Rescued...

FIREMEN bring down one of the 112 guests at the Pioneer Hotel while fire raced through the building at Tucson, Ariz. Twenty-eight persons died in the blaze at the swank hotel Sunday. (UPI)

Tucson fire claims 28

TUCSON, ARIZ. (UPI) — A fire raced up seven stories through laundry chutes and open stairwells in the Pioneer Hotel Sunday, killing 28 persons and injuring 44. Police investigated the possibility of arson. Seven of the dead were burned so badly that they had not yet been identified early today.

Six of the injured were reported in critical condition. Police said several juveniles with records of arson were questioned Sunday night. They would not elaborate, but Fire Capt. Ellis Franklin said, "We are now conducting an investigation into the possibility of arson. There is enough evidence to warrant the investigation. Franklin injured a leg when an extension ladder collapsed during the fire. The Pioneer was built in 1922 and was exempt from a more recent ordinance requiring sprinkler and automatic fire alarm systems. "It is my opinion that if there had been adequate sprinkler systems and an alarm system, no one would have lost his life."

Council to air pay increases

TWIN FALLS — City council members will meet here tonight to review an employee retirement program for the coming year and discuss a final salary scale request from the city fire department bargaining agent. City officials have reviewed two possible retirement plans, including the one used for state employees, and will present information to the council for a decision. The council will also hear a claim from Robert Rayl who resides on farm property adjacent to the Twin Falls City-County Airport and is asking the city to move his home to other property he owns because of the noise of the jet planes. Two actions postponed from the meeting two weeks ago will be discussed including a local improvement district for sewer improvement on South Locust and the request for city water service for the Willis Mobile Home court and sub-division south of town. Other business will include second reading of ordinances to establish new speed limits on Main Avenue and to amend the uniform building code to cover alloy set backs. On third reading will be an ordinance amending the Building Code safe building section. Bids on the purchase of pickup trucks for the parks and street departments will also be reviewed. The meeting opens at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall auditorium and is open to the public.

U.S. crime rises fast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Serious crime climbed 10 per cent nationwide during the first nine months of 1970 with the largest increase reported in the suburbs. Attorney General John N. Mitchell announced today. The rate of increase was the lowest for the 3-month period since 1965 and was 1 per cent lower than for the corresponding period of 1969, according to the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports. Large cities of over 250,000 reported crime up 6 per cent, compared to a 14 per cent rise in the suburbs and 9 per cent in rural areas. Violent crimes as a group rose 10 per cent with robbery up 15 per cent, murder 9 per cent, aggravated assault 7 per cent, and forcible rape 3 per cent. Most of the changes will take effect before the mid-1971 census.

Single wreath

MOSCOW (UPI) — An unknown admirer of Josef V. Stalin placed a wreath at the grave of the discredited one-time Soviet supreme leader on the Red Square today.

The occasion was Stalin's 91st birthday, a day unobserved and unmarked anywhere except in Stalin's native republic of Georgia. Statues and portraits of Stalin, of which there are hundreds of thousands in his lifetime, are still taboo except in Georgia where portraits of him can be bought for a few kopecks (cents).

Detergent measures assailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., today called for a study of the use of 10 to 12 times what is really needed for a clean wash.

Reuss said he received a letter from Ronald O. Ostrander, of Wausau, Wis., whom he identified as the originator who developed "Tide" for Procter & Gamble. Ostrander said he owned one-fourth of a cup of Tide per washing machine load provides maximum cleaning power, and if more is used, cleaning power can be reduced. He said instructions on boxes of "Tide XK" call for using 1 1/4 cups in top-loading machines, 1 1/4 in wringer washers and a half cup in front loading automatics.

Asian forces recalled

TOKYO (UPI) — The United States announced today it is withdrawing 12,000 American servicemen from Japan and 5,000 from Okinawa in a "backlash of its military presence in Northeast Asia. The military units will be "relocated in Japan or within the Far East," a spokesman said. Reduction of strength in Japan will bring U.S. forces to a level of about 27,000 from a present figure of 31,000, the lowest since U.S. armed forces came to Japan as conquerors at the end of World War II. The American withdrawal from Japan and Okinawa were agreed on at a meeting of high-level Japanese and American military and diplomatic officials at the Japanese Foreign Ministry.

18-year-old vote OK'd for national elections

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled today that 18-year-olds may vote in federal elections for presidential and congressional candidates but held that state voting age laws will continue to govern state and local contests. The court divided sharply on the issue with Justice Hugo L. Black delivering the prevailing opinion. The justices were in greater agreement in upholding two other key sections of the law — one striking down state residency rules of beyond 30 days for voting in presidential elections, and the other banning throughout the country literacy tests for voting. Black said that where Congress attempted to remedy racial discrimination by the states, its authority was enhanced by the 14th Amendment's guarantee of "equal protection of the laws" and other post-Civil War amendments. But he said Congress had no foundation in the Civil War amendments for changing the voting age for the states. On the other hand, legislation on the voting age in national elections, where Congress has more power, need not be tied to eliminating racial discrimination, he said. Four justices — William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr., Byron R. White and Thurgood Marshall — said the 18-year-old vote law should have been extended to state and local elections. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice John M. Harlan, Potter Stewart and Harry A. Blackmun agreed however with Black that Congress could not interfere with the age set for voters by the states for nonfederal elections. The new law now becomes operative Jan. 1. The 18-year-old vote was brought to a direct Supreme Court test because it was enacted in the form of legislation rather than the more drawn-out process of a constitutional amendment requiring ratification by the states. The court decision means that all but three states must revamp their voting procedures in national elections to lower the age eligibility to 18. Georgia, Alaska and Kentucky already allow 18-year-olds to vote. The court acted in four cases involving Oregon, Texas, Arizona and Idaho. The provision lowering the voting age to 18 in national elections becomes operative Jan. 1. The court was unanimous on the literacy test section of the law. The vote on the residency requirements was 8 to 1, with Justice John M. Harlan dissenting.

Food price anger topples Poland's leader Gomulka

WARSAW (UPI) — Edward Gierok, the new leader of Poland's Communist party, began work today on an economic revival for his nation to calm the uprising that brought him to power. The party's central committee met Sunday to fire Wladyslaw Gomulka, 65, the party leader for the past 14 years, and replace him with Gierok, 57, a former miner and engineer who was a Communist leader in France and Belgium before returning to his native Poland in 1948. Only two weeks ago the Polish-West German treaty put Gomulka at the pinnacle of his career. Today he was out of a job — toppled by a week of riots and demonstrations protesting a 20 per cent rise in food prices and, more sweepingly, his government's entire economic policy. The riot wracked six Polish cities, brought death and widespread destruction and led to strikes in Warsaw and other cities. A general strike was reported in Szczecin (Stettin), a riot center, and the nation waited to see if Gomulka's ouster would end the labor unrest. Immediately after the announcement of his selection, Gierok went on television to call for "order and peace" in his tense nation. He admitted the "ill-considered economic policies," confessed that the party had not always been "in close contact with the whole nation" and said Poland would receive an answer for the past week — "a self-critical one, but clear and true."

Renewal director resigns

TWIN FALLS — James Kelach, who has served as executive director of the Twin Falls Urban Renewal Agency since its establishment has resigned to accept the position of the assistant directorship for the Boise Redevelopment Agency. Kelach announced his resignation at a meeting of the Urban Renewal board. Evan Robertson, who has been serving as Kelach's assistant, was named new executive director. Voy Hudson, chairman of the Urban Renewal board, said Robertson has served as assistant for two years. He went to the Idaho Department of Public Assistance in Twin Falls. Hudson said the board viewed Kelach's resignation with regret — "he's been a good director, and we hate to see him leave." Kelach has been in Twin Falls since 1968. The changeover will be effective Jan. 1, Hudson said. Kelach said he will be doing the same type of work in Boise where three Urban Renewal projects are under way — two in the excavation and staging stage, and one in the planning stage. Kelach said the "hallmark of the entire program in Twin Falls was the cooperation this agency got from the city, Twin Falls Futures Unlimited, downtown property owners and the Off-Street Parking Association." He said the Urban Renewal program has been an "effective tool" in downtown development.

Senate breaks snag

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate broke one legislative deadlock today but there still appeared to be virtually no chance that the 91st Congress could complete its work before the Jan. 3 constitutional deadline. The first obstacle overcome of several remaining resulted when lame duck Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., compromised with the White House and gave up his on-and-off filibuster against the $2.7 billion foreign aid authorization bill. The measure then passed by the Senate by voice vote, and now goes to the House, which voted $3.7 billion and has the option of accepting the Senate version or sending it to a joint conference committee. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield called the action "the first break in the wall" of backed-up bills likely to keep Congress in session until its constitutional expiration. Beginning its Christmas week work, the Senate set a vote for later today on a motion to override President Nixon's veto of a $2.5 billion mangrove training bill. With a two-thirds margin required in each house, there had appeared little chance that Nixon would be overridden. The White House said once again that Nixon was considering convening the new Congress square on the heels of the old one unless there is an "up and down" vote on his high-priority family assistance program. The President could do this by refusing to sign a congressional resolution setting Jan. 31 as the date for convening the 92nd Congress, meaning it would be required to meet Jan. 3. Also still in the way, and showing little sign of being moved, were the spaceborne transport bill, proposed curbs on imports and $70 billion in funding for defense, foreign aid and transportation.

Magazine finds new sub base

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Russians have nearly completed a nuclear submarine base on the south coast of Cuba which could cause an East-West confrontation similar to the 1962 missile crisis, Time magazine said Sunday. The Time report said U.S. reconnaissance photos show that the Soviet base in Cienfuegos, Cuba, reported under construction in September, is near completion. "In addition to bunkers for storing submarine-borne nuclear weapons, the Russians have built a steel antisubmarine barrier net between the shore and the island of Cayo Carenas and have installed anti-aircraft emplacements," the magazine said. "They have also built a pier for docking submarines and elaborate rest and recreation facilities. The bay now contains two storage barges designed to receive the discharges of nuclear-contaminated effluent from submarines."

Stamp cut would hurt

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writer
TWIN FALLS — Should Congress fail to approve the food stamp program for the coming year it would affect a total $1.7-million — a year in local buying power for Magic Valley residents and affect the eating habits of more than 4,300 persons. Windsor Nye, deputy administrative management official, Idaho Department of Public Assistance, Boise, said the food stamp program in the seven Magic Valley counties participating represents more than $14,000 each month and brings a total of $60,000 in federal funds to add to the local buying power of 1,396 families each month. He said the amount of federal matching money varies per case depending on individual family income and financial condition. Should the program discontinue, he said the economic pinch would be felt greatly by supermarkets and retail grocery outlets. In Twin Falls County, the largest of the programs, a total of about $60,000 is spent each month. Other area counties, Nye said, include monthly averages of Cassia with $12,999 in federal money, $7,381.01 in local matching money, about 840 people from 223 households participating; Gooding, $5,938 federal, $2,857 local money and 91 families and 226 persons; Blaine County, $1,067.75 federal money, $618 local, 28 households and 63 persons; Jerome County, $5,578.75 federal money, $5,223.25 local money, 140 families and 423 persons; Lincoln County, $453 federal money, $32, local, 16 families and 36 persons, and Blaindoka County, $8,083 federal, $6,477 local and 150 families and 588 persons. Cassia County does not participate.

Victim hit twice

SHOSHONE — Ralph Mitchell of Shoshone had some tough luck Sunday. Today he is in "fairly good condition" at St. Benedict's Hospital in Jerome, suffering from broken ribs, head cuts and bruises after he was struck by his own car and then run over by another car early Sunday. Jerry Conklin, assistant Shoshone police chief, said Mitchell, 25, had been riding in a car driven by Sherrill Roseberry, Jerome. The Roseberry car stopped parallel to Mitchell's parked car on North Hall Street near the Apple Street intersection and the victim started to get into his own car. Conklin said Mitchell stepped out of the Roseberry car and was about to enter his own car when Mitchell's car was struck. Mitchell was knocked down by his own car, which then struck the Roseberry car. Conklin said Mitchell was treated by a local hospital and then taken to St. Benedict's Hospital in Jerome. Mitchell was in "fairly good condition" today.

Police net convict

BOLSHI, UPI—Ada County Sheriff's officers dressed as firemen entered a house at 1812 No. 13th early this morning and arrested Johnny Salazar, 24, a life-terminator at the Idaho State penitentiary who escaped a week ago.

Ada County Sheriff Paul Bright said he, his officers, and officers from the Boise Police Department, found Salazar hiding under a bed in the house.

He said two men, Frank Montoya, 50, and John R. Lopez, ing held on charges of harboring an escaped convict.

Bright said the arrest was the result of "many days and nights of investigation" and said Boise Police cooperated "extensively."

He said a decision to watch the house was abandoned and officers borrowed coats and helmets from the fire department. Bright said his officers spent the entire evening and part of the morning in prepara-

Salazar, who was described as a "dangerous" escaped from his guard at St. Luke's Hospital Dec. 14 after he was taken there for treatment of a kidney ailment.

