TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, FRIDAY, JANUARY 29, 1971

Nixon deficit budget to ask $229 billion

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon proposed Friday a $229.2 billion budget featuring a deficit of $11.6 billion—the first deficit ever—deliberately planned by a modern Republican President—in the hope of pulling the economy out of its job-scarce slump by mid-1972. He called it a "full employment budget" which he hoped would create "prosperity without inflation."

Nixon's spending plans for the fiscal year starting July 1 included no offsetting tax increases, except for another boost in payroll taxes to finance a 6 per cent rise in Social Security benefits, and no major new programs.

Instead, the President called for dismantling some of the Democrats' most prized New Frontier and Great Society programs and placing their money into an initial "revenue sharing" pool of $13.6 billion for states and localities to spend largely as they see fit.

He also asked Congress for heavier spending for defense ($1.1 billion to $7.5 billion), improved law enforcement, curbs on pollution, a commitment to an all-volunteer army and the start of his controversial reform of the welfare system.

But the budget was based on some of the same assumptions that saw Nixon's original projection of a slim surplus for the current fiscal year turn into a deficit which he conceded for the first time Friday would total $18.6 billion—the second biggest since World War II.

If this year's deficit doesn't deepen by June 30 and if the new projection holds, Nixon would have spent $30.2 billion in red ink in two years.

Among these assumptions is that the Democratic-controlled 92nd Congress, already girding for the 1972 presidential election, will agree to his plan to save $2.9 billion by eliminating the popular school milk program, tightening the Medicaid program of health care for the needy, and other economies.

Nixon labeled his plan to stimulate the economy through deficit spending, a frequent concept of Democratic administrations, as a "full employment budget."

His economists define "full employment" as a time when 4 per cent or less of the labor force are out of work, compared to the present nine-year high of about 6 per cent unemployment.

Even if Congress cooperates, the projected $11.6 billion deficit could prove overoptimistic. Nixon's estimate of revenues would fall short, for example, if the Gross National Product—the total value of goods and services produced—falls to increase by 9 per cent this year over 1970.

Many private economists doubt the economy will grow this much, as Nixon expects, just as his estimate of the 1970

Valley studies

President Nixon's budget asks Congress for funds for two Magic Valley studies.

He asked for $80,000 for an Army Corps of Engineers study of flood control on the Big Wood River, and $25,100 to fund a study by the Bureau of Reclamation of the proposed northside pumping division extension of the Minidoka Project.

Growth in GNP fell short by $10 billion, Nixon acknowledged, that his budget estimates also depend on lower interest rates, an easier money policy by the Federal Reserve Board, and voluntary wage-price restraint by business and organized labor.

Besides resubmitting a request for a two-cent-per-gallon increase in the tax on Diesel fuel, the only major tax change next year would be a $2.8 billion boost in Social Security payroll taxes to finance a 5 per cent increase in benefits, retroactive to this Jan. 1, which Congress may well vote to raise even further.

Callers report mystery flash

TWIN FALLS — What was described as a "sky phenomenon" Thursday night caused several Magic Valley citizens concern when they sighted what appeared to be planes in distress.

The sightings, reported to the Twin Falls sheriff's office, began at 7:18 p.m. and continued until about 8 p.m.

The first report was of a "flash in the sky that looked like an explosion" near Berger.

A "plane on fire" west of Bliss also was reported and the sighting of smoke and a possible plane on fire was reported west of the Hollister Port of Entry.

Gooding sheriff's officers told authorities in Twin Falls that a citizen then observed a "100 foot long craft going down" south of the Gooding city limits.

Federal Aviation Administration personnel at Burley said officials at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., reported firing of rockets from there Thursday evening.

They said light diffusion or crystallization of vapor trails by moisture in the air during the firing could have caused the optical illusion to travel as far away as Twin Falls.

The FAA spokesman said there have been no aircraft reported overdue on flights in the area and no planes have been reported down, so they are willing to accept the several sightings as a phenomenon.

Gem dam NFO plans 'hog haul'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon asked Congress today to appropriate $54.9 million to bring the $281 million Dworshak Dam project in Idaho to near completion.

The funds were requested for the Army Engineers in the President's budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Nearly $200 million has already been spent on the multiple-purpose dam and reservoir.

Also in the Corps of Engineers budget was $1 million to continue work on the $16.9 million Idrie Dam.

Preconstruction planning of the Stuart Gulch Dam would be carried out with a $20,000 budget request. Funds also were requested for study of three proposed flood control projects; Big Wood River, $50,000; Henrys Fork and Teton River Basin, $10,000, and Spokane River and tributaries, $40,000.

The Bureau of Reclamation requested $10,655,000 to continue work on the Teton Dam and other features of the lower Teton division of the Teton Basin Project, $33,000 for the existing reservoirs.

Other requests by the bureau included $302,700 to continue a feasibility study of the Southwest Idaho Water Development Project, $220,200 to study the Upper Snake River Project.

PAUL — Angry Magic Valley hog raisers will supply nearly half of the hogs to be used in a demonstration by the National Farmers Organization aimed at raising prices throughout the West.

Tim Adams, NFO publicity chairman in the Magic Valley, said "several hundred head" of marketable hogs will be collected in the Paul area on Saturday. The Magic Valley, including Twin Falls, Minidoka, Cassia, Jerome, Gooding and Lincoln Counties will supply about 40 per cent of the NFO animals. Oregon, Wyoming and Southwestern Idaho hog raisers will also be represented, Adams said.

Hog raisers will bring their animals to a collection center two miles north of Paul on Saturday. Larger transport trucks will collect the hogs and take them to higher-priced markets in the East. The specific destination has not been determined at this time, Adams said.

The Paul collection center will gather animals from a wide area, including Boise, Caldwell, Nampa and Eastern Idaho, as well as from Nyssa, Ore., two Utah counties and two Wyoming counties. Each county in the Boise marketing area has been given a quota of hogs to supply, but the figure was not released today by Adams.

Specific figures will be released on Saturday, however, he said.

The purpose of the demonstration is an attempt to boost the market price on fat hogs to about $20 to $25 per hundredweight. Prices in the Magic Valley have ranged around $16 per hundredweight on market hogs, Adams said.

Earlier NFO demonstrations, in which organization members trucked hogs to the national capital, helped raise the price at Burley by $1 to $2 up to $17 per hundredweight, Adams said.

Adams said producers' records show cost of production is about $18 per hundredweight at this time and many growers are forced to sell their hogs below cost.

Adams said trucks with hogs from other zones will be traveling in caravans and will begin arriving at the central collection point about 10 a.m. Saturday and will be ready for shipment into the afternoon.

Driver training periled

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls School District may have to drop its driver training program at the end of the school year, according to George Staudacher, assistant superintendent of schools.

The state of Idaho, which reimburses the district for the program, owes the Twin Falls school district $12,800 for last semester's training, Staudacher said. Unless this is repaid and funds are guaranteed for future classes, the district cannot continue the training.

Cars for the classes are provided at no cost by Twin Falls car dealers, as a contribution to the district's educational program.

At the state level, a scramble for funds has begun, with a petition presented to the legislature to allocate $245,000 in interim financing for driver training programs throughout the state, according to Harold Farley, assistant superintendent of public instruction.

Farley, second in command in the Idaho Department of Education, told the Times-News today that the $245,000 would pay past bills, including the $12,800 owed District 411 in Twin Falls, and fund driver training programs until the end of the fiscal year.

The department of education is also seeking a $1 increase in driver-license fees and an increase of $1 in the fee charged students to take the driver-training course, bringing the fee to $4 per student per class, Farley said.

The $1 increase in licensing fees would bring in about $175,000 to $180,000 per year, and the additional class fees would return an additional $15,000 — all of which would be earmarked for driver training, Farley said.

"We hope that the small increases can permit the district-level programs to continue after July 1," Farley said. "This is really a small amount to pay, considering the quality of the training given and the savings on car insurance."

Idaho driver-training programs have been acclaimed nationally as among the best in the nation, Farley said.

Egypt calls up reserves

By United Press International

Egypt has mobilized some reserve military units and gone on war footing in preparation for the end of the Middle East cease-fire next Friday, diplomatic reports from Cairo said today.

The reports said, however, the alert was precautionary and not to be taken as a sign Egypt was preparing an attack. They said the Egyptians probably will agree to a cease-fire to allow continuation of the peace talks at the United Nations.

Notice to patrons

The rapidly rising cost of nearly everything needed to produce and deliver your newspaper has forced the Times-News to raise its monthly rates by 25 cents.

Despite the slight increase, there is still no other daily-and-Sunday newspaper in Idaho priced less.

Beginning Feb. 1, your carrier will collect $2.50 each month — less than a penny a day more than you now pay.

Your hard-working newspaper boy or rural carrier will be given 30 per cent of the increase.

At a little more than 9 cents a day, the Times-News is still the biggest bargain around.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rogers C. B. Morton was sworn in Justice Potter Stewart, as new Secretary of Interior former classmate of Morton's today in a White House at Yale ceremony at which President Nixon pointed out that the Interior Department was established under President Theodore Roosevelt, a deeply challenged of restoring beauty to America.

The oath of office was concerned conservationist.

TWIN FALLS — Donnis Pratt, who has served as acting director of the South Central Community Action Agency since Jan. 4 was named director Thursday night.

Pratt joined the SCCAA early last year as senior citizens' director and was then appointed special projects officer. A native of Michigan, Pratt has lived in Twin Falls since 1964.

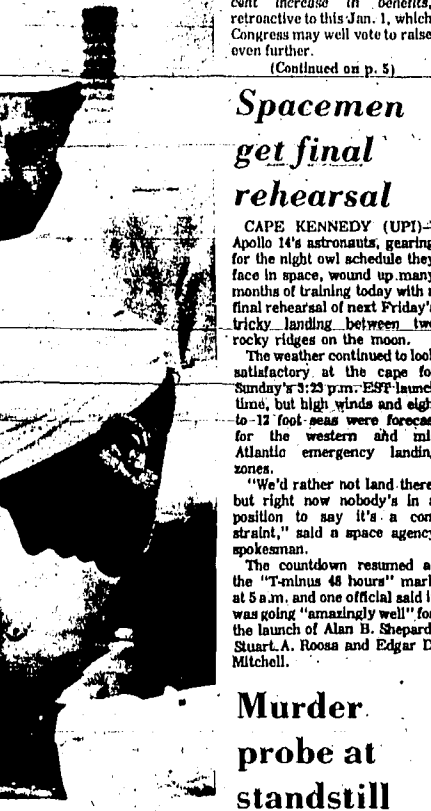

His selection was made during a meeting of the SCCAA board of directors at the judicial building in Twin Falls.

