Polish factories harbor riot talk

WARSAW (UPI) — Workers at the Zeran automobile factory outside Warsaw laid down their tools today to hold "discussions" about the food riots that swept Baltic seacoast cities, and extra police patrols, some armed with automatic carbines, were seen on the streets. (Swedish radio said new riots flared today in Szczecin and Slupsk and that armored cars again went into action to beat down the demonstrations. It reported Poznan, scene of the big 1956 uprising, calm).

Troops and tanks enforced law and order along a 200-mile front in northern Poland with orders to shoot on sight and indications were the cities of Gdansk, Gdynia, Sopot, Szczecin and Slupsk were quiet today but tense. The latest trouble spot was Szczecin and Swedish reports said demonstrators burned Communist Party headquarters there Thursday and that "many" persons were feared dead in the first. Troops used armored cars to restore order and eyewitness reports said one car ran over a mother and daughter. The four days of rioting killed at least a dozen persons in other cities, injured hundreds and brought widespread damage, looting and arson, including the burning of Communist Party headquarters in Szczecin and Gdansk. A traveler arriving in Warsaw from Wroclaw (Breslau), Poland's fourth largest city with a population of half a million, said the old city market area was cordoned off by troops today and military patrols were moving through the city.

Army denies spying

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army's civilian chief has denied charges Army undercover agents investigated three prominent Illinois political figures. "Allegations to the contrary are without foundation in fact," Army Secretary Stanley Resor said Thursday. Resor responded to charges by Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., that Army intelligence agents had collected information on three Illinois democrats, Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, Rep. Abner Mikva, and former Gov. Otto Kerner, now a federal circuit judge. Ervin contended Wednesday Army investigations of political figures had been conducted because they opposed or expressed doubts about American policy in Vietnam or Nixon administration domestic policy. Earlier Thursday, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said President Nixon "totally, completely and unequivocally" opposes spying by military services upon political figures. Ziegler also said such spying was "absolutely not going on in any way at this time."

Doctor gets health post

TWIN FALLS — A practicing physician from Shelton, Wash., has been named the new medical director of the South Central Idaho Health District. Dr. Wayne B. Carte, 44, a former Buhl resident, was named to the post, according to William Chancey, chairman of the District Health Board which takes office in July. Both Chancey and chairman of the current board, Alex Roemer, said Dr. Carte has been approved by both boards as qualified and highly acceptable to the local district. He was one of two medical men interviewed for the position in meetings during the past two weeks. Since that time, boards have reviewed qualifications and salary requests for the final decision, Chancey said. Dr. Carte will begin his new duties May 1, 1971 at a salary of $20,500 per year, Chancey said. He fills the post vacated last summer by the death of Dr. Luther Thompson. Since Dr. Thompson's death and until next spring, local doctors are sharing medical services requirements for the health district. Chancey said the effective appointment date was set in May to give the director time to close out his private practice in Washington. He is a graduate of the Buhl High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carte, Buhl. He also attended Idaho State University, Pocatello, where he graduated in 1939 with a degree in pharmacy. He attended the University of Utah for one year and graduated with a degree in medicine in 1946 from the University of Michigan and has since practiced medicine most of the time in Washington. Dr. Carte served in the U.S. Air Force during World War II as an air cadet, returned in 1950 and was discharged two years later as a captain. He has two sons and two daughters. Both sons are currently attending medical school. One daughter is in high school. As district medical director, he will maintain offices and live in Twin Falls. Chancey said one of the reasons the district was able to obtain the services of Dr. Carte is his desire to return to Idaho and a general rural area with good recreational and outdoor resources and a good climate.

Rupert man sentenced

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI) — An 18-year-old Rupert man has been sentenced to prison until he reaches the age of 21. U. S. District Court Judge Ewing Kerr sentenced Donald Ray McMillon on charges of assault with intent to rape. McMillon will be 21 in two years and nine months. Officials said at the time of the alleged offense he was absent without leave from his army post.

Trade barriers die in Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mr. President, I object!" shouted Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y. With those words he effectively killed any chance that Congress may pass restrictive trade legislation this year. The rhetoric will go on—perhaps for days more—but Javits' parliamentary maneuver Thursday on the Senate floor doomed legislation that would have imposed quotas on imports of textiles, shoes and oil and made it easier to restrict hundreds of other foreign products. Also placed in deep jeopardy was an attempt to revive President Nixon's $4 billion welfare reform program of Sunday called the most important children-related social proposal to face Congress "in our history." And put into trouble, too, by Javits' move was a $5 billion increase in Social Security benefits which would have raised payments for 26 million people by 10 to 50 per cent next January. But the Social Security bill has a slim chance of surviving. Javits' objection was to a procedure that is normally routine. When a senate committee amends a House-passed bill, its chairman usually seeks and routinely gets the Senate's "unanimous consent" to consider the bill intact. But one member's objection can block this, Javits objected. Without such approval, the Senate now must separately consider each of the 227 amendments the Senate Finance Committee inserted into the House-passed Social Security bill. One of those is the trade section calling for quotas. Javits is one of about 25 free traders in the Senate who vigorously object to the trade bill, contending it would touch off an international trade war of "historic consequences." After Javits made his move, Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., who has devoted most of the year—his last as a senator—to stalling committee action on Nixon's family assistance plan (FAP), made a maneuver of his own.

FBI nabs moonport caller

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — A man driving away from the moonport was arrested Thursday night after the FBI received an anonymous telephone threat saying Cape Kennedy would be blown up in a few hours. Brevard County Sheriff Leigh Wilson said in nearby Titusville, Fla., the caller said the FBI in Daytona Beach, Fla., that two cars loaded with dynamite and members of the Weatherman faction were headed to the cape and "after 11 o'clock tonight, the cape would no longer be there." A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said its security guards were placed on alert, but no unusual precautions were undertaken, and no search was conducted. The Air Force, which operates adjacent Cape Kennedy Air Force Station, also alerted its security forces. The man arrested was apprehended eight miles south of here after being followed from a space center gate by a NASA security patrolman, Sgt. Kenneth Brown.

Israel wants pact

By United Press International Israel may demand the signing of a formal cease-fire agreement with Egypt as a condition for resuming middle East peace talks, diplomatic sources in Tel Aviv said today. The sources said Israel probably will make a favorable decision on restarting the talks under the sponsorship of U.S. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring, but it "may not actually go back to the peace table before this precondition is accepted." Premier Golda Meir and U.S. Ambassador H. Waltham Hall met Thursday to discuss the possibility of resuming the talks. They were cut off by Israel in September after only one round of meetings because Israel charged Egypt with violating the cease-fire by moving SAM-2 and SAM-3 missiles into the Suez Canal along the Suez Canal.

"Golly, you mean you don't approve of my technique?"

U.S. cracks polluters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Announcing another major anti-pollution lawsuit, Attorney General John N. Mitchell today warned of intensified governmental action in the "whole environmental quality area." He led off his second news conference this year with the announcement that the Justice Department has accused the Cleveland works of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. of discharging cyanides and other pollutants into the Cuyahoga River. Filing 43 questions in a wide-ranging 40-minute news conference, Mitchell declared the recent controversial statements of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover had not stepped beyond the bounds of proper conduct; that he "sure as hell" is not going to volunteer to run President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign; and to his knowledge the President has made no commitments to anyone for a Supreme Court appointment. Mitchell also disclosed there probably will be a decision early next year on the intensive review between the Justice Department and Housing and Urban Development (HUD) over what action to take on housing discrimination in heavily populated suburbs. Mitchell, who appeared his coolest ever at a meeting with the press, neatly ducked several political questions on grounds "we in the Justice Department are not involved in politics." But the attorney general, architect of Nixon's 1968 presidential victory, did say that if he had to guess as to why the President nominated former Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, a Democrat, to be Treasury secretary, he would say it was because he is "an able man" and a "very strong advocate" whom "I'm sure will represent the President's programs throughout the nation." Mitchell was bombarded with questions about J. Edgar Hoover's recent statements, including his calling former Attorney General Ramsey Clark a "jellyfish," accusing the "peace pranks," Phillip and Denis Berrigan of leading a conspiracy to kidnap a high government official, and saying Mexican-Americans can't shoot straight. In one of his many answers to this line of questioning, Mitchell said, "I wouldn't try to impede Mr. Hoover's freedom of comment any more than I would want mine impeded."

Light snowfall blankets area

TWIN FALLS — Light snow, in most areas just enough to result in icy streets and highways, fell in Magic Valley Thursday. Ten minor accidents were reported during the day in Twin Falls and roads were generally improved this morning in the immediate area. Hailey listed two inches of snow with icy spots and some snow cover on U.S. 93 north of Shoshone. Idaho state police reported snow and icy spots between the Idaho state line and Contact, Nev.; 16 inches of snow at Wells, 13 at Ely and 18 inches in the Salt Lake City area. Snow was also falling in eastern Idaho and there was snow cover at King Hill but bare and dry roads in the Boise vicinity.

T.F. man dies in Nevada crash

TWIN FALLS — Larry Bob Albright, about 26, 1700 Fourth St. E., was killed late Thursday in a two-truck collision north of Winnemucca, Nev. Albright, who was a passenger in an Ida-Cal Freightlines truck driven by his father, Roy Albright, 58, Kimberly, was killed about 11:30 p. m. Thursday in the accident 20 miles from Winnemucca. The family reports Roy Albright is hospitalized in a satisfactory condition. Albright was graduated from Kimberly High School in 1963 and served in the U. S. Army from 1965 until 1968. He was a veteran of the Vietnam War. He was married to Dianne Rudolph in July of last year. Funeral services are pending at White Mortuary.

Blaine blasts probed

HAILEY — No new information has been received by Blaine County sheriff's officers on a series of explosions which occurred in late October and November in the Hailey area. Sheriff Orville Drexler said there have been no new incidents of dynamite blasts being set off in the county. He said explosions at the Liberty Gem Mine, a private reservoir in Quigley Gulch, and in Muldoon Canyon and at gate posts west of Hailey are still under investigation. He said officers are continuing investigating their dynamite from a Hailey business firm, but it has not been determined if the explosions and the theft are connected.

