TEN CENTS

Memorials due before senate

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho House faced a vacant third-reading calendar today, but in the Senate three memorials—all dealing with the Sawtooth Mountains—were up for final consideration.

Senators will debate one measure urging congress to create a recreation district in the Sawtooth Mountains, another calling for both a park and a recreation area, and a third proposal urging a five-year moratorium on filing of mining claims in the area.

The recreation area proposal was approved in the House, 48-20, last week despite opposition claims the move would embarrass Idaho's congressional delegation, which backed a recreational park area proposal. In the House Revenue and Taxation Committee Tuesday, Rep. John Reardon, R-Boise, won the first round of his battle to give voters final say whether local property revenues may be increased more than four per cent a year.

Referendum questioned

BOISE — (Special to the Times-News) — House Speaker William Lanting, R-Twin Falls, told the Times-News Tuesday that "an interesting question" has been raised on the legality of voter approved referendum drastically cutting legislative salaries.

Lanting said a technicality may invalidate the portion of the referendum which repealed legislation which had raised legislative salaries.

Currently a local taxing unit may appeal the four per cent limit to the tax commission or can submit the question to the voters for approval.

According to Lanting, Idaho law requires that a referendum be filed within 60 days of the end of the legislative session in which the law to be repealed was passed.

The initiative sets limits of 60 and 30 days during legislative session as the length of time legislators shall be paid. But the referendum was the action taken to repeal legislation which had been approved by the preceding legislature setting legislative salaries at $200 per month when not in session and $10 per day salary and $35 per day expenses during the session.

The committee also voted to introduce a measure to allow 18-year-olds to serve as precinct committeemen beginning with the primary election in 1972, the same year the youths will be allowed to vote in federal elections.

In the case of the disputed legislative salary legislation, there is both an initiative and referendum involved.

The only time qualification affecting initiatives is that petitions calling for the initiative elections must be filed four months before the date of the election.

The committee has earned about a "B" grade in following a study of its capabilities, according to House Speaker William Lanting, R-Twin Falls.

So it appears that there is no challenge to the initiative portion of the measure approved last November.

The time limits for legislative pay during sessions apparently still stands, but it now appears that legislators may again be paid at the higher rates.

The legislature's operating capability was judged on the degree to which it was found to be functional, accountable, informed, independent and representative — five categories in all.

Idaho legislators ranked ninth in the accountability category; 20th in functional operations; 29th in the quality of its information; 27th in independence and 21st in the representative category.

Lanting said "Many improvements are indicated from the study data... some of these improvements were proposed and rejected in the constitutional revision which was defeated last November.

Although there is a lot of room for improvement," Lanting said, "we in the legislature and Idaho as a whole should be encouraged."

Ray Anderson told of events on the day the dam broke and said he assisted in moving cattle from feedlots which were flooded below his property.

The case was originally heard in district court before Judge Sherman Bellwood and damages denied. It was appealed to the Idaho Supreme Court and returned to district court for another trial, before Judge Cunningham.

Since her appointment to office, Mrs. Brooks said one of her goals has been to secure congressional approval of the 1970 coinage legislation that makes provision for the striking of the dollar bearing the portrait of former President and five star General of the Army, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration indicated today that details would be made public soon on the scope of joint U.S.-South Vietnamese operations said to involve 34,000 troops in an area around the border of southern Laos.

Other administration officials, while hinting at a break soon in the embargo, cautioned reporters against making assumptions on the type or scope of the joint operation.

Ziegler did say under the daily barrage of questioning by reporters at the White House that it should be "quite clear that our objective in Southeast Asia is not to widen the war but to reduce U.S. involvement through Vietnamization."

TWIN FALLS — Lt. Calvin Bernard of the Idaho State Police District office at Twin Falls has been promoted to acting captain and will take charge of District 3 at Boise, effective March 1.

Lt. Bernard came to Twin Falls from Pocatello as a sergeant about four years ago. He joined the Idaho State Police 15 years ago and served 19 years as a patrolman in the Mountain Home area until moving to Pocatello and then to Boise.

Capt. Dean Bennett, supervising officer for District 4 in Twin Falls, said it is not known who Lt. Bernard's replacement will be in Twin Falls.

Lt. Bernard will be in charge of state police District 3, which surrounds Boise. His appointment as captain will be effective May 1.

Last fall, state police district offices were reorganized to include three supervisory officers, a captain, lieutenant and sergeant. At that time, Capt. Bennett received his promotion and Lt. Bernard was advanced in rank. Sgt. Ralph Stifford was promoted and transferred to Twin Falls as the third supervisory officer.

Lt. Bernard was sheriff of Gem County prior to joining the Idaho State Police. His wife, Kerma, is employed in magistrate court in Twin Falls.

WELCOMING Mary T. Brooks, director of the United States Mint, left, to Twin Falls and to the Twentieth Century Club luncheon is Mrs. D. A. Jackson, club president. Mrs. Brooks was featured speaker at the club's Tuesday luncheon at the Turf Club.

Greets speaker Mint director lauds new Eisenhower dollar

By NORMA HERZINGER Times-News Women's Editor TWIN FALLS — "I know the 'E' dollar is going to make an excellent addition to our coinage," Mary T. Brooks, director of the United States Mint, told members and guests at the Twentieth Century Club luncheon Tuesday at the Turf Club.

"And it pays deserved honor to one of our country's greatest presidents and war heroes," she said.

The trial strike of the new Eisenhower dollar coin was completed last week at the Philadelphia Mint.

Although Mrs. Brooks' stop in Twin Falls was brief, she expressed her pleasure in being "homo" again. She spent Monday evening in Boise visiting with longtime friends in the Idaho Senate. On Tuesday, she drove to Twin Falls for the luncheon, then took off immediately for Denver, where the cupro-nickel Kennedy half dollars will be minted beginning today.

Since her appointment to office, Mrs. Brooks said one of her goals has been to secure congressional approval of the 1970 coinage legislation that makes provision for the striking of the dollar bearing the portrait of former President and five star General of the Army, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"Millions throughout the world cherish his memory. And his portrait on a new coin is further evidence of our esteem for our beloved soldier-statesman and our achievements of his outstanding recognition and contributions to America and the free world."

Flooding trial in second day

BURLEY — Suit to recover damages allegedly resulting from a Dec. 23, 1964, flood went into its second day today in Fifth Judicial District Court in Burley before Judge James M. Cunningham, Twin Falls.

William and Ida Anderson, Wayne Gerrard and Berdell Curtis are asking damages from E. Lee and Ervins Dewey charging a dam on the Dewey property broke in 1964, flooding their property below the Dewey land on Marsh Creek.

They charge negligence on the part of the Deweys in allowing the dam to wash out, causing flooding of corrals and farms of the plaintiffs.

In testimony Tuesday J.A. McGraw, employed the past 19 years by the Dewey family, identified the Dewey property and the dam site. He said the dam is located on Marsh Creek six miles east of Declo.

He said the pond behind the dam was drained by the morning following the break and said he assisted in moving cattle from the feedlots of the residents below the Dewey property.

Elbert Dunn, Jr., water engineer, state of Idaho, said the Dewey dam would hold about 478 acre feet of water with a spillway to be shut off to raise the water level. He said the spillway provides a safety feature.

Andrus against forced support

TWIN FALLS — Gov. Cecil Andrus said today he did not make the statement he was against a proposed regional airport in Jerome County.

In a telephone conversation with the Times-News the governor said the question put to him by a Times-News correspondent during a Boise press conference was "would you support a proposal forcing counties to participate and build a regional airport?"

He said that basically he is not for or against a regional airport concept.

"I believe it is up to the people to achieve what they want to. The people can be for or against it as they wish," Governor Andrus said.

The story quoting the governor as not favoring a regional field in Jerome County was in Tuesday's Times-News.

Voyagers feel pull of Moon

SPACELAB, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 14 felt the first tug of the moon today. The astronauts said their spacecraft was "immaculate" and "in really good shape" for America's third moon landing Friday.

The spacecraft entered the moon's sphere of influence — the spot in space where the moon's gravity becomes stronger than the pull of earth — after the crew's first inspection of the lunar lander.

"Apollo 14's progressing very nicely," commander Alan B. Shepard reported as he and rookie spacemen Stuart A. Roosa and Edgar D. Mitchell beamed a 42-minute television show to earth.

"We're now right on schedule. It's going along extremely smoothly. And, we have a happy little ship here."

Ground controllers turned down Shepard's offer to show more pictures of the docking devices that gave the astronauts trouble on the linkup of Kitty Hawk and Antares.

Controlers explained later engineers were satisfied the Sunday night problem had been resolved.

Highway transfer proposed

BOISE — A bill will be proposed Thursday by Rep. William Roberts, R-Boise, which would permit the Twin Falls Highway District to annex 11 miles of the Rock Creek road.

The section of the heavily traveled road is currently part of the Oakley Highway District. Efforts by the two highway districts to transfer the section of the roadway have been stymied, Roberts said, by a requirement that 20 per cent of the registered voters in each district must petition the district to hold an election to permit the transfer.

The catch is that there are no registered voters in the highway district adjacent to the roadway. With no registered voters there can be no signatures on a petition to transfer.

The Roberts bill would make it possible to make such a transfer by action of both highway district boards, in the event there are no registered voters. The road leads to the Magic Mountain ski area.

War blackout lift hinted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration indicated today that details would be made public soon on the scope of joint U.S.-South Vietnamese operations said to involve 34,000 troops in an area around the border of southern Laos.

Other administration officials, while hinting at a break soon in the embargo, cautioned reporters against making assumptions on the type or scope of the joint operation.

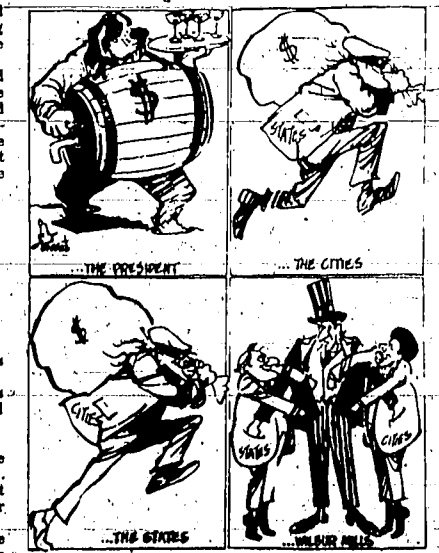

Murder hearing Feb. 12

TWIN FALLS — Feb. 12 has been set as a tentative date for the preliminary hearing for Mrs. Helen Evelyn Wilcox, 54, accused of first degree murder in the strangulation death of her mother, Mrs. Laura Wilcox, 82, Judge Dan Welsh of Magistrate Court said. A tentative date has been set by his court.

Mrs. Wilcox was arrested Jan. 2, the same day the body of her mother was found in her bed on the second floor of the women's home on Eighth Avenue North.

Attorney James May of Twin Falls has confirmed he has been appointed to represent Mrs. Wilcox's interests and said he has visited with the accused woman. May was appointed by the Twin Falls Title and Trust Co., which was named guardian of the accused woman's estate Jan. 2.

