TEN CENTS

Caged...

AFTER LIVING in almost total confinement in her room for 13 years, Susan Wiley has been admitted to a Los Angeles, Calif., children's hospital. Attendants said the child is deformed, unable to talk, wears diapers, has retarded muscle development, and has the mental capacity of an infant. Her parents, Clark Wiley, 70, and Irene Wiley, 50, were arrested on suspicion of child abuse. (UPI)

Head Start cut studied

TWIN FALLS—The quandary of Head Start in the tri-county area administered by the South Central Community Action Agency came up again Monday at two meetings — one in Twin Falls and one in Hansen.

The Hansen School Board, according to Supt. William Barnard, voted to drop the Head Start program there if a threatened $1,000 fund cut is made.

Head Start has received a seven and one-half per cent fund cut nationwide. As a result, SCAA director Larry Mack says "something is going to have to be cut." He said Tuesday, however, he did not know where the Hansen board had "come up with their figure." He said recommendations on Head Start and Day Care Center funds, which come from the same budget, will be made Thursday night by the Parents Council to the SCCAA board when it meets in Twin Falls.

Ann Kaster, Head Start coordinator for the SCCAA, said the Parents Council met Monday night in Twin Falls, but did not come up with any recommendations, necessitating the additional meeting this week.

She said, however, the group did feel the Hansen-Murtaugh Head Start program should be reviewed and appointed a committee to investigate the program there. She said there is a possibility some children attending Head Start in that area are not financially qualified to participate in the program.

Mrs. Clarence Kiser and Mrs. Lillian Cheney, both Twin Falls, and Mrs. LaVina Anderson, Declo, were named to look into the matter. Mrs. Kaster said since the Hansen school trustees feel the program is serving a need in that area, the council feels "Hansen-Murtaugh should be given a chance on the funding."

Barnard said the Hansen trustees feel the "executive committee of the CAA feels the Day Care Centers in Twin Falls and Cassia Counties are more important than Head Start" and are thus contemplating the additional fund cut. Barnard said funds from the regular school budget are not available to subsidize the Head Start program there.

Officers of the Parents Council named Monday night are James Montgomery, Twin Falls, president; Karen Denney, Murtaugh, vice president, and Mrs. Kiser, secretary.

Russ Lands 'moonwalker'

MOSCOW (UPI)—An eight-wheeled Soviet moonwalker laden with flags, pennants and a portrait of Lenin today became the first manmade object to propel itself across the lunar surface.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the 20-yard journey of "Lunokhod 1" (Moonwalker 1) was accomplished under earth-bound remote control beginning at 9:28 a.m. (1:28 a.m. EST) when the device crawled down a special ramp from its lunar lander. "Flags and pennants with the coat of arms of the Soviet Union and Lenin's bas-relief were put up on the Lunokhod 1 and the landing stage," Tass said.

Besides that, the mooncrawler carried television, radio and French-made laser beam apparatuses to scan the moon's surface and send telemetry data back toward earth.

Dorm fee set

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho Trustees Monday night set room and board costs for the first time — to apply to newly constructed dormitories.

Combined room and board typically would cost $704 per year.

The charge for a double-occupancy room will be $114 per semester or $228 for two semesters and single rooms will cost $144 and $288. Meals can be purchased on one of two plans: A seven-day, 19-meal ticket will cost $238 per semester and $476 for two semesters; and a five-day, 15-meal tickets will run $208 and $416.

Students occupying dormitory rooms will be required to purchase a meal ticket, Dr. Taylor said. This is the only way the college can be guaranteed sufficient income to operate the dining hall and pay the food vendor.

A comparison of costs for a double-occupancy room, seven-day meal ticket for two semesters was presented by Dr. Taylor. CSI's new fee schedule totals $704 for the combination; Lewis and Clark College charges $806; North Idaho Junior College, $870; University of Idaho, $714; Idaho State University, $780, and Boise State College, $840.

The trustees also agreed to sign a contract with Saga Foods of Los Angeles for food service in the new dining hall. A snack bar for "walk ins" of off-campus students will also be operated by Saga, Dr. Taylor said.

The food vendor was selected over two other bidders who also entered bids on the basis of their service to five other area educational institutions.

Council eyes T.F. buildings

TWIN FALLS — Now that the downtown business core has been spruced up, with just a few "sore spots" to be cleaned up, the city council is looking at other buildings in town.

The council asked City Attorney William Langley at Monday night's council meeting to prepare an ordinance establishing rehabilitation standards for run-down and worn-out buildings throughout the city.

The ordinance would serve to modify the present Dangerous Buildings Code which sets strict standards for demolishing or repairing buildings deemed hazardous for occupancy.

The present ordinance is so strict that "at least half the buildings (in the business district) would be in trouble if we applied its standards very strictly," City Manager Jean Milar said today.

Heart fails GI

JEROME — The husband of a Jerome woman died of a heart attack while serving in Vietnam, Defense Department officials report.

Gunnery Sgt. Lynne H. Rutter, 39, was the husband of Mrs. Anna Marie Short Rutter, formerly of Wendell, who lives in Jerome.

The Marine, according to personnel at the Boise Marine Reserve Center, died of a heart attack on Nov. 5, while serving in Quang Nam Province, Vietnam.

Funeral services are being held in West Virginia, Sgt. Rutter's home state, according to reserve-center personnel. Mrs. Rutter's parents live in Wendell.

Arraigned

TAKING A PALM print from accused murderer Danny Howard Williams, 18, Shoshone, right, is Garry Corder, one of a team of Twin Falls detectives assisting Lincoln County authorities in investigation of the killing last week of Mrs. Melba Gray, 33, Shoshone. Williams was charged Monday with first degree murder and was arraigned in probate court.

Suspect charged

SHOSHONE — A Shoshone teen-ager who had been held since last Friday as a suspect in the slaying of a 33-year-old woman was charged Monday with first degree murder and arraigned in Shoshone Probate Court.

Danny Howard Williams, 18, was named in a complaint signed by Thomas (Wid) Conner, Lincoln County Sheriff, just prior to his arraignment at 3:50 p.m. Monday.

He is charged in connection with the death of Mrs. Melba Gray, Shoshone mother of six children, whose nude and mutilated body was found Friday morning on the railroad tracks near Shoshone.

Williams was taken into custody later that day at a bar in Twin Falls.

On agreement between court-appointed defense counsel Phillip Becker, Gooding, and Howard E. Adkins, prosecuting attorney, a preliminary hearing was set by Judge C.M. Wilson for 10 a.m. Dec. 1. Williams was returned to the custody of the sheriff and is in the Lincoln County jail, with no provision for bond.

Shoshone residents are collecting money for Mrs. Gray's six children. Donations can be made through the Shoshone Chamber of Commerce. The Beta Club of Shoshone High School will make a door-to-door fund drive Thursday evening.

Strike settled

BOISE (UPI)—Eugene Roche, commissioner of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said Monday night members of Retail Clerks Union 1614 and area store management had reached a tentative agreement in the grocery store strike.

He said both parties made a joint decision on the tentative settlement. He said a joint statement was to be made today on settlement terms.

College tries 'books'

TWIN FALLS — Trustees of the College of Southern Idaho took the first step toward development of the "library of the future" Monday night by agreeing to try out for one year a unique "microbook" system offered by the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Trustees inspected a sample 708-page textbook on psychiatry which was entirely contained on a small plastic card; each of the 708 pages was reduced photographically to a tiny rectangle which could be enlarged on a microfilm reader for use.

Britannica offers a 20,000 volume library contained on 20,000 sheets of microfilm for $17,500 on a one-payment basis or $19,500 if monthly payments are made.

The library would be largely made up of research materials and textbooks not usually found in a college library, with no more than six per cent duplication with present library listings, Dr. Taylor said. This would amount to about 120 volumes out of the entire 20,000.

Trustees agreed to a one-year trial contract with the stipulation that they would not be obligated "beyond one fiscal year" to continue the payments.

Dollars pledged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Reserve is pouring new money into the nation's economy to combat unemployment and to stimulate business despite concern by some members of its key committee that the policy will lead to more inflation.

The independent Federal Reserve, which sets the nation's basic credit policy and regulates the supply of money, announced Monday its open market committee voted 6 to 3 to promote "greater growth in money over the months ahead."

In another report Monday, the Commerce Department said international pressure on the dollar eased somewhat in the third quarter of this year when the nation's balance of payments deficit declined by $524 million to $897 million.

The action by the Open Market Committee was taken Aug. 18 but kept secret for 90 days as required by committee rules. There is always a lag between a monetary policy decision and its impact on the economy, so the effect of the vote probably is just now beginning to be felt.

Pakistan graves filled

CHARJABBER, East Pakistan (UPI) — With a strip of thin white cloth hastily wrapped around them for a winding sheet, bloated bodies were tossed into a communal grave and sprinkled with lime. A few shovels of mud were tossed on top.

The mangled bodies of other dead floated face down in the rice paddies. The stench was horrible.

For the living it was not much better. There was almost no food, little drinking water, near total destruction.

Government officials said at least 53,000 persons died when a cyclone with 150 mile per hour winds hit late Thursday, bringing 20-foot-high tidal waves that swept across the huge Ganges River Delta region with nothing to stop them. Populous islands were swept bare of life. Families, villages and towns were wiped out.

The final death toll will not be known for months, if ever, but unofficial estimates say it could run more than 300,000 — which would make it the worst disaster of the 20th century.

The coastal area on the Bay of Bengal hit was 2,848 square miles — about the size of Delaware — plus offshore islands, many almost washed off the map. Some 2.2 million persons lived in the stricken area; a section of the country often hit by cyclones and tidal waves, where thousands of dead in natural disasters are almost a yearly event.

Why do they stay? "Because it was so beautiful," said Deputy Commissioner Abdul Rahman at Noakhali, a city 16 miles down the coast from this village.

Gooding founder passes

GOODING — Mrs. Maude Gooding Paul, 85, daughter of Gooding's founder and U. S. Sen. Frank Gooding, died shortly after noon Monday in Gooding Memorial Hospital of a brief illness.

She was born May 8, 1885, in Ketchum, the first white girl born in Ketchum. She graduated from the Episcopal School for Girls in Salt Lake City. She came to Gooding with her parents when her father founded the city in 1907.

She was married to Warren Paul in Gooding. She worked parttime as clerk for the Lincoln Inn for many years and spent most of her life in Gooding.

She was preceded in death by her husband, a brother and a sister.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Leslie (Louise) Coles, Portland, Ore., and two grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p. m. Thursday in the Gooding Episcopal Church by Rev. Michael Fitzgibbons. Final rites will be in Elmwood Cemetery. Friends may call at Thompson Chapel Wednesday and until 1 p. m. Thursday.

Airport addition delayed

TWIN FALLS — On the advice of city attorney William Langley, city council members tabled a motion to let a bid for construction of an extension to the city-county airport terminal building because of budget technicalities.

The low bid of $20,279 submitted by Arrington Construction Co., Twin Falls, received no action following a lengthy discussion by city officials.

Langley said since the airport department budget provided only $10,000 for expansion of the building the city could not legally approve a $20,000 bid, taking funds from other airport improvement items even though money is not being used for these items.

City Manager Jean Milar suggested the city would have $10,000 from the "line budget item" for the building and another $10,000 from gravel and asphalt work and an additional amount from landscaping and the approach road budgets.

Earlier the city attorney advised the council they could not approve cars and truck bids where lower budget estimates had been made.

Havee...

FLOODED coastal area of Kachha, East Pakistan, is scene of virtual total destruction by cyclone and tidal wave. Radio Pakistan said

Monday the official death toll exceeds 41,000. Unofficial estimates place toll at 300,000, which would make it worst disaster of century. (UPI)

Foresters hear ecology plea

BOISE (UPI) — John Warwick, associate professor of speech, Boise State College, said Monday part of the environmental problem is man's "tremendous capacity for self-deception."

Warwick was keynote speaker for the two-day joint meeting of the Society of American Foresters and the American Society of Range Management.

The theme of the meeting is "Solutions in the environmental problem complex."

Warwick discussed assumptions he said people hold which, he added, are not true.

They included: —"If you throw something in the water it will go away," but he said the Mississippi, Potomac and Hudson rivers are "just huge sewers."

—"If something doesn't affect me right now then it doesn't matter."

He said since not much air pollution is seen in Idaho "we shrug our shoulders," but noted in August there was "almost global smog."

He said Dr. Alfred Hellstrunk of the State University of New York had predicted that if nothing is done about air pollution in 20 years there will be "global gloom" and Warwick added, "Even if half of that's true then in Idaho we do have to worry about air pollution."

—"If you can say something is progress, then you say it's automatically good," but noted in the cases of the proposed Alaskan pipe line the pollution would be "almost impossible to clean up because it's so cold" if the pipes should break.

"If it makes money, then it's good," but he said in the case of the new coal mines in North Dakota "all they want to do is get their pile of dough and leave." He said mining interests there had no regard for laws concerning restoration of the land.

—"Animals and birds don't count unless you can hunt them," but added, "ecologists say you cannot destroy a single species without in some way hurting man."

East and West winners included Rex Wood and L. J. (Bud) Robertson, first; Mr. and Mrs. Max Hogg, second, and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hunter, third.

Overall winners were Rex Wood and L. J. Robertson, first; Mrs. Rex Wood and Mrs. L. F. Robertson, second; Mr. and Mrs. Max Hogg, third; Mrs. Roy Hill and Mrs. John Hahn, fourth, and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hunter, fifth.

