Jerome students ousted for hair

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Correspondent
JEROME — More than 20 Jerome High School students were suspended Monday when Principal Jerry Diehl made a room-by-room inspection of student hair length and dress. Diehl said today most students were suspended for improper hair length as defined by the school district's dress code. Diehl said students were suspended five days each, or until haircut length requirements and dress provisions are met. Diehl said he did not know how many students were suspended, but estimated about two per class were involved. Four girls were included, he said. Ironically, all Jerome barber shops were closed Monday. Several students reportedly returned to class with shorter home shear jobs. Under the dress code adopted and imposed by the board of education, girls may wear long hair providing it does not cover the eyes and face. Bangs may not extend below the eyebrows. Boys may wear hair only to the shirt collar and must not have hair covering their eyes or falling below their eyebrows. Sideburns may not extend below the ears.

Northside, Cassia hit airport plans

TWIN FALLS — The bitter controversy over the ideal site for a Magic Valley regional airport will come to a head Wednesday at a meeting of the executive committee of the South Idaho Chamber of Commerce here at the CSI campus. The meeting was called by chamber president Dr. James I. Taylor following a statement drafted Friday by representatives of Northside and McIntosh Cassia representatives opposing further repair or expansion of the Twin Falls City Airport. The City-County Airport board had earlier recommended that "emergency" repairs be made on the airport's deteriorating main runway and taxiway, to prevent closure of the airport this summer. Neil Weir, chairman of an Idaho Interim Airport development committee, who chaired the Burley meeting released the meeting's statement on Monday. He said the group formally opposed further use of federal and state funds for permanent expansion or improvement of the existing Twin Falls Airport.

"We also disapprove the practice of designating the airport as a regional one," the statement issued by the group reads. "Especially since the communities we represent as well as others in this valley are more interested in other sites which are essentially located more conveniently situated to service the people of Magic Valley. Weir said representatives were especially incensed at reports originating from the Twin Falls City-County Airport Commission seeking to change the newly-created regional airport law passed by the 1970 legislature."

Valley mops up floodwaters

Mopping up operations continued today in most areas of Magic Valley after being flooded by overflowing streams and runoff water caused by the warm and wet weather the past few days. In Jerome, the hardest hit by flood damage, city crews were busy cleaning up mud and debris from the flood waters along Sixth Street. Mel Morris, Jerome city public-works director, said extensive damage has resulted to four city blocks on Sixth Street, with several large sections of the roadbed washing away or caved in. He said Sixth Street East has been closed to traffic from Cleveland to Lincoln Streets and will remain so until it is repaired. The Big Wood River west of Gooding is overflowing its banks today flooding farmland, some homes and equipment because of a large ice jam two miles northwest of the city. Jack Martins, Gooding

County Highway District foreman, said the crews will again be dynamiting the ice jam today in an attempt to break it up. He said crews tried Monday but were unsuccessful. Mindoka and Cassia County residents were mopping up mud and debris, but some of the county roads were still impassable today, especially in northern Mindoka County and around the Malta area of Cassia County. At Shoshone, residents are keeping a close watch on Little Wood River because water is quite high in it and there is ice flowing down from the Richfield area. Leon Grievie, manager of the Big Wood Canal Co., said his crews are keeping watch as the river may overflow if it rains again, causing more runoff. In Twin Falls County, highway crews were busy repairing washouts caused by high runoff water. Floyd Dayley, highway manager, said it will be several days before most of the washouts can be repaired, but crews are busy "fixing those that they can today." Dayley also said the highway district is clearing away the snowslide on Rock Creek Canyon in the vicinity of Thompson Creek. This slide came down Saturday night, completely closing the canyon and was the second in a week's time with the first stranding a number of snowmobiles. The Corps of Engineers also is helping the Gooding Highway District in breaking up the ice jam on the Big Wood, says Deputy Sheriff Bill Rumm. Rumm said officials of the highway district hope to have the ice jam cleared away today as several farms are being flooded in the area. In Jerome the retaining wall along St. Benedict's Hospital is still standing despite extreme water pressure the past two days, Morris said. (Continued P. 17)

Minico budget up 8%

RUPERT — Mindoka county's proposed budget for 1971 is up about eight per cent above last year, to a total of $318,356. The $25,388 increase, according to County Clerk August Bethke, will be below the four per cent ceiling on increased taxation because $38,060 of the total is for a new item, the Magistrate's Court, a consolidation of justice and police courts previously funded. Employees in the clerk's office are preparing the final form of the budget this week, he said, preparatory to the public hearing Feb. 9. Total for the items listed under current expenses is $318,356, compared to $292,968 last year, an increase of $25,388.

But Bethke said this total includes $38,060 under the magistrate court which is a new item. The budget also includes two other new items this year, $35,100 for the sanitary fill and $12,090 for revaluation. New items are not considered in the increases included in the total budget raise, Bethke said, according to provision of H.B. 304 which limits taxing units from increasing their budgets by more than 4 per cent.

Breakdown of the proposed budget shows: sheriff's office — $49,664 this year, compared to $45,992; auditor — $36,544 and $34,616; assessor — $27,735 and $25,624; treasurer — $21,340 and $19,410; prosecuting attorney — $18,428 and $16,250; magistrate — $38,060 and $29,229; county agent — $13,760 and $12,930; commissioners — $13,050 both years; coroner — $2,000 and $2,050; district court — $9,700 and $8,950; janitor — $4,688 and $6,218; building and grounds — $15,100 and $12,100; general funds, $44,000 and $46,500. Bethke said there also will be a $30,900 figure listed under the general item heading which is a federal grant for the Youth Ranch. Since all federal money has to be administered by a governmental agency, the county is handling this fund, but it will not create any cost to county taxpayers, he said.

Jail — $4,500 both years; civil defense, $2,050 both years; veterans, $3,700 and $3,550; public defense, $6,000 and $5,000 and zoning, $5,100 and $4,950. Other items in addition to those in the current expense category, for which separate levies are issued, include indigent, $84,550 this year and $81,700 last year; weed — $20,550 and $19,258; fair board, $37,168 and $30,467 and $37,100. Hospital bond — $28,000; junior college — $35,000 both years; parks and recreation — $17,380 and $18,595; revaluation, $12,090 and $5,800; hospital maintenance — $38,000; pest control, $200 both years; ambulance — $7,200 and $10,500; and $35,100 for the sanitary fill.

South Viet drive stalls

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — U.S. military sources said today the Allied drive to recapture Highway 4 has not progressed nearly as well as had been hoped. The Cambodian government said Premier Lon Nol would go to Saigon Wednesday for meetings on the critical situation in his country. The South Vietnamese command said in Saigon a new 6,000-man operation had been launched in the Cambodian Fish Hook region 75 miles northwest of Saigon in an effort to clear out a new Communist buildup in the area. U.S. military sources said the slower than expected progress in the drive to clear the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese from Highway 4 was the reason for the sudden introduction last weekend of U.S. Army helicopter gunships.

T.F. teachers air grievances

By LEE THEMINE
Times-News Staff Writer
TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls teachers locked horns with their employers, trustees of School District 411, and Superintendent Dr. Ernest H. Ragland, Monday in a negotiation session that lasted nearly four hours. A five-member committee of teachers, which had presented a series of suggestions to the trustees at an earlier board meeting, discussed feelings of Twin Falls teachers on a wide range of subjects, covering grievances, pupil-teacher ratio, authorization to negotiate and others. Grievance procedures are a thorn in the flesh to many teachers, the negotiation committee told the trustees. Present school board policy gives the principals of the individual schools first chance to discuss grievances with teachers, and the instructors are requested to talk to their principals before going to the board. Many teachers fear this procedure, feeling that they could be subject to retaliation from their principals, Milton Barrus, chairman of the committee, said. In addition, some teachers may have grievances that concern their principals, and thus could not discuss the problems openly. The grievance procedure advocated by the teachers is designed to smooth the process of finding a solution and could eliminate relatively minor complaints, Barrus said. A complaining teacher would have to write out his complaint in full before submitting it to a grievance committee appointed from the teachers themselves. "Many teachers won't do this; they'll see how important the problem is when it's written out," Barrus said. A board statement, however, declared that "the board does not feel that the grievance procedure asked for is better than the open-door policy that now exists. An open-door policy to us means a teacher may confer with a superintendent without a waiting period or the restrictions that the proposal makes." Trustees agreed to consider the matter further, and took no formal action on the teachers' request. (Continued on P. 2)

Reserve reduces interest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Reserve Board Monday approved a cut from 5 1/4 to 5 per cent in its "discount rate" — the interest Federal Reserve banks charge on loans to commercial banks. The cut in the bullwhip interest rate followed by less than 24 hours the third reduction in two weeks in the bank prime rate, the interest banks charge on loans to their biggest and best corporate customers. It was the fourth reduction, each one for one quarter of a point in the discount rate since Nov. 10. The reduction followed by 11 days the previous cut announced on Jan. 7. The new reduction affects only six of the Federal Reserve's 12 regional banks — those in Boston, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Atlanta, Minneapolis and Dallas. However, the other six banks are expected to post similar reductions within the next few days. The Federal Reserve said the cut "gave recognition to further declines that have taken place in short-term market interest rates."

Local interest may fall

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writer
TWIN FALLS — Banking officials here said today they will follow the lead of Idaho banking institutions in prime interest rate declines and one banker said the average borrower may expect some benefits later in the year. Bankers were reluctant to say how much local rates would decline, or when. Presidents of major Idaho banks have announced they will follow the major eastern banking institutions in reduction of prime interest rates on major loans and local banking officials said today they will naturally follow all dictates of their superiors. Frank Batters, local manager of the Bank of Idaho, said he has not as yet received communication from his state headquarters but is expecting word later in the day. He said a reduction in prime rates could mean some reduction to all commercial borrowers in the future.

Kenneth Newman, First Security Bank, said it is difficult to establish what the true western rate is as a result of reductions by the money center banks of the east. He said apparently the federal government and the federal reserve system are attempting to make more money available, but the cost of money to local banks is still high. Newman said he could not see much in the way of immediate reductions to the small borrowers other than on FHA and VA guarantee loans which have already declined somewhat, now averaging about 7.5 per cent locally. Most other loan interest rates remain as they have for the past six months, pending a stabilization of money markets on the East Coast, he said. Lyle Frazier, Idaho First National Bank, said his local banking establishment is part of the Idaho First National System and will go along with that institution's policies. He said FHA loans are already down and he believes by summer other borrowers may begin to feel some relief in interest rates.

