Nixon removes U.S. war gloves

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon said Wednesday he will not limit use of U.S. air power in Indochina and refused to rule out the possibility South Vietnam may invade North Vietnam.

The President also said the South Vietnamese continue to shoulder more of the fighting, so successfully in fact that the withdrawal of U.S. soldiers may be accelerated and Hanoi soon may wind up dealing with Saigon, not Washington, in any peace talks.

Nixon's assessment came in an unscheduled 40-minute news conference at the White House. While he talked in optimistic terms about Vietnamization, he warned Hanoi that "as long as the North Vietnamese have any Americans as prisoners of war, there will be Americans in South Vietnam—and enough Americans to give them an incentive to release the prisoners."

Nixon said the limits on use of U.S. ground combat troops outside Vietnam, as he has outlined them before, still hold; but "I am not going to place any limitation upon the use of air power except, of course, to rule out a rather ridiculous suggestion that is made from time to time ... that our air power might include the use of tactical nuclear weapons."

Asked whether Saigon might decide to launch an invasion of North Vietnam, he replied: "I won't speculate on what South Vietnam may decide to do with regard to a possible incursion into North Vietnam in order to defend their national security."

His response seemed to indicate that such an invasion was an option available to Saigon, at least.

Health plan aired

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today proposed a comprehensive strategy for national health care that would require all employers to provide minimum health insurance to workers and their families.

The plan, presented to Congress in a special message, also would scrap portions of the Medicaid program of health insurance for the poor, and substitute a federally financed and administered poor-family health insurance plan.

The federal portion of the program would provide free health insurance to families of four with incomes of less than $3,000 per year, and provide a graduated schedule of premium charges up to income levels of $5,000.

T.F. spending to jump 16%

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writer
TWIN FALLS — An increase of 16.23 per cent in spending during 1971 is contained in the proposed budget for the city of Twin Falls.

City Manager Jean Millar said tentative figures show the general fund budget will be $1,805,000, compared with expenditures of $1,553,000 during 1970.

Millar said the increase is necessary to meet minimum operating costs.

"We cannot possibly meet the needs of the city without going over the present taxation restrictions of House Bill 304," the city manager said.

If the bill is not repealed, he said, the city will have to go to the Idaho State Tax Commission for special consideration. If this is not possible because of changing state laws, it may be necessary to ask voters of the city to decide the matter, Millar said.

Millar said the mill levy increase will be about 10 per cent of 4.8 mills over the previous year.

Tentative figures show the general fund budget will be

Accused ...

FORMER ... SERGEANT major of the Army William Woodriddle was indicted Wednesday along with seven others on charges of conspiring to defraud noncommissioned officers' clubs in Vietnam between 1965 and 1969.

Sergeant indicted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Army Sgt. Maj. William O. Woodriddle and seven others were indicted by a federal grand jury Wednesday on charges of conspiring to defraud noncommissioned officers' clubs in Vietnam between 1965 and 1969.

Woodriddle was the Army's former highest ranking enlisted man who was stripped of that rank following a Senate subcommittee investigation in 1969 which accused him of "questionable activities" in his conduct of Army clubs in Germany, the United States and South Vietnam.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell announced the indictments were returned in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles. Woodriddle, five current or former Army non-coms, two civilians and a California corporation in which five of the accused were shareholders were named in the indictments.

T.F. man victim of crash

TWIN FALLS — James Corbit, 27, Twin Falls truck driver, died Tuesday in Holy Cross Hospital, Salt Lake City, of injuries received Feb. 10 in a one-car accident near Ely, Nev.

Nevada state police said the car driven by his wife, Tommie Jean Corbit, went off the left side of Highway 93 when the driver attempted to bring it back, the vehicle went out of control.

The car overturned, ejecting Mr. Corbit who landed 153 feet from the car on the highway. He received head lacerations, with an and to violence, it is a skull, hip and pelvis fractures.

His wife and children were treated for cuts and bruises at Ely and Mr. Corbit was taken to Salt Lake City.

5 U.S. copters downed

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist gunners today shot down five more U.S. helicopters in fighting in Laos and across the border in South Vietnam, where flights subsided around the encircled American Fire Support Base.

American military spokesmen did not give the locations where three helicopter gunships were shot down in Laos but said two crewmen were wounded. Two others were shot up in Quang Tri province across the border but managed to land with two crewmen wounded.

Unofficial figures showed at least 19 American helicopters have been destroyed in support of the South Vietnamese campaign in Laos in the past 11 days. U.S. casualties in the support role were 31 killed, 79 wounded and six missing in action. The casualties do not include GIs wounded in Communist shelling attacks, military spokesmen said.

The U.S. command reported the loss of an Air Force P4 Phantom jet in the lower panhandle of Laos Tuesday.

Reds cite 'threat' to China

PARIS (UPI) — North Vietnam and the Viet Cong said today the United States plays "new military adventures" against Hanoi and is threatening Communist China.

Xuan Thuy, chief North Vietnamese delegate, said "Nixon does not seek peace but a military victory. He is preparing new military adventures against North Vietnam. His acts threaten Peoples China and other countries."

It was the first time since the start of the American-backed move into Laos by South Vietnamese troops that the Vietnamese Communist have said Red China also was being threatened.

Teddy worried

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., says President Nixon's Vietnamization policy will lead to expansion of the war in Indochina.

"Vietnamization means war and more war," Kennedy said Wednesday in an address to a business executives' peace group. "It has nothing to do with an end to violence, it is a policy of violence."

Kennedy said he was disappointed and dismayed that Americans had not protested more about the incursion into Laos.

State school aid increase 'likely'

By RICHARD G. JHIGL
Times-News Associate Editor
BOISE (Special to the Times-News) — The Magic Valley author of a revolutionary plan to increase to 76 per cent state support of public schools said today the plan "is building up a good head of steam" and probably will pass the house.

Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, D-Tuttle, member of a house subcommittee now drafting the plan, told the Times-News both the House Education and Revenue and Taxation Committees should report the bill out with "do-pass" recommendations.

The plan would combine current state education funds with a state-wide property tax and uniform county property tax to fund most school expenses. Funds would be allocated to districts on the basis of classroom units instead of number of pupils.

According to Ravenscroft, tentative figures show most

Magic Valley school districts would be able to conduct their school programs at less cost to districts than under the existing system.

Under the plan, state control of funds including the new state and county property taxes would pay for basic instructional costs of all school districts.

Local districts then would pay for administration, school buildings and any "enrichment" desired. The state's share would be about 76 per cent of the total bill. The total district share would be about 25 per cent.

The local districts in most cases could reduce property taxation by more than the amount of the new state and county taxes, Ravenscroft said.

The state would impose a 1.6 mill levy on property tax throughout the state, assessed according to the true market value of the property.

The counties would levy an additional 1.6 mills on the same basis.

According to Ravenscroft, the plan would produce about $78 million in state-controlled funds for distribution if a kindergarten program is included, or about $75 million without kindergartens.

Ravenscroft said major advantages of the plan include setting up a simple, understandable system instead of the now-complex formula for collection and distribution of educational funds.

It would clearly spell out the state property tax responsibility for funding education. The plan, he said, would eliminate the differential between rich and poor districts and between large and small districts.

He said extremely small

Panel lambasts housing program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate committee said today the federal government has intensified the nation's housing shortage by tearing down more homes than it helped build up and by spending more to subsidize squallid homes than decent ones.

In a report on 33 years of "federal failure" in housing, the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs also accused the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) of adopting discriminatory policies which accelerated the decline of central cities into slums.

The committee said the FHA has refused to insure loans in central city neighborhoods. That, along with high interest rates, has meant that no housing money is available in the central city, it said.

"Thus practice constitutes a significant contribution to the deterioration of our nation's cities and the consequential social ills we claim to deplore, from rising crime rates to high infant mortality," the committee said.

"As far as FHA is concerned, the federal government has failed to relieve the housing crisis in this country," it added.

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., committee chairman, said in a statement accompanying the report that the government has built only 1.5 million housing units in the 33 years since the first federal housing legislation was adopted.

"The real need requires that level of output each year, not each third of a century," he said.

McGovern, an announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said he would introduce a bill that would create a new agency—the Emergency Rural Home Development Administration—which would be charged by Congress with providing minimum housing, sanitation, clean water and such community facilities as day care centers for any town of 25,000 or below—including rural areas—within five years.

Tuition hike OK'd in Senate

BOISE — The Idaho Senate passed the junior college tuition bill by a strongly favorable 33-1 vote Wednesday afternoon.

The measure now goes to the house for consideration.

The bill, Senate Bill 1111, allows the College of Southern Idaho as well as the North Idaho Junior College at Coeur d'Alene to increase tuition by 25 per cent, from the current $50-$100 range up to $62.50-$125.

Counties outside the junior college district would be assessed $312.50 per semester for each full-time student from the county attending either college. This is an increase from the present rate of $250 per semester.

The legislation was introduced in the senate by the Health, Education and Welfare Committee at the request of the two colleges.

Employees get $125,000 more

TWIN FALLS — Benefits to Twin Falls city employees in 1971 including the switch to the state employee retirement program and salary increases will cost an additional $125,000, City Manager Jean Millar said today.

In preparing figures for a salary ordinance which will be read at the March 1 city council meeting, he said the major benefit for city workers this year is the new retirement program.

Salary increases, determined by city council members, range from a low of about one per cent on regular workers to as much as nine per cent for some department heads and their assistants. Millar said the $125,000 includes the blanket salary increase granted firemen several months ago through negotiations with their bargaining agents.

Idaho visit off to bad start

HOLLISTER — Next time a certain woman motorist wants road conditions, she will probably telephone for them.

The unidentified woman, traveling in a small foreign car, stopped at the Idaho State Police Port of Entry here Thursday morning to ask about road conditions to Idaho Falls.

While she was in the office a jet passed overhead causing a sonic boom. Officers on duty said the resulting jolt shook loose a large glass covering in a light fixture. The glass fell near the woman and shattered.

Officers said she screamed and ran from the building and apparently drove away. Officers said there was a bit of blood near the broken glass indicating she may have been cut. State police asked Twin Falls officers to be on the lookout for the woman and to determine if she had suffered any cuts but no trace of her car could be found.

War toll increases

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. command said today 51 Americans were killed in Indochina last week, which included the first six days of the Allied drive into Laos. It was more than double the death toll for the previous week.

U.S. spokesmen said the toll for the week ending last Saturday would rise higher still with addition of six deaths in helicopter crashes inside Laos. The deaths so far were carried as "missing in action" because of delays in body recovery and identification.

Khe Sahn rats return 'home'

KHE SANH, South Vietnam (UPI)—"The rats of Khe Sanh," said the black scrawl on the back of the GI's sweatshirt. Three days of dust were caked on his face, and arms but he dug, and filled sandbags as if his life depended on it.

His life may depend on it, or on how hard he works to dig himself a deep hole somewhere on this grassless plateau just over a mile long and a quarter-mile wide.

Three years ago, Communists moving out of the mountains which loom up on three sides of the plateau held a force of 6,000 Marines in a deadly artillery siege. Clouds that wreathed the mountain tops, fog that came in almost daily and closed Khe Sanh to both helicopters and fixed-wing aircraft were additional hazards.

Now 3,000 Army troops are back. It's difficult to tell whether they have remembered the lessons of 1968. Constantly, hovering helicopters raise clouds of red dust hundreds of feet into the air.

This time, officers say, is different. The troops are digging in but complain there aren't enough sandbags and they don't have enough digging tools. Some combat units cajoled engineers who were building a new 3,200-foot runway to use their bulldozers for building bunkers, slowing runway work but perhaps saving lives in the long run.

Two weeks after the Americans moved back into Khe Sanh, there had been no Communist rocket or mortar attacks. But other fire support bases in the region had been hit with U.S. casualties.

Whenever weather allows, Australian B57 and U.S. F4 Phantom jets can be seen bombing within 5 miles of Khe Sanh, which is a forward base for the South Vietnamese invasion of Laos.

In addition to the weather, Khe Sanh has only one access road, a dirt strip, along which American and South Vietnamese convoys have been ambushed several times. A heavy Communist attack could knock it out long enough to provide resupply problems for Khe Sanh. Helicopters can carry only so much and weather can stop their operations.

Now and again, the hum and chatter of the more than 100 helicopters which crowd the plateau is shattered by an exploding mine detonated by teams clearing minefields laid by the Marines during the 1968 siege. Such unexploded mines have claimed the lives of American soldiers reoccupying the base.

Spec. 4 William Rentschler, 20, of Detroit, an aircraft controller, said, "It's a wonder we haven't been blown away. The reds are up there in those hills and have got the rockets, and mortars to do it."

A battle-hardened veteran said that he is nervous just being at Khe Sanh.

Teaching nun shot

DETROIT (UPI)—A 37-year-old Catholic nun who taught mentally retarded children was shot to death early today by a sniper who fired two shots through the drapery-covered windows of her convent room.

Sister Julia Maria Williams died shortly after being shot through the temple. She had just returned to the convent after attending a family Mass in a private home.

Four unidentified suspects were arrested in an apartment building across the street from the convent, police said.

Residents of the area on Detroit's West Side reported they had heard noises that sounded like gunshots for several hours during the evening and night, but no one notified police of the noises.

Police said the suspects may have been shooting at random objects in the area for several hours before sister Julia was shot at about 1 a.m.

Reuther's altimeter 'Faulty'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Labor leader Walter Reuther died when the pilot of his plane was lured below a safe altitude by a freak illusion, and a faulty altimeter in which parts were missing and one part was installed upside down, safety investigators said today.

Reuther, 62, head of the United Auto Workers union; his wife, her nephew, and a friend of Reuther's died along with the pilot and copilot when their small chartered jet crashed May 9 while attempting a night landing at Pellston, Mich.

In its report, the National Transportation Safety Board said the twin-engine Lear jet clipped trees on a hilltop two miles from the runway, but the pilot was able to keep the plane airborne for a half mile before it hit another clump of trees and crashed.

Investigators found the pilot's altimeter and an examination showed "some incorrect parts had been installed, some parts were missing and one part was installed upside down."

Tanker explodes

CADIZ, Spain (UPI)—The Norwegian tanker Ferncastle exploded and apparently broke in two off the Spanish coast Wednesday night, a Spanish naval command spokesman said today. A radio message picked up by a coast station said the vessel had sunk.

The command spokesman said the 500-ton Spanish cargo ship Navipos had picked up 36 survivors of the explosion aboard the 52,510-ton Ferncastle. The blast occurred in the Atlantic Ocean about 350 miles from Cadiz.

My Lai dead 'not human'

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—Lt. William L. Calley shot villagers to death at My Lai but did not regard the victims as human beings, his defense attorney contends.

Calley's defense summoned further expert testimony today in an effort to show that the accused officer was "psyched up" at the South Vietnamese hamlet and therefore unable to premeditate the murders.

