TEN CENTS

Youngest 'voter'...

Demos hold

Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Democrats kept control of Congress in Tuesday's election, but administration spokesmen claimed at least an ideological victory for President Nixon in his crucial struggle for a more responsive Senate.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien scoffed at the claim, which was advanced both by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Herbert G. Klein, the administration's communications director.

The biggest surprise was the sweeping Democratic pickup of governorships, giving them important new power bases for the 1972 presidential campaign. But they missed the two biggest prizes when Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Ronald Reagan of California won re-election as expected.

Nearly complete results showed the Democrats would continue to control the House at close to their present ratio of 246 to 189—and possibly register a small gain.

The Democrats retained control of the Senate even without Sen. Harry F. Byrd, the former Democrat who was re-elected as an independent in Virginia. In other contests affecting the final ideological lineup in the Senate, GOP Rep. Robert Taft Jr., took a close Senate race in Ohio from Democrat Howard Metzenbaum and Rep. Richard L. Roudebush, R., held a narrow lead over Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind.

The biggest casualties were Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee; Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., and GOP Sen. Charles E. Goodell of New York, trounced by Conservative candidate James L. Buckley.

Partly offsetting this, Adlai E. Stevenson III defeated GOP Sen. Ralph T. Smith in Illinois and Democratic Rep. John V. Tunney, son of the former heavyweight boxing champion, beat former film star George Murphy in California.

Two 1972 Democratic presidential possibilities—Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts—were re-elected handily. The man Nixon beat in 1968—Hubert H. Humphrey—also regained his old Senate seat from Minnesota and a

Crash kills Jerome man

JEROME—A young Jerome man injured Tuesday morning in a Jerome County freeway accident, died Tuesday afternoon at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Twin Falls County Coroner Cloyd Edwards said a post-mortem examination performed at the hospital Tuesday afternoon revealed Lonnie Hobson, 24, died of internal chest injuries.

Hobson was alone in his 1945 sedan when it slammed into the rear end of a 1960 sedan driven by Lily White, 35, Mountain Home. The accident occurred about a quarter of a mile west of the junction of Interstate 80N and U.S. Highway 93 in the east-bound lane of the interstate.

Hobson's body was taken to White Mortuary in Twin Falls. Funeral services will be Saturday at the mortuary.

Backlash?

VICE PRESIDENT Spiro Agnew says he "isn't really disappointed" in Republican failure to win control of Congress despite vigorous campaigning prior to general election. Agnew said nation has gone through ideological change. Several key congressional races went to Democrats after campaign appearances by Agnew and President Nixon. (UPI)

Andrus wins

By RICHARD CHARNOK
BOISE (UPI)—Governor-elect Cecil Andrus vowed today to take time off for sheep and elk hunting before beginning a "talent search" to staff the first Democrat state administration in 24 years.

"I'm going to sleep for about two or three days," the 39-year-old Boise insurance executive said, not entirely tongue-in-cheek. "Then I'm going to take my tent, my sleeping bag, my black mare, and my elk hunting rifle and head into the hills."

But after that, said the first Democrat to win the governorship since Charles Gossett, Nampa, pulled it off in 1944, the first item of business is to find the "dedicated and qualified" personnel to give Idaho's state government a "change in direction."

Andrus defeated Republican incumbent Don Samuelson, 57, by some 8,000 votes Tuesday to climax a soft-voiced campaign keyed to taxes, education and environmental controls.

Samuelson ran on his record and Andrus ran against it. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew came twice to Idaho to help Samuelson—once in May to address a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner and again last Saturday to speak to a GOP rally in Boise. President Richard Nixon sent telegrams and other tokens of support to Samuelson, too.

When the votes were counted Samuelson captured the most counties—in fact, he took a large majority of them. But Andrus won the election by cracking such Republican strongholds as Ada, Canyon and Twin Falls counties for sizeable blocs of votes while building up big margins in the Democrats' traditional territory.

When the dust settled Samuelson—who won the governorship in 1966 with a 10,842 plurality vote over Andrus and two independent candidates—was all through.

"Idaho has enjoyed four years of progress and I am proud and thankful to have had a part in that progress," Samuelson said.

Rep. Hansen

Nixon hails 'victory'

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon today claimed victory in his efforts to change the ideological coloration of the Senate.

His advisers said he believed he had achieved the goal for which he campaigned with unprecedented intensity: Winning a "majority of one" in support of his policies.

They pointed out that two of his arch critics—Sen. Charles Goodell of New York and Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee—had been defeated. And they hinted that a third one—Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri—had been sufficiently scared by his close race against Republican newcomer John C. Danforth to mute his criticism.

They also tentatively claimed on the basis of incomplete returns that the half-century-old trend of the party in the White House losing strength during off-year congressional elections had been blunted if not reversed.

Valley backed Don

TWIN FALLS—An unexpectedly heavy Andrus vote throughout Magic Valley was the major surprise of Tuesday's election that saw valley voters generally favoring the incumbents in state offices.

Valley voters, following the statewide trend, also favored Second District Cong. Orval Hansen by nearly a three-to-one margin.

The seven valley counties outside of Twin Falls gave Democratic gubernatorial challenger Cecil Andrus a husky 10,230 votes, while favoring incumbent Gov. Don Samuelson by a majority of less than 52 per cent, with 11,043 votes out of a total of 21,273 votes for both candidates.

Rep. Orval Hansen received 13,222 votes to 5,830 for challenger Marden Wells; while American Party candidate Joel Anderson ran a distant third with 349.

Governor Andrus

Redraft falters

By LINDY HIGH
BOISE (UPI)—Idaho voters gave a sound drubbing to the proposed constitutional revision Tuesday, but agreed to beef up their 81-year-old document by approving two uncontroversial amendments.

The 132,396 to 70,273 rejection of the revision—with 860 of the state's 891 precincts reporting—was predicted by many, including Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy, who warned the revision would be "nit-picked" to death.

At the same time, voters gave approval to the legislative pay initiative to slice legislative expenses, drop monthly expense allowance and limit pay to 60 days during the first session and 30 days in the second.

With 860 precincts reporting early today, 119,753 voters approved the measure with only 85,753 voting to keep legislators' pay at the current level, giving it the needed majority of total votes cast for governor.

The vote to cut expenses from $35 to $25 per day and drop the $200 per month allowance came despite warnings the salary decreases would make both houses havens for the wealthy, who could afford to serve the state.

T.F. motel robbed

TWIN FALLS—Police are searching today for two young men who escaped with about $400 in an armed robbery early this morning at the Fairways Motel. Police said one of the men forced the manager, Jack Ainsworth, to open the cash register in the motel office and then bound and gagged him, leaving him lying on the floor.

It is the third armed robbery here since Aug. 21.

Valley voters 'wanted change'

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS—Democratic and Republican party leaders in Twin Falls were in agreement about one major thing today—that the voters, at least at the state level, wanted a change.

Democratic county chairman Vincent Smazal said in his 32 years of politics he found the state victory for Cecil Andrus worth waiting for. He said not since he was a precinct worker 26 years ago has he come out on the victorious side of the state elections.

Douglas Kramer, Republican central committee chairman in the county said he can see no answer except that apparently the voters wanted a change. He said the new issues of ecology and possibly the education factor contributed to the defeat of Gov. Don Samuelson.

people who voted so strongly against the constitution revision may have attributed it to the present administration.

Kramer who served on the revision commission, said he feels the issue is not dead but will have to take another form of revision, probably through a constitutional convention. If nothing else, he said, the matter is now before the public and most realize the constitution needs some changes although they may not approve of those offered in the Tuesday election.

Kramer said he felt most of the voters did not fully understand the revision and for this reason voted against it.

As for county level elections, Kramer said he was satisfied with the voters of Twin Falls County. He noted they favored the governor by a small majority and supported other Republicans, electing a full Republican slate where there was opposition.

Smazal said he could not help being disappointed in the county results, especially the legislative races where both Democrats were defeated by large votes and in the county commission posts, both going to Republicans. He said in the third district, Russell C. Larsen made an outstanding showing against the strong incumbent but could not quite turn the tide.

John Barker, Buhl, Republican state senator who was re-elected to the legislature from District 24, and who served on the senate committee to carry the constitution revision through that legislative body said he was not too surprised with the vote on the issue.

"It seems you have to take a constitution revision question to the voters more than once, and certainly we are not going to stop here," he said. Barker said the election itself pointed out the need for updating the Idaho Constitution.

Barker said he feels the revision issue will be discussed Friday in Boise when the legislative committee meets for the first time following the election. He said the matter might go into constitutional convention or back to the same convention for some changes.

Sen. Barker said he felt the water issue and the county candidate matter defeated the revision and these will require some further study and rewording.

Kramer said he believed the fire arms issue also held influence in the matter.

