

Angela Davis Nabbed in NY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Angela V. Davis, the instructor charged with the murder and kidnaping of a judge in California two months ago, was arrested by FBI agents Tuesday in a motel near Times Square.

Miss Davis, who apparently had taken pains to disguise her appearance, had no weapons and offered no resistance when captured, according to the FBI. Her arrest ended a cross-country search that had included Cuba and several reports that she had been seen in Birmingham, Ala., her home.

The arrest was conducted so quietly that residents and employees of the motel were unaware of what had occurred.

The FBI disclosed few other details of the arrest. David Rudolph Poindexter Jr., 38, who had been staying with Miss Davis in the motel room, was taken into custody on a charge of harboring a fugitive. The FBI described him as an "unmitigated disaster."

attempt to free two convicts by taking a superior court judge, a prosecutor and three women jurors as hostages. The judge, the teen-ager who brought the guns into court and the two convicts were killed in a shootout.

Although Miss Davis was not present during the kidnaping and murder, California law provides that an accomplice captured, according to the FBI, who purchases weapons is equally guilty of a capital crime.

Miss Davis first attained national attention in 1969, a year after she joined the faculty of the University of California in Los Angeles, where she studied philosophy with Herbert Marcuse. The school's regents fired her when she said she was a Communist. Miss Davis won a legal fight to keep her job, although she conceded she is a Communist.

The school's regents dismissed her again this past academic year for what they said were deficiencies in her academic record. Miss Davis had been suing for reinstatement at the time she allegedly participated in the San Rafael incident.

Congress Adjourns

By STEVE GERSTEL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Faced with its first "lame duck" session in 20 years, Congress planned to close shop today until after the elections. Some members feared an "unmitigated disaster" when it returns.

In a parting gesture, the Senate and House scheduled legislation for last-minute action before the mass exodus.

Left behind in the rush to get home and campaign for reelection was tough legislation to keep Congress occupied through Christmas, New Year's and right up to the start of the next session.

Looking ahead, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield pronounced the prospect of a "lame duck" session a "disaster." Senate GOP Leader Hugh

Scott went him one better and said it would be "an unmitigated disaster."

Besides, the "lame duck" session will interfere with post-Congress overseas junkets for which congressmen, winners and losers alike, have a yen.

Technically, Congress only would have to finish up leftover appropriations bills when it returns Nov. 16.

But the big post-election brawl probably will come on what Sen. Russell B. Long, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, has called "the last train out of the station."

The final choo-choo is a piece of legislation being fashioned by the Finance Committee which will probably include a 10 per cent increase and a $100 a month minimum in Social Security benefits.

Clean-Up...

CITY CREWS are working to remove vacant buildings from property the city has acquired behind the city hall. Campaigning to urge city residents to clean up their property and clear away old car bodies and other unsightly junk.

Twin Falls City Manager Jean Milar said it was decided the city had better clean up "its own back yard." A large loader here tears away a duplex building.

Cellar Worker Killed

OAKLEY — Albert Barnes, age unknown, Idaho Falls, an employe of Kanyon Farms, was killed in a truck accident at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday in a potato cellar in Golden Valley, 17 miles southwest of here.

Sheriff Ray G. Mitchell, investigating officer and acting coroner said no one knows whether Barnes slipped or fell. The victim was found lying on the ground in the cellar and the dual wheels of a truck driven by Dan Frandsen, Blackfoot, passed over his head.

Barnes was last seen by other workers when he rode on a scraper to move dirt outside the potato cellar. He then walked back into the cellar and the next time he was seen was after the driver had backed the truck into the cellar.

As he started to unload, Frandsen found Mr. Barnes lying on the ground. The cellar is owned by Ore-Ida Foods.

Investigation is continuing, the sheriff said. The body was taken to McCulloch Funeral Home, Burley.

Airport Girds For Use Jump

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Editor
TWIN FALLS — Increased use of the City-County Airport, Joslin Field, by Air West jets and charter planes during the winter season will result in a severe case of "growing pains," Armour Anderson, chairman of the airport commission, said Tuesday afternoon.

Anderson made the statement following a meeting of the airport commission at the field.

Meeting with city and county officials, airport commission members approved:

- (1) A plan to greatly enlarge the parking area in front of the terminal building and put on a base of gravel to last until oil can be spread next spring.
- (2) A plan by Garth Kirkman, whose company has the contract for hauling air passengers between Twin Falls and Sun Valley, to load and unload luggage directly from the planes to save time.
- (3) A plan to make more area available for rental cars. There are three rental concerns based at the local field.
- (4) A plan which will probably see the rental car booths moved from the terminal lobby to a temporary structure outside the terminal proper, thus permitting more lobby room for passengers.

The commission and county officials heard Kirkman say that the passenger load into and out of Twin Falls will be unprecedented.

He said that in one day in late January he has 440 confirmed reservations with passengers arriving by Air West. Airline officials had previously announced that four daily jets will land and take off here on a permanent basis starting Oct. 25.

U.N. Begins 25th Anniversary Meet

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Police backed by Secret Service agents clamped maximum security on today's opening of the United Nations 25th anniversary session, a gathering bringing the largest number of world leaders to New York in a decade.

The Secret Service sent top agents from all 65 of its field offices to help guard the more than 50 heads-of-state and government expected to arrive during the next 10 days.

Foreign Minister Mitchell Sharp of Canada was to make the first of the session's 90 speeches when the General Assembly meeting began at 10:30 a.m. EDT.

Other countries scheduled as first day speakers were Iran, Peru, Greece, Rwanda, Barbados, Dominican Republic and Madagascar.

Though the commemorative session is expected to be largely ceremonial with controversial subjects such as the Middle East postponed until it is over, these subjects are expected to be the object of discussions in private meetings around the city.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers has already met with Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban in Washington and will be meeting with other foreign ministers after he gets to New York Thursday night.

Rogers, who will be in New York through Oct. 23, the day President Nixon speaks, already has two meetings scheduled with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, who arrived in New York Tuesday.

More Smog

KIMBERLY — Magic Valley may be in for another bout with the smog.

The U. S. Weather Service reports a strong likelihood that temperature inversions will be pronounced on Thursday and Friday.

High pressure centers at the surface and aloft are shifting toward southern Idaho, restricting dispersal of air pollutants — both natural and man-made.

The weatherman cautions that it is difficult to predict the severity of the coming inversion, expected to become noticeable Thursday afternoon or Friday.

Murder Report Missing

JEROME — Jerome County officials have not yet received an FBI report on findings of the car owned by Reuben Stohler, Jerome murder victim.

Sheriff James Burns said today, "If it's coming through the mail, it's going to take awhile."

S. A. Kolman, prosecuting attorney, was notified Friday by Des Moines, Iowa, officers that the FBI had concluded its investigation on the car which had been found abandoned in a residential section of Des Moines.

They said a report was being mailed to Jerome officials on the contents of the investigation.

Mr. Stohler's stabbed body was found a month ago today in the basement of his farm home. The investigation had come to a halt for lack of clues until the report was received Oct. 2 of finding the car in Des Moines.

Long vs Short

TWIN FALLS — It was bound to happen sooner or later. A court action was filed in Twin Falls County in Fifth Judicial District Court by Long against Short.

Loren Long is suing Arthur Short, both Twin Falls, for $4,500 damages for breach of contract and asking $500 additional per month while he has been unable to obtain income from a truck and trailer he purchased.

The suit alleges Long purchased a truck and trailer from Short and the defendant refused to cooperate so Long could have the equipment licensed. As a result, according to the petition, he suffered damages. Long said he was not "short" in his payments to Short but was current at the time of the alleged licensing difficulty.

Revision Hits Property Tax Need

(Editors note: This is the third of five dispatches comparing the existing constitution with the revised constitution. Today — Finance.)

By LINDY HIGH

BOISE (UPI) — The revised constitution removes the dependency of political subdivisions on property taxation only, but continues the provision no taxes will be imposed except for a public purpose.

The revision would allow the legislature to "prescribe the kinds and limits on taxation that may be imposed by a political subdivision."

The revision reinstates the existing provisions that all ad valorem taxes will be uniform on all real and personal property. The Constitutional Revision Commission had provided for different classifications of property, but the 1970 legislature reinstated the uniform classification.

The revised constitution deletes reference to the State Tax Commission as a constitutional body.

Constitutional Revision Commission Chairman Raymond L. Glens said the change was made to allow the legislature "the flexibility to use this or another method for similar functions," and said the change also permits clarification of responsibilities of the tax commission or whatever is substituted and of county boards of equalization.

The revised constitution continues legislative authority to set conditions for issuance of bonds payable from special assessments on property, revenue bonds and all other bonds except general obligation bonds. The legislature in the revised constitution can limit the amount of indebtedness incurred by the state or a political subdivision.

The governor is still required to submit a budget to the legislature, but the revised constitution establishes a legislative auditor — a position on all state agencies. This auditor is required to report to both the legislature and to the governor.

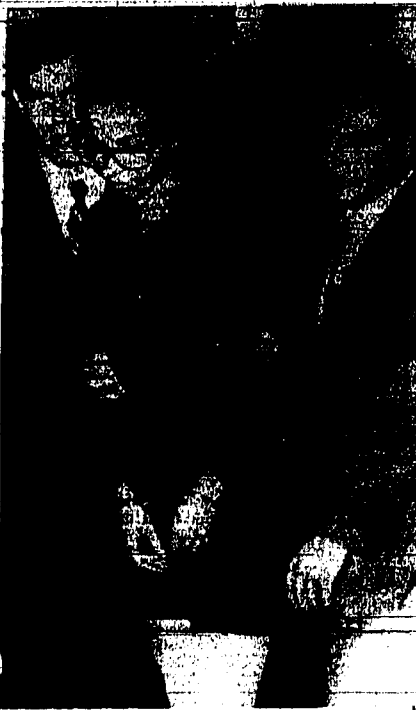

State permanent endowment funds — monies from land set aside by the federal government for support of schools — are required in the revised constitution to be used as prescribed by the legislature or otherwise "prudently invested" as permitted by law.

Deleted from the revised constitution is the restriction on lending the state's credit. Glens said this was done to allow the people to authorize the state to use its credit in beneficial ways similar to the earlier authorization to develop the state's unused water power.

In general obligation bond elections for property taxes, the revised constitution requires that the priority of claims be given to the state.

Both requirements were put in the revised constitution pending U.S. Supreme Court decisions. The requirement to limit voting to landowners has been struck down by the Supreme Court in an Arizona case. If the decision is extended to Idaho, and if the revised constitution is approved on Nov. 3, no constitutional amendments will be required to conform to the federal decision.