The testimony of two psychiatrists, Dr. David G. Crane of Indianapolis and Dr. Wilbur A. Hamman of Arlington, Va., was spun around a dramatic disclosure by the defense in the form of a hypothetical question that was a preview of what Calley will say on the stand.

Calley, 27, a junior college dropout who says the Army trained him "that in combat it is mandatory that an officer carry out orders," is charged with the premeditated murder of 102 unarmed and unresisting civilians in the Vietnamese hamlet while leading an infantry platoon on a sweep nearly three years ago.

Crane testified Wednesday—as will Hamman late today—that Calley was unable that day to "plan, think out, or contrive" killing the inhabitants.

If the six-officer jury believes that, it would remove the element of premeditation from the charge and eliminate the death penalty.

Crane also testified that due to the stress of combat, Calley lacked the mental capacity to "form a specific intent to kill." This is the military law definition of unpremeditated murder. That, if believed, would knock the offense down to manslaughter.

Crane also said Calley was unable to analyze complex decisions in his combat mental state, the implication being that he could not reason whether orders he says were given by the company commander to kill everything in the village were legal or illegal.

The military judge, Col. Reid W. Kennedy, ruled Wednesday the doctors could not be asked whether they believed Calley had the capacity to determine the legality of the orders given by Capt. Ernest L. Medina, the company commander.

Israelis ponder peace bid

By United Press International
Israel Premier Golda Meir called her cabinet into session today to examine and discuss Egypt's reply to the peace initiative of United Nations envoy Gunnar V. Jarring.

Political sources said the United States was pressuring Israel to make a "positive" response as did Egypt.

A cabinet statement was expected later today.

Egypt's answer was relayed to the Israeli ambassador at the U.N., Yosef Tokouh, in New York Wednesday night. Foreign Minister Abba Eban has said Israel would consider the answer a reply to Israel's own peace proposals.

Jarring was reported to have proposed that Israel withdraw from the Sinai Peninsula and that "an international peace keeping force be stationed at Sharm el Sheikh to safeguard Israel's shipping rights through the Strait of Tiran to its port of Aqaba.

Rocket explodes

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI)—A Thor-Agena booster combination missile carrying a classified satellite exploded in a hall of flames Wednesday about 40 seconds after launch from this military aerospace center.

The Air Force said there were no injuries. The debris from the 76-foot long missile landed about a quarter mile from the launch site in an uninhabited area.

The missile was launched by an Air Force-Industry team and a military spokesman would only say the "purpose of flight was to place a satellite in orbit."

An Air Force investigation was being conducted into the cause of the explosion, which occurred shortly after noon.

Turks hike protection

ISTANBUL (UPI)—Turkish police doubled their guard at all foreign consulates today after six explosions rocked U.S. and British establishments across Istanbul, shattering windows but causing no serious damage.

Police blamed the incidents on left-wing extremists and an apparent intimidation campaign aimed at frightening the 14,000 U.S. servicemen and their families stationed here.

'Quad fund' up, need continues

TWIN FALLS — The Springer "quad fund" has received $1,000.53 to date, according to J. H. Henry, owner of Henry Produce Co. of Kimberly, who employs Kenneth Springer, father of the quads.

Funeral services, and Dr. James E. Sloat of Jerome, the attending physician, declined to charge, the Springers' hospital bills still amounted to over $1,000.

The fund was formed to pay for the hospital and other expenses of the Kenneth Springer family of Twin Falls, parents of Idaho's only set of quadruplets. They were born Jan. 8, but died shortly after birth.

Springer is only working part time for Henry Produce, since his business is "very slow," Henry said Wednesday. "He's an hourly employee and we can only pay our men when they work. And he hasn't been working lately," Henry said.

Clothing need told

TWIN FALLS — There is a need for all types and sizes of used wearable clothing at the Red Cross clothing center in the old hospital building, Willard Swartz said today.

Donations to the Springer fund should be sent to the J. H. Henry Produce Co., Kimberly, addressed to the "Quad Fund."

NEW YORK (UPI)—A nationwide survey shows wrist-watches are the most popular hard-goods gift item among U.S. college students. More than 88 percent of America's 7 million college students wear watches, and one out of every six owns two or more wrist-watches, according to Bulova Watch Co., researchers.

Senate act seen holding off new bill

BOISE — Sen. John T. Peavey, R-Rupert, said Wednesday he believes defeat of the park question in the Idaho Senate will forestall introduction of a national park proposal in central Idaho in Congress during the coming year.

"Proponents of the national park in the Sawtooth, Boulder and White Cloud mountains of central Idaho were citing the election of Gov. Cecil Andrus and Rep. Orville Hansen as proof that people of Idaho wanted a national park," Peavey said.

"I think a far truer test came in the senate when the Senate Joint Memorial was defeated, 12-22," Peavey said.

SJM 103 would have asked Congress to enact legislation setting up a national park in central Idaho, and also dealt with creation of a recreation area around the park. The senate earlier passed a house initiated memorial dealing with creation of a recreation area in the Sawtooth Valley.

Peavey said that after checking with other senators, he believed a park proposal would have little chance of passage if a memorial asking for a five year moratorium on filing of new mining claims was first passed.

Child loss from class lack hit

BOISE (UPI)—Pros and cons of the much-debated public kindergarten proposal were again expressed Wednesday night at a public hearing in the statehouse.

A number of persons appeared to testify before a joint session of the Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee and the House Education Committee.

The chairman of the education task force warned every year public kindergartens are not implemented in Idaho "we set back that year of students that much further from what they could have hoped to gain."

Dr. J.P. Munson, Sandpoint, said his committee and the State Department of Education supported public kindergartens fully financed by the state on an optional basis for both school districts and parents, although school districts would provide housing for the program.

Munson said presently $100 million is being spent on public education in the state. Had the kindergarten program been initiated 10 or 12 years earlier "This money right now would be much better utilized than it is at the present time," he said.

Sen. Joe Allen, R-American Falls, said if the program were on an optional basis for children the ones who needed such a program the most might not take advantage of it and would be "further behind than they already are now."

But Munson said there had already been "tremendous cooperation" from disadvantaged parents who were given the opportunity to place their children in pre-school programs.

Richard L. Willey, dean of the College of Education, Idaho State University, said one of the "great tragedies of our time is the continual waste of life—primarily the destruction of children."

Kindergartens, he said, had a positive influence on later Academic achievement and added it was "better and cheaper to give children the right start."

Mrs. Frank Joseph, Welter, said she opposed the measure because she would prefer to see the funds spent on more vocational training.

Jerry Evans, Caldwell, president of the Association of Idaho School District Superintendents, said his association gave kindergartens its number two priority.

In his executive budget, Gov. Cecil Andrus singled out $2.8 million to implement a public school program. Munson said the task force committee "estimated" the cost closer to $3.4 million, which included transportation, although he said there was no way of knowing how many children would attend the first year.

New hours for office announced

TWIN FALLS — New hours during which the district court clerk's office will be open to the public were announced today by Harold Lancaster, county clerk.

He said the office will be open to the public from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. It is closed during the lunch hour from noon to 1 p.m.

The change means the office opens to the public one half hour later in the mornings and closes one half hour earlier. This is to allow the employees to prepare their files and cash drawers to be ready to better serve the people and to close in time to work up the day's cash balance without interruption with additional business, Lancaster said.

Revolution 'anatomy' talk topic

TWIN FALLS — One of the most potentially controversial speakers in Twin Falls for some time is scheduled to appear next Tuesday at the College of Southern Idaho.

Col. Arch E. Roberts will discuss "The Anatomy of a Revolution" at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center for an admission charge of $1 for adults. CSI students with activity cards will be admitted without charge.

Advance publicity on the speaker indicates he will delineate the basics of "Revolution, U.S.A." and the "policy of forced integration in the public school systems."

Commission hears inmate's complaint

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners listened to a complaint Wednesday from a 22-year-old county jail inmate, then told him they believe he had little to complain about.

The inmate, Bernard Wayne Savor, Twin Falls, serving a one year's commuted sentence on a first degree burglary conviction, told commissioners he didn't care for the food being served.

W. I. Chancy, commission chairman, said the health department finds the food meets all requirements for purity and commissioners have found it more than adequate at various times when checks have been made.

Savor wrote a letter to the governor and was advised to take his complaint up with county officials as it was a county level matter.

"We granted him the courtesy of listening to his complaint but could find no validity in it," Chancy said. "No prisoner ever enjoys jail, but then he isn't there for pleasure."

The Candidates

Lawrence F. O'Brien, national chairman of the Democratic Party, has been worried lest the Senators who would like to be President start carving each other up in the primary campaign and forget that President Nixon is the man to beat.

So he arranged a secret meeting at which he said they agreed to campaign against the Administration and not each other.

Senator George McGovern, who is trying to use FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover as a stepping stone to the nomination, is the only announced candidate, but you can tell who the candidates are by noting O'Brien's guest list, which included:

Senators McGovern, Hubert Humphrey, Edmund Muskie, Henry M. Jackson, Edward M. Kennedy, Harold E. Hughes and Fred R. Harris. Senator Birch Bayh, of Indiana, was unable to attend the meeting but agreed to the strategy in advance.

O'Brien said at least some of these men probably will be competing against each other for the Democratic nomination but "it was also clearly acknowledged that the opposition is the Republican Party and its policies and not ourselves."

This may tend to mitigate the internal contention for delegates and it might even help the Democrats in the 1972 election.

There are many months between now and then, however, and the Democratic Senators should not become so dazzled by their prospects that they lose sight of the nation's vital interests in the meantime, whether in opposing President Nixon's program or in supporting their own alternatives.

The nation's voters are not likely to approve road blocks in the way of Nixon programs they would like to see tried, nor are they likely to support Democratic efforts to outdo the Administration in spending.

Moon Watch

Currently on display at the American Museum-Hayden Planetarium in New York is a one-of-its-kind timepiece that points toward the day when astronauts will set up permanent housekeeping on the moon.

The moon watch, no larger than wrist watches worn by airmen or scuba divers, was manufactured by Helbro to incorporate a system of lunar time measurement devised by noted astronomer Dr. Kenneth L. Franklin of the planetarium.

The moon's light-dark circle (the lunar "day") is approximately one earth month long. This is called a "lunation."

Franklin has divided each lunation into 30 "lunes," each 24 hours in duration. These lunes are further divided into "lunours"

(lunar hours, about one earth hour long), with subdivisions of "decilunours" (about six minutes) "centilunours" (about 35 seconds) and "millilunours" (about 3.5 seconds.)

It will also be necessary to have Lunar Time Zones, similar to Standard Time zones on earth. Thus an astronaut might look at his watch and find that it was "37 centilunours after 21 of the 18th lune, West Tranquillity Time."

Confusing to us earthlings, but the system of lunar timekeeping will be essential to future moon explorers, answering such questions as: When will the sun rise here? When will we get maximum solar heating? When will darkness fall? Can we get back to base on time?

MR. SPECTATOR

Cool Reception

It is an unfortunate fact of public life that many persons are convinced high officials of government are in the game to enrich their own coffers. That is infrequently the case, but an occasional scandal is enough to blanket the entire area of public service with the faint of suspicion.

This is one of the reasons every year a group of senators introduces legislation which would require every major public official to file annual reports declaring his income from whatever source, his investments and assets and his land and other real estate dealings.

The assumption is that if all the financial dealings of a judge, a congressman or a cabinet member were available for public scrutiny, there could be no question of the proprieties of any of his transactions while in office.

It might work that way and it might not. A number of top officials now do file such reports voluntarily, but how many persons take the trouble to look into them? And if such reports were required by law, who would audit them to be sure they were complete?

There is also the question of privacy. Should a man be expected, upon stepping into public life, to bare all his personal circumstances for the world to see? It is this question, probably more than any other, which makes it unlikely that the annual move by some dozen senators for a full and complete accounting will receive greater acceptance by those it would govern than it has in the past.

MAN THE THINKER

Archaeologists believe they have uncovered evidence — markings on prehistoric artifacts — that indicate man was a thinking creature long before they previously had thought.

The markings are believed to represent attempts by Upper Paleolithic man to chronicle the days by observations of the moon and its phases, a degree of intellectual achievement that scientists have ascribed to the genus homo of only the last 10,000 years or even less.

Now they think this ability may be as old as 34,000 years.

To the nonscientific observer, it makes sense. Obviously man could not have got the world into its present shape in only 10,000 years or less.

Most folk don't know where the world is going and have concluded the only thing they can do is just hang on for the ride.

WHICH?

A dull thud could be a precipitate drop in the cost of living, or Harold Stassen's admission that he will again be available for president next year breaking the sound barrier.

ANDREW TULLY

Story Of A Yellowed Clipping

WASHINGTON — Occasionally, when this peculiar village seems particularly ineligible for redemption — when the politicians are all screaming at once and the trash men collect in nose-thumbing mobs — a newspaperman I know intimately curls up with a yellowed clipping from a catalog put out by an outfit named Previews, Inc.

Previews is a really empire that sells housing internationally. It ignores the three-bedroom brick in Reading, Pa., but its catalog is crammed with come-ons for discerning types like this newswoman, named me, whose tastes run to castles, country homes, villas and shooting boxes in assorted foreign climes. The yellowed clipping reminds me that I am a failure. I never ran away to Ireland.

Some of the lean-40s offered by Previews in this volume run as high as $150,000, but there are poor people's castles, too. The one I decided to buy some years ago, but never got around to posting the down payment therefor, was described in the clipping as being "on the outskirts of a picturesque village in County Cork on the South Irish coast." It occupied, if you will, "a superb cliff-top overlooking Castlehaven Bay," and the climate was called so salubrious that the locality was said to be "abundant in semi-tropical plants and flowers."

What attracted a genteel type like me were what Previews called "the social amenities." These included sailing, bathing, deep sea, salmon and trout fishing, hunting and "rough shooting."

"That 'rough shooting'" bit always bothered me. I assumed it referred to those Sins Feiner chaps who are constantly trying to overthrow the British Empire in Ulster. Subconsciously, this may have steered me away from buying the place on the spot, although the house seemed strong enough if any rough shooting should get too close. It was built of stone and brick. And, as we say in Cork, "main electricity and water is laid on."

Even if the in-Jaws showed up, a man would not have felt overly crowded in that elegant hovel. Ten bedrooms are listed in the advertisement, and although Previews admitted there were only two bathrooms on the sleeping floor, "separate W.C.'s" were laid on. As a man constantly bedeviled by the shortage of housing for my entourage, I was delighted to learn there also were four "staff rooms."

There was a paneled entrance hall with tiled fireplace, a 21 by 20 drawing room, a study and a dining room 21 by 18. But as an old hand with the pool cue, my favorite probably would have been the billiard room, described as 30 by 20 and with an open brick fireplace. Just the place to rent out to underwear companies for taking pictures of VIP's wearing their product while committing a balk, or something.

The clipping reminds me that the "domestic offices" comprised kitchen, fitted modern "essie cooker," scullery, and, of course, a servants' hall where the help could practice clawing at their topknobs for their new master. However, I wondered about those "loose boxes" that the clipping says are part of a "range" of outbuildings. Possibly, they should have been fastened down against sneak thieves.