Lloyd Walker, an unsuccessful candidate for Democratic gubernatorial nomination who did not take an active part in the Andrus campaign, said he felt the small vote probably did more to bring about the Democratic victory for Andrus than anything. He said many persons, and apparently most of them the more moderate faction of the Republican party, simply stayed away from the polls.

Fonda arrested for smuggling

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (UPI) — Actress Jane Fonda, only hours after her release from the Cleveland City Jail where she was held on charges of smuggling and assaulting a policeman, resumed her campus tour by telling students, "We must win back our country."

Miss Fonda was arrested at Hopkins International Airport in Cleveland Tuesday after allegedly kicking and slapping a policeman and screaming: "Get out of here, you pig."

She was accused of smuggling into the country 105 vials of pills, she later described as "health food."

"If this can happen to me,"

Miss Fonda told an audience of about 2,000 at Central Michigan University Tuesday night, "you can imagine what happens to less visible people who are trying to do something constructive about this country."

Miss Fonda, on a tour of colleges and universities in the United States and Canada to speak against the war in Indochina, arrived Tuesday at Hopkins on a flight from Toronto. During an appearance at Fansaw College in London, Ont., Monday night, she had charged that "There is only repression and prison for anyone trying to do anything in America."

Thieu campaigns

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu hinted Tuesday night he might not run for re-election in 1971 but only hours later was acting like a campaigner while touring flood-devastated northern provinces.

Thieu flew to the north today for what spokesman said would be a two or three-day visit to a region where 193 persons died and 100,000 others were in refugee camps following the worst floods in six years.

The trip was believed partly political in nature. His departure came only hours after Thieu told newsmen, "This job takes so much out of one. I have been looking for someone else to do it."

The comment on the September elections was considered significant in light of a statement Sunday by Maj. Gen. Duong Van "Big" Minh in which he hinted he might challenge Thieu.

Adding weight to the statements by both men was the comment in Paris Monday by Viet Cong Foreign Minister Madame Nguyen Thi Binh who said the Communists would "enter into contact with anybody" but the Thieu regime.

AAUW women hear panel

BURLEY — Members of the American Association of University Women heard a panel discussion on "The Development of our Community" during their meeting Monday in conference room of the Idaho Bank and Trust.

Panel members were Jack Keen, city recreation director; Jack Pierce, Malta rancher; Hugo DalSoglio, official with J.R. Simplot; Tom Geary, Burley farmer; John Hill, manager of the Wild Life Refuge at Minidoka Dam, and Ernest Blauer, district manager of Amalgamated Sugar Co.

Keen reported on the recreation facilities available in this area, Pierce spoke of land worked by ranchers and farmers and suggested a planning for future to preserve the balance in the agricultural economy.

DalSoglio reported on what an industry looks for prior to locating in an area.

Geary discussed problems relative to the farming industry.

Few surprises in T.F. county balloting

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Staff Writer
TWIN FALLS — Gov. Don Samuelson carried Twin Falls County by a slim 600-vote margin out of a total of 13,093 votes cast for both candidates in Tuesday's election — an election that posed few surprises in the county.

The total vote for governor in the 48 precincts of Twin Falls County was Samuelson, 8,888; Andrus, 6,225. As anticipated by the highly vocal opponents of the proposed constitutional revision, the measure was soundly whipped in the county, with 2,888 votes cast in favor of a whopping 8,105 against.

In the legislature, the incumbents kept their seats handsily, with two challengers posing no serious threat. In Legislative District 24, Sen. John Barker, with no opposition, garnered 4,198 votes, while Reps. William Lanting, with 3,826 votes, and William Roberts, with 4,035 easily beat their single Democratic opponent Jack Clough who was given 2,123. In District 23, Sen. Richard High, with no Democratic opposition, received 4,976 votes; Rep. Jack Claborn received 4,453 and Rep. Ray Lincoln was given 4,949, against 2,341 for challenger Les Williamson.

Rep. Orval Hansen swept Twin Falls County, receiving 8,866 votes to 2,964 for his Democratic challenger Marden Wells, and 464 for American Party opponent Joel Anderson. A surprising but not threatening strength was displayed by American Party candidate Wallace Hitt, who garnered 1,215 votes in the race for lieutenant governor. Incumbent Jack Murphy took the county with no problems, 7,815 votes to 3,946 for Democrat Paul Boyd.

In the state auditor's contest, Republican challenger Jack Holley surprised incumbent Democrat Joe Williams by edging him, 6,326 to 6,103 in the county. In the Supreme Court contest, a non-partisan post, incumbent Clay V. Spear easily overcame challenger Will S. Defenbach by 5,809 to 3,655 votes.

In other races, incumbent Superintendent of Public Instruction D. F. Engelking topped his two challengers, but by a narrow margin. Engelking received 5,964 votes to 5,798 for Republican challenger Gilbert T. McKinlay, and 671 for American Party hopeful A. Lane Blanchard. Incumbent State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon received 7,917 votes to 4,785 for challenger Wallace Connolly.

Twin Falls County voters also endorsed the proposed four-year terms for county treasurer, 5,469 votes in favor to 4,532 against, and county assessor by 5,959 in favor to 4,124 against, and favored the complicated legislative expense initiative by 6,939 in favor to 4,304 opposed.

T.F. machinery works smoothly

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Staff Writer
TWIN FALLS — The voting machines worked "like a charm", but procrastination of voters slowed the count in Tuesday's general election. The first precinct to report, Precinct No. 3, reported its vote totals about 8:30 p.m. Tuesday at the county auditor-recorder's office, which served as headquarters for the counting. But many precincts reported last-minute rush of voters, often within the last hour before the 8 p.m. closing time, that kept the election crews working overtime. According to state law, Auditor Harold Lancaster said, if a single voter, or a large crowd of voters, is inside the building by or before 8 p.m.,

they must be allowed to vote, even if the election judges must work well past 8 p.m. At Hansen, it was reported, a surge of voters in the last few minutes swelled the vote totals well over 50 per cent of all registered electors — and almost swamped the single voting machine. The device is designed to record no more than 300 votes in an eight-hour period, and a total of 270 votes was cast at Hansen — out of 400 registered voters. Ordinarily, a precinct is given one voting machine for each 300 voters who can be expected to cast their ballot — state law provides that voting districts be drawn so that no more than 600 voters are contained in any single district. With only 400 registered voters in Hansen it is usually assumed that far fewer than 300 will vote until Tuesday. The returns came in thick and fast during the first two hours after the polls closed. Some election judges, in the close-in districts, brought in their tally sheets; others, in more remote areas, called in the results. All precincts with one exception — Precinct 20, voting at Morningside School, had reported by 10:30 p.m. Tuesday — almost a record time, even with the use of voting machines. However, some unexpected trouble, which was not explained, developed at Precinct 20, and their tally was received nearly an hour after all others had been recorded.

Magic Valley vote follows Gem path

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley voters followed the statewide trend on special issues in Tuesday's election by defeating the revised constitution and supporting Clay V. Spear for Supreme Court justice. Area voters overwhelmingly expressed disapproval of the new constitution, with the margin of no votes much wider than the statewide trend of two to one against the proposal. The vote by counties was Camas, 339 no to 47 yes; Blaine

1,508 no to 586 yes; Cassia, 3,860 no and 1,030 yes; Jerome, 3,067 no and 531 yes; Lincoln, 1,097 yes and 161 no; Minidoka, 3,747 yes and 732 no, while in Twin Falls the vote was 8,105 no to 2,888 yes. Voters approved initiative No. 1, to limit legislative allowances. The vote was, Camas 228 yes to 147 no; Blaine 1,137 yes to 973 no; Cassia, 2,682 yes to 1,988 no; Jerome, 2,543 yes to 1,032 no; Lincoln 757 yes to 493 no; Minidoka, 2,877 yes to 1,602 no and Twin Falls, 6,939 yes to 4,304 no.

Voters in all valley counties but Twin Falls turned down HJR No. 3 to make the assessor's post a four-year term, and only Minidoka and Twin Falls voters favored SJR No. 12, to make the treasurer job a four-year term. The vote on HJR No. 3 by county — Camas 193 no to 183 yes; Blaine 1,066 no to 937 yes; Cassia 2,546 no to 2,359 yes; Jerome, 1,754 no to 1,644 yes; Lincoln, 668 no to 547 yes; Minidoka, 1,999 no to 2,322 yes; and Twin Falls, 4,124 yes to 5,959 no. SJR No. 121 received 186 no and 185 yes votes in Camas; 1,105 no to 145 yes in Blaine; 2,438 no to 2,370 yes in Cassia; 1,781 no to 1,608 yes in Jerome; 644 no to 615 yes; Lincoln, 2,021 no to 2,299 yes in Minidoka, and 4,532 no to 5,469 yes in Twin Falls.

