Red attack ravages Cambodian Air Force

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Communist forces in their first attack on Phnom Penh destroyed 95 per cent of Cambodia's operational air force in a pre-dawn offensive early today and then infiltrated sappers into the city. The city went on full alert for street fighting in Phnom Penh itself. Allied diplomatic and military sources warned of the threat to the city and the Cambodian government called the situation "serious." The action thus far appeared to be a carbon copy of the 1968 Tet offensive against Saigon which began with an attack on Tan Son Nhut Airport.

The surprise raid which began around 2 a.m. inflicted an estimated 500 casualties on civilians and military personnel, destroyed a navy base at the edge of the city, damaged an army base and blew up military supplies flown in by American and South Vietnamese planes. Mortars and rockets fell throughout the day on Phnom Penh itself and Western embassies said they were considering evacuating their dependents if they could fly from the ravaged airport, a scene of chaos of burning planes and exploding ammunition.

Many object to hearing Andrus

WASHINGTON (UPI)—More than 6 per cent of men eligible for the draft have been filing claims for conscientious objector status after receiving induction notices. The government provided a figure Thursday to the Supreme Court which requested the information while hearing arguments on an appeal filed by William Ward Egbert, convicted in federal court in San Francisco of failure to submit to induction.

President to propose

AEC probes dead sheep

ANTELOPE VALLEY, Utah (UPI)—A team of investigators from the Atomic Energy Commission has joined experts trying to determine what caused the deaths of more than 1,250 sheep in a barren desert area near the Utah-Novada border. The deaths occurred about 180 miles northeast of the Nevada nuclear test site, where the AEC detonated a series of underground explosions in December. Radiation from two of the blasts escaped and spread fallout as far north as the Canadian border.

Truman still spunky

HARRY S. TRUMAN, former president, was taken to Research Hospital at Kansas City, Mo., Thursday after a sudden onset of severe abdominal pains. Truman, 86, is shown in a photo made Nov. 3, 1970. (UPI)

The truck was backed up to an unloading ramp with guard timber to keep vehicles from going over, the sheriff said, and the man was unloading the junk. As he pulled an old stove from the back of the truck and pushed it into the canyon, it caught his clothing, pulling him from the vehicle bed and into the canyon. Sheriff Corder said some tree limbs broke Jones' fall, but he traveled down the canyon through rocks, trees and rubbish for about 150 feet. He was able to climb back to a lower dump site. From there, officers pulled him up with ropes. Had Jones gone to the bottom or fallen through holes in the trash area where rubbish is burning, he would have been killed or seriously injured, the officer said.

Death mine held too many miners

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI)—Illegal explosions touched off the underground blast that killed 38 coal miners last month, but the reason so many men died was that there were 37 too many in the mine, according to Kentucky's top mining official.

Herrelod N. Kirkpatrick, mines and mineral resources commissioner, said the explosives handler should have been the only one in the Finley Coal Co. mine near Hyden, Ky., Dec. 30.

"Legally the 'shooter' would have been the only man in the mine," Kirkpatrick said Thursday. "When the shooter would have blown himself up and there would have been only one death," he said.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman still is experiencing some mild pains, but has told his doctors he wants to go home. Truman, 86, was hospitalized Thursday with stomach pains. Doctors say he will remain in Research Hospital for "a few days" pending the outcome of tests.

Doctors said Truman's condition is good, and his "vital signs are stable and within normal limits. It also means the patient's progress is good or excellent." The exact nature of his illness was not diagnosed. "The situation is not alarming," said Dr. Wallace D. Graham, Truman's personal physician since his White House days. "I expect to run Truman and will have more information when results are available." John P. Deves, a hospital spokesman, said Truman was experiencing only mild pain late Thursday. He said Truman expressed a desire to return home only a few hours after being rushed by ambulance 15 miles to the hospital from his home in Independence.

Cambodian news hit by reporters

SAIGON (UPI) — Newsmen covering the Indochina war were engaged in an increasingly bitter dispute with the U.S. command over the release of information about the extent of American involvement in military operations in Cambodia and Laos.

Newsmen here charge the command has cut back the flow of information previously available about actions in Vietnam itself.

After days of controversy, the U.S. command issued a statement Wednesday that "operations out of the country (Vietnam) involve questions not only of U.S. forces' security, but also the broader requirements of the national security of the United States." A high ranking officer, who could not speak officially by name, said, "It means the rules for the release of information on out-of-the-country operations include both military and political considerations."

The dispute became acrimonious about 10 days ago, when reporters began using the usually placid "five o'clock follies" briefing for sharp questioning about the role of U.S. planes and helicopters in Cambodia and Laos.

Briefers denied U.S. helicopters were involved in direct support of Cambodia, South Vietnamese or Laotian troops although photographs showed Huey Cobra helicopters performing the role. They also denied any U.S. advisers were on the ground in Cambodia, but pictures have showed Americans in military uniforms there.

U.S. military spokesmen again denied Thursday that American advisers are flying in Vietnamese helicopters in Cambodia and also that Americans were on the ground in the operation there to clear Highway 4 between Phnom Penh and the sea. The spokesman said a picture showing Americans running to board a helicopter was taken during a "logistics mission" in which supplies were being carried to South Vietnamese troops.

In Phnom Penh, high-ranking diplomatic sources said that the presence of American military personnel on Highway 4—two Americans with Ranger patches on their uniforms photographed running for a helicopter—was a genuine error on the part of some American command.

The briefers also have refused on occasion to confirm or deny information that is made public in Washington.

the contest. If Russell had died before the caucus, Byrd said, he would not even have made the race—even though as it turned out he had underestimated his strength.

Thus it was the dying 73-year-old dean of the Senate who held the key, at least in Byrd's reckoning. Had he died, Kennedy still would be the Democratic "whip" and whatever presidential ambitions he might harbor would be unattainable.

"Russell was the factor," Byrd said later. "If he had not been living, I would not even have run."

Including Russell's proxy vote, Byrd counted a hard 28 votes, a one-ballot majority.

Not knowing he had a much wider edge, Byrd had no intention of challenging Kennedy without Russell's vote.

Russell's final vote cut Teddy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, in the last hours of his life, left as his legacy to the Senate he cherished a final victory for the southern cause and a crushing defeat for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

From his deathbed, Russell sent the vote which deposed Kennedy as assistant Senate Democratic leader and elevated to that post Sen. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia.

Russell died at 2:25 p.m. EST Thursday. Byrd was elected, 31 to 24, sometime between 10:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. by secret ballot in a tightly guarded room several miles away from the Capitol.

But before the election Byrd figured he had only a one-vote edge on Kennedy, and needed Russell's proxy ballot to win

Satellite

launch set

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — A commercial communications satellite seven times more powerful than the best now in service is set for launch tonight to kick off the busiest period of space activity here in almost two years.

The 14-ton, $13.5 million satellite is the first of a series of eight Intelsat 4 built for the Comsat Corp. and its 19 other nations to greatly expand the globe-gridding communications network.

It is scheduled for launch at 7:01 p.m. EST on a $16 million Atlas-Centaur rocket. The satellite will be protected on its climb through the atmosphere by a nose fairing similar to one that failed to separate and fall off as planned in a $98 million orbiting observatory launching in November. The observatory was lost as a result.

A thorough investigation was made and as a result several changes have been made in the design and installation of the nose cone protecting the 17-foot tall Intelsat 4 spacecraft.

Tanker's crewmen rescued

CALGARY, Sardinia (UPI) — Search vessels today rescued 38 crewmen from the $2,882-ton American-owned tanker Universa Patriot, which exploded and burst into flames in the gale-whipped Tyrrhenian Sea.

The rescue ships said the year-old Liberian-registered ship was broken in two and half submerged. The fate of the remainder of the ship's 30-member Japanese crew was not immediately known, although one man was reported still aboard the burned-out hulk.

The West German skipper, identified only as Capt. Schneider, was among those pulled from the raging seas.
A French ship reported rescuing 10 crewmen from the Universe Patriot and a Danish freighter took on six seamen and an unidentified third vessel pulled another 22 from the sea.
The Universe Patriot sailed Thursday from Port de Bouc in southern France after unloading crude oil.

Manson rails at society

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson has issued a "press release" telling the American public he would like to "light fires in your cities" because he has not been shown mercy, compassion or pity at the Tate murder trial.

Manson said he was a product of what society had made him. He made no mention of the seven victims with whose killing he is charged.

The seven-man, five-woman jury went into a second week of deliberation today on verdicts in the seven-month trial of Manson and three young women codefendants. There was no indication when they would reach a decision on guilt or innocence.

There was corridor talk of the possibility of a hung jury—necessitating a "flin" all over again for Manson, Susan Atkins, Patricia Krenwinkel, and Leslie van Houten.

Defense attorney Paul Fitzgerald said, however, that he did not think the length of deliberation by the jury signified anything more than that they were going over a complicated case. Deputy District Attorney Vincent Bugliosi said he still felt confident the jury would bring in verdicts of first-degree murder.

Woman power

NEW YORK (UPI) — The little lady has a big voice in the purchase of a yacht, leading manufacturers of the vessels to equip them more and more with appliances and conveniences of most concern to women, says David R. Parker, Jr., president of Hatteras.

SHOSHONE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The mayor of Newark, N.J., described his city today as first in crime, first in venereal disease, first in infant mortalities and the first city in America—but not the last—likely to go under because of an incapacity to cope with its own decay.

Mayor Kenneth A. Gibson gave strong support to the revenue sharing plan President Nixon will call for tonight in the State of the Union address. Gibson testified before a House-Senate economic committee looking into the state of the nation's economy. He presented an awesome picture of a city in trouble outlining the problems of his community of 400,000, of whom 29 per cent are white.

Gibson, who is black, said: "30 per cent of Newark's people live on welfare, the cost of which has more than doubled in four years."
—one quarter of its pupils drop out of schools and half the schools were built more than 60 years ago.
—41,000 housing units—nearly one in three—are in such bad shape they can't be repaired. Property owners are abandoning their buildings in such large numbers the city, taking them over when taxes go unpaid, "is fast becoming the biggest landlord in the city."

—Jobs are so scarce that "one out of every two people interested in jobs cannot find adequate employment."
—Newark has the highest crime, venereal disease and infant mortality rates in the nation.
He urged Congress to assume all welfare costs—with high payments and to enact revenue sharing without—and here he went beyond what Nixon is expected to propose—cutting back on other forms of aid cities now receive.

Strike sees new clashes

LONDON (UPI) — Police today clashed with pickets trying to stop women operators reporting for work at the London international telephone exchange.

The post office said a wage strike by 230,000 workers showed signs of cracking, but postal union leaders denied the claim.

Witnesses said police led one strike away after a scuffle which broke out when he challenged police who told pickets to stop blocking the sidewalk outside an international telephone exchange. Five pickets were arrested Thursday.

A number of women operators continued to defy union orders and reported for work, passing through jeering picket lines to do so.

RR strike talks said progressing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Union leaders said they have made progress this week in contract talks with the nation's railroads, but prospects for a settlement to head off a possible strike March 1 remained dim.