J.H. Reichard, Jerome, chairman of the board, said five applications were reviewed before Pratt's "not quite unanimous" selection.

Reichard said Pratt has "done a commendable job as acting director and I am confident he will be able to provide the organization with the leadership that is needed."

Pratt said he hoped to get the SCCAA's planning project on the road, get some strong evaluation and have a good, strong relationship with the board of directors.

The former director, Larry Mack, resigned in December upon request of the board.

Murder probe at standstill

JEROME — The investigation into the September slaying of Jerome farmer Reuben Stohler, 61, is "at a standstill," according to Jerome County Sheriff James B. (Pat) Burns.

Burns said "we have some ideas, but you can't prosecute on ideas."

Stohler's body was found Sept. 14 in the basement of his farm home in the Barrymore District.

Ivan Epperson, administrator of the Stohler estate, said the farm has been rented by Albert Burnstall, Jerome, who is operating a dairy at the farm.

Cyclone hits Mozambique

BEIRA, Mozambique (UPI)—A tropical cyclone reminiscent of the one that devastated East Pakistan last November tore through the farm lowlands of northern Mozambique Thursday and took a heavy toll of lives, reports reaching here said today.

The reports said floodwaters around the coastal town of Quelimane, 100 miles northeast of Beira, covered the tops of palm trees 25 feet high along the coast. Quelimane itself resembled an island from the air, the reports said. The cyclone named Felice—which means happiness—struck with winds of 60 miles an hour, wiping out communications with the stricken area. Pilots flying over the region said many roads were washed out and settlements isolated by the floodwaters.

In Lisbon, the newspaper Diario de Noticias quoting reports from the scene said damage was "enormous." It said the airport near Quelimane was flooded and the only way of reaching the town from the outside was by native canoe.

Mozambique, a Portuguese possession on the southeast coast of Africa, has an area of more than 297,000 square miles and a population of 7,376,000. Its capital is Lourenco Marques.

Manson slugs own attorney

LOS-ANGELES (UPI)—Charles Manson slugged his attorney and bragged he could tear the prosecutor to pieces Thursday as the Tate murder trial jury began hearing testimony on the punishment of the hippie leader and three young women, all of whom have been convicted of first-degree murder.

Manson was hauled from the courtroom with his arms pinioned at his sides in an angry outburst shortly after the first witness took the stand for the penalty phase of the trial.

His attorney, Irving Kanarek, had objected to the appearance of Bernard "Lotsapoppa" Crowe, 28, whom Manson allegedly shot and wounded a month before the Tate-LaBianca slayings. It was one of literally hundreds of objections by Kanarek and it set Manson off. He turned in his seat, punched Kanarek on the arm and shoved him. The attorney shouted "your honor," and Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older had Manson taken out to an adjoining holding room where he continued to shout at Kanarek to "shut up."

Manson earlier was boiling over Older's refusal of another demand that he be permitted to act as his own attorney and conduct his own defense in the penalty portion after which the jury will decide on life imprisonment or death for the four defendants.

The 36-year-old ex-convict continued to argue with the judge and Older advised him to sit down "in your own best interests."

Sawtooth memorial advances

BOISE (UPI)—A joint memorial introduced in the Senate Thursday urged Congress to enact legislation authorizing establishment of a Sawtooth national recreation area and a national park.

The joint memorial, sponsored by Sens. Art Manley, D-Coeur d'Alene, and Bill Crookham, R-Caldwell, was introduced one day after the House approved a memorial urging legislation for "recreation areas even though opponents argued such a memorial would embarrass Idaho's congressional delegation, which has backed the park-recreation proposal.

The memorial noted "The weight of past study and public sentiment favors the creation of a Sawtooth national re-

Angry Jews disrupt Russ troupe join RR network

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Carnegie Hall opening performance of a Soviet dance and singing ensemble was disrupted Thursday night when Jewish militants scattered open bottles of ammonia throughout the theater and telephoned a phony bomb threat.

It was the latest incident of a harassment campaign directed at Russian nationals by activist Jewish organizations protesting alleged oppression of Soviet Jewry. The Soviet Union has retaliated with harassment of Americans in Moscow straining Soviet-American cultural ties.

The gaily costumed Siberian Dancers and Singers of Omak were midway through their third number when bomb squad police, reacting to a telephoned threat, evacuated 1,000 orchestra floor spectators to the rear of the white walled auditorium.

Police found nothing but papers in a briefcase under a seat, evoking applause from some of the 2,200 persons in the audience.

A caller identifying himself as a member of the Student Struggle for Soviet Jewry told police where the bomb could be found and ended the conversation by saying "Never Again," the rallying cry of militant Jewish groups.

Earlier, noxious ammonia fumes from 3 bottles wafted throughout the theater and forced several patrons from their seats.

Minimum pay hike pondered

BOISE (UPI)—The House State Affairs Committee introduced a bill Thursday to raise the minimum wage to $1.40 next July 1 and to $1.60 on July 1, 1972.

A present minimum wage under Idaho law is $1.25 per hour.

But he said that the corporation has agreed to provide some service to Denver, Kansas City and Minneapolis—three cities not chosen as terminal points—and that the west coast of Florida, also left without service under the original announcement, would have a route linking Miami with Tampa and St. Petersburg.

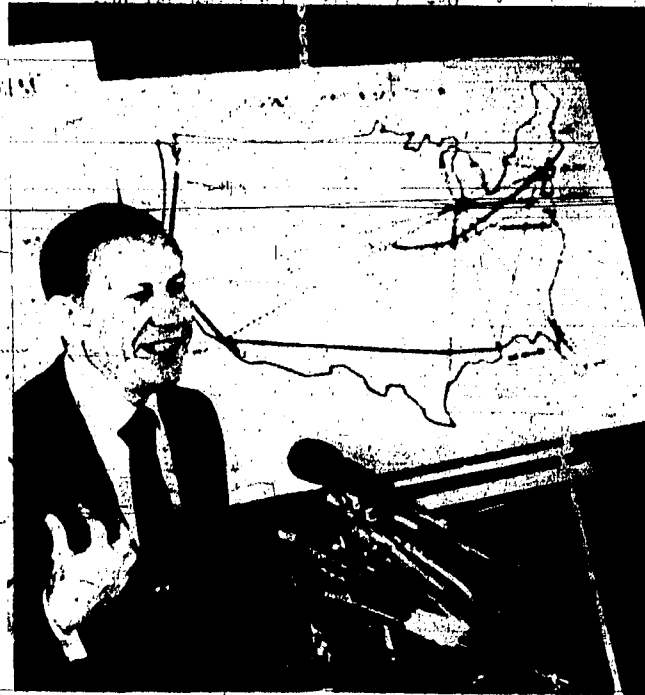

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe, responding to criticism, added five major routes Thursday to the new railroad system that a semi-public corporation will operate in an effort to save the vanishing passenger train.

Volpe announced that the Rail Passenger Corp. (RAILPAC), created last year by Congress, would offer service from Seattle to San Diego, New Orleans to Los Angeles, New York to Kansas City, Washington to Chicago and Norfolk to Cincinnati.

These routes were left out of the original RAILPAC network plan and the transportation secretary acknowledged at a news conference that the revision was prompted by demands for passenger train service linking these cities.

The network proposed last November included 16 basic routes. Since then, Volpe said he had received 3,000 letters.

"Because of the thoughtful comments submitted since Nov. 30, the basic system designated at that time has been subjected to intense reappraisal with the result that my final designation significantly increased the number of cities to which service will be provided by the corporation," Volpe said.

Bomb rips Utah State student

LOGAN (UPI)—A 19-year-old Utah State University student was injured by explosives early Wednesday, and Logan police and university officials were investigating the incident Thursday.

Capt. Max Jones of the Logan police said physics student Michael Ball of Sugar City, Idaho, who riding in a car with five other students outside Logan when some explosives they were carrying detonated.

Ball was listed in good condition at Logan LDS Hospital Thursday with injuries to his hands and ears.

Jones described the explosives as "homemade," and said one of the students told police they were manufactured in a chemistry lab at Utah State.

TRANSPORTATION Secretary John Volpe, in hopes of triggering a comeback for passenger trains, revised the government's rail passenger network to add major new links on the West Coast, in the southwest, midwest, and on the East Coast. (UPI)

Panel OK's annex limit

BOISE (UPI)—A bill prohibiting a city from annexing property within 60 days prior to a city election at which city officials are chosen was approved by the House Local Government Committee Thursday.

The measure now advances to the floor for debate and final consideration.

Introduced by Rep. Edward V. Williams, D-Lawton, it is an outgrowth of annexation of the Lawton Orchards by the city of Lawton.

Because the area was annexed too close to a city election, residents were not permitted to run for the City Council or even vote in the election.

Williams told the committee this led to a cry of "taxation without representation" and to a subsequent recall election in which six of the seven city councilmen were removed.

This bill, Williams said, would remove one of the reasons for using the recall provisions of the law.

In line with discussions on recall, Rep. H. Ford Koch, R-Boise, told the committee there apparently is no provision for recall of county officers—only city councilmen. He suggested that city officials alone should not be singled out for recall but perhaps some county recall provisions should be written into the code.

Rep. Robert Haakenson, D-Coeur d'Alene, said he felt there was a means for recalling county officials.

Chairman Ray Lincoln, R-Twin Falls, named a subcommittee of Reps. Israel Morrill, D-Blackfoot, and Clifford Scoresby, R-Iona, to a subcommittee to research the question and report back to the full committee.

Lincoln also told the committee he will try to set up a joint hearing with the Senate Committee on Local Government and Taxation on a bill to create a state board for certification of tax appraisers. He said he will try to schedule it for the morning of Feb. 8.

TB test repeats get ax

BOISE (UPI)—The Senate approved 28-6 Thursday a bill to eliminate requirement of repeated tuberculin skin tests for school employees whose test results are negative.

Earlier, the House approved the measure 60-10.

Sen. Mike Mitchell, D-Lawton, said in 1967 skin test procedures were instituted for three-year intervals, but added since that time not one known case of tuberculosis has arisen for anyone with negative skin tests.

He said recent studies show 95 per cent of the cases reported in Idaho come from the 60,000 persons who have had the disease or who have had positive skin tests.