The unit's annual Christmas dinner will be held Dec. 13 at the Rogerson Hotel Roundup Room, Twin Falls. All members are urged to attend.

Flames destroy residence

GLENS FERRY — A frame house on the south side of the Snake River about a mile and a half from Glens Ferry burned to the ground Monday morning.

The house, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mitchell, was owned by Rollin McKeeth. The fire was noticed about 9 a.m. by workers, including Mrs. Mitchell, at Evans Orchard warehouse. Her husband also was away from home at the time, working for the King Hill Irrigation Co.

When Mrs. Mitchell arrived at the house it already was heavily engulfed by flames and beet truckers were attempting to carry furniture from it.

Collision injures three

KETCHUM — Three Ketchum residents are in good condition at the Sun Valley hospital Tuesday with injuries received in a head-on collision about half a mile south of Ketchum on Highway 93 Sunday night.

Investigating Blaine County sheriff Orville Drexler said Glen D. Arnold, 54, Arthur Lyttle, 18, and Teri Hughes, 16, were taken to the hospital by ambulance. He said details surrounding the accident are not clear but both vehicles were demolished.

Arnold was driving a 1961 Cadillac and Lyttle was driving a 1952 Willys pickup truck. Citations are pending further investigation.

Rehearsals in progress

SHOSHONE — Rehearsals for the musical play "Rock and Lava" written by Mrs. Luella Kinsey, have started Thursday at the First Baptist church.

The presentation, a combined community endeavor, is the story of the early days of Shoshone and missionary circuit riders with the beginning of the Baptist Church in the town.

Cassia history talk set

DR. MERLE W. WELLS

BURLEY — The director of the Idaho State Historical Society is scheduled to speak at 8 p.m. Wednesday during the Cassia County Historical Association Charter Night at Ponderosa Inn.

Early western history, much of it pertaining to Cassia County will be discussed by Dr. Merle W. Wells.

The head of the state historical association was born in Alberta, Canada, Dec. 1, 1918. After receiving his early schooling there, he came to the United States and attended the College of Idaho, where he graduated in 1941. In 1947 he received his master's degree and a Ph.D. in 1950 from the University of California. From 1942-46 he was an instructor in history at the College of Idaho; from 1950-59 he was an associate professor of history at Alliance College and he also acted as dean of students.

Wells' knowledge of western history is especially recognized throughout the academic system. In this capacity he was named as historian and archivist for the state museum in 1959, a post he held until 1968. A year later he was appointed to direct the Idaho Historical Society and Arthur A. Hart was named director of the Idaho State Historical Museum.

Hart also will speak during the Cassia County Historical Association charter night.

"A special invitation to individuals and families to attend the meeting is extended," said Grant Fillmore, program chairman. "We hope that either relatives or friends will see to it that our living pioneers are in attendance," said Fillmore.

Representatives of the Twin Falls County Historical Society and the Minidoka County Historical Society also will attend, according to Al Dawson, president of the Cassia County Historical group.

Other historical societies have been invited. Charter memberships are still available for $3 per person or $5 per family said Dawson.

Suspended

BOISE — Two Magic Valley vehicle inspection stations had inspection certificates suspended for 30 days for failure to have a representative at a training school.

Inspection certificates suspended included Kelley's Husky, Burley, and East Five Points Conoco, Twin Falls.

Session delayed

TWIN FALLS — A conflict of business has forced a delay of the meeting of the South Idaho Chamber of Commerce meeting, originally scheduled for this Friday.

Dr. James L. Taylor, president of the chamber, told trustees of the College of Southern Idaho Monday that the meeting will be rescheduled to Dec. 15. Chamber members will meet with area legislators to discuss legislation and problems needing legislative attention.

The meeting will begin at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 15 at the Holiday Inn.

Benefit Wednesday

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls Jay-C-Ettes are planning a coffee day benefit for retarded children, states Mrs. Larry Utley, president.

The event is Wednesday and 12 local restaurants will participate in the project by serving free coffee to customers.

Patrons are invited to pay for the coffee by contributions in special containers. Mrs. Utley said proceeds from the "coffee on the house" project will go to the Idaho Association for Retarded Children.

She said the Jay-C-Ettes hope everyone takes part in this worthwhile project.

Drug talk set

FAIRFIELD — Dr. George Saviers, chief of staff of the Sun Valley Hospital, will be featured speaker at 8 p.m. Thursday at a meeting of the Smart Set.

The meeting will be at the Camas County High School study hall room. Dr. Saviers' topic will be drugs. The meeting is sponsored by the Fairfield teen-age anti-drug club as a public service.

Chamber seeking manager

KETCHUM — Applications are now being accepted for manager of the Ketchum-Sun Valley Chamber of Commerce, according to President Everett DeCosta.

The chamber released manager John Nelson in September at the expiration of his contract because insufficient funds were available for his salary until the end of the year.

The new manager will take office the first of the year, after approval by the new board of directors which will be elected in December. The manager's salary will be taken from dues collected in January but it has not been determined whether or not he will be paid a flat rate or the amount will be based on a percentage of dues collected.

Murtaugh lunch rule explained

MURTAUGH — The Murtaugh school district will provide free or reduced-price lunches in line with federal requirements, according to Floren Hulse, superintendent of joint School District 418.

Hulse said families applying for the free lunches must meet a federally established income criterion which will determine whether the lunches are furnished free or at a reduced rate. The income limitations apply to the gross income before tax or other takeout, Hulse said.

In applying these guidelines, the superintendent said the district officials will consider the income of the family over the past year along with their current income. Unusual circumstances such as severe illness or death in the family, temporary disability and seasonal unemployment will also be taken into account.

Application forms are being sent out to all parents in the district and parents who feel that their children are eligible should apply.

The district's complete policy concerning the reduced price of 15 cents and the free lunches may be reviewed in the superintendent's office at the Murtaugh High School.

Auxiliary sets meet

TWIN FALLS — The Women's Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post No. 2136, will meet Tuesday at the National Guard Armory.

Past department president, Florence Manning, Rupert Post No. 3678, will attend to inspect the Twin Falls auxiliary for District No. 6 president Vera Leigh.

The annual Christmas party will be discussed during the meeting, according to Jean Price, public relations director.

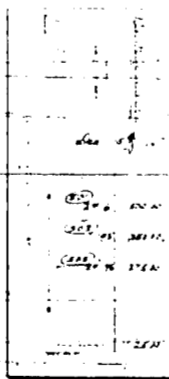

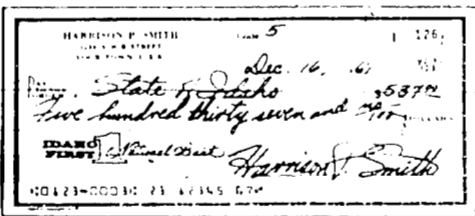

At the end of the month, many self-employed men and women couldn't tell you, if their lives depended on it, exactly where they stand on income vs. expense transactions. If your volume doesn't justify a fulltime bookkeeper, and if you'd like to see at a glance where you've been, where you are, and where you are going financially, Idaho first's new Money Minder service is for you. It is easy to understand, simple to use. Here's how it works.

To put Money Minder to work for you, your first step is to open an Idaho First checking account, if you don't already have one. Then we will help you select the categories (from our list of 1,000) under which you can group your recurring expenses and income items. Each category has a code number.

When you write a check, you simply code it with the category number (or numbers) assigned to expense items.

When you make a deposit, code it with the category number (s) assigned to income items.

And that's all you have to do. Money Minder does the Rest. Each month Idaho First will send you reports which show the amounts of all transactions in code sequence and which accumulates the amounts in each category for all transactions during the month . . . plus for year-to-date. The report also computes the percentage of your total income or expense by category.

The airing, in the press, of a "misunderstanding" between Twin Falls County Probate Judge Eugene McCoy and Jerome County Prosecuting Attorney S. A. (Sy) Kolman is, at best, unfortunate. While we must admit that it could be classed as a feather in the bonnet of an enterprising reporter, we are not of the opinion that it did anything to upgrade the image of our courts or the profession of law. The case in question involved a young woman, under 18 years old. She was one of three persons arrested in a raid several months ago in Jerome county. The Jerome prosecutor is quoted as saying the raid was made about 4 a. m. and the case represented many man-hours of work. He said that the sudden dismissal of the case, that had been transferred to Judge McCoy's court, was "inexcusable." A few days ago, also in the press, Judge McCoy had taken Mr. Kolman to task for "willful" failure to discharge his duties by appearing in court. He termed Mr. Kolman's absence "a contemptuous act." During the "battle" in the news media, the Judge had mentioned he would not formally charge Mr. Kolman with contempt of court. Now Mr. Kolman says that if the Judge had, in fact, charged him with contempt then he would have been able to defend himself in court and not in the press. We can go along with him in this instance. But we are, in fact, not taking sides with either participant in this matter. We do say, however, that soiled linen never looks good hanging on a line until it has gone through the washer. It is our opinion that this matter could have been settled to the benefit of everyone without anyone resorting to what might be termed "press releases" and blow by blow descriptions of the controversy. In these days of troubled times and unrest in this nation of ours the Courts, the law and the barristers are many times not held in high esteem. And it is just such unnecessary public airing such as this one involving a Twin Falls County Judge and a Jerome County Attorney that should never be allowed to happen if for no other reason than it adds fuel to the fire of discontent with the "establishment."

Special Delivery

The public's somewhat less than unshakable confidence in the postal service received another jolt recently when it was charged that special delivery letters just aren't treated as very special. For various reasons, they are often delivered no sooner than they would have been without the 45-cent premium stamp attached. For those willing to pay an even higher premium for really fleet delivery, the U. S. Post Office and Western Union are experimenting with a new message service called a "Mailgram," which, as the name suggests, is somewhere between a letter and a telegram. This is how it works: A customer of Western Union's Teletext Exchange Service (Teletex) sends his message by Teletext to the Mailgram Computer Center, where it is automatically routed according to Zip Code to the appropriate destination post office.

Here it is received on a similar Teletext, removed and inserted in a distinctive envelope and sent out by regular mail carrier on the next scheduled delivery. Rates for the service average $1.10 for 50 words, which is less than for a telegram. So far, more than 98 per cent of 250,000 Mailgrams sent have been delivered on the next business day. Where distances are great and a two- or three-hour time difference exists, such as between New York and San Francisco, delivery can be made the same day. A big advantage Mailgram offers to businessmen is that it is not only fast but, like a conventional letter, provides a written record copy. Usage of the new service is presently limited to business firms, but by mid-1971 it will be made available to the public in a number of cities to test its general acceptability.

A Man's World?

Try this puzzler on yourself: A father and son were in an auto wreck. The father was killed and the son was rushed to a hospital for emergency surgery. The attending surgeon looked at the boy and said, "I can't operate, that's my son." How could this be? No, there aren't any hidden factors, such as adoption. The boy was the natural son of both the dead man and the surgeon. This story was told at the recent American Political Science Association convention in Los Angeles where it stumped most people, reports Science Service — men and women, liberals and conservatives alike. The explanation, of course, is that the surgeon was the boy's mother. The story was concocted to illustrate just how pervasive "male chauvinism" or antifemale prejudice is in our society, infecting even women themselves. It may be wondered, however, whether the failure of most people to guess the answer is due to male chauvinism or to the fact that there just aren't many women surgeons around. Yet female militants would argue that the fact that there aren't many women surgeons around is still due to male chauvinism, which teaches children that little boys grow-up to be surgeons and little girls become nurses. So, the next time Ben Casey asks for the scalpel, girls, let him have it. ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH

The Lame-Duck Congress

WASHINGTON — Whatever its long-range political implications, President Nixon's all-out campaign effort promises to hurt him in the lame-duck Congressional session which opened Monday. It is clear that the President, by his campaigning, has irritated many of his critics at the Capitol. It is by no means clear that the results of Mr. Nixon's campaigning have thrown a political scare into any of the critical lawmakers. The prospect is troublesome for the President.

Now, as before, the House and Senate are controlled by the Democrats. Now, as before, the President needs help — from all the Republicans and from some Democrats, to pass what he wants passed in Congress and reject what he wants defeated. Clearly, however, many Democrats think the President — with his White House alter-ego, Vice President Spiro Agnew — resorted to unfair campaign allegations, along the law-and-order line, against Democratic candidates generally. The recent campaign comments still rankle. If the President's law-and-order campaigning had claimed a large number of Democratic victims, his critics might have been inclined to swallow their dissatisfaction. It is hard to show, however, that the Nixon-Agnew campaigning, in and of itself, did in any Democrats. For example, the gun-control issue was going against Sen. Joseph D. Tydings D., when the White House campaigners stepped into the Maryland race. Sen. Albert Gore, D., was already in trouble in Tennessee because of his aloofness from his constituency, and so on. It is therefore highly unlikely that any Democrats will be frightened into an accommodation with the President and his Capitol Hill Lieutenants in the weeks ahead. In the Senate, at least, Mr. Nixon may well prove to be correct in his assessment that the Congress to be seated in January will be more responsive to his wishes — especially in matters of foreign policy and defense. The President may be able to count two or three additional Senate votes.

