Midnight rail shutdown looms

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Railroad union officials say Congress could delay a nationwide rail strike set for midnight tonight by granting workers a temporary pay increase. Unless Congress and the unions reach such a compromise, a strike appeared inevitable, with union leaders promising to defy Congress and the courts and go to jail if necessary to uphold their basic right to strike.

A final labor-management negotiating session broke off at 1:30 a.m. Tuesday, and no others were scheduled. House and Senate committees were meeting today to consider legislation to extend at least 45 days the deadline for a strike the Nixon administration said would shut down much of the country's heavy industry, disrupt Christmas mail, and lead to shortages of consumer goods.

C. L. Dennis, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline—Clarks, one of four unions involved, first said Tuesday his men would walk out no matter what action the government took.

But after testifying before the House Commerce Committee, Dennis said a strike moratorium might be acceptable if a temporary pay increase was increased.

The trend in similar situations, however, has been for rail workers to stage wildcat walkouts even after union officials called off the strike.

President Nixon, saying a nationwide rail strike could not be allowed, asked Congress Monday to approve a 45-day delay. Nixon already had exhausted all legal means to postpone a strike under the National Railway Labor Act.

Underlining the administration's concern, Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe, held out the possibility troops would be used to run the railroads if Dennis went through with his threat to defy any congressional antistrike action.

The White House Tuesday turned aside a request by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Sen. Jacob Javits R-N.Y., to summon labor and management leaders to a forced negotiating session.

CSI bonds snarled

TWIN FALLS — Negotiations to raise $1.29 million for construction of the multipurpose building and new dormitory at the College of Southern Idaho have been delayed by the Portland regional office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, according to CSI President Dr. James L. Taylor.

The funds will be provided through a contract between the CSI Dormitory Housing Commission and HUD, in the form of a bond sale. The housing commission will purchase the bond, which is actually a loan contract, and HUD will provide the funds, to be repaid by the commission.

Dr. Taylor, currently in Portland to attend a convention of the Northwest Association of Junior Colleges, said HUD asked a delay in the formal sale of the bond for an unspecified reason.

H. W. Van Slyke, CSI business manager, said he did not specify the reason for the delay. "There must have been some detail that HUD wanted cleared up, or additional information they needed," Van Slyke said.

"We are all ready to consummate the transaction. There are about 12 different documents needed by HUD, and we've got them all ready. They asked for the delay but didn't say why," he explained.

All that is needed is a formal meeting between HUD representatives and CSI officials, including Dr. Taylor, Mike Gray, chairman of the housing commission, Van Slyke, secretary-treasurer of the commission, and "our attorney, to tell us where to put our signatures."

The bond for $1.29 million will pay for construction of the multipurpose building and new dormitory, both now nearing completion on the CSI campus. The buildings were constructed by "interim financing," pending sale of the bond, Van Slyke said.

Still here

BURLEY — Services of the Federal Aviation Administration station here will be unchanged under the new regional center alignment program designed to close regional operations at Salt Lake City.

Leo Pierce, manager of flight service, said the Burley station operates on a 24-hour schedule and is manned at all times. This will remain unchanged, he said.

The office will, however, be operating under regional headquarters in Seattle rather than Salt Lake City, he said. The Utah area will be in the region administered from Denver, Colo.

Shutdown would hit dealers

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — The nationwide railroad strike threatened to begin at midnight tonight could deal a serious blow to some Magic Valley firms.

"We're dead..."

"We're hurting bad right now."

"We'd be out of business in no time."

These were typical comments by local businessmen who are looking ahead to the strike.

Car dealers — particularly General Motors dealers — would be hard hit.

John Christoffersen of John Chris Motors said his General Motors cars are brought to Salt Lake City by rail, then trucked to Twin Falls.

However, post-strike new getting under way, and with all dealers heavily backlogged on orders, Christoffersen said he has no idea when he would start getting cars even without a rail strike to complicate matters.

"It takes 10 days after a car is manufactured to get it out here, so we haven't started to get any of our orders filled," he said.

Bob Hansen of Ace Motors, formerly Glen Jenkins Chevrolet, said that not only would his firm be hard-hit by a rail strike, but all dealers would be "out of business" when the factories run out of the basic materials to build cars.

"Trucks can help, but they can't carry the heavy metal needed to build cars," Hansen said.

W. H. Newman of Utah Wholesale Grocery Co. said his firm supplies many of the Magic Valley, and most of his products are brought in by rail. However, "We would have about 30 days," Newman said.

After 30 days, however, the strike would crimp grocery firms badly.

Revenue changes stressed

By BONNIE HAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — Increasing demands for tax revenue and a more equitable distribution of such revenue to give the taxpayer the greatest benefit from his tax dollar were items discussed here Tuesday in the annual chamber of commerce sponsored Legislative Day program.

Jean Milar, city manager, said city council members who met with the legislators urged adoption of legislation which would bring about a more equitable balance. The cities in Idaho have long urged a greater share of state highway user funds for city street programs.

Several other groups including the Twin Falls County commissioners suggested a review of state and local taxing restrictions and programs for a better tax base for all taxing agencies.

The program, sponsored annually by the chamber is designed to make lawmakers available for an exchange of views and ideas prior to the opening of the legislative session. Several pending laws expected to come up for consideration in the 1st session were reviewed by legislators.

Viet riots protest shooting

QUI NHON, Vietnam (UPI) — All armed men from infantrymen to military police were ordered off the streets of this coastal city today in an attempt to prevent further rioting by civilians protesting the death of a schoolboy shot by a U.S. soldier.

More than 2,000 civilians, mostly students, marched through the streets Tuesday, stoning Americans and overturning cars and trucks. Two Americans were hospitalized with minor injuries and one vehicle was burned, national police said.

The protests followed the shooting Monday of Nguyen Van Minh, 12, by a GI. Military sources said the soldier had fired a warning shot from his M16 rifle when a group of youngsters tried to steal supplies from a truck.

The bullet went astray and struck the boy as he stood on a sidewalk in front of a school, the sources said.

Qui Nhon, South Vietnam's fourth largest city with a population of 117,000, is on the coast of the South China Sea, 250 miles northeast of Saigon.

Spud trucks would roll in strike

BURLEY — A nationwide rail strike would force the J.R. Simplot Co. of Burley and Heyburn to shift nearly 750 tons of potato products to truck lines every day.

The firm produces "a million to a million and a half pounds" of processed potatoes every day, utilizing rail transportation for much of their output — largest in the nation, according to the shipping department.

Amalgamated Sugar Co. of Burley is already making plans to bring sugar beets in by truck; all of their raw products are presently brought to the plant by rail.

Holiday parcels periled

TWIN FALLS — A nationwide rail strike would "almost certainly mean a virtual embargo of all parcel-post mail," Lloyd Libert, officer in charge at the Twin Falls Post Office, said today.

"We would have no means of transporting the vast volume of packages we are handling at this time of year if the rails go out," Libert said. Standing post office instructions call for a halt to all newspaper handling and an emergency mail service for first-class mail beyond the second zone — about 150 miles.

"We could handle anything in the first and second zones on our star routes," Libert said.

Dayan confers in U.S.

By United Press International

Israel sent Defense Minister Moshe Dayan to the United States today in an effort to clinch its bargain with Washington on conditions for a return to the Middle East peace talks.

Dayan left for the United States on a private visit to address a United Jewish Appeal (UJA) fund-raising banquet Dec. 12.

Administration had no intention of sending U.S. troops into Cambodia again.

Instead, Rogers appealed for $255 million in foreign aid to bolster Cambodia's army—a step which he acknowledged would be only the first installment in a long-term aid program for Indochina.

The restriction called for a victory by either of the warring sides would add Cambodia to a prohibition enacted last year against the use of U.S. ground combat troops in Laos and Thailand.

It was similar in its effect to a postwar restriction that prohibited the U.S. from sending troops to two other areas.

The action was similar to the Nixon administration's move to protect his troops. That measure finally passed in July but is stalled in another Senate-House conference. Now that U.S. troops are out of Cambodia, the White House decided not to fight the restriction although the President still opposes it.

But Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, who led the floor fight for the earlier amendment, contended that if the restriction becomes law it would "constitute a further expression of the right of Congress to determine where and how public money is spent. Should the time come when the President decides to send troops to Laos and Thailand, this is what the Constitution intended."

But Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., said there was nothing in the bill "that would be the hands of any president in an emergency."

The defense bill, itself, was $2.3 billion under the "rock bottom" budget authorized by the Pentagon in February. But there was a strong chance that many of these cuts, and similar reductions made by the House, would be restored in House action.

The measure's passage for such controversial legislation is a significant milestone for the CIA, which has been

Army approves barracks beer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army has closed its beer gap with the Navy. A few other old-fashioned traditions also went the way of the Army mule, including rattles formations.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army chief of staff, has issued instructions that beer of 3.2 per cent alcoholic content may be sold in vending machines in barracks and may be served routinely in mess halls in noncombat areas.

The Army thus joins the Navy in an attempt to humanize the service and make military life more attractive to volunteers at a time when the country is moving toward an all-volunteer Army.

The Navy sailor announced new rules allowing beer in onshore installations, allowing beards and mustaches, and allow hard rock bands in service clubs. Numerous other Navy practices — including painting a ship every time a high official is about to visit — have been done away with.

Senate bans Cambodian forces

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the second time this year, the Senate voted Tuesday to bar the introduction of U.S. ground combat troops into Cambodia after the administration appealed at least for money to save Vietnam's embattled neighbor state.

The restriction cleared the Senate swiftly and without opposition as part of a $6.4 billion appropriations bill for the Defense Department. It still must pass the House, which has approved a $6.6 billion defense bill without similar language.

The two bills now go to Senate House conference to iron out all differences.

The action was similar to the Nixon administration's move to protect his troops. That measure finally passed in July but is stalled in another Senate-House conference. Now that U.S. troops are out of Cambodia, the White House decided not to fight the restriction although the President still opposes it.

Gem land fund plea approved

BOISE (UPI) — The State Land Board authorized Land Commissioner Gordon Trombley Tuesday to ask the legislature to create a $25,000 revolving engineering fund for his department.

The decision came after Percy H. Shelton, McCaill, president of the Payette Lakes Improvement Association, Inc., asked the board for $21,000 for the state's share of a sewage project study in the Payette Lakes area.

Shelton said the request was the share for state lands in the resort area. Shelton suggested the money could come from Gov. Don Samuelson's emergency fund, but the governor said the money was to be used only "for life and property."

Court probes Hughes claims

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The two factions in the power struggle for Howard Hughes' Nevada gambling empire were summoned to court today to back up their conflicting documents concerning control of the $300 million business operation.

Both sides insisted in court Tuesday that the mysterious billionaire, who has remained aloof from the fray—reportedly in a hotel in the Bahamas—endorsed their claim to power and said they had written proof.

Robert T. Maheu, Hughes' righthand man in Nevada the past four years, indicated he would repudiate a power of attorney purportedly signed by Hughes giving the parent Hughes Tool Co. authority to take over.

Maheu contended Hughes personally had entrusted the operation of the seven Nevada hotels-casinos to him and said the signature on the Hughes proxy held by his opponents was not genuine.

Maheu's attorney, Morton Galane, said he would present in court an unopened telegram from Charles Apple, a Washington, D.C. handwriting expert.

Maheu said he sent a copy of the proxy to Apple, and indicated the telegram would prove the signature was a fake. Galane said he had information "Mr. Hughes is under a disability of a severe nature" to the extent he had entrusted full responsibility for Las Vegas operations to Maheu.

Hughes Tool brought nine members of its 10-man board of directors into the courtroom of Judge James C. Babcock Tuesday to back its claim that Maheu had been fired by the corporation with Hughes' backing.

