Job appeal rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court instructed a lower federal court today to take a closer look at a key test case involving allegations of job-hiring discrimination against women with small children.

In an unsigned opinion, the court returned to the district level the claim of an Orlando, Fla., woman who contended that her civil rights were violated when a factory refused to hire her because she was the mother of pre-school children.

At issue is a provision of the 1964 Civil Rights Act banning sex-discrimination in private employment practices. In returning the case for further consideration, the court said the record at this point was insufficient to decide the important issues involved.

The test case was initiated by Mrs. Ida Phillips, who was refused employment as an assembly-trained in the Orlando plant of the Martin Marietta Corp.

In other actions, the court struck down a Wisconsin law which blocks changes of location of jury trials in misdemeanor cases. By an 8-1 vote, the justices said the Rev. James E. Groppl, militant Milwaukee priest, was entitled to further consideration at the state level of his conviction of charges of violating a curfew ordinance during 1968 civil rights demonstrations in Milwaukee.

Agreed to rule this term whether a 50-year-old court order prevents Greyhound Corp. from continuing its control over Armour & Co., the nation's second largest meat-packer.

'Berets' training Cambodian units

SAIGON (UPI)—Green Berets are training 2,100 Cambodians at bases in South Vietnam, Laos and Thailand in guerrilla tactics to use for attacks on North Vietnam's supply lines through Northeast Cambodia, U.S. military sources said Sunday.

The training by the U.S. Special Forces was organized outside Cambodia to sidestep a congressional ban on sending U.S. ground troops or advisers into Cambodia.

According to military sources, the Green Berets are training 300 Cambodians at two camps in South Vietnam, 300 at camps in Thailand and 1,500 at camps on the Bolovens Plateau in Southern Laos.

The two South Vietnamese camps are Long Hai, near Vung Tau on the southeast coast of Saigon, and Dong Dalinh, south of Nha Trang on the central coast where the 8th Special Forces headquarters is situated.

The operations, the sources said, are being patterned after those of a 25,000-man guerrilla army the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) has recruited, financed, armed and operated in the northeastern and panhandle areas of Laos for several years.

The U.S. Military Command officially disclosed Friday that more than $1.5 million has been appropriated to cover the cost of training Cambodians during the current fiscal year, but did not give details.

Gem solons await bills

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho's 41st Legislature began the third week of its first regular session today, still awaiting introduction of many of the major proposals of Gov. Cecil D. Andrus.

Republican leaders in both houses continued to press committee chairmen for "quality" rather than "quantity" legislation while working on their own version of a program for the state the next fiscal year.

During a two-day weekend recess, the chairman of the House Education Committee indicated Andrus' proposal for public kindergartens may be headed for defeat even before it is introduced.

Rep. Ernest Allen, R-Nampa, said prospects for creating kindergartens are "not bright" because of the money crisis in state government. He said it appears even the Idaho Education Association is "pulling away" its support of kindergartens "because money for teachers is its primary interest."

All new programs are in trouble because of the lack of money to finance them, Allen told newsmen.

In line with this, he recommended re-evaluation of the goals in higher education.

"This state cannot afford the escalation of costs for higher education," Allen said.

Chairmen of the legislative transportation committees indicated cities must look to self-help or county road funds if they want more money for street maintenance and repair.

Both Sen. Reed Budge, R-Soda Springs, and Rep. John O. Sessions, R-Driggs, said they are flatly opposed to any statewide tax increases to help the cities out of their growing chuckhole problems.

"I just don't think the legislature is in any mood for a tax increase and that includes gasoline," Sessions said.

Budget agreed, saying, "I think if there's one thing the people have told us — it's 'no taxes this year.'"

Elswhere on the legislative scene, Assistant House Majority Leader Harold Snow, R-Moscow, said 20 members of the Moscow branch of the American association of University Women want the legislature to raise its salaries.

Snow showed newsmen a copy of a petition sent to him and two other legislators from Latah county in which they were urged to increase their pay.

Rupert man succumbs

RUPERT — Frank Bailes, 34, Rupert farmer, died Sunday at Holy Cross Hospital, Salt Lake City, of injuries he received in a motorcycle accident July 12 near Rupert.

According to Idaho State Police, Bailes was riding a motorcycle on a county road when he lost control of it.

Funeral services are pending at Walk Mortuary.

Airport patching bars jets

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls City-County Airport was closed to jet traffic Sunday night and the closure continued this morning as a portion of the main runway continued breaking because of the early thaw.

City workmen were attempting this morning to patch enough of the smaller breakup areas to permit Air West jets to come in late this afternoon and tonight but a closure of three days faced such traffic.

City Manager Joan Miller and airport officials said arrangements were being made this afternoon for a minimum closure of at least three days. This would permit spot replacement of portions of the runway extending over a length of 1,000 feet in the area where breaking action of the big jets is resulting in the worst damage. Miller said the damaged portions would be removed and a "hot mix" put down.

He said the exact closure days would depend on the weather and temperatures and added that regardless of any situation which might develop the runway could not be fully open to the jets until the repairs are completed.

In the meantime officials of Air West said those planning departures from the local field should first check to be sure the flight is available. This information officials said, is also available through Magic Carpet Travels in Twin Falls.

Record budget looms

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The budget President Nixon will send to Congress Friday will total a record $229.2 billion — including a deficit of more than $10 billion, White House sources said today.

The $229.2 billion figure compares with a $200.8 billion budget the President proposed one year ago for the current fiscal year. That budget was to have produced a $1.3 billion surplus, but economic conditions worsened and anticipated revenue failed to materialize, forcing Nixon to change his figures in May to about $215 billion, with an expected deficit of $15 billion.

Nixon already has said his budget for the business year beginning July 1 would be an expansionary one — "One that will help stimulate the economy and thereby open up new job opportunities for millions of Americans."

In his State of the Union address Friday, Nixon said the new budget would call for the government to spend as though the nation had full employment, in a move designed to attack the highest unemployment in nine years.

The White House also said Sunday the President would hit the road, possibly within the next few weeks, to try to "sell" to the public on two of the major goals unveiled in the Friday address — revenue sharing and reorganization of the federal bureaucracy.

No specific plans were announced but it was understood Nixon is planning to attend four regional Republican meetings, the first one of them in February. It was also expected Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and other top White House officials would take the trail to promote Nixon's plans.

New garb
LETTER CARRIER Ted Johnson shows what the well-dressed postman is wearing these days. New uniforms in use by local postal employees include the new shoulder patch and navy blue ties and trim replacing the former maroon color.

Carriers don blue uniforms

TWIN FALLS — If you think your postman looks different of late — you are right.

There have been some changes made. Letter carriers who have been wearing blue-gray uniforms with maroon trim for years have switched to all blue with navy trim and ties replacing the maroon. "Low hats are now a deep blue to match the ties and trouser stripes.

The old postal insignia with the pony express rider has been replaced by the new emblem of an eagle with "U.S. Mail" beneath. Lloyd Libert, officer in charge of the local post office, said most of the local letter carriers and window personnel have switched to the new uniforms.

Aside from the navy blue instead of maroon trim and new emblem, uniform styles are pretty much the same. Each carrier is given a uniform allowance which Libert says pretty well covers the cost of the work clothes.

The new uniforms were ordered as part of the change of the nation's mail service to the U.S. Postal Service from the former U.S. Post Office Department.

Phosphate warning proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) today proposed that advertisements and packages of phosphate detergents carry a mandatory water pollution warning.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader praised the proposal likening it to the health warning required on cigarette packages.

But the soap and detergent association, representing manufacturers, said it took "strong exception" to the proposal.

"The proposed FTC rule would raise unnecessary doubts on the part of housewives, and in fact would be misleading," the association said in a statement.

The proposed rule, subject to public hearings April 26 and 27, also would require that detergent packages list all ingredients and their respective percentage in the product.

Environmental scientists have concluded that phosphates hasten eutrophication—death of lakes and streams.

In 1969, the Federal Water Quality Administration said removal of phosphates from detergents was essential to combat water pollution. The White House Council on Environmental Quality affirmed this last year.

Sharing hearings promised

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon was unable today to reverse Rep. Wilbur D. Mills' opposition to the idea of a federal-state revenue sharing but the White House said the chief executive did get a promise from the Arkansas Democrat for "expeditious hearings."

After returning to Capitol Hill, Mills confirmed that he would "hold a hearing on it," but added that he told Nixon it would be "not for the purpose of promoting but for the purpose of killing" the proposal.

Nixon met before a glowing log fire in his office with Mills and Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wash., the chairman and ranking member of the House Ways and Means Committee. Both Mills and Byrnes are opposed to revenue sharing.

Truman reported improving

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman's doctors said today his appetite is improving and that Sunday was his "best day" since entering Research Hospital with an inflamed intestine.

Truman's condition was described as fair.

Dr. Wallace H. Graham, personal physician for the 86-year-old former President, issued the following statement today:

"Yesterday was his best day. His appetite is improving. He had a quiet night. He was taken to the radiology department for the scheduled lower-intestinal examinations."

Truman's wife, Bess, 85, returned to the hospital early today to be with her husband. She was accompanied by Mike Westwood, Truman's chauffeur and bodyguard.

The former President's ailment was diagnosed Saturday as colitis, or inflammation of the large intestine.

Sawtooth

BOISE (UPI)—After a 32-minute debate, the House Resources and Conservation Committee reported to the floor without recommendation today a controversial memorial endorsing a Sawtooth recreational area.

In doing so, the committee beat down an effort by its minority members to hold the proposal for study two more weeks.

Director pick soon

TWIN FALLS — A new executive director for the Magic Valley YMCA may be selected this week, according to Leon Smith, president of the board of directors.

Smith said the board has reviewed many applications and has had personal interviews with several of the applicants.

He indicated an announcement will be made in mid-week regarding the directorship which has been vacant since Chet Bartlett resigned last fall.

During the interim Sally Molyneux, executive director of the YWCA, has been serving as director.

Packer ruling slated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to rule whether a 50-year-old court order prevents the Greyhound Corp. from continuing its control over Armour & Co., the nation's second largest meat-packer.

The Armour case was before the high court in June, 1970, in connection with takeover action by General Host Corp. But the court threw out the case when Greyhound was substituted for General Host, which is in the bakery, convenience grocery and restaurant business.

The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) which regulates transportation, authorized the Greyhound takeover. The company's interest in the huge meatpacking concern now amounts to 64 per cent.

The government relief on a

1920 antitrust decree barring the nation's five leading meat-packers from engaging in almost any aspect of the general grocery business.

U.S. District Judge Julius J. Hoffman of Chicago ruled on Jan. 30, 1969, that the decree would prevent Armour from assisting control of General Host, but not vice versa. On July 1, 1970, he ruled the same way as to Greyhound, which also is engaged in industrial catering and operation of eating facilities in bus stations and elsewhere.

Greyhound has been saying it would be willing to divest its food business if necessary, in order to retain Armour control. The business is primarily Prophet Foods, Co., a catering operation, and Post Houses, a restaurant chain.

Yank, Viet units quit pass area

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — South Vietnamese and American forces ended their operation along Cambodia's vital Highway 4 linking Phnom Penh to the sea today, declared the road open and withdrew their forces, military spokesmen said.

Phnom Penh, a city unnerved by three nights of terrorist attacks, was in a state of full alert, with fighting continuing in the surrounding countryside. Communist troops fired a pair of 122mm Soviet-built rockets at Pochenton Airport, blasted by the Communists Friday. The missiles fell short and wounded two villagers.

In Saigon, the South Vietnamese announced they had completed repairs on two bridges south of the Pich Nil Pass on Highway 4 and the road was open. They turned over security to the Cambodians at 7 a.m. and almost immediately the 5,300 South Vietnamese troops were pulled out of the area.

The spokesman said 1,500 Marines returned to their permanent base inside Cambodia at the Mekong River ferry town of Neak Luong, 35 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, and 3,800 rangers and armored cavalrymen drove back to South Vietnamese territory on Highway 3 along the seacoast.

U.S. spokesmen in Saigon said two helicopter carriers which had supported U.S. Army A1H Cobra rocket-firing helicopters making air strikes in direct support of the South Vietnamese and Cambodians during the battle ended their operations today and sailed away from their off-shore stations in the Gulf of Thailand.

It was not known exactly when the American air support began, although officials first acknowledged presence of the two carriers Jan. 17.

Morton hearings begin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate hearings beginning today on the nomination of Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton, R-Md., as secretary of the interior, provide Congress with its first chance to test the depth of the Nixon administration's pledge to revitalize the environment.

Several conservation-minded senators on the interior committee planned to question Morton extensively on a wide range of natural resource problems. Their concerns ranged from the advisability of permitting oil companies to proceed with building a pipeline across the Alaskan tundra to stripping the national forests for commercial timber.

President Nixon named Morton to the Cabinet post after dismissing Walter J. Hickel in November. Nixon said he had lost confidence in the former governor of Alaska. Hickel's commitment to conservation was at first suspect but he became a champion of conservation causes.