Shoshone sewer eyed

SHOSHONE — City councilmen spent part of Tuesday night's meeting studying rules, regulations, rates and a proposed ordinance for a city sewer system, according to Mrs. Ruth Chess, city clerk. Shoshone voters approved a $580,000 bond issue last August to provide for installation of the sewer system. Councilmen recessed to meet again later this month to continue study in preparation for sale of the bonds. Councilmen also read and approved Ordinance No. 304 which amends certain sections of the Shoshone code to provide that salaries of the fire chief, assistant fire chief and compensation to volunteer firemen be set at the discretion of the council. The Council also: — Issued building permits to C. A. Bates for a storage building and to Gerald Frees for a carport and garage. — Approved transfer of a beer and liquor license to Alvin Gorrell, new owner of the Palace. They also approved a bartender permit for Gorrell. — Heard a report that improvement in the water system has been made to the property line of Garry L. and Ray C. Kistler property which will be annexed to Shoshone in the near future. — And heard monthly reports of department heads.

In the Supreme Court justice race Camas gave Will Defenbach 166 and Spear 203; Blaine, Defenbach 853 to 1,268 for Spear; Cassia, 2,213 for Defenbach and 2,545 for Spear; Jerome, 1,283 for Defenbach to 2,171 for Spear; Lincoln, 484, Defenba h, and 736 Spear; Minidoka, 1,999 for Defenbach and 2,215 for Spear, and Twin Falls, 3,655 for Defenbach and 5,809 for Spear.

Driving practices outlined

FILER — Cpl. Coleman Watkins, 11 year member of the Idaho State Police, listed hints for safe driving and suggested good driving practices for rural areas to members of the Filer Kiwanis club Tuesday noon. The club meets at the Filer United Methodist church. Introduced by LeRoy Flemer, program chairman, Corporal Watkins noted that in Idaho there is 98 per cent voluntary participation in driver training courses in the schools. Only two other states exceed that percentage and in those states driver training is compulsory.

The speaker discussed the "slow moving vehicle" signs required on tractors and other vehicles on public roads and warned all farmers who do not already have them to place them on the vehicles. There will be strict enforcement of this requirement in the future, he said. Guests included E. J. Wills, Andy Anderson, and Kenneth Montgomery, all Twin Falls; and Jeff Ward and Ron Griff, of the Key Club.

Democrats retain Congress control

(Continued from page 1) The vice president was unhappy about the defeat of Rep. George Bush in the Texas Senate race but was confident that the Democratic winner, former Rep. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr., would be more helpful to the administration than Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough. Bentsen beat Yarborough in the Democratic primary. Agnew also pointed to Buckley in New York as a welcome replacement for Goodell, whom he had ranked with the "radical liberals" in the Senate. "The President is in full agreement with what I'm telling you tonight," Agnew told reporters. In Florida, Gov. Claude R. Kirk Jr., lost to Democratic state Sen. Reuben Agnew, a priority Republican target seat, held by retiring Sen. Spessard L. Holland, was won by state Sen. Lawton Chiles, the Democrat, over Rep. William C. Cramer who was urged to run by the President. Democratic Gov. Preston Smith was re-elected in Texas. Elsewhere in the South, Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller was unseated by a political newcomer, Dale Bumbers. Rep. Albert W. Watson lost his Republican bid to win the South Carolina governorship from Lt. Gov. John C. West. In Maryland, Tydings was upset by Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Republican son of a former Republican senator. It was Tydings, also the son of a senator, who ousted Beall's father from the Senate.

Vote machines sell Ada board

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County's new voting machines, — used in a general election for the first time on Tuesday — sold Ada County-commissioners on their use. A delegation from Ada County, including Rulon Swensen, commission chairman, and commissioners Jack Barney and John Bastida, toured voting precincts in Twin Falls County during the last few hours of Tuesday's election, then watched returns being tallied at the Twin Falls County auditor's office in the courthouse. Swensen said that "There's no doubt that we'll have to go to this type of machine, probably in two years." Twin Falls County Auditor Harold Lancaster said there were no malfunctions of the machines throughout the county's 48 precincts in Tuesday's election. The machines were first used last August, for the primary election, also without trouble. The Ada County commissioners said they were well impressed with the speed of tabulation after the polls closed at 8 p.m. The first precincts were received within half an hour, and all but one precinct had been received by shortly after 10 p.m. Twin Falls County Commissioners also had praise for the machines. Commissioner Heber Loughmiller said there were far fewer spoiled ballots with the voting machines and no question as to the accuracy of the final tally.

CSI bonds ready for sale

TWIN FALLS — Officials of the College of Southern Idaho are waiting for an appointment to be set with the Portland office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to sell bonds to finance two projects now under construction on campus. Dr. James L. Taylor, president of CSI, said the sale probably will be made between now and Nov. 15. HUD offices for the western states are being reorganized and the move has delayed selling of self-liquidating bonds to the federal government. Taylor said the $1.295 million will finance construction of the commons, which contains administration, library and student union facilities, and a coeducational dormitory. CSI, Taylor said, has completed in all respects to prepare for the bond sale. Contract completion date on the structures is Nov. 26, Taylor said, and the commons probably will be complete about Dec. 15 and the dormitory by Jan. 1. He said both will be ready for occupancy by second semester. Plans for the CSI vocational-technical building set for construction on campus have been approved by the state permanent building council and are now being considered by the regional office of education in Seattle, Taylor said.

Taylor said if plans are approved by architects and engineers from that office, CSI should have a directive within a week which will allow advertisement for bids to begin. Bids should be let sometime prior to the end of the year, Taylor said.

Projected cost of the structure is $565,000, with $250,000 of that coming from the state's permanent building fund. The remainder, if the project is approved, will be supplied by the office of education.

The site of the vo-tech building has been changed by action of the board of trustees, Taylor said.

Previously announced was a site east of Shields Academic building, but present plans call for construction north and facing a mall at the rear of the academic building.

Foreign policy unaffected by outcome of '70 election

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The outcome of the elections is not expected to have any significant effect on American foreign policy in the foreseeable future. President Nixon has taken most of the heat out of the Vietnam issue by his program of gradually withdrawing U.S.

troops. A majority of the electorate as well as the Congress supports his present course.

There is no possible combination of victories and defeats in the senatorial contests which could have any significant effect in altering the course on which Nixon is embarked.

The danger to the administration's foreign policy on this issue, as well as others with which he must deal, lies not in change in congressional support. It lies in the possibility that the scenario on Vietnam may not unfold exactly as the administration foresees it at this time.

The Middle East situation, and the administration's handling of it so far, has not been a partisan issue and did not enter into the campaign debates. The Israeli-Arab conflict has become part of the far greater and more ominous contest between Washington and Moscow in the Middle East. The administration will have to chart its future course on this basis and not on the basis of any partisan political considerations.

Among the international issues which Nixon must face within the next year is one which has not been debated at all in the current campaign. It involves the question of whether the United States should drastically reduce the 320,000-man military force it keeps in Europe and the Mediterranean, 200,000 of whom are stationed in Germany.

The big East-West issue of controlling strategic nuclear weapons is one which is very much in the President's mind. However, it was not among the subjects of concern to voters electing new senators and congressmen this year.

It would be difficult to find any reason for believing that demands for troop reductions in Europe will be any less in the future, since the leader of the group demanding heavy cuts is Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and he is going to be pushing this as hard as ever with support from a number of Republicans who were not up for reelection this time, such as Illinois' Charles Percy.

Retires ...

SGT. ANDREAS ANDERSEN has retired from the United States Army after 27 years service. He served about six months as recruiter in Twin Falls this year. Andersen served during World War II, the Korean and Vietnam wars. He and his wife, Frances, and son, Michael, live in Twin Falls.

Navy rates offered veterans

TWIN FALLS — Navy men who have been out of service for four years or less and who are third, second or first class petty officers in 112 pay grades can re-enlist for two years at the same pay grade at which they were discharged, according to Chief Ron Jennings, local Navy recruiter.

Jennings said young men also can enlist in nuclear power or electronics fields as seamen and after 19 weeks at their first "A" school will be automatically advanced to third class petty officers. For further information on these enlisted programs, Jennings can be seen at 130 Second St. E., or by calling 733-6323.

Courses in law taught youths

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI)—A judge and his local school board are cooperating in a unique experiment in the teaching of law to seventh and eighth graders.

Judge Roy W. Seagraves of the San Mateo County Municipal Court has put together a "casebook" method of instruction, which shows how the police and the judicial system work by following the development of a series of cases from beginning to end.

"The primary intent is to get real life situations that relate to young kids," said LeRoy Porter, director of pupil personnel services for the Redwood City School District.

"There has never been to my knowledge any approach to teaching the law as such," he said. "Some kids were just not realizing what the law said."

The program, now into its third year, will reach 1,824 students in 78 classes. Eighteen teachers will give the pupils 12 periods per student of casebook instruction.

A case history—for example, the story of a robber from the time he robs a bank to the day he leaves prison—is assigned the class for homework.

The story is then discussed in class. "They ask questions and talk of the ramifications of this incident as it pertains to the students," Porter said.