Mrs. Wilcox was arraigned Jan. 3 before Deputy Police Judge Judy Brooks. She has been in the Twin Falls County jail since arraignment.

Laos denies U.S. incursion

By United Press International
The Laotian defense minister today denied reports of a U.S.-South Vietnamese incursion into his country and said such information was based on speculation, President Nixon held an unscheduled meeting with top aides Tuesday night but the government maintained silence on what was going on in Laos.

Defense Minister Sisouk Na Champassak of Laos made the official denial of any Allied operation in Southern Laos as the Laotian cabinet met to discuss charges by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin of a U.S.-South Vietnamese invasion of the country. Sisouk said both the report of an invasion and of a delegation to be sent to Saigon from Vientiane were both based on "speculation."

U.S. military sources reported the heaviest fighting in South Vietnam in 10 months. The American Command said waves of U.S. B52 bombers and other jets kept up relentless attacks on Communist supply lines in Laos.

Reliable sources in Washington said the operation called for 25,000 South Vietnamese troops and 9,000 Americans, who would stay on the Vietnamese side of the border.

U.S. military sources said American troops clashed with Viet Cong and North Vietnamese units 46 times between Monday night and Tuesday night and other Allied troops engaged the Communists 30 times in the same period.

Air, land war rages

Neither the U.S. Command nor military sources commented on reports from Tokyo and Moscow of a South Vietnamese incursion in Laos and a gathering of American forces on the South Vietnamese side of the border.

U.S. spokesmen reported an American A37 Dragonfly jet bomber crashed near unknown location Monday night in Ratanak Kiri Province of Northeastern Cambodia. The pilot was killed.

MR. SPECTATOR

Read It And Live

Received a note from our 81-year-old friend who signs his name "O.B. Server." We know his correct name, of course, but he always uses the fictitious name so we will go along with him.

This time he writes he has hunted over most of the western country. In all this hunting — and during these many years — he has learned something about the art of survival if you are stuck in the mud or snow, lost or what have you. Here's what he writes:

(1) If you need a fire cut a four-inch patch from your shirttail or the top of your socks. Remove the bullet from a gun cartridge and pour the powder out on the patch. Crumple up a small piece of paper — your hunting license will do — and sprinkle on the powder. Then on top of this put some dry bark or twigs. Now remove the bullet from another cartridge then stuff in a small amount of cloth. Put this bullet in the gun and fire into the patch with the powder on it. Result — instant fire!

(2) To find your direction if lost on a rainy, cloudy or foggy day. Hold your fist out in front of your chest about a foot. Place the point of a knife blade on the outer rim of the thumb nail at the center. Turn slowly around until a thin, dark shadow points from the point of the knife-blade directly toward you. If it is noon you will be facing south, if 10:30 a.m. southeast, if 3:30 p.m. southwest. It works as good as a compass.

(3) You get your car stuck and need a fire and have no matches. Take a stick about a foot long, split on one end. Here's where your shirttail comes in again. Cut off a piece and wedge in the stick. Use a bit of gas from the gas tank and soak the cloth end of the stick. Hold close to battery of car. Take a pair of pliers to short the battery which will make a fat spark and ignite the gasoline. You can screw out a spark plug, turn the motor over and get the same result. The battery, though, will still spark even if it will not turn the motor over.

WHY NOT TEMPERATURE? Dear Mr. Spectator: We enjoy reading your paper and your column. We also always look at the weather report but we certainly miss seeing the temperatures of Denver and San Diego. We have been to San Diego and we used to live in Denver. This is the reason for our interest. On Sunday the Denver temperature is given but not San Diego like it used to be. We would appreciate it very much if you would put these temperatures in the paper at least once in awhile. Thanks. Mr. and Mrs. A.F. Detmer Gooding

WE WONDER TOO Dear Detmers: Mr. Spectator wonders too. We would always see San Diego and Denver and Honolulu. Now we never — or seldom — see them. Perhaps the staff members who have charge of putting the temperatures in the paper will read your note and see what can be done about it. We agree with you — it does get irritating where a "now you see it, now you don't" situation develops.

WASHINGTON — The immediate impact of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's lopsided defeat by his own Senate Democratic colleagues is not on the lofty issue of 1972 Presidential politics but on improving the deteriorating state of warfare between the Senate and President Nixon's White House.

Mr. Nixon's position improves. While Kennedy was seldom if ever a secure source of information for the White House on appraising its legislative prospects.

Typically, Byrd never confided his own private headcount to anyone. If he had, one result would have been a predictably massive pro-Kennedy effort by outside forces, such as organized labor, probably sufficient to tip the scales against Byrd.

gave assurances to Kennedy for the reason that he feared a second straight leadership fight (following Kennedy's defeat of Louisiana's Sen. Russell Long two years ago) would badly scar his party in the Senate.

AND STAY OUT!

PAUL HARVEY

It's Not Enough

Just jawboning is not enough. If President Nixon's "plan" has not ended the war in Indochina by 1972, he could be unseated by a Democrat demonstrating some good, old-fashioned outrage.

The American people, old and young, are pulled together by any national emergency. This war is not that; never has been. But there are domestic emergencies deserving of all-out unified national effort—crime, pollution, inflation.

There is right now justification for a President—or a candidate—to declare a national emergency. I'm not calling for hysterics, but for a loud voice and a firm hand.

Mr. Nixon's pose of "police" is similarly ineffectual. If police motivated people Adlai Stevenson would have been President.

What motivates, what pulls people together, is the emotional purposefulness of a Churchill or a Douglas MacArthur.

"Blood, sweat and tears" we're willing to share if our leader sounds like he means it. "I will return" said General Mac and we all got behind him and kept that promise!

Look at the milage the militant misleaders are getting out of professions of indignation and outrage. But since Harry Truman, no American President has.

I can imagine a strong President with a little fire in his belly and anger in his eyes calling all our troops home by next October, saying we can't afford this one-way drain any longer.

All Americans—especially young Americans—know that any man has feelings. Let him reveal feeling, convictions, gut reactions.

A father reacts emotionally to his children—or should. And a mighty lot of freeloading Americans are still chattering about what they want and throwing a tantrum if they don't get it.

Tell management, as Mr. Nixon almost did, to hold the steel price line or get clobbered with cheap imports.

shops busted open. Tell the freeloaders, as the Apostle Paul did and Gov. Reagan almost did, to get busy doing something constructive; either fish or cut bait.

And tell Asia that the apron strings are severed. And tell Russia to stay off our toes or else—and they know what "else."

You get us back to a dollar we can bite, air we can breathe, water we can drink, a flag we can salute and a future worth working for—it's going to feel real good again to be an American!

THE WAY IT WAS

FEBRUARY 1, 1907

BUHL. — A very pretty wedding—the first in Buhl— took place last Sunday morning. Ilsa Lulu Barstow and Mr. T.H. Allen were united in the bonds of matrimony at the home of the bride's parents.

The wedding was performed by The Rev. John Gourley of Twin Falls, who came up for that purpose. Mr. Allen is a member of the firm of Harris and Allen druggists of this town, and the bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M.D.L. Barstow.

At a reception a large number of friends presented themselves to the pair and made them presents of valued and useful articles that come in handy in housekeeping. The bride and groom have taken up their residence in Mr. Eveleth's house on Main Street.

Thomas Cottain, who resides at Heyburn and has had a homestead on the Mindoka project, took the train here for his home last Sunday.

John Hansen was in town last Sunday. He is the gentleman the town was named after.

KIMBERLY — Walter Bros and M.H. Wright were in town from Rock Creek. The Kimberly Supply Co. has added another improvement to its store in the form of a platform covering the entire sidewalk in front of the place.

TWIN FALLS — Welding of the North and South Side Systems are planned in a bold project. This will be effected by means of electric railways and power lines. Plans contemplate trolley roads to Shoshone, Buhl and Rock Creek, taking in Shoshone Falls, Kimberly, Hansen and the new town of Eldridge eight miles west of Twin Falls.

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lindzy, Frank Benoit and Herbert Martel put in a few hours rabbit hunting in the neighborhood of Twin Falls with good results. They did not walk very far nor did they make any attempt to round up the foot-footed jacks, but they managed to bring down about 24 rabbits.

FILER — Mrs. C.S. Saxton, Filer, who is pleasantly remembered by reason of the splendid exhibit of flowers which she made at the Twin Falls Fair last autumn, read a very interesting and helpful paper on flowers, which will be printed in the News next week. The Twin Falls tract is rather shy on flowers as yet.

NEW YORK — Mr. and Mrs. M.M. Murtaugh have returned from Sao Paulo, Brazil where he was in charge of one of the greatest engineering enterprises in the world. They plan to return to Twin Falls, Idaho where he was assistant general manager of the Twin Falls, Land and Water Co.

TWIN FALLS — I.B. Perrino has suggested that it would be a good idea for the farmers along the township line road to Buhl to plant trees on both sides (five feet back from the fences. It is to be a very important highway, being the route of the telephone, power and trolley lines.

made accurate appraisals all but impossible. Byrd's knowledge of the Senate is probably unsurpassed back to the Senate's glory days of Lyndon Johnson, a truth dramatically emphasized in the upset of Kennedy in the battle for assistant Majority Leader last Thursday. While Kennedy was off to Jamaica for a week in mid-January, confident that he had enough votes to win the whip fight, Byrd stayed here, assiduously cultivating and counting.

Typically, Byrd never confided his own private headcount to anyone. If he had, one result would have been a predictably massive pro-Kennedy effort by outside forces, such as organized labor, probably sufficient to tip the scales against Byrd.

But big labor never knew the score — until it was too late. One reason for this innocence was Kennedy's own mistaken headcount, which showed a solid, unbreakable 26 votes, a majority of one (including one highly improbable Southerner — Allen Ellender of Louisiana).

Although Ellender won't say today how he actually voted, he

French Polio

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please tell me something about Guillain-Barre syndrome. I think it is sometimes called French polio. I would like to know its cause, symptoms, and chances of recovery. — Mrs. W.J.G.

Everybody would like to know the cause, including me.

This isn't a particularly prevalent disorder, but it keeps cropping up here and there, so the average person, when he first experiences it or observes it, feels completely baffled.

So, beyond a certain point, does a doctor when he tries to explain it.

It is a disorder of the nervous system which results in weakness and paralysis of the extremities.

The patient usually (two-thirds of cases) has a period of vague illness for from one to three weeks before the paralysis begins to appear. Usually there's some fever but not particularly high.

Again, the patient may already be ill with some other condition. Or there may be no signs leading up to the attack.

The weakness starts in the legs, spreads upward on both sides to trunk and arms, but the face usually is NOT affected.

There's nothing much to do in the way of treating it except to bolster the patient's general health by whatever means is possible.

Chances of recovery, however, are good, although there may be some residual muscle weakness.

There's a notion that a virus plays some part in the disease, but to the best of my knowledge this never has been pinned down specifically.

Incidentally, where is she getting this codeine? Did a doctor prescribe it? It should be used under a physician's control.

