liberty, Mo.
After teaching school for several years, he entered Rush Medical College at the University of Chicago in 1913. He worked for the Chicago Daily News while attending medical college.
When he completed his medical training, Robins entered the Army as a lieutenant in August, 1918, in the medical corps.
After his discharge, Robins moved to Boise to begin a term as governor in 1947.
Prior to his retirement in 1967, he was medical director at Lewiston of the North Idaho Medical Service Bureau. He also served as a physician for the State Legislature.
Robins served four terms in the state Senate from Benewah County — from 1939 to 1946. He was majority floor leader in 1943.
In 1946, he was elected to a four-year term as governor. In 1950, he sought the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate but was defeated by the late Herman Welker in the primary election.
Survivors include his widow, Patricia, and three daughters. Samuelson ordered flags at statehouse flown at half staff in memory of Robins the day of his funeral.
Smylie, who Robins appointed attorney general in 1947, called Robins "the first of the great modern governors."

Soviet Moon Probe Heads For Earth

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union's Luna 16 unmanned lunar probe lifted off from the moon's surface today after scooping lunar soil and is on its return to earth, the official news agency Tass reported.
Tass said "an electric drill of the Luna 16 station took samples of lunar rock that were later placed in a container and hermetized."
"The Soviet space rocket, returning from the moon to the earth, carried samples of the moon rock," it said.
The soft-landing at 8:18 a.m. Sunday marked a Soviet comeback from the failure of Luna 13, which Western space experts said crashed on the moon in July, 1969, while racing Neil A. Armstrong's Apollo 11 mission to the surface.
Luna 16 also was the first Soviet spacecraft to touch down in the lunar landscape since Luna 13 in December, 1966.

New Rule Effects Delayed

TWIN FALLS — State burning regulations adopted by the past session of the legislature and scheduled to become effective today will probably not be enforced in Twin Falls until a city ordinance is approved.
This was reported today by the acting city manager, George Michael. He said the state law would probably take priority over the city ordinance but until municipalities adopt ordinances coinciding with the state, law enforcement would not be possible.
Second reading of an open burning ordinance is on schedule for tonight by city council members. Following state regulations, it will prohibit all backyard burning of trash.
Presently, Twin Falls city law prohibits burning of trash other than paper. With the new ordinance there will be no burning except for removal of fire hazards, for outdoor cooking or at the city sanitary landfills on specified occasions.
Michael said the cities may burn only four times per year and may burn tree stumps only when wind conditions are suitable and for not more than five days duration.
The new state regulations also stipulate that burning of old car bodies will be permitted through the end of 1971.

Anti-Bus Move Lags

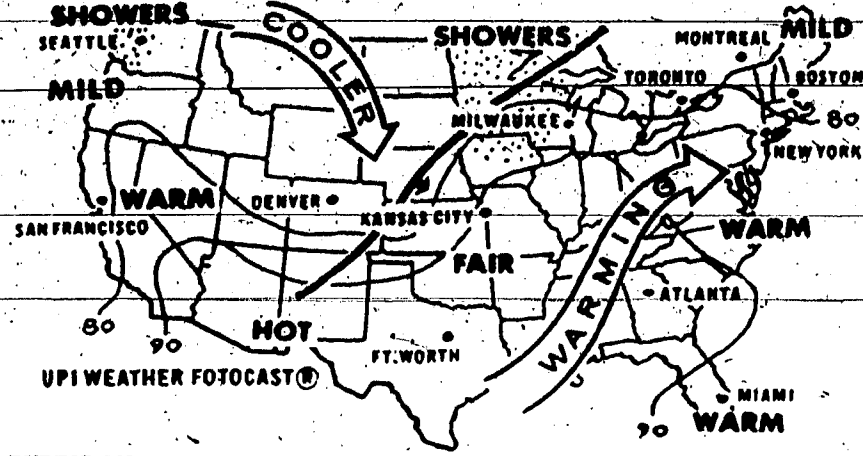

BLOXI, Miss. (UPI) — Deep South governors apparently will be hard-pressed to muster enough support to pass a strong denunciation of busing to force racial balance in public schools at the Southern Governor's Conference opening today.
Gov. John Bell Williams, the host Mississippi governor and chairman of the conference rules committee, proposed sweeping parliamentary changes including one that would make it easier to pass a resolution.
Passage now requires a three-fourths vote of those present. The conference at its first working session considered Williams' proposal to reduce this to a two-thirds vote. It could mean a difference of just one vote.
A strong antibusing resolution proposed by Alabama Gov. Albert P. Brewer lost by one vote last year. Border-state governors led by Russell W. Peterson, Delaware Republican, then pushed through a milder resolution.
Williams insisted in a preconference news session Sunday that the purpose of changing the rules was to weed out parliamentary inconsistencies, but no one denied a change might make a difference on resolutions.
Even so, the Deep South contingent may find it difficult to muster enough votes. They would lose one dependable vote if Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox leaves, as planned, before resolutions are considered late Tuesday. Maddox aides said he had to meet a previous engagement.
But Gov. Robert E. McNair of South Carolina saw reason for wider opposition to forced busing of school children because of what he called a nationwide change of public climate resulting from events of the past year.
Brewer told reporters he still favors a strong resolution, but hoped a strategy can be found to avoid having an adverse effect on U.S. Supreme Court justices who are to hear arguments on a landmark busing case Oct. 12.
In the second major scheduled event of the conference's two-day program, Gov. Robert W. Scott of North Carolina submitted a report recommending elementary schools set up courses explaining the dangers of drugs.
Scott's report also recommended that each state re-examine its laws covering drug abuse and consider replacing them if they are "ineffective."

Singer Denies Threat Charge

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—Frank Sinatra, responding to charges he threatened a Las Vegas casino operator with vengeance by "the mob," said today, "I don't make threats and I'm not running for re-election."

The singer has maintained silence since the altercation at Caesars Palace Casino Sept. 6 in which Manager Saneford Waterman pulled a gun on him.

In an interview with United Press International, Sinatra said, "As for the remarks attributed to me relative to the mob, they're strictly out of a comic strip."

Las Vegas authorities booked Waterman for assault with a deadly weapon, then dropped the charges. Sinatra had been accused of starting a ruckus when he was refused credit at the casino and a request that stakes be raised from $8,000 to $18,000 at the baccarat table.

The singer also was accused of grabbing Waterman by the throat. Both George Franklin, Clark County, Nev., district attorney, and Sheriff Frank Lamb expressed interest in talking with Sinatra on his return to Las Vegas.

"If Sinatra comes back to town, he's coming downtown to get a work card, and if he gives me any trouble he's going to jail... He's through picking on little people in this town," Lamb said.

"One remark he supposedly made to Waterman as he was going out the door was, 'The mob will take care of you.' Now I'd like to have a little talk with Sinatra," Franklin said.

Both Lamb and Franklin seek re-election. In defending himself, Sinatra spoke up for the first time in his desert home here: "I wasn't in the baccarat game. There was no such argument about credit or how much I was going to play. As a matter of fact I just sat down at a blackjack table and hadn't even placed a bet since the dealer was shuffling the cards."

"At that point, Waterman came over and said to the dealer: 'Don't deal to this man, I just got up and said: 'Put your name in the marquee and I'll come to see what kind of business you do,' and I walked away. That was all that was said."

Sinatra did not say whether he planned to return to Caesars Palace to fulfill his contract. His friends seriously doubt it.

Nol Takes Close Look At Cambodian Battles

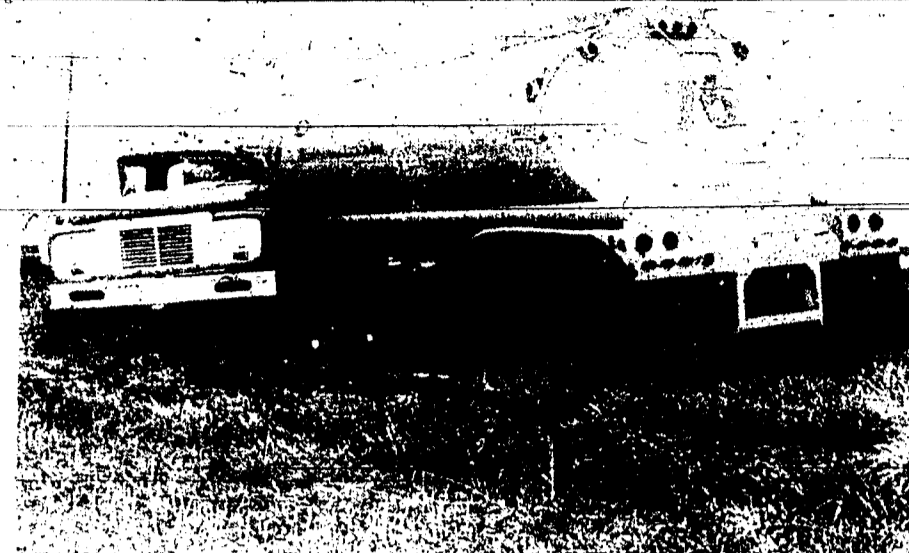

GRAND DRAGON Robert Scoggin of the Ku Klux Klan was arrested along with four other members of the Klan in connection with the fatal shooting of a Sumpter S.C. grocery owner. (UPI)

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Prime Minister Lon Nol flew north today in a borrowed American helicopter for a first-hand look at the largest Cambodian military operation of the war. Cambodian reinforcements also headed north in an effort to break the week-long Communist entrapment of 4,000 government troops near Tang-Kauk. At the same time a new Communist offensive was reported under way in the south. Nol, an army general until Prince Norodom Sihanouk was ousted and he took over as head of government last March, first flew to Skoun, 35 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. Skoun is the town from where a 4,000-man task force left two weeks ago to push up Route 6 to Kompong Thom, 50 miles to the north, which has been surrounded by the Communists for more than two months. The Communists stalled the drive 14 miles north of Skoun, encircling the nine Cambodian battalions. A relief force of Cambodian paratroopers broke through the Communist ring last Friday and there were reports the task force has been rescued. But the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces closed the trap again and the task force commander, Brig. Gen. Neak Sam, flew to Phnom Penh during the weekend for urgent consultations with Lon Nol. Nol was given credit for the recapture of Srang, 26 miles south of Phnom Penh. The Communists were posing a new threat in the south.

Military sources said at least a part of the estimated 5,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese occupying the mountain terrain around the Kirirong Plateau, 56 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, had moved into the lowlands. In South Vietnam, U.S. military sources said 11 American soldiers were killed and 11 were wounded Sunday when Communist gunners shot down a U.S. helicopter near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) between North and South Vietnam and then fired mortar shells at a rescue force. The UH1 Huey helicopter preparing to drop a six-man Ranger team on a reconnaissance patrol was hit six miles west of the Allied base at Gio Linh and one-half miles south of the DMZ. It crashed and was destroyed, killing nine of the GIs aboard and wounding one, the sources said. A force of the U.S. 5th Mechanized Division was helicoptered into the area to attempt a rescue mission, but its chopper was hit with mortar fire. Two more GIs were killed and 10 others wounded. Kirirong has seen some of the heaviest fighting of the Cambodian war. It is situated near Highway 4, Innom Penh's land link with the deep water port at Kompong Som. Military officers speculated the Viet Cong would attempt to cut Highway 4 and force the Cambodian high command to turn its attention away from the trapped Cambodian battalions to the north. Meanwhile, military officers with the nine-battalion task force encircled near Tang Kauk said the Cambodian high command has drawn up plans for a new offensive. It would be aimed at Tang Kauk, currently occupied by an estimated North Vietnamese regiment of about

2,400 men, according to military officers. Brig. Gen. Neak Sam, commander of the task force, told UPI Sunday he was facing 4,600 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops. The U.S. Command in Saigon reported today that 800 more Americans were redeployed from Vietnam in the week ending Sept. 17 and that 395,500 men were now stationed in the war zone. It was the lowest troop strength figures since Jan. 7, 1967, when 395,400 men were here, records showed. Another 10,870 Americans will have to be removed by Oct. 15 to meet President Nixon's "Phase Four" withdrawal program of 50,000 U.S. troops. Two U.S. Marine units numbering 1,400 men departed Da Nang today bound for the United States. They were the 1st Battalion, 7th Marine Regiment, and companies "C" and "D" of the 1st Reconnaissance Battalion, spokesmen said. South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky prepared

RAIN SLICK ROADS caused numerous accidents in Magic Valley over the weekend, including this one just east of Twin Falls. The driver of this gasoline tanker, Joe H. Henderson, 23, Burley, said he was unable to bring the unit under control when it skidded on Addison Avenue East three miles from Twin Falls.

