Economy takes giant step toward recovery

Cites gains

GROSS NATIONAL PRODUCT increased by nearly 12 per cent, the sharpest gain in more than 12 years, in the first three months of this year. Here, George Shultz, director of the office of management and budget, tells reporters that the Nixon administration had counted on a larger first quarter advance. (UPI)

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Gross National Product (GNP) was "a little lower" than the administration hoped for in setting its goal for reducing unemployment from its current level of 6 per cent to 4.5 per cent by mid-1972.

The report issued by the Commerce Department showed the GNP, which measures the value of the nation's total output of goods and services, rose to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $1.08 trillion in the first quarter of this year, up 12 per cent from the fourth quarter of last year.

George P. Shultz, Director of Management and Budget, told newsmen at the White House Thursday the GNP figures show there is "a good solid expansion of the economy under way."

But he conceded the advance was "a little lower" than the administration hoped for in setting its goal for reducing unemployment from its current level of 6 per cent to 4.5 per cent by mid-1972.

The report issued by the Commerce Department showed the GNP, which measures the value of the nation's total output of goods and services, rose to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $1.08 trillion in the first quarter of this year, up 12 per cent from the fourth quarter of last year.

When the figures are adjusted to eliminate the effect of price increases, the advance was 6.5 per cent, the largest gain in the so-called "real" GNP since 1968. The real GNP figure declined by 3.9 per cent in the fourth quarter of 1970.

But the GNP price index, the broadest based gauge of inflation, increased at an annual rate of 5.2 per cent in the January-through-March quarter. That was less than the 5.9 per cent rate for the fourth quarter of last year but it was virtually the same as the 5.3 per cent average for 1970 which was the highest rate of inflation for a full year since 1951.

The Commerce Department estimated that $20 billion of the first quarter increase was concentrated in the auto industry which was seeking to make up for production lost during the United Auto Workers strike against General Motors which ran from Sept. 14 to Nov. 23.

Viets assail Reds in border valley

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese are engaged in a large-scale operation to drive the North Vietnamese from the A Shau Valley along the Laotian border, military sources said today. U.S. paratroopers withdrew from a secret probe of the valley in the first U.S. penetration of the region in nearly two years.

In the central highlands, a top South Vietnamese commander said "enemy pressure around Fire Base 6 has been completely lifted" and North Vietnamese besiegers of the outpost were withdrawing toward Laos.

The South Vietnamese command declined to discuss the A Shau Valley operation which military sources said has been designated "Lam Son 720."

"We never discuss operations until contact has been made," a command spokesman said.

Reported today in the Saigon post which said there were 10,000 South Vietnamese rangers and infantrymen from the 1st ARVN division, supported by American air and artillery units. Military sources said the number of troops reported by the Post may be too high.

The Post said the new drive was a followup to Operation Lam Son 719, the six-week incursion into Laos to cut the Ho Chi Min supply trail.

Military sources said the South Vietnamese were lifted by helicopters into the A Shau Valley on Wednesday in an effort to oust the North Vietnamese units who have occupied it for 18 months.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said Fire Base 6 was last shelled on Wednesday after the arrival of several battalions of Saigon troops who fought their way into the outpost.

Maj. Gen. Ngo Dzu, commander of South Vietnam's II Military Region said, "The enemy pressure around Base 6 has been completely lifted." He said the remaining North Vietnamese withdrew to the west after suffering heavy casualties.

Tennis team tours shops

SHANGHAI (UPI)—Members of the visiting American Table Tennis Team went shopping in Shanghai today and spent their own money despite a "gracious" offer by their China hosts to provide them with funds.

In Thursday night's tennis table exhibition, the American women won two out of three matches but the men dropped three of their five matches. In three matches for veterans — players over 40 — the Chinese won two.

Mrs. Geraldine Resek of New York City, wife of one of the players, said the department store was "very modern, almost like one you'd find back in the States. They had everything you would find in a stateside store."

She said "I was surprised at how stylish the clothing was," and added: "Almost all of the team members bought suitcases. We needed them to carry all the things we have bought or acquired while in China."

The group bought so much at a special department store for tourists that they had to invest in extra luggage to carry it. The 15-member group goes on to Canton today, then crosses to the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong Saturday, where they started their trip into Communist China April 10.

Their hosts offered the team spending money for the shopping tour, but although they described the offer as "gracious" the team members turned it down. Similar offers were made to several other table tennis teams touring the country, they said, and some of the Canadians accepted.

War link forged by Arabs

By United Press International
The heads of state of Egypt, Syria and Libya met today in Benghazi, Libya, to forge the last links of a federation that would coordinate their policies in the confrontation with Israel. The Sudan is expected to join the federation later.

Egypt's semi-official Middle East News Agency reported from Benghazi that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, Syria's Hafiz Assad and Libya's Col. Muammar Khadafi began their talks 11:45 a.m. (4:45 a.m. EST) and were still in session hours later.

Deputies had met earlier to work out details of the loosely knit federation which calls now for policy coordination and eventual political union. Sudanese leader Maj. Gen. Jaafar Numeiry was prevented by local Communist opposition and other domestic problems from joining the federation at this time.

The Soviets disclosed belatedly today that Numeiry has been visiting Soviet leaders in Moscow where a mission headed by Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad arrived Thursday. Numeiry flew from Moscow to Khartoum today.

Arafat, in an interview that appeared today in the semi-official Egyptian newspaper Al Ahrar, said King Hussein had made a deal with Israel and the United States to liquidate the Palestinian commando movement in return for Israeli withdrawal from the west bank of the Jordan.

BURLEY — A Burley motorist was killed instantly Thursday afternoon when he was crushed beneath his rolling automobile in a single-car accident on Interstate 15 east of Burley.