Fortunately codeine does not usually lead to addiction, as other narcotics do, but overuse can do so. Thus for a limited time, to control pain, codeine is useful and not harmful, but continued use is another kettle of fish.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column, whenever possible.

"Believe me, son—whatever it is you have been trying to prove—I would say you've proved it!"

Park planned

FROM OLD CARS to scenic recreation site at the west entrance to Twin Falls is the goal of county officials and Twentieth Century Club members. Looking over preliminary plans for a proposed Rock Creek Park are William Chancey, county commissioner chairman; Ed Woods, zoning administrator, standing, and Mrs. LaVern Strong, project chairman, and Mrs. D.A. Jackson, president, Twentieth Century Club, all from left.

Twentieth Century Club spearheads park project

TWIN FALLS — Twentieth Century Club members are spearheading a community-wide effort to achieve a new county asset in the way of a park and summer recreation site at the west entrance to Twin Falls.

Mrs. D.A. Jackson, club president, said after the group adopted the Rock Creek Park as a project it was decided more could be accomplished in a shorter time if other individuals and organizations could be brought into the program.

Twentieth Century members, working closely with the Twin Falls County Parks and Recreation Commission and with Ed Woods, zoning administrator, will join other civic groups in establishing a coordinating committee within the near future. This group will plan for various stages of the development and prepare applications for state and federal funds to assist in full development.

County commissioners last year purchased eight acres of land along the creek and have since nearly completed removal of old car bodies from the area. When all have been removed some areas will be drained and improvements including picnic facilities, playground areas, an amphitheater and other facilities added in later stages of development.

Mrs. LaVern Strong is project chairman for the Twentieth Century Club and will be directing club participation.

Plans for the program were discussed Monday in a luncheon meeting at the Holiday Inn called by Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Strong. Organizations represented included Soroptimist Club, Jaycees, Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis, Optimist Club, Exchange and chamber of commerce and county commissioners offices.

One of the goals of the project is to clear pollution from Rock Creek so the stream can be utilized as a recreational resource in the overall development.

Runway studies asked

TWIN FALLS — City and county commissioners today received the recommendation of the members of the Twin Falls City-County Airport commission that data for preliminary studies in connection with runway construction here be expedited.

The airport commission recommended that the city and county commissioners take immediate steps to engage the consulting engineering firm of Hledesel and Straubhaar for this purpose.

Under present plans the old portion of the main runway would be brought up to jet specifications this year and taxiways and the landing ramp area would be repaired in 1972. The projects are slated to receive federal backing on a matching fund basis.

Found guilty

TWIN FALLS — A 12-member jury returned a verdict of guilty of first degree burglary Tuesday afternoon in the case of Steven Whitehead, 24, Twin Falls.

The jury returned its verdict at 4:15, an hour and 40 minutes after retiring to deliberate on the case.

Judge Theron Ward ordered a presentence investigation to be conducted.

Whitehead was arrested by Twin Falls Police on Oct. 7 and charged in connection with the theft of two mattresses from a camper at Gateway Trailer Center.

In his instructions to the jury Judge Ward pointed out the jury would have to find, upon the evidence presented, that Whitehead had formed an intent to take the mattresses. He also pointed out that a pickup truck camper is not specifically covered in the Idaho Code regarding burglary and the jury was instructed that to find Whitehead guilty it would have to find that a camper is a closed vehicle or a trailer.

Breakfast planned by riding club

TWIN FALLS — Plans for a membership kick-off breakfast for the Frontier Riding Club on March 7 were announced today by club officers.

Members met Monday night to discuss plans for the coming riding season and to plan special events for club members.

Ralph Denton is president of the club; Bill Lewis, vice president, and Mrs. Lyle Wonderlich, secretary; Roy Jessor is treasurer and directors are Bobby Jones, Zeb Bell and Fred Fender.

The annual horse sale is planned for April 25 and three trail rides have been scheduled, including an early spring ride, a South Hills ride and a north side ride. Play days, gymkhanas and other special events will be held throughout the summer.

Social work days are planned to give club members an opportunity to get together and to spend time helping improve the facilities at Frontier Field north of Twin Falls.

Plans were made for the annual Frontier Horse Show which this year will feature a new and unique type of awards designed to attract more exhibitors and spectators.

Club membership is being accepted now by Bill Lewis, chairman, or any member of the board.

Attends court

TWIN FALLS — Members of the College of Southern Idaho law enforcement training class and instructor Wes Dobbs attended the afternoon session of Fifth District Court Tuesday. They sat in on a burglary trial with Judge Theron Ward presiding.

Inquest slated in fatality

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County coroner Cloyce Edwards has called for an inquest into the Saturday night traffic death of a young Twin Falls woman.

Edwards said the inquest will be held as soon as it can be scheduled in court. He said investigation into the death of Marie Adkinson, 18, is continuing in the meantime.

Miss Adkinson died, apparently instantly, about 10:30 p.m. Saturday when she was struck by a car just south of Twin Falls.

Driver of the car which struck the victim was Harold Henry Dantels, 62, Ogden, Utah.

Aviation classes set

TWIN FALLS — Start of a new class at the College of Southern Idaho in all aspects of general aviation and aerospace travel has been announced for Thursday at 7 p.m.

The class will be offered in Room 118 and will cover commercial airline operation, general aviation, federal aviation agency matters, rocketry theory of flight, navigation and weather.

The new training is open to all interested persons and during the training field trips will be made to aerospace installations in the area and numerous resource persons will be brought in for special instruction.

Early morning lunar walks on TV schedule

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Barring a change in plans, television watchers are expected to see two lengthy moon-walks this week by members of the Apollo 14 mission.

The lunar walks are scheduled for Friday and Saturday early morning each day. And if things go right, each excursion is expected to run between four and five hours.

On a more mundane level, television watchers can also see some rather provocative, if hardly historic, programming from the less heavenly network departments in the next week.

Tonight, NBC-TV offers Arthur Miller's play, "The Price," with George C. Scott and Barry Sullivan in a

Tokyo night out expensive event

TOKYO (UPI)—Anybody who steps out on the town in Tokyo, or any Japanese city, had better take his wallet. And his checkbook. And credit cards of any stray travelers checks.

It's expensive. Dinner, a show and drinks for two can easily run $150. If, by chance, the swinger stops in a nightclub, he'd better go via armored truck.

The tax administration agency, a government organization, issued a report recently on "social entertainment" in 1969 in which, the government reported, the Japanese spent 900 billion yen, the equivalent to $2.4 billion, on night life.

That money wasn't spent by the individual Japanese. He's lucky to earn $150 per month, let alone spend that amount in one night. Money for a night out comes from an expense account.

To further sweeten the pot, when the Japanese go out on the town on an expense account, it's mostly tax free. The government says that only about $500 million of the $2.4 billion spent on "social entertainment" was taxed under the present laws.

The expense account exists in other countries, of course, but not on the level it does in Japan. Exhibit A is that $2.4 billion figure. It is more than 10 times the amount Japan plans to spend on antipollution measures this year, and far outdistances the money spent on education.

Of more than 43,000 registered business firms samples, the average annual amount spent on "social entertaining" was about $3,000. But that's an average figure and doesn't do justice to some Tokyo expense accounts.

More experienced company executives in Tokyo could easily spend that "average" $3,000 figure in one night.

"A group, say four businessmen, meets over drinks to get acquainted and adjourn for dinner. The tab for drinks and dinner comes to about 40,000 yen ($110). Only afterwards does the real "night out" begin. Enter a night club. Generally there is a large entrance area and as soon as a group of customers (only the uninitiated or very rich would go alone) enters, they are welcomed by hostesses whose company is worth from $8 to $10 per hour.

Those who know what to expect don't bat an eye, but for the less experienced the check at the end of the evening is truly an eye opener.

First there are the drinks. A group of four men over a period of three or four hours can easily down five or six pieces. The cost—30,000 yen (about $83).

The hostess charge. Four hostesses each at $250 yen per hour for four hours, totals 40,000 yen ($110). Next comes the charge for drinks for the hostesses. Chalk up another 15,000 yen (40).

The service charge, generally a set figure for each customer, is 12,000 or another $32 for the party.

Suspension reversed

BOISE (UPI) — An order from the Department of Law Enforcement suspending the driver's license of an Ogden, Utah, man has been reversed by the Idaho Supreme Court.

James G. Holliday's license was suspended for his alleged refusal to submit to chemical tests to determine the content of alcohol in his blood. The suspension order had been upheld by the Fifth Judicial District Judge in Twin Falls.

The decision of the Supreme Court was unanimous and said the department had not made findings of fact in the proceedings to suspend Holliday's license as required by law.

TOP QUARTER HORSEMAN for Idaho in the 13-year-old and under division of the Intermountain Quarter Horse Association is Johnny Gilster shown here with Juna's Boy, his Quarter Horse gelding. Together the two brought home 24 trophies this summer including the top youth award.

Top youth Johnny Gilster named 'top youth of Idaho'

TWIN FALLS — Another of Twin Falls' junior citizens has brought honors to his home town.

He is Johnny Gilster, 13-year-old horseman who this year was judged "top youth of Idaho" for the Intermountain Quarter Horse Association. The award is reserved for exhibitors 13 years and under.

In all-around standing, young John is fifth and is in the top ten for the entire Intermountain Quarter Horse Association including competition from Nevada, Utah, western Colorado, western Wyoming and Idaho.

In the past year John attended eight horse shows with his 5-year-old registered Quarter Horse gelding, Juna's Boy. He ended the season with 24 trophies to add to his growing collection.

A daughter, Laitna, is also an accomplished horsewoman and competes throughout the summer season at various shows. She has entered several rodeo queen events and plans barrel racing this summer.

The Gilster family manages Frontier Field in Twin Falls and are confronted daily with all problems of young horsemen. In summer months and frequently in winter, Frontier Field is a busy place for area youngsters who keep their horses there and ride daily.

Playdays and gymkhana's are held at the field to help youngsters learn basic horsemanship and sportsmanship. The Gilster family along with members of the Frontier Riding Club are looking forward to a busy and exciting riding season this year.

Chairman named

WASHINGTON—E. L. (Shug) Hatcher, Lamar, Colo., wheat producer, was named chairman of the seven-man board of directors of the National Wheat Institute, meeting in Washington, D.C.

The meeting, designated the "first annual membership meeting" of the institute, was the first held since the temporary organization Dec. 17, and since funds from the inverse-subsidy pool became available for a program of wheat research and promotion.

"Brain writing" analysis revealed in new book

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, and Helen Gurley Brown—unique personalities—get uniform attention in a new book by Dr. Harry O. Teltcher.

The psychographologist and psychoanalyst, in "Handwriting—Revelation of Self" (Hawthorn), gives his views of each woman's handwriting which he prefers to call "brain-writing."

"The hand merely holds the pen or the pencil," he said in an interview. "It is the brain that directs the movements of the hand."

Jacqueline Kennedy's handwriting reveals a cultured woman whose interests range over a broad spectrum," Teltcher said. "The strong, large-size script, the strong pressure... are all indicative of her need for securing motoric outlets for her energy by constant traveling, visiting new places and exposing herself to a variety of ventures."

