

Post-election commentary

TWIN FALLS — Nearly everyone has now had time to study the election tabulations and do some reflecting so everyone has a comment. Here are a few heard around Twin Falls yesterday afternoon.

Morris W. Carlson, Twin Falls County chairman for the Don Samuelson campaign: "I hurt a little, but I'll heal before long."

Mrs. Leon Smith, wife of County attorney: "We're delighted and grateful to the kind voters who went to the polls yesterday."

Russell C. Larsen, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for third-district county commissioner, "Coming close just isn't good enough, but I am happy with the Andrus victory."

Hazel Wilder, Democratic party worker: "It's great to be able to count a victory among the many battles."

George Detweiler, Republican who did not support Samuelson: "This bears out my pre-primary prediction that Samuelson could not beat any of the Democratic hopefuls."

William Chancey, Republican county commissioner and active Samuelson supporter: "The sun did come up this morning, but it was a little lopsided. Give us another two years, though and we'll bounce right back."

Ray J. Holmes, 18-year veteran member of the Idaho Fish and Game Commission: "The people have made their wishes known. Our goal on the commission has been to keep the fish and game department out of politics."

Edd Bossard, Democratic party member: "I'm delighted. I think this shows a trend we have been working toward for a long time."

T. W. Stivers, long time active Republican worker: "I think this shows the split in the Republican party in Idaho. The Smiley-Smith forces just haven't given up."

Twin Falls City Manager, Jean Milar: "I guess it was alright."

Indiana locks ballots

INDIANA senatorial race between incumbent Vance Hartke D., left and Richard L. Roudebush R., is so close that the governor has ordered all voting machines tagged and sealed and has impounded ballots in some sections of the state. (UPI)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — A recount is likely in the Senate battle between Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke and Rep. Richard L. Roudebush following the impounding of voting machines and ballots in Indiana's 82 counties.

The state election board, headed by Gov. Edgar D. Whitcomb, took the surprise action Wednesday after unofficial tabulations of Tuesday's election showed Hartke the winner in the closest U.S. Senate election in Indiana's history.

Indiana state police impounded voting machines, paper ballots and absentee ballots, casting doubt also on the final outcome of the statewide races won, according to unofficial figures, by Democrats.

Troyettes select member

WENDELL — Janet Callen, senior, was elected Tuesday by members of the drill team as "Outstanding Drill Team member for fall." Miss Callen was chosen on ability, cooperation, school spirit and enthusiasm.

She has been active with the Troyettes for four years and is currently serving as secretary-treasurer. Janet has served as Junior High drill adviser, track manager and is affiliated with the Letterman's club, Foreign Language club and a member of Bethel 12, International Order of Job's Daughters.

Presently the Troyettes are working on a basketball drill to take to competition in Twin Falls later this month.

New airport fire plan requested

TWIN FALLS — William Powell, a member of the Twin Falls City-County Airport commission, has called for a completely revised plan of crash and fire control facilities at the local field.

At a commission meeting Tuesday noon, Powell said that "really, we have no protection at all." He said his plan would call for a volunteer emergency crew with each man being assigned a particular task and "knowing what to do when disaster struck."

"The volunteer force would have regular practice periods," he said "As it is now there is practically no way a major emergency could be taken care of."

He also said that regardless of equipment or men available, it has been shown that an emergency involving a big plane could not be cared for.

"The only time a major plane emergency might be controllable would be if it was an in-flight emergency and the crew and equipment were along the runway waiting as the plane landed. If the emergency was a landing emergency, it would be practically impossible to do anything because if you couldn't get there in about the first three minutes you might as well not get there at all."

This was proved, he pointed out, when a tri-jet crashed on landing at Salt Lake City and although the mishap was practically in front of a staffed fire house on the field, more than 40 people died.

At the Tuesday meeting commissioners also talked with Dick Cornwell, Hughes Air West official from San Francisco regarding the minimum guarantee now written into the landing contract between the airport and the airline. Cornwell, who is in charge of contract negotiations, said the line objected to a minimum landing fee clause. The minimum clause now calls for $6,800 a year although the airline is paying fees at the rate of $16,800 a year since jet operations started.

The matter was referred to the city and county attorneys. They will report back to the airport commission.

Commissioners said plans were well under way to care for the influx of planes expected for the annual nationwide govern-nor's conference at Sun Valley Dec. 12 through Dec. 15. A 24-hour patrol will be maintained at the airport here and it is understood the Idaho National Guard will be utilized in the setup. The airport commission is cooperating with city and county officials, state police, the sheriff's office and the federal government in making security arrangements which will be followed.

Jean Millar, city manager, announced bids would be received on a proposed extension of the terminal building on Nov. 13 and that they would be studied by city council members and county commissioners on Nov. 16.

Enlarging of the waiting ticket area is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $23,000.

In addition to Powell and Jean Millar, city manager, those attending the Tuesday session included county commissioners Bill Chancey and Heber Loughmiller, city attorney William Langley, Armour Anderson, Gus Kelker, George Colner and Ed Novacek, airport commission members, and Harry Merriek, airport manager.

Filer PW project set

By MARJORIE LIFERMAN Times-News Correspondent

FILER — Mayor Dan Kauffman signed this week a proclamation making Veterans Day, 1970 "Prisoner of War Day," and asking citizens to write their congressmen protesting the holding of 1,600 prisoners of war in South Asia.

Similar proclamations will be put into effect in towns throughout Idaho. Mayor Kauffman said. A Veterans organization is slated to meet Friday with Gov. Don Samuelson in Boise, and present material on the project to him.

Members of the American Legion and Auxiliary have been working for two years to get this project before the people, according to Darrell Wolfe, commander of the Filer post. At the Fifth District convention, the project was given unanimous approval by members of the two organizations.

Because there are 1,600 prisoners of war being held in violence of the Geneva Conference Treaty, citizens are asked to write to Hanoi requesting that the names of those being held be published. Many wives and families of prisoners of war are not sure whether their husbands or fathers are even alive as notices have never been released by the enemy forces.

In keeping with the "Prisoner of War Day," the American Legion is circulating a special prayer for the day.

"Lord, shelter the prisoners of war in Southeast Asia. Open their hearts and minds of their captors that they may be restored to their homes and loved ones.

"Each has carried the burden of battle. Each has discharged an obligation of his country. Each has been subjected to hazards, pain and imprisonment beyond the lot of the soldier.

"O, Lord, these gallant men who bear so great a burden, must not be forsaken. God of Justice, to whom we pray, thy compassion we beseech — lift their burden, give them strength, and strike the shackles that deny them freedom."

Recruiter sets Vets' day talks

FILER — Sgt. 1-c Harold D. Kreps of the United States Army Recruiting Service, Twin Falls, will be guest speaker at a special Veterans' Day program at 10:45 a. m. at the Filer High School.

Sgt. Kreps, who was formerly a member of a five-man advisory team in Vietnam, will show slides of the Vietnamese people and country. He will also be guest speaker at the Veteran's Day dinner at 8 p. m. in the American Legion Hall, an annual event for members of the American Legion and Auxiliary.

WHY OUR "NEW IMPROVED" COFFEE TASTES BETTER THAN YOUR "NEW IMPROVED" COFFEE.

Sanka® Brand Coffee is a lot chunkier than it used to be. But then, so is the coffee you're drinking.

Just the same, Sanka Coffee tastes smoother than your coffee. Because when we take the caffeine out of Sanka, we take out the bitterness found in most coffees.

So you see, while all the "new improved" coffees look pretty much the same, there is a difference. Clearly visible to the naked tongue.

Validation deadline announced

BOISE — License plate validation stickers for 19 types of licenses not registered under Idaho's new staggered licensing system expire at midnight, Dec. 31, according to Jack F. Farley, director of the motor vehicle division, Idaho Department of Law Enforcement.

Licenses for farm trucks and trailers, commercial trucks and trailers, motorcycles, house trailers, utility trailers, rental trailers, city cabs and buses, hearses, ambulances, wreckers, radio amateur, national guard, air national guard, disabled veterans, dealers and repossession are not sold on the staggered basis and must be renewed before the Dec. 31 deadline.

None of the staggered vehicle stickers expire in either November or December, Farley said, which allows county assessors' offices two months in which to validate licenses registered on an annual basis.

ROME — While American politicians were trying to cope with the high cost of television in an election year, their counterparts here in Italy were getting more and more TV exposure, provided at government expense.

Tribuna Popolare — Popular Tribune — is the most recent addition to a list of free political broadcasts aired by the national television network — RAI. Popular Tribune is a series of six weekly telecasts which features two political spokesmen — one from the government majority and one from the opposition — answering questions from the Italian grassroots.

The first hour-long program in the new series got a good press earlier this month — Italian radio-TV pundits praised the efforts of the citizen-questioners, who were a Barietta housewife, a pediatrician from Naples and a young university professor from Florence. They were according to published accounts, well informed and probing with their questions. Hundreds of television viewers were screened as questioners by network interviewers. Final selection of the rank and file questioners was made by Parliament's Television and Radio Vigilance Committee, which rides herd over the networks here. Political parties select their own spokesmen for Popular Tribune appearances. Before the series is concluded all nine Italian parties will have been represented at one time or another. Now ten years old is the program Political Tribune, which also provides free TV time for Italian politicians. It is an every Thursday feature. In prime-viewing hours, except in the summer time. Audiences numbering up to 9 million people have watched Political Tribune on Thursday nights at 9 or 10 p.m. Time is apportioned by the vigilance committee to the various political parties on the basis of the number of deputies which each has succeeded in electing to the lower house of the Parliament.

Washington's congressional hearing rooms, Italy's RAIs, to be sure, a monopoly, and its activities — even in the political area — are not free from criticism. Those criticisms, however, run to matters also under criticism in the United States — unfair news coverage of one candidate as against another and complaints of that sort.

What is new here in this Eternal City, for the revisiting traveler who steps from a new TWA 747, is the anticipated final approval of the first divorce law in Italy's history. It generates much conversation and a lot of jokes.

It has become something of a cliché here to comment that a lot of married Italian men, who have been telling girls for years that they would marry them if they could, will soon be in an awkward position.

