Probe Into Colorado Crash Shows

Safety Violations on Sister Craft

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Saying it found at least 16 safety violations, the Federal Aviation Administration Tuesday grounded a sister plane to that one that crashed in Colorado with part of the Wichita State University football team aboard. It also lifted the pilot's license.

In taking away the airworthiness certificate of the twin-engine Martin 404, the FAA said the 16 violations included "engines saturated with oil which created a fire hazard, excessive oil consumption in both engines, and an arcing battery cable."

The FAA impounded "the plane at Logan, Utah, shortly after Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe said there was preliminary evidence to suggest there may have been some wrong doing" in connection with the crash of the other Martin 404 that crashed near Loveland Pass, Colo., killing 30 persons Friday.

In addition to grounding the plane that arrived safely in Logan on a flight from Wichita, FAA spokesman James R. Greenwood said the license of the pilot had been revoked because he did not have a valid medical certificate. He said the pilot had not had a physical examination in "over a year" and the type pilot's license he had required "one every six months."

The FAA identified the pilot as Leland Everett. As developments unfolded in the aftermath of the crash, the FAA warned all colleges and universities to check with one of its regional offices before contracting "for aviation services from organizations they do not know."

Among other factors under investigation is whether Golden Eagle Aviation Co. of Oklahoma City, which supplied the crew for the ill-fated flight, had violated the Federal Aviation Administration's limit on the weight it could carry.

One source close to the inquiry said under way, said the Martin 404's two engines "apparently were old, not properly maintained and just failed to deliver the power the pilot needed."

Officially, the FAA said the plane "may not have been flown for a substantial time" before its last flight. The plane was owned by Jack Richards Aircraft Co. of Oklahoma City and probably was leased by Golden Eagle.

A second chartered Martin 404 which carried other Wichita State players safely to their destination at Logan, Utah, was seized by the FAA for investigation of "a number of alleged mechanical violations" and the possibility that "its pilot's medical certificate may not be up to date."

The first twin-engine plane smashed Friday into a mountainside near Loveland Pass, Colo., on its way from Wichita, Kan., to Logan, killing 30 persons, including the university athletic director, football coach, trainer and 13 players. The FAA told colleges and universities to seek its advice on "the suitability of the aircraft for the particular operation, the proper maintenance of the aircraft and the proper installation of equipment" before they sign contracts.

Dr. Clark Ahlberg, president of Wichita State, said Golden Eagle was selected over bids from two commercial airlines which he said could not guarantee service for the football team's entire schedule.

ONE OF TWO ENGINES from the aircraft that crashed Friday in Colorado, carrying part of the Wichita State University Football team, is inspected by C. R. Melsanbach, director of shop services for Frontier Airlines in Denver where the engines were returned for examination. (UPI)

Terrorists Shoot for Policemen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Police have become a special target for terrorists and anarchists—who may be on their way to becoming better armed than the lawmen themselves, a Senate subcommittee was told Tuesday.

Holding aloft some powerful weapons, deputy Attorney General Charles A. O'Brien of California, said they had been seized from "left wing terrorist groups" after being stolen from Ft. Ord and Camp Pendleton in his home state.

"In the early '60s, it was the right wing radicals. Now the left wing is giving us trouble and even more so," he told the Senate internal security subcommittee's opening hearing into what Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., called "a war against police."

"We have acts of revolution in California today," O'Brien said. "I don't think there is any question but that the Weatherman faction of SDS (Students for a Democratic Society) and the Black Panthers are engaged in a conspiracy. Their own publications are clear proof."

O'Brien submitted copies of pamphlets he said were circulated by youth groups describing revolutionary tactics. "I can't see how the right of free speech opens the door for detailed instruction on how to make and use arms."

Goodell Hits Agnew's Talk

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. Charles E. Goodell accused Vice President Spiro T. Agnew of "divisive rhetoric" Tuesday night while Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller asked the White House to keep out of New York politics.

Agnew has called Goodell, a Republican running for a full term, a member of an "awful liberal-radical coalition" who has left his party. Agnew has supported Conservative party candidate James L. Buckley to the extent of appearing at a fund-raising luncheon on his behalf.

"Such an attack—which by implication casts doubt on my very patriotism and fitness to hold office—raises some questions for the voters of New York," Goodell said at a New York state liberal party dinner.

Rockefeller, campaigning in Buffalo for re-election, said he had asked the White House to "let us handle our own political problems."

He said he telephoned presidential aides to attempt to keep Agnew from further involvement in the Senate race in New York and that he would discuss the matter with President Nixon.

"The people of New York state don't need outside help to tell them how to vote," the governor declared.

Egypt Would Extend Truce

CAIRO (UPI) — Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad said Tuesday Egypt is willing to extend the 90-day cease-fire in the Middle East conflict by another three months but will not remove any anti-aircraft missiles from the truce zone.

In his first major foreign policy statement since the death of President Gamal Abdel Nasser eight days ago, Riad also said Egypt will increase the number of its missiles in the cease-fire zone if it can, denied that such activity violated the truce and urged Arab nations to use their oil resources as a lever of influence on the United States.

He tied Egypt's willingness to accept an extension of the cease-fire with Israel to the provision that there is proof of "sincere efforts" to get Middle East peace talks underway again. Israel withdrew from the talks, charging Egypt "had violated conditions of the cease-fire by moving the Soviet-made missiles into the zone on the west bank of the Suez Canal."

"All rockets were in the area before the date of the cease fire," Riad said in a television interview. "I emphasize that Egypt is not prepared to withdraw one rocket from the canal zone—not a single rocket."

"In fact, if we can double their number we will do so. This is our right. The issue is hot even a matter for discussion. If we have more rockets, we shall move them forward."

Elsewhere in the Middle East, Palestinian guerrillas began withdrawing Tuesday from Irbid and other towns of northern Jordan in accordance with the truce that ended the Civil War there. But in Beirut, a statement issued by the Al Fatah guerrilla force, accused the Jordanian army of violating terms of the truce by committing acts of "barbarism and brutality" against Palestinians.

In his televised interview, Riad said the Arab nations could influence U.S. policy in the Middle East by means of their oil resources that are tapped by many American companies.

RR Won't Pay Back Wages

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The bankrupt Penn Central Railroad said Tuesday it would not be able to pay retroactive wage increases to four rail unions, but denied it was withdrawing from joint contract negotiations.

John P. Hiltz Jr., chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference representing the railroads in the contract talks, announced earlier that Penn Central was withdrawing from the negotiations because it could not pay a 13 per cent wage increase over a three-year period offered by the other carriers.

John J. Maher, vice president for labor relations for the Penn Central, denied the railroad was withdrawing. He said the report, apparently stemmed from its informing Hiltz that it was unable to pay the retroactive wage increases.

Asked about the conflict, Hiltz said that the negotiations are a party to the negotiations is bound by the results of the negotiations, including the retroactive increases.

He also said the announcement that Penn Central was withdrawing from the talks "was the statement that I was told to make by the Penn Central." He agreed there apparently was some misunderstanding.

Maher said the Penn Central must refuse to pay the retroactive increase "because the railroad is in a perilous condition as a result of entering reorganizing on June 21 under the Federal Bankruptcy Act."

Hiltz made the withdrawal announcement just before he said a presidential board looking into rail contract disputes that Congress should create a special commission empowered to hand down binding rulings to eliminate or modify outmoded "featherbedding" work rules which he said cost the carriers hundreds of millions of dollars a year.

Rulison Gas Pressure Reported High
HOUSTON (UPI) — Spokesmen for the Austral Oil Co. say gas is being produced from the Project Rulison nuclear test well at a higher flow-pressure than had been expected.

The well on Colorado's Western Slope near Grand Valley is part of an experimental project designed to learn whether nuclear energy can be used to stimulate production of natural gas.

The Austral Oil Co., co-sponsors of the multi-million dollar test with the Atomic Energy Commission, said the well was flowing gas at a rate of 75.5 million cubic feet per day with 2072 pounds per square inch flowing surface pressure. Testing will continue through today. Long-term, high-rate about in Jordan with the cooperation of Yasir Arafat and King Hussein, was mourned as a force for restraint and not as the man who had sought to destroy Israel.

Thankful

The release unharmed of all the hostages seized by Palestinian Arab hijackers of three international planes...

The violent disruptions they have caused in Jordan and Syria explain why they don't want them, aside from their criminal acts in hijacking planes and threatening wholesale murder of their passengers.

There are other reasons for thanking as well, the poise of President Nixon and the presence of the Sixth Fleet, which may have been a powerful favor in persuading Soviet Russia to use its good offices to stop the Syrian intervention in the Jordanian fighting.

President Nasser of Egypt, whose death followed quickly the cease-fire he had helped to bring

As with the Viet Cong in Vietnam, they are protected, too, by the fact that their victims and the rank and file in their organization know that they, too, have broken the law

WASHINGTON (NEA) — What is now abundantly clear is that some of the major lessons learned the hard way in Vietnam in anti-guerrilla war, are now being applied in President Nixon's attack on the vicious groups who peddle narcotics and other dangerous drugs.

These internationally based organizations have many guerrilla characteristics — in their type of organization and in their combined "military," economic, propaganda and bribery operations. Like the guerrillas, they are also protected by the fear or "loyalty" of their victims, protected sometimes out of shame by the families of their victims and by the officials they bribe.

Here in the United States, a combination of major federal agencies, in co-operation with state and local governments, has been making a concerted effort over the past months to identify the major illegal organizations dealing in narcotics and other dangerous drugs and their connections and and therefore cannot expose the organization without exposing themselves to punishment by the law and, in some cases to death by a gang enforcer.

What is being attempted now in the United States is something very close in concept to the much-publicized Operation Phoenix in South Vietnam, which seeks to identify and take out of action the key Viet Cong-North Vietnamese underground political, economic, propaganda and military leadership in the south in order to cut the heart out of the Hanoi invasion.

Instead of attempting to catch every user, every pusher and every local wholesaler, the objective is to find the men who are key links in administration, in distribution, in import and in processing (whether these links are in the United States or in Europe, Latin America, Asia or the Middle East) and to then find ways to immobilize those key men.