Mrs. Nixon's script is "small, simple, unadorned and plans forward." "The over-all observation is that of a woman who finds satisfaction in her home, one who prefers to stay in the background rather than search for publicity or glaring headlines," Teltcher said.

Helen Gurley Brown, author of "Cosmopolitan" and editor of "Sex and the Single Girl" and "Sex and the New Single Girl," writes in a medium large, speedy script characterizing her as an alert woman, according to Teltcher.

"Her marvelous vitality and resiliance are indicated in her firm pen pressure, the large clevular loops," he added.

You might think just from what you've read about the three prominent women that you could have come up with such words about them without looking at samples of their handwriting. Maybe so. But Teltcher says psychography is a science and of value.

A number of firms among 500 who call on psychographologists to analyze handwriting of prospective employees have him on the payroll as a consultant. One is a trucking firm.

In the 10 years he has been advising which driver prospects not to hire, the firm's accident rate has dropped.

Men's Night slated by Christian Women's group

TWIN FALLS—Men's Night barbershop music.

Bob Pence, Pocatello bank manager, former Buhl resident, will be featured speaker.

Reservations can be obtained by calling Twin Falls 733-0017 or 734-2106; Piler, 326-5180; Buhl, 543-4892, or Jerome, 324-4452. Babysitting will not be provided this time.

DEAR ABBY: Our teenage daughter, I'll call her Debbie, has been driving for a year. She thinks she is a careful driver, but she drives too fast. Debbie got a ticket for going 25 miles an hour over the speed limit, and her license was suspended for 30 days. I am sure she has gone over the speed limit more than once, but this was the only time she was caught.

Debbie needs to drive to work after school, and it is so late when she is thru with work, we wouldn't want her to take the bus.

My husband read about a "device" to put on a car which will monitor speed violations. We told Debbie we were going to put one on her car. She had a fit, and said it would be "spying" on her. I tried explaining that it would be better than having her license suspended again or maybe getting into a serious accident due to her habit of speeding.

Has Debbie the right to feel as she does? Or do we have the right to put one of those devices on her car?

DEBBIE'S PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Forget the device, and let the police "police" your daughter. But warn Debbie that if her speeding tickets result in revocation of her license, not to expect any "chauffeur service" from you.

DEAR ABBY: We have a relative who is not old, but he talks about nothing but his aches and pains and allergies. He carries a dozen different kinds of pills with him. He even bought a leather case made especially to carry his pills. He looks like a walking drugstore. He keeps asking what time it is so he can take his next pill.

Why can't he take his pills in private? I have ailments, too, but I don't make a big show of it. What is the matter with him? Do you think it would help any if someone told him in a nice way he is getting on people's nerves?

CLOSE RELATIVE

DEAR RELATIVE: The matter with him is that he wants attention and sympathy. And no, it wouldn't help if someone told him he is getting on people's nerves. [He might have to increase the dosage to calm HIS.]

DEAR ABBY: I am a married man and the father of four. As a salesman I travel a lot, but I manage to keep up with your columns. Why do you all but hang a medal on every wife who thinks the most important thing she has to do is be a willing bed partner?

I have a wife like that, but let me tell you more about her. She sleeps all morning, gossips on the telephone for hours at a time, and she either watches day time television or takes a nap in the afternoon. She hates housework and the house looks like it. She detests cooking, so when I'm not home, the kids get peanut butter sandwiches and potato chips for supper every night. Yet this woman thinks she's a good wife because she'll hop into bed with me at the drop of a hint.

Maybe other husbands will disagree with me, but I would rather have a cleaner house and better fed kids than a wife who lets everything else go so she can rest up for sack time.

Psychic trend hits Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Movie folk are on a psychic kick right now.

Fortune tellers, astrologers and tea leaf readers are out. Those who communicate with the spirits are very in.

Most in demand of all is one Kenny Kingston, a blond man with penetrating eyes, a sense of humor and thorough dedication to his gift for contacting those who have passed from this vale.

Some of Hollywood's most famous movie and television stars, directors and producers hire him for private readings, group sessions and to entertain at parties.

"Most stars want to know if they should accept a television project or if they can ask for more money or if they will be forgotten if they leave the country for any length of time," Kingston said during lunch at the Brown Derby.

He interrupted himself to point at a table at which Broderick Crawford was sitting.

"Look at that," Kingston said. "Glenn Miller is standing right next to Crawford trying to bother him."

Kenny was reminded the great band leader died during World War II.

"I know," he said. "But Glenn is standing right there."

Look, see, he's annoying Brod." Crawford began scratching his neck furiously and glanced around the restaurant.

"I wonder why Glenn is doing that," Kingston said. "Oh, I see."

The last remark was addressed to absolutely no one. Asked to whom he was talking, Kenny nodded to his right.

"Clifton Webb," he said. "His spirit is with me all the time. So is that of Running Bull, my Indian, and Henry C. Clark—that's the grandfather who died before I was born. When I was hired for private readings only 10 years old, Henry C. helped me pass a test in school. That's when I knew I was psychic."

"I have some predictions for 1971," he said.

"In the coming year Bob Hope, Frank Sinatra, Glenn Ford and President Nixon will become grandfathers. Jackie Onassis will make her film debut and Mario Thomas could marry a man she hasn't yet met."

Kingston said the spirit world is very much a part of the living world. Then he laughed. By way of explanation he said that Clifton Webb had just told him it was time to go.

"I know," he said. "But Glenn is standing right there."

Pianist thinks lessons pay off

NEW YORK (UPI)—Undaunted by recent debacles in celebrity franchising ventures, pop pianist Roger Williams claims a tiny sum can be made from centers that sell piano lessons by computer.

All you need is $27,000, 800 to 1,000 square feet, a two-week course and Williams. More specifically, the International Music Corp. will set you up in a "Roger Williams International Music Center," replete with one piano, one organ, one computer, six electric pianos, up to $250 in promotional activity and Roger Williams for the opening. There are 20 centers in operation, and the company conservatively estimates 200 will be operating before the end of 1971.

Williams claims the teaching method will have anyone from 6 years of age on playing "Autumn Leaves with both hands" after three lessons. The "teacher" is the Decker Computer Console System—a high-fidelity sound system, a closed-circuit television screen and a keyboard connected to the electric piano. The student receives instructions from the computer and for the first two lessons plays keys according to lights. The console also provides audio-visual instruction and interrogates the student. If he is confused, a "panic button" summons an instructor very much a part of the living world. Then he laughed. By way of explanation he said that Clifton Webb had just told him it was time to go.

Publisher appointed

BOISE (UPI)—Promotion of Robert B. Miller Jr., publisher of The Daily Olympian at Olympia, Wash., and Eugene C. Dorsey, publisher of The Idaho Statesman, was announced Monday by Federated Publications.

Miller will become publisher of The Idaho Statesman, effective April 1. Dorsey will be promoted to editor and publisher of the Lansing State Journal, Lansing, Mich., the same date. The Lansing paper is the largest newspaper in the Federated group.

Robert B. Miller Sr., executive chairman, and Louis A. Wall Jr., president of Federated, made the announcement.

Federated owns seven daily newspapers in the West and Midwest, including the Olympia, Boise and Lansing dailies.

Well said he has asked to be relieved of his responsibilities as editor and publisher at Lansing to be able to devote more time to corporation business.

Miller, publisher at Olympia since April 1, 1969, was assistant to the publisher at the Idaho Statesman for 2 1/2 years prior to that.

Chrysler strike ends

By DAVID W. CHUTE—DETROIT (UPI)—One of the shortest national auto strikes on record began and ended today within three hours when Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers reached an agreement in principle covering 10,000 salaried workers.

A strike called at 10 a.m. was called off after the company agreed to the principle of a 13 per cent wage increase and retroactivity of the wage increase above a cost of living raise to last Nov. 2. The cost of living section was automatically retroactive to last Sept. 15.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock said all of the salaried workers would return to their jobs Wednesday morning.

He said a final tentative agreement could not be written because of the complications in applying wage increases granted the production and maintenance workers on Jan. 18 to the salaried employees.

The shortest national auto strike was in 1961 when workers struck for 15 minutes against General Motors over a dispute involving implementation of relief time.

It was the second strike by the UAW against an auto company in the current round of negotiations which began last July. General Motors was completely shut down for 67 days last fall before settling with the UAW on a pattern-setting agreement.

A three-year agreement between the UAW and Chrysler covering 10,000 production and maintenance workers was reached Jan. 19, and the results of the ratification were expected to be announced tonight.

Training begins for on-job work

By MVRTLE SCHRENK, Times-News Correspondent
WENDELL — Wendell High School began an On-the-Job vocational training program this week at the start of the spring semester under supervision of James Benson.

Ten members of the vocational agriculture IV class will each work for two five-week periods at various business establishments of the community. Participants include Fred Blackburn who will receive training at the Hub City Building Center; Jon Cantroll, Jay's Shoe Repair; Keith Conner, Wendell Implement; Bill Emery, Wendell Grange Supply; Mike Freeman, Wendell Grain Elevator; John Harley, American Service Station; Dean Hulet IGA Cash grocery; Larry Johnson, Parre Locker Storage; Dale Snow, Western Auto; and Earl Jones, Zittau's Motor Co.

The students will receive actual experience in mechanics, meat cutting and other phases of commercial meat sales, as well as clerking, merchandising, lumber grading, carpentering, shoe repair, leather work, fertilizer application and mixing feed.

Benson says this type of program results from recommendations from the State Department of Education that vocational training in local schools should be implemented by practical experience. The instructor was authorized by members of the Wendell school board to select an advisory council to study and recommend changes necessary to update existing agriculture program.

Council members are Arnold Runyon, chairman; Harry Frith, vice chairman; George Blackburn, Walt Mracek, Lloyd Little and Benson, who serves in an ex-officio position as secretary. Benson said a program of this type has been successful in other Magic Valley communities in teaching students to adapt to all types of labor.

Mrs. Harms featured as artist of month

WENDELL—Mrs. A. J. (Lois) Harms is being featured as Artist of the Month for February and five of her pictures in oil and water color are on display at the Wendell branch of the Idaho First National Bank.

Mrs. Harms says she was born with the liking to draw things of beauty and one of her happiest memories dates back to her 15th birthday anniversary when her parents enrolled her for a correspondence art course with the American School of Arts, Washington, D.C.

The family has lived in Wendell since 1940 and all six of Mrs. Harms' children attended Wendell schools. She says all of them inherited her artistic tendency to some extent, even though the school did not offer any arts and crafts classes.

She is glad the local schools now have such courses for interested students and says if classes had been available earlier, she would not have let her paintbrushes lie idle for more than 35 years.

"Can you imagine returning to the classroom after 35 years," she said. But this is just what she did in 1961 when Charlotte Duggan organized the Wendell Art Group. She recalls the first series of lessons was divided into two hour sessions and cost 25 cents each.

Since those first lessons she has studied oils and water colors under Roy Mason, "Workshop on Wheels," taught by George Roberts and Mary Kirkland, Moscow, and seminars taught by Leo Parkinson, Salt Lake City. Her work has been displayed at the Gooding Library, Pastime Pizza Parlor, Gooding; Gooding County fair, Jerome library and at several Twin Falls Art Guild shows.