As for the grounds, they were described as laid out with lawns and flowering shrubs, with some woodland and a horse paddock. That always sounded familiar; it was my original intention to operate the mutuels concession exclusively. Previews admitted, in its honest way, that the tennis court "requires attention." Not from me.

All this could be had in that nice time for a measly 4,750 pounds, which at the current rate of exchange comes out to $11,600 in what we use for money. Even if inflation has boosted the price a bit, it would be a bargain today, notwithstanding Previews' sinister silence about central heating. "Dear Previews..."

Steady Spiro

WASHINGTON — Although Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's stock has been slipping badly within upper reaches of the Nixon administration, private soundings by pollster Oliver Quayle show him maintaining a remarkably steady — but low — level of public esteem in sharp contrast to President Nixon's decline.

Indeed, previously unpublished Quayle surveys for statewide candidates across the country reveal a public attitude toward Agnew that greatly differs from assumptions of the President's closest political advisers. It shows, first, that Agnew has never been as popular as they thought; and second, that he therefore hasn't fallen back as much as they feared.

Extremely important these days is the fishy eye now being cast in his direction by politicians close to Mr. Nixon. Whereas a few months ago they viewed Agnew as an unquestioned asset certain to be on the 1972 ticket, some Presidential intimates are now having second thoughts and regard him as only a 50-50 shot for the ticket. The Quayle findings put the question in new perspective.

A compilation of his interviews with 10,425 people in 23 states for the year ending Feb. 1, 1971, shows that only 51 percent approve Agnew's performance as Vice President — dangerously low for an incumbent. But Agnew's rating was an identical 51 percent in Quayle's polling for the 12-month period ending March 1, 1970. In short, despite all the public controversy about him, Agnew has remained at precisely that level.

In contrast, Quayle's year-long averages show Mr. Nixon's impressive 58 percent rating on March 1, 1970, slipping to 57 percent on Aug. 1 and falling to 53 percent for the year ending Nov. 1. Since then, the President has leveled off at 53 percent. Beneath the surface impression of steadiness for the Vice President, however, Quayle's data reveals one Agnew decline. The percentage of voters who consider his job performance "poor" has increased from 18 in the year ending March 1, 1970, to 23 in the year ending Feb. 1, 1971. That nearly one-in-four "poor" rating is unusually high for an official with an overall favorable rating of 51 percent.

By comparison, President Nixon gets a "poor" grade from only 15 percent. On the other hand, the Vice President is rated "excellent" by 17 percent compared with only 12 percent for the President.

That tends to confirm the view of many Nixon strategists that voters polarize around Agnew, either very plus or very minus. Therein lies the White House problem concerning Agnew and 1972.

Undoubtedly his doctor has been instructing him how to cope with this — by appropriate food intake before a game or practice session, and proper regulation of his insulin dose on the day of such activity.

RAY CROMLEY

Crime Drive

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Few Americans realize the great power and influence now being exercised by Warren E. Burger, the quiet, strong-minded Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

His thinking is beginning to be felt strongly on the Supreme Court and the underlying federal court system procedures. His reform theories are showing up strongly in the recommendations of the National Commission on Reform of Federal Crime Laws.

Even more importantly perhaps, Burger's innovative thinking seems to have strongly influenced the approach to the crime problem of President Nixon and Attorney General John Mitchell and Burger are a great deal more alike in their legal thinking than many realize.

Let us look then to see how the Burger approach is reflected in Mr. Nixon's 1972 budget, as it refers to crime:

First, a sharply increased effort toward rehabilitating men and women, once they've been convicted.

This includes stepped-up research on the process by which felony offenders can best be reintegrated into community life and a major increase in vocational educational courses in the prisons. Included would be college preparatory studies and postrelease assistance for former inmates on high school and college campuses and more money for prison libraries.

Second, new emphasis on speeding the time between a man's arrest and his trial in federal, state and local courts.

Third, coordinated attempts to improve the caliber of state and local police. More scholarships to aid policemen secure college training would be provided. (Surveys indicate only 3 percent of prison guards and 7.4 percent of the nation's police have college degrees.) A new model on-the-job 13-month training program for policemen would enroll 30,000 in 1972.

Fourth, a step-up of the war on organized crime where, dollar for dollar and man for man, there's a greater pay-off than in expanded law enforcement aimed at the individual law breaker.

Fifth, an intensified drive aimed at crime prevention. This would include expanded drug and alcohol treatment units, on the theory that these addictions are major causes of crime in much of the United States.

The prevention effort also proposes expanded research and experimental approaches to juvenile delinquency, including counseling, job training and medical services and education with special emphasis on school dropouts.

Sixth, a very strong expansion of research aimed at uncovering the causes of crime.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Diabetic

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our 16-year-old son, who will graduate this year, has made the first string football team and wrestling team in his sophomore year on through, including this year.

We now find he has diabetes. He is being treated with insulin and diet to regulate his sugar.

Question: Is it wise for him to still participate in these sports? It is his life, love, or whatever you want to term it.

His plans are to coach after high school. I've been told it is foolish to let him, but the doctor says it is good. — N. N.

I agree with your doctor — and I've treated a good many cases of diabetes myself. Many prominent athletes have had diabetes and were able to compete successfully.

Exercise tends to lower the blood-sugar level. The greatest problem your son faces, therefore, is the matter of hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) at times. Or to use the more common term for it in a case like this, an insulin reaction if he uses up too much sugar at times with the exercise.

Undoubtedly his doctor has been instructing him how to cope with this — by appropriate food intake before a game or practice session, and proper regulation of his insulin dose on the day of such activity.

It takes good judgment plus some experience to learn to estimate the proper quantity for a given amount of strenuous exercise, but it has been done by others, and your son can do it.

I'm sure his doctor also has pointed out that it is wise, at such times, to have available some quickly-absorbable sugar to be taken in case signs of an insulin reaction start to appear. Many diabetics, athletes or not, readily learn about this. Some hard candy, sweetened orange juice, or sweet syrup are among the things commonly used for it. There is a glucose preparation called "Instant Glucose." It is a gelatinous material — dispensed in a pliable tube. This is a handy way to have sugar available. Tubes are three for $1.00, obtainable from the Cleveland Diabetes Association and some other local diabetes associations. Each tube contains 25 gm of glucose. The tube can be carried in a pocket or kept available at the bench.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the food value of horseradish? Can it be eaten to excess? — R.

There's precious little food value in it — the principal value is in the minerals, and these same minerals will be present in plenty of other vegetables you eat. (It contains no vitamins, and the calorie value is trifling.)

The horseradish roots contain certain volatile oils and other irritating ingredients, which is what makes it give zing to our food.

The irritant quality diminishes rapidly when horseradish is exposed to light or air — but when the stuff is fresh, it is so strong that, for example, people grinding the root notice skin and eye irritation.

In excess quantities, it may cause stomach irritation. So I guess my answer is this: use it in small amounts for flavoring, but if you have any stomach disorders, better avoid it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can one become pregnant after only one intercourse? — H. N.

Certainly, if it takes place in a fertile period.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Thosteson regrets that he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Lenaghan confirmation delayed

BOISE (UPI) — Republicans on the Senate State Affairs Committee used their one-vote majority Wednesday to defeat a motion to recommend confirmation of Robert Lenaghan as acting director of administrative services.

In doing so, the majority kept the question of Lenaghan's confirmation in the committee for an unspecified length of time. Lenaghan, appointed by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, fired two division heads of the Department of Administrative Services shortly after he took over and hired a third man without going through the State Personnel Commission.

Sen. James Ellsworth, R-Leadore, said the confirmation of Lenaghan extended to 12,000 state employees and threatened "the structure and the function of the personnel commission."

"Until such time as we're sure he acted properly and those people were discharged for just cause, I would have to oppose this appointment at this time," he said.

Ellsworth said the Republicans on the State Affairs Committee wanted "more information" on the dismissals before deciding whether to recommend Lenaghan's confirmation.

Sen. Walter Yarbrough, R-Grandview, said it had "never been proven" whether the dismissals were justified.

"I'm not a legal brain," Yarbrough said, but said he understood an attorney general's opinion told Lenaghan the positions were to be filled through the personnel commission.

"What would happen if all department heads acted that way," he said, adding, "This is the thing that concerns me."

Sen. John Evans, D-Malad, who moved that Lenaghan's confirmation be recommended, said it appeared to him the majority did not intend to send Lenaghan's name out until after the personnel commission hearing on the dismissals.

"In six weeks—it might be two months—we're not going to be in session," he said. "Maybe we'd be back here next year to consider this appointment."

"I think we should bring this thing to a head now."

Sen. Wayne Kidwell, R-Boise, said such opinions were more "authoritative persuasion than legal force of law."

Ellsworth said he understood information concerning the two dismissed employees would be released to the press "item by item" and told the Democrats on the committee, "If you bring those reasons before the commission because 'it might cloud the issue before the personnel Commission.'"

Evans said the Republicans were using the confirmation as a "club-over the governor's head."

"I don't think this is possible," he said. "I don't think this is good government."

Ellsworth said the assumption was "entirely out of order."

"I think we can make it very plain as far as the majority party is concerned. If these men discharged these employees with no more reason given this committee I'm not sure we want the man."

House tightens abortion law

BOISE (UPI) — The House passed, 40-28, and sent to the Senate Wednesday a bill tightening procedures for abortions but permitting such operations in cases of rape and incest.

Rep. Clyde Kelthly, R-Nampa, who introduced and floor sponsored the bill, called it primarily a "tightening of present law in this regard."

But Rep. Wayne Loveless, D-Pocatello, suggested it was a "liberalization" because it added rape and incest as grounds for an abortion. Present law restricts abortions to cases where the mother's life is in jeopardy.

Kelthly said the bill resulted from an interim committee's study and hearings around the state. He said unless this measure is passed Idaho could find itself without any controls on abortions.

He explained that a law similar to the present abortion law in Idaho was shot down by the Illinois Supreme Court on grounds it was too vague. Were this to happen in Idaho, he said, there would be no controls until the legislature could meet and draft some.

While the bill does include rape and incest as grounds for an abortion, Kelthly said, it also tightens up procedures considerably.

At present, only a woman's doctor needs to say that she must have an abortion to save her life and her pregnancy can be terminated.

Under Kelthly's bill a three-doctor hospital board must decree if the abortion is justifiable and that board cannot include the doctor who will perform the abortion.

In the case of forcible rape or incest, Kelthly said, his bill requires a statement from the prosecuting attorney that such a crime probably occurred. Where prosecutors refuse to act, he added, there are district court appeal provisions.

"This bill is the result of many, many hours of study and many, many hearings," Kelthly said. Rep. Wayne Tibbitts, D-Lorenz.

A lawmaker who is a doctor in private life, Rep. John Edwards, R-Council, said "this bill, rather than liberalization, is a tightening of restrictions."

But Loveless disagreed. So did Rep. Ralph Litton, D-St. Anthony, who said that adding of incest and forcible rape as grounds for an abortion is "not a tightening of the law."

Rate hike forecast

BOISE (UPI) — A member of the Public Utilities Commission says the two natural gas companies serving Idaho are likely to seek two rate increases this year.

Intermountain Gas Co. already has asked for a rate increase to return about $1.7 million annually because of an anticipated increase in rates for gas supplied it by El Paso Natural Gas Co.

Ralph Wickberg said the PUC has been informed Washington Water Power Co. also plans to present a request for a rate increase.

Idaho joins

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil Andrus, in a telegram to Sen. Robert Packwood, R-Oregon, said Idaho would participate in a conference to discuss nitrogen content in the Snake and Columbia rivers.

Debt limit hike asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary John B. Connally asked Congress Wednesday to raise the national debt ceiling by $40 billion to a new record high of $435 billion so the government can keep paying its bills.

Connally, in his first appearance as the only Democrat in the "Nixon" cabinet, told the House Ways and Means Committee the national debt would rise to within $1 billion of the present $395 billion limit late this month.

Latest Treasury figures showed that as of Feb. 11, the public debt stood at $391.5 billion, a rise of nearly $20 billion in a year. The debt is expected to rise until the government begins collecting its 1970 income taxes.

Connally also defended President Nixon's anticipated budget deficit of $18.6 billion this fiscal year and $11.6 billion for fiscal 1972 which begins July 1. He said that as the economy expands, "it is vitally important that our deficits be reduced in size and eliminated ... in existing economic circumstances, with too much unemployment and unused capacity, the anticipated deficits seem to me fully consistent with sound and prudent financial planning."

He said the nation should expect deficits to help the "sluggishness in the economy."

Connally was joined by George P. Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget, in urging a debt ceiling of $435 billion through July 1, 1972, at which point it would drop automatically to the "permanent ceiling" of $380 billion.

Connally also asked Congress to remove the 4.25 per cent ceiling on interest the government can pay on long-term loans. Because of the ceiling, the Treasury has been unable to sell bonds maturing after seven years since mid-1965.

Lockheed asks new jet engine pact

LONDON (UPI) — Daniel Haughton, chairman of Lockheed Aircraft Corp., arrived Wednesday to renegotiate a huge jet engine contract with bankrupt Rolls-Royce Ltd. He warned he had not come "with my pockets full of money."

Lockheed, itself in serious financial straits, has ordered Rolls-Royce's RB211 engines for its TriStar Airbus—an order placed in jeopardy when the British firm declared it had gone broke.

"I came over here to renegotiate the contract in certain respects," Haughton told newsmen minutes after his plane landed at London's Heathrow Airport. "But I did not say I would pay any more for the engine."

"I don't want you to imply that I came here with my pockets full of money."

Haughton declined either to disclose his itinerary or to say what tactics he might take in the discussions with Rolls-Royce.

He said Lockheed had studied possible alternatives to the RB211 engine for the TriStar, but that he wanted to talk first with Rolls-Royce to see if a satisfactory arrangement could be worked out.

Haughton said he had promised Lockheed's clients that he would return with a firm proposal by Feb. 20.

Assembly bill OK'd

BOISE (UPI) — Legislation to control large, time-consuming gatherings such as rock festivals won House approval 61-7 Wednesday and went to the Senate.

Rep. E. Don Copple, R-Boise, steered the bill to passage, saying "There must be protection for those who attend these types of assemblies."

The bill requires a license for public assemblies of 1,000 or more persons if they meet for more than 22 hours continuously. There also are provisions for sanitation facilities, medical care, security guards and fencing.

Rep. Edward Williams, D-Lawiston, questioned whether the bill applied to governmental meetings, recreational and athletic functions and possibly "old fashioned revivals in large tents."

Custody bill held

BOISE (UPI) — The House Judiciary Committee decided Wednesday to sit a while longer on a bill that provides for cessation of child support if the divorced spouse having custody of the children remarries.

Rep. Wilbert Cammack, D-Blackfoot, asked the committee to report the measure out to the floor for action, saying he felt it would cut down on divorces in second marriages.

