U.S. war jets bomb CIA's secret force

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. warplanes accidentally bombed the headquarters of a "clandestine army" organized by the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) in Northern Laos. American sources in Vientiane said today 10 persons were killed and 20 wounded.

Several clusters of anti-personnel bombs were dropped on the base at Long Cheng, about 80 miles north of Vientiane, the capital of Laos, on Sunday by two U.S. Air Force Phantom jets. The jets apparently dropped their bombs too early because of the accidental misfiring of a signal flare by an American on the ground at the base, the sources said.

The air strikes were being flown a few hours after North Vietnamese troops attacked the base, headquarters for the guerrilla army commanded by Meo Hill tribe leader Maj. Gen. Vang Pao and sponsored by the CIA. The American sources in Vientiane said all of the killed and wounded were Meo tribesmen. There had been earlier reports one of the wounded was American.

There are CIA advisers, U.S. Air Force personnel and Americans who supervise U.S. military assistance operating on the base.

After the Communist attack on the base, American sources said, the Meo tribesmen retook positions on the skyline ridge overlooking it, the site of an American communications station and air navigation transmitter.

It was the eighth "protective reaction" strike against North Vietnamese missile sites this year.

Truck kills deaf student

GOODING — A 13-year-old deaf student at the Idaho State School for Deaf and Blind was struck and killed by a pickup truck while on his way to church services at 8:55 a.m. Sunday.

Police Chief Lyle Clifford said John Hungerford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Liebert, St. Anthony, was with three other deaf students and they were going to the LDS Church for church services.

Clifford said the youth ran north of the school's administration building, through some spruce trees and out into 13th Avenue East in front of the vehicle driven by Richard Meyers, 24, Gooding.

Clifford said Meyers tried to stop in time, but couldn't. The youth was knocked 37 feet. He was dead on arrival at Gooding Memorial Hospital.

A spokesman at the school's office said it has been the policy of the school to allow the older students to travel unaccompanied to any church services they wish but the younger students are picked up at the school.

Clifford said this was the first pedestrian fatality in three years in Gooding. Assisting Clifford with the investigation was city patrolman Vern Esterbrook and deputy sheriff Jim Burke.

Tradition dies Britain switches to decimal system today

LONDON (UPI) — Britain "went decimal" today. At midnight, amid widespread predictions of near-chaos, it scrapped its 800-year-old pounds-shillings-pence money system. In its place went a new dollar-and-cents style decimal money, similar to those in the United States and continental Europe.

When stores opened, British housewives found an estimated 80 per cent had switched price tags and were dealing in decimal money. Banks, closed, since Wednesday night while 20 million accounts were converted, reopened to deal only in decimals.

Despite a $3 million last-minute publicity campaign by the decimal currency board, many Britons confessed they were confused.

Mrs. Susan Toomey, 30, a West London housewife, said "It is difficult trying to convert. I'm doing my shopping early to avoid queues and confusion."

The changeover meant scrapping the traditional currency system based on cartwheel sized pennies, 12-sided three penny "bits", shillings, florins and the whole confusing way of counting money that bewildered foreigners but which Britons accepted happily as part of the "British way of life."

In the new money the pound still was worth $2.40 abroad. But at home it was divided from now on into 100 new pennies or pence, each worth 2.4 U.S. cents.

Three new bronze coins went into circulation—a new half penny (1.2 cents), new penny (2.4 cents) and two new pence (4.8 cents).

New 5, 10 and 50 penny pieces called "silver" but actually made of a cupro-nickel alloy—already had been in circulation for some time alongside the old shillings (12 cents) and florins ($1.20 dollars) notes of which they are the exact equivalent in old money.

Unions strike 3 can firms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negotiations continued this morning between the United Steelworkers Union and the National Can Co. after the union struck three other major can companies with more than 31,000 workers early today.

A union spokesman said steelworkers President I. W. Abel called the walkout against American Can Co., Continental Can Co. and the Crown Cork and Seal Co. when negotiations broke off shortly after a midnight deadline.

Three-year contracts with all four companies expired at midnight Sunday. The four companies have about 175 plants throughout the country.

Both union and industry spokesmen appeared optimistic about an early settlement with the 4,000-worker National Can Co., with a cost-of-living formula appearing to be "a very important factor" in the talks.

A source close to the talks said none of the three struck companies formally offered a cost-of-living formula but that National "probably will commit itself to a formal cost-of-living clause in the contract. This is a prime objective of the union."

He said the cost-of-living formula, which he declined to describe, closely follows the settlement reached in the auto industry.

A vote of about 200 union officials to break off talks with the three firms was unanimous, said a union spokesman. A management spokesman said the three companies felt their most recent offer "was very substantial."

Neither side would discuss the issues involved. But it was reported the union was seeking an additional $1.30 an hour over a three-year contract. The companies were understood to have offered a 41-cent increase.

Rail union OKs pact

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The third of four unions which had been threatening a nationwide railroad strike March 1 has reached a tentative contract agreement, and the Nixon administration said it hoped for a quick settlement of the one remaining dispute.

The latest agreement, reached early Sunday, was between the carriers and the 180,000-member Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks, the largest of the four unions.

Still unresolved is a contract settlement involving the United Transportation Union, which represents 90,000 workers. Settlements were previously reached with unions representing 60,000 maintenance of way employees and 3,000 dining car workers.

The four unions staged a one-day strike last Dec. 10, ended by an act of Congress which imposed a 13.5 per cent wage increase on an interim basis. The law expires Feb. 28 and the unions had planned to strike

March 1. Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson said "this demonstrated ability to reach agreement in the case of those three unions gives us every reason to expect that agreement should be achieved with the fourth union."

Terms of the settlement with the clerks will not be made public until after the proposal is submitted to the union's membership for ratification.

The dispute involving the clerks and the other unions has revolved around wage increases plus changes the railroads wanted to make in work rules. A presidential fact-finding board earlier recommended wage increases of from 35 per cent to 40 per cent and said the industry should be allowed to change some of the work rules which it considers outmoded.

The unions, however, asked for a bigger pay increase and objected to the work rules changes.

Nixon balked at greeting

LONDON (UPI)—President Nixon did not watch the Apollo 14 splashdown live on television and agreed only reluctantly to telephone his personal congratulations to the three astronauts, according to a British journalist.

Peregrine Worsthorne, in a copyrighted article in the Sunday Telegraph, said he was interviewing the President at the White House last Tuesday when the three Apollo 14 astronauts returned safely to earth.

An aide interrupted their conversation with word of the splashdown, he said. "Great news," Worsthorne quoted Nixon as saying. He said the President then started to resume their discussion.

Once again the aide interrupted and said the astronauts were waiting to talk to Nixon on the telephone, the journalist said.

"Who arranged that?" Worsthorne quoted Nixon as saying. "I was told of no such plan." "No sir," the aide reportedly replied. "But the admiral has just announced it on the television that you were on the line."

Worsthorne said Nixon "conceded defeat, but only reluctantly, almost sulkily and on his own terms" and, after a lengthy farewell to him he finally spoke to the astronauts.

Train burns in tunnel

BELGRADE (UPI)—A train carrying workers to the steel mills and mines in Zenica caught fire in a tunnel early Sunday and 33 persons died in the flames and carbon monoxide gas. It was Yugoslavia's worst rail disaster in seven years.

Fifty-seven persons were hospitalized, most suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning, and 56 others were treated and released.

Police said electric wiring in the diesel locomotive started the fire when the train was halfway through a mile-long tunnel 12 miles from Zenica.

Israel spurns peace proposal

By United Press International Israel has ignored a peace initiative by U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring in an apparent difference of opinion with the United States over Jarring's role in the Middle East talks.

Prime Minister Golda Meir's cabinet issued a statement after a meeting in Jerusalem Sunday saying Israel would continue talks only in line with its own proposals. It made no reference to Jarring's suggestions.

The statement appeared to reaffirm Israel's stand that Jarring is authorized to act only as a go-between and not as a mediator presenting proposals.

But Joseph J. Sisco, U.S. assistant secretary of state, said in Washington Sunday both sides in the Middle East conflict "are committed to abide by whatever procedures Ambassador Jarring decides to pursue, and no procedure is barred."

Political sources in Cairo believed Egypt would accept the Jarring proposal calling for a statement of intention to comply with the 1967 U.N. Security Council resolution on the Middle East.

The resolution calls for Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territories, and Israeli newspapers interpreted Jarring's proposal as an effort to put pressure on Israel to withdraw.

Cambodia spending probed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The General Accounting Office, which keeps tabs on government spending for Congress, is conducting a detailed review of the way U.S. aid funds are being used in Cambodia, it was revealed today.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said he asked the office on Jan. 28 to check on how the $220 million in aid Congress approved for Cambodia last year was being spent.

"In view of the unusual and critical situation in Cambodia it seems to me that the Congress and the public would be well served by having a representative of the General Accounting Office stationed in Phnom Penh to keep a close watch on the operation of the aid program and furnish timely reports on significant matters," Fulbright said in the letter.

The GAO responded, "In view of the fact that Cambodia has now become a significant recipient under the ... program we have decided to include that country in our review in addition to the other Asian countries of Korea, Taiwan and Indonesia."

