Turkish forces hunt on

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI)—The Turkish government said Saturday night it has mobilized 30,000 troops and police in the search for four kidnaped American airmen whose abductors threatened to execute them earlier in the day.

Palestinian guerrillas, he said. The searchers, meanwhile, operated on the assumption that the kidnapers had not gone through with their threat to kill the airmen.

Shutdown of plant sought

TWIN FALLS — A petition was filed here late Friday afternoon on behalf of 24 plaintiffs seeking an injunction against Cascade Commodities Corp., Melvin Carter and Carter Packing Co., prohibiting the rendering plant in Buhl from further operation.

Security officials said, numerous military helicopters, and small planes scoured Tuz Golu Salt Lake 87 miles south of the Turkish capital and three truckloads of troops combed its surrounding swamps and rolling flats.

The ransom was not paid and there was no word on the men's fate 12 hours after the deadline. The U.S. government, which rejects ransom demands as a matter of policy, remained deeply concerned about the fate of four servicemen, officials in Washington said Saturday.

Young veteran

IN AMERICA, 12-year old boys are engaged in baseball or other games and frivolous activities. Not so this 12 year old Cambodian lad, who is engaged in deadly serious game of war. Although he has no uniform, he carries rifle in allied operation. (UPI)

Viet drive gains goal

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese troops supported by U.S. bombers swept into the Ho Chi Minh Trail center of Sepon Saturday to achieve the big objective of their Laos offensive.

Communist bodies, most killed by air and artillery attack, and took 13 North Vietnamese prisoners. South Vietnamese losses in the capture of Sepon were described as light and there was no sign of the tank force and anti-aircraft missiles which North Vietnamese commanders were reported to have massed in the defense of the town where a huge cache of Communist food, weapons and ammunition was found.

Ski slope accidents injure 2

TWIN FALLS — Two people who reportedly were injured Saturday in skiing accidents were being treated at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Saturday night.

Some of the luster of South Vietnam's victory at Sepon was dimmed by reports that two Americans had been killed in a Communist artillery attack on the U.S. support base for the Laos offensive at Khe Sanh, that four more American helicopters had been shot down in Laos and that the U.S. support base at Quang Tri 40 miles from the Laos frontier was shelled.

Teacher hopes dim for added funds

By LEE TREMAINE Times-News Staff Writer BURLLEY — Cassia County teachers see little hope of an improved financial picture as far as state funding is concerned.

Richard Garrard, Burlley, president of the Cassia County Education Association, told the Times-News Saturday the mass exodus to Boise, and the conferences with legislators, on Friday, was well worth closing the schools for the day.

Educators conferred with Cassia County legislators while official delegates of the Idaho Education Association were meeting to consider further action if the legislature fails to provide funding at what is considered the proper level.

fully rounded picture of the financial bind facing both the schools and the Legislature. Two Cassia County legislators are "committed" to oppose further taxation," Garrard said.

Panel backs mining bill

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate resources and environment committee gave a "do pass" recommendation Saturday to a bill which would regulate surface mining over a protest the measure "doesn't do anything."

"It must be a good compromise," he added. Sen. Marsden Williams, R-Idaho Falls, committee chairman, said one amendment to the measure had been proposed which would remove the word "surface" and make the provisions of the act applicable to all mining.

Wendell family escapes injury

WENDELL — No injuries were reported Saturday afternoon when a Wendell woman's car was struck by a train at a crossing at Wendell's east edge.

But Sen. Ray Rigby, D-Rexburg, said the bill was the result of a study by an interim legislative committee and said "if we fool around now, we'll end up with nothing."

Tops in show DEMONSTRATING finishing techniques for Idaho opal is Mark Stetler of Spencer Opal Mines, who received first place in dealers category in Magic Valley Gem Show Saturday. ## Belfast clashes continue BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Terrorists in Belfast's Roman Catholic Ballymurphy area attacked a British army outpost with machine gun fire Saturday night. The troops fired back, wounding one suspect.

The gun battle erupted shortly after the pubs closed when Catholic youths barricaded a Belfast street with a red double-decker bus and set it afire near the spot where British troops killed one civilian earlier Saturday by firing on a Catholic crowd throwing bombs.

Clouds, wind, warmer

Plaintiffs further charge the county zoning regulation stipulates use in the area as agricultural and residential and the rendering plant was established after the zoning regulations were adopted. (Continued on P. 28)

Street funds endorsed by Gem highway board

By O.A. (GUS) KELKER Times-News Executive Editor BOISE — Members of the State Board of Highway Directors have no objection to giving cities more money for additional street funds but they are against taking any of these funds away from any other agency with comparable needs, such as the Department of Highways.

the gasoline tax and earmark this exclusively for use of cities. Mathes told the Times-News the State Board of Highway Directors does recognize that cities of Idaho need additional funds for streets. This need exists just as a similar need for funds exists on state highways and other rural roads under the jurisdiction of the counties and the highway districts.

other bills were placed on third reading calendar for Monday. One raises the tax by one cent and diverts two cents to the cities and the other gives cities one cent from the present seven cent tax.

of the highway user. Failure to provide an adequate maintenance program can also result in withdrawal of Federal construction funds.

Injuries fatal to T.F. woman

BELLEVUE — A young Twin Falls woman injured Thursday in a single car accident south of Bellevue died Saturday at St. Luke's hospital, Boise.

Race was hanging partially out of the car when witnesses arrived at the scene and her four-year-old daughter, Tammy, was walking down the highway. The child received only superficial injuries, the sheriff said.

Suspect arrested in Burley death

BURLEY — A suspect in a Burley murder case has been apprehended in Rawlins, Wyo. and is expected to be returned to Burley early this week.

with the death early Friday of Anaclete (Galeo) Diaz, 45, Burley. Diaz was shot three times during an incident at the East Side Bar in Burley about 10:45 p.m. Thursday. He died at 1:17 a.m. Friday in the operating room at Cassia Memorial Hospital.

Man long engaged in own rush to extinction

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of eight weekly articles in which United Press International correspondents report on and assess great decisions facing the United States and the world in 1971. Today's: Man and His Environment.

Man and his environment: What price survival?
By ROBERT MUSE, UPI Senior Editor

The little lemmings of Norway push to the sea and are drowned in what some popular naturalists still consider a form of mass suicide. From his perch on the top of the evolutionary tree man regards this behavior of the lesser animals with benign curiosity—though he himself has long been engaged in a blind rush to extinction of his own.

The rattle lemming cannot know that the water in the path of his migration is too wide for his strength. But man is a thinking animal and should have realized long ago that he is making his own air unbreathable, his water undrinkable; that he is recklessly squandering his vital mineral resources and killing with his wastes the water and land he must conserve to exist.

It is not that the dilemma of pollution is not recognized for what it is—a developing tragedy with the whole world as the stage and all living things as actors. All this is only too clear after warnings trumpeted from one end of the earth to the other. But like his animal contemporaries, man has a limit to the shocks he can absorb and when the pressures become overwhelming natural defenses begin to mobilize.

This is what happened, for example, in the summer of 1970, when conservationists were perplexed by the shoulder-shrugging reaction of many Italians to repeated warnings that the beaches used by Rome were polluted and possibly dangerous. The Italians already knew that—just as people living near dying Lake Erie in Ohio, Lake Constance in Switzerland or Lake Balk in Russia know these vast and once beautiful waters have become sewers for industry and agriculture and the waste products of humanity.

No one had to tell the people choking in the smog that killed 20 people in Donora, Pa., in 1948, or caused 4,000 extra deaths in Greater London in 1952, that they weren't breathing the clear, sweet air bequeathed them by nature. Britons demanded action and got it in the Clean Air Act of 1956 which not only made a repetition of the lethal smog improbable but gave such impetus to anti-pollution measures that the River Thames, after more than a century as a sewage dump, is now attracting fish to its lower reaches for the first time in living memory.

Public apathy to pollution should be allowed to arise, would add a new and difficult dimension to a crusade which must have, it is to succeed, more people cooperation than any other global problem in history. This is nowhere more evident than in the key factor of overpopulation which many feel is so much the source of the impending disaster that to survive man will have to surrender voluntarily or by sanctions; the fearsome fecundity that threatens to double the population of the world to 7.2 billion in only 30 years. By general agreement the anti-pollution campaign must now move firmly on from the educational phase—when words were all that were available—to the stage when things are not only being done about it but are seen to be done. The numbing statistics passed their peak on Earth Day in the United States last April and in European Conservation Year which ended with 1970.

"Look 30 years ahead, and what do you see?"

Earth Day was a time of calling attention once more to the fact that noise (or ear pollution) costs Americans $1 billion a year, more than the Gross National Product of many countries; that Americans discard an average of seven pounds each of waste every day; that 200 million tons of contaminants from automobiles and planes and industries are emitted into the atmosphere every year; that two million gallons of sewage and other fluid waste pours into U.S. waterways every second; that Ohio River water is used about four times before it gets to the Mississippi; that the nation discards every year 48 billion cans, 28 billion bottles, seven million automobiles.

European Conservation Year had its critics—not much really happened, they said. But Britain, France and Germany did revise their administrative machinery for environmental problems and other European countries started to do so. A mass of anti-pollution legislation was discussed, agreements not fulfilled. But what its sponsors called the world's largest peacetime cooperative exercise was marked by one important meeting—the European conference at Strasbourg attended by princes and politicians from 70 nations. Britain's Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth, called much of what has happened in anti-pollution thus far "so much effluent under the bridge" and urged far stronger measures. Later in the year he aroused controversy by urging two-children families, the goal of zero population growth groups in the U.S. also. (The British royal family has four children but it is arguably a special case). By contrast American moves were more precise and unequivocal. In a message to Congress accompanying the report of his Council on Environmental Quality, President Nixon called for $4 billion in federal help for clean water, legal action against industries which lower water quality standards; replacement of DDT and similar lingering pesticides; production by 1975 of a low pollution automobile; establishment of air quality standards with heavy penalties for violations; research into solid waste management and disposal.

The President also telescoped work previously diffused among 80 agencies into the federal Environmental Protection Agency and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. Then the Senate by a vote of 73-0 passed the National Air Quality Standards Act setting new levels for 10 major pollutants. Opposition in the Senate to a supersonic commercial aircraft also was based on environmental grounds.

Prince Philip's intervention on birth control at least sharpened the debate on that controversial subject which is central in the long term to the whole issue of pollution. Most experts believe it will take half a century to balance births against deaths and the world may not have that long. A new American is born every nine seconds. Every minute 235 babies come into the world, four out of five of them in the developing countries of Asia, Africa and South America. In 1960 there were 28.3 acres in the U.S. for every American. Now it is down to 9.5 acres.

Britain already has only one acre per person. "Look 30 years ahead," says the British government's chief scientific adviser, Sir Solly Zuckerman, "and what do you see? At best, a way of life marked by stress diseases and frustration. At worst a disturbance of nature which could eliminate whole species including man." But in 1971 man at least knows what action is the answer to the question of his own making: What price survival?

NATO joins in battle to save environment

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) is deeply involved in the cause of the environment, even if this seems quite a switch for a group set up to counter a military threat.

NATO, its spokesmen state, is a defense grouping ready to react against menace from whatever direction it comes. And the way pollution is spreading it could be the more immediate crisis.

President Nixon proposed the new role at the 20th anniversary celebrations in April 1969 and by December a Committee on the Challenges of Modern Society (CCMS) had been formally organized. It began work in various fields including air, open water and inland water pollution; road safety, disaster relief, regional planning and the environment, the impact of science and technology on governmental decision making.

NATO sponsored a symposium of water pollution experts from all 15 of its countries. Their deliberations led directly to a recommendation by the NATO Ministerial Council in Dec. 1970, forbidding all intentional discharges of oil at sea and setting 1975 as a deadline for compliance—or 1980 at the latest.

NATO officials say the CCMS has become a forum for NATO members to bring each other's notice environmental problems requiring prompt action and attention.

Officials cautious of prophetic span

LONDON (UPI) — Some authorities are fearful the current intense interest in environmental problems may carry some prophets of doom beyond the bounds of common sense.

One warning to this effect came in the 1970 report of Britain's "Alkali inspectors," established by act of parliament in 1863 to keep an eye on industrial smoke and its constituents. In the report, Chief Inspector F. E. Ireland said:

"Those prophets of doom who predict the more bizarre kinds of human catastrophe and paint rather self-righteous pictures of scientists as irresponsible villains exploiting humanity are doing their (and our) cause great disservice. It is ironic that the people who receive the most attention are those who shout the loudest and make the most exaggerated claims."

"The alarmists often prefer not to listen to authoritative opinion on health hazards, but instead welcome the wilder speculations of destruction."

Air pollution problems mainly are economic, the report said, adding:

"If money were no object there would be very few unresolved problems for the technical solutions to prevention are all known."

Collapse follows spraying

By United Press International
If anyone concerned about the environment still doesn't realize how living things depend on each other he is recommended to study the case of the collapsing roofs of Malaya.

In Malaya DDT was sprayed to kill the mosquito carrying malaria. The spray also killed a large number of cockroaches.

Lizards, which feed on cockroaches, then declined in number. And so did the cats, which eat the lizards.

With fewer cats, rats multiplied and with them plague-bearing lice. Officials couldn't kill the rats or there would be a risk of the lice moving to humans.

So, the World Health Organization parachuted in a new crop of cats which ate the rats, fleas and all. So far so good.

But, says Gordon Ratray Taylor in his environmental warning, "the Doomsday Book," the DDT also began to kill off wasps which feed on a leaf-eating caterpillar living in the thatched roofs of the houses.

With its natural predator gone, the roof caterpillar population exploded and the caterpillars munch away at the greenery until the roofs tumbled down.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK The Dirty Work

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The abysmal failure of the White House-aided effort to attract black voters into the recent Republican primary for Congress in the Charleston, S.C., district resulted directly from conspiracy between the Republican far right and dominant conservative Democrats represented for 30 years by the late Rep. Mendel Rivers.

million for each major contender in 1971-72 are probably much too conservative. It could be that $12 million is a better minimum estimate. Why? First off, the "reform" which enlarged the 1972 Convention delegate vote total to 3,016 from 2,622 in 1968 has sharply hiked the stakes for presidential bidders in key primaries, especially since the big states will have a higher proportion of the total.

Cassia Scout drive begins

BURLEY — The goal of $10,000 for Cassia County Boy Scouts sustaining membership is well on its way, according to Ross Taylor, chairman of the drive.

It is planned for the drive to be completed by March 15, Taylor reported. The Burley Exchange Club has donated $1,000 guardian gift. Darl Glead, Snake River Council executive, presented Gordon Neilson, vice president of the Burley Exchange Club, with a guardian plaque for their contribution toward Scouting in Magic Valley.

The Boy Scout Council has several guardian members which contribute $1,000 or more annually, reported Glead.

The 50 workers held a breakfast meeting at Price's Cafe and a total of $1,850 was raised from various businesses represented. The workers will be contacting businesses and firms in the area.

Paul Wood, district finance chairman, explained the funds raised locally stay within the council and are used locally to support and promote the Scouting program and to maintain camp facilities in the Snake River Council.

Cloyd Taylor is the Cassia Boy Scout District chairman, and Rev. George Trobrough, United Methodist Church, gave the invocation.

Ex-valley man needing blood

JEROME — Persons donating blood at the Monday drawing at the Jerome Moose hall can help a former Hagerman resident, Nicholas Woody, 23, Palisades, who has a blood disease which destroys the red blood corpuscles.

He needs two blood transfusions every eight days to remain fit. Woody has used 45 pints of blood since last June, 39 pints of which were received at Page, Ariz., where he was employed at the Glen Canyon Dam power plant. His mother, Mrs. Lyons Woody, said much of the blood he received in Arizona was not under the Red Cross blood bank and he had to purchase it. Since his transfer to Palisades dam he had received transfusions at the LDS Hospital in Idaho Falls.

Woody has two children, Tharon, 8, and Jo Ann, 5. He and his wife, Jean, are hopeful a cure can be found so that he can continue an active life. They enjoy fishing and outings with their children.

Several pints were donated for Woody at the Wendell blood drawing last week and anyone wishing to donate at the Jerome drawing is urged to do so.

Woody was born in Gooding in 1942 and was graduated from the Hagerman High School. He attended Gates City steel welding school, Boise, and the Nuclear welding school, Bremerton, Wash.

Donors may designate they want the blood to go to Woody at the LDS Hospital, Idaho Falls, his mother says.

Bandits take artificial leg

WINCHESTER, England (UPI)—Two bandits broke into Arthur Bellingier's cottage but when he convinced them he had no key to a wall safe, they forced him to write them a check for $600 and took his artificial leg with them to keep him from notifying police.

Prosecutor Kenneth Smithies told Hampshire Assizes Court Thursday the robbers warned Bellingier they would return and burn down his home if the check bounced. They ripped out the telephone as they left, he said.

Bellingier managed to stop payment on the check but the burglars had no chance to make good their threat.

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Hell hath no fury like a woman deprived of her appointment at the hairdresser's, a purse snatcher discovered Thursday to his sorrow.

Margie Knight, an office worker, had boarded a bus to her beauty parlor in a crowded downtown intersection. She looked in her purse and discovered her wallet was missing. Then she spotted a man leaning against a bus and on a hunch, she jumped off the bus and started for him.

"When he saw me, he started to run, so I knew he was the one," she said. She caught up to him and he handed her back a small change purse.

"I told him I wanted my wallet too and he gave it to me," she said. Mrs. Knight then ran back and caught the same bus. She said later she needed the money to pay her beautician.

British study small claims court in legal system revamping

LONDON—The British legal system has been one of the nation's most successful exports. Countries of the Commonwealth and the English-speaking world rest on the foundations of British law.

But at home the majesty of the law which has opened freedom to millions means irritation, annoyance and frustration to many of Britain's own citizens. For the "little man" is finding that the machinery of the law works too slowly and too expensively to give him a fair and just remedy for petty grievances.

The system called for is a Small Claims Court—one that is inexpensive and one that can give justice. The idea has been kicked from organization to organization for the past few years, and it was only after a report was published by the Consumer Council (Britain's answer to Ralph Nader) that politicians started taking the idea seriously.

Early in February Michael member, a parliamentary member of the opposition Labor party, introduced a bill calling for a Small Claims Court to be incorporated in the British legal structure.

His move was not officially backed by the Labor party and the chances of the bill becoming law this session are slim. Private members bills are not taken as jokes, but then they are not always taken seriously.

Meacher claims that by taking the idea into the House of Commons there is a good chance of it being accepted by the next Parliament, or the next Parliament, or the next Parliament.

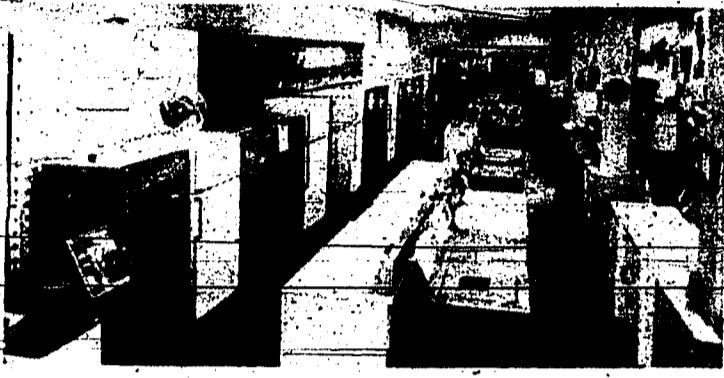

tion of a small claims court would be gained to the working man's schedule.