Killed was Gary A. Brethauer, 28, whose address is listed as 2159 Willow Ave., Burley. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brethauer, Burley. The accident occurred at 3 p.m., 7.5 miles east of the Salt Lake Interchange in Cassia County. State Patrolman O. J. Brannan said the man was alone in his 1969 sedan and was traveling in the westbound section of the highway. Witnesses in a large truck behind the Brethauer vehicle told officers the sedan swerved across the highway several times, after the driver apparently lost control.

Officer Brannan reported the left front wheel dropped over the edge of the pavement, and the driver pulled the vehicle back onto the traffic lane, apparently overcorrecting. The vehicle swerved to the right side of the highway and came back across the two lanes of traffic, going into the median area. He said when it struck a dirt embankment the driver was thrown out and the vehicle rolled over, passing over his body and coming to rest on its wheels. It was demolished.

Officer Brannan said the vehicle contained seat belts but they were not in use. Assisting in the investigation were State Patrolman Tom Thompson and Cassia County Sheriff Ray Mitchell.

The body of the victim was taken to Walk Mortuary in Rupert.

Despotic executive assailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, today said constant crisis is converting American democracy into a system of "executive despotism."

In a speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors, Fulbright said it is now more important than ever to submit war and peace decisions to "the collective wisdom of the 535 representatives" of the people in the House and Senate rather than "to the individual inhabitants of the White House."

"Thirty years of war, cold war and crisis have propelled the American political system far along the road to an executive despotism, at least in the conduct of foreign relations and the making of war," he said.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., also argued for legislation to restrict a President's power to commit America to war. Javits said Congress and the nation need more than just President Nixon's "no more Vietnams" pledge—a pledge which, he said, will not bind future presidents.

Fulbright said presidents, isolated in the White House, lose touch with public will, and unless checked by Congress, can be tempted to carry the nation into a war which lacks popular support.

Officer's condition improves

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls Police officer who was injured Wednesday night when his patrol car and another vehicle collided at a city intersection, was scheduled to be released from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital today.

Sgt. Collins Helms, 48, was on an emergency call when the accident occurred about 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Driver of the other car, Fern Louise Overlin, 19, Kimberly, still is hospitalized and is reported in fair condition.

2 honored for help to schools

TWIN FALLS — Two Twin Falls men received awards for their contributions to education Thursday night in an awards dinner sponsored by the Twin Falls Parent-Teacher Association.

Norman Herrett, owner and director of the Herrett's Planetarium and Museum, was presented the Idaho Life Merit Award in recognition for his many voluntary services to the educational system of the state.

Herrett provides museum displays, lectures and tours for students at no cost to the school systems and estimates more than 9,000 school children participate in the programs each year. In addition to those who visit the museum in class groups, about 50 young persons have been trained or are being trained to serve as instructors for other young people during the educational sessions at the museum. Herrett said this year students have come from as far as Parma, Ft. Hall, Bruneau and the Mountain Home Air Force Base. Each year a different "story" is prepared complete with authentic Indian and other early day civilization arts and tools.

Dr. Ernest Ragland was presented a certificate of recognition for his cooperation and assistance to the Twin Falls PTA organization over the past 20 years. The award was presented by Dr. Howard Runk.

Mrs. Floyd Kialing, Dietrich, state PTA president, made the presentation to Mr. Herrett.

India scores Pakistan lies

NEW DELHI (UPI)—India accused Pakistan today of mounting a campaign of lies to divert the world's attention from the "savage and medieval butchery" the Pakistanis allegedly are committing in East Bengal.

It was the strongest statement yet issued by the Indian government since West Pakistan invoked martial law March 25 to put down Sheikh Mujibur Rahman's Awaki League rebels.

S. K. Singh, official spokesman of the External Affairs Ministry, called Pakistani charges of intervention "malicious and mischievous" and "demonstrably baseless and false allegations."

Singh told a news conference, "The West Pakistan government apparatus is obviously busying itself in diverting the attention of their own people, as well as that of the peoples of the world, from the savage and medieval butchery they are indulging in in East Bengal."

The spokesman said Pakistan was trying to portray the fight of the East Pakistanis for "self respect and peace" as another point of dispute between India and Pakistan.

"This West Pakistani attempt does not, and cannot camouflage their brutality and the enormity of their crimes against humanity in general and the people of East Bengal in particular," he said.

Singh said, "can the evidence of the preplanned carnage and systematic genocide in East Bengal by the West Pakistani military machine be hidden behind anti-Indian allegations and propaganda?"

Border reports said Pakistani troops were attacking the East Pakistan rebels' provisional capital of Chuadanga, one of the last cities they control.

TWIN FALLS — The new state drug-control bill is expected to have a large impact on the Idaho drug scene when it goes into effect May 1.

But that impact is viewed differently from different quarters.

Many policemen responsible for enforcing the law are unhappy. But many defense attorneys feel it is "humane," while legislators who passed the measure say it is a good bill which might have to be amended.

In short, the bill makes it harder on the provider, while making it easier on the possessor of an enumerated drug.

The law reduced the charge of illegal possession of narcotics from a felony to a misdemeanor.

But the law increases penalties for selling or otherwise furnishing narcotics to another person. Drug providers still face felony counts.

Bert Wilson, chief investigator for the Idaho State Bureau of Drug Control, Board of Pharmacy, feels the state "will be able to live with" the law.

He is of the opinion that despite the wording of the bill, possession cases can still be prosecuted as a felony if investigators can establish it was possessed "for sale."

He said his office is now in the process of obtaining copies of precedent-setting federal drug cases where, by virtue of the amount possessed, possessors were prosecuted on felony charges.

Rep. Williams Roberts, R-Buhl, a member of the Idaho House of Representatives, where the bill originated, said the legislature also was of this opinion when its members passed the bill.

