TEN CENTS

"President Barker"
SEN. JOHN BARKER, R-Boise, briefly assumed the place of Idaho Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy as presiding officer of the Idaho Senate this week when Murphy was filling in for Gov. Cecil Andrus who was attending the National Governor's Conference.

State-funded kindergartens draw 'no' votes

BOISE (Special to the Times-News) — The five Magic Valley state senators voted against the state-funded kindergarten bill which was passed in the Idaho Senate Wednesday.

Voting against the measure were Sen. John Barker, R-Boise; Don Fredericksen, D-Gooding; Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls; John Peavey, R-Rupert; and Robert Saxvik, R-Burley.

The bill was approved 10-15 after extended debate.

Senator Saxvik said he opposed the bill because it was not far reaching enough by not making the program mandatory for all school districts and all children.

Senators High, Barker and Fredericksen said they opposed the bill because there is not enough money in the general fund to support it.

teacher retirement and busing children.

He said if the measure is approved in the Idaho House it may become a 50 per cent bill in which the state would provide only about half of the needed money, forcing local districts to ante the remaining portion.

Rep. William Roberts, R-Boise, vice-chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said there is little likelihood that kindergartens will receive any money.

He said the state's income is overextended to fund existing programs without the additional needs of the kindergarten program.

The bill, which now goes to a questionable fate in the house, provides for total state funding of the program.

In the event a district does not choose to participate, its share of the kindergarten fund would be returned to the state to be distributed among districts throughout the state.

In the event that the kindergarten program's cost is not met by the legislature, the funds appropriated would be distributed to districts on a pro-rated basis.

High said the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee will not consider the kindergarten program in its budget deliberations until it is passed in the house and signed by the governor.

He said kindergarten program needs have been set aside during the session until definitive action is taken by the legislature.

Barker said the bill is unlikely to be funded at the $3.5 million level needed to support it and auxiliary services such as

Watch it, princess!

LONDON (UPI) — The driver of a taxi bumped by a car driven by Princess Anne says the 20-year-old daughter of the queen looked stony-faced and was bit shocked after the incident.

Patrick Ling, 34, said he did not know who was driving the expensive Renault Scimitar car that smashed into his taxi Wednesday morning in central London until he was told to send the bill to Buckingham Palace.

"I've been in a lot of crashes with women drivers—but this one takes the prize," he said. "I had to brake sharply to miss the car in front of me then bang—there was a helluva crash as the princess' car hopped into me."

"I'm an even-tempered bloke but I got a bit mad. We were only doing 15 miles per hour at the most. I jumped out and this bloke walked up and said: 'This is a crown querry car' and flashed a police pass."

Ling said the detective told him to send the bill to Buckingham Palace.

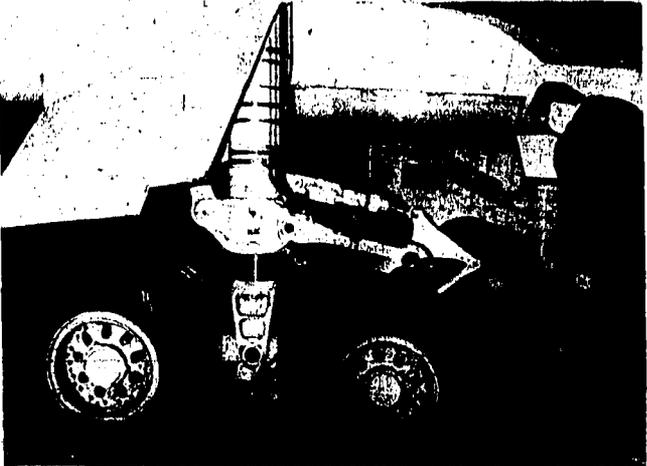

Reds receive Vatican aide

MOSCOW (UPI) — For the first time since communism came to the Kremlin, the Soviets today officially received an emissary of the Vatican.

Archbishop Agostino Casaroli, one of the church's smoothest diplomats and a man experienced in dealing with Communist regimes, arrived in Moscow late Wednesday and was greeted officially by a representative of the Soviet foreign ministry.

Officially, Casaroli came to deposit the Vatican's documents of ratification of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

Unofficially, the prelate will stay five days to see Soviet officials for talks that could determine the course of future relations between the atheist Kremlin and the Roman Catholic Vatican—once considered irreconcilable enemies.

Nixon calls Mideast possible N-cauldron

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon said today the greatest danger of nuclear conflict lies in the Middle East where Soviet attempts to dominate the area "must and will be resisted."

He appealed for a peaceful settlement of the differences there and in Vietnam, which he termed the "most immediate and anguishing problem" facing the United States.

Nixon outlined his views in a book-length state of the world message to Congress reviewing the entire spectrum of U.S.

foreign relations, and amplified them in a 30-minute radio address to the nation.

The address, carried live from the oval office in the White House, renewed the appeal Nixon first made last October for an immediate cease-fire throughout Indochina, withdrawal of all foreign troops, release of all prisoners of war and an Indochina peace conference to achieve a "fair political settlement"—for both sides.

This plan, he said, has the support of "every government in Indochina but one—North Vietnam."

Even without a negotiated peace, he said a South Vietnamese nation strengthened with American help now has "an excellent opportunity not only to survive but to build a strong, free society."

The President spoke at length in his radio address—his second since assuming office—about the Nixon Doctrine for reducing America's foreign involvements and encouraging Allies to add their "moral and intellectual strength to the creation of world order."

"Peace for the next generation depends on our ability to make certain that each nation has a share in its shaping and that every nation has a stake in its lasting," he said.

"This is the hard way, requiring patience, restraint, understanding and—when necessary—bold decisive action."

Despite the costly and frustrating Southeast Asian War, it is Russia's moves as an ambitious global power seeking to achieve exclusive influence at America's expense that pose the chief threat of global conflict, Nixon said.

He pointed to the Jordanian crisis last September—with its implications of a direct confrontation between Russia and the United States—as the "greatest threat to world peace" since he assumed office.

He put the Soviet Union on notice that despite America's unhappy involvement in South-east Asia, the United States was not relinquishing its role of world leadership.

"There should be no misconceptions of the role we will play in international affairs," the President said. "This country is not withdrawing into isolation."

"With the Soviet Union we want a relationship in which the interests of both are respected.

But, when challenged, the United States will defend its interests and those of its allies."

The President also promised to examine the possibilities of more contacts between the United States and mainland China, and referred to that country seven times as "Peoples Republic of China"—the first U.S. president ever to do so in an official document.

Nixon claimed the United States was embarked on a "consistent and unmistakable policy in Vietnam that will reduce American involvement and provide a reasonable chance for political stability."

As examples of progress, he said, U.S. troop levels and costs were approximately one-half and American casualties were approximately one-fifth of what they were two years ago when he assumed office.

While efforts to negotiate a settlement were getting nowhere, he said, the South Vietnamese forces now were assuming a much greater responsibility for military operations and approximately 80 per cent of the population was under control of the Saigon government.

Red tanks seize post

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops moving behind a shield of tanks overran the South Vietnamese paratroop base at Hill 31 inside Laos today and overwhelmed the 200-man defense force, front dispatches reported.

It was the second such base to be captured by the Communists.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu was quoted by the official Vietnam Press Agency today as saying it is "but a matter of time" before government forces push into North Vietnam. His speech, made Wednesday in Pleiku to a "people's convention," was released tonight.

UPI correspondent Kenneth J. Bradrick reported tonight from Khe Sanh on the South Vietnamese side of the border that the Communists also had launched a ground assault against a South Vietnamese base at Hill 30, four miles away from Hill 31 and also in Laos, but that outcome of the battle was not yet known.

The Communist attacks against individual South Vietnamese bases appeared to be a strategy of picking them off one at a time. The South Vietnamese established the bases to cut across Highway 9 and other branches of the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos.

Bradrick said U.S. artillery just inside the South Vietnamese border opened a 165 mm howitzer attack on Hill 31 tonight. Previously, U.S. pilots said they had "blown away" the Communist occupied Hill 31 position in air strikes before fog closed in tonight.

Communist losses at Hill 31 were not known, but front dispatches and Saigon reports said "hundreds" of Communists were killed in attacks on nearby bases. At least three other South Vietnamese bases in Laos were reported under mortar and rocket fire.

"Another battle line"

But he warned that North Vietnam still has the potential for seizing the initiative in Southeast Asia and said that "high levels of American assistance and air operations" would be required "as U.S. ground forces pull out."

He said his controversial decision to send U.S. forces into Cambodia last spring had proved an "indisputable military success" which bought time and confidence for the South Vietnamese army and shored up a shaky Cambodian regime threatened by North Vietnamese aggression.

"In Cambodia we can expect sustained enemy thrusts against the government," he added.

The 65,000-word report, titled "United States Foreign Policy for the 1970s: Building for Peace," was under preparation for three months and is chiefly the work of the National Security Council staff headed by Dr. Henry A. Kissinger.

Storm downs Cassia power

OAKLEY — Power service in the Oakley and rural Burley area was interrupted by a severe wind and spowstorm Wednesday night.

All service was restored to about 800 customers at Oakley by 7:15 a.m. today, but crews from Idaho Power Co., Unity Light and Power and Bonneville Power Administration were still repairing damage to lines and transformers today.

James Johnstone, Twin Falls, Idaho Power Co. electrical superintendent, said about 60 miles of the firm's transmission lines from Milner, through the Golden Valley area to Oakley were damaged by the high wind.

The storm caused vibration in the lines, broke insulators and burned out poles. The first interruption to power began at 11:58 p.m. Wednesday when 800 customers in the area from Oakley to Milner were affected.

About half of the customers had power restored by 2 a.m., but it was 7:15 a.m. before all service was restored. He said four crews, including about 25 men, from Idaho Power were still working on the lines today.

About 30 per cent of the customers of Unity Light and Power Co-op also were affected by the outage, according to John Christian, Burley city electrician. He said power also was out in part of Burley, but service was restored by 2 a.m.

Both the city of Burley and Unity Light and Power, which serves the rural area south of town, use power from BPA. Christian said the co-op had tied into power from the Burley city system to provide service until all lines can be repaired.

The storm apparently did not affect power lines in other parts of Magic Valley, Johnstone said.

Abortion measure advances

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee sent out without recommendation today a bill to permit abortions when the mother's life is in danger or in case of rape and incest.

Committee Chairman John Barker, R-Boise, said there was a dispute within the committee over the bill, some feeling there should be no change from the present law—which allows abortion only when there is danger to the mother's life—and others who felt the requirement three physicians must concur in the decision to abort made the bill too strict.

Barker placed before the committee a proposed amendment to the bill presented by the Idaho Medical Association which would allow abortion whenever there is substantial risk the child would be born with grave physical or mental defects.

However, he said, the final abortion bill already passed by the house—is one recommended by and interim committee on uniform criminal code.

"If we start to amend it, there will be people who say they support the committee but not this bill."

The committee also gave a "do pass" recommendation to a bill permitting involuntary sterilization if a person is shown to be a mental incompetent and the condition is irreversible and incurable.

T.F. suspect held in night shooting

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — One man was in custody, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, and another listed in fairly good condition in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital following an early morning shooting here.

Charged with the shooting is Wayne Jolley, 22, 438 1/2 Fifth Ave. N. He allegedly went to the apartment of his estranged wife, Geraldine Jolley, about 3:50 a.m. where he shot Nicholas Stephens, 22, Route 1, Heyburn.

Stephens received a bullet wound in the abdomen.

The bullet, officers said, entered from the front near the waist and exited through the back.

City police said the shooting occurred at 235 Third Avenue N., where Mrs. Jolley maintained an apartment. Officers said Mrs. Jolley ran to the police station, about a block away at about 3:55 a.m. and told officers her estranged husband had broken into her apartment and was holding a gun on Stephens.

On arrival at the scene, officers found the woman's apartment empty but said Stephens was in the apartment of the managers of the building and was holding his side. There was blood on the front of his shirt. He was taken to the hospital by police officers.

Jolley was taken into custody about 4:45 a.m. at his home by police. Officers said he was in the bedroom at the time. A .38 caliber pistol was also taken from the bedroom, police said. Officers said the window screen was torn from the bedroom at the apartment of Mrs. Jolley and blood was found on the floor.

Egypt asks U.S. push to force withdrawal

By United Press International
Egypt has asked the United States to pressure Israel to withdraw from occupied territory and publicly warned Egyptian armed forces are "fully prepared" to liberate the seized lands by force if Israel refuses to pull back.

The inquiry followed Egypt's positive response to the proposals put forward by U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring and what Cairo described as Israel's rejection of the Jarring proposals.

affirming its refusal to withdraw from all the Arab territory it captured in the June, 1967, Middle East war.

A negative reply from Washington may convince the Egyptians of the futility of talking and could cause them to withdraw their offer of a settlement.

Trapped climber rescued

CHAMONIX, France (UPI)—A five-man rescue team landed from helicopters today, and rescued Alpinist Rene Desmoussins from an icy ledge 4,300 feet up the Grandes Jorasses peak, where he had been stranded for a week. His companion, Serge Goussecaut, was dead.

The rescuers worked their way 300 feet to the ledge, 200 feet below the summit, after several earlier rescue attempts by air were frustrated by high winds and icy conditions. Fresh, heavy snowfalls made an expedition on foot impossible.

Desmoussins, considered France's finest Alpinist, was taken by helicopter to a hospital. His condition was not known, and there was no immediate information on when and how Goussecaut had died.

The two set out 16 days ago, with only five days' provisions, to scale the unexplored Walker Peak face of the mountain.

TWIN FALLS — County commissioners of Twin Falls are in Boise today to meet with area legislators regarding welfare problems they feel will have an impact on future county costs.

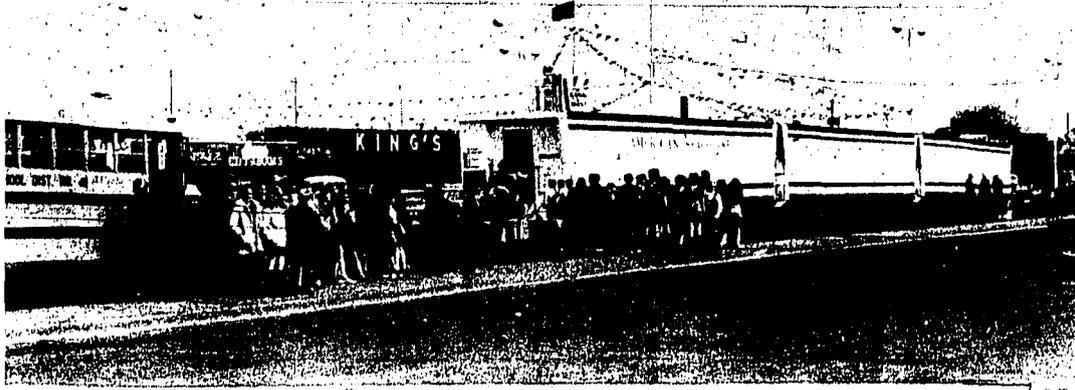

The group left early today and will return Friday, Commission Chairman W.L. Chancey said.

One of the items the local county officials are interested in supporting is legislation to establish uniform payments for nursing home indigents cared for in nursing homes around the state.

Heber Loughmiller, former commission chairman, said the Department of Public Assistance pays monthly rates up to a maximum and in Twin Falls County there are no county subsidy payments made on indigent cases. Many other counties, he said, are adding to state payments at the request of nursing homes. These payments are different in every county and in some cases different in every nursing home, he said.

Nursing home operators in Twin Falls County have asked the commissioners to consider similar subsidy payments to augment the state rates but commissioners here have declined. State fees were recently increased to $75 per patient per month. DPA officials say in some counties subsidies range as high as $35 a month additional and in some as low as $5 per patient per month.