He was serving a life term on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and under Idaho's Persistent Violator Statute.

Salazar has also served a sentence in Santa Fe, N.M., for murder in the second degree.

Cambodian invasion 'traumatic'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Frank Shakespeare, director of the U.S. Information Agency, said Sunday the U.S. military invasion of Cambodia was "traumatic" to world opinion.

Shakespeare said President Nixon was riding an 18-month crest of world popularity when he announced last April 30 that the United States was entering Cambodia to clean out Viet Cong sanctuaries near the South Vietnamese border.

"There was a traumatic reaction in the western world, as well as the United States, and I shouldn't say the western world; in the world at large, to the military strike in Cambodia," Shakespeare said.

Tate trial at end

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A promised motion for a mistrial in the Tate-LaBianca case today was the only action remaining before final arguments in the prolonged and oft-delayed trial of Charles Manson and three of his women followers.

The proceedings were in recess last week to give a new attorney time to familiarize himself with the 18,000 type-written transcript of the case.

Attorney Maxwell Keith was appointed by Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older to represent defendant Leslie van Houten, 20, whose lawyer, Ronald Hughes, disappeared the weekend of Nov. 27.

Friends of Hughes said the attorney went to a remote mountain recreation area in Los Padres National Forest and they expressed fears he may have met with a fatal accident in stormy weather.

Keith said he would offer a motion for mistrial on behalf of Miss Van Houten because of the disappearance of her attorney and difficulties for him in stepping into the case at this point.

Miss Van Houten is on trial for the killing of grocer Leno

LaBianca and his wife, Manson, 36, and the two other defendants, Susan Atkins and Patricia Krenwinkel, are accused of the LaBianca slaying and the killings of actress Sharon Tate and four other persons Aug. 8, 1969.

The next step after the mistrial motion is considered would be for prosecutor Vincent Bugliosi to begin his summation. He said he expects to take three days.

During the trial, which began in June, the defense presented no witnesses and only on orders from Manson.

Red wall severs holidays

BERLIN (UPI) — Mayor Klaus Schuetz told West Berliners Sunday there no longer was any hope the Communists would open the wall for Christmas family reunions.

His statement that the wall would remain closed for the fifth consecutive Christmas increased the anger of West Berliners, already irritated over East German interference with Christmas traffic to the isolated Western outpost.

For the second straight day, eastern border guards Sunday harassed traffic on the highway lifelines running to the city through East Germany.

They planned a cat-and-mouse game with traffic in defiance of a Western Allied protest to the Russians that warned the harassment could endanger the Big Four ambassadors talks on Berlin.

Schuetz expressed the hope the Big Four talks could lead to an agreement that would allow West Berliners by the middle of next year, to pass through the wall to East Berlin for the first time since the Whitson holiday in the spring of 1966.

"I no longer have any hope for wall passages for this Christmas" he said.

Ecology unit plans programs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The newly created Federal Environmental Protection Agency announced plans Sunday for four new programs aimed at treating 2,600 persons in waste water treatment facilities.

The largest program calls for on-the-job training of about 1,000 persons at 50 locations in 27 states. They will learn the new est techniques in water pollution control and operation of waste water treatment plants.

About 600 persons, including 400 not now employed in the field, will receive similar training in a program to be conducted in Virginia, South Carolina, Wisconsin, the Virgin Islands and Texas.

Students declare 'peace'

MOSCOW (UPI)—Members of the National Student Association, which claims to represent more than 500 student governments in the United States, arrived from Hanoi Sunday carrying "joint declarations of peace" from North and South Vietnamese student representatives.

David Hahn, president of the NSA, led the 15 youths who spent two weeks in North Vietnam. They signed peace documents with the student union of North Vietnam, the student union of the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) and with members of the South Vietnam national student union, which is based in Saigon.

An NSA spokesman said the declarations call for the immediate and total withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Vietnam and withdrawal of U.S. support from the Saigon government headed by President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Question...

Is it considered proper to shop for a funeral in advance of need?

Answer...

It is certainly proper and an indication of mature judgment to evaluate the goods and services available at different mortuaries while you are in good health and capable of making a rational judgment. Many people in Twin Falls today are unhappy tied to a future need funeral contract because they felt it was undignified to shop for a funeral and purchased a funeral by way of a telephone solicitation or door to door salesman.

We sincerely urge people to come to our Mortuary at any time and simply look around. Visitors are always welcome in our casket display room where they will find every casket plainly marked with a price. We welcome the opportunity to show anyone our service rooms and to discuss all of the things included in a funeral service price. It is smart to be informed concerning funeral cost.

Bath, gift shop opens

TWIN FALLS — Custom toilet seats and perfumed soap in baseball-sized balls are among the many unusual items offered by a unique new business, the Golden Dolphin Bath and Gift Shop, 114 8th St. S. Perhaps the most unusual item is that the shop, devoted exclusively to furnishings for the bathroom, is operated by Jack Borlase, operator of A & B Plumbing and Heating Co.

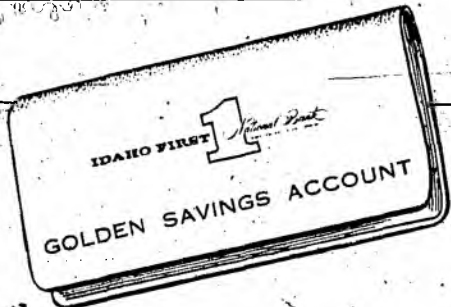

and is located in front of the plumbing firm.

The Golden Dolphin Bath and Gift Shop concept is a franchise arrangement, headquartered in Chicago, Ill. The Twin Falls outlet is the first in Idaho, Borlase said.

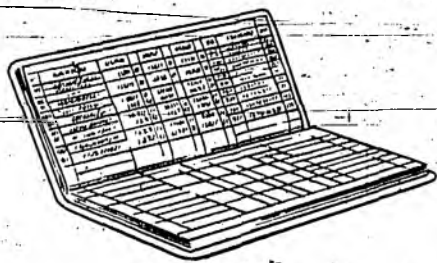

The idea of linking a gift shop and plumbing contractor originated with the large amount of work the firm did in home bathrooms.

"We got the idea that people needed ideas on furnishing their bathrooms attractively, and thought we might be able to help them," Borlase said.

Custom-made toilet seats can be ordered with professional labels or items inlaid in the top; a sample on display for a physician's office contains Band-Aids and hypodermic needles, Borlase said.

The Tet Offensive Peril

WASHINGTON — It should now be quite clear that the White House and the Pentagon are concerned that the North Vietnamese might launch an Indo-China offensive, perhaps at Tet, as U. S. forces continue their withdrawal.

blunt warnings to Hanoi. President Nixon was quite explicit at his news conference. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird took the same tough line in congressional testimony.

as commander in chief, take the action that is necessary to protect our remaining forces, because the number of our ground combat forces is going down very, very steadily.

COMMENT

No Time Limit

The Oregonian President Nixon's warning to North Vietnam of specific aerial attacks he will order if necessary to protect American troops in their steady withdrawal from South Vietnam is certain to arouse fresh cries of alarm from his get-out-now critics.

The charge will be that he has authorized a resumption of bombing of North Vietnam which was ended two years ago as an inducement to get North Vietnamese and Viet Cong Communist delegates to the Paris peace table — a maneuver which failed to bring serious negotiations, and merely provided another propaganda forum for the enemy.

Reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam will continue, the President said, to protect U. S. forces against a surprise strike from the North. If these flights are fired upon, "I will not only order that they return the fire, but I will order that the missile site be destroyed and that the military complex around that site which supports it also be destroyed by bombing."

Furthermore, if the North Vietnamese threaten remaining U. S. forces by infiltration "and proceed possibly to use that capacity to increase the level of fighting in South Vietnam," the President said, "I will order the bombing of military sites in North Vietnam, the passes that lead from North Vietnam into South Vietnam, the military complexes, the military supply lines."

The North Vietnamese have been gathering their forces on their own and neighboring territories (Laos and Cambodia) since the dry season started in October. It does not seem likely that they will wait until all Americans are out of South Vietnam. A step-up in North Vietnamese "activities" will be the signal, the President said, for a resumption of bombing of military targets in North Vietnam.

Also, whether the reference was intentional or not, the President left the implication that reconnaissance planes themselves may be armed and ordered to attack missile sites if fired upon hereafter. To this time, the official position has been that reconnaissance planes have been unarmed, although accompanied by armed bombers.

The President's declaration therefore raises important new questions of concern to Americans as well as to North Vietnamese whom he evidently wished to impress with the necessity of beginning to negotiate for peace. A massive enemy attack on South Vietnam could result in massive U. S. bombing of North Vietnam — a policy which was abandoned in 1968 — at any time in which there were American soldiers, airmen or naval personnel in the South Vietnam theater. One year? Two years? Three years?

The renewal of bombing, under the President's terms, could be ordered, as well, if a major North Vietnamese offensive increased "the level of fighting in South Vietnam." His statement seems to say that the United States will guarantee the defensive capability of the South Vietnamese without a time limit.

This newspaper fully subscribes to the President's efforts to protect American forces while his timetable for disengagement runs its course. It subscribes to as much military assistance, short of U. S. manpower, as will be needed by South Vietnam and Cambodia to defend themselves. It does not subscribe to an open-end guarantee of the defense of South Vietnam by American soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen without limit in time. That defense belongs to the South Vietnamese, along with the Cambodians and the Laotians. It is the goal of Vietnamization. The President, we believe, should clarify his somewhat cryptic warning to North Vietnam.

THE HOLIDAY ROAD

Treasury Strongman

WASHINGTON — When President Nixon summoned John B. Connally to Washington in early December and quickly stunned him with a request to become Secretary of the Treasury, he set in motion potentially profound changes for his Administration and for the 1972 Presidential election.

restoring the Treasury to its old preeminence. Connally's amateur standing in the financial world, they feel, will make him no more a shaper of policy than his placid predecessor, Chicago banker David Kennedy.

But when one is not resistant to the germ, trouble and when the staph germ starts causing trouble, it can be stubborn as all - got - out. There are different varieties, staph aureus being the most vicious form. It also has the knack of becoming resistant to antibiotics.

SST Report

WASHINGTON — President Nixon was asked at last week's press conference why he didn't release a top secret report on the SST that the White House had commissioned. The question was asked because it is believed that the report was unfavorable to the SST.

attack the mainland of Red China. And Red China will refuse tourist rights to the United States because we wouldn't let Chiang Kai-shek attack the mainland.

In the Administration, Connally was sought as an aggressive new voice selling the President's economic policy to Congress and the public but may well end up as much more. The masterful three-term governor of Texas can be counted on to stare down Presidential aides who have terrorized the Nixon Cabinet.

What about Australia? "Australia will turn down SST tourist flights because we put a high tariff on wool, and Hong Kong will do the same because we won't let any men's suits into the United States."

Given Connally's political weight both internally and externally for the Nixon administration, it becomes understandable why Mr. Nixon named a man to the Treasury whose detailed views on economic policy are a blur.

"India won't be talking to the United States because we gave fighter planes to Pakistan?" "Pakistan won't be talking to the United States because we gave tanks to India."

So vague an economic background has led some businessmen to speculate that Mr. Nixon has no intention of

"I don't understand," I said. "If you start on the SST now, it will be ready by 1979. Most scientists agree the SST is not a practical plane to fly over land because of its sonic boom. Its only value would be in flying over water, from one continent to another, in less than three hours. Therefore the success of the plane will be dependent on tourists, and there is some question as to how many tourists will be flying by 1979."

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D. Staph Infection

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our family of five has been fighting staph infections in the form of boils and sties for over a year. We were all given nose-throat cultures and results were negative.

In April we reported from Saigon that as much as 80 percent of the war material infiltrated into South Vietnam was coming through Shanoukville. That estimate, unofficial then, has now been confirmed by information acquired in the raids on the Cambodian sanctuaries.

Our pediatrician says the germ apparently is just on our skin and advises meticulous bathing habits. We scrub daily from head to foot with phisohex and still we get boils.

Little has been said about the fact that the fighting in Cambodia has closed the port of Shanoukville to North Vietnamese forces.

I have been told I am wasting my time scrubbing the house with a commercial disinfectant — but I am trying to get at the source. Where are these germs being harbored and what will kill them? — N.A.J.

Here are my suggestions: Rather than scrubbing the house, put emphasis on frequent laundering of bedclothes and clothing which can be contaminated by moist, staph-carrying skin.

It is a very common type of germ, so a great many people carry it around with them — and may suffer no consequences, because they happen to be resistant to it, and while the germ exists, it doesn't set up pockets of infection, such as boils on the skin or sties in the eyelids.

Good nutrition and adequate rest are important in bolstering natural resistance to the germs.

But when one is not resistant to the germ, trouble and when the staph germ starts causing trouble, it can be stubborn as all - got - out. There are different varieties, staph aureus being the most vicious form. It also has the knack of becoming resistant to antibiotics.