But Sen. Lyle Cobbs, R-Boise, said he felt "every precaution should be taken" to stop the disease and said if the bill were approved it could be possible to miss a contact.

Counties ask highway user revenue freeze

BOISE (UPI) — A spokesman for Idaho's county commissioners and clerks asked the legislature Thursday to dissolve the more than 100 local highway districts and give their responsibilities to the counties.

At the same time, Don Adams, Coeur d'Alene, put before the House Committee on Transportation and Defense a request that cities sharing in highway user revenues be required to account for how they spend the monies under a uniform system.

Adams said, "who don't have a street department...who don't even own a pick shovel."

Some of the larger cities, stating they are in financial difficulties, have asked for a greater share of the local government's portion of the revenues to repair and pave streets.

Airport aid steps checked

TWIN FALLS — Groundwork necessary for obtaining federal funds for future work at the Twin Falls City-County Airport was discussed here Thursday by George Michael, city engineer, and two Federal Aviation Administration representatives.

In looking at the distribution we know that the revenue is going to some cities who do no road work," Adams said, "who don't have a street department...who don't even own a pick shovel."

Youth to California

TWIN FALLS — A 17-year-old boy arrested in Twin Falls Wednesday for illegal possession of marijuana will be released to California officers, according to Capt. Tim Qualls of the Twin Falls Police Department.

The boy is listed as a runaway from California, Qualls said. When the youth was arrested at a Twin Falls hotel he had in his possession, besides the marijuana, a packet of red, white and blue cigarette papers which resemble the American flag.

Project steps traced

TWIN FALLS — Procedures the city of Twin Falls and Idaho Department of Highways will follow in preparing for improvement of the West Five Points intersection were reviewed Thursday.

Meeting on the matter were Norman Crossley, urban engineer, department of highways and City Manager Jean Milar.

Milar said the city must follow specific steps in meeting qualifications under the TOPICS program for funding of such highway projects. First, the city will be required to prepare information and statistics to prove eligibility, Crossley said.

While this is being done, the state engineers will proceed with design and right of way acquisition. Milar said these steps will be completed during 1971 with construction to begin later, possibly in 1972.

Magic Valley water trust bill offered

BOISE (UPI) — Two legislators from the Magic Valley introduced in the House Thursday legislation to appropriate and hold in trust for the people certain unappropriated waters in the valley.

The measure by Reps. Vernon Ravenscroft, D-Tuttle, and Earl Greenawald, R-Jerome, would authorize the State Park Board to appropriate all the unappropriated water in the Mulud Canyon, the Magra Springs area, the Big Springs area, the Box Canyon area, and — upon cessation of the use of water for electrical generation — the Thousand Springs area.

Ravenscroft described the measure as one which would "reserve to the people of Idaho the scenic wonders of the unique Thousand Springs area."

Americans: The Gentle Side

WASHINGTON — It is mildly unfortunate that those journalistic advocates of a far-out approach to our national problems found no space in their anti-materialistic essays for comment on a recently completed project of the National Audubon Society.

Reference is to the annual bird census, and I confess at the outset that the mere thought of engaging in such a venture is enough to cause me to order another flagon of hot buttered rum and turn up the thermostat.

and forests, counting and classifying our bird life to find out where various species of birds are spending the winter. They counted an estimated more than 15 million feathered friends belonging to about 500 species, as they trudged through snow, waded swamps, climbed mountains and scrambled through brush.

counters were grownups; not members of our great idealistic college set. Those counters who went out as families undoubtedly included children who had been subjected at the dapper stage to a system of loving discipline which put gentle stress on values outside the realm of the television.

spending "a minimum of seven hours in the field" and covering "a circular area 15 miles in diameter" in the dead of winter strikes terror to my imagination.

Beyond Belief

Most people never thought they would live long enough for such a thing to happen.

Here, all these years, we have been trying our utmost to get out-of-state people to hunt in Idaho. We have gone all out, we have advertised, we have begged, we have pleaded.

Then they started to come in numbers. Now all that is going to change because of these numbers. The Fish and Game Department has presented a proposal to the Legislature that would limit the number of out-of-state big game hunters to probably 10,000 souls.

Basically, the proposal would also limit non resident permits to only 10 per cent of any controlled hunt, limit the deer-only non resident permit to antlered deer only and boost the fee from the present $50 to $75, limit the non resident gun license (which allows hunting for rabbits and other non-game species) to an eight-month period ending Jan. 31.

There is going to be controversy over the proposals. But that is not really the point.

Who, in all of Idaho, would have believed 20 years ago that such a day would ever arrive? That such a proposal would ever be made!

WHO SAID THE FOOTBALL SEASON IS OVER

Still O.K.

It probably does no permanent damage to learn the expression O.K. is not as all-American as many had supposed, but the revelation is a bit of a disappointment. If there is one universal expression which is understood in almost any language, it is O.K., and the thought that this was strictly an American invention did something for the ego.

A British philologist has corrected that notion by stating the term is derived directly from the West African Mandingo language, in which "o ke" can be translated as "all right."

If this philological explanation is correct, it probably antedates American usage, which etymologists have traced back to the 1839 political campaign. In any event, nothing has been lost in the translation. O.K. is still O.K. with us, whatever its origin.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Ringworm

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Will you please describe ringworm and what causes it? Also how to treat it. I have a ring on my arm the size of a half dollar, and also a ring-shaped mark on my foot which is getting larger.

Someone told me the ring mark on my foot could be a first sign of diabetes. Please help. — Mrs. D. H.

Ringworm is a skin infection caused by a fungus — several varieties of fungi may be involved in different cases.

The fungus gets a start in one small spot, then spreads, so the discolored and sometimes itchy spot grows outward in a ring shape. It is also even possible for another inside ring to start after the area has been healed.

There may be just one spot or several rings. There is no home remedy that is at all dependable, so, rather than running the risk of developing still more patches, you should have your doctor treat it — fungus has always been a difficult thing to treat, but in recent years more effective medications have been developed for quite a number of types.

Since the ringworm fungus can be transmitted from person to person, be careful about that. Because of the one on your foot, assuming that it really is ringworm, and it sounds like it, don't go around the house barefoot. Wear slippers. And only your own. Don't let anyone else wear yours, either. The fungus could spread to someone else.

Don't scratch the spots. That can spread the fungus. It also can open the way for other types of infection. If the spots itch too much, your doctor can give you medication to subdue the itch.

Hingworm on the foot is an early sign of diabetes. "That's beautiful, General. No one's ever put it that way before."

"This may sound as if it's coming from left field, gentlemen, but I thought we might blame Congress for the raid. The secretary could announce that all he was doing was following the letter of the law which was passed by Congress to support any action by the President that would bring our American boys back home."

"It's worth running up the flagpole, Colonel."

operation unless you need it? Second, the operation has to be done with great precision — the gap in the diaphragm through which the gullet passes to connect with the stomach has to be made just the right size, neither too small nor too large.

Therefore this operation should be performed by a surgeon who is thoroughly familiar with the technique. With the best of care, sometimes the operation does not work out in as foolproof fashion as both the patient and surgeon wish.

My own view is that non-surgical methods always should be tried first, and surgery employed if they fail. The cases I have had operated were severe, did not respond to simple treatment, but were well after the operation. I explain that in my booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It."

Anyone wanting a copy can get it in return for 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a man, 75, and weigh 188 and am trying to lose weight. I have had night sweats and sometimes have to change undershirts a couple of times a night. What causes night sweats? — F. H. F.

Better have your doctor check you over. Chronic (but perhaps not obvious) infection is a frequent cause. But it wouldn't be a bad idea, since you are dieting, to check your fasting (morning) blood sugar, to rule out low blood sugar.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is nevertheless vital to human life. For this reason, Dr. Thosteson has entitled his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." For a copy write to him in care of this newspaper, enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets, that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

RAY CROMLEY

About Waste

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Nixon's quarrel with the way government is now organized can be summarized in five major points:

Most programs on welfare, job training, elimination of racial discrimination tend to benefit bureaucrats more than the recipients.

Take minority employment, says one White House aide. What we did was hire an enormous number of minority employment counselors, not iron workers, but guys who counsel on how to hire iron workers.

Or take welfare. At one Indian reservation the government is spending $8,000 per Indian family. The $8,000 goes to the bureaucracy, and the bureaucracy does all right. But nothing happens to the families.

Too many programs are set up without considering their side effects.

As a Nixon adviser puts it: The Interstate Highway System began as if it had nothing whatever to do with anything else and the results have been kind of calamitous in most places because the people involved had one idea. As far as they knew, their mission was to pour concrete and not to steal.

If they had done that, they had done their job. We poured billions into interstate highways. The result was that the overwhelming majority of blue-collar jobs created in the last 15 years have been located on the fringes of metropolitan settlements whereas the people looking for work are located in the center.

So many programs are now managed in Washington, the federal government has more than it can possibly do and therefore inevitably bogs down in inefficiency, sometimes in chaos.

So much emphasis is placed on Washington, and so much of the money is now channeled to Washington, that it has become difficult indeed to attract the high caliber men needed in local government, where many more of the decisions should be made. Good people are not attracted to local government because there is no clout (or very little clout) except in Washington.

As a rule of thumb, every 1 per cent increase in Gross National Product results in a 3 per cent increase in the public's demands for services and a 1 1/2 per cent increase in federal revenues — but only 3/4 of 1 per cent increase in state and local revenues. Thus with every increase in prosperity, state and local governments run further behind.

Revenue sharing, or the shift of dollars to state and local governments is aimed at giving these governments more clout and at forcing more decisions at the local level — which in theory will attract more good men to city, county and state offices.

ART BUCHWALD

Bull

WASHINGTON — There is no problem at the Pentagon in organizing bombing and strafing raids in Indochina. The real difficulty is what to call them.

A special section of the Defense Department has been set up to supply the secretary of defense and his spokesmen with various alternatives to describe the air war in Indochina.

Every morning promptly at 8 o'clock, the committee which is called BULL (Bureau for Lethal Logic) meets to discuss what the day's raids will be called.

A typical meeting goes something like this: "We've got 20 B-52s bombing Cambodia today. What do we say we're doing?"

"We're interdicting enemy supply routes from the North?"

"We said that yesterday. Why don't we say the strike is a defensive measure to speed up the Vietnamization program?"

"We used that phrase three days ago to explain why our helicopters were supporting Cambodian troops."

"Why don't we say we're bombing North Vietnam to enhance the Nixon policy of speeding up the withdrawal of American boys from Vietnam?"