One of them — the President's campaign Exhibit A — is that of Senator-elect James Buckley, the New York Conservative who displaced Sen. Charles E. Goodell, a Liberal Republican, and also defeated the liberal democratic candidate, Rep. Richard L. Ottinger. In the latter part of the campaign, Mr. Nixon made no secret of his support for Buckley. In the lame-duck session and later, however, the President must occasionally seek support from Goodell's friends in the Senate — especially the members of the so-called "Wednesday Club," Republican senators whose views are similar to Goodell's. They are upset by the Nixon-Agnew campaign tactics and shocked by the President's failure to support Goodell. Here again, however, the Wednesday Clubbers, as they look at the election returns carefully, need not have any real fear of presidential reprisals. Even the defeat of Goodell was accomplished in an unusual, three-way race in which the liberal candidates got more than 60 per cent of the vote. Question: Should Edward W. Brooke, the liberal Republican from Massachusetts, who is up for reelection in 1972, have serious qualms about President Nixon's reactions when one of the President's possible 1972 opponents, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D., has just won reelection handsomely in Massachusetts? Questions: Should Sen. Charles H. Percy, the liberal-leaning Illinois Republican, who is also up in 1972, hew closer to the Nixon line when a Nixon-lining Republican incumbent, Sen. Ralph T. Smith, has just been swamped by the liberal Democrat, Adlai Stevenson in Illinois? Question: Should Sen. Mark Hatfield, the liberal Oregon Republican who is up in 1972 if he runs, temper his criticism of the President when results in neighboring California show that the law-and-order candidate George Murphy was unable to beat liberal Democrat John Tunney, even with President Nixon's help. Despite the President's belief that the election results were a psychological plus, the studied political answer to all those questions is almost certainly "No."

"Take That . . . and That!"

Byrd vs. Kennedy

WASHINGTON — The possibility that Sen. Robert Byrd of West Virginia, a conservative Democrat with no reputation beyond his own state and the Senate chamber, might displace the fabled Sen. Edward M. Kennedy as Senate Majority Whip is conceivable only in light of backstage Senatorial dealings this autumn.

Like all other Democratic Senators up for reelection in 1970, Byrd was allotted around $18,000 by the Senate Democratic campaign committee. But Byrd, facing a token Republican foe, made an unprecedented distribution of his allotment among Democratic Senators with difficult contests. Among them were Frank Moss of Utah, Quentin Burdick of North Dakota, Vance Hartke of Indiana, and Gale McGee of Wyoming — all to Byrd's left. A modest campaign contribution by Byrd scarcely, in itself, would wrest votes from Kennedy. Rather, this generosity is but part of an elaborate system of I.O. U.'s Byrd has built the past 12 years and hopes to use against Kennedy when the 92nd Congress convenes next January.

The question: will some Senators who gave Kennedy a 31 to 26 win two years ago in displacing Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana as whip (No. 2 position in the Senate Democratic hierarchy) defect from him because of both his lost prestige after Chappaquiddick and Bobby Byrd's favors? With Senators scattered from Israel to Acapulco on post-election travels, nobody knows the answer. Since winning reelection (with 77.6 percent), Byrd has been in seclusion somewhere in West Virginia. When the lame-duck session of the 91st Congress convenes Monday, he likely will begin counting noses. If — and only if — his nose count is favorable, he will challenge Kennedy. Although Byrd is a long shot, Kennedy's most knowledgeable supporters in the Senate believe he might just pull it off. That alone is remarkable considering the fact that Byrd, by

The Dropouts

WASHINGTON — In the past month we have seen 15 FBI agents drop out of the John Jay College of Criminal Justice in New York because a professor made critical remarks about J. Edgar Hoover, the FBI's stalwart leader. Following this, 11 FBI employees were ordered to drop out of the course on "Violence in America" at American University because the professor there cast aspersions on Mr. Hoover's leadership. There will probably be more of this as time goes on, and it is conceivable that every university in the country could soon be on J. Edgar Hoover's black list. What isn't generally known is that there is a conspiracy among university professors to criticize J. Edgar Hoover publicly. This is why they're doing it: It is assumed that the FBI has planted undercover agents in all the major universities in the country. These undercover agents look exactly like radical students. They have long hair, wear beards, go shoeless and use all the obscene words. In the past they have been impossible to spot on campus. But not long ago a professor at a Midwestern college made some derogatory remarks about J. Edgar Hoover. Three of the radical students immediately walked out of the class in a huff. Everyone was very surprised when they announced they were leaving the school. It turned out they were FBI undercover agents, whose job it had been to infiltrate the radical movement. They had been ordered to put up with any indignity to win the confidence of the radicals. EXCEPT to sit there and take criticism of Mr. Hoover.

A few weeks later in California, a professor in government statistics made the point that the higher the crime rate rose in the United States, the more kudos J. Edgar Hoover received from Congress and the Administration. The professor was trying to show that bad news does not necessarily bring criticism from government. He said that as far as his statistics showed, there hasn't been a year when the FBI did not report a rise in crime in the United States, and each time it did, Mr. Hoover received congratulations from the President. Two radical students in his class broke into tears and announced they could no longer stay in school. It was a blow to everyone, because one of the undercover agents had just been elected president of the SDS and had been in charge of an antiwar demonstration in Gov. Reagan's office. Well, these two incidents suddenly made professors all over the country realize that the easiest way to spot an FBI undercover agent was to use all the obscene words. And so professors are now waging a campaign to make remarks about the head of the FBI. The FBI knows, of course, what is happening, but they're caught in a bind. If they keep their agents on campus to catch the people responsible for student violence, they will be exposing FBI employees to defamatory remarks about Mr. Hoover. So far the FBI has left it up to the individual agents to decide whether to stay or leave. But they're proud that in every case so far when someone has sullied J. Edgar Hoover's name, the FBI undercover agent has indignantly dropped out of school.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dry Mouth

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been troubled with "dry mouth." Since my complete hysterectomy a year and a half ago, the problem has become so bad that I can't sleep at night without sipping water every few minutes, or by morning my sticky tongue will be cracked open with several fissures. For lack of anything better I have been using a cold salve directly on my tongue so I can have some peace. —Mrs. R.C.R. There can be several causes of dry mouth, and sometimes more than one involved in a single case, a point to keep in mind. Among the causes can be vitamin deficiencies, hormone changes due to menopause, and it is thought by some authorities, a collagen disorder which affects the fibrous and supporting tissues of the body. Obviously, but curiously sometimes overlooked, mouth-breathing can cause dryness. Certainly mouth-breathing can make the situation worse even if something else is the basic cause. I'm glad your use of the medicated salve has helped some, but it doesn't sound like the pleasantest method, so I'll offer some others which often are helpful. Since menopause at times causes or contributes to dry mouth, and since your trouble has been worse since your complete hysterectomy, the use of such female hormones as estrogen may help. If there is any indication of vitamin deficiency, that can be treated.

One simple recommendation which has been helpful many times is to rinse the mouth several times a day with a mixture of syrup in warm water. Or lemon juice in water three or four times a day may stimulate the salivary glands. —Sialagogues — medications to increase the secretion of saliva — can be tried, under your doctor's supervision. These include pitocarpine, physostigmine, and neostigmine. Are you by any chance a mouth-breather? Or a mouth-breather mostly at night? If so, the attentions of a nose-throat specialist might disclose some nasal obstruction that can be, and ought to be, removed. Your mention of the trouble's becoming worse after your hysterectomy would give rise to the suspicion that it may have something to do with your hormone status but that would not be the whole cause. Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send me your booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," for which I enclose 35 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope. I wonder if it covers how to cope with the after-effects of complete hysterectomy and removal of the ovaries. —M.M. Menopause — the cessation of activity of the ovaries — is basically the same whether it results from natural causes or from surgery or other artificial means of stopping the activity of the ovaries. With surgery, however, the change tends to be more abrupt. Yes, "surgical menopause" is included in the booklet.

Activities under way

POCATELLO — Idaho State University coeds will be honored in a variety of week-long Women's Week activities sponsored by the Associated Women Students, this week. Highlight of the week will be the selection of ISU's Best Dressed Coed Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Student Union Film Theater.

Fourteen coeds are seeking the title and the right to represent ISU in Glamour magazine's search for the best dressed college women in the nation. They will model three outfits, including sportswear, casual school dress and formal wear from their own wardrobes.

Representing ISU's social sororities are Brenda Cobia, a freshman in general studies from American Falls, Alpha Chi Omega; Beverly Tademy, a freshman in general studies from Pocatello, Alpha Omicron Pi; Susan Hall, a junior in dental hygiene from Pocatello, Gamma Phi Beta; Byra Lou Johnson, a senior in home economics from Pocatello, Lambda Delta Sigma, Omega chapter, and Carol Harper, a junior in speech from Pocatello, Lambda Delta Sigma, Phi chapter.

Sponsored by the women's residence halls are Gloria Griffel, a junior history major from St. Anthony, Garrison House, and Cathy Nakao, a freshman in general studies from Weiser, Turner House.

Candidates for the service honoraries are Sandra Milligan, a freshman in dental hygiene from Caldwell, SWAG; Mary Drew, a sophomore in elementary education from Twin Falls, Spurs; Mary Lorton, a junior in speech pathology from Cambridge, Chimes, and Jan Murray, a senior in biology from Blackfoot, Silver Tassel.

More candidates are Kathy Perkins, a senior in home economics from Pocatello, Home Ec Club; Geneal Howa, a senior English major from Twin Falls, Scotch Guard; and Sandra Evans, a junior in nursing from Idaho Falls, Student Nurses.

Master of ceremonies for the event, which is free and open to the public, will be Jane Sahberg and Paul Briggs, both of Pocatello. Ushers will be members of Intercollegiate Knights, men's service honorary.

Judges for the contest will be Marsha Harris Lamprecht, former Miss Pocatello; Noralyn Olsen, the reigning Miss Idaho; Jean Neder, assistant professor of home economics at ISU and Dean Anderson, an ISU speech-drama graduate.

The coldest temperature recorded in downtown Honolulu was 56 degrees in 1909.

Parkinson art display held over one week in Jerome

JEROME — Because of its oil medium, he has trained another himself in most subject matter. All Magic Valley residents and in recent years finds one are invited to view the collection as stimulating as tion.

Library hours are from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It is open from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday and Wednesday and is closed all day Tuesday.

Parkinson, artist, teacher and lecturer, has spent all his years in the west, receiving his art education in Los Angeles in the 1930's. In recent years he has devoted his attention almost entirely to his art seminars, which are conducted on a week-long basis, from city to city. His development of PGM, a drying and glazing medium used with oil colors, is partly responsible for the seminars. He soon found that the student must be properly introduced to the medium to effectively use it and this was no overnight accomplishment, but required continued help and coaching on his part, so the student could become properly oriented with PGM's exception qualities.

Parkinson's loose, free, style is partly due to his early training in watercolors, and a later challenge while mastering oils, to produce a loose effect similar to watercolors with the

Good skin-care provides insurance against aging

CHICAGO, Ill. — After steaming, drying summer, what comes next? Why chilling, drying fall and winter, of course.

Seasons, it seems, have no boundaries where skin dryness is concerned. And facial skin in particular gets the full brunt of drying weather.

Unless you are one of those rare women who have an overabundance of oil in their skin, you should be busy protecting natural skin moisture.

Otherwise, you're courting crinkly, wrinkle-producing dry skin — a surefire giveaway of both your age and your attitude.

The only efficient way to combat dryness is by regular daily use of a good moisturizer lotion and moisture cream.

A moisturizer lotion such as Deep Magic Moisturizer should be worn under makeup and can be used to smooth other skin areas such as elbows, hands, legs and feet.

Clean face well and then smooth on the creamy pink lotion. It is non-greasy and penetrates into the skin. Deep Magic helps maintain the skin's natural moisture balance by preventing moisture loss while it attracts extra moisture from the air.

Deep Magic Moisturizer Lotion can be used at night, too. Apply at bedtime after cleansing the face, being sure to apply generously around the eyes.

So, cry!

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bottling up one's grief may be doing personal injury because it interferes with a natural process.

"Grief is normal, it is healthy, it has healing qualities. It can actually be 'good grief', says the Rev. Dr. Granger E. Westburg, a professor of Wittenberg University's School of Theology, Springfield, Ohio. Grief is nature's escape valve for sorrow and the act of mourning gives the wounded spirit time to recover.

Magic Valley Favorites

MRS. PEARL CAMPBELL
Route 3, Jerome

HOLIDAY SNOW BALLS

- 1 pound graham cracker crumbs
- 1 pound candied pineapple
- 1 pound chopped candied cherries
- 1 pound raisins
- 1 pound marshmallows
- 3 pounds English walnuts, chopped
- 1 stick margarine
- 1 cup evaporated milk
- 2 cans coconut, flaked
- Melt margarine and marshmallow in milk over low heat, stirring constantly. Mix together remaining ingredients except coconut and pour milk mixture over it. Stir together until well mixed. Form into 1 1/2-inch balls and roll in coconut. Makes about 200 snow balls.

(Note: The longer you keep the snow balls, the better they are. Store these in a tightly covered container.)

The Times-News will pay $5 each week for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.

Blight may cut corn exports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The blighted corn crop is not only cutting income and increasing costs for U. S. farmers, it may have international implications that could damage U. S. corn exports in the future.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture now projects the corn crop at 4,104 million bushels, down 15 per cent from July. The 1969 corn crop was 4,578 million bushels.

The reduced feed grain supplies come when there is an inventory of 2 1/2 million more cattle; the calf crop is up 760,000 with fewer slaughters, and farrowing is up 15 per cent in 10 cornbelt states.

American meat producers are expected to slaughter at lighter weights to avoid the high cost of feedgrains. This will lessen the domestic demand for corn, but there still will be a shortage.

There also is evidence that European cattle and hog farmers are taking similar measures, especially farmers in countries that rely on corn from the United States.

In addition to the dumping, Great Britain and other European importers of U. S. Corn are trying to offset higher prices by encouraging development of home-grown feed replacements such as wheat and barley.

