Unemployment rises with season

BY BONNIE DAVID JONES - Twin Falls - Longer store hours and stepped-up retail sales for Christmas shopping have done little to slow down the seasonal rise in unemployment. Officials at the Idaho Department of Employment office here say there are few jobs available but numerous applicants on the list. Cahill, employment office, said six weeks ago there were more jobs than workers but the situation has reversed completely since the end of the agricultural harvest season. Since the Christmas sales season began, she said, only two requests for workers have been filled by the local agency. Most merchants, Miss Cahill said, maintain part-time help throughout the year and they increase the hours of these workers over the holiday shopping period. She estimated at least a 20 percent of the farm workers who came to the area for fall work have remained and not all have obtained other work at this point. John Leinen, employment department office manager, said construction work is slow beginning next week and winter weather conditions and a number of these workers will also be looking for winter work. He said most of the job seekers

The witness, a machine-gunner, testified Calley, 27, accused of murdering 22 Vietnamese civilians, asked him to turn his weapon on the group and he refused. Reds bombard bases, cities

SAIGON (UPI) - North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces bombarded more than a score of U.S. and South Vietnamese bases and towns Tuesday night and today in a series of attacks. Military spokesmen said a heavy toll of dead and wounded. It was the heaviest artillery attacks by the Communists in weeks. Four American air bases were among the targets of the attacks but the worst losses were suffered in the Mokong Delta town of Kiep An, 127 miles southwest of Saigon. It was hit with more than 50 rounds of heavy mortar fire. Military sources said six South Vietnamese troops were killed and 9 others wounded along with two civilians. The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese took advantage of a moonless night to fire on at least 22 Allied bases, outposts and towns across South Vietnam. Among the targets were the U.S. air installation at Cam Ranh Bay, 185 miles northeast of Saigon; Ban Me Thuot 104 miles north-northeast of the capital; Phu Cat, 281 miles to the northeast and Pleiku, 230 miles north-northeast of Saigon. The U.S. Military Command described casualties and damage in the attacks as "light." The U.S. Command also announced that a U.S. F4 Phantom jet crashed today in the Laotian lower panhandle. The two crewmen were rescued. Military spokesmen said four U.S. GIs were killed in the crash of a U.S. Army OH58 Kiowa helicopter, 29 miles northeast of Pleiku. Military sources in Saigon said at least 13 South Vietnamese were wounded early today in rocket attacks against Quang Ngai City, 318 miles north-northeast of Saigon and the district town of Song Cau nearby.

60-cent pay hike approved

TWIN FALLS - Employees of Swift and Company meat-packing plant at Twin Falls will receive 60.5 cents per hour in additional wages over a three-year period under terms of a new contract with the meat cutters union. Members of the Butcher Workmen of North America, Local 388, ratified a three-year contract Tuesday after brief negotiations with company officials. The new contract provides a pay raise of 20.5 cents per hour for the first year, and 20 cents per hour in each of the following two years, according to J. Paul Mals, Boise, secretary-treasurer and executive officer of the union. In addition, some skilled employees will receive additional increases up to 75 cents per hour over the new wage scale. Fringe benefits were also rewritten, with about 6.5 cents per hour added to the package, including an additional paid holiday, improved vacations, premium pay for night and Sunday work and a new funeral leave for employees. Mals said he felt the settlement is a good, workable agreement, and will add about $10 per week to the pay of all employees, plus the fringe benefits. Company negotiators included Elmer Hagerty, plant manager; Earl Johnson, office manager; and John Lively, plant superintendent.

Water application for springs

BURLEY - An application for a permit for additional water from Thousand Springs was attacked at a hearing conducted in Burley Tuesday by the Idaho Department of Water Administration. Judge Willis Ritter, Salt Lake City, on whose land the water is located, and Bruce Bowler, Boise, attorney for Environmental Council, Inc., opposed approval of the application on grounds the beauty of the area will be harmed and access to the Snake River lost. Norman Standel and George Lemmon, Hagerman, filed application for the water. They are building a five-watery in Hagerman Valley in association with other stockholders in the firm of Magic Springs, Inc. Approval was granted in November for water from Bickel Springs. The present application is for water from Minnie Miller Falls, which comes from the same area.

'Witch' teacher charged

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—The Board of Education of a small school district here has charged Mrs. Ann Stewart, an English teacher, with affecting her students "psychologically" by claiming to be a witch and teaching the black arts.

Flowing Walls District Superintendent Marlin Yoder officially suspended Mrs. Stewart last week after other administrative officials said she told her students she was a witch and believed in witchcraft.

One of her students said Tuesday that she felt the teacher really believed she was a witch. However, the student said Mrs. Stewart did not try to influence or convince her students of the reality of witchcraft.

Mrs. Stewart has appealed the board decision and a hearing date of Dec. 9 was set Tuesday after the board agreed to her attorney's request that the meeting be held privately.

The attorney, Edward Morgan, said that the whole thing was a misunderstanding. He said some of Mrs. Stewart's statements in the classroom were taken out of context and that there had been misinterpretations of her actions.

Yoder filed five charges against Mrs. Stewart, who has been at Flowing Walls High School the past 11 years. One was "teaching about witchcraft and stating that you are a witch-in-such-a-way-that-it affects students psychologically."

Guard killed in heist

MACON, Ga. (UPI)—A Wells Fargo guard died Tuesday defending $85,000 he carried to Sears, Roebuck store crowded with Christmas shoppers.

The guard, Rex E. Brantley, 49, wrestled one of a gang believed to include six gunmen through two offices before he was shot down.

Officers reconstructing the daring robbery said the gunman may finally have taken Brantley's gun out of his hand as they struggled and turned it on him.

Then the gunman's partner rushed in and fired another shot into the guard officers' heads.

Police said eight shots were fired. Two women sitting in the office, one with a child in her arms, were hit by ricocheting bullets.

Two gunmen showed up in the upstairs business office at the same time the Wells Fargo shipment of currency arrived about 12:30 p.m. Tuesday. Officers said the other four apparently waited in a car.

Attorney sought

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The mysterious disappearance of defense attorney Ronald Hughes has stalled the 8-month-old Tio-Lablanca murder trial for two consecutive days and prompted authorities to order a helicopter search for Hughes in a mountain wilderness area.

Hughes, who represents Leslie Van Houten, 20, supposedly was stranded in the Los Padres National Forest by flooding and mudslides from a heavy rain-storm during the weekend.

Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older issued a "body attachment" which directed the sheriff's fugitive detail to use all possible means to find the bearded lawyer and bring him to court. Sheriff's deputies said a helicopter search would begin today in the Sespe wilderness area.

Inflation alert scored

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Nixon administration's latest "inflation alert"—urging business and labor to forego price and wage hikes—has come under almost immediate attack from organized labor as unfair to the nation's workers.

Workers should bear the major burden of the administration's game plan to slow down inflation," Meany said in a statement. "I don't buy that and American workers won't buy that."

one company—General Motors—and to only one union—the United Auto Workers... Leohard, Woodcock, UAW president, said the wage increases recently won by his union at GM actually were "counter-inflationary" and "any price increases that are caused by the cost of living increases at GM will be because the Nixon administration is not following proper fiscal and monetary policies and is allowing inflation in the United States to continue unchecked."

AFL-CIO President George Meany said Tuesday's report was "heavily weighted against wage increases for workers, but is very solicitous about profits of business."

Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said the primary objective of the report was to marshal public opinion against inflationary increases in wages and prices. But the report pointed by name to only

Apollo testing delayed

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The space agency is holding up resumption of systems testing of the Apollo 14 moonship until word is received on the results of tests on questionable service module oxygen line welds.

The welds came under scrutiny when a technician accidentally grabbed a 4-inch stainless steel tube and cracked a weld. The welding was performed with a new process and officials became concerned when the weld cracked under a relatively slight load.

Tests were being run at the North American Rockwell Corp. plant at Downey, Calif., to verify the welding process and welds of the type performed on Apollo 14. When the results are in, the space agency plans to resume Apollo 14 systems testing.

A space agency spokesman expected to affect the launch date for Apollo 14 astronauts Alan B. Shepard, Stuart A. Roosa and Edgar D. Mitchell.