Chester Davis, a New York attorney acting as counsel for the corporation, argued that the Hughes Tool Co. board had complete authority to terminate Maheu's employment. He contended Maheu had been hired by Frank W. Gay, a vice president of the company, and that his salary had been paid by the parent company.

Hawaiian waters dirtied

HONOLULU (UPI) — The famous waters of Waikiki are in danger of becoming so polluted beachgoers could not use them, a tourist industry official has warned.

"This is the most critical problem Hawaii has faced in years," Robert Rinker, executive vice president of the Hawaii Hotel Association, said Tuesday.

Rinker noted that scientists have found evidence of bacterial pollution along the beach and that signs warning of polluted waters are posted at Keolu Lagoon, one and one-half miles from Waikiki.

"If the state Board of Health ever posts pollution signs on Waikiki Beach, the visitor industry and the entire economy of the state could suffer a blow from which it might never recover," Rinker said.

Rinker said the city and state "have got to take immediate action" to locate the source of bacterial pollution in Waikiki and proceed without delay on a proposed sewage treatment plant.

He said the tourist industry is afraid no action will be taken until the waters off Honolulu become unusable.

Kids said forgotten by nation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., complaining that millions of children have been consigned to the scrapheap by uncaring Americans, today urged a new adult commitment to the nation's youth.

In a 70-page speech prepared for the Senate, Mondale challenged everyone — from President Nixon on down — to revamp his attitudes toward children before it is too late.

He specifically urged formation of a children's advocacy center to carry out recommendations of the White House Conference on Children that begins Sunday and said he would organize a bipartisan "Members of Congress for Justice to Children" to carry the crusade on Capitol Hill.

Mondale was critical of preliminary reports issued Tuesday by the staff of the children's conference. He complained they barely mentioned such problems as hunger and school desegregation.

Insurance threat told

TWIN FALLS — In 1871 the National Association of Insurance Companies was organized for the purpose of bringing about uniformity in insurance costs and opposing federal control of insurance, John Blaine, Idaho commissioner of insurance, said here Monday. "Now about 100 years later this pioneer organization is still functioning and the purposes are the same," he told area underwriters.

Southern Idaho Life Underwriters in Twin Falls said the industry continues to be threatened by federal encroachment. In areas where floods occur, for example, federal insurance generally takes over the coverage. He said in some cases such as larger cities, riot and other major coverage items are now handled federally.

As for the Idaho Department of Insurance, he said, the purpose is to make certain the companies operating in Idaho live up to their contracts and in the case of claims, meet them promptly and in full under terms of the contract.

The Department of Insurance, Blaine said, is the third largest revenue producer of the state, behind property tax and sales tax only.

WASHINGTON (News) — It has not been generally reported, but some by-product data coming out of a series of government studies over the past few years strongly indicates that the amount of money a community spends on its schools has very little effect on what students achieve.

the school buildings, the equipment, the curriculum and even more important by far than the quality and the attitude of the teachers. The attitude and quality of the fellow students, in turn, seems to relate directly to the kind of families of the majority of the student body comes from.

A Vital Lesson

Thousands of young people wandering aimlessly about the country — troops dispersing angry citizens who had marched on Washington — police and vigilantes viciously attacking demonstrators — a judge dragged from his courtroom, beaten and nearly lynched — the nation's farmland ruined, with tens of thousands of families displaced and starving — democratic government. Even for those who lived through the Depression, "A Nation in Torment" tells an unbelievable story of heart-rending personal and national tragedy — of breadlines and apple sellers and Okies, of fantastic panaceas like Technocracy and the Townsend Plan, of demagogues like Father Coughlin and Huey Long (whom Ellis calls "America's first genuine dictator"), of the New Deal and NRA and WPA and CCC, of a single dust storm blowing 50 million tons of topsoil from the prairies into the Atlantic, of panic-stricken bankers pleading with Franklin D. Roosevelt to take them over — and of these same men later castigating FDR as a Fascist and Communist.

Indeed not. This was America in the 1930s in the depths of the Great Depression.

The wandering youths were only part of the vast army of the unemployed, estimated at some 16 million at its worst, or possibly every third worker. The marchers on Washington were World War I veterans demanding long-delayed bonuses. The vigilantes appeared — and America's cherished civil liberties disappeared — during strikes on the San Francisco waterfront and in California's lush fruit and vegetable valleys. The judge was nearly lynched in Le Mars, Iowa, by debt-ridden farmers whose mortgages were being foreclosed. The ruined farmland was in the great Dust Bowl, victim both of misuse of the land and a prolonged drought which added to all the other woes of a nation hanging on the edge of economic and spiritual disintegration.

The story of the Stock Market Crash and the Great Depression has been told in absorbing detail in a recent book, "A Nation in Torment," by Edward Robb Ellis. For 35 years a reporter and feature writer for wire services, Scripps-Howard and various newspapers, Ellis calls the Depression the nation's worst crisis, its most rending trauma since the Civil War.

His book almost proves that understatement. The crisis from 1861 to 1865 saw a nation split into two geographical halves warring against each other. But the crisis from 1929 to 1943, when war production absorbed the last of the Depression unemployed, saw a nation shattered from top to bottom, stunned, beaten down — in torment, its Gross National Product plummeting from $80 billion to $40 billion to bring its economic system close to collapse, and with it, its system of

For those who were fortunate enough not to have had to live through it, especially those who think things are so bad we need a revolution today, the story of the Depression should be required reading.

"A successful revolution is one in which power shifts from one group to another," writes Ellis. "The New Deal brought about a social revolution, for power shifted from Wall Street to Washington, from capitalists to other classes of Americans. But for the most part it was a peaceful and bloodless revolution.

"President Hoover used the Army to drive the bonus army from the center of Washington, several governors called out the National Guard to deal with disorders in their home states, but President Roosevelt never employed military might against Americans. And never did Roosevelt become a dictator.

"The New Deal changed, but never destroyed, the basic structure of our economic and political systems. Roosevelt saved capitalism despite capitalists."

It was also a revolution in that for the first time in American history the federal government assumed responsibility for social and economic planning and for the welfare of its citizens. And a strange thing: Through it all, through all the misery and suffering, despite the mutterings about revolution, no one took out his anger on the poor old flag or wrote off the American dream as a failure, as so many of us seem so ready to do today.

Another Vietnam?

The winds over Indochina have changed from southwest to northeast. The rains cease. Armies, stuck in the monsoon mud, become free to move.

Whatever happens to Cambodia, it must not become another Vietnam.

American warplanes are supporting Cambodian troops. For three months our military has been saying it isn't so, but it is. If the war which was thus waged should result in a Communist takeover in Cambodia, it would be unfortunate for Cambodians, embarrassing for our President and terribly uncomfortable for the military men who advised him.

So a lot of people are going to want to rescue Cambodia's Lon Nol government at any cost, including many all out for victory American citizens.

But it would be more convincing if, instead of massing at the Washington Monument, they'd parade to the recruiting station.

ART BUCHWALD

Show Trouble

WASHINGTON — The United States is suffering from its worst shortage of radio and TV talk show guests in 20 years. The reason for this is that while talk shows have been multiplying by the thousands, the people who have been appearing on them have become worn out. In 1960, there were 250 guests available for each talk show. Ten years later, there are 250 talk shows fighting over the same guests.

Things have gotten so bad that a professor who wrote a book about the mating habits of woodworms was recently kidnapped in front of the Today show in New York and flown out to California where he was forced to go on a radio-telephone talk show instead.

Two famous late-night show hosts got into a fist fight in a Sixth Avenue deli last month over a waiter who could make a white napkin look like a rabbit.

And only four weeks ago, two female talk-show hostesses had a "hair-pulling contest" in a beauty shop over the TV rights to an author of the definitive book on false eyelashes.

In order to avoid an all-out war between the talk-show commentators, a secret conference was called at Johnny Carson's hideaway farm in the Adirondacks.

Black limousines with their shades drawn kept arriving at 3-minute intervals and out stepped such big guns in the talk business as David Frost, Dick Cavett, Mike Douglas, Hugh Downs, Barbara Walters, Virginia Graham, Ike Kop and David Susskind. Every major TV host and hostess was there. Everyone brought his own producer and talent coordinator.

Carson's people made everybody leave their teleprompters at the door.

Ed McMahon opened the meeting by saying, "And Heavens to the Bowerbirds!" Carson got down to business right away. "We all know why we're here," he said. "There's a crisis in the talk-show business and unless we find an answer to it we'll all be doing commercials for Maxwell House coffee."

"Right," said Mike Douglas. "Now, my boys in Philadelphia say that unless some equal way is figured out to share the few available guests left, we're going to take them off the metroliner before they reach New York."

"Is that so?" said Virginia Graham. "Well, we on the West Coast are getting sick and tired of your Eastern talk shows coming out here and grabbing all our guests."

"That's right, Ginny," said Merv Griffin. "If you muscle in on our territory, we'll muscle in on yours."

David Frost spoke up. "We're not getting anywhere with threats. As I see it, no matter what we do, we've used up every singer, comedian, author and politician for the next two years. A new crop should be coming up by then, but none of us can wait. What I suggest is that we each volunteer to go on each other's shows to fill the vacuum. After all, we are more interesting than the people we interview."

"I agreed with David," Dick Cavett said, "but it seems to me the public would become very suspicious if we kept turning up on each other's shows without a book."

"Why don't we each write a book? Then we would have a legitimate reason for going on each other's show," David Susskind said.

Carson replied, "You know we don't have time to write books."

Vasectomy

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Just recently my husband and I heard of an operation which is performed on a male and is called vasectomy. We are very interested in this type of sterilization. Our doctor tells us it can be done in the office.

My husband is 54 and I am 47 with a few years of fertility left, but I do not wish to get pregnant.

Is this operation simple? How is it done? Will it leave my husband more or less potent, which I think is uppermost in his mind? Will he have a climax, except for the sperm getting into the flow? — Mrs. F.R.

Vasectomy is becoming a popular method of terminating fertility in the male. I have been accused of opposing the operation; that is not correct. I do insist that people should understand it thoroughly before deciding to have it done.

It is reasonably simple and can be done in the doctor's office. The vas deferens (the discharged. Until all sperm is gone, sterility is not yet accomplished. Furthermore, in rare instances there may be two ducts; if only one is severed, pregnancy is possible.

The only safe precaution is for the man to be checked for two to six months after the operation to make certain no sperm is present.

There is no effect whatever — physiologically — on a man's sexual vigor. The sole difference is the absence of microscopic sperm cells in the seminal fluid.

Sometimes — in rare instances — a man may get the notion that he has been emasculated, and the emotional depression — can — in — a psychological way, affect his sexual vigor, but that is a matter of the mind, not the body. For example, if a man feels he has been pushed into the procedure at his wife's insistence and against his will, the resentment could be important and harmful.

After a vasectomy, a man's male, with a sound marriage status, and with both husband and wife thoroughly understanding the situation and undertaking it willingly, vasectomy can be a reliable and reasonable contraceptive measure.

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

MR. SPECTATOR

Here We Go Again

We have just about reached the end in this task of listening to one side and then the other about the pros and cons of the new downtown mall. But to be on the safe side of making all things come out even we will run parts of a letter we received from Donald A. Dilts of 1062 Second Avenue West in Twin Falls.

Behind his name he placed three letters — OPM — and he explained that this meant "opposed to parking meters." We think his note is worthy of thought — so here are parts of it:

"I drove downtown the other day to see the 'new look' and do some shopping. I squeezed my car in between two others only to find I couldn't open either door enough to disembark. Spotting those meters so close together probably saved the money. Each time I park in front of one of these meters it costs me a dollar and five cents. I don't want to be a miser and pay for being stupid. I could have had the summons without paying a nickel for it.

