Egyptian plan eyed

By United Press International
A "far-reaching" Egyptian offer to sign a peace treaty if Israel meets certain conditions has aroused keen interest in the Israeli cabinet, diplomatic sources said today in Jerusalem.
Israel called Ambassador Yitzhak Rabin home from Washington for urgent consultations on the Middle East negotiations. The United States has been reported to be seeking to get Israel to take a more flexible approach to the peace talks.
The sources called the Egyptian offer, made in response to suggestions by U.N. negotiator Gunnar V. Jarring, "the most far-reaching Egyptian attempt yet to meet Israel's concept of a Middle East settlement."
Despite the fact the offer contains elements Israel has said are unacceptable, the Israeli cabinet feels it "merits careful study and considered response," the sources said.

They said Egypt offered to make peace if Israel would withdraw from all Arab territory captured in the 1967 Middle East war, and agree to a "satisfactory solution" for the Arab refugee problem.
Israel has insisted it must keep some of the captured territory to guarantee safe borders and has said there must be a signed peace treaty before it will give up any of the land it now holds.
Nonetheless, Israel finds the Egyptian document encouraging because it constitutes, in effect, "a declaration of intent to sign a peace treaty with Israel," the sources said.

Winter returns

WINTER again painted Magic Valley foliage with its crisp white layer as seasonal weather ended the unusually warm mid-February season of picnicking and outdoor activities.

Firm plied GI buyers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The makers of Jim Beam bourbon told Congress Thursday they helped provide treats for high-ranking U.S. officials in Vietnam to keep their brand the runaway best-seller in the war zone.
The James Beam Distilling Co. protested, however, that financing such favors as a swanky Saigon villa for the men who bought liquor for post exchanges and service clubs was just good business—no worse than what the competition was up to.
U.S. debt hike OK'd

"We hoped our products would be purchased because of this," explained Beam vice president Mel Peterson to a Senate investigations subcommittee Thursday. "I have to get my whiskey in the marketplace to create a demand for it."
Peterson, alternatively defensive and apologetic, reluctantly detailed to persistent senators how Beam used the skills of mysterious businessman William J. Crum to escalate bourbon sales in Vietnam through relationships with military purchasing agents.
Subcommittee investigators linked Beam—and specifically Peterson—to Crum when the hearings into operation of post exchanges, service clubs and similar facilities opened Wednesday.
Earlier testimony pictured Crum—now reportedly somewhere in the South Pacific on his yacht—as a peddler of goods ranging from liquor to slot machines who made millions from military service clubs in Asia by trading bribes and kickbacks for purchase orders.
Peterson, flushed and perspiring profusely, acknowledged close contact with Crum during Crum's four-year hitch as Beam's Vietnam agent. But while he said top Beam officials were kept fully briefed on Crum's activities, he said he had "no knowledge" kickbacks were part of Crum's operations.

Northside panels OK'd in House

BOISE (UPI)—The House approved, 43-18, Thursday a bill to set up pilot project on state land inventory and usage in seven southern Idaho counties.
Rep. Vernon Rovenscroft, D-Tuttle, author of the bill, said if the project worked out well it could be tried on a statewide basis.
Basically, the bill calls for appointment of a special advisory board on state land usage in Elmore, Camas, Blaine, Minidoka, Jerome, Lincoln and Gooding counties.
After an inventory of state lands was made in those counties, recommendations would be made for its disposition.
Rep. Edward Williams, D-Lewiston, said he felt the county boards set up would be simply "rubber stamp" committees because the State Land Board could abolish them or reject their findings.

Building fund 'raid' beaten

BOISE (UPI)—The Senate killed, 15-26, Thursday a bill which would have taken $1,572,320 from the permanent building fund to help balance general fund spending for fiscal year 1972.
Acting under suspension of rules, the Senate turned down the proposal made by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus even though floor sponsor Sen. James Stollech, D-Sandpoint, urged his colleagues to "make his decision in favor of people in this conflict between people and mortar."
But opponents of the measure warned rising construction costs would put the state behind in its building program and referred to past years before the building fund was begun to pay for state construction.
Sen. Vern Brassey, R-Boise, said he remembered "we were a bit ashamed when we went to our institutions and looked at the condition in the buildings, the places we expected some of our more unfortunate people to live."
But Stollech argued that Andrus passed when he thought it would hurt least.
He said 85 per cent of the general fund budget goes to health, education or welfare, adding, "If we're going to make any cuts this is where it's going to have to be taken."

Stollech said the governor wanted to "cut back on housing rather than services."
"If we have beautiful houses, how much value are we going to have if we can't save the hurts of the people who will live in those houses?"
"Our schools have no worth if there are no teachers to go inside the schools," he said.
"The prison may be a fine structure, but without the persons who care for the prisoners inside there is no rehabilitation."
Sen. Ray Rigby, D-Malad, said the decision was "real difficult for the person over on this side of the aisle to make because I do feel our governor has conscientiously tried to come up with a budget to meet the needs."
But, he said, vocational education desperately needs facilities, adding, "I think the day has passed when we think we have to put everyone in a degree-granting college."

Work of art?

PROPOSED MASTERPIECE is surveyed by artist Christo Javacheff who hopes to hang it across a 2,000 foot mountain side near Rifle, Colo. Entitled "Valley Curtain" the painting will cost about $200,000 and reach 10 stories high. Officials are pondering the proposal. (UPI)

Old bone dates man's ancestor

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—A hunk of thick, heavy jawbone belonging to one of man's early ancestors has been found to be about 5.5 million years old—pushing back the birthdate of the human family still farther.
The specimen, the right half of a lower jaw with a tooth still in place, is the oldest prehuman fragment ever found, scientists at Harvard University said Thursday.
Arnold D. Lewis, of the school's Museum of Comparative Zoology, found the specimen resting on the surface of a hill on a "nice hot afternoon" in the summer of 1967 as part of an excavation on the Lake Rudolf region of northern Kenya.

Lewis said he immediately recognized it as part of a hominid—a man-like creature. But it took three years of laboratory work and research to conclusively establish its date and identify. Elephant fossils in the same find helped fix the date of the jawbone at about 5.5 million years.
Dr. Bryan Patterson, head of the expedition, said the bone probably belonged to the Australopithecus group of man-apes that eventually evolved into Homo sapiens, the modern human.
"The species is believed to have been about 5-foot tall and had an essentially upright posture," Patterson said. "But like apes it had a small brain and a thick heavy jawbone."

Panel says T.F. clinic 'unneeded'

TWIN FALLS — A state report charges that there are too many hospital beds and duplication of medical facilities in Twin Falls and Sun Valley areas.
The report was issued today in Boise by the Comprehensive Health Planning Staff of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Comprehensive Health Planning.
The report charged that the Twin Falls Clinic's 37 beds are unneeded. It urged downgrading services at the Blaine County Hospital to long-term care while continuing hospital services at the Sun Valley Hospital.
Lewis Meigs, administrator at the Twin Falls Clinic Hospital, said his is the only "proprietary" hospital in the state. It is operated completely on private funds without tax support and is owned by a corporation.
"In fact," he said, "we pay thousands of dollars a year in taxes rather than requiring tax support or federal funding."
Meigs took exception to the report the clinic facilities were not needed. At the time of the expansion and remodeling, he said, the clinic hospital was operating at 90 per cent occupancy which is too high for best operation. It is now at about 67 per cent, he said, and fluctuates up to 90 per cent at times.
He said there is a growing and constant need for private hospital facilities such as the clinic provides. Patients coming to the clinic, he said, and to Magic Valley Memorial as well, come from northern Nevada, as far as eastern and western Idaho cities and throughout Magic Valley.
Health department officials now regulate the number of hospital beds in a community. There are 127 beds at the Magic Valley Memorial at this time and 37 at the Twin Falls Clinic Hospital.

indications are the hospital need will grow.
Several hospital administrators questioned the lack of mention in the planning report of the Burley and Rupert area where two hospitals are operating in close proximity.
In Twin Falls, Mrs. Irene Oliver, a member of the advisory group said she did not attend the meeting in Boise yesterday in which the report was issued and she has no comment at this time.
James Rosenbaum, assistant administrator, said the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, a public non-profit institution, averages about 75 per cent occupancy year around at the present time. At the time the addition was constructed at the Twin Falls Clinic, Rosenbaum said the occupancy rate was about 60 per cent. He said the local county hospital could easily accommodate more patients.
Rosenbaum and other hospital administration officials say 65 to 75 per cent occupancy is about the requirement for economical operation of a hospital. He said within the past few months there have been instances when the Twin Falls Clinic and Magic Valley Memorial were both operating at full capacity.

SAIGON (UPI)—The South Vietnamese foray into Laos against the Ho Chi Minh Trail took an increasingly heavy toll of American lives and aircraft today. Eight more helicopters were shot down or heavily damaged Thursday and today in connection with the operation.
Official figures which include only helicopters destroyed were 18 but unofficial figures from correspondents on the scene put the number at perhaps double that including helicopters shot on landing strips near the South in northwestern South Vietnam.
The biggest loss was that of a giant CH-53 Sea Stallion which exploded in flight Thursday inside South Vietnam while on a resupply mission involved with the Laotian campaign. A spokesman said three men were killed and four missing.

U.S. spokesmen said at least 34 Americans have been killed, 85 wounded and 13 reported missing in connection with the South Vietnamese drive into Laos, now in its 12th day. The total includes 20 dead, 22 wounded and 10 missing in air support operations in Laos. It does not include a number of Americans wounded by Communists shelling in northern South Vietnam.
South Vietnamese have reported killing 680 Communists in Laos at a loss of 144 ARVN dead, and 541 wounded.

More copters down in Laos

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve system, said today the nation is moving toward a rapid recovery from its economic slump. But he said the very policies which are ending the recession carry "a grave risk of releasing fresh forces of inflation."
Burns made it clear he expects vigorous Nixon administration efforts to curb wage and price increases if the FED—which operates independent of the White House or Congress—is to carry out policies which the administration considers vital to make 1971 the "good year" foreseen by President Nixon.
In testimony prepared for the House-Senate Joint Economic Aide warns of new inflation

Committee, Burns said the "stimulative" budget deficit and expansive monetary supply on which the administration is banking are needed "to assure the resumption of economic growth and a reduction of unemployment."
But unless we find ways to curb the advance of costs and prices, policies that stimulate aggregate demand run the grave risk of releasing fresh forces of inflation," he said.
Administration economic planners, earlier told the committee they are looking to Burns and his fellow governors of the Federal Reserve to allow the monetary supply—the amount of currency in the economy—to grow by 6 to 7 per cent this year.

4 killed at rest home

TAPT, Calif. (UPI)—Flames roared through a two-story wooden rest home early today, killing four persons. Another five were missing.
Firemen said they believed bodies of all the missing would be found in the rubble of the Desert Air Rest Home No. 2.

U.S. to regulate insurance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Nixon administration official said today it is "very apparent that there will have to be federal regulation of health insurance companies" as part of President Nixon's new national health care insurance plan.

The private health insurers are now regulated by the states. But HEW Undersecretary John G. Veneman said federal regulation would be essential in the nationwide health program proposed by Nixon and in which Veneman had a major role in formulating.

The administration proposal, sent to Congress Thursday, would continue to largely rely on an expanded basis—health care services insured by private companies and organizations. Veneman said legislation to transfer authority for regulating the private concerns from the state to the federal level would be submitted later.

Veneman was interviewed on NBC-TV's Today Show.

Veneman predicted that health care would be one of the most hotly debated issues in this Congress, with numerous proposals rivaling that of the administration being proposed.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., sponsor of a federally subsidized national health insurance program, attacked the Nixon proposals as wasteful and ineffective. Kennedy also characterized them as "poor-house medicine."

Cancer conquest ordered — WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon Thursday ordered a "cancer conquest program" established in the National Institutes of Health under a fulltime director to coordinate an intensive new scientific search for a cancer cure.

In his comprehensive health message to Congress, the President said he was requesting an additional $100 million for cancer research in the belief it "may now be in the best position to benefit from a great infusion of resources." While cautioning that no cure is yet on the horizon, Nixon said it was believed biomedical research had reached the point "when problems begin to break open and results begin to pour in, opening many new lines of inquiry and many new opportunities for breakthrough."