Patrols watch menacing slick

By United Press International

Volunteers and Coast Guardsmen patrolled the Connecticut coastline this morning watching for a 12-mile-long oil slick that headed for the shore, threatening some of the state's finest beaches.

The slick, a yellow-blue film of light heating fuel and kerosene, has been curling along the deeply contoured Atlantic Coast on Long Island Sound since Saturday, when the tanker Esso Gettysburg slashed a 600-foot gash in its hull on a rock ledge at the entrance to New Haven Harbor. The spill, estimated at nearly 400,000 gallons, has smudged some beaches and prompted many complaints about foul odors, but no serious damage has resulted yet, according to state officials.

An investigation was begun to see if a misplaced buoy may have caused the grounding.

On the other side of the continent, the Coast Guard convened its formal probe today of a much more serious oil accident, the collision of two tankers a week ago beneath the Golden Gate Bridge.

The remainder of the 840,000 gallons of heavy bunker oil spilled on the West Coast was being dispersed by Pacific Ocean currents.

Family affair

TEAMING to provide country music are Walter and Lora Schroeder, Twin Falls, who appear either as duet or with other ensembles.

Country music draws families

TWIN FALLS — Country music is a family affair for many Magic Valley couples and their relatives.

Typical of the families who enjoy a common interest in music are Walter and Lora Schroeder, Twin Falls, a husband and wife team who appear as a duet or with musical groups.

Since their marriage two years ago the two have appeared with the Country Cousins, Lora as a vocalist. Walt, Bob Knight and Jim Winkle have performed country western music together for a number of years.

Lora, whose real name is Flora, says she has been able to continue her singing despite a throat operation several years ago which threatened even her speaking voice.

"I used to hit a lot higher notes and have changed from a soprano to an alto. Walt arranges all of my music in a lower range so I can still sing the same songs," she said.

Country music requires much practice rather than rehearsals, say the Twin Falls musicians. Lora does her practicing by vocalizing during the day as she goes about her housework and preparing meals. In the evenings when other couples are watching television or reading, Walt and Lora are either playing at a public performance or working out a new arrangement.

Now the group appears at the Moose Hall one night a week, takes part in community and church music activities and Walt and Lora frequently play and sing for weddings, meetings or dinners.

To the Schroeders and many other families, country music making is a hobby, recreation and above all a lot of fun. As Walt says this is the whole idea behind country music — fun for the music makers and the audience.

The two will perform with the Country Cousins group Tuesday, Feb. 16, during the Magic Valley Country Music Association's three night jamboree at CSI. The jamboree to raise funds for Harbor House and music scholarships at CSI will be held Feb. 15, 16 and 17.

Several other married couples will be performing during the jamboree including Bruce and Judy Thomason who play with the Rondevos, Dick and Carole Shaffer of the King's Harvesters, Terry Meindorf who plays with Ray Crumblers and the Sanits, and his wife Arnetta formerly appeared together in many country music events.

Hunt dates set

BOISE (UPI) — Opening dates for big game hunting seasons this fall essentially are the same as last year, according to the Idaho Fish and Game Commission.

Closing dates, bag limits and other regulation details will be fixed by the commission at a special meeting in May; Chairman Ray J. Holmes, Twin Falls reported.

This year again there will be three major opening dates for general elk and deer hunting. These are Sept. 18 for remote roadless high back country regions, Oct. 2 for the surrounding mountainous areas, and Oct. 11 for southern and eastern Idaho.

Oct. 30 is the opening date for the whitetail deer country of the Idaho Panhandle.

Only three units were changed insofar as opening dates for general elk and deer hunting is concerned. Units 29, 30 and 30A on the Montana state line in the Lemhi drainage will have the starting date for big game hunting moved ahead two weeks from last year's schedule, from Oct. 3 to 16, as it was in 1969.

Holmes said this will bring less hunting pressure on local or resident deer and elk earlier in the year and focus more attention on migratory animals from the high country of Montana when they cross the state boundary line.

Controlled elk hunting in Unit 76 will be Oct. 2 compared with Oct. 10 in 1970. In the past, the starting dates always have been the first or second weekend of October because of the opening of waterfowl seasons later.

Unit 69, known locally as the Blackfoot unit, has been added this year to areas that will be open for hunting moose.

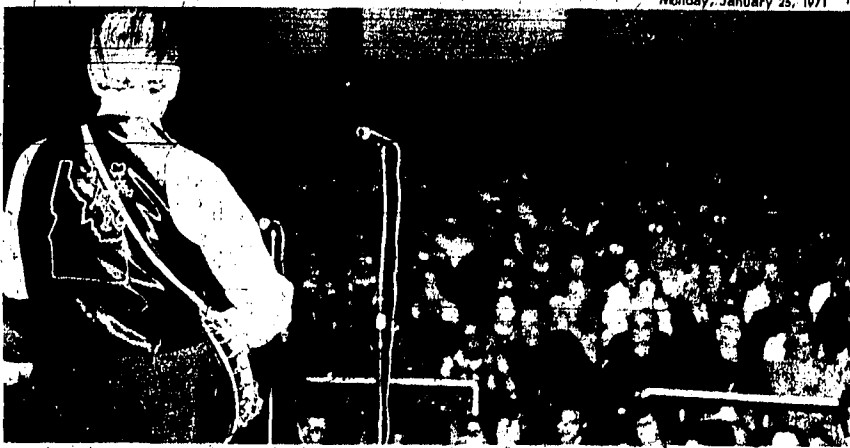

It will be part of controlled hunt 356 and includes Grays Lake drainage.

Twenty-five of a total of 32 units opening for moose hunting have been changed to earlier starting dates than last year. In the past moose openings always have been in conjunction with elk and deer openings in central and northern Idaho.

A portion of Panther Creek will be opened for highhorn sheep for the first time and called hunt 528-2. Bull sheep hunting this year will be under controlled hunts with a specified number of permits, to be determined at a later date.

Thirty-two controlled mountain goat hunts will have opening dates ahead of the start of elk and deer hunting. No new controlled goat units have been added this year but one unit in the Pahsimeroi (637-A last year) was split to form units 637-A-4 and 637-5. Hunt 669 was reduced somewhat in size to protect a small band of goats in spotted Louis drainage.

The difference between rain and sleet is only a few degrees of temperature, warns the Idaho State Police. Don't wait until you start skidding to learn the rain has changed to ice. Treat winter rain with respect, expect it to freeze. Be prepared for it.

Musical meleé

Fiddle fete draws 1,000

TWIN FALLS — American Red Cross officials of the Twin Falls Chapter were still counting receipts today from the Idaho Oldtime Fiddlers Jamboree that attracted more than 1,000 persons to the Filer High School Saturday night.

Hazel Wilder, chairman of the event, said it was necessary to send some of the musicians who had finished performances at the auditorium to the high school gymnasium where they played for the overflow crowd. The result was two jamboree programs instead of one.

Top oldtime music makers from throughout Idaho and some surrounding states donated their time and talent for the benefit. Mrs. Wilder said plans were to use proceeds for purchase of additional first aid equipment and supplies for the chapter's first aid training program and emergency first aid corps.

About 60 musicians performed for the overflow audience, many of whom stood at the rear of the auditorium for the entire program.

Some of the favorites who were called back for encores included the young Walters family from Jerome, a teen-age trio; Ike Pierco, Aberdeen; Gale Ward, Pocatello, who made his debut as a musical performer; Vivian Skeans and Eldon Cearley, Boise, with a fiddle and vocal arrangement and Vena Waggoner who took up fiddle playing only six months ago and is already a top performer. Mrs. Wilder said.

Mannie Shaw, Corral, served as master of ceremonies and Fred Craig, Twin Falls, introduced the local performers in a special Twin Falls program.

Mrs. Wilder and Dave Nelson, Red Cross chapter chairman, expressed their appreciation to the many performers, those who supported the event, news media and the many others who worked to make the jamboree a success.

Theft suspects detained

BOISE (UPI) — Ada County sheriff's officers arrested two men on robbery charges early today, about three and one-half hours after a gunman took an estimated $40 from a Circle K store.

Deputies identified the suspects as Darrell Eugene Douda, 21, and Charles Lee Hite, 29. They booked the two men on robbery charges pending a court appearance later today.

Four highway routes closed

BOISE (UPI) — Snow continued to create driving hazards in Idaho's mountain passes today and kept four sections of road closed.

By road, this was the report from the state departments of Highways and Law Enforcement:

- U. S. 95 — Whitebird Hill, broken snow floor.
- U. S. 95A — Wet.
- Interstate 90, U. S. 10 — Kellogg to Wallace, snow floor, snowing, drifting, one-way traffic, chains advised.

Mining bill criticized for intent

POCATELLO (UPI) — A proposed bill that could "allow and encourage logging and mining in the White Clouds and Sawtooth Mountains" was criticized Saturday by John Merriam, Pocatello, president of the Greater Sawtooth Preservation Council.

He criticized the legislation suggested by Idaho legislator Adon Hyde, Idaho Falls, which urges congress to declare the Sawtooths and White Clouds a recreation area.

He charged the action could allow logging and mining in those areas, and questioned whose interests would be served.

U. S. 12 — Lolo Pass, snow floor, snowing, chains required.

State Highway 55 — Horseshoe Bend Hill, snow floor, snowing; Banks Canyon to New Meadows, ice, snow floor, snowing.

U. S. 93 — Galena to Stanley, Lost Trail snow floor; Stanley to Challis, closed.

State Highway 46, 68 — Mountain Home area, snow floor, snowing.

U. S. 83A — Icy spots. State Highway 24 — Dietrich to Kintama, closed.

State Highway 21 — Creek to Idaho City, broken snow floor, snowing; Idaho City to Lowman, closed.

State Highway 51 — Wet. State Highway 71 — Brownlee, broken snow floor, rain.

U. S. 20-26 — Arco to AEC, icy spots; Swan Valley, closed.

State Highways 31, 33 — Broken snow floor, drifting.

State Highway 32 — Broken snow floor.

State Highway 28 — Gilmore Hill, snow floor.

Interstate 15W, U. S. 30N — Bancroft to Soda Springs, broken snow floor; Montpellier to Wyoming line, icy spots.

Interstate 16, U. S. 91 — Montida Pass, icy spots.

U. S. 191 — Ashtin Hill, West Yellowstone, broken snow floor, snowing, some drifting.

Muskie's Test Of Resolve

WASHINGTON — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's impressively steady upswing in national popularity is generating increasingly poisonous sniping from his party's left, thus confronting him with a stern test of resolve as front-runner for the Democratic Presidential nomination in the 18 months ahead.

Muskie's broad-based popularity is emphatically proved by unpublished surveys conducted by pollster Oliver Quayle for statewide candidates across the country. Those private ratings show Muskie moving slowly ahead of President Nixon in trial heats, far more the result of his own popularity than the President's unpopularity. Simultaneously, however, criticism is rising from the left that Muskie is insufficiently committed and overly passive, mostly in private comments but increasingly in print. The tone is set in the January issue of The New Democrat, a provocative monthly edited by

Joseph Schiesinger (son of the historian-politician). "The fundamental weakness of the man, which liberals have sniffed for the past decade, is Muskie's tendency to waffle on the national problems of the day," writes a pseudonymous "Franklin Pierce." To "Pierce," Muskie is the candidate of the old I.B.J. Clique. Muskie's test is clearly evident to his wisest advisers: to resist at all costs the almost irresistible tendency to appease shrill critics on the left by moving their way. To succumb would endanger the stolid, moderate image that has contributed to his remarkable level of popularity today. Just how remarkable that popularity is can be found in Quayle interviews with some 8,225 voters in 18 states (representing all regions) over the last year. For the year ending March 1, 1970, a compilation of all Quayle's surveys showed a comfortable lead for Mr. Nixon: Nixon, 49 percent; Muskie, 38 percent; Gov. George Wallace, 13 percent. By Aug. 1, the 12-month Quayle figures averaged, in percentages, Nixon, 47; Muskie, 43; Wallace, 10. By Nov. 1, Muskie had moved ahead, 46 to 44, with Wallace holding at 10. Since the election, for the year ending Jan. 1, 1971, the gain continued: Muskie 47; Nixon, 43; Wallace, 10.

Nor is this merely Mr. Nixon's deterioration. The Quayle surveys show a relatively small decline in Mr. Nixon's job rating, from a 12-month average of 58 percent on March 1, 1970, to 53 percent for the year ending on Jan. 1, 1971. Moreover, trial heats between Mr. Nixon and Sen. Hubert Humphrey show the President's 16-percentage-point lead dropping only one point over the same period. Clearly, Muskie has moved ahead on his own appeal. Indeed, the nagging criticism growing on the left is in recognition of that popularity. The prospect of Muskie's sweeping the primaries becomes increasingly likely, thereby erasing those who dream of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's entering the convention triumphantly after Muskie has been butchered in the primaries. But to make such butchering possible, Muskie must be whittled down to size. Accordingly, some Muskie advisers, while acknowledging he will never convert the left, believe he can muffle its widely disseminated attacks by appeasement.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

COMMENT

Nothing Enough?

