

$47 million Salmon project gets nod

By LEE TREMAINE
and BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writers
WASHINGTON — The $47 million Salmon Falls Division of the Upper Snake River Project has been given unqualified backing for the first time by the federal Bureau of Management and Budget, final clearing house for all major legislation. Idaho Senators Frank Church and Len Jordan, in a joint statement, to the Times-News, said today the approval clears the way for re-introduction of legislation authorizing the Southern Idaho project. The Senators will introduce the legislation as early as possible in the upcoming congressional session, and will urge Senate hearings to endorse the legislation. The project, subject of study for many years by the Bureau of Reclamation, had received tentative approval by the former Bureau of the Budget, predecessor of the Bureau of Management and Budget, in the last Congress, according to Cleve Corlett, press secretary for Sen. Church. The Bureau, however, held reservations on the water supply, since irrigators in the Wendell Jerome-Dietrich area had voiced protests of a plan to exchange surface water for ground water. Hearings were scheduled in Congress on the Salmon Falls project, but the Bureau of the Budget ordered cancellation of the hearings when the protests could not be resolved, and the enabling legislation died with the end of the congressional session. Now, Senators Church and Jordan said, the Bureau of Reclamation has completed a re-evaluation of the protests, and report an agreement that the Salmon Falls development can be supplied from ground water sources if an exchange with the irrigators cannot be arranged. The total cost of the project is currently estimated at $47,000,000, with a cost-to-benefit ratio of 1.44; meaning that for every dollar invested in the project, total benefits will equal $1.44. Thus, for the $47 million cost of the project, benefits valued at $67.8 million will be returned to the people of Idaho, the Senators said. Idaho Rep. William Lantieri told the Times-News today that concerning the problem of water rights, "These people (the irrigators) want to be assured we're not tampering with their water rights, and we want to assure them we're not tampering with their rights."

In the 1968 report, now revised, the purposes of the Salmon Falls Division were listed as irrigation of 64,110 acres of land in Twin Falls and Cassia Counties and the enhancement and conservation of wildlife resources for the area. Annual economic benefits to the Twin Falls and Cassia County areas are estimated in excess of $5.2 million in irrigation and wildlife. About 77 per cent of the land now irrigated in the division is suffering from inadequate water supplies, but yet is rich agricultural land, capable of high production. The other 23 per cent of the project area is now dry and would receive full irrigation under the proposed plan. An eight-year period is proposed for completion of the system. Two irrigation units are proposed. The Salmon Tract unit covers 39,940 acres, of which 31,000 acres of irrigated land would receive supplemental water and 8,880 dry land acres would receive full irrigation. Water now used on the entire unit and supplied by the Salmon Falls Reservoir is proposed for 9,250 acres in the upper Salmon Tract unit, Snake River water, via a proposed Milner-Salmon Falls Canal, would provide the additional supply. At the time of the 1968 report in December of that year, the Bureau of Reclamation termed the project one of the best such potential projects in Idaho.

Quads born in Jerome

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Correspondent
JEROME — Quadruplet girls were born early today at St. Benedict's Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. William Springer, Twin Falls, who once felt they could afford only one more child. Both the 23-year-old mother and the two-month premature babies are reported as "doing fine" by Dr. James Sloat, the attending physician. This is the first Idaho quadruplet birth recorded by the Idaho Bureau of Vital Statistics since 1948 when the bureau began compiling reports. The babies, all weighing more than two pounds, were screaming, kicking and crying in their incubators this morning. The first infant was born at 1:13 a.m. and weighed 2 pounds, 6 1/2 ounces; the second arrived at 1:26 a.m., weighing 2 pounds, 1 ounce; the third at 1:30 a.m. at 2 pounds 6 1/2 ounces, and the last was delivered at 1:34 a.m., weighing 2 pounds, 6 1/2 ounces also.

The family lives in a trailer house parked next to the home of Springer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Springer, 428 Locust St. S., Twin Falls. They moved to Twin Falls last winter from the Eden-Hazelton area. Although concerned about providing for his daughters, Springer was philosophical. "I guess [I was what the man upstairs wants]," he said. "The first thing I'm going to have to do is to find a larger house to live in," he said. Mrs. Springer said she had not taken any fertility drugs of any kind. The father attributed the multiple births to a hereditary factor in the family. Both Mr. and Mrs. Springer have a history of twins in their own families. Mrs. Springer has a twin sister, Mrs. Joan Berry; Hazelton. Their mother, Mrs. Buddy Bentley, Hazelton, also gave birth to a set of twin boys who did not live. There were 11 children in Mrs. Springer's family. Dr. Sloat delivered most of Mrs. Bentley's children, one reason Mrs. Springer went to Jerome for her delivery. The father of the girls also has a history of twins in his family. His mother has a twin sister, as did her father. Mrs. Springer was admitted to the hospital here last Sunday. She had been in bed since Dec. 1. The couple learned about the pending multiple births shortly after Thanksgiving, but the information had been kept confidential.

Fed cuts rate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Reserve Board has made the third cut in less than two months in the interest rate it charges for loans to commercial banks, apparently in an effort to pump more money into the stagnant economy. The board of governors of the "Fed" approved the latest cut Thursday, reducing the discount rate from 5 1/2 to 5 1/4 per cent. The reduction, like the two that preceded it, was modest. The board dropped the rate from 6 to 5 1/2 per cent on Nov. 30.

In its two-paragraph announcement, the Fed said, "The move was in recognition of further declines that have taken place in short-term interest rates." It followed by one day a 1/2 per cent cut in the prime interest rate which most banks charge for short-term loans to their biggest corporate customers.

Noted Buhl man passes

BUHL — Roy C. Falt, 78, died Friday at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital of a long illness. Mr. Falt was a well-known Buhl businessman, coming to Buhl in 1910, and was a general contractor for many years. He owned and operated Buhl Planning Mill, the unit in health forced his retirement in May of 1966. (Obituary, page 3)

'Ticket marijuana smokers'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A special study commission on federal criminal law has concluded marijuana offenses should be treated like traffic violations, handguns should be outlawed and capital punishment should be abolished. The recommendations are included in a report by the 12-member National Commission on Reform of Federal Criminal Laws prepared for submission to Congress and President Nixon today. Congress created the commission to study means of streamlining federal codes to conform to recent Supreme Court decisions.

Russian building blasted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A bomb shattered windows and damaged a metal door at the Russian diplomatic mission cultural building in Washington on pre-dawn hours early today. Moments later, a woman telephoned news agencies and said: "This is a sample of things to come. Let our people go. Never again." "Never again" is the slogan of the Jewish Defense League, a militant organization that has been protesting treatment of Jews in the Soviet Union. A few hours after the Washington blast, four blocks from the Soviet Embassy, a man telephoned UPI's New York office and said the bombing was the start of a "coordinated drive" against the Soviets that would spread to 22 American cities.

Rebels kidnap British envoy

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI)—Left-wing Tupamaros terrorists kidnaped British Ambassador Geoffrey Jackson today in a sensational early morning commando operation. Eyewitnesses said they stopped his black Rolls-Royce, beat three bodyguards into submission with clubs and made off with the ambassador. Both a high Uruguayan source and the British Foreign Office in London confirmed the kidnaping—the latest in a series of sensational exploits by the terrorists against the Uruguayan government headed by President Jorge Pacheco Areco. The same group already is holding U.S. agricultural adviser Claude L. Fly, 65, who was kidnaped Aug. 7, and Brazilian Consul Aloysio Dias Gomide, who was abducted July 31. In a contest of wills with Pacheco Areco, who has refused to release political prisoners as ransom, the terrorists killed U.S. police adviser Dan A. Mitrone, who was abducted at the same time as Fly. An eyewitness who saw the early morning kidnaping said the terrorists told him: "Call the British Embassy, the ambassador has been kidnaped." Other witnesses told of the subduing of the bodyguards, who were only slightly hurt.

Death fire said arson

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—A California arson expert said Thursday the Pioneer Hotel fire, which claimed 28 lives last month, was "intentionally set and man-caused, definitely a case of arson." Cyril W. Holmes of the California Forensic Division's arson investigation unit, said the blaze was set in two separate spots about 60 feet apart in the hallway on the fourth floor of the 10-story hotel. He said his investigation definitely established it was not caused by a failure in any mechanical device.

Best wishes

BOISE — Gov. Cecil Andrus has sent a congratulatory message to Mr. and Mrs. William Springer at St. Benedict's Hospital, parents of Idaho's first quadruplets. It reads: "Congratulations to the proud parents of four new Idaho residents. You have my sincere and best wishes for happiness in years to come. When the little ones grow up a bit, bring them to the governor's office for a special visit with Mrs. Andrus and myself."

Airport bond vote requested

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls City-County Airport Commission voted unanimously today to seek a quarter-million-dollar county-wide bond election to replace the bulk of the airport's runway and taxiway. Commissioners said the action is necessary to prevent closure of the airport by summer. O. A. (Gus) Keiker, commission chairman, said the request will be directed to members of the Twin Falls County Commission and the Twin Falls City Council. City and county officials will be asked to "use all hands" in setting up machinery for such an election no later than April, he said. Estimated funds required from bonds would total about $250,000 with the like amount sought from federal sources on a matching basis. Keiker said keeping the airport in operation has been a "touch and go" matter because of the deterioration of the older portion of the main east-west runway. Some 1,200 feet of this runway was replaced this year but money was not available to repair the remaining 5,900 feet, he said. "It is this portion that is breaking up because of new and heavy traffic at the field. There just isn't any money available to continue the necessary repairs and to replace the old portion of the runway next summer," Keiker said. "Money available for normal airport operation, based up by income from landing fees and rents, is sufficient to meet the set expenses. But there is no where near enough for a runway replacement or repair and modernization of taxiways and ramps." The city engineering department has estimated that somewhere in the neighborhood of $500,000 would be required for this major project. Of this amount some $250,000 to $300,000 would have to come from a bond election. The balance would be from federal matching funds. "Federal government officials tell us that matching funds will be readily available if the sponsors' share is also available. This local money can only come through sale of bonds, and so we will formally ask city and county officials to call for such an election." The formal draft, asking city and county officials for the election, will be presented Monday. Members of the airport board concurring in the request in addition to the chairman, are Bill Powell and Armour Anderson, both Twin Falls; George Colner, Hansen, and Ed Novacek, Buhl.

