Italy nods to China

ROME (UPI)—Italy extended diplomatic recognition to Communist China today. It was the second Western nation to do so within a month.

A statement issued by the cabinet after a one-hour meeting said:

"The cabinet has approved the procedures concluding negotiations for the recognition of the People's Republic of (Communist) China and for the establishment of diplomatic relations between the two countries."

The announcement culminated 20 months of negotiations between Italy and Communist China.

Viets strike at border

SAIGON (UPI)—About 3,000 South Vietnamese marines sliced into Cambodia near the Plain of Reeds about 75 miles west-northwest of Saigon at dawn today in the third major invasion of Communist sanctuaries there in two weeks, South Vietnamese spokesmen and military sources said.

The marines linked up with other South Vietnamese troops already in Cambodia and with four Cambodian battalions in one of the largest operations in that country since the initial invasion of the sanctuaries late last April, sources said.

South Vietnamese spokesmen declined to reveal the exact location of the border penetrations on grounds no significant contacts with Communist troops had yet been made. But the operation was sprung from the headquarters of the 44th Special Zone at Cao Lanh in Kien Phong province. The zone was set up to control operations in the Plain.

The Plain is a marshy area that acquired its name during the French colonial era from the thick carpet of swamp grass, reeds and floating rice that covers it. It has been one of the most troublesome sanctuary areas and infiltration routes for Communist troops moving to and from the key Mekong Delta area, where over a third of South Vietnam's population lives.

Spokesmen said the South Vietnamese were on a "search and destroy" mission in Cambodia to ferret out guerrillas and their supplies. Sources said the operation might last 10 days or longer.

Ground action inside South Vietnam continued light and scattered: American losses were reported as two killed and seven wounded in a string of contacts in northern and central South Vietnam.

South Vietnamese forces killed 25 guerrillas, also in scattered engagements, and South Korean forces killed another seven, spokesmen said.

And U.S. spokesmen said U.S. aircraft losses, last week—a total of four planes and helicopters—were the lowest since the current record-keeping system began in 1968.

Egypt limits truce length

By United Press International
Egypt said today it will not extend the Mideast cease-fire with Israel beyond Feb. 3.

The truce, also agreed to by Jordan, was extended for 90 days beginning at midnight (5 p.m. EST) Thursday. Israel has set no time limit, but said it will not shoot first.

The semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said today "urgent instructions were sent from Cairo yesterday (Thursday) to Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad in New York to inform all U.N. delegations unequivocally that the United Arab Republic has accepted an extension of the cease-fire for another 90 days on the basic condition that it will not accept a renewal for a third period under any circumstances."

There were no reports of clashes in the early hours of the extended cease-fire. Foreign pool correspondent Jimmy Lederer reported from the Israeli side of the Suez Canal front at El Qantara that only the clank and grind of Egyptian trucks and tractors moving on the other side of the canal could be heard.

Israel notified U.N. peace negotiator Gunnar V. Jarring Thursday it would not resume talks despite a General Assembly resolution passed Wednesday urging that the indirect discussions with Egypt and Jordan get underway again.

Freak shot kills deputy

By RUTH KOONCE MILLER
Times-News Staff Writer
MURPHY'S HOT SPRINGS — A Nevada deputy sheriff was killed Thursday afternoon in a freak hunting accident south of the west of Twin Falls just over the Nevada state line.

through the neck and apparently died instantly. Sheriff's officers, who traced the path of the bullet, said the bullet came from a 7MM Remington which was in the rear of an unattended jeep parked several yards away from Smith's vehicle.

Twin Falls County Sheriff Paul Corder said his office investigated the shooting of Charles Ellis Smith, 46, Las Vegas, at the request of Elko County Sheriff J.C. Harris.

The shot pierced the side of the jeep, broke a window between two people sitting in the front and rear passenger seats of Smith's vehicle and struck the victim.

Corder said Smith was a member of a large party of Nevada hunters who had been camped near Murphy's Hot Springs for the past several days. He said the accident occurred south of the campsite as three car-loads of hunters were preparing to leave a clearing.

Smith, who was operating one of the vehicles, was shot

Officers said the gun in the back of the Jeep may have fallen, causing it to discharge.

Two other hunters, Allen G. Pipkins, also a member of the Clark County Sheriff's office of Las Vegas, and Jerry Davis, 14, son of officer John Davis, Las Vegas, were injured by flying glass when the bullet passed through the window between them.

Blasts shatter holiday

By United Press International
Terrorists struck in the center of Tel Aviv today, exploding two bombs near the main bus depot crowded with Israeli holiday-goers. The bold attack came only hours after the renewal of the U.S.-initiated cease-fire in the Middle East.

Explosion rips N. Y. synagogue

HENRIETTA, N.Y. (UPI)—The rear of a synagogue was damaged early today by a dynamite explosion in this Rochester suburb. It was the eighth bombing in the area within a month.

The blast, which occurred shortly after 1 a.m. EST, damaged the kitchen, a restroom and the rear exterior of Temple Beth Am, the community's only synagogue. No one was injured, although the blast shattered windows in several nearby houses.

The Rochester federal building, the Monroe County office building, two predominantly Negro churches and the home of a union official were damaged by dynamite bombs Oct. 12. Two synagogues, Beth Shalom and the Light of Israel, were damaged 15 days later by dynamite bombs.

Oakley couple hurt

BURLEY — Mrs. Ida Dalquist, 76, Oakley, was reported in fair condition at Cassia Memorial Hospital today with injuries sustained in a car-truck collision about 7 p.m. Thursday 4 1/2 miles south of Burley on Idaho Highway 77.

Mrs. Dalquist was riding in a car driven by her husband, Ray A. Dalquist, 84, which ran under the rear end of a truck driven by Leonardo Trayno, 44, Burley, according to Osmer Brennan, Idaho State Police officer.

Dalquist was released from the hospital after treatment.

The car was demolished and the truck received slight damage, Brennan said. Investigation of the accident is continuing.

Poster cleanup...

CAMPAIGN SIGN cleanup drive, suggested in an editorial on a Columbus, Ohio, radio station has inundated the station's reception room. WTVN offered a dime for the first 1,000 posters received. By afternoon Thursday 1,500 had been received and the pile of posters was still growing. (UPI)

Unemployed ranks grow

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Nixon administration, refuting Democratic pre-election claims that unemployment had climbed to about 6 per cent, said today joblessness last month edged up only to 5.6 per cent. The figure was still the highest in more than six years.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) said there were 4.3 million unemployed workers in October, the same as in September when the jobless rate was 5.5 per cent of the work force. The number of employed persons, however, went up slightly to 78.7 million.

Three days before the election, Democratic National Chairman Lawrence O'Brien accused the administration of concealing the October unemployment figures until after the voting. O'Brien said unemployment was approaching 6 per cent and the Republican administration did not want to reveal this before the voting.

The Labor Department denied the accusation and said the October figures would be released on schedule Thursday.

The rate for October was the highest since January 1964 when unemployment also was 5.6 per cent.

"For most major groups in the labor force, jobless rates showed little or no change over the month, although the rate for married men continued to edge up," BLS said. "Some unemployment rates, however, were raised slightly by the secondary effects of the strike in the auto industry."

The report said declines in manufacturing payroll employment of about 480,000, centered in the durable goods industries, were caused largely by the strike against General Motors. But it said increases in employment in the services industries helped offset this.

UAW strikers are not counted as unemployed.

Fed chief asks price guidelines

WASHINGTON (UPI)—William McChesney Martin, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, says the Nixon administration should lay down wage and price guidelines to step up the fight against inflation.

Current administration economic policy, Martin said, "in the long run will not bring about full employment without inflation."

In a speech to the Metropolitan Washington Board of Trade Thursday, Martin said Nixon's decision to abandon the guidelines employed by Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson was "self-defeating."

Martin said he was against mandatory controls on wages and prices but "an incomes policy is advantageous to labor, management and everyone else."