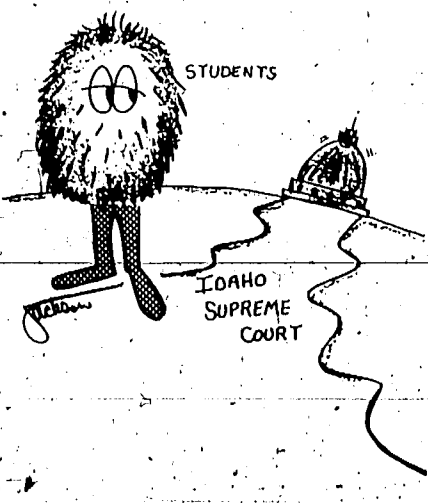

It said the countries involved were receiving a "detailed review" of their respective aid programs. Most of the Cambodian aid is in the form of military assistance.

All survive DC3 crash

SHAWNEE, Okla. (UPI)—A DC-3 carrying 23 passengers at a penny per pound to raise money for the Heart Fund crashed Sunday southeast of Shawnee, seriously injuring nine persons, seven of them children.

Fourteen other persons, including eight children, were treated and released from local hospitals.

The plane, ferrying contributors to the Heart Fund around the Shawnee area, had 25 persons including a crew of two aboard when it went down.

Witnesses said the plane's left engine had failed and the craft came in low, clipped tree tops, then slammed into a small dam at a farm pond before spinning around the ground and breaking up.

"We saw it going down real low to the ground and the left motor was out," said Pete Bristol of Shawnee, who was riding his motorcycle near the crash site. He drove to the scene and helped get people out of the wreckage.

Both engines were torn loose and the fuselage was split, witnesses said.

The plane, owned and piloted by E.W. Patterson of Shawnee, was one of several planes donated by various owners around Oklahoma Sunday to aid in the Heart Fund drive.

Patterson was not injured. His co-pilot, Willard Pierce of Shawnee, did not require hospitalization.

The Federal Aviation Administration ordered an immediate investigation of the crash. The plane had made nine flights without incident. No figures were immediately available on how much money had been raised during the drive before the crash.

Shawnee boy, Poppy Niscom, 13, thought the pilot was only trying to scare the passengers by flying so low.

"It was beside the wing and noticed the motor wasn't going," the youth said. "I thought he was trying to give us a thrill. Then the plane was chipping against the trees."

Russ compares two economies

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet news agency Tass today looked over the new Soviet five year plan which promises more growth and more affluence for the Russians and contrasted it with what it called the "deep stagnation and slump" of American capitalism.

A Tass commentary headline "Two Worlds—Two Results" sang the praises of the 1971-1975 economic program which for the first time puts Russian consumer wants ahead of heavy industry demands.

"The tremendous achievements and the remarkable prospects of the Soviet economy are seen particularly clearly behind the background of deep stagnation and slump which are indicative of the economy of the leading power in the capitalist world—the United States," Tass said.

Lessons posed by December's economic riots in Poland were not lost on Kremlin planners, the economists said. The 1971-1975 directives are geared to encourage consumer peace and vitalize retail trade, they said.

"The economists suggested Soviet defense and space spending might have to be curbed somewhat to finance the new thrust to 'satisfy to the full the Soviet peoples vital requirements.'"

Italian riots flare up again

REGGIO CALABRIA, Italy (UPI)—Riot police clubbed, gassed and turned a water cannon on a crowd of 1,000 demonstrators who tried to march through this ancient seaport today in a fresh outbreak of street fighting.

There were no immediate reports of injuries but some demonstrators had to be helped away after the police charge. Police rounded up dozens of youths and took them to police headquarters for questioning.

The fighting went on for more than an hour and all shops in the middle of town quickly shut. Officials feared the new fighting was only a prelude to what could come if the rival town of Catanzaro is confined later today as the new Calabrian regional capital.

For reasons of prestige, cash and influence, Reggio badly wants to become one of the 15 new regional capitals in the decentralized Italy.

But 70 miles to the north, Catanzaro also wants the honor. Although it has only half of Reggio's 160,000 inhabitants, it appears to have more political friends.

Today, the Calabria regional government was meeting there to choose the regional capital once and for all. Of the 40 government members, only 15 were known to be pro-Reggio.

Tree boom

ATLANTA (UPI)—More than 3 billion tree seedlings have been planted in industrial woodlands in the past decade, says a forestry expert. Vernon J. Knight, director of natural resources for Kimberly-Clark Corporation, says more than 6,000 company foresters have been responsible for spending some $70 million a year on conservation programs in that period.

Intensified forestry programs are helping industry prepare to meet a "soaring demand for forest products expected by the end of this century," according to Knight. Of the 510 million acres of commercial woodlands in the United States, about 65 million acres are held by industrial firms, he said.

3 million blackbird deaths set

MILAN, Tenn. (UPI)—Unless there is public opinion against such an effort, a spokesman for the Army ammunition plant said about three million blackbirds roosting at the arsenal would be sprayed with an airplane spray that would freeze them to death within minutes.

"We wanted to get public opinion before we took any action," said Maj. James I. Lowe, commander of the Milan installation.

Lowe said he met with Milan leaders and Gibson county health officials and received no objections to the proposal.

Mayor Rogers Pickard said he and Alderman have adopted a resolution endorsing the plan.

"They are a nuisance problem," said Dr. Fred M. Friedman, arsenals physician. "They eat grain from farm fields, contaminate feed lots and public places too."

Friedman said the birds were not a real health hazard, however, although there was a potential threat of histoplasmosis, a fungus found in many blackbird roosts.

A congressional committee Sunday accused two top officials of the railroad, which declared bankruptcy last year, of manipulating the company's assets "as collateral for a private investment club."

Backed by the presumed fiscal strength of the nation's largest railroad, each member of the Pennell investment club was able to parlay a $16,500 cash investment into $23,500, according to a staff report of the House Banking Committee.

Behind the club, according to the committee, were two senior company figures—David C. Bevan, Penn Central's chief financial officer, and Charles J. Hodge, a New York investment banker and financial adviser to the railroad. Neither is still associated with Penn Central.

The club was formed in 1962, six years before the merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads, and grew from 16 to 26 members, mostly wealthy friends of Bevan and Hodge.

Question...

We formerly lived in Michigan and own cemetery property there. We plan to make Twin Falls our permanent home and would like to exchange these graves for a cemetery lot in Twin. Is this possible?

Answer...

If you own property in a cemetery belonging to the lot Exchange Plan of the National Association of Cemeteries you may exchange it for property in any other reciprocal cemetery. An exchange is not possible unless both cemeteries are members of this voluntary agreement. Telephone us for information concerning membership throughout the United States.

Some church and municipally owned cemeteries have an established policy of repurchasing graves from the owners when they leave the community. If you can neither transfer your property through the lot Exchange Plan nor turn it back to the cemetery on a repurchase agreement your only alternative is to sell the property and apply the proceeds of the sale toward the purchase of cemetery spaces locally.

Record made in labor forces

TWIN FALLS — All-time record high points were established during 1970 for the total labor force, total employment and some industrial segment employment totals in the Twin Falls area.

The average annual labor force growth from 1963 to 1969 was 1.9 per cent per year. The change from 1969 to 1970, however, was much higher at 3.9 per cent growth.

Unemployment during 1970 remained relatively moderate at 3.9 per cent. This rate was lower than the state of Idaho figure of 5.1 per cent. Lumber unemployment, particularly in the north, upped the state rate.

Employment during 1970 set a new annual record with a monthly average of 18,847 workers.

Reasons for the good year can be found in a variety of local labor force and economic developments during the year. Active construction and new industry provided many new jobs and boosted existing operations, producing additional employment in trade and service.

Major construction involved the Twin Falls downtown mall, CSI campus buildings, other school improvements, several large commercial and manufacturing building projects and an upswing in residential housing.

Construction workers employed averaged 832 per month as compared to 680 during 1969. The manufacture of hosiery, paper product containers, campers and modular homes added entirely new employment opportunities.

Food product firms also increased employment by 8.7 per cent over 1969 by employing 1348 workers per month. Manufacturing average employment was up 26 per cent with a new monthly total of 2170.

The Department of Employment's Veteran's Employment department had increasing traffic in newly released veterans. Priority for veterans has been required by federal law on selection, referral to jobs, and training.

Do you slow down at sundown, asks the Idaho State Police. Days get over quickly and darkness comes earlier these days. Be prepared for nighttime emergencies.

Less respect for law stressed in talk here

TWIN FALLS — Less respect for law and order is evident in the United States at this point in history than at any previous time since the nation began, O.A. (Gus) Kelker, executive editor of the Times-News said here Sunday evening.

Kelker was speaker at more than 75 couples from the Immanuel Lutheran Church attended the annual Sweetheart Banquet at the Rogerson Hotel Roundup room.

During his remarks he said "we have those who loot and burn, fight and kill, demonstrate in a violent way against all we have been taught is good and decent."

"All this turmoil in which our nation is involved today just has to be a phase in its long life," he said. "I don't think that America is doomed. I think it is a great, big wonderful land we have here and that we who love this country and love what it stands for and what it has stood for in the past, will make it through in spite of the few who would kill us.