Landscapes in oils are her favorite, but she has painted a variety of subjects using pastels, charcoals and water colors.

Mrs. Harms currently is president of the Gooding County Sagebrush Artists, whose membership is composed of artists from Wendell, Hagerman and Gooding.

The group sponsors an annual tea and show, plus a Christmas sale. A studio is maintained in the basement of the Gooding library and is financed by a percentage of proceeds that members receive from giving private lessons. Presently Marilyn LaCroix, Gooding, is teaching a weekly class for beginners in oils at the studio.

ARTIST OF THE MONTH, Mrs. Lois Harms, holds a water color entitled "The Woodshed," one of her paintings now on display during February at the Wendell branch of the Idaho First National Bank.

Patron now has mail choice

TWIN FALLS—The day has finally come when the postal patron has a choice in the kind of mail he or she will be getting in his post office box or through home delivery.

Lloyd Libert, officer in charge of the local post office, said forms are now available to local patrons who do not wish pornographic material mailed to them.

A new law became effective Monday, designed to keep unwanted sex-oriented literature from being delivered to persons who do not wish it. Libert said forms are available at the local post office and persons should call there and fill them out. Each card is designed to be used in a computer and must be filled out exactly as specified. The cards will not be sent out except in special emergency type cases.

Libert said the U.S. Postal Service will compile a list of all persons registering with post offices to have their names kept from such mailing lists. These names will then be sold to the smut peddlers who will face severe criminal and civil penalties if they send material to anyone whose name has been on the list for 30 days or more.

Officials say they have no idea how many patrons will use the new law but more than 30,000 post offices will be collecting names. Initial lists will be available Feb. 20 to the dealers in pornographic or "smut" material. Frequent updating is planned with new registrations added each few weeks. Those dealers violating the law are liable for penalties up to $5,000 or five years in prison.

Youth receives stipend

WENDELL—Doug Schrenk, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schrenk, has won a $400 Standard Oil Co. scholarship. He is a senior at Wendell High School and a member of the National Honor Society. He took eight years of forestry projects in 4-H and plans to major in forestry at the University of Idaho.

Canvass slated Thursday

SHOSHONE — The LDS Church Primary will canvass the membership of the ward Thursday evening, to solicit donations to the Birthday fund. This is an annual drive held within the church, with members urged to contribute pennies for their birthday to the Primary Children's Hospital in Salt Lake City. Needy children of any faith may receive treatment at the center. Conference for Shoshone ward will be observed Feb. 8-14, according to announcement by Bishop LaMar Duffin.

Remodeling completed on store

WENDELL — Mrs. Wanda Lancaster, manager of the Idaho state liquor store in Wendell announced that remodeling has been completed on the building after the recent fire which caused $15,000 damage to stock and that she will now be open for business during regular hours as before the fire.

The store has been closed for the past three weeks.

Building plans asked for T.F. Harbor House

TWIN FALLS — Architect Ivan Stone, Twin Falls, was asked by directors of Harbor House of Magic Valley this morning to complete plans for a permanent building for the foster home organization as soon as possible so federal matching funds for an initial construction phase can be obtained.

Directors decided last month to go ahead with a new building program, counting largely on community support for local matching funds.

One of the major contributions anticipated within the month will be proceeds from the annual County Music Jam-boree Feb. 15, 16, and 17.

Frank Finlayson and Cecil Thomas, Idaho Law Enforcement Planning Commission, meeting with Harbor House directors and county commission members today, said the first step will be to submit completed plans for the initial $9,500 now earmarked for the Twin Falls project.

He urged the group begin immediately to raise funds for next year in which $12,500 will be available on the same 50 per cent matching basis.

Daniel Meehl, co-chairman of the board, said the organization now has $11,000 in funds donated by such organizations as the Junior Club and Magic Valley Country Music Association. This will, with the 1971 Jam-boree, give the organization about $25,000 in local and federal funds for the initial phase of construction.

It is planned to begin construction as soon as possible on the first phase with efforts being made at the same time to raise the additional $12,500 in local matching money to continue the second and final phase of the building program next year.

Because the present rented property is for sale and the old building would require costly improvements such as additional bathrooms, complete rewiring and a new heating system, board members have decided the money would be better spent on a new building designed to meet the needs of a foster home where both boys and girls are housed at the same time.

The matter is urgent, Meehl said, since the home could be sold at any time and, in its present condition, it does not meet standards for foster home care.

He said all appliances, carpeting and other items donated by community organizations and individuals will be taken from the old home on Shoshone Street to the new building when it is finished.

County commissioners have budgeted $13,500 for the 1971 year for operating expenses only and cannot provide building funds, they explained. The 1971 budget has already been completed and cannot be added to at this time.

Only operating expenses for the facility are provided by the county and all other needs of the home have been met through community support.

Jerome city to pay extra landfill costs

JEROME — The Jerome City Council agreed Monday evening to a settlement with the Jerome County commission for $420 to help pay for the extra expense of operating the county landfill east of the city.

Extra costs have been incurred from new state laws controlling air pollution and banning burning of refuse.

The county had agreed to operate the landfill, paying half the cost of operation from July 1, 1970, until the first of this year, but had underestimated their costs by the $420. The commission asked the city to make up the difference.

Marshall Everheart, a member of the council, said the Elden Corporation, which operates the city trash-collection service, had collected a large number of empty trash cans which had not been placed close to Jerome houses, and discarded them.

Everheart said the trash-collection service will have to replace the missing trash cans or pay for their replacement.

He also said that since the alleys have dried out, the trucks can resume their former alley collections.

Owen Tinker, council member, said that Sixth Street East, which was damaged by floods in January, is now open for traffic. City crews have repaired large chucks holes with temporary patches.

Councilman Walt Bentzinger reported that Police Chief C.H. Puntney has arranged for Federal Bureau of Investigation agents to conduct classes for employees of Jerome banks on holdup prevention and handling. The classes will be conducted at the Bank of Idaho today and at the First Security Bank on Thursday at 4 p.m.

David Best, Jerome city dog catcher, who was on a six-month probationary term, reported to the council that he picked up 32 dogs in January. Of these 14 were claimed, two were placed in homes, and 11 were destroyed. He said four citations have been written since the first of the year for dogs running loose, and 28 warnings were issued.

Best said the new $5 pickup fee for dogs seems to be helping the problem.

Chief Puntney noted that all dogs in Jerome must be licensed by March 1. The new fee for all dogs, male and female, is $5, Puntney said.

The city council will conduct a special meeting next Tuesday, beginning at 7 p.m. in the city hall, to draft the 1971 budget.

heard an explanation of federally-subsidized flood insurance by Kenneth Dunn of the Idaho Water Administration. He said applications have to be submitted by a governmental agency, such as a city or county, and if approved, then individuals living in that area could purchase insurance through private agencies.

Councilmen requested Dunn to furnish a checklist from the Federal Water Administration of requirements which have to be met before such an application would be approved, and also asked for written information.

County commissioners C. F. Chaffault and Glenn Sorenson requested the city to install a street light on the north side of the courthouse in the center of the block. Councilmen said they would check with the power company regarding costs.

It was reported the 1970 assessed valuation of the city is $759,736, which is $2,000 less than the previous year.

Building permits were granted to Glenn Young for an asphalt shingle roof; Mrs. Lila Rosen for remodeling residence, and a bartender's permit was issued to Anna May Watson.

Hawaiian tour

TWIN FALLS — Completed reservations for the Times-News sponsored "Magic of Hawaii" tour must be finalized no later than Friday.

A get-acquainted coffee hour will be hosted for the travelers by Mrs. Marge Lake at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Big Boy's Restaurant dining room.

The Hawaii travelers will be leaving Twin Falls Feb. 15 and returning Feb. 25, with Norma Herzinger as tour host.

Magic Valley suitable for vintage grapes, survey shows

By RICHARD G. HIGH
Times-News Associate Editor
BOISE — The Magic Valley may soon become a major wine producing region, according to a University of Idaho study being circulated to legislators, during the legislative session.

The industry could bring nearly $50 million per year to Magic Valley wine producers, according to a preliminary study group headed by Robert R. Furgason, chairman of the department of chemical engineering at the University of Idaho.

Furgason's report said a cool southern Idaho climate is particularly well suited for production of vintage grapes — those from which wine is made — in contrast to warmer climates in which table and juice grapes are best grown.

A typical farmer could realize about $6,000 per acre each year when his crop is turned into wine, the report said. At least 8,000 acres in the Magic Valley are deemed suitable for grape growing, in an area ranging from Buhl to Rupert, Furgason said.

Two other Idaho regions were reported also suitable for the grape industry — 12,000 acres surrounding Boise and 5,000 acres in the Lewiston area. The total potential value of the wine from these three areas would be about $150 million per year.

The grapes, before being turned into wine, would be worth about $38 million. The study indicates that wine demand is rising rapidly in the United States, and shows prospects of much greater growth in the future. The demand reportedly more than tripled in the last 20 years; but even so, U.S. consumption is still small by international standards. The American average is slightly less than one gallon per person per year, while Frenchmen average 32 gallons per person each year, and Italians consume 29 gallons.

Using one index showing suitability of the climate for producing vintage grapes, the study said that California's Napa Valley is almost identical to that centering around Twin Falls — the Napa Valley has slightly less than 2,500 degree days per year in comparison to 2,460 degree days in Twin Falls.

The report said that grapes suitable for Idaho's climate generally yield between four and six tons per acre, with the crop varying in value from $200 to $500 per ton, or from $800 to $3,000 per acre to the grape producer.

Thus, the study said, a typical 100-acre plot could produce a potential annual income of $600,000 from 70,000 gallons of wine.

According to Furgason's study, producing wine from the grapes quadruples the value of the unprocessed grapes, bringing per-acre income from a low $3,200 for grapes alone to as high as $12,000 for the wine crop. A $4,000-per-acre income per year is typical, Furgason said.

The investment required to bring a vineyard into production is high, however, requiring between $1,500 and $2,500, excluding land costs. In addition, at least five years of development are required before an acreage becomes productive.

The production and harvest costs average about $90 per acre, the study said.

Construction of a full-scale winery would also be expensive; a facility capable of producing two million gallons per year could require a capital investment of more than $500,000.

Thus, in the final analysis, the Idaho industry as a whole, covering 25,000 acres of cropland, would require a total capital investment running around $69 million — but would bring in an annual wine crop worth $150 million.

Rupert residents top blood quota

By JUNE DRAGE
Times-News Correspondent
RUPERT — Two Rupert residents, Hazel Dean Hunter and Marian Wilferth, completed donation of six gallons of blood during a highly successful blood drive in which 229 pints were donated — almost doubling the quota of 125 pints.

A total of 259 potential donors reported to the drawing, but 30 were rejected.

Miss Hunter and Wilferth each received six-gallon pins during the drawing. Two-gallon pins were given to Lamar Nef, Emma Leback, and Donna Badger, and one-gallon pins went to Bud Zollinger, Doris Icenbice, Clinton Easton, Thora Bessire and George Thomas.