Temporary provisions will be required to conform to the federal decision.

Typhoon Strikes

MANILA (UPI) — Typhoon Joan sideswiped the Manila area today with 144-mile-per-hour winds and torrents of rain and roared into the South China Sea, leaving at least 11 persons dead and millions of dollars in damage.

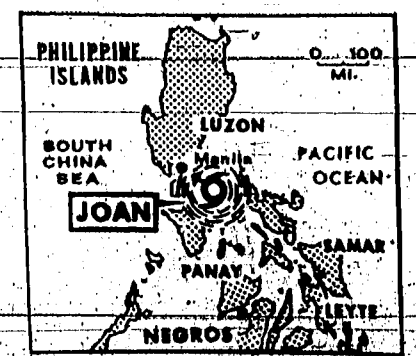

The Manila Weather Bureau said the main part of Manila was spared heavier damage because the typhoon split in two and passed 19 miles south of the city.

But the main winds of the storm were strong enough to uproot hundreds of trees, down billboards, and damage homes and power lines in Manila and its suburbs. Power was cut off for several hours to prevent people from being electrocuted by the downed cables.

All air services and trains were halted by the storm.

Floodwaters seven feet deep surged through Luena City, 90 miles southeast of Manila and in Legaspi City near Mayon Volcano, 300 miles south of the city, officials estimated damage to houses and coconut crops would reach $1.1 million.

Authorities estimated total damage in the Philippines from the storm of more than $2 million.

'Bandits' Trudeau Lashes Terrorists After Kidnap Talk Slow-Up

MONTREAL (UPI) — Negotiations for the lives of two kidnapped officials were at a standstill today and appeared near collapse, with both Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau and the terrorists of the FLQ taking hard-line stands.

Trudeau lashed out at separatist "bandits" and "weak-kneed bleeding hearts" Tuesday. He said he would go "to any distance" to defend Canada against "the emergency of a parallel power" to the government.

Robert Lemieux, shaggy-haired young lawyer representing the kidnapers of the FLQ, the Front de Liberation du Quebec, in negotiations with the government—said the talks were at a standstill. He said he may have to withdraw unless he gets new instructions from his clandestine clients. FLQ kidnapers held British diplomat James Cross, abducted nine days ago, and Quebec Labor and Immigration Minister Pierre LaPorte, taken Saturday. They demanded freedom for 23 jailed comrades.

Sample Ballots Ready

TWIN FALLS — Sample ballots for Twin Falls County have been printed, County Clerk Harold Lancaster announced today.

The ballots, in the form of the voting panel of the automatic voting machines which will be used again Nov. 3, will give voters an opportunity to study the panel and familiarize themselves with the candidates for whom they wish to vote and to be able to easily locate their selected candidates.

The ballot includes a vote on the revised constitution as well as the question of extending the terms of the county assessors and county treasurer to four years and the legislative pay initiative in which the voters of the state will either allow for or reject salary increases for legislators.

In Twin Falls County there are two vacancies on the Republican ballot.

These are for the offices of county treasurer and county clerk. Both offices are currently held by Democrats and both incumbents, Treasurer Ruth Jones and Clerk Harold Lancaster, are seeking reelection.

On the Democratic ballot voters will find state senators in both Legislative Districts 23 and 24. There is also a vacancy in District 21 for one of the two state representative posts and the same situation holds true in District 23.

There is no candidate on the Democratic ticket for county assessor to oppose incumbent Clifford Thompson who has held the office for 17 years and seeks reelection on the Republican ticket.

Voters will find only three candidates on the American party ballot.

LEWISTON (UPI) — Despite advice to the contrary, the election notice for recall of the Lewiston City Council will be printed with a list of penalties the council faces if it will suffer if recalled.

A week ago city clerk Wayne Ruid presented the proposed official election notice to the council without the penalties. The council refused to certify it.

Monday night Ruid returned with the same notice, saying he had been advised by special city attorney John Cramer to leave the notice the way it was originally written.

The council ignored this advice and passed a resolution that the notification would be published with the list of penalties included.

The councilmen had said people consider a person who is recalled as having been convicted of a crime.

The state code specifies that "anyone who is recalled or who shall resign while pending recall proceedings shall not be appointed to any city office or employment within two years after such removal or resignation."

A Monday night's meeting the council announced it will run on mass for re-election in the Dec. 1 special election ordered by a district court judge.

Last month visiting Judge James G. Towles, Wallace, ruled the council must hold the recall election by Dec. 1.

The election comes as a result of a suit filed by the Orchards Community Project after the annexation of the Lewisville Orchards area by the city last December.

The group, which represents the nearly 10,000 residents of the largely residential and agricultural Lewisville Orchards area, had filed recall petition against the entire council following the annexation.

However, the council had refused to take any action on the petitions contending that if the OCP won its suit contesting the annexation, the Orchards Residents would not come under city jurisdiction and therefore the recall petitions would be invalid.

Judge Towles clarified the whole situation when he ruled the annexation was valid and therefore so were the recall petition. He then ordered the election.

Murphy Balances Sawtooth Stance

By LINDY HIGH BOISE (UPI) — Lieutenant Governor Jack Murphy said Tuesday he is "right down the middle" between Idaho's congressional delegation and Gov. Don Samuelson on the Sawtooth-White Clouds controversy.

Murphy, guest speaker at an Idaho Press Club luncheon, said the park aspect of the plan would prevent any projects undertaken for the good of the area — including clearing underbrush to rid the area of fire hazard, halting dispersed timber and building access roads.

He said he would like to see a recreation area there — but also designated as a primitive area — which would be protected but which could be opened under certain circumstances and with proper authority.

Murphy said he opposes mining the area "only for the profit" and noted taking molybdenum out of the area would be a "one-shot" deal on a non-renewable basis.

Instead, he said, he would prefer to reserve the mineral until needed for a national emergency.

Although Murphy noted under the 1872 mining laws prospectors with valid claims cannot be denied access to an area, he did say he favored the proposed five-year moratorium on mining in the White Clouds.

But at the same time he questioned whether the moratorium would be constitutional because of the 1872 mining laws, adding "you can't after the fact start taking rights from people."

Merritt Reservoir near Valentine, Neb., has 44 miles of shoreline.

On other matters, Murphy had this to say:

— He approved the revised constitution, although "I think some areas could be strengthened and there are some things I don't like but as a package... I think we should give it a fair try."

He said he felt the revision would be "nit-picked to death" and predicted "rough sledding" for the document in the Nov. 3 election. If it fails, he said, he would suggest submitting it to the electorate amendment-by-amendment.

— When asked about a statement made by Wallace Hitt, American Party Candidate for lieutenant governor, that Hitt would name an advisory committee to read all bills passing through the legislature, Murphy said, "the president (of the senate) should be capable of reading his own bills — every one else has to."

— He favors the kindergarten concept, but would not approve of funding the public school program if the funds for it had to be taken away from an existing program. "It's going to come," Murphy said of kindergartens, "it's a matter of time, but the timing is the question."

Gem Attorney's Post 'Weak'

By RONALD B. SCOTT BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Lieutenant Governor Jack Murphy took over the political spotlight Tuesday in a speech before Idaho newsmen when he said he favors strengthening his post.

Murphy told members of the Idaho Press Club in a noon luncheon Tuesday he favors sections of the revised constitution, which will be on the November ballot, that call for election of the governor and lieutenant governor on the same ticket.

"It isn't fair to the state, not fair to the man, to send him home and then expect him to run the state," Murphy said of the role played by Idaho's part-time lieutenant governor.

Putting a strange twist on the possible election outcome, Murphy said if Democratic gubernatorial candidate Cecil Andrus were elected he (Murphy), a Republican, considered Andrus a responsible person and "I believe I am and we could do what is best for the State of Idaho."

He added he didn't think the election of Andrus was likely. But Andrus doesn't think so. Tuesday he carried his fast-paced campaign to Idaho Falls where he held supporters property taxes, particularly on the farms, have increased during the term of his opponent, Gov. Don Samuelson.

He said in addition taxpayers have seen increases in gasoline taxes, fire protection and grazing fees. Continuing his hammering on the Samuelson "poor" education record, Andrus said budgets in state government have increased 66 per cent during the past four years, while education increases have only amounted to 35.8 per cent. Samuelson, meantime, was busy quoting figures which show the state to be leading the entire nation in percentage-gain of personal income in July, 1970.

Quoting from the Oct. 3 issue of "Business Week" Samuelson said the Mountain State continued to set the pace with a 7.8 per cent gain. Idaho, from July 1969 to July 1970, showed a 13.6 per cent growth in income.

"Our momentum of growth is continuing. No state has a brighter future," the governor said.

In congressional campaigns around the state, Democrat Bill Brauner, a candidate from the first district, said he condemns violence of the far-left and the far-right political groups.

He said violent dissent should not be tolerated and said groups such as the Minutemen on the right and the Weathermen on the left should be treated and prosecuted as criminals.

"Disasters should use their influence to change the system peacefully and logically. That's the way our system has to work if it is to survive."

Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, who is running for re-election in the Second District, sounded a similar note as he urged speedy implementation of legislation passed last week to clamp down on extremists who are "injuring, killing and terrorizing innocent victims."

300 Girls Expected at Rupert Church Confab

RUPERT — About 300 girls are expected to attend the leadership conference Friday through Sunday in the Minidoka LDS Stake House, Rupert, according to Valerie Holner, general chairman for the launching committee.

The theme of the conference is "GirlLife" and is designed to help girls develop leadership ability, gain insight into different job opportunities, understand the role of the homemaker, and increase their testimony of the gospel. The conference is sponsored by the YWMA of the Minidoka LDS Stake, with Mrs. Karol Hutto, adviser.

Guest girls assisting Miss Holner with arrangements for the three day meet include Susan Bohle, Jolynn Chandler, Karen Morrill, and Nina Richards, all of whom attended the Laurel conference held at BYU recently.

The conference will get under way at 6:30 p. m. Friday with orientation followed by a general meeting which will include guest speaker, singing, and a musical presentation by students from Ticks College.

A patriotic type session will kick-off Saturday's all-day session. The girls may attend any four of 23 different workshops including creative arts, opportunities for women in the business work, homemaking, and dating, courtship and marriage. The workshops will be conducted by trained personnel from Rexburg, Boise and the Burley-Rupert area.

Discussion groups relating to problems of today's youth; a demonstration on self defense and Karate; a "paint-in"; and a fashion show will also highlight Saturday's activities. A banquet is scheduled at the Ponderosa on Saturday evening with a local talent show presentation.