The east-bound truck skidded from the highway and jackknifed into a field, crushing the driver's side of the cab. Henderson, who escaped with minor injuries, said the empty tanker might have exploded from the impact if the day had not been cool. State police investigated the accident which occurred about 6 p.m. Saturday.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American armed forces in the United States and Europe have been placed on alert for possible evacuation of American citizens from Jordan, the Pentagon said today. A defense spokesman, Jerry W. Friedheim, said the alert was ordered overnight and included movement of more warships toward the Mediterranean as well as placement on standby of Army infantrymen and Air Force transport crews. There are about 400 Americans in Jordan, plus close to 40 others among 54 persons still being held hostage by Palestinian guerrillas from four airliner hijackings. Friedheim told reporters at the Pentagon: "We can tell you today we are continuing to take a series of precautionary actions to increase the readiness of Army, Navy, Marine, and Air Force units to support an evacuation operation for American citizens should that become necessary. These increased readiness operations involve units both here and in Germany, including some medical and hospital units and some ships and aircraft." Friedheim said that in the United States among the units placed on standby was the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N.C., a 10,000-man reserve force that is part of the U.S. Strike Command. In connection with this, some 141 jet transports were reported ready at Pope AFB, next to Ft. Bragg, and others were being ordered in to back them up. In Germany, members of the 8th Infantry Division and a brigade of the 1st Infantry Division also went on standby. The United States has about 200,000 troops in West Germany, including three airborne battalions plus armored and mechanized units. Friedheim refused to identify ships steaming toward the Mediterranean but said the alert "does include units that are now in the Atlantic and the 6th Fleet."

Question...

I am receiving Federal Compensation as the result of my husband's death two years ago. If I marry again will I lose this compensation?

Answer...

If you should remarry you will be entitled to receive twenty-four times your current monthly compensation payment. This change was made to the old law by the 1966 amendments to the Federal Employee's Compensation Act.

If you have children receiving compensation the amount each child receives formerly terminated at age 18. This has been extended to age 23 if the child continues to be a student or until he or she marries.

Aetna gives drivers in these states a new break on auto insurance.

We just threw away the rule book and the rate book for auto insurance to give you a better deal on costs and coverage. We call it the All-Driver Plan.

Here's how it works. If you have a good driving record, chances are you're already getting a break on your insurance costs. Well, we can probably give you an even greater break. With a fair driving record, and one or two fender-benders over the past couple of years, you're most likely paying more for your coverage. But with our new approach you probably won't have to pay as much.

For drivers who've been involved in repeated accidents or violations, and have trouble getting insurance, we've found a way to insure them with broad coverage. And we'll give them the best guarantee in the industry on renewing their policy.

There are 10 ways you can qualify for lower rates or broader coverage. So contact your Aetna agent listed in the Yellow Pages.

(Second of two related articles) WASHINGTON (NEA) — What happened to the now-forgotten Truman- and Eisenhower-backed concepts for Middle East development that might have absorbed the Palestine refugees and lessened the level of Israeli-Arab tension to manageable levels is an interesting study in bureaucracy, politics, confused objectives and the circumstances of the times.

themselves are puzzled about what happened, though each has his own personal theories. In part, it seems the plans were simply watered down to the relief, public works and spotty development programs they became. There were men in the U.S. government more sold on relief and work programs than on economic development. They didn't defy their bosses. They just found difficulties and made "adjustments" here and there to eliminate "impracticalities."

competing foreign policy objectives. Meanwhile, the men at the working level continually reported there was more need for relief than could be achieved with the funds available. Money designed to help set up Arab refugees in business or agriculture was diverted to food. This increased relief actually intensified the problem. Since it was impossible to know who was a refugee and who was not and since free meals have great appeal in areas where poverty is intense, tens of thousands of hungry people became "instant" refugees. No one could prove they were not. And so they joined the camps and the food lines, to sink with the others in hopelessness and despair. But perhaps they were hopeless and despairing to begin with. There were other problems: The Arabs were given little part in the planning. In almost every case the concepts were presented as ideas developed by Americans or other non-Arabs. The reasoning was that, unlike in Europe under the Marshall Plan, the Arabs did not have the technical men qualified to develop regional programs. This led to Arab suspicions. Were these plans for the interest of Arabs, or were they designed to help the Israeli or somehow or other connected with British or American or French interests in the Middle East?

has been estimated by United Nations surveys that the refugee Arabs had left the U.S. equivalent of a third of a billion dollars worth of land and other property behind when they fled. The United States in the years following the establishment of Israel was not prepared to exert the necessary pressure to make those funds available for re-establishing the refugees in business, commerce and industry (though some funds were unblocked). Another problem during these years was the shakiness of Arab governments. The average period of tenure in office in Iraq, Syria, Transjordan and Lebanon from 1950 to 1952, for example, was four to five months. With this instability, no government felt it could take the chance of getting involved in any solution that would seem to help Israel, regarded as the mortal enemy. Each feared (and probably rightly) that his government would be overthrown as a result. So the programs ended up as relief and public works programs. The refugees, by and large, stayed in their camps. They were not absorbed. They didn't go to those parts of Syria, Iraq, Egypt and Lebanon where their industry and their abilities could have improved the economies. They lived for two decades in squalor in dreadful camps, which is enough to lead men to radical solutions and revolt.

COMMENT

Broken Eggs

Portland Oregonian Post-mortem examinations of the public body involved in the forestalling of a confrontation between war protesters and the American Legion convention in Portland show a diversity of opinion. For the most part, the response has been favorable to the actions of city, county, state and federal authorities, working together as never before in this area, to defuse the protest movement and prevent violence. Criticism on most points raised was expected. As Harry Truman used to say, "You can't make an omelet without breaking some eggs."

The comments of State Treasurer Robert W. Straub merit attention, and not only because he is the Democratic nominee for governor against the Republican incumbent, Tom McCall. His views echo those of many citizens who have been writing letters to The People's Own Corner. They are disturbed that the state government should provide a day-use park for the overnight encampment of up to 20,000 young people for a rock music festival and for law violations which included nudity, marijuana and LSD usage and selling, with police and national guardsmen ordered not to interfere.

This was properly branded as a double-standard in law enforcement by Mr. Straub and others. Instead of providing McIver Park for Vortex I, said Mr. Straub, "I would have put more emphasis on organizing citizens' groups like People for Portland. To my mind, they were the key to keeping the peace during the American Legion Convention."

But could People for Portland, which had substantial financial support from individuals in the Portland business community, have been so successful in preventing disturbances during the Legion and People's Army Jamboree parades had thousands of young people not been lured to McIver Park on the Clackamas River? Mr. Straub may not be aware that a primary item in the planning of People for Portland was to obtain a site 20 miles or so from Portland where music, food and sanitary facilities would be provided to attract the hippie and anti-war visitors who originally had requested occupation of Washinton Park in the city. Gov. McCall, in full consultation with other government leaders, offered McIver State Park when People for Portland was unable to find private land for the counter-attraction.

Similar criticism has been levied against Mayor Terry Schrunk and the Portland City Council for permitting overnight camping (but no major rock music festival) in the city's Delta Park. No doubt some laws were broken there too, as they were at the Sky River music festival (a private promotion) near Washougal, and at every other mass gathering of young people in this and other areas. But the coordinated plan did prevent the massing of a potential mob in downtown Portland. And it did discourage and frustrate the intentions of a significant number of agitators of violence — fire bombers, dynamiters, snipers — to incite mob action at the time of the Legion convention. Some of these did not come to Portland. Some did and stayed in the background. There were not enough sheep to stampede.

Mr. Straub says Gov. McCall paid too high a price for his part in averting violence and the "damage to the legal system was too great." That is a matter of opinion. It is your belief that Gov. McCall, Mayor Schrunk, Multnomah Commission Chairman Mike Gleason and all who cooperated in the plans to meet an emergency — to prevent the rioting and bloodshed which have occurred in dozens of other American cities — acted responsibly. Mr. Straub is quarrelling with success.

People for Portland deserves commendation for a task well done and perhaps unique among American communities. But it could not have succeeded without the official cooperation and planning — including the mobilization of police and military units to meet any situation of violence — of the public officials now being criticized. But let's all agree on this: A McIver park music, sex and drug festival under public auspices must not become an annual event. Let the underground newspapers which tried and failed to whip up a national storm in Portland take note of this. The carrot is not going to be offered again, but the stick remains potent.

Origin of the Species

PAUL HARVEY

R/X For Revolution

The rioters, the bombers, the burners, the cop-killers are not all Communists.

But there are pros prodding the amateurs, showing them how, egging them on, fanning the flames. And so they know we know them —

I have here a copy of a letter of instruction to revolutionaries.

"Go to the youth. Form fighting squads everywhere. Let groups be at once organized of three, 10, 30 persons.

"Let them arm themselves at once as best they can, be it with a revolver, a knife, a rag soaked in kerosene for starting fires.

"Do not make membership in the party an absolute condition — that would be an absurd demand for an armed uprising.

"You must proceed to propaganda on a wide scale. Let five or 10 people make the rounds of hundreds of workers' and student study circles and everywhere propose a clear, brief, direct and simple plan.

"The propagandists must supply each group with brief and simple recipes for making bombs."

Now, let me interrupt this reading to identify the author of this document: Nikolai Lenin, Oct. 16, 1905.

There are a few more sentences in the letter which you should know about because we face a situation now with important similarities to the one then.

The letter says: "Squads must at once begin military training."

"Some may undertake to kill a spy or blow up a police station, others to raid a bank to confiscate money for the insurrection."

"Let every group learn if only by beating up policemen; this will train hundreds of experienced fighters: who tomorrow will be leading hundreds of thousands."

Now, let's recall that when Lenin wrote this prescription for revolution in 1905, the Russian people were bitter about military defeats in the Far East.

The Japanese had virtually destroyed the Russian fleet at Port Arthur.

Encyclopaedia Britannica says, "Patriotic feeling began to turn against the government; the war grew extremely unpopular."

Thus, when Lenin sent this letter to the combat committee of what later became the Communist Party, the stage was set, the climate was right for revolution.

Midi Uber Alles

WASHINGTON — It was the end of the 1970 fall fashion season, and the news on all fronts was bad. The Fuehrer, deep down in his bunker underneath the Seventh Avenue Subway, was reading reports from all parts of the country in rage and frustration.

"Mein Fuehrer," one of his aides told him, "Seventh Avenue is in ruins. The mid-length skirt has bombed. All is lost. We must surrender."

"Don't tell me we have lost the war," the Fuehrer screamed. "We will counterattack. We will punish all those who refuse to wear the midi-skirt!"

Another aide came in. "Good news, mein Fuehrer," he said. "Bonwit Teller reports it has just sold two midis today."

The Fuehrer started to dance a jig. "You see, swine, it is selling! The midi is selling! Today, Bonwit Teller tomorrow the world!"

The Fuehrer went over to his map and stuck two pins in it. "That makes 234 midi-skirts sold this year. I told you the women would go for it."

Another aide came in with a telegram. "Mein Fuehrer, Saks Fifth Avenue has surrendered to the mini forces. So has Macy's, Gimbels and Bloomingdales. We cannot hold out much longer. Perhaps we should issue a communique saying that it makes no difference what length a woman's skirt is this year as long as she's happy."

"Never! Never!" screamed the Fuehrer, kicking over chairs and tables. "I decreed that women would wear midis and they will wear midis, whether they like them or not."