Mrs. Ky wanted free land

SAIGON (UPI)—Mrs. Nguyen Cao Ky, wife of South Vietnam's vice president, said today her plans to acquire 3,600 acres of choice farmland in central Vietnam free of charge have been misunderstood. Mrs. Ky told Vietnamese newsmen at a news conference at her home that she is not trying to acquire the land illegally. "I myself have not set foot on this area," Mrs. Ky said. "More than one year ago, when my husband and I were on board an airplane over this area, we talked to each other and loved the beautiful scene. I myself, have submitted a request to the government asking for this area for housing."

Idaho milk radioactive

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Raw milk in Idaho has been found carrying traces of radioactivity which leaked into the atmosphere from an underground nuclear test in Nevada during December. Dr. Malvin Carter, director of the Southwest Radiological Health Laboratory, said Thursday radiation which leaked from a Dec. 16 blast at the Nevada test site had been traced over 12 states and as far as the Canadian border. Radioactivity was found in raw milk in Idaho, Utah, California and Wyoming, Carter said. He said the amount of radioactivity which escaped from the test site was within exposure limits set by the Federal Radiation Council and posed no danger to animals or man. Decreasing concentrations of radioactive iodine are still being measured in raw milk collected at several locations in Nevada, Carter said.

SMOKE POURED FROM the roof of the Terry Addition to Deval Courts Thursday night as fire ravaged part of the addition. The fire started when a business heater hose burned through and the gas-fired fire nearly destroyed two units of the project now under construction. The hazard covered damage was estimated at several thousand dollars by Twin Falls Housing Authority officials, builder of the 22-unit project.

"I'll be right back... It's his turn to talk."

CAA seeks new office

TWIN FALLS — The Community Action Day Care Center needs a new home.

The center, which cares for 20 youngsters while their mothers work, has been told to move out of the Salvation Army building where it has been for the past two and a half years. The deadline is soon — February 1.

"We've been looking all over the community, but nobody has offered us anything yet," Mrs. Mary Helwich, director for the past two months, said. "We've contacted many churches, but they don't seem interested."

Mr. George Driver, Salvation Army commander in Twin Falls, said the directive to vacate the Day Care Center came from divisional headquarters of the corps in Portland, Ore.

"We feel there's a real need for community-wide programs with a wider scope than just the low-income families; we should sponsor a youth-oriented program, for example," Mr. Driver said.

The major said he plans to confer with Warren Barry, chairman of the Salvation Army property committee and Barry's committee on future use of the space now occupied by the Day Care Center. Several programs are contemplated, but "I'm not in a position to release any details until more definite plans are made," he said.

Mrs. Helwich said the Day Care Center needs a good deal of space, including a play area for the children, ample kitchen facilities; two bathrooms for the boys and girls and a place for the youngsters to take a nap.

The center has been "helping with heat and lights," but not paying any formal rent to the Salvation Army, Mr. Driver said.

"Their lease was up the first of the year, but we've been lenient with them, letting them stay," the Major added. "But we've been given instructions not to go any further; February 1st is their deadline."

"We've been looking for the two months that I've been here," Mrs. Helwich said. "So far, nobody's interested."

'Open' suburbs sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George Romney's Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is trying to hammer out a strategy that would open more suburbs to black families without violating President Nixon's ban on "forced integration."

The president appeared to close the door on government efforts to break down segregation in all-white suburbs when he said in a televised interview this week: "The law does not require, or in my opinion allow the federal government to permit forced integration of the suburbs."

But in his next sentence, Nixon conceded: "There is argument on this point."

The key to the whole matter is the meaning of the word "forced."

A civil rights bloc — mostly in HUD — would like to give the word a narrow definition that would permit the government to encourage integration by building publicly assisted housing for the poor on sites scattered through affluent suburbs.

Israel asks pact

By United Press International

Israeli leaders will stick to their insistence on reaching a peace agreement before giving up any captured Arab territory when they meet with U.S. negotiator Gunnar V. Jarring today, political sources said in Tel Aviv.

Jarring was to arrive in Tel Aviv and then go to Jerusalem for meetings with Premier Golda Meir, foreign Minister Abba Eban and Israeli U.N. Ambassador Hosen Tekeah.

Teknah accompanied Jarring on the El Al flight from New York, to hear Middle East peace talks resumed Tuesday under Jarring's auspices.

Political sources said the Israelis would introduce no basic changes in their prescription for solving the crisis. The prescription includes a demand that secure boundaries be established for Israel in a peace agreement before there is any withdrawal of Israeli troops from territories occupied in the 1967 war.

Egypt insists that the first step in the talks should be a timetable for Israeli withdrawal and has demanded this be set before it will agree to an extension of the Feb. 5 ceasefire deadline.

In an interview filmed in Cairo by CBS Television news, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said he would accept a peacekeeping force of representatives of the United States, France, Britain and the Soviet Union — on both sides — of the 1967 war.

"We need this guarantee more than Israel," Sadat said. "We have been attacked in '66 and '67."

Sadat said Egypt would continue to provide Mediterranean bases for the Soviet Union because the Soviets supported the Egyptians in the 1967 war.

Labor seeks hike in minimum wage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Organized labor promised today to push hard this year for passage of a bill to increase the minimum wage to $2 an hour and to extend its coverage to most of the nation's workers.

The Nixon administration apparently will not help in the drive, but at this point it has no plans to oppose it actively.

Since business and industry again will strongly oppose the legislation — which got nowhere in the previous Congress — the outcome of the bill remains in doubt.

An AFL-CIO spokesman said continually rising prices have improved the chances that Congress this year will pass the first basic increase in the federal minimum wage since 1968, which it went from $1.40 to $1.60 an hour. The cost of living has since gone up by 15.8 percent.

Standards approved

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The county board of Supervisors Thursday approved the nation's strictest standards for control of oxides of nitrogen from power plants.

Under the plan, existing generating facilities must be modified by 1974 to bring oxide of nitrogen emissions down to 125 parts per million when burning gas and 225 while using fuel oil.

There were no guidelines for maximum emission under existing laws but county Air Pollution Control Officer Robert Chass said most boilers emitted approximately 650 ppm.

A camel's temperature may rise and fall several degrees within 24 hours.

Services canceled

JEROME — The joint communion services set for Sunday at both the Calvary Episcopal and United Presbyterian churches have been postponed, according to Rev. William Barrett and Father John Wallace.

The sacrament has been postponed because of failure of delivery of the special order of services from New York, Father Wallace said. The joint service now is scheduled for February.

A Good Start

The study underway in Twin Falls relative to a combined city-county law enforcement building is a step in the right direction.

We realize that the study grant, because of federal restrictions, must be used only for law enforcement facilities but we hope that the officials involved are keeping an eye out in the direction of something far more than the project being studied.

We have in mind a city-county complex where all the county offices, all the city offices, the law-enforcement departments and what have you would be under one roof. Actually, and we are sure the officials know this, the county and the city would both save money under such an arrangement.

And along with this consolidation why not go all the way in Magic Valley and consolidate some of the smaller school districts which have been a thorn in the side of education for years?

We have said it before and we will say it again—the day of the small school district has passed. It cannot provide the educational facilities needed in this changing world. It is a duplication of expense which could better be used elsewhere in the educational field.

Then, too, there is the matter of the 44 counties in this state. Twenty counties would be more like it. Costs of operating government would be greatly reduced if the number of counties was reduced and the resultant better service would be to benefit of all citizens.

If there ever was a time to consolidate it is in this day and age. Most thinking officials know that consolidation in the areas mentioned is the right step. It seems, though, there is never a forceful person to take the lead.

Let's come up with such a person in Idaho and get moving.

A Handy Excuse

There is nothing new in the New Left. Its antics, boorish behavior and off-base radicalism have become as predictable as the more subdued eccentricities of the old left.

It was as certain as tomorrow that the modern crop of revolutionaries would not let the Angela Davis trial pass without a major effort at disruption, and sure enough the call has gone out for a mass international movement in behalf of Angela's freedom.

Miss Davis will be freed when and if she is able to dispel the charges of murder, kidnaping and conspiracy which have been placed against her. It would be foolish to grant her freedom now, especially since she had already fled to escape prosecution and could reasonably be expected to do so again.

But that is beside the point in the radicals' latest cry for protest. To them, Angela Davis is not a cause, she is an excuse.

Scrutiny

There is no excuse for undercover military operatives conducting surveillance and compiling dossiers on elected officials, and if in fact that has occurred, those officers who are responsible—at the highest level, not the lowest—ought to be severely punished.

But the way to ascertain the truth is not through public cries of outrage, nor the assumption that the testimony of one man is all it appears to be. Sen. Sam Ervin, who uncovered the current witness, should continue to pursue the matter before his committee.

MR. SPECTATOR

Getting Irritated?

Received a note from the Grand Central Industrial Center of Glendale, Calif., and C. C. Moseley, the president, said if taxes irritate you then you should write to your Congressmen.

Mr. Moseley was talking about certain taxes in particular. He wrote that The Tax Foundation, a private research organization, made a study of the number of taxes on certain products. Only federal and state taxes were used. They found that:

- A loaf of bread has 151 taxes. An egg has 104 taxes. A man's suit has 116 taxes. A woman's hat has 150 taxes. A house has 600 taxes. He added that a piece of meat probably has as many, or even more, taxes on it.

"No wonder," he wrote, "the price of everything has doubled. High taxes and inflation are a direct result of government overspending—deficit financing." And that's when he added: "If this irritates you, write to your Congressmen."

LAST LAUGH

Sammy Davis Jr. got in a good one the other night on a national TV program.

"If I went out to Forest Lawn they wouldn't bury me," Davis said. "Why, because you are black?" asked his white partner in the skit.

"No," said Sammy, "because I ain't dead yet."

WEATHER WORRIES

Perhaps it is an erroneous impression, but it seems to many old-timers in Magic Valley that people today worry more about the weather than did former generations.

They point out that newspapers, radio, video, weather men and individuals are more concerned because the temperature rises or drops, with or without the accompaniment of snow, rain, hail, sleet or tornado.

Before the days of the automobile, electricity, automatic heat and all the rest, people were less concerned about atmospheric conditions than is the case in this mechanized age.

In the "old days," the residents say, if the woodbox had a plentiful supply of fuel, there was oil for the lamps and a ham or two hanging in the cellar, it made little difference what went on meteorologically speaking.

Mr. Spectator admits that it sounds quite corny but the weather still gives people something to talk about.

IS IT TRUE?

It isn't quite true that every American boy can be president. But he can always join a picket line.

(Second of Three Articles)

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Don't doubt the handicapped child can be helped.

And that most can live normal, active lives full of satisfaction.

Says one father: "When our boy was a year old, we knew he had a hearing deficiency and as soon as we could we started to teach him to speak. First the sound of the letter O. And the difference between B and P, that P has more air than B. We showed him that with a tissue held to the mouth. The B moved the air very little; the P a lot."

