

Saboteurs set refinery blaze

LINDEN, N.J. (UPI)—A telephone threat to the Humble Oil & Refining Co. refinery in Linden, N.J., was followed by a massive fire that burned for 18 hours Saturday night, the result of a sabotage. The blaze, which started at 11:01 p.m., destroyed a large portion of the refinery, which produces 100,000 barrels of oil a day. The fire was the largest in the history of the refinery, which has been in operation since 1912.

There had been reports a light plane or helicopter was seen over the refinery a few minutes before the blast. The Linden police said today, however, that investigation disclosed the plane was there legitimately.

Special teams of detectives from the state police came in to assist the local department and a spokesman for the FBI in Washington said: "We've on the scene from time to time and in contact with the local authorities."

Whatever caused the explosion, its impact was tremendous. At 11:01 p.m. Saturday, a primary refining unit—one of the largest installations at the plant used to separate crude oil into its components—was ripped apart sending a 1,000-foot fireball into the sky. Shock waves from the refinery—Humble's largest on the East Coast—carried the force of the blast up to 40 miles from Linden, primarily to the north, toward New York. There are at least 15 million people living within that radius.

Damage estimates were incomplete but they were certain to amount to millions of dollars. For several miles around the refinery, windows shattered and people felt the ground shake. The pattern of damage was scattered. Plate glass windows in retail stores were blown out and widespread looting was reported in Elizabeth, Linden and on Staten Island.

Twenty-nine people from surrounding communities and Linden were injured by flying debris or suffered shock.

Idaho quakes

BAKER, Ore. (UPI)—A series of 12 small earthquakes, one considered "quite significant," about 100 miles northeast of Boise, was reported by the Blue Mountain Observatory Saturday.

Observatory Chief Lawrence Jaksha said the series began Friday afternoon in the area where Boise, Custer and Valley County lines come together. The last quake was recorded Saturday morning.

Jaksha said a Magnitude Four earthquake was recorded Friday evening and a Magnitude Three quake was recorded 30 minutes earlier at 7:16 p.m.

Swiss envoy seized

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—Swiss Ambassador Giovanni Enrico Bucher was kidnapped today in a swift commando-style ambush on a busy traveled street as he was riding to the embassy office building.

About six shots were fired in the attack, and the ambassador's bodyguard, identified by the Swiss Embassy only as a man named "Hello," was wounded, a spokesman said.

Bucher, 57, is the fourth foreign diplomat to be kidnapped in Brazil in the last 14 months.

Witnesses said a gray Aerowillis and a blue Volkswagen swerved in front of the ambassador's car as it was traveling on Conde Bessendi Street, a short, 300-yard long street jammed with heavy traffic.

A third car pulled up beside the ambassador's blue Buick sedan and took the diplomat away, witnesses said. It was followed by still a fourth car, a Volkswagen.

The getaway cars were last reported seen in the neighborhood of the Maracana Stadium, the largest soccer stadium in the world. Police threw up roadblocks on streets leading to the neighborhood, creating traffic jams.

The chauffeur of the ambassador's car, Horacio Geraldo, told UPI that when the commandos thrust firearms through the window, "I saw death coming."

T.F. man wins chess tourney

BOISE (UPI)—Ed Trappen, Twin Falls, has won the Western Idaho Open Chess Tournament in Boise. It was reported Sunday.

Trappen won all four chess games.

Ted Hartwell, Twin Falls, took second place with a 3-1 showing while Jon Egge, Boise, came in third and Walter Young, Boise, fourth. Egge and Young also won three games each and lost but one.

John Hartwell, Twin Falls, the father of Ed Trappen, and Marshall, Boise, also 3-1, came in second and third.

SABOTEURS, possibly leftist revolutionaries, are being sought by the FBI while the site where the Humble Oil and Refinery Co. Bayway plant burned Saturday still was smoking. "Five or six" persons reportedly saw a light plane flying over the refinery just prior to the blast and it was believed that explosives may have been dropped from the plane. (UPI)

Reds silence allied unit

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—The Cambodian Command said today the remnants of a Cambodian battalion that fought a North Vietnamese regiment all day Sunday had just taken cover with the military headquarters after calling in air support.

In downtown Phnom Penh, terrorists threw grenades into the headquarters of a Cambodian battalion. Nine soldiers and two civilians were injured. Two other grenades thrown at a guard post and an apartment house failed to go off. Another grenade exploded in downtown Phnom Penh Saturday night, injuring 11 persons.

The embattled battalion trying to defend the district headquarters of Peam Chhang, 35 miles northeast of the capital on the north bank of the Mekong River had come under mortars, rockets and heavy weapons fire and finally a Communist ground attack Sunday night, the Cambodian Command said.

"Severe casualties were suffered on both sides," the Cambodian Command said.

But no medical evacuation helicopters were available for the Cambodian troops because all six Huey helicopters the United States loaned to Cambodia last September are out of service for lack of maintenance, the Cambodian Command said.

Reports from Cambodian units along Highways 8 and 7 said Cambodian troops lately have been forced to burn their battlefield dead and wait as long as four days for trucks to carry wounded to field hospitals because of lack of helicopters. Field reports said Viet Cong units have begun harassing motorists on Highway 1 linking Phnom Penh and Siem Reap.

TWIN FALLS—City police continuing investigation Monday in the death of Joe Sanez, 82, Twin Falls, whose body was found in his front yard Friday, said present facts point strongly to accidental death.

Chief of Police Frank Barnett said the man probably died of a fall but poisonous or non-poisonous pills are not being discounted completely pending further investigation.

The man was found by Ernest Martin, employee of Intermountain Gas Co, when he arrived at Mr. Sanez' home, 450 1/2 Fifth Ave. W., to read the meter. Chief Barnett said the man could have fallen, and considering his age, suffered fatal injuries.

He said all possibilities of his being hit by a car or attacked by an assailant would be explored, however.

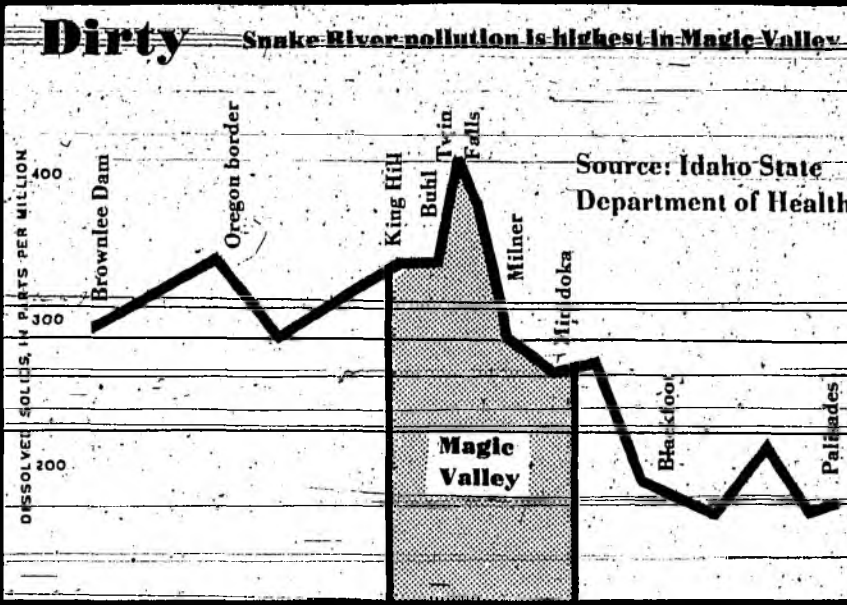

Coroner Cloyce Edwards said an autopsy revealed the man died of internal injuries and had suffered rib fractures and numerous bruises about the head and body. Chief Barnett said he expects to have additional information in the case for release later in the day.

Jordan shells guerrilla units

By United Press International Jordanian forces launched a massive dawn artillery attack against Palestinian guerrilla bases in Northern Jordan today, a guerrilla spokesman in Beirut said.

He said the fighting in the area of Jafash, 24 miles north of Amman, and Ajloun, 10 miles northwest of Jerash, was continuing seven hours later. It was the fifth straight day of clashes between Jordanian government forces and guerrillas.

The Jordanian guns were directed against "the whole area, including the city of Jerash and the nearby 'Baba' and 'Gaza' refugee camps," the spokesman said. He said that at the same time armored troops moved toward important road junctions in the north and south. In Jerusalem, diplomats

Snake chokes on flushed potatoes

(This is the second in a series exploring the problem of Snake River pollution. Today: The scope of the problem.)