Lewiston Tribune

It seems apparent that most of the voters of Idaho who understood the question believed legislative pay was too high when they voted to cut it last fall. But that does not necessarily mean they consider the pay remaining to be adequate.

The voters had, in the broad view, the harsh choice between overpaying and underpaying legislators when asked to vote in November on an initiative. They chose to underpay them. But that does not necessarily mean the voters would not accept a compromise — something between the present too-low figures and the former too-high one. Already wage earning legislators are being frozen out of the legislative chamber with Lewiston's State Rep. Ed V. Williams, a teacher, the first to announce he won't be back after this session.

The voters turned down the old pay rate — $45 per day while in session and $200 per month between sessions. The only other choice they had on the ballot, and the one a majority approved, was to cut daily pay during the session to $35 per day and eliminate the $200 per month completely.

Is that really what they meant? One can believe they thought $200 per month was too much. But did they really believe that nothing a month is adequate?

Accordingly, a bill introduced by State Sen. Arthur Murphy, D-Mullan, to give legislators $100 per month, except when the legislature is in session, may be a good starting point for a compromise with the people. The $100 figure is halfway between the old figure and the now-one-of-nothing.

In addition, the Murphy bill might be amended to include repayment of daily room and board to legislators from outside Boise Valley. The present $35 per day while in session is adequate in most cases for legislators who can commute daily from their homes to the legislature. It is not nearly enough to cover the double living expenses of a legislator who must maintain a Boise residence and one at home while forfeiting his regular private paycheck.

The people are not at fault for the harsh alternatives they had to choose between on last November's initiative. One can question the choice they made because it converts the Idaho Legislature once again into a rich man's club. But a basic faith in the native intelligence of the people is in order and thus some confidence in their approval of an attempt to provide remuneration that falls somewhere between too little and what was in their view too much.

REVIEWING STAND

ANDREW TULLY

The Bulgarian

WASHINGTON — Bill the Bulgarian, who runs a betting establishment in Las Vegas, is not impressed with Sen. Ed Muskie's feat of endurance in going three hours and 46 minutes with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin.

"It's too early to make book on the 1972 Presidential Stakes," said Bill, "but right now I'm tempted to chalk up a minus two points for the Maine entry. The Russian track record is lousy."

Bill consulted an old copy of the Racing Form, on which he had scribbled some notes. "You gotta look at it this way. Ever since Harry Truman's day, the Politburo has been a loser. It seems like those guys don't do their homework."

"Take Truman. Joe Stalin told his pals he had no respect for Harry, but Harry won a unanimous decision with the Marshall Plan and a technical knockout with the Berlin Airlift. The way I look at it, Stalin made the fatal mistake of ignoring Truman's breeding. Sure Harry was a dark horse, but he had that tough Missouri strain going for him, especially when he beat Tom Dewey going away."

Yes, a man said, but everybody admits Muskie is the front runner for the Democratic nomination, and he must have added to his role as a world statesman with that Kosygin session. "Stalinman," commented said Bill, "the race is still run on an American track, with all those tricky turns out in the backlocks. You gotta figure the guys in Sioux City who will be suspicious about a politician who gets along so well with a Bolshevik. I give Dick Nixon plus two points for the voters who will be mad at Kosygin for meddling in American politics. A stickman I know says Alexei is a secret member of the Democratic Party."

"As I say, look at the record. Nixon and Khrushchev had that little party over in Moscow, and Nixon got beat in 1960 by Jack Kennedy, who stayed home. Then in 1967, when Nixon was out of office, the Russians refused to talk to him when he went over there, and Nixon licked Hubert Humphrey the next year."

"This guy Romney? I forgot his first name — spent two hours with Kosygin in 1967 when he was the front runner for the Republican nomination. Who's Romney? Who's he today? The Russians are even nice to losers AFTER they lose. Humphrey spent two hours and 15 minutes with Kosygin in July, 1969, and Gene McCarthy spent 90 minutes with Alexei in January, 1970. A shrink would say the Reds have got a death wish, or something. Anyway, you gotta figure they thought Nixon didn't have a chance in 1967 or they'd of tried to brainwash him. "As I say, I'm not a Democrat and I'm not a Republican. I'm a businessman, what you call an entrepreneur, like Reagan who plays the stock market, only he's in the Social Register and maybe plays polo and his wife is called a chameleon in the papers and mine handles the telephone."

ART BUCHWALD

Gung Ho

WASHINGTON — It could be the war or all the talk about revolution, but the latest fashion craze in the country is a cartridge belt for women.

I discovered this the other day when I went into a store to buy a present for my wife.

The salesgirl took me over to a rack where there were belts of bullets in all sizes.

"This is the latest thing in accessories," the girl said. "Your wife would love one."

"I was hoping for something more in a hand grenade," I said.

"Believe me," she said. "Women are just crazy about these bullets. They can wear them around their chests or around their hips or let them hang loose like this."

"You don't have anything in your bag, do you?" I asked her.

"Now, you're not being serious," she said. "I don't know how to tell you this," I said, "but my wife is a Dove."

"All the more reason for buying her a bullet belt," she replied. "It's better to wear bullets than to shoot them."

"But I was in the service, and I don't know anyone who wore a belt of cartridges who didn't eventually want to shoot them," she said, "and all the powder's been taken out of the casings."

"It's ridiculous," she replied. "If a handbag turned into a machine-gun, all the contents in the bag would fall out."

"Never thought of that. What are you featuring in flame throwers this year?"

"She was determined to sell me a cartridge belt. Why don't you try one on and see how nice it feels?"

"She threw the cartridge belt over my shoulder. 'There,' she said. 'If you were wearing black silk pajamas, you'd look beautiful.'"

"Let me ask you something," I said. "Why do you think women have gone ape over cartridge belts?"

"What do you know what it's like to be a woman?" she asked bitterly.

"I didn't mean —"

"Do you think it's fun to be treated as a second-class citizen, to have to cook and sew and scrub and give birth to children?"

"No, I guess it isn't, but..."

"We're people, too," she said angrily. "And we're getting sick and tired of being sex objects."

Room To Room

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I just read an article from a mother describing her son as super-anxious, uncontrollable and impossible to handle. She said her son was hyperkinetic.

The description fits my 6-year-old son. He cannot go from one room to the next without practically running. When he gets mad he is unreasonable and uncontrollable. I am just about at my rope's end.

Can this problem be corrected by discipline alone or is it necessary to have counseling? Could a regular pediatrician help? — Mrs. R.H.

It has been in fairly recent years — the last decade or so — that general recognition of the hyperkinetic child has developed.

It is an important problem, more frequent than had been suspected. There is, fortunately, something that can be done about it.

The hyperkinetic — or overly active — child is one whose energies constantly burst out in uncontrollable ways. Lots of energy, but without the ability to control that energy or focus it into useful endeavors.

Don't confuse this type of child with one who merely has abundant energy and wants to be busy all the time. That can be healthy enough. But the hyperkinetic child who CAN'T focus his energies into useful pursuits — well, he's a pain in the neck to everybody, including himself. He drives mother to distraction — teachers, too, and his playmates.

He jumps from one activity to another too fast to do much about any of them. He has a compulsion to be moving around, talking, doodling, fussing with things. He gets little done, and he keeps others from paying attention to their work or play.

With such a child, sheer discipline won't work. It can't. His nervous system is such that he can't sit still or hold his attention on any single topic more than briefly. Nor does sedation or use of tranquilizers necessarily work. Sometimes, perhaps, but with other such children they are utter failures.

Note to B.G.: No, diabetes cannot be transmitted from one person to another — except in the sense that the trait is strongly influenced by heredity.

Note to B.G.: No, diabetes cannot be transmitted from one person to another — except in the sense that the trait is strongly influenced by heredity.

Fortunately, it has been learned (although the reasons are not clear) that amphetamines many times will work. These are stimulants but curiously they permit such a child to focus his energies and thoughts. He's still energetic but no longer is it random, scattered energy.

In still other cases a drug called a psychic energizer, ordinarily used to help people out of depression, is very effective.

Child guidance clinics handle such children. So do child psychiatrists. So also do some, although not all, pediatricians.

Counsel from such sources is necessary. Except in extreme cases, the layman cannot reliably tell whether a child is truly hyperactive or is just a troublesome youngster who won't — rather than can't — behave.

So by all means have such youngsters examined to see whether modern medication isn't going to change their buzzsaw behavior into useful behavior that doesn't make life miserable for the child and those around him alike.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 22 and have two children. Sometimes I don't have a period for four months. Once it was eight months. Do other women have this happen? — P.J.H.

A few do. But it's not a very common condition. There can be different causes for this and it might be wise to check with your physician. Has this occurred since your last pregnancy? If not, your fertility is attuned to be your two children and perhaps nothing need be done. Menstruation is not essential for health. It is an index on how your glandular system is working.

Note to B.G.: No, diabetes cannot be transmitted from one person to another — except in the sense that the trait is strongly influenced by heredity.

Political Reform

IDAHO STATE JOURNAL

Some liberals are excited about the possibility of Congressional reform which will take away some of the powers that have accrued to the survivors of the seniority system. But don't hold your breath.

The House grows restive at times under the iron hand of committee chairmen who have been kept in office by their constituencies longer than their fellow Congressmen. However, alternative plans for choosing the all-important chairmen, who exercise decisive effect on what the House does or does not do, have never been sufficiently persuasive to win approval.

Most Congressmen will agree that there are grave faults with the seniority system but few will agree on what ought to have been done about it, least of all the men who have been favored by it.

In the 91st Congress, only three of 21 committee chairmen were under 60 years of age, a fact that gravels many ambitious young Representatives. Two of the chairmen in key positions are now deceased — William L. Dawson, 84, government operations, and L. Mendel Rivers, 65, armed services.

Current dean of committee heads is Emanuel Celler, 82, judiciary.

How wedded the senior Representatives are to the seniority system is shown by Rep. B.F. Sisk, who has been elected nine times by his California district. Sisk says elimination of the seniority system would be "tragic" and "anarchy would result."

This is political hyperbole. The world would not come to an end if the system were changed but it isn't likely to be. Too many of the members, like Sisk, can see the hope for seniority elevating them at last to one of the coveted posts.

Carl Albert, the Oklahoma Democrat who is slated for next Speaker of the House, has served in Congress since 1946 and had to wait for the retirement of octogenarian John McCormack to get his promotion.

The Neighbors

Christian Science Monitor

There was something marvelously liberating in the news of Maffei I and Maffei II.

We like to think such reports will be the way the news of the future will go, when all the congestion of earthy tragedies and contentions are done with.

Maffei I and Maffei II are the two newly discovered galaxies, near the earth's own mother galaxy, the Milky Way — "near" as such astronomical distances are measured, anyway. The two galaxies were detected a few years ago by young Italian astronomer Paolo Maffei when taking infrared photos of a "dusty" section of the northern sky. A graduate student in astronomy at the University of California at Berkeley saw mention of the Maffei photo objects in a 1960 journal. He brought them to the attention of the astronomy faculty, which then put its resources to studying the phenomenon.

Astronomers say there are at least billions of galaxies in the universe. Our own Milky Way is not large as galaxies go. And our sun is rather commonly sized.

Surely there is a buoying, healthful corrective in news of man's heavens, more expansive even than he has as yet imagined.

Boundless drive put Shepard on moon trip

By EDWARD K. DELONG
UPI Space Writer

The seemingly boundless drive that made Alan B. Shepard Jr. America's first man in space and, later, a rich businessman, is about to put him on the moon after years during which he was grounded from flying so much as an airplane alone.

Shepard's comeback to command Apollo 14 is a feat unlike any other in the annals of the U.S. space programs. Odds were high against it ever happening, but the old pro is back in the pilot's seat.

"I think if a person wants something badly enough, he's just got to hang in there and keep at it," Shepard says.

Hanging in there, for him, took the patience to spend six frustrating years behind a desk—banned from solo aircraft flight and all spaceflight because of an ear disorder that left him periodically dizzy, and nauseated.

It took a secret operation, followed by a year of waiting to see if the surgery was enough to cure the ear.

It took countless hours in spacecraft simulators because Shepard better than anyone else knew how many were watching him skeptically as not only the oldest active space veteran but also the won with the least time in space.

It took the determination to sell a successful banking interest so he could devote full time to catching up with the other space pilots, who had gone on to fly machines far more complex than Shepard's little bell-shaped Mercury spaceship.

Step back in time to May 5, 1961. The time is 9:34 a.m. EST.

A pencil-slim, black-and-white Redstone rocket—hardly more than a missile adapted to carry a man instead of a warhead—lifts off its pad at Cape Canaveral and roars toward the blackness of space. A tense 2.3 seconds pass, and then Shepard's voice crackles over the loudspeaker in Mercury control.