Teachers cram for new training

By BONNIE JONES
Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — Nearly 60 elementary school teachers of Twin Falls have taken up saws, hammers and nails to become overnight experts in the field of industrial arts.

In a two-day workshop conducted at Morningside School this week by Lee Carter, industrial arts supervisor, Department of Vocational Education, Boise, the grade school teachers picked up some new talent they may be using in classrooms next year.

The whole new concept is industrial arts training for children from the first grade through the sixth and it has already been tried in some school districts around the state, Carter says.

Many of the teachers who wouldn't drive a nail without help from the building custodian went to work in the two brief sessions and completed small telephone notebook stands, book cases, mail holders and wooden looms.

Next fall many of them will be teaching grade school children how to make these and other items.

Carter said most of the local teachers enjoyed the new experience and are enthusiastic about introducing such training for small children who need to identify with accomplishment in such activity.

It has been determined, Carter said, children's interests are pointed up by direct experiences with three-dimensional objects. Through the basic and simplified industrial arts program they learn to create something by calling on abilities in which he may excel. Often the disadvantaged child may better be reached to help develop concepts for understanding and appreciating work as basic human activity, Carter explained.

Workshops such as the one in Twin Falls have been held in Boise, Salmon and other area school districts.

Cost of the program, Carter said, will be relatively low as each school needs only one relatively simple tool kit for alternating use by classrooms. Material can often be lumber scraps or less costly woods, styrofoam and other items.

As will be the case when the program is used by the grade schools, each participant was urged to utilize her own ideas as to finish, size, shape or material in making small items which can be useful around the home or classroom.

Carter said he was more than a little pleased with the excellent turn out in the Twin Falls school district as every school was represented with several teachers and principals also attended.

Concentrated efforts

BLUE PRINTS for a telephone note stand have to be followed to the letter so three grade school teachers from Lincoln and Bickel schools pool their resources for their model. Workshop sessions in industrial arts for local elementary school teachers attracted 60 participants including Martha Beck, Lilly Brown, and Elaine Myers, from left.

Skill applied

WITH SOME LUCK Joyce Houston, left, and Diane Jones will soon have an example of their talent as industrial art instructors. The two grade school teachers are learning carpentry skills for the introduction next year of industrial arts training for grade schoolers.

Children learn to develop special skills, overcome many handicaps

By PEGGY CHU
Times-News Correspondent

GOODING—Probably many people driving past the Idaho State School for the Deaf and Blind in Gooding are impressed by its size and its many modern buildings, but wonder what the school is doing to help educate the children who attend it.

For this reason I decided not to concentrate on the various facilities and other physical aspects of the school, but instead to explore how the school helps the child overcome his handicap and develop his skills so that he will be prepared for the world of sight and sound of which he must become a part. The Idaho State School for the Deaf and Blind, founded in 1906 and administered by the Idaho Board of Education, is composed of two separate schools—one for deaf and hard-of-hearing children, and one for blind and partially-sighted children.

Some of the teachers in the vocational department are shared by both schools, and facilities such as the dining hall, swimming pool, and infirmary are used by both. However, for the most part, the deaf school and the blind school are two different institutions, each having its own teachers, classrooms, dormitories and facilities just as deafness and blindness are two different handicaps, each requiring its own distinct type of treatment, Paul Bird, assistant superintendent explained.

The number of deaf students at the school presently out-number the blind by 4 to 1, with an enrollment of 124 in the deaf school and 30 attending the blind school. Most of the combined student body board at the state school. There are only 21 day students.

Those states which do not have a school for the deaf and the blind, such as Nevada, can send their students here, in which case that state pays the child's tuition. Last year the cost of operating the school was $4,639 per pupil, Bird said. Funds are provided by the state of Idaho, with some assistance coming from the federal government. The parents are responsible for traveling and personal expenses for their children.

In November, 1970, the Idaho State School for the Deaf and Blind adopted a new policy of "total communication" as the method to be used in teaching deaf children. Total communication is all-inclusive, utilizing natural gestures, speech reading, finger spelling, signs, reading, writing, use of residual hearing through individual and group reading, writing, use of residual hearing through individual and group hearing aids, and the use of multi-media in the instructional and educational process, according to Edward W. Reay, school superintendent.

He hopes that this new method will correct the present statistic that only 5 per cent of the deaf children in the U.S. ever reach the 10th grade level.

The state school's present policy, and that of other deaf schools as well, was to restrict younger children just to oral communication, or lip reading, and then later teach them finger spelling. Experts have now learned lip reading alone only delays the acquisition of language, and in fact less than 50 per cent of the sounds uttered by a person are visible on the lips, Reay said.

Bird believes that deafness is the greatest educational handicap, and that past failure with the deaf is partially due to the fact that parents brought them to school too late because either they didn't realize the children were deaf or because they thought nothing could be done until they were school age. He pointed out that a child learns more from birth to 4 years of age than he does the rest of his life. Therefore deaf children are admitted to the state school at age 4.

The school is trying to teach deaf children to communicate as early as possible and have held finger spelling and sign language classes for parents in Pocatello, Gooding and Boise in the past year so that the parents can help the child until he is old enough to come to the state school.

As part of this training, a "Help-at-Home" program was started last year and consists of two parts, early reading and communication. Early reading begins when a child is 1 1/2 to 2 years old. The parent is given a set of cards on which is written in large red letters "mommy," "daddy," "toe," etc. More difficult words, including verbs which can be acted out, and short sentences come next. The mother is shown how to introduce each word, first holding up the card, saying the word clearly and loudly and then pointing to the object.

Communication, a child's most important stage in development, is taught by using the correct sign language. This is only logical since small children, not only those who are deaf, make their needs known through gestures anyway.

Brochures explaining the "Help-at-Home" program have been sent to all county health offices. However, locating the parents of deaf children continues to be the school's most serious problem, according to Bird.

The causes of deafness have changed. Diseases such as scarlet fever and spinal meningitis are no longer responsible for most deafness. The number one known cause for deafness now is heredity—either gene disorders or from deafness in the family. Second in probably rubella, Bird said. Thirteen of the deaf students are rubella victims.

When a deaf child enters the state school at age 3 or 4 he is first given some training before a hearing test can be administered, because many small children do not respond to the tests in a way which can be accurately measured. After the child learns proper responses, hearing tests are given to see how much his hearing is impaired. Then he is supplied with a hearing aid. Bird said most of the students are severely deaf.

A deaf student's education is augmented by small classes—most have seven students—and by the most modern equipment. All classrooms in the deaf school are supplied with closed circuit TV, overhead projectors with thousands of transparencies available, film strip projectors, and group hearing aids consisting of headsets, and a transmitter for the teacher. In addition all rooms in the deaf school and the dorms are wired

TALE OF THE SHIRTDRESS

By Mary Sue Miller

The dress regains its old status. In fact, it is slated for top billing in the autumn.

As of now, the shirtdress is the comer. This all-American classic has new proportions befitting longer lengths. Belted, pleated, long and lean, it has never looked better. Right in these times, are a body-skimmer chemise with loose cling and sweater dresses with really-slink fit. What's your thing?

Well, if you should have reduced and didn't a shirtdress has your name on it — one with slimming details like buttons clear down the front, softly draped bodice and sleeves; a V-neck, plus a skirt with easy fullness. The small, slim figure calls for a buttoned bodice and knife-pleated skirt. Tall girls are best suited to bloused bodices, wide belts and swinging skirts.

As you may recall, a loose chemise is generally wearable except where overweight rules the figure. As you may have observed, any sort of slink-fit dress requires model measurements. Fabrics can increase flattery whatever your chosen dress silhouette. Try fluid crepes, soft cottons, silky prints. You'll see.

In every instance, a very special sort of "bodydressing" aids the cause. That means undershapers—bras that are nature-curved in—unconstraining materials; stockings; locking-panties proportioned to your height; petticoats that behave like color coordinated dressliners. Real woman stuff!

Antique center popular

NEW YORK (UPI)—Holdups and high rents get some credit for the new Antiques Center of America checking in as one of the most successful to come true in Manhattan.

The center opened last May with indoor, permanent exhibit space for 110 dealers. Norman Crider, whose dream it was to make the center the world's largest permanent antiques marketplace, was downcast. Sixty of the stalls were vacant.

Now there are only four vacancies and Crider, in an interview, said the frequent holdups in better antique shops in the neighborhoods plus rent increases made the center appealing to dealers who preferred not operating in an atmosphere of fear.

Socialites and celebrities, including Dustin Hoffman, Greta Garbo and Barbara Streisand, now are among regular center visitors.

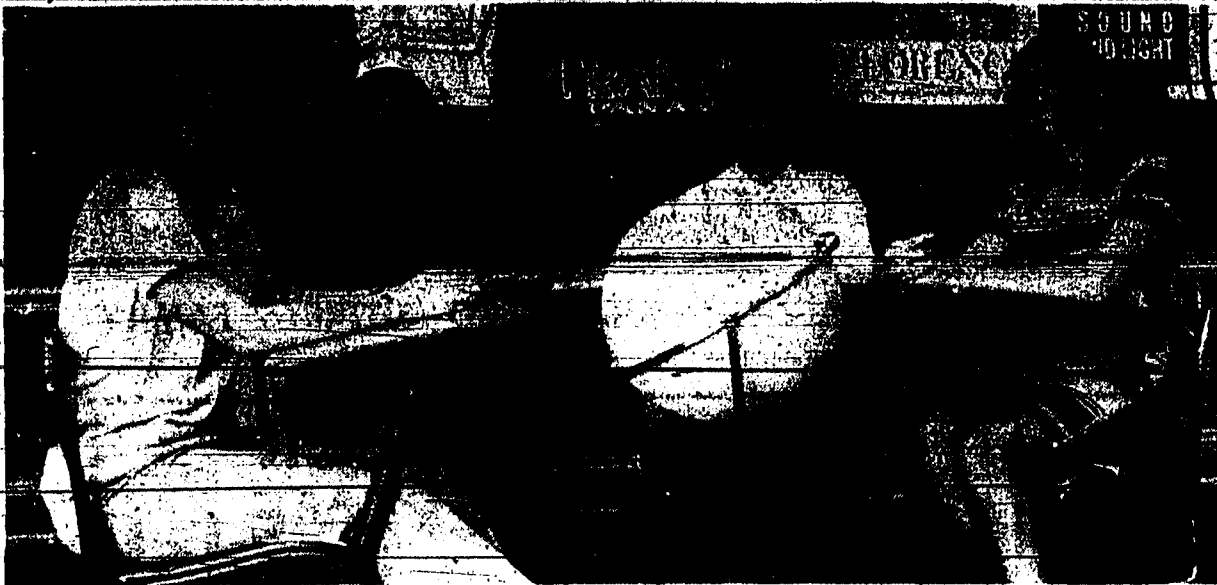

Many stop to coo at Jason Ellman, the youngest associate dealer. Six months old, Jason each day accompanies his mother to her shop, the Paula Ellman Shop, which specializes in art glass.

Crider, a native of Socorro, N.M., spent his youth distinguishing himself as a baton twirler and says he even had a "baton twirling" scholarship to New Mexico University. He accepted, attended and then dropped out to perform, first in competition, then professional.

Crider's interest in antiques developed during eight years abroad, performing in 23 countries. He specializes in antiques dealing with the theater.

He has a Greta Garbo doll in his collection but he didn't show it to Miss Garbo any of the times she visited the center. She has been known to look at what is believed to be a good antique, utter "junk" and walk out. Crider didn't want to take a chance of that happening.

Antiques are big on the current scene, according to Crider, for this reason: People are having a difficult time relating to the many changes in technology and thought in the fast-moving present.

Plan tour . . .

She's successful in own firm Education-travel tour set in June

By CAROLYN A. BOWERS
NEW YORK (UPI)—The wall is a collage of posters, newspaper clippings and photographs and album covers of many top entertainers. Magazines, press kits, books and assorted paraphernalia vie for space on a tiny desk that by itself would comfortably just about fit in the small office.

Amid all this clutter, however, there's definite organization. A lively and energetic publicist, Victoria Lucas, works here. Miss Lucas, who is in her mid-30s, is the successful black lady president of her own public relations firm. "I like for people to see the office," she said in an interview. "I don't want people to get the idea that I have a vast empire here."

It is appropriate that most of the pictures and press clippings in her office are of blues great singer, B. B. King. He was her first client in 1968 when Victoria Lucas Associates was born. Since then she has added many other top performers and record companies, as well as cosmetic and publishing firms to her client list. "I hope to diversify my organization," Miss Lucas said, looking chic in burgundy slacks and a matching sweater with a bright printed midl vest. "I think a good publicist can do public relations for any type of client."

A graduate of Wilson Junior College in her native Chicago, Miss Lucas worked as a reporter for the now-defunct Chicago-Bee, a black-oriented newspaper, while still in school. After graduation, she left her South Side home and came to New York.

"I had always wanted to write," she said. "I came to New York to fulfill that 'great American writer' dream. I didn't know what kind of a job I would get. I had never heard of public relations."

Miss Lucas, who was featured in the February issue of Cosmopolitan magazine as career girl of the month, worked as an advertising copywriter and did some salaried and free lance public relations.

STUDENTS FROM Magic Valley will visit Europe this summer in a combination travel-education program, designed for theater enthusiasts. Here, from left, Cindi Hill, Mark Barnes, Shawna Sjanger and Mrs. GERALYN ESPLIN plan their tour. Mrs. Esplin, a teacher at Hansen High School, is organizing the group. The other three are students of Mrs. Esplin.

KIMBERLY — Student theater enthusiasts from Magic Valley will have a unique opportunity to combine education and travel this summer in a 32-day travel-study-tour of famous European centers.

"The study-travel program, for which college or high school credit can be obtained, will combine study and pleasure in an unusual formula designed to provide the best from each activity," said Mrs. GERALYN ESPLIN, who is organizing the group.

Students will visit such cities as Athens, Naples, Rome, Florence, Paris, and London.

Throughout the theater study tour students will hear lectures from qualified American and European instructors. "The lectures will be presented at the most opportune moments," according to Mrs. Esplin, "when they will have the greatest impact on students. Lectures on Greek drama, for example, are given in Athens; Moliere in Paris, and Shakespeare in Stratford."

"This fits the philosophy of the International Exchange School of Salt Lake City, which scheduled the tours and worked out the educational sequence," Mrs. Esplin said.

"The IES believes education is more exciting, more genuine and more lasting if it is offered in an environment in which it is alive and vital."

Students are now planning projects to help earn money for the trip.

Mrs. Esplin said there still are vacancies in this year's tour and interested students may contact her at Hansen High School or at 422-4042 after school.

The local student study-travel group will leave Salt Lake City June 16 and return July 17. Students from all area high schools are invited to join the group.

Household hints

By United Press International
Window and door frames may shrink in a house that is extremely dry, thus allowing cold air in. A humidifier can add the right amount of moisture to indoor air.

Washable window shades are available in a variety of colors and textures. The cloth shades are covered with vinyl making them colorfast and easy to scrub.

When washing a can opener clean the outer case with a damp cloth. Remove stubborn soil with non-scratching cleanser. The cutter wheel on most openers can be removed for cleaning.

DOME

By Frank Schell

Question from E. M., Twin Falls, Idaho: I have a Dominion of Canada 25 cent bill, printed in Ottawa, July 2, 1923. Does this bill have any value other than its face value?
 Answer: The 25 cent Canadian paper is known as "shinplasters" and the first issue was printed in 1870, to replace the small change which has been withdrawn from circulation. At this time the United States dollar was quoted at 80 cents in Canada and a great many Canadians lost money by having United States money on hand. The Canadian government recalled all U.S. money and printed the 25-cent note to take its place until Canadian small change could be coined. It was an emergency issue, but proved so popular that issues were printed in 1900 and 1923.

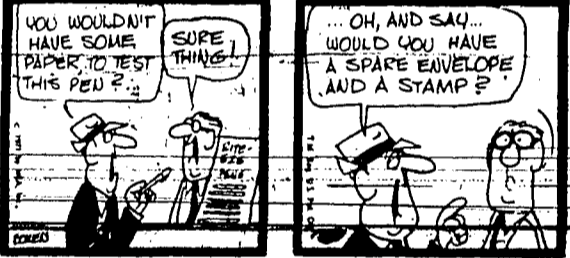

Briefly, from "Brown and Dunn":
Fair: Can be identified as to date and type.
About Good: Rim worn down into lettering. Date and mint mark readable. (No mintmark on Philadelphia coins.) (The above two grades are not generally considered collectible.)
Good: Wheat stalks worn smooth—no trace of lines. Date, mintmark and lettering readable.
Very Good: Wheat stalks should show some heads of grain. There should be at least one-half of parallel lines in the head on one or both sides.
Fine: Parallel lines in wheat stalks should show plainly, although worn. Lincoln's ear and bow tie visible on obverse.
Very Fine: All lines in right and left wheat stalks plain and sharp. Lincoln's ear well defined with some wear at top. Bow tie lines must be sharp. Cheek and jawbone lines worn but clearly separated.
Extremely Fine: Parallel lines bold and none worn smooth. Ear lines raised and sharp. Cheek and jawbones clearly defined.
About Uncirculated: Only a trace of wear under a glass.
Uncirculated: Brand new—full mint luster—no wear.
 Brown and Dunn's book is available at hobby shops. Just recently another book, "Photograde," by James Ruddy has appeared on the market and this column highly recommends it. The book not only contains descriptions of all United States coins in all grades, but includes photographs of them, so that you may place a coin beside the photograph and compare it. This book is also available from most coin dealers.
 (Questions on coins and currency should be sent to The Money Box, c/o The Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301.)

Some of the early issues are extremely valuable, having been printed in small numbers. There are four issues of July 2, 1923. The first two issues were signed by Hyndman and Saunders and are worth about $11 each, if in very fine condition—that is, no tears or bad features. The third issue is signed by McCavour and Saunders and sells at about $4 in extremely fine (almost new) condition. The fourth issue is signed by C. E. Campbell and W. C. Clark and brings about $4 in extremely fine condition. The latter two issues are the ones most frequently seen in the United States. The notes have been recalled by the Bank of Canada, but are still legal tender, although many have disappeared in the last twenty years into collections.

From L. R., Twin Falls: Can you tell me how Lincoln cents are graded? What constitutes a "Fine" grade? How is this grade different from "very fine"? I would appreciate an answer. Where can I find out how to grade coins for myself?
 Answer: The grading of coins is the greatest matter of debate. Some dealers split hairs and upgrade coins to sell for more money, but the general run of dealers use a book which was written by Martin Brown and John Dunn, called "A Guide to the Grading of United States Coins."

CSI hosts W. Arizona in cage regional

Eagles outlast North Idaho 68-65 to repeat as region 18 champions

COEUR D'Alene — Tim Bassett, voted the tournament's most valuable player, hit a crucial three-point play with 8:27 remaining and Ron Behagen, Vic Kelly and Steve Hegens came up with six straight free throws in the closing minute to let the No. 1 ranked College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles stave off North Idaho's Cardinals 68-65 in the Region 18 basketball championship Friday night.

Bassett, whose three-pointer came off a steal after North Idaho had trimmed a 10-point deficit to one, was named to the all-tournament team along with freshman Vic Kelly and sophomore Ron Behagen of CSI, and John Williams and Bob Jacobs of North Idaho. CSI fans also felt that Ralph Palomar, who clutched through with 25 points in the title match, deserved all-tourney recognition.

CSI, which won its second straight regional crown, will open the inter-regional tournament in its home gymnasium Monday night against the region one champion. That playoff will be a best of three series with the survivor advancing to the nationals in Hutchinson, Kans.