Medina admits slaughter order

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (UPI) — The commander of U.S. Army Company Charley admits ordering the extermination of the hamlet of My Lai, his attorney says, but Capt. Ernest L. Medina contends he was only relaying orders given him. F. Lee Bailey, the noted civilian attorney, told newsmen Thursday Medina received orders for the leveling of the Vietnamese village "at an intelligence briefing." Bailey made the statement following a closed hearing to determine whether Medina, 33, of Montrose, Colo., might stand court-martial for the alleged massacre at My Lai in 1968. The hearing was to end with more testimony today. Lt. William L. Calley Jr., one of Medina's platoon leaders at My Lai, currently is being court-martialed on a charge of murdering 102 civilians during Charley Company's sweep through the village on a search-and-destroy mission. Calley's defense is that he was following orders from Medina. Only two witnesses were heard at Ft. Benning, Ga., Thursday before the Calley court-martial recessed until Jan. 11 for the Christmas and New Year holidays. James M. McBrean, 21, a Long Island, N.Y., also salesman, testified that Medina's briefing stressed that "only Viet Cong or Guevara sympathizers were there (in My Lai) and anything left was to be killed." Thomas J. Kinch, 34, of Cape May, N.J., returned to the stand under cross examination and reiterated his testimony that Medina called off the My Lai mission with the announcement: "The party's over—that's enough shootin' for today." Calley, 27, whose life is at stake in the trial, said he "probably would do some shakin'" during the recess and might visit his family in Miami, Fla., in the interim. Bailey told newsmen Thursday that Medina had no intention of denying that he ordered the leveling of My Lai as 18 witnesses at the Calley trial have stated. He said, however, that the orders originated above Medina in the Army command.

GAVE ORDER... CAPT. ERNEST MEDINA, left, appeared before a jury-like hearing at Ft. McPherson Thursday morning at Atlanta, Ga., in which the defense has asked for a reopening of his case. Capt. Medina is charged with the overall responsibility for the My Lai massacre. (UPI)

Golda, envoy talk

By United Press International
 Israeli Premier Mrs. Golda Meir met with U.S. Ambassador W. Whitworth-Barbour in her private office Thursday and formally received the latest American note on resumption of Middle East peace talks. Afterward Mrs. Meir said Israel would return to the talks only after "careful examination" of all the issues involved.
 In Jordan, a Palestinian guerrilla was killed in a 30-minute flash of fighting in Amman involving a policeman.
 An official statement issued after Mrs. Meir's conference with Barbour gave no details of their discussion. The note delivered by Barbour was in reply to Israel's request for further "clarification" from the United States on Egypt's ambassador's remarks about the Suez Canal.

 Israel withdrew from the talks last September to protest Egypt's installation of Soviet missiles along the Suez in violation of the cease-fire standstill agreement.
 Mrs. Meir's comments after the meeting with Barbour were made in an address to a meeting of the National Religious party caucus. The meeting was closed to newsmen, and her remarks were reported by the Israeli State Radio.
 Mrs. Meir said the "issues" she was returning to include the "clarifications" Israel has received from the United States in exchanges of personal messages between President Nixon and herself according to the Israeli Radio.
 In Jordan, the Arab force team charged with keeping the peace since the end of the September civil war announced a policeman had been arrested shortly after the fatal shooting of a Palestinian guerrilla in Amman.
 Radio Amman said the slain man, who was armed with a grenade, provoked the gunfire by trying to disarm the policeman.

Briton begins visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — British Prime Minister Edward Heath arrived Thursday for two days of talks with President Nixon aimed at repairing the Anglo-American special relationship, he believes his predecessor, Harold Wilson, allowed to deteriorate.
 Nixon welcomed Heath on the chill, rain-soaked White House South Lawn with a tribute to the special relationship between their two countries deriving from "language, common law and various institutions of government, which began in

A crowd cheered and waved miniature British and American flags when the Nixons led Heath to a White House balcony to return the greeting.
 It was Heath's first official visit to Washington since he defeated Wilson in the June 18 general election. In a recent copyrighted interview in U.S. News & World Report, Heath said he hoped to restore communications between the two governments which he said "had deteriorated badly" in recent years.

9th murder faces Manson

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A judge turned down Charles Manson Thursday in his attempt to defend himself against the ninth murder charge brought against him.
 The victim in the latest killing attributed to Manson and two of his hippie followers was cowboy stuntman Donald "Shorty" Shea, 36, who vanished from the Spanish Ranch, where he held a part-time job in August of 1969.
 At the time, the ranch was the headquarters of Manson and his "family" and detectives believe Shea was killed and buried at the tourist ghost town. However, Shea's body never has been found.
 Both Manson, 36, and Bruce Davis, 27, asked Superior Court Judge George M. Dell at their arraignments for permission to act as their own attorneys.
 Dell denied Manson's request immediately, reiterating the findings of earlier judges that Manson was "wholly incapable" of defending himself.
 Manson said he thought the indictment charging him with Shea's murder was based on "hearsay" and was a "publicity stunt."
 "On the trial level, I think I can handle it," the cult leader said, adding that establishment

The Most Exciting Headache News in Years!
Doctors' Tests In Treating Nervous Tension Headaches Now Made Public
 Non-Narcotic Tablet That Needs No Prescription Proves Just As Effective As The Expensive, Leading Pain-Relief Prescription Of Doctors.
 If you're one of the many who get tense, nervous headaches, these latest tests by doctors should be of the greatest importance.
 In recent medical tests doctors proved a famous tablet that needs no prescription gives the same complete, positive relief at the expense of including prescription of doctors.
 These doctors' tests proved, beyond a doubt, that Anacin is just as effective to relieve tension headaches, yet Anacin needs no prescription and is far more economical.
 With Anacin, headache pain and its nervous tension vanish in minutes. Despite its strength, Anacin is not narcotic. You can take it without getting dizzy or an upset stomach.
 Next time take powerful, fast-acting Anacin-Anacin Tablets give the same complete headache pain relief as the leading prescription product for which doctors wrote 31 million prescriptions last year.

CSI given emblematic bird

TWIN FALLS — Possession of a golden eagle — alive or dead and mounted — is illegal, except for institutions of higher learning and zoos that have special permits for such birds. College of Southern Idaho is an institution of higher learning and as a result, it now has a second mounted Golden Eagle.

The college's basketball team, the Golden Eagles, is named after that bird.

Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president, accepted the mounted bird Wednesday in behalf of the college from Jay Bates, Boise, U.S. attorney's office, and Neil Argy, Boise, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Bates said the eagle, which is about five years old, a young male adult, was obtained by his office earlier this year in eastern Idaho near the Wyoming border. He said it was mounted about 8-10 years ago.

Bates said he thought CSI would like the bird, so he and Argy brought it to Twin Falls Wednesday and presented it to Dr. Taylor.

Dr. Taylor said the bird will be housed somewhere in the Commons, a new student union, library and administration building. The other mounted Golden Eagle, which CSI has had the past few years, is in the new gymnasium.

Bylaws discussion slated

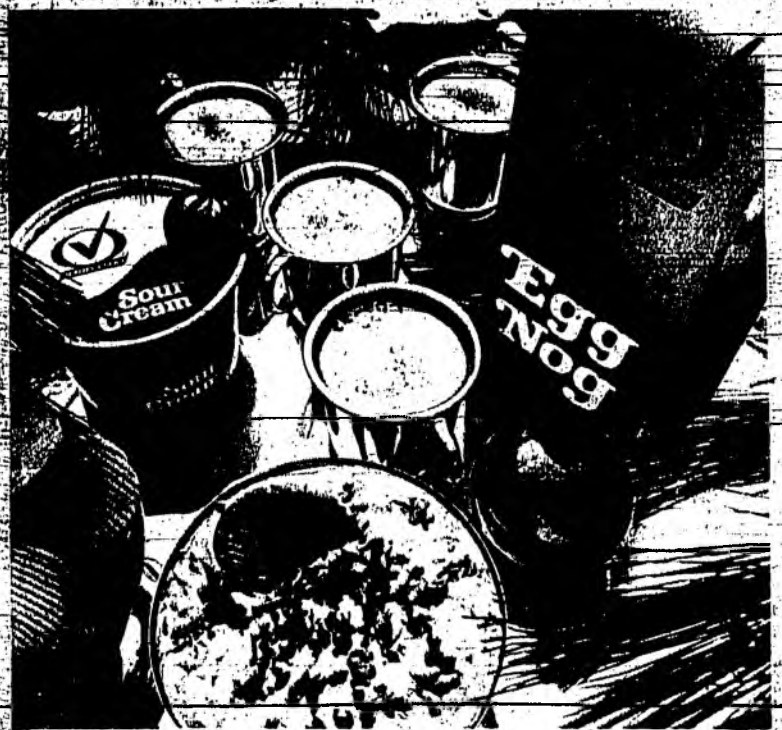

BURLEY — Each day care center and Head Start program in the area is asked to send two representatives to a meeting scheduled for early in January in Twin Falls to discuss adoption of bylaws.

The request was made at a meeting of the tri-county parents' advisory council Wednesday night in the Burley Neighborhood Center. The council is composed of parent representatives from the day care centers in Burley and Twin Falls, and Head Start classes in Twin Falls, Burley, Declo, Malta, Oakley and Springdale. James Montgomery, Twin Falls, president, pointed out the need for the parents' advisory council to be represented on the South Central Community Action Agency board, which administers all CAA programs in Cassia, Twin Falls and Jerome counties.

Council members also asked that speakers from social agencies and the medical profession be asked to speak at future meetings. They also discussed the local visit of Dr. William Frankenberg, Denver, earlier this month and suggestions he had made on how children can receive medical and dental care through the Head Start.

Winter Itch

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Starting the latter part of November or early December, I seem to develop an annual itch...

It's an old term and a pretty descriptive one, too. Probably the principal cause of it is dryness...

But add to that, we start up the furnaces in the fall, and unless we take pains to prevent it, the house soon becomes very dried out...

Some heating systems are equipped with water containers as part of the furnace...

There are also humidifier units that can be purchased. Try keeping the air in your house less dry and see if the winter itch doesn't subside...

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have noticed quite a few letters about dry itching skin. I felt I should tell you my remedy...

It is a wonderful lotion after a bath, also after dishwashing, and keeps the skin soft and moist...

It's a good lotion, ought to help a lot of people. It's essentially the same as rose water...

Prepared lotions containing emollients also are useful for folks who need something a bit more powerful.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you discuss a spasmoid bowel? What causes it, and is there any danger to health?...

It would take more space than I have to give you a really useful discussion. Instead I suggest that you read my booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints"...

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is aseptic necrosis? Our grandson has it and the doctor says he has large cavities in the hip joints...

No, not cancer at all. Aseptic necrosis means a disintegration of bone due to disrupted blood supply...

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is nevertheless vital to human life...

