MODEST HOME of Mrs. Melba Gray and her six children was the scene of an abduction which resulted in the woman's murder sometime after midnight last Thursday. Officers reported the front door, shown here, was open and lights in the home were on when a son awoke at 3 a.m. and found the woman was missing. Mrs. Gray's body was later found on the railroad tracks east of Shoshone.

No charge in death

SHOSHONE — A murder charge is pending in the death of Mrs. Melba Gray, 33, Shoshone, whose body was found on railroad tracks east of town Friday. Lincoln County Prosecutor Howard Adkins said today.

Adkins said investigation of "certain facts in the case" is continuing and added that a complaint may be filed before the day is over.

An 18-year-old youth, identified by officers as Danny Williams of Shoshone, is being held in custody of the Lincoln County sheriff on suspicion of murder in connection with the crime. Williams was arrested in Twin Falls Friday afternoon and has been in custody since that time.

Mrs. Gray, who was to have gone early Friday morning on a trip to California with relatives, was missed from her home on East B Street, about two houses from U. S. Highway 93, at 3 a.m. Friday. Her son James, 15, awoke to tell her it was time to get ready to leave on her trip and found the front door of the home open, the lights on and her car missing. He told officers he became alarmed when he noticed her luggage and coat were still in the house. Mrs. Gray was planning to meet her sisters in Twin Falls at 5 a.m. to depart for California and a visit with other relatives.

A Union Pacific railroad worker found Mrs. Gray's body on the railroad tracks about two miles east of town. She had been beaten about the head. Her clothing and her small automobile were found about a quarter of a mile away and the vehicle with blood stains inside was mired in soft dirt.

Funeral services have been set for Mrs. Gray and will be conducted Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. in the St. Charles Catholic Church in Halley.

Myron D. Johnson, acting president, Shoshone Chamber of Commerce, said the community has started a fund to help provide for Mrs. Gray's children who range in age from 6 years to 15 years. They are currently with relatives in Halley. The younger children had been taken there prior to the woman's death because of plans for the California trip. Only 15 year old James was home when his mother disappeared.

Israel drops point

By United Press International
Israeli Premier Golda Meir today withdrew Israel's demand for a complete rollback of Egyptian missiles from the cease-fire zones as a condition for resuming the Middle East peace talks. She said she never really expected to win out on this demand.

She expressed willingness to resume Mideast peace talks under United Nations mediator Gunnar V. Jarring but appeared in no hurry until there are proper conditions. She did not spell out these conditions but said U.S.-Israeli talks on the subject are underway now.

In a speech to Parliament in Jerusalem, she said Israel more than any other country involved in the Mideast conflict is interested in the furtherance of peace talks "which would develop into direct discussions between us and the Arab states and end with the conclusion of peace treaties."

In a direct reference to Israeli charges the Egyptians and Russians moved missiles into the cease-fire zone in violation of the agreement, she said, "I was never ready to undertake that our struggle would bring the fulfillment of our just claim in its entirety."

"But I am still convinced that without this struggle, as yet not completed, we would have found ourselves today in a situation several times more serious from the point of view of the military balance and from the political point of view."

Mrs. McKay services Wednesday

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Funeral services for the "perfect lady" of the late Mormon Church President David O. McKay will be held here Wednesday in the Assembly Hall on Temple Square.

Mrs. Emma Riggs McKay died in her sleep late Saturday night following a lengthy illness. She was 93.

Dr. Allen MacFarlane said Mrs. McKay had four of her six sons and daughters at her bedside when she died quietly of old age.

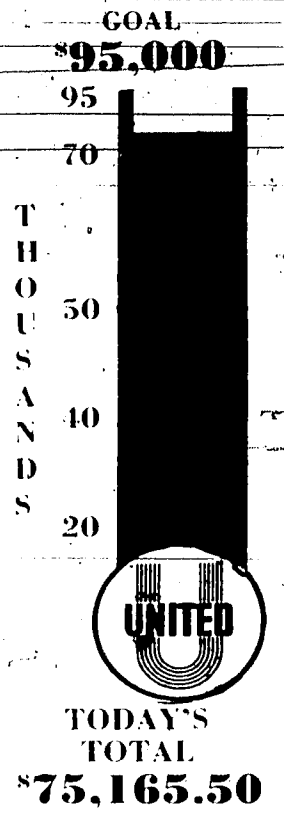

President McKay, the former leader of approximately three million members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, died Jan. 18 of this year at the age of 96.

The couple were married Jan. 2, 1901 and for more than half a century they traveled together around the world in behalf of the church.

On their 65th wedding anniversary, President McKay said his wife had "always been a sweet companion, a lovely mother, and in all situations, a perfect lady."

Mrs. McKay's virtues as mother and wife were recognized in 1954 when she won the title of "Utah Mother of the Year."

Her funeral will be held at 12:15 p.m. under the direction of the First Presidency of the church, a spokesman said.

'Lame ducks' back to work

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A reluctant Congress, its personal politicking taken care of, returned to the people's business today in the first lame duck session in 20 years.

The only prediction congressional leaders would make on the outcome was for "absolute disaster."

Faced with a list of legislative leftovers and lingering political animosity from the bitter election campaign, the men who run Congress openly forecast more partisanship than statesmanship during a post-election session expected to last until Christmas.

Left hanging when Congress began its election recess Oct. 14 were such issues as defense spending, welfare reform, import quotas and equal rights for women.

Sharing in decisions on those and other issues in the weeks to come were 60 House members and 11 senators who will not be back when the 92nd Congress convenes in January — lame ducks either retiring or forced into retirement by the voters.

Also helping to wrap up the 91st Congress will be a half-dozen new members, elected Nov. 3 to fill vacancies, who will be voting on bills first pondered by their predecessors. To be sworn in today were new Reps. John H. Ware, R-Pa.; Edwin B. Forsythe, R-N.J.; Robert H. Steele, R-Conn.; Charles J. Carney, D-Ohio; and George Collins, D-Ill. Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson III, who trounced interim Sen. Ralph T. Smith, R-Ill., was expected to take his seat later in the week.

The final actions of President Nixon's first Congress will be decided in the House by 244 Democrats and 190 Republicans and in the Senate by 58 Democrats and 42 Republicans. A month ago, the splits were 243-187 and 57-43 in favor of Democrats.

Administration forces were scrambling for votes to sustain the President's veto of a bill to put a ceiling on spending for broadcast political campaign advertising. The first test will come in the Senate where Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield promised an early vote. A two-thirds vote in each house is necessary to override a veto.

The only "must" legislation still pending, however, is a batch of budget bills for the fiscal year already four months old. Funds have yet to be appropriated for the government's biggest spender, the Pentagon, and also for transportation, housing, health and a host of independent agencies.

No exemption bid filed by company

TWIN FALLS — Amalgamated Sugar Company has not yet applied for the property tax exemption on its new pollution control equipment, though state law allows such an exemption, according to Twin Falls County Assessor Clifford Thompson.

The Idaho Code, Section 63-105(t), allows exemption from property tax for all "facilities, installation, machinery and equipment" which is used to control water or air pollution, with the single stipulation that if "marketable by-products" are produced by the equipment, an exemption is now allowed.

In some cases, pollution-control equipment will reclaim metals or minerals from smoke or other effluents which can be re-sold. State law indicates that if the factory would profit by the sale of reclaimed products then a tax exemption is now allowed.

However, Amalgamated, which has constructed a new clarithickener to process waste water from its processing facilities, has not applied for the exemption.

Boy Day, manager of the Twin Falls plant, said "That's out of my department; I wouldn't know anything about it." The decision would come from Amalgamated's home offices in Utah, Day said.

The beet-processing firm is also exempted by state law from "inventory or other" taxes on products shipped out of the state, the assessor said.

Utilities top agenda

TWIN FALLS — City Council members of Twin Falls will discuss water supply possibilities for the proposed Willis Mobile Home Park south of the city during the regular council meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall auditorium.

The proposed project, to be located near the city's water storage reservoir south of town has been announced for construction in the immediate future.

Another discussion will be held on the proposed discontinuation of a Saturday trash and garbage pick up in the city by the sanitation contractor, Parks and Sons. City Manager Jean Millar said the firm which has been operating the service the past month has now reached a point where it is felt operation can be reduced to five days per week with the present areas serviced on Saturday being moved to Friday or another day of the week as routes are revised.

Jet search

MOUNTAIN HOME AFB, Idaho (UPI) — The commander of the 67th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, Col. Henry Warren, said Saturday the search for a RF4c reconnaissance jet carrying two-crew members is not over.

On board were Maj. Carlton K. Sprague, 44, the pilot, and Capt. Terrence Andrews, 25, navigator.

Loan shark ruling due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to rule this term on the constitutionality of a 1968 law that made loansharking a federal crime on grounds the racket provides the underworld one billion dollars a year in profits.

The provision was part of a consumer protection measure and brought extortionate loansharking under the scope of federal prosecution even if the transaction had no involvement with interstate traffic.

The court agreed to hear an appeal by Alcides Perez, of Brooklyn, N.Y., convicted on five counts of using extortion on a borrower who fled back to Puerto Rico to escape threats made against him.

The 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals divided on Perez's conviction, which had brought an 18-month sentence on each count to run concurrently.

The Justice Department listed 27 persons indicted under the statute in fiscal 1969 and 73 during the 1970 fiscal year, which ended June 30. At that time there had been 15 convictions, 3 acquittals 4 dismissals and 78 cases still pending.

In other actions, the court: Refused to review the conviction of a draft registrant for refusing induction by a local draft board on grounds its chairman lived in another county. Walter J. Collins of New Orleans had protested his five-year sentence and $2,000 fine because the board was not made up of persons living within the district served by the board.

Let stand a Pennsylvania court ruling that a defense lawyer must be present when a victim identifies an alleged criminal offender from photographs prior to an indictment. The case applied only to Pennsylvania legal procedures.

Granted the government's request for review of an Indian claims commission decision granting the Southern Ute Indians an accounting of all their tribal funds spent by the government after 1946.

In the loan shark case, the court will hear oral arguments and then hand down a decision later.

Pakistan death toll rising

DACCA, East Pakistan (UPI) — Radio Pakistan said today the official death toll from a cyclone and tidal waves that smashed East Pakistan was more than 41,000. Unofficial estimates put it as high as 300,000 dead — which would make it the worst disaster of the century.

The government-run radio said 20,000 bodies were counted in the Barisal District alone, while another 10,000 were found in Patuakhali District. It added that "according to the latest official figure" there were more than 41,000 dead.

"A number of villages in the offshore island have been simply washed away," the radio said.

The cyclone struck Thursday night and early Friday. It carried winds up to 150 miles per hour and tidal waves which swamped whole islands with 20 to 30 feet of water. The area hit covered 10,000 square miles of Southern East Pakistan and has a population of more than five million.

As reports trickled in, estimates of what the final death toll might be were staggering. Following are some of the estimates from unofficial sources:

Noakhali District, 150 miles southeast of Dacca—the Dacca Morning News, a government-owned, English-language newspaper, said 100,000 persons were dead.

Hatiya Island 85 miles south of Dacca, with a population of about 180,000—a Pakistani magistrate estimated that half the people on the island, about 90,000, were killed.

Bhoila Island, 70 miles south of Dacca, with a population of 700,000—a flying club pilot who made an aerial survey said "there is practically no sign of life" and estimated at least 50,000 persons died.

Patuakhali District, 150 miles south of Dacca—national assembly candidate Ali Ashraf, who was in the area when the cyclone struck, estimated 50,000 persons died there.

The worst disaster of the 20th century was the North China floods in 1939 which killed an estimated 200,000 persons.

Reports from the disaster areas said half a million head of cattle were killed and one million persons were homeless. Damage to crops and homes ran into millions of dollars, with thousands of vessels sunk or beached. There were reports of 3,000 bodies floating in the waters of a dam, while other dead were found in the branches of trees as the tidal waves receded.

President Yahya Khan, who just returned from a visit to Communist China, flew to Dacca to personally direct relief operations. Radio Pakistan said he was flying over the disaster area today.

Team trying to learn why jet skimmed hills

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI) — A DC-9 jetliner that slammed in flames into a deep valley in the Appalachians, killing 75 persons and wiping out the Marshall University football team, was flying too low for some reason and sheared off treetops, federal investigators said Sunday.

A 35-man investigating team attempted today to determine why the twin-jet Southern Airways plane, chartered to bring Marshall back from a game at East Carolina State, fell more than 300 feet below the normal airport approach altitude before it crashed in rain and fog Saturday night.

There was no indication of any trouble aboard, but all evidence showed the craft could not have made it over a final hill to the runway.

The plane skimmed two small hills, its jet engines apparently ingesting wood from the trees it sheared and plunged into a foggy, wooded ravine about one and one-half miles short of the Tri-State Airport, which has no "glide path" instruments to advise the pilot of his altitude.