Britain recently increased price supports for livestock and other products by 65 percent to encourage self-sufficiency.

Those payments now total $330 million, up from original 1970 appropriations of $200 million.

The money will help British farmers meet the increased prices for feed grains, caused not only by the U. S. corn blight, but by a shortfall of barley production in the United Kingdom.

But livestock operators are not the only recipients of the higher payments. David L. Hume, the U. S. agricultural attache in London, says, "Restoring confidence in the future seems to be the main purpose behind the higher guarantees for wheat and barley."

"These increases are aimed at encouraging the sowing of winter wheat, now at its peak, and at giving more incentives for sowing barley," Hume says. "With less U. S. corn to feed livestock over the next nine months, many importing European nations will turn to other grains."

The combination of decreasing the supply of U. S. corn with the use of wheat as feed grain, could change livestock feeding practices of Great Britain, Ireland, Norway and Denmark.

And once inside the EC, the other members of the economic block might be able to meet their demands for corn.

EC members countries have increased corn acreage by 20 per cent to an estimated 31.4 million acres since last year. The reports on the EC corn crop are not in yet, but preliminary surveys indicate it is about the same as last season, or slightly higher.

Hereford sale set at Filer

FILER — The Idaho Polled Hereford Breeders Association is sponsoring a bull and heifer sale Saturday at the fairgrounds in Filer, notes Art DeVisser, Filer, sale manager.

DeVisser said the sale will feature both herd and range bulls and bred and open heifers.

The show will begin at 9 a.m. with the sale at 1 p.m. Consignors from Idaho and Oregon will have top-notch Polled Herefords.

Auctioneer will be Ken Trout, Emmett, and Tom Shaw, Caldwell, will be the judge.

A pre-sale banquet is being planned for 7 p.m. Friday in the Rogerson Hotel Roundup Room, Twin Falls. DeVisser said this will be a no-host affair and all Hereford breeders and buyers are invited.

MARION P. SIMPSON

Simpson to post in Boise

BOISE — Marion P. Simpson, formerly of Twin Falls, has been appointed administrative officer of the Animal Health Division, U.S. Department of Agriculture at Boise.

A native of Homedale, Simpson comes to the Boise office from Oklahoma City, Okla., where he has served as an assistant administrative officer for two years.

He began service with the federal agency in 1965 at Twin Falls, working as a livestock inspector.

In another appointment in the Boise office of the agency, Dr. Jack A. King, Boise, has been appointed assistant director.

Gem farm work force declines

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today an estimated 51,000 people worked on Idaho farms during the week of Oct. 18-24.

The report said the total was 8,000 less than the previous month, but was the same as October, 1969.

Family workers — farm operators plus family members who worked 15 hours or more — totaled 38,000 workers, down 2,000 from September and down 1,000 from last October.

Hired workers that worked one hour or more during the survey week were estimated at 13,000, down 6,000 workers from September but 1,000 above October, 1969.

Cattle prices remain steady

DENVER — Prices held mostly steady on fed cattle, with dressed beef prices dropping a little toward week's end. Feeder cattle were steady to weaker, particularly on the heavier weights, as the week of Nov. 13 closed.

Supplies of fed cattle ready to market were adequate and appeared to move a little more freely than they have in earlier periods. Reports indicate supplies of heavy and over-finished cattle are burdensome in some areas, but they are being cleaned up as cattle move more freely. Weight conscious buyers are discounting the heavier carcasses.

Hog kills continue to run very high though live prices appear to have firmed somewhat.

Cattle kills are still below a year ago. Feeder cattle are still moving into feedlots and into wheat pasture areas, in spite of a continued air of caution. The USDA Corn Crop Report published early this week indicated this year's crop, as of the December 1 estimate, was about 10 per cent under last year's record.

Slaughter Cattle — Fed cattle prices held mostly steady with some discrimination against heavier cattle. Movement was good through the week. The

$13.8 million payment sent to beet growers

OGDEN — A first payment of $13,850,000 was sent this week to Magic Valley sugar beet growers by the Amalgamated Sugar Company for beets delivered in October, about two-thirds through this year's harvest.

The payment is approximately fourteen and one-half percent higher per ton than last year. Senior Vice President E. I. Niehaus reported.

The fourteen and one-half percent increase in payment for beets gives the beet farmers a welcome income advance against government-reported increases for the year of five percent in the parity index of prices paid by farmers, and six percent in the general cost of living.

Niehaus explained the beet payment increase is due to improved marketing conditions for refined sugar. Under the contract agreement with Amalgamated, beet growers receive an approximate two-thirds share of the income from sugar sales.

Another payment will be made on Dec. 1 for beets delivered from Nov. 1 through Nov. 15, and again two weeks later for beets delivered after Nov. 15, Niehaus said. He reported the harvest was 95 to 97 per cent completed in the Magic Valley, and 73 per cent completed in the Mountain Home area on Nov. 15.

Year's retail sales show little growth

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Retail sales have shown little real growth in the past year during the economic slowdown brought on by President Nixon's campaign to curb inflation.

In current dollars, retail sales have been showing a steady increase since Nixon took office, although seasonally adjusted totals for some individual months have shown declines from the previous months.

But when price increases are factored out to remove inflationary effects, retail sales have shown little growth during the economic slowdown.

For instance, the Commerce Department reported that retail sales in September totaled $30.8 billion, a 5 per cent increase over the same month in 1969 if no account is taken of the differing values of the dollar at the times the two reports were compiled.

The Commerce Department does not compute what the increase would be if both months are figured in September, 1969 dollars. By a rough estimate can be reached by using the increase in consumer prices during that 12-month period.

The Consumer Price Index for goods (excluding services) in September, 1970, was 4.4 per cent above a year earlier. Thus retail sales increased only about 0.6 per cent during the year if constant dollars are used.

Special session need for reapportionment eyed

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — Reapportionment of the Idaho Legislature ought to be done at the upcoming legislative session but it may take a special session to get the job done. These were the two predominant feelings expressed Sunday night as about 90 of the state's 115 lawmakers conducted party caucuses here during the first day of the fall meeting of the North Idaho Chamber of Commerce.

The idea of a special session was raised by Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl.

He asked Governor-elect Cecil Andrus, "do you think if the census figures aren't available until March 15, it would be better to go into a special session for reapportionment?"

Andrus said this could be a consideration, noting with passage of the pay initiative that also limits the second session to 30 days, reapportionment might have to be done at a special session.

"Originally," Andrus said, "I thought we could wait until 1972, but now I'm not sure that we can wait."

This was similar to the feeling at the Senate Democratic caucus where Minority Leader John Evans, Malad, said, "The expression was that reapportionment should be dealt with immediately."

On the GOP side of the Senate where Wayne Kidwell, Boise, is the only announced candidate for majority leader, a wait and see attitude prevailed because the legislators want to see the outcome of legal entanglements possibly connected with the issue.

Kidwell said some senators would like to see reapportionment started in the January session and completed at the following session.

At the House GOP caucus, little was said about reapportionment, possible leadership changes or other issues. It was mainly a get-acquainted session with some freshmen legislators.

On the Democratic side, Minority Leader Ed Williams, Lewiston, said the feeling was that reapportionment ought to be done at the upcoming session.

"It all hinges on whether the 1970 census figures will be available in time," Williams said.

Andrus broke with tradition Sunday night when he visited all four of the party caucuses to make brief statements.

Kidwell termed Andrus' appearance as "unprecedented" and said "there was a favorable reaction to the sentiments he expressed."

Andrus' brief remarks were essentially the same at each caucus as he repeated his pledge to hold the line on new taxes.

"We have a large job to do for the people of Idaho," he told the Republican senators, adding, "There are many areas where we can get things done hand in hand, other areas where we may not agree, but that's up to your decision."

Andrus said there will be meetings between his office and the legislative leadership prior to the session's start in January in keeping with his pledge to have wide open lines of communication with the legislature.

He said the line item budget would be prepared based on current anticipated revenues within the present tax structure.

Andrus will be the main speaker tonight at the Chamber banquet. Earlier this evening he will attend a victory celebration of north Idaho Democrats. Andrus is the first Democratic governor of Idaho in 24 years.

Andrus said his talk will deal with what he hopes will be a positive oriented administration for the next four years.

Among other items discussed at the caucuses was reduction in the number of senate committees.

Evans said Democratic senators were thinking in terms of seven instead of the present 12 committees.

Kidwell said Republicans also discussed reducing the number of committees, but did not propose a definite number.

He said some relief already had been given by cutting the membership on the four major committees from 11 to nine.

Kidwell, touching on party unity, said there is "100 per cent agreement that the Senate GOP is going to work to solve the problems of Idaho on a unified basis, not on the basis of whether a person is city or rural."

With the caucuses over, the legislators spent most of today at Sandpoint. Tuesday they will visit the Coeur d'Alene Mining District and will devote Wednesday morning on a session on higher education.

Tom Jones, 6 series given mid-season ax

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — ABC-TV has canceled six new series plus the weekly Tom Jones variety show in a midseason overhaul that takes effect in January.

In addition to the axing of Jones, whose ratings have been very poor this season, ABC-TV is also canceling:

- "Matt Lincoln," in which Vince (Ben Casey) Edwards returned to television as a psychiatrist at a clinic.
- "Barefoot in the Park," which starred black performers in the main roles created by white actors in the stage hit by Neil Simon.
- "The Young Rebels," about some American youths who worked against the British in the Revolutionary War.
- "The Silent Force," in which a trio of undercover agents worked to combat crime.
- "The Immortal," about a fellow with rare blood sought by others because it made him immune to old age and disease.
- "The Most Deadly Game," in which three criminologists unraveled tough cases.

New ABC-TV series, coming January, will be:

- A one-hour Pearl Bailey variety show.
- "The Smith Family," a half-hour "comedy-drama" starring Henry Fonda as a police officer with a wife and children.
- "Alias Smith and Jones," a Western which aims at comedy in its two heroes, who find complete honesty difficult. It's an hour show.

ABC-TV's biggest new-season hit its Monday night pro football games, will of course be gone too, until next year. In its place, the network is going back to Monday movies.

And there are numerous video observers, including some at ABC-TV itself, who feel that the network, after quickly establishing a talked-about Monday night sports habit with viewers, should not drop the ball, and should continue in this vein: With pro basketball.

Basketball won't yet get the ratings of football and may never reach the same plateau of popularity. But it is a fast-moving sport with audiences. And ABC-TV hasn't a chance on Mondays anyway in the ratings race. Only football has given the network some Monday muscle.

In its midseason reshuffling, ABC-TV is trying to save money by giving some prime time hours back to the local stations.

T.F. girl winner

BURLEY — Janice Louise Cook, 18, Twin Falls, was selected the senior division winner in the Make It Yourself with Wool contest.

Jennifer Drechsel, 16, Worley, is the junior division winner.

The winners were announced Monday noon during the luncheon of the 78th Annual Idaho Wool Growers Association Convention at the Ponderosa Inn.

Miss Cook and Miss Drechsel will represent Idaho in the national competition Jan. 19 at Las Vegas, Nev. Both girls will receive expenses paid trips to the national event.

Miss Cook is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey M. Cook, Twin Falls, and is a senior at Twin Falls High School. Miss Drechsel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Drechsel, Jr., Worley.

A royal blue double knit three-piece pant suit was made and modeled by Miss Drechsel. Her sleeveless vest was finger tip length; double breasted accented with gold buttons and featured a scooped neckline. The pants were fashioned with slightly flared legs. A double knit long sleeved striped blouse completed her suit.

Judges were Mrs. Kenneth Turner, Burley, Mrs. Earl Faulkner, Twin Falls and Mrs. Wayne Thetssen, Twin Falls. Narrator for the fashion show was Mrs. Larry Garro, Rupert, State Make It Yourself with Wool director.

Other contestants in the senior division were Ellen Van Slyke, Moscow; Laura Lynn Worton, Idaho Falls; Edith Burgemeister, American Falls and Adrienne Wheeler, Meridian.

In the Junior Division other contestants were Lori Schenck, Idaho Falls; Colleen Jensen, Montpelier; Melva Goodwin, Hazelton, and Kay Simpkins, Marsing.

Each contestant was awarded prizes which included sewing machines, wool material, sewing baskets and other items for sewing.

Mrs. John Faulkner, Gooding, president of the Women's Auxiliary Idaho Wool Growers Association gave the welcome at the luncheon. Mrs. Kenneth Westfall, Aberdeen, gave the invocation.

Sponsors for Make It Yourself With Wool include First Security Bank, Boise; Southern Idaho P. C. A., Twin Falls; Bank of Idaho, Idaho Falls Branch; Union Seed Co., Burley; Rangen, Inc., Buhl; Idaho Bank and Trust Co., Pocatello; Idaho First National Bank, Boise, and Hill Milling Co., Terreton.

Lamb pelts were donated by Bruneau Sheep Co., Grandview; Wilbur and Lucille Wilson, Hammett; Patterson's, Inc., Caldwell Garro Sheep Co. and Idaho First National Bank, both Rupert; Rich Sheep Co., Burley; Bonneville County Wool Growers and Jefferson County Wool Growers to each of the alternates at the district competition.

Planning time . . .

plans for CSI students to be used as manpower and planners. Merv Edson, chairman of the decorating committee for local merchants, right, met with club members Monday.

Decoration plans set

TWIN FALLS — When there are more than 100 Christmas trees to trim, start early and find extra manpower, says Merv Edson, chairman of the downtown Twin Falls holiday decorations committee.

The help is forthcoming through an invitation issued late Monday by the Circle K club, an organization of women students at the College of Southern Idaho.