Friday night's victory came hard for the Eagles who threatened on two occasions to break it open but North Idaho always came up with the clutch points to keep it tight. Hurting the Eagles were the several second shots that North Idaho managed, although the Eagles enjoyed a good height advantage. Most of the offensive rebounds that North Idaho recovered, however, were due to the long range shooting the Cardinals employed. The usually longer rebounds bounced over the heads of CSI's tall men who were too far underneath and the Cardinal guards and forwards got most of the follow shots.

North Idaho, after falling behind momentarily in the opening minutes, came up with a hot shooting hand to take the lead by one to four points through most of the first 12 minutes. But diminutive Gary Quesnell came off the bench to help spark CSI into a late-half flurry. The Eagles caught up at 22-all and moved ahead by six immediately after. But after getting to 10 points, CSI's momentum left and North Idaho pulled to within eight at halftime.

Early in the second half a rebound shot by Steve Hegens gave CSI its last 10-point margin at 45-35 and over the next seven minutes North Idaho crept continually closer. A shot by Jacobs from the top of the key with 8:57 left pulled the Cardinals to within 54-53 and CSI missed a shot the next time down the floor. But Bassett intercepted the feed-out pass, drove for a crumple and then converted on a free throw when fouled. That opened it up slightly to 57-53 and North Idaho never got closer than three.

A free throw by Behagen with 2:47 left gave CSI a 62-57 advantage and the Eagles then reclaimed the ball and went into a deep delay game. That ended on a foul a minute late but Behagen missed the free throw with Jacobs converting on it and cutting CSI's cushion to 62-59.

That was the last free throw the Eagles missed. Behagen was intentionally fouled with 1:15 left and dropped in both. Volles hit to reduce it to three with 1:07 and Vic Kelly was fouled 17 seconds later. The little New York frosh, his movement hampered by a back injury sustained Thursday night, hit both but with 25 seconds left Volles again scored. Hegens capped it two seconds later with another two free throws and Billingsley's shot with nine seconds left meant nothing.

CSI credits defense for regional success

Defense was the repeated word Saturday afternoon as the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles returned with their region 18 championship trophy, 16 members of the all-tournament team and the most valuable player. "It was," said Jerry Meyerhoeffer, assistant coach without portfolio, "the best defense we've played in a long, long time."

"Everyone really worked on defense. We got great effort from everyone," said Coach Jerry Hale.

The three-point decision over North Idaho leaves the Eagles facing a best of three inter-regional playoff in their home gymnasium Monday, Tuesday and possibly Wednesday. The Eagles, however, did not return without some injuries.

Quick Vic Kelly was dumped on his tailbone in Thursday night's game and has had trouble with his back since. "I gotta get into a whirlpool," Kelly said. "It's really hurting me."

Long Ron Behagen has a swollen ankle, incurred in the first 10 minutes of Friday's finals. "I'll be ready to go," he promised.

Coach Hale praised the work of Coach Rolfe Williams and his Cardinals but said "I feel that we should have won the game by 10 or 12 points. We had a couple of baskets taken away from us and a lot of tips — sometimes three and four in one trip down the floor — that just wouldn't go in."

"North Idaho is an extremely well coached club and just refused to get out of its game."

UTEP nips A-State by 83-81

TEMPE, Ariz. (UPI) — Scott English poured in 29 points to lead Texas-El Paso to an 83-81 come-from-behind win over Arizona State in a fight-marred battle for a second place tie in the Western Athletic Conference Saturday night.

The win gave the Miners a 9-5 record in league play, tying for runnerup with Utah, and dropped the Sun Devils to an 8-6 finish in the WAC. Texas-El Paso trailed 49-38 at halftime after outdrawing the Devils in fouls, 15-5. Protest of that situation led to two technical fouls on Miner Coach Don Haskins by officials Pat Haggerty and Gene Agnes in the closing minutes of the first half.

The first eight fouls of the second half went against the Sun Devils, putting the Miners in an early one-and-one situation and allowing them to close the gap to 67-62 midway in the second period.

As Texas-El Paso moved closer, a fight erupted between Mike Bowling of ASU and Dave Borup under the UTEP basket. A minute later, Bowling left the game on five personal fouls.

Top-ranked UCLA has 107-72 win

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Top-ranked UCLA clinched at least a tie for the Pacific-8 basketball title Saturday night by swamping Stanford's Indians 107-72 behind Steve Patterson's 20-point performance.

With their easy victory, the once-beaten Bruins ran their league record to 13-0 with their 24th win of the season.

They play their final regular season game next Saturday against third-rated University of Southern California, which is 12-1 in the conference.

UCLA raced to a 17-3 lead in the first 3 1/2 minutes and stretched it to 21-5 before Stanford could get untracked.

The Indians really never recovered from the opening blitz and trailed 63-35 at halftime.

USC beats Cal Bears by 96-81

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dennis Layton and Joe Mackey sparked a University of Southern California rally in the final 10 minutes to enable the third-ranked Trojans to keep their Pacific-8 basketball title hopes alive by whipping California 96-81.

The Trojans, 12-1, trail UCLA, 13-0, in the league race. The teams play next Saturday afternoon at Pauley Pavilion with a playoff game set for March 15 if USC wins.

The Trojans got their 24th victory against Cal for a school record. The 1943 USC team had a 23-5 record.

USC had to play catchup ball most of the first 28 minutes against the Golden Bears with the score being tied 18 times.

USC's Paul Westphal hit on a free throw to break a 55-55 deadlock 6:33 into the second half. The Trojans then hit 12 straight points in a 2:41 span to break the game wide open.

Drake has bye in MV playoff

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — St. Louis University and Louisville will clash March 11, at Bradley University to begin the Missouri Valley playoffs and determine the conference's representative to the National Collegiate Athletic Association's basketball tournament.

Billikens cinch tie

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Senior guard Jim Irving scored 21 points to lead the St. Louis University Billikens into a share of the Missouri Valley Basketball Conference Championship with a 98-95 victory over Bradley in a hotly contested game Saturday night.

The Billikens, who finished 9-5 in the conference, will join Louisville and Drake in a playoff to determine which team will represent the valley in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament.

Displaying the hardware

TROPHY WINNER Tim Bassett, left, named the most valuable player of the region 18 basketball tournament, and Ron Behagen, a first-team tournament pick, display the hardware the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles won Friday night. Bassett is holding his MVP award while Behagen displays the team trophy. Vic Kelly joined those two on the all-tournament squad.

Wendell earns right to defend state A-3 title by tipping Grace 69-68

AMERICAN FALLS — The Wendell Trojans earned the right to defend their state A-3 basketball championship Saturday night when they nipped Grace 69-68 in an inter-district playoff to claim the eighth spot in the state tourney opening at Rexburg Thursday.

Wendell, which missed on a golden chance to take the district title and a tourney spot that way when it fell twice to Glenns Ferry, had it a little easier than the final score indicated. The Trojans, behind Ron Adams' and Kirk Dennis', carried an eight-point margin into the final minute and gave up the last two points without moving a muscle.

Wendell wound up second in the fourth district tournament while Grace was the fifth district champion. But the playoff was offered as a second chance by the state board of control for the Interscholastic Activities association because of an imbalance in numbers of schools and students.

Grace threw its rather famed press at the Trojans in the first half but Wendell broke it consistently and quite often for easy buckets. Still the Trojans had to contend with about an eight-point lead most of the way. Adams benefitted from Wendell's press-breaking tactics as he was the underneath man and picked up a few buckets there. Later Grace went to a zone and the Trojans picked it open often enough with inside passes to Brad Sisson and Adams for easy shots. Adams wound up with 21 points and Dennis chimed in with 20.

Both sides put four men into double scoring figures.

But the focal point was the final minute when Wendell still had its eight-point cushion. Three turnovers let Grace pull to within three points and the fifth district champions managed a jump ball with four seconds left.

WHERE THE FUN NEVER SETS

Invaders equal Eagles in height, depth

Western Arizona Community College, rated one of the toughest teams in the nation, defeated Mesa Community College 77-71 in overtime Saturday night and will come to Twin Falls Monday to begin the best of three inter-regional playoff at the College of Southern Idaho gymnasium.

The two teams will collide at 8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday and then go a third game if necessary Wednesday night.

Coach Jerry Hale, well acquainted with Western Arizona's talent, said "through 10 men they would have to be as fine a college team as there is in the nation."

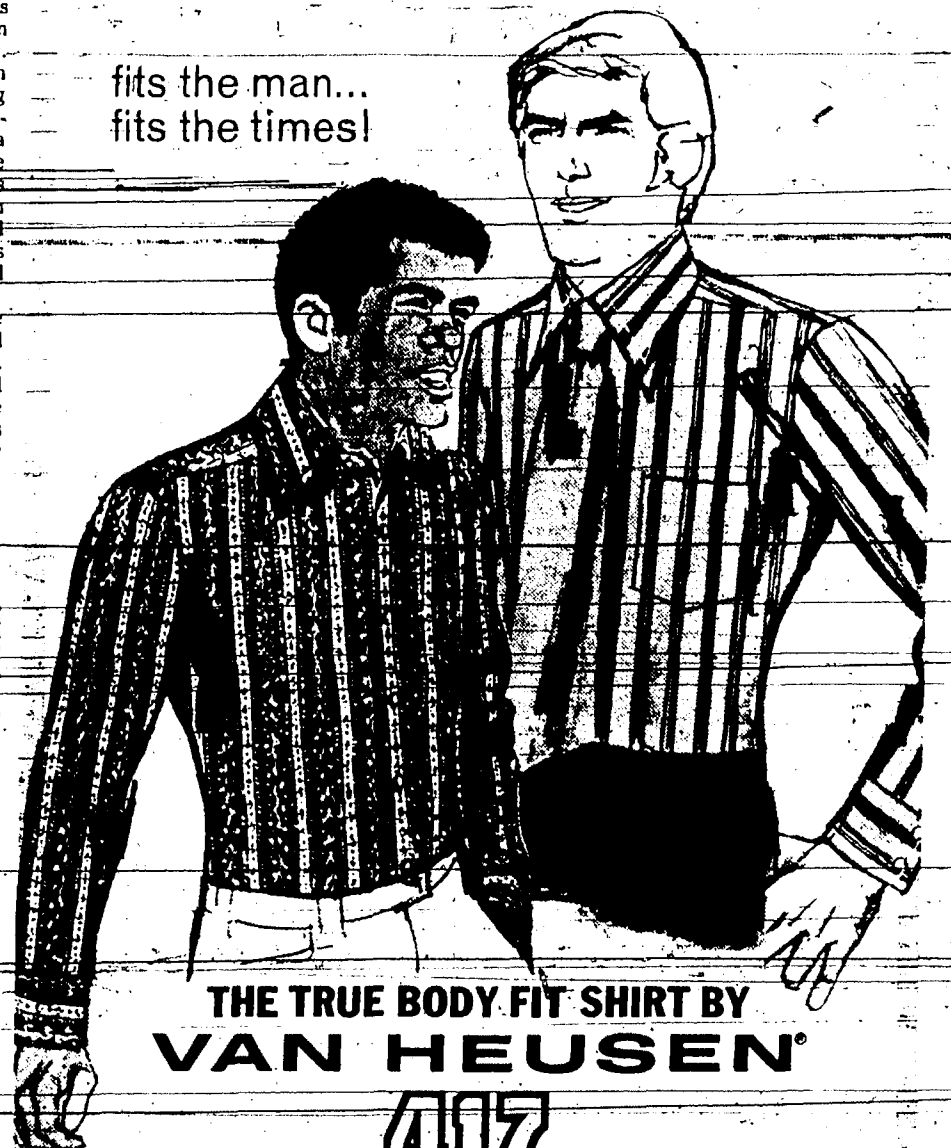

It will also be a lot like old home week for four CSI starters as they played with and against many of the Western lineup during high-school days in the east.

high school All-American Wayne Williams from Chicago, and the other forward is 6-8 Lavard Coleman from Alamogordo, N. M. Western Arizona's top guard is 6-2 Candy LaPrince from New York and described by Coach Hale as a "great one-on-one player."

Gooding smothers Jerome to claim A-2 cage Crown

JEROME — Frank Krahn and Gary Gorrell went to the offense and the backboards with a vengeance Saturday night to send the rallying Gooding Senators past the Jerome Raiders in the fourth district A-2 championship game and into the state tournament in Boise next week.

Gooding steadily throughout, combined for 42 points. The Senators outscored the Tigers only one field goal and picked up a lone foul. It was a bitter game in which both the players and the fans saw their emotions running high. But after falling behind by 15 points in the first half, Jerome was able to make only a third quarter run before subsiding.

"It marked a marathon come-around for the top-seeded Senators who were upset in the championship semi-finals and had to fight through the loser bracket and beat Jerome twice to earn the only spot in the state tournament.

Pirates top Rimrock in playoff to gain state A-4 meet spot

MOUNTAIN HOME — Senior guard Greg Laughlin continued his great tournament performance Saturday night as he guided the Hagerman Pirates to a 77-66 decision over the Rimrock Raiders and into the eighth spot into the eighth spot in the state A-4 basketball tournament opening in Coeur d'Alene next week.

The victory justified, at least from the A-4 sixth district side, the extra chance of gaining state by having an inter-district playoff. Hagerman, which had a sparkling 17-3 season record, placed second in the sixth district meet while Rimrock was the fourth district champion. However, the Pirates, who played six games in the last 10 days, thus won the state berth and joins with Oakley in giving the sixth district two representatives.

Snead seizes lead in Doral tourney

MIAMI (UPI) — Jesse Carlye Snead, starting to play like his Uncle Sam Snead used to, shot a six-under par 66 Saturday to take a one-stroke lead into Sunday's final round of the $150,000 Doral Eastern Open Golf Tournament.

Laughlin poured through 28 points to lead the Pirates to victory although Rimrock surprised by giving Hagerman as much as it wanted through three quarters. Hagerman tallied by three points at halftime but inched ahead 57-54 in the third period. The Pirates then tucked it away with a 20-point fourth quarter while Rimrock could manage only 12.

Snead was tied for the lead with Gardner Dickinson until the last stroke of the day when Dickinson three-putted the tough par four 18th hole for his second straight bogey on the hole.

Roger Campbell, who was red-hot in the Tigers' last outing against Wood River in the semifinals last week, got 20 points and Jim-Schwanaveldt and Tom Jewell contributed 12 apiece. Gooding nursed its lead into the last four minutes then went into a semi-collapse and crashed in on some timely free throws to keep in front Gorrell, who again did a fine job under the boards and hustled for 24 points, plagued the Tigers underneath as did the 67 Krahn, who rebounded well and got 19 points — most of them close.

Gooding outshot the Tigers from the field 24-19 but Jerome kept it close with 22 points from the line. Jewell got eight of those. The Senators connected on 17 free shots.

Atlanta (UPI) — Georgia Tech handed the University of Pittsburgh its worst defeat of the year, 78-61, Saturday night in the final regular game of the season for both teams.

Star center Rich Yunkus, who was honored during pre-game ceremonies by having his jersey retired, led Tech scoring with 25 points and grabbed 21 rebounds for a career high. Pittsburgh rallied in the second half and came within two points of Tech's 48-46 lead, but the Yellow Jackets poured in 12 points in the next four minutes and were never headed.

The victory brings Georgia Tech's record to 20-8, and the Yellow Jackets are still hoping for a bid to the National Invitational Tournament.

Bengals better 880 mark

POCATELLO (UPI) — The sterling performance by a quartet of Idaho State University sprinters shattered the world's record in the 880 relay, highlighting the first Big Sky Indoor Championships Saturday night in the Mindome.

The meet was dominated by the Bengals, as coach Bob Beeton's team snared eight firsts in 16 events. Northern Arizona followed with three, while University of Idaho garnered two. Weber, Montana and Montana State had one each. Point totals for each team were not tallied.

Carl Lawson, world indoor record holder in the 220, and co-holder in the 100, paved the way for the Bengals in their 1:26.9 effort in the halfmile. Lawson (21.5) led off for the Bengals, while John Turner (21.7), Greg Shell (22.1) and Larry Lewis (22.2) followed.

Besides the Dome's eight world records, three Mindome marks were set. Northern Arizona's Richard Sliney set one Mindome record when he bettered his own previous best mark with a time of 8:59 in the two mile. Sliney outclassed his field and paced everyone with about 400 yards remaining in the grueling two-mile run. Jim Wharton of ISU set a school and Mindome mark in the 600 with a time of 1:11.5.

A tumble occurred on the dome track during the latter stages of the meet when Weber's Jerry Bond tripped pace-setter Larry Corner, ISU, in the 300, causing both to falter and allowing Idaho's Jay Wheeler to win the race easily.

Beavers surprise Huskies

CORVALLIS, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon State ripped Washington for 25 points in the final 10 minutes Saturday night to beat the Huskies 71-52 in the Pacific-8 Conference.

The Beavers, with their center Neal Jurgenson fouled out, broke open a hard fought game on the shooting of Billy Nickdeberry and Freddie Boyd. The Huskies could only manage seven points in the final 10 minutes as the Beavers went on their spree to widen a 46-45 lead midway through the second half.

High point men for the game were Boyd and Husky Steve Hawes, both with 19. When Jurgenson fouled out at 12:57 of the second half, Sam Whitehead and Boyd were both on the bench with four fouls each.

Bauscher's shot lets Camas tip Carey 48-47 for trip to A-4 State

GOODING — Dick Bauscher's short turnaround jumper with 40 seconds left provided the winning points Saturday night as the Camas County Musters took the fifth district A-4 championship with an airtight 48-47 victory over Carey.

But before the Northside Conference champions could count the victory in the bag, they had to get a key double-dribble call in the last 10 seconds that ruined the Panthers' last-ditch attempt at the winning bucket.

Camas, in beating the Panthers for the second night in a row to earn the trip to the state finals in Coeur d'Alene next week, appeared to have the game under shaky control when they were running out the clock with 35 seconds left and had the one-point lead.

The hard-fought game saw the Musters playing most of the game without Randy Bauscher, who hurt his ankle in the first four minutes — lead most of the way and at times by eight points in the third quarter. But Carey, getting 23 points from the charity line in the foul-marred game, rallied back and even went ahead briefly with 7:04 left in the game on a pair of Dennis Trush free throws, 33-32.

Camas then gunned in the next six points on buckets from Steve Shippey, Buz Vanskike, and David Coates to move back on top 38-33. Carey moved to 40-38 then rallied to within 44-43 and 46-45 after another Camas surge, but never did get the lead back. The Musters then got the clutch hoop from Bauscher.

It was tight in the early going but Camas County generally held sway, mostly due to Coates' fine outside shooting in the first 15 minutes. He got 11 points in the first half and ended the night with a game-high 20.

Friday night the Musters broke open a close battle with the Panthers in the last five minutes and got a clutch steal and lay-up and pair of free throws from Vanskike for their 55-46 victory.

Carey only led twice in the game, once early in the first quarter and again just at the tail end of the third frame, 39-37. Before that the Musters had generally controlled the first half and led 22-21.

Camas took the lead for good with 7:41 left in the game and Vanskike killed the Musters' rally with his steal and then hit the clutch tosses from the line as Camas County

PAUL SHRUM stretched over Rod Adams of Wendell and the outstretched arms of Kirk Webb for a shot that curled off the rim in the second half of Friday night's A-3 championship game. Shrum's shot from the top of the key in the last two minutes provided the winning points as Glenns Ferry won a 54-53 thriller.

