Murphy backs update

TWIN FALLS — Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy told the Times-News Wednesday that he supports the proposed constitutional revision, and will vote for the document in Tuesday's general election. Murphy said he had stated his feelings on the revision in an Eastern Idaho speech last week. In a campaign statement, Murphy said that the Democrats have failed to develop any real issues in what has been a "lackluster" campaign. "Complaints have been registered in every quarter of the state over the lethargy of the campaign," Murphy, who is a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket, said. "There don't seem to be any real issues affecting the state of Idaho that have been discussed." Murphy said the apparent lack of issues "speaks well for the Samuelson administration; the administration must have done a good job or there would be more issues to debate."

Reading given priority

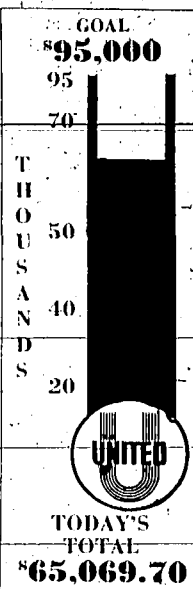

BURLEY — Idaho Sup't of Public Instruction D. F. Engelking urged PTA members here to assess their communities' reading needs and build stepped-up reading programs. Engelking spoke at the opening session of the Idaho State Parent Teachers Association convention Wednesday. He outlined a reading program known as the National Reading Improvement Services Everywhere, RISE.

"He said parent or teacher aides could be beneficial in the program. To be effective, he said there must be joint planning, starting with local school boards and including administrators and teachers. Dr. Joseph Nielson, Utah State Department of Education also discussed the RISE project, stressing parental education. He said teachers would need to take summer workshops or reading improvement conferences, possibly through night classes. Recruiting and training of volunteers to serve in the reading involvement project should be carefully followed through, he said, urging superintendents and school officials to test the pupils in their reading skills to determine each child's need.

The RISE conference Wednesday afternoon preceded the opening general session at the Ponderosa Inn this morning. Mrs. Grace Baisinger, Washington, D. C., was principal speaker and a symposium on "Children we Neglect" was scheduled this afternoon, followed by discussion groups. A life membership dinner is scheduled at 8 p. m. with the second general session at 8 p. m. today to feature a panel on "Rights and Responsibilities of Youth."

Buhl strike continues

BUHL — Mel Carter, president of Carter Packing Co., said today he sees no end in sight for the strike at his firm which began Sept. 3. He now has a total of 13 men and is slowly building up his meat cutting business. Carter claimed he is willing to negotiate if the union would offer a contract on a competitive basis with other packing firms in the area.

Airline asks T.F. roost

TWIN FALLS — West Pacific Airlines, a third-level carrier now operating in Washington and Oregon, has made application for space in the local terminal as part of an expansion into Idaho and Nevada, Harry Merrick, airport manager, said today. Merrick said he received a communication from John Kennedy, assistant to the president of the airline, which indicated that the extension that is planned would include Boise, Twin Falls, Elko, Reno and Salt Lake City. "At the present time the airline operates with Beechcraft 99's, a 18 passenger plane. There are 28 pilots and 51 other personnel employed, the executive said.

Buhl teacher honored

BUHL — Buhl High School science teacher Charles R. Humphries has been named Idaho's Teacher of the Year. Humphries, 40, will be Idaho's nominee for the 1971 National Teacher of the Year awards sponsored by Look Magazine and the Council of Chief State School Officers. The national winner will be announced next spring, according to Bart Burda, educational department consultant. Humphries has pioneered several curriculum improvement projects, including "Introductory Physical Science." He developed a "Golden Spoons" session where students can go to Humphries home one evening a week and ask for help. He began his teaching career at Hansen High School in 1954 where he taught until being named head of the science department at Buhl High School in 1964.

U.S. demands generals back

MOSCOW (UPI)—The United States today demanded "immediate" release of four officers, including two American generals, whose small plane landed accidentally on Soviet soil last week. Boris II. Klosson, a U.S. Embassy official, called on the Soviet Foreign Ministry and relayed the U.S. government's request that the four men be released immediately, an embassy spokesman said.

"He also asked for a consular visit on Nov. 2 to the four men (held) in Leninakan if the four officers and their plane have not been released by then," the spokesman said. Three are American; the fourth is a Turkish colonel. Klosson met with George M. Kornienko, head of the ministry's American desk. Kornienko promised to be "in touch with appropriate people," the spokesman said.

Reports that the Beechcraft US deliberately flew across the Soviet-Turkish border on Oct. 21 and was forced to land at Leninakan by Soviet MIG jet fighters were described as a "canard" by the embassy spokesman. He also denied a Turkish radio report that the Soviets used electronic devices to lure the plane into Soviet territory.

Voters doubtful

BURLEY — Opinion here is running about three to one against the proposed Idaho constitutional revision, a Times-News straw poll indicated today. Random interviews in downtown Burley showed 70 per cent opposed to revision; 25 per cent supporting it and about 5 per cent undecided.

Industry prices show jump

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Democratic candidates in the stretch run of the 1970 campaign brandished new ammunition today from a government report showing prices in a key area showed their largest monthly increase in 14 years during October. The report by the Commerce Department Wednesday said the prices for industrial commodities had jumped 0.7 per cent this month. It was the largest increase for any month since August, 1956, and Democrats who have emphasized inflation and unemployment during their campaigns were expected to make full use of it. The Commerce Department report also had some good news for President Nixon and his Republicans. It showed wholesale food prices declined by 0.1 per cent this month.

Absentee voting 'light'

TWIN FALLS — Absentee voting is light thus far in Twin Falls County, county clerk and recorder's office reported today. About 530 absentee votes had been cast by Thursday morning. Mrs. Thorne said two years ago a total of 1,600 absentee ballots were collected prior to the general election and with only a few more days to go this year will fall short of that figure. Absentee ballots are being accepted at the office of the clerk and recorder on the second floor of the county courthouse all day Saturday and Monday. Deadline for absentee is 5 p. m. Monday. Absentee voting in 1968, a non-presidential election, totaled 878 and in 1964 there were 1,575 absentee votes cast. For the primary election this year, 488 absentee votes were received.

Punishment?

DETROIT (UPI)—An 18-year-old youth has been sentenced to nine to 15 years in prison for snatching a purse containing $1 from an elderly woman. Robert's Court Judge Robert Colombo said Wednesday he gave the stiff sentence to Mark Jerome Dudley, 18, because "this is the type of crime that makes it impossible to live in this city."

ministrators that budget reductions will force them to cut projects and turn children away from the educational program. The final budget for the Office of Economic Opportunity will be decided when congressional lawmakers return Nov. 15 after an election recess.

Larry Mack, agency director, said he did not know what effect the seven-and-one-half per cent fund cut will have on Head Start programs in Twin Falls, Cassia and Jerome counties. But he said, "It's obvious there will have to be a program cut somewhere." The SCCAA office in Twin Falls distributes money to agencies administering Head Start programs in the tri-county area, Mack said. Last year's Head Start allocation was about $245,000 but with the cutback only about $226,000 will be received to operate next year's program. The Nixon administration has advised local Head Start ad-

Even if the full $339 million budget requested by the Nixon administration is approved by Congress, the program will be about $11.6 million short of the amount needed to maintain the present level of services, the OEO says. The Senate already has approved the full request, but the house passed an OEO budget which would force an additional $17.7 million reduction. The SCCAA's Head Start budget will be among new program budget's under discussion at tonight's meeting, Mack said, and now programs previously presented to the Twin Falls CAA board will be reviewed.

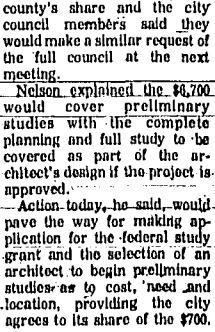

Gooding County refuses claim

GOODING — Gooding County refused a claim of $75,000 for damages filed by the parents of a 17-year-old girl who says their daughter was falsely arrested on a charge of possession of narcotics. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Collins, Gooding, filed the claim on behalf of themselves and their daughter, Jacqueline, who is now in Los Angeles. The girl was arrested Aug. 13, 1970, at a Gooding drive-in restaurant and taken to the Jerome jail where she was released the next afternoon. Charges were dropped for lack of evidence. The parents say she was held in the Jerome jail, and advised that ball would be $1,500. They say the arrest and imprisonment caused her $50,000 damages, with $25,000 damages asked for the humiliation and mortification caused the parents and other family members.

T.F. County asks joint jail study

TWIN FALLS — County Commissioners, City Council members and other interested Twin Falls authorities agreed this morning to ask for local matching funds from the city and county for a study on joint jail facilities. In a breakfast meeting, it was reported there is just over $6,000 available now under the Law Enforcement Planning Commission available on a 90-10 per cent financing basis. This would leave only about $700 to be raised by the city and county to cover initial costs of a preliminary study. Tom Nelson, city council member, said the county commissioners attending the meeting agreed to raise the county's share and the city council members said they would make a similar request of the full council at the next meeting. Nelson explained the $6,700 would cover preliminary studies with the complete planning and full study to be covered as part of the architect's design if the project is approved. Action today, he said, would pave the way for making application for the federal study grant and the selection of an architect to begin preliminary studies as to cost, need and location, providing the city agrees to its share of the $700.

Strike cuts GM profits

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. partly blames a $77 million third-quarter loss—its first quarterly deficit in 24 years—on a 45-day strike by the United Auto Workers in the United States and Canada. GM also blamed longer shutdowns for 1971 model changeovers "because of extensive changes in certain regular-size models" for its first quarterly red ink since the first quarter of 1948, when operations also were shut down by a UAW strike.

