Economy, peace top '72 issues, Morton tells GOP

By O.A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Editor
SUN VALLEY — The two major issues influencing the 1972 elections are prosperity and peace, Rogers C. B. Morton, Republican national chairman, said today as he keynoted the Republican governors' conference at Sun Valley. Morton said there is "one goal, one program which we must pass for the benefit of this country. This is revenue sharing. Every governor in this room understands the importance of this program. Every one of you knows that state and local governments are teetering on the brink of financial disaster and we must make the people understand what's at stake."

Morton also said that the "one person" who can make the most dramatic impact in any state party organization is the governor, "and we will need your best efforts to win in 1972."

congressman from Maryland and President Nixon's choice to succeed Walter Hickel as Secretary of the Interior, said "There is no doubt" that economic issues played a significant role in this November's election.

"We are going through a very difficult transition from war to peace, from an inflationary to a stable economy." Frankly, this transition has proven even more difficult than we had anticipated, but we are making progress.

"Unemployment and the rate of inflation will both be lower in 1972 than they were in 1971."

"By 1972, we hope and believe that we will be at peace around the world. Everyone knows that the President has made remarkable progress in winding down the war. Everyone knows the rate of American casualties is one-eighth what it was before Richard Nixon became President."

In closing he said he was confident that the Nixon administration and the Republican party will be on the right side of the issues in the 1972 election.

Panel discussions were scheduled throughout the day.

Idaho party split said loss cause

SUN VALLEY — Gov. Don Samuelson put the blame for his defeat today on "internal differences within the Republican party in Idaho" and refused to blame Vice President Agnew for his unsuccessful attempt to win a second term.

At a well-attended press conference late Sunday, Samuelson, host for the Republican governors' conference, was asked if he "was aware that some of the governors are not completely happy with Vice President Agnew, and yet you seem to welcome him even though you lost the election."

His answer was to the point. He liked Agnew, he said; he appreciated his coming to Idaho, and he was sure his visits (Agnew visited Idaho twice during the campaign) had nothing to do with his (Samuelson's) defeat.

After the press conference, Samuelson told the Times-News that he wasn't "going to get drawn into this controversy which involved the vice president and some governors."

Samuelson denied that he had deliberately tried to slow down or make difficult the transition from his administration to that of his successor.

"I told my successor," Samuelson said, "that he could have the service of all my people in this transition, and that if he wanted anything all he had to do was ask me. He chose to go around me, and this made things take longer."

In response to a question as to the governor-elect's charge that he (Samuelson) had deliberately held up information on the budget, he said "I have had all the budget information since the day I first received it. He was just playing politics. That's all he was doing."

Demo offered treasury post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In an open bid for political peace, President Nixon today named Democrat John B. Connally, former Texas governor and close friend of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, to be Treasury secretary.

Connally, who also served in the Kennedy administration, will succeed David M. Kennedy, 63, who will remain in Nixon's official family as an ambassador-at-large to deal with international finance and monetary policy.

With Connally at his side, Nixon told White House pressmen "We have a Republican President and Democratic Congress, but the problems we have are American problems. We need to approach them in a bipartisan manner."

Connally, who served three two-year terms as a Texas governor through 1968, said he was "humbly proud, grateful and proud with this appointment."

Nixon said he would withhold submitting of Connally's nomination to the Senate until after the new Congress convenes in January. Kennedy, he said, would continue in the cabinet post probably until Feb. 1 when Nixon's new budget presentation is completed.

The proposed nomination drew quick praise from Democratic leaders in Congress. Speaker John W. McCormack described Connally as a "fine man, outstanding, and a great American."

Gem food packets given

SUN VALLEY — Gov. Don Samuelson said today even governors have to eat — especially those Republicans who were not re-elected in November — so they would receive gifts of foods stuffs instead of gold and silver.

His remarks were made this morning as he opened the first business session of the Republican-governors' conference.

Samuelson added that he might send Dan Dalley a Christmas basket of food "because I understand 'The Governor and J.J.' (a television program) got voted out of office by CBS."

The food to be shipped to the home of each Republican governor by Idaho Industrial firms will include fresh and processed potatoes, bags of White Satin-sugar, trout from "the world's largest trout farm" near Buhl, beans, peas, lentils, apples and various other products of the state.

At this resort, Samuelson presented each of his counterparts with a real Idaho sheepskin, a silver money clip, a ski parka, a book by Ernest Hemingway and a cookbook for the governors' wives.

While the governors were in business sessions this afternoon, their wives were guests of Mrs. Samuelson in a tour of the resort and a style show.

America's best . . . DREAM CAME true for Lana Brackenbury, Jerome, when the Miss Rodeo America banner was presented to her Saturday night at Las Vegas. (UPI)

Dream true for Lana

By RUTH MILLER
Times-News Staff Writer
JEROME — "I didn't think dreams really came true."

Lana Brackenbury, back home in Jerome Monday after being named Miss Rodeo America Saturday at Las Vegas, is still a bit numb from the shock of being named the nation's top cowgirl.

The 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theo Brackenbury, Lana is the second Jerome girl to be named Miss Rodeo America in eight years. Karen Lavans, now Mrs. Jerry James, was chosen in 1962.

Lana, who was leaving Jerome Monday morning to return to classes at Idaho State University, said she felt she had "done pretty well" in competition with 21 other cowgirls at Las Vegas, but Saturday night was "just sitting there, waiting for someone else to be called."

Lana is a sophomore speech and physical education major at ISU. At mid-term she had a 3.4 grade average, "but I'm afraid it's going to go down."

She will drop out of school at semester for a year so she can fulfill her obligations as Miss Rodeo America.

Lana said she "cried a lot" when she was named. "When I was a little girl I thought how neat it would be to be just like Karen (Mrs. James). She's really been great to help me and I've learned a lot from her."

In January Lana will make her first official appearance as Miss Rodeo America when she travels to Denver for the Western Stock and Market Show. There she also will begin picking out a wardrobe supplied by some of the nation's top western apparel makers. Among items she expects to receive are numerous suits, hats, pairs of boots, coordinators and blouses — she already has received a number of scholarship, a $250 belt buckle studded with diamonds and rubies and the right to wear the $5,000 Black Hills Gold pearl, emerald and gold Miss Rodeo America Crown during 1971.

The Miss Rodeo America pageant began Dec. 7 and continued until Lana's crowning Saturday night. With Lana in Las Vegas were Gene Hull, Twin Falls, Miss Rodeo Idaho chairman, and Tom Shouse, Filer, a member of the International Rodeo Management board of directors.

Lana's parents and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sweet of Fairfield, joined the group in Las Vegas on Thursday.

Lana's real start at horsemanship began at 13 when she became interested in 4-H while staying at the Sweet Ranch at Fairfield. She's always been interested in horses as were her parents. An uncle, Doc McCarty, was a National Rodeo Cowboys competitor for years.

Lana has held many titles in her climb to Miss Rodeo America. She was Jerome Posse Queen, Jerome Fair Queen, State Posse Queen, Idaho State University Rodeo Queen, District High School Rodeo Queen and Buhl Sagebrush Days Queen. It was the Buhl rodeo which sponsored her in the state contest, which resulted in her selection as Miss Rodeo Idaho this September.

Lana's selection as Miss Rodeo America was announced at the Buhl rodeo. The Buhl rodeo was the first rodeo in Idaho to be held in a new arena.

Federal revenue shares sought

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI) — Gov. William E. Milliken of Michigan called Monday for a coalition of governors and mayors to persuade the federal government to share its revenues with states and cities.

Milliken is asking Michigan mayors to join the state government in a move to get congress to share some of the federal income taxes — with the states to help finance rising welfare and other costs.

Welfare rulings coming

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to rule this term on the constitutionality of laws in two states restricting the right of aliens to receive welfare money.

The cases accepted for argument and an ultimate decision involved welfare laws in Pennsylvania and Arizona.

In the Pennsylvania suit, the issue is whether the state may constitutionally bar aliens from benefitting from its general assistance program which is underwritten solely by the state.

The Arizona case centers on a law refusing aliens welfare assistance until they have lived in the state for 14 years.

Village ordered wiped out

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — Former soldiers who made the assault on My Lai testified today that Lt. William L. Calley's company commander instructed his men to wipe out the village.

Both witnesses, Gene R. Oliver of Cincinnati and Elmer G. Hayward, said on cross-examination, however, that no mention was made of killing women or children.

Calley 27, led a platoon in Company A on a search-and-destroy mission in the Vietnam hamlet of My Lai. His company commander was Capt. Ernest Medina.

The two former infantrymen were called as the seventh witnesses by the defense.

Auto death charge filed

TWIN FALLS — Charges of involuntary manslaughter stemming from a fatal traffic accident Sunday evening in Twin Falls were filed Monday morning against a Twin Falls man.

Twin Falls Police said Mrs. Hazel Peterson, 61, Murtaugh, was killed about 8 p.m. when she and her husband were struck by a car as they were walking across Sheahone Street South. Police identified the driver of the car as Richard Adams, 43, 177 Austin Ave., a truck driver.

Mrs. Peterson's death brings the city's toll to now for 1970, a mark which Chief of Police Frank Barnett says is the highest in Twin Falls' history.

Israeli return to peace talks hinted

By United Press International
Israel may decide to rejoin Middle East peace talks within the next two weeks, diplomatic sources in Jerusalem said today. The decision could come at next Sunday's cabinet meeting.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan returned home Tuesday following meetings in Washington with President Nixon, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird. He told newsmen the conditions were not yet ripe for resumption of the indirect talks with Jordan and Egypt under the sponsorship of U.N. mediator Gumar V. Jarring.

Despite Dayan's remarks, the diplomatic sources said it would almost certainly Israel would decide to resume the talks. The decision probably will be taken at the next full cabinet meeting, on Sunday. Foreign Minister Abba Eban is due to leave shortly for London so all top government officials will not be available until Sunday.

In Moscow, the Communist party newspaper Pravda said the United States and Israel planned to "torpedo" the Middle East talks before they even began. It said the United States guaranteed long-term arms shipments to Israel "in order to make the balance of forces in the Middle East tilt in favor of Israel."

In London, the Sunday Times said Israel has started transporting Arab oil to Communist Eastern Europe via a new Israeli pipeline that bypasses the Suez Canal. An Israeli government spokesman refused to comment on the report, which said the multimillion dollar operation "has the blessing of Russia and the connivance of Arab governments."

In Jordan, the government and Palestinian guerrillas sought to work out details of a new peace initiative. A meeting of senior officials of both sides was called to implement compromises arranged by the Arab trade team in weekend talks. These called for a general exchange of prisoners and a pullback from the flashpoints of the latest fighting.