Asked by newsmen later if what he meant was "jawboning"—the term for direct presidential pressure against inflationary pressures, Martin said that was the case.

Sheriff 'meets' pal at intersection

TWIN FALLS — Sheriff Paul Corder and an old friend and former neighbor ran into each other Thursday afternoon.

It was an unhappy meeting for both concerned, because the side of Sheriff Corder's car met the front end of his friend's.

Twin Falls Police said the sheriff was traveling north on Fifth Street West and Mrs. Harriet Denton, 55, Kimberly, was traveling west on Second Avenue West when the accident occurred in the intersection.

The sheriff stopped for a stop sign and then pulled across the intersection into the path of Mrs. Denton's car. The sheriff was issued a citation by police for failure to yield the right of way.

An estimated $100 damage occurred to Mrs. Denton's car and $250 to the sheriff's county-owned car. There were no injuries.

Sheriff Corder said he has known Mrs. Denton since the time he moved to Idaho and used to live "right across the alley" from her.

Gem aide resigns

BOISE (UPI)—The secretary of the State Department of Commerce and Development, Al Minton, announced Thursday he was resigning, effective Nov. 30.

In a letter to Gov. Don Samuelson, Minton said he was quitting "in order to aid the governor-elect in creating a state departmental organization of his choice." He said he would be available to do whatever is necessary to effect the desired transition.

Gov. Samuelson was unavailable for comment on the matter, but staff members said he would comment on it on his return next Monday.

Font spouts...

THE FOUNTAIN in the Twin Falls downtown mall was turned on for the first time Thursday for a "test run," inspecting the operation area, from left, Howard Johnson, city parks superintendent; Lynn Popplewell, a Park Department employee who has been designated "downtown park attendant," and Ed Peterson of CTA Architects.

Fountain bubbles, leaks

TWIN FALLS — The new city plumbing has sprung a leak.

City crews turned on the downtown mall fountain for the first time Thursday to test the pump and the plumbing. An electric pump installed in a cement-lined pit just behind the fountain at the intersection of Main Avenue and Second Street South pumps water to the top of the fountain, from where it cascades back down to a collecting pool in the center.

The main pipe supplying water to the pump started leaking at a welded joint when the water pressure hit it. Though only a pinhole-sized leak, the pressure of the water forced a sizeable spurt through it.

But the pump worked and the fountain bubbled to satisfaction. The fountain is more of a stationary waterfall than a fountain; the water is pumped up to the top of the vertical columns and cascades back to a central collecting pool. When the water in the pool reaches the proper depth, it drains out through an overflow pipe.

Gunman gets $300

BURLEY — About $300 was taken from the Quik-Pik Grocery Store, 301 West Main, Thursday night by a gunman whose face was masked by a stocking cap. Vivian Dobyms, a clerk, told police she put the money in a paper sack. She gave police a description of the robber.

Idaho in red

BOISE (UPI)— Idaho's general fund was $10,356,323 in the red at the end of October, a report from the state treasurer and state auditor said Thursday.

A year ago the fund was in the red only $1,892,996, the report said.

TWO OAKLEY residents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Dalquist, were hurt Thursday evening when their auto ran under the rear end of this truck near Burley on Idaho Highway 77.

Few changes in Lincoln vote check

SHOSHONE — Several minor changes were noted in the election tabulations in the official canvass by Lincoln County Commissioners, County Clerk Luella L. Kinsey reported Thursday. None of them, however, changed results of the vote in the county.

Some of the errors were in the counting by judges at the polls, while others were tabulations of precinct votes at the county clerk's office the night of the election. In the question of revised constitution, instead of 262 yes, the vote was only 155, while the 1,097 no vote was found to be correct.

Official canvass found the legislative pay initiative to be 904 yes instead of 757 and 337 no instead of 493, while four year term for treasurer showed 553 yes instead of 615 and 644 no, the same as unofficial count. The four year term for assessor showed 533 yes, 668 no instead of 547 yes and 668 no.

In other voting official canvass found Gov. Don Samuelson receiving 784 votes instead of 782, Pete T. Cenarrusa, for secretary of state 925 instead of 945; Mrs. Helen Giles, for county clerk 515 instead of 555, and William Trammel for county assessor 530 instead of 539.

In the latter two county contests, neither changed the results, with Mrs. Giles defeated by incumbent Mrs. Kinsey who received 780 votes, and Sanford Connell taking the post of assessor with 712 votes.

Poppy sales proceed

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars are selling poppies today and Saturday in Twin Falls for proceeds with which to carry out veterans' assistance programs.

Mayor Frank Feldtman has proclaimed the two days Buddy Poppy Days in Twin Falls. He asked residents to buy and wear the red poppies offered for sale by the veterans organization. Programs to assist needy veterans and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans are financed through the annual sales.

In his proclamation, the mayor urged residents to wear the poppy as evidence of gratitude to the men of the United States who have risked their lives in defense of American freedoms.

Collision injures T.F. youth

TWIN FALLS — A local boy who received minor injuries Thursday night in a one-vehicle accident here was released after treatment at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Police said Mark Sharp, 11, was a passenger in a sedan driven by his mother, Ardith Ann Sharp, 31, Route 1. The accident occurred about 10:15 p. m. when Mrs. Sharp attempted to turn onto Fourth Avenue South from Minidoka Avenue. Officers said the vehicle swerved and left the roadway, struck a street sign and traveled west, striking a power pole and overturning.

Mrs. Sharp was charged with violation of the basic rule.

Leaf rake use time arrives

TWIN FALLS — It's time to rake leaves, City Manager Jean Milar noted today, and he asked persons raking lawns to place leaves in cardboard boxes, large plastic bags or other containers and set them out for the regular garbage collection.

He said such containers, so long as they are of reasonable size and can be lifted by sanitation crews, will be picked up on regular schedule.

Later in the fall, street department equipment will be borrowed from other projects to collect leaves left at the curbs but if property owners will dispose of the raked leaves by regular means the problem will be alleviated for street crews.

There will not be a city-wide clean up as there is each spring, the manager said, but crews will be removing leaves from drainage areas and curbs where they have collected.

He said it is hoped no major collections will have to be made in order to let street crews and equipment complete their regular jobs.

Car bids studied

TWIN FALLS — Bids for eight vehicles for various city departments were under study today and city officials noted bidding was extremely close.

Three sedans for the police department drew two bids: Prices for the three, with trade-in credits considered included the bid of Wills Motor Co. in the amount of $7,095, and Ace Hansen Chevrolet, $7,975.87.

Bids on a three-quarter pickup for the sewer department included $2,900, Bob Reese Motor Co. and Ace Hansen Chevrolet, $2,908.14. Other bids included half-ton pickup for the water works department, Ace Hansen Chevrolet, $2,449.11, and Bob Reese Motor Co., $2,450.00; two half-ton pickup trucks for the parks department, Ace Hansen Chevrolet, $4,960.06; Bob Reese Motor Co., $4,955.00, and Magic Valley International, $4,870; and a half-ton pickup for the airport, Ace Hansen Chevrolet, $2,481.68, and Bob Reese Motor Co., $2,500.

Bids will be reviewed and presented to the city council at its next regular session for approval.

Skylane mobile home park plans approved

TWIN FALLS — The Federal Housing Administration has approved plans presented for a new 64-unit mobile home park south of Twin Falls, according to Robert C. (Bob) Wills, president of Skylane Park, Inc.

The mobile home park will be located two miles south of Twin Falls on the airport road and diagonally across from the city water storage facility.

Wills said the park has been designed and engineered by Riedesel and Straubhar, Twin Falls, and will be "one of the most modern and elaborate mobile home parks in Idaho."

Some of the features will be large lots, averaging 55 by 95 feet, all underground utilities asphalt streets with sidewalks on both sides, double parking areas for each pad, 8 by 10-foot metal storage building for each space and 12 by 30-foot concrete patios with connecting sidewalks, he said.