"Things could pop all of a sudden," said C.L. Dennis, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks (BRAC). "We could suddenly have an agreement or we could break off."

Other union sources, however, said the two sides still were far apart on wages, vacations, holidays and job security and that the chances for a settlement of the dispute which caused a one-day rail strike Dec. 10 were gloomy.

Dennis called his local union leaders from across the nation into Washington to give them a status report today. Last week he set a deadline for the end of this week to reach an agreement with the carriers.

Otherwise, he said, he would switch emphasis from the bargaining table to preparing to fight the Nixon administration's proposed legislation giving the White House authority to force a settlement in the more than year-old contract dispute.

Retirement changes outlined for solons

BOISE (UPI) — Tom Terrell, executive director of the Idaho public employees retirement system, outlined for the Senate Commerce and Banking Committee Thursday certain changes proposed in the system.

One change, Terrell said, would allow for immediate membership participation in the system instead of the current one-year waiting period for eligibility.

The immediate membership, he said, has been given "high priority" in any legislative requests by the retirement system.

Another change Terrell discussed would allow policemen and firemen to retire with full benefits after 25 years of service and other employees after 30 years, rather than the present 35 years.

Terrell said the early retirement proposal "rewards career service."

Other changes he suggested included membership for employees who receive benefits from another system, permission for officials to contribute to the system beyond the age of 65, and elimination of the age 55 requirement for optional death benefits.

Terrell said the current requirement is age 55 and 10 years of service in the system, but said "our plan all along was to simply look at our initial experience before deciding whether to change this age requirement."

Dollar testing slated

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Coin experts at the U.S. mint here plan to conduct tests Monday on the Eisenhower dollar, a coin made of copper and nickel that is expected to succeed the silver dollar.

A spokesman said the trial striking here is to "see how they're going to look and to perfect the dies for the production of 150 million of them."

The coins probably will be manufactured for general circulation at the U.S. mint in San Francisco.

Some of the first manufactured will be 40 per cent silver-covered and sold at a "premium price," the spokesman said.

Mint engraver Frank Gasparro designed the coin. It bears the profile of the former president on the front and the eagle of the Apollo 11 spacecraft landing on the moon on the back.

Smoke thick

SALEM, Ore. (UPI)—The Mid-Willamette Valley Air Pollution Authority met this week and the pollution count was 4-1. Three members smoked pipes and one smoked a cigarette during the meeting.

Andrus assists attaches

BOISE (UPI)—Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said Thursday he subsidized some of his aides as governor-elect from his own bank account because his interim office appropriation was too small.

Andrus had a $10,000 appropriation from the last legislature to spend as governor-elect in readying a staff and proposals for his administration.

He said his press secretary, John Hough, was paid $800 per month from state funds and $200 from his own funds during the interim period. When Andrus became governor, he fixed Hough's salary at $1,000 per month.

Another aide Andrus said he subsidized during the interim period was his special assistant, Roy Haney. He said the state paid Haney $800 per month and he, Andrus, paid Haney $100 per month.

"I had to subsidize these salaries because there was not enough to pay them their promised salaries in the interim period," Andrus said.

Medics fighting obsolescence

TWIN FALLS — The medical profession and related researchers are constantly fighting the battle of obsolescence. Dr. B.N. Carle, pathologist at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, told members of the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club Thursday noon.

Dr. Carle, introduced by program chairman Dr. Ben Kutz, said both the laboratory and in individual technique "you just can't go stale in this job." Upgrading of the profession goes on constantly with more and more reliance being placed on work in the laboratory.

He told the Kiwanis members laboratory work could be divided into two divisions. They are anatomic and clinical pathology. He defined each division, told of the intricate examinations made and the fact that all tissue removed by a surgeon is examined by his department at the hospital. He told of advances in the autopsy field and of the importance of these examinations.

"I have learned something of benefit from every autopsy I have done," he said.

Laboratory work lends itself to early diagnosis and he paid tribute to technicians who "work with us." These technicians all have college training in addition to internship training.

The importance of the hospital and available services was stressed when he pointed out present day medicine is so complicated "there just isn't a back of a lot of a physician can do by making a house call, as they did in other days."

And the hospital, he added, "just isn't a hotel. There is a talented backup behind each patient."

Musical entertainment for the program was provided by Hattie Craig at the piano, Fred Craig and John Perfect on the "fiddles." Old-time music was featured. They will be among performers featured Saturday night at a jamboree in Filer.

The Idaho State Police recommends that motorists planning a trip check weather and road conditions before starting out.

Surgeons preserve suspect

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Police shot Hugo Alberto Alderete Thursday while he was trying to hold up a bakery, and they thought they had killed him.

They sent the bullet-riddled body to the morgue for an autopsy. But Alderete, 27, twitched when the medical examiner approached the body. He was rushed to an operating room, where surgeons removed several bullets and proclaimed him alive but in critical condition.

Sunlight hazardous

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Much of the nation's pollution is being improperly blamed on agricultural chemicals, according to J. T. Woodson, president of the Texas Farm Bureau. He said exposure to sunlight "is 100 times more likely to cause cancer in humans than is a buildup of DDT."

Health Plan Row Simmers

WASHINGTON — There are plenty of carry-over controversies of course, including welfare reform and revenue sharing, but one of the major battles of the new Congress could result from the shaping of a national health plan.

An added attraction in that controversy could be a direct legislative confrontation between President Nixon and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who, despite disclaimers, is still a possible Democratic challenger for President Nixon in the 1972 elections.

The background here is that President Nixon, in his recent televised talk with network newsmen, said that a health plan will be part of his program for the new Congress. He is expected to elaborate in his state-of-the-union message.

Kennedy, however, has already gone on record in support of specific national health insurance legislation. There are already indications that the senator's hopes and dreams, in this regard, are not those of the President.

Moreover, indications are that Kennedy will become the chairman of the Senate's Health Subcommittee when the new Congress gets down to organizing. The Finance Committee may have jurisdiction over its financing, but the Health Subcommittee will have a role in developing a health insurance program.

The Health Subcommittee was formerly headed by Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., who was "Mr. Health" for Congress over a period of years. Last year, with Hill in retirement, Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., was chairman of both the Health Subcommittee and the Parent Labor and Public Welfare Committee, just as Hill had been in prior years.

Now informed sources are saying that, with Yarborough on the sidelines, as a result of his defeat in the Democratic primary, Kennedy is in a position to step in as Health Subcommittee Chairman.

The mechanics of President Nixon's promised health plan will be disclosed in his messages to Congress. There have been some hints about its features, however.

The President's plan, according to advance reports, will incorporate, and not supplant, present health insurance plans such as Blue Cross and Blue Shield. Financing, according to advance reports, would be provided by imposing an additional tax (of perhaps 15 cents per package) on cigarettes.

Kennedy is sponsor of a couple of health insurance bills. Both would set up a wholly new organization and operation to guarantee health insurance to all residents of the United States.

One of the bills, which has Kennedy as its chief sponsor, would finance the new health plan through increased payroll taxes. It would, in effect, provide health benefits to all as a part of Social Security.

The other bill would finance health benefits as a charge against Treasury revenues. That one had Yarborough as its chief sponsor in the old Congress, and Kennedy joined as a co-sponsor.

If Kennedy is to be chairman of the Health Subcommittee, as now reported, he may decide he prefers Treasury financing, since a plan keyed to the Social Security system comes within the jurisdiction of the Finance Committee and not the Subcommittee on Health.

Official City and County Newspaper Pursuant to Section 60 Idaho Code, Thursday is hereby designated as the day of the week on which legal notices will be published. Published daily and Sunday, except Saturday, at 132 Third Street West, Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, by Magic Valley Newspapers, Inc. Entered as second class mail matter April 8, 1918, at the post office in Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, under the act of March 8, 1879.

Logical Course

City and county officials have come to the conclusion that if a major airport is to be a reality in Magic Valley it should be located in Twin Falls County. They also see no reason that the present Twin Falls City-County Airport cannot continue to be the major one.

Individuals in several communities are reported to be continuing to back plans for a regional airport concept, with such a field located on the north side of the Snake River and outside Twin Falls county.

The members of the Twin Falls City Council, the Twin Falls County Commission and the Twin Falls City-County Airport Commission all feel that cash outlay in taxes which would be necessary for construction of a field in another county would be more than Twin Falls county taxpayers could — or would — bear.

The officials point out that regardless of the cost of such a field — now estimated at around $10 million — Twin Falls county would stand to provide about half of the funds. With the federal government providing the lion's share of such a field, it would still mean that taxpayers of Twin Falls county, the officials declared, would have to provide in the neighborhood of $3 million for such a field. In addition there would be the upkeep costs and the interest on the required bond election.

It has been reported in some circles outside Twin Falls county that the Twin Falls field should be considered as only a "stop gap" measure in airport progress. Twin Falls City and County officials say they look upon the local airport as a permanent asset to this county and the Valley.

Other reports contend the drive to maintain the Twin Falls field in lieu of seeking a regional field, stem from a faction largely centered on the airport commission. The truth is that the feelings of the airport commission are shared — and backed — by members of the City Council and the County Commission.

Another report contends the program at the Twin Falls field is one of patchwork. This, basically, is true. It means that the job is being done as money is available and not through a heavy burden of debt.

The City Commission, the County Commission and the City-County Airport Commission members have no apologies to make for upgrading the local field the way they have been doing it.

This "patching," as it is called by some, is working. With a relative small expenditure over a period of two years the older portion of the main runway — now 23 years old — would be usable for years by jet airplanes. The taxiways could be replaced and the ramp improved. Other necessary work could be carried through normal funding and through income from those who use the facilities.

The city and county officers are of the opinion that if any major airport work is done it should be done here, without putting county taxpayers in debt for years.

They contend that contrary to what some may think, this upgrading of the Twin Falls field can be accomplished a piece at a time.

And with the money available, that is the logical course. It might take a little longer but it can be done.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

What Is Buckley?

WASHINGTON — Ever since his stunning election as Senator from New York on the Conservative party line, James Buckley has been focal point of a backstage tug-of-war among his closest associates over how he will label himself in the Senate.

F. Clifton White, the tactical master who managed Buckley's campaign, has wanted the new Senator to designate himself "Republican-N.Y." (though he did not run on the Republican ticket). Appalled by this prospect, leaders of the state's Conservative party have been urging Buckley to call himself "Conservative-N.Y."

His verdict, expected momentarily, seems likely to be slightly in White's direction. Buckley has decided against designating himself either "Republican" or "Conservative." At this writing, he leans toward taking the "Republican-Conservative" label, with an outside chance he will reverse the order and call himself "Conservative-Republican."

This would be a bitter blow for Kieran O'Doherty and Daniel Mahoney, founders and leaders of the eight-year-old New York Conservative party — a signal defeat in their cold war with Cliff White beginning last year.

Although O'Doherty and Mahoney were proud of the grass roots organization they built from scratch, White regarded it as a paper tiger and named his own men as Buckley's county chairman. Boyed that, White is a small-conservative who views the Conservative party as a temporary expedient which, having now nudged the state Republican party rightward, should wither away. O'Doherty and Mahoney see it as a permanent institution.