It exploded on impact, burning all aboard beyond recognition.

The news of the crash stunned this Appalachian mountain town and the campus of 9,100 weekend dates, parties and beer-drinking at local taverns ended suddenly as the tragedy unfolded.

The victims, 36 Marshall football players, five coaches, the team trainer, five airline crewmen and members of a "booster club" including wealthy townspeople, were ending a 40-minute flight from Kinston, N.C. The team, recently taken off a one-year Mid-American Conference suspension for illegal recruiting, lost earlier in the day to East Carolina, 17-14.

Firemen, state police and National Guardsmen worked for more than 12 hours removing bodies from the wreckage to a temporary morgue at the National Guard Armory at the airport.

Walter Rollins, a mortician, said he believed "death was instantaneous to every one on the plane."

Blackened, contorted bodies were scattered. The cockpit, nose down, was found behind the twisted fuselage. The wreckage burned for five hours.

Trees were hacked down so fire trucks could reach the scene.

Fifteen bodies were identified immediately from personal effects, such as rings, but it was expected to take a special FBI disaster team three to four days to make positive identification.

John Reed, chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board and head of the investigating team, said it would be "premature" to blame the pilot, Capt. Frank H. Abbott, a 20-year veteran. More will be learned from a badly damaged inflight recorder and a "very good tape" of the cockpit conversation. Both were recovered from the wreckage.

"As the plane kept hitting larger trees, it became more impossible to recover for a safe landing. Perhaps the plane's jet engines were ingesting... the wood from the trees," Reed said.

He said the plane "sheared off trees about 65 feet beyond the brow of the first hill."

The pilot reported nothing wrong during his final radio contact with the control tower.

It was the worst plane crash in 1970 and the third in 10 years involving a football team. Just six weeks earlier 31 persons, including 14 Wichita State

Yank ranks lose 4,200

SAIGON (UPI) — American troop strength in Vietnam dropped 4,200 in the seven days ending last Thursday, the lowest level since Dec. 3, 1966, military spokesmen reported today.

As of Nov. 12 there were 363,800 American servicemen remaining in Vietnam, 4,200 fewer than the total on Nov. 5, military spokesmen said.

Khrushchev denounces 'memoirs'

MOSCOW (UPI) — Former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev today denounced the purported Khrushchev memoirs about to be published in the West as "a fabrication" in the first public statement he has made since his ouster in October, 1964.

Khrushchev's disavowal of the authenticity of the reminiscences was circulated by the official Tass news agency, an extraordinary departure from the official policy of ignoring the ousted leader's existence. Normally, not even his name is mentioned in the Soviet press.

"It is seen from reports of the press in the United States and some other capitalist countries that the so-called memoirs of reminiscences of N. S. Khrushchev, are now being prepared for publication," Khrushchev's statement said.

"This is a fabrication and I am indignant at this."

"I have never passed on memoirs of this nature either to the Time or other publishing houses," it continued.

"I did not turn over such materials to the Soviet publishing houses either. Therefore, I declare this is a fabrication. The venal bourgeois press was many times exposed on such lies," it concluded, above the signature, "N. Khrushchev."

There was no introduction to the dispatch nor any elaboration on who "N. Khrushchev" was. He was overthrown both as premier and first secretary of the Communist Party organization for a "multitude" of alleged sins, including serious failures in agricultural production and aggravation of the breach with Communist China.

Worship change proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A significant change in a worship custom followed by Roman Catholics for more than 1,000 years was proposed today to the church's U.S. hierarchy.

Laid before the National Conference of Catholic Bishops as it opened its semiannual meeting here was a recommendation by its liturgy committee that Vatican authorization be sought to give communicants the option of receiving the communion host in their hands.

Since the 9th Century A.D., it has been Catholic custom for the priest to place the host directly on the tongue of the communicant. Those who favor the proposed change argue that it would have considerable symbolic importance in emphasizing that the laity are active participants rather than passive spectators in the Eucharist.

Question...

Is it true that burials are required to be six feet underground?

Answer...

Probably no funeral nor burial custom has been so universally accepted as the belief that burials must be made six feet below ground level. Early American folk songs and western fiction dramatized death by referring to burial six feet deep. This belief only Kentucky requires that burials be made this deep. Idaho, along with most of the states, has no law regulating the depth of a grave. Cemeteries by their own regulations establish how deep they will dig their graves. By common practice graves in Idaho approximate five feet in depth.

Certain burials in a National Cemetery may actually exceed six feet. The surviving wife of a veteran buried in a National Cemetery may reserve burial space for her self in the same grave with her husband. The grave in these situations must be deep enough to accommodate both burials.

The results show that 80 1/2 per cent of the school age children and 40 per cent of the pre-school children across Magic Valley received the immunization.

The department notes in order to provide a safe level of immunity to rubella, it is necessary to have a higher percentage of children immunized.

The vaccine is available in doctors' offices and at the South Central District Health Department. All parents are urged to secure this immunization for their children.

Economist asks low interest rate ceiling on home loans

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Loen H. Keyserling, who was chairman of the Council Economic Advisers in the Truman administration, wants Congress to set a ceiling of 3 or 4 per cent on interest rates for home loans.
 now a consulting economist, Keyserling says high interest rates and tight money have made it impossible for the nation to make good on its 21-year-old promise of "a decent home in a suitable living environment for every American family."
 He argues that the tight money policy adopted by the Federal Reserve to combat inflation has done little to check the rising cost of living. It has, however, prevented construction of needed housing, he says.

 "The Congress should legislate a ceiling of 3 or 4 per cent on private and public loans for housing and related community development," Keyserling said in a recent speech.
 "This will hurt for a while and produce many squawks," he said. "But in the longer run, the downward movement of one type of interest rate after another will be highly beneficial to all except the usurious."
 Keyserling also called for legislation to require the Federal Reserve to expand the money supply at a rate set annually by the President in his economic message. He said this would assure an adequate supply of cash and tend to hold interest rates down.

 "The policy of tight money and rising interest rates, avowedly designed to control inflation, has been in effect with minor undulations since 1953, and thus far in 1970 has been modified only to a trivial extent in ratio to the need for modification," he said.
 The Truman administration economist said the government often proclaims the importance of housing but seldom follows through with the needed money.

 "Substandard housing, with all of its economic and social evils, is about as serious a problem as (it was) a quarter of a century ago, and this menace can be overcome only by action on all housing fronts for all income groups," Keyserling said.
 "There is absolutely no prospect, unless current performance and policies are drastically changed, of attaining the annual average of more than 2 million units of nonfarm housing starts during the next decade.

New Town Answer?

Christian Science Monitor

How much poverty can a poor area bear?

This has come to be a central question in the minds of planners for low-income housing.

The question is thrust forth by the example of such disastrous low-income projects as Pruitt-Igoe in St. Louis. Of forty-three 22-story apartment buildings put up just 15 years ago, only 17 are still in use. The others are boarded up, wrecked and spoiled beyond reclaim inside.

Part of the problem at Pruitt-Igoe was simply one of physical design. The inhabitants lived off entryways that rose straight up, like isolated silos. Elevators would break down, and pipes in abandoned suites would freeze.

But mostly the project was socially maldesigned. Most of the inhabitants were welfare families, mothers with children. This reinforced remorselessly the feeling of social isolation. Thugs and violence ruled entryways. The poor fled for cover to the old low-rise slums because they feared for their lives.

The lesson from Pruitt-Igoe and similar projects in other cities is that how to finance low-income housing is only part of the problem. The kind of housing and where it is built are of at least equal moment.

One new concept in low-income housing is to build new towns in which the mixture of poor and better-off is controlled. One such town is projected in the Louisville area. Half of its 20,000 families would be poor, and of these half again would be urban blacks and half rural whites. There is promise in such master-designed communities. Other nations — notably Great Britain and Finland — have successfully engineered new economically mixed communities.

There are reservations, too, however. Will even a half-poor formula be too stiff a concentration of poverty, bogging communities down with fears and depression endemic to ghetto life? And even more to the point, how many of America's 24 million poor, most of them underhoused, could a new town movement absorb?

True, Congress and the administration are pushing various subsidy and assembly line low-cost projects to help the lower income sector.

But the overall housing picture for the poor remains bleak. They are still largely locked in the cities, while job growth is in the suburbs. This combination of factors tends to keep them poor, and concentrated in greater numbers than they can often psychologically bear.

WASHINGTON — President Nixon threw out several highly significant hints in the course of his strategy conference at the Biscayne Bay White House:

(1) Two, and possibly three, cabinet members will be replaced before the 1972 re-election campaign.

(2) Slated for high appointments are three able and attractive Republicans who failed to win in the recent election, but who greatly impressed the President. It's possible one or more of them may get a Cabinet place.

The three Republicans who caught the President's eye as promising corners are:

Missouri State Attorney General John C. Danforth, 34, who was relatively narrowly beaten by Democratic Senator Stuart Symington, 69, running for a fourth term. A member of the Ralston-Purina cereal family, Danforth was the only Republican to win state office two years ago. He waged a vigorous campaign against Symington on his age and alleged meager legislative record. Symington's margin of victory was the smallest of his Senate career.

Rep. George Bush, 46, who early in the campaign appeared to have a good chance to win a Senate seat. Both the President and Vice President Agnew campaigned for Bush in Texas. Re-elected without opposition in 1968 and a member of the powerful Ways and Means Committee, Bush is highly regarded in the House, and the President referred to him warmly during the strategy meeting.

Rep. Thomas Kleppe, 51, whom the President persuaded to oppose Democratic Sen. Quentin Burdick for re-election. Kleppe also was considered a likely winner, but was defeated largely on the farm issue. Burdick blamed Kleppe for the administration's farm policies, which are unpopular in North Dakota.

No direct mention was made of any of the three in connection with the Cabinet. But the President was explicit about wanting to bring them into his administration.

"We need men of their caliber and public appeal," he remarked. "They have outstanding ability, experience and keen awareness of the problems facing the country and the urgent need for forceful measures to cope with them."

For some time, it has been no secret that Interior Secretary Walter Hickel and HUD Secretary George Romney are not in the best graces of the White House.

They are known not to have the direct access to the President. Both cabinet members have privately complained about that, and that they personally haven't talked to the President about their departmental affairs for months. This is particularly true of Hickel.

Last spring, at the height of student unrest and disturbances, he made public a letter to the President implicitly sharply criticizing Administration attitude toward youth. Hickel's bluntness won him no kudos in White House circles. The recent defeat of Alaska's Governor Miller, Hickel's successor, also has improved his standing. Hickel is charged with not unduly exerting himself to outpace for Miller.

Being largely attributed to Romney is the bumbling senatorial candidacy of his ambitious wife Lenore — who was overwhelmingly defeated by liberal Democrat Senator Phillip Hart. Neither the Administration nor leading Michigan Republicans wanted Mrs. Romney to run. But Romney insisted on her selection and after a stormy inner party wrangle got his way.

Significantly, neither the President nor Agnew campaigned in Michigan.

White House insiders hint that Romney "rubs the President the wrong way." Certainly, the HUD Secretary sees the President very infrequently. Also, Romney's relations with congressional leaders are distant and cool at best.

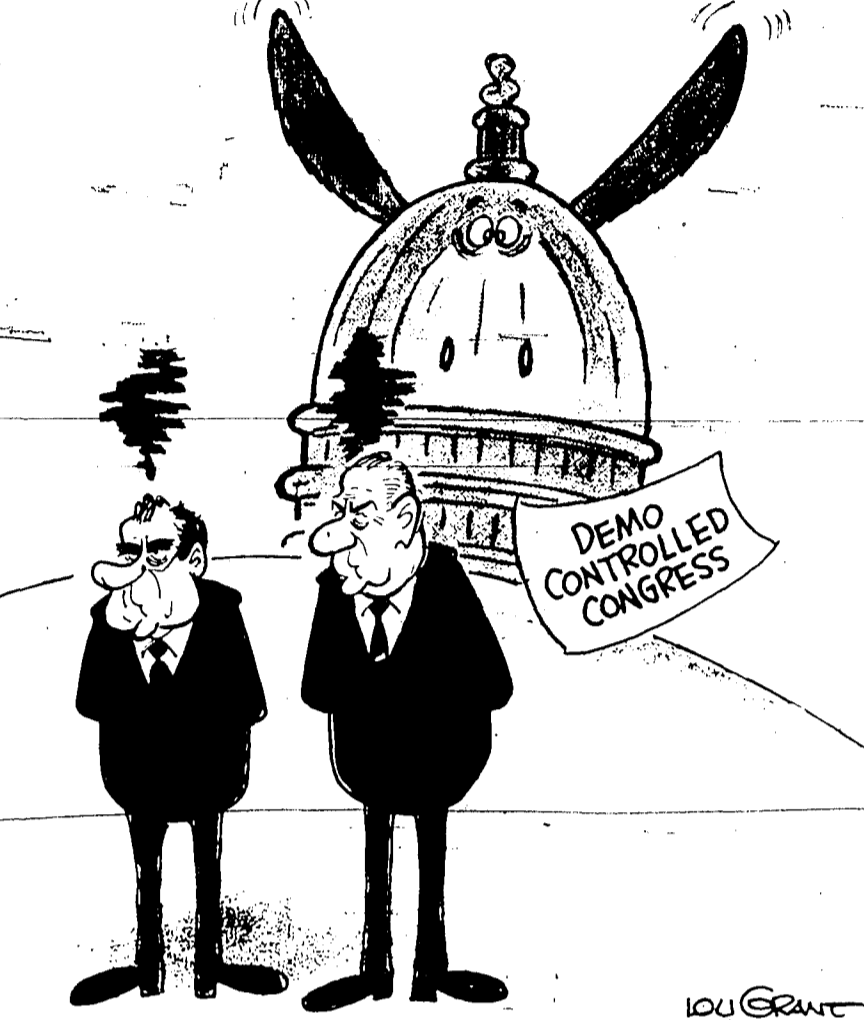

His aggressive and positive mannerisms seem to evoke resentment and opposition to his proposals and measures.