Only ratification of Senate amendments, by the Chamber of Deputies, stands in the way of final enactment of the divorce law. Ratification is expected and, barring a topping of the government, it appears that the divorce bill will become law.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a hole in the heart and would like your ideas. I was told I would need heart surgery, and if I don't get it I would be sorry in a couple of years. I am 45 and have an enlarged heart that isn't too bad yet.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A year ago our son, 6, had rheumatic fever. After taking a form of penicillin for six months, his blood test was normal, and we stopped giving him the medication.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Hole In Heart

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a hole in the heart and would like your ideas. I was told I would need heart surgery, and if I don't get it I would be sorry in a couple of years. I am 45 and have an enlarged heart that isn't too bad yet.

enlargement) that, although your heart has served you pretty faithfully for 45 years, it may be starting to fail and is bound to get worse.

I also know other people with holes in the heart who don't need surgery. Can you help me make up my mind what to do? —Mrs. J.W.

The longer you let it go on failing, the poorer shape you will be in for the surgery, so I'd not wait.

I presume the "hole" is what is known as a septal defect, a gap in the partition between two adjacent chambers of the heart.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A year ago our son, 6, had rheumatic fever. After taking a form of penicillin for six months, his blood test was normal, and we stopped giving him the medication.

The result of such a defect is that when the heart beats — or pumps — a certain amount of the blood, instead of being forced forward into your arteries, leaks back into the preceding chamber and has to be pumped all over again.

Then he started having throat infections and his A.S.O.T. test went up from 50 to 826. I was in a panic, but the pediatrician said it doesn't mean the rheumatic fever is back; however, he put him back on penicillin. I suggested having his tonsils removed but the doctor said no. —Mrs. R.D.

The size of the aperture makes a great deal of difference. A small one may not bother a person much. A larger one will. The location of the hole also can make a difference in the seriousness.

It isn't safe to stop penicillin after an attack of rheumatic fever, and current practice is to continue it for at least five years and sometimes longer.

When there is an appreciable amount of blood leaking through the defect, the heart has to work substantially harder to push the required amount of blood into and through your arteries. An overworked heart, whether from this or other causes, tends to enlarge, in an effort to meet the load required of it. That may well explain the enlargement in your case.

Rheumatic fever develops from streptococcus infections. If an individual is subject to R.F., the safe way is to keep him protected from strep infection. That's what the penicillin is for.

Such heart operations are being performed with gratifying success these days. Under the circumstances, I wouldn't think it would be difficult for you to make up your mind and have the operation.

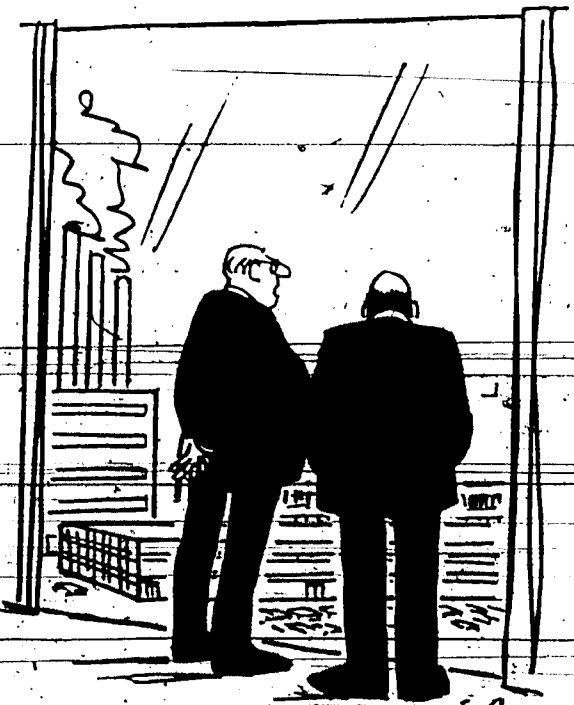

Removal of the tonsils should be judged on the condition of the tonsils. Removal will not protect against more rheumatic fever. The penicillin (or other antibiotics) will.

The warning of being "sorry in a couple of years" would seem to me to indicate that your doctor or doctors see signs among them, the

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband had a vasectomy recently but had to return and have it performed over again when they found a second set of vasa. Is this unusual? —Mrs. S.C.

A little unusual. Certainly not common. Your experience emphasizes the importance of follow-up examination and tests for sperm content after a vasectomy.

BERRY'S WORLD

"When I'm not sure which direction I should take, I just ask myself, 'What would John Wayne do?'"

Green Revolution

A U.S. scientist who has made possible a big increase in food production is the winner of the 1970 Nobel peace prize, a choice generally applauded as wise and farsighted.

Dr. Norman E. Borlaug, a Rockefeller Foundation director and plant pathologist, heads a 17-nation team in Mexico City working on the development of high-yield types of wheat and corn.

He was awarded the prize specifically for his development of a high-yield dwarf wheat strain, which also contributed indirectly to production of a new "miracle rice" strain.

These developments are an important part of "the green revolution," of discovering new improved grains and farming techniques to make more bountiful harvests in under-developed countries and their large populations where only hunger — and babies — have abounded.

The award to Dr. Borlaug underscores the world's hope that well-fed nations will be more peaceful and less likely to war on their neighbors to gain living space.

However, Dr. Borlaug himself sees the crisis ahead as one of overpopulation.

The green revolution, he suggests, can buy no more than another twenty years of time for the world to balance population with available food supplies.

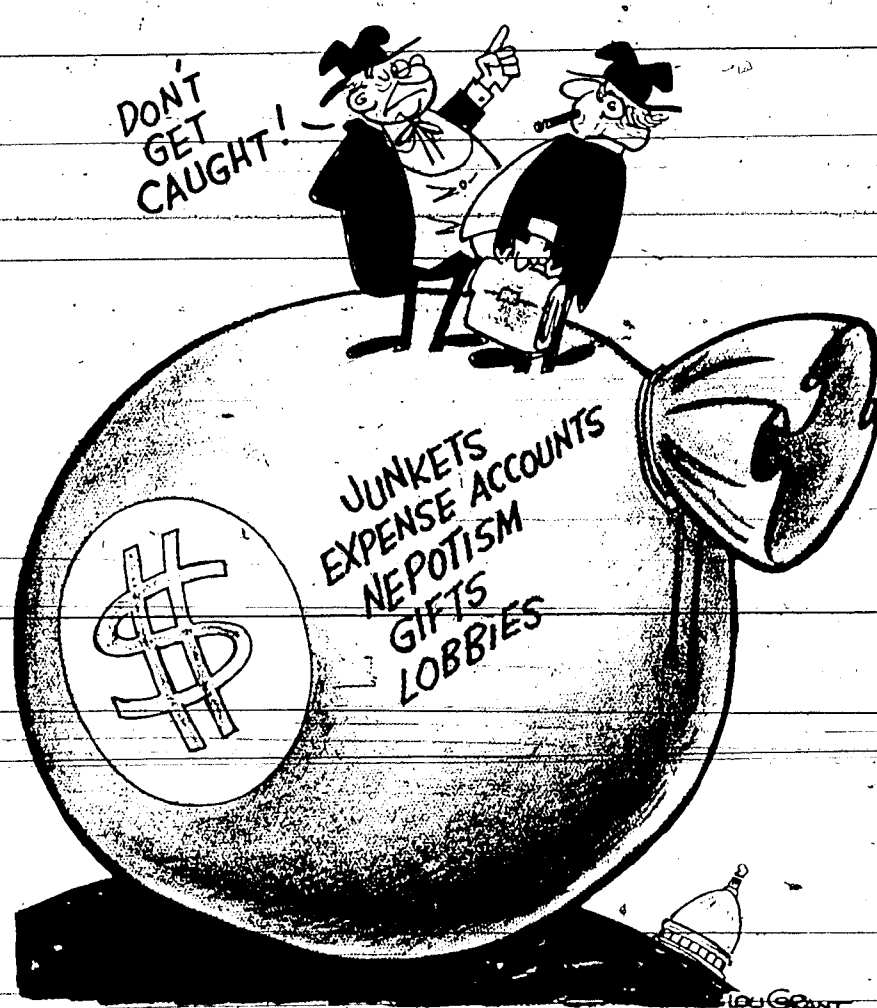

"The problem is simply that too many people are coming on the scene too fast," he says.

Previous breakthroughs in food production have prevented the Malthusian prediction of mass starvation from coming true thus far, but only in the last few years has the problem of overpopulation been recognized as a threat of ultimate disaster.

Many scientists now believe the world can no longer count upon developing food supplies adequate to sustain populations expanding without hindrance.

As Dr. Borlaug put it: The development of a good grain that would render men and women sterile would really merit the peace prize.

Handouts Cut

Governments, even as people, go broke if they spend beyond their incomes.

It makes no difference how essential we come to consider the goods or service, if we can't afford it we can't afford it.

Canada has discovered it can't afford ever-expanding medicare.

Can we? In New York City there are one million people on welfare.

One in eight New Yorkers is living off the taxes of the other seven. And the number is increasing.

New York, unable to carry this load despite increasing taxes, is pleading for "help from Washington." That means YOU.

Self-government without self-discipline won't work.

If you keep asking government to do for you more and more of those things you have been doing for yourself, in order to perform those additional services government has to get bigger — and bigger and bigger until finally the taxpayers can't carry the load.

Canada is a graphic example. Canada's economic council now concedes that the costs of health care and the costs of higher education — however desirable these services — are rising faster than Canadians can afford.

So Canada's government is going to have to reduce that overhead somehow.

A lot of the promises with which yesteryear's politicians bought votes will not be kept.

For politicians, there as here, got themselves elected by promising more and more "free" services. Taxpayers are expected to forget — and frequently do — that eventually they will be billed through increased taxes for all those "free" services.

Canada, projecting its economic future, discovers that government-provided health and education costs are pyramiding so fast that soon the total tax income will equal the outgo for those two expenses.

Canada is cutting back, hopefully in time to avert an acute economic crisis.

While at the same time, in Washington, Big Labor's George Meany is asking our Congress to approve a national health insurance program which would promise to pay 85 per cent of everybody's medical expenses. Admittedly, it would cost $50 billion a year.