"Ah, roger, liftoff, and the clock is started... Yes sir, reading you loud and clear. This Freedom 7. The fuel is 40. One-pretwo G's. Cabin at 14 PSI. Oxygen is go. Freedom 7 is go."

America, trailing the Soviet Union by 23 embarrassing days, had launched its first man into space. Shepard's flight carried him 118.5 miles into space but did not take the ambitious step of orbiting the earth. That honor went to John Glenn on the third Mercury flight.

Instead, Shepard traveled 302 miles downrange from the Cape and splashed into the Atlantic 15 minutes 22 seconds after liftoff.

Shepard—who will become the fifth man to set foot on the moon—is 47 now, ten years older than when he made his other flight.

A Navy captain—the last rank before admiral—he still weighs in the 160-165 range he did when he joined the astronaut corps.

In 1963, he was scheduled to command the first two-man Gemini flight, but the trouble with his left ear began. It forced doctors to ground him. Doctors told him it was Meniere's syndrome, a buildup of fluid pressure in the inner ear.

Shepard then took the key administrative job in Houston as second in command of the space plane.

Instead of settling into the close-knit community at the space center, he and his wife Louise settled with their two daughters in an apartment.

To reduce the buildup of oscillations, a donut-shaped device was installed in the liquid oxygen feed system to cushion the pressure of fluid going to the engines. This dampening effect causes the propellant column to vibrate at a frequency different from the engines and stage structure and prevents the three from vibrating together in rhythm.

Similar shock absorbers were used successfully in Titan 2 rockets that launched two-man Gemini spacecraft in 1965 and 1966.

more than 20 miles to the north in downtown Houston.

Shepard made friends with a prominent automobile dealer and other businessmen and began making investments with an eye toward the fact that his ear might ultimately force him to leave the flying business.

First there was a bank in Baytown, Tex., in which he and two partners bought 90 per cent interest in 1963 and saw deposits almost triple to $17 million in six years. There was a second small bank in Houston, bought and sold for a profit. Some colleagues began calling him "the banker," certainly as much in envy as in fun.

Rumor circulate occasionally that Shepard is a millionaire. Asked recently whether there were any truth in this, he replied "I wish there were... I wish there were."

But with their daughters gone—Laura, 23, is married and Julie, 19, in college—Shepard and his wife recently bought a $150,000, 11-room house in the posh River Oaks section of Houston.

When he wants to get away from Houston, Shepard and his family can retreat to a second and less formal country home at Lake Travis near Austin, Tex.

Appeal upheld

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI)—The Sand and Surf Bar has successfully appealed a 14-day license suspension and $600 fine imposed by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission because of a topless go-go dance.

The bar owners pointed out the 235-pound dancer was not employed by the bar but was a customer. The woman paid a $25 fine for indecent exposure.

New shock absorber on rocket

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Apollo 14's Saturn 5 rocket is equipped with a new shock absorber to eliminate the "Pogo" vibrations that prematurely stopped one of five second-stage engines during last April's Apollo 13 launch.

The early engine shutdown did not affect the moon mission because the other four engines compensated for the lack of thrust by firing longer. Nevertheless, the rocket's performance was reduced and a similar shutdown could lead to a moonflight abort.

Hit delights, puzzles Perry

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Perry Como, what are you doing with a recording right up there at the top of the pop charts?

"Darned if I know. But I'm sure getting a kick-out of it."

Como is as puzzled as the Woodcock generation over his record of "It's Impossible," becoming one of the hottest platters in record stores and on the air.

"It's a romantic ballad, and it says a lot of nice things," he explained. "It's part of a new trend brought about by that 'Movie Love Story' or not."

"The lyrics are simple. Nothing earth-shaking. But I like them."

Laconically he recited part of the song:

"It's impossible to ask the sun to leave the sky,
"Or tell a baby not to cry,
It's impossible."

Perry chuckled softly. "It's been more than five years since I've had a big hit. I've never done any acid rock singing. But I did a few things that had a

Mission diagram—Apollo 14 Lunar colorcast set

March 1 next date for A-14

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—If Apollo 14 is not launched by 7:12 p.m. EST Jan. 31, its pilots will have to wait until March 1 to get another shot at the moon.

Alan B. Shepard, Stuart A. Roosa and Edgar D. Mitchell are scheduled to blast off at 3:23 p.m. Jan. 31, but launch crews have 3 hours and 49 minutes of leeway should weather or some technical problem cause a delay. The last hour of the launch period is after nightfall.

But because Apollo 14 is programmed for only one landing site on the moon, and because special sunlight conditions are needed for visibility during the descent and surface operations, there is just one optimum launch opportunity a month.

The next favorable launch date is March 2. However, a high priority part of the mission is to photograph a future landing area near the crater Descartes and to do that, Apollo 14 would have to be launched March 1 and the astronauts would spend an extra day in lunar orbit.

A launch March 3 also is a possibility, although sunlight conditions would not be as good at the landing site and the Descartes photography would be missed.

If those launch opportunities are missed for some reason, Apollo 14 could be launched on March 31 or April 1, but Descartes photography would not be possible.

Shepard and Mitchell begin their moonwalks, the color camera will be deployed on a tripod to transmit scientific experiments done by the two astronauts.

During the two moonwalks, Commander Shepard will be recognizable by red stripes around the elbows and knees of his pressure suit.

All three commercial television networks—the American Broadcasting Company, Columbia Broadcasting System and National Broadcasting Company—plan full coverage of the Apollo 14 mission.

The amount of air time given the mission, however, will be somewhat less than during the Apollo 11 landing, when the dramatic "giant leap for mankind" dominated the tube for many hours.

CBS plans 16 to 17 hours of television air time if the mission runs close to the flight plan, according to CBS Apollo 14 producer Robert Wussler.

News correspondents Walter Cronkite and David Schumacher will be anchors for CBS. They will be joined by former astronaut Wally Schirra.

NBC special coverage director Jim Holton said his network will give Apollo 14 a total of 19 hours of air coverage.

Anchoring coverage for NBC will be John Chancellor and David Brinkley. Astronaut Alan Bean will offer background commentary.

ABC's anchorman will be science editor Jules Bergman and correspondent Frank Reynolds. They'll be joined by former astronaut Frankorman.

Bergman said ABC will give Apollo 14 more than 17 hours of air time.

The Apollo 14 TV schedule is coordinated by the National

Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is as follows:

Sunday Jan. 31, 6:28 p.m. EST—Transposition and docking.

Wednesday Feb. 3, 5:08 a.m. EST—Interior view of command module and lunar module.

Thursday Feb. 4, 8:23 p.m. EST—Fra Mauro landing site.

Friday Feb. 5, 4:16 a.m. EST—Touchdown.

Friday Feb. 5, 9:20 a.m. EST—First moonwalk.

Saturday Feb. 6, 4:59 a.m. EST—Second moonwalk.

Saturday Feb. 6, 3:14 p.m. EST—Rendezvous.

Saturday Feb. 6, 3:20 p.m. EST—Docking.

Sunday Feb. 7, 7:53 p.m. EST—Inflight demonstrations.

Tuesday Feb. 9, 4:01 p.m. EST—Splashdown.

(These times are based on the 3:23 p.m. EST, Jan. 31, launch time. Should the launch be delayed by for example two hours, then the television transmission will also be delayed the same amount of time.)

Q—Which is the only bird that has only two toes on each foot?
A—The ostrich.

Q—What infamous political scandal was first exposed by a cartoon?
A—The corrupt practices of the Tweed Ring in New York City, exposed in political cartoons by Thomas Nast.

Q—How is Grover Cleveland listed officially on the roster of U.S. presidents?
A—He is numerically listed as the 22nd and 24th president.

Smoker's clinic opens

JEROME — A stop smoking clinic is being conducted through Jan. 28 at Jefferson Elementary School.

Clinic sessions will begin at 7 p.m. This will be the final clinic to be held in Magic Valley. Two others were held previously — the first at Burley and the second at Twin Falls.

The clinic will be under the direction of Dr. Ralph A. Drake, pioneer Twin Falls physician and surgeon. The clinic is open to the public at no charge. Three clinics were held last year, according to Dr. Drake, and records show 75 per cent of the people attending were successful in breaking the smoking habit.

A special film is shown before each evening session. On the first evening the film will be of an actual surgery of lung cancer. Other films on the physiological and psychological effects of smoking are shown at other times. There also is a film on narcotics included in the clinic. Dr. Drake lectures on the physiological effects of nicotine on the body and how its addictive power on the body should be curbed.

At the clinic this year Dr. Drake will be assisted by Pastor Kenneth Brown, Jerome, and Pastor S.O. Francisco, Twin Falls. Both are ministers of the Seventh Day Adventist Church. They will assist the doctor in the psychological and spiritual areas of therapy associated with the smoking habit.

The five-day clinics were started about 10 years ago through the efforts of Dr. Wayne McFarland, executive medical secretary for the Seventh Day Adventist Church and a trustee of the Loma Linda University Medical School in Southern California. Since then more than 75,000 have stopped smoking after attending the clinics. "This is a public service to all citizens of Magic Valley," Rev. Francisco said.

Workman receives citation

TWIN FALLS — William E. Workman of Bill Workman Ford, Inc., Twin Falls, has been named winner of the Ford Dealer Distinguished Achievement Award for 1970.

A framed certificate is presented for the dealer's office and a large blue and white banner will be hung in the new Workman show room on Blue Lakes Boulevard North. Dealers who have earned the award for five consecutive years or more receive a diamond emblem for personal wear, according to Robert E. Parr, Ford Division's Salt Lake City district sales manager.

Parr said the "distinguished achievement" award is recognition by the corporation that Bill Workman Ford has consistently provided the best in automotive sales and service for its customers over the past year. At the same time the dealership has given Ford Division superb representation in the Twin Falls automotive market place.

Deadline extended

TWIN FALLS — The deadline for applications to participate in the 11th annual Idaho Safe Pilot Program has been extended to Feb. 10, according to Chet Moulton, State Aeronautics Director.

Three dinners honoring those who have been selected in the safe pilot program, are held throughout the state, one in Magic Valley.

Moulton said the program is designed to seek out the collective best pilots of Idaho under the proven adage that a safe pilot is always a good pilot. Airplane operators who have flown without a reportable accident or violation for a minimum of 50 hours in 1970 are eligible to participate.

Students compete in science

TWIN FALLS — Students from Idaho are among those from six western states who are preparing papers for the Ninth Intermountain Junior Science and Humanities Symposium to be held March 3-6 at the University of Utah.

About 20 of 150 outstanding high school seniors from Idaho, Utah, Nevada, Wyoming, Colorado and Montana will be selected to read their detailed technical papers at the symposium.

From these, six will attend the Ninth U.S. Army Junior Science Symposium in early May at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y.

The five most outstanding papers will be selected for presentation at the Royal Academy of Sciences in London, England.

Winners listed

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Friday Night Duplicate Bridge Club held a membership party at Duplicate Hall.

Overall winners were Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Driscoll, first; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stastny Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Weaver, tied for second and third; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bulcher, fourth; and Mr. and Mrs. L.J. Robertson, fifth.

Ex-priest instructs salesmen

NEW YORK (UPI)—What education in America needs is teachers who can keep quiet and say "I don't know" when they really do know, claims Dr. John McGrath.

McGrath is an ex-Jesuit priest who used to teach classical Greek. Today he teaches Wall Streeters how to pass examinations to be registered representatives (salesmen) or affiliated members of the New York Stock Exchange and the American Exchange.

Wall Street houses pay him anywhere from $100 to $1,000 per pupil for this instruction. In 18 months of teaching, McGrath and his staff have had a passing record of 100 per cent for principals' examinations and 95 per cent for registered representatives.

Benefits top million

TWIN FALLS—In 1970 Twin Falls County veterans received $1,086 million in disability and pension payments, according to the Veterans Administration.

The administration reported expenditures for Idaho for 1970 totalled $37,763 million, of which $2,307 million was for Twin Falls County. Other V.A. expenditures in the county were for GI bill and other V.A. education program, $218,062, and for insurance and indemnities, $176,827.

L. JAMES KOUTNIK, Twin Falls, president of Western Appraisal and Investment Co., has been named senior residential appraiser by the Society of Real Estate Appraisers, which has headquarters in Chicago. He has qualified for the designation through completion of courses and examinations.

Korean pullout sought

SAIGON (UPI)—Korean Assembly Speaker Rhee Hyo-Sang said today President Nguyen Van Thieu has asked Korea to delay withdrawing its 60,000 troops from Vietnam until after 1971.

President Park Chung-Hee had said earlier he would like to start pulling some of Korea's forces out immediately. Rhee and four members of the Korean House of Representatives are on a five-day visit to South Vietnam. Rhee said Thieu asked "that the withdrawal of the Korean troops be done only after 1971, only after peace is restored..."