"That's not bad — But it would be stronger if we announced the raid was made to wipe out Communist sanctuaries that were being used to build up an offensive, which is expected to be launched after the rainy season."

"How would we say it?"

"We could say that our air operation in Cambodia was being conducted to limit the enemy potential before they can bring it to bear effectively against friendly forces in the area."

"That's beautiful, General. No one's ever put it that way before."

"This may sound as if it's coming from left field, gentlemen, but I thought we might blame Congress for the raid. The secretary could announce that all he was doing was following the letter of the law which was passed by Congress to support any action by the President that would bring our American boys back home."

"It's worth running up the flagpole, Colonel."

"One of the people in my office had a unique suggestion. He thought we might announce that the B-52s were not bombing in Cambodia but were just making a defensive ordinance drop on fixed enemy positions."

"I like the sound of that. Let's write it down before we forget it."

"Has anyone thought about saying that we were neutralizing a free-fire area?"

"Neutralizing is a good word. It has an innocent ring to it."

"I don't want to top you, but what if we said we were neutralizing Cambodia to protect its neutrality?"

"Wow. That's got everything in it."

"I know you guys think I'm a hardliner, but I think we should stop beating around the bush and announce we're bombing the hell out of Cambodia to kill as many Dinks as we can, so the dirty Red S.O.B.s will become true believers."

"You want the secretary of defense to say that?"

"Why not? That's what we're doing, aren't we?"

"General, wash-out-your-mouth-with-soap-and-water."

MR. SPECTATOR

Calling Bob Johnson

Bob Johnson is the Times-News worker who went all out on a recent date to help a California woman find her father. Seems as though she hadn't seen him for years and wanted to make contact.

Well, to make a long story short, it was this same Bob Johnson who took the bull by the horns and came up with the missing father. Everyone was well pleased — as you will remember from Mr. Spectator's column on the event.

Now it seems that Bob Johnson is getting famous — as a finder of lost persons, that is. He has had several requests for this same line of "work" but the most unique is the request he has just received. We pirated the letter out of his grasp and thought it would keep you busy for a few minutes. So here goes — Bob Johnson's latest would-be project in a letter from Pocatello:

Dear Mr. Johnson:

In my travels I just happened to read a newspaper clipping from your Twin Falls paper that interested me very much. Now I realize you are not in the missing persons business, but if you see fit to help me, it will really be appreciated by me and all of my family.

We are looking for our brother. He has the same name as you — Robert A. Johnson. We have reason to believe he is over in your vicinity. The last time we saw him he was headed for Twin Falls, with a bunch of fossilied people — I mean a bunch of people and some fossils.

He is five foot, nine inches tall and weighs around 155 pounds. He has some slight baldness, and probably has a paunch on him by now.

Don't bother to look for him around churches, but here are some hints as to some of his hang outs.

Check all the river banks and fishing streams in your area, and if you don't find him there you will surely run into him at some out-of-the-way beer hall.

If by chance you find this character please put him and his family in their car and send them to Pocatello. We are not sure just how long it has been since we have seen him, but you can be sure we will all be rejoiced to see the guy and family once again.

By the way, his sister Mert says if you do happen to find him be sure and tell him to watch Channel Two on Saturday night, as her son Craig will be playing ball.

Your help in this matter, if you should decide to take the assignment, will certainly be appreciated and if by chance we are rejoiced with our lost brother I am sure we will be able to dig up some sort of an award for you.

To this letter, Mr. Spectator must add that it was signed Helen Wellard, who just happens to be Bob Johnson's sister. Ain't fame sweet?

NATURALLY

Dear Mr. Spectator: Was amused at a picture appearing in the Times-News the other day. It listed one local gent as "president" of a certain company. So what's new? Inasmuch as he is the only employe of the company he just has to be president. What else?

...Mr. Amused

Nixon offers budget

The amount of earnings subject to the 5.2 per cent payroll tax paid equally by the worker and his employer would rise from the first $7,800 in annual income to $9,000. This means that someone earning $9,000 or more would pay $468 in Social Security taxes, or $62.40 more than this year. Employers would have to pay equally higher amounts.

Figuring in the bigger defense budget were groundwork for an all-volunteer army to supplant the draft, presumably in more attractive pay scales, a hefty $3.3 billion boost in naval shipbuilding and nearly $1 billion more for research for the weapons arsenal of the late 1970s and early 1980s. Nixon gave no specific figures for the cost of the Indochina war.

Following up on his State of the Union call for "returning power to the people," the President outlined plans to turn $4 billion in new money over to state and local governments without any strings attached, plus $9.6 billion in "special revenue sharing" to be restricted only to local spending in six general categories, such as education or urban development.

Of the $9.6 billion billion, representing about one-third of the budget's $33 billion in federal aid to states and localities, about $5.1 billion would come from programs initiated by his Democratic predecessors in the past decade. Many of these, including model cities, aid to Appalachia, highway beautification, community action and school aid to low-income areas, would cease to exist as separate entities.

In other areas, Nixon proposed:

Health
An increase of $95 million in aid to schools training medical personnel and a $30 million downpayment on an additional, $100 million effort to find a cancer cure. He proposed cost-cutting reforms in Medicare and Medicaid and promised, without giving a figure, "a new health insurance program for all low-income families with children."

Environment
Of $2.45 billion budgeted for the new environmental protection agency, $2 billion would go for those grants to localities for waste treatment facilities and $128 million for air pollution control activities.

Crime
A 32 per cent increase, to $603 million, in aid funds to strengthen local law enforcement; and additional $17.2 million to combat organized crime and gambling; hiring 623 new FBI agents, strengthening the federal prison system and providing $9 million worth of extra Secret Service protection for presidential candidates in 1972.

Foreign Aid
Creation of a new government-owned International Development Corporation (IDC), operating outside the State Department, to administer with existing multinational banks $2.2 billion in economic aid. Military assistance totaling $1.9 billion would shift to Pentagon budget. Total foreign aid under new format: $4.1 billion.

Civil Rights
A $300 million installment on Nixon's $1.4 billion program, watered down by Congress last year, to help southern school districts with desegregation problems. He also proposed expanding from 21 to 102 cities by the end of 1972 the so-called "Philadelphia Plan" which requires construction and other contractors to hire the same percentage of minorities that exist in the local labor market.

Transportation
A 17.7 billion budget stressing improvements in mass transit systems, financing of a quasi-government agency to operate passenger trains and a $281 million installment for development of the Supersonic Transport plane (SST).

Agriculture
Increases of $580 million for food stamps for the needy and $33 million to distribute free food commodities, but no increase in spending for free or subsidized school lunches. Support payment to wheat, cotton and feed grain producers would be cut by $280 million.

Debt
Payment of interest on the national debt totaling $21.1 billion, compared to the total federal budget of $13.9 in 1941. Nixon estimated the government debt would rise to $429.4 billion by the end of fiscal 1972.

Defense costs would increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Proposing a big boost for the Navy and more research into weapons of the future, President Nixon asked Congress today to increase the defense budget next year by $1.1 billion to $77.5 billion.

The increased budget request followed two years in which the President had sharply cut back defense outlays from a Vietnam War high of $81.2 billion in 1969. In addition to proposing to spend $1.1 billion more on defense in the fiscal year beginning July 1, the administration asked Congress for permission to take on an additional $6 billion worth of new programs.

Since so many military programs take a long time to prepare, those funds would not actually be paid out for some years to come. A shot in the arm for the Navy is sought in the new budget after a two-year period during which one fourth of all its ships were taken out of service. This came while Russia's navy was growing.

Nixon's budget asks for $3.3 billion for new ship construction in fiscal year 1972 — more than double the average annual expenditure on shipbuilding from 1964 to 1969.

The military's research program would be accelerated, working out technology for the weapons of the late '70s and for the '80s.

The Pentagon has been worrying that the U.S. research effort was lagging. Last April Dr. John S. Foster Jr., No. 3 man in the Pentagon as director of defense research and engineering, raised the fears publicly.

"I must report to you today that the Soviet Union is now about to seize world technological leadership from the United States," he said, adding that the Russians were spending at least $2 billion a year more than the United States on military, space and atomic technology.

Checked your driver's license and vehicle inspection sticker lately, asks the Idaho Department of Law Enforcement? Both have expiration dates and a check now may save you a citation and a trip to court.

Nixon requests volunteer army

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon asked Congress today to take a step toward reducing draft calls to zero by providing $1.1 billion for an eventual all-volunteer Army. Nixon did not detail, in his budget message, how the money would be spent while restating his dedication to the goal of a volunteer army at some future date. He plans to send Congress legislation on the subject later. He previously announced he would submit a special message on draft reform early this year. Much of the new money Nixon asked presumably would be earmarked for sharp increases in pay and benefit, for first and second-year enlisted men and officers.

Seniors will participate in Piano Master Class

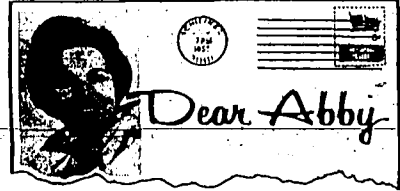

TWIN FALLS—Three Magic Valley high school seniors will participate in the Piano Master Class to be conducted by Lowell and Naomi Farr, concert pianist and vocalist.

The three seniors participating are Sue Ann Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Johnson, Twin Falls; Patty Su School, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Maurice School, Wendell; and Jo Ann Vincent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Vincent, Plover.

Lowell Farr will give a piano master class of two hours duration. He will hear six local performing artists play and will give short individual lessons to these six performers. This will be interesting, not only to them, but will be of great value to those who are auditing. Three of the performers will be the three high school seniors. The remaining three are teachers from Magic Valley.

Naomi Farr will give a vocal master class of two hour duration. She has sent a representative list of her repertoire that she would like to teach from. She will divide her class into two sections, one hour for art songs and lieder, the other hour for operatic repertoire. The last 15 minutes of the second hour will be spent demonstrating and discussing new repertoire by Naomi. Farr will serve as accompanist for the vocal master class.

The evening concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the college auditorium, with a reception after the concert in the dining room of the new student union building.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My brother's only son was killed last year. He was 16, and his parents are still grieving for him. We never mention the boy's name unless they do because we know how heartbroken they are. Now the problem:

A younger sister recently had a baby boy. And what does she do? She goes ahead and names the baby after our brother's dead son? She and her husband thought they were "honoring" the dead boy by naming their son after him. I happen to think it was a very cruel and thoughtless thing to do because now every time my brother and his wife hear that name they will think of the boy they lost and their grief will be renewed.