Also included, Wills said, are a large lodge which includes a community center, self service laundry, and health spa. The spa features exercise rooms for men and women and saunas.

A large heated swimming pool plus an equipped playground, recreation area and general park area are planned along with complete landscaping. Another feature, Wills noted, will be a special storage area, fenced with a chain link fence, for campers, trailers and boats.

The park will be arranged to provide individual areas for families with children.

Construction of the park will begin immediately by Wills, Inc. Completion is scheduled for early spring, 1971.

In addition to the mobile home park, Wills said, plans call for a mobile home subdivision to be platted on the property adjacent to the park.

This will feature 32-75 by 100 foot lots with oiled streets, city water and city sewer.

Assault charge dropped

TWIN FALLS — A charge of assault with a deadly weapon was dismissed Thursday before a preliminary hearing into the case began in Twin Falls Police Court.

Prosecutor Robert Galley moved for dismissal on grounds the state's main witness in the case against David J. Friel, 27, was unable to appear. Galley said D. A. Garlinghouse, Twin Falls, whom Friel was accused of stabbing during an incident early this year, is out of Twin Falls and authorities have not been able to locate him.

Last month Friel waived extradition and was transported from West Virginia, where he was arrested on a Twin Falls City warrant, to Twin Falls.

Friel was released from custody Thursday.

Wood River clinic into new quarters

HATLEY — The Wood River Mental Health Clinic has moved to 15 Carbonate Street in Hatley across from the city hall.

The facilities had been housed in the Blaine County courthouse, but outgrew the space there. The new quarters will provide for planned expansion of staff and a place for group meetings according to Brooke Finley, community mental health nurse.

Referrals to the clinic may be made by physicians, lawyers, clergymen, the schools the probate judge or any individual may contact Miss Finley at 788-2251.

Miss Finley said the clinic offers a variety of services of local residents including individual counseling, marriage counseling, group therapy, psychological testing and family therapy. Fees are made on an ability to pay basis.

Italy To Court Red China

ROME — Sooner or later — more soon than late — the Italian government is going to follow the lead of Canada and establish formal diplomatic relations with the Communist government of mainland China.

The Italians have been talking with the Chinese government for some time about an exchange of ambassadors. Those talks, at the ambassadorial level in Paris, are reported here to have paralleled the Canadian-Chinese talks, but to be somewhat less advanced.

The prediction is that the negotiations between Italy and China will reach the same conclusion, a recognition agreement, some time soon — and on the basis of what is now being called the "Canadian formula" in diplomatic circles.

The Canadian formula is that the Canadian government will not recognize Peking's claim to jurisdiction over Taiwan — seat of the Nationalist Chinese government. The final agreement between Canada and China, announced earlier this month, hedged on that point.

In a joint communique, China restated its view that Taiwan (Formosa) is "an inalienable part" of its territory. Canada said only that it "takes note" of that Peking claim.

A Pattern Emerges

Americans have been loath to impute the rising tide of violence and terrorism to any kind of national conspiracy.

Undoubtedly, several factors encourage this reluctance. First, Senator Joe McCarthy's cries of "Wolf!" a generation ago when he saw a Communist conspiracy wherever he looked until he was discredited.

Elements of the liberal press also have played a part in downgrading authority, the police, and the dangers of drugs and permissiveness.

Some have seemed to think that we ought to listen to young people, even when they are burning buildings, shouting obscenities, and throwing rocks.

It has become evident that there is a conspiracy to destroy the American system, even if it includes only an insignificant number of criminal revolutionists.

Some of the leaders have been made welcome in Cuba and Algeria and funds apparently are plentiful enough to permit the support of a growing enclave in Algiers. That some of this support has come from misguided sympathizers in the United States is unquestioned.

This small band of conspirators has been able to multiply its damage manifold through the witless collaboration of a lunatic fringe of kooks, phony idealists who prate of love and peace and make bombs, dopes who have lost touch with reality, those who get their kicks from violence, and those who relish the attention given to defiant and wildly unorthodox behavior.

There is, indeed, much that needs to be done to make America a better place.

The place to begin is by halting terrorism and by giving quick justice to those who kill and to those who encourage murder as a political weapon.

Middle East Axis

WASHINGTON — Despite strong and growing pressures from Israel on the United States to accept present cease-fire lines in the Middle East more or less indefinitely, President Nixon is now plotting a precisely opposite diplomatic course designed to force Israeli withdrawal from most of the occupied Arab land.

But the new Nixon plan has one dramatic difference from last summer's peace proposal, which was shattered beyond recall by Egyptian and Soviet missile violations along the Suez Canal.

That earlier plan, devised by Secretary of State William P. Rogers, was strictly a U.S. operation in response to a specific Egyptian request from the late President Nasser. The new plan, the President has decreed, must be a joint Washington-Moscow operation, worked out every step of the way with the Soviet Union and — when the time is ripe — pushed jointly by the Americans and the Russians.

The transcendent reason for this Presidential decision goes back to the dangerous events of mid-September at the height of the civil war in Jordan when, in the words of one Presidential intimate, "war or peace hung by the thinnest of threads."

Although Mr. Nixon's diplomatic experts have been publicly reticent about the terrifying days of Sept. 20 to Sept. 23, they now reconstruct the potential disaster of that period as follows:

With Syrian tanks pouring across the Jordanian border, Israel was poised to carry out a self-defensive air strike against the tanks. The precise timing of that Israeli air action depended on the progress of the Syrian tank force. With or without U.S. consent, however, Israel was primed to attack at any cost to prevent Syrian intervention from toppling Jordan's King Hussein.

brought direct Soviet intervention against the Israelis — an unacceptable intervention that could well have sucked the U.S. into a new Middle Eastern war with explosive potential. As it happened, the Syrian tanks did withdraw on Sept. 23 — but only hours before the flash-point of Israeli intervention.

That grim sequence, more than any event since the 1967 six-day war, convinced President Nixon of the necessity of joint U.S.-Soviet action in the Middle East — to guard against an Israeli-Arab clash suddenly erupting into a direct, big-power conflict.

ANDREW TULLY

The Story

WASHINGTON — A debt is acknowledged to the Washington Evening Star for a story of the ham-handed administration of justice in the nation's confused capital. It is a national story because it is typical of the way our courts and their oafish attaches play the fool in most of our big cities.

It is also an indictment of the professional card-carrying, super-liberals among our national politicians who have managed to arrange things so that the administrators of justice are rougher on the victim of a crime than they are on the suspect. Of course, these outrages happen more frequently in Hell City, where every municipal office staggers under the inefficiency of semi-literate louts employed for political reasons.

Merely because it is typical, I give you — or rather, the Star does — the story of Mrs. X, who was mugged and beaten by three young hoods more than a year ago as she walked from her office to her car. Eight days after the assault, the cops arrested three youths and charged them with the crime. Mrs. X identified two of the youths as her attackers. That was 15 months ago. Finally, on Oct. 26, she received a subpoena from the clerk of the Juvenile Court, ordering her to appear at 9:15 a.m. the next day, and threatening her with contempt of court if she failed to show up.

Mrs. X showed up several minutes early at Room 227, displayed her subpoena and was told to have a seat. In the room, she recognized a youth leaning against the wall as one of those she had identified. He was to be tried that day on charges of "robbery, force and violence." In Hell City, victims and defendants often wait in the same room, a ploy that gives the suspect plenty of time to intimidate an unfriendly witness.

Mrs. X waited in the room for more than two hours. Occasionally a court funky would come in and call out the name of a witness wanted in the courtroom. She listened carefully, she said, but her name was never called. (In Hell City, of course, it is always possible that a witness will be paged in some bush dialect.)

At 10:30 a.m., the defendant was taken out of the room by an attorney for the D.C. Legal Aid Agency. Mrs. X made some inquiries of official hangers-on and was told to be patient. At 11:15 a.m., she finally left, located the Corporation Counsel's office, and was told blandly that he was "sorry, but the charges in your case have been dropped."