Judge Seagraves, who is converting the program for the 50 states and all 12 grades, thinks the need for his program is urgent.

"Because of the rapid deterioration of the attitudes of young people nationally we now feel we must hasten the job," Seagraves said.

Some of the 24 cases offered the seventh and eighth grades are: "Juveniles Have Rights, Too," including the right to attorney; "Don't Go to Pot"; "Police, Friend or Foe," about murder and grand theft; "Road to Riot," about lawful assembly and the use of reasonable police force and "We Shall Overcome," the laws of free speech and assembly.

The judge keeps computerized track of the students' progress with programmed tests before and after the semester and control classes that study the traditional social studies curriculum.

Girls do better than boys, he reported, and high achievement students in other subjects do better in law as well. Those pupils with reading difficulties have difficulties in grasping the law classes.

Accused man asks hearing

TWIN FALLS — A man accused of embezzling an auto last April from National Car Rental in Twin Falls is in the Twin Falls County jail awaiting a preliminary hearing.

Sheriff Paul Corder made a 5,000 mile round trip to Ocala, Fla., to return Vernon E. Almon, 31, Ocala, to Twin Falls to stand charges.

Almon, who requested a preliminary hearing when he was arraigned in police court, was extradited from Florida. He was wanted by the city police department. Bond was set at $1,000 and has not been posted.

Important mice

NEW YORK (UPI) The Cancer Research Center at Brooklyn and Queens is teaming with mice. But they're not running up and down the hall and walls.

Some 23,000 of the little rodents representing 23 generations of the same genetic strain, were imported from the Miami (Fla.) University School of Medicine to be used here in cancer research. The fully documented genealogical record of each mouse is an important factor in the study of immunity to cancer, according to the project's director, Dr. Daniel S. Martin, head of the CAMC surgery department.

This research project, funded by the National Institute of Health, is aimed at development of broad-based therapy for breast cancer. Mice of the same genetic strain are vital to the experiment because they can be expected to show a similar degree of natural immunity to cancer cells.

Millions of trees planted

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI) — In the rain forests of British Columbia, enough lumber for an entire American city began to take root this year. In a continuing reforestation program conducted by MacMillan-Bloedel Limited, Canada's largest forest-products company, 5.6 million young trees have been planted in British Columbia thus far this year, topping the previous annual planting record by nearly one million seedlings.

American base due transfer

SAIGON (UPI) — Departing U.S. Army units will turn over a major American helicopter base in the Mekong Delta and its 31 UH1 Huey aircraft to the South Vietnamese Air Force Wednesday, military sources said.

Processed into lumber, the wood would be enough to build 51,300 average-size American homes, or dwellings for more than 200,000 people.

Peruvian horses rock along

LIMA (UPI) — A strange switch in genes, perhaps a couple of hundred years after the Spanish conquered Peru, made the country the home of the world's only live rocking horses.

The Peruvians call them "Caballos de Paso," literally "Horses of the Step" and their future seems just to be arriving as the play horse of the world. Unlike other horses, the Peruvian "rocking horses" are born with a peculiar rocking stride, so amazingly smooth that it permits even a novice rider to sit effortlessly for as many miles as he wants.

So far, few of the world's horse lovers seem to know about the unusual Peruvian horse but the word is starting to spread, thanks largely to the National Association of Owners of Caballos de Paso, an elite group of Peruvians who have been meeting every Monday night for 26 years to discuss the virtues of the "pasos."

They believe the horses came from a mutation that occurred some time after the Spanish conquerors introduced the first horses to the nation.

The "paso" owners probably are the most unselfish group of horsemen in the world. Charging a stud fee for the use of a prized stallion is unheard of, for example. Their only thought is for improving the horses.

Ban on comment lifted

KENT, Ohio (UPI)—A federal judge Tuesday lifted a lower court order which banned critical comment on a special grand jury report on last spring's disturbances at Kent State University.

U.S. District Court Judge Ben C. Green criticized the ban, imposed by the Portage County Common Pleas Court.

"Public officials may not wield an ax when a scalpel is required," he said.

Green's decision lifting the ban was on a suit filed by the American Civil Liberties Union.

The special grand jury indicted 25 persons and absolved the Ohio National Guard of any blame in the deaths of four students, killed May 4 when guardsmen fired at demonstrators on the Kent State campus. Those indicted did not include any guardsmen.

Green said the lower court order was "overly broad." He said the grand jury report went "far beyond consideration of the offense" on which the indictments were based.

"It considers the conduct of not only those charged with violations of the law, but also makes a critical report of the actions and conduct of officials of Kent State, the Ohio National Guard and others caught up in the events which transpired at the university," Green said.

"It condemns the conduct of the university officials and certain professors and students," he said, "and seriously draws into question the very delicate matter of academic freedom."

Lost mine termed help

NEW YORK (UPI)—A mountain of copper ore in a remote section of Indonesia, originally discovered by a Dutch expedition in 1938 and subsequently "lost" for 24 years, is expected to play a major role in Indonesia's economic development once commercial production of copper begins in early 1973. The deposit is believed to be the largest one above ground of base metals in the world.

The original expedition report on the Ertzberg ("ore mountain") disappeared in the chaos surrounding the Nazi invasion of the Netherlands, and did not reappear until 1959 when it was brought to the attention of Freeport Sulphur Company. In 1960 Forbes K. Wilson, Freeport's vice president for exploration, led a 33-man overland expedition into the area and "rediscovered" the Ertzberg. Subsequent studies of the deposit proved encouraging.

Science award winner chosen

WENDELL — Pat Scheel, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M.E. Scheel, was chosen as the winner of the Bausch and Lomb Science Award at the Wendell High School.

PATSCHEEL

The award was presented by Willard Spalding, principal of the school.

"The Bausch and Lomb Science Award is especially significant," Spalding said, "because it recognizes our senior with the highest scholastic standing in science subjects."

Miss Scheel is the 11th Bausch and Lomb Science Award Winner at the Wendell High School.

She is eligible to compete for a four-year Bausch and Lomb Science Scholarship at the University of Rochester, New York. Scholarship winners are selected on merit. Stipends are based on need and may range up to $3,000 per year.

Farmer's night set for Monday

WENDELL — Charles Freeman, general chairman of the annual Farmers' Night sponsored by members of the Wendell Chamber of Commerce, said today the event has been scheduled for Monday, at 7:30 p.m. at the Wendell elementary school.

Entertainment will be furnished by "Sons of The Pioneers." Freeman said the chamber has extended its invitation to all farmers and ranchers in the Wendell area.

Freeman stated this is the one event of the year that guests are limited to men only.

The meal will be catered by LeRoy Radau of the Hagerman Hotel and will be smorgasbord including a choice of beef, ham and turkey.

serve as master of ceremonies. Committees appointed by Freeman include Charles Iretton, entertainment; Mrs. Earl Schrenk, publicity; Mark Koll and Larry Petersen, invitations; Arnold Runyon and Farren-Chandler, gifts and door prizes; Joe Leeper, favors; Ken Bradshaw, Mel Theate, and Woodrow Harris, decorations and arrangements; John Coble, treasurer; set-up and clean-up, entire chamber membership.

Dairy operation among largest

WENDELL — A dairy operation owned by Fred Prins and managed by his son-in-law Jack Diepersleet, when in full operation will be one of the largest in the state.

It is located on a ranch in the West Point area of Wendell on the ranch formerly owned by Joe Hansen.

Diepersleet said he is presently milking about 100 cows but the number will be increased to 1,000 in about 18 months.

This enterprise is noteworthy for other reasons other than its projected size.

A special barn constructed is believed to be the most modern of its kind in the state and probably the largest ever constructed by Volco, Inc. according to V.E. Camozzi, general manager of Volco, Inc. The latest in milking equipment has been installed and is now in use.

The barn is designed with no grain feeding while cows are being milked. Molasses salt blocks are available which cuts down on operator's time and also dust problem.

Diepersleet stated he developed the design and is responsible for arranging the facilities which include a special "crowd gate" and cattle "alleys" for inside return so that the cows can be milked and moved quickly. The milking area holds 20 cows, 10 in two rows.

Diepersleet said about 110 cows can be milked per hour. The holding area contains cattle ready to move into the milking area.

After milking the milk travels through special cooling lines into a waiting tank truck of about 6,000 gallon capacity. Diepersleet stated milking can be conducted around the clock under the present setup.

The farm has membership in Ida Gem and General Manager Lyons Smith said his firm furnished some technical advice and assistance for the project.

Diepersleet and Prins are from California. According to Smith more and more West Coast dairymen are coming to the Magic Valley area.

Ed Koester, Gooding County extension agent, reported recently Wendell area dairy farmers were presently milking over 5,000 cows daily, not counting the Diepersleet herd.