I can understand naming a child for a dead father or grandfather to perpetuate the family name, but a cousin? Please give me your opinion as I, too, am heartbroken.

—NEW ENGLAND

DEAR NEW: You could be mistaken. Perhaps your brother and his wife feel honored that a child has been named for their lost son. Judge the deed by the intention. I am sure your sister and her husband wanted to give only pleasure to the grieving parents.

DEAR ABBY: The past year our daughter, who is 20, has been dating a very nice young man who is four years older than she.

Last night she told us she would like to go skating with him and another couple. This would mean taking a 300-mile trip with him and staying at a resort lodge for several nights.

Altho our daughter is a very dependable, level-headed girl and we have never had to worry about her, I am not wholeheartedly in favor of this sort of thing.

What is your feeling about unmarried couples taking trips together? "Nice" girls didn't go off on overnight trips with their boy friends when I was a girl. Have times changed that much in 25 years?

—UNDECEDED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Yes, times have changed that much. Twenty-five years ago, girls of 20 were much more sheltered and far less mature than the girls of 20 are today. If you have never had to "worry," why start now? Let her go, expect the best, and she won't disappoint you.

DEAR ABBY: Now the women are screaming for "equality" and better treatment, but they don't deserve to be treated as well as we've been treating them for the past 50 years.

Recently a woman complained to you that her date refused to tip the strolling musicians after he had already told them they didn't have to play anything special for HIM. His date said he was cheap. Well, if she wanted something special played for HER, why didn't SHE tip them?

Women work, and they carry duties, but there is never anything in them except a lipstick. Why does a woman think that just because a man takes her out he should be the cash register for everything her heart desires? Cigarettes, gum, candy. Even money for the telephone and powder room.

I was with a lady recently and she asked me to buy her a package of cigarettes. I said, "No. It's against my principles. I don't want it on my conscience that I helped you to kill yourself." She called me a cheapskate. What's wrong with women anyway?

—TURNED OFF

DEAR TURNED: Whatever is "wrong with women" needsn't concern you. I have a hunch that you're not going to see much of them.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Ambulance service operations viewed by Soroptimists

BURLEY — The Burley Soroptimist Club viewed a demonstration of equipment owned and operated by the Cardiopulmonary Ambulance Service.

Roger Porter, owner-manager of the ambulance service, told the Soroptimist Club members that only five per cent of ambulances in the nation are completely equipped and drivers and attendants properly trained.

The two ambulances operated at Burley by the Cardiopulmonary Ambulance Service has the latest or newest equipment on the market and all the drivers and attendants are trained to operate the equipment," stated Porter.

Part of the equipment in each ambulance which is used most frequently includes: the Bird Mark-Seven, a stabilizer breathing machine. This machine was developed by the Air Force to stabilize air breathing pressures of servicemen wounded in Vietnam which were being flown back to the states for treatment.

Other equipment is the orthopedic stretcher which is taken apart at each end and slid under the person. This type of stretcher can be extended to reach seven feet in length, or shortened to handle a short person or child. A person could be lowered out of a 10-story building strapped to this type of stretcher," Porter said.

A heart-lung resuscitation machine is also in each ambulance and is capable of maintaining the life cycle in breathing and heart-beat, and was demonstrated by Allan Smith and Dick Wade, two attendants employed by Porter.

Some of the other equipment are air blow-up splints, back boards, first aid kits, wrecking bar, fire ax and many other small items.

A question and answer period followed and it was brought out that each ambulance and equipment is valued at about $30,000. Six men are employed to operate the ambulance service 24-hours a day, seven days a week.

The firm is an Idaho corporation and they have radio communications with police departments.

Legislature gets memorial on plight of U.S. farmer

BOISE — A house joint memorial which, if approved by both the Idaho House and Senate will be sent to Pres. Richard Nixon and other high federal government officials, has been introduced in the house by two Magic Valley legislators.

Rep. Jack Climbore, chairman of the House Agricultural Committee, Twin Falls, and Rep. Steve Antonio, chairman of the business committee, Rupert, have introduced House Joint Memorial No. 2 which should come up for second reading in the house this week.

The memorial, directed to the President, the U.S. House and Senate, the congressional delegation from Idaho and the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, is a five-point proposal concerning the plight of the American farmer. The two sponsoring legislators are both agricultural men.

The memorial says that a majority of the world's population does not receive adequate food to receive a balanced diet and many are starving. The American farmer, it says, has been encouraged to increase production to help meet the demand of the world's population while still sustaining the health of the American citizens.

"The farmer has increased production" while he also has "paid higher prices for the products and services he has utilized, including higher wages to labor, higher rates in transportation and higher prices in equipment," the memorial says.

The document also states that farmers are receiving proportionately less for the products they grow that he has received at any time in the last two decades and many farm families are being forced to abandon their livelihood in agriculture.

It says the plight of the farmer has not been improved and has actually deteriorated despite higher prices which the consumer is paying for farm commodities.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Favorable reaction to President Nixon's message to Congress enabled the stock market to point higher in heavy trading Friday.

As trading turned the halfway point, advances were leading declines by more than a two-to-one margin. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was up 0.58 at 95.79.

The Dow Jones Industrial average of 30 selected blue chips was ahead 2.60 at 867.74. A three-hour turnover of 13,070,000 shares set weekly volume to an all-time high of almost 93,000,000 shares with still another 2 1/2 hours of trading to go.

The previous record volume for a single week was 92,222,680 shares set in the first week of December last year.

Nixon sent Congress a $22.2 billion budget with a built-in $11.6 billion deficit which he predicted would produce prosperity "without war and without runaway inflation."

Nixon called his spending blueprint for the 12 months starting July 1 a "full employment budget." He said "by spending as if we were at full employment, we will help to bring about full employment."

On the Big Board, heavily traded American Airlines added 1/4. A.T. Robins was up 3/8 and Texaco 1/4.

Less active IBM shot up 6 1/2, with Burroughs ahead 1 1/4, Polard 1/4, Xerox 1/4, Du Pont 1/4, and Corning Glass 1/4.

Motors were mixed, but steel stocks fell. Weakness in steel reflected poor industry earnings for 1970 and fourth quarter.

Warm, foggy...

DURING the night snow will occur in the northern plains, the upper Mississippi Valley and in the vicinity of the Great Lakes. Some light rain is indicated over the state of Washington. Clear to partly cloudy skies elsewhere. (UPI)

More fog, no temperature change

Idaho Magic Valley, Twin Falls and vicinity, Northside, Burley-Rupert Area: Fog and low clouds through Saturday with some afternoon clearing. High 35 to 45. Overnight lows 25 to 35. Near zero chance of precipitation through Saturday.

Lower Wood River Valley: Fog night and mornings and clearing afternoons through Saturday. High 35 to 45. Overnight lows 25 to 35. Probability of measurable precipitation 10 per cent through Saturday.

Outlook for Sunday, increasing clouds with fog probably dissipating late Sunday. Camas Prairie, Halley and Oregon. Only partial clearing is expected in the afternoons in most of the valleys while higher stations enjoy balmy 40 degree weather under fair skies. Highs in the valleys are only expected to reach the low 40s in most areas with a few reaching the upper 40s. The fog is expected to continue and possibly even intensify a little tonight through Saturday, with possibly some improvement Sunday as a Pacific storm system may approach close enough to increase the surface winds to blow the fog away.

The extended outlook Sunday through Tuesday indicates a chance of a weak weather front reaching southern Idaho by Tuesday with the mild temperatures continuing.

Early morning low temperatures were mostly in the 20s to low 30s in all valley areas.

Soil temperatures continued to climb yesterday reaching the low 40s in some areas of the Treasure and Magic Valleys.

He didn't... some people don't understand that the Federal Land Bank doesn't loan government money. No Federal funds are involved. We are completely farmer owned.

Methodists name bishop

PORTLAND — Bishop W. Maynard Sparks, administrator of the United Methodist Church in the Seattle area, has been appointed interim bishop of the Portland area, pending approval of the Council of Bishops. He will replace Bishop Everett W. Palmer, who served the Portland area from July, 1968, until his unexpected death

Jan. 5 of a heart attack. The resident bishop for the Portland area will be elected at the regular western jurisdictional conference for the 10 western states, to be held in July, 1972, according to Bishop Charles F. Golden, San Francisco, president of the Western Jurisdictional College of Bishops.

Bishop Sparks will now direct the work of 300 Methodist ministers and 71,000 members in Oregon, Idaho and Alaska in addition to administering the work of 101,000 United Methodists in Washington and northern Idaho and the overseas conference in Sierra Leone, West Africa.

Final approval of his new assignment is contingent upon official approval of the 43 active bishops in the United States, with the vote expected to be taken by mail soon, Bishop Golden said.

A native of Rockwood, Pa., Rev. Sparks is a graduate of Lebanon Valley College, Annville, Pa., and Dayton Theological Seminary, Dayton, Ohio, and served in the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Pennsylvania. In 1958 he was elected to the bishopric of the EUB church at Harrisburg, Pa., and assigned to Sacramento, Calif.

He became resident-bishop of the Seattle area in 1968 after unification of the Methodist and Evangelical United Brethren churches.

Reports indicate variety

SHOSHONE — The quarterly report of the Women's Missionary Council for the Shoshone Assembly of God Church shows the variety of projects and extent of their work, all the way from helping missionaries to furnishing their own fellowship hall kitchen.

The women distributed 200 pieces of gospel literature during the last quarter of 1970, as well as giving three Bibles. Value of household and clothing items sent to the district commissary at Nampa was $62.58, with $134.63 designated as foodstuffer items, $72 cash sent to missionaries; $106.57 value of a large box of Christmas gifts sent to Juneau, Alaska children's home; $115.26 box of Christmas gifts sent to the Fort Hall, Idaho Indian Mission.

The group supports monthly a pastor to the Cuban refugees in Miami, Florida, also a Uruguayan Bible student. Some of the other projects included furnishing food for 100 guests at the fellowship day service in November, and each month members bring a designated commissary item of wearing apparel or a household item, reports Mrs. James Page, WMC secretary-treasurer.

Baptists at Shoshone set anniversary play

By MELBA THORNE Times-News Correspondent
SHOSHONE — As a 75 Anniversary Commemoration, the Shoshone First Baptist Church will present a musical play at 8 p.m. Jan. 31 at the church. The play entitled "Rock and Lava" was originally written by Mrs. Luella Kinsey, a member of the church for more than 50 years, and it has been revised by Mrs. L. M. Hatmaker, local school teacher. Mrs. Hatmaker has served as the coordinator for the presentation. Mrs. Anna McKissick will serve as queen of the pageants the longest living resident member.