Nixon said Secretary Elliot L. Richardson of health, education and welfare will appoint a director and a new management team to coordinate cancer research efforts in many fields, with the help of an advisory committee on the conquest of cancer to decide on spending priorities. The President said it was time to apply the same organization and drive to cancer research as the nation committed to the space program.

Calley's will said paralyzed

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI) — A defense psychiatrist who testified Lt. William L. Calley's will was paralyzed during the alleged My Lai massacre was excused from the stand today and his testimony stricken when a question arose over its truthfulness.

On the motion of the defense, Col. Reid W. Kennedy, the military judge, ordered the testimony of Dr. Albert A. Ja Verne of New York stricken and cautioned the six-man military jury to "disregard it in its entirety."

La Verne, who is in private practice in New York and described himself as "senior psychiatrist at Bellevue Medical Center, currently on leave," pleaded near the close of the Thursday session that he was "under stress and fatigue."

It was closing time, and the judge immediately recessed for the day.

It was not made plain in today's move what the statements in question were, but La Verne at one point had said he could not remember much of what the stocky little defendant had told him earlier this week about the 1968 My Lai search and destroy sweep in which Calley is accused of the premeditated murder of 102 civilians.

Before the jury was brought in today, Kennedy remarked to both sides and the spectators: "Following yesterday's session, it was apparent to me that Dr. La Verne was saved by the bell, so to speak, it being 4:30 p.m."

"He was hopelessly caught in what may have been a complete falsehood at that point but if it had been developed it would have turned out to be," Kennedy said that during a conference in chambers it developed that "the defense was taken by surprise as much as the prosecution and myself."

The defense attorney, George W. Latimer of Salt Lake City, arose and said such incidents some times happen under cross-examination and "I'm not going to characterize whether what Dr. La Verne may have said was truthful or not."

The jury was brought in and Latimer told them that during the La Verne testimony "I'm sure made an adverse impression for the doctor and reflected somewhat on the defendant."

The judge then ordered the testimony stricken. The defense then called Dr. Wilbur A. Hamman of Arlington, Va., a psychiatrist who previously had testified with the jury absent that in his opinion Calley was unable because of combat stress to premeditate murder that day.

Surprise moon rock unveiled — SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — The quarantined Apollo 14 crew reached in a sample bag and pulled out a surprise for lunar scientists—a 20-pound rock the size of a basketball. Dr. Robin Brett, vice chairman of the Apollo 14 sample examining team, said scientists asked for one football-size rock and the grayish "big rock" was an unexpected bonus. Astronauts Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Edgar D. Mitchell also unpacked two 12-pound football rocks among the samples returned to the Lunar Receiving Laboratory aboard the mobile quarantine unit the crew used on their recovery ship. The unit was flown to the Manned Spacecraft Center Thursday.

Also on board was the faulty camera command pilot Stuart A. Roosa was to have used to photograph the rugged Descartes landing site proposed for Apollo 16. Roosa was scheduled to work today with engineers to determine what went wrong with the camera.

Brett said scientists would report today on their preliminary findings concerning the grayish rock. Until the newest samples were unpacked Thursday, the largest Apollo rocks received at the lunar laboratories were about the size of an apple.

The astronauts say they feel fine and are exercising regularly. They and 14 support personnel are confined to the lunar laboratory until Feb. 27 just in case they brought any moon germs back with them.

Arsonists hit Russ vehicles

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Arson attempts were made on three cars registered to Soviet diplomats in the Maryland suburbs early today. A man telephoned news agencies to say the incidents were "retaliation in the war of liberation."

One of the vehicles was set fire in Silver Spring, just north of the Nation's Capital, but damage was reported slight. Police said a witness saw a car with several passengers leave the scene at 3 a.m. EST.

Sixteen minutes later, police in Hyattsville, about four miles away, reported that abortive attempts had been made to set fire to the two other cars. Officer Arnold Christian said bags were stuffed into the gas tanks and ignited but "as soon as they reached the neck of the gas tank they went out."

Christian said a book of matches and a glove were found at the scene. There were 2,315,916 motorcycles registered in the United States in 1970.

The Dallas murders were the first of two slayings in the southwest this week involving lawmen. A state trooper and a park superintendent were killed Wednesday near a resort at Euguana, Okla. The two suspects in those murders were still at large.

Bottle tax hit by aide

BOISE (UPI) — A bottling company spokesman told the House Revenue and Taxation Committee Thursday that a proposed tax on non-returnable beer and pop bottles will make "every merchandiser a junk collector."

Branding the proposal an "unfair" tax which will require beer and soft drinkers to solve pollution problems, attorney Robert Green of Boise urged the committee to finance sewer projects from the General Fund.

He and Paul Ennis, a Boise attorney representing the U. S. Brewers Association, spoke against the proposal to put a one-cent tax on each non-returnable container which holds seven fluid ounces.

Spokesmen for the comprehensive health planning council suggested the tax as a means of matching federal and local sewage treatment funds.

Archie Biladeau, Idaho Falls, said approximately 72 communities in Idaho need sewage treatment facilities — some of them having to "start from scratch."

But, he said, the state does not have sufficient matching funds to put up with federal grants and locally-raised matching money. Under present law, the state pays 25 per cent, the city 25 per cent and the federal government 50 per cent of the cost of such facilities.

Former Sen. J.C. Sundberg, D-Blackfoot, a member of the Health Planning Group, said if the legislature wants to tax something other than non-returnable containers—it will be fine with the planning council.

"All we want is more money to match," Sundberg said, adding up to $4 million in federal matching funds may be available per year.

While Green and Ennis opposed the proposed bill, Tom Davis, Boise, speaking on behalf of the Idaho Environmental Council, said his organization favors it.

"It is a fair and appropriate tax," Davis said, adding he drinks both beer and soft drinks so that he would be one of the persons who would pay the tax.

Rep. Lester Hartvigsen, D-Mulad, asked whether an increase in the state sales tax might be a fairer way of approaching the problem.

"A sales tax increase would be unpopular at this time," Davis said.

Green said he was sympathetic to the problem of finding funds to build sewage treatment facilities. But he said a tax such as this would penalize one "small segment of the economy to solve a state-wide problem."

House OK's minor's private aid

BOISE (UPI) — Legislation allowing minors 14 years of age or older to seek medical treatment for communicable diseases without notification of their parents won House approval, 46-8, Thursday.

Rep. Robert Hankenson, D-Coeur d'Alene, said the bill especially will help to combat venereal disease among the young, adding it is a growing problem in Idaho.

"Presently parents must be notified," Hankenson said, "I agree with the philosophy of this law but it is detrimental to your youth."

Many youngsters who have contracted venereal or other communicable diseases, he said, will not seek treatment if they know their parents will be told. "We can do all of the sermons we wish on the floor of this House," Hankenson said. "We can pass all the moral legislation we want."

"But the gap between parents and children will still exist."

Rep. Wayne Lovelace, D-Pocatello, opposed the bill on grounds it will lead to "further deterioration of the family unit."

He said the family unit today needs to be strengthened and not weakened.

Good witches?

THREE MEMBERS of a Chicago witches coven celebrated Candlemas recently, one of the year's eight witches feasts (or sabbats). They lit candles, sang and danced around an altar. # GOP behind sharp ads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nominal sponsor of last fall's controversial advertisements attacking eight Democratic Senate candidates as the choice of "radicals" and "extremists" now pictures his committee as a front that neither drafted, approved, nor paid for the ads.

In a letter to the nonpartisan Fair Campaign Practices Committee, Washington attorney Carl L. Shipley said the ads were put together by "campaign professionals" and paid for directly by the Republican "national campaign organization."

Furthermore, said Shipley, whose name appeared on the ads as treasurer of the sponsoring "Committee for a Responsible Congress," the ads were run with the knowledge and consent of the Republican candidate in each case.

All eight Republican candidates previously said either in statements to the fair campaign panel or to the press that they were not consulted about the ads in advance.

The Republican National Committee at the time denied it had anything to do with preparing or financing the political attacks. The White House also disclaimed any connection.

Advised of Shipley's latest statement on the case, the Senate-Republican-campaign committee, the House Republican campaign committee and the Republican boosters' club also denied they had anything to do with the ads or contributed to the estimated $100,000 cost of placing them in about 70 papers a few days before the Nov. 3 election.

One well-placed Republican source said there were reports in party circles the Shipley operation was set up at White House instigation and financed through a White House fundraiser named Jack Gleason.

Prisoners' wives get private visits

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) — Wives of California prisoners soon will be able to spend weekends alone with their husbands at private apartments on the grounds of all the state's prisons, including San Quentin and Folsom.

Associate Warden James Park said Thursday officials hoped the plan will provide an incentive for uncooperative convicts to earn a minimum custody classification, the status needed to participate in the conjugal visit program.

The program will be started at San Quentin in a few weeks for the minimum security inmates. A spokesman said about one-fifth of the prison's 3,300 inmates currently have that classification.

The eligible prisoners will be allowed to spend up to 48 hours alone with their families on weekend visits in a pair of two-story houses within the prison walls. Six to eight prisoners can use the houses on a weekend and the program probably will be expanded for six-day-a-week use, officials said.

No guards will be posted near the visiting quarters, but inmates will be required to check in by telephone periodically.

Health unit split asked

BOISE (UPI) — In a letter to members of the Board of Health, Dr. Terrell Carver, health administrator, has asked that members consider an idea that would divide his department into two equal divisions for health and ecology.

Carver insisted in the letter, entitled "My Latest Brainstorm," that the proposal was merely an idea and nothing more.

Essentially, if the idea became a proposal to the legislature, it would call for the department's name to be changed to the Department of Health and Ecology.

Carver maintains that such a proposal would allow the legislature to create a separate agency for environment, as proposed by Gov. Cecil Andrus, without increasing costs or creating another "boondoggle" department, which Andrus opposes.

The idea calls for increasing the Board of Health, which would be called the Board of Health and Ecology, from its current five-member status to seven; and providing advisory councils for each major division.

Carver offered the measure as an alternative to a bill presented by Attorney General Tony Park which calls for creation of a Department of Ecology. But Carver said his idea is not meant to test the validity of Park's proposal.

In fact, his idea would make it easier for the legislature to create a separate Department of Ecology in the future when money becomes available.

Under the plan, all of the environmental protection services currently rendered by the department would be lumped together in one super division. If a change to departmental status were called for at some future time, the individual units would have been working together as a division for some time thus making the transfer smoother.

The Division of Ecology as envisioned by Carver would include the bureau of Air Pollution and Water Pollution Control, Solid Waste Disposal and Radioactive Waste Disposal. The Health Division would include Mental Health, Mental Retardation and Child Development and other related services.

If a separate department were created, as proposed by Park, Health Department officials think increased costs would ultimately result. The new department would be forced to acquire its own field representatives, purchase or lease lab equipment from existing state departments, plus costs for administrative changeovers.

Park sees Carver's proposal as a method to sidetrack his bill, and says Carver's idea comes at a time when the legislature would have difficulty acting on it before the session ends.

Others aren't so kind. Many see the proposal as a form of empire-building for Carver, who already controls one of the largest state departments, if not the most powerful. Some see it as a reluctance on Carver's part to let part of the services his department currently renders slip from his control.

The creation of a seven-member board, many say, would further protect Carver from the whims of the governor. The board, which is appointed by the governor, chooses the health administrator, while most other department heads are named by the governor directly.

If such a department were created by this fall, Andrus will have made four appointments to it.

Oregon college 'hostile'

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — The American Civil Liberties Union Thursday released a report on an investigation it conducted at Eastern Oregon College and said the school has an "atmosphere of hostility or apathy toward academic freedom." The school is located in La Grande.

The ACLU made its investigation at the request of Dr. Charles Quintance, a member of the faculty since 1940 and one-time head of the biology department.

He charged that he had been given teaching assignments below his ability and experience as punishment for engaging in controversial activities.

He also claimed the faculty at EOC has little voice in decisions, there is no grievance procedure for faculty members, that a conservation workshop he was to teach was cancelled because of pressure from Boise Cascade Corp., and that theories of evolution and race are not given proper treatment in EOC courses because of religious views of some biology faculty members.

The ACLU said it focused principally on Quintance's charge involving his teaching assignments.

It said, "We could not determine conclusively whether the current teaching assignments of Dr. Quintance were made with punitive intent but we do find very serious administrative error." It suggested immediate assignments "commensurate with his qualifications and experience."