McGovern taking only route open

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota is heading for state presidential primaries in his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination because he has no other route to travel. He has had his share of publicity during eight years in the Senate, but he obviously needs "more" exposure and demonstrations of strength to be regarded as a serious challenger to Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, now in the man to beat.

A Harris Poll published last month indicated that McGovern was the choice of only 3 per cent of the Democrats and 2 per cent of all voters for the Democratic nomination.

He trailed three other Democratic senators—Muskie, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota—and one Republican, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York.

Humphrey and Kennedy have announced that they are not competing in the primaries in 1972, but Humphrey also has made clear that he is available for the nomination if the national convention picks him as it did in 1968.

With some exceptions like Richard M. Nixon, who was nominated and defeated in 1960 and nominated and elected in 1968, losers usually are regarded as weak candidates for renomination.

Seventeen states now have laws permitting or requiring presidential primaries. Those which turn out to be crucial may change from one presidential year to the next. McGovern, the first announced candidate for the presidency in 1972, says he will enter a "representative" set of primaries, including that in

New Hampshire, which he concedes to Muskie, the resident of a neighboring state. Muskie can be expected to be in the primaries, too, along with other prospects such as Sens. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa and Brody Bayh of Indiana if they are encouraged by promises of campaign money and support.

Pre-convention speculation usually includes the names of potential beneficiaries of deadlocks involving three or more candidates. Deadlocks have become rare. The Democrats have not needed more than one ballot to nominate a candidate since Adlai Stevenson was chosen on the third in 1952. The GOP last needed more than one when Thomas Dewey was nominated in 1948.

Rally moves ahead

NEW YORK (UPI)—Throughout the week that experts were heard mumbling that sooner or later the stock market was going to get knocked down. Nevertheless, the market's prime rate rally, which has been gaining momentum since last November, showed no sign of let-up.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index climbed 1.85 to 94.88. The NYSE common stock index gained 0.95 to 52.11. The Dow Jones Industrial Average, up 15.61 at 861.31, finished at its best level since Nov. 10, 1969, when it closed at 863.04.

Advances outscored declines, 1,256 to 445 on 1,817 issues crossing the tape. And 519 issues reached new 1970-71 highs, the most since 543 highs were set in the week ended May 22, 1948.

An all-time record daily turnover of 21,680,000 shares on Friday enabled weekly volume to crack the 90-million share level for only the second time in exchange history.

For the five day turnover amounted to 90,302,840 shares. The weekly record is 92,282,680 shares traded Nov. 30-Dec. 4, 1970.

"The market has run a little ahead of itself in expectation of a sustainable business recovery which still hasn't shown up," William Nelson, director of equity research for Moody's Investors Service, commented.

Nelson said if the market can withstand some gloomy fourth-quarter corporate earnings now coming in, "it could be a good indication of how solid the advance is." He said the market also is banking on increased consumer spending which economists say is necessary for economic recovery.

Robert Johnson, director of research for Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, said he believed that investors, particularly institutions, are impressed by the lower interest rates which they interpret as conclusive proof that President Nixon means to stimulate the economy.

Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. led the latest cut in the prime rate, trimming it to 6 per cent. It brought the rate charged a bank's most creditworthy customers to its lowest level since Nixon was elected in 1968.

It also marked the sixth cut in the key interest rate since last November. Early last year, the prime rate stood at an all-time high of 8 1/4 per cent.

The Federal Reserve Board also sliced its discount rate — the interest it charges on loans to commercial banks members — to 5 per cent from 5 1/4 per cent, the fourth quarter point cut in a little more than ten weeks.

The downturn in interest rates reflects lessening demand for business loans coupled with the Federal Reserve's generally expansionary credit policy that has pushed open market interest rates down substantially.

Harry Laubscher, analyst for Walston & Co., said the market needed a little skittish at times as a result of some corporate dividend reductions. He thought this might indicate a downward correction is not too far off.

However, Laubscher said he was optimistic for the long-term because of lower interest rates and indications that major industries, such as home building, automotive and steel, will show improvement in 1971.

Newton Zinder of E. F. Hutton & Co. echoed Laubscher's belief. Zinder said "the market is due for some consolidation, but this has been true for about a week."

Robert T. Allen of Shearson, Hammill & Co. said some technicians think a buying climax may be on the way. He said that a big up day at this point, occurring on even heavier volume than the past week, would fit the description of a buying climax. He said this type of action might spell the end of the current upswing.

However, Allen said he is convinced that over the next year or two, the stock market will pursue an upward course with good fundamental justification, and he said this outlook ought to restrict to a minimum any reaction to a short-term, overbought situation.

First Security...

a BILLION plus 100 MILLION in resources

To each and every customer in all of the 83 communities in which our 110 banking offices are located, we wish to say:

"Thanks a billion...plus 100 million...for the privilege of serving you."

The 621,147 accounts of our customers make us the Number 1 banking system in the Intermountain area.

We reached our first 100 million dollars in resources 30 years ago. In 1968, a billion...plus 100 million...and more!

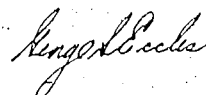

And this makes First Security an important factor in each community's progress and development. It's a Number 1 responsibility—and we accept it.

Everyone realizes that the past year was one of tight money. Yet First Security made more loans than any financial institution in the area. Fact is, loans outstanding at year end total $650,247,739. Loans for homes, farms, ranches, business and industry! Loans for household appliances, furniture, automobiles! Loans to municipalities and governmental agencies!

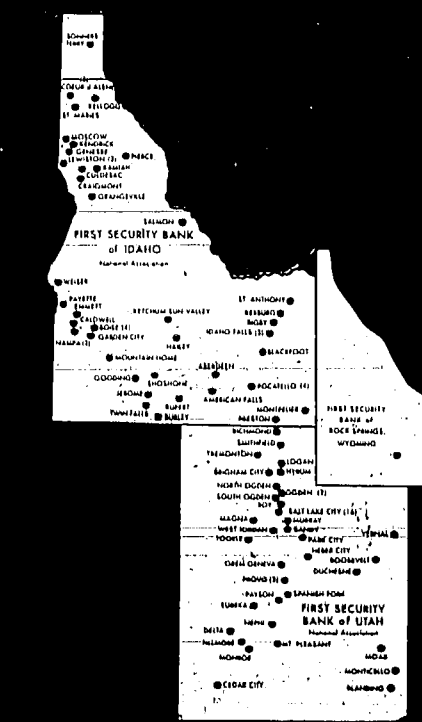

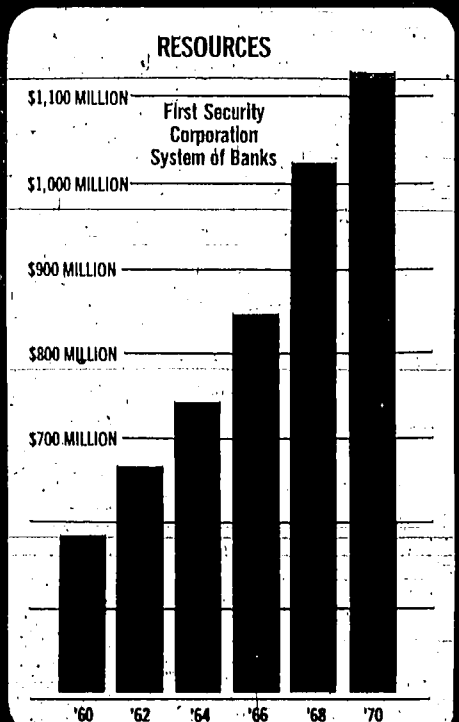

During 1970 we also made it possible for 12,729 students to continue college careers. At year end student loans totalled $11,068,648. Our efforts in support of government low-cost housing were substantial, too. First Security FHA Title 235 and 236 loans put more than 1,500 families into homes of their own.

Of course First Security is Number 1 in home financing. Currently, we are financing $212,420,811 worth of homes. And, in addition, have been able to provide nearly $275,000,000 more in home loans with money obtained from investors outside this area. Small wonder that the percentage of home ownership in Utah and Idaho is among the nation's highest.

We look forward to even greater involvement in the economy of the communities we serve. And all our customers—no matter how large or small their accounts—are important to First Security, the "billion dollar plus banking system."

Hansen confers

Burley Jaycees commend outstanding men of area

BURLEY — Awards were presented to young men in the community by the Burley Jaycees during a banquet Saturday night at Ponderosa Inn.

Earl Howard was master of ceremonies. The outstanding Young Educator award was presented to Dennis Goodenough, drama instructor at Burley High School. Goodenough also is the director for the Ponderosa Little Theatre group that presented plays during the summer months throughout the county. He was selected to entertain servicemen through the USO. At the Burley High School he is also the instructor for debate and speech classes. Val Robins received the Outstanding Young Farmer award. He farms in a partnership, operating 1,340 acres and his crops include sugar beets, potatoes, grain and beans.

The Community Service award went to Leo Henschel. He has been active in Boy Scout work for several years, holding key positions in the organization representing the scouts in this area.

An active member of his church, Henschel also is a member of the Burley Toastmasters Club and past president of that group, active member of Kiwanis Club, serving as football coach in the Little League Football started several years ago by the Kiwanis Club.

Last year he studied and prepared a map of the City of Rocks and is a charter member of the Cassia County Historical Society.

School schedules open-house event

BURLEY — The Burley Junior High School has scheduled an open house at 7 p.m. Wednesday which is an annual event sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Student Council.

Parents are invited to visit classes during the day, visit the school during the evening and have conferences with teachers. The theme for the event is "Do You Care?" The aim of the open house is to improve relations between teachers and parents and give the parents an insight into how their children are doing in the classroom.

Refreshments at the open house will be served under the direction of Mrs. Wayne Redekopp and Julie Dammarell.

Council members pay no dues and meet three or four times during the school year. The council is made up of parents representing each of the three grades, student body officers, class presidents representing the students and faculty counselors and advisers from each of the classes, principal and vice principal of the junior high.

Police mull suspects in holdups

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Police report they have a suspect in two armed holdups which occurred earlier this month in the city.

Meeting and making the arrangements for the open house were Noel Dewitt, Mrs. Helen Boesiger, Mrs. Cleo Critchfield, Mrs. Ruth Thomas and Norman Dayley, all parents; Don Worthington, Kathy Duffin, Jim Haight and Jeff Broadhead, all student representatives; Lovell Turner, principal; Merrill Robinson, vice principal, and Derald Schafer, Mrs. Maria Lower, Mrs. Donna Redekopp, Mrs. Clea Holyoak and Denton Darrington, faculty representatives.

Rupert group to install new aides

RUPERT — The annual installation dinner of the Rupert Chamber of Commerce will be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the Rupert Elks Lodge.

Guest speaker will be William E. Davis, Idaho State University president. Leo Childs, executive director of the Idaho Youth Ranch, will be master of ceremonies. Rev. Fred L. Pickett, Rupert Episcopal Church, will give the invocation. Musical numbers will be presented by Steve Ballet.

Burglaries probed in T.F. area

TWIN FALLS — Two burglaries of sound equipment which were reported to police in Twin Falls Sunday are currently under investigation, officers said.

Mountain Bell reports gains

SHOSHONE — There are now 902 telephones in Shoshone, a gain of 21 over 1968, reports telephone manager L. W. Chamberlain.

Statewide, Mountain Bell invested $15 million on expansion and service improvement programs, the manager said. During the new year, 1971, the firm will spend a record $17 million more to expand and improve its service.

The theft of stereo tapes from a car owned by Richard Dale Watkins, Twin Falls, also was reported Sunday. Watkins told officers the theft occurred between Wednesday and Sunday while his car was parked at a local automobile dealer's lot. The tapes are valued at about $54, Watkins said.

Some of the statewide large scale projects carried out during 1970 were completion of buildings or starts at Idaho Falls, Pocatello, Nampa, Rexburg, Shoshone, Meridian and Boise. During 1970, Idahoans placed an average of 1,319,000 local and 108,000 long distance calls per day.

Added also were microwave radio relay for long distance circuits from Burley to Twin Falls, St. Anthony to Idaho Falls, Boise to Hells Canyon, Pocatello to Idaho Falls and Boise to Caldwell.

Last May, Magic Valley cities were provided an optional long distance calling service known as Metropac. With the service, customers can dial direct in a 35-mile radius without long distance fees.

WENDELL — Irrigation rates for lots and acreages in Wendell will be discussed at the Wendell City Council meeting set for 8 p.m. Thursday, Mayor Eugene Soares said today.

Mayor Soares said a number of lot owners feel they are being discriminated against and he is hopeful that at this meeting councilmen will find a more uniform manner of assessment.

He said financial records show that revenue from irrigation water last year was $7,654 and expenditures were $9,506. The present assessment for water is $5 per lot with a 50-foot frontage and $5 per acre.

Chamber asks cut in hunting

SALMON — The Salmon Chamber of Commerce has approved a resolution aimed at meeting the problems created by the pressure of non-resident hunters on Idaho game herds.