He said that if the federal guidelines are not strong enough to back up felony possession for sale cases, the bill likely will be amended to include a provision specifying the amount of drugs or narcotics which constitutes "simple possession."

It's going to take money and Rep. Roberts realizes this. He said authorities simply are going to have to make better cases and make more selling cases.

The intent of the legislature, reportedly was to get at the pusher and not the user. Rep. Roberts says the United States Supreme Court has ruled that a person can't be held accountable to a felony because he is a user. The Idaho bill was patterned after a model bill from the federal government and one which is now being put into effect in many of the nation's states.

Wilson is pleased with the progress the legislature has been making in attempting to beef up his bureau.

He said a special deputy attorney general has been hired to work strictly on drug problems and with federal funds his small force of undercover agents can be strengthened.

The agents must have operating funds and they must be furnished money with which to make buys. They buy, Wilson said, to make several buys from each source because each buy strengthens the case against the pusher.

Huge task

FBI monitors defended

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Attorney General John N. Mitchell said Thursday FBI agents monitored an Earth Day rally in Washington last year at which Sen. Edmund S. Muskie spoke in an effort to prevent "violent interference" with peaceful demonstrators. Mitchell issued a statement defending the FBI against Muskie's charges the investigative agency spied on Earth Day anti-pollution rallies throughout the country last spring. The Maine Democrat said Wednesday Congress should create an independent board to monitor all government intelligence-gathering activities. Mitchell said charges the FBI was conducting surveillance of political activity of U.S. senators and tapping the telephones of congressmen were "false."

Heavy rains pelt baked west Texas

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (UPI)—Up to five inches of rain pelted the parched plains of West Texas today, giving life to crops and cattle and breaking a seven-month drought that rivaled the "Dust Bowl" days of 40 years ago.

Warnings placed on packs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Future advertisements for most leading cigarette brands will include a voluntary health warning apparently designed to stop the government from requiring a stronger warning of possible death. Seven cigarette manufacturers announced Thursday their future newspaper, magazine and billboard ads will include a picture of the cigarette package "legibly showing the health warning that Congress requires on packages." That warning reads:

"Warning: the surgeon general has determined that cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health."

The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has called for a stronger mandatory warning in cigarette advertising that would say:

"Warning: Cigarette smoking is dangerous to health and may cause death from cancer, coronary heart disease, chronic bronchitis, pulmonary emphysema and other diseases."

FTC officials said privately the industry probably was acting to head off the tougher warning. The Tobacco Institute, which made the announcement, said the decision was made "after discussions with members of Congress and government officials."

Horace Kornegay, Tobacco Institute president, emphasized the companies still don't agree cigarettes have been proved harmful.

"Water rushed through the streets of San Angelo and flash flood warnings were issued for surrounding communities."

"I don't think anyone will gripe about having to walk to work today in knee-deep water," said Harold W. Broome, owner of a stockman's supply store. "This is the best way I know to break a drought."

Most of Texas and Oklahoma and into New Mexico and Colorado have been hit by the drought, called one of the worst this century. Today's rains were the heaviest since last autumn.

Violent thunderstorms smashed Del Rio in South Texas with hail, sent a tornado skittering past Stratford high in the Texas Panhandle 700 miles away and brought the most rain of all to one of the driest spots in the state—San Angelo. This city, formerly called the "woolwater wonderland of the world," had only 42 of an inch of rain since October. The town lake Lake Concho, which only went dry, it turned to prairie grass and prickly pear and burned-up by fire.

There was water in Lake Concho today for the first time in months.

"If it will just grow the grass and fill the tanks that's all it needs to do," Broome said of the spring rains. "It sure looks good. The drought was getting rough out here. People were depressed about it and a little worried."

John White, Texas agriculture commissioner, said the state's entire $4 billion farm income was in danger unless the drought ended soon.

Farmers and ranchers hailed the rains as the start of the normal spring deluges which would rescue the western half of Texas from the brink of financial disaster.

From three to five inches of rain fell on San Angelo.

"Is the drought over? I don't know," Broome said. "We are going to have to have some follow-up rains, but this is a good start."

Farmers, who must have heavy rains in the coming months to save this year's crops, and ranchers, who needed immediate rains to salvage some profits from this year's sale of livestock,

Nevada rail run studied

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., has arranged a meeting among Western senators and top officials of Union Pacific Railroad later this month to discuss saving railroad passenger service through Las Vegas and other western points. Cannon said Thursday the meeting April 22 in Washington would center on the possibility of Union Pacific Railroad operating its own passenger service between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City with a stop in Las Vegas.

It would connect with the proposed Railpax operation, scheduled to begin May 1, which extends from Chicago to San Francisco with a stop in Salt Lake City.

When Railpax takes over, there will be no railroad passenger service through Las Vegas. "Las Vegas is more and more becoming one of the great resort areas and has more passenger traffic for its size on a yearly basis than any other location in this country," said Cannon.

Subdivision ordinance hearing planned May 4

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Public hearing on a proposed ordinance to regulate subdivision development in Twin Falls County outside of city boundaries has been set for May 4 at 1:30 p.m. by the board of county commissioners.

William L. (Bill) Chancey, commission chairman, said the ordinance was called for some time ago because of the increase in residential development outside of urban areas and a need to regulate such development in connection with city and county planning. He said problems such as sewage disposal, location and quality of new streets, utilities and building requirements must be controlled through uniformity for the protection of the home buyer and the public in general. The proposed ordinance would require sewage disposal facilities to meet state health standards and would require subdividers to build roads at their own expense at the time of development. The roads would be required to meet standards set by the highway district in which the subdivision is located. Through the proposed ordinance, developments in close proximity to cities would be required to align streets, alleys and utility rights of way with existing streets, alleys and rights of way in the cities. In this way as city boundaries expand and annexations occur, subdivisions will more easily become parts of the cities. Under the present county zoning ordinance, city growth is taken into consideration in establishing compatible county zones in the vicinities of municipalities, Chancey said. Under the proposed ordinance, subdivision plats would have to be approved by the county commissioners before development could begin. Each developer would submit a drawing of the area to be subdivided to the county zoning administrator, showing location, width and dimensions of all proposed lots, streets, alleys and easement strips. A map of the subdivision location in the county and scale drawing would be required.