Smith said in looking into the future, he expects that many 300 and 400 head herds will be established in the region. He emphasized that Ida Gem is vitally interested in the small dairy farmer just as much as the large operation.

He said his company is prepared to give technical advice to dairymen with only a few cows as well as those with large herds.

Ex-official in hospital

WENDELL — Joe (Denton) Hall former Gooding resident and Gooding County 4-H Agent for a number of years, employed by Idaho Dairymen's Association, Boise, is confined to St. Alphonsus Hospital in Boise.

His son Mike, currently serving with the armed forces in Japan, has returned home to be with his family.

Japanese 'militarists' hit

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Communist China has linked an attack on Japanese "militarism" with a call for a conference of large and small nations to discuss prohibition and destruction of nuclear weapons.

Since the Red Chinese have in the past rejected all invitations to participate in world disarmament discussions, the proposal scarcely can be taken seriously. It is, however, in the pattern of the propaganda line which the Chinese have been following since the first Chinese nuclear test blast in 1964.

Linked with the latest Chinese proposal was a denunciation of "U.S. imperialism" and of "Japanese militarism" for collaborating with and serving as a vanguard for U.S. "aggression" in Asia. It was issued in connection with a visit by a Japanese socialist delegation to Peking.

It was on Oct. 16, 1964, that the Chinese announced their entry into the atomic club, accompanying it by a call for an international conference to "discuss the question of the complete prohibition and thorough destruction of nuclear weapons" and a promise that China "will never at any time and under any circumstances be the first to use nuclear weapons."

In 1965, the Chinese proposed specifically to the United States that they join in a pledge not to use nuclear weapons against each other.

The United States rejected the suggestion as without "sufficient guarantee."

The exchange was not made public until May 11, 1966, when the United States raised the possibility of entering into a pledge with the Chinese that neither would be the first to use nuclear weapons if the Chinese would agree to stop their atomic testing.

The Chinese, who had refused to sign the 1963 test ban treaty, worked out by the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain, did not react to the U.S. proposal.

They have continued their atmospheric nuclear tests, carrying out their most recent one on Oct. 14. It was their 11th nuclear test.

Their propaganda attack on the Japanese "militarists" and the government of Prime Minister Eisaku Sato was their second in two days.

A commentary distributed by Hsinhua, the Chinese Communist press agency, declared that a Japanese white paper outlining Japanese defense policies actually was designed to open the door to Japan's nuclear armament.

What the paper did was to reiterate Japan's antinuclear policy.

Environmental quality council gets bad case of thermal pollution

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The President's Council on Environmental Quality came down with a bad case of thermal pollution the other day.

And only a few blocks away two different sets of jack hammers were providing painful examples of noise pollution of the earthrums.

Jet aircraft streaking across the skies were contributing their special brand of noise and at the same time pouring thick streamers of black contaminants into the atmosphere.

An excavation project next door to the White House filled the air with dust which a chill wind blew into the eyes of pedestrians.

Trucks, vans, and buses roaring along 15th street may once have had mufflers—but this is sheer speculation.

The Environmental Quality Council has its headquarters on Jackson Place at the west end of Lafayette Park, across Pennsylvania Avenue from the Executive Mansion.

Inside the White House, presumably, there was little air pollution, excessive noise, or immoderate heat. Whether the lovely White House and park fountains were spouting polluted water only a chemist could say. Since we're told that all water, including the stuff you drink, is tainted by something or other, perhaps they were.

But to get back to the President's Council on Environmental Quality, which is against all kinds of pollution—air, water, noise, thermal, or whatever.

On this particular day it was playing host to the Smithsonian Institution and the Peace Corps at a news conference announcing a joint enterprise to send scores of specially trained volunteers overseas to help other nations solve their special environmental problems.

Train derailed

KALESIDE, Utah (UPI)—No one was injured early Tuesday morning when 46 railroad cars carrying lumber derailed near here on the west side of the Great Salt Lake.

Jack Roche, assistant freight and passenger agent in Ogden, said the Southern Pacific train was heading east toward Ogden when 46 of its 101 cars jumped the tracks about 3:30 a.m.

The wreckage blocked passage of the City of San Francisco passenger train coming from Montello, Nev., and buses were dispatched to pick up the train's 69 passengers and carry them to Ogden and Salt Lake City where new connections could be made.

Roche said it was not yet known what caused the derailment nor how long it would take to clear the tracks.

Scientists discuss world population

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Citizens of the world's highly developed communities only recently have become concerned with overpopulation and birth control, but some peasant populations have long practiced birth control to limit their numbers.

Furthermore, declared an international group of anthropologists, demographers and physicians, some peasant communities appear to have higher aspirations and achieve more in life than people in similar communities which tend to "leave everything to God," including birth control.

Berlin issue takes on new interest

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

As the Soviet Union has blown hot and cold on the subject of Berlin, it has been consistent in its claim that it is the government of East Germany that eventually must decide the question of access to the divided city.

With equal consistency, the Western Allied powers have held that until the fate of the whole of Germany is decided by a formal peace treaty, Berlin remains a four-power responsibility and that the Soviet Union's share is non-transferrable.

Thus it was that events coinciding with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's arrival in East Berlin took on special interest.

One was the East German proposal that the two Germanys should resume talks looking toward a relaxation of tensions.

Another was Gromyko's six-hour meeting with West German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel from which emerged the impression that substantial progress will be recorded at this week's (Wednesday) four-power meeting on Berlin.

The outline, it was suggested by Scheel, "for a thoroughly suitable basis for understanding" already had been reached in Gromyko's previous conversations in Washington and London. The solution, it was said, would lie in certain "functions" to be assigned to East and West Germany and to the city government of West Berlin.

West Germans assumed that the East German proposal for a resumption of talks and Gromyko's hints of progress were less than coincidental.

The West Germans had hinged final approval of the Moscow-Bonn non-aggression treaty on agreement easing access to West Berlin, and they had informed the Russians unless this agreement came soon, they could forget the treaty.

The two Germanys had begun their talks to ease tensions last March in the East German city of Erfurt and had held their last session in the West German city of Kassel in May.

Like the talks among the four-power ambassador they had shown little visible progress.

The Western Allies have demanded agreement on specifics on the Berlin question and not a vague statement of principle.

Primarily they ask a firm Soviet guarantee of uninterrupted civilian traffic between West

Germany and West Berlin by land, water and air, Soviet acceptance of West Berlin's links with the Bonn government, Communist consent for West Berliners to visit friends and relatives in the East (rights already held by West Germans but denied to West Berliners), and re-establishment of telephone links between the two sections of the city.

The East Germans already have expanded their telex links between East and West Berlin and are to increase their telephone links by a dozen or so before the end of the year.

It was noteworthy that the East German proposal for a resumption of talks did not contain the usual Communist demand that they be conditioned on full diplomatic recognition.

Sexiest woman...

JENNY HANLEY, shown as she prepared to shoot a scene for a movie in London in this 1969 photo, has been selected by the Daily Sketch of London as the world's sexiest woman. Miss Hanley is the daughter of British film star Dinah Sheridan, and the newspaper said Jenny inherited her mother's grace and poise plus the natural charm of her father, the late actor Jimmy Hanley of British television. Driving tips offered CARLSTADT, N.J. (UPI)—The accident rate climbs during the night hours. As the long days end and the long nights begin, here are some safety tips on night driving, for the benefit of America's more than 100 million motorists.

The suggestions come from safety authority John P. Manley, of Potters Bros., makers of reflective glass beads for highway markings, who notes that the fatal accident rate is more than doubled in night driving.

For safety's sake:
Drive more slowly. Don't exceed 50 miles per hour. Keep your eyes going back and forth. Watch out for eye fatigue.

Use low-beam lights in early twilight, rain or mist. Use high beam lights only when necessary. Always keep headlights clean. Have headlights adjusted between annual inspections.

Never use sunglasses at night. Keep eyes to the right hand side of the road when glaring headlights approach.

Watch for reflectorized road markings, such as edge lane and center lines, as your safety clues to the contour and direction of the road.

Osprey doom feared

BIGFORK, Mont. (UPI)—The osprey, a large fish-eating hawk, may be on the brink of extinction at Montana's Flathead Lake. Researchers blame pesticides.

A study on the low reproductive rate of the osprey is in its fifth year at the University of Montana Biological Station south of here.

Graduate student Don MacCarter said there is no statistical information on how many osprey once nested on the lakeshore and its islands, but a good indication is abandoned nests. There are nearly 50 nesting sites surrounding the lake. Only about half are occupied.

MacCarter, whose twin brother Doug joined the Osprey research effort in 1968, estimates the birds are reproducing at less than half the rate of a normal population.

The brothers say the young that hatch usually survive, but egg productivity and hatching success are abnormally low. Of the eggs laid, only 45 or 50 per cent hatch.

In the last four years at Flathead, the number of eggs per utilized nest has been 1.6. In comparison, the osprey population at Eagle Lake, Calif., produces an average of 2.75 eggs per utilized nest. No pesticide contamination has been found at Eagle Lake.