Staph is an ornery, deceptive germ, so when sties or boils break out, treatment should start at the first sign, and continue for several weeks afterward, to get rid of lingering germs.

About two-thirds of the staph usually is harbored in the nose and throat, 20 to 30 per cent in skin folds, particularly the armpits and going.

Finally — as suggested by your negative nose-throat cultures — is there a source outside the family that may have staph infections? Or be a carrier? A close friend, relative, or one of the children's playmates may be supplying you with staph.

Your scrupulous bathing is essential. Besides that, keep fingernails cut short (to prevent picking up the germs and carrying them to other parts of the body), and wash hands frequently and keep them away from the face, and particularly

Note to Mrs. O.P.: In some instances hormones may speed the growth of a cancer; in others, it can retard the growth. It depends on the type of cancer and the kind of hormones.

Fashion Note

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH We can remember the days when capes were worn by such personages as Franklin D. Roosevelt and Count Dracula, but it is only recently that they have become high-style for women, along with a garment called a poncho whose acquaintance we first made in a World War I military surplus store. The new capes and ponchos are quite different from those we see in memory's eye, as befits the liberated sex. The big thing appears to be that the apparel goes well with short skirts, long skirts, in-betweens and pants, and can be fashioned from anything from mink to madras. Capes are of all lengths and, depending on size, are useful for riding bikes in and for covering bundles. In today's informal world the ubiquitous poncho, which can be knit at home to one's own taste, has more uses than you can shake a stick at. Having reached an age when women's styles often baffle us, we are glad to note that this one seems entirely acceptable.

Critical Crime

Christian Science Monitor The Greek military dictatorship has exceeded even the average totalitarian regime in censorial arrogance. Premier Panapopoulos' government issued a decree making dissemination of "false" news about Greece anywhere in the world a crime punishable by imprisonment. As a kind of afterthought, the government later said non-Greeks in other countries would not be prosecuted for saying unpleasant things about it. That is nice, and we would like to be among the first not to be jailed anywhere in the world for violating the Athens decree. Unfortunately, Greeks who dislike the dictatorship lack the same privilege.

Trial verdict hinges on blind obedience

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—The verdict in the My Lai court-martial of 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr., still many weeks away, likely will hinge on the question of whether an officer of the U.S. Army should blindly carry out his orders.

This has become clear in the Calley trial, as well as in the preliminary hearing for Calley's commander in Vietnam, Capt. Ernest L. Medina.

Each has contended he was merely following orders during an alleged massacre in the Vietnamese village of My Lai on March 16, 1968. Estimates vary, but between 102 and 310 persons lost their lives in the alleged slaughter.

Soviets to increase ideological control

Moscow sources say the Kremlin crackdown on ideological dissenters exemplified by the action this week against Alexander Solzhenitsyn and other literary mavericks will be stepped up as the Soviet Union approaches the 24th Communist party Congress March 30. These sources say the likelihood is that some western newsmen in close contact with a small group of dissenters will be disciplined. Paris Problems. French police quarters are investigating tips that outlawed anarchist and Maoist groups are planning street disturbances to mark the 100th anniversary of the commune, the 1871 rising of Parisians which was crushed by the army in bloody fighting. The insurrection lasted from March to May a century ago. Diplomatic sources in Paris say the Vietnam talks are headed into a promising stalemate as frosty as the wintry Paris weather. North Vietnamese delegates spend many hours writing communiques stressing that Hanoi is a member of the "Socialist Camp"—a thinly veiled hint that Communist China and the Soviet Union would stand by its side in any new military test of strength. Relations between France and West Germany have hit a new low mark, seven years after the signing of a treaty of friendship and alliance. The problem now is European unification. French officials say unification would merely strengthen West Germany's dominant monetary and industrial position in the European community. British Prime Minister Edward Heath, according to advisers from London, plans a final effort during the commonwealth conference in Singapore next month to persuade commonwealth leaders to accept his plan to resume arms sales to South Africa. Sources say Heath no longer hopes to win opponents over to his side but will try to persuade them not to break up the commonwealth over the question. British Labor. Lacking trade unionists in Britain plan another one-day nationwide strike Jan. 12 to protest the government bill curbing union powers and wildcat strikes. As many as 500,000 workers took part in the first protest walkout Dec. 8.

Life is hard for Czechs

PRAGUE (UPI)—He who kept his job has lost his honor: He who kept his honor has lost his job. Behind this grim little epigram lies the reality of hardship for hundreds of thousands of Czechoslovaks caught in the purges which have sliced through this nation in the past year. Man who once stood at the top of their profession has been dropped into manual labor or enforced unemployment—all because they approved the 1968 reforms of Alexander Dubcek or condemned the Soviet-led invasion that ended those reforms. Among the victims are some famous names. Emil Zatopek, a four-time Olympic champion, touring the countryside with a surveying team. Jiri Hochman, a leading journalist, does manual labor in a provincial factory. Frantisek Kriegel, a prominent surgeon and former member of the Communist Party's ruling politburo, is an old-age pensioner, even though he is only 62 and in fine health. Dubcek himself—the former leader of the party—has no job at all. He lives in idleness in his summer house near Bratislava. To have been victimized like this is a mark of honor with many Czechoslovaks. But it makes life no easier for the victims. The purge of the Communist Party has ended now. More than 300,000 of the 1.4 million party members lost their cards. Membership of many others was suspended. Some "suspended" members have kept their jobs. Ousted members have been lucky to find manual labor. A second stage of the purge is beginning now. It is aimed at nonparty members who must undergo a close screening of their politics. Typical questions in this screening include: How do you assess the 1968 military intervention of the Warsaw pact countries? What have you done since 1967? Give details. Did you go abroad in recent years. If so, why? And where? Do you have contact with foreigners? Who? Who are your friends? This purge of nonparty members has hit especially hard in education and the mass media. Seventy professors at Prague's Charles University have been fired because of "reformist leanings."

Hospital offers unique facility

BOSTON (UPI)—The Massachusetts Rehabilitation Hospital (MRH), the newest hospital in this city of topnotch medical centers, probably is one of the area's unique facilities. In short, MRH is designed as an "in-between" hospital, bridging the gap between acute hospital care and at-home treatment. The 10-story hospital is designed for the patient on the road to recovery who is not yet well enough to go home. "We're geared toward one objective—getting the patient back on his feet," said Sherwin Z. Goodblatt, medical director of MRH. When the hospital opened this fall, it was the first built in Boston in 17 years. "MRH is designed as the first solely rehabilitative hospital," he said, emphasizing the facility's middle name. "We're within a three-mile radius of 15 other hospitals, and there are 31 in metropolitan Boston. We deal only with rehabilitation." Daily room rates at MRH are about 40 per cent below most other general hospitals. MRH charges in the vicinity of $65 per day. "We don't need costly surgical or obstetrical equipment," Goodblatt explained. "So that's one major expense we don't have to cope with." The clinic and treatment facilities—including X-ray, therapy and pharmacy units—at MRH are below ground level with administrative offices on the first floor. Nine floors of patients' rooms rise over these facilities and offices. The V-shaped hospital has 318 beds and expansion capabilities for 600. The facility was constructed in a way to provide for expansion of two more wings on its 2.5-acre site, finishing off an "X" in design. Patient floors are wider than most for easy transportation and are shorter so nurses can provide close supervision. Closed-circuit television scans each room. Each floor also is equipped with a solarium—sun room—at each end, and each floor also has a dining room and kitchen unit. In the dining room, Goodblatt said, "patients don't have to eat in their rooms. This is important to their morale." All rooms are private or semi-private and there are four color schemes. "The high cost of medical care was getting to the point where something had to be done," Goodblatt said. "We feel that we are making inroads into this problem. MRH is one instance where something is being done—and not merely talked about."

Warhol asks Television Schedules ad-libbing

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Underground actresses are starting to differ from the above board types if a girl named Viva is an example. She surfaced in Hollywood for a role in "Dealer" at Columbia Pictures, her first major "straight" film. She is a veteran, however, of 16 movies, mostly undergrounds and eight of which were Andy Warhol put-ons. Viva, her hair a mass of strawberry blonde ringlets, was a portrait in fury as she sat in her cramped dressing room eating an omelet. She wore a skirt and a peep-a-boo top which revealed her entire bosom. Viva, whose real name is Sue, also was in her seventh month of pregnancy. "Underground movies are a whole different trip from this stuff," she said. "Warhol never tells you to do anything. He just starts the camera and you ad lib everything. Once in a while he asks you to do it over. These above ground movies are different. I do what my director, Bill Norton, tells me to do—some times. We had a nude scene the other day and suddenly there were 50 guys behind the camera watching. You don't find that sort of thing in underground movies." Asked to compare Hollywood picture-making with other types, Viva said the principal difference was money. "It's the same thing as the difference between a pencil sketch and an elaborate oil painting," she said. "They aren't related at all. An underground picture takes from three hours to three weeks to shoot. This picture is going to run seven weeks or something for crying out loud. That's ridiculous. They use 35MM film in Hollywood. I like really bad 8MM and 16MM movies. I take a lot of them myself. I'm a complainer. "I was making a movie in Rome and the director insulted me, so I pulled out his hair and broke his glasses. He was one of those dumb Italian directors that was always tripping over the wires and cables. He didn't know what he was doing." Viva, who is married to French filmmaker Michael Auder, has written a far-out novel (which she says could be autobiographical) titled "Superstar." "I'd rather write than act," Viva said. If the book reflects even a fraction of Viva's off-camera life, she is one of the great swingers of the Western world, perhaps the Orient as well. "These straight movies are crazy," she said. "The director is an entrance and exit freak. He really digs scenes with people entering and exiting. That's all I do in this picture. "Except that I improvise a dialogue," she said, but they'll probably cut it out."

Manson 'family' faces new charge

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Five more members of Charles Manson's hippie group known as the "Manson Family" have run afoul of the law, this time for allegedly trying to kill another family member to keep her from testifying against their guru. The Los Angeles County grand jury Friday indicted the five for giving Barbara Hoyt, 18, an overdose of LSD in a hamburger in an effort to prevent her from testifying at Manson's trial for the seven Tate-LaBianca murders. However, Miss Hoyt survived and took the stand for about two weeks of damaging testimony against the 36-year-old convict. Three of Manson's female followers, two of them pregnant, were arrested on a street corner outside the Hall of Justice where they have camped for months during the Tate trial, which is in recess until Monday. They, and two male family members were named in the indictment. When police arrived to arrest Catherine "Gypsy" Share, 28, and Ruth "Outsh" Morehouse, 18, who are both pregnant, and Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme, 22, the group began singing "One Is One," a song composed by Manson. Several other Family members gathered at the corner appeared unhappy that they weren't named in the indictments and volunteered to go along with officers and be booked. The names of the two men indicted were not made public. Earlier this week, Steve Grogan, 19, was indicted along with Manson for the murder of Donald "Shorty" Shea, 30, a movie stuntman who worked at the family's Spahn Ranch

RR subsidiary lost millions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional investigators charged Sunday that the bankrupt Penn Central Railroad lost nearly $21 million on a jet taxi subsidiary run by a former Air Force general who "squandered" much of its assets on women and luxurious living.

The report, by staff members of the House Banking Committee which is trying to unravel the events leading to the Penn Central's financial collapse earlier this year, chronicled the alleged operations of Executive Jet Aviation Inc., EJA and retired Air Force Brig. Gen. Olbert F. Lassiter, its president until his ouster last July.

Committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., said the report, which also involved other former Air Force generals and international financiers, provided "important clues" to the downfall of the Penn Central.

"The facts laid out by the staff . . . present one of the saddest — and at times one of the most sordid — pictures of the American business community that has ever been revealed in an official document," Patman said.

Lassiter, of Beverly Hills, Calif., told UPI the charges were an attempt "at sensationalism and the most absurd report on Executive Jet activities." He blamed the firm's legal and financial problems on Bruce Sundun, a Washington lawyer who took over the presidency and served previously as its general counsel.

Lassiter currently is fighting in a Delaware court to regain control of EJA and predicted he would win.

EJA was formed in 1964 by Lassiter to charter airplanes to ferry busy executives of other companies. The Pennsylvania Railroad, which merged in 1968 with the New York Central to form the Penn Central, initially invested $5 million in the firm and that amount swelled to $21 million over the next six years.

The report alleged that Lassiter "consistently and insistently attempted to palm off environmental noise surveys on EJA."

Health needs eyed

PARMA (UPI) — Eight persons, headed by the Rev. Fr. Santos T. Recalde, pastor of the Sacred Hearts of Jesus and Mary Catholic Church, have incorporated to solve problems of caring for the medical needs of migrant workers and low-income persons in Idaho.

The Rev. Fr. Recalde said the corporation, Parma Farmworkers Health Committee, Inc., plans to launch its program with the start of the new year. The incorporators signed an agreement with the Colorado Migrant Council and will be a delegate agency to that council. He said the Colorado council applied for a federal grant for migrants some time ago, and was awarded a considerable sum of money.