And how many congressmen will be able to say no to a plan that promises to pay your medical bills for you?

Even though they know this is a promise we can't afford to keep.

On Plumbing

WASHINGTON — Modern plumbing is taken for granted by Americans 364 days a year.

(There are even some Russians who have grown accustomed to this new-fangled equipment.) But on Saturday night householders across the nation paused to pay its inventor silent and heartfelt tribute.

Windows probably received their annual Halloween coating of soap and wax. Trash cans disappeared, and an occasional gate might even have been carried off in the more bucolic areas. And of course the citizenry was offended by that sleazy form of black mail known as trick-or-treat, surely a practice unworthy of a child's natural genius for misbehavior.

But short of a frontal assault by commandos, there is no way the tads could steal our bathrooms. Throughout this broad land, but particularly in those sections where Nov. 1 dawns in a frosty haze, this is a boon roughly comparable to the invention of the wheel, or the first successful distillation of Kentucky bourbon.

Staid and paunchy males who now grub out a living refusing bank loans to struggling capitalists, or writing newspaper pieces about Halloween, can remember when it was not always thus.

And once having been young enough to be on the right, or aggressor, side, they are inclined to chuckle nostalgically at the memory.

Those were the days of the privy, the noblest structure ever devised by a trusting adult mind for the Halloween pleasure of a small boy. There were all the other things to do, of course, all the special people to annoy, but the boy who failed to nudge at least one patry one-holer from its moorings became a pariah among his peers.

Privies were disappearing fast when this aging adolescent was accumulating demerits in heaven, on South Street, and in Sister Marion's classroom. But there were still enough around in the outlying precincts to make Halloween worthwhile, and a touch more dangerous.

One favorite adventure was to transplant a privy, preferably from the backyard of a particularly skintight merchant, to the schoolteacher's porch. Or to set one of the more elaborate jobs sailing down the river to the next town.

Most Halloweens, a boy had to stand in a furtive queue to install his captured prize on the front steps of Town Hall. This was accomplished by unsung heroes who created a noisy diversion in the next block to engage the attention of Patrolman Joe Paquin.

It might be argued that this annual assault on the town's powder rooms showed a singular lack of imagination. But in those days the aim of every Halloween malefactor was to cause his victim as much inconvenience as possible the next morning. And there was nothing to compare, on a chilly November morning, with the discovery by a grownup that the family outhouse was resting atop a hencoop half a mile away.

The adventure also required a modicum of courage, or foolhardiness. Every household in town was in a state of armed alert on Halloween, and many a schoolboy fled to his bed with noggin lumpy by sudden contact with a broomstick, or his buttocks stinging from a shotgun blast of rock salt.

But all that, happily, is in the dim past. Happily, because young bones have grown old and a youthful sense of humor has been tempered by toil and stomach acidity. In retrospect, such rascality seems to have been outrageous — almost, but not quite, of a piece with seizing the headquarters of some spineless college president.

Indeed, now that we grownups have had our fun, we may have to pass a law making Halloween illegal.

Lesser Of Evils

President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania has warned Western powers that the continued sale of arms to South Africa will drive African countries into the arms of the Communists.

This is one threat which the United States can view with some equanimity, for one South Africa is worth more than a dozen divided, struggling, developing Black African countries in terms of the political stability of that continent and as an ally in the event of trouble there with the Soviet Union.

This is a bitter truth for anyone who abhors South Africa's inhuman policy of racial apartheid, and all decent men abhor it.

But weakening South Africa militarily or politically would not end that system — indeed, could make inevitable the bloody racial war many have long been predicting and which some, undoubtedly, would like to see.

The same is true of an economic boycott. Those who, with the best intentions in the world, demand that U.S. firms stop investing in South Africa, are not helping the victims of apartheid.

South Africa's economic boom has been an ideological embarrassment to the white government. The accompanying labor shortage has done more to better the lot of the black majority and to weaken the absurd residence and employment laws than any amount of impassioned preaching from American pulpits.

Those who really care about black Africans, everywhere in Africa, should actually be clamoring that we do all we can to keep South Africa strong and prosperous.

Epidemic Proportions

There is something to be said for the idea that when a physical condition known to shorten man's lifespan afflicts 60 million persons, it ought to be treated as an epidemic.

Researchers at the Medical College of Wisconsin are engaged in one of the largest studies ever undertaken of obesity, and in their initial report to the American Public Health Association they estimate that nearly one of three Americans is overweight.

As a health problem, then, obesity has reached epidemic proportions. The head of the research team, Dr. Alfred A. Rimm, observed that obesity "is probably more critical to national health than undernutrition."

Obesity can have complex origins. Food intake is not always the cause, but it is a safe bet that most of the 60 million now carrying extra pounds could trim the waistline and firm up a sagging physique if the effort was made.

The effort is being made by hundreds of thousands. The number of health clubs and other organizations catering to the out-of-shape has been growing rapidly in recent years. This could be a reflection of a more youthful society. If it is, it is a better reflection than the one in too many home mirrors.

PERFECTION

In an age when sloppy craftsmanship is not uncommon, the consumer who has been afflicted with a product or service which does not meet his standards may pause to wonder if the pursuit of excellence is still a goal of his fellow workers.

Yes, it is, but perhaps in a new form. This is an era in which team effort largely has supplanted the individual entrepreneur. It was team effort which created the critical science of space exploration, and in a larger sense is responsible for the technological revolution.

General Electric Company researchers have taken another large step in the pursuit of perfection by producing what they claim is the purest substance on the earth. The product, germanium, has an average of less than one impure atom in a trillion. Now the problem is to find a use for so much perfection in an imperfect world.

Constitution defeat said no surprise

BOISE (UPI) — The chairman of the Constitutional revision Commission said Wednesday the resounding defeat of the proposal by Idaho voters was not "unexpected."

But Raymond L. Givens, former Supreme Court chief justice who headed the 15-member commission during its five-year life, said he was "most disappointed that it didn't seem really possible to explain really what we did and why we did it."

Results from 885 of the state's 891 precincts showed the revised constitution was defeated 139,462 to 74,862.

At the same time, voters gave approval to two amendments to the existing constitution lengthening terms of county treasurers and assessors to four from two years. The votes were 121,276 to 91,790 and 123,311 to 89,885 respectively.

Voters also gave resounding approval to a legislative pay initiative to cut lawmakers' expenses to $25 from $35 per day, drop the $200 per month expense allowance, and limit payment of expenses to 60 days during the first session and 30 days during the second.

The pass, the initiative needed at least a majority of the total vote cast for governor. The initiative won 127,167 "yes" votes, more than the 121,072 finally needed.

Givens attributed the rejection of the revision to great activity on the part of those opposing it and "perhaps some lack of real understanding of what is in the present one and what as in the revision and how really there were not so many vital changes as some people asserted — at least not the injurious changes or wrong changes."

Although the commission does not disband until the end of the year, Givens said he had no further plans.

Gem winners unwind after test

BOISE (UPI) — Some of the offices in Idaho's statehouse reflected Wednesday the fortunes of misfortunes of Tuesday's general election.

Staff members for Joe Williams, a Democrat successful in his bid for another term as state auditor, held an open house for their boss — complete with punch and cake — during the afternoon.

Marjorie Ruth Moon, a Democrat who won another term as state treasurer, sported an orchid corsage — complete with a plastic donkey.

But staff members were more subdued in the offices of Gov. Don Samuelson and Attorney General Robert Robson, two Republicans who were defeated during the election.

Robson, looking back over the campaign, said "If I had it to do over again I wouldn't change anything — even if I knew I'd lose. It's been a pleasure being the attorney general of the State of Idaho."

Robson said the outcome of the election might have been different if he hadn't "rocked the boat quite so much but that would have been out of character for me."

Robson said after looking over election returns he felt he had been defeated by members of his own party.

He said he planned to meet with the successful candidate — democrat Tony Park — prior to Park's inauguration to discuss projects underway in the office and budget preparations already begun.

In the office of Gov. Don Samuelson three secretaries quietly sat and answered telephone calls. The governor had left for the day and was not expected to return until Monday.

Mrs. Hazel Keefer, Samuelson's personal secretary, said the defeated governor had been a "tower of strength" to staff members and said he told them "I've had an interesting and wonderful four years."

She said she answered the telephone early in the morning in her usual way — "Governor Samuelson's office" — and heard a child's voice inquire, "But I thought (Cecl) Andrus was elected governor?"

Mrs. Keefer explained Andrus would not be inaugurated until Jan. 4. The child thanked her and hung up.

Mrs. Keefer was a victim of the campaign in the truest sense. Shortly before the election she was driving the governor's wife to the governor's mansion and when they arrived the yard had been posted with "Andrus for Governor" signs.

When Mrs. Keefer tried to remove the signs, she slipped on a gutter and broke her ankle. She showed up at work with crutches and a foot in a cast.

Kootenai okays measure

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — Kootenai County voters Tuesday approved a measure that will mean a reduction in the number of highway districts in the county and elimination of the county road department. Voters approved the measure 6,028-3,738. Passage means the county commissioners will divide the present eight highway districts and the highway department into no more than six highway districts which will administer and maintain all roads not controlled by the state, the federal government or the cities.

Kent State gag lifted

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — Administrators of Kent State University, previously muffled by a court order, were free today to criticize a special grand jury report which said their "permissiveness" led to student violence on the campus last spring.

Judge Ben. C. Green of U.S. District Court Tuesday lifted a Portage County Court ban on criticism of the report of the grand jury, which indicted 25 persons in the violence which culminated last May 4 in the shooting deaths of four students by National Guardsmen. No guardsmen were charged.

Green, acting on a suit filed by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), said the events at Kent State were "a matter of national, social, political and moral concern and debate."

Ronald Beer, assistant to Kent State President Robert J. White, said he was certain White now would speak out on the report.

"It is this court's opinion," Green said, "that when the rules on grand jury secrecy are taken in conjunction with the basic law on the right of free speech the injunction restraining all grand jury witnesses from speaking out with reference to the comments of the special grand jury must fall as being overly broad."