Four members of the women's group, sponsored by the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club, met Monday afternoon with Edson and Ed Peterson, architect for the downtown project, to discuss plans for decorating the downtown area. Edson said about $2,200 will be needed to trim the evergreens and deciduous trees in the downtown area. Construction of the mall has made it impossible to use old decorations by eliminating the tall lamp posts and the across-the-street wires which supported strands of evergreen boughs and lights.

In the Monday meeting, Edson said it was suggested the individual trees be trimmed with pink and blue lights on the evergreens and the bright clear lights on the deciduous tree branches. He said 760 strands of miniature lights have been ordered, similar to those used on Temple Square in Salt Lake City and in some of the downtown New York decorations.

City crews are currently applying the lights to downtown trees, but it was suggested by Peterson it may be advisable to leave the lights on a year-around basis since they are small and bulbs cannot be removed. In this case, he said, it might be necessary to have the college manpower place the lights along the branches hiding the cord and positioning lights at the ends of the branches.

Dianne Parrott, Carol Wewers, Mary Otto and Patsy McIntyre of the Circle K group said they would meet with other student groups in the college and the art class and club to recruit work crews for downtown decorating.

Other plans call for wrapping the black lamp posts with red and white candy stripe ribbons and decorating them with boughs and bows or wreaths.

New Ketchum street name proposal studied

KETCHUM — Proposals for re-naming Ketchum streets were referred to the city planning and zoning commission by the city council Monday night.

The proposal, which also includes re-numbering residences, was prepared and presented by Gen. Robert Neely. He advocates localizing street names to coincide with the activity of the area.

Councilmen tabled a contract with the Union Pacific Railroad for installation and maintenance of a road crossing on Eighth Street near the Ernest Hemingway school. Council members feel the terms of the contract should be negotiated. Mayor Kenneth Ritchey said, since the railroad firm has proposed that the city finance the entire installation and maintenance.

A meeting with railroad officials will be called to clarify the contract, Ritchey said.

The seventh payment, for $7,989, was approved to Arrington Construction Co., Twin Falls, but does not include damages of about $18,000 for the delay in completion of the contract. Mayor Ritchey said the firm built the new city sewage treatment plant, but did not complete it on the specified date.

Councilmen also: — Approved a bill of $488 to JUB Engineers and approved a plat plan for the resort development Wildwood Mini-Condos to be constructed on Cottonwood Street in west Ketchum.

— Granted the firm permission to erect a barricade at the end of the street.

— Recommended to the planning and zoning commission that a portion of Main Street, from where it leaves Highway 93 to the Warm Springs road in North Ketchum, be renamed Warm Springs Road.

Nursing director selected

TWIN FALLS — Judith Roberts, 33, Hagerman, was employed as director of the new two-year registered nurses' training program at the College of Southern Idaho by CSI trustees Monday evening.

On the recommendation of CSI President Dr. James L. Taylor, the trustees approved a contract with Mrs. Roberts at a salary of $1,000 per month, effective Nov. 1. She has agreed to the terms of the contract, Dr. Taylor said.

She will have complete charge of the nursing program which will insure a state license for students after two years of study. The students will work in area hospitals and physicians' offices as a part of their training, Dr. Taylor said.

Eventually, several major areas of medical training will be included, ranging through medical services, pediatrics, obstetrics and psychiatry, among others yet to be selected, Dr. Taylor told the trustees.

The new nursing director is a graduate of Utah State University and holds a master's degree in nursing from the University of Washington.

The nursing program will be operated as an academic program through the Licensed Practical Nursing program is vocational in nature and is operated by the vocational-technical department.

Mrs. Roberts' husband, a fish biologist, will be employed by the new fish hatchery being constructed in the Hagerman Valley.

Taxis return?

TWIN FALLS — Taxicabs, not in evidence on Main Avenue in the central downtown area since the advent of the Urban Renewal project, soon may return.

City Council members Monday offered Lloyd Cox, owner of the local taxi service, an opportunity to occupy one loading zone spot in front of the Bank of Idaho on Main Avenue and two spaces in the Urban Renewal parking lot immediately behind the Bank of Idaho.

Cox was offered the lot spaces at $5 per month each and the Main Avenue spot at $10 per month on a month-to-month basis.

Hospital finance panel set

By LIZ BOLTON
Times-News Correspondent
SUN VALLEY — A special sub-committee on financial affairs was organized by the Sun Valley Hospital's board of trustees Monday.

Board members named to the committee include Ben Fletcher, Shreve Archer and Harry Holmes. They will be responsible for reviewing current financial status of the hospital and for suggesting ways to better use hospital money. The panel will review the budget and study the details of proposal for hospital expenditures.

The committee was formed to save the entire board the time of reviewing each item concerning hospital finances.

Also Monday, the Sun Valley Co. proposed the hospital's bookkeeping department be placed on data processing, now available through Sun Valley's bookkeeping department. The proposal was tabled pending investigation by the financial committee.

The board also approved the payment of $20,418 for the entire conversion process for the hospital from the Sun Valley steam heat to a private boiler system.

Contractors for the heating system installation include Richmond Construction Co., Ketchum, building, $2,550; Cleaver, Brooks Co., Salt Lake City, boilers and pumps, $7,552; First Street Plumbing, Idaho Falls, $5,283; Plumber's sheet metal work, Ketchum, $916, and Pink's Electric, Ketchum, $703. Other miscellaneous items were included in the final bill.

Winners in wool . . .

REPRESENTING IDAHO in the national finals in the Make It Yourself With Wool competition Jan. 19 in Las Vegas, Nev., will be Jennifer Drechsel, 16, right, who was selected junior division winner Monday at the Idaho Wool Growers convention at the Ponderosa Inn and Janice Cook, 18, Twin Falls, senior division winner. Miss Drechsel is from Worley.

Future bright, wool men told

BURLEY — "The sheep industry in Idaho has a bright future," Walter E. Little, New Plymouth, president of the Idaho Wool Growers Association, told members attending the state convention at the Ponderosa Inn here.

The meeting ends today with election of officers. Dr. Auttis Mullens, head of the department of animal science at the University of Idaho, Moscow, was to address the group this morning on "What's Ahead in the Sheep Industry."

"Some people will insist that we cannot graze sheep on public lands without damaging the environment," Little said, commenting on the Public Land Law Review Commission report. "But these same people will say the only way to protect or enhance the environment is to restrict all uses of public lands, except for recreation," he added.

The state president said public lands must be used to produce food and clothing. He cautioned wool growers to stay alert to legislation which would have an effect on the industry. He noted both federal and state legislation has been passed to assist grazing problems, including adjustment of grazing fees and control of predator problems.

He said the report on the public lands commission review recommended that no predator control work be done on public lands and that sheep growers could not survive without predator control.

No digging in streets at Ketchum

KETCHUM — It is now illegal for anyone to dig in the Ketchum city streets, without official permission.

City councilmen Monday night passed Ordinance 159 under emergency legislation because, Mayor Ken Ritchey said, there have been several instances of individuals digging in the street to connect their homes with trunk sewer lines, then leaving holes for the city to repair.

The ordinance, which stipulates a $300 fine or 30 days in jail, or both, for failure to comply with the law, is not aimed at the Tony Russell Construction Co., Ketchum, the mayor said. The firm is laying trunk sewer lines for the city's new sewage system.

He said individuals are not properly restoring the street to its previous condition, but leaving the holes "to look as if it is the construction company's work."

The ordinance specifies that persons receiving written permission for digging, trenching or excavating the city streets or alleys from the city, must restore the surface to its condition before the work began.

Oakley couple killed

OAKLEY — Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Poulton, longtime residents who recently moved to Sandy, Utah, were killed Monday in a train-car collision there.

Officers said both Mr. Poulton and his wife, Delores, were killed instantly when their car was struck by a train in Sandy.

Deputy Gary Mortenson said Mr. Poulton was driving and apparently didn't see or hear the train. The engineer, O.A. Snyder, 54, Farmington, said the train of six engines, six box cars and a caboose was traveling about 30 miles per hour when the collision occurred.

The lead engine hit the right front door, crumpling the car, which was pushed 800 feet down the tracks before the train could be halted. Rescuers worked 20 minutes to free the bodies from the wreckage.

Payne Mortuary, Burley, will announce funeral arrangements.

Airport session planned

GOODING — City council members will meet here Thursday noon with officials from the Federal Aviation Agency to discuss a federal loan to upgrade the Gooding airport.

The FAA representatives will come from Salt Lake City. Mayor Harley Crippen reported at the city council meeting Monday night.

Councilmen approved 12 beer licenses, including the Pastime, Stop Cafe, Painter's IGA, Safeway, Uria Grocery, BPQE, Ranch Bowl, Cook's, Jerry's Lounge, Mirimar, Lincoln Inn and Walt's.

The council decided to have gravel hauled from Allan Mink's place for 10 cents per yard. Today councilmen are meeting with the traffic safety commission to discuss traffic problems.

CSI trustee vote set for Dec. 15

TWIN FALLS — The trustee election for the College of Southern Idaho was set for Dec. 15 by the trustees, who passed a resolution setting the third Tuesday in December of even-numbered years as the election date.

The resolution will provide an automatic election date, eliminating the problem of formally setting the date, as has been done in the 1966 and 1968 elections.

Trustees Eldon Evans, Twin Falls, and Robert Blastock Jr., Filer, will seek re-election to six-year terms. Each was appointed in 1964 to the original CSI board of trustees for two-year terms and each was re-elected for four years.

Nominating petitions must be filed by Nov. 27, each signed by at least five qualified electors of the CSI district. Three polling places will be set up in Twin Falls and in nine valley communities including Jerome, Hazelton, Buhl, Filer, Hansen, Hollister, Kimberly, Castleford and Eden. In Twin Falls, polls will be set up at the courthouse, the Fine Arts Center and CSI Vocational School.

Trustees approved a 32-day extension of time for completion of the new multipurpose building and dormitory, which were originally scheduled to be ready for occupancy by the end of November. The contractor, Nielsen-Miller, said a strike of glaziers in the east which closed one factory and a delay in obtaining acoustical materials has forced the delay.

The extension of time will require completion of the buildings by the end of the year, Dr. Taylor said. It is hoped to present that students can begin moving in to the dormitory by Jan. 7, 1971, and be settled by the time the second semester begins on Jan. 11.

Dedication set Nov. 29

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho will open the new Health-Physical Education Building to the public following a dedication ceremony at 2 p. m. Nov. 29. Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president, told trustees Monday evening.

John Coleman, chairman of the board, will open the doors of the new building at 2 p. m. with a "golden key" in the ceremony. The public is invited to attend and tour the building, as well as the Shields Academic Building and Fine Arts Center, which also will be open.

The open house is scheduled from 2 to 5 p. m. Dr. Taylor said area legislators and state officials will be invited to attend the dedication.

Boise beckons

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners will be in Boise the rest of this week, Heber Loughmiller reported today.

William Chancey, chairman of the district health board, attended a meeting of the Idaho Board of Health and district representatives today. Loughmiller will accompany him and both will participate in the governor's conference on natural resources Wednesday.

Thursday and Friday, both will attend an Idaho Soil Conservation Service meeting where several items of local interest are on the agenda including reports on the proposed Rock Creek Watershed Project. They will be back in their office next week.

Commissioner Morris W. Carlson was away Monday because of the death of his mother-in-law. Other commissioners said they hoped he would be able to join them later in the week in Boise.

Water line under study

TWIN FALLS — City councilmen have postponed action on a water pressure system for a proposed mobile home park south of town.

Robert Wills, who proposed the development, told councilmen Monday night he would be able to provide his own water system by means of wells about the same cost as he could purchase water from the city and provide his own pressure system. Outside of the city water users must pay double rates for city water. The proposed park is one and one-half miles south of town across the highway from the city's storage tank but is higher than the city system and must provide pressure equipment.

Wills said he is anxious to obtain city sewer service, however, and is anxious for an answer from the city one way or another so he can go ahead with plans. Bill Powell, member of the local airport commission, was named to coordinate security and other measures at the local airport during the coming governor's conference at Sun Valley in December. The event will attract governors and other high ranking officials from throughout the nation.

In other business, city officials named Merwin Helmbolt to succeed Henry Powers on the Twin Falls Housing Authority board. Powers is moving to California for at least part of each year.

Approval was also given following a report by City Manager Millar on plans to reduce the solid waste pick up service from six to five days a week by transferring some of the Friday customers to Thursday pickup schedules and all Saturday pickups to Friday.

Frazier makes it official, wants Clay fight next

DETROIT (UPI) — If Joe Frazier successfully defends his heavyweight title on Wednesday night against Bob Foster, the champion wants to fight Cassius Clay next.

That might not come as any great surprise, but Yank Durham, Frazier's manager, finally made it official Monday. Frazier had just finished the longest, hardest training grind of his career — nearly 175 rounds of sparring over the past six weeks — and Durham sat answering questions in the middle of a crowd of fans and reporters.

"What about Clay?" asked a letter carrier standing at the edge of the crowd.

"Look," Durham replied, "We're here to fight Foster so let's talk about him."

While most of the reporters grudgingly were willing to let the subject of Clay slip away, the mailman was persistent. Durham finally shrugged and asked, "Okay, who do you want me to fight next?"

"Clay," the letter carrier said.

"If that's what you want," Durham answered, "You got him."

The manager even disclosed his demands for the bout — "split the money down the middle and give us an 18-foot ring." Clay prefers to fight in 20-foot rings because he likes the room to move.