He said bickering over child support often leads to break-ups of second marriages.

Rep. E. Don Copple, R-Boise, questioned, however, whether the bill would correct the problems Cammack felt it would. For one thing, he said, it would apply only to divorces which occur after its enactment.

Rep. Earl Greenawalt, R-Jerome, asked whether the bill might not create a hardship on a woman with several children.

"SUPREME COURT BLEW IT!"

THE SWENSEN'S MARKET "STUPIDEST DECISION OF THE YEAR AWARD" GOES TO THE IDAHO SUPREME COURT: For it's opinion that school administration and teachers can't make rules any more... because they might interfere with some poor student's fancied constitutional right to do anything he wants, anytime he wants, wherever he wants etc., etc., ad nauseum.

One would suppose that men with the education, experience and talent that justices are supposed to have would also have the common sense and good judgment to show that an organized society depends for its continuing survival on laws, rules, and formulas for the behavior of its participants. A society ceases to exist and anarchy begins when the whims of a minority, whether it be one person or many more, are allowed to make the decisions and rules to suit themselves at the expense of the majority.

A few more trips to the Supreme Court by sick parents in behalf of their spoiled prodigies it may well make it impossible and unconstitutional to make a rule about anything from hair length (already unconstitutional to control), to quality of dress, cleanliness or lack of it. THE IVORY TOWER SUPREME COURT would probably also banish rules governing tardiness, absenteeism and appropriate language because naturally, of course someone's constitutional right to do anything they want... etc., etc., ad nauseum would be infringed. Eventually such old standbys as reserved faculty parking, no squirt guns in study hall, and even separate boys and girls rest rooms would probably fall before the onslaught of the judicial basta nova as being unconstitutional. SILLY YOU SAY????? SILLY?? BROTHER!

If they foul up this bad on a simple question any ordinary taxpayer could handle... what kind of decision can the people of Idaho expect about something important that might come their way?

YOU MIGHT EXPECT ONE OUT OF FIVE TO GO STARK RAVING MAD, BUT THREE OUT OF FIVE IS TWO, TOO MUCH.

THE POINT IS NOT OVER LONG HAIR BUT WHO SHOULD HAVE JURISDICTION OVER OUR SCHOOLS.

Tragedy parting Pakistan

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst.
Tragedy heaped upon tragedy is bringing closer the possible break-up of Pakistan.

The country that never should have come into being in the first place. One thousand miles of an unfriendly India separate East and West Pakistan, which have no natural bond except their Moslem religion. That is the first tragedy.

A second is an unbridled population growth which makes East Pakistan the most thickly populated place of its size on earth. It has been said that if the United States had a population of equal density, it would have 4.5 billion people.

A third was last fall's cyclone and tidal wave which officially took more than 150,000 lives and may have taken twice that, and led East Pakistanis to charge the central government with "gross neglect, callous inattention and utter indifference."

National elections last December named a new national assembly which is to meet early next month with the drafting of a new constitution its most urgent task. When that task has been completed and the new constitution "authenticated" by President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan, the country is to return to civilian rule.

But whether such a return is possible or even whether Pakistan can continue to exist in its present form depends upon the outcome of a struggle between two men, Sheikh Mujibur Rahman whose Awami League won a landslide victory in East Pakistan and more than half the seats in the 313-man national assembly, and Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, whose ruling Pakistan People's party won 66 seats in West Pakistan.

Bhutto is a former foreign minister who favors a strong central government. Sheikh Mujibur speaks for regional autonomy for East Pakistan.

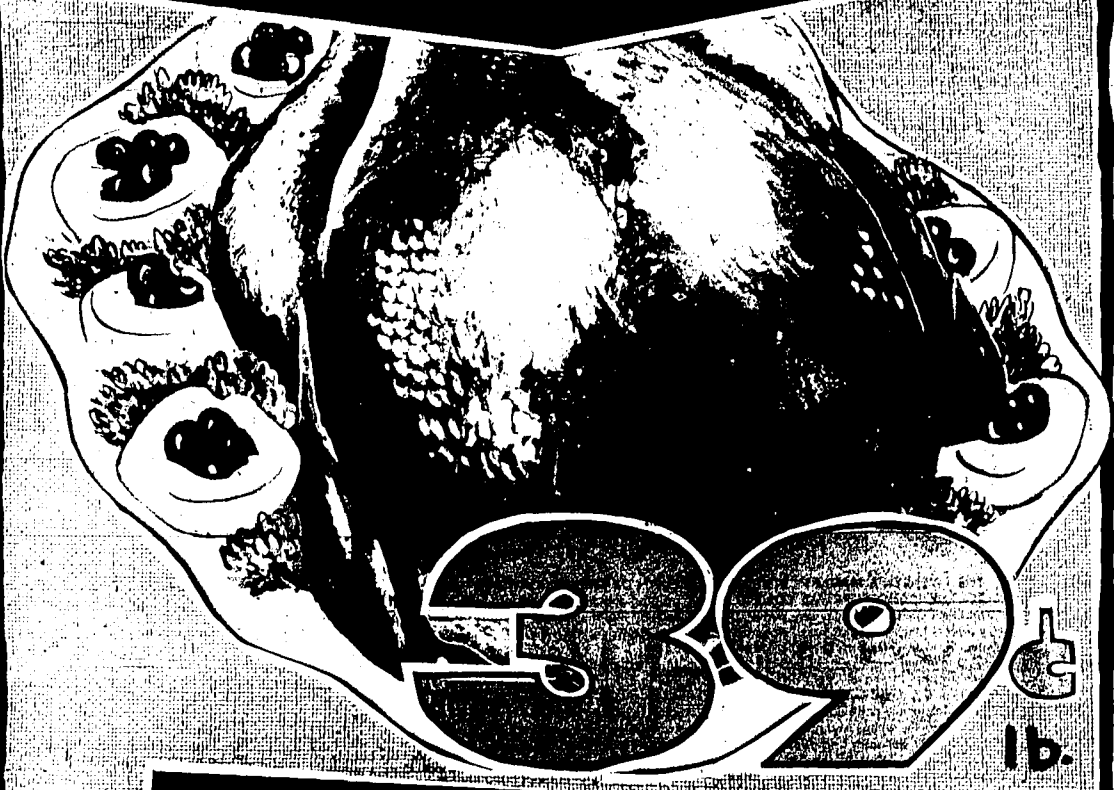

The two men appear at hopeless odds. Bhutto has declared the Awami League will accept nothing less than his six-point program—even at the point of guns.

Bhutto said that without assurances of room for compromise his party will boycott national assembly sessions.

Mind Your Money

By PETER WEAVER
Q—Members of our senior citizens group have raised two puzzling questions: (1) Calcium propionate and sodium diacetate are added to breads to retard spoilage. Are they poisonous? (2) What ingredients are used in "soda water" and "quinine water" (tonic)? Can quinine cause stomach distress as one member suspects? Mrs. R. E. Lake Worth, Fla.

A—Calcium propionate is not poisonous and sodium diacetate has a toxicity rating so low as to be negligible. The government regulates these chemicals as food additives but, apparently, has done little or no research on the possibility of long-term harmful effects on the human system.

Peppercorn Farm does not use these additives if you want to avoid them. There may be others.

As for soda water, the chemical content varies with the water of the city where it's bottled. Benzoate of soda is added as a stabilizer and some bottlers use a citrate for taste improvement. These chemicals are not normally toxic.

Quinine or tonic water contains quinine, a chemical once used to combat malaria and as an analgesic. It is now primarily used as a flavoring. Quinine should not normally cause stomach distress. However, it is possible for an individual to be allergic to quinine and your club member should consult a physician if the stomach problem and the quinine sipping continues.

Q—My husband got a bank loan for our pickup truck. He was out of a job for awhile and we got behind in our payments. He finally paid the loan off in full last August.

The bank charged for local phone calls made to us and even for a house call a representative made. Are they entitled to this? Because the bank's tally and our total canceled checks did not agree, we asked for an itemized accounting of payments, phone calls and the house call. They refused. Aren't we entitled to such an accounting? — Mrs. M.N. Wentz, Wash.

A—Even if the bank is justified in making these charges, it seems that the employees have been most uncooperative in refusing to explain the bill. I suggest you write to the agency that regulates your bank to find out just what accounting you are entitled to receive.

Depending on the kind of bank, the agency will either be the Comptroller of the Currency or the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. The bank is obligated to furnish you with the name and address of its regulatory agency.

Q—What about record clubs? Are their records the same quality as those you buy in stores at higher prices? Why is there such a long delay between the time the record album is released and the time it is offered by a club? — Mrs. J.O.G. Astor, Pa.

A—None of the major record clubs use special, lower-quality pressings for their records. Stores have a markup on records of approximately 40 percent. So, you are getting a bargain through the clubs as long as you don't mind the compulsory purchase clause in their contracts. In some areas, you may do just about as well buying through discount stores.

The time lag you mention is probably used to determine an album's popularity through retail sales. Record clubs try to offer proven winners.

Q—Narrow shoe widths for both men and women are becoming rarer. Store clerks laugh when I ask for size 12AA for myself or size 9 1/4 AAAA for my wife. There is only one extremely expensive wing-tip model to be found for me. Where can we find stores that carry these special sizes? — S.G.S., Philadelphia.

A—You need a local store or mail-order house that specializes in "tall" sizes. I suggest you write The National Shoe Retailers' Assn., 200 Madison Ave., New York, N.Y. 10018. Request store names and addresses where your sizes can be found.

Distractions killing theatre, actor says

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "I don't think the Greeks ever envisioned a grind 18-hour-a-day entertainment medium when they introduced theater as we know it," said Arthur Hill.

Hill won the Tony Award for his role in the Broadway version of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and has been starring in movies and television ever since.

A tall, spare Canadian, Hill is agnostic at statistics which demonstrate that fewer people are watching television, going to movies and the theater.

"The theater is almost dead," he said with regret.

He fixes blame for the falling, ailing lively arts on the glut of available distractions on tube and screen.

He suggested that overpopulation, especially in crowded cities, has wearied the populace of seeing other people—in person, on screen or treading the boards.

"Perhaps that's why it's so difficult to distinguish one new face from another on the new television series," he said.

"Individualism is easier to determine when there is less quantity. It makes you wonder if a Jimmy Cagney or Bogart would have an opportunity to stand out in the enormous surge of new faces today.

"All actors would like to wait around for writers to provide new material or a fresh approach to an old plot. But it isn't realistic to do so."

Hill currently is working in a Universal World Premiere movie for television titled "Owen Marshall." Like most others of his genre, the show might be a spin-off for a television series.

"I have no objections to a series," Hill said, "depending on the quality of material. The writer comes first."

Hill clearly would prefer to stick with movies. He soon will be seen in "The Andromeda Strain," a science fiction thriller in which he plays a Nobel laureate.

As fewer people watch television, he believes, more will attend movies where they will find a quality of entertainment not available on the tube.

Artistic blowers key man

NEW YORK (UPI)—Glass blowing, an art believed to have originated in Syria 21 centuries ago, helps today's man walk on the moon, get information on command out of a computer and carry the world of radio around in his pocket.

It's a specialized but vital part of our economy.

Thirteen glass blowers at a Motorola division in Phoenix, Ariz., annually produce more than $1 million worth of the microminiature electronic miracles called semiconductors.

That is the generic name for the solid-state transistor, resistor, diode and integrated circuit—the "tiny, fast-acting" components used in pocket radios, computers, cars, toys, appliances, electric switches, television sets and space vehicles. Glass blowers who turn out thousands of diffusion tubes, epitubes, quartz "boats" and crucibles have revolutionized man's life style and space achievements.

Quartz glass is used exclusively because it can withstand the high temperatures—1,400 degrees centigrade or more—necessary to melt silicon.

"You have to feel your way through," said William Schwartz, senior glass blower in Phoenix. "You tell how well you are doing by the color of the glass and the way it acts."

Once the silicon is in a molten state, impurities are added to give it a positive or negative base. A single crystalline bar of silicon then is "grown" within the furnace from the "doped" silicon, and paper-thin wafers are sliced from the cooled bar.

A wafer two inches in diameter can be processed photographically to produce, for example, up to 20,000 transistors.

Glass blowers make good pay, and they earn it. They have to know how to use a gas-fed torch, to handle turning wheels and glass lathes, to heat glass without breaking it and to join tubing.

Lung power is important. If the worker blows too hard he blows out the sides of the tube. If he doesn't blow hard enough, the sides will collapse. It's all determined by the heat on the glass.

Patience is another important job requirement, according to Carl Goetz, a glass blower at Phoenix. "You work around a lot of heat," he explained. "That, plus the need for intense concentration makes you become a little irritable."

Painting valuable

UNSIGNED AND unknown painting bought by Donald Devine for $1,400 has been identified as work of 17th century master Simon Vouet. Devine later sold painting but for less than $200,000 to $300,000 experts say it is worth. Work measuring 6 by 8 feet has been bought by Cincinnati Art Museum and is being restored. (UPI)

School pals agree Andrew's boss-type

LONDON (UPI)—Prince Andrew, second son of Queen Elizabeth, celebrates his 11th birthday Friday and his schoolmates are ready to agree with his royal parents that he is "a born boss type."

The young prince's father, Prince Philip, coined that description for his well-built offspring some time ago. It is even truer now that his high spirits and temperament have had the benefit of two competitive years with lads his own age at Heatherdown School in Berkshire.

The school makes no distinction for birthdays, royal or otherwise. Andrew will get up at seven, wash in cold water, put on the uniform grey sweater and corduroy trousers and tidy his bed in the dormitory he shares with four other boys.

He'll line up for breakfast and only when he has eaten, will he get his birthday greeting cards. Then it's lessons as usual, exercise in the 30-acre grounds and a swimming

Prices higher during January

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices—pushed up by sharply higher costs for food—rose .7 per cent last month, the sharpest increase in a year, the Labor Department reported Wednesday. The report showed inflation continues to plague the economy.

The report contained some bad news for inflation-harried housewives. The cost of food and farm products increased 1.7 per cent, much more than normal for this time of year, indicating future rises in retail grocery store prices.

The food increase was led by a sharp advance in the price of meat and poultry.

Even more disturbing to administration economists was a 4 per cent increase in the wholesale cost of industrial commodities. That advance equaled the figure for December and exceeded the average for the last half of last year.

The industrial commodities figures are considered to be a more accurate barometer of inflation because they are not subject to the sharp fluctuations that often affect food and farm products.

The January increase pushed the wholesale price index to 111.8 per cent of the 1967 average. That means it cost $111.80 last month to buy the same wholesale goods that cost $111 in December, $109.30 a year earlier and $100 a little more than three years ago.

The department had reported earlier, on the basis of incomplete information, that wholesale prices rose only .6 per cent last month. The revision boosted the figure in all major categories.

January figures for the consumer price index—the closely watched measure of the cost of living for the average urban family—are scheduled to be made public Friday.

