Temblor rocks L. A.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A major earthquake rocked Southern California today, causing widespread structural damage, taking at least three lives and injuring scores of persons.

Dr. Charles Richter of the Cal Tech seismological laboratory in nearby Pasadena said he was awakened by the quake and, "I realized that we had a pretty strong shock on our hands."

220 lives, causing millions of dollars in damage. In 1952 a tremor measuring 7.7 centered in the Teocapuli Mountains northwest of here.

across the nation reported recording the tremor as measuring between 6 and 7 on the open-end Richter scale.

The quake centered near Newhall, 40 miles north of the Civic Center, and caused widespread blackouts of power, disrupted gas and water mains and started many fires in residences. Looting was widespread and extra officers began patrolling debris-filled streets.

Rain, fog remove air cover from Laos Drive

SAIGON (UPI) — Monsoon rainstorms and fog today halted U.S. helicopter support of the South Vietnamese drive against the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos.

The U.S. Command said four GIs and six Vietnamese died in a helicopter shot down over Laos Monday.

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky urged caution lest his troops get "bogged down" in a lengthy military campaign in Laos.

Fight reports showed at least six U.S. helicopters were shot down Monday in the first stages of the cross-border operation.

The U.S. Command said 10 GIs had been killed and 41 wounded since the Jan. 30 opening of "Operation Dewey Canyon II," the 29,000-man Allied sweep into South Vietnam's northernmost provinces which was a prelude to the South Vietnamese push into Laos.

The command then announced it was halting the use of the name "Dewey Canyon" immediately meaning military spokesmen will no longer be obliged to come up with cumulative American casualty figures.

A delayed report today said an Air Force F4 Phantom jet had been shot down Feb. 3 over the Laotian upper panhandle and two crewmen were listed as missing.

UPI correspondent Kenneth Ruddle reported from the northern base of Quang Tri that U.S. helicopters were socked in by bad weather at Khe Sanh, 12 miles east of the Laotian border. He quoted military sources as saying ground convoys were also halted because there was no air cover.

The sources said the farthest South Vietnamese combat support bases inside Laos were five miles beyond the border with troops a few miles further. The troops moved into Laos Monday morning in a limited action to further cut Communist supply lines along the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

U.S. sources reported sporadic contact with Viet Cong and North Vietnamese units but said U.S. helicopter missions last Monday night encountered heavy groundfire in some areas.

Military sources said the bad weather from the monsoon could halt helicopter activities for another 72 hours. Ground links to at least some South Vietnamese units in Laos were open, the sources said.

Military spokesmen said at least four GIs and 10 South

Vietnamese were killed in the first hours of the thrust into Laos on Monday. Helicopters encountered particularly heavy anti-aircraft fire.

"Experiences in Cambodia have shown us that it is not easy to withdraw from that country after a short operation for a few days. Ky said a few hours after the start of the cross-border operation.

"We must be very careful," Ky said. "Otherwise, we will come into a bogged down situation in Laos."

Observers saw political overtones in Ky's speech at a dinner for pilots who flew with him on a bombing raid over North Vietnam Aug. 2, 1965.

Ky has denied he has any ambitions to run against President Nguyen Van Thieu in elections this fall. But reports have circulated that he may run and his remarks Monday were seen as critical of Thieu's statement that "limited in time as well as space."

The Cambodian Command said in Phnom Penh the Viet Cong bombarded a bridge 30 miles southwest of Phnom Penh Monday night with six-foot-long 122mm rockets but there was little damage. The bridge is on Highway 4, the vital link between Phnom Penh and the oil refinery port of Kompong Som.

Council opposes paper

BOISE (UPI)—The Boise City Council voted 3-2 Monday night against sidewalk sales of a new Boise publication, the Boise City Herald Tribune.

Jon Robertson, Boise, plans to publish the paper, starting Thursday, on a bi-monthly basis.

He said he hopes to put out 10 to 20 pages and sell the publication for 15 cents.

Councilman Elmo Orr triggered a debate over the street sale question by saying, "I'd like to know what we are giving permission for."

"What kind of a newspaper is this?" Orr and councilmen Sherman Perry and Fred Kopke voted against the motion to allow the paper to be sold on city sidewalks, saying they were concerned over the liability question.

Robertson said his paper would be a "community newspaper" which would "relate to the young people."

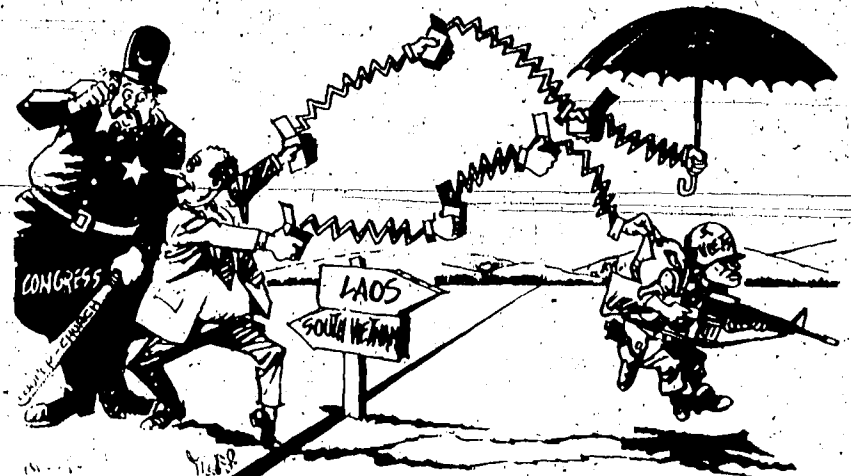

"It's sort of progressive," Robertson said. "There probably will be a great many people who will object but if we were to do a paper which pleased everybody up here on the council that wouldn't be us."

He noted a number of publications have been sold on city streets in recent months and added:

"When you can set up a paper and yet be denied access to the streets to sell it, it seems to be infringing on the freedom of the press."

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Premier Golda Meir rejected today Egyptian proposals to reopen the Suez Canal in exchange for an Israeli troop withdrawal from the east bank of the canal. But she offered to discuss a separate deal for reopening the long closed waterway.

In a policy speech to the Israeli Parliament, Mrs. Meir said the canal offer by President Anwar Sadat of Egypt was aimed merely at giving Egypt a strategic advantage without making any real progress toward peace.

Sadat made his proposal last Thursday, calling for an Israeli troop withdrawal from the canal in return for reopening of the waterway which has been closed since the Six Day War in June, 1967.

Mrs. Meir said today Sadat's proposal left more unsaid than said and gave no guarantee it would lead to the signing of a peace treaty and end the Middle East confrontation.

Israel's leading newspapers predicted prior to the speech that Mrs. Meir would reject Egypt's demand that Israel conduct a partial withdrawal of its troops from the canal bank before the canal is reopened.

She also was expected to insist that, Israeli ships be allowed to use the canal, a condition that Egypt has rejected in the past, the newspapers said.

Davar, the newspaper that most accurately reflects the government's thinking, said "Israel is ready for the immediate reopening of the canal for free navigation including Israeli shipping."

"The other major newspapers, Maariv, Yedioth Aharonoth and Ha'aretz—joined in speculation that Mrs. Meir would insist on keeping Israeli troops in place but would leave open the possibility for further negotiation pending clarification from Cairo.

The canal has been closed since the 1967 Middle East War and Egyptian experts predict it would take four to six months of dredging to make it operable again.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat proposed reopening of the canal and withdrawal of Israeli troops last week in his speech announcing a 36-day extension of the cease-fire that has been in effect since last August.

(In New York Monday, Lebanon's complaint to the U.N. Security Council over Israel's raid last week was circulated at U.N. headquarters. The complaint charged Israel with "constantly disturbing the peace and security of Lebanon and maintaining a state of turbulence and terror in the Middle East."

(Israel said last week the raid was in retaliation against guerrillas using Lebanon as a base for attacks on Israel.)

New rail strike called March 1
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The president of the nation's largest rail union broke off contract talks with management today and scheduled a nationwide rail strike March 1 when a congressional moratorium expires.

With great reluctance, the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks (BRAC) has found no value in continuing the negotiations with railroad management for new contracts, BRAC President C. L. Dennis told a news conference. "Until management changes its attitude it is hard indeed to see a basis for settlement."

Although banking off talks with the management committee bargaining for all the railroads, Dennis invited representatives from individual carriers to open talks aimed at separate agreements.

He said that tentative agreements reached last week between the railroads and two smaller unions "only complicated

'Piggy bank' bill OK'd

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate approved, 90-3, Monday the "piggy bank" bill which would make it a misdemeanor to break into any coin-operated machine.

But Sen. Bill Crookham, R-Caldwell, served notice he would ask for reconsideration of the measure.

Church sponsors measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, has co-sponsored legislation to limit election campaign spending and to require disclosure of contributions to public office candidates.

Church said Monday the legislation, Honest Elections Reform Act of 1971, is broader than the bill vetoed by the President last year.

Church said any comprehensive reform legislation must accomplish several objectives. He said, "It must place limits on total spending for public office, not only on broadcast media, but on other forms of advertisement as well."

The legislation's major provisions include: —Tax credit of 50 per cent for contributions totaling not more than $50 or a tax deduction of the full amount, up to $50.

—Free broadcasting time for Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates and a requirement that the federal communications commission conduct an investigation to determine the best way by which local stations might offer free time to other candidates.

Among other provisions, Church said there would be a firm limitation of not more than $5,000 from a single contributor.

Fiddlers re-elect Vargason

LEWISTON — Hassell Vargason, Aberdeen, was re-elected president of the Idaho Oldtime Fiddlers Association at the Hotel Lewis-Clark, last weekend in Lewiston.

Others elected include Lester A. Wagner, Lewiston, vice president, and Mrs. Catherine O'Conner, Moscow, who was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The annual session ended with a banquet and dance at the hotel attended by about 200 persons. Main speaker at the banquet was Rev. J. Stanley Lyman, pastor of the First Christian Church of Lewiston, who told his audience that the music of a fiddle can both lighten the heart and provide an instrument for the expression of the human soul.

Music for the dance that followed the banquet was provided by delegates themselves, many from Magic Valley, most of whom had participated in an oldtime fiddler's contest the night before at Lewiston High School which was attended by 1,000 persons.