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them?

Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation"...

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters...

Coal Is Axed

WASHINGTON—The pervasive influence of oil in government councils is frequently reported, and so it should be noted that coal occasionally wins a skirmish...

There is, for example, the Army's unpublicized plan to convert about 3,000 coal-fired heating plants in Germany to burn oil...

Many of the hand-made coal-fueled boilers provide heat for military cantonments across Germany which once housed Hitler's panzers and SS units...

The heating equipment in the building is old and subject to frequent breakdowns. Not infrequently U.S. commanders have had to obtain expensive, hand-crafted replacement parts...

Two years ago the conversion plan was revived and the Army proposed the conversion of 8,000 units in Germany to oil at a cost estimated at $24 million...

Coal for the 8,000 plants has been costing about $22 million annually. Shipping and delivery costs inflated the over-all fuel costs to about $30 million...

The Pentagon put tight financial restrictions on the proposed conversions. It required that overall costs of each approved conversion—including fuel, transportation, storage, handling, labor...

However, the initial costs of the program were, in themselves, a sizeable drain on U.S. gold reserves. So the conversion plans were shelved, and the anthracite shipments continued.

Frank Discussion

Governors And The News Media

BY GUS KELKER Times-News Editor

SUN VALLEY—The running feud between the press and the governors—in fact between the press and all public officials—got a good airing here during what was without a doubt the best and best "hair down" type of panel discussion witnessed in years.

The national status of the panelists was enough to draw a crowd as they appeared at the National Republican Governors conference which ended Wednesday. Panelists were Mrs. Katharine Graham, president of the Washington Post Co.; Henry Luce III, publisher of Time Magazine, and William Sheehan, vice-president-director of TV News, ABC.

From the moment the discussions got underway it was evident that many of the governors were ready to start the questions and Gov. Ronald Reagan, California, popped the first one when he said he wanted to know how it was decided who wrote the headlines, often "deceiving and untrue."

mistake makers are not around very long in my paper. You just have to be sure you have a group of very competent and honest people and we just keep working on it. I think, though, you will not find a real conspiracy in this situation.

Luce broke in to say that "dedicated journalists have a professional pride" and wouldn't do this although he admitted there are some mistakes made.

Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, Pennsylvania, conference chairman who presided at the business sessions, wanted to know "what do you do about the journalist who shows malice."

Gov. Stanley K. Hathaway, Wyoming, asked if the separation of news coverage from editorialism was possible on television and was being followed as Vice-President Agnew had suggested some months ago. He also wanted to know what they thought of the Vice-President's attacks on the news media.

criticisms, all of which stem from one stark fact: an increasing number of people, of all shades of background and ideology do not trust us with the power we have, and do not believe we are either willing or able to fulfill our promises. And at least, in part, those people are closer to the truth than we like to recognize.

"Many of us in this business of news have been aware of this disturbing loss of trust even before Mr. Agnew's lecture in November, 1969, on fairness and objectivity. We saw it in Chicago when the overwhelming majority of Americans simply did not believe what the newsmen had said happened. We saw it in the Harris poll which showed that 72 per cent of the best educated Americans are most distrustful of the news."

"We saw it after the vice-president's attack in a flood of mail, almost evangelical in fervor, which said in effect 'yes, yes, we know it all along. You are not telling us the truth. And however we console ourselves with the notion that this is simply the reaction to the bearer of ill-tidings, we know it is more than that. We know that there has been a serious erosion of public trust in the press."

MR. SHEEHAN: "I think the last campaign was television's worst hour in the manner that television was used by the candidates. 'I would hope that in the seventies that the art of political campaigning on TV will rise from the depth it reached in 1970. Television should do more than make a name a household word. A candidate should not be allowed to sell himself like an underarm deodorant spray. 'My personal view is that the spot selling of a candidate should be restricted and the minimum subjected to some kind of scrutiny; that the FCC imposes on television prohibitions against such things as 'I don't believe we've destroyed reading, discouraged conversation or lowered the intellectual or moral standards. There will be more television, not less. More variety of programming, more specialized programming and more television aimed at smaller chunks of the audience. 'On the news side there will be more time available for televising live events and I would hope—more and significant participation in the process of government—not just during campaigns but on a day by day basis as well."

MR. SPECTATOR

Sun Valley Happening

Sun Valley, where many a titled personage has been entertained in years past and in near-years, was never more high in its true element than during the Republican Governors' Conference just completed.

And the highlight just had to be the State Dinner at which the speaker was the Vice-President of the United States. As the nation's second highest chief executive looked on, an Indian Princess, Tena Manning, gave the Lord's Prayer in sign language. And then the National Anthem was played by the Sun Valley orchestra and everyone sang. It gave you a wonderful feeling. It made you feel like an American ought to feel.

The entire conference, set in the winter wonderland area of Idaho, was well worth the work and the effort. The some 30 governors who attended are now — to a man — walking advertisements for Idaho. Governor Don Samuelson saw to that.

But in today's column Mr. Spectator would just like to look back for a few moments at some of the things that catch the mind of a person who spends five days "communing" with the governors. Not important things, perhaps, but things that cling.

For instance: Interesting to note that Senator John Barker was the only Twin Falls county legislator registered at the conference.

The snow was everywhere — white, beautiful, deep and weighing down the pine tree branches. Most loved it — but visitors without snow boots lamented.

You could sleep with no fear — because there were at least 80 security men and police here or there at all times.

Photographers were all over the place and the much-photographed governors never batted an eye nor paid any attention to them as they went into the discussions. Visitors seen them so many times on TV and in newspaper pictures that they looked like old home week.

Many Van Oot running all over the place with two helpers lugging some 800 pounds of TV equipment shipped in from the

The business meetings — open to the press and other interested people — were crowded all the time. The discussions were sometime frank — to say the least.

Orval Hansen, Idaho's second district congressman, looking to Mr. Spectator to get him an auto ride to Twin Falls to catch a jet ride back to Washington. Mission was accomplished through cooperation of state police who were accompanying other nationally known figures back and forth between the Twin Falls City-County Airport and Sun Valley.

Reporters there from all 50 states and representing several score newspapers.

C.D. Ward, assistant to the Vice-President, Washington D.C. engaging in extremely interesting conversation at our table during the State dinner.

A good assortment of long sideburns, full or partial beards, long and short hair in view at all times. All on male journalists, of course.

And Bill Janss, the likeable owner of Sun Valley, looking pleased as punch.

And why not? The governors — right before everyone — had told all that the conference was the best one the Republican governors ever had.

In fact Gov. Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania, told the banquet goers that he was having a most difficult time getting his daughter to agree to go back home.

She loved Sun Valley and Idaho — and who doesn't? And we almost forgot: We have been a lot of places through the years. During all that time we got into — and out of — formal affairs by wearing just a dark business suit.

This time the State Dinner planners called for "black tie" dress for the men. So, for the first time in our life we wore a "tux." We rented it in Twin Falls, hauled it up to Sun Valley, wore it, hauled it back and took it back to where we rented it.

This bit of "formal" action cost us $12.50 out of our own pocket. With this sort of devotion to duty we fail to figure out how Spiro Agnew can be so critical of the news media!

"We must rely on the people we hire," she said. "We must rely on their judgement. Mistakes are made but constant

Samuelson, aide shout

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI) — Attorney General Robert M. Robson stormed from a Land Board meeting Thursday after a shouting argument with Gov. Don Samuelson over the legal implications of a cottage site lease.

Robson and Samuelson became embroiled in an argument over the meaning of a phrase "subject to subdivision" on the bottom of a 10-year lease now held by Charles Winkler of Council on nine and one-half acres of land along the shore of Payette Lakes at McCall.

After discussing a proposed assignment of the lease and possible subdivision of the land the board finally, on motion of Auditor Joe R. Williams, voted to hold up the question for legal study.

Winkler still has eight years to go on his 10-year lease. The state has received several petitions to subdivide the land.

Subsequent receipt of the petition—Boise attorney J. Charles Blanton worked out a tentative deal with Winkler to take over the lease and work out—subject to Land Board approval—subdivision of the land into about four lots.

Blanton contends that four is the total number into which the land can be subdivided on an ecological sound basis.

Prior to Blanton's appearance Thursday morning, Perc Shellen of McCall told the board he felt the land could be subdivided into eight or nine lots.

Samuelson said he felt Blanton should be taken care of in his desire since he had worked out a deal with Winkler. But he said it was up to the land board to decide on further subdivision of the property.

It was at this point that Robson and Samuelson, both Republicans, got into the argument.

Robson told the governor—who appointed him attorney general two years ago when Allan Shepard resigned to step up to the Supreme Court bench—that legally Winkler could lease the land for the remaining eight years of the lease.

Samuelson disagreed and after a sharp exchange of words Robson jumped up from the table and walked out of the room, slamming the door behind him.

"All right, you go ahead," Robson said, angrily, as he stomped from the room; his face florid.

It was the first time since the late 50's and early 60's when Frank Benson was attorney general that a member of the Land Board has left a meeting in that manner.

In those days, Benson, a Democrat, became embroiled in when then Gov. Robert E. Smylie, and he would leave the room in a huff. In Thursday's case both men were Republicans and, both, incidentally, were defeated in election bids Nov. 3.

Earlier, the board voted to ask the next legislature for funds to pay $18,700 in routine and emergency forest fire bills from the 1969 and 1970 seasons. They also voted to get new appraisals on the Tuberculosis and Chest Hospital at Gooding with an eye toward selling the property and approved 1971 calendar budgets for two timber protection associations.

Toy danger surveyed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With Christmas just a week away, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) faced new criticism today for failing to ban allegedly dangerous toys, despite a survey minimizing toy hazards.

The FDA released a survey of 100,000 accidental injuries Thursday in a press release emphasizing that fewer than 1 per cent of them were associated with "toy products such as homemaker items, dolls, stuffed animals, chemistry sets and molding equipment."

The release even quoted a Dec. 11 speech by Deputy FDA Commissioner James D. Grant.

"Given this low incidence of serious toy injuries, we at FDA must address ourselves to the question of whether or not this is a situation more amenable to effective consumer education with only vigorous enforcement against those toys which produce particular hazards," Grant said.

An FDA source acknowledged the release was intended partly to counter criticism from Consumers Union, which has accused the FDA of failing to enforce the Toy Safety Act and has sued the agency in an action seeking a ban on eight allegedly hazardous toys.

Instead the report prompted new criticism from the consumer group.

School foregoes Santa

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI)—In the Princeton regional school system, there is no Santa Claus.