A proposal the local county government officials plan to protest is one which would make the DPA offices administering agency for the drugs for indigent residents but still require counties to pay the cost. Commissioners here say they feel if they must budget for the costs they should be able to control distribution.

Shultz gains power

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's decision to forego a threatened wage-price freeze in the inflation-plagued construction industry was a victory for Management and Budget Director George P. Shultz, the emerging White House strongman on domestic matters.

The losers in the behind-the-scenes debate were the more activist members of the cabinet, including Treasury Secretary

John B. Connolly Jr. and Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe.

The decision also was a victory for the overwhelmingly white and generally conservative building trades unions. It could mean that Nixon has not given up his hopes of wooing the hard hats away from their traditional alliance with the Democratic party.

Perhaps most important, the President's action indicates his new economic pragmatism has not gotten the better of his traditional faith in free markets.

Shultz, a former economics professor and Nixon's first labor secretary, believes the government should keep its hands off most labor-management bargaining. Although he has supported some direct efforts to control inflation, he has opposed use of the President's standby power to freeze wages and prices.

Volpe, who made millions as a builder before entering politics, advocated direct government action to check rising wages and prices. He told a news conference Wednesday that if construction labor and management cannot agree on voluntary restraints by April 1, he again would urge Nixon to impose a freeze.

Campaign fund reform offered

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott today proposed a bill to remove the existing, easily skirted limits on how much candidates can spend in seeking federal office; but it would insist on full public disclosure of what they do spend and where the money came from.

Scott's bill was the result of a promise he made to his fellow politicians last fall when President Nixon vetoed a Democratic bill designed to limit how much presidential candidates could spend on television advertising, which consumed more than $20 million in 1968. Scott said then he would produce a comprehensive reform measure correcting all the abuses of existing law.

The Pennsylvania said 65 years of congressional effort to curb the tendency to buy oneself into office has shown that campaign spending ceilings are easily evaded.

"Full and effective disclosure is the best way to control excessive contributions on the one hand and unlimited expenditures on the other," Scott said.

His bill will have to compete with another approach introduced Wednesday by Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, an announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The McGovern bill would provide federal financing for President, Senate and House candidates in general and primary elections. In 1972, it would cost the Treasury $93 million. It also called for monitored disclosures of contributions and spending.

Mint due to accept coin bids

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The mint will begin accepting orders July 1 for coin collectors' sets of the new Eisenhower silver dollar.

The cost will be $10 for each "proof" coin and $3 for each "uncirculated" coin. The coins will be 40 per cent silver and application forms for the collectors' sets will be available June 18.

Later this year the mint will begin turning out copper-nickel Eisenhower dollars which will go into general circulation with a face value of $1 each.

Machinists request passenger routes

POCATELLO — Retention of rail passenger service through southern Idaho has been requested by the Idaho State Council of Machinists, Lee R. Heath, secretary-treasurer, said today.

Heath said the organization has adopted a resolution containing that request which has been sent to John A. Volpe, secretary of transportation.

"Many of the council's members and their families use rail passenger service and will be without transportation when service ends April 30 under the Railpax plan," Heath said.

"Many do not drive and bus service is not as convenient as passenger service. Air passenger service does not stop in all the towns where members live, and many members cannot fly because of their health," he said.

Closed debates approved

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate voted 19-16 Wednesday to approve a measure which would permit the joint finance-appropriations to deliberate behind closed doors when deciding on the state's budget.

The committee has been hampered by a senate judiciary and rules committee rule which said there was a statutory prohibition against the executive sessions after it completes its hearings on the budget request.

Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, said the proposed legislation would require only that the committee sit jointly when considering the budget but not necessarily in open sessions.

College sets art courses

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho will sponsor two 10-week classes for school children beginning Saturday at the art building at Washington Street North and Falls Avenue.

Michael Green, CSI art instructor, will teach the classes. Children 10 through 12 years old will meet from 9 to 10:30 a.m. each Saturday, and children seven through nine years of age will meet from 10:30 to noon.

Registration will be $15 per child, including all materials used. Parents may register their children in the business office of the Commons building on the CSI campus, and should be completed before Saturday, as the classes will be limited to 12 children for each age group.

Various art media will be explored, including clay modeling, painting, drawing, printmaking and collage, with emphasis placed on self-expression.

Interested parents are asked to call the art department at 733-9554, extension 209.

T.F. man declines new trial

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls man, convicted by a jury of first degree burglary and granted a motion for a new trial earlier this week, filed two motions to vacate the order and placed himself on the mercy of the court Wednesday.

Judge Theron W. Ward, Fifth Judicial District, granted both motions.

Steve Whitehead, 24, Twin Falls, through his attorney, James May, filed a motion asking the court to vacate the new trial order signed Feb. 19 by Judge Ward. He said in his motion the new trial would be of no benefit as he is guilty of the crime.

The second motion, which Whitehead based on judgment he was guilty of the burglary, stated he wished to place himself at the mercy of the court. Judge Ward issued two orders granting the motions Wednesday.

Whitehead was charged with the burglary of a camper on the Gateway Trailer Sales lot last Oct. 7 and participating in the theft of two mattresses.

Judge Ward granted the new trial because of the presence of the bailiff in the jury room during deliberation by the jury prior to their returning a verdict of guilty.

Fuel bids rejected

TWIN FALLS — Gasoline bids for the Twin Falls County wood bureau were received Tuesday afternoon and rejected.

County Commission Chairman W.L. Chancey said the bids were considered too high and will be advertised again with plans changed to purchase about 10,000 gallons rather than the 5,000 gallons bid on Tuesday. He said this will fill the needs of the department equipment in one bid and should mean a little better price offer from dealers. Three bids were rejected Tuesday.

Iowan to address Demos

BOISE — Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, will be the featured speaker for the annual Idaho Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner scheduled for 8 p.m. on March 5 in the Rowday Inn, Boise.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, will introduce his fellow Senator. Hughes will also conduct a press conference at 6:30 p.m. March 5 at the Rowday Inn.

Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and other state officials and legislators are expected to attend the $25-per-plate affair carrying the theme "It's A New Day."

William E. Davis, president of Idaho State University, will serve as master of ceremonies; the invocation will be offered by Rev. Stacy S. Richards of Wright Community Congregational Church, Boise, and the benediction will be pronounced by Rev. Neil Carlsen of Trinity Lutheran Church, Lewiston.

Tickets for the event are available from the Democratic state headquarters in the Hotel Boise, or from members of the Jefferson-Jackson Day Committee. Special student tickets are also available at the door for $4.50 apiece.

The Democratic State Central Committee will meet the following day — March 6 — at 1 p.m. in Boise. Students have planned a "brunch" meeting with Gov. Andrus at 11 a.m. that day.

Sen. Hughes, a three-term governor of Iowa, was first elected to the Senate in 1968. He serves on the Labor and Public Welfare Committee, the Banking and Currency Committee, and the Select Committee on Equal Educational Opportunity, a committee created by the Senate to report on racial imbalance and other factors affecting educational opportunities throughout the nation.

the world's scientific discoveries have occurred in the United States. Not the least of the reasons is the fact we presently have some 70,000 computers, against about 6,000 each for Japan and West Germany...

Even those figures do not tell the whole story, for our advantage is qualitative as well as quantitative. We have most of the more complex, sophisticated computers of the second and third generations...

Vo-Ed Training

A recently released Census Bureau report showed "an explosive growth" in the amount of education attained by Americans in the past 30 years.

Specifically, the proportion of young adults with college degrees has almost tripled since 1940, from six per cent to 16 per cent.

The proportion with one or more years of college has more than doubled, from 13 per cent to 31 per cent.

This has led some observers to say that what is commonly regarded as a generation gap between pre- and post-World War II Americans is really an education gap.

But turn the figures around. If 16 per cent of young Americans have a college degree, 84 per cent of young Americans do not.

Between the school years of 1964-65 and 1969-70, the number of college students mushroomed from 4.6 million to 7.4 million, says the Census Bureau.

Yet in the same period, the number of young Americans enrolled full time in vocational or technical training courses above the high school level zoomed from 150,000 to about two million, a 13-fold increase.

We hear little about it, however. Vocational training is the neglected stepchild of the education industry, even though the U.S. Office of Education estimates that half of all jobs opening up in the 1970s will require training beyond high school but less than a four-year degree.

"Society is creating a large number of education incompetents because of its unrealistic demands that a student must have a four-year degree," charges Irving Goldstein, president of Charron-Williams Systems, Inc., a leading network of commercial and technical training schools in the Southeast.

Very often, he notes, when a student drops out of a four-year college program he has a feeling of failure and is completely lacking in direction.

By contrast, a student pursuing a vocational education course has a sense of immediate accomplishment, a sense of purpose. He knows what type of career he is being prepared for.

For instance, the average secretarial course in a community college can take two years to complete. The same course in a private business school takes nine to 10 months.

Society must stop placing a stigma on young people who don't go to college, says Goldstein. It must stop looking down on vocational education as nonintellectual or noncreative.

Pregnancy

The following letter is more common these days than you might think — unless you could read all the letters that come to me!

Dear Doctor: I am 19 and think I am pregnant. I want to have an abortion (I am not married) but friends have told me that I will not be able to have any more children.

My boyfriend wants to give me some pills that will cause a miscarriage but I am afraid to take anything I really don't know about.

Information? Yes. A simple answer to your problem. No. The facts are these: an abortion does not mean that it will be impossible to have children later.

Where legal and with the proper medical care, abortion can be accomplished relatively simply by surgical means.

There's been a mighty lot of talk about legalized abortion, sexual liberation, and all that. I am not undertaking to discuss the rightness or wrongness, the legal or the moral implications.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband had surgery for cancer but the doctor said they could not get it all and he does not have a great length of time to live.

You should not be afraid; cancer is not communicable.

BERRY'S WORLD

"C'mere, Fred, here's a hot one! This guy wants to buy a PLAIN WHITE shirt!"

Stricken Cities

This is Chicago, Ill. Where almost half the state's population lives in one county. That is not the fault of the other 101 counties and I don't think they should have to pay for it.

Big City politicians perpetuate themselves in power by buying votes with public money. But the big cities are in decay, unable to pay their way.

I mentioned Chicago. Actually, our Chicago political machine is better oiled than most. But in Illinois and New York and California and Michigan and Pennsylvania — in the states with the biggest cities — politicians have been like spiders weaving webs on the moving hands of a clock.

When those big city politicians waved fistfuls of welfare money in the faces of prospective voters — poor folks come running from all directions.

To the rural shreecropper on a leached-out hill farm the Big City sounded like Shangri-Lai. Higher pay scales, higher unemployment pay, a generous assortment of potential sources for welfare handouts.

The least capable blacks and whites descended on the cities; became voters and consumers — but comparatively few became workers — and taxpayers.

So welfare spending has doubled in the past five years and it continues to pyramid, and 72 per cent of all welfare families live in cities.

When they discover life in a big city ghetto less comfortable than on that hill farm back home, why don't they go back home? Some do. Mostly the menfolk do.

So 75 per cent of all families on welfare are "fatherless."uring 1960 and 1969 the Supreme Court handed down decisions which had the immediate effect of adding another 700,000 mothers and children to welfare rolls.

Those who opposed his first election charged that he was "politically inexperienced." That has proved to be more an asset than a liability.

California had a bigger state budget than did New York when he took office. Not now.

The average Californian spends $300 a year for medical care. California has been paying an average $517 to state aid patients.

It's obvious some cost cutting is overdue, yet, with the exception of this example, politicians prefer to expand rather than cut back on welfare.

demanded that Washington bail them out with your money. In the beginnings of our nation only taxpayers were allowed to vote.

WASHINGTON — The bullet-seared Indochina Bar and Grill was jammed when the dusty stranger walked up and ordered a straight whisky.

"You doing a big business," the stranger wald.

"Yup," the bartender replied. "We've been expanding at a furious rate."

"What's the crowd doing over there?"

"They're playing poker. The game's been going on for eight years now, without a stop. It started as a little domino game but pretty soon it escalated into poker."

The stranger wandered over to the table. There were six men sitting around the table — Black Jack Hanoy, Tiger Cy Gone, Charlie Cong, Big Sam, Little Louse and Kid Kambodia.

"Who's winning?" the stranger asked a man named Frenchie.

"Bents me," he said. "I quit playing with these guys 10 years ago."

one of the worst poker players around, began losing, and so Big Sam, who was considered one of the great card players of all time, started to give the Tiger advice.

Big Sam had a glint stack of chips in front of him, and he kept giving chips to Tiger Cy Gone after each hand.

Frenchie whispered, "Big Sam says he wants out of the game, but he won't quit until Black Jack Hanoy admits defeat."

Black Jack Hanoy sits there with a poker face and every time his stack gets low the Chinese guy and the fat guy they call "The Bear" give him more chips to play with.

"What are the guns doing on the table?" the stranger asked.

"Each player says the other guy is cheating. We've had some big shoot-em-ups around here. I've seen some mean poker games, but this beats 'em all."

"How did it all start?" the stranger asked.

"Well, way back before anyone can remember, Charlie Cong and Tiger Cy Gone started a penny ante poker game amongst themselves. Pretty soon Tiger Cy Gone, who was exasperated that he decided to get into the game himself. He put a large stack of chips in front of him hoping to scare Charlie Cong out.

"So now the stakes are really high, and nobody is going to admit he lost."

"What are Little Louse and Kid Kambodia doing in the game?" the stranger asked.

MR. SPECTATOR

Sight Of The Year

The other morning on the early TV news from Salt Lake City we caught a nationally televised sight that was really hard to believe.

An apartment building — with 127 apartments — was just completed in Chicago. Suddenly there were a lot of people who decided that they were going to move in.

They stopped the watchmen from doing anything about it. When he finally offered to unlock the front doors members of the crowd refused and knocked them in.

Then the police appeared. They apparently just decided to sit and watch the effort. The people continued the move — blacks and whites alike.

Finally from an upstairs window a banner was hung. It read: "Property of the People."

So there you have an example of moving day in Chicago. Now, don't Twin Falls, Burley, Jerome, Filer, Buhl and other Magic Valley communities seem pretty nice?

and tons of soap to wash out their filthy mouths. ...A Critic

ANOTHER BITE Latest, if not biggest, news on the price front is that Wrigley's is raising the price of its chewing gum.

The significance goes deeper than a five-stick pack of refreshment, since this is Wrigley's second price hike in 63 years of doing business.

Most retailers increased prices on all chewing gums last summer, when two of Wrigley's competitors announced wholesale hikes.

So far, no comment has come from the White House. President Nixon is known to dislike jawboning prices.

As for Mr. Spectator, we haven't chewed gum in years. Someone told us it just wasn't nice at our age.

ASLEEP Mr. Spectator hastens to point out that the conviction is growing that juvenile delinquency frequently is caused by parents asleep at the switch.

THE MOVIES Perhaps it is fortunate, in a way, that the American people — undergoing an unusually cold winter — never had so many old movies available for home viewing.

CRITIC Dear Mr. Spectator: After seeing the movie "Joe" which is advertised as a story of a "true blue American" I'm wondering who does the rating on movies.

I'm sure the movies shown across the river couldn't be any worse even though rated triple X. I also came to the conclusion that the people of America need: stricter gun control; drug control

Plan show

CONVERSATION PIECE to be given away during the 19th annual Magic Valley Gem Show is discussed here by Jerry Baltzer, left, co-chairman of the two day show opening March 6 in the Twin Falls Armory, and George Martin who made the unique table. It would sell for about $200 in the local area, Martin says.

Magic Valley gem show slated here March 6-7

TWIN FALLS — Rock hounds, faceters, artifact collectors and others who gather, display or sell gems and stones will be bringing their colorful displays to Twin Falls March 6 and 7 for the 19th annual Magic Valley Gem Show.

Show co-chairmen, Jerry Baltzer and Dee Ashworth, say there will be entries from at least five western states. The displays will be set up in the Twin Falls Armory at Frontier Field for public inspection with hours to be 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

This year one hour has been set aside prior to the Sunday show opening for photography. Those interested in photographing the displays may have from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. Sunday for their work without being disturbed by crowds of show-viewers.