Attorney tells legislators be suspicious of credit code bill

BOISE (UPI) — A Caldwell attorney told the House Business Committee Monday the uniform consumer credit code would put the low income borrowers at the mercy of creditors.

Ted Springer, representing consumer interests and from the Caldwell Legal Aid Association, told the committee the legislation should be suspicious of any legislation that is drafted with the help of so many credit personnel.

Springer said Idaho's laws already offer protection for the consumer and said provisions of the proposed bill, which the committee is considering, would rely on competition between the creditors to lower interest rates.

He said studies have indicated that this just doesn't occur, that creditors charge the highest allowable interest.

He said leaving regulations on interest ceilings open would increase the so-called loan-sharking operations in the state. He said the lack of ceilings would also harm the low interest and minorities who are without the means to shop around for the lowest interest possible.

Under question from a member of the committee, Rep. Wayne Loveless, D-Pocatello, who asked whether the proposed bill "would just enter into competition with the Mafia," Springer answered, "You might say that."

Nathaniel E. Butler, representing the National Conference of Commissioners on Code Revisions, said, there is value in having uniform laws from state to state, and added the easiest way to achieve that goal would be to have the federal government adopt laws governing the states.

He said the UCC would provide the state legislature with the chance to adapt the revisions to the needs of the state.

He said the credit code revision had been endorsed both by the creditors and the consumers, both of which were represented in drafting the legislation.

He noted however, that the income of a potential debtor would affect the interest rate he could get from the various credit agencies.

He contends, however, that competition among the various creditor organizations, would lower interest rates, or at least keep them in check.

Sami Burke, representing the Bon Marche stores, said recent reports indicated that department store chains, such as Sears and Penney's, were losing money on their credit operations and said all the revision would do would bring credit interest rates into line, so the cash paying customers are subsidizing those making purchases with credit cards and other such devices.

Wilcox hearing delayed

TWIN FALLS — Two motions made by defense counsel on behalf of Mrs. Helen Wilcox, 64, Twin Falls, accused of first degree murder, were granted Monday by Judge Dan Meehl.

James May, attorney for the woman accused of the Jan. 2, 1970, strangulation death of her mother, Mrs. Laura Wilcox, 86, was successful during argument Monday in delaying the preliminary hearing and for obtaining a psychiatric evaluation for Mrs. Wilcox.

The hearing, originally set for Friday, will be continued until Mrs. Wilcox is returned from Salt Lake City where she will receive evaluation and treatment at the psychiatric ward of the LDS hospital.

Judge Meehl said Tuesday morning he has been assured by authorities at the hospital that Mrs. Wilcox will be in an "in custody" state at the hospital.

May assured the court that the defendant will pay all costs of the trip to the hospital and confinement in the hospital.

May, following argument by Prosecutor Leon Smith, strongly objected to Smith's contention that Mrs. Wilcox be sent to State Hospital South instead of the LDS hospital. May objected on the grounds that adequate personnel and services are not available at the state institution to treat and evaluate the defendant.

Smith had filed a sanity petition Monday in Magistrate Court, with the sanity hearing for Mrs. Wilcox set for Wednesday. That hearing, too, will be delayed until Mrs. Wilcox is returned from Salt Lake City.

The maximum time allowed by the court for the defendant's confinement at the Utah hospital is six weeks. May said it is possible she may be there only a week.

'Friendly-tax revolt' foreseen

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — Taxpayers of Twin Falls County let their county officials know Monday they are concerned about rising property taxes and ventured the possibility of a "friendly tax revolt."

H.F. Ransoyer, Twin Falls, asked commissioners what the county would do if a majority of the taxpayers of the county refused to pay their property taxes for two years.

"I would join you," said Heber Loughmiller, former commission chairman and now vice chairman of the county group.

He said such action would bring county operations to a halt after tax anticipation notes are gone which can be used the first two years. Loughmiller said there are many ramifications of such action the county taxpayers might regret, but he said he agrees property taxes are near a breaking point.

In going through various department budgets, taxpayers objected to the high cost of revaluation programs which they felt are not needed. They were told by Assessor Clifford Thompson the counties have no choice but to carry out the state law and to dig up the cost. He said if local records were not in good shape and presently established property values accurate it would cost the county double the $85,000 budgeted for this.

Max Gallely, Hansen, questioned the hiring of a professional appraisal firm as the most economic means of revaluation.

carrying out the work. Taxpayers complimented County Treasurer Ruth Jones on her close budgeting and one taxpayer suggested perhaps more women should be elected to offices.

Other objections of taxpayers voiced Monday included a $50,000 amount in the janitor's budget which commissioners explained is for remodeling of the present jail and sand blasting the outside of the old courthouse. Several taxpayers suggested building cleaning plans be delayed until taxpayer pressure is lifted through broader base taxation.

Sheriff Paul Corder, unable to attend the hearing because of a trip to Texas to pick up a prisoner, did not answer questions regarding the increased sheriff's budget.

Commission Chairman

William Chancey said he shares concern over higher costs in county law enforcement but said court reform and other new laws have caused much of this, plus increased drug use by juveniles and increasing use of automobiles.

He said the sheriff's staff now numbers 17 with one man new this year. Four automobiles will be purchased, he said, to replace those with high mileage.

Other topics questioned included the hospital budget which makes up most of the total county budget figure at $3,255,260. All but about $150,000 of this will come from hospital revenue and of the $150,000 another $12,000 will be made up by phase-out tax money reducing the amount property taxpayers will have to provide to about $136,000.

Rodeo board plans for national event

TWIN FALLS — The local board planning the National High School Rodeo which will be held in August at Filer met Monday to continue working on plans for the event.

Armour Anderson, chairman of the committee, said Miss Rodeo America, Lana Bracknbury, Jerome, has accepted an invitation to be grand marshal of a parade which will be on Aug. 3, opening date of the rodeo. The affair will continue through Aug. 8 when the finals will be held.

Tim Oyler, Pocatello, who was bull fighter at last year's nationals, also will appear at Filer. Cotton Rosser will be rodeo producer and John Hutson of Wisconsin will be the main announcer, Anderson said.

Otto Florence Jr. and James Sinclair were named Monday to head up a committee which will sell advertising spaces on the chutes and bleachers at the fairground. Anderson said the funds will be used for operating expenses.

Lynn Koch of KMVT was named to head publicity, replacing Gordon Glasmann, former manager of KMVT. Anderson said about 600 high school students are expected to arrive in Twin Falls the first of August.

Warren Barry is head of a committee to arrange for concessionaires and also to set up western wear and equipment displays in the merchants building at the fairgrounds.

Anderson said all three major television networks, ABC, NBC and CBS, have been invited to telecast the finals, but no commitments have been received.

Anderson said there will be five awards made in each contest. Top prize will be a saddle, with chaps, trophies and buckles being awarded to other youngsters placing in competition.

The Early Bird

The first candidate to announce formally his bid for the Democratic nomination for President is Senator George McGovern of South Dakota, who sees himself as "uniquely qualified" for that high office.

McGovern has supported liberal Democratic candidates for the Senate and has been an arch dove in demanding total American withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

However, McGovern himself apparently has felt the need to shore up his credentials and has tried to gain public attention and approval by two actions of doubtful political wisdom.

He has gone on record as favoring U.S. recognition of Red China and of throwing Chiang Kai-shek's Free Chinese government on Taiwan to the Communist wolves and he wants to get rid of J. Edgar Hoover as head of the FBI, which Hoover has directed under both Democratic and Republican Presidents for nearly forty years.

Time, of course, will take care of Hoover in due course so there isn't much to be gained by McGovern in that direction.

McGovern says the U.S. should abandon the "pure fantasy" of recognizing the Taiwan government and should recognize the Communist regime of Mao Tse-tung. This may score points with the handful of avowed Maoists on American campuses but it has no appeal to the majority of Americans, silent or vocal.

To be sure, McGovern is with the majority in his yearning for peace, but he would cut and run from Vietnam at a time when there is every indication that President Nixon's bold move to extricate us with honor is succeeding. Our experts believe we have a continuing stake in Southeast Asia that does not permit abandonment of Vietnam. None of Red China's neighbors want to be swallowed up by the Asian Colossus. We have historical obligations and treaties that cannot be summarily thrown out without inviting mistrust of all our commitments.

The more Senator McGovern seeks a gimmick to win the nomination, the more he looks like a loser.

Cartwheeling

Economic theories, unlike those of physical laws, are meant to be broken. They are easily postulated, more easily defended, but increasingly difficult to prove. Somehow, the classic circumstances upon which they depend never materialize exactly as outlined in the textbook.

Perhaps this is just as well. A computerized economy, in which every turn, dip and rise could be predicted with unerring accuracy would be a dull one. Even so, it would be pleasant if economic events turned out the way they were planned at least once in a while.

Inexact Science

The sands of economic theory are proving shifty these days. Almost no one, it seems, is sticking to the script. Former followers of John Maynard Keynes economic theories are abandoning that ship in favor of some as-yet-undefined new one.

Conversely, the President has adopted much of the Keynes doctrine in his new budget proposals, particularly the concept that back to back deficits of nearly $30 billion for two years can create a "full employment economy" without furthering the dangers of inflation.

Treasury officials say it isn't inflation but coin collectors who will make the special Eisenhower silver-dollar cost between $3 and $10 when it is released for sale.

At the lower end of the cost scale, that might be believable. But if the eventual price is on the high side it will mean the Treasury is not opposed to taking advantage of a good thing.

For those who can avoid the temptation to be among the first, the U.S. Mint also will be turning out cupro-nickel cartwheels for general circulation.

Presumably these, like any other coin, will be available at face value.

MR. SPECTATOR

Does Romance Wane?

It's getting harder and harder to be a romantic in the 20th century.

In the course of renovating its castles to attract more tourists, the state of Hesse in West Germany has turned Frankenstein's castle into a hotel. The old castle, near Darmstadt, dates back to 1252 and is where Baron Frankenstein, an early pioneer in transplant surgery, created his scary monster — at least in the novel by Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley.

Now, at a cost of $1 million, a restaurant, hotel rooms, and conference rooms have been transplanted into the place where once mysterious bubblings and blood-curdling screams echoed through dark and eerie corridors.

Another castle famed in literature has been dealt with less kindly by the modern age.

The walls of the castle at Elsinore, Denmark, where Hamlet pondered wither to be or not to be, are reported to be crumbling from the effects of sulfur dioxide and other industrial pollutants in the air. So much for romanticism.