Success of the accords hinged around the town of Jerash in Northern Jordan which has been the center of a series of clashes between the guerrillas and government troops.

In Cairo, President Anwar Sadat reaffirmed that Egypt will not renew the Middle-East cease-fire which expires Feb. 5 unless it gets a timetable for the withdrawal of Israeli troops from Arab lands.

"Thanks, folks!"

PIGMAH, Ala. (UPI) — The Pigmah Branch of First National Bank of Scottsboro held an "open house" Friday, but four men took it seriously.

While customers drank coffee and ate donuts, served in appreciation for their business during the past year, the four men held up the bank.

Wearing masks, the bandits forced bank workers and customers to lie on the floor at gunpoint while they fled in a car with an undetermined amount of money.

Question . . .

What death benefit allowances are payable under the Retired Servicemen's Family Protection Plan?

Answer . . .

Widows and children of a deceased retired serviceman may or may not be covered under the Retired Servicemen's Family Protection Plan. Coverage under this plan is optional. If the serviceman enrolled in this plan when he was in service then a portion of his monthly retirement income is paid to his family after his death. If survivors' benefits are payable, they are paid according to the settlement options chosen by the serviceman prior to his retirement.

Regardless of whether or not the serviceman was enrolled in the Retired Servicemen's Family Protection Plan, he and his wife are entitled to burial space in a national cemetery and to a grave marker. If the serviceman is also a wartime veteran, or retired because of a service connected disability, he is entitled to the $250.00 Federal Burial allowance.

Power strike ends

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's power supply workers today agreed to stop their slowdown and overtime ban, ending a week-old electricity crisis that has plagued the nation with blackouts, the unions' chief negotiator said.

Frank Chapple, the negotiator, said the overtime ban and work-to-rule were withdrawn, not just suspended.

Chapple said differences of opinion over a court of inquiry into the workers' demand for pay raises had yet to be resolved. He said union leaders would meet this afternoon with Robert Carr, the employment secretary, to try to settle that issue.

Chapple said some of the 125,000 power workers were expected to be working normally again tonight. For a week the workers "went by the rulebook" and refused to work overtime, creating a shortage in Britain's over-all electricity supply. Wide areas of the country were periodically blacked out for up to three or four hours at a stretch to conserve power at peak usage periods.

Chapple said he thought supplies could easily be restored to normal by "certainly no later than the weekend" and perhaps as early as Wednesday.

The end of the crisis came after a 21 per cent power cut in London disrupted thousands of breakfasts this morning.

By noon, however, there were no cuts in force anywhere in the country. The end of the slowdown was announced 80 minutes later.

Hughes may sell Air West control

NEW YORK (UPI) — A tipoff by federal investigators to the possibility of corruption within the Hughes financial empire in Nevada led Howard Hughes to a Bahamas retreat and his firing of several employees, Time magazine said Sunday.

The magazine also speculated Hughes may be planning to sell several Las Vegas hotels and to surrender Air West, a regional airline, in hopes of regaining control of Trans World Airlines.

Hughes' Thanksgiving eve flight aboard his Hughes Tool Co. jet to a $1,000-a-day suite on the ninth floor of the Britannia Beach Hotel on Paradise Island had been planned for two months as a means for Hughes to escape the Las Vegas holdings from a distance, the magazine said.

Robert Maheu, Hughes' chief aide in Nevada, was in charge of many operations which "were not paying off as handsomely as expected." Maheu is fighting an attempt by Hughes Tool Co. to fire him.

"Huge kickbacks, it was said, were received on the purchases of old and largely worthless Nevada mining properties, for which Hughes had paid $2 million more than they were worth," Time said.

Cuban missiles deemed effort to avoid war

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Soviet Union succeeded in preventing American military action against Cuba with the 1962 missile crisis, even though much of the world, including Cuba, believed Russia had backed down, former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev believes.

President John F. Kennedy "showed himself to be sober-minded and determined to avoid war," Khrushchev wrote in the fourth and last excerpt of "Khrushchev Remembers," published Sunday in Life magazine.

Khrushchev got the idea of installing missile sites on Cuba to prevent U.S. military intervention in May 1962, more than a year after the Bay of Pigs invasion.

"I want to make one thing absolutely clear: When we put our ballistic missiles in Cuba, we had no desire to start a war. Our principal aim was to deter America from starting a war," Khrushchev said.

When the United States discovered the missiles, Kennedy called them a "threat" and "America began a show of strength." "The Americans were trying to frighten us, but they were no less scared than we were of atomic war," the former premier said.

Robert F. Kennedy, then attorney general under his brother, visited the Soviet ambassador, Anatoli Dobrynin, in Washington and said the U.S. military was pressuring the president. "If the situation continues much longer, the president is not sure that the military will not overthrow him and seize power. The American Army could get out of control," Khrushchev quoted Robert Kennedy as saying. Life, which says it is satisfied with the authenticity of the Khrushchev reminiscences, said in an editor's note these remarks were "extremely unlikely."

The Russians finally agreed to remove their missiles, provided the United States would agree not to invade Cuba.

Still digging

TOENDER, Denmark (UPI) — Archaeological finds are still being made at a 12-year-old digging site, uncovering a Germanic township dating from 400 to 500 A.D.

Over the last 12 years, diggers have found 50 to 60 long houses, 150 cinder mines for extracting iron, about 25 mine houses which served as workers' huts, and 32 wooden wells.

"Payments were demanded from entertainers who performed at Hughes' hotels and from others who were offered Hughes' business. There was evidence of skimming, the system used to siphon millions out of the casinos in order to dodge taxes," the magazine said.

The magazine said Hughes ordered an investigation into his Nevada operations because of the losses and the managers of Hughes Tool Co., in a separate action, hired private investigators to check up on Maheu.

"At about the same time various agencies of the federal Nevada, Clark County and Las Vegas were all prying into Hughes' businesses," Time said.

WASHINGTON — Behind the insignificant small unit clashes in Cambodia, pumped up into major battles by daily new reports, the real worry of top officials in Washington are the first signs of a logistical buildup for a full-blown Communist This buildup of rice supplies in northeast Cambodia, not the clashing of patrols on the outskirts of Phnom Penh, is the key to the future of Cambodia and perhaps of Vietnam itself. If the North Vietnamese army can accumulate enough supplies to support a major Cambodian offensive, the big push is likely around next March or April. That such an attempt is now being plotted in Hanoi is not being kept secret.

pooped out months ago after assaults on Fire Base O'Reilly. Major Communist military activity in the more important southern part of South Vietnam (including the rice-rich Mekong delta) has been at a standstill since U.S. troops cleaned out the area.

war. If it succeeds in reestablishing Communist Cambodia base areas along the South Vietnamese border, the hot war for South Vietnam will be resumed with the North Vietnamese on the offensive. Actually, both the anti-Communist Cambodian government formed by Gen. Lon Nol after the fall of Prince Sihanouk and the Cambodian army have surprised everybody. Both government and army have displayed a patriotic elan all too lacking in South Vietnam over the years.

in the field, resulting in a low-grade war with no major action. And the reason for that, in turn, is the long-lasting gain resulting from the U.S. incursion ordered by President Nixon last spring. North Vietnamese rice supplies were so decimated that the Communists could not even contemplate a major assault. Accordingly, the North Vietnamese now are trying to build up rice supplies to support an army of perhaps 10,000 for a spring offensive. The Cambodian army, though well-motivated and enlarged from 30,000 to 125,000 over some six months, simply could not withstand such an assault from North Vietnamese regulars.

COMMENT

Causes Of Crime

Christian Science Monitor Much as we appreciate the enlightenment cast by the public opinion polls, we often wish that they could be more specific in their questions. This was particularly so when we read the latest Gallup Poll on whether Americans believed that social environment or individual criminal tendencies played the greater part in producing crime. Fifty-eight percent opted for society, 35 percent for individual tendencies and 7 percent had no opinion. So far so good. But we suggest that this still leaves the most important point untouched: What do people mean by social environment? Do they mean (to oversimplify) the slums or do they mean "permissiveness?" Do they mean that crime is bred by poverty, neglect, cruelty in childhood, or that it stems from the steady decrease in social, parental, religious and educational control and guidance? Both equally constitute social environment. Nor is this question, which, after all, must lie at the root of any successful attack on crime, adequately clarified by the latest full-length study, "Crime in America," written by former Attorney General Ramsey Clark. In this book Mr. Clark, arguing that crime stems from social failure, writes, "In every major city in the U.S., you will find that two-thirds of the arrests take place among only about 2 percent of the population. Where is that area in every city? Well, it's in the same place where infant mortality is four times higher than in the city as a whole; where the death rate is 25 per cent higher where education is poorest — the oldest school buildings, the most crowded and turbulent schoolrooms." But, while few persons would deny that slum conditions can breed crime, there are other facts which seem to contradict too facile a conclusion in this matter. First, if slums produce crime, why do the overwhelming majority of slum-dwellers never succumb to this temptation? Second, how account for the rapid rise in crimes committed by persons who do not and never have lived in an economically deprived area? Third, how also account for a parallel rise in the crime rate beyond the borders of the United States, above all in such socially advanced lands as those of Western Europe, in such a socially traditionalist land as Japan, and in such socially restrictive lands as those of Communist Eastern Europe? Again, while not discounting deprivation as a source of crime, it strikes us that the facts given above point to a far broader and deeper cause. They appear to indicate that a change in mental attitudes is the chiefest reason for the growth in crime. It cannot be said too often that men act as they think. Money alone cannot change this. But a deeper commitment to higher standards of personal thinking and behavior can.

