TEN CENTS

Politicians confer . . .

MRS. RUBY SAMUELSON listens as Cong. Orval Hansen, Gov. Don Samuelson and James H. Roper, from left, confer at a dinner sponsored by Cassia County Republican Central Committee at Burley Monday night. Roper was master of ceremonies.

'Clean' Samuelson to be fair

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Editor

BURLEY — Governor Don Samuelson said here Monday night he would not "throw any mud" in his bid to succeed himself in the office he now holds.

In an interview prior to a dinner in his honor at the Ponderosa Inn the governor said he would not be drawn into a pointless exchange of words just for the sake of publicity.

"I'm not that kind of politician," he said. "Unlike some who are in politics I do not choose to pick out minor occurrences and blow them up into supposedly major items. This seems to come naturally to some candidates. It does not come naturally with me."

He declared he had been governor of Idaho for four years and "I'm standing for re-election on my record."

"It's there for everyone to see. I'm not trying to hide anything and with the record available to the general public I couldn't hide it even if I wanted to."

"People know where I stand at all times and on all issues. I do not promise things I cannot deliver. I do not promise everything to all people as my opponent has been doing."
"Mine is an honest campaign and it will continue to be that way. The records of my office are an open book."

"I have been honest with the citizens of this great state. I feel they will realize this and will not be fooled by slanted charges against me. I am confident of victory on November 3," the governor said.

The dinner was sponsored by the Cassia County Republican Central Committee.

'Muddy' But Robson hits 'lies'

BURLEY — Robert M. Robson, Idaho's attorney general, classed Cecil Andrus as a "ruthless man" who has been the instigator of a "lie campaign" in his quest to succeed Gov. Don Samuelson in the state's chief executive post.

Robson, speaking before 300 attending a dinner in honor of the governor Monday night at the Ponderosa Inn said that "he was tired of the garbage that was being heaped upon Don Samuelson." The dinner was sponsored by the Cassia County Republican Central Committee.

In addition to the attorney general, other speakers included Gov. Samuelson and Cong. Orval Hansen.

Robson charged that Samuelson is getting the blame for many things over which he has no control.

"Actually," Robson said, "he is a giant in honesty and integrity who puts principal above popularity. We feel, we know, that he has the support of the people in this campaign."

He said that Samuelson was the "prime mover" in cleaning up the pententary "mess" and that he was also involved in many other projects which have been of benefit to the state.

"His opponent is engaging in a campaign of lies. He is promising everything he can and scores of things he actually knows that he cannot deliver. He knows this to be the truth as well as I do."

"If you really like this man then support him," the state official who also is running to succeed himself said, support him because he is the single most important man on the ticket. You cannot believe the untruths being circulated in this state by Saint Cecil of the Tarnished Halo."

Foes arm along Suez warfront

CAIRO (UPI) — The semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram said today there has been a "redoubling of military efforts" on both sides of the Suez Canal as the end of the Arab-Israeli cease-fire approaches.

The newspaper, echoing Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad's speech to the United Nations Monday, also warned against continued U.S. support of Israel. "The American stance carries in its folds the most explosive possibilities. It might lead to complications with consequences going beyond the Middle East area."

It noted reports that both Israel and Egypt are building forces in the standstill zone along the Suez Canal. "The situation on both sides of the Suez Canal front seems very serious with the redoubling of military efforts as the cease-fire expiry date approaches." It did not elaborate.

The 90-day cease-fire arranged through American diplomatic efforts expires Nov. 5. There are hopes for an extension.

Egyptian officials shrugged off remarks Monday by Israel's intelligence chief, Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv, about Egypt massing missile batteries in the Suez Canal standstill zone.

"It's the barking of a dog while the caravan marches on," said one official. Officials described Yariv's statement as "part of the desperate campaign to take the steam out of the U.N. General Assembly debate on the Middle East crisis" which opened Monday.

President Anwar Sadat said Egypt will not concede any territory to Israel as part of a peace settlement. Sadat, in an interview with the British Broadcasting Corp., said "no one will capitulate in this country. No one will surrender one inch or a bit of sand of our land."

Al-Ahram also said the cabinet was "making a broad review of prices of some essential commodities." The study apparently is aimed at cutting down prices of some commodities to improve the lives of Egyptians.

Israel warns nations

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban warned Monday the U.N. General Assembly may hinder peace negotiations if it passes a more forceful resolution on the Middle East.

Eban told a news conference the ambiguity of the Nov. 22, 1967, Security Council resolution — the U.N.'s latest word on the touchy situation — makes it a better vehicle for getting peace talks with the Arabs started again than any more specific resolution that might be passed.

The U.N. General Assembly is debating the Middle East question at Egypt's request, with Turkey scheduled to lead off today's speakers on the question.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad opened the debate Monday with a demand that Israel withdraw from all Arab territory seized during the 1967 war. He also accused the United States of risking war by continuing military aid to Israel.

Speaking after Riad's speech, Eban said "the General Assembly should be on guard against the destruction of the delicate balance" of consensus that led to adoption of the 1967 resolution as the basis for negotiations in the Middle East.

The resolution called for Israel to withdraw "from territories of recent conflict." The Arabs interpret this as "all territories" and the Israelis interpret it as "some territories."

Eban called Riad's speech "a very violent and dishonorable tirade." He also accused Egypt and the Soviet Union of putting obstacles in the way of peace talks by moving missiles into the standstill cease-fire zone along the Suez Canal.

Israel was not the only country with misgivings about the U.N. debate. The United States and Britain have indicated a reluctance to hold a public debate in which both sides might engage in recriminations that would freeze them into inflexible positions.

"We approach this week's debate without enthusiasm but watchful for opportunities for progress," a British spokesman said.

Nixon signs drug act

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today signed one of the key measures in his anticrime package — a bill providing for a comprehensive attack on the nation's growing narcotics problem.

The Democratic-controlled Congress, anxious to avoid being labeled "soft on crime" during the current election campaign, passed the drug bill and other Nixon crime proposals by overwhelming majorities just before recessing Oct. 14.

But some congressmen voted for the bills reluctantly, complaining most of them contained provisions that are repressive and possibly unconstitutional.

The new drug law lowers all federal first offense cases for narcotics users from felonies to misdemeanors. Under this provision someone found guilty of possessing marijuana for the first time in a federal case would not necessarily be subject to an automatic stiff jail sentence.

The law aims the attack at the drug pusher, giving federal authorities more power to crack down on pushers. It also expands programs for rehabilitating addicts.

The most controversial provision of the law is a so-called "no-knock" clause that permits narcotics agents with warrants to smash down doors and enter private premises if they feel there is danger of evidence being destroyed or risk to their lives. Although this provision is found in some state laws, and in the recently enacted District of Columbia crime law, some congressmen think it is unconstitutional.

Another controversial provision, identical with one contained in Nixon's recently enacted organized crime law, allows judges to impose additional sentences up to 25 years on drug pushers convicted of a third felony. The added sentence may be imposed on the basis of evidence the defendant is not to be permitted to contest, and if the government is not satisfied with the sentence it may appeal and ask the sentence be increased.

Water resources board silent on constitution

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Water Resources Board will not take a stand on the proposed Idaho Constitution Revision, according to Dr. Robert Lee, director of the board.

Dr. Lee told the Times-News Monday since the board will not be officially meeting until Nov. 6, three days after the general election, the board will not issue a statement on the proposed revision.

When asked if Idaho's water would be affected by the proposed revision, Dr. Lee said he did not know.

He said attorneys disagree on the proposed revision, some saying Idaho's water future will be affected and some saying not.

Dr. Lee said, "If the attorneys can't agree, then I don't know either."

Douglas Kramer, Twin Falls attorney and a member of the Constitution Revision Commission, said, "We did nothing more than incorporate in the revised constitution what the Supreme Court had already determined."

He said the court declared many years ago public use was a beneficial use.

Another area of concern, Kramer said, was that there has been no strong argument against the southwest from taking our water if the only thing we can use water for is agriculture.

Kramer added that agriculture still maintains its priority in the new constitution proposal.

State Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, disagreed. He said today he opposes the proposed revision because it could permit anyone to appropriate natural surface or subsurface water for "public use."

Peavey urged voters to study and consider the constitution before voting approval.

for consumptive use in the state," the state senator warned.

"It can be reasoned further the courts might decide the public use is higher than agriculture or any other beneficial use and by the right of eminent domain could condemn existing water rights and allow for the purchase of these in the name of the public," he said.

He said he is concerned with Article 15, Section 8, which deals with water rights.

He said presently anyone may file on unappropriated water if he can put it to "beneficial use."

The new draft would permit appropriation for "beneficial or public" use.

"Let us examine the change brought about by the addition of the words 'or public'. It is quite possible an organization in the name of the public could file on all the remaining unappropriated water in the state. They may not be required to show beneficial use and could leave the water in the stream channels, Peavey claimed.

"This could effectively block any further water appropriation

Explosion rips abandoned mine

HAILEY — A mysterious explosion ripped through the abandoned Liberty Gem Mine west of here, demolishing the frame structure at the entrance of a tunnel.

Blaine County Sheriff Orville Drexler said today investigation showed the blast was apparently deliberately touched off by a person whose footprints were seen leading to and from the blast site.

The blast occurred Sunday night, but was not reported until Monday, he said, when employees discovered a downed power line, which had been knocked out by the explosion. No one was injured in the blast.

seven miles west of Hailey near Rotarun, is owned by Guy Matthews, Boise. It has not been operated for about a year, according to Paul Bovey, Jerome, mine foreman.

Bovey said Tuesday all explosives at the mine were destroyed when the operation closed.

He said the tunnel where the explosion reportedly occurred and across a gully from the main buildings at the site.

Tony Vitale, assistant foreman, was at the site Monday about 10:30 a.m. Bovey said, looking over a compressor while deer hunting and did not see anything amiss.

The tunnel was not used as storage for powder, Bovey said.

Pollution linked to liver ails

HOUSTON (UPI) — Air pollution was named as a probable cause for cirrhosis of the liver Monday by Dr. Warren Winkelstein Jr. of the University of California School of Public Health at Berkeley.

Winkelstein said at a session of the American Public Health Association's (APHA) 68th annual meeting he has found a "strong" relationship between dirty air and the liver ailment usually associated with heavy drinking.

"The association between air pollution and cirrhosis of the liver was strongest in the lowest economic groupings," Winkelstein said.

He based his findings on a three-year study in the Buffalo, N.Y., area.

Intervene

FTC gives consumers role in false advertising case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission has taken what may be a significant step toward letting consumer groups participate more actively in the enforcement work of federal regulatory agencies.

In what it called a delicate experiment, the FTC Monday granted a group of law students permission to intervene in a case accusing Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. of false and deceptive advertising about the pricing and safety of its tires.

The commission's general counsel, Joseph Martin Jr., told reporters it was the first time a consumer's group has been admitted as a party in any contested proceedings before the ifte.

John F. Banzhaf III, associate professor of law at George Washington University and adviser to Students Opposed to Unfair Practices, (SOUP), said "It's a great day for the American consumer. For the first time the consumer is being allowed to talk to the agency that is supposed to be protecting him."

The FTC, the commission dealing most directly with consumer matters, was cautious in its language, however.

"In allowing intervention on the present case, we are beginning a delicate experiment, one requiring caution and close observation," the FTC said in its order. "Nothing in his opinion should be construed as a permanent or irreversible policy decision; we have many apprehensions concern-

Car strike talks now 'critical'

DETROIT (UPI) — Negotiations between General Motors and the striking United Auto Workers have reached the "critical" phase, according to chief GM bargainer Earl Bramblett.

Unless "a lot of progress" is made at the bargaining table within the next two weeks, resumption of auto production at GM will be held up until at least December, Bramblett said.

"We want a settlement — as quickly as it is possible to get it," Bramblett told newsmen after Monday's negotiating session. He labeled as "utter nonsense" a UAW allegation that the company was delaying a settlement of the 6-week-old walkout by dragging its heels in the bargaining.

"We are concerned about the impact on our employees and the national economy and we are losing $90 million a day in sales," the GM vice president said.

Watch it . . . "GATOR-BACK" ride by four terrapins at West Palm Beach, Fla., is surely a ticklish business — both for the gator and the delicacies riding on his back. (UPI) Bramblett's statements followed a call by UAW President Leonard Woodcock for more negotiating on both the national and local levels. Woodcock said the speedup could determine whether the strike, which has idled about 400,000 workers, would end in mid-November or stretch into the new year.

The UAW still has enough in its strike fund — $72.9 million — to continue paying out $14 million in strike benefits through November. The strike fund, which totaled $120 million when the walkout began Sept. 14, would have run out in less than two weeks had GM not agreed to pay health and life insurance premiums for the strikers.

IEA backs teacher

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Education Association offered its support Monday to a Nampa elementary school teacher embroiled in "vicious and unwarranted attacks on his teaching, his character and even his loyalty to his country."

Wayne York, IEA executive secretary, made the announcement at the same time he said the IEA had voted to lift its sanctions against the Boise School Board of Trustees.

He said much remained to be done regarding the teacher-board relations in Boise, but said he was encouraged by recent developments. He said the IEA did not intend to "heighten or aggravate the schism of the past year, but instead our state association wishes to help lower voices, reduce the shouting-and-help-build-bridges-of-dialogue and discussion so on long last the teachers of the capital city may enjoy greater security and increased involvement in the education process."

Accusations exchanged

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's director of administrative services and the state auditor each asked the other Monday why he failed to follow proper state procedures in handling of travel claims.

Auditor Joe R. Williams opened the latest exchange of barbs when the two officials when he answered a letter last Friday from Director Edward Sawyer of administrative services.

Sawyer reimbursed the state for two "political" trips for which he was paid and then asked the auditor why he paid those but questioned a third last week. He suggested the auditor was not fulfilling his pre-audit responsibilities.

Williams countered Monday with a letter saying he found it "incredible for you to claim ignorance about the state travel regulations."

He then pointed out the regulations now in effect were drawn up by Sawyer's department.

Williams said Sawyer is a retired Army major general.

In the afternoon Sawyer pointed to three sections of the Idaho code governing such matters and asked why the auditor did not follow them.

Sawyer cited in particular section 67-2013, which governs filing, examination and correction of claims.

Manson claimed Christ

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A tall, gangling runaway from his home in Texas was 19 when he met Charles Manson. He thought that very first day the hippie leader was Jesus Christ.

Bruce Poston, now 21, testified at the Tate murder trial Monday that Manson later told the whole "family" he was Christ—and had died for them on the cross.

Poston lived with Manson and his young men and women from June, 1968, to late 1969. The prosecution called him to testify about the hold Manson had on his followers.

Deputy District Attorney Vincent Bugliosi revealed the state would wind up presentation of its case in about a week. The defense case is expected to last at least a month with Manson probably taking the stand near the end.

Manson was in the courtroom, Monday, clean shaven, his hair trimmed and tied in a pony tail. He behaved calmly, as did the three female codefendants, Leslie Van Houten, Patricia Krenwinkel and Susan Atkins.

Workers to keep striking

BOISE (UPI) — A business agent for Retail Store Employees Union Local 1014 said late Monday an "overwhelming majority" of some 400 members attending a meeting decided to continue the strike against 30 southern Idaho food stores.

Jim Kerns, Boise, said the stand-up vote was taken during a meeting at the Adn Theater, and said while he had no exact totals "you could count the people that didn't stand up on your fingers and your toes."

Some 625 union members are continuing the strike that began Oct. 17 after members rejected the last offer made by food store management.

A lengthy resolution approved at the meeting resolved that "from this date forward" union members will "refuse to listen to and circulate rumors from all sources and be it further resolved that all members accept the responsibility to do their assigned tour of picket duty and be it further resolved that all members refuse to sign any petitions circulated by the advocates of surrender who do not heretofore heed the adoption of this resolution and continue to attempt to help their employer break the strike."

Turnout at fair affirms 'Year of voter'

By LORAYNESMITH
Times-News Staff Writer
TWIN FALLS — It's the year of the voter.

