Spending restraint ordered

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil Andrus planned to meet with department heads today, the first official meeting of his day-to-day administration.

Andrus was inaugurated Monday before a crowd of 2,500 persons who interrupted his address seven times with applause.

In the 18-degree weather, he promised the goal of his administration is "the quality of life for all Idaho."

Less than 30 minutes later, the new governor, the first Democrat to win the office in 26 years, requested his department heads to follow an austerity program with his budget officials could get a closer look at the state's financial condition.

The first executive order asked for a freeze on hiring of additional personnel, a halt on requests for purchases other than "basic essentials," no expenditures for an initial outlay for items costing more than $100 without permission of the Budget Office, and a level for expenditures and travel expenses not to exceed that established during the first six months of the year.

With his wife and three daughters watching, Andrus told the crowd the "enemy within is not the youth of America."

"Rather, the enemy is many things: mismanagement of government and resources, disease, poverty, inadequate education, shrinking employment and other ills which afflict our society."

Following the inaugural ceremonies, Andrus was escorted to the chief executive's office by outgoing Gov. Don Samuelson and his wife, Ruby. After exchanging greetings, the Samuelsons left, although the former governor returned during the afternoon to take part in an inaugural reception.

Hundreds of visitors lined up in the Statehouse to greet elected officials. Boise City officials and legislative representatives also attended.

Accompanied by his wife, White House physician who pronounced Nixon in "excellent" shape after his annual physical last week, recommended more relaxation and more trips away from Washington for the chief executive.

Nixon has stayed close to the White House since November but following his usual practice, has taken numerous weekend trips to the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md., 80 miles away.

The President intends the San Clemente period—mostly for work, however, with much of the time earmarked for the State of the Union speech he will deliver to the new Congress at 9 p.m. EST on Friday, Jan. 22.

FOGGY SPRAY boiled up from Shoshone Falls Tuesday morning, frosting trees, rocks and the road with a blanket of sparkling white. The fog and frost cloud boiled up for hundreds of feet into the air and was visible for many miles. Extremely cold temperatures apparently caused the phenomenon. A zero degree reading Monday night at Kimberly was the high for the valley and a minus 40 at Fairfield was the low.

Under the court reform program only a county jail will be needed except for temporary city use for housing prisoners prior to arraignment.

Entry to the market was gained by breaking a window in the door, police said. The broken window was noticed by police on their rounds and they followed a car seen in the neighborhood, which led to the search.

School bonds burned

By LEE TREMAINE, Times-News Staff Writer
TWIN FALLS — A record in low interest and high bond value went up in flames Monday night as trustees of the Twin Falls School District burned the bonds that built the high school.

Charles Shipley, chairman of the board of trustees in 1950, officiated at the bond burning.

Along with Dr. Ernest H. Ragland, current superintendent of schools, and Glenn E. Trail, clerk of the board in 1949, when the bonds were sold.

The bond issue of $1.4 million, endorsed by Twin Falls school district voters early in 1949, required 1,400 separate bond documents, each signed individually by Trail, and by Clyde Koontz, a board member, and Edgar H. Olmsted, board treasurer, who had to sign each bond twice.

Interest coupons totaling $25,202, the total interest on the $1.4 million bond issue, were also burned in the fireplace of the high school teachers' lounge, where the board also conducted a special business meeting.

Dr. Ragland told a group of former board members, school district officials and present-day faculty members that the interest rate on the bonds, averaging about 1.49 per cent, is "probably a record in low interest" for such a large bond issue.

The size of the bond issue was one of the largest high school property purchases for a school district in Idaho in 1949, Dr. Ragland said. "It has proven to be the proper course of action," he said, commending the architects, Harold Gerber, who was present at the ceremony, and Holmes Tash, both of Twin Falls, and Frank Paradise, Pocatello, for their "excellent design."

Dr. Ragland noted that two men closely associated with the project, Frank Paradise, one of the architects, and a "Mr. Sweeney, of Triangle Construction Co. of Idaho Falls, did not live to see the work completed; both died during construction.

The high school has about the test of time, "serving the community well" over the past 20 years, Dr. Ragland said. The "wide halls," which perplexed a "former superintendent" who visited the school a number of years ago, funded the many students between classes efficiently and are still adequate despite growing enrollment.

Dr. Ragland explained that the former superintendent, whose name he could not at the moment recall, asked him why the halls were so wide. "He thought the wide halls were a waste of space; but you have to see the school in action to understand," Dr. Ragland said. The original bond issue allowed purchase of 40 acres of land for the new high school on Filer Avenue, as well as paying for construction of the school and completion of remodeling at Washington elementary school, Dr. Ragland said.

The school project, without plumbing, heating and electrical subcontracts, cost $616,133; heating and plumbing amounted to an additional $215,000, and electrical work added $78,000. In addition, the gymnasium had to be redesigned, somewhat before completion, at a cost of $169,478. Other costs included paving of parking lots, addition of teachers in the stadium, landscaping and other auxiliary work.

Gooding project cleared

By PEGGY CHU, Times-News Correspondent
GOODING — Completion of a senior citizen's housing project here is expected this summer, Gooding city councilmen learned Monday night.

A building permit for $73,000 for the eight units, located on Fourth and Idaho Streets, was approved by councilmen at the regular council meeting. Clark and Shuman, Gooding, are contractors for the project.

A 4% per cent pay increase was approved for all city employees and the interim budget of $39,500 was approved for the next three months.

Councilman Earl Greenawald asked City Attorney Cecil Hobday to write a letter to Idaho Video, complaining about television services received in Gooding.

Councilmen reviewed plans for a new city well, to be dug on the south side of town to provide additional water needed for the city. Arnold Elsing, Twin Falls, has been awarded the contract for $7,010.

Building permits for the past year, reported by City Clerk George Davis, totaled $462,640. Police Chief Lyle Clifford presented his monthly report.

Chile recognized

HONG KONG (UPI) — Communist China today announced the establishment of diplomatic relations with Chile, Peking radio reported.

Chile is the first South American nation to open diplomatic relations with Communist China. Cuba, in the Caribbean, also has relations with Peking.

The move followed election of Marxist Salvador Allende as President of Chile last year. The new Marxist-led government has been accused of a Latin American state.

Retirees...

NEARLY 75 YEARS of service to the citizens of Twin Falls is represented in the careers of three retiring city employees. Mayor Frank Feldtman, third from left, presents certificates of appreciation to the three, Constance Leiser, city clerk; Lloyd Nelson, sanitation inspector; and Leo F. Spence, water supply department employee, from left.

Retiring city workers cited

TWIN FALLS — Three Twin Falls city employees with nearly 75 years' combined services to the city received certificates of appreciation during the Monday night city council meeting.

Constance Leiser, who is turning her duties over to Edythe Koontz, has served 25 years as city clerk. In making the presentation of the certificate to her, Mayor Frank Feldtman said he almost felt as though he were closing up city hall.

Leo F. Spence, member of the water supply department staff has the longest term of service of the three and one of the longest of all city employees. He has worked for the city since 1939.

Lloyd Nelson, the third to retire this year, completes 18 years of service and on retirement was city sanitation department inspector. Prior to accepting this position several years ago, he served in the city water department; Joe Koon, formerly with the water department will become sanitation inspector.

Most department heads, office staff members who have worked with Mrs. Leiser and those in the sanitation and water departments attended the council meeting to honor the retiring employees.

Coffee and cake were served by members of the city clerk's American Legion. The city office following the meeting.

Apollo flight pushed

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The tempo of preparations for the Apollo 14 flight to the moon picked up today with the launch crew fueling the spacecraft and the astronauts getting medical checkups in Houston.

Alan B. Shepard, Stuart A. Robbins and Edgar D. Mitchell are scheduled to take off at 3:23 p.m. EST Sunday, Jan. 31, and reach the moon 4 1/2 days later.

The ticklish fueling operation began Monday afternoon and is expected to continue through Friday. Engineers started by pumping nearly 7,000 pounds of hydrazine fuel into the lunar module landing craft and then about 18,000 pounds of similar fuel into the command ship.

The launch pad crew plans to start pumping more than 36,000 pounds of nitrogen tetroxide oxidizer into the spacecraft modules on Wednesday. The Saturn 5 rocket's first stage will be "tossed" with 203,000 gallons of kerosene Saturday.

TWIN FALLS — A Kimberly man was arrested Monday on a charge of embezzlement and was released on $2,000 bond.

Senators endorse Andrus' address

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's senators attended the inauguration of Gov. Cecil Andrus Monday, and both indicated approval of remarks Andrus made during his inaugural address. Sen. Len Jordan, R-Idaho, a former governor, said he felt there was a foundation for good cooperation between Andrus and Idaho's congressional delegation.

He said he told Andrus he hoped he "is the best governor Idaho ever had."

"We serve the same constituency," Jordan said. "No one has to state his politics when he comes into my office and that is the way it has to be."

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, indicated approval of Andrus' emphasis on the quality of life as the general objective of his administration and said he appreciated the comment that young people are not the enemies of the country.

He said the fact that both senators attended the inauguration indicated "a spirit of good will and should make for closer cooperation between the state administration and the Idaho delegation in Congress."

Talk wins applause

BOISE (UPI) — A crowd of 2,500 rose to its feet twice Monday to applaud Gov. Cecil Andrus as he was administered the oath of office and delivered his inaugural address.

Andrus' three daughters, Tana, 19, Kelly 10, and Tracy, 11, sat in the front row to watch their father be sworn into office.

Andrus was led to the platform by outgoing Gov. Don Samuelson, Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa and State Auditor Joe Williams were presented by their sons.

The justices of Idaho's Supreme Court, wearing top coats beneath their robes, sat to one side, while relatives and friends of the state officials sat on the platform.

Legislators stood on a platform beneath the state officials and their guests, but moved to the sides when the crowd beneath began to yell, "down in front."

Andrus' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Andrus, Eugene, Ore., watched their son take his oath, and afterwards his father, said "words can't express" his feelings.

Following the ceremonies, Andrus, his wife, Carol, and his daughters were taken to the governor's office on the second floor of the Statehouse. There they talked with Samuelson and his wife, Ruby, and their son and daughter.

Samuelson guided Andrus to the chief executive's desk, bars except for keys to the office spread on the desk top. He told Andrus to get in touch "anytime I can help you."

After the Samuelsons left, Andrus turned to the desk and told the crowd "You know, I looked at this chair a lot of years ago."

Andrus let each of his daughters sit in the chair behind the desk and Tana said "it's all so exciting, and unbelievable."

UN mediator launches new round peace talks

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring began a new round of Middle East peace talks today.

And in a report to the Security Council he made it clear both sides have taken tough stands and that peace will not come easy.

His first meeting was at 10 a.m. EST with the Israeli ambassador Yosef Tokuah and Egyptian Ambassador Hassan El-Zayyat in talks largely concerned with the procedure — whether they will be direct as demanded by Israel or indirect as demanded by the Arab states.