Someone buying a ticket to the show will take home a gem inlaid table made by George Martin, Twin Falls, from gems donated by club members. The table, valued at about $200 consists of a round top of chipped, marble with inlaid stones covered by an inch of clear plastic toppling. Ray Moon, chairman of special displays for the show, said such items sell on the West Coast for up to $300 but would bring slightly less on the local market.

Special displays will include three cases of faceted gems from national award winning faceters. These include Dr. Ellwood T. Rees, Twin Falls; Clifford Jackson, Burley, and Quincy D. Howell, Boise.

Another special display will feature inlays for pins or brooches. These unique jewelry items, comprised of many stones forming a pattern, are the work of George Dotson, Bliss. Several special displays are being planned from other Idaho and Utah exhibitors.

Six dealers will have commercial exhibits offering uncut and rough stones as well as polished material and lapidary equipment.

There will also be a swap table, Baltzer says, and a "silent auction" for those wishing to purchase. Items for this have been donated by club members.

Show officials say collectors will find a wide variety of gems available for purchase because dealers will be coming from Oregon, Colorado and Wyoming in addition to Idaho.

Show members plan a lunch counter at the armory with I-80 Soran catering lunches. A Red Cross first aid station will also be maintained in case of the need of anyone in the crowd.

Final basketball play scheduled on Saturday

TWIN FALLS — Knochle basketball play scheduled for Saturday final play of the season, was announced today by Chad Browning, city recreation director.

Sixth graders, playing at Robert Stuart Junior High School will include: 8 a.m. Sallinas' Hotshots vs. Williams' Wolverines and Carters' Coolcats vs. Lyon's Leopards; 9 a.m. Schultz' Hobbers vs. Crags' Creeps, and Ruhter's Rockets vs. Green's Gorillas; 10 a.m. Armg's Army vs. Wiseman's Watusi and Paradez' Pink Panthers vs. Larry's Warriors; 11 a.m., Sterling's Stealers vs. DeLeon's Dribblers and Kimberly vs. Thomas' Torpedoes, and at noon Crooks' Crushers vs. St. Edward's No. 2 with Bobby's bullets drawing a bye this week.

Fifth grade play with the noon game between Hanchey's Comanches and Kimberly at Stuart and all others at O'Leary Junior High School include 8 a.m. Miller's Killers vs. Hafer's Harlem Globes, Helms' Hotshots vs. Gutnecht's Gobblers and Cox' Cougars vs. Fisher's Unbeatables; 9 a.m., Pfefferle's Pythons vs. Luthern's Shockley's Shockers vs. Berry's Bobcats and Ticker's Thunderbirds vs. Rupert's Roadrunners, and at 10 a.m. Putzier's Professionals vs. Florence's Fireballs and Hensley's Hotshots vs. Seamon's Demons.

Fourth grade games, all at O'Leary, include 10 a.m. Hale's Angels vs. Troy's Trotters; 11 a.m. Tim's Tigers vs. Corder's Fighters, Beal's Beavers vs. Sterling's Slingrays and Mike's Monkeys vs. Hansen; at noon, Ron's 5 Peppers vs. Newell's Cools, Dudley's Demons vs. Oyen's Onions and Munn's Monsters vs. Benefel's Bobcats.

Browning said the top four teams at the end of Saturday's play will be eligible to compete in the sixth annual knochle basketball tournament.

Top teams going into the final week's play include Paradez' Pink Panthers with a perfect record in sixth grade competition of eight wins and no losses. Runners up are Sterling's Stealers with six wins and one loss and Larry's Warriors and DeLeon's Dribblers each with a 6 and 2 record.

Fifth grade champs as final play nears are the Pfefferle's Pythons with a 7 and 0 win-loss record followed by the Luthern's and Putzier's Professionals each with a 6 and 1 record.

Hale's Angels set the pace for fourth grade teams with a seven win, and one loss followed by Tim's Tigers with five wins and one loss and Corder's Fighters, Troy's Trotters and Ron's 5 Peppers each with a 5 and 2 record.

Scores from last week's play included: Sixth grade, Kimberly over St. Edward's No. 2, 39-18; Wiseman's Watusi over Schultz' Hookers 35-8; Bobby's Bullets over Sallinas' Hotshots, forfeit; Lyons' Leopards over Williams' Wolverines, 16-8; Green's Gorillas over Carter's Coolcats 33-22; Sterling's Stealers over Larry's Warriors 27-24; Armg's Army over Craig's Creeps, 31-20; Thomas' Torpedoes over Crook's Crushers 32-20; and Paradez' Pink Panthers over DeLeon's Dribblers 39-32.

Fifth grade scores: Putzier's Professionals over Berry's Bobcats, 15-11; Pfefferle's Pythons over Rupert's Roadrunners 29-14; Gutnecht's Gobblers over Seamon's Demons 7-3; Florence's Fireballs over Miller's Killers, forfeit; Luthern School over Ticker's T-Birds; 25-5; Cox' Cougars over Hanchey's Comanches, 25-12; Hensley's Hotshots over Helms' Hotshots 25-23; Shockley's Shockers over Fischer's Unbeatables 30-14 and Hafer's Globes over Kimberly, 22-11.

Fourth grade scores were Hale's Angels over Benefel's Bobcats 18-11; Tim's Tigers over Troy's Trotters 13-4; Oyen's Onions over Beeson's Bulldogs 13-8; Newell's Cools over Mike's Monkeys 26-14; Hansen over Munn's Monsters 11-8; Corder's Fighters over Dudley's Demons 18-17, and Ron's 5 Peppers over Sterling's Slingrays, 11-0.

Staudaheer attends conclave in east

TWIN FALLS — George Staudaheer, who will become superintendent of schools in the Twin Falls school district on July 1, is attending his first "official" conference this week in Atlantic City, N.J.

Staudaheer and a number of other Magic Valley educators are attending a national conference of school administrators in the resort city, which will continue all week.

Sign Franchise

TWIN FALLS — Don Everton, President of Everton Mattress Company, Twin Falls, announced today that Banner Furniture has been added to the list of factory authorized outlets and has the entire line of Sun Valley Sleeper Mattresses and Box Springs. All factory outlets sell this famous bedding line at factory direct prices. Jack Sears, President of Banner Furniture stated that his company will expand their bedding department to offer the Sun Valley Sleeper Line. Sears added that in selecting a line of bedding to offer he found the excellent quality coupled with the reduced cost of local manufacturing makes the Sun Valley Sleeper line the perfect combination for his outlet. This line is one of the few that offers long term unconditional guarantee, Sears states. Stocks are expected to be delivered by March 1.

Touring theatre show set

TWIN FALLS — A touring theater show is being presented this week by the CSI Reader's Theatre Group for the benefit of area grade school students.

Fran Tanner, director, said the shows include "Animal Antics" a children's show performed in reader's theater style and consisting of adaptations of poems and stories about animals.

Ten readers are participating in the programs being offered elementary students at Washington, Lincoln, Bickel, Harrison and Morningside schools.

Readers include Tim Brown, Joan Carter, Dave Bolster, Tim Bryson, Jim Langley, Marla Fickley, Sonny Nelson, Susan Patti, Steve Webb and Andrea Parenteau.

Seminars slated in May

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, will conduct four senior citizens seminars in the Second Idaho Congressional District during May, he said today.

Representative Hansen has introduced legislation in the House of Representatives which would entitle people 65 years of age or older to reduced rates for air transportation on a space-available basis.

Hansen, the principal sponsor of the bill, said the measure would allow senior citizens to use the low standby airline rates now in effect for young people and students.

"Older people are generally living on a fixed income which frequently allows for no expenditures for air travel at standard fares," Hansen said. "Accordingly, such trips will be avoided unless special provisions are made."

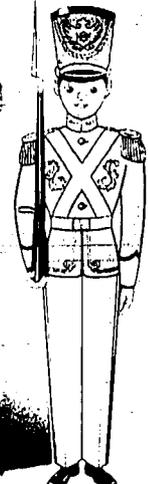

Hansen said he introduced a similar bill last spring after senior citizens' seminars, including a session in Twin Falls, pointed to a rising concern over the high costs of transportation for the elderly.

Gooding lists top students

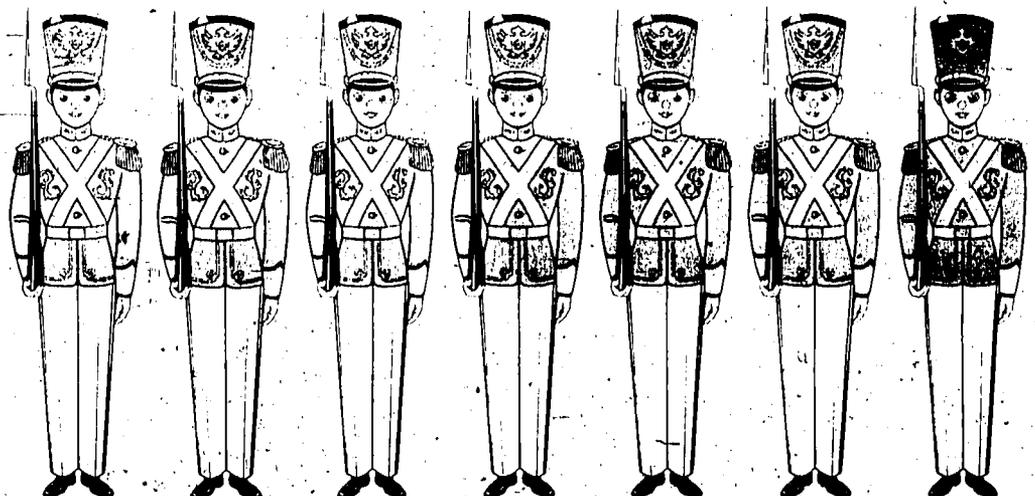

GOODING — Top 10 seniors of the 1971 Gooding High School graduating class of 88 students are announced by James Muscat, high school principal. They are Susan Boring, Bill Elsaiger, Becky Hobbey, Karen Johnson, Cindi LaCroix, Mary Jean Lyon, Mike Mickes, Joe Sagers, Cheryl Scanlon and Wealey Stanton.

They were selected by grand point averages computed over three years of high school and the first semester of their senior year. Muscat said averages will be refigured after the present nine weeks' grading period is completed, at which time valedictorian, salutatorian and the final top 10 will be announced.

Law and Order popular on TV

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The exceptional popularity of law enforcement throughout the season shows in the national ratings.

Four of the top 10 shows have law enforcement heroes. They are "Ironside" (ranked fourth),

"Hawaii Five-O" (fifth), "Gunsmoke" (seventh) and "Adam 12" (ninth).

Also in this category are "Mod Squad" (11th), "The FBI" (17th) and "The Smith Family" (22nd), ABC TV's new half-hour series in which Henry Fonda portrays a police officer.

Of all the new series entered by the networks at midseason, "The Smith Family" is the only one with strong ratings success.

The nation's top-ranked program, "Marcus Welby, M.D.," has, of course, a figure of authority in its doctor hero (Robert Young). And the same element is inherent in the eighth-rated "Medical Center" series.

"Mannix," which finished 12th, has a glamorous private eye type who gives the anti-law guys a bad time. And "Bonanza" and "The Man from Sillioh" (both tied for 17th with "The FBI") are Westerns with the usual pioneer he-man authoritative approach.

Of the other top-20 shows with traditional concepts of entertainment and/or values, one finds such entries as Lucille Ball (tied for fifth), the Walt Disney Hour (tied for ninth), the Ringling Bros. Circus Special (13th), Dean Cain (14th), "My Three Sons" (15th) and the new Mary Tyler Moore situation comedy (16th).

The season's biggest new ratings hit, Flip Wilson variety hour, came in third, right behind the successful "Movie of the Week."

Traditional rural comedy also showed its muscle, with "Green Acres" and "Hoe Down" tied for 23rd, "Mayberry R.F.D." finishing 25th and "The Beverly Hillbillies" placing 31st—not as high as it used to be, but still among television's priority "Top 40."

"Laugh-In," it seems may not rise again to the sky-high ratings position it used to have. It is being very well; nevertheless, coming in 21st.

Ex-Marine to speak on drugs

DAVE AVERY — An ex-Marine who has vowed to tell the nation about the dangers of drug addiction will speak at 8 p.m. Friday at the Holiday Inn.

"Motorede," the Movement to Restore Decency, will sponsor the talk by Dave Avery on the subject "Drugs and Youth—The Making of a Revolutionary."

Avery, who began his study of the drug problem while attending a small New England college, declares that "In most circles today, it's not a question of whether many kids will take drugs; the question is simply when."

Twin Falls members of the Motorede program include Richard King and Tom Lane.

National monuments have major attraction

Our National Parks in Trouble
EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of four articles, reporting on our national parks, their attractions and their troubles.

By JOHN LEIGHTY
United Press International.
"It will take forever for a raindrop to fall from that tree," said a little boy pointing up at a straight, majestic redwood in Muir Woods National Monument.

The day was wet but sunny. An early morning shower had washed the dust from plants and stirred extra life into the silvery salmon fighting their way up a pure mountain stream to spawn and die.

The marveling little boy was a city youngster. Muir Woods, a picturesque 15-mile drive across the Golden Gate Bridge from San Francisco, is a "rural park with an urban visitation," said monument Superintendent Leonard Frank.

Approximately 733,000 persons visited the 500-acre monument in 1970 with bus tours accounting for about 20 per cent of the total.

The first chemical sewage facility will be installed this year as part of the solution and officials are considering the idea of moving the parking lots away from the entrance and providing transportation to the monument.

The Cape Cod National Seashore in Massachusetts finds people bucking up for miles waiting to get in on weekends.

Cape Cod provides no camping areas but its day use is extremely heavy in the summer when parking spots almost are year-round green lushness makes the monument a serene retreat from the nearby cities and fulfills one of the goals of bringing parks "closer to the people."

National monuments usually have one major attraction, like the thousands of redwoods at Muir Woods, the gypsum sand dunes at New Mexico's White Sands National Monument, Idaho's Craters of the Moon, the Marine gardens of the Virgin Islands, or the dinosaur remains in Utah-Colorado.

There are 85 such "national monuments." Two in Alaska are each larger than Yellowstone National Park. They can be created by presidential proclamation, which accounts for their large number.

At Muir Woods, named for naturalist-explorer John Muir and established seven years before his death in 1908, the major problems are sanitation and parking space.

about three inches long and were scheduled to be released into the Dworshak reservoir next August.

impossible to find. Places that do allow camping in nearby areas are usually overrun. This is true of most of New England.

"I think regardless of how many campsites we put in a year, we'd still be behind the demand," one parks official said. "I think this will continue to be true."

Even remoter sections of the country find the secondary areas of the park system used heavily.

Historical sites as well as the national parks, recreational areas, seashore and natural monument lands receive large attendance, mainly from surrounding districts.

Popular historical areas give people a view of past events in a cultural setting. They are such familiar places as the Appomattox Court House in Virginia where Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered the Confederate cause in 1865, the Carl Sandburg home in North Carolina, Custer's battlefield at the Little Big Horn in Montana, Gettysburg, the Liberty Bell and the Washington, D.C., monuments.

Dozens of historical areas have recently been added to the NPS system and it is likely to continue in an effort to preserve, and offer to future generations, a vision of America's past.

Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Thursday, Feb. 25, the 56th day of 1971.
The moon is new.
The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.
The evening star is Saturn.
Those born on this day are under the sign of Pisces.
On this day in history:
In 1901 J.P. Morgan formed the United States Steel Corp. in New Jersey, the nation's first "billion-dollar" enterprise.
In 1919 Oregon became the first state to put a tax on gasoline—1 per cent.
In 1967 American warships began shelling Vietnam.
In 1970 a record $1.3 million was paid for a Vincent van Gogh painting in New York City.
A thought for the day: Irish poet George Russell said, "Twilight, a timid faun, went glimmering by, and night, the dark-blue hunter, followed fast."