The priest said one of the first efforts will be to get a physician to Parma. The group will decide whether to use the parish hall of the Catholic Church for its operation, or whether to try to rent a building for a clinic.

A grant of $16,648 had been provided the local group, which has set a budget for six months to a year. A community coordinator and health worker will be hired.

Victim remains critical

SALMON (UPI) — Zion Spear, 80, Challis, remained in semi-conscious condition Sunday at Steele Memorial Hospital in Salmon after he was beaten Dec. 4 by an assailant who also robbed him.

Spear was found unconscious on his bed at the two-room home nine miles north of Challis. He apparently had been robbed of $500 in travelers checks, $2 in cash and a pistol. All but a portion of the $2 was recovered later in Salmon.

Bobby Crockett, 18, Challis, is being held in Custer County Jail on charges of aggravated assault and robbery.

He is in jail in lieu of posting $50,000 bond on each count. A requested attorney has yet to be appointed. He is expected to appear later for a preliminary hearing.

Kent State Bumper standards declines assailed

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — Kent State University has refused the National Student Association (NSA) permission to hold its annual leadership conference on campus next month.

Kent State Dean of Student Affairs Dr. Richard Brodemir said Sunday University President Robert I. White desired a one-year moratorium from such activities as the result of the May 4 shooting of four students by National Guardsmen.

"President White has mentioned several times that Kent State needs one full year of normal operations to give us the proper time to recover from the terrible wound of last spring," Brodemir said. NSA had planned to gather 1,000 delegates here to discuss the shootings and international student relations, among other topics.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five law students organized under the name SMASH said today the government's plan to require better bumpers on cars is so weak it would not even insure a car would run after a five-mile-per-hour crash.

The George Washington University students said they would petition the Transportation Department to drop its plan in favor of one requiring that cars withstand crashes at 15 miles per hour without damage.

The Transportation Department proposed Nov. 21 that 1973 model cars be required to withstand a five-mile-per-hour crash without damage, to lights, reflectors, latching devices, or fuel, cooling and exhaust systems.

"The rules do not require that the car be able to be driven away following the test," SMASH said in a statement. "Nor would the rules require that brakes, steering, internal engine parts, free turning radius of tires, engine mounts, drive trains, transmission and wheel alignment be unimpaired."

SMASH stands for Students Mobilizing on Auto Safety Hazards. It is one of a dozen or more student "public interest" groups working under John F. Banzhaf III, a George Washington Law professor.

The students said their petition would propose piston-mounted bumpers designed to absorb crash impact at speeds up to 15 miles per hour. The Transportation Department proposal would let auto makers solidly attach bumpers to the chassis, as they do now.

SMASH said it also would recommend that all bumpers be centered a uniform number of inches above the ground to prevent mismatch in any collision.

Hospital name changed

NAMPA (UPI) — The hospital facility of the Idaho State School and Hospital was renamed the Erwin C. Sage Memorial Hospital over the weekend during a special ceremony in Nampa.

In naming the building after Sage, who was superintendent from 1960-66, Gov. Don Samuelson said the hospital is the only medical facility in the nation especially designed for the medical care of the mentally retarded.

In accepting the honor, which was approved by a resolution of the 1970 legislature, Dr. Sage described the construction of the hospital as a team effort.

Phnom Penh area struck

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — The Cambodian command said today Viet Cong and North Vietnamese units bombarded Cambodian positions slightly more than seven miles from downtown Phnom Penh Sunday night.

Communique from Saigon said Viet Cong gunners shelled Da Nang air base and a nearby U.S. Marine unit and terrorists set off a bomb near a Saigon rail yard.

The Cambodian command said the Communist mortar attack was against the village of Peam Oknea Ong on the east bank of the Mekong River. Windows rattled in the capital as four Cambodian T28 bombers bombed suspected Viet Cong positions around Peam Oknea Ong.

In other parts of Cambodia, the command said Viet Cong forces blew up another bridge on Highway 4 linking Phnom Penh to the port of Kompong Som. The Communists have blocked the road for a month, cutting off access to Cambodia's only oil refinery.

Lt. Col Am Rong, the official Cambodian military spokesman said the blown bridge was at Dalath, 45 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, the scene of two weekend battles in which six Communist troops were killed. Government troops lost six killed and 27 wounded.

"Advance on Highway 4 is very slow because the Communists continue to sabotage behind our line," Am Rong said.

The U.S. Command in Saigon said four rockets hit Da Nang air base early today and 10 minutes later two six-foot-long 122 mm rockets struck the headquarters of the U.S. 5th Marine Regiment, 200 miles south of the base. No casualties were reported in either shelling.

The shellings and a terrorist explosion in Saigon that caused no casualties fell in the midst of a Viet Cong holiday period — the 24th anniversary of the start of the French Indochina war and 10th anniversary of the founding of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said government rangers sweeping through the Mekong Delta 132 miles southwest of Saigon killed 31 Viet Cong after a battle in which six Viet Cong and one South Vietnamese ranger was wounded.

Vatican sources said the Pope was referring to the Polish food riots and the use of armed force to put them down and the protests against the Spanish Basque trials.

Aide fears for Hughes' safety

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Robert A. Maheu, rebuffed in state court in an attempt to reinstate his post as Howard Hughes' chief of Nevada operations, says he will continue trying to determine whether the billionaire is safe.

During a bitter two-week court battle, Maheu contended the reclusive was "spirited away" from this gambling city.

Thanksgiving eve and that only Hughes could dismiss him because "we had a pact to be together the rest of our lives."

Control of the $300 million Nevada empire owned by the mysterious Hughes was given to his corporate parent, Hughes Tool Co., by District Court Judge Howard Babcock, who upheld the firing Saturday.

Maheu, a former counterparty and Boy Scout leader, was the architect of Hughes' interests here and had been in charge of them since 1966, when the industrialist arrived.

After Hughes left here last month — under circumstances still not fully explained — Maheu was fired by the board of directors of Hughes Tool Co., which is wholly owned by Hughes. But he obtained a temporary restraining order and the matter moved into court.

Robber dropped his wig

BOISE (UPI) — Boise Police officers have reported a black wig, theorized as belonging to one of the men who robbed Welles Department Store last Monday night, as in their possession.

More than $6,000 was taken by one man from the store after Unilever forced manager C. Norman Profit to open the safe and the matter moved into court.

South 'unknown' for both parties

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The South is the big unknown destined to bother both major political parties in their long-range planning for the 1972 presidential election.

Neither party can justify writing off the 11-state region with its 130 electoral votes as the GOP did from the end of the Reconstruction period until 1952. If the South were still a monolithic one-party area, it would provide almost half the votes needed to elect a president.

But a two-party or three-party split has been the rule in all presidential elections since 1948.

Gov.-elect George C. Wallace of Alabama is clouding the outlook as a threat to compel another three-party contest in 1972. He already looks like a candidate eager for a presidential campaign like that of 1968 when he polled 13 per cent of the national popular vote and carried five Southern States with 45 electoral votes.

President Nixon also carried five Southern states with 58 electoral votes, and Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic nominee, won only Texas with its 25.

Wallace now is saying that if he runs in 1972 he will concentrate more on Southern states. His goal would be to carry more than the five, he won in 1968 and deny either major party candidate the 270 electoral votes needed to win.

If he could deny the major party candidates a majority of the electoral votes, he would like to bargain with his electoral votes and thus name the winner. Otherwise the election would go to the House of Representatives, where each state delegation casts one vote. If a Republican or Democratic presidential candidate agreed to negotiate, even through agents, he would set off an uproar within a segment of his own party. Wallace is still the symbol of the old style Southern politics in which race is the central issue.

Some non-Southerners in politics profess to see the racial issue fading because now faces emerged as winners in Democratic primary contests in the South this year. Although Wallace also won a primary contest, the newcomers in other states are less identified with old racial conflicts.

The 1970 elections offered little cheer to those Republican apostles of a "Southern Strategy" to lure Wallace partisans and conservative Democrats into the GOP and to discourage Wallace from another presidential campaign.

In the 11 states, the GOP gained one Senate and one House seat and took a net loss of one governorship. In 1971, it will hold four of 22 Southern Senate seats, 27 of 106 House seats and two governorships.

The Republican efforts to win Senate seats from Democrats in Florida and Texas and governorships in South Carolina and Texas were conspicuous failures.

Evidence asked in kidnaping

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — The Brazilian government Saturday insisted on evidence that kidnaped Swiss ambassador Giovanni Enrico Bucher is alive before it will consider freeing 70 jailed leftists demanded as ransom by Bucher's terrorist captors.

Justice Minister Alfredo Buzaid said in a formal note Saturday that no communications from the kidnapers would be considered genuine unless it is signed and dated by Bucher.

Buzaid's note indirectly rejected a list of 70 persons demanded in exchange for Bucher that was received by a news agency Friday.

Bucher was abducted Dec. 7 from his car by terrorists who murdered his Brazilian bodyguard.

Military sources said the kidnapers are believed to be nervous, inexperienced and afraid. They said the assumption is based on the kidnapers' failure to set an execution deadline for the ambassador and softening of an original demand for a firm government commitment to ransom Bucher before delivery of the kidnapers' terms.

They said they did not think a dragnet hunting for Bucher will endanger his life because his captors are "soft."

College freshmen more liberal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The college freshman of 1970 is older and more liberal than his predecessors, strongly supports legalized abortion and equal rights for women, and is twice as likely to favor legalizing use of marijuana as he was just two years ago.

It may come as a surprise to their mothers and fathers, but a nationwide survey published Saturday also indicated that only 18.3 per cent of this year's crop of incoming freshmen believed there was a "generation gap" between themselves and their parents.

The survey taken this fall by the American Council on Education (ACE) indicates that most freshmen believe the federal government should be more active in controlling pollution and preventing crime.

For themselves, more freshmen than last year think they should have a voice in designing the college curriculum and that faculty promotions should be based partly on their evaluations.

The council compiled its portrait of today's freshmen from replies to questionnaires returned by 180,004 students at 275 institutions of higher learning. Total freshman enrollment nationwide this year was 1.63 million.

Of the freshmen, 36.6 per cent identified themselves as "left or liberal," compared with 27.4 per cent last year, and 18.1 per cent said they were "conservative or far right," down from the 22.0 per cent of 1968.

The percentage of students favoring legalized use of marijuana was up sharply from last year — 38.4 per cent compared with 25.6 per cent — and double that reported in 1968.

The percentage of students favoring legalized use of marijuana was up sharply from last year — 38.4 per cent compared with 25.6 per cent — and double that reported in 1968.

All students answering, 63.4 per cent said they "agree strongly or somewhat" in legalized abortion. A higher percentage of males, 84.4, favored it than females, 62.1.

LDS church given grant for Indians

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A grant of $50,000 was given to the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints today to expand its program of assistance to American Indians.

The grant came from the Charles E. Merrill Trust and was accepted by President Harold B. Lee and N. Eldon Tanner on behalf of President Joseph Fielding Smith.

The late Charles E. Merrill was one of the founders of Merrill-Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith and was also involved in the organization of Safeway Stores, Inc.

Lorenzo N. Hoopes of Oakland, Calif., vice president and director of Safeway, presented the grant to the church.

The grant will be administered by Brigham Young University which has 804 Indian students registered this year. Hoopes said the grant is to be "used to help fund the American Indian assistance program in agriculture and home management.

The First Presidency said it was "deeply grateful for this gift not only because of what the university can accomplish with it but because it represents a recognition of the work our church has been doing to improve the lot of the American Indian."

Politics seen in new appointment

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Alaska, Arkansas, Idaho, Minnesota, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Wisconsin. That list of states could very well have been on President Nixon's mind when he decided to appoint John Connally to be Secretary of the Treasury.

All west of the Mississippi River, they make up all but three of the states in which voters replaced Republican governors last month.

Standing alone, the GOP record of losing 13 governorships while picking up only two in the 1970 elections was a political disaster.

And for anyone who watches state politics for the start of small swells that eventually will make big waves in national politics, the Midwestern and Western Republican losses could signal even deeper trouble ahead for the GOP in 1972 and beyond.

The initial reaction to the appointment of the former governor of Texas, a man with impressive experience in public service and a proven Democratic politics but little in high finance, was that Nixon was making a bid for Texas' 26 electoral votes.

For example, political columnist Robert Novak and Roland Evans commented that the appointment could be for Nixon "an incalculable asset in shoring up the fast deteriorating Republican position in Texas," and even if the new cabinet member stays out of politics as a cabinet member, a neutral Connally "would be an immense comfort to Mr. Nixon."

This is not just the speculation of columnists. Peter O'Donnell, the Texas Republican National Committeeman, was quoted as saying the appointment "assures that Mr. Nixon is going to carry Texas in 1972 and it means Son (John) Tower will be re-elected."