In a largely statistical 10-page report of his three years of unsuccessful efforts to find peace in the Middle East, Jarring reflected the strong opinions directly concerned to show flexibility in their talks and an appeal to the big powers for a hands off approach to the talks.

Rogers said the previous three years of diplomatic efforts had produced some areas of agreement and that these could serve as the basis for the new talks. The Jarring report emphasized the differences between the Middle East peace talks.

Ransom demand refused

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — The Brazilian government again Monday refused to agree to the release of nine of the 70 political prisoners whose freedom has been demanded by guerrillas in exchange for the life of kidnapped Swiss Ambassador Giovanni Enrico Bucher.

The government said one of the nine was in fact already free.

An official government note issued Monday said eight of the nine prisoners could not be freed because they had been convicted of serious crimes.

It appeared the Brazilian government which has speedily ransomed kidnaped diplomats on three other occasions, has changed its tactics.

"We are in a hurry, the situation has changed and we commanding the operation," a military source said.

Bucher, 57, was seized Dec. 7, as he was driven to the Swiss Embassy. His bodyguard was fatally shot.

Manson derides attorney

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson, locked up in a building tank adjoining the courtroom, has been "laughing since last Tuesday to his lawyer pleading for his acquittal at the Tate-murder trial."

Monday he could stand it no longer. He put his face up to the wire mesh grid panel in the door and shouted into the courtroom:

"Why don't you sit down! You are just making things worse!"

Irving Kanarek, his lawyer, grinned wearily at the jury and went on. He was expected to continue his arguments throughout today and perhaps even longer. The gist of Kanarek's summation has been that Manson is undergoing a "political trial" instead of one for the killing of seven persons at the Tate-LaBianca homes. He said Manson should no more be on trial for his beliefs than should George Wallace, President Nixon or John Birch Society leader Robert Welch for theirs.

In other developments in the case, three of Manson's followers charged with feeding a witness in the murder trial a hamburger laced with LSD were granted a continuance.

Superior Court Judge Malcolm M. Lucas continued the case against Stephen Grogan, Lynette Fromme and Ruth Ann Morhouse until Jan. 11. A fourth defendant, Catherine Sorensen, who is pregnant, did not appear in court because she was in the jail infirmary.

Charges against the four stem from contentions by Barbara Hoyt, 18, that she was given an LSD-spiked hamburger in Honolulu Sept. 9. The prosecution claims the defendants hoped to prove Miss Hoyt, a former "Manson Family" member, from testifying against Manson and three of his female followers now on trial.

Auditor holds up payments

BOISE (UPI) — State Auditor Joe Williams said Monday he had ordered payments stopped on three pay warrants issued to a former department heads until certain legal questions could be resolved.

Williams said there was a legal question on a lump sum payment issued to former Director of Administrative Services Edward Sawyer and former Secretary of Commerce and Development Al Minton.

Both men left state service when Gov. Cecil Andrus was inaugurated.

Williams said warrants concerning pay for December and a lump sum for accumulated leave time were picked up by someone from administrative services for Sawyer, Minton and the staff of former Gov. Don Samuelson.

He said, however, withholding forms had to be prepared for the warrants and he had planned to hold the warrants back until he ironed out the legal aspects.

After the warrants were mistakenly taken from the auditor's office, Williams ordered payments to be stopped on all warrants, but later stopped payment for Samuelson's staff.

He said he had conferred with attorney general Tony Park on the matter.

Williams also said Minton and Sawyer could return to his office for a revised warrant for the December payment, but said the lump-sum payment would be held up.

Kootenai sheriff studied

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — The Kootenai County Democratic Central Committee is scheduled Wednesday to narrow the field for sheriff down to one.

All interested applicants for sheriff are invited to appear before the central committee to state their qualifications, said Les Bignall, central committee chairman.

The sheriff's job went up for grabs when John Bender resigned to assume his new duties as the state commissioner of law enforcement. Bender was selected by Gov. Cecil Andrus.

Bignall said Wednesday's meeting will be closed to the public. He said its main purpose will be to recommend a replacement to the county commissioners.

The commissioners, according to Bignall, have asked the committee to recommend only one person for the job.

Prime candidates, according to the chairman, are Charles Huber and Stanley Johnson. Huber currently serves as chief deputy in the county and has been endorsed by Bender, while Johnson heads the county's criminal investigation division.

Wallace weds, divorces

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov.-elect George C. Wallace announced Monday he and Mrs. Cornelia Ellis Snively, a 31-year-old divorcee, would be married Monday night.

In an announcement released a few hours before the scheduled ceremony, Wallace, 51, said the wedding would take place at 7:30 p.m. EST in a Montgomery church with only members of the immediate family and a few close friends on hand. Newsmen were told they would be barred.

Wallace and Mrs. Snively, mother of two sons and niece of two-time Alabama Gov. James E. "Big Jim" Folsom, announced their engagement Christmas Day but set no date for the wedding.

Mrs. Snively, who studied to be a concert pianist under Clara, Carlo Menotti, met her first husband, John Snively, while performing with a water skiing group at Cypress Gardens, Fla. They were divorced a year ago, and she began seeing Wallace frequently last summer.

Trinity Presbyterian Church, the church in the bride's mother, was chosen for the ceremony. Wallace is a Methodist.

Wallace's wife, Lurleen, died of cancer while serving as his successor as governor in May 1968.

Wallace, a Democrat who ran for the presidency in 1968 on the American Independent ticket, begins his second term as governor on Jan. 18. Unable to succeed himself in 1967, he successfully ran his wife for the post. He defeated Gov. Albert Brewer, who succeeded Mrs. Wallace when she died in office, in the November general election. He had only token opposition after that.

Wallace has four children and one grandchild.

Father of Russ H-bomb struggles for liberties

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When a Soviet court recently tried and convicted nine Jews and two others in connection with a planned airplane hijacking, one of those passing information along to newsmen banned from the hearing was the man known as the father of the Soviet H-bomb.

He is Andrei Sakharov, who at 32 became one of the youngest members of the Soviet Academy of Sciences which is among the most prestigious in the Soviet Union.

At the risk of wrecking his own career, he is using his position to battle for the cause of human freedoms.

As such, he joins in the defense of Jews who have informed the United Nations they wish to emigrate to Israel; of Soviet citizens demanding freedom of worship as guaranteed in the Soviet constitution, and of others demanding enforcement of similar guarantees covering freedom of speech, the press and of assembly.

And as such he joins a very special minority.

For example, within the last year scores of Soviet Jews have demanded through every avenue available to them, including the U.S. Embassy in Moscow and the United Nations, that they be permitted to migrate to Israel.

Among the Soviet Union's estimated three million Jews they unquestionably are a minority, but a minority with a place to go if they ever are freed.

Sakharov's is a special minority since it has no wish to leave the Soviet Union, nor even to change the system, demanding simply that the leadership live up to those ideals already embodied in the Soviet constitution.

And to obtain it they risk everything, for it is within the power of the government not only to execute them for the treason of criticism but what is worse to sentence them to slow death by depriving them of a means of livelihood.

Sakharov fights not only a way of government but public opinion as well.

Nonetheless, while Soviet dissidents generally do not prosper, they are persistent and the numbers of influential artists and scientists among them are increasing.

Unfortunately, the actions of many are better known outside the Soviet Union than within.

He said there was also a proliferation of action plans in the original budget book.

Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, co-chairman of the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee, asked whether the state would be able to use its data processing center in the budget preparation and Duncomb replied that while the basic information supplied in the computers was "good", the figures themselves "are not sufficiently accurate."

He said at least 12 agency requests were inaccurate, adding, "we have not made much use of this, frankly."

Duncomb said the Andrus budget would be in two books: one

Nixon slates western stay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, heeding his doctor's advice to get more rest and exercise, will fly to Southern California Tuesday for up to a 10-day working vacation after an hour-long report to the nation on the first half of his White House term.

The President spent most of Monday preparing for the 9 p.m. EST nationally televised and broadcast interview by four television network reporters from the White House library.

Following that and a series of meetings with his top advisers Tuesday morning, the President and Mrs. Nixon will leave about noon for El Toro Marine Air Station, a 10-minute helicopter ride from their seaside villa at San Clemente.

While in California, Nixon will devote most of his working time to preparing the State of the Union message that he will deliver to the new Congress at 9 p.m. EST Jan. 22, Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said.

But he must also wade through a total of 52 bills passed in the waning session of the 91st Congress which require his signature by Jan. 14.

Brig. Gen. Walter Tkach, the chief White House physician, pronounced Nixon in excellent health following a periodic physical examination last week but urged him to relax more and get some exercise. The California trip will allow him to do both.

In addition to preparing the State of the Union message, the President and his aides are involved in putting together the legislative packages they will send to the new Congress after it convenes Jan. 21.

Two of Nixon's high priority domestic proposals — welfare reform and sharing of federal revenues with the states — will be discussed at a 8:00 a.m. EST cabinet meeting and a session with five Republican governors Tuesday before the Nixons leave for California.

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, a chief advocate of returning more federal revenues to state governments, Gov. Louis Nunn of Kentucky, Gov. Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania and Gov. Richard Ogilvie of Illinois will attend the session along with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Ziegler said the governors wanted to give the President their views on these subjects prior to his State of the Union message.

Highway toll at 442

By United Press International

Traffic accidents took a toll of 442 lives on the nation's highways during the New Year's holiday weekend, a final tabulation showed Monday.

The figure was near the middle of the National Safety Council's pre-holiday estimate that between 400 and 500 persons would die in traffic during the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. local time Thursday to midnight Sunday.

Texas had the largest state toll — 53. California counted 44 before the tabulation was terminated. New York had 25, Indiana — 24, Illinois — 21 and Michigan — 20.

Seven states and the District of Columbia had clean records of no traffic fatalities. The states were Alaska, Delaware, Idaho, Maine, Montana, North Dakota and Vermont.

The worst accident claimed eight lives. It happened near Shelbyville, Ind., Sunday when an automobile traveled the wrong way for 20 miles, collided head-on with a station wagon, and the station wagon careened into a semi-trailer truck.

Fifty-three persons died in fires, six in plane crashes and 30 in miscellaneous accidents, bringing the accidental death total for the holiday to 540.

And as such he joins a very special minority.

For example, within the last year scores of Soviet Jews have demanded through every avenue available to them, including the U.S. Embassy in Moscow and the United Nations, that they be permitted to migrate to Israel.

Among the Soviet Union's estimated three million Jews they unquestionably are a minority, but a minority with a place to go if they ever are freed.

Sakharov's is a special minority since it has no wish to leave the Soviet Union, nor even to change the system, demanding simply that the leadership live up to those ideals already embodied in the Soviet constitution.

And to obtain it they risk everything, for it is within the power of the government not only to execute them for the treason of criticism but what is worse to sentence them to slow death by depriving them of a means of livelihood.