By LEE TREMAINE Times-News Staff Writer BURLEY—Idaho's booming potato industry is producing more wealth—and more waste—than ever before in history.

In 1950, Idaho potato processors used only about 100,000 tons of potatoes for processing. By this year, the figure had been increased 20 times to 2.15 million tons.

This year's harvested crop totaled 3.65 million tons. Of this, 60 per cent will be used for processing.

But during the course of turning potatoes into processed products, 20 to 25 per cent of the potato is lost as waste this year, processors along the Snake will dispose of over half a billion tons of waste potatoes.

Primary treatment plants currently achieve from 60 to 80 per cent efficiency, averaging about 75 per cent, according to the Idaho Department of Health.

This means that Snake River plants will pour about 125,000 tons of potato wastes into the river this year—after treatment.

That is about 350 tons per day every day of the year. Even if the plants worked around the clock every day of the year—which they do not—the hourly dump rate would be about 15 tons.

To make matters worse, the industry is growing at a high rate, and indications are that its growth will be sustained.

But potato wastes are only the biggest part of the problem. City sewers and sugar refinery wastes make up the bulk of the rest of the river's load of pollutants.

Idaho processors have long sought an economical way to reduce their waste to manageable amounts, according to the Potato Processors of Idaho. Realizing their common problem, they organized an engineering committee composed of representatives from all processors in 1961, and began pilot plant and laboratory work.

Photo credit

Photographs for the Times-News series on pollution of the Snake River were taken by staff photographer Dan Johnson, often at considerable inconvenience. At one point he even found himself perched atop a 30-foot ladder standing on the deck of a small boat in the river, trying to peer over a high fence to photograph a discharge beyond.

It was found that no information was then available on proper treatment of potato waste—one of the hardest processing residues to remove from plant waste.

The peellings do not disintegrate as do other vegetable products; but since they are organic, they do stimulate the rapid growth of microorganisms, including bacteria and algae.

However, by the fall of 1962, all major plants along the Snake were utilizing a primary treatment to settle out some of the solids. But the remainder still posed a problem.

In 1963, according to the Potato Processors Association, the group received the "Water Protection Award" from the Pacific-Northwest Pollution Control Federation for progress in developing treatment facilities and prevention of water pollution.

The "BOD" (biochemical oxygen demand) measurement had been reduced 60 to 70 per cent, according to the processors.

Utilization of potato waste for cattle feed was tested, and found feasible—if the solids could be reclaimed efficiently and economically.

But the problem remains to this day. River water is a complex substance. It must have a certain amount of dissolved oxygen for fish; it contains varying amounts of dissolved solids, trace metals, phosphates which feed the algae and many other factors—including coliform bacteria, which can cause disease in humans.

Living fish need about five parts per million of dissolved oxygen—a figure developed by the state health department to indicate the quality of the fish environment. When the oxygen drops, fish suffocate.

Fish suffocated by the thousands in the Milner Reservoir—in December, 1960; November, 1961; February, 1963, and November, 1965. And last winter another massive "fish kill" was avoided only by releasing a heavy flow of fresh

Israel balks again

Israel will not resume U.N.-sponsored peace negotiations until it has "further clarification" of American Middle East policy.

Prime Minister Golda Meir discussed the possibility of resuming the indirect talks with Egypt and Jordan at Sunday's cabinet meeting, but decided to postpone any decision on when to resume discussions until "clarifications" were received. It was announced. What the "clarifications" were was not revealed, but there has been an exchange of notes between Mrs. Meir and President Nixon on the subject.

Jordanian government forces and Palestine guerrillas clashed for the fourth day in a row Sunday. Two policemen were killed and one policeman and one civilian were wounded in the clashes in Amman and Jerash, 24 miles north of the capital, the Interior Ministry announced. The Al Fatah guerrilla organization said three civilians were killed and an unknown number of persons wounded when government troops opened fire in Amman. Al Fatah also said the Jordanian army laid a barrage against Jerash, Irbid and Kfar Khaled and shelled the Souf refugee camp and nearby guerrilla bases.

Another Al Fatah spokesman in Cairo, said Jordanian armor was massing near Jerash "with the aim of storming commando positions."

Transport wreckage discovered

BAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command said today searchers had found the wreckage of a second U.S. Air Force C123 transport plane in the mountains of Central South Vietnam. The command said there appeared to be no survivors among the 79 men aboard, including six Americans.

The twin-engine C123 went down Nov. 27 on a flight from Nha Trang on the South China Sea coast to Saigon with six GIs and 73 South Vietnamese. Rescue planes Saturday found another crashed C123 and said two men survived. The plane had carried 32 Americans and 12 Vietnamese. It crashed Nov. 29.

Those rescued Saturday were Sgts. Gary L. Aldredge of Navato, Calif. and Vincent Fairbrother of Riverside, R.I. Both were injured. Thick clouds and rain had hampered the search for nearly a week.

Command also said today the total of American troops in Vietnam fell below 350,000 for the first time in more than four years. Spokesmen said there were 340,700 U.S. troops in the war zone as of Dec. 3, a decline of 6,100 from the previous week.

Khrushchev takes credit for purge

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, in reminiscences being published in Life magazine, claims that he was responsible for Lavrenti Beria's arrest and that Alexei N. Kosygin, now the premier, earlier escaped Beria's purge only by luck.

The excerpt published Sunday describes the death of Josef Stalin in March, 1953, and Beria's arrest shortly after. Beria, head of the Stalinit secret police, presided over the deportations of the 1930s and 1940s and Russia's concentration camps. He was shot shortly after his fall from power.

Khrushchev wrote he did not trust Beria and that after World War II Stalin himself began sharing this view. "Stalin realized that if Beria could eliminate anyone at whom Stalin pointed his finger, then Beria could also eliminate someone of his own choosing," Khrushchev wrote.

Beria considered Georgi Malenkov a "spineless fellow." Khrushchev wrote, a reference to Beria's execution shortly after.

After the death in 1948 of Andrei Zhdanov, former party chieftain in Leningrad, his supporters were purged by Stalin. Zhdanov once had been considered a successor to Stalin.

Among those purged was A. A. Kuznetsov, Zhdanov's top aide in Leningrad, a relative of Kosygin. Kosygin's life was "hanging by a thread. I simply can't explain how he was saved from being eliminated along with the others Kosygin, as they say, must have drawn a lucky lottery ticket, and this cup passed from him," Khrushchev said.

time in public about the divorce is building on Pope Paul VI to deal with widespread and rampant speculation he plans to abdicate. So widespread is gossip and published speculation that the influential La Stampa of Turin said Sunday the 73-year-old pontiff might go into a Benedictine monastery. No Pope has abdicated since 1294. Hoping fan reports are magazines and newspapers quizzed unnamed "high level" and "authoritative" Vatican officials. The official reaction was no comment which in itself set off a new round of speculation.

The Pope ignored the subject Sunday when he made his first public appearance since returning from a historic trip to Asia and the Pacific. Instead, he deplored the passage of an Italian divorce law, which he attacked several times before setting off for Asia. It was passed while he was gone. He also discussed his travels and commented for the first

"But he may come in handy," Khrushchev quoted the police chief as saying. After Stalin's death, Beria at first used Malenkov as "just an errand boy" to further his own lust for power.

Finally Malenkov, through conversations with Khrushchev, saw through Beria and joined other presidium members led by Khrushchev in the move against Beria. The police chief was arrested by Marshal Georgi Zhukov, the most famous Soviet World War II general, in a presidium meeting in June, 1953, and was put in the custody of Kiril Moskalenko, the air defense commander.

"I could see that comrade Moskalenko would do what was necessary for the party cause," Khrushchev wrote, a reference to Beria's execution shortly after.

After the death in 1948 of Andrei Zhdanov, former party chieftain in Leningrad, his supporters were purged by Stalin. Zhdanov once had been considered a successor to Stalin.

Pope faces retirement speculation

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The pressure is building on Pope Paul VI to deal with widespread and rampant speculation he plans to abdicate. So widespread is gossip and published speculation that the influential La Stampa of Turin said Sunday the 73-year-old pontiff might go into a Benedictine monastery. No Pope has abdicated since 1294. Question . . .
Why don't mortuaries handle the placement of obituaries in out-of-town newspaper with the same efficiency they do local newspapers?
Answer . . .

Some funeral customs are slow to change. Probably in the early 1900's the mortuaries of those days started writing into their newspaper announcements "New York, Chicago, or some other city, please copy". It is doubtful if this was effective even then, but in 1949, with 1700 daily newspapers, it is a vestige of the past.
When it is a request of the family that an obituary appear in a newspaper outside of Twin Falls, we telephone the data to the newspaper or send it air mail special delivery. We know that 1700 newspapers cannot possibly read each other's obituaries.
One of the most important things we do every day is to prepare and deliver obituaries and funeral announcements to the various newspapers. We appreciate your comments toward the improvements of this important aspect of our service.

