Asian war rages anew

Command said today a U.S. Army armored personnel carrier ran over a Communist mine on South Vietnam's northern coast, killing two Americans and wounding 22 others.

The mine explosion occurred Monday afternoon west of Tam Ky, 340 miles north-northeast of Saigon.

Field reports from Phnom Penh said North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units launched simultaneous attacks Monday night against Cambodian positions near the South Vietnamese border.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese artillerymen Monday night shelled a position of a unit of the Americal Division, resulting in what the U.S. Command described as light casualties. The attack was carried out against an outpost 11 miles west-southwest of Tam Ky.

L. T. Col. Am Rong, the official Cambodian military spokesman, said the latest Communist attacks in Cambodia and O Sondag, about 70 miles southeast of Phnom Penh and 10 miles from the South Vietnamese border.

Cambodian intelligence recently reported a Communist buildup in Svay Rieng and the neighboring province of Prey Veng. Both areas were briefly occupied by U.S. troops in the Cambodian operation last spring.

The Cambodian Command said it still had no report from a "lost battalion" feared overrun late Sunday.

Hughes empire nears showdown

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—The scramble that developed when Howard Hughes left on vacation for the Bahamas and fired the chief of his $300 million Nevada empire headed for a showdown today.

A court hearing was scheduled to render a legal decision on a temporary restraining order barring a takeover of the Nevada holdings by Hughes' corporate leaders. It was to be followed by a joint meeting of both sides in the dispute in a session mediated by the governor.

A Hughes spokesman said these two developments, "should end the whole thing by nightfall."

At stake was control of the lucrative chain of hotels and casinos in the gambling capital which made the millionaire reclusive the state's single largest employer.

When Hughes ordered the firing of his top Nevada aide from his remote hideaway in the Bahamas—a power struggle developed between the gambling operators and Hughes' corporate executives.

Gov. Paul Laxalt, his interest spurred by the disunity that threatened the tax-yielding riches to his state, stepped in.

Laxalt said he entered the strange case to determine if there would be any effect upon continued operations of the hotels and casinos.

Laxalt said he talked with the mysterious billionaire Monday and that Hughes told him he was on a pleasure and business trip "in good condition." He told the governor he approved of the change in leadership of his Nevada operations.

The governor said he took over the role as conciliator in an attempt to bring the two feuding factions together.

The governor said Hughes told him by telephone that he

Tate trial postponed

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Sharon Tate murder trial has been postponed until Dec. 16 to allow the "associate counsel" of missing defense lawyer Ronald Hughes to study the massive 18,000-page transcript of more than five months of court proceedings.

Superior Court Judge Charles H. Olden granted the continuance Monday after Maxwell Keith told him he needs more time to bone up on the transcript. If Keith is ready by that date, closing arguments will begin.

authorized the firing of his top aide in the $500 million-a-year Nevada operation. However, that aide, Robert Maheu, a former FBI agent who has been Hughes' right hand man during the four years the 64-year-old recluse spent in this gambling capital, resisted his ouster by an outside group representing the parent Hughes Tool Co. of Houston.

Hughes Tool today prepared to challenge in court a restraining order granted to Maheu preventing the company from taking control of the Nevada operations.

Laxalt met with the 11 members of the Hughes Tool Board of Directors in the afternoon and said he was going to ask Maheu to voluntarily relinquish control of the Nevada operations.

Laxalt met later with Maheu but was unsuccessful in convincing him to abandon the fight.

Pearl Harbor cited

PEARL HARBOR (UPI)—"Even the Japanese visitors place flowers on the memorial on this day," a Navy spokesman said as throngs paid their respects to Americans killed in the attack on Pearl Harbor 29 years ago.

Adm. Elmo Zumwalt, chief of naval operations, highlighted the ceremony Monday at the memorial above the USS Arizona, the sunken battleship which serves as a tomb for 1,100 men killed in the attack.

At noon, Zumwalt placed a wreath on the memorial. He arrived in the islands last weekend for a change of command in the U.S. Pacific Fleet.

Bruce Martin, who was visiting aboard the Arizona on Dec. 7, 1941 when planes of the Japanese empire crashed from the sky at "battleship Row," also placed a wreath.

Martin led a group of 35 members from the Aloha Chapter of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association to the memorial at sunset.

Martin was a crewman aboard the heavy cruiser USS San Francisco, later to engage in several Pacific battles and whose bridge is a monument at Laysan Island in San Francisco. Now he works at the Naval Reserve Training Center as a recruiter.

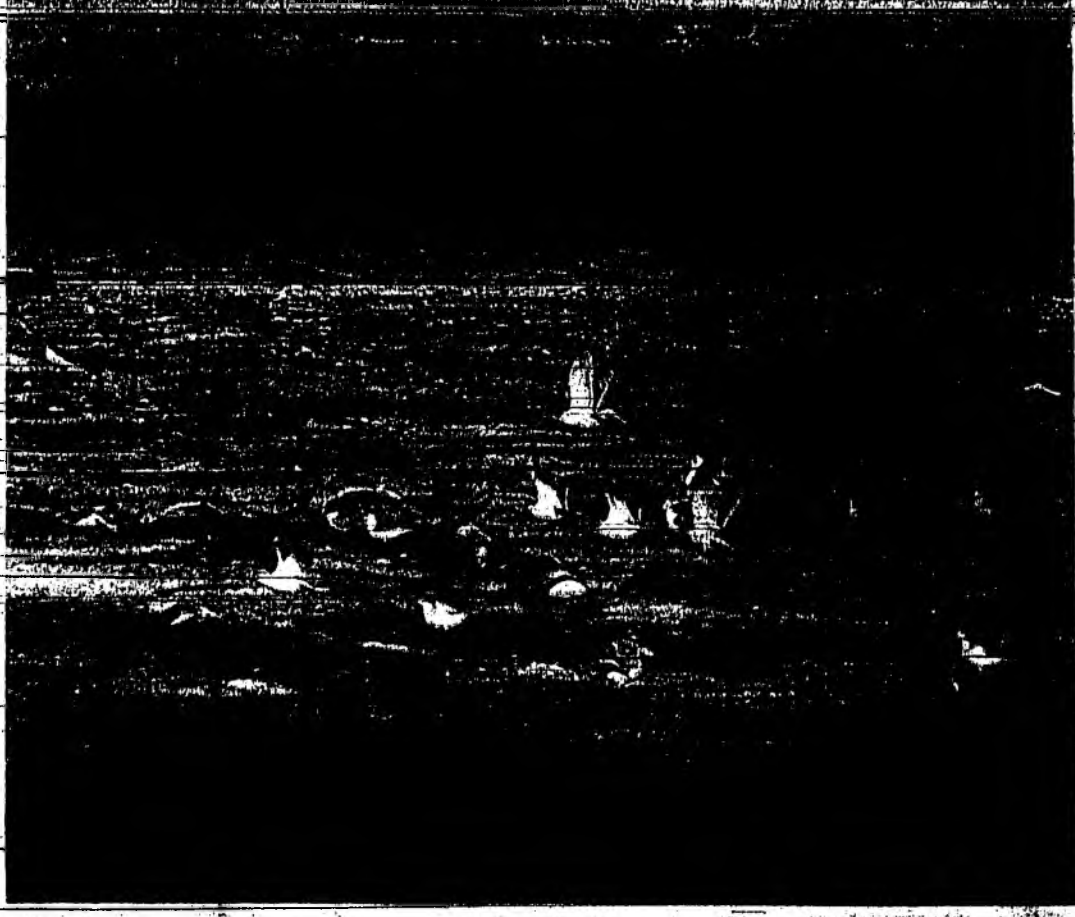

Flowers were also placed by a Navy volunteer team who represented a Pearl Harbor Attack Veterans Post in Chulopoe, Mass.

Taylor, formerly second vice president of the association, will serve as head of the group for the year.

Walk on water

SEA GULLS find they can walk on the surface of this settling pond at the Ore-Ida processing plant at Burley, Times-News photographer Dan Johnson was refused permission to take photographs of the plant because, as one official said, "We've got things we're ashamed of." Later, company officials permitted photography of their property.

Firm plans waste plant

BURLEY—The J. R. Simplot Co. will announce late today plans to construct a secondary-treatment plant for the company's Burley potato processing wastes.

In a news conference at the Ponderosa Inn, James E. Conrad, vice president of Simplot's food-processing division, will announce that construction of the facility will begin in the near future.

Advance details were not available on cost. The project is expected to be completed next year.

The company's action will bring the processing plant into compliance with Idaho Department of Health pollution control requirements.

The plant's deadline for having completed the project is Dec. 31, 1970 — less than a month away.

The project completion would make the company about six months behind its pollution control deadline.

The plant now has in operation a primary treatment plant, which removes more than half of raw potato wastes before they are drained into the Snake River.

When the new plant is in operation, waste reduction is expected to be about 50 percent — meeting or exceeding state requirements. — L. T.

Ore-Ida extension unofficial BURLEY—Ore-Ida Foods of Ontario, Ore., a subsidiary of the H. J. Heinz Co., has been granted an extension of the state-imposed deadline for operation of a secondary-treatment waste-disposal plant.

But not officially.

The Idaho State Board of Health adopted a series of interim and final deadlines in June, 1967 — nearly three and one-half years ago. Dr. Terrill O. Carver, administrator of health, said the schedule was formally adopted by board action.

Vaughn Anderson of the health department, head of the Environmental Improvement Division, said Ore-Ida had been given an "informal" extension of the deadline. But not by board action.

Ore-Ida officials, including Lloyd Cox, waste control officer, said that Ore-Ida's plans call for completion of their secondary-treatment plant by mid-1971 — six months and more past the deadline of Dec. 31, this year.