Sakharov fights not only a way of government but public opinion as well.

Nonetheless, while Soviet dissidents generally do not prosper, they are persistent and the numbers of influential artists and scientists among them are increasing.

Unfortunately, the actions of many are better known outside the Soviet Union than within.

Youth survives poison

SALMON, Idaho (UPI) — A 2-year-old boy who consumed an unknown quantity of rat poison at his snowbound ranch home 60 miles west of Salmon, is reported in good condition at Steele Memorial Hospital.

John Wesley Marker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Marker, was flown to Salmon by helicopter from the Yellow Jacket Ranch. The ranch is isolated by deep snow.

The Markers used their back-country radio to call for help and a helicopter from Sun Valley was dispatched to the area.

After picking up the family, the helicopter landed on the Salmon High School football field, guided by the lights of an ambulance.

The boy has responded to treatments and was to be released soon — possibly late Monday.

Gem budget information omitted

BOISE (UPI) — A budget consultant to Gov. Cecil Andrus said Monday the budget forms used to prepare the fiscal year 1971 budget left out "key information" and said forms would have to be completely re-done in the coming year.

Dr. Sidney Duncomb, a professor of political science at the University of Idaho, has been working with Andrus to prepare the executive budget.

The original forms — listing requests from all state agencies from the general fund — were prepared by the budget division of the Department of Administrative Services on forms prepared by Touche-Ross, a consulting firm.

Duncomb said the forms left out workload information, the number of employees and a breakdown of federal and general fund participation.

He said there was also a proliferation of action plans in the original budget book.

Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, co-chairman of the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee, asked whether the state would be able to use its data processing center in the budget preparation and Duncomb replied that while the basic information supplied in the computers was "good", the figures themselves "are not sufficiently accurate."

He said at least 12 agency requests were inaccurate, adding, "we have not made much use of this, frankly."

Duncomb said the Andrus budget would be in two books: one containing salary and wage information and one containing a separate page for each agency listing the actual expenditures in 1969-70, the estimated expenditures for 1970-71, the agency's request for fiscal year 1971, a "continuation budget" necessary to continue the present level of services, and Andrus' request.

The joint committee began its hearings Monday, a week prior to the first session of the 1st legislature.

During the morning session, the committee heard budget requests from the Soil Conservation Administration and the Children's Home Society.

Doyle Scott, administrator of the Soil Conservation Administration, said his agency requested $41,786 to provide direct financial assistance to the districts and $37,735 for administrative costs.

Geneva Mouselle, director of the children's home, said the agency's $180,500 request was exactly what it had requested two years ago, although he said that had been cut.

He said, drug abuse was an "increasing problem" among the adolescents handled at the children's home and also said there is a "death of treatment" for disturbed children in Idaho.

He said the Children's Society has a waiting list for entrance and said applicants are chosen for the "real crisis problems."

He said the Children's Home Society has a total budget of $230,000, part of it in private contributions.

McQuade begins 20th year

BOISE (UPI) — The oath of office was administered to Chief Justice of the Idaho Supreme Court Henry F. McQuade Monday on the 20th anniversary of his service on the district and supreme court.

Former Chief Justice Joseph McFadden gave the oath of office to Justice McQuade, who in turn administered the oath to Supreme Court Justice Clay V. Spear, Second District Judge Daniel A. Quinlan, and newly appointed Supreme Court Clerk R. H. (Bill) Young. Nampa Justice McQuadenoted on Jan. 11 the new magistrates system will start throughout the state and said the high court is now required under the constitution to administer an integrated court system.

He urged the judiciary to be "watchful to assure that the system is operable."

McQuade, senior Supreme Court Justice and second in length of term among Idaho's district judges, has served during his legal career as a justice of the peace, police judge, involuntary county prosecutor, and district judge.

He was appointed to the high court in December, 1956, and was re-elected to the court in 1960 and 1966.

WASHINGTON — Deep in the hilly, high-grass country of southern Sudan, Soviet military technicians, pilots and a growing arsenal of weapons are fighting a bloody counterinsurgency war against African tribes which has moved imperial Russia half way down the African continent.

The Sudanese government of Gaafar al Nimeiry, an Arab military officer before he became prime minister, is making increasing use of Soviet anti-insurgency tactics, weapons, and manpower in its civil war against Arabizing Negro nationalists in the three southern provinces of the Sudan.

The Soviet Union, according to well-informed African sources, also has started building a new SAM-3 anti-aircraft missile net — this one not along the Suez Canal but near Port Sudan on the Red Sea, several hundred miles south of the main Arab-Israeli conflict.

What makes this hidden but bloody Soviet-backed civil war so fascinating to the U.S. is what it tells about Soviet political designs on coastal East Africa from the northern tip of the Suez Canal to Sudan.

Voting At 18

We will go along with Legislators who are of the opinion the voting age should be lowered to 18 by amendment of the present Constitution.

There was some talk in Boise during a Legislative Council session last week that the lowering of the voting age should be accomplished by adding it to the proposed revised constitution (which the people turned down at the last election) and then bringing the whole "pie" back to the voters in a special off-year election next November.

One reason given was that if the proposal to lower the voting age to 18 was brought up alone — and as a change in the present Constitution — it might get a light vote dominated by the "aginors."

having to accept some other item to get it.

We are of the opinion the voters of Idaho are knowledgeable individuals and that they will vote to lower the voting age to 18 if given the opportunity. It would be much easier and much less expensive to give them this opportunity by simply offering an amendment to the present Constitution.

Putting it in a "package" which would include the new proposed constitution would really be asking for defeat. The defeat at the last general election was so resounding we fail to see how feelings could be changed in only a year.

So we stand for those who would lower the voting age to 18 through amendment to the present Constitution. We are sure this move would be successful the first try.

Facts Of Life

You cannot blame officials of the Idaho Power Co. asking for a higher rate schedule. You cannot blame members of the Idaho Public Utilities Commission for granting it. It is just one of the facts of life in today's economy.

In the Times-News — on the same day some users of electricity were complaining about it and declaring it inflationary — there was also a story that the City of Twin Falls was getting ready to raise taxes. Why? To keep up with the rising costs of doing business and to pay the city employees more money.

Effective at once the postoffice is raising the charges for postoffice boxes. The hike amounts to about 25 per cent. The Idaho Power rate raise will be 5.5 per cent, the raise to firemen was about 8 per cent and the raise to other city employees will have to be in the vicinity of 6 per cent.

Statewide the teachers want more money, the state employees want more money, the Legislators want more money. The salary of the Governor has been raised from $17,500 to $30,000 effective this year. The Legislators gave the new Governor a "nestegg" of $10,000 to get things going even before he was in office. The natural gas company wants a rate increase. Our doctor used to charge $5 for an office call. Now he charges $7.50. Cost of medicare — and similar services — are going up. The old folks will have to pay more of their own funds for these services.

Everyone complains yet everyone wants more money. They want more money while, at the same time, they want everyone else to get less.

We have never yet run into anyone who looked his boss right in the eye and said "I don't want you to raise my wages. Please don't make me take the money."

Actually the individual is the cause of inflation — not the "big company" which usually gets the blame.

If we would all ask for less, work for less and demand less in services, the problem could be solved. Are you ready to start right now?

About The Calendars

This is the time of year when you suddenly notice that the calendar is out of date. You've been trying to figure out just what day it is and suddenly find out it is last year — not 1971.

Of course, some folks got a good supply of easily read calendars in the mail from various firms. These came between Christmas and New Years Day and if they were not lost in the rush they were taken from the mailing carton, rolled the opposite way and an attempt was made to straighten them out.

Then they were hung up. But lots of people don't get free calendars so they have to buy them. Usually they are about $1 each and you get a choice of one big picture with the months tacked on below or a separate page with a different picture and month on each. This gives you a choice of looking at the same picture all year or having a different one every month.

So actually there's no reason for not knowing the date at all times. Just because you're not on a preferred mailing list is no excuse. You can buy one! Now, if you have an alarm clock to go with the calendar, then there is no good reason to ever be late for work in 1971.

THE FADING TRAIL

Among Western Americana lore the history of the early West is virtually summarized by a list of the famous brand names of the period. Colt, Remington, Winchester, Levi, Wells Fargo and Stetson were as famous as Cody, Custer, Earp, Hickok, and other personalities. Now Stetson has bit the dust. Sort of makes you sad.

PECULIAR LOOK

There's really few things with the "look" of a camp trailer or camper in the winter. Covered with ice and snow they are usually hid around the corner of the house where they attract little attention. They are sort of dream-like in their quality. But comes spring and they will once more take to the road higher and higher — or whatever it is.

SOME ARE SLOW

Must be that some people are just slow. But merchant firms of ours say that many are still coming in to exchange gifts they received at Christmas. And right during the peak of the after-Christmas sales too!

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH

A New Committee

WASHINGTON — Senate liberals, who have long complained about the number of southerners who survive to become committee chairmen, may have another one to complain about when the new Congress is organized later this month.

Under the congressional reorganization law, approved in late October, a new Senate Committee on Veterans' Affairs is to be created in the 92nd Congress. As matters stand, Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., has a good chance to be named chairman of the new committee.

Talmadge, son of "Gene" Talmadge, the shirt-sleeved Georgia spellbinder of the 1940s, came to the Senate in 1957. He is his father's "junior" senator, junior to Richard B. Russell, who tops the Senate seniority list. Talmadge is in his third Senate term.

In the seniority-conscious Senate, Talmadge is not quite the most senior Democrat who is not already a committee chairman. But he may well be the most senior Democrat who is willing to give up other committee assignments to get the new Veterans' Committee chairmanship.

The House of Representatives has long had a standing Committee on Veterans' Affairs. In the Senate, legislation affecting veterans has been referred to the Finance Committee, (when it involves pensions and retirement benefits) or to the Labor or Services Committees.

Talmadge is a member of the Finance Committee and, as subcommittee chairman, he has been influential in the processing of veterans' legislation in recent years. So his assignment as senior Democrat, and therefore chairman, of the new Veterans' Committee is both possible by reason of seniority and sensible in terms of his past experience.

Now 57, dark-haired and vigorous, Talmadge does not fit the stereotype of the aging southerner who, in the eyes of some liberal critics of the seniority system, has been elevated to a chairmanship about the time he should be retiring.

Paradoxically, the same new law which will create the new Veterans' Committee, and the possibility of another southern chairman, will over the years tend to relax the tight hold of the much criticized seniority system. It will, in short, limit the number of committee memberships which a senator can acquire by reason of seniority.

Under the new law, each senator will be allowed to hold membership on two major Senate Committees. In addition, each senator will be allowed to be a member of one from a list of minor committees — minor Senate Committees, joint Senate House committees and the like.

The limitation will serve to open up the membership of the minor committees. Some senators, even some not too high on the seniority list, are now members of as many as half a dozen committees of one sort or another.

Take It Back

WASHINGTON — A lot of things were said in 1970 that people wish they could take back.