News Of Servicemen

HAGERMAN — Pvt. Garry O. Anders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Anders, Hagerman, recently completed eight weeks of advanced infantry training at Ft. Lewis, Wash.
He received specialized instruction in small unit tactics and in firing such weapons as the M-16 rifle, and the M-60 machine gun and anti-tank weapons.
He entered the United States Army in September, 1970, and is a 1967 graduate of the Hagerman High School.

WENDELL — Don Buker, U. S. Navy, has served a tour of duty in Vietnam waters during the past six months on the U.S.S. Killawen, an ammunition carrier, and is expected to return to the United States this week according to his wife, the former Connie Wike, of Wendell.
Buker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Buker, and is completing the second year of a four year tour of duty. He expects his home port to be Concord, Calif., for the next year. His wife and son, Barney, have gone to Fairfield, Calif., where the couple has rented a home. Mrs. Buker was accompanied by his parents.

Newspapers teaching aids

BOSTON (UPI)—Most people read their daily papers to find out the news of the world, but for the pupils at the William Monroe Trotter Elementary School the newspaper serves as an instruction book in all sorts of subjects.

"We use the papers for everything," said Mel Conroy, a young third, fourth and fifth-grade teacher in this experimental school in Boston's black Roxbury section.

"If you use your imagination, there is no end to what you can do with a newspaper," Conroy said, "whether to teach arithmetic and English or develop a social awareness."

Conroy and several other teachers in the Trotter school find that the newspaper allows them to teach the pupils on an individual basis, with each child developing his or her own particular interest.

"The idea is to encourage them to read the papers at home and get them thinking about anything that interests them," Conroy said.

"Maybe they'll begin to wonder about the society around them, or maybe they'll only learn how to shop—but in either case the newspaper will bridge the gap between school and life at home, and they'll be better for that."

The school, which has about 750 pupils—half black and half white—comes from kindergarten through fifth grade, was opened in the fall of 1969 with the aim of developing "thinking, socially adjusted human beings."

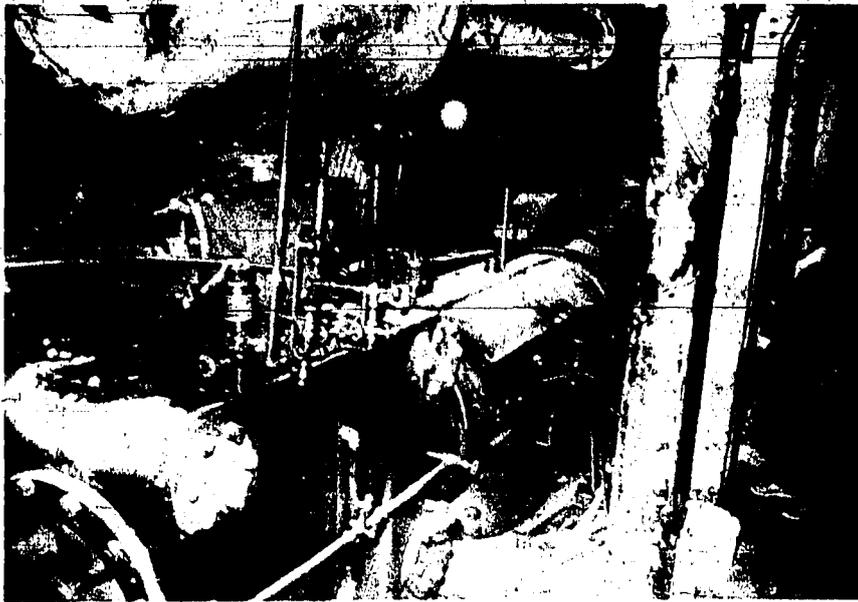

Conroy, 27, who is in his first year at Trotter after teaching five years in traditional and more structured environments, explained that in one lesson the children went through newspapers comparing grocery prices at different shopping centers.

"It was a good lesson in arithmetic and they learned something about shopping as well," he said. "We saved $1.00 on the week's groceries."

Another time some of the children combed a local paper for errors in spelling and grammar. A reporter from the paper later visited the class and he had a hard time explaining why the mistakes got into print," Conroy said.

"The newspaper is ideal for this kind of instruction. It's like a constantly changing textbook."

"The kids have really taken to it. I have to get up half an hour earlier each morning to make sure I read the paper."

A HUGE STEAM engine, believed to be the largest stationary steam engine remaining in the U.S., now stands idle in Belleville, Ill. The 700-horsepower engine sits in the basement of the Imbs Flour Mill where it powered machinery for years. The monster engine, 30 feet long and with a flywheel 12 feet in diameter, presents a moving problem for the Museum of Transportation in St. Louis who is interested in it. (UPI)

Cooking city's specialty

ARCHBOLD, Ohio (UPI)—There's a world of difference between the exotic Orient and this typical American small town in northwestern Ohio, but they have one thing in common—food.

Archbold, population 2,500, is the world's largest producer of canned Chinese food. That includes China.

To meet the growing popularity of Cantonese dishes in American homes, 28 different Chinese food specialties are cooked up, canned or freeze-packed, and rolled out with assembly line speed and precision in the seven and a half acre plant of LaChoy Division, Beatrice Foods, Inc.

The whole thing started back in 1920 as the brainchild of two University of Michigan students. Wally Smith wanted to sell fresh-grown bean sprouts in his Detroit grocery store. Hwan New, a Korean, had the know-how to produce them.

During the next 10 years, the two men grew sprouts, put them in glass jars, later in cans, and incorporated their business.

LaChoy grew and moved into larger headquarters in Michigan, finally settling here at the beginning of World War II. Archbold was chosen because it is strategically located on the main railway line between New York and Chicago.

With expansion came the invention of machinery and special equipment to clean the bean sprouts, peel fresh onions, fry chow mein noodles continuously, and clean and dice large quantities of celery.

The firm not only puts up Chinese foods in metal cans and glass jars but also in frozen food packages. Among the latter are egg rolls, chicken, beef and shrimp chow mein, sweet and sour pork, fried rice and dinner combinations.

With the specially designed equipment, up to 1,800 egg rolls can be produced, packaged and frozen, and up to 120 packages of chow mein, fried rice, sweet and sour pork and dinners can be turned out per minute.

More than 5,000 tons of celery from the famed celery beds of Michigan are used each year for the chop suey and chow mein products. Fresh mushrooms come from Pennsylvania, and cattle and poultry from markets near New York and Chicago.

The community is one of the largest cattle auction centers, between New York and Chicago, and also is a major poultry center. In 1968, more than 100,000 beef cattle were sold to the company.

Exotic items such as bamboo shoots and water chestnuts are imported from South Korea, Taiwan and Hong Kong, while most mung beans, from which bean sprouts are grown, come from Peru, Thailand and Burma. But extensive experiments are showing that Texas, Oklahoma and Georgia are well suited from the standpoint of climate, soil and harvesting facilities, to produce mung beans.

The rice farmlands of Fulton County, in which Archbold is located, also contribute to the huge local production and processing of packaged Chinese foods, which is not a seasonal, but a continuous everyday operation.

Giant problem

Basketball rules made by mistake

CHICAGO (UPI)—Seventy-five years ago Clara Baer put forth a set of rules for women's basketball, and promptly got the girls off to a start on the wrong foot.

Clara, who introduced the game at Newcomb College in New Orleans, wrote her rules using a diagram of a court supplied by the man who invented the game in 1891, James Naismith.

According to the Encyclopaedia Britannica she mistook dotted lines, indicating the areas wherein the players might best execute team play, to be restraining lines.

That probably eliminated a lot of tiring 94-foot dashes from one end of the court to the other, but even today's women's teams have three forwards who stay in the forecourt and do all the scoring, while three guards cover the backcourt.

Private institutions facing money problems

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Private colleges, hospitals, welfare agencies and cultural organizations, which are dependent on philanthropy rather than tax funds for their financial support, may be in serious trouble during the next few years.

"Unless something is done to substantially accelerate private giving, there will be a multibillion dollar deficit in private giving by 1975," says Peter G. Peterson, board chairman of Bell & Howell Co.

Peterson headed a commission of prominent citizens who made a careful study of the outlook for private philanthropy during the 1970s. It found that many private charitable organizations already are running in the red, and eating up their reserves to maintain their services to the public.

"The basic difficulty, Peterson says, is that giving is not keeping pace with the rising costs of heating, educational, and social service institutions.

Giving seems to be stuck in a rut. Year in and year out, Americans give to all philanthropic causes (including churches) a sum equivalent to slightly less than 2 per cent of the gross national product (GNP). In 1969, for example, the GNP was $932 billion, and giving totaled $17.6 billion.

But the average corporation actually gives less than 1 per cent of its income.

Includes most of the leading professional fund raisers, sees only one likely source for the needed increase in philanthropy.

Somehow corporations must be persuaded to make much larger contributions to voluntary organizations.

But the average corporation actually gives less than 1 per cent of its income.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Fewer than half of the 22 million acres freed by a loosening of government farm controls this year may actually come back into crop production, an Agriculture Department official reports.

The estimates imply, another official said, that some of the land idled under subsidy programs may have been acreage that farmers wouldn't have used for crops anyway.

The figures were reported Tuesday by Carroll G. Brunthaver, associate administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Brunthaver told the Agriculture Department's annual outlook conference that land retirement under federal farm programs totaled 56.9 million acres in 1970, but will be cut to an estimated 35.1 million acres in 1971, a reduction of 21.8 million acres.

Of the 21.8 million acres dropped from the government diversion programs, Brunthaver added, preliminary estimates indicate that only about 10 million will appear as additional crop planting in 1971.

What happened to the other 12 million acres which were freed from government control programs but apparently won't be used for crops on the basis of current estimates?

Part of the answer, according to Brunthaver and other officials, is that final reports on planting this year may well show an increase of more than 10 million acres. This would cut the "unused" figure below the current 12 million.

In addition, Brunthaver added, final figures may also show more than 21.8 million acres diverted this year, further cutting the total of "unused" acres.

But even after these adjustments, Brunthaver conceded, there may still be some acreage which was freed for crop use but which farmers simply do not choose to plant to anything this year.

Idle acreage figure down

One possible implication is, another official said, that farmers might have idled some of this land voluntarily last year if they hadn't been putting it under government diversion in return for payments.

Brunthaver added that if a cut of 21.8 million acres in diversion actually leads to increased plantings of only 10 million acres, "the implication concerning the amount of excess productivity capacity in U.S. agriculture is noteworthy."

Brunthaver also told the outlook conference that demand for farm crop in the current 1970-71 marketing season is expected to top 1970 harvests by the equivalent of about 20 million acres of cropland. Corn usage, for example, is expected to reach the equivalent of nearly 62.5 million acres, or 5.1 million acres more than were harvested in 1970.

The 20 million acre shortage will be made up, Brunthaver said, by drawing grains and other commodities out of carryover surplus stocks.

Measure held up

BOISE (UPI)—The Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee held up for possible revision Wednesday a bill which would allow use of synthetic drugs for persons addicted to narcotic or hallucinogenic drugs.

Legislators on the committee objected to provisions in the bill which they said would allow any physician or hospital—even those not trained in narcotic treatment—to use the synthetic drugs.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Private colleges, hospitals, welfare agencies and cultural organizations, which are dependent on philanthropy rather than tax funds for their financial support, may be in serious trouble during the next few years.

"Unless something is done to substantially accelerate private giving, there will be a multibillion dollar deficit in private giving by 1975," says Peter G. Peterson, board chairman of Bell & Howell Co.

Peterson headed a commission of prominent citizens who made a careful study of the outlook for private philanthropy during the 1970s. It found that many private charitable organizations already are running in the red, and eating up their reserves to maintain their services to the public.

"The basic difficulty, Peterson says, is that giving is not keeping pace with the rising costs of heating, educational, and social service institutions.

Giving seems to be stuck in a rut. Year in and year out, Americans give to all philanthropic causes (including churches) a sum equivalent to slightly less than 2 per cent of the gross national product (GNP). In 1969, for example, the GNP was $932 billion, and giving totaled $17.6 billion.

But the average corporation actually gives less than 1 per cent of its income.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Fewer than half of the 22 million acres freed by a loosening of government farm controls this year may actually come back into crop production, an Agriculture Department official reports.

The estimates imply, another official said, that some of the land idled under subsidy programs may have been acreage that farmers wouldn't have used for crops anyway.

The figures were reported Tuesday by Carroll G. Brunthaver, associate administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Brunthaver told the Agriculture Department's annual outlook conference that land retirement under federal farm programs totaled 56.9 million acres in 1970, but will be cut to an estimated 35.1 million acres in 1971, a reduction of 21.8 million acres.

ATTENTION ALL POTATO GROWERS

DURING THE PAST WEEK, POTATO GROWERS OF IDAHO, INC. BARGAINING TEAMS HAVE MET WITH AND OFFERED CONTRACTS TO ALL OF IDAHO'S MAJOR PROCESSOR'S.

The bargaining committees and staff of Potato Growers of Idaho, Inc. have devoted more time and effort towards compiling of statistical information than ever before, especially as it relates to our processors competitive position.

After serious consideration of the facts, it is the committees determination that

- (1) our processors competitive position has not been jeopardized to this point.
- (2) Contract price offerings should remain at the same level as 1970 pre-season contracts.

We have therefore offered to all major processors, contracts calling for the same base price as that contained in 1970 contracts.

Of primary concern to Potato Growers of Idaho, Inc. was the inevitability of a lesser quality crop in 1971, which would automatically reduce average grower returns. For this reason, among others, it is vital that all growers show unity of purpose and determination to not allow downward market pressures to become successful.

You have made tremendous strides in the last two years in providing the all important power necessary to successful contract negotiations. Your refusal to sign or apply for contracts prior to our completion of negotiations is the envy of every potato growing area in the United States, and is probably more important this year than ever before.

Please support our efforts. It is definitely in your best interest. We will keep you informed as negotiations progress.

Cattle starving in Kansas

GREAT BEND, Kan. (UPI) — The Air Force today tried to save 275,000 starving cattle in snow-choked fields in southwest Kansas with a mammoth airlift of 35,000 bales of hay.

Runways at the Great Bend Airport were being cleared to allow C130 transports from Forbes Air Force Base at Topeka, Kan., to use the airport as a base for emergency operations. Great Bend was selected because large quantities of hay were available.

Reports of the number of cattle cut off from feed supplies ranged as high as 80 to 90 per cent with cattle experts estimating the total at 275,000.

Drifts from 3 to 27 feet choked farm roads and blocked access to the cattle, some of which had strayed but many remained in home pastures. The situation was complicated because fences were down in the stricken areas.

The winter storm which moved through Kansas Sunday and Monday was called the worst of the century in the state.

STANLEY — U. S. Forest Service officials, county commissioners and Idaho Health Department officials have set 1972 as the date for establishing a suitable sanitary landfill operation for the Stanley Basin area.

In a meeting in Stanley, reported today by Tom Kavallczyk, Stanley district ranger, Challis National Forest, representatives from various agencies discussed the problem of solid waste disposal in view of the heavy tourist use of the area and the many summer homes and recreation facilities.

A cooperative program is being planned to handle waste from the entire valley providing a suitable landfill site can be located. Bureau of Land Management and U.S. Forest Service representatives will inventory possible locations and report at a later meeting.

Jim Jankowski, Idaho Department of Health, explained proper methods of establishing a local garbage commission which could apply for federal financing for the project.

Prime interest of the 20 persons including Custer County Commissioner John Rovetti and Mayor Stan Iwakiri, Stanley, attending the planning meeting is to preserve the esthetic values of the basin.

More than 10,000 persons in the United States work in professional weather research and forecasting.