Carver protested when questioned that "They haven't gone past their deadline yet, so they're not in violation."

Cleaner river costly

BURLEY — Potato processing is big business in Idaho. Cleaning up its waste is no simple matter. It, too, is big business — expensive and time consuming.

"You don't just order a piece of equipment for half a million dollars from Sears and Roebuck and plug it in," according to Pat Harwood of Simplot. Designing the equipment to handle the vast volume of waste — an estimated 10 million gallons per day from the Simplot and Ore-Ida plants — takes time. Ordering it takes time. And getting delivery is perhaps one of the biggest problems.

"It will take six months or more to have a large piece of equipment delivered — longer if there's freight problems," according to Mel Alsager of Simplot.

Simplot has a comprehensive secondary-treatment plant on the drawing boards now, with construction expected to start very soon. It's expected to be in operation by mid-1971, reducing the plant's waste by 90 per cent or more.

In addition to the new facilities, Simplot has developed a "revolutionary" dry-peat process which is in operation at Simplot's Burley plant, and will be installed at Harwood in the near future.

"Spray irrigation involves spraying the treated effluent on the ground, either to irrigate crops or simply to dissipate it over the ground, and let bacteria complete the purification process."

"In addition, peat is removed from the effluent and used as fertilizer."

"The aerobic process involves use of oxygen — breathing bacteria in open ponds or tanks. The anaerobic process lets bacteria work in a closed, dark environment."

Arms talk pace OK

HELSINKI (UPI)—The United States said today it is satisfied with the rate of progress at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks — (SALT) — with Russia.

Following the 11th working session at the present third round of SALT, U.S. delegations are going along as had been expected when they began one year ago.

They said no one believed agreement was possible within one year, not even a partial accord.

The United States would, of course, welcome an agreement as early as possible but to have expected the deal last year could have been unrealistic.

Nixon's top black aide resigns without fanfare

WASHINGTON (UPI) — James Farmer has resigned after 22 months as the Nixon administration's top black official, declining to criticize the system within which he worked but conceding he longed for the days when he was a critic and a civil rights activist. His immediate plans, Farmer said, are for six months of lecturing and writing an autobiography and book and magazine articles.

Farmer once headed the Congressional Racial Equality (CORE) and was outspoken in the civil rights movement of the last decade before black power and militant black nationalism began playing a major role in the struggle. In his post as an assistant secretary in the Housing and Urban Development Department, Farmer was not much in the spotlight, and even eschewed publicity.

After meeting with President Nixon Monday, he said: "I'm not repudiating the machinery of government. I am not repudiating the establishment." But he said he longed to regain his "old role as advocate, critic and activist."

RR strike

Union president pledges Thursday work stoppage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A railroad union president said today there will be a nationwide rail strike at 12:01 a.m. Thursday regardless of whether Congress approves the 45-day postponement asked by President Nixon.

C. L. Dennis, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks, said his men would defy any government order to stay on the job. Only a contract settlement with railroad management would prevent a strike, he said, but added it was not possible now to reach an agreement before the deadline.

Dennis charged that Nixon, in asking for delaying legislation, had sided with "profit-taking railroad management" and had "destroyed any hope of collective bargaining in the two critical days that could have brought a settlement."

He called on Congress to "show greater wisdom and stay out of this dispute." Dennis Sends Notices. It also was disclosed that Dennis earlier sent out a strike notice to union locals saying that if the government attempted to prevent a strike, "We will not tolerate such action," and that union members should be prepared to see their leaders go to jail and the union treasury depleted by court fines.

Defense tries to undo damaging My Lai tale

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — The defense tried today to patch up the damage done by a former member of Lt. William L. Calley's platoon who refused to talk to them before the Calley court-martial but hit them like a grenade with his prosecution testimony.

The defense interrupted the testimony of Thomas W. Turner, 24, late Monday with a motion for a mistrial on the ground that the story he told was a "flagrant" departure from what the government stated in a bill of particulars last February it would produce.

The judge ruled on the woman-shooting: "I'm satisfied that as a matter of law it's admissible to show motive, design, and a number of other things, but in any event I'm going to strike it."

$100,000 plot foiled

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The kidnaped son of a bank manager was found safe late Monday and two men arrested in a foiled $100,000 ransom plot which sent the victim's father to Las Vegas, Nev., to deliver the money. Police said the kidnap plot evolved when two men, one armed with a sawed-off shotgun, went to the home of Le's father, William Spath, 48, in Granada Hills Sunday night. They demanded the elder Spath give them the key to the night deposit box of the branch of the Bank of America he manages in Glendale. When he explained he did not have the key and could not obtain one at night, they look an undetermined amount of money from the home and forced him to accompany them in the youth's car.

Mack set to resign Thursday

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES

TWIN FALLS — Larry L. Mack, director of the South Central Community Action Agency, said Monday his much discussed resignation will be officially submitted Thursday night to the agency's board of directors.

In the Monday press conference, Mack also recommended revamping the South Central CAA Board and accused the Twin Falls delegates of attempting to control the tri-county program.

Board members will meet Thursday at 4 p. m. in the Judicial Building in Twin Falls. Mack said he has accepted another position and must be in Washington, D. C. on Jan. 4 to report for duty. He said he prefers not to disclose the position at this time as he believes efforts would be made by certain Twin Falls area persons to prevent his employment elsewhere.

Mack's resignation was called for by board members in recent closed meetings, but the director said he had not been officially notified and therefore had not resigned.

In announcing his official resignation Monday afternoon, he said at the Thursday meeting a new revised program and budget for the coming year will be submitted to the board.

Mack suggested certain members of the South Central board be removed from power if the Community Action Agency programs are to survive in this area. The current program is now in its fourth year and too many members of the local board and staff see it as a "federally financed Salvation Army," Mack said, "and there must be a Salvation Army program and the local unit is doing an outstanding job."

"However, our function should not be that of a Salvation Army. We are here to assist the needy individual, but at the same time to train him to become self sufficient. We need issue groups to work on and solve problems of various factions of the community," Mack said.

As for the future of CAA, Mack said the regional office has indicated it will finance programs here, and has called for more planning including a full analysis of community needs and areas where CAA is most needed and will not duplicate existing programs.

Mack criticized the attitudes of Twin Falls and some Jerome County officials with stagnating the local program and making it one of a day-to-day survival concept rather than correction of undesirable conditions and aids.

He said he hopes there will be a re-evaluation of the staff and board, indicating he hoped the present Head Start program director, Betty Woolen, and Twin Falls County officials could be replaced. He charged the Twin Falls County six representatives on the South Central Board were "hand picked" and do not wholeheartedly support CAA.

Mack said most of the points brought out by the Twin Falls County board criticizing his office are untrue and unfounded. He said he feels it is time the public understands the situation.

CAA board to seek action on 3 measures

TWIN FALLS — Eight members of the Twin Falls Community Action Agency Board served notice today they intend to press for action on three specific measures including replacement of L. L. Mack as executive director in the Thursday meeting of the South Central Community Action Agency.

Royal Slotten, chairman of the Twin Falls County organization, said his board, meeting with representatives from Cassia and Jerome counties in the South Central Agency meeting Thursday at 4 p. m. in the Judicial Building, hope to convince other members the termination of Mack's position here has become final and proper notification has been given.

Members voted last month in closed session to terminate the position but Mack is still serving as director of the tri-county agency.

Local representatives will also ask for redirection of the CAA program in Magic Valley toward more community involvement and the use of more disadvantaged persons and less for administration, Slotten said.

Another goal, he said, is to seek authorization to advertise for a new director and to appoint immediately an interim director to serve until a permanent one is hired.

Slotten said CAA members for the South Central action Agency voted for an ouster of Mack Nov. 18, but on Nov. 25, no official notification had been given Mack.

Because of the problem, state and regional OEO officials were called and recommended the vice chairman advise Mack of the wishes of the board. Mack said the vice chairman had no authority to write a letter calling for his resignation, Twin Falls delegates said.

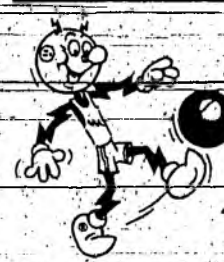

Class grant received

FAIRFIELD — A federal grant of $1,000 has been approved for Cassia County high school, according to a report made by Supt. Harold Stroud. The money will be used for supplies and equipment for the office occupation class. The funds are being disbursed under the Vocational Education amendment of 1968, Stroud said.

Local CAA board members say by-laws of the South Central corporation have been ignored

Ketchum zoning request tabled

KETCHUM — A request to change the zoning of 14 acres on Warm Springs Road to general residential was tabled during a public hearing Monday night by the Ketchum City Council.

Andy Scherthammer, owner of the land, requested the property be changed from limited residential to allow the construction of duplexes. Councilmen tabled the request until the owner can provide them with more information on his development plans.

Councilmen discussed the possibility of constructing a new shed to house the ore wagons placed in their trust by Palmer Lewis. The wagons presently are stored in an old building on Highway 93.

In a letter to the council, Lewis said the building is in need of repair and suggested the wagons be placed in a fireproof exhibit building in a neighboring unnamed community. He wrote he has a friend in a nearby town with such facilities. The wagons could then be taken out only when needed for events such as Wagon Days.

The city holds a deed of gift for the vehicles and decided not to send them out of the city.

Councilmen also: — Approved the payment of $66,346 for the sewer project to Tony Russell Construction Co. and to JUB Engineers for $4,083.

— Approved building permits bringing the year's total to $2,814,880.