"The day will surely come when those who plot against us will plot themselves out of existence."

Nixon Heeds The Signs

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A number of President Nixon's political opponents (Republican, Democratic and Independent) have told us Nixon paid little attention to the lessons of the 1970 elections. They could not be more wrong.

A detailed study of his 1972 budget; State of the Union Message and Economic Report to Congress and plans his staff have in the making shows Nixon read November, 1970, very carefully indeed.

A history of elections, national and local, indicates quite strongly that if there are no great burning issues, an incumbent is almost impossible to beat most of the time. But a hot issue can topple almost any man. In great measure, therefore, a sizable share of the Nixon strategy is aimed at defusing issues. The 1972 budget makes important shifts in research on the college campus, a major issue of student riots. The shift is to social issues and away from military and space research. This won't win votes for Nixon among the radicals. But the President's men calculate that quieter campuses will mean greater satisfaction with the Nixon presidency among the moderates. Nixon has put considerable sums in law and order, which pleases the men and women who want to crack down on crime. But he has dedicated an important portion of his crime budget to reforms which a good many liberals can espouse.

Nixon is timing troop withdrawals from Vietnam according to a timetable that will leave very few Americans in that country in November, 1972. This will make it very difficult, of course, for opposition candidates to rally voters on that issue. Nixon asks for an increase in defense, to be sure. But there's a hooker that may catch those opponents who attempt to use this as an issue. The military increase is more than accounted for by higher pay, better quarters and other improvements in military life — aimed toward a volunteer army. Few liberals and few conservatives can fight this shift with much conviction. Military aid is being strengthened — but aimed at lowering the chances of a Vietnam-type U.S. involvement. It is a difficult argument to beat. The list goes on almost endlessly — more to fight pollution, to fight disease, to help the unemployed. Nixon's opposition can argue they will do more. They can shove his proposals and submit their own. But politically that "I will do more" argument wins few new opposition votes — if the incumbent is markedly stepping up his own programs.

Nixon has seemed to talk a go-slow and cautious policy, on desegregation and has encouraged holding back while the courts take action, which makes him few enemies in certain sections of the population. But the plain and simple fact is — however accomplished — the Nixon administration has made perhaps the most radical shifts toward real school desegregation of any administration since the original Supreme Court decision. Nixon's strategists don't expect these steps to win him black votes. But they do hope to defuse the race issue sufficiently to prevent a rash of violence over race in the cities and on the college campuses. Nixon talks tough (fiscal measures, argues his revenue sharing plans can hold taxes down and talks a balanced (full employment) budget, all aimed at pleasing conservatives. But he plunges into deficit spending and an easier money program to provide funds for a host of expanding welfare and social programs and to spark a quick upswing in the economy aimed at increasing jobs, wages and business profits. If this policy is successful, even in part, it will be very difficult to make unemployment an issue in 1972.

Long Terms

New York Times Yale has been one of the few universities the past few years to open its doors to able students regardless of their ability to pay. The college would make up the difference between what the youth's family could afford and the $4,500 or so a year it costs to go to Yale. But the financial squeeze universities are feeling is reaching Yale too. Yale faces a $500 tuition hike. And it doesn't feel it can cover that amount for the half of its student body on scholarship aid. Instead, Yale is weighing a plan that would let students pay back tuition loans for up to a 35-year period. They would pay a portion of their income — less than $5 per cent per $1,000 borrowed. Students who earn more would pay back more. Those who enter lower paid professions would pay back less. There are problems with the plan. Yale has begun admitting women students, for instance, and these would bring to a marriage a "negative dowry" the couple would have to pay off. But it seems to us that such imaginative financing schemes will have to be made to work if educational options are to stay open in America. With a yearly cost soon to reach $5,000 a student, few families indeed could afford to send two or three children through a quality college like Yale.

A Bust

Portland Oregonian "The fact that there was no loss of lives in this operation in itself justifies" the blackout of information on troop movements in northern South Vietnam, presidential Press Secretary Ron Ziegler said after the news embargo was lifted Thursday. How successful will be the operation, including its ultimate objectives, cannot yet be known. But the news embargo was a bust. It resulted in rumors, speculation and protests that could do harm to long-range U.S. objectives in Southeast Asia. The embargo was announced to reporters in Saigon Friday, Jan. 29. There was even an embargo on the embargo: "This announcement constitutes part of the embargo and is not for publication." Pentagon reporters were asked to observe the Saigon embargo. The immediate result was a rash of speculative stories suggesting that a major operation was underway in the direction of the Laos border. Japan's press reported the "secret" briefings in Saigon. Hanoi newspapers told of "feverish" U.S. preparations to expand the war. Soviet Premier Kosygin spoke out against "an outrageous invasion of the southern provinces of Laos." U.S. senators fumed at their lack of information on U.S. intentions. Anti-war groups met in Washington to form a new National Peace Action Coalition to resurrect the national protest campaigns of the defunct Moratorium and New Mobe organizations. Secrecy is an essential part of military tactics but it was badly handled over the past few days by the U.S. command. Rumor and speculation on a large scale can do more harm than candor under such circumstances. In any event, the embargo did not achieve one obvious purpose, that of surprise. The prompt reactions from Hanoi and Moscow revealed that the enemy knew just about what was going on from the beginning.

Helping Britain

Christian Science Monitor There are certain products and achievements, no matter what their origin, in which people everywhere take a kind of universal pride. Russian ballet, French fashions, German music, Italian leatherwork, Scandinavian houseware and so on, all achieve a respect and an admiration which transcend national boundaries. In Britain this worldwide repute has fallen, and most deservedly, upon the automobiles and the aircraft engines manufactured by the Rolls-Royce company. There must be, therefore, more than purely British concern over that company's present financial troubles. Brought about mainly by a slump in the international aircraft industry, there is talk of Rolls-Royce's bankruptcy. The British Government has now taken the drastic step of nationalizing the aircraft and marine engine portion of the business. We strongly hope that his measure, and any other type of necessary assistance will be effective. Rolls-Royce's products have a particular British quality of careful workmanship and durability about them: They have that touch of unpretentious elegance and high performance which, since the onset of the Industrial Revolution, have made British goods among the world's most avidly sought. As Britain readjusts to many changes in its global status, it is especially desirable that it not lose the prestige which Rolls-Royce helps confer on it.

The Winner and Still Champion

Marking Time

Even as we, the Soviet Union has been trying to decide what if anything to do about Berlin, Indochina, Middle East, China. The Soviets have decided — to do nothing. Characteristically, United States of Americans are impatient. We want all our problems solved neatly and completely by 10 o'clock tomorrow morning AT THE LATEST! This impatience may have motivated much of our domestic progress, but it puts us at a decided disadvantage in dealing with Orientals and Asians. Russia may be altogether as concerned as we are about Arab oil and Israeli guns, about the spillover from the Vietnamese war, about Berlin's vulnerability and Poland's restiveness and Red China's numbers — But Russia has decided not to try to solve all or any of these problems right now. It has decided not to decide any major policy matters for a while; to mark time in place for a while. Maybe after the Communist Party Congress in March; maybe. And maybe, by then, in some or all of these hot spots the fever will break. Soviet-American talks on strategic arms limitation are scheduled to resume next month in Vienna. Probably the Soviets will defer any major decisions there, also. France, with deeper roots than ours, has learned some of this diplomatic patience — if only from generations of unproductive or inflammatory impatience. France concluded a summit conference with West Germany on Jan. 25 — a conference dealing with bilateral and world problems. Nothing was decided. Nothing was agreed upon. Spokesmen for both sides pronounced the conversations "a great success." They talked about the possibilities of European unification but neither put the other under any immediate give-or-take pressure. Part of U.S. impetuosity in international diplomacy can be blamed on our comparative youth, but that's really a rather unbecoming and inadequate excuse. Besides, for 200 years we managed to remain aloof from most of the world's many miniwars. It was only after radio and television — instantaneous communication — began to bring every tiny trouble spot on the planet home to each of us that our traditional preference for order and firmness and neatness caused us to jump up and in on squabbles which were way outside our proper precincts.

ART BUCHWALD

The Troops

WASHINGTON — Everyone seems to have his own theory as to how we can get out of Vietnam. Many critics are questioning President Nixon's strategy of winding down the war by enlarging it. Prof. Heinrich Applebaum, who works at the Institute for the Study of Undeclared Wars, has been highly skeptical of the President's secret plan to get us out of Vietnam. "Nixon's big mistake," said Applebaum, "is that he's withdrawing the wrong troops." "I don't understand," I said. "He is pulling out an average of 3,000 ground combat troops a week. That sounds good on paper. But the men he is withdrawing are fighting men." "What's wrong with that?" The professor went to his blackboard. "We know that for every American fighting man in Vietnam there are nine men to support him behind the lines. These include soldiers who work in the PX, the officers' clubs, the supply depots, special services, and the post offices, plus cooks, chaplains, assistants and public information specialists." Applebaum wrote on the blackboard. "For each fighting GI the President pulls out, he leaves behind nine soldiers who are not equipped to defend themselves. When the President justifies all the things he's doing to protect American lives, he is really talking about the support troops who are expected to remain in Vietnam after the fighting troops are pulled out." "What's the solution?" "Well," said Applebaum, "once again the President has all his priorities fouled up. If he really wanted to pull our American troops out of Vietnam, he would withdraw the support troops first and the fighting men last."