Another cabinet member who may leave, is Commerce Secretary Malcolm Stans. His personal ties and relations with the President are much more harmonious than those of Hickel and Romney.

But Stans has been dropping hints for some time that he wants to return to private life. Aged 62 and wealthy, he shuns Washington society and is interested in big game hunting and traveling.

Among knowledgeable Administrationites, it is considered virtually certain Stans will quit in a matter of months.

Health Foods

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Never having been in a health food store before, I stopped in one last week. What an array of things I never heard of before! And so tempting!

But since at 70 I am in good health, as I told the lady, she did say I should get some lecithin and it would keep me from having hardening of the arteries. If I took a tablespoonful every day for nine months. — Mrs. Parker's bittersweet approach K.T.

Dear Doctor: I am interested in learning if a tablespoonful of the wittiest woman in New York. Accepting her arteries of a buildup of fatness, she bludgeoned cholesterol. I was told this at a not, but wielded the rapier. She health food store. Would it do didn't want to beat the male any harm? I am in good health, into unconsciousness, she 73, but overweight. — S.S.

I haven't any quarrel with the "health food stores" if people enjoy that as a hobby. So long as folks comply as well with the basic rules of health and don't think that eating certain powders, leaves, extracts, and soon will guarantee health. It also seems to me that some of the health food people must be a bit disconcerted to meet healthy people in their 70s who have done it without any "health foods."

As to lecithin and hardening of the arteries — well, lecithin is a complex chemical which occurs naturally in the body, and is widely distributed, especially in brain and lung tissue. It aids in the transport of fats in the system. As to lecithin and hardening of the arteries — well, lecithin is a complex chemical which occurs naturally in the body, and is widely distributed, especially in brain and lung tissue. It aids in the transport of fats in the system. Why adding more of it would do any good is hard to see. We all have some degree of hardening of the arteries. It's a part of growing up, and eventually of growing older. At 70 (or earlier, so far as that goes) we can't undo the hardening.

Rather, combating hardening of the arteries is a lifelong process, mainly involving getting adequate exercise, keeping the cholesterol (and fat) level in the blood down to a normal figure, and avoiding overweight. Beyond that, the arteries will harden at about the rate dictated by our heredity. Taking lecithin will not harm you, but as it won't undo any arterial hardening, I question whether it will do any good, and strongly doubt that it will influence your general health or longevity at all.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will water with fluoride be harmful to people with arthritis? Some folks have the idea it is. — Mrs. A

Put it this way I have no evidence that it is harmful for arthritis. If it were, I think evidence to that effect would have appeared by now.

Protect The Cats

Idaho State Journal

The Idaho mountain lion should be made a game animal to prevent the further decline of this magnificent cat, and to gain some idea of its movements and distribution through the mandatory reporting by hunters of kills they have made.

This was the gist of remarks made by Dr. Maurice Hornocker before a near-capacity crowd at Idaho State University recently.

We endorse his proposal heartily. It is generally recognized now that the old bounty system was a dud, instigated primarily by stockmen to provide an incentive for the killing of wild predators on sheep and cattle, the system worked all right, but all too well.

Soon it became apparent that without natural predators, wild game and rodents flourished to the point of overabundance, and an inadequate food supply forced them into direct competition with man.

Now visitors to Grand Teton National Park, for example, are treated every fall to the sight of hunters armed to the teeth prowling every woodland thicket east of the Snake River within the park in pursuit of the Rocky Mountain elk, the monarch of the Rockies, which must be killed to sustain its numbers in proper proportion to its food supply.

The mountain lion was an important cog in maintaining this natural balance in the world that was.

We know now that world never again will be. But in the far-off mountain fastnesses where the mountain lion dwells, we see no reason to continue the needless persecution the great cat now faces.

Dr. Hornocker's study, conducted for the past six winters in the heart of the Idaho Primitive Area and continuing this winter, has demonstrated conclusively that the presence of the mountain lion has benefited, not harmed, the resident deer and elk populations, since the lions take only the "very young or the very old," and nutritionally-poor animals.

Were other predators, such as the now-endangered timber wolf, also present, it is conceivable the elk and deer in the Big Creek drainage where the study is being made could be kept in natural balance, as in old times.

One thing we know, if the indiscriminate killing of the mountain lion continues it soon will join the timber wolf and other endangered species in near-oblivion.

Oregon recently made the mountain lion a game animal, with open seasons to be determined by the state's game commission in consultation with the public. Other states, too, have recognized the worth of the big cat, and offered it at least partial protection.

It's not too soon for Idaho to join these states. But if it waits much longer it could be too late.

Autumnal

Portland Oregonian

The height of futility is to attempt to rake leaves in a brisk east wind.

Portlanders who tried to clear their yards of the colorful autumnal blanket Sunday might as well have gone on a picnic in the bright sunshine or stayed in the house and watched football on television. As soon as a pile of leaves was gathered, the wind brought a swirl of replacements from up the street, if indeed it didn't scatter the pile before it could be taken to the garbage can or compost heap.

Leaves act much like drifting snow. They sweep up driveways to collect in the lee of rock walls or houses, as dry, wind-blown snow does at a later season. Before long, the householders who tried to rake leaves Sunday may be making equally futile attempts to clear their properties of snow drifts.

But that is the concern of another day. The thing to do now is to enjoy the wonderful weather that surprisingly recurs and let the leaves blow where they may.

We Thank Heaven

WASHINGTON — Thank heaven there is a prescription calculated to restore a patient's sanity after the recent election. It is "The Life and Times of Dorothy Parker," well and truly written by an old colleague named John Keats, now, alas, exiled in Philadelphia.

The book could not have reached this desk at a better time. Aside from the delight that accrues from examining the work of a professional, reading this tome is a reminder that there used to be career women on the highest level who managed effortlessly to remain members of the female sex. Parker overflowed with malice and she always demanded her rights, but they were the rights of a woman, not those curious of - pants - and - moustache liberties of Women's Lib.

"Yes and yes," Dorothy Parker's output was often the stuff of the battle between the sexes. But like the lady in a famous caption for a Thurber cartoon, she liked the idea of there being two of them. In one of her famous short stories, "A Telephone Call," the line, "Please, God, let him telephone me now" could never have emerged from the typewriter of one of today's manly women.

Her position was nicely ambivalent. Without fear of successful contradiction, I credit her with first using the phrase "women's liberation" during a luncheon interview with this then callow reporter for the New York World-Telegram. Rather grimly, for her, she applied it in reference to what she called the male's patronizing attitude toward professional girls. But then the real Dorothy Parker stood up, slyly.

"You understand," she added, chipmunk-grin crinkling her face, "I reserve the exclusive right to crying and to bawling off lover boy's check-book."

That, I suggest, was a free woman who would find today's crop of female crusaders a touch tedious. If Parker ever burned her bra it was because she ran out of fireplace wood, not because she had decided some man was exploiting her.

As the nearest, if insignificant, representative of the male division of the writing dodge, she gave me a hard time over the superciliousness of my sex in matters professional, but she made casually sure I opened the restaurant door for her, pulled back her chair, and picked up the check.

Most of her writing, in fact, had as its theme woman's honest dependence on men. Her "Big Blonde" told the story of a woman who had been pushed around romantically, but the victim would have greeted with open arms and ample bosom one more exploiter.

For budding young writers of the feminine persuasion, I would offer the opinion that day for nine months. — Mrs. Parker's bittersweet approach K.T.

was one of the reasons she was acclaimed for two decades as the wittiest woman in New York. Accepting her arteries of a buildup of fatness, she bludgeoned cholesterol. I was told this at a not, but wielded the rapier. She health food store. Would it do didn't want to beat the male any harm? I am in good health, into unconsciousness, she 73, but overweight. — S.S.

Hit The Foe

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The logic of the Southeast Asian war now makes stronger ground action against the North Vietnamese in Laos virtually certain.

But not by American troops. Almost inevitably, South Vietnamese ground forces will find it necessary to make repeated intermittent raids (or sweeps) to interdict the Ho Chi Minh trails, destroy supply dumps and marshalling areas in southern Laos.

Predictably, these raids will be carried out from time to time during the next 12 months at a minimum — and possibly for the next two years.

These Vietnamese troops most certainly will have U. S. aid and assistance of one sort or another.

The Vietnamese actions and the American assistance will be covert. There will be no announcements of these actions.

The actions will center on (1) keeping the North Vietnamese off balance, and (2) reducing arms deliveries so markedly that North Vietnamese troops in Cambodia and South Vietnam will be unable to mount major operations in either area in the predictable future.

With the blockade of the Cambodian coast and tightened patrolling of the South Vietnamese shoreline, the Ho Chi Minh trails and the upper Mekong River must carry an unusually heavy burden of supplies and replacements. Despite the publicity given the Ho Chi Minh trails in the past, the North Vietnamese have hitherto relied primarily on sea routes to the south.

Now the Lao trails and associated river routes are the one major loophole left through which Hanoi can keep the south supplied.

If this loophole can be drawn shut, militarily the major mainline Communist armies must gradually wither away in the far south, leaving principally the guerrilla units. (The situation may be quite different in the far north of South Vietnam, close as it is to the North Vietnam supply base.)

At this stage of the game, until considerable more groundwork is laid by the Communists, it is highly unlikely that poorly supplied Communist guerrilla units without the support of mainline armies can be a decisive factor in Cambodia, except in the third to a half of the country which is sparsely inhabited and those areas heavily populated by North Vietnamese emigrants. Guerrillas, however, can be highly effective in South Vietnam as the history of this conflict has demonstrated on many occasions.

But South Vietnamese armies, the regional and provincial forces and the local militia are much more suited than American conventional forces for dealing with traditional types of guerrilla activity, especially in a drawn-out conflict.

Young football fan gets wish

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Three months ago, Bill Race was a typical 13-year-old American boy. He loved to play baseball and basketball—but his biggest love was football.

He was one of the first in line to pay his registration fee and enroll this year in the suburban Colonie Pop Warner Football League, for boys ages 10 to 13.

Though he weighed only 83 pounds, two below the minimum for the league, Bill almost ate the Race family into bankruptcy trying to gain enough weight to play in a game.

He succeeded, but then in a practice session injured his left knee. X-rays of the injury disclosed more than a bruise. A bone tumor was found and Billy's leg was amputated.

While all this was going on, Billy's team, the Colonie Packers, kept winning. Their record was six wins and no losses when Billy entered the hospital.

Coming up was the final regular season game against East Greenbush. If the Packers could win, they would have their division title and go to the mini Pop Warner Super Bowl.

On the Thursday night before the big game, the 35 Packer players—all in uniform—visited Bill in the lobby of the Albany Medical Center Hospital.

One of the coaches presented Billy with his game jersey. It was No. 34.

One little teammate piped up: "Hi Bill, pick a score and we will win the game by that score for you."

Billy laughed and said, "How about my game jersey. Do you guys think you can score 34 points?"

Sunday came and the Packers got off to a quick lead. But with three minutes to play in the game, the score was 20-0 Colonie.

Then one of the Packer backs broke loose and galloped 60 yards for a touchdown. The kids screamed, "We have to get that extra point." They did, and the score was 27-0.

With 13 seconds to play, the Packers had the ball on the East Greenbush 40-yard line. The quarterback called the signal, flipped the ball to one of the halfbacks and he heaved a pass.

The receiver pulled in the ball on the 25 and ran for a touchdown. For the conversion, the quarterback barked off the signals and handed off to a halfback on a power play. He went in for the extra point.

The Packers and their fans went wild. The final score: Packers 34, East Greenbush 0.

Billy got his wish.

Old Crow begins with men who love to work with their hands.