Shrum leaps on baseline Glenns Ferry cops A-3 title, beating Wendell on Shrum's late shot

SHOSHONE — Paul Shrum hit a 12-foot jumper from the top of the key with 1:30 left in the game and Glenns Ferry survived two last-second Wendell shots at victory Friday night as the Pilots rallied for a 54-53 victory and the fourth district A-3 basketball championship. The emotional win earned Ferry the trip to state next week at Rexburg and was sweet revenge as the Pilots lost to these same Trojans last year in the A-3 title game that will be remembered by Bobby Carpenter's tragic death later that night after the bitter battle.

Jayhawks nab Big 8 title

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) — Six free throws in overtime, the two most vital by Aubrey Nash, propelled fifth-ranked Kansas to a 54-52 victory over Oklahoma Saturday and gave the Jayhawks the Big Eight basketball championship. The title was Kansas' 24th, along with 10 ties, in 62 years of conference play. Kansas, 11-0 and 23-1, will represent the Big Eight in the NCAA Midwest Regional at Wichita March 18-20. Kansas trailed most of the game, twice by as many as seven points. But a 10-1 burst in a three-minute span with 3:39 to play gave the Jayhawks a 48-45 lead and delighted a crowd of 14,800.

Wisconsin cops meet

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Pat Matzdorf, a 6-foot-3 junior from Sheboygan, Wis., equaled the American indoor high-jump record with a leap of 7' 3 1/2" Saturday to help lead the well-balanced Wisconsin track team to its fifth consecutive Big Ten indoor championship with 57 points. Matzdorf, who won the Big Ten crown a year ago with a leap of 7 feet even, had not missed on any tries for three weeks until he missed once at 7' and again at 7' 1 1/2" Saturday. He cleared each on his second try, cleared 7' 2 1/2" on his first jump and then, missing once, cleared 7' 3 1/2" on his second effort.

Wendell shatters Memphis

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The Louisville Cardinals fought their way into first place for the Missouri Valley Conference championship with a 102-73 win over Memphis State Saturday afternoon. Memphis was behind throughout the contest, which was delayed 12 minutes following a brawl between Cardinal substitute Mike Lawton and Fred Horton of Memphis State. Howton was disqualified. Both players were involved in a brawl at Memphis last season. At intermission, Louisville was ahead 53-44 and jumped off to a 70-47 lead shortly afterward. Lawton, who has scored 58 points in his last three ballgames, shared Louisville scoring honors with 6-foot-9 center Al Vilcheck with 19 points apiece. Memphis guard Joe Douglas was the game's leading scorer with 22 points. Ronnie Robinson of Memphis and Louisville's Ron Thomas collected 17 rebounds each, but the Cardinals outmuscled Memphis, 53-44. Louisville, which has won or shared the MVC championship four of the last five years.

Arcari retains crown

ROME (UPI) — Bruno Arcari retained the world boxing Council (WBC) light welterweight championship last night by outpointing Brazilian challenger Joao Henrique over 15 ferocious, bloody rounds at the Rome Sports Palace. The 29-year-old Italian, making his third title defense, finished the fight with his face a bloody mask although he scored a one-sided win over Henrique. There were no knockdowns but both men scored heavily with right and left combinations that inflicted cuts as early as the fifth round. Arcari suffered a deep cut over his left eye in the ninth round and his right eye was swollen shut in the 10th, while the 25-year-old Brazilian, appearing in a ring outside South America for the first time in 37 fights, sustained a cut over the right eye in the fifth. The victory was Arcari's 44th against two losses and marked his 13th Italian, European or world title bout. A crowd of 9,000 in the Palazzo Dello Sport, about half capacity, cheered wildly through most of the fight and shook the rafters when referee and sole judge Teddy Waltham of England voted Arcari the winner 74-68.

Marquette coasts to 76-58 win

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Dean Meminger dropped in a pair of free throws with 10:11 remaining in the game to five Marquette (Wis.) its first lead of the match and prompted them on to a 76-58 win over Xavier Saturday afternoon. Xavier never trailed from the opening tipoff in the first half and held a nine-point lead at intermission, 35-26. Meminger's tosses in the second half gave Marquette a 47-45 lead. The Musketeers came back to within one point, at 50-49, with 8:39 remaining, but the Warriors outscored Xavier 20-3 in the next six minutes to take a commanding lead and win the game. The victory extended Marquette's winning streak to 38 over the past two years. It is now slated to play Mid-American Conference champion Miami in the first round of the NCAA tournament next Saturday.

Utah star is tabbed

DENVER (UPI) — Forwards Ken Gardner of Utah and Dick Gibbs of Texas-El Paso were known as under-rated players during the 1970 season. But this year they were the only unanimous choices for the five-man all-Western Athletic Conference first team. The team, announced by WAC Commissioner Wiles Halllock, also included Willie Long of New Mexico, Mike Newlin of Utah and Kresimir Cosic of Brigham Young. The team is selected by the eight conference coaches. Gardner and Gibbs not only drew a perfect 16 points, but also were the only players to draw votes from all eight coaches. Coaches were asked to name five players to both the first and second teams. Long was third in balloting with 13 points and Newlin drew 12. Cosic gathered nine. Mike Childress of Colorado State, Willie Roberson of Wyoming and Bill Warner of Arizona just barely missed the first team with eight points each.

7 berths left in Filer meet

FILER — Six or seven more berths in the annual Magic Valley Outlaw basketball tournament, slated for March 17 through 20, are still available, reports Lee Bartlett, tournament manager. Bartlett said nine teams have their paid entries in and said several others have expressed interest in entering but have not filed fees. The tournament is restricted to teams and players from within the geographical confines of Magic Valley. It usually marks the jumping off point for current high school seniors to be baptized into the rougher sport. Managers or teams interested should contact Bartlett at his home in Twin Falls during the evenings.

Spartans pile up early lead to beat Burley and repeat as A-1 champions

RUPERT — The Minico basketball tournament. Spartans turned on a harrassing man-to-man press, scored 14 of the first 15 points and ran past the Bobcats 19-11 in the opening round night to clinch their second of the state tournament in Idaho straight region three A-1 State's mind.

Burley smothered

BURLEY'S SAGER found himself a little too short to get away with a cripple in all the Minico tall timber Friday night in the A-1 regional championship game. John Fennell, 6-5, immediately behind Sager and Tony Harding (44) slapped the ball out of bounds. Minico won 63-46.

Red-hot BYU has WAC crown, 98-87

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A hot-shooting Brigham Young rolled past arch-rival Utah 98-87 Saturday afternoon to clinch the Western Athletic Conference championship and a berth in next week's NCAA Western playoffs. The Cougars, hitting 61 percent from the field, emerged from the opening half with a 48-38 lead and ran away with the title contest in the closing 20 minutes. Kresimir Cosic, BYU's agile 6-11 center, and teammates Phil

Burley went the entire first period without a field goal but some of that cold shooting was due to the pressure of the Spartans. Tony Sager and DeeLynn Seamon were the chief henchmen as at one stretch the Spartans kept Burley from getting across the 10 second line. In all the Spartans probably took the ball away from Burley on half of the Bobcats' first-period possessions. Tracy Nielsen gave Burley a brief 1-0 lead with a free throw but John Fennell, Rulon Barlow and Tony Harding got points for a 6-1 lead. Then quick steals got two more buckets from Fenell, another by Seamon and one by Barlow as Minico rared ahead 16-2. By the end of the period, Minico held a 21-5 advantage. Sager got Burley's first bucket with 1:38 gone in the second period and the Bobcats then caught a brief flurry that ended on a Randleklev shot that cut the margin to 10 at 23-13. But Fenell got a Minico bucket next time down the floor and with 4:00 left in the half, Sager made a steal and turned it into a three-point play that restored three-point play's margin at 15. The Spartans still had that cushion at 40-25 at halftime and hit the first six points of the second half to nail the lid on the championship. However, its biggest margin came at 27 points. Minico cleared the bench in the fourth quarter and managed only three points but Burley was only slightly warmer.

Liquori has mile in ICAA

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — Villanova's Marty Liquori captured the one-mile run in the 50th annual ICAA track and field championships at Princeton University's Jadwin Gym Saturday to become the fourth person in ICAA meet history to win that event for three consecutive years. Liquori, the NCAA outdoor mile champion, ran the mile in 4:6.1, after being paced by teammate Chris Mason, who finished second with a 4:6.9 clocking. Villanova has won the ICAA mile run for the past eight years. Anchored by Liquori, Villanova's two-mile relay team, which included Mason, Rick Kell and Karl Kinschard, swept to an ICAA record-breaking victory with a time of 7:31.6, breaking the established mark of 7:33.4 established by Seton Hall in 1964.

Rutgers' Tom Ulan, the world university 40-meter champion, smashed the 600-yard run meet record with a time of 1:8.5, bettering the 1:9.2 mark set by Larry James of Villanova in 1969. Villanova set other records in this final day of the meet, as the Wildcats' Jerry Klyop broke the pole vault record by 1/4 inches with a 16 feet, 4 and 1/2 inch effort, while Lamont Hyman set a 48.5 mark in the 500-yard dash.

Frazier made 7-5 favorite over Clay in title match

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Frazier, who emerged from the pack to claim the heavyweight title that was taken away from Cassius Clay, will find out on Monday night whether his flat feet can ever fill the dancing shoes of the man he replaced. The whole world will be watching the $15-million spectacle.

Clay will unveil Ali shuffle shoes

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — A spirited Muhammad Ali wound up training for his Monday night heavyweight championship fight with Joe Frazier Saturday promising to show off his red-tasselled "Ali Shuffle Shoes" in a victory shuffle at Madison Square Garden.

"The tassels are sewed on. I got 'em from Germany and I guarantee the Ali Shuffle with Joe Frazier," said the former heavyweight champ.

"They're gonna see the shuffle at least seven or eight times, maybe once every round," said Ali-Cassius Clay. Ali shadow-boxed in a ring under the heat of television cameras filming a pre-fight special and stopped his workout to look at films of some of Frazier's previous fights being shown on a monitor.

Frazier may quit if he wins

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Joe Frazier held one last secret light workout Saturday to complete training for what might be his last fight, a multi-million dollar finale on Monday night against Cassius Clay.

"He'd be the youngest champion to retire in the history of boxing," said Frazier's manager, Frank Durham. "He's done enough."

However, the 27-year-old Frazier scoffs at the suggestion. A tide of green has been rolling in for him ever since he signed to meet Clay, and a victory on Monday night would provide more possibilities.

In private conversations, Frazier says he doesn't know what his next step might be, and he'll wait for a few months, talk things over with his family and then make his decision.

During training, the champion boxed 207 rounds, but he said he didn't do anything different for Clay than any of the 26 previous opponents he defeated in order. Actually, Frazier says he has had 27 pro fights, and one is missing from the record books.

Attempts to add a few new twists to his basic repertory ended in failure.

"I see it ending in the seventh round," Durham said, "with a left hook."

square as the winner. In the United States, the 27-year-old champion rates as a 7-5 favorite, but in much of the rest of the world, Clay is the choice by even heavier odds. The answers will be learned by the 20,000 fans at Madison Square Garden in the first million dollar live gate since the days of Jack Dempsey and Joe Louis, by nearly a million and a half fans in 350 closed circuit sites in North America and by millions more in other countries. Almost everything that could be said about the bout has already been said, but a press corps of more than 600 reporters has already arrived here to tell more.

Clay and Frazier have ducked out of the spotlight during the final days before the bout that has been 3½ years in the making. Clay returned to Miami and Frazier went home to Philadelphia after attending the pre-fight physical.

The bout really began in 1967 when Clay was stripped of the title for refusing to enter the Army.

Ellis, a former sparring partner of Clay's, in the Garden ring. However, his claim was clouded by Clay's comeback, spurred, in part, by a Federal Court order that he must be allowed to fight in the state of New York.

After two tuneups by Clay, impressive technical knockout victories over Jerry Quarry and Oscar Bonavena, the bout was finally made with each fighter receiving $2.5-million for the biggest one-night paychecks in history.

Neither fighter has lost as a professional, Clay running up 21 consecutive victories and 25 knockouts since turning pro after winning the light heavyweight gold medal in the 1960 Olympics and Frazier gaining 26 victories with 23 knockouts after taking the heavyweight gold medal in the 1964 Olympics.

Dilettantes' 'Oliver' proves tasty version

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — As the test of a pudding is in the eating, so is the test of a theatrical production in the hearing and the seeing, and the Twin Falls Dilettantes serve up a tasty dish indeed with their version of "Oliver," continuing today and later this week in the CSI Fine Arts auditorium.

on an empty stage. "Where is Love," proved a true test of his many talents, and he came through with flying colors. Only 17 years old, young "Oliver" showed a rare lack of stage fright and an equally rare ability to present an unwavering picture of the London of the 1850's, complete with carefully crafted London accent.

Oliver. His "aria," on the joys of crime, "You've Got to Pick a Pocket or Two," and his soliloquy, "Reviewing the Situation," were both highly enjoyable and well done. Fagin's agile facial expressions and artful costuming and makeup added greatly to the entire performance.

"The committee concluded that a change in the state highway-user-tax structure is needed if all units of government are to meet increased highway, road and street needs in the State of Idaho," he said.

Driver education fee hike approved

BOISE (UPI)—By a vote of 63 the House Transportation Committee voted Saturday to seek a $12 increase in the driver training permit fee to underwrite the financially faltering driver education program.

subcommittee that prepared amendments to the bill now being considered also recommended an amendment that would require the schools to live within the funds provided by these fees in running their programs.

The state official also denied that the board had ever threatened reprisal against cities if state highway funds are reduced.

Sentenced

TWIN FALLS — Patrick L. Turner, 24, was sentenced by Judge James M. Cunningham to 10 days in the county jail after a conviction of driving while intoxicated.

ated and warned the state can happen to the aquifer. Rep. Wilbert Cammack, D-Blackfoot, called the bill the "most important piece of legislation to come before us in the field of water pollution."

Floor sponsor, Lloyd Dunn, R-Georgetown, said there "is ample evidence" that drain wells do pollute domestic water sources and therefore should be regulated.

Dunn said the problem already has had ample study and that now is the time for action on the problem.

Jerome plans blood drive

JEROME — A reminder to Jerome area residents that the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Jerome Monday from 2 to 6 p.m. at the Jerome Moose Hall was issued Saturday by Mrs. Gene Overfield, district health nurse.

The quota for Jerome is 125 pints. "We have not achieved the quota in the past two years and I hope everyone will turn out and help us make it this year," Mrs. Overfield said.

Area business firms, social groups, churches and many other organizations in the community have been asked to cooperate in the project by having members donate blood. Jerome physicians who will assist at the drawing are Dr. James Scheel, from 2 to 3 p.m.; Dr. James Sloat, 3 to 4 p.m.; Dr. L.M. Neher, 4 to 5 p.m. and Dr. W. Carlyle Small, from 4 to 6:30 p.m.

Those 18 through 65 years of age are eligible to give blood, Mrs. Overfield said. Mrs. S.P. Richter is canteen chairman and Mrs. Robert Nancolas will be receptionist. Mrs. Jim Watson is in charge of nursing assistants. Mrs. Charlotte Roberson will manage the juice table. Members of the acting volunteer bloodmobile committee are Mrs. Jerry Diehl, Mrs. H. L. Prescott and Mrs. Overfield.

The high school Key Club will help unload and load equipment. Also assisting in the project will be members of the newly formed Veterans of Foreign Wars organizations.

Boise youth captures top honors in T.F. gem show

TWIN FALLS — A 14-year-old Boise youth walked away Saturday with the sweepstakes award at the 19th annual Magic Valley Gem Show.

Rex Owings received a blue ribbon and the trophy for his display of "fingernail" mounts of minerals. He also received a blue ribbon and the junior division trophy for faceted natural and synthetic gems.

Judging was held Saturday, opening of the two-day show at the Idaho National Guard Armory in Twin Falls. Only part of the 125 displays were in competition exhibits.

Other awards presented were to Alfred and Mattie Day, Boise, second for petrified wood; Ivan Molyneux, Kimberly, first in cabachons; Hugh Denton, Burley, first in nodules and geodes; Hugh Denton, 1st in cabachons and a trophy in general lapidary; Lance Cantrall, Twin Falls, three first places in artifacts and a trophy in the educational division; Hugh Quast, Kimberly, first in arrowheads, educational division; Ed Romack, Idaho Falls, first in faceted natural gem stones; W.G. Wodtke, Central Point, Ore., first in faceted natural and synthetic gems and a trophy in faceting; Clara Walton, Burley, second in minerals from one foreign country (Mexico); John Stanford, Pocatello, second in cabachons; Spencer Opal Mines, Spencer Idaho, dealer trophy.

By early Saturday evening the show had a paid attendance of more than 700, with more than 1,000 expected by closing time Saturday night.

The show will also be open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. today.

Champagne for celebration

LEADING THE way is Mrs. John Breckenridge, president of the Dilettante Group of Magic Valley, at a champagne dinner at the Turf Club. The occasion was opening night of the Dilettante group's production of "Oliver." Henry Wills and Ernie Wills of Twin Falls were in charge of opening night festivities.

Repealer delayed in House

BOISE (UPI) — The House postponed action Saturday on proposals to repeal the four percent revenue increase limit on local taxing units and to tighten its effect.

Rep. Allan F. Larsen, R-Blackfoot, chairman of the revenue and taxation committee, made the motions to put the two measures at the bottom of next Wednesday's debate calendar.

He said his reason for making the motions was to permit the house to consider and act on a proposal to fund 75 per cent of the costs of the public schools from the state level.

Rep. Robert Haakenson, D-Coeur d'Alene, sponsor of the four per cent repealer, objected vigorously to the move to delay action on his proposal.

The vote to hold the repealer until Wednesday was 37-26. The vote to hold the measure which would take away a taxing unit's right of appeal to the tax commission was 47-17.

Gem liquor stores due facelifting

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's state liquor stores may get a facelifting soon and their employees may be in for a raise in pay.

At least, that's what the chairman of the appropriations committee indicated to the House Saturday when it approved 50-6 a $2,205,546 appropriation for the liquor dispensary.

Rep. William J. Murphy, D-Wallace, asked the bill's floor sponsor, Rep. Joe Wagner, D-Lewiston, if the appropriation contained money to clean up these "dens of iniquity."

Then Rep. J. Vard Chatburn, R-Albion, asked what the percentage increase in the budget was.

Rep. Jenkin L. Palmer, R-Malden, chairman of the appropriations committee, answered both questions — saying there was money to clean up the liquor stores and money also for raises.

While offering him "All due respect," Palmer said former dispensary superintendent Fred Charlton paid his

While offering him "all due respect," Palmer said former dispensary superintendent Fred Charlton paid his employees "rather modestly" and that this led to conflicts with the state personnel commission.

He said the appropriation represents an increase of about 20 per cent and that most of it goes to salaries and wages.

Any container larger than 30 gallons will be hauled away by the trash collection service after May 1.

Shoshone '71 budget released

SHOSHONE — The 1971 Shoshone city budget, as proposed by the City Council, is only about $100 above the 1970 figure — $1,494 for this year, compared to $1,348 for last year, according to the City Clerk, Mrs. Claude Chess.

The Fire Department budget for 1971 is down slightly to $7,061.25, compared to $7,129 last year; the recreation fund will seek $2,015 as against $1,925 last year, and street lighting and improvements will cost $8,200 this year, compared to $8,500 last year, the Council figures show.

The annual budget hearing has been scheduled for 8 p.m. March 22 at the City Hall, Mrs. Chess said.

PTA to instruct classes

WENDELL — Mrs. Jack Goeckner, Wendell, teacher for the eight-week kindergarten session sponsored by the Hub City PTA, announced that sessions will begin at 8:30 a.m. Monday morning at the Wendell grade school.

