Battered Viets leave 10th base

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. helicopters today airlifted to safety South Vietnamese troops who abandoned their westernmost combat base in Laos. Some evacuated South Vietnamese troops said "we would rather surrender than fight any more."

Field commanders said 1,000 South Vietnamese infantrymen were airlifted from Artillery Base "Brown" and taken to Artillery Base "Delta 1," nine miles inside Laos.

It was the 10th fixed base evacuated by South Vietnamese forces or overrun by North Vietnamese troops since the start of the Allied drive into Laos Feb. 8 in an effort to cut the Ho Chi Minh trail, the primary Communist supply line into South Vietnam and Cambodia.

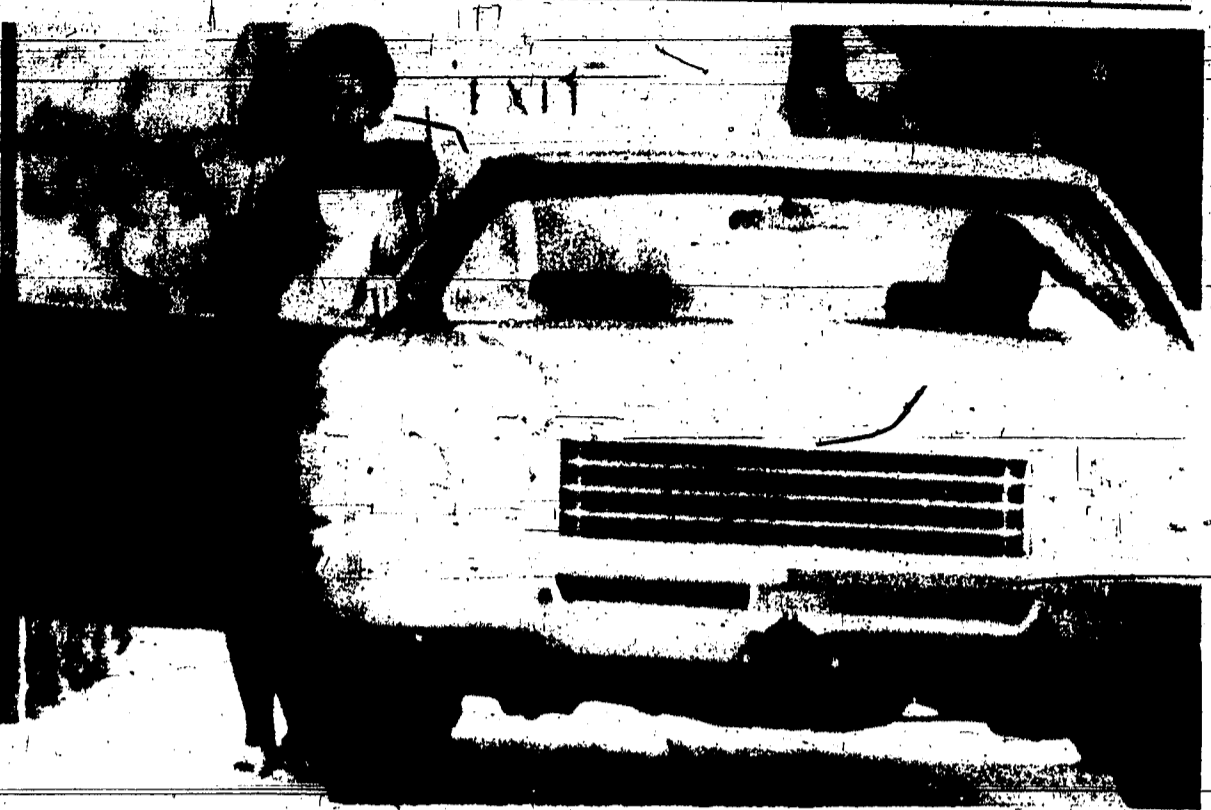

Some 3,000 South Vietnamese marines and rangers were flown to the border as replacements for withdrawn government troops, many of them battered units.

American helicopter crews, who have run into intense antiaircraft fire throughout the Laotian campaign, accomplished the latest withdrawal from "Brown" with only light ground fire reported.

But the U.S. command said four more helicopters were shot down and destroyed Thursday over Laos—two shot down and two hit by gunfire on the ground. One American was wounded and two missing in the loss of two AH1 Cobras, a UH1 Huey and a big cargo-carrying CH47 Chinook.

South Vietnamese spokesmen in Saigon said today 18,000 government troops were still in

House, Senate differ on SST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Appropriations Committee ignored House repudiation of federal financing of the supersonic transport (SST) today and voted funds to continue development of the controversial plane.

The 17-5 committee vote means the issue will be fought out on the Senate floor, probably next week. Heavy pressures from the airline industry, the White House and organized labor were being exerted on the plane's behalf.

The House voted 215 to 204 Thursday against spending any more government money to develop two prototypes of the faster-than-sound transport after March 30, when present authorization ends.

Emerging from the hour-long, closed appropriations meeting, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., leader of the Senate fight against the SST, told reporters "now we'll go back to the floor."

A White House aide said President Nixon was "naturally disappointed" at the House action killing a $134 million appropriation to continue the project until June 30. But the aide said, "The President is hopeful that the Senate will restore the funds for the prototypes."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., leading the battle against the plane, cautioned supporters "the SST is still very much alive."

"On the floor of the Senate the division on the issue has been very close," Proxmire said. "It is possible that the House vote will give us just the advantage we need to win, but victory against the SST is far from certain."

Session nears finish

BOISE (UPI)—Both houses of the 41st Legislature started down the adjournment trail today but House Speaker William J. Lanting, R-Hollister, cast some doubt whether they could finish before Saturday.

Senators still had to act on big appropriations bills for higher education and the public schools. However, there was doubt if these measures would cause the long debates they generated in the house.

Majority leaders in both houses were optimistic the legislature could end its first regular session today and begin its special session on reapportionment, redistricting and conventions Saturday.

Sen. Wayne Kidwell, R-Boise, said he believed the Senate could wind up its work by mid-afternoon. Rep. Terry Crapo, R-Idaho Falls, said the House was further behind in its work but that he felt the House could finish by dusk.

Lanting said it was "touch and go" whether the House could finish and said he would rather see the windup on Saturday if the legislators had to "rush" through their work to get out today. That, he said, would help reduce the number of last-minute errors.

Court airs plant odor

TWIN FALLS — Officials of Cascade Commodities Corp., Melvin Carter and officials of the former Carter Packing Co. were scheduled to appear in Fifth District Court today to show cause why a temporary restraining order should not be issued against them.

The order was sought in a complaint filed March 5 by Russell Lyon and other Buhl residents asking the plant be restrained from further operation as a rendering plant because it stinks.

Collection of dead animals and the carcass treatment process were blamed for the stench.

Girders set for mystery T.F. bridge

SEATTLE, Wash. — Who's building a suspension bridge in Twin Falls?

Apparently, nobody knows. But somebody in Seattle is making girders for such a bridge for the Twin Falls area, according to Mrs. Tom Kelley of Twin Falls.

Mrs. Kelley told the Times-News Thursday that her uncle, Winston Sligar who lives in Seattle, saw huge bridge beams labeled "suspension bridge for Twin Falls, Idaho," under construction in the "Seattle Iron Works."

But the Idaho Highway Department has no plans for any bridge work in the Magic Valley, according to the Shoshone office.

The Twin Falls County Highway District has no bridge plans in the works according to the office staff.