The ACLU also said "we believe that the absence of faculty organization and effective procedures for hearing and redressing faculty grievances has contributed greatly to the continuance and enlargement of problems experienced by Dr. Quintance and to an atmosphere of hostility or apathy toward academic freedom at EOC."

'Poorhouse medicine' plan hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., describes President Nixon's new health plan as "poorhouse medicine" that would turn over the worsening problem of health care to the private health insurance industry.

Kennedy's criticisms were among the harshest offered Thursday after Nixon sent to Congress a 17-page message proposing national health insurance for nearly all Americans to counter what the President called a "deepening crisis" in the health field.

Nixon's plan drew support from some quarters. The American Medical Association (AMA) said its reaction was "generally favorable." Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., whose Ways and Means Committee will screen the plan, said he was keeping an "open mind." Mills predicted Congress would approve some form of major health legislation either this year or next.

The administration comprehensive health care plan carries a $1.5 billion price tag, substantially smaller than that proposed by Kennedy and others in Congress. Kennedy and 24 other senators have introduced a bill which would authorize cradle-to-the-grave government health insurance.

Free guaranteed care for the poor and mandatory Social Security-style coverage for the working population are features of the Nixon proposal. It would throw the federal government's support behind a movement to pay "doctors" fixed fees in advance to keep people healthy, rather than merely curing those already sick. Advocates of the procedure have contended this would help curb medical costs, which have grown to an estimated 7 per cent of the gross national product.

Underage musician bill dies

BOISE (UPI) — House members killed, 26-31, without opposition debate Thursday a bill which would allow musicians and singers as young as 18 to entertain in places serving liquor.

However, on the motion of Minority Leader Edward V. Williams, D-Lawiston, the House later agreed to reconsider the bill and it was revived for a second chance on Friday's third reading calendar.

Rep. Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, spoke in behalf of the bill which she called "basically a labor bill and not a liquor bill."

"It is designed to help many college students in the state to augment their income," Miss McDermott said, adding the states of Washington, Oregon, California and Alaska have passed similar laws.

Political Blur

Two syndicated Washington columnists reveal that Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and most powerful opponent of revenue sharing in Congress, is pondering a legislative package that could demolish White House grand strategy.

The Arkansas Democrat is working on a plan whereby the federal government would gradually relieve the states of their increasingly burdensome welfare programs, combined with a top-to-bottom overhaul of the whole sloppy system.

Such a plan would emancipate New York, California and other big states faced with fiscal calamity. But it would also appeal to congressmen from smaller states because, unlike revenue sharing, it would not siphon off their power and prestige to governors and mayors.

"The choices faced by Mr. Nixon would be excruciating," say Rowland Evans and Robert Novak. Could he oppose a Democratic bill containing his cherished family assistance payments and substantial financial relief to the states? How could he veto the bill and still be able to characterize the Democrats as "obstructionists" in the 1972 election campaign?

All of which suggests another question: Must politics really be such a ridiculous game? If the Mills plan is a bad plan, the President should fight it. But if Democrat Mills comes up with a better idea, than the administration, then Republican Nixon ought to "demolish" him by praising him as a man who has performed a great service for his country.

Fire Drills

Almost daily reports of costly fires with resultant loss of life raise the question of the advisability of compulsory fire drills in all public places. It is true that fire extinguishers are prominently placed and exits are well marked, but they fail to train the human mind. Fire drills have a purpose which cannot be ignored by those participating. They instill in the minds of persons where to go and what to do in case of fire. This knowledge makes it possible for a public building to be emptied with precision and promptness, which could not otherwise be the case.

Panics have occurred because of small fires from which no immediate danger was to be expected. The unwise shouting of the word "Fire!" has caused people to be trampled to death under the feet of those who, under ordinary circumstances, would scoff at the idea of their reverting to instincts attributed only to animals.

In Magic Valley, at our hospitals and nursing homes and homes for the aged, we wonder just how much attention is paid to emergency procedures.

MR. SPECTATOR

Money To Spend?

We have some vocal people in Magic Valley who complain of the way money is spent — but if they really want to know how it is thrown around then they will have to get out of this area. What we spend out this way is peanuts. Don't think so? Well, let's take a look at what is happening down in the New Orleans area. First, let's remember the famed Houston Astrodome. That's the structure where they play football, basketball, baseball and what have you under a big, airconditioned dome.

Now come plans for the Superdome. This "little" structure will cost $95.5 and it will be financed by a bond issue in Louisiana. The new Superdome will have a football capacity of 84,777, compared to the Astrodome's 55,000; and a baseball seating capacity of 55,596, compared to the Astrodome's 44,800.

One feature will be suspended from the ceiling in the new structure. Hanging way up there will be six giant television screens, each 48 feet wide by 36 feet high for "instant replay" during stadium events.

The clear span — 680 feet — will be the largest ever. It will be the third largest structure in the world, ranking only behind St. Peter's Basilica in Rome and the Nassau Space Center in Florida.

In football the New Orleans Saints will play there as will Tulane University. The state of Louisiana has a 99-year lease on the Superdome property. The state sees no problem in paying off the bonds. Just think — that amount of money would run the entire state of Idaho for years, and years and years.

But we have something over Louisiana — and it doesn't cost money. We have the kind of weather that makes air conditioning something we can use or not use. If you've ever been to New Orleans in the summer — they need it!

Dear Twin Falls Resident: Sorry about that. The caption was copied as it was in the issue of the paper from which it was taken. That must prove that reporters made mistakes even back in 1941. Mr. Spectator

LOVE IS THE WORD Something of a tempest has developed over the case of a clerk in a London variety store who was fired because she continued to call all her customers "love" after the manager told her to be more formal.

"It is company policy," said the manager, "that customers should be treated with the utmost respect at all times."

"Love" is a traditional manner of address among British shop personnel. Not surprisingly, the case of the fired clerk has aroused much discussion, almost all favorable to her. One of Britain's leading newspapers, the Daily Mirror, had this to say:

"Instead of being affronted, her bosses should have been grateful. A welcome word, a cheerful greeting and a smile across the counter provide a boost for trade... that's not a qualification for a push. It's a qualification for promotion."

As for the sales clerk, at age 50 she says she's not about to change now. Good for her.

On North Vietnamese Aggression

WASHINGTON — Behind the suggestion of United Nations Ambassador George Bush that the UN Security Council should consider the wars in Laos and Cambodia, is a move by President Nixon to spread the history of North Vietnamese "aggression" in Indochina on the UN record.

This might seem like stating the obvious, but officially the Security Council has never addressed itself to the Indochina conflict. Speeches have been made in New York condemning both sides, and Secretary General U Thant has been especially critical of the U.S. role. But Communist opposition has always blocked attempts to put the matter on the Security Council's agenda. Bush made his suggestion at confirmation hearings before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He said it was time to expose North Vietnamese "activities."

What Bush did not say was that the President is now prepared to make the United Nations privy to top secret intelligence which lays bare both North Vietnamese aggression and its conspiracy with Communist China to take over Southeast Asia. The intelligence, which administration sources say consists of a complete record of Hanoi's role going back several years, was obtained for the most part by electronic interception of North Vietnamese and Red Chinese communications.

For example, the messages expose the collaboration between Hanoi and Peking in both Vietnamese incursions into Laos and Cambodia. The U.S. intelligence community claims to have verbatim copies of orders dispatching Communist troops to those unfortunate countries, and concerning use of the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos to supply North Vietnamese forces in South Vietnam.

The texts of such interceptions prove what everyone has known for years — that North Vietnam has been in violation of the 1962 Geneva Accord on Indochina. This has always been denied by the Communist bloc, and undoubtedly will be denied again if the issue reached the Security Council. But the material would go on the record for the instant historians and pro-Hanoi American militants to ponder.

Indeed, the stuff might even persuade U Thant that Hanoi is not to be compared with the Society of Friends. Until a few days ago, Thant had never mentioned North Vietnam as a co-villain with South Vietnam and the U.S. in the "secret" war in Laos. But he now has permitted his spokesman, if only in response to a question, to identify North Vietnamese troops as among those he called guilty of treaty violations.

Another example of American electronic spying that Nixon undoubtedly would lay before the UN consists of the texts of intercepted signals to North Vietnamese PT-boats whose attacks on two U.S. destroyers in August, 1964, led to Congressional passage of the so-called Tonkin Gulf resolution. These signals, in language even Sen. J. William Fulbright could understand, carried orders from Hanoi for the attacks.

The administration has always maintained that the signals were made available to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee before passage of the resolution. At any rate, members of the Senate — including Fulbright and Sen. George McGovern — both voted for passage of a text that endorsed "all necessary measures" against North Vietnam "to prevent further aggression."

Chances of persuading the Security Council to consider the Indochina war are still slim to non-existent, of course. The Soviet Union still has its veto power. But Nixon could include these intercepted messages in a presentation of the U.S. side before the General Assembly. The Assembly lacks the authority to intervene, but the authenticity of the presentation might win us a few influential political friends abroad.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

A Stroke

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband had a cerebral hemorrhage 15 days after an operation for an ulcer. It left him paralyzed on one side. What we can't understand is that his heart must have been okay before the operation, as he had EKGs taken then. Could the operation have been the cause? Should he be on a diet, avoiding cholesterol, fats, etc.? — Mrs. D.A.N.

I'm afraid that you are confused over the meaning of certain terms, but you're not alone. My mail makes it clear that a lot of folks are mixed up about the same thing.

A stroke is something that occurs in the brain — either the bursting of a blood vessel (which is cerebral hemorrhage) or the interruption of circulation in a blood vessel (thrombosis). Either one is a stroke. Either one may also be called a CVA, or cerebral vascular accident.

If the stroke is severe enough to damage a part of the brain that controls motor-responses (that is, muscular activity), then some degree of paralysis is the result. A person with a perfectly healthy heart may have a stroke. Or a person who never had a stroke may have a heart attack.

There is no apparent reason why your husband's operation should have caused his cerebral accident. The presumption is that a weak place existed in one of the blood vessels, and it just happened to let go then. (Had it been the other type of stroke, caused by a thrombus, or clot, then a clot resulting from the operation could have been involved, but there's no way to be certain of that, either way. You just can't tell.)

Anyway, as to diet for a stroke victim, if the cholesterol level in his blood is too high, then avoiding too much fat would be wise for the sake of his general health — and also good for him if he is taking an excess weight. Other than that, diet would have no particular bearing on his condition.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send me your booklet on hypoglycemia. The doctor says I have it. I enclose 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for the booklet. I do not understand the disease or the diet. — Mrs. J.M.S.

Hypoglycemia means that at times the amount of blood sugar in your bloodstream falls too low, and you can then experience such things as attacks of weakness, dizziness, visual aberrations, and so on. Eating the proper foods is one of the best ways of keeping the sugar level reasonably steady and without the sharp ups and downs that cause the trouble. Both the diseases and the diet (as well as other types of treatment) are included in the booklet.

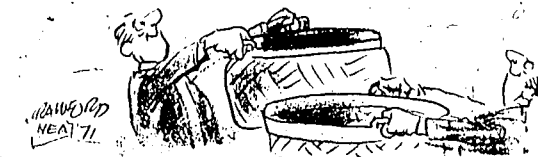

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Are there tests that can determine the father of a child? I've heard that a blood test can determine this. If so, would just knowing the father's blood type be enough information for a doctor? Also, is it possible that both men involved could have the same blood type, still leaving me without any answer? — D.C.

If both gentlemen have the same blood type you'll never have any answer. In fact, in some cases it is possible for the two to have different blood types yet still not provide the answer.

It boils down to this: with certain combinations of blood types (mother's and father's) a child can be born with some blood types but cannot have certain other types. Sometimes such blood tests can prove that a particular man is not the father. But that's as far as it goes. The tests never can prove that a certain man is the father, but can indicate that he might be. Or cannot be.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper requesting the booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

The War Critics

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Critics of the U.S. role in Vietnam often have questioned with good reason, the credibility of our government's utterances on the war. But many times they themselves have not lived up to fair standards of credibility.

Right now they are saying that our air and logistical support for the South Vietnamese ground thrust into Laos threatens to involve us in that country in the same way we became embroiled in Vietnam. They made identical comment when we drove into Cambodia last spring and again when we gave air support to a joint Cambodian-South Vietnamese effort to wipe out a Red-held roadblock on Phnom Penh's vital Route 4.

If the critics mean this comment to be taken literally, then they can only be predicting that we ultimately will put our own large ground forces in Cambodia and Laos.