As a result of the preliminary intelligence gathering, it is now believed that nine major national international organizations import and distribute a heavy percentage of the illicit dangerous drugs in the United States.

These nine are known to have bases in most major U.S. cities and in a spread of foreign countries. They possibly account for 80 per cent of the heroin and almost 100 per cent of the cocaine, tons of marijuana and millions of dosage units of other dangerous drugs.

One of the nine is an organization of Spanish ethnic background scattered throughout the United States. These men secure heroin and cocaine from Spanish-speaking criminal organizations in Latin America and Spain.

This system accounts for almost all of the illicit cocaine traffic here and for ever-increasing amounts of heroin. The Federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs has reason to believe that the hub of this operation is in the three Cuban immigrant colony in Miami. Relationships have been identified in New York, Chicago and other major cities from coast to coast where Cuban colonies exist. The Cuban migration after the Castro take-over was large throughout the United States and the world. Part of this migration consisted of criminals already engaged in Cuban cocaine trafficking.

If several thousand key men can be identified in the nine operations the government is now investigating, and if a major proportion of these men can be taken out of action, the heart of the illegal narcotics and dangerous drugs operation would be cut. With an alert antidrug corps it might be a long time before the underground could again build up today's large and exceedingly dangerous traffic.

Youth Power

Whether 18-year-olds can vote still will have to be court-tested. But young people are asserting themselves politically right now in a manner unprecedented in our country. Did you hear what young Democrats did in Utah?

They subsequently won convention approval for most of their resolutions, including those opposing the war. The Nixon Administration has duly noted this newest manifestation of youth power.

Where the President used to express reservations about the "18-year-old vote," he's now all for it. "No party can afford to turn its back on that potential vote of 14 million."

If Utah's young Democrats are typical, we're in for a colorful autumn.

ANDREW TULLY

The Secret Memo

WASHINGTON — As a working tourist, who has lifted an occasional cup with interesting strangers in foreign saloons, I was fascinated by a secret memo distributed to all members of President Nixon's official party for guidance during his European politicking.

The memo reminded White House staffers that they were privy to snippets of information foreign governments would find absorbing, and warned them not to go pub-crawling or otherwise socialize too carelessly with natives. Romantic dalliances were viewed with particular disfavor.

The theory, of course, was that an official male or female with a head brimming with secrets might fall in with a spy in mod clothing and spill all after a bottle of wine, some hand-holding and a touch of breath-whispering. It's a reasonable theory, even allowing for the somewhat temperate habits of some Nixon staffers, who are not given to chandler-swinging or, so far as I know, consorting with naughtily-companions.

For the biggest fact is that espionage is big business everywhere these days, possibly because most spy shops have more money than the local Mafia. And their male counterparts had been alerted to the possibilities lurking in the

Angina

Dear Dr. Thosteson: About two years ago my doctor, after an EKG, discovered that I had a heart ailment, called it "angina," and prescribed — somewhat more powerful, but with the same end purpose.

Some time later, not feeling much better, I went to an internist. After EKG and the "step" test, he called it "coronary insufficiency" and prescribed the same medicine. Finally my family insisted that I see a cardiologist. After another extensive EKG, he called it "ASHD" and prescribed a different drug, which was for the better.

All I can say is that there is no conflict between the three diagnoses. I might well add that coronary-arteriosclerosis patients who are careful not to exceed the capabilities of their hearts, and are helped along with any of several medications, often make those "failing" hearts remain serviceable for a good long time.

I would like your opinion about the three diagnoses and the change in medication.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is mumps vaccine for boys safe? At what age should it be given? Can it be harmful if given under age 6? Does it immunize for life? — Mrs. A.S.

The "three diagnoses" are essentially the same, but couched in different language. "Angina pectoris" means chest pain, due as a rule to a weakened heart. This does not mean that the pain is continuous. It comes and goes. Medication taken at the right time often can prevent it.

Your first doctor discovered a heart weakness which, while it wasn't yet causing pain, was of a type which probably would, had you not seen another physician because you "weren't feeling much better," so I assume that your condition was causing some distress.

The second physician called it "coronary insufficiency," meaning your heart wasn't able to meet heavy demands on it. In a word, the same thing again, a weakened heart.

Note to Mrs. W.C.H.: Melba toast, or any kind of toast, will have essentially the same calorie content as the bread from which it was made. The principal change made by the toasting is removal of moisture. Definitely no reason why toast should bother your arthritis.

So then you went to a third physician who called it ASHD, or "arterio-sclerotic heart disease." The arteries feeding the heart muscle had become "hardened" or narrowed, and no longer could carry enough blood supply to meet heavy demands on your heart.

That still is just another way of saying that the heart is weakened. In this third case it gives the cause of the weakening — hardening of the arteries — but it is still the same basic diagnosis.

Both the medications you mentioned are used to increase the circulation, the latter one

Both heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

MR. SPECTATOR

Our Balance Sheet

If you can find nothing right or nothing wrong with America these days then don't bother to read the rest of this column. Mr. Spectator would advise against it.

However, if you are interested in the "assets" and the "liabilities" of this old country of ours then we are sure you will enjoy reading the "balance sheet" of American society which was drawn up by Judge George Edwards of the Sixth District Appellate Court based in Detroit. His thoughts came across Mr. Spectator's desk the other day so we pass them on.

Assets: Freedom of speech, press and religion. Free elections and the right of all citizens to vote.

The closest approach to universal education in the history of the world.

Equality before the law and an increasing equality of opportunity.

Diversity of life. A constitutionally protected mechanism for peaceful change and reform.

Freedom from want for 85 per cent of its people.

Liabilities: The persistence of racism. Poverty for 15 per cent of our people.

An undeclared war in Vietnam. Juvenile delinquency, crime and mental illness among five to 10 per cent of Americans.

Environmental waste and pollution. A legal system of police, courts and correction which has not been able to match the theory of equality with its practice.

An inclination to cherish things above human life. Irrelevancies and inadequacies in much of education.

Prejudices and frustrations arising from the Puritan ethic.

Mr. Spectator would point out that just to list these assets and liabilities does not explain how they came about. And probably there are more items that could be listed in both categories.

The balance sheet is much more meaningful to the average American, however, than the generalizations which come from the far right or the extreme left. And because most Americans see their nation in the balance, it would be helpful if they would speak up more often — and act where possible — to add to the "pro" list and reduce the "con" list.

With that bit of a suggestion, Mr. Spectator will now leave you with your own thoughts:

Senate Urged To Clamp Down On 'Radical Revolutionaries'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate was urged today to stop talking and start acting on stern new measures to clamp down on "radical revolutionaries" who are killing police and other public officials at record rates.

But, there comes a time when, if they are sincere, public officials must stop talking and start acting. That time is at hand...

Pa., today described the assaults as "essentially politically motivated... where they are attacked solely as symbols of the establishment."

Guilt by Association Tactic Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Fair Campaign Practices Committee said Tuesday there appears to be a revival of "guilt by association" tactics common in the 1950's this time to identify candidates with long-haired students who have nothing to do with the campaign.

But—the committee—has received complaints of attempts to pose a phony picture of a candidate with long-haired students and reports of distribution of a candidate's picture with long-haired students, identifying them as helpers, when in fact they were merely members of the audience.

"We're very happy. I have no other statement to make. We'll be very happy with whatever the Lord brings us," the South Carolina Republican told reporters who cornered him on the Senate floor Tuesday after the news raced across Washington.

"I've been asked why I married a girl that young," Thurmond once said. "In old age, I would rather smell perfume than liniment."

Convict Arrested For Five Murders

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Henry Thomas Ashley, an ex-convict charged with five murders in a small Florida coastal town, was arrested Tuesday night by FBI agents staked out in a Jacksonville bus station.

Ashley, 27, of Portsmouth, Va., gave up without a struggle, agents said. He was unarmed.

Ashley was charged with slaying two couples and a teenager in New Port Richey, about 175 miles southwest of Jacksonville. The bodies were found Sunday, the two couples in a tavern and the youth on an isolated beach five miles away. All had been shot with a .22 caliber weapon and matching footprints were found in both locations.

Ashley was scheduled to be arraigned today and transferred to Pasco County. The federal warrant charges unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder, with bond recommended at $50,000.

Militants Seized On Torture Charge

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Black militant Ron Karenga was arrested with three of his followers Tuesday on charges he tortured two young women with a soldering iron and a vise.

Karenga, 29, founder and head of "US," a society to promote black culture, was charged with conspiracy and assault in the secret grand jury indictments returned last week and made public Tuesday.

District Attorney's investigators said the alleged torture incidents occurred last May. Karenga was said to believe the women, former members of US, tried to poison him and he subjected them to torture in an attempt to extract "confessions."

Investigators said the women were held at gunpoint, forced to disrobe and were beaten. At one point, it was charged, Karenga forced a hot soldering iron inside the mouth of one of the victims while the other woman's toe was squeezed in a vise.

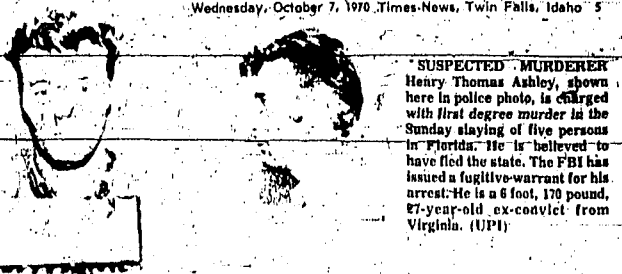

Karenga was quoted as saying to the women: "Vietnamese torture is nothing compared to what I know."

The victims were identified as Deborah Jones and Gail Davis, both 20, who were living at Karenga's home in suburban Inglewood at the time. Karenga, and Fred A. "Softy" Glover, 19, Louis "Sadu" Smith, 19, and Luz Maria Tamayo, 23, all were arrested when they appeared at the Inglewood County Courthouse as defendants in a traffic case.