The aides looked at each other in hopelessness. The Fuehrer's mistress, who was playing solitaire, looked up from her game. "Perhaps it may be better, liebchen, to give in." The Fuehrer looked at his mistress and screamed, "Yes, and if I surrender I will be tried as a war criminal and they will hang me. They will say I brought ruin to all of them. The answer is, 'No.' My plan to bring order to the fashion world will triumph. If they do not listen to me, there will be anarchy in the land. What word from Sears, Roebuck?"

An aide came in with the new Sears, Roebuck catalogue.

"They've replaced the midi with pantsuits," the aide said.

"Traitors! They will pay for this," the Fuehrer yelled as he started tearing the catalogue to bits. "I made Sears, Roebuck and I will destroy them."

The telephone rang and an aide grabbed it. "Yes, yes. Good, good." Then he turned to the Fuehrer. "It's Orbach's. They have a customer in the store and she's looking at midis."

The Fuehrer started to dance another jig. "The tide is turning," he cried.

"What's that?" the aide said. "Oh." He hung up the phone.

"Her husband came in and dragged her out of the store."

The Fuehrer's mistress began to cry. His Aisatian dog, sleeping in the corner, whined.

The teleprinter rang. An aide went over to the machine. "I. Magnin's, Marshall Field, Lord & Taylor, and J.C. Penney have collapsed. They're all holding fire sales on the midi."

The Fuehrer sank down in his chair. "That does it. No more Mr. Nice Guy."

The Fuehrer's mistress took a bottle of cyanide capsules out of the drawer and placed one in each cupcake. Then she called over the dog and gave him a cupcake. He ate it eagerly and rolled over dead.

She poured out two cups of coffee. She handed the Fuehrer a cupcake. He looked at her and said, "Liebchen, you believed in the midi, didn't you?" The mistress took the other cupcake. "With my legs, what choice did I have?"

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Good Or Bad?

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have learned more through your columns than I do with my own doctors. Wonder if you can help me some more? I am a heart patient with "Myocardial ischemia," but do not know just how serious it is.

I do not take any pills for it as I am allergic to most antibiotics. Anyway, can you tell me exactly what it is? Why isn't it called something else? Should one take it easy? — P.D.

Well, thank you, but remember that your doctors can't sit down and explain everything to each patient, whereas I can explain to several million at once.

"Ischemia" means a reduced or deficient flow of blood. "Myocardial" tells where — the heart muscle isn't getting its full share of blood. And a muscle deprived of some of its normal supply of blood can't work as efficiently as it used to.

Some cardiologists dislike the term because, they point out, it describes the result of a defect, rather than the cause. There are several. Hardening of the arteries, and thickening of them, so less blood can flow, is one common cause. Another cause is a defect in the aorta, or principal artery of the body, from which the heart muscle gets its blood supply.

Whatever the cause, with limited blood supply the heart muscle cannot do as much work as formerly, without getting tired.

This can bring on attacks of angina pectoris (pain in the midchest area), or lesser degrees of chest pain, or shortness of breath, or some combination of these symptoms.

Amid The Rinds

Christian Science Monitor In these days when everyone is out marching for a cause (student, blacks, legionnaires, and women) and confrontation seems the order of the day; when unreasoned bitterness and antagonism are the sour fodder of riot-ridden activism; when love placards tout the implication that some kind of ominous incubus is to be substituted for warfare, reaction tends to become more violent than action — and we look at each other and wonder what is lacking.

Maybe it's laughter. We are living in times of fear gas and tension, but why underline the point with solemn stoicism or pill-headed retribution?

Somewhere amid our ecologic debris and the frightened footprints fleeing the cloudy front of social change, a sense of humor has been lost. If we are to survive we will have to find it again under the glass of the broken windows and discarded grapefruit rinds. The ability to laugh has in it the quality which over-comes.

Only last week we got to arguing whether there would be less riot damage if one day the police suddenly appeared in their underwear. Then we began wondering if the president of an oil company could become so filled with social consciousness that he would insist on his own private oil slick in his swimming pool.

Someone laughed. It may be the beginning of hope.

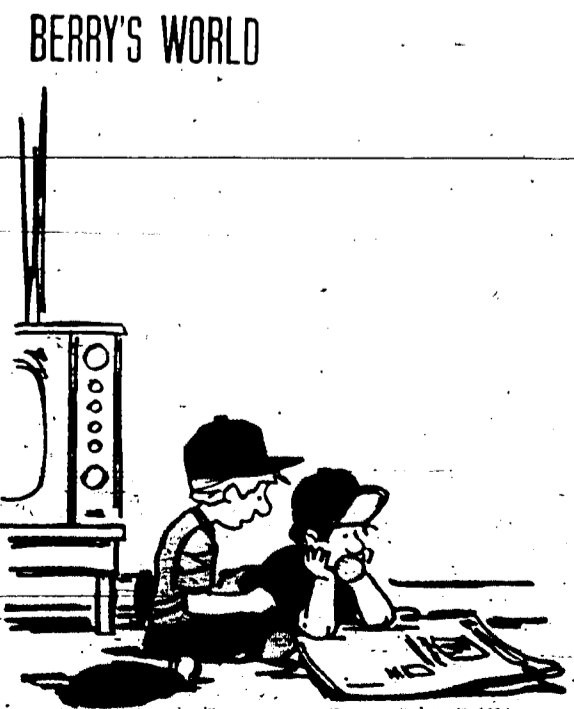

An Odd Illness

Idaho State Journal This society has an odd illness: it can be demonstrably abed with any sickness pre-determined by the employer of a survey taker.

Evidence of that national hypochondria came to light when the National Reading Council revealed the results of a $40,000 study done on contract by Louis Harris and Associates, Inc., who interviewed 1,685 persons.

They found that "18.5 million Americans can't read well enough to fill out application forms for a loan, driver's license, welfare benefits or medical aid." If true, that's a serious ailment.

Martha Attacks 'Sidewalk Diplomats' Harming Nation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Martha Mitchell, wife of the attorney general, says America's professors and educators are a bunch of "sidewalk diplomats" who are destroying the country.

That and other comments on the education community came in the course of a weekend telephone call to a UPI reporter — a call Mrs. Mitchell made to express her irritation over a story about her husband published last week by Women's Wear Daily.

She described as "ridiculous" the dispatch which quoted Attorney General John N. Mitchell as calling educators the "stupid bastards who are ruining our educational institutions."

The blonde and voluble Mrs. Mitchell then voiced her own comments on the academic world:

"The academic society is responsible for all of our troubles in this country. These are people that are destroying our country."

Asked if she was referring to any particular educators, she said "the whole academic society is to blame ... the professors in every institution of learning."

"It makes me sick at my stomach. They're a bunch of sidewalk diplomats that don't know the score," she declared.

"The don't know what's going on. They don't have the right to talk."

"They are the sidewalk diplomats, who do not know and have no right to express an opinion on diplomacy," she said. "Why some of 'em can't talk as well as I can and I can't talk very well."

"There are more repercussions in our society today because of them," she said. "They are totally responsible for the sins of our children. The academicians have not taken care of our children. They are at-fault for a whole generation of children."

Mrs. Mitchell said she was calling from the telephone in her upstairs bathroom at their plush Watergate apartment on the Potomac "so John won't hear me talking to you."

Hijacker Served Plane Theft Term

BANGKOK (UPI)—The U.S. Embassy said today the American who hijacked a plane from Thailand to North Vietnam Friday had been imprisoned for stealing a plane and flying it to Cuba in 1962.

An embassy spokesman said Bobby Joe Keesee, 36, of Phoenix, Ariz., stole a Piper Comanche in June of 1962 and flew it to Cuba.

The spokesman said Keesee was expelled from Cuba and in June, 1962, was tried for stealing the plane and an automobile. He was convicted and received two five-year concurrent sentences, the spokesman said.

Keesee was paroled from the federal correctional institution at La Tuna, Tex., June 8, 1965, the spokesman said.

Keesee, described as short and fat, with a crew-cut, forced the pilots of a small charter plane to fly him to a beach near Dong Hoi on the North Vietnamese coast. The pilot took off in a hail of gunfire and returned to Thailand unhurt the same day. A single bullet struck the tail's rudder.

The pilots said they last saw Keesee as he leaped from the plane carrying a briefcase.

Thai authorities said it appeared the hijacker knew exactly where he wanted to go in North Vietnam.

Emmy Telecast Split This Year

NEW YORK (UPI)—There will be two streamlined Emmy award telecasts this year instead of one because critics have found past awards programs tedious for viewers.

A 90-minute program originating on the West Coast will be devoted solely to entertainment awards, the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences announced Sunday. NBC will carry this one.

The second show originating in New York City will be devoted exclusively to news and public affairs program awards. Dates for both shows will be announced later.

Past award programs, alternating between Los Angeles and New York, lasted two or more hours. Critics found the time devoted to technical awards tedious for the general public.

The changes were "designed to give the show a new pace and cohesiveness and enhance its attractiveness to the public and to advertisers," Robert Lewine, academy president, and Sonny Fox, academy board chairman, said in an announcement.

The new format was approved during a weekend trustee meeting.

Long GM Strike Appears Likely

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It may be quite some time before the nearly 365,000 American and Canadian workers idled in the United Auto Workers' strike against General Motors Corp. return to their jobs, says UAW President Leonard Woodcock.

In addition, Irving Bluestone, codirector of the union's GM Department, said the UAW is determined to teach the huge automaker "a lesson" similar to one it taught GM during an 119-day strike in 1945.

Woodcock, in an interview on ABC television issues and answers Sunday, said he "must admit there is no settlement in view" in the six-day-old walkout by 343,000 GM employees.

"We both know what the problems are," he said, "but are unable to agree on the solutions."

Woodcock said putting together a new, three-year national contract does not present as big a problem as the settlement of local disputes. Both GM and the UAW have said that there can be no resumption of work until both the national and local contracts are agreed upon.

In addition to the 343,000 GM workers on strike, the company has laid off 21,219 workers at plants exempted from the walkout.

Swedish Red Gains Assure Socialists Longer Rule

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Premier Olof Palme's Social Democratic party lost its majority in parliament Sunday during general elections in which the Communists unexpectedly made a strong showing. But the Communist gains assured continued Socialist rule for the next three years.

The 43-year-old premier, Europe's youngest government chief who gained publicity for his outspoken criticism of U.S. involvement in Vietnam, virtually confirmed the Social Democrats will continue to rule even if they must rely on Communist support.

The three nonsocialist parties, the Center party, the Liberals and the Conservatives, together polled the largest majority with 46.6 per cent of the vote. The Social Democrats lost 3.7 per cent and totaled 46.4 per cent of the vote and the Communists tallied nearly 5 per cent.

A total of 86.4 per cent of Sweden's 5.6 million eligible voters cast ballots in the election which puts the new parliament in power for three years.

The nonsocialists will get 167 seats in the new unicameral, 350-seat Riksdag (parliament), the Social Democrats will get 166 and the Communists will get 17 for a total of 183 Socialist seats.

"The Communists can topple the government if they want to support the nonsocialists," Palme said. The Communists had been the favorite target for Palme's sharp-tongued attacks, but ironically they saved the premier's government.

Communist party leader C. H. Hermansson said, "We will never support the nonsocialist parties."

Most observers believed Palme would make few changes in his party's reformist type of socialism. After 38 years of Social Democratic rule, 95 per cent of Swedish industry still is owned privately.

If Palme turns to the left, which few expect, it would be more likely because of pressure from the radical young elements inside his own party than because of the 17 Communists in the Riksdag.

French Premier Winner Over Reform Opponent

BORDEAUX, France (UPI)—Premier Jacques Chaban-Delmas won re-election to the national assembly Sunday by handily defeating the stiffest reform opponent to challenge the Gaullists in years, Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber.

Servan-Schreiber said he would resign Tuesday as general secretary of his radical Socialist party, the organization of non-Communist leftists he has welded to bring reform to France's social and political life.