Plans for the method of sewage disposal would also be required for approval by the Idaho Department of Health. This preliminary plat would be required before building could be authorized. A final plat would also require county approval within one year after preliminary plans have been approved. If the developer does not go ahead with construction within the year he would be required to resubmit the preliminary plat for review and approval and the process would begin again. At the time of filing the final plat, the county will require all Twin Falls Canal Co. water stock on land included in the subdivision to be placed in trust with an approved association acting as trustee to administer company water and stock for property owners within the subdivision. Street plans must conform with master plans of the adjoining cities if located within one mile of the city boundaries. A frontage road may be required where the development is located on arterial highways or adjoining major streets. The subdivider may be required to pave streets in the subdivision if the highway district feels such standards are necessary. Where existing sanitary sewer systems are available, the subdivider may also be required to make proper connections. Street and alley widths required would range from 20 feet for the alleys to 50, 60 and 80 feet for street right of way, depending on the type of street or road involved. Lot sizes would be required to conform with county zoning regulations for the specific zone and land use. Commissioners said many subdivisions located outside of urban areas have been constructed by the subdivider with poorly graveled streets and as soon as the property is sold, new property owners demand local highway districts pave the streets.

Deadline arrives

TAXPAYERS staged a last night rush at the Twin Falls Post Office Thursday as the April 15 deadline for payment of state and federal income taxes arrived. Here, two of those who waited until the last day to file returns head for the mail box outside the post office. Parking space in that vicinity was in heavy demand most of the evening, with cars at times almost blocking nearby streets.

Falls flow to continue

TWIN FALLS — Shoshone Falls was flowing at 17,210 cubic feet per second Thursday afternoon, and should continue at that level for the immediate future, according to Idaho Power Co. The high flow of water has attracted throngs of sightseers over the past 10 days since the flow began to rise with the spring runoff. The release of water at Milner Dam controls the flow at Shoshone Falls, and it is hard to predict what that will be, a power company spokesman said. However, American Falls Reservoir is filled to capacity and is discharging the inflow of about 20,000 second feet downstream through Lake Walcott and Milner Lake, and this should keep the falls flowing.

Winds delay hunt for bomber wreck

HILL AFB (UPI) — Winds near the 30 miles per hour mark forced an early end to the search Thursday in Great Salt Lake for a B57 bomber and its two crewmembers. A spokesman at Hill said the search in the Carrington Island area would resume at dawn Friday, weather permitting. Maj. Gerrit H. Van Vliet Jr., 39, the pilot, and Lt. Col. George Lagarde, 43, an electronics warfare officer, were officially declared dead by the Air Force following the latest search effort. Thus far the search only has turned up fragments of the bodies of the victims, bits of clothing and debris from the huge plane. A board of Air Force officers and airmen is being formed at Hill in an effort to determine the cause of the crash.

Last bunnies off to Sicily

TWIN FALLS — After a long wait, 500 Idaho jackrabbits, including a number of newborn bunnies, were to be shipped today to their new home in Sicily, according to A. J. Tillman, Twin Falls, representative for the Italian importing firm. The final shipment of Idaho rabbits had been held up for several weeks by a strike of veterinarians in Italy, Tillman said. The bunnies were held at the Tillman warehouse east of Twin Falls on Addison Avenue and were fed and watered daily. More than a hundred babies were born to expectant does in the interim.

A telephone call from the importer in New York City this morning reportedly cleared the way for the final shipment, which was to move out of Twin Falls this afternoon by truck to Salt Lake City. At Salt Lake, the pallets of boxed bunnies will be picked up and flown to New York, for another transfer, this time to an Italian airline, and a nonstop flight to Sicily. The final shipment will bring to nearly 10,000 the number of rabbits shipped from Idaho in the last few months, Tillman said. This was the first such effort attempted in Idaho, and, after a period of initial confusion, worked out well for all concerned, according to Nerero Battistuzzi, the Italian rabbit merchant.

Idaho Supreme Court clears roadblock set by jury laws

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Supreme Court has cleared a roadblock that could have delayed jury trials in district courts. The high court has notified

Fifth Judicial District judges that they may continue jury trials under existing laws regulating jury selection until sufficient time has been allowed to permit changeover to new jury selection procedures. The Supreme Court directive noted the new law, becoming effective on passage, would require some time to put into operation. Under these circumstances, the high court deemed lawful the existing jury lists. Courts would continue to operate pending establishment of new jury lists.

Judge Cunningham said in some cases a defendant might feel the lists of drivers' license holders, for example, could provide a jury more sympathetic to his case than a list strictly from registered voters. Judge Cunningham said as far as he knows no cases have been postponed in Fifth Judicial District court because a defendant or attorneys found the present jury lists unsuitable.

Divers hunt missing man

ONTARIO, Ore. (UPI) — Drugging operations were underway in the swollen Malheur River north of here Thursday for the body of an Ontario man feared to have drowned when his car went into the water. Scuba divers found the car belonging to Chester Chaney, 40, in about nine feet of cold, muddy water.

Battistuzzi, of Genoa, Italy, and his uncle, Giulio Battistuzzi, who has lived in San Francisco for many years, said earlier they will return next fall, probably in November, for another winter-long rabbit-collecting project. They hope to snare at least 80,000 Idaho jackrabbits in the next visit, since the technicalities of collecting and shipping have already been tested and proven workable.