Ecuador severed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has suspended all military sales to Ecuador in retaliation for the seizure of American fishing boats, and says it may take further action including suspension of economic aid. The American action was another escalation in a long smoldering fishing dispute between Ecuador.

School out at Cassia, Malta

Mindoka County schools and Malta schools remained closed again today because of impassable roads caused by warm and wet weather the past few days. Braden Meyer, superintendent of Mindoka schools, said the roads in the northern part of the county are "really rough" because the frost is out of the ground about five inches and is continuing to drop lower. As a result, he said, roads are almost impassable. He said some of the roads are drying up a little, "hopefully enough so buses can get around tomorrow." Cassia County schools superintendent, Harold Blauer, said all schools in the county, except those at Malta, are in session today, including Oakley schools which were closed Monday. Blauer said roads in the Malta area were still impassable today, thus keeping the schools closed for another day. All other schools in Magic Valley were in session this week and were not affected too much by the weather the past few days.

Calley trial recesses

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—The court-martial of Lt. William L. Calley Jr. was in a one-month recess today to give the government time to prove Calley was sane during the alleged My Lai massacre.

This new burden of proof was put in the prosecution Monday when a psychiatrist called by the defense said Calley was under a compulsion during the sweep of the hamlet to obey an order to kill everything there.

The psychiatrist, Dr. Albert A. La Verne of New York, said Calley did not have the ability to disobey or to challenge the legality or illegality of the order from Capt. Ernest J. Medina, his company commander.

The military judge, Col. Reid W. Kennedy, said the testimony was clear that the psychiatrist thought Calley "was unable to adhere to the right" on March 16, 1968, when he is accused of murdering 102 Vietnamese civilians. He ordered Calley examined by an Army sanitar board.

The court-martial, in which the 27-year-old former infantry platoon leader could get death or life imprisonment if found guilty as charged, was recessed until Feb. 16. The judge said he was "being optimistic" in believing the board could report by then.

N. Y. police continue city strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—City police, rallying behind their slogan of "no party, no work" extended their wildcat strike into its sixth day today, defying their union leaders, the state law and a warning the National Guard may be summoned if they did not return to work shortly.

Although Edward Kiernan, president of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, pleaded with his men to return to work Monday, there was little indication his membership was listening.

Kiernan made his request to the policemen after state Supreme Court Justice Irving Saypol agreed to begin hearings today on the disputed pay-ratio question.

But reports from various precincts throughout the city showed that a "trickle" of men had reported for the midnight to 2 a.m. shift. Most patrolmen appeared determined that their parity scale with police sergeants is written into the contract and not subject to court action, trials or other interpretation.

Police Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy said he might ask for the help of the National Guard if the patrolmen failed to return to work "in the next few days."

Murphy indicated that he would be reluctant to take any such action but his duty demanded that he so inform Mayor John V. Lindsay when he felt he could no longer guarantee the public's safety.

A spokesman for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said the National Guard could be called together in a matter of three to four hours.

Fourteen candidates have become president of the United States with a popular vote less than 50 per cent of the total vote cast.

T.F. teachers ask procedures

(Continued from p. 1) The teachers' committee asked for a clarification of their request to be allowed to represent all faculty members in the district. They requested, in reply to the original request, a mention of "exclusive representation by the Idaho Education Association," and the teachers said they ask to represent all groups, not just the IEA or the Classroom Teachers Association, an affiliate of the IEA.

The teachers also protested the board's statement that "the board recognizes that, in the pursuit of the profession of teaching, teachers have a right to join or refrain from joining any teachers' organization for their professional and economic improvement."

"It sounds like you're urging the teachers to refrain from joining the IEA or any similar organization," Reid Pfaffen, a committee member, said. Dr. Ragland reassured the teachers, however, that the board officially neutral on salary scale must come first.

The trustees did not delve into the thorny problem of salaries at Monday night's meeting.

The problem of report cards and a request to allow parent-teacher conferences during school hours, brought a strong clash of opinions between the board and the teachers' organization.

Another request from the teachers, to reduce the pupil-teacher ratio, was discussed at length. The only effective way to reduce the number of teachers, handled by each elementary grades, is to convert additional classrooms, and hire more teachers, Dr. Ragland said.

The cost factor quickly becomes prohibitive when new construction is contemplated, he said. However, the school district receives $82,000 per year from the federal government under the Title I program, which could be used for some additional faculty members or rental of space.

Trustees and teachers also debated proposals to operate kindergartens as a part of the school system. This could prove a problem in Twin Falls, due to a strong "anti-kindergarten" sentiment, Charlene vonGortler told the trustees.

"This whole area is strongly against kindergartens; many people even refused to cooperate with the League of Women Voters on a kindergarten survey," she said.

Establishment of spending priorities is essential before specific requests can be considered, Dr. Ragland told the teachers, with the board's agreement. Salary schedules must be drafted and approved before a request for a change in table arrangements in the elementary schools can be proposed. The trustees agreed that the board's position that closing classes for half-day periods to allow the conferences would violate the state law requiring 180 full days of school each year. The only alternative would be to lengthen the school year by three or more days to allow the six half-day conferences sought by the teachers, Dr. Ragland said.

Charlene vonGortler protested strongly, saying that their proposal for in-class conferences "would cost the district nothing," yet requiring the teachers to remain after school hours "would cost us."

The trustees took no formal action and adopted no formal policies during the lengthy session. Another discussion was scheduled for Feb. 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the school administration offices.

Dr. Ragland said that the trustees would be required to make a decision on the kindergarten issue by the end of the month.

Pigeons may carry letters

LONDON (UPI)—Private postal services employing everything from pigeons to housewives mushroomed throughout Britain today to fill the void caused by an imminent nationwide postal and telephone strike.

Organizers of the services, who are charging handsome prices to get customers' mail through, got the government green light for the emergency operations on Monday. Postal Minister Christopher Chataway told Parliament he was lifting the Post Office monopoly during the walkout, the first in the nation's history.

The Postal Workers' Union ordered its 230,000 members to walk off the job from midnight tonight to back a 15 per cent pay increase demand. The Post Office, a state-run corporation which also controls telephones and telexes, has offered 8 per cent.

The organizers of the emergency mail—services were charging anywhere from 18 cents to $1.20 per letter and using a variety of modes of transport and collection.

A company at Barnstable said it would use an employee's pigeons to get microfilm messages to its other plants. A Liverpool firm specializing in distributing leaflets said it would use its 30,000 housewife employees to carry letters at 18 cents each.

In Central London, Tim Randall and Paul Sparrow, both 24, said they would collect and deliver up to 10,000 letters daily for a 24 cent per letter fee. They said the service was mainly for businessmen.

Sen. Russell said critical

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The condition of Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., suffering from a lingering respiratory infection, suddenly turned critical early today, his office reported.

Russell, 73-year-old Senate president pro tem, has been confined at Walter Reed Army Medical Center since Dec. 8 with a lower respiratory infection complicated by his chronic emphysema.

Doctors reported Monday the infection appeared to be clearing under heavy antibiotic treatment. But they examined the senator at 8 a.m. EST and found his condition worsened, according to Powell Moore, Russell's press secretary.

CSI awards building contract Preserving historical sites session topic

TWIN FALLS—Twin Falls contractor Neilson and Miller was awarded the contract for construction of vocational-technical building at the College of Southern Idaho despite a bid exceeding estimates by CSI trustees Monday night.

On recommendation of CSI President Dr. James L. Taylor, the trustees accepted Neilson and Miller's bid of $562,490, but declined to accept an alternative bid of $14,200 for landscaping.

The trustees agreed that college personnel could do the landscaping at a smaller cost.

The architect, CTA Architects, had originally placed cost of the building at $550,000, plus an additional $15,000 for site development.

H. W. Van Slyke, CSI business manager, said the architect will be asked to discuss the differential between original estimates and the final bids.

Two other bids were entered for the project. Mitchell Construction bid $598,000 for the building and $15,000 for landscaping, and Ormand Construction bid $680,000 and $25,000.

Funds for the vocational-technical building, which would replace the facility now in use on Kimberly Road, are provided from six sources including state, federal and local. Dr. Taylor said the breakdown, and the status of each, includes a state appropriation of $250,000 approved; federal Title I, Office of Education grant, $210,000, approved; Title I supplement, $70,000—tentative approval given; CSI construction account, $50,000, approved; CSI budget for 1971, $22,000, to be submitted as part of the overall budget, and Title I—Office of Education supplement, $33,000, yet to be submitted for approval.

Total available funds would equal $644,000, the trustees were told.

Construction will begin probably within a month, depending on the weather, according to Earl R. Neilson of Neilson and Miller. The building will be located west of the maintenance building and north of the other campus buildings. It is scheduled for completion about a year after the start of construction.

Dormitory fund due CSI soon

TWIN FALLS—A check for $1.295 million should be in the hands of the College of Southern Idaho Dormitory Housing Commission within a week.

Mike Gray, chairman of the commission, and H.W. Van Slyke, secretary-treasurer, signed the bond last week in the Portland regional office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. CSI trustees were told at their meeting Monday night in the new Commons building.

The new-style revenue bond is in essence a loan from the federal agency to the housing commission to pay for construction of the Commons and dormitory buildings. Where earlier bond issues required a thousand bonds, each for $1,000, the new transaction is included in a single document.

When HUD completes processing the loan, a check for the full amount—$1.295 million—will be forwarded to the commission, which will utilize interim financing in the form of bank loans to complete construction of the two buildings.

Final payment on the recently completed health-P.E. building housing the college gymnasium has not been made, pending a final billing from the contractor, Neilson and Miller, Van Slyke, CSI business manager, told trustees Monday night.

When all details of construction have been completed, a final payment will be forwarded to the contractor.

Gem board approves Snake dam

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Water Resource Board gave final approval Monday to a $56 million joint venture project with the Idaho Power Co. for dam construction on the Snake River near Bruneau.

One newly-appointed board member, Scott Reed, Coeur d'Alene, voted against the measure on grounds the damage to fish and wildlife from the dam might be excessive.

The project approved is to be submitted to the state legislature for its authorization. It is a low head dam at the Guffey site, downstream from Idaho Power's Swan Falls dam.

Under a proposal made by the power company the water resource board would construct the dam, rent the power production facilities and use the proceeds for irrigation and reclamation projects on the Mountain Home desert.

Chamber ballots counted

TWIN FALLS—Ballots were counted today in a mail election held to select four new board members of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Ray Roston, chamber manager, said the names of those elected will not be announced until the annual dinner on Feb. 11. He said the four new board members and eight holdover directors will meet prior to the annual meeting to elect new officers.