Water supply outlook good

BURLEY — Water supply outlook for the 1971 irrigation season continues to improve with each passing month and is excellent, Glenn H. Simmons, the Mindoka Project superintendent, said today.

The water content of the snow in the high country continues to be above average with the snowmelt runoff potential forecast to be about 130 per cent of normal.

A substantial amount of water has been passing Milner Dam this year; with about one-half million acre feet released in January. This situation will probably continue into March, he said.

Water has not been stored in the American Falls Reservoir for several weeks as the water surface elevation was held at the ice restriction point of 4346.5 ft. The ice "went out" Feb. 20; however, and water is now being stored above elevation 4346.5 in the top eight feet of space in the reservoir. The American Falls Reservoir should fill by early April.

The Pallasades Reservoir discharge is 4,400 cubic feet per second as space is made in the reservoir to control snowmelt run-off, later this spring.

Simmons noted that the Snake River will be involved in a flood control situation this spring and that all reservoirs should fill.

Meet set on birds of prey

BOISE — A public hearing on the Bureau of Land Management's proposed withdrawal for the Snake River Birds of Prey National Area in the Swan Falls reach of the Snake River will begin at 1 p.m. Friday in the training auditorium of the Boise Interagency Fire Center located just east of the Boise Air Terminal.

The proposed withdrawal would segregate the public land from all forms of application and location under the public land and general mining laws, and would reserve the lands as habitat for birds of prey.

Drug raids net 54 in crackdown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal agents using wiretaps and undercover infiltrators arrested 54 persons in New York, Chicago, Hartford, Conn., and New Orleans early Wednesday in a coordinated assault on underworld wholesalers in heroin.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell, who announced the raids at a Justice Department news conference, said they were part of "the largest federal crackdown ever on narcotics distribution by organized crime," a five-month operation that's still under way.

So far, he said, the raids have netted 71 pounds of heroin, 40 pounds of cocaine and 250 pounds of marijuana with a street sale value of $12.8 million. In addition, he said, $471,341 in cash, 78 guns and 35 automobiles have been seized.

Mitchell termed the operation "an unqualified success" which would have been impossible without the use of 12 court-approved wiretaps authorized by the Crime Control Act of 1968.

One agent was said to have infiltrated a Mafia unit in New York and gathered information for the crackdown as an accepted member of the group.

Mitchell refused to use the words "Mafia" or "Cosa Nostra," names for the organized crime syndicate which many Italian-Americans find offensive, nor did he identify Mafia operatives in the list of the 54 arrested on charges of possession, transportation or sale of illegal drugs.

But John E. Ingersoll, director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, identified one captive, Pat Cioffi, as a crime syndicate leader and "a high-level officer in the New York Barbers' Union."

None of the 54 appears on the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee's 1969 list of top echelon leaders of regional Mafia "families."

Mitchell said the raids have netted 143 defendants since "Operation Plunk" began five months ago, and that 32 others still are being sought. Previous raids also included Philadelphia, Baltimore and Detroit.

A similar operation last June, "Operation Eagle," resulted in 160 arrests and "the breakup of the country's largest cocaine smuggling ring," Mitchell said.

Valley's senators vote 'no'

BOISE — Six senators from the Magic Valley were among 15 voting against Senate Bill 1077 Wednesday. The measure, approved 19-15, establishes state funded kindergartens.

Those voting against the bill were John M. Barker, R-Buhl; Don G. Fredericksen, D-Gooding; Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls; John Peavey, R-Rupert; Robert Saxvik, D-Burley; and J. Wilson Steen, R-Glenns Ferry.

Others voting against the bill were Allen, Bivens, Budge, Crookham, Ellsworth (20), Mitchell, Swenson, Williams, Yarbrough.

Voting for the bill were Blyeu, Brassey, Chase, Cobbs, Crutcher, Eggert, Ellsworth (30), Evans, Kidwell, Kellin, Manley, Manning, Miller, Mix, Murphy, Rigby, Solberg, Stoicheff and Summers.

Absent and excused was Brown.

Kindergarten measure passes Senate, 19-15

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's senators picked public kindergartens as a top priority Wednesday when they voted 19-15 to approve a bill providing state financing for the pre-school program.

Sen. Nels Solberg, D-Grangeville, floor sponsor of the bill, said he hoped the first session of the 41st legislature would be remembered as "the one that thought a lot about the greatest resource of our state — our children."

Solberg was one of 14 senators who debated the bill over the one-hour, 45-minute debate. Other senators took the floor only to explain their final vote. Sen. Wayne Kidwell, R-Boise, said he was casting an "aye" on the measure to help "drag Idaho kicking and screaming into the 20th Century."

The bill approved by the upper chamber would place a total of at least $320 behind each child and lump the funds into a special one to support kindergartens.

The program is optional both for school districts and parents of children. Scheduled to take effect July 1, the measure would provide for a proportional reduction of funds to all districts if the special fund cannot stretch over all school districts willing to participate.

As a back-up measure, the senators had before them another bill to implement the kindergarten policy but on a local support basis with school district boards of trustees authorized to levy a special tax to support the pre-school program.

Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, chairman of the Senate Health, Education and Welfare Committee, said he intended to support the local funding measure and said the $2.8 million outlined by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus for the public kindergarten program would have to come from other programs — probably public education.

Opposition to the measure came from lawmakers who questioned not only the funding of the program but the value of pre-school training itself.

Sen. Joe Allen, R-American Falls, said the $2.8 million requested for kindergartens could not help but weaken the present school program.

Further, he said, home life is the "basis of our entire democracy" and questioned whether children should be removed from their homes and "given to the state."

"Are we going to make computers out of these little people or are we going to bring them up to be mature, well-rounded adults?" he said.

Sen. Walter Yarbrough, R-Grandview, said he felt vocational education support and a new classroom at the State Deaf and Blind School at Gooding were higher priority measures for the legislature than the kindergarten program.

Sen. James Stoicheff, D-Sandpoint, an educator, argued that kindergartens would pay off in reading skills, adding "what price would you pay — not for a guarantee but just for a chance... this child would have some larger measure of success in life."

The first Republican to support the measure, Sen. Fisher Ellsworth, R-Idaho Falls, told his colleagues the major stumbling block was adequate funding, but added: "This is the time to consider the future of our children."

"The disadvantaged are the ones who need kindergartens the most," he said. "Public kindergartens would give every child in the state an equal start."

Sen. John Evans, D-Malad, said he gave kindergartens "top priority," adding, "This is what I want to provide kindergartens for: that 10 or 15 per cent of children whose parents can't afford to send their children to these private kindergartens."

"Let's quit giving excuses," he said. "Let's stand up and tell the people we need it, we want it, we can fund it."

Sen. Lyle Cobbs, R-Boise, added the same arguments on financing of kindergartens had been used when the state had an "abundance of money."

Sen. Charles Blyeu, D-Pocatello, said the constitution required Idaho give its children "the best possible education" and said the measure providing for local support would "pass the buck to the counties and increase county taxation."

He said the state-supported measure would establish an "honorable policy," one which would "put kindergartens on our books so we will be known as a progressive legislature."

Air fares control bill passes House

BOISE (UPI) — Ignoring contentions it was "using a sledgehammer to kill a fly," the House approved 44-18 and sent to the senate Wednesday legislation providing for state regulation of intrastate air fares.

Rep. Edward Rice, R-Boise, successfully navigated the measure through the house, saying it "does not prohibit reasonable fare increases."

But he pointed out that it could lead to lower fares than those now paid by Idahoans for certain flights within the state — particularly on airlines such as Hughes Air West.

"The state of California has long regulated such fares," Rice said, adding, "they are substantially lower than Idaho."

He compared flights of similar distance within California and within Idaho and quoted fares substantially larger for the same distance on flights within the state of Idaho.

Rice also said there has been "constantly deteriorating service" in many areas of the state. He said Air West and its predecessor, West Coast Airlines, used to serve Sun Valley and Coeur d'Alene and Rupert but does so no longer.

Foe action watch set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A high-ranking Defense Department planner said Wednesday the South Vietnamese drive in Laos has been halted to "study enemy reactions," and that the assault will be extended if the Communists shift supply movements farther west.

Lt. Gen. John W. Vogt, chief administrative assistant to the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, spoke at a Pentagon news conference during which Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird declared that "the initiative no longer belongs to the enemy in Indochina."

"Believe me, this is far from the truth," he said. "The halt was made to study enemy reactions. The enemy has not stopped (South Vietnamese) movement along Highway 9 (the major east-west route entering southern Laos from northern South Vietnam). There are no major engagements stopping our troops... no major force stopping the column on Highway 9."

The general said the junction city of Sepon, 27 miles inside Laos, is a bombed-out ruin with no military value, but that around it lies "the hub of the present Ho Chi Minh Trail."

South Vietnamese troops have driven about 17 miles into Laos and are fanning out north and south along Route 92 east of Sepon. Vogt said traffic on Route 92, the main route of the Communist supply trail, has been totally stopped, and that traffic has been sharply reduced on the secondary Route 914 just west of Sepon.

Another major highway, Route 23, lies much farther west of Sepon but there have been no indications the Communists have tried to use it as an alternate route, Vogt said.

"The key question is, will the enemy make use of artery systems west of the Sepon area?" he said. "If he does, we'll have to take some action against it."

Laird expressed confidence that as a result of the Laotian operation, "not only will we be able to continue the withdrawal and perhaps accelerate that rate of withdrawal but we will be able to reduce our casualties as American troops come home."

Regardless of day-to-day reports from Laos, Laird said, "The unassailable fact is that U.S. involvement in Indochina is going down, down, down ..."

Laird expressed confidence that as a result of the Laotian operation, "not only will we be able to continue the withdrawal and perhaps accelerate that rate of withdrawal but we will be able to reduce our casualties as American troops come home."

School proposal 'dead'

BOISE (UPI) — A proposal to set up vocational high schools in Idaho appears dead for this session of the 41st Idaho Legislature.

House Republicans declined to give caucus support Tuesday to a bill calling for 50 per cent state-funding of such schools.

Rep. Ernest Allen, R-Nampa, chairman of the education committee, said the GOP members would not support even an amendment to delay funding until 1973.

"They didn't want to obligate future legislatures," Allen said. Monday, the education committee voted to table the bill although it assigned Rep. E.G. Jenkins, R-Nampa, to study further the possibility of drawing a bill for establishment of such schools with local or federal funds.

American ousted from Jewish meet

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — The American leader of the militant Jewish Defense League (JDL) was ordered expelled from Belgium Wednesday after being held by security police as a possible danger to law and order.

The expulsion of Rabbi Meir Kahane, 38, came a few hours after the World Conference on Soviet Jewry, which is currently holding a meeting in Belgium, barred the New York rabbi from addressing it.

Bertrand Zwohlen, an attorney for the JDL, told newsmen that Kahane planned to read a statement to the conference which included demands that "the life of each Soviet representative in the West should be made intolerable. Cultural exchanges must be called off. We must declare an economic boycott of Soviet goods and interrupt and threaten by public action and by demonstrations all sources of east-west rapprochement."

ten by public action and by demonstrations all sources of east-west rapprochement."

The Belgian Justice Ministry announced that Kahane told Belgian security police while undergoing questioning that he had refused to promise he would not try to enter the conference despite its decision to bar him.

Kahane, 38, was convicted just Tuesday in New York of obstructing justice and disorderly conduct during a 1969 protest demonstration near the Soviet Mission to the United Nations.

The Belgian announcement did not say when Kahane would leave or to where he would be sent.

Army eyes everywhere

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two former military intelligence agents testified today the Army has kept files on the domestic political activities of folk singer Judy Collins, retired Adm. Arnold E. True, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., actress Jane Fonda, Georgia legislator Julian Bond and thousands of other Americans.

They said more than 1,500 Army plainclothes agents have infiltrated, photographed and watched over the 1968 poor people's campaign, the Republican and Democratic national conventions, a church youth group for the emotionally disturbed in Colorado, peace marches, Yippie communes, black studies programs, a union meeting in Georgia and a drunken college brawl in Zap, S. D.

With full documentation, including names, dates and places, Christopher H. Pyle and Ralph M. Stein of New York City went before the Senate constitutional rights subcommittee to submit their well-publicized claim that military intelligence has intruded into American political affairs in a challenge to constitutional separation of military and civil affairs.

Pyle is a former Army intelligence captain who is preparing a doctoral dissertation on the subject at Columbia University. Stein spent 15 months in the Army's Counterintelligence Analysis Branch (CIAB) in 1967 and 1968 and was discharged a sergeant.

The two men said in prepared testimony that Army files and blacklists include not only communists such as Gus Hall but former servicemen who have spoken out against the Vietnam War, such as True and Brig. Gen. Hugh B. Hester; folk singers Pete Seeger, Arlo Guthrie, Phil Ochs, Joan Baez and Judy Collins; Urban League Director Whitney Young Jr.; Washington, D.C. School Board member Julius Hobson Jr.; the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy and the Rev. Jesse Jackson; District of Columbia Councilman William Fauntroy; and such well-known political activists as David Dellinger, Abbie Hoffman, Thomas Hayden and Dr. Benjamin Spock.

Pyle said the Army maintains more than 1,500 plainclothes agents working out of about 300 offices and scores of military bases from coast to coast, which keep track of political protests of all kinds.

He said the information collected by these agents is key punched on magnetic tape into a national IBM 1401 computer that can produce print-outs in 96 categories. Unlike the FBI's National Crime Information Center, the Army file, he said, contains information on lawful — as well as unlawful — activities.

Mining bill okayed

BOISE (UPI) — A bill providing an injunctive procedure for stopping operation of a dredge mine without permit sailed through the house 54-0 Wednesday and headed into the Senate.

Floor sponsor Ed Hedges, R-Boise, said the legislation merely corrects a defect in the existing dredge mining law.

Rep. Emery Hedlund, D-St. Maries, told of the difficulties last summer in state attempts to stop dredge mining on a stream in northern Idaho which feeds the St. Joe River.

Unit backed

BOISE (UPI) — Spokesmen for the State Boards of Health and Correction urged a House committee Wednesday to act favorably on a proposed joint mental health facility at the state prison.

They said the prison at present does not have proper facilities for handling the dangerous and mentally ill convict and the state hospitals are not geared for security programs.

Wreck rate cut studied at Gooding

GOODING—The intersection of Orchard Avenue and Main Street in Gooding is the most dangerous spot for accidents, the Gooding chapter of the Idaho Traffic Safety Council learned Wednesday night.

Roger Maxwell, president of the local group, reported that a study of monthly accident reports and their locations showed the greatest number of accidents occurred on this corner by the bowling alley.

Possible ways of eliminating future accidents proposed by council members include installation of a traffic divider on Orchard Avenue, making a left turn lane, curbing Orchard Avenue on the right side so cars cannot go directly into the bowling alley parking lot from the intersection, Maxwell said.

He said the intersection serves as a turnaround point for drivers dragging Main Street.

Police Chief Lyle Clifford was directed to make a survey of the accident sites in town, rating them according to frequency, and the council will then make recommendations to either the city council or Idaho Highway Department.

Members also recommended that more instruction be given school children in the use of crosswalks. They discussed the feasibility of painting all crosswalks at the school one bright solid color. They are now outlined in white paint.

Jerome chamber raps race dates

BOISE (Special to the Times-News) — A spokesman for the Jerome Chamber of Commerce said here that the Jerome chamber opposes the scheduled race dates set by the Idaho State Racing Commission.

William Bubak, chairman of the chamber's committee on racing, said the proposed schedule would give an undue advantage to Boise races to the detriment of smaller tracks such as that at Jerome.

Bubak presented a resolution prepared by the Jerome chamber which said "It is the feeling of the smaller race tracks in Idaho that Boise's dates will seriously jeopardize the success of pari-mutuel racing at the smaller tracks."

"We urge the Idaho State Racing Commission to allow each of the small tracks one choice of dates, not to exceed four days, which Boise may not challenge."