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — A large Cambodian government force left the village of Tang Kauk Wednesday for a sweep of suspected Communist positions to the east, field officers reported.

Tang Kauk, 52 miles north of Phnom Penh, is where 20,000 government forces have been stalled since mid-September on their drive to Kompong Thom, 28 miles further to the north.

It was not known if today's sweep, involving several battalions, was a resumption of the government drive to the North. The Communist forces which have stalled the drive were reported massed in wooded areas east of the village.

A Communist force of undetermined size moved against a government position at Krauch Soeuch 15 miles northeast of the capital, the spokesmen said, but there were no casualty reports and few details. Artillery fire was called in against the Communists Tuesday night, the spokesmen said.

Fifteen miles to the south-east, Communist mortar fire harassed a government position near the village of Tuk khleang. There were no reports of casualties.

In South Vietnam regional forces militamen fought two battles seven miles south of Dan Nang, the country's second largest city, Tuesday afternoon. They killed 45 Communists and captured 21 others, according to government spokesmen.

SEATTLE (UPI) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson "D-Wash." ran up the greatest vote total of his career Tuesday to win re-election to a fourth term and his coattails apparently helped brush aside Washington's first woman in Congress.

The 84 per cent of the vote amassed by the former Democratic national chairman in defeating State Sen. Charles Elicker was expected to fuel the national ticket for Jackson, although he described such talk as "highly iffy."

Jackson had 783,055 votes compared with 150,388 for Elicker with 94 per cent of the precincts reporting.

The presence of Jackson on the Democratic ticket was viewed as a major assist in State Sen. Mike McCormack's upset of Rep. Catherine May, who had represented the state's most conservative district since 1959. McCormack becomes the first Democrat to represent the district since 1942.

National meet to study Idaho water development

BOISE — Idaho's experience in water development will set the pace for the several discussions at a national irrigation meeting at Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 10 to Nov. 13.

Several hundred engineers and others concerned with agricultural uses of water are expected from many Western states.

Among the Idaho speakers will be J. A. Bondurant, USDA, Kimberly; Glenn Burrows, bureau of Reclamation, Boise; C. E. Brockway, University of Idaho, Kimberly; M. E. Jensen, USDA, Kimberly; G. T. Newcomb, Ketchum; A. S. Humphreys and C. H. Pari, both of USDA, Kimberly; and Howard Tankersley, community and resource development leader of the University of Idaho extension service, Boise.

The engineers will give research papers. Tankersley will talk about changes in the operation of irrigation districts. He is secretary of the western regional extension committee on community development.

Firm to acquire business

MINNEAPOLIS — Green Giant Co. has reached agreement in principle to acquire two food processing firms, it was announced today by Robert Cosgrove, chairman of the board.

According to the two agreements, Green Giant will acquire all of the stock of Don's Prize Foods, Miami, and Bama Meat, Inc., Florence, Ala. Bama Meat is a leading processor and distributor of retail processed meat products within the state of Alabama and Don's Prize Foods produces primarily frozen pre-cooked meat as a convenience food and distributes it nationally to the institutional food-service market.

Campaign to boost wheat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An experimental, farmer-financed campaign to boost wheat sales will concentrate largely on developing new high-nutrition foods, a spokesman said today.

If the initial program approved by Congress last month shows promise, the spokesman added, it could develop into a continuing self-help effort to reverse the long downturn in U.S. per-capita consumption of wheat foods.

The research-promotion program, which will be directed by the newly-organized National Wheat Institute, was authorized by a law which allows the institute to draw on a $4.2 million export tax fund collected by the agriculture department in 1968-69.

Under earlier laws, the funds were earmarked for distribution on a pro-rata basis to wheat growers. Under the new law, growers are currently being offered a choice: Each eligible farmer is being asked to decide whether he wants to collect his refund or to leave it in a pool for use by the wheat institute.

Government experts have estimated that when the 90-day period for farmer decisions expires in late December, growers will have agreed to leave about $2 million in the research-promotion pool.

The law made no provision for additional financing of the wheat institute's promotion programs, and an institute spokesman said today that when the initial one-shot fund is spent, "That's the end of it."

But, the spokesman added: "If the institute's work is successful and catches producers' interest, and if further producer funding becomes available, there's a possibility this could become a continuing thing."

An institute official added that while the group is authorized to finance both research and promotion, its budget will probably lean more heavily to research in areas like enrichment and fortification of wheat foods, and development of new products.

Some promotional work will be included also, the official predicted, but with the exact amount to be available out of the $4.2 million still uncertain, the official said. No definite project plans have been made yet.

The institute's key goal, officials say, will be to combat the average American consumer's long-term trend away from wheat foods. A spokesman said one possible step might be financing of market development of new wheat foods which have been developed in laboratories but never brought out for consumer testing.

Wheat market sought

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI) — American wheat growers must seek new markets and may find them in a rapidly growing demand for wheat in livestock feeds at home and abroad, a top Nixon administration farm official said today.

"Some people are displeased when I come into a wheat state and talk about the potential for increased feeding of wheat," said assistant agriculture secretary Clarence D. Palmby. Wheat in the U. S. traditionally has been viewed as a human food. Wheat for food purposes carries a far higher government support than wheat used for livestock feed.

"Still, I think it is the better part of realism to view the world as it really is," Palmby said in a speech prepared for a feed industry seminar at Kansas State University. "The fact is that the use of wheat for (livestock) feed has increased substantially in the world. At the same time, the use of wheat for food has not shown spectacular growth," he said. "Add to this the tremendous production capacity in the U.S.—present and potential—and you have a situation where we need to look for new markets and new opportunities for the American wheat producer," Palmby said.

The farm official said the use of wheat for feed has doubled in the European common market in the past six years and eastern Europe also may offer a growing market for animal feed ingredients in coming years.

2 elected for posts on board

BURLEY — John A. Pierce, Malta, and Milton T. Jones, Malad, were both re-elected as members of the advisory board of the Burley District, Bureau of Land Management.

Pierce represents Precinct 2 and Jones represents Precinct 4. Holdover members of the board include Ray Lincoln, Twin Falls; Edwin D. Crockett, Hansen; Wilford Wrigley, Burley; Ennis Pickett, Oakley; John Basterrechea, Rupert; Leavitt Taylor, Arimo and Herman J. McDevitt, Pocatello. The advisory board advise and counsel the Bureau of Land Management on various local matters. Members are also chosen to form state and national advisory boards to offer counsel on state and national matters.

T.F. girl attends TORCH meet

TWIN FALLS — Margaret McCurdy, president of the Twin Falls Chapter of TORCH, Teen Organization for Retarded Children, has returned from the Fourth Annual National Youth

Conference in Minneapolis. The organization, YOUTH-NARC, is a division of the National Association for Retarded Children and is made up of young people dedicated to working with these people.

Miss McCurdy was one of five young Idaho delegates attending the Minneapolis meeting. Three Boise torch members and one from Nampa accompanied her. Twin Falls staged the state TORCH convention this year with local delegates as hosts to others from throughout the state.

Miss McCurdy said some "practice" sessions were held at the national conference in which young delegates portrayed blind or otherwise handicapped and retarded children, then offered pointers on the help they received from other delegates.

Retarded children were special guests at a conference dance this past Saturday night

Oliver tryouts set on weekend

TWIN FALLS — Tryouts for "Oliver," set for the 1971 production by the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley, will begin Saturday, according to Brad Hickerson, director.

Children's tryouts will be at 3 p. m. Saturday. Adults and Oliver hopefuls will audition at 7 p. m. Saturday and 2 p. m. Sunday. Dancers will audition the first week in January, Hickerson said. All tryouts will be at O'Leary Junior High School.

Major characters to be cast, Hickerson said, are Oliver, Twist, who should be between 10 and 13 years of age; Fagin; the Artful Dodger, 15 to 18 years old; Bill Sykes; Nancy, 18 to 25 years of age; Mr. Bubble and Mrs. Corney. Those auditioning for these parts should sing one of their songs from the show. Hickerson said the part of Bill Sykes may be cast as a non-singing role, depending upon the people interested in auditioning for that part.

Minor singing characters are Bet, 13 to 15 years of age; Fagin's Gang and Mrs. Bedwin. For these and chorus parts auditioners may sing any song.

Non-singing roles are Mr. Brownlee, Mr. Sowerberry, Mrs. Sowerberry, Charlotte, Noah Claypole and Dr. Grimwig. Those auditioning for these parts should prepare a one- or two-minute reading from the script.

Anyone interested in working with scene construction, lighting, properties, costumes or makeup can sign up on either Saturday or Sunday.

Shapp scores in Penn

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Independent Democrat Milton Shapp, a millionaire industrialist from Philadelphia, became governor of Pennsylvania on his second try while ticket-splitting voters re-elected Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott.

Shapp, 58, who twice won the nomination by bucking his party, soundly defeated Republican Lt. Gov. Raymond J. Broderick, another Philadelphia, after a bitter campaign. Shapp, whose victory ended eight years of Republican control, becomes the first Jewish governor in the state's history.

He won by a larger margin than Scott could compile against little-known Democratic state Sen. William G. Sesler, 42, an Erie attorney. Scott, who will be 70 on Nov. 11, became the first Pennsylvanian ever to be elected to three successive Senate terms.

Unofficial returns from 9,520 of the state's 9,532 precincts—

U.S. Senate: Scott 1,869,753, Sesler 1,647,486—Governor Shapp 2,038,272, Broderick 1,539,834.

Democrats retained their 14-13 margin over the Republicans in the state's congressional delegation. Twenty-six incumbents won, while a Republican won the seat left vacant by the death of a party colleague.

T.F. man gets VFW position

TWIN FALLS — John W. Price has been appointed national aide-de-camp for recruiting a minimum of 75 new members in the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post, Herbert R. Rainwater, San Bernardino, Calif., commander-in-chief of the VFW in the United States, announces.

Rainwater said, "The VFW is fortunate to have a vast number of dedicated members who each year make it their personal business to recruit new members. These dedicated members are the backbone of our organization, seeking as their only reward a stronger VFW through which to better serve the cause of all veterans and to strengthen our community service programs."