She said that 28 of the 50 qualified pre-schoolers are enrolled for the session. In order to give each child more time, classes have been divided into two sessions — the first running from 8:30 a.m. through 11 a.m. and the second from 12:30-3 p.m. This allows youngsters living in the country to ride the school bus. Each child will also receive milk each day.

The $25 registration fee is to cover costs of materials and help pay the teachers wages, says Mrs. Lou Grout, PTA president. All children who qualify to attend school next fall are eligible to attend.

Mrs. Goeckner said the session will teach the youngsters association, recognition of basic colors, simple number work, cutting, pasting and music.

At the end of the session the parents will be invited to attend a joint session.

Science exhibits judged

JEROME — Fifteen students from Jerome Junior High School competed Friday in a science fair, with ties resulting in both first and second place.

Brooks Mencher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Mencher, who contributed a mineralogy display, and Tracy Wolfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Wolfe, with a teflon coil display, tied for first place.

Tying for second place were Phil Barrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Barrett, who contributed a reptile called the chuckwalla, and Russell Larson, who had a display on the ultraviolet light, tied for second.

Larson is a ninth grader. All others competing are eighth graders.

Third place went to Cheryl McCord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McCord, received third place for a display on fertilizer. Linda Williams was fourth with a demonstration of the solar system.

Honorable mention went to Cheryl Summer for a display on drugs, and to Dick Rosen, for a display on "Big Foot."

At least four of the students will be eligible to compete in the state science fair March 25-26 at Northwest Nazarene College, Nampa.

Don Davis, who was in charge of the Jerome science fair, said exhibits were judged by J.A. Jack Russell, Jerome Mayor; Robert J. Bell, regional fisheries biologist, and John Miller, high school science instructor.

Judging at the state fair will be from 4:30 to 7 p.m. March 25, with exhibits to remain the following day for viewing. Students from grades five through nine from throughout Idaho will compete.

Rupert pair to answer drug charge

RUPERT (UPI) — A Rupert couple is out on bond after being arrested on a marijuana possession charge Thursday, following investigation of a minor traffic accident.

The Minidoka County sheriff's office reported Michael Spidell, 23, and his wife, Terri, 20, were stopped after an accident near Rupert.

While investigating the accident, the officer became suspicious of their conduct and took them in for further questioning.

A search warrant was obtained and the car was searched, producing a quantity of marijuana hidden inside.

Bond was set after their arraignment at $2,500. Each posted $5,000 property bonds. No date was released for preliminary hearings.

Karate rank bestowed on 3 students

TWIN FALLS — Three advancements in karjukum karate ratings were made Saturday following a review of the competitors, Robert Tidd, instructor said.

Advancing were Mike Palacki, Twin Falls, to brown belt; Glenn Harmaning, Kimberly, to brown belt; and Randy Ivy, Kimberly, to orange belt.

Competing in the ratings were Jim, James Lanner, Douglas, Trephine, and Mark Lanner.

Freak mishap injures driver near Hansen

HANSEN — One man who was injured in a freak accident Thursday was transferred to Idaho Falls Saturday and another remained hospitalized in fair condition in Twin Falls.

Idaho State Police said Loyd Pearson, 73, Denver, Colo., and Ralph Lovell, 42, Idaho Falls, were struck by a truck as they were standing on the edge of Interstate 80N near the median strip.

Bill Watts, investigation officer, said Lovell had parked his tractor unit which was pulling a mobile home in the east bound lane. Person parked his rig, also pulling a mobile home, in the west-bound lane and Lovell walked across the median strip to visit.

A truck driven by William Springer, Eden, approached the scene and his truck skidded on snow and ice and went out of control. The two men saw the truck approaching and ran to avoid being hit. They were unable to avoid the truck and it struck both of them. The truck then rolled onto its side and pinned Lovell's foot beneath it.

Lovell was taken by ambulance to Idaho Falls Saturday and Pearson is still at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Watts said the investigation of the accident is not completed and requests anyone who may have witnessed the mishap to contact the State Police District headquarters in Twin Falls.

He said in only one instance could he find an insurance policy which said the premium rate would be raised.

But, he said, in order to raise the premium the company would have to clear the increase through the commissioner of insurance and justify the increase above the rate shown to be needed by actuarial studies.

Brassey said under the present law some organizations "can hide behind the technicalities and thus evade their responsibilities."

Presently, he said, a church choir could be considered a fraternal organization.

He said under present laws the commissioner of insurance could suspend the license of a firm. He said such a move would worry policy holders and cast doubt on legitimate organizations.

Senate approves bill to require group insurance

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate approved Saturday and sent to the governor Saturday a measure the floor sponsor said would end discrimination by tightening requirements for fraternal benefit societies to be exempt under Idaho's insurance laws.

The senators first passed the bill, then by voice vote chose not to reconsider the measure, in effect affirming the earlier vote.

Several of the senators who rose to debate the bill showed the stacks of telegrams they had been receiving on the measure, and one lawmaker said he understood the fraternal societies themselves were paying for the telegrams sent by policy holders.

Under the measure, a fraternal benefit society is defined as "any incorporated society, order or supreme lodge, without capital stock, conducted solely for the benefit of its members and for their beneficiaries and not for profit, operated on a lodge system with ritualistic form of work, (and) having a representative form of government."

The commissioner of insurance may disallow the exemption from insurance laws of the society maintains an "insurance agency" structure, engages or employs "agents" whose primary source of income is derived from the sale or service of insurance, or has as one of its primary purposes the offering of applications for insurance.

Sen. Robert Sarvik, D-Burley, asked whether the premiums of policy holders would be raised to cover any resulting tax from the lack of exemptions.

Sen. Vern Brassey, R-Boise, floor sponsor of the measure, return could defeat the contract while the spade return would let declarer bring it home.

Most players would have returned the spade without thinking, but East was an expert and East thought before returning his partner's lead.

Here is East's reasoning: "South is a good enough player to know that West's lead of the jack has denied the queen, but not the king. Then, why did he win with the king to tell me that he also holds the queen? The obvious reason is that he wants me to shift to some other suit. Could he want me to shift if he held three spades to start with? No, he couldn't. I had better lead a spade and upset his little appeclart!"

WIZARD OF ID

THE bidding has been:
West 1 Pass North 3 Pass East 2 Pass South 4 N.T.

You, South, hold:
K Q 7 3 2 ♠ 7 K 9 8 ♣ K 10 4 3

What do you do now?
A - Bid six spades. You are pretty sure that there is something phony about West's heart opening. Six spades does not keep your partner from bidding seven.

TODAY'S QUESTION
What do you open as dealer with:
8 ♠ K 10 7 6 5 ♠ A K Q 9 4 ♣ A 2
Answer Monday

CARD SENSE

South won the spade lead in his own hand and led the 10 of diamonds to East's queen. East led back a spade and eventually the defense made three spades, two diamonds and two clubs to set declarer three tricks.

We used this apparently simple-hand to illustrate the considerable expert and near expert by-play.

South was the near expert. East was the real one. South won the spade with his king, then when East got in with the diamond queen he had to decide between returning his partner's suit or leading the queen, and so on. He had to set up three club tricks in his hand. Trade one of South's little clubs for West's five of spades and the club

HOW RAPIDLY HENS lay eggs depends to some degree on their frames of mind. And their frames of mind is affected markedly by what they hear. Like music. Rig up a tape recorder in a hen house to play concerts for them and they will respond, that has been proved. Chicken farmer Eric Weston of Plaxtol, England, did so. He got the best egg production with the mambo. Chickens really go for the mambo, evidently.

Sea lion may provide 'vision' key for blind

FREMONT, Calif. (UPI)—The friendly sea lion may provide man with the key to "sonar vision" for the blind.
Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, director of the Biological Sonar Laboratory and Marine Mammal Study Center here, has proven experimentally that sea lions and other marine mammals possess highly developed sonar guidance systems.

"We are learning a great deal from these animals," said the veteran biophysicist, who has recorded on more than 600 miles of magnetic tape the eerie underwater clicks, high-frequency chirps, squeals, barks, whistles and grunts used as echo-ranging signals by sea lions, seals, walruses, porpoises and whales.

"Every advance in radar and sonar in the last 10 years has turned out to be something which these animals have been using for millions of years," Poulter said.

His latest completed study shows that North Pacific sea lions placed underwater in total darkness can use their biological sonar to catch live, highly maneuverable fish.

Poulter, 74, first became interested in sea mammals in 1933 when he was senior scientist on Adm. Richard E. Byrd's second Antarctic expedition.

Other scientists have studied the signals which marine mammals use for communication, but Poulter has become regarded as the foremost authority on their use of vocal signals for echo-location.

His experiments at the Biosonar Lab are conducted in total darkness in a 50,000-gallon research tank lined with 50,000 acoustic wedges which damp out interfering echoes.

Poulter has already used the tank to prove the ability of pinnipeds (sea lions, seals and walruses) to "see" by picking up the echoes of their signals with their ears and whiskers.

"They use a double click for echo-location, containing a silent or listening period of less than 10-milliseconds," he explained. "They can obtain an accurate acoustic image of the distance, shape, size and even the texture of a target up to 25 feet away."

In one series of experiments in the darkened tank, a precocious sea lion named "Whiskers" used his sonar texture discrimination to successfully select fish, his natural food, instead of a fish-shaped piece of beef 1,195 times out of 1,196.

Poulter, along with veterinary surgeon Dr. Richard C. Hubbard and otolaryngologist Dr. Robin P. Michelson, is now involved in an experimental program to analyze this remarkable guidance system in detail so that it may be artificially reconstructed and used by man.

Tiny electrodes and radio transmitters surgically implanted beneath the skin of a sea lion enable the experimenters to record auditory and vibrissal nerve signals for comparison with the vocal clicks recorded by underwater microphones.

Baffling bell

STONE, England (UPI)—A bell rings twice every day in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bentley. Trouble is, they can't find out where the bell is or what causes it to ring.
The fire brigade, post office engineers and council officials have searched for it to no avail. The rings came at 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. without fail. "It's really quite baffling," said a postal engineer.

Boy's boar forgiven

WOODLAKE, Calif. (UPI)—A teen-age boy is willing to forgive his 700-pound boar.
Freddie Vanderhoff, 16, suffered a deep gash in his back when the animal gored him as the youth tried to drive it out of a pen.

"Oh, no, he's too good an animal to destroy," the youth said from his hospital bed Thursday when asked if the boar would be sent to the slaughterhouse for its actions.

Vanderhoff is raising 90 pigs for a Future Farmers of America project.

State sampling T.F. auto flow

TWIN FALLS — Most of the traffic counter devices evident around Twin Falls the past few weeks are from the Idaho Department of Highways and are sampling traffic on streets leading into or on state highway routes, City Manager Jean Milar said today.

Twin Falls City owns one traffic counter and uses it in various parts of the city on a continuous basis to keep pace with local and through traffic flow, Milar said. City engineering department workers have recently been taking traffic counts in the downtown mall area, he said.

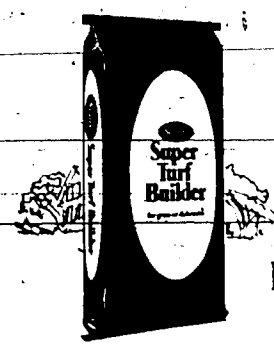

State equipment of an amount to conduct a mass count in any one city or area is frequently brought into Twin Falls, Milar said. On a basis of the counts taken, traffic control lights, routes and street and highway improvement designs are established. Milar said he does not know of any special plans at this time in Twin Falls by the department of highways.

Everett Kidner, department of highways, Shoshone, said Twin Falls is being considered for numerous improvements and changes and counts are being collected throughout the city.

In addition to the West Five Points intersection reconstruction already scheduled, plans are in the mill he said, for improvement of North Five Points, Addison Avenue, Second Avenue and Blue Lakes Boulevard.

campus bombers, police killers 'cannon fodder for revolution'

HE DECLARED THAT the legislators have sworn to uphold the state's constitution as they took office and have a duty to at least hear the evidence of Roberts and his Colorado-based Committee to Restore the Constitution.

Col. Roberts announced that he will ask state legislators to prepare a possible presentation of evidence to a joint session of the state legislature. Roberts has presented similar cases to state committees in Massachusetts, Kansas and Minnesota and has addressed the joint sessions of the Alabama and Mississippi State legislatures.

MUST SEEK CONTROL MECHANISM

"WE MUST SEEK OUT the control mechanism of the revolution," said Roberts, "and if we dare to look, we will see that this control lies in a highly placed group of intellectuals and industrialists."

Roberts charged that in 1966 the Ford Foundation poured $500 million into over 1,000 revolutionary groups in the U.S. These groups, he went on, have since spread to every aspect of American operations, even to the extent of threatening to close our campuses.

"The revolution did not start two, three or even 10 years ago," said Roberts. "We must look to the year 1905 or thereabouts."

AT THIS POINT Roberts went into a step by step, historic account of a long range plan to weaken the US constitution, to level American society and to erect on its ruins a new world government.

"Early in this century," Roberts charged, "an elite group of international bankers and industrialists formulated a three prong attack which would eventually bring the world and its economic resources into their hands."

"The techniques which they elected to use were infiltration, subversion and eventually revolution to remove the constitution of the US and impose a quasi-legal apparatus upon the people of the world."

Roberts pointed out that in order to implement these techniques, the planners had to gradually change the spiritual and intellectual climate of the country.

First the group had to get control of the universities through its professors. The professors could change the thinking in future teachers and eventually students of every phase of education, and ultimately control financially and intellectually, the mass media, industry, and the culture of the nation.

A CONCEPT OF REVOLUTION

"AS THE DOCTRINE of world government spread through our universities," said Roberts, "and its students were led to believe that a world government would be controlled by an intellectual elite for the good of humanity, all aspects of our economy were redirected from American ideals to a concept of revolution."

The second phase of implementation, Roberts pointed out, was the spiritual control of the population. Up until this plan was launched, the spiritual strength of America lay in its churches, now, Roberts went on, "by infiltrating the churches the conspirators have warped the soul of America and have created a permissiveness in all aspects of society, a permissiveness which does not violently reject evil, but accepts it as part of nature and actually rejects the good."

"WE ARE TOLD," Roberts noted, "that permissiveness is necessary for an advanced culture, but in the meantime that concept is destroying the fiber of the nation."

Roberts said that America has become characterless because we have permitted our churches to become infiltrated with the idea of the brotherhood of man, one church and the creation of a god-man which supercedes the power of Jesus Christ.

"Having gained control of these two elements of influence on our society," Roberts went on, "the apparatus was complete, but to obtain all objectives, it was necessary to gain control of the government."

To accomplish this, Roberts charged that in 1912 the internationalists set out to install an agent in the US presidency. In the election of 1912, Roberts noted, two parties ran candidates, but in order to split the vote of the GOP party, the Bull Moose Party was created "out of

CHARGING THAT THE CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS OF THE STATES HAVE BEEN PHASED OUT IN KEY AREAS AND RE-ESTABLISHED IN THE UNITED NATIONS OR A WORLD GOVERNMENT, LT. COL. ARCH E. ROBERTS, SPEAKING RECENTLY IN TWIN FALLS OUTLINED AN HISTORIC THREAT WHICH SURPASSES THAT OF A COMMUNIST TAKEOVER OF THE COUNTRY.

COL. ROBERTS STATED THAT THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF IDAHO SHOULD ASK THAT THEIR LEGISLATORS INVESTIGATE THE POSSIBILITY, THAT SPECIFIC AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION AND ARTICLES OF THE U.N. CHARTER ACTUALLY CRIPPLE THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, THE STATE OF IDAHO, AND AFFECT THE LAWS OF THE STATE.

"nothing." In this way the Democratic candidate was elected, and Woodrow Wilson became the first agent of the infiltration to occupy the highest political office in the land.

To prove his point, Roberts indicated that within a year, three measures were established as part of American law which were designed to create a power bloc or basis for the completion of the take-over plan.

The first step, Roberts charged, was the creation of the 16th amendment to the constitution, the creation of the income tax. Once this was unwittingly accepted by the states, the government and the infiltrators, had unlimited access to working capital and had the authority to tax and destroy those who would seek to upset the economic takeover.

DEPRIVING THE STATES
THE SECOND STEP was the 17th amendment which took the power of control over the federal government which the states retained with the constitution. In this amendment the two state senators, who were originally planned to voice the opinion of their state in federal government, were slated for election by popular vote.

This, Roberts pointed out, deprived the states of power in controlling the working of the federal government, and also limited the effectiveness of the senators to represent the people. Roberts stated that a senator can be elected once by popular support, but in re-election he has to call upon the backing of the mass media and high finance to wage an effective campaign. Once he is compromised in this manner, his loyalty to his constituents is questionable.

The third step was the creation of the Federal Reserve, Roberts pointed out. This aspect of the government deprives the congress of its constitutional right to regulate and coin money and gives it to 12 international banking concerns called the Federal Reserve Bank.

Roberts charged that the Federal Reserve now has the power to control interest rates, the stock market, the circulation of money and by withdrawing capital, can create a depression. He noted that the financial crash in the 1920s and '30s, was designed to kill the last independent banks and finalize the implementation of the federal reserve.

THE FINAL PHASE of the takeover of the world by the international bankers, is the establishment of a world government. He stated that the Wilson government attempted to submit such a plan in the wake of the First World War, with peace and international security as the selling point.

UN DESTROYS CONGRESS
THIS WAS NOT ACCEPTED by the Senate, Roberts pointed out but was reintroduced again after the Second World War, to a new generation as the UN Charter. Roberts noted evidence that the UN did not emerge spontaneously from the 1945 meeting in San Francisco, but in reality was discussed in the State Department, two weeks after Pearl Harbor.

Roberts charged that the creation of the UN has taken away the power of congress to declare war, control nuclear weapons and raise an army. The UN now has control of these operations, Roberts charged.

To put a halt to this takeover of the US constitution, Roberts called for citizen support of state legislators who will investigate effects of the UN Charter on our constitution, the state constitution and our state laws. He noted that work is being done to create a voter network and meet with the state legislature for action against the alleged world takeover.

Roberts, in answer to questioning, stated that communism is but a successful revolution also inspired and engineered by the same group of international bankers. He stated that too much time is being wasted chasing down communists when the real threat to the nation is ignored.

Roberts cited the Council on Foreign Relations as one of the most powerful groups implementing the plans of the world government. He charged that our current federal administration, including the president, includes 80 members of the Council.

HE STATED THAT the Vietnam pullout is being affected now because a world government inspired industrial complex has been successfully set up in South Vietnam and the American people are being conditioned to accept a UN commitment of American troops in a war in the Mid-east.

In conclusion, Roberts emphasized the need to work through legal means to re-establish the constitutional control which the states have had over the federal government.

FOR BETTY FURNESS,

Chairman, New York State Consumer Protection Bureau

What is the law New York State passed not too long ago that involves purchases from door-to-door salesmen?—J. F. Warren, Altoona, Pa.

● In the past, many housewives signed contracts with door-to-door salesmen and then changed their minds about the purchases but were bound by the contracts. Now the law in New York State says that the purchaser has up to three days in which to cancel the contract. This gives the purchaser time to talk the transaction over with her husband and family before making the final decision.

FOR SYD FRIEDMAN,

Is it true that you are planning an all-girl pro football league to start in April of 1971?—D. L. Rowe, Colorado Springs, Colo.