George Donehoo is Old Crow's Master Distiller. He is the one man who knows all the secrets that give our country Bourbon its special character.

The first scientific way of distilling Bourbon was invented by Dr. James Crow back in 1835. But giving our Bourbon a handcrafted taste is still an art.

"Most of the people at Old Crow never stop working with their hands," says Donehoo. "Come evening, you'll likely find them working on their own projects."

George Donehoo calls on the same craftsmanship making this barometer as he does running our distillery.

Over the years, craftsmanship like this has made Old Crow America's best-tasting Bourbon.

Early GM voting hints strike end due soon

DETROIT (UPI)—Ratification of a new national contract with General Motors by a major United Auto Workers local in Detroit was regarded as a solid indication that the 63-day-old UAW strike will be over by week's end.

The local voting on the tentative pact must be completed by Friday and union leaders hope to submit the results to GM officials Saturday.

Local 15, one of the UAW's larger GM locals with a membership of 2,500, was only the second local to announce ratification, but it led observers to speculate that it would lead the way to ratification by other locals.

At the same time Sunday, the members also ratified a local agreement reached Friday between the UAW and management of the Fleetwood Fisher body plant, which manufactures bodies for Cadillacs and Oldsmobile Toronados.

Three tentative local settlements were reported in the United States Sunday and one in Canada, leaving 62 of the 155 local bargaining units in the U.S. and only one in Canada to come to terms.

For Local 15, some of its smaller victories on the local level were the sweetest. Among the concessions won by the workers were management's promise to put prime ribs back on the menu at the plant cafeteria, keep plenty of hand cream in the plant lavatories and provide workers with work gloves that fit.

Next week, contract negotiations resume at Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp., which were not affected by the UAW strike.

In the bargaining with those two automakers, it is possible that UAW President Leonard Woodcock will beef up the union's demands, in the tradition of the man he succeeded—the late Walter P. Reuther.

Reuther used to say he was after "the frosting on the cake" when he demanded a little more from the second company than he got from the first.

With that strategy in mind, the UAW has told Ford it will strike Dec. 7 if no contract is negotiated by then.

Juror pick bars trial

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—The court-martial of 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr., charged in the alleged My Lai massacre in South Vietnam in 1968, could begin as early as Tuesday if attorneys can agree today on one more juror.

Four have been selected. Seven more officers, appointed to the prospective jury panel Saturday, will be examined today to determine if they are qualified to serve.

Sixteen potential jurors have been questioned previously to judge the former platoon leader charged with the premeditated murder of 102 South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai on March 16, 1968. Calley could be sentenced to death if convicted. The highest sentence he could receive on conviction would be life in prison.

Escape brings FLQ taunts

MONTREAL (UPI)—The terrorist Quebec Liberation Front (FLQ) tauntingly boasts that the three most-wanted men in Canada spent 24 hours hidden in an apartment filled with police—then escaped with two police guns.

Quebec and Montreal police conceded fingerprints of the three men had been found in the apartment, but argued today over who should take the blame for the bizarre incident. The FLQ, in communiques sent to newspapers Sunday said the three men wanted for the kidnap and murder of a Quebec cabinet minister—hid behind a false wall in a closet in the apartment.

The communiques said the men deliberately left their fingerprints behind to taunt police. They sarcastically chided two police guards for leaving their guns in the supposedly abandoned apartment during a lunch break and thanked police for allowing the three men to steal the guns on their way out.

Quebec provincial police said the raid on the apartment was the work of the Montreal city police. City police said the provincial force had officers there too. City police said the guards left behind were from the provincial force. The provincial force pointed out that since the apartment house was in Montreal, city police ordinarily would get the follow-through jobs.

Head Start aid vowed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—HEW Secretary Elliot L. Richardson Sunday pledged to do all he could to keep the popular Head Start program for needy preschool children at its present level even if it gets only the $339 million requested by the Nixon administration.

Local Head Start administrators have been told by the U.S. Office of Education, a part of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, to be prepared to turn away children if Congress appropriation does not exceed the administration request.

The $339 million is considered to be $11.6 million short of the amount necessary to maintain Head Start at its present level. But to maintain the quality of the program, Dr. Edward F. Zigler, director of the office of child development, has told local administrators to cutback enrollment rather than the scope of the program. Richardson, in a UPI Washington Window interview, said if Zigler and the Office of Education is right about the appropriations request being $11.1 million short, "I think we should seek some way of finding the $11 million."

Asked if this were a commitment, Richardson replied: "The only commitment I can flatly make is the commitment to find ways, if at all possible, of maintaining Head Start at its present level."

Head Start, to be financed by an appropriations bill that must be passed before the end of the year, provides educational, social and medical services for needy children age 3 to 6. During the last fiscal year, ended June 30, it served 488,500 children.

A House-passed money bill, while not specifying how much money may be spent on Head Start, would allow HEW only about $321 million for the program.

Richardson also said the administration is counting on the support of Senate Liberals to win approval of President Nixon's stalled welfare reform proposal.

Brazilians cast votes

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—Brazilians went to the polls Sunday in the first ballot box test for the military-backed government of President Emilio Garrastazu Medici.

Up to 30 million voters—a third of the population of Latin America's largest nation—were expected to cast ballots for two thirds of the Senate, the entire Chamber of Deputies, all state legislators and 1,593 mayors.

The results will not be known until Monday, but the pro-government party, the National Renovating Alliance (ARENA), was an odds-on favorite to maintain its heavy majorities in the Senate and Chamber of Deputies as well as capture all but one state legislature.

The Brazilian Democratic Movement (MDB), the only legal opposition party, was likely to keep control of the Guanabara State Legislature, which governs metropolitan Rio de Janeiro.

Shakeup seen when Congress opens session

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The season of speculation is in full flower on a possible shakeup in the Senate's hierarchy with the convening of the 92nd Congress in January.

Never mind that the 91st Congress still has failed to resolve itself into extinction.

For the record, no challenger has declared his entry, no incumbent formally notified his colleagues of an intention to seek another term.

But that doesn't still speculation in an area that thrives on it.

As a starter, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who already holds the longevity record, is a sure thing for two more years, at least.

Without doubt, Senate Democrats will elect him their leader unanimously, without any sort of challenge.

With the post of leader, Mansfield also automatically becomes chairman of the Democratic Policy, Steering and Conference committees.

But the No. 2 job among Democrats—assistant leader or whip—presents a totally different situation.

Despite some earlier speculation that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy would relinquish the post as a bit too restrictive, he now plans to ask his colleagues for a second term.

Kennedy could face an election, however, as close as the one by which he ousted Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana from the whip job two years ago. That vote was 31-26.

There are strong indications that the challenge will come from Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, now the No. 3 man with the odd title of secretary to the Democratic Conference.

Unlike Kennedy who is frequently absent, Byrd is a glutton for the routine chores and rarely is absent from the Senate floor. He has doled out many favors and those chits can be called in.

On the Republican side, the speculation and interest centers on a possible challenge to Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott who was elected by a narrow 23 to 20 margin after the death of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen.

Strategists who put Scott over the top a little more than a year ago, consider the 68-year-old Pennsylvania, just re-elected, much stronger now.

Hypnosis session Saturday

TWIN FALLS — One of America's leading concert hypnotist, Jack Lythgoe, will present a demonstration of true hypnosis Saturday at the Twin Falls High School gymnasium.

The program, under the sponsorship of the local high school's Associated Student Council, will begin at 8 p. m. Doug Bland president of the council, said advance tickets are available at Helen's Record Shop, Sallie's Gifts and Books and Paul Ostyn's office in the high school. Tickets also will be available at the door.

Bland said Lythgoe will answer questions about hypnosis as well as give demonstrations. He will hypnotize the entire audience as well as individuals on the stage.

Bland added this particular program is on an adult and young adult level, so children are encouraged not to attend and babies also will not be allowed as they may create a disturbance at a critical point in the program.

Bland noted Lythgoe has had 23 years experience in the science of hypnosis.

Despite this seeming strength, the talk of a challenge from the GOP conservatives has not yet diminished, although the failure of the GOP to pick up more seats in the mid-term elections would seem to make the task harder.

There has been no talk about challenging assistant GOP Leader Robert P. Griffin of Michigan; Sen. Gordon L. Allott of Colorado, chairman of the Policy Committee; or Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, chairman of the conference.

Disaster film said timely

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Cornell Wilde has produced a timely film based on ecological disaster and over-population which he fears may someday become a documentary.

The picture, "No Blade of Grass," is taken from John Christopher's novel. It is a highly dramatic, fictional story — and frightening.

"We demonstrated what the final stages of pollution and over-population could be," Wilde said. "Certainly we've dramatized the situation but the events are not impossible."

Wilde doesn't appear in the film but his wife, Jean Wallace, co-stars in a cast composed of unknowns to lend verisimilitude to the starkness of the screenplay.

"The picture sums it all up and says something must be done about our environment because four years from now may be too late," said Wilde who admits he is not an authority on environmental issues.

Wilde began pre-production on the film more than a year ago. His timing was perfect.

"This is something I've wanted to do," he said. "On an entertainment level it is a thriller. On another level it is a shattering warning to people and their complacency."

"The curious thing is that so many events have taken place in the news that we have already included in the picture. The cholera outbreak in Turkey, the Hawaiian koa trees dying off, the corn blight in the Middle West.

"We have motorcycle gang attacking people fleeing the city. While I was editing the film such a gang invaded an English seaside resort and vandalized 500 cars in one night."

"The summer the whole Eastern Seaboard of the United States from Florida to Maine was struck with the worst kind of Los Angeles-type smog."

"It's not a local joke anymore."

RICK L. ALLEN

TWIN FALLS — Rick L. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen, Twin Falls, has joined the First Federal Savings and Loan Association staff, according to James Sinclair, president.

Allen attended Twin Falls schools and graduated from the Twin Falls High School in 1963. He then attended the University of Idaho, receiving a B. S. degree in business administration in 1967.

For the past three years he has been employed by the Del Monte Corp. and worked in San Francisco, Sacramento and Bakersfield, Calif.

He and his wife, Barbara, have one son and reside at 122 Fillmore St.

Historian looks for Canadians

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI) — An historian editing an 18th century journal of an early Virginia explorer is looking for two women living in Canada believed to have the original manuscript, it was learned Friday.

Dr. Edward P. Alexander, vice president of the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation, said he has been working from an 1840 copy in editing the journal John Fontaine kept from 1710 to 1719. Fontaine spent four years, beginning in 1715, in Virginia and made several exploratory trips within the colony, one to the Blue Ridge Mountains with Gov. Alexander Spotswood. His journal contains the only firsthand account of the expedition with Spotswood, Alexander said.

Alexander said the original journal apparently was bequeathed in 1915 by George Patrick of London to his nephew, Douglas Patrick.

Provocative musical slated by LDS Stakes

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls residents are invited to attend a charming and provocative new musical, "Rx — Take Thou the Following," to be presented by both the Twin Falls LDS Stake and the Twin Falls LDS West Stake.

Although the productions are the same and they will be presented the same nights, each stake has its own cast and will present its own program in conjunction with the parent-youth program.

Performances are set for 8 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday. The show has many changes of scenery and centers around a small town drug store. The program portrays the way in which the town pharmacist fills his prescriptions. The casts consist of 30 participants, with a large production staff, each.

Rx is the ancient Latin designation for medical prescriptions. Its symbolical meaning is "Take Thou the Following."

All parents, youth and their guests are invited and there is no admission charge.

According to church officials, "The world today is beset with many maladies — lack of faith, hypocrisy, negative peer-group pressure, unrealistic striving for perfection on temporal avenues, seeking money or status rather than fulfilling satisfactory ideas and goals. These illnesses often have serious consequences, such as depression, drug abuse, riots, suicides, sex problems — and even wars." Keeping this in mind, the feel the forthcoming productions are very timely.

Close teen-age groomability gap

Woman to Woman
By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI) — Neat is an acceptable four-letter word. How teen-agers can achieve neatness is the subject of a guide designed to "close the groomability gap."

One neatness test advised for the adolescents involves standing in front of a full-length mirror and honestly taking a look.

If a guy sees scraggly hair and scrawny beard, rundown boots, jeans with holes and a buttonless button-down shirt, he's not neat.

The same for a gal who sees in the mirror a run in panty hose, a spot on blouse, uncombed hair and broken finger nails.

Such a sloppy look, you see, turns off more people than it turns on and makes all who look that way less effective as a person and a doer.

For boys, closing the groomability gap simply means combing hair, shaving, wearing clean pants. For girls, neat hair, clean nails and clean clothes that don't look as though they've been slept in will win a place on the neat side.

Among other things the booklet, from the maker of Grooming Products (Gillette), reminds teen-agers that they have more than 2.3 million sweat glands. They're especially active during adolescence.