Bubak said the difficulty arises when races are scheduled on the same day at the Boise and smaller tracks.

He said the smaller tracks are unable to compete with the larger Boise operation as both horses and bettors go to Boise.

The chamber resolution asked the racing commission to meet to consider the scheduling problems of the small tracks.

REA chief plans address at Malta

MALTA — David A. Hamill, Washington, D. C., administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration, will address the 23rd annual meeting of the Raft River Electric Co-Op Saturday at the Raft River High School auditorium.

Lunch will be served at noon, according to Edwin Schlender, manager of the Raft River Co-Op. The session is open to all members.

During seven years as administrator, Hamill has attended 70 annual meetings in every state except Idaho. He has served under two presidents, and is knowledgeable in the rural electrification field as well as problems of the farmers, Schlender said.

He previously served as REA administrator under President Eisenhower for five years. At the time of his nomination Hamill was serving as executive director of the department of institutions for the state of Colorado.

Hamill supports community development and encourages the REA financed systems to use their good influence and own resources in helping to develop their areas, Schlender said.

Directors elected

HANSEN — Directors of the Hansen Sewer and Water Improvement Assn, were elected during the annual stockholders' meeting Wednesday night in the old Change Hall.

W.D. Wiseman and Harold Warrin were re-elected and Charley Lown was elected, all directors. All three terms are for three years. Robert Perkins was elected to fill out the remaining term of the late Vergil Hall.

In 1939, Hamill became active in the rural electrification program when he helped organize a section of the Holyoke Electric Assn. of Holyoke, Colo. He served as director of the association for five years during which time its consumer membership grew from 180 to 4,000 members.

Engineers razing old roundhouse

By MIKE ROBERTSON
Times-News Staff Writer

GLENS FERRY — Another remnant of Southern Idaho's railroad history is being torn down.

Robert Robertson and Bob Uhl, King Hill, recently purchased the old Union Pacific Railroad roundhouse building and are starting to dismantle it for the materials used in building it. The men, who are both engineers for the railroad, are tearing the building down in their spare time.

The two men bought the old building for an undisclosed amount and are selling the material to anybody who will buy it. Robertson said contractors are most interested in it. The men have already sold all of the lumber they have removed from the brick building.

They also have taken out several pickup and trailer loads of electrical conduit in the dismantling job. Robertson said the bricks from the building should sell as fast as the lumber did.

Even though the building has stood vacant and unused for several years, Union Pacific has given the men 120 days to tear it down and level the ground on the site.

Robertson said that if they aren't finished by the end of the time period, the railroad will probably give them an extension because the building has been deteriorating for several years.

The building has a long history that started back in 1883-84 in the frontier town of Medberry. It was here the first roundhouse and terminal building were built by the railroad. It served mainly as a freight station.

The original engine house had three stalls, and was served by a turntable located near by, Ray Clark, a resident of the Glens Ferry area for 75 years, said.

The terminal at Medberry did not last long, however, because there was a shortage of water for the steam engines.

The railroad, therefore, moved the terminal to Glens Ferry. The number of stalls in the roundhouse was enlarged to six. The stalls were for the 500 class engines, which were small, Clark said.

The turntable was small enough to be pulled around by mules or by gangs of men moving it with two large sweep arms.

At this time the original roundhouse at Glens Ferry was a wooden structure. The present brick building was built about 1903.

A new turntable, driven by electricity, was installed to serve the dozen engine stalls in the roundhouse.

The turntable was used until diesel electric units put steam locomotives into retirement. In the last years the turntable was used, only three engine stalls were in use.

The building itself was used until a couple of years ago as a boiler to heat the depot, hospital and flag station.

Demolition of the yard began last fall, when the railroad tore the rails out of the building and from around it.

The plaque bearing the date the roundhouse was built will be the only remnant of the structure.

Robertson and Uhl plan to present it to be mounted and displayed at the new Three Island State Park.

Snow closes Idaho roads

BOISE (UPI) — More snow swirled over Idaho today, making many mountain roads slick for travel and forcing closure or at least five of them.

A report from the state departments of highways and law enforcement said the Swan Valley section of U.S. 20-25, Ashton Hill and West Yellowstone on U.S. 101, Cotterel to the Utah line on Interstate 80N, U.S. 30, and State Highways 32 and 33 were closed to traffic.

Enforcement of the closure order, Fournier said, will be rigid, with support pledged by fish and game department personnel and area law enforcement officers in apprehending violators. Violators are subject to prosecution under federal law, he said.

Several other closures have been necessary on the Sawtooth National Forest this year to protect game, prevent threats of avalanche danger and eliminate conflict of other recreational uses of the forest.

Other areas closed include the Magic Mountain and Pomerelle ski areas and lands immediately adjacent to the resorts, and the area surrounding Baldy Mountain near Sun Valley. Closures for these areas have previously been announced.

Warm Springs canyon closed to most travel

KETCHUM — Closure of the Warm Springs Creek Canyon west of here to all unauthorized motor vehicles was announced today by Sawtooth National Forest Supervisor A.E. Fournier, Twin Falls.

Fournier said the closure order, which includes snowmobiles and other winter vehicle travel, becomes effective today. It will continue through March 15 and is necessary to protect game and protect winter vehicles from avalanche danger.

The closure beginning this winter will be effective each year in the future from Dec. 15 through March 15, Fournier said.

Regional Forester Vern Hamro, Ogden, signed the closure order prohibiting vehicular use within one eighth of a mile of either side of the canyon and including the Ketchum-Featherline Forest Development Road known locally as the Warm Springs Road.

Fournier said the closure will prevent disturbance of elk and deer in their winter range areas and promote public safety by prohibiting winter travel in an area where there is frequent hazard from snow avalanches.

Signs will be posted at the entrances to the closed area and copies of the closure order are available from the Sawtooth Forest offices in Twin Falls and Ketchum.

Fournier said the closure does not prevent winter travel into the area other than by motorized vehicle, but he said any method of winter travel is not recommended because of harassment of big game and continuous threats from avalanches.

Committees picked

HEYBURN — Bill Jackson, president of the Mini-Cassia Radio Alert Team, today announced appointments of committee chairmen.

Larry Hare has been named assistant communications officer. Other appointments include Mrs. Sharon Burget, activities and refreshments; Jerry Vickers, membership; John Hilling, Mindoka County, and Ray Brown, Cassia County, public relations, and Janice Harden, telephone committee.

Arvis Edmondson, communications officer, introduced guests including Walt Milton, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Goodwin, and Harold Metz, all Twin Falls, and Cecil Terry, Paul.

Members of the Alert Team from Twin Falls gave pointers on conducting alerts and taking care of emergencies.

It was announced the Rupert Jaycees are sponsoring motorcycle races April 4 and have requested the Radio Alert Team to stand by in case of emergency.

The next meeting will be held March 13 in the Heyburn Council room. Persons interested in the Radio Alert program are invited to attend, according to Jackson.

Owyhee road left off state system

BOISE (UPI) — Members of the Idaho Highway Board say placement of a road from Hammett to Marsing has high priority but cannot be done at this time.

That was the board's answer to an appeal from directors of the Owyhee Cattlemen's Assn. at a luncheon Tuesday.

At the luncheon, Sen. Walter Yarbrough, R-Grand View, asked for inclusion of the 67 mile road in order to secure state maintenance support for the county built road.

Howard R. Thomason, Sandpoint, highway board chairman, said it has been board policy for several years not to add new mileage to the state system because of limited funds.

"We have to say no now, but we must make an evaluation," Thomason said.

T.F. woman will review book at 20th Century Club meeting

TWIN FALLS — A review of "Anna and the King of Siam" will be given March 1 at 1 p.m. at the Turf Club in a program featuring Mrs. LeRoy Arrington and sponsored by the Twentieth Century Club.

Mrs. Arrington will review the book written by Margaret Landon and Mrs. Mary Walker will sing selections from "The King and I," a musical taken from "Anna and the King of Siam."

It has been said of "Anna and the King of Siam" that "rarely, if ever, has the inner life of the Oriental Court been laid so bare as in this book; the romance, terror of the harem, splendor of the palace amidst the squalor of the city of women. Comedies, tragedies, intrigue, cruelties and gentle wisdom are all there."

Mrs. Arrington has been associated with the International Toastmistress Clubs for 11 years. She has served in all offices at local and council levels and is now supervisor of the Snake River Region comprised of Idaho, Northern Utah, Eastern Oregon and Eastern Washington.

As supervisor she visits all councils and some clubs in the four states to give workshops and evaluate the clubs and councils.

She also is active in the LDS Church and is now a ward teacher and speech trainer.

MRS. LEROY ARRINGTON will review "Anna and the King of Siam" March 2 at a meeting of the Twentieth Century Club at the Turf Club in Twin Falls.

Smorgasbord planned by Methodists

BURLEY — The United Methodist Church smorgasbord dinner will be served from 5 to 8 p.m. Friday, at the church in the educational building and church basement, announced Mr. and Mrs. Warren Mohrlang, general chairman of the dinner.

The dinner plan will feature some 21 varieties of food and has been used by Rev. G.A. Trobaugh, in Oregon and Idaho churches. The dinner plan was devised by Clyde Mummery, Oregon, and has been used extensively in the Portland area.

A variety show is planned between 8 and 7:30 p.m. under the direction of Mrs. Hap Reynolds and Mrs. Con Annett.

Others assisting are Lewis Sands, Mrs. Gary Hubanith, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Street, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hulzinger, Mrs. W. B. Cazier, Mrs. Glenn Simmons, Mrs. Frank Spencer, Mrs. Joe Funke, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Sterling, Mrs. Don Holden, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Kunath, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Sharples, Mrs. Trobaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Moorman, all friends and serving.

Mrs. Ned Dunn is in charge of the table decorations and the centerpiece will be for sale. Hostesses will be Mr. and Mrs. Lex Kunau.

Other chairmen include Mrs. Jack Corey, and L. H. Sandmann, tickets, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Aldrich, dishwashers; Mrs. Duane Glaesemann, waiters and Ray Reid is treasurer for the dinner.

The proceeds will be used for three summer months of radio time for the 11 a.m. worship service; to provide the "Dial-A-Prayer", 678-3247 for 1971; to assist in district extension and camping; and for two missionary families who are serving in the Far East area.

Tickets are available from Methodist families in the Burley area or at the door.

4-H club to sponsor queen clinic

TWIN FALLS — The Dozen Dudes 4-H Club will sponsor a queen's clinic May 8 and 9. A committee stand will be set up.

The club met Monday at the home of its leader, Karen Jones. Paul Galloway, president, was in charge. Roll call was on different types of food for horses.

Members voted to bring canned food to the next meeting to contribute to Harbor House.

Members worked on veterinary sciences and are to have the next chapter done by the next meeting at 7:30 p.m. March 7 at the Anderson residence.

Animal, fish, butterfly and bird prints are ecology motifs on the printed fashion scene for milady for spring.

Valley students selected for European tour

MOSCOW — Six Magic Valley students at the University of Idaho have been chosen to take part in the European Concert Study Tour as members of the Idaho Vandaleer Concert Choir.

They are Deborah Watkins, Edon; Richard Flechtman, Gooding; Jeffery Garajon, Hailley; Margaret van Omlan, Jerome; Susan Olsen, Twin Falls; and Elaine Ambrose, Wendell.

The Vandaleers plan nine concert appearances in Europe, four in England, four in Germany and one in Paris.

Jerome lodge contributes

JEROME — Contributions were made to the educational foundation and the U.N. Pilgrimage Monday night when members of the Syringa Rebekah Lodge No. 110 met at Jerome.

Mrs. Willard Shropshire, Noble Grand, conducted the meeting. Members were reminded of the district meeting at 8:30 p.m. March 5 in Gooding.

Bible reading and refreshments closed the meeting.

DEAR ABBY: I have been widowed twice and I am not an old lady. Unless you call 49 "old."

After my first husband died, I continued to wear my wedding ring. A friend who had recently lost his wife became interested in me. He said he didn't object to my wearing my wedding ring if it made me feel better. Somehow it did, so I just never took it off. Well, I married this fine man and he put a second wedding ring on my finger right next to my first.

Two years later my second husband died. It's been 14 months since his death and I am again being asked out. Perhaps I should mention that I have never taken either one of my two wedding rings off. Every man who meets me asks me why I wear two wedding rings. Some think I shouldn't even wear one. I tell them the truth. They all think I am strange, but Abby, my hands would feel "naked" without them. What is the correct thing to do? TWO RINGS

DEAR TWO: The correct thing would be to remove both wedding rings if you are interested in marrying a third time. Your second husband was unusually generous. I doubt if you will find a man who will willingly contribute to a "three ring circus."

DEAR ABBY: Since my divorce a year ago, I have gone with several women, but have not been intimate with any of them.

A few months ago, just for sexual outlet, I picked up a young and pretty girl off the street and took her to my apartment. She was a prostitute, so I paid her. Since then I've seen her several times. I have even bought her dinner. [She doesn't drink and I don't either.] I have grown fond of her, and have even thought of asking her to give up being a woman of the streets and go with only me. I would even stop my sex relations with her to prove I want her company only because I like her. [Possibly I am in love with her.]

What she is and has been doesn't matter. That can be changed if she wants to change it. My problem is how to let her know how much I care for her.

I will not hold her past against her. We all make plenty of mistakes. AWAITING YOUR REPLY

DEAR AWAITING: You express yourself very well. Just tell her what you have told me.

DEAR ABBY: I am a grandmother. As one would expect, I am placed in competition with the other grandmother. I don't happen to believe in bringing my grandchildren a present every time I go to see them. The other grandmother does, which is her privilege. This gives the grandchildren the impression that they have something coming every time a grandparent visits them. [We live in the same city.]

What should I say when the little ones come running to greet me and ask, "What did you bring me?"

EMPTY HANDS: FULL HEART

DEAR EMPTY: Suggest to your grandchildren's parents that they ask the other grandmother to cool the gift-giving gambit. It's not good for the kids and it's unfair to you. If that doesn't work, you will have to cultivate the youngsters' affection in other ways, until their values mature, as they will.

COSMETICS GO TO WASTE

— By Mary Sue Miller

There are more ways to squander your precious skin treatments and makeup than letting them sit unused for weeks at a time in a bureau drawer. Although that's perhaps the greatest waste. But how about these?

Applying so much cream, lotion or makeup that you have to rub off the excess with tissue. It's a wasteful practice for more than the obvious reason. Today's skin-care products are most effective when filmed on, owing to their high rate of absorption. Removing overages of makeup only adds to a botched job.

If you scrub on any cream or lotion, or dub with downward strokes, you do greater harm than the product can do good. Your motions go against the grain of your muscles. What price cosmetics when they harm the facial structure? The proper strokes are upward and outward, firm but gentle.

It's like taking the wrong pill if you use products not exactly suited to your skin in type and color. What's worse is failing to keep abreast of the developments in "pills"—new cosmetics. Unenlightened you could miss the very thing that would solve your stickiest problem.

You may be surprised to learn that cosmetic scientists know what your problem is and keep working on it. For the indifferent, beauty potentials simply go begging.

Rights worker speaks

TWIN FALLS — Robert Stradley, Kimberly businessman and chairman of the Twin Falls County Human Rights Commission, said all cases handled by the local group have been resolved without a formal hearing.

Addressing the Twin Falls County Republican Women's Club Monday afternoon at the Roundup Room of the Rogerson hotel, Stradley said the vice chairman, Fernando Rodriguez, and Edd Bossard, troubleshooter of the group, do much of the investigation. They are assisted by Mrs. Annie Padillo Rodriguez and Mrs. Louise Webster, commission secretary.

He asked the Republican women to do their part to insure the rights of all members of the community and termed the Human Rights Commission a "workshop of true democracy in action."

Purpose of the commission is to determine in cases presented to it, if an act of discrimination has taken place. The commission investigates the accusation and meets with the people involved to help them resolve the problem informally rather than through the courts.