Consumer prices rose .5 per cent in December, higher than the average for the last half of the year.

Today is Thursday, Feb. 18, the 49th day of 1971.

The moon is in its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

The evening star is Saturn.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Aquarius.

On this day in history:

In 1881 Jefferson Davis was sworn into office as President of the Confederate States of America at Montgomery, Ala.

In 1930 the planet Pluto was observed by astronomer Clyde Tombaugh at the Lowell Observatory in Flagstaff, Ariz.

In 1967 nuclear physicist Robert Oppenheimer died at the age of 62 at Princeton, N.J.

In 1969 Arab terrorists attacked an Israeli airliner at the airport in Zurich, Switzerland. Six persons were wounded.

A thought for today: Henry Wadsworth Longfellow said, "Give what you have to someone, it may be better than you dare think."

Shrine presented

TWIN FALLS Exchange club presented O'Leary Junior High School with a Freedom Shrine Tuesday. Bill Miller (right) presented the award to O'Leary's Principal Carl Snow on behalf of the club. The Freedom Shrine includes 28 reproductions of historically famous American documents.

Exchange club gives exhibit

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Exchange Club presented a Freedom Shrine, an exhibit of 28 authentic reproductions of historically famous American documents, to O'Leary Junior High School Tuesday.

The documents in the Freedom Shrine span the 325 years of our nation from the Mayflower Compact to the World War II Instrument of Surrender in the Pacific.

Bill Miller presented the award to Carl Snow, principal of O'Leary Junior High on behalf of the club at a club luncheon.

Dr. E.H. Rutland, superintendent of schools; Carl Stoner, chairman of social studies department, and the five student body officers from the school also attended the presentation. The officers are Bobby Williams, president; Lonnie Hendrix, vice-president;

Dan Simb, activities director; Betsy Katz, secretary, and April Arrington, treasurer.

Club president Bill Madland said, "The Freedom Shrine is exclusively an Exchange Club project, and important part of the overall American Citizenship program of the Exchange."

This Freedom Shrine is the third presented to Twin Falls schools by the Exchange Club. The first two were presented to Twin Falls High School and College of Southern Idaho.

All of the historical papers in the Freedom Shrine collection are exact photographic reproductions of the originals. Each document is permanently mounted on an individual woodgrained plaque and protected against deterioration and damage by plastic lamination.

Engineer firm named for airport project

TWIN FALLS — Approval of the firm of Riedesel and Straubhaar to handle engineering for the proposed city-county airport improvement was voted Tuesday night by city council members, providing the county commissioners agree.

Dale Riedesel met with the council to discuss terms of the agreement. He was in charge of engineering for the east runway extension completed last year. Riedesel's firm will be paid 11.5 per cent of the total construction costs or a maximum of $38,000 plus $9,000 for special field work for the two proposed construction stages. Should only one stage be completed the amount will be calculated for that phase only.

City Manager Jean Millar said plans now call for improvement of the runway in 1971 with resurfacing of loading ramps and taxiways in 1972. It was estimated the total project would cost about $600,000.

Riedesel said probably the initial phase will include complete reconstruction of a 30-foot wide center strip of the old runway section with a three inch covering and then a two inch topping feathered to nothing at the edges. He said there are actually six items considered in the reconstruction program including the raising the grade of the west end of the field, revising lighting on the old runway section and the various phases of reconstruction.

Shoshone mayor criticizes court

SHOSHONE — Mayor Ellwood R. Werry today explained reasons for his objection to the funds appropriated by Lincoln County for Magistrate's Court.

He said "in addition to the budget being twice as much as was used by the Probate Court last year, as taxpayers we are getting it from both ends".

He explained court costs are all higher this year, with routine fees going up from $5 to $7.50 to considerably more for probating an estate.

The mayor said the fact that the magistrate's salary is paid from state funds certainly does not mean that it is not costing the taxpayers, because state funds, too, come from taxes.

Auto bids rejected

TWIN FALLS — Bids on two automobiles and one pickup truck for the Twin Falls sheriff's department were rejected Tuesday afternoon by county commissioners and another bid call was authorized.

W.L. Chancey, commission chairman, said the county officials were advised some of the automobile dealers did not feel they were given proper notice of the call for bids. The new bids will be opened March 9 at 11 a.m.

Burglaries probed in Twin Falls

TWIN FALLS — Several house burglaries were under investigation by police Wednesday.

Mrs. Emma McVey told officers $156 in jewelry and money had been removed from her home sometime within the past two days. Officers said they could find no indication of forced entry. Marie Patton, 465 Gardner St., also reported her home had been entered.

Sheriff's officers were investigating the theft of antique bottles and an antique .22 caliber rifle and several household items from the trailer house at the Filler dump grounds.

Ex-Hansen youth hurt in Africa

TWIN FALLS — Relatives here have received word Terry Lawyer, formerly of Hansen, has been injured and is in critical condition in Togo, Africa, where he is currently serving with the U.S. Peace Corps.

The youth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Lawyer, Seattle, and formerly of Hansen and Bliss. He is a graduate of the Hansen High School and the University of Washington. His aunt, Mrs. Mabel McClain, Twin Falls, said the young man was injured in an automobile accident about four days ago.

Tax group sets meet Boise meet slated by Idaho drillers

SHOSHONE — The state of Idaho Tax Equality Assn. will hold its annual dinner meeting at 8 p.m. Friday at the Manhattan Cafe.

Oscar Arstoin, state commissioner of agriculture, and Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, Tuttle, will be featured speakers. Other legislators will be present and will answer questions.

JEROME — Problems of licensing and drilling restrictions facing the drilling industry in Idaho will be discussed Feb. 25 at 1:30 p.m. in Boise by members of the Idaho Drillers, and R. Keith Higgenson, engineer in charge of the Department of Water Administration.

R. Darryl Smith, Jerome, association president, said Tuesday that directors asked a conference be set up with Higgenson during a board meeting Saturday in Twin Falls in which drillers discussed problems in meeting new regulations.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both in our mid-forties. I have noticed lately that William has taken to, thoroly looking women over from head to toe. I am a bit jealous, somewhat embarrassed and more than a little annoyed when he does this. Also, he's making a fool of himself. Now that William wears bifocal eyeglasses, all that looking up, and down has become conspicuous to everyone. I am all thumbs with words, and anything I would say to him would sound silly, so I have said nothing. Have you any suggestions? HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Simply say, "William, dear, your ogling has become more conspicuous than ever since you've started wearing bifocals. If you must look, please be more subtle. You're making a fool of yourself."

DEAR ABBY: When I was a girl, my mother always told me I had bad breath. I grew up being terribly self-conscious about this and started chewing sugarless gum at an early age to insure myself against offending anyone.

It gave me confidence, and I learned how to chew gum inconspicuously. Most of the time I hold it in my mouth for hours at a time without chewing.

My husband does not like for me to chew gum at all. He says I look like a teeny-bopper or a gum-cracking suburban housewife without a brain in her head.

He says if I loved him I would give up the gum. I say, I do love him, but if he loved me he would be more tolerant and allow me this one habit. What do you think?

TIGHT JAWS

DEAR TIGHT: Apparently your gum-chewing isn't as inconspicuous as you say it is or your husband wouldn't complain so much. While I have nothing against inconspicuous gum-chewing, there are other breath-fresheners on the market which could provide the same confidence, and eliminate the fuss with your husband. Look around.

DEAR ABBY: About the person who has a friend who is a great talker:

My friend for 40 years would put her friend to shame. However, I believe the good Lord put everything on earth for a purpose, so I put my talkative friend to good use. Last Thanksgiving I invited him over to entertain my wife's relatives who are not only champion nonstop talkers themselves, but champion freeloanders in the bargain. My friend took on the whole lot of 'em and his raucous voice was the only one that could be heard above any combination of sounds made by the relatives, including the screams of babies.

Then to top it off, I asked one of the relatives if he'd be good enough to give my friend a lift some 20 blocks on his way home. HERBIE IN N. Y.

A Lovelier You

FIGURAMA SPOT TRIMMERS

By Mary Sue Miller

(This is second in a special series of five columns on reducing by spring fashion time.)

You lose weight by dieting wisely and well. But diet alone gives no guarantee as to where you will lose. To make certain of achieving good proportions you must exercise while dieting. Otherwise, you could end up with normal weight and an abnormal hipline.

For most women the practical workout is "bedroom floor" in type. Such as these Legline Slimmers:

1. Lie on floor, back down; stretch arms out at shoulder level and bend knees until soles rest on floor. Slip legs from side to side against floor, keeping muscles so relaxed that insides of legs slip with each change of direction. Repeat 20 times.
2. Sit erect with legs straight out and together. By sliding heel backward, raise knee 6" and then, by sliding heel downward, slip calf against floor. Alternating legs, repeat 20 times.

Your Diet Menu: Breakfast. Grapefruit; 2 slices broiled bacon; 1 slice protein toast, 1/2 pat butter; unsweetened coffee or tea. Luncheon. Two-egg omelette; tossed green salad, dieter's French dressing; slice melba toast; tea with lemon. Dinner. Slice broiled liver; small baked potato, 1/2 pat butter; portion zucchini steamed with oregano; unsweetened pineapple chunks, plain vanilla cookie; demi-tasse. Between. 8 oz. skim milk, morning and night.

Reducing Tip: Remember that spot exercise does more than trim bulges. It also burns up calories at an increased rate so you lose faster.

Tomorrow: How To Diet and Like It.

SPOT REDUCING EXERCISES

Spot reduction—key to a proportioned figure. Exercise is the only way to trim those stubborn bulges... to lose inches exactly where you wish. My new leaflet, SPOT REDUCING EXERCISES, gives easy routines—40 in all—for slimming the upper back, arms, midriff, hips, ankles... Plus ideal measurements... other figure-trimming tips. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Supports reform

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls League of Women Voters is participating in the national league's support of efforts to reform the welfare system, according to Roma Ricks, chairman.

League members, Mrs. Ricks said, believe the federal government should bear the major responsibility for an income assistance program which meets the basic needs of persons unable to work whose earnings are inadequate or for whom jobs are not available.

Work incentives are an integral part of the league positions but the organization will oppose mandatory work requirements, Mrs. Ricks said.

The action, announced by the league's board of directors, followed an extensive study of the welfare problem undertaken by local leagues.

Luby Wilson Benson, national president, said "The decision to work for constructive alternatives to our present welfare system is based on a clear mandate from our members. It represents a consensus of studies made by more 800 leagues and views which prevail in all sections of the country."

The league, Mrs. Benson said, believes the amount of income assistance should be sufficient to provide decent, adequate standards for food, clothing and shelter.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Declines topped advances by more than two-to-one as trading turned the halfway point Thursday. A three-hour volume of 10,620,000 shares was down from 12,130,000 shares traded at a comparable period Wednesday.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was off 0.34 at 87.86, while the Dow Jones Industrial average showed a loss of 2.60 at 885.27.

Among the day's most active issues were Kaly Industries down 1/4 on 277,200 shares, McGraw-Hill off 1/4 on 144,900 shares; American Telephone up 1/4 on 135,000 shares, Occidental Petroleum off 1/4 on 108,000 shares, and Sony 1/4 higher on 107,800 shares.

Loss active but off more than a point were IBM by 2, Burroughs 4/8, and Honeywell 1/4. American Airlines dipped 1/4 in its group. It reported a loss for 1970 versus a profit a year earlier.

IBM central surrendered 1/4 in the rails, but Louisville & Nashville gained 1/4.

Midwest Oil tacked on 2. The firm said it will buy more than 500,000 of its common shares tendered by holders prior to Feb. 16. Bonding & Bates was down slightly, while Kerr-McGee showed a steady tone.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem dropped slightly. So did Ford Motor. Chrysler was about unchanged, and General Motors edged higher.

precipitation Wednesday were associated with a storm system which passed to the south through Nevada and Arizona and New Mexico. The storm dropped only light precipitation amounts over southern Idaho. Precipitation amounts were larger to the south with Winnemucca recording .12 inches. This storm system will move northeastward through Utah and Colorado and into the plains states allowing the clouds over southern Idaho to dissipate. However, a new storm system is approaching the Pacific Coast this morning. The major portion of this system is expected to again pass to the south probably even further south than the last one but will brush southern Idaho with clouds and some widely scattered rain or snow showers tonight and early Friday, mainly along the southern border and the southwestern mountains.

T.F. meet slated Friday to air prisoner expense

TWIN FALLS — Representatives from cities in Twin Falls County have been asked to meet Friday at noon with Twin Falls County Commissioners to discuss an agreement on expenses for city prisoners confined in the county jail.

W.L. Chancey, commission chairman, said the meeting will be held in the Holiday Inn. Since Jan. 11 when the magistrate court went into operation all prisoners have been housed in the county jail and the county has been providing for food and other costs.

An agreement, authorized by the court reform law, is now being worked out in which cities will pay a daily fee while their prisoners are in the county jail. Chancey said he and other county officials are attempting to work a rate which will be acceptable to all and will cover costs.

In a meeting Tuesday afternoon, Judge Theron W. Ward, Fifth Judicial District, told county officials they have authority under the court reform law to work up such agreements and recommended the commissioner decide with city officials on an equitable fee.

Since the court reform system went into operation Jan. 11, Sheriff Paul Corder said, the county jail has been operating at capacity. He said the facility averages about 47 prisoners a day or nearly double the amount fed and housed when only county violators or those waiting district court appearances were housed.

He said the heavy load, without assistance from the cities, is depleting the department's jail budget. Clerk Harold Lancaster said cities receive 90 per cent of the court fines and costs from violations or arrests involving city laws.

Judge Ward said the court reform system is working out well in the Fifth District and there are no plans at this time to change their schedules or to include holding court in any county location other than the Judicial Building in Twin Falls.

Officials from the cities bring their prisoners here for court appearances.

New officers confirmed for Cassia hospital at Burley

BURLEY — Rodney A. Hansen, chairman of the governing board of the Cassia Memorial Hospital, today confirmed the new slate of officers for the hospital. Dr. Con Annet is the new chief of staff.

Other officers elected were Dr. Richard Sutton, vice chief of staff; Dr. Samuel J. Hammond, secretary-treasurer, and Dr. C. Hayden Ellingham, member at large on the executive committee. Dr. Walter R. Petersen, retiring chief of staff, will serve on the executive committee of the medical staff.

Dr. James R. Kircher has been named chairman of the recruitment and placement committee for physicians. The committee has been corresponding with several physicians who have shown an interest in practicing at Cassia Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Richard F. McCluer has been appointed chief radiologist for the hospital replacing Dr. Paul B. Houston who has moved to Sun Valley. Radiology coverage is now on a full-time basis, Dr. Annet said.

Other appointments announced by Dr. Annet include Dr. Leslie L. Fillmore, chairman of the medical records and utilization review committee; Dr. Ellingham, chairman of the disaster committee, intensive care committee and representative to the standards committee; Dr. Eugene Holsinger, chairman of the library committee and the coronary care committee; Dr. Petersen, chairman of the medical education and program committees; Dr. L.M. Kelly, chairman of the pharmaceutical committee, and Dr. Annet will serve as chairman of the laboratory and infection committees.