Puzzled feeling in attack's wake

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House; the puzzled feeling here about the recently conducted U.S. raid on a prisoner of war camp near Hanoi is one of puzzlement rather than passion.

President Nixon's Vietnam policies do not seriously question the propriety of such daring and potentially exploratory missions as the helicopter-borne commando raid Nov. 21 on Son Tay — if they are effective in relieving the misery of the American prisoners and their families.

Not do they have anything but admiration for the courage and competence of the 50-odd commandos who carried out the attack on the fringes of North Vietnam's capital.

But the fact that the well conceived and executed plan failed because the prisoners had been moved indicates something awry with America's intelligence operations. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird's refusal to concede that the raid was anything but successful, or that any intelligence operation existed, has fueled the puzzle.

White House officials explain that President Nixon knew in advance there was a chance that the prisoners would not be there when the raiders arrived, but agreed to the operation anyway on the theory that it would dramatically demonstrate to both the prisoners themselves and their wives and families in the United States that they have not been forgotten.

The President, the officials say, also saw the raid as a means of focusing world attention on the plight of the prisoners in hopes of forcing Hanoi to treat them more humanely.

All of this should not obscure the central fact that more than 50 men risked their lives in an operation whose success or failure lay in its success. And it was unsuccessful because nobody knew that the prisoners had been moved several days — perhaps weeks — before the raid took place.

In his testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Laird said the United States had no intelligence agents on the ground in North Vietnam and complained that cameras have not yet been devised to see through the tops of buildings and into cellblocks.

Assuming that Laird did not mispeak himself, the implication of this is that electronic devices are the only means the United States has for gathering intelligence in North Vietnam. And despite the sophistication of these gadgets, they fall far short of trained human beings in assessing the capability, intentions and operations of the enemy.

TWIN FALLS — City council members are beginning their annual "impossible dream" of raising available funds to cover necessary operations and proposed improvements for the coming year.

Council members, City Manager Jean Miller said, feel the taxpayer is entitled to maximum service and benefits for the tax dollar. Costs are increasing in every department with higher labor and material costs. Miller's budget also Miller said to remain even with existing services will cost $1,100,000. He estimates the price of additional improvements.

Many improvements are needed in Twin Falls and this would require higher advalorem revenue, Miller said. Under present tax limits such improvements are not possible. He said that a 10 percent increase in tax revenue is a per cent a year, cities are finding it more and more difficult to raise Miller said it is hoped some additional development can be attained in the coming year on park sites such as Dierke's Lake, and has said the secondary sewerage treatment plant for Twin Falls is now in the planning stage. It must be in operation under Idaho law by the city-county Department of Health in the next few months. Regular maintenance of streets represents one of the major problems and most costly items in the city. Miller said.

"We are saddled with the problem of poorly constructed streets, built in the early days of the city and patched and repaired over the years. Moisture immediately brings break up, and maintenance is difficult. At the same time, many street users are not city taxpayers and it is difficult to ask the local taxpayers to provide funds for expensive improvement programs for streets which are not city property."

advantages of the city but pay no taxes for support of improvements," Miller said.

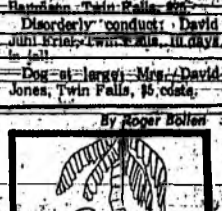

The Idaho Association of Cities is currently working on legislative drafts which would provide a more equitable distribution of funds for street and highway construction, he said.

City council members must have the final 1971 budget adopted by April 1, with an interim budget to be approved Jan. 1 to meet expenditures while the final budget is being prepared and public hearings held.

BOISE (UPI) — Chief Justice Joseph McFadden Tuesday announced appointment of R. H. (Bill) Young, Nampa, attorney and former legislative leader, as clerk of the Supreme Court. Young is a graduate of the College of Idaho and holds a law degree from George Washington University in Washington, D.C. He is a native of Twin Falls.

From December of 1941 until September of 1945 Young was a prisoner of the Japanese. He is a former justice of the peace in Nampa. He is married and has three children.

next five years to provide a new NATO communications system, strengthen airfield defenses and increase European contributions in troops and equipment to the Western Alliance.

This agreement came one day after Defense Secretary Melvin Laird announced in Washington that the United States would not make any significant reduction in its military strength of 320,000 men in Europe and the Mediterranean area before July, 1972.

Consumer measure to House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Landmark legislation designed to give the nation's consumers a new voice in government, easily cleared by the Senate, faces its most critical test in the House Rules Committee.

The measure, approved 74 to 4 by the Senate Tuesday, would create an independent consumer protection agency and a council of consumer advisers reporting directly to the President.

House backers of the legislation are confident the bill can win approval if it runs the gauntlet of the Rules Committee, chaired by Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., who is adamantly opposed. But prospects in the committee, backers concede, are no better than touch and go.

The measure would create a Council of Consumer Advisers — similar to the Council of Economic Advisers — to coordinate and develop consumer policy.

Baja California "population centers" program popular

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Five years ago 20 Mexican farmers set out to conquer and colonize an uninhabited desert in the Baja California Peninsula. They left their families in the central part of Mexico, where land available for distribution in Mexico's agrarian reform was already exhausted. In Baja California they were promised land and governmental aid. Only six months later, they began bringing their families to settle down in the town of President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, and it now has 150 families. The governor of Baja California told them before their departure that they were going off to defend a part of Mexico against its occupation by rich foreigners, especially Americans. Those 20 men suffered a great deal," recalled Mario Ulloa Chacon, a topographer who helped the colonists in the early days. "There were days when they had to eat rattlesnakes, because the food did not arrive. The government provided monthly a truckload of provisions mainly rice, beans, potatoes, wheat, tortillas but no meat or eggs. In the beginning they had to go several miles for fresh water from their little camp on the top of a rise, where they took advantage of the slight breeze from the Pacific Ocean. The farmers cleared the ground, planted a few subsistence crops and built 20 houses. They began to cultivate alfalfa, dates, figs, olives, peaches and certain species of grapes with the aim of converting the area into a cattle-raising zone. Jose Lopez Palomares, agrarian delegate for Baja California territory, told the UPI in an interview: "The conquest of the Vizcaino Desert was more difficult than the conquest of the West in the United States." In the United States the land was always optimum for crop cultivation. It rains little in the Desert of Vizcaino and water is scarce. The heat is sometimes unbearable and the farmers had to erect tactus curtains to protect their crops from sandstorms. Lopez Palomares reported that the Baja California "new population centers" program has become so popular that landless farmers all over the country are applying to go. The waiting list has 500 names. The main attraction is government help. Besides the food shipments and transportation, the government provided electricity through a mobile generator, drinking water from 25 wells drilled by the Water Resources Department and housing through credits. Norberto Aguirre, chief of the Agrarian Affairs Department, said that out of the first settlers' experience had come a "new system of colonization" in which the inhabitants of the new population center President Diaz Ordaz said: "You know that our coasts are exposed to occupations, either directly or through name-lenders. But how that these lands have been turned over to your farmers, these occupations will not take place again because the president hopes you will not permit it."

ident said: "The conquest by means of land distribution of these inhospitable lands of the Desert of Vizcaino has no precedent in Mexican colonization."

Hong Kong now has 2 TV stations

HONG KONG (UPI)—When television was first introduced in Hong Kong in 1957—Hong Kong was the first British overseas dependency to have a television station—there were only 1,500 television sets, an audience of 8,000, and 28 hours weekly broadcasting time. Today there are two television stations broadcasting 310 hours weekly over four channels—two in English and two in Chinese. Rediffusion television, the first video station in Hong Kong, provides a wired service; Hong Kong Television Broadcasts Ltd. which was established in 1967, provides wireless television. The two channels on KHTVB also provide part-time colored services. Nigel Watt, director of government information services and television authority, said there are some 484,000 television sets in Hong Kong today and an audience of 2 million—half the Colony's population. "I estimate that there is still room for a further 200,000-300,000 sets in Hong Kong before saturation is reached," Watt said.

against the North Sea, "to keep their feet dry," as some like to put it. The latest in an apparently endless series of flooding disasters occurred on Feb. 1, 1953, when the North Sea swept through the dykes, drowning 2,000 people, thousands of animals, and destroying over 50,000 houses. A permanent barrier against flooding had to be constructed in a country in which 70 per cent of the population lives below sea level and as much as 10 per cent of the total surface area is water. Thus, in 1953, the Dutch government launched the Delta Plan, estimated to cost $800 million over 25 years. The basic aim is to dam up the estuaries of what is the largest delta in Europe, and at the same time to reclaim a considerable area of land, populate, and cultivate it. The main drawback of the Delta Plan is that it would deliver the death blow to the traditional oyster, mussel and lobster culture of the area. Fish-pasture, on the other hand, are planned for the larger dams in the region.