Stephen Richards, regional representative of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles, Salt Lake City, will speak at the Sunday morning service to be held at the Minidoka County High School auditorium. Mrs. Richards will also address the conference.

The Madrigals from Minico will present special musical numbers both Saturday and Sunday. The conference will conclude with a testimonial.

Collectors Items Go on Sale Monday

TWIN FALLS — The first sterling silver Bankmark Ingots offered to the public in Idaho will be available at 10 a. m. October 19 at the Twin Falls Bank & Trust Company.

Harry Eaton, president, said the pocket-sized ingots are considered to be collectors' items. Each ingot contains 1000 grains of sterling silver and is approximately the size of a domino. The ingots will be priced at $10 each, and will be limited to one ingot per customer.

The mint-quality ingots were struck at the Franklin Mint, the world's largest private mint, near Philadelphia.

The sterling silver ingots were produced under a new program which provides Bankmark Ingots to the first participating bank in each of the 50 states until the end of 1970. No bank may order more than one ingot per $10,000 in deposits, but the bank's distribution to the public may be on any basis it chooses. The Twin Falls Bank & Trust Co. is offering its ingots on a first come basis at its downtown office and at the Blue Lakes and Kimberly branches.

First edition proof sets, consisting of the first ingot issued in each of the 50 states, were recently offered to established Franklin Mint collectors, on an advance subscription basis, at $515 per set. More than 8000 subscriptions were received, and the subscription rolls are now closed. Proof-quality specimens may also be offered by issuing banks, but they may order no more than one proof ingot per $1 million in deposits.

Based upon the advance subscription response, Joseph M. Segel, president, The Franklin Mint, expects the advent of pocket-size ingots to "usher in a whole new era of collecting."

According to Segel, "Ingots offer more silver per dollar than most coins or medals, and silver is bound to become increasingly more valuable in future years. The tightly controlled allocation to banks should establish just the kind of rarity desired by collectors, and the interesting array of bankmarks in any city, state or the whole nation makes for fascinating collection. Even to a non-collector, the idea of owning a personal silver ingot is rather appealing in this day and age when silver has virtually disappeared from coinage."

The modern state of Italy dates from March 17, 1861, when Victor Emmanuel II was proclaimed king.

Star's Perry and Springdale. Mrs. Keith Stoddard will work with the schools in the county. Canvassing the industries in the county will be under the direction of George Forscher.

Attends Meet

TWIN FALLS — Hober J. Loughmiller, chairman of the Twin Falls County commissioners left Twin Falls Tuesday to attend a meeting of the Idaho Association of Weed Bureau. He is a member of the board of directors of the state group.

Schedule Given for GOP Office

HAILEY — Blaine County Republican headquarters will be open in Hailey each Wednesday, Friday and Saturday afternoon until election, according to central committee members.

The headquarters, located on Main Street next to the First Security Bank, officially opened Saturday with Pete Conrussa in charge. Also present for the ceremony was Wally Connelly, candidate for state treasurer.

Refreshments and literature will be available each day the headquarters are open.

Suit Filed

TWIN FALLS — A Hailey couple, William E. and Eunice E. Bolton have brought suit for $52,723 against Gateway Trailer Sales and General Insurance Co. of America, Twin Falls.

The couple charge they paid $4,423.85 cash for a mobile home purchased in January from Gateway Trailer Sales. It was reported to be a 1964 model but it was later learned the mobile home was a 1959 model, the complaint says. They ask $2,723 returned as overpayment and $50,000 general damages.

CRYSTAL BALLS JUST DON'T SEEM TO GRAB US

We read a good deal about advertising research and are frequently reminded of some mystical incantation—figures mysteriously projected, multiplied, divided, contorted to form a supposedly attractive story.

What ever happened to the good old how-many-copies-were-really-sold counts? That's the kind of stuff advertising rates are based on!

And it's just for that reason we have a no-nonsense, no-mystory ABC audit report of our circulation audience.

If you aren't strong on crystal balls either, just ask to see a copy of our latest report from the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Trade Brings Question

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
 As the West shares more and more of its industrial expertise with the Communists, a question also arises over its value to the Red war machine. Its value obviously is considerable since next to knowledge is the ability to find out. These thoughts arise as result of a number of factors, among them the new, improved relations between West Germany and the Soviet Union, the enhanced rivalry among western nations and Japan for eastern trade as result of the new understanding, and the United States role as world policeman and western conscience.

THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT officially denied Tuesday it was building a nuclear submarine base in Cuba and accused the Nixon administration of deliberately or irresponsibly spreading "falsification." The Nixon administration first raised the submarine base issue at a regular Defense department briefing. A spokesman said activity had been detected at Cienfuegos (see map) on Cuba's southern coast, that could be the start of a base serving nuclear Polaris-type submarines. (UPI)

France, Russ Sign Accord

MOSCOW (UPI)—France and the Soviet Union Tuesday signed a four-point agreement for bilateral political consultations at least twice a year and anytime there is an international emergency. A protocol spelling out the agreement was signed at noon by President Georges Pompidou of France and President Nikolai V. Podgorny of the Soviet Union. The text, released later, contained four points: Immediate consultations will be held "in case of situations which create a threat to peace ... and cause international tensions." Consultations on "the most important international problems of common interest" will be held as necessary. These problems include detente, the situation in Europe and in the world, and questions involving the United Nations. There will be periodical consultations between the foreign ministers of the two countries, or their deputies, held at least twice a year. The agreement to hold consultations will not affect commitments of either country to third countries. The latter point concerned French commitments to NATO and the Common Market and Soviet obligations to the Warsaw Pact and The east European Economic Community. The noon ceremony had been scheduled for 11:30 a.m. but was delayed while Pompidou held final talks with Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Begging in Pakistan Attacks Many

KARACHI (UPI)—An increasing number of Pakistanis are beggars although many of them are "actually quite rich," according to a recent government survey. One family of five beggars, the survey said, owns a television set and other luxury household items. Four sons of a beggar were educated in one of Karachi's best English language schools and have apparently earned enough to build their own home. Begging has, in fact, become so lucrative in Karachi the number of beggars has increased from 1,500 in 1965 to 30,000, according to the government-commissioned report on social evils. They take to begging because its monetary rewards surpass the low wages of unskilled labor fixed recently at 100 rupees ($20) a month. Professional beggars are said to be well-organized. They assume regular beats and do not encroach on another's territory. One elderly beggar even pays rent to a shopkeeper at a busy street junction to beg from the sidewalk fronting the shop. Operators, too, proliferate throughout the city, and are known as "beggars kings" who thrive on the "intake" of orphaned and kidnapped boys. Like something out of Charles Dickens, the boys are transported daily to their beats and collected at night, fed, beaten and at times maimed and mutilated to increase their earning capacity.

It was some 20 years ago that NATO nations agreed upon a list of goods with a potential military value that would not be sold to Communist nations, with a further agreement limiting credits to the Communist nations. Among the first to go was the limitation on credits, with terms of 10, 15 or more years now not uncommon in dealings between East and West. As keeper of the western world's conscience, the United States was only a little more successful in dampening down allied appetites for the markets for western goods they could see going begging in the east. The list of embargoed goods under the NATO agreement, with the addition of Japan, is revised every three years. Decisions are reached by unanimous accord, thereby giving each of the participating nations veto power. In succeeding years the lists have grown progressively shorter. Currently, the United States is protesting British contracts to sell $12 million worth of computers to the Soviet high-energy-physics center at Serpukhov, 60 miles south of Moscow. Obvious grounds for the complaint are that computers are strategic goods. This and U.S. success in blocking sale of a West German steel mill complex to Red China some years ago do not contribute to U.S. popularity.

Nixon Calls for Full Jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's grand design for the nation's economy calls for a return to full employment some time in 1972—just in time to give a boost to his expected bid for a second term. That might seem like a long time to wait for the 4.3 million persons now out of work, but many of the government's professional economy watchers think the goal may be too ambitious to be met. One high-ranking economist said privately the economy would have to grow at a pace much faster than now seems probable to restore full employment by mid-1972. Such a growth rate, he said, might touch off a new round of inflation. Paul W. McCracken, chairman of Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, said the administration hopes to get unemployment down to less than 4 per cent of the work force some time during the 1972 fiscal year that runs from next July 1 to June 30, 1972. McCracken defined "full employment" as less than 4 per cent jobless. The post-Korean war low for unemployment was 3.3 per cent, recorded during three straight months from December, 1968, through February, 1969. Administration sources made it plain that the plan now calls for full employment to be reached near the end of the fiscal year, about 20 months from now. Some government economists are not happy about the goal. They think it could backfire in one of two ways: Nixon could try to heat up the economy enough to reduce unemployment on schedule and in the process lose all of the gains that have been made against inflation. Or the goal could be missed, which would be more embarrassing than the same rate of unemployment would be had no goal been announced. "I guess we are stuck with it," one economist said of the schedule.

Blaine Board Gets No Bids

HAILEY — The fate of the Blaine County ambulance service is still undecided as county commissioners failed to receive bids for the service Monday.

Keith Bird, who presently offers the service, has requested a county subsidy because of the financial condition of the service.

The Commissioners last month agreed to subsidize Bird at $500 a month until the first of the year, and to advertise for bids for the service beginning Jan. 1.

The commission decided to rebid the service, with opening of the proposals set for the next meeting Nov. 9.

Bird appeared before the commission again Monday and said that in the past two and a half months he has made 25 runs, only four of which have been paid for to date. He said he spent $375 for equipment for the trips and only collected $110. The county is asking for a four-piece ambulance with a trained attendant and driver. If no bids are received in November, the commission plans to negotiate.

Equipment Purchase Approved

WENDELL — The Wendell Health Council authorized purchase of two items of medical equipment when it met Monday at the home of Mrs. Earl Lowery.

The council, which owns a number of pieces of equipment for long-term use, purchased a new mattress for a hospital bed and authorized Mrs. Blanche Iteny, Gooding County health nurse, to purchase a walker from Intermountain Surgical Supply, Boise.

Mrs. Agnes Higginbotham is a new member of the council.

Hospital Auxiliary Picks Officers

TWIN FALLS — A slate of officers was presented by the nominating committee, with Mrs. Fred MacKenzie as chairman, when members of the "Magle Valley Memorial Hospital Auxiliary met Monday afternoon in the hospital auditorium.