Improvements set at Hailey airport

HAILEY — Tee-type hangars are in the planning stages at Friedman Memorial Airport here, reports Rustin (Rusty) Fordenberg, new manager. He said these hangars will be available to transit flyers as well as the permanent-based craft. A terminal building also is in the planning stage, he said.

The new manager's job requires maintaining the runways and grounds and helping plan for future developments. Fordenberg's entire adult life has been devoted to flying and activities connected with it.

He began at age 15 on an airport crew in Washington, where he received his keep and flying lessons in return for his services. He soloed in 1944 and by 1951 had earned his commercial license.

He began crop dusting in 1952 in Montana and has continued crop dusting every summer. From 1956 to 1961, Fordenberg attended Denver University where he studied airport management and was on the ski team. During 1958 he attended the American Flyers Instrument School in Texas, earning an instrument rating. He moved to New Zealand in 1961 as a crop duster returning to the United States in 1963 to crop dust summers in California and instructing in winter.

Fordenberg moved to southeast Asia in 1966 with his family and during the year there he flew medical supplies to remote areas and carried wounded Laotians to hospitals. He returned with his family to the United States in 1967. The next two years he served as chief pilot for PMJ Kenyatta, son of the president of Kenya. At the expiration of his contract, he moved to Sun Valley after a tour of Mexico. He worked several years for Sun Valley until he accepted his present position.

Ketchum to elect chamber officers

Budget hearings advanced

BOISE (UPI) — The legislative Joint Finance and Appropriations Committee hopes to clear a large portion of its budget hearings out of the way before the first regular session of the 41st legislature convenes Jan. 11.

The law makers ended a three-day organizational session Saturday after approving a resolution authorizing the committee to begin its hearings before

Rep. Jenkin Palmer, R-Malden, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, said by beginning early the committee hoped to have its budget recommendations out by the 25th or the 30th day but cautioned members to avoid a rush to clear the work before the deadline.

Senate President Pro Tem James Ellsworth, R-Lendore, also asks that personal and administrative bills be ready for presentation at the start of the session.

He said if legislators looked on the pay initiative as a "vote of a lack of confidence" they could try to "re-establish" themselves by meeting the 60-day deadline.

During the three-day session, legislators welcomed new members, set salary for attached named committee members and chairmen, and, in the senate, cut the 12 standing committees to 10.

2 hunters still lost

CHALLIS, Idaho (UPI) — The search for two young hunters, missing for one week in an area north of Challis, failed to produce any results this weekend, according to officials Sunday.

Bob Bailey, 28, and Joe Conquest, 28, both of Gooding, failed to return home after a hunting trip Nov. 29-30.

Efforts to find them continued Thursday through Sunday with the aid of snowmobile units and an airplane. As of Sunday evening no word was reported regarding the finding of the hunters.

Overcast skies and rain-snow conditions hampered efforts, according to Custer County Sheriff Bert Mechem. He said all the campgrounds and side canyons in the 90-mile search area had been searched.

Members of the men's families searched an area near American Falls earlier in the week. Mechem said there is a possibility the men were hunting in Power County. Power County officials said they were notified and no search was planned.

The hunters were said to be traveling in a 1956 white Ford panel truck. Mechem said they only had one day's food supply.

Inaugural Boise jury fetes set finds guilt

BOISE (UPI) — Not one but two inaugural balls will be held in Boise Jan. 4 after Cecil Andrus is sworn in as the new governor of Idaho.

Roger McGinnis, executive vice president of the Greater Boise Chamber of Commerce, said the traditional ball has been expanded to two affairs for 1971 because of anticipated crowds from throughout Idaho.

"Both will be held the evening of Jan. 4, each will have a grand march and each will be attended by the new governor and other elected officials," McGinnis said.

One ball will be staged at Boise State College gymnasium, as in the past. Hap Miller and his orchestra from Sun Valley will play for that dance.

The jury in the trial of Paul G. Hatton, 27, found him guilty of first degree murder Saturday and recommended a life sentence in the Idaho State Penitentiary.

Hatton was convicted of the June 12 slaying of Mark Charles Hatton, 21, no relation, and has been on trial since Monday in fourth district court.

The 12-member jury deliberated some nine hours and recommended life imprisonment instead of the death penalty sought by James E. Risch, Adm County prosecuting attorney.

Judge W. E. Smith continued sentencing until Dec. 15 at which time he will announce his judgment on the verdict.

Defense attorney Allen Derr did not say if an appeal would be made at this time.

The suspect's wife and brother-in-law testified Hatton was home in bed the morning Mark Hatton was shot in the back of the head during an armed robbery attempt at a Boise 7-11 store.

Don Frazier, a state penitentiary guard, told the court Hatton was a "model prisoner." Hatton has served a term on other charges.

According to law-enforcement records, Mark Charles Hatton was shot in the back of his head about 3 a.m. June 12. He was working in the Boradway Store.

Lawson claimed the suspect forced the victim to lie on the floor in the stockroom of the store, took his wallet, then shot him in the back of the head.

Two witnesses testified they entered the store shortly after 3 a.m. and found it unoccupied.

15 'Panthers' freed

ONTARIO, Ore. (UPI) — Eighteen of 19 persons arrested Thursday morning by the Oregon State Police, some claiming to be members of the Black Panthers, were released Saturday and charges of larceny in a building were dismissed.

The only person held was Reginald Paul Waynes, 22, Seattle, who pleaded guilty of a petty larceny charge before Justice of the Peace Nita Bellows.

He was fined $200 and remanded into the custody of Malheur County Sheriff Robert Ingram to be released upon payment of the fine.

All 19 were arrested early Thursday morning near Baker, Ore., and charged with larceny in a building in connection with the alleged theft of shotgun shells, tire chains and an auto battery from a gas station 30 miles north of here.

F. La Gard Smith, Malheur County district attorney, released a statement Saturday night explaining circumstances concerning the arrest and disposition.

"Due to publicity given the recent arrest of certain individuals claiming membership in the Black Panther organization, it seems appropriate that the circumstances surrounding disposition of the case be made public to the extent possible," he said.

Farmer Youth may resign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There were strong indications Friday James Farmer, one of the highest ranking blacks in the administration, will resign Monday at a meeting with President Nixon. The Washington Evening Star reported Friday Farmer apparently had submitted his resignation. White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler declined to comment and farmer himself said, "I have not submitted my resignation, but as to what my plans are I have no comment." Farmer confirmed he had an appointment with Nixon. There was a report the administration already had checked out Rodney H. Brandy, a HEW consultant and formerly view president at the Hughes Tool Corp., in Culver City, Calif., as a successor to Farmer.

Utah pollution study planned

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A long-range study of pollution in the populous areas of Utah officially gets under way Monday when the Utah State Division of Health mails 10,000 questionnaires to the families of school children. Lynn J. Olsen, acting director of health for the state health division, said Saturday the study will be completed in the next five years. Results will be fed into a computer where the data is processed in an effort to find what effect types of pollution have on the health of individuals. Dr. Taira Fukushima, director of the Bureau of Disease Prevention for the State Division of Health, will head the study.

TOKYO (UPI) — Still trying to recover a few fragments of the empire they lost in World War II, the Japanese have made an interesting discovery. America gives back a little bit, slowly. Russia refused to sign a peace treaty with Japan until she gets the islands back. Russia insists the whole thing was settled on the battlefield in 1945, and refused to discuss it. Kumasahi particularly is a difficult problem for the Japanese only seven miles off the coast of Japan's big northern island of Hokkaido, it dominates the fishing grounds of Hokkaido's Nemuro Bay.

"Changing to electric heat makes a better way of life"

Mrs. Mabel Piercy, Adrian, Oregon

Changing my home to electric heat took only three or four days," reports Mrs. Piercy. "The only mess was in taking out the old furnace, and I was glad to see it go. Repairs and maintenance were a continuous nuisance and the house was never comfortable.

"Now, for two winters I've been really warm with electric heat. It requires no care and makes no worries. It's certainly a better way of life."

Lebanese peasants riled Mining ban asked to protect birds

AL OBOUDIYA, Lebanon (UPI)—"I don't think there will ever be peace here," the vegetable buyer said, raising his voice to growing violence that for once has nothing to do with the Arab-Israeli conflict.