Red buildup frets Laird

NEW YORK (UPI)—Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday that he is concerned about the momentum of the buildup of strategic weapons by Russia, which he described as a parity with the United States in most areas and even ahead in some offensive weapons. In a television interview with David Frost (Westinghouse) for release Wednesday, Laird said that if the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks with Russia in Finland are not successful and Russia keeps up its "tremendous strategic buildup," the United States is going to have to make some "tough decisions."

"We might have to go into a crash program on the underwater now submarine system (UNS) to replace our Polaris missile system," Laird said. "We may have to make some tough decisions as far as hardening of some of our land-based missile sites. We may have to go forward with the production of a new bomber." Russia's buildup began in 1965, according to Laird, and includes strategic offensive and defensive weapons, the navy and conventional forces.

"We were in a position back in 1955 when the Soviet Union was not in a role of parity as far as the United States in strategic weapons, but now it is reaching that... I think that it has (reached parity)," Laird said. "It is in a position where, as far as the strategic offensive weapons are concerned, it has gone ahead of us in some."

Laird said Vietnamization of the Vietnam War already had meant a loss of jobs to 1.5 million and probably 750,000 more will be affected. He said a Cabinet level committee was working on the transition from war to peace, especially the problem of unemployment. "Now, I believe that we have weapons to keep a sufficient military industrial labor base as far as the Department of Defense is concerned as that in the event they're needed at some future time, we can call on them," said Laird. "So as we make these changes in our economy, it is very important that we do recognize the importance of keeping up this base in America. This is the thing that made it possible for us to cope through World War II."

The U.S. population in 1960 was 62,947,714.

Protest cages

By LINDY HIGH
BOISE (UPI)—The Constitutional Revision Commission held its final meeting Tuesday afternoon with no recommendation concerning the future of the state-funded commission.
 However, members agreed to recommend the legislature continue to work for constitutional revision and offered to stand ready as individuals to assist in any way possible.
 The decisions ended discussion on whether to recommend the commission—or a similar group—be continued beyond Dec. 31, the date when the commission's statutory authorization ends.
 Carl Burko, Boise attorney, suggested the commission could use its five years of experience in drafting the revision rejected by voters Nov. 3 as a "screening" group to study any constitutional amendments proposed by the legislature.
 Some commission members held hopes something could be salvaged of the revision, but others indicated the voters' decision to reject the document should stand for the time being.
 Phyllis Smith, Idaho Falls, a co-chairman of the commission, said of those voting against the revision one-fourth "might have conscientiously felt they had not time to study it."

She said the citizens groups which worked for passage of the constitutional revision could be the "base of the people" to continue to work for revision.
 But E. B. Smith, former Supreme Court chief justice, said he felt the voters had "decided" to turn the document down, adding, "It seems to me we're just crying over spilt milk, to make any recommendations."
 Raymond L. Givens, former Supreme Court chief justice and a co-chairman of the commission, recommended against continuing the commission, noting to do so would require funding.

"I think anyone would agree it's impossible for anyone to carry in his mind what is done," Givens said, noting secretarial aid would be necessary.
 But Burke, arguing for continuation, said, "The reason we've been on this commission is that we think it's important to change the constitution and in the next decade it might be critical."
 Commission members indicated sections concerning water and local subdivisions' governments might have raised too much opposition.
 But some members went further, pinning the blame on certain opposition.

Rep. Clyde Kalshly, R-Nampa, said a railroad attorney in Pocatello was continually feeding Max Yost (executive manager of the Associated Taxpayers) information.
 Idaho Power Company was one of the groups in opposition.

System asked for Gem highway funds

BOISE (UPI)—Don Adams, Coeur d'Alene, said Tuesday the most dramatic need for improvement in the highway users fund program is for a uniform accounting system.
 Adams, chairman of the Highway Users Funds Committee, told the 80th convention of the Idaho Association of Commissioners and Clerks a study of use of the fund showed "it's impossible to determine what the revenue really is so far as streets and roads are concerned."
 "We know there are cities using highway users' revenue that aren't doing any street work," he said. "There's no uniform system of accountability."
 Adams said he, Gordon Leuy, Benewah County, and Jack Barney, Ada County, represented the clerks and commissioners at an interim legislative committee discussing solutions to revenue problems for roads and streets in the state.
 He said the three-man committee felt the formula for distribution of the highway users fund should not be disturbed at present and said they felt if additional funds are needed they should be obtained from "some other source."

The other sources, he said, could be an additional charge against the automobile of $18 per vehicle, to be distributed to the place of domicile.
 "Of course you're going to run into some problems there," he said. "You have some cities with highway districts and some highway districts within cities. Coeur d'Alene has boundaries of three highway districts within its corporate limits."
 Under the present distribution formula, he said, 85 per cent of the funds are given to the State Highway Department for primary roads and the remaining 15 per cent is distributed to cities.
 Of the 15 per cent, he said, cities receive 15 per cent, distributed on the basis of population.

Counties receive the remaining 85 per cent, along with highway districts, with 10 per cent going to each county, 45 per cent distributed on the basis of vehicles and 45 per cent on the miles of roads.
 "I personally don't know what's behind the philosophy that each county should get 10 per cent just for existing," Adams said, adding that distributing funds to cities on the basis of population turned up some "startling inequities" with funds ranging from $17 to over $2,400 per mile.

Dear Abby

housekeeper for 30 years and she thinks I'm happy because I love her. But no one can be happy with a job but another job. I've never been able to bring my friends home and I know that our children were also ashamed of the way our house looked. The daughters are married now and they are both very good housekeepers. How do you suppose that happened?

DEAR HUSBAND: First things first. You are not only 30 years too late with your complaint, but you're directing it to the wrong person. A husband doesn't have to hit his wife over the head with a broom to let her know the place needs a sweeping. Your daughters obviously regarded their mother's housekeeping as a "horrible example," and determined not to follow suit. Sometimes it works that way.

DEAR ABBY: My husband had a heart attack and it took him several months to recuperate. Naturally, during that time I had everything to do inside and outside our home. (Don't get me wrong, I'm not complaining. I was glad to do it.)

Whenever I would run into friends while shopping, they would all ask, "How is John feeling?" But one person asked, "How are you feeling, Marge?"

A wife also goes through a great deal of agony when her husband is sick, and it would be nice for people to realize this and for one of them to ask, "How are you getting along?"

IN NEED OF SYMPATHY

DEAR MARGE: How are you getting along?

DEAR ABBY: A wife asked you what you thought of a husband who got up at four in the morning and took off for a long-anticipated hunting trip, and forgot his gun! You replied, "I think whatever it was he intended to hunt, he didn't intend to shoot."

I am surprised at you, Abby. I am sure you must realize that many athletes get pre-game jitters. My brother in law was a football player and he used to get diarrhea and throw up before every game. In high school, a member of our boxing team appeared in the gym in his warm-up jacket and a jock strap. He forgot his trunks. Even some of the more experienced entertainers will tell you they still get stage fright. Their stomachs are tied up in knots, and their hearts pound like a trip hammer.

Some expectant fathers, when the baby is due, have been known to start out for the hospital without their wives. Hunters are no different? Be fair, Abby, and print this.

HUNTER'S WIFE
PARKERS-PRAIRIE, MINN.

DEAR ABBY: Why does every wedding announcement start out with "Daughter of Banker Weds?" or "Movie Executive's Daughter Marries?" Are they really announcing a nuptial or trying to promote the old man's business?

GEO, LEO & FRED

DEAR G. L. AND F.: Papa's business adds a little interest to an otherwise dull announcement. "Daughter of Oil Tycoon Weds Parking Lot Attendant" says more than "Nancy Smith and Joe Doaks Exchange Vows."

