The case of the lost CSI building

By RICHARD G. HIGH Times-News Associate Editor. BOISE (Special to the Times-News) — In an Alice-in-Wonderland turn of events, all requests for new junior college buildings — including a $2.1 million vocational building for the College of Southern Idaho — have simply vanished.

Building Fund. Advisory Council. The council in turn referred the requests back to the board of education.

Both agencies admit receiving the requests for buildings.

There was never any reply from the council, according to Dr. Taylor.

Donald Cline, director of the Idaho State Office of Higher Education told the Times-News Wednesday that the members of the board of education "don't know" what happened to the requests for the buildings.

Public Works which administrators the permanent building fund, had this to say: "Junior colleges put their requests into the board of education," he said.

But, he said, "this is an area that needs to be defined."

Where does this leave the two requests for new buildings?

Rails reach first pacts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's railroads said today they had reached tentative agreements with two of four unions on a new contract but reported little progress toward a settlement with the other two.

The chief railroad negotiator, John P. Hiltz Jr., said he reached tentative agreements Wednesday night with negotiators of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union, which represent about 93,000 rail workers.

But not much progress was reported by Hiltz toward agreement with the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks and the United Transportation Union, which represents 300,000 other workers.

There was a brief rail strike Dec. 10—but the workers returned to their jobs under an emergency law passed by Congress to prevent a strike until March 1.

Hiltz said at a news conference of efforts to reach a settlement with BRAC and the UTU: "We hope to reach agreement with them before the March 1 deadline set by Congress, but these two unions are making agreement extremely difficult."

He said tentative agreements with the two smaller unions were for 42-month contracts retroactive to Jan. 1, 1970.

Hiltz said the terms for the first 36 months were identical to those recommended by a special White House panel. That group proposed a 37 per cent wage increase and elimination of certain work rules which the carriers claim permit costly "featherbedding" practices.

Hiltz declined to reveal terms for the final six months of the tentative agreements. He said he could not disclose further details because some of the union officials had not yet given final approval to all the terms.

Connally likes oil allowances

WASHINGTON (UPI)—As might be expected of a Texan, John B. Connally is opposed to further cuts in the oil depletion allowance. Connally, President Nixon's nominee to be Treasury Secretary, is also cool to the idea of publishing figures to show how much the allowance costs the American people.

Connally's position came to light today with the publication of his answers to questions submitted to him by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., as part of his confirmation process.

Proxmire said the American people have to pay about $40 billion worth of taxes a year to make up for the revenue the government loses to the oil depletion allowance and other tax provisions "that could be regarded as tax expenditures or subsidies."

"The Joint Economic Committee and others would like to see these provisions and the amounts of revenue associated with them published annually in a usable form by the Treasury," Proxmire said. "Would you be willing to commit yourself to such a listing and publication?"

Singer, jetliner hijacked

MIAMI (UPI)—A Delta Air Lines jetliner enroute from Chicago to Nashville, Tenn., with 28 persons on board, including singer Bobby Goldsboro, was hijacked today by a man who ordered it flown to Cuba.

The Federal Aviation Administration said the hijacker made his move at 9:35 a.m. as the DC9 was about 100 miles south of Bowling Green, Ky., about a half-hour after it left Chicago's O'Hare field.

Goldsboro and three members of his band were among the 23 passengers aboard Delta's Flight 378. There was a crew of five.

Goldsboro recorded the hit record "Honey" Viking Records identified the band members as pianist Ron Oates, bass player Steve Schafer and drummer Jan Kurtis.

Suffers losses

There was no description of the hijacker or report on how he ordered the plane hijacked. "All we know is that a male passenger requested service to Havana," said a Delta spokesman.

The FAA said the jet was expected to arrive in Havana at about 12:30 p.m. It apparently was flying nonstop to Cuba.

The plane was piloted by Capt. Richard Blizard of Miami.

This was the third hijacking of a U.S. airliner to Cuba this year. A National Airlines jet was hijacked Jan. 3 and a Northwest Orient airliner was taken to Cuba Jan. 22.

Manson's girls support leniency

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The runaway girls who Charles Manson picked up and took into fold are doing their best to save him from the gas chamber.

Two of the young women who were part of the "family" but not actually involved in the Tate-LaBianca murders testified in the penalty phase of the trial Wednesday and four more were waiting their turn.

Lynette Fromme, 21, the very first female to join his harem five years ago, told the jury that Manson once hit her so hard that he knocked her clear across the room but "it was just what I needed."

Another follower, Nancy Pitman, 19, was ordered from the witness stand briefly after she taunted the judge, Charles H.

Older, that he was trying to hide facts in the case and asked when Manson was going to be allowed to tell his story.

Miss Fromme said Manson struck her because "I had kicked a baby, because I wanted some attention."

She also said Manson had struck other girls but never really hurt them. The girls, she said, were fascinated by Manson's every move and watched him constantly.

Miss Fromme said when he would go into a bathroom to comb his hair and beard, they would follow him and watch him make faces at himself in the mirror.

"It is hard to conceive that man being that much of a child yet being that much of a man," she said with a sigh.

Bomb blasts mailbox

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—A bomb placed on or inside a red, white and blue mailbox in front of the Army induction center in downtown Oakland exploded early today, shattering a dozen windows and damaging four buildings.

No injuries were reported. A janitor inside the eight-story building which houses the center said he was "too far back" to be in danger.

An adjacent dinette's window was shattered in the explosion and its sign nearly was demolished. Damage to two other adjoining businesses mainly was confined to broken windows.

The explosion was heard through much of Oakland and the police switchboard was flooded with calls.

The center has been the focal point of frequent antiwar protests and was the scene of the major stop the draft week demonstrations in October, 1967.

On Oct. 17 of that year Oakland police and 6,000 demonstrators battled sporadically for hours. Dozens on both sides were injured.

Britain adds Irish troops

LONDON (UPI)—Britain today announced the transfer of further British troops to Northern Ireland.

Defense Secretary Lord Carrington told Parliament another battalion of troops and an armored car squadron were being dispatched to Belfast this evening after a night of street clashes in which six British soldiers were wounded, a number by machine gun fire and one of them seriously.

In addition to today's reinforcements, Lord Carrington said "there is a continuous process off reviewing tactics and equipment, and improved measures will flow from this."

"Additionally," he continued, "recruitment of the Ulster defense regiment will be directed to the quickest possible buildup of forces of 6,000 men."

Lord Carrington said links between British army troops in Ulster and police will be tightened.

Four of the British troops wounded were victims of a burst of machine gun fire. Follow soldiers returned the machine gunner's fire.

On Oct. 17 of that year Oakland police and 6,000 demonstrators battled sporadically for hours. Dozens on both sides were injured.

Oil-rich nations issue ultimatum

TEHRAN (UPI)—Ministers of 10 oil-producing nations issued an ultimatum to Western corporations today to voluntarily increase their payments for oil or face new price laws.

Delegates of the Organization of Oil Exporting Countries (OPEC) passed a resolution urging their governments to pass parallel laws increasing prices unless the companies act by Feb. 15 to meet their demands.

"We are determined to maintain our solidarity," said Iranian Finance Minister Jamshid Amuzegar, newly-elected president of the OPEC ministerial Council. "The companies must either accept our terms or face legislation. We have left the door open for the companies to come back."

Oil sources said the resolution was formulated in a secret session Wednesday night following collapse of talks over price levels with representatives of the Western countries that distribute the oil.

Youth vote endorsed

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho College Republican League has announced support of a measure giving the vote to 18-year-olds in Idaho. The Twin Falls Republican Central Committee also has endorsed the measure, which has been introduced to the Idaho Legislature, according to Douglas Kramer, committee chairman. Kramer said that "in a regular meeting on Jan. 29 in Twin Falls, the central committee gave support to the Republican proposal to permit 18-year-olds the right to vote. This proposal was first made by President Nixon and is being sponsored by Republicans in the legislature of the state of Idaho. "I am proud of the fact that the Republican Party in this county has assumed this position in order to welcome our youth to participate in every way possible in our political system," Kramer said. The Republican chairman added, "with the right to vote there must also be added the responsibilities of an adult. I would hope that the Legislature would give consideration to changing all of our laws with respect to minors by making 18-year-olds responsible in every way, including for their actions. This, of course, would involve areas of criminal law, contract law and all other areas of human experience."

Gas blast injures 2 at Payette

PAYETTE, Idaho (UPI) — Two persons were injured one seriously, Wednesday afternoon when a gas explosion ripped through a trailer home. Herbert Curry, 76, Soda Springs, was taken to Holy Rosary Hospital in Ontario where he is being treated for shock and serious burns. A hospital spokesman said his age was complicating his condition. The victim's wife was standing outside the trailer when the blast occurred around 3 p.m. Wednesday. She was cut by flying glass and was treated and released from the hospital. Firemen theorize the blast was ignited when Curry lit a match inside the trailer. The explosion sent glass and kitchen utensils flying for up to 100 feet. The storm door on a neighboring house was shattered by the blast. Searms of the trailer, which was owned by Warren Gilbert, were ripped apart. No estimate of damages was made.

Rails reach first pacts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's railroads said today they had reached tentative agreement with two of four unions on a new contract but reported little progress toward a settlement with the other two.

The chief railroad negotiator, John P. Hiltz Jr., said he reached tentative agreement Wednesday night with negotiators for the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union, which represent about 93,000 rail workers.

But not much progress was reported by Hiltz toward agreement with the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks and the United Transportation Union, which represents 300,000 other workers.

There was a brief rail strike Dec. 10 but the workers returned to their jobs under an emergency law passed by Congress to prevent a strike until March 1.

Hiltz said at a news conference of efforts to reach a settlement with BRAC and the UTU: "We hope to reach agreement with them before the March 1 deadline set by Congress, but these two unions are making agreement extremely difficult."

He said tentative agreements with the two smaller unions were for 42-month contracts retroactive to Jan. 1, 1970.

Hiltz said the terms for the first 36 months were identical to those recommended by a special White House panel. That group proposed a 37 per cent wage increase and elimination of certain work rules which the carriers claim permit costly "featherbedding" practices.

Hiltz declined to reveal terms for the final six months of the tentative agreements. He said he could not disclose further details because some of the union officials had not yet given final approval to all the terms.

Manson's girls support leniency

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The runaway girls who Charles Manson picked up and took into fold are doing their best to save him from the gas chamber.

Two of the young women who were part of the "family" but not actually involved in the Tate-LaBianca murders testified in the penalty phase of the trial Wednesday and four more were waiting their turn.

Lynette Fromme, 21, the very first female to join his harem five years ago, told the jury that Manson once hit her so hard that he knocked her clear across the room but "it was just what I needed."

Another follower, Nancy Pitman, 19, was ordered from the witness stand briefly after she taunted the judge, Charles H.

Older, that he was trying to hide facts in the case and asked when Manson was going to be allowed to tell his story.

Miss Fromme said Manson struck her because "I had kicked a baby, because I wanted some attention."

She also said Manson had struck other girls but never really hurt them. The girls, she said, were fascinated by Manson's every move and watched him constantly.

Miss Fromme said when he would go into a bathroom to comb his hair and beard, they would follow him and watch him make faces at himself in the mirror.

"It is hard to conceive that man being that much of a child yet being that much of a man," she said with a sigh.