The proposal, which has the blessing of local outfitters and guides, asks that the number of non-resident big game licenses be limited by allocating them to specific management areas and reserving a priority of such licenses to outfitters operating in the state.

The action was taken by the chamber as a recommended amendment to a resolution approved at the mid-winter meeting of the North Idaho Chamber which had asked that the non-resident hunter be limited through a quota system of licenses sold on a first-come, first-served basis.

Maurice Bales, chamber president, said that the chamber, Main Street businesses and the outfitters are attempting to come up with a program under which all can stay in business and Idaho can still maintain its game herds.

The chamber resolution favored limiting the number of non-resident big game license sales by allocating them to specific management areas as determined by the Idaho Fish and Game Department.

"We favor a priority of such sales be reserved for outfitters and that since non-residents must purchase a big game license prior to participating in drawings for rare specie permits that their eligibility to participate in these drawings be unchanged.

The North Idaho Chamber had approved a resolution favoring limiting the number of non-resident hunters and selling licenses on a first-come, first-served basis.

It also favored an increase in the out-of-state license fee.

Dr. Walter Blackadar, chairman of the Salmon Chamber's Fish and Game Committee, said that if the state approved such a system it could put the outfitter out of business and hurt the license vendor.

He said the local chamber resolution would allow the vendor to sell licenses, allow the Idaho Fish and Game Department to manage the game units and also would protect the outfitter by guaranteeing him enough customers.

He indicated that non-resident licenses would be issued to allow hunting in specific areas. It would not limit the number of hunters since there may be areas which could accommodate more hunters.

Shoshone man hurt in wreck

RICHFIELD — A Shoshone man, John P. Williams, 23, remained in critical condition today at Gooding Memorial Hospital as the result of injuries sustained in a two-vehicle collision Sunday that injured four other persons.

Lincoln County Sheriff Thomas W. Conner said four Richfield girls were hurt, but none seriously, in the collision between a pickup truck driven by Pamela Piper, 15, and a car driven by Williams. The collision occurred at a county road intersection a mile west of Richfield, Conner said.

Legion plans meeting

SHOSHONE — A special meeting of the American Legion will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Legion hall. There will be representatives from the 12 posts in this district.

Roid Newby, local commander, said information will be given on the group's "Jobs for Veterans" program.

This project is part of a nationwide program undertaken by the legion and the U.S. Labor-Department to help find jobs for the almost half-million unemployed Vietnam war veterans as well as veterans of earlier wars.

Miles Rickey, Mountain Home, district commander, and Lyle Hupfer, Fairfield, district vice commander, will conduct the meeting.

William Caldwell, Legion Indianapolis headquarters, and William Hulet, Boise, will outline ways Legionnaires can help veterans get in touch with state employment representatives.

Other legion officers taking part in the program will be Dan McClintock, Nampa, state commander, and Irv Babb, Boise, state adjutant.

Brenda Johnson, 15, a passenger in the pickup, was hurt and Claudette DeWitt, 13, wore the crown through the windshield. A third passenger, Teresa DeWitt, 10, and Claudette walked to a ranch for help.

An area rancher, James Powell, used a car jack to raise the pickup off Miss Johnson — without the help of an unidentified motorist who stopped to watch, but refused to help.

Miss Johnson was taken to the hospital by an ambulance, and was listed in good condition today. The DeWitt girls received minor cuts, and were released after treatment at St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome. Miss Piper was admitted to the Twin Falls Clinic Hospital, where she was listed in good condition today.

Conner said an investigation is continuing, and that a citation may be issued.

Honor roll released by Camas school

FAIRFIELD — The Camas County High School's second quarter honor roll has been announced by Supt. Harold Stroud.

Senior honor students include Lucinda Osborne, Wendy Bauscher, Dick Bauscher, Vickie Hupfer, Shirley Gaezle, and Christie Gleaser; Becci Barron, David Coates and Bruce Funk, all juniors; Bill Stroud, Janet Clier, Kim Fields and Lynn Osborne, sophomores. Freshmen include Kathy Fields, Roxanne Gaskill, Brent Gleaser, Clare Olson, Layne Osborne and David Wells.

Chamber to meet

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone Chamber of Commerce will meet at noon Tuesday at the Manhattan Cafe.

Salmon girls may wear pants

SALMON — The girls of Salmon High School are wearing pant suits.

Robert Banks, district superintendent, said the approval of the new style will be on a 60-day trial basis.

"We are confident of the young people in our area who are somewhat fashion-minded and take a great deal of pride in their dress, and hope it won't become necessary to rescind this because of infractions," he said.

He indicated the school board's approval of "these outfits do not go to the extreme of being ridiculous."

He added "we still do not believe that tight fitting blue jeans or Levi's, regardless of color, stretch pants or shorts or sloppy tee-shirts or sweat shirts are proper dress."

Power rate increase effects due shortly

TWIN FALLS — Customers of Idaho Power Co. in Idaho will soon begin to feel the effect of a power-rate boost which takes effect today with all meter readings.

The increase, third in 34 years for Idaho Power, was approved in 1970 by the Idaho Public Utilities Commission, but did not take effect until the PUC endorsed the new rate structure.

In effect, however, the rate increase went into effect a month ago, since all power "sold" since the last meter readings will be billed at the new rates, effective today, according to Earl Haroldsen, division manager of Idaho Power.

The new rate structure "gives all customers the benefit of the lower rates formerly allowed only to customers with electric water heaters or all-electric homes," Haroldsen said. The rates have eliminated the rate differential for electric water heating and all-electric homes, but give a slightly lower rate to residential users of large amounts of electricity.

Irrigation and commercial users will feel an across-the-board rate increase of about 5.5 per cent, Haroldsen said.

The average residential user will pay up to $1.60 more per month for electrical power under the new rates, but none will pay more than the top of $1.60 additional.

The new rate structure, as did the old, allows successively lower rates per kilowatt hour (KWH) for each block of 100 KWH up to 400 KWH per month. A "block" of 500 KWH, ranging from a total of 400 to 900 total KWH used per month, is billed at an extra-low rate of nine-tenths of a cent per KWH, or 90 cents per 100 KWH. All electrical power above 900 KWH per month is sold at a rate of $1.21 per 100 KWH.

The rates provide for a minimum of $1.65 per month for 30 KWH or less; $4.45 for 100 KWH; $7.45 for 200; $9.35 for 300; $10.65 for 400, and $15.15 for 900 KWH used each month. The $1.21 rate for top-of-the-scale power usage is 4 cents lower than the former top rate of $1.25, giving a break to all electric homes, Haroldsen said.

Complete details on the new rates, and cards listing the new rates, are available at all Idaho Power Co. offices.

Great mate—or lousy spouse???

NEW YORK (NAPS) — Are you grieved as a mate—or a spouse—as a spouse?—Test yourself for the answers: Though sometimes your best friends won't tell you, these 20 questions should help you to arrive at the answer—how do you rate as a mate? 1. Do you sometimes give in to avoid an argument, even if you know that your one and only mate is dead wrong? (Unless, of course, it's a matter of principle.)

- No statistician has ever calculated the number of marriages that have cracked on the rock of unwillingness to give in on unimportant questions, but the number must be large. You won't deepen your spouse's stubborn streak just by conceding a point, quite the opposite. People are at their most conciliatory after winning a round.
- Do you show loyalty by building him or her up in public and keep your spouse's secrets? Fidelity is more than a matter of staying monogamous. You're being disloyal every time you recite "cute" anecdotes that make your better half look small, or publicly correct his (her) grammar, or tell your friends and relatives things they have no right to know.
- Do you maintain friendly relations with your in-laws? It's one of the soundest married life insurance policies, experts say. By showing your mate that you like his or her family, you're showing approval of a very important part of himself or herself.
- Do you try persistently to change him (her)? Hard on the vocal chords and the marriage ties, and futile besides. The only person who can change your mate is friend spouse himself. You married for what he or she is—or did you?
- Do you attempt to correct your own flaws if they distress your mate? All right, so your mate shouldn't try to change you. But maybe that one cherished weakness isn't worth the contention it causes, and correcting the habit might make your spouse vow to be more punctual, less over-weight, or whatever you've been striving to make him.
- Do you watch your appearance as carefully now as you did before? You should—but if you do, you're rather uncommon. Surveys among people generally show that a surprising percentage of the wives and husbands polled thought their mates were not as particular about grooming as before marriage.

- Do you try the same flattery you used in courtship days? Even if you didn't specialize in blarney, you undoubtedly showed a flattering interest in everything your prospective partner said or did. Try it again. One good home remedy for domestic headaches and other complications: really listen when your mate speaks.
- Do you have a hobby or other strong interest which is not shared by your mate? According to many psychologists, you should too much togetherness can be stifling and ultimately become stale. A separate interest gives you breadth as well as a breather. To make your time together more valuable: (1) Always have some joint project in the works; (2) Occasionally turn off the TV and just talk—or walk; (3) Plan a night out for just the two of you at least once a month—more often if you can manage it.

WOMEN ONLY

- Learn a new joke occasionally?
- Do you occasionally bring her something intimate, like a new perfume that you've sniffed and liked, or a negligee just to tell her that you still think she's alluring?
- Is your home neat but so neat that your husband feels like a bull in a china shop?
- Do you have the space, set aside a den or workshop where he can scatter ashes and wood shavings to his heart's content?
- Do you read the newspaper every day? Many women who complain that their husbands don't talk to them haven't much to say.
- Do you inspire a sentimental mood? If not, try applying a scentsational fragrance that's new to the nose. You can be sure of allure when you use a fragrance like Quelques Fleurs to enhance romance. Hailed by its creators—Houbigant—as the "beginning of a beautiful past," its tempting aroma has been arousing more amour since its introduction in France at the turn of the century.
- If you have children, do you make him feel he's at least as important to you as the "kids"? The counterpart of the wife who feels "invisible" is the husband who thinks he's valued only as a provider and "the father of her children." Both types are frequently found in counselling sessions and divorce courts.
- Do you avoid reciting the trials and tribulations of your day as soon as he steps into the door? Remember, he's probably been listening to such troubles all day long at business. So let him feel at home by first providing him with pleasure and leisure that he will treasure.

MEN ONLY

- Do you take her out dining and dancing (or even to a movie) now and then, just because you know she likes it?
- Do you help her with her coat, open doors for her? Inexpensive and infallible methods of making a woman feel more like a woman.
- Ask her advice—and take it if it's good! There's no higher compliment. A noted marriage counselor reports that one of the primary grievances voiced by wives is that preoccupied husbands make them feel "invisible."
- Compiment her when she has gone to special trouble to prepare a dish you like. Bread cast on the waters may yield French toast!

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote to say cash or checks were inappropriate gifts for children, and you disagreed with her. I think she's right. Children don't appreciate money. They can't say, "Grandma gave me ice skates or pajamas, or a ring." A little conference with the child's mother in advance will make that special occasion more meaningful. It might even mean Mom does the buying and puts Grandma's name on the card. Nicer memories are made this way. —MRS. S. W.

DEAR ABBY: I have always felt that my children get sufficient gifts to "unwrap, and I am delighted when they receive a gift of money. If handled properly, money can be far more valuable than any other gift, for it presents an ideal opportunity to teach children the value of money. Our daughters are 7 and 8. They have been taught to write their own deposit slips and to bank their own money. They talk about "saving" for college, or buying a car some day. On occasion they have been permitted to draw out their own money to buy something they really wanted. To concentrate on how many gifts a child has to unwrap, I think produces a spoiled, materialistic child. —CYNTHIA: NAUGATUCK

DEAR ABBY: On behalf of many, many kids, I am writing this letter to "DISGUSTED WITH CASH." There are lots of kids (including me) who do their own Christmas shopping. I am 11. Every year my grandmother sends me a check for Christmas. And she sends it early so I can use it to shop for Christmas gifts for my family. I am more than happy with this kind of a present. So to all grandparents, a big thanks, and keep those checks coming. —OVERJOYED IN GLENDOIRA

DEAR ABBY: I will never give a child cash or a check for a special occasion, such as birthday or Christmas. My reason: When I was a kid my mother used to tell me to write a nice letter to Grandma and Grandpa, thanking them for the "nice check"—and I, of course, would do it. I never saw the check. My mother used it to buy something for the house, or for herself or Dad. All I know is I never got anything from the checks my grandparents used to send me. —GRANDPA

DEAR ABBY: Just finished reading the letter signed "DISGUSTED WITH CASH," and thought your answer was a good one. We have eight grandchildren and they all live thousands of miles from us. We never know what size the children are. We ask, but the parents either forget to tell us; or they say, "Oh Johnny is big for his age," and "Lucy is much taller than her sister was at her age!" Sometimes when we send gifts, they send them back (wrong size, Nancy can't wear that color or Patty already has one). Put me down as one grandparent who sends a check. I've never had one returned, either. —ALL FOR CASH IN NORTH DAKOTA

Test yourself ARE YOU A first-rate mate? Checking out your compatibility quotient may provide some surprises, says a spokesman for the Houbigant Co., makers of Quelques Fleurs fragrance.