He sat beneath a chinaberry tree and glumly regarded a set of deserted mud shacks along the macadam road.

"Neither the peasants nor the landlords are going to give in," he added. "It has gone too far for that."

Nearly a mixed platoon of soldiers and police lounged around a fortified police station and three armored cars. Barefoot children played in an adjacent yard.

It was peaceful in the village, but the vegetable buyer and his friends were nervous. Only a week before Al Oboudiya, a northeastern farm community huddled against the Syrian border, had been ripped by a classical peasants revolt and a truck was not in sight.

"All the peasants have run across the border, but they will be back and there will be more fighting," the vegetable buyer said.

The crisis started simply enough. A landlord sold his land to a farmer and the new owner ordered the peasant on it to leave. The peasant replied by shooting up the new man's tractor and the police intervened.

Enraged by the victim, 40 other peasants jumped into the dispute. A full battle ensued. They threw a grenade against the police station, wounded one man and damaged a tractor. The vegetable buyer said.

The shooting lasted for 10 hours before they ran into Syria.

He blamed the uprising on a combination of poor crops, money lenders and uncompromising landlords.

In the village, he said the average peasant's crop produced an income of about 1,000 Lebanese pounds ($320) annually. Of this, 50 per cent is eaten up by the cost of seed and insecticides—generally purchased on borrowed money.

When the crops slumped this year, it caught the peasants in a bind. They had no money to pay their debts and they wanted a better deal. The landlords refused and some demanded the tenants leave the land we have farmed for many years," one peasant said. "It is ours and I will not give it up. I will fight until I die."

His remark could be prophetic. Police in the area said they have received reports of weapons filtering across the border. The bitterness fanned by Lebanon's Communist press.

"The problem is not just in Al Oboudiya. It is all over the area," one officer said.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Bureau of Land Management (BLM) Friday asked for permission to ban mining and grazing on 28,000 acres of rugged federal land along the Snake River in Idaho to protect feeding and nesting areas of two endangered birds of prey—the Golden Eagle and the Prairie Falcon.

"The area is said to have the Eagles and Prairie Falcons in North America," Assistant Interior Secretary Harrison Loesch said.

Memorial service held by Filer OES

FILER — A memorial service honoring James Delaney, Worthy Grand Patron, Mrs. Winnifred LaHue and Mrs. Irene Bloom, was held at the meeting of the Filer Chapter of the Eastern Star at the Masonic Temple.

The guests invited to donate $10 to the American Legion Christmas Fund. Friendship night will be observed Dec. 11. The Star Social Club will meet Dec. 14 at the home of Mrs. Edward Brown for a no-host luncheon and gift exchange. The "Pax" Mason's Club will meet Dec. 18 at the home of Mrs. E.A. Beem for a potluck luncheon and gift exchange. Mr. and Mrs. Rex Reed, worthy patron and matron, presented gifts to past matrons and patrons. A trio of Mrs. Duane Ramseyer, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Reed presented musical numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Beem.

Mystery boss named by credit women

BURLEY — Bob Lynch was named mystery boss at a meeting of the Burley Credit Women's club Thursday at Nelson's Cafe. Ken Baumgartner, Idaho State Department of Employment, was guest speaker. He described training for underprivileged persons so they could get better jobs. He discussed the job training programs in effect in Idaho and a question period followed his talk.

Mrs. S.L. Walker, program chairman, introduced the speaker. Mrs. Ralph Butters introduced the mystery boss. Mrs. Derald Mabey and Mrs. Wayne Rogers were named to audit the books. The Christmas party will be held Dec. 17 at Nelson's Cafe.

Change of leadership

MRS. NOE BRACKETT, Hagerman, left, has retired as head of the Idaho-CowBelles Association. Walter Smith, right, is new president of the auxiliary to the Idaho Cattlemen's Association.

DEAR ABBY: For years my husband brainwashed me into believing that the only thing money was good for was to invest it in order to make more money. It made sense to me, and for many years that is exactly what my husband did with his money, while we went without luxuries we could However, now that we have more than enough security for our "old age," I think it is time we enjoyed a few luxuries. My husband totally disagrees with me and still insists on "investing" all our money.

Your previous advice to consult a marriage counselor did not work. In the first place, my husband is smarter than any marriage counselor, and in the second place, he says they are only after his money. He may listen to you, since your advice is free.

DEAR WIFE: Don't bet on it. And why should he? He didn't ask for my advice, you did, so here goes:

Lady, you can catch more flies with honey than vinegar. And if at this stage in your life you can't inspire your husband to want to provide you with the luxuries you can well afford, you're in trouble. It seems rather un feminine for a wife to consult a lawyer about how much of her husband's assets she is entitled to under the law, but it's an idea. And don't worry about his divorcing you. In your state, it's too expensive. So hold tight. You may outlive him.

DEAR ABBY: I enjoyed all those letters from the different preachers telling how they felt about babies crying in church. Little ones can be quite annoying when they set up a wailing and their mothers don't take them out, but I will tell you what disturbs me even more. It's folks who go to sleep in the middle of the sermon and snore. JACKSON, MISS.

DEAR JACKSON: If too many people go to sleep during the sermon and snore, somebody should wake up the preacher!

DEAR ABBY: My sister, Lee, is in her early 40s. She is a very attractive divorcee who has been seeing a rather well-to-do married man. This man (Lee says) has promised to marry her when he gets his divorce, but he one knows when that will be.

Our family is concerned that Lee will be accused of breaking up this man's home, altho Lee assures us there is no danger of that.

We feel Lee is cheapening herself by going with this man while he is still married. Also, if he doesn't get divorced and marry her, she will have wasted a lot of valuable time. In the meantime, we're afraid people will talk. What should we do?

DEAR FAMILY: YOU shouldn't do anything, having already told Lee what you've told me. If Lee is accused of breaking up a married man's home, or gets herself talked about, it will be her problem.

DEAR ABBY: I was pleased to read in your column that there are dog psychiatrists who can help troubled pets. My problem is that I have a wire hair terrier who desperately needs psychiatric help, but the poor thing isn't allowed on the couch. R. E. L., COLUMBUS, OHIO

Wigs are made for busy days

SHOSHONE — "With the holiday season hard upon us, a synthetic wig is just the thing to keep the busy housewife looking like she just stepped from a beauty salon," said Mrs. Joan Annett, home agent for Blaine, Lincoln and Camas counties.

With new manufacturing processes, and changing fashion, there is a wide difference in prices, ranging from $8 to $180 for women's wigs that similar in appearance," Mrs. Annett adds.

The advantages of synthetics over human hair types are listed by the home agent as "less expensive," the fact they can be washed and worn without expensive professional restyling required for human hair wigs, and resistance to damp weather.

The main factors to consider in synthetics are fiber, construction and style. There are many wig factories but only a few fiber manufacturers. With rare exception, synthetics are made of fiber called modacrylic. Several brands are available. All modacrylic fibers are similar in durability.

However, wig makers sometimes treat the fiber to alter its appearance or texture. The most important difference is in construction. There are three major types. Machine-washed is the most common. Cost runs from least expensive up to about $55.

The fiber is connected in a continuous strip, usually sewn in a spiral. It can be combed in one direction only. Hand-tied wigs are made by individually tying each fiber into the cap. The hair may be combed in any direction. Cost is higher than the machine-sewn type.

There are also combinations for off-the-face styles or natural-parted wigs. They sell for about $70 for the best quality.

The most expensive synthetics are the machine crocheted. The cap provides the same all-over distribution of fiber and the lighter weight of the hand-tied wig. The hair can be combed in any direction and is firmly fastened in the cap.

"Hi, Mom" calls set

TWIN FALLS — "Hi, Mom — or Honey, or Sis," will be heard in five Magic Valley homes this Christmas season, thanks to a project of Twin Falls Local No. 8110, Communication Workers of America.

For the second year in a row, the union will sponsor five telephone calls from servicemen to their homes in Idaho, according to Mrs. Alice Glover, vice president of the local.

She said families in Magic Valley wishing to receive a phone call should write to Mrs. Nonna Ashler, 250 Fillmore St., Twin Falls. Letters should be in by Dec. 15 and a drawing will be held Dec. 16 to determine the winners.

Those writing to Mrs. Ashler should include names and telephone numbers. Mrs. Glover said selected families should make arrangements for their servicemen to call them collect. The calls will be restricted to servicemen in Vietnam or those on board ship in waters near Vietnam. Men in the Navy, Coast Guard, Army, Marines or Air Force will be eligible, Mrs. Glover said.

Spud wastes grow

oxygen-carrying water down the river and into Miller, according to the health department.