The investigation began when one of the women told a friend about the torture and the friend told police.

Karenga, holder of a masters degree from UCLA in African studies, founded US to begin a "cultural revolution" to provide Negroes with their own mythology, history, and economic, political and social organization. His followers wear African dress and take African names.

War Against Drunk Drivers Takes New Tack

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The local chapter of the National Safety Council is spearheading a new tactic to try to cut down on traffic fatalities due to drunk driving.

Joseph M. Kaplan, the chapter's executive vice president, contends abuse of alcohol is a contributing factor in more than half of all traffic fatalities in the United States.

going to drive or how to control their drinking so as to have no negative effect," he said.

Aid Proposal Approval Seen

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Presidential aide Robert Finch said today the Nixon administration stands a good chance of winning Senate approval this year of its family assistance program.

He told newsmen in Salt Lake City that the legislation "is sound" and the administration has been promised a Senate vote during the present session of Congress.

Admittedly the bill has had tough going, torn between the far left and the far right, but it is a sound bill," Finch said.

The former secretary of Health Education and Welfare also said Vice President Spiro T. Agnew had the right to either support or reject the candidacy of Republican Sen. Charles Goodell, of New York.

Finch also plugged the Senate candidacy of Rep. Laurence J. Burton, R-Utah. He said President Nixon needs men in the Senate "who will support his program and not oppose it."

Speakers Selected By Club

BURLEY—The Burley-Rupert Knife and Fork Club has scheduled four speakers for the 1970-71 season, according to Mack Crouch, secretary of the local club.

The season will open Oct. 21 with Jerry Beltz and his topic will be "What's Your Behavior Quotient?"

Miss Paula Bishop will speak Nov. 14 on "Wives of Presidents." Dr. Ernest W. Hartung, president of the University of Idaho, will speak Dec. 2 with topic to be announced.

Herbert A. Philbrick, the man who led three lives, will speak Jan. 23 on "Spies and National Defense." On Feb. 20 Dr. Howard W. Hunkel will be using the topic "The Challenge of Change."

"Off-Beat Vacations" will be the March 27 topic for H. L. Conley.

Persons interested in joining the local club to hear these speakers and have dinner are urged to call Crouch for details.

Emperor's Daughter Now Clerk

TOKYO (UPI) — The former Princess Suga, the independent-minded daughter of Emperor Hirohito, started working in a Tokyo department store today.

The emperor's daughter, who married the Japanese public 10 years ago when she chose a commoner husband, began work in an exclusive branch of the Seibu Department Store. She showed up for her first day wearing a black and white mid dress.

Mrs. Hisanaga Shimazu, 31, has been the maverick in the imperial family. When the royal household agency started looking for a suitable husband for her, she set two conditions: he must be taller than her and intelligent enough to carry on a conversation.

Eventually she found her own husband. The mother of an 8-year-old boy, she is living in Tokyo now after spending two years in Washington.

JAPANESE EMPEROR'S youngest daughter, Mrs. Takkako Shimazu, 31, waits for customers to begin arriving at a branch of an exclusive department store in Tokyo. The former Princess Suga shocked Japan's older generation by taking the position. (UPI)

U.S. Agents Seize Explosives Cache

DANVILLE, Ill. (UPI) — Treasury agents said Tuesday they have seized 700 pounds of explosives, enough to level sections of downtown Chicago, which an undercover investigator told a group of teen-agers he wanted to destroy.

One youth was in custody, an investigator said, and "the other three will be in custody before the day is over."

"I told them I was connected with a left-wing organization and that we wanted to blow up the Federal Building in Chicago and railroad yards and anything else we could find," the investigator said.

"This didn't bother them at all, although one of the kids seemed to be inclined toward the Nazi movement. When he learned I wanted the stuff for a left-wing outfit this kid said, 'Well, their money's green too and we made the exchange.'"

"They gave me 700, maybe 800, pounds of explosives and I was to give them money and weapons. This is the same kind of explosives used to blow up that University of Wisconsin building, by the way."

The investigator said he was not sure but "this may be the largest amount of explosives ever seized by the federal government in peace time."

He said the Treasury Department got information about the teen-agers' having the explosives when they tried to sell them to a Danville area merchant.

"The merchant got in touch with us and we got in touch with the kids," the investigator said. "In fact, they telephoned me at the office."

"The investigator said he doubted the teen-agers were much concerned with political motives. "If they were, they were able to get along with either end of the scale."

First Cuban Missile Base Scare Began 8 Years Ago

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

On Oct. 22 it will be exactly eight years ago that President John F. Kennedy sent a tremor of fear through the free world with his announcement that the Soviet Union had established offensive missile bases in Cuba.

He declared: "This secret, swift and extraordinary build-up of Communist missiles—in an area well known to have a special and historical relationship to the United States and the nations of the Western Hemisphere, in violation of Soviet assurances, and in defiance of American and hemispheric policy—this sudden, clandestine decision to station strategic weapons for the first time outside of Soviet soil is a deliberately provocative and unjustified change in the status quo which cannot be accepted" by the U.S.

The President declared further that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko deliberately had lied to him about the bases.

It was a month later, on Nov. 20 that the President announced Russia's agreement to remove the missiles from Cuba and to prevent their reintroduction in the future. He added: "If all offensive weapons are removed from Cuba and kept out ... and if Cuba is not used for the export of aggressive Communist purposes, there will be peace in the Caribbean."

With this backward look into history, we come to the present.

President Nixon has just returned from a show-the-flag mission to the Mediterranean and a forceful reminder to the Russians that the U.S. 6th Fleet, the most powerful naval force ever assembled, is in the Mediterranean ready to back up any U.S. diplomatic move.

In the Atlantic and the Caribbean, Soviet warships are reminding of an equally forceful reminder of growing Soviet naval might and their ability to operate in waters described by Kennedy as having a "special and historical relationship to the United States."

An aftermath of the 1962 Cuban crisis and the humiliation thrust upon the Soviets was their decision to expand their navy to make it capable of challenging the United States anywhere in the world.

Within this context have been these other events:

In the Middle East, the Soviets lied when they denied they and the Egyptians had moved their Sam missiles closer to the Suez Canal in violation of the cease-fire agreement.

And in the Caribbean, the United States took note of increased Soviet activity with a warning that it would view "with the utmost seriousness" any Soviet move toward establishing a submarine base in Cuba.

In the Middle East, the Soviets have accused the United States of sabotaging peace efforts, and in the Caribbean of fostering a "war psychosis."

On Nov. 2, the United States and the Soviet Union are scheduled to resume their talks on strategic arms limitations.

Solons Get POW Reminders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Every morning, as House and Senate members open their copies of the Congressional Record, they get a daily reminder that more than 1,500 Americans are prisoners of war or missing in action.

The same notice is there, day after day:

"A child asks: 'Where is daddy?' A mother asks: 'How is my son?' A wife asks: 'Is my husband alive or dead?'"

"Communist North Vietnam is sadistically practicing spiritual and mental genocide on over 1,500 American prisoners of war and their families."

"How long?"

Rep. William J. Scherle, R-Iowa, a tall, husky two-term congressman is responsible for insertion of the 21-4 inch item—labeled "Man's Inhumanity to Man—How Long?"

He has been doing it since Jan. 26.

Scherle said his objective is to show relatives and friends of the POW's their plight has not been forgotten.

Why not change the message, at least?

"I believe in rejection," he said. "By using the same thing every time, it makes an impact. Like driving a nail."

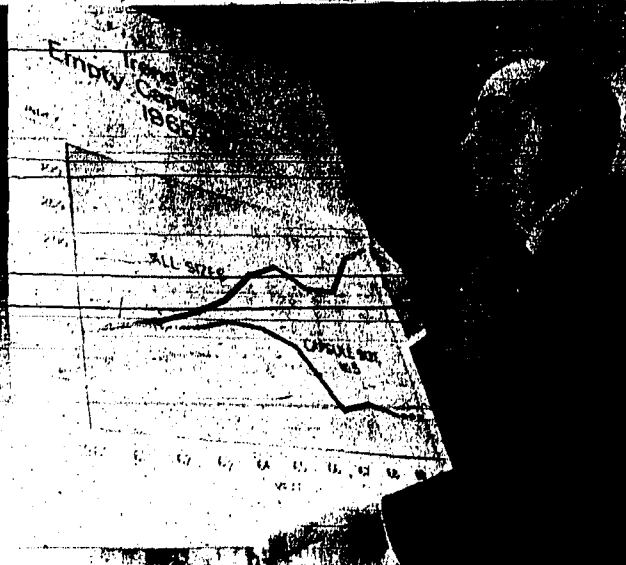

The POW statement costs taxpayers about $10.66 per insertion, based on the record's estimate of $128 per page.

Scherle, who served in the Navy reserve and Coast Guard, sees it as a small price to pay for a reminder of the POW's plight.

Scherle's item is included in a portion of the record reserved for "extension of remarks."

He said he has received hundreds of letters about the item.

"I'm very glad to see at least one congressman doing something to help these men," wrote Paul Rousseau of Sidney, Ohio.

Gem City Revenue Cited

BOISE (UPI) — A private tax expert estimated today that total general revenues of all cities in Idaho for 1969 amounted to $30 million of which $14.7 million or 49 per cent came from city property taxes.

Executive Manager Max Yost of the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho said revenues other than property tax to cities include fines, licenses, parking meters, charges for recreation, airport revenues, excess of revenues, excess of revenues over expense of city-owned utilities, state aids and many others.

Yost said property taxes charged by cities have climbed to the $14.7 million figure of last year from $8.2 million in 1955. He said the property tax was 40 per cent of total city revenues in 1955 and is 49 per cent now. State aid was seven per cent in 1955 and now is nine per cent.

"State aid will be greater in 1970 because of the increase in sales-tax apportionment and liquor surplus distributions," he said. "Whether the changes in percentage position between the years will be proportional remains to be seen."

He said that while city property taxes have increased both in dollar amounts and in proportion to other revenues, property taxes do not bear the brunt of city finance that generally is thought.