Auto hits Buildings

TWIN FALLS — An estimated $800 damage was done to an office occupied by Armstrong, Wickham and Co., accountants Tuesday evening when a car struck the building, Twin Falls police report.

The accident occurred about 6 p. m. at the rear parking area of the firm on Second Avenue South. Police said the vehicle responsible for the damage left the scene.

HELSINKI (UPI)—Russia can be expected to hold back for some time before naming her terms for agreement with the United States on nuclear curbs of nuclear weapons, American delegation sources said today. The Soviets returned to the resumed Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) in Helsinki Tuesday, apparently still serious about doing business with the United States on nuclear weapons limitations.

from polemics, leaving them with the impression that the Kremlin remains "serious about doing business here." The United States presented to the Russians a package last July outlining plans for numerical limitation of land and sea based rockets and of antiballistic missiles (ABM).

NOTICE OF PUBLIC REDESIGN HEARING. Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held pursuant to Public Law 85-767, Chapter 3 of Title 22, and Sections 10-201 and 10-202 of Chapter 1, Title 5, Code, also Chapter 298, Idaho Session Laws of 1969. It pertains to the proposed redesign of West Five Points, known as a new project No. T-402(1), Twin Falls, as outlined in this notice. The hearing will be held at the American Legion Hall, Twin Falls, Twin Falls County, Idaho, at 2 p.m., Thursday, November 12, 1970. Then and there interested citizens may be heard orally or in writing as to their views regarding the social, economic, and environmental effects affecting the area, and direct benefits or losses to the community and to highway users that proposed highway design would have on the area. PROJECT DESCRIPTION Project No. T-402(1) W 5 Points - Twin Falls This project consists of reconstruction of the West 5 Points in Twin Falls. The project length is 0.21 mile on U. S. Highway 30. The project begins on Addison Avenue West approximately 470 feet west of West 5 Points intersection and extends east on Addison Avenue to about 650 feet east of the West 5 Points intersection Washington Street would be widened and rebuilt from Washington Avenue West to Shoup Avenue. Main Avenue would be narrowed to permit entrance only from the intersection. A 20-foot one-way entrance onto Main Avenue from the intersection would be provided. On Addison Avenue West the basic right of way width would be 99 feet. An 81-foot curb to curb roadway section would consist of a 16-foot raised median, four lanes for through traffic and a right turn lane. The north side curb line would be retained west of the intersection. Addison Avenue would have a basic right of way width of 98 feet. A roadway section 78 feet curb to curb would consist of four travel lanes: a 16-foot raised median and a right turn lane. The basic right of way width on Washington Street North would be 82 feet. The roadway section of 66 feet curb to curb would consist of four travel lanes and a 16-foot painted median. On Washington Street the basic right of way width would be 86 feet. Four travel lanes and a 16-foot raised median would comprise the 66-foot curb to curb roadway section. Standard Approach Policy is proposed for access control. Right of way acquisition is contemplated to start in 1971. Agreements with utility companies and the City of Twin Falls would be required. The project would be financed as a Federal Aid Traffic Operations Project for Improvement of Safety and Capacity (TOPICS) by the Idaho Department of Highways on a part-time basis with the Federal Government. Plan sheets showing the design details are available for public inspection at the Twin Falls Idaho Department of Highway Engineering Office, 1150 Highway Avenue, or at the Department's District Office, Shoshone, Idaho, and at the Twin Falls City Engineer's office, Twin Falls, Idaho. Relocation assistance of any displaced persons, if any, will be discussed. Additional written testimony or statements or exhibits pertinent to the redesign of this proposal may be submitted after the hearing up to December 2, 1970, addressed to the Department of Highway Engineering, P. O. Box 1279, Boise, Idaho 83707. Done at 211 West State Street, Boise, Idaho, this 8th day of October, 1970. 50th anniversary open house slated

JEROME — Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Jasper will be honored at an open house Sunday in observance of their Golden Wedding Anniversary at the Episcopal Church Hall, East Avenue-A and Adams Street. The event will be hosted by the couple's children, Mrs. John (Margie) Wing, Fresno, Calif.; Mrs. Theron (Ethel) Brown, Rupert; Dale Jasper, Sparks, Nev.; Cleo Jasper and Jeanene Pachter, both Jerome.

The couple has 11 grandchildren. All friends and relatives are invited to the open house and the couple requests no gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Jasper were married Nov. 4, 1920, at the Clover Lutheran Church and farmed in the Filer and Twin Falls area from 1920 to 1952. They then moved to the Jerome Canyonside area and farmed from 1952 to 1969, when they retired and moved to their present address, 408 E. Ave. B.

Management of acne

Thorough skin cleansing is the most important single step in the management of acne, a New York dermatologist advises in a recent issue of Clinical Medicine.

Dr. Louis Wexler, director of dermatology, Beekman-Downtown Hospital, describes the liquid skin cleanser, pHisoHex, as "an effective adjunct to the treatment of acne vulgaris" because of its antibacterial properties. Bacterial infection often complicates acne lesions, Dr. Wexler explains.

GOLD-PLATED METERS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Among the more than 38 million residential gas customers of utility companies, there probably are fewer than 100 customers with genuine gold-plated meters. According to meter-maker Rockwell Manufacturing Company, gold meters are installed only to honor "milestone" customers. These may be the 10,000th, 100,000th or half-millionth customer added to company lines, depending on the size and age of the utility involved.

Frailty? name was 'woman'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frailty, thy name used to be woman, but from the early 60s on things really have changed. With a flex of your muscles, you've pushed the "sugar and spice and everything nice" image aside.

You don't just operate mimeograph machines anymore, instead you also repair them. You'd rather help build schools than teach in them. You're auto and aircraft mechanics, carpenters, sheet-metal workers, machinists and in all kinds of other work traditionally considered exclusive arenas for men—and often the brawnier ones at that.

Is no male domain safe from your invasion? The answer, apparently, is no, a UPI study shows.

Although both the number and proportion of women in skilled trades is small—less than three per cent the total of skilled employees in 1966—a marked movement of women into the crafts is under way," reports the U.S. Labor Department.

In the 1962-66 crafts growth rate, the department reported that women surpassed men as auto mechanics, bakers, compositors and typesetters, decorators and window dressers, opticians, lens grinders, and polishers, tailors and upholsterers.

The department said 1,800 women were enrolled as apprentices in 1969 in programs registered with its Manpower Administration, a 72 per cent increase over the previous year.

They said women worked as plumbers in Rochester, N.Y.; operators of heavy equipment in Phoenix and Boston, ship fitters at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard; aircraft mechanics in Newark, Ohio; as well as sheetmetal workers, carpenters, pipe fitters and shoe repairers in various other parts of the country.

Officials said most of the female trainees did very well, despite the he-man nature of their work.

DEAR ABBY—Our son, 19, attended a boys' high school and never dated until he went to college. As a college freshman he met a girl and they became engaged. She is a year older than he, is of another faith, and she is an invalid, having had spinal surgery at age 13. She needs help to walk, and her coordination is poor.

Our son invited her to our home for a few days. (She lives 300 miles away.) It was heartbreaking. The poor girl made her bed to the best of her ability, but it looked like the work of a child. She left fingerprints on the walls where she had tried to get around, unassisted.

We've explained to our son that he will have a hard time getting insurance and hospitalization—that she will always need a full time maid, and she is incapable of caring for a baby, if indeed she could ever bear one.

We've told our son that we will see him thru college, while he is still single, but if he marries in college, we'll not help him financially.

We love our son and don't want him to make a mistake he will regret all his life. Meanwhile, the girl's parents are encouraging this marriage. Would you recommend this marriage?

HIS PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: The "marriage" may come off whether I recommend it or not. But I have a recommendation for you. Tho I know you have your son's best interests at heart, it is his decision and his life, and even his "mistake" if that's what it turns out to be.

Don't point out the difficulties he will face should he marry this girl. (He's aware of them.) Your obvious disapproval of this choice could make him all the more determined to marry her just to prove you wrong.

DEAR ABBY A man just can't win. Why is it that when I send my wife flowers for no special occasion, she looks at me funny and says, "Well, what have you done now?"

NOT GUILTY

DEAR NOT: She hasn't been properly trained. When she feels certain that your generosity was not prompted by a guilty conscience, she'll quit being suspicious. To "train" her—send her flowers more often.

DEAR ABBY The letter about twin beds interested me because for 10 years my husband and I also slept "spoon style" and it was very comfortable—for him. He is 6'2" and I am 5'2" and I wasn't getting much bed, or much sleep.

Five years ago we bought twin beds and for the first year my husband hated it. Then we hit upon a good compromise. We pushed the twin beds together. That way we each have our own mattress and when one moves the other isn't disturbed.

Of course the bedroom doesn't look quite as attractive, but now we can hold hands when we go to sleep, and he can lean over and kiss me good night and we can get a good night's sleep.

I know I am much easier to get along with during the daytime if I've slept well and that's worth a lot!

ONE OF THE WALL graphics used to decorate the upstairs addition to The Paris is this one in the shoe department. The shoe department, known as Chuck's Shoes at the Top of the Stairs, will be managed by Chuck Koehn and Mike Braun.

Addition to local dress shop features unique, interesting interior decor

By NORMA HERZINGER
Women's Editor

TWIN FALLS — When Earl Faulkner said the new addition to his store would "enchant the daring," he said a mouthful.

The "Top of the Stairs," the complete upstairs portion of The Paris, is a site-to-behold. The new winding staircase takes you to fashions for sub-teens and juniors along with skiwear and shoes, all displayed in a setting that must be seen to be appreciated.

For example, the area to be used by Chuck's Shoes, managed by Chuck Koehn and Mike Braun, which is right at the top of the stairs, features a black and white wall graphic depicting young beauties coming out of the trees. This can only be topped by the unusual and unique snake and reptile tables that will be used for display and comfort — say for magazines, ashtrays, etc.

The entire center of the large upstairs area is the original building brick, dating back to 1911, and it's interesting, the interior decoration all by Charles Stutberg of L'Herisson's, has utilized each original skylight, adding a new finish with a new plastic bubble on top.