"So I backed out with all four fenders still on the car and, I think, saw all of the improvements as I drove on through the 'New Mall.' The King size flower-pots, the drizzling-ice-maker, the love seats made of cold cement and the empty hand stand all looked a little lonely and forlorn. Seemed a bit foolish and I hope it pays off for the merchants who worked so hard and so long.

"I considered parking on a lot on Second Avenue but my Scotch blood rebelled and I drove out to Lynwood.

"By now you know I am an old man of many frustrations and a special hang-up about parking meters. But good hunting to the Boys in Blue and a Merry Christmas."

DEAR ABBY: My brother got married a year ago, at which time he and his wife moved in with our widowed mother. It looked like a good deal for everyone because Mama owns a big house and was living all alone in it. Well, the three of them lived together for one year, and it didn't work out, so Mama asked them to move.

Now for the problem: My brother and his wife refuse to leave. Last week Mama invited the family over for supper and my brother wouldn't let them in the house. He bolted the door, with my mother on the outside, too.

We went to our lawyer and he says it is a family affair and he can't do much. Right now Mama is staying with one of my sisters and the whole family is very upset about it.

How can we get my brother and his wife out of Mama's house? My brother refuses to talk to any of us, and says he doesn't have a family anymore. I promised my mother I would write to Dear Abby for some advice. Maybe you or one of your readers can help us. LOCKED OUT

DEAR LOCKED: You say your mother has been locked out of her own home, and your lawyer says he can't "do much." You need another lawyer. He can do plenty!

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I'd be writing to you, but here goes. Being a guy over 21 myself, I know pretty much how guys operate, and my concern at present is my 10-year-old sister who I am sure is being taken for a ride.

She fell in love with this guy who in his quiet, well-mannered way (along with his good looks) made a big hit with all the family. He's constantly unemployed, shifting from one job to another, therefore my sister stakes him to meals, shows, gasoline for his car and probably other expenses that we don't know about. This guy is smart and could get a decent job if he really wanted to.

The problem: Everybody is on to this bum but my sister. I can't figure it out because she is no dummy. Please give me some advice on how to wake her up! "BRUZZ"

DEAR BRUZZ: If your sister is "emotional" about the bum, she isn't thinking—she's only feeling. ("Love" is a mental disease.) Any attempt to "wake her up" would only cause her to spring to his defense. Let her continue to shell out until she herself realizes that she's being taken. If she's no dummy, she'll wake up herself.

DEAR ABBY: This is a first for me, since I never before have written to a newspaper column. It is with regard to the reason some women continue to work too pregnant.

When I became pregnant with my first child, I had been the private secretary to a very prominent attorney. I wanted to quit earlier, but he just wouldn't let me go. At about 7 1/2 months, I left the office, but my boss sent a typewriter to my home, and his chauffeur came daily to take me to his home where he dictated letters. Afterwards the chauffeur drove me home. I typed the letters, and the chauffeur delivered them to my boss.

This went on until the day before my baby was born. I told my boss that I wanted to stay home and be a full time mother, but he kept urging me to return, telling me that he would hold my job open "indefinitely" and he wouldn't take no for an answer. I never did go back to him.

That was 40 years ago. I am now 74, and a widow. My children are raised and have families of their own. Can you guess what I am doing? I am a secretary again! LOVE MY WORK

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69704, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Write to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69704, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Stock Market was lower as trading rounded the halfway mark Wednesday in an extension of Tuesday's profit-taking and normal year-end tax selling which interrupted an 11-day advance. Turnover was moderate.

After more than three hours the Dow Jones Industrial average of 30 selected blue chips was off 2.60 at 812.50. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index dropped 0.33 to 89.14, and of the 1,572 issues closing in tape, 745 retreated and 489 gained.

A three-hour turnover of 7,800,000 shares was down from 8,680,000 shares traded at a comparable period Tuesday.

Another factor making investors wary was the threat of a nationwide rail strike for 12:01 a.m. Thursday. Union leaders said the only thing that would delay the walkout would be for Congress to grant workers a temporary pay increase.

However, a House committee defeated a move that would have given the 500,000 railworkers a temporary 13.5 percent pay hike to head off a strike.

Aircraft industry turning anew to fabric plane wings

NEW YORK (UPI)—The first knights of the air conquered the skies in trail-powered kites with wings of tautly stretched cloth. Within a decade we may see the aircraft industry turn again to wings of fabric instead of metal.

Unbelievable? Not really, for scientists in England and the United States are experimenting with composite graphite rayon non-woven fabrics for aircraft parts that are twice as strong as steel and 40 per cent lighter than aluminum.

If the experiments succeed, the adoption of these remarkable fabric as replacements for steel, aluminum and titanium in many areas of the aircraft could cut the weight of the parts in half and the total weight of a typical jet airplane 15 per cent.

That would increase range 10 per cent or let a military plane carry 30 per cent more armament.

Rate of climb would be increased at least 10 per cent and lift-off and take off roll distance shortened by 10 per cent.

In calculating the value of a designed plane, the aircraft industry estimates that every pound of weight saved is worth $100 to $300 in price to the plane's user. So the industry is obsessed with weight saving.

Rayon, the oldest man-made fibre, is manufactured from natural cellulose obtained from wood or cotton. Carbonized or graphite rayon yarns, soaked in epoxy resins, have a modulus of elasticity exceeding 40 million pounds to the square inch.

In the United States, these yarns have been developed by United Carbide Corp. under the name Thornel. The yarns are cooked at temperatures up to 3,000 degrees and stretched. This changes the crystal structure and produces amazing stiffness compared to weight.

The British are experimenting with graphite rayons reinforced with carbonized polyacrylonitrile fiber for making moving parts of jet engines.

Thornel presently costs around $350 a pound. To be used on a large scale in aircraft, it will have to be brought down to $25 to $50 a pound but United Carbide appears to believe that can be done if the demand develops sufficiently.

You can't just weave this stuff up and stretch it over an airplane wing-frame the way they did with cloth in the 1920s. The graphite rayon yarn has to be wound around a form, then cured to shape by heat and pressure—more like metal and fiberglass forming methods.

And it tends to fracture, if bent over too sharp curves. But when you get all through, it's still a textile fabric. If the aircraft industry adopts it on a big scale it will be making a circle back to its beginnings.

Mobile home use increasing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—As housing costs continue to climb, persons of moderate income are turning increasingly to mobile homes, reports from both the government and private industry indicate.

The Census Bureau said that mobile home production accounted for 18.6 per cent of the new housing starts last year and for virtually all the housing in the under-$16,000 price range.

George Romney, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, has said mobile homes may be the answer for many families who are priced out of the conventional housing market.

A survey reported by the Urban Land Institute, a private research organization based in Washington, indicates the average mobile-home resident earns $7,500 a year. Only 18 per cent have incomes over $10,000.

annually, the survey showed. However, ULI said, 15 per cent of the residents have paid off their homes and own them free and clear. The typical mobile home owner pays about $90 a month in mortgage payments plus rental on a parking space.

"The mobile home is rarely mobile," the ULI report said. "Once it is placed on its own pad, the unit stops being vehicular. It becomes a single-family detached house.

"Mobile homes and mobile home parks are fast acquiring new images. The prejudice against their trailer camp ancestry is slowly disappearing."

Why does a person decide to live in a mobile home instead of a regular house or apartment?

The ULI survey indicated the most frequently cited reasons were economical operation and low-cost maintenance. On the other hand, the most frequently cited disadvantage is that the homes are too small and have too little storage space.

Richard K. Bellter, a mobile home park consultant, recently told a seminar: "Modern technology has made the cost of mobile homes so attractive that the majority of people can now afford their own homes.

"The average unfurnished, site-built home costs around $25,000 including land. This price tag automatically excludes a huge chunk of our population from ever being in the home owner category."

Bellter said mobile homes are being produced at a faster rate to serve them. He said local zoning laws are a primary obstruction to park development.

"The biggest stumbling block to the use of mobile homes as a broad spectrum answer to mass housing problems is local rules and regulations, both written and unwritten," Bellter said.

Prisoner petitions supported

BOISE (UPI)—C.F. Hall, Idaho vice president and general manager for Mountain Bell, said more than 2 1/2 million customers in an eight-state area will be urged to write to the North Vietnam government on behalf of American prisoners of war.

Hall said the appeal will be in a specially prepared insert enclosed with every telephone bill mailed by the company during December.

The enclosure will ask customers to appeal directly to the president of North Vietnam for treatment of all prisoners of war humanely as directed in the provisions of the Geneva Convention, release of an official list of all prisoners held, information about those known to be dead, release of the seriously sick and wounded, and a free flow of mail with the prisoners.

He said Mountain Bell is also directing the appeal to nearly 33,000 employees and their families.

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Wednesday, Dec. 9, the 34th day of 1970.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius.

English Poet John Milton was born Dec. 9, 1608.

On this date in history:

In 1793 Noah Webster established the American Minerva, the first daily newspaper in New York City.

In 1970 Christmas seals were placed on sale in the Post Office at Wilmington, Del., for the raising of money to fight tuberculosis.

In 1910 the Nobel Peace Prize was awarded to Woodrow Wilson.

In 1941 China declared Red war against the Axis powers of Japan, Germany and Italy.

A thought for today: John Milton said, "Peace has her victories no less renowned than war."

TWIN FALLS — Drama enthusiasts will have an opportunity to exercise their imaginations when they attend the coming CSI Drama Department's production of "The Visit."

To be presented Friday and Saturday nights, Dec. 11 and 12, the performance will feature a Readers Theatre adaptation of the play. This will be the first of two Readers Theatre productions at CSI this year, says Fran Tanner, director.

Scheduled for 8:15 p. m. in the Cirque Theater of the CSI Fine Arts Building, the two performances will feature seven readers and a guitarist. Plot of "The Visitor" revolves around the changes which take place in the inhabitants of a small and poor village when they are offered a large sum of money in exchange for the life of one of the villagers.

Readers Theatre, Mrs. Tanner says, is a unique form of presentation where skilled interpreters suggest characters and situations to be imagined by the audience. Revitalized in the 1950's by Charles Laughton and his Drama Quartet, Readers Theatre has become a popular art form in many American colleges and universities.

The cast for "The Visit" includes Keith Coates as Anton Schill; Susan Fattig as Clara Zacharassan; Tim Bryson as the Superintendent; Silvia Webb as the teacher; Marcia Lickley as Bobby; Wes Fry as the pastor and the blindman; and Bob Ploss as the policeman and the blindman.

Seating space is limited, Mrs. Tanner said, and advance ticket purchases are recommended. Tickets may be obtained by calling 733-6554, Ext. 8. Tickets not sold in advance will be available at the door prior to each performance. Because of the intimacy of the theater, late comers will not be seated, the director advised.

Blaine officials battle '71 budget

BY LIZ SOLTAN
Times-News Correspondent
HAILEY — Blaine County officials are faced this month with preparing a budget which will not only finance the solution to several county problems, but which will be within 104 per cent of the 1970 budget figure.

The 1970 budget was for about $448,627, but did not include provisions for the county ambulance service, county planning and zoning work, or revaluation.
Commissioner John Fox said although the 1971 figure will not be set until the January meeting of the group, it is anticipated the board will allocate about $10,000 for the landfill operation and maintenance, $6,000 for the ambulance service, $7,000 for the planning and zoning, as well as a four per cent increase to each of the county departments including the clerk, assessor, sheriff, treasurer and county agent. No salary increases are anticipated this year, however.