But is it really believable that President Nixon, who soon will have withdrawn more than 200,000 troops from Vietnam, will turn around and inject large forces into neighboring countries? First, Congress has imposed a legal bar to such action. Second, he must weigh the political consequences for him in a 1972 re-election bid.

Only a few weeks ago, when the Route 4 clean-out action at Cambodia's Pich Nil pass was in progress, some U.S. critics voiced alarm that American tactical air strikes were then being employed.

The evidence is this type of U.S. air activity in Cambodia was not truly a surprise to them. Sharp-eyed reporters had detected and written, as far back as last July, that U.S. planes were flying tactical missions in that country. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee's own inquiries turned up the same evidence.

Whether deliberately or not, some critics have spoken repeatedly in ways which leave the impression Cambodia became a war zone only with our incursion of April 30, 1970. It is erroneous.

TV Blackout

WASHINGTON — A week ago Sunday New York City had a blackout which caused all nine television stations in the area to go out for several hours. This created tremendous crises in families all over the New York area and proved that TV plays a much greater role in people's lives than anyone can imagine.

For example, when the TV went off in the Bukfink's house in Forest Hills, Long Island, panic set in. First Bukfink thought it was his set in the living room, so he rushed into his bedroom and turned on that set. Nothing.

The phone rang and Mrs. Bukfink heard her sister in Manhattan tell her that there was a blackout. She hung up and said to her husband, "I can't your set. Something's happened to the top of the Empire State Building."

Bukfink stopped and said, "Who are you?" "I'm your wife, Edith." "Oh," Bukfink said. "Then I suppose those kids in there are mine."

"That's right," Mrs. Bukfink said. "If you ever got out of that armchair in front of the TV set, you'd know who we were."

"Boy, they're really grown," Bukfink said, looking at his son and daughter. "How old are they now?" "Thirteen and 14," Mrs. Bukfink replied.

"I'll be darned, I'll kids." "Who's he?" Bukfink's son Henry asked. "It's your father," Mrs. Bukfink said. "I'm pleased to meetcha," Bukfink's daughter Mary said shyly.

"Well, let's just talk," Bukfink said. "That's the best way to get to know each other."

"What do you want to talk about?" Mary asked.

"Well, for starters, what school do you go to?"

"We go to Forest Hills High School," Henry said.

"What do you know?" Bukfink said. "You're both in high school."

There was dead silence.

"What do you do?" Mary asked.

"I'm an accountant," Bukfink said.

"I thought you were a car salesman," Mrs. Bukfink said in surprise.

"That was two years ago. Didn't I tell you I changed jobs?" Bukfink said.

"No, you didn't. You haven't told me anything for two years."

"Yup, I'm doing quite well too," Bukfink said.

"Then why am I working in a department store?" Mrs. Bukfink demanded.

"Oh, are you still working in a department store? If I had known that, I would have told you you could quit last year. You should have mentioned it," Bukfink said.

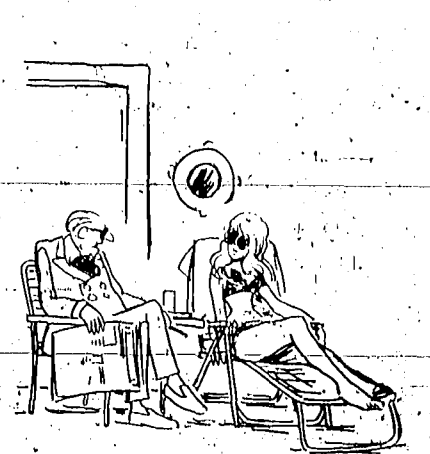

There was more dead silence. Finally Henry said, "Hey, you want to hear me play the guitar?"

"I'll be darned. You know how to play the guitar? Say, didn't I have a daughter who played the guitar?"

"That was Susie," Mrs. Bukfink said.

"Where is she?" "She got married a year ago, just about the time you were watching the World Series."

Home care panel held

TWIN FALLS — An estimated 333 persons over 65 years of age in the Twin Falls area might be expected to avail themselves of home care nursing services, if such service was available.

Judy Meinkheim, nursing consultant, adult health division, Idaho Department of Health, Boise, made the statement during a panel discussion of the need for home nursing care in the community Wednesday night at CSI.

In the eight-county Magic Valley area an estimated 708 persons in this age bracket could be expected to use home nursing service, Mrs. Meinkheim said.

She said Idaho has eight home care agencies functioning and they range from part of a county to coverage of a four-county region. Two of these programs have hospitals as the administrative agency, one is administered by a nursing home and five are run by the health department.

Other participants on the panel, which was moderated by Delores Sims, nursing instructor at CSI, were Dennis Pratt, Community Action Agency director; Jack Carlton, Social Security agency manager; Dr. George E. Brown, Twin Falls physician; Robert Stradley, Kimberly, former president of the Twin Falls County Visiting Nurse Assn., which was organized here in 1964 but never functioned.

Stradley said lack of public information and medical support were responsible for the visiting nurse program not going into effect.

"The service needs to be sold on the basis of need, not economics," he said.

Carlton said this is the only area in Idaho which has no service available for home health care and the Social Security office gets at least two to three inquiries per week about such services, which are included under Medi-Care.

Pratt said need for such service also has been discussed in meetings dealing with senior citizens' problems and a meeting is planned for March 2 with the new district health unit board.

T.F. pair buys historic hotel

TWIN FALLS — While many people may feel federal employees have it pretty soft, at least one Twin Falls government worker is giving it all up for a struggle with the outside world of private enterprise.

Tim Cannon, appraiser for the U.S. Forest Service the past 14 years, and assigned to the Sawtooth National Forest office here since August, 1969, is leaving this week. He has resigned to move to California where he and his family are purchasing a historic old hotel in Calaveras County near Sacramento and San Francisco. He and his wife, Alice, their six children and numerous pets will leave immediately for their new home.

Mrs. Cannon saw the hotel advertised for sale in one of the many publications her husband subscribes to as an appraiser.

SPEAKING AT A panel on needs for home nursing care in the Twin Falls area were, from left, Delores Sims, CSI nursing instructor; Dennis Pratt, CAA director; Jack Carlton, Social Security administration; Judy Meinkheim, Boise, nursing consultant; Dr. George Brown, and Robert Stradley, Kimberly. The panel was held at CSI Wednesday night.

New snow gives good ski report

TWIN FALLS — New Snow and cooler temperatures promise some excellent skiing in ski resorts this week end around the Magic Valley area.

Sun Valley reports five inches of new snow with conditions of the past few weeks improved. Skiing is listed as excellent with overcast weather and indications of some more snow. Total depths are 66 inches at the top of Baldy Mountain, 60 at the Roundhouse and 30 on the valley. Some snow covers roads in the area.

Soldier Mountain has one inch of new snow and on Thursday afternoon reported spring ski conditions continued with good skiing and corn snow cover. The road is bare and unless more snow falls chains or snowtires will not be required. Total depths still range from 45 inches at the bottom to 70 on top of the ski runs.

Pomerello received the greatest amount of new snow with seven inches during the week and excellent skiing. Snow depths there range from four feet to five and one half feet. All major runs are packed. The area is operating six days per week, closed on Mondays, and will have special ski school programs beginning both Saturday and Sunday for three-week periods. Roads are good but snow tires are always recommended. Weather was reported good Thursday.

Magic Mountain reports four inches of new snow and excellent skiing with all three lifts including the new double chair in operation Thursday through Sunday. The second session Junior ski school continues Saturday and buses for all skiers leave Lynwood Shopping Center at 9 a.m. Saturday. The road is good although rough in the upper canyon. Snow tires are recommended.

Rotarun reports three inches of new snow on a 30-inch packed base. Roads are snow covered in areas and weather is good. The area operates weekends for regular skiing and Tuesdays and Thursdays for night skiing.

Others selected are Larry Burley, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Vinyard, Medford, Ore., an organist, and Kristen Guentz, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald V. Guentz, Nampa, a pianist.

Vinyard is a student at Northwest Nazarene College and Miss Guentz is a senior at the College of Idaho.

Besides being selected as the vocalist to represent Idaho, Miss Guyer received a recommendation for the biennial student award, the Irene S. Muler Scholarship in Voice.

Burley DOES set March meeting

BURLEY — The next meeting of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Does of Burley will be held at 8 p.m. March 1 at the lodge hall.

Orientations held by T.F. Jay-C-Ettes

TWIN FALLS — Two orientations on the responsibilities of being a chairman and on parliamentary procedure were given Tuesday night at the meeting of the Twin Falls Jay-C-Ettes.

The first was given by Mrs. Tom Tinker, Mrs. Tom Hundhausen and Mrs. Tom Wojcik, and Mrs. Dick Waldram gave the other.

Joining the Jay-C-Ettes Tuesday night were Karen Hardy and Mary Lynn Culp.

It was reported 16 books have been collected thus far in the group's Gold Strike Stamp campaign. The stamps will be used to purchase a movie projector for the Mountain View Convalescent Center. The Jay-C-Ettes have set a goal of 200 books and collection boxes are available in stores for public donations.

Winners of the Jay-C-Ettes' drug abuse poster contest also were announced at the meeting and the winners, Kathy Walker, Martin Florence and Doug Larsen, were given their awards at the meeting. Mrs. Stanley Earl, who was chairman of the contest, was chosen Jay-C-Elite of the month.

Waste problem

NEW YORK (UPI)—Environmental problems for the nation's supermarkets are reaching the point where they represent significant dollar loss, reports "Chain Store Age."

The food publication said the chain's problems fall in three main categories: Problems having to do with the disposal of store wastes, those associated with products the store sells, and, most serious, problems having to do with packaging wastes, such as cans and non-returnable bottles.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I called a girl for a date and she accepted. I made dinner reservations at a high-class club that features soft lights, music and dancing. I told this girl where we were going and I also told her I was wearing a black pin-stripe suit with light blue shirt and matching tie and handkerchief so she should dress accordingly.

She lives way out in the opposite direction from where we were going so I sent a taxi to her house to pick her up. When she showed up at my place she was wearing pants, sneakers and a hippie jacket with "peace and love" all over it. I know this girl can dress nicely because I've seen her in nice clothes.

I told her I was sorry but I couldn't take her to the place where I had reservations because they wouldn't let us in the place with her dressed like that. I paid her taxi fare home, and with the time flying I quickly asked a girl in my apartment if she wanted to go out for dinner. She jumped at the chance, dressed up like a lady, and we had a wonderful evening.

My question: Was I wrong to have sent the first girl home? I don't think so, but some other people think I was.

ME

DEAR ME: Since "WHERE" you went was obviously much more important to you than "WITH WHOM" you went, you weren't wrong.

DEAR ABBY: About 15 months ago my husband passed away and I sold one of his suits (almost new) to one of the neighbors for $10.

Just the other day, this neighbor called me and asked me to take the suit back and give her the $10 back. So I did. She is supposed to be one of my best friends. This upset my whole family. What is your opinion about this?

DISCOURAGED

DEAR DISCOURAGED: I think your friend must have been desperately in need of $10.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the Indiana Mother whose child had a speech defect and was teased by the other children. You recommended a speech therapist.

No therapist works "miracles" in a short time. We started taking our child to speech therapists when he was three years old. Seven years later, he still needs coaching. Handicapped children suffer more from unkind treatment from their peers (and often from adults) than they do from a speech defect.

Despite therapy and daily coaching at home, our son is still taunted by children. And I've actually seen another mother laugh and encourage her own child to call my son names!

WISCONSIN MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: The mother you referred to in your letter needs more help than a handicapped child.

DEAR ABBY: If women's liberation achieves just one goal I shall forget all the others. And that is the relief from the stigma of the frequently awarded and phony label "ladies." Particularly when it adorns the cubicle next to the one marked "Men," and where "ladyship" has no standing.

R. L. GREENE

DEAR MR. GREENE: True, but while all ladies are women, not all women are ladies. If you want to get technical. Now, how about those cubicles marked "Gentlemen," which are constantly used by men who don't qualify as "gentlemen?" Would you settle for "His and Hers?"

$350 presented to college

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls Junior Club have presented the College of Southern Idaho Library with a check for $350 to cover the purchase of additional films and other educational material on drug use.

The funds will be used to expand the drug use and drug abuse material available through the library to college students, other schools and interested groups or individuals.