'Thurber Carnival' tryouts scheduled

TWIN FALLS — Persons interested in the forthcoming production of the Magic Valley Little Theatre Group, "A Thurber Carnival," may try out for various comedy parts Monday and Tuesday nights. Buzz Langdon, president of the group, said the try-outs will be held each of the two nights at 8 p.m. in the KMYT studios on Eastland Drive at Elizabeth Boulevard.

Cast selections will include five men and four women plus a quartet consisting of saxophone, guitar, bass and drums. Langdon said the production will be a new type of theater performance for the area, with a "laugh-in" type series of humorous sequences. He asked all interested persons to attend the tryouts during one of the two sessions.

'Patton' dominates movie award rites

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — George C. Scott, who had shunned the glittering Oscar awards as "two hours of a meat parade," won Illinois' greatest honor Thursday night and led his picture, "Patton," to eight Oscars in the 43rd annual Academy Awards presentations. A spokesman for Scott said the gold statuette which the actor said he would not accept would be sent to the George S. Patton Jr. Memorial Museum at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Scott was named best actor for his portrayal of the tough-talking Army general and "Patton" was named best film. Glenda Jackson won best actress award for her role in D. H. Lawrence's "Women In Love."

Not since "My Fair Lady" won eight awards in 1964 had a single picture so dominated the annual Hollywood presentations.

Helen Hayes set a record of her own. The First Lady of the American Theater became the first performer to win both a best supporting actress award and a best actress Oscar. She won best actress in 1931-32 for "The Sin Of Madelon Caludet."

In her latest honor, 40 years later, she won best supporting actress for playing an addled matron in "Airport."

John Mills was best supporting actor for his role as a mute in "Ryan's Daughter."

But it was Scott and his contempt for the Motion Picture Academy that dominated this presentation at the Los Angeles Music Center.

Scott said only a few days before the event on a national television show that the Academy Awards were "two hours of a meat parade." The actor's unhappiness for the competitive aspects of the award dates back to 1961 when he was nominated for best supporting actor in "The Hustler." He previously had been nominated for the same award in "Anatomy Of a Murder" in

Goldie Hawn, best supporting actress in 1969, gasped when she opened the envelope.

"Oh my God... the winner is George C. Scott."

The announcement did not meet with great enthusiasm by the celebrity-studded audience.

Scott's producer, Frank McCarthy, a former Army general himself, said he was "sorry" about Scott's attitude, adding, "but he is entitled to his own opinion."

McCarthy also reflected the general feeling of the Academy that Scott's victory demonstrated that its awards were not popularity contests.

The "Patton" sweep included the highly-prized award for best direction, won by Franklin J. Schaffner.

"Patton" also captured best achievement in sound, art direction, set decoration, film editing and the best story and screen play.

Surprisingly, "Love Story" — the biggest box office success of the year — won only a single Oscar, for best original score.

The nationally televised Awards program featured more than 30 stars who sang, danced, and introduced the winners.

The most emotional moment of the evening came during a special award to Lillian Gish for her contributions to motion pictures going back to silent days.

After introduction by Melvyn Douglas, the tiny but durable actress received a thunderous standing ovation.

Miss Gish said, "I wish all the charming ghosts I feel around me could share this." Afterwards, she added, "I was breathless. If it had been silent I could have acted out my feelings but I had to use words."

Frank Sinatra stirred the audience in one of his final public appearances by accepting the Jean Hersholt Humanitarian Award. He told the television audience, "This is truly an all consuming thrill for me tonight... and I want Mr. and Mrs. John Doe who give of yourselves to reach out and take your share of this award."

Later Sinatra said the award meant more to him than the Oscar he won for best supporting actor for "From Here To Eternity."