Nominees for positions on the 12-member board are Harold Gerber, Bob Murray, Merwin Holmbolt, John Massey, Dr. Frank McAtee, John Roaholt, Del Rupert and Uriel J. Simons. Members of the nominating committee are the five immediate past presidents of the chamber—Harold O. Hove, Howard Allen, Earl Faulkner, Willard Rees and Douglas Kramer.

Members of the election committee which counted the ballots are Wayne Wyatt, Joe Huckney, Mike Gray, Ken Mann and Don Jensen.

ARTHUR A. HART

Chamber ballots counted

In addition to the program, members will elect new board members and hold a brief business meeting.

Hart became state museum director in June, 1969, returning to Idaho after several years absence. For five years he served as chairman of the Division of Fine Arts, College of Idaho, Caldwell. He has lectured for 20 years on art and architectural history in colleges across the United States and traveled widely in Europe. In 1965 Hart led a group of 25 persons on a tour of Europe to inspect and study art.

Since returning to Idaho he has prepared a number of historic photographs of Idaho which he has worked into programs as well as record preserving documents. These include information on early Idaho transportation, Idaho's Indian population, Idaho architecture and specific ghost towns such as Silver City and Idaho City.

The public is invited to attend the Jan. 26 meeting and interested persons are invited to join the county society.

Second auction of plant Feb. 8

TWIN FALLS—Another attempt to dispose of the 15 acres of land and two buildings on the old city filter plant site south of Twin Falls will be made Feb. 8.

City council members Monday night set that date for a second public auction of the property. Sale will be held at 10 a.m. in the city hall auditorium with City Manager Jenn Miller as auctioneer. Bidding will start at the appraised value of the property, $23,500.

In the first auction, in December, seven persons attended but there were no bids offered. Since that time, Miller said, several adjacent property owners and others have indicated they are interested in buying the property.

City council members read the first time an ordinance to create Local Improvement District 85 to provide sewer services for a group of properties along South Locust Street near Rock Creek Canyon. The ordinance was placed on first reading following a public hearing in which there were no protests. Verle Lawrence appeared to withdraw an earlier protest and one resident whose property is outside of the proposed district attended to verify he would not be included.

In reading reports from commissions, council members asked why the 1971 agreement with Hughes Air West has not been signed covering landing fees and terminal building space lease. Paul Oslyn said he retailed he and other members of the council approved the fees several months ago and he thought the agreement was now in effect. He also asked why the city airport cafe is not being operated on the hourly schedule approved by the council and advised the operator has not yet signed the agreement, pending a review by his attorney.

Council members acted under suspension of the rules to adopt an ordinance allowing an off-street parking variance to property at West-Five Points.

A former gasoline station, the building is being remodeled into a paint store.

Action on the proposed formation of an irrigation district for city residents using ditch water was tabled pending time to obtain legal description of properties involved.

Action was also tabled on a proposed 1971 salary ordinance presented the council earlier for consideration prior to approval of the city budget for the current year. Council members said they wished to consider it further before acting.

One-way traffic in the alley of Block 72, running between Shoshone Street and Second Street East and behind the new Embers Teen Center was approved. City Manager Miller said the alley is only 15 feet wide and is creating a traffic problem for businesses in the area.

Benefits listed for Gray family

SHOSHONE—Social security benefits for the children of Melba Gray, who was murdered Nov. 13, will be about $30,000, according to a representative of the social security office at Twin Falls.

Ordinarily such benefits are not to be made public, the representative said, but in this case permission was secured by the office for publicity in view of the extreme circumstances connected with the case. The amount given was computed on present rate of payments on her earnings record.

Mrs. Gray left six children. The child of an insured worker, whether mother or father, can draw benefits to the age of 18, and to 22 if the child is a full-time, unmarried student. Benefits are also paid after the age of 18 if the child becomes disabled before reaching that age.

The receipt of trust funds, gifts, etc., does not affect the children's eligibility for benefits even though the children live with their father who is working. They would still be eligible for monthly payments.

The information was released in order to provide knowledge of social security benefits to the general public.

Locally, the fund for the children from cash gifts has reached $2,371.24, according to chamber of commerce president, Myron D. Johnson.

Burley man pleads guilty to charges

TWIN FALLS—Vernon Lee Holston, 33, Burley, who pleaded guilty in Twin Falls Magistrate Court Monday to a charge of resisting an officer, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and fined $200.

Holston, who was arrested Sunday night with Darrell J. Blevins, 29, also Burley, entered his plea before Judge Reed P. Maughan.

Blevins also appeared Monday before Judge Maughan and entered not-guilty pleas to four charges lodged against him after Capt. Kenneth Johnston of the Twin Falls Police Department was injured in a fight at a parking lot on Second Avenue East.

Three misdemeanors, disorderly conduct, malicious destruction of property, and being drunk in public, and a felony, resisting arrest by means of violence, have been lodged against Blevins.

Bond was set at $100 each on the misdemeanors and $1,000 on the felony charge. He was released on bond Monday afternoon.

Johnston remained hospitalized in good condition Tuesday morning with a broken jaw.

Stereo marking project pushed

TWIN FALLS—The Twin Falls Police department is continuing its campaign to mark automobile stereo units to decrease the chance of theft and increase the chance of recovery in case the stereos are stolen.

Capt. Tim Qualls, head of the department's detective division, said since the new marking program started several months ago there have been few thefts of stereos. The units were previously being stolen at a rate of several a week.

He said because many people received automobile stereos as Christmas gifts, the department is re-emphasizing the importance of the program for new stereo owners.

He said the stereos are marked with a number which will be catalogued to its owner.

Anyone wishing to have a stereo marked may take it to the detective division. The service is free, Qualls said.

Change Needed

There is a situation existing at the College of Southern Idaho involving veterans attending the Vo-Tech school...

We are told the situation involves the matter of certification of the veterans attending the Vo-Tech school...

The matter was brought to our attention by concerned Vo-Tech students.

The chief trouble maker, they claim, is an IBM attendance card, issued only to the Veterans attending the Vocational-Technical section of the college...

It is a case, they say, of Vo-Tech veterans being charged with absences when there was no school to be absent from.

For instance, school was dismissed Thanksgiving Thursday and the Friday following. Yet only Thursday was excused and Friday was counted as an absence...

five days during teacher institute in June. The total will then be 18 days.

The 47 Vo-Tech students at the school have 10 days to be absent for any excusable reason for the year. Their counterparts in the Academic section are, in effect, paid until they fall.

If this situation exists—and we have no reason to doubt that it doesn't exist—then it should be corrected. The military didn't give these veterans separate fox holes nor did the enemy label his bullets.

We have been informed members of the Idaho Congressional delegation have, in fact, been somewhat non-committal on this situation. We believe they should, instead, dig into the matter immediately.

The veteran has earned the right to educational finance under the law and it should be the same to all veterans. There should be no discrimination just because one wants to learn how to repair an automobile and another wants to teach English.

A veteran should not be charged with an absence when, in fact, there is no school open.

It looks to us like the IBM card could be discontinued and reports made in a regular manner which would assure both Vo-Tech and Academic veterans receiving the same financial treatment.

It should not be difficult to change if members of our Congressional delegation would get a move-on.

WASHINGTON — Unless the Supreme Court under Chief Justice Warren Burger has become afflicted with the same lunacy suffered by the Warren Court it will reject Cassius Clay's discriminatory appeal of his draft dodging conviction.

In this wild days, however, there is no guarantee the Court has turned constitutionally sensible. On a point that is completely lacking in relevancy, the Court has agreed to hear Clay's case in April.

Meanwhile, Clay — known to some, but not to me, as Muhammad Ali — will pick up a neat $2.5 million for fighting heavy-weight champion Joe Frazier March 6. It will be the biggest bonus ever paid a draft dodger.

The point on which Clay's appeal will be heard is so immaterial to his case one can only wonder whether the Court knows what it is doing.

Clay's hearing will be based on a landmark ruling by this same Court last spring that permitted young men to qualify as conscientious objectors for reasons other than purely religious reasons. The ruling held that moral and ethical scruples are enough if they are "deeply felt."

But in Welsh vs. the United States, the defendant expressed himself as opposed to all wars, against any country or people. Clay's own lawyers have argued that there is ample evidence that because of his Muslim beliefs Clay has a right to be selective. That is to say, he would fight only what he viewed as "holy wars," a stand that makes his position patently discriminatory.

The highest bench so far has left undecided whether opposition to a particular war is an adequate basis for exemption. But if it rules in Clay's favor, the lid will be pried off a pall of worms. In the future, a youth could qualify as a CO if he was opposed to fighting in wars against fascists or communists or yellow men or black men or white men or Free Silverites.

In short, as the Justice Department has argued, the exemption applies only to those who conclude it is wrong to kill a fellow human being in a war, not to youths who decide it is "morally" wrong, say, to kill a white man but okay to kill a black. In Clay's case, as his lawyers point out, he reserves the right to take part in wars fought over religious or racial issues.

Muslims long have fought these "holy wars," and still do. It is unnecessary to take sides to note that one of the reasons the Arabs are fighting the Jews in the Middle East is religious. Clay's position suggests that if his religious leaders ordered him to join the war against the Jews he would be morally and religiously obligated to do so. (The record indicates Clay would discover an out on this one, too, but let's not get into THAT.)

Years ago, Clay summed up his objections to the war with the quip, "I ain't got nothing against them Viet Chogs." Thereby, he left himself naked to the assumption that he would be agreeable to fighting against a people he found obnoxious or dangerous or, perhaps, non-black. At any rate, his position as expressed in the quip was not unique. Any poll would show that a majority of Americans now fighting in Vietnam had nothing personal against "them Viet Chogs" when they were drafted. A lot of Americans who had nothing personal against the Germans died fighting them because they represented an enemy of their country.

Yet I fear Clay will wind up home free. There are still too many Warrens on the Supreme Court, as last June's 5 to 3 decision revealed. In that case, the dissenters were Chief Justice Burger and Justices Byron R. White and Potter Stewart. The newest justice, Harry A. Blackmun did not take part in the decision, but indicated in later cases that he agreed with the dissenters.

Arithmetic, however, indicates that Clay will have an edge. Even if Blackmun joins Burger, White and Stewart, that side will have only four votes to five for the June majority, including Justices Hugo L. Black, William J. Brennan, Thurgood Marshall and John M. Harlan. Unless, of course, one or more of this majority is suddenly seized with an attack of common sense.

MR. SPECTATOR

He Could Use Help

When you read this a guy by the name of Gary Mortensen, a Twin Falls resident and an employe of the Times-News, will be enroute to Adelboden, Switzerland, where he will participate in the seventh annual winter games for the deaf — the winter Olympics ski events. Gary will be manager of the United States team which is to compete against like teams from 11 other nations of the world.