With that thought in mind, teen-agers are advised to consider what a daily shower or bath can do to help them reach the neat mark in life.

Clothing clues include the following:

—Shoes. A gal's best friends are shoe polish and shoe repairmen. In these days of funny heels, the shoe repairman can be a very good friend and grooming asset.

—Safety pins. Never on hems, which should be sewn. Never on lingerie straps, never to hold rips together.

—Holes. These absolutely love knit sweaters, socks, and anything else a nail finds or an ash burns. Repair with needle and thread before little holes become big holes. Or iron on a patch.

For the boys, among "things your father never taught you" there is this:

"To keep portable necessities like instant spot removers, shoe shine cloths, fold-up plastic raincoats and a clothes brush within easy grabbing distance."

For the gals, among "things your mother never taught you," there are these tips:

"About colorless nail polish. If you have a teensy, weensy run starting someplace invisible in your new nylons, dab a spot of nail polish on it and it won't continue to run.

"About paper packets. They contain such marvelous things as scented, throw-away face cloths, handcream, perfume, plastic rain scarves, you name it. Keep them handy in purse and locker."

Nashville sound welcome

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER
NEW YORK (UPI) — The

Nashville sound is welcome music at home and in faraway places because it doesn't take itself too seriously.

Whether it is Chet Atkins plunking or Eddy Arnold singing, the sound has a universal appeal. There are no hidden messages to the wise or subtleties for the curious in a mixed-up society.

Yet Nashville music, while steeped in tradition, keeps itself open to new ideas in sound.

So Kossi Gardner finds himself at home in Nashville with an instrument that is not as close to The Sound as a guitar or a fiddle—the electronic organ.

In an excellent album, "Organ-Nashville Style" (RCA Victor LSP-4419), Gardner creates an atmosphere of good humor that is the heart and soul of country music.

Gardner opens with a light-fingered arrangement of "Big Daddy" which sets the mood for the following numbers.

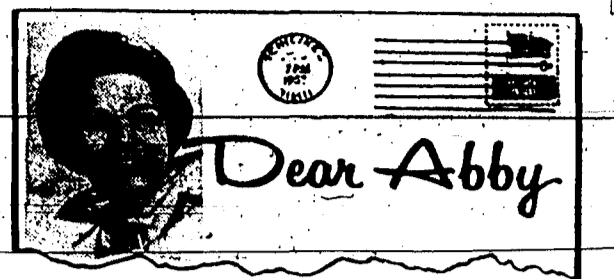

There are only a few country standards in his election, the most familiar being "Wabash Cannonball." Among the other numbers are "Fancy," "Sweet Georgia Brown" and "Am I Blue." He adds a personal touch with one of his own compositions, "Funny Bone."

"Organ-Nashville Style" is a rewarding experiment which should give Kossi Gardner the status in country music that Jimmy Smith enjoys in jazz.

And it adds a new depth to the Nashville Sound.

Selected Single — "Wild World" by Jimmy Cliff (A&M 1201), "Before the Snow Flies" by Linda Gail Lewis (Mercury 73113), "Rainy Night in Georgia" by Tennessee Ernie Ford (Capitol P-2918), "Loving You Is a Natural Thing" by Ronnie Milsap (Chips 2889), "Our World" by Blue Mink (Phillips 40686).

Tape Deck—Open-reel: "Perry Como in Person at the International Hotel, Las Vegas" (RCA Victor TP3-1061) is, as expected, an easy-going session of low-key tunes. Como starts his live performance with a toned-down version of a sizzling Cole Porter song, "I've Got You Under My Skin," and from then on it's all down hill in pleasant drifting. Eight-track cartridge: "Fados of Portugal" (Monitor MB1406), an Ampex tape release, was recorded in Lisbon, more than likely on the eve of a bullfight. Like all fado songs, this collection is expressive and haunting.

DEAR ABBY: I am in desperate need of some good advice, sound explanations, and if possible, some encouragement.

My husband, age 50 and I, 49, have been married for 26 years. It's been an ideal marriage in all respects. We have been lovers and best friends and have raised a fine family. He has a top job with his company. Everything has been beautiful.

About a year and a half ago he became involved [he says not seriously] with his secretary who is married. He seemed surprised that I was hurt. He said he couldn't possibly "love" anyone of her type, that he was just having "fun." It is over now because he became worried about jeopardizing his career.

I have tried to get over it, but I can't, because of his attitude which I cannot understand. He seems extremely preoccupied. He seldom laughs or smiles. He acts indifferently toward me—he says he "loves" me. Can you offer any advice or hope? NO NAME, PLS.

DEAR NO NAME: If he says he loves you, believe him. He is probably sulking for a number of reasons: He could be a little depressed at having to give up his "toy." [The other woman.]

He may be worried that someone in his company might have caught on which means he wasn't as discreet as he should have been. And he probably feels guilty for having hurt you. Now, tell him you love him, too, and he'd better snap out of it.

DEAR ABBY: I can't keep quiet any longer about my problem: I would like you to tell me, Dear Abby, what is the correct amount for a tip?

I am a waitress in Dover, Del. It's not the most exclusive restaurant in Dover, but it is a nice place. I make only 75 cents an hour plus tips, so you can see, I need the tips.

Some people are so cheap about tipping, you wouldn't believe it. I think if people can afford to go out to eat, they can afford to leave a decent tip. What do you consider a decent tip, Abby? WAITRESS

DEAR WAITRESS: The customary average tip is between 15 and 20 per cent of the bill. But I happen to feel that if the service is better than average, the waitress should be rewarded with a better-than-average tip. And for service below average—same deal.

DEAR ABBY: An item in your column caught my eye. It was from a woman who said she was Italian and her husband was Irish so "naturally" they fought a lot. After one of their fights she packed up and went to her mother's, and her crazy Irish husband put an ad in the local paper saying,

"MARIE, PLEASE COME HOME. THE DOG MISSES YOU!" You said you thought it was hilarious. Well, so did I, but that's not why I'm writing.

I happen to be an Irish woman who is married to a humorless Italian man. Every time we have a fight, he packs up and runs to his older sister's. I would like to have an Irish husband with a sense of humor who can enjoy a good old-fashioned Irish fight without pouting for a week.

So, tell Marie I will trade her, sight unseen, my spaghetti and meat balls for her ham and cabbage. "IRISH"

DEAR ABBY: My heart goes out to that widower who feels trapped by a conniving widow.

I, too, am in my sixties and since losing my husband several years ago, I have met more and more widows, and I can tell you, I have grown more and more disgusted with them each year.

Abby, they can't wait to read the obituaries every day to see whose wife has died so they can get a head start on going after the husband. DISGUSTED IN SAN ANGELO

Pact nets drop

NEW YORK (UPI) — Settlement of the General Motors strike and the long-awaited reduction in key lending rates finally came through this week, but you wouldn't have known it on Wall Street.

The news came as no surprise to investors because they had been expecting it for several weeks. In fact, the market, higher during the first three sessions, backed down sharply once the news appeared.

The assumption drawn by stock market analysts was "investors were disappointed over the size of the interest rate reductions and concerned over the possible inflationary effects of the GM settlement."

For the week, the NYSE Common Stock Index showed a loss of 0.47 at 45.38; Standard & Poor's 500 Stock Index dropped 0.85 to 83.37; and the Dow Jones Industrial Average, measuring 30 blue chips, fell 12.18 to 759.79. Of the 1,785 issues crossing the tape, declines topped advances, 932 to 674.

Turnover for the five days aggregated 60,874,060 shares, up from 54,196,030 shares traded a week earlier, and also above the 57,733,070 shares traded during the year ago period.

Monte Gordon, analyst for Bache & Co., said the three events — the GM agreement, a one-quarter point drop to 5 3/4 per cent in the Federal Reserve discount rate, and a similar reduction in the prime interest rate to 7 1/4 per cent by many commercial banks — all have disappointing characteristics.

He noted that the GM settlement carries with it major inflationary implications which are likely to affect settlements in other industries, including aluminum, steel and can manufacturing.

As for the interest rate cuts, Gordon noted that many traders had hoped for one-half point reductions, not one-quarter.

Lucien Hooper of W.E. Hut-ton & Co. said the market had discounted the lower interest rates. He said the reductions "did not mark a new step toward easier money, but merely reflected what has been happening all along."

When the Federal Reserve trimmed the discount rate government sources said "the move was in recognition of reductions that have taken place recently in other short term interest rates, and is designed to bring the discount rate into better alignment with short term rates generally."

Many analysts, however, believed that Wall Street's pessimism may be short-lived.

Newton Zinder said he didn't look for the market to give much ground over the near term. He noted that the lower interest rates and GM settlement could result in sharply improved business conditions.

"Usually when money turns easier it means there are better things to come, including economic recovery," Alan R. Shaw of Harris, Upham & Co. observed.

Fred Anschell of Shearson, Hammill & Co. said the market appeared to be consolidating after its recent climb, but he didn't think the decline would go much further.

Anschell said the lower interest rates and GM settlement should help lead to economic recovery next year. As for inflation, Anschell added "We will just have to learn to live with it."

Treasury Secretary David Kennedy said he was glad to see the GM dispute settled, but he felt the settlement was inflationary.

The tentative GM agreement recommended for ratification by union locals includes an average 51-cent-an-hour, first-year wage increase, removal of the ceiling on the cost-of-living allowance, and a compromise on the union's "30-and-out" early retirement demand.

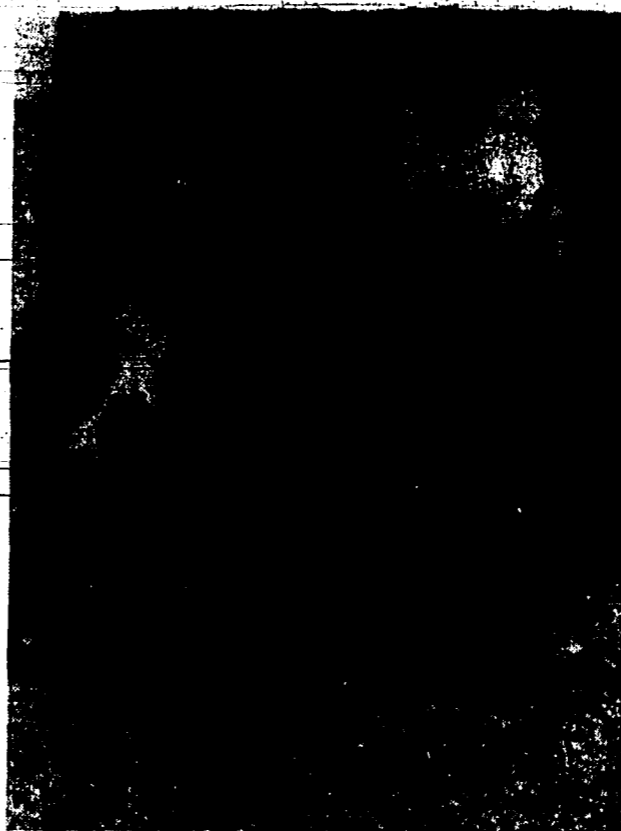

Electronics were among the biggest losers, with declines ranging to more than 7 points. Motors, airlines and aircrafts also showed marked weakness, while oils swung widely in both directions.

Steels, chemicals and rails traded in narrowly irregular fashion.

U.F. effort set

TWIN FALLS — United Fund workers are being asked to make a final "re-entry day" effort Tuesday to bring the campaign down to earth and close the 1970 "flight."

and individuals who have not been called upon will be offered volunteers on a personal choice basis Tuesday beginning at 9 a.m. at the Boy Scout Service Center office.

needed to divide up the cards, Ken Newman, campaign chairman, said. Each will be asked to make the calls and return the cards and collections during the day.

be served throughout the day and although cards are available at 9 a.m. they can be picked up at any time during the day at the convenience of the volunteer.

Newman said the collections and pledges are now at about the same level as the final achievement for last year.

"We hope to increase this by about 10 per cent," he said, "or collect around $8,000 Tuesday."

The chairman said persons on the card list to be given out Tuesday, are good potential United Fund supporters but have not been visited by volunteers, either because they were out of town when the drive worker made an initial attempt or for some other reason. The workers will be given a chance to go through the cards and select the ones they feel can be easily contacted and collected, Darl Gleed, executive director, Boy Scouts, said, adding those calling at the office early will have the first choice.

Twenty turkeys will be given to volunteers who bring in the top contributions during the day, he said.

Newman said the total goal of $95,000 is now well sight and he is confident with a good return Tuesday the remainder will come in during the remainder of the year.

Yule trees go to war

TWIN FALLS — "Operation Christmas" is in progress with a unique gift to be taken to U.S. armed forces in South Vietnam — Christmas trees.

Five Fullerton, Calif., Junior College and California State University students will select 300 trees at Libby, Mont., load them in a rented van and truck them to Seattle. There the trees will be loaded aboard a ship for transport to Saigon, where the 145th Army Helicopter Battalion of Bien Hoa will provide the final delivery, complete with decorations.