Stradley was introduced by Mrs. R.L. Ullman, program chairman. Two committee chairmen were appointed by Mrs. Robert Stradley, president, including Mrs. L. James Koutnik, legislative chairman, Mrs. George L. Colner, publicity.

Mrs. James A. Sinclair reported on the state central committee meeting in Boise and said the state presidents of the GOP women and the Young GOP are now members of the state party's executive committee.

She announced the Lincoln Day banquet will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday at the American Legion Hall. Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy and Secy. of State Pete Cenarrusa will attend.

Mrs. Roy Painter reported on the Lincoln Day Banquet in Boise where Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, new national party chairman, spoke.

Mrs. John E. Hayes announced a Mexican dinner will be held March 6 from 5 to 8 p.m. at the Y building with proceeds going toward the establishment of a community center in South Park.

Rosemary Haley Clinton, Twin Falls, will give an illustrated commentary on pollution at the March meeting.

Spring story hours begin at Ketchum

KETCHUM — The spring series of nine pre-school story hours, sponsored by the Ketchum-Sun Valley Community Library, begins March 1, reports Mrs. Louis Mallano, director.

The program is open to all 4 and 5-year-old children of the community from 10 to 11 a.m. each Monday and Friday from March 1-29 at the library. She said the hourly sessions will include games, crafts, songs and stories, and is one of the more popular library sponsored programs for youngsters, Mrs. Mallano said.

She said blunt scissors, crayons, poster paper, paints and any craft material for pre-schoolers is needed and anyone able to donate such items is asked to contact her.

Enrollment of new library patrons averages three people per library day, Mrs. Daniel Hart, librarian, reported at the last board meeting. She said 2,208 books were circulated since Jan. 1, compared to 1,340 last year. Eighty musical recordings were circulated and a 1971 World Book encyclopedia set has been added to the juvenile section of the library.

Mrs. Harry Holmes, chairman of the Gold Mine Thrift Shop, said usable clothes, particularly ski wear, is needed at the shop, located in the rear of the library. The shop is open Tuesdays and Saturdays from noon to 4:30 p.m.

The resignation of Agnes Stronk from the board was accepted. The library is open Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 6 p.m.

Legislators' letters read at meeting

TWIN FALLS — Letters received by members of the Hansen Royal Neighbors Lodge from Idaho legislators were read during a meeting held Tuesday night at the Woodman hall.

The letters were in response to questions about proposed legislation which would place a tax levy on fraternal organizations. The legislators' responses assured the members no levy would be imposed if the organizations were strictly fraternal.

Mrs. Julian Onarte and daughter, Goning, were guests. Mrs. Arthur Adamson and Mrs. Mary Taylor provided refreshments, with Mrs. John Brown assisting with serving. Mrs. Jessie Calio and Mrs. Madge Panting will be hostesses for the March 9 meeting.

Six T.F. students picked for Syringa Girls' State

TWIN FALLS — Six juniors at Twin Falls High School have been selected to attend the 25th annual Syringa Girls' State in mid-June at Northwest Nazarene College, Nampa.

The Twin Falls girls are under the sponsorship of American Legion Auxiliary Post No. 7.

Those selected are Cheryl Cook, Marieta Bastian, Mary Ann Babel, Ellen Toolson, Linda Slaughter and Brenda Permann. Vicki Herzinger, daughter of Mrs. Norma Herzinger, Twin Falls, and Stately Herzinger, Caldwell, is first alternate.

Judges for competition were Mrs. Aloys Hoff and Mrs. Margaret Imes, auxiliary members from Jerome; Dr. Adele Thompson, dean of women at the College of Southern Idaho; Dr. Terry Smith, academic dean at CSI; Dr. Marvin Strop, professor of physics and mathematics at CSI, and Dr. Bruce Harrison, professor of sociology and director of learning resources center, CSI.

Mrs. James A. Sinclair, local chairman of the Girls' State committee, said Girls' State is designed to give the girls extensive training and practice in operation of government at state, county and local levels.

The delegates will travel to Boise where the girls will conduct a Girls' State session of the state legislature.

Miss Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin O. Cook, is an avid sports enthusiast and is active in drama. She participates in Children's Theatre and Strolling Players. She is being sponsored by the Twentieth Century Club.

Miss Bastian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arlen Bastian, is being sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. She is an honor student and a football, playing first chair in the Twin Falls High School Band. She also plays with the Magic Valley Symphony Orchestra and plans to be an elementary teacher.

Miss Babel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Babel, is junior class secretary and is active in student council. She hopes to enter social work after attending college. She is sponsored by the Scroptimist Club.

Miss Toolson is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William E. Toolson. She is secretary of the Idaho Association of Student Councils and attended youth legislature. She is sponsored by the Altrusa Club and plans to major in home economics or sociology in college.

Miss Slaughter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Del Slaughter, is sponsored by the Rotary Club. She is active in all phases of music. She plays the violin, piano and guitar and plans to work toward a degree in music education.

She also is drill team mistress and was Altrusa Club Girl of the Month.

Miss Permann is sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Leftoy Permann and is an accomplished pianist and organist. She hopes to further her education in special education to help handicapped children or to go into a career in guidance counseling.

Sewing workshop planned

TWIN FALLS — "The Twin Falls County Extension Service is sponsoring a workshop designed to help the home seamstress with sewing polyester fabrics," says Mrs. Alice Reed, extension home economist.

Jane Hardessen, educational representative for the Unique Zipper Co., will be guest speaker. The program will be at 1:30 March 2 at the Idaho Power Co. auditorium, 133 Second St. N., Mrs. Reed said.

Miss Hardessen will answer often-asked questions about polyester: what style of pattern, what kind of thread, what type of needle to use and whether the garment should be underlined. She will demonstrate sewing techniques and construction hints, including how to install the Unique Invisible zipper.

Following the one-hour workshop those attending will have the opportunity to ask questions about sewing.

Each woman attending will be given a booklet on Unique invisible zippers and a special booklet on sewing with polyester. There is no charge and all women interested in sewing may attend. Those attending the workshop are asked not to use the customer parking lot at the Idaho Power office.

Pilots, Bulldogs take opening round A-3 wins

SHOSHONE — Glenns Ferry blew Shoshone off the court in the first half with blistering 56 per cent shooting and coasted to a 70-47 victory and Mark Bulcher's steal and cripple with 45 seconds left keyed Kimberly to a cliffhanging 78-71 win over Declo Wednesday night in the opening round of the fourth district A-3 basketball tournament at Shoshone.

The result sends the Pilots — who found their shooting touch for the first time in a long while against the luckless Indians — against tournament-favorite Valley in the first game Thursday night at 6:45 p.m. Wendel, which drew the other bye in the six-team meet, faces Kimberly at 8:30. A preliminary junior varsity game starts at 5 p.m.

The Pilots, who didn't really take advantage of their big height on offense, didn't need it as they threw in everything in the first half. But at the other end it was a different story as Shoshone could rarely get off more than one shot in the face of the taller Ferry crew.

Behind the red-hot shooting of Paul Srum — who had 16 points a half — and his brother Bob, who finished with 14, Glenns Ferry pulled away from a fairly tight contest midway through the first eight minutes and led 20-11 at the rest. Paul and Bob hit immediately to start the second quarter for a 24-11 lead, and after Rich Brown upped that to 28-16 a few minutes later the Srums brothers combined for eight straight and a 35-16 bulge.

The Pilots' huge lead rose to 50-20 and finally crested at 58-23 in the later stages of the third quarter when both coaches sent in the reserves.

Kimberly began like the Pilots in the nightcap with Lindsey Posey getting eight points and Bulcher and Rod Rudolph combining for 10 in the first quarter as the Bulldogs raced to a 22-11 lead. After Bulcher hit to start the second quarter for a 24-11 margin Declo caught fire and outscored Kimberly 15-5 in the next four minutes to draw within 29-27. After that it was a burnburner as neither team could mount more than a three-point lead. It was tied 10 different times during the rest of the hectic contest and most of the time either the Bulldogs or Hornets were riding one or two-point leads.

Bull hawk in Ken Darrington, who threw in the

Cincinnati whips Cards

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Cincinnati shot only 31 per cent from the field during the first half Wednesday night, but came back with 52 per cent accuracy after intermission enroute to a 70-78 win over Louisville.

Steve Wenderfer with 29 points led the Bearcats to their 13th win against 11 losses. Three other Cincinnati players also scored in double figures.

Wenderfer was high in rebounding with 10, including 11 offensive rebounds, a career high for him.

Ron Thomas paced Louisville with 18 points. The Cardinals are now 18-5.

S.C. rips Wake Forest

COLUMBIA S. C. (UPI)—Seventh-ranked South Carolina used a first half scoring burst to jump ahead of Wake Forest and rolled to an 84-64 Atlantic Coast Conference victory Wednesday night.

Tom Owens, one of four seniors making his final home appearance of the season, sparked the Gamecocks with 25 points while riddling 18 rebounds and blocking a number of Dean shots.

Russians keep title

LYON, France (UPI)—Defending world champions of Russia, Irina Rodina and Sergei Ulanov, narrowly retained their world pairs title Wednesday night in a scintillating ice display but it was the third place African couple Jo Jo Straback and Ken Shibley of Downey, Calif., that got the ovation.

One that got away

BOB SHRUM of Glenns Ferry couldn't get this shot through the basket — only one of a few the torrid Pilots missed Wednesday night in the opening round of the A-3 district tournament. The Pilots dropped the Shoshone Indians 70-47 to join Kimberly in the opening night's winner circle.

crucial shots all night for the Hornets before he fouled out in the last 30 seconds, and Kevin Loveland provided most of Declo's points while Bulcher and Rudolph roamed underneath in combining for 42 for the Bulldogs.

But after all the heroics from both sides it came down to the last three minutes. Darrington made a steal and lay-up for a 67-65 Declo lead with 2:50 left and then a minute later gunned in a fantastic driving shot for the Hornets' last lead — 71-69. Mike Erickson tied it 71-71 with a pair of free throws with 1:45 left, then Bulcher made his key steal and bucket for a 73-71 lead.

Declo threw it away, had to foul, and Rudolph converted one of a one-and-one situation for a 74-71 edge, with Posey pulling down the rebound on the missed second shot. Rudolph got two more from the line with 25 seconds left to wrap it up before Bulcher's meaningless cripple just before the buzzer.

B.C. upsets Dukes 67-62

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI)—Boston College, led by Jim O'Brien's 23 points, upset eighth-ranked Duke University Wednesday night, 67-62, snapping a 15-game winning streak by the Dukes.

Boston College, playing very deliberate basketball and stubborn man for man defense, forced the Dukes into 10 turnovers in the first half, and 19 for the night and went into the lockerroom with a 30-19 lead at intermission.

The Dukes' high scoring brothers, Gary and Barry Nelson, each 8-foot-10, were limited to a total of 21 points, as the Eagles constantly sagged into the middle to keep out their taller inside men.

The Duke's now 10-3, were led in scoring by Gary Nelson, who had 15 points. Boston College is now 14-10.

53rd PGA meet opens today

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—The whole field had its eye on Arnold Palmer, and Palmer had his weather eye on the wind, today in the opening round of the 53rd PGA golf championship.

The big questions as a field of 98 began the 72-hole test over the 7,096-yard, par-72 PGA national club course was whether Palmer's first victory in 14 months last week means his return to rule all the pros — and how the gusting wind would affect the stars' play.

"I feel my game is reasonably good right now," said Palmer, who at 41 is making another bid for the only major championship that has escaped him during his illustrious career. That could be the best news for his fans in "Arnie's Army," and the worst for his foes.

Palmer, Florida resident

Jack Nicklaus, defending champion Dave Stockton, and Tom Shaw, the only player to win two tournaments so far this year, were the chief pre-tournament favorites, plus Masters champion Billy Casper, U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin of England, and Texan Miller Barber, golfs' "Mister X" who ranks second to Shaw in 1971 money winnings.

Palmer, who has finished second three times in the PGA, including last year, admits that he wants to win this one, "very badly." He declined to reveal his score in his final practice round Wednesday, saying he was "just horsing around, testing out the grain of the Bermuda greens to see how they affect the roll of the ball from different spots."

The 29-year-old Stockton, who said he is "tired and rundown," shot a one-over-par 35-38-73 in his windup and was a bit optimistic over his chances. "I don't think I should be the favorite," he said. "But I'd be an idiot if I said I don't think I have a good chance to win. My short-irons are not as good right now as they should be," Stockton said.

Milwaukee clinches Midwest

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The Milwaukee Bucks clinched the title of the Midwest division in the National Basketball Association Wednesday night by beating the San Diego Rockets 139-104.

Both teams got off to a lethargic start as neither the Bucks nor the Rockets could take command. The Bucks led 29-25 at the end of the first quarter and could only increase that to a 62-53 halftime advantage.

But the Bucks came out running in the third quarter and with 3:52 left led by 21 points 91-70. Milwaukee carried a 99-83 lead into the fourth quarter.

The running didn't stop there as the Bucks stretched their lead to 20 points and beyond on the way to their 13th straight victory and their 58th against just 11 defeats. Bob Dandridge led the Milwaukee attack with 33 points.

Hunting seals to begin

OTTAWA (UPI)—The annual seal hunt, derided by some critics as a senseless slaughter of still a vital source of income for Canada's impoverished East Coast fishermen, is about to begin again.

The hunt has been denounced by animal-lovers in Canada, United States and Europe. But the Canadian government has decided to let hunters continue to kill the furry little animals under strict control, because it provides people in the Maritime Provinces with work and a chance to earn enough money to survive the rest of the winter.

This year between March 12 and April 24, a maximum of 245,000 seals may be killed by Canadian and Norwegian fishermen. The total kill last year was 300,000—about the average for recent years.

Although Norway observed Canadian restrictions in the Gulf of St. Lawrence last year, this is the first time there will be an international quota covering offshore waters as well as the gulf. Of the 245,000 seals that can be harvested, Canada can take 145,000 and Norway 100,000.

Cliff Levelton, director of operations at the Department of Fisheries, said there was concern over the size of the herds this year, so the quota was reduced. "They aren't at the point of extinction, but it is the responsibility of man not to over-exploit his resources," he said.

According to John Lundrigan, a Conservative member of Parliament from Newfoundland whose constituents take part in the hunt, the sealing complements the general fishing industry.

If the government were to stop the hunt, Lundrigan said, the people would suffer a great hardship.

"We used to have hundreds of vessels on the hunt," Lundrigan said, referring to his fellow Newfoundlanders. "They would leave from St. John's, blast their way through the ice and get up to the bays, harvest the seals and come back."

There are not as many ships as in St. John's now, maybe three or four. Many of the Newfoundlanders join the "hand-men"—shore residents who walk out on the ice or go out in small boats to kill the seals on treacherous ice floes.

Every possible effort has been made to see the hunt is carried out in the most humane way, officials stressed.

"I believe my province is unconcerned about unnecessary pain and they guard against this," Lundrigan said.

Over the past decade the Canadian government has paid particular attention to the way the seals are harvested. "Our supervision will be as strict as it can be," said Jack Davis, minister of fisheries.

Don Jamieson, federal transport minister and a Newfoundland member of Parliament, said he was glad the fuss over the slaughter seemed to be dying down.

"It is at least as humane as any slaughterhouse," he said.

"For many people, the $300 or $400 earned in the hunt, are still an important supplement to their income at the end of the winter," Jamieson said.

By MARGARET P. EVERETT
Glenshaw, Pa.

What was I so nervous about? This was the moment I had waited for, prayed for. It was 10 a.m. and I was to be at our new baby for the first time.

"How do you feel?" Miss Nelson, our caseworker, asked as we sat in the waiting room of the adoption agency.

"I didn't sleep a wink last night," I replied. "And at this moment I could turn around and walk right out of here."