Shoshone science fair set

SHOSHONE — Annual science fair for Shoshone schools will be held March 22, replacing the regular PTA meeting, it was announced today by Rev. James Holt, president.

Entries from third through sixth graders will be displayed at the grade school building, with junior high and high school entries to be placed at the high school building.

Report on the fair was made at the Founder's Day PTA program Monday night at which Mrs. Floyd Kisting, Dietrich, state PTA president spoke. She outlined current legislation pending in the state legislature and the funding needs for Idaho schools.

Mrs. Viola McKendrick, who has taught in Shoshone schools for the past 22 years, was awarded a life membership. She previously taught in Burley, Kimberly, and Preston.

Mrs. Ray Tanaka, Mrs. Harrell Thorne and Mrs. Harold Huyser were appointed to the nominating committee.

Rev. Holt reported the street east of the grade school will be closed to traffic during school hours as soon as the barricades which have been ordered arrive. Authorization to close the street was given by the city council as a safety measure.

Court aide appointed at Burley

BURLEY — Mrs. Afton Buckley, Oakley, has been appointed deputy clerk for the Cassia County Magistrate Court, to receive fines from Oakley area residents, District Judge Sherman Bellwood said today.

The clerk's position has been established at Oakley for the convenience of residents in that area and there is no time limit on the appointment, Judge Bellwood said. Mrs. Buckley is bonded.

She served as justice of the peace and Oakley city judge since 1958, but was released from the two positions in January when the new magistrate court system went into effect.

Judge Bellwood said the deputy clerk will only be able to quote set charges for fines, and will not be authorized to make judgments, perform marriage ceremonies or other court functions.

Revised funding looming

"You would still need a teacher in Three Creek even if you only had seven students," he said. "This plan recognizes that."

He said most Magic Valley districts would benefit:

— School districts in Gooding County would be able to continue their current programs by levying 36-45 mills instead of 39-50 mills as at present.

— Lincoln county's levy of 38 mills would be reduced to 36 mills.

— Twin Falls County levies would drop from 36.5-41 mills to 34-39.

— In Cassia County, the levy would drop from 44 to 41 mills, according to one tentative calculation. Ravenscroft said the Cassia figures were in doubt.

— Jerome County levies would drop from 37 to 35 mills he said.

'Oliver' described for club

FILER — A group of Dilettante members were guests of the Filer Kiwanis Club Tuesday noon at the United Methodist Church.

Roger Vincent, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Tom Driscoll, who in turn presented Timothy Driscoll who has the part of "Oliver" in the Dilettante production which will open March 5. Also introduced were Bill Braun, Liz Pierce and Sharon Moore, piano accompanist.

Vincent said this year's production is definitely a family show with nothing the least offensive in the entire production. It will be the 13th production of the local group. Tickets for the "first night" are available and include the dinner at the Tuff Club, champagne party, transportation and seating for the first night showing. Carl Grinstead was a guest.

Ex-Idahoan draws drug count term

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Two men — one of them a former Idahoan — convicted on drug charges after a raid at Sugar House Park last fall have been sentenced in Third District Court.

Michael Ray Egan, 25, no address, was sentenced to five years to life in spite of a plea for "one more chance." William Thomas Prudhomme, 21, was given the same sentence but received a three-month stay of execution if he would return to Idaho and report to parole officers there. Prudhomme is originally from Sterling, Idaho. Judge Bryant H. Croft said he will allow another stay if Prudhomme's conduct is satisfactory there.

Both men pleaded guilty to one charge of illegal sale of stimulant drugs, although they were originally charged with using a minor to sell drugs as well.

Trials are pending for others arrested in the raid, a total of 21 suspected drug dealers.

Science youth day set

IDAHO FALLS — Senior and junior science students and their teachers from 55 high schools in Idaho, Montana, Utah and Wyoming have registered for the 14th National Science Youth day activities Saturday at the Atomic Energy Commission's National Reactor Testing Station near here.

The AEC's Idaho operations office is sponsoring the tour to stimulate career interest in the sciences and join in nationwide commemoration of the 124th anniversary of inventor Thomas A. Edison's birth Feb. 11, 1847.

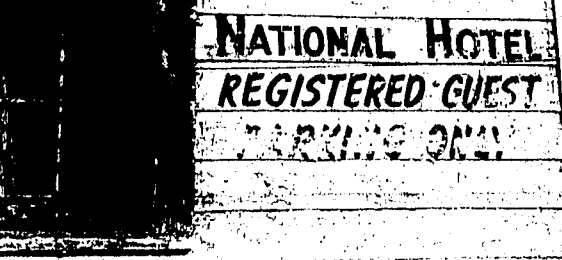

Other sponsors are Argonne National Laboratory's Idaho division, Idaho Nuclear Corp. and the Idaho Falls Health Physics Society.

Magic Valley high schools participating in the tour include Buhl, Jerome, Wendell, Twin Falls, Dietrich, Minico, Gooding and Shoshone.

75 solons sponsor drug bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, is joining with 75 other congressmen in co-sponsoring legislation to combat the spread of hard drugs in the United States. McClure said Wednesday under provisions of the bill, the president would have the authority to suspend foreign aid to those countries "which do not exert a good faith effort" to stamp out the illegal sale, production and distribution of narcotic drugs.

Dress code found 'unreasonable'

BOISE (UPI) — Federal Judge Fred M. Taylor said in a memorandum of opinion Wednesday he will enjoin the Meridian School District from enforcing a dress code provision against high juniors. Judge Taylor said he found application of the code "unreasonable and unconstitutional" although he declined to hold the dress code provision itself unconstitutional.

He handed down the ruling in a suit brought against Meridian school officials by three students, Robert Berryman, Jr.; Robe Bellone and Mosiah Daniel.

The judge said "...the court finds and concludes that the student dress code as it applied to these plaintiffs and the consequent suspension of them from school had no reasonable relationship to the conduct of the educational process."

Gooding sets pay for radio

GOODING — Gooding Mayor Harley Crippen said today that at a meeting last week of city and county officials it was agreed the city of Gooding could not afford to pay $7,000 for the police radio being manned 24 hours daily in the sheriff's office.

The mayor said an agreement was reached at that time that the city could pay $4,500 for its share of the service. Attending the Feb. 11 meeting were Sheriff Earl Brown, Ben Glauner, county commissioner chairman, city councilmen and Gooding Police Chief Lyle Clifford.

Mill bought

BOISE — The Pope and Talbot sawmill at St. Helens, Ore., has been purchased by Boise-Cascade Corp. An official of the firm, R. M. Harris, said the site on which the sawmill is located comprises some 23 acres and is adjacent to Boise Cascade's pulp and paper mill. The price of the sale was not disclosed.

Foresters set Burley meeting

BURLEY — Plans for the annual meeting of the intermountain section, Society of American Foresters to be held Friday and Saturday in the Ponderosa Inn here were announced today by E.A. Fournier, Sawtooth National Forest supervisor and chairman. He said the two-day meeting will feature an address by Vern Hamre, Intermountain regional forester who will speak at the Friday night dinner and reports on several matters of interest to foresters. Arnold W. Bolle, dean of the school of forestry, University of Montana, who chaired the Bolle committee to study administration of the Bitterroot National Forest will discuss the critical Bitterroot Report. The study and the resulting report found fault with many of the management and administrative practices of the forest administration. Other Friday speakers will include Charles Welner, of the Intermountain Range and Experiment Station who will moderate a panel on silvicultural method. Panel participants will be Bob Phisler of the experiment station and Robert Williams, Payette National Forest and Cy Shelder, Boise Cascade Corp. Use of Pheromones as a means of attracting bark beetle for control purposes will be discussed by Galen Trostle and Jerry Knopf, Intermountain region. Public involvement in forest management will be discussed by Orville Daniels of the Bitterroot National Forest. Saturday will be devoted to business sessions for society members with Paul Estorbrook, Boise, chairman of the Intermountain section in charge. Fournier said about 100 persons are expected to attend the annual meeting. Membership includes active foresters, professors of forestry, students and retired forest officials, forestry consultants and others involved with administration, planning or other phases of forestry.

Applicant in running

POCATELLO (UPI) — Idaho State University seems destined to become the first major college in the country to employ a woman as a member of its football coaching staff. Mrs. Nila Gilcrest, the 31-year-old mother of two boys and wife of a Pocatello ophthalmologist, said Wednesday the coaching position she applied for is still open, and head Coach Ed Cavanaugh has indicated she is still in the running.

The shapely red-head says she knows more about football than just about any woman in country and says she could be an asset to the team as both a coach and public relations agent.

She says, "I could add a little charm to the staff. I think it would be nice to have someone put their arm around a dejected football player." And say "honey do it this way." That'd get better results than cursing."

She doesn't see any problems in locker-room etiquette. "My husband examines female patients all the time — there's no problem. I don't see what the difference would be, but certainly I would respect the feelings of the players."

The mini-skirted mother said both she and her husband are avid football fans. Their two loves are the Minnesota Vikings and the ISU Bengals. Last season they traveled to Tampa, Fla., to watch the Bengals play Tampa University. Later they went to Minneapolis to watch the Vikings in action.

"I've read every book on football I could get my hands on," she says. "I'm really serious about coaching. Right now I'm enrolled in coaching classes at ISU and plan to take more in the future."

She says she's been promised a job as an intern — at least. "Then if I prove myself I may be moved on to the regular staff. They know I'm going to be around no matter what they decide."

Her ultimate goal as a coach is to land a position on the coaching staff of a professional football team.

But she adds, "Then I'd have to find a job for my husband — possibly as the team physician."

Ludlow trial set Tuesday

HAILEY — Trial for Willis Ludlow, Pocatello, a reporter charged with disturbing the peace during the Republican Governors' Conference in Sun Valley in December, is scheduled here Tuesday at 10 a.m. in Magistrate Court.

Magistrate William Grant said he transferred the case to the Gooding County Magistrate Court to be heard by Clinton Shaw.

Judge Shaw said he will hear the trial beginning at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Hailey.

Ludlow was refused press credentials to attend the governors' conference and was arrested when he attempted to enter conference sessions without credentials. The trial had been delayed for a three week period after originally being scheduled Jan. 22.

Class set for Filer

FILER — Mrs. William Olson has been hired as kindergarten teacher for the Filer Kindergarten which will begin March 1 at the American Legion Hall. Sessions will be from 9 to 11:30 a.m. for eight weeks. Children may still be registered up until the opening day.

Office dedication at Stanley planned

STANLEY — Open house and formal dedication of the new U.S. Forest Service administration building here have been set for Feb. 28, E. A. Fournier, Sawtooth National Forest Service, announced today.

Open house for the public inspection of the new building will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. with a dedication ceremony at 2 p.m. Vern Hamre, regional forester, Ogden, Utah, will dedicate the building.

Fournier said the new building is designed to serve both the Stanley and Sawtooth Valley Ranger districts and to provide more efficient administration of the Sawtooth Mountain country.

It is located adjacent to U.S. Highway 93 about two and one-half miles south of Stanley.

DEDICATION of this new U.S. Forest Service office building serving the Stanley ranger district has been set for Feb. 28.

Appointed

WENDELL — Douglas Huff, Wendell, has been appointed as National Aide-de-Camp, VFW according to an announcement from Herbert R. Rainwater, San Bernardino, Calif., commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

Servicemen

TWIN FALLS — U. S. Air Force Sgt. Robert P. LuBoid Jr., whose wife, Karen, is the daughter of Mrs. Kathryn Cavender, Route 2, is on duty with the Strategic Air Command at U-Tapao Airfield, Thailand.

Opening lead—A

Z is back. Our older readers will remember that he used to sit South and play all the hands in the auction bridge columns. His regular partner was Y, while the defense was handled by A and B.

Y and Z weren't very good bidders. They didn't have to be. If Z held the North-hand, he would probably have opened one no-trump in spite of having only 14 high-card points but Y only bid no-trump when his hand cried for that bid. Y just wanted to be dummy so that Z could operate.

Actually, the Y, Z bidding was perfect today. Y's club opening was correct in either JACOBY MODERN or standard American, as were the subsequent bids. West continued hearts after his ace held the first trick. Z was careful to play low from dummy. He ruffed in his own hand, cashed the ace of trumps and led a second trump to dummy's queen. Then he remarked, "If West holds the king of diamonds and queen of clubs, I can make an overtrick with a club finesse and a diamond lead to dummy's queen. However, it looks as if East will hold both those cards for his overall and robid. When I played this hand for H. F. Foster's around 1921, it seems to me that the proper line of play was to make sure of 10 tricks."

After that remark, Z called for dummy's queen of hearts. East covered with the king. Z discarded a club and showed his hand. A diamond would ride around to dummy's queen, a club would ride into the jaws of death and a heart lead would allow a ruff and discard.

AM ASKED WHY a drinking man tends to wake up in the morning after a particularly lively bout, feeling better than normal. The science boys say the liquor causes him to change his position fewer times during his sleep. So his muscles freeze up, as it were. Believe a fellow ordinarily turns this way or that about every 15 minutes while he dozes, and these shifts keep him limber.

THAT GIRL'S NAME most disliked by the Florida college girls, the surveys show, is Deubh. THE MEN WHO grow hard of hearing do so at an earlier age than the women, usually. WHAT DO YOU need to find happiness? "Two things," says Ingrid Bergman, "good health and a poor memory." NOTE IT CLAIMED bowling is the nation's most popular participant sport. That's wrong. Swimming is. A RETIRED FBI AGENT tells me the average man has five identifying body scars.

COCKROACHES take most fondly to the Gulf Coast. (It's not just the heat, but the humidity.) The ladyfriend and I are in Houston. Has it been reported that all these pest control companies plainly mark their trucks? Up north, they don't. But hereabouts, it's a sign of status to have an exterminator park his vehicle in front of your house. Shows you haven't given up. Moment ago here, a small hysterical critter scuttled across the table and vanished over the edge of the world. Old Christopher Morley wrote about one such: "Timid roach; why be so shy? We are brothers, thou and I. In the midnight, like thyself, I explore the pantry shelf."

CUSTOMER SERVICE - Q. "In bridge, what's a Yarborough?" A. Any hand of 13 cards with none higher than a nine. Odds run 1,827 to 1 against drawing one. Q. "How about it, farm boy? You always mount a horse from the left, correct?" A. You've got that one. And you always milk a cow from the right.

OPEN QUESTION - How is it a snail can crawl over the sharpest razorblade without cutting itself?

A MAGAZINE STORYTELLER writes, "Her eyes grew dark with fear." That's what happens all right. When you're scared, your pupils get bigger so your eyes look brighter. IN THE MATTER of fatal accidents, Saturday is the worst. With 22 per cent of them. Then comes Sunday, 18 per cent. After that Friday, 16 per cent. Monday, 12 per cent.—Thursday—and—Tuesday—are about even, 11 per cent. And Wednesday is safest, 10 per cent.