Connally likes oil allowances

WASHINGTON (UPI)—As might be expected of a Texas, John B. Connally is opposed to further cuts in the oil depletion allowance. Connally, President Nixon's nominee to be Treasury Secretary, is also cool to the idea of publishing figures to show how much the allowance costs the American people.

Connally's position came to light today with the publication of his answers to questions submitted to him by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., as part of his confirmation process.

Proxmire said the American people have to pay about $40 billion worth of taxes a year to make up for the revenue the government loses to the oil depletion allowance and other tax provisions that could be regarded as tax expenditures or subsidies.

"The Joint Economic Committee and others would like to see these provisions and the amounts of revenue associated with them published annually in a usable form by the Treasury," Proxmire said. "Would you be willing to commit yourself to such a listing and publication?"

"Not without additional study," replied Connally. "I would want to make sure myself that the analysis is sound and the figures are meaningful. They may well be, and I have an open mind on the matter, but I want to look at the idea carefully before I commit myself."

As for Proxmire's question whether he would favor cutting the allowance, Connally replied: "The Congress examined these allowances carefully in enacting the 1969 legislation.

Singer, jetliner hijacked

MIAMI (UPI)—A Delta Air Lines jetliner enroute from Chicago to Nashville, Tenn., with 28 persons on board, including singer Bobby Goldsboro, was hijacked today by a man who ordered it flown to Cuba.

The Federal Aviation Administration said the hijacker made his move at 9:35 a.m. as the DC9 was about 100 miles south of Bowling Green, Ky.—about a half-hour after it left Chicago's O'Hare field.

Goldsboro and three members of his band were among the 23 passengers aboard Delta's Flight 379. There was a crew of five.

Goldsboro recorded the hit record "Honey," Viking Records identified the band members as pianist Ron Oates, bass player Steve Schaffer and drummer Jay Kurtis.

There was no description of the hijacker or report on how he ordered the plane hijacked. "All we know is that a male passenger requested service to Havana," said a Delta spokesman.

The FAA said the jet was expected to arrive in Havana at about 12:30 p.m. It apparently was flying nonstop to Cuba.

The plane was piloted by Capt. Richard Blizard of Miami.

This was the third hijacking of a U.S. airliner to Cuba this year. A National Airlines jet was hijacked Jan. 3 and a Northwest Orient airliner was taken to Cuba Jan. 22.

Bomb blasts mailbox

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—A bomb placed on or inside a red, white and blue mailbox in front of the Army induction center in downtown Oakland exploded early today, shattering a dozen windows and damaging four buildings.

No injuries were reported. A janitor inside the eight-story building which houses the center said he was "too far back" to be in danger.

An adjacent dinette's window was shattered in the explosion and its sign nearly was demolished. Damage to two other adjoining businesses mainly was confined to broken windows.

The explosion was heard through much of Oakland and the police switchboard was flooded with calls.

The center has been the focal point of frequent antiwar protests and was the scene of the major stop the draft week demonstrations in October, 1967.

On Oct. 17 of that year Oakland police and 6,000 demonstrators battled sporadically for hours. Dozens on both sides were injured.

Britain adds Irish troops

LONDON (UPI)—Britain today announced the transfer of further British troops to Northern Ireland.

Defense Secretary Lord Carrington told Parliament another battalion of troops and an armored car squadron were being dispatched to Belfast this evening after a night of street clashes in which six British soldiers were wounded, a number by machine gun fire and one of them seriously.

"In addition to today's reinforcements, Lord Carrington said there is a continuous process of reviewing tactics and equipment, and improved measures will flow from this."

"Additionally," he continued, "recruitment of the Ulster defense regiment will be directed to the quickest possible buildup of forces of 6,000 men."

Oil-rich nations issue ultimatum

TEHRAN (UPI)—Ministers of 10 oil-producing nations issued an ultimatum to Western corporations today to voluntarily increase their payments for oil or face new price laws.

Delegates of the Organization of Oil Exporting Countries (OPEC) passed a resolution urging their governments to pass parallel laws increasing prices unless the companies act by Feb. 15 to meet their demands.

"We are determined to maintain our solidarity," said Iranian Finance Minister Jamshid Amuzegar, newly-elected president of the oil ministerial Council. "The companies must either accept our terms or face legislation. We have left the door open for the companies to come back."

Oil sources said the resolution was formulated in a secret session Wednesday night following collapse of talks over price levels with representatives of the Western countries that distribute the oil.

Gas blast injures 2 at Payette

PAYETTE, Idaho (UPI) — Two persons were injured one seriously, Wednesday afternoon when a gas explosion ripped through a trailer home.

Herbert Currey, 70, Soda Springs, was taken to Holy Rosary Hospital in Ontario where he is being treated for shock and serious burns. A hospital spokesman said his age was complicating his condition.

The victim's wife was standing outside the trailer when the blast occurred around 3 p.m. Wednesday. She was cut by flying glass and was treated and released from the hospital.

Firemen theorize the blast was ignited when Curry lit a match inside the trailer. The explosion sent glass and kitchen utensils flying for up to 100 feet. The storm door on a neighboring house was shattered by the blast.

Seams of the trailer, which was owned by Warren Gilbert, were ripped apart. No estimate of damages was made.

Our Garbage

We just might be biting off more than we can chew in the matter of possible atomic pollution. Not so many months ago there was great concern right here in Magic Valley. The concern centered around the methods used in disposing of atomic waste from the complex in the Arco area. It was feared the method might pollute the underground water source which eventually comes out as springs on the north side of the Snake River canyon.

We understand the danger is still very real. The only thing wrong is that the many concerned people are not making much of a disturbance about it. Complaints came swift and sure for awhile. Then time went on and those complaining (not all of them but most of them) just seemed to forget.

The Atomic Energy Commission probably hopes this will be the attitude from now on out. We hope it will not be that way simply because prodding does have its virtue in getting things accomplished.

But the waste from the Arco area isn't the only thing to be concerned about. Right now we are all but drowning in our own garbage. Cities are fast running out of dumping areas. In Magic Valley this might not be true. Here we just find an area further out.

But in large communities this is sometimes impossible. We are only beginning to face up to the problems of cleaning up our own mess.

It might be that we ain't seen nothing yet.

At present, atomic power is not a significant contributor to the nation's total energy supply. It's something like one per cent of the total.

But nuclear-generated power, even though it may never take over completely, just must become an increasingly important energy source. Economics alone will probably dictate increasing use of nuclear power.

Current predictions are that by 1980, nuclear power will account for 20 to 25 per cent of total electricity output. By the end of this century, according to no less an authority than the Atomic Energy Commission chairman, it should rise to 50 per cent.

The atom, however, despite a popular-science image of laboratory spotlessness, is anything but a "clean" source of power. Atomic waste, for the most part, is not the visibly filthy, smelly carbon throwoff of conventional power plants (not water power, of course) but hot "soup", the radioactive liquid runoff of refining processes utilizing immense quantities of water.

The pollution potential is obvious. The preferred means of disposal has been burial, in natural caverns and huge, sealed tanks. This has been the Arco way — and present plans, we are told, call for more of the same.

But according to a recent and disquieting Wall Street Journal report, there would seem to be reason for concern as to whether more of the same is adequate.

Much of the estimated 80 million plus gallons of waste produced so far in the atomic era is buried close to underground water sources such as those which nourish many sections of Magic Valley. Seepage is a deadly possibility.

The problem has been relatively minor to date. During the next two or three decades, when radioactive waste could rise to something like 60 million gallons a year, it could become something else again.

So once again we are faced with the need for action. We must develop techniques to deal with this waste problem before it, too, overwhelms us.

And it is going to take much more "action" than was generated when the Arco danger was first realized. It is not a matter of waiting to see what develops. It is a matter of eliminating the wait-and-getting on the move.

The voice of the people is heard by members of Congress. Now is the time to stop talking and to start yelling.

MR. SPECTATOR

A Buddy System

Sharing a tank of compressed air on the way back to the surface is a standard emergency procedure among scuba divers, with the mouthpiece passed back and forth between the two divers who share the air remaining in a good tank. It's called the "buddy system."

Now the buddy system approach has been adopted to Moonwalks through the use of connecting lines that could feed cooling water from an astronaut's backpack life support system to the space suit worn by his companion.

The connections would give the men enough time to return to their Moon landing craft if the water cooling system in one of the backpacks failed.

This system is being provided for the first time in Apollo 14. The connecting hoses will be used in the second and longest of the two Moonwalks of the present mission. They will be carried, readily accessible in an emergency, on the two-wheeled cart that the astronauts will pull across the lunar surface to transport their tools and rock samples.

So tomorrow, if all goes well, this additional emergency equipment will be available to the two men who step onto the moon. If there has been a change in plans you will of course, know about it. Mr. Spectator has to be written in advance but we thought you would like to know about the new safety measure.

THE ELEMENTS

Ancient man recognized four "elements" — earth, air, fire and water. A century and a half ago, man was concerned with obtaining less than a score of chemical elements to survive and to support his industries.

Today, notes William L. Newman, a scientist with the U.S. Geological Survey, we must locate sources for more than 80 elements, many of which are needed in large quantities. In the past decade alone, 16 elements have been added to the list required to nourish the industrial sinews.

They bear such exotic names as palladium, ruthenium, praseodymium, ytterbium, thulium and erbium. Many of these elements attained commercial use during the past few years because of new developments in color television and lasers.

A total of 104 chemical elements are now recognized. Many are short-lived radioisotopes created in reactors and not found in nature.

Survival Chances Are Better

WASHINGTON—I trust President Nixon expects no kudos from politicians and commentators of the Kennedy-

Gene McCarthy persuasion for his role in reducing Washington's crime rate. Nobody in that bunch would say a good word about Nixon lest he be barred from Georgetown drawingrooms. For the plain citizen, however, the chances have improved of surviving in Hell City for a week without being mugged. For the first time in 14 years crime in the capital last year dropped below the level of the previous year.

Personally, I set off no fireworks because the decrease in 1970 was only 5.2 per cent below that of 1969. But it is a pretty good start, especially since the trend seems to be continuing. Police Chief Jerry Wilson noted that the December crime rate was 23.9 per cent less than that of December, 1969. It is enough to tempt a citizen to walk downtown at night with only two bodyguards; instead of a platoon of paratroopers.

From Nixon's point of view, the statistics must be particularly satisfying. They reveal that the decrease in crime reflects a trend that began in November, 1969, and has remained constant, with the exception of the month of May.

That is to say, crime in Hell City headed down only 10 months after Nixon took office. Considering the anarchy that prevailed in the streets when Nixon took over, this is a tribute to an administration that dared to take a stand in favor of law and order — and more significantly — did something to implement that stand while the chic politicians wrung their hands over the threat to criminals.

Nixon provided the money to increase police manpower from 3,000 in 1967 to 5,100 to date. He quietly pressured the D.C. government to put more foot patrolmen on the streets. And yesterday Hell City got additional crime-fighting tools, when the administration's crime bill took effect. From here in, judges will be permitted to jail without bond certain offenders considered a danger to the community, and police will be authorized to enter premises without knocking at the door if they have reason to believe that evidence, such as narcotics, will be destroyed.