How would you feel if you were the person who said: To Walter Hickey, "Well, if you feel that strongly about it, why don't you write the President a letter?"

To Judge Casawell, "Even if they won't have you on the Supreme Court, you're a cinch to be elected senator."

To Sen. Charles Goodell, "The President and Vice President have to support you. After all you ARE a Republican."

To Bernie Cornfeld of IOS, "They can't fire you Bernie. It's your company, isn't it?"

To Howard Hughes, "You either do it my way, Mr. Hughes, or I'll have to resign."

To Secretary of the Treasury David Kennedy, "All we have to do is lay off people and we'll stop inflation."

To the president of General Motors, "The union will never strike. They need the jobs."

To the president of the United Auto Workers, "The company will never close down. They need the business."

To a general in the Pentagon, "There is no possible way of anyone finding out what we keep from American civilians."

To former Gov. William Scranton, chairman of the commission on student unrest, "Why don't we send an advance copy of the report to Spiro Agnew?"

To Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird, "We think we've found the underground command headquarters of COSVN."

In Cambodia.

To Richard Nixon, "Mr. President, our people are absolutely certain they have found the command headquarters of COSVN in Cambodia."

To the American people, "We are going in to wipe out the command headquarters of COSVN in Cambodia."

To the president of the Penn Central Railroad, "Why don't we hire Mr. Nixon's old law firm to handle our deficit problems?"

To a publisher who turned down Dr. David Reuben's book, "Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Sex."

"Boss, I don't see any market for a book of this kind."

To John Muck Carter, editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, "Sir, there is a delegation from Women's Lib outside, and I thought you'd like to talk to them."

To Henry Kissinger, "Henry, I'd like you to meet Jill St. John."

To former Police party chief Wladyslaw Gombik, "Why don't we raise the price of food before Christmas?"

To the president of the Shell Oil Co., "We have a small leak in one of our wells off the coast of Louisiana."

To Sen. Joseph Tydings, "Someone is on the phone, asking if you want to renew your subscription to Life magazine."

To Spiro Agnew, "Why don't you say you're sorry?"

To Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, "May I speak to your wife, please."

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

The Pap Test

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When having a Pap test, is scraping the proper way, or must you be clipped? I have heard that scraping is not the proper way and cancer cannot be found by that method. If this is true, how can you be sure your doctor is doing it the right way? — Mrs. T.K.N.

I have a feeling that somebody has said something that confused you — or perhaps somebody was spouting off on the basis of limited information.

First, let's clear up one point. Scraping some moisture (and cells) from the cervix, or "neck" of the womb, is the proper way to obtain a specimen for a Pap test.

What you mean by "clipped" probably means a biopsy — that is, taking a very tiny amount of the actual tissue, rather than the surface fluids.

The Pap test, by the scraping method, is not an absolute method of finding cancer. However, it gives the correct answer substantially over 90 per cent of the time.

Thus, if the test comes back positive for cancer, a biopsy will be made to pin the diagnosis down definitely. Or, if, occasionally, the Pap test may not look conclusive but is suspicious, then a biopsy would be called for.

So the scraping for a Pap test is entirely proper and there's no point in fretting over whether he is doing it the right way, H.A.S.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send your booklet, "Gout, The Modern Way to Stop It," for which I enclose 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. My husband feels best when he eats plenty of protein but he insists to avoid himself. — Mrs. E.

I am sure the booklet will clear up an unfortunate misunderstanding. A low-protein (not a low-protein) diet is helpful in avoiding gout, but the booklet also will explain medications now in use which have made diet a secondary aspect of preventing gout. The low-purine foods are also listed.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does it mean a man is sterile if his sperm count is very low? — T.K.N.

Naughly speaking, yes; but that needs some qualification. The average sperm count is 20 to 40 million cells per cubic centimeter of seminal fluid.

The count can vary from time to time, though, so a low count at one examination does not necessarily mean it will always be low. For that reason, more than one count may be required to establish a deficiency.

Generally speaking, an established count below 10 million is likely to cause infertility.

Other factors enter in also: the structural features of the sperm as well as their motility (the vigor with which they move about) can have a bearing on infertility, quite aside from the number.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My neighbor tells me oleo is bad for you because of the high cholesterol value and one should always use butter. I was under the impression that it was just the opposite. — Mrs. C.F.

You are right, your neighbor is confused. However, some oleos, if the vegetable oils in it are hydrogenated, can contain a good deal of cholesterol. Non-hydrogenated oleo does not.

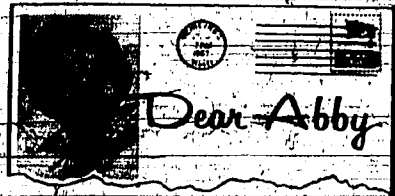

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is nevertheless vital to human life. For this reason, Dr. Thosteson has entitled his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." For a copy write to him in care of this newspaper, enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

"How come, now that I'm about to retire, they're cutting out all the Mickey Mouse stuff in the military?"

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, 47 years old, and I live with my son who is 22. For Christmas he gave me a pair of black lace panties with a red bow—the type a striptease dancer might wear. I blushed when I opened the package, but pretended I was pleased. (I would never wear anything like that.)

Lately my son has taken to smacking me on the rump as an affectionate gesture when he passes by. I love my son, but I do not appreciate this kind of familiarity by the child I brought into the world.

I have heard there is something called "The Oedipus Complex." Do you think my son has one? And if so, what should I do about it? I have started to lock my bedroom door at night in case he gets some other strange ideas. Should I insist that he get his own apartment? Kindly advise me as I can't ask anyone else these questions.

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Obviously you and your son do not communicate very well, or you wouldn't be "worried" about his ideas and intentions. You should go to know him better. In order to understand him, this will take time and effort and dialog. "The Oedipus Complex" is the theory that all sons have an unconscious desire to get rid of father in order to replace him in the role of lover to mother. (Some buy it, some do not.) In all probability, your son is a functioning 22-year-old who loves his mother in a normal healthy way.

DEAR ABBY: Because she wanted a watermelon she could not afford, a mother allowed her 8-year-old child to accept a dollar for helping an ailing old lady home from the supermarket. Then the mother regretted allowing her child to accept money for a good deed, and she asked you if the child should now return the dollar. You said yes.

Abby, how much nicer it would have been if you had suggested that the child take some homemade cookies or a few flowers to the lady. She lived in a convalescent home and was no doubt lonely.

For the child to return the dollar and apologize would be a traumatic chore for an 8-year-old.

You give so much good advice, Abby, I never miss reading your column. I wish I had had you when I was young.

MARIAN McD. IN BOCA RATON, FLA.

DEAR MARIAN: Thanks, Marian, I wish I had had you when I was writing that answer.

DEAR ABBY: I could hardly believe my eyes when I read the letter from "Heart and Heartbroken Mother in Law" who wanted to visit with her grandchild, but had never been asked.

How I wish she were my mother in law! Mine has been asked to sit, but she always had something else to do. Once she went so far as to tell us she had a doctor's appointment. (At 9 p. m.!!)

She has a comfortable 4-bedroom home and nothing to do, so I can't understand it. The last straw came when I went into labor with my second child. The baby was not due yet, so I had no babysitter lined up. We called my mother in law and she came over and informed us that she would drive me to the hospital, but she would not watch our child.

Now, we never ask, and she is pleased. She often says, "I raised my own children and I think everyone else should raise theirs!"

The bride is attending Idaho State University and will be graduated this spring with a degree in nursing. The bridegroom attended Idaho State University and was graduated in 1970 from the school of pharmacy and is employed at St. Luke's Hospital Pharmacy, Boise.

On tropical island—it's lasses who make passes

HONOLULU (UPI)—There's no question about who's the boss in Palau.

The sexual freedom and aggressiveness that women have in the tropical island group of Micronesia, would warm the heart of the most rabid women's liberalist.

But for all their superiority in matters of the heart, says a Honolulu psychiatrist, neither the women nor the men are happy.

Dr. George F. Schnack, who was in Palau as part of a medical teaching team, said Palauan women gained the upper hand long before Women's Lib emerged in the United States or Betty Friedan wrote "The Feminine Mystique."

"The women aggressively chase the men," he told UPI. "The guys hang back and let the girls make the advances."

The rare female who is shy and withdrawn is the object of talk and gossip by other women, Schnack said. "They consider her odd."

But the women's sexual freedom in Palau, it's the male. "He's much more likely to harbor feelings of immorality about promiscuity than the female," Schnack said.

But the woman's sexual domination plus practically complete sexual freedom have not been a panacea, even in this beautiful, remote and unspoiled cluster of Pacific Islands, part of the Carolinas, about 500 miles north of New Guinea.

"There's an underlying depression," Schnack said, "and the people do not seem to be emotionally mature when they grow up."

He believes the men are actually afraid of the women.

and that the women "would like to be close to the men but don't know how."

Schnack said the aggressiveness of the women has been going on for decades and "trying to speculate why is in the realm of fantasy."

"But it may have resulted from the way in which warfare among the tribes provided a role for the men," he said.

"When the wars ended at the end of the 19th century, the men were no longer providing the forcefulness in life. They gave up their strength crumpled and the women took over."

many girls over here these days like to wear, or not to wear a bra.

The popular Paris daily, "France Soir," just recently came to the aid of the undecided by indenting who should or shouldn't discard the bra to achieve the contemporary look in fashion.

The "pencil test" it seems answers the question.

"Place a pencil horizontally into the fold under the breast. Should the pencil fall, you don't need the support of a bra. If the pencil stays put, then wear one."

When Yves Saint Laurent showed the first transparent bosom-revealing blouse three seasons ago, he started a new trend. That it has caught on is proved by the fact that the now chic young Parisiennes have the idea that discarding their bras is the chic and sexy way of carrying off the longer skirts and shifting attention from hidden legs to another gorgeous zone.

A popular parlor game among the boys these days is guessing and betting who among the girls is or is not wearing what in French is called a "soutien gorge" or bosom support. (A "bras-stere" is a baby's garment.)

Statistics showed recently that by now 16 per cent of the French women admit to rarely or never using artificial support and the corset industry is seriously concerned.

Other figures revealed that

One fashion designer has created some mini-pop-art bras decorated with land and seascapes, birds, butterflies and scarlet lips. These are also applied on sheer seamless and stretchy underpinnings.

We have come a long way from the time Brigitte Bardot created a furor by allowing glimpses of a nude body in one of her first films, "And God Created Woman," and from the inflatable bras, usually black and lace-trimmed, which used to be sold in a little shop off Place Pigalle.

Drain well effects

MOSCOW—Many drain well users in southern Idaho have misconceptions concerning the ability of the septic tanks and drain wells to purify waste water before it reaches the water table, states a report just published by the University of Idaho and several cooperating agencies.