Chaban-Delmas, 55, reaffirmed his popularity and that of his union of the defense of the Republic party, the ruling Gaullist party, by capturing 63.5 per cent of the vote. Servan-Schreiber, 46, a handsome news magazine publisher, tallied 16.5 per cent of the vote.

Eight others also were in the running.

Victorious for the eighth time since 1946, Chaban-Delmas got 14,904 votes out of 23,828 ballots cast while Servan-Schreiber got 3,881 votes.

Servan-Schreiber said before the election he expected Chaban-Delmas to win and wanted only 30 per cent of the vote to illustrate a reform movement was under way in France that was rejecting the Gaullist. He promised to resign from his party if he did not get 30 per cent.

The newspaper Paris Jour said Chaban-Delmas "won by a knockout" and Robert Loujade, general secretary of the premier's party, said the victory "is a success of the Fifth Republic, of the majority, a personal success of Chaban-Delmas."

The election began as ordinary balloting to fill the Bordeaux seat in the national parliament left vacant when Chaban-Delmas' parliament stand-in died. Chaban-Delmas is permitted by law to be mayor of Bordeaux as well as premier of France.

LITTLE KAREN REUSSER, a student at Gooding's School for Deaf and Blind, was born in a world of twilight because of rubella. Now, she is a product of the last great national rubella epidemic of 1964, when her mother caught the disease early in pregnancy. Karen has travel vision through the use of strong corrective lenses. In other cases, rubella has caused birth defects such as deafness, heart conditions and cataracts. The disease is slated for a statewide "Rub Out" starting Sept. 28.

Rubella Clinic Set For Gooding Area

GOODING — Mrs. Fred Braga, Gooding county coordinator for the "Rub out Rubella" campaign, reported Saturday five school-based clinics will be held in this area, for an estimated 1,800 local children, Sept. 28 and 29.

Candle Making Shown

HANSEN — Mrs. J.W. Walker demonstrated how to make and decorate candles at the Friendship Club meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gordon Hill. Mrs. Hill was also program chairman and introduced Mrs. Walker. Mrs. Clarence Hollifield, a former member, was a guest. Mrs. George Nauman Jr., was acting president in the absence of Mrs. Douglas Gee, president. The group discussed sending a monetary contribution to the Children's Home, but have not heard from them as yet since writing them in reference to the special gift. The Oct. 1 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Nauman.

Jewelry Making Shown

FAIRFIELD — The country home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frostenson was the setting for the September meeting of the Prairie Homemakers Extension club. Mrs. John Frostenson was co-hostesses. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rodman, craftsmen from San Jose, Calif. demonstrated the making of silver jewelry. They showed the designing of rings, necklaces and earrings using silver wire and silver sheets. They also showed silver casting and articles made of brass and copper. The October meeting will feature a style show by the A-Lane Fashions, Boise and is tentatively planned for the Legion Hall. The club will sponsor a tour of homes in November.

Bridge Club Meets

SHOSHONE — Thursday bridge club met at the home of Mrs. Frank Shaffer. Mrs. James Canine and Mrs. Snow Coffin won the prizes. Mrs. Joe Pagoaga entertained OK bridge club Thursday at her home. Guests were Mrs. Marx Nielsen, Mrs. Max Coffman, Mrs. Morris Gerard and Mrs. Myron Johnson. Prizes were won by Mrs. Coffman, Mrs. Gerard and Mrs. Roger Freeman, with traveling prizes won by Mrs. R. L. Baumann and Mrs. Freeman.

Aim of the program, according to Dr. John A. Mather, director of preventive medicine division, Idaho Department of Health, and state coordinator for the rubella program, is to immunize every child in Idaho between ages 1 and 12. Rubella, or German measles, while mild in most forms, can cause birth defects if contracted by pregnant women. Immunization of children is seen as an effective means of preventing the spread of disease to susceptible adults, at the same time avoiding the possibility of vaccinating a woman in early pregnancy. Clinic dates 2 p.m. Sept. 28 at Hagerman; noon Sept. 29 at Wendell; 1 p.m. Sept. 29 at Bliss; 9 a.m. until noon Sept. 29 at Gooding, and Fairfield also Sept. 29. Residents of Fairfield should contact Mrs. Lloyd Barron for more information. Pre-school children ages 1 and over are invited to attend the school clinic in their community. A donation of 50 cents per child is asked, but no one will be turned away because of inability to contribute, Mrs. Braga stressed.

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's Prime Minister Edward Heath — like President Nixon — is a firm believer in quiet diplomacy. He has shown his quiet gimmick-free style in his handling of Britain's end of the hijacking crisis and won high praise for it.

Knocking in the British press and charges that the Heath government is a "do nothing" government have stopped.

British commentators are comparing Heath's publicity-shy style of government favorably with the more flamboyant style to which the country had become accustomed in the five-and-a-half years it was run by former Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

Although Heath has been in office only since June 19 and new British government chiefs traditionally are allowed a three to six months' honeymoon period, the knocking was beginning to build up early in September.

With no end in sight to the wage-price-inflation-plaguing Britain, the rank-and-file Conservatives who voted Heath into office began to grumble seriously that the new administration was doing nothing to tackle it.

Rank-and-file resolutions for debate at the governing Conservative Party's annual convention in October pressed the Heath government to get moving to curb inflation, slash taxes and crack down on the labor unions and wild cat strikes.

But Heath's quiet but firm handling of the hijacking crisis has silenced the criticism and brought him the best press since he took over. He has been praised particularly for his efforts to maintain a united five-nation front in the negotiations for release of hostages.

The Financial Times commented: "A great deal of the credit must go to the British government, which throughout the week did everything possible to maintain the unity of the five governments."

The tabloid Daily Sketch said: "Nobody can claim this has been Britain's finest hour. But in his handling so far of the hijack crisis, Mr. Heath has no cause to feel ashamed. Far from it."

The Sunday Times compared the Heath and Wilson styles of governing and commented "where the Wilson White House adored panache, the Heath White House abhors it."

An invitation was accepted from the Clover LWML inviting the Filer group to attend the Oct. 1 meeting at the school. The LWML zone rally is to be held Oct. 20 in Jerome. The group voted to hold a mission fair in conjunction with Peace Mission Sunday.

Mrs. Earl Mason is hostess for the Oct. 8 meeting and Mrs. Virgil Anderson and Mrs. Del Butterfield will have charge of the topic and devotional service.

Persons interested in programs and activities not currently offered should inform the "Y" Office and an attempt will be made to assist in creating new programs, Bartlett added.

Utah Counties Back Flexibility

LOGAN, Utah (UPI) — Sixty county commissioners from throughout Utah unanimously voted to support a constitutional amendment allowing flexibility in county government here Monday.

The commissioners, attending a Utah Association of Counties workshop, heeded the advice of Gov. Calvin L. Rampton who told the officials "nothing is sacred" in the search for ways to improve local government.

The present constitution called for "uniformity" in county government.

Gov. Rampton told the delegates they must look "for something new" to increase efficiency.

He said the counties should consolidate services through cooperation; and then voiced his disappointment "at the little use of the legislature's... opportunity for consolidation within our local government."

The chief executive predicted the legislature would give cities and counties adequate financing in the form of a one-half-cent sales tax, but warned "They will want to see something to show that things are moving."

The commissioners, following their mandate, directed their association staff to work with other groups in the preparation of the proposed constitutional amendment.

Pottery Making Demonstrated

FAIRFIELD — Bob and Irene Redman, local craftsmen, demonstrated the making of pottery for the September meeting of the Camas Club. They brought their equipment and set it up next to the grade school annex and demonstrated the shaping of clay on the potter's wheel. Quite a few pieces were glazed and fired in a portable kiln and finished pieces were on display at the meeting room.

The club voted to donate $100 to the Little League baseball program for expenses of the last season. The club also voted to pay the costs of drug sundries used in the Stamp Out Rubella program in the county.

Various civic projects for the club year were discussed. Additions to the Christmas decoration for the main street were considered.

The October meeting will feature a style show by Anne Dunn's Sage Shop of Hailey. Local women will model the fashions.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Don Bauscher, Mrs. Richard Dalin, Mrs. Mary Miller and Mrs. Thomas Spackman. Fall flowers and cat-tails were used for table decorations.

Local Fares Well

DETROIT (UPI) — About 56,000 striking General Motors Corp. workers in Flint, Mich., had fewer financial worries Saturday than their counterparts throughout the U.S. and Canada.

Credit unions in the highly industrial city, where GM is the biggest employer, gave to members a $500 line of credit, which would enable them to receive $50 weekly.

Married United Auto Workers members with children will receive $40 in strike benefits from the union beginning Sept. 29. The financial burden will be eased considerably for those who take the option to borrow another $50 each week. The money will have to be paid back after the strike is over.

If the strike extends longer than 10 weeks, the Michigan Credit Union League, the parent organization of the state's credit unions, has promised to supply more funds.

Strikers collected paychecks Friday for the previous week. Pay averaged $196 before tax deductions, including overtime and shift differentials. Next week's final paycheck will include only pay for last Monday, the day the strike by the 335,000 UAW members began.

In addition to those involved in the walkout, 21,219 GM workers in nonstriking plants have been laid off. More layoffs by GM, its supplier firms and other related industries are expected.

Negotiations are in recess until Tuesday.

Memories

MILNER — School memories was the topic of discussion at a meeting of the Friendship Circle Club Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William McCoy.

Names were drawn for the Christmas gift exchange and members discussed various projects to help the needy.

Confab Set

WENDELL — Members of the Ruth Naomi Circle of the United Methodist Church will meet in the Fireside room of the church at 2 p.m. Thursday with Mrs. Fern Harris and Mrs. Earl Lowery as hostesses.

Glacier Moves

JACKSON, Wyo. (UPI) — A three-man team from the U.S. Geological Survey has issued a preliminary report indicating the Teton Glacier on Teton Peak is moving at a rate of 30 feet per year.

The team was comprised of Dr. Jack Reed and Rob Blair of Denver, and chief Park Naturalist Chuck McCurdy.

The trio checked the glacier size and movement rates last week, according to Howard Chapman, superintendent of Grand Teton National Park.

The glacier, under the towering north face of Grand Teton, is about 3,500 feet long and 1,100 feet wide. More calculations will indicate if the bulk of ice is increasing or decreasing.

"Spending several days on the glacier is a fantastic experience," McCurdy said. "It is at first a sterile place. But gradually you become aware that it is full of action — a tremendous erosive force."

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Recently you printed a long list of penalties for being caught with marijuana, and since you made no comment, I assume that you believe these penalties are fair and just.

DISAPPOINTED READER

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: You are assuming a lot, my friend. I frequently publish letters without adding my comment. And many letters express views contrary to mine. I simply let others have their say. Why not? I don't assume that because someone disagrees with me, he is wrong and I am right.

I published the legal penalties for being caught with marijuana because many are still unaware of what they have to lose. I also happen to feel that the punishment does not fit the "crime."

DEAR ABBY: Why do so many people say that "pot" is harmless? Our daughter began using it in January. She went on to mesecaline in March, started seeing a psychiatrist in May, and was in a mental hospital in July. She really had no intentions of getting involved with drugs, but her nearest and dearest friend, a girl I liked and trusted, got her started. Now the mother of this girl says, "You know, I've been reading up on marijuana, and it's really not so bad. It's no worse than tobacco or alcohol."

What can I possibly say to her? And to all the people who are spreading this plague with their permissiveness?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: While the most reliable authorities tell us that marijuana is no more addictive (habit-forming) than tobacco or alcohol, excessive use of pot can be as destructive to some individuals as excessive drinking and smoking is to others. There is no way of knowing who can "handle" such things and who can not. Some people who drink like fishes and smoke like chimneys live to be 90. Others become alcoholics in their twenties and die of lung cancer in their thirties. It's a gamble. And of course the only winners are those who stay out of the game.

DEAR ABBY: Just who says "pot" is harmless? From personal experience I know it can cause ulcers, insomnia, heartache, financial problems, and the desire to commit suicide. Not to all, but to a significant percentage of those who are caught.