What happens to kill the fish? Paradoxically, an "enriched" river is the culprit. Waste materials — potato waste, sugar plant outflow and even municipal sewage — "enrich" the water, feeding micro-problem was found in the vicinity of Twip Falls, from Salmon Falls Dam to Miller Dam.

Irrigation return is not the only contributor of solid material; the profile indicated that many areas along the Snake where "much irrigation return" was listed showed a much lower ratio of dissolved solids than did the Twin Falls 2250,000, according to Simplot. Eventually, Simplot's proposed new waste-treatment process will remove at least 90 per cent of all solids, according to Pat Harwood, a Simplot spokesman.

Ore-Ida handles about two-thirds of the volume of waste that Simplot does, and also hopes to reduce their problem considerably by next summer.

Currently, potato, sugar and municipal waste for the entire Snake equals a population of 1,774,750 — considerably more than the population of the state.

This will be gradually reduced over the next three years, according to current construction plans, until the Magic Valley contribution will equal a population of 30,000 in potato waste; 44,000 in sugar nutrients. The bacteria multiply, algae "blooms" and all sorts of organisms swarm to the feast. As they eat, they "breathe," using up the dissolved oxygen in the water.

In addition to using up the oxygen, some bacteria "exhale" most unpleasantly — they exude hydrogen sulfide — the familiar rotten egg smell. Many sewage plants trap this gas and burn it, reducing the odor; this has not proven workable along the Snake

The J.R. Simplot Company plants at Heyburn and Burley currently handle as much "raw" (untreated) waste as would be produced by a city of more than a million people. This is reduced by their primary-treatment facilities to the equivalent of about half a million people, according to the health department.

Of course, potato-plant waste is not the same sort as would be found in a municipal plant, where human waste must be treated. Potato waste would include peelings, grease, dirt from the raw potatoes and the like.

Ida's home office in Ontario, Ore.

But the size of the problem that has been allowed to develop is indicated by a tabulation of "BOD" or biochemical oxygen demand by the health department. At present, according to Dr. Lee Stokes, chief aquatic biologist, the Magic Valley area contributed nearly half — 49.8 per cent — of all industrial and municipal pollution along the Snake River.

municipal discharge, for a total of 130,250 — a reduction of 493,000.

The size of the problem has been outlined by the Idaho Department of Health, the U.S. Geological Survey and the Idaho Department of Reclamation, all of whom are concerned with the problem.

A survey of the Snake River profiled the dissolved solids which are usually brought into the river by irrigation returns, but which can be augmented by waste outflow. The worst Simplot is reducing their peeling problem with a unique dry peel process, now being used at their Burley plant, in which the potatoes are peeled while dry, and the peelings are not included in the plant's waste outflow. The new process will soon be installed at the Heyburn plant, at a total cost of nearly Disposal of secondary treatment plants will reduce this by the end of 1973 to approximately 33 per cent, Dr. Stokes said.

In BOD measurement, which bears a five-to-one ratio to population, the Magic Valley now dumps potato waste equivalent to a population of 315,000 into the Snake; sugar waste equivalent to 296,000, and municipal waste equaling 12,250, for a total of 623,250 in the three categories.

This will, hopefully, be further reduced by planned development of a technique whereby plant waste can, after treatment, be used for irrigation and allowed to flow out on the ground, from where it will seep back into the river.

"Soil bacteria have a tremendous power to treat irrigation water," Mel Alsager of Simplot said. "By allowing the outflow to seep into the ground, we can completely eliminate any dangerous bacteria of solids."

The problem is still immense: Simplot and Ore-Ida together currently discharge more than 10 million gallons of waste water every day — and it would take a lot of ground to absorb that amount of water.

Next, the polluters' view

RUPERT — Rupert is maintaining its reputation proclaimed on the sign at the edge of town: "Christmas City, U. S. A."

Focal point of the season decorations is the city park in the center of Rupert, known as the "Square." Newest addition to the yearly display, which is jointly financed by the Rupert Chamber of Commerce and the city, is a large Santa Claus head, termed a Santa elf, which stands from eight to 10 feet high and is covered with lights, making it a top attraction evenings.

Each corner of the park has a separate display, with reindeer in the southeast corner, a Nativity scene in the northwest, a Noel sign guarded by electric candles in the southwest and cathedral arches in the northeast sector.

A pair of angels flutter over the center arch and all three of the arches are lighted.

A Santa house on the north side of the square attracts children every Saturday when Santa listens to their requests.

T.F. windows broken by vandalism

TWIN FALLS — Damages which could run $2000 or beyond were reported to Twin Falls city police Sunday and Monday in a rash of broken windows.

Included were car windows on at least two automobile agency lots, several business establishments, windows, including the federal property of the Twin Falls post office and a number of homes.

Chief of Police Frank Barnett said Monday this is the most senseless type of vandalism there is and if the work is that of juveniles the parents will be held responsible for the damage. If it is adults, they will be responsible themselves.

He said it appears a pellet gun, probably fired from a moving vehicle, was used.

Much of the damage was discovered by city police officers on patrol duties Sunday night, Barnett said.

Damage included windows in the Troy Laundry, post office, Banner Furniture, D and B Sales, automobile windows in the lots at Bob Rease Motor Co., and Best Buy Auto Sales, a number of homes on Bridge Street, and numerous calls from residents whose automobiles were damaged while parked on the streets of residential and business areas.

Barnett said a full investigation is being made and every effort will be made to trace the vandals and they will be held responsible for payment of all damage.

Council facing lengthy meeting

TWIN FALLS — City Council members face a lengthy business meeting tonight with the 18 items on the agenda including the selection of a time and place for sale of the old filter plant property.

Approval of the sale was voted some time ago and council members have advertised for the sale of the 15 acres of farm land and the brick two-story building on a bid basis. The facility has been unused since the new water supply was put into use several years ago.

Council members will also select a co-director to serve on a joint law enforcement facility study group. The city and county have joined in a plan for construction of one building to house their law enforcement agencies and the city fire department.

Other items include deciding on a plan for water supplies to the Wills mobile home court and sub division; discussion of a claim against the Urban Renewal Agency; discuss joining the state in a suit against asphalt suppliers, and consider an ordinance to establish new speed limits on Main Avenue in connection with the new mall.

Other items include proposed ordinances under the Uniform Building Code including the dangerous buildings section. City officials will also consider an ordinance to create a local improvement district for sewer service on Locust South St., and attend to other routine business matters.

Simulated hunt termed success

By BONNIE JONES
Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — Boy Scout patrols could be of extreme value in the event of a lost child, hunter or other emergency condition, law enforcement officers concluded here Monday.

The fact was well proven Saturday night in a simulated hunt in the South Hill area for a missing 6-year-old child.

About 42 members of Boy Scout Troop 87, sponsored by the United Methodist Church, unaware it was a simulated event, were mobilized for a search at about 8 p.m. on a call from Sheriff Paul Corder. Within 45 minutes the entire troop was ready with necessary equipment and on a bus en route to the Schneider Campground in Rock Creek Canyon.

About 60 minutes later the "lost child," little Paul Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Miller, was reunited with his parents.

Miller said the child was located perfectly and he would be hidden in the rock wall of the canyon alone in the dark for 60 minutes. He was told not to answer calls but to remain hidden as if lost.

Machamer said the Scouts were lucky in that he was found in the first sweep of the canyon area. Boys first searched the creek and then spread out over a 200-yard area for the first sweep of the canyon and young Danny McBride, 11, one of the younger boys of the troop located the missing child. Not until the Scouts returned to Twin Falls for doughnuts and hot chocolate at the church were they told it was a simulated affair.

Frank Mogensen, Scoutmaster and another assistant, Chet Hillman, with Machamer directed the project to put the boys under actual emergency conditions to test their knowledge and skills. Sheriff Corder, Idaho State police and U.S. Forest Service officials also assisted.

Machamer said numerous tests and practices have been made under actual conditions before and they did much better Saturday night than in previous drills.

What's 'B.O.D.'

"B.O.D. . . coliform count . . . turbidity . . . "Strange but useful words for water scientists, they describe some of the problems faced in curbing pollution and treating water.

The principal measure of pollution, probably because it is directly related to the usefulness and quality of the water, is biochemical oxygen demand, termed "BOD" in scientific shorthand.

BOD refers to the process of bacterial breakdown of organic waste products — here principally potato and sugar wastes.

As the organic material is attacked by the bacteria always present in the river, the bacteria multiply. As they multiply, they eat. And as they eat, they "breathe," in a manner of speaking, consuming oxygen much as people and other air-breathers do.