According to "The Effects of Drain Wells on the Ground Water Quality of the Snake River Plain," only under limited geological conditions will this purification occur. The report was recently published by the Idaho Bureau of Mines and Geology in cooperation with the Idaho Division of Environmental Improvement, the Idaho Department of Health and the University of Idaho College of Engineering. The authors are Donn E. Abegglen, graduate assistant in civil engineering, Alfred T. Wallace, associate professor of civil engineering and Roy E. Williams, associate professor of hydrology.

The pamphlet discusses the potential pollution threat to the southeastern Idaho ground-water supply, posed by the use of some 5,000 drain wells for the disposal of municipal sewage, excess irrigation water, street drainage and industrial wastes.

According to the report, the ground-water supply is extremely valuable, as an estimated 40 percent of the irrigation water and virtually 100 percent of the domestic water in southeast Idaho comes from ground-water. The authors hope that their investigation will make residents of the Snake River Plain aware of the possible public health consequences of improper waste disposal; lay the groundwork for decisions leading to minimization of the risk of ground-water pollution due to drain well wastes; and provide a partial basis for a ground-water management plan for the Snake River Plain as future demands are placed upon the resource.

The pamphlet, numbered 148, is available through the Idaho Bureau of Mines and Geology, University of Idaho, Moscow.

Farmer-priest

CRUIZ FOR US conservation cropping, wildlife protection practices and installation of drainage and irrigation systems, Rev. Ermen Beyer, O.S.B., is the first priest to win the grand award in a national conservation contest. The 32-year-old Benedictine priest is recognized for his management of the 2,300-acre St. Vincent Archabbey farm at Latrobe, Pa. He received top honors in the annual Soil Conservation Program, sponsored for 24 years by Goodyear in cooperation with the National Association of Conservation Districts. In these photos, Father Beyer is seen studying a land-use chart, discussing water runoff, inspecting a tree in his reforestation program and sharing a youth's enjoyment of the fish pond he stocked.

Breeding studied

EAST LANSING, Mich.—Studies of estrous suppressants for controlled breeding of sheep are being conducted by scientists in Michigan State University's department of large animal surgery and medicine. This research will enable sheep producers to concentrate the lambing period over a short period of time or to spread it out throughout the year. Currently, all lambs are born in spring, putting a heavy workload on the producer and resulting in an uneven market.

Kootenai sheriff position available

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI)—Want to be sheriff of Kootenai County? Then bring your credentials to the Kootenai County Democratic Central Committee Wednesday and interview for the job.

All interested applicants for sheriff are invited to appear before the central committee to state their qualifications, said Lew Bignall, central committee chairman, in a letter to committee members Saturday. The sheriff's job is up for grabs because John Bender resigned effective today assuming his duties as the newly-appointed state commissioner of law enforcement. Wednesday's meeting will be closed to the public according to Bignall who said the main purpose of the meeting will be to recommend a replacement for Bender to the county commissioners.

The commissioners, he said, have asked the committee to recommend only one person for the spot. Bignall listed Charles Huber and Stanley Johnson as candidates for the job. Huber currently serves as chief deputy in the county and has been endorsed by Bender, while Johnson heads the Highway districts stymied

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI)—Boundaries have been set for the new highway districts in Kootenai County—but the districts can't begin functioning because of uncertainty of how to appoint or elect highway commissioners to run them.

Apparently the Idaho Legislature did not provide for the naming of commissioners when it revised the law or highway districts so County Prosecutor Gary Haman has requested an attorney general's opinion on what procedures to follow.

The county's four highway districts replace eight former districts plus the county road operation. The districts were approved by county voters last Nov. 3.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market advanced sharply after more than three hours Tuesday. Turnover was moderate.

Providing incentive for investors, more President Nixon's pledge not to ask for any administration-sponsored tax legislation this year, and his encouraging projection regarding the nation's economy.

Both joblessness and inflation will decline in this year, Nixon said, and 1971, in essence, will be a good year, and 1972 will be a very good year.

Also fueling demand was a belief that Monday's cut in the prime rate by the First Pennsylvania Banking & Trust Co. will soon become general, and a feeling that a reduction in the Federal Reserve discount rate to member banks may be introduced in a week or two.

The Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chips was up 4.86 at 835.43 at 1 p.m., while Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a gain of 0.48.

Business Today

NEW YORK (UPI)—Various cities and the federal Department of Transportation are working on a new method of rapid transit in 1971. The Alexander Hamilton Institute says: "The city is maintaining a budget deficit and recommends a steady flow of surplus funds into quality issues."

The buying in the current rally has been limited and the public has been elsewhere," according to the Janeway Publishing & Research Corp. "With the buying almost entirely institutional, and with public participation 'nil,' the company's assessment of the market is 'bearish.'"

The abrupt advance on the Dow "completed the transition period from bear to bull market," according to Abraham & Co. The company says bull markets "do not top out until long after a new high in share turnover has been registered" and it adds that "life expectancy of bull markets is normally reckoned in years rather than months."

Fraser Management Association notes that "last year the least number of experts expected a drop under 750" on the Dow and this year "the least expected event in a rise above 900." This, the company says, is being called "a wispy phantom in the distant future" but it firm is of the opinion that the phantom is more real than imagined.

Court methods change

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — Beginning Monday, persons going to court to pay traffic fines or to appear on other charges normally handled in probate and justice courts in Twin Falls county will be calling at the former probate court offices of the county judicial building here.

The change is part of the new Idaho court reform system which becomes effective Jan. 11, and will see magistrates sitting on the benches formerly occupied by the county probate judge, city police judge or justice of the peace.

Judge Theron W. Ward, Fifth Judicial District, said he feels the court reform system will be a major improvement but it may take some time of actual work under the new routine to work out all details of a smooth operation.

Harold Lancaster, county clerk and clerk of the district court, said he was sending letters Monday to all city police judges, justices of the peace and the probate court asking their records be transferred to the district court.

Two magistrates, Daniel B. Meehl, attorney, and Reed P. Maughan, former justice of the peace in Twin Falls, will be handling all lower court transactions and trials. Judge Ward said he believes the two local magistrates will be able to handle the initial volume of court actions but he personally feels it may be necessary to add a third later in the year.

As the system is completely new to lower court operations, Judge Ward said, it is not known what the work load will be and what changes will be made as time progresses.

Many of the traffic cases now being heard by the justices of the peace and city police judges will not come before the magistrates, Judge Ward said. District court clerks and deputy clerks will be able to collect fines and court costs on many of the traffic violations simply by having the violator fill out a guilty plea form providing he chooses to plead guilty and pay a set fine and costs.

Judge Ward said the district court has drawn up an assignment of cases for attorney and non-attorney magistrates with all trial cases to be handled by the magistrates with legal training. Meehl will handle such cases in Twin Falls County, he said.

There are nine traffic violation categories including drunken driving, hit and run, driving on a suspended license, reckless driving and other which must be heard by a magistrate but those such as speeding not in excess of 15 miles per hour above the posted limit, can be transacted by the court clerks. All violations of city ordinances and of Idaho Fish and Game Department regulations will go before the magistrate division and many of these can be handled by clerks.

Judge Ward said the district court as such remains unchanged except for additional administrative duties. State law provides the senior judge of the district shall administer all divisions of the court. In Twin Falls and Jerome counties, Judge Charles Scoggin, senior judge, has delegated this authority to Judge Ward and Judge James M. Cunningham, and in Minidoka and Cassia counties to Judge Sherman Bellwood. There are still four district judges in the Fifth District.

Judge Ward explained the court reform system is designed to make the courts more self-supporting in the future and in keeping with this, violators will find costs somewhat higher. Filing fees have also been increased slightly. Court costs now a uniform $5, will be raised to $7.50 per case. Filing fees, in a divorce case, for example, which are now $22.50, will increase to $25.50.

Clerks now serving in the lower court system will be employed in the office of the district clerk with some few exceptions. Judy Brooks, Twin Falls Police Court, will be employed at the local police station, and any police court and justice court personnel outside of Twin Falls will not be used. Most of the police and justice courts in the small communities of the county and the judges serve on a part time basis in connection with other jobs such as city clerk.

Probation officers including state employees and Helen Henderson, formerly county juvenile probation officer, will all be employed by the state and will move their offices from the present probate court offices to the third floor of the old courthouse building.

Judge Ward said the state will pay the salaries and expenses of the magistrates as it does district judges. County funds will provide facilities and salaries for clerical help. He said through increased court cost assessments the taxpayer may eventually find the court reform system less costly.

A cash register designed by National Cash Register Co., after specifications drawn by Clerk Lancaster for the new system arrived Monday and probate and justice court personnel who will be operating it were being coached Monday afternoon.

It does the thinking
CASH REGISTER, DESIGNED by National Cash Register Co., to handle new court reform accounting has arrived in Twin Falls County for the new court system beginning Jan. 11. Here David Chandler, Twin Falls, company representative explains operation of the accounting register to deputy clerks of the district court, Pat Hafer, Sadlo DeGlee, Kerman Bernard and Evelyn Hlatka, from left. The clerks, formerly employed in probate and justice courts, will be responsible for collecting magistrate and district court fees and fines.

Gets nameplate...
FIRST DISTRICT COMMISSION post in Twin Falls County will be turned over to Merle Leonard, right, on Jan. 11. Morris W. Carlson, who has held the post the past six years, accepts his desk nameplate from his successor prior to his final official office day Wednesday. On Wednesday he also observes his birthday anniversary.

Secret meeting planned

By GEORGIA LAYTON
Times-News Correspondent

BURLEY — A closed meeting between Cassia County commissioners and Burley city councilmen and clerks of both groups is scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday at the chamber of commerce office.

Mayor Garis Robertson declined to explain what topics will be discussed, saying he did not want any information released until "concrete action is taken."

City councilmen stayed late after their regular session Monday night after asking members of the press to leave. Mayor Robertson told this reporter today that councilmen spent from 9:30 p.m. to after 11 p.m. discussing topics they will bring up at the Wednesday night meeting.

Representatives of the press also were asked to leave the council meeting early last month.

Date for the hearing on the Local Improvement District proposed for Northeast Burley, between the railroad tracks and the Snake River, has been changed from Jan. 18 to Feb. 1 because of advertising requirements.

Mayor Robertson reported the cost will be about $50,000 with between $45,000 and $48,000 to be paid by property owners, if the ID is approved by the city. City crews will do the preliminary work and engineering.

In other business, Darby Beck, high school student, and Leon Ledko, city engineer, were appointed to the city safety traffic committee.

The proposed stop light installation at 24th street was discussed with the mayor reporting the city's share of the cost will be about $4,000.

Carlson has final meeting Wednesday

TWIN FALLS — Last official meeting day for Morris W. Carlson as first district county commissioner and member of the three man county governing board will be Wednesday which also is his 58th birthday anniversary.

Carlson has served six years on the board of commissioners and is turning the duties of his office over to Merle Leonard. Both are residents of the Filer area. Carlson did not seek reelection in the 1970 election.