Pumping in Cassia approved

BURLEY — Some previously declared critical ground water areas in Cassia County have been re-opened, Jack Barnett, formerly with the Department of Water Administration, told Burley Chamber of Commerce members Monday noon.

They include the north end of Raft River, west of Burley in the Milner Butte vicinity and some areas south of Burley, he said. Idaho is fourth in the nation for use of ground water for irrigation and has 100 times as much ground water as surface water, Barnett said.

Some Cassia areas, such as Goose Creek and Rock Creek, still are listed as critical and no well permits are issued. Much of the underground water in the Raft River area is from 700 to 900 feet deep, the consulting engineer said. There is unlimited water in the area if drilling is deep enough, but the water level is declining about five feet per year, he said.

Drug count hearings requested

BURLEY — Virgil Wageman, Mike Couch and Kirk Buckley, all 18, appeared in Probate Court Monday morning before Judge Vern Carter on charges of illegal possession of an enumerated drug.

The three appeared without counsel and all asked for preliminary hearings. No date was set for the hearings.

Bond was set at $750 cash or $1,500 property. Wageman posted bond but the other two are in Cassia County jail. The complaint was signed by Ray G. Mitchell, Cassia county sheriff.

Policies reviewed

TWIN FALLS — Policies for counties in which major land areas are under federal ownership were reviewed in Las Vegas last week by the Executive Committee of Interstate Association of Public Land Counties. Heber Loughmiller, Twin Falls county commissioner, said Tuesday.

A member of the executive committee, he said, Idaho and other states in the country send delegates to the Las Vegas area in the month of November to discuss county revenue sharing policies, public land acquisition and other matters. Loughmiller said the committee discussed payments in lieu of taxes in such counties or revenue sharing policies, public land acquisition

WASHINGTON — An intriguing question is poised uncertainly over the prestigious House Foreign Affairs Committee — and the United Nations.

Perplexing members of both is what is Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, implacable opponent of the UN, going to do about becoming a U.S. delegate to the UN.

For that international organization, the answer is of utmost importance.

The veteran Iowa legislator, who prides himself as being a leading economy crusader and battles for a balanced budget, has no beer in or out of Congress as a parliament and militant foe of the UN.

determinedly fought every bill appropriating more dollars to the UN.

So for the UN, the likelihood that Gross may be an official representative to it is a matter of disturbing moment.

The forecast is that Gross will be a U.S. delegate next year if he wants to.

Under established procedure, Congress is annually represented on the U.S. delegation by one member each from the House and Senate.

They are selected from the membership of the foreign affairs committees of the two chambers — on a rotation basis, according to seniority.

Foreign Affairs Committee, of which he is a ranking member.

Among his colleagues, there is intense conjecture over what he will do.

He is vigorously in the forefront of the bipartisan forces that so far have prevented the enactment of legislation to give $20 million to the UN for additional buildings in New York. This big chunk of money would be in addition to another $18 million or more the U.S. would contribute indirectly.

Total cost of the proposed UN expansion is estimated at upwards of $80 million.

Earlier this year, a bill authorizing the $20 million grant was killed in the House, with Gross leading the attack.

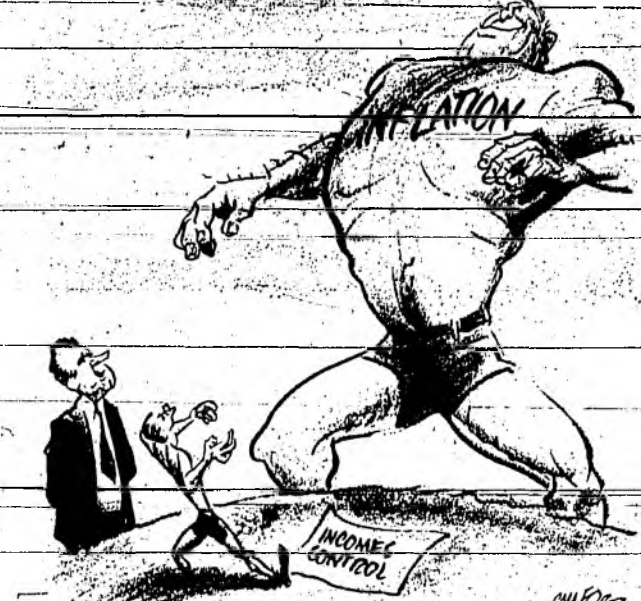

Several days ago, the proposal suffered another rebuff in a bill-announced shutdown by the House Appropriations Committee.

This happened at a closed-door meeting on the unanimous recommendation of a subcommittee, headed by Rep. John Rooney, D-N.Y.

Rooney caustically pointed out the House had refused to authorize the expenditure, and that if included in the appropriation measure it would be tossed out on the floor on a point of order.

Rooney also lambasted New York's Mayor John Lindsay, who appeared before the committee to argue for the money.

Those Drafts

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is an air conditioner in the back seat of a car?

I have heard that, if one has a good constitution, drafts are harmless, but also have heard people complain constantly about drafts, fearing a stiff neck or cold or something. — E.H.

I'll go so far as to say that cold drafts can produce muscle problems — stiff neck and that sort of thing.

I also have known individuals working in the direct draft of an air conditioner to have intestinal problems which disappeared when they changed location.

Yet if you ask why this is, I have to plead ignorance — nor have I ever read a satisfactory explanation. It just seems to happen in some instances.

Prolonged exposure is usually necessary to produce any ill effect. Gentle breezes should do no harm. But I do have to go along with the idea that drafts can bother some people.

I do not, however, credit the commonly expressed notion that one catches cold simply by sitting in a draft (or from getting one's feet wet). Colds are caused by viruses, and the viruses have been collected and examined in laboratories often enough to eliminate any possible question as to whether they are one cause of colds.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps," for which I enclose 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

I also have trouble with both arms going numb when I am asleep. Would special diet help circulation? — V.T.

No diet won't help circulation. Leg cramps very often are due, in part or more than in part, to deficient circulation.

This is seldom the case with arms going numb at night. More likely it is a matter of pressure on nerves or the position of your arms while asleep. A common basis of the trouble often is a certain amount of arthritis in the neck spine, with pressure on the nerves there when you lie

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 14-year-old daughter hasn't started menstruating. I am afraid there might be something wrong with her. — Mrs. T.

Not necessarily. If she is healthy, normal, and not overweight, she may be just a slightly late starter. If her general health isn't up to par, though, it's time for a check.

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of my booklet, "The Facts About Shingles," write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK On Angela Davis

WASHINGTON — An effort by the staff of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., to defend accused-murderer Angela Davis has been overruled by the fund's governing board, exposing the irreparable split in what used to be the civil rights movement.

The fund's staff, dominated by black radicals, wanted to defend Miss Davis by a new policy of entering into "significant cases involving black militants."

The board of directors, dominated by white liberals, refused on grounds that Miss Davis's difficulty was by no means a civil rights question. That settled nothing.

This dispute, moreover, embodies a central question driving black radical and white liberal far apart: does it advance the cause of the American Negro to invest time, money, and energy to defend black militants accused of criminal activities?

Separated from the parent NAACP since 1959, the NAACP Legal Defense Fund for a generation was the strong legal arm safeguarding Negro civil liberties and pressing for racial desegregation.

Within the past five years, however, tension has grown between the fund's legal staff, now largely black, and its white director-counsel, Jack Greenberg. Some of these lawyers feel a white man should not run a black legal activity — a contention unthinkable among Negro integrationists a decade ago.

Furthermore, the staff has not forgiven Greenberg for rejecting its plea in 1966 that the fund represent Julian Bond's efforts to be seated in the Georgia legislature (though that was a non-civil rights case of the kind the fund had traditionally avoided).

The crisis came Oct. 11 when Miss Davis, the famed Communist and former philosophy professor at UCLA, was arrested in New York on a California murder warrant for alleged complicity in the kidnaping of a San Rafael, Calif., man.

Miss Davis immediately contacted Margaret Burroughs, an old friend and staff member of the Legal Defense Fund, asking her services as attorney. In extradition to California. For a week, Miss Burroughs milled assigned to the case as the fund's lawyer. Contending

ART BUCHWALD The Poor People

WASHINGTON — Poor people, who were very popular a few years ago when poverty was such a big fact, are running into hard times. Most of the programs for poor people have been cut back, and there is even some question as to whether poor people are entitled to free legal aid.

There is now a concerted effort being made by the Establishment to prevent poor people from using the courts to get justice. While some poor people consider this bad form, other poor people are resigned to it.

"I understand their position," Dembow, a poverty-stricken friend of mine, said. "If you allow poor people to take their complaints to court, you'll clog up the system. Poor people have a lot more to sue about than rich people, and no system can stand poor people using the courts for their own interests."

"I'm surprised to hear you say that, Dembow," I said. "It seems to me that you would be on the side of poverty."

"I'm much more concerned with my country than I am with myself," he replied. "When they set up the poverty program, they provided funds for poor people to get free legal aid. This was a big mistake because a lot of young lawyers decided to participate in the program and use the laws on the books to make a fortune for the poor people in this country."

"How brightening," I said. "These young lawyers, who were trained in law school to defend the Establishment, turned into Benedict Arnolds and used the nation's laws to attack the vested interests in this country."

"They went too far," I said. "Not only that," Dembow said, "but they used the law to make the government pay for

Know Vern Johnson?

Bob Johnson, who has labored in the "backshop" of the Times-News for so these many years, has a problem.

He received a letter from Leona Marie Johnson Vitey, who resides at 937a Alabama St., San Francisco, 94110. The woman is looking for her father and she requested the aid of Bob. However, Bob has not heard of the man and is still wondering how he happened to be selected for the communication.

But that isn't the point, he says. Point is he would like to aid the San Francisco woman in her quest so he asked the help of Mr. Spectator.