But it could be that the President had a lot more in mind when he tapped Connally for Treasury. The 10 states which replaced Republican governors in November will have 54 electoral votes in 1972. That is not enough to base a presidential campaign on, but certainly worth bidding for at a price as low as a cabinet appointment.

It may be that no voter would choose Nixon in 1972 simply because he has given the West a cabinet voice, but some might reject him if the idea got around that the President was deliberately doubling the regional significance of the appointment.

A hint of the regional political might be detected in the comments on it by a newly successful Midwestern Democrat who lost out in his bid for the presidency.

Son-Elect Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said "I am sure this decision was not entirely based on monetary and fiscal concerns. It was a political-economic decision."

Making debut...

SON OF JOHN WAYNE discusses the script of "The Million Dollar Kidnapping" with his father, John Ethan Wayne, 8, who last spring was a costumed extra in "Rio Lobo" with his father, this time is making his acting debut in the picture, playing the grandson of Wayne. (UPI)

Talks end much as expected

HELSINKI (UPI)—The third round of Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) between the United States and the Soviet Union ended this week much as had been expected.

American negotiators were disappointed over Soviet failure to match specific U.S. proposals made last summer during the second phase of the numerical limitation of missiles.

This is generally ascribed, however, to preparations on the part of the Soviet leadership for the 24th Communist Party Congress starting March 30.

These preparations certainly include future policy for the nuclear negotiations which resume in Vienna March 15.

By now, the two powers know what weapons the other would like included in any future limitation agreement.

In view of the complexity of the subject and the fact that it goes to the heart of national security interests, an early accord never had been expected.

U.S. negotiators did not expect agreement during the session which has just ended.

Police to be adopted by Moscow will eventually determine whether any agreement, even a preliminary one, can be reached by late 1971.

The Soviets may enter concrete, specific negotiations on the U.S. proposal, for a numerical limitation of around 1,900 on both defensive (ABM) and offensive (ICBM) missiles.

They may instead push for a partial agreement limiting ABMs only to Washington and Moscow—which would create a problem for President Nixon who has always stressed the "link" between the two missile types.

Moscow may, of course, be content to engage merely in further exploration of U.S. proposals.

Seattle trial makes impact

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI)—The Seattle conspiracy trial is over for the moment, but the legal implications of the sudden end may strongly affect future trials where disruptive courtroom tactics are employed.

U.S. District Judge George Boldt's declaration of a mistrial and his ruling that the defendants must serve their contempt sentences before a new trial can be held may chill the hopes of radicals who plan to use the courts as a political platform.

But the "Boldt Doctrine," which the judge said came as an answer to his "daily prayers," must first be upheld in the Appeal Courts.

In essence, the "Boldt Doctrine" involves calling a mistrial when the actions of the defendants have, in the opinion of the judge, prejudiced their own case with the jury.

Then, the judge would sentence the defendants for contempt of court and uphold the beginning of a new trial until the contempt terms had been served.

If disruptions continue to occur in subsequent trials, the procedure could be repeated, apparently endlessly.

Attorneys for the seven defendants, charged with conspiring to damage federal property at a Feb. 1 demonstration at the U.S. Courthouse in Seattle, have already started vigorous appeal.

Attorney Michael Tigar said he knows of no case where a mistrial had been called on such grounds.

Tigar, a law professor at UCLA, said there never will be another trial for the Seattle Seven. His appeal will attempt to show the mistrial order was not justified and a second trial would be double jeopardy.

Boldt called the mistrial Dec. 10 after the six trials defendants held up the start of the court session for nearly 30 minutes to protest part of the overflow crowd of spectators being forced to wait outside in the rain.

Last Monday, when the judge announced the contempt sentences of six months each for the male defendants, Susan Stern, the only female defendant, insisted on addressing the court, even though illness had prevented her from being in court when the disruption occurred.

When deputy marshals attempted to physically cut short her emotional 25-minute speech, a near-riot broke out. The brawl resulted in additional contempt sentences for all male defendants except Michael Lerner, who was held in his seat.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—How does the presidential seal differ from the vice-president's seal in number of stars?

A—The presidential coat of arms and seal has 50 stars; that of the vice-president has 13.

Q—Which was the first American resort city to install a boardwalk?

A—Atlantic City in 1870. The present boardwalk is about seven miles long.

Q—How many quills has a porcupine?

A—Approximately 30,000.

by a defense attorney during the 15 minute recess. Mrs. Stern also was cited for contempt.

In all, defendants—Marshal Jeffrey Dow, Michael Abalos, Joseph Kelly and Roger Lippman—were sentenced to a total of one year in jail on two separate contempt charges each. Lerner and Mrs. Stern were sentenced to six-month jail terms on the one charge of contempt each.

Delta Is Growing

The Mississippi River delta grows farther into the Gulf of Mexico at the rate of about one mile every 16 years. The river's slow current continuously deposits soil there. The delta has gradually assumed the shape of a bird's foot.

Cattlemen want reasonable fees

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Cattle ranchers and sheepmen who graze livestock on some 280 million acres of government-owned rangeland in the west are cranking up a 1971 campaign for legislation to keep federal grazing fees at "reasonable" levels.

In effect, the campaign will seek to upset a current government program under which fees are being increased annually on a 10-year schedule running through 1970. It will also be pointed at writing into law several proposals made earlier this year in a report by the Public Land Law Review Commission.

The grazing fee issue has been a boiling controversy between stockmen and government officials for years. Stockmen have long contended the government charges too much for the use of some of the grazing land; government officials have maintained the fees are too low in comparison with the value of the forage on the land.

Stockmen lost a major round in the battle in 1969 when the Johnson administration ordered a 10-year program of fee boosts designed to raise charges eventually to a theoretically "fair" market value. Officials said the fees, which had averaged about 33 cents per "animal unit month" in 1968, would be raised in annual stages to $1.23 a month—plus any needed inflation adjustments—over a decade.

The first of the 10 scheduled annual fee increases was put into effect in 1969. In 1970, however, the Nixon administration bowed to stockmen's demands for a moratorium on further boosts until officials could study the mid-1970 report of the Public Land Law Review Commission.

The report, when it appeared, supported the basic concept of charging "fair market value" prices for grazing lands operated by the Interior and Agriculture Departments. But it was critical of some of the methods used in calculating cost and values. After studying the report, Agriculture and Interior officials earlier this month rebuffed stockmen's pleas for further delays in fee increases. They ordered the second-year boost under the 10-year program—which had been scheduled for 1970—to take effect in 1971.

C.W. McMillan, executive vice-president of the American National Cattlemen's Association, said the latest increase makes it more urgent than ever to get legislation on grazing fees next year.

McMillan said not all details of the proposed new legislation were set yet. But he said cattlemen will submit a plan based on recommendations of the Public Land Law Review Commission.

The proposal, he said, will be "fair to all users of the public land."

Million people live in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Utah's population stands at more than one million persons today—a whopping 18.9 per cent increase over a decade ago. That was the official word issued by the U. S. Census Bureau in Washington, D. C., Friday, which fixed Utah's total population figures at 1,050,273.

This is the first official count issued by the bureau for all of Utah's counties and municipalities. And, if there was any doubt about the state's changing culture and the direction in which it is moving, the Census Bureau has definitely settled all questions. It revealed that 80.4 per cent of all Utahans live in urban areas.

The biggest growth rate over the past decade was recorded in Davis County, which perennially has been one of the fastest growing areas in the nation. Its population increased 52.9 per cent to 96,028, with Morgan and Washington counties respectively logging the next fastest growth.

As far as the state city's are concerned, Bountiful took the fastest growth honors there. It showed an impressive 63.8 per cent increase while Orem's population went up nearly 40 per cent and Logan jumped 19.2 per cent.

Utah's two largest cities—Salt Lake City and Ogden respectively—showed decreases as residents began to flow into outlying suburban communities. Salt Lake dropped 7.2 per cent; while Ogden lost only one per cent. Ogden City now has 69,478 residents compared with Salt Lake's 175,885 citizens.

Cuban fleet starts suit

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI)—A small Cuban shrimp fleet, protected by the U.S. State Department, dropped its nets in waters claimed by the state of Florida Saturday, triggering a federal court suit.

"If we win the case," said Gov. Claude Kirk, "Cuba can't complain."

Eleven Cuban trawlers arrived in the Gulf of Mexico Wednesday and the Florida Marine Patrol threatened to arrest the crewmembers and impound their boats and gear if they began fishing. But the U.S. State Department intervened, obtaining a temporary restraining order from the Justice Department Friday night forbidding the state to make any arrests.

Florida senator praised

WASHINGTON (UPI)—While he sat silently by, his clasped hands at his mouth, Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., was praised by his colleagues Saturday for his quarter-century of Senate work. Holland, 78, did not run for reelection and will retire from the Senate in January.

"I don't think there is any person who answered more fully to the description 'the good public servant,'" Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield called Holland "one of the most-respected members of this body. He is determined in his point-of-view, but he is willing to listen to the other man's point of view."

Holland rested his elbows on the arms of his chair, turning to watch each speaker in turn. Across the chamber in the gallery, his wife, Mary, listened.

"The senator's entire life has been a series of chapters of excellence," said Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev.

"If I should be asked, 'What does it take to make the whole man?' I would say, 'Look at Spessard Holland,'" Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., said.

The Senate Republican dean, George D. Aiken of Vermont, called Holland "a superb representative of the state of Florida."

Kennecott fights air standards

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)—Kennecott Copper Corp. has filed suit to block Nevada's new air pollution standards.

The standards approved by the State Board of Health went into effect Wednesday. At earlier hearings, Kennecott has argued they were unreasonable and it would be impossible to comply with them, although the company would try.

The suit, filed Friday in District Court, is based on the contention the standards as applied to Kennecott are stricter than necessary and are not in the spirit of the Air Pollution Control Act. It said they violate due-process clauses of the state and federal constitutions by affecting the company's right to operate.

The suit seeks a declaratory judgment saying the standards are contrary to the intent of the law.

Kennecott operates a big open-pit mine and smelter in the Ely-McGill area. The standards would apply largely to the fumes which are emitted from the smelter stacks.

Kennecott said it is working on a pilot project to test various ways of eliminating the emissions, but said this will take some time.

Glider flying hobby of official at Sun Valley

SUN VALLEY — One of the advantages of being a popular resort, Sun Valley finds in hosting visitors from varied backgrounds, is the wealth of talent displayed by them.

Louis Stur, who is now manager of the entire Sun Valley condominium system, visited the area originally in 1951 with the idea of working a ski season to finance his skiing hobby. A native of Hungary, he fell in love with the mountainous terrain and chose to remain. In addition to his managerial talents, Stur is well-known for his hobby of glider flying, the only individual in the area to own a glider plane.

He became interested in flying at the age of 15 when in Hungary he participated in the sport with his scout buddies. He moved to the United States as a student on an economic scholarship and attended the University of Nebraska. That area, however, was too flat for Stur so he moved west. Holding a glider-flight pilot examiner certificate enabling him to administer flight tests, and being a glider flight instructor, Stur has taught nearly 100 others the art of gliding and has played host to many informal gatherings at the Friedman Memorial Airport in Halley, where his equipment is housed.

In addition to his two trainer glider plane, Stur also owns a mechanical plane for takeoff but has never learned to pilot it. He relies on friends to lift him in the air when he is in the mood for the sport.

On good days in this area, Stur said he can soar to as high as 18,000 to 20,000 feet, and the world record set in Sun Valley in 1940 was 20,800. That record has since been broken but the area is still considered one of the best for glider flying because of the mountainous terrain.

Several Pacific northwest regional glider championships have been held at the Halley airport and in 1963 one of the participants here established an unofficial world distance record with his 557 mile flight to Swift Current, Saskatchewan, Canada. That figure has also since been exceeded.

The art of glider flying, Stur said, is catching an updraft which is created when the sun heats one area more than the surrounding areas and the warm air rises. Operating on the opposite principal of

Because there is no engine, the sport is also non-polluting, he said. Stur's is the only glider plane in the immediate area, although there are others in the state, one at Burley and two at Boise.

Stur said despite the fact the flying is safe and non-polluting, he feels it will always be a sport for fun, not transportation, because of the undependability of the weather conditions.

He plans to participate in the 1971 National Championships for the standard class in Washington next July.

AN AIRPLANE, WITHOUT wheels! No, it's Louis Stur after bringing his glider to a landing at Sun Valley. Stur who developed his hobby of glider plane flights into an art has 1,400 flights to his credit, without a scratch on his plane. With no motor, the craft is one of the few in use today that is totally non-polluting to the clear mountain air of Idaho.

Burley charts Moose lodge

BURLEY — Officers of the new Moose Lodge No. 1870 were installed Saturday during special ceremonies at National Hotel.

The lodge was chartered with 128 members and 67 more were enrolled during the evening.