The BOD measurement indicates how much oxygen in pounds, is required by the bacteria to consume a given amount of waste material per day.

The figures are used chiefly in a comparative sense: If a plant's effluent measures at 100,000 pounds BOD per day, now, and will be reduced to 10,000 pounds BOD a year from now, you can say the plant's waste treatment efficiency has been stepped up 90 per cent.

There are many other factors involved in treating water: salinity, or a measurement of the salt content; turbidity, an indication of the mud and sludge in the water; dissolved solids, in parts per million, a figure that indicates how much soil and other solids have been washed into the water; coliform count, measuring bacteria; algae count, diatom count and organic carbon.

Raw sewage from a Burley subdivision

Snake 'Ages'

TWIN FALLS — The Snake River and Idaho lakes are "aging" prematurely. Man-made pollution is using up a natural resource every much as consumption of fossil fuels uses up the never-to-be-renewed reserves deep in the earth.

The Idaho Water Resources Board describes the "aging" of the river and of Idaho lakes in its 1968 summary of Idaho water. These "water bodies are undergoing a gradual process of enrichment and increased plant productivity known as eutrophication, which simply means that they are aging," the board's summary said.

"In the natural cycle of things, all lakes will eventually become enriched and over-productive, causing periods of excessive algae growth, with associated low dissolved-oxygen levels when the algaedies. The natural cycle in the absence of man-made pollution takes tens of thousands of years.

"It has been shown in recent years that man's activities can accelerate rapidly the eutrophication process."

In short, man's use speeds up natural processes of nature hundreds and even thousands of times. What will happen eventually when rivers and lakes become too enriched to be of use?

The Water Resource Board survey has no comment.

Hansen decorates for festive note

HANSEN — Christmas decorations and lights have added a festive note to the City of Hansen. Greenery and lights have been strung across the streets the water tower has a band of red lights around it and the front of the recreation hall, the old Grange Hall, has been decorated with greenery and lights and a Noel sign.

A number of residents have added outside lighting to their decorating schemes.

Lower bulbs already stolen from some of the decorations could result in some child's getting burned if he should put his fingers into an empty socket. Marshal Delbert Mothershead warned here Monday.

Parents should warn all children of this danger and should see that their children are not responsible for this loss of bulbs, and extra expense to the city, he said.

Medicos debate diabetes drug use

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A rare and bitter debate has broken out within the medical profession over a widely used diabetes drug, with some eminent specialists declaring they will continue to prescribe it despite government advice to the contrary.

Caught in the middle is the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), accused by the pill's supporters of trying to dictate the practice of medicine. The FDA's medical supporters accuse the other side, in turn, of reacting emotionally to justify their past use of the medicine on millions of patients.

The drug is tolbutamide, trade-named Orinase, introduced 13 years ago and used by an estimated 800,000 diabetics, plus similar diabetes pills, tolazamide, acetohexamide and chlorpropamide — used by several hundred thousand other patients.

Nine years ago, the government commissioned the $7 million University Group Diabetes Program UGDP, a study of various diabetic treatments. More than 800 diabetics at 12 hospitals were tested.

The specialists urged FDA to modify its bulletin and reconsider its plans to require revised labeling of the drugs based on the UGDP report. An FDA spokesman told UPI the agency had no intention of changing its stand.

Dr. Henry Dolger, chief of the diabetes clinic and clinical professor of medicine at Mount Sinai Medical Center in New York, is a leading spokesman among physicians defending tolbutamide and criticizing FDA.

Later death asked

NEW YORK (UPI) — What if the ultimate result of taking a drug to stave off death from one form of cancer for three years or longer should be a relatively quick death from another within...

Even if that is the possibility it is still a good deal for the patient, said noted cancer physician Dr. James F. Holland. Without the drug the patient might have died within a year or less.

Holland was commenting on the experiences of Drs. Robert A. Kyle, Robert V. Pierre and Edwin D. Bayrd with the anti-cancer drug, melphalan, in three patients with multiple myeloma and one with a grave and continuing disorder of the plasma cells which is not a clear-cut cancer.

To halt the progress of multiple myeloma or similar disease melphalan must be taken regularly for an indefinite time. The four patients took it for three and a half years to almost five years. During these times they were well and leading their normal lives.

Suddenly each developed leukemia, a blood cancer, and died of it within a matter of months. The question which Kyle, Pierre and Bayrd of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., raised in the New England Journal of Medicine was whether prolonged melphalan medication was responsible for the leukemia.

Myeloma is an invasion of cancer cells into bone and bone marrow. It is classified as progressive and uniformly fatal. The four patients died of a leukemia which is a proliferation of the monocytic-white blood cells of bone marrow, liver and spleen.

The chance of the two cancer forms being associated is "remote," the Mayo doctors said. Melphalan and similar drugs are known to affect the basic cellular molecules of deoxyribonucleic acid. Therefore, they reasoned, prolonged use of melphalan may have given rise to the leukemia.

Their search of medical literature revealed only five such outcomes of prolonged treatment with melphalan or a similar drug, in addition to their four.

Government eyes mercury poisons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government took a new step Friday for possible future curbs on nonessential use of mercury pesticides.

Mercury use in pesticides in 1969 fell 10 per cent from the record high of 1968.

Agriculture Department officials issued a formal call for views on the importance of all individual uses of pesticides containing mercury, which can endanger both humans and wildlife.

The comments, the officials said, will help them "determine essential uses as distinct from other less vital uses which might be withdrawn to minimize hazard to the environment."

Any further action on the issue will be taken by the new Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), which took over control of pesticide regulation Wednesday.

Toothbrush said poisonous

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) said Friday that Dr. West's "Germ-Fighter" toothbrush is treated with poisonous mercury and could "ultimately be dangerous to the consumer."

The FTC said it had no authority to force the manufacturer to stop. Instead, it accused the manufacturer of an unfair trade practice and proposed the mercury treatment be stopped.

The FTC said 9 million of the toothbrushes were sold last year.

Bengals edge San Diego 17-14, cop first place

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Rookie Lemar Parrish returned a punt 79 yards for a touchdown and recovered a key fumble to lead the Cincinnati Bengals to a 17-14 win over the San Diego Chargers in the Central Division Sunday.

The Bengals' fifth straight win gave them a record of 8-8, half a game ahead of Cleveland, which plays Monday night. San Diego is 4-8-2.

Parrish's club record return gave the Bengals a 10-lead with 4:48 left in the second quarter. Mottlock Dennis Dierker's 54-yard boot and dashed for the right sideline where an impenetrable wall of blockers had formed.

Earlier in the quarter, he recovered a fumble by San Diego's Jeff Queen on Cincinnati's 18 to stop a touchdown threat.

The Chargers pulled within three points with 3:02 left as John Hadl hit Willie Frazier on a 20-yard scoring pass to complete a 10-play, 85-yard drive but the Bengals ran out the clock.

Defensive back Ken Riley set up Cincinnati's clinching touchdown by picking off a Hadl pass on San Diego's 27 in the third quarter and returning to the 13-yard line.

Jess Phillips went over, right tackle for the score on the play. San Diego's first touchdown came with 48 seconds left in the first half. Hadl replaced young Marty Domres after Parrish's run and guided the Chargers 80 yards in 10 plays, circling left and himself for the final two yards. His 40-yard pass to Gary Garrison keyed the drive. The game was a defensive struggle as Cincinnati was held to only 11 first downs, two by penalties, and quarterback Virgil Carter had a net passing figure of zero yards.

Cincinnati took a 3-0 lead with 6:38 left in the first half when Horat Muhlmann booted a 63-yard field goal, his longest ever. He had missed two from close in earlier in the half.

2 games sluted Tuesday on Wells' catch

Only a pair of high school games are scheduled for Tuesday, while College of Southern Idaho begins a busy week by traveling to Pocatello tonight to meet the ISU frosh in a preliminary to the Creighton-Idaho St. Varsity contest.

The Varsity Bulldogs 48-0 losers Saturday night to a tough Gienna Perry's squad, beat Castleford, while Dietrich traveled to Hagerman. Saturday night Dietrich beat the Minico Juniors on a last-second layup and Hagerman got knocked off by CAMAS County.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Warren Wells made a tumbling catch in the end zone of a 33-yard desperation pass by Daryle Lamonica with only one second remaining Sunday to lift the Oakland Raiders to a 14-13 victory over the New York Jets.

Wells, who had dropped a sure touchdown pass in the first half when he was all alone at the Jets' 10, grabbed Lamonica's heave as he fell to the ground when the ball was deflected by two Jet defenders in the left corner of the end zone. George Blanda then kicked the point that won the game.