The Star quotes Asst. Corporation Counsel Michael Darrington, the prosecutor in the case, as saying he "thought he remembered" having paged the woman once. He told the Star, however, that there was no second paging and no attempt was made to locate Mrs. X. Unfortunately, while Darrington was "thinking" he had called the woman, Chief Judge Harold H. Greene dismissed the case because — try to swallow this one — there was "a lack of a complaining witness."

What is important is that a formula has not been devised to crumble the old wall of opposition to Chinese diplomatic initiatives. Over the years, that wall has been patched and filled and kept intact mostly by the efforts of the United States.

Now Canada, literally the closest of U.S. allies, has opened a hole and Italy, one of the NATO allies, is about to follow suit. The advantages of normal trade and commercial relationships with mainland China have apparently come to outweigh a desire to accommodate the United States in this regard.

This change in attitudes has serious implications for the old controversy over China's representation in the United Nations. Diplomats used to say that the question was not really important — that China did not really want to be a member of the United Nations. Recently, however, there have been diplomatic indications that Communist China does want to be admitted.

In the wake of the Canadian-Chinese agreement, it was reported in Washington that Peking had withdrawn its demand for endorsement of its Taiwan claim in return for a Canadian pledge to vote for admission of Communist China to the United Nations. Unspecified Canadian diplomats were quoted as saying that Canada would probably vote in the UN "consistently" with the new recognition agreement.

Informed sources here report that there is hope that Italy will not make any pre-commitment on the UN matter. In any event, however, a recognition step by Italy will certainly be a new invitation — a second notice — for reconsideration by others who have long held that the government of mainland China has not shown that it is entitled to membership in the "family of nations."

A showdown could come rather quickly. The General Assembly is expected to reconsider the question of Chinese membership during the United Nations session which began with much anniversary fanfare last week.

Against this background, there have been occasional faint hints that the United States might be preparing to alter, somewhat, its stand against recognition of China and China's admission to the United Nations. Even when he was campaigning for the White House, with the assertion that he did not favor recognition of China or its admission to the United Nations "at this time," Mr. Nixon said he did not rule out those steps when and if Chinese leaders changed their policies. The President recently restated the view that closer ties to China "must come eventually."

Marijuana

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been smoking marijuana for three years. Lately I've had symptoms of hay fever, but only when I smoke pot. I have heard that eating a lot of marijuana will cure this allergy, but it is expensive. Is there any cure? — A. M. F.

P. S. Please don't answer me personally as I live with my parents and I don't want them to know. Thank you. Let's skip the arguments over whether pot is good, bad, or indifferent. I have my opinions — and don't smoke it. You have yours — and you do. Or have, anyway.

The truth is that we just don't know all the answers and are trying to find them out. But the answers — especially as to the long-range effects of smoking pot — obviously aren't going to be learned in a hurry.

So let's, for the moment, just talk about your "hay fever." You are right, I'm sure, in referring it to as an allergy, and we do know a lot about allergies, although not as much as we would like and not as much as we some day will.

The first rule in controlling allergies is to stay away from the things that cause allergic reactions. Second rule is that, in many cases, desensitization will help. That means staying away from the offending material, except for having very small doses periodically injected so you gradually develop a moderate tolerance.

That is not a "cure." Hay fever victims (the ragweed type) can, for instance, develop some tolerance by having injections, through the late fall, winter, and spring. That doesn't mean that the next year they can walk through a field of ragweed with impunity, but it does mean that, if they avoid as much as they can of the ragweed pollen the following fall, they'll have less trouble.

Too much exposure, and they'll be back where they were to start with. But did you ever hear of any hay fever sufferer being told that he could be "cured" by "eating a lot of ragweed"? No, neither did I.

If you have developed an allergy to smoking pot, stay away from pot. And remember that I'm talking about allergies now, not about the merits of pot. That's a different question.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a woman in my 70s and troubled with leg cramps. I would like to know what the exercises are for this. I am enclosing 25 cents and self-addressed, stamped envelope in case it comes in booklet form. — I. B. H. Have sent the booklet. It's called "How to Stop Leg Cramps."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the meaning of the letters F.A.C.S. after the doctor's name and the M.D.? — E. O.

MR. SPECTATOR

Friends Of Animals

Interesting and informative things pass over our desk. We cannot pass them all on to you column readers but when we come across one we think will be of sufficient interest to hold your attention we pass it on.

Such is the material for today's column. It comes to us from Alice Herrington, who is president of Friends of Animals, Inc., with headquarters at 11 West 60th St. in New York City.

"In numerous instances," she writes, "we have a situation which might be termed the case of the polar bear in your own backyard — only people have not been sufficiently alerted to recognize the danger signs."

"Are animals endangered or threatened with extinction only when they appear in official listings like the Red Data Book or the Congressional Record?"

Such listings are certainly a warning for all mankind, Miss Herrington wrote, but she pointed out that "the best warning is right in your own backyard."

"If you once had bluebirds, deer, raccoons, skunk, bumblebees, quail or any other wildlife in your area and they are no longer there, then your community is in real trouble.

"Find out why," she suggested. "It could be water pollution and pesticides, too many landscaped lawns, bulldozers-at-havoc, dredging and land-fills, too many roads, hunting and trapping. With the cooperation of the general public action can be taken to eradicate the perils of animal life."

"The threatening processes can be reversed and people can learn to live with nature and the animals in peace and beauty."

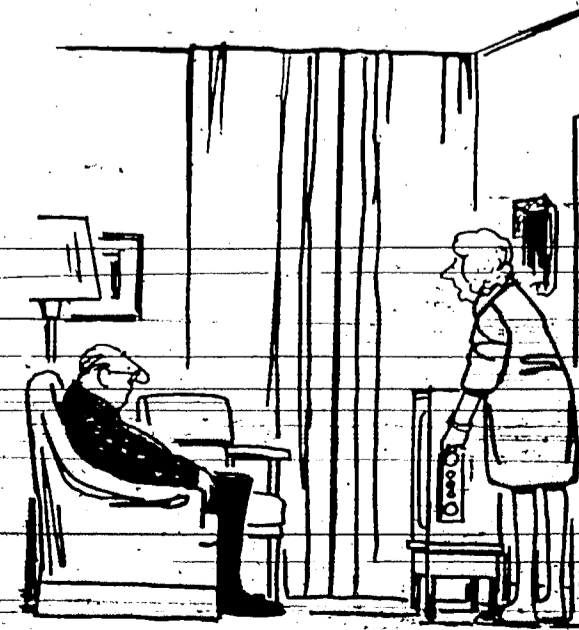

And she concludes by suggesting that the public at large become "amateur ecologists" and join in a mass movement to protect the animal life of the nation.

To which Mr. Spectator says — we're all for it!

American Party fails to draw needed vote

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's fledgling American Party appeared dead Thursday, a victim of the general election, but Secretary of state Pete T. Cenarrusa agreed to seek a legal ruling before ordering burial.

Under existing Idaho election law, a political party must get 10 per cent of the votes for a major office in order to remain active.

At best Tuesday, the American Party polled four per cent of the votes cast in the race for lieutenant governor when its candidate, Wallace Hitt, received a unofficial 8,269

American Party Chairman Earl Manchester, Boise, met with Cenarrusa to see where his party stands under Idaho election law. Both agreed to ask the attorney-general officially for a ruling.

But Cenarrusa said cursory study of the election law indicated the American Party will have to re-petition him to be recognized again in Idaho under existing laws. This will require nearly 25,000 voter signatures, he said.

Originally the American Independent Party, the organization was created in 1968 as part of George Wallace's drive for the presidency.

It took petitions and a court case to put the party and its presidential candidate on the ballot, however.

At that time, it required only 1,500 signatures under Idaho law for the AIP to become an officially recognized political party in Idaho. The last legislature, however, changed that law.