Elected and installed were: Brent Thompson, governor; Merlin Kay, junior governor; F.D. (Kelly) Callahan, junior past governor; Cecil Dayley, chaplain; Larry Maier, secretary; Ken Ellmore, treasurer; Jim Cantrell, assistant sergeant-at-arms; Joe Brewerton, outer guard; Jay Sperry, sergeant-at-arms; Manuel Gallogos, Louis

Stamou and Roger Heid, all trustees.

Establishment of a Moose Lodge in Burley is the result of Callahan's work. He requested a charter in September, filed the first weekly report in October and the first 100 member charter went to the national headquarters in November. Assisting Callahan with the membership drive was L. (Toad) Moline.

Ken James, state director of Moose for Oregon and Idaho, was special guest. Also attending the special ceremonies were representatives from the Idaho-Aberdeen, Glenns Ferry, Pocatello, Twin Falls and Buhl lodges.

Filer girl gets science award

FILER — Patricia Anne MacKay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John MacKay, has received the Bausch and Lomb Science Award, reports Arthur Chatburn, high school principal.

Miss MacKay is eligible to compete for a four-year Bausch and Lomb Science Scholarship at the University of Rochester, N.Y. Scholarship winners are selected on merit. Stipends are based on need and may range up to $3,000.

Miss MacKay also has been selected to represent Idaho at the Ninth Intermountain Science and Humanities Symposium in Salt Lake City in March. This symposium is sponsored by the U.S. Army and the University of Utah. She will be one of 25 students from Idaho attending.

Nabors benefit canceled

SHOSHONE — Jim Nabors, well known television personality, will not be in Idaho during the holidays, and as a result, will not appear here for the Melba Gray family benefit, Carl Kinney, Shoshone High School principal, said Monday.

Kinney said he received word Sunday through a CBS representative that Nabors will not be in Idaho during the holidays because of other commitments, so the Dec. 28 scheduled benefit has been canceled. The school official expressed regret for the inconvenience of people selling tickets to the benefit. Those who have given checks will have them returned, and persons paying cash can get the money refunded if the tickets are taken to the high school.

Kinney said last month a verbal agreement had been obtained from Nabors for his appearance here.

Blaine, Fairfield roads snow coated

SHOSHONE — Roads in the Halley-Ketchum area and at Fairfield are snow covered, reports Idaho Department of Highways spokesman.

The spokesman said the highway over Galena Summit is snow covered and it is snowing in the Halley and Ketchum area as well as in the Fairfield area.

Highway 93 near Shoshone has a broken snow floor and about one and one-half inches of new snow fell during the night.

Search may resume for area men

CHALLIS — A search for two Magic Valley hunters who failed to return from a hunting trip Nov. 29 may be resumed in the North Fork area of the Lost River-southeast of Challis.

Custer County Sheriff Bert Mecharm said a three-quarter mile section of the North Fork not previously covered because of darkness will be searched in an attempt to locate Joe Conquest, 34, Jerome, and Robert Bailey, 28, Wendell.

The two men have been the object of search in the Copper Basin and North Fork area since they were reported missing.

The area, which now has five feet of snow, may be covered by members of the Challis and Mackay snowmobile clubs.

Gooding County authorities have expressed the opinion the two men may have met with foul play.

Rupert man held on drugs

TWIN FALLS — A young Rupert man was arrested about midnight Friday by Twin Falls Police on a charge of illegal possession of a narcotic drug.

Capt. Tim Qualls said Patrick Michael Lee, 23, originally was arrested for reckless driving after police chased his vehicle for more than five miles at speeds up to 90 miles an hour.

When officers took him into custody at the end of the chase, Qualls said, a parcel containing marijuana was found in his vehicle.

He was released on $2,000 bond on the narcotic charge and $100 bond on the reckless driving charge. He has not yet appeared in court.

Most popular man in Twin Falls—that's Santa Claus

TWIN FALLS — He may be fat and fiftyish, but he's the most popular man in town.

He's rosy cheeked and jolly and wears his white hair a little longer than the establishment — which may be one reason he appeals to those under 30 — way under — like under 13.

His name is Santa Claus and since Dec. 4 he's gotten "only 15,118 calls" at his Twin Falls number, 733-9097. Ken Mann, district manager for Mountain

Bell, said the telephone in Santa's workshop has rung thousands of times daily, except for part of one day when it was out of order, an interruption no doubt caused by one of those fierce North Pole blizzards.

Families to have dinners

TWIN FALLS — Public response Sunday and Monday morning to assist needy families in Christmas baskets was reported outstanding by YWCA executive director Sally Molyneux, who said it now appears all needy families will have help.

She said meat and money have been volunteered to help fill some of the empty baskets and through the Salvation Army program all names now turned in for assistance will be served.

Salvation Army workers, she said, will be providing baskets for many families and will also be contributing money for meat in baskets for those not met by other organizations.

In addition, the Salvation Army's regular Christmas dinner program for persons who are alone and would not have a special holiday meal will be served again this year. Clothing donated to the Salvation Army will also be distributed to many of the families at Christmas time.

Mrs. Molyneux said the Salvation Army will also take care of many of the families residing outside Twin Falls who need for assistance. It shows

Heater shorts, car damaged

TWIN FALLS — One fire was reported in Twin Falls over the weekend, according to Twin Falls city firemen.

At 7:25 a.m. Saturday one truck responded to a car fire at the Depot Grill parking area. Firemen said a heater in a vehicle owned by Betty Conrad shorted out and set the electrical system on fire.

Makes Christmas purchase . . .

THIS LITTLE GIRL, Carolyn Oradorff, Kimberly, was one of 31 youngsters purchasing clothes Saturday in Twin Falls with the help of the Twin Falls Jaycees. The Jaycees raised nearly $400 earlier last week through its annual orange sale and with the proceeds purchased clothes for the 31 youngsters, whose names were furnished by the Idaho Department of Public Assistance. Helping Carolyn with her purchases are Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Florence of the Jaycee and Jay-C-Ettes.

STUFFED DOG, which parents of Burley Head Start students have made, is examined by Mrs. Lillian Peterson, mother, left, and Mrs. Martha N. Puzos, teacher's aide, before the dogs were distributed at a Christmas party Friday afternoon. The parents have made a total of 60 stuffed animals. They also assist in the teaching process as well as provide supplies and materials for the classrooms.

Bell Rapids project praised by BLM aide

TWIN FALLS — A precedent-setting example of the group approach to development of entries under the Desert Land Act was lauded by the state director of the Bureau of Land Management following issuance of 15 patents to individuals of the Bell Rapids Mutual Irrigation Co.

Director William L. Mathews said land titles to the 15 320-acre tracts, totaling 4,800 acres in Twin Falls County, were issued by the BLM's BLM Land Office. He said that "unlike some prior group entries along the Snake River which resulted in considerable litigation which still has not been resolved; the Bell Rapids group entries were well-conceived and were developed in a manner that adequately met the legal and other requirements of the Desert Land Act."

He said the project, which is located on a plateau west of Hagerman, could well serve as a model framework for others filing under the Desert Land Act as a group organization and as to arrangements for developing and farming the new land. The Bell Rapids land group was organized into a mutual irrigation company to develop a common water system and have the land developed to qualify for patent, the director said. Besides the 15 patents issued last week, the Bell Rapids group has 17 other entries which have been allowed and 30 others which have been classified as suitable for entry under the Desert Land Act.

SHOPPING DAYS
TILL CHRISTMAS

DEAR ABBY: My husband is always criticizing women. He says the worst thing that ever happened to this country is when they gave women the right to vote. He says they are nowhere near as intelligent as men, and all women should be kept pregnant or barefoot.

Whenever he sees a driver do something dumb, he says, "That has got to be a dame!" He blames everything from the San Francisco earthquake to the Chicago fire on the stupidity of women. Next time he starts up with me about how dumb women are, what can I say to shut him up?
BELLE IN BROOKLYN

DEAR BELLE: Ask him why he didn't remain a bachelor.

DEAR ABBY: When I went overseas I had a girl who promised she would wait for me. We went together since eighth grade. Her letters kept me going, and I slept with her picture next to my heart every night. After I got home I found out she had been running around with other guys since the day I left. Everybody knew it but me. Her mother told me she kept on writing to me like everything was the same between us because she didn't want to break down my spirits while I was away.

She's getting married to a guy she's only known a month. I still love her, Abby. Please tell me how I can get over her?
"GONE TO POT!"

DEAR GONE: You can get over her by forgetting her. She is marrying someone else. If she started to run around on you the day after you left, she's no bargain. Better to have had a cheating girl friend than a cheating wife. Maybe you're luckier than the guy she's marrying.

DEAR ABBY: I have read with much interest thru the years of your encounters with women who write, "My husband likes to wear lace panties, what shall I do?" Or, "Is my husband perverted because he sleeps in a nylon nightgown?" Your answers usually reflect wisdom and compassion.

I am a 49-year-old man who has been wearing women's clothing for at least 40 years. I find much comfort in a corset, nylons and bloomers under my male attire.

My wife is very understanding, and has always helped me to obtain feminine clothing. We have raised three fine children. I am very masculine (outwardly) and have been a semi-trailer driver, racing car driver, and I enjoy other manly sports. I have never had any type of homosexual tendencies or desires. So, as long as I don't bother anybody, what is wrong with dressing as I wish in the privacy of my home?

If you use my letter, please sign me...
"NORMAL" IN BEAVER DAM, WIS.

DEAR NORMAL: Nothing.

CONFIDENTIAL TO THE MEN OF THE 8TH SECURITY POLICE SQUADRON (COMBAT): If you aren't putting me on, I am delighted to be your plump girl of the month. But the above address is insufficient. Complete the address and you shall have my picture for the POLICE BULLETIN BOARD. (P. S. I hope you realize, it is only a "head" shot.)

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 60700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90060. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

PEPPERMINT CANDY CANES

- 2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup white corn syrup
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/2 teaspoon peppermint extract
- 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon red food coloring

Combine sugar, corn syrup, water and cream of tartar. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Wash down crystals from sides of pan with pastry brush dipped in hot water.

Cook to very hard ball stage, 255 degrees. Remove from heat. Add peppermint extract. Divide into two portions. Add red food coloring to one part.

Pour out onto greased platters. When cool enough to handle, pull each part separately. Form into ropes and twist red part around white.

Cut into eight-inch lengths and form into shape of candy cane. Lay on waxed paper to harden. Makes about 20 canes.

The Times-News will pay $5 each week for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe—just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.

Safety hints given by county agent

SHOSHONE — County home economics agent, Mrs. Jean Annet, points out ways to keep Christmas lighting safe.

They include checking old strings of lights for chipped sockets, cracked connections and frayed wires; buying only UL approved lights, mount foliage, paper or cotton, use only fireproof decorations; inspect tree often to see if needles near lights are turning brown, warn children to keep hands off lights, indoor and out, do not leave any sockets empty for little fingers, keep tree watered, never place cords under rugs or in the stream of traffic.

Flood or spot lighting is safer and more beautiful for metallic trees which are non-inflammable, but will conduct electricity, do not be over-confident with plastic and metallic trees, some burn readily.

All equipment used outside should be weatherproof and made for outdoor use, hang outdoor cords with electrical tape, plastic hooks or attachments, use insulated staples to hold light strings in place, never use nails, tacks or brads.

She also quoted from the Utah Public Health official, Edgar M. Hayes, on means of keeping foods safe. They include keep food clean, storage, preparation equipment and handling; keep food cold, 40 to 45 degrees F, rapid cooling to center of food; keep food hot, 140 degrees and above, and do not keep foods at incubation temperatures, 50-120 degrees too long. Too long is more than four hours.

Safety first for holidays

NEW YORK (UPI)—Make it a safe holiday in the kitchen as you wait on the road.

Fatigue and stress can cause kitchen accidents. So, first off, get plenty of rest and don't push yourself too hard. Work assignments help. Have one member of the family make the table centerpiece, another responsible for setting the table and so on.

If your budget will stretch, include food from packaged mixed or frozen. Plan to serve food that can be made ahead of time and frozen.

To keep confusion down, the kitchen should be off-limits to teachers, snoopers and sniffers during the busiest time of meal preparation.

Get seldom-used serving pieces out of storage before the big feast. Use a step ladder to get them, if necessary, rather than standing on a telephone directory balanced on a kitchen chair.

Wash and dry knives separately and store them in a special rack in a drawer or mounted on the wall. Leaving sharp one does not require as much pressure to do the cutting. The hazard of cut fingers, job and is less likely to slip. A sharp knife, by the way, is from your grasp.

The Most Exciting Headache News In Years!

Doctors' Tests In Treating Nervous Tension Headaches Now Made Public

Non-Narcotic Tablet That Needs No Prescription Proves Just As Effective As The Expensive, Leading Pain-Relief Prescription Of Doctors.

If you're one of the many who get nerve, nervous headaches, these latest tests by doctors should be of the greatest importance.

In recent medical tests doctors proved a famous tablet that needs no prescription gives the same complete headache relief as the expensive, leading prescription of doctors.