Dr. Terry Smith of the college said the material in the library is available for general use at no charge. Numerous 16

Wendell PTA plans spring kindergarten

WENDELL — Mrs. Bill Grout, president of the Hub City PTA, announced today the PTA will sponsor a kindergarten for all prospective first graders of the Wendell school from March 8 through April 30.

Mrs. Grout said an organizational meeting will be held at 8 p.m. March 2 at the elementary school. Parents who have children qualified to attend may pay registration fees at this time. Fees have been tentatively set at $25 for the eight-week course.

Arlin Daniels, elementary principal, said according to a survey conducted by Wendell schools there are about 60 children in the district who are qualified to attend first grade starting with the fall, 1971, semester. Children must be six years of age by Oct. 15, 1971, to attend school this fall.

Mrs. Jack Goetner has been hired to teach the classes. Mrs. Grout said there probably will be two sessions a day, from 8:30 to 11 a.m. and 12:30 to 3 p.m. Kindergarten students can ride the bus one-way each day.

BURLEY — New officers of Canton No. 19 and Ladies Auxiliary Patriots Militant announced today include Francis Fenstermaker, captain of Canton, and Mrs. Velma Fenton, president of Patriots Militant.

Other Canton officers are Robert Nelson, lieutenant; Ed Giorfold, ensign; Ted Arbogast, clerk, and LeRoy Fenton, accountant.

The next regular meeting will be at 8 p.m. Monday at the Burley JOOF lodge.

Interest drop aids bond sale

TWIN FALLS — Recent changes in the money market which have dropped interest rates considerably allowed the Twin Falls Housing Authority to sell $491,000 in short term notes at an interest rate of 2.25 per cent, according to Larry Harper, housing authority manager.

The notes will provide interim financing for a major remodeling and construction project in Twin Falls low-income housing, including construction of 32 new units at Terry Addition off Heyburn Avenue East.

The First National Bank of Boston was the successful bidder when bids were opened earlier this week. Four other bids ran up to 2.50 per cent interest — still a remarkable lowering of interest rates, Harper said.

By contrast, the Twin Falls Housing Authority sold similar bonds for the Jerome low-income housing project about six months ago for 4.82 per cent interest — the lowest available at that time.

The $491,000 issue carries only a six-month expiration date, running from March to September. Housing authority legal counsel in Seattle has advised that a bond sale be attempted in mid-summer, if interest rates are suitable, Harper said. The short-term financing allows the housing authority to wait on selling 40-year bonds until a lower interest level is reached. No bonds have been sold for housing issues for at least two years.

Should the bond issue not be realized by September, another short-term issue will be sold, Harper said.

The Twin Falls Housing Authority operates 196 units of low-income housing in Twin Falls and 50 in Jerome under an administrative agreement to reduce costs of operation, Harper said.

Many of the Twin Falls housing units are being remodeled and upgraded, and the 32 new units are being built as a part of the same project. The new housing should be complete within 60 days, depending somewhat on the weather to complete roofing, Harper said. Much of the remodeling work has been completed this winter.

Officer assigned T.F. duty

BOISE — Cpl. Bob E. Wright, Cour d'Alene, will be promoted to sergeant in the Idaho State Police and assigned to District 4 at Twin Falls April 1, Supt. L. Clark Hand said today.

Wright, a 12-year veteran with the state police, will replace Capt. Calvin Bernard at Twin Falls. Bernard has been named acting captain of District 3, Boise, and will assume his new duties March 1.

Wright attended high school at Ernest and is a graduate of several police training schools, including law enforcement academies at Idaho State University, Pocatello, and North Idaho Junior College, Cour d'Alene.

Robbery case under advisement

TWIN FALLS — The case of Billy D. Mitchell, charged with armed robbery, was taken under advisement Thursday by Judge Daniel Mechi following a preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court.

Mitchell is charged with the robbery of the Seven-Eleven store at Filer Avenue and Washington Street on Jan. 12.

The judge asked that briefs be filed by attorneys on several specific matters of constitutionality.

The defendant is charged with taking $118 from Robert Ostrander, the clerk on duty at the store. Mitchell remained in custody pending further court action.

Utah man said next NASA head

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. James C. Fletcher, president of the University of Utah, is in line to head the U.S. space program during its transition from manned moon missions to unmanned exploration and development of orbiting laboratories.

Informed sources indicated Thursday that President Nixon is preparing to make an announcement soon of Fletcher's appointment to head the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Considered an expert in civilian and military space research, Fletcher would succeed George M. Low who has held the $42,500 post since September.

Winter tracks

RESIDENTS of Twin Falls tramping through this morning's snow left these tracks along a slippery sidewalk near the downtown area.

Gem chess title play opens in T.F. Saturday

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho chess title will be decided in Twin Falls at a two-day state chess championship tournament this weekend.

T.C. Hartwell, tournament director, said the Twin Falls

Chess Club will sponsor the tournament on Saturday and Sunday at the YWCA-YMCA on Elizabeth Boulevard. The tournament, open to Idaho chess players only, will be rated nationally by the U.S. Chess Federation. All players, new and old, will receive a national chess rating by competing.

Entrants must hold membership in the U.S. Chess Federation, and must pay a local entrance fee, Hartwell said. Play will start at 10 a.m. Saturday, with registration at 9 a.m. Three rounds of play are scheduled on Saturday, and two on Sunday.

The defending state champion is Rex Wilcox of Pocatello. Entrants are expected from Boise, Pocatello, Nampa, Caldwell, Idaho Falls and other Idaho communities.

All interested chess players are welcome to attend, Hartwell said.

Aerospace effects reviewed

TWIN FALLS — The effect of aerospace on today's education was discussed Thursday evening during a workshop through the Idaho State University program of continuing education.

Guest speaker at the workshop, held at the College of Southern Idaho, was Max Ogle, director of aerospace education for the Rocky Mountain Region's CAP liaison office, Denver.

Ogle told those attending the workshop that aerospace affects two fields of education mostly — science and mathematics. He said it is not necessary to have students today follow some aspect of the aerospace industry, but rather make them aware of it so they can be better citizens.

Ogle also outlined some of the progress made in the past 30 years in the aerospace industry as well as gave some opinions of researchers on the future in the aerospace field.

Informed sources indicated Thursday that President Nixon is preparing to make an announcement soon of Fletcher's appointment to head the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Considered an expert in civilian and military space research, Fletcher would succeed George M. Low who has held the $42,500 post since September.

Project attacked

BOISE (UPI) — Environmentalists attacked the Swan Falls-Guffey proposed hydroelectric project in testimony Thursday night before a legislative hearing.

The project is being supported by the Idaho Water Resource Board and the Idaho Power Company in a state agency-private corporation joint venture which envisions a high power dam at Swan Falls and a lower re-regulating dam at Guffey Butte on the Snake River near Grandview.

Gerald Jayne, Idaho Falls, and H. Tom Davis, Boise, criticized the proposal as representatives of the Idaho Environmental Council. Both criticized the water resources board for refusing to consider inclusion of the entire Salmon River in a wild and scenic rivers program before completion of a comprehensive state water plan due in 1980, while at the same time being ready to "plunge into building another dam on the river" without waiting for the same plan. The project was supported by John R. Woodworth, director of the Idaho Fish and Game Commission; Jack Barlett of the Idaho Reclamation Assn.; Alvin Benson, Southwest Idaho Development Assn., and engineer Earl Reynolds.

African ministry talk topic

Consider the maker. Hiram Walker stands for a 113-year whiskey-making tradition.

Get it straight. This true bourbon is a straight bourbon. Check the age. Ten High is aged for at least four years. Sip and learn. Slow and easy. Here's the moment of recognition for any bourbon... the moment of appreciation for Ten High.

Sugar Act renewal planned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer resistance, fading agricultural political muscle and ever-increasing consumption will figure in attempts to renew the Sugar Act which provides rich subsidies to American producers and rich markets for about 30 sugar-producing countries.

At the end of 1970, the price of Caribbean sugar for U. S. consumption was about $8.02 for 100 pounds, but the price of Caribbean sugar for the world market was only $4.68 per 100 pounds.

At that premium price, the United States is certainly guaranteed a supply. At that price, it is clear the American consumer is taking his lumps.

But on the world market, conditions can be turbulent. For example, in 1962, a time when Cuba's production plummeted and Europe had a poor beef crop, prices soared from under $3 per 100 pounds to $12.60 during a single season, only to plunge again to less than $3 in the next season due to surpluses.

The Agriculture Committee of the House of Representatives began preliminary discussions Thursday on legislation to renew the act, which expires this year. Imports of sugar have been regulated by the United States since the time of George Washington. At that time, regulations were designed to produce revenue. Now, the law produces revenue which is paid out to domestic sugar growers in the form of subsidies. But the main purpose of the law, its backers contend, is that it provides an assured supply at reasonable prices.

previous Congress which fixed a limit on the amount of payments that farmers could receive from a variety of farm programs. Sugar at that time was not at stake, but some of the biggest recipients of federal payments are sugar producers, especially in Hawaii and Louisiana.

The Agriculture Committee in the House of Representatives is preparing to make a fight to save the subsidies for domestic sugar growers. Committee chairman W.R. Pogue of Texas invited Hawaii Rep. Spark M. Matsunaga to join the committee, thus showing up support for the legislation. Matsunaga will retain his seat on the important Rules Committee, which is unusual.

Agriculture Department officials call the act the most important farm legislation this year. Its cost is sure to be attacked. One defense, or dispute, however, is that the tax on sugar imports produces slightly more revenue than the payments to farmers require. Should the Sugar Act expire, the repercussions would be felt broadly in the Tropics.

By ROBERT VANAUDELN Times-News Staff Writer
TWIN FALLS — "At one time farming consisted of '40 acres and a mule,' and a man did well if he was able to feed himself and his family.
In 1971, the story is far different. Farming is a business and agriculture is a highly advanced industry employing the best brains among many disciplines.
A successful career in agriculture must start at an early age. That is why there are such organizations as the Future Farmers of America which will be observing FFA Week Saturday through Feb. 27. The theme of FFA Week this year is "Involved in America's Future." No theme could be more appropriate. Nothing is more closely involved with the future of the United States than the raising of the food and fiber for more than 200 million people.
Some facts in connection with commemoration of FFA Week have been released by the National Future Farmer, a publication of the FFA. The FFA is a national organization of 450,000 students studying vocational agriculture in 9,000 public schools.
The foundation upon which it is built includes leadership, community service, scholarship, improved agriculture, citizenship and patriotism. Young people in local FFA chapters are developing into the agricultural leaders of tomorrow.

Those engaged in agriculture are a declining percentage of the total population of the country. As the numbers of farmers shrink, the responsibilities of each agricultural producer become heavier.
Today, on the average, every farmer feeds nearly 50 other people. Tomorrow, this figure will increase and the need for agricultural leadership and ability will grow.
The FFA is to be commended for preparing young people for careers in the most fundamental of all enterprises — bringing forth the bounty of the land to supply the growing needs of our nation and the world.

Long extension
BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — A district court judge who was called to help clear a crowded court docket 10 years ago retired after extending his temporary duty until 1970. District Court Judge C. A. Barnett was assigned to the temporary duty by the Louisiana Supreme Court in 1960.

Lambs down
BOISE — The Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service reported today that Idaho had the smallest lamb crop on record during 1970.
There were 609,000 lambs born during the year — down 46,000 from 1969. This decrease was due to seven per cent fewer breeding ewes 1 year old or older on Jan. 1, 1970, than the previous Jan. 1.

Problems with your irrigation ditches? CONSIDER THE ADVANTAGES OF INSTALLING TEX-FLOW GATED ALUMINUM PIPE

Convert from this... to this for greater all-around efficiency

Erosion, weed control, loss of water through seepage and evaporation, extra labor, wasted crop land and interference with field operations are all recognized problems associated with an open ditch irrigation system.

Lightweight aluminum pipe equipped with quick-coupling, self-sealing couplings and adjustable gates not only solves those problems, but also offers many other advantages. Here's what happens when you install Tex-Flow gated pipe:

- Seepage and evaporation losses are reduced or eliminated.
- Crops can be produced on land that otherwise would be required for ditches.
- Turn rows can be kept smooth, thus reducing danger of damage to equipment during cultivation and harvesting.
- Since pipe does not need to follow the ditch level contour, most point rows are eliminated.
- Because pipe can easily be moved, there is a minimum of obstruction to tillage and harvesting operations.
- Corrugations do not need to be shoveled open.
- Check dams and siphon tubes are eliminated.
- Water can be carried over hills and under depressions to serve areas which would be difficult or impossible to reach with ditches.
- Water can be closely controlled because the gates are adjustable.
- Weed problems associated with open ditches are eliminated.
- Pipe can easily be moved from one field to another.