Lamonica had released the ball under heavy pressure from the Jets' defensive line and the Jets fans pined on their third major upset in the last four weeks limiting the Raiders to only two penetrations into their territory in the first half. The Jets had built a 13-7 lead on a pair of 32-yard field goals by Jim Turner and a 12-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter from Al Woodall to Pato Lammons.

Footbal Conference's Western Division.

Prior to Wells' last-second heroics it appeared that the Jets fans pined on their third major upset in the last four weeks limiting the Raiders to only two penetrations into their territory in the first half. The Jets had built a 13-7 lead on a pair of 32-yard field goals by Jim Turner and a 12-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter from Al Woodall to Pato Lammons.

The Jets broke a scoreless tie with only nine seconds left in the first half when Turner, who had previously missed on two attempts from the 10 and one from the 25 which hit the left crossbar, connected on a 20-yarder. The field goal was set up by a dazzling 27-yard run by Emerson Boozer off the old Statue of Liberty play.

New York made it 10-0 with only five minutes gone in the third period when safety W. K. Hicks intercepted a Lamonica pass at the Raiders' 35 and returned it to the 16 to set up Woodall's scoring toss to Lammons.

The Raiders finally got moving after the Jets' touchdown and marched 44 yards in five plays behind Lamonica to a first down on the Jets' 30.

49ers clip Falcons 24-20 to keep tie in NFC West

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Two interference calls against Atlanta cornerback Rudy Redmond in the end zone set up a pair of one-yard touchdowns smashes by Ken Willard Sunday and carried the San Francisco Forty-Niners to a 24-20 victory over the Falcons.

The victory, San Francisco's eighth of the year compared to three losses and a tie, kept the Forty Niners in a first-place tie with Los Angeles in the NFC West with two games left to play.

The Forty Niners, fighting from behind a 13-0 deficit before the game was five minutes old, finally got rolling late in the third quarter but they needed the two interference calls on Redmond and another against safety Tom Kic Cutley to score the decisive points in a game the young Falcons had dominated from the opening whistle.

Bruce Gossett added an insurance 23-yard field goal with 1:40 to go for San Francisco's final points.

The Forty Niners scored a first-half touchdown on a 35-yard pass from John Brodie to Gene Washington.

Bob Berry, throwing on the run in the second half after the Forty Niners had taken the lead with 7:50 to go, accounted for two of the Atlanta touchdowns with 46 and 12-yard passes to tight end Jim Mitchell. Safety John Mallory ran 17 yards with a recovered fumble for the other Atlanta score.

Berry took the Falcons 80 yards in seven plays with the opening kickoff for their first touchdown. Mitchell crossing behind the San Francisco defense to grab a 46-yard toss. Kenny Vinyard then slipped in the mud while attempting the extra point and his kick went wide.

Doug Cunningham of San Francisco fumbled the very first time the Forty Niners had the ball and Mallory scooped it up and ran it in for a 13-0 lead with the game only 4:02 old.

Rams coast past Saints by 34-16

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Roman Gabriel passed for two touchdowns and Les Josephson ran for a pair to propel the Los Angeles Rams to their fourth straight victory Sunday, a 34-16 decision over the New Orleans Saints.

The tough Ram defense, bolstered by David Jones and Morlin Olsen, prevented the underdog Sains from mounting a touchdown drive until the fourth quarter. No. 2 New Orleans quarterback Edd Hargett engineered a 75-yard, nine-play drive that paid off with a four-yard touchdown pass to Dan Abramowicz at 8:23 in the fourth period.

Long-kicking Tom Dempsey opened the scoring with a 24-yard field goal for the Saints at 5:11 in the first quarter but they were hardly in it after that. Dempsey later contributed field goals of 50 and 54 yards.

At 8:04 in the initial period, Josephson took a handoff from Gabriel and crashed through the right side of the Saints' line six yards for the first Ram touchdown. That came at the end of a 63-yard march.

Gabriel marched the Rams 90 yards to their second touchdown at 6:37 in the second quarter. The payoff was a 37-yard pass to Jack Snow, who got behind New Orleans defenders in the northwest corner of the end zone. David Ray's conversion made it 14-3.

Later in the second quarter at 10:45, Josephson scored on a two-yard run after Jeff Jordan blocked a kick by Julian Fagan and John Perline recovered the ball for the Rams on the New Orleans' 21. The Rams led 21-6 at the half.

Gabriel's second touchdown pass came at 8:50 in the fourth quarter on an 11-yard toss to Billy Truax. Ray's conversion made it 31-9 for the Rams.

Ray contributed a 37-yard field goal to conclude the scoring with less than one minute to play.

Giants top Bills by 20-6

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fran Tarkenton threw two fourth period touchdown passes to snap a 6-6 tie after the New York Giants smothered Marlin Briscoe's fake field goal attempt late in the third period enroute to a 20-6 victory Sunday over the Buffalo Bills.

The victory boosted the Giants' record to 8-4 and set up an important National Football Conference Eastern Division showdown next Sunday with the St. Louis Cardinals, who lead the Giants by a 1-2 game with an 8-3-1 record. New York beat St. Louis 35-17 in their first game.

The Giants, who were sluggish much of the game, and lost the ball three times on fumbles, seemed to be in danger of falling behind 9-6 when Grant Guthrie lined up for a field goal attempt on the Giant 33 late in the third period.

Cowboys stayed in the National Conference playoff battle with a 34-0 victory.

The shutout, the first suffered by the Redskins since the New York Giants did it 63-0 on Nov. 5, 1961, gave the Cowboys their third straight victory and an 8-4 record that pulled them within one-half game of Eastern Division pace-setter St. Louis, which is 8-3-1.

Garrison, who scored on a 63-yard pass from Craig Morton and an eight-yard run, yielded rushing honors to Thomas' third 100-yard plus game of the season, but his 74 yards on a dozen carries were big keys in the Cowboys' victory.

MIAMI (UPI)—Mercury Morris, the opening kickoff 96 yards for one touchdown Sunday and four minutes later Lloyd Humphord ran a blocked field goal 51 yards for another to get the Miami Dolphins rolling to a 37-20 win over Boston.

The win, avenging a 27-14 season-opening loss to the Patriots, gives Miami an 8-4 record, and keeps the Dolphins alive in the upcoming championship playoffs.

Miami quarterback Bob Griese threw a 19-yard touchdown pass to Howard Twilley, big Larry Conka scored from a yard out and Gene Versaw kicked three field goals to round out the Dolphins' scoring.

Detroit topples Cardinals

DETROIT (UPI)—Mel Farr scooted 28 yards for a game-clinching touchdown in the fourth quarter and Errol Manning kicked three mini-field goals Sunday to enable the surging Detroit Lions to keep their playoff hopes alive with a 16-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

St. Louis is now 8-4, the winner of three in a row against division leaders and remains in second place in the Central Division of the National Football Conference. The Lions are gunning for the playoff berth which goes to the runnup team with the best record.

Clay listed 6-1 favorite against Bonavena tonight

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cassius Clay, a much bigger attraction as a contender than he was as a champion, faces the second step of his comeback as a 6-to-1 favorite against Argentine Oscar Bonavena Monday night before a standing-room-only crowd in Madison Square Garden.

The 28-year-old Clay, stripped of the title in 1967 and banned from boxing until earlier this year for refusing to go into the Army, will set up a $10-million title meeting with heavyweight champion Joe Frazier if he beats Bonavena. In his first comeback bout on Oct. 26, Clay, also known as Muhammad Ali, stopped Jerry Quarry on a cut in three rounds.

Only 14,000 fans attended Clay's last title defense, a seven-round kayo-over Zora Folley, in the old Garden in 1967, but when Clay enters the same ring against Bonavena more than 10,000 fans will pay a record non-title gate of $650,000 to watch. The live gate for the Folley-bout was less than $250,000.

The bout also will be shown live on closed circuit television at 170 sites, including 10 right in the New York area to help handle the Garden's overflow crowd, and in 28 foreign countries.

Although Bonavena is awarded a "cut" and an "out" in the ring, Clay couldn't have chosen a better opponent to test how he might fare against his successor, Frazier.

Bonavena has proved his durability by going a total of 25 rounds in losing two decisions to Frazier and proved his punching power by knocking down Frazier twice in the second round of their first meeting. Only one other man, Scrap Iron Johnson, has managed to survive the defenses against the unbeaten Frazier, and Mike Bruce is the only other man to knock him down.