FEDERAL SHARING

A little statistical fuel for arguments over the need for federal revenue sharing with the states:

Americans paid an average of $480 in taxes to state and local governments in fiscal 1969, reports Commerce Clearing House. This was a leap of $42 over the previous year.

Per capita state-local taxes — which grew heavier in every state — ranged from a low of $221 in Arkansas to a high of $576 in New York. California was a close second with $540 per person. Three other states — Hawaii, Nevada and Massachusetts — collected more than $450 per person.

Total state-local tax take was $76.1 billion in fiscal 1969, up $9.14 billion over 1968 and an increase of 60 per cent over 1964. Collections in 23 states are now past the $1-billion-a-year mark.

ANDREW TULLY

No Longer A Closed Mind

WASHINGTON — It is possible that Dwight D. Eisenhower, walloping par on some manicured golf course across the Styx, finds a prophet's satisfaction in President Nixon's tentative moves toward recognition of Communist China.

So far, these moves indicate only that Nixon no longer has a closed mind on the subject. He told a press conference in December that the United States "must have some communication and eventually relations with Communist China." Later, he instructed Secretary of State William P. Rogers to tell newsmen that American policy vis a vis Peking and Taiwan was under review.

But administration insiders now say recognition of Red China and its admission into the United Nations is inevitable — and probably will come before the 1972 election.

If such an eventuality occurs, a prediction made by Eisenhower during a farewell dinner for the White House press corps in January, 1961, will be fulfilled virtually on schedule. The action will be Richard Nixon's, but the script will be Eisenhower's.

He's mood that cold evening was both affable and informative, perhaps because he had unbenumbed and ingested a couple of stiff Scotches during the pre-dinner festivities. He admitted wryly he was sorry to be leaving the White House, and answered questions candidly, even submitting with unworldly grace to being put on the carpet by the New York Times' Arthur Krock, who had a number of complaints about the way things had been handled during the previous eight years.

Finally, the subject of Red China came up — in the form, I believe, of a question from that indefatigable reporter, Eddie Follard of the Washington Post. His gist was what we were going to do about the Peking regime.

"I'll tell you," said Ike,

"we've got to do something. We've got to open communications with the enemy, just as you do on the battlefield. We've got to know what they're doing. That means, eventually, establishing diplomatic relations with the Chi-Coms (an Eisenhower label) and letting them into the United Nations.

"But we can't do it now. The people and the Congress wouldn't stand for it, at this point in history. But I'll make this prediction: The United States will have recognized Red China by the early 1970's. By that time most Americans will recognize that whether we like the Red Chinese or not — and I don't — we've got to be in touch with them as a guide to our foreign policy."

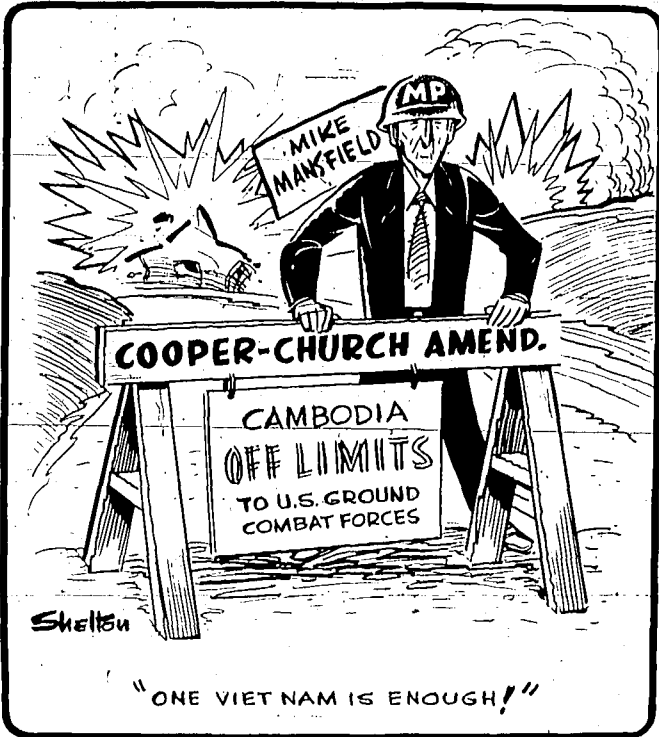

Ike, of course, had always maintained privately that the U.S. should recognize Red China. But he realized there was nothing to gain by saying so publicly; the time had not come. Indeed, his own leader in the Senate, California's Bill Knowland, threatened to quit his post and campaign against Eisenhower if the latter recommended recognition.

Today, Nixon and his foreign policy advisers are unanimous in their belief that the time has come for a pragmatic approach to the Peking problem. At the moment, their position does not contemplate the desertion of Chiang Kai-shek's Taiwan, but favors a two-China policy — that is, recognition of both Taipei and Peking, and admission of Red China alongside Taiwan in the UN.

Insiders expect Nixon to make his move this year. He is expected to argue that since China's Communist regime has proved its ability to govern China, however sternly, the U.S. no longer can black-ball a nation of 800 million people. He will argue that the UN cannot be a world organization unless it represents the world as it is, not as we would like it to be.

The voice will be Richard Nixon's, but the proposition will come. Indeed, his own leader in the Senate, California's Bill Knowland, threatened to quit

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Stomach Acid

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What forms the hydrochloric acid in your system? Are there certain foods that contain this? — Mrs. J.C.

Dear Doctor: Have been troubled with lack of hydrochloric acid for some time and taking tablets for this. Would lack of acid cause a bitter taste in my mouth? — R.E.H.

Hydrochloric acid — but in extremely dilute form — is one of the necessary gastric juices which help digest our food. It helps break down the food into forms that can be absorbed by the intestine.

That does not mean we have to have acid foods in the diet to obtain this hydrochloric acid, nor do we have to eat special foods to obtain the ingredients from which the acid is created.

Hydrochloric acid, you see, is (chemically speaking) a very simple substance. It consists of only two elements, hydrogen and chlorine. Both are very common elements, contained in any number of foods — for one, common table salt is sodium chloride, which provides ample chlorine. There is hydrogen in sugars, starches, water, and any number of other things.

Anyway, the supply of these elements is plentiful, and the acid is created by specialized glands in the stomach. The foods we eat then govern the rate at which the acid is released into the digestive system. Meat, for example, requires relatively plentiful acid to be digested, so when we eat it, it stimulates the release of acid.

What causes a lack of this useful digestive acid? Some ailment that prevents the specialized glands from doing their work! Pernicious anemia, once a hopeless and deadly disease, can do it — but today periodic injections of vitamin B-12 keep it under control.

Disorders of the stomach can cause it, in which case medications can be given effectively. In some instances, very dilute hydrochloric acid can be given in water; but the amount has to be calculated carefully, so a physician must prescribe the correct dose. Medication that converts to hydrochloric acid may be used instead of the dilute acid. Therefore if you find that you are lacking hydrochloric acid, do not feel it is because of something you aren't getting in your diet.

A special note to R.E.H.: Lack of acid can cause a bitter taste, along with other symptoms. But the important thing is to determine the cause of the lack of acid, and then take the appropriate steps to counteract it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please write about shingles, cause, treatment, duration. — A.W. Cause: a virus. Treatment: medications to keep the patient as comfortable as possible. Duration: variable, depending considerably upon the patient's basic health. My small booklet gives further details. "The Facts About Shingles." Send 15 cents and self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had a heel spur that was very painful. A doctor said to take an indelible pencil and draw a ring around the sore place on my heel, then put my bare foot in the shoe and it will leave a mark. Then bore a little hole in the shoe, in the middle of the ring, deep enough to take the pressure off the spur.

Later I put a pad in my shoe with a hole in it. I never had any more trouble. — Mrs. J.R. The hole in the shoe is new to me, but a pad with a hole in it has helped many a spur-sufferer.

ROBERT ALLEN AND JOHN GOLDSMITH Social Security

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's multi-goal "revolutionary" legislative program appears destined to get underway in Congress with a sharp rejection — of his recommendation for a 6 per cent across-the-board increase in Social Security payments.

Republican and Democratic leaders of both the House and Senate are set to ignore that figure as insufficient, and intend to speedily enact a 10 per cent hike retroactive to January 1.

These key legislators have expressed that intention in explicit statements to this column.

In the Senate — that was asserted by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont.; Republican Leader Hugh Scott, Pa.; Russell Long, D-La., chairman of the Finance Committee, which handles such legislation, and Wallace Bennett, Utah, senior Republican on the committee.

All cited as significant the fact that late in December the Senate passed a 10 per cent Social Security boost by an 80 to 0 vote.

"Since then," pointed out Senator Scott, "there has been no improvement in the cost-of-living situation. It's continuing to go up. The latest official report showed a one-half of one per cent rise over the previous month. For millions of needy senior citizens a 10 per cent Social Security increase is a minimum. The Senate will again approve that just as overwhelmingly as it did in December."

In the House — similar views were voiced by Democratic Floor Leader Hale Boggs, La.; Republican Floor Leader Gerald Ford, Mich., and Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, which originates such legislation, and John Byrnes, Wis., senior Republican member of the committee.

"We will take up the Social Security increase as soon as the committee is organized and ready for work," Byrnes told this column. "Chairman Mills has stated he now favors a 10 per cent hike. I feel the same way. I am sure this legislation will be acted on without delay." Other committee members said the same thing — among them newly-elected Democratic Floor Leader Hale Boggs.

"The President's 6 per cent recommendation is too little and too late," Boggs declared. "Inflation is continuing; no one can deny that, especially not after the latest official figures. And the people hit hardest by that are the millions of Social Security beneficiaries living on constantly contracting benefits."

Rep. Mills explained he now favors a 10 per cent hike because of the continued cost-of-living escalation.

Last spring the House voted a 5 per cent Social Security boost on the recommendation of the Ways and Means Committee.

RAY CROMLEY Nixon Doctrine

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It now seems clear President Nixon is extending the Nixon Doctrine to American economic strategy.

In foreign aid, as in foreign military alliances the U.S. profile will be lowered.

More assistance will be channeled through regional and worldwide organizations — the Asian Development Bank, Inter-American Development Bank, World Bank, International Development Association, Inter-American Social Development Institute.

A prerequisite for aid (where feasible) will be the willingness of the country seeking help to do what it can for itself with the resources it has.