These doctors' tests proved, beyond a doubt, that Anacin is just as effective to relieve tension headaches, yet Anacin needs no prescription and is far more economical.

With Anacin, headache pain and its nervous tension vanish in minutes. Despite its strength, Anacin is non-narcotic. You can take it without getting dizzy or an upset stomach.

Next time take powerful, fast-acting Anacin. Anacin Tablets give the same complete headache pain relief as the leading prescription product for which doctors wrote 21 million prescriptions last year.

Club party held

FAIRFIELD—Mrs. William W. Look read the Christmas Story from Luke and two other Christmas articles for the Christmas meeting of the Camas Club.

A women's trio, composed of Mrs. William A. Simon, Mrs. Jack Frosterson and Mrs. Norma Lange, sang three numbers with Mrs. Calvin Eckles as piano accompanist. Olan Beal presented two vocal numbers with Mrs. Phil Brackenbury as piano accompanist.

Mrs. Olan Beal was in charge of the program. There was group singing of "Idaho" and "Silent Night." A possible project of re-naming the streets of Fairfield and installing street signs in the spring was discussed. No action was taken on the proposal. The tables were decorated with Christmas flowers and candies. Hostesses were Mrs. Glenn Gill, Mrs. Everett Trader, Mrs. Darrell Hunter and Mrs. Harold Brooks.

49ers clinch West Title

OAKLAND (UPI)—John Brodie capped his finest year as a pro quarterback Sunday, throwing three touchdown passes in the rain and mud as the San Francisco 49ers routed the AFC West champion Oakland Raiders 38-7 to win their first division title in 25 years.

Brodie, the NFC's leading passer all year long, threw scoring strikes of 28 yards to Ted Kwalick, 34 to Gene Washington and 27 to Bill Tucker as the Niners posted their 10th victory against three losses and a tie to win the NFC West by a full game over Los Angeles.

The Forty Niners, thus, will meet the Minnesota Vikings at Minneapolis next Sunday in the first round of the NFL playoffs. The Raiders, who won their division title a week ago, host the Miami Dolphins the same afternoon in the AFC playoff.

Chicago batters Saints

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Chicago's Jack Concannon threw three touchdown passes and Mac Percival kicked a 50-yard field goal to hand the New Orleans Saints their sixth straight loss, 24-3 Sunday.

The victory gave the Bears a 6-8 record and a third place tie with Green Bay in the final standings of the National Football Conference's Capital Division.

Wide receiver Dick Garson of Chicago wrapped up the NFC pass catching title, grabbing eight to run his season total to 70. He also tied Ken Kavanaugh's Chicago record of 13 catches by taking in a 14-yarder from Concannon in the last period.

Concannon threw three interceptions before hitting Jim Seymour with a 22-yard touchdown strike midway in the second quarter and a two-yard scoring pass in the last period.

Coaches to meet tonight

JEROME—Ed Peterson reminds coaches that there will be a District Four meeting tonight at 8 p. m. at Jerome.

Rain fell from the opening kickoff to the final gun, but for the Forty Niners, who never have won a division title, it must have seemed like a sunny afternoon. They didn't make a single mistake and as a result, scored their most lopsided victory of the year.

In addition to Brodie's fine passing, Ken Willard, workhorse running back, scored on a one-yard smash. Jimmy Jackson ran 38 yards with a pass interception for still another score and Bruce Gossett added a 42-yard field goal.

The Raiders, who take an 8-4-2 record into the playoffs, scored their only touchdown on a 29-yard pass from Daryle Lamontica to Ray Chester. Brodie completed seven of 21 passes for 17 yards. The three touchdown drives gave him a regular-season total of 24.

San Francisco, 2 1/2-point favorites, broke the game open in the first seven minutes of the second quarter when they scored three touchdowns to take a 24-7 lead at intermission.

Bulls beat Cavs 116-103

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The Chicago Bulls, held to only two field goals and 10 points in the second period, rallied for 74 second half points Sunday night to defeat the Cleveland Cavaliers 116-103 in a National Basketball Association game.

After hitting an 15 of 27 from the field and grabbing a 32-18 first period lead, the Bulls connected on only two of 19 in the second 12 minutes and trailed 46-42 at halftime.

Vikings crush Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI)—Gary Cuzzo, out for two weeks with a sprained ankle, returned to action Sunday and completed 13 of 29 passes, one of them for a touchdown, to lead the National Football Conference Central Division champion Minnesota Vikings in a 37-7 whipping of Atlanta.

Cuzzo started slowly but shortly before the second quarter he began hitting receivers John Henderson and Gene Washington, and in the next 16 minutes completed 9 of 12 passes as the Vikings went on a 21-0 run, putting the game out of reach.

Minnesota jumped in front 3-0 midway in the first quarter when Fred Cox booted a 40-yard field goal, the first of three.

All Atlanta bounced back moments later when John Mallory fielded a punt on his 25, burst through several would-be tacklers, cut to the left and raced 75 yards for the Falcons' only score.

The Vikings took the following kickoff and marched 80 yards in 11 plays, 55 of those yards on two passes from Cuzzo to Henderson. The second pass, for 37 yards, left the Vikings on the Atlanta 12.

From there, Clint Jones and Dave Osborn pushed the ball to the one and Osborn carried it in for a 10-7 lead just after the start of the second quarter.

Paul Krusiec intercepted a Randy Johnson pass at the Atlanta 29 and returned it to the eight. There, on first down, Cuzzo hit John Benesy with a pass at the two and he dragged a defender into the end zone. Cox rounded out the scoring with field goals of 15 and 37 yards in the fourth quarter.

Kiick scores 3 times as Miami gains berth with easy 45-7 win

MIAMI (UPI)—Jim Kiick scored a team record three touchdowns Sunday to power the inspired Miami Dolphins to a 45-7 win over Buffalo, advancing the Dolphins to a championship playoff game against Oakland next Sunday.

The Dolphins scored the first five times they got the ball in a 31-0 first half that saw the Bills run only six plays in the first quarter.

Kiick scored on touchdown runs of four, three and one yards. Big Larry Csonka got a three-yard tally; quarterback Bob Griese threw a 21-yard TD pass to Howard Twilley; backup quarterback John Stofa threw a 30-yard TD pass to reserve back Stan Mitchell; and Garo Yepremian booted a 43-yard field goal. It was the most points Miami had ever scored against an opponent.

The Bills scored their line touchdown on a 30-yard pass from Jim Harris to tight end Willie Grate with 4:22 left in the game. The touchdown came against an all-reserve Miami defense. The Miami win before 70,000 ecstatic Orange Bowl fans gave the rags-to-riches Dolphins a 10-4 record under the first year of leadership by Coach Don Shula. Miami was 3-10-1 last season.

Kiick's first score capped a 72-yard drive. Defensive back Lloyd-Mumphord set up Miami's next score, intercepting a Dennis Shaw pass; his second of the day. Griese then hit Twilley with the 21-yard scoring pass. Csonka set up his own score by catching a 54-yard pass from Griese, then bulling over the three. Kiick's second TD capped an 80-yard drive that Csonka inspired with a 63-yard run. Yepremian booted his 43-yard field goal after a Lloyd Pate fumble on the 34.

Kiick's final tally was set up by Miami safety Dick Anderson, who intercepted a pass in the end zone and returned it 85 yards to the 17. Stofa replaced Griese in the final quarter and threw a 30-yard TD pass to Mitchell.

Browns coast by Broncos 27-13

DENVER (UPI)—Bill Nelson passed for two touchdowns within 44 seconds of each other Sunday to give the Cleveland Browns a 27-13 win over the Denver Broncos in both teams' final game of the season.

Nelson hit Homer Jones with a 43-yard scoring pass and Bo Scott with a 25-yard touchdown pass following an interception after the kickoff. Scott also plunged two yards in the second period for a touchdown.

The victory gave Cleveland a 7-7 record and dropped Denver to 5-8-1, still good enough for a tie as the Broncos' second-best season in their 11-year history.

Jones' touchdown capped a drive begun when Dale Lindsey intercepted an Al Pastrana pass one yard deep in his own end zone. Cornerback Erich Barnes intercepted Pastrana again on the first play following the kickoff and returned it 22 yards. Denver's Floyd Little ended the season with 901 yards to take the American Football Conference rushing title and Cleveland's talented Leroy Kelly picked up enough yardage on his first two carries Sunday to move past Diller-Matson and Lenny Moore into 10th place in the list of all-time rushers. Willis Crenshaw scored the only Bronco touchdown from the one yard line after Cornell Gordon intercepted a Mike Phipps pass and returned it 34 yards.

Cleveland stopped the Broncos twice in the fourth period, despite an interception to the Browns' 16 and a fumble recovery on their 20.

Cleveland's Don Cockroft kicked field goals of 32 and 34 yards, the second coming after Charles Greer fumbled a fair catch on the Denver 35.

Morton fires 4 TD bombs to Hayes as Dallas rips Oilers

DALLAS (UPI)—Craig Morton's five touchdown passes, four of them to Bobby Hayes, propelled the Dallas Cowboys to a 51-20 victory over the Houston Oilers Sunday and into their fifth consecutive National Football League playoff.

The Cowboys, getting a big 31-3 boost by a Los Angeles Rams' upset of the New York Giants, won the National Conference East with a 10-4 record. Dallas will host the Detroit Lions, the nation's "Wild Card" team that also finished 10-4 with a 20-0 blanking of Green Bay, at 4 p.m. EST next Saturday.

While Morton had a tremendous day in the air with 13 completions out of 17 attempts for 349 yards, he also got sensational receiving from Hayes—who caught six for 187 yards, rookie Reggie Rucker and fullback Walt Garrison. Morton hit Rucker for a 52-yarder late in the first quarter to break open a 3-1 tie and then proceeded to hit Hayes for a TD. But they also got it back with one to spare when Dave Manders' fumble recovery of the Houston two-and-Stevé

Trojans tip W.R. by 60-47

HAILLEY—Wendell's full court press, a nuisance for a quarter and a half, took effect in the fourth quarter Saturday night and hauled the Trojans to a 60-47 demolition over the Wood River Wolverines.

Wendell started crossing midway through the second quarter but the Wolverines didn't have a lot of trouble with it, staying ahead 28-24 at halftime and managing a 38-35 third-quarter edge. But in the fourth period, Wendell forced most of Wood River's 35 turnovers and the Trojans converted them into a 25-point period. Wood River managed only 11 in reply.

Kiner's 28-yard interception runback to the 21 set up two and five yard scoring smashes by Calvin Hill and Claxton Welch.

The Chiefs saw their last hopes of successfully defending their Super Bowl crown end when Mimm beat Buffalo earlier in the day. San Diego's win, breaking a string of five straight losses to the chiefs, gave it third in the Western Division. Kansas City finished second.

Garratt's second touchdown came up the middle with a 22 yard pass to the end zone. Hadl ran when apparently trapped but then shoveled a basketball pass just over the line to Garratt, who stepped out of Jim Mansalis' tackle and dashed toward the end zone to culminate a 44-yard play.

His first score against his former teammates, a five-yard run, came with 1:13 left in the half and put the Chargers ahead 17-17. It completed a 67-yard march highlighted by a 67-yard pass play from Hadl to Gary Garrison.

Frazier's first score came early in the second quarter and put San Diego ahead 10-0. Kansas City's Jerroll Wilson fumbled as he was attempting to punt from his five. Hadl hit the lanky tight end with a five-yarder two plays later.

The second, a three-yarder, came with one minute left in the third quarter and put the Chargers in front 24-13. It was set up on a 36-yard pass from Hadl to Garrison.

Kansas City's only touchdown came early in the second quarter on a 61-yard pass play from Len Dawson to Gloster Richardson and made the score 10-7. Paced with third and 32, Dawson sent Richardson straight down the right sideline and hit him on the Chiefs' longest passing play of the season.

Jan Stenerud kicked two field goals compared to one for San Diego's Mike Mercer.

Garrison and Hadl shared the honors for San Diego. Garrison went over 1,000 yards for the season with five receptions for 140 yards, and Hadl completed 18 of 27 passes for 277 yards. Garrett ran for 66 yards in 10 carries.

Peterson has job at Rice

HOUSTON (UPI)—Bill Peterson, Florida State head football coach for 11 years, Sunday was named head coach at Rice University.

Dr. Norman Hackerman, Rice president, said Peterson will begin work when he arrives in Houston Monday. Peterson was given a five-year contract.

Harold "Bo" Hagan resigned as coach of the Southwest Conference team after a disappointing 1970 season. Peterson said he will hold a news conference Monday night to discuss recruiting plans, assistant coaches and other details. Peterson was in Florida Sunday.

The new coach announced immediately through the university that he would retain A.M. "Red" Dale as assistant athletic director and Assistant Coach Charley Moore, who has been at Rice 23 years.

Colleges charged by jury

CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (UPI)—Hobart and William Smith Colleges have been indicted by a special country grand jury on charges they acted "recklessly" last June 5 by allowing students to coerce authorities into granting immunity to five students seized in a drug raid.