Dr. Dan Pates was the physician in charge. Registered nurses donating their time included Elaine Hedd, Roberta Heins, Mary Merrill, Donna Woodland, Mary Ellen Carlson, Belva Hutson, Marilyn Wall, Mary Lou Truxal and Mary Crawford. Nurses' aides included Margaret Smith, Mildred Markland, Delores Moller, and Maude Moller, Dorothy Courtright, Olga Fisher, Norma Pflughoeft, Betty Spaulding, Velda Barrus, Teresa Henseheid and Wilma Workman.

Mrs. Norman Larimer served as receptionist; Anita Bennett, Sue Child and Ila Craven were typists, and Camelia Ralls, Wynona Buckley, Velva Moller and Dorothy Burton worked at the "numbers" table.

The Rupert LDS Church, Fourth Ward, operated the tent, with Carol Bagnall, Vona Aldridge, Dea Blasi, Bessie Dixon and Lorene Richards doing the work.

Coffee was served by Maxine Becker, Bounah Laycock, Lena Storey and Rose Lineau of the Home Extension Council.

T.F. woman named to historical board

TWIN FALLS — Appointments by Gov. Cecil Andrus announced today include a Twin Falls woman named to the Idaho State Historical Society board of directors.

Mrs. Harold (Vena) Waggoner, director of the Twin Falls County Historical Society Museum at Curry, will fill a vacancy on the three-member board. A native Idahoan, she has resided in the local area since 1950 and has been active in the local historical society the past seven years.

Mrs. Waggoner is also active, as is her husband, in the Idaho Oldtime Fiddlers Association. She succeeds O.A. (Gus) Kelker, Twin Falls, who was appointed under the Republican administration and resigned six months ago. Serving on the board with the new appointee are Truman Joiner, chairman, and Mrs. Franklin C. Davis, both Boise.

Members of the board serve at the pleasure of the governor for no definite term. Purpose of the society, said John Hough, governor's administrative assistant, is to collect books, maps and photographs of Idaho and other northwest areas and to preserve these as well as other information and historical sites for future Idaho generations.

Shoshone okays street closure

By MELBA THORNE
Times-News Correspondent
SHOSHONE — City councilmen Tuesday night approved a request of Supt. Kenneth Crothers to close the street east of the Lincoln Elementary school building during school hours as a safety measure.

Crothers said the request is made because the school children play on the street, and school officials will place signs which indicate the closure.

Building permits were granted to Glenn Young for an asphalt shingle roof; Mrs. Lila Rosen for remodeling residence, and a bartender's permit was issued to Anna May Watson.

Budget hearing Monday

TWIN FALLS — Although the official day for public hearing on the 1971 county budget is next Monday, county commissioners said they have already held several discussions with individuals and groups.

William Chancey, chairman of the county board, said commissioners would like more interest to be shown in the budget at the present time. He said the county commissioners can hold the Monday public hearing on the budget open for as long as five days under state law and will do so if interest is shown.

He said unless the taxpayers let the county commissioners know how they feel about proposed spending, it must be assumed they approve of all proposals and all items covered in the budget and of the tax levies which will be required to raise the funds.

Harold Lancaster, county clerk, said now is the time for taxpayers to speak out. Once the budget is adopted he must set levies necessary to cover the full amount, he said.

This year's county budget as tentatively proposed is in the amount of $1,985,454, an increase of $488,514 over 1970 and includes $120,000 for airport operations. Of the total amount the hospital budget accounts for $3,255,280 but only $151,000 of the hospital budget will come from tax revenue.

Mrs. Brooks lauds 'Ike' dollar coins

The distinguished speaker praised President Nixon's State of the Union message and his call for a peaceful revolution in which power is turned back to the people.

"The President has asked the Congress to enact a truly innovative program," she said, "to reform our federal government and welfare system, rescue our environment and bring health care to more people and genuine peace and economic prosperity."

Mrs. Brooks also spoke about the President's desire to bring the government closer to the people and said, "I'm trying to do that in my particular area because I think the mint can perform a valuable public service."

Last year she launched the production of a miniature medal series of the presidents created to encourage young people to learn more about the history of the country. "This is a growing fad among the young of our country for collecting coins and medals," she said. Being just a kid at heart herself, she proudly displayed a miniature medal on a gold chain around her neck.

"Beginning with George Washington, the mint has struck a medal of each of our presidents. Collecting these medals can bring to life the history of our country and our people," she said.

Mrs. Brooks was welcomed to the Twentieth Century Club meeting by Mrs. D.A. Jackson, club president, and Mrs. Roy Painter, program chairman and first vice-president. Seated at the head table in addition to Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Painter were Mrs. Dean Kendrick, who gave the invocation, Mrs. Wanda Reed and Mrs. Herman McFarland. Marty Mead was soloist, accompanied by Doris Youtz.

Cassia school re-zoning plans get state approval

BURLEY — The Idaho Board of Education has approved the school trustee re-zoning plans submitted by the Cassia County School District, Supt. Harold Blauer said today.

The plan will now be put before the voters in the school district. Date for the election will be set Monday night when trustees meet at the central school office, Blauer said.

The proposed plan to re-zone must be submitted to the school district electors within 60 days of notification from the state board of education that the board has approved the plan, and not less than 30 days prior to the regular trustee election, which is scheduled for May, Blauer said.

He said if voters approve the re-zoning plan, which requires a simple majority, all trustees will have to be re-elected as the zones they represent will be changed.

If voters defeat the proposed plan the school trustee zones will stay the same as they presently are and the May trustee election will be held to fill the two positions where trustees' terms have expired. These are W.B. Whiteley, Oakley, and Norval Wildman, Burley.

The re-zoning plan was submitted to the state board of education last November. The zone lines follow the county precinct boundaries. Equalization changes were made in the proposed plan in the Burley zones for the law requires that population within zones not vary more than five per cent, Blauer said.

The proposed re-zoning plan places all of Oakley, Parsons, Pella, Unity and View precincts in school zone 1. Zone 2 will include Burley precinct No. 5 and Starr's Ferry.

Zone 3 will include Burley precinct No. 2, 6 and 7, while zone 4 will have Overland Avenue as the west boundary and East Main as the north boundary.

The proposed plan will permit three school trustees from the Burley area.

Zone 5 will include Declo, Malta, Albion, Almo and Elba, and all of the other precincts in the county.

The proposed re-zoning plan will still require a five-member school board. The major change is that three trustees would be elected from the Burley area and the other two board members would represent a larger area than they presently represent.

Moving day

EQUIPMENT for the Gooding County agent's office was moved Tuesday into the new county courthouse. The treasurer's office was moved Tuesday and most of the other offices were transferred over the weekend. The jail and sheriff's office will be the last to be moved from the former state tuberculosis hospital where the offices have been located since the old courthouse offices in the Lincoln Inn were destroyed by fire in February, 1963.

2 T.F. men reappointed to council

TWIN FALLS — Two Twin Falls men have been reappointed to the Boise District Advisory Council of the Small Business Administration, according to an announcement from Rep. Orval Hansen.

They are Willard M. Ross Sr. vice president of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co., and Warren Barry of Volco Building Supply. They will join the third man appointed from the Second Congressional District, J. Grant Beckmore, president of Idaho Bank and Trust, Pocatello.

The three men have been appointed to serve two-year terms on the council and will travel throughout the area, speaking to civic groups and telling businessmen about the SBA and its programs.

RICHFIELD — The Richfield PTA fund raising movie project will be shown as scheduled at 8 p.m. Friday at the high school. A projector was borrowed from the Lincoln County agent, Ivan Hopkins, for the event.

The school projector was stolen when the school was burglarized early last Friday morning. Other equipment taken included both school stereos and a phonograph.

Seaver signs one-year Met contract for $91,000

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tom Seaver has been on both sides of the fence.
Two years ago he was baseball's No. 1 glamour boy, a Cy Young Award winner and hero of the New York Mets' drive to the National League pennant and victory in the World Series.
Last season was another story. After the best start of his career, there was a severe bronkdown. Seaver won only one game after Mid-August as the Mets dropped to third in the pennant race. For the first time in his life he met with mental and physical fatigue on the diamond and he couldn't cope with it.

Tom Seaver couldn't wait for the 1970 season to end. He was frustrated, tired and depressed.
"I needed to take a week vacation down south somewhere and refresh myself," Seaver explained Tuesday after signing a one year contract estimated at $91,000.
"I knew what I needed to do, but you can't just take off in the middle of September. I got into a situation that I was never in before and I wasn't able to handle it."
Seaver's problems started when he overruled Mets' pitching coach Rube Walker and elected to pitch with three days rest instead of his usual four.
"It was Aug. 14 in Atlanta after a conference with Rose and Gil (Hodges) that I chose to pitch on the fourth day," said Seaver.
The results were disastrous. He got hit hard, he became arm weary and, consequently, was unable to win. Seaver finished with an 11-17 record compared to his 20-7 mark the year before.
"It was a case of physical tiredness leading to mental exhaustion," Seaver theorized.
"One thing led to another and it just snowballed. It's like when a fighter goes into the ring and gets popped on the chin and never comes back."
"I'm 26-years-old and maybe I have learned something that I'll be able to benefit by for 10 more years. There's no use trying to push it. If you can learn from your mistakes you are better off."
Seaver finally did get his vacation, five days after the regular season ended. He and his wife Nancy took a month-long camper trip across the United States.
He has spent the remainder of the off-season at his Connecticut home building a wine cellar and keeping in shape playing basketball and working out with dumbbells twice a week. Seaver, who is due to report to training camp Feb. 15, is eight pounds lighter now than he was last season.
"It's a new season," Seaver said, "everybody's record is 0-0."
"I never really have set goals for myself before, but I hope to win at least 20 games in 1971 and help the club win our division. What they're paying, they expect me to win 20 games. I know I'm capable of much better than last year."
Seaver's pitching partner, Jerry Koosman, was signed to a contract by general manager Bob Scheffing on Monday. Scheffing reported that Koosman, who was plagued by arm trouble last season, was down under 200 pounds and had been throwing for a month without any physical difficulty. Koosman's salary was estimated at $55,000.

Ski chief calls meeting to clarify 'facetious' letter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Charles T. Gibson, president of the U.S. Ski Association, said Tuesday he has called by request a meeting of the Association's Board of Directors in Denver, Colo., March 13 to discuss a letter he wrote which has become the center of a controversy within the Association.
Gibson insisted that the letter, in which he discussed "several ways to cheat to fix a race's handicap points lower than normal," was "intended to be facetious."