The banner on the stage at Robert Stuart Junior High school proclaimed it, and the crowd of about 200 at the candidates fair sponsored by the League of Women Voters Monday night affirmed it.

The voter could find out — and walk away with — a great deal of information about the 37 candidates on the ballot next Tuesday, most of whom attended. Candidates unable to attend either had others represent them or sent statements.

Amid a country fair setting of booths for each candidate, the aspiring state and county officials, their aides and wives "paddled their wares" including such useful items as combs, matches and even copies of the Idaho Blue Book, as well as candidate leaflets and cards.

The informal atmosphere was interspersed with a one and one-half hour broadcast during which time all candidates spoke briefly on given questions.

It was here the value of such a voters service non-partisan project becomes apparent to the voter, for he can see, hear and compare opposing candidates. Not only ideas, but looks, speech delivery and style of each candidate become obvious.

Among the random ideas presented — Joel Anderson, Pocatello, American Party, is opposed to a national park and the proposed revised state constitution, according to Wayne Kinney, Twin Falls . . . blonde Marianne Condon, ISU instructor lately declared congressional candidate on an anti-war platform, has about $50 in her own war chest.

Gubernatorial candidate Cecil Andrus, according to Vernon Ravenscroft, would put more emphasis on education in general and environmental problems in particular . . . Morris Carlson, deposed Gov. Don Samuelson wants to keep young people in Idaho and to have continued study of water quality.

Politics and sound accounting principles don't mix, said Jack Holley, GOP contender for auditor . . . if you'd rather see more schools and highways instead of branch banks vote for Wallace Connolly for state treasurer.

Anthony Park, Demo attorney general candidate, thinks we've had all the court reform we can handle for awhile, according to Lloyd Walker, Twin Falls . . . A. Lane Blanchard, American party candidate for superintendent of public instruction, would have schools teach "nothing but Americanism."

Jack Clough, Democrat hopeful for state representative in District 24, is against the high cost of state government and believes Idaho operates "with a California staff," while Ray Lincoln, incumbent state representative who gave the shortest speech of the evening, said his concern "is the ability of the legislature to balance the demand for governmental services with the willingness and ability of the people to pay for these services."

Hud Larsen, former county commissioner, seeking the post on the Democratic ticket, said there "never will be enough money for those on welfare to have a luxurious diet, but if the program is well administered, no one will starve," while Heber Loughmiller, incumbent GOP commissioner, said 651 families in Twin Falls County are buying more milk, meat and vegetables because of federal food stamps.

Herman Jewell, who wants to be coroner, ended the program with a humorous note by stating the responsibilities of the coroner's office are very grave.

Interest conflict ban promised by Demo Park

By United Press International

The Democratic candidate for attorney general called Monday for "conflict of interest legislation" to remove even the "appearance of wrong doing."

Tony Park, Boise, told a hometown news conference there were two instances of former GOP legislators dealing with the state. He said in each case the conduct of the persons involved has been legal, but said "only the propriety of their acts can be questioned."

If elected, he said, he would prepare and submit such legislation to the legislature and noted presently there is no conflict of interest legislation on the books.

In Idaho Falls, Marden Wells, Democratic candidate for Second District congressman, said his opponent, incumbent Rep. Orval Hansen, had conceded on a radio program a national park is not necessary to protect the primitive area.

Wells tagged the statement as a "major victory in our efforts to prevent further federal encroachment upon the rights of Idaho citizens" and said the proposed national park for the Sawtooth area would all the "eastern establishment" to control the concessions and accommodations required.

State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon told a Caldwell political audience she had not received an answer from Gov. Don Samuelson concerning the possible decrease of school endowment fund principal as a result of Idaho's Investment Board taking a loss by cashing endowment fund bonds in before maturity in 1969.

for drunk driving and new education programs for the driving public, adding, "We've got to have programs that will motivate people to drive carefully, and we've got to have programs that will convince people just how dangerous it is to drive under the influence of alcohol."

Rep. James McClure, campaigning in Eagle, said curbing of inflation depends almost entirely on the kind of men elected to Congress this fall.

He said while no one expects or wants a "rubberstamp Congress," he said a Congress is needed that will cooperate with President Nixon's anti-inflation program.

Another candidate, A. Lane Blanchard, American Party candidate for superintendent of public instruction, held a news conference and while he described kindergartens as a "frill area of education" said he would approve of them — providing the people wanted them, the taxpayers could afford them, and they were operated on a voluntary basis.

He also said he felt too much money is spent on vocational training at the college level and recommended beefing up such programs at the junior and senior high school levels.

"I thought it only proper that he should answer as to whether there has been a violation of the constitutional provision requiring that school endowment money must "forever remain inviolate and intact."

Cecil Andrus, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, appeared in Nampa and called for development of "intensive and effective" new state programs to end Idaho's rising traffic fatality toll.

He suggested stiff penalties

for drunk driving and new education programs for the driving public, adding, "We've got to have programs that will motivate people to drive carefully, and we've got to have programs that will convince people just how dangerous it is to drive under the influence of alcohol."

Rep. James McClure, campaigning in Eagle, said curbing of inflation depends almost entirely on the kind of men elected to Congress this fall.

He said while no one expects or wants a "rubberstamp Congress," he said a Congress is needed that will cooperate with President Nixon's anti-inflation program.

Robson declares riot training to continue

TWIN FALLS — Attorney general Robert Robson, campaigning for re-election in the Magic Valley area, said today he has been criticized for his bringing the Idaho National Guard into riot control training programs, but said he intends to continue this system.

"To say it hasn't happened here is not to say it can't happen here," the attorney general said of college campus disturbances.

In an interview in Twin Falls while in the area for an address in Burley, Robson said nothing had been done to prepare for any such disturbances until he began his training program for guardsmen, college administrators and others.

"At least they are now talking together about it instead of ignoring the possibilities," the attorney general said.

Robson explained his proposal is to train the state's military forces which would be called into action in case of a genuine emergency, to the proper kind of response. They must be "trained down" to the proper kind of response, he said.

Speaking on pollution problems in the local area, Robson said these are being blamed on the governor but he is not at fault.

"In the 22 months I have been attorney general, the department of health has asked for only one pollution case — that against Amalgamated Sugar Co. in Twin Falls," he said.

"We cannot bring action on our own but must wait for the health department authorities to request such action," he added.

Robson said there is no attempt being made to delay the Amalgamated case until after election as far as he knows, adding a motion for dismissal brought by Amalgamated will be argued in Twin Falls yet this week.

VanEngelen promoted

BURLEY — Dean VanEngelen, former resident, has been appointed as division manager of purchasing distribution for the Litton Dental Division, announces Burton C. Borgell, president.

VanEngelen will work with the firm's branches in the dental supply field across the nation, in areas of vendor relations, purchasing and inventory control. He will be responsible for the further implementation and operation of Litton Dental's central distribution system.

A native of Burley, VanEngelen is a graduate of Washington University, St. Louis, where he obtained a BS degree in 1951. He and his wife and three children have moved from St. Louis to Toledo.

He suggested stiff penalties for drunk driving and new education programs for the driving public, adding, "We've got to have programs that will motivate people to drive carefully, and we've got to have programs that will convince people just how dangerous it is to drive under the influence of alcohol."

Rep. James McClure, campaigning in Eagle, said curbing of inflation depends almost entirely on the kind of men elected to Congress this fall.

The Russian Computer Deal

WASHINGTON — The Russians unsuccessful in their efforts to obtain sophisticated computers in the United States, have turned to Britain in their continuing quest.

reports of new British-American friction with respect to sale of computers to Russia. The friction arises in the strategic materials coordinating committee — Co-Com — of the North-Atlantic-Treaty Organization (NATO).

Awfully Quiet

All seems to be relatively quiet on Idaho's political front. In the Magic Valley and across the other portions of the state there is a ripple now and then as someone throws a stone into the quiet waters but for the most part there is little else.

Apparently the voters are not reaching the peak the candidates expect them to reach. The activity is all among the candidates. There is one exception. The proposed new Constitution is getting a lot of mileage pro and con.