"I feel strongly about the obligations of citizens to serve in some government capacity and feel the opportunity should be passed around to all willing and qualified citizens," he said.

In 1959 Carlson served as a member of the first county zoning commission and was one of the group instrumental in preparing an ordinance on county zoning. He was elected county commissioner in 1964 and served as chairman of the county commission in 1965 and 66, succeeding the late Warren W. Lowery as chairman.

While a county commissioner, he was elected to the executive board of the Idaho Association of County Commissioners and Clerks, and held the office of president of the state organization in 1967-68. He is currently on the executive board.

Carlson also served with other commission members as an ex-officio member of the city-county airport commission and supported the effort to make the facility a county and city operation. He has been a member of Harbor House Board of Directors since the group formed and has been active in many other county programs.

Carlson said during his term of office improvements such as the new Snake River Bridge between western Twin Falls County and Gooding County, the new county judicial building, Rock Creek Watershed program and other undertakings have proven gratifying.

"He has been a member of the Salvation Army Board and active in community affairs including the Filer Methodist Church. He currently serves on the projects action committee of the State Association of Soil Conservation Districts."

Carlson also is a member of the Governor's Comprehensive Health Planning Committee, under appointment of outgoing Gov. Don Samuelson.

Active in Republican party politics, Carlson says he wants to take a rest from public office for a while but has not closed the door on future political office on the county level or as a state legislator.

"I have greatly enjoyed the opportunity of serving the county but feel the office will be filled by an outstanding man when Merle Leonard takes over Jan. 11. Being county commissioner has given me an opportunity to personally meet such national figures as Mayor John Lindsay of New York City, President Richard Nixon and governors of many adjoining states," Carlson said.

Carlson's term of office prior to Jan. 11, but the last day prior to that on which commission meetings ordinarily were held, was

Air West breaks boarding record

TWIN FALLS — A total of 881 fare-paying passengers boarded Hughes Air West jets at the Twin Falls City-County Airport during the first four days of this year, breaking all records in existence.

At the same time, according to Larry Ecklund, Air West station manager, the single day record of 170 set in September 1960 was surpassed last Saturday when 364 people flew out of Twin Falls. The airline official said number of people flying into Twin Falls totaled at least 600 during the four-day period, making a total of nearly 1,500 boarding or leaving Air West planes during that time.

At the present time there are eight Air West jets on regular schedule into Twin Falls each Saturday and five on Sundays and weekdays. One jet, arriving at 11:15 p.m. from Los Angeles, stays overnight and leaves for the return flight the following day at 7 a.m. The airline now has 17 full time employees at the local field.

Irrigation plans tabled by council

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — Action on forming a Twin Falls City irrigation district to administer use of ditch water for properties within the city limits where can and is still being used was tabled Monday night after a lengthy discussion.

Tom Nelson, city council member, said he felt more study should be given and a complete boundary description established for the proposed district.

City Manager Jean Millar said the council must adopt the ordinance setting up a district before the fourth Monday in January if an assessment roll is to be established for this year. Nelson said he would rather put the matter off another year than act hastily on it.

For the past year studies have been in progress on properties using ditch water from the Twin Falls Canal Co. system for lawn and garden irrigation. City Manager Millar said the problems involved keeping this water available to the few properties using it are among the major ones the city faces in summer months. In addition, such residents do not pay individually for the water as it is covered by over all city financing and at the same time they pay less in city water payments than their neighbors who use town sprinklers.

Millar recommended the district be set up and assessed through the district to hire their own ditch rider and pay for the water as well as for district administration in order to make the system fair to all city taxpayers. He said he would like to see the district functioning for the coming season.

Council action also established an interim budget for all city departments for the first quarter of 1971. This was established department by department at approximately one-fourth of the 1970 budget for the year. A complete 1971 budget is currently being prepared by the city manager.

No protests were voiced in a public hearing on a zoning variance request by Mardon F. Talbot for his property at West Five Points intersection. Talbot requested a reduction in off-street parking space requirements in connection with a building expansion. The variance was granted by the council.

Airport board meeting

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls City-County Airport board were in session this afternoon discussing a full agenda concerning airport operation.

Topics included:

- The search for federal emergency or other funds to aid in repair and upkeep of the older portion of the main runway.
- Emergency procedures in connection with available rescue and fire equipment.
- Status of the terminal building enlargement project now in progress.
- Latest information on efforts to secure a control tower.
- Fee structure for use of airport facilities.

Blood donors exceed quota

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley blood donors continued the unbroken string of exceeding blood-drawing quotas Monday with a total of 192 pints donated, against a quota of 180 pints.

The drawing, held at the American Legion Hall under direction of Robert King, Twin Falls, included a special appeal for A-positive and O-positive blood, badly needed by the Boise Red Cross blood bank because of several open-heart operations which are scheduled. The Twin Falls Jaycees helped load and unload equipment from the Red Cross Bloodmobile for the drawing.

Dave Nelson, chairman of the Twin Falls County Red Cross board of trustees, said a drawing is scheduled at Filer on Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Filer American Legion Hall, with a 75-pint quota. Any blood donors who missed the Twin Falls drawing should attend the Filer drawing, Nelson said.

The serious need for donated blood continues throughout southern Idaho, especially with the many accidents of the holiday season, according to Boise blood bank officials.

Fillmore takes chamber helm

BURLEY — Grant Fillmore, 1971 Burley Chamber of Commerce president, received the gavel from Ernest Blauer, retiring president, at the first luncheon meeting of 1971 Monday at Bryan's Cafe.

Ted Kelsey, past chamber president, spoke on "What a chamber of commerce does in the community." Chamber work included business development, community betterment, governmental issues and dues and membership, Kelsey said.

He said, "The industrial committee has a great responsible job in assisting industry in settling in our community and the Burley chamber industrial committee is working well in this field."

Community betterment includes programs where the agricultural business work hand in hand with city business as the Agricultural Businessman Banquet, county fair, 4-H Fat Stock Sale, airport and highway improvements.

In other business Monday chamber officials voted to support the South Idaho Chamber of Commerce in filing on BLM land for a regional airport. The local chamber favors the proposed site north of Hansen Bridge as first choice and as a second choice, the area north of Perrine Memorial Bridge.

The action was taken after a report by Ed Elliott, Burley regional airport committeeman for the South Idaho Chamber

In other business, the trustees discussed several requests from the faculty negotiating committee, which were presented to the trustees in November. Dr. Regland cautioned trustees and newsmen that the discussion was informal in nature, and that no formal answers had yet been approved for presentation to the committee of teachers.

The trustees agreed generally that the requests from the

that the original negotiations agreement of the board, adopted in 1968, declares the board's policy that "The board recognizes that, in the pursuit of the profession of teaching, teachers have a right to join or refrain from joining any teachers' organization for their professional and economical improvement, and that as a matter of individual choice, teachers are free to join or refrain from joining such organizations."

This position appears to be sound and "was intended to include all teachers," the trustees said.

Dr. Regland presented a series of nine proposed salary schedules for the 1971-72 school year, providing a wide variation of increases in salary for Twin Falls teachers. No formal action was taken by the trustees, pending a complete study of the various proposals.

Baltimore takes it easy

SPORTS

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Many of the Baltimore Colt players were out of town visiting their families Monday before beginning preparations for their Jan. 17 Super Bowl date with the Dallas Cowboys in Miami.

Colt coaches, however, were already hard at work preparing for the NFC champions. They viewed Monday's game as Baltimore's 27-17 win over the Oakland Raiders Sunday which gave them the American Football Conference title and the trip to the Super Bowl.

Unlike the Cowboys, who have five injured men, the Colts came out of the Oakland game with no new medical problems to worry about.

Tight ends John Mackey and Tom Mitchell still were nursing leg injuries and receiver Ray Perkins still had a broken toe.

The team will hold drills here Wednesday and Thursday before flying to Miami Thursday night.

An undetermined number of Super Bowl tickets go on sale here Tuesday morning. However, the AFC championship game was not even a sellout Sunday.

The highlight of the game was the 68-yard pass from John Unitas to Perkins in the fourth quarter which gave Baltimore its final touchdown.

The Colts sent into that third and ten play in their own territory with a 20-17 lead—despite the fact that they were to be safe considering the Oakland habit of scoring last-minute victories this season.

Coach Don McCafferty, who received the game ball from his players, said the play was used because of Mackey's pulled hamstring muscle.

The clutching pattern is called "out-left, double wing right," according to McCafferty, or more simply "68 double bow out." He said it had been added to the playbook just last week.

In the play, flanker Eddie Hinton and Perkins were set up to the left, Jimmy Orr and Roy Jefferson were set right; with only running back, Jerry Hill, blocking for Unitas. It was used so Mackey would not have to go for flying to Miami Thursday night.

McCafferty said the injured Raider defense "would play Perkins as a tight end, and that Orr would be open."

"But, Oakland played it the opposite way," he explained. Unitas read the coverage "perfectly," and the Colts were on their way to their second Super Bowl in three years.

CLEVELAND (UPI)— Rookie Geoff Petrie of Portland went over the 30-point mark for the fifth straight game Monday night when he scored 39 points including the final Blazers to a 119-106 victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

The Trail Blazers, who trailed 32-25 at the end of the first quarter, connected on 12 of 20 shots from the floor in the second quarter in racing to a 55-52 halftime lead.

The Cavaliers got to within one point when Bobby Smith tossed in a basket to cut Portland's lead to 85-84 early in Playing only his second round on the Dorado Beach's East course, Lewis scored five birdies and only one bogey.

Cowboys eager for Super Bowl

DALLAS (UPI)—The anxiety of winning the National Football Conference championship Sunday gave way to pain Monday for five Dallas Cowboys.

Dallas coaches began preparation for the Super Bowl game Jan. 17 against the Baltimore Colts.

Players took a two-day vacation Monday and Tuesday, but were expected back to practice Wednesday for four days of work prior to Sunday's trip to Florida, site of the 1971 Super Bowl.

The Cowboys stopped one or two games short of the championship in each year since 1966, won the championship with a 17-10 victory over the San Francisco Forty Niners Sunday in California.

Five Cowboys, each regular, complained of severe injuries Monday. A Cowboy spokesman said each was expected to play against the Colts.

Running back Walt Garrison had two major injuries, a chipped collar bone and a sprained ankle. Garrison played the last half of the game Sunday with both injuries, and picked up a total of 71 yards on the ground and 51 yards after taking passes.

The backer Chuck Howley reported a chipped elbow, offensive guard John Niland a pulled leg muscle, defensive back Herb Adeler had a pulled hamstring and defensive safety Coryell Green a recurring foot injury.

The Cowboy spokesman said the team would fly Sunday to Ft. Lauderdale for workouts at the site of the New York Yankee baseball team's spring training headquarters. The team will move to Miami late in the week for at least one workout at the Orange Bowl.

Tar Heels dump Bucks South Carolina down Seattle

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)—North Carolina jumped off to an early lead and held off South Carolina threats throughout the second half Monday night to dump the second-ranked Gamecocks 79-64.