The includes a willingness to assess and collect taxes and step down hard on evaders, a readiness to cut government corruption to manageable levels, a program for bringing inflation under control and willingness to eliminate unnecessary government spending. That is, it sometimes will require very tough domestic measures.

More of the economic aid, planning for countries and regions will be done by local planners, less by Americans. The United States will step up technical and administrative training programs for countries or regions short of first-rate economists, economic administrators and technicians. More countries will be pressured to give more aid. The theory here is that even underdeveloped lands have some specialists who can pass expert knowledge along to others. And many countries are rich enough to do more than they're now doing.

The new Nixon emphasis shows up in his fiscal 1971 supplementary requests to Congress, in his 1972 budget just out, and in programs being discussed at the White House, the State Department and the Agency for International Development.

One objective is to keep the United States out of the internal politics of foreign countries.

Direct aid has too often embroiled this nation in local domestic differences and, at times, brought us more enemies than friends. (This is not solely an American problem. A recent U.S. study has found Moscow plagued with the same troubles.)

The second objective, of course, is to make the American dollar go for more. Obviously, the United States can't give each underdeveloped country all the aid it requires. American aid must be channeled where it will be most effective. And used as seed money to trigger other giving and greater efforts by the country being helped.

The third objective is to get more effective foreign aid. Government and private studies have shown that American planning for the needs of a foreign country is often unsuitable to local conditions — and sometimes does more harm than good.

CSI art exhibit

Current exhibit . . .

UNIQUE "MOVABLE" sculpture designs from the Ruth White Gallery of New York City are featured this month in the Fine Arts Center at the College of Southern Idaho. Created by Doris Chase, the untitled "sculptures" include wooden carvings of a surrealist design placed loosely on and within other wooden carvings. The sculpture, said the artist, "creates an interplay of perception and appreciation and participation." The art work seeks a "new kind of spectator," she said; "not just an observer but one who will actively work with the movement and arrangement of its interacting parts . . ." Whatever the meaning, the sculptures are indeed unusual and, in many cases, quite attractive.

Concert artists praised for outstanding program

By MARY JANE KINNEY
TWIN FALLS — An outstanding musical front was presented by artists Lowell and Naomi Farr Saturday evening at the College of Southern Idaho's Fine Arts Auditorium. Sponsored by the Magic Valley Junior Music Club, this Young People's Concert brought listening pleasure to students, parents, teachers, and other supporters of fine music, and it was rewarding to note the enthusiasm and excellent audience behavior of the countless young people attending the concert.

This husband and wife team, now artists in residence and faculty members of the University of Utah and acclaimed world-wide as established musical artists, was very wise in the program selections. The entire evening moved at an exciting pace, with exquisite pieces of grand and familiar piano and vocal literature interpreted with intensity and beauty.

Lowell Farr is not only an outstanding piano soloist but an exceptionally fine accompanist. His accompaniments for his wife showed him in the role of "collaborating pianist," for they were an integral part of the beauty of the vocal work, with his instrumental work sensitive yet giving the maximum support to his lovely wife.

Farr's piano solos included brilliant and technically flawless sonatas by Scarlatti, the favorite "Ballade in F minor" by Chopin, and two impressionistic numbers by Debussy and Ravel. Both Farris seem to have a special love for the works of the French impressionists.

Naomi Farr, soprano, has concertized extensively in Europe and America, and has sung at many European opera houses as well as the New York City Opera. Her two operatic songs, Puccini's great aria from "La Boheme" and the beloved "Depois le Jour" from "Louise" by Charpentier were great favorites with the audience. Her singing of the exciting Spanish songs by deFalla and the Debussy songs, showed why she has received rave notices for her interpretation of art songs in French and Spanish as well as German and Italian. She sings with great ease and authority, and her voice is pure and alluringly lyric. Both Mr. and Mrs. Farr have interpretive ability of the highest order. This great interpretive ability and musicianship were shared with teachers and students from throughout Magic Valley all day Saturday as the Farris conducted piano and voice master classes at the College of Southern Idaho Choral Room. Mr. and Mrs. Farr proved to be "master" teachers, as they commented on the various performances of fine area pianists and vocalists who demonstrated selections from various periods of musical literature. Playing for Farr's piano master class were students Sue Ann Johnson, Twin Falls; Patty Su School, Wendell; Jo Ann Vincent, Filer; and Mrs. Robert Blastgood, Filer piano teacher. Don Seltz, a piano student from Boise College, was a special guest at the master class and played the Rachmaninoff "Concerto No. 2."

Mrs. Farr discussed operatic, llder, and art songs at the voice master class and gave interpretation aids and a comprehensive survey of vocal literature. Assisting her were Twin Falls soloists Mary Walker, Joyce Guyer, Joann Carr and Martie Maud, and Jacques Westendorf of Filer and Fran Woodhead of Jerome.

As the two artists were winners of National Young Artist Awards through the National Federation of Music Clubs and are well aware of the help the music clubs give students, they are especially pleased to help promote the scholarship program of this fine organization and to aid and inspire music students of this area. These are the first master classes sponsored as a federation project in Idaho.

Special guest for the day's musical activities were two National Federation of Music Clubs dignitaries, Mrs. Charles L. Wilson, Nampa, National Parks district president, and Mrs. Ralph Comstock, Sr., Boise, who is the Idaho National board member of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

For Mrs. Comstock this was a sentimental occasion. When Lowell Farr was 12 years old he entered his first Junior Music Festival in Pocatello, the first ever held in Idaho, and Mrs. Comstock was chairman of that festival. At that time, Mrs. Comstock recalled, Lowell Farr's piano teacher was Eugene Perrine of Twin Falls. Many years later, Mrs. Comstock was in New York City, attending a convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs and heard Naomi Farr win the Young Artists Audition. Mrs. Comstock has followed the musical careers of the Farris with interest and love, and it was a touching reunion Saturday.

Valentine queens honored at ball

A beautifully-arranged reception was held honoring the Farris after the concert at the new Commons building at the College of Southern Idaho. Mrs. Elva Knowles was reception chairman.

General Chairman for the Young People's Concert was Mrs. Donald Youtz. Mrs. Youtz was also responsible for arranging the master classes, and she is to be congratulated for the success of the entire day of musical highlights.

TWIN FALLS — Looking pretty as pictures, six Magic Valley Beta Sigma Phi Valentine queens were honored during the sorority-sponsored Sweetheart Ball Saturday night at the Twin Falls Elks Lodge.

They each received a queen's tiara and a bouquet of roses and honored with a special dance. Mike Tegan served as master of ceremonies.

Those honored were Rena Perfect, Psi Chapter Jerome; Thehna Lee, Xi Zeta Chapter; Chris Pearson, Omicron Chapter; Sue Pennington, Sigma Chapter; Darcy Guerry, Omega Chapter, Buhl, and Pat Eriksen, Xi Omicron Chapter, Buhl.

This is the second year the six sororities have held their combined ball and it proved to be a huge success. Guests from throughout Magic Valley attended the semi-formal event, with Ray Crumbliss and the Saints providing the dance music.

Booklore review given

DECLIO—Members of the Declo Booklore Club met at the home of Mrs. Joseph Gillett for their monthly meeting and heard a review given by Mrs. Gillett. It was announced today: "Secret in the Cave," written by Jennie Brown Hawlings, was the book selected by Mrs. Gillett for the review. The story, based on events in the life of the author, "took" place when she lived at Crystal, Idaho.

Jennie, nearly 16, suffered the trials and joys of growing into womanhood and was involved in a mystery which surrounded the cave and the secrets kept by a mysterious stranger in town.

It was announced the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lovell Turner.

Benefit card Nurses association party held panel set Feb. 17

HANSEN—Mrs. Katherine McNinch was high score woman and O. S. Jacobs, Twin Falls, was high score man during the fifth in a series of benefit card parties held Saturday night at Woodman Hall, co-sponsored by the Modern Woodmen of America and Royal Neighbor of American lodges.

Second high score winners were Mrs. Wilbur Trout, for women, and Joe Hill, men. Mrs. Trout won the special prize; Mr. Trout the cake, and Jacobs the traveling prize. There were 11 tables in play.

DUP camp lesson given

BURLEY—Members of the Mary Fanny Mariah Camp of the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers met at the home of Mrs. Ardella Grunig. It was announced today. The lesson, Pioneer Handicrafts, was given by Mrs. Agnes Colfer.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Ida Horne. Mrs. Ora Lee Craner led the singing and Mrs. Lucille Jamison gave the prayer.

The book, "Pioneer Heritage," was awarded to Linda Duke.

TWIN FALLS—District No. 1 Idaho Nurses' Association will present a panel discussion on "Home Care—A Community Responsibility" at 8 p.m. in Room 205 of the CSI-Shield's Academic Building Feb. 17.

A panel moderated by Dolores Sims, a member of INA and a nursing instructor at CSI, will discuss the lack of existing home care services, the need to provide these services—particularly to those eligible for such home visits through Medicare benefits, and the availability of federal funds for such services.

Panelists will review the community and professional responsibility involved in developing such services; the need for providing associate degree nursing students clinical experiences in comprehensive home health nursing care, and the role of the community hospital in providing such services.

Winners named
HANSEN—Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Macaw and Mr. and Mrs. W. I. McFarland received high score prizes at the Ace Hi Pinocle Club meeting Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ripley. Mrs. Kenneth Naylor received the traveling prize.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I see where the fellows of the 8th Security Police Squadron (Combat) want a plump picture of you, and you agree to favor them with only a "head" shot.

While I was doing free-lance news photography, I had the pleasure of meeting you a couple of years ago, and while you have taken some rather pointed pot shots at bachelors (and I am one), you are a real good looking gal with a cute (but tiny) figure, and with what you have to offer as a photographic subject, the boys of that Police Squadron rate a photo that is a little more inclusive than just a "head" shot.

I'm not suggesting something suitable for Playboy magazine, but a photo in keeping with your image and station in life. I would even volunteer to do one free for nuttin', if it wouldn't antagonize your husband.

JAMES A. BERRIGAN
SCOTIA, N. Y.

DEAR MR. B.: Thanks for your generous offer, but I just asked my husband if you could take my picture, and he gave me a quick negative.