The Winter Games for The Deaf have the same objectives as the regular Winter Ski Olympics excepting this one is for deaf people only.

It is a high honor for Gary to have been selected for this participation. Gary was a competitive member of the team four years ago and competed in three alpine events — downhill, giant slalom and slalom. Today more than a dozen deaf people are members of the team which Gary will manage.

The group left New York City Sunday evening and will return to New York on Sunday, Feb. 7. Gary flew from Twin Falls to New York and will return that way.

But there is one thing he can use when he gets home — and that is money. Some of his expenses will be paid. He will have to pay much of his personal expense and Times-News staff members chipped in to help. But more can still be used. So if you have a dollar bill, stick it in an envelope and mail it to Mr. Spectator, care of the Times-News. On behalf of Gary we will send you a unique deaf ski team Olympic pin for your lapel or coat.

That's a promise. Help Gary and at the same time get an Olympic pin.

A TRUE BUM

Clint Wescott, at 54, can hardly be called a member of the flower generation. But he is a bum, anyway, and quite happy with his chosen lot in life. About the only thing which interrupts his peaceful haunt under a Los Angeles bridge is that lawyer from New York who keeps trying to make him take more than $20,000.

For three years the attorney has been trying to turn over the proceeds from a service station abandoned by Wescott when he decided to take to the road. And for three years he has been telling the lawyer, "I don't need the money, I'm getting along just fine."

Perhaps he's heard of the trouble people have with money.

CAMOUFLAGE

Dear Mr. Spectator: You did a wonderful job of finding a good ranch home for my St. Bernard dog. I know I had close to 50 calls for it. I was astounded to know so many people wanted a larger dog. Thanks a lot.

Now I have four lonely pups, weaned and paper trained. They are ready to go. The grandmother is a black Cocker Spaniel and the mother a pure black and lovely dog. Three favor a Labrador. Please tell the people they can see them at 221 South Washington St., or they can call 734-2066. Again, thanks — Mrs. A.S. Cederburg.

Elderly Cheated?

WASHINGTON — Is the Social Security Administration secretly refunding only 50 per cent of Medicare charges instead of the legally required 80 per cent?

That's the highly pertinent question Rep. Samuel Stratton, D-N.Y., has bluntly put up to HEW Secretary Elliott Richardson.

In a letter to the latter, Stratton states he had read a "startling report" that the Social Security Administration quietly ordered its regional offices to repay Medicare accounts, beginning July 1970, at 50 per cent of the total bill rather than 80 per cent.

"Such action would not only be contrary to the law," Stratton told Richardson in a letter, "but will obviously place very severe hardships on thousands of needy older citizens." I would appreciate your promptly advising me whether this information is true, and if so why this order was issued.

Particularly cited by Stratton is the apparent secrecy surrounding the matter. He noted there has been no official statement about it one way or the other.

"I would like to know who issued this order," wrote Stratton, "under what rules or regulations or legal authority it was issued, and in particular I would like to know whether a deliberate effort had been made by the Social Security Administration to keep this change of policy secret from the American public."

Also raised by Stratton is the question whether the reputed drastic cut in Medicare refunds is in any way connected with the already announced increase in Medicare premiums.

"I also want to know," Stratton told Secretary Richardson, "just what the significance of this action will be for the future operation of the Medicare system in view of the recent announcement that Medicare premiums will rise effective July 1971."

There has been no comment so far about this widely important matter from either Richardson or the Social Security Administration.

Stratton is a former mayor of Schenectady, N.Y., a twice-decorated Navy veteran, an honor graduate of Harvard and trustee of Eisenhower College, Seneca Falls, N.Y., and a ranking member of the powerful House Armed Services Committee.

Tries Harder

How about Russia's projected growth rate for this young year — 6.7 per cent? That's double the most optimistic guesstimates of what the United States will do.

Russia has not yet caught up with us but — Russia, number two, trying harder, aims to.

History says the fat nations are always outrun and frequently overcome by the lean, hungry ones.

"Maybe we'd better take a quick sobering glance over our own shoulders. Russia, running second, is gaining on us. Many in Russia has some good ideas. If she has, let's steal 'em. That's what Russia does with our good ideas."

Russia has swiped and adopted our incentive system and vastly increased factory output.

Russia, allowing autonomy to plant managers, has modified economic communism to incorporate our system of competition and this has produced more than half a million made-in-Russia new cars for the first time ever.

If that total is unimpressive alongside ours; their 1970 increase — compared to our decrease — should be sobering.

And in 1971, Russia anticipates production of motor vehicles surpassing a million.

In many ways, Russia is where we were 30 years ago, a hard-working, producing, self-centered national directing its energies and its resources to its own improvement.

Uncle Sam is trying to put a lot of adopted nephews through college.

Uncle Sam, playing fireman for the world, is spending $20 billion a year on the military. Russia will spend less than $2 billion next year on her military.

Granted, Russia does not include military in her D in that budget but neither do we include nonmilitary foreign aid in ours.

So Russia's military outlay is as modest as ours is top-heavy. The Soviet finance minister, presenting this budget to the Supreme Soviet, said that "the state budget of the U.S.S.R. is a budget of peaceful and cultural development."

He says industrial production will increase 6.9 per cent, national income will increase by 6.7 per cent. Russia expects all increased income to result from increased production. As we used to.

It's no workers' paradise in Soviet Russia where the average wage is $133 a month. You don't get fat on that.

But then, when they get fat it'll be somebody else's turn.

Unless, somehow, we could learn from history and not have to repeat it — over and over and over again.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Normal Uterus

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have just had my post-natal checkup after having our third child. The doctor told me that my womb, or uterus, did not go back into normal position.

Would you please discuss this? I am wondering about such things as: Will I be able to get pregnant and carry another child? Will this affect my menstrual periods? Does it have anything to do with one's figure? — S.C.

The uterus (obviously) has to become quite distended as the baby - to - be grows. Normally after delivery, the uterus gradually reduces in size — this is called involution.

Occasionally, this involution is incomplete — for various reasons. There may be retention of some of the after-birth, and it must be removed. Or the lining of the uterus may not reform completely. Or some other abnormality may be at fault.

I presume that your checkup was at the usual time, about six weeks after the birth. Depending on the exact symptoms, perhaps a little more time is required for the uterus to replace its former state. You should watch for abnormal bleeding, however, and in any event you should be checked again by your doctor in a little while.

As to your three specific questions, I would say no to all. Another pregnancy is not likely unless the uterus completes its involution; there should be no effect on your menstrual cycle; there should be no change in your figure because of this.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have an ingrown toenail that is very painful and giving off blood and pus. What causes this and is there any medicine that will help clear it up? — S.A.H.

The nail has been pressed into a position so it grows down into the flesh instead of outward as it should. Don't expect medicine to cure it. Go to a podiatrist, or to your doctor, and have it treated effectively. The pus means infection has set in, so get help right away.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have to take a laxative and an enema to get my bowels to move, and afterward my stomach gets slinky and sick. This is not natural, so what can be done about it? — Mrs. I.M.

Quit the enemas; use only mild laxatives, and then only when you have given other methods a fair trial. I suggest that you read my booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." Send 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy. Read it and try the methods I describe, because they work — and avoid the irritation which usually results from harsh laxatives and too many enemas.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our daughter, 15, decided over a year ago to give up eating meat. She has quietly and steadfastly stuck to this, so it is not a passing fancy. She has quietly and steadfastly stuck to this, so it is not a passing fancy.

She eats some cheese, eggs, and fish as protein replacement. Do you have a booklet on a daily healthful diet for a teen-ager who has chosen to give up meat? — Mrs. S.L.

While I prefer to get a good share of my protein from meat, I don't insist on it for everybody else. You daughter evidently knows the other principal protein sources, and if she has at least a couple of good servings of cheese, nuts, eggs or fish, and legumes (beans) every day, she should get sufficient protein. In view of that, I don't think I'd worry about her.

Budget contains tax hike

BOISE (UPI) — House Majority Leader Terry Crapo, R-Idaho Falls, told the House Monday that Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' proposed budget includes tax increases of some $2.95 million for the forthcoming fiscal year.

In addition, Crapo said in a floor speech, the governor's proposals are laying the groundwork for substantial tax increases in 1972.

Reviewing the governor's budget on a new specific while promising a more complete analysis from the GOP majority in the legislature at a later date, Crapo also criticized the governor's proposal for funding kindergartens.

He said the administration "proposes to fund the kindergarten proposal at the direct expense of elementary and secondary education."

"Educators and those interested in education would do well to carefully examine the implications of this administration's proposals on local education," Crapo said.

In his analysis of the governor's program, he noted the administration proposes disallowing the capital gains deduction to corporations. He said this will result in a tax increase of $454,000 to all Idaho farmers and businessmen doing business in corporate form, both large and small.

Crapo said the administration proposal to limit funds for compensating local governments for the inventory-tax phase-out to 15 per cent of sales taxes instead of 20 per cent will deny local government $2.5 million.

"This is money, he said, the local units have included in their existing budgets and programs.

"I am sure that we are all aware that these monies will have to be replaced and replaced by local property taxes," Crapo said.

"The administration's proposal is therefore a proposal to increase local property taxes across the state by some $2.5 million.

"We can thus see that the cold, hard facts of the matter indicate that this administration intends to increase taxes some $2.95 million this year alone," Crapo said.

Crapo contended that in proposing a $128 million budget with only $114 in unanticipated revenues the governor must make up the remainder on a "patch and scratch" basis.

"It does not take a great deal of perception to see that if we raise our level of spending to $128 million for 1971 based on $9 to $12 million of funds that will not be available in 1972 we will be placing ourselves in a position where a substantial tax increase will be required to fund existing operations. In 1972," Crapo said.

House Minority Leader Edward V. Williams, D-Lewiston, responded that he was amazed the GOP leadership in "this time of economic hardship" would tell the people the governor has not protected the taxpayers.

He said he also found it "amazing" that Crapo had a "short and convenient memory" that overlooks that one year ago the legislature took away the local inheritance tax and replaced it with nothing and that just a few short years ago "patch and scratch" was a way of life in state taxation.

Panel eyes funding all education

BOISE (UPI) — Chairman Allen F. Larsen, R-Blackfoot, Monday selected a four-member subcommittee to study the possibility of funding all public education from the state level.

In naming the subcommittee to be headed by Rep. John Edwards, R-Council, Larsen noted that the "central problem of equalization of taxation in the state of Idaho hinges around education."