Egypt hits real peace

By United Press International
President Anwar Sadat said Wednesday Egypt will not accept a permanent cease-fire along the Suez Canal. He said Egyptian troops "should always be prepared." Sadat made his remarks to troops along the Suez Canal front as Israeli Foreign Minister Abba S. Eban denounced Egypt in the U.N. General Assembly. Eban told the United Nations that Egypt has moved more than 500 missiles into the standstill zone along the canal and that 3,000 Russians are helping man them. "These are not defensive measures but offensive measures," he said. In Jordan, King Hussein named a new 17-man cabinet led by veteran politician Wasfi Tel. He gave them a mandate to cooperate "honorably" with the Palestinian guerrillas, Syria and Iraq. Tel, 50, has served as prime minister several times before, the last time in 1960. The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahran said the leaders of Egypt, Sudan and Libya will hold a summit conference in Cairo Tuesday to discuss the Middle East problem.

Longer terms proposed for 2 offices

EDITORS: This is the first of a two-part series looking at statutory questions to be put before the Idaho electorate Nov. 3. Today two proposals, one to increase the terms of office of county assessors to four years.

By RONALD B. SCOTT
BOISE (UPI)—On Nov. 3, Idaho voters will decide whether to continue a trend of increasing the terms of county officers to four years. This year assessors and treasurers terms will be voted upon.

Voters will decide on each measure separately, but both will be contained on the same ballot.

Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa said the proposals both apply to the present Idaho Constitution. He said the revised constitution, if adopted, would nullify both measures.

House Joint Resolution Number Three concerns increasing the term of county assessors to four years.

"Shall section 6, article XVIII of the constitution of the State of Idaho relating to the county assessor be amended to provide for the election of a county assessor in each county of the state every four years, thereby fixing the county assessors term of office at four years."

In the statement of purpose, Attorney General Robert M. Robson wrote the present section of the constitution fixes the term of office at two years. The resolution would instruct the legislature to provide appropriate legislation to increase the term to four years.

Chief Deputy Attorney General Thomas Frost emphasized that neither of the amendments would apply to the revised construction. "This is why we chose to place them on a ballot separate from the revised constitution. The two amendments have no connection with the revision."

Most county assessors favor the measure, indicating it gives them more time to work out sound assessing standards. Under the present system, Frost said, the assessors office could become a political football.

Others have complained that frequent elections leaves the assessors open to pressures from powerful interest groups. Others contend the four year term would protect the assessor from powerful business interests who might attempt to pressure the assessor into giving "favored" assessments of property.

Obviously county assessors like the idea of only having to run for office every four years. They claim it would give them greater latitude and would offer some continuity to the position.

Those opposed to the measure claim the term change to four years offers too much protection of the assessor from public sentiment.

Increasing the terms of assessors and treasurers, would follow a trend, in county government. Recently the terms of sheriff and clerks were increased to four years.

Proponents say the longer terms in both offices would attract top flight personnel who could find more job stability under a four year term than the present two year system.

Increasing the term of treasurers, the second constitutional amendment on the ballot, reads: "Shall Section 6, Article XVIII of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended to provide for the election of county treasurers every four years commencing with the general election of 1970, rather than every two years as presently required."

There were constitutionality questions raised over this measure because it deletes the section of the present constitution which also deals with the terms for probate judges. The present constitution requires that only one item may be amended at a time.

But Deputy Secretary of State Drydon Hiller said the point is moot because the legislature has already passed legislation ending the office of probate judge, delegating those responsibilities to magistrates and making the position appointive rather than elective.

Frost said "when the attorney general wrote the statement of meaning and purpose, which accompanies the question on the ballot, he made no attempt to offer a legal opinion. However, if after the election someone decided to question the constitutionality of amending both sections by one vote, an opinion could be issued."

In most counties the position of treasurer is part-time. Proponents of the measure claim the present system, which forces the treasurer to run for reelection every two years, results, oftentimes, in financial loss to the office-holder. Increasing the term to four years would attract more competent people, proponents contend.

Frost emphasized even though the revised constitution gives the legislature the authority to determine the makeup and election of county officers, voters still should cast a "yes" or "no" vote on the two proposed amendments. He said if the revised constitution fails, both measures will affect the present constitution. If the voters fail to exercise their voting franchise, the two measures could fail or become law without receiving the majority vote from the total electorate.

A "yes" vote on both measures would instruct the legislature to adopt appropriate legislation to increase the terms of offices of assessors and treasurers to four years. A "no" vote would keep the term of office at two years as designated by Idaho's present constitution. (Tomorrow: The legislative pay initiative.)

Samuelson endorsed by Hanson at Burley

BURLEY — Cong. Orval Hansen, campaigning in this area, today termed Gov. Don Samuelson "a man of understanding and compassion."

Rep. Hansen said he was "honored" to be a part of "a great Republican team" pulling together.

"Do you see the opposition party candidates willing to be on the platform with each other?" he asked.

The Congressman said that Governor Samuelson "works well with Idaho's congressional delegation" and that "I am confident he will continue to give this type leadership during his next four years as Idaho's top official."

Turning to the current campaign, the congressman said that "it is to the credit of Governor Samuelson that he has refrained from name calling and dirty politics."

Earlier this week Rep. Hansen was one of the principal speakers at a dinner honoring the governor here. Sponsored by the Republican Central Committee, the event attracted more than 300 people.

proceed to the federal level for final judgment.

Robson said the firm, aware that waiting for state handling of the issue before handing it to the federal courts would take considerable time, agreed to delay mining operations.

A peculiarity in Idaho law serves to penalize mining firms with a multitude of rules and regulations if the firm first obtains a formal permit to mine on state lands. However, if the firm proceeds without obtaining a permit, "they cannot be touched," Robson said.

The attorney general said he is working to change the mining laws to prevent this dilemma.

Both Gomez and Friedrich autos were demolished. The other auto received damage to the left side.

Robson said the state filed suit to halt dredging mining along the St. Joe River in North Idaho, in the vicinity of St. Maries. The firm doing the mining was told, Robson said, that either it agreed to halt dredging until a federal court decision could be reached, or the state would obtain an injunction in a state district court, then would

Pulitzer winner ambushed

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Two United Press International staff members, Pulitzer Prize-winning photographer Kyolchi Sawada and correspondent Frank Frosch, were killed in a Communist ambush Wednesday. They apparently were executed by the side of the road.

Frosch, 27, of Atlanta, Ga. was UPI Phnom Penh bureau manager. Sawada, 34, was Japanese and had won many photography prizes, including the 1968 Pulitzer Prize for his dramatic picture of a Vietnamese mother and her children desperately fleeing across a river in search of safety.

The two men left Phnom Penh alone in an automobile Wednesday afternoon to drive to Chambak, 24 miles to the south along Highway 2, to see whether any fighting was going on in the area. Evidence at the scene indicated they were ambushed while returning.

There was some blood in the car and indications they escaped alive since the bodies were found 30 feet from the car, six feet off the road. The nature of their multiple chest wounds indicated they were executed by bursts of a Chinese-made AK47 automatic rifle.

Details of the double killing could not be pieced together until today because of weak military security on Highway 2 which kept Cambodian troops in their defensive positions until after dawn. They said they had heard firing on the road shortly before sundown.

The bodies were discovered today by UPI correspondent Khau-Bun-Khien who went out from Phnom Penh to look for the two men. He found the bodies about 30 feet from their blue Datsun automobile in a marshy wooded area.

The two men apparently tried to establish their identity as journalists. Each carried a routine collection of official press cards. Sawada's press card covered with blood was found at the scene.

They were the sixth and seventh correspondents killed in the Cambodian war and the third and fourth UPI men to die in Indochina. Another 17 newsmen are listed as missing and eight others have been captured and released.

Sawada had been captured by the Viet Cong not far from the same spot in May, but by sheer courage and determination talked his way out of captivity after eight hours and also saved then Phnom Penh bureau manager Robert Miller from captivity.

The usually reticent Sawada defied his captors, saying if he were to be captured for the duration of the Indochina War he would prefer to be dead. The Communists, apparently taken aback by such a statement, released both.

The road they were on is one of the most dangerous in Cambodia, and the point of ambush was eight miles from the point at Chambak where the road has been cut by the Communists for almost six months. Frosch and Sawada were checking to see if the government had begun its promised operations to clear the road.

Pope forbids further liturgical experiments

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican has forbidden any further experimenting with the Roman Catholic liturgy, such as the holding of Mass in private homes and use of unorthodox garments by priests, Vatican sources said today.

The ban is part of a still unpublished "instruction" on liturgical practice issued by the Congregation for Divine Worship. Advance copies of the document have been sent to the bishops throughout the world.

The document specifically prohibits experimentation with the Mass, the central form of Roman Catholic worship, unless the Congregation gives permission.

It specifies Mass can be celebrated only in a sacred place except by special permission of the local bishop. Thus it forbids Masses—in private homes, which have become popular in the United States and in some parts of Europe.

Liturgical reforms instituted by the Vatican Ecumenical Council and put into effect by Pope Paul VI have been attacked by traditionalists as too sweeping and by liberals as not going far enough.

"Now comes the necessity for every section of the church's community to deepen its grasp of the renewal of the Mass" while "abandoning individual preferences," the Congregation said.

The reforms have simplified the Roman Catholic Mass and are intended to bring those attending actively into the worship instead of being passive onlookers. The biggest reform was transition from Latin to modern languages. There is also a greater reliance on Biblical texts and freedom to use a large selection of prayers, including many beautiful texts which have been virtually unused for centuries.

However, the new instruction forbids use of any but biblical readings in Mass and says fixed prayers already approved by the congregation cannot be replaced, although priests may use other prayers for local needs or special occasions.

Intruders desecrate Salmon Catholic church

SALMON, Idaho (UPI)—Unknown intruders damaged the Catholic church here Wednesday, burning and breaking candles, smearing walls and statues with wax and human excrement, and burning the interior carpet.

Chief of Police Walter Miller said he was not sure whether the incident would be a case of vandalism or of desecration. He said he had no clues as to the identity of ages of persons involved.