DEAR ABBY: Twenty-two years ago we bought this crib which we placed next to our bed. We had seven children, and each one slept in that crib. The youngest is now seven and the crib has been empty for more than four years, but my husband refuses to let me take it away. Whenever I suggest moving the crib out, he gets real angry and says I can move it out when he's dead and not until. He hangs a lot of shirts on it that he has worn only once and doesn't want washed yet.

It's an eyesore and a nuisance. I want to take that crib away but I'm afraid to cross him. Please tell me what to do.

HATFIELD, PA.

DEAR HATFIELD: I am not about to advise a woman who is "afraid to cross" her husband to cross him anyway, and risk having her bridgework rearranged. Unless he agrees to let you replace the crib with a clothes rack, skip it.

DEAR ABBY: A wife signed "Jealous" wondered what to do when her husband announced that he was going to a nude girls show, and you made the shocking reply that after she had indicated her disapproval and he went anyway, there was nothing she could do.

Really, Abby! Surely you can do better than that. I know, I can. Besides raising holy h— if he gets out of line, I would go on a strike. No cooking, no cleaning, no laundry, no nothing. In other words, I would let him know what a rotten wife I can be if he wants to be a rotten husband.

TRAINED HIM

DEAR TRAINED: And what about the wife who goes on a strike and finds that her husband can hire someone to do all the household services she withholds? The eye for an eye theory doesn't work here. Two moves apiece and you're both blind.

Royal Neighbors convene

TWIN FALLS—Newly elected president of the Royal Neighbor Lodge, Mrs. Lillian Arnga, presided at the February meeting at the IOOF Hall, it was announced today.

Officers serving pro tem were Lara Doss and Laura Mortenson.

It was announced letters are to be written to senators and representatives of Idaho in regards to House Bill No. 25. Birthday and get-well cards will be sent to juvenile members and shutins and members who are ill will be remembered. A 25-year membership pin was presented to Mary Stearns by Mildred Shope, recorder. Mrs. Stearns was given a pin to be given to her daughter, Iola Britt, who could not be present to receive the honor. Mrs. Stearns was given the grand honors.

Yearbooks were discussed and Dorothy Treadwell and Julia Samples will prepare them. Julie Samples received the gift of the evening.

Refreshments were served by Frieda Evans, Grace Samples and Lula Farrar from a table decorated in a valentine theme. The Feb. 19 meeting is at the IOOF Hall.

Hints

An old shade of lipstick can be updated by prudent mixing. Get three inexpensive glosses—frosted, amber and pink. Try the glosses over the old shade. The combinations are countless.

Buy roasts large enough to provide meat for two or three meals. A 9-pound, double cut blade chuck roast, about four and a half inches thick, is a particularly good buy.

Never soak iron skillets over long periods. Soaking discolors them.

If you keep a bottle with poisonous ingredients in your bath cabinet, fasten the top down with a piece of adhesive tape. This will keep you from mistaking it for something else.

Ironing over spots and stains will set them.

Stately old home houses new business

TWIN FALLS—A business with a personality is what Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Anderson had in mind when they began converting a stately old brick home at 1703 Addison Ave. E. into a fabric shop.

New customers at the Copy Cat fabric boutique which opened last week agree they achieved their goal.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, formerly in the motel business, purchased the old home from Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Keveren, several months ago. They have spent the past two months in paint-spattered Levi's and faded shirts doing all of the redecorating themselves. They selected a color scheme of black and white accented by red velvet, red shag carpet and gold printed carpet.

With the idea of making their business different than the run of the mill fabric counter, the Andersons removed partitions in the old home to provide enlarged areas for display of merchandise and added lots of white paint.

Two special features have proven favorites of customers. These include the attractive front room in which comfortable chairs and a dining table provide space for customers to look through pattern books to make their selections, and the bridal department. An upstairs bedroom has been converted into a bridal department. Here all types of materials are available and customers may lay out bolts of cloth on a large bed, compare and combine material and trim.

Mrs. Anderson said Wilma Beams, Hazelton, is available for hand tailoring for brides who do not sew but wish their own special selection of style and material.

Mrs. Anderson, who says she has always wanted a fabric shop, said she had a name selected many years ago but discarded it in favor of the "Copy Cat" because the items offered are copies of costly originals available at a price the average seamstress can afford.

Four major patterns are available including the Vogue designer patterns, Butterick, Simplicity and McCalls. Handbags, costume jewelry and all types of sewing accessories are also available.

The business will be open six days a week from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Mrs. Kenneth (Grace) Keveren, former owner of the home which has been converted into the business, said it is probably one of the more elaborate early homes in the city.

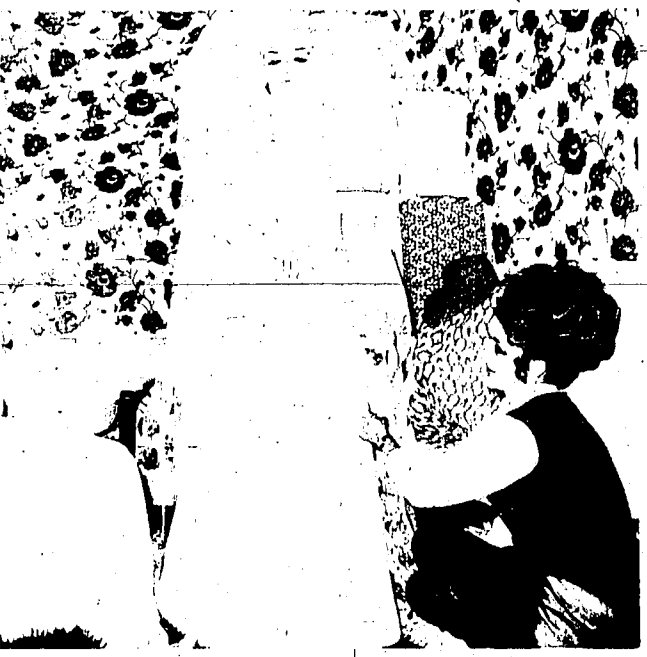

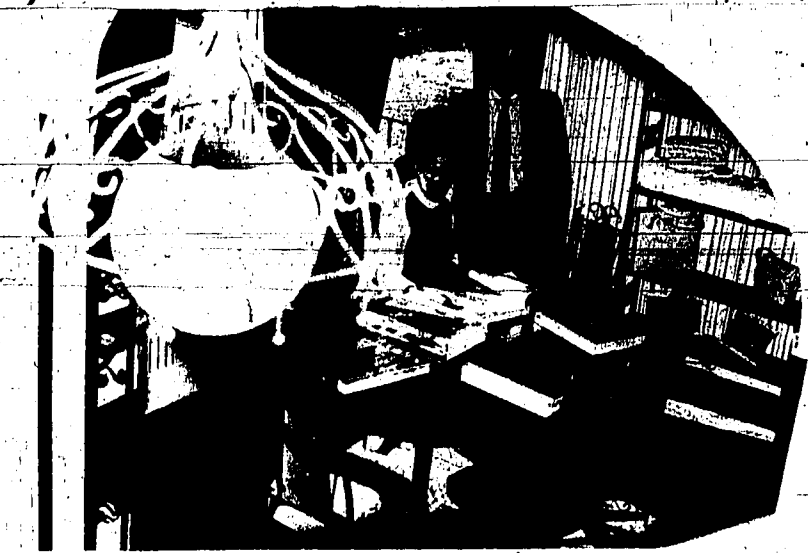

It was built in 1910 as a country home on a "little traveled road" leading into town. Mr. and Mrs. Carrico built the home on their 20-acre farm. A spacious lawn was enclosed by an iron fence and rose trellis at the front.

The little traveled street became Addison Avenue, named for Addison T. Smith, former senator who resided on the avenue near the Carrico home when in town.

Mrs. Keveren said the property which she and her husband acquired in 1947 following the death of Mrs. Carrico had once included a carriage house and was surrounded by a cherry orchard. Two mulberry trees on the west side of the house, planted to attract birds, have been removed to make way for a parking area. Mr. Carrico died in 1937 and his widow remained in the large home until her death 10 years later. In 1947 a large red barn and granary still stood on the property.

Mr. and Mrs. Keveren completely remodeled the home and painted the red brick exterior white. Originally the second story of the home was green shingles and windows were painted with white trim. Two years ago the Keverens moved, selling the old Carrico home to Mr. and Mrs. Anderson last November.

Mrs. Keveren said the "gazebo" is not an innovation of new downtown alone as the old Carrico concrete cistern was built beneath a gazebo and screened in at the rear of the lot.

New business . . .

COMFORTABLE chairs and a dining table provide space for customers to look through pattern books to make their selections at the Copy Cat fabric boutique which opened recently in Twin Falls at 1703 Addison Ave. E. Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Anderson, top picture, opened the shop last week. A bridal department, as featured in the bottom picture, is housed upstairs in the converted old brick home, where all types of materials are available and customers can lay out bolts of cloth on a large bed to compare and combine material and trim.

Gooding OK's Budget

WITH THEIR HELP, Magic Valley Country Music Association members are told, the future Harbor House building will soon stand on this property donated by Our Savior Lutheran Church. Here Charles Crane, musician, Harbor House board members Reed P. Maughan and Helen Henderson, and Robert Knight and Rudy Williamson, musicians, all from left, discuss forthcoming fund raising Country Music Jamboree.

Blaine approves $545,205 budget

HAILEY — Blaine County commissioners approved the 1971 county budget of $545,205 Monday following a day of public hearing sessions in which not one taxpayer appeared to voice protest, county officials said today.

The budget is about $47,000 higher than the 1970 figure and includes additional financing for solid waste disposal, zoning, and planning, and a new ambulance service. Commissioners budgeted $7,500 for the start of a zoning program in the county. Nine persons met with the commissioners to discuss county zoning, said county auditor and clerk, George McCoy.

He said most were opposed to zoning but were told an ordinance to establish county zoning is now being prepared and will be ready for the March meeting. Delegates were advised to meet with the commissioners in March when details would be available and a more informative discussion could be conducted.

School expenses approved

VALLEY U.S. — Valley school board members approved a number of travel expense requests in their meeting Monday night including the trip of Dr. Tom Utterback, school superintendent, who will attend a National District Attorneys' Conference on Drug Abuse.

The meeting will be held in April in Las Vegas, Nev. Trips for Arlyn Boddy, principal of the Valley High School, to an alcoholic symposium in Salt Lake City June 12, and the wrestling team to the state tournament in Boise Feb. 18 were also approved. Authorized to accompany the school wrestlers were Coach Robert Reulotte and Boddy.