We're glad to aid — so here goes. Mrs. Johnson said that her father was Vernon Lorn Johnson. She was only five years old when she last saw him and that was in 1940. She wrote she had tried many years to trace him but without success.

Mrs. Johnson said her father had many relatives in and around Twin Falls. One of his brothers was named Vale L. Johnson. Another brother was Vencente S. Johnson. He had a sister by the name of Violet, but her present last name is not known. Mrs. Johnson's father also had several uncles who were farmers. His mother's name was Leona Rose Wilson.

"I'm hoping that you can help me in locating him or any of his family," she wrote, "and I pray God will send you a blessing for helping me in this."

So if any of you folks can help then get in touch with Bob Johnson at the Times-News. It would be appreciated.

Dear Mr. Spectator: You want to be careful — at least in Twin Falls County — about of being a source of any kind in anybody. Don't use your crystal ball! It's strictly against the law!

Note that the official tabulation of county ordinances lists the following: "It shall be unlawful for any person for or without pay by means of occult or psychic powers, facilities, or forces; clairvoyants, spirits, mediumship, berserish, prophecy, potions, magnetism, Oriental mysteries, palmistry, card reading, astrology, or fortune telling of any kind to tell fortunes, to reveal the future, find or restore lost property, friendship or affection, reunite or procure friends or relatives, give advice in any business matter or give advice of any kind or nature to another."

(It is, then illegal for the Times-News to publish an astrology column?) Seances are also forbidden: "It shall be unlawful for any person to hold or give any public or private meetings, gatherings, circles or seances in the name of any spiritualism, religious body, society, cult or denomination, and therein to practice fraud or deception of any kind with the intent to obtain money, property or valuables from anyone."

So hide your spooks and bury your Tarot cards — that "customer" seeking advice may be an undercover sheriff's deputy!

Child development center work stressed

TWIN FALLS—Importance of Child Development Centers, now operating in six areas of Idaho, and plans for shelter workshops for training of the handicapped were stressed discussed in the annual meeting of the Idaho Association for Retarded Children in Twin Falls Saturday. Paul Burnett, Twin Falls Development Center director, said the meeting was the first held in Twin Falls and members from throughout the state met in the new center building. Directors of Child Development Centers conducted a panel discussion during the early part of the session to review progress of the programs in each section of the state. Members also discussed plans for programs during the winter months.

Ray Turner, Idaho Director of Vocational Rehabilitation, discussed the programs now available under the statewide coordinated program for training and treatment of retarded children and adults. He complimented the Child Development Center staff members and directors for having made a major contribution to the program over the past few months. He also outlined the shelter workshop program which has been established in Idaho Falls and said similar facilities are planned for other centers in Idaho.

Chet Bartlett, now vocational training coordinator for the Twin Falls Center, discussed methods of establishing the shelter workshop programs. Torch Group members, Teen

Drawing set for Dec. 16

BUHL — The semi-annual visit of the American Red Cross bloodmobile has been set for Dec. 16 at the Buhl Moose Hall between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. Ralph Assendrup, Buhl chapter blood chairman, reports.

Members of Beta Sigma Phi sorority will serve as typists and receptionists and the Buhl Jay-C-Ettes will be in charge of the telephone center for the system. Mrs. George Harvey is in charge of nurses for the drawing.

Project slated by Jay-C-Ettes

BUHL — Buhl Jay-C-Ettes are making plans for their annual Christmas activities including the welfare program of sending food baskets and toys to needy families in the west end area.

A booth will be set up in the "Christmas Around the World" display in the former J.C. Penney building where donations of toys, food or money may be given. Anyone knowing of a family needing assistance is asked to leave the name of the family at the booth.

Buhl firemen are working with the Jay-C-Ettes in repairing and painting donated toys. Also on display at the booth will be dolls, donated to the welfare program, which have been dressed by senior citizen ladies under the direction of Mrs. Bonnah Kuster.

Santa's mailbox will also be located at the Jay-C-Ette booth. Children are reminded to sign their full name to the letters since Jay-C-Ettes are hoping to learn the special wants of needy children through the letters.

Other Christmas activities include the annual gift exchange for members Dec. 17 at the home of Mrs. Willy Price, president. A Christmas party for the children will be held the week before Christmas.

The club has also made popcorn balls and candy to be shipped to the radio rock Jaycees, an organization at the Idaho State Prison.

SANDY Wilde admires pine cone basket made complete with curved handle, required some by her father, Calvin Wilde, Buhl. The basket, three and one-half pounds of mixed nuts.

Pine cones put into Yule decor

BY PAULINE DAY during the holiday season is a basket made of pinecones and nuts made by Mr. Wilde.

The basket is made of 89 pine cones and is put together without wire or a frame of any kind. The curved handle was put together one cone at a time to obtain just the right angle. Approximately three and one-half pounds of mixed nuts were added for a more interesting effect. The finished basket was sprayed with clear varnish and a large red bow was added to the handle. The basket weighs nine pounds.

Mr. Wilde has also made several holiday decorations from pine cones including a wall wreath three feet in diameter consisting of 108 pine cones and two and one-half pounds of nuts. He has also made pine cone candleholders and Christmas trees and a small wreath used as a table decoration.

Opening set on Thursday

The first musical program at the building is scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday, under the direction of Bob Swanson, high school music director. Several Buhl groups will open late Thursday through Saturday this week.

Cecil Harkins, Buhl, owner of the J.C. Penney building, has donated the building for use during the display.

In JACOBO MODERN, the exciting new card game covers all the hands that would normally be opened with a forcing two-bid in any suit and also all no-trump hands with exactly 23 or 24 points or with 27 points or more. This leaves the opening two-trump to show 21 or 22 points and opening three-trump to show 25 or 26.

This is an improvement over standard American, where two no-trump shows 24 points and three no-trump 25-27, since we almost pinpoint our strong no-trump hands while standard American does not do so well.

NEED READ the walm tends to be highly romantic. And exceedingly fond of humans. Most particularly of women. Put in a call, therefore, to a marine-life specialist out at the university to ask why nobody keeps walrus as pets. Said he: "Quite so, a walrus can get so lovey-dovey it will try to crawl all over you. But bear in mind, a big fat walrus weighs 3,000 pounds. It will smother you with love." I cite the foregoing to heat up the recent medical contention that obesity signifies a craving for affection.

NOW IT'S CLAIMED one man in every five nationwide is a heavy drinker, and one woman in every 20... THE RECORD ALSO shows one out of every 100 shipboard stowaways is a girl... AND THE STATISTICIANS report approximately 5,000 persons are injured every year in schoolbus smashups, a significant business figure.

WAITERS just about always treat rich people in a dandy manner. What's peculiar about this is most all rich people tip poorly, if at all. But there's something Shangri-la about big money. Have seen the phenomenon fairly often. No, don't mean to imply a hobnob overmuch with the wealthy, but there have been occasions, enough occasions. And while these loaded folk do not necessarily treat the hired help like sawdust sweepings, neither do they break the crystal spell of superiority, nor bend their brittle armistice with salaried souls, nor... lot of charming money-lying-around-like-empty cigarette packs. Mostly, they just ignore. And yet they are not ignored, hardly ever. Mind that odd.

Consumer protection laws needed

(Editors: This is the ninth of several dispatches dealing with the problems that may confront the 41st session of the Idaho Legislature today; consumer protection legislation.)

By LINDY HIGH BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's legislators appear uncertain about two aspects of consumer protective legislation: what is needed and where enforcement responsibilities should be placed.

Rep. Edward Rice, R-Boise, hit the nub of the problem when he called for passage of "basic consumer protection" legislation.

Presently, Idaho has no effective legislation to protect consumers. The two laws in existence, the Deceptive Trade Practices Act and the Unfair Sales Act, are designed to prevent unfair competition and to prevent merchants from selling goods below costs.

The attorney general's office proposed legislation during the 40th session, but while the bill passed the House it did not reach the Senate in time for consideration.

Rep. Terry Grapo, R-Idaho Falls, House majority leader, said he plans to re-introduce the legislation to the 41st session. The attorney general's office has asked for $46,200 for fiscal year 1972 for enforcement of consumer protection and anti-trust legislation.

But legislators seemed about evenly divided between placing enforcement responsibilities in the attorney general's office or the Department of Law Enforcement.

Rep. Art Murphy, D-Mullan, suggested both agencies could do the job together. The legislator, who asked that he not be named, suggested local law enforcement agencies as the local place, while another said enforcement responsibilities should be placed where necessary, some in the Department of Insurance, some in the Finance Department, or whatever agency is directly affected.

Rep. E. Don Copple, R-Boise, called for a separate agency to enforce consumer legislation.

Sen. Edith Miller Klein, R-Boise, said the Department of Law Enforcement would be best since the attorney general's office is "not traditionally an enforcement agency."

Sen. Klein and Sen. John Mix, D-Moscow, suggested Idaho's legislation be modeled after the Uniform Consumer Credit Code which was studied by an interim committee.

Heyburn mayor cites state clean-up snarls

HEYBURN — Harold Hurst, mayor of Heyburn, blamed continuing state inaction today for holding up plans to construct a secondary-treatment plant for the city.

"We've got our money in the bank and we're ready to go ahead with plans. But all we get from the Idaho Health Department is requests for 'more information,'" Hurst said today.

"We've done everything we can do to meet the deadline, but the state won't let us go ahead." Heyburn's plans for the sewage-treatment facility have been in the health department for several months, awaiting final approval and allocation of funds, he said.