The Jet Set

One of the arguments used by opponents of government financing of the supersonic transport is that it amounts to a subsidy for the "jet set."

Jet flight, any kind of airplane flight, once was almost the exclusive privilege of the rich. But no longer. It is a common mode of travel for all, in America or overseas.

GAINESVILLE, Fla. — State Sen. Lawton Chiles stood on a blazing hot corner in the center of this university town holding up a large placard that contained the single word "THANKS" — thanks to the voters for his upset win in the Senate Democratic primary.

Republican, Chiles has immunized himself from that fatal political disease of Southern moderate Democrats — the tie-in to Washington, to big money from Big Labor and to celebrity Democrats. He has said no to every offer of help from prominent, out-of-state Democrats.

The Search

WASHINGTON — There has been some speculation as to why President Nixon has put his prestige on the line by taking to the campaign trail the last few weeks of an off-year election.

"That's very interesting," I said. "But what has that got to do with President Nixon's campaigning?"

For those people who think Idaho's economy just isn't what it is supposed to be, we would hasten to point out that compared to some other Western states it is real good.

Here in Idaho our economy is based on small industry and on the prosperity of the farmer. True, we don't get too rich but then we don't miss many meals, either.

BERRY'S WORLD

"You could be out doing something destructive!"

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: A young mother complained that her mother-in-law always introduced her and her children, who were still toddlers, as "my daughter in law and her two adopted children." The young mother was resentful and you agreed that she had a right to be. I think you are both wrong. It is never too soon to let children know that they are adopted. They should hear the word "adopted" long before they even know what the word means so they'll grow up knowing that they are adopted.

I still remember when I was 8, running home from school, crying because someone told me I was adopted. I begged my mother to tell me it wasn't true. She assured me it wasn't! When I was 12, I heard that story again, and again I asked my mother if it was true. Again she swore it wasn't. Not until I was 21 and about to be married did my mother tell me the truth, and even then it was a terrible shock.

Please retract your statement, Abby. That mother in law was wise to have introduced the children as "adopted."

DEAR MRS. L.: I agree, it is never too soon to tell children they are adopted, but I think the parents should tell them, and having once been told, unless it is said with obvious pride, it's not necessary to include the word "adopted" in every introduction. From the young mother's letter, I assumed that "pride" was lacking. She could have been mistaken. And so could I. Thank you for making a valid point.

DEAR ABBY: I am not even sure how to word this, but I will do my best. There are six couples of us who go around together. We are all in our middle thirties, and we all like to dance. There is no hanky panky in our crowd—we're all satisfied with our own husbands and we don't fool around.

There is one man in our group, who is really a nice person but when he dances, he holds his partner extremely tight and close. It's not only the tightness and closeness, but he gets so intimate when he dances—it's downright indecent. I just hate to dance with him. I keep pulling away and struggling the whole time.

At first I thought he danced that way only with me, but I noticed another girl having the same trouble with him. Finally, a few of us started talking and it turns out he dances that way with all of us. Abby, is it possible that he isn't aware of what he is doing? His wife is a lovely person, and I'm sure she doesn't know the way he dances with us. Can this problem be solved without hurting his feelings?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Why all the pussyfooting around? It's a pretty safe bet that this man is aware of what he is doing. When he asks you to dance, tell him no—you don't care for his style of dancing. He'll get the message. And don't worry about hurting his "feelings." I have an idea he can look after himself.

DEAR ABBY: I have never written a letter to you before but I think the following might interest you and some of your readers:

Yesterday was an old man's birthday. He was 91. He awakened earlier than usual, bathed, shaved and put on his best clothes. Surely they would come today, he thought.

He wouldn't take his daily walk to the gas station to visit with the old-timers of the community because he wanted to be right here when they came.

He sat on the front porch with a clear view of the road so he could see them coming. Surely they would come today.

He'd skip his noon nap that day, because he wanted to be up when they came.

He has six children. Two of his daughters and their married children live within a few miles. They hadn't been to see him for such a long time, and today was his birthday. Surely they would come.

At supper time, when a small cake and ice cream was served, he wondered if perhaps he shouldn't wait and have dessert with "them" when they came.

Night time came, and he went to his room and got ready for bed, and his last words before turning out his lights were, "Promise to wake me when they come." It was his birthday and he was 91.

Swedish physicist wins Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The Swedish Academy of Sciences today awarded a Frenchman and a Swede the 1970 Nobel Prize for physics.

The $78,400 award went to Prof. Louis Eugene Neel, 65, of France and Prof. Hannes Alfvén, 62, of Sweden.

The Nobel Prize for Chemistry, the last of the Nobel Awards to be made this year, will be announced later today.

Alfvén, born in Uppsala, Sweden, currently is teaching at the University of California in San Diego. He also is a professor of theoretical physics at the Stockholm University of Technology.

He won for "fundamental work and discoveries in magnetohydrodynamics with fruitful applications in different parts of plasma physics."

Neel, a professor at the University of Grenoble, France, was cited for "fundamental work and discoveries concerning antiferromagnetism and ferromagnetism which have led to important applications in solid state physics," the academy announcement said.

Both men have published numerous technical works.

LDS repeat position against endorsements

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — First Presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) issued a statement Monday reiterating its policy of not officially backing political candidates.

The statement apparently was in response to questions raised in Idaho over a filmed endorsement of Gov. Don Samuelson. The televised commercial focuses momentarily on a picture of the late church President David O. McKay.

McKay's portrait is shown at the end of a televised endorsement of the Republican govern-

An LDS spokesman issued the following statement from church leaders:

"We reiterate the advice given by leaders of the church from time to time that it is the duty of every citizen to exercise the voting franchise in accordance with his or her convictions. We have not in the past, nor do we now seek to bring coercion or compulsion upon the membership of the church as to their political actions.

"On the contrary, we have urged and do now urge that all citizens, men and women, vote according to their honest convictions. The voter should study and make up his mind as to what he wishes his government to be, and then, if he is so minded, vote for the one he believes will most nearly carry out his ideas about government and its free institutions.

"The General Authorities of the church as such do not favor one political party over another; the church has no candidate or candidates for political office; we do not undertake to tell people how to vote. We do, however, most earnestly urge every citizen of our beloved country to exercise their God-given franchise to make their wishes known at the election polls.

"On any issue presented for vote where there are differences of opinion, we encourage all to study both sides of the question thoroughly and then vote according to their own best judgment."

Outgoing solons ask legislative pay hike

BOISE (UPI) — Two Idaho legislators—neither of whom is running for re-election—said a "no" vote on the initiative legislative pay proposal is required if there is to be an effective and representative legislature.

Rep. Alvin Joslyn, D-Glenns Ferry House minority caucus chairman, and Sen. Robert Rowett, R-Mountain—Home, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said the strength of the legislature is in its representative nature.

They said lawmakers must receive compensation adequate to cover the costs of temporarily maintaining two homes during sessions required for living, traveling, calling and corresponding—both during and between sessions, to keep in contact with constituents, other legisla-ors and various state officials and legislative committees.

The statement said if legislators don't receive such compensation "only the rich or those with special interests are going to be able to serve in the legislature."

Rowett, a lawyer, said he felt that even now there are too few lawyers in the legislature. He noted at present time only about 10 per cent of the legislators are lawyers—four out of 35 senators and seven out of 70 representatives.

He said in his own case he found the legislature far more demanding than he had ever realized prior to his election and found it left him far too little time for his family or private law practice.

Joslyn said it has only been since the legislative expense was raised by a special commission that he was able to break even financially. He said prior to the increase, a loss of $1,000 to $1,500 per year

Gem kindergarten said frill area

BOISE (UPI) — A Lane Blanchard, St. Anthony, American Party candidate for superintendent of public instruction, Monday called kindergartens a "frill area of education" of questionable value to youngsters.

He indicated he preferred to see kindergartens operated by the private sector. But he also indicated he favored some type of proper training for the instructors.

"At no time do I feel there should be mandates from the state or federal to force attendance in a pro-school system," Blanchard said.

Blanchard expressed concern about educational financing, saying the tax burden on the people of Idaho is "oppressive at times."