I knew what was wrong with me, that my panic was more than nervous excitement. I turned toward my husband, Paul, in a desperate effort to calm myself and whisper my secret fear. "What if I don't like the baby?"

Every instinct told me that a mother instantly loves her baby. Hadn't I seen pictures and read stories of adoring mothers looking down into the faces of their scrawny, wrinkled, red, little babies? And I, as a new mother in a different way, would have to feel that same outpouring of love or question my motherhood.

When Miss Nelson brought the baby I looked at the tiny face peering through the blanket. She was little — 5 weeks old, 8½ pounds — scrawny and pale. I took her and smiled at Miss Nelson. She smiled because I had to, not because I wanted to. I didn't exactly feel like crying. I just didn't feel anything.

When Miss Nelson departed, leaving the three of us alone, my husband and I made cooing and clucking noises to the baby and light conversation with each other. "She's got a beautifully shaped head," Paul said. "And lovely blue eyes." Yes, I thought, but she isn't blonde and she isn't cute.

Jennifer's first few weeks at home were a nightmare. She cried constantly and slept little. I walked around in a daze, wondering where all my peace had gone and why I had wanted a baby in the first place. I had expected the lot of us to be different, but not such a total involvement of time as now faced me.

I put on the happy new-mother face, valiantly, especially to Miss Nelson. She called several times, but I was never far from tears. I didn't feel anything for this baby and I was terrified. I was sure that my anxiety had a lot to do with Jennifer's behavior, yet it became a vicious circle. The only thing that kept me going was my husband's certainty that this was our baby.

I watched Jennifer grow those next few weeks. I began to feel her warmth, spontaneously and alertness. I was delighted at how perfectly her body was formed and I counted over and over again her 10 tiny fingers and toes.

When Jennifer was 2 months old we went to the doctor for a routine checkup. At the end of the examination, he said, "I think you should take her to see an orthopedist. Her feet are pointing out rather strangely, and he might want her to wear braces for a while."

As the day of our appointment with the orthopedist approached, I told myself a hundred times not to worry that the doctor was only being cautious. But as we got into the car all my fears bubbled to the surface. Braces! What if something terrible happened? What if she'll never walk?

All of a sudden, as I thought about the possibilities of tragedy for my baby, something happened to me. The thought burst into my mind, like the spring flower that finally pokes its head above the ground: I love this baby. I love this precious little person beside me. I love the smile which comes more frequently now.

In addition to being the best swordsman in France, D'Artagnan was one of the best bridge players. Cardinal Richelieu loved the game also and today we find D'Artagnan sitting East and defending four spades against the Cardinal. Porthos, sitting West, cashed his ace and king of hearts and shifted to the deuce of trumps. The Cardinal won in dummy and, without a moment's hesitation, led dummy's king of diamonds. The Cardinal ruffed, cashed his ace of clubs, enticed dummy with a second trump, lead a club and went into deep thought. He knew that Porthos was a sound bidder, but D'Artagnan wasn't likely to raise without some high card. He surely didn't have the ace of diamonds. His high card must be the king of clubs. Richelieu played the queen and eventually was down one.

trick. "What a magnificent rapier thrust," said the Cardinal. "Only a master swordsman could have visualized my purpose in playing the trick."

king of diamonds and found the counter play instantaneously. For the benefit of those readers who don't understand Richelieu's diamond play, he was trying to locate the king of clubs. If D'Artagnan had played his ace of diamonds on the king, the Cardinal would know West held the club king for his bid. He would have made his contract by simply playing a low club instead of the queen. D'Artagnan replied, "It was nothing. Your Eminence. A musketeer always protects the king!" WORK NOT UNLIKE the rigging of a circus tent is going on at the Olympic stadium at Munich, Germany, during the construction of the suspended tent roof which will cover a large part of the 1972 Olympic grounds. Thick steel cables, wrapped in bundles in order to be rigged up by the dozens, dangle from their anchorage on high pillars. The symbol of the Olympics, the Olympia tower, can be seen in distance. Summer project slated on marijuana research

TORONTO (UPI)—If you like smoking marijuana and have a knack for assembling wooden furniture, there's a made-to-measure summer job waiting for you in Toronto.

More correctly, "were being sought." Toronto newspapers ran the foundation's phone number and request for volunteers one day last week. Twenty-four hours later—almost 200 eager applicants.

Those ultimately accepted will assemble wooden stools and other furniture as part of the study so that their work capacity can be gauged. The amount of work produced will earn participants a proportional number of "tokens."

What's happening here is a major study conducted by the Ontario Addiction Research Foundation which is expected to provide one of the most detailed surveys ever produced on the continuous use of marijuana.

This week, the elaborate screening procedures begin. Criteria for acceptance into this seemingly carefree situation are, of course, much more extensive than simply having a liking for marijuana (or wooden furniture).

Gary Seidler, the foundation's information officer, explained that "the tokens are used to buy food, cigarettes, alcohol, writing materials, newspapers, laundry services, access to recreational facilities, extra marijuana or can be saved and exchanged for cash at the end of the three months."

More protection given

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court today granted news media added protection from libel suits by political officials in candidates and more leeway in interpreting official documents.

The court held in the newspaper cases that a charge of criminal conduct against an official or candidate for office is always relevant to his fitness for office in news accounts.

The researchers will be studying whether regular users become dependent, whether there are withdrawal symptoms and whether "reverse tolerance" develops—a phenomenon by which a regular user claims he needs less and less of the drug to achieve the same effects.

Four banks indicted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—A federal grand jury today indicted four national banks in Ohio for making illegal political campaign loans in the 1970 primary and general elections in Ohio.

The money went to both the Democratic and Republican candidates for governor, the unsuccessful Republican candidate for state attorney general, and the Knox County Republican Finance Committee.

The volunteers will also be watched for signs of hostility, deterioration in physical health, loss of work capacity and social deterioration.

Senate closes loophole

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate reconsidered a bill it killed Tuesday and approved 18-16 Wednesday a bill to disallow the 50 per cent capital gains deduction on corporate taxes in Idaho.

The proposal was made by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus in his executive budget message. He said it would return approximately $454,000 to the general fund in fiscal 1972.

Sen. Neil Miller, D-Blackfoot, floor sponsor of the measure, said the measure would spell "the end of the corporate relief in Idaho at the expense of the small individual taxpayer."

Miller said for each dollar increase in state tax the corporations would be able to write off 48 cents on federal taxes.

"This reduces the amount going to the federal government and keeps the money in Idaho for your local government to work with."

Sen. Walter Yarbrough, R-Grand View, opposed the measure, saying it would set up a tax situation that would penalize only corporations and not private firms.

Sen. Fisher Ellsworth, D-Idaho Falls, said 1971 would go down as a "bad, bad year for business" in Idaho, and said he was convinced the end of the corporate tax deduction would be a minus factor when businesses consider coming to Idaho.

But Miller said the change would be an equalization for taxpayers, adding, "this special treatment is unfair. If you want to call it this, it's a little people's bill."

"If you believe in tax equality, let's have it right here with this vote."

Privy hassle

A PRIVY on the front lawn in the richest suburb of St. Louis is causing a furor among the neighbors. The wooden outhouse was built on the front lawn of the historic Hanley House that is being restored the way it was built in 1855. Neighbors didn't care, and petitioned to move the authentically-placed structure to the back of the house. (UPI)

Driver training fee prepared by solons

BOISE (UPI) — Legislation to make driver's training a self-sustaining course of instruction for Idaho high school students may be forthcoming from this legislature.

Chairman John O. Sessions, R-Driggs, appointed a three-member house transportation subcommittee Wednesday to look into the possibilities and report back to the committee.

His action came after Rep. Bill Roberts, R-Buhl, suggested boosting the fee for instructional permits rather than the regular driver's licenses to cover increased costs of the program.

Spokesmen for the program in the State Department of Education have told the committee they currently have an estimated $247,000 deficit and that the fee no longer are large enough to sustain the program. They have asked for a $1 increase in driver license fees to help sustain the program.

"I'd like to see it self-supporting," Roberts said.

Rep. E. V. McLean, R-Halley, agreed. But he said the problem was larger than just raising fees.

"I'm not against raising the fee a little bit here but I don't think this is going to solve the problem at all," McLean said.

"I think we've got too expensive a program going," he said. "Continually going over the budget is improper."

At one point Roberts suggested raising the instruction fee to $7 from $4. But Rep. Jack Kenneville, R-Boise, said that may not be enough.

He said at one time Education Department spokesmen told him it would take a $10 instruction fee to make the program self-sustaining. Now, he said, he is told it will cost $40 to $50 per student.

Kenneville agreed with raising instruction fees although he did not suggest any amount.

Rep. Larry Jackson, R-Boise, said he felt the learner's permit should cost between $9 and $10. Then, he said, that money should be dedicated to the driver education program and that educators be informed that revenue is their budget and not to expect any more funds from the legislature.

Rep. Ernest Hale, R-Burley, suggested raising the driver's license fee by $1 and the learner's permit fee by $6.

Sessions named Roberts, Kenneville and Rep. A. L. White, D-Orfino, to a subcommittee to study the problem.

GOP presses idle fund use

BOISE (UPI) — Republicans used their superior numbers in the Senate Wednesday to force through an amendment which could allow the state investment board to handle the state's idle funds.

The bill to be amended would make the state treasurer a member of the investment board, increasing the membership from nine to ten.

But Sen. Dean Summers, R-Boise, said he felt the state treasurer should turn her idle fund investments over to the board if she wished to be a member.

Sen. John Evans, D-Malden, questioned the constitutionality of the amendment and said he was sure the amendment was drafted precisely because of that reason.

He said the fact that the amendment — and thus the measure — was unconstitutional was not "take our treasurer who is elected by the people and is responsible to the people from the board."

Evans said supreme court decisions have already established that the legislature cannot take constitutional responsibilities away from a constitutional officer.

He said he felt the state treasurer had a right to be a member of the investment board.

But when a division of the senate was called, Republicans stood up to favor the amendment and Democrats stood to oppose it, bringing one unidentified senator to inquire loudly, "this isn't a political issue?"

House approves new credit code

BOISE (UPI) — The House approved 54-11 and sent to the Senate after a 54-minute debate Wednesday a uniform consumer credit code a sponsor said gives Idaho "home rule" of its consumer affairs.

"Idaho can obtain an exemption from the federal truth in lending law and retain home rule of our own consumer affairs," Rep. Steve Antone, R-Rupert, floor sponsor, said.

He said the measure not only provides laws to control credit transactions, interest rates and usury but is also designed to protect the consumer.

It provides, he said, "A viable solution" to the recurring problems of consumer protection. The measure, while it retains the state's usury laws, sets forth a sliding scale of rates for revolving credit. It permits 36 per cent interest a year on the first $300, 21 per cent on revolving credit between $300 and $1,000 and 15 per cent for that above $1,000.

A rate of 8 per cent — or one and one-half per cent a month — may be charged on the unpaid balance.

Real estate transactions deliberately were left out of the bill, Antone said. The regular usury laws will apply to such transactions.

Rep. Patricia McDermott, D-Pocatello, attacked the bill on grounds it will unfairly pinch the consumer on interest rates.

"I think we're passing landmark legislation and stocking it to the people of Idaho," Miss McDermott said.

With a prime interest rate now at 5 1/2 per cent, she said, "I find it exceptionally difficult to justify in my own mind . . . the necessity to charge 36 per cent on revolving charge accounts."

Highway fund check falters

BOISE (UPI) — A bill to require cities, counties and highway districts to account for how they spend highway user monies finally ran out of gas in the house Wednesday.

For the second time in two days the House killed the proposal — this time 26-33. On Tuesday they hot it down 32-34 before reviving it for one more ride through the August assembly.

Rep. William J. Murphy, D-Wallace, once again opened the attack on the bill by pointing out it duplicates legislation already on the books.

"It's like putting another wart on a dull pickle and it's useless," Murphy said.

Major sponsor Ernest Hale, R-Burley, said the measure simply provides information on where and how these monies are spent.

Gem House approves dredge bill

BOISE (UPI) — A bill providing an injunctive procedure for stopping operation of a dredge mine without a permit passed through the House 54-0 Wednesday and headed into the Senate.

Floor sponsor Ed Hedges, R-Boise, said the legislation merely corrects a defect in the existing dredge mining law.

Rep. Emery Hedlund, D-St. Maries, told of the difficulties last summer in state attempts to stop dredge mining on a stream in northern Idaho which feeds the St. Joe River.

Sen. Jordan hits FPC dam exam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho, said Wednesday a federal power commissioner examiner's recommendation for a two-dam hydroelectric project on the Snake River between Idaho and Oregon "completely overlooked" the future water needs of the area.

Jordan said the initial decision by FPC Examiner William C. Levy appeared to be "based solely upon the power needs of the Pacific Northwest."

Levy recommended that the Pacific Northwest Power Co. and Washington Public Power supply system be permitted to build a $775.8 million project consisting of the Mountain Sheep and Pleasant Valley Dams.

New tax form reflects changes in reform act

Taxpayers coming to grips with that annual task of filling their returns will discover this year that they'll be dealing with a new two-page Federal Form 1040 reflecting the many changes brought about by the Tax Reform Act of 1969.

The new low income allowance, which eliminates certain taxpayers from paying tax and reduces the tax for others, is built into the IRS Optional Tax Tables and thus precludes separate figuring. Other changes spawned by the Tax Reform Act, including but not limited to, the increases in personal exemptions from $600 to $625 for 1970, reduction and repeal of the Tax Surcharge, recapture of certain farm losses and the new minimum tax provisions, are reflected in Form 1040.

Even through the new 1970 Form 1040 is a two-page form, a taxpayer can file a complete return on the first page of Form 1040 for 1970 if:

- (1) His income is under $10,000 and consists only of wages and not more than $100 of dividends or interest;
- (2) He does not itemize deductions or claim retirement income credit, investment tax credit or the foreign tax credit; and
- (3) He claims no adjustments for sick pay, moving expenses, employee business expenses or payments to self-employed retirement plans.

Page 2 of Form 1040 is now for 1970. At the top of Page 2 taxpayers are required to indicate whether they had any interest in, or other authority over a bank, securities or other financial account in a foreign country (except in a U.S. military banking facility operated by a U.S. financial institution).

If a taxpayer answers in the affirmative, then Form 4683, the hidden foreign bank account form, must be filed.

In addition, Page 2 covers information necessary for obtaining additional dependency exemptions and is to be utilized to list the amounts carried from other schedules and other forms to reflect totals to be carried to Page 1. Also it contains the "Tax Computation," which replaces Schedule T, eliminated this year.

Form 1040 retains the "building block" aspect of last year's return for taxpayers who need to furnish more information than the two-page Form 1040 calls for. Supplementary schedules are provided for this purpose.

Basically, the schedules are similar to those used last year, such as Schedule A (itemized deduction), Schedule B (dividends and interest), Schedule C (business income other than farming), Schedule E (miscellaneous income), Schedule F (farming income and expansion) and Schedule SE (self-employment tax). However, some of these schedules have been printed back to back. These include Combined Schedules A (itemized deduction) and B (dividend and interest income) and Schedules E (supplemental income) and R (retirement income credit).

Schedule D has been revised considerably to reflect the various provisions of the Tax Reform Act of 1969 such as the netting of gains and losses from casualty — or theft of any property used in trade or business or any capital asset held for six months — for the production of income and the new net loss recapture rules.

If a taxpayer's adjusted gross income is $20,000 or less and consists only of wages or salaries and tips, dividends, interest, pensions and annuities and he elects the standard deduction instead of itemizing deductions, he can, if he wishes, have the IRS compute his tax and then send him a bill for any tax due or a refund for any overpayment. In this case the taxpayer completes lines 1 through 18 and 24, 26, 27 and 28, if applicable.

If a taxpayer is entitled to a retirement income credit, he should complete portions of Schedule R and enter "RIC" (retirement income credit) on line 22.