The revaluation problem has not been resolved, Fox said, as it is not known whether or not it can be handled through the assessor's office. However, if it is handled, he said, more money will need to be budgeted for that. The commission this year considered letting the work out for bids but later turned down the proposal. Newly-elected assessor Del Nicholson said he believes his force can handle the project if he can hire another man for the field work.

Another problem not yet resolved is the magistrate cost. Whereas the county will have one judge now instead of each city paying a police judge, and the county paying the justice of the peace and probate judge, it is unknown whether or not those salaries paid through 1970 will be enough to finance the new magistrate system.

The solution to the landfill problem will not be reached until the new board of commissioners is reorganized in January. It is anticipated a full-time attendant will be hired for the Ohio Gulch area north of Hailey. The area has come under fire recently because of illegal burning of garbage there.

No decision has been reached by the Idaho Health Department as to the fate of the area but commissioners are operating on the assumption the landfill will remain at its present location if proper maintenance is achieved. The commission was unable in 1970 to budget for the landfill operation or maintenance, and county road and bridge crews were used this year to care for the area.

Tax levies in the county generally are down over last year, although the valuation is up. Therefore, more tax monies should be collected.

Progressing . . .

ADDITION to the terminal building at the Twin Falls City County Airport should be over by the middle of next week, airport officials said today. Brick layers were placing walls and electrical outlets were in place Tuesday afternoon. The extension is on the south side of the present structure and when complete will provide more lobby space in addition to a new location for the three carrental concerns based at the field. Trans Magic Airlines' counter will be moved a short distance from its present location but Hughes Air West counter will remain in the present position. Improvements now underway also include re-location of the baggage station and additional areas for auto and bus parking. The airport restaurant is located on the right of the building in this picture.

T.F. field still open

TWIN FALLS — Contrary to an unfounded rumor, flights to the main runway at the Twin Falls City County Airport have not stopped all operations at the field.

Only Hughes Air West jets are not able to land, Harry Merrick, airport manager, said today. The commuter planes of Trans Magic Airlines and the Airport Cafe, operated by Mr. and Mrs. George DeTillot, have not been curtailed.

The smaller Trans Magic planes are using the shorter southeast-northwest runway, which is not affected by repair operations to the main runway. The cafe is maintaining day and night hours of operation.

Merrick said the main runway would be in operation again Friday afternoon and regular Air West schedules would resume at that time.

Airport Manager Harry Merrick said this morning major repair work on the runway has come to a standstill because of the excessively wet weather.

He said jet service will resume Friday afternoon, however, when the first flights carrying governors to the Governor's Convention at Sun Valley are expected to arrive.

"We plan to open the runways Friday and if necessary will continue our former practice of day by day patching and maintenance until the heavy use demand from the conference has been met," he said.

He said good progress was made Tuesday as to major repairs and this work will resume as soon as weather permits.

OEO officials confer on plan

TWIN FALLS — Two regional representatives of the Office of Economic Opportunity office in Seattle were in Twin Falls today to meet with county officials and Community Action Agency directors regarding a 1971 planning study for the tri-county area of the South Central CAA.

The two representatives, Martin White and James Verborough, urged the Twin Falls County Commissioners in a meeting Tuesday afternoon to support application for a study grant. They said they would remain in this area through Thursday to assist in getting up application for the grant and preparing for the study. It is also expected they will attend a Thursday night meeting of the South Central CAA at which time board members from Jerome, Cassia and Twin Falls County are expected to discuss the program from the coming year.

The board is also scheduled to receive the resignation of Larry L. Mack, agency director who resigned Monday he will resign to accept a position in Washington. D. C. His resignation was requested by a majority vote of the board following several closed discussion meetings over the past two months.

Vote count set Friday

TWIN FALLS — Ballots cast Tuesday for directors of the American Falls Reservoir District No. 1 will not be counted until a board meeting Friday, according to Dianne Redmond, secretary. She said votes will be counted and canvassed at a meeting at 10 a. m. at the district office, 1132 Locust St., Twin Falls.

Seeking re-election are Frank W. Graves, Billas, and Russell Woolley. Jerome. Holdover directors are Tom Olmstead, Twin Falls; Merle E. Leonard, Filer; Dale Dewey, Wendell; John M. Barker, Buhl, and Armin Schroeder, Twin Falls.

Wert heads Wendell Chamber

WENDELL — John Wert was elected president of the Wendell Chamber of Commerce at a breakfast meeting today at the Motor Inn Cafe.

Darrel Drage was elected vice president, and Eleanor Friesman, secretary-treasurer. Directors include Joe Leoper, Harold Sitorly, Farrin Chandler, Charles Ireton and Bill Cooper.

Members approved a resolution opposing a request from the chambers of commerce near Brownlee Dam to double the minimum flow over the dam to 10,000 cubic feet per second. The larger boats can travel up the river.

Jim Frooman presented information both pro and con on the proposal. The Idaho Power Co. and state water agencies oppose the proposal and it was pointed out increasing the minimum flow over the dam from 5,000 to 10,000 cubic feet would endanger water for agricultural and irrigation uses in Magic Valley.

Public meetings on the proposal are slated Dec. 14 in Lewiston and Dec. 17 in Boise. Friesman said. The chamber will write Idaho congressmen and Col Robert J. Glean, Corps of Engineers, Walla Walla, Wash., urging opposition to the proposed increased flow. Jerry Johnson, Jerome, president of the Northside Community, said the group plans a meeting Jan. 16 in Boise.

Buhl kindergarten described

JEROME — Success of the kindergarten which has operated in the Buhl public schools the past five years was outlined by Luc Eppelwell, grade school principal, at a public meeting Tuesday night in the Jerome Junior High School.

He said the operation is supported by Title I funds. Mrs. Lucille Hoyt, curriculum director at the Buhl grade school, said the kindergarten classes have practically 100 per cent support from local citizens. She feels kindergartens should be compulsory in all Idaho schools, noting it provides for social adjustment and allows health defects, such as poor eyesight and hearing, to be detected at an early age.

The third speaker, Mrs. Ronald Koch, Boise, chairman of the subcommittee on kindergartens for the state task force, also outlined the need for such classes, but said she did not believe they should be compulsory.

State officials Sen. Don Fredericksen, Gooding; Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, Tuttle, and Rep. Earl Greenwalt, Jerome, attended. Ravenscroft said the state budget is $115.8 million and proposed spending for the next biennium comes to more than $180 million.

Largest turnout expected

TWIN FALLS — The largest turnout in the history of Republican governor's conferences is expected at Sun Valley for the four-day conference starting Saturday, Don Cooper, Boise, chairman of the transportation committee, said here today.

Cooper said 95 per cent of the Republican governors have made reservations for the conference. Five of them will fly to the Twin Falls airport in their private planes while the others will come here on Air West scheduled jet flights, he said.

The first governor as well as some 70 members of the news media will arrive on the Air West flight Friday afternoon. All the other governors are expected to be here Saturday.

The local resident said he has no garbage but a few empty cans which he personally hauls in his pick-up.

He was told there are no exceptions to the fee and the service of sanitation pickup is available to every residence and each occupant is billed for the service.

No trash bill bid rejected

TWIN FALLS — City council members have turned down a request from Roy Kimberling, 770 Sparks St., to be eliminated from the city sanitation department billing because he has no garbage.

Kimberling appeared at the Monday night city council meeting and presented a bill for past service saying the city is billing him for a service he is not receiving.

The local resident said he has no garbage but a few empty cans which he personally hauls in his pick-up.

He was told there are no exceptions to the fee and the service of sanitation pickup is available to every residence and each occupant is billed for the service.

City manager Jean Miller said if the bill, now for $10.50 is not paid he has instructed water department head, James Barnhart to take action in the small claims court.

Anderson elected

KING HILL — D.D. Anderson was elected a director of the King Hill Irrigation District in voting Tuesday.

District officials said Anderson received 43 votes and Stanley Jones received 27 votes.

Recreation area funds to county

TWIN FALLS — Reimbursement funds amounting to $2,743.80 have been received by Twin Falls County for work completed on the Balanced Rock Recreation area in the west end of the county, commissioners said today.

The funds are from the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund Program and are administered through the State Parks Board with Harold "Pete" Brown, Filer, chairman.

Brown said the program provides 50 per cent reimbursement costs on projects already underway or completed. Work thus far includes land leveling, site preparation, construction of restroom, facilities and other preliminary work.

Anderson elected

KING HILL — D.D. Anderson was elected a director of the King Hill Irrigation District in voting Tuesday.

District officials said Anderson received 43 votes and Stanley Jones received 27 votes.

Substitute plaintiff approved

BOISE (UPI) — In a landmark decision handed down Tuesday, Idaho Supreme Court ruled that a widow has the right to be substituted as plaintiff in a suit for injuries suffered by her husband.

Cloyd Doggett, Burley, was injured on Oct. 13, 1968 in an explosion of a boiler in the Burley Processing Company in Burley.

Mr. Doggett brought suit, and preliminary jurisdictional problems brought the case to the Supreme Court in 1969. The Supreme Court then ruled in favor of Doggett and remanded the case for trial.

Total cost of the project is estimated at $30,000 with $15,000 in matching funds. Other plans call for 25 picnic units, landscaping, playground, drinking fountains and locating and signing of trails.

Hazelton picks marshal

HAZELTON — City council members have accepted the resignation of Town Marshal Wayne Davis Tuesday night and appointed Jack Taylor as his successor.

Taylor has been employed by Tom Schroeder, farmer, and has been working as custodian for the Hazelton school. The new marshal will be sworn in Tuesday night.

Idaho Department of Law Enforcement for a communication radio for the officers' automobiles. Mayor Elmer Pyne announced he will appoint a special commission to work with the Hazelton Lions Club in development of a large city lot which has been designated for a city parking garage.

Richfield eyes plans on sewer

RICHFIELD — The Richfield City Board heard reports on tentative plans for a city sewer system and zoning regulations Tuesday night at the December meeting. Board president James M. Brown presided in the absence of Mayor Clifford Ward.

A letter from the Farmers Home Administration stated that no funds were presently available for a sewer system. This dashed the hopes of completion for the preliminary survey which had been planned with the city engineer.

A letter from Herb Derrick, Idaho Planning and Zoning Commission, requested information on Richfield regulations. It was revealed Richfield has no planning and zoning regulations. Ordinances take care of the problem.

Four applications for licenses were approved for two local grocery stores and the Hazelton A-1 Liquor Market. Pleasant Club.

Idaho Planning and Zoning Commission, requested information on Richfield regulations. It was revealed Richfield has no planning and zoning regulations. Ordinances take care of the problem.

Strikes hamstring English

LONDON (UPI)—Strikes and simmering industrial unrest blacked-out wide areas of Britain today, left most Britons without newspapers, closed two of London's central food markets and hit docks and some automotive plants.

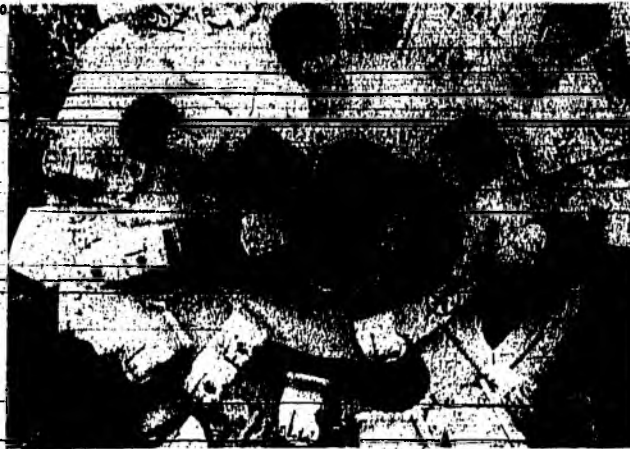

Although the trouble did not approach proportions of a general strike like the one that nearly brought Britain's economy to its knees in 1926, strike leaders claimed about 500,000 workers stayed off the job.