A three-way financial setup has been developed between federal, state and municipal governments to assist in construction of sewage-treatment plants. But each of the three must guarantee funds for the agreement to work; the federal government will put up half of the overall project cost if the state will finance one-fourth and the state is supposed to put up its share if the city will finance the remainder.

However, in Heyburn's case, federal funds have been guaranteed, the city has its money "in the bank," but the state has yet to act.

Heyburn currently gives its sewage primary treatment. An unexpected population surge further complicated Heyburn's plans. The original plans, drawn when the city's population was 1,500, anticipated that a plant able to handle a population of 1,500 would be ample.

However, the 1960 census jolted the city with an official population of 1,600 — so the plans had to be redrawn.

The plans were redrawn, and submitted to the state health department. And still Heyburn waits.

Out it comes . . .

HEAVY EQUIPMENT tears up a portion of the main east-west runway at the Twin Falls City-County Airport this morning in an emergency move necessitated because of a surface breakup. The main runway will be closed until Friday noon at which time the repair job should be completed, according to Harry Merrick, airport manager. All Air West schedules have been canceled until Friday afternoon. The commuter planes of Trans Magic Airline will continue to fly, using the shorter runway northwest runway. The construction of the new runway has been in use 24 years and the big Hughes Air West jets were breaking the surface. A 1,200 foot new portion completed earlier this year is meeting all jet specifications, Merrick said.

Many things can pollute

BOISE — By definition, "pollution" is "injurious to public health." That's the word of the Idaho State Department of Health itself.

In an awesome but comprehensive definition, the board of health defines pollution as "such contamination or other alteration of the physical, chemical, or biological properties of the public waters of the state, including change in temperature, taste, color, turbidity or odor of the water, or such discharge of any liquid, gaseous, solid, radioactive or other substance present, which can reasonably be expected to create a public nuisance or render such waters harmful, detrimental or injurious to public health, safety or welfare, or to domestic, commercial, industrial, agricultural, recreational or other legitimate uses or to livestock, wildlife, fish or other aquatic life or the habitat thereof."

State pollution control standards prohibit the following from being dumped into public waterways:

- Toxic chemicals "of other than natural origin in concentration found in natural public health significance."
- Deleterious substances, which would cause tastes or odors in the water;
- Radioactive materials "of other than natural origin";
- Floating or submerged matter "not attributable to natural causes";
- Excess nutrients of other than natural origin that cause visible algal growths or other nuisance aquatic growths;
- "Visible" discharges of oil, sludge deposits, silt, silt, or other wastes that may adversely affect the use indicated;
- Objectionable turbidity which can be traced to a source.

In addition, the Idaho Board of Health standards set maximum limits for a number of pollution factors, including:

- "Organisms of the Coliform Group, where associated with fecal sources"; which shall not exceed 1,000 bacteria per 100 milliliters in an average concentration, except that "20 per cent of the samples" may run as high as 2,400 bacteria.
- Dissolved oxygen, which must not be less than 75 per cent of saturation at the seasonal low, or less than 100 per cent saturation in spawning areas, with the exception that oxygen concentration of five parts per million must be maintained at Milner Dam, based on a minimum stream flow of 600 cubic feet per second.

Emergency repair job cuts flights

TWIN FALLS — The main runway at the Twin Falls City-County Airport was closed at 8:30 a.m. today and will remain closed until noon Friday while emergency repairs are made to the old section, City Manager Jean Millar said today.

Closing the runway will make it impossible for Hughes Air West planes to land here until Friday afternoon.

The smaller planes of Trans Magic Airways will be able to land and take off on the shorter southeast-northwest runway during the period.

Millar said emergency repairs would be carried forward as far as possible during the closed time, with the worst section of the older portion of the main runway being repaired first.

The extension of this runway completed last spring, is in excellent shape, he said.

The portion of the runway which is breaking up under weight of the heavy jets was constructed 24 years ago when the heaviest planes (DC-3) weighed about 28,000 pounds. The Air West jets weigh just under 100,000 pounds.

THIS SIGN carries a clear warning to persons passing this pond northwest of Burley.

Reducing river wastes costly, time consuming has been spent already on primary waste-treatment facilities by Idaho potato processors, and it has been estimated that at least an additional $11 million expenditure would be necessary if conventional treatment processes were used, according to the Idaho Department of Health.

Simplex and Ore-Ida spokesmen said each firm will spend more than $1 million on waste-treatment facilities when the new plants are completed.

Simplex's dry-peel process will cost nearly $250,000 alone.

Municipal sewage is also a problem. Heyburn has submitted plans for a new secondary-treatment facility to the health department, but a reported financing snarl has delayed approval.

Vaughn Anderson, chief of the Environmental Improvement Division of the health department, said that under a new federal law, if the state will provide half of the cost of a sewage project the federal government will put up 25 per cent. The community must then find funds for the remainder.

"The problem is," Anderson says, "that so many communities are demanding funds under this new provision that it is doubtful if the state can meet its share for each project," he explained.

Burley and Rupert have both constructed adequate primary and secondary-treatment plants which are satisfactory for the present and for some time in the future. Twin Falls plans to enlarge its secondary plant to accept some of Idaho Frozen Foods outflow by 1973.

Idaho frozen Foods of Twin Falls, which recently enlarged its processing facilities, is reluctant to discuss its problems or plans. Vern Routh, vice president of the firm, said he had no figures to release on quantity or quality of the plant's waste outflow.

Vaughn Anderson of the health department said, however, that the department is "concerned" about the problem. Idaho Frozen Foods discharges its waste into Rock Creek, which eventually finds its way into the Snake River, Anderson said.

The firm has a comprehensive treatment plan on the drawing board which is now being studied by the health department, but no target date has been set for start or completion of construction.

(Routh, in fact, refused to let this writer tour his plant, saying it was "too cluttered" to let anyone in.)

Amalgamated-Sugar of Twin Falls, target of the full state lawsuit, has built a large waste-treatment plant which handles much of the solid waste. Further plans call for construction of a recycling setup whereby the plant's outflow will be sent back to the plant for further clarification.

The Idaho State Health Department has applauded Amalgamated's long-range plan. "We'd like to have 100 per cent removal of all sugar plant waste," Anderson said. He added that removal of sugar waste is inherently easier than potato waste.

State officials differ somewhat in their views. "Technically, Ore-Ida has met the deadline because of their high percentage of reduction," Anderson said. "They will be under construction by the first of the year."

Idaho Health Department Administrator Dr. Terrill O. Carver, on the other hand, admits that Ore-Ida "may miss their deadline," but they haven't missed it yet; so we can't do anything.

Oakley plant rite Thursday

OAKLEY — The Americana Inc., Boise, has set ground breaking ceremonies Thursday at Oakley for its new manufacturing plant.

John Robinson, Boise, president of the corporation, said Monday the new plant will manufacture camper trailers, mobile homes, shell camper units and motor homes.

Gov. Don Samuelson will fly into the Oakley Airport prior to noon Thursday for the event. The public is invited to a no-host luncheon at noon at the Oakley High School, sponsored by the Oakley Chamber of Commerce, states Ken Rosecrans, chamber president.

The students at the high school are planning a reception at the high school.

The new plant will be located east of the Union Pacific Railroad tracks and the firm has leased the old depot building, which will be renovated for offices.

Filter plant sale slated

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES, Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — Persons interested in owning the city's old, vacated filter plant south of town will have an opportunity to purchase it Dec. 28.

City council members approved the sale of the property by public bid at 10 a.m. on that date in the city hall auditorium. City Manager Jean Millar, named auctioneer, said bidding will start at the appraised price of the property, $23,500. Included in the sale are 15 acres of land and the two story brick filter-plant building.

Speed limits on Main Avenue were approved by the council, at a 15 mile per hour rate through the mall area and at the present 25 miles per hour throughout the remainder of the street. The street was under a 25 mile per hour limit while on the state highway system and no change has been made since the street became a two-way route and the mall area opened.

Frank Barnett, police chief, said he believed the traffic pattern has been established on the new mall and it will remain about as it is now with slower traffic through the core area.

The lower speed limit runs from Second Street North and West to Third Street East and South.

The ordinance was placed on first reading to give city officials and merchants an opportunity to discuss the speed limits before they become effective.

Another ordinance on second reading would amend the Uniform Building Code, adopted by the city, to provide for demolition and removal of vacated and deteriorating buildings under the dangerous building section.

On first reading was an ordinance changing the Uniform Building Code to allow the council authority to grant private use of rights of way. It was explained by City Manager

Burley sewer service asked

By GEORGIA LAYTON, Times-News Correspondent

BURLEY — Requests for extension of city sewer lines were made for two different areas during the Burley City Council meeting Monday night.

Councilmen said they will decide by Jan. 1 on a request from John Hilling to hook onto the line to provide facilities for a 200-unit trailer court south of town.

They tabled a second request for similar service from Gene Sorenson, of Grandview Addition. He said there are some 150 homes and businesses in that addition and the wells are being contaminated by septic tanks, necessitating the request for hookup to the city sewer line.

Councilmen took under advisement a request from Lex Kinuor for $1,750 for the Pomerelle Ski school. The city has provided funds from the city recreation department in the past for the ski school.

Mayor Garis Robertson said he believes the county should help finance the school. Jack

Police attribute T.F. man's death to internal injuries

TWIN FALLS — City police said Tuesday moping the investigation in the death of Joe Seeger, 22, whose body was found Friday afternoon at the entrance of his home at 4804 1/2 Fifth Ave. W. is closed and they are satisfied death was due to accidental injuries.

Cap. Tim Qualls, chief of detectives, said extensive investigation indicates the man could only have been injured at the scene where the body was found.