The MacCarters found that eggs that don't hatch at Flathead have thin and flaky shells. Tests show the added eggs contain an average of nearly 17 parts per million DDT residue. The highest amount found in an added egg was 138 parts DDT per million.

The source of the pesticide contamination has not been pinpointed. The MacCarters say DDT had once been used abundantly for mosquito control on the lake, and it is believed large quantities of the pesticide came from the east shore where farmers spray acres of cherry orchards.

Youngsters say computers reliable

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Dr. Robert D. Hess says research has found that junior high youngsters, aged 13 to 15, imbue the computer with such human qualities as trustworthiness, reliability, veracity and fairness.

They rate it higher as a "more positive source of information" than either their teachers, textbooks or television news reports, he discovered.

Thus computer-assisted instruction, which is used for drill and practice in mathematics and reading in many U.S. schools, "in addition to transmitting information to the students, also affects their behavior in their private life," Hess said.

With the increased use of computers in everyday life, the researcher poses the possibility that computers can be programmed to mislead, misinform or politically indoctrinate just as well as they can be to produce strictly factual information.

"It's like the movie 'Space Odyssey: 2001,'" Hess said. "Everyone holds in the back of his mind the possibility that a computer may turn against its human programmers, just like the sequence in the movie where the computer wouldn't let the astronaut back into the space vehicle."

Furthermore, "The child has no way to talk back to a computer, any more than an adult has an effective way to correct an error in a computerized bill," Hess said.

"The use of technology in education, and particularly that of the computer for instruction, will continue to expand. Thus the adaptations that the child develops in his responses to machines becomes of special interest."

"These are crucial aspects in the socialization of the child into modes of dealing with an industrial, highly technological society. The points of contact between the child and the institutions of society will be increasingly mechanical. Thus the machine takes on the role of an authority figure."

School books sent

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—With the red tape out of the way, 37 tons of school books and clothes will start toward the Solomon Islands soon as the result of the efforts of a grateful ex-Marine and several San Francisco businessmen.

The beneficiaries will be 20,000 native children whose fathers and grandfathers sheltered Marines in 1943-43 when Americans were battling for control of the islands north of Australia.

When Lowell Bulger and his fellow combatants of the 2nd Marine Raider Battalion landed on Guadalcanal amid hostile Japanese 28 years ago, friendly Solomon Islanders protected them and betrayed none.

"I feel such gratitude, I can hardly describe it," says the crewcut Lowell, now an executive of a pneumatic tool firm in Hayward, Calif.

Bulger launched a one-man campaign in September, 1968, and tackled former Marines, active duty Marines—and anybody that would help.

The 37 tons of materials collected ended up in a Los Angeles warehouse because Bulger had no further funds to pay the $8,700 needed to ship it to the Solomons.

A newspaper article about the predicament caught the attention of a San Francisco executive, Ralph K. Davies, board chairman of American President Lines.

The books and clothing for Solomon Islands children will be loaded on board the SS President Taft, and Davies and his associates will pick up the tab personally.

Court ousts Panthers' lawsuit

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A $10 million damage suit filed by the Black Panther party against the Los Angeles Police Department charging harassment and deprivation of civil rights has been dismissed in federal court.

U.S. District Court Judge A. Andrew Hauk ruled Monday the Panthers "failed to set forth sufficient facts to give the court jurisdiction over the plaintiffs."

Hauk said a new complaint could be filed if new facts were available. The suit stemmed from a raid by police on Panther headquarters here earlier this year that resulted in a two-hour gun battle.

Mercury Comet found 7 ways to make a better small car than Duster. Ditto Demon.

Comet 2-door sedan

1. For starters, Comet has more goodies going in. There are a lot of little things in Comet that Duster and Demon charge extra for: 100% nylon carpeting. Foam padded front seats. Cigarette lighter. Rear armrests and ashtrays. Day/night rearview mirror. Lighted front ashtray. Wheel lip moldings. And deluxe steering wheel.

Little things. That mean a lot.

2. Genuine small-car gas economy. Comet's economical engine and lighter weight make for great gas mileage.

22 long, beautiful miles per gallon. (According to our tests under simulated city-suburban conditions).

3. Authentic small-car handling. Comet is more than half a foot shorter than Duster.

Nearly a foot shorter than Demon. That means with Comet you'll get more than your fair share of parking spots.

And, unlike Duster and Demon, Comet can't U-turn in a street that's 36.9 feet wide.

4. Comet is priced $96 less than Duster, $126 less than Demon. $2217* is Comet's base price. That's with the standard 170 cu. in. "6".

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for a Comet 2-door sedan. Excludes destination and dealer preparation charges. License, title, and local taxes. License and title fees. White sidewall tires extra cost option. ($26.50) All price comparisons are based on published manufacturer's suggested retail prices for comparable models.

Equip Comet with the 200 cu. in. "6" (larger than Duster's or Demon's) and it's still less.

$56 less than Duster. $86 less than Demon. Read on, lest you think that's all.

5. Comet options are priced lower, too. The more options you add to Comet, the better the price comparison gets.

In a Comet V-8, a 3-speed automatic transmission (the same kind you get in the big Mercury Monterey) is less than Duster's or Demon's.

The vinyl roof is less. Power steering is less. AM radio is less. Even deluxe wheel covers and whitewalls are less on Comet. It all adds up.

6. Move up to America's lowest-priced V-8. The 2-door Comet with the optional 302 cu. in. V-8 is America's lowest-priced V-8.

And some V-8 it is. Gets you quickly up to turnpike speeds. Lets you haul a fair-size trailer.

7. Simple servicing. Many "Do-It-Yourself" jobs. Comet is a simple, easy-to-fix, money-saving machine. We even offer a Do-It-Yourself Manual.

Duster or Demon don't offer such a manual. It takes better ideas to make better cars. Mercury makes better cars—to buy, rent or lease.

Better idea for safety: Buckle up!

Mercury. Better ideas make better cars.

Demo brace bucks GOP tide

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News Staff Writer
TWIN FALLS — Eighty per cent of the state legislative posts in Magic Valley's five districts went to the Republicans Tuesday, but two Democratic incumbents from Gooding County stemmed the GOP tide to retain their seats.

A major upset was the election of Democrat Robert Saxvik, Burley radio broadcaster and political newcomer, as state senator from Cassia County, well known as a Republican stronghold. He defeated incumbent Joe Preston 2,821 to 2,323 to represent the county in District 25. (See related story on page 17.)

Of the 15 legislative districts in the valley, 12 of them went to Republicans. Democratic stalwarts Don Fredericksen and Vernon Ravenscroft retained their seats in the senate and house of representatives by comfortable margins in District 22, which includes Gooding, Camas and Jerome counties.

Senator Fredericksen defeated Republican Lee Barron with a vote of 4,235 to 3,204, while Ravenscroft's total over Ken Bradshaw, Republican, was 2,507 to 1,572 in District 22-4, Camas and Gooding counties. They will be joined in Boise in the 1971 legislative session by Earl Greenawalt, former Jerome mayor, who defeated Donald McDonald 2,009 to 1,569 in District 22-B, which is Jerome County.

The vote by counties for Fredericksen was 148, Camas; 2,144, Gooding, and 1,943, Jerome, while Barron polled 255 in his home county of Camas; 1,466 in Gooding and 1,483 in Jerome. Ravenscroft polled 224 votes in Camas and 2,283 in Gooding, while Bradshaw got 183 in Camas and 1,389 in Gooding county.

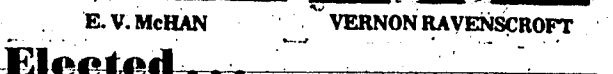

District 21, which includes Blaine, Lincoln and Minidoka counties, went Republican all the way with state senator John Peavy winning re-election over Oscar C. Arstein by a vote of 4,658 to 3,195. Peavy, who was appointed to the senate post when his mother Mrs. Mary Brooks, was named director of the U. S. Mint, polled 2,414 in Minidoka county, 1,399 in Blaine and 845 in Lincoln. Arstein's vote by counties was 2,009 in Minidoka; 788 in Blaine and 408 in Lincoln.

E. V. McHan, Republican, Halley, defeated Floyd O. Kisling for the state representative seat in District 21-A, while Steve Antone was the winner in District 21-B. McHan polled 1,445 votes in Blaine, 435 in the four Minidoka precincts in the district and 714 in Lincoln for a total of 2,594. Kisling's vote was 728 in Blaine, 274 in Minidoka, and 530 in Lincoln for a total of 1,552.

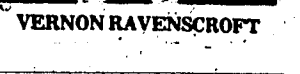

Antone polled 2,427 and George MacDonald, his Democratic opponent, received 1,269 in District 21-B which includes all but four precincts in Minidoka County. Twin Falls voters returned all Republican incumbents in Districts 23 and 24. They are Sen. Richard S. High, who received 4,978. He was unopposed in District 23. Incumbents William Claiborn received 4,453 and Ray Lincoln, 4,949, to defeat Les Williamson, Democrat, who polled 2,341 votes.