But I suggest that Nixon's biggest contribution was the creation of what might be called an anti-crime atmosphere. With Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, he put the Federal government on the side of the victim. He said the way to halt crime was to catch the criminals and stash them in hoosegows. He eschewed the theory that the common hoodlum would go straight if somebody gave him a Mercedes-Benz sports coupe.

Nevertheless, I offer 10 to 1 that Nixon will get no credit from the liberal crowd. And the reason is that it is awfully unfashionable, don't you know, to say something nice about this particular President. He is not with it, is the bleat. He does not swing, he ticks style.

This curious attitude is not unprecedented. Indeed, Lyndon Johnson suffered the same treatment when he had the audacity to obey the Constitution and succeed John Kennedy in the White House. From the very beginning of Johnson's term, he was snubbed by the elegant ones and anyone who dared to praise him was marked declasse, meaning lousy.

I recall the decisive howls when a Johnson aide, Jack Valenti, ventured to remark that he slept better at night because his boss was in the White House. Valenti was perfectly sincere; his personal and political devotion to Lyndon Johnson was beyond question, and he served a difficult President with a selflessness unique in the jungle of White House politics.

Yet it was as if Jack Valenti had endorsed eating with one's knife. In the exquisite precincts, he was treated as a hilarious joke by people who had smothered Jack Kennedy with such moist tributes Kennedy himself was nauseated. Now established as czar of the movie industry, Jack will understand if even Ron Ziegler or Herb Klein thinks twice before putting in a good word for his skipper.

GOV. REAGAN HAS POINTED OUT ANOTHER DEFECT: THERE'S NO RUDDER!

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Cobalt

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Any information pertaining to cobalt 60 and its effects would be appreciated. What can one expect with its treatment?—N.N.

Cobalt 60—metallic cobalt which has been made radioactive—is considerably misunderstood by people, probably because, for whatever reason, there hasn't been much effort to explain what it is.

Like many other isotopes (radioactive elements), cobalt 60 gives off gamma rays. Gamma rays are the same type of rays given off by an X-ray tube. The difference is that such isotopes give off the rays automatically and continuously, while an X-ray tube gives them off only when the electricity is turned on.

Therefore, X-rays are controlled by turning a switch. Cobalt (or cesium or other such isotope) rays are controlled by enclosing them in a strong, lead-containing box, and the rays are emitted and aimed by opening a sort of "window" in the box.

But the rays are the same. X-ray pictures can be taken with cobalt rays—except that it is cheaper and more convenient to take X-ray plates with relatively low-power X-ray tubes. They produce better detail.

Cobalt and the more powerful X-ray tubes are used for intense X-ray treatments, and the effects are the same.

Whereas either very brief or low power gamma ray (X-ray) exposures have no detectable effects on a person, long exposures do.

By "brief," I mean the fraction of a second needed to take an X-ray picture, or the few seconds needed to treat certain skin conditions or other conditions on the surface of the body.

Deep, intense exposures are a different matter, the most common use being exposure for a matter of minutes, and several times, the destroy a cancer somewhere inside the body.

Such relatively long exposures actually destroy cells—and they destroy cancerous or abnormal cells more rapidly than they do normal tissues. Therefore the aim is to give enough exposure to destroy a cancer while doing comparatively less damage—but still some—to the normal cells through which the rays have to travel.

Thus, for example, a cancer close to the surface may at times be treated with the rays, and the patient experiences no side effects at all.

Yet with another cancer, the exposure may have to be longer and stronger to penetrate deeply enough and be sufficient strength, and then normal cells are damaged to some extent.

Surface X-ray changes can occur and, since rays penetrate, a comparable "burn" or destruction of tissue can occur inside, and this destroyed tissue has to be gradually eliminated by the body.

In certain cases, especially involving cancer, these heavy exposures are absolutely necessary, and the malaise is a price that has to be paid for it. Whether they are X-rays or cobalt rays, they are the same, and act in the same way.

ART BUCHWALD

The Children

WASHINGTON—Science is now fiddling with animal sperm banks. It is already possible through deep-freeze methods to save the reproductive ingredients of a great bull for several years, and then, by artificial insemination, to produce a calf whose father may have long gone on to that great cow pasture in the sky. Lucy Knavler in the New York Times has suggested that if there are now banks for animals, we should start thinking in terms of human beings. She suggests that the reproductive cells of great men could be frozen and banked for future generations.

Miss Knavler foresees a time, in the not too distant future, when a man and wife would be able to go down to their local test tube bank and select the child of their dreams. So do we.

It is the year 2001 and a couple walks into the First National Test Tube Bank of New York. They are ushered into an icebox where the vice president, bundled up in a sheepskin coat, asks them to state their business.

The wife says, "I would like either another Arthur Rubinstein or a Jascha Heifetz."

"But," says the husband, "he should be able to throw a football like Joe Namath."

The vice president says, "We're all out of Arthur Rubinstens, Jascha Heifitzes and Joe Namaths. The last of them went in 1998 %." Could I interest you in a Norman Mailer or an Erich Segal?"

The husband says, "If you don't have a Joe Namath, what about a good linebacker?"

The wife says, "I want my son to be a professional man. Maybe a doctor. You don't have a Jonas Salk sample around, do you?"

"No, I'm sorry," the vice president replies. "The last genes of Jonas Salk went in 1987."

"I tell you what," says the husband, "if you have a good golfer, like Arnold Palmer, we'll take it."

"Not so fast," the wife says. "Golfers are a dime a dozen. I would like perhaps a little artistic genius. Maybe a Pablo Picasso or a Chagall."

"Wait a minute," the husband says. "The Martons got a Picasso 20 years ago, but instead of him painting pictures, he became a Communist and got married three times."

"Well," says the vice president, "there is no guarantee that your offspring will not inherit all the characteristics of the person you choose."

"Don't I know it," the wife says. "The Kaisers had a Dr. Edward Teller offspring and he married a daughter who came from a Gen. Patton strain, and now all they want to do is make war instead of love."

The vice president studies a list. "Would you consider a politician for a son? We're having a sale on John Lindsay."

"Not on your life," the husband says. "Anyone who wants his son to be mayor of New York has to be crazy."

"I wouldn't be adverse to an Onassis-type child," the wife says. "At least we wouldn't have to worry about security in our old age."

The vice president says, "We've been sold out of Onassis for 20 years. Why do you think there's such a glut in oil tankers these days?"

The husband says, "Maybe we should try for a basketball player."

The wife says angrily, "I'm not going to produce a 7-foot giant just so you can go to Madison Square Garden three nights a week."

The vice president says, "You people are going to have to make up your minds."

"The wife says, 'All right, give us a Ralph Nader. He may not get rich, but at least he'll always tell us the truth.'"

Cambodian Vow

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Many Americans were concerned when Russians marched into Czechoslovakia and the United States did nothing. Maybe there was nothing that could be done. But we felt uneasy when a Lithuanian sailor jumped from a Soviet ship to what he thought was freedom, and U.S. Coast Guard officers allowed the Russians to come aboard, beat the man until he could no longer resist and take him away.

Today, some Americans are concerned when green, poorly-armed Cambodians defend themselves against seasoned North Vietnamese, and strong voices are raised in the Congress that U.S. airpower should not be used to slow down the Communist forces in order to give these Cambodians the chance they have earned to fight for their freedom.

It is easy to understand the worry on Capitol Hill. This country slipped deeply into the Vietnam war somewhat haphazardly and without adequate discussion. Congressional worry has intensified because on Cambodia, as on Vietnam, there has not been that frank give-and-take on the issues and on intent that would make for confidence and understanding. There has indeed been an attempt to ignore discussion in the hope that the issue would go away.

But that is not the question at hand.

Consider the Cambodian. Knowing the odds against him, he has volunteered for military service in overwhelming numbers. He has been willing to go forward in battle so poorly armed and against an enemy so well-secured that to advance was suicidal. He has frequently been weak in tactics because his officers are also poorly trained and inexperienced. But no one has questioned his will.

For the Cambodian fights with a deep intensity (often belied by his outward manner) that no man who has not known him as an accepted friend will understand.

BERRY'S WORLD

It's a great ad, but I have a hunch we may be a little too late for that kind of approach!

Action postponed on phase-out money shunt

BOISE (UPI) — After a 90-minute hearing in which they were urged Wednesday to hold up diversion of inventory tax phase-out monies, members of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee voted to delay action on the proposal.

First, the committee beat down a motion to report the bill to the floor with a "do not pass" recommendation. Only Rep. James Elgin, R-Caldwell, who made the motion, and his second voted for it.

Then, on a party-line vote, the Republicans defeated a motion by Rep. Robert Haakenon, D-Coeur d'Alene, to put it before the House without recommendation.

Finally, the committee agreed to hold the bill for further consideration at the discretion of Chairman Allan F. Larsen, R-Blackfoot.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, to pick up $2.3 million to help balance his projected $128.1 million General Fund budget, proposed diverting one-fourth of the phase-out monies to the General Fund.

Representatives of local taxing units cried out against the proposal, now embodied in House Bill 42, while a spokesman for school teachers urged earmarking the phase-out monies for education.

Committee members suggested it be held up until they can see what a special subcommittee on educational funding comes up with in the way of recommendations.

Rep. John Edwards, R-Council, indicated the committee is considering a proposal to divert 52 per cent of the phase-out monies to the Public School Income Fund. Approximately that amount already goes to the schools as their share of the phase-out monies, but it is apportioned at the local level.

Haakenon said he felt the subcommittee was making progress but he said other members of the House — those not on the tax committee — want to see something they can vote upon. For that reason, he urged the bill be reported to the floor for action.

Larsen said he was willing to accept any part of the governor's budget that is reasonable" but he said he had heard considerable criticism of his proposal.

"This is a 'rob Peter to pay Paul' approach," Lewis Lepper, Boise, a spokesman for the Idaho Farm Bureau Federation told a public hearing of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee.

"Unless there is a tax increase at the state level, the burden will fall on the shoulders of local government and property owners," Lepper said.

He urged again the committee consider the Farm Bureau plan to add income taxes to the local tax base. If this is adopted, he said, "I think our members would even take back the tax on livestock."

"If this bill is passed," said Earl E. Reed, Nampa, a spokesman for a local highway district, "we have no source of regaining that tax."

Max Yost, Boise, executive manager of the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho, said the plan to divert the money falls to consider the growth of business inventories. In this sense, he said, local government will receive a reduced flow of revenue.

Senate OK's open meets

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate passed, 32-1, Wednesday a change in the joint rules which would allow all members of the legislature and accredited members of the press to attend all joint meetings.

However, the change would still allow exclusion of any persons who are not members of the legislature by a vote of the majority of the committee.

Sen. Art Manley, D-Coeur d'Alene, objected to the removal of non-legislators, adding, "we are conducting the public's business."

Sen. Vary Brasse, R-Boise, said he felt the only time non-legislators should be excluded was "when there is a person involved and it would be detrimental to the person."

Sen. Wayne Kidwell, R-Boise, noted the legislation would allow "any member of the citizenry, the press or the legislature" to attend the joint meetings.

But T. Gov. Jack Murphy, Senate president, said he questioned whether the committees could sit in closed executive sessions at all.

He said under the Idaho Code each house of the legislature has the right to set its own rules of procedure and also to sit as a committee of a whole.

But, he said, the Idaho Code required that all committees be held in open sessions.