Their views similarly conflict on Buckley's future. White views him as a moderate conservative, far less the ideologue than his brother, columnist-editor William F. Buckley, Jr. The Conservative party leaders would like Buckley to become "Mr. Conservative," obviously impossible if he is just another Republican Senator.

Buckley has been pondering this question the past two weeks, conferring with Sen. Harry Byrd, Jr., of Virginia, reelected as an independent in November (Byrd has announced no decision but may call himself "Independent Democrat"). Buckley quickly ruled out designating himself solely as a "Republican," if only to avoid deep offense to his substantial conservative Democratic vote.

Hawk De-Clawed

How about Mississippi's Sen. John Stennis switching from Hawk to Dove?

Before we're too hard on our school-agers for their rejection of this war, look how it has scrambled our lawmakers!

At this moment there are men in the U.S. Senate who are among the founders of the United Nations, who supported any and all forms of foreign aid and intervention, including the resolution which deepened our involvement in Indochina — now those men are saying we should get out, withdraw, come home; mind our own business.

Then there are the senators we used to call "isolationist" because they always wanted us to stay home and mind our own business; today some of them are advocating assorted degrees of continuing involvement in Indochina.

On intervention, Fulbright and Goldwater have switched sides.

The dawn of this new year came up like thunder over the Potomac when John Stennis — prestigious chairman of the powerful Senate Armed Services Committee — said Vietnam never should have been any of our business and we should never make this mistake again, that we can't go running around rescuing every tottering nation. We can't and shouldn't try.

That's John Stennis? Southern Democrat? Conservative, anything — for the flag John Stennis? Yes. And it's not inconsistent. He's still putting our country's interests first. Here is what the chairman of Senate Armed Services says now: The Vietnam war was a "civil war"; none of our business.

He says the United States lacks the resources "to aid every Asian nation any time it is confronted with a Communist threat, both from within and without."

He says we must never send our troops to fight for nations which lack the unity and dedication to fight for themselves — and to the death, if necessary.

And Sen. Stennis says no President should be permitted to send our troops into combat anywhere without the prior and explicit consent of the Congress.

So indefensible is this Vietnam involvement that Sen. Stennis says the idea of an all volunteer army — as long as this warless war goes on — is a joke. Mention it to our troops, he says — they laugh.

Some of us, whose first and only allegiance is to our own country — nobody else's — moved over sooner from a win-the-war position to a get-out-of-Indochina position — some will later.

Just a few months ago when some senators tried to limit our President's prerogatives in war-making, Sen. Stennis fought them every step of the way.

Now he's on their side. This is not inconsistent. He's still putting our country's interests first. He is not out of step. It's when the situation changes and you don't — that you're out of step. And this is what this President will discover, sooner or — too late.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Cold Feet

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am an old lady, 84, and have cold feet all the time. I soak my feet in hot water, but no matter what I pile on my feet when I go to bed, I still have to have a hot brick. In daytime I fight through over and over my feet in it every so often.

I am active and have a small garden and take care of the lawn, but I all all over from arthritis. Is there anything I can do to help my feet? They make me miserable. — R.W.

An uncomfortable, annoying problem, and not easy to treat, but I will offer what help I can.

At your age you have to accept that you have a high degree of hardening of the arteries, so that circulation in the feet is not the best. Hence the chronic coldness. Varicose veins can contribute to this problem, so if you wear circular garters — don't.

As to applying heat to your feet, be careful! The hot bricks and the oven both can get hot enough to cause blistering or even burning. With impaired circulation, first of all you may not feel the heat quickly enough, unless you are watchful. Second, if the skin is blistered or burned, healing will be slow because of slow circulation. So I repeat: be careful.

I'm glad that, in spite of your arthritis, you remain active; whatever activity you can manage is extremely important in maintaining circulation. Wearing properly-fitting wool socks may help.

Medically, vasodilators — medications to dilate the small blood vessels of the legs and feet — may help, and if you haven't done so already, discuss this with your doctor and give one of these preparations a trial. Occasionally hormones, such as thyroid or estrogen, may be considered, but the dosage for these would have to be determined by your physician.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have post-nasal drip which is very annoying, and I take two aspirins a day for relief. Is this harmful to my health? If so, what else can I take? — M.J.

If you aren't hypersensitive to aspirin, I don't see how the aspirin can harm you — but it won't do a thing to correct the drip, which usually can be successfully corrected if you go about it the right way. Allergy, nasal obstruction, or chronic inflammation must be considered. Recently I have entirely revised my booklet, "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble." This includes post nasal drip, which is a related problem, and I suggest that you give the booklet a serious reading. It's available by mail. Send 25 cents to cover printing and handling, and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Five hours after handling hundreds of 19th century bronze and copper coins, both my father and I had skin eruptions similar to mosquito bites. Others in the family who did not handle the coins had no eruptions, and there weren't any mosquitoes around anyway. Is there any possible connection between the coins and the "bites"? — S.J.B.

There could be a contact dermatitis (allergy) from various metals is a not-uncommon phenomenon, and your eruptions or "bites" could be such a sensitivity after hours of handling the coins. Or, possibly, some chemical or other could have been used to clean the coins, I suppose, and that might be the answer.

Note to Mrs. D.H.: Your question about plugged Eustachian tubes is too complicated to offer you any way to diagnose your own trouble. An ear specialist can do it readily, though.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for the booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 15 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

MR. SPECTATOR

The Pill Boomerang

Having trouble sleeping? Mr. Spectator finds this to be the trouble now and then. So what's good for relaxing which will lead to a good sleep?

Well, we are now told that insomnias have been given bad advice if they think all they have to do is take a sleeping pill. We received a note from one Dr. William C. Dement, a Stanford University researcher. He has been, as director of Stanford's Sleep Disorders Clinic, studying sleeping habits for 18 years. Personally, we do not see how he can get his own sleep with all that study — but that just has to be another story for another time.

Getting back to Dr. Dement. He wrote that there are several things wrong with sleeping pills including the possibility that persons who use them habitually will develop a tolerance which requires stronger dosages and perhaps develops into a drug abuse problem.

Anyway, pills interfere with normal sleep processes, which the good doctor said experiments have shown can cause mental changes and sleep abnormalities.

And what remedy do the sleepless seek, if not pills? That's a problem — but you can still count sheep.

PROPERTY DAMAGE

Colleges which are finding the cost of property damage insurance prohibitively high might consider a plan suggested by the dean of the University of Wisconsin Law School. Dean Spencer Kimball would collect $100 in advance from each student at registration.

If no damage or demonstration expense was incurred, the student would get back $90 at the end of the semester. The other $10 would go into a kitty to cover all schools in the state.

A property insurance surcharge presumably would keep students to whom $100 is still a lot of money on their good behavior, and might cause them to watch for outsiders who come on to the campus for something other than intellectual companionship.

That's the way Dean Kimball looks at it. Mr. Spectator believes we do not need it, say, at places like the College of Southern Idaho.

HIRSUITE PHILOSOPHY?

Up in Colebrook N. H., of all places, hapless milk tank driver got locked in the stocks for, of all things, daring to come into town without a beard.

No, the hippies haven't taken over New England. It was just in fun and was staged in connection with Colebrook's recent 200th anniversary celebration. As with most such observances, the local males made a big thing about growing facial foliage for the event.

It's an interesting commentary. Beards are O. K. as they are on the fading tin-type faces of our ancestors. Flowing long hair seems quite natural on men as long as they are characters in a biblical movie. But...

Don't ask us what it means. It's just an interesting commentary.

Legislature to change speed law

BOISE (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee voted Thursday to introduce a bill changing the prima facie speed law to a maximum speed law.

Proposed by the committee chairman, Rep. Clyde Keithly, R-Nampa, the bill is designed to solve a law enforcement problem created by a Supreme Court decision.

That decision, in effect, said a law enforcement officer must have prima facie evidence a motorist is speeding and not just exceeding the posted speed limit.

As the law now stands, a person could exceed a posted limit in the absence of traffic and with good equipment and not be considered speeding.

Keithly's bill would make speeding the exceeding of a posted speed limit.

"I think it should help a lot in enforcement of our speed laws," Keithly said. "It should make it much easier."

In other action, the committee also voted to introduce a 97-page revision of Idaho's Criminal Code. This measure is the product of an intensive interim committee study.

Committee members also approved the suggestions of a special subcommittee that a rock festival health and sanitation control bill be rewritten to apply to gatherings of 1,000 persons for 24 hours or more.

As originally proposed, the bill would apply to rock festivals and other public gatherings of 5,000 or more for a period of 18 hours or more.

Adapted from legislation on the books of another state this bill does not quite conform to problems found in the state of Idaho, committee members felt. They asked it be revised to meet specific problems that might affect the Gem State.

It is designed to control sanitation, health, food supplies, parking and sleeping arrangements for large, time-consuming gatherings.

Bender eyes post

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate State Affairs Committee voted Tuesday to send to the floor a recommendation for confirmation of John Bender as commissioner of law enforcement.

Confirmation would make Bender the first appointee of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus to receive Senate approval.

Bender, who served for eight years as Kootenai County Sheriff, appeared before the State Affairs Committee Tuesday but after he left the committee voted to hold all appointments within the committee for two legislative days to give members additional time to investigate Andrus' appointees.

Two appointees appeared before the committee today — Bartlett R. Brown, Pocastello, appointed commissioner of labor, and L. Clark Hand, appointed superintendent of state police, a position he also held under former Gov. Don Samuelson.

Hand told the committee he joined the State Police in 1947 and in 1961 was appointed captain of state police, where he remained until Samuelson appointed him superintendent.

Brown, 44, a native of Butte, Mont., said he had been a locomotive fireman and engineer for Union Pacific Railroad for 24 years except for two years with Salt Lake Hardware.

He was legislative chairman for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and, when the union merged with the United Transportation Union, served as legislative chairman for the larger group.

He was also a member of the Pocastello City Council, but resigned with one year remaining of his term when Andrus appointed him commissioner of labor.

Moon soil trade eyed

MOSCOW (UPI) — American and Soviet space scientists agreed Thursday to trade tiny but significant amounts of moon soil brought back by their rival lunar probes.

Dr. George M. Low, acting director of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), said the Americans would exchange two or three grams — about one tenth of an ounce — of lunar soil garnered by the manned Apollo 11 and -12 expeditions for a similar amount of moon rock scooped up by Russia's unmanned Luna 16.

Idaho Senate passes land payment request

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate approved by voice vote Thursday a joint memorial asking Congress for legislation to require federal payments in lieu of taxes on federally-owned land within state boundaries.

Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, floor sponsor of the measure, said the memorial would meet one of the recommendations made by the Public Land Law Review Commission.

Peavey, noting two-thirds of Idaho is owned by the federal government, said "though the government of the United States, people all over the United States are coming to recognize these lands and making certain demands."

"In other words, they are enjoying the rights of ownership," he said.