This Christmas season, the school board enforced a ruling of several years standing that bans celebration of religious holidays in school.

Barred at the schoolhouse door were mistletoe, holiday tinsel, Christmas trees, Hanukkah candles and even Santa Claus.

The ban is intended to improve the children's education by eliminating from school hours experiences they are going through at home, according to school Superintendent Philip E. McPherson.

"We don't think the function of a school is to engage in repetitive experiences," he said. "If we're merely observing a holiday, we don't think that's our business."

The extent of the ban became generally known only last week, when an elementary school principal asked a teacher to take down a paper Santa Claus from classroom bulletin board. The Santa was replaced by a secular snowman.

Mother stays in WASHINGTON (UPI)—An Air Force nurse who gave birth to a child out of wedlock remained in the service today under an order issued by U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Douglas ordered the air force Thursday to give Capt. Susan R. Struck, 26, a native of Louisville, Ky., more time to continue her legal efforts to remain on duty. The Air Force had planned to discharge Miss Struck at midnight Thursday.

Runs again...

CHICAGO MAYOR Richard Daley announced he will seek reelection for an unprecedented fifth term. The announcement was not a surprise as the 63-year-old Daley has never shown any inclination toward retirement. (UPI)

Marijuana lingers on

WASHINGTON (UPI) — rapid heart beat, reddening of the eyes, drowsiness, hunger and difficulty in coordination.

Highly technical and cautionary, the report concluded that this compound, Delta-9-THC, and the chemical epinoffs or metabolites it produces in the body "persist in humans for long periods." It indicated they accumulate in tissues with chronic use.

"It may explain in part the phenomenon of 'reverse tolerance' seen in chronic users of marijuana," the study said.

The case of Delta-9-THC injected in the volunteers was only one-tenth the amount of the compound found in a marijuana cigarette. This was not enough to produce the physical effects of marijuana, Koplin said, because "we were interested in the effects of the body on the drug; not the drug on the body."

"All we are saying is that marijuana is not metabolized in man as quickly as it is in animals," he said. "It stays around longer in man. So the possibility of a cumulative effect exists."

Crash kills brave pilot

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (UPI)—When Michael J. W. Young told his flight instructor, Larry Willard, he planned to fly home to Indiana for Christmas from New Mexico, Willard warned him about making the trip.

"It was a pretty big chunk for a student to take on his first real long cross-country flight," Willard, of Artesia, N.M., said. "I told him—the country back there (in the East) is much more populated and has shorter visibility than here."

"I thought he was biting off a big chunk," Willard did not point out that his young student's logs were paralyzed.

Young and two passengers took off Wednesday from Artesia, en route for the Wabash County, Ind., airport.

Their flight ended Thursday in a crash at the east edge of this south-central Illinois community.

Killed with Young, 27, a senior at the College of Artesia, were Young's half-brother, Robert J. Dubois, 21, Roann, Ind., a former student at the Artesia school, and Carl F. Fields, 22, Urbana, Ind.

Young lost the use of his legs in a jeep accident in Korea and got around the campus in a wheelchair. He was to have graduated in May. He was half-owner in an Artesia automotive speed shop and was determined to fly.

He began taking lessons with Willard last February, got his license in El Paso, Tex., Dec. 13—four days before the crash—and had just over 100 hours of flight time logged when he took off on the cross-country trip.

Willard said the plane—a blue and white Cherokee 140—had hand controls to operate the rudders so Young could maintain control. Willard said he suggested that Young stop for fuel in Oklahoma City, Okla., and St. Louis, Mo. before the final leg to the Indianapolis, Ind., area and the Wabash County airport.

Nixon hopes for corn blight cure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon says he is certain government scientists will be able to find a cure for the corn blight which has already cut the size of the 1970 crop by an estimated 15 per cent.

Nixon made the comment Thursday during a brief visit to a government research center at Beltsville, Md., where 23 farm and trade groups are meeting to talk about the blight situation.

Nixon also took the occasion to praise American agriculture as the most productive in the world, saying "the American public owes the farmer a great debt of gratitude, a debt that is often not adequately reflected in farm income."

Nixon picked up an ear of corn at one point and predicted a cure for the blight would be found. Other government officials, however, were giving the conference a less clear picture of the future.

Party cheers retarded kids

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI)—For weeks the 26 children at the Association of Retarded Children Center here worked on presents for their mothers and fathers.

Seemingly overwhelmed by the immediate response from listeners and by people all over the state who had read about the theft in their newspapers.

Earlier this week thieves stole all the crude little handwork gifts, two record players, and a television set which had been used in the therapy program for the children.

But the theft has brought an outpouring of love and gifts for the children, ranging in age from three to 12.

Safeway stores in Oakland sent him a telegram asking how much it would cost to replace everything that was stolen. Another company in Los Angeles called to say it was sending 26 wrapped gifts. A discount house donated a record player. A department store sent toys. Cash donations were coming from many individuals.

Gary R. Fuller, manager of radio station KAPV, said he had never had anything touch him so much. Fuller and his employers began a campaign to replace the stolen equipment and to get new gifts to replace the ones taken.

Fuller said Thursday he had

"It makes me believe there is a true Christmas feeling," said Fuller.

"Of course, we can't replace the gifts that the children made themselves for their parents and for each other. And it's been awfully tough trying to explain something like this to them."

Seek holiday ...

COMMITTEE of leaders of Congress and civil rights organizations renewed a drive to have the Jan. 15 birthday of the late Martin Luther King declared a national holiday. At a news conference, Mrs. Coretta Scott King, his widow, said she was willing to give up his life for the sake of civil rights. (UPI)

Agnew, governors establish truce

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI)— Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who says he doesn't want to be "bland," held an uneasy truce with disgruntled Republican governors today after "a very open session" about his campaigning tactics.

Agnew acknowledged he was "rather partisan in my attacks" against "obstructionists" during the 1970 elections and announced "I intend to do that in the future."

"I don't feel that I have conducted the kind of campaign that needs any particular change," Agnew told newsmen after huddling for two and one half hours Wednesday with 21 GOP governors—several of whom had recently criticized the vice president's aggressive politicking.

Agnew said there were no apologies at the meeting— "none were asked and none were offered."

"I've never subscribed to the fact," Agnew said, "that a vice president, representing the President, is supposed to be a bland, totally nonoutspoken type person."

"The reason the vice president handles the political chore," he continued, "is so that the President will not have to undertake the highly partisan activity that someone has to undertake from a national position."

The meeting ended the annual winter Republican Governors' Conference.

Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon, who had described Agnew's Tuesday night address to the governors as a "rotten, bigoted little speech," said he was gratified at the constructive standpoint, the meeting was a healthy thing. The vice president listened and was receptive.

Gov. William G. Milliken of Michigan, who had said "I don't think the vice president's speech did very much to bring the Republican governors together," asserted "from our standpoint, the meeting was a healthy thing. The vice president listened and was receptive."

Agnew in the Tuesday speech told losing governors to stop carping at the administration's campaigning tactics.

He also defended his methods by declaring "What is an election if it is not an attempt to divide the voters of the country between two or three candidates?"

Agnew acknowledged Wednesday "the emphasis" in his speech "was in the wrong direction in several cases."

But after the meeting, the vice president said he and the governors were now "united and dedicated in our attempts to move forward together."

The governors' final act was to adopt a resolution urging Nixon to centralize liaison between the White House and the state houses in the vice president's office.

Chair lift okayed

FAIRFIELD — A new 900-skiers-per-hour chair lift at Soldier Mountain Ski Area north of Fairfield has passed inspection by U. S. Forest Service engineers and the area is set to open this weekend.

The inspection required more than 21,000 pounds of sand, sacked and loaded into chairs on the uphill side of the 123-chair lift. Each uphill chair was loaded with sacks weighing 374 pounds, above the weight load normal for the two-person chairs. Jim Simpson, civil engineer for the Sawtooth National Forest headquarters in Twin Falls, said the anti-slip-back device and brakes were checked halfway through the loading and rechecked after all 57 uphill chairs were loaded.

The auxiliary power unit, an industrial engine, also was checked to determine if it will pull a full load of skiers. The regular power source, a generator run by an electric engine, also was checked out, Simpson said.

The chairs travel at 450 feet per minute up the 3,740-foot slope covered by the chair lift. The Swiss made lift has 18 towers which begin at the bottom center weight cast from 13,000 pounds of concrete.

The replacement of other lifts with the chair lift has opened about double the number of runs which the area had in the past, Soldier Mountain personnel said. The J-bar and a rope tow, for use by beginner skiers and ski school students, are still at the area.

Other improvements new this year include an enlarged parking area and the construction of rest rooms at the base of the chair lift.

Participating in the inspection were Simpson, Jay Commander, also a civil engineer with the Twin Falls Forest Service Office, and Bill Turner, forest service engineer from Ogden, Utah.

Owners of Soldier Mountain are Leavell Hanson, who did a major share of lift construction, Sten Frostenson and Robert Frostenson, all Fairfield.

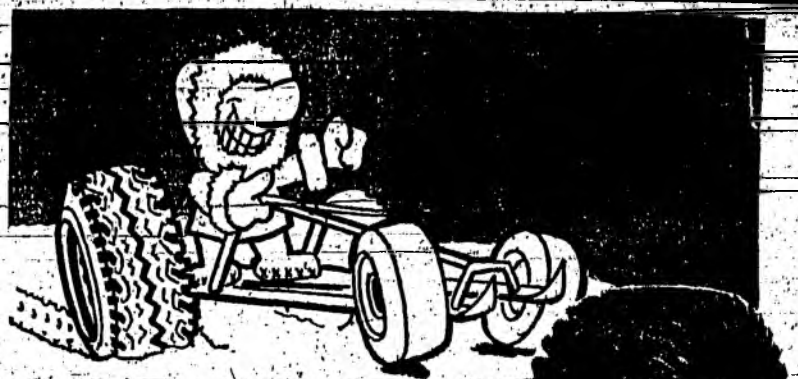

The area will be open this Saturday and Sunday and will open again Dec. 26 and remain open straight through Jan. 3.

There is now more than five feet of snow on top and 38 inches at the bottom and skiing is expected to be excellent for initiation of the new chair lift.

Forest service inspection of the new equipment is required because the area is on forest service land operated under a special use permit.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER J. STOLLER

PAUL — Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Stoller will observe their Golden Wedding Anniversary with an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. Dec. 27 at the Paul United Methodist Church.