Father Dominic Daws said some of the damage looked as though it might be the action of children, but said "I can't see a group of children on their way to school doing this. It would seem in a way that it might have been someone hostile to the church of the area. I just don't know."

Father Daws said he left the church at 7 a.m. to go to the rectory next door and said when he returned at 10 a.m. he discovered the damage.

He said many candles had been lit and broken by being thrown against walls. He said a four by six inch hole was burned in the carpet and the back of one pew was scorched.

Sawtooth unit for Andrus

IDAHO FALLS (UPI)—The Greater Sawtooth Preservation Council announced endorsement of Democratic gubernatorial candidate Cecil Andrus Wednesday for his "outstanding" record in the field of conservation.

Russell Brown, Idaho Falls, council vice president, said the group joined "other Idaho conservation and sports groups" in supporting Andrus, adding the endorsement was made on the basis of Andrus' "constructive action and legislative achievement."

The council also endorsed Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, candidate for re-election as Second District Congressman, and Tony Park, Democratic candidate for attorney general.

An article in the November issue of Field and Stream magazine by publications editor Michael Frome described Andrus as a "strong conservationist candidate."

The article noted as a state senator Andrus fought against dredge mining in Idaho and also discussed Andrus' position on preservation of the White Clouds.

Leary to join Muslim

CAIRO (UPI)—Dr. Timothy F. Leary, 50, reflected on the prison terms awaiting him in the United States and said he will never return to his native land. The American LSD advocate said he would become a Moslem and settle in Algeria.

"I'm not going back," Leary said in an interview with UPI Wednesday night. "I figure if I return to the United States I'll go to prison for a total of 38 years."

Leary and three companions, including two Black Panther party leaders and a leader of the Youth International Party (Yippies) arrived in Cairo Tuesday from Beirut. Egypt refused them entry, then granted them transit visas so they could visit Cairo en route back to Algiers.

"I'm going to embrace Islam and settle down with my wife in a better place than the United States, probably Algeria," he said.

Leary fled the Chino unit of the California prison system Sept. 13. He was serving 10 years for marijuana possession. Leary said he and his wife, Rosemary, who stayed in Algiers, had been granted asylum in Algeria along with Donald Cox, a Black Panther "field marshal," Martin Kenner, chairman of the Panther defense committee, and Jennifer Dohrn, a Yippie fund raiser.

Officers arrest 11 at S.L. house

IDAHO FALLS (UPI)—Acting on information from the Salt Lake City Police Department, the Bonneville County sheriff's office has arrested 11 persons from Salt Lake City living together in a farm house near here.

The sheriff's office acted in cooperation with the Idaho Falls City Police and the Idaho State Police.

Mike Thulin, 23, and his brother, Tom, 19, were arrested on fugitive warrants issued in Salt Lake City. Mike Egan, 24, and Debbie Christian, 18, were arrested and charged with possession of enumerated drugs.

Gary Thulin, 29, was arrested and charged with first degree burglary. Jay Tabor, 22, was arrested on charges of possession of a stolen gun. Connie Mortenson, 24, and Susan Thulin, 19, along with one juvenile, were arrested and charged with vagrancy.

Mike and Tom Thulin were arraigned in justice court and waived extradition. They are being held in Bonneville County Jail awaiting authorities from Salt Lake.

Also found with the group were a runaway juvenile from St. Anthony Training Center, who was returned to the state institution, and an Idaho Falls youth, charged with being a runaway.

Dick, Jane stories don't help Indians

BOZEMAN, Mont. (UPI) — The adventures of Dick and Jane are not very meaningful to Indian children on reservations.

Nor is Little Red Riding Hood or, for that matter, the life of George Washington.

But a new program to be initiated on Montana's Indian reservations, financed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, may provide solutions to the white man's failure to reach Indian children educationally.

Dr. Elnora Old Coyote, a Montana State University education professor, said the fault is described in a word — "ethnocentrism." That is the tendency to judge other groups by the standards and customs of one's own group.

"Evidence has long been accumulating," Dr. Old Coyote said, "that the white man's way of teaching school is just not meaningful to many children on Indian reservations."

The adventures of Dick and Jane, she said, don't do a thing for the reservation child who doesn't run in Dick and Jane's socioeconomic league.

Dr. Old Coyote will be curriculum director in the new HEW five-year program in bilingual education. She has done considerable work on the Crow Reservation in Southeastern Montana where English is the second language.

The plan, she said, is to keep it that way and to develop a written language for the Crow, whose language is oral.

By 1973, the program, started on the Crow Reservation, will be in effect on three of Montana's seven reservations where the language barrier is believed to be the major hindrance to academic success.

"Language is a very real problem," she said. "Indian children may not have spoken any English before entering grade school."

They are forced to learn in English when many of them think in Indian, she said.

"The idea is that the child should first learn to read and write in his native language—and then add the second language, English, at a later time."

Scrappy Pupfish menaced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Things don't look good for the pupfishes.

For thousands of years since the last ice age these scrappy little creatures (two inches long full grown) have manifested a tremendous capacity to survive under conditions that would discourage most of us.

They have dwelled and reproduced in waters ranging from freezing to above 100 degrees. They have adjusted to salt concentrations up to six times that of sea water.

Their last remaining habitat is the arid Ash Meadows region north and east of Death Valley on the Nevada-California border where rainfall is less than five inches a year.

There they have inhabited desert springs and water holes, aggressively combatting any other creature or anything else that might do them in if their will to live should falter.

Now they are up against an enemy they can't hope to beat. This enemy is man.

SECRET-OF-THE-SEA is given up after more than four centuries. After two years of excavation, archeologists working off the English coast uncovered this eight-foot-long iron gun from the Mary Rose, one of Henry VIII's finest fighting ships. The Mary Rose sank in 1545 while putting out to fight the French. It was the first warship to have complete batteries of siege guns as main armament and is considered by many the most important known shipwreck in northwest Europe.

It has long been a pupfish practice, imposed by evolution, to procreate on ledges only a few inches below the water surface. The last known colony of cyprinodon diabolis, as biologists refer to pupfishes, resides in Ash Meadows.

Devils Hole, a limestone sinkhole in a detached part of Death Valley National Monument.

The water level in Devils Hole has been falling and threatens to leave the pupfishes spawning grounds exposed. It appears that man's pumping of ground water for irrigation is responsible.

Biologists say that if the fall of the water level in Devils Hole is not reversed, the pupfish is doomed to extinction. At the request of a special Interior Department pupfish "task force," the U.S. Geological Survey has started a one-year study to see whether anything can be done to preserve the pupfishes' spawning grounds.

A survey spokesman described the little pupfishes as "pretty aggressive and irreplaceable."

Suppose the pupfish is wiped out. So what? Nobody knows what chores it performs in nature's process of controlling local populations of myriad tiny bits of life such as, say, insect larvae.

Firm to lay off 10,000

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI)—Bethlehem Steel Corp., Erie County's largest employer, will begin laying off 10,000 employees shortly after the Nov. 3 election, it was learned Wednesday.

It was also learned that 3,000 of those laid off, mostly salaried personnel, will not be rehired when the economic situation improves.

The company's suburban Lackawanna plant now employs more than 17,000 persons.

A high company official told UPI that the layoffs were necessitated by a "poor steel market—caused in part by the United Auto Workers strike against General Motors."

The official, who asked that he not be identified, also said there were some people in the company's headquarters who favored a total closing of the Lackawanna plant.

"But that won't happen," he said. "The company has a commitment to its employees and to the community as a whole."

The salaried personnel who will not be returned to their jobs will be the victims of an over-all "streamlining" of the Lackawanna plant, the company official said.

While the company intended to hold off formal announcement of the layoffs to avoid affecting the Nov. 3 election, some key leaders of the United Steel Workers Union and the Buffalo area Chamber of Commerce have been advised of the firm's plans.

Alcoholics Anonymous trebles membership in past 10 years

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Brace yourself. Here comes some of that stuff newspapers are accused of neglecting: Good news.

It concerns the growth of one of the world's most useful organizations, Alcoholics Anonymous.

During the past year, more than 1,600 new AA groups were established. That brings the worldwide total to 18,600; more than three times as many as there were 10 years ago.

Each group is self-supporting and self-governing. The different groups keep in touch with each other through a general service office in New York. But there's not much central organization. So nobody can say exactly how many practicing AA's there are at the moment.

The "informed" guess of the general service office is that the total is near 500,000. And it's growing at a rate of about 10 per cent a year.

Perhaps the most encouraging news is that the average age of AA members has been decreasing steadily over the past few years. Instead of waiting until their lives have been ruined by alcoholism, people are admitting their problem and seeking AA help in the early stage of the disease.

No one has yet found a treatment which will enable a true alcoholic to resume "normal drinking." But AA has proved, beyond a doubt, that an alcoholic can recover from his addiction and go on to live a happy and useful life without alcohol.

He'll always be, in a famous AA phrase, "one drink away from a drunk." But the whole fellowship of AA stands ready to help him keep that distance.

Bride price high

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (UPI)—The price for a bride reached a new record Tuesday in New Guinea—$6,900.

The bride's father, Tou Kapena, said he had accepted the offer in cash and goods for his teen-aged daughter, Dia Tou, from the family of Gave Ovia, 18.

Kapena is a member of the New Guinea legislature and the Port Moresby City Council and ironically, has been a leader in a campaign to lower and stabilize the increasing cost of purchasing brides on this South Pacific island. He said he had been forced by tribal custom of bidding for brides to accept the highest price offered for his daughter.

In his successful bid, Ovia made a down payment the equivalent of $3,700 in cash plus $660 worth of goods.

Lenient judges

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI)—The state reports that nearly 50 per cent of all persons arrested by state police for drunken driving last year were able to get the charges filed away, dismissed or amended to lesser offenses by courts.

China now opening doors to outsiders

PEKING—After years of excluding visitors during the "cultural revolution," Communist China has now begun to open its doors to persons from the outside again.