He said he was unhappy the sales tax was directed away from education to a certain extent and if elected would attempt to bring pressure to bear so that "the sales tax would be directed 100 per cent for education."

Blanchard said he felt too much money is spent on vocational training at the college level and recommended high school and junior high students more attuned to vocational training than academic studies be given more opportunity at that level.

He suggested that perhaps these students could drop the college preparatory courses they now must take and take up vocational training instead.

Air surveillance asked for traffic

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Traffic Safety Commission recommended Monday institution of an aerial surveillance program in a definite high-accident area as a means to reduce the number of traffic accidents in the state.

The commission also approved submission of an application for a statewide alcohol countermeasures program, fully funded by the federal government.

Maj. Gen. George Bennett, Boise, Idaho's adjutant general and a commission member, told the group, "We have to take some drastic steps to show our people we are attempting to bring about traffic safety in Idaho."

Sen. Walter Yarbrough, R-Grandview, and Rep. John Sessions, R-Driggs, chairman of their respective transportation and defense committees, indicated they favored such a program and also indicated the state should consider funding it until such a time as federal money might become available. The commission decided on the alcohol program after it received two applications for the programs from Boise and Idaho Falls.

Richard Hughes, Boise, commission chairman, said members felt the program would be more effective on a statewide basis from the money available rather than operating it in selected local jurisdictions.

Hughes said the statewide program would incorporate proposals contained in the Boise and Idaho Falls applications.

Hamburger King

LARRY PRICE, who heads the King's Food Host restaurant chain, has been frying hamburgers since his high school days and finds they are the number one food of today's families in a hurry.

Frying Burgers pays off for Larry Price

TWIN FALLS — Larry Price has been engaged in a number of business fields in his career but he keeps coming back to frying hamburgers. This chosen field is paying off for the young business executive who Tuesday opens the 140th unit in his nationwide chain of King's Food Host drive-in restaurants in Twin Falls. Located at the corner of Blue Lakes Boulevard North and Filer Avenue, the new establishment will offer a number of features Price has designed himself in the interest of giving the customer what he wants served quickly, economically and attractively. Price began cooking hamburgers at the Nebraska State Fair back in 1935 as a teenager. He applied for a permit to sell candy but since it constituted a food permit was told he had to sell hamburgers too. He still has at his Lincoln, Neb. home the tiny foot-square grill he used. While engaged in other business interests, he maintained hamburger cooking as a hobby but in 1955 he and his wife opened their first restaurant in Lincoln. Since that time they have expanded into 18 states and Canada. In Idaho, the first King's Food Host was established in Boise about a year ago, and another is under construction in Pocatello. Price says he spends about half his time traveling and tries to supervise the preparation and opening of each new unit. In Twin Falls this weekend, he said he is currently opening another establishment in Missouri and is torn between Twin Falls and Jefferson City, Mo., for the Tuesday opening. About 65 per cent of the people who eat out eat hamburgers, Price says, and he has aimed his business toward the best hamburgers in the business. In addition to the King hamburger, diners will find other popular foods enjoyed by the American dining public, Price says and they will find some innovations of his own in the business. There is a completely sanitary menu. It is read through a lighted sign type display at each table and the orders are placed by telephone. The waitress calls only one at each table and orders arrive minutes after they are telephoned to the order clerk, the chain owner says. About 30 employees will work in the local establishment, part of them as parttime. Local managers are Arland and Bey Schultz who have moved here from Missouri. Price says he feels the business of serving food to the public is one of the most competitive there is.

Social Security Question Box

If you have any questions about your social security, address them to Jim Davis, P.O. Box 1239, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301. Q. If I decide to work for another year or two beyond my 65th birthday, must I wait until I stop work to be eligible for Medicare coverage? A. No. You become eligible for Medicare as soon as you become 65, whether you're retired or still working. But, to make sure your full Medicare protection begins the month you reach 65, you should check with your social security office 2 or 3 months before your 65th birthday. Q. My wife and I have both worked full time since our marriage 10 years ago. We are both concerned over the social security contributions she must pay, especially since she can get payments on my work record. Why deduct from my wife's earnings when she can get payments whether she works or not? A. It's true that your wife could qualify for payments on your social security record whether she works or not.

However, an important consideration is the valuable protection she built up as a result of her own work. Now that she has worked 10 years, she can be assured of a benefit on her own record at 62 or later. She can receive this benefit even if you continue to work after her retirement. Also the chances are that the benefit on her own record will be higher than the benefit payable as a dependent wife. Your wife's work also gives her disability protection if she should become disabled before 65. If you have children they would also be eligible to receive survivor's benefits based on her work and, in the event of her death, a lump sum death payment would be made even if you had no children. South will rise again

By LOUIS CASSELL, UPI Senior Editor. WASHINGTON (UPI) — My granddaddy always said the South would rise again. And by now, he was right. Any Southerner who is weary of having his region scorned by Westerners, Midwesterners and Duncynokians will find solace for his wounded pride in data gathered by the Census Bureau during its 1970 head-count of the U.S. population. Census figures show that the South during the 1960's achieved greater gains in population, economic growth and education than any other region of the country. From the end of the Civil War until 1960—a period of nearly a century—more people moved out of the South each year than have moved into the South.

the country. Ineducational attainment—as measured by the average number of years of school completed—the South still ranks slightly below the national average. But its educational level is rising faster than that of the rest of the country and may exceed the national average by the mid-1970's. Per capita income is about 21 per cent lower in the South than elsewhere. But here again the trend is rapidly upward. During the 1960s, per capita income increased 14 per cent faster in the south than in other regions. From the viewpoint of long-term social change, perhaps the most significant census finding is that the South can no longer be regarded as the nation's "Black Belt."

Coast bank burned

TRVINE, Calif. (UPI)—The Bank of America branch at the University of California campus was destroyed Monday by a fire apparently set by vandals who scrawled "Death to the Pigs" on a wall of the building. Fire officials said the $125,000 blaze was of "very suspicious" origin, although it was not caused by an explosive device. One week ago, a bomb blast demolished a greenhouse at a branch of the Stanford Research Institute near the campus. Sheriff's deputies were examining a bottle cap smelling faintly of kerosene and a torn book of matches found by a Santa Ana Register reporter in a clump of bushes on a hillside near the shopping center. A number of slogans were sprayed in black paint on the walls of the long shopping center building, of which the bank branch occupied a portion. They included: "Bank of Amerikka, Death to the Pigs," "Oink to Amerikka" and "Pigs get out of Hillcrest."

Wes Montgomery (MGM GAS 120)

This tribute to guitarist Wes Montgomery, one of MGM Records' new Golden Archive Series, contains some excellent recordings by the late master. The recordings are all taken from six prior Verve albums, but amalgamated in one album some of the best work done on Verve by Montgomery. The tracks are from both studio and live sessions, and feature things he did from the beginning of his rise to fame, which are not very well known, to some of the things which made him famous. All the recordings are excellent in quality, but naturally vary slightly from cut to cut because of the varying conditions of recording. The album contains 10 Montgomery works: "Goin' Out of My Head," "Misty" and "The Shadow of Your Smile" and "Born To Be Blue" and "How Insensitive" and "Tequila" and "California Dreaming" and "Golden Earrings" and "Portrait of Jonny" and "What the World Needs Now Is Love."

The Almanac

By United Press International. Today is Tuesday, Oct. 27, the 300th day of 1970. The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter. Those born on this date are under the sign of Scorpio. On this day in history: In 1871 the political chief of New York's Tammany Hall, Boss Tweed, was arrested on charges of defrauding the city. In 1904 the first practical subway began operating in New York City, from the Brooklyn Bridge to 145th street in Manhattan. In 1917 concert violinist Jascha Heifetz made his debut in Carnegie Hall at the age of 16. In 1961 the United Nations General Assembly adopted by an overwhelming vote a resolution concerning a Russian explosion of a 50-megaton atomic bomb. A thought for today: President Franklin D. Roosevelt, referring to the German Nazi Regime, said, "When you see a rattlesnake poised to strike, you do not wait until he has struck before you crush him."