After taking a 40-29 halftime lead, the Tar Heels saw their lead cut to four points four times in the second half, but held on each time.

South Carolina closed it to 62-68 with four minutes to go in the game, but North Carolina scored eight straight points to make it 79-58.

Junior Kim Hubbard keyed the Tar Heel attack in the closing minutes after North Carolina went into its four-corner offense. He hit four free throws in the last three minutes and controlled the ball most of the time.

South Carolina hit only 32 percent of its shots in the first half while the Tar Heels hit 54.8 per cent.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The Seattle SuperSonics decided to insert American Basketball Association forward Spencer Haywood into the lineup for the second half in their NBA game against Milwaukee Monday night, but it was too late to stop the Bucks who won 124-110.

Milwaukee played the game under protest, claiming Haywood's presence on the Sonics' roster violated National Basketball Association bylaws under which he would not be eligible to play in the league until June of this year.

Haywood scored 14 points in the second half during which Seattle kept pace with Milwaukee, a fact which caused Bucks coach Larry Costello to wonder why Haywood wasn't in the Sonics' lineup from the start.

"It surprised me that they played him at all," Costello said. "But if he was dressed, they might as well have played him from the start."

Low Alcindor led all scoring with 38 points and Bob Dandridge added 24 for Milwaukee while Oscar Robertson had 19. Don Kojis led Sonics' scoring with 24 points followed by Len Wilkens with 21.

The crowd of 8,835, following heavy snow and cold weather, was the lowest of the regular season this year for the Bucks here.

Houston Cougars has win

HOUSTON (UPI)—Bob Welch and Dwight Davis scored 28 and 27 points to lead the University of Houston to a 106-80 win over Dayton Monday night.

Houston's press bothered the Flyers early in the game as the Cougars jumped to a 10-point lead at the first seven minutes.

Dayton was never ahead and tied the score only once at 2-2.

Welch drove in to put the Cougars ahead 4-3 and they eventually moved to a 34-25 lead with 5:30 left to go in the half and led 52-34 at intermission.

Dayton, which had 18 turnovers the first half, played Houston even most of the second half until both teams began substituting freely late in the game.

Weber State Wildcats down Montana State

OGDEN, Utah (UPI)—Weber State College, minus ailing superstar Willie Sojourner, broke open a four-point game at the half to win big over Montana State University, 87-83.

Sojourner, who has been hospitalized all week with a severe throat infection, was present on the Wildcat bench and appeared to inspire the Wildcats.

Throughout the first half the game remained close with Weber State lead coming at 17-

11 and 21-15. However, Montana State pulled to a 27-27 tie when Frank Huges hit a 15-foot jumper but that was no close as the Bobcats came as Weber State pulled to a 35-29 halftime lead.

Grady Small kicked the Wildcat attack into high gear when he hit six straight field goals to begin the second half. From then on it was all Weber State as the Bobcats seemed to give up.

The Wildcats' biggest lead of the game was 22 points, 77-55, at 3:37 of the second half. Leading scorers for the game were Bob Davis with 20 points, Richard Cooper with 27, and Brady Small with 14 for the Wildcats; and Scott Koelzer with 23—the high individual scorer for the game and Bob Brickhouse with 16 for the Bobcats.

In Big Sky play Weber State now stands 2-0 and Montana State 1-2. Weber State has defeated Montana and Montana State while Montana State has beaten Northern Arizona and lost to Gonzaga and Weber State.

Montana State is just completing a 15-day road trip that saw the team compete in the prestigious All College tournament. Weber State's next outing is Jan. 9 against the Northern Arizona University Lumberjacks at Flagstaff, Ariz.

Notre Dame ranks tenth

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New Year is a great year so far for Notre Dame.

The Fighting Irish football team opened it in fine fashion on New Year's Day with a stunning upset of national champion Texas in the Cotton Bowl. The basketball team moved into the United Press International top 10 listing, after mulling off an upset of its own last week by beating seventh-ranked Kentucky.

Notre Dame, now 6-2 with losses to South Carolina and Indiana, took the No. 10 spot in the fifth weekly balloting by members of the 35-member UPI Board of Coaches. The ratings include games played through Sunday, Jan. 3.

UCLA, cruising along with a 9-0 record, maintained its No. 1 ranking and South Carolina held second. Southern California, unbeaten in 10 games, edged past Marquette into third place and Pennsylvania, unbeaten in eight, moved up to fifth.

Western Kentucky fell to sixth, followed by Kansas, Kentucky, Jacksonville and Notre Dame to complete the top 10.

St. Bonaventure's burst into the ratings in the No. 11 slot and Villanova fell to 12th, Indiana was 13th, Louisville and Oregon tied for 14th and surprising Fordham, 11-0 this season, broke in at No. 16.

Utah State was 17th; North Carolina took 18th and Drake and New Mexico tied for 19th and last.

Notre Dame, led by Austin Carr's 50-point performance, stunned Kentucky, 99-92, to return to the top 20 after a week's absence. The Fighting Irish's two losses have come by a total of six points, 85-82 to South Carolina and 106-103 to Indiana.

The victory gave the Gators a 4-6 overall record and a 2-1 mark in the conference. Vanderbilt suffered its fifth loss against seven wins, and its first against three SEC victories.

Harvard names coach

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—Ivy League Harvard surprisingly reached into the Canadian professional ranks Monday to name Joe Restic of the Hamilton Tiger Cats as the head football coach to succeed the retired John Yovetich.

Harvard said Restic, 44, was chosen from a field of 80 prospects and had been given a three-year contract by the Harvard Corporation.

Restic, who has coached the Canadian Football League team for the past three years, has been a grid coach for 16 seasons on the high school level. He was an assistant at Brown and Colgate and an assistant at Hamilton before taking the head coaching job there.

Restic, who attended Villanova and holds a masters' degree from Seton Hall, coached high school ball in Salisbury, Md., and Neptune, N.J., and was an offensive and defensive back for Villanova and for two seasons with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Harvard said its seven-man search committee interviewed 20 candidates for the post and "feels Joe Restic best meets the established criteria" of experience, a good record, an agreement with the Ivy approach to athletics and that football should be part of the educational process.

The silliest hand for 1970 was played by a nameless expert in the blue ribbon pairs at the Fall Nationals in Houston, Texas.

Four spades was the final contract at practically every table with South usually winding up with 11 tricks. Our nameless expert, however, at the 10th table, went for a contract where East led the four of diamonds out of turn. South had a choice of penalties and required that the four of diamonds remain as an exposed card.

West opened the five of clubs and for some reason East decided to play the queen rather than the ace. South won with the king and saw what appeared to be a real opportunity to take advantage of the exposed card.

He led a heart to dummy's queen. East took his king and had to lead the four of diamonds. South played low.

He planned to discard his jack of clubs on dummy's ace of hearts but West ruffed that diamond lead. He'd had another club to his partner's ace, back came a second diamond to be ruffed and South had gone down one.

This may have constituted a record for tricks chucked. If South had started on trumps after the first trick he would have picked up the suit. West would have had to discard that four of diamonds on the third trump lead. South could then go after diamonds by leading toward dummy's king. West would show out, whereupon South would finesse against East's queen and eventually discard his jack of clubs on dummy's fifth diamond to wind up with all 13 tricks.

IF YOU'RE LOOKING for the whereabouts of the most flavors of ice cream, the most gypsy fortune tellers or the most flashy automobiles, try Los Angeles. But for the most inebriates who take it upon themselves to direct traffic at jammed intersections, go to New York City. San Francisco is where you'll find the most boys who paint watercolors of other boys, Philadelphia leads the nation in bridegrooms who marry for money. And St. Louis is No. 1 in beer-and-pretzel parties.

YOU SAY YOU want to move a U. S. Army infantry division? Nothing to it. All you need is 48 passenger trains and 20 freight trains. MOST COMMON fruit worldwide is the pear. ANOTHER PECULIARITY common to Flisco girls, says our Planet man, is the hysterical giggle. THERE'S NO SUCH game as pocket billiards. A CONVICTION still popular in some parts of Canada, I'm told, is the notion that gray hair early in life is a sign of honesty.

"MEN DON'T PROPOSE to me, they just make interesting suggestions," complains a feminine subscriber who waits tables for a living. Our Love and War man finds this surprising. Among those girls who serve the public, he says, waitresses rank No. 1 as the recipients of sincere matrimonial proposals. Still the No. 1 recipients of interesting suggestions, he says, are airline stewardesses.

WHEN BING CROSBY was 6 years old, the definition in Webster's Dictionary of the word "croom" read as follows: "To make continuous hollow sounds as cattle in pain." OVER THE YEARS at the typewriter, I've noticed one word, and only one word, always gives me a cramp-in-my-left-hand when I try to type it. The word is "steward." Most peculiar.

CUSTOMER SERVICE - Q. "Didn't Thomas Jefferson invent the rocking chair?" A. Thought that was Ben Franklin. Thomas Jefferson came up with the swivel chair, however. Q. "You only hear about the biggest of diamonds. Where're there any little ones?" A. Were indeed. Smallest was about the size of a rabbit.

WHAT'S ASTONISHING to old men of the West is the smog around Denver. No place else in the world is Colorado they've thought. But the air has turned thick where cars converge, even there. When Long's Peak came out yesterday back, it was such a rare sight from the city that newsmen figured it was worth a front-page picture. Imagine that! A mile-high and once as clean as a cloud, now even Denver's dirty.

RAPID REPLY - Yes, miss, our Name Game man reports Mr. and Mrs. Crocker of Shingle Springs, Calif., named their daughter Polly Wanda.

Clark C. Griffin

Former Buhl man holds flight post

BUHL—A former Buhl resident, who once served as a Twin Falls fireman during his student days, is a member of a new elite cabin attendant supervisor corps initiated by Trans World Airlines for its 747 flights.

Clark C. Griffin, whose father, Chandler Griffin, formerly lived in Buhl, is one of the 70 men and women selected from among the 1,400 original applicants for the unique corps. His mother now lives in the east.

According to TWA, the cabin attendant supervisor's work begins three and one-half hours before flight time. He personally visits the flight kitchens and commissary, and checks all other offices engaged in pre-flight preparations.

The supervisor's first stop is a documentation briefing, familiarizing himself with his passengers and even lends a hand in baggage claim at destination.

After getting a "picture" of his passengers, the cabin attendant supervisor visits the airport planning and commissary unit to see that his flight is provisioned with adequate silverware, china and other dining amenities. Then he proceeds to the terminal and scans the aircraft's log book to ensure that all entertainment and customer convenience facilities are shipshape. He next visits the terminal and makes sure the proper signs, movie choices, flight and gate numbers, departure time—are displayed.

With this information, he attends a cabin attendant briefing where as many as 14 hostesses and service manager review the menu and other service details of the flight.