The only obstacle standing in Frazier's way is the 6-foot-3 1/2 inch Foster. Clay, making a comeback after being stripped of the title and banned from boxing in 1964, must dispose of Argentine Oscar Bonavena on Dec. 7, and also be successful on an appeal of his draft evasion conviction.

Plunkett chosen player of year

OAKLAND (UPI) — Northern California sportswriters and sportscasters, giving credit to the best Stanford football team in nearly two decades, have named John Ralston coach of the year and quarterback Jim Plunkett offensive player of the year.

Plunkett was a unanimous pick and Ralston won by a wide margin in balloting Monday by 15 Northern California writers and broadcasters.

Ralston, the first Stanford coach to string together three winning seasons since Tiny Thornhill turned the trick in 1933-35, will be taking the Indians to the Rose Bowl this year for their first trip since 1951.

Now in his eighth year as Stanford coach, Ralston has racked up a 21-7-2 record over the past three campaigns largely due to the talent of Plunkett.

Entering next Saturday's traditional Big Game against California, Plunkett already has amassed 7,609 yards in three years to become the NCAA career leader both in total offense and passing.

The 6-3, 205-pounder from San Jose, Calif., became the first player since Craig Morton to be named Northern California offensive player of the year three seasons in a row. Morton, now a quarterback for the Dallas Cowboys, won the award in 1962-64 while playing for California.

Plunkett has outshot all other Pacific-8 Conference passers in 1970 by connecting on 171 of 321 attempts for 2,435 yards and 16 touchdowns. On the negative side, he has fired 16 interceptions.

T.F. fete Wednesday

The annual Bruin fall sports awards banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the High School cafeteria, reports Athletic Director Bob Donnelly. Featured speaker for the event — in which the Ostin Award is given — will be Idaho State head coach Ed Cavanaugh.

Court to affirm Clay case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department asked the Supreme Court Monday to affirm the conviction of former heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay for refusing induction in the army.

In a legal brief filed with the court, the Justice Department said there was no valid ground for overturning the conviction now that lower courts have ruled federal wiretaps involving Clay did not taint the evidence that brought conviction.

Clay, or Muhammad Ali as he now prefers to be called, refused induction in 1967 after failing to secure exemption as a conscientious objector and as a minister of the Black Muslim religious sect.

He subsequently was convicted for his refusal and sentenced to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

OSU closes practices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Ohio State coach Woody Hayes, saying "frankly, we don't want anybody around," closed practices this week as the Buckeyes prepare for their Big Ten showdown with Michigan.

"Our practices will be closed this week," Hayes told the weekly press luncheon gathering, "and that includes the training room. We've autographed enough footballs already. Frankly, we don't want anybody around this week."

Hayes did the same thing last year, but hopes the results will be different this time as the Buckeyes, riding a 22-game winning streak at the time, dropped a 24-12 verdict to the Wolverines.

Three to testify for NFL

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Cleveland Browns General Manager Harold Sauerbrei and coaches Nick Skorich and Howard Brinker were scheduled to testify today before a federal grand jury which is investigating possible anti-trust violations by the National Football League.

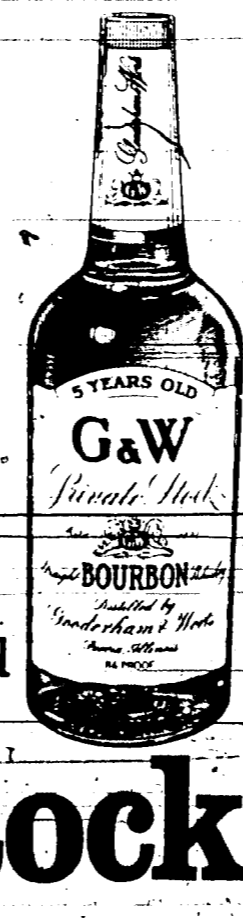

The grand jury opened its secret hearings here Monday in an investigation Justice Department officials indicated would take a month and include testimony from officials and former players of all 26 NFL teams.

Browns Coach Blanton Collier, the first witness Monday, testified for about two and one-half hours. New Orleans Saints former coach Tom Fears, fired less than two weeks ago, also testified.

Neither man would comment on his testimony.

A number of former NFL players have been subpoenaed to testify before the jury, including ex-Browns players Walter Beach and Bernie Parrish, Johnny Sample of the New York Jets and former Minnesota Viking Joe Kapp, now with the Boston Patriots.

Texas tabbed by UPI

NEW YORK (UPI) — College football's spinning wheel points toward Texas again.

For the fourth time in the last four weeks, college football's No. 1 ranking has undergone a change. This time Texas, tied for the No. 1 spot with Notre Dame last week, ranks as undisputed leader after gathering 20 first-place votes and 318 points today from the 35-member United Press International Board of Coaches.

Notre Dame slipped to second after a narrow victory over unranked Georgia Tech and high-scoring Nebraska eased past sluggish Ohio State into third. Michigan remained in the No. 5 slot, followed by Arkansas and Louisiana State.

Texas annihilated Texas Christian 58-0 as Notre Dame struggled past Georgia Tech and Ohio State squandered past Purdue by identical 10-7 scores. Nebraska made it 105 points in the last two games with a 51-13 rout of Kansas State while Michigan, with 97 points in its last two games, scored its second straight shutout, 55-0 over Iowa.

Air Force, stunned with its first loss in nine games last week, came back strong to beat Rose Bowl-bound Stanford 31-14 and grab a Sugar Bowl berth while Arizona State ran its record to 8-0 with a 37-14 triumph over Utah.

Team	Points
1. Texas (20) 18.0	318
2. Notre Dame (1) 18.0	290
3. Nebraska (6) 19.0	270
4. Ohio St. (1) 18.0	257
5. Michigan (2) 19.0	243

Only 18 teams received votes in the balloting.

Cards rip Cowboys 38-0

DALLAS (UPI) — Johnny Roland spun a three-touchdown tune and the St. Louis Cardinals rolled to an easy 38-0 National-East victory over the Dallas Cowboys Monday night for their third straight shutout — a feat unequalled since the 1935 New York Giants. Roland broke up a tight defensive struggle with a 74-yard punt return through the middle of a Cowboys defense that seemed to have every man get at least a lunge at him. That first quarter score touched off the Cards and sealed the Cowboys' doom — the first shutout Dallas has ever suffered in a National Football League game.

The five-year veteran from Missouri, who had been playing second fiddle most of this season until Cid Edwards was hurt, also scored on 10-and-three-yard runs and the Cards got a 48-yard scoring scamper from John Gilliam, a 29-yarder from Roy Shivers and a 31-yard field goal by Jim Bakken.

St. Louis		Dallas
First downs	19	14
Rushing yardage	242	103
Passing yardage	150	150
Return yardage	127	78
Plays	14:36	10:34
Punts	4-41.5	9-42.8
Fumbles lost	0	2
Yards penalized	113	39

The Cowboys, who dropped two full games back of the division leading Cardinals, floundered hopelessly on offense all night and even failed to score twice when they came up with first downs on the St. Louis five and six-yard lines.

Cotton Bowl hoping for Irish-Texas 'dream game'

DALLAS (UPI) — The Cotton Bowl will send its top officials to South Bend, Ind., Saturday with the obvious hope of setting up the first half of a potential "dream game" for the first day of 1971.

If Notre Dame bumps off Louisiana State University Saturday, and maybe even if they do not, Cotton Bowl representatives will invite the Irish for a return trip to Dallas.

The Orange Bowl will be well represented at South Bend as well, and so the choice will be up to Notre Dame.

Will the Irish agree to a Dallas trip and take a chance that the University of Texas will indeed reach the Cotton Bowl safely by defeating potent Arkansas Dec. 3?

Or will they opt for a trip to glittering Miami, an engagement with Nebraska, and perhaps as much as $100,000 more than a Dallas trip would bring them?

The Cotton Bowl folks are taking no chances.

Ken Dowell, president of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association, will be on hand for the Notre Dame-LSU game. So will the association's vice president Field Scovell.

And so will Wilbur Evans, administrative assistant to the Southwest Conference.

The Orange Bowl has the pleasant weather and the extra loot to offer, but the romance involved in a potential shootout for the national championship is a strong lure.

There is strong Midwest sentiment for such a contest.

Jerome club meets

JEROME — The Jerome Booster Club will meet Wednesday night at 8 p.m. in the junior high school, notes Athletic Director Roger Michener. Michener said the Tigers' football finale will be discussed along with the upcoming fall sports banquet.

Rockets coast by Portland

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Center Elvin Hayes fired in 29 points and snagged 23 rebounds Monday while seven of his teammates scored in double figures as San Diego whipped Portland 136-118 in the second game of a National Basketball Association twinbill.

Buffalo shot 64 per cent from the field in the first half to mount a 70-41 bulge and went on to belt Seattle 112-103 in the first game of the doubleheader.

San Diego jumped to a 73-55 halftime advantage, then hit six of its first 10 field goal tries in the second half while the Trail Blazers went 0-for-7.

The second highest scorer for the victorious Rockets was John Trapp with 19. He hit nine of 11 shots from the floor.

Hayes' board work helped the Rockets build a 77-47 rebound advantage and guard Larry Siegfried handed out an amazing number of 21 assists.

Jim Barnett, formerly a member of the Rockets, collected 24 points for the Blazers. Stan McKenzie chipped in 19.

Villanova takes title

NEW YORK (UPI) — Villanova, led by junior Donal Walsh, capped its fifth straight ICAA cross country title Monday at Van Courtland Park.

The Wildcats tallied 70 points to Pittsburgh's 79 while Walsh captured individual honors by turning in a 24:10.4 clocking over the five-mile course.

In addition to Walsh, Villanova also placed Wilson Smith fifth, Chris Mason seventh, Bill McLaughlin 29th and Byron Beam 32nd.

ask the "Answer Man"!

HE MAY TELL YOU that a "working wall" is an exterior wall... where you replace wallpaper and a small window with a beautiful fireplace, bookshelves, bric-a-brac, etc... add decorative beauty and comfort at nominal cost.

PERHAPS IT'S AN INTERIOR WALL... that now becomes a better "divider" between work and relaxation areas... a wall that houses TV, Stereo, Books, Desk for Mother's household budgeting... or for student studies.

AND THEN MAYBE... it's a "when guests arrive" wall... one that adds to sleep-space by night... makes an extra bedroom out of the family room!

COULD BE JUST HALF-A-WALL by day... one that conceals TV, Books, and etc. while serving as a snack bar... then helps close off the kitchen or dining area when reinforced with a folding partition.

SIC will ask for playoff

The Southern Idaho Conference will ask the Idaho Interscholastic Activities association for permission to playoff their divisional leaders for the conference championship in an added 11th game, hopefully beginning next year.

The group remained undecided whether it wanted the top two teams or the top four teams in the playoffs and this will be discussed and brought before the group again by committee recommendation in January. The committee also will recommend a system for dividing the net game proceeds among the 12 member schools. It was pointed out that under any condition the conference would want to maintain control of the playoffs.

The routine, quiet meeting was largely spent arriving at football schedules for the 1971 and 1972 seasons.

Manning leaves hospital

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Archie Manning, his injured left arm in a still damp cast, left the hospital Monday after convincing his doctor that he just couldn't wait another day.

He put this new cast on about 9:30 this morning, the Ole Miss quarterback said, and then told me it would be tomorrow before I could leave. "I finally persuaded him that it would be all right for me to leave today," said Manning, a small grin on his lips.

Manning was admitted to the hospital Sunday, Nov. 8, and underwent surgery the next day.

Denver files suit on group

DENVER (UPI) — The Denver Rockets and the Ringsby Truck Lines, Inc., announced Monday they had filed suit in California against All Pro Management, Inc., and two men for "wrongfully interfering in contractual relationships with Spencer Haywood."

The Rockets spokesman said the two Denver-based companies also were asking punitive damages of $1 million for slander.

The spokesman said the suit was filed against the management company, Al Ross and Marshall Boyer.

Liberal aid eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite its campaign criticism of "radical liberals," the Nixon administration is looking to Senate liberals to salvage its far-reaching welfare reforms and water down a restrictive trade bill.

Without the liberals' vote, the White House has little hope of saving the welfare bill — the most far-reaching social legislation since the New Deal — or of defusing the trade bill, which it feels would alienate allies and reverse free trade policies dating back to the Franklin Roosevelt era.

But Senate conservatives could very well undercut the administration's plans in the post-election session which starts Monday and which Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott flatly predicts will be a "disaster."

On trade and welfare, the conservatives hope to maneuver themselves into a position to offer this deal to the liberals and moderates, who outnumber them: You take a trade bill you dislike and we'll accept a tiny portion of a welfare bill we find repugnant.

A deal like that may easily collapse in a Senate still sensitive to the wounds of the election campaign, so predictions are risky.

For example, defeated Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who was the No. 1 campaign target of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, could well decide the issue.

Gore used to be — and still may be — the foremost free trader on the conservative-dominated Senate Finance Committee. He comes from Carthage, Tenn., hometown of the late Cordell Hull, FDR's Secretary of State who was the architect of America's free trade posture.

If Gore filibusters the trade bill, it might sink in a busy session, carrying with it the welfare proposals, keystone of the administration's domestic proposals. Finance Committee conservatives hope to lump both trade and welfare into a politically popular bill offering a 10 per cent Social Security benefits increase effective Jan. 1.

Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., said all three issues must be linked together because the Social Security bill may be "the last train out of the station."

Once on the floor with their bill, committee conservatives then could offer to the liberals their you-scratch-my-back, I'll-scratch-yours proposal.