Linda Pearson weds

Calvin Holland

HANSEN — Linda Diana Gregory and Doug Stanger, Pearson daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Pearson, became the bride of Calvin Holland, Kansas City, Kan., son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Holland, Kansas City, Mo., at 2 p.m. Nov. 21, at the Church, Kimberly.

Officiated at the wedding ceremony performed before the altar. Decorations consisted of pedestal baskets containing large red and pink chrysanthemums placed at each side.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a floor-length dress of mauve silk and Chantilly lace. The simple bodice fashioned of lace, featured long cuffed sleeves and a high neckline band collar.

A train, edged in lace, joined the skirt at the back waistline. Her shoulder-length bouffant veil was held by a large lace flower encrusted with seed pearls.

She carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of large white chrysanthemums and greenery. Mrs. Pearson designed and made the wedding gown.

Mrs. Wilby Thomas, Hazelton, was matron of honor. Angie Nail and Iln Johnson, both Hansen, and Linda Neet, Kansas City, Kan., were bridesmaids. Bonnie Pearson and Ramona Pearson, sisters of the bride, were junior bridesmaids.

The flower girl, Shawanna Butler, scattered petals from a basket. Alan Holland, brother of the bride, was best man. Lynn Pearson, brother of the bride, Don Slevors and Kenney Dagner were ushers. Rodney Stanger, cousin of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin heart-shaped pillow trimmed with lace.

Mrs. Coeli Stanger was organist and accompanied Leo Stanger, uncle of the bride, and Robert High arranged the gift tables. Steven Stanger, cousin of the bride, and Roger Slevors were giftbearers.

The couple reside south of Hansen. He has accepted a position with Layne Pump Co., Kimberly.

A miscellaneous pre-nuptial shower was given for the bride by Mrs. Howard Slevors, Mrs. Leo Stanger, Mrs. Robert High and Mrs. Wayne Butler at the Slevors home.

A lingerie shower was given by Mrs. Sam Martin, Mrs. Sam Huck, Mrs. Dale Barnard and Mrs. Wilby Thomas at the Martin home.

The rehearsal party was entertained after rehearsal at the home of the bride's parents.

Gem tourists will view Waimea Canyon

Canyon is more than a view, it's an experience. The canyon, better known as "The Grand Canyon of the Pacific" is just one of many sights offered tourists visiting Kauai during the Times-News tour in February.

The canyon area, located in Kokee State Park, features Kalalau Lookout, with a view of an awe-inspiring Na Pali Coast Valley whose emerald cliffs plunge 4,000 feet to the crashing surf below.

En route down from the park, tourists will catch a glimpse of the privately-owned island of Niihau.

Stops at Menehune Ditch, Spouting Horn, Hamapepe Valley, Captain Cook's Landing and Nawiliwili Harbor are other highlights of the south shore of Kauai.

Only small portions remain of what was once a great water course or aqueduct at Menehune Ditch. Archaeologists say it was built before Hawaiians came, possibly by the Menehune.

As Spouting Horn, when tide is running high, waves are pressed through lava tubes, are forced through a hole in coastal rocks to burst into spectacular fountains of salt spray and foam.

For many years, Captain Cook's Landing, Waimea Bay, was a favorite provisioning port with Pacific traders and whalers. It is the first place in which the intrepid British explorer set foot in Hawaii.

The island of Kauai, often called the Garden Island, is considered by many the most beautiful of all. Legendary home of the Menehunes, Hawaii's "Little Men," Kauai's mystical cloak of things that were adds enchantment to its very modern things that are.

The "Magic of Hawaii" tour, scheduled to leave Twin Falls Monday, Feb. 15, will return Thursday, Feb. 25. The 10-day winter vacation is sponsored by the Times-News for its readers.

Repeal possible

HB304 revenue limits face legislative attack

(Editor's note) This is the third in a series of dispatches outlining problems confronting the first regular session of the 41st legislature. Today: Property taxes and House Bill 304.

By RICHARD CHARNICK
BOISE (UPI) — There is a distinct possibility the 41st Idaho Legislature will repeal the revenue-raising limitations of House Bill 304 but there is no clear picture on how it will help property taxpayers.

More than half of those answering a UPI questionnaire said they favor repeal of the controversial law which limits local government to a four per cent revenue increase each year.

As an escape valve, the legislature provided that hard-pressed units of government could go above the four per cent ceiling through a plebiscite or by proving a need to the State Tax Commission.

After a one-year trial, the lawmakers tried to repeal this law at the last session. Gov. Don Samuelson vetoed the bill, while other approaches to the problem were tried, no others reached his desk.

Creating a dilemma for the legislators is the fact that many local units of government do need more money to operate — some just to maintain the present level of services in inflationary times.

What is done about this dual problem may become a major effort of the 41st legislature.

From ad valorem taxes. Fought tooth and nail by local units of government — particularly cities, counties and school districts — this law was enacted to protect property owners from higher taxes through reassessment.

The only way you can do it is with a tax shift. Can't think of one that won't have as many disadvantages as advantages. (House Bill) 304 did not turn out to be major legislation. More of a nuisance tax. Did smoke out reserves the first year.

A Democratic member of that committee — one who asked that his name not be used — thinks he has the answer. He recommends "repeal 304 (and) put a tax on utilities so they would be where they were... it might have to be gross receipts."

Some feel the answer is to provide more help from the state level.

"Increasing state funding for local schools," is the solution suggested by Sen. Richard Exbert, D-Teton.

State funding in areas such as education, local government will aid in relieving pressure on property tax," Mix said.

But Sen. Richard High, R-

Twin Falls, co-chairman of the Finance Appropriations Committee, does not believe the problem is that simple.

"The tax burden on property taxpayers requires an amendment to the constitution," High said, "thus allowing legislation to reform the whole local tax structure."

He favors repealing 304. While most lawmakers seem to agree that 304 should be dumped there are some dissenters. One of them is House Majority Leader Terry Crapo, R-Idaho Falls. He wants to keep 304 on the books and then generally revise the property tax structure in Idaho.

Sen. Reed Budge, R-Soda Springs, appears to agree with him. He said "we are fast approaching the point, if we have not already done so, that the property owner can no longer carry the brunt of the burden along with securing the debt."

Rep. Rudy Anderson, R-Boise, would second that sentiment and offer this motion of his own to solve the property tax problem at the local level:

"By a roll back of the mill levy to 1969 — the increased valuation formula should take care of taxes."

Eliminate dual park, chief asks

JEROME — Police Chief C.N. Pantney Tuesday night said double parking should be eliminated on Lincoln Street and caution signs should be placed to upgrade safety for city schoolchildren.

The chief told councilmen that school traffic does not merit installation of traffic signals or a stop sign. But he advised that "Caution, school zone" warnings be painted.

He asked that no vehicles be permitted to load in the bus loading zone for one-half hour before and after school begins and ends.

Dallas Ward, school safety director, asked the councilmen to have lines painted in the street between the junior high and senior high school, to assist students in the driver's training class.

pointed councilmen Elwin Tinker and Walt Bentzinger to study the matter.

Mable Beveridge reported on a library meeting she attended. Eight beer licenses were approved.

It was reported steam pipes in the city hall have become eroded, so no heat can reach the jail. Acid will be pumped through the lines in an effort to clean them out, the mayor said.

District meet set at Burley

BURLEY — A meeting of the advisory board for Burley Grazing District No. 2, is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Dec. 11, according to H. Max Bruce, district manager of the Bureau of Land Management.

The meeting will be held in the conference room of the district office building, two miles south of Burley on the Gabley highway.

The matters which the board will consider include grazing applications for the 1971 season and Section 7 transfers, Bruce said.

Advisory board members include John A. Pierce, Malva; Leavitt W. Taylor, Arima; Emis Pickett, Oaktoy; Ray W. Lincoln, Twin Falls; Edwin D. Crockett, Hansen; John Basterrechea, Rupert; Milton T. Jones, Madud; Wilfred Wrigley, Burley; and Herman J. McDevitt, Pocatello.

Flight delayed

TWIN FALLS — A strong crosswind blowing from the south prevented the early morning F-27 Hughes Air West prop-jet from landing here today.

The plane, which flies here from Salt Lake City and then goes directly back to the Utah city, made two "passes" at the runway before the pilot made the decision to return to Salt Lake.