Invited visitors from friendly states may not only visit Peking but other Chinese cities. Teachers from Iraq, military and other delegations from Pakistan and Nepal, and journalists from Romania have made trips through the Peoples Republic of China in recent weeks.

A group of Romanian officers spent a three-week vacation with their families in various parts of China. Fifteen young Norwegians, belonging to a "Marxist-Leninist" friendship organization, visited Peking, Shanghai and Nanking at their own expense.

Scandinavian travelers who use the Moscow-Peking route to fly to Hong Kong or Tokyo have in recent weeks been able to stop over a few days in Peking.

Peking-based foreign correspondents are also benefiting from the new trend. For the first time in nearly four years they were recently given the opportunity to make a 10-day information trip to Canton, Shanghai and Nanking, traveling either by plane or train.

Ontario road deaths up

TORONTO (UPI)—Road deaths in Ontario increased 6.1 per cent in 1969 to a total of 1,683. Transport Minister Irwin Hackett reported to the legislature. However, he said, the Ontario death rate per 100 million vehicle miles remained the same—5.9, compared with 7.6 for the rest of Canada.

Geometry was one of the first scientific studies.

It used to be just fast and easy. Now direct dialing saves you money — as much as $1.95 on a call out-of-state compared to a person-to-person call. Even more on some calls. Dial direct and save. It's the cheapest way. Check the chart.

	Direct Dialed Calls	Operator-Handled Calls	Person-to-Person Calls
WEEKENDS 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sat. and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sun.	70¢ first 3 mins.	$1.10 first 3 mins.
EVENINGS 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. Sun. through Fri.	85¢ first 3 mins.	$1.10 first 3 mins.	$3.30 first 3 minutes All 1 week
NIGHTS 11 p.m. to 8 a.m. daily	35¢ minimum call (1 minute)	$1.10 minimum call (3 minutes)
WEEKDAYS 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mon. through Fri.	$1.35 first 3 mins.	$1.70 first 3 mins.

Rates (plus tax) are maximum on calls made coast-to-coast. Rates are even less on most out-of-state calls of lesser distances. Where direct dialing facilities are not available, direct-dialed rates apply on operator-handled, out-of-state calls within the continental U.S., except Alaska. ADDITIONAL MINUTES: Weekends, 20¢ or less; evenings, 25¢ or less; nights, 20¢ or less; weekdays, 45¢ or less.

Boise Political Writers Rapped

TWIN FALLS — "Boise political writers" were assailed today by Doug Kramer, chairman of the Twin Falls County Republican Central Committee, in a speech to Twin Falls County Republican Women.

Kramer declared that "Boise political writers appear to be again playing their election-year games in endorsing various political candidates on both major party tickets."

Kramer added that "there has always been a certain feeling among the small self-appointed intellectuals in Boise that the rest of the people in Idaho did not know what was good for them. This select group is now attempting to tell all of us who-to-vote-for-in-each-and-every-race-and-how-to-vote-on-each-and-every-issue. The people in Magic Valley simply don't buy this."

In adding to his statement after the meeting, Kramer asked "all state Republican candidates who had been endorsed by the 'Boise political writers' to decline the endorsements."

"This is a Republican team effort, and the Boise bunch would have us believe that Boise citizen Cecil Andrus would be a better coach for the Republican office-holders in the statehouse than would Gov. Samuelson. Such political reasoning is nonsense and is only an extended effort to put political power in Boise," the chairman said.

Congratulating "news media in all of Magic Valley," Kramer said newsmen are to be "commended in their attempt BURLEY — The newly formed Cassia County Historical Society will hold a charter night meeting Nov. 18 at the convention center of the Ponderosa Inn.

Dayley said anyone who has not been contacted and who wishes to become a charter member of the group, may mail checks to the Cassia County Historical Society, P. O. Box 331, Burley. Membership is $5 for a family or $3 for an individual per year.

Limbocker is alleged to be a deserter from Camp Pendleton, Calif., and Adams is reported to have been returned from Vietnam and was awaiting shipment to Germany when he deserted. Both men are believed to have been missing for about six months.

Blaine County ballots list 5 local contests

By LIZ HOLTON
Times-News Correspondent
HAILEY — Blaine County general election will have five contests to vote upon.
They include the offices of District 21 Senator, District 21A representative, county treasurer, county commissioner for District 33 and assessor.
Incumbent John Peavey, R-1, JGP, is opposed by Oscar Arstein, Paul Democrat, for senator; newcomers E. V. McInn, Ketchum, GOP, by Floyd Kialing, Dietrich, Democrat, representative; incumbent Dorothy Peavey, Hailey, Democrat, by Rodette Fry, Bellevue, GOP, treasurer; Jack Bennett, Ketchum, Democrat, by Robert Neely, Ketchum, GOP, county commissioner; and newcomers Kenneth Wright, Bellevue, Democrat, by Del Nicholson, Hailey, GOP, for assessor.
Unopposed on the ballot at the county level will be incumbent George McCoy, Hailey, Democrat, county clerk; incumbent Rky Swant, Carey Democrat, county commissioner; District 1; incumbent V. K. Jeppesen, Hailey, Democrat, prosecuting attorney; and Duane Bentz, Hailey, GOP, coroner.

Peavey is completing the term held by his mother, Sen. Mary Brooks, who was appointed as director of the mint.
During his campaign, Sen. Peavey, who also operates the Flint Top Sheep Co., has contended he is the voice needed by both the farmer and the small-town resident, whose fate is directly tied to agriculture.
Arstein, a cattle feeder in Paul, also has experience in the Idaho Legislature, having first been elected as representative from District 21B in 1948. He has been endorsed by the Association of Idaho CIOs because of his efforts for the recodification of the municipal code.

A Dietrich potato farmer and livestock man, Kialing also has legislative experience, having served four terms as representative from 1959 through 1962. He is past president, committee man, past state legislative chairman, and was assistant minority leader in 1961. He served as school trustee for 20 years, is a member of the Lincoln county planning commission, and a member of St. Benedict's Hospital Board. He contends he is interested in lower taxes and quality education for every child in Idaho.
McInn is owner of the Mobile Oil Co. distributorship in the Ketchum area, is president of the Rural Fire District, a member of the Blaine County Hospital Board, past president of the Ketchum-Sun Valley Rotary and former state Republican committeeman. He contends that many people in the three counties involved in the district lack representation in regard to roads, schools and education.
County treasurer for the past 20 years, Mrs. Peavey holds degrees in secretarial and accounting work, and worked in the California Legislature and superior court several years. She also worked in the U. S. Land office, for the forest service, and as Blaine County deputy auditor and recorder. She is past president of the Idaho Association of County Treasurers and is a director for the National Association of County Officers. Mrs. Peavey, says her campaign is on her proven ability, efficiency, economy and concern in handling county monies for the past 20 years.
Mrs. Fry's campaign is based on her contention that good county government should have the representation of all age groups. She is a graduate of the Wood River High School with the class of 1964 and "feels that a change in the treasurer's office personnel is in order."
County commissioner candidate Neely is a graduate of West Point and was commissioned as an artillery officer in 1933. He served 30 years in the Army, retiring in 1963 as brigadier general. He is involved with real estate in the Ketchum area. He volunteered his service to the Ketchum city to number the houses and name the streets. Among the problems he feels face the county are road and bridge repair, health and ambulance service, law enforcement, zoning guidance and other legal and regulative functions of the county commissioner.

Bennett, manager for Pete Lane's ski department at Sun Valley, is a member of the Ketchum planning and zoning commission, and has a general knowledge of the needs of the county, having lived here since birth. He also feels the bridge and road problem is the greatest one facing the county.
Nicholson was born in Jerome and graduated from school there. He was raised on a farm and first came to Wood River to work in 1939. While in the area, he has owned his own business, the Hitchcock Saddle Shop, which he operated for 14 years, and has worked in the county assessor's office for four years. He also has taken three courses at the Boise College for appraisal techniques.
Wright feels the county can best be served through better equalization and utilization of county taxes and working with the county commissioners.

Vets take stand against redraft

TWIN FALLS — The Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 2136 took a formal stand against the proposed revision of the Idaho Constitution during a special meeting Tuesday night in Twin Falls.

Ray Crandal, publicity officer for District 6, VFW, said the members objected principally to Article 12, Section 1 which, it was felt, would allow the legislature to "abolish counties or other political subdivisions without asking for a vote of the people."
Crandal said the section defines counties as having officials "who are elected by voters... or who are appointed by officials so elected." The provision that county officials could be appointed "by officials" could be interpreted to mean that the legislature could appoint county officials without referring to a vote of the people, Crandal said.
It was unanimously agreed that "we do need an up-to-date Constitution," Crandal said, "but this one doesn't agree with the principles we fought for."

Anything can be declared "money" and aren't you glad we picked on dollars rather than garlic cloves in our particular economy?

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old boy and I love to go out with married women from 20 to 30 years old. I have come awfully close to getting caught by their husbands. I don't know what is wrong with me. I take such terrible chances.

Single girls do not turn me on at all. I even talked to a doctor about this once and he told me I was necking "motherly love," but I can tell you like I told him, it is not true. I worry about myself. What can you do for a love crazy guy like me?

TAKING CHANCES

DEAR TAKING: Apparently you like to live dangerously. Maybe you want to get caught and get that beating you think you deserve. I can advise you to steer clear of married women, but you already know that. Professional counseling at a mental health clinic could straighten you out before it's too late.

DEAR ABBY: After a 3-year separation I just became divorced. I have five children and live on welfare. My ex-husband drives a Cadillac and vacationed in Ireland last year—enough said.

Now that my divorce is final, all I hear is, "Why don't you dress up and sit on the front porch? You'll never get a husband if you don't fix yourself up, wear your dresses shorter and do something with your hair."

Am I such an oddity because I am not husband hunting?
NOT LOOKING

DEAR NOT: Yes. But I don't blame you for being gun-shy. You might get another dud like your ex-husband.