Each of the five students has served at least a year in Vietnam, and know first-hand what Christmas means without a tree — especially in the steaming jungles.

The students said that their effort is also designed to provide proof that "most students support President Nixon and his effort to bring the troops home, and to settle the Vietnam War."

The students will travel through Twin Falls en route to the tree farm in Montana, and will return the same way. The students have been granted a week's leave from their college classes for the project.

Youths damage church

SALMON, Idaho (UPI) — Two Salmon youths have been committed to the St. Anthony Youth Training Center and their sentences have been suspended for 60 days in connection with damage to a Catholic Church.

Judge Irvin Robertson placed the two under the custody of their parents and probation officer Willford Keele.

Damage at the church included burning candles, a hole burned in the carpet, back of a pew scorched, wax on the walls, faces of two statues blackened from burning wax and human excrement on the floor and smeared on the walls.

Blanda rallies Oakland by Denver Broncos 24-19

DENVER (UPI)—Oakland's miracle worker, 49-year-old George Blanda, did it again Sunday—he threw a 20-yard touchdown pass to Fred Biletnikoff with 2:28 left to give the Raiders a 24-19 win over the Denver Broncos.

The win kept Oakland in the Western Division lead in the American Football Conference with a 5-2-2 mark. It dropped Denver to 4-5.

Blanda, in his 21st year of professional ball, directed the Raiders to a touchdown and a field goal last week to beat Cleveland and kicked a field goal in the waning seconds of the week before for a tie against Kansas City.

Here replaced Daryle Lamonica according to coach John Madden's script—after Denver quarterback Pete Liske had dived across the goal line to put Denver in the lead for the first time, 19-17 with 4:01 left.

Liske also passed 10 yards to Jim Whalen for a touchdown and Bobby Howfield kicked field goals of 47 and 44 yards for Denver.

Lamonica, shaking off the sore shoulder which made him a questionable starter all week, threw 36 yards to Warren Wells for a touchdown and tossed a short, looping screen pass to Hewitt-Dixon—which turned into a 46-yard score.

Blanda added the other three points on a 32-yard field goal. Blanda entered the game with 3:54 left and passed to Rod Sherman for 27 yards and then hit Wells for 35 before completing the touchdown throw to Bilitnikoff.

Fullback Ken Willard, seeing spot duty because of a knee injury, ran three yards for San Francisco's other touchdown.

Bruce Gossett converted four times and safety Al Randolph blocked an Oiler punt out of the end zone for a safety in the third quarter.

Fullback Roy Hopkins scored both Oiler touchdowns on runs of one and four yards. Roy Gerela kicked two 26-yard field goals and two extra points.

The victory was the 49ers' fourth straight, their longest string since 1965.

Baltimore marched 80 yards again at the outset of the second half, with Eddie-Hinton's 16-yard end-around for a touchdown tying the score at 14-14.

Buffalo moved to a touchdown after taking the opening kickoff. Wayne Patrick and Greg Jones carried on 11 consecutive plays before Dennis Shaw passed four yards to Haven Moses for a 7-0 lead.

The Bills boosted their lead to 14-0 in the second quarter when Shaw and Patrick each had 20-yard runs before Shaw passed

Brodie, 49ers coast

HOUSTON (UPI)—John Brodie, once offered $1 million by the Houston Oilers, showed why Sunday by throwing three touchdown passes to lead the San Francisco 49ers to a 30-20 victory over the sagging Houston Oilers, winless in their last six games.

First downs 16, Rushing yardage 258, Passing yardage 216, Return yardage 55, Punt yardage 35, Fumbles lost 2, Yards penalized 38

Brodie, the best passer in pro football this year, threw 54 yards to running back Jimmy Thomas in the first quarter, nine yards to split end Dick Witcher in the third period to put the 49ers ahead and 15 yards to flanker Gene Washington for an insurance touchdown in the last quarter.

Fullback Ken Willard, seeing spot duty because of a knee injury, ran three yards for San Francisco's other touchdown.

Bruce Gossett converted four times and safety Al Randolph blocked an Oiler punt out of the end zone for a safety in the third quarter.

Bills stun Colts with 17-17 tie

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Grant Guthrie kicked a 36-yard field goal with 1:09 left in the game Sunday to give the Buffalo Bills a 17-17 tie with Baltimore, and snap a six-game Colts winning streak.

With just more than five minutes left, Buffalo quarterback Dennis Shaw took the Bills 52 yards to the Baltimore 36, where Guthrie kicked against a 20-mile-an-hour wind and lifted the ball over the crossbar.

Earlier in the fourth period, Baltimore kicked Jim O'Brien booted a 17-yard field goal to put the Colts in front, 17-14.

The Colts had rallied from a 14-0 deficit to take the lead on O'Brien's field goal with 12:31 left in the game.

John Unitas engineered an 80-yard march late in the second quarter, passing 25 yards to tight end John Mackey to cut the lead to 14-7.

Baltimore marched 80 yards again at the outset of the second half, with Eddie-Hinton's 16-yard end-around for a touchdown tying the score at 14-14.

The Bills boosted their lead to 14-0 in the second quarter when Shaw and Patrick each had 20-yard runs before Shaw passed 21 yards to Marlin Briscoe for the score.

Norm Bulaich Baltimore's rookie running back came back from a lethargic first half when he ran for only 10 yards and sparked the Colt second-half drive, carrying Baltimore to the Buffalo 17 where O'Brien kicked the winning score.

Unitas passed for 221 yards while Shaw was held to 94 yards and was intercepted twice.

Preece salvages tie for Eagles

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Rookie Steve Preece, an unhappy contributor to an Atlanta first period touchdown, grabbed a fumble midway through the fourth period Sunday and ran it 21 yards to a touchdown to salvage a 13-13 tie.

All P. J. First Downs 15, Rushing yardage 114, Passing yardage 124, Return yardage 126, Punt yardage 10, Fumbles lost 2, Yards penalized 133

Pettigrew hammered through to smother the Falcons' Harmon Wages on a handoff from Bob Berry. The ball rolled free and Preece gathered it in and ran untouched to the end zone.

Then the Eagles lost a chance to win when rookie Mark Moseley's field goal attempt from the 27 was low and wide.

The Preece scoring play was retribution for the rookie defender's first quarter lapses when the Falcons drove 77 yards for a touchdown, with penalties against the Eagles contributing 60 yards.

The Falcons' drive opened with a 17-yard pass from Berry to Jim Mitchell and then a 15-yard personal foul penalty when Berry lost 11 attempting to pass made it first down on the Eagles' 41.

Berry lofted a long pass to Mitchell in the end zone and Preece was charged with interference on the one. Two plays later, Berry went to the air and his pass tipped off Preece's hand to Mitchell for the score and a 7-3 Falcons' lead.

In between, it was a battle of field goals between Moseley and the Falcons' Kenny Vinyard.

Moseley put the Eagles in front with a 41-yard kick in the opening quarter and, after Atlanta took the 7-3 lead, the Eagle rookie booted a 17-yarder to cut the score to 7-6.

Vinyard's 15-yarder in the second quarter gave Atlanta a 10-6 halftime lead and his second field goal in the third quarter put the Falcons ahead 13-6.

Dawson, a first-round draft choice of Pittsburgh in 1956 who never made it with the Steelers, had a field day picking apart their secondary. He completed 19 of 24 for 257 yards and only mistakes kept Kansas City from making the score more decisive.

The Chiefs missed two touchdowns when Ed Podolak fumbled at the Pittsburgh one-yard line and Dawson threw an end zone interception. Jan Stenerud, the top scorer in the American Football Conference, missed two field goal attempts.

Dawson threw touchdown passes of 20 and eight yards to Billy Cannon in the second and third quarters and hit Otis Taylor with a 42-yarder early in the final quarter.

Kansas City penetrated beyond the Pittsburgh 40-yard line seven of the first eight times it had the ball.

The Steelers never got much of an offense going under either Terry Hanratty or Terry Bradshaw. Hanratty, who started, completed only three of 12 passes for 35 yards and was intercepted twice.

Pittsburgh's touchdowns came on a two-yard run by John Fuqua following an 80-yard drive in the third quarter and an eight-yard pass from Bradshaw to Jon Staggers.

Dawson, returning for the first time in a decade to the city where he started his pro career, threw three touchdown passes Sunday to carry the Kansas City Chiefs to an easy 31-14 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Woodall leads Jets past inept Los Angeles 31-20

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Quarterback Al Woodall, looked on as only a stand-in for injured Joe Namath, came into his own Sunday, throwing three touchdown passes to spark the New York Jets to a stunning 31-20 upset over the Los Angeles Rams.

First Downs	13	18
Rushing Yardage	153	103
Passing Yardage	143	123
Return Yardage	143	103
Punt Yardage	143	103
Fumbles Lost	1	1
Yards Penalized	44	35

Before a sellout crowd of 76,378 at the Coliseum, the Jets' defense time and time again frustrated Rams' quarterback Roman Gabriel and intercepted three of his passes.

It was only the second win of the season for the Jets. Their previous victim was Boston in the second game of the season, Sept. 27, and their record now is 2-7.

The Rams, favored by 17 points, showed a remarkable lack of punch. Their touchdowns came on a 10-yard pass from Gabriel to Jack Snow with 13 seconds gone in the second quarter and, with less than two minutes to play in the game, when Gabriel hit Tommy Mason on a 28-yard scoring pass.

Woodall, a second-year man from Duke who was coached on the sidelines by Namath, connected with Richard Caster on a 29-yard touchdown pass at 3:07 in the second quarter and Jim Turner converted to tie it at 7-7.

En route to the touchdown, Woodall hit Don Maynard with a 45-yard pass. At 6:44 in the second period, George Nock scored for the Jets on a three-yard run.

Starr, Paackers nip Bears 20-19

GREEN BAY (UPI)—Sore-armed Bart Starr passed Green Bay to an early 10-0 lead and then rolled out on a three-yard run with just three seconds to play to pull the Packers from behind Sunday to a 20-19 victory over the Chicago Bears.

Starr, Paackers nip Bears 20-19

GREEN BAY (UPI)—Sore-armed Bart Starr passed Green Bay to an early 10-0 lead and then rolled out on a three-yard run with just three seconds to play to pull the Packers from behind Sunday to a 20-19 victory over the Chicago Bears.

Starr, who hadn't been expected to start and hadn't seen extensive action for three weeks, went all the way, completing 23 of 35 passes for 203 yards. It was his passes that set up all three Green Bay scores and he took them 80 yards in the last 1:20 for the winning score.

The Dolphins got their faltering offense rolling in the third period when quarterback Bob Griese threw a 42-yard pass to Paul Warfield to set up Knick's one-yard scoring run with 8:08 left in the third period. This was Miami's first Griese-led scoring drive in 14 quarters.

Knick, playing with a sore back, set up Csonka's fourth period touchdown with a dazzling 56-yard run from Miami's 38 to the Saints' six yard line. Csonka bulled his way over from six yards out on the next play with 10:40 remaining in the game.

The Saints scored on a 10-yard run by Tom Barrington with 9:27 left in the first period. And again in the first period on a 10-yard field goal by Tom Dempsey.

Clem Haskins' basket with six seconds left clinched a 100-104 win for the Phoenix Suns over Detroit Sunday night as the Pistons took their fifth straight loss.

Phoenix, after leading 56-47 at halftime, picked up four teal fouls in the opening three minutes of the third quarter which, with a 28 per cent shooting effort from the field for the Suns, let Detroit come back and lead by as many as seven points.

The Pistons shot 56 per cent from the floor during the third quarter and their 34 points included 14 consecutive free throws.

Nebraska OKs bid

MIAMI (UPI)—Fourth-ranked Nebraska has unanimously voted to accept a bid to appear in the Orange Bowl football classic New Year's night, the Orange Bowl committee announced Sunday night.

Jack Houghtaling, publicity director of the annual Orange Bowl Festival, said Athletic Director Jim Llewellyn had notified the committee by wire of the player vote.

The invitation was extended Saturday night after Nebraska routed Kansas State 51-13 to clinch at least a share of the Big Eight Conference title.

Dolphins cut skid, win 21-10

MIAMI (UPI)—The Miami Dolphins overcame a fumble-plagued first half Sunday and broke a three-game losing streak by whipping the New Orleans Saints 21-10 on touchdown runs of one and six yards by Jim Knick and Larry Csonka.

Carter passed 13 yards to Jess Phillips for one touchdown and engineered an 85-yard drive in the third quarter for the winning score before a record Cincinnati crowd of 60,007. Halfback Paul Robinson slashed over from the one yard line for the decisive touchdown.

The victory kept alive Cincinnati's hopes of winning the Central Division championship in the American Football Conference despite their National Football League record of 3-6.