"Until we solve that problem," Larsen said, "we can't solve the equalization problem."

He said "everybody feels strongly that students of this state should have equal opportunity" for an education. But he said the legislature cannot act intelligently toward assuring this until it knows where the dollars go.

Therefore, he named the subcommittee which also is to be composed of Reps. Angus Concio, R-Preston, Vernon Ravenscroft, D-Tuttle, and Robert Haakenson, D-Coeur d'Alene. He charged the four men with obtaining all the facts and figures concerning financing education from the state level and particularly the cost of the basic classroom unit.

"All this is done with a view to reducing property taxes," Larsen said.

Rep. Harold Reid, D-Craigmont, asked how far the committee is supposed to go, saying he understood the education committee anticipates only minor changes in the school fund distribution formula this year.

Larsen said if the subcommittee can bring in enough facts and figures before the end of this session he will consider talking to the education committee chairman with an eye toward revising the formula.

"Right now we hear a lot of talk," Larsen said, "We don't see the dollars. We don't see the facts."

He said, for instance, he has heard that if schools are funded on a basis of numbers only "you'll hurt the rural students."

"I want to know if that's a fact," Larsen said.

"Until we answer this one central problem I think we're beating around the bush," Larsen said.

Ravenscroft noted that the premise behind the education committee's reluctance to make major changes in the formula this year is the shortage of funds at the state level.

He said when a formula is changed without extra money to sweeten the pot "you take something away from someone and give it to somebody else and you breed civil war."

"We need to think in terms of programs and then go to state funding," he said.

Rep. William Onweiler, R-Boise, said he was in "wholehearted agreement" with the study and called it "the most forward step this committee has taken since I've been here."

Demos ask partnership

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil Andrus requested Monday that all heads of departments, boards, commissions and other state agencies not to submit requests for promotions which might result in a higher pay grade.

Committee eyes solon pay scale

BOISE (UPI) — House Democrats decided in caucus Monday to pick a special committee to meet with the Republicans on legislative compensation and problems created by the initiative approved by the people.

"We plan to try to work out something jointly that'll be satisfactory for both parties and the public," caucus chairman Karl Koch, D-Hammilt said after a two hour, 15-minute caucus.

The initiative eliminated the lawmakers' $200 per month office allowance, cut back their committee expenses to $25 per day from $35 and set limits of 60 days on the first regular session and 30 on the second for each legislature.

Koch said he personally feels the time limitations are "hamstringing" the legislature. He said the committee will look into possibly lifting these in addition to seeking constitutional and other solutions to the compensation problem.

He said the Democrats also discussed a state law requiring legislators to name between three and seven persons as possible successors in event of atomic attack or some other emergency or disaster and also talked about changes needed in rules and joint rules.

Yarborough proposes agreement

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Walter Yarborough, R-Grandview, Republican caucus chairman, said Monday the GOP leadership hoped "to get the Senate leadership to more or less agree on certain things" before a final budget is worked out.

Yarborough said the Republicans felt it would be "nice if we know what everybody agrees to and then we could bring the budget in at this point."

The caucus was the first since Gov. Cecil D. Andrus delivered his executive budget Friday, May 1, 1971.

He asked that vacancies in state agencies be filled with former employees on layoff lists in comparable classifications wherever possible.

When a position identification and control system has been established for a state agency, the executive order with respect to personnel expense will no longer be in effect for that agency.

The governor said exemptions to the order were the positions in the legislative branch of government, positions in the judicial branch, and positions in the offices of elected state officials.

Andrus said it was his intention to grant salary increases later, but the money for raises must come from efficient administration of state departments.

Andrus cuts promotions

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate minority leadership said Monday during the first session of the 41st legislature would be to forge a "partnership" with the majority to successfully carry out the new administration's programs.

The statement, signed by Senate Minority Leader John Evans, D-Malad, Assistant Minority Leader John Mix, D-Moscow, and Caucus Chairman William Crutcher, D-Orofino, said the task "does not mean that traditional areas of difference will be erased, but only that the minority leadership endeavors to maintain a relationship with the 'loyal opposition' to produce progressive, necessary legislation."

The statement described Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' budget message delivered Friday as an "imaginative approach to the state's fiscal problems."

"Through some expert sleuthing, the governor's budget people have provided innovative information, such as how much it will take to simply maintain the level of service in existing programs."

To make up the difference between the estimated $113 million in revenue for fiscal year 1972 and the budget of $128 million, the statement said, Andrus "took several bold steps," including the monthly reporting of income tax, the transfer of $2 million from the permanent building fund, and the retention of the remaining five per cent of the inventory tax phase-out sales tax receipts.

Erosion studied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Len Jordan, R-Idaho, said Monday the Corps of Engineers and the U.S. Forest Service will coordinate studies on the St. Joe River to identify the location and extent of erosion damage and determine what measures should be taken.

Jordan said citizens in north Idaho have become concerned that certain uses of the river cause changes in the river, lakes and lands through which it flows.

Col. Harold Sargent of the Seattle District Corps of Engineers wrote, in reply to Jordan's inquiry, that the Spokane River basin is under study to determine whether improvements for flood control and other purposes along the Spokane River and its tributaries are advisable at this time.

Agency audit ordered

BOISE (UPI) — Acting Director of Administrative Services Robert Lenaghan said Monday he has ordered an audit of the books of the department of communications and its subsidiary, the central mail system.

Lenaghan said he had asked State Auditor Joe Williams to conduct the audit.

He said he discovered late Friday billings totaling approximately $129,000 from Mountain States Bell Telephone for service dating back to July, 1970.

He said the matter is being investigated and added he will meet with telephone company officials to discuss the state of Idaho's billing for July through December of 1970.

Mudslide detains legislator

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. William Crutcher, D-Orofino, was listed "absent and excused" Monday morning after he was caught in a mud slide on U.S. 95 between Cambridge and Weiser.

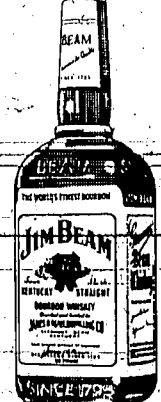

Crutcher said he was halted by the slide about 9:15 p.m. Sunday night and was unable to continue to Boise until 4 a.m. Monday.

He said snow depths ranged from four feet on the lower edge of the highway to about eight feet on the upper edge. He said the slide blocked an area 200 to 250 feet long on the roadway.

Crutcher said Kenneth Seid, a logging contractor with equipment in Midvale, was authorized by state police to begin moving the snows and mud out of the road. Seid worked three or four hours to clear a one-way path, according to Crutcher.

Calley like 'robot'

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—A psychiatrist testified Monday that during the alleged My Lai massacre Lt. William L. Calley Jr. "was like an automaton, a robot" who was unable to challenge the legality of an order to kill everything in the hamlet.

Nineteen witnesses for the defense in the Calley murder court-martial have testified that in a briefing the night before the March 16, 1968, American sweep of My Lai, Capt. Ernest I. Medina, commander of the company in which Calley led a platoon, gave such an order.

The psychiatrist, Dr. Albert A. La Verne of New York, was called by the defense in a hearing with the jury absent to determine whether it would be allowed to give the jury psychiatric testimony showing that combat stress reduced Calley's mental responsibility for malicious intent.

Calley is charged with premeditated murder of 102 Vietnamese civilians during the sweep.

The doctor said Medina was an authoritarian person for whom Calley had an overwhelming admiration.

La Verne said that Calley was "perfectly sane" during the My Lai operation and "very aware of right and wrong." The doctor said that he had examined Calley three times and had given him numerous tests.

"He could not challenge the legality or illegality of the order that had been given him by Medina," La Verne said. "He was compelled in a manner to carry out the order without challenging the order itself."

"Did he have the ability to disobey at that time?" asked Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel III, the chief prosecutor.

"No, he could not disobey," the witness replied. "As long as that order was there, he obeyed it."

"When the order came through from Capt. Medina that the party over that's enough shooting," Lt. Calley stopped. "He was like an automaton, a robot. He could not weigh the component parts of the decision."

La Verne said from his examination of Calley he had determined the lieutenant "had a compulsion to carry out his duty as an officer" but that he "does not have the characteristics or tastes for premeditated murder—he does not have a propensity for premeditated murder."

Ecuador Mediators grab 4 hope for peace talk tunaboats

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Four American tunaboats were seized Monday by Ecuador, bringing to eight, the number seized within the past week, the American Tunabout Association said.

The vessels were picked up by a former United States destroyer and several patrol boats while former United States warplanes flew overhead, Ed Silva, vice president of the association, said.

Seized Monday were the San Diego-based Antonina C and Ocean Queen and the Puerto Rico-based Cape Coral and Captain Vincent Gann. None was fired on, according to Silva.

The world's largest tunabout, the Apollo, was seized Sunday and was expected to be released after paying a fine estimated in excess of $100,000. The Anna-Marie and Bold Venture were seized Friday and released Sunday after paying fines of $52,000 and $40,000, respectively Silva said.

Inflation most since Korean war

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Inflation pushed up prices faster in 1970 than in any year since the Korean War, the government reported Monday.

The Commerce Department also said the Gross National Product (GNP), a measure of the value of the nation's total output of goods and services, registered the first decline — based on the power of the 1957 dollar — since 1958.

The 1970 GNP totaled $97.6 billion, well below the $98.5 billion President Nixon had predicted for the year.

A $4.5 billion increase in the GNP over 1969 was due entirely to inflation which pushed up prices by about 5 per cent, the sharpest rise since 1951.

Expressed in terms of the purchasing power of the dollar in 1957, to eliminate the effect of price changes, they showed a decline of 0.4 per cent in total output, the first since a recession 13 years ago.

As a result, last year there was less to buy than in 1969, but it was far more expensive.

At the White House, in a move related to getting the economy on an even keel, President Nixon called in the leaders of the construction industry and asked them to report in 30 days ways of halting the wage-price spiral in the building industry.

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson said Nixon termed the situation in the construction industry "very critical."

Nixon told the group of suggestions that he repeal the Davis-Bacon Act, which requires builders of governmental projects to pay union wages. Nixon said he was not prepared to do this.

The Nixon administration also moved on another front to limit price increases. The Cabinet Committee on Economic Policy, headed by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, discussed recent increases in the steel industry.

Bethlehem Steel Co. Monday rolled back to about 8 per cent the 12.5 per cent price increase it announced last week. White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that regardless of that, the White House still was not very happy with the situation.

Senators begin rules reform bid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two first-term Senators began an assault Monday against the seniority rule, which exclusively rewards veterans with powerful committee chairmanships and the bulk of Senate patronage jobs.