Court sources said it marked the first time a college had been indicted for student disorders. The president of the colleges, Dr. Allan A. Kuusisto, said the indictment Friday posed a "landmark" for American Higher Education.

The four-count indictment claims the college president and the dean of men at the Canandaigua, N.Y., school let students coerce Ontario County District Attorney William C. Best into granting five persons immunity after a drug raid.

"Our initial reaction at the college was one of shock, surprise and discouragement that our neighbors on the grand jury have chosen to take this unusual course of action," Kuusisto said.

The indictment charges the college with first degree coercion, a felony carrying a maximum fine of $10,000 per count.

It alleges Beverly D. Causy, former president of the school, and Dean of Men John McKeam "recklessly tolerated certain conduct constituting the offense of coercion."

Use of arms threatened

CUBLINGTON, England (UPI)—Residents of this London suburb urged in a "call to arms" Saturday to use firebombs, guns, catapults and even bows and arrows to block construction of a new international airport where there homes now stand.

The appeal was made in clandestine pamphlets residents found on their doorsteps Saturday morning.

"There is a growing belief that only civil disobedience will win the fight," the pamphlets said.

A Royal Commission Friday proposed Cublinton as the site for a third London airport. The town and nearby communities have a population of 8,000 which would have to be uprooted from their homes 30 miles from London.

The "call to arms" pamphlets carried no identification of the organization that wrote them or distributed them during the night. Civic organizations who oppose the airport said this could be an attempt to discredit them.

"Further sheets will be distributed later with more detailed information about communications, first aid posts, etc.," the pamphlets said. They urged residents to store large stocks of food and water in preparation for a siege.

"If the government endorses this plan, there will not be much time for us to prepare before steps are taken to purchase properties and start demolition," the text said.

"We know that many people feel very strongly about this and are determined to resist in every possible way. Of course, each will fight in his own way but the following suggestions may be appreciated by many."

'Phone line of jurist had 'bug'

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI)—A former senior law clerk for Federal Appeals Court Judge and former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner said Friday the judge's private telephone line into his office was tapped during a four-month period in 1969.

Eliot A. Landau, now an Assistant Law professor at Drake University, said Kerner and his staff were never able to pinpoint who was tapping the phone line. The tapping activity occurred from winter to spring of 1969, and may have continued beyond that, he said.

Landau said he had informed Kerner he planned to make the tapping information public.

"It seems highly unlikely that it was the Army," Landau said in reference to disclosures by a former Army agent that prominent Illinois citizens, including Kerner, had been subject to Army intelligence surveillance.

Landau, 28, worked with Kerner for one year in Chicago. He said there were both a private line and a switchboard line leading into Kerner's office.

"We had occasional arguments with some of the operators who had a tendency to listen on the switchboard line," Landau said. "If you had to discuss confidential information, you couldn't do it on that phone."

"Sometime in January or February (1969), we thought when using the private line we heard unusual sounds with other conversations mixed in."

In late March or early April Landau said he picked up the private line to make an outside call but received no dial tone, hung up, and tried again. The second time, he said, a man and woman were talking on the other end.

'Wetlands' bill signed by Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon approved Saturday a bill authorizing the secretary of agriculture to establish a program for increasing the nation's wetlands.

Wetlands which include ponds and marshy inland areas, are important to conservation and the breeding of waterfowl. In recent years, the acreage of wetlands has been decreasing because of drainage and pollution.

Under the bill, owners of Wetlands agree not to drain or fill their property for 10-year periods in return for annual government payments. Total payments are limited to $10 million.

In other action, the President:

—Signed a bill which amends the Atomic Energy Act with regard to licensing commercial reactors, and establishing prices for uranium enrichment services.

—Approved another bill which authorizes payment of $50,055.95 to the central gulf steamship corp., New Orleans, in settlement of a claim for reimbursement of certain import duties paid by the company.

Day-care centers backed by conclave

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Delegates to the 7th White House Conference on Children Saturday endorsed a nationwide system of day care centers, elimination of racism and a guaranteed family income adequate for youngsters' needs.

These proposals topped the list of 16 "issues of overriding concern" which the nearly 4,000 delegates felt will be the most important ones of children in the 1970s.

The issues, plus a list of 24 recommendations for action, emerged from the week-long conference, which ended Friday. About half the delegates stayed long enough to complete an intricate two-part ballot, designed to list the 16 issues in order of urgency.

The most critical concern, according to the vote, was for "comprehensive family-oriented child development programs including health services, day care and early childhood education."

The delegates then favored, in the following order:

—Development of programs to eliminate the racism which cripples all children.

—Reordering of national priorities beginning with a guaranteed family income maintenance floor.

—An improved system of child justice and a federal-financed National Child Health Care Program.

Other issues placed on the ballot by minority groups and emphasizing the needs of blacks, Spanish-speaking citizens, Indians women and youth, finished well down the list.

Troops want equality

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Pentagon says black soldiers' anger and frustration is greater than expected among U.S. troops in Europe.

It has ordered U.S. commanders there to act immediately to end racial discrimination "on and off base."

Deputy Assistant Defense Secretary Frank W. Rodner II said Thursday a task force he headed in investigating racial unrest "found a new, higher level of frustration and anger among black than we anticipated."

Rodner also said that the task force "has averted an ugly situation" by calming black troops in Germany who were on the edge of "violent action."

Rodner spoke at a news conference at which the Pentagon released a new directive from Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird declaring "equal opportunity and treatment shall be accorded all military members and civilian employees of the department of Defense, irrespective of their race, color, or national origin consistent with requirements for physical capabilities."

The five who were released by Best had been arrested in a drug raid led by former undercover agent Thomas "Tommy the Traveler" Tongyal June 5, which sparked a demonstration as hundreds of students surrounded three sheriff's patrol cars and refused to release them unless the suspects were freed.

The indictment states that best compiled for reason of fear of personal injury to

MONDAY-NIGHT will find snow in parts of the central Rockies and the Great Lakes region, while showers develop in the Tennessee Valley and the California area. Elsewhere, clear to partly cloudy skies should prevail, except for possible snow in the upper plains area.

blowing and drifting are in effect for the Cascades and Siskiyou of Oregon and California south over the Sierras and east over the northwestern Nevada mountains of western Nevada.

The heavy snow is expected to spread to the mountains of southern California and over eastern Nevada late today and into Utah tonight and Tuesday.

The windy, snowy conditions tonight will not make traveling or outdoor activities too pleasant.

Q — Big investors such as mutual funds, banks, pension funds and many others seem to be taking over the stock market. Can you discuss this?

A — In its fifteenth Public Transaction Study the New York Stock Exchange revealed that in 1969 institutions bought and sold 10.1 million shares daily, accounting for 61.0 per cent of the dollar value of daily trading.

Q — Does the New York Stock Exchange have a specific form for power of attorney which would allow my wife to handle my stockholdings in case of my illness? C. P.

Although the New York Stock Exchange does not have forms for limited power of attorney, your brokerage firms might have a form available which would suffice.

Chance of drifting snow

Magic Valley, Twin Falls and vicinity, Northdale, Burley-Rupert area: Magic Valley with occasional snow likely tonight. Chance of locally heavy snow in mountains.

Mostly cloudy with occasional snow likely tonight. Windy with some blowing and drifting snow. Partly cloudy Tuesday.

Highs 23 to 33. Overnight lows 10 to 20. Probability of precipitation 80 per cent tonight and 30 per cent Tuesday.

Outlook for Wednesday, partly cloudy. Synopsis: Another strong upper level low pressure area is moving southward along the West Coast.

At the surface a low center is developing over Nevada as the cold front in northwestern Nevada moves eastward.

This will result in mostly cloudy skies with occasional snow over southern Idaho and east central Oregon.

Windy conditions over the area will cause areas of blowing and drifting snow. Travelers' warnings for heavy snow, blowing and drifting are in effect for the Cascades and Siskiyou of Oregon and California south over the Sierras and east over the northwestern Nevada mountains of western Nevada.

The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Monday, Dec. 21, the 355th day of 1970 with 10 to follow. It is the first day of winter.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Jupiter and Mars.

The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn. On this day in history: In 1942, the Supreme Court upheld the validity of six-week divorce grants in Nevada.

In 1968 Apollo 8 blasted off for the moon orbit carrying astronauts Frank Borman, James Lovell and William Anders.

A thought for the day! Richard Trenth said, "We kneel, how weak, we rise, how full of power."

NEW YORK (UPI)—With an advance that has been "impressive as this one has," one cannot predict when or in what form a corrective phase will appear, according to E. F. Hutton & Co.

The company's "aggressive buying" and says it is not averse to recommending "short term profits." However, the firm stresses "this does not mean heavily participating on the short side which still looks 'quite risky here.'"

The stock market's recent strength serves to reaffirm underlying investment confidence," Goodbody & Co. says. "The company believes the market's breakout from its narrow three-month range 'could well provide the momentum needed to pull business and public psychology—as well as the stock market—out of its rut.'"

"Economic fundamentals are bad, but the stock market apparently is saying the worst has been completely discounted," the Dines Letter says. The analyst believes "we are at one of the great buying opportunities of a lifetime." The firm adds "if a long bull market is in prospect, 'there will be plenty of time to make plenty of money.'"

Enslar money and "prospects for a turnaround in corporate profits are setting the stage for a further near-term advance in stock prices," Standard & Poor's Corp. believes. The company says the market recently went through a three-month consolidation which strengthened its technical position. The company expects "occasional setbacks" but it believes "commitments in selected stocks should on the whole prove rewarding."

Oswald: "When my father taught me auction bridge he gave me a great many general rules. Some were 'old and hand low,' third hand high, 'never finesse against your partner,' 'cover an honor with an honor' and 'return your partner's lead.'"

Jim: "All these are mighty good rules provided you follow the rule you gave me which is there are no such words as 'never' or 'always' in contract."

Oswald: "Today's hand is a good example of when to violate one of my father's rules. East wins the first trick with the ace of hearts. If he uses the code word 'ARCH,' he analyzes the lead as fourth best of four. He reviews the bidding and counts South for 17, probably 10 points since South can't have a 10. He can see that his partner cannot hold a king or queen. This can hold a king and Jack."

Jim: "I'm sure you will hold the hand if his partner holds king-and-one-or-two-small diamonds and may do it if his partner holds just queen and one or two small."

Oswald: "South sees that a heart return is hopeless and that a diamond return is quite likely to be a winner. He leads his fourth best diamond. West takes his king and returns the suit. It is up to East to rise with the ace and either 'the suit'."

Jim: "Should duck. declarer could cash his two top hearts and the three spades and then throw East in with the ace of diamonds to make him lead from his queen of clubs. Once East cashes the ace, the end play cannot be down and South must go down."

WHAT, YOU SAY the party conversation is starting to lag? All right; just ask out loud for everybody's opinion about this query: Should the President of the United States wear a uniform? That ought to liven things up a little... BABIES BORN to mothers between the ages of 18 and 23 are most apt to grow up to be the healthiest and the brightest. Or so contend the medical specialists: How old was your mother when you were born?

OUR LOVE AND WAR-MAN has been studying up on the difference between the tall girl and the short girl in the romantic manner in which each deals with her gentleman friend. The short girl, he says, likes to stand close to the old boy, her arm around his waist, her shoulder tucked under his shoulder, her head upon his chest. She enjoys the body contact. But the tall girl, he says, just about always prefers to sit on the fellow's lap. That makes her feel smaller. Expect further-detailed reports in upcoming issues. Next, the fat girl and the thin girl.

UP TILL a couple three hundred years ago, most all the violinists fingered with the right hand and bowed with the left... QUICK, WHAT'S a pythonesque? No, not a snake, dum dum. A witch, a witch... THE WIGMAKERS who buy human hair say it takes an individual three years to grow a suitable 18-inch crop... IF POT leads to horse, does not bingo lead to blackjack? Must check that out, too... WITHIN THE MOTHER of your friend WUBBY named him; chances are she didn't realize she was labeling him out of the old Saxon as a "wild pig."

IT'S ALSO a little-known fact that almost all the notes written by people who really intend to commit suicide are simple, dry and unemotional. Instructions, generally, on what to do with what's left. Those tear-stained super-charged notes, boiling with the miseries, usually are written by people who are not serious. A coroner told me that. Said he "And another thing, the shorter the note, the more likely the would-be suicide will actually die."

CUSTOMER SERVICE - Q: "Can sailors at sea feel an earthquake?" A: They sure can. Just like downtown. Q: "Singer Peggy Lee, what's her real name?" A: She started out as Norma Eggstrom... Q: "Do roosters ever lay eggs?" A: Been known to happen. Little eggs.

"SO YOU THINK 'Malaria' would be a beautiful feminine name, do you?" writes Lorna Churchill. "Once, youngsters in a nursery school were given numerous polysyllabic words and asked to vote for the one they thought would make the prettiest name for a girl. Their hands-down favorite: Diarrhea..."