The Seattle Iron and Metal Co. doesn't build bridges, and knows nothing of any Twin Falls project.

And the only other possibility, the Seattle Ornamental Iron Works, isn't talking — repeated calls have elicited no response to the telephone.

The Seattle engineering firm of Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff, who is doing the work for the new Perrine Memorial Bridge, also knows nothing of any "suspension bridge." The new Perrine Bridge will not be a suspension bridge, and construction of any part of the new bridge is still several years in the future, according to a spokesman of the firm.

So somewhere in Seattle a bridge is being built for "Twin Falls."

Could there be another "Twin Falls, Idaho" somewhere?

No appeal St. Edward's School closure said final

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — When St. Edward's Catholic School closes its doors at the end of the current school year, the closure will be final.

The eight-grade school will not reopen this fall ... or any fall. Bishop Sylvester W. Treinen, Boise, bishop of the Boise Diocese, announced the irrevocable decision to close the school to 200 hushed parishioners Thursday night at the Parish Hall.

A tentative decision to remove the teaching Sisters of the Order of the Immaculate Mary had been announced in January, but an appeal was filed by the Diocese. Bishop Treinen said he has now been told "The answer is 'no'."

Bishop Treinen was introduced to the audience by Msgr. Edmund Cody and Otto Florence Jr., chairman of the parish board. The bishop spoke briefly, asking the parishioners to accept the decision without bitterness or unhappiness, and with a firm decision to continue the religious education of their children.

"We have to keep bitterness out of our hearts. We must not be bitter toward the Sisters of the Immaculate Mary," Bishop Treinen said. "Above all, do not be bitter toward our wonderful local Sisters. You know how hard they have labored for your children."

"This decision is brought about by the times in which we live. It cannot be avoided. We must try to do our best," the bishop said.

The Catholic order also is closing its parochial schools in Coeur d'Alene and Gresham, Ore., due to economic considerations, Bishop Treinen said. The three communities, including Twin Falls, have had the only schools operated by the order west of Pennsylvania, and travel by the Sisters, as well as the logistics of operating the schools over long distances, have made it difficult to continues operating the schools.

Six Sisters will be affected by the order in Twin Falls, and 18 will be taken out of Coeur d'Alene, where the order staffs two grade schools and a high school, Bishop Treinen said.

"The church is not going to abandon you," Bishop Treinen said. "We will formulate another way to provide religious instruction for your children. Our main thought must be: Where do we go from here? What do we do now?"

Many Idaho communities, including Caldwell, have no parochial school, yet the parish boards provide religious instruction for Catholic children. The Twin Falls parish of St. Edward's must follow their example, the bishop said.

The bishop and parishioners discussed at length plans to continue religious education after the school closes.

"You will need to develop a very strong religious education board, which might be an offshoot of the Parish Council. Then you'll have something to build on," Bishop Treinen said. The parish board would operate along the lines of a school board, much like the Twin Falls School District trustees, the bishop said.

Answering a question concerning operation of the school by other teaching Sisters, Bishop Treinen said Msgr. Cody has been in contact with an order in Ireland, but received no answer to his query, and has received a letter from an order in Michigan.

However, Msgr. Cody suggested that there was little likelihood the order could send Sisters to Idaho, when other states are suffering the same problems as Idaho. He suggested that the parishioners approve a letter to the order, thanking them for their interest, but deciding against further inquiries.

My Lai general drubbed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Army has recommended that Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster and the general who assisted him in commanding the American Division involved in the alleged massacre at My Lai be disciplined and possibly demoted.

Koster, 51, resigned as superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point last year after he was charged with covering up the alleged massacre of more than 100 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai by a unit of his division March 16, 1968. The charges were dropped in January. Brig. Gen. George H. Young Jr., 50, was his assistant in Vietnam.

Army sources said Thursday Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the Army chief of staff, had recommended that Koster be reduced in rank to brigadier general and Young to colonel. Westmoreland commanded all U.S. troops in Vietnam at the time of My Lai.

Calley judgment studied

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—The shirt-sleeved jury deliberating the fate of Lt. William L. Calley Jr. went into its third day of painstaking and time-consuming analysis today. The defense was getting restless.

Calley's attorney, George W. Latimer, said he thought the jurors were acting too much like investigators, with some unreasonable requests for pictures and rereading of evidence, and were taking too much time.

The judge, Col. Rold W. Kennedy, said they were to be highly commended for taking their time and being careful.

The six-officer jury was unaware of this exchange between counsel and judge. They plopped ahead into the 12th court day, and generated more testimony rereading.

The government has asked them to convict Calley, who led a platoon in the slaughter of civilians at My Lai, of premeditated murder. That verdict would bring automatic death or life imprisonment. However, the jury could opt for a lesser charge, such as manslaughter.

Calley is being held in the county jail in the Vietnam Memorial Hospital of Injunctive the accident.

Msgr. Edmund Cody, chairman of the parish board, said the decision to close St. Edward's Catholic School will be final. The six teaching sisters are being withdrawn by their order, Sisters of the Immaculate Mary.

Burley aide 'critical'

BURLEY — Rex Stanley, Burley City councilman, is still in critical condition today in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Stanley was injured last Saturday in a motorcycle accident.

The driver of the cycle, Dennis Johnson, Burley, died shortly after arrival at Cassia Memorial Hospital of injuries from the accident.

Bad news

Msgr. Sylvester W. Treinen of the Boise Diocese tells a group of parishioners at St. Edward's Catholic School that the school's closure is final. The six teaching sisters are being withdrawn by their order, Sisters of the Immaculate Mary.

Cost of living edges up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The cost of living rose 0.2 per cent in February, the second straight month the increase was well below the inflation-plagued average of the last two years, the Labor Department said today.

But the February report of the consumer price index showed some of the largest items in the average family's budget—food, clothing and medical care—continue to increase substantially. Increases in these items were partially offset by declines in mortgage interest rates and the price of used cars.

The consumer price index advanced in February to 119.4 per cent of the 1967 average. That means it cost $11.94 last month to buy the same assortment of goods that could have been obtained for $11.92 in January, $11.39 a year ago and $10 a little more than three years ago.

The February index was 4.9 per cent higher than it was a year earlier, the smallest 12-month rise since February 1968.

The February increase also was 0.2 per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis. In January, prices rose 0.1 per cent without adjustment or 0.3 per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis.

Taken together, the January and February increases were well below the average of about 0.5 per cent recorded in most of 1968 and 1970.

The report, indicating a slowdown in inflation, was about the only good news the February economic statistics held for the Nixon administration's economic strategists.

Reports announced earlier showed industrial production declined last month and personal income recorded an increase about half as sharp as the average for last year. Wholesale prices increased 0.9 per cent in February.

Prices of food purchased in grocery stores, which usually decline slightly in February, rose 2.4 per cent. The price of beef and veal was up more than usual, and fresh fruit and vegetable prices increased substantially.

Agnew assails CBS telecasts

BOSTON (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Thursday accusations of distortion leveled at the Pentagon in a recent CBS-TV documentary could just as well apply to the network itself.

Agnew said the CBS news documentary "The Selling of the Pentagon," broadcast Feb. 23, failed to observe the adage about people living in glass houses throwing stones.

The vice president quoted the CBS script as saying, "Nothing is more important to a democracy than the free flow of information. Misinformation, distortion and propaganda all interrupt that flow."

"It is the CBS television," he said, "not the Department of Defense that leaves much to be desired in terms of the free flow of information."