All friends of the couple are invited to attend the event, which will have their children as hosts. The couple requests no gifts.

Emma Radke and Walter Stoller were married Dec. 27, 1920, at Feasenden, N.D. For their honeymoon they took a trip to Paul, where they rented a house for two months and decided to stay. They both went to work for the Colon MacRae Sheep Co. Mrs. Stoller helped Mrs. MacRae cook for 35 men.

In the fall of 1921, they decided to go back to North Dakota to farm. Their first four children were born there. They rented several farms between the years of 1921 and 1938.

They moved back to Idaho, and in 1937 they built a 3-room house in Paul and the children went to school there.

In 1942, they bought a farm with their sons five miles west of Paul. They resided there for five years until their sons were all drafted into the service, and then sold the farm. They rented a house on the Klamm Brothers farm, and milked cows, which they kept when the farm was sold.

In 1944, when the boys came back from the service, they decided to farm again. They rented three more farms in the years between 1949 and 1958 when they retired. They bought an acre of ground one-half mile from Paul and built their present home.

In the summer of 1968 they were caretakers for the Pomerelle Ski Resort.

Stoller was caretaker alone there in 1969.

Mrs. Stoller started a hobby of doll making in 1961 and this turned into a business which she still pursues.

Stoller has been bailiff for court sessions since 1969. He is also still active in helping his sons with their farms and cattle.

They have five sons and three daughters, Dale, Gerald, Wesley and Dallas Stoller, all Rupert and Paul area, and Walter Stoller, Missoula, Mont.; Mrs. Francis Strasser and Mrs. Joan Jarvis, Rupert, and Mrs. Esther Cameron, West Covina, Calif. — They have 16 grand-children.

Joymae Robbins, Stone exchange nuptial vows

TWIN FALLS — Joymae Irene Robbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Robbins, Pocatello, and Daniel Floyd Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stone, Jerome, were married Dec. 1 in rites at Grace Baptist Church, Twin Falls.

Rev. Robert Seaman performed the evening ceremony before a background of blue gladioli and pink and white carnations on colonial pedestals. White candelabra and settings were trimmed in multi-colored and pink and blue ribbons tied by the bride.

Mrs. Robert Seaman, Twin Falls, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Dean Eacker, soloist.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white bridal satin. The gown, a Bridal Original, cut in an A-Line design, was trimmed in cupid's rings from the rolled collar to the floor. The puffed sleeves and train were also trimmed with cupid's rings.

The veil, made by the bride, was made of scalloped flowers of white-on-white-leaves. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Linda Robbins, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor and Genny and Mary Stone, sisters of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids.

Kristi Elliott and Willis Stone, brother of the bridegroom, were candlelighters.

Stone, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and Randy Robbins, brother of the bride, and Rany Elliott served as ushers.

Mrs. Karen Roberson presided at the guest book and Vicki Walker, Janice Seaman and Carolyn Bolton arranged gifts on the gift table for the reception following the service.

A white lace cloth covered the bride's table which was centered with a three-tiered cake with blue gladioli. Four pink cakes with white icing formed the base and two smaller cakes rose above with an old fashioned porch with the traditional bride and bridegroom topping the cake.

Serving were Mrs. Phyllis Elliott, Mrs. Louis Ferrel and Patti Hall.

Ben Gorman, friend of the bridegroom, catered the reception.

After a wedding trip to Sun Valley, the couple will reside in Twin Falls. The bride is employed at Twin Falls Clinic Hospital and the bridegroom is attending CSI Vocational School.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Stone, Palo Cedro, Calif., grandparents of the bridegroom, Ben Gorman and mother and sister, all of Palo Cedro.

Slip into relaxing Hawaiian habit

TWIN FALLS — You don't have to learn the hula or strum a ukulele while you're in Hawaii. You don't even have to surfboard off Walkiki all day and drink rum punch in the thatched-roof huts by night. There's an old Hawaiian habit of relaxing that anybody can slip into just as easily and quietly as a comfortable old rocking chair.

Travelers who join the Twin Falls Times-News tour, Magic of Hawaii, can be given some good advice, even before they go aboard the big Pan American World Airways Jet which will whisk them to the "Paradise of the Pacific." Basically, it's "Take it easy, chum!"

Sniff the plumeria blossoms and the fragrance of ginger in the warm, tropic air, but don't work too hard at it.

Dig into the delicate flavor of a ripe papaya and a fragrant cup of Kona coffee for breakfast in an open-air dining lanai, but move slowly. There's no hurry. You can, of course, but you don't have to go big-gams fishing and you don't have to drive around Oahu to see the coral-reefed seascapes with blue ocean beyond, or the fields of sugar cane and ripening pineapple. You can just sit and watch the Walkiki traffic go past. Listen, if you will, to the rustle of the tradewinds in the palm trees and the lazy loveliness of Hawaiian music. When you feel your spine coming unraveled and the tensions leaving your mind like uncoiled springs, you're infected. You've got the initial symptoms of "Polynesian Paralysis" and it's probably one of the greatest diseases in the world.

Further information concerning the 10-day winter holiday can be obtained by contacting Norma Herzinger, tour hostess, 733-0631, or Magic Carpet Travels, 733-1668. Gem travelers will be leaving Twin Falls Feb. 15.

Relax a bit... THE BLACK SANDS of Honaunau on the Big Island of Hawaii are made by the surf pulverizing black lava into minute particles. Surf-coasting is popular here. There's an old Hawaiian habit of relaxing that will be inviting for Times-News tour travelers when they visit the islands in February. (Pan American World Airways photo)

Solons oppose flow increase

BOISE (UPI) — Both of Idaho's congressmen stated their opposition Thursday to a proposal to increase the water release below Hells Canyon Dam on the Snake River. The Army Corps of Engineers conducted the hearing on the request to increase the minimum flow to 10,000 cubic feet per second from the present

5,000 cubic feet. In support of the proposal, adding it would also favor other reasonable measures which would help insure a reduction in the magnitude of the daily fluctuations in flow below the dam. Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, asked in his statement that the Corps recommend to the changes in the minimum flow requirements. Hansen said the proposal is tantamount, in his opinion, to reducing Idaho's future development by the potential value of that water whose potential productivity is some 300,000 to 400,000 acres of irrigable farm lands. Hansen's statement said he felt the increased flow would minimize the adverse effect that their operations may have allowed it would be irreversibly appropriated to downstream uses which would not be in the best long-range interest of the state. Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, also submitted a statement opposing the increase, but he urged that all reasonable steps be taken by those now using the river to minimize the adverse effect that their operations may have Federal Power Commission no

Barry receives commendation

TWIN FALLS — Warren Barry, local businessman and Small Business Administration Advisory Board member for 10 years, has received a presidential commendation.

The honor, in the form of a certificate bearing the United States seal and signed by President Nixon, is issued in recognition of exceptional service to others in the finest American tradition.

Oliver Davis, regional director, SBA, Boise, said this is the only such award received by an Idaho resident to his knowledge.

In a letter accompanying the commendation, and also signed by President Nixon, Barry was given special thanks and tribute for 10 years of assistance to other small business operations.

"Your splendid record of service to small businessmen in your area over the past decade has been brought to my attention and I want to commend you for your excellent work," the letter read.

"I understand despite heavy responsibilities to your own firm, you have found time to counsel a number of businessmen, help organize and direct the Twin Falls Local Development Corp., and work closely with the Small Business Administration in a wide variety of programs.

"I am delighted to learn your efforts have resulted in gratifying progress for the people of your community and state," the presidential letter said.

Barry began serving on the Idaho SBA advisory board 10 years ago and was appointed three years ago by President Lyndon B. Johnson as a member of the National Advisory Board. At that time he was called to Washington to meet the President and other national board members.

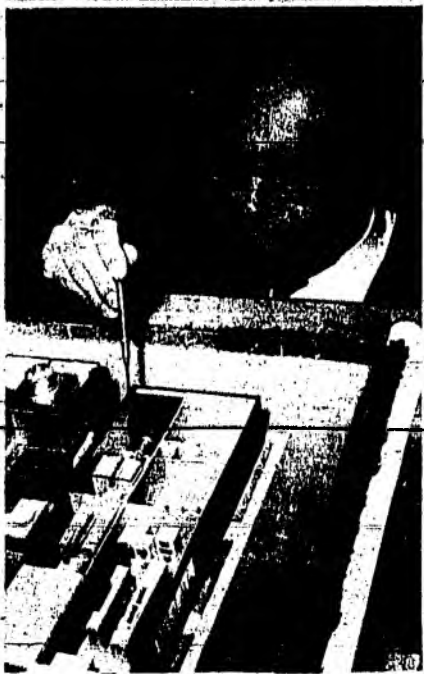

Several times each year he attends state meetings and once a year goes to Washington, D.C., for a national meeting.

Barry said he has enjoyed working with the SBA and feels it is an important program in the community and state. People involved in the program, he said, are business oriented and are nearly all volunteering their time and experience to help others in new or expanding businesses.

Barry said his own business, started in 1945 by his father, the late Harry Barry, began as a small business and his own career has been involved in this since the beginning.

Barry said the SBA has loaned $9.8 million in a total of 165 loans in Idaho during the past year alone.

He said he finds the SBA program an outstanding factor in the business climate of the local community in that it provides new revenue and brings local lending agencies to take a second look at some business prospects.

Area report slated

TWIN FALLS — An initial status report on the comprehensive land use planning study of the White Cloud-Boulder-Pioneer Mountain ranges is expected to be compiled by this coming February. E. A. Fournier, Sawtooth National Forest supervisor and member of the study's steering committee, said today much of the field work on the long range study has been completed. Many of the 25 forest officials and technicians involved in the study are currently preparing their inventory reports, he said.

A revised study plan which was approved in October broadens the scope of the original study called for early in 1969. Fournier said the object of the revised study is a total inventory of all resources within the high mountain scenic region in a form which can be reviewed for adoption of a management plan to safeguard both tangible and intangible benefits to the public. He said the study will determine long term national forest goals and land use mix in relation to capabilities of the area.

About 1-million acres of land are involved including mountain peaks, unreachable by roadways, large resources of wildlife including mountain goats, bighorn sheep, bear, and more common game, salmon spawning areas and many present and potential recreation areas.

Mineral deposits, timber harvesting sites and grazing lands are also included in the report. One of the features of the revised study program, Fournier said, is the increased involvement of the public and other agencies in collecting study information and views. Also new is the assignment of an archaeologist to the study team with extensive field work yet to be done.