The government had no immediate estimates.

Prime Minister Edward Heath met with his cabinet to study the burgeoning labor unrest.

In Northern Ireland the provincial government proclaimed a local state of emergency, making it illegal to waste electricity.

The country was hit by two separate industrial upheavals. About 125,000 workers in the state-run electricity industry for the second consecutive day staged a go-slow movement to back a 30 per cent pay hike demand. This consisted in working strictly to rule and refusing to work overtime.

CUTTER head of this huge tunnel-boring machine called a "mole" will be used to drill the three-mile long Nast Tunnel on the Western Slope in Colorado as part of the Fryngpan Arkansas trans-mountain water diversion project. The 10-foot diameter cutter head will be used with diamond tipped drills and is powered by three 200-horsepower electric motors. (UPI)

SST lacked support

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Opponents of the supersonic transport (SST) said today they had enough support to keep the faster-than-sound plane grounded, despite a last-minute flurry of lobbying for the aircraft in advance of today's vote.

Sen. Sidney R. Yates, D-Ill., said he believed his motion to concur in last week's Senate action on the plane would succeed. The Senate voted Thursday to delete $200 million for continued development of the airliner.

House managers of the transportation money bill, however, declined to concede they were licked.

Swiss envoy sought

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI)—Police carried out a massive search today for the Swiss ambassador, kidnaped Monday by a band of terrorists as he was being driven to work. Officials also were checking ransom notes to see if they were authentic.

One of the ransom notes demanded 68 prisoners be released in exchange for the life of Giovanni Enrico Bucher, 57, a career diplomat noted for his love of adventure. Bucher, a bachelor, was the fourth diplomat kidnaped in Brazil in the past 14 months.

About 3,000 police were mobilized in Rio in the hunt for the ambassador. The only known lead, the arrest of a man driving a car with the same license as one of those supposedly involved in the kidnaping, turned out to be false. Although the auto was the same make, it was a different color.

The precision kidnaping was carried out while Bucher was being driven to work. Two autos swerved in front of the ambassador's car, stopping it, while another pulled alongside.

Bucher's bodyguard, Hello Carvalho Araujo, 44, tried to protect him and was shot. He was hospitalized with a bullet wound in his spinal cord and may be paralyzed for life.

Witnesses said Bucher appeared unharmed when he was taken away. They said one of the abductors was a blonde woman in a beige skirt and brown blouse.

Police threw up roadblocks and turned off traffic lights in an effort to create traffic jams and keep the kidnapers from getting away. The efforts did not succeed.

The previous diplomatic kidnappings in Brazil involved U.S. Ambassador C. Burke Elbrick in September, 1969, Japanese Consul Nobuo Okuchi in Sao Paulo in March and West German Ambassador Ehrenfried von Holleben in May.

Grenade injures 7 Arabs

By United Press International
A terrorist grenade exploded among Gaza Arabs waiting today for a bus to take them to jobs in Israel. Seven Arabs were wounded, one critically, an Israeli military spokesman said.

The man who threw the grenade fled into a maze of narrow streets behind Gaza City's Medina Square and escaped Israeli troops pursuing him.

In another Gaza Strip incident, an Israeli army patrol shot and wounded an Arab who ignored an order to halt and tried to escape north of the Jebelya refugee camp. He had been caught out during curfew hours. Israeli military authorities had reimposed the night curfew in the guerrilla-troubled strip Monday after suspending it for the Muslim Ramadan fast.

In Amman, Arab peace officials called an urgent meeting between the Jordanian government and Palestinian guerrillas to stop the worst fighting since the September civil war from flaring again. Five days of clashes climaxed with a full-scale battle in Northern Jordan Monday.

Pope conducts annual rites

ROME (UPI)—Pope Paul VI made his annual pilgrimage to a statue of the Virgin Mary in the Piazza di Spagna Tuesday, praying briefly in the rain on the Catholic feast day commemorating the Immaculate Conception.

Extra police encircled the square in central Rome during the Pope's visit, guarding against a repetition of demonstrations conducted there in Spain of Basque separatists charged with murder and terrorism. The Spanish Embassy faces the square. There were no incidents Tuesday.

The Pope's annual appearance usually draws thousands, but only a few hundred were there Tuesday to see the pontiff.

The Pope, 73, prayed for about five minutes at the statue in a drizzling rain.

Squeezed...

CARTOONS of this sort, depicting weird contraptions and bumbling characters, served Pulitzer Prize for Rube Goldberg in 1948. Goldberg died at 87 Monday. (UPI)

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The man cannot be stopped. He is still introducing bills. He writes letters to colleagues, asking for votes. He judges. He holds news conferences. He keeps speaking engagements. He issues a daily gust of single-spaced news releases. He is in at 9, out at 9 at night.

Maybe in the 13 1/2 years Ralph W. Yarborough has been a senator, he has forgotten how not to be a senator.

Behind his desk—he is behind his desk for only two minutes before he is back up on his feet, pacing—he reaches for the phone, reaches for a book. Books surround him. The desk itself overflows. He paws through it, somehow knowing where to reach for what he wants.

"Here, take a look at this." A stunned visitor leaves carrying a bundle of documents, including a biography. "Yarborough of Texas."

Has Yarborough forgotten that he is a lame duck, in fact the latest of ducks, having been repudiated by the voters? Democrats of Texas way back in May, when they picked Lloyd Benisek for the nomination and, in November, for the Senate seat?

No, he knows, this smiling, scowling, chubby, 68-year-old senator in the blue suit, blue shirt, blue tie.

"But in the time remaining after the primary," he says, "I will still have been senator longer than three previous Texas senators."

The listener doesn't dispute it. Yarborough is up again, reaching for a history book to prove his point. There it is! One Texas senator appointed for only a 28-day term. Another suffered a heart attack after five days in office. Another contracted tuberculosis. Yarborough of Texas was never a member of the club, the Senate establishment. He made few headlines; was seen little on TV.

But he went into the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee just about the time the country was shedding the notion that education was a purely local matter in which the United States government had no interest.

Amid all these traditional pictures of politicians that politicians by instinct hang on their walls—Yarborough a date back to Harry Truman and Estes Kefauver—hangs a framed collection of 80 pens used by Lyndon Johnson to sign into law the bills Yarborough supported during the "extraordinary" first session of the 91st Congress.

Yarborough is one of those old-fashioned liberals who believes if a problem exists, you spend money on it until it goes away.

Now the 92nd Congress, weary and full of lame ducks, most of them a lot more sleepier than Yarborough, is trying to go away. But Yarborough is still pushing spending schemes, $40 billion for national health insurance; a bill to guarantee every young American free access to two years of college-level education.

Drivers' strike halted

CHICAGO (UPI)—Teamster Union members in the gasoline and fuel-oil tank truck industry today reached an agreement on a new three-year contract, ending a drivers' strike in two states and heading off a threatened walkout in 11 others.

The settlement, achieved with the aid of a federal mediator, calls for a $1.68 an hour wage increase over the three-year period and certain fringe and welfare benefits covering the 13-state area.

A union spokesman said the agreement was on a "master" contract, but that details peculiar to several states would still have to be worked out.

Drivers in Ohio and Michigan, who had gone on strike Sunday, will return to their jobs by Monday, he said. Drivers in 11 other states had either continued working or had been prepared to walk out today.

The negotiations stalled in Detroit Thursday over the wage issue and were moved to Chicago Monday. Scattered strikes by about 1,000 drivers in Michigan and Ohio developed after the breakdown in Detroit.

Refugee accepted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department announced Wednesday that political asylum has been given to a junior officer of a Cuban merchant vessel who turned ship in Tokyo Sunday and applied to the American Embassy.

Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said the man, Rolando Gonzalez Baez, was enroute to the United States where he is being granted status as a resident alien eligible for citizenship.

McCloskey said the man told U.S. authorities in Tokyo that he had a brother in Miami and his father lived in New York.

Couple weds in nuptial mass

TWIN FALLS—Les Rae Probasco Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Walker, and George William McGinnis II, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. McGinnis I, all Twin Falls, were married Nov. 21 in a double ring nuptial mass performed by Magr. Edmund R. Cody at St. Edward's Catholic Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Kenneth Walker, wore a traditional wedding gown of Alencon lace featuring a Sabrina neckline and lily point sleeves with mother of pearl edging the neckline. The dress featured a dropped waistline and a five-tiered-layered lace skirt and cathedral train. The bride carried a bouquet of white daisy chrysanthemums, baby's breath and ivy.

Bridesmaids were Judy McGinnis, sister of the bridegroom and Lauri Coats, Kimberly. Junior bridesmaids were Wendy and Tammy Walker, sisters of the bride. Hilda Walker, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Billy Walker, brother of the bride, was ring bearer. Members of the bridegroom's party were Randy Pletz, Dave Armstrong and Larry Johnson, all Twin Falls, and Earl Hollon, Buhl, cousin of the bridegroom.

Soloist was Mrs. Roger Graef, accompanied by Mrs. Jack Cubit.

Skip Walker, brother of the bride, and Jeff McGinnis, cousin of the bridegroom, served as altar boys.

At a reception in the parish hall immediately following the ceremony the bride's table was decorated with a three-tiered fruit cake, baked by her mother in keeping with European custom. It was decorated with yellow and tangerine roses, sugar balls, cupids and scalloped lace, and flanked by white bridegroom's cakes decorated with tangerine rose buds.

Flower-decorated mints made by the bride's mother, Mrs. William Munger and Mrs. Johnnie Cline also decorated the table, which was covered with a lace cloth and a three-tiered lace skirt.

The cake was served by Mrs. Darrel Wolf, Jerome, and Mrs. Johnnie Cline, Burley. Coffee was poured by Mrs. Allen McGinnis, and punch at the bride's table was served by Mrs. Lincoln McGinnis, both aunts of the bridegroom. Mrs. Leo Geer, Moses Lake, Wash., presided at the punch bowl at the bridegroom's table.

Tami Cline passed out thank you scrolls at the beginning of the reception line. Gifts were displayed by Mrs. Thomas Wilkins, Jan Wilkins and Mary Lou McGinnis, cousin of the bridegroom. Gift bearers were Robin and Brenda Geer, Moses Lake, Wash. Dona Coats, Kimberly, presided at the guest book.

Guests attended from Kimberly, Jerome, Mogocow, Focatello, Burley, Buhl, Richmond, Va.; Moses Lake, Wash.; Okula, Japan, and Crescent Valley, Nev.

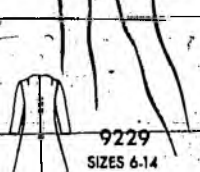

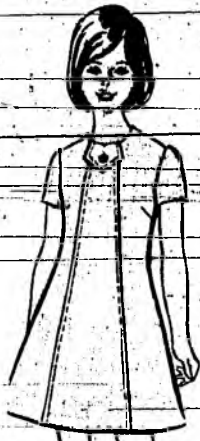

Special guests were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Walker, Twin Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Gillett, Buhl.

Ky returns to South Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI)—Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky returned to South Vietnam Tuesday after an absence of nearly two months, carrying assurances by the United States it will adopt a hands-off policy in South Vietnam's 1971 presidential election.

Ky told a news conference upon his arrival, "I have a clear understanding that any political solution, including the presidential elections, will be purely South Vietnamese."

Asked who gave him the assurances in the United States, Ky replied: "The President, vice president, secretary of state and other officials."

Ky and his wife, Mai, who wore a red and white native dress called the ao dai, arrived from Hawaii aboard a commercial jetliner to be greeted by South Vietnamese Prime Minister Tran Thien Khlem, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth C. Bunker and other members of the diplomatic corps.