He asked the Senate Judiciary and Rules Committee to come up with a ruling on the matter, adding, "The chair would like to advise you that you have your work cut out for you."

Gem pay boosts urged

BOISE (UPI) — George Murphy, state Personnel Department director, told the legislature Wednesday it would take $2.1 million from the General Fund and $2.5 million from dedicated funds to raise salaries for state employees to comparable levels paid by private industry and other states.

Murphy said the Personnel Commission is required by law to pay prevailing wages to state employees and said recent audit of the department was "quite critical" of its failure to do so.

But, he said, he promised the legislature he would not increase any salaries until he had supporting studies showing the need, and said he had the figures to justify increases of from five to 15 per cent for many classes of state employees.

Murphy said the salary increase was mentioned by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and supported by him in his State of the State message, but was not included in the governor's executive budget.

"If you pay too few dollars, the good people are the ones who will leave you because they can get another job," Murphy said. "The marginal ones will stay."

Murphy said with the budget fund facing the legislature it may have to cut back on state services, but added, "I don't think you can run state government with inadequate or marginal employees."

Andrus doubts slashes

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said Wednesday he "seriously doubted" if the legislature could find enough support to cut $5-million from appropriations to education.

Andrus, who spoke at the weekly Ada County Democratic luncheon, said he also felt Republicans "should not be accused of that until they do it."

Andrus was asked whether he would oppose cutting his budget as contemplated by Republican leadership.

Andrus was also asked about a republican program, promised by the majority party after Andrus delivered his executive budget message.

"I don't know if it exists," Andrus said. "If it does, I'd really like to sit down and discuss it with them."

Andrus said his $128.1 million General Fund Budget had "no fat." He said he had "cut through the fat, went down through the flesh to the bone, and in one case throw the carcass away."

Shoshone man eyes 'solution'

BOISE (UPI) — A witness from Shoshone suggested a check to a legislative committee Wednesday that the legislature solve Idaho's tax and economic problems through inflationary spending.

A. Floyd Silva, Shoshone, secretary of the Idaho Tax Equality Association, but speaking on his own behalf, made the statement to the House Revenue and Taxation Committee.

Purpose of the public hearing was to gather testimony on House Bill 42, a measure to divert one-fourth of the inventory tax phase-out monies to the General Fund.

Silva told the committee, with an almost straight face, that he used to think a continued spiral of inflation in a country was not a healthy condition and eventually would lead the people to disaster.

"However, after spending a little time in this capital city of Idaho, I found that there were corporations existing in our state that were caused mainly by my previous way of reasoning," Silva said.

Therefore, he said, he was proposing this five-point program for the committee's consideration:

"That several million dollars be appropriated to the Department of Agriculture so that Oscar Arstein could go out into the market places and by inflationary bidding raise the prices paid for agricultural commodities at least up to a production cost level."

"Appropriate ample money to education so that the kindergarten program can be instituted — thereby requiring the employment of many new teachers and the construction of many more classrooms, thereby creating jobs for those no longer employed in the lumber and mining industries;

"Create a State Tax Welfare Commission and fund it with whatever monies necessary to distribute each year to property taxpayers of the state an amount equal to their annual increase in taxes;

"Initiate legislation to increase the salaries of legislators at least up to a point that will give them the courage to adopt the recommendations I have proposed;

"Now, in order to adequately fund the increases I have proposed and to give every agency in the state at least as much money as they originally requested or even more, I would suggest that the sales-tax be increased by at least three per cent or whatever percentage that will assure a balanced budget for the fiscal year."

Big settlement

JANET WILSON received a cashier's check for $11 million when her divorce from millionaire Ralph C. Wilson, Jr., shown at right, owner of the Buffalo Bills football team, became final. She also got two season tickets to Detroit Lions football games and another $1.5 million to be paid over 9 years. (UPI)

Welfare moms cite plight

BOISE (UPI) — A group of welfare mothers who appeared before the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee Wednesday said a further cut in their checks from the department of public assistance would be a "disaster."

Four Ada County women appeared before the committee with Mrs. Maurine Darling, legislative chairman for the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Darling told the legislature that an "across the board cut" in another budget might mean not being able to hire another person, but said to the welfare mothers it might mean a choice between food, medicine, clothing or shelter.

Incidents cited by the four women included:

- Inability to get bank loans.
- Mrs. Darling told the committee "if you are a welfare recipient, you have no status as a credit risk."
- One of the women taking part in a work incentive program by attending Boise State College received a scholarship to pay part of her graduation costs. The amount was deducted from her welfare check;
- And, another woman said she carried no life insurance because she would have to deduct it from her checks when the policy received a certain cash value.

Those appearing — Diane Pike, Pam Egurrola, Donn March and Marla Strolberg — said the housing situation in Boise was "impossible," and said they were unable to find homes for their children with their $89.42 per month housing budgets.

Mrs. Pike said she had not seen her caseworker since February, 1969, and said she had to quit school to support her children.

Mrs. Darling handed the committee a letter which said the department of public assistance request for $45.2 million would fund family allotments at 100 per cent of the 1969 needs, the continuation budget would fund approximately 88 per cent of the 1969 needs and the governor's budget recommendation would take another $2.5 million from the continuation budget.

WRAP IT

NEW YORK (UPI) — Scarves take to all sorts of treatment as fashion accessories for spring.

One way to wrap it up with a scarf: Use a single oblong turning it into a sash. Another: Fold a large square scarf into a triangle and tie it on the side, like a sideslung apron.

Andrus signs insurance bill

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus signed into law Wednesday a bill providing additional unemployment insurance benefits to some 2,000 Idahoans who have exhausted their current entitlement to jobless pay.

Andrus praised the cooperative action of the legislature in responding to his request for immediate action on this legislative proposal.

The measure was introduced in the House last Friday and passed 55-0 under suspension of rules on Saturday. Then it was sent to the Senate where it was passed this week.

The governor said he was pleased especially that the bill will bring some measure of relief to workers who are unemployed and who have no further benefits available to them.

The bill also will provide a substantial monetary stimulus to local communities throughout the state where these additional funds will be spent.

This new provision in the Idaho Employment Security Law complies with federal requirements which become effective Jan. 1, 1972. A significant feature of the federal legislation is the cost sharing of extended benefits.

Prospects poor for bill on unifying highway programs

BOISE — A key Twin Falls legislator said Tuesday chances for passage are poor on a bill which would provide for possible unification of rural and municipal highway programs.
 Chairman Ray Lincoln of the House Local Government committee, told the Times-News that the bill would have "no effect" in Twin Falls County even if it should be approved by the legislature, because such a proposal would not receive approval of county voters.
 The bill provides that 10 per cent of the registered voters of a county can call for a special election to decide if the county wide district should be formed. In counties with populations of 75,000 or more, the election would be mandatory.
 If the voters approved the merger a single county wide district would be formed to include all rural and city construction and maintenance supported by a single county wide tax levy.
 Lincoln said definite advantages would result from mergers in certain instances. For example, he said, Twin Falls Highway District crews must cross the Buhl Highway District to work in distant sections of the Twin Falls district.

Shoshone updates laws

SHOSHONE — Three ordinances were approved by Shoshone city councilmen Tuesday night, bringing city laws into alignment with state laws.
 The ordinances cover such items as allotment of the city's share of revenue from the new magistrate court, motor vehicle laws and prescribing penalties for violations of city ordinances. These ordinances, which will be effective immediately upon publication, are more stringent than present city laws, Mrs. Claude Chess, city clerk said, especially in the case of violations of city ordinances.
 The new ordinance says fines for any ordinance violation may not exceed $300 and/or imprisonment of not more than 30 days. Either or both may be imposed and persons convicted must pay court costs. The ordinance further provides that failure to cease the violation (such as leaving of abandoned cars) is a misdemeanor and shall constitute a continuing violation and is a separate offense for each day the violation continues.

Hazard of roads scored

KETCHUM — Capt. Dean Bennett of the Idaho State Police said today more stringent enforcement of anti-hitchhiking laws may be put into effect in the Ketchum-Sun Valley area because of hazardous road conditions there.
 Several rear-end collisions have occurred, Capt. Bennett said, when motorists have stopped to pick up hitchhikers and their vehicles have been struck by other cars.
 He said because of snow depth in the area, visibility is not as good as usual.
 He urges public cooperation in curbing the problem.

Crowding principal problem

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's worst urban problem is not crime, or traffic, or money.

It's people. Too many people living too close together. The 1970 census showed that about two-thirds of the U.S. population now is huddled together in urban areas comprising less than 2 per cent of the nation's land area.

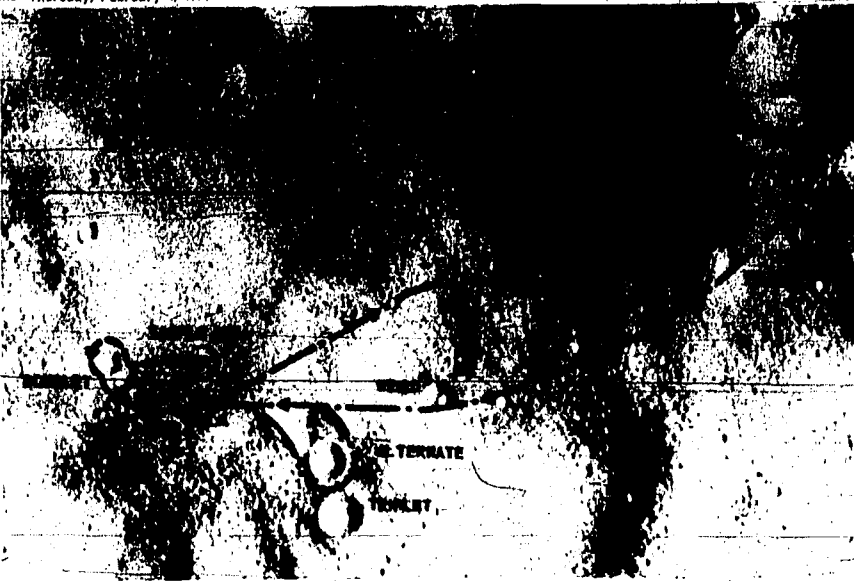

Overcrowding either causes or complicates virtually all of the other difficulties involved in the present urban crisis — traffic congestion, housing shortages, racial tensions, crime, air pollution, inadequate municipal services.

It also contributes to the rapid deterioration of manners — the disappearance of ordinary decency — from human relationships in big cities. Psychological tests have demonstrated that rats, when placed in an overcrowded cage, become tense, irritable, insecure and finally vicious. Excessive proximity seems to have the same psychological effect on human beings.

While two out of three Americans are struggling with the increasingly inhospitable environment of urban life, 88 per cent of the nation's land area, including many of the most beautiful sections, remains underpopulated. In this vast expanse of town and country America, life is less stressful, the pace is more leisurely, the air is cleaner, the cost of living is lower, and it's still possible not only to know your neighbor, but to love him. Clearly the time has come for a reversal of the flow of population into urban centers. And there are encouraging signs that such a reversal may be in the making.

Between 1950 and 1960, so many people moved into cities that their population grew about 50 per cent faster than the nation as a whole. But during the decade 1960 to 1970, the growth rate of metropolitan areas was only slightly greater than that of the total population. This indicates a significant slowdown in urbanization.