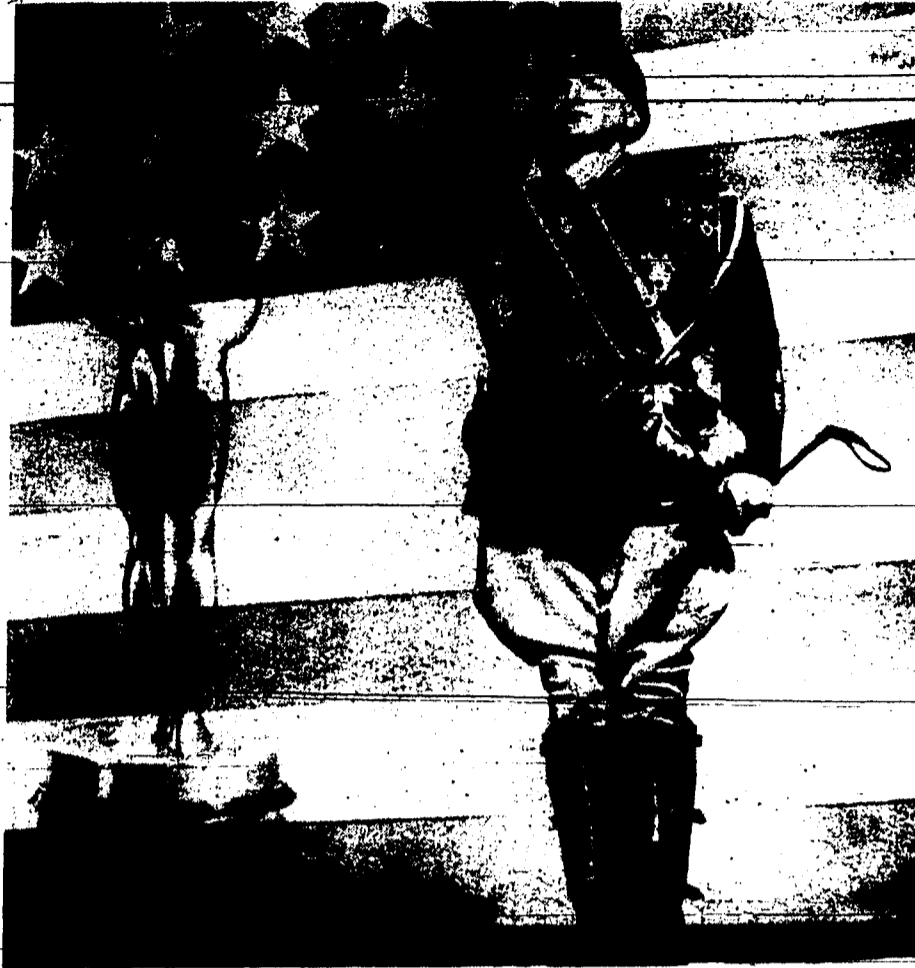

Winner of best song in a motion picture in 1970 was "For All We Know" from the film "Lovers and Other Strangers."

Of the winners in the performing categories only

John Mills was present to accept his Oscar.

McCarthy took the award for Scott as well as one for himself.

McCarthy, sitting beside Army Gen. Omar Bradley, who acted as technical director of "Patton," said, "I'm pleased George Scott won the award because I think he is the best actor I have ever seen."

Idaho schools 'neglect' hit

BOISE (UPI) — The executive secretary of the Idaho Education Association today criticized the state board of education for neglecting public schools in favor of higher education.

Wayne York told some 375 delegates at the opening session of the annual two-day assembly at Capital High School that the board had met twice recently to discuss the appropriations to higher education institutions, but "not one minute of time was spent on the problems of public schools."

York also called on Idaho's congressional delegation to provide "a massive influx of federal dollars to help resolve the grave education problems" facing Idaho.

Unstrung

MONA, Utah (UPI) — Copper snatchers made off with 10 miles of electric line Thursday night near Mona, seven miles north of Nephi.

The Utah Highway Patrol set up roadblocks but have not apprehended the thief or thieves.

And he asked local associations to try for approval by voters of property tax levies above the statutory limit of 30 mills.

"But the property tax is not the best way to finance education," York said. "Therefore, if current state revenues cannot be rechanneled it is now time to seek a state tax increase."

He urged delegates to "begin the debate and a statewide discussion on higher taxes."

"Do we want to recommend that the sales tax be raised, or that sales tax exemptions be eliminated, or that the income tax be increased? How about liquor, cigarette and beer taxes — or some type of a severance tax, or some combination of such changes?" York said.

He concluded: "Only this time, we must make certain the increased revenue goes to the schools. Too much of the tax increase of 1965 was siphoned away for other uses."

Four million private individuals own almost 300 million acres of forests, nearly 66 percent of America's forested land.

Astronaut, wife split

HOUSTON (UPI) — The wife of Apollo 14 lunar commander Edgar D. Mitchell sued the moonwalking astronaut for divorce Thursday.

Louise E. Mitchell said in her divorce petition she and Mitchell were wed Dec. 21, 1951, and became estranged April 12, 1971.

She asked for custody of their two children, Karlyn Louise, 17, and Elizabeth Randall, 12, and the family residence in Nassau Bay, Tex.

Mrs. Mitchell cited a "conflict of personalities" among other factors, in her petition.

Hijack bill OK sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon asked the Senate Thursday to quickly approve an international agreement aimed at halting airline hijacking.

Sixty nations have signed the agreement drawn up at the Hague in December, but Cuba, the most frequent destination of U.S. hijackers, is not a signatory.

UPI Foreign News Analyst
 In Pakistan the world is witnessing the break up of one of its largest nations and a tragedy which is just beginning.

Between its divided halves a new migration is under way reminiscent of the one which accompanied its founding in 1947 when Moslems and Hindus divided the subcontinent into Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan, the latter in turn divided into halves separated by 1,000 miles.

Racial and cultural origins determine the new migration between the Bengalis of the east and the Punjabi of the west.

Pakistan is a country which never should have existed in the first place and now probably never can again even though the 50,000 to 70,000 West Pakistan troops imported into the east succeed for the moment in putting down the movement which began as a demand for autonomy within a united Pakistan and now calls itself Bangla Desh or "Bengal nation."

If the creation of Pakistan was an error in the first place, then it also was an error compounded over the years by man's short-sightedness.

The new nation was less than seven years old when increasing East Pakistan demands for autonomy began making themselves felt at the election polls. But if the west heard, it did not listen and resentments mounted until three weeks ago they exploded.

Since the first day there has been no clear word of Shek Mujibur Rahman whose Awami League had won a clear majority not only in the East Pakistan provincial parliament but in the central government as well. Presumably he is a prisoner or dead.

The central government declares it is restoring normalcy to East Pakistan but it is apparent that its control extends to the cities and not to the countryside. Estimates of East Pakistan dead now run to more than 5,000 but could be many times that number.

There is a special irony to Pakistan's tragedy in that it came despite the efforts of honest men.

President Yahya Khan seemed truly bent on restoring democracy to the whole of Pakistan after years of military rule. Shek Mujibur Rahman sought autonomy, not independence.

And as the tragedy runs its course, economic ruin also looms. Pakistan's foreign currency reserves are expected to be exhausted in less than three months. Cut off from the east, West Pakistan industry is losing 40 per cent of its normal outlets. Bank payments are blocked.

And to add to human suffering is the imminent approach of the monsoon season.

More jobless

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unemployment in poor neighborhoods of the 100 largest U.S. metropolitan areas remained unchanged at an average of 9 per cent in the first three months of 1971, the government said Wednesday.

This was well above the 5.8 per cent jobless rate for workers in other neighborhoods of the same areas and the 5.9 per cent unemployment rate for the nation as a whole during the first quarter of the year.