Arrests made at Kent

KENT, Ohio (UPI)—Four more persons were arrested Monday on indictments handed down by a special state grand jury which investigated last spring's disorders at Kent State University. At the same time, a special Portage County prosecutor who aided the investigation was cited for contempt of court. Arrested on second-degree riot charges were Jeffrey Hartzler, 21, Smithville, Ohio, a former student at Kent's Orville academic center; John Gerbetz, 19, Barberton, Ohio, and Michael S. Erwin, 20, Hudson, Ohio, both current students, and Thomas D. Miller, 21, Smithville, a former winter quarter student. They were charged in connection with disorders last May 4 which were climaxed in the shoot deaths of four Kent students by Ohio National Guardsmen last May 4.

Nuclear terror deters conflict

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon in his United Nations address last week acknowledged that the state-of-nuclear terror is the major factor preventing outbreak of a major conflict. He said that "the most important and the most obvious" factor in compelling Russia and the United States to try to reduce their differences is that "neither of us wants a nuclear exchange that would cost the lives of tens of millions of people." Against that background, Nixon went on to invite the Soviet Union to join the United States in taking "a new road" toward peace by abandoning efforts to "squeeze the maximum advantage" from every troubled situation. A Bad Omen Nixon administration officials believe that events of the next few weeks should indicate whether Russia will respond positively.

Ketchum protests denied

BY LIZ BOLTON
Times-News Correspondent
KETCHUM — All protests entered Monday night during a special hearing on the city's assessment rolls for local improvement District 1-A were denied by the city council.

Ordinance 158 was adopted to fund the city sewer project included in the improvement district. During a three-hour meeting attended by 30 interested residents, 6 oral and 12 written protests were heard. Most protests were from property owners who claimed they were too far from the main line for service, their homes were too high above the line to hook on without installing a lift station, or they had adequate sewer systems of their own. Engineer Bill Briggs explained the assessments were made according to a square footage charge of 3.7 cents. The square footage was determined by the length of the property bordering the sewer lines up to a maximum of 150 feet in depth. Unused property was also assessed with the prospect that sewer facilities would probably be used in the future. The computation, said Mayor Kenneth Richey, is the only way to equally assess property owners throughout the city. The assessments are to raise $565,000 to pay the city's share of the $1,441,600 sewer system. The remaining funds will be provided by state and federal grants and general obligation bonds of $105,000 sold in 1967. With the adoption of the ordinance Monday night, the assessment figure is due in cash Nov. 18. Property owners have until Dec. 18 to pay the cash amount or be billed in 10 annual installments beginning November, 1971.

Included in the installment payment will be an interest charge to be determined after additional bonds are sold in January. Councilmen will meet with Sun Valley Water and Sewer District officials at 1 p.m. Nov. 10 to determine proportionate shares of the sewer plant costs.

Trustees in Cassia make tour

BURLEY — Cassia county school trustees put in a full day Monday, touring all school facilities in the district and concluding with a board meeting in the evening. Supt. Harold Blauer said trustees were especially interested in inspecting folding doors at the Oakley school which work much more satisfactorily than similar ones at the Burley High School.

Declo school administrators are interested in installing folding doors at that school, he said. During the evening meeting, Supt. Blauer reported he had received a copy of the 1970 census from the Seattle office. This will be used in plans underway for re-zoning of trustee districts within the county.

Trustees are considering using natural boundaries, such as canals and creeks in the re-zoning. No decisions have been reached yet, Supt. Blauer said. The board approved a request from little leaguers to use a school bus to visit the Minidome at Idaho State University, Pocatello. The school will be reimbursed for the use of the bus.

Airport session called

TWIN FALLS — City council members were scheduled to hold a special meeting at 5 p.m. today to issue a call for bids for Nov. 13 on a 1,600 square foot expansion for the airport terminal building.

City manager Jean Millar said the expansion to the south of the present building will more than double lobby space and allow for a revision of baggage handling and rearranging of rental car desks. City officials will also discuss parking administration on the new Main Avenue section.

Bridge repair delayed

BURLEY — The city has been informed that repair work on the Overland Bridge, Highway 27, has been postponed until spring, Mayor Garis Robertson said Tuesday. Traffic has been permitted to return to normal use of the bridge.

The work on the bridge has been postponed due to bad weather. Work will resume in the spring when the temperatures are consistently in the 60's, State highway department officials told Robertson. The Heyburn bridge on Highway 30, was completed prior to the cool weather.

No blazes on 2 runs

TWIN FALLS — City firemen made two runs Monday, but there was no fire in either case. At 8:36 a. m. a false alarm was answered in the 100 block of Harrison Street, and later in the day firemen participated in a fire drill at the Twin Falls Clinic Hospital.

During a question period, Preston urged residents to study the proposed constitution revision. He said he will be voting no. He said he will vote this way because the present constitution calls for a constitution convention to rewrite the document. He felt this is the way it should be done, so he is voting no.

Project rolls along . . .

INSTANT LAWN for a new caretaker's home at the Twin Falls City-County Airport will be provided by these rolls of grass being removed from new parking lot expansion.

George Michaels, city engineer, said the additional parking is being provided by city street crews.

Pfeferle was appointed to that job by the school board of trustees Monday evening during a special board meeting, only for the coming season. Bob Donnelly, athletic director, told the trustees that Pfeferle will be working with the junior varsity basketball program.

The school board also gave the okay to purchase a washer-dryer complex for the Robert Stuart Junior High School athletic department. Robert Stuart athletes currently are laundering their equipment at O'Leary Junior High School. The new rental schedule for the schools by service clubs,

Richfield trustees report

RICHFIELD — Trustee reports were given at the Richfield District Library board meeting Monday night. Mrs. Ken Dickson, librarian, and Mrs. Carl Paulson reported on attendance at the library workshop at the Holiday Inn at Twin Falls last Friday. John Lemmon, board chairman, reported on the Mayor's Conference on Libraries last month in Twin Falls. The board approved spending a grant of $90 given by the state library to buy a used typewriter, a filing cabinet and several books. Trustees also approved a change in lighting for the public library, retaining Wood River Electric of Shoshone to replace the lights and put the library sign in place.

Senator to speak

TWIN FALLS — John Barker, Bull, state senator of Legislative District 24, will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. with the Twin Falls Chapter, American Red Cross board members to discuss constitution revision. All members of the board have been urged by Chairman David Nelson to attend the monthly meeting in the Red Cross Office.

County asked to pay

TWIN FALLS — Counties of Idaho where youth probation officers are currently provided under jurisdiction of the probate courts at county expense are being asked to pick up the tab for such services for another six months. Ray Wooten, Boise, chief of the Youth Rehabilitation Division, Idaho Department of Health, told Twin Falls County officials Monday no provision is made for the youth probation and parole officers under the court reform program going into effect after the first of the year. Wooten told Twin Falls commissioners his department hopes to utilize the county people in the same capacity in the future and unless some method can be provided to retain their services in the six months interim between the start of the court reform system and the new budget, many will be lost to other jobs.

Blanketed by 6 inches of snow, Craters of the Moon takes on new beauty as sun and wind clear storm clouds from skies above Idaho.

Twin Falls Commission Chairman Heber Loughmiller said Twin Falls County wants to provide important services for the people of the county and the youth rehabilitation services are among the most important. He said his office will set up a meeting of county commissioners of all eight counties in the Fifth Judicial District and advise Wooten's office. He suggested Wooten explain the cost needs and the program scope to commissioners at a joint meeting so the district-wide program can be planned for at one time. Wooten estimated Twin Falls County's cost of retaining Helen Henderson, county youth probation officer, and her secretary for the six months in a coordinated district-wide program would run about $5,000. Loughmiller said the local county realizes the services must be continued and feels if the system is handled on a district basis counties participating in the service should help pay the costs. Wooten said unless some special work is provided with youngsters on first offense and minor offense cases, magistrates and judges would never be able to keep up with the work load. Probation and rehabilitation officers, he said, can frequently handle these cases to the satisfaction of everyone without the need of formal court hearings or action.