In District 24, Sen. John Barker polled 4,198 while William Lanting received 3,826 and Bill Roberts, 4,035 in a three-way race with Jack Clough for the two posts. Clough received 2,123 votes.

... were elected state representatives in Districts 21-A and 22-A. McHan, Halley Republican, defeated Floyd O. Kisling, 2,594 to 1,552 in Blaine, Lincoln and four Minidoka county precincts. Ravenscroft, Democrat, incumbent, polled 2,507 in Camas and Gooding counties, to defeat Ken Bradshaw, who received 1,572.

Jerome eyes request on safety plan

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Correspondent
JEROME — Jerome city councilmen Tuesday took under advisement a request for additional traffic safety measures at school crossings.

Mrs. Stephens Orchard, who said she represented three other mothers, asked councilmen to install street lights on Third Street and North Lincoln, where the junior high school, Lincoln school and high school are located, and at the Washington school crossing on D and South Lincoln.

Returned ... SEN. JOHN PEAVEY ... was returned to office by voters in Minidoka, Blaine and Lincoln County Tuesday. He defeated Democrat Oscar C. Arstein by a vote of 4,658 to 3,195.

Fredericksen, victor in 3-way Jerome race

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Correspondent
JEROME — Eugene Fredericksen, the independent candidate who announced his candidacy after receiving write-in votes from members of both parties in the primary, defeated both his opponents Tuesday to become Jerome County prosecuting attorney.

"I am quite shocked," Fredericksen told the Times-News early Wednesday morning. "I hope my low-level campaign was what proved to be the point with the people that got me elected."

The Jerome attorney polled 1,562, compared to 1,154 for incumbent Republican S. A. Kolman and 812 for Democrat Frank L. Benson.

Rupert action shown

RUPERT — The story of six young drug offenders in the Rupert area is featured in this week's issue of Life magazine.

Written by Loudon Wainwright, the story is titled "A Town Deals Sternly With Its Own." The article says that the sentencing of the youths to prison was decided upon by Judge Sherman Bellwood who "found his alternatives hard and wanted to be sure his decision was understood."

Moon paces votes

BOISE (UPI) — State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon, a Democrat, proved the biggest vote getter on either ticket Tuesday. She piled up more than 139,000 votes to capture a third term, defeating her Republican opponent, Wallace Connolly, 40, Eagle, by more than 60,000 votes.

Atom Heart Mother: Pink Floyd (Harvest SKAO)
Fans of Pink Floyd, who were wowed by the outspace excellence of the group's farout "ummagamma," may be disappointed with the group's latest offering.

Not that the record isn't good. Just that the record is such a departure from the last album, which was so fantastic it defied belief.

Why a group like Pink Floyd, so undeniably talented and so masterful at presenting its metaphysical psychedelic electronic music would so completely change its musical format is difficult to understand.

What they do here is good, but is largely mediocre compared to its previous outstanding work. It turns more toward commonplace rock, has practically none of the electronic wizardry which made "ummagamma" so unbelievable, and is rather pedestrian in consideration of what the group can do.

The album is dominated by a huge, boring six part medley, "Atom Heart Mother," which with few exceptions is a waste of time. Several of the segments do have musical merit, but they are dragged down by the mediocrity of the rest of the medley.

There are two really good pieces in the album. "If" and "Summer '68," which are both excellent. Another three part work, "Alan's Psychedelic Breakfast" fails on what was apparently intended to be its strength, a background of room noises and conversation, which is so distracting the music suffers.

"Synner '68" features some excellent horn work, and also has extensive piano and string work, all very good and a new approach for the group.

There is still much good in this album, despite the disappointment it bears. The disappointment comes with knowing how much greater it could have been.

Three stars.
Music: Steve Davis (Victor LSP 4423)

This is an entire album of the music of Steve Davis.

If you've never heard of Steve Davis, and the chances are you haven't, you will. He is a musician and writer of promising talent. His music is jazz and rock and country and R&B and just about every contemporary musical form.

The music is performed by him and his eight-man group. It is not a music which you can easily categorize because of its diversity and the format for the group shifts as often as the music.

Davis and his group get held from five other musicians, mainly horns. Davis' group features sax and trumpet, also, but much of the work revolves around keyboards and guitar.

Davis plays organ, guitar and sings eight of his compositions, which range from short melancholy things like "On a Sad Day" to big rock con-positions like "It's All Because She's Gone."

Although there is a definite jazz flavor to the album, from the fine piano and horn work, it's unfair to call the music jazz rock. Davis and his group get into several fields. (Including straight country in "Please Come Back Home.")

There's one real bummer in the album. "Space," and one really excellent number, "Destination Altitude."

Three stars.

Agnew rakes Democrats at polls

TOWSON, Md. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew voted in the Maryland election Tuesday and used the occasion to get in another lick at the Democrats.

The former Maryland governor and his wife Judy drove in the rain from the nation's capital to cast their ballot at Rodgers Forge Elementary School in this northern suburb of Baltimore.

On arrival at the polls, topcoatless and somewhat damp from the drizzle, Agnew was asked for his reaction to Democratic charges that administration campaigners had used "fear and slander" to garner in votes.

Predicting that the GOP will gain four to six seats in the Senate, the Vice President commented: "I think I've done what I set out to do." Liberal Senate Democrats were a prime Agnew target.

DEAR ABBY: In your answer to "UNCERTAIN" regarding euthanasia (mercy killing) for her elderly, bedridden mother, I think you have given the perfect answer as to why so many of us Catholics and non-Catholics alike oppose the liberalization or repeal of our anti-abortion statutes.

You said, "Giving a person the legal right to terminate the life of another under some circumstances may be humane," but because that right could be abused for selfish gain, society must be protected against it.

Truer words were never spoken. Thank you so much.
PHYSICIAN IN TUCSON

DEAR PHYSICIAN: I am not deserving of your thanks since I hold the view that no woman should be forced by law to bear a child she does not want. Preventing an unwanted child from being born is not, in my opinion, the same as killing a living person.

DEAR ABBY: Here is my answer to the lady who wants to put her helpless, bedridden mother to sleep, "mercifully."

A story is told about a grandfather, a father and son. The son was 12. The father grew tired caring for his elderly, ailing father who had become completely helpless. One day on the road to the river, the son met his father carrying the sick old grandfather in a large basket—the kind used to haul pigs to market.

"You see," the father explained to his son, "Grandfather is completely helpless, so I am going to lower him into the river in this basket."

The son was dumbfounded, but thinking quickly, he said, "But you are going to save the basket, aren't you? Someday I will need it for you."
F. D. G.

DEAR ABBY: I agree with your implication that the woman who wanted to put her elderly, bedridden mother out of her misery could be suspected of thinking mostly of herself. However, I wish you'd have gone further into your reply.

Today, it is illegal to terminate a human life for humane reasons, and it is legalized, it could be abused. But it could be legalized with careful safeguards, such as having the decision made by not only doctors and the family, but lawyers, clergymen and the patient himself. If all agree that the patient's life from then on would be painful and less and less worth living, and if the patient wants to die, he ought to be granted this boon.

We consider it cruel not to put an incurable, suffering animal out of his misery. Why should we not do as much for humans? For years The Society For Euthanasia has been trying to legalize "mercy killing." And I have every confidence that one day they will succeed.
ALL FOR THEM IN BERKELEY

DEAR ABBY: My heart went out to that mother who is lying sick and helpless in her old age, with a daughter who thinks it would be better to put her mother out of her misery.

I would like to say to that daughter, "Daughter, love your mother and keep her warm and clean, and hold her close to your heart in her last days just as she did to you in your first days."

Saintpaulia Club has luncheon

TWIN FALLS — A potluck luncheon was held by the Magic Valley Saintpaulia Club when members met Monday at the home of Mrs. Nellie Connerly. Members answered roll call by telling what they'd like for Christmas. The magazine article, "Martian, the Space Age African Violet," was given by Mrs. Carrol Utley along with driftwood.

The program, "Gifts From the Sea," featuring a shell collection display was presented by Mrs. Leo Gepner.

The Flea Market to be held Nov. 7 was discussed by the group. The next meeting is Dec. 7 at the home of Mrs. Spencer Greene.

Winners named

TWIN FALLS — The Monday Afternoon Duplicate Bridge Club met at the Episcopal Church with nine tables in play.

North and South winners were Mrs. Margaret McCall and Mrs. F.K. Milton, first; Mrs. George Frazier and Mrs. V.R. Teasley, second; Mrs. E.A. Peterman and Mrs. M. Hogg, third, and Mrs. L.M. Hall and Mrs. C.C. Weaver, fourth.