Swallows return

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (UPI)—The mission bells pealed as the sun broke through the fog and the swallows returned to Capistrano today again this year as they have for nearly 200 years.

Nearly 4,000 tourists gathered at the mission here, including 500 campers who waited overnight, to watch the birds return.

Public transit aid proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon sent Congress a $2.75 billion revenue sharing proposal Thursday that would permit states and cities to drop their reliance on expressways and develop new public transportation systems.

In the fifth of a series of six reports to Congress detailing his special revenue sharing package, Nixon said each community should be allowed to spend federal transportation money as it sees fit for buses, subways, airports, highways and other ways of travel.

"We have relied too much in our cities on cars and on highways," Nixon said. "We have given too little attention to other modes of travel."

The vice president cited no specific instances of misinformation in the Pentagon documentary, but said CBS employees who worked on it had worked for two other programs, "Hunger in America" and "Project Nassau," which were cited by officials as inaccurate and misleading.

Agnew said the CBS employee who wrote the script to "Hunger in America" authored the Pentagon script.

"Project Nassau"—a show which never was televised—came "dangerously close to violating the U.S. Neutrality Act" in which the United States pledged to stay out of the internal affairs of other countries, Agnew said.

Stanton defended "Hunger in America" saying President Nixon had praised it for arousing the public to the problem of hunger, Stanton said "Project Nassau" was abandoned.

Stanton said "The Selling of the Pentagon" has been praised by "distinguished Americans from all walks of life. It has been criticized, but we believe that it is an important and valuable job of journalistic investigative reporting."

City levy hike seen

TWIN FALLS — City Manager Jean Milar said today the city government anticipates raising the Twin Falls tax levy from $4.51 to $5 for each $100 of assessed valuation to pay for the city's increased spending during 1971.

The levy would be increased about 11 per cent above 1970. But when the programmed increase in the ratio of assessment goes from 15 1/4 per cent to 15 1/2 per cent of market value, the tax increase for property of the same market value would be 13 per cent.

At that rate, a $10,000 house would be taxed at $77.50 by the city. That is an increase of $10.75 over last year.

Milar said almost any kind of percentage can be obtained for comparison purposes with the right set of figures but he said a more correct indication of city budget increases is by comparing budgeted figures rather than spending versus budgeted figures.

He said the city's 1971 budget is up 6.13 per cent, or $224,597 more than the 1970 budget.

Milar said Times-News

T.F. youth named for teen honors

TWIN FALLS — Four Twin Falls High School students have been named "Outstanding Teen-agers of America" for 1971, according to John Lawrence, high school principal.

Lawrence said that choosing only four top students, as requested by the sponsoring group, was extremely difficult, in that many other Twin-Falls students are deserving of high honors for their achievements.

WASHINGTON — The non-candidacy of Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., has become a very serious matter for the contenders who are openly seeking the Democratic presidential nomination.

Washington — The non-candidacy changes a lot of odds which had been confidently established. If he should enter — or be entered in — some of the presidential primaries, all bets as previously wagered would be off.

It has been assumed, in the very early speculation, that neighbor Edmund G. Muskie, D-Me., should win big in the initial primary in New Hampshire a year hence.

primaries, which will number 23 this time? Would a Jackson candidacy hurt Muskie in New Hampshire and deprive him of a big opening-round victory? Could Jackson make a substantial showing in Wisconsin, if McGovern should have to contend with such other anti-war hopefuls as Sens. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Howard Hughes, D-Ia., as well as Muskie?

is one of Jackson's boosters in New Hampshire. Crowley also likes Muskie, but he thinks Jackson is more middle-of-the-road and would appeal to New Hampshire voters.

Cry For Help

From a cloud no bigger than a man's hand a few years ago, the cost of welfare programs on both a state and federal level has ballooned into a gigantic dark thing hovering over the nation.

The rise in welfare rolls not only continues to go up, the rate of increase is accelerating.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare reports that in November, the latest month for which full figures are available, there was an unprecedented increase of 282,000 recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC).

The total was swollen somewhat because it included thousands of families of striking General Motors workers. Even so, November was the fourth straight month that AFDC rolls climbed by more than 200,000.

Two years ago, the number of Americans on AFDC was rising at the rate of one million annually. In 1970 it was two million annually. If the October-November rate were to be maintained, it would leap to 3.4 million annually.

In any event, as of last November, a total of 9.4 million men, women and children were enrolled in AFDC.

The welfare situation has reached the crisis point in a number of states, precisely those which should be the wealthiest and most prosperous.

In Illinois, for example, Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie estimates that increasing costs of the state's public aid programs will consume more than four-fifths of the growth in revenues from all state sources in the coming fiscal year.

"The existing system of public welfare is a social and financial disaster," he commented as he presented a $1.12-billion welfare budget for fiscal 1972, $261 million higher than that for 1971.

"During the past two years, we have been able to live with this crisis in Illinois," says Ogilvie. "But this run-away growth will catch up with us in 1972."

Gov. Ronald Reagan calls California's welfare system "a $3-billion moral and administrative disaster." However, his proposed reform plan, which would cut back a variety of free services, make it tougher to get on welfare and require recipients to work in public work projects is expected to get nowhere in a legislature controlled by the opposition party.

Welfare is not only a political issue but an emotional one. Human beings are involved. Faced with agonizing choices or bankruptcy, state leaders increasingly look to the federal government; that fount of inexhaustible wealth, to take the welfare albatross from around their necks, or at least to carry more of the burden.

But proposals that the federal government take over responsibility for all public aid, a shift which would be of greatest benefit to the industrial states, have little support among small-state congressmen. And as it is, the accelerating increase in aid to recipients may already have thrown the welfare column of President Nixon's estimate 1972 budget out of kilter by as much as $1.5 billion.

In the meantime, up and up welfare goes, and where it will stop — or how to stop it — nobody knows.

Reverse Course

In 1966, when Congress passed the Freedom of Information Act, lawmakers who had been complaining for years about secret committee sessions and championing the public's right to know were jubilant. At last the public's business would be available for all to see.

With some exceptions, the act has not quite worked out the way its backers hoped it would. Committees still go into executive session at the drop of a whisper, and much public business is still conducted behind closed doors.

Perhaps the cruelest blow of all was that struck by the House Government Operations Committee, which was the guiding light behind the 1966 act.

This year the committee voted, 19 to 18, in favor of holding its organizational meeting in secrecy because, as one member explained, the members might feel "freer to say what they want" if no outsiders were present.

MR. SPECTATOR

End Of The Hair

Mr. Spectator has decided to have his hair cut.

The big decision was made earlier this week and can be put squarely on the shoulders of one Clay Panter. Mr. Panter is an accountant from Oceanside, California, and was in Twin Falls on business.

After the usual handshakes, the short haired Mr. Panter looked Mr. Spectator right in the eye and said: "I look like I'm from Southern Idaho and you look like you're from Southern California."

Well, that little dig did it. Now the long hair on the back of the neck will disappear. The white sideburns will become a thing of the past. The drooping area over the ears will be gone.

But there is one short thing which will come of it all — the scalp will be aerated!

And for that we thank Mr. Panter the Southern California short-hair.

THE AILING KIDS

Persons with hidden medical problems are most likely to be over 60 years of age, at least over 50, right?

Wrong, says the Medic Alert Foundation, which reports that there were more 19-year-olds among the 60,000 persons who joined its ranks last year than any other age group.