"But that would mean closing the PXs and the officers' clubs," I protested. "Right on," he replied. "The sooner we close the PXs, officers' clubs, movie theaters and public relations offices, the sooner all our troops will be forced to leave Vietnam. No American Army can remain anywhere without the amenities of life." "It's awful risky!" "Look," said Applebaum, "the President says he wants an orderly withdrawal of all troops from Vietnam. What is more orderly than first withdrawing the troops who can't fight? The fighting GIs must stay behind to protect the rear." "Once the support troops are out, Nixon can start withdrawing the combat troops." "It makes sense on your blackboard," I said. "It's the only solution," Applebaum said. "The more combat troops Nixon withdraws, the more danger there is to the noncombat troops, and eventually the President will have to do something very stupid to fulfill his promise of protecting American boys." "Would the Pentagon go for it?" I asked. "They have to. All the trouble the Army is having in Vietnam with its OWN troops is being caused in the bases well behind the lines. That's where all the fights, pot smoking and fragging of officers is taking place. If you close the rear bases and send those GIs home, morale will pick up 100 per cent." "Does this mean you wouldn't send Bob Hope over to Vietnam any more?" I asked. "I'm afraid so. If the President knew he couldn't send Bob Hope to Vietnam, he'd have all our troops out of there by Christmas."

Croup

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have twins, a boy and a girl, 3 years old, and for two years my son has had one attack of croup after another. He has been hospitalized twice. My doctor says watch him whenever he starts coming down with a cold to stop it from turning into croup, but the worst two times he had croup, he hadn't had a cold so far as I can tell. He goes to bed feeling fine, then wakes up in the middle of the night, choking and with a fever of 102 to 105. He has had trouble with his tonsils. Could this cause croup? I've asked the doctor if there is anything we can do to prevent these attacks, but he says no, he'll soon grow out of it. — Mrs. D. E. E.

respiratory infection coming on. But as you know, sometimes there's no warning. There's no way of preventing such infections, but as soon as the croup is evident, start in. You don't know in advance how severe it is going to be, so limit it from the start.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Freaky Disease." Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Thosteson regrets that he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Your description of sudden croup is not unusual. Rather, it is the classical case; no sign of a cold, or perhaps a mild one at night, and then — bingo! Wheezing and gasping for breath. Croup, ancient affliction that it is, remains a scary condition and is not to be regarded lightly. It can, by shutting off breathing, be dangerous enough to require hospital care, and sometimes a tracheotomy (opening of the windpipe) to admit air. Small children are most susceptible to croup, the simple reason being that their airways are very small. Along comes some respiratory infection (usually a virus). Swelling and spasm of the larynx constrict the naturally small airway to a very tiny passage. The child struggles for breath. That's croup! As the child grows, and the laryngeal structures get larger, there is a tendency to outgrow croup. But while a child is still at the croup age, your doctor is quite right in warning you to start treatment early — as early as you can see a cold or

MPs fire on reluctant Marines

BOSTON (UPI)—A military police patrol in Vietnam opened fire on five Marines who said they would not return to their outfit, killing one and wounding another, the Boston Globe said today.

The report was based on a stipulation of facts accepted by both the prosecution and defense at the court-martial in Da-Nang of Pvt. Michael D. Maynard of Jordan, Utah.

Maynard, who has a Vietnamese wife, went AWOL in August, 1968, the record shows. He was arrested and sentenced to a year in jail for desertion and started serving his sentence in Da Nang in January, 1969.

He escaped in April with another prisoner, Ronald Rouse, and went to Hao Phat where his wife lived, the Globe said. There they hid with two other escaped soldiers, Patrick Burns and David Leibold, and another soldier Maynard did not name. They were discovered in April, 1969, the Globe said.

"The MPs were setting up ambushes just waiting for AWOLs ... they would set up in the night with guns and everything," Maynard said. "Whenever anybody would come out they would shoot. And I know they killed two Americans that I am sure of."

The Globe said he said they were recognized as AWOL and were asked to give themselves up on April 29, 1969. They talked for about 30 minutes in a tense situation where both the patrol and the Marines put their M16s off safety and ready to fire.

"Then somebody said something," Maynard said. "I think it was Burns who said 'we don't want to fire fight you' and I think it was Burns who said 'but we're not going back.'"

"They said all right," Maynard continued. "They put their guns on safety and we put ours back on safety."

Then, Maynard said, the sergeant leading the patrol said, "Well, ok, we'll let you go. There's no problem, you know. But this assistance patrol is coming, so why don't you give us something so we can show them we apprehended you ... and we'll just say you escaped."

The AWOL soldier, in the same unit as the sergeant, handed over his M16 and a hat, Maynard said. Then the patrol leader said "OK, you can go."

"So we turned around and took off," said Maynard. "Not running, you know what I mean, kind of jogging. Because you know we thought we were free. They let us go. We got about 20 yards away and they opened up."

"They didn't say 'halt. They just said nothing." The Globe said Maynard said he was sure his group did not shoot back. The AWOL was killed and Rouse was hit in the shoulder.

The survivors were court-martialed on mutiny charges. Leibold was convicted of conspiracy but acquitted of mutiny.

Police eye LA returnees

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—So many weekend sightings poured into the most devastated areas of the Los Angeles earthquake during the weekend police issued orders to arrest anyone who didn't live or work in the area as damage was still being tolled in the aftermath of the massive tremor.

Police established a perimeter control around the communities of Sylmar and San Fernando and posted no trespassing signs in attempts to keep out the thousands of sightseers who wanted to view the rubble where 62 persons died in Tuesday's quake.

Traffic Sunday at San Fernando Veterans Hospital — where 44 persons died — was so heavy officers erected barriers.

"You should see the people trying to get in," said Frank Caringella, a Southern California Gas Co. official who was manning a hospital command post.

"I don't know about these people. They go to church and Sunday breakfast and decide, 'hey let's take the kids up and see where all the people died.'"

Two residents in the immediate area whose homes were damaged put up their own signs. One read, "sightseers please go away. You cannot get within 200 yards of the tragedy even after a 1.4 mile hike uphill."

The second sign was more blunt: "Sightseers keep out. Violators will be shot. Survivors will be prosecuted."

The Red Cross reported to the Federal Office of Emergency Preparedness that preliminary surveys indicated about 80,000 families suffered some type of loss in Tuesday's quake.

Russ Jew to return to America

MOSCOW (UPI)—Leonid Riggeman remembers "papa" as an idealist who brought his American bride to the young Soviet state in the late 1930s. Today Riggeman led his widowed mother on the road back.

The Riggemans, Muscovite Jews, learned Friday from Soviet officials they would be permitted to leave this week for New York. The announcement ended months of campaigning by Riggeman for exit visas. They will leave Wednesday for New York and Los Angeles.

"Leonya made herself so obnoxious (to the authorities)," Mrs. Esther Riggeman, 61, said Sunday, beaming at her son. "He was so obnoxious. That's why we're getting off."

Riggeman, 30, was picked up three times by security police last November and December as he attempted to visit the U.S. embassy to establish his claim to American citizenship based upon that of his mother. He was jailed once for seven days and warned that persistence could bring "serious consequences," he said.

Nixons to end vacation

KEY BIXCAYNE, Fla. (UPI)—President Nixon winds up a low-key holiday weekend in chilly Florida today and flies back to Washington for a busy week ahead.

With Secretary of State William P. Rogers and National Security Affairs Adviser Henry A. Kissinger on hand for huddles, Nixon has concentrated on the final draft of his forthcoming "State of the World" report.

The document, to be delivered to Congress Feb. 25, runs 65,000 words. "Too long," Rogers admits.

Yet, the message may contain the first definitive statement by Nixon on the U.S. air supported South Vietnamese invasion of Laos.

He has yet to make a public pronouncement on the border crossing, in contrast to his televised address the night the Cambodian incursion began last April 30. He has not had a press conference since Dec. 10.

It was learned that the loss of some 20 American helicopters in the war zone over the past several days has caused concern among White House national security advisers.

The AFL-CIO executive council is meeting at the American Hotel in nearby Miami Beach, but presidential aides said Nixon had no plans to address the labor leaders before departing Florida.

Emission research work begins

POCATELLO (UPI)—Construction has started on an emission control research project for Pocatello's FMC elemental phosphorus plant's technical and engineering departments, slated to be installed three years ago.

The product flow line secondary condenser is slated for completion in late October at a cost of $2.0 million.

Technical superintendent John Herink noted the plant's most obvious emission problem was smoke from the flare pit.

The waste gas is carbon monoxide, which when burned to carbon dioxide is a natural ingredient in the atmosphere. A very small quantity of phosphorus is contained in the gas flow also. When it burns it turns into white smoke, Herink said.

Pocatello's FMC installation is the largest of its kind in the world, and it requires huge control systems to keep emissions under control.