Under his proposal, Peavey said, the non-resident owners would "help support local units of government if the federal government would make payments to states in lieu of taxes on the lands."

The actual payment would be left up to Idaho's congressional delegation to discuss, Peavey said.

Senate President Pro Tempore James Ellsworth, R-Leadere, a member of the Idaho Commission on Federal Land Laws, said such legislation would be "of great benefits to all western states" except some areas in Oregon, where large timber harvest revenues are provided.

He said he is not contemplating that the payments would be equal to the rate of taxation on private lands, since tourism and recreation revenues will also come from the federal lands.

"All western states being behind a memorial such as this will certainly add impetus to its passage in Congress," Ellsworth added.

Suspects arrested

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — Idaho Falls police said Thursday five persons were arrested at a motel during the morning on charges of counterfeiting.

Ralph Hutchens, detective captain, said the five are being held in city jail pending arrival of Secret Service agents.

The five were identified as Clarence Helm, Thomas Layne, Doris Layne, George Heiser, and Ruehla Kessell. No ages or addresses were given.

Hutchens said no further details would be available until Secret Service agents arrive to question the suspects.

General denies order

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's adjutant general says the Sixth Army commander and not he ordered active duty for a National Guardsman who allegedly missed drills because he was not allowed to wear a wig.

Major Gen. George B. Bennett made the allegation in a motion filed by his attorneys with U.S. District Court seeking dismissal of a petition by which the Guardsman, John Earl Baugh, 26, seeks to prevent his assignment to active duty.

Bennett said he had no part in the matter other than informing the National Army headquarters that Baugh had failed to take part satisfactorily in National Guard drills.

Federal Judge Fred M. Taylor signed a temporary restraining order last week to prevent Bennett from removing Baugh from jurisdiction of the Idaho district. This week the case was assigned to Federal Judge Ray McNichols.

Judge Taylor denied himself he had disqualified himself from the case. He said the assignment to McNichols resulted from a normal division of caseload in the court.

Racial bias order given

BONN (UPI) — The U.S. Army in Europe said today it has issued an order insuring racial mix-on-boards deciding whether enlisted men are promoted. The order was issued to meet black GI's complaints they find it hard to get noncommissioned-officer rank.

A spokesman said 14 per cent of the 185,000 troops in the command are black and that minority representation on promotion review board was ordered to make the system more visible.

A team led by Frank W. Rander, deputy assistant defense secretary for equal opportunity, made a tour of Army bases in Germany, Britain, Spain and Italy last year and reported Black GIs were dissatisfied with their rate of promotion.

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Two more firms raised the price of steel Wednesday, following the lead of the nation's major producers.

Jones & Laughlin raised its prices about 8.8 per cent — the same as U.S. Steel Corp.

Instant rapport between President, Pearl

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Two of the nation's unluckiest pals are President Nixon and Pearl Bailey.

The late President John F. Kennedy and Frank Sinatra were friends.

Ex-President Lyndon B. Johnson was a buddy of Carol Channing.

But Nixon and Pearl? The black singer's warm, free spirit, according to those who know them both, turns on the president. He responds with a grin and a depth of affection the public doesn't often see.

Naturally, the President's reaction to the legendary Miss Bailey tickles her. She hopes that same natural enthusiasm for life will affect television audiences similarly beginning Saturday night. She will be hostess of a new hour-long musical variety show beaming on ABC.

She appeared confident the other day in her Hollywood office, decorated with pictures of herself and the President. She wore a pin the chief executive gave her on a recent appearance at the White House.

"The President is a warm-hearted, fun-loving man when you get to know him. And he's interested in everything," she says.

Miss Bailey is blessed with a capacity for instant rapport with individuals and audiences. She sets aside formality at once and bubbles along as if she had been a friend of the family (first or otherwise) for a dozen years.

This is the quality, if it can be captured on the tube, which could make Pearl's first series a success.

"I'm going to be myself," she vowed. "If you can't do that somewhere along the line you miss the boat. We've got so many people we love dearly in person and then on the tube we don't know who they are."

"The big danger zone is that those performers don't know who they are. They forget," Pearl's first show will feature guests: Andy Williams, Ring Crosby and Louis Armstrong. Each week she'll have block-busting acts.

"We aren't going to have too much production and fancy scenery," she said. "I didn't come here to paint no

Rembrandt. I just want to sing and have some fun.

"But the hardest battle I have to face is just to be myself."

Andrus bills printed

BOISE (UPI) — House and Senate Republican leaders agreed Thursday that all of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' administration bills should be introduced for consideration of the legislature.

House Majority Leader Terry Crapo, R-Idaho Falls, said the leadership on his side of the tundra decided in a meeting with committee chairmen to put all administration measures across the desk from the Ways and Means Committee, a leadership body.

"The governor is entitled to have his bill printed and the people are entitled to see them," Crapo said.

He admitted that after they are referred to the appropriate committees the GOP may not want to act on some of them. But he said the Republican majority will not be "obstructionists" toward the Democratic governor's program.

In the senate, Majority Leader Wayne Kidwell, R-Boise, said he, too, wants to see all the governor's bills get printed. He added he wants to make certain the governor's measures all get "a run on the floor."

"There's going to be no attempt to hide them in committee," Kidwell said. "I want to see the revenue bills run so we'll get an idea how much money we're talking about."

The decision to put all administration bills in the House through Ways and Means came to light at the start of an afternoon session of the Revenue and Taxation Committee.

In preparation for the meeting, the secretary passed out copies of three of the administration revenue proposals to the committee.

But Chairman Allan F. Larsen, R-Blackfoot, came in and asked her to retrieve them. He explained the new policy which had been hammered out at the meeting of the leadership and committee chairmen.

These bills which the committee had planned to consider were measures to reduce the sales tax refund fund to $50,000 from $250,000, put one fourth of the inventory tax phase-out monies back into the general fund, and siphon off $1 million in permanent building fund monies for the general fund.

"If they want to do it," Larsen said of the decision to run bills through Ways and Means, "it's okay by me."

He said the bills eventually will "come back to this committee" for consideration.

Crapo said it was decided to put the bills through Ways and Means to avoid "a fuss in committee." Such measures as the kindergarten bill or the inventory tax phase-out diversion, he said, could run into trouble.

Crapo said it was decided to put the bills through Ways and Means to avoid "a fuss in committee." Such measures as the kindergarten bill or the inventory tax phase-out diversion, he said, could run into trouble.

"I would guess raiding the permanent building fund will have bi-partisan opposition," Crapo said.

Not only will a "fuss" in committee be avoided, Crapo said, but the "stigma" of committee endorsement will be removed from the measures. There is no stigma attached to Ways and Means introduction, he said.

Financier succumbs

SANDS POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — Harry F. Guggenheim, a noted financier, philanthropist and former publisher of Newsday, died at his Long Island Estate today, police reported.

Cause of death was not immediately known. He was 80 years old.

Guggenheim was publisher of Newsday, a Long Island newspaper, until last year when he sold his controlling interest in the company to the Los Angeles Times. He was the senior partner in the mining and metallurgical firm of Guggenheim Brothers, the head of several foundations, a former ambassador to Cuba, an author and a naval aviator in World Wars I and II.

Seniors safer

NEW YORK (UPI) — A driver's safety improves with age, says an insurance executive. Robert Pollack, of the Colonial Penn Insurance Co. said that while the younger person is a better driver, the older person is safer behind the wheel.

Narcotics asked for addicts

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Arthur P. Murphy, D-Mullan, proposed Thursday authorizing prescription issuance of narcotics to medically confirmed addicts.

Murphy, who rose in the Senate on a point of personal privilege, said such a move would eliminate the need to purchase drugs through an illegal market and said by the prescription method "perhaps we could make contact with the addict and begin the long, agonizing process of rehabilitation."

Murphy termed drug addiction "one of America's greatest problems" and said the only way to make progress "is to remove the profit from the handling of drugs. I feel that our present approach in attempting to solve this problem is a total failure."

He said it is estimated organized crime in the United States costs the American "taxpayer in the neighborhood of $50 billion" and said the money might be better spent "in support of rehabilitation programs to help these people to become productive members of society."

Legislative Daily Log

Gem panels ponder bills

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's legislators returned to the 12th legislative day today, with little legislation facing them on the calendar but a promise of further committee work to get the bills to the floor.

Sen. Wayne Kidwell, R-Boise, senate majority leader, said earlier this week more than 200 bills had already been drafted but only a small portion of those had reached the floor of either house by Thursday.

However, committees continued to meet during the day. House and senate leadership agreed all of the administration bills of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus

Log truck overturns

BOISE (UPI) — A logging truck driver was seriously injured today when his truck veered out of control and overturned into Discovery State Park northeast of Boise on State Highway 21.

The driver was identified as Jack Eytcheson, 35, no address. He apparently was pinned inside the vehicle for 45 minutes while crews attempted to free him.

Lawmen said the truck was westbound on the highway when it apparently hit a slick spot on the highway. The truck veered into the oncoming lane of traffic and rolled over.

The logs on the back of the truck jarrd loose and smashed several trees in the area.

Negotiation bill readied for House

BOISE (UPI) — Two different proposals for professional teacher negotiations will be introduced by the House Education Committee, probably on Friday.

Committee members agreed to introduce for printing both the proposal by the State School Trustees Association and the State Department of Education. "The school trustees' bill provides for 'meeting and conferring' of teachers and school boards without compulsory arbitration but with mediation if agreed to by both parties.

The Education Department bill provides for collective bargaining between teachers and school board members and for mediation at the request of either party should mediation fail.

Salary, working conditions and policy would be the subject of the discussions between teachers and school boards. The trustees' version excludes would be introduced for consideration of the legislature.

Rep. Terry Crapo, R-Idaho Falls, house majority leader, said the governor was "entitled to have his bills printed and the people are entitled to see them."

Crapo admitted, however, that after the measures are referred to the appropriate committees the GOP may not want to act on some of them, but promised the Republican majority will not be "obstructionists" toward the Democratic governor's program.

Andrus, notified of the decision, said he appreciated the courtesies "extended to this office by the legislature" and said, "I assume they have, as I have, the best interests of the state of Idaho at heart."

Legislators also decided to look after themselves as the House State Affairs Committee voted to introduce a constitutional amendment to boost legislative pay to a flat $3,000 per year.

The proposal, recommended by Rep. Harold Snow, R-Moscow, would be put before the people in the 1972 general election for consideration.

The Senate Judiciary and Rules Committee agreed to introduce the massive 140-page uniform probate code to invite comment on the measure.

Appearing before the Senate State Affairs Committee, Idaho Insurance Commissioner John Blaine outlined legislation which would allow a $100,000 blanket bond for all state employees rather than the separate bonds required by present statutes.

Treasurer requests $107,087

BOISE (UPI) — State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon requested $107,087 from the general fund for fiscal 1979 Thursday, an amount suggested for her office by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus in his executive budget.

Miss Moon told the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee the increase was needed to solve the major problem in her office — "the extreme overloading of our present book-keeping machine."