The administration is deeply dissatisfied with the dry run welfare compromise framed by the Finance Committee. It is counting on the Senate as a whole, predominantly the Democrats, to salvage the full $4 billion family assistance plan which Nixon proposed in June, 1969, as an alternative to the present costly welfare system that nobody likes.

Issues ignored, Harris says

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Former Democratic National Chairman Fred R. Harris says voters were apathetic in this year's election because real issues were ignored and people didn't believe what politicians told them.

Harris, a U.S. Senator from Oklahoma, in analyzing the recent campaign, said Republicans set a theme of "fear and frustration."

"They tried to make an issue of a basic and justified fear of crime and disturbances, but they couldn't make an issue of it, because there weren't two sides," Harris said. "They tried to get elected by paraphrasing fears of the people without offering solutions."

"They never got down to the basic questions people have: 'One — what happens when I get old?'"

"Two — if I get sick? Three — what chance in life will my child have? Four — will my family be safe? Five — where can I find a job? Six — will we have peace?'"

"That is what is on people's minds," Harris said. "I think the major characteristic of the 1970 elections was apathy because the campaigns didn't focus on these issues."

"They kept restating peoples' fears and frustrations, and Democrats spent most of their time defending, as they had to. And, we didn't advance on the thinking on their basic issues."

"For example, there was no discussion on issues such as national health insurance."

Harris said he visited 27 states in the campaign and "the one basic characteristic common to every state ... is that people don't care that much about who's elected. I think that's a very alarming and instructive fact. We'd better think about that."

"The most dangerous, but the most common thing I've found, is that people do not basically believe politicians are going to do anything for them," he said.

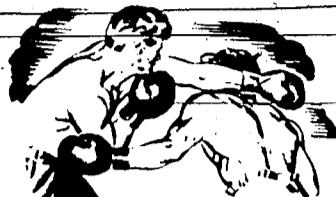

He said Republicans in the recent campaign "tried to make it appear one party is siding with rock throwers and obscenity throwers and the other party is against that. People were too smart to believe that."

For Democrats to win in 1972, Harris said, "I believe we have got to put together a new populism based on issues, and they cut across a lot of lines."

He said Adlai Stevenson was successful in Illinois and Jack Gilligan in Ohio because "they put together a coalition of blue collar, blacks, young people and middle income which won, which shows the effects of the new populist coalition built on their issues."

Senate leadership switch mullied

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — Not much was being said about it, but there was some talk of trying to get one of the key Democratic leadership positions in the Senate switched to a northern Idaho senator at caucuses held Sunday night at the annual fall meeting of the North Idaho Chamber of Commerce.

Each year the chamber hosts the legislators prior to the legislative session to show them the problems of the northern part of the state.

Even though there was some talk of the switch, right now John Evans, Mald, and Ray Rigby, Rexburg, appear to be the only announced candidates for the jobs of Senate minority leader and assistant minority leader.

The talk for a northern Idaho man to take over one of these two posts stemmed from the strong showing for Democrats at the polls in the northern part of the state during the Nov. 3 general election.

The other position yet to be picked is that of caucus chairman. That is currently held by a northern Idaho man, Art Murphy, Mullan.

On the GOP side, Wayne Kidwell, Boise, has announced for the majority leaders job. He would succeed Phil Batt, Wilder, who did not seek re-election.

James Ellsworth, Leadore, appeared in the saddle for re-election as president pro tem, while David Bivens, Payette, was heading for the assistant majority leader's spot to replace John Barker, Buhl.

The Senate Affairs Committee, one of the most powerful units in the Senate, probably will be chaired again by H. Dean Summers, Boise.

GOP caucus chairman may be a three-way contest between Barker, Walter H. Yarbrough, Grandview, and Reed W. Budge, Soda Springs.

"The question to be answered yet," Kidwell said, "is whether caucus chairman will be a member of the leadership, and if so, whether he will be allowed to be a committee chairman as well."

Over in the House, Rep. Terry Crapo, Idaho Falls, probably will be re-elected majority leader.

However, a fight could develop for the assistant majority leader post currently held by Harold Snow, Moscow.

There is some chance that H. Ferd Koch, Boise, currently House State Affairs Committee chairman, might go for that GOP leadership position.

If this occurs, Snow could end up chairing state affairs.

William J. Lanting, Hollister, as expected to remain as speaker of the House and current caucus chairman Ernest Allen, Nampa, was expected to be chosen again.

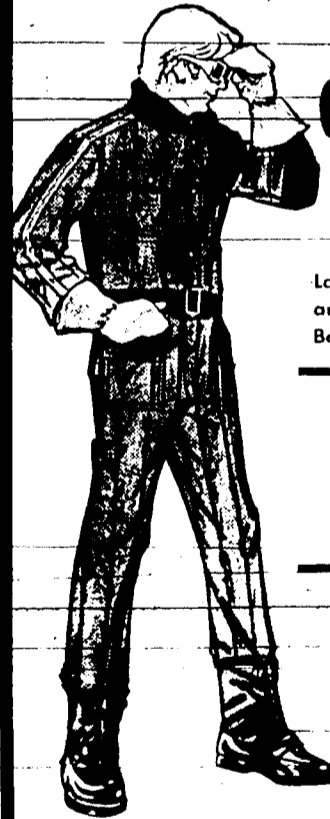

House Democrats were expected to keep Ed Williams, Lewiston, Governor-elect Cecil Andrus' campaign chairman, as minority leader with William J. Murphy as assistant leader.

Caucus chairman's job was being sought by Walter Carr, Emmett, and Karl E. Koch, Hammett.

Frazier makes it official, wants Clay fight next

DETROIT (UPI)—If Joe Frazier successfully defends his heavyweight title on Wednesday night against Bob Foster, the champion wants to fight Cassius Clay next.

That might not come as any great surprise, but Yank Durham, Frazier's manager, finally made it official Monday. Frazier had just finished the longest, hardest training grind of his career—nearly 175 rounds of sparring over the past six weeks—and Durham sat answering questions in the middle of a crowd of fans and reporters.

"What about Clay?" asked a letter carrier standing at the edge of the crowd.

"Look," Durham replied, "We're here to fight Foster so let's talk about him."

While most of the reporters grudgingly were willing to let the subject of Clay slip away, the mailman was persistent. Durham finally shrugged and asked, "Okay, who do you want me to fight next?"

"Clay," the letter carrier said.

"If that's what you want," Durham answered, "You got him."

The manager even disclosed his demands for the bout—split the money down the middle and give us an 18-foot ring. Clay prefers to fight in 20-foot rings because he likes the room to move.

The only obstacle standing in Frazier's way is the 6-foot-3 1/2 inch Foster. Clay, making a comeback after being stripped of the title and banned from boxing in 1964, must dispose of Argentine Oscar Bonavena on Dec. 7, and also be successful on an appeal of his draft evasion conviction.

Plunkett chosen player of year

OAKLAND (UPI)—Northern California sportswriters and sportscasters, giving credit to the best Stanford football team in nearly two decades, have named John Ralston coach of the year and quarterback Jim Plunkett offensive player of the year.

Plunkett was a unanimous pick and Ralston won by a wide margin in balloting Monday by 15 Northern California writers and broadcasters.

Ralston, the first Stanford coach to string together three winning seasons since Tiny Thornhill turned the trick in 1933-35, will be taking the Indians to the Rose Bowl this year for their first trip since 1951.

Now in his eighth year as Stanford coach, Ralston has racked up a 21-7-2 record over the past three campaigns largely due to the talent of Plunkett.

Entering next Saturday's traditional Big Game against California, Plunkett already has amassed 7,609 yards in three years to become the NCAA career leader both in total offense and passing.

The 6-3, 205-pounder from San Jose, Calif., became the first player since Craig Morton to be named Northern California offensive player of the year three seasons in a row. Morton, now a quarterback for the Dallas Cowboys, won the award in 1962-64 while playing for California.

Plunkett has outshot all other Pacific-8 Conference passers in 1970 by connecting on 171 of 321 attempts for 2,435 yards and 16 touchdowns. On the negative side, he has fired 16 interceptions.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department asked the Supreme Court Monday to affirm the conviction of former heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay for refusing induction in the army.

In a legal brief filed with the court, the Justice Department said there was no valid ground for overturning the conviction now that lower courts have ruled federal wiretaps involving Clay did not taint the evidence that brought conviction.

Clay, or Muhammad Ali as he now prefers to be called, refused induction in 1967 after failing to secure exemption as a conscientious objector and as a minister of the Black Muslim religious sect.

He subsequently was convicted for his refusal and sentenced to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

OSU closes practices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Ohio State coach Woody Hayes, saying "frankly, we don't want anybody around," closed practices this week as the Buckeyes prepare for their Big Ten showdown with Michigan.

"Our practices will be closed this week," Hayes told the weekly press luncheon gathering, "and that includes the training room. We've autographed enough footballs already. Frankly, we don't want anybody around this week."

Hayes did the same thing last year, but hopes the results will be different this time as the Buckeyes, riding a 22-game winning streak at the time, dropped a 24-12 verdict to the Wolverines.

Three to testify for NFL

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Cleveland Browns General Manager Harold Sauerbrey and coaches Nick Skorich and Howard Brinker were scheduled to testify today before a federal grand jury which is investigating possible anti-trust violations by the National Football League.

The grand jury opened its secret hearings here Monday in an investigation Justice Department officials indicated would take a month and include testimony from officials and former players of all 26 NFL teams.

Browns' Coach Blanton Collier, the first witness Monday, testified for about two and one-half hours. New Orleans Saints former coach Tom Fears, fired less than two weeks ago, also testified.

Neither man would comment on his testimony.

A number of former NFL players have been subpoenaed to testify before the jury, including ex-Browns players Walter Beach and Bernie Parrish, Johnny Sample of the New York Jets and former Minnesota Viking Joe Kapp, now with the Boston Patriots.

Cards rip Cowboys 38-0

DALLAS (UPI)—Johnny Roland spun a three-touchdown tune and the St. Louis Cardinals rolled to an easy 38-0 National East victory over the Dallas Cowboys Monday night for their third straight shutout—a feat unequalled since the 1935 New York Giants.

Roland broke up a tight defensive struggle with a 74-yard punt return through the middle of a Cowboys defense that seemed to have every man get at least a lunge at him. That first quarter score touched off the Cards' and sealed the Cowboys' doom—the first shutout Dallas has ever suffered in a National Football League game.

The five-year veteran from Missouri, who had been playing second fiddle most of this season until Cid Edwards was hurt, also scored on 10-and-three-yard runs and the Cards got a 48-yard scoring scamper from John Gilliam, a 29-yarder from Roy Shivers and a 31-yard field goal by Jim Bakken.

Cotton Bowl hoping for Irish-Texas 'dream game'

DALLAS (UPI)—The Cotton Bowl will send its top officials to South Bend, Ind., Saturday with the obvious hope of setting up the first half of a potential "dream game" for the first day of 1971.

If Notre Dame bumps off Louisiana State University Saturday, and maybe even if they do not, Cotton Bowl representatives will invite the Irish for a return trip to Dallas.

The Orange Bowl will be well represented at South Bend as well, and so the choice will be up to Notre Dame.

The Cowboys, who dropped two full games back of the division leading Cardinals, floundered hopelessly on offense all night and even failed to score twice when they came up with first downs on the St. Louis five and six-yard lines.

Rockets coast by Portland

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Center Elvin Hayes fired in 29 points and snagged 23 rebounds Monday while seven of his teammates scored in double figures as San Diego whipped Portland 136-118 in the second game of a National Basketball Association twinbill.

Buffalo shot 64 per cent from the field in the first half to mount a 70-41 bulge and went on to belt Seattle 112-103 in the first game of the doubleheader.

San Diego jumped to a 73-55 halftime advantage, then hit six of its first 10 field goal tries in the second half while the Trail Blazers went 0-for-7.

The second highest scorer for the victorious Rockets was John Trapp with 19. He hit nine of 11 shots from the floor.

Ever hear of a "WORKING WALL"

ask the "Answer Man"!

HE MAY TELL YOU that a "working wall" is an exterior wall... where you replace wallpaper and a small window with a beautiful fireplace, bookshelves, bric-a-brac, etc... add decorative beauty and comfort at nominal cost.

PERHAPS IT'S AN INTERIOR WALL... that now becomes a better "divider" between work and relaxation areas... a wall that houses TV, Stereo, Books, Desk for Mother's household budgeting... or for student studies.

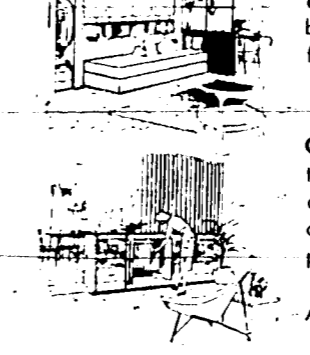

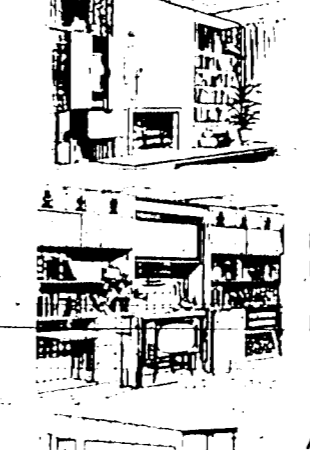

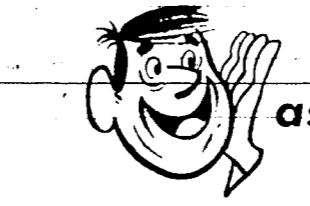

AND THEN MAYBE... it's a "when guests arrive" wall... one that adds to sleep-space by night... makes an extra bedroom out of the family room!