Manchester told newsmen he plans to call a session of his party's central committee "to see what action they want to follow."

But pending an opinion from the attorney general to the contrary he still held out hope his party might be recognized without having to go to the people for new petitions. He said there are conflicts in the present election law which cast doubt on his party's demise.

"There is a possibility we still are a political party," he said, somewhat wistfully, when newsmen questioned him in an outer office of the secretary of state's suit in the statehouse.

Meantime, the outcome of the election will not become official until the State Board of Canvassers meets to canvass the results.

Samuelson lauded

BOISE (UPI) — President Nixon sent a telegram to Gov. Don Samuelson from San Clemente, Calif., Wednesday expressing his "respect and appreciation to you for waging such a gallant battle in your campaign."

"All Americans owe you a great debt of gratitude for your dedicated service to your state and the nation as governor of Idaho," the telegram said.

"From personal experience I know the disappointment that you and your family must feel at this time," Nixon said. "I am sure, however, that you will not allow this defeat to discourage you in your efforts to continue to provide leadership for our party and the nation."

"Pat joins me in extending our very best personal regards to Ruby and to you for the years ahead," Nixon said.

Boise Police accused

BOISE (UPI) — The Citizens for Civic Unity accused Boise police Thursday of using a dispute between two black youths at a dance last Saturday night as a "mock riot situation."

In a prepared press statement, the CCU said the incident stemmed from a misunderstanding involving a Boise youth and a young man from the Marsing Job Corps Center. The organization said both boys were black.

"The incident was typical of those experienced by young men of every race and circumstances who find themselves interested in the same young lady," the CCU said.

The occasion and site of the disturbance was the annual UNICEF dance at the Boise Family YMCA.

The CCU said the Jobs Corpsmen and the Boise high school students felt the police used the incident as a mock riot situation, calling eight squad cars to the scene.

"In interviews, the testimony given suggests total or almost total insincerity on the part of the officers involved," the CCU said. "Insidious harassment or intimidation was experienced by all blacks involved."

"This was apparent by the constant use of the term 'boy' in the case of all the corpsmen and high school students."

Squeeks in...

SENATOR VANCE Hartke finally claimed victory in his nip-and-tuck battle for the Indiana Senate Seat also sought by Republican Richard Rudebush. Latest figures show Democrat Hartke with about a 3,000 vote lead. (UPI)

Gem draft calls 31

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's December draft call is for 31 men, the state director of Selective Service, Maj. Gen. George B. Bennett, said Thursday.

A year ago, the December draft call for Idaho was 35 men.

Pollution action asked

OGDEN (UPI) — Former Interior Secretary Stewart Udall thinks the Nixon administration should "lay down the law" to Detroit automakers in order to get some action on the fight against pollution.

T. Jeremiah Beam. Part of the Beam family art for 175 years.

Son of the famous Col. Jim Beam, T. Jeremiah is the fifth generation of the only Kentucky family that's made the same Bourbon since 1795. As a matter of fact, 1970 marks the 175th anniversary of the year that Jacob Beam, founder of the Beam clan, sold his first barrel of Kentucky Straight Bourbon Whiskey.

That's a mighty long time for one family to make one product, according to one formula.

So the next time you sip Jim Beam, savor its quality and its light taste. That's what we mean when we say it's a 175 year-old family art.

Universities accused of "great training robbery"

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Columbia University professor, Dr. Ivar E. Berg, Jr., accuses universities of perpetrating "a great training robbery" on young people.

He says colleges educate young people for jobs which they ultimately discover are commonplace and don't require use of knowledge gained in school. Dr. Berg says this makes more and more students cynical about the value of education.

An aptitude expert, Charles Rudman, director of Klein Institute in New York, agrees. "Companies still are insisting on college graduates for jobs which obviously do not require a college education," he said.

Prof. Paul Hollander of University of Massachusetts at Amherst said in a letter to The New York Times that the standards of college are being lowered by the climate of permissiveness in society. This is causing, he said, a disastrous increase in the number of unqualified degree holders.

Professor Hollander told United Press International he did not have the problems of business specifically in mind in making his criticism. As a sociologist, he is concerned about the political and social impact of the educational problem.

Dr. Berg, who teaches business administration, also is concerned about political and social impacts. He says the trend to attach excessive importance to higher education "adds to the sense of alienation that is spreading through American society."

Aptitude expert Rudman says top management usually is to blame for the insistence in business on college degrees for routine jobs. Some executives may know a high school grad or a vocational school grad would do a better job but somebody up above insists on a degree holder "who can grow with the company."

Trouble is the company doesn't grow fast enough so the bored college graduate either quits or is trapped by recession conditions in a job that doesn't really suit him.

Actress Jane Fonda doesn't like jail

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Actress Jane Fonda, arrested here earlier this week on charges of smuggling pills and assaulting an officer, says she doesn't like the county's jail.

Miss Fonda held briefly in the jail Tuesday, complained to Cuyahoga County prosecutor John T. Corrigan Wednesday about conditions at the jail, saying, "I found it deplorable, criminal and violent."

"The inmates are assaulted physically and psychologically and they all told me to tell them what it's like when I got out," she said.

Corrigan told her the jail is due to be replaced in 1975. He promised to look into her complaint that a beating was inflicted upon an 18-year-old girl held in jail on a charge of disrupting a parade of hard hats.

In Municipal Court here earlier Wednesday, Miss Fonda pleaded innocent to kicking and slapping a policeman at Cleveland Hopkins Airport who had been helping customs officials search her luggage Tuesday. A jury trial was set Jan. 6.

Miss Fonda is to appear in court Monday on federal charges of smuggling pills into the United States from Toronto, Canada, and assaulting a customs official.

Man may get another "Alice in wonderland"

By PHIL NEWSOM
 UPI Foreign News Analyst

Someday, if the world lives long enough, someone may write another "Alice in Wonderland" giving mankind a new look at itself in this atomic age.

When Lewis Carroll gave the world his gentle satire on man's frailties, there was neither a "hot line" between Washington and Moscow nor a need for it. The Einstein Theory had not yet opened the way to the nuclear weapon.

And, as United States and Soviet delegations reopen their Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) in Helsinki, it may seem light-minded to think of Alice and her friends in the same context as Ambassador Gerard C. Smith for the Americans and Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir S. Semenov for the Soviets.

For instance: "... the time has come," the Walrus said, "to talk of many things.

"Of shoes and ships and sealing wax.

"Of cabbages and kings."

And yet, if mankind is not to succumb to its own nightmares, how else is there to look at a world still seeking to increase nuclear stockpiles when last year it already had accumulated the equivalent of 15 tons of TNT for every man, woman and child on earth?

When American and Soviet negotiators wound up the second phase of SALT talks in Vienna in mid-August, it was on the same high note that had marked the first phase in Helsinki.

In Vienna, the Americans had suggested a package plan, fixing a ceiling on nuclear delivery vehicles, including land and sea-based missiles, plus a possible restriction on antimissile systems.

Agreement presumably would mean a limitation on the multiple warhead system on which the United States already was far advanced and on the antimissile system on which the Russians were said to be ahead.

Indiana pastor sets t.f. talks

TWIN FALLS — Evangelist Leonard Hubbart, Huntington, Ind., will be featured in a series of gospel services at the Church of the Nazarene Nov. 10, through Nov. 15 with weekday services beginning nightly at 7:30 p. m.

DR. LEONARD HUBBART

Rev. Hubbart has served many years as an evangelistic speaker for the Church of the Nazarene including camp meetings and Holiness conventions across the nation. Special music for the six programs will be provided by the Kimberly Youth Choir and the Spiritones, Filer. Other local talent will be featured.

On Sunday, Nov. 15, services will be held at 10:50 a. m. and 7 p. m. and a nursery will be made available at the church for small children.

The Sunday program, Nov. 8, will feature a pre-revival program. Rev. Joe Chastain will speak on "Revival Preparation." Special music will be by Mrs. Dorothea Stokesberry, Velda Bauer and Mr. and Mrs. Hal Kreps. A youth orchestra will play for the evening services. The public is urged to attend, Rev. Chastain said.