My Lai Trial Opens

By ROLAND LINDSEY FT. HOOD, Tex. (UPI) — A court-martial opens Wednesday for S. Sgt. David Mitchell, 30, the first American soldier to be tried for the alleged My Lai massacre.

Mitchell, of St. Francisville, La., is charged by the Army with assault with intent to murder 30 South Vietnamese civilians during a sweep through the village March 16, 1968.

The Army said 25 officers and men were charged in connection with the alleged killing of more than 100 Vietnamese civilians. Charges against eight were dropped, leaving 17 facing either court-martial or investigation.

The court-martial opens at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday despite defense objections to the members named to the panel that will judge Mitchell.

Twelve new panel members were appointed during the weekend by Maj. Gen. William Desobry, and Mitchell's jury of at least five officers will be chosen from that group.

Defense attorney Ossie Brown, in a motion reopened at Tuesday's final pretrial session, asked the military judge either to call for a third new court panel or move the trial from Ft. Hood.

Brown contends Mitchell cannot get a fair trial with the court panel appointed by Desobry. He objected to the reappointment of Col. Erwin R. Brigham and Richard G. Trely who also were on the original court panel which the judge, Col. George R. Robinson, recommended be dismissed.

The defense also objected because four other officers on the new panel are under direct command of the two colonels and would be influenced in their verdict by their senior officers.

BLM Land Classified

BOISE (UPI) — The Bureau of Land Management has classified 246,500 acres of public land in Bingham County and 63,000 acres in Bonneville County for multiple use management.

State BLM Director William L. Mathews said this classification provides for continued multiple use by livestock operators, miners, sportsmen, outdoor recreation enthusiasts and other public land users.

He said lands under this classification will not be available for homestead, desert land entry or certain types of public sales. The lands can be reclassified, however, when conditions warrant through new developments or technology and private development outweighs public value.

Wendell Couple Observes 85th Birthdays, 64th Anniversary

WENDELL—Mr. and Mrs. George Dille were honored at an open house at their home in Wendell Sunday. The couple has been married for 64 years and the open house was given by their children to commemorate their 85 birth dates. Mrs. Dille was born September 17, 1885 and Mr. Dille was born Nov. 7, 1906.

Guests from Wendell and other areas in the Magic Valley signed the guest book. Mr. and Mrs. Theron Dille, a son, Kaysville, Utah, presented his parents a large sheet cake decorated with pink roses. Mrs. David Whitesell, Richfield, brought a three-tiered cake decorated with pink roses.

Mrs. Ray Stanger, Mrs. Lee Dorman and Mrs. Lewis Dille presided at the guest table. Mrs. Hilbert Dille and Mrs. Ruth Dille, Shoshone, assisted with serving.

Seven of the Dilles' eight children were present. Mr. and Mrs. Arle Dille, Havre, Mont., were unable to attend. Their children and families include Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert Dille, Goading; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Dorman, Boise; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dille and son, Dale, Shoshone; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dille and son, Clinton, Murtaugh; Mr. and Mrs. Theron Dille and sons, Brent and Kim, Kaysville, Utah; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dille and son, Ronald, Burley, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stanger and son, Tracy, Kimberly.

The couple has 55 grandchildren, 60 great-grandchildren.

—MR. AND MRS. GEORGE DILLE
Wendell, were honored for their 85th birthdays and 64 years of marriage at an open house at their home Sunday.

Want Super Nails?

If you were to have the very best manicure money could buy, what would you get? Glamour Magazine asked a handful of nail care experts what it is that makes a manicure professional. They got back—a whole list of manicure tips in steps from filing to polishing, a complete hot-to on nail buffing, first aid measures for problem nails, plus some health-building nail hints. Here are ten of them from the October issue.

Tip No. 1: Start by removing every trace of nail polish. A cotton square or puff is the best way to get the polish off. If some sticks around the edge of the nail, remove it gently with a cotton-tipped stick dipped in remover.

Tip No. 2: Then, with an emery board, file your nails to a rounded oval shape. The pros advise to file gently in one direction from underneath the nail to discourage chips or splits.

Tip No. 3: Massage a conditioning cuticle cream or oil into the base of the nail.

Tip No. 4: Gently nudge the cuticle back with a fine-tipped orangewood stick.

Tip No. 5: Treat your hands, arms and elbows to a generous slathering of hand or body lotion.

Tip No. 6: For a real finish—shape up the sides of your fingertips, too. Trim any hangnails with a small cuticle scissors—but never trim the

Exhibits Discussed

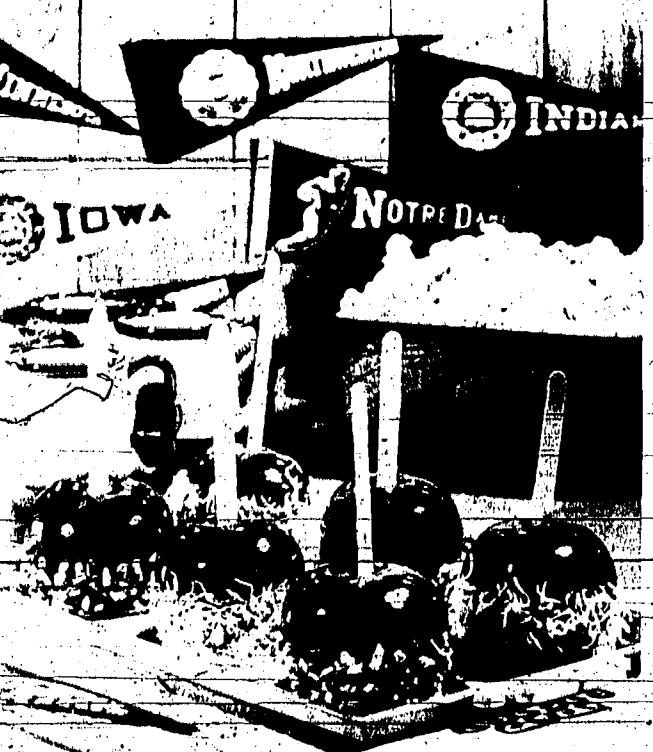

CASTLEFORD—Flower exhibits at the Twin Falls County Fair were discussed for the Castleford Petal Pals by Mrs. Joe Wisecaver at a meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. Don Kramer.

Suggestions about improvements in quality of flower exhibits, and classes were offered during the discussion. The club members expressed support for a central theme for the flower department of the fair's artistic division, and offered several suggestions for variety in title classes.

The club planned a workshop using our top flowers at the next meeting.

Fall Fan Fare for Caramel Apples

2 tablespoons water
4 or 5 medium size apples, washed, dried
Wooden sticks
Melt caramels with water in double boiler or in saucepan over low heat. Stir occasionally until sauce is smooth. Insert a wooden stick into stem end of each apple. Dip into hot caramel sauce; turn until coated. Scrape off excess sauce from bottom of apples. Place on greased wax paper; chill until firm. Store in a cool place.

CARAMEL APPLES are extremely popular and the small fry love them as extra special Halloween treats. Teen-agers, too, go in a big way for the luscious confection.

Chapter No. 82 Fetes Past Worthy Matrons, Patrons Last Canning Day Set Oct. 9 For Twin Falls Kitchen

TWIN FALLS—A special tribute was given to the past worthy matrons and patrons when members of Magic Chapter No. 82, Order of Eastern Star, met Monday evening at the Masonic Temple.

Passing through the memory arch were Iln Mason, Ruby MacMillan, Emily Bullard, Irene Fox, Martha Watson, Ula McMillan, Madeline Webb and Nelle Black, past matrons; Robert Watson, Milton Ballard, Norman Webb, and Robert Black, worthy patrons. Each was presented a gift from the worthy matron, Retta Page.

New Book On Drug Users Available

NEW YORK—Parents and teachers concerned with the increasingly large number of elementary school children who are becoming drug users can now consult a book directly aimed at children 9 years old and up.

Dr. Charles W. Gorodetzky and Dr. Samuel T. Christian decided to write "What You Should Know About Drugs" after being asked to give a series of lectures on drug abuse to the fourth, fifth and sixth grades in a Lexington, Ky., elementary school. Both doctors are on the staff of the National Institute of Mental Health Addiction Research Center in Lexington.

In the forward to the book, Harris Isbell, M.D., adviser on drugs to the World Health Organization and the National Research Council of the National Academy of Sciences, writes: "The book will be as useful to parents and teachers, who have need of accurate information about drugs, as it is to the children."

Mrs. Page and James Page, worthy patron, were in charge of activities.

Guests were Nonna Verano, Anchorage No. 8, Anchorage, Alaska, and Fred and Esther Goddard, Manzanita Chapter No. 342, Morgan Hill, Calif.

Refreshments were served by Esta Barlogi, Faye Young, James Miller and Edith Miller.

TWIN FALLS—The last canning day at the Twin Falls Canning Kitchen will be Oct. 9, according to Mrs. J. H. Sharp, manager. The kitchen will, however, be open at 11 a.m. Oct. 10 for patrons to pick up their canned goods.

"This has been a good canning year even though the fruit crop was small," Mrs. Sharp noted. The kitchen was open for 28 days, with approximately 476 families registered. Approximately 80,000 cans were processed, with an average of 325 pounds of beans prepared each canning day in chili, pork and beans and ham and beans. Mrs. Sharp gave a large volume of thanks to all who contributed to the purchase of the automatic sealer which she feels aided in the speedy processing of the 80,000 cans and the large number of appointments.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I should entertain his clients more often, but lately every party is ruined by his conduct. Sometimes he arrives home that day already half intoxicated. He believes a good host should drink with his guests, load their drinks and keep their glasses filled. When he drinks, his language grows profane — then obscene. If I give him one of those "you've had enough" looks, he tells me loudly to "get lost!"

I know he needs professional help, but he turns a deaf ear to any such suggestion. He says he's a "social" drinker, but there is nothing social about a host who passes out on the sofa before his guests leave.

We owe so many invitations, and in his business it pays for us to entertain clients, but I just can't face another one of those evenings. People still ask us to their homes, and when we go, I have to drive us home.