In the case of bonded fabrics, cautions Gerda Peterson of the University of Nebraska, selection makes a difference in satisfaction after continued wear. Check the grain carefully.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long white gown with camel sleeves and an empire waist line. The gown, of taffeta and lace, featured a mantilla detachable train. She carried a cascade of pink and white flowers.

DEAR ABBY: While addressing Christmas cards, my husband and I were stumped when we faced this situation:

We have known and loved a young man since he was an infant. (His parents are dear friends of ours.) The young man has a female companion living with him. He is 26 and she is 25. We've met her and we like her, although we don't exactly approve of unmarried couples living together, which may be beside the point.

This young couple do not pretend to be married and they don't hide their arrangement. Neither do they broadcast it. We sent the young man a Christmas card and wanted to send her one, too, but we didn't know how to address it.

To address one card to "Mr. and Mrs." was out because they aren't married. To address one card to "Mr. John Doe and Miss So and So" seemed wrong, too. But that was also impossible because we didn't know her last name.

We didn't want to ignore the young woman, yet we honestly didn't know what else to do. How would you have handled this awkward situation? "OUT OF IT"

DEAR "OUT": I'd have sent him a card, and on it I'd have added a hand-written "hi" to her. (Had I known her last name, I'd have sent her a card at her address, which just happened to be his address.)

DEAR ABBY: I am ready to scream! This year we received six Christmas cards from "unknowns." One was signed "Gladys and Bud." The postmark was Boulder, Colo. (We don't know anybody in Boulder.) Another was signed, "Bill and Anna." Another was from "Pat and Mary." Neither my husband nor I could figure out who these people were.

Worse yet we received a lovely gift from a store in Boston! (We live in Greenwich, Conn.) There was no card enclosed so we wrote to the store. They couldn't help us. Now we don't know whom to thank.

Abby, will you please do a lot of people a favor and tell them that next Christmas they should please put their full names and addresses on the envelopes. And when sending a gift, to be sure their names are inside the gift and their return addresses are on the outside wrapping, too. Thank you. GOING MAD

DEAR GOING: Consider it done.

DEAR ABBY: Our church had a Christmas tree sale to pay for the church bus. The preacher and another man (I will call him Mr. Jones) were in charge of this sale. They asked our 16-year-old son to help out, so the kid took a tent and sleeping bag and stayed on that tree lot working for a whole week, night and day.

Mr. Jones asked our son to deliver a Christmas tree, and he gave him his car to use. Well, our son backed out of a driveway and hit a mailbox and cracked the windshield of Mr. Jones's car. Mr. Jones thinks we ought to pay for the damages on his car. What do you think? HURT

DEAR HURT: Under the circumstances I would say that Mr. Jones's Christian spirit isn't very deep. And buying a church bus won't deepen it.

DEAR ABBY: There is this lady I know who just hands her friends their Christmas cards. She makes it a point if she is going to a meeting or to church to take the cards for the people who mailed cards to her. It isn't that she is too poor to buy postage stamps; in fact she has more than many of the people who mailed her a Christmas card.

This strikes me as a cheap way to save a few pennies. I noticed that when she handed this cards to some folks they looked at her strangely and didn't know what to say, but they thanked her anyway. Would you say she had the real Christmas spirit or not? WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR WITHHOLD: The "real Christmas spirit" is "Peace on earth and good will toward men." It doesn't say the "spirit" has to go thru the post office in order to be valid.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Palmer snaps jinx with Desert Classic victory

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer, refusing to buckle under pressure by former PGA champion Ray Floyd, rolled in a 25-foot birdie putt on the first hole of a sudden death playoff Sunday to take the $140,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic and win his first title in 14 months.

Floyd said he thought he made a good putt on the extra hole but added, "I guess I did not read it correctly. It made no difference, what Palmer did," he added, "because I had to make mine."

Of the four times Palmer has taken the Hope, it was the second that he had to go to sudden death to win. In 1968 he beat Deane Beman on the second extra hole.

It was pretty obvious from the start of the final round at Bermuda Dunes that most of the crowd of 20,000 was rooting for Palmer. He had his usual army in tow throughout the 10 holes and when he won it, the fans responded accordingly.

Eagles to play tonight

ONTARIO — College of Southern Idaho, fresh off clinching its fourth straight ICAC title, travels to Ontario tonight to play Treasure Valley Community College in the first game of a long venture on the road.

Hansen, Hagerman to decide runner-up spot in Magic Valley loop

The Hansen Huskies travel to Hagerman Tuesday night for the biggest game of the Magic Valley Conference season, not because it is for a championship but because it means an attractive spot in the sixth district A-4 basketball tournament in 10 days.

The Castleford-Murtaugh game could be a study in patterned basketball as the Wolves have used that all year while Murtaugh showed a little indication of it Friday night by moving Mark Howard out to the point to quarterback the club.

However, Murtaugh, which has John Flynn back now and some height, generally likes to move a little quicker than the Wolves.

Duquesne coasts by Rams 116-95

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Mickey Davis and Jarrett Durham combined for 45 points to lead slugging Duquesne to its 13th straight victory Sunday, a 116-95 rout of Rhode Island.

The 13th ranked Duquesne (17-2) did not pull away until late in the first half after the game had been tied 12 times.

Davis scored 34 points, Durham 31 and Barry Nelson 10 for Duquesne while Steve Rowell led Rhode Island with 28.

Newcombe pins upset on Laver

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—John Newcombe upset defending title holder Rod Laver, 7-6, 6-4, to win the men's title in the $62,000 Philadelphia International Indoor Tennis Championship Sunday.

Newcombe, third seeded in the tournament, ended the contest on the fifth match point in the final game, when Laver overshot a backhand return of service over the baseline.

Caddie is center of outburst

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—A caddy who was fired as drunk created a disturbance during the victory ceremony at the Bob Hope Desert Classic golf tournament Sunday when he booted out of a crowd of spectators and headed for winner Arnold Palmer and host Bob Hope.

The Golden Eagles haven't really played well lately, the past weekend's games attesting to that. Both Mesa and East Utah hurt CSI in the first minutes of the game, Mesa especially with its press.

The game is one of three slated for Tuesday night, all in the Magic Valley League. Oakley will be at Declo and Murtaugh at Castleford in the other two.

Russel seizes World Cup lead

MONT STE-ANNE, Quebec (UPI)—France's Patrick Russel protected his first heat lead to take top honors in the men's special slalom Sunday at the Bank of Montreal International ski meet.

Russel, 24, who came within three points of winning the World Cup in 1970, zig zagged his way down the 1020 foot course during a snowstorm for an unofficial 99.05.

They went to the par four, 385-yard 15th to begin the playoff and Palmer closed it out with his long putt. Both put their drives in the left rough and Floyd, hitting first, sent his second shot 15 feet from the pin. Palmer was 25 feet away and then holed out to win the $28,000 first prize.

Davis made 14 of 20 shots from the field and his scoring total would have been higher but he missed eight soft shots—more than half as many as he had missed all season. Davis, the nation's 11th leading foul shooter, also had game-high 15 rebounds and 12 assists.

It was Kelly for the most part, and the three big men — Palomar, Behagen, and Bassett — who rallied the team in the second half both nights — but mostly Kelly.

For the Eagles, who will keep the number one ranking until Thursday morning probably, the trip Thursday and Friday to Dixie and Snow won't mean much in the conference but will be important in the rankings. In Twin Falls CSI beat Dixie 93-78 and Snow 90-73 — but it's tough to win in St. George and Ephraim.

Hagerman put on a tremendous shooting display in defeating the Huskies at Hansen three weeks ago 80-53. Hansen fell out of it in the second quarter as the Pirates blistered the net from all angles and, of course, picked up a few fast break buckets.

His second heat time, 52.58 seconds was third best, but when combined with his 47.37 in the first run, it was good enough to beat Italy's Gustavo Thoeni, who had a combined total of 100.05. Thoeni's second heat 51.61 was the fastest in the 13-country field.

Russel, on the strength of his victory, took over as unofficial leader in World Cup standings with 125 points. Thoeni, who led going into this meet, was second with 115.

Floyd, who won $16,000 for second, fired tied the match with birds on seven and eight as he went out in a three under 33. Palmer, playing in the threesome behind Floyd, also birdied eight to stay in front by a stroke as he made the turn in a one under 35.

The Braves held a 37-33 edge after one quarter, but Phoenix battled from 50-45 deficit to take a 55-53 halftime lead.

Suns claim 108-97 win

BUFFALO (UPI)—Dick Van Arsdale scored 29 points and Clem Haskins added 22 as the Phoenix Suns defeated the Buffalo Braves, 108-97, Sunday.

CSI beat the Chukars 86-64 earlier this year in Twin Falls, and although the TVCC squad has some good individuals their lack of height killed them in the first meeting. But after that CSI loss at Ogden anything's possible.

Onkley can clinch a share of the title by winning at Declo but could conceivably have a little trouble with the famed "Declo press." The Hornets can put that on real well in their home gymnasium.

The win boosted the Lakers' Pacific Division lead over San Francisco to 4 1/2 games, while the loss left Cincinnati with only a 1 1/2 game edge over third place Atlanta in the Central Division.

The defeat was Cincinnati's seventh in a row. Eight Lakers scored in double figures, led by Jerry West, who had 22. West had scored only 13 points in the Lakers' last two games and had made but three of 21 field goal tries.