Her budget proposal included $10,204 to rent equipment which she said would allow quicker determination of what can be considered "idle" state funds at any time to allow for investment of more money.

Lloyd Howe, acting secretary for the Department of Commerce and Development, requested $394,810 from the general fund, a department Andrus requested only $209,037 for in his executive budget.

Howe said his request included no revenue from store license fees since he understood legislation was pending which would repeal the act requiring the $6 license fee.

However, he said, if the act were not repealed he expected the department could receive as much as $110,000 in fiscal year 1982 from the licenses.

The joint committee also heard budget presentations from Fred Charlton, superintendent of the State Liquor Dispensary, and Richard L. Cade, director of the Division of Liquor Law Enforcement.

The request from the liquor dispensary is for $2,265,546 and from liquor law enforcement for $183,289.

Both agencies are dedicated fund agencies, with liquor law enforcement operating on one per cent of the revenue from liquor sales.

Charlton, who submitted his resignation after Andrus was elected governor, said Andrus asked him to remain and he would until Feb. 8, his 75th birthday.

Charlton said he told Andrus his replacement could call on his services "if he gets in a jam and I'll come down and help him."

"But I told him (Andrus) I hadn't been paid too much over the years so I'll charge consultant fees of $100 an hour," Charlton added.

The committee laughed so hard during Charlton's presentation that Rep. Jenkin Palmer, R-Malden, co-chairman of the committee, told Cade later anything Cade said would be "anticlimactic."

License letters studied

BOISE (UPI) — Harold Farley of the Idaho Department of Law Enforcement said Thursday 35 million combinations could be made for license plates using both numerals and letters.

Farley, appearing before the Senate Transportation Committee, said under a plan he had studied Valley County, for instance, would have the letters "VC" on its license plates — the "V" for the county and the "C" for Cascade, the county seat.

Such a plan, he said, would toll law enforcement officers where each vehicle came from with little trouble.

Sen. Fisher Ellsworth, R-Idaho Falls, asked Farley about a plan whereby license buyers could have "odd ball, crazy names" put on license plates for an extra fee.

Named as committee heads are Mrs. Gerald Sidwell, publicity; Mrs. Louis Mallane, story hour; Mrs. Clifford Bently, librarians; Mrs. Gary Rogers, ways and means, and Mrs. Harry Holmes, Gold Mine.

New members elected to the board for two year terms are Mrs. Lynn Levy, Mrs. Bernard Krellkamp, Mrs. Alda Johnson and Mrs. Robert Brown.

In recognition of services given by the 1970 board, Mrs. George Knieland, outgoing chairman, presented the library a book of Norman Rockwell illustrations.

Mrs. Daniel Hart, librarian, reported 850 books were added to the collection during the past year bringing the total books on the shelves to 14,458, and a collection of 242 musical albums. During 1970, 12,545 books and 407 records were circulated in the community. New library cards issued to patrons totaled 817, almost double from the previous year.

Mrs. Hart reported an increase in library usage by junior and senior high school students, and heavy usage by all age groups in periodicals and reference works. The largest gain in book circulation was adult books with 2,000 more circulated than in 1969. In recent years the library has enlarged and updated the juvenile book section and Mrs. Hart urged a 1971 in-depth evaluation of books in adult section to more fully meet needs there.

The Gold Mine Thrift Shop, main source of financial support for the library, adjoins the library building and attracts locals and tourists alike for browsing and buying. Mrs. John Lane said volunteer help is always needed for marking and sorting. Clothes and other items donated to the Gold Mine should be boxed or firmly tied. Such donations are tax deductible and list of items together with name and address of donor should be secured to the package. There is a drop-box area next to the Gold Mine entrance where donations can

Secretaries vanish in Libyan offices

TRIPOLI, Libya (UPI)—Walk into some $15,000-a-year, oil executive's office in this oil capital of North Africa and you are likely to find the boss typing his own letters. Secretaries are a vanishing breed in Libya. One girl who works for one of the biggest oil companies here, is secretary not only to the company president but also for two other top directors. At an oilfield service company five busy consultant engineers share the same secretary. For the secretaries here, whose ages range from 21 upwards, it means long hours. Said one executive secretary: "I am supposed to work nine till six with 90 minutes off for lunch. I am lucky if I snatch half an hour for lunch and I am often in the office until two or three in the morning." It has its compensations, though. Top secretaries earn $700 a month and more. More usual for a girl with a few years of service is $500 to $600 a month. There is sun 11 months of the year, and glorious miles of beaches.

For some girls, however, there can be no compensations for the remote life they have to lead. Mini-skirts are banned and a few offending girls had their legs painted by crusading police men. In the streets of Tripoli, girls complain that they come in for more than fair share of pinching.

It is not unusual for British or American girls to be arrested for minor driving offenses and be taken to the police station. There, the officer on occasion has offered to let the charge go if the girl will go out on a date with him.

This happens rarely though. Most girls get through two or three years in Tripoli without being faced with direct propositions. But few get by without receiving persistent advances from the Arab men. Apart from being expert at brushing off, the secretary must also be a thorough do-it-yourselfer. Plumbers, electricians, handymen, and other tradesmen are difficult to find and expensive when you do catch up with them.

"Who would have thought two years ago that we would all be making our beer and wine?" asked one pretty girl who turns out 50 gallons a month for herself and friends.

Said another: "I don't look much like a butcher, do I? But when they banned pork here I bought a pig on the hoof and had it slaughtered. I was up 'til four in the morning hacking the beast up but it was worth it. I put it in the deep freeze." Like all other jobs in Libya the government wants Libyans in the job if possible. But Libyans girls, allowed by their conservative families to work, are few and far between. Trained Libyan secretaries are at a premium.

Science called tool for improving man

NEW YORK (UPI)—If the distinguished scientist, Dr. Philip Handler, is right in asserting that no other "tool" compares even remotely with science for "improving the condition of man," then man's condition could be improving at a dizzy pace.

He made his remark at a scientific party celebrating the new third edition of the McGraw-Hill Encyclopedia of Science and Technology. It requires almost a million more words and a thousand more articles to set forth science's knowledge and knowhow than did the 1968 edition.

How ill-informed and short-sighted are the youth who blame science for all ills from Vietnam to a despoiled environment, said Handler. They do not distinguish between scientific knowledge and how that knowledge is used, whether for good or ill.

Almed At Libraries. They've been turned off on science and, being turned off, pass up this "most powerful tool" for doing what they want to do—which is to improve man's lot.

Handler, who is president of the National Academy of Sciences, was one of 2,500 scientists and technologists who contributed to the 15-volume, 10,800-page encyclopedia, which has a list price of $380. It is not expected to make any best-seller list since it is aimed mainly at libraries.

Its editor-in-chief, Daniel N. Lapedes, a microbiologist by scientific discipline, was relaxed, but only for the evening since he must begin work at once in the fourth edition which is due five years hence.

Five years are hardly enough for updating science, he said—it moves so fast. More than 65 per cent of the 1968 edition had to be revised with additions. Many articles had to be entirely recast.

For example, there is the subject of genetics, which in five years has produced a host of new findings, including the recent isolation of a gene. Ecology now is a subject discussed on street corners and bars. This science never has known such fruitful days.

Oceanography has kept him very busy for five years, along with space technology, geophysics, conservation and electronic. There were was all the activity in psychopharmacology and psychoacoustics, which is to say nothing of the need to be up to date from astronomy to zoology.

Microbiology is simple compared to this editorship, he said.

THE FUNSPOT SOUTH OF THE BORDER

42 MILES JACKPOT

TWO OUTSTANDING PLACES TO EAT IN JACKPOT.

'Listening' class offered at CSI

TWIN FALLS — College of Southern Idaho students — and a number of Magic Valley adults — should be better listeners after completing a unique course offered at the college.

The course, "Effective Listening," has been developed and produced by Xerox Corporation primarily as a help to businessmen and their employees who must work with oral instructions. Seven Idaho higher-education institutions, including CSI, acquired the franchise to present the course to their students and their communities.

ISU to teach classes

TWIN FALLS — Three Idaho State University classes have been added to the series planned for the spring semester at the College of Southern Idaho.

They include Psychology 301, Abnormal Psychology, and Education 648, Teaching of Elementary Science, each of which will require a minimum of 12 students, and Business 303, Real Estate, which must have 16 registrants.

Registration for the three courses will be conducted at Shields academic building at CSI next Monday from 7 to 9 p.m. If registration does not meet the minimum in any course, it will not be taught.

Information may be obtained from Marvin Glascock at CSI, telephone 733-9554, extension 221.

course includes a series of taped, recorded comments by a variety of speakers who simulate actual situations. Students are to listen to the speakers and answer questions.

The program is designed to improve the student's listening skills up to 75 per cent, according to Marvin Glascock, CSI adult-education director, who is presenting the course to all English classes as well as during an evening course.

The evening class, covering just two sessions of 90 minutes each, will be taught Jan. 28 and Feb. 4 in Room 117 of Shields academic building, for a total cost of $10 per student, including materials.

Students will register during the first class period, which will begin at 7:00 p.m. Jan. 28.

Glascock urged all persons who are involved with oral communication in any way to consider taking the course. It was designed by Dr. Frank Nichols, an authority on listening skills at the University of Minnesota.

Mrs. Agnew backs Spiro

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew said Thursday she would go along with her husband if he ever decides to run for president.

"That's something he's got to make up his mind about," said Mrs. Judy Agnew in an article in the current issue of McCall's magazine. "He's got to be happy in what he's doing, and if he's happy, then the family is happy."

She said she has steered herself "not to get upset when people criticize Spiro." She said she has only received one letter that attacked her personally.

Packaged 'Caddies'

CONTAINERIZED shipping of new cars to insure the quality of the finished product has become a reality. Four containers, each housing three Cadillacs, are hoisted onto a railroad flatcar at Detroit in a pilot program of the General Motors Corporation. A total of 200 Cadillac cars are being shipped to Oakland, Calif., during the next six months to test the system. (UPI)

Italians watch U.S. Congress

ROME (UPI) — Few Italians concern themselves with the work of their own parliament, but every weaver and cobbler in Italy is watching the new U.S. Congress to see if some new form of the Mills Bill comes up again.

Italian textile and shoe manufacturers rejoiced at Christmas time because of a sort of special seasons greetings from the U.S. Senate when the Mills Bill, was dropped in a rush to adjourn the 91st Congress.

But few are convinced the 92nd Congress will not take up the issue again. Some already are scouting for other markets to sell their cloth and shoes just in case some new protectionist measure becomes law.

The Mills Bill — named after its sponsor, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark. — sought to raise tariffs on all foreign textiles and shoes imported to the United States to give American textile and shoe manufacturers a larger share of the domestic market. The pressure of unemployment in southern and New England textile and shoe factories had the Congress dropping the controversial trade bill shortly before Christmas, congressional leaders made no mention of bringing it up again. But the near passage of the Mills Bill last session prompted the Italian senate to hold special committee meetings on its possible effect to the economy. Government leaders publicly condemned it. Some even talked about retaliatory tariff hikes on American goods imported into Italy.