Sens. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., and Charles McMathias, R-Md., said their first aim would be to get separate Senate votes on each committee chairmanship and ranking minority member nominated by the party caucuses.

Under present practice, the Senate routinely accepts the recommendations of the caucuses, and the caucuses routinely nominate as chairmen the member with the longest continuous service.

Both Harris and Mathias denied their move was aimed at any individual committee chairman — only at the system which excludes all but those members with the longest service from the Senate power structure.

Reforming the seniority system will be the second major rules fight looming when the Senate returns to work Thursday. The first will be a change in the filibuster rule to make it easier to vote cloture — a parliamentary device to cut off debate and get an issue to a vote.

Chances of reforming either the filibuster rule or the seniority system appeared dim. But the senate got such a bad reputation in the closing days of the last Congress because of its inability to do its work — as a result of its rules — that at least a public effort at reform was deemed necessary.

"I feel that the seniority system as it currently exists in the Senate is dangerously close to creating a crisis of confidence. Refinement or elimination of the seniority system is a prerequisite for the intelligent innovations and orderly change that the legislative branch requires in order to continue to maintain its responsibility to the people," Mathias said at a hearing on proposed rule changes.

Harris said that in addition to the seniority and filibuster reforms, he also would propose a special committee to recommend qualifications for future membership in the Senate Democratic caucus. He said this was necessary because of the questions raised by the re-election of Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia as an independent and of John Stennis as the nominee of a Mississippi Democratic party not recognized by the Democratic National Convention.

All the reforms were backed by John W. Gardner, Chairman of Common Cause, and by Whitney M. Young, Jr., Executive Director of the National Urban League.

Muskie no longer favors 'bug-out'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Reversing a four-nation over-seas tour, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said Monday he no longer favored the unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops from Europe.

"I am having second thoughts now," Muskie said. "My view has been changed somewhat because of this trip."

In the past, Muskie had strongly supported a resolution, introduced by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, calling for the reduction of a substantial number of American military forces from Western Europe.

But, reporting on his 11-day, 17,769-mile trip to West Germany, Russia, Israel, and Egypt, Muskie told a news conference he was now leaning toward a mutual reduction of troops.

Muskie said his new position derived from a number of issues which are raised in the development stage, including West Germany's new Eastern European policy, a possible European Security Conference, and the Berlin talks which he said could lead to a balanced mutual force reduction in Europe.

At a 55-minute news conference, Muskie, the acknowledged front-runner for the Democratic presidential nomination, refused to be drawn into political discussions and protected the gist of his discussions with world leaders overseas.

Muskie said he traveled on no mission nor as an intermediary and called the journey a "useful and stimulating" experience.

In a four-hour conference with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin, Muskie said he

The bride, given in marriage by her father was attired in a floor-length gown of white velvet, fashioned with velvet lace edged long sleeves and a rounded neckline. Her chapel-train edged in white velvet lace was caught at the waistline by a self-covered bow. Her elbow-length veil of illusion was held in place by a headpiece trimmed in white velvet lace and she carried a cascading bouquet of pink and red carnations and red roses.

Fourth island added to "Magic of Hawaii" tour

By NORMA HERZINGER Women's Editor
TWIN FALLS — Because of the tremendous response to the forthcoming Times-News "Magic of Hawaii" tour, arrangements have been made for the group of Idahoans to visit four islands instead of three.

The island of Maui has been added along with the others, Kauai, Oahu and Hawaii.

The island of Maui is actually two islands joined together by a peninsula, where modern suburbs adjoin broad fields of sugar cane. Maui's eastern half is a massive volcanic peak, 10,000-foot Haleakala, legendary home of Hawaii's Sun God. Haleakala National Park embraces the vast, long-dormant summit - crater, 20 miles in circumference and 2,000 feet from rim to crater floor. At Maui's eastern tip is the lushly beautiful resort district of Haunani and West Maui's attractions include Lap Valley and its famed "Needle," the historic whaling town of Lahaina, rich in legends of royalty and roasting.

The group of travelers will be leaving Twin Falls at 7 a.m. Feb. 15 and return Feb. 25. We will be traveling from Los Angeles to Hawaii via Pan American's famous 747.

Some lucky couple is going to win the trip to Hawaii by entering the Times-News tour contest. Since not everyone can win, the lucky couple will be joining the many others on the tour at a get-acquainted social Feb. 8.

Mrs. Marge Lake, Twin Falls, will be host for the event and Joe Sallsbury and associates from Magic Carpet Travel will be on hand to answer any questions concerning the tour and make final plans for departure day.

A splendid group has signed for the tour and space at this time is very limited. Reservations must be made immediately. The cost is $345 per person (sharing double rooms) and includes jet fare from and to Twin Falls and includes transfers, lodging and sight-seeing.

Further information concerning the tour can be obtained by contacting Magic Carpet Travelers, 733-1668, or Norma Herzinger, tour host, 733-0931.

Our visit to Maui commences with a visit to Kula on the slopes of Mt. Haleakala for a fine view of the island and the West Maui Mountains. We will then proceed to Lao Valley, via Wailuku, to see the "Needle," then continue over Maui's "Anahulu Drive" to Kanaoia for a luncheon stop at the Sheraton-Maui Hotel. In the afternoon, we will go to Lahaina, aboard the Lahaina-Kaanapali and Pacific Railroad train, a fun-filled trip. Here we will visit the Old Bladwin Home, the Carthaginian, a floating museum, an old prison and other interesting spots. From there we will return to the airport to board an afternoon flight to Kona on the island of Hawaii.

Angus sale slated

FILER — The Idaho Angus bull sale in Filer will be held Feb. 13 and there will be 90 top bulls going through the sale ring, states Louie Dobaran, Boise, president of the Idaho Angus Association.

Grading of the bulls will take place on Feb. 12, beginning at 10 a.m. on the fairgrounds. Graders will be Harris Morris, Divide, Mont.; Dick Noh, Rogerson, and Carl Houtberg, Hammett.

Members of the sale committee include Richard Carrier, Hansen, chairman; Sam Thornton, Eden; Ralph Baughman, Buhl; Harold Honstead, and John Feldhusen, both Khamberly.

The auxiliary will auction off during the sale a Black Angus heifer, "Miss Ida V." to secure funds for projects the auxiliary sponsors. The heifer has been donated by Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Morley, Engle.

Land sale law to expire September

BOISE — A law enacted three years ago which authorized the Bureau of Land Management to sell small tracts of land under special conditions will expire in September, according to William L. Mathews, state director of the BLM.

Owners of adjoining land will have a preference right to purchase the land if they meet the highest bid, Mathews said. Preference right purchasers will not be required to pay for improvements they have made on the land.

Further information can be obtained by contacting BLM district offices in Boise, Burley, Idaho Falls, Salmon, Shoshone and Coeur d'Alene or the BLM land office in Boise.

Mathews said the law applies to public tracts of agricultural land not exceeding 120 acres where unintentional trespass took place prior to the legislation passed in September, 1968.

In some cases adjoining landowners cultivated this land, unaware of their trespass. Mathews encouraged landowners who may have the opportunity to gain title to such adjoining tracts to make application prior to expiration of the law which was effective for three years.

Land applying for sale must be required for public purpose, and must have been either cultivated or be suitable for cultivation, but insufficient in acreage to qualify for homestead or desert entry. Lands applied for may be sold at public auction for not less than the appraised value.

Prospects poor on milk support hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dairy farmers would like a raise in the government's support prices for milk this year, but prospects of getting it are currently poor, industry sources conceded today.

Milk industry leaders, who have discussed the subject with Agriculture Department officials recently have come away with a strong impression the administration plans no change in support prices for the next dairy marketing year. Indications are supports for the new season, which begins April 1, will be held at the $4.66 per hundred weight (100 lb.) manufacturing-grade milk level set for the current 1969-70 season sources said.

How much heat dairymen may turn on in an effort to change the administration's mind on this issue remains an open question. The National Milk Producers Federation is on record with a request that supports be boosted to about $5.25 per hundredweight, or 90 percent of parity. But if actual market prices this spring remain above support levels as they are now, the federation push might lose steam.

Forester named to task force

MOSCOW (UPI) — Vernon Burdison, University of Idaho Extension forester, has been appointed to the national task force on "trees for people."

The task force was formed over a year ago by President Nixon. Burdison, in commenting on his appointment, said "The task force has the responsibility of investigating small woodland management practices and recommending means needed to increase production. He said there are more than 300 million acres of small, private woodlands constituting nearly 60 percent of the nation's commercial forest acres and involving four million owners.

Sale of 120 acres planned

BUHL — A tract of 120 acres in Twin Falls County about six and a half miles west and five miles north of Buhl will be sold at auction at 2 p. m. Jan. 27 in Boise.

The sale will be under the provision of the Public Land Sale Act of 1964. Sales under this act do not provide the preference rights to adjoining land holders, according to the Bureau of Land Management. The land has been zoned for agricultural use under the Twin Falls County zoning ordinance and has been appraised at $7,800 market value.

Further information on the sale can be obtained from the land office manager of the Bureau of Land Management, Room 380, 550 West Fort St., Boise.

A chemical called 2,3 DPG builds up in the hemoglobin of red blood cells under conditions which lower the amount of oxygen in the tissues.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Advances were leading declines by about 150 issues after more than three hours of trading on the New York Stock Exchange Tuesday. Turnover was heavy.

Although profit taking cropped in a number of major stock groups, a generally favorable news background helped sustain demand for stocks.

The Federal Reserve Board late Monday altered its discount rate—the interest it charges for loans to commercial banks—to 5 percent from 5 1/2 percent, the fourth quarter-point cut in a little more than 10 weeks. The reduction came a few hours after many of the nation's banks trimmed the prime interest rate of a quarter-point to 6 percent.

The prime rate is that charged a bank's most credit-worthy customers. Other lending rates are scaled upward from the prime rate.

In addition, the Commerce Department said private housing starts rose in December to the highest level since 1950.

On the big board, building material stocks traded in narrowly irregular fashion.

Chrysler Corp., the day's most active issue, picked up 1/2 on 112.00 shares. Chrysler and the United Auto Workers reached tentative agreement before a strike deadline Tuesday on parts of a new three-year contract covering workers in the United States and Canada.

Burroughs gained more than 3 following a bright earnings statement. American Telephone and IBM tacked on fractions.

Yesterday we showed an example of what used to be known as the sucker overcall. South had 15 high-card points including two aces and king. He overcalled an opening bid with two diamonds because his hand was clearly worth an opening bid. The diamond suit was only a four-carder and West with five diamonds was unkind enough to double. Poor South had nowhere to go but down and he wound up giving his opponents 1,100 tricks above the line.