ANDREW TULLY

"Now Liberal"

WASHINGTON — Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., who for years has made the pit of the House noisy with his exhortations on behalf of "the people," may have provided a definition for what might be called the "now liberal." It is by a recent non-action on Bolling's part, a liberal who is for "the people" except when he is living it up in the Caribbean. Comment on Bolling's passive role in defeating legislation to establish an independent consumer protection agency by the House Rules Committee is mandatory in this age of blatant social awareness. Although Bolling has been about as blatant on this issue as a body can get, he declined to interrupt his French West Indies vacation to fly to Washington and cast the vote that would have cleared the bill. The bill was defeated on a 7-7 tie. Bolling favored the legislation and therefore his vote would have sent the bill to the House floor, where passage was considered certain. But — no go. "I can't leave. I wouldn't do any good anyway," Bolling was quoted as telling a House staffer who pleaded with him by phone to fly to Washington for a few minutes work in committee. Bolling, 54, has been in the House since 1948 and has long been one of the leaders of the Young Turks who would reform that body's procedures on the ground that all that horsing around towards the people's will and welfare. He has written two books advocating House reform: "House Out of Order" and "Power in the House." His many public utterances suggest that any lawmaker to the right of Richard Bolling should be purged forthwith, preferably by some joker who can memorize Karl Marx. The carpeting in the House has often been wet by his tears shed for the deprived peasantry.

for reasons they claim are pure. New York's Javits, for example, votes exclusively the Jack Javits Party line, and the back of his hand — the Republican Party he allegedly represents. Bolling is one of those legislators who like to be thought well of in the Georgetown drawing rooms populated by limousine liberals whose only contact with the peasantry is as employer to employee. Thus I was not surprised to learn that Bolling found it "impossible" to make it for that vote on the consumer bill. It was, obviously, too ruddy inconvenient for the man. Such an attitude may be okay for citizens in private life who make no claim to a role in national leadership. But I accept no excuses from a Richard Bolling who for so many years has pictured himself as a self-sacrificing public servant determined to democratize Congress.

Guessing Game

WASHINGTON (NEA) — To understand what President Nixon is attempting in juggling men in the White House, the cabinet and the agencies; we must go back to the beginning. As a campaigner, Nixon learned from past failures. He had some highly skilled technicians. But for all his experience in the House and Senate and as vice-president, he did not come to the presidency with a large, very personal team of policymakers and technicians ready to run the government under his lead. President Kennedy did. He brought with him an extraordinary coterie of loyal Kennedy men. Every cabinet official and every White House adviser was a Kennedy man. Kennedy men, not Democrats, were inserted deep in the departments. Nixon did not follow this lead. At the start, not all White House staffers were Nixon men, and not all cabinet members. Department secretaries chose their principal subordinates or left Kennedy of Johnson appointees in place. Most of Nixon's own "political" appointments were Republicans, not Nixon Republicans. Nixon has fumbled badly in bringing his men together and he hasn't made clear what he wants. As a result, two cabinet secretaries may be working at cross-purposes, both at cross-purposes with some White House adviser and all three at different ends with senior Republicans in Congress. Nixon has set up a box full of White House coordinating committees. He has had a plethora of studies made on subjects of importance, some of which disagree violently with one another. Now there is a great void in having independent operations and independent studies. But there comes a time when these different threads must be pulled together into a course of action. And this decision must be crystal clear. An order isn't enough. A great many people must be in on the discussions and the decisions. And when several departments or agencies are working on the same problem, there must be an immense amount of cross-fertilization so that teams do not work against each other. Take the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), so important in U.S. foreign policy. By White House order, one high level interdepartmental committee has been working with West European countries, especially West Germany, to bring relief in U.S. foreign payments so troop strength in Europe will not have to be slashed. The committee had reached an informal understanding which could save the United States $1.3 billion. The West Germans, for one, would have taken over a greater share of some costs. More equipment would be bought here. Currency loans would be forthcoming. This effort was torpedoed by a White House speech (written by other Nixon advisers) which told the Europeans quite bluntly they should spend their funds not in aiding the U.S. balances but for building their own forces. What matters is not which approach is correct. What is important is that by this lack of coordination the solution to this pressing problem was made more difficult. The result? Key Nixon men don't know what he wants. They don't even know what the men around him want. They can only guess.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

The Same Cup

Dear Dr. Thosteson: This may be a delicate question because it involves a religious ceremony, but answering scientifically, is it dangerous for a group of people (I mean about 400) to drink from the same cup, passing it from one to another and wiping the spot they drink from with the same cloth napkin? I worry about hepatitis, tuberculosis, etc. Most of the people seemingly do not worry about this, and the ones who do are hesitant to pass the cup by, for fear of looking "different." This ceremony occurs several times a year at school, and as a mother of one of the participants I would like to have it cancelled because I feel it isn't healthy. Perhaps I am wrong, but if I'm right, I need some basis for stating my feelings to school officials. Can you contract hepatitis, TB, etc., this way? Does a private school have to follow public health regulations? —K.C. Well; yes, it is a touchy topic, but I'll give you the best answer I can. True, it is possible to transmit hepatitis, tuberculosis, or other infections in such manner provided, of course, someone in the group has such a disease. Religion doesn't provide total immunity from the laws of nature, as witness occasional outbreaks of food poisoning at church suppers, or in school cafeterias, or picnics. But if you ask me for specific examples of disease being spread by use of a common cup, I don't know that I can do so. The would be difficult to prove unless it happened to be a disease that developed rapidly and among a considerable number of participants. I've asked public health officials, and they tell me, yes, regulations apply to private schools just as they apply to anybody, but it is a ticklish and touchy matter unless a definite danger can be cited. There is a potential danger in a common cup, but it is not easy to specify how much danger exists. So it's a situation that is, for the most part, allowed, like a sleeping dog, to lie. I can recall, years ago, talking to some of the old-timers in public health work, and hearing them tell of their experiences in the early 1900s when people still drew water from neighborhood wells or pumps — and couldn't see any reason why they should switch to city water supplies. Such wells were known to have spread typhoid and other diseases, but many people could not be made to accept the fact. So public health officials very quietly went around at night and tossed some bitter stuff into the wells to make the water too unpleasant to drink. After sweet reason failed, that worked. I am not, of course, suggesting any such methods now, but some unhygienic habits linger on just through custom rather than reason. Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 10 and my fiancee is 24. We are fifth cousins. Do you think this is far enough off for marriage? He had mumps when he was 6. Can this cause sterility? Please answer as we are very worried. Yes, I'd say a fifth cousin is far enough removed. Mumps CAN cause sterility, but that is usually because the person is older when he gets the disease; very rarely at age 6. You're probably worrying for nothing. A sperm test can be done to determine his status. Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please print this because it bothers me. My sister-in-law puts sun glasses on her six-month-old baby, and I wonder if this does anything to her eyes. —N.W. No.

Mr. Hoover

St. Louis Post-Dispatch In the beginning was J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Through years of adept public relations and an extraordinary ability to manipulate Congress his position became sacrosanct. Presidents and Attorneys General, nominally his bosses, came and went, but Mr. Hoover remained. Then the Kennedys arrived. Robert as Attorney General, backed fully by his brother, the President, was the first Hoover superior ever to attempt to put the FBI head in his proper place, which is that of chief of the Department of Justice investigative agency, no more. Mr. Hoover fumed. Now he says that in his 45 years in office the only worse attorney general was Ramsey Clark. Mr. Hoover, 75 years old, is pretty transparent. Anyone who gets in his way is no good. Mr. Clark actually was one of the best attorneys general the country has ever had, and when he says in his new book that Mr. Hoover allowed his judgment to be warped by "his self-centered concern for his reputation and that of the FBI," he is doing no more than stating a fact that can be documented with little difficulty. Mr. Clark, who served under President Johnson, refused to tap wires and had a proper regard for civil rights and the rights of the accused, hence, in Mr. Hoover's words, he was a "softie." Mr. Hoover's troubles with Mr. Kennedy were of a different nature, he said in a rare newspaper interview he granted to denounce the Clark book. The main problem with Mr. Kennedy, he claims, is that Mr. Kennedy wanted him to reduce FBI standards to permit the employment of more Negro agents, which he stoutly refused to do. We rather suppose Mr. Kennedy did badger the FBI to hire more Negroes. And we further suppose he did not insist on lowering FBI standards to do it; after all, it would not be necessary. We accept Mr. Hoover's word that he is not prejudiced, but some of his Capitol Hill sponsors are.

Miss Sweet

The Oregonian We wish that President Nixon and Debra Jean Sweet had had the time to sit down and chat with each other for an hour. Each had many important things to say to the other. Each could have learned much from the other. When Miss Sweet told the President, at a White House award ceremony, that she found it hard to believe in his sincerity until he had gotten America out of Vietnam, she was doubtless saying what large numbers of young Americans feel. The fact that youth with its wonderful idealism, often underestimates the complexity and difficulty of great national and international moves, only made it the more desirable that she, as a kind of unofficial spokesman for youthful feeling, receive a heart-to-heart explanation from the President. On his side President Nixon, like any other older individual, needs to know better what is burning close to the heart of America's magnificent youth. These columns have supported and continue to support President Nixon's phased withdrawal from Vietnam as the best compromise in an inconceivably difficult situation.

Consumer protection bills due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration promised Sunday it would propose new consumer legislation early next year and urged "early passage" by Congress.

Virginia H. Knauer, President Nixon's consumer affairs adviser, declined to list the proposals but said they would differ from this year's administration bills, which Congress rejected.

"It is going to be all new, a new approach," Mrs. Knauer said in a UPI Washington Window interview. "The problems are the same ones, but maybe a new approach will break the logjam."

The administration's 1970 consumer proposals collided with bills by Democrats which most observers considered stronger. The impasse kept Congress from passing any major consumer legislation.

Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., sponsor of a bill to create an independent federal agency which would represent consumer interests, called for Mrs. Knauer's resignation on grounds she failed to boost any meaningful legislation.

Besides Rosenthal's bill, other proposals which did include ones to strengthen the Federal Trade Commission's powers, set ground rules for guarantees and warranties and to let defrauded consumers band together in "class action" suits against manufacturers and retailers.

The administration opposed an independent consumer agency, proposing instead that a consumer advocacy staff be established in the Justice Department. On "class action," the administration proposed that such suits be allowed only if the company has first been prosecuted by the government and convicted.

The administration endorsed some expanded FTC powers but opposed others backed by Democrats. The guarantee and warranty bill, passed by the Senate and endorsed by the administration, died in a House committee.

Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, chairman of the Senate consumer subcommittee, accused the administration last week of deserting consumer interests. But Mrs. Knauer said Democrats should have paid more heed to the administration's consumer bills.

"It all went down the drain and this is a shame because as far as we worked a long time," Mrs. Knauer said. "... that's water under the dam now."

"... And my legal staff and others ... are putting together suggestions for the President and we will be moving, I would think, almost in the first 90 days of the new year."

"We will come forth with new consumer legislation and we hope that this time around we will have early hearings and early passage and not wait until a lame duck session to get bogged down in technicalities."

Chrysler pact next

DETROIT (UPI) — United Auto Workers negotiators said they would ask Chrysler Corp. today for a firm, three-year wage offer similar to those won by the union at General Motors, following a 47-day strike, and Ford Motor Co.