Italians export nearly $200 million worth of textiles annually to the United States, about $175 million in shoes and another $60 million in other leather goods. Italians can't understand the growing protectionist attitude in the United States, especially since America now continues to come out better in overall trade with Italy.

Williams requests appearance delay

By MELBA THORNE
Times-News Correspondent
SHOSHONE — Danny Williams, 18, of Shoshone asked for the statutory time to enter a plea to a charge of first-degree murder when he was arraigned in District Court on Thursday. Williams was charged in connection with the death of Mrs. Melba Gray, whose body was found along railroad tracks southeast of Shoshone last November. District Judge Charles Scoggin ordered Williams and his attorney, public defender Phillip Becker, to appear at 10 a.m. Jan. 28, to enter a plea. Williams is being held without bond in the Lincoln County jail. Williams was bound over to District Court on the murder charge on Dec. 2, after a preliminary hearing before Probate Judge C.M. Wilson. The youth is charged with killing Mrs. Gray, mother of six children, and leaving her body on the railroad tracks where it was discovered on Nov. 13, 1970. The woman's body had apparently been run over by a train. Mrs. Gray's small car was found near the tracks, apparently stuck in the mud, and with the motor still running. Mrs. Gray's six children, ranging in age from 5 to 16 years, are now living in Burley with their father, who was separated from their mother at the time of the death. A fund administered by the Shoshone Chamber of Commerce for the children has exceeded $2,300 and the Social Security Administration recently released figures which indicate that the children will be eligible for survivors' benefit payments which will eventually total about $30,000. The payments will be made monthly until the youngest child reaches 18. The Shoshone Chamber of Commerce will name a committee to set up a savings account or other means of administering the donations equitably, they said recently.

Magic Valley

Aftermath

TWO VIEWS of a wash-out on a north Raft River Valley road show the force of floodwaters that boiled from a desert gully across the roadway, cutting two-foot-deep channels. By late Thursday repairs had not yet been begun by Raft River Highway District crews, although the road had been blocked off.

Delegation asks airport help

Milar said he told law makers Twin Falls city and county officials are now concerned with the immediate needs of the Twin Falls airport facility. If a regional facility is to be developed in the future, he said, this is a new and separate project but in the meantime air carrier service must be maintained at the Twin Falls airport. Milar suggested if a regional airport is desired in another adjoining county, the officials of that county should begin plans now for establishing a Regional Airport Authority and lay the groundwork for funding. Nearly all air carrier airports of the state are facing the same problems, it was pointed out, and a state-wide solution is needed. Pocatello officials said they are faced with the same problems and need about $500,000 to meet immediate needs. Allan Larsen, Blackfoot, chairman of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee, and his vice chairman, Dr. John Edwards, Council, arranged for the Boise meeting. Milar said. On the joint committee are legislators from Gooding, Minidoka and Cassia counties who lead discussions of the regional airport concept, Milar said. Chet Moulton, state aeronautics director, also meeting with the legislative committee, said there is a need for financing light aircraft facilities around the state and for general aircraft landing facilities which are difficult to fund on a strictly local basis.

Murphy benefit Saturday

JEROME — Plans for a benefit pancake supper Saturday evening to aid the family of the late Harry Murphy have been made by the Jerome Extension Clubs. The supper will be served at Jefferson School, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m., according to Mrs. R.J. Reichhard, spokeswoman for the South Central Community Action Agency, and Mrs. Julie Soal, representative of the HOPE organization in Jerome. Tickets for the dinner will be available in advance or at the door. Murphy died recently in Boise while undergoing tests prior to heart surgery. Mrs. Murphy was a patient at St. Benedict's Hospital at Jerome for two months following an auto accident.

Day care center site set

Members of the board emphasized this is not a babysitting service, but will provide social and educational assistance to the youngsters attending. Medical and dental check-ups will also be provided, the chairman said. In some respects the program will be similar to Head Start classes except it will operate on a year-round basis and full rather than part days. Reichhard said there are no funds available for school supplies. Except for a few items left over from the Head Start program, he said, the community will be asked to donate, loan or help purchase supplies, equipment and educational material. He asked persons who have stationery, pencils, blankets, sheets, educational toys, small pillows, kitchen equipment and dishes, commercial canned food, first aid supplies and either cash or trading stamps to contact the center. Items may be donated, he said, by calling Marlene Butler, 324-5713, or they may be left at the HOPE center in Jerome. Donations must be marked for the day care center, he said, and should also contain the name of the donor. Major equipment items, he suggested should be loaned the center rather than given to minimize bookkeeping and record keeping requirements of the staff. Jerome CAA members will meet next on Feb. 11 to elect officers. A Jerome County Policy Advisory Committee will also be named at that time to work with the Tri-County CAA group in conjunction with the Jerome Day Care Center. The committee will be made up of 51 per cent parents of children using the center.

Officials selected at Filer

FILER — Gerald Mullens has been named city marshal and Leo Ross was appointed as maintenance supervisor by Filer Mayor Dan Knuffman today. Mrs. Frances Wells was named city clerk, and the legal firm of Rayborn, Rayborn, Webb and Pike, Twin Falls, was retained to represent the city in legal matters. Richard Schweitzer and Max Henry of the City Council were appointed to supervise city finances; Ralph Eaton and Gilbert Chandler, also of the council, will have charge of streets and sidewalks, and Edgar Larson will serve as building inspector.

Director selection slated

TWIN FALLS — The board of directors of the South Central Community Action Agency will meet in special session Thursday to interview six applicants for the directorship of the agency. Jack Reichhard, Jerome, chairman of the board, said a decision should be made that night. He said the closed meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the judicial annex in Twin Falls. Reichhard said the six who have been invited for personal interviews by the board are among 18 who have been reviewed by the personnel committee. Former director Larry Mack resigned under fire last month and Dennis Pratt has been serving as director during the interim. Reichhard said some of the six applicants are local people and some are from outside the area. He said it will depend upon who is selected on how soon the new director will begin work.

Ex-area woman killed

KIMBERLY — Mrs. Fern Poor, 64, former Kimberly resident, was fatally shot Thursday night during a robbery of the motel she managed in Hayes, Kan. According to information received by her only son, Ed Ginder, Kimberly, from Hays police, the assailant shot Mrs. Poor and then killed her mother. Mrs. Poor was not killed instantly, and was able to call police. She died about three hours later in a hospital where efforts were being made to perform surgery, Mrs. Ginder said. Ginder is en route to Hays. Mrs. Poor, who once operated a cafe on Main Street in Kimberly, had managed the West Hays motel the past 10 years. She is survived, in addition to her son, by three grandchildren, Tommy and Craig Ginder, both in Kimberly, and Mrs. Ralph Krueger, Alma, Neb., and four great-grandchildren.

Pioneer unit gets donation

FAIRFIELD — The Cassia Prairie Pioneer Association has received $250 from the estate of a former pioneer resident, according to Mrs. Carroll Vansike, secretary. She stated that she had recently received word of the death of John Francis Ryan, Aug. 17, in a Salt Lake City rest home. Mr. Ryan, who was born Jan. 17, 1891, in Park City, Utah, moved with his parents to Cassia Prairie while an infant. He was graduated from the University of Michigan and held a master's degree from the University of Washington. He taught school in Idaho and Washington. He was also employed by the Bureau of Reclamation in Idaho and Washington.

Meet set

EDEN-HAZELTON — Dr. Fred McCabe, of the Child Development Center in Twin Falls, will be the speaker at the Valley PTA at the Eden Grade School at 7 p.m. Sunday. A Valley School Board member will present the pro's and con's of the eighth grade attending school at Hazelton instead of Valley High School. Parents that have an interest in this matter are urged to attend this discussion, and also visit the Eden classrooms to see a display of the children's work.

Rupert death ruled suicide

By June Drago
Times-News Correspondent
RUPERT — A coroner's jury Thursday afternoon found the death of Jesse Mancillas, 21, Burley, on Jan. 12 to be "apparently self-inflicted." The seven-member jury, which included a deaf-mute and several Spanish-Americans who required interpreters, heard testimony from three individuals as well as three law enforcement officers. The jury's report stated young Mancillas, a Vietnam veteran, died from a .22 calibre pistol-fired "without criminal intent, apparently self-inflicted." A letter was read from Dr. Robert Miler on details of the autopsy stating more investigation would be necessary to determine the extent of the powder burns on the skin because the area around the wound had been shaved at the Minidoka Memorial Hospital where Mancillas died. Pros. Atty. Don Chisholm said today no report has yet been received. Sebastian Garcia, Burley, testified he and Mancillas had talked at a bar the night of Jan. 11 and Mancillas had told him he was having an argument with his girlfriend. Mary Mendiola, Rupert, testified she was the girlfriend and told about the argument with Mancillas. She said he shot five bullets in her apartment, four in the floor and one at the wall. She then ran outside, but stopped when he shouted if she did not stop he would kill himself. As she turned to come back inside the apartment, he shot himself, she said. Her daughter, Mary Cavillejo, verified details of her mother's testimony. Also testifying were Paul Pries and Elmer Essig, both Rupert Police officers. Lieut. Jack Moore, special investigator for the Idaho State Police, Lewiston, reported he had given lie detector tests to Mrs. Mendiola and her daughter previous to the inquest. Jurors were Howard Leo Childs, Monte Hunter, Max Casias Jr., Jose Zamora, Rogelio Maldonado, Abraham Garcia and Lee Nielson. The inquest was held in the Minidoka County courthouse.

Narrow escape

Directors re-elected

FILER — Merl Leonard and Arnold Gier were re-elected to three-year terms as directors of the Filer Mutual Telephone Co. at an annual membership meeting Thursday. Mrs. Helen Cannon, a certified public accountant, gave the yearly financial report during the meeting, and C.M. Cunningham, manager of the utility, conducted a question-and-answer period on company policy. During the organizational meeting, H.L. Cedarholm was re-elected chairman of the board; Ora Jones, Hollister, was named vice chairman, and Leonard was named secretary-treasurer.