Can you help me, Abby?

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: There is no help for the person who refuses to admit that he needs help. He may take a boot in the bank balance to get your husband to face reality. In the meantime, try to figure out why your man can't face life sober. Drinking is a symptom of deeper trouble.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me why it is that when a son reaches physical maturity and has affairs with the opposite sex his father will excuse his actions with, "Oh, boys will be boys." He is only sowing his wild oats.

But just let a daughter do the same thing and she's apt to get kicked out of the house and called a tramp.

JUST-ASKING

DEAR JUST: It's the same kind of cockeyed thinking that makes Mr. Wonderful want to pulverize the rat who would attempt to violate his sister's virtue, yet he does his darndest to get a chick in the feathers without realizing that she's somebody's sister.

DEAR ABBY: Men complain because their wives are "cold." May I tell you about my marriage? My husband and I both work. I have tried to draw him into conversations about my work, because it is fascinating, but he isn't interested. And he never says a word about his work. Altho I ask lots of questions, hoping to generate a little conversation between us:

Our "day" together is Sunday. And this is what it's like: I am up at 8 a. m. He sleeps until noon.

When he gets up, lunch is ready for the family, but he wants only coffee.

Around 3 p. m. he eats lunch alone, and fixes a snack for the kids which ruins the nice meal I've prepared for the evening.

The afternoon is for viewing sports on TV and he gets up hourly to change the channel. Sunday night is his night to "relax" so we don't go anywhere. I go to bed at 9:30 as I've spent my day cooking and cleaning. He hits the hay after the late movie. Then he starts looking for an affectionate bed partner.

I wonder how many married wompn are eager to make love to a stranger who hasn't talked to them all week.

"COLD" WITH GOOD REASON

DEAR ABBY: My husband thinks you should settle something. Our children are 5, 4 and 2 years old, and my husband insists that every time they want something at the dinner table, they should say, "Please." And when they get it, they should say, "Thank you." That makes a lot of "pleases" and "thank yous" at the dinner table. What is your opinion?

K. P.

DEAR K. P.: I'm with your husband. And please say, "Thank you" to him for allowing me to settle it.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Thoughts Given For Slim and Trim TOPS

HANSEN — "When you help a fellow up a steep hill, you are helping yourself," was the opening thought given by Mrs. James Wright, leader, at the Slim and Trim TOPS Club meeting Monday night at the home of Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith.

Another thought expressed was "Nobody minds you eating like a bird if you don't chirp about doing it."

Mrs. Clifford McCoy was best loser for the week and Mrs. Meredith Rucker was monthly queen. She received a gift as the honoree. Mrs. Bryan Harris Jr. received the monetary gift.

The hats to be worn at the rally Oct. 16 were all finished and 15 members signified they planned to attend. Cars will be available at the Steelsmith home to go in a group from there. Members must be ready to leave by 5:45 p.m. as registration is at 6:30 p.m. at the Minico school.

The gainers marched to place the penalty money in a pig bank. Most of the members reported substantial losses this week. The leader asked that all members continue to count calories or grams whichever is the better for the individual and keep their daily count to around 1,000 calories a day.

Household Hints

For a soft crust on homemade bread, place a small bowl of water in the oven while baking the bread.

The kitchen, not the medicine cabinet, is the best place to keep a tube on antiseptic first aid cream handy. Most burns from scalding water, grease and hot oil occur in the kitchen and immediate application of the cream relieves pain and helps prevent skin blistering.

Never soak a wooden salad bowl in water. After each use, wash thoroughly and rinse in clear lukewarm water; wipe dry and store in a dry place.

Idaho Arts Conference Features Awards Luncheon, Banquet

BOISE — The ideal time to start creative activity, whether it be dance, music, drama or writing, is at an early age, according to some of the nation's leading proponents of the Arts and Humanities.

They say young children have not become impregnated with dogma and not only are ready to accept creative thinking, but are open to a constructive process of training that can enable them to think for themselves.

Idaho people interested in the Arts and Humanities will have the opportunity to see the actual application and results of such theories during the three-day statewide Idaho Arts Conference at the Roweway Inn in Boise, Oct. 8, 9 and 10.

The conference, sponsored by the Idaho State Arts and Humanities Commission and aptly titled "The Lively Arts in Idaho," will be highlighted by a banquet on Friday, Oct. 9, with an address by Agnes DeMille, New York dancer and choreographer; and the Governor's Awards Luncheon Thursday, Oct. 8. Both events are open to the public, according to the Commission Director JoAnn Bensinger, Boise, and advance tickets are on sale now at the Allied Arts Ticket Booth in the Bon Marche or through Commission members. Tickets for the banquets will not be sold at the door, she explained.

Awards will be given solely for contributions of major significance. The number of awards is not limited, but will be determined by the merit of the nominees. A specially designed award will be presented to each winner.

Nominees from Magic Valley in the field of music include: awards for excellence in the Arts and Humanities, Mrs. Robert Bellini, piano; Mrs. David Mead, vocal; Roger Vincent, vocal; Mrs. J. Garland Gibbs, violin, and Mrs. Joe Mackey, ballet. Nominees for awards for support of the Arts and Humanities include Mrs. Donald F. Youtz, state scholarship chairman; Mrs. Louis Thorson, Twin Falls Junior Music Festival chairman; Mrs. John Birrell, State Junior Festival chairman, and Mrs. James S. Kinney, Twin Falls audio-visual chairman.

In addition to the above mention, the following members of the Twin Falls Music Club will be attending the Governor's Awards Luncheon: Mrs. Vincent, Filler; Mrs. Paul Houston, president of the Twin Falls Junior Music Clubs; Mrs. S. W. Smith, president of the Twin Falls Music Club; Mrs. Thomas Driscoll, secretary of the Twin Falls Music Club, Mrs. Lloyd Walker and Mrs. Matthew Smith.

The Twin Falls Music Club is affiliated with the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Rural Delivery Speeded

New Routes, Faster Delivery Carry Daily Paper to Valley Areas

TIMES-NEWS

TWIN FALLS — An integral link in distributing today's news today is a network of Times-News motor carriers which covers some of the most distant points of Magic Valley.

Each of the 28 carriers is a business man operating on a cost-profit basis. He or she purchases papers from the Times-News and is responsible for collections and maintaining of delivery vehicles.

The independent contractors, Thomas Howard, general manager of the Times-News, said, "have solved a tremendous logistical problem in distributing the Times-News over a wide area and the company is thankful for their dedication and perseverance."

The motor routes distribute east of Burley-Rupert, west of Bliss, south to the South Hills, north to Ketchum and Sun Valley and points in between.

In the past several months carriers have taken over about 6,000 subscriptions which previously were delivered by mail. These subscriptions are an important segment of the Times-News' circulation of 21,000 and leave only about 1,800 customers, in isolated sections of the valley, still receiving their papers by mail.

Howard said the network of motor carriers, which is constantly expanding, allows more customers to receive their papers on the same day of publication.

Counties of Magic Valley served by motor carriers are Twin Falls, Jerome, Cassia, Minidoka, Lincoln, Blaine and Gooding.

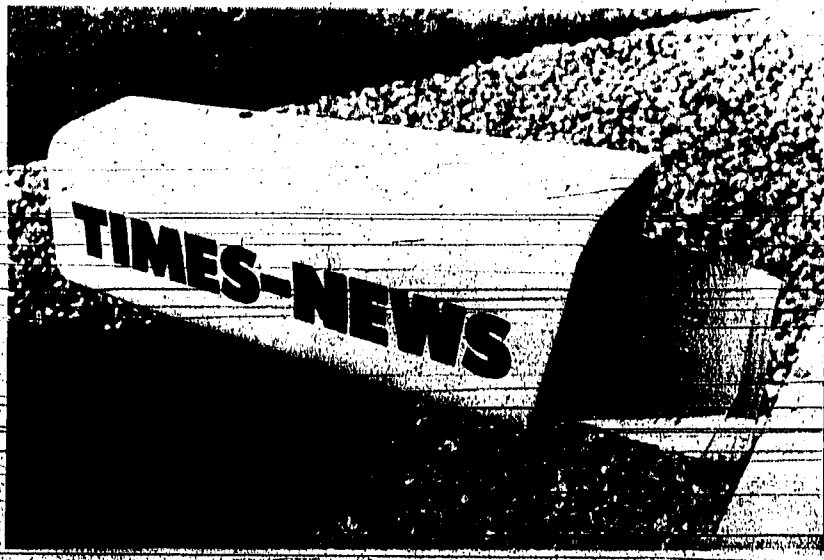

To deliver papers to the motor carrier a bundle drop system is used, initiating at the Twin Falls plant. Bundles of papers are speedily distributed throughout Magic Valley and some carriers assist in this operation by making bundle drops to other carriers.

On the average, carriers travel 90 miles a day and deliver to 214 Times-News subscribers. The 28 carriers and bundle droppers travel a total of 2,503 miles per day — and 65,078 miles per month are driven to get the Times-News to rural doors.

As carriers cover their routes they fold papers so they can be inserted into bright yellow containers provided by the Times-News.

The carriers, like mailmen, cannot let rain, nor snow, nor sleet nor gloom of night prevent them from making their rounds. They travel country roads of Magic Valley in the worst of weather and must rise about 3 a.m. on Sundays to complete delivery by 7 a.m.

The carriers are the last link in the day-long chain of writing, editing and setting copy, making up pages and printing, and distributing Idaho's largest evening newspaper.

Comparison In Print

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa Tuesday received booklets containing the existing constitution, the revised document and a commentary comparing the two.

The 74-page booklet will be distributed throughout the state prior to the Nov. 3 election, when voters will approve or reject the proposed revision. The introduction noted the revision was prepared by a 15-member constitutional revision commission which received no pay for the services except for per diem and actual expenses. The total cost of the revision including cost of secretarial assistance, professional staff research materials, supplies and printing — were funded by the legislature with appropriations totaling $47,000.