RAPID REPLY - Yes, sir, the insurance statisticians still claim their studies show the ladies of the night tend to live several years longer than women generally.

Doomed

BURLEY — The old flour mill is doomed, after nearly a half-century of grinding grain for Cassia County citizens. Charles A. Hendricks, owner of Union Seed of Burley, needs to get the building out of the way. His firm stores more than a half-million bushels of grain in the adjoining silos, and needs clear track space. Also, Hendricks said, "as long as the building is up, the taxes stay up. We need to get the building down to cut the tax load."

The Burley Flour Mill has outlived its usefulness, so down it comes. Colorado Milling and Elevator, which ran the mill, is taking out some of the machinery for shipment to other mills, but much of the equipment is either outdated or too small for further use. Hendricks said he will try to sell the five-story-tall building to someone who will demolish it for the salvage. It's a potential fire hazard, saturated with flour dust as it is.

Haywood won't play for Blazers until final court decision

SEATTLE (UPI) — Spender Haywood will not play for the Seattle SuperSonics of the National Basketball Association until the courts make a final determination of his legal status, Sonics' attorney Mel Monheimer said Wednesday.

A panel of three federal judges in San Francisco dissolved an injunction which SuperSonics owner Sam Schulman had obtained to prevent other teams in the NBA from interfering with the 6-foot-9 Haywood while he played for Seattle.

The U.S. Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals opened the way for the league to take action against the Sonics if they continued to use Haywood who jumped from Denver of the rival American Basketball Association to Seattle last month. But Monheimer pointed out that the court also ruled that the league cannot punish the Sonics for using Haywood in games played while the injunction was in effect.

Monheimer said no final determination has been made by the courts regarding Haywood's legal status. A trial, due to begin March 2 in Los Angeles, probably will determine whether Haywood's contract with the Denver ABA club is invalid, and whether the NBA can exert its four-year rule to prevent the Sonics from signing him unilaterally.

The circuit court's action "dissolves the injunction, but there will be a hearing on a motion for summary judgment on Feb. 12," Monheimer said. "If the court doesn't rule on the summary judgment on the 22nd, the case will be tried on March 2," he added. "So the effect of the ruling will be to keep Spencer out of action until either Feb. 22 or March 2, at which time we'll get a definite ruling."

"I'm not going to let him suit up," Monheimer said. "In fact he'll watch the game with my wife and me."

Haywood was not available for comment.

Lawmaker hits nominating of athletes for service schools

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Otis Pike, D-N.Y., said Wednesday that half the members of the football team at one of the service academies last year were nominated for the academy illegally. Pike declined to say whether it was the Army, Navy or Air Force which fielded the team, but said he believes illegal nominating of athletes takes place at all three.

A member of the House Armed Services Committee, Pike said he did not believe "there is anything wrong with the young men involved. The service academies no doubt told them this was the 'thing to do' and they did it."

Pike decried the system by which the academies bend the law to get athletes. Each representative in congress is allowed to have five residents of his district in each academy at any time, he said. But when an athlete fails to win nomination by a congressman and a service academy wants him they go to a "cooperative congressman with a shortage of applicants" to get him nominated.

"The service academies call them 'out of district' applicants and recruit them hard if they have good athletic potential," Pike said. "So prevalent is the violation of the law that approximately 50 per cent of the members of the football squad at one service academy last year were nominated for the academy illegally," Pike said.

Pike said the only solution he can see to end the practice is to "either change the law or obey it."

Pike said he uses a civil service exam similar to a college entrance exam to help grade those who applied to him for an academy appointment.

"One of my applicants this year got a mark of 36.5, the average of 58 in English and 15 in math," said Pike. "I told him I was sorry, but he hadn't made it."

"Two of the service academies were trying to recruit him last week. His athletics are stronger than his math. When a kid gets into an academy illegally with the assistance of the academy it sort of makes you wonder what their so-called honor system is all about."

McLain draws praise from manager Williams

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Denny McLain drew praise from manager Ted Williams Wednesday as the Washington Senators opened spring training for their batters.

"I really have no worries at all about the leg," the right fielder said. "I've done enough work on it already that I feel it is okay. The only apprehension probably will be for that first slide, and I may make it head first."

Veteran pitchers Wally Bunkers and Dave Morehead signed their contracts in time to take part in some of the "workout."

Newly acquired outfielder Carl Taylor also signed Wednesday although he won't report until next Monday when the remainder of the squad is due.

Starr due for grid honors

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Bart Starr, the quarterback who led Green Bay to its greatest glory, will receive a special award Feb. 28 for his contributions to the Packers and to the community.

Starr, looking forward to his 16th season in the National Football League, will receive a special service award.

Highlight of the dinner will be the presentation of the Vincent T. Lombardi award for dedication to football to Grego Blanda, placekicker and quarterback for the Oakland Raiders.

Mrs. Marie Lombardi, widow of the former Packers coach and general manager, will be on hand for the presentation.

Four Packers—Donny Anderson, Willie Wood, Gale Gilliland and Mike McCoy—will be honored for their play in the 1970 season and Art Rooney, president of the Pittsburgh Steelers, will be honored for distinguished service to football.

At Davis, former American Football League commissioner and managing partner of the Raiders, will be the main speaker and sportscaster Howard Cosell will be the master of ceremonies.

Yaz signs $150,000 contract

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI)—Boston Red Sox slugger Carl Yastrzemski signed a three-year contract today for an estimated 150,000 dollars a year, making him the highest paid player in the American League.

Details of the contract were not revealed, but club officials said it called for "a sizeable increase" over last year when Yastrzemski received an estimated $135,000.

"I'm very happy with the contract and would not have signed for three years if I didn't receive what I wanted," he said.

"I'll be working out tomorrow but will not start swinging in batting practice until the rest of the squad arrives next Wednesday," he said.

Yastrzemski lost his bid for a fourth batting crown last year when he batted .328—losing to Alex Johnson of California by .003 of a percentage point.

Club officials said there was no deferred payment clause in the contract.

T.F. travels, Minico entertains Skyline

The Twin Falls Bruins, again going without leading scorer Mike Crandal, will wind up their season on the road this weekend by traveling to Pocatello Friday and Skyline Saturday. Meanwhile, the Minico Spartans will close at home, entertaining Skyline.

Crandal, carrying a 16.3 average, missed last week's two games and the Bruins missed his scoring. They shot only 27 per cent in bowing to Highland and 36 per cent in nipping Minico.

Coach Charles Farmer doesn't believe the rest of his team shoots that badly. "We were just caught a little suddenly by the absence of Crandal and I think that might have upset us a little bit. The boys are now used to the idea and should shoot a better percentage," he says.

However, they run into two of the toughest teams in the conference. Pocatello fell out of contention last weekend in absorbing two losses. But the Indians also had the longest conference winning streak of the season. Not exceptionally tall, the Indians have great

Distances featured at meet

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The second leg of Jim Ryun's comeback attempt and possibly the finest two-mile field in indoor track history highlight the San Diego games Friday night.

Ryun, who won easily in his comeback opener in San Francisco last month, tangles with Los Angeles indoor winner John Mason, Arizona State's Chuck Labenz and New Zealand's Dick Jack in what should be a sub-4-minute race. Ryun, the world mile record holder, was only 4:04.4 at San Francisco.

Kerry Pearce of Australia, who set the world indoor two-mile mark of 8:27.2 here in 1968, and George Young, who tied it here in 1969, lead the two-mile field.

Rex Maddaford of New Zealand, who ran the fastest indoor two-mile last year, is among the challengers. Frank Shorter, who was voted the top performer at the national championships last summer, is another.

Add one of America's all-time distance stars, Gerry Lindgren, and world 3,000-meter steeplechase record holder Kerry O'Brien and a new record is a strong probability.

Olympic gold medalist Ralph Doubl of Australia and United States' record holder Jerry Luzins leads the 1,000-meter field.

Bulls rally past Cavs

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Tom Boerwinkle and Chet Walker scored all of Chicago's nine points in the final 3 1/2 minutes Wednesday night to give the Bulls a 109-104 victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

The victory moved Chicago to within a half game of second place Detroit in the Midwest Division of the National Basketball Association.

Braves shock Baltimore

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Bob Kauffman and Mike Davis combined for 48 points as the Buffalo Braves defeated the Baltimore Bullets 118-114 Wednesday night.

Davis hit a pair of free throws with two seconds left after a Bullet double-teaming strategy backfired, insuring the Braves' first victory in three meetings with Baltimore.

With Earl Monroe scoring 28 points, the Bullets trimmed a 102-90 deficit with 6:30 left to 113-110 with one minute remaining.

Davis then hit a jump shot and Kauffman added a layup to offset final Baltimore baskets by Monroe and Eddie Miles.

leapers and quickness. The Bruins' outside shooting will have to be there Saturday night because Skyline plays an ultra tight zone and doesn't allow a great deal of penetration. "There are times you can move inside Skyline's zone but unless we get some outside hitting to kinda pull it out, the chances of getting inside are reduced that much more," Farmer says.

That zone also will be Minico's problem as the Spartans would love to get that last-game to give themselves a break-even 10-10 season.

But both teams will have a defensive problem themselves with 6-4 Wynn Wilkes, one of the league's top scorers and all-around players.

Grand prix drivers may rebel

LONDON (UPI)—Louis Stanley, secretary of the Grand Prix Drivers' Association, Wednesday warned of a possible boycott by factory teams of some major European races because of the organizers' decision to cut costs at the expense of the drivers.

Stanley, who is also head of the BRN racing team, said the decision to reduce costs and the implications of legal cases pending against drivers in Italy and Argentina might cause teams to stay away from certain events.

"The cost of building and racing a Formula One car is so great that, unless there is a reasonable chance of getting the car on the starting grid for the Grand Prix, it does not make sense to go," he said.

Stanley said there is a restriction, unconcerned with safety, on the number of starters in the Monaco, Dutch and Belgian events.

He also mentioned the case of French Matra driver Jean-Pierre Beltoise who faces legal proceedings in Argentina following an accident in which Italy's Ignazio Giunti was killed during the 1,000 kilometers of Buenos Aires sports car race in January.

Last Saturday the French federation withdrew Beltoise's racing license pending the outcome of the legal deliberations in Argentina.

Villanova and Duke cop wins

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Jarrett Durham scored 26 points Wednesday night to power the surging Duquesne Dukes to a 95-86 victory over La Salle in the second game of a collegiate doubleheader at Colestra Thursday night.

Villanova overpowered Canisius 82-59 in the first game, with Tom Inglesby scoring 19 points.

Garry Nelson, who finished with 23 points, used his 6-foot-10 height to score ten consecutive Duquesne points to bring the Dukes from a 79-54 lead with 5:30 left to an 89-74 advantage with 3:10 to play, clinching the victory.

Eleventh-ranked La Salle, which entered the game with an identical 17-2 record to the 12th-ranked Dukes, used 6-foot-7 Ken Durrett for only 16 minutes. The All-American candidate was hobbling on torn ligaments in his right knee and wearing an elastic cloth brace.

N. Carolina crushes Terps

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI)—Dennis Wuyck and George Karl hit for 23 and 34 points respectively as North Carolina crushed Maryland 100-76 Wednesday night.

An effective Tar Heel press crippled the Terps, who managed only a 29.6 per cent shooting average.

The loss was the third in a row for the tallspinning Maryland five, and the fifth loss in the last six outings.

His Majesty romps to stakes win

HIACLEAH, Fla. (UPI)—His Majesty, a long-legged bay colt with white stockings, made an impressive bid for sophomore honors Wednesday as he sported victory in the $34,100 Everglades Stakes at Hialeah Park.

The race was the final tuncup for the $100,000 Flamingo Stakes March 3, the first of the big money classics for the budding three-year-old colt.

Racing for only the fifth time in his career and for the first time for a distance around two turns, His Majesty, a full brother to the famed Graustark, convinced a crowd of 20,088 of his class.

Guided by jockey Braulio Baeza, His Majesty hugged the rail, hit the final turn in seventh place and roared down the stretch to nip Jim French by a head.

A 23-1 chance, Sole Mio, finished third another three quarters of a length back.

Jockey Robert Woodhouse, riding Twist The Axe to a fifth place finish, lodged a foul claim against Jim French and jockey Angel Cordero Jr. for interference half-way down the stretch. The stewards finally disqualified Jim French to fifth position.

This awarded Sole Mio second money, the fourth place Dymestic third money and Twist The Axe fourth.

Dynamite led the pack of 14 sophomore colts until the final half-mile. His tiring staggers in the stretch set up a chain reaction which cost the chances of Bold Reason, which finished seventh.

Wells held for observation

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Superior Judge Leonard Deden today revoked the probation of Warren Wells, Oakland Raiders' wide receiver, and ordered him confined in county jail for 60 days observation by the county guidance clinic.

The judge said the guidance center should find out what are Wells' emotional problems and what kind of treatment could be provided.

Probation was revoked after Wells pleaded no contest to a hit-run driving charge. His probation officer said Wells recently had been arrested three times for drunk driving and twice out of state for possession of a gun.

Highland grabs 65-56 victory over Minico

POCATELLO — The Highland Rams thrust ahead by 10 points in the second quarter and protected about that margin throughout the night Wednesday to defeat the cold shooting Minico Spartans 65-56.

Minico, holding the Southern Idaho Conference's leading scorer Rick Cright to a season low of 13 points — seven from the foul line — had trouble getting the ball through the net. The Spartans missed a dozen shots from inside the key hole area.

Highland, getting a break on the fouls, padded its margin somewhat by outscoring the Spartans 21-16 from the free throw line.

Highland's biggest lead came in the third period when Gertsch and Craig Avery shot them into a 14-point lead. The Rams still had 13 of those points going into the final period when Rulon Barlow hit a three-bucket flurry and John Fennell picked up a couple of buckets to bring Minico back to within seven.

But Gertsch hit a three-point play the next time down the floor. After Minico scored to reduce the deficit to eight, Ted Tomlinson added another three-pointer for Highland. That set the stage for the last five minutes, with it largely passing in basket mugging.

The Minico sophomores went the first 10 minutes without a field goal and dropped a 14-point decision to Highland in the preliminary.

I-State seeking new coach

AMES, Iowa (UPI)—Iowa State Athletic Director Clay Stapleton and a three-member committee today began their search for a new head basketball coach to replace Glen Anderson whose contract was terminated.

Anderson, 41, was asked Wednesday by the university's athletic council to step down as head coach at the end of the season but to stay at the university in some other capacity.

Anderson, who took the helm at Iowa State during the 1959-60 season has had a dismal, 5-17 season this year and rumors that he would be fired have been circulating for several months.

Anderson was unavailable for comment.

Iowa State President Robert Parks said he "accepts the council's decision," but added "Mr. Anderson is a capable and hard working man, and I hope that he will continue to serve our university staff in some other important capacity."