Dr. Utterback and Harold Grant, board member, will attend a planning conference on education in Boise in the near future.

Reports to the trustees included a proposed high school media center as outlined by the school librarian.

Jerome doctor 'critical'

SUN VALLEY — Dr. Jon D. Wilmoth, a Jerome physician, was listed in critical condition today at Sun Valley Hospital, where he is being treated for severe concussion and other injuries suffered in a snowmobile accident.

Dr. Wilmoth reportedly struck a guy wire on Jan. 30 while riding a snowmobile in the Beaver Creek area of the Sawtooth range.

Dr. Paul Houston, Twin Falls radiologist who works with the Sun Valley Hospital, said Dr. Wilmoth had been taken off the critical list late last week, but has apparently suffered a relapse over the weekend.

In Jerome, local physicians have volunteered to work for Dr. Wilmoth, according to Dr. James Sloat, chief of staff at St. Benedict's Hospital.

Jerome doctors will work a morning each at Dr. Wilmoth's office to take care of his patients, Dr. Sloat said.

Gooding names school trustee

By PEGGY CHU Times-News Correspondent

GOODING — Arden Stutzman, Gooding farmer and businessman, was appointed to the Gooding school board Monday night. He fills the vacancy caused by the death of Bill Franke.

Stutzman, who operates a tractor repair shop as well as a farm, will serve until the trustee election in May and has indicated he will seek election for a regular term at that time.

Trustees decided to send telegrams to Gooding County legislators, Sen. Don Fredericksen and Rep. Vern Ravenscroft, supporting House Bill 38 which allows teachers to attend board meetings to confer on problems.

Supt. Dee Keller said Gooding teachers always have been welcome to do this in the Gooding school district.

Trustees approved contracts for 15 teachers in the elementary grade school upon recommendation of Eugene Gibbons, principal. The rehiring of the 15 leaves two positions still open.

Ten teachers were rehired at the junior high school upon recommendation of Louis Darfee, principal there. He said there are no vacancies at that school.

Trustees are considering applications for the position of high school principal since James Muscut, present principal, has been hired as superintendent for next year.

Supt. Keller said salary increases for teachers are under consideration, but no action will be taken until the legislature determines the state school support. Last year Gooding teachers got a $300 raise and have had some raise each year for the last 13 years, Keller said.

Kimberly girl, 4 burned

KIMBERLY — Leslie Rae Curtis, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Curtis, Kimberly, is in good condition today at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital with third degree burns received in an accident at the Curtis home Sunday evening.

Curtis said the child apparently crawled onto the kitchen counter and turned on a burner on the electric stove. When she reached across the stove for a salt shaker, her pajama tops burst into flames.

The child's 12-year-old sister, Wendy, brushed the fire out with her hands and put the injured child into a tub of cold water.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis returned home just after the accident occurred and Mrs. Curtis rushed Leslie to the hospital. Wendy received burns on her hands when she brushed the fire out.

Remodeled

THE OLD POLICE COURT AT THE Twin Falls Police Department has been converted into a records room. The courtroom, largest room at the station, was remodeled and repainted by donated labor, according to Chief Frank Barnett. Here records officer Bill Stonezems looks through wreck reports, part of countless files kept by the department. The move to the new room will allow more "breathing room" for the rapidly growing records system.

By PEGGY CHU Times-News Correspondent

GOODING — Gooding County commissioners adopted the 1971 budget Monday after an all-day session at which no protests were registered but members of the Gooding County Tax Equality Association attended.

The new budget is $503,310, compared to $787,509 last year, for a reduction of $284,199.

Seven members of the tax equality group, headed by Alan Erwin, chairman, attended the budget hearing to review each item with commissioners.

It was pointed out the sheriff's budget is up $16,350 from last year, partly because a police radio will be manned 24-hours daily in that office. Calls will include fire and calls from other cities throughout the county requesting law enforcement officers.

Ben Glauner, commission chairman, said the city of Gooding will reimburse the county $7,000 for this service, which will help cover the cost of the extra personnel needed in the sheriff's office.

He said he would like to see the other towns in the county who will benefit from the radio service, assist in payment for the service. These are Wendell, Hagerman and Bliss.

The tax equality members asked about reduction in the clerk's budget. Vivian Burden, newly elected county clerk, said a decrease of $4,385 is shown in this year's budget but it actually is greater than this because some of last year's salaries in the clerk's office were budgeted to other departments.

One of the largest reductions in the new budget, besides the courthouse construction costs, is the assessor's budget which is down $3,935. Wes Trunson, assessor, said revaluation costs also have been cut $2,200.

The courthouse budget is $72,000 this year, compared to $10,134 last year, or a reduction of $237,234 because the new building is nearly complete.

Hansen to apply for funds

HANSEN — An application for federal funding to assist with renovation and improvement of the district's hot lunch program was authorized Monday night by the Hansen school board.

Approval has been received from the state for $4,500 in non-food assistance, about three-fourths of this being federal money. It will be used, Supt. William C. Bernard said, to purchase an automatic dishwasher, garbage disposal unit, pre-rinse unit, electric booster water heater and 21 feet of stainless steel counter top for the hot lunch kitchen.

Barnard said trustees voted not to purchase a new school bus this year as there is still one year of depreciation left on the one planned for trade-in. School trustees said a plant facilities levy election will be held this year to authorize more than the 30 mills set by the state. A trustee election will also be held to fill two trustee posts with terms of Robert Pettygrove and Everett Norris expiring.

Budget

RECORD ATTENDANCE for a county budget hearing was recorded Monday by Twin Falls County Commissioners. More than 40 persons attended a day-long hearing in the district court rooms. Here County Commission Chairman William Chancey, standing, and Commissioner Merl E. Leonard, seated, answer questions about airport financing.

Action on a possible new elementary school building, under discussion for several months, was delayed until after the close of the present state legislative session. Members said at that time they should know more about state regulations on funding and other school matters.

Shoshone rehires teachers

SHOSHONE — All teachers of the Shoshone school district, who hold continuing contracts at this time were offered contract renewals today by school trustees.

Superintendent Kenneth Crothers said the school board voted in the regular meeting Monday night to offer such renewals. Last month administrators were offered their contracts and both teachers and administrators have until April 1 to indicate acceptance.

Trustees Wayne Sorenson, Herbert Forbes and Waldon Jones were named to a committee to determine the number of new school buses needed in the coming year. They will report at the next board meeting.

Hearing set for tonight

By CHARLOTTE BELL Times-News Correspondent

JEROME — Interested persons are urged to attend a hearing at 7:30 p.m. today in the state capitol, Boise, on legislation to restore and protect the scenic attractions of the Thousand Springs area in the Snake River.

John LeMoine, Hagerman, member of the Magic Valley Recreation Council, said he has been asked by Rep. Vern Ravenscroft, Tuttle, to urge attendance at the hearing by the 14-member Resources and Conservation committee, to which Ravenscroft belongs. It will be held in the Gold Room at the capitol.

The bill, introduced last week in the House of Representatives by Rep. Ravenscroft and Rep. Earl Greenawald, R-Jerome, would accomplish five things, according to Ravenscroft.

It would place the canyon area of the Malad River above the present diversion of river water under jurisdiction of the Idaho Parks Board, would complete restoration of the Thousand Springs area along the Snake River Canyon when Idaho Power ceases activity there.

False alarm

TWIN FALLS — Trucks from the Twin Falls City Fire Department were dispatched to the College of Southern Idaho Monday night, but firemen said the alarm was a false alarm.

The incident occurred about 10:30 p.m. Monday, and Tuesday morning repairmen still were working on the alarm system. There have been several false alarms at the college.

Richfield retains teachers

RICHFIELD — Richfield School Superintendent Nell Anderson said today that all Richfield district school teachers were rehired for one year by trustees at a board meeting Monday evening.

The resignations of two grade-school teachers, Mrs. Mary Browning, fifth grade, who is retiring, and Walter Thoresen, seventh grade, were accepted.

Board members reviewed a recent burglary at the Richfield school. Damage to the building was estimated at $800, which is covered by insurance. Equipment loss estimated at $600, however, is not insured, the trustees were told.

Volco Builders, Jerome, were hired to repair the damage to the building.

Anderson discussed a new class in leather working at the high school, which has 15 students enrolled.

The trustees offered financial assistance to four delegates and their chaperones who will attend the Tri-State Girls' League Conventioneer in Pullman, Wash., later this year.

Report due on national conclave

TWIN FALLS — A report from four members of the Magic Valley Home Builders Association who attended a meeting of the National Homebuilders Association last month in Houston, Tex., will be given when the group meets Monday.

According to Glen Call, secretary-treasurer, Bob Willis, president, and Carl Schuler, Charles Perry and Bob Lassiter, will speak on new building trends during the meeting.

The cocktail hour begins at 6:30 p.m. at the Idaho Room of Griggs Cafe, with dinner and the meeting following at 7:30 p.m.

Camden Meyer new school aide

Trustees unanimously agreed to retain all secondary-level principals and district assistants, including J.T. Anderson, business coordinator for the district; Doyt Simcoo, director of special services; Larry Watson, school psychologist; Jay Lloyd, speech therapist, and Jim Long, buildings and grounds director.

Principals reappointed included John Lawrence, high school; Carl Snow, O'Leary Junior High School; Jack Watts, Robert Stuart Junior High; Clarence Parker, Bickel elementary; Frances Anderson, Harrison elementary; Keith Turner, Lincoln elementary; Dennis Messenger, Morningside elementary, and Mary Helen Perry, Washington elementary school.

The board will meet on Feb. 22 to hire teachers for the coming school year, Dr. Ragland said.

The problem of absentees and excessive tardies occupied the trustees and principals for nearly two hours. Morris Roth, district attendance officer, and Mrs. Curtis (Wilma) Eaton, dean of girls at O'Leary Junior High, met with the group to discuss the problem from their point of view.

Mrs. Eaton gave the trustees an outline of questions to consider, asking their help in solving the intricate problem of keeping youngsters in school and on time. She questioned whether the school district's attendance policy is "adhered to in all school units, both elementary and secondary." The principals also questioned the district's policies and whether they were consistent.