"Now he is a regular 13-year-old boy. He'll still say, 'Put on the light, I can't hear you.' He means he's got to do lip reading to understand what you say to him. But he scuba dives and skis and travels, and knows how to behave in company. What a great day it was when he learned to tell a joke on himself.

And when he first began to teach his sister, at 11. Before, he had been too unsure of himself to do that."

Conrad, 11, went sledding two years ago, was hit by a car and suffered head injury. He has poor recall and walks stiffly on his toes. His mouth is open much of the time because he cannot keep his lips together. Every day the therapist touches his lip with ice, with a camel's hair brush, with a sharp stick.

"We bombard the area with sensory input," she says. "So that some undamaged cells will perhaps stay lit clear."

It works. When Conrad first came a year and a half ago, he couldn't put his lips together at all.

A visitor asks a 9-year-old Tony what he did for Christmas. It's a mid-January but Tony says he can't remember.

The teacher says that's a brain-damage patch. "He does remember, but it's hard for him to express himself. He can't organize his thoughts and get the words together. So he says he can't remember. It's the easiest way out."

Much of this so-called minimal brain damage, causing so-called minimal brain dysfunction, occurs at birth, if the baby is deprived of oxygen, even briefly. The damaged part of the brain cannot be repaired. But the brain has much tissue which can substitute for that which was lost, provided it is trained to do so.

Tony is writing now. He has just learned that at the beginning of a sentence there must be a capital letter, and at the end of a question a question mark. That's good progress. Someday he may do well in high school and perhaps in college.

Joseph was born hardly able to hear, or see, or make sounds.

When he came to a school sponsored by the Bureau of Education for the Handicapped of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, he was 4, and had to be carried. He would only sit and rock back and forth. A year later he was greatly changed. He could watch patches of fabric—linen with linen, velvet with velvet, silk with silk. This was to teach his fingers to feel, so that he could learn Braille later.

When tired of the fabric patches, he'd take them back to the storage closet himself. And close the door. His vision will never improve. But his perception will. The idea is to open his mind. For Joseph's tests show he is extremely bright. He could grow up to be a great man. Without the right teacher he might be sitting in a corner, rocking back and forth the rest of his life.

Michael is in an elementary school class for the emotionally disturbed. How does his teacher get through to him?

"I take him by the shoulder. I give him my full attention and I give him, eyeball to eyeball. It's individual rapport and reinforcement, praise when he gets something right, assurance that he can get something right."

Who knows, next year he may be ready to spend half his time in a regular class again.

Besson Report

WASHINGTON—As Vietnamization goes forward, and the Nixon doctrine is applied in helping other nations, top Administration aides could well take another look at the so-called Besson Report.

That voluminous Pentagon report, while it is addressed to the war's logistics problems, would seem to have implications for future U.S. policies in Vietnam and elsewhere.

The report, on "Logistic Support in the Vietnam Area," was prepared at the direction of Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard, by the Joint Logistics Review Board, under the Chairmanship of Gen. Frank S. Besson Jr., U.S. Army.

Supported by several hundred pages of supplements and monographs, the report makes 265 separate recommendations, some of them very technical. In the usual sense, the report has never been publicized by the Pentagon. Newsmen were simply given access to the mass of documents weeks ago and, rather hurriedly, wrote accounts based on the extensive text.

Generally, the report concludes that "U.S. forces committed to conflict have never been better supplied than those in Southeast Asia." It then proceeds to criticize specific top-level decisions which affected Vietnam logistics problems.

Since those criticisms can be read (and correctly) as applying to former President Lyndon B. Johnson, former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and their top aides, the report has generally been summarized in news accounts on that limited basis.

The report has broader application, however. In terms of lessons learned, it has meaning for U.S. policy-makers and administrators in the future.

In its discussion of foreign assistance, for example, the report says that: "In view of the ongoing Vietnamization program and the policy of meeting threats to the security of the free world through enhanced programs of military assistance, rather than through direct military intervention by U.S. forces, it is apparent that future planning must include carefully considered and coordinated programs for logistic support of allied forces."

Planning for Vietnam was not so coordinated, the report says. It reports that the decision to continue the foreign aid program, under AID, in addition to the expanding military program with its civil affairs activities, "resulted in the continued existence of a second major U.S. logistics system in a country that did not have the facilities to support a single system."

The report suggests that foreign aid activities should be coordinated with other plans, including military contingency plans, at the interdepartmental level even if troops are not deployed in a given area. It says the National Security Council should make the necessary policy decisions.

The Mail

WASHINGTON—A columnist's mail is seldom so soothing to the ego. Citizens who otherwise pass their lives in serene detachment become as tigers when they take pen in hand to get a journalist straight.

After perusing some of these letters, the poor wretch is tempted to call the police and cop a plea in return for leniency.

This is all in the game, of course, and after all they have to read you to disagree with you. So for reasons economic if not wildly affectionate I welcome these missives.

Besides, most of my correspondents come out as thoughtful, concerned individuals who speak articulately to the point. This is especially true of those who inveigh against my advocacy of gun controls and of college students who object to the verbal spankings which occasionally appear in this space. The daily mail argues that most readers are ladies and gentlemen, and gents, too. Lately, however, that mail has been dominated by communications aimed at a point south of the belt. Unlike the writers of other letters, these authors somehow always forget to sign their names. The policy here toward anonymous letters is to consign them to the wastebasket without personal waste. I do no business with people who think so meanly about their opinions they are ashamed to identify with them. But there has been such a flood of anonymous letters from readers deploring a recent column critical of FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover that I am prompted to reply, nastily.

I had written that it was unworthy of Hoover to accuse two imprisoned Roman Catholic priests of being leaders of a plot to bomb underground power lines and kidnap an unnamed high government official. Better, I wrote, that Hoover should gather evidence and present it to a grand jury under a system called due process.

I stand on that, although I am prepared to listen to any rational defense of our top cop providing the defender identifies himself. Unfortunately, the letters defending Hoover, besides being anonymous, are without exception irrational to the point of descent into paranoia. I cite but one example, typed on the margin of the column as published by a newspaper which also is unidentified. (Did the writer fear he could be traced through the newspaper?)

Alongside the line in the first paragraph, naming two imprisoned Roman Catholic priests, this writer typed a warning: "Careful there—your Irish is showing thru (sic) your prejudiced judgment!"

Well, Tully is an honest Irish name, and Pa was a Catholic whose children were reared in the Roman faith by their Scottish Episcopalian mother. But I fail to see the relevance of the writer's blast. It is only incidental that the Fathers' objection to Hoover's methods would have applied had the defendants been Jehovah's Witnesses, atheists or Black Panthers.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

The Hives

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can my hormones taken for menopause, such as Premarin, cause hives? Can a tranquilizer be taken along with such hormones? How can you get rid of hives which always break out in the same areas of the face? Do nerves cause hives? — Mrs. J.L.

In general, yes to everything. If one has an allergic predisposition, almost anything—and that's what hives is, an allergic response. Come in contact with whatever is the offending substance in your case and, if you get enough exposure, the response follows.

Allergic reaction to such hormones is quite possible although not at all common. Yes, it is quite in order, in some instances, for a physician to give tranquilizers along with hormones. Often, tranquilizers alone take care of menopausal symptoms.

And, yes, nerves can be a factor in hives, along with an allergic tendency.

It might take extensive allergy tests to pin down the hormone as the offender in your case, so why not, first, try keeping a diary of foods and medicines you take, and note which one or which ones have been taken 24 hours preceding appearance of the hives?

An antihistamine preparation (ask your doctor to specify one for you) after appearance of the hives may hasten their departure.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Facts You've Need to Know. I think it will answer your questions.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Four months ago I had a pimple-like swelling on my face. The doctor dug it out and the wound healed very well. The report came back malignant. About a month ago a hard bump has bulged out where the wound was. It is itchy and though not too noticeable to others, very much so to me. I am not due to return to the surgeon for another six weeks.

A friend said it was a keloid and would not go down. Can you give me any advice? — E.P.P.

Maybe it is a keloid (that is, a benign overgrowth of scar tissue). Then again it may not be. I wouldn't rely on your friend's diagnosis. I'd go back to the surgeon at once, and not wait for six weeks.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A friend says a woman cannot get pregnant if she has intercourse while standing up. I say any time there is penetration it is possible for conception to take place. Who's right? — Mrs. C.P.

You are that "standing-up" myth of contraception was somewhat widely circulated back in World War II days, but there were any number of babies to prove it false.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. Dr. Thosteson's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as outlining effective treatments and medications. For a copy of "How You Can Control Arthritis" write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Reds harass diplomat

MOSCOW (UPI) — Three Russian men stopped an American diplomat outside a Moscow theater, the diplomat said Thursday, grasping him by his lapels while his wife looked on and asked, "How would you like to be treated the way Zionists treat our diplomats in America?"

The Wednesday night street scene marked the first incident of physical harassment suffered by Americans since the Soviets indicated Tuesday there would be reprisals for attacks upon Russians in the United States.

(In Washington, State Department spokesman John F. King disclosed that the United States had again rejected a Soviet contention that it might not be able to insure the safety of Americans in Russia.)

The diplomat, who asked not to be identified, said he talked his way out of the tense situation and parted with a round of handshakes. He said he and his wife were trying to enter their car outside Moscow's Tuganaka Theater, showplace of avant-garde productions, when the men came up and identified themselves as "passerby" angered over reports of anti-Soviet hoaxing in America.

Fat crushes woman

PACIFIC GROVE, Calif. (UPI) — A 500-pound woman was crushed to death by her own bulk while firemen fought to widen four doors of her home to take her to a hospital.

John D. Lord said Wednesday the woman, Mrs. Gladis Hardman, 52, recently developed flu and began lying down in bed.

"This wasn't good for her and the fat around her chest crushed her to death," the doctor said.

Lord said the woman had slept sitting up for a number of years and that way the weight didn't press on her.

"How would you like to be treated the way Zionists treat our diplomats in America?" one asked. "How would you like to have your car destroyed by demonstrators who are not under control?" "I told them I don't need to listen to you because this was being handled through government channels. I started to get into my car and that's when one of them grabbed me by my lapels, to keep me from getting in," he said.

Designer dies

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — Irmgard (Bessie) Becker, 51, a well known German fashion designer, was found dead in a snowdrift at the Austrian ski resort of Kitzbuehel, a spokesman for her fashion house said Thursday. The spokesman said Miss Becker apparently suffered a heart attack by the roadside while walking to the train station.

Afghanistan became an independent state in 1747.