Under the revised study plan, provisions are made for field studies to continue if needed beyond the 1970 season.

Robert Hoag, Sawtooth Recreational staff officer, said it will probably be well into 1971 or even later, if summer field studies are required next year, before the total report is completed.

It will then be compiled with overlay mapping and other visual data to assist in planning the future management of all resources of the area for the best public use, and protection of ecological, social, cultural and economic benefits.

Study coordinator is D. T. ... of the Intermountain Regional office, Ogden, and G. W. Carlson, Challis National Forest supervisor are working with Fournier on the steering committee.

About 25 technicians and personnel are also working on the study plan in collecting and preparing information. Following the inventory phase of the study, now nearly complete, Hoag said, workers will prepare interim reports. It will then be determined if additional time or information are needed and time and methods of public involvement will be made.

Phase two of the study is designed to determine land use mixes and refine management plans and will begin as soon as earlier phase work is completed.

Phone loan hearing scheduled

BOISE—A hearing is scheduled for 9 a.m. Jan. 12 at the Idaho Public Utilities Commission office on a request from the Albion Telephone Co. for a loan from the Rural Electrification Administration for $75,000.

The money will be used for new central office equipment, carrier equipment, station equipment, outside plant, buildings and engineering costs. The loan, if approved, will finance remodeling of a considerable amount of the existing telephone plant.

The most perfect hand ever painted is said to be the right hand of Mona Lisa, painted by Leonardo da Vinci.

WHAT SOME CITIZENS think about the restriction proclaimed by this sign is shown by the face of the sign — pocked by fire from shotguns and small arms — and by the piles of rusting cans and other trash behind it. Holdup case under study

TWIN FALLS — The case of two Twin Falls men charged with robbery was taken under advisement Thursday by Judge Harry Turner at the close of a preliminary hearing held in Twin Falls Police Court.

Immediately following the hearing one of the defendants, Lawrence Lang, 31, was hurried off to a cell at the Twin Falls County jail. Lang, who is charged along with Terry Hartley, 24, in connection with an armed holdup last August in Twin Falls, had been free on bond since shortly after his arrest in September.

Thursday, the co-signer of a $3,000 bond posted by a Twin Falls bonding firm withdrew his name and the bond was revoked.

Judge Harry Turner told the Times-News he did not know how long it will take him to determine whether Lang and Hartley should be bound over to a higher court, but it will be "before Jan. 11." On that day Idaho's court reform system goes into effect and Judge Turner's court will be phased out.

Hartley and Lang were arrested in connection with a holdup at the Safeway Store in the Lynwood Shopping Center in which nearly $4,000 in cash was taken.

The hearing, which has occupied parts of several days the past few weeks, began at 1:30 p.m. Thursday. Scheduled Thursday were arguments by defense attorneys and prosecutor Robert Galley. The hearing, held in a courtroom closed to spectators and members of the press, concluded at 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

Contract given for ambulance

HAILEY — Blaine County Commissioners have awarded Bird Funeral Home, Hailey, the contract to supply ambulance service for the county, according to John Fox, commissioner.

Kelvin Bird, owner and operator of the firm, submitted the bid of $600 per month. A $750 per month bid was submitted by Magic Valley Ambulance Service of Twin Falls.

Fox said the $600 monthly sum will subsidize the firm, which has supplied ambulance service for the county since 1962.

Fox also reported the airport commission, composed of state, county and city officials, has agreed to a 10-year lease for the old Johnson Flying Service facilities at Friedman Memorial Airport. Simplot Flying Service took possession of the facilities Tuesday and will operate a charter service, aircraft sales and other flight services.

Johnson Flying Service moved its operation to Glendale about a year ago, Fox said.

In other business the commissioners heard and still have under consideration a request by J. M. Monnette, Boise, to take over maintenance of the Warm Springs Road.

Monnette, who has a mobile home up Warm Springs, offered to solicit funds from residents of the area to be turned over to the county in the event the commissioners elect to accept his proposal.

Fox said Warm Springs is a U. S. Forest Service road and commissioners are concerned about the snow slide potential of the road.

He said commissioners did, however, agree to accept maintenance unless it is found there is a slide hazard.

Panel confers with architects

TWIN FALLS — Representatives of six architect firms were interviewed Thursday afternoon and four more will meet next week with a special city-county committee working to select a firm to prepare city-county law enforcement facility plans.

City Manager Jean Miller said today the committee of County Commissioners—William Chancey and Morris W. Carlson and City Councilmen Paul Osty and Tom Nelson will interview all architects interested in the project. Miller, who met with the committee, said the selection is expected to be made before the end of the year.

Preliminary work by the firm selected will cover feasibility of a single building to house city and county law enforcement facilities, a jail and city fire department. It will also provide cost estimates to guide the two agencies in financial plans and cover site recommendations.

Miller said the firm selected will undoubtedly also continue with detailed plans if the project is authorized.

Since all architects interviewed are members of the American Institute of Architects and all are guided by the same fee schedule which precludes awarding the work on a bid basis. Instead the committee is checking qualifications and ability of the firm to meet local needs through an interview program. Miller said a great deal of interest has been shown in the local project by Idaho architects and he said many have designed buildings similar to the local proposal. Some have also designed previous building projects in Twin Falls, he said.

Buhl tops blood goal

BUHL — Buhl residents Red Cross bloodmobile visit here Wednesday to top the quota of 100 pints.

The donations also included the requested 14 pints of negative type blood needed for surgery in Boise in the next few days, Ralph Assendrup, chairman, said.

Receiving a two-gallon donation were Ronnie Brown, Odell Chaffield, Leonard Poppil and Eldor Schaefer. One-gallon donors were Gary Bluck, Ray Kech, Ted Ponce, Elma Peterson and Barton Sonner. Assendrup said 121 persons wanted to give blood, but three were rejected.

Doctors assisting at the drawing were Vern Anderson and Joe Smith. Mrs. Vera Harvey was in charge of nurses, who included Mrs. Leota Deatherage, Mrs. John Barker, Mrs. Fred Brailsford, Mrs. Ted Jagers, Mrs. Bob Litch, Mrs. Gale Anderson and Mrs. Morry Sattgast.

Members of Beta Sigma Phi served as typists and receptionists. Hostesses were Marie Wayne Aland and Mrs. Barton Sonner. Nurses aides were Be Tate, Thelma Harms, Freda Roberts, Ella Kudlic, Louise Brown and Bernice Hill.

The canteen was sponsored by the Buhl Grange. Equipment for the drawing was loaded and unloaded by Buhl high school boys.

Benefit tickets on sale

SHOSHONE — Tickets went on sale today by the Shoshone High School drama team for the Jim Nabors performance, slated for 8 p.m. Dec. 28 in the Shoshone High School gymnasium.

The event is scheduled as a benefit for the Melba Gray children whose mother was murdered in mid-November. A portion of the proceeds will go to that fund and the drill team also will receive part of the funds, according to Carl Kinney, Shoshone school official.

He said he has not received a signed contract from Nabors, a television singer-comedian, but there had been verbal agreement that he would appear here while vacationing at Sun Valley.

Tickets, which are $3 each, will be first sold to Lincoln County residents until Tuesday, Kinney said. Those not sold by that time will go to residents outside of the county on a first come first served basis.

Seating capacity of the gymnasium is limited to 2,000, so only that many tickets will be sold, Kinney said.

Christmas message planned

FILER — The Rev. Elam Anderson, pastor of the United Methodist Church, will present the message "The Heart of Christmas" at the 11 a. m. worship service Sunday which will include the baptism of infant baptism.

Children and adults will bring their white gifts of canned goods for Christmas baskets to the service.

In the afternoon the youth group will go caroling and will give gifts to shut-in members of the parish.

The Christmas family night will be held at 7 p. m. and will include a program by church school classes, singing, treats for all children, and refreshments under the direction of the Ruth Circle.

Dismissal motion denied

TWIN FALLS — James J. May, defense attorney, and Prosecuting Attorney Robert Galley, Twin Falls, were advised late Thursday of denial of a motion for dismissal of criminal charges against Karl (Jack) Lewis, former justice of the peace, Buhl.

Lewis is charged with misuse of public funds in connection with his work as justice. Attorney May had moved for dismissal on grounds of double jeopardy. The motion was denied by District Judge Gus Carr Anderson, Pocatello, where the case is being heard.

May said Judge Anderson said a trial date will be set and has previously indicated it would be sometime after the first of the year.

HAILEY — Forty Christmas trees were reported missing from a lot in Hailey Thursday. Sheriff Orville Drexler said the trees are valued at $1.50 to $4 each—William Reid, Hailey chief of police, is directing the investigation of the theft, Drexler said.

Rupert delegate reports

RUPERT — Clay Harrison, Minico High School student, reported on his attendance at the Future Farmers of America convention at Kansas City in October for Rupert Chapter of Commerce members Thursday. The youth, introduced by Gar Loosal, said it was the largest convention ever held by the organization with 14,500 registered guests from throughout the United States, Latin America and Europe.

Harrison said Minico High School is the only one in the United States to have two FFA chapters. He plans to become a farmer and feels he can get a broader education by participating in FFA.

Ed Hartman, chamber president, reported the chamber board of directors has sent a letter to a hearing held in Boise by the Federal Power Commission on a request by the Idaho Power Co. to increase the flow in the Snake River over Hall's canyon dam.

Hartman said directors believe the increased flow would be detrimental to future irrigation development throughout the Snake River.

The chamber will not meet again until Jan. 7.

San Francisco-Oakland 'big one' may wind up only being exhibition

By BILL MADDEN UPI Sports Writer
More than just the Bay Area championship may be at stake for the San Francisco Forty-Niners Sunday when they invade Oakland in the first regular-season meeting with the neighboring Raiders.

A victory over Oakland, already entrenched as the American Football Conference western-division champions, would assure the Forty-Niners their first division championship in 25 years of National Football League play.

The Forty-Niners (9-3-1) hold a one-game edge over the Los Angeles Rams (8-2-3) who play the New York Giants, also seeking a division title, in New York. An Oakland victory combined with a Rams' triumph over the Giants, however, would give the NFC western division to Los Angeles on the basis of the Rams' better record within the division.

M.V. school chiefs OK grid plan

A proposal to allow an 11th high school football game for the purposes of a playoff for all or any conferences was passed with surprisingly little opposition at a Fourth-District superintendents meeting.

The proposal would allow conferences to set up their own contracts with other leagues and still play the state limitation of 10 regular season games per year.