SCATTERED across hillside at Landing Zone Kilo near Khe Sanh are South Vietnamese troops waiting for airlift into Laos aboard U.S. Army helicopters. (UPI)

Idaho chopper pilot saves wounded fliers

KHE SANH, South Vietnam (UPI)—For the second time in eight days Thursday, former rodeo clown Gerald Green landed his helicopter gunship in Laos amid a hail of fire and soared away with two pilots clinging to the crafts rocket pods.

Green, 21, of Challis, Idaho, now a U.S. Army Warrant officer, pilots an AH1 Cobra. His co-pilot-gunner is 1st Lt. David Holman, 23, of Columbia, Tenn.

Thursday, the two were flying over Laos when their wingman was shot down by AK47 rifle and .51 caliber machine gun fire. The Cobra crashed into a hillside. Both crewmen were wounded.

"I hovered above him," Green said, "shooting my rockets. My front seat was shooting the minigun."

"We were taking so damn much fire we thought we were going to be wiped out of the sky."

"I tried to land but the elephant grass was too thick and we were taking 360 degree (all sides) fire, AK and .51 caliber."

"Finally, the two pilots got out of their snake (pilots' slang for a Cobra gunship) but we ran out of ammunition."

"We got down but we just had to sit there and wait for them to get on our pods," Green said.

Holman said, "I thought there might be four people down there instead of two."

Green said North Vietnamese soldiers were firing at his helicopter from as close as 25 feet, adding, "I don't know how they missed."

He said he had his M16 rifle at hand, and was getting ready to jump out of his Cobra.

When the wounded men managed to climb onto the rocket pods, Green took off. "We took only a few grazes," he said.

"As soon as we lifted off they (the North Vietnamese) were running all over the area and were climbing on the (downed) helicopter."

Eight days earlier, Green landed his helicopter to rescue the crew of another downed Cobra, which had gone to the aid of a UH1 Huey, shot down earlier. Another helicopter rescued the injured crew of the Huey and the uninjured Cobra pilots climbed onto Green's rocket pods, firing their M16 rifles at the North Vietnamese as Green hauled them to safety.

"We took four hits that time," Green said.

Land bank interest rate cut

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI)—The Federal Land Bank of Spokane has dropped its interest rate three-quarters of one per cent.

The bank, one of the area's largest financial institutions, Wednesday lowered its interest rate from 8.5 to 7.75 per cent.

President Fred A. Knutsen said the new rate will become effective March 1.

The bank, which serves farmers in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and Alaska, has about 26,000 customers and a loan volume of more than $630 million.

Help wanted

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—There is reportedly a shortage of school teachers in Southern California—The Los Angeles Board of Education is having to turn outside the state for new instructors.

"We need qualified and experienced teachers willing to work in the inner city schools," said Allen Sebastian, assistant superintendent for personnel. "These largely are needed in the upper elementary grades."

McGovern flays Asian air war

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., accused President Nixon today of "flirting with World War III in Asia" by his air war policy.

McGovern, already an announced presidential candidate for 1972, took strong issue with Nixon's assertion at a news conference Wednesday that he would not limit use of American air power in Southeast Asia while also refusing to rule out the possibility of a South Vietnamese invasion of the North.

Sat McGovern: "I think he's given up on a political decision. He's flirting with World War III in Asia."

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said, "It appears the President intends to do whatever he wants to in Southeast Asia and there is little we can do about it."

Nixon said the South Vietnamese forces were successfully shouldering their share of the fighting to the extent that U.S. troop withdrawals may be accelerated, with Hanoi winding up having to deal with Saigon at the peace table.

House approves funds transfer

BOISE (UPI)—Despite contentions it is building up pressure for a tax increase next year, the House Thursday approved, 63-3, a bill to transfer $1 million from the Social Security trust fund to the general fund.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus asked for the bill which he needs to help balance his proposed $128.1 million general fund budget for the next fiscal year.

Rep. Allan F. Larsen, R-Blackfoot, chairman of the Revenue and Taxation Committee, said the money is the result of surplus funds that built up in the trust fund over a period of six or seven years.

He said it was discovered during an audit of the state auditor's office by the legislative auditor, James A. Dofenbach.

Rep. Edward Williams, D-Lewiston, who also favored the bill, said the auditor's office reported the surplus in a biennial report prior to the time the legislative auditor was hired.

"Apparently we aren't reading this biennial report," Williams said.

He disagreed with the legislative auditor that the money which built up in surplus was transferred from the general fund and the sales tax.

He said it came from an ad valorem tax imposed at the local level.

Rep. Paul Worthen, R-Boise, opposed the measure on grounds it puts more pressure on for a tax increase next year. He said the money will be spent on recurring projects but won't be available when they must be funded again a year hence.

"It is time we recognize this procedure is a deferral of taxes for one year only," Worthen said.

"Every one of these are pressure builders and when the lid blows off the pressure cooker every one of you is going to feel the blast."

Reps. Carroll Dean, R-Notus, and John Edwards, R-Council, also voted against the bill.

Medical agency appoints chief

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The Intermountain Regional Medical Program (IRMP) announced the appointment of Dr. Robert M. Satovick, Salt Lake City, as coordinator for the association.

Dr. Satovick succeeds Dr. D. Milmon Castle, who recently accepted the position of head of the Department of Community and Family Medicine at the University of Utah College of Medicine.

The IRMP serves intermountain doctors, nurses and other health personnel by transmitting current medical knowledge and methods through existing health organizations in Utah, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Colorado and Wyoming.

Satovick, a University of Utah Medical School graduate in 1962, will retain current position as executive medical director of the IRMP Corevascular Disease Project.

Stock sale approved

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Public Utilities Commission has authorized Utah Power and Light Co. to sell 620,000 shares of cumulative preferred stock.

The PUC also authorized the company to deliver a 19th supplemental indenture and gave the company power to sell the bonds if two or more bids are received for purchase.

Kindergarten proposals before Senate panel

BOISE (UPI) — Members of the Senate Health, Education and Welfare committee planned to return to the 30th legislative day early today to discuss two kindergarten proposals.

One of the measures — the administration bill — would create a special fund to finance the kindergartens while the other would allow school district boards of trustees to levy a special tax to support the pre-school program.

Both bills would have the program on a voluntary basis for child participation.

On Thursday, the Senate killed, 15-20, a bill which would have taken $1,572,328 from the permanent building fund to help finance the 1972 general fund budget.

It was the second of the revenue proposals made by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus to meet defeat. Earlier, the House killed a $2.3 million proposal which would have limited to 15 instead of 20 per cent the portion of sales tax to go to the counties to replace the lost inventory tax moneys.

Floor sponsor Sen. James Stolchoff, D-Sandpoint, said the governor wanted top priority to go to "people" services and urged his colleagues to "choose people in this conflict between people and mortar."

But opponents spoke out against taking from the fund to "create an accelerated rate of spending and warned such a move might mean a tax increase in the future.

In the House, attorney Robert Green, Boise, speaking for a bottling company, told the House Revenue and Taxation Committee a proposed tax on non-returnable beer and pop bottles will make "every merchandiser a junk collector."

Green, opposing the proposal to put a one-cent tax on each non-returnable container which holds seven fluid ounces, said the tax was an "unfair one" which would require beer and soft drinkers to solve pollution problems.

In other legislative action during the day:

— The Senate State Affairs Committee introduced two redistricting proposals, each of which would place an Ada County legislative district and the whole of Elmore County into the second legislative district.

— Sen. Margaret Manley, D-Coeur d'Alene, successfully sponsored legislation to change the name of North Idaho Junior College to North Idaho College. The measure now goes to the House.

— The House approved, 46-6, a bill which would allow minors 14 years of age or older to see medical treatment for communicable diseases without notification of their parents.

— And the House killed, 26-31, without opposition a measure which would allow musicians and singers as young as 18 to entertain in establishments serving liquor.

Milk production skid continues

By CHARLOTTE BELL, Times-News Correspondent
JEROME — Milk production has been decreasing since 1964 and there appears to be no change in the trend, Burdette L. Fisher, Los Angeles, general manager of Challenge Cream and Butter Assn. said here Thursday.

He was principal speaker at the 56th annual membership meeting of the Ida Gem Dairymen, Inc., attended by nearly 200 members. Fisher, who assumed his post recently, said total milk production by the association has decreased from 127 billion pounds in 1964-65 to 115 billion this past year.

This results from fewer farms, he said, and the fact the small farmer with less than a dozen cows no longer can afford to keep them "except as a hobby."

He said plans are being made by the Challenge association to form a centralized milking organization to attempt to increase prices and cut expenses.

Fisher said he has instigated an organizational study of the personnel throughout the Challenge association system in an effort to obtain more efficient operation.

Robert Burks, Wendell, is re-elected president, with Jack Nelson, Jerome, named vice president, and Lyons Smith, Jerome, secretary-treasurer. Directors elected include Bur-

Brother quells clothing blaze

BURLEY — David Jarolimek, 22, was reported in good condition today at Cassia Memorial Hospital with first and second degree burns and his mother credits his younger brother with saving him from more serious injury.

Mrs. LeRoy Jarolimek said her younger son, Terry Jarolimek, 16, threw himself on David when the latter's clothes caught fire after gas ignited in a truck at the family farm southwest of town Tuesday.

David was pouring gas into the carburetor of the truck when the engine backfired and a

CAA elects Slotten head

BURLEY — Royal Slotten, an Idaho Employment Security Agency counselor in Twin Falls, was named president of the board of directors of the Youth-Central Community Action Agency at an organizational meeting Thursday night at Burley High School.

Slotten will succeed R.J. Reichard of Jerome as board president.

Harold Blauer, superintendent of schools for the Cassia County district, was named vice president of the CAA board, and Mrs. Helen Carter, Twin Falls, was elected secretary-treasurer.

The CAA board members initiated discussions of needed self-help projects for low-income and minority groups in the three counties served by the tri-county CAA — Jerome, Cassia and Twin Falls. The CAA sponsors and operates a number of programs, including Head Start, Day Care centers and similar efforts.

The federal Department of Housing, Education and Welfare, which funds the CAA, requires submission of detailed planning by May 1 of each year, in order to determine funding and other needs for the next fiscal year. Mrs. Carter said today.

The next planning session was scheduled for next Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Episcopal Church of the Ascension in Twin Falls.

Officials report in closed meet

TWIN FALLS — A six-member evaluation team from the Seattle regional office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare completed an intensive evaluation of the Head Start program today with a secret report to officials of the sponsoring Community Action Agency.

The Seattle HEW officials spent three days interviewing Bay-Cage Center directors and teachers, Head Start instructors and CAA officials to determine the effectiveness of the tri-county Head Start program.

Their final report will be presented at a later date.

News media were excluded from a preliminary report session, known as an "exit interview," today at the CAA offices in Twin Falls. No reason was given for the closed session.

Idaho PUC sets Burley hearings

BURLEY — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission will consider a large number of motor carrier applications and permit changes during a three-day series of hearings in March at the Ponderosa Inn, Burley.

The hearings are scheduled March 15 through March 17 at the Pro Shop in the Ponderosa, according to a PUC news release.

The first hearing will begin at 1:30 p.m. on March 15. Cases to be heard include petitions from Leon Carson Harper, doing business as E and L Trucking, Burley, for a motor common carrier permit to transport agricultural products; Twin Falls Armored Car, Inc., Twin Falls, permit to transport items of "high and unusual value" over regular routes within Twin Falls County, and Norman A.

McCoy, Twin Falls, application for authority to transport farm commodities over irregular routes.

The Twin Falls Armored Car firm has been operating under a temporary permit, transporting currency, checks and other valuable items between merchants and banks for several months. Their application is a routine matter under which a permanent certificate will be granted, according to Tom Majora, operator of the armored car service.

The PUC will meet again at 9 a.m. March 16 for two hearings: Dee Collins Trucking, Wendell, who is seeking authority to transport agricultural products within a 150-mile radius of Wendell, and to transport seed potatoes from Eastern Idaho to Wendell during the months of March and June; and Robert V. Hall, doing business as H and W Trailer Sales, Burley, seeking to transfer a common carrier permit to transport house trailers.