Happy Hairston and Gail Goodrich backed up West with 21 each while reserve center Rick Roberson netted 12 and Wilt Chamberlain, the regular center, 11.

West also had 12 assists to set a new Laker team record of 565. He held the old record of 554.

Norm Van Lier led Cincinnati with 25 points and 12 assists while Tom Van Arsdale had 23. The Royals, who have lost 18 of their last 23 games, played without veteran forward Johnny Green, who has a knee injury.

Utah has win over Condors

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Four Utah Stars scored 20 points or more Sunday night to defeat the Pittsburgh Condors, 128-118, in an American Basketball Association game.

Ron Boone hit for 29 points, George Stone scored 23, Willie Wise had 22 and Glen Combs made 20. Top scoring honors went to Pittsburgh's George Thompson who found the range for 31 points.

The Condors held a 53-43 lead at 3:47 of the second period, their biggest lead of the game. The Condors were ahead 53-51 at halftime.

The lead sea-sawed throughout most of the game until the fourth period when, with 6:23 remaining, Boone hit for two points to give Utah a 107-105 lead which it never surrendered.

It was the Stars' fifth victory over the Condors in as many games.

Squires tip Kentucky

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—Charlie Scott poured in 38 points Sunday to lead the Virginia Squires out of their first-half miseries to defeat Kentucky 144-140 in an American Basketball Association game.

The Squires fell behind by as much as 10 points in the first quarter and trailed throughout the first half. They finally took the lead early in the third quarter and never trailed again.

Center Jim Eakins, who bucketed 29 points for his biggest output of the year, packed the Squires in the comeback with key baskets. Dan Issel had 33 points for Kentucky.

The win increased the Squires Eastern division lead to 10 games over the second-place Colonels.

dedented third win in this race, passed Baker's Dodge on the 181st lap of the 200-lap grind over the car-killing 2.5-mile Daytona International Speedway tri-oval.

Petty's blue Plymouth was a half mile ahead of Baker when he streaked under the checkered flag. The two cars, both entered by Petty Enterprises, were the only factory-backed cars in the race.

Although Petty and Baker were the only ones in contention at the finish, as many as eight cars were locked in a bumper-to-bumper struggle for the lead during much of the race.

NASCAR's all-time champion with a record 120 Grand National wins, gradually pulled away from Baker on the closing laps.

A. J. Foyt, who lost valuable time when he coasted into the pits out of gas 100 miles from the finish, wound up third in a Mercury. David Pearson, runner-up in the 500 last year, was fourth in a Mercury.

Foyt was running first when his car slowed on the back stretch and Petty passed him. Asked if he could have outrun Foyt if the three-time Indianapolis winner had not run out of gas, Petty replied "It would have been a lot closer than it was. A. J. could run pretty well by himself and when you get both of us together, we can run pretty good."

Petty, who averaged 144.456 MPH, said he knew he could outrun Baker at the finish. The speed was backed up by seven caution flags over 41 laps, and was well off the 157.9 record.

Seattle blitzes Warriors

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—A sterling team effort by the Seattle SuperSonics, capped by newcomer Spencer Haywood, trounced the San Francisco Warriors, 146-101, Sunday in an NBA game.

Haywood, the controversial forward obtained from Denver of the ABA, led the Seattle attack with 25 points. Lee Winfield followed closely with 10 for the Sonics, who generally have been playing poorly in recent games.

The lead points were the most the Sonics have mustered against San Francisco. Seattle charged into an 8-2 lead shortly after the initial jump and never allowed the Warriors a chance to close the gap.

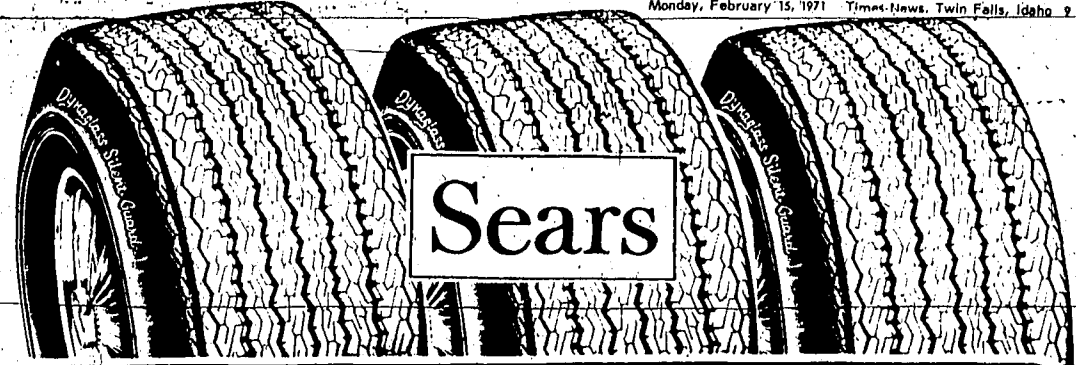

Pete Cross and Don Kojis bolstered the Seattle deluge with 18 points each. Tom Meschery and Dick Snyder each poured in 15. Rod Thorn matched his career high of 13 rebounds while bagging 15 points for the Sonics.

Barry sparks 118-117 win

DENVER (UPI)—Dick Barry's game high 35 points led the New York Nets to a 118-117 come from behind victory over the Denver Rockets here Sunday in American Basketball Association play.

Denver led at halftime 54-40. But Barry, held to 9 points in the first half, erupted for 26 in the second.

Russ may plan moon flight

WASHINGTON. (UPI)—The splendid performance of Apollo 14 has demonstrated once again, many are saying, the clear superiority of the U.S. Space Program to Russia's.

It may well be so. But remember that pride goeth before a fall ...

So hark back to Nov. 17, 1970, and listen to what an American space official was saying:

"The Space Age has not previously seen such vigorous activity in space as that demonstrated by the Soviet Union in recent weeks."

That was Dr. George M. Low, acting chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

This country publicly chose to explore the moon with men. Russia opted, it has now been saying for some years, to do the same job with automatic machines.

The Soviet Union, according to word from Moscow, would let the United States risk the lives of men in missions that could as well be carried out with robot spacecraft.

Now listen to Dr. Charles S. Sheldon II, the Library of Congress authority on the Russian space program.

"Any thought that they are giving up on manned flights to the moon is wrong. They have said they will send men to the moon. My own guess is that they will try a manned moon landing in 1973 or 1974."

In the meantime, they have been launching more spacecraft of all kinds every year since 1968 than the United States.

But the Russians have succeeded in building a public controversy over unmanned vs. manned lunar exploration.

There have been reports, not officially confirmed or denied on this side, that the Soviet manned lunar program suffered a damaging setback in 1969 when a moon booster and spacecraft blew up on the launch pad.

Nevertheless, though asserting their interest was only in manned space stations of the future in earth orbit, the Russians have been carrying out flight experiments which observers here construe as exercises for manned trips to the moon.

In June, 1970, they set a world record of 16 days in orbit for two astronauts aboard Soyuz 9. And last October they sent the automatic Zond 8 spacecraft, to which, low alluded in his praise of Soviet achievements, on a flight around the moon and back.

This, U.S. experts believe, was a preview of manned lunar flights to come.

In unmanned planetary exploration, Russia can claim a "first" in its Venera 7 flight last year. After many failures, the Russians managed to put a spacecraft on the hot surface of Venus in December. It sent back information for 23 minutes before succumbing.

But in Mars explorations,

Russia has had no successes whereas U.S. spacecraft flying past the red planet have sent back fine photographs of its crater-pocked landscape.

The United States has no Venus landers in the works comparable to Venera 7. But it does plan to send unmanned landing craft to Mars in 1975 to find out whether that planet harbors life.

Sen. Church hits lack of plan for Vietnam prisoner release

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The only serious flaw in President Nixon's effort to pull U.S. troops out of the Vietnam War is that no provision is being made to win release of the prisoners of war, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho said today.

Church admitted that the troop withdrawals, averaging 3,000 men a week for the past 18 months, are neither tricky nor tokenism, but "a very substantial withdrawal."

"Now the question is how can that withdrawal continue without making some accommodations for the prisoners of war," Church said in a UPI "Washington Window" interview. "Clearly there's only one way we can accommodate the needs of our prisoners of war, and that is to reach an agreement with North Vietnam which will produce their release."

"We like to applaud and pump the table and wave the flag every time you organize a Flash Gordon attack to reach and release some prisoners of war," he added, "but so far these attacks have produced not a single prisoner of war...not one has been yielded up and no doubt the attacks have left the prisoners of war in greater jeopardy."

Church co-sponsored a 1970 amendment which banned American ground combat troops from Cambodia. But he said attempts to legislate a specific end to the war are not worth pursuing.

"In recognition of the realities, I think that we ought not focus any more on trying to impose an end date, a final date, on the president, trying to legislate an end date," he said. "I think we should rather recognize that that isn't going to work. And I would prefer to call upon the President to negotiate a final date for the completion of the withdrawal of troops."

Church said that policy should be expressed in a resolution which would set total withdrawal as a national goal. Such a resolution, he added, could break the ice on the prisoner of war front.