The matter is still a long way from passing, however, as it must be presented to the state superintendents meeting in Boise next month. If passed there, it probably would go into effect next fall.

The superintendents' action, which is the final word of the area, came after endorsement for the Fourth District Coaches Association and a similar resolution passed by the Southern Idaho Conference at its fall meeting here last month. The SIC has requested permission for the playoff to have its two division winners meet at completion of the season.

French go one-two in ski race

VAL D'ISERE, France (UPI)—French teammates Patrick Russel and Jean-Noel Augert led the field of 99 international skiers through both heats of Thursday's event at the Critérium of the First Snow, winning the top spots in the first men's giant slalom of the current World Cup competition.

Russel, who will celebrate his 24th birthday next Tuesday, professed surprise when he learned he was still in the lead after the second run down the highly technical, 57-gate course. "I was afraid I'd done badly," Russel told newsmen after learning of his victory. He said he had lost his balance between the seventh and the eighth gates, and was worried that he had lost his lead in the process.

Almost half of the starters in the giant slalom had trouble with the thin, hard-packed snow, which began breaking up after the top-seeded skiers had made their runs. Forty of the 99 starters missed gates or skied off course during the first heat and were disqualified.

Like Russel and Augert, Italy's Gustavo Thoeni maintained his third placing through both heats.

Classes are now forming for handball at the Y. M. C. A. Health Club.

Buhl drops Filer in wrestling

FILER — The Buhl Indians mounted a good lead in the lighter weights Thursday night and held off a strong finish by Filer to claim a 28-23 wrestling victory.

A victory by Gary Davis at 155 pounds nulled down the decision as Filer took the last three matches.

Buhl's joyeers won the preliminary matches 21-16. The Wildcates will entertain Mountain Home Monday night in their final dual before the holidays.

Bart plans on playing next year

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—Green Bay Packers quarterback Bart Starr, rumored to be near retirement the past few years, says he hopes to play again in 1971.

"I'm planning to play. I want to play and I plan to play," Starr said.

He was interviewed by football writer Terry Riedoe of The Milwaukee Journal. Starr said Packers trainer Dominic Gentile "seems to think rest will cure my arm problem—and that's really the only thing that's been wrong with me this year."

Starr has been hampered by a sore arm for most of the season and in some games it has been apparent, showing a lack of ability to throw the long pass.

Driesell seeks ways to curb brawling in collegiate games

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI)—Maryland coach Lefty Driesell is calmer now than when he threatened a law suit against South Carolina's eager John Ribock and cussed out Gamecock Coach Frank McGuire and Athletic Director Paul Dietzel. It was with measured indignation that Driesell, speaking through a lip socked by Ribock, Thursday discussed the court-side brawl Wednesday night at Columbia, S.C. The melee ended the game between the Atlantic coast conference rivals with 4:52 to go and South Carolina leading, 90-84.

"Something's got to be done before somebody gets seriously hurt," said Driesell.

The colorful Maryland coach suggest that game films be studied every-time there is a fight and that any player seen throwing punches should be suspended for "two or three games."

He also said the home team should always be responsible for preventing, or at least controlling, violence among players under the threat of a forfeit.

At the same time, however, Driesell warned "if I was McGuire, I wouldn't bring them up here" for the rematch Jan. 9.

"I don't mean we'd pay them back, but I'm afraid something could happen," he said.

"It takes no guts to start a fight at home. I'd fight Cassius Clay with 14,000 people behind me," he said.

In Columbia, South Carolina University President wired Maryland President Wilson H. Elkins an apology for the incident. The wire said it "was

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW
By BILL WORKMAN
Do you have any idea who was the biggest man ever to play pro football? ... Answer is Les Bingaman who played for the Detroit Lions from 1948 through 1954. He set the pro football record in 1954 when he weighed in at 349 pounds.
Here's a football oddity... There are 3-yard penalties in football and there are 15-yard penalties — but, oddly enough, there are no 10-yard penalties... And, nobody has ever come up with a good reason why there aren't any 10-yard penalties in football.
Can you imagine a football player scoring 100 points himself in one football game? ... Did you know that such a feat once was accomplished? ... Back in 1916, Leo Schlick of St. Victor College in Indiana scored 100 points against Lane College. ... Schlick had 12 touchdowns and kicked 28 extra points in that game, which his team won 205-0. ... By the way, scores that high were not unheard of in 1916. ... That same season, Georgia Tech, for example, beat Cumberland 222-0.
Do you know that we are now in our brand new Bill Workman Ford building on Blue Lakes North ... you're invited to come call!

Three Celtic guards put on all-NBA club

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Cousy, Bill Sharman and Sam Jones — a talented trio who helped make the Boston Celtics a household name in pro basketball — and Bob Davies of the Rochester Royals were named today to the National Basketball Association's Silver Anniversary team.

The four all-time guards join six other members of the 10-man team selected by players who achieved NBA All-Star recognition since the founding of the league in 1946.

Previously named were centers Bill Russell of Boston and George Mikan of the Minneapolis Lakers and forwards Dolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nationals, Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks and the Philadelphia Warriors duo of Joe Fulks and Paul Arizin.

The 10 men were invited by commissioner Walter Kennedy to the Jan. 12, 1971, All-Star game at San Diego to receive their awards as the elite corps of retired NBA players.

Cousy played on six Boston world championship teams. He joined the Celtics as a rookie in 1950 and retired in 1963. The current Cincinnati Royals coach was a gifted backcourt man who amassed 6,959 assists — second highest in NBA history — to Oscar Robertson, who is still going strong for the Milwaukee Bucks.

During his career Cousy made 6,187 field goals and 4,621 shots for 16,955 points. The dynamic playmaker excelled behind-the-back dribbling and excelled in the art of shooting or passing while going up for a possible shot.

Plunkett adds Maxwell trophy to collection

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Plunkett, 34th collegiate winner of the award since its inception in 1937, tossed for led Stanford into the Rose Bowl this season, Thursday added the Maxwell Football Club college player of the year award to his football laurels.

The local club chose 43-year-old George Blanda, backup quarterback of the Oakland Raiders, as the year's outstanding pro player. Blanda, a 21-season pro veteran, was honored for his "to the rescue" heroics, which included game-winning field goals of 48 and 62 yards on successive weeks to help the Raiders win a division title in the American Football Conference.

Blanda and Plunkett, a sharp-shooting passer, will receive their awards at the Maxwell Club's annual banquet here Jan. 19.

Valley, Murtaugh move to holiday tourney finals

MURTAUGH — The Valley Vikings, nipping Hansen 63-59 in overtime, and Murtaugh Red Devils, outlasting Kimberly 43-39 in a slam-bang affair, moved into the finals of the Snake River holiday tournament Thursday night.

The two undefeated teams (in the tournament) will meet at 8:30 p.m. Friday after the losers play for consolation honors at 7 p.m.

Short Kim Gergen and long Lon Frazier did all of Valley's scoring in the overtime period

Kentucky center has two leads

NEW YORK (UPI)—Elmore Smith, 7-foot junior from Kentucky State, is rapidly establishing himself as a "do-it-all" center.

In the latest statistics released by the National Collegiate Sports Service, Smith paced two major categories—scoring and rebounding.

In the scoring department, Smith is averaging 35.0 points per game to Southwest Louisiana's Dwight Lamer's 34.4, and in rebounding, the Kentucky State ace is averaging 24.3 per game in addition to "having blocked 32 shots."

Easter Jordan of Rhode Island College is the field goal leader with 28 of 38 for a .736 percentage. Nearest Jordan is John Luting of Augustana (Ill.) with 38 of 54 for a .704 mark.

In free throw percentage, Otterbein's Dwight Miller and Grove City's Tom Montgomery are deadlocked with perfect 1,000 percentages, both having connected on 16 for 16.

Lions seek game, not coin flip

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Lions would rather fight than flip for a spot in the National Football Conference playoffs.

Lions General Manager Russ Thomas has proposed that the Lions be allowed to meet the Dallas Cowboys in a special playoff game next Wednesday instead of conducting a coin toss if the two teams tie for the playoff spot which goes to the best second-place team.

And Lions Coach Joe Schmidt goes along with the special game idea while admitting that a last minute extra game and a chance coin toss are "lousy" alternatives.

"I'd rather play them," Schmidt said. "At least you have some control over the outcome. But either way, it's lousy."

It's a physical impossibility to prepare for three games in eight days," he said. "The owners should have settled on something better long before this possibility arose."

to host the Vikings past Hansen. The game was marked by sporadic shooting, including innumerable missed shots from close in. But in the end it was the follow shooting of the 6-5 Frazier that Valley claim the win over senior guard Cliff Barnard came off the bench to pull Hansen together.

Gergen and Frazier each hit eight points in the final minutes of the first period to give Valley a 15-7 lead before Barnard made his appearance. Barnard hit twice and Lynn Pearson and Walt Preston once each to pull Hansen back to within two early in the second period and it remained a two-point ball game until Frazier hit a return shot just before the halftime buzzer for a 25-23 score.

Valley moved quickly to an eight-point lead in the third quarter but Barnard and Preston scored four each late to keep Hansen within four. The Huskies caught up at 43-41 on two Preston buckets with 8:34 left to play and from then on the lead changed hands six times and was tied three times. Barnard scored with a minute left to give Hansen a 62-61 lead but 18 seconds later Frazier out-valley back on top with two free throws. Then with 23 seconds left Barnard made a steal, was fouled and hit the first of two free throws to throw it into overtime.

Gergen and Frazier connected right off the bat to give Valley the lead for keeps. Gergen hit two free throws with 13 seconds remaining for an insurmountable 60-57 lead and Preston cut it to one 10 seconds later.

The second game saw Murtaugh go into a deep delay game

Monthly award won by Gilmore

ATLANTA (UPI)—Arts Gilmore of Jacksonville University, the nation's top rebounder and fifth leading major college basketball scorer, was named today December's "Player of the Month" in the first balloting by UPI sportswriters for the annual Naimath Award.

The Atlanta Typoff Club will present the third Naimath Award of the Year" is chosen by United Press International in a nationwide poll next March. Law Alcindor of UCLA won the first award in 1960 and Pete Maravich of LSU was honored in 1970.

The 7-2 Gilmore probably will command a million dollar contract if the National and American Basketball Associations do not merge before next year's college draft. Gilmore is averaging 35.4 points a game and 27.4 rebounds for a total of 137 retrieves in five games.