At 11 a.m. March 16, the PUC will hear a petition from Flying "W" Transportation, Twin Falls, seeking authority to transport gravel, sand and rock over irregular points throughout Idaho.

At 1:30 p.m. March 16, the PUC has scheduled the application of Charles S. Crumrine, Hazelton, seeking to transfer a common carrier permit to Hensley Trucking of Hazelton. The permit allows transportation of "general commodities, except household goods, explosives and bulk petroleum products," over irregular routes within 50 miles of Hazelton.

The PUC schedule for the Burley hearings also includes consideration of an application from William E. Goodman, doing business as Miller Brothers Truck Line, Salmon, to transfer a common carrier permit to transport general commodities and agricultural commodities. This hearing is set for 3 p.m. on March 16.

On March 17, two cases will be heard at 9 a.m. They include applications from J.S. Townsend Jr. and Theodore Wren, doing business as T and W Trucking, Aberdeen, to amend a common carrier permit, and Martin Klutridge, Twin Falls, to obtain a permit to transport sand and gravel.

At 1 p.m. on March 17, the PUC will hear a petition from Claude York, doing business as York Trucking, Hazelton, to transfer a common carrier permit to Perkins Trucking of Hazelton. The permit allows transportation of agricultural products, livestock, sacked cement and concrete pipe as well as other products in a varied area.

A number of complaint hearings, charging failure to file the proper tariffs with the PUC or failure to maintain the proper insurance, are set for March 17 at the Ponderosa.

The defendants, whose addresses were not listed by the PUC, include Jerry Haines, to appear at 10 a.m.; Blaine Larsen, 10:15 a.m.; Titus, Inc., 10:30 a.m.; Robert I. Perry, 11 a.m.; Gate City Armored Car, Inc., and Armored Services, Inc., 11:15 a.m.; Carl David Heaton, 11:30 a.m.; E. Ramos Herrera, 1:30 p.m.; Delbert Welch and son, 1:45 p.m.; Edwin M. Smith and sons, 2 p.m.; Vincent J. Miera, 2:15 p.m.; Howell Transit Co., 2:30 p.m.; and Gerald K. Ball, 3 p.m.

Washout reopened

SHOSHONE — Temporary closure of Idaho Highway 25 between Wendell and Jerome occurred this morning when two trucks became stuck on a detour where Interstate 80 is under construction, made muddy by Thursday night's rain.

The detour was made because construction crews were installing a new culvert in the interstate roadbed, Idaho Highway Department officials here said. Additional gravel was hauled to the site and the route re-opened after 30 minutes.

New Mexico State ends Idaho State minidome win streak by 80-71

POCATELLO (UPI) — New Mexico State's awesome Aggies overpowered Idaho State University, 80-71, Thursday night in a non-conference battle at ISU's minidome.

The victory enhanced coach Lou Henson's bid for the NCAA post-season, tourney spot and upped the Aggies record to 18-5. The Bengals, taking an eight-game minidome string into their final home game, saw their overall mark drop to 9-11.

The contest saw each team exchange leads during the early moments, but the Aggies raced to a 40-33 lead at intermission, and then never relinquished the lead.

The visitors lead in the second half, varied between five and ten points, but they never found themselves with a comfortable margin until the final two minutes.

A balanced scoring attack and rebounding strength offset any performance which the Bengal's Willie Humes could muster. Humes, averaging 33.3 points per game entering the contest, led all scorers with 29 points, but five Aggies hit in the double figures to offset his performance.

Harry Ward, a 6-foot-6 sophomore forward pulled down 24 rebounds and hit for 16 points. Teammate Bill Moore added 16 for the Aggies, while Chito Reyes added 14 counters. Alex Scott and Roy Seale each hit for 12 points each.

Buchanan to receive Neil boxing trophy

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lightweight champion Ken Buchanan of Scotland, beat Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier Thursday to become the fourth foreign Frazier, who gained undisputed recognition as heavyweight champion by stopping Jimmy Ellis and defended the title with a knockout against Bob Foster, was second in the balloting, and Ali, who made a successful comeback with key victories over Jerry Quarry and Oscar Bonavena after a 3 1/2-year layoff, was third. Other nominees included middleweight champion Carlos Monzon of Argentina, welterweight champion Billy Backus, and unbeaten heavyweight George Foreman.

T.F. leads MV men in mat meet

BOISE — The Twin Falls Bruins had four individual winners and ran one point behind Snake River, 7-6, at the end of the first session of the state Class A wrestling tournament Thursday night.

The Bruin showing was the best made by Magic Valley grapplers although Declo ended the first day in a tie with four other teams with four points in the Class B division.

He also had four other fights, losing a disputed decision to Miguel Velasquez of Spain and beating Leonard Tavaraz, Chris Fernandez and Brian Hudson for the British lightweight championship.

CSI still could get regional

The site of the region 18 junior college basketball tournament still could be at College of Southern Idaho if Treasure Valley Community College upsets North Idaho at Coeur d'Alene next weekend.

The site, now slated for North Idaho, is contingent on the host team making the playoffs. Currently Treasure Valley and North Idaho are tied in the new conference of Idaho and Oregon schools. Each team must play Blue Mountain of Pendleton in conference games but neither is expected to have any trouble along that line.

Weber breaks Idaho stall for 65-41 win

OGDEN (UPI) — Idaho brought the stall to Weber State Thursday night, but it backfired on the Vandals when the Wildcats outscored them, 41-17, in the second half to win going away, 65-41.

Fordham scuttles Notre Dame

NEW YORK (UPI) — Inspired Fordham, refusing to fold when star Charlie Yelverton fouled out with 6:55 remaining, rolled on the clutch shooting of Bill Minor to stun Notre Dame 94-88 Thursday night before a sellout crowd of 10,500 in the second game of a college basketball doubleheader.

In the first stanza, Idaho made its ball control game work as the game was tied four times and the lead changed hands on eight different occasions, but Weber came out pressing after the intermission to force Idaho to give up its stall at the 7:00 mark when coach Phil Johnson's crew started to pull away.

Croquet heads area landowner-sportsmen.

The group urged moving up action on "Operation Respect" on all fronts and going more deeply into educating fishermen which are causing many of the same problems.

The Vandals had just five points for the entire half at the time they quit the stall. Weber now stands 9-2 in Big Sky play and 17-5 overall while Idaho sunk to the middle of the conference pack at 5-5 and 11-10 overall. The Wildcat's next outing is Saturday in Ogden against Gonzaga.

CSI uses zone defense to topple Snow by 66-56

EPHRAIM, Utah — The nation's No. 1 ranked junior college team, College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles, turned to a zone defense for the first time in the school's history and a conservative offense Thursday night to defeat the Snow College Badgers 66-56.

The victory, CSI's 27th against one defeat, kept the Eagles undefeated in the Intermountain Collegiate Athletic Conference with only Friday night's game at Dixie College remaining. After that one, the Eagles will end their season on the road at BYU and University of Utah.

Coach Jerry Hale went to the zone to protect his big men from excessive fouls and the slower than usual offense — although the Eagles took the break when it was there — generally kept play out of any turmoil.

Little Vic Kelly had another good night with his ball handling, quarterbacking and scoring as CSI never did get a real comfortable cushion. Eight points were as much as they could manage in the first half and 14 was tops for the second. However, both were short lived.

After a tight first 16 minutes with CSI generally holding the edge, the Eagles moved to eight points for the first time when Tim Bassett hit a rebound shot and Kelly got a long jumper to make it 24-16. But in the final four minutes of the half, Snow outscored the Eagles 13-9 to reduce the halftime margin to 33-29.

It stayed at a few points through the first five minutes of the second half when Kelly hit two free throws and Bassett and Palomar came up with field goals to move CSI ahead 46-35.

CSI twice had 12-point lead with 10:10 left moved ahead by 14. But Mangum, Clarence Thomas and Olmstead shot Snow back to within seven at 56-49 before Kelly hit three points and Bassett a field goal to pull the Eagles ahead by 11. From that point Snow was unable to get closer than nine, that time coming with 1:17 remaining. Thomas hit a bucket at the buzzer to establish the 10-point final margin.

Guard Steve Hegens made the trip with the Eagles but did not play. He probably will see action at Dixie Friday night.

Assessing Haywood case tops discussion at NBA's meeting

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Spencer Haywood case was the main feature of a National Basketball Association meeting Thursday that was convened to hear the legal aspects of the court situation.

George Gallant, legal counsel for the NBA, apprised the Board of Governors on the status of the Haywood lawsuit and its possible ramifications.

Commissioner Walter Kennedy disapproved Haywood's contract with the Seattle SuperSonics on Wednesday after a panel of three federal judges in San Francisco dissolved an injunction which had prevented other teams from interfering with the club's decision to play him in NBA games.

Seattle owner Sam Schulman has a March 2 date in a Los Angeles court when the validity of the contract will be tried.

The question that is uppermost in the owner's minds at the moment is where does Haywood stand in the eyes of the NBA. Does Seattle have the rights to him or is he eligible for the college draft?

Haywood was signed by the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association, as a hardship case, prior to his class's graduation. He had contract difficulties with Denver and became the first star to jump from the ABA to the NBA.

The NBA holds its college draft March 29 and it must be determined if Haywood's name can be placed in the hopper. Seattle naturally would not like to see the big center go to another club and will present a case to retain his services.

The board discussed two other matters—a possible realignment of the 17 teams and the home court advantage in this season's playoffs.

A committee consisting of Elmer Nitch of Chicago, Ned Irish of New York, Bob Breitbard of San Diego and Nick Mitchell of Cleveland was appointed to study a shuffling of the four divisions beginning with the 1972-73 season. They will report their findings at the league's annual meeting in June.

The alignment situation may be forced by power in the Midwest division and lack of balance around the league. Milwaukee, Detroit, Chicago and Phoenix, all over .500, present the most powerful array of talent grouped in one section. There is speculation that Phoenix may be moved to the Pacific Division, or one of the three other teams shifted to the Central Division.

The probability of a second place team finishing the regular season with a better percentage than the first place team of the other division in the conference presented a playoff dilemma. Normally, the team with the best won-lost record gets the home court advantage.

The governors ruled that this time the club that finishes first in each of the four divisions will have the home court advantage in the first round of the best-of-seven playoffs. In the conference finals and championship series, the club with the higher won-lost percentage during the regular season will have the advantage of a home court.

In concluding the one-day session, the NBA said the 1971-72 season will open Tuesday, Oct. 12, 1971, and close March 10, 1972.

Drug education unit named for baseball

NEW YORK (UPI)—Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced Thursday the formation of a long-term drug education and prevention program designed to prevent the spread of what he called "limited use of mild drugs in baseball."

In announcing the program, Kuhn said he had "no specific" knowledge that any players or other baseball personnel had used hard drugs like heroin but added "we have taken the stand that there is no place in baseball for such stimulants as barbiturates and amphetamines."

Kuhn said that regional seminars will be held on the subject in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., March 2, Tampa, Fla., March 3 and Phoenix, Ariz., March 18. He said the seminars will be attended by league presidents Joe Cronin and Charles Feeney, National Association president Phil Piton, minor league presidents, team physicians, players and other personnel connected with the clubs.

"While the program recommended by the physicians will emphasize education and prevention, it will also deal with disciplinary procedures felt necessary to assure its success," said Kuhn.

"There has been a limited use of mild drugs in baseball and I hope to stop it," added Kuhn. "In Los Angeles, the 24 club physicians took the stand that there is no place in baseball for pills that might stimulate a player's performance. We do not feel we now have a serious problem but we are not naive. The essential purpose is to prevent the emergency of a drug abuse problem in professional baseball."

The physicians of the 24 big league clubs met in Los Angeles, Dec. 2, and formed the "Association of Professional Baseball Physicians." Among the subjects which Kuhn said the physicians agreed to study during the year are (1) the responsibilities and limitations of club trainers' activities, (2) the use and abuse of drugs and (3) preventive medical programs for all 24 clubs.

"We think our program is well-designed," said Kuhn. "We are not naive about the threat of drugs. We have young people constantly coming into baseball and we know they may have been exposed to drugs in some cases. We, therefore, feel the need of a sound education program to prevent possible abuses."

Tiger pitcher sidelined by heart attack

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI)—Detroit Tigers pitcher John Hiller suffered a heart attack at his Duluth, Minn., home Jan. 11 but the American League club was not notified about it until this week, the Tigers announced Thursday.