On down toward the front of the building you see a large gazebo-type center to be used for checking, wrapping, etc. Across from the gazebo is a lounge — powder room type — featuring the wet look in its bold black wallpaper, proudly sporting large white daisies with gold centers.

The dressing rooms next to the lounge feature a double arch entry (colored a beautiful blue) where you come face to face with the "Stars and Stripes." The interior of each dressing room is different and the three opening from the patriotic decor are boldly papered in gaily colored floral designs.

The Ski Shack is sectioned off in gold decor accented with white burlap with gold, orange and purple stripes, with each enhanced with a peaked mansard roof.

There are 12 dressing rooms upstairs, and as mentioned, all decorated differently — a decor for every mood. One is papered with the "peace" sign, one with the comic book character, Mighty Mouse, another with bare footprints, and still another with every road sign imaginable, to name just a few.

Some are not quite that wild — well, come to think of it, maybe they are.

As is evident, the unique decor will appeal to the teen-agers. A place where they can go, try on clothes, browse, chat and feel at ease.

Mrs. Charles A. (Margaret) Perkins will be manager of the upstairs addition, except for the shoes, which will be manned by Chuck and Mike.

A special party is set for the teen-agers (and parents, too) from 8 to 9:15 p.m. tonight, with The Rounders providing the music. The grand opening is scheduled Friday.

With the opening of the new downtown area, The Paris "Top of the Stairs" is a delightful addition for Magic Valley teen-agers — and mothers too.

Spirals up . . .

WALKING DOWN the winding staircase that leads to the new upstairs addition to his store, The Paris, is Earl Faulkner. A special party will be held at the store from 8 to 9:15 p.m. Thursday, with the grand opening of the new addition set for Friday.

Tour of homes scheduled Wednesday in Fairfield

FAIRFIELD — The Prairie Homemakers Extension Club is sponsoring a tour of homes from 2 to 5 p.m. Nov. 11. Six homes will be open to the public and refreshments will be served at the Rex O'Neil home.

Visitors may go to any of the homes in any order they wish. A nominal charge will be made for the tour and will be used for the 4-H Club Congress.

Homes that are included on the tour include the two story home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Ivie on the main street of Fairfield. This home has 1600 feet of floor space and has just recently been remodeled with electric heat installed.

The home of Mr. and Mrs.

Russell Pate, west of the main street, has also just been remodeled with an addition built at the cost of $5,200. This home has hot water heat and a fireplace.

The mobile home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lee, two blocks west of the main street, has 665 square feet of floor space and is very compact. They have added two porches. The mobile home is a Marlette.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Rex O'Neil is an older home that has recently been remodeled and added to at a cost of $9,000. It contains 2,400 square feet of floor space and is heated with electricity. It is located in the northwest part of Fairfield.

The country home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reagan is located one mile east, two miles south and one-fourth east of Fairfield. The first part was built in 1948 and a large addition built in 1968-69. It has a forced air oil furnace for heat. $12,400 was spent in the addition which is spacious and well arranged.

The other country home on the tour is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Tate, Corral, which is nine miles west of Fairfield and one-half mile south of highway 68. It was built by Bestway Builders and moved to the site from Meridian at a total cost of about $20,000. It contains 1,300 square feet of floor space and has electric heat.

The tour of homes is open to the public.

Rebekahs schedule pancake supper

TWIN FALLS — A pancake supper was discussed when members of Primrose Rebekah Lodge No. 76 met in regular session Tuesday evening at the Odd Fellows Temple.

The supper is set from 5 to 8 p.m. Nov. 14, with all proceeds going to the Garl Ridgeway Memorial Scholarships to the College of Southern Idaho.

It was announced the Rebekahs were invited to bring a covered dish and their own table service to a fried chicken dinner the Odd Fellows are sponsoring at 7 p.m. Nov. 12.

Mrs. Margaret Watts honored Mrs. Myrtle Bair on her 85th birthday anniversary with an appropriate poem.

Mrs. Frank Eastman and Mrs. Goldie Ridgeway, representatives to assembly, gave their reports. Mrs. Eastman was approved as special deputy for Primrose and Mrs. Harley Williams, Filer, was approved as district deputy president for District No. 5.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Eastman, Mrs. Hugh Anderson, Mrs. Isara Keven, Ina Schreiber and Mrs. Jack Bell.

The next meeting is Nov. 17 featuring initiation. The staff will practice at 2:30 p.m. Nov. 15. All members in the staff are requested to be present for the practice.

All guests are asked to bring a covered dish and their own table service. Public invited. Table games and group singing will be featured in the program.

WENDELL — Odd Fellow Rebekah Lodge No. 96 is host for a potluck dinner to honor United Nations delegates, Beccie Barron and Lucinda Osborn, Fairfield, who represented Sixth District at New York City last summer. All Odd Fellows and Rebekahs and their families are invited to attend the dinner which is scheduled for Saturday at 7 p.m. at the hall. All attending should bring their own table service and a covered dish.

Secure environment stressed for teens

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI) — The newest prescription for parents, teachers and others hoping to help teen-agers avoid the drug abuse trap goes like this: "Schools, parents and the community must create an open environment where boys and girls feel secure, wanted, loved, and free to express their innermost feelings."

The RX is in a Resource Book for Drug Abuse Education, developed as a part of the Drug Abuse Education Project of the American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation and the National Science Teachers Association.

Marvin R. Levy, project director, recommends that strategy. He also believes the best deterrent where drug use is concerned amounts to a sound value system.

In the introduction to the guide, especially prepared for teachers, he put it this way: "The best deterrent to drug abuse is the individual's value system and his assessment of the consequences associated with drug involvement."

"Decision making can be aided when sensitive teacher-pupil relationships based upon mutual understanding, integrity, and honesty are established. "Exaggeration, distorting, and sensationalism are propaganda, not education, and have no place in the school."

Levy recommended also that the school program begin early, since it is no longer appropriate to conceive of drug abuse education as a unit or course only at the secondary level.

Dr. Robert C. Petersen, chief of the Center for Studies of Narcotic and Drug Abuse, National Institute of Mental Health, also contributed to the guide.

He advised teachers to avoid scare techniques since "these are usually ineffective." He said they don't work because the teen-ager's direct knowledge frequently contradicts them.

"Teen-agers are demanding and are entitled to — honest and accurate answers," he said. "Given the facts, youngsters often quickly respond."

The Resource Book for Drug Abuse Education is available from NEA Publications Sales, 1201 16th St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. The price is $1.95.

Wendell invades Jerome; Filer tests Solons; Carey, Mushers slate playoffs

Wendell's undefeated Trojans travel to Jerome Friday afternoon for the first football meeting between those two clubs in a long while while a pair of playoff games featuring the best two teams out of the third and fourth district collide at Fairfield and Carey Saturday. In the lone Friday night game, the winless Filer Wildcats have their last chance to get something more than a tie when they travel to Gooding. Friday's battle (2p.m.) will find Coach Ed Peterson's Tigers testing the strong Wendell defensive unit with the belly series. Meanwhile, Jerome will have some defensive trouble coming up with a key to stop senior Kirk Dennis who is perhaps the best runner around and can throw the ball better than most quarterbacks in the area. In fact, he played quarterback last year. Coach Peterson's belly series is a difficult thing for a defensive line to handle—and for the officials. Seldom a game goes by when an official doesn't blow the ball dead in the middle of the line only to see the second man carrying it somewhere else downfield. Statistically, Jerome looms very well. The Tigers have averaged two pass interceptions a game and so far in the South-Central Idaho Conference haven't had one picked off. Tiger quarterback Jim Meeks, although not a great thrower in classical terms, gets the job done, his league stats showing 14 completions in 22 tries for 408 yards and four touchdowns. Meeks also is one of the better defensive secondary men in the area. Halfback Ron Hillier is averaging seven yards a carry in the SCIC and meeks tops total offense data with 562 yards in 51 plays.

But Dennis can equal all that by himself. He hasn't been held to less than 100 yards on the ground yet and has thrown for several touchdowns on a halfback option. His younger brother, Kip, picked up 93 last week and the Trojans have a strong fullback in Adams. Wendell has had some hepatitis outbreak but so far no team member has contacted it.

Filer will have to have its best effort to win that first one against Gooding. The Senators are somewhat inconsistent offensively, but Gary Gorrell has racked up 584 yards in total offense. Filer has been able to generate nothing, really, on offense and the Wildcats have suffered a terrible attrition in players quitting throughout the season. Coach Noel Ruiter is down to 16 juniors and seniors and has to press sophomores into service at times. Sophomores seldom win on the varsity level in A-2 competition.

If one is to go by statistics, however, a real shoot-em-up battle should wage at Carey Saturday afternoon. Meadows Valley, Long Pin Conference champions, two weeks ago rapped Garden Valley 101-0, which reflects a lot of "matriculation" the ball downfield.

Meadows Valley likes to throw the ball toward Smith, who has good speed and probably has caught more touchdown passes this year than any one in the state. The third district crew's speed also has precluded much in the way of homerun plays by the opposition.

Carey takes a strong one-two ground attack against the invaders in senior Dennis Rush and junior Dick Simpson. Carey also can throw the ball well and has scored 60 and 70 points. But unless the defense can grab hold, it would be the win will go to the last team who has ball possession.

Camas County Magic Valley Conference runners-up, also is expecting an aerial show when Cascade shows up at Fairfield Saturday afternoon. Cascade lost only to Meadows Valley in the Long Pin Conference. The Mushers are about as healthy as they've been all year with Admead still showing some improvement after missing several games with injuries.

The snow left the Fairfield field Wednesday which may or may not be a blessing for Coach Phil Brackenbury and his boys. Snowy fields seldom lend themselves to passing attacks.

SPORTS

Simpson moves up in AFC rushing race

NEW YORK (UPI)—O.J. Simpson is beginning to flash the form which made him one of the greatest runners in the history of collegiate football two years ago. Simpson, in his second pro season, has finally caught on to the Bills' difficult offensive system and has been lugging the ball with authority in recent weeks. Last Sunday against the Boston Patriots Simpson carried 17 times and gained 123 yards for his best performance as a pro, and as a result has moved into contention in the American Football Conference's rushing race.