Passengers planning to board the flight in Twin Falls were forced to wait until the next available flight late in the afternoon.

Program changes on agenda

TWIN FALLS — Changes in the proposed 1971 program of the South Central Idaho Community Action Agency will be discussed Dec. 10 at 8 p.m. in a meeting of the board of directors in the Judicial Building in Twin Falls.

R. J. Reichard, Jerome, chairman, said he has called the meeting after receiving certain recommendations for program changes from the regional office. Field representative Jim Yarborough and area supervisor Martin White, both Seattle, have advised the local chairman they feel the 1971 program as approved by the local board cannot be funded or carried out without the services of a director.

What is to be done in the light of a recent board action requesting the resignation of Larry Mack, director, will be discussed by board members, Reichard announced. He said notices for the meeting were mailed out Tuesday to the local county area representatives.

Mack was asked to resign following a meeting two weeks ago and has been notified of the request of the board but as yet has not announced his resignation.

Joint mower purchase OK'd

SHOSHONE — Joining in the purchase of a new lawnmower for the Lincoln County Fairgrounds and recreation field was approved by the Shoshone City Council in a regular meeting Tuesday night.

Frederick Stueben and Ivan Hopkins, members of the Lincoln County Fair Board, met with the council concerning the purchase. The council, fair board and school district will be represented on a committee which will buy the mower.

The council also approved placing electrical outlets on light poles to be placed along U. S. Highways 20-26 from the west city limit to the junction with Highway 83. The poles will be installed when the street is widened next year.

Installing a reconditioned motor in a police patrol car, was also approved.

Beer licenses were issued to Alvin E. Gorell, Frank N. Crothers, Michael Urrutia, Joe Berriochon, Eloise Guenechea, Marvin Cole, Hazel Cole, William E. Swan, E. M. Tanaka and Ray Tanaka.

Bartender's permits were issued to Mitsuko Tanaka, Ray Tanaka, E. M. Tanaka, William E. Swan, Marvin Cole, Hazel Cole and Alvin Gorell.

Retail liquor licenses for four places were approved, pending receipt of state licenses. They were the McFall Club, Nebraska Bar, Palace Pool Hall and Columbia Lounge.

Gem kindergarten Jerome meet topic

JEROME — A public meeting to discuss the need for kindergartens in the public schools will be held at 8 p.m. Dec. 8 in the Jerome Junior High School audio-visual room, reports Mrs. Wanda Ekron, Jerome.

Mrs. Ronald Koch, Boise, chairman of the sub-committee on kindergartens of the Task Force for Legislative planning for schools, will be guest speaker.

She will explain why kindergartens are important, estimated cost of operation and legislative proposals. Also attending will be Rex Engelking, district superintendent; Lee Poppelwell, Buhl principal, and Mrs. Lucille Hoyer, of the curriculum department at Buhl, to discuss the kindergarten operation in Buhl.

Area legislators have been invited as well as county commissioners and representatives of many organizations, Mrs. Ekron said. Steering committee for the meeting includes Mrs. Forest Hymas and Mrs. Leroy Craig, Hymas and Mrs. Roger Sampson, Mrs. James Scheel and Mrs. Ekron in addition to other young mothers of Jerome.

T.F. firm low bidder

TWIN FALLS — Standard Printers of Twin Falls submitted the low bid for printing 550 copies of the 1971 Talon, the yearbook of the College of Southern Idaho, according to H. Vann Slyke, CSI business manager.

The Twin Falls printer submitted a base bid of $4,600 for the 550 books, considerably below the bids entered by C and R Printers of Piler and Ace Printing, Twin Falls, Van Slyke said.

Visits planned

TWIN FALLS — Legislators from Twin Falls County will be at the chamber of commerce office from 1:30 to 3 p.m. Dec. 8 to visit with constituents.

Ray Rostron, chamber manager, said anyone wishing to talk privately with the legislators can do so by arranging for an appointment through the chamber. He said 20-minute appointments will be set aside.

Mike Gray, chairman of the chamber's legislative committee, said this is a "good opportunity for citizens of our county to discuss their thoughts on proposed legislation. It also gives our legislators the opportunity to receive opinions from their constituents."

All-jet service by Jan. 1

TWIN FALLS — Hughes Air West will operate only jet planes in and out of Twin Falls effective Jan. 1, the Times-Nova learned today.

The only "prop" flight going through Twin Falls will be replaced on that date with DC-9 jet service.

The flight to be replaced is the F-27 which leaves here at 8:10 a.m. for Salt Lake City.

Under the new arrangement a DC-9 will fly to Los Angeles to Twin Falls by way of Las Vegas and Salt Lake City and will arrive here around 11:30 p.m.

The plane will overnight at the local field and leave the following day at 7 a.m. for the return to Los Angeles via Salt Lake and Las Vegas. The new flight will enable late arrivals to get to Twin Falls from eastern points on a "same day" basis and will also permit Magic Valley residents to be in Los Angeles three hours after leaving here on a morning flight.

The Times-Nova also learned that five maintenance employees will be moved from Salt Lake City to Twin Falls, coinciding with the new service, and that the flight crew members will stay overnight at a local motel.

Emergency fund query to Hansen

TWIN FALLS — Cong. Orval Hansen was asked today to explore the possibility of Twin Falls receiving emergency federal funds or matching funds which could be used to complete replacement of the main runway at the city airport.

Airport commissioners voted Tuesday noon to enlist the aid of the congressman after hearing a report from City Manager Jean Millar that the old portion of the main runway is continuing a breakup which is requiring daily patchwork.

The recently completed 1,250 foot runway extension on the east end of the main runway is not affected by the problem. The old portion of the runway was constructed 23 years ago.

The action to seek federal aid was also approved by City Commissioner John Christoferson and County Commissioner Chairman Heber Laughmiller who were both at the meeting.

By resolution, the airport commissioners also requested the city manager to undertake an immediate engineering project aimed at determining just what must be done to put the runway into first class shape.

Millar, Harry Merrick, airport manager, and Larry Ecklund, Air West station manager, said there is no danger in continuing to use the main runway. Regular inspections are made and immediate minor repairs made. All three men said that any danger will result in cancellation of Air West service immediately.

Millar did say, however, that the only way to "survive the winter" will probably be to put a 40 by 2,000 foot "patch" down the middle portion of the old section. This would require dry weather and would close the field for about five days. If such repairs cannot be made it is possible that service would have to be suspended.

The airport commissioners also:

(1) Discussed security and other arrangements for governors who will use the local airport on route to the Republican Governor's Concor's Conference at Sun Valley, Dec. 12.

(2) Referred to the city council and county commissioners the request of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rayl Jr., that their home be moved to a new location at an estimated cost of $22,500. The house is in line with the approach to the east end of the main runway and they have previously protected the plane noise and disturbance. They contended that their home could be moved to another portion of the farm which would eliminate this hazard. Mrs. Rayl told commissioners they have lived there for 38 years "long before the airport was put in."

(3) Set Tuesday, Dec. 8 as date for a special meeting to discuss runway and related matters.

Commissioner Chairman Armon Anderson presided at Tuesday's meeting held at the Trans Magic executive offices.

Testimony received

BOISE — A decision is expected in the near future on air transportation service to the Sun Valley resort, with testimony presented in a hearing Tuesday now being considered by the Idaho Public Utilities Commission.

Trans Magic Airlines, which has filed an application for direct flight from Boise to Sun Valley, now has permission to fly from Twin Falls to Sun Valley. Sun Valley Airlines has protested the new application.

Winner STATE PHOTOGRAPHY award winner, David Ross, Richard received an award for his outstanding 4-H photography display during the National 4-H Congress in Eugene. The award was sponsored by Eastman Kodak Co.

Manage environment, Jordan says

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Len Jordan, R-Idaho, told the Pacific Northwest River Basins Commission today that "environmental management decisions prize individual choice and promote comprehensive environmental decisions." Jordan said, "We can no longer afford to undertake major projects or ago the environment within dedicated increasingly scarce resources based upon narrow studies and single-purpose objectives." Jordan said in a speech prepared for the commission's Boise meeting.