I am 22 years old. I threw newspapers all thru junior high. I bagged groceries thru high school, and left for college with a pat on the back from my proud father. After graduation I taught school for one year and was considered to be an outstanding teacher.

While home on vacation, a friend invited me to a "groovy party." He said there would be pot there, and even tho I disapprove of pot, I was too weak in character to say no.

The next thing I knew, a policeman's flashlight was shining in my eyes. I was sitting on the same blanket with a bag of pot beside me. Now, 10 days later, I have lost everything; my fiancée, my opportunity for Coast Guard O. C. S. (I was to leave in two weeks!)

After a decade of pulling myself up by my bootstraps, career opportunities are now limited. It saps my desire to live.

My "friend" consoles me by saying that the law is outdated and will be changed "soon," and any society that punishes for such a thing is "sick." This all may be true, but I am the felon and I have to pay the price. Society, be it sick or well, has certain laws which should be obeyed until they are changed.

Now, I ask myself, "What was I doing there?" I am supposed to be a mature and intelligent person. I was absolutely stupid!

If you publish this, Abby, maybe just one person who is tempted to do what I did will read it and remember it. Between the lines can also be read the sorrow I have caused myself and my family.

SUPPOSEDLY MATURE

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Rene Butler, Youree Marry

HANSEN — Rene Daviette

Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Butler, Hansen, became the bride of Leon Youree, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mordant Youree, Pocatello, in rites Sept. 5 at the Kimberly Christian Church. Rev. James E. Keefe, Kimberly, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The chancellery was decorated with four candelabra holding lighted white tapers entwined with greenery and tied with blue bows. Arrangements of giant Spider chrysanthemums was on the piano and alternating blue and white bows enhanced the pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bridal gown of polyester organza, styled with short puff sleeves and redingote empire waistline and A-line skirt. Three-dimensional fine cotton Venise lace formed wide cuff bands and high rounded collar band. A seed pearl band with a Venise lace spray held her elbow-length veil of nylon illusion. She carried a crescent cascade bouquet of red roses and stephanotis tied with white satin streamers.

Sarah Stobaugh, Twin Falls, was maid of honor, and Vonita Youree, Pocatello, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid.

Laloni Klimes, Wendell, was flower girl. She carried a gold filigree basket with an arrangement of pom-pom chrysanthemums.

Ronnie Klimes carried the rings on a satin pillow. Best man was Dan Rounsavell, Coeur d'Alene, and ushers were Gene Youree, Burley, and Richard Youree, Hansen, both brothers of the bridegroom. The ushers also served as candlelighters.

Gene Mildon, Twin Falls, was organist. He accompanied Steve Johnson, Twin Falls, soloist.

Farla McKinney, Twin Falls, registered guests.

The four-tiered white cake centered the reception table, which was covered with white lace over a blue floor-length cloth. Tiny blue satin bows accented the corners of the table. The cake, with a square lower layer, and then subsequently layered with round cakes on pedestals, was trimmed with a diagonal spray of red roses from the base to the top, and topped with the Peace cross. Mrs. Joe Klimes, Wendell, made and decorated the cake. A crystal punch bowl was at one end and a silver coffee service at the other. Arrangements of white chrysanthemums, placed at the base of double crystal candelabra holding white tapers, flanked the cake.

Mrs. Terry Butler, Hansen, served punch, and Mrs. Dennis Butler, Hansen, served coffee. Both are sisters-in-law of the bride. Mrs. Herbert Wisecaver, Heyburn, and Mrs. Calvin Goid, Twin Falls, assisted by Mrs. Lloyd Shewmaker, Kimberly, served cake. All are aunts of the bride. Women of the church also assisted in serving.

Trudi Hardin, Twin Falls, and Patti Butler, Kimberly, both cousins of the bride; Terry Klimes, Wendell; Merna Egbert, Twin Falls, Mrs. R. Rounsavell, Coeur d'Alene, and Bonnie Hill, Twin Falls, were giftbearers and arranged the gift tables.

The couple took a wedding trip to the Sun Valley area.

Mrs. Ola Butler, paternal grandmother, and Mrs. Maudé Shewmaker, maternal grandmother, both Kimberly, were special guests.

Other guests attended from Pocatello, Glens Ferry, Jerome, Twin Falls, Minidoka, Coeur d'Alene, St. Anthony, Arimo, Gooding, Kimberly, and Hansen.

The bridegroom's parents served refreshments after the rehearsal.

Three pre-nuptial showers honored the bride, one by Mrs. Calvin Goid and Mrs. Terry Butler, another by Terry Klimes, and the third by Mrs. William C. Barnard.

"Cleopatra's Barge" Bedazzles Lounge

The most glamorous addition to the Las Vegas scene is the one in the new Caesars Palace complex known as "Cleopatra's Barge," a bedazzling cocktail lounge that actually floats in five feet of water. The management is spending lots of dollars to give it a scent.

History informs us that whenever Cleopatra sailed the Nile on her barge, donkey's milk was applied to her body to protect her elegant epidermis. Caesars Palace brass, anxious to follow tradition, ran into a slight snag. Donkey's milk is not that commonplace, so a more readily available item was sought.

They found it in the foaming milk bath recently introduced by Lanvin Parfums and, instead of coating female customers with it, poured great amounts into the water surrounding Cleopatra's Barge.

The heady fragrance is a huge hit with the ladies, not to mention their impressed escorts.

Darn clever, those Egyptians — and those Las Vegans!

Summer Activities Told

TWIN FALLS — The Country Pals Home Extension Club met at the home of Mrs. Glenn Debban Thursday with roll call answered by members telling about their summer activities.

Mrs. Maurice Allen gave a report of the Sept. 14 meeting of the Twin Falls Home Extension Council meeting. It was announced that the preschool children can receive their rubella shots at both junior high schools in Twin Falls September 29 from 7:30 to 9 p. m.

It was asked that donations be made for dental work for low-income families by Christmas.

A Nov. 9 date was set for the potluck Christmas idea exchange and tasting luncheon.

The state convention is to be Sept. 29 and 30 and those who plan to attend for only part of the session should send in registrations.

The next club meeting is Oct. 15, at the home of Mrs. George Thomas. The program will feature a speaker explaining the revision of the Idaho State Constitution.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and the white elephant gift was won by Mrs. Maurice Allen.

Ohio GOP Fails

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Ohio's proud Republican organization, until five years ago a well-oiled unit under the direction of the peerless Ray C. Bliss, has fallen into disrepair. A bitter primary campaign and a noisy scandal thus caused visible cracks in the Republican dynasty. Some of the statewide GOP nominees were found to have accepted campaign contributions from firms doing business with the state.

The Nov. 3 general election finds the statehouse, in Republican hands since 1963, up for grabs in a toss-up race for governor. The Democrats, running former Congressman John J. Gilligan against state Auditor Roger Cloud, are given their best chance to take over since 1958, when Michael V. Di Salle led a Democratic sweep. The Republican organizational problems complicate the Senate race, which might otherwise be a referendum on the Nixon administration.

Republicans are sending U.S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr., whose family is a symbol of the party, after the seat of retiring U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio.

Standing in Taft's way is Democrat Howard M. Metzbaum, a wealthy Cleveland publisher-attorney who upset former astronaut John Glenn in the primary. Metzbaum campaigns as if his opponent were Nixon. He attacks the administration in almost every speech.

A Taft victory would give the GOP both Senate seats in Ohio. Taft, 53, and Metzbaum, 52, are both millionaires. Early estimates project their campaign expenses at up to $1.5 million apiece, but both camps are crying poverty.

The race for governor is a study in contrasts. Republican Cloud, 60, is a one-time farmer who spices his conversation with exclamations like "gee, whiz" and "for the love of Mike."

Cloud has won 15 state and local elections without a loss over his 34-year political career. The state auditor is regarded by man as the greatest clearing-house of information on state government in Ohio.

Democrat Gilligan, 49, is a red-haired former English professor who is liable to say anything.

"If I were Gilligan's campaign manager," muses a Republican strategist, "I'd send him to Hawaii until the election is over. He has a propensity for saying the wrong thing at the wrong time."

Schools' Request Backed

BOISE (UPI)—The executive secretary of the Idaho Education Association said Saturday a $16 million increase in state appropriations for public schools in 1971-72 was beginning to look "more and more reasonable and responsible."

Wayne York told more than 100 IEA leaders at the annual Leadership Conference of the IEA when the teachers' association first announced the need for a $24 million increase for the public schools with $16 million from state sources "we were met with laughter and a certain amount of derision."

Now many persons and groups are beginning to recognize that the IEA figures were well thought through and most responsible.

York said both the State Board of Education and the 1970 Task Force for Education had pegged educational needs at similar amounts to those of the IEA.

York said the IEA requests included funds to raise teacher salaries to "equal national trends and inflationary spirals plus $250 per teacher to catch up over a five-year period with salaries in Montana, Wyoming, Utah and Colorado."

York said other challenges to IEA members would be the "election of an education-oriented legislature, a governor sympathetic to the needs of education and the best possible person to serve as state school superintendent" and urged teachers across the state to organize and work for that purpose.

FORMER SCHOOL BUS has become a classroom for a group of children whose parents oppose assignment of their youngsters to another school under the Jackson, Miss. court-ordered desegregation plan. The converted bus was put into use as a classroom after school officials locked the protesting parents out of a portable classroom at the school they attended prior to the desegregation mandate. (UPI)

Charlton Heston Challenges Come-On Actor Ads Racket

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The ads read: "Actors wanted. We can place you in a feature movie, television show or commercial."

They can be read in Southern California newspapers, in the trade press or seen on television.

It's a racket. Charlton Heston, president of the Screen Actors Guild, has taken action to have the Los Angeles district attorney's office investigate and prosecute the guilty.

"Our membership isn't directly involved," Heston explained, "because professional actors know better."

"But naive young people and the mothers of children are the ones who fall prey to these hucksters. One mother of two children spent $800, which she could ill afford, registering the youngsters with one of these phony agencies."

There is an epidemic of fly-by-night outfits which identify themselves as casting services, production companies and employment agencies.

Non-professionals are assured there is a future awaiting them, perhaps stardom, for a fee.

An angry Heston said, "The fees range from $40 to $100, for which the agency undertakes to carry your name on their books and see it is circulated to casting offices and producers."

"Some actually do this, but rarely does the newcomer find work. If they do work it is in nudie films or non-union productions."

"We sent one of our members to one of these agencies, pretending he was an out of town neophyte. He was given a long pitch," Heston said, "assuring him the organization would act as his agency and manager."

"That in itself is illegal. Legitimate agencies are franchised by the guild. Yet state laws at present permit some of these people to operate."

"We are trying to change the laws, and have the district attorney investigating a number of them. He's convinced that indictments will follow."

"Most of these operators sail pretty close to the wind, and some of them have crossed over."

Heston advises would-be actors in California and other parts of the country to check with the Screen Actors Guild before paying a fee to an outfit to represent them.

"The big catch is that these operators don't take a percentage of the client's salary if he does find work," the actor explained. "Therefore the newcomer is no good to them after the fee is paid."

"Legitimate agents work on a percentage basis—not for a fee."

Utah Crime Rate Grows At Double National Rate

By United Press International Crime in Utah, although low by national standards, is growing twice as rapidly as in the rest of the country.

The amount of major crime in the state will be seven times as great as today if the increase continues at the same rate for the next ten years.

These were the major points brought out in a special report on crime and law enforcement prepared by the Utah Foundation from FBI records, which showed the average increase in crime for the ten years between 1968 and 1969 was ten per cent.

But in Utah, the increase for the same period was 20 per cent, according to the report.

Crimes included in the study were murder, manslaughter, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, grand larceny and auto theft. But even though the rate of growth was high, the rate of incidence, the actual number of crimes committed per 100,000 persons in the population, was considerably lower than the national average in all categories except grand larceny.

The report noted that a successful campaign against crime would inevitably cost more money, but suggested the possibility of trying new methods of law enforcement.