Poison level under limit

BOISE (UPI) — An Idaho Fish and Game Department official said Wednesday analysis of mercury residues in over 600 fish samples since July, 1970, show mercury contamination in Idaho fishes is "relatively minor."

Stacy Gebhards, fishery management supervisor, said contamination appeared to be limited to only one or two species of fish in specific areas.

Gebhards planned to report on the results of mercury residue testing in Idaho fishes during 1970 and 1971 at a meeting of the Idaho Academy of Science, Northwest Scientific Association at the University of Idaho Thursday.

Gebhards said mercury analysis presently being done by the laboratory division of the Idaho Department of Health shows average mercury concentrations on trout, salmon, steelhead, whitefish and kokanee around the state generally show averages well below the one-half part per million guideline level.

He said warm water species such as catfish, perch and bass show slightly higher levels than the cold water fishes, but still well below the guideline level.

However, he said, analysis on 67 fish from Merican Falls Reservoir shows excessive levels in some species of fish.

He said mercury residues in yellow perch and Utah chubs have both rated to as high as 1.1 part per million, with averages exceeding the guideline level.

Gebhards said large cutthroat trout, which feed on perch and chubs in American Falls Reservoir, also are showing levels in excess of the guideline.

He said areas sampled with have shown safe level of mercury residues in the fish tested include Pend Oreille Lake, Coeur d'Alene Lake, Chatcolett Lake, Clearwater River, Salmon River, Welsler River, Payette River, Little Lost River, Jimmy Smith Lake, Mud Lake, Henrys Lake, Island Park Reservoir, North and South Forks of the Snake River, Palisades Reservoir, Blackfoot Reservoir, Magic Reservoir, Big Wood River and Bear Lake.

Russ power said tilting balance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., told U.S. newspaper editors Thursday a relentless Soviet arms buildup threatens the capacity of the American nuclear deterrent force to survive.

In a speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE), Jackson said popular opinion, which holds the military balance leans heavily in the favor of the United States, is wrong.

"The United States is slipping," Jackson said. "The overall strategic balance is tilting in favor of Moscow."

"The capacity of our strategic force to survive is now coming into question."

Jackson said the arms race must be brought under control at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT). He said the United States should "buy more time" and should consider a partial, interim agreement—for an initial period of one year—with the Soviet Union.

This would have the effect of "slowing the strategic arms competition and adding to the immediate security of the strategic balance," Jackson said.

China caution advised

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration officials today cautioned against expecting too much, too soon, from the reciprocal gestures of goodwill between the United States and China.

They expressed the hope President Nixon's announcement Wednesday that he was ending the 20-year-old total embargo on trade with mainland China would serve to convince Peking of the American desire to move slowly but steadily toward the restoration of more normal relations.

Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's cordial reception of the U.S. table tennis team and accompanying newsmen was acknowledged to have taken quite a bit of the chill out of the atmosphere. However, officials said continuation of the Indochina war, as well as Nixon's determination not to abandon the U.S. mutual defense commitment to the nationalist government on Formosa, set definite limits to what might be achieved in the foreseeable future.

U.S. officials obviously were concerned the president's statement, coming at the same time the Chinese were talking about "opening a new page" in relations, might unduly raise hopes which later would be dashed.

Administration spokesmen admitted they were surprised by the Chinese action in admitting the Americans and by Chou's extremely cordial remarks, along with his statement that he assumed Peking had reasons additional "batches" of American newsmen would be admitted to China.

Their behind-the-scenes remarks made it clear they still were not quite certain why the Chinese had taken this step. One high official, however, said he assumed Peking had reasons for wanting to project a better image to the world.

28 join 'solons' in Boise

TWIN FALLS — Delegates from the Twin Falls High School left Thursday for Boise to attend the annual YMCA Model Legislature today and Saturday.

Twenty-eight boys and girls have been selected to represent the Twin Falls school. Dick Hughes of the Pax Hi-Y Club will head the local delegation and serve as chairman of the Social Welfare Committee of the Youth Legislature in its two-day session. Young lawmakers will deal with 26 House bills and 29 Senate bills, Hughes said, with subjects ranging from legalizing abortions to abolishing the present dress codes in public schools.

Purpose of the model legislative sessions is to acquaint students with methods of law making and the democratic processes of American self-government. Twin Falls Y officials explained. About 250 young people from throughout the state will participate.

Offers 'proposals'

CHIEF NORTH Vietnamese negotiator Xuan Thuy returned to Paris peace talks Thursday for first time since early March. He made what he called "concrete proposals" for peace, including deadline for U.S. withdrawal, halt to bombing of North Vietnam, and approval for overthrow of Saigon government. (UPI)

Ditch cover job starts at Burley

BURLEY — WORK IS IN progress on a "do-it-yourself" project on Hilland Avenue where homeowners have raised the needed $5,100 to cover an open irrigation ditch with concrete pipe.

Dale Dammarell, chairman of the citizens' group, said the longtime eyesore and hazard for children is being filled in level with the street and the concrete pipe will run 625 feet from 18th Street south to the south property line of 18th Street on Hilland Avenue.

Shoshone loan OK for sewer

SHOSHONE — The Farmers Home Administration has approved loans totaling $580,000 for Shoshone to install a new sewer system, according to the offices of Sen. Len Jordan and Rep. Orval Hansen, both R-Idaho.

Shoshone Mayor Elwood R. Werry said approval of the loans guarantees that bonds for that amount, approved by voters this past August, will be sold.

The city council will advertise for bids, both on the bonds and on the construction of the city's first sewage disposal system, as soon as final approval is received on the architect's drawings, Werry said. Approval must be given by both the Idaho Department of Health and the Federal Environmental Agency.

The FHA loan will be paid back by the city over a 30-year period.

More equality

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Denmark's famed restaurateur, Spies, has introduced "mini, midi and maxi" portions for women in his new hotel-restaurant.