Because Jordan had to be in Washington to deliver his message, he said, "Competing staff assistant, Gary Catron. "Environmental management also must accommodate opportunities for private enterprise." Jordan said, "If we do not learn to manage the environment within our traditional constraints on government action, we may gain values of natural beauty at the cost of unnecessary damage to long-established rights of the individual."

Clearly, the choices which must be made will be made in the future," he said. "Competing pressures on resources will be intense. There will be no self-evident solutions, and many of the benefits and costs will be intangible."

Jordan said that water resources programs in recent years have suffered greatly because federal funds have not been sufficient to meet all demands. He said there are two reasons the programs have suffered in the present fiscal situation.

There are relatively few specific project proposals, he said, and comprehensive and accurate information on water resources and needs must be compiled.

Ultimately, he said, a crisis situation will occur and demands for expedient action will be made. "It is probable that the first real water crisis of a regional nature will arise in the Pacific Southwest, and the expansion of a Columbia Basin diversion has already been advanced," he said.

He said the present situation is continuing, and comprehensive and accurate information on water resources and needs must be compiled.

Offer of calf tied to bar starts operation

By MYRTLE SCHRENK
Times-News Correspondent

WENDELL — An offer to leave a Charolais bull tied to the bar for a friend is the unlikely start for the development of a new breed of cattle in the Magic Valley.

Bill and Evelyn Campbell, who came here in 1968 to help his father, Frank Campbell, manage the operation, rejected the offer this week during a visit to their ranch.

The success story, westward, was begun by Bill's grandfather, Colin Campbell, who arrived in the early 1880's from Nova Scotia to work for a railroad company in Arizona. There over the years he built one of the largest sheep ranches in the Magic Valley, which ranged over the entire state and into California.

In 1927 he turned his holdings over to his two sons, Frank and Gene, and Frank developed a liking for cattle, a feeling rather rare for a sheepman of that time, his son chuckled.

The unusual offer occurred in 1937 when Frank wandered into a cafe in Arizona and a friend, Phil Tovers, who owned Neptune, the first Charolais bull in the far west, being in a generous mood, told Campbell he would give him the bull who was insured for $5,000.

The sheepman allowed as how

"no $5,000 critter belonged in the Magic Valley but I thought would save him a bull calf, bring it to the very cafe and tie it to the bar; the gift would be accepted."

Several years later to his word, Tovers sent a truck into town with a Charolais cross bull calf and while he didn't tie it to the bar, the driver left the calf tied to a pole outside the cafe, where word was sent for the older Campbell to come pick it up.

A few years later another cross-bred Charolais bull was acquired from 96 Ranch in southern Arizona and the Campbells were in the cattle business. Their sheep operation was dissolved in 1940 because of the economic conditions and the family went into Charolais breeding 100 per cent.

In 1959 the company was divided among various members of the family and Frank Campbell acquired a fine herd of purebred cattle, but had no land on which to operate.

In 1962, while visiting in southern Idaho, he purchased the Desert View ranch, north of town, and he and his late wife, Faye, moved to Wendell bringing their cattle with them.

Since then the original herd had been improved and at present consists of about 180 purebred cows which are being bred mostly to bulls imported from Canada, whose parents are only a few generations from France.

Bill's brothers have ranches in Arizona and Nevada where they also raise Charolais. Phil Beverly, a step-brother, operates the family ranch in Arizona.

Bill Campbell currently is second vice president of the American International Charolais Association, and previously served on the Board of directors and as secretary.

He said there are some 300 herds of Charolais cattle in the Magic Valley Area ranging from 500 head down to two or three. The purebred Charolais is a big, long-bodied, heavy muscled animal which has developed a world-wide reputation as a fast growing and efficient producer of fine-textured beef.

The coat is white or a very light straw color. Mature purebred bulls usually weigh from 2,000 to more than 2,500 pounds, while cows run from 1,250 to 1,600 pounds. Weaning weights of good calves generally run from 100 to 175 pounds more than in purebred Angus or Hereford calves.

Thrive on roughage

Charolais cattle are raised at the Desert View ranch north of Wendell, operated by Bill Campbell. He estimates there are some 300 herds throughout the Magic Valley area and feels there is a good future for the breed. They are well adapted for animal and manure will gain on a meadow range land.

Play to be given at meet.

WENDELL — Four Wendell High School students will compete at the regional competition Saturday at Water, after receiving a superior rating at the district one-act play festival.

The play, "Impassioned" by Tade Model, is directed by Mrs. Annette Eaton, and involves four actors sitting on a stage waiting for their manager. Suddenly they become aware of an audience watching them and decide to improvise. The drama which unfolds mixes truth, fantasy and well rehearsed situations, and brings out a deepening awareness of the real people of the theater, the director says.

Gooding corn acreage tops all other cultivated crops

By MYRTLE SCHRENK
Times-News Correspondent

WENDELL — There are as many acres planted to corn in Gooding county as all other cultivated crops combined, and the total comes to between 9,500 to 9,900 acres, reports Ed Koester, county agent.

This includes corn to be used for grain, cob meal, silage and canning. The acres planted to sweet corn for human consumption has dropped somewhat in the past season, and the bulk of the corn crop in the county runs about half for grain and the other half for green silage, Koester said.

Grain corn is primarily grown in the Wendell area while Gooding has greater acreages of silage.

silage runs about 30 tons and can be harvested with four or five irrigations per season.

He said he knows of farmers in the Wendell area who have grown field corn for as many as 13 years with no decrease in yield. He says this is due to the large amount of organic matter in the soil.

McCord feeds corn to Holstein heifers which he sells to dairymen for herd replacement and declares that corn has the same nutrient value as barley. He predicts that in the near future local packers will forget the myth that housewives will not accept a corn-fed steer because of the faint yellowish tinge to the fat.

Large corn users in the county include Moore and Cox Poultry, Hagerman; McCord, Wendell; Brackett, Hagerman; Green Giant, Buhl; Gilbertson, Gooding, and Jones, at Hazelton; the county agent says.

Larry Robinson, Gooding Seed Co., says his company feels that corn has a great future in the county and if it is not presently the number one cultivated crop in this area, it soon will be. He also predicts large acreages of corn for seed.

The hot days and hot nights which make the Midwest ideal for the growing of corn also contributes to the blight damage which has greatly reduced yields there, the agent said. He notes the Idaho climate, although not favorable in all respects, provides a long growing season, plenty of water, and proper type of soil.

During the past 10 years Gooding county farmers have increased corn acreages because they have learned with a reasonable amount of fertilizer the crop does not deplete the soil, that development of a simple harvest condition—cut costs, weeds are easily controlled and there is a ready market.

Ray McCord, Wendell, who raises corn for food and uses both shelled and cob meal, feels there is a great future for corn in Idaho. He estimates that yields will run as high as 140-200 bushels of grain per acre, while in a higher net profit for the grower per acre than alfalfa. For instance, Economy is one reason he uses it in his operation as an animal (Hereford or Angus) will consume two and one-half to three per cent its body weight per day.

Wage pact seen foreign car boost

Wednesday, December 2, 1970 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration said today that the United Auto Workers' settlement with General Motors was inflationary and warned that higher wages, coupled with higher auto prices, would cause more Americans to switch to foreign-made cars.

The report was prepared by the President's Council of Economic Advisers and was released by the White House.

House. It pointed to price increases in the auto, fuel, local transportation and copper industries — all factors which contributed to a continuing inflationary spiral.

But only the United Auto Workers and General Motors were cited by name.

The UAW — GM pact looks like a strike by workers negotiating a contract that would raise wages an average of close to 7 percent a year over three years.

"It is clear that this settlement, if generalized throughout the economy, would crowd further upward cost for unit of output and therefore the price level," the White House said. "It also raises cost further in the economy."

The chief concern is the failure of the average rate of increase of wages to slow down in response to the slack in the economy, the squeeze on profit margins, and the decrease in the rate of price increase that has already occurred," the report said.

The administration said the increase in compensation per hour had averaged 7 per cent over the past 12 months. It said that exceeds by 4 per cent the long-range increase in productivity of about 3 per cent.

While inflation continues to plague the economy, business has been sluggish. The Federal Reserve Board has made its second move in three weeks to cope with the situation by cutting the key discount rate.

Ford talks strike snag

DETROIT (UPI) — Contract negotiations between the United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co., which seemed to have been going along smoothly, have hit a snag — "frosting on the cake" — with a strike deadline less than a week away.