The reasons for joining, in order of frequency, were being allergic to penicillin, diabetes or because they wear contact lenses.

According to the founder and president, Dr. Marion C. Collins, the high membership among 19-year-olds, closely followed by 20 and 21-year-olds, is because these are the ages at which people leave home to go to college, for military service or just to start their own lives. It is at this point that concerned parents choose to enroll them.

Medic Alert currently has more than 400,000 members around the world, with more joining at the rate of 1,000 a week. Each member's medical problem is engraved on the back of his Medic Alert bracelet or necklace along with his membership number and the phone number of the foundation's computerized central answering service in Turlock, Calif., which is available at all times to authorized personnel on a collect-call basis.

So there you have the word — as it was told to Mr. Spectator.

"Would You Believe It, They're Identical Twins!"

BRUCE BLOSSAT

War To Help?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Sen. George McGovern's presidential candidacy is really rooted in his personal wager that American voters will depart from usual pattern and take a man not in the middle of the road. Not many appraisers would join him in that bet.

On occasion he insists he is not as liberal as painted, arguing that such a person could not win repeatedly in conservative South Dakota as he has done.

Mostly, however, McGovern bangs away on his antiwar themes with a fervor sure to keep him off to the side. In New Hampshire, indeed, he voiced near-contempt for the middle of the road.

"The center of the road is rather crowded with people who don't want to face the problems of this country squarely. But if we're going to move with the kind of dispatch these problems call for, we're not going to do it by pitting one top of each other in the center of the road. That may lead to a dead-end rather than progress."

Key in the senator's wager about the country's mood is his evident belief the war will work for him, that President Nixon's policy of fighting while withdrawing from Vietnam will displease millions of voters and turn them McGovern's way — past rival Sen. Edmund Muskie.

Perhaps, given McGovern's outrage and his long record of open protest, he can do no other. In any event, he seems to be lifting his argument to higher and higher pitch.

Recently, he branded U.S. air assaults as the "massive bombardment we're carrying out all across the face of Indochina," and added:

"I wonder if it's possible to find an area (of Indochina) that doesn't have a bomb crater in it."

Since there are substantial parts of the two Vietnams, Laos and Cambodia that have never taken a single bomb (because it would be pointless even from the viewpoint of a bombing enthusiast), you have to give McGovern full literary license to accept this comment.

The South Dakotan describes our participation in the Vietnam war as the "worst disaster in the history of this country." Out own terrible internal conflict of 1861-65, which produced 500,000

ANDREW TULLY

Atmosphere

WASHINGTON — Indisputably, there is something antic in the national atmosphere that causes people to take grotesque positions comparable only to the nonsense on display daily in totalitarian paradises.

How else to explain the campaign mounted by the defense committee for the Reverend Berrigan Bros. and Co. to make of their kidnap-sabotage trial a vehicle for "political education" across the country? Or the bellow from Republican National Chairman Bob Dole denouncing former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark for agreeing to serve as defense counsel for Berrigan et al?

In the first instance, the Berrigan committee quite openly is attempting illegally to try the case in the streets. In the second, Senator Dole — officially a lawmaker — would infringe the right of a lawyer to practice his profession without regard for the unpopularity (or popularity?) of the accused.

It is impossible not to be appalled at the perilous frivolity of the strategy adopted by the Berrigan defense committee. In seeking mass support for the six defendants charged with plotting to kidnap White House aide Henry Kissinger and blow up heating tunnels under Federal buildings here, the committee will emphasize the "political nature" of the trial and "the position of the defendants as priests and nuns and scholars."

Despite the hysteria, I reject the proposition that the trial is political. But let that pass. The point is that there is nothing remotely relevant in the circumstance that the defendants are priests, nuns and scholars. As persons indicted by a grand jury, their cloth and/or their military deaths and social dislocations that have lasted more than a century, just might be rated worse.

scholarship give them no more rights than those extended to say, a group of shoe clerks. On the other hand, of course, their professions are not grounds for depriving them of any rights.

But the defense committee is going even further in "defending" the Berrigan Six. It plans to so "educate" residents of the Middle District of Pennsylvania, where the trial will be held, that it will be impossible to select an unprejudiced jury. One does not have to possess a law degree to point out that such tactics could be interpreted as constituting a flagrant case of contempt of court. Were I the judge, I would take a dim view of such shenanigans.

As for Dole, he was making a political speech in Cumberland, Md., when he attacked Ramsey Clark — but he should know better. It is all very well for Dole to call Clark "a left-leaning marshmallow." Indeed, as Lyndon Johnson's Attorney General, Clark's policies and public utterances often created the impression he was serving as counsel for the defense. He also insisted virtually to the very end that there was "no crime wave" in this poor country.

But Dole got carried away by his own florid rhetoric. The Berrigan Six have not been convicted, but — unwittingly or not — Dole gave the impression their conviction is foreordained. That is to say, he found it reprehensible and perhaps even subversive for ANY lawyer to defend them, let alone a former Attorney General.

Well, I trust Clark's political ambitions will come to naught because his record is that of the vague and sometimes grand-standing philosopher so often found on the left.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Hairy Tongue

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you explain what a "black hairy tongue" means? A doctor noticed this recently while examining my throat.

He acted as if it was something terrible but offered no explanation. I have been worried about it. What causes it and is there any way to get rid of it? — Mrs. G.

The tongue is covered with tiny pillar-like structures or projections called papillae. Irritation of various types can cause these to enlarge; material (food particles, etc.) can be trapped between them and cause "a coated tongue." Various molds and fungus also can be involved, producing a furred, black tongue. That, incidentally, is not unusual after one has been taking antibiotics. The antibiotics suppress bacteria (good or bad) and microorganisms of other types tend to flourish as the bacteria are suppressed.

Anyway, any one of quite a lot of situations can cause a darkish coating, and that is what is meant by "black hairy tongue."

Excessive smoking can bring about a brownish-blackish color, another version of the same thing.

I suspected that you misinterpreted the doctor's tone of voice; a black, furry tongue may contribute to unpleasant mouth odor, but other than that it isn't a serious matter.

If you have had recent treatment with antibiotics, the condition will correct itself in time. If you smoke a lot, cut down.

For the time being, scraping the tongue with a spoon or a toothbrush will help get rid of the "hairiness."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you tell me a cure for diarrhea? I also have colitis. — Mrs. A.J.B.

Can't without knowing what is causing the diarrhea, and there are multiple causes of it. Various kinds of diarrhea are discussed in my booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints." For a copy send 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can a woman become pregnant if her womb is turned? One doctor told me I needed an operation to return it to its natural position; my own gynecologist said I could become pregnant the way it is and not to worry about it. — L.L.

By "turned" I presume you mean what is usually called "tipped." I concur with your gynecologist who told you not to worry; I base this on knowing of so many cases of a tipped uterus in which women did succeed in becoming pregnant without worry.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a dark-skinned colored lady. I have been having small white spots appearing on my foot, hand, and genital area. I am 44. Can you tell me what the trouble is and what I can do for it? — Mrs. N.H.

Probably, from the description, a form of vitiligo — a disorder in which the skin loses its pigment, or coloring matter.

This can attack anyone, regardless of age or race, but in black people it is much more noticeable because the spots are dead white, and the contrast makes them stand out.

Dermatologists have tried to treat the condition but with indifferent results, so I would have to say no, there's nothing to do except, in areas that show, to use cosmetics to cover the light spots.

Fortunately vitiligo is not a threat to health; the only harm it does is in appearance.

Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

The good taste of Old Crow begins with men who love to work with their hands.

Before we'll mill a kernel of grain to make Old Crow, experts like Jerry Simpson test samples by hand for appearance and color. It's the only way we know to make a good-tasting Bourbon.

Making Bourbon which tastes good, bottle after bottle, made Old Crow famous. Back in 1835, our people figured out the formula that took Bourbon-making out of the hit-or-miss category. Later, they handmade the first sour mash Bourbon. We still use our hands in making Old Crow.

After work, most of our men keep on using their hands. Jerry Simpson calls on the same craftsmanship maintaining the quality of our country Bourbon as he does upholstering his chair.

Over the years, craftsmanship like this has made Old Crow America's best-tasting Bourbon.

Sonny James concert postponed to April 3

TWIN FALLS — The Sonny James concert, scheduled for March 27 at the College of Southern Idaho, has been postponed one week, until April 3, according to Jack Sims, student-affairs director at CSI. Sonny James had to postpone his concert so that he could appear on the final Ed Sullivan show, on invitation of Sullivan, who is leaving the air after 23 years of showmanship. Sullivan invited all top-ranked stars of his many years on the air, as judged by the mail each received, to appear on his final performance. Tickets for the Twin Falls Sonny James concert will be honored at the April 3 concert, at the CSI Fine Arts auditorium. Heavy early ticket sales point to a sellout crowd for the concert of Sonny James and his Southern Gentlemen, Sims said.

LT. AND MRS. BRENT MILLER

Miss Tanner, Lt. Miller wed in temple ceremony

TWIN FALLS — Jacqueline Tanner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion C. Tanner, Hansen, became the bride of Lt. Brent Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, Twin Falls, in rites March 13 at the Idaho Falls LDS Temple.

President Roy Wood officiated at the double ring ceremony. Following the marriage, a dinner was held for members of the bridal party at the Colonial House in Twin Falls, hosted by the bridegroom's parents. Mrs. Marion Tanner, mother of the bride, served as mistress of ceremonies.

A reception was held that evening for the newlyweds in the LDS Institute of Religion in Twin Falls. The bride, bridegroom, and members of the wedding party greeted guests before white lace curtains flanked with a pedestal cherub holding a large cascading arrangement of pink Karina rosebuds, fern and ivy. The bride wore a floor-length empire-styled gown designed and made by the bride. Of white crepe, the gown featured a small rolled collar, scalloped embroidered lace, and long sleeves, puffing below the elbow. Her elbow-length veil of bridal illusion fell from a velvet bow. She carried a single pink rosebud with satin streamers. Matron of honor was Mrs. Ed Manker, Twin Falls, who was a roommate of the bride; Lynn Tanner, brother of the bride, served as best man.

Guests were registered by Denise Young, Provo, niece of the bridegroom, at a round table with a white lace cloth covering a pink undershirt. The guest table carried out the rosebud theme with a bouquet. The bride's table was covered with white lace and decorated with pink chiffon swags caught by small rosebud corsages. It was centered with the four-tiered wedding cake decorated with pink roses cascading over the two lower tiers. The two top layers were separated with lattice columns and nestled upon the separation were pink rosebuds. The cake was topped by wedding bells and a single rosebud.

Backdrop to the bride's table was a pink chiffon curtain accented with pink garlands of flowers and two white wedding bells.

Guests sat at round tables covered with white linen and centered with a floating pink rosebud in miniature brandy snifters surrounded by pink lace.

Assisting at the frappe bowl were grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. Byron Averett, Twin Falls, and Mrs. William Phillips, Fountain Green, Utah. Wedding cake was served by Mrs. Fred Wright, aunt of the bride, American Fork, Utah, and Mrs. Ray A. Young, sister to the bridegroom, Hampton, Va. Others assisting with the serving were Dennis Cook, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Ver Cox, Twin Falls.

Carl's Catering Service, Rupert, was in charge of refreshments, and The Carillon, Twin Falls.

Public minded

DEAR ABBY: Last year while my husband was going with another woman he gave her a Swiss watch for Christmas. They had a fight in February and he broke up with her and asked her for the watch. She gave it to him. Now my husband says I can have the watch if I want it. It looks good as new. Should I wear it? NOT PROUD

DEAR NOT: Why not—if it keeps time. [Look inside. Maybe he gave the other woman the "works".]

DEAR ABBY: A high school girl [I'll call Alice] told me that she and another girl ride to school every morning with three guys. Alice always sits in the back seat between two guys. It's a small car and quite crowded. Alice says she doesn't wear a bra, and this one guy [I'll call him Rick] keeps putting his hands underneath her sweater and jacket and tries to feel her up without anyone else knowing it. Alice tries to push his hand away, but she can't push very far. Alice says she doesn't want to embarrass herself and everyone else in the car by making a scene, so she asked a counselor what to do, and this counselor told her to whisper into Rick's ear that if he didn't stop she would yell and cause a scene. This counselor also told Alice to try dressing "defensively,"—like a one-piece jumpsuit so Rick can't get to her.

What do you think of such advice? WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Not much. No girl should have to dress "defensively" to keep a guy from "feeling her up."

I would have advised that girl to knock the octopus on the noggin with her algebra book the moment she felt him getting fresh. And at the same time to yell in a very loud voice that he should keep his creepy paws to himself!

DEAR ABBY: I just read that letter from the GI who is overseas. He said, "After living a normal married life for three years, what is a young, healthy man supposed to do for his physical needs? After all, I'm only human."

You turned it around and told him to do exactly what you would tell his wife to do since she had the same problem. "Keep busy, stay sober, avoid temptation, write every day and pray a lot."

That was good advice, Abby. It also applies to me because I am a wife who is without her man now. My husband isn't overseas. He's in prison. And he has another three years to go. I'm also only human but I will remain faithful because I love him with all my heart. I pray a lot, and I know that God hears my prayers and will keep me strong—and help me fight this loneliness. HIS WIFE

DEAR ABBY: The secretary who signed herself "No Guts," should have signed herself NO BRAINS. She beefed to you about having to write her boss's thank-you notes and send out his Christmas cards. A really good secretary does all of this, and is, in effect, a social secretary to her boss. "No Guts" should resign and move into the steno pool. That's her speed. NO BEEFS

Two-week trip

LOGAN — Marcia Sheridan, Almo, and Lana Leggett, Twin Falls, members of the Utah State University Sponsor Corps, will leave March 29 with the group for a two-week trip to the National Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D. C. They will participate in the National Inter-Collegiate Drill Team Competition and the Cherry Blossom Festival Parade of Princesses.

Palm Sunday dinner set by local ESA

TWIN FALLS — Alpha Nu Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, better known in Magic Valley as "ESA", once again participates in the spring Easter Seal Campaign.

In the past 11 years, over $25,000 has been raised for Easter Seal by ESA members from the state of Idaho through candy sales each fall. As a state project of ESA, individual chapters in Idaho have also made countless contributions in time, money and manpower for the Easter Seal Centers and have provided camperships for many boys and girls to attend the Camp Easter Seal each summer.

ESA is an international women's service organization with chapters as far away as Australia, whose motto is "we seek knowledge that we may serve mankind." The Twin Falls chapter is sponsoring the second annual Palm Sunday dinner at the Turf Club on April 4.