Inspired flask

JERUSALEM (UPI) — As further proof that there is nothing new under the sun, the Israeli orange and chocolate liqueur, Sabra, is being sold in a ceramic flask inspired by the wine vessels made in Palestine about 1000 B.C. The "Pilgrim's Flask," as it was called because of its two handles and distinctive shape, has an even earlier ancestor. Archaeologists in Northern Israel unearthed a prototype estimated to be 3,500 years old.

Luncheon held

RICHFIELD — North End Club members held a luncheon meeting at the home of Mrs. Lester Johansen. Mrs. Robert Tobbons, Idaho Falls, was an out-of-town member and Mrs. Boyd King was a guest. Plans were made to quilt next Thursday and Friday at the home of Mrs. Johansen. Mrs. King received the club prize. The Feb. 4 meeting is at the home of Mrs. Edgar Stubbs.

Renfro runbacks spark NFC past AFC by 27-6

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mel Renfro of the Dallas Cowboys ran back two fourth quarter punts for 82 and 56-yard touchdowns Sunday to lead the National Football Conference all-stars to a 27-6 victory over the American Conference in the 21st annual Pro Bowl.

American National
First downs	11 17
Passing yardage	48 112
Rushing yardage	12 33
Turnovers	12 17
Fumbles	1 1
Points	6 27
Time of possession	31 23
Yards penalized	71 74

The fourth period was only 14 minutes old when Renfro took a punt by Jerrel Wilson of Kansas City on his own 16, raced down the middle, cut to the sidelines and romped into the end zone. He received a key block on the 20 from Dick Butkus of the Chicago Bears.

The same situation prevailed eight minutes later when he took a Wilson punt on his own 44, reversed his field twice and after a good block by Cecil Turner of the Bears romped into the end zone again.

John Brodie of San Francisco put the Nationals ahead 10-3 in the third period by marching them 84 yards and completing the drive with a 25-yard pass to Dave Osborn of Minnesota.

The American Conference got its points on field goals of 37 and 16 yards by Jim Stenerud of Kansas City. Fred Cox of the Minnesota Vikings matched those kicks with field goals of 35 and 13 yards.

For his two punt returns for touchdowns, Renfro, a seven-year pro veteran, was voted back of the game. Tenthmate Fred Carr, a linebacker from Green Bay, was chosen linebacker of the game.

The only sustained scoring drive was guided by Brodie in the third period when he moved the Nationals 84 yards, 78 of them coming on his passing including the 23-yard scoring pass to Osborn.

The National Conference dominated the game both on the ground and through the air as it gained 112 yards rushing and 225 passing. The American Conference could gain only 68 yards on the ground and 136 passing. Brodie hit 10 of 26 passes for 156 yards to make the most significant contribution to his team. He alternated with Frank Tankerton of the New York Giants.

Nolan praises Renfro runs and Brodie signal calling

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mel Renfro said he used the speed he developed in track at the University of Oregon to return two punts for touchdowns on Sunday's Pro Bowl football game.

"I'm an ex-runner from Oregon," Renfro said after the NFL's 27-6 victory over the AFC. "When I see a little daylight, I can go."

The seven-year veteran of the Dallas Cowboys gave NFC coach Dick Nolan of San Francisco credit for positioning him for his 82 and 56-yard touchdown rambles.

"After Cecil Turner (NFC) fumbled a punt," he said, "Nolan told me to get back there deep. That's why I was in position to receive those punts."

Renfro said on his first punt return from his own 18 he initially thought he would let the ball roll dead but added, "I got a good bounce and shot through a big gap."

Red-hot Bucks rip Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI)—Bob Dundridge, hitting 15 of 20 shots from the floor, helped the Milwaukee Bucks break open a close game in the third period Sunday afternoon and send them winging to a 142-126 victory over the Atlanta Hawks.

The Bucks, upset by Atlanta at Milwaukee Friday, hit on their first nine shots on the third period and ended up shooting a spectacular 67 per cent from the field, 59 of 90, as they picked up their 41st victory in 49 games.

Nolan praised starting quarterback John Brodie of the Fort Worth Cowboys for calling a good game. Nolan said he followed the practice he instituted with the Fort Worthers of working on the kicking game every day.

Dundridge would up high scorer in the game with 33 points while teammate Oscar Robertson had 20 points and 15 assists and Lew Alcindor, although tiring, only 11 floor shots, had 24 points.

Pete Maravich led the Hawks guard-oriented offense with 30 points while Walt Hazzard had 29 and Lou Hudson 27.

AFC coach John Madden of the Oakland Raiders termed the contest "a defensive game."

"They got two big plays on special teams for touchdowns and that was it," Madden remarked.

But Madden thought the AFC could have a touchdown on a reception by Fred Biletnikoff of Oakland in the third period that was ruled caught out of the end zone.

Augert has lead for Cup

KITZBUHEHEL, Austria (UPI)—French world slalom champion Jean-Noel Augert took the lead in the world cup standings Sunday with a spectacular victory on two rain-soaked slalom tracks.

"I've known Mel Renfro a long time," Nolan said. "I didn't have to teach him anything. He's a natural great football player."

The blond slalom Frenchman danced and dived through 140 gates to win the international Hahnenkamm Slalom in 100.17 seconds, beating teammate Alain Penz 108.51 and Austria's Heinz Pfluger 100.94.

Augert's victory made him the world's sking leader, supplanting Gustav Thoen; who crashed in the second heat after posting a clear first heat lead over Augert.

"I had two perfect runs—but it was a tough job on this hard track," Augert said. "The rain certainly did not improve track conditions."

The Hahnenkamm slalom was held in warm and rainy weather on a track that had to be reinforced by snow cement between the two heats when heavy rain soaked the field of 94 racers from 12 nations.

Utah beat by Nets

WEST HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (UPI)—Rick Barry scored nine of New York's 11 points in overtime Sunday as the Nets gained a 108-107 victory over the Utah Stars.

"They got two big plays on special teams for touchdowns and that was it," Madden remarked.

Barry widened the lead to four points with two foul shots, but also hit two straight field goals to tie the game again with 1:57 to go. Barry scored on a layup with 40 seconds left and Willie Taylor stole the ball with 25 seconds remaining as the Stars fouled Barry to make it 108-105. Merv Jackson's layup with two seconds to go left Utah a point shy of tying.

Barry scored 30 points for the Stars and Betty netted 29. Barry led the Nets with 29 points.

Eagles battle Utags

CSI's Golden Eagles—the nation's third-ranked junior college squad—face what has to be their toughest test of the year thus far tonight in Logan, Utah against the Utah State freshmen.

A Golden Eagle team has never lost to the Utags at home, but hasn't ever won at Logan either. Dutch Belnap's charges lost a 68-65 heartbreaker last year in Twin Falls before winning at home. Jim Boatwright, former Minico high star, leads the Aggies in scoring.

High school games Tuesday night include Buhl at Burley and Hansen at Oakley, The Indians, who were upset Saturday night in Rod Hohnhorst's final game as head coach, debut under former assistant Bill Ingram against the Bobcats.

At Oakley, the undefeated Hornets, making noises in the top five (AP) rankings, have a chance to put the Mayle Valley conference crown away with a victory. Hansen has one loss in loop play and another would almost assure the Hornets of another title.

Castelford travels to Murg to face the struggling and injury-plagued Red Devils and Rockland plays at Raft River in the other Tuesday games. Wednesday night the Glenns Ferry Pilots, apparently out of a bad scoring slump, host the surging Wood River Wolverines—upset winners over Buhl Saturday.

CSI stays on the road the entire week, playing two important ICAC games Friday and Saturday nights. Friday the Eagles take on Eastern Utah in the first meeting of the year between the two clubs and Saturday play Mesa—considered a darkhorse for the conference title if the Eagles falter.

Boosters meeting

Basketball, indoor track and wrestling will be discussed when the Twin Falls Bruin Boosters meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the high school cafeteria.

Coaches Charles Farmer, Jerry Kleinkopf and Steve Burratto will discuss their teams. The public is invited.

Granny has date with Derek

BOSTON (UPI)—A 74-year-old great grandmother finally had her date with the Boston Bruins' swinging bachelor, Derek Sanderson, after winning a contest more than six months ago.

Mrs. Mabel Hocking of South Boston, joking that she was "just a kid of 73," won the date with the 24-year-old Sanderson with one of the 13,000 entries submitted last July in the "Date Derek Day" contest held by a local radio station.

Mrs. Hocking, who has 12 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren, wrote to the radio station "just because I'm 73, there's no reason why I can't get a date with Derek."

Mrs. Hocking, who said she had her husband's permission to "go out—with a young man," spent the day with the mod-haired Sanderson and his lawyer, Bob Wolfe, and also visited with Derek's parents at his Boston apartment.

Celtics rout Cleveland

BOSTON (UPI)—John Havlicek and Jojo White combined for 64 points Sunday to lead the Boston Celtics over the Cleveland Cavaliers, 121-110.

Havlicek, the National Basketball Association's second leading scorer, poured in 38 points while White had 29, 19 of them in the first half which saw Boston jump out to a 63-47 lead.

Cleveland forward Bob Sorenson helped keep the Cavaliers in the game over the first half, hitting for 12 points. However, he was blanked after the intermission and rookie guard, Johnny Johnson, took over, hitting for 23 of his 29 points in the game.

Johnson paced a comeback effort that saw Cleveland close the margin to within 11 points, the margin to which Cleveland lost four times in the final period.

Barber's record 261 total nets two-shot Phoenix Open victory

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Miller Barber, a Litchburn, Texan, won the $125,000 Phoenix Open Sunday by two strokes with a record-shattering 72-hole total of 261, 23 under par.

Barber shot a final 65 on the par 35-36-71 Arizona Country Club course to move from two strokes off the pace and collect the $25,000 first prize for his first tournament victory since the New Orleans Open last year.

Two shots back were the Masters champion, Billy Casper, and the Florida attorney, Dan Sikes, at 263, which equalled the tournament record set by Gene Littler when he won the Phoenix Open in 1969.

Casper shot a final round 62, nine under par. That tied the 18-hole record also set by Littler in 1969.

Casper, who lost a sudden-death playoff to Bob Lunn in the Los Angeles Open this year, and Sikes each won $11,575.

Reed all-time Knicks scorer

DETROIT (UPI)—Willis Reed became the Knicks' all-time leading scorer with 24 points Sunday in leading New York to a nationally televised 117-105 National Basketball Association defeat of the Detroit Pistons.

Reed's 24 points gave him 10,511 in his seven years with New York to break the previous record held by Carl Braun, who had 10,499 for the Knicks between 1947-48 and 1960-61.

After Cincinnati had pulled to within three points, West made good on three straight free throws including a technical foul shot when the Royals Norm Van Lier disputed a call. Van Lier incurred another technical with 53 seconds to go and was ejected from the game.

When Reed scored the bucket which put him ahead of Braun at 7:33 of the second period, he was given a partial standing ovation from the 11,092 partisan fans.

The Lakers led 61-56 at the half when Hairston took charge to score 10 points in the third quarter. The Laker forward had made good on only two of 12 field goal attempts in the first half, but pumped in seven in a row to put Los Angeles ahead 103-92 going into the final period.

Rockets nip Kentucky

DENVER (UPI)—The Denver Rockets battled the Kentucky Colonels up to the last second Sunday to take a 119-110 American Basketball Association victory.

Byron Beck was fouled with one second remaining and broke a 116-116 tie with his free throw. He made a second but it was voided by a Ralph Simpson game violation. Beck reshot, missed, and Don Sidle tipped it in for the two-point just as the buzzer sounded.

Ryun pleased with 4:04 time in comeback trial

By United Press International
Jim Ryun is leaving the records to other trackmen these days but he seems to be enjoying the sport more now.

Ryun was overshadowed on a busy indoor track weekend by a pair of world record marks but the former Kansas star was pleased by a relaxed 4:04 mile Friday night in his first appearance in 19 months at the All-American Games in San Francisco.

Buffalo topples Portland

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Bob Kauffman scored 30 points and John Hummer and Birm Gillum added to even Sunday afternoon as the Buffalo Braves whipped the Portland Trail Blazers, 123-111, in a match-up of National Basketball Association expansion teams.

Kauffman sank four free throws and a five-foot jumper while Don May put away two field goals and a pair of free throws to spark a 14-1 string that moved Buffalo from a 47-46 lead to a 61-47 advantage late in the first half.

Hummer scored on a tip-in and a pair of free throws with four minutes left in the game to end a nine-point Portland string that brought the Blazers within seven points, 106-99.

The win gave Buffalo a three-game streak for the first time this season.

Eddie Pace dies in ring

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Eddie Pace, former welterweight contender, was pronounced dead on arrival at Morningside Hospital Saturday after collapsing in the ring during a sparring session.

An autopsy was scheduled. Police said he apparently died of natural causes.