Nominees include Mrs. Carol Harris, president; Mrs. W. L. Claiborn, first vice president; Mrs. Dillon Brawley, second vice president; Mrs. Frank Gliese, recording secretary; Mrs. James Rosenbaum, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Paul Carl, membership secretary; and Mrs. Marvin Gingscock, treasurer. They were duly elected and will be installed Nov. 2. Service awards will be presented after the installation services.

Mrs. Jack Stephens, president, was in charge of the business session. Mrs. Jack Allred, immediate past chairman of the Idaho Council of Hospital Auxiliaries, told some of the highlights of her year and noted three new auxiliaries have been organized in Idaho, in Hailey, Roxburg and Lewiston.

Reports on the Idaho State Hospital convention at Sun Valley were given by Mrs. Stephens and Mrs. Harris.

Mrs. Laird Noh presented the program, an informative talk on the constitution revision.

Mrs. Carl announced the next orientation date is at 10 a.m. Oct. 22. Anyone residing in Twin Falls County interested in joining the Pink Ladies is asked to be in the hospital lobby at that time or contact her at 25-4411.

Stress Rising For Man

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI)—A noted anthropologist said today human society in undergoing its greatest stress in 10,000 years, and the whole concept of government under law is being "tested to its uttermost limits."

Professor E. Adamson Hoebel of the University of Minnesota told the 1970 UPI Editors and Publishers Conference that law is "the major tool of social control developed and used by the 30,000 generations of men who precede us" and must be preserved "if we are to survive."

He said that even "erstwhile civil libertarians" would have to approve such harsh measures as preventive detention and limitations on free speech "if the chips were down on a choice between the terror of militant anarchy and the order of bare-bones societal survival."

"While there are many injustices that need to be remedied, Hoebel said, the American legal system on the whole has served well the cause of human freedom."

EARN'S TROPHY

Ketchum Officer Captures Trophy

KETCHUM — Ketchum police officer Jerry Engelbert has returned to Ketchum after having captured third place in his weight's weightlifting competition in the first annual National Police Olympics at Phoenix, Ariz.

Officer Engelbert is the only athlete representing Idaho at the initial event and competed against six others in his division. Other events during the Olympics included tennis, judo, track and field, wrestling, basketball, pistol shooting, swimming and rope climbing. The Olympics, which attracted about 300 athletes nationwide, are sponsored by the Circle K Club, Pepsi-Cola and Motorola, Inc.

Competing in the 198 pound weightlifting division, Officer Engelbert bench pressed 290 pounds, squatted 500 pounds and dead lifted 605 pounds. His accomplishments compare with the first place figures of 300 pounds bench press, 610 pounds squat, and 580 pounds dead lift. The winners were selected from a total of the three weights.

Officer Engelbert said this week he is continuing to train, with the 1971 Olympics in mind. For that competition, he said he plans to compete in the 222 pound division, a weight class unique with the police Olympics. The 1971 Olympics will also be held at Phoenix and Officer

Absentee Balloting Begins

TWIN FALLS — Beginning today residents of Twin Falls County who will be out of the county or otherwise unable to go to the polls Nov. 3, may begin casting absentee ballots at the office of county clerk Harold Lancaster.

Lancaster said absentee voting will be conducted from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. each regular office day through Nov. 2. Such voting is provided by law for persons who will be out of their county or have other valid excuses such as being hospitalized. Absentee voting, Lancaster cautioned, is not for those who may find it easier to go to the clerk's office before election day than to their regular polls on Nov. 3.

Registration books are now open for persons who have moved or have lost their registration from failure to vote in recent elections. These are available at the home of the precinct registrars and registration will be continuing through 9 p. m. Oct. 31, the clerk said.

Lancaster also announced a change in polling places for residents of precincts 21 and 25. These voters cast ballots in the August primary election in the old hospital building but in the November general election will vote at Robert Stuart Junior High School. The change was made because of lack of space in the hospital building and to provide a greater convenience to voters and election boards, Lancaster said. The change was approved by county commissioners Tuesday.

Academy Graduates
Graduates of the four-year course of the U.S.-Navy-Academy are awarded the Bachelor of Science degree and are commissioned ensigns in the U.S. Navy or second lieutenants in the U.S. Marine Corps.

It takes 10 to 12 pounds of corn to produce one pound of beef, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Loser Named For Week

HANSEN — Mrs. James Wright, who was named best loser of the week, told members of the Slim and Trim TOPS Club Monday night at the home of Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith that "Nothing succeeds like success."

Quoting from a message from the founder of the TOPS program, Mrs. Wright added, "Once you experience that grand and glorious feeling of taking off five to 10 pounds, you will be eager to keep on until you reach your ideal weight. It can be done; it has been done; and it is being done right along in TOPS. Now it's your turn."

Mrs. Wright was also named winner of the fruit bowl contest. In other club business, Mrs. Ralph Simmons was named photographer. Members agreed to sponsor a "dress-up" affair Monday evening to honor their guest speaker, Mrs. Werner Kramer of Twin Falls.

A group of 15 members will attend a rally at Minico High School Friday evening. They will gather at Mrs. Steelsmith's home to form a car pool. A color-controlled dinner will be served at the rally.

Mrs. Lewis Morris, hostess and program chairman, read an article from a newspaper printed in 1925 urging slow weight loss of about a pound per day.

News of Servicemen

MALTA — PFC Kerry flying. Kossman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kossman, is stationed at Pleiku, South Vietnam, with the 14th Artillery of the U.S. Army.

He entered the service Jan. 29, and took his basic training at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and Ft. Sill, Okla. He was assigned to his Vietnam post on July 12. Kossman graduated from Raft River High School in 1969.

MURTAUGH — Air Force Capt. George A. Galley, who graduated from Murtaugh High School in 1955, has been awarded the Military Air Command (MAC) safe flying award at Norton Air Force Base, Calif., in recognition of his 5,000 hours of accident-free

Capt. Galley is the husband of Carlene Schuppenies, Shoshone. His father, George E. Galley, lives in Kimberly.

Capt. Galley was recognized for his outstanding skill and for his alertness and adherence to sound flying practices. As navigator on a giant C-141 Staffler cargo and troop carrier, he plays a major role in the MAC role of providing global airlift facilities for the military forces.

Capt. Galley, who has 10 years of military service to his credit, has served in the Republic of Korea and the Dominican Republic. He received a Bachelor of Science degree in business from the University of Idaho in 1960, where he received his commission with the Air Force from the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

The demonstration, which included use of live ammunition, was presented for high-ranking German officers who were being conducted on a logistical orientation tour.

Cattlemen Asked To Halt Booster

DENVER — "As a part of a continuing effort to reassure the nation's beef eaters of a completely wholesome product, the American National Cattlemen's Association is launching a stepped-up consumer protection program," announced the association's president, W.D. Farr.

Farr explained, "ANCA is asking every cattle feeder in the country to certify in writing that their cattle have not been fed diethylstilbestrol (DES) for at least 48 hours prior to slaughter." DES is a synthetic hormone fed to steers in order to increase the animal's rate of gain.

Representing the nation's beef cattlemen, "ANCA is also enlisting the cooperation and assistance of all U.S. meat packers to see that proper use of DES is observed. By only buying cattle certified to have been withdrawn from DES for 48 hours, packers can assure residue-free meat products," Farr said.

Commenting on the ANCA program, Dr. Charles C. Edwards, commissioner, Food and Drug Administration, said, "Your indication of willingness to embark on this program will go a long way in assuring the consuming public that red meat products are wholesome and free of residues."

Commissioner Edwards continued, "I feel it is important to emphasize that whenever we document the fact that residues are present in edible parts of a slaughtered animal, we will take appropriate action. I feel also that vigorous enforcement on the part of FDA will enhance the possibility of success of your proposed program."

"The key," Farr stated, "is the 48 hours period. There is scientific proof from both the government and private industry that DES residues do not occur in beef if the proper withdrawal period is observed. The beef animal completely metabolizes the compound out of its system in that length of time." The beef cattle industry fully recognizes its responsibility to the consuming public to strictly police the use of DES and all other agricultural chemicals. Farr said, "If DES use is abused, then its future use could be jeopardized. Cattle feeding costs would then soar because of at least a 10 per cent loss in production efficiency. And any lessening of the efficiency in which feed is converted to beef will inevitably mean higher prices to American consumers."

The cattle industry spokesman said ANCA for many years has carried on a continuing education program stressing the need for proper use of various agricultural chemicals. "Through self-regulation," Farr emphasized, "the cattle industry is acting responsibly by adopting this 'certification' program. We are doing our best to guarantee the highest quality, most wholesome beef for our American consumers."

Medicare Deductible Rises

TWIN FALLS — Beginning in January, an older person who goes to the hospital under Medicare will be responsible for the first $60 of his hospital bill — now running about $750 for the average stay by a beneficiary, notes Twin Falls social security officials.

The present hospital deductible is $52 and will remain in effect for all Medicare hospital admissions during the remainder of the year.

"The increase is mandatory under the law," states Robert M. Ball, commissioner of social security. "It is a result of the long term upward trend in hospital costs, and in part, of course, the general inflation."

Based on 67 million days of hospitalization covered by Medicare bills in 1969, the current average per diem rate for inpatient hospital services amounted to $57.70 compared to a rate of $37.94 for the base year of 1966. Applying the formula, i.e., multiplying the ratio of the 1969 rate to the 1966 rate by $40, the result is $58.72, which must, under the law, be rounded to $60, the new deductible amount.

Ball said that when the hospital deductible amount changes, the law requires comparable changes in the dollar amounts that a Medicare hospital stay of more than 60 beneficiary pays toward a day, or a posthospital extended care stay of more than 20 days. When a Medicare beneficiary has a hospital stay of more than 60 days, he will pay $15 a day for the 61st through the 90th day.

Social Security Questions

If you have any questions about your social security, address them to Jim Davis, P.O. Box 1239, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301

Q. My wife is 62. Can she get social security retirement benefits if I don't retire?
A. If she has enough social security credit of her own to qualify as a retired worker, she can collect whether you retire or not. But she can not get benefits based on your work record unless you are retired.

Q. I've been getting social security since my father had a stroke and had to quit work. I'm 17 years old now and will soon be 18. I heard there is some way I can keep getting the checks even after I'm 18. Is this true?
Q. Yes. If you're not married, you can get social security until you're 22 years old if you're a full time student. Or if you are so disabled that you can't work, your checks would continue for as long as the disability lasts.

Q. My wife collects social security as my dependent. She just started working and will make more than $1680.00 this year. How will this affect our checks?
A. Your check will stay the same because your benefit is only affected if you work. But your wife's benefit will be reduced according to the amount she earns.