The Ford and GM settlements will give UAW members who made $9,000 per year under the old contract between $12,000 and $13,000 in the third year of the new agreement. The union also won unlimited cost-of-living allowances as protection against inflation and $500-per-month retirement pay after 30 years service at age 58 in the first two years and age 59 in the final year.

Douglas Fraser, director of the UAW's Chrysler Department, also said he will insist that the smallest of the big three automobile manufacturers make its offer retroactive to Nov. 2.

In its tentative agreement with Ford, still to be ratified by the rank-and-file membership, the union won a 26-cents-per-hour wage increase retroactive to Sept. 15, when the old contract ran out, and another 25-cents-per-hour boost retroactive to Nov. 2.

In the Chrysler bargaining, both sides have set Friday as the target date for a new agreement. If no settlement is reached by then, the union would recess the talks until after the new year unless the two sides were very close to reaching an agreement, Fraser said.

In that case, he said, a strike deadline would be set after New Year's Day, ensuring that those of the union's 120,000 Chrysler members not facing layoffs would receive their Christmas and New Year's holiday pay.

Chrysler has not made a new wage offer since the one it made when the old contract expired. The UAW resumed negotiations with the automaker last week, following the tentative settlement with Ford. Fraser said some progress was made but added, "we are going to have to work a little harder" in the areas of insurance and pensions.

Ford workers started voting on their tentative contract last Wednesday. Ratification was expected to be announced early this week.

Success ...

CAMBODIAN TROOPS supported by American warplanes recaptured town of Battthey (1), 25 miles north of Phnom Penh Sunday, capping a two week drive to reopen land link to northern front. At village of Prey Totung, Communist pressure, was reported easing after two days of hand to hand fighting. (UPI)

Withdrawal program goal reached early

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command said today President Nixon's Phase 5 troop withdrawal program has been completed three weeks ahead of schedule, reducing the number of American GIs in Vietnam to 343,700 men.

It left the lowest number of American troops in the war zone since October of 1966.

President Nixon's latest withdrawal program had called for leaving no more than 344,000 Americans in Vietnam by Christmas. U.S. Command sources said 7,000 more troops would be pulled out by Dec. 31.

The peak number Americans in the war zone was 543,400 in April of 1969. Slightly more than 200,000 have been withdrawn since then.

Allied communiques said terrorists threw a grenade into a crowd watching television in Mekong Delta village Sunday night, killing four Vietnamese civilians and wounding 46. In another attack, a bus loaded with American GIs in Saigon was hit by a firebomb which exploded in the street without causing injury.

Field reports from Phnom

Penh said Cambodian troops had reopened Highway 6 linking Phnom Penh and the town of Skoun, the supply base serving Cambodia's northern battlefronts.

Premier Lon Nol visited the battlefield in the last hours of the fighting in which Cambodian troops recaptured Battthey to reopen Highway 6.

The Cambodian Command said eight government troops were killed and 99 wounded in the 12-hour battle. They said the Communists left 24 bodies behind and estimated 60 were dragged away.

The recapture of Battthey was achieved with the help of tanks and reopened Highway 6 to Skoun, the crossroads town and supply center 52 miles northeast of Phnom Penh. Battthey is 25 miles north of the capital.

Lt. Col. Am Rong, the official Cambodian military spokesman, said an estimated regiment of North Vietnamese troops today launched several waves of attacks against Cambodian paratroops and special forces at Prey Totung on Highway 7 about 50 miles east-northeast of Phnom Penh.

Am Rong said more than 100 Cambodian troops were wounded in heavy fighting at Prey Totung Saturday. He gave no casualty figures from later fighting.

Only one wounded Cambodian was evacuated from Prey Totung after Saturday's fighting. South Vietnamese pilot flying Cambodia's two operating ambulance helicopters dared not land because of heavy Communist groundfire that had already shot down one American jet in the area.

South Vietnamese spokesmen in Saigon said terrorists threw a grenade into a crowd watching television at Trung Hieu, 65 miles southwest of Saigon Sunday night. The wounded included 35 civilians and 11 soldiers.

U.S. military spokesmen reported the loss of two Air Force jets over Cambodia and Laos and the downing of two helicopters in South Vietnam over the weekend.

No crewmen were killed in the loss of the jets but one helicopter crewman was killed and three wounded.

Cambodian aid 'inexpensive'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Department officials see the current struggle in Cambodia as involving a relatively inexpensive form of U.S. assistance, as far as American money is concerned.

The Cambodians are keeping an estimated 50,000 North Vietnamese troops engaged in battle at a cost to the United States that is about one half of 1 per cent of the $30 billion a year this country was spending in South Vietnam at the peak of the fighting there, one Pentagon spokesman said.

The Pentagon's view of the situation was made prior to today's meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which is considering President Nixon's request for an additional $255 million in aid for Cambodia. There was speculation the committee would deny the request.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has told Congress that about 70 per cent of military aid provided for Cambodia would be spent for ammunition. Cambodia already was scheduled to get $85 million for military aid and $70 million for economic purposes during the current fiscal year.

Hughes aide says kidnap proof due

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Howard Hughes' No. 1 man in Nevada for the past four years says he will produce a witness today to back his contention the mysterious billionaire was "spirited away" from his "retirement sanctuary" in the Desert Inn Hotel.

Robert Maheu, who is waging a court battle to keep from being ousted as Hughes' chief Las Vegas lieutenant, said through his attorney that a witness has been found who was present when Hughes departed this gambling spa Thanksgiving — exactly four years after his arrival.

Maheu contends Hughes was "spirited away" from under his protection by security guards employed by Hughes Tool Co. of Houston.

Nine days after Hughes reportedly left for the Bahamas, the board of directors of Hughes Tool fired Maheu.

Maheu's attorney, Morton Galano, told Clark County District Court Judge Howard Babcock near the end of a court session Saturday that he wanted to call in an out-of-state witness.

"We have an eyewitness to the removal of Howard Hughes from the Desert Inn," Galano said.

The lawyer would not identify the witness.

Another witness scheduled to appear was Charles A. Appel, expected to testify that the Howard Hughes signature on a proxy used by Hughes Tool in ousting Maheu was "a duplicate."

However, Chester C. Davis, tool company counsel and leader of the group which fired Maheu, said he had a witness to the signing of the proxy by Hughes.

Maheu claims he was hired by Hughes and that Hughes Tool Co. lacks proper authority to fire him.

Vietnam bound . . .

PLACING SHIPPING label on one of 25 packages of Christmas trees bound for American POW's in North Vietnam is Carl Borelli, Placerville, Calif., restaurant owner.

He is aided by waitress Diane Wills. The trees are being sent to Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin, in hopes he will forward them to Hanoi. (UPI)

Auto buffs boost firm

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Stars and cars go together in a marriage which more often than not outlasts conjugal togetherness.

When a movie-television star has everything that money can buy—mansion, swimming pool, Palm Springs pad, harem and face life—what can he or she do to fill the cornucopia?

Buy an expensive foreign motorcar.

After all, movie queen and leading man can't drag around their pools or chateaus as proof of success.

So a car's the thing. Especially a Rolls Royce, Mercedes, Jaguar, Porsche, Ferrari, Bugatti and Maserati, or even a vintage Bentley.

Most likely will head for Vilem B. Haan, Inc.

This is a toy store for adults. It sells some 3,000 different accessories for vehicles of virtually every make and model.

Haan, a native of Czechoslovakia, and his wife, Zsa, began the business 20 years ago with a $35 import order from England.

With the holiday season approaching Haan's business is booming.

"Crested jewelry items are big at this time of year," he said. "Cigarette lighters, mugs, cuff links, tie clips, money clips, keys and such are very popular."

Mayor denies charge

Tuesday is Monday, Dec. 14, the 34th day of 1970. The moon is between its last quarter and new phase.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius.

On this day in history: In 1799 George Washington, then President of the United States, died at Mount Vernon, Va.

In 1902 the cableship Silverton set out from San Francisco to lay the first cable to Honolulu. It was completed Jan. 1, 1903.

In 1951 a gift of $10 million from Andrew Carnegie set up the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—This city is not the amuse-capital of the nation, its mayor insists.

Mayor Joseph L. Sisco, on his return from the national mayors' meeting in Atlanta, told newsmen: "This business about San Francisco being the amuse-capital of the nation is simply not correct."

In 1902 the cableship Silverton set out from San Francisco to lay the first cable to Honolulu. It was completed Jan. 1, 1903.

In 1951 a gift of $10 million from Andrew Carnegie set up the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

In 1953 a witness told a New York legislative committee at least $120 million of the more than $4 billion contributed to charity in the United States went to racketeers.

A thought for today: Washington Irving said, "Whenever a man's friends begin to compliment him about looking young, he may be sure that they think he is growing old."

there were theaters showing these kinds of movies within two blocks of its most distinguished hotel.

The Most Exciting Headache News in Years!

Doctors' Tests In Treating Nervous Tension Headaches Now Made Public

Non-Narcotic Tablet That Needs No Prescription Proves Just As Effective As The Expensive, Leading Pain-Relief Prescription of Doctors.

If you're one of the many who get tense, nervous headaches, these latest tests by doctors should be of the greatest importance.

In recent medical tests doctors proved a famous tablet that needs no prescription gives the same complete "headache relief" as the expensive, leading prescription of doctors.

These doctors' tests proved, beyond a doubt, that Anacin is just as effective to relieve tension headaches, yet Anacin needs no prescription and is far more economical.

With Anacin, headache pain and its nervous tension vanish in minutes. Despite its strength, Anacin is not narcotic. You can take it without getting dizzy or an upset stomach.

Next time take powerful, fast-acting Anacin. Anacin Tablets give the same complete headache pain relief as the leading prescription product for which doctors wrote 21 million prescriptions last year.

Riding course draws 80

CANYON, Tex. (UPI)—The eyes of the students followed every move of the tall, brown-haired girl. Her confidence showed she knew what she was doing, and that she had done it before.

But many of the West-Texas State University, coeds had never ridden a horse and the girl's instructions were very important.

Sally Schwartz, a 21-year-old junior animal science major from Cimarron, N.M., knows horses. That is why she teaches elementary horsemanship to 80 coeds enrolled in the new course.

Last spring Dr. Charles M. Smallwood, dean of the School of Agriculture at the university in the Texas Panhandle, asked Sally to help Larry Kasten teach the course.

During the summer the young coed took a 10-week course at Pacific Coast Equestrian Research Farm in Badger, Calif. She learned the advanced techniques of English riding, hunter and jumping classes, and the way to teach others. She was graduated from the course with an award for the student who showed the most achievement.