DEAR ABBY: I had oral surgery recently, and my doctor gave me a prescription for some pain medicine. I had it filled at a local pharmacy. I took it every three hours, but it had no effect.

The next morning the pharmacist called and told me to return the medicine as he had given me the wrong one. It seems two prescriptions were filled at the same time with identical last names. I had not noticed the wrong first name on the bottle until his call. I was told that my prescription was given to a young girl. She vomited from my pills. I didn't feel any ill effects from her medicine because it was for an infection.

Someone suggested we sue the pharmacy, but I don't think we should because the medicine did me no harm.

Maybe if you printed my letter it would make pharmacists a little more careful in the future. It would also warn people to read the name on the prescription before taking the medicine.

Others may not be as lucky as I was. MRS. R. M.

DEAR MRS. R.M.: Thank you for sharing your experience. It could save a lawsuit. And more important, a life.

DEAR ABBY: You had something in your column which caught my eye. I quote, "CONFIDENTIAL TO 50 YEARS. OLD TODAY—AND DEPRESSED: Cheer up. Fifty is the 'old age' of youth, but it is also the 'youth of old age.' You have a lot of living to do." To that, I say "bravo!" But the real key to the good life after 50 is what you did in the 30 years before 50.

CLIMBING MOUNTAINS AT 73

DEAR CLIMBING: Congratulations. You'll never be over the hill.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Enjoy hearty "stew break"

The hasty, hurried days of fall are back again. Chances are you're feeling rather like a jack-of-all-trades: chauffeur, homemaker, football cheerleader, and committee woman all rolled into one.

If the hectic life is getting to you, why not make suppertime a quiet interlude in your life. It's easy, when you've a can of stew around the house. Canned chicken or beef stew can trim minutes from mealtime preparation leaving time for you to reilly sit down and enjoy eating.

Open a can of beef stew, for instance, and you'll find chunks of beef and fresh garden vegetables all simmered in a hearty beefy gravy. Just heat and serve with a simple salad and an ice cream dessert for a balanced, quick meal.

Or... call on some of your other kitchen standbys to create a hot 'n' homey dish with a savory flair. Here garlic and oregano add zest to a delicious mixture of canned beef stew and cooked cauliflower. Just garnish with a little Parmesan cheese and dinner's ready.

Crusty brown and serve club rolls plus a dessert of stewed canned fruits are easy-fixin' accompaniments to round out your meal.

SAVORY BEEF STEW
1 medium clove garlic, minced
1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 cans (10 ounces each) beef stew
1 package (10 ounces) frozen cauliflower, cooked and drained
Grated Parmesan cheese
In saucepan, cook garlic with oregano in butter. Add stew and cauliflower. Heat, stir now and then. Garnish with cheese. Makes four to six servings.

Perhaps things are not quite what they appear

NEW YORK (UPI)—Today's college girls may pretend to be anti-fashion, but the fashion industry isn't taking them very seriously. A spokesman for the International Ladies Garment Workers Union said the present unemployment rate, estimated at 20 per cent of the working force and the highest in the industry in 30 years, is due mainly to the recession and a rising tide of imported garments. He conceded that the depressed conditions which have bowled over scores of Seventh Avenue fashion houses, including four or five of the most prominent, has been aggravated by the turmoil over skirt lengths. Opposition to the industry's attempt to introduce the mini-skirt to replace the miniskirt has been disruptive. "And it's true that most college girls adopt an anti-fashion attitude and go around looking like something the cat dragged in," the union spokesman said. "But that has little impact on the fashion and garment business." He said the blunt truth is that it costs a girl as much to look like a tramp as to dress fashionably and neatly. "A lot of these costumes that look like they were assembled out of a closet ragbag cost about a hundred bucks," he said. Take the tie-dyed jeans that look like an old pair that someone accidentally spilled a can of white paint over—"they're for more costly to make than fashionably cut solid color jeans." Even the no-bra look favored by Women's Lib often is a fake, the union spokesman said. The brassiere people were scared stiff until they realized the girls really needed a bra for support, so they brought out a new line of bras with the flat no-bra look and the girls are buying them. Then there's the girl who looks like she hasn't any cosmetics on. Chances are she's wearing some of the new invisible cosmetics that cost more than the conventional kind.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Halloween — All Hallows Eve — is one of the oldest festive celebrations. Its origins date to the pagan Druids in Britain and Ireland. They celebrated their great autumn sun festival Nov. 1. The night before they paid tribute to Samhain, the Lord of Death, hoping it would cause him to be less severe on those who had died during the previous year. An important part of the festival was the lighting of bonfires to ward off evil spirits — a custom still practiced in Scotland and Wales on Halloween. Black cats also figured in these early Halloween rites. The Druids regarded them as sacred, embodying the souls of people whom Samhain had punished for their evil deeds. Flora Mearns, a designer of

Halloween is oldest festive event

Halloween and party goods for Hallmark Cards in Kansas City, came up with such explanations after consulting with her firm's historians. She said the jack-o'-lantern legend comes from Ireland. Irish tradition says that long, long ago a man named Jack

O'Grady could not enter heaven because of his miserliness. He went to hell but was expelled from that place on All Hallows Eve for playing tricks on the devil. "Poor Jack was condemned to walk the earth with his lantern until Judgment Day," in Scotland

Miss Mearns said. Among other mystical, magical Halloween folklore collected by Miss Mearns is the tradition of bobbing for apples in a tub. But perhaps the oddest Halloween tradition unearthed by the designer is one prevalent in Scotland

Cafeteria rentals will be $125 per day and the classroom rental has been set at $4 per night, with the exception of Cub Scout and Boy Scout meetings. Ragland said all prior commitments under the old policy will not be changed.

Voters urged to study revision

JEROME — Don McDonald, Democratic candidate for state representative in District 22-B, is urging voters to read the revised Idaho Constitution before voting on the proposal in Tuesday's general election.

The legislative candidate said he has been distributing literature on the subject and is not telling anyone how to vote, just asking them to read it. He said copies of the proposed constitution, compared with the present one, are available at the county clerk's office.

McDonald, Marden Wells, congressional candidates, and state Sen. Don Frodericksen, were speakers at a fund-raising dinner Tuesday night attended by more than 150 persons in the high school cafeteria here. Paul Boyd, candidate for lieutenant governor, scheduled speaker, was unable to attend.

He said Mrs. Heaton was arrested Monday afternoon by Twin Falls detectives in company with Jerome County Sheriff James Burns and a Gooding County deputy. The arrest was made in Gooding County.

Mrs. Heaton is alleged to have embezzled $2,197.30 Brezzy-Way Market funds while she was acting as assistant manager of the store.

Mrs. Heaton posted bond at $1,500 by Judge Harry Turner and has been released from custody pending further court action. No date has been set for her preliminary hearing.

Gem campaign ending

By United Press International
Candidates for political offices around the state began wrapping their campaigns up for this election year Wednesday with the general election only five days away.

Incumbent Gov. Don Samuelson said he would continue to fight for Idaho growth and reed and said "It is progressing faster today than at any time in its history."

He said his administration has increased appropriations to education without new state taxes and has backed programs to expand farm markets.

Cecil Andrus said he favored organization of a golden age program to assist senior citizens.
He said the program would be directed by senior citizens around the state, and the group would work for low rent housing for the elderly as well as encourage the state to reduce some fees charged older citizens.

Tony Park, Democratic candidate for attorney general campaigning in Boise, said Idaho needs an attorney general who will work for the safety of its laborers.
He said "There is no reason for our working men to have to endure unsafe conditions in order to make a living, and we should act now to strengthen both the safety code and its enforcement."

Republican Attorney General Robert M. Robson said he has prepared a proposal for the legislature to amend the present dredge mining and placer mining regulations to give courts the power to enjoin illegal operations from continuing.

He said that power was apparently left out in Idaho's present regulations covering such operations.
Bill Brauner, Democratic candidate for Congress from the First District, said his opponent, James A. McClure, opposed the truth-in lending legislation. Brauner says the measure is the only protection the consumer has to find out how much he really pays when making time purchases.

Brauner said the taxpayers should be told how much they are paying to support a Nixon administration policy of an attempted fight on inflation that just isn't working.
Entering the campaign for the first time, Joel Anderson, the American Party candidate for Second District congress, said, "Our basic freedom" is the major issue of the campaign and accused his two opponents—Rep. Orval Hansen, a Republican, and Democratic candidate Marden Wells—of trying to destroy individual freedom "with their identical philosophies of a guaranteed cradle-to-the-grave government."

W. DEAN GIBSON

Gibson

new Bell manager

TWIN FALLS — The appointment of W. Dean Gibson, formerly of Burley, as local manager for Mountain Bell was announced today by K. G. Mann, district manager.

Gibson replaces John B. Williams who accepted a position in the company's state marketing organization in Boise.
The new Twin Falls manager began his telephone career in August, 1950, as a lineman at Pocatello. In November, 1960, he was named Arco plant manager.

He has worked at Idaho Falls, served as manager at Weiser and as a staff supervisor at Boise prior to his present assignment as Burley manager. Gibson has been active civically and socially during his Burley assignment.

He, his wife Jean, and three daughters will be moving to Twin Falls as soon as housing arrangements are complete.

Subdivision approved

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners approved Wednesday a subdivision southwest of Twin Falls located on property owned by John Gilson. Planning and Zoning Commission members previously approved the subdivision.

Gilson said there is one home on the eight-acre site and he plans to sell the property in lots ranging up to one acre in size. He said each purchaser would develop his own well.

The property is located two miles south and one half mile east of Curry and joins another residential subdivision already established in the area.

Young hunters found

RICHFIELD — Four youthful Richfield hunters returned Wednesday afternoon after spending the night in their vehicle stuck in snow 27 miles northeast of Carey in the Fish Creek area.

The four had been hunting and were returning home when the pickup stalled about 6 p. m. Tuesday. They spent the night in the cab of the pickup after they gave up trying to get it out of the foot-deep snow.