Former Valley resident barely avoids roof collapse

McCALL — A Magic Valley native Larry Durk, McCall-Donnelly High football and wrestling coach, was one of six who were within seconds of entering the school gymnasium when it collapsed under the weight of heavy snow last Friday evening. Durk, a 1970 graduate of Idaho State University, will long remember his first year of coaching after Friday's experience. He drove up to the school with district maintenance supervisor Hank Knowles and four members of his wrestling team just in time to see a "cloud" of snow and burst of steam from ruptured heating system pipes, as three huge laminated beams supporting the gym roof settled in what had been the south end of the eleven-year-old athletic facility. And, ironically, the reason they weren't already inside was that they had lingered over a second cup of coffee in the country home of two of the boys, where the men had gone by Jeep through deep snow to bring the youths into town for an early Saturday departure to a Kamiah tournament. Weighing in in the basement locker room, followed by running in the gym, were goals of the six, who were stopped within feet of the outside entrance by the collapse. A record 23 inches of snow fell in McCall that day, bringing on-the-level total depth to another Jan. 15 record of 79 inches. Students had been dismissed from classes in both the McCall elementary and high schools and neighboring Donnelly Junior High early Thursday afternoon, when the storm became severe. A scheduled basketball game with Council in the gym Friday night had been canceled that evening, as highways became nearly impassable. There were no other persons in the immediate vicinity of the school when Durk and his companions drove up. Apparently no one heard the muffled noise of juddered air escaping and splintered boards falling, due to considerable distance between the school and neighboring homes. The young mentor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Durk, who now make their home in Portland. He attended Twin Falls, Murtaugh and Hansen areas schools and graduated from the Eden-Hazelton Valley High School, where he was active in PFA. He and his wife and two small children are making their home in McCall, where he is coaching a successful wrestling program begun in the district only three years ago. The team made its trip to Kamiah, and at this date are improvising facilities to host six area schools for a scheduled mat tournament tomorrow. One of the two wrestling mats was badly damaged by the roof collapse, but uniforms and a second mat were retrieved by the coach within minutes. His boys, unheeding his pleas to stay out of the basement locker room, followed him down their initial recovery, the team's scales. Undaunted in dual matches this year, the wrestlers were disappointed at their fifth place tourney performance, in spite of the impediments of their gym loss, narrow escape, and 150 mile drive over hazardous roads.

Big men pull CSI away from Ricks in last half

REXBURG — Nationally third-ranked College of Southern Idaho turned to a crisp passing game and its big men Thursday night to break Ricks' College attempt at a zone to claim an 84-67 victory—the Eagles' 17th in a row.

Ralph Palomar, Ron Behagen and Tim Bassett, in addition to dominating the boards, accounted for three-quarters of the Eagle points.

Ricks opened hot and gave the Eagles some problems in the first half. The Vikings, who like a running game, pulled ahead at the outside but Bassett and Behagen started getting inside points as CSI drew even and it stayed light through the intermission buzzer.

Palomar started scoring in the second half, picking up 17 of his 22 points in that stretch.

His scoring allowed the Eagles to move ahead by 10 points before Ricks pulled back again. With a score at 57-51, Palomar hit a rebound shot and a short hook and Steve Hegens hit a long shot. After Ricks picked up four points Behagen, Palomar and Bassett reeled off consecutive field goals for the first CSI 14-point lead.

Dave Cleaves, a freshman from Highland of Pocatello and the leading Ricks scorer with 17 points, then hit five straight points to close the gap to 69-62 with six minutes remaining.

Vic Kelly got the Eagles going again with a driving bucket and Palomar got a field goal and Hegens a free throw to give CSI a 72-point margin with just over four minutes remaining.

That was enough to clinch the victory although in the closing minutes Palomar hit four more points and Bassett and Behagen connected again to establish the 17-point difference.

CSI will be idle until Monday when they travel to Utah State and will spend the week on the road, playing at Eastern Utah and Mesa Jan. 29 and 30. They return home for a return match with Ricks on Feb. 4.

Runner-up quarterbacks to head all-pro squads

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The quarterbacks of the teams that didn't make it to the Super Bowl, John Brodie of the San Francisco Forty Niners and Daryl Lamonica of the Oakland Raiders, have a score to settle in Sunday's Pro Bowl.

Emotional illness stop Horton

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Cleveland Indian first baseman Tony Horton, 26, will apparently miss the 1971 season because of an emotional illness that has kept him in a hospital almost continuously since last August, manager Alvin Dark said Thursday.

"I don't think there's any way possible for Tony Horton to play baseball for us in the coming season," said Dark from his home in Miami. "I've talked with his father recently and from all reports I get, I don't see how he can be ready this season."

Dark said Horton has been in a hospital for treatment of emotional problems all but two weeks since he was given permission to leave the team Aug. 28.

"I'm told he's coming along pretty good," said Dark. "But as to the future, right now no one knows. Tony is such a wonderful dedicated kid."

"I feel terrible about it," said Dark. "The important thing is for him to get well. We're concerned about the boy, not the loss of a player."

Horton's best season was in 1969 when he drove in 93 runs and batted .278. He held out for a large raise and reported to camp March 29 for a reported $45,000.

However, his performance fell off sharply last season.

Ryun opens running comeback

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Jim Ryun, world record holder in the mile, launches a comeback Friday night at the age of 23.

He joins a star-studded field of record-holders in the eighth annual Indoor All-American Games at the Cow Palace. But unlike Ryun, athletes like Handy Matson, Bob Seagrren, Lee Evans, Mark Winzenried and Don Quarrie will be shooting for world indoor records.

Ryun will probably be satisfied with a four-minute effort in his specialty. That's a far cry from his world record of 3:51.1 but right in line with his comeback program of progressing in stages.

"Ryun is nearly ready," said meet director Jim Terrill. "He ran a 4:04 time trial early in December and has a great deal of pride. He wouldn't be here unless he was ready to roll."

Spanish team captain killed

CERVINIA, Italy (UPI)—The captain of the Spanish national fobled team was killed Thursday after taking a sick luncheon's place in a two-man sled which crashed into a tree during training for the 1971 world championship.

Luis Lopez, 29, a former Spanish track champion from Huesca, died when the bob rocketed off the 3,609 foot Blue Lake course in the last blue. Driver Eugenio Baturone Ribas, 29, was hospitalized with a broken leg and chest injuries.

The two men were making their next-to-last training run with Lopez sitting in for brakeman Guillermo Rosal, who was suffering from a severe cold when the bob left the course, flew several dozen yards through the air and smashed against a tree.

Game tonight

Twin Falls won the first meeting of the year at Jerome by three points. It is a non-conference game.

Sid Wicks player of January

ATLANTA (UPI)—Sidney Wicks' sensational play in moving UCLA toward its fifth consecutive NCAA basketball title today earned the 6-8 forward the January "Player of the Month" designation in candidate voting for the Naismith Trophy.

The Naismith Trophy is presented annually to the nation's outstanding college basketball player at the end of the season after balloting by the nation's sports writers and broadcasters.

Arts Gilmore, Jacksonville's 7-2 All America candidate, was named December's player of the month. Low Alcindor of UCLA won the first Naismith Trophy and Pete Maravich of Louisiana State was the 1970 winner.

Wicks, averaging over 24 points a game, is called "the best basketball player in the country" by his coach, John Wooden.

Ole Miss has new grid coach

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—Billy Kinard, Mississippi's new head football coach, said Thursday he was following in the steps of "probably the greatest football coach" in the nation.

"I know it's a challenge—I accept the challenge, but with humility," he said. Kinard who was named to succeed veteran Johnny Vaught as chief of the Ole Miss Rebels in a swap which also saw his older brother, Frank "Bruiser" Kinard, appointed athletic director to succeed the retiring C. M. "Bud" Smith.

The younger Kinard, a native of Jackson, was a star halfback under Vaught in the 1950s. He also was a two-year letterman in baseball.

He played professional football for four seasons following his graduation, as a defensive halfback with the Cleveland Browns in 1956, Green Bay in 1957-58, and Buffalo in 1960.

He served as an assistant coach from 1961-69 at Auburn, Florida and Georgia before joining Frank Broyles' staff at Arkansas as defensive backfield coach in 1970.

Kinard, 37, is the 27th old miss head coach since 1893 but only the sixth since 1925 and the first Rebel alumnus named to the post.

Irish and UCLA meet Saturday

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Once Notre Dame beat UCLA in basketball.

But that was 18 years ago, and the Irish since then have lost five straight games to the Uclans, four of them in the last four years when Johnny Wooden's team has gone on to the national championship and Notre Dame's title hopes have vanished.

Saturday the Irish get another chance when the unbeaten No. 1 rated Uclans appear on the Notre Dame court boasting a string of 47 straight victories over all foes and 13 straight without a loss this season.

Each of these figures could be increased by one before the tipoff against Notre Dame since UCLA plays against Loyola of Chicago Stadium Friday night, and the defending national titleholders were expected to win handily. Loyola has won only two and lost 11.

But a triumph over the Irish shouldn't be as easy, particularly since Notre Dame will have the benefit of playing before its ferocious home fans and despite its 8-4 record, might be rated as having a chance to upset the Uclans anyhow.

"We know they're a great basketball team," Irish Coach Johnny Dee declared, "but this type of competition is nothing new for us. We played them last year and the year before that and they haven't changed."

The game will be nationally televised, starting at 3:40 p.m. EST.

Palomar climbs in point race

Ralph Palomar climbed into fourth place among intermountain collegiate athletic conference scorers this week, and the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles have three of the top six point producers.

Palomar, who climbed ahead of the niling Steve Hegens 313 points to 287, has a 19.5 average and trails Sid Hanso of Eastern Utah at 21.6 and Ken Gubler of Dixie at 19.8. Hegens is fourth with a 19.1 average while Ron Behagen is third with 18.9.

Tim Bassett, Palomar and Behagen rank in the top nine rebounders with Bassett leading with 12 takeovers per game and fourth in the loop, Palomar sixth with 10.2 and Behagen ninth with nine.

The Eagles, ranked third in the nation, are averaging 92.1 points per game and allowing only 65.3.

Looking for their fourth straight league championship, the Eagles have a 2-0 loop mark and only Mesa is left undefeated at 1-0. Ricks College is 1-1, Snow College, 1-1; Dixie College 0-2 and Eastern Utah 0-1.

Hughes to coach 49ers

HOUSTON (UPI)—Ed Hughes, the architect of the San Francisco Forty Niner offense which was the best in pro football last season, was given a five-year contract Thursday as head coach of the Houston Oilers.

The 43-year-old, curly-haired Hughes, who retired after the 1970 season.

Hughes, who was a cornerback on the world champion New York Giants in 1956, and was with the Los Angeles Rams divisional title team in 1955, is charged with reviving the sagging Oilers, who finished in last place in the American Conference's weakest division last year with a 3-10 record.

"I sincerely believe the team has the potential to become not only a contender, but a champion—maybe even in 1971," Hughes said. "With a few strategic trades and assistance from the draft, I feel the player personnel can be adjusted offensively and defensively to provide Houston fans with an exciting and winning ball club."

He immediately announced the retention of 1970 Oiler assistants Walt Schlinkman and Fran Polsoff and said he would start looking for four more assistants after next week's draft. "The Oilers fired three assistants last week and a fourth, F.A. Dry, resigned Tuesday to become athletic director at the University of Tulsa."

The Oilers' owner, K. S. "Bud" Adams Jr., said he also had started looking for a general manager. He said he had interviewed four persons, but did not name them.

Mrs. Unitas asks divorce

TOWSON, Md. (UPI)—The wife of Johnny Unitas, quarterback of the Baltimore Colts, filed for divorce Thursday, charging adultery and saying in her petition there was no chance for reconciliation.

Mrs. Dorothy-Unitas, who married the quarterback in Pittsburgh in 1954, filed the divorce petition in Baltimore County Circuit Court.

The couple has five children, ranging in age from 3 to 15 years. Mrs. Unitas asked custody of the children and financial support for them.