Q. I've heard that more than 20 million people have the protection of Medicare. How many of them are being helped by it?
A. More than 4 million people were admitted to hospitals last year and had most of their bills paid by Medicare. About 500,000 of them were admitted to extended care facilities for post-hospital skilled nursing care. About 200,000 received home health services after hospital stays. In 1969, Medicare paid an estimated $4.7 billion in hospital insurance benefits and $1.9 billion in medical insurance benefits.

Selling Soap to Hippies Is Good Business Venture

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Two Berkeley women have built up a rushing business selling handmade soap to hippies.

Their store—The Body Shop—offers such naturally flavored soaps as lemon, cinnamon apple, papaya, cucumber, honeysuckle and Berkeley leather. Their perfumes include orange, strawberry, lime and "luscious chocolate."

"It smells like you should eat it," customers remark. One youth tasted the blueberry and was disappointed when it tasted like soap.

"You keep reading about how dirty, how awful, the kids are," Mrs. Jane Saunders said. "But most of them love to keep clean and keep talking about their hair."

"Hippies even come to The Body Shop from the country communes. They say our soap works great in the streams," Mrs. Saunders and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Peggy Short, did only $15 business the day they opened their shop three months ago in a complex of hippie stores on Telegraph Avenue.

The soap is whipped up in a bucket at the local lab of a pharmaceutical chemist friend, Dr. Henry Libby, and molded in long slabs. Later the slabs are cut by knife into bars at the store.

News of the flowery products spread by word of mouth among "the street people" and University of California students. They now buy $100 worth a day.

"They don't like synthetic fragrances and French perfumes," Mrs. Saunders said. "Just as they favor natural hair, natural foods and natural birth, they prefer their fragrances natural or straight."

She says boys buy almost as much of the soap and perfume as girls, explaining, "It's unisex."

Customers also are attracted by the low cost, 35 cents a bar for the kind of glycerin soap, recommended by skin doctors, that normally costs $1.

And some seek the patchouli soap. Patchouli is a heavy, musky essence long used by hippies to cover up the sweet odor that lingers in the pores of marijuana users.

In Europe, women bring their perfume and lotion bottles to stores for refills. The same procedure, used by The Body Shop, appeals to ecology-minded young buyers dead set against disposable containers.

Dr. Libby, who runs a commercial research laboratory, thinks the success of the soap suggests emergence of a social trend.

"People, tired of bigness, are looking for ways to decentralize," he said. "The time is coming when communities will brew their own paints, plastics, canned goods and other products according to their own community tastes."

Cranberry Treats for Little Tricksters

Halloween is coming, and all self-respecting witches and goblins are going to be looking for exciting goodies for their trick-or-treat night bags. Don't let them catch you with your cupboard bare. Treat them to something really special in the way of cranberry sorcery. Popcorn balls with candied cranberry faces, doughnuts and cranberry glazed apples will do the trick—they're enough to make any goblin grin!

CRANBERRY POPCORN BALLS

(Makes about 18 balls)

1-3 cups sugar
1 cup Ocean Spray cranberry-apple drink
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
12 cups popped popcorn
Milk sugar, cranberry-apple drink and corn syrup. Cook at a rapid boil until a candy thermometer registers 250 degrees or until syrup, when dropped into very cold water, forms a ball which is hard enough to hold its shape, yet plastic. Pour syrup evenly over popped popcorn and toss with a spoon to blend and to keep syrup from sinking to the bottom of the bowl. Butter hands and shape mixture into balls while still warm. Press balls together firmly. Let stand at room temperature. To store for any length of time, wrap balls tightly in plastic wrap or wax paper. Decorate popcorn balls with faces made of candied cranberries, just before serving.

CANDIED CRANBERRIES

(Makes 4 cups)

2 cups light corn syrup
1 pound Ocean Spray fresh cranberries

Pour corn syrup into saucepan. Place candy thermometer in syrup. Bring to a boil. Boil until syrup, when dropped into very cold water, forms a hard ball that is still plastic (250 degrees on candy thermometer). Remove from heat. Stir in 1 pound of plump, red, round cranberries. Line cookie sheet with foil. Spread cranberries over foil so that the cranberries are separated. Cool.

CRANBERRY DOUGHNUTS

(Makes 24)

2 eggs
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons vegetable shortening
¾ cup milk
1 tablespoon vinegar
¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup Ocean Spray fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
Deep-fat or oil, heated to 375 degrees.

Combine eggs, sugar and vegetable shortening. Beat until smooth. Stir in milk and vinegar. Beat in flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and cinnamon. Beat in cranberries. Turn out dough on a heavily floured board and knead in enough flour so dough is not sticky. Wrap and chill dough for 1 hour. Roll out dough on a well-floured board to 1-3 inch thickness. Cut out with a floured doughnut cutter. Drop doughnuts into hot fat and fry 2 minutes on each side or until doughnuts are richly browned. Drain on absorbent paper. Leave half of the doughnuts plain and roll the remaining doughnuts in confectioners' sugar.

CRANBERRY CANDIED APPLES
(Makes 6 to 8 apples)

2 cups sugar
1½ cups Ocean Spray cranberry-apple drink
6 to 8 skewers or forks
6 to 8 medium apples

Combine sugar and cranberry apple drink in a small deep saucepan. Cook at a rapid boil until candy thermometer registers 290 degrees or until syrup, when dropped into very cold water, separates into threads which are hard but not brittle. Remove from heat and place saucepan over hot water to keep syrup from hardening too quickly. Skewer apples or push fork into stem ends of apples. Quickly dip apples into syrup, twirling apples to coat them completely. Keep twirling apples until syrup stops dripping. Put apples on a buttered cookie sheet and leave at room temperature to harden. Store at room temperature. If desired, dip apples while syrup is still soft into shredded coconut, chopped nuts, colored sprinkles, etc.

Half-Used Cosmetic Jars Are Incentive for Book

TAPPAN, N. J. — If chemicals and additives are unsafe for our insides, they can't be very safe for our outside, and moreover, they cost too much! So, for health and economy reasons, every woman should read "Here's Egg On Your Face" or "How To Make Your Own Cosmetics."

The author of this fascinating book is Beatrice Travena, a housewife who claims to have the world's largest collection of half-used cosmetic jars. Weary of buying costly beauty aids and being disappointed in the results, she decided to whip up some makeup in her kitchen with ingredients from the supermarket, and was astonished to find how easy and enjoyable it was. For example, a stimulating face mask is concocted of egg white, cucumber juice, lemon juice, and vodka. Brings a beautiful longlasting glow to the face.

The beauty of Mrs. Travena's book (no pun intended) is its cookbook style. The recipes for her cosmetics are given as food recipes, with explanations for use and storage (since they all contain edibles, refrigeration is suggested). The only preservative used is alcohol, and each beauty aid is declared equal or superior to commercial products on today's market.

An appealing feature is the recipe size. Each batch is small enough to make quickly and try out. A good throat stick consists of two tablespoons vegetable shortening, three tablespoons cocoa butter, two tablespoons paraffin, and one teaspoon butter.

Vest Suit

The vest suit in cotton corduroy will make the school score this fall, says the Men's Fashion Association. The suit has a long vest and slovenly pants to match. Extra styling details include button flap pockets and side slits on vest. The association suggests a floral print shirt to add the right touch of color.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please explain to my husband what is wrong with parents getting their three-month-old baby girl's ears pierced? We just did, and we have not heard the end of it from his parents and mine, and from a whole lot of relatives, and even some friends who thought they had to tell us what they think about it.

His parents are barely speaking to us, and when they do they get back on the subject of having the baby's ears pierced, and have called us "crazy, uncivilized, cruel and stupid." We have had it.

Do you know when ear-piercing started and in what country? I know it's been going on for a long time, and it wasn't considered crazy.

DEAR FED: Ear piercing dates back to the early Egyptians, but if you're planning to use that as an argument in support of your action, I'm afraid it won't help you much. What's done is done. But in fairness to the child, you might have waited until she was of an age to have expressed an opinion. After all, they're HER ears.

DEAR ABBY: I shop at a well-known store in town, and on several occasions I've been told by a certain saleslady who usually waits on me that the item I've asked for is not available thru the store—but she can get it for me. And she does. She "orders" it and delivers it to my home personally. It's slightly cheaper than it would have been had I bought it thru the store.

I make the check out to a "trade name," which I imagine she used for this purpose.

The merchandise is O. K., and so is the service, and the price is right. Since the shop couldn't provide me with the item, is this dishonest?

I don't feel right about it because this sales person has asked me not to mention it to the owner of the store.

I am not one to cause trouble, but what do you make of this?

MRS. NO NAME

DEAR MRS.: The sales person obviously has her own business going on the side. This is strictly dishonest. Small wonder it's cheaper. She has no overhead. Her employer not only provides her with a place to do business, but with "customers." If you continue to "buy" from her, you are a party to her dirty deal.

DEAR ABBY: Our 23-year-old (married and divorced) daughter is interested in joining a "sensitivity training" group. She has had some psychotherapy, but gave that up because she felt it was too expensive and she wasn't getting anywhere.

From what she tells us about this group (she attended one meeting) it sounds like a wild group of people, shouting obscenities at each other, telling each other off, and there is also a good deal of embracing and cuddling. She says they just do whatever they feel like doing. It's considered healthy.

Do you know anything about these groups?

CONCERNED PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: SOME sensitivity training groups are excellent. But I refer only to those groups that are led by professionally qualified leaders. Unfortunately, too many groups are springing up all over the world with leaders who are charlatans and amateurs. Tell your daughter to talk to an expert in the field of mental health, and ask him to check out the group she is considering joining, and she'll know what she's getting into.

DEAR ABBY: Much has been said about men coming to the table "topless" with hairy chests exposed, and I happen to be a man who agrees, it looks terrible. But how many women go around all day in sloppy housecoats and run-over shoes with no makeup on, and they don't bother to fix themselves up a little before their husbands get home? Before marriage they would never have dared to let their boy friends see them that way, but after marriage, they don't care.

Also, a man who has had his face scratched while trying to make love to his wife who has been rolling in her hair has grounds for divorce. I, for one, do not intend to put up with it any longer.

525 POUNDS
... of used aluminum cans were returned to Western Beverage Co. by members of the Buhl-Jay-C-Elles after they combined a money earning project and Keep Idaho Green project. Cleaner highways and byways resulted in a $52.05 profit. Club members have been working on the project since spring, traveling east to the Wood River area and as far west as Elko, picking up cans left along the roadside. All the cans accumulated had to be crushed before they could be turned in, so the club held a "smashing party." There are approximately 32 cans to a pound which created some storage problem before the cans were turned in. In the bottom picture, Tommy Walker presents the check to Mrs. Willy Price, left, Jay-C-Elle president; Mrs. Mervin Lively, and Mrs. Bob Fields, right, co-chairmen of the project.