Furthermore, the chances are that if South had just passed, East and West would have wound up going down at some contract, so that the actual loss was more than 1,100. Today's hand shows a good overcall. South is not vulnerable and doesn't have anything that looks like an opening bid, but he is sure of at least five tricks with diamonds as trump, so he bids two diamonds over East's spade opening. West bids two spades and at this point North gets into the act by jumping right to five diamonds. This gives East a tough problem. He wants to bid five spades but is not sure of making it. He is pretty sure that he will eat five diamonds, so doubles to get the sure profit. He doesn't quite get it. With proper defense, South has to lose three tricks and is down one, but his 100 honors make up for the 100-point penalty. Of course, East could have bid five spades and would have no trouble making it since he would be able to draw trumps and discard one losing heart on his partner's fifth club, but there is no guarantee that South wouldn't go to six diamonds and get out for a small loss instead of giving up game and rubber.

A WIFE WHO doesn't get out of the house to work for wages ought to make at least two phone calls daily, one in the morning, one in the afternoon, each at least 10 minutes in length. So contends an authority on mental health. Such calls, he says, uplift, like catnaps and coffee breaks. Interesting. Imagine a wife on a party line need not talk all that much, provided she listens in awhile. Anyhow, the foregoing jibes with our Love and War man's Profound Conviction No. 14C, namely that loneliness stirs up more misery than anything. And the ailment ought not be left untreated, that's clear.

THAT WOMEN when together talk raptly about men is an erroneous theory. What they actually talk mostly about is their health. Or so says a beauty parlor operator of 23 years' experience. . . . IF YOU'VE GOT any old Superman comic books in the attic, better treat them respectfully. Note the collectors' recently bid up to $100 for a 1939 edition. . . . YOU KNOW HOW a line of dialogue sticks in your head sometimes? This one has been stuck in mine for days: "It's not that the majority is silent, it's just that the Government is deaf."

MRS. LAPP of Lansing, Ill., says she plans to name her next son Burr. Is she serious? Can't say, but she did give her daughter, who was born at sunrise in a car while crossing a bridge, the name Dawn Bridgett. . . . "THERE HAVE BEEN three cases of suicide in my Corps," wrote a German general in an official order to his men during World War II. "I strongly call your attention to the fact that the suicide of members of the German army in time of war is desertion."

AM ASKED WHICH came first, the song "Chiquita Banana" or the trade name. The song was it. One afternoon just 27 years ago, Len Mackenzie and Garth Montgomery knocked out that ditty for the United Fruit Company. The trademark sprang therefrom. . . . What a promotion piece! Why don't the apple growers come up with something like that? How about: An apple for breakfast, that will do. . . . Don't want anymore of the pot or the glue. . . . An apple for lunch is sufficient. . . . Don't need anymore of the pills for the pep. No, it lacks something.

Try again. Tired of "Cool" and tired of "Neat"! . . . Tired of six to the pad where I eat. . . . Tired of psychedelic lips. . . . Of seaweed girls with sand guitars. . . . Of dippy hips and rancid hair. . . . Abandoned denim underwear. . . . Of festival sex in the trips by the moon. . . . I'm tired, man, tired of the old commune! . . . Now we're rolling.

All right, wind it up: Don't want any liquor, just can't take it. . . . Mom and Money, they still make it. . . . Don't need a downer, evenner, upper. . . . Just give me a natural apple for dinner. . . . That last line didn't come out quite right. Will work on it.

Change in tennis rules set

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Herman David, the boss of Wimbledon announced Monday that the shrine of tennis will make its first change in scoring in 90 years for the 1971 championships—but David insists that it is being done for the spectators' sake, not for television.

Georgia downs Auburn

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — The Georgia Bulldogs held off a late surge by Auburn Monday night for a 77-76 victory, their first Southeastern Conference win of the season.

The championships this summer will use the 12-point tie break system in all matches because, David admits, there has been increasing resistance to long matches by the fans. He protests that television's desire for short matches to fit the tube time formulae is not a factor.

The Bulldogs led all the way, but almost blew a 10-point lead in the final three and a half minutes as Jim Retschek led a strong Auburn comeback that fell one point short.

At Forest Hills, in the U.S. Open of 1970, nine-point sudden death was employed. The difference in the two systems is marked:

Gino Gianfrancesco was the top scorer for Georgia with 16 points while teammate Caution Westbrook added 16 and Ronnie Hogue had 15.

In 12-point, as it will be at Wimbledon, when set reaches 6-4, the players serve alternately for two consecutive points until one player gains seven points. Should the players reach 6-11 in points, they then serve alternately for one point; until one player gains a two point margin.

Retschek, who fouled out in the final minute of play, was the leader for Auburn with 25 points. Henry Harris had 20 and Steve Mangell 11 for the Tigers. Georgia, 1-5 in the SEC and 2-10 overall, won the game on the free throw line by hitting 23 of 35 tosses to 22 of 31 for Auburn. Each team had 27 field goals. Auburn is 3-4 in the league and 6-7 over it.

In the 9-point system used in America, it was possible for the players to arrive at 4-11 in points and in such cases the next point would be set or match point for both men.

Costly floor mistakes and Otto Petty's slick ball handling proved to be too much for a tough Stetson defense Monday night as Florida State handed the Hatters their second straight loss, 78-71.

In New York, Billy Talbert, who directed the Forest Hills event, said he felt Wimbledon's move "was a step in the right direction" but that he believed the nine-point method proved of more excitement and drama for the fans. Talbert said he did not know which system would be employed in the U.S. event this year, since he must await a ruling from the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

Stetson played favored ESU on even terms well into the second half, but the Seminoles' patience and 35 Hatter turnovers took their toll.

Petty, a 5-7 sophomore, displayed his ball-handling prowess with 10 assists to run his season mark to 157—two more than the previous FSU season record for assists.

Sophomore Ron King led the Seminoles scorers with 21 points, but top scoring honors for the game went to the losers' Ron Deal, who had 22.

Davis then made six of Duquesne's final eight points including four straight foul shots in 1-1, alternating.

Idaho beats Montana for 3rd Big Sky win

MOSCOW, Idaho, (UPI) — The Idaho Vandals won their third Big Sky Conference victory with an impressive, 82-80 win over Montana's Grizzlies in Moscow Monday night.

Playing a controlled board game and fast-breaking in the first half, Adrian Prince and Marvin Williams scored 18 points between them as the Vandals slowly worked their way to a 35-28 halftime edge.

at the six-minute mark. However, the Vandals took the game over, and blanketed the visitors through a four-minute interval as the visitors' reserves finished the game.

Tight defensive work by Williams and Prince forced the Grizzlies into poor shooting position as they hit only 12 field goals in the first half.

John Nelson, who had eight rebounds and 15 points, also joined Tim Cummings with eight assists each as Idaho controlled the boards and slowed down the play to work for easy lay-in shots through the last half of the period.

Idaho hit a spectacular 57 per cent from the field on 36 of 63 field goal attempts while the Grizzlies could only get 23 of 68 and 34 per cent.

The Vandals then put on the pressure in the first portion of the final stanza as Malcolm Taylor, the game's leading scorer with 21 points, hit three jumpers in a row. Williams, on three driving lay-ins, pulled Idaho out in front, 62-41, with nine minutes left.

Lonzo Lewis, who had 13 points, and Don Wetzel, 11, for the Grizzlies, tried to pull Montana within striking distance.

Idaho will now be idle until Jan. 30 when they meet Washington State at Pullman in a non-conference game.

Colorado drops Oklahoma State

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) — Jim Creighton scored 18 points, including a foul shot in the final two seconds, to lead the Colorado Buffs to a 62-59 Big Eight basketball victory over the Oklahoma State Cowboys Monday night.

However, Creighton's foul shot with two seconds on the clock put the game out of reach.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Mario Andretti, three-time U.S. champion and 1969 Indianapolis 500 winner, will be the STP racing team's No. 1 driver for the third straight year, it was announced Monday.

Oklahoma State had a 2-point lead at halftime, but the Cowboys fell to a 7-point deficit at 42-35.

Creighton and Poke center Paul Milton led the scoring with 18 points each. Colorado's Cliff Meely contributed 15 points despite being in foul trouble most of the night.

Andy Granatelli, president of STP Corp., said Andretti will drive in every U.S. Auto Club national championship race for STP and in some dirt and road course races.

A pair of free throws by Tony Kraus brought OSU within two points, 61-59, with 14 seconds left.

Two other players were in double figures. Kraus scored 11 points, and Colorado's Dudley Mitchell had 10.

Granatelli said Andretti will have his choice of two new racing cars built for STP by McNamara Cars Ltd. in Germany.

Buffalo weathered Maravich's 24-point first half and rallied from a nine-point deficit to take a one-point lead at 88-87 late in the third stanza.

Silas, the former Creighton University star back in Omaha, hauled down 27 rebounds, 18 of them in the first half, as he bettered the Phoenix record of 24 set by George Wilson in 1968.

Granatelli said the new STP-McNamara machine will be replaced in August with an updated machine to be driven at the California 500 in Ontario, Calif., by Andretti.

After Jim Davis' free throw tied it at 88-88, Jerry Chambers' 20-foot jump shot at the United-period buzzer put Atlanta ahead, 90-88, and the Braves never regained the lead.

Maravich made 13 of 25 field goal tries and 15 of 19 fouls to top his previous NBA high by one point. Walt Hazzard scored 31 and Hudson 22 for the Hawks.

Gordie Howe heads cast for NHL's all-star game

BOSTON (UPI) — A cast of players ranging from 42-year-old superstar Gordie Howe down to 20-year-old rookie Gil Perreault were ready for the National Hockey League's 24th annual All-Star game tonight despite a series of last minute injuries.

Howe, who played in his first All-Star game before several of the current selections were even born, flew in for tonight's Boston Garden game between the East and West Division standouts after earlier announcing he would not attend.

DEAR ABBY: I know I must have many sympathizers on this one. I need some up-to-date advice on how to look feminine and glamorous at the office without letting men think I am on the make.

IT dress attractively, in bright colors or in the latest styles, all the old creeps (never the nice eligible men) make passes at me. If I dress to repel the old creeps, I creep further into old-maidhood. I am 30. Can you help me?
CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: "Nice, eligible men" never make passes at anyone. A guide to appropriate office attire would include a long list of don'ts:

Don't strive for "glamor" in the office. Femininity, yes. Glamor, no! Don't wear skirts too short. Or low necklines. Don't wear anything skin tight. See-thru blouses are a "no no." Leave the junk jewelry at home. Don't wear cocktail-type attire to work. Pants are fine if your office permits them; but only if they are well-tailored and have a matching jacket. "Looning pajamas," jump-suits or jeans with any old top are inappropriate.