Lutherans broaden social services

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—American Lutheran Church convention delegates have voted to permit the denomination to broaden its sponsorship of social service and welfare projects in ghettos. A provision in the church constitution, restricting such activity was amended Monday to permit the ALC, through its board of social service, to cooperate with the other Christian churches in subsidizing programs, church buildings and community service facilities for the underprivileged.

Sermon topic listed

TWIN FALLS — Spiritual discernment is needed to understand man's essential nature, according to the lesson-sermon to be read at 11 a. m. Sunday in the First Church of Christ, Scientists. A passage to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy states, "As mortals begin to understand Spirit, they give up the belief that there is any true existence apart from God."

Religion said in recession

BY LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer
"We're having the worst recession in 25 years, and I don't see any recovery in sight," said a prominent church leader.

He happened to be an Episcopalian, but the same statement could be made about many other major denominations.

The religious recession has been developing for several years. It is reflected in virtually every available index of public interest in religion. Bible sales, for example, have dropped about 25 per cent over the past decade. Church-related newspapers and magazines are losing subscribers at a painful rate. Sunday School enrollment has declined every year for the past six years. In retrospect, it now appears that the postwar boom in religious interest created in the late fifties, and has been subsiding slowly ever since. The Gallup organization's annual survey of church attendance peaked in 1958, when 49 per cent of America's adult population attended worship services on a typical Sunday. In 1969, only 42 per cent turned out, and the 1970 figure probably will be even lower.

The impact of the recession is most conspicuous in that ever-sensitive gauge of human concern—money.

The Episcopal Church, because it has just published a fresh batch of financial statistics, provides a convenient example of what's happening in many mainline denominations. In 1967, the Episcopal Church (meaning the parent national organization) went $1 million into the red. In 1969, despite budget cuts, it failed by $1.7 million to raise enough funds to balance its expenditures. In 1970, officials estimate the church's receipts will fall nearly $4 million short of its pared-down $14.7 million budget. The immediate cause is easy to identify.

Refurbished

REMODELING HAS BEEN completed at Trinity Lutheran church at Rupert. The back wall of the chancel was reconstructed with a wooden panel on each side, with a rock section in the center. Fred Haynes and William Rickert, Rupert, were contractors for the building. Services were held for the first time in the new chapel last week.

Rupert church has new look after remodeling

RUPERT — The Women's Society of Christian Service of the United Methodist Church in Rupert is planning a Women's Weekend for Nov. 13-15.

Featured speaker during the weekend is Dr. H. Irene Hallberg, church and community worker in the Methodist Group Ministry of Rogue River Valley in Oregon.

Dr. Hallberg retired recently from her position as consultant with the Oregon State Department of Education and assumed new duties in the nine-churches comprising the group ministry. Working from headquarters in Medford, Ore., she is training and developing church school teachers, helping the smaller churches with their education programs, and working with various community agencies. Dr. Hallberg began teaching in a small school in Wisconsin when she was 18 years old. Her first class numbered 16 pupils and the oldest in the fourth grade. She received her doctorate degree in 1960 and has studied and written widely in the field of curriculum development. Her name appears in "Who's Who in American Education" (1949-50 and 1963-63) and "Who's Who in the West" (1964). The women of the Methodist churches throughout the Snake River Region are invited to attend the Women's Weekend to hear Dr. Hallberg. She will address the assembly the morning of Friday, Nov. 13, on "Women in Action".

Rupert WSCS sets confab Nov. 13-15

BY NELLIE STEPHENS
Times-News Correspondent
RUPERT — The Trinity Lutheran Church has a new look since extensive remodeling has been completed recently.

The project was begun in March with the appointment of a building committee to get estimates and hire the contractor and architect. A choir loft and sacristy were removed from the chancel and a new ceiling beam installed, matching the already existing beams in the rest of the chapel. The back wall of the chancel, which was reconstructed, consists of a wooden panel on each side, with a rock section in the center. The structure weighs seven and one-half tons and was constructed from white onyx mined near Salt Lake City. A special foundation was built to support its weight. The actual work was begun on July 20, with Fred Haynes and William Rickert, contractors of Rupert, handling the building. Lester Perry, Rupert stone mason doing the building of the rock wall, Don Fuller and son, Rupert, all interior painting, and carpeting in the chapel was installed by Bel Aire Furnishings Rupert. The electrical fixtures and sound renovations were handled by Dalry Electric, Rupert, with John Johnson, in charge. The chancel-furnishings were manufactured by Marshall Co. of Payette. The architect was Edgar Jensen, Boise. The ceiling beams, the pews, the back chancel walls and furnishings are all stained black walnut. The new carpeting is red. The chancel furnishings were paid for from memorial fund gifts to the church. A special financial drive began on May 10 for the other construction expenses. During the period of rebuilding church services were conducted out of doors and in the parish hall. Services were held for the first time in the new chapel Sunday.

Party set
FILER — The Senior High United Methodist Youth Fellowship will hold a bowling party and social at 6 p. m. Sunday. The group will meet at the church and go in a group.

God restricts for best, pastor says

PASTOR ROBERT J. SEAMAN, Grace Baptist Church — Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, listened to the pleadings of Ahab, the godly king of Israel, and agreed to help Ahab in his way against Syria (I Kings 22). This was wrong. God forbids alliances between His friends and His enemies. When Jehoshaphat returned from the fateful and unsuccessful war, he was greeted by God's prophet, Jehu, who said, "Shouldest thou help the ungodly an dove them that hat the Lord? therefore is wrath upon thee from before the Lord." (II Chronicles 19:2)

This uneasy alliance, this uncomfortable association, this ungodly knitting together, and this unscriptural combination brought tragedy to God's servant. As a result of Jehoshaphat's alliance with Ahab, Jehoshaphat's son married Ahab's daughter and followed all the evil ways of Ahab, his father-in-law (II Chronicles 21:6).

When God forbids something, He does it for the protection of His own, as well as for the proclamation of His message, for His glory, and for the salvation of the lost. When God restricts you, He restricts you for your good.

God's Word makes it clear that believers are not to align themselves with those who do not abide in the doctrines of Christ (II John 10, 11). May we abide in His doctrines and keep ourselves from any alliance that would dishonor Him.

Missionary confab set in Camas

FAIRFIELD — The annual Missionary Conference will be held Nov. 8-12, at the Community Church. The conference will start with the 11 a. m. service on Sunday and the evening service at 7 p. m. A potluck dinner will be held at 1 p. m. Sunday. The weeknight services will be at 7:30 p. m.

This year's speakers will be Rev. Oswald Heinrich, representing the Oriental Missionary Society, and Rev. John Kearns, of the American Indian Crusade. A Boise High School group will represent Campus Crusades. Slides and taped messages will be presented from the Rev. Dick Cadd, Overseas Crusades; the Rev. Glenn Terry of World Gospel Crusades; The Rev. Gordon Van Roy of T.E.A.M.; Sharon Carman, a local girl with Campus Crusades in South Carolina and one from Village Missions.

A "Teen Taco Feed" is planned for 6 p. m. Thursday at the United Methodist Church, according to Rev. Elam Anderson, pastor. Readers for the event will be Randy Mai and Chris Kioux, who will read Scripture passages pertaining to the theme in both traditional and contemporary translations. The senior and junior choirs will present special musical numbers and among those assisting will be Mrs. Edward Brown, junior choir director; Lauren Reed, accompanist; Mrs. Edgar Vincent and Mrs. E. A. Beem, accompanists. Also featured will be a brass trio composed of Janice Shepherd, Tracee Johnson and Bob Bunce. Some songs will have guitar accompaniment.