The booklets include an index to the revised constitution with the subject matters of each article and section and an index of the existing constitution, a parallel reference table giving the page numbers for each article and section. The commentary, originally prepared by the legislature council staff then edited by interested parties, tells whether or how each section is changed, where related subjects may appear, and why any changes were made.

Men Held After Chase

TWIN FALLS — Three men involved in a high speed chase through residential Twin Falls about midnight Tuesday have been charged with first degree burglary, city police report. Steve Whitehead, 23; Frank Stan Anderson, 26, and Terry Wilcock, 19, are accused of a theft at the Gateway Trailer Center on Addison Avenue West at Blake Street, police said. Police said an officer on routine patrol observed the suspect's car leaving the trailer center and followed it. When the officer gave chase the suspects attempted to elude the police car, officers said, and during the chase threw two mattresses from the vehicle. The mattresses, officers said, were from a camper at Gateway. The men, scheduled to be arraigned today, were still in custody at the city jail this morning.

EVEN FIRE TRUCKS are restricted to moving at a snail's pace during the midday and late afternoon traffic jams created in Twin Falls as autos and trucks detour around the downtown construction area. With eastbound vehicles using Second Ave. W. having the right of way, the line of waiting traffic on Third St. W. at times backs up beyond Main Street, and vehicles operate in close quarters, as in the upper photo. A fire engine, in the lower view, wasn't on an emergency run, and was moving at the same slow pace as other autos and trucks.

Crushing Commences

TWIN FALLS — Crushing of old car bodies as the first step in clearing a proposed county park site at the west entrance of Twin Falls is in full swing, county commissioners said today. Fred Radcliff, who operates the crusher, said old cars that have cluttered the site for several years will be crushed in the canyon and hauled out on large trucks. Tuesday afternoon the county hired a backhoe to work in the area and planned diverting a drainage area which was causing some difficulty to crushing equipment.

Radcliff told commissioners the soft ground was developing from the waste water flowing into the canyon and making it difficult for his equipment to reach the area where the cars are to be crushed. He said the crusher, which handles an entire car at a time and often crushes two into one thin sheet of scrap metal, will remain on the site until the estimated 1,200 bodies are cleared away. Long range plans of the county are to convert the eight acre site into a public park and picnic area for county residents and tourists.

Produce Men Tour Plants

BURLEY — Some 160 produce brokers and distributors toured Simplot plants at Heyburn and Burley today, visited the Snake River Trout farm at Buhl and went on to Caldwell to view potato growing. The activity is part of the 11th annual sales seminar sponsored by the J.R. Simplot Co. for 160 representatives from 32 states and three foreign countries, Australia, Sweden and Finland. At the opening session at the Ponderosa Inn Tuesday night Jack Simplot outlined how he started in the potato processing industry in 1930 and Harry Reifschneider acted as master of ceremonies. Jim Conrad, president of the firm's Burley division, outlined the schedule for the sales seminar which concludes Friday.

Don Robertson, raw products research director, narrated a film which traced potato growing from planting to harvest. LaMont Herbold, spoke on quality control and Bruce Brower described activities of fieldmen.

Plant Start Due

TWIN FALLS — Processing at the Amalgamated Sugar Co. southeast of Twin Falls is expected to begin tomorrow. Officials of the firm said today boots are being dug on a limited basis this week. Beets are being piled at the factory and at dumps in the area. They said farmers are not into full harvest yet because they are still getting equipment in proper running order. A better than average harvest is expected this year, they said.

The Heyburn plant started in 1960 with 600 employees, with today between 1,200 and 1,300 persons are employed. Hugh DalSoglio, vice president of the Heyburn area, reported.

After touring the local Simplot plants the group took chartered buses to Buhl and were to attend a dinner in Caldwell tonight. Thursday they will visit Simplot plants there and hear what the firm has done about pollution. The seminar ends with a banquet in Boise Friday night. Pat Harwood, Burley, was in charge of local arrangements.

Soda Springs Woman Heads Hospital Group

SUN VALLEY — A Soda Springs hospital administrator, Mrs. Pearl Fryar, has been seated as new president for the Idaho Hospital Association. The action was taken during the Tuesday business meeting of the group here. Mrs. Fryar replaces E. Lynn Reed, administrator for the Bingham Memorial Hospital, Blackfoot. She will be assisted by James Brinich, Bonner General Hospital, Sandpoint, president-elect; and Slater M. Diane Moeller, administrator, Sacred Heart Hospital, Idaho Falls, secretary-treasurer.

The association's 37th annual meeting concluded this morning with addresses from John Harty, chief executive, Aspen Systems Corporation, Pittsburg, Pa.; Clinton McGill, Portland physician, and Ralph Murray, University Associates, St. Louis.

"A patient needs the dignity and experience of being known, appreciated and listened to," Dr. Hans Maulsch, professor of sociology, University of Missouri, Columbia, told the group during Tuesday's session. Under the present hospitalization system, he said,

Hospital Auxiliary Elects

SUN VALLEY — Officers for the coming year for the Council on Hospital Auxiliaries of the Idaho Hospital Association were seated Tuesday during the concluding business meeting of the group here. Mrs. Jack Alfred, Murtaugh, 1970 chairman of the group, handed her gavel to Mrs. William McFarlane, Idaho Falls. Assisting Mrs. McFarlane for the year will be Lillian Burch, Arco hospital, chairman-elect, and Marcia Gausa, McCall, secretary. James Rosenbaum, assistant administrator, Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, Twin Falls, will serve as director for another year. Auxiliary scrapbook awards were also announced. Winners for the larger hospitals, of over 50 beds, were Hancock Memorial, Pocatello, first; Sacred Heart, Idaho Falls, second, and Magic Valley Memorial, honorable mention.

Among the smaller hospitals, under 50 beds, were St. Benedict's, Hospital, Jerome, first; McCall Memorial second; and Bingham Memorial, Blackfoot, honorable mention. Some 14 scrapbooks were entered in the competition. About 130 auxiliary members attended the two day workshop. Tuesday's concluding session included a panel discussion of new horizons and an address from Dr. Stanley Bell, Idaho Falls. Dr. Bell discussed his ventures with the "HOPE" organization during which he said he was able to share his knowledge of medicine with fellow physicians around the world. He said presently in the United States there is one doctor for each 700 people, while the world average is one per 10,000 persons. "Half the world's population are born and die without ever seeing a physician," he said.

Committees Confer

BURLEY — Idaho assessors held committee meetings this morning at the Ponderosa Inn as their annual state convention went into its second day. The county officials will tour area processing plants this afternoon and elect new officers tonight at a banquet. The conclude ends Thursday. During the opening sessions Tuesday, the assessors were urged by Gov. Don Samuelson to complete both the reappraisal and reevaluation programs as soon as possible in their own counties.

Taxpayers of Idaho, criticized some school districts for abusing the emergency levy and said it is essential to find the tax support to fill the gap between present and proposed expenditures.

Landfill Route Signs Emplaced

TWIN FALLS — Signs directing residents to the Twin Falls City Sanitary landfill have been erected, City Manager Jean Milar said today. The facility is now in full operation, he added.

He urged them to continue assessing local residents their fair share and said he was looking forward to helping write a better school formula. The governor also expressed the hope of being able to help raise the per capita income in the state. W. D. Martindale, Halley, association president, stressed the importance of equal assessment to avoid taxpayers' protests. Max Yost, Boise, executive manager of the Associated

The official also discussed new taxes which have been proposed, such as a new tax on vehicles and an increase in registration cost, gas and personal property taxes. Another Tuesday speaker Jack R. Simplot, president of the J.R. Simplot Co., told the assessors the country has prospered because of the free enterprise system. This afternoon assessors were to hear Jack Harwood, soil specialist for the state soil conservation service, explain the general soils map for rural appraising.

Hunter Returns To Camp

TWIN FALLS — Eldon Day, 56, Twin Falls hunter lost in the Bull Trout Lake area, about 20 miles northwest of Stanley, walked back to his camp Tuesday afternoon unharmed after 18 miles of hiking.

Relatives at Buhl said the hunter was lost Monday morning when he took the wrong trail which led him 17 1/2 miles away from his camp. He was elk and deer hunting with a party from Buhl and Boise.

Street Noise Probe Asked

GOODING — Gooding Mayor Harley Crippin instructed Councilman Kelly Simis and Police Chief Lyle Clifford to investigate complaints about the use of 14th Avenue as a through street. Dr. Catherine Stapp and M. L. James met with the council Monday night to protest the use of the street by youthful drivers who create noise in the residential section.

Bargaining Questioned

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — The City of Idaho Falls has filed suit in Seventh District Court challenging the validity of a law passed by the 40th Idaho Legislature giving firemen the right to bargain collectively through union representation.

The suit, filed against Idaho Falls Firefighters Local 1565, named W. L. Robison, state commissioner of labor, Vern Hutchens, Jerry Hammer and Chris Larsen Jr., local firemen and union representatives.

The city claims the law giving firemen the right to bargain collectively for wages and working conditions is unconstitutional.

George Anderson was appointed by the council as fire truck driver, maintenance man, radio operator and janitor. Building permits were issued to Pete Dollos, 813 Oregon St., to build a carport and storage at estimated cost of $900; Arnold Slavens, 1141 Main, shingles and patio, $700; Charles Fuqua, 430 Utah St., remodeling, $2,000; E. M. Harness, 139 Wyoming, utility room, $1,500; Francis Crain, 2144 S. Main, remodeling and build carport, $400; Clarence Bolton, 324 Idaho, roof repair, $40; Dorothy Seaverance, 850 Oregon St., shingle roof, $400; Glenn Bauman, 833 Illinois, garage, $500; George Byard, 523 through 529 Washington St., $4,000 remodeling. The fall cleanup was set for Nov. 1-15.

Man's Future Growing Short

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — How much time does man have left on earth? A billion years? Several hundred thousand? Better start thinking about 30 years, says environmental expert William V. Pye.

Pye, who heads Planners Associates, Inc., planning firm with offices in New Jersey, West Virginia, Missouri and Washington, hastens to add that the human species is definitely not going to become extinct on the morning of January 1, 2000.