Pace was working out against Gil King, the current state 147-pound titleholder, when he collapsed. He began his pro ring career in 1958.

He scored a decision over Curtis Cokes here in 1964 before Cokes became the world welterweight champion.

Suns edge by Chicago

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—The Phoenix Suns came from 11 points down in the last nine and one-half minutes to edge the Chicago Bulls 113-112 Sunday night.

After trailing 95-84 with 0:32 remaining in the game, the Suns came back to tie the score at 97-97 with 5:39 left on the clock.

The score was tied five times in the next four minutes before Phoenix moved ahead to stay, 107-105 with 1:31 left.

Chicago was still within one point, 111-110, when Mel Counts sank two free throws with five seconds remaining to clinch the win.

Counts and Paul Silas, with 18 points each, headed Phoenix's balanced scoring attack. Art Harris had 17, Connie Hawkins and Dick Van Arsdale 15, each and Clem Haskins 11 for the Suns.

Bob Loved paced Chicago with 34 points, followed by Chet Walker with 20, Tom Boerwinkle, with 15, and Jerry Sloan, with 11, were the only other Bulls in twin figures.

quit abruptly 10 months ago and "retired" to become a photographer in Topeka, Kan.

The long payoff, has given him a chance to relax and build up his competitive urge again and now he's aiming at the 1972 Olympics. But he's doing it slowly and, as a husband and father, he seems to be much more mature and self-confident now.

"I was very pleased with my performance," Ryun said after his mile even though his own world record is almost 13 seconds faster. He now plans to move to Eugene, Ore., where he will train under University of Oregon coach Bill Bowerman.

No chance...

THERE'S NO WAY Portland's Rick Adelman can make this layup. Bob Kauffman of the Buffalo Braves forced Adelman too far under the basket and for added insurance Kauffman put his right arm in the net. Dale Schuster (54) got the resulting desperation dish-off. (UPI)

76ers coast past Seattle 145-119

SEATTLE (UPI) — The Philadelphia 76ers rode a wave of hot shooting by Billy Cunningham and Jim Washington to a 15-point halftime lead and coasted to a 145-119 National Basketball Association win over the Seattle SuperSonics Sunday night.

Favorite squashed

BRIGHTON, England (UPI)—An eight-inch worm wriggled to victory Sunday in what was billed as the world's first worm race—a week after the unofficial favorite was accidentally squashed during training.

Toy Token Tom, cheered on by a crowd of 30 spectators, inched along the two-foot plate glass course at the Brighton Toy Fair in one minute seven seconds—a speed of 4,593 hours per mile.

He beat runner-up Whippy Willy II, five inches long, by a worm's length. Three other contestants, Creepy Crawler, Iggle Squiggles and Yesman, were left far behind.

Whippy Willy II was a late substitute for the race. Its owner, Chris Hudson, 15, accidentally trod on Willy's predecessor a week ago while training him in the back garden.

"The first Willy was terrifyingly fast and could have easily won the race today," Chris said. "I fed Willy II on cabbage and chocolate but it didn't seem to do him any good. He just didn't want to finish."

slowly and, as a husband and father, he seems to be much more mature and self-confident now.

"I was very pleased with my performance," Ryun said after his mile even though his own world record is almost 13 seconds faster. He now plans to move to Eugene, Ore., where he will train under University of Oregon coach Bill Bowerman.

Although the home course gave them the first day advantage, it was a quirk of weather which secured Italy's two-man bobsled team a clean sweep of the world championships.

The Italy No. 1 team of Gianfranco Gaspari and Mario Armano captured the world title on the basis of their first two heat times Saturday when officials suspended the last two runs Sunday because a sudden

Italians call off bobsled meet safely ahead of field

CERVIA, Italy (UPI)—A snowstorm dumped 100-deep drifts on the killer Lago di Garda course.

The Italy No. 2 duo of Enzo Vicario and Corrado Dal Fabbro were awarded second place and the Austria No. 1 team of Herber Gruber and Mario Armano took third on the basis of Saturday's times.

deliberation, judges canceled the rest of the heats and posted the standings after Saturday's first two heats as the final results.

Italian organizers, anticipating certain controversy over the decision since it gave the world title and second place to Italian teams, issued a statement that they asked the judges to postpone the last two heats until Monday but the judges refused.

The abrupt cancellation of the last two heats brought unofficial protests from the German, Austrian and Swiss teams.

Russell home again

Humorous...

WINDER, Ga. (UPI)—Sen. Richard Brovrad Russell came home to his beloved red clay in the Georgia foothills Sunday for the final time. In death he was flanked by the uniformed men he supported so steadfastly in life, and cloaked in the red, white and blue he defended so diligently.

"He was No. 1," Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., was moved to say in eulogizing his close friend and colleague. Thousands of mourners and 138 members of Russell's family trudged after the steel-gray coffin down a winding, sodden path behind the white frame family home.

The funeral procession moved slowly in cold, steady rain, past lines of military policemen, to the family cemetery where he was buried beside his mother and father. The unmarried Russell, a former state legislator and, when elected, Georgia's youngest governor, had served 50 of his 73 years in public office, the final 38 in the Senate where he was the dean, the president pro tempore, third in line of succession to the presidency and chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Rain limited the mourners to 4,000. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was to have flown to nearby Atlanta and motor here for the funeral, but his plane could not land because of the leaden, overcast skies. Instead, the dignitaries flew to Charleston, S.C., where Agnew, Stennis, Sen. Herman Talmadge and Rep. Phil Landrum of Georgia, and Senate Minority Leader Mike Mansfield delivered their eulogies over a hastily rigged television circuit.

Long lunar mission countdown commences

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The countdown began today for Sunday's launch of the three Apollo 14 astronauts on the most difficult and costly lunar landing mission yet.

The long countdown started promptly at 9 a.m. EST while Alan B. Shepard, Stuart A. Roosa and Edgar D. Mitchell were in the doctors' office seeking medical clearance in their final major preflight physical examinations. "We're in good shape," reported a space agency official as engineers began work at the ocean-side launch pad. Much of today's activity was devoted to electrical checks of the lunar landing craft and installation of starters for the booster rocket's engines.

The three astronauts and their backup pilots have been living in isolation at the Kennedy Space Center for two weeks to minimize their chances of falling ill before or during the $400 million, nine-day expedition. Backup commander Eugene A. Cernan unintentionally violated the unique quarantine Saturday when his flaming helicopter crashed in a nearby river. He was exposed to several rescuers before returning to the Cape.

Officials reported all other aspects of preparation for the mission were going well. Excitement mounted around the moonport and newsmen and tourists flowed into the area. Part of the excitement was generated by two communications satellite shots. One is the new Intelsat 4 commercial craft set for launch tonight after three successive 24-hour delays caused by strong high altitude winds. The other is a smaller military satellite set for launch Wednesday.

Shepard, 47, dean of the astronauts, and rookie space pilots Roosa, 37, and Mitchell, 40, began the final week well rested and with more training and preparation than any moon crew before them. They relaxed in their comfortable quarters Saturday and then Roosa and Mitchell took advantage of pleasant weather to go flying in jet trainers. Roosa later went fishing and produced a good catch of sheepshead and trout. But Shepard stayed behind and studied a stack of flight plans and other documents. It will be his first spaceflight since his pioneering 15-minute Mercury hop nearly 10 years ago, and he admits he has worked unusually hard to get ready.

"It has been tough, it's been difficult," he said in an interview just before beginning the health quarantine. "I pressed pretty hard in the interest of being pretty sure that I was as ready to go as I could be."

Pope hits trial

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI deplored Sunday what he called the "singular and sensational" trial of alleged anti-government elements in Guinea and said a Roman Catholic archbishop among the scores of defendants is "innocent and menaced by terrible torment."

Only moments after the Pope spoke at his regular Sunday blessing of crowds in St. Peter's Square, the Vatican received news that a "People's Court" in the African country had sentenced 62 defendants to death. The Guinea court also sentenced 72 others to life imprisonment, including Archbishop Raymond-Marie Tchidimbo of Conakry. A spokesman said the news was heard with "consternation." Archbishop Tchidimbo was convicted along with others of being involved in a mercenary-led invasion to overthrow the government, according to Guinea's official radio. The 73-year-old pontiff told his audience the Roman Catholic Church is suffering persecution in many parts of the world, including "that Africa so beloved by us as a new land of Christ."

"You have certainly heard of a singular and sensational trial against persons accused of being accomplices of plots and rebellions," he said. "Among them is a dearly beloved archbishop, who as far as we know is innocent and menaced by terrible torment. We have ourselves called on the supreme authority of the state for serene justice and generous mercy for him, and also for the other accused," the Pope added. "We have hope."

There is a most effective medication that in many cases gives prompt relief for hours from such hemorrhoidal discomfort and actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues caused by the inflammation. The answer is doctor-tested Preparation H.

There's no other hemorrhoidal formula like Preparation H and it needs no prescription. Ointment or suppositories.

Tate jury resumes work today

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The seven-man-five-woman jury in the Tate-LaBianca murder trial enters its ninth day of deliberations today into the guilt or innocence of Charles Manson and three of his female followers. The jury took Sunday off after bringing its deliberations to a total of 41 hours and 20 minutes with Saturday's session. There was no indication when a verdict would be reached.

Wind halts satellite launching

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The launch of the Intelsat 4 communications satellite was postponed Sunday night for the third day in a row because of severe high altitude winds.

"Another try will be made to launch the $13.3 million commercial spacecraft at 7:01 p.m. EST Monday night. "Once again we are in a no go condition as far as the upper altitude winds are concerned," reported a spokesman at the launch control center. Officials feared the winds would endanger the rising rocket. Any further delays could complicate an already busy launch schedule this week. A smaller communications satellite is set for flight Wednesday night and Apollo 14 takes off for the moon Sunday.

Oswald: "If he attacks spades at trick two East will get on lead with the king and shift to a club. South will play the queen. West will take his king and clear the suit before South has a chance to develop a diamond trick and another game will have disappeared."

Jim: "If South attacks diamonds at trick two he will be able to keep the dangerous hand out of the lead. The winning play is to fake the first trick with dummy's ace of hearts, lead a diamond and play the eight or 10. This will lose to West's jack, but he can't hurt you in clubs. South will have set up his third diamond trick and will be left with three to knock out the king of spades."

Oswald: "Should West hold four diamonds to the queen-jack South won't be able to set up a third diamond trick, but he will still have time for other suits."

by L.M. Boyd

WHICH IS THE WORST offense? To tell a lie to your lover... to steal a quarter tip from a waitress... to slap a whimpering baby or to stand up an honorable date? By your answer, say the scholars who devised this little morality test, it can be determined whether you're masculine or feminine. They do not specify the gender of these queries. What's your guess? I'd say the lie or the theft would most offend the man, the slap or the no-show the woman.

WHAT THE INDIANS called themselves before Columbus called them Indians, reports a kindly client, was Layanites... ACCIDENT INSURANCE PREMIUMS at a private school in New York City runs $6.50 for the girls, $15 for the boys... JUST ABOUT HALF of the women widowed at the age of 65 can expect to live another 15 years.

WHAT DO YOU call the zoomer who cleans the nook where the raccoon lives? The raccoonnookkeeper, naturally. Nowhere else in English, our Language man is proud to report, will you find another word with six double letters back to back so you might as well just stop looking. Raccoonnookkeeper is not a word that leaps into the conversation every day, but it is a word, it is.

IT'S NOT THE WALKING that gives you big feet, am convinced of that. The women of 50 years ago walked a lot more than the girls of today, but the average woman's foot size has jumped from 6 1/2 to 8 now, and that's considerable growth... WOULDNT IT be dandy if a tooth could repair itself? Hold on, that's not so silly. It's the only part of the human body that can't. But the science boys are working on that, too. They now say a treated tooth at some distant future date may heal just like a bone.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: Q "Can a police doctor hypnotize a confession out of a suspect?" A Not a confession that counts for anything in court... Q "Were you aware the walnut is not actually a nut, but the inside of a fruit?" A No, sir, was not aware of that fascinating fact... nut looks like a nut, doesn't it... Q "What year was it we last minted all-silver coins?" A No year, never ever. Last 90-per cent silver coins came out in 1966. But they're all dated 1964.

IT WAS NONE OTHER than that Montana literary luminary Cal Holland who observed: 1. "Candy is dandy, but sex doesn't rot your teeth." 2. "If I'd known I was going to live this long, I'd have taken better care of myself." 3. "College marriages are all right if the colleges really love each other."

IT'S STILL OFTEN SAID a man's true character comes forth when he's under the influence of liquor, but that has been disproved. What's most apt to bring out a man's true character, it's now known, is advancing age. If he's a saintly soul, it will finally show up in his retirement years. And if he's a dirty old man, he was dirty young man, too; you can count on that. Or so says a student of behavior.

Your questions and comments are welcomed and will be used in PASS-IT-ON wherever possible. Please address your letters to L.M. Boyd, P.O. Box 99068, Seattle, Wash. 98199.