The story depicts the life of the church from its beginning, in story, picture and song, and takes its title from the names of the horses that transported the Rev. Howard Bowler, circuit preacher of the area when the church was first begun.

Since the church history covers the 75 year span, considerable information is included on the history of Lincoln county and surrounding area. Mrs. Cleora Peterson is the director of the chorus with Mrs. Garland Blair and Mrs. Wesley Johnson as accompanists. T. V. Strunk, Omer Snook and Mike Kinney play instrumental numbers.

Narrators are Howard Adkins and Gary McDonald. Eras depicted include creation, Indian with Ray Tanaka and Camp Fire girls presenting the latter's mining tableau, with Jack and Steve Kelley; Idaho territory tableau with Dan Parkhurst; railroad tableau with the Kelley boys again featured; a publication scene with Sunday School children demonstrating just as they did when Mrs. Kinsey was a child, and the Idaho Statehood scene, with Steve Anderson, as President Harrison and Terry Hopkins and Bill Murphy the Boy Scouts.

Charter members of the church are depicted by Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie Ray Webb, for Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hahn; Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Gehrig, for Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Beck; Clarence Muggoffin, for S. A. Beck; Ed Ihnk, for Silas D. Perrine; Ronnie Scott, for Robert J. McMahon, and for the Bowler family, Marj Jones, Linda Webb, Susan Parkhurst, Teri Larsen, Richard Jones, Larry Webb, Calvin Webb, Dan Muggoffin.

New congregation will meet at Y

"TWIN FALLS — Calvary Bible Chapel, a recently organized church in Twin Falls is celebrating its first six month anniversary by moving into the YWYMCA chapel, for Sunday morning and evening services.

Rev. Dean Brainard, youthful pastor, said the church began with six families last July, who felt the need to establish an independent Bible teaching church in the Twin Falls community. With strong emphasis on teaching the Scriptures as a guide to practical Christian living, the church has grown from the original six to 10 families, he said.

"Moving into the Y is our first step in the direction of a more permanent location and standing in the community," the pastor said. The congregation has been meeting in homes of members, but the increasing size has necessitated moving into a more permanent and centralized facility.

The pastor is a graduate of Whitworth College, Spokane, Wash., with a bachelor's degree in psychology and received his seminary education at Western Conservative Baptist Seminary, Portland. Prior to assuming the pastorate here in December, Rev. Brainard served as a resident counselor on the staff of Youth Adventures, working among delinquent teenagers in Oregon. He also has worked with Campus Crusade for Christ at Whitworth College and served as youth pastor of South Hill Christian Church in Spokane.

The Calvary Bible Chapel

features a complete Sunday school program at 9:45 a.m. and evening-family hour at 6:30 p.m. in addition to worship services at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

"Adult leadership is often a real problem with many larger churches, but we have been blessed with an abundance of teaching and musical talents among our members," the pastor said.

Aide hits field burning

By MIKE ROBERTSON
Times-News Staff Writer
TWIN FALLS — Al Eiguren, Idaho air pollution control director, said farmers are receiving a subsidy from the public by using the air as a free disposal area when burning fields.

He said the problems of agricultural burning became evident last year when massive burning on still days caused high particle and smoke concentrations in southeastern and northern Idaho. The complaints received showed the public's concern with the problems of the burning, Eiguren said, and the health department went to the farmers to "try to look at the overall situation."

He said evidence pointed to the fact that "large scale open burning will have to be curtailed," and it will have to eventually be done away with. The public's tolerance is becoming shorter and pollution levels that were once thought safe are no longer considered safe, Eiguren said.

He said there are now burning regulations of the amounts of waste going into the air and there can be no open burning except for certain categories such as forest management and agriculture.

There are regulations on agricultural burning, however, Eiguren said, there can be burning of plant life in open space only when necessary, but not for disposal only. He did not explain what is considered necessary burning.

When there is burning, it is the responsibility of the person burning the material to do so under conditions when there will be a reasonable amount of smoke dissipation. That person also must follow federal burning regulations. If the burning becomes "a nuisance, restrictions may be imposed he said.

Eiguren said the state's plan for agricultural burning is a long range plan to phase it out altogether, when a reliable and suitable substitute can be found to eliminate agricultural waste.

He said the short range plan calls for limiting burning to certain areas at certain times, allowing only small acreages to be burned.

The state is now trying to develop a pollution control staff to tell the farmers and industries how to cope with the problem of air pollution. At present, there are nine members who will give direction and technical support to local people such as the county agents. The county agent can pass this information on to the farmer in the form of correct burning procedures and times.

Eiguren said research is now being conducted on the problem of eliminating agricultural waste by means other than burning. But this research is limited by lack of funds, he said.

He said the state hopes to get the job done as fast as possible and "limit the adverse side effects."

Burning remarks
AL EIGUREN, head of the Idaho Health Department's Air Pollution Control Division, said that agricultural burning will have to be eliminated because of rising levels of pollution in Idaho, during a talk in Twin Falls.

Patriotic
DISPLAYING PLAQUES received from the Burley Exchange Club Thursday for Grant Fillmore, left, project chairman, are Rae Shelby, third place winner; Rae Shelby, first place, and Lorna Turner, second. The awards were for the merchants' window displays depicting the theme "One Nation Under God."

Burley merchant trio cited

BURLEY — Three Burley merchants received plaques from the Burley Exchange Club Thursday for patriotic window displays on the theme of "One Nation Under God Week."

Grant Fillmore, chairman, presented the awards to Rae Shelby, representing Fred's, first place; Lorna Turner, of the Fabric Center, second; and Tom Jones, of Van Engelen's, third. The patriotic campaign is undertaken annually by the Exchange Club to try to increase patriotism among citizens, according to Ray Bound, local president.

Mayor Garis Robertson signed a proclamation declaring the week's observance for the public and the Exchange Club.

Bald Mountain area closed to vehicles

KETCHUM — Sawtooth National Forest officials here today issued a second statement on closure of the Bald Mountain ski area to motor vehicles, including snowmobiles, which they said they hope will clarify understanding of an earlier release.

The area is closed to all vehicles, according to both news releases, and includes an area of about 2,000 acres.

Forest spokesmen here today said many snowmobilers took offense to the headline in the Times-News Jan. 26 on the article. The headline said, "Snowmobiles ordered out, and carried information concerning the closure of the Bald Mountain ski area and some areas in the Challis National Forest.

In the second report today, forest officials emphasized the closure applies to all vehicles and stated: "Many local people understand from the article a large part of the Sawtooth National Forest could no longer be used for snowmobiling. This is not so. Actually only about 2,000 acres of the Bald Mountain ski area were closed to unauthorized motor vehicle travel by action of forest supervisor E.A. Fournier on Jan. 20.

"This is public land which is operated as a public ski area by Sun Valley Co. It has been developed and used for this purpose for more than 30 years. In the past, there has been practically no snowmobile use on the area and little has been anticipated for the future. The closure is a restriction of both summer and winter vehicle use," the forest service statement continues.

"The closure was made primarily to stop unauthorized travel on the ski area during the summer months using 4-wheel drive vehicles, motorcycles and trail machines. This action was taken to protect the important values of this internationally famous ski area. Unrestricted summer travel in the past has resulted in serious damage to roads, ski runs, vegetation and caused soil erosion.

"None of this damage resulted from snowmobile travel. Summer travel also greatly increased the threat that forest fires might be started which could destroy valuable ski area improvements and other forest values. During recent summer months there has been vandalism to restaurants, buildings, restrooms and ski lifts.

Mini-Cassia projects included in budget

BURLEY — President Nixon's budget, delivered to the Congress today, includes a request for $450,000 for work on the Unity-Heyburn power-transmission line of the Bonneville Power Administration (BPA), as well as for projects in the Burley, Declo and Weeks areas.

The president's budget asks for $121.3 million for BPA projects for the fiscal year beginning July 1, according to BPA Administrator Henry R. Richmond.

Of the total, $94 million would go toward construction of new lines and facilities, and $27.3 million would be allocated for operation and maintenance.

The figures for fiscal year 1972 show an increase over the fiscal 1971 budget — July 1, 1970 to June 30, 1971 — totaling $118.5 million, Richmond said.

A meeting of the food committee will be held Sunday at 3 p.m. at Woods Cafe in Jerome to help prepare the dinner.

Jerome editor scores

BOISE — The North Side News of Jerome captured third-place awards and one second-place commendation in the annual competition of the Idaho Press Association among weekly newspapers in the state.

The North Side News was second in quality of editorials and third in the news writing, photo and advertising campaign categories. The Mountain Home News took first place in news writing, while the Lincoln County Journal, Shoshone, was named second in general excellence for newspapers with circulation less than 850.

The Valley News-Times of Meridian led all other weekly newspapers in number of awards, and won the third annual Secretary-Manager's Award for general excellence. The awards were presented today during the association's annual winter meeting by Bert C. Cross, chairman of the department of journalism, University of Idaho.

Event set

HAZELTON — The Valley Presbyterian Church will hold a coffee hour in the newly decorated basement room after the morning worship Sunday.

Members and friends are invited to attend the event in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Lyman Winkle.

Malone said late Thursday he was told about "some things" that went on at the meeting but was not informed about the trips.

Minutes of the meeting show Sheldon, and commissioners Lester Brown, Sandpoint, and Carl Klahr, Caldwell attended.

New Gem race panel member not invited

BOISE (UPI) — Records of a "special meeting" of the Idaho Horse Racing Commission Jan. 25 show with the newest member absent commissioners approved a trip to Puerto Rico for one of its members and another to Phoenix, Ariz., for two more.

Ken Malone, Gooding, appointed by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus to the commission Jan. 11, said he was not invited to the meeting and was informed of it only later that night when he called Tom Sheldon, executive secretary of the commission, to discuss other matters.

Brown then moved that Klahr and Sheldon go to Phoenix, Ariz., to investigate "the possibility of hand tickets for fair races."

Sheldon, contacted at his home in Payette Thursday, said it was not certain whether Brown would attend the meeting in Puerto Rico, but said commissioners only "voted to consider his going."

When asked what the cost would be, Sheldon said, "I really don't know. They have special rates for this thing and I'm really not familiar with it."

When asked about the trip to Phoenix, Sheldon said, "I don't believe that we're going to go on this trip. This was to investigate a change in some of our pari-mutuel procedures. We were going to consult with the Arizona commission on some of their experiences."