Anderson came to Iowa State as freshman basketball coach in 1955. In his 11 seasons as head basketball coach, the former Colorado State star, led the Cyclones to a total 142 wins against 157 losses.

Suns set point high for year

PHOENIX (UPI)—The Phoenix Suns reached their highest scoring total of the National Basketball Association season Wednesday night with a 137-117 win over the Cincinnati Royals.

Clem Haskins led the Suns' balanced scoring attack with 29 points, followed by Dick van Arsdale with 24 and Neal Walk with 22.

The Suns broke open the close game in the opening 2:30 of the third quarter when they doubled their 70-65 halftime lead to 81-71. Cincinnati was within seven points in the fourth quarter before Phoenix raced away to its largest lead of the night, 19 points, with 7:34 remaining.

Charlie Paulk was the top scorer for Cincinnati with 27 points and during one stretch was seven of seven from the floor. He hit 12 of 16 field goal attempts before fouling out. Sam Lacey followed Paulk with 25 points.

Dan Issel hikes ABA point lead

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dan Issel of the Kentucky Colonels has increased his lead in the American Basketball Association's scoring race, according to the latest figures released Wednesday.

Issel, a rookie, has scored 1,924 points and boasts a 30.1 points per game average, which is almost two points a game better than his closest competitor, John Brisker of the Pittsburgh Condors.

Brisker is currently averaging 28.3 points per game while Mack Calvin of the Floridians is third with a 27.7 average. Charlie Scott of the Virginia Squires, another rookie, and Rick Barry of the New York Nets complete the top five with 27.5 and 27.1 averages respectively.

Mel Daniels of the Indiana Pacers continues to top the rebounders with an 18.5 average.

Gooding, Oakley can cop titles in final weekend

Gooding faces the happy alternatives of win or tie when it travels to Wendell for a Big Six Conference showdown, Oakley moves in on another Magic Valley Conference title and a couple of spots in the opening rounds of district tournaments will be settled in the final weekend of Magic Valley regular basketball season.

County while Carey travels out of district to play at Rimbrock. Gooding State will be at Bliss. The Saturday schedule finds the Jerome Tigers at Buhl in what should be a good one. Filer makes the north haul, going to Halley to play Wood River. Wendell will be at Kimberly in the final Little Five game of the year while Murtough sticks with the "traditional" battles, entertaining the rugged Valley Vikings.

Camas County travels to Carey while Richfield goes to Bliss in the final Northside Conference games.

Laver claims 10th straight $10,000 winner take all meet

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rod Laver, boasting the hottest serve and fattest wallet in tennis, extended his unbeaten string in the $210,000 Tennis Champions Classic to 10 straight Wednesday night by whipping Dennis Ralston 7-6, 6-1, 6-4, 6-3.

Laver has now won 10, $10,000 winner take all matches to earn $100,000 in the tourney in the seven weeks since the tourney opened on Jan. 2. No other player has yet to earn a dime in the tournament.

Laver will now meet Roy Emerson in New Haven Friday night in the final $10,000 match of the tournament before the semi-finals open Feb. 22 in New York.

Louisville smashes Drake

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Henry Bacon scored 23 points to pace the University of Louisville to a crushing 94-52 victory over the Drake Bulldogs. The triumph strengthened the Cardinals' first place lead in the Missouri Valley Conference.

The margin of 42 points was the largest in Louisville's MVC history. The Cardinals virtually ended the contest midway in the first period when they outscored Drake, 22-6, and took a 46-28 halftime lead.

Louisville opened the second half with a 15-3 spurt that pushed its lead to 61-31, before going to a slow-down type game.

Jeff Halliburton, Drake's leading scorer for the season, was held to 10 points. The Bulldogs' Tom Hugh had 12.

Drake had 28 turnovers while Louisville committed 14 mistakes. Louisville, ranked 17th in the United Press International ratings, is now 7-3 in the MVC and 17-4 on the season. Drake, 5-5 in the MVC and 15-7 for the season, has lost four consecutive MVC road games.

The turning point of the match came in the third set when Ralston broke Laver to tie the set 3-3. The match was completely even at that point because Ralston had taken the first set and Laver had come back to take the second.

Colonels react to attack

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Wendell Cherry, board chairman of the Kentucky Colonels of the American Basketball Association, Wednesday accused the Louisville newspapers of "irresponsible and inflammatory" journalism for publishing criticism of Coach Frank Ramsey by the team trainer who quit his job Monday.

However, Laver came right back to break Ralston and take a 4-3 margin. He then held service to close out the set 6-4. Laver, who broke Ralston twice in each of the final three sets, broke Ralston in the final set with the score tied 2-2. He held service for a 5-3 lead and then closed out the match on a break when Ralston netted, a short shot to end the match.

Roche and S.C. drop N.C. State

COLUMBIA, S. C. (UPI)—All-American guard John Roche scored 41 points to lead ninth-ranked South Carolina to a 79-63 victory over North Carolina State in a foul-plagued Atlantic Coast Conference game Wednesday night.

Milwaukee rallies by 76ers

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—The Milwaukee Bucks, with Lew Alcindor scoring 41 points, broke open a tight game in the final quarter and beat the Philadelphia 76ers 119-114 in a National Basketball Association game Wednesday night.

Carolina tips Texas 116-111

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI)—Joe Caldwell's game high of 24 points led five Carolina players in double figures Wednesday night as the Cougars rallied to beat Texas 116-111 in an American Basketball Association game.

Bonnies run over Creighton

OLEAN, N.Y. (UPI)—Greg Gary and Paul Hoffman led St. Bonaventure with 26 points each, as the Brown Indians won their 16th game in 10 starts Wednesday night by defeating Creighton, 104-84.

East nips Buhl in 2 overtimes

Pre-tourney favored East junior high of Minico slipped past Buhl 55-53 in two overtimes Wednesday night to join Stuart, Burley and O'Leary in the semi-finals of the annual Stuart freshman basketball tournament.

Trevino begins quest for third consecutive title in Tucson open

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—Lee Trevino takes off after his third straight Tucson Open title today but he's got a lot of competition from such high-riding pros as Tom Shaw, the year's leading money-winner, Bob Lunn, George Archer and Julius Boros.

Trevino was the top money-man of the year in 1970 but in the six tournaments to date this year his record is poor. He withdrew from two of them because of illness in his family. He may make his big comeback on the par 36-36-72 Tucson National Golf Course.

Palmer moved into the No. 3 money-spot with $56,162 when he beat Ray Floyd on the first extra hole of a sudden-death playoff to take the Bob Hope Desert Classic last Sunday.

Stuart opened the tournament by dropping West Minico into the consolation bracket 55-46. Curt Ward led Stuart on the course, and in scoring with 21 while Russ Tremayne topped West with 21.

Burley, although losing three starters for disciplinary reasons, waxed hot and topped Buhl 73-37. Dwight Davis' 19 points paced Burley while Tony Nice had nine for the Jokers.

Boros, who has gone over the 50-mark agewise, can not be counted out of contention and seems to thrive in this hot, desert climate.

Sets record

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI)—Maryland freshman Tom McMillan, one of the most sought-after high school prospects last year, tied the all-time Cole Field House scoring record of 48 points Wednesday night as the Terrapin frosh beat the Georgetown freshman 106-77.

O'Leary broke away in the second quarter and generally led by 10 or more points in dropping Jerome 60-43. Dave Lawley hit 14 and Gary Duncan 12 for O'Leary while Mike O'Toole tanked 20 for Jerome.

Hunter limits opposed

BOISE (UPI) — Officials of the State Fish and Game Department joined outfitters and guides Wednesday in speaking out against a bill to reduce the number of non-resident big game hunters.

They said to cut the number to five per cent of the resident combination fish and game licenses issued the previous year and then sell them on a first-come, first-served basis will serve only the "end of the road hunters."

Instead of getting rid of the problem with out-of-state hunters, they maintained, this bill merely will increase it.

State Fish and Game Director John R. Woodworth said this bill "would work a tremendous hardship on a large number of people."

His assistant, Robert Salter, testified it would have cost $679,000 in revenue to the department had it been effect last year and $839,000 had it been in effect in 1969.

Salter also said that increases in non-resident game licenses have served to reduce the number of out-of-state hunters by 3,354 during the past year and that the department expects the decrease to be even bigger this year.

Instead of this measure, Salter said, the Fish and Game Department would prefer:

- Limiting the number of non-resident hunters to 10 per cent in controlled hunts.
- Permitting out-of-state hunters to take antlered deer only and raise the fee from $50 to $75.
- Limit sale of non-resident gun licenses to eight months per year, from Jan. 1 to Aug. 31.
- If the number of non-resident hunters does not drop, then limit them to one non-resident combination license for every 20 big game hunters in the state.

Rep. Emery Hedlund, D-St. Maries, said the department always has had ways of controlling non-resident hunters but has not done so.

"I think it's high time we do something about it," Hedlund said. "I think it's time we do something about saving game instead of selling it."

Al Tice, an outfitter and guide, told the House Resources and Conservation Committee that the end of the road hunters really are the problem.

He said if the number of non-resident permits is limited and then put on a first-come, first-serve basis it will be the "end of the roaders" who will wind up with the bulk of the out-of-state licenses.

"Tice added the state then will lose hunters who come into Idaho and spend lots of money."

Rep. Walter Carr, D-Emmett, asked whether the game can stand the pressure if the number of non-resident licenses is not curtailed.

"I think the game in some areas definitely is down," Tice admitted, but added, "in others it is holding very well."

Rep. Bruce Sweeney, D-Lewiston, asked whether a certain number of non-resident hunting licenses could be apportioned to the outfitters and guides for sale to their customers.

Woodworth said "this is something we'd like to explore."

Cites war crimes

YOUNG anti-war Army Lieutenant Louis P. Font filed war crimes charges against Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, former superintendent of West Point, and Lt. Gen. Jonathan O. Seaman, commander of the 1st Army. Charges of covering up the My Lai massacre against Koster had been dismissed by the Army earlier. (UPI)

House bans loaded guns from roadway

BOISE (UPI) — Zeroing in on "road hunters," the House approved, 56-10, and sent to the Senate Wednesday a bill to ban loaded shotguns and rifles from most motor and horse-drawn vehicles.

Floorsponsor Emery Hedlund, D-St. Maries, said the bill also should help save lives from firearms accidents.

"I think if you can save one or two lives—you are doing something," Hedlund said.

But he ran into strong objections from House members who said they felt the bill would either be unenforceable, unconstitutional or both.

Rep. Walter Carr, D-Emmett, called the measure a "nuisance bill" and said he felt it would be very difficult to enforce.

Prisoner demands

BALTIMORE City jail inmate Arthur Turco, right, a white attorney accused in the torture-murder of a Black Panther informer, tells a newsman of demands made by prisoners during brief uprising at the jail Wednesday. About 75 prisoners staged the brief riot. Inmates asked better food, medical care, and an end to alleged brutality. (UPI)

Sunday drink bill advanced

American Party suit groundless

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate State Affairs Committee spent a lengthy session Wednesday discussing liquor laws, the horse racing commission, incentives for state employees and the handling of the state's idle funds.

The committee voted to send to the floor without recommendation Senate Bill 1125, which would allow for sale of liquor on Sundays to conventions, banquets and receptions.

Sam Kaufman, Boise attorney, told the committee "rightly or wrongly, the use of alcohol at a convention is an accepted procedure."

"They do have conventions here," he said, but "they use Sundays for coming and going. The liquor itself is merely a means to an end — to attract more conventions here."

The committee voted to send to the 14th order another proposal which could extend the hour for sale of liquor to 2 a.m. during Daylight Savings Time (DST).

However, the proposal would be amended to continue the closing hour at 1 a.m. using standard time — which would still give the extra hour when the area is on DST.

Another bill to go to the floor without recommendation is one which would allow the commissioner of law enforcement to do away with seals on liquor bottles.

Sen. Wayne Kidwell, R-Boise, objected to sending the proposal back to the floor and said he needed time to check with the State Tax Commission on any possible effects of the legislation.

Over the years, he said, it has been demonstrated there is no need for the seal, adding, "As long as prices in the neighboring states are competitive I can't see any reason to go to Nevada or Denver to buy six or seven cases of booze."

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Attorney General Tony Park said Wednesday a suit filed against Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa by the American Party state chairman is groundless especially in view of legislation pending before the legislature.

Tuesday, Earl C. Manchester, state chairman of the American Party, filed suit against Cenarrusa in Fourth District Court alleging election laws adopted during the last session of the legislature are in violation of the Idaho Code, U.S. Constitution, Idaho Supreme Court decisions and U.S. Supreme Court decisions.

He said the laws deprive citizens of the right to vote for the candidate of their choice and impose undue restrictions on now and emerging political parties.

Cenarrusa said Wednesday he was surprised such a motion was filed by Manchester, adding that normally such actions are the result of some type of action by state officials — either threatening to disband the American Party or disbanding it.

To date, Cenarrusa said, no action has been taken against the party. He said under election laws adopted during the last legislative session, which took effect Jan. 1, the American Party could still qualify as an active political party.

Cenarrusa said the law states that a party may continue if it garners three candidates for state offices. The American Party had candidates for lieutenant governor, superintendent of public instruction and U. S. congressman. Whether the latter office would be considered a state office needs to be decided by an attorney general's opinion or a court decision.

Nevertheless, Cenarrusa said, he has proposed legislation that would definitely qualify the American Party as a viable political party in the state. The measure states that political parties can continue if:

- They get three candidates for state or national offices.
- Any one candidate gets three per cent of the vote for the office he is seeking.
- Or that new parties can be established by petitions bearing the signatures of 1,500 electors.

BOISE (UPI) — Legislation to impose a "road and street tax" for passenger carrying vehicles — essentially a registration fee in addition to the state fees — was proposed in the House Wednesday.

Introduced by the Revenue and Taxation Committee, the measure would levy a tax in addition to state operating fees which would be paid at the time the motor vehicles are registered each year.

Revenue from the tax would go to counties, cities and highway districts for road and street construction, repair and maintenance.

This tax would be imposed on two bases: the age of the vehicle and the manufacturer's suggested retail price was under $3,000. They would be charged $35 if the suggested retail was $3,001 to $4,500 and they would be charged $45 if the suggested retail price was $4,501 or more.

Older vehicles would be charged lesser amounts according to a sliding scale dropping to vehicles eight years of age and older.

Panel asks OK on executive session

BOISE (UPI) — The Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee took the first step toward possibly solving one of its biggest headaches Wednesday by agreeing to introduce legislation which would change the statute prohibiting executive sessions.

Under a Senate Judiciary and Rules Committee decision, the joint committee is unable to close its doors for executive sessions while considering the budget.

"The Idaho Code specifically singles out the joint committee in Section 67-3513, which states any committee of the House or the Senate charged with appropriations measures shall 'sit jointly in open sessions while considering the budget.'"

Under the proposed change outlined by Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, a committee chairman, the change would require only that the committees charged with studying appropriations measures "shall sit jointly while considering the budget."