Wednesday morning the four, Allen Paulson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Paulson; Mike McRoberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McRoberts; Bill Paterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Patterson, all 16; and Richard Magoffin, 21, walked about a mile toward a farm house 10 miles away, when fathers of the three younger hunters located them.

The group stayed warm during the night by running the engine at intervals to generate heat. They had some candy, but had not taken food or equipment for staying overnight.

Paulson said it took several hours to get the pickup out of the snow. The pickup is owned by Magoffin.

The hunt was termed a success, despite the unexpected overnight ordeal.

Magic Valley

Construction to begin on Malad state park

By DIANE METZGER
Times-News Correspondent
GOODING — Construction of the Malad Gorge State Park will begin as soon as possible, Bill Beckert, state parks director, said here Wednesday.

He said the final acquisition of land around the gorge by the Idaho State Parks Board had been made. He said development of the park at the gorge, near Tuttle, and surrounding area including Niagara Springs, would be part of a three- to five-year project. Estimated cost will be $325,000.

Under the agreement with Gooding County, the state parks board will assume maintenance and development of Niagara Springs Park, which has been handled by Gooding County the past several years.

Beginning in 1967, the Rural Area Development Group of Gooding County Planning Commission, spawned the idea of a state park in the Gooding County area to develop many recreational areas the county has to offer.

The group prepared a brochure and sold the idea to the parks board, which convinced the legislature to fund the project with $325,000.

The Magic Valley Recreation Council then took over the project and raised about $10,000 through local businesses, chambers of commerce and individuals to make up the difference in appropriated money and the actual cost of the land.

The state parks board will develop the historical site along the gorge as well as recreational and travel sites, he said. Among these is the site of the Kelton Trading Post, the Kelton Road, bridge abutments on the upper gorge, Ross Party overwinter site, Wilson Pierce hunting party overwinter site, Hagerman prehistoric horse pit site and others in the area.

The Kelton Road was established to serve the Idaho mining communities from Kelton sidings near Salt Lake and was in use for several years. Many tracks along the road still are visible today, along with remains of the way station and bridge abutments.

The Ross Party was said to overwinter in the area in the 1820s as did the Wilson Pierce hunting party. There are still remains of the overwinter sites visible today.

The name Malad was given to the area when most members of the parties died during the winter from eating beaver tails, so the story goes. Malad is the English form of the French word for sickness.

The area has a spectacular view of both the Malad and Snake Rivers near Hagerman and the scenic view is breathtaking.

Beckert said the park board would develop a travel park, featuring geology of the springs and underground aquifer which is unique to this area.

Nature trails, scenic safety trails and observation points will be established as well as interpretation center. Also in the plans are parking spaces and facilities for overnight campers and trailers.

This park will be the headquarters for other developments in the area.

Attorney discusses redraft

BURLEY — William A. Parsons, local attorney, discussed the proposed revised constitution during a luncheon meeting of the Burley Soroptimist Club Wednesday.

He pointed out the various changes and made comparisons, and encouraged all members of the organization to study the revision and to know why they are voting yes or no on the proposal next week.

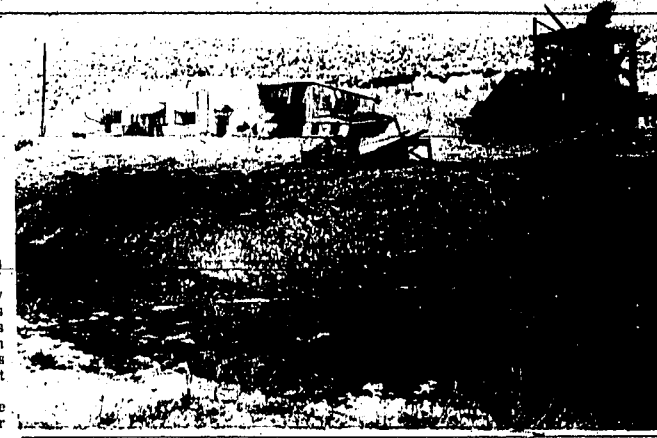

Carla Stoker was named Girl of the Month by club members. She gave a brief summary of her school activities. She is on the annual staff and the school paper staff. She plans to attend BYU and major in business.

Her mother, Mrs. DeLass Stoker, was a guest. Miss Stoker received a gift from Mrs. George Carmoey, Mrs. Gay Jones conducted the business meeting.

Gem AAUW backs constitution

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — Members of the Idaho Division of American Association of University Women announced support Wednesday for the constitutional revision.

Mrs. James Buckham, division president, said Idaho members of the AAUW "feel a constitution should be reflective of our modern times and of the modern needs of our citizens and it should be a constitution that can be enforced by our courts."

She said many sections of the current constitution were not enforced and said it would not be "as long as our constitution contains bigoted, illegal, and unclear sections."

Mrs. Buckham said AAUW member encouraged Idahoans to read the comparison of the existing and revised constitutions prepared by the secretary of state.

Argument slated in case

TWIN FALLS — Arguments on a motion by the Amalgamated Sugar Co. to dismiss a complaint brought against that firm by the Idaho Department of Health charging stream pollution will be heard in Fifth Judicial District Court Friday.

District Judge Theron W. Ward will hear the arguments. Amalgamated has asked dismissal of the complaint charging the Idaho Department of Health did not follow proper procedure by issuing a notice to the firm and setting a date by which the firm should meet specific regulations before taking legal action.

Talk slated
RICHFIELD — Vernon Ravenscroft, Tuttle, will speak on the proposed constitution revision at 8 p. m. Friday in the Richfield High School cafeteria.

More milk to Jennifer

TWIN FALLS — Four mothers in Magic Valley contributed 101 ounces of milk the past week for shipment to Boise Thursday morning.

The collection is the largest received in the three weeks mothers in the area have been donating milk to nine-month-old Jennifer Weeks of Boise, according to Mrs. Lucille Chatterton, nurse at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

The Weeks child is allergic to all liquids but mother's milk, according to medical personnel at St. Luke's Hospital, Boise, and she will need mother's milk until about the first of the year.

House candidates state positions

(Editor's note: This is the fifth of six releases providing information on contested political races in Twin Falls County. The material was gathered in a response to questionnaires from the League of Women Voters. The candidate's own words are used.)
Today — State representative candidates from District 23 (eastern half of Twin Falls County.)

The two incumbent Republican representatives in Legislative District 23 are challenged in the Nov. 3 election by R. Les Williamson, Twin Falls. Incumbent Republicans are Jack D. Claiborn and Ray Lincoln, both Twin Falls.

The three candidates were asked to respond to the question, what should be the responsibility of the legislative branch of the state government for insuring environmental quality.

Claiborn answered, "The legislative branch should plan a method of finance and share in the cost. Designate the state board of health as the state agency to adopt rules and regulations and qualify for federal and municipal share of the costs."

"About the environmental question, Williamson answered, "I believe that the legislature has, in recent years, depended too much on the advice of the governor in determining the problems they should concentrate on. Since they control the purse strings, I believe they should be responsible for environmental quality of Idaho instead of the governor."
In response to the environment issue, Lincoln said, "The legislative branch of the state government is responsible for passing the necessary laws to prevent the polluting of our air and water. Not only is it necessary to set up standards for these, but penalties must be spelled out to ensure compliance."

The second question was, what do you consider to be the most pressing governmental problem in Idaho and what solutions are proposed.
Lincoln replied, "It is my belief that the three most pressing governmental problems facing Idaho at this point in time are providing adequate education for our youth, bringing about a respect for law and order, in all areas, and insisting upon adequate controls in the area of environmental quality."

Answering the most pressing problem question, Williamson said, "I am especially interested in getting the junk car mess cleaned up. The trouble is principally financial. The commissioner undoubtedly would like to get the job done, but they have their hands tied financially. I wish to see a statewide one or two-dollar addition to our car license."
In reply to the governmental problem question, Claiborn stated, "I believe that the water is our most important natural resource, we must plan a continued study and development of the total unappropriated waters of our state."

The three candidates were also asked, what changes, if any, they would make in Idaho's education system.
Williamson replied, "I believe that more stress should be placed on vocational education and more aid given to the education of the handicapped. More help could be given the television part of education aid. Colleges need all the help we can give them. I believe that our systems fundamentally sound."

In reply to the education question, Lincoln said, "I think that one half the cost of public education should be financed at the state level, because of the broader tax base there. I believe the appropriation for higher education should be in a lump sum to the board of regents for all institutions of higher education."
Claiborn responded to the education question: "Much has been done in recent years for education from the state level. We should do all that is possible financially to improve our public schools, special education, higher education and stress more emphasis on vocational studies. Repeal SB 1461 and HB 568. These laws are at cross purposes."

Williamson, 66, attended the University of Washington and is a graduate of the University of Idaho, Murray State, Kentucky and Texaco College in Texaco, Mexico. He has been a teacher for 42 years and farmer but is presently retired.

Claiborn, 70, is a high school graduate and farmer and livestock feeder. He has been a member of the Idaho Legislature for 10 years, member of the House Agriculture Committee for 10 years and is a member of the National Sugarbeet Growers Federation board.

Lincoln, 64, is a graduate of the University of Idaho with a BS degree in economics. He is engaged in the farming and livestock business. He has served three terms in the Idaho Legislature and is on the state board of the Production Credit Association.

Japan ignored warnings to limit textile exports

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Right through June of this year the Japanese refused to believe repeated U.S. warnings that unless they voluntarily limited their textile exports to the United States, a protectionist-minded Congress would do it for them.

They refused to listen to U.S. warnings during largely unsuccessful trade talks in Tokyo in October, 1969.

They ignored mounting criticism from the United States and Western Europe of trade policies which had permitted Japan to build up huge foreign trade surpluses while maintaining the walls that protected its own economy from the harsh realities of international competition.

Nor were they dismayed last

April when chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means committee introduced a trade bill sharply curtailing imports of textiles and shoes.