He is no longer hospitalized but will be sidelined for an indefinite period, the Tigers said.

The 27-year-old veteran left-hander suffered the attack, described as a small coronary occlusion, after lighting up a cigarette without realizing that he was stricken, Hiller disclosed from his home Thursday.

"I hadn't been doing any heavy work or running or anything," he said. "I had just gotten up and was having a cup of coffee. I lit up a cigarette. It was strange—a heaviness in my chest, so I put the cigarette out." Later, after getting the same sensation when he lit another cigarette, he said he decided to stop smoking for the rest of the day.

"I was never in any great pain," Hiller said.

Williams heads Burley golfers

BURLEY—Darwin Williams was elected as president of the Burley Golf Association Tuesday night. Other officers include Kent Church, vice-president, and Nick Croft, secretary-treasurer.

Pats shift named to Bay State

BOSTON (UPI)—The board of directors of the Boston Patriots voted Thursday to change the football club's name to the Bay State Patriots.

"Because the club no longer operates in Boston and is really representative of the entire area, the board felt it should be named after the entire state," Patriots' President Bill Sullivan said.

The Patriots will play next season at a new stadium in Foxboro.

When the team joined the American Football League during its first season in 1960, the Patriots played at Boston University's field. The club later played at Fenway Park for several seasons before using Boston College's 26,000-seat Alumni Field in 1969 and Harvard Stadium last season.

The $6.2 million stadium in Foxboro—Schafer Stadium—is next to Bay State Raceway and will seat about 62,000. The Patriots announced last week they had sold a record 33,000 season tickets to date.

In other action, Sullivan was elected president for the tenth consecutive year and the directors declared the club made a profit of $500,000 last year.

Russi, Miss Proell win skiing downhill

KINGFIELD, Maine (UPI)—Switzerland's Bernhard Russi, fifth in the World Cup standings in earlier tests, won the men's Arlberg-Kandahar downhill race at Sugarloaf Mountain Thursday after the meet had been transferred from his homeland for lack of snow.

Russi grabbed the top spot in the 60-man field with a 1:31.41 timing for a narrow edge on the 1:31.85 bid by Henri Duvillard of France.

Stefano Anzi of Italy grabbed third place at 1:31.98 followed by countryman Michele Stefani at 1:32.00.

Another Swiss entry, Jean Daniel Daetwyler, was fifth at 1:32.13, followed in order by Austria's Karl Cordin at 1:32.16, Bernard Orzel of France at 1:32.23 and two more Swiss entries, Walter Tresch and Andreas Sprecher at 1:32.24 and 1:32.29 respectively.

World Cup leader, Patrick Russel of France, was well off the pace at 1:33.65.

Russi, 19th entry down the 31-gate, 2,430 foot vertical drop course, won the men's downhill after Austria's Anne Marie Proell hit her ladies' World Cup point lead to 32 by winning the ladies' downhill in 1:20.27 during a morning run.

Swan Falls dam idea blasted

BOISE (UPI)—Environmentalists attacked the Swan Falls-Guffey proposed hydroelectric project in testimony Thursday night before a legislative hearing.

The project is being supported by the Idaho Water Resource board and the Idaho Power Company in a state agency-private corporation joint venture which envisions a high power dam at Swan Falls and a lower re-regulating dam at Guffey Butte on the Snake River near Grandview.

Gerald Jayne, Idaho Falls, and H. Tom Davis, Boise, criticized the proposal as representatives of the Idaho Environmental Council.

"The course is too short. Fast, technically good, but just too short, we're used to two minute downhill courses. The bottom of the run with back to back moguls was the toughest part of the course," Russi said.

Other leaders in the men's downhill included Austria's Reinhard Tritschler in 10th place at 1:32.35 followed by teammate Karl Schranz in 1:32.44. Italy's Gustavo Thoeni was one hundredth of a second behind at 1:32.45, followed by the ranking U.S. finisher, Mike Lafferty of Eugene, Ore., in 13th place at 1:32.72. Jean Luc Pined of France was 14th at 1:32.80 and Franz Vogler of Germany 16th at 1:32.84.

There were no casualties in the men's downhill, but 15-year-old Cheryl Doughton of Calgary, Alb., suffered a broken right leg when she fell during her morning run. Her sister, Carol, finished 11th in the competition with a 1:22.75 timing.

Burley opens course with new professional

BURLEY — Earl Simpson, wife didn't like the sport), golf pro for the Burley golf course reports the course is now open on all days that weather permits play.

Simpson comes to Burley from the Gooding course where he served as golf pro during the 1970 season.

Prior to Gooding he was the assistant pro at Westland Hills Country Club, Salt Lake City.

A native of Salt Lake City, he started playing golf when he was a junior in high school. He enjoys motorcycle racing (but has given that up because his

Rain voids first round at Tucson

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI)—The Tucson National Golf Club course sank in a rainstorm Thursday—or at least it seemed that way—and the first round of the 72-hole $110,000 Tucson Open was washed out literally.

The field of 144 gets a fresh start today, weather permitting. In the first 18-hole round, will play 18 more holes on Saturday and 36 on Sunday to make up the standard 72.

About one-third of the field finished 18 holes Thursday but all scores were cancelled as is the rule with the Professional Golfers Association.

Low score among the Thursday finishers was a two-under-par 70 by Cesar-Sanudo, 26-year-old San Diego, Calif., pro, who understandably thought the course was okay.

"The fairways were pretty dry and the greens putted well. I thought," said Sanudo. He had an up-and-down round with six birds and four bogeys for 30-34.

Defending champion Lee Trevino matched par 36-36-72 and laughingly recalled how he lost his ball on the fifth green when it sank under water.

"I walked up to the green and I couldn't see the ball," said Trevino. "I thought I overshot the green. I blow it, I thought. Then my caddy found the ball under water. It was plugged into the green." Trevino three-putted that green and also three-putted four other par-five holes.

"You couldn't judge the greens because of the water," he said.

Trevino almost had a hole-in-one on the fourth, a par-three 165-yard hole when his tee shot hit the cup.

"My ball hit the cup on the fly," he said. "I used a five iron and I'm telling you it hit the cup on the fly and tore out the left side of it. The ball rattled around and wound up 15 feet away. But I sunk it for a bird."

This is the seventh event of the year on the PGA tour and drew most of the big money-winner to date except Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper.

Toh Shaw, winner of the Cynsis Clumbke and the Hawaiian Open and tops in money with $70,000, was a late scratch. He had to withdraw because of the illness of his 5-year-old son.

Album recorded by ex-Lincoln cleric

SHOSHONE — A former Shoshone Baptist Church pastor and wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Paul B. Winkler, now of Arvada, Colo., have recorded an album entitled "God Is So Wonderful," which is now offered for sale to interested persons.

While the Rev. and Mrs. Winkler were in Shoshone, Mrs. Adkins often accompanied them. Both Mr. and Mrs. Winkler are pianists and vocal soloists.

The recording was an "approved project" of the Hillcrest Baptist Church, Arvada, where the Rev. Mr. Winkler is now serving as pastor.

Other accompanists on the record are Wayne Armbruster, Arvada, on the amplified bass, and Christopher Clark, a student at Colorado State University, Ft. Collins, playing 12-string folk guitar.

The record is cut by John Law Custom Recording, a quality professional recording in a colorful jacket.

card. He could not afford the luxury of letting another heart go and had to chuck the king of spades. At that time it was a simple matter to cash one of dummy's top hearts and then throw East in with the ace of spades. Don't you consider this hand most interesting? We sure do. Mr. Pickett did overbid when he jumped to three no-trump. East's double was doubtful and it gave declarer a chance to operate. You just can't make a slam when you lose the first two tricks. West's discard of the seven of hearts was just a very careless play. He could surely have afforded one diamond and two spade discards and he should have visualized the danger in the heart suit. At that Mr. Pickett did make a tremendous play and really deserved his top score.

When, last Dec. 27, she unexpectedly called for national elections in March, her opposition cried foul again. There is no middle ground when it comes to the 53-year-old daughter of an independent India's first prime minister, Jawaharlal Nehru.

Civilian controls affirmed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird announced today that all military counter intelligence and investigative activities—including surveillance of private citizens—would henceforth be under direct civilian control.

The action was prompted primarily by reports of Army abuses related to watching and keeping records on suspected subversives and other civilians, beginning with the 1967 Detroit riots.

Laird's announcement was less sweeping than he had indicated in December that it would be. The shakeup leaves the military directly in charge of foreign intelligence.

When he ordered a review of defense intelligence gathering two months ago, he said all intelligence gathering by the Defense Department should be placed directly under civilian control.

Laird put Robert F. Froehke, assistant secretary of defense for administration, in charge of directing, managing and inspecting "military investigative and related counter intelligence activities."

Russell quits office

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Fred J. Russell has resigned as undersecretary of interior in a minor swirl of controversy.

The new interior secretary, Rogers C.B. Morton, said in a statement today: "Mr. Russell's talents as undersecretary did not coincide with the concept that I hold for the role of a subordinate secretary."

The White House confined itself to saying Russell had submitted his resignation.

One government source said Russell had been pressured to quit because of "several embarrassing decisions" made while he was acting head of the Interior Department after President Nixon's dismissal of Walter J. Hickel as secretary.

Morton said Russell's resignation was not the result of personality conflicts or policy disagreement.

Aide's probe thwarted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A former Army investigator testified today that senior military officers thwarted his efforts to investigate reports of corruption in post exchanges in South Korea that later cropped up in Vietnam, involving the same promoter.

Augustin J. Manfredi, a retired Army chief warrant officer who was an investigator for the Army's Criminal Investigations Division (CID), told a Senate investigations subcommittee the incident "was the most frustrating experience of my life."

He said he worked for two months on an investigation of business promoter William J. Crum in Korea in the late 1950s, but then was ordered to end his probe and submit a "whitewash" report.

"I have often asked myself just who was this man William Crum that he could command so much attention," Manfredi said.

Crum's name was mentioned prominently Wednesday as the subcommittee opened fresh hearings into alleged improprieties in the operation of PX's and similar facilities in Vietnam.

It was alleged in testimony by committee investigators that Crum had shifted his operations from Korea to Vietnam partially as a result of the CID investigation into his Korean activities.

Intent lacking

FT. DENNING, Ga. (UPI)—A psychiatrist insisted Thursday that Lt. William Calley Jr. had no "specific intent" to kill at My Lai, even though he gave two separate orders for a group of women, children and old men to be slaughtered.

Dr. David G. Crane of Indianapolis, Ind., a defense witness at the Calley murder court-martial, said on cross-examination, however, that "he intended the people to die—just as if he had pulled the trigger."

Calley, 27, of Miami, is charged with the premeditated murder of 102 Vietnamese civilians during an American infantry sweep of the hamlet nearly three years ago.

Crane was one of two defense psychiatrists called to show that Calley was so "psyched up" during the search-and-destroy mission that he was unable to premeditate murder. The defense has conceded that he did kill at My Lai and that he did not regard the villagers there as human beings.

Crane had testified Wednesday that Calley "lacked the mental capacity to form a specific intent to kill."

Referring to previous prosecution testimony, Capt. Aubrey M. Daniel III, the chief prosecutor, posed a hypothetical question:

"Doctor, assume that Lt. Calley told Paul Mendlo with a group of civilians to take care of these people—and then departed for a few minutes and returned and said, 'why haven't you wasted 'em yet?'"

"And Mendlo said, 'I didn't know you wanted me to,' and Calley said: 'I want them dead.'"

"Would that affect your opinion on specific intent?"

"No," Crane replied. "He did not have the ability to form specific intent. He could generally intend those people to be killed. He intended the people to die."

"It was just as if he pulled the trigger. When he gave the order, that was tantamount to pulling the trigger because there would be no question in his mind but that the order would be carried out."

Crane said Calley was not capable of a complex decision during the operation—such as would be required in determining the legality of orders to kill everything in the village.

Daniel said that if the definition of premeditation "is formulating the intent to kill someone prior to the time of carrying out the act," would he say the defendant premeditated?

"If you're talking about pulling the trigger and killing, I say yes," Crane replied. "But if you're talking about sitting down and thinking it through, I say no."

Another psychiatrist, Dr. Wilbur A. Humman of Arlington, Va., is to testify in Calley's behalf later.