"I doubt very much that we'll make this trip."

Referring to the trip to Puerto Rico, Sheldon said it was "fairly vital" that Brown attend, adding, "It has been the general practice of the commission in the past, with the exception of last year, to send someone to these meetings."

President seeks draft extension

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon asked Congress Thursday to extend the draft for two more years and appropriate $1.5 billion to make the military more attractive.

He voiced hope this would help establish an all-volunteer army by the summer of 1975.

In a message to the new Congress, Nixon also renewed his request for legislation that would abolish undergraduate student deferments and exemptions for divinity students. Congress refused his request for this last year.

The President said the $1.5 billion would go for a 50 per cent pay increase for enlisted men with less than two years of service and "other programs to enhance the quality of military life."

He also proposed a national lottery call each month that would ensure relatively equal draft liability throughout the country instead of having each local board call up whatever lottery numbers it needed to fill its quota.

Rep. F. Edward Hobert, D-La., head of the House Armed Services Committee, has said he would support abolition of student deferments. But the request for a uniform national draft call was expected to run into more opposition.

"The objective of this administration is to reduce draft calls to zero, subject to the overriding considerations of national security, and an long as we need the draft to make it as fair and equitable as we can," the President said.

Nixon said that nobody knew precisely when conscription could end. The current draft authority expires July 1, 1971.

New pay increases for enlisted men would be effective May 1, 1971, along with increases in allowance for personnel in the lower enlisted grades.

The President pointed out that members of the armed forces got a 7.9 per cent across the board basic pay increase last year at a cost of approximately $1.2 billion. He said his proposals would result in a total $2.7 billion investment that would substantially reduce the present inequity in military pay.

Spiro, HST meet in hospital room

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew met Harry S. Truman for the first time Thursday, in the 86-year-old former President's hospital room. Agnew described Truman as "alert and very relaxed."

When asked what the two men talked about, Agnew said: "I think that should remain in the private reserve, but let me say his candor hasn't diminished."

Agnew made an unannounced trip to Research Hospital where Truman is recuperating from an intestinal ailment.

"He looked very well indeed," Agnew said. "I was so very pleased to see both the President and Mrs. Truman alert and very relaxed. It was the first time I had a chance to meet either of them, and I enjoyed it very much. It was very enjoyable for me."

Agnew, in a speech Wednesday, described Truman as "one of the most candid and effective statesmen this country has ever known. There's only one person I've known in my lifetime more candid than Harry Truman, and that happens to be my mother-in-law."

Kent State report ordered destroyed

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A federal judge Thursday ordered destruction of a special state grand jury report on the killing of four Kent State University students because it would "prejudice" the 25 persons indicted and prevent a fair trial.

U.S. District Judge William K. Thomas said although the grand jury violated its oath of secrecy he would not halt prosecution of those indicted because the indictments "were separate and self sufficient" from the body of the report into the shooting deaths of the students last May 4 by Ohio National Guardsmen.

The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), which filed the suit challenging the report and is defending several of those indicted, said it doubted whether a fair trial was now possible.

"The only alternative of the courts will be either to dismiss all of the charges or proceed with something less than a fair trial," said Benson Wolman, head of the Ohio chapter of the ACLU.

Byrd Senate winner, HHH reaps benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The big winner from fallout generated by the bitter feud between Sens. Edward M. Kennedy and Robert C. Byrd may well turn out to be former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

In a major upset which stunned Senate liberals, Byrd defeated Kennedy as the assistant Democratic floor leader.

In that confrontation, Humphrey, newly elected as a senator from Minnesota, played a minimal role. Along with his colleagues, he cast one vote—a vote for Kennedy.

But Byrd's victory may have major implications for Humphrey's own career—not in the field of national politics so much but in the Senate arena where the former vice president and 1968 presidential nominee previously had served 16 years.

No one ever expected that Humphrey, on his return to the Senate, suddenly would materialize as a wallflower or a quiet back-bencher. His experience does not demand such a role and his Constitution does not permit it.

But with Kennedy in the Senate leadership, the liberals had the best-known possible advocate in the councils of power. With total exposure available almost at beckoning, Kennedy could have presented the position of Senate liberals as the 1972 elections approached.

With Byrd in the leadership, the liberals have nothing. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield votes liberal and pushes liberal legislation—such as the 18-year-old vote—but he has never been considered a leader of the liberal bloc.

Similarly another westerner, Sen. Frank Moss of Utah, elected to the No. 3 party spot, votes liberal but is little known and sometimes strays.

Byrd himself, of course, is a southern-oriented conservative and not likely to change. That leaves a vacuum—an opening into which Humphrey is likely to edge.

Asked if Byrd's victory would compel him to move into a leader's role outside the leadership, Humphrey said, "I have no great designs" and indicated he would await developments.

One of those developments could well be a move by Humphrey to challenge Byrd for the whip job in 1972, beyond unexpected presidential aspirations materialize. Many feel that Humphrey, with a reservoir of good feeling built up over the years, could take Byrd.

Bills project 7 offers, draft Plunkett first

Plunkett resigned to draft

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jim Plunkett, the Stanford quarterback selected No. 1 in the collegiate draft Thursday by the Boston Patriots, said he was "resigned" to playing for any team that picked him and that he would be ready to play soon.

Plunkett was in New York when Boston coach John Mazur called him from Boston shortly after 10 a.m. to inform him that the Patriots had selected him. Plunkett said he would be very happy to play in Boston even though he grew up in California and has seldom played in cold weather.

"I just want to play pro ball and I've been resigned to the fact that I would play for the team that picked me," Plunkett said.

He added it would be a big help to a team which has a veteran quarterback like Joe Kapp, who signed a long-term contract with the Patriots last season.

"Kapp has been playing a long time and he has quite a bit of knowledge and that's going to help someone new like me," Plunkett said.

When asked what his reaction would be if he winds up on the bench behind Kapp, Plunkett said, "I like everyone else—I'd like to play right away, but I've to sit on the bench that's what I'll do."

Fans buy more time for Spurs

SEATTLE (UPI)—The Denver Spurs have been temporarily rescued from the brink of extinction by a substantial amount of financial support from concerned Denver fans totaling more than $50,000, Western Hockey League president Eugene Kinasevich announced Thursday.

In light of the fans' action, Kinasevich said Spurs president Bennett King announced the club will play its home-and-home doubleheader against Salt Lake City Friday and Saturday. He said King is hopeful the Spurs will complete the current season.

Friday night's game against Salt Lake City is a sellout, Denver's first. Ticket sales for the remaining 10 home games have been renewed.

King also received a vote of confidence from club personnel.

Valley defeats Kimberly

KIMBERLY — The Valley Vikings won the first six matches Thursday night to settle things early and went on to defeat the Kimberly Bulldogs 29-19 in a dual wrestling match.

Bill Veck resigns race job

BOSTON (UPI) — Flamingo Bill Veck said Thursday night he had resigned as president of Suffolk Downs horse race track.

Veck, former owner of baseball clubs in Cleveland, St. Louis and Chicago, known for his showmanship, surprised guests at the annual Boston baseball writers, by announcing he was through with the racing business "as of this moment."

Veck, an annual guest at the affair, said he had attempted to buy the racetrack in East Boston but had been unable to come up with the $14,000,000 selling price.

Veck also took a poke at Massachusetts politicians for refusing to back him. "There are no amateur politicians in this state," he said.

Veck noted that the race track had paid about $9.5 million in taxes to the state last year.

"I say every year that this will be my last baseball dinner," he said. "This time it's for real. I've had great fun being with you."

Veck's innovations included the Lady Godiva Cup, the country's first horse race for female jockeys only.

Wendell forfeits two games

WENDELL—The Gooding High School Senators have the Big Six Conference lead in hours today and had it about 24 hours before they were to meet the Wendell Trojans in a "showdown" for the lead.

The Trojans also will forfeit Saturday night's game to Kimberly.

Wendell, after placing most of its team on suspension for the week, "Informed Gooding it would forfeit the game Thursday afternoon."

Wendell officials would say only that the boys involved were suspended for the week for breaking of training rules. But reports around the town indicated there had been some drinking. Officials said not all the team members had been involved but declined to specify individuals.

The incident was rumored to have occurred following a decoration work party for a school dance. It was reported to school officials by parents of two of the players.

The Trojans and Gooding had been scheduled to enter the Friday game with 5-0 records in the Big Six Conference. Wendell also will drop two games behind Valley in the Little Five Conference with a 2-2 record while Kimberly will improve its record to 2-2 in that circuit.

The forfeit is the first in Magic Valley since Billy declined to meet Richfield in a rematch after the Tigers used a game-long full court press to post a 111-24 decision 12 years ago.

Grumling, the small Laulston school which is second only to Notre-Dame as a training ground for pro players, had two of the first eight players selected. Southern California was the only other school to have two players selected on the first round.

While such powers as Texas, Notre Dame and Nebraska failed to have a player selected on the first round, seven of the first 44 players picked were from small colleges—an indication of how extensive pro scouting has become.

Once the Patriots took Plunkett, the draft in the year of the quarterback" went as expected, with Archie Manning of Mississippi selected second by New Orleans and Santa Clara's Dan Pastorini third by Houston. Manning was also picked in the baseball draft by Kansas City and Manning said he is considering the sport, although the Saints are taking it for granted he'll play football.

Pastorini was the last quarterback selected on the first round, Buffalo had the fourth pick and took Arizona State's pick receiver J.D. Hill. But by this time, the draft had been overwhelmed by trades as seven teams swung deals with the major one being Denver's Washington and Los Angeles.

The conflicting philosophy between George Allen and Los Angeles owner Dan Reeves, which resulted in Allen's recent firing, was illustrated in the Redskins general manager choice, traded linebacker Marlin McKeever, and seven draft choices over the next two seasons for six of his former players. They included: the entire Rams' starting line-backer corps—Meyon, Patton, Jack Pardee and Maxie Baughan—and starting defensive tackle Diron Talbert.

Allen, who likes to go with veterans while Reeves believes in building around youth, was accused of leaving behind an old Ram team for new coach Tommy Prothro. But in one bold stroke, Allen brought several of his veterans along with him while handling the Rams draft choices for youth. Presumably, both sides are happy.

ISU could see first 4:00 mile

POCATELLO — Four-minute indoors are rare. One has never been run in the Gem State indoors—or outdoors—either. However one is likely Saturday in the Sam Benning Indoor Meet in Pocatello.