● My girls teams will participate in two leagues—East Coast and West Coast—in the fall. My East Coast teams will be in Buffalo, Cleveland, Toronto, and Pittsburgh, and my West Coast teams will be in Vancouver, Seattle, Washington, Portland, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. The winner of the East Coast will play the West Coast in December in the Super Bowl. We start practice in April.

FOR DOROTHY ANDREWS KABIS,

Treasurer of the United States

On the back of the five-dollar bill, I can read only the names of 28 states. How many actually are on the Lincoln Memorial? If there are more, do different names appear on other five-dollar bills?—Jamie L. Madrid, Las Cruces, N.M.

● There are 26 states represented on the "penthouse portion" of the Lincoln Memorial as shown on the five-dollar bill. You probably counted 28 since there are two double-name states listed—West Virginia and North Dakota. Interestingly enough, there are two double-name states listed that do not have the prefix name listed, however—Hence, New Hampshire appears as "Hampshire" and South Carolina appears as "Carolina." All five-dollar Federal Reserve notes have the same format, therefore, other five-dollar bills would not show a different view of the Lincoln Memorial. The Lincoln Memorial itself lists 48 states.

FOR DR. HENRY A. SCHROEDER,

Professor of Physiology, Trace Element Laboratory, Brattleboro, Vt.

Of what value are minerals in our diets. What foods are the richest in minerals?—Mrs. John Lane, Los Angeles, Calif.

● Minerals in foods are the basic catalysts for growth, structure of bones and teeth, energy transfer, and many chemical reactions in living things. All foods contain bulk and trace minerals, and 10 of the latter are essential for life and good health. It is believed that all natural foods contain enough minerals for the digestion and metabolism of those foods. Refined carbohydrates (grain products and sugars) have had much of their mineral contents removed, whereas whole-grain products and unrefined sugars are likely to contain adequate amounts.

FOR JUDITH CRIST, movie critic

Are you on the "Today" show on tv with Hugh Downs almost every day to talk about movies, or do you just appear every once in a while? This question has caused some difference of opinion.—Mrs. John H. Carton, Battle Creek, Mich.

● I appear on the "Today" show every other week throughout the year to discuss movies—mostly those that have just been released.

FOR TERREL H. BELL,

Acting U.S. Commissioner of Education

What state offers the best salary to a teacher?—Virginia Swanson, Hartford, Conn.

● The District of Columbia has the highest average salary with $11,075 a year for instructional staff people and $10,600 for classroom teachers.

FOR WILT CHAMBERLAIN,

L.A. Lakers Center

I heard that you were once a bellhop. Is this true? If so, what hotel did you work in? Where was it?—Robert L. Pettwoag, Hobe Sound, Fla.

● Yes. The resort hotel was Kutscher's in Sullivan County in the Catskills Mountains in New York State, where many college basketball players worked at different times.

FOR WALTER KENNEDY,

President of National Basketball Association

Why doesn't the league use more officials in playoffs and championship games?—Ricky Pokluda, Ft. Worth, Texas

● NBA playoff and championship games are conducted in the same manner as regular season games, and inasmuch as two officials are used during the season, the same number are used in post-season play.

FOR DICK MARTIN, tv's "Laugh-In"

Who is that lone person we hear clapping so enthusiastically at the end of each "Laugh-In" episode?—Rebecca Wolfson, Trenton, N.J.

● We usually say it is a member of the cast, but it actually is the producer of our show, Carolyn Raskin.

FOR P. W. OGILVIE, Director,

Minnesota Zoological Garden

Which animal has the highest IQ? Could it be the elephant?—Georgia Conrad, Green Bay, Wis.

● IQ is a most misleading quantity and extremely difficult to measure. Since it is impossible for us to even have valid IQ tests transferable from one culture to another among men, it is certainly impossible for us to objectively measure IQ in other animals. It is, however, generally conceded that the great apes are closest to man in the type of intelligence they exhibit.

FOR NANCY KULP,

tv's "Beverly Hillsbillies"

When did you first realize you were funny? How did it hit you?—Mrs. Williams Jones, Chicago, Ill.

● I never realized I was funny until I did a bit part in my senior-class play in high school. It wasn't a funny part at all, but the audience roared with laughter so much that I ran off the stage and cried.

FOR BILL BLASS, fashion designer

Many bosses are now letting female employees wear pants to the office. Do you appraise?—Mary Small, Little Rock, Ark.

● Bosses think they are being very courageous, but actually they are doing away with the last vestige of femininity. All the girls look too much alike. It's too bad to lose that pert, provocative little secretary.

FOR MELVIN R. LAIRD,

Secretary of Defense

Which branch of our defense system is the most expensive and requires the most manpower?—Charles Larre, Bakersfield, Calif.

● The annual budget of the various components of the Department of Defense varies from year to year. However, the President's Fiscal Year 1971 budget for all components of the Department of Defense was $72.9 billion with the Department of the Air Force's budget of $22.7 billion being larger than any of the other components. The President's budget provides for an authorized strength on June 30, 1971, of 2.9 million military and 1.1 million civilian personnel. The Department of the Army portion is 1.2 million military and 4 million civilian personnel, which is larger than that authorized for any of the other Department of Defense components.

FOR JACK WEBB, of tv's "Dragnet"

Are juvenile cases over used on the show?—J. Willingham, Richland, Wash.

● Juvenile cases are frequently used. In the 1970 season we had several shows involving juveniles.

Leigh Taylor-Young's Life Away from Ryan O'Neal...

Leigh Taylor-Young and son, Patrick. A mother with gypsy soul.

It was 110 degrees in the shade when I visited Leigh Taylor-Young on a stretch of desert about half an hour away from Almeria, Spain, where she was surrounded by Afghanistan tents, camera crews, bit actors, and Omar Sharif.

Leigh already has carved out a name for herself by appearing in a whole barrel of films (most of them pretty bad) and through her old role in tv's "Peyton Place" serial. Now here she was in Spain playing a gypsy who learns to love, and then hate, Omar, whom she finally plots to kill in a movie called "The Horsemen."

"When I first read the script," Leigh said, "I thought 'This is ridiculous! An American girl, playing an Afghan-istan gypsy with a phoney accent and silly make-up, just doesn't ring true!' But then I accepted because John Frankenheimer, the director, got me all excited about going to Afghanistan and Spain. I've always loved to travel. And I was even more interested in the way gypsies live, think, move, and most of all, crouch. I studied to be a dancer and learned to love that position. It's a natural way for me to think and relax, a physical movement with which I can identify. This may seem strange to anyone not trained in ballet. But to ballet dancers, as to gypsies, it is a way of life. In Afghanistan, the women even have their babies in a squatting position."

By choice, by inclination, and by necessity, Leigh Taylor-Young has adopted a gypsy way of life. She has no permanent home, just rents houses and apartments, hotel rooms, and storage places for her clothes. "It was necessary because of my work," she told me. "I've made all but one film on location, and even for that one we went to Big Sur for a while. I've lived like that since I was five years old. My father (actually her stepfather, Donald Young—her mother divorced her real father, Carl Taylor, a member of the State Department, when Leigh was just a child) was in the Air Force until I was eight, and then had a variety of jobs until he finally became vice-president of the Burroughs Corporation in Detroit." By the time she entered Northwestern University at 22, she had lived in 10 different states and Washington, D.C., where she was born 26 years ago.

Show business accelerated her moving about. She studied with the Canadian National Ballet for two years, apprenticed at the Northland Playhouse near Detroit, and after completing her sophomore year at Northwestern, enrolled in New York's famous Neighborhood Playhouse to study under Sanford Meisner. There she was spotted by director Gower Champion who cast her as Paul Ford's daughter in the Broadway production of "Three Bags Full." That was followed by summer stock until she was picked to play Rachel Wells in "Peyton Place."

A gypsy-like existence can offer a great deal of excitement, opportunity, and satisfaction to a beautiful, unattached, single girl. And Leigh Taylor-Young is possibly the most natural beauty of the Hollywood newcomers, but she is neither single nor unattached.

In 1967 Leigh and her "Peyton Place" costar, Ryan O'Neal were married, and now are the parents of a two-and-a-half year old son, Patrick. Because of her pregnancy, Leigh was dropped from the tv serial, but the same day it happened, Warner Brothers offered her the lead opposite Peter Sellers in "I Love You, Alice B. Toklas."

How do a husband and child affect her outlook? And how does O'Neal, already in and out of an unsuccessful marriage to actress Joanna Moore, react to being a part-time husband?

"We talked about this long distance for an hour and a half last night," she told me, then explained that Ryan had just finished costarring with Ali MacGraw in "Love Story" and was eager to join her in Spain. "I felt there was no point in his coming over here, at least not until near the end of the picture. It is very strenuous filming, and when I get through at night, I'm dead tired. If Ryan were here, he'd get bored simply hanging around the set or waiting at the hotel for me to finish. It wouldn't work. He's better off looking after the baby at home. When he made his last film and I went with him for a while, it was the same story. I felt I was better off taking Patrick back home to his more familiar environment."

She hesitated. "It's not easy to work things out between us. But we have a marvelous, realistic relationship. We like each other a lot. Most of all, we want each other's happiness. Being involved doesn't mean possessing each other. We both want the freedom to find new people and things, knowing we'll always have each other."

Leigh feels even more strongly about her son. "It would be selfish of me and bad for Patrick to drag him along to locations," she insisted. "From the very beginning I had a very good nurse for him. I want him to love her, too. If any mother, actress especially, becomes overly protective and obsessed with her child, she'll drive herself crazy.

Just what does she want out of life? "I am not unduly ambitious. I don't pursue money or fame madly. But I do want to choose the parts I play, and to do that one has to be in a certain position, careerwise. I want to do interesting, exciting things—particularly if they involve traveling."

Leigh and husband Ryan O'Neal feel they have a "realistic relationship."

That's why she loved living with gypsies and other nomads in Afghanistan. At the end of two weeks there the gypsies were so taken with Leigh that they "married" her to them. During the ceremony, Leigh was seated on a camel, dressed in blue jeans, while an interpreter carefully explained the wedding that was in progress.

The future? Leigh insists she wants more of the same, "... to meet more people, see more places, get more exciting parts, be involved. Like with 'The Horsemen.' There have been flashes of excitement and vibrations throughout the filming of it. It's been such fun working with Omar. He's such a gentleman! I am also thoroughly impressed by John Frankenheimer and the crew. There has been involvement on their part. "On all our parts. And that's what life is all about, isn't it?"

The Kids Invade—and PTA Becomes

Can "Student Power" assert itself in a responsible, mature, and persuasive way to help bridge the generation gap? Here's what's happening in high schools that are trying to work out "Pizza!"

The scene: an executive board meeting held by the parent-teacher association of a high school in Nassau County, N.Y. Nearly three-dozen people are seated around several large tables pushed together in the principal's conference room. The discussion centers around such topics as bus safety, student alienation, and ways to enlarge the membership. Abruptly, one of four students present, a boy of 16, stands up.

"All we're doing is talking," he storms. "This is just another bureaucracy! They're all alike!"

He stalks out. For a moment there is stunned silence. Finally a matronly lady, a parent, says, "We must recognize the fact that students are querulous. Many of them are going to distrust us. We have to get close to them, and face-to-face meetings are the only way to do it."

"What he said is what a lot of kids say, though—if it's going to be just talk, it's not for us," one of the remaining students quietly tells the group.

A teacher responds, "You don't know how slow it is to get educational change. Change of any kind. You can't expect instant action."

"Maybe not instant," the student shoots back, "but action, yes."

If this scene fails to match the traditional image of the PTA as a sometimes stodgy, cookies-and-cake, let's-not-rock-the-boat kind of organization, there's good reason. Sparked by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, PTA units everywhere are quickening to the winds of change. In January of 1969 the National Congress abolished all references to special categories for student members and urged all high-school units to accept students as equal partners.

"To deprive youth of opportunities to give help as well as to get it is to stunt their growth, to keep them childish," it urgently stressed. "To keep them childish is to erect barriers to meaningful communication."

Though many parent and teacher members are frankly apprehensive, at least half the 45,000 PTA units from Maine to Alaska already are either thinking about, beginning to act upon, or proceeding with full-fledged student membership. Even a few junior high schools are meeting the challenge of bringing in the kids.

"The movement is really accelerating," says Major O. H. Entwistle, Jr., National PTA High School Service Chairman. He cites Pennsylvania, Illinois, Iowa, Texas, Virginia, and Maryland as several of the states where interest is most intense—but points out that in other states, too, students are becoming talking, voting, even office-holding members. Last year, Carolyn Fluharty, a senior at Easton High School in Talbot County, Md., became the first student president of a local PTA group in the entire PTA history.

This year, another first; a student sits on the state PTA board in Hawaii. For teenagers to be elected vice presidents, secretaries, and heads of committees is, in some communities, becoming almost commonplace.

Wherever the "Adults Only" sign comes down, the PTA chapter involved experiences many alterations. The old name goes first. PTA becomes PTSA—formally known as Parent-Teacher-Student Association, but in many places it is nicknamed "Pizza." Credit a student at Boca Ciega High School in St. Petersburg, Fla., with the nickname, but while some PTSA's refer to their meetings as "Pizza Parties," teen-ager involvement hardly means fun and games.

Rhonda Katz, 17, an officer of the Mineola High School PTSA in Mineola, N.Y., echoes many other students in her vision of what the PTSA is or should be: "A sounding board for student gripes and parent gripes, a place where we can talk honestly and where we can get action on common goals."

With students present, PTA meetings often become debates, over such potentially sensitive subjects as sex, drugs, politics, alcohol, the draft, and discipline. Students don't hesitate to criticize the curriculum, the cafeteria food, or the school's dress code. It's not unusual for parents and students to shout at each other in anger or exasperation. (Teachers tend to be calmer and sometimes act as mediators.) Anger is especially likely in the beginning stages, when the PTSA has only recently been formed, and the various sides are just learning to live with one another.

Typically, though, the intensity of feeling dissipates in time as youths and adults begin to take better measure of each other. They usually begin to like each other better, too. Parents discover that teen-agers aren't all impetuous, demanding, and irresponsible—that their judgment can be respected. Teen-agers discover that parents aren't all square and selfish—that they share some major concerns with the young. High-school PTA attendance generally tends to be sluggish (parents have already had 11 years' worth of meetings), and some PTA officials are frankly hopeful that student participation, and the excitement it generates, will revitalize the plodding high-school units.

"It's never quite like the nice, comfortable PTA meetings where you serve your hour and go home," says Major Entwistle. "The young people don't tolerate avoiding issues. They're not concerned with whether we read the minutes a certain way or whether we have the treasurer's report. They say, 'Let's get things solved.'"

In some places, to some extent, things are being solved. The Mineola PTSA is moving toward establishing a drug information and referral center for youths; there's none in the community and the need is great. The same group plans to involve itself in pollution control because wells near the high school are going bad. ("We'll support you all the way," one parent told students enthused about these projects, "but you have more energy than we do, so you can do the footwork.") The PTSA has helped win for students the right to use the school cafeteria as a recreation room after school.

A high school in Virginia recently went through a major confrontation over dress codes. Things were becoming ugly; there was increasing danger of a student strike. Then the school's PTSA chapter involved itself in the controversy and, by dint of much painful dialogue between parents and students, managed to defuse the explosive situation. Ultimately the problem was resolved by a dress code that was agreeable to everyone except a few die-hards in both camps.

In Anchorage, Alaska, a high-school PTSA has developed a drug-education program. It also deals with related problems stemming from the fact that there is a tremendous turnover of people in the community each year; newcomers, both students and parents, often are confused and lonely.

Students in an Alexandria, Va., high school were up in arms over an abysmal social studies curriculum. When they vented their complaints at a PTSA meeting, they discovered that most parents and teachers felt the same way. Instead of anger and confrontation, the meeting turned into a working session that developed plans to attack the problem at its source—the state education department.

In a Chicago high school, students expressed a need for a basic, comprehensive reference work covering such items as courses, programs, supplemental outside training they might have available, and the like. The school's PTSA talked about the need, then went to work and put it together.

Right after the Kent State University riots and shootings in May, 1970, the atmosphere became quite troubled at Syosset High School in Syosset, N.Y. Some students wanted to shut the school and demonstrate—a move that would have divided the community and could have created serious incidents. But the school's newly formed PTSA invited several recent graduates, including one who had been at Kent, back for a talk.

"They generated a lot of discussion," recalls Mrs. Sidney Schachter, Syosset's PTSA president. "There's quite a difference in thinking between parents and young people, but the discussions helped to calm everything down." The school didn't close.

Of course, things aren't all grim and problem-oriented. Parents and students also get together to work on "fun fairs," Christmas carol tours, career symposiums, and similar projects. Boys and girls at Easton High School in Maryland's Talbot County this year ran the traditional meet-the-teacher night, but with a difference—they put on an excellent chicken dinner and invited whole families—students' and teachers' both—to attend it.

Pooling their energies on behalf of projects is one way adults and youths learn to communicate better with each other. The attempt to do a better job of communicating—and the hope that the PTSA's will help to bridge the painful generations gap—is what draws many people of all ages to join up. Sixteen-year-old Michael Daub, an earnest, hard-working senior on the executive board of the Syosset PTSA, touched on that hope in explaining why he joined: "The community has to know, has to understand, how students feel. There are always rumors about how we think and what we intend to do. This way we have a chance to air our views and positions directly."

But this direct confrontation is also what makes a lot of parents and teachers jittery. The notion of bringing in the kids has been kicking around official PTA halls since the mid-1950's. It has always met with a good deal of resistance because, as one official put it, "There's a tremendous difference between working for kids and working with them."

With "student power" a slogan in many high schools as well as colleges, with youths of all ages demonstrating, adults are by now understandably more anxious than ever. Some parents ask, "Are we going to have all kinds of disruptions in the PTSA?" Some teachers ask, "Are the kids going to tell us how to teach?" There are instances of parents frantically calling PTA officers and demanding, "Is there any way we can keep the kids out?" Local option prevails, so each unit has its choice—not only about keeping the kids out but how to control them inside a PTSA. They can either be full-fledged, dues-paying, voting and office-holding members or pay no dues and hold no office except in advisory capacity.

There's the other side of the coin. Plenty of young people see the PTA's the way a blunt senior in Minneapolis described them, "... a bunch of Moms drinking coffee and going along with everything the Establishment says." This makes many youths reluctant to join, and it takes a lot of convincing to get them to see that PTA groups sometimes do effective school reform work quietly, behind the scenes. Some finally join in hopes of making the PTSA more aggressive, while others realize that here at least is one source of power that may help them to change things.

According to the national organization, experience thus far shows that fear of student takeover of the PTSA units is groundless. (At West High School in Anchorage, the PTSA actually was started by a student. He got some 400 people involved, then stunned the adults by asking them to run it because he didn't think that students should do so.) Far from taking over, in some places boys and girls feel so outnumbered by adults, especially when it comes to positions of responsibility, that they speak scornfully of "tokenism" and talk of dropping out.

Because of the anxiety that's felt on all sides, building a PTSA takes much careful handling. With enough patience and trust, though, the PTSA's could develop enough strength to become significant powers in their communities. If so, those communities could witness the gratifying spectacle of parents, teachers, and students working hand-in-hand to improve the schools as well as their relations with each other.

Meanwhile, the PTSA's already are creating a few minor miracles. "I've been to a couple of meetings, and I feel so much better about things," exclaims 16-year-old Flora Levine, a junior at Herricks High School in Nassau County, N.Y. "They called on me, I got my say. I got my motions passed, and it really made me feel good. My parents' friends no longer see me as just a kid raiding the refrigerator, but as someone with views worth thinking about." ♦

What Secrets Do Your Eyes Reveal?