He said ashea and dirt samples on the man's clothing show he fell from a chair striking his rib cage on a cast iron kettle-like container used for burning and that he dragged and pushed himself a few feet to the rear door, apparently attempting to get into the house.

The autopsy indicated the man died of internal injuries from exposure and, apparently, had been there for several hours when the body was found by readers. Qualls said the man walked with a cane and suffered from an arthritic condition which left his back rigid. The man reportedly suffered fractured ribs and a broken back, minor scratches and some bruising.

of the body in removing it from the scene, he said would account for the back injury.

The man's cane was found beside the overturned chair, which had apparently fallen from a raised board walk as the man fell, probably in an attempt to get out of the chair.

Burkett stepped from between two cars into the path of an auto driven by Mrs. Terry Ann Baumgardner.

He will remain in the hospital and will be kept on a strict diet. The well, which is 100 feet deep, is being drilled by Eaton.

Barley Crispin said. Councilmen also approved building permits for a garage and a house on town.

He will remain in the hospital and will be kept on a strict diet.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited by another couple to attend a stage play. This was my first opportunity to see live performers, and I was looking forward to it. Our host didn't have four seats together, so we sat a few rows

At intermission, the four of us met in the lobby and our host said, "If you aren't enjoying this, we can leave any time." We were enjoying it so I said, "We'd like to stay for the whole thing."

Well, after the play was over, we discovered that our host and hostess never did go back after intermission, but they were standing out in front of the theater waiting for us.

Now my husband says that when our host mentioned leaving at intermission, he was trying to tell us that they were bored and wanted to leave, and we should have taken the hint and left with them.

Do you think my husband was right?

STAYED AND ENJOYED IT

DEAR STAYED: He was right in his opinion that your host and hostess were bored because they left at intermission. But since you wanted to stay, and were given a choice, you can't be blamed for staying.

DEAR ABBY: Please see what you can do for me and countless others who play the organ for pleasure. When company comes to my house, the first thing they notice is the organ.

Who plays the organ? They want to know! Then of course they absolutely insist that I sit right down and play something because they just "love" organ music.

Well, I sit down only because I have been coaxed into it and I start to play something. I don't get thru six bars before I can hardly hear myself for the noise. The person who begged me to play is jabbering a mile a minute and by the time I'm finished, nobody even knows I played.

Now, Abby, please be a dear and tell people that when they ask a person to play the organ to please shut up! Thank you.

WISCONSINITE

DEAR WISCONSINITE: You've already done it. And beautifully.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing about the young couple who have nothing to do and are bored with life.

This morning we had our kickoff breakfast for the United Appeals. Brother, could we use help! Last week at our Red Cross meeting, one of our board members reported she now has 200 volunteers and is looking for more. Another lady heads up the Cancer Society—busy night and day. Yesterday my wife received a letter saying, "How nice of you to have volunteered to read to me when I had my eye operation and couldn't use my eyes."

A national survey shows that the retired person's greatest need is transportation. I would like to organize a national society dedicated to giving these distinguished senior citizens a lift.

What's the use, Abby? The list of things to do is endless. How anybody could complain of boredom is utterly beyond my comprehension. Oh, by the way, I am 73.

H. H. MARSHALL, TEX.

DEAR H.H.: Bless you and Mrs. H. You have two of the biggest hairdos in the world—the biggest state in the U.S.A.

HEART PROTECTION
NEW YORK (UPI)—The body's fatty tissue may be working to protect the heart by helping to keep the cholesterol levels in check, say two Canadian scientists. Drs. Auble Angel and Jane Farkas of the University of Toronto's Department of Medicine, suggested that adipose tissue (fat deposits throughout the body) may normally collect excessive amounts of cholesterol in the circulation and store it during short episodes of over-feeding with cholesterol-rich foods, or when the liver or intestine manufactures too much of the substance.

Clay knocks out Bonavena in 15th

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cassius Clay, a matador gored and butted by the bull he hoped to kill cruelly and methodically, stopped Oscar Bonavena on a TKO with just 57 seconds left Monday night in the 15-round heavyweight bout.

For nearly 15 rounds the bull had charged the deposed champion, but a right hook toppled the hulking Argentine midway through the last round. Bonavena staggered to his feet, but was chopped down again only moments later and a towel from his corner came fluttering in from his ring as a sign of defeat. However, referee Mark Conn ignored the signal and allowed the fight to continue. Once again Clay stabbed out with a combination to drop Bonavena and end the bout at 2:03 of the final round.

Until the last minutes, however, it looked like Clay would fall in his knockout bid. Bonavena had staggered off the punches of Clay and bloodied his mouth in the ninth round.

Draw Bundini Brown refused from the corner. "You're gonna lose this one, champ, you're gonna lose." And at the end of the 12th round Brown, Clay's assistant trainer, wept bitterly as Clay returned to his corner with blood dripping from his mouth.

Frazier had fought Bonavena twice for a total of 25 rounds in winning two decisions. Bonavena also knocked down Frazier twice in the second round of their first meeting.

stripped of the title and banned from boxing in 1967. While still in the ring Clay talked to Frazier by long distance phone call, saying, "I'm gonna whip you, I did what you couldn't do by stopping the bull."

Frazier had fought Bonavena twice for a total of 25 rounds in winning two decisions. Bonavena also knocked down Frazier twice in the second round of their first meeting.

Frazier says Clay was lucky

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (UPI)—World heavyweight champion Joe Frazier said Monday night he thought Cassius Clay was "lucky" to beat Oscar Bonavena and that the former champ had fought a "dirty fight."

Frazier, at Monticello Raceway for a singing engagement, watched the 15-round bout on closed circuit television and "observed a number of mistakes Clay made."

"The way I saw it, Bonavena won every round," Frazier said. "Furthermore I thought Clay fought a dirty fight. I thought Bonavena would fight dirty, but Clay's actions were unsportsmanlike, especially coming from a former champion."

Frazier said Clay continually leaned on his opponent and spun him into the ropes unnecessarily.

"All those mistakes Clay made tonight, he'll make again," Frazier predicted. "And when he does, hell, look out. One thing for sure, our fight won't go the distance."

Frazier goes into training in Philadelphia next Monday and expects to weigh 190 or 201 for the forthcoming fight with Clay.

"And I'm not looking for the money, even though they say it will be the richest purse in fight history," Frazier emphasized. "This is one guy I want to whip and I'm gonna whip him."

Wins in 15th...

Frank Kush "coach of year"

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Veteran Frank Kush, who will be shooting for his 100th victory as Arizona State head coach Dec. 31 in the Peach Bowl, was named Western Athletic Conference Coach of the Year Monday by United Press International. Kush, who has coached the undefeated Sun Devils to back-to-back conference championships, edged Rudy Feldman, New Mexico's miracle man, in balloting by the eight coaches in the widespread league.

The former Michigan State University All-American guard, who recruits speed in linemen as well as backs, has a 99-30-1 record in 13 years at the ASU helm. His Sun Devils meet North Carolina in Atlanta's Peach Bowl.

Kush, the son of a Pennsylvania coal-miner, has never been on a losing team in an athletic career which began in 1945 as a player at Windber (Pennsylvania) High School. He was a starting guard for Biggie Munn at Michigan State from 1950-1952. The Spartans were undefeated during the 1951 and 1952 seasons.

After three consecutive 8-2 seasons, the Sun Devils rolled through their 1970 schedule of 10 games without a defeat and finished eighth in the final UPI ratings of major college teams. ASU also finished the campaign as the nation's top club in total offense with a 590-yards-plus average.

Extending back to the 1960 season, the Sun Devils have registered 10 consecutive wins.

UCLA No. 1

NEW YORK (UPI)—UCLA, with four straight NCAA titles in hand, is off to a good start in its quest for No. 5.

The Bruins walked off with the No. 1 ranking today in the first week's balloting by 65 member United Press International Board of Coaches. UCLA received 31 of the 32 first place votes cast and 319 points in the balloting for games played through Sunday, Dec. 6.

South Carolina, which received the lone first place ballot not cast for UCLA, was ranked second with Kentucky, Jacksonville and Marquette following in that order.

Notre Dame was sixth, followed by Southern California, Western Kentucky, Kansas and Pennsylvania to complete the top 10.

Indiana was 11th, followed by Villanova, Utah State, Drake, Louisville, Florida State and Long Beach State. New Mexico and Tennessee tied for 18th while North Carolina was 20th and last.

UCLA put on an awesome offensive show during the weekend to walk off with top honors. The Bruins crushed Baylor, 108-77, Friday night with their five starters being pulled with five minutes remaining in the first half. The following night, UCLA destroyed Rice, the defending Southwest Conference champion, 124-78.

South Carolina, erratic in its opening 86-69 victory over Auburn, put its game together with an 85-82 victory over sixth-ranked Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind. Kentucky stopped a pair of Big Ten opponents, beating Northwestern, 116-110, and Michigan, 104-83, while Marquette downed St. John's of Minnesota, 87-58, and St. Louis, 95-72.

Jacksonville ripped little Biscayne College, 132-88, in its opener.

ISU falls to Jays in overtime

POCATELLO — Creighton's Al Lewis scored three points late in an overtime period to establish the lead and teammate Mike Caruso added two crucial free throws Monday night to give Coach Eddie Sutton's embattled Blue Jays a 78-77 decision over the Idaho State Bengals.

Creighton pulled off a near miracle at the end to erase a lead established on a fine individual show by ISU's Willie Humes, who wound up with 31 points and 10 straight when the Bengals were overhauling a game-long Blue Jay lead. The chance for what would have been a major upset, ended when ISU's Trent Magner tried a close-in shot for some insurance as the Bengals were protecting a one-point lead with 1:10 left. Lewis blocked the shot and the Jays tied it when John Taylor hit with 1:10 left.