Chaplains urged to unite

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A greater spirit of cooperation among military chaplains is needed to cope with biases, prejudices, drugs and other elements brought into the armed forces by some "young men and women from a permissive environment," says a Defense Department official. "I believe chaplains must unite in spirit and unite in a program of chaplaincy as they have never united before," said

Roge T. Kelley, assistant secretary of defense for manpower and reserve affairs, in an address at the Eastern Area Retreat for Lutheran chaplains. He said the role of the military chaplain now is the most difficult of all times.

Lutheran institute set Sunday

FILER — The Magic Valley Sunday School Teachers' Institute will be held Sunday at the Clover Lutheran Church. The program will begin at 2:30 p. m. and will feature Rev. Carl Nitz, counselor, of stewardship and education for the Northwest District, as guest speaker.

Officers attend academy

POCATELLO — Four law enforcement officers from Magic Valley are among men from 18 Idaho cities who are attending the Idaho Peace Officers Training Academy at Idaho State University. Members of city police forces are Jerry Cargill, Twin Falls; Willis G. Mullen, Filer, and Darrell R. Wilkinson, Burley. Thomas C. Thompson, Idaho State police officer stationed at Rupert, also is attending. Graduation will be Nov. 20, according to Tom McDowell, Pocatello, academy director.

British revolution planned

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A "conservative" tag on a man or a political party scarcely denotes a revolution.

Yet a revolution—some call it a managerial one—is precisely what the Conservatives led by Prime Minister Edward Heath intend for Britain.

Before it is resolved it could bring the Heath government into confrontation with British labor unions and a large segment of the British population whose lives will be affected by sweeping economic and social changes.

The Conservatives describe their aim as one giving the individual "greater incentive to increase his earnings and greater freedom in how he spends or saves his income."

The opposition calls the program "mean," "petty dogmatism" and "short-sighted materialism" which will enrich further those already rich at the expense of the poor.

The Heath government introduced its first major legislative proposal early in October.

It was a proposed law to regulate labor-management relations. Its provisions placing new responsibilities on labor were certain to bring the government into collision with British unions.

At the end of the month, the government dropped the other shoe.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Anthony Barber announced cuts in taxes, subsidies and public spending.

Corporate and income taxes both were cut by 2.5 per cent.

For the coming year public spending was cut by $800 million.

Welfare services were drastically reduced. The cost of medical prescriptions to the public went up nearly 50 per cent. Dental treatment henceforth will be charged at half the annual cost instead of at fixed fee, as for example $4.20 for any number of fillings.

Farm subsidies by which Britain kept its food prices low are to disappear. Instead a levy system will be instituted, bringing Britain into line with practices of the European Common Market which the Heath government hopes to join.

Under the levy system, a tariff is charged on imported foods and is passed on to the customer. Domestic producers raise their prices to correspond and the subsidy is eliminated. Barber estimated these savings at $36 million a year, not counting government income from levys on imports.

Rents on public housing also will go up.

While some special provisions are made for the very poor, the program reducing the role of the state in the life of the ordinary Briton and placing a greater responsibility on the individual, would seem certain to meet widespread opposition.

The government is betting that incentives created by reduced taxes and pride of accomplishment in the individual will see the program through to success.

Nation's unbeaten trio battles for top ranking

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer
Bill Beall, Carl DePasqua and John Jardine may suffer from persecution complexes this week, but who's to blame them. The three coaches must send their teams into the thick of one of the hottest national college football championship races in years and their prospects look bleak, to say the least. The top three—Texas, Notre Dame and Ohio State—are unbeaten in six games this season and could be using this week's action as a springboard. After two lackluster performances, Ohio State dropped from first to third in the weekly ratings without losing and the three coaches—Darrell Royal of No. 1 Texas, Ara Parseghian of second-ranked Notre Dame and Woody Hayes of No. 3 Ohio State—have to believe anything is possible.

Texas, moving relentlessly toward its Dec. 5 showdown with Arkansas, journeys to Waco, Tex., to face Beall's Baylor team, 2-5 for the season. Notre Dame is at home against DePasqua's Pittsburgh team, which has a 5-2 record but which was routed by Syracuse, 43-13, last week.

Hayes takes his Ohio State team to Madison, where the Buckeyes face Jardine's Wisconsin team, winner of only two of seven starts, including a tie.

Odds-makers have refused to establish a point-spread on any of the three games.

In other action involving United Press International's top-ranked teams, fourth-ranked Nebraska is a heavy choice over Iowa State and fifth-ranked Stanford, looking to secure a Rose Bowl berth with a victory this week, is a 17-point favorite over Washington, Michigan (No. 6) rates 21 points over Illinois while seventh-ranked Air Force is a five-point pick over Oregon.

Arkansas (No. 8) is an overwhelming choice to crush Rice, ninth-ranked Auburn is heavily favored over Mississippi State and No. 10 Tennessee is a 17-point choice over South Carolina.

Unbeaten Arizona State (No. 11) is favored by a large margin over San Jose State while 12th-ranked Louisiana State is a surprising three-point underdog to Alabama, tied for 17th, in their clash at Birmingham, Ala. Mississippi (No. 13) is a 7 1/2-point favorite over Houston, tied for 17th, and unbeaten San Diego State (No. 14) is expected to rout Pacific Dartmouth (No. 15) is heavily favored over Columbia while 16th-ranked UCLA is idle.

The Stanford-Washington clash matches two of the nation's fine young passers, Jim Plunkett of the Indians and Alex "Sonny" Sixkiller of Washington. Plunkett is one of the top contenders for the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding college football player and Sixkiller, a sophomore, is the nation's leading passer.

The Alabama-Louisiana State clash will go a long way in determining bowl bids. Louisiana State has lost once and is scheduled to meet Notre Dame at South Bend later in the season. Alabama is 5-3 but a strong closing rush could put Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant's Crimson Tide in line for a major bowl berth.

Coach to find difference in 2 weeks

By GREG GALLO
UPI Sports Writer
J.D. Roberts may be a little stage-struck on the sidelines this Sunday when the New Orleans Saints host the Detroit Lions at Tulane Stadium.

Roberts, who coached the minor league Richmond Saints before 85 people just two weeks ago, makes his professional coaching debut in front of a sellout crowd of 77,000 that expects New Orleans to improve its dismal 1-5-1 record.

The Saints' fans, considered the most boisterous in football, gave ex-coach Tom Fears the feeling that he wasn't wanted last week during the loss to the Los Angeles Rams when they booed him vehemently. Fears was then fired Tuesday by owner John Mecom Jr. and Roberts, an assistant under Fears in 1967-68, was given the hot seat.

"I still believe this season can be salvaged and the Saints owe it to the thousands of loyal fans who visit Tulane Stadium for all of our home games to make every possible effort to win our seven remaining games," said Mecom. "It's my best opinion that we can best achieve this with a new coach in charge."

Roberts was sent to coach the Richmond team in the Atlantic Coast Football League last season and he guided the Saints to a 7-5 record. But this year Richmond lost its first seven games before beating the Indianapolis Capitals last week, 35-7.

Fears, a recent inductee into football's Hall of Fame, molded the Saints into the best expansion team ever in the NFL. They won 12 games under Fears in their first three seasons but could only defeat the New York Giants this year.

Despite the team's poor performance, Fears was not worried about his job.

"It was the biggest shock of my life," said Fears after learning that Roberts had been named to replace him. "I had no inkling of a change."

In other games Sunday, Boston, under its new head coach, John Mazur, plays St. Louis, Minnesota takes on Washington, Dallas visits the New York Giants, Oakland hosts Cleveland, San Francisco battles Chicago, Denver plays San Diego, Atlanta takes on Los Angeles, Houston plays Kansas City, Miami visits Philadelphia, the New York Jets play Monday night game, Baltimore meets Green Bay at Milwaukee and, on the televised ee.

Twins' Perry voted pitching award for American League

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jim Perry of the Minnesota Twins, succeeding where his younger brother had failed just a few days ago, today was named the American League's Cy Young Award winner for 1970 in the most wide-open competition ever for the coveted trophy.