"Enthusiasm and eagerness are the keynotes of the class," said Sally. "I really enjoy teaching riding. It's a real thrill to see kids wanting to learn about horses."

point scale in animal science might pose an ego problem to men. Sally said she has had no problems so far because she has a definite philosophy about such competition.

"If a girl conducts herself as a lady and shows that her basic interest is in agriculture and not in getting married or in proving she can outdo the men in that field she should have no problems," she said. "Attitude is very important."

In high school Sally was president of the Rodeo Club, and the same year she was selected as queen of the Colfax County Fair.

Barker European success

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Lex Barker has spent the past dozen years as a vagabond movie star in Europe and Asia compiling a fortune and a stack of 45 truly mediocre (or worse) motion pictures.

Barker left Hollywood in 1957 bearing the indelible imprint of Tarzan. He played the venerable ape man in six films, and hardly anyone would allow him to forget it.

Barker, however, did not abandon Hollywood because of Tarzan.

He went abroad to make a picture in London—a film so bad he says he can't recall the title—and to spend three days vacationing in Italy.

"In Rome I came down with pneumonia and spent three weeks there," Barker said. "After that I had some good offers for movies so I decided to stay."

A tall, blonde and handsome muscular man, Barker was a huge success in Europe.

He made movies in Germany, England, France, Spain, Ceylon, Pakistan and India.

Granted, none of them were award winners. Then, too, he was frequently short-changed on pay day. More often than not his dialogue was dubbed in a foreign language by someone else.

"To my sorrow a lot of those pictures have been shown on American television," the actor said, amused. "Some have even run in theaters on the bottom half of a double bill."

"But I was busy over there. Work was plentiful for a long time. Now the situation is different. Movies business is bad all over Europe."

"Almost all the movies being made in Spain are by American companies. Germans are still grinding out sex films. The few German movies that are worthwhile are being made only for German audiences... to I came to Hollywood to do some guest spots on television and to let people in the industry forget the Tarzan pictures."

Stiffer pollution controls loom

Monday, December 14, 1970 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 9

(EDITOR'S NOTE) This is the last in a series of dispatches outlining the problems that may be faced by the 41st session of the legislature when it convenes Jan. 4. Today: Environmental legislation.

BY RONALD B. SCOTT BOISE (UPI)—Members of the 41st session of the Idaho Legislature seem united to adopt stiffer controls on pollution in the state, but say nothing in the White Clouds is a federal issue.

Of those legislators responding to a UPI questionnaire, nearly 100 per cent called for stronger enforcement of existing anti-pollution laws in the state and many suggested that new laws be written with "more teeth" in them.

Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, said he favors continuation of the program in the anti-pollution field made during the last session of the legislature. He said more attention is needed in air and land resource protection.

He returned up the general feelings of the legislators polled on the White Clouds issue by saying "I favor a general cleaning-up of Idaho mining statutes, however I do not favor legislation aimed only at the White Clouds."

Rep. Rudy Andersen, R-Boise, said of the White Clouds situation: "This is federal property — can't you all get off this thing?"

He claims that air and water pollution "will take care of itself under existing programs now established."

One legislator, who asked not to be identified, said he doesn't favor locking up the White Clouds. "Possibly a moratorium is needed for a period. We should build a road into the area so all can see it."

Rep. Edward Rice, R-Boise, questioned the value of legislative stands on the White Clouds. "Since it is primarily a federal project," he said proper legislation and standards with uniform enforcement is needed at the local level under state supervision to bring adequate controls on pollution.

Sen. John Mix, D-Moscow, feels differently than most of the legislators polled.

On the White Clouds issue he said, "Being realistic, I don't think the state would be a positive one. I think the legislature has a stake in this controversy from the point of view of what we should do if and when used."

He said the state anti-pollution code is "so vague and items regarding pollution scattered, there must be some consolidation. Short of that more manpower and technical equipment is needed and must come from the state."

Rep. Lloyd Dunn, R-Georgetown, subscribes to those same beliefs. He said more money is needed for surveillance and enforcement and more cooperation is needed from the courts and attorney general's office.

Rep. Richard A. Egbert, D-Teton, said "The state must provide matching funds to help with local anti-pollution projects."

On the White Clouds question, Sen. Edith Miller Klein, R-Boise, said "It is my thinking this is not a state problem and should not have been an issue of the recent campaign. Almost all the land is federally owned, and the state's power is purely persuasive."

To combat the problems of pollution, she said, "I believe the state is now making headway in alleviating the pollution, and these efforts should be continued and gradually increased. The problems of industry must also be considered."

Sen. W. Fisher Ellsworth, R-

Idaho Falls, said "I favor multiple use concepts of the state's resources."

"At present, the White Clouds are under federal laws and control. If a legislative stand becomes necessary, then I would favor it. The issue has been blown up out of all proportion for political purposes."

He said stricter enforcement of the state's pollution laws are needed. He said the state should continue assistance to cities with regard to secondary sewage treatment plants.

There has been speculation that a state pollution agency might be created in the state for control of all pollution, including some enforcement and judicial responsibilities.

As it presently stands, most of the laws, according to legislators, are weak, and the enforcement responsibility is scattered over several different state agencies.

The power to grant construction permits for industries locating near bodies of water or which will emit pollutants into the air, is presently not subject to the review of agencies which are primarily responsible for anti-pollution enforcement.

With public sentiment running high over deterioration of the environment and with pollution being a major issue of the most recent state political campaign, it is certain strong anti-pollution action will be taken by the legislature during the 41st session beginning in January.

On the recommendation of Gen. George Washington, Congress on July 29, 1776, created the Corps of Chaplains as a part of the Army organization. Before that time, chaplains had served in various colonial armies on an informal basis. The office of Army chief of chaplains was established in 1920 by Congress.

Optimism echoes sound anew along Wall Street canyons

NEW YORK (UPI)—Optimism continued to echo through the canyons of Wall Street this week.

"The attitude of professional money managers is bullish because they see an expansive economy," Leo Lancer, director of special studies for Bruns, Norman & Co., suggested. Tight money was responsible for the market's pounding in 1969 and early 1970, and Lancer said there is reason to believe easier money will have the opposite effect.

Chase Manhattan Bank, in its bimonthly economic letter, brought on a mild recession.

"expansionary policies of 1970 will bring renewed growth in 1971."

David Rockefeller, chairman of Chase, said the economy has basic strength and that once consumers regain confidence they'll begin buying again.

However, D. George Katona, a University of Michigan expert in consumer psychology, sounded one of the more pessimistic notes. He predicted 1971 "will not be a good year" for the economy because the wave of consumer buying the administration expects will not materialize.

For the week, the Dow Jones Industrial Average finished at a 13-month high of 825.92, up 9.86. The last time the blue chip barometer closed higher was on Nov. 20, 1969, when it ended at 831.31.

The NYSE Common Stock Index gained 1.43 to 40.08; Standard & Poor's 500 Stock Index rose 0.80 to 90.26; and advances topped declines, 1,065 to 605, on 1,865 issues crossing the tape.

recording and unemployment be no worse than the "penicetime" years of the 1960s.

Nixon said unemployment this year would average 4.9 per cent. He defined peacetime years as 1960-64 and said unemployment was not below 5 per cent in those years.

The government said it expected "real" gross national product to decline in the current quarter, interrupting two quarters of modest growth. But it attributed the grim prediction to the General Motors strike, and looked for strong improvement in the first quarter of next year.

Harry Laubacher, analyst for Walston & Co., said there is an increasing awareness that 1971 will be a good year. He looked for a rise in common stock prices, and said corporate profits by the end of the second quarter better be at least 15 per cent better than the year ago period.

In another development, a House-Senate conference committee is trying to work out a compromise of a bill that would protect millions of American owners of corporate stock from losses if their brokerage houses fail.

The Senate passed a version that would insure stockholders' losses up to $20,000. The House bill, passed earlier, provides for protection of up to $50,000.

Deannex effort halted

LEWISTON (UPI)—The Orchard Community Project has decided it would be premature at this time to seek deannexation from the city of Lewiston.

After a three and one-half hour debate the more than 100 members of the group decided not to try to remove the basically residential and agricultural Lewiston Orchards with its population of about 12,500 from the city.

The Lewiston Orchards was annexed by the city Dec. 16, 1969, after a two-year battle by the OCP to keep it separate from the city.

The members agreed after a long discussion that the City Council should be "given a chance," Howard Janson, OCP chairman, said the OCP elected six members to the seven-member council during a recall election Dec. 1.

Even though the group did decide not to seek de-annexation it vowed to rectify one of the troubles that the faction seeking to separate the two again used as its big argument—taxes.

The group decided to make its main goal the reduction of city real property taxes which have jumped sharply since annexation.

Turnover for the five days amounted to 73,890,693 shares, down sharply from the record weekly high of 92,282,690 shares a week earlier, but above the 56,954,350 shares traded during the year ago period.

President Nixon, defending his economic policies during a Thursday night press conference, said the rate of inflation was

Reagan seeks to block Nixon's welfare program

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan of California moved Sunday to block passage of President Nixon's Welfare reform plan during the fading congressional session.

Reagan, arriving here for the Winter Republican Governors Conference, released the text of a telegram he sent to the chief executives of all other states on Friday.

It noted the Senate may vote this week on amendments to the Social Security Act which embody the President's Family Assistance Plan.

"Unless these new proposals are provided to governors in sufficient time to allow them to be analyzed and evaluated to determine their effect on each state," Reagan said in his telegram "it is difficult to see how the senators can be expected to make a fully informed judgment on these highly technical proposals."

The California said, "I sincerely hope that you will join me in urging your senators to withhold their support of these new floor amendments until your administration has had an opportunity to apply and predict the effect..."

The President's Welfare Reform program has been rejected by Senate Finance Committee, but the administration plans to attempt to bypass the committee and push the proposal on the Senate floor before Congress adjourns.

Among other things, the Nixon program would provide a $1800 annual minimum welfare payment for a family of four.

Reagan has long opposed the proposal as too costly and contended would merely add more Americans to the welfare rolls.

Some Republican governors here support the President's program and have indicated they may seek an endorsement for it at their conference, which concludes Wednesday. Reagan told newsmen he will oppose any such move.

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI)—Governors, a group fractured politically over the administration's role in the last election campaign, is far from a partisan affair this year.

The meeting of the GOP state officials opening here today is certain to promote considerable dialogue in the Republican course to be set for the 1973 presidential elections. The administration was presenting its views through two key spokesmen.