What he does say is that 30 years is about the limit, given present rates of air pollution, before the natural balance of oxygen and carbon dioxide in the atmosphere is irreversibly altered, beginning a chain reaction that could be disastrous.

"While man is poisoning himself on the earth with discarded rubbish and other waste," Pye contends, "a more dramatic and potentially deadly process is occurring around the earth. We are filling the atmosphere with increasing amounts of carbon dioxide, largely the result of burning fossil fuels, with the automobile as chief offender."

Easy Solution To Pollution Problem Found

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — A chemical engineer at the University of California has developed a simple and inexpensive solution to an air pollution problem.

Experiments conducted by Prof. Leroy A. Bromley showed that common sea water can be used to remove sulfur oxides from smokestack gases.

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare regards sulfur oxides as the most serious of several air-pollutants.

Millions of dollars could be saved annually in costs for removing sulfur oxides from the air, which are caused mainly by burning coal and fuel oil.

Bromley's method cools raw stack gases, runs them through a chamber where they are scrubbed clean by sea water and finally reheats them before they are released through the stack.

The main asset of the plan is that it uses inexpensive sea water that should make the method economically attractive to plants near sea coasts or estuarine waters.

A tower in which the cooled gases were sprayed with sea water cleaned 90 per cent of the sulfur dioxide from the gas. Sea water used was roughly the same as the amount of cooling water now used by power companies.

A more elaborate system removed 99 per cent of the sulfur dioxide. It uses a five-foot column packed with devices for increasing the contact between water and gases.

Either of the processes is far cheaper than other methods that have been used and the cost could be further lowered if the power plant is combined with a sea water conversion facility, said Bromley.

Cities like London and New York have had "killer fogs." Although there are other pollutants, sulfur dioxide generally is blamed for increases in deaths from bronchitis, emphysema or lung cancer.

Sulfur dioxide also damages plants and property.

In California, power plants often use natural gas as an energy source, but it is expensive and reserves are limited, Bromley said.

Supervisor's Reaction Said Most Important

BONN (UPI) — A man being considered for employment should be gauged according to the impression he makes on his prospective immediate superior rather than on the personnel manager's reaction to the applicant.

So says Gerhard Kleinbaum, member of parliament and West Germany's leading management consultant, who furthermore contends a man's record may reveal little or nothing about his ability to tackle a new job.

"One must weigh carefully exactly what the man's prospective immediate superior expects of the person who is to fill the vacancy, and what the company as a whole will require him to do," Kleinbaum said in an interview. "It is insufficient to take the impression an applicant makes on a personnel manager as the basis for giving him a contract or not."

"What a man has achieved over a period of years or months in certain jobs given to him before he is yardstick for his talents and what he could achieve in another firm," Kleinbaum went on. "Such information only shows that he has tackled his duties, with what success he has tackled them, and under what conditions."

"By interviewing and asking specially prepared questions and by changing the subject, an interviewer can get an impression of how a prospective employee will fit into a new situation and how quickly he will adapt. This is a quality that is absolutely essential for a man who hopes to reach the top in management."

Panel Approves C5A Funds Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee, contending it had no choice, today approved the Defense Department's request for a $200 million outlay to the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. for the costly C5A cargo plane.

There appears to be no reasonable alternative available but to commit additional funds in some form to this program if we are to obtain the minimum number of 81 aircraft essential for our military requirements," the committee said in a report.

The extra money would be given to Lockheed pending settlement of a contract dispute between the corporation and the Air Force. The purpose would be to keep the C5A coming off production lines while the firm straightens out its financial difficulties.

The $200 million already has been approved by both houses as part of the $18.9 billion procurement authorization bill. The actual funding would come in a $88.6 billion defense appropriations bill, which the committee approved and sent to the House floor today.

Class Starts Slowed

Several YMCA classes, scheduled to begin this week, have been postponed for one or two weeks, Chet Bartlett, executive director, announced today.

"These classes do not have ample registrations to warrant starting them this week. Interested students should call the office at 733-4384 and register as soon as possible," he said.

Guitar for fun classes, taught by Becky Sullivan, will begin Tuesday, Oct. 20.

Group piano classes taught by Jay Hill will begin Friday, Oct. 16, at 1:30 p.m.

Group organ classes will be Thursday at 1:30 p.m., beginning Oct. 15.

Sign-ups are being accepted for several new programs which will be inaugurated if there is sufficient interest. These include a Koinonia Fellowship for young adults which will be a laboratory experience in Christian Community aimed at helping the participants to be more effective human beings.

Couples Dance Club for those who would like to participate in a social dance program once a month.

Parents Without Partners is aimed at the single parent who has the responsibility of raising children. A program of education and social activities would be planned.

A Co-ed Outing Club for young adults who enjoy outdoor activities and desire to work with others to provide social activities and fellowship for their age group.

A Dad's meeting to organize new Y Indian Guide tribes will be held Thursday evening at 7 p.m. at the "Y". All dads interested in this program for fathers and sons in grades 1 or 2 should plan to attend, Bartlett said.

O'Leary Program Planned

TWIN FALLS — Open house at O'Leary Junior High School will be held Nov. 2. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moore, co-presidents, reported Tuesday.

There will be a general PTA meeting, tours of the building, visitation in classrooms and refreshments.

The state PTA convention is scheduled for Oct. 28-30 in the Ponderosa Inn, Burley.

Other officers of the O'Leary PTA include Ted Anderson, vice president; Imogene Heath, secretary; Mrs. Don Parrott, treasurer; Mrs. William Woodson, hospitality; Mrs. Bob Houston, membership; Mrs. Robert R. NEW YORK (UPI)—The last time odd lotters bought more stock than they sold was July 27, Spear & Staff observes. Assuming the odd lotter is on balance an "inverted indication" of market direction, his increasing pessimism since that date can only mean the market is headed up, the analyst adds.

Skillful Writers Sustain American Revolution During Trying Times

BY ROBERT M. SHAW
Manager, Minnesota
Newspaper Association

What caused the American Revolution? How did it happen that American colonists, outnumbered and out-gunned by one of the world's "super-powers", were able to tear themselves away from European rule and set out on a new course in a free world? Obviously, there had to be a revolution in men's minds. Not ALL colonists wanted independence. There were strong forces in colonial America which wanted to stay with England. What was it that fanned the flames, which set fire to the smoldering revolutionary movement? Some historians believe the Revolution was largely brought on by skillful writers and propagandists such as Tom Paine and John Quincy Adams, men whose words echoed what most men knew but could not articulate. These propagandists, writing in a small number of newspapers, converted men into fiery patriots and helped to lead the fighting colonies into one great social movement.

James Franklin, publisher of the New England Courant, was one of the first of these editors to kick up the traces. About 1720, he resisted censorship by the colonial governor, and was thrown in jail. When released, he kept up his sharp criticism of government until the Colonial Court put an abrupt end to his newspaper publishing career. But his example stayed; it remains to this day: "Nobody, especially government officials, is going to see MY copy, before it's printed!" Later, other colonial editors printed an increasing volume of material which challenged British authority and crystallized public opinion, giving it a clear and positive direction. There were only a handful — about a score — of these newspapers. They were all weeklies — and their total circulation was about 40,000 — but they were passed from one hand to another until they literally fell apart. They were read aloud to small groups and to large ones. They carried their revolutionary ideas into every hamlet and frontier village. The rupture with England. Then came action — ringing of the bells, organizing of the militia, and war. During the battles which followed, it was the force of words printed on paper which greatly contributed to the morale of the fighting colonial soldiers. Tom Paine's "Common Sense" was enormously popular with the troops, and his views on independence were known to every literate American. It was in the form of a colonial newspaper that his stirring words were published in the Pennsylvania Journal on Dec. 19, 1776:

"These are the times that try men's souls. The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of their country; but he that stands it NOW, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman. Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered; yet we have this consolation with us, that the harder the conflict the more glorious the triumph. What we obtain in cheap, we esteem too lightly: it is dear-

Brahms: Piano Concerto No. 1: Van Cliburn, pianist; Erich Leinsdorf conducting the Boston Symphony Orchestra (RCA LSC 2724)

This is 'Kee' to become the definite performance of his powerful piano work.

An extraordinary composition of immense beauty and strength, Brahms' first piano concerto is still one of the most emotional lean raw works ever composed.

It literally overpowers you with its visceral chords and dramatic melodies.

Van Cliburn gives an immensely masterful performance, injecting incredible delicacy and fiber into the spacious yet turbulent piano passages.

Erich Leinsdorf and the Boston Symphony Orchestra, who have the audacity to bill themselves as "the aristocrat of orchestras" and then live up to the billing, turn in a beautifully textured performance of the flowing emotional lines of the concerto.

Brahms wrote only two piano concertos, but both are masterpieces. This performance is also a masterpiece. Recommended listening.

Eight Etudes, Sonatas 5, 7, and 9: Ruth Laredo, pianist (Connoisseur Society CS 2032)

Unheralded but certain to garner future acclaim, pianist Ruth Laredo is a sensation with Scriabin.

Her style is delicately forceful, restrained strength, and subdued dynamics. She plays with amazing texture and clarity, unlike few of her contemporaries.

This album of Scriabin is a polished performance of beautiful delicacy and towering technique with the hidden forces of the music of this 20th century piano genius.

Scriabin, who lived barely past 40 and died just as World War I was breaking out, was a piano composer of unbelievable versatility and dexterity.

He fused the romantic past and the modernistic future of piano into one, finely wrought piano styling which managed to incorporate and emphasize both the past and present.

This album, which features the first recorded performance of the Eight Etudes, Opus 42, is a fine memorial to Scriabin, and other stupendous piano performance by Miss Laredo.

Scriabin's Sonata No. 5 is a very complex piece of music, as are his No. 7 ("White Mass") and No. 9 ("Black Mass") sonatas. But some of his other piano work was even more complex.

Performance of his work is a challenge to—even the most skilled of pianists, for much of the mood and tempo of the works is left to the emotional whims of the performer. Hence, one who can capture the essence of the work and project those subtleties into the music is a consummate interpreter of Scriabin.