He reviewed government troops while Vietnamese air force F5 "Freedom Fighter" jets flew overhead in salute to Ky, an air force vice marshal.

North Viets uninterested

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Tuesday that North Vietnamese interest in a negotiated peace was "absolutely zero" and fear of U.S. public reaction was the main thing keeping the United States at the Paris bargaining table.

Rogers told the Senate Appropriations Committee that the United States had "sent out appeals through diplomatic channels to every nation in the world" but had been unsuccessful in persuading the North Vietnamese to bargain in earnest.

"No, absolutely zero," he told the committee in answering his own question as to whether the North Vietnamese were interested in negotiations.

Sen. John D. Pastore, R-R.I., asked why the United States did not simply break off negotiations. Rogers said the reason was that the administration "would be severely criticized" by certain people in the United States.

The American people are already disgusted and frustrated," Pastore told him. Rogers responded that "we always have some hope" that the North Vietnamese will begin negotiating seriously.

In contrast to the North Vietnamese, Rogers said, "I notice a real flexibility" on the part of the Saigon government toward negotiations. He said he had been "very much impressed" with South Vietnam's attitude and its decision to embrace the Nixon administration's peace plan.

Rogers appeared with Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird to appeal for swift approval of the administration's $1 billion package of extra foreign aid, including a controversial $255 outlay to Cambodia.

Rogers acknowledged that the United States will be involved in financing Cambodia and other Indochina states "for some time to come." And although the request for aid is relatively small and earmarked mainly for small arms and ammunition, Rogers acknowledged "we can't be sure" foreign aid requirements for Cambodia will be kept small in future years.

Earlier, Rogers testified that the administration was depending on "the united will and patriotic fervor" of the Cambodians to hold off Sihanoukist troops and speed the U.S. withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

Nixon doesn't like press conferences

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's top aides now have status symbol picture-telephones—but White House communications with the rest of the country have not improved.

The fact that Nixon will hold his first news conference in four months Thursday probably is evidence that the chief executive does not view the press as his indispensable pipeline to the American people.

At a news conference on Dec. 8, 1969, the President said he would hold sessions with the press when he believed there was a "public interest" and if he felt the public "needs more information."

Since he took office nearly two years ago, he has held 16 news conferences, 11 of them televised. Except for handgrip by reporters, the question of Nixon holding a news conference at all would be forgotten.

More and more, the White House takes the attitude that the President is not under any obligation to answer questions. "We don't have a parliamentary system," says Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler. "The President is not like a prime minister" who must explain his policies, he added.

That may be true; but by tradition, Presidents going back to Theodore Roosevelt, have submitted to questioning by newsmen. And there is little doubt that the "public interest" in Nixon personally stating his views on a variety of subjects (not just those he prefers to discuss publicly) is there.

Furthermore, his appearances in the East Room before a standup microphone have been highly admired and demonstrated his grasp of national and international problems confronting the White House.

But it's clear that he does not enjoy the confrontation. His scoreboard is proof enough. Midway through their first terms in office, Franklin D. Roosevelt had held 158 press conferences, Harry S. Truman 84, Dwight Eisenhower 81, John F. Kennedy 44 and Lyndon Johnson 85.

Some, like Kennedy, enjoyed the sparring sessions more than others—like Johnson, who obviously disliked to be interrogated.

But there is a general feeling that communication has broken down and press aides conveying how the President feels on major events is not satisfactory.

Warrant filed

BOISE (UPI)—Federal authorities have accused the former budget director of the El-Ada Inc., community action agency of embezzling $1,839.74 between Jan. 30 and Aug. 18, 1970.

Mrs. Dorothy A. Hage, Boise, was arraigned in U.S. District Court Monday on six counts of embezzlement of agency funds. She was fired as the agency's budget director on Nov. 20 and a federal warrant for her arrest was filed Nov. 30.

Alworth files $5.6 million dollar suit against NFL

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — The $5.6 million suit Lance Alworth brought against the San Diego Chargers may take from three to five years to settle, said his attorney, Donald Augulline, Tuesday.

N.Y. faces first 'must' in 7 years

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Giants play their most important game in seven years Sunday and they couldn't pick a better team to play it against than the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Giants, who clobbered the Cardinals in their first meeting this season, 35-17, have won four of the six meetings between the two clubs the past four seasons and the Giants seem to have a feeling that the Cards are a team they can beat.

"It's kind of funny but since I've been here, we've won most of the games against the Cards," said six-year veteran Spider Lockhard. "We have a certain feeling against the Cards, we just feel we can beat them. It gives us an edge because we've beaten them year in and year out. We beat them even when we were lousy."

Back in 1964 when the Giants were 1-12-1 and the Cards finished at 0-3-2, the Giants beat the Cards for their only victory.

Cuozzo status still in air

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Coach Bud Grant said Tuesday he won't decide until later in the week whether Gary Cuozzo will start at quarterback for the Minnesota Vikings Sunday although Cuozzo is fit for action.

"He looked good today," Grant said at the Vikings' weekly press luncheon. "He ran two laps without a limp and the swelling is down."

Iowa notches first victory

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI) — Sam Williams scored 20 points and Fred Brown added 15 to pace Iowa to an easy 82-58 non-conference victory over Ashland Tuesday night, the Hawkeyes' first win in three starts this season.

Iowa led at the half, 41-18, and had a 70-40 advantage with 5:31 left in the game when coach Dick Schultz emptied his bench.

The lawyer said "all we want is that Lance gets what he is entitled to." But Chargers owner Eugene F. Klein retorted that the suit has "zero merit," saying "Lance doesn't know what he wants."

Alworth, the Chargers' all-star receiver, Monday charged breach of contract and violation of state anti-trust laws. He asked that superior court declare his contract with the Chargers null and void and that he be made a free agent.

In a federal court suit against the Chargers, the National Football League, all its teams and commissioner Pete Rozelle, Alworth charged violation of federal anti-trust laws, and challenged the standard player contracts.

In that suit he named no figure, but can receive triple the damages if the court rules anti-trust laws were violated.

Alworth has filed a bankruptcy petition on his dry cleaning stores and claims Klein and general manager Sid Gillman knew of this.

In January of this year he said he signed a three-year contract which would include an option for the 1974 season and enable him to obtain a $50,000 personal loan.

Kimberly rips cold Castleford

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly Bulldogs caught the Castleford Wolves cold in the early going to pile up a big lead and coast into a 60-44 decision Tuesday night.

Castleford, badly beaten by Kimberly's superior height on the board and held outside by a zone defense, couldn't find the bucket in the first half and watched the Bulldogs march into a 19-4 lead with three minutes gone in the second period.

The Wolves clawed back with a full court press in the second half and late in the third quarter managed to trim the Kimberly lead to 39-33. But Rod Rudolph and Bulcher got five points quickly off a halfcourt trap press and the Bulldogs re-established their lead by outscoring the Wolves 15-4.

Kimberly won the first game 47-44.

Alworth also contended he was to receive an insurance business which would have returned about $10,000 a year in commissions.

Hagerman runs past Dietrich

HAGERMAN — The Hagerman Pirates rolled up their fast break for most of their last Tuesday night to defeat the Dietrich-Blue Devils 77-47 in a non-conference game.

The Pirates, with superior height, took control of the boards but managed only a 12-2 first-quarter lead. They expanded that to 38-12 by halftime against the cold shooting Blue Devils before Dietrich outscored Hagerman 21-11 in the third period to pull a little closer. But the Pirates exploded for 28 points in the last quarter to win going away.

Hagerman won the preliminary 37-29.

Jacksonville wins tourney

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Third-ranked Jacksonville University, behind the scoring and rebounding of Artis Gilmore, handed Florida State its first loss of the season 114-108 Tuesday night to win the Sunshine Classic tournament.

Gilmore scored 31 points and dominated the backboards with 28 rebounds. Forward Harold Fox tossed in 24 points for the Dolphins and Ernie Fleming added 20.

Indiana stops Aussies 80-72

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Indiana scored eight straight points in the first half and led the rest of the way in scoring an 80-72 exhibition basketball victory over the Australian national basketball team Tuesday night.

The Australians led 18-10 when the Hoosiers fouled off the eight straight points. Joby Wright's layup tied the game and a jumper by Ed Daniels put Indiana in front for good. It was 42-31 at the half.

New available through this newspaper's Bridge with JACOBY MODERN... makes a take-out double, he fears that his partner will have to respond in a minor suit, so West passes. North is tempted to make some move but decides that his high-card points and three trumps won't be enough for a game. A gain of a reasonable defense, South makes exactly two spades. He loses one trump, one heart, one club and two diamonds and winds up with a nice part score.

When you use two-clubs as your only forcing opening, you release the other suit two-bids for other purposes. Expert practice is to use them to show a good suit and a hand just below an opening one-bid in high-card strength. In other words, the set-of-hand that you would pass if not using weak two-bids.

There is danger in passing a hand such as South held today. You are likely to be doubled if and when you back in. If you open with two spades you aren't likely to get into trouble, provided your partner understands your bid.

CARD GAME

The bidding has been:

North	West	South	East
1♠	Pass	1♠	Pass
2NT	Pass	3♦	Pass
3♥	Pass	3NT	Pass

JACOBY MODERN, the weak two-bid is a 7-10 high-card points and a six-card suit headed by at least two of the four top honors. It also shows fairly balanced distribution, so that South has a classic two-spade opening.

You, South, hold: ♠K6 ♠A87 ♠KQ4 ♠A Q J 3 2
 What do you do now?
 A—Pass. Your partner has settled for three no-trump.

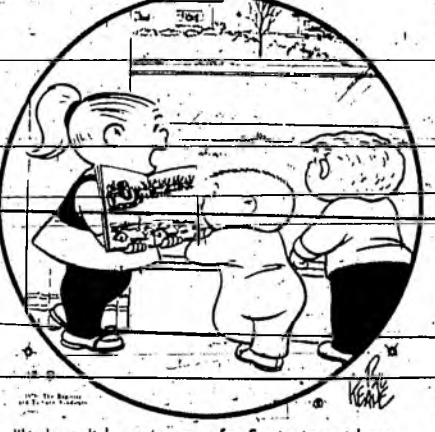

TODAY'S QUESTION
 Instead of bidding three no-trump, your partner has bid three spades. What do you do now?

OUR LOVE AND WAR MAN would like to discuss the female anatomy, if that's all right. The female anatomy and how different portions of same are emphasized in different parts of the world to turn on the native gentlemen (thereabouts). In the Northern Hemisphere, what's scented most, either with the sweater or the low-cut gown, is the bustline. In the Middle East all the way down through India, the bare midriff is what works. In China, the young ladies prefer to fancy up their feet. Russian girls still rely mainly on their faces. Around the Black Sea, hips are the thing. And in the British Isles, it's the legs that do it. More on this anon.

STILL CAN'T TELL you exactly what LSD does to human beings. But what it does to female spiders is now known. They weave smaller tighter webs... REPEATEDLY YOU HEAR men quote old Will Rogers as saying, "I never met a man I didn't like." That's not right. What he said was, "I never met a man I couldn't like."

GOT A HAIRCUT this morning. It's now 2:15 in the afternoon. So far seven people have said, "See you got your ears lowered." Come dinner time, there'll be at least four more commentators, know that. By 11 o'clock tonight maybe another half dozen. Lot of traffic around here this time of year. No complaints, on the contrary. Still, I intend to keep my hat on from now until bedtime. Maybe longer.

CUSTOMER SERVICE - Q. "Any truth to that Old West claim that the American Indian can't hold his liquor?" A. Don't believe that has ever been proved. About three times as many Indians as others kill themselves, however, and some students of the topic continue to insist the alcohol ailment ties into the suicide rate.