All that's needed to start population flowing in the opposite direction, many experts believe, is for the federal government to offer some inducement for people to quit the overcrowded cities and start life anew in the great open spaces.

Indochina war frustration symbolized by Laotian trail

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Ever since collapse of Laotian neutrality, the Ho Chi Minh Trail has stood as a frustrating symbol in a frustrating war.

The Communists began violating Laotian neutrality even before the Geneva agreement of 1962 was signed but because the agreement remained a part of official U.S. policy, the American military response there has been shrouded in secrecy.

It damaged relations between the Lyndon B. Johnson administration and the Congress and the American people and it threatens similar damage to the Nixon administration.

The Ho Chi Minh Trail, for the most part a tangle of jungle trails, has played a determining role in the conduct of the war. Most wars of the past have been of the "clear and hold" variety. Because the Ho Chi Minh Trail provided a Communist sanctuary, this war has been one of "search and destroy," with the kill rate far more important than geography.

A sufficient kill rate, it was believed, could wipe out the Viet Cong and their North Vietnamese allies more quickly than they and their supplies could come down the trail.

The theory proved inaccurate. Communist men and supplies heading southward down the Annamite Mountains usually entered Laos via the Mu Gia pass just above the 17th Parallel—dividing North and South Vietnam and entered South Vietnam just below the parallel, near the old former imperial capital of Hue and Da Nang.

It was at the narrow neck separating the two Viet Nams at the 17th Parallel that the United States tried another concept to block off the trail. It was based on an electronic warning system backed by heavy artillery and other weapons and became known as the McNamara Line after then Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara. It never was completed.

This was the Do Xa of triple-tiered jungle where once the Viet Cong headquarters were believed located.

U.S. manpower never has been used against the trail, except from the air and in a very limited way on the ground. U.S. Special Forces are said to have led occasional forays against the trail at the head of tough Nung mercenaries. Their actions would be more for intelligence purposes than anything else.

January and February have become the traditional months for the greatest activity along the trail. It is the middle of the dry season and it is the time when the Communists move into the rich valleys to "take over the rice crop."

It is familiar ground to the North Vietnamese and to Vo Nguyen Giap, North Vietnam's military genius. Before Giap launched his final assault against the French at Dien Bien Phu more than 20 years ago, he launched a number of attacks up and down Laos. Place names involved were the same as now—Paksane, Thinkok, Savannakhet and the Bolovens Plateau. They may be more important now to the Communists than before, since now they lie in the area which is believed to have become the Communists' chief storehouse since the loss of the Cambodian sanctuaries.

Twice in the last two years, President Nixon has appealed to Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin for help in establishing Laotian neutrality. Twice he has been rebuffed. Whatever is done now will be in the name of protecting American troops in their gradual withdrawal from Vietnam. The fear is that instead, they may only be sucked in deeper.

Mini reminder

NEW YORK (UPI) — And don't forget to pick up your blue suit at the cleaners. There's hardly a husband who hasn't been left such a reminder note from his wife. Now it will be even easier, according to Dictaphone Corporation, and she won't need a pencil and paper. The company has developed a new 10-ounce pocket-size mini-cassette dictating machine to make the reminder note a snap. The wife records the "note" on her machine, slips the tiny cassette into her husband's coat pocket, and he can play it on his machine on the way to work.

Hansen proposes ocean dump laws

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Rep. Orval Hansen, Idaho's Second District congressman, has introduced two measures in the House of Representatives providing for the orderly regulation of waste dumping in the coastal waters of the United States.

Hansen said the need for such legislation has increased recently with reports of the contamination of fish and other marine life by mercury, DDT, and other substances.

"No standards to regulate the dumping of waste products in coastal waters have ever been established, nor has the person wishing to dump ever been required to demonstrate that the material would be harmless," Hansen said.

The first bill places the burden of proof on the person who wishes to dump to demonstrate that the materials will not endanger the natural environment and ecology of the area in which he plans to dump. The legislation also establishes standards for depositing industrial wastes, sludge and other materials into coastal waters which might be harmful to wildlife or wildlife resources.

The second measure concentrates on determining which areas of our marine environment are most valuable and setting them aside as sanctuaries, similar to the wilderness system. It also prohibits the dumping of radioactive wastes, toxic industrial materials and chemical or biological warfare wastes.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I need advice from anyone who can give it to me. My son is 17. When he was 16, a married woman with two children started chasing after him. She still does.

He was always home nights until that terrible woman came into the picture. Now he lies to us and says he is staying overnight with a buddy, but it turns out that he is with this woman.

She is over 21 and is on probation, so you know what kind of person she is. My son will listen to no one since he became so infatuated with this woman. The law protects her, believe it or not. The police and even a New York judge have told us there is nothing we can do about it. Does this make any sense to you?

If he were your son, what would you do?

HEARTSICK MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: The police should know the law. And so should a judge, but since your son is a minor and this woman is on probation, it doesn't make sense to me that there isn't anything you can do. If he were my son, I would hire a good attorney and pay him for what he knows.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's brother and his wife just moved into their new home. It is a very beautiful home and they are very proud of it. The other night we called on them for the first time and brought along a housewarming gift. We sat down, had a drink and talked, but they never offered to show us thru their home. Neither did we ask them to show it to us.

The next day we heard that the wife was very upset because we didn't ask them to show us the house. Please settle this, Abby. Who is supposed to do what? Should we have asked them to show us their house? Or should they have offered to take us thru their new home? FLORIDANS

DEAR FLORIDANS: Since the purpose of your call was to "warm" their new home, it would seem only reasonable that they would offer to show you thru. But since they didn't, you would not have been under order to have said, "—And now, will you give us a 50-cent tour?"

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl with a very touchy problem. My best friend has a weak muscle in her eye which makes her cross-eyed. I hear that this can be corrected by an operation, but I just can't bring myself to mention it to her. Even tho I am her best friend I am afraid it would hurt her feelings.

When she is not with me, so many people ask me why she doesn't get her eye fixed for otherwise she would be so pretty. I usually say, "I don't know why," and walk away. What else can I do?

Guys notice it right away, and I am sure that's the reason she has very few dates. She is a lovely girl with a nice personality. Is there some way I can help her without hurting her feelings? A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Yes. Only a good friend would care enough to tell her that her eye can be corrected. Perhaps she doesn't know. Or perhaps she isn't aware of how disfiguring and conspicuous it is. If you tell her in the spirit of friendly loving kindness she should be grateful, not hurt.

CONFIDENTIAL TO PROUD DAD: You have a right to be proud. True, you can't "force" a generous check on your daughter as a reward for having given up smoking, but you can send one to the American Cancer Society in your community.

No unveiling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — First Lady Pat Nixon said she would have been delighted to have had a large reception for the unveiling of the White House portraits of former President John F. Kennedy and his widow, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis.

But Mrs. Nixon said she would abide by the wishes of the former first lady who personally requested there be no ceremonial fanfare when the portraits by New York artist Aaron Siskler go on display this week.

The portraits were brought to the White House Wednesday from the vault of the National Gallery of Art and will be unveiled to the press at 12:30 p.m. EST Thursday in the East Room.

Starting Friday, they may be viewed by the public.

The White House Historical Association accepted the paintings last week for hanging in the White House. The interest in the impressionistic "Jackie" portrait has overshadowed interest in the long-awaited picture of Kennedy.

Vocational schools opposed

BOISE (Special to the Times-News) — Two Magic Valley educators testified Wednesday in opposition to creation of a statewide system of half-day vocational high schools before the House Education Committee.

Dr. James L. Taylor, president of the College of Southern Idaho and Camden Meyer, Mindoka County School superintendent, appeared on behalf of the State Advisory Council for Vocational Education.

Dr. Taylor argued that the state could "ill afford" to establish a new educational system when it had difficulty providing enough money for its current educational program.

He said the best agency for developing vocational training is the comprehensive community college. He suggested that courses be developed under the umbrella of the community colleges to extend into the later years of high schools.

For areas not served by the local colleges, he urged "strong leadership" to develop cooperative programs between school districts to provide the vocational training.

He said the history of separate vocational high schools had shown that they had been instituted and dropped in states such as Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas.

He said they had been successful only in highly urbanized areas.

In the event smaller school districts fail to provide for vocational programs through cooperative programs, Dr. Taylor said, "Then maybe we'd better look at re-organizing the districts."

He charged the state's educational priorities were distorted, providing the lion's share of funds for higher education to academic programs while "87 per cent of the people need vocational or occupational education."

He said high costs of vocational programs had prevented many school districts from providing adequate vocational programs.

He suggested increased emphasis on multi-district communication and a spirit of communication between counties a Magic Valley airport could become a reality sometime in the future.

At the same time Commissioner Leonard urged that every resident of Magic Valley "strongly urge their legislators and members of Idaho's congressional delegation" to request help from the Federal Aviation Administration.

The suggestion was made by Merl E. Leonard, Piler, newest Twin Falls County commissioner. He said Commissioner Chairman Bill Chancey and Commissioner Heber Loughmiller concurred with him.

"I do not object to the idea of a regional airport concept, because I believe with proper communication and a spirit of communication between counties a Magic Valley airport could become a reality sometime in the future."

He said the biggest stumbling block to creation of vocational programs in secondary schools is "the philosophy of the people where they can't see the importance of vocational education. But the philosophy is changing."

Airport finance meet suggested

TWIN FALLS — Public hearings or other sessions to acquaint residents of Magic Valley and the commissioners of each county with the tax structure and Idaho law relating to establishment of a regional airport were suggested here today.

The suggestion was made by Merl E. Leonard, Piler, newest Twin Falls County commissioner. He said Commissioner Chairman Bill Chancey and Commissioner Heber Loughmiller concurred with him.

Buhl ball park levy examined

By PAULINE DAY, Times-News Correspondent
BUHL — The Buhl city council has taken under advisement a request to levy three mills for purchase of property for a ball park.

Bud McNealy, spokesman for the Buhl Recreation Association, asked the council Tuesday night to levy the three mills to provide funds to purchase the Hitchcock property, which is located west of the present Paris Field, a city-owned softball park.

The recreation group wants to enlarge the ball park, McNealy said. Plans for the enlarged park are being drawn by architectural students at Idaho State University, Pocatello, under the direction of Dr. Robert Fasolino, professor there.

Councilmen adopted an ordinance declaring the city's intention to sell city-owned property located on Paysee Street in Gray's second addition at public auction. Date for the sale has not been determined.

Barker to address Buhl Jaycee meet

BUHL — State Sen. John M. Barker will be the featured speaker at the annual Jaycee sponsored Community Service Award banquet Feb. 11, according to Bob Fields local president.

The dinner will be held at 8 p.m. in the R and R Cafe banquet room.

Four awards will be presented at the event which was formerly known as the Distinguished Service Award banquet. Awards include Junior and Senior Distinguished Service and Outstanding Young Educator and Outstanding Young Farmer.

General chairman for the event is Wayne Loozil; co-chairmen for the DSA awards are Dick Bencken and Doug Welch; Calvin Wilde and Bob Fields, OVE, and Ken Hooper and Larry Lamiters, OVF.

Spokane man hurt

BUHL — Wayne J. Busch, 31, Spokane, Wash., sustained head and leg lacerations when his car hit a signal at the Cedar Crossing five miles east of Buhl on Highway 30 about 10 p.m. Tuesday.