As an example, it was pointed out that accumulation of nine tardies by a student would require his suspension from school, according to official school policy. John Lawrence, high school principal, said that "many students have more than nine tardies and they're still in school." The policy has not been enforced, principally because teachers doubt the advisability of suspending students for being late to class.

The question of disciplining habitually tardy students was discussed at length. Kenneth M. Bezold, dean of boys at Robert Stuart Junior High, protested a proposal that grades be reduced for truancy or accumulation of tardies.

"You can't take away something that a student has learned," Bezold said. "How can you reduce his grade, indicating that he hasn't learned the subject, when he has? That's a false assumption."

Lawrence said the high school faculty has held to a policy that a student may not be absent more than 15 per cent of the school year — 27 days out of the 180 — without losing credit for the classes he is taking.

Some students, however, disregard this provision, Lawrence said, continuing to be absent without adequate reason "for 30 or 40 days per year."

Slaudhaber commented that "We have a number of school dropouts who haven't dropped out of class; they are continuing to go to school because their parents force them to go." In some cases, the parents require their youngsters to continue in school because they would qualify to receive welfare payments for "students," Slaudhaber said.

Should students have the right to make up schoolwork they miss when they are deliberately truant? Mrs. Eaton said O'Leary teachers are told that they are under no obligation to allow make-up work. Other educators generally agreed that if the students miss the work through their own negligence they should pay the penalty in lost grades.

The trustees agreed to take the problem under advisement.

Yankee drive lauded

NEW YORK (UPI)—The television camera may not replace the attache case in international diplomacy, but its power is "at the very heart of decision making," according to Frank J. Shakespeare, Jr., director of the United States Information Agency (USIA).

A network rerun tonight of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company's "It Couldn't Be Done," a documentary saluting America's ability to do the seemingly impossible, underlines Shakespeare's theory.

It is the first documentary, commissioned and underwritten by a commercial organization, to be used as an instrument of national policy. "I'm excited about the growth possibility of this concept since the business world is the richest source of the truly good documentary," said Shakespeare, spooning a cup of coffee.

AT&T offered the show to the USIA. Shakespeare accepted, even though it was a precedent breaking move, on the basis that it was a "believable" account of how "the spirit of man, especially the U.S. man, can conquer even a stubborn nature."

He referred to the way American workers built a Panama Canal despite malaria and slides, the Golden Gate Bridge despite horrible fog, storm and tides and other massive projects like the transcontinental railroad, the Hoover Dam and Mount Rushmore.

The AT&T show, essentially a hymn of praise for the American way of life, has been requested by 126 countries, about 30 of which already have aired it.

Auditor choice approved

BOISE (UPI) — House members approved by voice vote Monday the appointment of James A. Defenbach as legislative auditor.

There were no dissenting votes heard when Chairman H. Ford Koch, R-Boise, urged approval of the state affairs committee report recommending Defenbach's appointment be confirmed.

Rep. Jenkin L. Palmer, R-Malad, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and co-chairman of the Interim Budget and Fiscal Committee, said Defenbach has shown an ability to "seek out information from agencies without creating animosities."

"Mr. Defenbach has worked closely on both sides of the aisle," Palmer added.

Defenbach has served in the post on a temporary basis for more than a year.

Traveling trophy conferred

TWIN FALLS — The Traveling Trophy for the outstanding performance of the day was awarded jointly to Mrs. John Burkhardt and Mrs. Ben Eldredge for their Speech Contest Workshop presented at the regular meeting of the Twin Falls Toastmistress Club, it was announced today.

The invocation and pledge to the flag were led by Mrs. Ron Holsley. Mrs. G. L. Diamond welcomed the guests and members.

Number use checked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has started an investigation to determine if there is an invasion of privacy in the use of Social Security numbers by retail stores, credit agencies, police departments and others.

The use of such numbers as a convenient method of keeping track of people has become widespread in recent years, even though the identification numbers were supposed to be kept secret when the program was set up in the 1930s.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said his subcommittee on constitutional rights has received numerous complaints that the system is being abused.

He released a letter today from Secretary Elliott L. Richardson of Health, Education and Welfare, in which Richardson said he was "concerned that if the Social Security numbers were used too broadly such widespread use and dependence upon the number might lead itself to abuses of individual privacy."

Richardson ordered the Social Security administration to review its policies on the use of the number.

Ervin said his subcommittee would begin hearings Feb. 2 on the overall problem of computers, data banks and federal surveillance activities, in respect to the way they collect information about individuals and the degree to which they could threaten civil liberties.

Ervin said the computerization of law enforcement information, the widespread use of Social Security numbers for identification and the use of a federal data bank on drivers license holders represented a major potential danger to civil liberties.

Urban mayors ask public work plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mayors of the nation's 16 largest cities urged Congress Monday to pass emergency legislation to permit them to hire the unemployed in public service jobs.

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York led off the testimony at a Senate hearing as chairman of the U.S. Conference of Mayors' legislative committee.

"No problem is more damaging to our cities than unemployment," he said. "Unemployment destroys our tax base, increases welfare rolls, and cripples retail sales. In each of our cities rising unemployment levels have begun a disastrous spiral of economic decline."

The mayors endorsed a bill by Sens. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., and Jacob J. Javits, R-N.Y.

The bill would earmark annual appropriations of $750 million for each year when the national unemployment rate was 4.5 per cent.

The rate as of January was 6 per cent, the Labor Department announced Friday, with 5.4 million out of work.

Convention bid beaten

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate defeated 12-23 Monday a concurrent resolution which would have asked Congress to call a constitutional convention to provide that federal revenue be shared with states.

Sen. Wayne Kildwell, R-Boise, floor sponsor of the proposal, said under a plan outlined by President Nixon some $16 billion would be shared with states, $11 billion of it for current federally-funded programs and $5 billion for the states to use as they wish.

Kildwell, who termed the proposal one of the "most significant changes" since federal income tax was instituted, said Congress could call a constitutional convention if three-quarters of the states applied for one.

But Sen. Darrell Manning, D-Pocatello, asked his colleagues to "seriously consider" the resolution and said Idaho would have "very little voice" in such a convention.

He noted other matters could be discussed in such a constitutional convention.

Sen. John Peavey, R-Rupert, who voted against the resolution, said he felt any implementation of revenue sharing should take into effect the local taxpayers' effort and the amount of public lands within each state, adding, "I doubt if these factors would be taken into account at a constitutional convention."

Sen. Richard Egbert, D-Tonawanda, said he would oppose going to such a convention "with our strength being limited."

But Sen. Edith Miller Klein, R-Boise, said she favored the proposal, adding, "I'm going to vote in favor of the philosophy and leave the mechanics up to the federal government."

In the House, Speaker William J. French, R-Hollister, said he has arranged for the use of Capitol High School auditorium Thursday evening for a public hearing on agricultural labor legislation.

This hearing originally was scheduled for the old Supreme Court room in the Statehouse but Lanting said approximately 1,000 persons are expected to appear and that is too many for the courtroom.

The House Health and Welfare Committee held for indefinite study a bill providing for a mental health program and facility at the state prison. Chairman Rudy Andersen, R-Boise, said some committee members felt the program envisioned by the bill would duplicate other services and add additional budget problems.

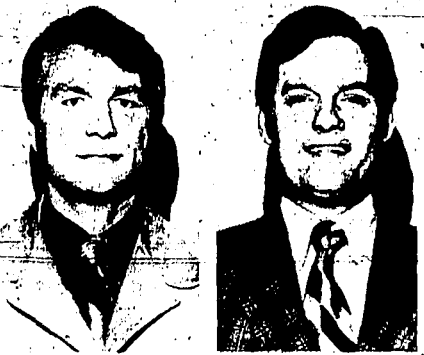

Spokesman for Idaho Nuclear Corporation, the Atomic Energy Commission and the Idaho Falls Chamber of Commerce spoke out against a proposal to make AEC buses subject to registration fees.

Not only is there a constitutional cloud on such legislation, said AEC attorney John X. Combs, Idaho Falls, but motor fuel taxes and use taxes already are being paid on those buses.

Several more bills crossed the House desk for introduction, including a measure to return the so-called "head tax" to the county of origin instead of placing the receipts in the state permanent building fund.

Major legislation was up for final consideration in both houses as the lawmakers began their fifth week.

Authoritative Symbol
Although the dome of the U.S. Capitol is more widely known and associated in the public mind with power and authority, the real symbol of federal authority is the Great Seal.

Firm names pair

APPOINTMENT of Robert Latham, left, as vice president and general manager of Abble Uriguen Oldsmobile-Bulck-Opel was announced today by Uriguen. Latham has engaged in the automobile business for the past eight years. Andy Cappel, right, was named sales manager of the firm by Uriguen. Cappel has engaged in the auto business for the past six years. Both Latham and Cappel are from Twin Falls.

Yanks pulling back

SEOUL (UPI) — U.S. combat troops will not be manning the Korean truce front beyond June and the defense of the entire border will be left to South Korean forces, President Park Chung-Hee said today.

Park issued a special statement on the recently concluded negotiations between the United States and South Korea on the modernization of the Korean armed forces and reduction by 20,000 of the 64,000 U.S. troops in Korea.

diamond to lead a fourth club and give a second overruff. After this start the hand becomes easy. If East plays his last club, South ruffs and it doesn't matter what West does. If he overruffs and leads his last trump South can set up the last club for one heart discard and will lose just one heart trick. If East plays a diamond South is able to ruff. Then he leads a heart. If another diamond is played he ruffs that also. Then he takes a second round of trumps and uses his last trump to ruff a lead of dummy's fourth club. This uses up his last trump, but dummy is now good except for West's queen of trumps. We will leave the other variations to you to work out. (Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n.)

WHERE A GIRL is brought up has much to do with how she walks. In Northern Europe, for example, the young ladies take long strides, almost in a masculine manner. In Japan, however, they mince along with little steps, shuffling somewhat. The American girl's walk is about midway between the two, depending on whether she's a city mouse or a country mouse. The rural ladies, who step out briskly, are said to be easier for a fellow to walk with. But big town girls, like women who are overweight, are known to have a finer sense of balance and "make better" dancers.

NO RECORD can be found that anybody anywhere ever saw a frog take a drink of water. . . . OUR LANGUAGE MAN says that English word with the largest number of different definitions is "set." . . . JUST ABOUT a fourth of all the patents registered at the U.S. Patent Office have something to do with cars.