Rogers C. B. Morton, the Republican national chairman, Maryland congressman and President Nixon's choice for interior secretary, delivers the keynote address to the governors today. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew closes the affair with a private breakfast Wednesday.

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI)—Gov. Don Samuelson of Idaho said Sunday that President Nixon was misunderstood when he appeared to dismiss the importance of electing Republican governors.

Samuelson, who admitted to seeking a post in the Nixon administration in either the Agriculture or Interior Department, also defended the assistance he received in his unsuccessful campaign for re-election from Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

He spoke as Republican governors from all over the nation were arriving here in preparation for the National Republican Governors Conference, which formally breaks the ice today.

The President had been quoted in Time Magazine after the election as dismissing the importance of electing Republican governors to a Presidential campaign.

Linkletters acquire land near Gooding

GOODING — Art Linkletter, famed television personality, is moving to Idaho — in a manner of speaking.

An unusually complicated series of real estate transactions covering three states and seven counties resulted in transfer of an 825,000-acre Nevada ranch for the Hill City-Bliss Farms, Inc., ranch near Gooding.

Jack Linkletter, president of Linkletter Enterprises, Inc., announced the transaction today in which Carl Anderson, president of the Hill City-Bliss farm complex will operate the former Linkletter properties in Nevada.

In addition, Anderson will operate the former Barton Ranch near Hagerman, and will maintain his principal home at Hagerman.

The transaction required the services of six title company offices, and simultaneous document recordings were required in five county courthouses in California, Nevada and Idaho. The principal escrow office for the transaction was the Title Insurance and Trust Co., Sacramento, Calif.

Hill City-Bliss Farms, Inc., was represented by Jack Gentry of Globe Realty in Twin Falls.

The new Linkletter ranch in Idaho extends from the vicinity of Bliss to north of Hill City, covering nearly 160,000 acres of deeded and leased land. The massive ranch maintains a complete headquarters complex at each end of the acreage, with the principal offices at Bliss.

In addition to the Hill City land, about 1,000 acres of irrigable valley land is located near Bliss.

Chiefs argue on vote

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI)—Republican governors conducting a post-mortem on last month's election disagreed Sunday on whether President Nixon helped or hurt GOP candidates.

Some who gathered at this scenic ski resort contended the President blundered politically by overplaying law and order. And they said he must lower his voice and emphasize more positive things if he is to win a second term in 1972.

But Gov. Ronald Reagan of California said he believed Nixon was an effective campaigner and praised Vice President Spiro T. Agnew — whom he said should be retained on the ticket in 1972.

"Not only do I think he (Agnew) was very effective, but he voiced a great many things on a lot of people's minds," Reagan said after arriving for the winter Republican Governors Conference.

Thirty-one chief executives plan to attend the meeting, which officially convenes Monday with an address by GOP National Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton and concludes Wednesday in a private session with Agnew.

"Some people have got a lot of steam to blow," observed Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon. "Virtually every governor agreed a crucial factor in 1972 — as it was this year — will be the nation's economy and the President must heal it or face

Hunter dies in accident

MONTPELIER, Idaho (UPI)—Allen Tolman, 29, Burley, was accidentally shot and killed Sunday morning while he and a companion were deer hunting from a snowmobile.

The accident occurred one-fourth mile south and three miles east of the Bear Lake-Caribou County line.

The companion was identified as David Hill, 31, Hoyburn, and reportedly the two had wounded a deer and climbed back onto the snow vehicle.

Hill was operating the machine as Tolman got into the vehicle. Hill reportedly had his gun slung over his back, when it discharged hitting Tolman in the arm and went through his head. The shot killed him instantly.

Tolman's body was recovered from the mountain area by Caribou and Bear Lake County sheriff department officials.

Funeral services are pending at Payne Mortuary, Burley.

Filer principal resigns position

FILER — Arthur Chaburn, Filer high school principal, has resigned, Supt. Tom Turner announced Monday.

Supt. Turner said the resignation as principal is effective at the end of this school year. Chaburn announced his resignation in a letter to the board of trustees.

In the letter, Chaburn said he has accepted a teaching contract for the 1971-72 school year at Filer, but will retire from the teaching profession at the end of that contract.

Supt. Turner said Mrs. Nancy Thompson has been granted a leave by the board beginning Jan. 1. She is an elementary school teacher.

Other late developments in the school district announced by the school board include authorizing LeRoy Floenoc, bus contractor, to use a larger bus for the late bus route to Rogerson, and granting approval to Mrs. Rufus Fields and Mrs. Wayne Lincoln, elementary teachers, to take their classes on field trips to Boise.

Andrus backs schools

BOISE (UPI) — Governor-elect Cecil Andrus said Saturday that money is needed for education as it is the No. 1 priority for state spending.

Addressing the fall delegate assembly of the Idaho Education Association, called to consider ways to add impetus to increased funding requests by the legislature, Andrus predicted the 1971 Legislature will approve a professional negotiations bill.

Andrus said he would not be able to surface with a figure to be used for education until the budget facts were considered. He noted no one could say whether the entire $16 million increase asked by the teachers would be available.

IEA Secretary Wayne York stated the 20 per cent of sales tax money should be no longer used for replacement of inventory taxes after July 1, 1971, but that "all of this 20 per cent of the sales tax no at long last be earmarked for education."

Chairman of the public school Legislative Committee Dr. J.P. Munson, Sandpoint, said they had broken down proposed legislation requiring funding as "urgent," "necessary," and "desirable," with 12.5 million needed "just to catch up" and provide improvements on present programs.

He listed kindergartens as the most important program. He said most education opposition to kindergartens has come from main line churches at the secondary level.

He added the teachers suffered from a "tunnel vision complex" and could only see the suggested $3 million appropriation in relationship to how it could update their respective departments.

In the final session Saturday, the delegates supported requests for more money. Most legislative proposals were adopted, including a total funding increase in 1971-72 of $24 million, two-thirds of which would be from the state budget.

Most recommendations submitted by the executive council were adopted, including support of hospital-medical insurance programs for public school employees, and establishment of a statewide student teacher program.

The teachers will stand for the State Board of Education and the Idaho Legislature to "take immediate steps to establish and fund a public school kindergarten program for every child in Idaho before he enters the first grade and make public school kindergartens a legislative objective for 1971."

Samuelson, McCall seek rail service

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI)—Oregon Gov. Tom McCall and Idaho Gov. Don Samuelson asked the U.S. Secretary of Transportation Sunday to consider their states in his rail passenger plan.

They signed a resolution asking Secretary John Volpe to reconsider his preliminary report on the basic rail passenger system. McCall said Oregon and Idaho were left out of the east-west passenger service in the report Volpe issued Nov. 30.

"It is important that our interests be linked together and that we also be linked to the East and West," McCall said.

The resolution said that "preservation of East-West rail passenger service is essential to the balance of the transportation system in Oregon and Idaho."

"Viability of the national rail passenger system and the national interest require the rail patronage generated from and to Oregon and Idaho," it said.

Jaycees plan orange sale in Burley

BURLEY — The Burley Jaycees will conduct their annual orange sale during the evenings of Dec. 14 through Dec. 19th. Proceeds from the project will be used for local charity projects.

LaMont Dudley, chairman, said the oranges will sell for $1 per bag or $8 per case.

Last year the Jaycees provided meal tickets at Burley schools for two months for children who otherwise wouldn't have had a hot meal.

Boise youth, 16, loses left leg

BOISE (UPI) — John Bolin Jr., 16, Boise, was reported in serious condition Sunday at St. Alphonsus Hospital following amputation of his left leg Saturday.

The youth was struck by a hill-and-run driver, according to Boise Police, Monday night at the intersection of Capitol and College Boulevards. Officials said the investigation is continuing in the search for the driver of the car.

A surgeon performed the operation Saturday morning.

Schools dedicated in dual ceremonies

RUPERT — Minidoka county's two newest junior high schools — West Minico Junior High, Paul, and East Minico Junior High, Rupert, were dedicated Sunday afternoon.

Dedication addresses were given by D.F. Engelsing, Boise, state superintendent of public instruction, for East Minico Junior High, and Richard Willey, ISU dean of college education, for West Minico Junior High.

Both men praised the new school buildings and the residents of Minidoka County for their continued interest in educating the young people of the area.

During his speech, Engelsing noted he was a former Rupert teacher.

Master of ceremonies at the dedication of West Minico Junior High was Doyle Lowder, assistant superintendent of schools. The invocation was given by Rev. G.G. Rausser, Paul First Baptist Church, and members of West Minico Explorer Scout Troop presented the colors.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR
I would appreciate your opinion of Kaweco Beryloc Industries which I have held since 1968. Shares have traded between 55 and 12 1/2 in that time and are now close to the low. Should I hold or has the stock seen its day of glory? —P.S.
In your place, I would continue to all right in spite of the discouraging price action of these shares. Reduced third-quarter sales reflected the disposal last year of a marginally profitable facility and a strike at the Reading, Pa., plant this year. As a result of above year-earlier levels, with net income up 19.4 per cent and sales advancing 8.8 per cent. Because shares have limited market following, better investment opportunities exist elsewhere.

Air pollution.

What F-310 is doing.

Great strides are being made in the control and reduction of automotive pollution by the automobile manufacturers and the petroleum industry, assisted by Federal, State and local governments.

For example, while controls on automotive emissions began only ten years ago, there is already marked progress. 1970 model cars emit, on the average, 80% less unburned hydrocarbons than did the models ten years ago.

The development of F-310* is another important advance. To our knowledge, F-310 is the most significant step taken to date by any oil company to provide a gasoline which helps reduce air pollution.

F-310 cleans the critical parts of dirty automobile engines, reducing total exhaust emissions from those engines. That means cleaner air.

F-310 breaks down and removes deposit accumulations in carburetors, Positive Crankcase Ventilation (PCV) valves, and other critical engine parts. It provides a continuing cleansing action so that deposits don't accumulate.

In cars with deposit accumulations, significant improvements show up after about 6 tankful of Chevron with F-310. Engines run better and exhaust emissions of unburned hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide are reduced.

Older cars are the prime offenders in causing air pollution. In California, for example, pre-'66 autos without emission controls make up 50% of the car population—but they emit 68% of the unburned hydrocarbons.

In new or clean cars, F-310 will not show improvement in performance nor reduction in emissions. But with F-310 these engines are kept clean, and emissions stay at a minimum—and that, too, means cleaner air.

Many competitive oil companies have made similar claims about the effectiveness of their additives in reducing exhaust emissions. But so far no one has come forward with independent test proof that we have seen.