The drug problem was pointed to as a growing factor in the crime picture, although it too was not as high as the national incidence.

The court systems in the state were found to be in good shape with dockets up to date. The penal system was not rated so highly, on the grounds that even though prison population has decreased considerably in the last 10 years, the job of rehabilitation is not being adequately handled.

Dog Naps on Fund Floor

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A gray-haired dog naps right in the middle of the floor of the office of the Congressional Action Fund.

The long-haired "plain old mutt" named Oliver occupies the most prominent place in the room. Office workers have to step over or around him. Oliver won't budge.

But there's nothing sleepy about the five workers in the room crowded with four desks and a bunch of file-cabinets. Nor are there any gray hairs to be seen except on Oliver.

The Congressional Action Fund is a small outfit (headquartered in a downtown Washington office building) with big ideas, organized by young professionals in Washington and dedicated to trying to end the war in Vietnam by political action.

That action is raising money to contribute to the campaigns of antiwar candidates in this year's congressional elections.

"We're not asking for the moon," says fund Chairman Michael Cole. "We still think it (ending the war) can be done within the system. But if we can't, I don't know who will pay the price."

Cole, a young lawyer, quit a job with the Department of Housing and Urban Development, to test an idea that Congress can be forced to move by focusing on issues rather than party lines.

He and others organized the action fund which now has three permanent staffers and about 120 volunteers, mostly government workers who help out once or twice a week.

The group's goal is elect men to the next Congress who would set a definite date for the United States to get out of Vietnam.

Several other organizations are headed in the same direction, such as the Committee for an Effective Congress, Referendum 70, the National Coalition for a Responsible Congress, Americans for Democratic Action and others.

The action fund's method of operation is to contribute financing to peace candidates. It hopes to raise $100,000, making its appeal on a person-to-person basis to young professionals and to students and teachers.

The money is being funneled out only in races rated as a toss-up and where a peace candidate is running against a hawk.

Kill-Wounded Ratio Lowest

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Vietnam War is the United States' longest and most remote war, but it has had the lowest killed-wounded ratio in American history—1 to 6.6.

These statistics were included in a listing of at least 10 new records in American military history set during the Vietnam War. The copyright study was published Saturday in Parade Magazine.

The list said the longest negotiations with fighting continuing are taking place in the current war. The war has brought about the biggest war protest movements. It is the first war to bring about large-scale opposition by retired admirals and generals.

The greatest bomb tonnage in our history has been expended in Vietnam. The greatest number of American war correspondents—23—have lost their lives in a single country. Three American presidents have been involved in the war—the most in any American conflict.

The war also has set a record for the longest time an American has ever been held Prisoner of War. Navy Lt. Everett Alvarez Jr. has been held by the North Vietnamese since Aug. 5, 1964.

POLICEMAN AT HOME is just like other people. Patrolman Jerry Cargill, Twin Falls, gets acquainted with his daughter, Renee Monique, as his wife, Anita, looks on. A new member of the local force, Cargill has definite likes and dislikes about acceptance of a law enforcement officer in a community.

Twin Falls Policeman Feels Many People Dislike 'Cops'

By O. A. (GUS) KÉLKER
Times-News Editor

Jerry Cargill is a patrolman on the Twin Falls police force. To his face most people call him a policeman. Behind his back he's known as a cop, a fuzz, a flatfoot or perhaps a pig.

By his own admission his job doesn't command much respect in this community. People just don't seem to care much about police officers until trouble comes and they want help. Up until that time they can take them or leave them.

As a law enforcement officer — that's what Jerry would rather be called — he trades shifts every fourth Sunday. One month he works the day shift. That's from 6:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. Then next comes the "swing" shift. That's from 2:30 p. m. until 10:30 p. m. Then the "graveyard" which runs from 10:30 p. m. until 6:30 a. m.

As an officer he gets into tight spots, even in Twin Falls. He could get hurt — real bad — or he might "check out" by stopping a slug in some darkened area of the community.

He says it isn't that people in Twin Falls actually hate policemen. They just don't really like them.

For trading shifts every month, for not commanding much respect, for putting his life on the line, he gets $466 a month. What he takes home is a lot less but that's what his salary lists at.

He's married and he and his wife live in a small, but new, home on Madison Street. With them is their infant daughter Renee Monique. That's the name they gave her because it would be one people didn't hear often.

Jerry always wanted to be a lawyer but he never got around to the point where he could eat and study law at the same time — financially — so now he's engaged in just about the closest thing to it, law enforcement.

Now nearly 24, he was born in Twin Falls, left here with his family (his father is Kelly Cargill) when he was six months old, went through grade and secondary school in the Los Angeles area, got two years of college, some of it overseas. He was in the Air Force for 45 months, became a Sgt. T-4, worked as an aircraft electrician, was discharged at March Air Force Base and came back to Twin Falls. He was married in August, 1969. His wife was living in San Bernardino. That's where their daughter was born.

He started as a patrolman in Twin Falls on April 20. As part of his training he will attend an FBI Academy in Pocatello in November.

In Los Angeles he could have joined the force with a starting pay of $795 a month. But he preferred Twin Falls and the small town atmosphere.

Being a policeman is not to be classed the same as a popularity contest. Jerry says officers have a job to do and if a few toes get stepped on along the way then that's the way it is. He enjoys his work. Every day is different. There's no set pattern.

He thinks that for a city the size of Twin Falls 28 uniformed officers is just not enough. He believes the overall crime rate here is down. He feels officers are underpaid.

Next time you need help and call for the police it might just be Jerry Cargill who answers your call.

Take a good look at him. He likes his job, still hopes to study law in his spare time so by the time he retires he might be a lawyer. Right now he's working for $466 a month without much respect.

Young Democrats Back Park Plan

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — The Idaho-Young Democrats, wrapping up its annual meeting in Idaho Falls, Saturday, unanimously elected Ellen Spano, College of Idaho, as the group's new chairman.

In other action, the group: — Called for creation of a Sawtooth National Park and Recreation Area and urged congress to approve measures to protect the wilderness area; — Gave its endorsement to the proposed Idaho revised constitution, saying the present document is out-dated; — And urged state establishment of birth control and abortion clinics to prevent over-population pollution.

The group also endorsed the 18-year-old vote and called for withdrawal of federal funds from the Supersonic Jet Transport Program. The youths claim the huge jet creates serious environmental problems, including upper-air pollution.

Tony Park, Democratic candidate for attorney general, told them Idaho's Republicans have lost touch with the people of the state. He said the state Republican congressmen have continued to support an indefensible war in Vietnam.

Lincoln Levy Increases

SHOSHONE — Tax levies set by the board of county commissioners of Lincoln County are up for some governing units and down for others.

Myron D. Johnson, treasurer, said in Shoshone that taxpayers will be assessed $11,933 on each $100 of assessed valuation. At a 16 per cent ratio a $15,000 home would be appraised at $2,400 and the cost to the taxpayer would be $288 for 1970, Johnson said.

He said, however, that Lincoln County has never assessed up to 16 per cent but the county is coming into line with a new appraisal program ordered by the state.

In Richfield, property owners will be assessed $12,986 per each $100 of assessed valuation and in rural Richfield, the assessment will be $8,646 per each $100, Johnson said.

Differences in levies, he said, are because of different services for which taxpayers in separate areas of the county are charged.

The following amounts are dollars or cents to be applied to each $100 of property valuation:

The county levy is up from 2.665 to 2.748, with Shoshone school down from 3.92 last year to 3.57 this year; Richfield school, down, 3.95 to 3.92; Dietrich school down 3.91 from 4.10; Gooding school (No. 231) 2.87 down from 3.00; Jerome school (no. 261) 3.96, down from 4.07; city of Shoshone, 4.44 up from 3.90; City of Richfield, 4.34 up from 3.70; City of Dietrich, 2.85, down from 3.00; Shoshone highway district same, at 1.00; Richfield Highway, 1.041 up from 1.00; Dietrich Highway, 1.00, down from 1.055; Kimama Highway 1.025 down from 1.06; County Fair, .055, up from .05; Richfield library, .16 up from .15; Wood River Fire district, .412 down from .42; Richfield fire district .595 down from .80; Lincoln County Cemetery District, .093 down from .095; Richfield cemetery district .10 up from .095.

State levies include two new levies, state building bond will be .008; state pollution will be .019. State brand inspection and livestock disease control levy stays at .50, honey advertising and bee inspection which had .05 and .03 last year, will have no levies this year.

The total county levy of 2.748 is divided into pest control, .01; memorial fund, .01; indigent, .25; weed control, .10.

Others within the county levy section include county school, .808; public health, .14; junior college, .03, and county valuation, .35.

Shoshone Mayor Asks 'No Fires'

SHOSHONE — Mayor Ellwood R. Werry today called attention to the new state law which prohibits burning of any sort in the city, after today.

The city has not passed a coordinating ordinance because of a misunderstanding of part of the law. However, since this is designated to lessen pollution of the atmosphere, residents of Shoshone are asked to comply with the law, and discontinue with any open burning of wastes.

The garbage collector makes two trips to each residence each week and with this added service, there should be no serious problem of stacked up materials, the mayor said.

Exact specifications on the garbage may be set through city ordinance at a later date, Werry said.

Hurt Youth Transferred For Treatment

HAILEY — A local youth seriously injured Sunday in a one-car accident south of here has been transferred to a Boise Hospital.

Hailey Police Chief Bill Reid said John W. Rooney, 15, was driver of a small foreign car which failed to negotiate a curve on the Bradford Road and slammed into a tree about 3 p.m. Sunday.

Passengers in the car, Timothy Knight, 15, Bellevue, and Michael West, 15, Hailey, are both reported in good condition at Blaine County Hospital.

A LONG ROAD AWAITS these plucky Buhl teen-agers, Terry Barnes, on left, and Joe Rufing, both 18. They plan to "hitchhike" around the world, using their wit, their thumbs and maybe their brawn to see some sights before settling down to college and girl friends.

Buhl Youths Plan Long 'Hitchhike'

BUHL — There's a long road a-wanderin' for a pair of intrepid Buhl teenagers, who plan a trip around the world — via their thumbs.

Terry Barnes and Joe Rufing, both 18, told the Times-News they hope to see a good deal of the world before settling down to college and other serious matters such as girl friends. One of their principal goals is the "down-under" land of Australia, that enchanted land that is still seeking more population in contrast to the rest of the world.

"We're both new at it, but we think we know what it'll be like," Terry Barnes admitted. Neither has tried his hand at hitching a ride, but "we've picked up a few hitchhikers and we've talked to them about it," he added.

They plan to head westward to Washington, where they may be able to snag work in the apple harvest, before heading out to sea. They hope either to work their way across the seas, or maybe work enough to pay their way.

Both young men have friends and relatives in out-of-the-way places, including an uncle of Joe who's stationed in Thailand with the armed forces, and a cousin of Terry who lives in New Zealand.

So they'll head across the ocean and island-hop until they get to New Zealand and then skip over to Australia, where they may settle down and work for "a year or two — maybe even go to college there for a few years," Terry said.

Their parents, though somewhat fearful for their safety, encourage the adventure, both boys said. Their friends — neither will admit to a "steady" girl friend — also have shown varying degrees of enthusiasm over the idea.

They'll take a pair of sleeping bags and a "few spare clothes", but not much more. "We'll just be living off the land," Terry said.

After their Australian adventures, they hope to travel to Thailand, then into Europe and Holland, where Terry knows a Hollander. They also hope to delve into darkest Africa, working their way southward to the Cape of Good Hope.

Finally, their itinerary calls for a "hitch" across from Africa to South America; from where they'll work their way northward back to the United States . . . and home. "We figure it'll take about a year — depending on how long we stay in Australia," Terry, spokesman for the pair, said.

Prisoner Takes Life In Cell

HAILEY — A prisoner at the Blaine County Jail was found dead in his cell Sunday afternoon, the victim of an apparent hanging.

Acting coroner Keith Bird ruled that Robert Luke Francis, 33, Twin Falls, died by suicide.