The former Southern California Star has moved into third place with 448 yards and is only 52 yards behind the No. 2 rusher, Hewitt Dixon of Oakland. Floyd Little of Denver continues to lead with 558 yards. Simpson has a good chance to move into second place next week as Dixon is not expected to play this Sunday.

There were no changes among the leaders in the major offensive categories this week. Daryle Lamonica of Oakland continues to lead the passers with a low point rating of 10. Eddie Hinton of Baltimore and Ray Chester of Oakland top the pass receivers with 30 catches. Jan Stenerud of Kansas City leads the scorers with 60 points and Paul Martha of Denver is tops in interceptions with four for 65 yards.

Basketball gets OK at Miami

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI)—The University of Miami will keep its intercollegiate basketball program and separate the jobs of head football coach and athletic director, an executive committee of the Board of Trustees decided Wednesday. University President Dr. Henry King Stanford announced the decisions and said a "search committee" to choose an athletic director is already at work. He said the committee hopes to make a choice "in a short time."

As the executive committee met on the basketball issue, interim head football coach Walt Kichenski kicked second-string quarterback John Hornbrook off the football team for his poor attitude and another player—offensive guard Chuck Milicic—packed up and went home.

The football squad has been having morale problems since head coach and athletic director Charlie Tate resigned suddenly two weeks after the football season began and Kichenski was named to replace him until the end of the year.

Stanford said the executive committee rejected a proposal by a special committee of citizens and university officials that basketball be dropped as an intercollegiate sport largely on grounds that the university lacks a field house.

Cage team boycotts Detroit

DETROIT (UPI)—The University of Detroit may have to ask student volunteers to play varsity basketball for the Titans this season.

The entire basketball team has boycotted practice all week after controversial coach Jim Harding suspended two players. The 18-man varsity met with Fr. Malcolm Carron, president of the university, Wednesday, but he told them to straighten their differences out with Harding.

Carron said the meeting with the athletes "was quite open and reasonable. We discussed the players' grievances and the possibilities of resolving them." "I reminded the team of the seriousness of their stand, the implications for themselves and the university, and I requested that they go to Harding immediately in an effort to straighten out their problems. I hope they will do so."

The players would not comment on their grievances following the hour-long session. They did not say whether they would meet with Harding Thursday. The boycott began after Harding suspended both Daniel Agee for failure to report an injury properly and seven-foot center Gerald Smith for throwing a "temper tantrum" in last Saturday's practice.

Giants cry foul and sue city

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Giants and the city of San Francisco apparently have ended their love affair.

The Giants on Wednesday filed a breach of contract suit against the city in superior court, seeking an injunction against imposition of a surcharge.

The City's Board of Supervisors instituted a 50-cent surcharge last week on every ticket sold to Candlestick Park, home of the baseball club, in an effort to raise about a half million dollars a year toward defraying a $16.1 million renovation of the 10-year-old park.

The Giants cried "foul" at the time and then made good on a threat to take the city to the courts to settle the issue.

The Giants claim the renovation of Candlestick is for the benefit of the football Forty Niners, who move into the park next fall.

Jones boys pace pro win

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—The Jones boys, Steve and Jimmy, each dropped in 23 points to pace the Memphis Pros to a 112-106 American Basketball Association win Wednesday night over Florida.

Mack Calvin, the ABA's leading scorer, tallied 32 points for the losers. Memphis rookie Wendell Ladner grabbed 24 rebounds, five short of tying the club record.

Memphis surged to a 61-45 halftime lead and stretched it to 90-75 by the end of the third quarter, but Florida used a late rally to make the score respectable at the end.

Wary ISU awaits arrival of Portland State with nation's No. 1 passer

POCATELLO — Idaho State warily awaits the arrival of Tim Von Dulm in Pocatello. Mr. Von Dulm is the nation's leading passer and he and his Portland State teammates are expected to provide some highly spirited competition for ISU. The game is at 8 p.m. in the Mindome.

The Bengal pass defense has suddenly toughened the last two games. Boise and Weber State hit only 20 of 46 combines passes for 239 yards. ISU was allowing 266 yards a game through the air. Credit has to go with the revamped secondary and a fierce pass rush that has sacked the passer 26 times, over three games. Louie Hurst, who has played three of the four defensive backfield positions, is now set at right corner. Jim Jones is at left corner, Mike Heberlein has looked great at safety, and Jake Palas is a big, tough rover.

Those four will be severely tested by Von Dulm, who passes around 50 times a game. His exact stats are 175 completions in 332 passes for 19 TD's and 2224 yards, or 317 a game. He's been intercepted 16 times but that's natural when you pass as much as he has.

Coach Don Read has worked miracles at Portland State. His 1969 Vikings were 6-4, first winning season at PSU since 1963, and only the second in PSU's history as a four-year institution. In 1970 the record is 4-3, with a 17-16 loss to Idaho and a 31-25 loss to Montana. Portland is more than just Von Dulm. He has three talented receivers in Bob Mickles (51 catches for 881 yards, 11 TD's), Jay Mann (38-363-4) and Kurt Heinze (38-392-2). Mickles is 5-3, 190 and runs about a 4.5 40. Coach Ray Groth, who scouted PSU last week, said Mickles was the best receiver he's seen this year.

A trio of fine linebackers led by middle backer Phil Oliver keeps PSU's opponents honest. Oliver has averaged 19 tackles a game. Outside are Tom Ball and Rich Lewis. Safety-Dennis Doyle was another Viking Groth praised as one of the best defensive backs he's seen in 1970. In the line giants Hank Barton (6-8, 235) and Wayne Karney (6-2, 280) are pro and prospects. Karney is also mobile. He was third place finisher as heavyweight in the NCAA Wrestling Tournament.

To sum up, this is undoubtedly the best team in Portland State's 15-year history as a four-year school.

Quarterback and receiver Coach Gene Dahlquist has been shuffling his wide receivers around to find a deep threat and he came up with Dan Halt and Larry Ray. Halt pulled in two tough passes in a crowd late in ISU's 24-3 loss to Boise although he's played quarterback most of the year.

Ex-grizzer knifes coach

MT. HOLLY, N.C. (UPI)—A white football coach at an integrated high school was knifed Wednesday in a hallway attack by a black former player.

Coach Delroy Wiles of Mt. Holly High School was reported in satisfactory condition after suffering severe cuts to his face, right cheek and lips.

The unidentified youth was jailed on an unspecified felony charge.

Assistant principal Burke Ferguson said the 17-year-old Negro left the football team several weeks ago and the attack apparently was the result of "a personal grudge over the football team." He would not elaborate.

Flood signs Solon pact, reserve clause included

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Curt Flood, who missed last season after bringing legal action against baseball's reserve clause, has signed a one-year, $110,000 contract, containing the clause, with the Washington Senators.

The Senators shipped three players—utilityman Greg Gosens, first baseman outfielder Gene Martin and right-handed pitcher Jeff Terpko—to the Philadelphia Phillies for the 32-year-old outfielder.

Flood had been traded to Philadelphia the previous season by the St. Louis Cardinals but never played for the Phillies. He brought a $1-million suit against baseball's reserve clause, which binds a player to his team, and sat out last season while the case went to court.

Judge Irving Ben Cooper ruled in favor of baseball after an extended court case and the decision is currently under appeal.

Frazier begins training

DETROIT (UPI)—Joe Frazier opened his training camp Wednesday for his upcoming heavyweight championship fight with Bob Foster but was perfectly willing to talk about Cassius Clay.

Clay-Bonavena fight slated for Dec. 7 in Square Garden

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cassius Clay would fight Oscar Bonavena over the 15-round route on December 7.

Clay and his representatives were to be at the conference but Bonavena was delayed by a family emergency in the Argentine and was not expected to arrive here until Friday.

The fight, slated for the anniversary of Pearl Harbor, will be Clay's second bout since he was refused recognition as heavyweight champion for refusing induction into the armed forces.

Clay made his last appearance in New York at the old Garden in March 1967, knocking out Zora Folley in seven rounds. It was his last fight prior to his armed forces difficulties.

Bonavena, 28, is regarded as clumsy and slow, but is also noted for his punching power.

Oregon seeks prestige salve against Air Force Saturday

By GREGG GALLO
UPI Sports Writer

With its chances of winning the Pacific Eight rated as hopeless, Oregon ventures outside the conference Saturday to battle undefeated and seventh-ranked Air Force.

No. 5 ranked Stanford can clinch the Pacific Eight crown and a trip to the Rose Bowl by beating 17-point underdog Washington. Even if they lose, the Indians have another chance to win the title against California.

Oregon, 4-2 in conference play compared to Stanford's 5-0 mark, lost a heartbreaker to Washington last week 25-24 to get knocked out of contention. But a win over the Falcons of Air Force, who humiliated the Ducks last year, 60-13 at Colorado Springs, would be a nice consolation prize for another frustrating season.

In other big games this Saturday No. 1 Texas takes on Baylor, second-ranked Notre Dame plays Pittsburgh, No. 3 Ohio State battles Wisconsin, fourth-ranked Nebraska takes on Iowa State, No. 6 Michigan plays Illinois, No. 8 Arkansas plays Rice, ninth-ranked Auburn is favored over Mississippi State, and No. 10 Tennessee visits South Carolina.

Other games find LSU at Alabama, Houston at Mississippi, San Diego State at Pacific, Columbia at Dartmouth, Wake Forest at Duke, Missouri at Oklahoma, and Kansas at Colorado.

Oregon started the season with one of the nation's best passers in Tom Blanchard but the senior was hurt early in the schedule and was replaced by sophomore Dan Fouts. Fouts has gone on to have a great year, averaging 15.1 completions per game and engineering a big upset over 16th-ranked UCLA. Oregon is currently the third best passing team in the country behind Auburn and San Diego State.

Air Force's quarterback Bob Parker has had a sensational season, hitting 134 of 263 passes for 1,993 yards and 15 touchdowns. He is averaging 16.9 completions per game.

Most of his tosses are aimed at Ernie Jennings, a fleet-footed flanker who has caught 49 for 933 yards and 12 touchdowns.

The Ducks' best receiver has been Bob Lewland. He has snared 48 passes for 871 yards and five touchdowns, and junior running back Bobby Moore has added punch to Oregon's attack, scoring 10 touchdowns and six extra points.