Filer man sentenced

TWIN FALLS — A Filer man who entered a plea of guilty to procuring intoxicating liquor for persons under 21 years of age during a court appearance last week was sentenced Monday by District Judge

James Cunningham. Thomas Wade Clark, 23, was sentenced to three months in the county jail by Judge Cunningham. All but two weeks of the sentence was suspended.

Park funds received

TWIN FALLS — County Commissioners here received a check for $8,000 in the Monday mail to cover half of the cost of land acquisition for a county park in Rock Creek Canyon just west of the Twin Falls City limits.

County action was taken some time ago to obtain the nearly eight acres of land covered in old car bodies, and the car bodies are now being crushed and hauled from the site to pave the way for park development. Harold T. Brown, Filer, chairman of the State Parks Board, advised the county commissioners the state's contribution represents 50 percent of the market value of the land and funds are from the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund and the Idaho Department of Parks at the state level. Subsequent projects will provide for development of the day park for tourists and local residents. "Both the federal and state administrators of the program are pleased with this project which will eliminate an environmental eyesore and provide much needed and desirable recreational facilities in Twin Falls County," Brown said.

Health board meets

JEROME — Directors of the South Central Idaho Health Board were meeting today in the Jerome County Courthouse to reorganize and discuss budgeting for the coming year and review progress on appointment of a new health director. William Chancey, Twin Falls member, said new officers who will serve when the new board becomes effective Jan. 11, were to be elected. Application for the position of district director, vacated by the death last summer of Dr. Luther Thompson, was also expected to be discussed and Chancey said members must begin now to review needs for the 1971 budget.

Candidate views told

(Editor's note: This is the third of six releases providing information on contested political races in Twin Falls County. The material was gathered in response to the questionnaires from the League of Women Voters. The candidate's own words are used. Today — first district county commission races in the county).

Two candidates seek the First District County Commission post in Twin Falls County that was held by Morris Carlson, who did not seek reelection. Merl E. Leonard, Filer, Republican, is challenged by Democrat Edwin "Ed" Lierman, also Filer. In answer to the question, which county programs or proposed programs do you feel should have financial priority, Leonard replied, "I've always felt programs that promote and encourage economic growth and development for the progression of Twin Falls County should have priority. However, careful consideration should always be given costs relative to the benefits obtainable for the maximum number of residents and taxpayers, without prejudice or partiality." Answering the same priority question, Lierman answered, "I know of no programs or proposed programs for Twin Falls County which should have financial priority. However, I would like to see tax money spent well rather than wastefully. We should spend for our needs only." Lierman, asked what suggestions he would have for future city-county cooperation, replied, "Possibly city-county jail facilities. However, I would suggest a thorough investigation before any final plans were executed." In answer to the city-county cooperation question, Leonard said, "To attain cooperation to the fullest extent between city and county government, I feel representation from every city in the county should meet with the county commissioners on a monthly basis to discuss issues pertinent to all phases of good, efficient administration." Lierman, 61, was schooled in Filer public schools and Twin Falls Business College where he mailed in business administration. He lists his occupation as a rancher and stockman, owner-operator of 300 acres in conjunction with a son. He ploughed on the Clover tract since about 1915. About experience, Lierman says, "Member Idaho Cattlemen's Association (past president and director of Magic Valley Cattlemen's Association), board member of advisory board of 71 Cattlemen's Association; Deputy assessor under J. D. Barnhart, Twin Falls County, three years; farm bureau member; Filer School Board, nine years; member Clover Lutheran Church and president Twin Falls County Sheriff's posse." Leonard, 53, is a graduate of Filer High School, attended the Honolulu Business College and "School of practical experience." He lists his occupation as row crop farming and livestock owner and operator. Leonard lists his experience, "Agricultural Stabilization Committee, Filer Junior High School citizens' committee, Clear Lakes' Bridge citizens' committee, member and past president of Filer Kiwanis Club, delegate to South Idaho Chamber of Commerce, presently president of Filer Highway district, vice president of American Falls Rotary District, one secretary, treasurer, Filer, Mutual Telephone Company.

"Good old days" specials derived from home baking

Home baking. The very words call up happy childhood memories. Remember the expectant, so-long wait for the finished treat, hot from the oven? And "helping" to ice the fragrant cakes and breads — taste-testing as you went? Baking day scented a special pleasure, then; designed just for children.

Happily, baking is a delight for grown-ups, too. Many's the woman — and man! — who finds relaxation in working yeast dough 'til it's soft-smooth. Home bakers derive a special soul-satisfaction from the sight of plump golden-brown loaves, baked in their own ovens. And there's a lot of joy to be shared introducing a new generation to the pleasures of home baking.

Not the least of these pleasures, of course, is the enjoyment of eating the results, baked goods made with "tender, loving care" and the best of ingredients — fresh milk and eggs, and real butter, matchless for melting-good flavor.

The basic sweet dough recipe here is a fine one with which to start yeast-baking — or rediscover it. You can mix the dough one day, shape and bake it the next. Best of all, this recipe presents you with a delicious dilemma — which good things to turn out from among its variations.

Try Honey Twist Coffeecake, for example. Once you've made your basic sweet dough, all you have to do is divide it in half and roll each half into a long rope. Coil each into round buttered pan and brush with butter. Then allow to stand in a warm place until double in volume. After it's baked, top with a delicious honey frosting and you have two appetizing Honey Twist coffeekakes.

One for now and one to freeze for the next round of guests.

Or how about surprising your family with homemade Pecan Rolls? Just one recipe of basic sweet dough makes three dozen golden rolls, swirled with sugar and cinnamon, and topped with a rich glaze and crunchy pecan halves. These, too, will freeze well, so the extras can go into the freezer for a lazy weekend brunch or an unexpected weekday breakfast brightener.

Like apples and cinnamon? Then wait 'til you sniff the aroma that rises from the oven when you bake Apple Kuchen. And that's just the beginning. Cut into its flaky topping and taste the buttery goodness of the same basic sweet dough combined with the spicy flavor of apples, sugar and cinnamon. Only one-half recipe of basic sweet dough is suggested for this bread because Kuchen is best when freshly made. If you want to have baked foods on hand, prepare the whole dough recipe and make 18 Pecan Rolls or one Honey Twist for the freezer. The versatile basic sweet dough recipe gives you an opportunity to have variations on hand.

Start enjoying the pleasures of home-baking today for a big pay off in fun and satisfaction. See how many compliments it brings, too. Just like the "good old days" — maybe better.

Easy to do late supper

Entertaining has no time boundaries anymore. From early morning breakfasts to midnight suppers, parties are given at almost every hour of the day.

Late evening — after the theatre or a concert — is becoming especially popular. And rightly so, for a late supper is more leisurely than a rushed dinner before the event. Most importantly, late parties are also simple for the hostess to prepare and serve.

While warm weather is still with us, the patio or terrace is a good setting for a party. Here food can be served informally buffet style, or even around a coffee table that's large enough so guests can pull up chairs. All that's needed for a late party is one main dish, and Hot Chili Pie would be a good choice. A one-crust pie, it uses convenient cans of Dennison's Hot Beef Chili with Beans at its base, and might be put together early in the day, then baked in 15 to 20 minutes after you've arrived home. An ideal accompaniment to the pie would be a full-bodied dry red wine. So that you can enjoy your evening out and not feel you've been a slave to the kitchen, keep the rest of your supper menu simple, too. For a dessert with a party flair, set out a large bowl of fresh fruit and melon cubes sprinkled with liqueur or brandy, and offer guests their coffee in demitasse cups.

HOT CHILI PIE

- 2 cans (15-oz. each) Dennison's Hot Beef Chili with Beans
 - 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
 - 1/2 cup cracker crumbs
 - 1 package pie crust mix
 - 1 teaspoon flour
 - 1-3 cup grated cheddar cheese
 - 4 ripe, stuffed olives, sliced
- Combine chili, green pepper and crumbs in a saucepan. Bring just to a boil. Prepare pie crust according to instructions for a 1-crust pie. Place in 9-inch pie pan; crimp edge. Sprinkle flour over pie shell; fill with chili mixture. Top with cheese; bake 45 degrees — 15-20 minutes. Garnish with sliced olives. Serves four to six.