Oil refinery workers strike

CHEYENNE (UPI) — More than 300 oil refinery workers at Husky Oil Co. plants in Cheyenne and Cody, Wyo., and Salt Lake City, Utah, left their jobs midnight Wednesday after failing to reach agreement on a new contract.

While the one walkout began another far larger one involving the Texas Oil Co. in south Texas—was ending. OCAW leaders at Fort Arthur announced tentative agreement on a new pact about 4,000 OCAW members have been on strike of the refinery since Dec. 31.

The workers, members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union, had postponed the scheduled walkout 24 hours Tuesday after "definite progress" was reported during talks.

The new Texaco agreement provides an immediate 8.5 percent pay increase and a 7.5 percent pay hike effective next Jan. 1. The contract also provides an extra annual holiday and increased hospital benefits.

But Larry Schieck, chairman of an OCAW negotiating committee in Cheyenne, said talks Wednesday failed to lead to settlement of the various problems.

In Denver where the OCAW is headquartered, spokesman said negotiations were continuing across the nation. An official said another contract was settled Tuesday at a Humble Oil Co. refinery at Billings, Mont., where 156 union members were employed.

The OCAW spokesman said no date had been set for further talks between the workers and Husky Oil management representatives. Contracts between the company and the union expired Dec. 31.

The only thing I can say now is negotiations are continuing at various locations throughout the country on the remaining contracts and that some offers are being evaluated in the Denver headquarters of the union, a spokesman said.

Embassy Thursday after delivering better protesting treatment of Soviet citizens in U.S. Earlier, about 20 Russian youths stood before embassy gate chanting slogans for 15 minutes in first "spontaneous protest" there in over four years, (UPI)

PROPOSED LEGISLATION TO BE DISCUSSED

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: We have a darling one-year-old adopted baby. We have been advised by our case worker to apply now for our second child as the waiting list for adopted babies is longer than it has ever been because of the new liberal abortion laws.

We don't want to add to the problems of those women who are carrying an unwanted child, and maybe we're asking a lot to have them consider this, but if a woman is undecided as to which route to take, maybe knowing that there are a lot of married couples who would love to give an unborn child a home, would help in making her decision.

We love our little one and would certainly like to have another thru the only way open to us. Adoption. Thank God for it.
LOVES CHILDREN

DEAR LOVES: If you truly love children, there are plenty available. They are not all new-born, and they are not all white, but they are all beautiful, and in need of love and a good home.

DEAR ABBY! Do you think it looks nice for a college girl to ride in a car for several hundred miles with five college boys?

The girl is our daughter and she says it would save her quite a lot of money if she made her trips to college and back home for weekends and holidays with the boys. They are all nice hometown boys, but Abby, one girl with five boys.

We realize it would be a saving for her to travel by car with the boys, but if her character and morals were questioned it wouldn't be worth the few dollars saved. I suppose I am old-fashioned in some of my beliefs, but where there is a good reason for it, I refuse to accept change. What is your opinion?
A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: If the boys are "nice," I see no reason why your daughter should not ride with them. And if anyone questions her character, I would question theirs. [No one looks behind the floor unless he himself has hidden there.]

CONFIDENTIAL TO MY READERS: If you know a boy (from ten to 21 years old) in whose future you have an interest, give him the book, "The Goni!" by Red Rudensky, (published by the Piper Company). He will find the book so fascinating that he may not get his homework done until he's finished it. But his teachers won't mind, and neither will his parents, because if they read it—and I wish they would; they will realize that there is a lesson there that is every bit as important as math or history.

An excerpt from "The Goni!": "Nobody paid much attention to me unless I swiped something. I started at 14. Then the chaos began. I spent over 25 years in dozens of different prisons. (I escaped 10 times.) Believe me, I am not very proud of it. How can you be proud of a lousy life like that?"

"I am legally out now, a Square John over 70, and I want to tell every boy I know that there is not one iota of glamor in a career of crime, even for the so-called big-time operators. It's not at all like the movies play it up, or like the crud you see on TV. I have known many big shot criminals (Al Capone was my colleague at Atlanta, Ga.) and I haven't found a single one who wouldn't have traded everything he possessed, for 30 days of freedom and peace of mind; if not for himself, for his family.

Don't lock yourself up like I did!"

CONFIDENTIAL TO BUFFALO MOTHER: If all the brides who cried bitter tears were encouraged to run home to mamma, there would be at least three generations of weeping women under every roof. Your husband is right. Encourage your daughter to stay there and try to work out her own problems.

Drug-law enforcement change hit

BOISE (UPI)—Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and Attorney General W. Anthony Park said Thursday they are opposed to shifting jurisdiction for enforcement of drug laws to the Department of Law Enforcement.

"My views haven't changed from the time I was a state senator and I had to fight in the State Affairs Committee to keep it out of law enforcement," Andrus said.

He said he believes the responsibility should remain with the State Board of Pharmacy and that he will recommend an increase in funds for that agency so it better can perform its enforcement tasks. "It's a field that demands a great deal of expertise," Andrus said, "not only from the investment side but in the procurement of evidence that will stand up in court."

"There's a possibility that down the road we may want to look at cooperative efforts between the Board of Pharmacy and the attorney general's office but I don't believe it should be centered in the Department of Law Enforcement," he said, in an interview.

Former Attorney General Robert M. Robson Wednesday told the legislature's Joint Finance Appropriations Committee he felt the authority for enforcing the drug laws should be shifted to the Department of Law Enforcement.

Park said Thursday he did not agree.

Under the present circumstances I don't believe it should be removed from the Department of Pharmacy," Park said. "There may be some other changes needed but basically it should remain in the Department of Pharmacy."

"These men have been working with this for several years," Park said. "I don't think there's any magic in names. Just because the name is the Department of Pharmacy doesn't mean that department is not qualified to do it and just because the name is law enforcement does not mean it is more qualified to do it."

Park said he does believe the pharmacy board needs more money to do the job and that he hopes to discuss this with the board's secretary, Clifford Barnett, and the governor in the near future.

Andrus said that he will speak on the drug problem and the need for enforcement in his budget message to the legislature later this month.

"We will recognize the need and look very closely at the agency request," the governor said.

He said he does consider the problem of drug abuse a serious one in Idaho although he said that because of the state's geography and population it had not reached the proportion of the drug abuse problems in some states.

"I don't want to blow it out of proportion," he said, "but we cannot deny that we as every other state in the union have problems in this area. "The problem is to stop it before it reaches the magnitude it has reached elsewhere," Andrus said.

Soviets impose sentence

MOSCOW (UPI)—A Soviet army court-martial Thursday sentenced Jewish Maj. Wolf Zalmanson to ten years in prison for his part in the Leningrad hijack plot, Jewish sources said in Moscow.

Zalmanson could have received the death penalty under the charge, as did two of 11 defendants in an earlier civilian trial. Those earlier death sentences were commuted to 15 years at hard labor after a worldwide protest against them.

The sources, who obtained information on the verdict and sentence from friends in Leningrad, said they had no information on details of Zalmanson's three-day court martial.

They said they did not know either which of four possible "regimes" he must follow in prison. Soviet prisons have four "regimes" ranging from the rigorous special regime to ordinary.

THE COULTERS

The Coulters are unique in the sense that they use all varieties of music in presenting their Musical Comedy Shows.

The group is led by twin brothers Boyd and Bruce Coulters along with stunning

Patty Murphy who blends her voice with those of the twins and adds charm and beauty to the show. Miss Murphy is a very talented performer and has just recently been signed for a leading role in the TV. special of Little Abner to be filmed in April 1971.

Bruce plays piano, organ and valve trombone while Boyd plays bass and does the lead vocal solos when the twins are not singing together in one of their many two part harmony arrangements. The group is very able backed by Lennie Rose on drums. Lennie is the master of all rhythms as having worked regularly with Ray Coniff before joining the Coulters over a year ago.

BOISE—(UPI)—Morlan W. Nelson, state snow survey supervisor, said today snowfall throughout Idaho has been above normal for 1971, as shown by the report issued by the Soil Conservation Service, National Weather Service and Idaho Department of Water Administration.

Fall rains primed the soil beneath the snowpack and in some areas such as the Portneuf, Owyhee and Teton rivers, soil moisture is higher than has ever been recorded.

Nelson said water supply is in excess of 1970, with the possibility of too much water on some rivers. The Boise front has an exceptionally heavy snow cover.

On such low elevation drainages as Willow Creek-Sand Creek above Idaho Falls, Portneuf River above Pocatello, and Camas Creek-Deaver Creek near Dubois, there is a combination of saturated soil, frozen soil, and unusually heavy snow cover. A high, fast runoff could occur if a chinook or warm rainy spell comes in the next six weeks.

Special measurements will be taken by the soil conservation service and cooperators to evaluate the flood potential on low elevation watersheds where a hazard exists, Nelson said.

THE SIGN OF FARMER JUSTICE, EQUALITY, AND STRENGTH

FARMERS REALIZE:

1. Farm prices are at a drastically low level. (while producers' expenses are at an all time high)
2. Conglomerate Corporations are buying out farm producers.
3. Major food companies are mushrooming vertical integration.
4. These and many other factors are squeezing the commercial family farmer into non-existence.

MUST ACT NOW:

1. Become a part of the dynamic NFO movement initiated at the 1970 convention.
2. Take advantage of the unity and determination of neighboring farmers NOW, join NFO and become a participating member.
3. Stand behind NFO to raise your farm prices.

AND THIS, coupled with NFO's determination to take whatever steps necessary for commercial family farm survival, is the turning point for rural America. We must stand UNITED - once this is accomplished, the major farm battle is won. Only farmers can change the chaos at the market place by using collective bargaining through NFO.

FARMERS THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES ARE SENDING AN URGENT PLEA FOR FARMERS TO UNITE. THE FACT IS NOW RECOGNIZED THAT

"NFO IS THE FARMERS ONLY HOPE"

ACTION

NFO has initiated a three-fold attack for the 1971 farm battle

1. A massive commodity lift to raise general price levels. (including red meat, grain, and specialties crops)
2. Legislative action to stop vertical integration and packer feeding.
3. Use every legal weapon available to achieve our goals.

FARMERS WON THE BATTLE IN 1970 FOR THEIR FREEDOM. FARMERS MUST WIN THE BATTLE IN 1971 FOR THEIR SURVIVAL.

Seed specialist addresses group

TWIN FALLS — New developments in vegetable production were discussed before members of the Twin Falls Garden Club in their January meeting Wednesday with an address by Dr. M. B. Anderson, seed firm specialist.

Dr. Anderson outlined new developments in varieties of peas, beans and corn through recent research.