Gilmore's strength under the boards has placed Jacksonville into fourth place among major rebounders with an average of 64 per game. The undefeated Dolphins lead the nation in total offense with a 120.4 point scoring attack.

with a three-point lead and 3:18 left to play and although the Devils won by seven, they had only a two-point bulge with 32 seconds left.

The teams were close in the first quarter but Murtaugh took the lead in the first four minutes of the second period, when the Devils hit 10 straight points without a Kimberly reply. The Devils carried a 36-27 edge into the third period but shortly after it started, junior John Flynn injured a leg and was out for the rest of the night. From then on, the Bulldogs, who had the lion's share of the rebounds, took nearly complete command

Listening said answer to need

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

There are many ways in which one human being can minister to the needs of another.
Feeding the hungry, housing the homeless, healing the sick are traditional "ministries of mercy" well known to every one.
But you seldom hear anyone mention the ministry of listening.
Because listening seems to be purely passive, we don't realize it can be an act of kindness.
Yet there are many occasions when it's the most helpful thing you can do for a person in trouble.
When you really listen to someone, more than your ears are involved. Your heart has to be engaged too. To listen, in a true sense, is to open yourself up to another person, and take his pains or troubles or bewilderments into yourself.
Many genuinely compassionate people make poor listeners. They are so anxious to correct the problem that's causing pain they begin to break in with advice and solutions before they've heard the whole story.
Veteran listeners say this is bad form. It's their experience that when a person confides in you, he usually doesn't want advice. He wants somebody to understand and care about his troubles.
Sometimes—in the case of a person who is grieving over the death of a loved one—there's really nothing you can do to "solve" the problem. Any effort to distract a friend from his grief will only make him feel more lonely because it will convince him that you really don't comprehend how he feels.
In such situations, listening requires a willingness to suffer

Wise men still seeking Christ

By REV. RAY JONES

First Christian Church
TWIN FALLS — For centuries God had an appointment to meet man in the person of the Messiah. The prophets had foretold this great event and the Jews looked forward to it eagerly. (Isaiah 7:14). Ironically, they did not recognize Him when He came, for that appointment was kept in the person of Jesus Christ, born as a babe in Bethlehem. (Micah 5:2)
When the first announcement was made—a series of events were set into motion. The shepherds left their flocks to hurry to Him. The Magi, the astronomers of the east who had been watching the heavens, saw an unusual star and braved cold, desert and mountains to inquire where they might find Him.
Wise men still seek Him and as the prophet said, "those who seek with all their heart and find Him." (Jeremiah 29:13)

The wise men found Him as a young child in the stable with Mary His mother. We find Him today, no longer a babe in a manger, but as the living Lord who saves from sin. (Matthew 1:21) The really big message of Christmas is that God's son has come and is now offering to all who will accept the gifts of forgiveness—of sin, inward peace, and eternal life.
His gracious invitation is: "Behold, I stand at the door, and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me." (Revelation 3:20)
Wise men still seek until they find Him. Like the wise men of old when they find Him they "depart another way." (Matthew 2:12) Only then is it possible to know the real meaning of Christmas. By this measurement are you a wise man?

Youth bring reality . . .

DESPITE COLD and much arranging beforehand, this live Nativity scene will again be presented by youth of the Twin Falls First Christian church. The first presentation is slated for tonight, continuing nightly through Christmas eve, with after-noon stagings on Sunday and Dec. 24.

showings are scheduled each night including Christmas Eve, with additional afternoon stagings on Sunday and Dec. 24. Rev. Ray P. Jones, pastor, said it is hard to explain the success of the live Nativity scene year after year, because it does get cold and there is a lot of preparation preceding each year's presentation. "Perhaps the only way the program's success could be explained is to watch the faces of the actors and catch a glimpse of one in deep thought and sense the inner joy and peace that he feels, the pastor said.

Sunday morning the com-combined choirs will present a Christmas cantata "Born a King" by John W. Peterson, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Nelson.

The children will present their program Sunday evening. The public is invited to all the seasonal activities, Rev. Jones said.

Some morally upright people find this quite difficult. They feel that if they keep quiet when another person confesses a misdeed or unworthy motive, their silence may be construed as tacit approval.
But no less a moral authority than Jesus of Nazareth refuted the notion that we are required to condemn any course of action which we cannot in good conscience condone. The basic rule laid down by Jesus was: "Do not judge others."
When you listen to a person's troubles in silent sympathy, restraining the impulse to offer good advice or moral counsel, you show him that you care for him, and that you accept him for what he is.
To care and to accept are to love, so listening is an act of love. Indeed, it may be a more intimate act of love—in the sense of establishing true human contact at a deep level—than a purely physical sexual encounter.
In contemporary urban society, where relationships between people seem to be growing ever more impersonal and dehumanized, there is great need for the ministry of listening.
The beauty of it is that this is one form of service that no one is too old or sick or poor or weak to undertake. The feeblest and frailest person can listen—and in doing so, can give to others the benison of knowing that somebody cares.

Back in the days of what someone or other thought of the maxim, 'When in doubt, lead trumps'...

There is some merit to the story about the shoeless men, except that we are certain that more of them have achieved poverty because they pulled trumps too early...

Today's hand is a classic instance of this. South ruffs the second diamond with his deuce of trumps and counts his winners in accordance with the code word ARCH.

You, South, hold: AK6 WA 97 KQ4 A Q J 3 2 What do you do now? A—Bid four no-trump. This must be Blackwood. Go to seven if he shows two aces.

Now available through this newspaper: 'Win at Bridge with JACOBY MODERN' the new, illustrated, 128-page book by Oswald and Jacoby...

trump lead and a trump return. Suppose South is allowed to hold that trick? Can he afford a second trump play? No! Defender may take that trick and lead a third trump, whereupon South will have no place to put his fourth spade.

Therefore, when the king of trumps holds, South should stop playing trumps and lead spades. He plays to dummy's spade and back to his ace. Then he ruffs a spade; comes back to his hand with a club; ruffs his last spade and now plays a second trump when he can well afford to. He will have to lose a club, but that was a loser in any event.

Clear all tuna, chemist demands

ROME (UPI) — An American chemist who discovered dangerous amounts of mercury in tuna fish Thursday urged the U.S. Food and Drug Administration FDA to remove all tuna products from grocery stores until they can be tested or made safe.

Bruce McDuffie, a chemistry professor at University of New York at Binghamton, also said he has found larger and more dangerous amounts of mercury in swordfish.

McDuffie, in Rome attending a U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization FAO oceanography conference, said people should eat tuna only about once a week until the FDA can test all existing tuna products and make them safe by blending those with high mercury content with those found to have less.

Warning—that through pollution the human race is "well on the road to extinction," McDuffie said, scientists must determine whether the amount of mercury in the oceans was increasing. He said that if the mercury content was increasing from MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (UPI) — A paper company dumped a large quantity of dye into the Miami River, turning it red in spots from here 30 miles south to the Ohio River at Cincinnati. The Crystal Tissue Co. said the dye had been used on gift wrappings and was dumped into the river because there was no way to treat the coloring. The company said the dye was not poisonous.

The Canadian province of Saskatchewan in 1969 had the highest wheat yield per acre in its history.

War toll stays low

SAIGON (UPI) — Less than 39 Americans died on Indochina battlefields for the second straight week last week, according to U.S. command figures released Thursday. U.S. officials reported 29 Americans were killed in action during the week ending last Saturday, raising to 44,144 the total U.S. servicemen killed in combat in the Indochina war since Jan. 1, 1961.

Fire bills sent to legislature

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's State Land Board voted unanimously Thursday to present to the legislature next month a request for funds to pay an estimated $196,709 in routine and emergency fire bills.

Jack Gillette, assistant state land commissioner for forestry, told the board the money is needed to pay $89,709 in federal Forest Service bills for fire protection of private land under contract with the state for the 1969 and 1970 seasons and for about $37,000 in emergency cost this year.

He said the state already tapped the governor's emergency fund for $70,000 to pay some of the unexpected bills and that it still does not have enough money to pay the outstanding bills.

Gillette said the federal bill was for routine fire protection over and above the fees charged landowners for protection for the past two fire seasons. For emergency purposes he said the Land Department got $50,000 from the governor's emergency fund to pay for fires in the Clearwater-Potlatch Timber protection Association lands and $20,000 for fires on state-protected districts.

While the state can tap the emergency fund to pay the estimated $37,000 in emergency costs for fighting 140 fires that broke out late this season from one storm that swept through the Clearwater-Potlatch Association lands, Gillette said, emergency monies cannot be a cent on the routine bills.

Land board members said they felt it would be better to put the entire problem before the legislature.

Gov. Don Samuelson said perhaps the lawmakers could take another look at his earlier proposed creation of a rotary fund to handle such problems.

Attorney General Robert M. Robson agreed. "They ought to face up to their responsibilities," Robson said.

Earlier, Samuelson complained that the state's taxpayers are subsidizing fire protection on privately-owned forest land in southern Idaho to a greater extent than they do in the northern Panhandle.

He referred to the fact that, by law, private landowners in the northern part of the state pay up to 18 cents for fire protection per acre while those in the southern portion pay only 10 cents.

Land Commissioner Gordon Trombly said timber stands in the northern portion are heavier than those in the southern area. He said there were other factors involved, too.

However, he said perhaps the charge to the landowners in the north should be lowered.

"My only concern is let's be fair to both," Samuelson said. "I would be concerned if the south was paying more than the north."

The discussion came up when the board was asked to approve the budgets for next year of the Southern Idaho Timber Protective Association and the Clearwater - Potlatch, TPA. Both were approved, the Southern Idaho Association for $81,693-$32,893 above what the charges to the landowners will bring - and the Clearwater - Potlatch Association for $199,000.

In other business at a special board meeting, the board rejected four bids to appraise the Gooding State Tuberculosis Hospital and called for new bids from appraisers affiliated either with the Master Appraisers Institute or a comparable organization.

Kennedy in-laws divorced

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — The parents of Joan Kennedy, wife of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., have been granted a divorce in Brevard County Circuit Court after 35 years of marriage, it was learned today.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bennett of Cocoa Beach were granted the divorce Nov. 24 by Circuit Court Judge William Akridge more than a year after a petition for divorce was first filed.

Bennett asked for a divorce from his wife and she later filed a counter suit. The court order said the divorce was granted because of "certain disputes, differences and disagreements."

Organization's Founding The Daughters of the American Revolution was founded in 1890 in Washington, D.C. The organization chose the first lady, Mrs. Caroline Scott Harrison, wife of President Benjamin Harrison, as its first president general.