Leo Soran, owner of the Turf Club, has again donated the proceeds of this dinner to the Twin Falls Easter Seal Center. A smorgasbord dinner will be served from noon to 5 p.m. and members urge all people of Magic Valley who benefit from the services and funds of Easter Seal to come and have dinner with their families. "Celebrate this Lenten season by remembering those who need our help and show support for the Easter Seal work in our Magic Valley," Chapter officials said.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices on the New York Stock Exchange eased in moderately active trading on the halfway point Friday.

Declines held a narrow, 657 to 604, lead on advances among the 1,606 issues traded. The Dow Jones industrial average of 36 selected blue chips lost 1.03 to 915.00.

The three hour volume of 9,630,000 shares slipped from the 10,500,000 shares traded in a comparable period Thursday.

Analysts said the market apparently was consolidating recent advances. They also said the latest economic news announcements from Washington seemed to present investors with a cloudy picture.

The Labor Department announced that the cost of living in February rose 0.2 per cent, a pace well below the 0.5 per cent in 1970 and 1969. But the Commerce Department announced that new orders for durable goods fell 1.4 per cent from January.

The durable goods figure, a key indicator, was regarded as setback to the administration's hope for an early economic recovery.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR. Q—Please explain the new government-backed insurance plan for investors. How much protection will this give if my broker falls?—W.S.

A—The 91st Congress recently authorized the formation of a nonprofit, private corporation to be known as the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC).

A seven member board, under the supervision of the Securities & Exchange Commission, will run this federally chartered corporation. Five of the board members have been chosen by the president from the securities industry and general public.

Also, the U.S. Treasury and the Federal Reserve Board appoint a member. Although not a government agency, SIPC will have a $1 billion line of credit from the Treasury. Assessments on broker members, which are based on a percentage of their annual gross sales, are expected to bring in $75 million to the insurance fund in the initial period, with subsequent contributions building it to $150 million.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Although the market has passed the 900 level on the Dow Jones industrial average, Abraham & Co. says the gain over the past few weeks "was relatively small." The company says it saw indications of "flagging strength in the overall stock price movement" and says the "inevitable declaration in the bull market's rate of gain" seems to have begun.

In other words, an account with $25,000 in cash and $25,000 in securities would be insured up to $45,000, and a $10,000 cash, $45,000 securities mix would be covered for all but $5,000. If the individual has accounts with all SEC-registered broker-dealers and all members of national exchanges are automatically members of SIPC. While it is possible for this plan to be altered, as presently constructed the investor's account is protected up to a $50,000 maximum. However, the cash portion is protected only to $20,000.

The company adds that high volume "almost unfailingly preceded by a year or more the high water mark of the bull market advance." With the current advance still "10 per cent" below the old high and with volume turnover rate close to the 20-year record, Wright believes "there is no indication of a substantial near-term decline in either market volume or price."

Parks budget approved

BOISE (UPI) — The Senate approved the $3,206,100 budget of the parks department 23-12 Wednesday despite contentions the measure would use $500,000 of waterways improvement funds incorrectly.

Senate President Jack Murphy broke a 17-17 tie to keep the measure from the amending order after Sen. John Evans, D-Malad, said he planned to place $100,000 of the money into a separate fund for use by county authorities.

Evans said the parks department budget was $125,000 "over and above" the governor's recommendations. He maintained it was wrong to include the waterways funds which are to be used to improve waterways — in the budget for parks.

The joint finance-appropriations committee members, he said, "Admit they were wrong in using this money for these purposes."

He said to remove the $100,000 would "not really do great damage" to the parks department and added it was told the money could be matched with $100,000 in federal funds to take $200,000 available for county usage.

But Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls, chairman of the finance committee, said in conclusion of the $500,000 in the parks budget was done at the recommendation of the governor — and with the concurrence of the budget director.

High said he would oppose the move to amend because "it takes $100,000 from the present parks budget, which they certainly cannot afford to lose."

Sen. Reed Budge, R-Soda Springs, said he approved of the amendment, adding county committees "have now had the money taken from their use and reach and I think it should be put back where it was originally."

But Sen. Vern Brassey, R-Boise, said it was "very natural" to put the waterways improvement funds into the parks budget and said the only picture in the parks department annual report which showed a park without water was one of the Bruneau sand dunes.

Utah power rate boost hike hinted

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — E. Allan Hunter, president and general manager of the Utah Power & Light Co., says UP&L will need a rate increase early in 1971.

"The situation has now reached the point where we have no alternative but to ask regulatory commissions for an increase," he said.

In his annual report to shareholders Hunter said the firm was fortunate to have had no fuel supply shortages such as have plagued other parts of the country.

He said the company has "only minor pollution problems. Practically all fuel used has low sulphur content, and major plants have fly ash control equipment."

He said the size of the raise he will ask has not been determined but it is needed to maintain satisfactory earnings and attract capital for the utility's construction program.

'Regret' expressed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department expressed regret Thursday that the Norwegian government plans to grant diplomatic recognition of North Vietnam.

Norwegian Ambassador Arne Gunneng informed Deputy Assistant Secretary Margaret J. Tibbets of Norway's decision Wednesday.

Inmates develop reading program

BOISE (UPI) — Two cellmates at the Idaho State Prison have developed remedial reading materials which soon may be used by penitentiaries nationwide in their adult basic education programs.

Ernie White, a writer, and Howard Campbell, an artist, created the elementary reading materials when a prison educator asked if they could come up with some an average inmate could "rap" with.

Dr. William Kirtland, director of the Boise State College reading education center, said the basic premise was that a convict who is deficient in reading skill could not relate to the "Dick and Jane-type characters" used in most elementary reading programs.

Dr. Kirtland became involved in the project when one of his students, Stanton Stringfellow, an adult basic education instructor at the prison, discussed the problem with him. He encouraged Stringfellow to use qualified inmates in developing the materials.

White and Campbell wrote and illustrated 16 stories directed at first through seventh-grade levels. The subject matter includes stories of an inmate going home, Dillinger's life, shoot-outs in the old West and unusual court cases.

Dr. Kirtland said the reading texts will be reproduced and sent to every prison in the United States.

"I think we've really got something here that is appropos with prison life," Dr. Kirtland said.

The two inmates have each spent more than a year in the prison and both hope to be released soon.

House gives more bill study time

BOISE (UPI) — The House finally adopted permanent rules Thursday and, in so doing, gave its committees more time in the future to study legislation before introducing it.

Among the changes from the temporary rules is one that permits all committees to wait as long as the 45th day of a regular session, if necessary, before introducing bills.

Under the temporary rules, all but privileged committees had to introduce their bills by the 35th day of the session.

Still another rule change permits the appropriations committee to meet in executive session — with the doors closed to the press and public. But it stipulates that no votes or official actions may be taken at such meetings.

This ties in with a bill later approved 59-0 and sent to the Senate to allow the Joint Finance - Appropriations Committee — by law — to have the same privilege.

The new and permanent House rules were adopted 58-0.

Hepatitis up

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — There has been a marked increase in hepatitis in the Los Angeles area and the Red Cross says it may be due to blood transfusions from paid donors.

Los Angeles County Red Cross medical director Dr. Eugene Adashek said that paid donors are frequently drug addicts, skid row derelicts and others with a history of hepatitis.

The Red Cross promised an intensified testing program on donors' blood in an effort to reduce transfusion-caused hepatitis.

Rock Creek road shift set soon

By ROBERT VANAUDELN
Times-News Staff Writer
TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Highway District is expected to change its eastern boundary lines in a few weeks as a result of a legislative measure signed by Gov. Cecil Andrus.