The problem stems from the economic gains won by UAW members at General Motors following a 67-day strike. The main stumbling block to an agreement is a UAW demand for more in the economic area.

Top bargainers from both sides of the negotiating table agreed Monday.

In the tradition established by its former president, the late Walter P. Reuther, the UAW always has sought a little "frosting on the cake" in its bargaining with the other automobile manufacturers after it settles with the strike target — in this case GM.

This was the case when Ford set the contract pattern among its "big three" automakers in 1967 following a UAW strike. Kan Bannan, director of the union's Ford Department, said Monday.

He said the nature of operations at Ford necessitates that some provisions in the agreement with Ford differ from those in the agreement with GM. He cited the wage formula, pension plan, supplemental benefits and insurance coverage.

Bannan also said some employees of Ford are involved in steel, glass and textile operations, while no GM employees do such work.

Ford Vice President Malcolm Denise said the union also was seeking additional gains in methods and conditions of working. He said he was displeased with the progress of local negotiations, which have produced settlements at 51 of 90 bargaining units, but none since Wednesday.

"If nothing changes between now and midnight, Dec. 7 (the strike deadline), we will not have an agreement," Denise said.

"The way things are going," echoed Bannan, "come Dec. 7, we could have a real conflict."

Pay rule approved

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Don Samuelson signed the legislative pay proclamation Monday, legislation promoted by the late Walter C. Burns, Idaho Falls.

The initiative cuts back legislative compensation to $25 per day from $35 in committee expenses, limits the first regular session to 60 days and the second to 30 and abolishes the $200 per month office expense.

On hand for the ceremony was State Rep. Wayne Tibbitts, Lorenzo One of Burns' ardent supporters in the initiative movement.

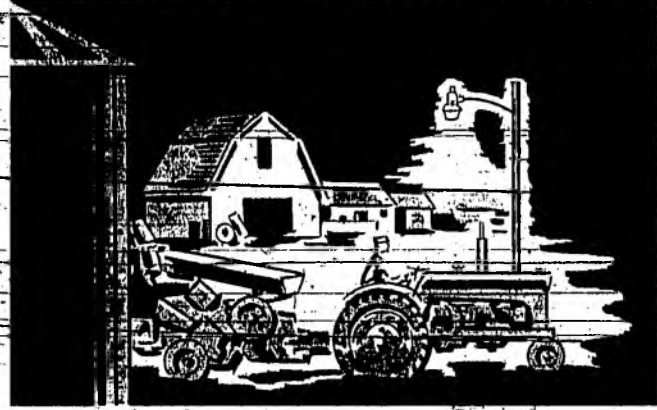

The first European university was established in Salerno, Italy, in the 9th century.

Spending record set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans broke a spending record for health care this past year, paying out about $70 billion for everything from aspirin to hospitals, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said today.

The chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, which handles federal health care programs, said inflation accounted for half the boost of about 16 per cent over the $60.3 billion spent in the previous fiscal year.

CSI rips BSC freshmen; Weber State will help open new gym Thursday

BOISE — Speedsters Victory Kelly and Gary Quasnell turned in their dominant performance for several easy buckets in the early going Tuesday night to point the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles to an easy State Collegen victory over the State Collegen freshmen.

Spartans build lead, outlast Bonneville

RUPERT — The Minico Spartans racked up a big lead in the first three quarters which was enough to outlast the rallying Bonneville Bees for a 51-48 decision Tuesday night. The Spartans, doubting

Castleford outlasts Shoshone

CASTLEFORD — Larry Moscher and the decisive three points in overtime Tuesday night to lift the Castleford Wolves to a 40-37 overtime victory over the Shoshone Indians.

In a battle of cold shooting team, Castleford held the lead most of the time and went into the final period with a seven-point edge. But Shoshone, which had managed only 23 points up to that time, caught up at 37-all with a minute left. After the teams each missed a chance, Castleford took possession with 30 seconds left and went for the last shot. It missed and brought on the overtime.

Kaercher's field goal was the only scoring for 2:55 of the overtime season and he finally led it with a free throw with five seconds remaining.

Aparicio, Dobson traded

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The world champion Baltimore Orioles Tuesday obtained starting pitcher Pat Dobson from the San Diego Padres in a six-player deal that gave the Orioles "the extra pitching punch that we desired."

In another deal at the winter baseball meetings here the Chicago White Sox, busiest trading team at the conclaves, swapped veteran All Star shortstop Luis Aparicio to the Boston Red Sox for second baseman Mike Andrews and shortstop Luis Alvarez.

The Orioles, runaway winners in the American League in 1970 and their triumphant in the World Series, acquired Dobson, who won 14 and lost 15 with a last place team, and chief pitcher Tom Dukes (1-4).

Baltimore gave to San Diego pitcher Tom Phoebus (5-5) and three players who spent 1970 with their Rochester, N.Y. farm team.

Athletes demand AAU ease stringent rules

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A group of leading athletes presented the Amateur Athletic Union Tuesday with a list of demands which they said would begin to liberate them from servitude.

under new Coach Gary Swan, had everything their own way until the final period when the coach cleared the bench. Bonneville then turned on a strong full-court press to trim a 47-25 deficit into a three-point defeat. The Bees came within two points of scoring as many points in the final period as they had in the first three. Coach Swan returned the first team to play in the final two minutes to make sure the Bees didn't come up with a miracle finish.

Minico was the most aggressive in the early going and John Fennell, Rulon Barlow, Toby Harding and Graf dominated the boards on both ends. Meanwhile, the junior dominated line up proved sticky on defense which resulted in the Bees committing about 16 turnovers in the opening half.

The Spartans outscored their foes by seven field goals but Bonneville turned 23 Minico fouls into 25 points against nine free throws for the winners.

Minico now is idle until traveling to Capital of Boise Dec. 11.

Buhl tops Valley in wrestling

BUHL — The Buhl Indian wrestling team took everything from 126 pounds up — with the exception of one draw — Tuesday night to defeat the Valley Vikings 37-12.

The teams split the first four matches but took the lead for good on a pin by Kuntz at 126 pounds. Rhodes and Waters drew at the next weight and from then on Buhl won them all, the last two by forfeit.

Buhl will participate in the Minico wrestling tournament this weekend. Results of the matches: Buhl men listed first, include 98 pounds, Schmidt was pinned by Bloxham; 105 pounds, Partin decided Sellers 7-6; 112 pounds, Reese decided Black 6-1; 110 pounds, Olander was pinned by McClain; 126 pounds, Kuntz pinned Miller; 132 pounds, Rhodes drew with Waters; 138 pounds, Thometz decided Black; 145 pounds, Drown decided Powers 13-2; 155 pounds, Davis pinned Call; 165 pounds, Watson decided Black; 185 pounds, Morrison won by forfeit; heavyweight, Moler won by forfeit.

The caribou is one of the largest of the deer family.

The group called itself the "United Amateur Athletes" and Parnell noted that this was "the opposite of AAU."

"We're just trying to take the hypocrisy out of the sport," said Connally. "The AAU has been acting as our agent, using our names in promoting meets when it can't guarantee that any of us will show up."

Kimberly slips past Hansen

HANSEN — Rod Rudolph hit Kimberly's last five points Tuesday night as the Bulldogs opened the season with a 40-45 decision over the Hansen Huskies.

Rudolph's heroics started with 1:20 left when Hansen had a two-point lead and a chance to build that on a technical foul. But the Huskies missed the free throw and then threw the in-bounds pass away. Rudolph converted on those mistakes to tie it and scored again after Hansen missed a shot. His decisive free throw ended the scoring but Hansen pulled back to within one on a bucket by Jerry Gunter. In the closing seconds Hansen had another chance after a missed Kimberly free throw but the desperation shot missed.

Idaho State pulls away in last half to drop Fullerton State 95-81

POCAHELLO (UPI) — Idaho State Bengals overpowered the Cal-State Titans 95-81 in the opening basketball game of the season for both teams Tuesday night.

All America candidate, Willie Humer began the year where he left off last season, pouring 31 points through the nets. Trent Wagner was the next best Bengal with 10 points.