United States Provides Mobile School

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — Puerto Rico soon may have its first mobile school, a barge that would steam around the island bringing vocational classes to the coastal towns.

Secretary of Education Ramon Mellado told of the project. He said the barge would be provided without charge by the U.S. Office of Educational Opportunity (OEO).

The floating school would accommodate four or five complete workshops for technical and vocational instruction, Mellado said.

The idea of mobile schools to alleviate the island's severe classroom shortage was suggested in a report by the governor's advisory council.

Mellado said he believed in trying out any new idea, and that the barge would be one way to bring vocational training to more students.

In discussing the proposed floating workshops, Mellado stressed that the project was not viewed as a substitute for conventional schools.

"We have plans for an accelerated program of vocational school construction, and those plans are being carried out," he said.

World Community Day Slated

TWIN FALLS — The 1970 World-Community-Day will highlight International Education Year as designated by the United Nations and will carry the theme, "Use a Key for Tomorrow: Education," it was announced today.

Mrs. James Sharkey and Mrs. John Hicks are co-chairmen for the observance set for Nov. 8 at the Valley Christian Church. All women are invited to attend.

Since 1942, World Community Day has been sponsored by Church Women United to emphasize corporate action for justice and peace. Church women are asking in their various communities what group is not being provided with adequate teachers, books, facilities. They are also joining with others to help improve their neighbors' chance for a quality education.

Among other things, offerings received on World Community Day will be used to provide scholarships to women seeking journalistic training.

All through 1970, thousands of women have been sewing in homes and churches on cut-out garments, complete with instructions, to meet the demands for light weight children's clothing and for layettes for use in refugee camps. In addition, yard goods, blankets and fabrics are collected.

Through a $5 certificate plan, Church World Service buys in quantity supplies for underdeveloped countries. These certificates are used locally by CWU to provide blankets, school supplies for overseas elementary schools, shoes or other items.

During the October board meeting of the Church Women United at the home of Mrs. Bert Larson, members were reminded that the Church World Service truck would pick up light weight clothing in the Twin Falls vicinity early in December. Church World Service began in 1946, according to Mrs. Raymond Hatcher, who was in charge of the board meeting, and has shipped upwards of 100,000,000 pounds of clothing to needy persons around the world. Some 28 churches and related organizations participate in this work.

Mrs. Fred D. Moore, Mrs. Lillian Sullivan, and Mrs. Dorothy Smith, were named as nominating committee members to prepare a list of officers for election in January, 1971.

Wool Contest Deadline Set Oct. 31

PAUL — Deadline for young seamstresses in the third district counties of South Central Idaho who wish to enter this year's "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest is Oct. 31, Mrs. Lloyd Patterson, Paul, announced today.

She said young girls wanting to compete may obtain entry blanks from fabric shops, home extension agents or from Mrs. Domingo Egullor or Mrs. Patterson, both Paul.

Prizes awaiting the winner in the contest sponsored each year to promote the use of 100 per cent wool fabrics, include a two week vacation in the fun and fashion capitals of Europe, College scholarships, U. S. Savings Bonds and Singer sewing machines.

Girls entering must make ensembles from woolen fabrics, and must do the fabric selection, pattern selection and sewing themselves.

State prizes will also be given. Counties in the third district include Blaine, Camas, Cassia, Elmore, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln and Minidoka.

Pantsuits Dominate Scene

By BRENDA W. ROTZOLL
FLORENCE, Italy (UPI) — Italian designers think women are ready to give up the miniskirt, but not the pantsuit, in the international battle over how to cover the leg.

They will be showing classic pantsuits and skirts in all lengths from bottom-of-the-knee to the ankle in the spring and summer ready-to-wear collections which open Monday night at the Pitti Palace.

The variety of longer skirt lengths helps cover their bets in the gamble for the international fashion dollar—or the $2 billion the garment industry brought into Italy last year. The clothing and textile business is the nation's second most important, topped only by machinery including automobiles.

Enrico Pucci alone offers three lengths plus pants to meet the demands of an era he calls that of "the personalized look."

"We are in an era where people feel they want to have a personalized look rather than be told what to wear and how to wear it," Pucci said. "People can wear whatever clothes they wish on whatever occasion. You can wear pants to the office or a skirt or whatever you want."

Renato Balestra offers two lengths in skirts and culottes, just below the knee or to the floor, in blue, green, lilac and deep yellow prints. He likes the longer look for resort wear, even over bikinis.

Texas-born Evan Richards, Tiziani to the rag trade, said he has dropped hems below his previous midcalf mark at the urging of clients in the United States. Women who can afford made-to-measure clothes finally have adopted the longer lengths with a vengeance in America, he said.

La Mendola is sticking to two inches below the knee because "we think this is the most flattering and this is what our clients have asked for." Colors and designs come from ancient Rome, with emperor's heads, villas and battle scenes from old vases all appearing in print.

A special La Mendola trick is to take a plain two-panel dress and print lines on it in such a way it looks like a draped Roman gown.

Brown and white are the favorite colors at the Fontana Sisters, who keep hems at midcalf. They omit pantsuits and only show long trousers with a few long coats.

Brewing a good cup of coffee every time is really as easy as MJB. That's because to make your job easier, we work just a little harder. Like taking the time to slowly roast the coffee for fuller flavor. And being extra fussy about the beans we select. (For example, MJB consistently uses the richer tasting Colombian coffee beans.) That's why if there's one thing in your day you can count on, it's a consistently good cup of MJB—cup after cup, can after can. So for consistently good, consistently satisfying coffee, may we suggest you take a cut above.

International Family Day Set

Letters have been mailed this week throughout Idaho from Mrs. Robert Johnson, state chairman of International affairs of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, urging ministers and teachers to cooperate with the GFWC to promote International Family Day which is to be celebrated the first Sunday of United Nations Week beginning Oct. 18. A resolution approving such a movement was passed at the San Antonio GFWC convention, with Mrs. Earl A. Brown, national president, giving her special blessing for success. "This will not only be celebrated in our nation, but throughout the world where GFWC clubwomen are located," Mrs. Johnson noted. "Mrs. Paul Nosad, GFWC chairman of the United Nations, is delighted to accept the International Family Day idea as an around-the-world recognition of the 25th Anniversary of the United Nations. "A Better Environment" is the theme for the coming two years of the GFWC, with "The Future Is Now, Time for Decision and Action" as the theme for the Idaho women's groups. Project for the Idaho women is "Our Idaho - Know It." Clubs all over the nation are engaged in civic and philanthropic work at all times. "We pray the around-the-world effort will help create peaceful demonstrations of brotherly love and concern - embracing the ideals of the United Nations by all races, color and creeds.

"Retirement-Food Guide" Booklet Available Free

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Older Americans often neglect needed dietary adjustments and suffer unnecessary anemia, weakness or fatigue, according to a "Retirement Food Guide" published by the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons. While daily dietary allowances required for adequate nutrition remain similar throughout adult life, the Guide reports, the need for calories, iodine, thiamine and some other elements lessens as one enters the 55-75 age group. Special diets may be required because of illness or functional disorders. But these should be recommended by physicians and carefully followed. Fad diets are bad diets, the Guide warns, and urges older Americans to avoid becoming victims of faddists and to use food supplements only upon competent medical advice. The guide lists recommended daily dietary allowances for

National Temperatures

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market was slightly lower light turnover at the midway point Wednesday.

Declining issues were leading advances, 564 to 512, and the Dow Jones industrial average was off a fraction after being ahead a point during the early morning.

A three-hour turnover of around 6-million shares was about in line with Tuesday's pace.

Among the stocks on the most active list were Weyerhaeuser down 1 on 84,100 shares, International Industries off 1 1/4 on 66,000 shares, Tektronix down 1 1/4 on 50,700 shares, Philip Morris up 1/4 on 58,800 shares, General Electric 1/2 higher on 57,300 shares, and Plessey up 1/4 on 56,000 shares.

Less active Corning Glass was up more than 3 after drifting lower early in the week in the wake of an unfavorable earnings statement.

Standard Oil of Ohio, Burroughs and American Research & Development climbed a point or more, but National Cash Register dropped about 1.

DURING WEDNESDAY night, showers will be found in the southern plains and northern Texas, while shower and thunderstorm activity will be widespread from Florida and the eastern Gulf Coast northward through the Ohio and Tennessee valleys and into the lower Great Lakes area, as well as in the upper northeast. Clear and pleasant to partly cloudy skies elsewhere. Freezing and cold weather should dominate most of the upper half of the nation up to mid-temperatures over the rest of the nation. (UPI)

Friday continued fair and warm.

Cumas Prairie, Halley and the lower Wood River Valley: Same forecast as Magic Valley except temperature. Afternoon high 55 to 65 both days. Overnight lows 15 to 25. High pressure centers both at the surface and aloft continue to dominate the pattern over southern Idaho and East central Oregon bringing clear skies and slowly warming temperatures. This pattern of fair weather is forecast to continue at least through the weekend.

Surface winds will be slowly decreasing and the early morning temperature inversions will become stronger as the high pressure centers at the surface and aloft shift more nearly over our area. This will begin to restrict the dispersal of air pollutants both natural and man-made.

Mutual Funds Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) I am retired, single and have 1,376 shares of a Bullock fund, Dividend Shares, from which I receive dividends as due. Is this fund suitable for me? I have other income. When is the commission deducted? B.

A) When shares of a mutual fund are purchased, the commission or load fee — if there is one — is added to the net asset value per share and is part of the offering price. Since the load charge is an integral part of the quoted share cost, you apparently were not aware that you paid it. (Mutual fund price quotations in newspaper financial pages generally are quoted both ways, net asset value being the lower of the two figures.) Shares acquired subsequently through reinvestment of capital gains or income dividend distributions were purchased at net asset value (without load charge). This policy is not followed by all mutual funds.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The market should be dropping now but isn't, the Dines letter notes. The letter says the market is "more overbought than we have seen in many years" and adds that it has been in this condition for "several weeks." The newsletter predicts that when the market "suddenly starts dropping," it will signal a "killer wave of liquidation."

"The cats and dogs, which the speculators have groomed so well lately, should be considered anathema," the Alexander Hamilton Institute believes. The company urges investment in companies with "strong fundamentals" because "economic indicators that tend to foreshadow general business activity are still soft—despite glowing administration reports."