F-310, on the other hand, is one of the most thoroughly tested and documented gasoline additives in history. Tests by several different independent research organizations have conclusively demonstrated F-310's exceptional effectiveness in reducing total exhaust emissions.

Following are three of the most recent and definitive tests in this continuing research program:

Los Angeles County Sheriffs' Cars.

In February, 1970, six Los Angeles County Sheriffs' cars (three 1968 and three 1969 models) were selected as representative of stop and go, idling, long distance and high speed driving. The cars had 30,000 miles or more and all had very dirty engines.

The cars were switched from a competitive premium grade gasoline to Chevron with F-310 and driven for as little as 678 miles and as much as 2,093 miles. Exhaust emissions of the cars were then measured at a government laboratory.

The results: Unburned hydrocarbon emissions were reduced by an average of 24% and carbon monoxide emissions by 42%.

Orange County Test. In March-July, 1970, a group of 53 vehicles from an independent fleet in Orange County, California, were selected to represent a cross-section of high and low mileage vehicles of various model years.

This independent fleet was especially well-maintained and had previously been using a major brand-competitive premium grade gasoline containing a highly publicized carburetor detergent.

Initial tests were conducted by Scott Research Laboratories, an independent testing company, to measure the existing exhaust emissions.

These vehicles were then switched to Chevron with F-310 and driven for 2,000 miles. They were then tested again by Scott Laboratories for emission levels.

The results: Unburned hydrocarbon emissions were reduced an average of 12.4% and carbon monoxide emissions dropped an average of 27.5%.

Pasadena Tests. In the Spring of 1970, 297 cars, using 21 competitive brands of gasoline, were specifically selected as representative of California's total car population.

These cars were tested for exhaust emissions by still another independent test firm, Olson Laboratories.

Then the cars were switched to Chevron with F-310 and driven by their owners approximately 2,000 miles under normal driving conditions, and tested for exhaust emissions again.

The results: Unburned hydrocarbon emissions were reduced an average of 13.9% and carbon monoxide emissions reduced an average of 11.6%.

The full significance of these results is: If Chevron with F-310 were used in all the cars in Los Angeles County alone, reductions of this size would have the effect of reducing these emissions by over 1,000 tons per day, or 365,000 tons per year, as compared against the level of emissions existing prior to the introduction of F-310. And projecting the same results throughout the state of California would have the effect of reducing emissions by almost 1,000,000 tons per year.

What remains to be done.

There has been definite progress in reducing automotive pollution since the first emission control systems appeared on some cars in 1961. However, more work needs to be done before the problem of pollution can be solved.

It will take the combined efforts of the automobile manufacturers and the petroleum industry, assisted by Federal, State and local governments. It will take America's best research and development capabilities.

*Registered Trademark For Polybutene Amine Gasoline Additive.

To begin with, the automobile industry must continue improving the internal combustion engine, and developing new emissions control devices to meet the stringent emissions standards of the future.

All of the oil companies need to continue to improve the capability of their gasolines to reduce exhaust emissions now. Also, according to the automobile manufacturers, the oil industry must make available unleaded fuels in order to meet the requirements of low emission cars of the future. The introduction at selected stations of Chevron Unleaded—with F-310—is a significant step in this direction.

Although no single development alone can solve the automotive air pollution problem, extensive and independent tests prove conclusively that F-310 is a genuine and significant contribution to air pollution control.

Cinderella Bengals cop share of central title

HOUSTON (UPI)—Linebacker Al Beauchamp's 25-yard touchdown run with a fumble recovery in the third quarter tied the score and gave the Cinderella Cincinnati Bengals

The victory gave the Bengals, picked for last place during the preseason, a 7-6 record and a one-game lead over the Cleveland Browns with one game remaining. All the Bengals have to do to make the playoffs is to beat hapless Boston in Cincinnati Sunday.

If they lose and the Browns beat Denver, the Browns would tie and go to the playoffs because they beat four teams in the division and Cincinnati beat only three.

THE TIMES-NEWS

Brodie, 49ers keep hopes alive by beating Saints

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—John Brodie boosted San Francisco's title hopes by firing three touchdown passes to Gene Washington and scoring on a one-yard sweep to give the 49ers a 38-27 victory over the New Orleans Saints Sunday.

Rookie cornerback Bruce Taylor insured the victory with a 92-yard scoring return of a fourth quarter field goal attempt.

Falcons run past Steelers

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Atlanta Falcons kept alive for nearly three quarters by their gallant defense, erupted for two touchdowns in less than six minutes Sunday to beat Pittsburgh 27-16 and all but end Steelers' hopes for a division title.

Vikings rip Kapp and Pats

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—The Minnesota Vikings interrupted former teammate Joe Kapp for two touchdowns and the momentum to beat the Houston Oilers 30-20 Sunday and clinch a tie for the AFC's Central Division championship.

After Beauchamp tied the score at 13-13, speedy Essex Johnson scored twice, breaking the tie on a 15-yard run and adding an insurance touchdown on a 40-yard pass from Virgil Carter. Horat Muhlmann kicked two 25-yard field goals and one 30-yarder.

Flanker Charley Joiner scored both Houston touchdowns, one on a spectacular 87-yard pass from Jerry Rhone in the third quarter and the other on a four-yarder from Rhone with 20 seconds left in the game. Ray Gerald kicked field goals of 46 and 31 yards for the other Oiler points.

Redskins batter Eagles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Washington's Larry Brown surpassed the 1,000-yard rushing mark Sunday as the Washington Redskins defeated the Philadelphia Eagles, 24-0 to end a five-

The 49ers entered the game tied with Los Angeles for top spot in the National Football Conference Western Division.

The upset-minded Saints led 21-17 at the half on the strength of Don McCall's one-yard scoring plunge and Bill Kilmer's touchdown bombs of 46 yards to Dan Abramowitz and 45 yards to Al Dodd.

Kapp, signed by Boston, after playing out his option and holding out in Minnesota, wasn't hit often by the famed Viking defense but was intercepted twice by cornerback Ed Sharockman and the Vikings converted both into touchdowns.

The Falcons, trailing 10-13, grabbed the lead with barely a minute left in the third period when, following a John Zook pass interception, tight end Jim Mitchell scored from 12 yards out on an end-around.

The 49ers had opened the scoring on a 30-yard shot from Brodie to Washington. Bruce Gossett added a 37-yard field goal, his 20th of the season, in the second quarter, and Brodie swept right end for a one-yard tally shortly before intermission.

Lee, subbing for the ailing Gary Cuozzo, pitched a pair of touchdown passes and ran for a third score himself while completing 18 to 25 attempts for 278 yards at frozen Harvard Stadium.

game losing streak. Brown, needing only four yards to achieve the ball-carrying milestone ran for 85 yards in 21 carries and scored the touchdown that put the Redskins ahead for keeps. With one game to go, his rushing total is 1,081 yards. Brown is the first Redskin to break the thousand-yard mark on the ground.

The Steelers scored on a 10-yard John Fugua run with 1:24 left in the first period.

Brodie, the league's leading passer, put the 49ers ahead to stay with 10:17 left in the third period on a 37-yard pass to Washington. Moments later, the 49ers fell on a Saints fumble at the New Orleans 39, and four of five touchdowns on the way to a 35-17 romp over the Green Bay Packers.

Also helping Washington to snapp the losing streak was Sonny Jurgensen, who connected with Jon Henderson for a 65-yard touchdown strike in the third period and scored himself from the one in the fourth quarter.

Curly Knight also contributed a 49-yard field goal in the final quarter.

One player who has taken his lumps and his boots during the Bears frustrating season, hit on four consecutive passes and, when he could find no receivers open in the end zone, scooted for a 15-yard touchdown run on his own.

The game was hardly a contest, however, after Dick Butkus and Ross Brubaker sandwiched a scrambling Starr and left him helmetless and staggering.

Hayes, who has now scored 40 points in each of the Rockets' three wins over Cleveland, connected on six of 10 field goal attempts and 18 points in the second quarter to spark San Diego to a 50-46 halftime lead.

The Cavaliers, who hit on their first seven shots, grabbed a 28-25 first quarter lead, but the Rockets pumped in 12 straight points before John Johnson scored Cleveland's first basket of the second quarter at the 8:37 mark.

It was the fight which got the Hawks off and running in the third quarter. Atlanta's Jimmy Davis and Buffalo's John Hummer got into the scramble under the Atlanta basket.

Atlanta led just 86-85 at the time. But, after the arena was cleared, Atlanta outscored Buffalo 9-2 to take a 75-87 lead after three periods.

Sanders captures Bahama Open in two-way playoff

FREESPORT, Bahamas (UPI)—Doug Sanders, a grizzled veteran at 37 who had not won a tournament since 1967, defeated big Chris Blocker on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff to capture the $100,000 Bahama Island Open Sunday.

Sanders picked up the $20,000 first prize when Blocker hit his second shot into a sand trap on the second hole and then missed a five-foot putt for a

Broncos tie with Chargers 17-17

DENVER (UPI)—Running back Willis Crenshaw punched across from the one-yard line Sunday with 1:57 left to give the Denver Broncos a 17-17 tie with San Diego. Denver trailed 17-0 at half-time but a career record 53-yard field goal by Bobby Howfield in the third period and a one-yard touchdown run by Clem Turner in the fourth put the Broncos back in the ballgame.

Sanders two-putted from 20 feet to clinch the title in this tourney, the last PGA event of 1970.

Sanders had to sink a six-foot putt for a birdie on the 18th hole to tie Blocker, who had burned up the course with a 66.

Both players parred the first hole of the playoff which was the 11th of the PGA tour this year. It was the second playoff of the year for Sanders, who had missed a three-foot putt which cost him the British Open against Jack Nicklaus.

Lee Trevino, who blazed around in a 65 Sunday as did Tommy Aaron and Dick Crawford to establish a course record, finished third with a 275 total, three strokes behind the leaders. The finish earned him $9,240 and gave him the official PGA purse title with $156,000, nearly $10,000 more than Billy Casper who did not compete here.

Colts cop title on 20-14 win

BUFFALO (UPI)—A two-ward touchdown run by Norm Sneader proved to be the difference as the Baltimore Colts clinched the eastern division crown of the American Football Conference Sunday

The Denver defense, dropping quarterback Mary Domres twice for 10 yards, pushed San Diego back to its own 7-yard line on the kickoff after Turner's touchdown. Charlie Greer returned the ensuing punt 11 yards to the San Diego 34. Quarterback Al Pastrana passed to Al Denson for 13 yards and 17 yards before Crenshaw scored.