The letter was written by Gibson, of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., to Graham Anderson of Seattle, Wash., the USSA's Alpine competition chairman, with copies to Jan MacKenlay of Orinda, Calif., chairman of the USSA's points committee, and Marvin Melville of Salt Lake City, Utah, the United States' representative of the Federation Internationale De Ski, the ruling body of world amateur skiing.
Melville replied to Gibson that the letter "violates the basic principles of every sport in the world." He sent copies of it to four members of the USSA Board of Directors. The letter stirred up a storm, which a meeting between Gibson and other USSA officials on Jan. 19 failed to quell. Some of the officials then demanded a meeting of the USSA Board of Directors and said Gibson was refusing to call such a meeting.
"I didn't call a meeting because I did not have the four Division requests for such a meeting which are necessary under our by-laws," Gibson said in a telephone conversation from Aspen, Colo. "Our 36 board members come from all over, including Alaska, and it costs $8,000 to hold a meeting, and you don't call one unless it's necessary. On Monday I received the fourth request, so I now have called a meeting for March 13."
Gibson said the letter was "an attempt to show the laxity of the rules concerning scoring."

"It was supposed to be a facetious letter, but some people obviously didn't read it that way," Gibson said.
Point scoring in Alpine races is based on a handicap system according to the level of competition involved, and is important in determining which racers get into international meets and their seeding.

Douglas says he will play quarterback or not at all

DALLAS (UPI)—Karl Douglas, the black quarterback picked by the Baltimore Colts in the third round of the National Football League draft last week, says he's going to make the grade at that position; or not at all.
"None of that switching around for me," the 6-2, 210-pound Texas A&I star said in a telephone interview from his off-campus home in Kingsville, far down on the Texas coastal flats.

Asked if he thought he could play one other position in case he didn't make the grade as a quarterback, Douglas had a quick answer.
"I'm going to make it at quarterback," he said. "I've been one for 10 years now and putting me at another position would be like putting me in a jungle and telling me to survive for a year. I'm not thinking of any other position."
Douglas expresses the quiet confidence that he will succeed where other black quarterbacks as Eldridge Dickey of Tennessee A&I, Marlin Briscoe of Omaha and James Harris of Grambling have not.
Dickey, a No. 1 draft choice of Oakland, wound up as a wide receiver; Briscoe appeared in 11 games for the Denver Broncos in 1968 and completed 83 of 224 passes, and Harris started one game and appeared in two others for Buffalo in 1969 before being hurt, then lost his job to rookie Dennis Shaw last season.
Douglas, a product of Houston high schools like Dickey, said he has been promised by Colts Coach Don McCafferty that he would be given an equal shot at the job of running the world champions.
"That's all I want—a chance," he said. "I don't think my color will have anything to do with it. I'll either produce, or I won't."
"I'm not cocky—just confident of my ability. If you don't believe in yourself you've got no business being out there."
Douglas was highly pleased, to put it mildly, to be going to the Colts.
"Since I was just a kid, I've idolized Johnny Unitas, and the Colts have been my favorite team. It seems almost surreal that all of the teams in the NFL, the Colts are the ones who drafted me."
Douglas has an impressive record of statistics—401 completions in 759 attempts for 5,028 yards and 54 touchdowns in four years and 43 games.
Douglas in four seasons piloted Texas A&I to a 11-4 record, four straight Lone Star Conference championships and into the NAIA national finals three of those years. They won the national title twice—in 1969 and 1970.
His coach, Gil Steinkamp, says there will be no problem of Douglas' leadership.
"He's the only kid in my long coaching career who has gotten 100 per cent of the vote for captain," Steinkamp said. "That's the kind of leadership he has."
At Texas A&I, where Douglas says fans have become so used to winning teams they "don't come to see you win—just to see by how much," he threw.

Ellis wins top prize in shoot

Ike Ellis of Idaho Falls shattered 99 out of a possible 100 to win the class A singles trophy in the ATA trophy shoot sponsored by the Twin Falls Gun Club.
Joe Harris was second with 98. The class B award went to Max Stuart of Twin Falls who defeated Dobbs of Twin Falls in a shootout after both had hit 92.
In the Class C competition, Owen Diamond, Twin Falls, hit 25 straight in a shoot off to claim the honors over Harry Workman of Rupert. They had 89 in the regulation session. Red Hamby of Kimberly took the D prize at 83 with A. Ledbetter of Kimberly second.
Stan Ayers of Buhl won the handicap in a shootout with George Oswald. Twin Falls, while Randy Sabin, Twin Falls, took the junior trophy with 83 against 76 for runner-up Dave Ledbetter.
Winning the women's singles and handicap award was Gayle Diamond of Twin Falls with 184 out of 200 while Vicky Graves of Sun Valley was second with 178.
In the doubles, Nyle Winn, Buhl, was the class A winner with 47 of 50. The other class winners included, Class B, Harvey Bickett—Gooding, 46; and Class C, Steve Fehrenwald, Jerome, 38.
For the day, Ellis posted a 235 out of 250 for the overall title, followed by Class B, Bernie Voyles, 227; Class B, Ben Ledbetter, 222; Class C, Dale Richardson, 201.
The Gun Club plans a money shoot Feb. 21 with a trophy shoot March 28. A two-day trophy and money shoot will be held April 24 and 25.

Harrelson won't know his salary

MIAMI (UPI)—Stylish outfielder Ken Harrelson says he has signed his 1971 contract with the Cleveland Indians—but he doesn't know how much he is going to be paid.
What's more, he doesn't want to know.
Harrelson said Tuesday that Manager Alvin Dark gave him a blank contract and he put his signature down rather than going through the usual haggling over money.
"The terms and salary have been filled in by now by the Indians, but I don't know how much money I'm getting," Harrelson said. "I don't want to know."
"I'm going to be the first player in the history of baseball to play an entire season without knowing what he's making," Harrelson said.
He said Dark, Indian owner Vernon Stouffer and his financial manager Jim Morris are the only ones that know the figure and he has told them not to tell him.
Harrelson is coming off a disappointing year. He broke his ankle in spring training last year and sat out nearly the whole season.
The mood, long-haired outfielder said when he and Dark were having dinner together last week, he first told his manager, he would not take a cut in salary, but then thought better of his remark.

Blazers stun Milwaukee

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—The Portland Trail Blazers became the first expansion team to beat Milwaukee Tuesday night by downing the Bucks 123-111 despite Lew Alcindor's 38 points.
Portland, which broke a five-game losing streak, refused to fold after blowing a 10-point lead in the third quarter.
Milwaukee trailed 67-48 with 11-12 minutes left in the third period but rallied to tie the score at 85-85 with 10 seconds remaining in the quarter.
Gary Gregor's 18-foot shot with 3:29 remaining to give Portland that lead for keeps at 100-100. The Blazers then outscored the Bucks 9-1 to build a 10-point advantage with 49 seconds left.
Marquette wins
MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Third-ranked Marquette shocked Wisconsin with a dazzling offensive display and a rugged, rebounding defense to whip the Badgers 89-76 Tuesday night.
Coach Al McGuire cleared his first team from the floor when the undefeated Warriors shot ahead 88-57 with 5:38 left in the game. Marquette at one point in the second half had built a 39-point lead.

Buck lauds Olympic progress

MUNICH, Germany (UPI)—Preparations for the 1972 Munich Olympics found another admirer Tuesday when the President of the U. S. National Olympic Committee, Clifford H. Buck, visited the Olympic site where stadiums, sports halls and housing facilities currently are receiving their interior finish.
Buck declared he was "quite surprised" by the progress made since he paid his last visit to Munich and said he was very satisfied to see that "all facilities are very improved" and that they "are not only adequate" for their purpose but also well-styled.
Buck expressed particular interest in the housing facilities Munich organizers are planning to provide for U. S. athletes. He said in his opinion the Americans will be accommodated very well during the games.

Sizemore slated for surgery

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals said Tuesday that second baseman Ted Sizemore will undergo surgery for removal of a small bone fragment from his left wrist.
The surgery will be performed Wednesday by a hand specialist in Los Angeles. Sizemore was traded by the Los Angeles Dodgers with catcher Bob Sinton to the Cardinals in exchange for Richie Allen last October.
The Cardinals explained that Sizemore suffered a slight fracture in the wrist when he fell on his hand during a game last season. Sizemore said the wrist hurt at the time, but x-rays taken by the Dodgers and routine x-rays taken by the Cardinals after the trade did not show any fracture. Sizemore said the wrist again began hurting as he played tennis and golf recently, and this time special detailed x-rays revealed the small fracture.

Warriors edge Hawks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Guard Jeff Mullins scored 11 of his 26 points in the final period, including the go-ahead basket with 18 seconds remaining, to give the San Francisco Warriors a 101-99 NBA victory over the Atlanta Hawks Tuesday night.
The Warriors, winning their fourth straight game, overcame a nine-point deficit in the fourth quarter with Joe Ellis and Mullins leading the comeback.
In the tense final seconds, a Pete Maravich jump shot placed Atlanta ahead 89-88 with 27 seconds to go. But Mullins came right back and drove the middle for the go-ahead basket.
Seconds later, Warriors' guard Nick Jones flicked the ball away from Walt Hazzard and Jerry Lucas gained possession. Mullins was then fouled by Hazzard and made one of two free throws to cap the scoring with five seconds left.
Maravich, the Hawks' heralded rookie, led the scoring with 27 points but couldn't cope with Mullins on defense.
The Warriors also had a powerful one-two punch on the boards with Lucas grabbing 16 rebounds and Nate Thurmond 15.

Iowa topples Illini 92-84

IOWA CITY, Iowa (UPI)—Iowa, behind Fred Brown's career high 36 point performance, handed 11th-ranked Illinois its first Big Ten defeat 92-84, Tuesday night.
The win evened the Hawkeyes' league mark at 2-2 and overall record at 7-7. Illinois is now 3-1 in the Big Ten and 9-4 overall.
Illinois took the lead midway through the first half and stretched the margin to 44-34 before Iowa came back to within two points, 44-42, at halftime.

Lakers coast past Rockets

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)—Jerry West was needed for only the first 31 minutes Tuesday night but he pumped in 28 points as the Los Angeles Lakers breezed to a 133-105 win over the San Diego Rockets, who lost their 18th game in 10 starts.
It also was the fifth defeat in a row for San Diego, who have beaten only Buffalo since Jan. 2.
West made good on 10 of 12 shots from the floor to pace the Lakers to their seventh home victory in a row.
All of the Laker starters were able to retire before the fourth quarter was three minutes old. West was pulled with 5:04 left in the third period.
Happy Hairston scored 21 points and Gail Goodrich tallied 19 for Los Angeles.
San Diego's Elvin Hayes put up 28 shots and led the Rockets with 27 and little rookie Calvin Murphy had 15.

Gun act validity queried

BOISE (UPI)—Constitutionality of the Federal Gun Control Act is being challenged in the case of a young San Francisco woman accused of illegal purchase of three pistols in Idaho.

In written briefs filed on behalf of her client, Karen Myra Talbot, Seattle, contends the act interferes with the right of citizens to free travel between states.

Talbot cited a recent federal decision which struck down residency requirements of various states in cases of welfare recipients as being supportive of her arguments.

She also contended that the law interferes with a constitutional right of citizens to bear arms, that it is vague and not readily understood and that it infringes on the rights of states to determine who shall purchase and bear arms.

Mrs. Danczer is alleged to have purchased three pistols in Coeur d'Alene while attending faculty she was an Idaho resident.

Oral arguments on Talbot's motion to "sticker" the case were scheduled in U.S. District Court at Boise for Feb. 12.