Farm bill meet set at Burley

RUPERT — The new Agricultural Act and the new Rural Environmental Assistance program will be discussed in the Ponderosa Convention Center Tuesday, Leo Van Every, ASCS director for Minkola County, reported Saturday.

He said ASCS state office personnel will explain provisions of the legislation. The morning session will be devoted to discussion of the Agricultural Act with special attention to the wheat and feed grain provisions. The afternoon will be used to introduce the Rural Environmental Assistance Program, which replaces the old Agricultural Conservation program, he said.

The Agricultural Conservation program has been the program which provided cost-sharing for land leveling, ditch lining and weed control.

2 hurt in race Sunday

FAIRFIELD — Two persons were injured slightly in snowmobile accidents Sunday afternoon during the snowmobile races here.

According to Harold Lee, Camas County deputy sheriff, a snowmobile in the Powder Puff race struck a hole in the track, flipped over three times and landed on its rider, Mrs. Kermit Douglas, Hazelton.

Lee said Mrs. Douglas' niece, Marcy Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Denton, Twin Falls, ran to her aunt's rescue and was in turn struck by another snowmobile. The girl was thrown about 20 feet, Lee said.

The incidents occurred about 3 p.m. Sunday. Dr. Marlon J. Kerns, Fairfield, said both victims received bruises. However, X rays were scheduled today for the girl at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

The races were WSA sanctioned and there were several spills, but no more injuries, Lee said.

Car hits pole

DRIVER AND PASSENGER of this vehicle escaped injury when it crashed into a power pole in the 400 block of Locust Street North, but driver Douglas R. Hoops, Route 2, Kimberly, was arrested and charged with six separate counts including possession of narcotics.

Three held for drugs

TWIN FALLS — Two Cassia County youths were in custody here today on charges of illegal possession of marijuana and a Kimberly, man was arrested early this morning on six counts, including illegal possession of narcotics, following a traffic accident on North Locust Street.

In custody in Twin Falls County jail charged with illegal possession of marijuana were Michael Gall Thurston, 18, Heyburn, and Johnnie Dirckson Jr., 19, Burley. Bond was set at $2,000 for each.

State police stopped the pair in a vehicle which they said was being driven in an erratic manner, suspecting drunken officers and a search of the vehicle in which they were riding led to the charges of possession of marijuana.

Released on bond early Monday morning was Douglas R. Hoops, 20, Route 2, Kimberly, who was charged with six separate counts including illegal possession of narcotics after his late model vehicle crashed into a power pole on Locust Street North at 2:28 a.m.

City police reported the driver was uninjured but when they arrived was not at the accident scene. It was necessary to close the street until power company crews could remove the power line which was knocked into the street.

Officers said the driver later came to the station to report his vehicle had been stolen, and became argumentative.

Hansen to visit valley

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Cong. Orval Hansen has scheduled two courthouse visits this week in Magic Valley.

Shoshone man hurt in mishap

GOODING — A Shoshone man was injured when his car struck some rocks at 5 p.m. Sunday six miles west of here on Highway 28.

He will be at the Cassia County courthouse in Burley from 9 to 10 a.m. Tuesday and at the Twin Falls Judicial Building from 3:30 to 4 p.m.

Deputy Sheriff Bill Bunn said David Giles apparently went to sleep at the wheel. The auto went out of control, struck an outcropping of lava rocks and rolled over several times.

Purpose of these visits is to enable him to report on activities in Congress and to learn the views of his constituents and answer questions and requests for assistance.

Bunn said Giles was taken to Gooding Memorial Hospital where he is listed in good condition. The auto was demolished.

Officers said the heavy equipment was parked about six miles west of Balanced Rock and someone shot out windows, tires and damaged the engine. Damage was estimated at $500.

Cassia school chief explains proposed sub-districting bill

BURLEY — The proposed sub-districting bill, allowing school districts to form sub-districts within the main district boundaries, offers both good and bad features, according to Harold Blauer, superintendent of Cassia County School District No. 152.

Blauer said the proposed legislation would allow school district to form sub-districts around an individual school. Then, to build a new school within the district, only the taxpayers within the area concerned would have to vote. This would give the bond issue a better chance of passage, Blauer said.

However, disputes between the sub-districts could easily arise, if students wanted to transfer between schools, Blauer said.

"Suppose a student out at Oakley wanted to attend a Burley school. Would Oakley have to pay tuition to the Burley sub-district? It could be very difficult," the superintendent said.

He's Mr. Angus

FRITA H. BRINCKEN, Pocatello, was named Mr. Idaho Angus 1971 by the Idaho Angus Breeders association here Friday night. Brincken started raising Angus cattle in 1946 with two head. He now owns 118 head Angus cattle. He was named Latah County cattleman of the year in 1966 and his 1968 Mr. Latah County fair board for 18 years.

Nixon backing declines

WASHINGTON (UPI)—One pollster's surveys indicate that President Nixon was slipping downhill during most of 1970 and that his slide was deepened by discontent over his economic policies.

Time will tell whether his shift toward new economic policies and his coming battle with Congress over reorganizing the federal system will reverse the trend.

Whatever the result, the surveys strengthen the belief of Democrats who think their 1972 presidential nomination may be more valuable than it appeared a year ago.

In eight days of telephone interviews with 2,213 persons, the Sindlinger & Co. research firm found that 56.5 per cent believed Nixon was doing a good job after his 1971 State of the Union message compared with 69.8 a year earlier. Those who felt he was doing a bad job rose from 13.1 to 26.4 per cent during the year, with others giving conditioned replies or offering no opinion.

To the specific question about whether he was doing a good job of handling the nation's economy, 57.9 per cent felt he was doing a good job and 17.2 a bad job after the 1970 message to Congress.

Before the 1971 State of the Union message, 38 per cent rated his handling of the economy as good and 49.4 felt it was bad. After the message, it was 48.3 per cent for a good job, 44.7 for a bad performance and only 7 per cent with no opinion.

A fall-off in the television audience was indicated. In 1970, 53.7 per cent reported watching the President's live appearance at 12:30 p.m.—EST, compared with 48.4 per cent for a 9 p.m. appearance Jan. 22, 1971.

Sindlinger found that Nixon was given a better overall rating by those who watched the tube to see the President deliver his 1971 message than by non-viewers. In the television audience, 67.6 per cent felt that the President was doing a good job and only 18.6 rated it bad, compared with 56 and 29 for the entire sample of people in the survey.

These findings implied that the president did a better job of selling his program to those who watched him or that more Nixon fans than critics turned on their TV sets for his appearance before Congress.

The polling indicated a jump in the Nixon ratings after both his 1970 and 1971 appearances in the Capitol. This contrasted with what a number of Republican leaders regarded as overexposure of the President in news shows during the 1970 campaign.

War push surprises Red envoys

Asian diplomats whose countries have embassies in Laos say Peking and Soviet Russia apparently have been caught off base by the South Vietnamese military drive into Laos and that indications were they would not supply more weapons or money to the Pathet Lao rebel movement. Sources say the Pathet Lao movement itself apparently does not count on more than loud Moscow and Peking protests and that it will not pull out its mission from Vietnam, Laotian capital, so that it can be in steady contact with neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma.

French government sources say a number of military sales missions will leave Paris soon on another scouting trip to Asia, the Near East and Latin America to keep French sales expanding even beyond last year's record total of $1.2 billion, placing France second only to the United States in arms sales. Sources say special targets as prospective buyers are Indonesia, Venezuela and Pakistan.

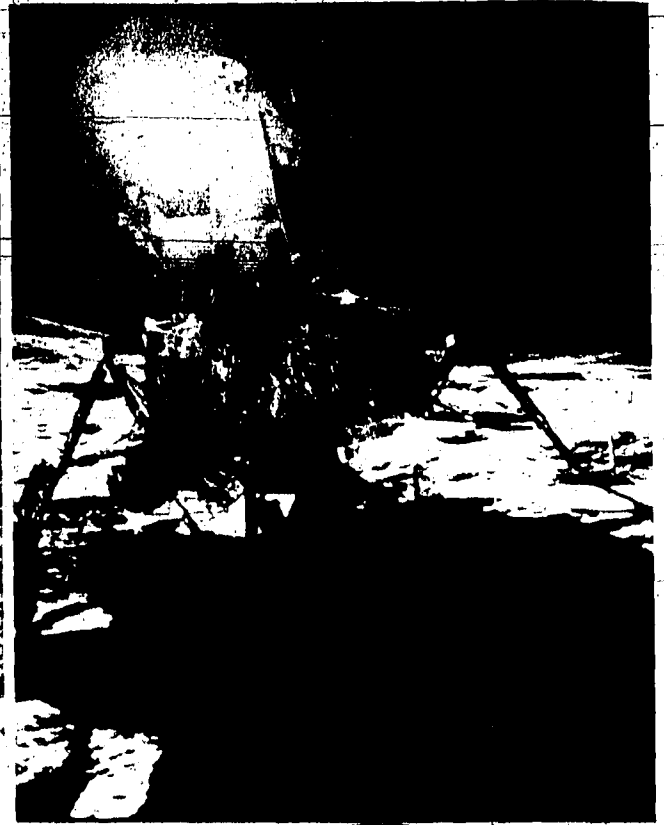

Opponents of West German Chancellor Willy Brandt predict the March 14 West Berlin municipal elections will be a setback for Brandt's Eastern policy.