"Two of the swiftest mullers still running will display their wares for an expected 8,000-plus crowd in the Minihome.

Coach Bob Beeten has been in constant contact with Pacific Coast Club member John Mason and reports that Mason has been pointing at his indoor work this year to the January 30th Invitational Meet.

"Mason has already run 4:01 indoors this year. Since he's been pointing to our meet that indicates he should have a very fast time here," says the ISU Track Coach and Meet Director. "He says you can look on our big scoreboard clock and tell right away if he's going to do it. Mason says he'll run the first lap in 59 seconds and the middle two in 62 seconds each. That should give him a 2:59 with 40 yards to go and he says he'll burn that one as fast as he can. He says he'll be trying for 57 seconds on the last lap."

For those having trouble with addition that adds up to a 3:56 mile, assuming he doesn't have trouble with Pocatello's over 4000-foot altitude. He's run 3:57 outdoors at sea level.

Kubicka has novice skate title

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Terri Kubicka, a sleepy eyed 14-year-old from Cypress, Calif., outdistanced Johnny Carlow, Jr., by the narrowest of margins Thursday night to win the Novice Men's title in the 50th annual U.S. Figure Skating Championships.

Kubicka, a four-year "veteran" on the ice, won a mere hundredth of a point—16.35 to 16.34—for a comeback victory over the 12-year-old Carlow-boy who went into the free skating competition with a modest lead.

Terri's slim margin on that key ballot gave him three first place votes and two seconds from the five judges. Carlow had two firsts and three seconds. Mark Henry, 16, of Levittown, N.Y., finished third.

Laurie Brandel, 14, of Los Alamitos, Calif., edged out Barbara Salamon, 13, of Hempstead, N.Y., and Patty Glynnswan, 15, of Culver City, Calif., for the national title in the Novice Women's division. Miss Brandel had led after the compulsory figures event on Wednesday.

John Milsha Peikevich, twice a runnerup, took a narrow lead after the compulsory phase of the Senior Men's event.

Sojourner, Weber rip BSC 77-61

BOISE (UPI)—The Weber State Wildcats, intimidated Boise State out of its own gymnasium in the first half and coasted to a 77-61 Big Sky Conference victory Thursday night.

But in one bold stroke, Allen brought several of his veterans along with him while handling the Rams draft choices for youth. Presumably, both sides are happy.

Philadelphia, which made several determined efforts to land Plunkett in a deal, picked Hill and chose defensive end Richard Harris of Grambling, and also made two deals involving quarterbacks. The Eagles' agent veteran Norm Stand to Minnesota and obtained young Greg Barton from the Detroit Lions' taxi squad.

Green Bay sent quarterback Don Horn to Denver for defensive end Aiden Roche in a deal that involved trading each other's first round pick. Sullivan, the Patriot owner, said that he gave coach Mazur—who has a one year contract and has to be worried about the team's success next year—the choice of whether to keep Plunkett or traded him for players who might help the team immediately.

Sullivan said Mazur was leaning in the direction of trading Plunkett until his brilliant performances in the Rose and Hula Bowls.

Eichelberger, Johnston shoot 66s to tie for San Diego open lead

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Dave Eichelberger and Ralph Johnston, a couple of non winners looking to catch a rainbow, shot six under par 66s Thursday to share the first round lead in the $150,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open golf tournament.

Eichelberger, a 27-year-old shotmaker out of Waco, Texas, now starting his fourth year on the pro tour, made his way around Torrey Pines' par 36-36 —72 layout on a perfect golfing day in 34-32, while Johnston, a 29-year-old rookie electrical engineer from New York, had nines of 32-34. That put Eichelberger and Johnston a stroke ahead of seven players tied at five under 67 and two in front of six tied at 68. Sixteen players had 69 and 20 were tied at 70 as 81 of the starting field of 144 shot par or less.

Eichelberger, who missed exemption status this year by two places, sank a 198-yard two iron shot on the par four seventh for an eagle and had birds at No. 2, 9, 11, 12, 13 and 18. His only mistake came on Johnston, who finally earned a PGA playing card on his 16th try, bagged seven birdies and took a bogey on the par-four 10th when he missed a putt of less than two feet. His birds came on No. 1, 2, 6, 9, 13, 15 and 18.

The 67 group was made up of Australian Bob Shaw (34-33), Charles Coody (35-32), Los Angeles open winner Bobby Lunn (32-35), Bob Dickson (33-34), Bill Garrett (35-32), Jack Montgomery (32-35) and George Archer (33-34).

The 68 group include Kermit Zarley, (33-35), defending champion Pete Brown (34-34), Dow Finsterwald (35-33), Phoenix open champ Miller Barber (33-35), Bob Charles of New Zealand (32-36) and Bobby Nichols (33-35).

Jack Nicklaus, putting better than he had previously, was in the group tied at 69 along with PGA champ Dave Stockton, Dow Finsterwald (35-33), Phoenix open champ Miller Barber (33-35), Bob Charles of New Zealand (32-36) and Bobby Nichols (33-35).

Despite that, the Eagles rank first in total offense with 88 points per outing. But they also have a 13-point bulge on their nearest competition in points allowed. They are averaging 87 points per game and allowing 65.4, not including Monday's game at Utah State.

Rasseti is tied for third in rebounds with 12 per game while Plomiar is sixth at 10 and Behagen seventh with 9.4.

CSI goes into the weekend with a one-game lead in the ICAC. They are 3-0 followed by Snow at 3-1, Ricks 2-1, Dixie 2-2, Mesa 1-2 and Eastern Utah 0-3.

to take your king. You can't be blamed for going wrong. However, you did play the hand poorly.

Do you see what the student did wrong?

He should have played the king of clubs from his hand at trick three, instead of leading a diamond to dummy so as to play clubs from there. West might have been sharp enough to duck (with) out going into prolonged study but it is doubtful.

However, for the one player good enough to make that play there are many more who could spot what declarer was up to when he goes out of his way to load the suit from dummy. In that respect the student had helped the defense a trifle.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

The student ducked the first spade, but he had to win the second with his king. Then he went over to dummy with the queen of diamonds in order to lead the deuce of clubs toward his king. The king held and he led back a second club. West played low and after a slight period of thought the student played dummy's 10. East took his jack and led his last spade to set up two more spade tricks for his partner.

The student had to play a third club and West ensnared his ace and the two good spades.

"Should I have guessed that West had ducked with the club ace?" asked the student.

"No," the Professor replied. "West made a very good play when he refused

Work wear seldom blue

NEW YORK (UPI)—Work clothes have come a long way since overalls. Although work clothes are usually thought of as blue-collar, more money—as much as $100 million, according to one source—is spent on “white-collar” work clothes. E.I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. estimates $700 million is laid out annually for “career apparel” for 12 million white-collar workers. Some $600 million is spent to outfit 40 million blue-collar employees.

Research for du Pont by Dr. Paul A. Fine, a motivational research consultant, indicates white-collar career apparel has improved employee morale, created a feeling of esprit de corps and reduced absenteeism. “We have found that bright, smart uniforms are a terrific recruiting aid,” said Lou Garcia, vice president of public relations for Braniff Airways, Inc.

The reason most cited by companies for adopting white-collar apparel is “corporate image.” Banks, airlines, public utilities, insurance companies, hotels—companies selling essentially the same product or service—constantly look for new ways of projecting a sharper public image. And employees who deal extensively with the public are corporate symbols.

American Telephone & Telegraph is experimenting with career apparel in six of its 22 companies, and a spokesman said early results were favorable. The company also is experimenting with jumpsuits for repairmen in hopes it will gain easier entrance into customer homes.

Airline stewardess uniforms are the most flamboyant and best known career apparel garments. Braniff, which has had few qualms about “flaunting it,” now dresses its girls in shoes that don’t match.

The banking industry, probably realizing it didn’t outfit its clerks behind the airlines, follows at the National Bank of North America choose from 12 different combinations. One is a mid-calf longuette with zipper which allows the wearer to “reveal as little or as much leg as desired.”

Male employees for the First Homestead Savings and Loan Association in New Orleans wear double-breasted royal blue blazers. A real estate firm in Houston dresses its male workers in lime green double-breasted blazers with dark green slacks—designed, they say, to match female outfits.

Most companies pay for the first set of work clothes and employees pay for replacement. In cases where employees pay or share the cost, such as the 50-50 split offered by the Oregon Mutual Savings Bank, the price is usually at cost.

ISU adult courses set

TWIN FALLS — Six Idaho State University continuing education classes have had high enough registration to warrant teaching the classes, Marvin Glascock, coordinator, reports. The classes will be held on the previously designated nights at the College of Southern Idaho.

The classes are Anthropology 338, Victorian Literature #447, Abnormal Psychology 301, Individual Testing 619, Audio Visual Ed #442, and Supervision of Student Teachers 538. The student teacher supervision class is for University of Idaho credit only.

Shakespeare, English 481 for 3 credits, has been added to the other six classes. It will be taught on Monday night and will meet Feb. 1, in room 117 of the CSI classroom building. The registration for the class will be at the first class meeting. Physical education for the mentally retarded will be taught at the Paul Center on Monday Nights.

All other classes are canceled for lack of number of students enrolled, Glascock said.

Passenger net revised

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe Thursday revised the government's rail passenger network to add major new links on the West Coast, Southwest, Midwest and East Coast in hopes of triggering “the all-time comeback” for the passenger train.

Volpe added passenger train service between Seattle and San Diego, New Orleans and Los Angeles, New York and Kansas City, Washington and Chicago and Norfolk and Cincinnati.

Those routes were left out of the original network plans by the semipublic Rail Passenger Corp. (Rallpac), created by Congress last year to save the passenger railroads from oblivion.

The West Coast of Florida also was left without train service in Volpe's original network. But he said this omission was an error and service would be provided to Tampa-St. Petersburg from Miami.

The new network will operate about 150 passenger trains, half as many as were running a year ago, and down from a high of 20,000 in 1920.

Volpe said he thinks the new system will lay the foundation for what “in my opinion is destined to become the all-time comeback in the story of American transportation.”

Volpe's decision to add new service to his proposed network, which now goes to Congress, came in the face of pressure from the lawmakers and communities left without rail service under the original preliminary network announced in November.

Volpe said, “because of the thoughtful comments submitted since Nov. 30, the basic system designated at that time has been subjected to intense reappraisal with the result that my final designation significantly increased the number of cities to which service will be provided by the corporation.”

Half of the world's telephones are in North America.