COULD BE JUST HALF-A-WALL by day... one that conceals TV, Books, and etc. while serving as a snack bar... then helps close off the kitchen or dining area when reinforced with a folding partition.

Liberal aid eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite its campaign criticism of "radical liberals," the Nixon administration is looking to Senate liberals to salvage its far-reaching welfare reforms and water down a restrictive trade bill.

Without the liberals' vote, the White House has little hope of saving the welfare bill — the most far-reaching social legislation since the New Deal — or of defusing the trade bill, which it feels would alienate allies and reverse free trade policies dating back to the Franklin Roosevelt era.

But, Senate conservatives could very well undercut the administration's plans in the post-election session which starts Monday and which Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott flatly predicts will be a "disaster."

On trade and welfare, the conservatives hope to maneuver themselves into a position to offer this deal to the liberals and moderates, who outnumber them: You take a trade bill you dislike and we'll accept a tiny portion of a welfare bill we find repugnant.

A deal like that my easily collapse in a Senate still sensitive to the wounds of the election campaign, so predictions are risky.

For example, defeated Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who was the No. 1 campaign target of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, could well decide the issue.

Gore used to be — and still may be — the foremost free trader on the conservative-dominated Senate Finance Committee. He comes from Carthage, Tenn., hometown of the late Cordell Hul, FDR's Secretary of State who was the architect of America's free trade posture.

If Gore filibusters the trade bill, it might sink in a busy session, carrying with it the welfare proposals, keystone of the administration's domestic proposals.

Finance Committee conservatives hope to lump both trade and welfare into a politically popular bill offering a 10 per cent Social Security benefits increase effective Jan. 1.

Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., said all three issues must be linked together because the Social Security bill may be "the last train out of the station."

Once on the floor with their bill, committee conservatives then could offer to the liberals their you-scratch-my-back, I'll-scratch-yours proposal.

The administration is deeply dissatisfied with the dry run welfare compromise framed by the Finance Committee. It is counting on the Senate as a whole, predominantly the Democrats, to salvage the full $4 billion family assistance plan which Nixon proposed in June, 1969, as an alternative to the present costly welfare system that nobody likes.

Issues ignored, Harris says

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Former Democratic National Chairman Fred R. Harris says voters were apathetic in this year's election because real issues were ignored and people didn't believe what politicians told them.

Harris, a U.S. Senator from Oklahoma, in analyzing the recent campaign, said Republicans set a theme of "fear and frustration."

"They tried to make an issue of a basic and justified fear of crime and disturbances, but they couldn't make an issue of it because there weren't two sides," Harris said. "They tried to get elected by paraphrasing fears of the people without offering solutions."

"They never got down to the basic questions people have: 'One — what happens when I get old?'"

"Two — if I get sick? 'Three — what chance in life will my child have?'"

"Four — will my family be safe? "Five — where can I find a job? "Six — will we have peace?"

"That is what is on people's minds," Harris said. "I think the major characteristic of the 1970 elections was apathy because the campaigns didn't focus on these issues."

"They kept restating peoples' fears and frustrations, and Democrats spent most of their time defending, as they had to. And, we didn't advance on the thinking on their basic issues."

"For example, there was no discussion on issues such as national health insurance."

Harris said he visited 27 states in the campaign and "the one basic characteristic common to every state is that people don't care that much about who's elected. I think that's a very alarming and instructive fact. We'd better think about that."

"The most dangerous, but the most common thing I've found, is that people do not basically believe politicians are going to do anything for them," he said. He said Republicans in the recent campaign "tried to make it appear one party is siding with rock throwers and obscenity throwers and the other party is against that. People were too smart to believe that."

For Democrats to win in 1972, Harris said, "I believe we have got to put together a new populism based on issues, and they cut across a lot of lines."

He said Adlai Stevenson was successful in Illinois and Jack Gilligan in Ohio because "they put together a coalition of blue collar, blacks, young people and middle income which won, which shows the effects of the new populist coalition built on their issues."

"I think this is very significant of how candidates can run in 1972."

As for Democratic presidential possibilities, Harris said Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine is "way out in front."

Harris, who is a candidate for re-election in 1972, said he has been concentrating on fence building at home "but I'm keeping my options open."

Senate leadership switch mulled

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — Not much was being said about it, but there was some talk of trying to get one of the key Democratic leadership positions in the Senate switched to a northern Idaho senator at caucuses held Sunday night at the annual fall meeting of the North Idaho Chamber of Commerce.

Each year the chamber hosts the legislators prior to the legislative session to show them the problems of the northern part of the state.

Even though there was some talk of the switch, right now John Evans, Mald, and Ray Rigby, Rexburg, appear to be the only announced candidates for the jobs of Senate minority leader and assistant minority leader.

The talk for a northern Idaho man to take over one of these two posts stemmed from the strong showing for Democrats at the polls in the northern part of the state during the Nov. 3 general election.

The other position yet to be picked is that of caucus chairman. That is currently held by a northern Idaho man, Art Murphy, Mullan.

On the GOP side, Wayne Kidwell, Boise, has announced for the majority leaders job. He would succeed Phil Batt, Wilder, who did not seek re-election.

James Ellsworth, Leadore, appeared in the saddle for re-election as president pro tem, while David Bivens, Payette, was heading for the assistant majority leader's spot to replace John Barker, Buhl.

The Senate Affairs Committee, one of the most powerful units in the Senate, probably will be chaired again by H. Dean Summers, Boise.

GOP caucus chairman may be a three-way contest between Barker, Walter H. Yarbrough, Grandview, and Reed W. Budge, Soda Springs.

"The question to be answered yet," Kidwell said, "is whether caucus chairman will be a member of the leadership, and if so, whether he will be allowed to be a committee chairman as well."

Over the in the House, Rep. Terry Crapo, Idaho Falls, probably will be re-elected majority leader.

However, a fight could develop for the assistant majority leader post currently held by Harold Snow, Moscow.

There is some chance that H. Ferd Koch, Boise, currently House State Affairs Committee chairman, might go for that GOP leadership position. If this occurs, Snow could end up chairing state affairs.

William J. Lanting, Hollister, as expected to remain as speaker of the House and current caucus Chairman Ernest Allen, Nampa, was expected to be chosen again.

House Democrats were expected to keep Ed Williams, Lewiston, Governor-elect Cecil Andrus' campaign chairman, as minority leader with William J. Murphy as assistant leader.

Caucus chairman's job was being sought by Walter Carr, Emmett, and Karl E. Koch, Hammett.

U.S., Russia conclude pact barring Cuba sub stations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and Russia apparently have concluded an informal agreement under which the Soviet Union has pledged not to build naval bases on Cuban soil while reserving the right for its submarines and other ships to call at Cuban ports.

Under the unwritten U.S.-Soviet agreement, as best as could be determined, there is no restriction against the anchoring of floating Soviet service facilities in Cuban ports with the permission of the Cuban government.

The agreement appears to have been worked out through at least one secret meeting between U.S. and Soviet representatives after Sept. 25, the day that Nixon administration officials warned about Soviet construction activity at Cienfuegos Bay which could be a submarine base.

The officials said the activity might violate the 1962 agreement between the late President John F. Kennedy and former Soviet Prime Minister Nikita S. Khrushchev under which the Soviet Union promised to withdraw its missiles from Cuba and not reintroduce offensive weapons on the Caribbean island, while the United States pledged not to invade Cuba.

Among some of the equipment which caused U.S. intelligence experts concern were the presence in Cienfuegos Harbor of one submarine tender, one rescue salvage tug, and two repair barges.

Makeup of board attacked

POCATELLO (UPI) — A change in the composition of the control board of the Idaho State University Minidome has been asked by Bill Isley, student body president.

Isley suggested the board have five students as voting members, along with two administrators and two faculty. He said a student should head the board. He said, "students should be allowed to control their building. If student control isn't achieved now, it will never happen."

He added that student funds had built the domed structure after the state and community turned down fund requests.

Nixon eyes Ted in '72

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Nixon has told his staff and political friends he expects Sen. Edward M. Kennedy to be his Democratic opponent in 1972, Time magazine reported Sunday.

Time reported that Nixon is one of the few political observers who discount the Democrat considered most likely to be the nominee, Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine. He also has counted on his 1968 opponent, Sen. Elect Hubert H. Humphrey.

New canal supported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A presidential commission will recommend to President Nixon Dec. 1 the construction of a second Panama Canal costing about $3.5 billion, informed sources said today.

The Atlantic-Pacific Inter-Oceanic Study Commission, appointed after the 1964 Panama riots, has concluded that the new canal should be excavated by conventional means rather than by nuclear explosives, they said.

In six years of study, the commission examined 34 possible routes through five countries but has come out unequivocally for the so-called Route 10. This proposed route lies 10 miles west of the present Panama Canal and five miles beyond the U.S.-controlled Canal Zone which divides Panama.

Construction of the new canal would have to be negotiated by the United States and Panama.

After the 1964 Panama riots, the two countries worked out new arrangements for running the present canal through a measure of joint control. The Panama legislature, however, never ratified the results of the negotiations.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF LETTING
Sealed proposals will be received by the Idaho Board of Highway Directors of the State of Idaho, only at the office of the Department of Highways, 3211 West State Street, Boise, Idaho, until two o'clock p.m. on the 8th day of December, 1970, for constructing the roadway, a 204 foot steel and concrete bridge, a road mix pavement and seal coat on approximately 6 1/2 miles of the Murfough Loop, known as Idaho Federal Aid Project No. S-2745(1) and Idaho Project Nos. ST 2744(501) and ST 2745(501) in Twin Falls County.

The State Highway Department, in accordance with the provisions of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (78 Stat. 252) and the regulations of the Department of Commerce (15 C.F.R. Part 8), issued pursuant to such Act, hereby notifies all bidders that it will affirmatively insure that the contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder without discrimination on the ground of race, color, or national origin.

NOTICE TO FEDERAL AID CONSTRUCTION CONTRACTORS
Proposals must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the requirements of Section 102 Proposal Requirements and Conditions of the Idaho Standard Specifications for Highway Construction, Edition of 1967.

Plans, specifications, form of contract, proposal forms, and other information may be obtained at the office of the Department of Highways, Boise, Idaho, and from the District Engineer at Shoshone, Idaho.

A charge of ten dollars ($10.00) will be made for each set of plans, payment to be made by check, payable to the Department of Highways, or a Bidder's Bond.

Bidders shall be licensed in the State of Idaho by the State Contractors License Board except on projects involving Federal Funds. The successful bidder on projects involving Federal funds shall obtain such a license before award will be made, as provided in Subsection 107.03 of the Idaho Standard Specifications, Edition of 1967.

The contractor will be required to pay not less than the minimum wage rates on Form SP-L-111, as determined by the Secretary of Labor for the project as set out in the advertised specifications and bid proposal. Such rates will be made a part of the contract covering the project.

The Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (U.S.C.A. Title 29, Pars. 201-219, Chap. 8) shall apply in the employment of labor for this project. It is the purpose of the Board of Highway Directors to build the improvement in the shortest time consistent with good construction. Necessary equipment and an effective organization will be insisted upon.

Jet still lost

MOUNTAIN HOME AFB, Idaho (UPI) — More than 60,000 square miles have been covered in the search for an RF4C Phantom II jet, but an Air Base spokesman said Monday there is still no sign of the airplane or its two crew members.

The reconnaissance jet, part of the 67th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, failed to return from a training mission Friday. On board were a pilot, Maj. Carlton Sprague, 44, and a navigator, Capt. Terrence Andrews, 25.

Col. Henry Warren, commander of the wing, said the search is being coordinated by Jerre Maiden of the 42nd Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Service of Hamilton AFB, Calif.

Warren said the search would continue until "deemed completely a lost cause."

He said those taking part in the search had flown 220 sorties since the search began Thursday.

Grange asks farm act

BOISE (UPI) — Delegates to the 104th annual meeting of the National Grange urged Monday "immediate and affirmative action on the Agricultural Act of 1970."

The resolution approved by the membership said while the proposed legislation fell short of National Grange objectives, they found the farm bill better than the other two alternatives: no new legislation or simple extension of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965, which "would leave farmers without fixed floors under wheat and feed grains and without improvements in the dairy title."

Delegates approved another resolution reaffirming the desire to retain the Forest Service, the Soil Conservation Service and other farm-related public agencies in the department where agriculture's needs and interests are the primary responsibility.

The Grange will send to President Nixon, Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin and Interior Secretary Walter Hinkle a resolution recommending a one-year extension of the moratorium on increased grazing fees put on by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Department of Interior. The moratorium would end in January, 1971.

The delegates accepted several resolutions from its Conservation and Natural Resource Committee, one of which opposed long periods of moratorium on construction of river development projects which engineering studies "clearly show to be in the best interests of the general public."

Other resolutions approved include:

—Support for appropriations sufficient to complete the Columbia Basin Project on an orderly basis.

—Weighing costs of water development projects against the value of benefits anticipated, including irrigation reclamation costs.

—Opposition to establishment of any new wilderness areas, national parks or national rivers "where it appears the U.S. Forest Service is performing in the best interest of the public and such creations would not be to the benefit of the majority of the people."

—Reaffirmation of the stand approving extension of navigation on the Upper Columbia River from the head of McNary Pool to Wenatchee, Wash.

—A request that the Federal Power Commission review licenses to publicly-owned facilities as they expire and see that such installations are being operated in the public interest before new licenses are issued.

—A strong press for a positive and progressive coordinated approach to air and water pollution.