Busch was released from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, Twin Falls, following treatment of his injuries, Deputy Sheriff Curt Pryor said.

Vicar heads fund

SHOSHONE — Rev. M. Fitzgibbon, vicar of Shoshone Episcopal Church, has been appointed fund drive chairman for the Heart Fund in Shoshone. The drive will be conducted from Feb. 15 to Feb. 21.

Others who will assist in the drive are rural chairman Carl Kerrier, with Ward Rawson, business chairman; Mrs. Alice Gerly, area chairman, and Floyd Kialing, District area.

Water plan spans area

TWIN FALLS — Several Magic Valley counties, including Twin Falls, Jerome, Lincoln and Cassia, have been included in a comprehensive statewide planning program of the Idaho Water Resources Board.

The detailed work program, to provide planning studies for improved water and sewer systems for rural Idaho communities, covers 150 communities in 26 Idaho counties.

The work program will function as a blueprint for further action in the study, according to Jack Peterson, the board's environmentalist, who heads the program.

Peterson said, in explaining the program, that "Fifty per cent of the rural communities in the 26 counties being studied have neither a central water or a central sewer system. The problems resulting from combinations of individual water wells and septic tanks, cesspools or drainage wells are now commonplace."

"Here, environmental quality comes into sharp focus—it is as close as a glass of water in your hand," Peterson commented.

The study is being conducted by the water resources board with the help of a grant from the Farmers Home Administration, with the aim of recommending a program for improving water and sewage facilities to county commissioners and planning boards in each participating county.

Lincoln jail work called off

SHOSHONE — Jail facilities at the Lincoln County Courthouse, will not be remodeled, County commissioners Glenn L. Sorenson and Burrell Williams said today.

Burley home stays open

BUURLEY — Efforts are being made to keep the Burley Nursing Home in operation until additional geriatrics facilities can be built at the Cassia Memorial Hospital, Emil Mittelder, owner, said today.

He said the nursing home is an older facility and although well built, does not meet Idaho Department of Health's new standards. He said he had planned to close the nursing home and operate only custodial care for senior citizens who do not require nursing care.

In a decision not to use the matching funds offered by state and federal government for the project, the commissioners said that Lincoln County would have had to raise $4,000 to match the grant. To do so would have been a burden to the county's budget, they said.

Oakley misses quota

OAKLEY — Oakley citizens donated 41 pints of blood Wednesday in a Red Cross blood drawing, falling far short of their 75-pint quota.

But since the facility is the only licensed-nursing-home in Cassia County, community efforts have been made to intervene with the health department to allow continued operation until the hospital can build an addition to its present 19-bed geriatric ward.

The juvenile and women prisoners are housed in neighboring county prisons, and the need to house such does not arise often enough to warrant the increased expenditures, the commissioners feel.

Mrs. James Nelson, a nurse's aide, drew blood for testing; Dr. R.P. Sutton was the physician in charge, and Mrs. Ray Cranney took temperatures of the donors.

Other volunteers included Mrs. Eldon Fairchild and Mrs. Jay Ellison, handling the "numbers" table to arrange donors for the drawing; Mrs. Florence Smith operated the canteen; Mrs. Herbert Hardy, Mrs. Kerma Cranney, Mrs. Elmo Woodhouse, Mrs. Ned Critchfield were the nurses' aides on duty, and Susie Rodriguez, Jessie McBridge, Deborah Nelson and Dianne Gordon were typists.

Stocks rites pending

BUURLEY — Funeral services were pending at McCulloch Funeral Home today for Burley Air Force officer whose body was found Tuesday in the wreckage of his FB111A escape capsule north of New Orleans, La.

District offices occupied

STANLEY — U.S. Forest Service personnel in the Stanley Ranger District have moved into their new office building three miles south of Stanley, in the "Punkin' Flat" area, so named because of the large pumpkin-shaped rocks that abound there.

Southside unit picks directors

DECLO — Directors were elected at the annual meeting of the Southside Electric Co-op Tuesday at the Declo High School.

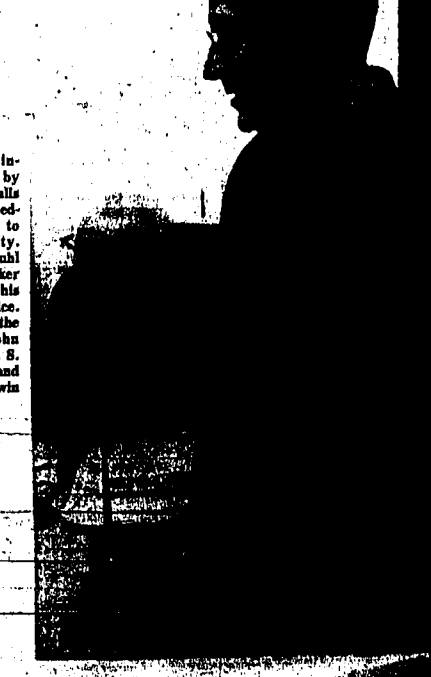

Lt. Col. Bruce C. Stocks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Stocks, Burley, was the pilot of the secret Air Force craft which disappeared Jan. 8 on a test flight. His body and that of his navigator, Maj. Billy C. Gentry, were found in the capsule by two construction company men attempting to salvage construction equipment near Lake Pontchartrain near Mandeville, La.

The new office overlooks U.S. Highway 93 and the Salmon River and lies in the shadow of the peaks of the Sawtooth Range. The building, completed in December, is constructed of native log and rock. The design blends with the nearby scenery. The rustic exterior complements the modern interior of the building, which contains six offices, a reception room and a full basement.

They include Michael Matthews, Deloss Stoker, Richard Fuqua and Norman Hurst, secretary.

Honoree

WATCHING his top Suffolk ewes is E.R. (Ed) Kelsey, Declo, who has been named to the Southern Idaho Livestock Hall of Fame.

Ed Kelsey named to livestock hall of fame

DECLO — A man who enjoys work, hard work — especially when he is 84 years old — will be honored this month.

E. R. (Ed) Kelsey, one of the state's top sheepman, has been named to the Southern Idaho Livestock Hall of Fame and will be honored at the Hall of Fame Banquet Feb. 15 at the Holiday Inn, Twin Falls.

Besides enjoying hard work, Ed is a man who completes what he starts to do. For instance in 1953, when he was 67, he purchased two sections of desert land east of Declo. It took him eight years to clear-off the land of sagebrush and seed it to grass, his objective, he says.

Today, he is proud of his two sections of year-round pasture, for his cattle as there is hardly a sagebrush growing in the area he has cleared off.

Every day Ed drives the eight miles to his "Garden of Eden" and walks over several acres with his grubbing hoe in his hand. Whenever he sees a young sagebrush plant, he immediately chops it off at the ground.

Thus, when anyone takes a look at Ed's "Garden of Eden," that person can see that Ed enjoys working.

Ed came to Idaho in 1914 and purchased a 40-acre tract of sagebrush land. He cleared this off and later purchased two adjoining 40-acre pieces of sagebrush land. He also cleared this off. Today these 120 acres comprise the Kelsey farm.

In 1917 Ed started in the purebred ram business with Hampshire ewes. His first consignment of rams was in 1918 at Filer, the first such consignment in this area. This sale has continued since then and Ed has not missed a single ram sale in 53 years.

In the 1930s, Ed purchased some Suffolk ewes and gradually decreased his Hampshires until his entire flock was Suffolk. To keep top blood, Ed has imported rams from England and Canada.

When Ed was in the ram business, he got top prices at the sales. One year a ram was sold for $1,500 and two years later Ed sold another ram for $1,650.

Ed started feeding cattle in 1948 and today he raises registered Angus as well as commercial Angus-cross cows.

Because of Ed's "Garden of Eden" pastures, seeded to created wheatgrass and native grass (western wheatgrass), he was chosen Cassia County Grassman of the Year in 1963. There are five pastures on which Ed rotates his cattle and most all the fences were built by Ed and he still does all the maintenance work on them.

When asked about retirement, Ed says he "gets too much out of life to think about it."

Cassia makes final payment

BURLY — Cassia county's final payment on Magic Valley 4H camp north of Ketchum has been completed. Mrs. Mary Hondo, co-chairman of the latest fund raising project, said today.

She and Susan Kuwano headed a drive to raise the final $1,000 which was done through cooperation of KBAR radio station which donated station time for Builder Club members to ask for funds throughout an entire day.

a squeeze against East by playing out the ace and king of spades after drawing trumps.

A more attractive line would be to try to ruff two low clubs in dummy. This line would succeed provided he could get back to his hand with the spade ace and diamond king. A careless player would lose the hand if he played the spade first since West could jettison his singleton diamond on the next club lead and trump the diamond. Paul had noted and decided it was from length, hence, he led a diamond; ruffed his last low club, returned to his hand with the ace of spades; drew trumps and spread, the slam.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Your partner continues to two diamonds. What do you do now?
Answer Tomorrow

North's three-heart bid is an example of expert technique. He intended to try for slam later on provided his partner could show he really had a heart suit. South confirmed hearts by ruffing to four and North blackwooded his way to the slam.

The slam is a very good one. When perennial McKenney Trophy winner Paul Soloway looked over dummy, he saw he would romp home barring some very bad breaks. His only problem was to find the safest line against these potential troubles.

He won the trump lead in dummy and led a club. West's ace collared his king and a second trump was won in his own hand. He noted that East discarded a diamond.

At this point Paul had several ways to make his

OUR LOVE AND WAR MAN contradicts the elderly contention that a divorced woman is a poor marriage risk. In a recent nationwide survey, he says, 87 out of 100 wives who had been unhappy when previously married claimed their second marriages were just dandy. It is obvious what happens mostly, he says, is they wed too young the first time around, but learn enough out of the experience to make the second session successful. "No man should be afraid to marry a woman unless she has divorced five husbands," he says, "or widowed three."

JUST ABOUT ALL 2-year-old children in the world have flat feet, knock knees and pot bellies. Ugly, aren't they? NOW THE SNOW SLOPE BOYS have devised a rig that looks like a bicycle with six instead of wheels. It's so simple, they say, even a sportsman already over the hill can descend most gracefully. Might try that... WHAT FARM BOYS know that city boys don't is an irritated goose is more dangerous than an unruffed snark.

CUSTOMER SERVICE—Q "Wasn't it old Irvin S. Cobb who referred to a crowd of night ladies as 'an anthology of pro's'?" A. That was Clifton Fadiman. He also called them a jam of tarts, a flourish of strumpets, an essay of Trollope's and a pride of loins. Cunning fellow, Fadiman... Q "If all the U.S. coins minted in one day were tossed into a single pile, how much would it be worth?" A. Maybe $1 million.

HALF THE NEW BUSINESSES started up every day fold within two years. So show the statistics. An expert who has looked into this sad situation gives two main reasons for it. One, the operator keeps too many records. Or two, he doesn't keep enough. It is this author's contention that a smart experienced file clerk who knows what to hang on and what to toss out can make or break a budding company, and he suggests the wise manager hire such an employee at the outset.

MOST TV NEWSCASTERS yearn privately to go into politics. Most politicians harbor some small ambition to be TV newscasters. Most farmers secretly wish they were doctors. Most doctors would like to be gentlemen farmers. Most newspaper editors wouldn't mind taking the chairs of college professors. Most college professors think they would greatly enjoy editing newspapers. Finally, most professional football players want to coach, most coaches want to own teams, and most team owners want to be George Blanda, but richer.