He said new "wonder plants" have been developed as a result of special breeding and application of chemistry. New pesticides, mechanization and the use of scientifically trained personnel combine to allow people to eat many better types of vegetables, he said.

He was introduced by Mrs. Russell Miller, who reminded club members of the importance of bean seed production in this area, noting 80 per cent of all garden bean varieties produced for seed in the United States come from the Magic Valley area. The Caldwell area is the largest producer of hybrid corn seed in the United States, he said.

Slides were also shown during the club members' various types of beans and peas now popular among area growers.

Mrs. S. W. Smith reported there were 28 exhibitors in the Garden Club Show held last month. Mrs. V. W. Nelson received the horticulture sweepstakes and other top awards went to Mrs. John Flau, for the most awards; Mrs. Ivan Mink, Jerome, best fresh arrangement, and Alice Prescott Twin Falls, best fresh and dry arrangement.

Dr. Anderson, who received his master's degree in horticulture at Utah State University in botany and plant pathology also holds a doctor's degree from the University of Wisconsin. He has worked the past 37 years in developing new varieties of peas and beans and improving existing varieties. Some 40 types are credited to his career. In 1967 he was presented the Award of Merit by the National Pea Improvement Association and in 1970 received the Meritorious Award of the National Pea Improvement Cooperative.

Pump pressure perils Blue Gulch area wells

By PAULINE DAY
Times-News Correspondent
BUIHL — Should the current rate of decline in ground water levels in the Blue Gulch area continue, it may be necessary to shut down some of the 33 irrigation water producing wells, Keith Higginson, director, Idaho Department of Water Administration, told farm owners and operators here Thursday night.

Higginson and two other department officials met here Thursday night for a public hearing to explain to between 80 and 70 farmers what the Blue Gulch Critical Water Area report means to them.

He said the report, which establishes the 300 square mile Blue Gulch area in western Twin Falls and eastern Owyhee counties as a "critical ground water area," means there will be no new drilling permitted.

He said the Idaho Water Resource Board will continue a close watch over the water level and while it could continue to worsen, should the conditions improve and the Water Resources Board finds it has acted too hastily, the restrictions could be lifted or modified.

He told the hearing audience the order for no additional well drilling followed an extensive study ordered by the Water Resources Board and conducted between April, 1969, and March, 1970. The stop order was issued Dec. 9.

About seven or eight months of study on field crew findings was held prior to the designation of Blue Gulch as a critical area.

He said four mass measurements of water levels throughout the area found withdrawal by pumping dropped the water level 27 feet in some areas and showed an average decline of five feet per year over the past few years.

Blue Gulch, a relatively new water development, west of Balanced Rock is irrigated exclusively by deep wells.

Ground water development began in the mid 1950's and reached peak acceleration in 1964. Water declines were first noticed in 1967 and have continued since that time.

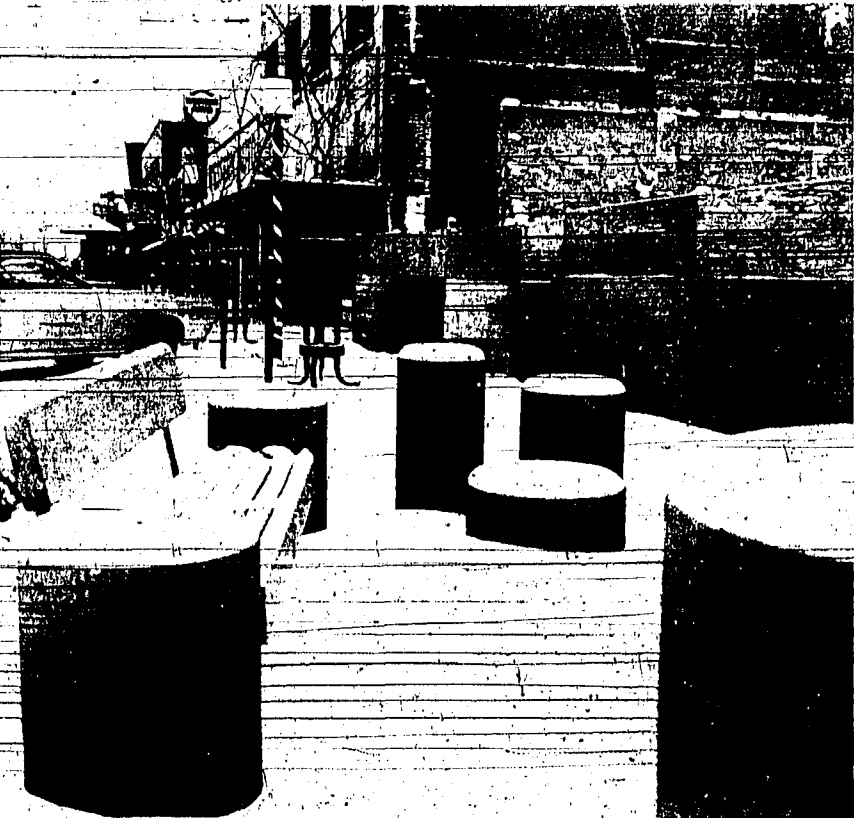

Higginson said the area has a highly discontinuous aquifer system with the 33 wells pumping about 25,500 acre feet of water per year for farm purposes. Present water applications on record with the water department, he said, indicate the total withdrawal could increase by 400 per cent in the next five years which would mean a similar multiplication of the level decline.

While no additional permits will be issued, Higginson said, those granted but not yet patented can be completed.

Accompanying Higginson to the Buhl hearing were Stephen Allred, deputy director of the department and Norman Young, water resource engineer.

Curt Taylor, Bureau of Land Management discussed the relationship of desert entry and applications to water rights and supplies. Sherl Chapman, acting assistant director, Idaho Department of Water Administration, outlined maps prepared following the field studies on well location and water levels.

Think about this in July . . .

Coal supply short

TWIN FALLS — The Clover Lutheran School between Filer and Buhl continued operating today after about one ton of coal was delivered this morning, according to the principal.

But the future is still uncertain. Coal is still short critically in some areas.

Wright Fuel Co. of Buhl said no coal was received as anticipated Thursday, but the firm is supplying its own customers, rationing the small supply carefully.

Around the valley, the story is the same — rationing of small supplies by dealers. In Rupert, two coal dealers say their supplies are low; the other said he is completely out.

In Shoshone, the Idaho Grange Cooperative is supplying its customers only, reporting a small supply on hand. Though more is expected, "we haven't received any shipping notices yet," a spokesman for the cooperative said.

However, "Nobody's hurting yet, to my knowledge," the spokesman said.

Further north, in Halley and Ketchum, the school systems use oil and gas, and ample supplies are on hand, according to school officials. Most Wood River Valley residents lay in plentiful supplies of fuel early in the fall because of winter transportation problems, a spokesman said.

Two firms in Gooding which supply coal to residents there report they are either completely out or are rationing the remaining small supply at a rate of one ton per customer.

Idaho Grange Cooperative, Inc., Gooding, reports it ran out of coal about a week ago before the critically cold temperatures hit. A washer which broke down in a mine supplying the local outlet resulted in complete depletion of the firm's supply. Customers were referred to the other coal dealer, the Gooding Lumber and Coal Co.

Officials here said Friday they were rationing coal at a rate of one ton per customer.

This firm's shipments, also from Utah, have been delayed, officials said. Additional shipments are on order and expected shortly.

A Gooding coal customer, OK Tire Co., said it is conserving all possible fuel by shutting down its furnace completely at night after a good warm-up of the building. One of three fans is then operated during the day with heat confined to the main entrance and show room area.

Dee Keller, superintendent of schools, said so far the schools are not in difficulty. The schools order coal separately by the tonload and one tonload on order since Dec. 30 is expected at any time.

At Burley, a spokesman for the single dealer, Mallory Coal Co., said obtaining coal from Utah mines is becoming a problem. The firm receives its coal from the Price-Salina area, hauling most of it by truck although some comes by rail.

"That firm is cutting down on the amount delivered to customers, usually providing half the amount ordered. The firm is also keeping up with the demands of eight schools in Cassia County which it supplies."

The spokesman for the Mallory firm said it has had to refuse requests for coal from dealers in other towns who ran out in order to maintain supplies for its own customers.

Stoker coal supplies are adequate, but obtaining lump coal for stoves is a problem, the spokesman said.

At Jerome, school officials said there is no problem with the coal supply. The schools there are the largest users of that fuel.

A North Side Lumber and Supply Co. spokesman said additional supplies of coal are anticipated.

Russell Eilers, of the Bean Growers Elevator at Hazelton, said the low supply of coal "is almost normal at this time of year." He said his firm is limiting deliveries to 1,000 pounds per customer. Eilers said the school there has plenty of coal.

Magic Valley

Friday, January 8, 1971.

Andrus due at dinner

TWIN FALLS — Gov. Cecil Andrus will make his first visit to Magic Valley Jan. 22 for a Twin Falls County Democratic Central Committee sponsored victory dinner at the Turf Club.

Committee members said today Gov. Andrus has asked the sponsoring committee allow him the opportunity to express his appreciation to the many supporters of this area who assisted him in his campaign.

He will address the group following the dinner and will then take advantage of the remainder of the evening to mingle with those attending and chat with them personally. During this time there will also be dancing with live music furnished by Jay Hill and his group.

Hazel Wilder and Doris Paxton, committee members, said the dinner tickets are being held at a minimum price to allow all interested persons to attend and at the governor's request the public is invited.

Tickets may be purchased in advance from ticket committee members in various communities of the county. In Twin Falls they are being sold by Mabel Smuzal, Hazel Wilder, Doris Paxton and Al Robinson.

In Buhl they may be purchased from Wendell Gannon and Morris Eckert and in Filer from A.K. Reed and Merle Allison.

A social hour will begin at 7 p.m. followed by a dinner at 8 p.m. Leo Moran of the Turf Club is working out a special menu for the banquet, and is in charge of dinner arrangements. Also on the banquet committee are June Prater, Shirley Webb and Ruth Rushton.

Electric wires humming

TWIN FALLS — Despite mounting shortages of coal and threatened short supply in the indefinite future of natural gas and fuel oil, electrical power continues unabated, with no lack in sight.

Earl E. Haroldsen, district manager of Idaho Power Co., said the only threat to power supplies in Idaho Power's network has come from an ecology-minded conservationist who object to construction of power lines through the countryside.

"We've had some trouble in the Sun Valley area with folks who didn't want us to put up power lines, but nothing major," Haroldsen said.

Idaho Power's generating capacity appears adequate for the foreseeable future, especially with planned construction of a coal-fired generating plant in Wyoming, being built in cooperation with Pacific Power and Light Co., Haroldsen said.