Seven pitchers were named on the 24 ballots cast, including three 20-game winners from the world champion Baltimore Orioles, and all received at least one first-place vote. None of the players, though, was mentioned on all 24 ballots and Perry was omitted completely on five of them.

Earlier this week, Gaylord Perry of the San Francisco Giants placed second to Bob Gibson of St. Louis in the National League's Cy Young balloting.

Jim Perry, a tall righthander who celebrated his 34th birthday last Friday, drew six first-place votes and a total of 55 points, according to the announcement by the Baseball Writers Association of America. Perry enjoyed his best season ever in 1970, turning in a 24-12 record and a 3.03 earned run average, as the Twins won the Western Division title.

Dave McNally of the Orioles was second with 47 points, followed by Sam McDowell of the Cleveland Indians (45), Mike Cuellar of the Orioles (44), Jim Palmer of the Orioles (41), Clyde Wright of the California Angels (41) and Ron Perranoski of the Twins (15).

Cuellar shared the Cy Young Award with Denny McLain last year and he received as many first-place votes as did Perry this year, but he didn't get nearly as much support in second and third-place mentions. Cuellar had a 24-8 record this past season, but had somewhat inflated ERA of 3.47.

McNally, a 24-9 performer, received five first-place votes, McDowell (20-12) drew four and Palmer (20-10), Wright (22-12) and Perranoski (7-8) received one each.

Perranoski, who added 34 saves to his sub-par won-lost record, is the first relief pitcher ever to receive a first-place vote in the Cy Young balloting and it was the only vote he received.

"It's a great feeling to have something like this happen to you," said Perry from his home in Edina, a suburb of Minneapolis. "You keep your faith and keep your head up high and things will work out in the end. A few years ago people wondered about me (when he was in the bullpen)."

Perry said that his hometown friends in Williamston, N.C., were staging a Perry Brothers Day for him and Gaylord Nov. 10.

Because of the tie between McLain and Cuellar last year, the Baseball Writers changed their system of determining the award winner. Two writers from each of the 12 American League cities, now vote for three men, instead of one, with first place being worth five points, second three points and third one point.

Perry, a 6-4, 195-pounder, broke in with North Platte of Nebraska State League in 1956, showing little sign of his future greatness by compiling a 7-8 record with an ERA of 4.80.

After winning 18 games in 1960, Perry was unable to surpass 12 victories a year before breaking through to a 20-6 mark in 1969. For his major league career, Perry shows 150 victories against 106 losses. The Cy Young Award was initiated in 1956 and Perry is the first Minnesota player to win the trophy.

Gopher ball hurler, Charlie Root, dies

HOLLISTER, Calif. (UPI)—Charlie Root, the pitcher who served up the pitch Babe Ruth successfully "predicted" he would hit into the seats in the 1932 World Series, died Thursday. He was 71.

Root, a durable hurler who won 201 major league games with the Chicago Cubs in the era preceding World War II, died in a Hollister hospital where he had been under treatment for three weeks.

Root, who was born on March 17, 1899, in Middletown, Ohio, and spent most of his retirement in California, wasn't an exceptionally big man in stature, but he was all giant on the pitching mound and he had a rubber arm to boot.

He broke into organized baseball with Terre Haute in the Three I League in 1921 and

Texas loop won't give up Memphis

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI)—Texas League President Bobby Bragan said Thursday he would carry his battle to prevent a Southern League raid on his Memphis franchise all the way to Phil Pitan, the czar of minor league baseball.

"The Texas League, already down to seven clubs since the Atlanta Braves withdrew their support of the Shreveport, La., franchise, has been asked by Memphis to be allowed to shift to the Southern League.

And, Bragan resents the invasion of what he terms "Texas League territory" by Southern League President Sam Smith, who extended the invitation to Memphis to make the switch.

"It is too good a franchise to give up without a fight," Bragan said and called a Texas League meeting in Dallas Nov. 21 to discuss the Memphis matter among other problems.

"I'm sitting on seven teams and trying to replace Shreveport when up jumps this thing," said Bragan. "I had heard rumbles of this Memphis jump at the major league all-star game at the same time I heard that the Southern was in trouble at Asheville and Savannah and that the Eastern (the nation's other AA league) was looking for new cities."

Pistons rip Buffalo

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Pistons, getting well-earned scoring from their starters and the second platoon, handed Buffalo its ninth straight National Basketball Association defeat Thursday night by humbling the Braves, 121-109.

Dave Bing's 28 Dave Bing's 28 points led the Detroit attack as four other players scored in double figures and the Pistons rolled up their 12th victory of the young season against only one setback.

Buffalo made it close going through three periods before Detroit bombed the Braves and rolled up a 21-point margin in the final quarter.

Buffalo's Mike Davis led all scorers with 30 points while Jimmy Walker netted 19 and Bob Lanier had 16 for Detroit.

T.F. sophs slip past Minico

RUPERT Brady Barbour raced 90 yards with an intercepted pass in the closing seconds for a touchdown Thursday afternoon to nail down a come-from-behind 18-6 decision for the Twin Falls sophomores over the Minico sophs.

After a scoreless first half, Minico went to the air to take the lead midway through the third quarter. Twin Falls rallied back into a tie with a long drive that Gary Scott capped from the two-yard line as the quarter ended.

Minico came back to threaten three more times. The first ended when Mark Manthey intercepted at the 12-yard line and seconds later Gary Sievers shoved Twin Falls ahead with a 61-yard end-around run.

The young Spartans came back to the 18 before Jerry Sturgill intercepted and after Twin Falls punted out, Minico bounced back inside the 20. But this time Barbour got the ball to see the game with 19 seconds left.

Demo Larsen runs well, loses by 300 in comeback bid

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Staff Writer
TWIN FALLS—Democratic challenger Russel C. (Bud) Larsen, seeking election as Twin Falls County commissioner, ran well in many precincts in the county, yet he lost by 300 votes due to strength of incumbents, who polled strongly in all areas. Larsen, a former county commissioner seeking a comeback, won 16 of the 48 precincts in the county. His was similar to the experience of Gov. Don Samuelson in Tuesday's election—the governor won most Idaho counties in votes, yet he lost to Democratic Cecil Andrus on the strength of a heavy Andrus vote throughout the state. In the 21 precincts outside of Twin Falls, Larsen was a special favorite, even outpolling incumbent Heber Loughmiller and Republican hopeful Merle E. Leonard. In the Murtaugh precinct, for example, Larsen received 170 votes to 138 for Leonard and 123 for Loughmiller; and in Filer's Precinct No. 3, Larsen was given 159 votes to 121 for Loughmiller, though Leonard topped him with 168. Other races in Tuesday's election were more cut-and-dried. Incumbent Congressman Orval Hansen was strong in all areas, toppling challenger Marden Wells by such tallies as 228 votes to 37 in Precinct 26 (Twin Falls); 257 to 67 in Precinct 24, and 378 to 94 in Precinct 23. In the governor's race, Democrat Cecil Andrus made a good showing in many areas. In Precinct 27, Andrus topped Gov. Samuelson by two votes, 82 to 80. In Precinct 14, Andrus received 84 to 68 for the incumbent governor, and in Precinct 7, Andrus thoroughly whipped Samuelson, 137 to 24. The rural Twin Falls County vote generally favored Gov. Samuelson over his challenger, but in isolated cases, as in Deep Creek, Andrus pulled ahead, receiving 103 votes to 89 for Samuelson. At Castleford, also, Andrus snared 172 votes, to 151 for Samuelson, and in the Clover precinct, the incumbent came in second, Andrus tallying 75 to 65 for Samuelson. Throughout the state, this was the picture—Samuelson carrying the majority of the precincts, and most of the counties; but Andrus coming along with heavy votes in all areas, which added up to victory in the final analysis. IRREGULAR? DUE TO LACK OF FOOD BULK IN YOUR DIET TRY Kellogg's BRAN BUDS