By JOHN E. GIBSON

Not much goes on inside your head that doesn't show in your eyes. Science confirms what many people have long suspected: that merely by watching a person's eyes you can learn an amazing amount about his character and personality. This true-false quiz will clue you in on what researchers have found out.

1. Your eyes always reveal whether you like someone or not—and how much.
2. It's easy to tell how nervous or fearful a person is by watching his eyes.
3. Fluttering eyelids indicate a happy-go-lucky attitude.
4. The person who habitually wears dark glasses indoors is likely to have a personality problem.
5. Dark-eyed people are more sensitive to pain.
6. Nearsighted people tend to have unusual personalities.
7. A man who doesn't look you in the eye while he's talking to you is apt to be distorting or evading the truth.
8. You can tell from a man's eyes whether he is an introvert or an extrovert.

ANSWERS

1. True. Studies conducted at the University of Chicago show that even when we try to conceal our true feelings, our eyes show them. When we encounter someone we like, the pupils of our eyes automatically expand. And the more we like them, the more the pupils dilate. If it's someone we dislike, tests show the pupils tend to contract markedly.

2. True. Research at Ohio State University has shown that the frequency with which a person blinks his eyes is an accurate indication of the degree of anxiety he feels. Personality tests showed that people who average the highest blink rates also have the highest anxiety quotient. Most other physical indications of anxiety can be masked or controlled, but the eye blink rate is something it's difficult to do anything about.

3. False. Though fluttering eyelids are often associated with flirtatious gaiety, psychiatric studies at Washington University demonstrated that "eyelid flutter is strongly indicative of growing depression."

4. True. Psychological studies show that when a person who has nothing wrong with his eyes habitually wears dark glasses indoors, it indicates the likelihood of some form of neurosis. (There are exceptions, of course, such as a celebrity who doesn't want to be recognized.)

5. True. In studies at the University of Melbourne, dark-eyed people were found to be the most sensitive to pain, blue-eyed the least sensitive.

6. True. A consensus of studies shows nearsighted people tend to be introspective, self-centered and reflective. The nearsighted are also usually better readers and excel in academic work. A Washington State University psychologist notes "that nearsightedness does not usually occur before the age of nine or 10." Thus, he concludes, it's likely that the personality traits precede the development of the nearsightedness.

7. False. People often feel it is disconcerting to hold an eye-to-eye confrontation without looking away occasionally. On the other hand, there are plenty of fast-talk artists who can look you square in the eye while they try to con you out of your life savings.

8. True. Scientific studies conducted by Veterans' Administration psychologist Dr. Merle E. Day showed that when a person is asked a question which causes him to reflect before answering, his eyes will consistently move in the same direction—always to the right or always to the left. The results: extroverts were rightward eye-movers, while those with introvert tendencies were leftward eye-movers.

The eye-movement phenomenon was found to be present even in congenitally blind people; and it has nothing to do with being right- or left-handed. Though a complete explanation awaits further research, tests showed the eye-movement to be directly related to specific patterns of activity in the frontal lobes of the brain. ♦

Can You Find It In The Bible?

THE BIBLE is the most widely read book in the world. Its ethical standards are the highest known. Through the centuries its religious precepts have appealed to the best instincts within man. Most of us have read it and respected its authority from childhood. How much do you know about what the Bible really teaches? Check your knowledge by answering the following questions; then check your answers below and in your Bible.

Jesus Christ, our divine Savior, has declared, "All authority has been given unto me in heaven and on earth. . . ." The New Testament is the revelation of his will for man. To those who believe and obey him he promises freedom from the guilt of sin, help and guidance through life, and an eternal home with him in heaven. Why not enter into a meaningful personal relationship with God's own Son? Learn his will and walk wholeheartedly in his way.

ANSWERS TO "CAN YOU FIND IT IN THE BIBLE?"

(1) YES. Matthew 1:18-23. (2) NO. 1 Peter 2:22; Hebrews 4:15. (3) NO. Ephesians 2:15; Colossians 2:14. We are now living under the regulations of the new covenant, or New Testament. While the Old Testament cannot tell us what to do to be saved, it still provides inspiration and instruction, however. (4) YES. Matthew 7:24-27; II John 9. Christ and his ethical teachings are the same yesterday, today and forever. Hebrews 13:8. (5) NO. Ephesians 2:8-9; Acts 10; Acts 11:14. (6) NO. Only those who are members of Christ's church. Matthew 7:21-27. The New Testament speaks of only one church or kingdom—the one that belongs to Christ. (7) NO. In every example of the New Testament the gospel was first preached.

The people heard and believed. They were then baptized. Children are not suitable subjects for baptism until they are old enough to believe. There are no instances of infant baptism in the New Testament. (8) YES. John 3:5; Mark 16:15-16; Acts 2:38. (9) NO. New Testament baptism was always immersion; never sprinkling. Acts 8:38; Romans 6:3-5. (10) NO. Galatians 1:8-9; Jude 3; Revelation 22:18-19. (11) NO. John 15:1-8. Men are the branches; not churches. Christ's one church (Matthew 16:18; Ephesians 1:22-23; Ephesians 4:4-6) was not to be divided (I Corinthians 1:10-13; John 17:20-21). (12) YES. Hebrews 10:30-31. (13) YES. Matthew 25:31-46; Revelation 21. (14) NO. Hebrews 9:27.

How to Get a Job: Counseling Can

By FAYE HENLE

So you blew it—the interview you thought would land you a job!

The first thing a good job counselor would tell you is "cool it." You are not alone in your search for a job. You are up against competition tougher than any the job market has seen since pre-World War II days.

Feel no loss of status if you are out of a job today. Men and women who earned possibly five times as much as you may have dreamed of earning, men and women who held their jobs for a decade or longer are now job hunting. So you may find yourself working harder to find a job than you worked at any job you held in the past.

From big-time job counselors comes the following advice:

Ask yourself what it is you really enjoy doing. Don't be afraid to try something new. It may turn out far better than anything you have ever done before. An aircraft worker now runs a pizza parlor; an ex-textile worker now assists a Veterinarian. Ex-stockbrokers are now driving cabs. At the turn of the century, seven out of every 10 workers produced goods; three out of every 10 performed a service. By 1980, seven out of every 10 workers will be employed in a service industry; only three out of 10 will be engaged in production.

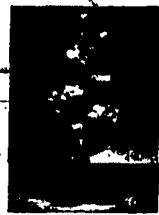

The experts will assure you that a skill you've applied in one kind of industry may be applicable in another. Projecting manpower needs into the 1980's, the United States Department of Labor reports state and local governments will step up their hiring by 52 percent more than the number of people they employed in 1968; service industries will add 40 percent more, and the construction industry will add 35 percent more.

Beat the bushes to find a job. Don't just register with a few employment agencies or at one or two companies. Make it widely known that you are seeking work. Tell everyone you know or meet. Study the help-wanted ads in your local newspaper and those of adjoining towns. Read the business pages of your newspaper. You may learn of a new company moving into your area. If you contact them before they arrive, you're scored ahead in ingenuity. Such non-profit organizations as YMCAs often have job bureaus, so visit them. Just getting underway is "Job Bank," a computerized method of presenting job openings, which is run by the Department of Labor. A phone call to your regional office of the U.S. Department of Labor can guide you as to whether there is a "Job Bank" in your area. While you are talking to the Labor Department, why not inquire about any job-training programs they may be offering?

Help You

You may never be asked for a résumé, but you should prepare one anyway. A good résumé should include:

In the upper left corner of the page, your name, address, and phone number.

In the upper right corner of the page should be noted the type of job you seek.

Your first heading should be Work Experience. List your last three or four jobs beginning with your last job and working backward. Give names and addresses of your former employers; date of employment; name and title of the person to whom you reported; your job title and the briefest description of your duties. If you start each sentence with a verb you'll discover that you will be making your point faster.

If you are seeking work for the first time, list under work experience any volunteer jobs you have held or extra-curricular activities in which you participated at school.

Under education list the schools you attended with the dates. If you attended college, you may omit high school, but specify the degree you earned, if any, and your principal area of study.

Under personal data probably you should list your date of birth, your marital status, and perhaps your preferred geographic location.

End your résumé by giving personal references. Two or three persons who are not previous employers, giving their addresses. You can include here your school principal, clergyman, neighbor, or a business person. Ask these people in advance whether they will recommend you.

The die-hard job seeker will have his résumés duplicated and mail them en masse to companies which interest him. But he should remember that the most important companies will be more impressed by an original typewriter copy. With this résumé, send a simple covering letter.

Watch your grooming carefully. Dress conservatively.

If possible, find out as much as you can beforehand about your prospective employer, about his company, and the job you may be intended to fill. Try quietly to convince him of your desire and ability to render him service. Be careful about overplaying your talents or giving the impression of being overqualified or worth many more dollars than he is offering. Remember, he is not looking for someone to take his job! ♦

"One day it dawned on me that I was boring my husband to death."

When you're married as long as I am, you can reach a point where you start taking your husband for granted. Good old dependable Jim I used to say, and I guess that's how he was beginning to think of me, too. Good old dependable Barbara. It was horrible.

One day it dawned on me that I was boring my husband to death. It was hard for me to admit it—but it was true. It wasn't that I didn't love Jim; but often by the time he came home at night I was feeling dull, tired and drowsy. And so Jim would look at television and, for the most part, act like I wasn't even there. And I wasn't.

I decided that I had to do something. I had seen an advertisement for a tablet called Vivarin. It said that Vivarin was a non-habit forming stimulant tablet that would give me a quick lift. Last week there were a couple of evenings when I felt that I needed Vivarin. So, on those days, I took a Vivarin tablet at 5:00 p.m., just about an hour before Jim came home, and I found time to pretty up a little, too. It worked.

All of a sudden Jim was coming home to a more exciting woman, me. We talk to each other a lot more than we have in years—like we used to when we first were married and we'd take long rides in the old car just to be together and talk. And after dinner I was wide awake enough to do a little bit more than just look at television. And the other day—it wasn't even my birthday—Jim sent me flowers with a note. The note began: "To my new wife..."

Cavalier Coach Bill Fitch: He Laughs As He Loses

By BARRY ABRAMSON

When the Cleveland Cavaliers of the National Basketball Association flew into Milwaukee during a snowstorm to play the Milwaukee Bucks—and suffer a thumping defeat—coach Bill Fitch remarked, “They only let one plane land the whole day. Unfortunately, it was ours.”

When a player on the Cavaliers dribbled down court the wrong way and scored a goal for the opposition, Fitch remarked, “I’ve been telling our boys that as long as we have the ball the other team can’t score, but now that formula’s gone down the drain.”

When a frustrated Cavalier guard stuck his finger in the eye of Willis Reed, the star center of the champion New York Knickerbockers, Fitch commented, “You’ve just seen one of our best plays.”

The 37-year-old Fitch, a native of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, with a degree in educational psychology, is the losingest coach of the losingest team in professional sports. At this writing, the Cavaliers, playing their first season, are almost certain to break the all-time losing record in the N.B.A. You’d expect a coach in such circumstances to be throwing tantrums and bemoaning his fate, but, instead, Fitch reacts with an endless stream of witticisms.

As a result, the Cavaliers have attained a perverse reputation, as a national joke.

Fitch’s sense of humor comes as naturally to him as breathing. “I don’t prepare jokes in advance. I just think funny, I guess,” he tells you. “He’s a born ad-libber, even better than Bob Hope,” observes Nick Curran, an executive of the N.B.A. When Cleveland lost a tough game recently to the Portland Trail-Blazers, Curran remarked to Fitch, “Guess that tempts you to cut your throat.” “There’s no chance of that. I use an electric razor,” Fitch shot back. When Curran congratulated Fitch after the Cavaliers snapped a 15-game losing streak with one of their rare victories, the coach held up his hands in mock horror and said, “That spoiled our chance to break the all-time League record for consecutive defeats. My team just doesn’t do anything right.”

When a sportswriter asked Fitch if he ever got calls from clubs willing to trade for his players, he answered, “My phone never rings, even when I’m in the bathtub.” And when someone mentioned at a sports dinner that the Atlanta Hawks had lost four games because of injuries to key players, he commented, “As soon as they come to play us, they’ll feel wonderful again. We’re the Mayo Clinic for all the other teams in the league.”

It should be made clear that Fitch did not deliberately set out to become a laughing loser. He was a highly successful coach at Bowling Green, North Dakota, and Minnesota Universities before being hired by Nick J. Mileti, owner of the Cleveland team. As one of three new teams in an expanded N.B.A.—Buffalo and Portland were the other two—Cleveland could only draft personnel from a roster of players the established teams were willing to declare surplus or from the ranks of those coming out of college. To determine which of the new teams would get first choice, Cleveland tossed coins with Buffalo and Portland and lost. As a result, they were able only to select substitutes. When they were in doubt as to a choice, they elected to look to the future and selected the youngest players.

Circumstances served to amplify the Cavaliers’ image as a group of bumbler. A scheduling conflict required them to travel thousands of miles on the road for their first seven games, and when they lost them all, the cry went up, “The Management is afraid to have them play at home!” One player lost his bags because he checked them with United while the team was flying with American. Forward Gary Suiter accidentally locked himself inside the lavatory of an airplane and couldn’t get off with the rest of the team—so the word went out that “Suiter would do anything not to have to play with that team.”

Cleveland is known as a city that is tough on football and baseball teams that fail to win, but its sportswriters and fans have been surprisingly tolerant of a basketball team that spells catastrophe in short pants. Hal Lebovitz, sports editor of the Plain Dealer, says, “When you have a baby who’s born cross-eyed and with two left legs, you develop compassion.” And Bob August of the Press adds, “No matter how much they may lead at any time during the game, you know eventually they’ll lose, and there is a fascination in seeing how they’ll work it out.”

The team draws only about 2,500 fans to its games, but this group has become a die-hard core of frenzied supporters. The Cavaliers can be behind by 40 points, but let one of their players score a basket, and these fans will make enough noise to make it sound like midnight, New Year’s Eve.

John Warren, a former star for St. John’s University, who is one of the Cavaliers’ better players, confirms that his team really makes a serious effort on the court. “We play to win, not to get laughs,” he says. “We were all on winning teams in college, and it really hurts to lose all these games.”

Some cynics feel that Fitch is using his sense of humor to cover up his failure to do a good coaching job, but a rival coach, William “Red” Holzman of the champion Knickerbockers, stoutly defends the Cleveland mentor. “I saw him work in college, and I know he’s a darned good coach and teacher,” Holzman says. “There isn’t much he can do about the situation. He uses humor to keep his team from becoming too depressed.”

How long will it be before the Cavaliers can become winners and Fitch can dispense with his comedy lines? “It may take only a couple of years,” says the N.B.A.’s Nick Curran. “The young Cavalier players will be a lot better with experience under their belt, and if the team can obtain one outstanding star, it would make all the difference. Milwaukee was a last-place expansion team before it acquired Lou Alcindor.”

Although some people compare the Cavaliers with such celebrated losers as the Edsel car and Harold Stassen, Fitch much prefers a comparison with the New York Mets. “It wasn’t too long ago that they were the lovable losers who did everything wrong in a charming way,” he says. “Then overnight, they changed and became world champions. In 1972 we could be the Mets.” ♦

FAMILY WEEKLY COOKBOOK

Supper Surprises

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

■ A family supper with a few flavor surprises in the food you serve should please everyone. Although an old-fashioned beef stew may be a family favorite, this recipe is a pleasant departure from the usual. Muffins with a touch of crystallized ginger are harmonious go-alongs. If Burnt Sugar Cake is seldom on your menu because it is time-consuming to prepare—try it, too, for a flavor surprise.

Dill Pickle Beef Stew

- 1 tablespoon salad oil
- 1½ lbs. boneless beef chuck, cut in 1-in. cubes
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 4 large carrots, pared and cut in pieces
- 2 stalks celery, sliced
- ½ lb. mushrooms, sliced
- ½ cup chili sauce
- ½ cup water
- ½ cup dill pickle liquid
- ½ cup sliced dill pickles
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- Few grains pepper

1. Heat oil in a large skillet. Add the beef and brown on all sides. Add onion and cook until transparent, stirring occasionally. Stir in carrots and remaining ingredients, except pickle slices. Bring to boiling; reduce heat and simmer, covered, 1½ hrs.

2. Stir in pickle slices and heat thoroughly.

About 6 servings

Speedy Dill Pickle Beef Stew

Empty contents of 2 cans (1½ lbs. each) beef stew into a large heavy saucepan. Blend in ¼ cup chili sauce, ¼ cup dill pickle liquid, ¼ cup sliced dill pickles, and ½ lb. fresh mushrooms, quartered and sautéed in butter or margarine. Heat the stew thoroughly and serve in soup bowls.

About 8 servings

Burnt Sugar Cake

- Burnt Sugar Syrup
- 3 cups sifted cake flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1½ cups sugar
- 3 eggs
- ¼ cup milk
- Burnt Sugar Frosting

1. Prepare Burnt Sugar Syrup; set aside to cool.

2. Lightly grease bottoms of two 9-in. round

In this beef stew, dill pickle liquid and chill sauce are among the ingredients in which beef chunks and vegetables simmer to tenderness.

layer cake pans; line bottoms with waxed paper and grease paper; set aside.

3. Sift the flour, baking powder, and salt together. Set aside.

4. Cream butter with extract. Add sugar gradually, creaming well. Add eggs, one at a time, and beat thoroughly after each addition.

5. Stir ¼ cup of the cooled burnt sugar syrup with the milk until thoroughly blended. Alternately add dry ingredients in fourths and milk mixture in thirds to creamed mixture, beating only until blended after each addition. Turn batter into pans and spread evenly.

6. Bake at 350°F. 30 to 35 min., or until cake tests done.

7. Transfer to wire racks and cool 10 min. in pans. Remove from pans, peel off paper, and cool completely on racks.

8. Fill and frost cake with Burnt Sugar Frosting.

One 9-in. layer cake

Burnt Sugar Syrup

Heat 2 cups sugar in a heavy, light-colored skillet. With back of a wooden spoon gently keep sugar moving toward center of skillet until sugar is completely melted. Heat until a rich brown color and foam appears. Remove from heat and very gradually add 1½ cups boiling water, stirring constantly. Return to heat and stir until bubbles are the size of dimes, about 5 min. Cool completely. (Store syrup, covered, in refrigerator.)

About 1½ cups syrup

Burnt Sugar Frosting

- ½ cup cooled Burnt Sugar Syrup
- 2 tablespoons cream
- 6 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
- Few grains salt
- 3 cups confectioners' sugar

1. Mix burnt sugar syrup with cream.

2. Cream butter with extract and salt. Alternately add sugar with syrup mixture, beating well after each addition. Beat until frosting is creamy and of spreading consistency.

Enough to fill and frost a 9-in. layer cake

If you need a laxative more than once a week...

Here's Real Relief From Constipation

If you've been taking magnesium, salts, oils or harsh chemical laxatives once a week or more and you're still not satisfied—here's a better way to end constipation worries. Take medically proven Serutan. It's different!

Unlike other laxatives that may cause irritation or griping, Serutan, taken daily, forms a soft gel which moistens food wastes and shapes them into a well-formed stool. Serutan produces the proper amount of bulk needed to help bring peristaltic stimulation to your sluggish colon. This is utterly different than forcing your system with harsh chemical laxatives which may dry you out. You can take gentle Serutan every day because it is a pure vegetable hydrogel and contains no harsh roughage, no chemical laxatives. Take Serutan every day to get regular—and keep regular.