THE FOREGOING comes to mind because a client asks, "If you could do anything you wanted for a living, what would it be?" That's easy. Would rather do what I'm doing. For instance, the timid female mouse rarely travels more than 40 feet from her nest while the braver male mouse sometimes strays beyond 50 feet from home base. Name another business, besides pet control, where you get paid for knowing things like that. What's more, the hours are flexible.

MAJOR MOOPLE

Fans cost Pitt loss to W. Va.

Area league leaders can pad margins this weekend

The league leaders protect their boasts against also-ran challengers this weekend as Magic Valley teams run through a 21-game schedule.

Gooding, ahead in both the South Central Idaho and Big Six conferences, will be at Filer for a double-count game Friday night and return home to entertain the Jerome Tigers Saturday.

Murtaugh while the Northside Conference leading Camas County Muehlers will entertain Carey Friday.

Six. While the Senators are playing Filer, they would appreciate some help from the Jerome Tigers who will be entertaining Wood River Friday night.

Lombardi, Brown lead seven men into grid hall of fame

CANTON, Ohio (UPI)—Vince Lombardi, the coach who made winning a tradition at Green Bay, and Jim Brown, the Cleveland fullback who virtually rewrote National Football League rushing records, were among the seven new inductees announced today for the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

The seven members inducted this year by a representative from each pro football city and the president of the Pro Football Writers Association mark the largest group selected since 1968 and boasts to 70 the number of football stars enshrined.

Lombardi, who passed away on Sept. 3, 1970, gained fame late in his career but became virtually synonymous with coaching dominance during the 1960s. In 1959 he took over a Green Bay team that finished 1-10-1 the year before and two years later guided it to a division title. Lombardi's powerful Packer teams won five NFL titles and two Sugar Bowl championships in the next seven years.

USC excited but not nervous about UCLA

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—If Mo Layton is nervous about Saturday night's Big Game, he certainly doesn't show it.

"If there's any pressure in this game, it will be on UCLA," Layton replied to a question.

Robustelli, from little Arnold College in Connecticut, played 14 seasons in the pros with the Los Angeles Rams and New York Giants and finished with a first place team in nine of those years.

The Northside Conference has a full slate, with Camas County entertaining Carey while Rimrock, back in the picture after its decision, over the Muehlers, will travel to Bliss. Dietrich goes to Gooding State.

"We're excited but everybody has been real calm this week," Layton said. "Real calm and real cool. We know we have a job ahead of us and that's what we've been working on."

"I like this," Layton said. "I was my Big Game up to now," he said.

Campanella, who won three most valuable player awards while playing for the Dodgers from 1948 through 1957, and Robinson, who pioneered the Negro's entry in the game in 1946 and 1947, are the only black players who have been elected to the Hall of Fame under the normal balloting procedures of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Such current ineligible stars as Willie Mays, Hank Aaron, Bob Gibson, Frank Robinson and Ernie Banks are regarded as certain to be voted into the shrine but the new committee's role is to honor those players who contributed greatly to baseball in the pre-Robinson era.

Pre-major loop Negro stars to get hall of fame honors

NEW YORK (UPI)—Satchel Paige and Josh Gibson, who toiled in the shadowland of the Negro baseball leagues before Jackie Robinson's entry into the organized sport, are regarded as the prime candidates to be voted into the Hall of Fame by a special committee commissioned to honor the black players of another era.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced the formation of the 10-man committee Wednesday and said that the first Negro player to be honored by it will be named next week. The committee was appointed in recognition of the fact that 1971 is the Silver Anniversary of Robinson's entry into organized baseball with the Montreal Royals of the International League, a farm club of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Kuhn said that players in the Negro Leagues before 1947 will be eligible for selection and tablets with their achievements will be hung in the Cooperstown, N.Y., shrine as part of a new exhibit commemorating the contributions of black athletes to the sport.

Named to the selection committee by Paul Kerr, president of the Hall of Fame and museum and Kuhn, were Everett Baresnes, Roy Campanella, Frank Forbes, Eddie Gottlieb, Monty Irvin, Judy Johnson, Sam Lacy, Alex Pompez, Wendell Smith and Bill Vanecey.

Campanella, who won three most valuable player awards while playing for the Dodgers from 1948 through 1957, and Robinson, who pioneered the Negro's entry in the game in 1946 and 1947, are the only black players who have been elected to the Hall of Fame under the normal balloting procedures of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Gibson, a right-handed hitting catcher known as the "Babe Ruth of the Negro Leagues," never played in the majors and his record is lost in the mists of the shadowland of Negro baseball. He is reputed to have hit many balls more than 500 feet—it is said that he hit two homers into the center field bleachers of New York's old Polo Grounds and also hit a ball onto the roof of the left field stands of Yankee Stadium—but few experts know whether he actually achieved those feats.

Paige, said by such stars as Babe Ruth, Joe DiMaggio and Lou Gehrig to have ranked with any of the white stars of the 1920s and 1930s, got his chance to play in the majors when he was signed by the Cleveland Indians in 1948 at the age of 42.

He pitched for the Indians and St. Louis Browns from 1948 through 1953, compiling successive seasons records of 6-1, 4-7, 3-4, 12-10 and 3-9 for an overall 29-31 big league career record.

Which is not to say college basketball's Big Game of 1971 isn't Layton's Big Game. It is. "I've played a lot of games in my life but this one is the biggest," he declared.

USC goes into the Pacific-8 crucial with a 16-0 record while the Bruins, winners of four straight NCAA titles, are 15-1. Each club is 4-0 in conference play.

Following his career, he coached the Minnesota Vikings for six years and is presently coach of the Atlanta Falcons.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Before an all-time franchise crowd of 8,429 Wednesday night, the Memphis Pros beat the Carolina Cougars 118-109 in American Basketball Association action.

Archer vs. field at Hawaii

HONOLULU (UPI)—It looks like it's going to be George Archer against the field in the 1971 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament.

Archer, the lanky cowboy from Gilroy, Calif., and the leading money winner on the PGA tour this year, comes into the 72-hole tourney fresh from a victory in the Andy Williams San Diego Golf Open last week.

Howitt died of injuries sustained in a car accident in 1947.

Memphis' other Jones boys—Steve and Jimmy—added 21 and 20 points respectively.

Archer headed a list of nine of the top 10 money winners this year, a strong field vying for the $40,000 first prize.

"The team that loses will be down in the ratings and in the conference. I hope it's not us. But I'm sure we won't feel it's our season if we get beat. And I'm sure that's the way UCLA will feel, too."

Howitt joined the Chicago Bears in 1932 after starring at the University of Michigan and gained acclaim as one of the great ends in the league. Howitt played without a hat until the league made him wear one in 1939.

The record crowd watched rookie guard Wendell Ladner pump in 28 points and Wilbert Jones hit for 27 points—a career high for the Albany State grad.

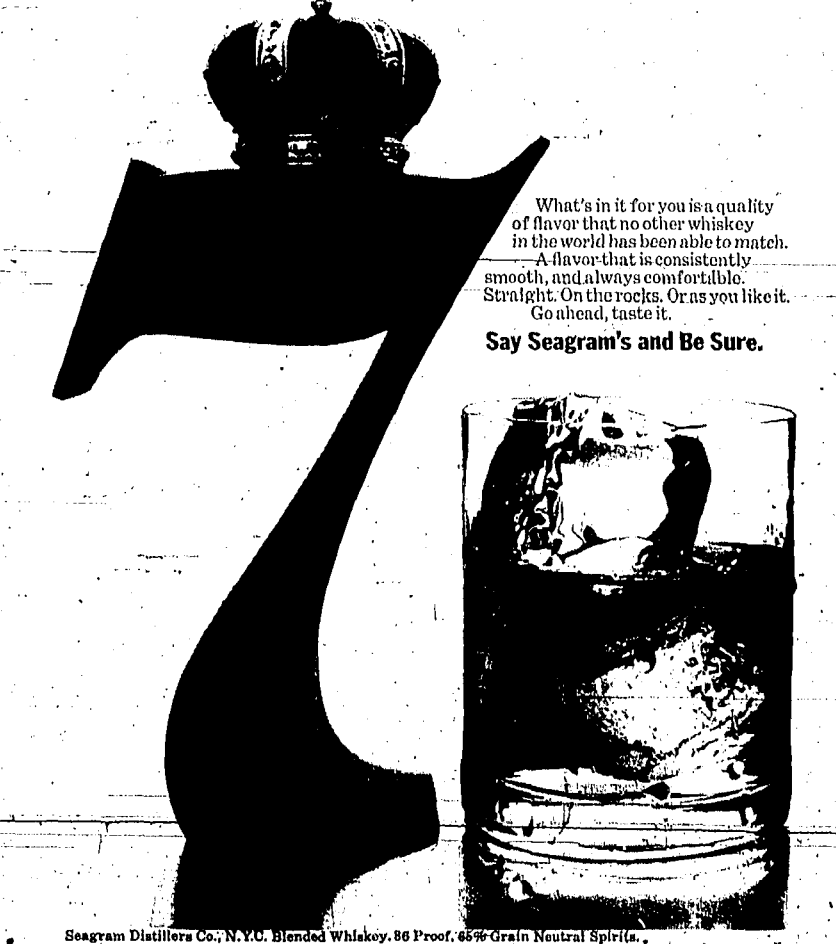

Other top money winners in the tournament were Miller Barber, winner of the Phoenix Open; Tom Shaw, Bing Crosby title; Masters champion Billy Casper; Dave Eichelberger; Arnold Palmer; Bob Murphy and Howie Johnson.

Whatta rally!
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—The Hoover High School basketball team trailed Morse 70-50 with 2:40 left in the game Tuesday night but averaged one point every nine seconds thereafter and won 71-70.

Hoover turned on a full-court press which forced a series of turnovers. Walt Russell made the game-winning basket with five seconds remaining.

The loss dropped Carolina to 25-33 on the year, fourth place in the ABA east.

No. 2 ranked CSI to entertain Ricks today, North Idaho on Friday

Yaz seeks top pay in baseball

BOSTON (UPI)—Veteran Red Sox star Carl Yastrzemski is "looking to become" the highest paid player in baseball history according to the Boston general manager.

Dick O'Connell, executive vice president of the Red Sox, said Wednesday Yastrzemski had been given a salary boost above the agreed-upon figure during the second half of a two-year contract last season but that the club's 1971 offer had only matched Yastrzemski's 1970 salary.

Rupp says Kentucky 'jelling'

ATLANTA (UPI)—If wild old Adolph Rupp is up to his usual form as a basketball proponent, his Kentucky-Wildcats should be a cinch to win their veteran mentor his 20th (of 39) Southeastern Conference title.

Rupp was unwilling to assume the favorite's mantle earlier in the season. But he said all along that this year's team had the potential to be one of his best—and that's a pretty tall order when you recall that Rupp already has had more than his share of national champions.

and the Utah State frosh bunch of freshmen, fell by 13 points to CSI in December but Coach Hale believes the Cardinals should have developed since then; considering the early youth factor. The Eagles also figure to meet North Idaho in the regional finals in Coeur d'Alene next month in their bid to return to the national tournament.