Caruso opened the overtime with a long shot, which was nullified by Magner seconds later. Then came Lewis' three points that ended the ISU upset bid. After an Abe Gibbons' two-pointer with 53 seconds left, Caruso got his clinching free throw and Humes' two charity tosses 30 seconds later, couldn't overcome them.

ISU used a combination of defenses, opening with a zone that managed somehow to keep Creighton's heralded all-American, Cyril Baptiste, scoreless through the first half.

The game was always close with Creighton twice pushing up to nine-point leads in the first half and once again five minutes into the second half. Humes, held to two field goals up to then, started his overtime show by pulling the Bengals close to pull his best in the last six minutes. He hit 10 straight ISU shots, but a 21-21 tie was set when Lewis' shot missed.

CSI rolls to fifth straight win, rips ISU frosh 106-82

POCATELLO — Ron Behagen, Ralph Palomar and Tim Bassett controlled the boards and the scoring Monday night in leading the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles to their fifth straight triumph, a 106-82 decision over the Idaho State frosh.

The game wound up CSI's four-of-five wins as they now are pointed toward a Friday home clash with a highly regarded Casper, Wyo., junior college, and the BYU frosh Saturday. The games will be part of a pair of doubleheaders with BYU and BSC frosh Monday and the first game Friday and switching opponents with CSI on Saturday.

Bassett carried the bulk of the scoring load in the first half when he canned 17 points to help the Eagles fashion a 50-41 lead. Early in the second half, Behagen and Palomar started hitting, Behagen coming on with a sharp passing game that demolished ISU's zone defense. Bassett wound up with 23 points. Behagen 27 and Palomar 31.

ISU shot red-hot from well outside, particularly in the first half, to keep the Eagles from picking up their usual big early lead and coasting in. Pete Miller, Carey Toano and Nick Ysursa kept the ISU frosh within five to eight points until later in the half when Behagen hit a field goal and Bassett followed with five straight points to open up a 18-point margin. The halftime score of nine points marked the closest they came thereafter as Behagen hit six of the first eight points to open the second half.

BYU shocks N.M. State

PROVO, UTAH (UPI)—Brighton-Young University out-rebounded and outshot nationally-ranked New Mexico State to upset the Aggies 86-76 Monday night.

The Cougars, undefeated in three games forced the Aggies into early mistakes, with an alert zone defense. BYU forged to a 48-36 halftime lead. In their meeting here one year ago, the Aggies defeated BYU 80-78 in overtime.

Browns down Oilers 21-10

HOUSTON (UPI)—Leroy Kelly raced for 108 yards including one touchdown and quarterback Bill Nelson came up with the big third-down play to lead the Cleveland Browns to a 21-10 victory over the Houston Oilers Monday night.

The Browns moved back into a first-place tie with Cincinnati in the central division of the American Conference, each with 8-3 records, and the Oilers were eliminated from the race.

Kelly, running for 100-plus yards for the second time this season and the 22nd time in his career, scored on a one-yard run in the fourth quarter to seal the victory.

Nelson passed one yard to Gary Collins for the first touchdown and Bo Scott, Kelly's running mate, scored the other one on a two-yard end run in the third quarter.

Roy Gerela kicked a 43-yard field goal in the first quarter to give the Oilers an early lead and Jim Beltrone caught a nine-yard touchdown pass from reserve quarterback Jerry Rhome with 1:52 to go in the game.

Charley Johnson, who has been known throughout his career for beating the Browns, completed only five of 18 passes for 40 yards in losing to them for the second time in three weeks. He had not lost to them twice in one year since 1962.

Nelson connected on 15 of 27 for 181 yards, including three big third-down plays in the first two scoring drives.

The Cleveland defense led by ends Ron Sidow, Jack Gregory and Joe "Turkoy" Jones and tackle Walter Johnson turned the tide of the game midway through the second quarter when they stopped the Oilers three times inside the three yard line.

Doctors' Tests In Treating Nervous Tension Headaches Now Made Public

Non-Narcotic Tablet That Needs No Prescription Proves Just As Effective As The Expensive, Leading Pain-Relief Prescription Of Doctors.

If you're one of the many who get tense, nervous headaches, these latest tests by doctors should be of the greatest importance.

In recent medical tests, doctors proved a famous tablet that needs no prescription gives the same complete headache relief as the expensive, leading prescription of doctors.

These doctors' tests proved, beyond a doubt, that Anacin is just as effective to relieve tension headaches, yet Anacin needs no prescription and is far more economical.

With Anacin, headache-pain and its nervous tension vanish in minutes. Despite its strength, Anacin is not narcotic. You can take it without getting dizzy or an upset stomach.

Next time take powerful, fast-acting Anacin. Anacin Tablets give the same complete headache pain relief as the leading prescription product for which doctors wrote 21 million prescriptions last year.

13 players honored for gridiron achievements

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame honored 13 college football players Monday for their distinguished achievements on the gridiron and in the classroom, and the most honored scholar of the season, Don Denbo of Tennessee, said that during the season football takes priority over his school work.

Denbo, an offensive guard and pre-med student with a Phi Beta Kappa key, seized the sentiments of the majority of the other scholar-athletes when he informed newsmen and several dignitaries of the college football world that the pressures of football made it very difficult to devote much time to study.

"I don't study much anyway, and I don't even go to class hardly," said Denbo, who at Tuesday night's award dinner will receive a $500 grant from the Foundation toward post-season study and an additional grant from a New Jersey medical journal.

Other scholar-athletes who will receive the $500 post-graduate grant are Dennis Dummell of UCLA, Rex Kern of Ohio State, Larry Dinardo of Notre Dame, Don Edmister of Texas A&M, Bob Parker of the Air Force Academy, Bill Zapalao of Texas, Leo Dillon of Dayton, James Cooch of Colorado, John Sande of Stanford, Willie Bogan of Dartmouth, Tom Neville of Yale and Tommy Lyons of Georgia.

The Foundation also will honor the nine new inductees into the Hall of Fame at the annual awards dinner Tuesday night. Those include Frank Leahy, Tom Davies, Ernie Smith, Myles Lane, Don Miller, Millard "Dixie" Howell, Frank Wickhorst, Mortimer "Bud" Sprague and Ed Bock. All except for Leahy, who was an outstanding coach at Boston College and Notre Dame, earned their fame as players.

The Foundation also will present its Distinguished American Award posthumously to the late Vince Lombardi, who had an outstanding career as a coach in pro football after starring for Fordham University; and its coveted Gold Medal Award to Admiral Thomas J. Hamilton, USN-R, former coach and athletic director at Navy and current commissioner of the Pacific Eight Conference.

Arizona State puts eight on WAC team

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Undefeated Arizona State, en route to the Peach Bowl with the nation's total offense title in its pocket, won eight first team berths Monday on United Press International's 1970 All-Western Athletic Conference team.

The Sun Devils, riding a 16 game winning streak extending back to the 1969 season, placed four men on each of the offensive and defensive units to dominate the balloting for UPI by the eight league coaches.

All the individual honors also went to ASU, which meets North Carolina later this month in the Peach-Bowl at Atlanta, Ga.

Quarterback Joe Spagnola, the WAC leader in total offense with 2,164 yards, was selected back of the year and player of the year, an honor he shared last year.

The ASU quarterback, one of seven repeaters from UPI's 1969 all-WAC team, passed for 1,991 yards and 18 touchdowns in guiding his team to 10 consecutive victories with an offense that averaged 500-plus yards per game.

France to enter cup race

NEW YORK (UPI) — Franco has officially challenged for the 1973 America's Cup for 12-meter yachts, Bruno Bich said Monday.

Bich, son of Baron Marcel Bich, French pen tycoon who led the 1970 French challenge which was defeated by Australia's Greta II in the trials, is stationed in New York and served as Press spokesman for the 1970 effort.

"The official letter of challenge is en route to the New York Yacht Club," Bruno Bich said. "We had expected it would arrive today, but it must have been delayed."

"The final decision has not yet been taken, but almost certainly we will have an aluminum-hulled 12-meter for 1973."

Australia and Canada also have challenged. The deadline is Dec. 28, and the French had indicated many weeks ago that they would compete, but had not made formal entry.

At a seminar at a luncheon last week, top U.S. designers revealed that the rules would be changed to allow aluminum hulls in 1973. Olin Stephens of the U.S., who designed four cup winners, said that he would use aluminum in 1973 and that Alan Payne, top Australian designer also agreed to aluminum. Bruno Bich said that France too welcomed the change.

Tennis tourney begun

TOKYO (UPI) — Americans Stan Smith and Arthur Ashe both won their opening round matches in the Masters tennis tournament Monday, but Cliff Richey was forced to withdraw with suspected hepatitis.

Smith, of Pasadena, Calif., upset Australia's Rod Laver, 6-3, 6-4, and Ashe, of Gum Springs, Va., outduelled Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia, 6-5, 5-8, 6-2.

Richey, who headed the Pepsi Grand Prix standings that led to this playoff, withdrew after being examined by a doctor. Jack Kramer, the tournament organizer, said the diagnosis was possible hepatitis in the incubation stage, but it was unknown when or where Richey contracted the disease.

Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia replaced Richey in the draw and he was beaten by Australian Ken Rosewall, 6-5, 6-4.

Phillies sign 17-year-old

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Steve Giberson, 17, an infielder from Lancaster, Pa., was signed Monday by the Philadelphia Phillies, the national league club announced.

Giberson was signed to a contract with Spartanburg in the Western Carolinas League. The youth batted .385 last spring in his senior year at Solanco High School.