Delicious Fruit Flavor

Serutan now comes in a delicious fruit flavor. Get Serutan fruit flavor or unflavored powder, or toasted granules. When you read Serutan backwards, it spells "nature." And nature's way is best.

FROM DR. SEUSS AND HIS FRIENDS—

A way for your 2 to 6 year old to learn reading as easily and happily as he learned to talk!

“DR. SEUSS’S ABC” yours

FREE

from THE BEGINNING READERS' PROGRAM with these

3 BRIGHT AND EARLY BOOKS all for only $1.65

($7.50 value)

“DR. SEUSS’S ABC”
A remarkable book that teaches your child the sounds of the letters. Funny words and pictures start your youngster laughing, leave him reading all by himself! Yours Free to keep even if you decide to return the other books.

Now that your little one is walking and talking—he's ready to start reading!

Remember the first time your little one said, “Mama,” or “Dada”? Then he learned to say another word, and still another. Now, he knows so many words, you just can't add them up. He puts them together now. He talks in sentences—and all without a single formal lesson. It's only natural. Because he wants to learn. He's so curious, so eager to grasp his strange, lovely, exciting world.

And with BRIGHT AND EARLY BOOKS, he can learn to read just as naturally and happily as he learned to talk. So many little children have—from tiny two's to strapping six-year-olds—with the help of these enchanting and pertinent books by the famous Dr. Seuss and his fellow authors.

Why? Because Dr. Seuss knows what your child wants to know about—his very own ears and what they hear; his chubby little hands and what they can do; and (with the help of some fascinating bears) he can even learn to count and find out how numbers work.

So, Dr. Seuss and his friends use the simplest, clearest words to explain these ideas in clever little rhymes. But, the illustrations are the real key. Your child will love their bigness, their brightness—he'll go over them again and again. And he'll begin to put the words and the pictures together. With just a little help from Mom or Dad, your child will soon discover the magic of reading all by himself!

From this happy start—into bigger things!

The three BRIGHT AND EARLY BOOKS shown here are the starter books in the BEGINNING READERS' PROGRAM. They cost $7.50 at the publisher's catalog price. But you may have all three for only $1.65 as an introduction. They'll get your “beginning” beginner off to a happy start in reading. And then it's an easy glide right into reading regular BEGINNER BOOKS—they begin where BRIGHT AND EARLY BOOKS leave off!

As a member of the program, your child will receive a BEGINNER BOOK each month, and you will be billed only $1.95 (instead of the retail price of $2.50) plus delivery. After accepting four monthly selections, you may cancel membership at any time.

Enjoy this 10-day treat FREE!

See for yourself how Dr. Seuss and his friends can charm your child into reading! You must be delighted, or you may return the three books within 10 days and owe nothing. Just fill out and mail the attached order form, today.

AND-
if you do not have playback equipment in your home, take advantage of one of these great offers!

COMPLETE 8-TRACK CARTRIDGE SYSTEM for only

$29.95

plus mailing and handling

Here's the most advanced, most convenient, most trouble-free way for you and your family to enjoy stereo music in your home! It's the famous, 4-piece component COLUMBIA 8-TRACK TAPE CARTRIDGE SYSTEM... now yours at a truly fabulous bargain price! With the Columbia 8-Track Cartridge System, you'll have everything you need to enjoy the full stereo fidelity, plus the effortless convenience of 8-track cartridges in your home! Cartridge tapes "pop in" at the touch of your finger, play continuously — switch automatically from track to track... and the System, with its two beautiful, matched speaker cabinets, provides superb stereo-phonetic sound!

You might expect to pay up to $99.95 — even more — for this System at fine stores in your area. Yet now you may have it for only $29.95 — a price even below our own cost — when you join and buy three cartridges of your choice at the regular Club price of $6.98 each, under the terms outlined in this ad. Check the "System" box in coupon.

when you join by buying three cartridges now at the regular Club price, and agreeing to buy only twelve additional cartridges during the coming two years, from the more than 1,600 to be offered

The richness of full stereo sound — with the convenience of 8-track cartridges! Here's everything you need to enjoy the new world of 8-track cartridges! Precision-engineered to high Columbia standards — the System — with its solid state design and rich walnut-veneer finish — includes a Player with Program Indicator to control 4 stereo channels (8 tracks) of music that play automatically or can be switched from channel to channel with the touch of a finger (Cartridges never need rewinding or threading). The Amplifier has right and left channels, Volume Control, plus Tone Control to adjust bass and treble balance. The Twin Speaker Enclosures have sensitive yet heavy-duty speakers for maximum stereo fidelity. From Japan. Player is 8 1/2" W x 6 1/2" H x 10 3/4" D. Amplifier is 6 3/4" W x 3 1/4" H x 8 1/4" D. Each speaker is 7 1/2" W x 6 1/2" H x 4 1/4" D.

ATTENTION CREDIT CARD HOLDERS: If you prefer, you may charge any one of these equipment offers—including your first three cartridges—to one of your credit cards. We honor six different plans. Simply check your preference and include your account number on the coupon.

8-TRACK CARTRIDGES!

THAT'S RIGHT! You may have any 3 of the best-selling 8-track cartridges shown here — ALL 3 for only $1.00! That's the fabulous bargain for new members who join and agree to purchase as few as four additional selections (at the regular Club prices) in the coming year.

AS A MEMBER you will receive, every four weeks, a copy of the Club's buying guide. Each issue offers scores of different cartridges to choose from — the best-sellers from over 50 different labels!

If you want only the regular selection of your main musical interest, you need do nothing — it will be shipped to you automatically. Or you may order any of the other cartridges offered . . . or take no cartridge at all . . . just by returning the convenient selection card by the date specified. What's more, from time to time the Club will offer some special cartridges which you may reject by returning the special dated form provided . . . or accept by doing nothing.

YOUR OWN CHARGE ACCOUNT! Upon enrollment, we will open a charge account in your name. You pay for your cartridges only after you've received them — and are enjoying them. They will be mailed and billed to you at the regular Club price of $6.98 (some special cartridges somewhat higher), plus a mailing and handling charge.

FANTASTIC BONUS PLAN! Once you've completed your enrollment agreement, you'll get a cartridge of your choice FREE for every two cartridges you buy thereafter! That's like getting a 33 1/3% discount from regular Club prices on all the 8-track cartridges you want . . . for as long as you want! Mail the coupon now!

even for thousands who perspire heavily

A different formula has been found to keep underarms absolutely dry — even for thousands who perspire heavily. A formula so different it has far more anti-wetness agent than it is possible to put in any aerosol can. By anybody. After decades of common "deodorants," it took a chemical invention to make this truly effective protection possible — with the same safety to clothing — the same skin mildness as popular "deodorants." Called Mitchum Anti-Perspirant, it is the product of a trustworthy 27-year-old laboratory and guaranteed by Good Housekeeping. By the thousands, women with problem perspiration are finding the protection they need — and never could find before. And fully effective as a deodorant, too, of course. If you perspire more than average — even heavily — get the positive protection of Mitchum Anti-Perspirant. Your choice, liquid or cream. Ninety-day supply, each $3.00. Available at your favorite drug or toiletry counter.

Mitchum ANTI-PERSPIRANT

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Ridging, loss of sleep and a tormenting itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it: First, a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work — kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist. Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge — small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

KODACOLOR FILM DEVELOPED WITH KODAK COLOR PRINTS $1.50 PER ROLL WITH THIS AD ONLY

What you are about to read may very well be the most important reducing ad ever published. (3 minutes from now you'll understand why)

Noted New York physician showed patients how to BREAK EVERY "RULE IN THE BOOK" and still

LOSE 7 pounds the first 48 hours... 12 pounds the very first week... 34 pounds the very first month...

Yes, Lose up to 71 pounds in less than 3 months time!

How can it be? Simple! Because a New York Physician showed me a unique and proven method that ACTUALLY OBTAINED THAT FAT RIGHT OUT OF MY BODY! Yes, for the first time in my life, a totally new weight-reducing concept that helped me LOSE 7 POUNDS THE VERY FIRST 48 HOURS... LOSE 12 POUNDS THE VERY FIRST WEEK... LOSE 34 POUNDS THE VERY FIRST MONTH... YES, KEEP ON LOSING WEIGHT UNTIL I LOST A STAGGERING 71 POUNDS IN LESS THAN 3 MONTHS TIME!

18 FAILURES—1 SUCCESS—THIS I CALL A WINNING RECORD! Sounds strange to call a record of 18 years of failures and just 1 single success a winning record, doesn't it? But not when you consider that a doctor explained to me that all other methods I had ever tried for losing weight, (over a span of 18 years) were doomed to eventual failure the very day I started them AND, even more impressive... not when you consider that I finally was told THE METHOD THAT IS ACTUALLY USED BY DOCTORS THEMSELVES when they want to lose weight... less it fast... and less it permanently. I know, because for the past 2 1/2 years I've not only encountered the streamlined body of youth we all dream about... BUT I HAVE ALSO KEPT MYSELF SLIM—AND WITHOUT PUNISHING EXERCISE, WITHOUT DANGEROUS DRUGS—WITHOUT STARVATION DIETS! Let me explain!

SO THAT'S WHAT DOCTORS DO WHEN THEY WANT TO LOSE WEIGHT FAST! Before I go one step further I think it is vitally important that you understand why only 1 fat person in a hundred EVER REALLY BECOMES PERMANENTLY SLIM—while the rest of us are so easily duped by every new gimmick, fad, fizzle and fancy that comes along—but simply FAILS TO WORK! Why some people lose 10, 20, 30 even 50 pounds JUST LIKE THAT—while the rest of us lug around our hulking carcasses for our entire lives.

It's really quite simple. Ever hear of the word METABOLIZE? NOT CATABOLIZE... BUT METABOLIZE! Well, in a nutshell, that's the entire secret. And without getting bogged down in a lot of scientific terms it simply means AN INCREDIBLE WAY TO NEUTRALIZE THE CALORIES IN THE FOOD YOU EAT AND TURN THEM INTO ENERGY INSTEAD OF UGLY FAT—Yes, a medically proven way to 'not only liquify and drain away any existing fat that may be on your body today... but even more significant, a PROVEN METHOD to take the calories in the food you eat... and burn them... liquidate them... virtually destroy them before they even have a chance to turn into fat. Here's how it works... and why it works:

GUARANTEE

- You MUST lose weight the very first 48 hours
- You MUST see faster results than you have ever seen before
- You MUST lose pounds and inches
- You MUST not only look better and feel better... but you must be completely thrilled and delighted... in other words, if for any reason whatsoever you are not absolutely pleased with your personal triumph over fat, return at any time for a full refund.

Brewster Products

SO EFFECTIVE... I ACTUALLY LOST 16 LBS. IN THE FIRST 16 HOURS!

You see every other method of losing weight PERMANENTLY is doomed to failure simply because they are all based on 75-year old "rule book methods" that (A) either demand ridiculous exercises, (why do you know you have to walk 36 miles to lose a single pound of fat)—(B) or dangerous drugs (like thyroid, that the U.S. Gov't has banned from public sale)—(C) or diets that turn you into a "carrots and lettuce addict," so that you simply give up on them. And as for this year's colossal fad-failure... the "protein-kick"... well, that's got to be the most ridiculous of all. 'Cause what they forgot to mention is that virtually all the highest sources of protein are ALSO, THE HIGHEST SOURCES OF FAT!

You see, what I discovered is simply this: That with the use of this incredible capsule with its medically structured regimen here is what happens:

Fact #1: First off, all calories are completely controlled, so they don't convert to fat.

Fact #2: Secondly, the fat on your body is broken down... liquidated.

Fact #3: And lastly and most important of all... that all this can be done without a doctor's prescription, that's how safe and sure it is.

This amazing capsule program called FORMULA 11, helps get rid of unwanted, dangerous fat cells and tissues in your body... AND KEEPS THOSE POCKETS OF FAT OFF PERMANENTLY! Because with FORMULA 11, the way to a lifetime of slimmness, you do not have to exercise... you do not have to "starve yourself to death"... you simply take one wonder-working capsule 3 times a day, one before each meal—following the enclosed regimen. That's all!!!

NOW COMES THE BIGGEST SURPRISE OF YOUR ENTIRE ADULT LIFE!

It is 12 midnight. 16 hours have passed since you took your first capsule. You step on the scale and lo and behold you are as much as 4 pounds lighter! Don't be shocked... because what has happened to you is exactly what medical science has proven MUST HAPPEN. YOU, WITHOUT EVEN FEELING IT... WITHOUT EVEN NOTICING IT... WITHOUT THE SLIGHTEST HINT, have actually shed as much as 4 pounds!

The only thing that has happened is that calories that formerly turned to fat have been neutralized...

Lose 6-9 Inches From Your Waist· Thighs·Hips·Tummy In Just 3 Days Or Your Money Refunded In Full.

Long Line Design WITH ZIPPER!

You've Seen Them Selling For As Much As $14.95

Imagine! the SAUNA PANTS with the very same principle that has already been tried, proven, and enthusiastically endorsed by many thousands is now available in a limited quantity for only $5.98! These amazing SAUNA PANTS are the deluxe long-line reducers, American-made, with exclusive ZIPPERED FRONT for extra ease in using.

"Wow! They really work!"

So often have we heard this feeling expressed by users, that we can now make this UNCONDITIONAL GUARANTEE: a mere 15 or 20 minutes a day of use . . . morning or evening . . . for three short days in a row, WILL TAKE A TOTAL OF FROM 6 to 9 INCHES OFF YOUR WAIST, HIPS, THIGHS AND TUMMY, OR YOUR MONEY WILL BE TOTALLY REFUNDED!

NOT A GIMMICK—SOUND CONCEPT USED BY MODELS AND BODY-BUILDERS

Just slip into your SAUNA PANTS as you would any pants and zip up the exclusive smooth running zipper built into the side of the pants . . . then inflate with the convenient tube we enclose, until it is snugly tight. A slight pinch of the tube holds the pants inflated. Immediately, the heat of your body is captured and held inside-the-pants, and the soothing warmth stays as long as they are on. Then perform the few simple isometric-like body movements illustrated on the enclosed chart. You'll feel the warm pressure of the pants tensing and working your muscles . . . models and body-building experts have been using this successful technique for years . . . then relax. That's right, for the next ten minutes or so, you relax . . . finish that book or phone a friend . . . the rest is up to the warm pants. Think of it, actually losing inches while you relax! Then remove the pants, and already you'll feel your muscles firmer and tighter. Repeat this for the next two days. If you have not shed a total of 6 to 9 inches after three days, simply return the pants, and we'll return to you every cent you paid, no questions asked!

"How long after do I use the pants?"

This depends on your total desired inch loss. We recommend that you use the pants several times a week, whenever you feel a trimming session is necessary. These fabulous SAUNA PANTS work all year round, and the one size will fit both men or women. But hurry, order now, this special sale price of only $5.98 is on a limited quantity basis, and they're sure to go fast. (LIMIT: TWO per family, please). Mail handy order form now.

What in the World!

How to Volunteer Many men and women yearn to "do something to help people" but hesitate because they don't know how to begin. But it's easy, according to Anne David, author of "A Guide to Volunteer Services." In 23 years of marriage to composer Hal David ("Raindrops Keep Fallin' on My Head"), during which they've both done a lot of volunteer work, Anne has discovered that the first step is simply "to take inventory." List your likes, interests, strengths—also "things you'd absolutely hate to do." Among needed skills are abilities to "read to others, drive a car, be friendly, write a letter, file cards, teach or sell (anything), add and subtract, be a good listener, talk on the telephone." Then figure out your obligations—to home, the surface). Ecologists have yet to find a solution, but a man in Texas has. He's S. L. Anderson, of Bridgeport (between Ft. Worth and Denton). He has a machine that shreds them and then converts the particles into permanent, resilient, water-resistant cushioning for concrete slabs such as are used in highway paving strips. "Right now," says Anderson, "we can get all the old tires we want for nothing. Some retreaders and dealers have to pay $40 a load just to have them hauled away. Eventually, though, we'll set up a 'recycling station.' When the supply becomes less than the demand, we may be paying groups like the Boy Scouts for collecting tires. Any concrete company could set up a similar operation, too."

All That Sniffles Is Not a Cold Do you have a cold that hung on all winter? Or one cold right after the other? Those sniffles may not be a cold, after all. What it may be instead, according to the National Disease & Therapeutic Index, is "perennial allergic rhinitis." The symptoms of perennial allergic rhinitis are very much like hay fever—except for the fact that they don't end with the season or get cured like the common cold. The sneezing, nasal stuffiness, itching, and other discomforts are caused by allergens such as dust, feathers, animal hair, or some foods. First step toward relief—see your family doctor.

WHY PLANT A GROUND COVER?

In many areas and situations, ground covers are more appropriate and more satisfactory than turf. They are able to grow and thrive in sun OR shade, and in poor soil.

On steep slopes where mowing is difficult, ground cover is much more effective and much less laborious to maintain than grass. Ground covers hold the soil as well as turf and the textures are far more interesting.

Small areas of grass are a continual chore to keep mown and trimmed but ground covers require almost no care. They are excellent protection and soil conditioners. They hold the fallen leaves from blowing away; thus helping to add annually to the humus content.

WHY CREEPING RED SEDUM?

One of Sedum's most valuable assets is its full time beauty. Lush foliage begins in early spring, and star-shaped scarlet flowers delight the viewer from late June through September. The attractive semi-evergreen foliage lasts well into winter, maintaining its rich green and bronze color nearly all year round.

Besides being one of the loveliest of the ground covers, Sedum also rates high on the other requirements. It is hardy, grows well in sun or partial shade, in sandy soil, clay soil, or good soil.

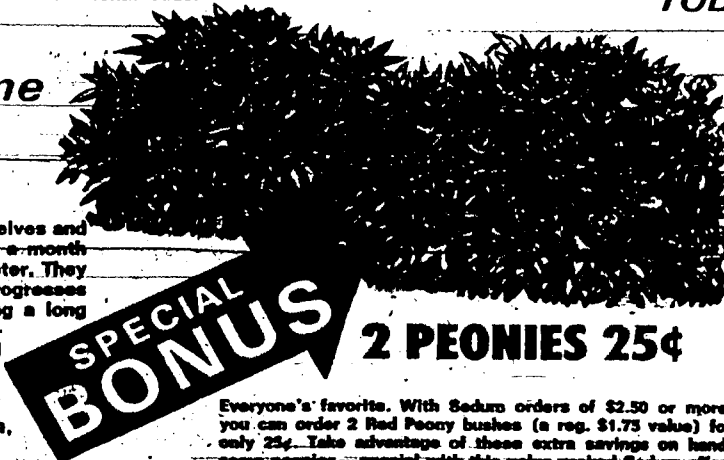

Its thick foliage and root system hold the soil on slopes or banks. The neat 3-4" cover forms a dense perennial mat to bring green and scarlet beauty to slopes, borders, rocky areas, anywhere beauty and durability are needed.

Each plant will easily and quickly spread to fill one sq. ft. Sedum spreads evenly, maintains its uniform smooth beauty at all stages of growth. Unlike some other ground covers, Sedum, also called "Dragon's Blood", stays where you put it—does not straggle out into places where it doesn't belong. Sedum is almost indestructible, enduring and persisting against heavy climatic and nutritional odds.

Now is a Good Time to Plant
RED SEDUM!

Your young Sedum plants will establish themselves and begin to spread a few days after planting. In a month or so they will already be 3-4 inches in diameter. They may lose their foliage as the first winter progresses but will leaf out again in early spring. During a long growing season they may reach 12" in diameter, always maintaining their neat regulated shape.