It also gained coach Paul Brown, the founding father of the Browns, a split in the new rivalry for the "supremacy of Ohio."

Cleveland, which took a 10-0 lead in the second quarter, threatened late in the game when the Browns reached the Bengal 30 yard line. But with 4:11 remaining, Bengal safety man Alvin Coleman batted down a Phipps pass intended for Milt Morin on a fourth down play to blunt the Cleveland drive.

Cleveland went 77 yards after the opening kickoff to score a touchdown on an eight-yard sweep around left end by Leroy Kelly.

Cal Seals stun Bruins 4-2 victory

BOSTON (UPI)—Dennis Hextall assisted on the first goal and fired in the third period tie-breaker Sunday night to give the California Seals a 2-1 win over Boston and drop the Bruins into a first place tie.

Hextall, scoring for the sixth time this season, gave the Seals the win when his 30-foot high angle shot broke off the glove of Bruin goalie Gerry Cheevers at the 4:22 mark of the third period.

Bengals outduel Browns

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Cincinnati's Virgil Carter outdueled Cleveland rookie quarterback Mike Phipps Sunday to guide the Bengals to a 14-10 victory over the Browns and avenge an earlier loss to their Ohio arch rivals.

Carter passed 13 yards to Jess Phillips for one touchdown and engineered an 85-yard drive in the third quarter for the winning score before a record Cincinnati crowd of 60,007.

Chargers rally to top Pats

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—Quarterback John Hadl rallied favored San Diego on a pair of second half touchdown passes Sunday to hand the Boston Patriots their eighth straight loss, 16-14.

Hadl, blanked in the first half as the Patriots took and held a quick 7-0 lead, hit Lance Alworth on a six-yard scoring pass and Gary Garrison on a 60-yard touchdown play for the Chargers' fourth win against three losses and a tie.

The Patriots, two-touchdown underdogs in the game before 30,597, at muddy Harvard Stadium, used Odell Lawson's 81-yard game opening kickoff run-back to set the stage for Jim Nance's two-yard touchdown plunge.

But the chargers fought back to tie on the Hadl-Alworth touchdown play with 5:47 left in the third quarter and went ahead to stay when Joe Owens and Ron Billingsley nailed Patriot quarterback Joe Kapp in the end zone for a two-point safety in the first minute of the fourth quarter.

The Garrison touchdown pass, which came with 6:45 remaining, put the decision away as Hadl was forced to give up on his primary receivers.

Dawson sparks K.C. win

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Lenny Dawson, returning for the first time in a decade to the city where he started his pro career, threw three touchdown passes Sunday to carry the Kansas City Chiefs to an easy 31-14 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

First Downs 21, Rushing yardage 142, Passing yardage 120, Return yardage 19, Punt yardage 34, Fumbles lost 2, Yards penalized 84

Dawson, a first-round draft choice of Pittsburgh in 1956 who never made it with the Steelers, had a field day picking apart their secondary. He completed 19 of 24 for 257 yards and only mistakes kept Kansas City from making the score more decisive.

The Chiefs missed two touchdowns when Ed Podolak fumbled at the Pittsburgh one-yard line and Dawson threw an end zone interception. Jan Stenerud, the top scorer in the American Football Conference, missed two field goal attempts.

Dawson threw touchdown passes of 20 and eight yards to Billy Cannon in the second and third quarters and hit Otis Taylor with a 42-yarder early in the final quarter.

Kansas City penetrated beyond the Pittsburgh 40-yard line seven of the first eight times it had the ball.

The Steelers never got much of an offense going under either Terry Hanratty or Terry Bradshaw. Hanratty, who started, completed only three of 12 passes for 35 yards and was intercepted twice.

Pittsburgh's touchdowns came on a two-yard run by John Fuqua following an 80-yard drive in the third quarter and an eight-yard pass from Bradshaw to Jon Staggers.

Denver nips Utah 110-107

DENVER (UPI)—The Denver Rockets gave new head coach Stan Albeck his first win Sunday with a 110-107 come-from-behind American Basketball Association victory over the Utah Stars.

The Rockets, behind most of the night, took the lead with less than a minute and a half to play to defeat the Stars for the first time since May 1 of last season.

Denver, with only a 29.7 per cent shooting average in the first half, was down 59-43 at the halfway point before Larry Cannon sparked the Rocket rally. Cannon, who led both teams with 29 points, scored 26 of his markers in the final two quarters.

Pittsburgh's touchdowns came on a two-yard run by John Fuqua following an 80-yard drive in the third quarter and an eight-yard pass from Bradshaw to Jon Staggers.

Baxter claims crown

SUNOL, Calif. (UPI)—Rex Baxter, happy as he could be with his job in Cleveland and not the least bit interested in going back on tour, chipped to within a foot of the final hole and then rolled it home for a birdie four Sunday to win the $50,000 PGA Club Professionals Golf Championship by a stroke.

The 34-year-old Baxter, who gave up the tour two years ago after eight futile years of trying to make a living off his game, shot a final round one under 71 and finished with a 72-hole score of three under par 285 to beat Ernie George of Fair Oaks, and Bob Duden of Portland, Ore.

Bill Johnston, the third round leader, skied to a four over 76 to wind up in a tie with Jim O'Hern, Jim Awtrey, Eddie Merrins and Gene Borek at 289. Each in that group won $902.

Baxter did not play as well as he had hoped to in the final round, mostly because he couldn't putt on the grainy greens at Sunol Valley Golf Club's Palm Course.

"Heck, I took birdie five putts in the final round," Baxter said. "You really can't expect to win a tourney with that kind of performance but it was the same for everyone else. No one putted well in this tourney."

Baxter made the turn in two under 34 after taking birds on the third, fourth and sixth holes and a bogey four on the fifth.

Aussies cop World Cup Golf cup

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Balding Roberto de Vincenzo, the man who signed away the Masters, gave young Australians Bruce Devlin and David Graham a lesson in pressure golf before 15,000 cheering Argentines Sunday as he won the silver low-score trophy by one stroke in the 1970 World Cup golf tournament.

But even a final-round 70—269 by "El Maestro" (the master) and a 67-285 by his partner, Vicente Fernandez, could not take the team trophy from Devlin and Graham, faltering in 90-degree heat after three superb rounds. They won the team trophy by 10 strokes after leading by 19 going into Sunday's finale.

The Aussies and the Argentinians played head-to-head in the last four rounds. Graham led de Vincenzo by a stroke going into the last round, which took more than six hours to play with the huge gallery flooding around every hole on the par-72, 6,800-yard Jockey Club Golf Course. But Graham shot 73—270 and Devlin had a 74—275.

Both the 19-year-old total by de Vincenzo and the 31-year-old by the Australians broke World Cup records.

De Vincenzo, a tired but happy 47-year-old sipping a cold soft drink, said "you can imagine how overcome with emotion I am." He finished second one stroke behind Lee Trevino in last year's World Cup in Singapore.

"I never thought an old man like myself could beat these youngsters," said de Vincenzo, known the world over as the man who signed an incorrect winning scorecard in the final round of the 1968 Masters Golf tournament. He then lost to Bob Goalby in a playoff.

De Vincenzo fired rounds of 64-67-68-70 for the tournament while Graham had 65-67-65-73 and Devlin 66-69-66-73. Fernandez finished 70-76-72-67. Devlin is 33, Graham only 24.

De Vincenzo swept ahead of Graham on the par-four 15th hole with a three-foot birdie putt while Graham had a putt. They bogeyed the 17th and parred the 18th while the marshalls struggled in vain with the huge crowd.

Problem-plagued Cowboys face St. Louis tonight

DALLAS (UPI)—The Dallas Cowboys have problems internally on both offense and defense, but Coach Tom Landry is the first to admit that if his club doesn't beat the St. Louis Cardinals in a showdown game tonight those problems may become immaterial.

The two clubs face off at 7:05 p.m. PST in the Cotton Bowl in the National Football League's weekly Monday television extravaganza with St. Louis leading the National Conference East and with the Cowboys a game back in an entirely unfamiliar role.

Landry's ranchhands have been losing fans as well as ball games with their 5-3 won-logs record and only some 55,000 are anticipated to watch Dallas in person challenge for a share of the lead.

"We've got to beat St. Louis," Landry said. "The whole thing is on our backs now. Other problems can come later, but you've got to beat St. Louis to have other problems."

"You've got to control the game on the ground if you're going to score, and we haven't done it offensively or defensively the last couple of weeks," Landry added.

The Cowboys moved the ball well on the ground for the first six weeks with Calvin Hill and rookie Duane Thomas in the key roles, but have floundered hopelessly aground against Philadelphia and New York while picking up points on aerial bombs.

"Craig Morton is throwing deep very well now," Landry admits. "Those bombs are beautiful, but we don't want to have to depend on them."

The Cardinals, on the other hand, have gotten the consistency Landry seeks from the great running of MacArthur Lane and the passing of Jim Hart to the extent that they lead the conference in both total offense and rushing. Lane ranks No. 2 in rushing and scoring.

The Cowboys' plans to halt Lane received a jolt late last week when defensive end Larry Cole broke his arm in practice and Landry has had to rejigger his front line defenses.

Giants overhaul Redskins 35-33

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ron Johnson's nine-yard touchdown sweep around left end with exactly one minute remaining climaxed a story-book 21-point fourth period rally and carried the New York Giants to their sixth straight victory Sunday, 35-33 over the Washington Redskins.

"We've got to beat St. Louis," Landry said. "The whole thing is on our backs now. Other problems can come later, but you've got to beat St. Louis to have other problems."

"You've got to control the game on the ground if you're going to score, and we haven't done it offensively or defensively the last couple of weeks," Landry added.

Bucks cop 105-90 NBA win

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Law Alcindor and Oscar Robertson scored 27 points a piece Sunday night to lead the Milwaukee Bucks to a 105-90 National Basketball Association victory over the Baltimore Bullets.

The Bucks trailed the Bullets 31-22 going into the second quarter, but Milwaukee used the first six minutes of that quarter to outscore Baltimore 20-2 and wound up the first half leading 52-47.

The game saw through the second half, Robertson and Bob Dandridge, who finished with 20 points, found the range and pushed the Bucks ahead to 77-66 going into the fourth quarter.

Ashe drops Riessen for Paris title

PARIS (UPI)—Arthur Ashe of Gun Spring, Va., won the Paris Open Tennis Tournament Sunday, beating fellow American Martin Riessen of Evanston, Ill. 7-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Ashe dominated the 1-1/2 hour final and only once lost his service. With the victory Ashe tied Cliff Richey, also of the United States, in the lead for the International Federation Grand Prix of Tennis. Both have 49 points with Australian Ken Rosewall third with 44.

MV loop accepts NM State

DALLAS (UPI)—New Mexico State University Sunday was admitted to the Missouri Valley Conference after a vote by faculty representatives of the nine member schools.

The vote was taken during a special meeting held expressly to act on New Mexico State's application. New Mexico State, a major independent since 1962 when the Border Conference disbanded, became the tenth member of the MVC and the second addition to the league this year.

West Texas State was added last June. The conference said its current expansion activity will eventually increase membership to 12 schools.

"New Mexico State will begin competing for conference championships in football in 1972 if scheduling permits," a spokesman said, "and will begin competition in basketball as soon as the league's divisional structure can be implemented. This will probably be 1973 or 1974."

"The school will begin competition in all other sports this year, he said. "The Missouri Valley Conference is pleased that New Mexico State has accepted an invitation to become a member. They have a distinguished athletic and academic history and their addition adds strength and prestige to the Missouri Valley Conference," said Dr. W. A. Miller, league president.

In Las Cruces, N. M., Dr. Gerald Thomas, New Mexico State president, said, "Being accepted for membership in the Missouri Valley Conference is an important achievement in the history of New Mexico State University. We are prepared to assist the conference in its growth for the future."

Nets win by 144-129

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (UPI)—Eddie Johnson and Sonny Dove scored 47 points between them to lead the New York Nets to a 144-129 American Basketball Association victory over the Texas Chaps Sunday night. "The Nets' total set a club record, the previous high being 143 against Pittsburgh last Jan. 10."

Frazier tabbed 5-1 pick

DETROIT (UPI)—Joe Frazier dodged through traces of early morning snow Sunday and occasionally stopped to throw a flurry of punches.

"When I'm running out there at 5 a.m., it gives a man a chance to think," he said. "I see a post up ahead of me, and I say, 'there he is. Bob Foster. Gotta get him.' I run to that post and throw a few punches, but then Foster's gone to the next post and I have to run again."

Frazier is a 5-1 favorite to shake off the challenge of Foster next Wednesday night. Others talk about a meeting with Frazier and Cassius Clay next February, but Frazier's intensity belies any notions that he considers Foster a mere tuneup.