His promotion was announced by E. Keith Grover, Farm Builders' executive vice president. He will work as a liaison between the firm's top executives and field personnel, traveling to district offices and helping with special projects.

Wisor has been affiliated with Farm Builders for more than six years. Prior to joining the firm, he farmed in the Columbia Basin in Washington. He is active in his church and also a member of an award-winning barbershop quartet.

Farm Builders is a pioneer in the practical application of soil microbiology to everyday agriculture, and is a division of American Bioculture, Inc., with headquarters corporation specializing in the biological sciences.

Theatre given funds

BUHL—M. J. Rourke, administrator of the Boise Cascade Corporation Foundation, has notified Aldrich Bowler, producer-director of the Antique-Festival Theatre, that the foundation has approved a $700 contribution to the theater's scholarship fund.

Bowler said this is the fourth season the Boise based firm has provided money for the summer theater repertory training of young actors and technicians. Bowler notes applications are now being received for scholarship awards. Mrs. Alan Pierce, newly elected chairman of the theater's board of trustees, says the scholarship fund will provide grants to eight students for the 1971 summer.

Appeal set for wig case

BOISE (UPI)—The chief Army advisor of the Idaho National Guard has been assigned to hear an appeal from a Guardsman who claims he was ordered to active duty for wearing a wig to drills.

Col. Louis Faussett said he had no time to review the case yet, but said the hearing would be conducted at the earliest possible time.

Gen. George Bennett, Idaho adjutant general, said he had asked Faussett to take the case so that an impartial decision could be rendered.

"If I had taken the case, I'm sure there would have been people who would have charged that I was already prejudiced in the matter," Bennett said.

John Baugh, 26, Boise, and the father of one child, was ordered to 18 months active duty for failing to comply with guard hair regulations. He would have been discharged from the guard after six years of service Feb. 16, 1971.

The events leading to his induction began early last year. After passing several inspections with the wig, including one by Bennett, Baugh was ordered to comply with haircut standards or face induction.

An appeal to Army legal advisors at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., resulted in removing all previous AWOLs on his record because of improper hair styles.

Upon returning to his unit Baugh allegedly was told he could not wear the wig to drills. Since August he has not attended drills.

Baugh claims he needs long hair to be a folksinger and only bought the wig because an Army officer told him it would be permissible as long as it met military standards.

The Army regulation wigs says wigs may be worn for "cosmetic" purposes. Whether this will include covering up long hair is a question the pending hearing must decide.

Baugh was originally ordered to active duty today, but Saturday night Bennett granted a 10-day extension on the induction orders to give Baugh a chance to present evidence that hadn't been considered before.

Soviets invited to trial

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. government has invited a group of Soviet scientists and scholars to send a representative to the murder and kidnaping trial of self-avowed American Communist, Angela Davis.

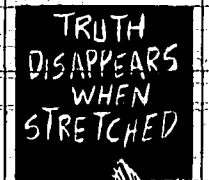

The State Department said Sunday the invitation was issued to a group of 14 Russians who signed a letter expressing fears Miss Davis, the black militant and one-time university professor, might not receive a fair trial.

Miss Davis, who taught philosophy at UCLA, is charged with purchasing guns used in an attempt to free two prisoners at the San Rafael Courthouse. A judge and three other persons were killed in the incident last year.

A State Department spokesman said the 14 Russians were prominent scientists and scholars who presented their request as independent of the actions of the Soviet government.

The only signer of the letter who was immediately identified was Fyotr Kapitsa, a leading Soviet physicist.

Tryouts set for 'Oliver'

TWIN FALLS — Dance tryouts for the 1971 production of "Oliver" will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Washington Elementary School, according to Mark Golay, choreographer. Those trying out should wear clothing which allows easy movement. No special preparation is required. A ballet background is preferred, but not required, Golay said. He said the show needs "lots of men" dancers. Anyone interested in further information should contact Golay at 733-7744. "Oliver" will be presented the first two weekends in March.

Proclaims...

ONE OF HIS first duties as Idaho's newest governor, Cecil Andrus has proclaimed January as March of Dimes month in Idaho. Here Gov. Andrus presents the proclamation to the March of Dimes poster girl, Pamela Graves, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Graves, Boise, and James G. James, Boise, right, Idaho state chairman for the March of Dimes. Gov. Andrus officially took office Monday.

Mercury vapor lights installed at Richfield

RICHFIELD — Mercury vapor lights installed at Richfield were the city's biggest change for the year 1970. The installation, which took considerable time, replaced the obsolete type of center street lights on Main Street and Third Street, another through street especially for trucks. While power company workers were making the street light change it was found that many of the light poles were ratty at the base and a hazard to the community. Richfield's business district was re-evaluated and many former businesses found to be no longer operating nor the buildings bringing in revenue. At least seven former business buildings were not presently being used or had gone out of business. The one local cafe was closed a part of the year, including summer months, but is now under new ownership and opened for the New Year. The Phasant Club, a part of the cafe, was opened again in December. City and town beautification has been a big

Car slides on ice

SHOSHONE — Two vehicles received about $300 damage each when a 1969 Mercury driven by Alan Crothers, Shoshone, ran into a parked 1963 Chevrolet pickup parked and owned by Jack Morris near his residence, corner of West 4th and North Birch Streets.

Young Crothers was making a right turn on North Birch Street and icy roads caused the car to go "out of control." Deputy Sheriff Bill Anderson, who investigated, said Crothers was cited for failure to observe the basic rule.

Highway Symbols

In interstate highway symbols, the three-digit signs indicate: First digit even, a route through or around a city; first digit odd, route into a city.

Two Declo children get award

DECLO — Shelley Rodgers and Patrick Rodgers, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rodgers, have been notified they were both winners in the 1970 Young America Gardens contest sponsored by the Flower and Garden Foundation.

Miss Rodgers won fourth place and her brother won tenth place in their respective age groups. Both received cash awards.

All contestants maintained their own gardens of 200 square feet and planted vegetable and flower seeds donated by leading seed companies.

The two Rodgers children completed a four page folder with plant and garden questions, story and drawing of their gardens. Along with this completed contest entry, contestants sent pictures of themselves with their gardens. The foundation has sponsored the national gardening competition for youngsters from age 6 to 10 since 1959.

Gem state highway toll down

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho State Police reported Monday the Idaho highway traffic fatality toll in 1970 was below the total of a previous year for the first time since 1963.

Highway fatalities reported at the end of last year totaled 320, compared to 333 in 1969, state police said.

In 1963 there were 207 traffic deaths compared with 272 in 1962.

In 1970 there were 145 persons killed in 129 single-vehicle accidents, while 13 fatalities involved motorcycles, compared with eight in 1969. Sixteen persons met with death in vehicle-train accidents, two less than in 1969.

Records indicated of the 320 persons killed in 1970 traffic accidents, that 197 victims did not have seat belts installed in vehicles, for persons were not using them.

One reason advanced for the increase in motorcycle fatalities was the state's helmet law was not enforced statewide until after June 22.

GSA sets bid opening

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, announced Monday that the General Service Administration will ask for bids Jan. 19, for air conditioning and repairs for the Post Office building in Orofino.

The opening date for the bids, according to McClure, is Feb. 23.

Bids are in the $25,000 to $100,000 range and are set aside for small business firms.

McClure said interested parties should contact Albert Peter Jr., public building services, regional office, GSA Center, Auburn, Wash.

Ex-FHA aide has new job

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, announced Monday George Klein, former Idaho director of the Farmers Home Administration, will be his new field representative in Idaho.

Klein will be stationed at the old Post Office building in Boise in the senator's office. Klein was mayor of Grangeville from 1958 through 1966. He was president of the Northern Idaho Chamber of Commerce, the Western States Association of Credit Agencies, the Grangeville Chamber of Commerce and the Grangeville Lions Club.

Coach resigns

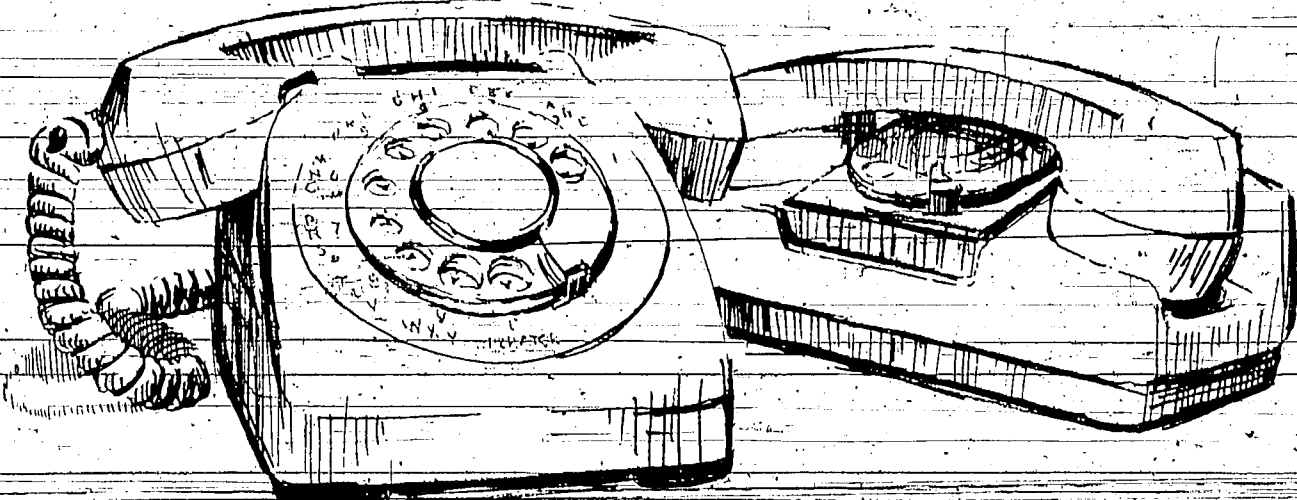

MOSCOW (UPI) — Ed Knecht, athletic director at the University of Idaho, announced Monday that Fred Morris, assistant football coach at the university for the past two years, had resigned effective Feb. 1.

Morris, who came to the university in February, 1969, from Mississippi State University where he coached defensive interior linemen and linebackers during his four years there, turned in his resignation at the end of the 1970 football season but the information was withheld until Monday.

Morris, regarding his further plans, said he was exploring

DOUBLE RING CEREMONY

It's a simple ceremony...short, inexpensive and unpretentious. But it's a happy, mutually beneficial experience.

With the first ring, you tell the public about some useful item you'd like to sell. This is easy. All you do is dial 733-0931. A friendly voice answers your call and helps you with the wording of your Want Ad.

The second ring is that of your telephone, bringing response to the Want Ad which has been printed in your newspaper. And that second ring brings you cash in exchange for the item you have for sale.

We can't promise your phone will only ring once! That's why we suggest you let us know as soon as you've had results from your Want Ad...and it won't take long! We'll take your ad out of the paper to stop your ringing telephone and to save you money.