TPO Incorporated believes the "near-term outlook for the list remains favorable." The company says as long as interest "rotates from one group to another" it does not anticipate a "serious correction." The firm adds that glamors and some secondary issues may experience "minor dips" but will "rotate upward again."

People are beginning to realize there is "mounting evidence" of a worldwide energy shortage, the Oil Statistics Bulletin observes. The newsletter points out that "although we have been aware of this for some time," it is news to the public. Because of this, it believes energy issues are "likely to remain fashionable with investors for some time to come."

Orioles Making Sure Results Are Different

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Brooks Robinson, a hero in all three Baltimore World Series victories, says he realized last month that this year's Series would be different from last year's for the Orioles.

"My attitude wasn't any different, but this year I think the guys were playing better and hitting the ball better going down the stretch," Robinson said Tuesday after the Orioles went three games ahead of the Cincinnati Reds with a 9-3 victory.

"You could sense the difference in September. Last year, we lost something like five of our last six games during the season. This year, we came in winning."

The Orioles, counting their three World Series wins, have won 17 straight games since Sept. 20.

Robinson made a spectacular play to start a double play in the first inning, drove two good catches of line drives including a brilliant diving grab on Johnny Bench in the sixth, and smashed a pair of doubles, scoring one run and driving in two.

Asked if he could remember a sequence of defensive games like he has made in each game of this Series, Robinson said, "This is the best Series I've had, but I don't know of any best play I've ever made."

Dave McNally, the winning pitcher, who helped himself with the first grand-slam home run by a pitcher in World Series history, said he knew when he hit the ball "I hit it good."

"I was standing at the plate flustered, and just wanted to make contact with the ball," McNally said. "Wayne Granger comes in to pinch me and I figured if I just got a piece of it, maybe it would go somewhere."

"That's my corner down there—300 feet in the field."

It was the second straight year McNally hit a homer in the World Series—he got one in the final game in 1969 against the Mets—and he admitted he would rather talk about his hitting than about his pitching.

"I didn't have my best stuff today," said McNally, only the 13th lefthander to beat Cincinnati in 47 decisions counting regular-season and playoff games. "I only got one curve ball over the plate all day; the one Bench took for a called strikeout in the eighth."

Robinson, twisted an ankle, Defensive Infielder Kevin Hardy hurt a knee, as did regular Quarterback Bart Starr, who had a brilliant night, has a sore shoulder.

DOUBLE TEAMED, this seven-year-old dry nanny mountain goat will be divided between the lucky hunters. Leon Smith, right, and Peter Link spotted the goat while hunting up Wild Horse Canyon, north of Sun Valley Sunday.

Clay Arrives For Battle With Quarry

ATLANTA (UPI)—Former heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, trimmed almost to his fighting weight of three years ago, arrives in Atlanta today to resume workouts for his comeback bid Oct. 26 against top contender Jerry Quarry.

Quarry arrived Sunday night and set up shop in the Sports Arena Monday for his final phase of training. Both men are quite certain the winner will get a shot at the championship.

Clay broke camp at his Miami Beach training site Tuesday after working on the heavy and light bags and doing some shadow boxing.

"Wait until they find out I'm going to come in under 210 pounds," Clay said. He weighed in at 220 when he fought an eight-round exhibition in Atlanta last month.

Clay, known also as Muhammad Ali, said he still was studying how he will fight Quarry. This will be the exchampion's first formal fight since he knocked out Zora Folley on March 22, 1967. Shortly thereafter, he ran into legal troubles when he refused induction into the Army and was stripped of his title.

Quarry said he would spend the next two weeks getting into condition. He said he planned to spar two or three rounds a day from now until just before the day of the fight.

Quarry, who has lost to Jimmie Ellis and the current champ, Joe Frazier, said "it remains to be seen" whether Clay can come back after so long a time.

"I don't know whether I could do that or not," he said. "I don't know if I'd even try. I guess it depends on what you want to do."

Bench Uses Shirt To Cover Camera

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Johnny Bench wasn't in any mood for pictures whether they were rated GP, R, X or anything else.

So the 22-year-old Cincinnati catcher did something about it. He took off his shirt, placed it squarely over the lens of a portable TV camera and kept it there to the complete consternation of the cameraman.

The cameraman was 6-foot-4 and Bench is only 6-foot-1 but the TV man wasn't about to press the point, especially since he and his assistant had pushed themselves to the head of a line of newsmen waiting outside the beaten Reds' clubhouse.

"I'm only trying to do my job," the cameraman protested.

"Yeah, I know," Bench said, still keeping his shirt over the lens. "Why don't you go over to the other side and get your pictures? You'll get a lot more happy ones over there. We've just lost our third game, you know."

Inside the solemn Reds' quarters, Bench said he asked the TV man what he was doing outside the clubhouse but had received an answer he didn't consider satisfactory.

"I just couldn't see the educational value of film like that," said the Cincinnati catcher.

Bench twice was robbed of base hits in Tuesday's 9-3 victory by the Orioles, and both times it was Brooks Robinson, the incredible Baltimore third baseman who took hits away from him.

Robinson grabbed his hot liner with a man on in the first inning and then made an utterly fantastic catch on Bench again in the sixth when he left his feet, stretched his body parallel with the ground and snared the ball with his gloved hand.

"When Robinson came up in the bottom of the sixth, and the Reds were making a pitching change, Bench said to the Baltimore third baseman: "I'm gonna hit the next one over your head."

"Okay," laughed the always amiable Robinson.

Spurly Anderson, the Reds' manager, tried to sound some words of hope and encouragement in his private quarters but the effort came hard. Terribly hard.

"Something's gotta change," he said. "Things have happened so far that nobody would ever believe. I'm not taking a single thing away from them, but everything they do turns out right and everything we do turns out wrong. I just don't believe it can keep going on that way."

"One thing I feel now. If we beat 'em tomorrow with (Gary) Nolan, I feel we'll go all the way. I honestly feel that way."

Bowlers To Hold Meeting

The Twin Falls Women's Bowling Association announced Tuesday that there will be a general meeting of all Women's International Bowling Congress members Sunday the 27th at 7:30 p. m. in the Bowladrome. Every woman holding a WIBC card is requested to attend.

Members are reminded that the Idaho State Tournament will be held in Boise this year—deadline on entries is Dec. 1. The Twin Falls City Tournament will be held at the Magic Bowl over two weekends—Jan. 30-31 and Feb. 6 and 7. Entries for the city meet must be in by Jan. 16.

The local women's association reported that the Twin Falls WIBC membership was 1,030 for the year, an increase from the 1,001 of the 68-69 season.

Spokane to Show Fight

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI)—The Spokane City Council Tuesday afternoon voted 4-3 to revise an earlier decision and will allow the showing of the Muhammad Ali-Jerry Quarry fight in the city-owned Coliseum.

The bone of contention in the matter was the draft-evasion conviction of Ali—the former Cassius Clay.

The fight is scheduled for Oct. 26.

Packers Lose Dave Robinson

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—All-pro left side linebacker Dave Robinson will undergo surgery for a torn Achilles tendon and will be lost to the Green Bay Packers for the rest of the season, it was announced Tuesday.

Robinson, an eight-year veteran who has been having one of his best seasons, apparently suffered the injury in the open field in Monday night's 22-20 win at San Diego, according to Packer head coach Phil Bengtson.

"He apparently tried to change direction while covering on a pass play," Bengtson said. "It looked to me as though he kind of wrenched his ankle when he turned."

"It's a great loss to us. He's an outstanding ball player," Dr. Eugene Brusky, Packer physician, said Robinson would require a complete rest but that his chances of recovering full use of the ankle were excellent.

"There is no reason why Dave's ankle won't be as good as new by next season," Dr. Brusky said. "Naturally, the ankle will have to be casted and rehabilitation will be slow."

Robinson, twisted an ankle, Defensive Infielder Kevin Hardy hurt a knee, as did regular Quarterback Bart Starr, who had a brilliant night, has a sore shoulder.

Charles A. Lindbergh made the first non-stop Trans-Atlantic flight, New York to Paris, May 20, 1927.

Sayers Watches Workout

CHICAGO (UPI)—Halfback Gino Sayers of the Chicago Bears showed up at the team workout in sweat clothes Tuesday, but did not participate in the drills.

He stood on the sidelines, resting his injured left leg as much as possible, while the team went through its normal Tuesday drills in preparation for its game against San Diego Sunday.

Sayers was due to report to Dr. Theodore Fox, the Bears' orthopedic surgeon, later for a checkup, and Fox said he expected to decide Wednesday whether an operation would be necessary.

However, Fox said the decision on surgery could be deferred and that he might not determine his course until the end of the week.

Fox said he knew what the problem was with Sayers' knee, injured in Sunday's game with the Minnesota Vikings, but he did not want to "make his opinion public until further examinations."

Sayers, a two-time National Football League rushing champion who holds nine league records, played only briefly in two of the Bears' four games this season. He was injured in an exhibition game Aug. 29 and again in the season opener Sept. 20 in New York. However, the knee was not injured until last Sunday.

Sutter posted an 11:44 time, second only to an 11:40.7 by Highland's Dave Cleaves last fall.

Jerome wound up with 35 points, followed Wood River at 47, Mountain Home 50, Filer 105, Buhl 141. In the jayvee division, won by Kent Bartholomew of Jerome, the Tigers were first with 28 while Wood River had 34 and Mountain Home 62.

The top ten finishers in the varsity race were Sutter of Jerome, Rudy Wise of Mountain Home; Rick Ward, Wood River; Jeff Day, Mountain Home; Kevin Swiggart, Wood River; Jeff VanHooser, Jerome; Pat McIntyre, Jerome; Ron Draper, Jerome; Gib Wheeler, Mountain Home, and Ochsner of Filer.

Most of the teams will participate in the Twin Falls Invitational Friday afternoon at the Twin Falls Municipal golf course.

Johnson May Be Shelled Say Oilers

HOUSTON (UPI)—Quarterback Charley Johnson is a questionable starter for Sunday's game with the Pittsburgh Steelers, Houston Oilers coach, Wally Lemm said Tuesday. "He still has swelling in his knee and it's stiff," Lemm said. "If Charley doesn't come around so that he's handling himself, real well, I wouldn't take a chance of aggravating it and I would start Jerry Rhone."

He also said he might have to call quarterback Bob Naporic from the taxi squad as a reserve, Lemm said he would decide by Friday.