"Our peak power usage comes in July, not in December or in the winter, with summer time irrigation pumping," the utility official said. In East Coast states, power users face a continual shortage of power as demand exceeds capacity.

Ecologists who demand that power lines be put underground fail to appreciate the problems, Haroldsen said. "You may think an underground line is more reliable, but actually you have far more problems underground than with an aerial line."

One major problem with buried lines is locating any trouble spots. "You have lightning get into the system, or other problems short it out, and you've really got a problem locating it — and the servicing it — completely, repaired and then reburied — all taking much more time than repairing an aerial power line."

Park plan reviewed

By CHARLOTTE HELL
Times-News Correspondent
JEROME — Progress on the Midway Gorge Park in Gooding County was reviewed at a meeting of the Magic Valley Recreation Council at Woods Cafe Thursday night.

Robert A. Erkins, president of the council, said the Idaho Parks Board will provide between 80 and 90 per cent of the cost and the council is to provide the rest. Cost of the land is $5,000 with another $1,400 for appraisal.

Contributions to the council for this project, as well as others planned in the future, will be gratefully received, Erkins said. The Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co. has donated $300 for the site.

Plans for the actual layout of the new park will begin this summer. Bill Becker, Boise, director of the Idaho Department of Parks, told the meeting, attended by area recreationists and sportsmen.

It was reported Gooding County has agreed to pay $1,500 per year for three years to the council to be applied toward the park. This is the same amount the county previously spent on maintenance and upkeep of Niagara Springs Park, which is now under the state parks system.

The council decided to send a formal protest letter to the Idaho Land Board against the proposed dredging operation in the Snake River at Thousand Springs. Stan Detweller and Keith Silgar, both Twin Falls, have applied for a permit to dredge for sand, gravel and precious metals.

The council also decided to support efforts by the Jerome Rod and Gun Club and Kiwanis clubs, spearheaded by Marshall Everheart, to get access to Idaho Fish and Game Department and BLM land on the Snake River southeast of Jerome. The road to the site is now blocked by a gate.

Camas resort sold

PAIRFIELD — The plush Willow Run snowmobile resort in northeast Camas County was sold for $37,350.55 at sheriff's auction this week to satisfy a court judgment.

Camas County Deputy Sheriff Harold Lee said Rudy Javernick, Boise building contractor, who built the resort about three years ago, was the only bidder. The sale satisfied only Javernick's lien of $26,088 against the resort. Lee said the sale price included sheriff's office expenses. He said there are other liens against the resort.

The resort was owned by the Sawtooth Recreation Corp., headed by A.L. Osborne and Lloyd Barron. They have been given six months to redeem the property.

Lee said Javernick indicated after the sale he did not plan to open the resort. Lee said there were only about eight people at the sale.

The court judgment against the property was for labor and materials used in construction of the resort.

Trucks hit pair of poles

RICHFIELD — Two Richfield drivers were cited for violation of the basic rule Thursday after their trucks hit Idaho Power Company poles in separate accidents.

In each case, the pole was carrying lines with 46,000 volts of current, according to Idaho Power.

In the first accident, Ray Rogers, 29, of Richfield, struck a power pole early Wednesday while en route to work Thursday morning. James Kennison, 15, of Richfield, broke off a pole about two and one-half miles north of Richfield.

Police said Kennison was trying to pass a school bus while driving a one-ton truck, and slid off the road and into the borrow pit. While trying to drive out of the borrow pit, he skidded again and struck the pole, according to Sheriff Thomas Connor, who investigated both accidents.

Idaho Power men were called out to replace poles and lines at both accident sites. No injuries were reported, Connor said.

Dog mauls child, 3

PALMDALE, Calif. (UPI) — Michael Mularky, 3, was mauled by a great dane Thursday after the youngster climbed a six-foot chain-link fence.

The boy was taken to Palmdale General Hospital where he was in serious condition with numerous deep wounds.

Authorities said the boy wandered into a neighbor's yard and climbed over the fence.

Ben Baker, owner of the dog, heard the animal barking and rescued the boy.

"Everything was legal," a deputy said. "There was a six-foot fence and signs warning of the dog, but 3-year-olds can't read."

Prayer benefits charity

BIRMINGHAM, England (UPI)—Father James Curtin knelt and prayed for divine help in winning a soccer betting pool. He won $240,000—then gave most of it away. "My prayer must have been very effective," the Catholic priest said. He sat down immediately and listed the charities to which he would donate a total of $201,000. "I have no time for money," Curtin said. "As long as I can pay my way, that is all I am interested in."

The priest's pool sheet paid off for eight ties in British soccer play—one of them the 1-1 deadlock between Colchester and Rangers that triggered a tragedy that left 66 spectators dead in Glasgow last weekend. Curtin normally bets a few shillings a week on the pools. "Not all gambling is wrong," he said. "It is only when you do it beyond your means that it is wrong."

But it was Christmas, and his parish had given him some extra money for the holidays, so he bet $25.20 of it last weekend. Ndongmo, arrested by Cameroun security police on his return from a Vatican conference last August, also was condemned to life imprisonment on rebellion charges.

Texas GI said killed identified prisoner

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (UPI)—A Texas soldier believed killed in Vietnam two years ago—has been identified by his family as one of several U.S. soldiers shown in a recently released Vietnamese propaganda film. Sgt. Charles Ray Crim's father, wife and brother-in-law believe the captive Army veteran may be alive after all. The Communist-made film was aired in the United States this week on the CBS News with Walter Cronkite. The film showed the soldiers being led through the Vietnamese jungle. Wayne Porter saw the film Monday night and was startled by one soldier wearing a fatigue cap. He looked just like his brother-in-law, Charles Crim. Porter notified Mrs. Crim and other members of the family. After reviewing the tape three times Tuesday they notified the Army garrison officer at Ft. Sam Houston in San Antonio. One of the soldiers in the film, the only one wearing a fatigue cap, appeared to the family to be Crim, whom they thought was dead and buried. Crim began his second tour of duty in Vietnam in mid-1968 with the 5th Mechanized Infantry of the 25th Infantry Division. He had been a regular Army man for 13 years. In Aug. 1968 his wife, Joy, was notified he was missing in action. Two or three weeks later she was told he had been killed in action with a mortal chest wound.

Bishop facing death

YAOUNDE, Cameroun (UPI)—Only a presidential pardon can save Roman Catholic Bishop Albert Ndongmo from a death sentence meted out by a Cameroun military court. Ndongmo, 44, is the bishop of Nkongma. He was sentenced Wednesday to be shot by firing squad in a public place along with two other persons on charges they plotted to kill Cameroun President Ahmadou

Ahidjo. Condemned with the Negro bishop were Gabriel Tabou, known as "Wambo the Runner," and Celestin Takala, a Douala bishop. Three other persons were sentenced to death Tuesday on charges of fomenting a rebellion against the Yaounde government. They included Ernest Ouanda, a leader of the Union of Camerounian Peoples Organization (COPIC) a once-powerful opposition force that has been progressively reduced by the central government since Camerounian independence in 1960. Ndongmo, arrested by Cameroun security police on his return from a Vatican conference last August, also was condemned to life imprisonment on rebellion charges.

Eagles will keep Williams

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Defending champion Billy Casper shot a five-under-par 66 Thursday in the first round of the 72-hole $110,000 Open at the Los Angeles Open but still had to share a tie for the lead with two younger golfers.

The 39-year-old Casper had five birdies and parred all other holes on his round of 33-33, a card matched by Tom Shaw, 28, of Milwaukee, Ore. Bob E. Smith, also 28, a Sacramento, Calif., pro, came in at dusk with 38-34-66 to throw the first tournament of the 1971, $7 million PGA tour into a three-way tie.

Arnold Palmer, who has won this tournament three times, shot 38-33-71 on the Rancho Park Course, taking a triple bogey seven on the fifth hole when his ball ended up under a beer can in the rough.

One stroke behind the three leaders was the over-par "unknown"—Bob Payne, 27, of Mt. Vernon, Ill., who shot 33-34-67, par is 36-35-71.

On the fourth day in the morning and the start of the first round was delayed for half an hour. The sun was out but there was a chill in the air.

"I had an overcoat, I would have put it on," said Smith who had four birdies on the front nine and a bogey and two birds coming home.

Darkness fell before the last threesome could finish. Bill Brask Jr., Jack Montgomery and Bobby Greenwood had two holes to go and will finish it Friday before the second round begins.

More than 30 from the field of 144 broke par.

In a group of eight at 68 were George Archer, 34-34; Jerry Barber, the tiny Los Angeles veteran, with 35-33; Dale Douglas 36-32; Bert Greene 35-32; Bob Lamm 37-31; John Schroeder 35-33, J. C. Sneed 33-35, and Ray Floyd 34-34.

Bruce Crampton, Don January and Tony Jaakla landed in the 40 bracket. Last year's leading money-winner, Lee Trevino, got in with par on rounds of 35-36 along with Gene Littler, Doug Sanders and Larry Ziegler.

Palmer, also in the pur-tracked, said he pulled well. He played the back nine first and had two birdies. Coming home he took the fat seven and a No. 5 but birdied No. 9 from four feet.

On the fateful fifth, his drive landed in the rough under the beer can whose brand, he said, he will never touch again.

"I picked up the can and the ball moved," he said. "I should have called for a ruling then and taken a drop but I played through and took a five.

Sometimes you don't do what you know you should do. If I had taken a drop, the ball probably would have rolled onto the fair way since it was on a slope."

Coaches fight time, weather preparing for American Bowl

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—Nebraska coach Bob Devaney and Miami Coach Fran Curci battled time, and the elements today to try to put together the opposing teams for the American Bowl football game Sunday.

Players for the all-star game did not begin arriving here until Tuesday and drills have been hampered by the weather.

The offensive units of the two teams got together for the first practice Wednesday but some players had yet to arrive.

Thursday the teams were chased inside by day-long rain and the defensive units got together for the first time.

Both Devaney and Curci hoped for clearing weather for today's sessions and will send the teams through full-scale workouts Saturday.

Kickoff for the game is 2 p.m. EST. Game officials said an estimated 15,000 fans are expected.

Joe Spagnola, who led Arizona State to an undefeated season and a Peach Bowl victory over North Carolina Quarterbacking the north will be Don Moorhead of Michigan and Frank Harris of Boston College.

The American Bowl, counted out by many after two years of financial losses and lawsuits, was revived late this year and received NCAA sanction late in September, long after many college seniors had been approached by the Senior Bowl game and the Hula Bowl game, both of which will be played Saturday.