Francis had been transferred from the Twin Falls County Jail on Sept. 2 to stand charges of grand larceny in Blaine County. He had been incarcerated in Twin Falls since January 30 and early this month was given a six-month sentence on a charge of receiving stolen property. He was given credit for time served and transferred to Hailey.

Francis' body is at White Mortuary, Twin Falls, where services are pending.

Youths Guard Bridge

PK 54, Cambodia (UPI)—The two teen-age Cambodian soldiers looked at the bridge whose name they did not even know and vowed they would die to keep it standing.

The bridge is located 29 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. It is a vital part of Highway 6, the road which links Phnom Penh with northern Cambodia.

Five sparkling white cement spans rise above the muddy, floodswollen Clo River. The bridge stands near no town, near no village.

It is surrounded only by rice paddies, marshes and the troubled silence of a countryside watching opposing armies maneuver against each other.

Cheb Nop, 16, stroked his French bolt-action rifle manufactured in 1936. He looked at the bridge and shrugged.

"Who knows what it is called," Nop said. Then, with a mischievous smile, he added, "Who cares?"

"No, I suppose it doesn't have a name," Nop's company commander said. "All we call it is PK 54 because it is at Kilometer Post 54 on the highway."

Nop digested this information, straightened his body and vowed that whatever the bridge's name, he would defend it.

"When the VC come, I will fight them," he said. "They are my enemy, and I will kill them."

Keo Cheen, also 16, repeated the oath like a schoolboy following his turn in recitation.

"I am not afraid either. I will fight to the death."

Cheon admitted he had never seen a Viet Cong soldier. But he screwed up his face and said he had heard from good sources that all Viet Cong were "terribly ugly."

The two teen-agers hardly stood taller than the ancient rifles they carried. Nop wore shower shoes on his feet, and Cheen wore tennis shoes. Around them nestled an unusual defensive complex.

Incumbents Pass Test

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Despite the restless mood of the nation, only a handful of incumbent congressmen and governors have been dumped in the 1970 state primaries. The significant tests will come in the elections Nov. 3.

The slow-starting peace movement can point to 11th hour victories to indicate that it still may have some impact in its drive to change the complexion of Congress. Three of its congressional targets were defeated Sept. 15 in the last major round of primaries.

Of the nine House members defeated in primaries, seven were beaten by candidates backed by various organizations opposed to the Vietnam War. The only senator unseated was Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., who was backed by the peace movement.

The nominating process is complete except for runoff primaries in Georgia, Sept. 23, and Florida, Sept. 29 and the Hawaii primary Oct. 3.

In most states, the cast of candidates will be familiar to those voters who know who represents them in Congress and governors' offices.

Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Ronald Reagan of California are the Republican nominees for reelection in their states. Former Gov. George C. Wallace is the Democratic nominee for governor of Alabama and the victor over Albert P. Brewer, the only incumbent governor for renomination who was defeated in a primary this year.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., who rocked the Democratic party with his campaign for the 1968 presidential nomination, is retiring. But the candidate to replace him is Hubert H. Humphrey, 1968 nominee for President, former vice president, former senator and easy winner over a primary candidate backed by the peace movement.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, 1968 nominee for vice president, is rated a heavy favorite to win reelection. The same is true of Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, Senate GOP leader Hugh Scott in Pennsylvania and Senate Democratic whip Edward M. Kennedy in Massachusetts. None of them faced a serious threat in primaries.

Here is an overall view of the primary results:

SENATE
 1 of the 100-member Senate, 35 will be elected this year to seats now held by 25 Democrats and 10 Republicans. Nineteen incumbent Democrats were renominated and Yarborough was defeated. Nine incumbent Republicans won their nominations and none was defeated. Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii is unopposed for renomination. One Republican and three Democrats are retiring. Sens. Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., and Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., sidestepped primary contests to run as independents.

Govs. James A. Rhodes of Ohio and David Cargo of New Mexico were defeated as candidates for Republican senatorial nominations in their states. Former Govs. Philip H. Hoff of Vermont and Frank B. Morrison of Nebraska won Democratic senatorial nominations.

HOUSE
 In the 435-member House, where all seats are at stake this year, 392 incumbents are nominees for reelection. Of the remainder—twelve Republicans in the house and two Democrats were nominated for Senate seats; two Republicans and one Democrat were nominated for governorships; two Republicans tried and failed to win governorship nominations, and one Democrat was defeated as a candidate for a senatorial nomination.

Of the nine defeated for renomination, none was a political novice or the winner of a freak election. Their service ranged from six to 14 terms. The only Republican loser was Rep. Glenn Cunningham of Nebraska. The Democrats could not escape losing one incumbent because two of them ran from the same New York district after passage of a New York reapportionment law. Other losers included Chairman George H. Fallon, D-Md., of the House Public Works Committee, the controversial Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., and Rep. Philip J. Philbin, D-Mass., a 14-term who was defeated by a Jesuit priest supported by the peace movement.

GOVERNORS

Of 35 governorships to be filled this year, 24 are now held by Republicans and 11 by Democrats. Of 18 Republicans seeking reelection, 17 have been renominated. Gov. Claude R. Kirk Jr., of Florida must win a runoff primary to stay in the running. Of six Democratic governors running for renomination, Brewer was the only one so far defeated in a primary.

Gretel II Evens Yacht Series Amid Protests

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—Skipper Jim Hardy found the fight spinnaker to complement Gretel II's speed as the Australian challenger rallied on the fifth leg to beat Intrepid by one minute, eight seconds Sunday and tie the 1970 America's Cup yachting series at 1-1 in a race again marred by protest flags.

Hardy, off to a poor start and trailing for the first four legs, put reserve helmsman David Forbes at the wheel for the down wind fifth leg and apparently was the right move as Gretel went in front by 50 seconds going into the last leg and kept drawing away to win by about 300 yards.

The victory in the best-of-seven series was only the seventh by a challenger in the 119-year history of America's Cup competition and the second time since 12-meter yachts took over in 1958. Both recent triumphs belonged to Sir Frank Packer, the publishing magnate whose Gretel I beat Weatherly in the second race of the 1962 series.

Once again, both 42-meter boats immediately ran up their protest flags with Intrepid taking the lead across the line at 2 p.m.

The best-of-seven series has been plagued by nothing but trouble from the start of the first race when protests were filed by both Bill Flicker of Intrepid and Hardy of Gretel II. Those protests, the first since 1934, were rejected, however, and Intrepid was given a 1-0 lead in the series.

Pirates Split With Mets, Hike Lead as Cubs Lose

NEW YORK (UPI)—Willie Stargell led off the 10th inning with a homer and Gene Alley followed with a two-run triple to boost the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 9-5 victory over New York in the second game of a doubleheader Sunday after the Mets had taken the opener, 4-1, behind Jerry Kosman's sharp two-hitter.

The split enabled Pittsburgh to stretch its first-place lead in the National League East to two full games over Chicago, which lost at Montreal Sunday. The third-place Mets, with five losses in their last six games, remained 3 and 1-2 games behind with only two weeks left in the season.

Stargell tagged the second pitch thrown to him by reliever Tug McGraw into the right field bullpen for his 31st homer of the year. Manny Sanguillen then had an infield single and was sacrificed to second.

Dean Cahnace came in his first appearance as a Met and delivered an intentional walk to Dave Cash before Alley brought both runners home with his triple to right center. Alley scored the final run a moment later on a perfect squeeze bunt by winning pitcher Dave Giusti.

The Mets, trailing 5-2, tied the game with one run in the sixth on Ken Boswell's homer and two more in the seventh on a double by Cleon Jones, a walk and two-out singles by pinch-hitter Ron Swoboda and Bud Harrelson.

The Mets led only once in the game, taking a 1-0 lead in the second on Donn Clendenon's double and Jerry Grote's single.

Money and Ed Crosby's error on Byron Browne's grounder enabled Hutto to score.

Pinch hitter Manny Mota's two-out single scored Bill Grabarkewitz from third base with the winning run Sunday to give the Los Angeles Dodgers a 7-6 victory in 14 innings over Houston after the Astros had taken the lead in the top of the final inning.

Grabarkewitz had tied the game with a triple to score Jim Lefebvre who got aboard on a fielder's choice.

Cedeno drove in two runs in the top of the seventh on a double to give the Los Angeles Dodgers a 4-2 victory over the Houston Astros in the first game of a doubleheader Sunday.

Montreal doubled into the Chicago bullpen off reliever Ferguson Jenkins in the eighth inning Sunday to drive in two runs as the Montreal Expos defeated the Cubs, 6-4.

Knudson Defeats Archer Meet by 7 Shots

ROBINSON, III. (UPI)—Canadian George Knudson, in a brilliant battle, outlasted George Archer on the fourth hole of a sudden death playoff Sunday when Archer missed a 14-foot putt to win the $100,000 Robinson-PGA-Open-Golf classic.

Both players shot par the first three holes of the playoff after finishing 36 holes of regular play Sunday.

Knudson, 33, Toronto, had finished regulation play with a 63-8-under-par in the last round to deadlock the match after trailing Archer by three strokes.

Knudson birdied eight of the first 12 holes on the final 18 and went one up on Archer on No. 12 at 16-under par. Both shot par in the next two holes and birdied the 15th before Archer got a break when Knudson bogeyed the 17th while Archer parred it.

Archer had a chance to win it in regulation time on the 18th but went about on foot past the cup on a seven foot par try and both settled for par.

Palmer Finally Gets 20th, 7-0

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Shortstop Mark Belanger batted in three runs with a triple and two singles to spark Jim Palmer's 20th victory as the Baltimore Orioles routed the Cleveland Indians, 7-0 Sunday.

Palmer, 20-10, made the Orioles the first team since the 1956 Cleveland's Indians to boast a trio of 20 game winners. Dave McNally and Mike Cuellar each has 23 victories.

Palmer, making his fourth bid for win number 20, allowed four hits, struck out nine and walked two.

BOSTON (UPI)—Rico Petrocelli hit a two-run homer in the seventh inning Sunday to give the Boston Red Sox a 3-1 victory over the Washington Senators and provide Ray Culp with his 100th major league win.

Bobby Berry pitched a 17-yard touchdown pass to Harmon Wages with 1:30 left in the game to insure the victory for Atlanta.

New Orleans scored its only points on a 42-yard field goal by Tom Dempsey in the first quarter of the defensive battle.

A crowd of 77,042 watched the Falcons finally wear down the tough New Orleans defense in the fourth period.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—John Brodie, given a break on an interference call, passed 21 yards to Dick Witcher for the stand-up points Sunday as the San Francisco Forty Niners spoiled Bill Austin's debut as Washington head coach with a 26-17 victory.

Brodie, hitting on nearly 90 percent of his passes in a fine home opening show before 34,984 fans at Kezar Stadium, also steered the Forty Niners to three other scores.

Doug Cunningham went one yard for the first, Ken Willard slanted seven yards for the second and Bruce Gossett kicked a 20-yard field goal for the third.

San Francisco picked up an additional two points when Larry Brown fumbled a pitch-back in his own end zone.

The Redskins, who had hoped to get Austin off rolling as the late Vince Lombardi's successor, scored their points on a 75-yard run by Brown, a 10-yard Sonny Jurgensen to Jerry Smith pass and an 18-yard field goal by Curt Knight.

The Forty Niners, two point favorites, rolled 77 yards in 12 plays the second time they got the ball with Cunningham going the final yard for the score.

During the drive, Brodie connected on four passes including a 23-yarder to Gene Washington which set up the score.

Bruins Will Meet I. F.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Roger Staubach, the Naval Academy's contribution to professional football, lofted a 31-yard tie-breaking pass to Lance Rentzel late in the third period Sunday and the Dallas Cowboys went on to a 17-7 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Philadelphia's offense was never able to get back in the game. Little set up the score with eight consecutive running plays that took Denver 54 yards from its own 43 to the Buffalo three. He finished the game with 82 yards on 18 carries.

recovery and John Williamson's interception set the stage for the 17 point burst. Miami had grabbed an early 14-3 lead on quarterback Bob Griese's five yard bootleg play and Jim Kiick's five yard scoring run to more than offset Cappelletti's field goal, a 41 yarder.