Many priests say they would quit

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—A nationwide survey showed more than 40 per cent of young Roman Catholic priests felt they were under such severe stress they would consider quitting the priesthood, according to a Notre Dame sociologist.

The survey of parish priests showed one in four would consider leaving because of severe stress, but that the crisis was greatest for young priests.

Prof. John P. Koval said Saturday 42 per cent of priests under 30 and 38 per cent of those under 45 said they would consider leaving because of deep dissatisfaction.

Only a very small proportion of priests over 50 said they thought about leaving, he said. Koval said the survey showed the "generation gap" between

Catholic clergy under 45 and those over 50 was so wide "they really constitute two different churches."

The sociologist said a comparison of the study with one of Protestant ministers, conducted by Dr. Edgar Mills of the National Council of Churches showed the Catholic priests felt they were under much greater stress than their Protestant colleagues.

Only about 12 per cent of Protestant ministers said their problems cause enough stress to make them consider quitting. Usually they listed only one problem, most often lack of financial stability.

On five specific points of comparison between clergy of the two Christian faiths, the Roman Catholic priests cited a feeling of personal loneliness and a lack of marriage as sources of stress, while Protestant clergymen seldom listed marriage as a problem area. Koval said that loneliness and a desire for marriage were far down the list of major problems for Roman Catholic clergy.

"It seemed to be that a lack of gratification from within the structure—the idea of lack of support from colleagues and lack of leadership from church authorities—led them to look outside the church structure and think of personal loneliness and that they would like to get married," Koval said.

The study was financed by the National Federation of Priests Councils and involved a random sample of about 3,000 out of 24,000 priests who belong to the federation.

The Protestant study included 21 denominations, with questionnaires sent to about 5,000 ministers.

Do you change colors to suit conditions?

By C.W. HOOD, Pastor, Trinity Southern Baptist Church

The subject this week is on "The Way of Love", with the scripture setting found in John 13:35, "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye love one another."

Most turtles I know are not aggressive, for when confronted with a problem they retreat to the protection of their own built-in shelters and let the rest of the world go by.

Now, that is one way of reacting when problems and dangers come—run for cover, do nothing and hope for the best. The chameleon acts in a different way. He can change his colors to suit his surroundings.

When dangers lurk near he just blends into the background and waits until the danger passes. That is another way to react to our problems. Just adjust to the situation, and wait for the other fellow to do something.

Now, just like these animals, I know some people—don't you? Some withdraw like the turtle, into the shell of selfishness. Others, like the chameleon, sort of "change their colors" to suit the crowd or the condition. Still a few do so the porcine—they just bristle. I know a better way—the way of love! Jesus said, "By this shall men know that ye are my disciples, if ye love one another."

The trouble with our world is not what most people think. But the trouble is that the way of love has been lost. Where do we really see this love for another being practiced? It certainly is not in the world—Also it is lost among the church members. You may say, "Pastor, you are wrong." But look for a spell at the church as a whole and you will see that I am right because there is much hatred among one another.

Where, then, can we find true brotherly love? We can find this love only in those who are truly God's people. It isn't everyone who says, "Lord, Lord," who is a child of God. As we look around us we can find those who are practicing it in their actions, their words and deeds.

Dear reader are you one of the few? If you are not, then why not really seek Christ to come into your heart and have the kind of love that others can really see.

If Harry had tried the diamond finesse he would have wound up one trick short.

West was marked with the queen of clubs by his club raise and the play to the first trick. Remember the code word ARCH where A stands for Analyze the lead and R for Review the bidding.

It was almost a sure thing that East would hold the king of diamonds for his opening bid.

The hand could still be made if diamonds were to break 3-3. Harry's play gave the extra chance of winning against king-small in the East hand.

Old marks called moon phase sign

NEW YORK (UPI)—While the last Ice Age glaciers were receding some 34,000 years ago, man—a nomadic hunter who had not yet developed agriculture—made and recorded astronomical observations, according to a startling new archeological discovery.

Scientists Wednesday hailed Alexander Marshack, 52-year-old writer and amateur archeologist, for analyzing cryptic pre-historic markings on shaped stones, and bones in several museums here and abroad as records of moon phases.

Marshack will make a full report on his findings to a joint meeting of the American Physical Society and the American Association of Physics Teachers here next week. A preliminary report indicated his achievement may rank with the discovery of the deciphering of the Rosetta Stone.

Marshack was launched on his research while collaborating with Justrow on a book about the moon. Justrow described Marshack, who is a research assistant at Harvard's Peabody Museum, as "a trained archeologist" even though he does not have the academic qualifications.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My sister in law had to have a gall bladder operation, so she told her doctor that while she's on the operating table, and under the anesthetic, she'd like for him to pierce her ears. He said he'd be glad to do it. Well, here's the problem. He's a very good surgeon for gall bladder operations, but he wasn't too good at piercing ears, and he really loused up her ears. (The "holes" weren't in the same place on both ears, and they also became infected.) He said he was sorry, but he hadn't pierced any ears in 30 years, but after they healed up he would be glad to do them over again.

I told her she would have to be crazy to let that surgeon pierce her ears again and she should go to a doctor who does a lot of that kind of work and he does it right.

She said she paid $600 for the gall bladder operation and she wasn't about to pay another doctor to pierce her ears, and besides she didn't want to hurt her doctor's feelings. I'd like your opinion.

DEAR SIS: Having spoken your mind, say no more. It's hard to believe that a surgeon who is "very good" at gall bladder surgery would "louse up" something so elementary as ear-piercing. The placement of the "holes" was the doctor's fault, but the "infection" could have been due to her carelessness.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are in total disagreement about my father in law's upcoming marriage. My wife is mad at her father for personal reasons which I will not go into, and she refuses to attend the wedding. She says that I should stay home, too. I have no ill feelings against my father in law, as a matter of fact I am very fond of him.

I want to attend the wedding. My wife says no. Can you settle this right away?

DEAR PUZZLED: Your wife can stay home if she wants to, but she has no right to insist that you stay home.

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I went on a trip last year we hired a woman to stay in our home and look after our three children. We thought we knew this woman quite well—she was sort of in our social circle and belonged to our club.

After we came home, and several weeks later, I couldn't find a pair of earrings and a pin to match, which had been a birthday gift from another friend of mine. I would know this jewelry anywhere as it was quite unusual.

Last evening my husband and I went to our club, and there was this friend who stayed at our home last year, wearing my jewelry! Up until that time I wanted to believe that I had just misplaced it. Needless to say, I was shocked. Shall I confront her with the facts as I know them, or should I just wait and hope she reports your column?

DEAR PORT: Confront her with the facts. But don't expect her to hand them over. Anyone who would steal, would probably lie.

DEAR ABBY: A Washington lady with brains, hours' workouts, and a head who beams it. Had better condone it. Lost changing, she opts for new swims. [signed] ... SOUR GRAPES IN CUCAMONGA

National Boat Show scheduled

NEW YORK (UPI)—The 61st National Boat Show opens in New York's Coliseum on Saturday, Jan. 23, for a nine-day stand that will entertain an estimated 400,000 boating enthusiasts.

It is the first major marine exhibit of 1971 and will be followed by dozens more throughout the country to give the boating fraternity an idea of what the market will offer this year in the way of boats, engines and accessories.

The emphasis at the New York show appears to be on sailing craft, with about one-fourth of the more than 400 boats on exhibit listed in that category.

The sailboats range in length from the queen of the sailing fleet, a 39-foot, 3-inch Pearson 39, all the way down to a 6-foot sailing dinghy.

Almost one-fourth of the sailboats are over 20 feet in length and many feature sleeping accommodations. One British craft measuring 15 feet has four berths below deck, making it probably the smallest cruising sailboat of comparable accommodation ever to appear in the show.

Among the sails, there is a notable absence of wooden craft, lending further weight to the move toward fiberglass by builders of stock sailboats.

For would-be sailing enthusiasts who haven't tried the sport but would like to, there are at least three sailing school exhibits. And for those who like to read about it, 18 publishing firms are on hand with books and periodicals.

Coincidentally with opening of the show comes a report from the industry that in 1970 estimated sales of recreational boating products totaled $3,440,000,000 (b), a gain of 4.5 per cent over 1969.

The report, issued jointly by the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers and the Boating Industry Association, shows that these dollars went toward new and used boats and equipment, fuel, insurance, dockage, maintenance, launching fees, storage, repairs and club memberships.

The total number of boats estimated in use in the United States during 1970 rose 1.9 per cent to a new high of 8,014,000, an increase of 168,000, the report showed.

It estimated that 44,070,000 (m) Americans went boating more than once or twice during 1970, 800,000 more than in the previous year.

Despite the record amount of expenditures in 1970, unit sales of new outboard motors, trailers and boats generally were off from 1969, according to the report. The overall dollar volume rise was attributed mostly to increased sales of used equipment, greater revenues from service, greater participation, and the price rises that went into effect in 1970.

The record number of boats in use was broken down as follows:

- 827,000 inboard motorboats,
- 2,357,000 rowboats, canoes, dinghies and miscellaneous craft, some of which are used with outboard power.

The horns of the greater kudu, a type of antelope, may reach a length of more than five feet.

Douglas oyster move renewed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The effort to impeach Justice William O. Douglas has been resurrected by Rep. Louis Wyman, R-N.H., who has proposed an investigating committee with instructions to wield tougher powers than the House subcommittee that cleared Douglas last month.

Wyman said he would introduce a resolution designed to set up a six-panel that would be told to subpoena witnesses and take testimony under oath—powers not used by the House Judiciary Subcommittee headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

Wyman said the greatest single reason for a new investigation is the report of the Celler subcommittee.

"The report shows that he (Douglas) made more money on the side in the '60s than he drew in salary as a judge," he said.

About 110 congressmen of both parties signed a drive against the 72-year-old justice last year, charging he associated with gamblers, practiced law while on the bench, advocated violence and that excerpts from one of his books appeared in a magazine they described as pornographic.

Oil-producing nations vie with consumers for profit

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Aside from the air man breathes and the food he must consume to live, probably no single commodity is as important to modern, industrialized society as oil.

Negotiations centering on Tehran, Iran, are then of more than passing interest because their outcome will go far toward determining the price world consumers will pay for this major source of energy as it flows from the gasoline pump into your automobile or from the pipeline into the family furnace.

Aligned on the one side are the world's major oil companies—notably Esso, Royal Dutch-Shell, British Petroleum, Gulf, Mobil, Standard of California, Texaco and Compagnie Francaise des Petroles.

In return the companies are demanding a five-year agreement to insure a measure of stability and guarantees against Communist world's oil-producing countries, operating behind a united front called the Organization of Oil Producing Countries (OPEC).

Primarily these are the Middle East and African center upon an area noted for its instability, namely, the Middle East.

From this confrontation will come a final decision on what already is agreed will be least of all the oil agreements, mostly because the Arab countries do not need the oil but they do need money. It also is noteworthy that even though U. S. foreign policy in support of Israel has led to Arab threats, it has caused no real action against American oil firms.