But former college coach Chelo Huerta was hired to round up the talent and come up with players for 30-man squads.

But there has had to be some juggling done, Huerta said, to keep the teams balanced so the game will have the unique situation of two players from one college playing in opposite teams in the all-star game.

Randy Vantaha, a wide receiver for Rose Bowl champion Stanford, is playing for the South, while his teammate, offensive tackle Dave Tipton, is suiting up for the North.

In addition, Duke linebacker Phil Asack, originally signed for the South, has been shifted to the North.

Packers to interview Arizona State coach

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—Green Bay Packers President Dominic Olejniczak said Thursday "lots of names" are still being considered for the vacant coaching and general manager position and declined comment on whether any solid offer has been made to anyone.

However, Arizona State coach Frank Kush confirmed he was to meet Friday in Chicago with Packers officials to discuss the job vacated two days before Christmas when Phil Bengtson resigned.

Kush has won 100 games as head-coach of the Sun Devils and has lost only 30 in 10 years. His 1970 team won 11 consecutive games, including the Peach Bowl.

He said his invitation to the meeting came through a third party and "my offer would have to be given a great deal of thought."

Olejniczak was generally noncommittal in meeting with newsmen after the Packers' executive committee had gathered to talk about possible successors to Bengtson.

He said the executive committee meeting was to "reassess the entire situation"—presumably because of the hiring Wednesday by Washington of fired Los Angeles coach George Allen.

Two Milwaukee newspapers reported Wednesday that Allen had been given a similar offer from Green Bay.

"If I made an offer to Allen, I would not comment either way," Olejniczak said in answer to a question as to what kind of offer had been made.

"Did I say I had made an offer?"

"A lot of speculation and fabrication is going on I am not going to be disturbed about it. I can live with it," he said. "It's not true that he is a 'one man search committee,'" Olejniczak said.

He was referring to a newspaper report that he alone was conducting the hunt for the new coach and general manager.

"The search is the responsibility of the entire executive committee," he said. "Of course, someone has to make arrangements."

Series to have one night tilt

NEW YORK (UPI)—The fourth game of the 1971 World Series will be played at night, it was announced Thursday by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, marking the first time in history that a Series game is being scheduled under the lights.

The decision by Kuhn follows several years of speculation, that baseball would put its showcase event on at night for the benefit of national television.

The first regular-season major league game played at night was May 24, 1935 at Cincinnati and during the last decade baseball has been scheduling a major proportion of its games at night.

For the last two years, the All-Star game has been played at night and will be again in 1971. It is scheduled for Detroit on Tuesday, July 13.

The fourth game of the World Series will be played in the park of the National League champion on Wednesday, Oct. 13, and will be televised nationally by the National Broadcasting Company.

"This innovation will make it possible for additional millions of fans to see baseball's post-season classic," Kuhn said.

Tolan rips Achilles tendon

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Cincinnati Reds outfielder Bobby Tolan, the major league stolen base leader last season, injured an Achilles tendon in a basketball game Wednesday night and will miss at least the first two months of the 1971 major league season.

Tolan, 25, was playing a benefit basketball game with other members of the Cincinnati Reds team in Frankfort, Ky., when he tore the Achilles tendon in his right heel.

Dr. Dale Fox performed surgery on the injured tendon Thursday at Christ Hospital here and indicated after the operation that the star outfielder probably would not be able to play until sometime in June.

Tolan led the majors in stolen bases last year with 57, had a .316 batting average and drove home 80 runs as the Reds won the National League Pennant.

Reds' general manager Bob Howsam was not available for comment on the mishap, but he had stated several months ago that he and manager Sparky Anderson were opposed to Reds players participating in the off-season basketball games.

Other Reds who play on the basketball team include Johnny Bench and Pete Rose, two of the team's most valuable and highest paid players.

Nelsen nixes idea on surgery

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Cleveland Browns quarterback Bill Nelsen indicated Thursday he does not presently plan to go through with another operation on his wobbly right knee.

Nelsen, speaking with newsmen prior to the announcement of the appointment of Nick Skorich as the Browns' new head coach, said he had consulted several doctors about his knee.

"Two doctors were in favor of an operation while two were against it," Nelsen said. "I believe my opinion will make it 3-2 against the operation."

"This decision has been hammering me for quite a while. It's a tough one to make."

Surgery on the knee was recommended by Oklahoma City orthopedic surgeon Dr. Donald H. O'Donoghue, who proposed to insert an artificial ligament into it.

In a previous operation, cartilage was removed from the 29-year-old quarterback's right knee.

Paper ties players to gambling

CLEVELAND (UPI)—A series of raids by the FBI in northeastern Ohio last month has linked three professional football players with a widespread interstate gambling operation, the Cleveland Press reported Thursday.

The raids were conducted here, Youngstown, Warren and Niles and they also uncovered an alleged loan shark operation.

The Scripps-Howard Newspaper said evidence collected in the raids indicated the three players, who were not identified, were either betting on games or were providing information to the gamblers who specialized in football betting pools.

The Press said the players were expected to be subpoenaed before a federal grand jury here later this month which will be called by the Organized Crime Task Force of the U.S. Justice Department.

The newspaper said none of the players involved were members of the Cleveland Browns.

NFL denies gaming story

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—The report in a Cleveland newspaper that three professional football players were involved in a gambling investigation was denied Thursday by Jim Kneal, executive director of the National Football League.

Kneal, here for the Jan. 17 Super Bowl game preparations, issued the following statement: "We (the NFL) have been advised by the Department of Justice (in Washington) that there is no basis in fact to the story in the Cleveland Press, and further assured that there are no professional football players involved in the Cleveland gambling probe."

Kansas loses football coach Pepper Rodgers to UCLA

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—UCLA wasted no time in hiring a replacement for Tommy Prothro, head football coach, announcing Thursday that former Bruins assistant coach Franklin "Pepper" Rodgers, University of Kansas head coach, had accepted the job.

Five days after Prothro started UCLA and local football followers by announcing he had taken the job of coaching the Los Angeles Rams pro football team, Rodgers was picked to replace his former mentor.

Rodgers, 39, was brought to UCLA from the University of Florida where he had been head offensive coach for five years. He joined the Bruins the same year Prothro took over as head coach.

The abilities of Rodgers were well known in football circles. Prior to going to Florida he had been backfield coach for the Air Force Academy.

Athletic Director J. D. Morgan of UCLA who had brought Rodgers west on the recommendation of Prothro, hailed the Kansas coach as being one of the greatest offensive coaches in the country.

"He is a student of the game and relates well to the student athletes, to his associates in the athletic department and to the academic community," Morgan said.

"He has served the University of Kansas well and we feel indeed fortunate to be able to attract him to UCLA."

Rodgers, in a statement released through Morgan's office, commented: "It is a tremendous thrill and challenge in replacing someone who is such a good friend and as outstanding a coach as Tommy Prothro. I am thrilled UCLA would think enough of me to ask me to be their head football coach."

In announcing Rodgers' selection, Morgan gave no terms nor did he elaborate on the length of the new coach's contract; it was believed, however, the contract was for more than one year and the terms somewhere between $30,000 and $40,000.

Rodgers went to Kansas in 1967 and posted a 9-1 record in 1968 when the Jayhawks shared the Big Eight title with Oklahoma. In the Orange Bowl that season, Kansas lost 15-14 to Penn State. His overall mark at Kansas was 20-22 with a 5-4 record last season. He was chosen Big Eight Coach of the year in 1967 and 1968 by UPI.

Prothro had turned out winning teams in every one of his six seasons at UCLA, including a trip to the Rose Bowl after his first season in 1965.

Fambrough has Kansas job after 19 years

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI)—Don Fambrough was ushered in as new head football coach at the University of Kansas Thursday after waiting in the wings for 19 years, but it was the old coach, Pepper Rodgers, who shed tears.

Rodgers, who accepted the head coaching job at UCLA the same day, lost his composure in a formal news conference.

"The 39-year-old Rodgers said he had a pair of sunglasses in his hand. "Not because I'm going hollywood on you, but because I want to put them on if I start to cry."

He quickly did so. "Don is a very great man and you're very, very lucky. I can't think of a better guy to be head coach at the University of Kansas. And now, I'm going to take on a new post and see how it goes."

With that, Rodgers sat down. Fambrough called the moment "the thrill of my life. It's like a dream come true. It's the only job I ever wanted."

The Kansas coaching staff was quickly split in half, four choosing to go to UCLA with Rodgers and four deciding to stay with Fambrough.

Joining Rodgers at UCLA will be Doug Weaver, former head coach at Kansas State; Terry Donahue, Dick Tomoy and Billie Matthews. Rodgers also announced he would retain two coaches from Tommy Prothro's staff, Jerry Long and Tony Kopya.

Staying at Kansas will be

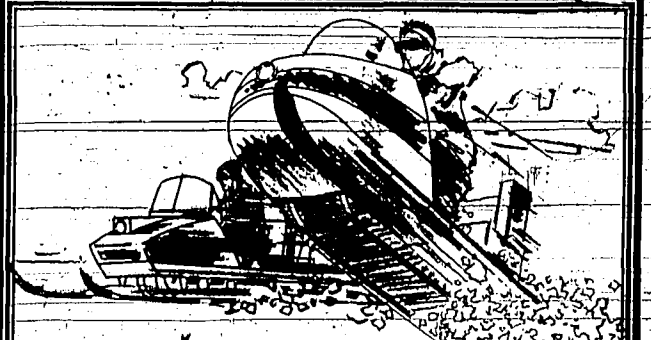

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Philadelphia Eagles announced Thursday that Jerry Williams would be retained as head coach for 1971 despite a disappointing season last year.

Eagles' owner Leonard Tose announced at a 3 p.m. news conference that Williams would be retained for the third year of his three-year contract.

Tose had announced after the Eagles finished their 3-10-1 season that he and general manager Pete Retzlaff would "re-evaluate" the coaching situation and decide whether to retain Williams or hire a new coach.

Narcotics suspected in death

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Toxicological tests were being conducted Thursday on the body of former heavyweight boxing champion Sonny Liston to determine whether narcotics caused his death.

Puncture marks were found on both of Liston's arms and Capt. Gene Clark of the sheriff's detective division said these "could have been made by a needle."

Small quantities of marijuana and heroin were found in Liston's home when his body was discovered Tuesday night.

A coroner's autopsy performed Wednesday was inconclusive as to the cause of the boxer's death.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at Palm Chapel with burial in Paradise Gardens.

Liston beat 33 of 34 opponents before winning the championship from Floyd Patterson on Sept. 25, 1962. He lost the crown to Cassius Clay Feb. 25, 1964.