Flood's new money figure of $110,000 is $10,000 more than the contract offered by the Phillies last year.

Flood earned $90,000 in this last season with the Cardinals in 1969.

"Maybe being away a year has done me a lot of good," said Flood. "I'll be fresh and ready for action. Part of my hangup was mental fatigue. I don't see any problem in getting in stride again."

Flood will return to the United States next week and report to St. Petersburg, Fla., to begin working out with the Senators' team in the Florida Instructional League.

Flood's signing was the third of a controversial nature for Short, who earlier this year threatened to pull his team out of Washington because of financial difficulties. Short induced Hall of Famer Ted Williams, a controversial figure throughout his career, to manage the Senators two years ago and recently purchased Dennis McLain, Detroit's off-suspended star pitcher.

Williams said he was "delighted to have a player of Flood's stature," and said he felt the outfielder will be "a great asset."

Ducks' star halfback suspended

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—Coach Jerry Frei announced late Wednesday night that he has suspended his star halfback Bobby Moore for missing practice, and Moore will not play in the game here against Air Force Saturday.

Moore was arrested Tuesday night in Portland, Ore., along with Charles Earl Parker, 24, Portland, on a charge of entering a motor vehicle with intent to steal. They were released without bail and were scheduled to return to court next Tuesday for a preliminary hearing.

Frei announced the suspension after talking to Moore on his return from Portland Wednesday. The coach said he had allowed Moore to go to Portland after the Ducks game in Seattle to see his wife and baby, but that the junior halfback was supposed to report to practice Monday.

"This is the first time since Moore has been a member of the Oregon football team that he has missed practice," said Frei.

As to the charge against Moore, Frei said "this alleged action on the part of Bobby Moore is not consistent with his past record and certainly is not an indication of his normal behavior."

"Bobby has been under severe mental depression because of personal family problems, and I am sure this had an effect on his actions of the past few days."

Frei said he would reinstate Moore as a member of the squad Monday after the Air Force game. This means he will be available for action against Army and Oregon State.

Lew hits 53 as Bucks win

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The Milwaukee Bucks, with Lew Alcindor pouring in 53 points, fought back from an 11-point halftime deficit to beat the Cleveland Cavaliers, 110-108 Wednesday night in a National Basketball Association game.

The loss was the 12th straight for the Cavaliers, who saw their chance to tie with six seconds left in the game fade when Alcindor grabbed a rebound on John Johnson's missed jump shot from the corner.

Winless Carolina falls to Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The Kentucky Colonels, with seven players scoring in double figures, bombed the winless Carolina Cougars into their ninth straight defeat Wednesday night, 127-105.

Kentucky Coach Gene Rhodes turned the game over to his reserves most of the second half and watched them stretch the team's winning streak to five games in the American Basketball Association.

Celtics outlast 76ers 115-113

BOSTON (UPI)—Captain John Havlicek sank an insurance foul shot with six seconds left and then stole the ball from Philadelphia as the Boston Celtics downed the 76ers, 115-113, Wednesday night.

The game marked the 25th anniversary of the Celtics first game in Boston.

Pistons keep win formula

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Detroit Pistons used an unusual formula—an intentional foul and two missed free throws Wednesday night but continued to roll in the National Basketball Association with a 117-105 victory over Atlanta.

The foul came midway through the final period when Detroit's Howie Komives grabbed Atlanta's Lou Hudson on a sure fast break basket. Hudson missed the shot and also the two free throws. That kept the Pistons lead at three points, 96-93, and sent Detroit off and running.

Utah stays undefeated

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Utah's streaking stars led most of the way Wednesday night to defeat the Indiana Pacers 102-99 and gain their eighth American Basketball Association victory, keeping them the only unbeaten team in professional basketball.

Utah moved into a 53-52 halftime lead and never trailed in the second half.

Turner may not get ball again

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cecil Turner of the Chicago Bears may be lucky if he gets his hand on another football the rest of the year.

The speedy back has been devastating in his role as a kickoff returner this season, and rival clubs should have learned by now not to kick the ball in his direction.

Turner has returned only 14 kicks all season but three of them have been for touchdowns, including one for 94 yards last Sunday against the Atlanta Falcons.

Turner's three touchdowns with kickoff returner aces him just one shy of the National Football League record for one season set by Travis Williams of the Green Bay Packers in 1967.

Turner also has boosted his lead in the National Football Conference's kickoff return department. Turner has averaged 37.6 yards per return, which is 4.5 yards per game better than Alvin Haymond of Los Angeles.

Braves absorb seventh loss

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Seven men scored in double figures Wednesday night as the Seattle Super Sonics jumped off to a 20-point first-quarter lead and coasted to a 126-101 win over the Buffalo Braves in a National Basketball Association game.

Tom Meschery led the Seattle attack with 22 points and Len Wilkins—who needed 17 to hit the 12,000 career mark—scored 20.

It was the seventh straight loss for the Braves, who haven't won since a 107-92 opening game victory over Cleveland.

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The New York Knicks led by a pair of guards, Walt Frazier with 25 points and Mike Riordan with 24, gave the San Diego Rockets their first home defeat of the NBA season 109-100 Wednesday night.

The Knicks took advantage of 24 Rocket turnovers to give New York their 11th win in 13 games and their seventh in a row. San Diego's record is now 6-7.

The Knicks were threatened only once with a Rocket third quarter attack when Elvin Hayes and Jon Block put in back-to-back baskets to bring the score to 68-65 New York with 5:37 remaining.

S.F. rallies past Bullets

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Guard Jeff Mullins scored 12 of his game-high 35 points in the final period Wednesday night to power the San Francisco Warriors to an 111-100 NBA victory over the Baltimore Bullets.

The win was the second of the season without defeat for the Warriors over the Central Division leaders. The Bullets, now 6-4, retained their 3-1-2 game lead because the other three teams in the division also lost.

San Francisco is 4-6 in the Pacific Division.

A 10-0 spree by the Bullets in the final period cut the Warriors' lead to 87-85. Kevin Loughery scored six of the points and Gus Johnson added the other four.

Dobbs quits as Tulsa AD

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Glenn Dobbs, pointing up emotionally that to stay on at his job would create a "divided school," stepped down Wednesday as athletic director at the University of Tulsa.

Dobbs, in his 15th year at Tulsa, declined to elaborate on his statement, but paraphrased a popular cliché to "tell it like it is," by saying that if the truth were known, they would see it "is not always so sweet."

Dobbs' resignation to become director of special developments within the university system was the fourth upsetting move to strike the athletic department since this school year began.

Head Football Coach Vince Carliot quit under fire just before the Hurricane season got under way. That was followed by probationary action against the university by both the Missouri Valley Conference (MVC) and the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) to last through Jan. 1, 1973, for various recruiting violations.

The school's athletic committee met Tuesday and recommended the Dobbs' move to the board of regents at a noon meeting Wednesday.

"I don't get into that," the 26-year-old native of Philadelphia said when asked if he thought it was right for the World Boxing Association to strip Clay of his title, "that's a little out of my reach."

to his 10 would have forced the king and given him his 10th trick. South did play the deuce but proceeded to rise with his ace.

The gods of chance were still on his side, because he was now able to make all 13 tricks for a real top score. It wasn't too difficult for this genius. All he had to do was to run off the entire diamond suit while discarding three clubs from his hand.

This left him with his four spades and one heart, while West had to come down to five cards. West wanted to hold onto three hearts, the king and jack of spades and king of clubs, but that was a total of six and he had to throw one of them away. He threw a low heart, whereupon South cashed dummy's three hearts and West was squeezed again. This time, he unguarded the spade king, whereupon South made the last two tricks with the ace and queen of spades.

South had been having one of those evenings at duplicate when everything went right. He was so happy that he opened one no-trump out of turn. The director ruled properly that the bidding reverted to West and that North would be barred. South noted North's irritation and decided to gamble on six no-trump. After all, everything had been going beautifully. He won the heart lead in dummy and noted that he had 11 sure tricks and plenty of plays for 12. He decided to start by leading a club toward dummy's queen, but he forgot to play to his own hand first. Back came the director, who ruled that South had to lead a club from dummy. More than that, not a citizen who possesses a telephone does not move with alacrity to answer, but just lets it ring for awhile at least. Fascinating, if factual. The Russians, I'm told, still regard the telephone as something of a toy.

Machine purchase planned

TWIN FALLS — Lease purchase arrangements for an additional 12 voting machines on loan to Twin Falls County were announced today by the county commissioners.

Commissioners Heber Loughmiller and William Chancy said they agreed to include the 12 loan machines, noting all 102 are in full use during election time.

Under original terms of the contract signed with Automatic Voting Machine Co., Inc. last spring, the county agreed to lease the machines for a year, and if at the end of that time wanted to purchase them the lease payments would apply to the purchase.

Ninety machines were covered under the original contract and 12 more were offered by the company on a loan basis to provide plenty of coverage for all precincts.

There are 48 voting precincts in the county. Several have three machines and some of the smaller precincts require only one. Commissioners said the primary election in August and the Tuesday general vote indicated all 102 machines will be needed.

Commissioners Tuesday afternoon inspected a new concrete flooring in the county weed warehouse building in Filer where part of the machines will be stored.

Fiddling, waltzing set at 'Y'

TWIN FALLS — Old time music and a waltz contest are in store for area residents Friday night at the YMCA-YWCA building sponsored by the Idaho Oldtime Fiddlers Assn.

Many well known old time fiddlers of the local area will be on hand to participate in the music and dancing. Fans from throughout Magic Valley are expected to attend.

The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Thursday, Nov. 5, the 300th day of 1970. The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Scorpio. On this day in history: In 1733 German-born publisher John Peter Zenger began printing the newspaper New York Weekly Journal.

In 1911 Galbraith Rogers completed the first American transcontinental flight. It took him 49 days to fly from New York City to Pasadena, Calif.

In 1940 President Franklin Roosevelt was elected to an unprecedented third term. In 1955 Austria opened the reconstructed Vienna State Opera House and formally celebrated her liberation from 17 years of occupation.