The suit, filed in federal court here, charges the two companies with conspiring to fix prices for sugar in the Twin Falls area.

The plaintiffs are: the Twin Falls Sugar Co., which has a 10 percent share of the market; the Idaho Sugar Co., which has a 10 percent share; and the Utah-Idaho Sugar Co., which has a 10 percent share.

The executions, according to Conkry Radio, were carried out in a "curious atmosphere." Then it added this bit of colorful detail:

"The people spat upon and stoned the bodies."

Plots and reports of plots come thick and fast against Guinea's President Sekou Toure and the executions of which Conkry Radio boasted dealt only with the "most recent" of "persons within his own country and colored his relations with all nations."

He has accused neighboring Senegal and nearby Ivory Coast of plotting against him. After an earlier sharp turn to the left, in 1961 he suddenly demanded the French pull out their technicians and cut off their aid and for Guinea it was the beginning of a long downhill slide.

Toure's unpredictable nature, his fears and suspicions, have led to imprisonment of scores of persons within his own country and colored his relations with all nations.

Jacoby Transfer Could Save Slam

Let's see what would happen if South had used the Jacoby Transfer we recommend in JACOBY MODERN. He would have responded two diamonds to show at least five hearts and a hand of any strength. North would go to two hearts.

South might settle for game, but he would probably temporize with a three-diamond call. This bid of a new suit is a game force and usually suggests a slam. North might look at his 15 points and make a minimum rebid in hearts but he might decide he had just the right fit and bid three spades to show that ace and invite a slam.

After that, South could go to six hearts which is a clutch as long as North is declarer, since a spade lead can't hurt him.

The greatest advantage the Jacoby Transfer bid gives its users is having the no-trump hand as declarer so that the lead comes up to it and not through it.

North had only 15 high-card points for his no-trump opener, but his three 10s and two nines gave him hand so much potential that he was justified in his bid.

South had full values plus a lot of extra for his three-heart response although his jump to the slam had to be an overbid. North might have 17 high-card points and only the queen and jack of spades.

The slam collapsed with the opening-lead. South had to try the spade finesse and after it lost the ace of clubs was a sure setting trick.

South was bitter about his partner's 15-point no-trump, the losing spade finesse and the fact that a spade was led against him.

Insurance tax debated

BOISE (UPI) — Representatives of commercial insurance companies and fraternal benefit societies debated before the House Business Committee Tuesday who would lose if fraternal societies paid premium taxes.

Under a bill introduced earlier by the committee, fraternal benefit societies providing insurance to members and who operate an agency would be subject to a three per cent state premium tax.

Grant Russell, Twin Falls, speaking on behalf of a number of life insurance companies, said it appears some fraternal benefit societies operate on a similar basis as insurance companies.

"Our intent is simply to have an insurance company pay their three per cent tax the same as other insurance companies," Russell said.

He and other spokesmen for commercial companies said the bill is not designed to apply to "true fraternal benefit societies."

But spokesmen for the benefit societies disagreed.

"It's obvious the purpose of this bill is to subject all fraternal benefit societies to the three per cent premium tax," said Lendon Knight, Rock Island, Ill., general counsel for the Royal Neighbors of America.

Francis Carroll, Twin Falls, Idaho, state deputy for the Knights of Columbus, said the "premium tax would hinder our charitable program on a national level."

"This particular bill in the state of Idaho would be extremely detrimental to the fraternal system for the state of Idaho," said Charles Crabtree, a representative of the Woodmen of the World and the Omaha Woodmen. "This bill would destroy whatever chance we have of making fraternalism work."

Russell countered that "we're really losing sight of the fact the problem is...the insurance department is regulating fraternal companies."

He said that while the insurance commission does not have as close supervision over the fraternalists as he does over the commercialists he is regulating them nonetheless and "fraternalists are not paying for that regulation."

Knight countered that contention by maintaining that fraternal pay certain license fees which help underwrite their regulation.

While fraternalists spoke out about the good deeds they perform and the lodge work they do some commercialists contended which has become their overriding consideration.

Harlon Baker, president of Idaho Underwriters Association of Idaho, said the "life insurance phase of their operations in most instances has far surpassed any fraternal or ritualistic aspect involved."

"It is now a case of the tail (life insurance) wagging the dog (fraternalism)," Baker said. "Fraternalism is business," Baker added. "They issued more than $2.7 billion of life insurance in 1970."

"Their exempt status gives them an unfair advantage over commercial companies and their agents and constitutes unfair competition," he said. "They operate on the same basis as commercial life insurance companies."

"Therefore, they should be on an equal basis under Idaho law."

Cyrus Rachio, Appleton, Wis., a representative of eight Societies of Lutherans, said the fraternalists are not the same as commercial companies.

"We can't write third party insurance," Rachio testified.

Sterilization proposal due additional study

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Health Education and Welfare Committee decided today to hold for further study a proposal for voluntary and involuntary sterilization, after hearing a proposal to separate the measure into two bills.

Mr. and Mrs. James Donart, Welter, appeared before the committee to discuss the legislation, which was approved by the House 60-7 Saturday.

Donart said his proposal would provide safeguards to protect the civil rights of the person to be sterilized on an involuntary basis.

"Historically this is a form of punishment," Donart said, "and there are today people who feel for very frivolous reasons we should be able to sterilize."

The proposal approved in the House would allow sterilization of mentally incompetent persons upon petition or written consent of the guardians.

Under the House proposal, two physicians must investigate the case and if the district court or magistrate's division finds "by a legal preponderance of the evidence" that the person's mental condition is irreversible and incurable the sterilization can be authorized.

Voluntary sterilization under the House bill would require the consent of the spouse.

The proposal outlined by the Donarts would have one measure for voluntary sterilization, which would not require the signature of the spouse and would delete the need for a medical explanation.

Involuntary sterilization would require "proof beyond a reasonable doubt" that the action was correct.

Mrs. Donart, a member of the board of directors of the Idaho Mental Health Association, said "It isn't that we want to throw out the whole idea." She said the original proposal was made by the Department of Health, which said there were some persons in residence at the Idaho State School and hospital who could be allowed to live in the community if they were sterilized.

She said such a procedure would allow "more independent life in the community. That's good mental health to have them out of the institution and working in a sheltered workshop and living in a sheltered home."

"But these people could not be able to care for a child."

Rep. John Edwards, R-Council, a physician in private life, said present law is silent in the field of sterilization, adding, "I think it would be beneficial if we had this legislation."

He said the original proposal was drawn up by the attorney general's office and said "I can see no reason why they should complain about the contents of this bill (the Donarts proposal)."

Mrs. Donart agreed to outline her proposals to the Department of Health.

Oil cutoff plan killed

TEHRAN (UPI)—Ten oil-producing nations decided today against cutting off oil to Japan and Western Europe as a means of forcing higher payments but will try unspecified "other measures," Persian Gulf sources said today.

The sources said a majority of the delegates at a meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) overruled demands for a cutoff. There was no indication what the "other measures" would be.

Iranian Finance Minister Jamshid Amouzegar, elected president of OPEC today, told newsmen the group would pass a "very strong resolution" against the companies for refusing to meet demands for price increases.

Month-long talks between representatives of 22 Western oil companies and delegates for the six Persian Gulf states in OPEC collapsed Tuesday and set the stage for the West's most serious fuel crisis since the 1967 Middle East War.

The Gulf states—Iran, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Abu Dhabi and Qatar—had set today as the deadline for reaching agreement.

Lord Strathalmond of British Petroleum, chief negotiator for the 22 oil companies, said Tuesday night "We are terribly disappointed because progress was being made but time was against us."

"It has not been possible to reach agreement on the financial terms or to obtain adequate assurances that a sufficient volume of oil will be available for the needs of the consuming countries," Strathalmond said.

He said the companies' best offer would have meant more than $700 million additional revenue to the Gulf countries in 1971 and this would rise to $1.6 billion in 1975.

OPEC sources said OPEC was seeking an initial increase of 25 cents per barrel plus an additional five cents yearly for the next five years.

Amouzegar said "The Western companies preferred not to reach an agreement, therefore they should bear all the responsibility for further action against them."

Postal increase in works

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The new U.S. Postal Service Tuesday announced higher postal rates effective about May 15, including a new eight-cent stamp for letters and a hefty increase for second class mail to cover the chronic deficit costs of handling newspapers and magazines.

Air mail would rise from 10 to 11 cents, post cards from 5 to 6 cents, third class bulk or so-called "junk" mail from a minimum 3.8 to 5 cents per piece, special delivery from 45 to 50 cents, and registered mail valued up to $100 from 80 to 85 cents.

The increases, sure to arouse protests from the publishing industry, were announced by Assistant Postmaster General James W. Hargrove, who said they would put the postal system on "a sound financial basis for the first time in many years."

Hargrove said, however, that the new rates would not necessarily improve mail service, and he served notice that further increases might be necessary to finance pay increases now under negotiation between the new Postal Service and employe unions.

The price of a first class postage stamp, now six cents, has been raised three times since 1959, when it was three cents. Asked whether he could foresee a calling on the cost of mailing a letter some day, Hargrove replied: "No more than I can foresee a top price for beef."

The rates, approved by Postmaster General Winton M. Pflanz and the Board of Governors of the government-owned Postal Corporation, are subject to change by an independent, five-member Postal Rate Commission, which tookover Congress' rate-making powers under the 1970 Postal Reorganization Act.

Mid-East foes stand by guns

Anti-kidnap pact drawn

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Foreign Ministers Conference of the Organization of American States (OAS) reached agreement late Tuesday on a draft convention aimed at combating kidnaping and terrorism against diplomats.

With 16 of 23 member nations represented, the Foreign Ministers adopted by a vote of 13 to 1 a convention that would require Interamerican cooperation in the apprehension, extradition and trial of persons who commit criminal acts against diplomats.

Chile cast the no vote, and Peru and Bolivia abstained from voting. Six nations—Argentina, Brazil, Guatemala, Ecuador, Haiti and Paraguay—boycotted the session in a continuation of an unprecedented walkout Monday. Barbados' representative did not attend the final session.

Jordanian and Saudi Arabian troops supported by Palestinian guerrillas were guarding the Jordan River cease-fire line. Newsmen who visited the Jordanian side said Israeli troops across the river were digging ditches and setting up barbed wire entanglements.

Thant, in a report to the U.N. Security Council, urged Egypt, Jordan and Israel Tuesday to "withhold fire, to exercise military restraint and to maintain the quiet which has prevailed in the area since August, 1970."

Israeli officials in Jerusalem said Israel is discussing its latest moves with representatives of countries on the U.N. Security Council.

Political sources in Cairo predicted Egypt will refuse an official extension but will continue to observe the truce on an informal basis.

Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir reaffirmed in Jerusalem Tuesday that "if Israel is not fired on, she will not shoot."

Said to deliver the decision of the 150 member central committee of the Arab Socialist Union to the national assembly Thursday for approval.

Israeli newspapers said Egypt has massed 60,000 troops along the Suez Canal front with hundreds of antiaircraft guns, tanks, heavy mortars and artillery pieces.