Lakers thump Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Happy Hairston scored 25 points and Jerry West added 23 Thursday night to pace the Los Angeles Lakers to a 110-105 victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

Hairston, who got all of his points in the first three quarters, collected 8 of them in the third period as the Lakers grabbed a 91-75 lead.

The Cavaliers, with McCoy McLemore and Walt Wesley each scoring 10 points, cut the Lakers' lead to 106-102 with two minutes left in the game. West then connected on a 20-footer and added two free throws to pull Los Angeles out of danger.

The Cavaliers hit on 12 of 19 field goal attempts in the first quarter but trailed 28-26 entering the second period.

The Lakers held a slim 45-44 lead with 3:56 left in the second quarter and proceeded to outscore Cleveland 18-2 and led 61-48 at halftime.

Spartans nip T.F. to keep skein

RUPERT — Heavyweight Steve Torix came up with a reversal late in the third round and then just prevented a last-second escape by Twin Falls' Terry Walton to keep Minico's 12-year record of never losing a dual match in the fourth district intact.

The final match was Minico 21, Twin Falls 21. The final match was a meeting of ex-teammates, Walton having transferred to Twin Falls just after playing football for Minico.

Torix got the reversal to go ahead 4-3 and just managed to prevent Walton's escape which would have led that bout and given the overall win to the Bruins. Minico picked up a big edge in the light weights and went ahead 13-0 before Sam Florenco got Twin Falls on the scoreboard with a decision at 121 pounds.

Olympics seem certain to retain skiing

LONDON (UPI) — Alpine skiing probably will continue as the center piece of the Winter Olympic games following today's discussions between the International Olympic Committee (IOC) and the International Ski Federation (FIS).

FIS president Marc Hodler of Switzerland led a seven-man delegation which met with the IOC's Killian Commission for over three hours on the question of Olympic eligibility and other related matters.

Although the Commission's brief is only to discuss mutual problems with 26 international federations at meetings here, in Paris and Lausanne, the question of 10 top Alpine stars being disqualified from the Olympics for serving as coaches at a summer school at Mammoth Mountain, Calif. last summer was raised.

Hodler said: "I am confident these skiers did no more than is allowed by the FIS and that view, I feel sure, will be backed up by all the national associations concerned."

IOC President Avery Brundage, charged the men—Malcolm Milne of Australia, Franz Vogler of Germany, George Muddut, Jean-Luc Pirel and Jean-Noel Augert of France, Jean-Daniel Daetwyler, and Dumeng Giovanoli of Switzerland, Peter Duncan and Rod Hebron of Canada and Jon Terje Overland of Norway—all received $50 a day, plus expenses, to act as coaches in contravention of the Olympic rules and thus face suspension.

Hodler said the affair had been investigated in full and Vogler, acting as spokesman for the skiers, had submitted a letter Dec. 25 explaining exactly what the terms of the contract were.

"They acted within the rules of FIS as established in 1962. They did exactly what is permitted—teaching elementary skiing of a category of about class six with the use of only one pole," he said.

Hodler said his findings will be presented to Brundage within the next few days and he is confident the matter will be satisfactorily cleared up by the time the IOC Executive meets at Lausanne in March.

Killian confirmed this by saying: "FIS presented their report on the 10 skiers and I personally feel they have a satisfactory explanation."

Asked whether Brundage had been wrong to take the action he did in respect of the 10 men, Killian said: "Mr. Brundage is an individual and president of the IOC, he has every right to say what he likes in his personal capacity."

One of the problems facing the commission was the amount of training time allowed in each sport.

Bill Grievio played his king of hearts after South ruffed. Bill wanted to get South to come back to his hand with a club after South played some more spades. Needless to say, South did just that. The play is critical to dummy's nine, cashed the king and led a club. Bill ruffed and South was down one.

Now let's see what Dinoli and Lewis did at the other table. They reached seven spades the same way, but Harlow Lewis who sat South went to seven no-trump in an effort to win the board by 10 points. He counted six spades, five clubs plus two aces.

This could not be beaten and it became a 2,320 point pick up for the same one board a 10-point gain would have won for him.

Dear Emmett,

Have just received your report for 1970 and am extremely pleased to tell you that Thaisen Motors, Inc. of Twin Falls is again one of the largest Lincoln-Mercury dealers in the Northwest. According to your report, it is the wonderful people of Magic Valley that has put you in this number 1 position. The reason for this tremendous acceptance by the customers of Magic Valley has been due to the emphasis that Thaisen Motors has placed on their customer service and the high quality and integrity of your service and sales personnel.

For 1971 it is suggested that you put even more emphasis on giving the people of Magic Valley what they want. FRIENDLY SERVICE, AND TREMENDOUS SAVINGS.

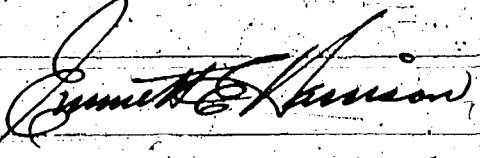

It would be to your advantage that you move 50 used cars between now and the 15th of January because of the tax structure in the state of Idaho. We suggest you pass the savings on to your customers instead of paying the tax stock.

To your continued success,

Roger Sherman

A Special Note

to our valued customers of Thaisen Motors, if for any reason you are unable to make a transaction to buy a new or used car by January 15th, 1971 please stop in and see me personally and I'm sure we can get together on a price.

Insurance fund asked

BOISE (UPI)—State Insurance Commissioner John Blaine requested $34,498 from the general fund for fiscal year 1972 Thursday, and estimated by 1973 his department would bring the state over $6 million in revenue.

Blaine, appearing before the legislature's joint finance-appropriations committee, also asked $30,732 would maintain the department's current level of services, but added such a program might reduce revenues by $20,000 to $40,000.

Blaine's request included three new positions: a full-time attorney for the department, an insurance actuary, and a rating examiner to be used for agency examinations.

He said the department has been using the services of a lawyer from the attorney general's office, but said only two hours of service were received in May and nine hours in June. In July, he said, the insurance department began to hire outside help and had to pull back funds from other programs to do so.

Other agencies appearing Thursday and their requests included:

State library—$1,188,603 from the general fund—a 42.3 percent increase over a comparative period in the 1969-71 biennium.

Public Utilities Commission Transportation Council; $8,809, or a six per cent increase.

Public Utilities Commission, $93,797, although the percentage of increase was difficult to determine since part of the biennial funding included a supplementary appropriation for special studies.

State Board of Tax Appeals $40,000, or $30,000 less than the board's original request. Gilbert Thompson, a member of the board, said the board is a new agency and said based on its business during the past year the members felt a smaller appropriation could be requested.

Legislative budget and fiscal committee, $144,050, with only $101,129 necessary to maintain the current level of expenditures.

Division of public accounts, recently transferred to the legislative branch from the executive branch; $130,233.

Department of Finance, $340,997, which included $24,534 for the investment board. Acting Finance Commissioner Tom Mc Eldowney said $275,802 would be required to maintain the current level of services and said the increase included a request for a full-time manager for the state's $80 million in endowment funds.

Administration denies action against speaker

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—In an unusual departure from White House procedure, President Nixon has denied his administration sought to obtain criminal charges against outgoing Speaker of the House John W. McCormack.

Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said Thursday the President was disturbed by published reports that White House officials were trying to pin criminal charges on him. "The White House usually ignores such charges and the denial was an indication of the President's anger.

The allegations were made by Washington columnist Jack Anderson, who said that three of McCormack's close friends who were invited to a White House luncheon for him were subpoenaed before a grand jury investigating the lawyer's activities.

"I would like to state quite categorically that any allegation that the Nixon administration is trying in any way to pin criminal charges on Speaker McCormack... is totally and absolutely false without any foundation whatsoever," a White House spokesman said.

Anderson indicated the White House was investigating McCormack for possible ties with aide Martin Sweig, who was convicted of perjury in connection with an inquiry into influence peddling involving use of the speaker's office.

The Nixon family was joined by the President's friend Charles (Bebe) G. Rebozo of Key Biscayne, Fla., to help the Nixons celebrate his 58th birthday Saturday. Nixon and Rebozo eluded newsmen in the afternoon and took a two-hour motor tour to Dana Point in Orange County.

Nixon is expected to head back to Washington next Wednesday or Thursday for the convening of the 93rd Congress Jan. 21.

Gem planner tagged

BOISE (UPI)—Gov. Cecil D. Andrus Thursday appointed Marvin L. Misner, 35, as the acting director of the state Planning and Community Affairs Agency.

Misner will serve, Andrus said, until the complete fiscal position of the agency can be determined.

Since October he has been the principal planner of the agency and has been instrumental in state programs such as urban development, land use, population growth, natural resources and industrial growth.

Prior to that he had served as assistant district ranger in Kelchum, as a recreation specialist with the U.S. Department of Interior, and as planning supervisor for the Idaho Department of Parks in Boise.

Payoffs overruled

BOISE (UPI)—Att. Gen. Tony Park in his first opinion since taking office, Thursday said lump-sum payoffs to state employees after their termination dates cannot be made.

Under a ruling last October by the board of examiners, State Auditor Joe Williams was authorized to make lump-sum payoffs to terminating employees to compensate them for accrued vacation time not taken before leaving the state's employment.

Park said, however, no plans are being contemplated to recover money already paid out since the board of examiners' provision.

Williams said the opinion affects requests for payoffs from all of former Gov. Don Samuelson's personal staff, several of his department heads, and two former members of former Atty. Gen. Robert Robson's staff.

In the opinion, Park noted that in earlier opinion by Robson did not include an opinion on whether the board acted within its constitutional authority.

He said the only way lump-sum payoffs could be granted would be by statute adopted by the legislature. He said termination regulations apply to elected state officials as well as merit service employees of the state.

"He wrote 'although it may be very desirable policy to pay employees in cash for accrued vacation time at the time they terminate... the decision is one for the legislature and not the board of examiners.'"

Department heads in times past, have gotten around the statute by listing the employee's paper termination date the day the employee's accrued leave time ended. However, in actuality, the employee left state service the day the vacation period began.

Thursday's ruling, in essence, forces the departments to continue to get around the provision by extending the employee's termination date to include accrued vacation time.

However, under this regulation there is no assurance for an employee who is fired that compensation will be paid for earned vacation time. In fact it is illegal to grant payment for accrued vacation time under state law, Williams said.

Earlier, former Atty. Gen. Robert M. Robson vowed to fight a ruling if it denied payment to staff members of both his staff and Samuelson's. Williams said he does not contemplate proposing any legislation that would allow the payoffs, even though in most cases the state will be able to make payoffs by working around the regulations.