If you follow the above suggestions, and the old creeps still make passes at you, better check the look in your eye.

DEAR ABBY: I think you were way off base in your attitude about the teen-aged girl who was "hurt" because her creative writing teacher began snubbing her after she wrote a love poem to him.

No one knows how many excellent teachers have had their professional careers ruined because they didn't clamp down some starry-eyed teen-aged girl before her situation got out of control.

It's too bad that girls such as your correspondent have to be hurt once in a while, but her teacher probably snubbed her in self-defense.
MARVIN J.

DEAR MARVIN: You could be right.

DEAR ABBY: I still carry my first wife's picture in my billfold even though there is absolutely nothing left between us.

This seems to be quite an issue with my second wife to whom I've been married for one year. My second wife gave me a picture of herself, but when I put it in with the "other" picture, she took it back.

I assured her that she has no reason to feel hurt as I couldn't care less for my first wife, but that doesn't seem to satisfy her. She refuses to give me her picture as long as I carry the other one. Now it's become a matter of principle with me. I don't like to be dictated to. Will you settle this matter?
SECOND TIMER

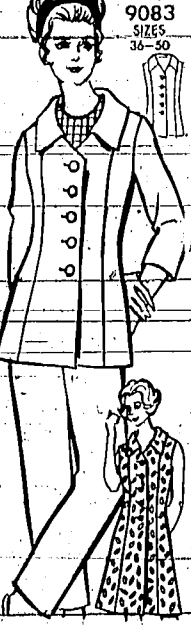

DEAR TIMER: I'm with "Wife Number Two" all the way. Get rid of "Number One's" picture. No wallet is big enough for both of them.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Dover waitress" who was so upset because of the small tips people left her:

I was a clerk in yard goods and ready-to-wear, back in the days when a clerk really waited on the customers. I dragged many a heavy-bolt of yard goods down off the shelves, and I'd pat them back up again. In those days my salary was $60 a month for a 50-hour week. I was happy, too. I wonder if that waitress ever tips a clerk when she makes a purchase.
BESSIE B. (NOW-RETIRED)

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 6706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90068. For a personal reply, please stamped, addressed envelope.

Strong breeze

ORGONIAN makes a phone call from a pay station that was blown over on a pier near Astoria Ore., after worst storm of the year had passed. The 100-plus miles per hour winds caused Gov. Tom McCall to declare the area a disaster zone. (UPI)

Legislative pay amendment backed

BOISE (UPI) — Assistant House Majority Leader Harold Snow, R-Moscow, said today he intends to introduce a constitutional proposal to boost legislative pay to $5,000 per year. Snow said he also plans to put in a bill doing away with the time limitation on payment of expense money to legislators. Under an initiative approved by the voters Nov. 3, legislative compensation is cut off after 60 days of the first regular session and 30 days of the second. In addition, this initiative cut to $25 per day from $35 the "committee expenses" authorized the lawmakers and it did away completely with their $200 per month "office allowance." Snow said he has another bill ready to raise the expense amount up to $35 per day in addition to doing away with the time limitation but he said he is uncertain whether he will introduce that proposal.

He said he definitely plans to introduce the constitutional amendment, however. At present, the legislators receive $10 per day in salary and, under the constitution, may receive up to $600 per day for a regular session.

Snow's proposal would more than quadruple that pay. And he admitted the amount set forth in his proposal is "just an arbitrary figure."

Under the constitution at present, legislators also may receive $10 per day in salary for up to 20 days in special session. Snow's amendment would give them a flat $3,000 annual salary regardless of how many days they were in regular or special session.

Snow said he felt his constitutional proposal has a good chance.

"I think there's considerable sympathy for it," Snow said. "Their (the people's) message to us is they want to vote on a specific salary."

He said he was not locked in on strictly an annual salary but would consider an amendment setting forth so much per day while the lawmakers are in session.

Snow said he has "strong feelings that the length of the session will be shorter if we don't have a limitation than if we do," Snow said. "Near the end of the session everybody would be using that as a lever to get legislation through."

"It doesn't lend itself to good legislation to have a limitation on there," he said.

2 administrative services aides fired by new chief

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's acting director of administrative services fired his two top hands Monday, claiming they were inefficient, incompetent and negligent.

Acting Director Robert Lenaghan called in administrators Deibert E. (Bert) Caldwell of communications and Ray Clovis of management services and gave them a chance to resign.

When they refused to quit, he said, "I dismissed them from service to the state." George Murphy, state personnel director, said both Clovis and Colwell had been to see him shortly after they were dismissed, but said neither had filed an appeal to the Personnel Commission.

Both men supposedly are covered by the state Personnel Commission's merit system. Lenaghan said he is not so certain they are.

"I understand they contend they are," he said, adding he may ask Attorney General W. Anthony Park for an opinion on this question.

"I told Mr. Clovis and Mr. Colwell both on the basis of information I had in hand I would be a very irresponsible administrator if I permitted either of them to work for the state any longer," Lenaghan said. But beyond this he refused to outline specifically what "information" he had about their performance on the job.

"I can't run the risk of prejudging any further actions," he said.

Idaho's former state budget director, Jack Holley, resigned after the Nov. 3 general election. He ran unsuccessfully as the Republican nominee for state auditor.

The only other division head in Lenaghan's employ is Lloyd Cook, administrator of building services. A reporter asked Lenaghan when Cook will get the ax.

"Mr. Cook is still employed," Lenaghan said. "I don't want the implication in your news story that Mr. Cook has been fired. He hasn't. You asked the question."

Colwell, when dismissed, received $1,200 per month. When terminated Monday he had 28 days' leave time coming.

Lenaghan, who sent Clovis on a two-week vacation one hour after Cecil D. Andrus became governor and named Lenaghan acting head of the agency, spent one minute dumping Clovis when the administrator returned to work today, Clovis said. Clovis said Lenaghan showed him a form dismissing him for "inefficiency, incompetency and negligence in the performance of duties" and told him either to resign or he, Lenaghan, would process that form.

"I said, 'I would like to look into what your reasons are and he said, 'You don't have time,'" Clovis said.

Clovis noted that he had offered to cooperate in any way he could with the new state administration when he had his first interview with Lenaghan two weeks ago. He said at that time Lenaghan told him the best way he could cooperate would be to take two weeks vacation.

"I haven't been asked to perform one function for him," Clovis said, noting he was dismissed for inefficiency, incompetency and negligence.

"Anything Andrus wants to carry out I'll work with Andrus to carry out the programs," Clovis said. "He was elected chief executive."

"But when they ask me to take a vacation and then say I don't carry out the programs — what chance have I had to carry out anything?"

Clovis was appointed to his post — which is protected under the personnel commission — during the administration of Republican Gov. Don Samuelson. Clovis and Auditor Jor H. Williams, a Democrat, engaged in frequent battles over data processing.

Andrus, also a Democrat, attacked the Department of Administrative Services, and particularly management services, during the recent election campaign. Since then, Andrus has asked the legislature to wipe out the management service division.

Clovis noted he was asked to "cooperate" pending results of a special study on the use of computers by his agency. He noted that study "has not been completed yet."

"I took the man at his word when he asked me to cooperate," Clovis said, expressing surprise he would be fired without having a chance to show what he could do.

Doctors help

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Mike P. Mitchell, D-Lewislaton, announced today three Idaho physicians will participate in the University of Washington's "Medex" physician assistant training program which begins Feb. 1. Mitchell, who made his announcement in the Senate, said Dr. C. Stamey English, Lewislaton, and Dr. Frank J. Goram and Dr. C.J. Edwards, both Bonners Ferry, will each supervise a Medex student for a 12-month period beginning in May.

Under the program, former military Medical Corpsmen will receive three months of intensive medical training at the University of Washington school of medicine.

Mitchell said the program would help alleviate the national medical manpower shortage and added some of the ex-corporates in the program had had over 1,000 hours of medical experience in the Armed Services.

He said studies indicated over 5,000 medical ex-corporates are being discharged each year from the Armed Services.

cording to the memorial meant "the people of the United States through the government of the United States, are the non-resident landowners of approximately two-thirds of the land in the state of Idaho."

The memorial also added the public ownership withdraws a large portion of the local tax base by withdrawing the land from private ownership.

Tax swap eyed

BOISE (UPI) — A joint memorial introduced in the Senate Monday would ask Congress to provide for payment in lieu of taxes on federally-owned land within state boundaries.

The memorial, which originated in the Senate Resources and Environment Committee, noted approximately two-thirds of the land in Idaho is owned by the federal government, which, according to the memorial meant the people of the United States through the government of the United States, are the non-resident landowners of approximately two-thirds of the land in the state of Idaho."

The memorial also added the public ownership withdraws a large portion of the local tax base by withdrawing the land from private ownership.

New bill would place CATV under regulator

BOISE (UPI) — Members of the House Business Committee voted today to introduce a bill putting community-antenna television (CATV) systems under the Public Utilities Commission.

At the same time they tossed in the House a 98-page bill to establish a uniform consumer credit code in the state.

In an expression of intent written into the CATV bill, the committee said the lawmakers have determined that rates, services and operation of such systems are effected with a public interest.

This bill then states its purpose is to:

Provide just and reasonable rates and charges for services without unjust discrimination, undue preferences or advantages or unfair or destructive competitive practices.

Encourage and promote harmonious relations between CATV companies and their subscribers.

Cooperate with other states and with the federal government in promoting and coordinating efforts to regulate effectively CATV companies in the public interest.

And to vest authority in the commission to regulate CATV companies generally.

Under the bill, systems serving potentially fewer than 100 subscribers or only residents of one or more apartment dwellings under common ownership would be exempt.

The measure would require all CATV companies covered by the act to obtain a certificate of public convenience and necessity from the PUC.

It also would prohibit any CATV company to combine, merge or consolidate with or acquire control of another organization in Idaho without obtaining advance approval from the commission.

Applications for certificates would require a fee of $200.

Methodone pondered

BOISE (UPI) — The House Health and Welfare Committee Monday called for morning hearings this week on legislation to allow use of methadone in treating narcotics addicts and to permit sterilization of mental incompetents.

A hearing on the use of methadone and other synthetic narcotics in treating addicts is slated for 9 a.m. Wednesday in the committee room at the Statehouse. The one on the sterilization bill is scheduled for 9 a.m. Friday.

Committee members also discussed legislation to control waste disposal wells.