The Eagles didn't quite get into the No. 1 spot this week although top-ranked Vincennes tried to cooperate by dropping a 101-84 decision to Gulf Coast, Fla. Vincennes stayed on top by getting eight first place votes against two for the Eagles, from Carylyle Dean of Treasure Valley and Casper, Wyo. Casper, which bowed by 20 to the Eagles remained in fifth place with Brevard, Fla., third and San Jacinto, Tex., fourth.

Coach Jerry Hale expects two good ball games at home with Ricks followed by improved scoring from its Australian guard, Ed Publankas who had a 40-point night, and the return to health of 6-7 Stewart Morrill who didn't see much action against CSI earlier. Ricks' scoring was led by Dave Cleaves of Highland in the last meeting.

The matchup undoubtedly will put defensive specialist Victor Kelly against Publankas, Kelly winning the first match by holding Publankas to 12.

Detroit upset by Lion pick

DETROIT (UPI)—The chairman of the group behind the new sports stadium on Detroit's riverfront said Wednesday it will proceed with its plans for constructing the stadium, despite the Detroit Lions' announced intention of moving to Pontiac, some 20 miles away.

"In an attempt to carry out the responsibilities with which we have been charged, we will be proceeding to present a completely documented stadium package to the Wayne County (Detroit) commissioners within the next six months," said Thomas B. Adams, chairman of the Wayne County Stadium Authority.

Adams expressed disappointment that Lions' owner William Clay Ford "chose to announce his plans without waiting to see the full stadium package that we plan to present."

Adams' statement followed a report that Henry Ford II, brother of the Lions' owner and board chairman of Ford Motor Co., has expressed his support of the decision to move the team to Pontiac.

Reached in Melbourne, Australia, Ford said he believes as his brother does that the riverfront site is unsuitable, the Detroit News said.

Henry Ford also is vice president of Detroit Renaissance, a group of businessmen promoting downtown Detroit.

Commissioner sought for 4th district

Applications for Fourth District athletic commissioner currently are being received by George Staudaher, Twin Falls, for the district board of control. As commissioner, the applicant will be responsible for testing, instructing and assigning officials for fourth district high school athletics. Entry deadline is March 13.

Olympic cost put at $25 million

DENVER (UPI)—The Denver Olympic Committee (DOC), in the most detailed cost estimate yet made public, said Wednesday the 1976 Winter Olympics in Colorado could cost as much as $25 million.

The DOC, which has been under fire from several state legislators because of the potential cost of the Games to Colorado taxpayers, said stalling revenue from the 1976 Olympics would pay all but $8.5 million to $9.5 million of the total cost.

The committee has asked the Colorado Legislature to appropriate $310,000 for this fiscal year and $360,000 for the next fiscal year for Olympic planning.

The DOC had earlier appeared before the legislature's powerful Joint Budget Committee to make its request, but the legislators questioned the need for the money and asked the DOC to provide a detailed cost estimate for present and future expectations. "A theoretical case, using in each instance the most adverse assumptions ... could probably be made to support a position that the Olympics might cost state and city taxpayers $10 million to $15 million," the DOC said.

But the committee also said it was conceivable that the Olympics could be staged at no cost to the state or Denver after next year.

"Denial of planning funds now might well cause the state to have to step in later to straighten out a financial mess at what would be far greater expense to Colorado taxpayers and embarrassment to the state," the DOC said.

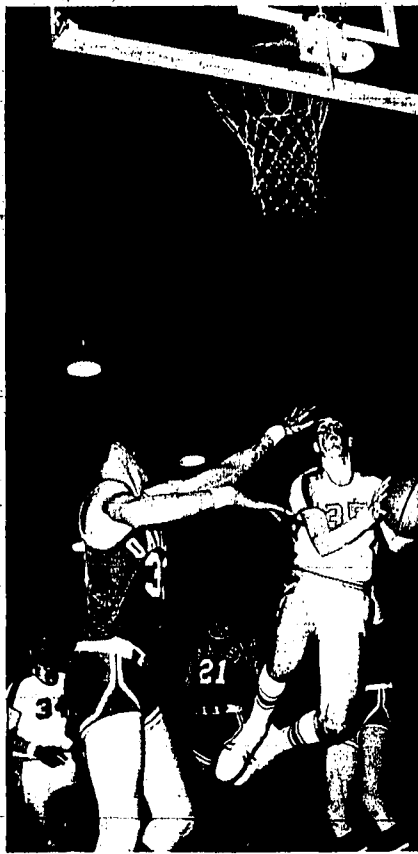

A resolution was introduced in the Colorado House of Representatives Wednesday by one of the Olympic opponents, State Rep. Robert Jackson, a Pueblo Democrat, to cut off any future state funds for the 1976 Winter Games.

Royals bomb Celts 134-115

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Tom Van Arsdale and Norm Van Lier combined for 66 points Wednesday night in leading the Cincinnati Royals to a 134-115 victory over the Boston Celtics.

Van Arsdale connected for 34 points and Van Lier added 32 as the Royals outgunned the Celtics for their first win of the season over Boston.

Cincinnati, trailing by nine points early in the second period, roared back to take a 72-61 halftime lead on the shooting of guard Flynn Robinson, who scored all of his 17 points in the last nine minutes of the middle session.

HAGERMAN'S Mike Laughlin slips past the Oakley Hornets for a twisting cripple before Horner Simmon can come up to help out. Action came early in Tuesday's game which Oakley won 83-71 to regain sole possession of the Magic Valley Conference league.

Twin Falls and Minico begin heavy third of season by traveling

It never looked tough until now for the Twin Falls Bruins and the Minico Spartans as they head into the final third of the Southern Idaho Conference season.

Twin Falls, boasting a 7-3 league mark and standing only one game behind the league-leading Highland Rams, will be at Caldwell Thursday night and Borah Friday while Minico, evened up at 5-5, will be at Caldwell Friday and Borah Saturday.

Snow lack sends ski race here

KINGFIELD, Maine (UPI)—For lack of snow, part of Europe's prestigious Alberg Kandahar ski race will be held in the U.S. this month for the first time in its 43-year history, it was announced Wednesday.

Harry Baxter, general manager of Sugarloaf Mountain, Maine's largest ski area, said the women's downhill will be run Feb. 18 on the 8,820-foot Narrow Gauge Trail, just one day before the start of already scheduled World Cup competition for men and women, the Tall Timber Classic.

the hopes of the two clubs to finish in the first division and with a winning record start on that note.

"The way I see things," says Coach Charles Farmer, "about the only chance (Coach Gary) Swan (of Minico) and we have of winning another game will be against each other."

That occurs Feb. 12 in Twin Falls and what is left is pure tough. Twin Falls hosts Highland the pace-setters, and goes to Pocatello and Skyline, in the top three, while Minico has Pocatello at home, goes Highland and comes home to wind up against Skyline.

Caldwell enters the weekend with a 5-6 league mark but has three men in double scoring figures and is the best rebounding team in the western division.

Borah is 6-4 but Twin Falls hasn't played a competitive game on the Lion home court in five years.

It is the first SIC visit for Minico to those two gymnasium floors.

Twin Falls' Mike Crandal continues to run second in scoring average in the conference at 18.3 against a strong 23.3 for pace-setting—Blick Outright of Highland. John VanEngelen, third in individual rebounding, and Larry Blackwood, fifth in rebounding, both have 10-point averages.

Minico, which uses a slower offense than most, has no one in double figures for the conference, with Rulon Barlow and Tony Saras both have nine-point averages.

Georgia Tech raps Georgia

ATLANTA (UPI)—Rich Yunkus exploded in the second half for 27 points to lead Georgia Tech to a 90-77 win Wednesday night over arch-rival Georgia. Yunkus made 12 of 14 shots from the field in the second half and added three foul shots after a relatively poor first half in which he scored only 10 points.

Rupert sewage plant troubles blamed on overloaded motors

RUPERT — Overloaded motors were blamed for trouble in new aerating equipment at the Rupert sewage plant during a Rupert City Council meeting Monday evening.

Mel Iverson, representing the Enco Company, who installed the aerators 18 months ago, told the council that the equipment was "grossly overloaded," and that trimming the impeller blades would help the problem.

Iverson also said a lack of electrical power at the sewage treatment facility might contribute to the problem. He suggested that a new transformer might be necessary.

Councilman Charles Dalry disagreed with Iverson, saying that the power supply was adequate. He said icing conditions during cold weather was the cause.

The council agreed to allow trimming of the impeller blades, and asked Iverson to do the work. A compromise on a bill for $3,900 for the work was agreed on, with Iverson's company paying one-third, U.S. Steel Co., a sub-contractor, one-third and the city paying the remaining one-third of the bill.

The city has already paid $400 to a crane company to have the aerator lifted out of the water for repairs, the council said.

The sewage plant has remained in operation despite the problems, however, the council was told.

In other council action, notices were ordered sent to Mrs. Jeannie Sawyer, Rupert, and R. L. Eldredge, Elko, Nev., on abandoned property deemed a fire hazard. Eldredge said he would inspect his property and if it could not be repaired he would turn it over to the city to use as a fire department "fire drill" in burning it down.

Mayor Wendell Johnson presented a service award to Roy Archer in appreciation of his service as Rupert police judge, a position that was vacated with the state court reform.

Police Chief Ed Culver told the council that the police department would continue to operate two late-model patrol cars and not turn them in on new ones, as had been planned. Three bids were read for two new cars, ranging from $4,900 to $4,445 each, with a stipulated trade-in value of the old cars.

Chief Culver said the trade-in value was too low and it would pay the city to operate the present cars. The council agreed and refused all bids.

Ron Klebe, Rupert public-works director, discussed a proposal to run a pipeline from a supply canal to the Grandview Addition to provide supplementary irrigation water in the spring, when water in the area is insufficient. Bids will be opened on the project March 2 by the council.

The council also called for bids for a new sewage-plant pump, estimated to cost about $700. Bids will be opened at a date to be determined.

Business using video tapes

NEW YORK (UPI)—Business has learned a lot from football coaches, particularly from the way they use movies and videotape to teach players new ideas and how to avoid the mistakes of a last week's game.

One elaborate example of this is afforded by the Sterling Learning Centers sponsored by Sterling Institute and Marriott Hotels, Inc.

"I always thought I was a pretty good salesman, but I never knew my mistakes until I saw myself acting out a sales spiel on videotape at the Sterling Center," says George Turner, a sales representative of an industrial machinery company.

Turner said he knows now how a football player feels after seeing himself miss a blocking assignment in the replay films. "Even if I didn't recognize my mistakes, the rest of the boys in the class pointed them out to me in the pictures. Then we analyzed them and took steps to prevent them," he said.

"I must have learned something because my sales record has gone up about 10 per cent since that meeting," Turner added.

The first Sterling Learning Center was located in Washington, D.C.

A second will be opened this year in Atlanta with 11 more planned by 1975. Clients at the Washington center have included such firms as RCA, Coca-Cola, Xerox, Metropolitan Life Insurance, International Business Machines, Kraft, General Electric, Westinghouse and Irving Trust Co. They use the center for managerial, sales and electronic programming training.

Each center is to be an electronic classroom with a "dressed amphotheater" serviced by audio-visual learning aids, plus auxiliary classrooms for special work.