Theismann and bride in Vegas

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — Notre Dame quarterback Joe Theismann, honeymooning at the Dunes Hotel here, said Monday the Irish football team feels it can redeem its one-loss regular season by defeating No. 1 ranked Texas in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day.

Theismann offered no excuses for Notre Dame's 38-28 loss to the University of Southern California Nov. 26, stating that the Trojans were "the best team we met all season at least on that particular day."

He did say however that the loss of star offensive guard Larry Dierker and the muddy field conditions for the USC game "may have had something to do with our defeat."

The 24-year-old six-footer, who weighs 180 pounds, also said he was not disappointed by finishing second to Stanford's Jim Plunkett in the Heisman Trophy voting for best college player last year.

Her time is precious.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Leo Trevino has regained the lead in 1970 golf earnings with a total of $147,522 after springing for third in the Coral Springs Open last weekend, it was announced Monday by the PGA Tour's Tournament Players Division.

Trevino picked up $7,350 in the Florida tournament to leap from fourth place to the top in money earnings. Billy Casper, who led the money race for nine weeks, has not competed in the 1970 tour's tournaments and slipped to second with $147,372.

Trevino has played in 32 tournaments this year, 12 more than Casper.

The 1970 tournament season will be concluded with the Bahama Islands Open starting Thursday at Freeport.

Jack Nicklaus is third in earnings with $142,148, followed by Bruce Crampton ($138,944), Arnold Palmer ($126,022), Dick Lotz ($124,538), Frank Beard ($123,748), Bob Murphy ($119,534), Larry Hinson ($119,002) and Dave Hill ($114,258).

Texas national champion for '70

NEW YORK (UPI) — The national football championship will remain in Texas for another year.

The United Press International Board of Coaches assured that Monday when it overwhelmingly voted Texas the national champion for 1970.

Darrell Royal's Longhorns, a mighty offensive machine that climaxed a perfect 10-0 season with a 42-7 rout of Arkansas Saturday, was listed first on 25 of the 33 ballots cast Monday by the 35 member board. Texas finished with 321 points, easily outdistancing second place Ohio State (284) and No. 3 Nebraska (274).

UPI's ratings are based on regular season competition only and do not include post-season competition.

Texas finished fourth in the final balloting, followed by Notre Dame, Louisiana State, Michigan, Arizona State, Auburn and Stanford to complete the top 10.

Air Force finished 11th, followed by Arkansas, Houston, Dartmouth, Oklahoma and Colorado-Georgia Tech and Toledo were tied for 17th and Penn state and southern California tied for 19th.

The national title was the third for Texas, tying the Longhorns with Oklahoma for most national championships. Besides last year, Texas won in 1963. The Longhorns are only the second team to repeat as national champions—Oklahoma, which won the first title in 1950, gained honors in 1965-66.

Texas, sparked by the running of All America Steve Worster and Jim Bertelsen and the defensive play of Bill Atestas, another All America, and Scott Henderson, breezed past nine of its 10 opponents. Only UCLA came close to upending the Longhorns, leading into the final minute of play before Texas rallied for a 20-17 victory.

Bratten reinjures left knee

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Starting Colorado quarterback Jim Bratten reinjured a sprained left knee in practice Monday, making it "extremely doubtful" he will play in the 12th annual Liberty Bowl against Tulane Saturday.

Coach Eddie Crowder announced that Bratten, a 195-pound senior from Anaheim, Calif., had aggravated the sprain he suffered late in the first half of the 49-10 win over Air Force.

"He had been undergoing extensive treatment and therapy," a team spokesman said, "and was expected to play prior to re-injuring it Monday."

The spokesman said there was a "possibility" that he might be able to see action if he "responded quickly" but added that team officials and physicians considered it unlikely.

Junior Paul Arendt, a 200-pound junior from Denver, was slated to take over Bratten's duties.

Other victims this season besides Arkansas and UCLA were California, Texas Tech, Oklahoma, Rice, Southern Methodist, Baylor, Texas Christian and Texas A&M.

All of the top 10 teams, with the exception of Arkansas and Michigan, which is ineligible, are headed for bowls. Texas will play Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl and Ohio State will oppose Stanford in the Rose Bowl. Nebraska takes on Louisiana State in the Orange

NEW YORK (UPI)—Profit taking kept prices lower at mid-session on the New York Stock Exchange Tuesday. Turnover was active.

The Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chips had slipped 1.78 to 816.88 and declined led advances, 718 to 825, among the 1,884 issues comprising the tape.

The three-hour volume of 8,680,000 shares slipped from the 9,870,000 shares traded in a comparable period Monday.

The weakness was generally attributed to profit taking after sharp gains of the last 11 consecutive trading sessions.

Fannie Mae, Mobil Oil, Pan American Airlines were active leaders, easing fractions. Fractional gainers on the active list included Marquette Comm.

Texaco and Dow Chemical, TRW, Inc. slid 2 1/2 while Atlantic Richfield, Getty, American Research & Development, Memorex and Control Data were more than a point.

Balls and chemicals were mixed while motors and air-crafts were narrowly lower.

Reds build for attack

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American intelligence officers report that North Vietnam is engaged in building up a major stronghold in southern Laos, which apparently is designed to serve as the headquarters and logistic supply point for Communist offensives expected in late February or March.

The area in question is located between Sopone and Attapeu, Laotian towns close to the South Vietnamese border and near the southern end of the long Laotian panhandle.

Washington officials say the strongholds being created in that area are receiving most of the men and supplies which Hanoi has been infiltrating southward along the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos since Oct. 1.

Hanoi, in recent months, has widened the area she controls in Laos along the South Vietnamese border to provide greater security for the system of paths and roads which compromise the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

The area between Attapeu and Sopone and the trails to the north has been under almost continuous attack by U.S. warplanes based in Thailand, on U.S. aircraft carriers in the South China Sea and at times from bases in South Vietnam. These attacks are not announced although the Pentagon acknowledged them from time to time.

Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, explaining the heavy U.S. air raids late last month on some North Vietnamese border areas, said these were attacks on missile sites from which Hanoi attempted to interfere with American air operations just across the border in Laos. He said that there would be more such attacks if necessary.

All the evidence received in Washington is that there undoubtedly will be more such attacks on North Vietnamese bases along the Laotian border because of the striking Hanoi effort to build up the stronghold in southern Laos.

Intelligence officers point out that from such a stronghold, Hanoi eventually could have several options, depending upon where it appeared most profitable to attack.

States may seek new constitution

WASHINGTON (UPI)—State legislatures appear to be lining up behind a drive to ask Congress to call a constitutional convention—a threat they hope will pressure the lawmakers into passing legislation to share federal income tax money with the states.

A resolution adopted Friday by the National Conference of State Legislative Leaders at San Juan, P.R., was the second this year from a national organization of state lawmakers calling for a change in the Constitution to carry out a revenue sharing program.

These organizations do not really want a change in the Constitution. What they want is for Congress to pass a law such as that proposed by President Nixon on Aug. 13, 1969 to guarantee state and local governments a share of federal income, with no strings attached. Many states are in financial trouble and most state governors are eager for action.

But Nixon's proposal never has been given a hearing by the House Ways and Means Committee, the first hurdle for all bills dealing with federal taxes. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., and Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., ranking minority member, both oppose it.

At the San Juan meeting, only the Minnesota delegation formally opposed the constitutional amendment resolution. The National Legislative Conference, an organization representing all state legislators, adopted a similar resolution during its August meeting at Las Vegas, Nev.

Germany inks pact with Reds

WARSAW (UPI)—West German Chancellor Willy Brandt today signed a treaty with Poland recognizing the Communist nation's controversial Oder-Neisse border, subject to the Bonn parliament's approval.

Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz signed the document for Poland in the ceremony.

Bonn government spokesman Conrad Ahlors said as soon as the goodwill treaty is ratified, West Germany and Poland will establish diplomatic relations.

Ahlors told newsmen of the decision to exchange ambassadors after a dinner table discussion Sunday night between Brandt and Wladyslaw Gomułka, the Polish Communist party leader.

"There is a connection between the Berlin question and the ratification of the Polish-West German treaty as far as timing and content are concerned," Ahlors said.

Morton's record said 'terrible'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A conservation group said Monday Rep. Roger C. B. Morton, President Nixon's choice for interior secretary, has a "terrible record" on conservation issues.

The League of Conservation Voters released a chart rating the 435 House members according to their votes on 10 issues during the past 10 years.

Morton's score was minus 14. Only 40 House members had lower scores, although many had fewer years in Congress than Morton and hence fewer opportunities to accumulate plus or minus points.

"On the public roll call votes, he's got a terrible record on conservation issues," Marion Edey, league chairman, told UPI. "He got a dismal score on the league chart. He was either absent or wrong for all the votes we chose as critical."

Morton, a four-term Maryland Republican, has served nearly two years as Republican national chairman. The White House announced last week that Nixon had dismissed Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel and planned to name Morton.

In a statement following the White House announcement, Morton pledged to lead the fight against pollution. "The President and I are united in our goal," he said. "Very simply, we must clean up America... we must purify our environment for our own good and for the sake of the generations of Americans who will follow us."

The votes chosen by the league included ones involving the supersonic transport plane, commercial logging in national forests, increased spending to fight water pollution, the San Rafael Wilderness area in California, mass transit spending, preservation of estuarine areas, the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore, research on solid waste disposal, and the cross-Florida barge canal.

A curious phenomenon among women is that no matter how much sportswear they may have, they're always tempted to buy more. Which explains why they would collect double knit proportioned stretch pants, yoked and front slipped, then double buttoned at the waist. The shirts are made of something new—a polyester and cotton crepe—and they're in all sorts of prints and solids. Pants, 8-20; Shirts, 8-18.