East and West winners were Mrs. B.E. Standlee and Mrs. R.R. Williams, first; Mrs. A.V. Williams and Mrs. K.E. Kail, second; Mrs. Gus Averett and Mrs. Howard Ward, third; and Mrs. Thomas Marzocca and Mrs. H. D. Fitzpatrick, fourth. Mrs. Howard Ward was a new player.

Women's Section

It's 'no soap'

Extremes of temperature present the greatest danger for the skin that is "fragile," "sensitive" or "thin." Those tiny red veins that frequently mar a woman's complexion on the nose and cheeks are in reality thin capillary walls.

Gentle care and considerable protection are necessary for this type of complexion, especially if you live in a climate where hot sun or cold winds prevail for the greater part of any season.

Never use soap on a sensitive skin. Try instead a lemon cleansing milk such as Lemon Jelly. It will not rob your complexion of its natural dermic oils but will gently and effectively cleanse away grime and clinging make-up. Avoid going from overheated rooms to subzero outdoor temperatures in winter.

Pamper your skin by smoothing on lavish quantities of tropical moist Oil of Olay. This rich, natural blend of oil and moisture nourishes the skin at night and provides a foundation for make-up that is a protective covering as well as a moisturizing-beautifying base that promotes complexion beauty all day.

If red veins have already given you a permanently rosy look, use a cream or beige-colored make-up to tone down florid tendencies. Select your lip colors from the light pinks, true corals and clear reds.

Senators send 3 players to Phils for Curt Flood

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Philadelphia Phillies announced Tuesday they have completed a deal to send outfielder Curt Flood, who fought baseball's reserve clause in the court, to the Washington Senators.

Flood sat out the 1970 season while a federal court in New York heard and then rejected his appeal that the reserve clause treats a player like chattel, preventing him from negotiating a contract with Senators' Bob Short in an effort to return to baseball.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn has said he would not approve any contract that did not contain the reserve clause.

Quinn said the deal frees Flood to be signed by the Senators. In return, the Phils are receiving outfielder Greg Gossen, used primarily as a pinch hitter last season for the Senators, first baseman Gene Martin, who played for Pittsburgh and Denver in the minor leagues last year, and pitcher Jeff Terpko, who also played for Pittsburgh.

ALEXANDER'S 79th ANNIVERSARY SALE FINAL 3 DAYS! GIGANTIC SAVINGS YEARS GREATEST CLOTHING SAVINGS EVENT

Bob Gibson named national league's Cy Young winner

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals, the National League's Cy Young Award winner for the second time in three years and already signed to a $150,000 contract, believes he can achieve the sixth 20-victory season of his career in 1971.

"It's a great honor," said the 34-year-old right-hander who posted a 23-7 record during the 1970 season. "I'm looking forward to winning 20 games—at least that many—next season. My arm is fine and I just like to keep on winning as much as I can."

Gibson, who won his first National League pitcher of the year award when he had a 22-9 record in 1968, was the first-place choice of 23 of the 24 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America who participated in the voting. He also received one second-place vote for a total of 118 points.

Gaylord Perry, who had a 23-13 record for the San Francisco Giants, received the other first-place vote and finished second with 51 points. He was followed by Ferguson Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs with 16 points, Dave Giusti of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Jim Merritt of the Cincinnati Reds, each with eight points; Gary Nolan of the Reds with five; Tom Seaver of the New York Mets with four; Wayne Granger of the Montreal Expos with two and Luke Walker of the Pirates with one.

"I think 1970 was the second best season of my career—second to 1968," said Gibson, who signed his 1971 contract on the final day of last season. "The season was somewhat disappointing because we were never in the race and winning the pennant and getting into the World Series is what it is all about. But you can't win all the time. You just have to keep trying."

Gibson needs only 10 victories to reach the 200-mark for his career but is unimpressed at the approaching milestone.

"I don't have any special goals along those lines and winning 200 doesn't mean too much to me," he said. "It's not the statistics that count. It's winning as many games as you can."

Gibson started the season slowly and had a 2-3 record in late May but then won 10 consecutive games and 21 of his last 25 decisions. He became the first Cardinal pitcher to win 20 games in five seasons, breaking the club record which he previously shared with Hall of Famer Dizzy Dean, and his 274 strikeouts made him the first pitcher to have eight 200-strikeout seasons.

Bugner outpoints Johnson over 10

LONDON (UPI)—Joe Bugner, Britain's 20-year-old heavyweight hope, gained his 29th victory in 31 bouts Tuesday night by easily outpointing George "Scrap Iron" Johnson but failed to please a 5,000 crowd at the Royal Albert Hall.

The crowd, which greeted the appearance of the round American from Los Angeles, with a certain amount of jocularly, cheered Johnson as he left the ring after having given Bugner some of the warmest rounds of his short career.

Johnson stands only 5-feet-9 and conceded every physical advantage except weight to the 6-3 Hungarian-born Bugner. The American weighed 225-1-4 pounds to Bugner's 213-1-2 pounds.

A pheasant hen must have about 40 days in an undisturbed nesting site to produce a brood.

Pat coach resigns; aide named

MILTON, Mass. (UPI)—The Boston Patriots gave Coach Clive Rush a leave of absence for "health reasons" Tuesday and named top assistant John Mazur as interim coach. But Rush promptly announced he had resigned and said, "I'll never coach this football team again."

The sudden turn of events left veteran offensive specialist Mazur with the task of lifting the Patriots out of a six-game losing streak while Rush's avowed decision to quit could cost him as much as the $40,000 salary remaining in the final half of his three-year contract.

Patriot President Bill Sullivan said he had "offered" Rush the leave of absence in the midst of his three-year contract following a doctor's assessment that further coaching could jeopardize Rush's health.

Rush, who did not attend the news conference at the team's Curry College training site, replied two hours later, "I resigned totally as of midnight last night. The club announcement is incorrect."

"I'll never coach this football team again. If you want to know why I resigned," he told UPI, "you'll have to ask Dan Marr" who is one of the Patriot owners.

Rush apparently blamed his problems on Marr who has been closely following the club's activities but is only one of 10 Patriot directors.

"I'm going to go pay my respects to the cardinal now," Rush said. "After that, I'm going to do nothing but goof off. Cardinal Richard Cushing, who died Monday, sponsored a preseason game with the Patriots every year."

Sullivan, who said Rush would also step down as a vice president of the club, earlier had said Rush "doesn't feel he should give up" while announcing that Mazur's appointment was for the "remainder of the season."

Rush was forced to step aside after his team won its regular season opener from Miami but proceeded to lose six straight including a 35-10 whipping at the hands of the underdog Buffalo Bills last Sunday.

Rush missed most of the first half of that game when he was stricken by tachycardia, a speeding heart beat condition, shortly before the game.

Oilers Activate Charley Johnson

HOUSTON (UPI)—Quarterback Charley Johnson of the Houston Oilers, who suffered a broken left collarbone against the Pittsburgh Steelers Oct. 18, returned in earnest to the practice field Tuesday.

The team surgeon who first predicted Johnson would be out a minimum of four weeks, said he will be ready to play Sunday against the Kansas City Chiefs in Kansas City, having missed only two games.

Because of the type of repair job done on the collarbone, it is impossible for Johnson to aggravate the injury, the surgeon said.

Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who won the award in 1963, 1965 and 1966, and Denny McLain of the Detroit Tigers, who won the AL Award in 1968 and shared it in 1969, are the only other pitchers honored more than once.

The only major league pitcher to win 20 games in each of the last four seasons. Giusti starred in relief for the Pirates; Merritt won 18 and Seaver, the 1969 winner, had an 18-12 record after standing at 16-5 in early August. Granger was a workhorse reliever for the Reds, Morton won 18 games as a rookie and Walker had a 15-6 record.

Fears replaced as New Orleans coach

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Tom Fears, whose New Orleans Saints had floundered to a 1-5-1 in the first half of the National Football League season, was fired as head coach Tuesday and replaced by the coach of a minor league team with a worse record than the Saints.

John Mechem Jr., owner of the New Orleans club, announced he had hired J. D. Roberts to replace Fears. Roberts' Richmond franchise in the Atlantic Coast Football League had lost seven straight games before winning last week, and had drawn only 85 persons for a home game two weeks ago.

The changeover was effective immediately. "I still believe this season can be salvaged, and the Saints owe it to the thousands of loyal fans who visit Tulane Stadium for all of our home games to make every possible effort to win our seven remaining games," said Mechem, who brought the Saints into the league four years ago.

Only minutes before the announcement was made Fears had finished tape recording a message to the press and broadcasters, saying that although the Saints had been outplayed and "overpowered," "We haven't quit." The message gave no indication Fears knew he was out as head coach.

"There's a lot of speculation going around that we may not win another game," Gears said on the recording. "They are taking shots at us all over. I'd like to say, though, that looking over our record—it's not an enviable one—but our players haven't quit. And that's the big thing."