The Nixon administration has requested the legislation to fulfill a Nixon campaign pledge to obtain relief from foreign competition, particularly Japanese, for the textile industry.

Moguls of the Japanese textile industry replied that if the United States wanted a trade war, so be it. In June, talks collapsed.

As the United States and Japan continued on collision course, other industrialized nations took nervous stock. Obviously a trade war would not stop with textiles or shoes. In the long run it probably would destroy all the good accomplished by the so-called Kennedy round of tariff reductions in 1967, and the long forward step toward liberalizing world trade.

Operating at top level within the Japanese establishment is the Federation of Economic Organizations.

In Washington as October drew to a close, Kogoro Uonuma, president of the Federation, arrived with a message.

The Japanese textile industry would accept "voluntary" reductions in their exports to the United States.

Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato, also in Washington on a fortuitous visit, and President Nixon quickly agreed to reopen negotiations on the textile question.

Obviously, Japanese textile industry leaders had been overruled.

Vote stakes running high

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The election stakes are high—very high—for a small number of Democrats looking over the horizon to the next presidential race.

Twenty months before the first of the 1972 primaries, there are no announced candidates for the Democrats' prize—only candidates in disguise.

But speculation does not need formal announcement and there already is a full complement of front-runners, possibilities, outsiders and dark horses.

Out of next Tuesday's elections could come a fresh personality—perhaps a little known senatorial or gubernatorial candidate who scores a dramatic victory that brings him national attention.

But of those who currently figure most prominently in Democratic speculation about 1972, three are running for the Senate and two are senators whose political leases do not expire this year.

Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine are all considered sure bets to win their Senate races. Facing the sidelines are Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana and Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota.

Muskie, the 1968 vice presidential running mate to Humphrey and acknowledged front-runner for the top spot next time, has told Maine voters that what they say Nov. 3 "will have a bearing on what my future will be."

Campaign getting rougher

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—The lengthy and costly 1970 New York state election campaign for U.S. Senate and governor today took on rougher and tougher tones as the races neared the Nov. 3 finished line.

A surprise could be in the making in the race for U.S. Senate where third party candidates, James L. Buckley, a Conservative, showed unusually strong support. He reportedly has backing among Democrats and Republican voters.

Muskie's position as the front-runner has been enhanced by national polls which show him even in popularity with Nixon.

More surprisingly, a recent Boston Globe poll showed Muskie running even better than Kennedy against Nixon in Massachusetts.

Kennedy has been campaigning in Massachusetts against Josiah A. Spaulding as if it were a much closer race than it is. He has devoted all his politicking to the Bay State although he hosted a fundraiser for Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee at his home near Washington.

To remain viable as presidential possibility—now or in the future—Kennedy has to roll up an impressive margin against Spaulding. Six years ago he won by 1.1 million votes, a good target this time.

Like Kennedy and Muskie, Humphrey is a solid favorite in Minnesota, with some reports giving him about a 12 per cent edge over Rep. Clark MacGregor, the GOP nominee.

As former vice-president and titular leader of the party, Humphrey is always included among the possibilities for the 1972 nomination although he said in 1968 that he would be too old (61) by then to try again.

A poll by the New York Daily News 10 days before election indicated Buckley was running ahead of both his rivals, U.S. Sen. Charles E. Goodell, a Republican, and Congressman Richard L. Ottinger, the Democrat-Liberal candidate.

The same News poll said Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, millionaire—three-times—chief executive, was running ahead of his major party rival, Arthur J. Goldberg, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Not having elections of their own, Bayh and McGovern cannot enhance their stature as presidential hopefuls with big winning margins—but their incumbency has freed them for major efforts on behalf of other Democrats.

Similar favors by Nixon in 1968 paid off handsomely in 1968.

McGovern and Byrd have both campaigned on a scale worthy of a presidential candidate—going from state to state to help candidate for governor, senator, congressman and even state assemblyman.

Storm hits Vietnam coast

SAIGON (UPI)—The third major tropical storm in two weeks struck the central Vietnam coast today, disrupting American air operations in the evacuation of the entire fleet of aircraft from the giant U.S. air base at Cam Ranh Bay, 185 miles northeast of Saigon, military spokesmen said. The center of tropical storm Louise, bearing 60 miles an hour winds, was expected to pass directly over Cam Ranh tonight. The fringes of the storm began disrupting air strikes and cargo traffic as early as Tuesday, spokesmen said.

U.S. fighter bombers flew only 43 strikes Tuesday, about two-thirds of the normal level, spokesmen reported.

Air operations also were disrupted by typhoons Joan and Kate, which passed near Da Nang and Nha Trang within the last two weeks.

The bad weather did not affect radar-guided B52 strategic bombers.

Monitoring system set up to check TV commercials

NEW YORK (UPI)—An electronic monitoring system controlled by a computer in Chicago ultimately may eliminate a mountain of paper work and human monitoring for television and advertising.

Digisonics, Inc., already has set up the automatic monitors in 25 cities and eventually expects to have them in 240 cities. It is spending $6 million on monitoring machines alone.

Although it is only the top of the iceberg, according to Jordan Ross, Digisonics president, the company is starting on the task of automatically auditing the broadcast of TV commercials.

The commercial films or videotapes are coded by the firm lab for the advertiser. The automatic monitor records their broadcast in each city and sends the information to a polling computer in Chicago.

"For years," said Ross, "the advertising and broadcasting industries have struggled with an almost impossible task in measuring and monitoring station performance on the broadcast of commercials."

"They have been trying to do the job with an obsolete system originally designed for printed and radio ads. It's slow, unrollable and conducive to cheating. The computer controlled monitoring network will be instantaneous and accurate and can't be created."

Ross said Digisonics is not interested in being mere policeman. The company grew out of a Ross firm called Talents and residuals, which has collected data and has made up payroll and royalty billings for broadcast advertisers since 1962.

"Our automatic network can do a lot more than police the broadcasting of commercials," Ross said. "For example, we can perform automatically for television stations the tedious chore of program logging required by the rules of the Federal Communications Commission. We can tremendously facilitate and reduce the cost of their billing for TV stations. In short, we can help them to automate nearly all their bookkeeping operations and keep them on an absolutely current basis."

Oakley, Raft River set for doubleheader

BURLEY — The Pass-conscious Oakley Hornets will take on defensive-minded Grace Saturday afternoon in Budge field in a battle that will determine the champion of the Magic Valley and fifth district conferences. In the runner-up bowl, starting at 12:30 p.m. Saturday at Burley's Budge Field, Raft River will meet the North Gem Cowboys.

Oakley, completing its first year under Coach Neil Wyatt, brings an undefeated 8-0 record into the "battle," scoring 278 points and allowing 78 Raft River, which turned in six shutouts during its nine-game season, boasts a 7-1 mark with 181 points scored and 49 allows. Oakley scored 29 of those 49 points on the Trojans.

Grace, which won its title by two game over North Gem, lost only to American Falls early in the year and Coach Jim Peterson is proudest of the fact only three touchdowns were scored against his defense from scrimmage. A pass interception and a scooped up fumble cost Grace two other touchdowns, however.

Nicklaus favored in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus failed to make the 36-hole cut at the Kaiser Open last week but he still has to be the favorite to win the $100,000 Sahara Invitational starting Thursday.

This is the 13th annual Sahara and Nicklaus is shooting for his fifth title. Ohio's golden boy has taken home a total of $73,000 from this tournament and he's got his sights on the $20,000 first prize again.

Nicklaus might have fun playing golf but he never fools around. "I think the majority of guys come to Las Vegas more to have fun than to play golf," he says. "But I come here to play."

When he says play, he means play for pay. Ken Still, the Kaiser winner, is here for this 72-hole event which will be played on two courses, for the first two rounds, the Sahara-Nevada and Paradise Valley courses will be used. After the 36-hole cut to the low 70 golfers and ties, all will be in Paradise for the last two rounds.

Royals thump Sonics 131-118

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Norm Van Lier led Cincinnati in points, rebounds and as assists Wednesday night as the Royals defeated Seattle, 131-118, in a National Basketball Association contest.

Van Lier, a sophomore, equalled his pro high with 27 points. The 6-1, 160 pound St. Francis of Pennsylvania graduate also had 13 rebounds and 11 assists.

The Royals' other guard, rookie Nate Archibald, had 21 points as the Royals put seven men in double figures in winning their second straight after losing the first five.

Jerome frosh rip Mt. Home

MOUNTAIN HOME—The Jerome frosh wound up a 6-2 season Thursday by destroying Mountain Home 38-0.

Stacy Camp scored on runs of 25 and 40 yards and added a two-point conversion; Wade Diehl scored from 17 yards out and got a two-pointer; Arlio Caster converted after linebacker Kevin Johnson picked off a pass and returned it 63 yards and Diehl threw to Mike O'Toole for eight yards and the fifth score. Jerome racked up 204 yards while holding Mountain Home to 38.

Raft River Already has played North Gem, defeating the Cowboys 20-0 in the season opener, but in the past couple of weeks has had some injury attrition in its backfield.

Oakley has some good running in Doug Baker and others but likes to ride the throwing arm of Keith Adams, supplemented at times by Severe, to people like Dutch and Randy Robinson. Oakley will throw the ball under any conditions, from any field position and on any down. For the past three years, the Hornets have been known for the homerun play.

Utags say officials beat them

LOGAN, Utah (UPI)—Athletic Director Frank (Buss) Williams accused Western Athletic Conference officials Wednesday of unfair treatment of Utah State University's football team.

"Williams said" he was "disturbed and disappointed" by what he termed "a continual rash of crucial and unprofessional referee decisions" by WAC officials against the Aggies.

The USU athletic director charged that "two unprofessional calls within five minutes" in last week's USU-Brigham Young game were instrumental in "changing the score from 14-7 in our favor to 21-14 in BYU's favor."