AM ADVISED 14 per cent of the world's population had nightmares last night... IT'S THE ALASKA man who's most apt to get hurt in an accident; the Connecticut man who is least apt to... THE AVERAGE 6-year-old boy in Japan today is three inches taller than was such a lad there 35 years ago.

IF YOU HAD TO GET HIT IN THE HEAD WITH SOMETHING, WOULD YOU PREFER TO BE HIT WITH A BASEBALL OR A POLICEMAN'S NIGHTSTICK? COME ON, IT'S ONLY A RHEUMATICAL QUESTION. SUCH A ROCK SAILING ALONG AT 95 FEET PER SECOND WILL STRIKE WITH ABOUT 900 POUNDS OF FORCE. THE NIGHTSTICK AT THE END OF A MUSCULAR OFFICER'S ARM WILL HIT WITH ABOUT 600 POUNDS OF FORCE. THIS GIVES YOU SOME NOTION OF WHO HAS THE ADVANTAGE IN A RIOT ON A ROCKPILE.

RAPID REPLY - Yes, sir, in sunglasses, the most difficult tint to manufacture is gray, but the vision experts say it's the best for your eyes.

Your questions and comments are welcomed and will be used in PASS IT ON wherever possible. Please address your letters to L.M. Boyd, P.O. Box 99068, Seattle, Wash. 98190.

Idaho craftsmen organize market

By MYRTLE SCHRENK
TIMES-NEWS Correspondent
WENDELL — Idaho Craftsmen, organizing through the offices of the Wood River Resource Commission, have started working on articles of incorporation, reports Phillip Becker, drafting attorney.

Structure of craft organizations and cooperatives in other states, especially those of Vermont and New Hampshire are being studied to help establish guidelines for the Idaho group, Becker said.

Craftsmen in the state have increased in number during the past two years as evidenced by the recent Christmas sale sponsored by the Beaux Arts Societe at Boise, according to Di Bowler, Hingerman.

Sale of craft items of this quality are up one-third over last year's sales, according to a report from the chairman of the sale received by Mrs. Bowler. During the first week of the sale this season, more than $4,000 worth of items were sold, compared to $2,500 during the same period last year.

Craftsmen of the Wood River area are currently exhibiting and selling their work as unique Idaho gifts for the holiday season. They include items in fabric, yarn, leather, wood, pottery, metal jewelry and sculpture and photography.

Area craftsmen are Aldrich and Di Bowler, Snake River pottery; Bob Rodman, Fairfield; Ralph Harris, Halley; Lowell Fields, Gooding; Robert Grubbs, Bliss; Earl Wilson, Fairfield; and Gus Flowers, Twin Falls.

Paul Vost, Twin Falls, is helping the craftsmen to market their products and will show gift items at the Salt Palace in Salt Lake City in January. Vost said items shown in January will be marketed for the tourist season next summer.

The group is trying to develop items on mass which are uniquely Idahoan and striving to overcome marketing problems by forming a marketing association. They also hope to provide extra income for low income groups such as senior citizens.

Series set by board

BOISE (UPI)—The State Water Resource Board plans a series of public information meetings in southwestern Idaho this month to present engineering studies and an evaluation report on proposed development of hydroelectric potential of the Grand View-Guffey Reach of the Snake River.

Meetings are scheduled at the statehouse in Boise Thursday; Owyhee Courthouse at Murphy, Dec. 14; Mountain Home City hall, Dec. 16; Melba High School, Dec. 21, and the Grange Hall between Homedale and Marsing, Dec. 23.

The board is aiming for a federal-state corporate joint venture for development of water resources in southwestern Idaho through implementation of the Southwest Idaho Water Development—Project's Mountain Horn division.

Kay Kimbrough named Miss Spirit

WENDELL — Kay Kimbrough was selected as Miss Spirit for the 1970 football season at the Monday meeting of the Trojanette Pop Club, according to Debbie Scheer, club president.

During the meeting the Trojanettes voted to pay half of the cost of new pom-poms that were recently purchased by the Wendell cheerleaders. The group also ordered miniature megaphones for all Trojanette members.

Vickie Exon was welcomed as a new member.

The group voted on a point system for pop club members. At the end of the year if a member has earned a specified amount of points and has paid her dues she will have the picture placed in the Trojan annual.

Members voted to sponsor a Miss Spirit for basketball, wrestling and track. To qualify girls must belong to the Pop club and be selected by their peers. Miss Scheer stated at the end of the year each of the four girls selected as Miss Spirit would be a contender for Miss Spirit of the school year.

Plans were made for a LaTormer's Club and Trojanette party which is set for 8:30 p.m. Dec. 22 at the Bowladrome at Gooding.

Coach Yogi Behrens, athletic director, was guest speaker and chose as his topic sportmanship.

Valley club sets conclave

WENDELL — The Magic Valley Friendship Club for Handicapped Adults will hold its annual Christmas meeting at the Heritage Homes, Jerome, Thursday at 7 p.m.

Buel McGhee, president, stated the evening will begin with a potluck dinner. The club will furnish the meat, rolls and beverages and each guest is asked to bring a covered dish and table service.

Mrs. John Bortus, Wendell, is arranging a special program for the evening.

Miss McGhee stated the public is invited to attend and participate in the gift exchange. Those who attended are asked to bring a wrapped gift suitable for either a man or woman with the cost not to exceed more than one dollar.

Grandmother flies on jaunt

WENDELL — Mrs. Maude Marlow, 84, recently proved that she was 84 years young and is endowed with the traditional pioneer spirit exhibited by Americans as she recently flew to California for her annual visit with her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Davis Taylor and family former Wendell residents.

Mrs. Marlow is the mother of four children and boasts 11 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren. She lives with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Marlow, who are the owner operators of the Marlow Meat Market.

Mrs. Marlow has lived in Wendell for the past 29 years and kept house for her son, before his marriage 23 years ago and continues to help with the house, cooking, and washing and ironing and is still an active member of the United Methodist Church of Wendell.

She lists her hobbies as crocheting and quilting and would not even guess how many quilts she has made over the years. She attributes her continued good health and young ways to the Association with her grandchildren, Mrs. Regina Thomas, Jerome, and Rolie, who is a junior in high school. She stated she is already planning another vacation for next year and is planning on going by jet again.

Build park equipment...

ENJOYING LUNCH HOUR in pavilion in Wendell city park are Jim Benson, vocational agricultural advisor and members of the senior division ag class. Ten members of the group built picnic tables and benches as a project and also built and installed basketball backboards in the eastern area of the park. Benson estimates each of the 10 students spent about 80 hours on the service project.

Wendell Navyman in Vietnam describes need at orphanage

BY MYRTLE SCHRENK
TIMES-NEWS Correspondent
WENDELL — Ken Hulet, U.S. Navy hospital corpsman second class is working with the Civil Affairs Service of the United States as supervisor of an orphanage in Vietnam.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Hulet, Wendell, is helping to establish more sanitary conditions at the orphanage and helps with a medical clinic conducted both at the orphanages and several hamlets in the area.

He writes that since there are no goods available for sale in Vietnam there is great need for such items as school books at the first, second and third grade levels to teach the children to read, write and speak English. Members of the First Medical Bn. conduct classes three or four times weekly. His parents report months in Vietnam are in dire need of sewing supplies, materials, paper, pencils and baby layettes and children's clothes of all kinds. The orphanage needs 30 plastic covered mattress pads one half by three feet.

Also needed are medicines of all kinds. Donations may be sent by doctors or pharmaceutical companies to Civil Affairs Officer S-5-TRO, First Medical Bn., SPO San Francisco, Calif., 96802.

Hulet also writes that garden seeds such as peas, carrots, beets, radishes and squash would be greatly appreciated in the self help project.

Members of the Wendell LDS church recently held a fund raising dinner and bazaar to help finance the project. Bishop Rulph Chandler said individuals, organizations or churches in Magic Valley wanting to help with this project should contact either Mrs. Hulet or the bishop, or items may be sent directly to the Civil Affairs officer.

He noted there is no organized mail service so the project is complicated and expensive, but there is a book rate.

Ten pounds of clothing can be sent for $1.55 and Hulet says all donations will be greatly appreciated by members of his unit and the people themselves.

Dad's Christmas fete set by Wendell group

WENDELL — The annual Dad's Christmas party was planned by the Wendell chapter of the Future Homemakers of Tomorrow at a meeting in the home economics room Monday evening.

Debbie Scheer, secretary of the group said the event is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Dec. 17 at the Elementary all-purpose room.

Committees named by Mary Ann Miller, president, include Bonnie Mink, games, and Vickie Lynch, date, time and arrangements.

The group voted to send Christmas gifts from the chapter to the Nampa State School. They also discussed a joint meeting with the FFA to plan a snow party at Soldier Mountain Ski area in January.

New members welcomed were Nancy Smith, Teri Cooper, Barbara Hongland, Chris Bennett, and Vickie Exon. Dorothy Berni served as adult advisor.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Jan. 11 in the home economics rooms.

by school

WENDELL — According to Arlin Dennis, elementary school principal, the Wendell school will not have a Christmas program for the public as in the past but special activities are being planned.

During the coming week each class-room teacher will decorate their classroom with a tree and other decorations. On Dec. 23 a tour of the rooms will start at 9:30 a.m. After the tour the entire elementary faculty and students will meet in the all-purpose room for a caroling session.

After lunch students will have a gift exchange in their home rooms. Dennis stated the teachers have planned special treats for the students.

School will be dismissed at 2 p.m. Dec. 23 for the Christmas holidays until Jan. 4, Mr. Dennis said.

The Most Exciting Headache News In Years!

Doctors' Tests In Treating Nervous Tension Headaches Now Made Public

Non-Narcotic Tablet That Needs No Prescription Proves Just As Effective As The Expensive, Leading Pain-Relief Prescription Of Doctors,

If you're one of the many who get tense, nervous headaches, these latest tests by doctors should be of the greatest importance.

In recent medical tests doctors proved a famous tablet that needs no prescription gives the same complete headache relief as the expensive leading prescription of doctors.

These doctors (who proved their findings in a similar study in London) also needs no prescription and is far more economical.

With Anacin, headache pain and its nervous tension vanish in minutes. Despite its strength, Anacin is not narcotic. You can take it without getting dizzy or an upset stomach.

Next time take powerful fast-acting Anacin. Anacin Tablet gives the same complete headache pain relief as the leading prescription product... which

Layoffs slated

GRANGEVILLE (UPI) — About 150 men will be laid off, at least for the remainder of the month, at the MDA Pine Mills, Inc., plant.

Mill officials announced that all lumber manufacturing operations would stop at the close of the second work shift today.

R.D. Schmalz, production manager, said reasons for the shutdown were the weakness of the lumber market plus the high cost of logs.

However, he said, recently the company has been able to

Noise damage costly

NEW YORK (UPI)—The supersonic transport plane (SST) hasle in Congress is another example of how man might decide whether to compromise his physical and environmental well-being for economic benefits.

The 1,800-mile-per-hour plane would benefit many Americans from a dollar standpoint, just to build two SST prototypes would stir $1.3 billion into the economy. Supporters of the program claim the SST eventually could create 150,000 jobs in the hard-hit aerospace industry. It also would boost the ailing airlines industry.

But opponents of the SST say the noise and impact and its sonic booms are too stiff a price to pay.

Some of them have claimed that the life of one-third of the people would be shortened if the SST got permission to slash over populous areas. They talk of skin cancer and nervous breakdowns.

The SST critics also say that animal life in a 20-30 mile swath in the plane's line of passage would be injured. Foundations, ceilings and walls of buildings and homes would develop cracks, others claim. And Theodore Berland, author of "The Fight for Quiet," predicts there would be 21 million damage claims per year if the SST went overland. He estimated the cost of such suits at almost $1-billion.