Johnson charged into a 21-7 lead when halfback Paul Robinson capped a 76-yard drive with a three-yard touchdown scamper around left and in the third period.

Staubach, who joined the Cowboys last year following completion of his naval duties, shouldered the quarterbacking burden the entire game and, with tremendous rushing power generated by Calvin Hill, fought off a surprisingly rejuvenated Eagles team for a hard win.

Philadelphia's offense was never able to get back in the game. Little set up the score with eight consecutive running plays that took Denver 54 yards from its own 43 to the Buffalo three. He finished the game with 82 yards on 18 carries.

John's interception and seven yard return of a Griese pass came with just under four minutes remaining in the first half and Garrett hit the end zone two plays later.

Johnson, in his first game with Houston after nine seasons with the St. Louis Cardinals, drove the Oilers 56 yards in nine plays the second time they had the ball, climaxing the march with a 22-yard touchdown toss to Levias.

The winning touchdown came when a wrong bounce 14-yard punt by Eagles rookie Mark Moseley turned the ball over to the Cowboys on their 42.

queen of clubs. If East takes his king, South will be able to discard his remaining low diamond on the jack of clubs.

Oswald: "Alan points out that a wily East might let the queen of clubs hold. In that case declarer would lose the contract if he tried a second club finesse. Of course, a smart declarer wouldn't fall for this. The fact that a finesse works the first time does not mean that it will work the second time and declarer should be happy to make his game."

Jim: "If South wins the first diamond and tries the club finesse immediately, East must take his king and lead a club back. If South wins the diamond and leads a diamond back, East must play ace and one spade. Good defense in both cases but m a d e possible by South's error at trick one."

(Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n.)

Jim: "Alan Truscott's book, 'Practical Bridge,' concerns itself mostly with mistakes in bidding and play. Alan's contention is that brilliance is fine but that the way to win is to avoid mistakes."

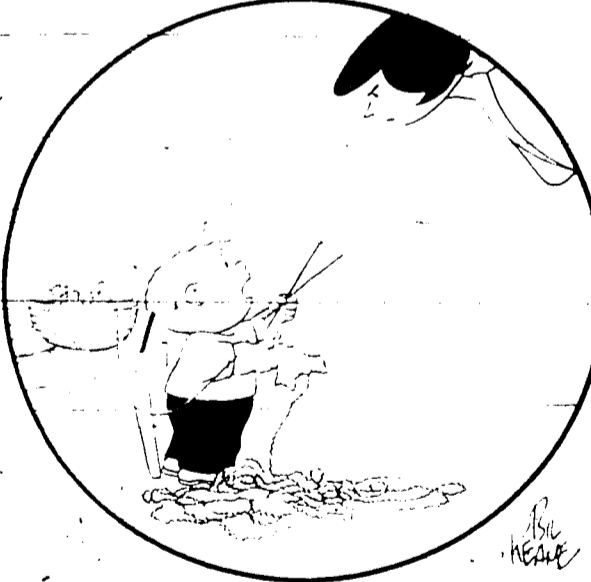

Oswald: "Here is a rather simple hand from his book simple in that there is no real problem in the play. Complicated in that many declarers would go wrong at the very first trick."

Jim: "The winning play is to let East hold the first diamond trick. If East does not lead the ace and another trump, South will be able to ruff a diamond in dummy and wind up losing one diamond, one spade and one club. If East does play ace and another trump, South proceeds to draw West's last trump and to lead the

Boise Mulls Annexation Of Land

BOISE (UPI) — Five areas covering 399 acres of land have been recommended for annexation into Boise by the City Planning and Zoning Commission.

City Planning Director Ray Mickelson said a public hearing scheduled for Oct. 13 in the Boise City Council Chambers will give affected residents a better understanding of the proposed zoning classifications and the allowable land use specified under city jurisdiction.

The five areas selected, from nine areas proposed for annexation, include the Highlands Subdivision unit 13 and two lots in the vicinity; the Capital High School area with single family residential areas and open land for the two schools; two lots in Boise Heights, R-1B; Owyhee View Subdivision unit three, R-1C; and the southeast corner of Leadville Avenue and Sylvan, R-1C.

LDS Choir Will Appear In Pocatello

POCATELLO (UPI) — The Mormon Tabernacle Choir will give its first public performance in Idaho Dec. 11 in conjunction with the dedication of the new "Mindomg" at Idaho State University.

ISU President William E. Davis and ISU LDS Stake President Robert E. Thompson jointly announced plans for the Salt Lake City choir's planned appearance at the university.

A capacity crowd of 18,000 is expected when the domed sports arena is dedicated for cultural purposes with the appearance of the choir.

New Loan Sought
DACA (UPI) — Pakistan is negotiating with the United States for a new loan of $9.5 million to finance expansion of electric power service in Chittagong, East Pakistan, and the surrounding area.

This will bring total American assistance for East Pakistan's power system to more than $112 million, a U.S. Embassy statement said.

FBI Director Urges College Students To Shun Radicals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover urged college students today to resist efforts by "extremists" to steer justifiable campus protest into violent and destructive channels.

In an "open letter" to the nation's students, written for UPI, Hoover listed ways in which extremists seek to lure moderate students into supporting activities designed to disrupt campus and national life.

The FBI director emphasized that "there's nothing wrong with student dissent or student demands for changes in society."

"Student opinion is a legitimate aspect of public opinion in our society," he said.

But there are "real grounds for concern" about the "small minority of students and faculty members" who are "not interested in genuine reform" but simply want to create as much chaos as possible, he said.

Aim For Converts

"They'll encourage you to lose respect for your parents and the older generation. This will be one of their first attacks, trying to cut you off from home. You'll hear much about the 'failures' and 'hypocrisy' of your parents and their friends," Hoover acknowledged that "the older generation has made mistakes" but urged students to remember that their parents and other adults also have "worked hard, sacrificed and suffered to make America what it is today."

"They'll try to convey to you the idea that your college is 'irrelevant' and a 'tool of the establishment.'"

"They'll ask you to abandon your basic common sense. Campus extremism thrives on specious generalizations, wild accusations and unverified allegations. Complex issues are wrapped in slogans and clichés." Hoover urged students to "carefully examine the facts" before embracing any cause.

Think About Policemen

"They'll encourage you to disrespect the law and hate the law enforcement officer." The best antidote, Hoover suggested, is to think of some policeman whom you know as a person, and consider how unfair it is to treat him as a nameless "pig."

"They'll tell you any action is honorable and right if it's 'sincere' or 'idealistic' in motivation." Hoover said arson and murder remain arid and murder, even if the perpetrators think they're "doing something for humanity."

"They'll ask you to believe that you, as a student and citizen, are powerless by democratic means to effect change in our society." Read a little American history, the FBI chief said, and you'll see that's not true. "Public opinion time after time has brought new policies, goals and methods."

Agnew Courts Blue Collar Workers in Rhetorical Drive

By RAYMOND LAHR
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is testing all of the Nixon administration's rhetorical weapons in its drive to reduce or erase the Democratic majorities in the House and Senate.

He is courting blue collar workers long identified with the Democratic party. He is berating those Democrats in and out of congress whom he identifies as ultra liberals, radical liberals and radicals. He is blaming them and the Democratic-led Congress for most of the nation's troubles.

Even Democrats who deny it are nervous about implicit Republican charges that they are too soft on the law-and-order issue and too gentle in their response to campus disruption.

When AFL-CIO President George Meany grumbled that extremists had almost taken over the Democratic Party,

Democratic national chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien felt compelled to comment:

O'Brien Blames Nixon

"We agree that violent protests and permissive behavior on the part of a small minority are anathema to all Americans. We abhor their behavior and resent any attempts by the Republicans to link us to that kind of behavior."

And as the partisan spokesman he is, O'Brien blamed the Nixon administration for failure to reduce crime and drug abuse and said the labor movement still belonged in the Democratic party.

President Nixon could take the high road in his Sept. 11 message prodding Congress for more action on his legislative program and saying that both parties could share credit for its accomplishments.

"Time now slips away," the President said. "The Congress is coming to a close. Its work is not done... we cannot wait for politics."

White House Blames Liberals

While Nixon complained that Congress was tinkering with programs of the past, the more aggressive Agnew called the lawmaking branch "a citadel of reaction" looking back at "tired irrelevant liberalism."

Agnew also called the white or blue collar worker "the forgotten man of American politics" who needed new representation in Congress.

Despite Meany's criticism of the Democratic party, the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) is expected to throw its support mostly behind Democratic candidates in the Nov. 3 elections.

"Will Meany put his money where his mouth is and cut off labor support to ultra liberal Democrat Senate and House candidates?" the GOP national committee asked in its weekly publication. "The answer appears that he will not."

Campaign Trail

Agnew's campaign schedule is expected to take him into about 20 states. His announced itinerary for the two middle weeks of September lists 10. Of those, eight are major battlegrounds in the contest for control of the Senate.

While Agnew moved through the Midwest and Far West, O'Brien asked in New York Sept. 16 why the Vice President was not visiting that state.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Charles E. Goodell, Republicans who want to keep their jobs in the 1970 elections, have not invited the President or vice president to appear in New York.

University Aide Likely Mines Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A vice president at Penn State University is the front-runner for the long-vacant post as director of the U.S. Bureau of Mines.

Congressional sources identified him as Dr. Elburg Franklin Osborn, 59, vice president for research at Penn State in Pennsylvania.

Osborn heads a long list of names mentioned for the $36,000-a-year position, vacant since March 1, when President Nixon ousted former director John O'Leary, an appointee of the Johnson administration.

Since that time, the bureau has come under constant attack for failing to properly enforce the 1969 Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act.

Thirty-five of West Virginia's 55 countries produce coal.

Cereal Advertisements 'Promote Malnutrition'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An associate of consumer advocate Ralph Nader charged Saturday that food manufacturers devote much advertising to non-nutritious food with the result that many Americans, poor and rich, suffer from malnutrition.

James Turner, a consultant with Nader's Center for the Study of Responsive Law, spoke at a hearing on nutrition that was sponsored by the Democratic Study Group, an organization of liberal House Democrats. Reps. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., and Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., the organizers and Paul J. McCloskey, R-Calif., attended.

Turner listed several advertised brand name food products that he said are seriously deficient in nutritional value. A pancake syrup, he said, "contains only 6 per cent maple syrup," while a popular grape drink advertised as "pure" includes "water, sugar, fumaric acid and artificial color." An orange juice drink, he said, contained only 28 per cent juice.

A cheese spread contained 50 per cent water, a 17 ounce can of whole kernel sweet corn had only 11 ounces of corn, "the remainder is liquid." Bacon, Turner said, shrinks to less than 1-3 its original weight and "thus, cooked bacon may cost over $3 per pound."

"White bread, which has more than 20 nutrients removed during processing, is called enriched when only four nutrients are returned," said Turner.

"Over 95 different ingredients and chemicals can be added to bread by the manufacturer as he desires without adding them to the label," Turner said.

"There are 76 such ingredients in soft drinks. There are 33 in cheese. In fact the whole standard setting procedures of the Food and Drug Administration and the Department of Agriculture are irrational and do not reflect the best interest of the consuming public," Turner said.

Presidential Salute

Twenty-one guns fired in succession is the generally accepted salute to a reigning monarch. The custom originated in France and Britain, and the United States applied it to the president as a tradition until Aug. 16, 1875, when it became official.

HUNGER crusader Robert Choate, shown behind boxes of breakfast cereal, testifies before a House Democratic study group, charging that the nutritional value of many breakfast cereals is low. He said the U.S. may be the most mis-fed rather than best-fed nation in the world. (UPI)

LOW CLEARANCE took William Geiger of Norwalk, Ohio, by surprise as he drove his truck under this underpass on Route 61 near Willard, Ohio. The $30,000 drilling rig attached to the rear of the truck didn't make it. The rig was ripped from the truck bed and became tightly wedged in the underpass. (UPI)