However, Clay is unimpressed and predicts a ninth-round knockout in their 15-round bout. The deposed champion made his predictions in a painting and a poem. The painting showed the 28-year-old Bonavena lying on the canvas with blood covering him and Clay's trunks, and the poem, Clay's first since he beat Sonny Liston, said:

"Before round nine is out, the referee will jump and shout, 'That's it all, folks, this turkey is out.'"

"He done made me mad with his pre-dicting he's going to whip me in 11 rounds and racial slurs and calling me a chicken because I wouldn't go in the Army," Clay said.

Bonavena, as crude and effective in his verbal battles as he is in the ring, told Clay, "You black, me white, you no smell good. You chicken, you no join Army."

Some bookmakers are giving 6-to-5 odds that the bout will be over before the 11th round, but Clay privately admits, "It's bad for business to predict the fight's going to be over quick. Who wants to pay for a fight that lasts five minutes? I couldn't believe my ears when (Frazier's manager) Yank Durr said Frazier was going to whup Bob Foster in two. It don't make no difference if it's true or not if nobody comes to see it."

Clay said he would like to see Foster and himself in a fight.

Lakers defeat Blazers

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Jerry West scored 17 of his 31 points in the fourth quarter Sunday night to thwart a late Portland rally as the Los Angeles Lakers gained a 131-120 win over the Trail Blazers.

West shared high points honors with Walt Chamberlain while rookie Jim McMillan scored 20 and Herb Harston 19.

The Trail Blazers allied an 88-66 Los Angeles lead to five points in the last period before West took charge. West also had 15 assists as his team took a one-game edge over San Francisco in the NBA's Pacific Division.

Leading the late Portland surge was Leroy Ellis, who had a season high 29 points. Rick Adelman contributed 17 and Stan McKenzie and Shaler Hallman each had 16 for the Blazers.

The victory enabled the Chiefs to stay abreast of Oakland, both with 7-3-2 record in the American Football Conference's hotly contested Western Division. The two leaders meet Saturday in Oakland.

Podolak took a straight handoff, broke into the secondary and cut to the sidelines to outdistance Denver defenders after only 47 seconds had elapsed.

Jan Stenerud added a 35-yard field goal with 2:10 to go in the first quarter, a 14-yarder midway through the third quarter and a 34-yarder in the fourth quarter. Podolak set up Stenerud's third quarter field goal with a 32-yard run on a sweep.

The Suns broke from an 83-83 tie with 9:30 remaining to take the lead for good on a stuff by Hawkins.

Art Harris came off the bench to get eight of his 10 points during the final nine minutes as the Suns without a last-minute rally by San Diego.

The Rockets came to within one at 107-106 with 3:33 remaining. But two free throws by Hawkins and a layup by Van Arsdale put the Suns out of reach.

7-year also-ran shoots 69 to take Coral Tournament

By LES KJOS. CORAL SPRINGS, Fla. (UPI)—Seven-year also-ran Bill Garrett, looking for his first prize win as a pro, Sunday shot a two-under-par 69 to take the $25,000 first prize in the Coral Springs Open golf tournament by a stroke over Bob Murphy.

The 65, 220-pound Texan, the biggest man on the tour, started shakily by topping his first drive and then salvaging a par five. But then he strung three straight birdies on the third, fourth and fifth holes to grab a lead that never was threatened. Murphy came into the final round of the tournament five strokes behind Garrett and Lee Trevino but shot a sparkling 65, making a run, that fell just short.

Garrett's four-round total was 272, 12 under par. Trevino and Van Alen were tied at 274 and Arnold Palmer, who had pitted troubles his first two rounds and made the cut Friday by a single stroke, and took the lead with a birdie on the first. But he three-putted for a bogey four on the second hole, birdied the par five third

Texas, Buckeyes share bowl nod

NEW YORK (UPI)—Texas and Ohio State, both unbeaten and untied in 10 games this season, Sunday were named co-winners of the National Football Foundation's MacArthur Bowl.

Vincent Draddy chairman of the awards committee, said that the bowl will be awarded jointly to Texas, coached by Darrell Royal, and Ohio State, coached by Woody Hayes.

Tuesday night at the Foundation's 15th annual Hall of Fame banquet. The bowl is named after the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Supreme Allied Commander in the Southwest Pacific during World War II.

The MacArthur bowl was awarded to two teams previously in 1966 when Notre Dame and Michigan State shared it after playing their famous 10-10 tie.

"Texas and Ohio State proved conclusively that they were conference champions," said Draddy in making the announcement. "The Longhorns and the Buckeyes were threatened with possible defeat during the season but, in championship style, rallied to win."

The victory enabled the Chiefs to stay abreast of Oakland, both with 7-3-2 record in the American Football Conference's hotly contested Western Division. The two leaders meet Saturday in Oakland.

Colts tip Eagles by 29-10

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Interceptions by Jerry Logan and Charlie Stukes led the Baltimore Colts to a 29-10 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday and virtually assured Baltimore a spot in the American Football Conference playoffs later this month.

The Colts scored first early in the game when Johnny Unitas led them 70 yards and threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to John Mackay.

Stukes then intercepted a Norman Sneed pass at his own 38 and ran to the Philadelphia 15. Two plays later, Unitas handed to Ed Hinton on an end-around play for a nine-yard touchdown. O'Brien's conversion attempt was blocked.

Diggers seek Arthur

LONDON (UPI)—For five years archaeologists have been trying to answer the questions of whether King Arthur was a real person and whether the Camelot of his Knights of the Round Table was the great hill-fort of South Cadbury.

Now the digging is over but the questions remain.

And Leslie Alcock of the Archaeology Department of University College at Cardiff in Wales is reporting that his staff in months, and perhaps years of studying thousands of bone, stone, metal, glass and pottery fragments and thousands of photographs.

There have been no spectacularly obvious finds at Cadbury Hill, but from hundreds of holes in the bedrock, stains in the soil and a small section of stone wall, Alcock and his staff, like archaeological detectives, are deducing the sequence of life on a mound occupied by humans for an estimated 4,000 years.

Reading the meager clues the archaeologists believe Cadbury, a thriving Celtic town, fell to a Roman massacre in 44 or 45 A.D. — bones of a dozen or more men, women and children were found at the gateway alone. On later levels there was evidence of a "pobble" road dating from the late in the 6th century — about 40 years after the death of Arthur. — If there was an Arthur.

Study of this road showed it was a repair job to an earlier road which might have been built during the time of Arthur himself. Signs of a large hall — called the feasting hall — were also discovered last year and this time dates from the presumed time of Arthur, roughly 500 A.D.

Electoral upheaval likely in Pakistan

KARACHI (UPI)—Pakistan is torn by a political tempest that may blow up to become as threatening to the nation as the cyclone and tidal waves which ravaged East Pakistan's coastal areas Nov. 12-13.

The future of all the 125 million people will be at stake when Pakistan goes to the polls in an election scheduled Dec. 7 which had promised to end the autocratic regime of President Ayub Khan and his successor Gen. A. M. Yahya Khan.

Officials are still trying to decide if they should proceed with the election because of the devastation in East Pakistan. As they weigh the decision, hope that the first election on a one-man, one-vote basis in the Republic's 14 years of life will lend to a workable constitution is fast diminishing.

With Islam and Socialism locking horns over the nation's multiple and conflicting social and economic issues affecting the masses, the polls seem unlikely to be peaceful.

Fanaticism in the West and Bengali nationalism in the East have raised impacable voices in a country torn by provincial and regional rivalries — heightened by a geographical division which places the two wings of the nation on either side of 1,000 miles of Indian territory.

More than 20 political parties and as many independents are contesting Assembly seats in the West wing which has a smaller population but is the seat of most government and business.

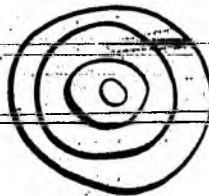

Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, chief of the left wing People's Party, appears to be the only politician who has so far succeeded in overcoming provincial barriers with the promise to establish socialism on a national level. His charges of bureaucratic corruption, the glaring gap between rich and poor, social injustices and economic disparities are practically unanswerable.

Labor and social reforms ordered by President Yahya's military government after Ayub was forced to quit amidst rioting have floundered: Labor unrest, lockouts and strikes continue and with a lack of imported raw materials, the nation's industrial wheels are threatened with a standstill.

Artificial shortages of consumer goods and rising living costs are current features of an economy falling into shambles. Meat prices since November have gone up by nearly 60 percent and vegetables are beyond the buying range of many middle class families.

Corruption, despite Yahya's efforts, is rampant, and a demoralized bureaucracy has the administration in state of flux.