BURLEY — Members of the Burley Music Club have set Nov. 7 as their annual "Courtly Affair" and they will use the theme "International Holiday," with the event to be held at the Ponderosa Inn Convention Center.

The dinner-dance and program will begin at 8 p.m. and the event will be semi-formal. Cost of the evening will be $15 per couple and the proceeds will be used by the music club for scholarships and summer music camps.

Mrs. Elden Wood, Mrs. Gary Lee and Mrs. Calvin Helner are in charge of the program. International flavor will be supplied in the program and decorations, with grand finale to feature an American setting and paritotic songs.

Maybelle and George Jones, alias Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lee, will star as the typical mid-western continental tourists.

Other local performers will be members of the Burley High School German Club, Bel Cantos Choir and a combo; Mrs. Crandell Dunn, Robert Thompson; Elden wood and Billie Lou Forschler; Lila

Turner's dancers and performers from the Aloha Dance Studio and trumpeter Terri Hural.

Mrs. J. W. Young and Mrs. Charles Pough are co-chairmen of the dinner dance. Others assisting include Mrs. Clifford Mullikin, costumes; Mrs. Pough decorations; Mrs. Harlow Cheney, properties, and Mrs. Calvin Johnson and Mrs. Frank Bauman, invitations.

After the steak dinner and program, guests will dance to the music of the Sun Valley Trio. All persons interested in attending the semi-formal affair should contact Mrs. Johnson or Mrs. Bauman.

spades on the third heart, held off his diamond ace until the third round and shifted to the nine of clubs. I had shed dummy's deuce of spades on the third diamond.

As I said earlier, Ifida knew where the ace of spades was, I would have led my queen of spades and made my contract, but I didn't know about that or about the 4-2 break in clubs. I didn't even know where the queen of clubs was. In fact, I didn't know anything except that four club tricks would give me my contract.

"I cashed my last two diamonds, discarding a spade from dummy. Led a club to dummy's king and stopped for final study. Ifida knew where the cards were, I could have on-played West with the ace of spades but I led a third club and West set me with the spade ace and club queen.

"Meeting adjourned," ordered the chairman. "South wins the title of 'Ifida' of the month."

"Point of order," bellowed South. "I did go down at three no-trump anyway. Ifida only known that West held both aces, I would have been all right."

"Ifida been there," said the chairman. "I could settle this right now. South may describe the full play."

South resumed. "East covered dummy's king with his ace, taking the first trick. His jack of hearts took the second trick and he continued with the six-spot. I was in with the 10 and led a diamond to dummy's jack. I continued diamonds. West, who had dropped the five of

by L.M. Boyd

NO SINGLE GIRL should forget that a bachelor who always knows how much change he's got in his pocket is a poor marriage risk. Exceedingly poor. So says our Love and War man... THAT STREETS CALLED Second outnumber streets called First is no longer news. What's news, I'm told, is streets called Fifth outnumber streets called Quarter. IF YOUR HAIR loses its luster, that could mean you're anemic. A medical fellow contends such ailments of the bloodstream have a way of dulling your hair.

BLONDES - Odds run 64 to 36 the young bachelor in any state bordering Canada will marry a blonde. So reports a Chicago statistician. Can't understand that. There aren't that many more blondes than brunettes. Blondes must marry often. Consider your girlfriends. Do the blondes among them record more multiple marriages?

OPEN QUESTION - How do you account for the fact it's easier to teach a male parrot to talk than a female?

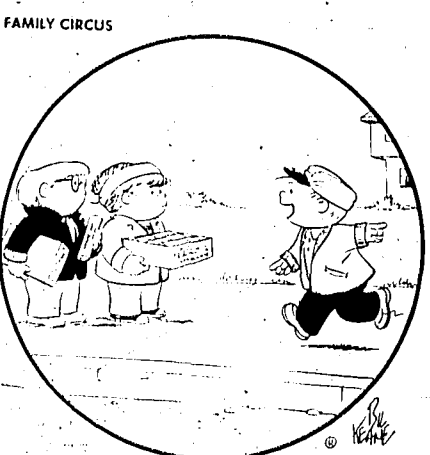

MISTER, YOU'RE not the man you were five years ago, believe that. At least, a specialist named Robert C. Cook says so. The cells of your body almost completely replace themselves, bones, brain, everything, in five years, he reports... MOLLY O'HANSON says she collects things alphabetical. Like S hooks, I beams, T squares, B hives, A frames, C clamps and G strings. Can you think of anything she ought to add to her collection?

CUSTOMER SERVICE - Q. "Can a private secretary be compelled to testify against her boss?" A. So far as I know, she can. Odd situation, that. In most places, a man's wife, his lawyer, his doctor, even his minister in certain instances can't be so compelled. A private secretary ought not to be called upon to reveal her employer's secrets. Just as no newspaperman should ever be required to disclose his sources.

CONSIDER THIS - You don't hear much about the wives of professional football players. But they're significant to the outcome of the game. A loss may be the wives' fault. To some degree, anyhow. Jealousies run strong. They're competitive. More so than their husbands maybe. If they're not dealt with properly, they can wreck the spirit and the intestines without damaging the muscle and the bone. Such is the claim of a team physician.

ARE YOU IN POSSESSION of some old clotted paint that needs to be strained? Pour it through a lady's nylon stocking... WHAT ANIMAL has the most natural enemies? Among fish, it's the herring. I think... THE AVERAGE LIFE INSURANCE policy has about eight times as many words in it as this column ordinarily carries.

Your questions and comments are welcomed and will be used in PASS IT ON wherever possible. Please address your letters to L. M. Boyd, P.O. Box 99068, Seattle, Wash. 98199.

Audit shows weakness in control

BOISE (UPI) — An audit of the Idaho Department of Reclamation indicates a lack of procedural function at both the agency and state auditor level could account for weaknesses in internal control.

The audit, made by the Bureau of Public Accounts, showed lack of rental collections on the $1,800 annual rent from the Washington Water Power Company for the dam at Priest Lake; lack of costs records on some major projects; account coding errors resulting in "gross misstatement of financial operations"; and use of 1965-67 appropriated funds to pay 1967-68 rent and miscoding of a payment to the U.S. Geological Survey as building rent.

The audit of the department, interchanged to the Department of Water Administration, was signed by Millford Kenney, Bureau director, and said rental on the dam has in recent years been deposited in a suspense fund with the intention of saving it for possible future repairs on the dam.

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—Police began a search Monday for retired Army Gen. Robert Vluux, leader of an army mutiny over pay scales, for questioning about the assassination of Chilean army commander Gen. Rene Schneider. Schneider died Sunday of wounds suffered in an attack last Thursday that police said was carried out by rightists attempting to block congressional approval of Marxist Salvadoro Allende as president-elect.

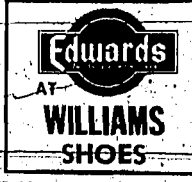

Vluux failed to present himself for questioning after he was summoned by a court-martial that has jurisdiction in the case under terms of the prevailing martial law. The state of martial law proclaimed Thursday night also includes a strict midnight to 6 a.m. curfew. One curfew violator was shot and killed by troops early today, the third person to be shot as a violator and the first fatality.

Allende called out the people of Santiago today for Schneider's military funeral later today. Police announced Sunday night the arrest of three of four persons they said were directly involved in the slaying of Schneider Thursday.

"I ask the people of Santiago to turn out solemnly and serenely for the funeral honors to the commander-in-chief of the army as an expression of solidarity with the armed forces and as protest against the antipatriotic crime which was committed," Allende said. Luis Figueroa, secretary general of the Central Workers Union, appealed for workers throughout the nation to take time off during the funeral. Schneider, 57, died Sunday in Santiago Military Hospital. Police sources said as many as 12 persons may have taken part in the road block and ambush of Schneider's chauffeur-driven limousine at an intersection. Outgoing President Eduardo Frei served as a pall bearer as Schneider's flag-draped coffin, topped by his gold-braided cap and saber, was carried from the hospital to the army academy where it lay in state.