He chose moods for his works: "breathlessly" for his 5th Sonata, and "exaltedly" for his 6th-11th 7th, his favorite, was described as "benightedness" and "sanity," while his 9th was filled with demonic structures of "sweetness gradually becoming more and more creasing and poisonous."

HEYBURN — Sgt. Richard D. Ramsey, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ramsey, Heyburn, has received the Bronze Star medal for action in Vietnam while assigned as a squad leader in Company E, 2nd Battalion, 12th Infantry Division near Dnu Tieng. His wife, Wenda, lives in Rupert.

Columbus' Crew Said 'Innocent'

LONDON (UPI)—A scientist has studied the evidence and pronounced Christopher Columbus and his sailors innocent of the crime of "bringing back from the new world one of the uglier diseases that afflict mankind."

A few years after the voyages of Columbus as epidemic of what has been diagnosed as syphilis struck parts of Europe. The popular view has been that this was contracted from American Indians by the sailors, an unwelcome gift from the New World to the Old World.

But Don Reginal Brothwell of the British Museum of Natural History has never been satisfied with this version because there is no evidence that the Columbus crews who came into direct contact with the Indians were ever themselves sufferers of the disease.

Nor is he convinced that the epidemic was actually due to syphilis. "The association of the early voyages of Columbus with the late 15th century epidemics in Europe is too 'tidy' and not satisfactory from an epidemiological point of view," he said.

In an article in "Science Journal," Brothwell wrote that evidence from ancient skeletons suggests quite a different direction for the source of the disease—Asia, and more specifically, China. He suggests that it originated there more than 2,000 years ago and then spread across the Pacific to the American Continent and westwards to Europe with the expansion of the Arabian Empire.

Brothwell says the campaigns and conquests of the armies of such warriors as Saladin, Genghis Khan and Timur and The Crusades to the Holy Land brought many Europeans into closer contact with the peoples and diseases of Southwestern Asia.

"Is it a coincidence," he wrote, "that mercury, which was so important in the 16th and later centuries as a cure for syphilis, should have been brought back to Europe by these crusaders?"

Brothwell warned there can be no relaxation in the battle against the disease. "Since the introduction of antibiotics in the last 25 years new resistant forms have arisen which have already spread around the world, causing a new plague of syphilis," he said.

She's Back: Willie Mae "Big Mama" Thornton (Backbeat BLP 68)

Willie Mae Thornton has been around for almost two decades, and she's just starting to get the recognition she deserves during the current resurgence of interest in blues and R&B.

She was touring with the Johnny Ace review back in the early 1950s before rock 'n roll ever came about, and she was singing before then up in Harlem and down in Atlanta.

She's got it like an auctioneer, and a style so infectious you can't help but like what she's doing, and she still sings R&B like darn few artists around.

One song in this album alone makes it worthwhile: Big Mama's cover version of Elvis Presley's "Hound Dog," which she originally issued back in the 1950s. Elvis' version was the one that hit it big, naturally. But he didn't sing it the way she does.

The remainder of the songs in the album vary from fair to very good, including the humor of "Tarzan and the Signifying Monkey" and "I Smell A Rat."

She'll knock you out. Four stars.

The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Wednesday, Oct. 7, the 280th day of 1970.

The moon is in its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Libra.

On this day in history: In 1863 William Gladstone, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, predicted the American confederacy would remain separated from the Northern states permanently.

In 1916 the most staggering defeat in football history took place when Georgia Tech trounced Cumberland University, 222-0.

In 1961 a British airliner crashed in the French Pyrenees, killing 37 persons.

In 1963 Bobby Baker resigned as Senate Democratic Secretary after being charged in a $300,000 civil suit with using his influence for personal monetary gain.

A thought for today: American Poet James Whitcomb Riley said, "When over the fair fame of friend or foe the shadow of disgrace shall fall, instead of words to blame, or proof of thus and so, let something good be said."

KITTY WELLS JOHNNY WRIGHT BILL PHILLIPS

Country Music Fete Slated By Buhl Rodeo Association

BUHL. — Kitty Wells, famed country-western singing star, will be featured in a fundraising musical program sponsored by the Buhl Rodeo Association next Monday evening. Two programs will be presented at the Buhl High School at 7 and 9 p.m. Appearing with Kitty Wells will be Johnny Wright, the Tennessee Mountain Boys and Bill Phillips.

Tickets are available in advance at $2 for adults and $1 for students from members of the Buhl Jaycees and Jay-C-ettes, including Field's 66 Service and Larry's American station in Buhl; Vern's 76 in Twin Falls, and Harold and Bob's Mobile station at Castleford.

Tickets can also be obtained at the door, at $2.50 for adults and $1.25 for students. Proceeds of the show will go toward activities of the sponsoring association.

Clothing Funds Limits Dropped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration said Tuesday it had dropped a new policy which had limited the amount of federal education funds for use in providing clothes for needy children.

An organization of welfare mothers had called the restriction "one of the most blatantly anti-poor policies yet devised by the Nixon administration."

The policy provided that a state could not spend more for clothing under the nation's federal aid to education program this year than it did in 1969. Secretary Elliott L. Richardson of Health, Education and Welfare announced it had been terminated.

However, in removing the ceilings, the administration said in a telegram to chief state school officers it still emphasizes that the program of federal aid to education "is an educational, not a welfare program."

Richardson met with leaders of the National Welfare Rights Organization last week and promised he would review the policy. The program affected a section of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act which provides more than $1 billion for special education programs for disadvantaged children.

In a brief statement, Richardson gave no reason for the policy change. But the telegram from acting U.S. Education Commissioner Terrel H. Bell indicated it was done as the result of a survey showing very little money was being spent on clothing.

The study showed that the statewide average expenditure for clothing ranged from $1 to $29 a child in fiscal year 1968, Bell said. The average expenditure for each child who received clothing was about $12.

Drug Items Law Need Confirmed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Crime Committee appeared agreed today that a federal law should be enacted to control the sale of paraphernalia used by drug addicts and dope peddlers.

The committee heard testimony Monday that druggists have made profits of as much as 400 per cent by selling such items as gelatin capsules to people involved in drug traffic. A committee member told UPI there was majority sentiment on the panel to recommend adoption of a federal law modeled after a recent Maryland statute controlling the use of such equipment.

Pharmacists and drug wholesalers told the committee's opening day hearing they sold large quantities of the "No. 5" gelatin capsules and also supplies of quinine and lactose which they suspected were going to dope peddlers.

The capsules, too tiny to be of use to pharmacists in compounding prescriptions, are used to carry out heroin. Quinine and lactose are used to break down pure heroin.

Plea to Hunters: Don't Strew Litter

NEW YORK (UPI) — The nation's 15 million licensed hunters are asked to refrain from littering during trips to the woodlands.

"Next to firearm safety," says Allen H. Seod, Jr., executive vice president of Keep America Beautiful, Inc., "the hunter's most important responsibility is to maintain the natural beauty of our forests and game lands."

The national anti-litter organization says carelessly discarded refuse not only despoils American woodlands but also may prove harmful to wildlife. In addition, notes KAB, tens of thousands of acres of land formerly used for hunting have been closed to sportmen because of unsightly litter.

Seod's advice to hunters — and to anyone who enjoys visiting America's woodlands — is to "take out of the wilderness all the trash you carry in."

Yank Jets Back Task Force

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — American B57 twin-jet bombers struck in waves at treetop level Tuesday to drive off Communist units attacking the largest Cambodian task force of the war at Tang Kruk, 65 miles north of Phnom Penh.

UPI correspondent Frank Prosch reported from the village on Highway 6 that the Canberra bombers made 16 runs dropping cluster bombs and napalm into Communist positions near a government paratrooper battalion dug in on the east side of Tang Kruk.

The paratroopers, who fought from heavily fortified positions in the village subhamlet of Snyy Pung facing open rice paddies, and dense tree lines, bore the brunt of the Communist attack. Military officers said the Communists attacked in waves across the paddies after trying to soften up Cambodian positions with rocket and mortar fire. Prosch said three government soldiers were killed and 24 wounded. In addition, three villagers were killed, one of them a baby asleep in a bamboo crib, sprayed with mortar shrapnel, and at least 20 wounded.

Paratroop officers reported that 20 Communist bodies were left behind, one of them possibly a Battalion commander.

In Saigon, South Vietnamese spokesmen reported the end of a three-month operation in Cambodia centered around the Highway 1 ferry crossing at Neak Leung and the provincial capital of Takoo. The two towns form an arc running from 30 miles southeast of Phnom Penh to 40 miles south of the capital.

The spokesmen said the operation netted a total of 453 Communist soldiers killed and 71 captured, raising the total number of Communists reported killed by the South Vietnamese in Cambodia to 11,738. Government casualties for the operation were given as 93 dead and 642 wounded.

The South Vietnamese force that took part in the operation — 10,000 Marines, infantrymen, Rangers, millitamen and armored cavalrymen — will continue to operate in Cambodia, spokesmen said.

U.S. spokesmen reported no major ground clashes in South Vietnam involving American troops Monday and early Tuesday. They said two Americans were killed and five wounded Monday in mine and booby trap incidents in the northern sector and six GIs were wounded in two short ground clashes.

Tourists Discover S. Africa

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI) — Time was when most of this major holiday resort's "foreign" tourists came from neighboring Rhodesia or South West Africa.

Now "real foreigners" have discovered this sunny, sandy but humid coastal city with its tremendous game and rock fishing potential to the north, and a ninety-odd mile stretch of family-type resorts to the south.

According to several Durban hoteliers, about 50 per cent of their bookings nowadays are from Europe, Britain and America, and the surfing buffs who live in Johannesburg and like to race the 400-mile trip to Durban for a wet weekend would have to accept that accommodations will not always be as readily available as before. Sleeping on the beach is prohibited.

Peter Connolly, manager of a luxury apartment block, said: "With all this foreign trade, we have no in-season or out-of-season. We must look after foreign visitors ... even if it means turning South Africans out into the cold."