You can buy a Rembrandt

LONDON (UPI)—Almost anyone can buy a Rembrandt. It did.

It happened more or less by accident.

For years I had read about the multi-million dollar sales at 34 New Bond St., home of the 228-year-old auction house of Sotheby and Co. In a newspaper I read they were to auction more than 100 old master etchings, engravings and woodcuts.

A 36-cent catalogue listed the goods, works by Goya, Rembrandt, Canaletto and other names associated with the folks who run to Rolls-Royce, Tiffany, executive jets and mink coats. I decided to see the other half in action.

The doorman at Sotheby's recognized the familiars, the art dealers from New York, Paris, Munich, Florence and London, and showed the way in for the sirs and madams.

The rest of us—the tourist with camera, the auction nut and the curious—also got a smile. In the little dramas at Sotheby, the spear carriers mix equally with the stars.

The goods for auction included a tiny, battered Rembrandt etching. An old Sotheby hand told me "one might get it for 40 pounds ($96) unless the dealers are hungry." Why not try I thought.

Adrian Eeles, a Sotheby's director and the man charged with authenticating old master prints, did the auctioneering. None of that tobacco solo lingo. Very precise. Very clear. Like a Supreme Court session. No one smokes. Experience tells Eeles when someone is using a finger to bid $240 or more to scratch a nose.

The sale began. Mr. New York bid by waggling a ballpoint pen. The Paris dealer signalled by raising his chin about an inch. Mr. Munich, his right hand on the table, raised the pen about an inch to show his bid. Florence pointed a finger. London nodded his head.

U. S. to proceed with Canadian H-explosion

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) spokesman said Friday. But the AEC official declined comment — as did the State Department — on a statement by Canada's External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp, that his government will oppose any further testing in the earthquake-prone Aleutian Islands in view of Tuesday's quake in Southern California.

The biggest underground tests are assumed to be connected with U.S. development of multiple warhead missiles and are said to be vital to the national security.

Sharp, speaking Thursday in Ottawa, said he had no scientific evidence to show that the test would cause earthquakes. "But if there were another quake after an atomic blast, people would be sure to blame the testing even if there was no scientific evidence it was the direct cause," he said. Canada, along with Japan, objected to the Oct. 2, 1969, test at Amchitka. Sharp said his government would "protest even more strongly" if the United States does not drop plans for this year's test.

The 1969 blast, which occurred at a depth of 4,000 feet and was equal in explosive force to one million tons of TNT, produced a shock at the test site of 6.5 on the Richter scale.

Times-News Editor
TWIN FALLS — A flying trip into Iowa and Illinois to inspect John Deere Farm Equipment factories not only convinced a group of Twin Falls and Jerome area farmers and their wives that equipment manufacturing is big business — it also convinced them that (1) there's no place like home in Idaho and (2) they would much rather be a farmer than a factory worker.

"No doubt about it," said host Wanzneried, "the people who work in a factory will have no worry about their jobs being sought out by Idaho farmers. The gang was all thrilled to see how farm equipment is put together. They were more thrilled, though, when they stepped onto Idaho soil after the flight back. Only one thing might change because of the trip. I noticed some farmers using the Chamber "pitch" on some factory workers. We just might have some mid-westerners moving into the Magic Valley before too long."

Also, Bill Blass, Ralph Breeding, Louis Bulcher, Dee Burton, Dave Chadwick, Delbert Clamplitt, Lee Eldridge, Blake Froelich, Hank Graesch, Richard Glines, Eugene Griff, Fred Hahline, Juanita Hopworth, Ray Hepworth, Ralph Huff, George Humphries, Joffre Jensen, Roger Jones, Michael Kleinkopf, Al Lampe, Rex Lancaster, Lyle Lerman, Bill Matney, Harold Menser, Dean Moore.

It all came about as nearly 100 area residents visited John Deere factories in Waterloo, Iowa, and Moline, Illinois. The two-day trip was made possible through cooperation of United Airlines and a 727 charter jet and Fred Wanzneried, operator of Gem Equipment Sales, Inc., in Twin Falls. The inspections at the various factories in the two mid-western areas gave the local people an insight into the largest operation of its kind in the world.

From the Twin Falls area: Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Dierker, Mr. and Mrs. Ora Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Korte, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Martins, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Nebeker, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Newton, Mr. and Mrs. John Orthal, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Poe, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ruhlter, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stanger, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stanger, Mr. and Mrs. Nadine Stanger, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wanzneried, Gary Aufderheide, Gary Bean, Bryce Biggerstaff, Crosby Bigger-

They found that one factory, for instance, employs around 8,000 people, another (an all-electric foundry) cost $20 million to build, the average pay of the factory worker (not including the white collars) comes to $4.38 an hour, the factory air (for a clean-air Idaho) is a little hard to take even though millions are spent on pollution control.

In addition they found that not one piece of farm equipment is made until the order for it is confirmed and that retired employees — some with past service of near 50 years — serve as tour guides as thousands fly in yearly to look over the John Deere spread.

They found all these related facts, but they also found the fresh air of Idaho just isn't something you give up easily, and milking cows or plowing a field just has to be a lot better than factory work.

Every trip participant was pleased with the journey but thrilled with the return home.

Ticket sale set for rock group

TWIN FALLS — Two Twin Falls merchants will sell tickets for the Idaho State University appearance of the "Guess Who," a Canadian rock music "combo," according to the ISU news bureau.

The "Crabby Appleton," another rock group, will appear with the Guess Who.

Ames Stereo City and Sound Limited in Twin Falls will sell the tickets for the concert, scheduled at 8 p.m. next Friday in the ISU Minidome.

Oswald: "In auction bridge players open very light in first or second seat, but required more for third hand openings, and a lot more for fourth hand bids. This carried over into the first Culbertson system opened in first or second seat with 2½ quick tricks, but 3 were required in third seat and 3-plus in fourth. In today's hand South has 2½ Culbertson tricks and as dealer he would open. If North or West had dealt the hand, it would be passed out."

Jim: "Some people might pass today's hand. South has 14 high-card points and the JACOBY MODERN rule is to open all 14 HCP hands irrespective of vulnerability, position at the table, or the signs of the zodiac."

Oswald: "The old idea about strong third and fourth hand bids has fallen entirely by the wayside and some splinter systems go the other way, and establish higher requirements for first and second seat."

Jim: "You were the first to propose that the requirements be the same in all seats and in JACOBY MODERN we open all hands with 14 high-card points; almost all hands with 13; most with 12 and some with 11. We don't open 10-pointers except with preempts of some sort."

Oswald: "South plays at one no-trump and has no trouble making it. He attacks diamonds after winning the spade. If East ducks twice he shifts to hearts and is sure of seven tricks. North can make three diamonds and West might make two spades if he could get there. Any plus score should be very satisfactory with these cards."

PASS IT ON

by L.M. Boyd

A PRISON DOCTOR who ministers to female convicts contends his observation over the years indicates you just can't trust a woman with triangular fingernails. . . . HOW MANY phone calls did you make last year, young lady? No notion? Exactly 745 is the national average. That's counting every man, woman and unspeakable child, however. . . . ANOTHER KITCHEN STAPLE that got its start on the American market years ago as an exotic health food is the graham cracker.

JUDGE A WOMAN by her mind, not by her appearance. Such was the advice of that wise old gentleman named Aesop. Our Love and War man, can't agree. You get a fairly accurate fix on a woman's character, he claims, by how she dresses and puts on her makeup. But certainly nothing shows her up more clearly than the way she furnishes her house. For instance, a woman who props brightly colored pillows all over her livingroom tends to be highly sensuous. She craves romance. That's generally known.

CUSTOMER SERVICE - Q "Can you train a sheep?" A. To do what? Follow you around maybe. Sheep are pretty stupid, but they know what they like: chocolate. Q "Are there many female forgers?" A. Only a few. The girls like checks and overdraw their accounts with abandon, laymen say, but they rarely actually forge phony signatures.

A MAJORITY of mothers, by no means all, just a majority, bear no more children after the age of 26. Rightly enough, the usual mother is capable of having children for another 20 years or so of her lifetime. But she doesn't nowadays, not if she's average. WHEN ANGRY, the octopus turns completely purple. When amorous, it blushes red all over. I know a man who catches octopuses for a living. He's seen them turn purple many times, but they don't usually get red when he's around. Too bashful maybe.

YOU KNOW THOSE new microwave ovens? Cook an egg in one of them. If you poke the yolk, it will explode. OUR LANGUAGE MAN says bit, shabby, chap, cab and kidnap all started out as slang words unlisted in any dictionary until recently. MIGHT ASK your doctor what he would prescribe for stentation. That ought to send the old boy back to his books. It's sneezing.

IN THE ANIMAL WORLD, it's the bird which has the best eyesight, that's definite. Remember the ancient debate about whether a robin finds a worm with its eyes or its ears? It was long thought the robin hears the worm. That's wrong. It's now known the robin sees the worm. And the worm that doesn't volunteer never gets chosen. Would like to do a whole philosophical column on this. But not today.