YOU'VE HEARD all about the computer experts who purport to match up compatible couples. But have you heard about the encephalograph specialists who claim to do likewise? If a man's and a woman's brain waves mesh properly, these authorities aver, the pair can get along together dandy. So a few little money-making operators now advertise they match up the brain waves of single girls and eligible bachelors. Our Love and War man is skeptical.

CUSTOMER SERVICE -- Q. "Who is going to win the next presidential election? The taller of the two candidates, it's a cinch. Isn't it a fact the taller man has won every time in this century?" A. Almost a fact. But not quite. The record book says both President Nixon and Hubert Humphrey are 5-foot-11-inches. And it's a certainty the sloping-shouldered Wendell Wilkie was taller than President Franklin D. Roosevelt who wasn't on his feet much because of his ailments in those days. . . . Q. "What poison kills the most people?" A. Carbon monoxide, if you count gases.

OPEN QUESTION -- Why is river ice transparent while lake ice isn't?

"CAN YOU MAKE liquor out of catsuits?" inquires a client. That you can. In fact, understand the Bulgarians have been turning a cat suit into a People's Whiskey for several years now. It's clear. Like corn. . . . A COLLEGE PRESIDENT around the turn of the century could expect to serve in that job exactly 10.3 years. Such was average. A decade ago, the statistics show, he was apt to hold the position for 8.1 years. Now, it's less than 6 years.

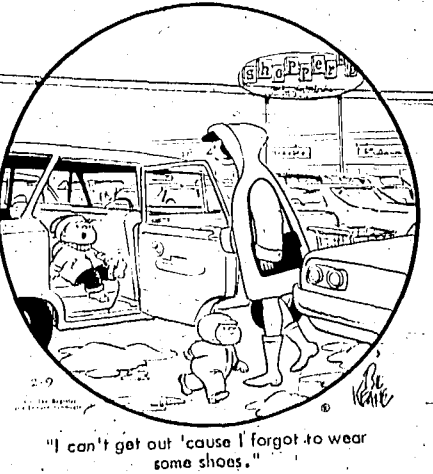

ALREADY MENTIONED the ladyfriend and I are traveling through Texas. Big state. With big ranches. An old boy in Waco told me last night he once worked on a ranch so big he never bothered with an alarm clock, but just yelled out the window every night before he went to bed, then the echo came around eight hours later to wake him up. Wait, stay put. More Texas tales coming up.

Land Bank meeting Friday

TWIN FALLS — Wayne Neel, vice president of the Federal Land Bank of Spokane, will address the annual stockholders meeting of the Federal Land Bank Association of Twin Falls Friday.

The meeting will begin at 11:15 a.m. at the Turf Club with registration. A luncheon will be served at noon and the business meeting and election is set for 1 p.m., according to W.R. Nutting, manager.

Special honors will be conferred on Elmer Dossert, Twin Falls, who will retire after 25 years of service on the board.

Neel is expected to discuss the current agricultural money market and to review progress made by the farmer-owned credit system during the past year.

Nutting said the Federal Land Bank Association of Twin Falls loaned more than $1.3 million in long term real estate mortgage credit during 1970. The association serves Twin Falls, county and part of Jerome county.

Hospital programs increased

TWIN FALLS—Bill Satterfield, plant manager for Kellwood Corp., Twin Falls, today announced a general increase in the group hospitalization program for workers at the local plant.

He said the increase is effective Feb. 1, 1971, and will give members of the plant's working forces increases in daily hospital room allowances, over-all room allowances and hospital extras.

Satterfield said the increase will represent no additional cost to the employees and will be carried entirely by the company. He said it came at a time when the economic conditions were slow but the company is carrying out its policy of providing improved benefits to employees whenever possible.

House defeats tax diversion

BOISE (UPI) — With votes to spare, the House killed, 30-10, Monday proposed diversion of inventory tax phase-out monies and sent Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' revenue advisers back to the drawing board.

Unless an alternative is found to raise the $2.3 million Andrus hoped to gain for the general fund by grabbing one-fourth of the phase-out monies, his $122.1 million budget will have to be cut that amount.

Thirty-seven Republicans and three Democrats voted against the bill after a 55-minute debate while 26 Democrats and four Republicans voted for the proposal of the Democratic governor.

Democrats against the bill were Reps. Walter Carr of Emmett, Ralph Litton of St. Anthony and Wayne Tibbitts of Lorenzo. Republicans for it were Speaker William J. Lanting of Hollister and Reps. Ernest Allen of Nampa, H. Ferd Koch of Boise and Harold Snow of Moscow.

Floor sponsor Robert Haakenson, D-Coeur d'Alene, said the pinning of the inventory tax had accomplished its purpose and that the final fourth of the replacement monies was not needed to make up the loss by local units of government.

Hearing Wednesday

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate State Affairs Committee will hold a hearing Wednesday on the appointment of Robert Lenaghan as acting director of Administrative Services following controversy Monday over recent news stories.

Lenaghan, appointed by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, fired two of his top aides — Ray Clovis as director of the Division of Management Services and D. E. "Bert" Colwell as director of the Division of Communications.

Proposals approved

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Edith Miller Kleih, R-Boise, successfully carried two measures on the Senate floor Monday which would change aspects of Idaho's present divorce laws.

One measure, approved 32-2, would allow for a 90-day reconciliation period if either party requested such an action and the court ordered, and the other, approved 32-2, would allow "irreconcilable differences" as grounds for divorce.

Mrs. Kleih said the reconciliation period would "do much to alleviate the problem of unnecessary and costly divorces." The new grounds for divorce, she said, would "in effect discard guilt as the reason for divorce" and would give a "humane means for the court to perform the severing as quickly, quietly and mercifully as possible."

Both measures were approved earlier by the house.

BOISE (UPI) — A special House revenue and taxation subcommittee unveiled Monday a central funding concept designed to distribute school aid on the basis of children and not assessed valuation.

It calls for total funding of basic instructional costs from one central area and the balance of educational costs—such as transportation, administration and capital improvements—from other sources.

Funds would be distributed on the basis of classroom units—basically, the number of teachers required to teach a certain number of children, depending on the size of the school.

In the central funding would be the state general fund appropriations, the endowment funds, and the present eight-mill county levy. Added to this would be 54 per cent of the inventory tax phase-out monies and a statewide eight-mill levy.

Under this proposal, subcommittee Chairman John Edwards, R-Council, told the full tax committee, market value of property—not assessed valuation—would be used.

Instead of an eight-mill county levy, as presently imposed, against assessed valuation there would be a 1.6 mill levy placed on the property's market value.

There also would be an additional levy of comparable size applied on a statewide basis against the market value of all privately-owned property in the state.

Together, these two levies would produce $22.4 million of the proposed central school funding for the forthcoming year. To this would be added $40.6 million in general fund appropriations proposed by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, $4 million in endowment fund earnings, and $5 million in inventory tax phase-out monies.

At present, schools get 54 per cent of the inventory tax phase-out monies, distributed when the monies are sent back to the counties under a somewhat distribution formula. These monies would still go to the schools, but on a child rather than property valuation basis.

There would be a total $78 million in the central funding from which transportation costs would be taken off the top—leaving about $176 million toward the proposed $175 million anticipated for the public schools. This would exclude non-structural expenses which would come from the local tax base, enrichment would be provided locally any federal funds.

This central funding then would be disbursed on the basis of classroom units of which there are 7,567 in the state, the subcommittee reported.

Recognizing it costs more money to educate children in small schools in sparsely-settled areas, the size of the classroom unit differs according to school size.

For the first six elementary grades, it would be up to the Department of Education to determine how many children in average daily membership it would take to make up a classroom unit in schools having 79 or fewer pupils.

From 80 to 100 children in ADM it would take 19 to comprise a classroom unit, for 100 to 165 it would take 21, for 165 to 250 it would take 23, and for schools having more than 250 it would take 25.

For secondary schools—including both junior and senior—the Department of Education would make the determination for schools having 99 or fewer students. For those having 100 to 140 it would take 17, for 140 to 195 it would take 19, for 195 to 256 it would take 21 and for those larger than 256 it would take 23 to make up a classroom unit.

Rep. Harold Belt, D-Craigmont, expressed concern about giving the Department of Education authority to say how many classroom units there will be in the smaller schools. But Edwards assured him "this is not a school consolidation bill."

Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, D-Tuttle, pointed out that smaller schools do not have the "potential to operate as efficiently as larger units so the small school is compensated for it."

perated left, cooler heads prevailed. Instead of a tougher law, talk began of softening the gun control act. By the end of the 91st Congress, the record-keeping requirements for all but .22 caliber rifle ammunition had been lifted, and the house had passed a bill exempting .22 ammunition as well.

McClure said, "the real goal of is the repeal of the entire act. I am convinced that sooner or later this will happen."

McClure proposes repealing gun act

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, Monday called for repeal of the Gun Control Act of 1968.

In introducing the repealer bill, McClure said, "a lot of people think this is an exercise in futility and that gun control act is something the American people will have to learn to live with. I reject that view entirely."

McClure said when the act was first rushed through Congress, the nation had just endured two political assassinations and most people were projecting that an even tougher firearms law would be passed the next year.

He said as the emotional period left, cooler heads prevailed. Instead of a tougher law, talk began of softening the gun control act. By the end of the 91st Congress, the record-keeping requirements for all but .22 caliber rifle ammunition had been lifted, and the house had passed a bill exempting .22 ammunition as well.

McClure said, "the real goal of is the repeal of the entire act. I am convinced that sooner or later this will happen."

Market aid bill defeated

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate killed a proposal Monday which would have appropriated $5,000 from the general fund to pay for office space and expenses for the federal livestock market reporting service.

Sen. David Blvens, R-Payette, said the office is presently located in Ogden, but said it must relocate by or prior to the end of February.

He said the total $5,000 may not be needed, but said since 80 per cent of the transactions take place in Idaho approval of the appropriation would show legislative intent to support the service.

But opposition came from legislators who questioned the wisdom of appropriating funds during the tight budget situation and from others who questioned helping one commodity group.

Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, said the legislature must appropriate $115 million to $125 million to fund existing programs, adding, "while I realize $5,000 is but a drop in the bucket we must start with the first drop."

Sen. Art Manley, D-Coeur d'Alene, added, "few of us realize or even begin to realize the extent of the financial crisis we face in the state today."