The legislation permits highway districts to make boundary changes without a vote of highway district patrons in the event there are no patrons living in the areas to be changed.

Keith Anderson, Twin Falls Highway District engineer, said the area involved in the change is below Magic Mountain in Rock Creek Canyon.

He said there are 11.1 miles of the Rock Creek road in the Oakley Highway District and for several years the Twin Falls Highway District has been maintaining the road as the Oakley district doesn't because of remoteness and lack of funds.

Anderson said after he has received a copy of the legislation signed by Gov. Andrus, a meeting will probably be called between the two highway districts and follow the procedure outlined in the bill in transferring the 11.1 miles to the Twin Falls district.

This way, Anderson said, the Twin Falls district will receive that portion of the state highway users fund the Oakley district had received.

Anderson said, "We won't be getting rich with the additional funds, but it will help defray costs of maintaining the road."

Buhl spending for '71 rises

BUHL — A hearing on the proposed 1971 Buhl City budget which is 15 per cent higher than last year's spending is scheduled for 8 p.m. March 30 at the Buhl City Hall.

The proposed budget totals $324,610, according to City Clerk Bernard Starr, compared to expenditures of $275,371 in 1970. Last year's budget totaled $290,567.

The general fund reflects a 10 per cent increase, with $140,918 budgeted this year, compared to $128,273 spent in 1970. Breakdown of items include water works fund, $86,000, compared to $85,995; street lighting fund, $11,618, compared to $8,103; library fund, $5,583, compared to $5,778; special street fund, $29,239 compared to $24,354; airport fund, $1,415 compared to $1,143.

The cemetery fund shows a decrease with $9,641 budgeted compared to $9,739 last year. The cemetery perpetual care fund also is down from $2,239 last year to $2,230 this year.

The biggest increase in expenditures is in the water works fund where $104,384 is budgeted, compared to $74,960. Water department reserves will be used to purchase additional property and drill a supplementary well, Starr said. It is estimated the well and property will cost in excess of $35,000, he said.

TWIN FALLS — Mandatory driving tests for drivers over 65 years of age and lowering the legal age for males to 18 years of age are among proposals to come before the Magic Valley Youth Legislature Session opening here Saturday morning.

Delegates from six Magic Valley high schools will participate in the one day legislative session opening at 8:30 a.m. in the Twin Falls County Judicial Building.

Acting as governor for the day will be Carolyn Rhodes, Twin Falls. Other officers will include Stan Preston, Declo, speaker of the house; Scott Stanfield, Burley, lieutenant

Parochial school's closure said final

Catholic schools are in trouble in much of the nation, Bishop Treinen told the audience. Cardinal Deardon of Detroit is considering closing all Detroit Catholic schools, and will probably have to close all church-backed schools throughout Michigan.

A public referendum denying further tax subsidies to parochial schools will force the closures in Michigan, the bishop said.

Dr. Louis A. Catellier, a member of the parish, suggested that the school district could lease the Catholic school and operate it as a part of the school system, to allow the 310 children now enrolled to continue their classes at the same location. However, he admitted that it might cost as much as $50,000 to staff and maintain a school as large as St. Edward's.

George Staudaheer, who will become superintendent of Twin Falls schools on July 1, agreed with Dr. Catellier, saying that the school administration has considered the possibility. Such a lease would cost the Twin Falls district at least $60,000 per year, Staudaheer said, and this much money is just not available at the present time.

The Twin Falls school district has been planning to absorb the 310 children into the city's schools, Staudaheer said. Average class size will increase only slightly, from about three to five students in each classroom, according to presently available figures.

"We pledge that we in the Twin Falls school district will do everything in our power to make the transfer as pleasant as possible," Staudaheer told the parishioners.

Dr. Catellier voiced the feeling of many present with a deeply moving appeal to all members of the parish to rise to the occasion and "go back to home teaching, as do our Protestant brothers. They use the facilities of Sunday schools and the resources of home teaching."

4 counties set planning meet

A meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Twin Falls Judicial Building for county and city officials from four Magic Valley counties to continue planning for the Rural Area Development group.

The Twin Falls meeting was planned at a meeting Wednesday night in Burley attended by municipal and county officials from Cassia, Minidoka, Jerome and Twin Falls counties.

Heber Loughmiller, Twin Falls, temporary chairman of the four-county planning group, said it is hoped the group will eventually consolidate with the

After a change of venue to Gem County, a news story appeared in a Boise paper regarding a suit the defendant had filed against a prosecution witness and District Judge Gilbert Morris dismissed the jury. The trial was rescheduled in Bannock County before Judge Anderson and the defendant alleges a trial before a second jury would violate his constitutional privilege against double jeopardy.

Also scheduled during the coming term is the case of Douglas D. Kramer against Twin Falls County, in which he seeks legal fees from a case of Barnett versus Reed in which Kramer represented Probate Judge Richard Reed in a case brought by Police Chief Frank Barnett.

A test case of the mandatory jail sentence on drunken driving convictions will also be heard. The case involves the state of Idaho against former Probate Judge Eugene L. McCoy, Twin Falls County. It is an appeal

Jerome man hurt

Tipton was driving north on U.S. Highway 93 and was preparing to turn left onto the county road, formerly State Highway 79, officers said.

His vehicle collided with a truck owned by Ida Best Co., and driven by Earl B. Dodge, 47, Twin Falls, which was traveling south on U.S. 93. Officers cited Tipton for failure to yield right of way. He was taken to the Jerome hospital by ambulance.

State Patrolman Don Hebert who investigated the accident at 7:05 p.m., said the truck driven by Dodge overturned on the highway following the impact but the driver was not injured.

Ketchum looks into future

By WARREN GOSSETT, Times-News Correspondent.
KETCHUM — A comprehensive planning program that will dictate the direction of Ketchum's future growth is near completion and has already been implemented by this city, Mayor Kenneth Richey says.

The extensive survey, projecting the growth and development of Ketchum for the next 20 years and the means for establishing a sound pattern for that development, is in the hands of Environmental Planning Group, Inc., and JUB Engineers, Inc., both Boise.

Arlo R. Nelson, a representative of Environmental Planning Group, Inc., recently told Ketchum City Council members of progress on the plan.

Nelson pointed out the essentials that must go into a coordinated planning process and the need for an immediate growth pattern for Ketchum. "Too many cities have begun such a planning program years too late," he said.

Mayor Richey said he felt Ketchum has begun to feel growing pains but feels the program has been undertaken at an opportune time. "I feel fortunate that we have a planner at this time," Mayor Richey said.

The need for planning as pointed out in a survey report prepared for Ketchum is necessary to prevent costly mistakes.

"Poor planning (in many cities) is evident in the layout of streets, the inadequacy of schools or the deterioration of some neighborhoods. These mistakes emphasize the amount of money which might have been saved by careful planning in the past.

"They suggest that comprehensive community planning can pay for itself many times if it prevents only a small percentage of possible mistakes in community development," the report went on to say.

The plan would serve as a guideline for Ketchum, and would deal mainly with the physical growth of the city but points out that a coordinated effort by political, social and economic factions is most important.

Nelson said his firm's survey has projected the population growth for Ketchum during a 20-year period, citing a 150 per cent increase from the present population of 1,424 to a high of 3,460 in 1991.

How the city meets that expanded population, plus the over-increasing influx of tourists and vacationers, is dependent on what guidelines the city develops now, Nelson said.

Nelson stressed adequate parking for all zoning districts within Ketchum, saying lack of parking can create numerous headaches for the city and provide financial setbacks.