Industrial noise not only can be unhealthy, annoying, it also can cost business money. A. C. Underwood, Houston and metallurgical consultant, and W. J. Graff, professor of civil engineering at the university of Houston, recently told a symposium of engineers in New York that the noisy machine can reduce productivity. Energy expended in creating the noise, they said, reduced the machine's useful work and created severe and unnecessary dynamic stresses. And there is no question that worker efficiency is cut by noise.

In the last 20 years, the sales of 450 million radios, 130 million television sets, 83 million phonographs and 33 million tape recorders have added to this overwhelming cacophony of commerce. And that noise level doesn't take into consideration rock music, motorcycle buffs with itchy fingers on throttles, toys made to sound like cannons, the musical charms of jackhammers and cranes. And let's not forget city traffic.

City traffic often hits 92. Much of the rock music is 125 decibels, and there is reason to believe many of the younger generation will grow up with hearing defects. That jet liner flying 500 feet overhead will produce 115 decibels, 30 over the damage level. But it should be noted that the airlines industry has spent about $250 million in the last five years to reduce the noise factor, and has succeeded to some extent.

Permit reminder issued

BOISE—The Liquor Law Enforcement Division reminds persons and organizations planning other than at-home holiday parties where liquor is to be served that catering permits are necessary for such affairs unless the premise where the party is to be held is covered by a state liquor license.

Richard L. Cade, Boise, division director, said catering permits, good for no more than three consecutive days, may be obtained from city or county officials where the affair is to be held. Applications must be accompanied by a fee of $20 for each day the permit is to be used.

Only holders of Idaho retail licenses are eligible to obtain catering permits for sponsoring groups, Cade said.

FRANK H. SHIELDS JR.

Industrial executive appointed

BOISE—Frank H. Shields Jr., Boise, has been named executive vice president of Associated Industries of Idaho, reports Larry Mills, president. Shields replaces Bart Brussey who resigned and is now vice president of marketing for Idaho Bank and Trust Co., Boise.

A native of New York, Shields has been a resident of Idaho since 1948. He has experience in business and industrial association management, sales promotion, engineering and communicating. The past four years he has been general transportation manager for Morrison-Knudsen Co., Inc., returning recently from service with that organization in Vietnam. Associated Industries of Idaho represents major industries throughout the state and is concerned with all matters affecting the general economy of the state, with emphasis on the promotion of industrial development.

Vehicle stickers due soon

BOISE—Owners of vehicles registered under the annual January through December system are advised by the Idaho Motor Vehicle Division to obtain 1971 registrations now and avoid the rush later.

License plate validation stickers for vehicles registered under the annual system expire on Dec. 31 and must be renewed prior to the deadline to remain valid. There are 19 types of vehicles required to register under the annual system, the division notes, including motorcycles, trucks and trailers not included in the staggered licensing system, city cabs and buses, hearses, ambulances, wreckers and special licenses such as disabled veterans, Air and National Guard, radio amateurs and dealers.

These vehicles represent less than five per cent of all vehicles registered in Idaho. New validation stickers may be obtained at county assessors' offices now and may be applied to present plates before the Dec. 31 deadline.

Mayor named

LEWISTON (UPI)—Ronald F. Jones, 49, a freight agent for the Cunas Prairie Railroad, is the new mayor of Lewiston. Jones, one of six new councilmen elected a week ago in a recall election, succeeds Paul Wise, who was ousted during the same election.

Jones was selected mayor at the first meeting of the new council Monday night as was Bryan B. Bundy, who was picked as council president. Both men were elected unanimously.

Raises havoc

BIG DELTA, Alaska (UPI)—Buffalo herds are raising havoc with farmers near Delta Junction, 504 miles south of Fairbanks. Buffalo transplanted in this area several years ago have been raiding a new barley farm developed by Jim Harding and Ed Morales of Fairbanks.

This is Alaska's first truly large farm and is being watched carefully for its influence on the future Alaskan agriculture. But Harding and Morales say the buffalo are not stopping the enterprise will not be worth the effort.

Eden Legion units join PW letter campaign

EDEN—Members of the Eden American Legion and Auxiliary have drafted letters regarding U.S. prisoners of war being held in North Vietnam, according to Mrs. Austin Matheny. As state chairman of national security for the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Matheny is urging all legion and auxiliary members to write letters to the North Vietnamese regarding POWs. She also urges PWs to individuals to draft letters denouncing the handling of captured U.S. servicemen. She also suggests that church and civic organizations take on the letter writing campaign as a project. Mrs. Matheny said they far about 40 families in the Eden-Hazellon area have drafted letters, and more throughout Magic Valley are expected to do so.

Points which Mrs. Matheny suggests be made in letters are all injured prisoners be released as quickly as possible; that names of prisoners be published; that prisoners be allowed to exchange mail with their families; that impartial inspections be made immediately of prisoner facilities, and that prisoners receive proper diet and medical care. She said letters should be brief and to the point. They also should not be about her said. The auxiliary said letters can be mailed to: Minister Xuan Thuy, representative of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, in care of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Paris, France. The letters require 20 cent airmail postage.

Seminar scheduled Thursday

TWIN FALLS—The Internal Revenue Service will conduct a seminar for area tax accountants in Twin Falls on Thursday, Calvin E. Wright, Idaho IRS director, said Tuesday. The one-day session will be at the Holiday Inn, starting at 8 a.m. Wright said the subject of the seminar is the Tax Reform Act of 1969, preparatory to the making of return on income tax returns for 1970.

The IRS office in Twin Falls will be closed Thursday to permit personnel to attend the seminar. Beverage alcohol is used by 75.8 per cent of the adult U.S. population.

Basque partisans disrupt own trials

BURGOS, Spain (UPI)—Sixteen Basque nationalists interrupted their own court-martial on charges of murder and terrorism today by shouting at the judges and singing their fighting anthem.

Cdr. Manuel Ordoñez González, president of the tribunal, ordered the courtroom cleared of public and press, and continued the hearing.

Defendant Mario Onaindia Nachondo, a 22-year old bank clerk for whom the prosecution is asking the death penalty, exploded in anger when the chief judge cut off a statement he was making.

"Long live the Basque country!" Onaindia shouted, rushing towards the judge's bench.

As three policemen in steel helmets leaped to subdue him, the other 15 defendants, manacled in pairs, jumped to their feet and began singing the fighting anthem of "Euzkadi," the underground Basque organization to which they belong.

The 100 men and women in the public gallery, mainly relatives of the defendants, burst into shouts and screams. The white-haired mother of one of two priests in the dock wept hysterically.

3 aides resign posts

BOISE (UPI)—Three more persons who serve at the pleasure of the governor have submitted their resignations, a spokesman for Governor-elect Cecil Andrus said Tuesday.

They are Maj. Gen. George Bennett, Idaho adjutant general; Joe Apatarte, a member of the Human Rights Commission, and David Ainsworth, a member of the Lewis-Clark Commission.

Nixon SST hopes hinge on Congress conference

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Nixon administration's drive to keep the supersonic transport (SST) alive is now aimed at House and Senate negotiators who will try to reach a compromise on the controversial airliner; but there was no assurance such an agreement could be reached.

Even if some form of compromise was arrived at, observers doubted the Senate would be willing to reverse its earlier vote against spending $280 million for continued development of the plane. The House, on a 213 to 174 vote, refused to go along with the Senate's action Tuesday, but left the matter up to its conferees.

One possible compromise being discussed was for spending around $200 million for continued work on the SST prototypes, to keep the project alive. About $105 million has already been spent since July 1 under temporary authority and the other $100 million would be used to keep the SST team together for further research until the Congress which meets in January can consider the matter again.

But Rep. Edward P. Boland, D-Mass., house manager for the $2.5 billion money bill from which the SST funds were cut, said the House-Senate conference would have a difficult time resolving the differences. The House earlier in the year passed the money bill, with the SST funds, by a narrow margin.

The administration has been urging Congress to restore the SST funds, claiming failure to continue development of the 300-passenger, faster-than-sound plane would eventually cost the United States 150,000 jobs.

Opponents of the plane have attacked it as a jet-set toy which would pollute the upper atmosphere and send shock waves of destruction into the earth's surface. The plane's critics had accused the administration of holding up a report on the project which they said dramatized its defects.

That long-awaited report was released Tuesday—shortly after the House voted not to go along with the Senate. The report largely supported the Transportation Department's view that while the jet would have problems, the solutions could not be determined by continued research and development.

Population slowdown 'difficult'

BOISE (UPI)—Dr. Fenton Kelley said Tuesday population control in any form is a "very tough thing to sell."

Kelley, with the Boise State College Biological Sciences Department, appeared before the Idaho Press Club as a speaker on "Zero Population Growth," a group interested in limiting population growth.

Kelley said men are "quite rational in every area of human life" except in discussions of population control.

He said his idea would be "easier to sell in Los Angeles where people can look up in the air and see their problems."

Kelley said man of the world's problems as "the result of simply having too many people" and said in Idaho the decreasing game supply, water pollution, and new sprawling urban areas are "constant reminders" of population problems.

However, he said, China is forced to expand outward to provide for its population of one billion and said the Chinese see Southeastern Asia as a new source.

"Don't get carried away with the idea it's all ideological," Kelley said. "It's not. They know they're in bad shape."

He said India has tried to stabilize its population for the past 10 or 12 years, but has not been successful.

If there is a nationwide drought in India, Kelley said, "they're going to die in unbelievable quantities."

Vehicle register due soon

BOISE (UPI)—The motor vehicle division of the Department of Law Enforcement reports owners of vehicles registered under the January through December system are advised to obtain 1971 registration license plate validation stickers for vehicles registered under the annual system expire at midnight Dec. 31 and must be renewed prior to the deadline to remain valid.

There are 10 types of vehicles required to register under the annual system, including motorcycles, trucks and trailers not included in the staggered licensing system, city cabs, buses, hearses, ambulances, wreckers, air and national guard, radio amateurs and dealers.

New validation stickers may be obtained at the county assessors' offices now and may be applied to present plates before the Dec. 31 deadline.

commissioner of law enforcement, sent his resignation to Andrus.

Others who have resigned include State Commerce Secretary Albert E. Minton, Public Assistance Commissioner Bill Child and Labor Commissioner W.L. Robison.

Minton, Child and Robison sent their resignations to outgoing Gov. Don Samuelson. Minton was the first to throw in the towel and originally said he would quit as of Nov. 30. However, he said later Samuelson persuaded him to stay on for the remainder of Samuelson's term of office.

Andrus has said he wants everybody who serves at the pleasure of the governor to have his resignation on the governor's desk when he takes over Jan. 4. He said if he decides to keep anybody on then it will be his decision and his appointment.

A number of appointed heads are expected to roll when Andrus takes office. Andrus will be the first Democrat to serve as governor in 24 years.

However, counting his own office staff, Andrus will be able to appoint only about 25 full-time persons directly. Others either are appointed by boards or commissions or are protected by civil service laws.

VAN HEUSEN

THE TRUE BODY FIT 47

Van Heusen believes there's more to good fit than buying the right size. So they've used the science of man's measurements to design the perfect fitting body shirt. The result is a new collar, called the Ergo, that sits higher for better fit and flatter, slimmer sleeves with fashionable 2-button cuff that fits just right, and a host of other details that you'd never think of until you see what they do for the way you look. Whatever you choose — distinctive solid colors in soft 80% Dacron® polyester, 20% cotton crepe or striking tri-band stripes in 65% Dacron® polyester, 35% cotton, be sure to choose the true body shirt. It's the fashion shirt that fits from the man out!