Bonavena introduces 'hate' to Clay bout

NEW YORK (UPI) — Muhammad Ali returned to his dressing room Tuesday after the pre-fight physical for his next Monday night and fumed: "I never wanted to whip a man so bad in my whole life. You think I panicked. Ernie Terrell and Floyd Patterson but you ain't seen nothing. Bonavena has made me mad with his predictin' and racial slurs and stuff about me being chicken for not going into the Army. And he touched my face."

Then he turned away from the scribbling reporters and winked to a friend. The pre-fight physical might have looked like it was tottering on the edge of a physical pre-flight fight complete with pushing and shoving, threats and even some ugly name-calling that wasn't called for in the script.

followed by Abe Gibbons at 18 points.

The teams battled neck-in-neck during the first half which saw the lead change hands several times. Bonavena took over on a similar note until Gibbons broke loose for 14 points and Humer added another 17 counters to boost the Bengals into a 14-point lead. The game was decided on the backboards where ISU dominated out-rebounding Cal State 48-33 and hitting a hot 52 per cent from the field compared to Cal's 42 average.

BOISE (UPI) — Six straight points in the closing two minutes of play lifted Eastern Montana to an 80-68 victory over Boise State of College Tuesday night.

Eastern extended a three point lead at halftime and never relinquished during the second half of play. They trailed only once in the second half and that was 82-81, then the six-point spurge followed lifting the yellowjackets over the top.

Ron Austin, who scored 27 points for the Broncos and collected 12 rebounds, had put BSC into the lead with a couple of shots from the charity stripe.

Yellowjacket Fred Johnson led all scorers with 28 points and handed down seven rebounds.

The foul-filled contests, which saw a total of 52 personal fouls whistled by the referees, saw five players leave the game via the whistle.

Collier resigns as coach of Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Blanton Collier, coach of the Cleveland Browns, said Tuesday he would retire at the end of the season but hoped to continue in football, making "whatever contribution I can."

Collier, 64, who has coached the Browns since 1963, said their dismal performance this season had nothing to do with his decision because he told owner Art Modell and General Manager Harold Sauerbrel last spring that "win, lose or draw," he was stepping down.

"Retirement isn't the word I'm thinking of," Collier said. "The Browns have been my life, my work, since 1940. Whatever contribution I can still make, I will."

The Browns, beaten 28-9 by the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday, have not had a losing season since 1958, but their current record is 5-6 with three games to go.

"I've always felt I wanted to be the one to make my own decision," Collier said. "I didn't want to put anybody on the spot. I didn't want the coaches' clothes cut off me. I feel great and I want to win every game continue in football."

"I'm not planning to do any active coaching unless the Browns want it. Whatever the Browns need for me to do I will."

USC moves to keep McKay

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Coach John McKay of the University of Southern California Trojans was appointed co-director of athletics Tuesday. He will continue as head football coach.

The appointment ended rumors that McKay had accepted a job with the Los Angeles Rams, which earlier were denied by the USC mentor.

USC announced that Jess Hill, athletic director since 1957, will retire June 30, 1979 when he will be 66 and McKay will take over the job then.

"I made this decision now in order to provide an orderly transfer of duties to my successor," Hill said. "I think of no better man than John McKay to carry on the Trojan tradition as the athletic director."

Arkansas State named small college champion

NEW YORK (UPI) — Arkansas State University's Indians are the champions of annual college football.

Coach Bennie Ellender's team today took down the title of national small college football champion when the United Press International Board of Coaches overwhelmingly voted Arkansas State the No. 1 college division team of the nation.

The Indians, unbeaten in 10 games, piled up 21 first place votes and 318 points from the 34 members of the 35-man UPI board who participated in today's balloting.

Tampa, winner of 10 of 11 games, runner-up in the nation taking eight first place votes and 270 points to nose out Montana, which had three first place votes and 272 points after a 10-0 season.

Utah topple Ohio State

LOGAN (UPI) — Utah State University was taken right to the wire by a young but polished Ohio State University team Tuesday night before pulling out a 95-89 victory.

USU shot 84 per cent from the field and 91 per cent from the foul line in the first half to take a 52-30 halftime lead.

But it took four crucial field goals by Nate Williams in the closing minutes for the Aggies to salvage the victory.

Weber trips West Texas

CEDAR RAPIDS (UPI) — The Weber State Wildcats started their 1970-71 basketball season with a modest 73-63 victory over the West Texas State Buffaloes Tuesday night.

Both teams were plagued with inaccurate outside shooting through the first half.

Notre Dame slips past Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Austin Carr and Collis Jones combined for 48 points Tuesday night as Notre Dame had to come from a 43-39 halftime deficit to seize a 94-91 season-opening basketball victory over Michigan.

CLIVE JAMES STRONG

Idahoan receives 4-H honor

Clive James Strong, 14, has been awarded a $1,000 4-H forestry scholarship, one of four such national grants donated by Hernalta, a division of Textron Inc.

The awards were announced at the 10th National 4-H Congress, in Chicago, which opened Sunday and continues through Dec. 3. He was selected by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Strong, one of eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Strong, is a freshman at the University of Idaho. He was a 4-H member for nine years and completed forestry projects in each of those years. He is retiring president of the Gooding County Junior Leaders organization.

The national winner also served as chairman of the Idaho Pride Project and the National 4-H Foundation fund program in his county.

Working toward a degree in forest management, Strong hopes that he can eventually obtain a doctorate in forest law.

For the last two years, he has been working on a self-determined project - in silviculture with a 12-acre tract.

He wants to become an expert on forest law because, he says, "I do not believe that one inter-forest should overpower all others in our wilderness."

Everything he should be considered in the usage of wilderness along with what will be best for the land.

Strong is a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints and a member of the first quorum of deacons. In high school where he ranked fifth in class of fifty, he was a member and president of the National Honor Society and other clubs and participated in football.

Upward trend foreseen in cattle market soon

BOISE (UPI) - The president of the American National Cattlemen's Association predicted a gradual upward trend for the cattle market after the first of the year.

W.D. Farr, Greeley, Colo., was featured speaker at the Idaho Cattlemen's Association's 57th annual meeting.

"As the U.S. economy improves, we should see slow improvement in the long-term feed cattle market picture, if all other things remain equal," Farr said.

"Farr told the Idaho cattlemen at no time in the history of the U.S. meat industry was there such a sustained period of record total meat supply as during October and November."

However, he said, the beef industry was a victim of the great overabundance of meat. He said while beef supplies were running four per cent over a year ago, weekly pork supplies were running as high as 27 per cent above last year's levels and poultry supplies were up 11 per cent.

"Although beef has suffered because of this overabundance, total meat supplies should decrease after the first of the year," Farr said. "Cattlemen help the situation by marketing animals immediately after they reach the desired weight and grade."

He said the American National Cattlemen's Association has also urged pork and poultry producers to market their products in an orderly fashion.

Earlier in the day, Lawrence Bradbury, Challis, president of the Idaho Cattlemen's Association, urged closer working relationships with other farm groups as the key to solution of such problems as pollution and pesticide control.

Battle looming over water use

BOISE (UPI) - John Brandt, vice president of the Southwestern Idaho Development Association, said Monday a "crisis battle" was developing between those who want to develop land upstream on the Snake River and those who want the water for navigation.

He referred to a petition of the directors of the Lewis and Clark Canal Water Reuse Authority to increase water release from Hells Canyon Dam.

He told the meeting of directors that the boarders want to increase the minimum flow at Johnson Bar on the Middle Snake from 5,000 to 10,000 cubic feet per second.

The Army Engineers will conduct hearings at Lewiston, Dec. 16 and here Dec. 17 at the request of the Federal Power Commission, on whether the minimum flow should be 9,500 CFS.

Willard Sibley, Walla Walla, chief of the planning section for the Army Engineers, noted the Lewiston area petition asked that the flow of the Johnson Bar be 10,000 CFS or no less than the inflow of the Brownlee Dam.

Brandt said if the Southwestern Idaho Development Project, which contemplates reclaiming 500,000 additional acres of arid land, were put into operation, the inflow at Brownlee would be reduced.

Sibley said he would send to the directors data on the historical flows of the Middle Snake River prior to the construction of the Brownlee, Oxbow and Hells Canyon Dams and flows since they have been operating.