An informal meeting by the city council, members of the city's planning and zoning commission, interested developers and Nelson has been set for March 30, at which time Nelson is expected to more fully outline the planning survey.

Several developers are awaiting the council's go-ahead, one at least asking for a zoning variance for construction of multiple dwelling units. The council has deferred decision on the developers' requests until after the March 30 meeting.

TWIN FALLS — Gregg Hull, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hull, Twin Falls, is reported to be improving and listed in good condition in Magic Valley Memorial Hospital after being injured in a one car roll-over last Saturday night south of Bellevue.

Hull was a passenger in a car driven by Douglas Warner, 17, son of Dr. and Mrs. George Warner, Twin Falls. Warner was listed in good condition with back injuries after the collision.

Gary Marsh, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Marsh, Twin Falls, is still in fair condition in St. Albans Hospital in Boise.

As a result of Rev. Sharrard's training sessions and workshops, six visitation teams were formed with 12 calls completed and more to be made in the future, with 28 persons already contacted and several youths expressing interest in the confirmation class, added the pastor.

Rev. Sharrard recommended the establishing of a young adult class, enlisting another adult class leader, and obtaining help in the UMYF work and all three of these suggestions are being implemented.

Mrs. N.L. Larson will teach the adult class, allowing Rev. Anderson to organize a new young adult class. Mr. and Mrs. Dale Williams have agreed to become regular UMYF counselors.

Senator rips fund reserves

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., made public Thursday a list of funds totaling $11.1 billion in congressionally appropriated funds he said the administration has impounded by presidential orders.

The list of funds "reserved or otherwise unapportioned" as of Feb. 23, 1971, included two big items—$1.3 billion for the Defense Department and $6.3 billion for the Transportation Department.

The Transportation Department funds being withheld by the Nixon administration includes $5.8 billion in the highway trust fund, $411 million in current funds and $39 million in federal railroad administration funds, Ervin said.

Ervin, chairman of a Senate Judiciary subcommittee, said these unspent funds will be the subject of a series of hearings starting March 23.

Student works for recreation rating

TWIN FALLS — Gary Rasmussen, Twin Falls, a senior at the University of Idaho majoring in recreation, has been working the past two months with the Twin Falls City Recreation Department to obtain an apprentice rating in recreation work.

Chad Browning, city recreation director, said Rasmussen has also worked with the city's summer program the past six years. He has directed the knothole baseball program the past three years.

He will leave March 26 after the required nine weeks' apprentice work with the city recreation program. Browning said while here he has been assisting with the winter basketball program and other special youth and adult programs.

Mrs. Rasmussen, a University of Idaho student majoring in education, has been serving as a practice teacher at the Harrison grade school during the past nine weeks.

It comes in three economy sizes.

These are just some of the sizes Volkswagens come in. Regular, large and giant economy size.

Regular, you know. It's the familiar beetle.

Large is our Squareback sedan. It holds more than the largest trunk of the largest sedan.

Giant economy size is our big bus-like box. It holds nearly twice as much as the average station wagon.

And all three VWs do everything you expect a VW to do.

They have air-cooled engines (in the rear, of course). So there's no water to boil over or freeze up. And no need for antifreeze.

And they're easy on gasoline. The bug and the Squareback average about 27 miles on a gallon. The box about 23.

So you see, no matter what size we make Volkswagens, they're all economical.

Why not come in and size one up?

take a little time to count to the same 10 tricks but undoubtedly would find the winning play.

When we watched the hand played the declarer wasted no time thinking. He remarked to West that the trump lead was just what he needed.

Then South rattled off six trumps while discarding two clubs and two hearts from dummy. East was unkind enough to discard all three clubs and just one heart while West got rid of one diamond and three clubs.

South wound up losing four tricks—one more than he could afford.

He explained that he would have made five-odd if diamonds had broken, but North wasn't impressed.

An expert doesn't need to know the code word ARCH. With an expert the process of Analyzing the lead, Re-viewing the bidding, Counting the winners and losers and asking how he can make or defeat the contract, is automatic.

The expert today would win the trump lead in his hand and see 10 winners if he simply led a club toward dummy at trick two. Should East hold the ace he would win the trick and South would score six trump tricks, three diamonds and one club.

Since West holds the ace of clubs South would actually make 11 tricks if West should rise with the ace and not play hearts immediately.

House approves education funds

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's 41st legislature moved one step closer toward final adjournment Wednesday when the House gave tentative approval to $32,730,487 lump sum budget for higher education.

Approval of this bill, plus appropriations for health and welfare, are the major stumbling blocks to adjournment since the start of a special session on re-appointment.

The House debated the higher education appropriation for 28 minutes before giving it approval 56-9.

The House defeated 16-48 a move by Rep. Walter Little, R-New Plymouth, to chop out $500,000 and give it to public schools.

However, Little voted for the bill when it came up for a final vote and then served notice he may ask for reconsideration of the vote by which it passed.

This maneuver keeps the bill in the House until later in the day and keeps alive possible attempts to amend the appropriation.

The House spent nearly an hour of this 67th day debating again a proposal to increase the state tax on gasoline to eight cents per gallon from seven. It finally passed the bill 43-25 and sent it to the Senate.

The House also approved earlier this month another bill raising the tax to eight cents and giving a penny of it to cities but the Senate didn't like it.

LEASE YOURSELF SOME PLEASURE

It's always a pleasure to drive home in a new car. And you can do that every year or less for less than you'd think by making your next new car a lease car.

Just one small fixed amount per month and you can forget about such things as down-payments and trade-in worries. Come in and see for yourself how easy and how smart it is to lease a new Mercury or Lincoln. See how much pleasure your next car can give you.

For as little as $65 per month you can drive a 1971 MERCURY COMET. CALL 733-7700 ELVIN BROWN OR JULES HARRISON Theisen Motors

Senator endorses sharing programs

NEW YORK, N.Y. — U.S. Sen. Frank Church has given warm personal endorsement to the spring appeals of America's major religious faiths for support of their programs aiding those in need overseas.

These appeals are the Protestant "One Great Hour of Sharing" and the "Catholic Relief Overseas Aid" appeal, both of which will be observed in churches in Idaho on Sunday, and the "United Jewish Appeal," a continuing effort with special emphasis at this period of the year.

Through these independent but common-purpose efforts, relief and rehabilitation are provided for millions of the world's homeless, hungry and destitute. Among those aided are the victims of disasters both man-made and natural, such as war, flood, famine, earthquake and hurricane; refugees fleeing oppression and political upheaval, and those chronically deprived.

In a message to Catholic Relief Services and Church World Service, overseas relief agencies of Catholic and Protestant faiths, and to the United Jewish Appeal, made public simultaneously in New York today, Senator Church said:

"Once again it is both a pleasure and a privilege to have this opportunity to endorse the work carried on in the overseas programs of the three faiths. But more important, I want to take this opportunity to thank the organizations representing these faiths for their efforts on behalf of our fellow men.

"Few organizations can match the record of service of these religious groups in meeting the needs of millions of people in other lands who otherwise would go without vital necessities for relief and rehabilitation.

"I urge all Americans to support, generously, these efforts through their religious faith."

The three faiths, through their programs of assistance supported by the current appeals, distribute food, clothing, blankets, medicines and self-help materials to millions in need; give aid to orphanages; assist hospitals, tuberculosis clinics and other health efforts, and carry on resettlement and rehabilitation projects for refugees.