One of the calls that angered Williams was a defensive clipping penalty against the Aggies which, according to the Aggie athletic chief, "set up BYU's second touchdown."

Williams said films showed that the Utah State player called for clipping was nowhere near the action.

"A call like this, I think is beyond the human error cushion," Williams said. "It affected the victory of one team and the possible season's success of the losing team."

Gatewood still top receiver

NEW YORK (UPI)—Notre Dame's Tom Gatewood, Joe Theismann's favorite receiver, continued for a fifth straight week as the nation's No. 1 college pass receiver in the latest rankings released Wednesday by National Collegiate Sports Services.

In five contests, Gatewood has nabbed 44 passes for 679 yards and five touchdowns. Going into Saturday's contest with Navy at Philadelphia, Gatewood has averaged nearly nine catches a game.

Davidson's Mike Mikolayunas is runner-up to Gatewood with 37 catches for 428 yards and three touchdowns and a 7.4 catches-per-game average.

New faces among the leaders this week include Colorado State's Jake Green, who now rates No. 1 in kickoff returns with a 30.7-yards average; Dartmouth's Tim Copper (20.2 average in punt returns) and Arkansas' Bill McClard, whose kicking talents have contributed 7.3 points per game to his team's cause. McClard rose from an 11th place tie Saturday to the top position on the strength of two field goals and eight consecutive extra-points against Wichita State.

Eighth-ranked receiver Ernie Jennings of Air Force leads in touchdown catches with 12 in seven games, putting him just six shy of tying the all-time season record of 16, set by San Diego State's Tom Reynolds in 1969. Jennings has four games left to play.

Houston's Elmo Wright, with 30 TD catches, is just two short of the college career mark of 32, established by Tulsa's Howard Twilley in 1963-65. Wright has six games remaining.

into inter-conference competition.

This is the last major weekend of the football season with only four games remaining after Saturday. Minico and Burley will be the only two teams leaving the district, the Spartans traveling to Idaho Falls Friday night and Burley at Madison Saturday afternoon.

The remaining four games will include Wendell at Jerome and Filer at Gooding on Nov. 6 and Twin Falls at Minico and Jerome at Buhl Nov. 11.

But the spotlight returns to Wendell Friday night when Coach Yogi Behrens' homesteading Trojans will be seeking to repeat as Big Six and Big Five league champions and hike their win streak to 16 in a row.

It also will mark the end of a brilliant conference career at Wendell for halfback Kirk Dennis—whose running and throwing has been instrumental in all of the Trojan victories over the last three years.

With Dennis having a great year, a lot of the real power of Wendell has been hidden. Coach Beltrons' defensive unit has allowed only one team to score more than a touchdown per game this year and that was Buhl.

The defense may be seeing its finest back, however, in Glenns Ferry's Rich Brown, a 6-1, 185-pound senior who will be winding up a fine career. Brown is a real power runner which should help offset, at least partially, the advantage Wendell is expected to have in the line.

The situation, from a trophy standpoint, finds Wendell leading by one game in the Big Six and Glenns Ferry can only tie there. But the two are undefeated on the Big Five and the winner takes all the marbles. A tie would benefit Wendell most.

The other championship on the line is the Snake River eight-man prize and Carey needs only a victory over winless Bliss to nail that down. Coach Blaine Tingey's Panthers have a half-game edge over Camas County on virtue of a tie. Camas County needs help from Bliss in upsetting Carey and the Mushers will have to play well to contain the Ron Woodsey-led Rimrock Raiders Friday afternoon at Fairfield.

Jerome, leading the South Central Idaho Conference, takes the week off and the pressure is on the Buhl Indians when they travel to Filer. The game has been moved up to 2 p.m. Friday. This is one of those "proceed with caution" situations that has marked this particular rivalry for years. The favorite is always in jeopardy. Filer hasn't won yet this year and Buhl is within one game of Jerome. A Buhl win would give the Indians a chance to share the crown in a Veterans' Day showdown with the Tigers. But

Twin Falls entertains Highland and Minico plans invasion of Idaho Falls

The Twin Falls Bruins make their final home appearance of the season Friday night in hosting the powerful and once defeated Highland Rams while the Minico Spartans hit the road to test the conference winless Tigers at Idaho Falls.

The games will be the last for both area teams until they meet Nov. 11 at Rupert.

Twin Falls definitely has the hard row since the Rams have shown little weakness on defense, shutting out their last three opponents, and offensively are running neck and neck with undefeated Borah for the SIC total offense championship.

The Rams have the conference's total offense leader in Bill Green who has piled up 1,839 yards in 216 plays overall and 1,466 in 174 conference tries. Green ranks first in passing with 87 completions in 145 tries for 1,406 yards and he is 11th in individual rushing. Green throws to such talented receivers as Brad Peck, the league's top catcher, with 39 receptions for 699 yards and five touchdowns, and Grant Gertsch, who ranks second with 29 grabs for 387 yards and one score. Big Ted Tomlinson has 11 receptions for two touchdowns and makes the runs even more dangerous with an accurate field goal range up to 40 yards.

However, Highland isn't reduced to air travel. Jeff Simmons ranks second in rushing with 943 yards in 128 carries.

Teamwise, Highland has advanced 3,601 yards in total offense while allowing just 1,623. Against that, Twin Falls has 2,006 yards total offense and allowed 2,854.

Twin Falls is led in rushing by Robert Warner with 326 yards while junior quarterback Kevin Nelson has climbed to fifth in passing with 500 yards with 28 completions in 63 throws. Junior Joe Swope has moved to eighth in receiver with 13 catches for 238 yards and two touchdowns.

Minico's challenge isn't that severe except the Spartans are fighting the percentages of a loss sack ending suddenly. Coach Cackly Hill's Spartans snapped one of their own last week in downing Poentello in a game that showed good offense-defense balance.

With the 140 yards gained last week, Spartan Reed Nelson has moved to 10th in rushing with 521 in 74 yards and quarterback Arlen Woodward is fifth in total offense with 711 yards in 153 plays.

Idaho Falls has turned almost exclusively to the pass with Bill Combs throwing, mostly short stuff to swing men out of the backfield.

Tenn stats show Minico with 1,076 yards in total offense and 2,057 allowed. Idaho Falls has 1,755 yards gain — 808 of it in the air — and has allowed 2,531.

Damage by Japanese beetles in 1969 is estimated at $25 million.

South cashed the ace and king of spades, while East discarded the seven and then the three of diamonds. Then South led the 10 of clubs. West slipped on the lead without a moment's hesitation in order to put the queen of diamonds on the table. South ruffed that and led a second club to dummy's trick. With clubs breaking 3-3, South was able to discard a low heart and make his contract.

West blamed his partner for signaling in diamonds, but West's play of the club king was a bad one. East was really marked with the ace of clubs and West should have let East win that first club in order to lead a heart. Now, when West got in with the club king, he would have to decide which suit to lead but, assuming East had led the heart three, he would know that South held another heart.

CONSIDER THIS - Any garment with elastic in it ought to be bought two at a time. Like birdies, bras, some socks, whatever. That's the contention of an expert. And the purchaser should alternate the donning of said garments so none is worn two days in a row. Those little unmentionables need a rest to give them extra life, he says.

EVERYBODY in the world wants a wristwatch, I guess. The makers say they now sell almost six times as many watches as they sold 25 years ago. ... A TRIAL, LAWYER insists his lengthy experience convinces him a man about to commit perjury tends to put his hand to his mouth. ... TRUE, INFLATION is pushing prices up. But not so bad as once. In California's gold rush days, pork ran $6 a pound and a barrel of flour cost $400.

THE WALL STREET BOYS refer to International Telephone stock as Clara Bow inasmuch as its ticker symbol is IT. If you don't savvy this, young fellow, ask your granddad. ... NOTES GRACE DOWNS, that fashion expert: "Where are the days when men used to admire the entire woman? If the current trend continues, we may have to breed women the way they breed chickens - either all boxom or all leg."

CUSTOMER SERVICE - O. "What's the world's coldest town?" A. Omyakon in Siberia. Temperature there drops to minus 90 degrees F. sometimes. "Understand it's not uncommon for a person's eyes to freeze shut. ... O. "Remember Mafie Tippit, the widow of the Dallas policeman shot by Lee Harvey Oswald? How much did the public donate to her all in all?" A. About $750,000, finally.

LOVE AND WAR - How long in history have ex-husbands been required to pay alimony? For more than 2,000 years, at least. Such was the law in old Babylon in 22 B.C. It hasn't been worldwide until lately, though. And now it's going out of style again. Until recently in a lot of places a man who didn't want his wife anymore just sold her.

OPEN QUESTION - What's the origin of that phrase "caught red-handed"?

"LOOK, A SHEET is not a sail, but a line attached to a sail, got it?" writes a client. ... IN TAIHTI, I'm told, it's always high tide at noon and midnight and always low tide at sunrise and sunset. ... NOW IT'S REPORTED all spit-hooved animals, not just pigs, are immune to rattlesnake venom. Is that right?

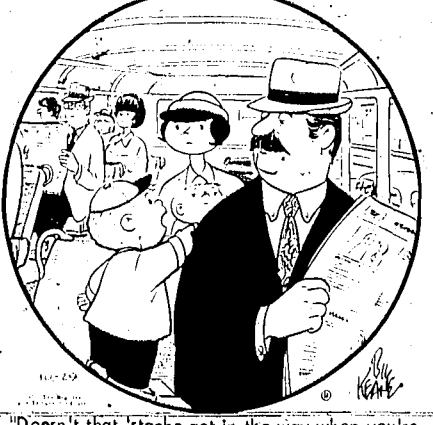

RAPID REPLY - Yes, sir, police say men are far more apt to run stop signs than women, but women are far more apt than men to switch lanes without signaling.

Your questions and comments are welcomed and will be used in PASS IT ON wherever possible. Please address your letters to L.M. Boyd, P.O. Box 99068, Seattle, Wash. 98199.