"It doesn't bother me when people talk about Clay and say he's the champion instead of me," the 26-year-old Philadelphia said, "But it bothers me when reporters come up and ask me questions about fighting him when I'm going to fight Foster. I have to win that one first. You can't skip over this guy. I'm not playing Bob cheap. I'm getting so ready for him I've been down to fighting weight about a week."

"When I'm lying in bed in the dark," he continued, "I'm seeing the fight on Wednesday night. The same thing when I'm shadow boxing. Every punch is ripping in at Bob. Who knows, February might never come."

Clay arrives for training

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Cassius Clay arrived here Sunday to begin training for his Dec. 6 heavyweight bout with Argentina's Oscar "Ringo" Bonavena in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Manager Angelo Dundee said Clay began training immediately and would continue working out in Miami Beach until about the end of the month. "He's a little over his fighting weight right now, but that's good," Dundee said. "It gives him something to work off. We're going to get him some real rough sparring partners and he's going to be in better shape for Bonavena than he was for Quarry."

Yarborough takes race

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (UPI)—Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., captured the American 500 stock car race at the North Carolina Motor Speedway Sunday with a record speed of 117.81 miles per hour. For Mercury driving Yarborough it was his third win of the season on the Grand National Circuit and the $20,445 first prize money made him the fifth driver to pass the $100,000 mark this year.

Deplored 'head taxes' paid on all flights out of U.S.

By MURRAY J. BROWN
UPI-Travel Editor

For years the United States was in the forefront of the fight against the imposition by foreign governments of "head taxes" on the international traveler.

Such special assessments, American delegates to numerous international and other conventions on travel maintained, were deterrents to world tourism.

But, since July 1, whether flying by U.S. or foreign airlines, all passengers have been paying a $3 tax on overseas flights originating in the United States. And they still are paying the "airport departure" taxes assessed by many other countries on international air travelers departing from their territory.

The same bill signed into law by President Nixon earlier this year also increased the tax on U.S. domestic flights from 5 per cent to 8 per cent. New taxes also were imposed on general aviation fuel air-freight and planes.

The law is designed to provide funds for the $16 million 10-year administration-sponsored airport and airways development program. It stipulates the money will be kept in a separate fund and go to improve air navigation facilities and build, expand or modernize thousands of big and small airports throughout the United States.

Stuart G. Tipton, president of the Air Transport Assn. (ATA), which includes all major U.S. domestic airline companies, said that while "no one likes to pay taxes... these taxes will return many times their cost to airline passengers."

But other industry circles, and some congressmen, were critical—particularly of the provision which prohibited airlines and travel agencies from telling, showing or advertising the fare and the domestic tax separately. Only the total figure may be quoted. Violators of this rule can be punished by fines of up to $100 for each infraction. House opponents succeeded in attaching a rider bill, eliminating the hidden tax clause, to a new government-sponsored measure to raise funds for anti-hijack armed guards aboard U.S. passenger planes. This legislation will increase the domestic tax to 8½ per cent, and the international tax to $5. American planning trips overseas should check with the airlines or travel agents or they could end up paying both the domestic and the international tax.

For instance, a traveler flying from an inland point such as Chicago to New York or other gateway cities and then departing within six hours will pay only the international tax. If he stops longer, however, he will have to pay both the domestic tax on travel between Chicago and the gateway cities plus the international tax.

MOURNERS STAND and pray around the bier of King Peter II of Yugoslavia at the St. Sava Serbian Orthodox Monastery at Libertyville. ## Mind your money

By PETER WEAVER

Right on cue, TV commercials are once again exhorting youngsters to wangle parents into buying this year's crop of super toys for Christmas.

Resist it. Try investing in some "non-toys." These intriguing implements and gadgets can be found in hardware, military surplus and office supply stores. Unlike the contrived TV toy, most non-toys cost far less and will last for years instead of two weeks.

"Experiment with some selected adult tools," says Dr. Ira Gordon, director of the Institute for Development of Human Resources, University of Florida. He explains that "children love adult implements—they carry prestige and they can handle them with much more ease than parents realize."

Dr. Gordon thinks one of the best toys ever devised for a boy is a "basic set of tools and a great big bag of odd pieces of scrap wood you can get at lumber stores."

For the young child (4 through 8), the basic set could include a small forged-steel-head hammer ($1.10), and heavy-duty coping saw ($1.39), a 2-inch C-clamp (49 cents) and an assortment of nails in a compartmentalized plastic box. These prices I found in my neighborhood but this whole set shouldn't cost more than $4.25 in most stores around the country.

For an older boy (9 through 11), try browsing through hardware stores with him to see if he goes for building materials. If he does, a basic set might include a bigger hammer ($2.95), a saw with interchangeable blades ($4.15), pliers (59 cents), regular and Phillips-head screwdrivers (89 cents each) and a drill set ($7.49 with 8 drill bits in handle compartment). You can buy any combination of these or get the whole set for around $16.

Don't get the cheapest tools for children. Some Japanese-made hammers, for example, sell for as little as 78 cents but the head is made of cast iron and might crack if a child smacks it on a hard surface.

University of Maryland Prof. Margaret Stant, author of "Let's Try It," a book about play-work materials for children, says: "I don't go for these play-kitchen things for girls... I've found that real pans, big spoons and sieves you get in hotel supply houses can be fascinating for children."

She also finds non-toys in hardware stores that men might miss. For example, she says "Acoustical tiles with lines of holes in them (125 cents per square foot) combined with bags of golf tees (costing pennies) make excellent peg boards for forming designs or weaving string."

Prof. Stant's favorite haven for the non-toy is the military surplus store. Try going through one of these with a boy or girl and you'll see what she means. For example, I found a 22 foot by 22 foot heavy-duty army cargo net selling for $9.95. With it, you can make a basement or outdoor "jungle gym" for climbing. Surplus army signal flags sold for 59 cents.

Harold A. Goldstein, president of Young Playways (supplies teachers and day-care centers), says "Some of the best play equipment for children can be found in office supply stores." The most intriguing of all, he maintains, is the stapler.

With a stapler, you can add a paper punch for 29 cents, 100 paper clips for 42 cents, a quarter-pound of rubber bands for 85 cents and five bar-magnets in a plastic box (98 cents) and you have a fine "home office" kit for a young child.

Record Reviews

..... EXCELLENT ..... VERY GOOD
... GOOD ... FAIR ... POOR

Portrait of the Composer: Franz Schubert (Angel SCB 3770)

Franz Schubert died at 31, surely the most neglected and unappreciated composer of the 19th century. It was not until after his death that his music was played and became famous. Only one of his 10 symphonies was ever played during his lifetime, and the rest of his music was equally ignored.

But his music has lived to immortality for its inordinate beauty and lyricism.

Schubert lived in the shadow of Beethoven (Beethoven died in 1827, Schubert in 1828) yet his music possesses that same magnificence and grandeur which marks the music of Beethoven. Had Schubert lived to Beethoven's age (57) one can only imagine the greatness of the music which would have poured forth.

Presented in this three-record set are the eloquently beautiful

"Symphony No. 8" the "Fantasia in C" and "Quintet in A" and Incidental Music for "Rosamunde" and eight songs.

Schubert lived in stark poverty for most of his life, and it has been estimated that during his lifetime, his music earned him less than 575 pounds, a pittance for a man who made such magnificent music.

His "Unfinished symphony" is among the most beautiful orchestral works ever written, his "Trout" quintet is renowned for its joy, and his songs are famous.

This is a joyful album of music from one of the finest of the last romantic composers, a man who during his short lifespan left the world much music to enjoy.

Casals Conducts Four Favorite Symphonies: Pablo Casals Conducting the Marlboro Festival Orchestra (Columbia MGP 32)

This excellent album contains four fine extended orchestral works by four favorite composers: Haydn, Mozart, Mendelssohn and Schubert. Casals touch, despite his advancing years, is as composed as ever. He has lost none of his immense finesse, although he is now almost 94 years old. This album presents Haydn's Symphony No. 94 in G Major ("Surprise"), Mozart's "Symphony No. 4 in A Major" ("Italian") and Schubert's Symphony No. 8 in B Minor ("Unfinished").

These four symphonies, all well known and all long concert favorites, are given spirited presentations by Casals and the Marlboro Festival Orchestra.

The orchestra is composed of professional musicians from throughout the United States who converge yearly to Marlboro, Vermont for workshops and learning. It is an excellent collection of musicians, who despite their relative lack of experience together manage to produce very fine music together.

Blighted corn crop extent smaller

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The size of the blighted corn crop may actually be lower than estimated in the latest government reports and the outlook for feed grain supplies could be even bleaker in 1971 than now projected. The Agriculture Department reported Tuesday that the corn crop would be 4,104 million bushels, down 84 million bushels from the October prediction. But some officials in Washington are saying privately, the prediction should have been lowered by at least another 50 million bushels. This would drop the true figure to 4,054 million bushels. The officials believe there was no malice behind projecting the higher figure, but they do say the reporting could have been better. The practice of rounding off to the highest number alone would have accounted for much of the error. Chicken, turkey and egg prices will be lower this spring partly because of the increased competition from beef and pork dumped on the market to avoid high-feeding costs. Egg prices are expected to be down 2 cents a dozen from the 40 cents received in 1969. Broiler production is expected to rise about 9 per cent and prices may strengthen at the same time, but these positive factors will be offset by competition from abundant red meat supplies.

Gooding group states stands

GOODING — Two resolutions will be offered by the Gooding Soil Conservation District to the Idaho State Soil Conservation Districts convention this week in Boise.

They are: That the Idaho association write letters to Congressmen from Idaho, the secretary of agriculture and the Soil Conservation Service encouraging funding of the resource conservation and development project for the Wood River Resource Area.

That the state of Idaho adopt a land use policy to guide the future development and protection of precious land and water resources.

At the state meeting, which begins Thursday and continues through Saturday at the Rodeway Inn in Boise, Sen. Don Fredericksen, Gooding, will report on the Wood River Resource Area.

Bob Bolte, also of Gooding, will conduct a panel on resource planning.

Hired hands few but pay greater

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Farm labor is becoming increasingly hard to get, but hired hands are doing a greater percentage of farm work than at any time in history.

Even in the Southeast, Southern Plains and lower California, where labor has long been cheap and available, the crunch is being felt.

As the farm industry has become more complex, it has been necessary for workers to have more skills. But the knowledge to run intricate farm machinery can also be applied to machinery used in other industries, which offer higher pay.

The federal minimum hourly wage of $1 for farm hands has forced operators to eliminate inefficient workers, and the South is beginning to feel the effects of industry advancing into that region.

So the pincers' effect of minimum wages cutting of the lower part of the labor force, and industry attracting the top has reduced the pool of usable workers across the nation.

Farm owners are competing more with industry now for better workers, expecting to get increased production from them. This change is reflected in the latest statistical information at the Agriculture Department, which indicates that fewer hands are being hired, but are getting more money.

The average hourly pay has increased from $1.33 in 1969 to $1.46 last month. At the same time, the number of hired hands has dropped 4 per cent.

These changes have meant more efficient operations at farms with annual sales between $20,000 and $40,000. It has also meant many farms with sales as low as $5,000 have hired labor while members of the household take higher paying nonfarm jobs.

The efficiency has increased gross sales, but expenses have risen because of the higher labor costs. Even with the often reduced farm income, most owners of these middle-sized operations are financially ahead because of their outside employment.

The final picture then is reduced income from the farm, but increased income for the family.

This arrangement is apparently working for family-owned middle-sized farms. But there is a real labor squeeze facing the operators of farms with annual sales exceeding $40,000.

These farms have long been mechanized, so that a change from hand labor to machinery is not possible. They also have been the major employers of agricultural labor for years, and employ too many people to underwrite by simply finding nonfarm jobs for the owners.

Farmers have always worried about the quality of the land and the cost of operating capital. There is now a third factor, especially for the minority that produces the bulk of the nation's agricultural products.

Utah group asking fixed club hours

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The Utah Citizens Council on Liquor Control is asking for uniform hours of locker club operations as part of a sweeping list of recommendations submitted to Gov. Calvin L. Ramp-ton.

The recommendation was included in a package of a dozen such proposals submitted by the group composed of seven citizens. The council was created as part of the 1969 state liquor law changes.

Chairman Walter C. Mann of Brigham City said the recommendations must now be put into statute form for consideration by the 1971 Utah Legislature.

The recommendations include — The uniform hours be maximum hours and that in smaller communities, earlier closing times or later closing hours could be observed for locker clubs, liquor outlets and restaurant package agencies.

— The legislature should consider giving tourists privileges in private clubs in line with similar measures in other states.

Seasonal licenses be granted to resorts and similar operations.

The carts-to-the-table operation could be waived if the restaurant operator wanted to maintain his present system.

— Local governing authorities be given guide lines under which to approve or deny applications of licensees.

— Hard liquor advertising in Utah newspaper be placed under the general control of the Liquor Control Commission.