Veteran John Hadl, starting for San Diego, threw a 63-yard scoring pass to Gary Garrison in the first quarter. The yardage on the touchdown put Hadl over the 2,000 yard mark for his seventh straight season. Denver defenders Paul Martha and Bob Wade collided on the play, leaving Garrison an open field.

Charger tight end Willie Frazier fell on a fumble in the end zone after running-back Mike Garrett failed to drive across from the one for the Chargers' second touchdown. The play came with 48 seconds left in the first half. Mike Mercer kicked a 42-yard field goal to round out San Diego's scoring.

Trevino, who went out with Blocker, played the first nine in 31, five under par and came back with a 34.

But Blocker refused to wilt under the withering attack from Trevino and the steady effort of Sanders, who was playing immediately behind him on the 7,008 yard Kings Inn and Golf Club course.

Blocker reeled off eight birdies and two bogeys en route to his 66. Sanders had a 68 and was hitting his irons with stunning accuracy.

Crawford, who came from Bella Vista, Ark., was alone in fourth place at 276. Next was Aaron at 277 and Gay Brewer was at 276 Dave Hill finished at 279.

with a 20-14 win over the Buffalo Bills.

The Colts will be the home team for a playoff game on the weekend of Dec. 28-27.

Bulach plunged over at 6:21 of the third quarter after John Unitas tossed a 31-yard pass to wide receiver Roy Jefferson to set up the score that put the Colts ahead 17-14.

The Colts scored first blood with a 32-yard field goal by Jim O'Brien after 5:54 of the first quarter.

The Bills came back as running back Lloyd Patz planned over the right side from three-yards out to put the Bills ahead 7-3.

Virginia defeats Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Rookie Charlie Scott's fourth 40-point game in the last seven outings was a big factor as the Virginia Squires beat the Utah Stars 112-109 Sunday night.

The Squires took advantage of a disastrous second quarter by the Stars to outscore Utah 27-7 during a seven and one-half minute of that period. Utah threatened several times after that, but Scott's shooting and rebounding kept Utah from getting real close.

The Stars, who were without starters Wayne Hightower and Donnie Freeman, relied on the play of little Mike Butler. Butler scored 21 of his 25 points as Utah tried to get back in the game in the second half.

There were a total of nine technical fouls called, with one leading to the ejection of starting Virginia guard Mike Barrett. When Barrett was ejected, Utah led 23-16, having outscored Virginia 18-4 at the end of the first quarter.

The Stars then went 5-31 in the second quarter without a field goal.

Alcindor, Bucks top Seattle

SEATTLE (UPI)—With giant Lew Alcindor leaping high to smack down Seattle field goal attempts and Oscar Robertson and Bob Dandridge chipping in 22 points each, the Milwaukee Bucks outscored Seattle by 17 points in the second quarter and coasted to a 124-107 NBA win Sunday night.

The Sonics, who lost center Bob Rule early in the season with a torn Achilles tendon, played the Bucks even for the first quarter. The teams were tied, 31-31, at the end of the period.

Then Alcindor, Robertson and Dandridge took over and the Bucks held a comfortable 68-49 halftime lead.

Pistons pin loss on Lakers

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Detroit's bench strength proved to be the difference Sunday night as the Pistons came from behind in the third quarter and then held off a late Los Angeles rally to pin a 103-100 defeat on the Lakers. Terry Dischinger paced the balanced scoring attack of the Pistons with 20 points while Dave Bing added 19.

Detroit, tired from a night night and the time difference, trailed 66-63 midway in the third period when they poured in nine straight points.

Cougars cop 119-118 win

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI)—Dave Newmark's layup with 108 that seven seconds remaining gave Carolina a 119-118 American Basketball Association victory over Texas Sunday night.

The Cougars led until the fourth period when a Texas surge put the Cougars behind 114-108 with 5:30 left to play.

Then the Cougars ran off nine straight points to grab the lead 117-114. Texas rebounded with two quick buckets to take back the lead and set the stage for Newmark's game-winning bucket.

...minds, three aces and two clubs. Should East duck, South would abandon diamonds, go after hearts and make three aces and three hearts. If East ducks, South would go back to setting up hearts. If East took his ace, South would make four diamonds tricks.

Jim: "I'm glad you said that the nine-of-clubs lead by East at trick three would probably lead to the defeat of the contract?"

Oswald: "Did anyone besides you notice that a nine of clubs led by East would probably have led to the defeat of the contract?"

Jim: "As a matter of fact, yes. In the previous hand, the nine-ace lead would bracket my eight so that, when he got in with his heart ace, he could clear the club suit for his partner."

Oswald: "I can't fault South for his line of play. Yet, if he knew where all the cards were, he had two better lines of play. The first line would be to win the first spade in dummy and lead the five of diamonds. Should East rise with the ace, South would be sure of four diamonds, three aces and two clubs. Should East duck, South would abandon diamonds, go after hearts and make three aces and three hearts. If East ducks, South would go back to setting up hearts. If East took his ace, South would make four diamonds tricks."

MISTER, if your ladyfriend comes home thoroughly exhausted from a shopping session, better check your bank balance. A student of mental matters says extravagance is more apt to tire a woman than exercise. It's worry, he says. When she suspects she has spent too much, her nerves act up, and that plays her out.

"APPROXIMATELY 80,000 domesticated hogs escape each year into the wilds of the Ozark Mountains," reports a Department of Agriculture official. Interesting. When I was a lad on the farm, we had an occasional chicken escape in a gunnysack. Couple of cows escaped, too. In trucks. Even a barbacked horse, a smart though dishonest old gelding, escaped once. But he came on home after awhile with a saddle he'd swiped someplace.

Senate spawns candidates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate is again the breeding ground for presidential candidates of the 'out party' — the Democrats who would like to see President Nixon a one-term tenant of the White House.

Those who will get most attention first:

Sen. Edward S. Muskie of Maine, current favorite to win the 1972 presidential nomination and 1968 nominee for vice president.

Sen.-elect Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, former senator, former vice president, 1968 presidential nominee, who is available but says he will not be running for the 1972 nomination.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, who says he will not run but is now rated close to Muskie and ahead of Humphrey by Gallup pollsters.

With lesser roles in the Senate cast are Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, Harold E. Hughes of Iowa and Birch Bayh of Indiana, each favored by only 1 to 2 per cent of the Democrats in the Gallup poll.

The ratings can and no doubt will shift before the 1972 Democratic national convention. They will be influenced especially by publicity and by performance in the state presidential primaries to be held in the spring of 1972. Although the Democrats made spectacular gains in the statehouses in the 1970 elections, they still are short of nationally prominent governors. Of the five presidents who have served since the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt, only Dwight D. Eisenhower lacked prior service in the Senate.

 COMPLETION OF THE new Gooding county courthouse is scheduled for January. The structure, being built by Louis J. Ellsworth Construction Co., Blackfoot, is located on Main Street. ## Low-key Brock winner, effective organizer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Richard M. Nixon smiles down happily from a photograph on the wall. Otherwise, there is hardly a glimmer of post-election euphoria in Room 115 of the Cannon House Office Building.

William Emerson Brock III is very, very low key. He sits impassively behind his big congressional office desk, shakes hands listlessly and talks so softly that at times his voice seems ready to expire.

Some who watched him campaigning a few weeks ago said he was too low key, that he would never make it. But others said the same thing in earlier campaigns, and they were wrong too.

"It depends on what you are trying to do," says Brock, tall, trim, and wavy-haired at 40, as he breaks into an uncharacteristic smile. "We have had enough arm-waving to last a lifetime. We've had too much shouting. I think the American people are ready for calm."

For all his quiet demeanor, Brock is an effective political organizer, one of the builders of the modern Republican Party in Tennessee and now the victor over Democratic Sen.

Albert Gore. On Jan. 3 he will take his seat as the junior senator from Tennessee.

He comes to the job touted as a strong supporter of President Nixon on Vietnam, which he is, but very little else is known about him nationally. Four terms in the exalted obscurity of the House have hardly made Brock a household word.

In many ways he fits a conventional, conservative mold — a well-to-do business family, business administration graduate, Chattanooga community pillar, energetic go-getter.

But Brock also has strong, independent views on such subjects as American youth ("the most underrated and misunderstood generation in American history") and the direction of American society ("there is a sort of sense of meandering"). He is not easy to categorize.

organized groups of civic leaders who brought about voluntary desegregation of lunch counters, buses and other public facilities in Chattanooga or blacks staged lunch counter sit-ins.

But he has voted against civil rights legislation on grounds it was unconstitutional. He believes such matters should be voluntary and left to local decision.

Brock ran for Congress in 1962 and won. He started with 30 supporters, the nucleus of what was to become an organization of 4,500 volunteer workers.

In the House, he has specialized in economic matters but in the Senate he thinks he might like to devote more of his energies to problems of youth and the poor.

Last year, he led 22 congressmen who toured colleges to learn about campus unrest. They submitted a report what was to become an organization of 4,500 volunteer workers.

Balloon housing growing

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — People who live in "envirostructure" houses shouldn't throw knives. Or stick pins in the walls.

Envirostructure was the project name for an undertaking by four former University of Washington students who were seeking master's degrees in architecture.

Their study involved the feasibility of housing persons in balloon homes — not the "up, up and away" kind, but vinyl-coated nylon domes which resembled partly deflated gigantic beach balls.

The pneumatic Igloo which the students erected on a lawn near the university's Architecture Building last spring stood 15 feet high in the center and was 28 feet in diameter. It was inflated by a centrifugal blower and anchored to a plywood platform.

Today, however it has been stored in a garage while Prof. Robert E. Small anxiously awaits some other students to take up the project.

The four who started the study all have gone on to new occupations. Lloyd O'Neil Bally, a Franchman, now is studying at Harvard; Oscar Mesa, returned to Bogota, Colombia, to take up advanced studies; Leroy Pardini is working in Philadelphia; and Ronald Tjernsden is in the Army. All four got credit for one-third of their degrees for working on the envirostructure experiment.

The four had explained that this project was erected to provide some standards and guidelines and was not considered to be the finished product.

But envirostructure may be the simple answer to mobile living. The balloon house weighs only 250 pounds deflated. It can be inflated in three minutes. And the whole thing can be moved in a pickup truck.

The material for this particular project cost about $3,000.

The balloon house was heated by an electric-resistance heater and wired for indoor lighting, but because of a lack of money no effort was made to install plumbing.

The main problem, according to Small, was controlling noise and heat levels because no adequate and economical methods for proper insulation had been developed.

Three hundred bunches of bananas weighing from 50 to 125 pounds each may be produced annually on an acre of land, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.