Johnson, the veteran acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals in the offseason, was injured when he was tackled by 6-7 linebacker Ted Hendricks in the fourth quarter against the Baltimore Colts Sunday.

Steelers Game With Jets Sellout

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Pittsburgh Steelers-New York Jets game at Three Rivers Stadium Nov. 8 has been sold out, the home club announced Tuesday.

It was the first advance sellout of a National Football League game at the new 50,000-seat stadium. The Steelers also announced the election of linebacker Andy Russell as team player representative, succeeding Roy Jefferson, who was traded to Baltimore. Defensive end Ben Mc Goe was made alternate player representative.

Cornerback John Tower, who suffered a dislocated shoulder in a goal-line collision with O. J. Simpson of the Buffalo Bills last Sunday, will be lost to the Steelers for at least six weeks, a team spokesman said. John Kolb, offensive tackle, pulled hamstring muscle in the Bills game and was regarded as doubtful for Sunday's game with the Oilers in the Houston Astrodome.

outfielder who sued baseball for $1-million.

John Quinn, the Phillies general manager, told Bob Short, owner of the Senators, he definitely was interested in the offer for the 32-year-old Flood, now operating a restaurant in Copenhagen, Denmark.

The Senators started everyone by obtaining Detroit pitcher Denny McLain in an eight-player swap last Thursday.

McLain, a 31-game winner in 1968, also was on the suspended list when the Senators opened negotiations for him, and Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn reinstated him before the deal was consummated.

McLain was suspended originally for being involved in gambling activities and was later set down again near the end of this season for carrying a gun.

Quinn and Kuhn met at World Series headquarters here following the third game between Baltimore and Cincinnati to pave the way for Flood's possible return to baseball.

Bob Short came to us and told us he'd like to have Flood," a Phillies spokesman said. "He told us we could have our choice of three players and John Quinn told him we are definitely interested."

The spokesman did not identify which players Washington offered, but UPI learned that they were Epstein, a left handed hitting first baseman the Yankees also are interested in obtaining; Reichert, whom the Angels once paid a $100,000 bonus and then traded to the Senators early last season; and Stroud, an outfielder.

The Phillies are known to be interested in Washington relief pitcher Darold Knowles.

Flood was traded by the St. Louis Cardinals to the Phillies a year ago along with catcher Tim McCarver and outfielder Byron Browne for Richie Allen, Cookie Rojas and Jerry Johnson.

The 32-year-old Flood, a longtime National League star, refused to report and sued baseball, claiming he didn't wish to be treated as a piece of cattle." Federal Court Judge Irving Ben Cooper ruled against Flood, but Flood's attorneys said they would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. That suit is pending now.

Bulls Coast Past Rockets

CHICAGO (UPI)—Bob Love dropped 28 points and Chet Walker 26 Tuesday night to lead the Chicago Bulls to an easy 111-96 win over the San Diego Rockets in the opening game of the National Basketball Association season for both teams.

The score was close only in the opening five minutes when San Diego four times held a one-point lead before the Bulls tallied 13 straight points for a 30-19 edge.

The Bulls boosted their margin to 20 points in the second period and had a halftime lead of 56-45 after a rally by the Rockets, but Walker netted 12 points in the third period to help the Bulls to an 88-63 edge after three periods and they coasted for the final 12 minutes.

has been in Copenhagen the past summer. The Phillies offered him a $300,000 contract last spring, which he rejected. Since that time, there have been reports that Flood is in debt.

Short originally talked to the Phillies about Flood last spring and then renewed his conversations with them last week right after obtaining McLain.

Williams Isn't Overjoyed With Trade That Got McLain.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Manager Ted Williams said Tuesday he wasn't wholly in favor of the controversial trade that brought pitcher Denny McLain to Washington and Senators owner Robert E. Short denied reports he got up to $200,000 in cash out of it.

In fact, Short said after seeking financial relief for his club from a Congressional subcommittee, he'll be the one that has to kick in some cash because of the trade.

He explained that part of the eight-player deal called for him to pick up McLain's debts to the Detroit team. He did not say how much this would cost.

Although he said Williams disagreed with the trade, Short told the subcommittee hearing, "I traded for a man who can help—and he will."

Short told the lawmakers, "I can't even get my partner to agree." Williams got 10 per cent of the Senators when Short lured him to Washington last year to manage the team. Williams himself told the subcommittee, "I think Mr. Short was so intrigued with getting a pitcher with the stature of McLain, he gave up maybe more than he should."

American League president Joe Cronin, however, said Short got a "good deal" in the McLain trade, calling the two-time Cy Young award winner "one of the outstanding players in baseball." Short, Cronin said, showed "extreme wisdom" in the transaction.

After the hearing, Short said he had been trying to get

McLain for two years and actively sought him for the past year.

Williams said he didn't expect "a bit" of trouble from McLain, who was suspended from active playing two times by commissioner Bowie Kuhn on gambling charges and carrying a gun on an airplane team trip. The Detroit club suspended him once for dumping water on the heads of reporters.

"I hope that I'm not going to have any problems with anyone," Williams said. "I wasn't 100 per cent for it (the trade) at all. I'm really disappointed to have two of our infielders leave the club."

But Williams said he hoped to see a winning performance from McLain.

Blue Flame Nears Mark On 553 MPH

BONNEVILLE SALT FLAT, Utah (UPI)—The blue flame rocket car hit 553.418 mph Tuesday in its quest to smash the world land speed record of 600.601 mph.

Driver Gary Gabelich said the blistering run was "lucky."

Mitchell Midwest Standout

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—Iowa's speedster tailback Levi Mitchell usually doesn't look back when he breaks into the open. Last Saturday, it was one of the few mistakes he made, and it cost him a possible touchdown.

"The players teased me about looking back," said Mitchell of his 56-yard trip around right end that set up Iowa's clinching field goal in a 24-14 Big Ten victory over Wisconsin.

"Looking at the game films there was no way in the world that guy would have caught me," Mitchell said. But the excitement and a tendency to look back over his shoulder, he said, caused Mitchell to slow up.

"I don't think it's going to happen again," he said. Despite the mistake, Mitchell had his finest day as a Hawkeye, galloping for 146 yards in 27 carries, both career highs for the Gary, Ind., junior, and one touchdown.

For his performance in pacing Iowa to its first victory in four games this season, the 21-year-old Mitchell was named Tuesday as United Press International's Midwest Back of the Week.

"To tell you the truth," Mitchell said, "I think I played one of my better games." But Mitchell said his performance was an overall team effort. "The line threw some big blocks my way and I wouldn't have done that good if it weren't for them."

Mitchell is having his best season for Iowa.

The world land speed record was set here in 1965. The natural gas industry rocket car has been bidding for the world record here near the Utah-Nevada state line since September 13.

Project Manager Dean Dietrich said the car was loaded to capacity with liquefied natural gas and its companion fuel, hydrogen peroxide. Dietrich indicated runs would resume early Wednesday and that technicians would attempt to make the fuel mixture "leaner."

"We've got to lean her down and let her run longer," Dietrich said.

"Now we're running out too fast."

"You've got to give me some more horsepower," Gabelich said.

Workers spent part of the day fixing a special bumper to a vehicle belonging to Dana Fuller of San Francisco. Dietrich and officials for Reaction Dynamics, Inc., chief builders of the Flame, are considering having Fuller push the pencil-shaped rocket car down the salt at about 100 mph. Fuller would then pull alongside the Flame where Gabelich could see him and the 30-year-old driver would ignite his racer at about 80 mph.

A great deal of power is expended by rockets in getting them under way, Dietrich said, and this could possibly give the flame more push through the crucial timed mile.

Fresh-Soph Games Set

Stuart freshmen and the sophomores will be the only two Twin Falls grid teams performing at Bruin Stadium this week.

Stuart will entertain Burley's frosh at 7 p. m. Wednesday while the sophomores will be home to the Highland sops at 7 p. m. Thursday. The varsity travels to the Minidome to play Pocatello Friday night.

Browns' Running Improved

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The Cleveland Browns' running game will be the best it's been all season when Coach Blanton Collier's men take on the Detroit Lions here Sunday—at least that is the prediction of offensive guard John Demarie.

Demarie is optimistic about the Browns' running attack—to say the least.

"Our running game came around against Cincinnati to where it had been four weeks ago," Demarie said. He gave the credit to a "team effort."

"The offensive linemen got together before the game and made a personal vow that we would make it go," the husky lineman said.

Demarie admitted, however, that pass protection for Bill Nelsen was not quite up to par.

"We didn't do the job that we know we can do," he said. "We let them get to Bill."

Demarie gave a lot of credit to Nelsen too, for both his split and his quarterbacking.

Talking about the Bengal rush on Nelsen, Demarie said Nelsen "had to get up on his guts."

"It wasn't his knees, I'll tell you that."

Los Angeles Signs Long For Reserves

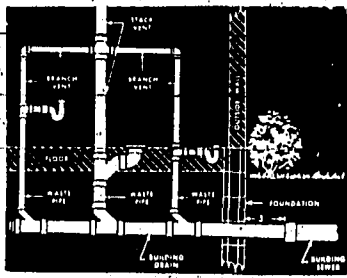

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Veteran wide receiver Bob Long, who formerly played with the Green Bay Packers and the Atlanta Falcons, was signed Tuesday by the Los Angeles Rams for the reserve squad.

The 6-foot-3 Long, was with Atlanta for half a season in 1968 and was their leading receiver before he was sidelined by an auto accident.

He was traded to the Washington Redskins last year and caught 48 passes for 533 yards. Ram coach George Allen said there was a possibility Long may be activated for Sunday's game against Green Bay.

Tips Aired for Obscene Calls

By SANDI GOULD COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The problem is so widespread that law enforcement officials and telephone companies try to eradicate it with advice and new equipment. It's the obscene telephone call, the harassing ring that makes peace of mind impossible.

Mrs. Bray lists things women can do when they receive the obscene and harassing call. "About 98 per cent of the time after a woman does one or two of the tricks on a persistent caller, he will quit," she said.

Baltimore's Great For Heart Attack

By PATRICIA McCORMACK NEW YORK (UPI) — "If I were going to have a heart attack, I'd want to have it in Baltimore," says Ann Cutler. The reason: That city's policemen and firemen have been schooled the best in modern resuscitative techniques—mouth-to-mouth breathing and external heart massage through rhythmic pressure on breastbone.

Medical authorities agree that there is a vital interval of approximately four minutes between the stoppage of the heart and the actual death of the brain. Four minutes in which that resuscitation can mean the difference between restored life and irreversible death.