"It is not fair that women should pay the same amount as men when they don't eat as much," Spies said.

His only chance is to persuade West to play a second club. It would be nice if East would signal his partner to come on, but East produces the three spot.

If South plays the deuce, West is almost sure to shift and wait for two more club tricks. Suppose that South plays the nine.

West is going to wonder just where the deuce is. He will know that East might be sitting with the doubleton three-two or queen-three-two and that a club continuation has been asked for. The nine spot play will give him a chance to go wrong and even the best players in the world have gone wrong when given a chance.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You do bid five hearts and he bids six diamonds. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

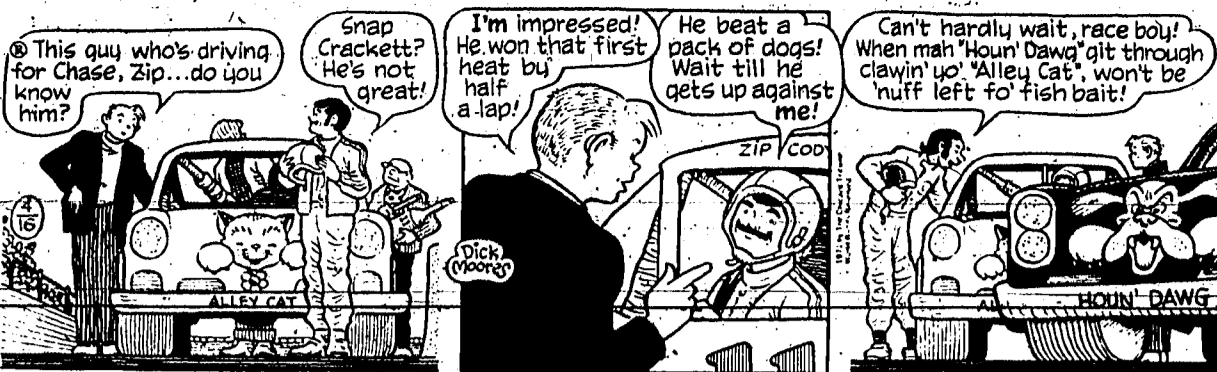

By Oswald & James Jacoby

If today's hand were played a thousand times the odds are that at least 999 North-South pairs would arrive at four spades. Furthermore, the one pair that failed to get there would probably turn out to be someone who had overlooked an ace or a king during the bidding.

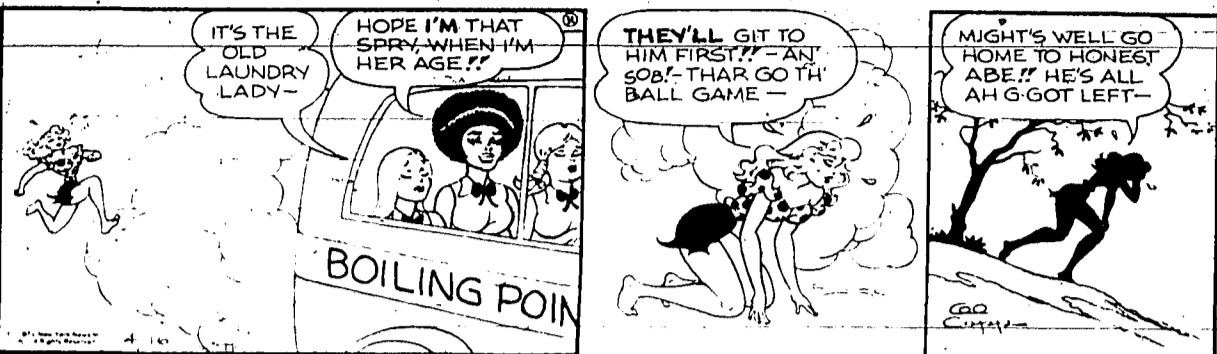

The odds also favor the defeat of the contract. Against reasonable defense South has to lose three clubs and a heart because North and South have complete duplication of suit length. There is no place to discard a club from either hand because you need a long-suit card for that.

West opens the king of clubs and South can see his

DEAR ABBY: I have news for the girl in Eudora, Kan., who claims she is dateless because she's nice. I happen to be a 26-year-old bachelor who lives in Eudora, so I think I'm in a position to know. I am no creep, and I've dated all kinds of girls, here and in other cities.

I feel sorry for a girl who doesn't get asked for dates, and if it makes her feel better to say it's because she's "too nice," it's all right with me. But that's not the real reason. There must be something wrong with her personality. A girl can't be too nice! Sure, a guy will take out an easy number just to prove to himself that he's a "man," but after he's used the girl for that purpose, she's had it.

Girls who put out may enjoy a rush of popularity for a while, but guys talk, and if the girl wants to settle down and be respectable, she'd better leave town.

Sock it to 'em, Abby. And keep telling young girls that men still want "good girls." Boys look for the other kind, so if a girl wants to end up with a man and not a boy, tell her to save herself.

EUDORA READER

DEAR ABBY: I got a chuckle over the letter from the girl in Eudora, Kan., who is dateless because she's "nice." Maybe there is something about Eudora that causes the trouble. When I went to high school there I never had a date either.

Tell her to hang on. If it takes 10 dateless years to find a husband as good as mine, it's worth it.

TERESA: E. H. S. CLASS OF '57

DEAR ABBY: This is for the nice girl from Eudora, Kan.:

My roommate is a junior in college and I am a freshman. We were "decent" in high school and it paid off. We have done a lot of dating in college mostly with guys who ask us out more than once because they have a good time. And we don't have to put out either. The guys who just want sex don't ask us twice. And who needs them?

Most fellows respect girls who say no! Here is our motto: "Friendship may blossom into love, but don't cheapen yourself and give love to gain friendship." The joy of true love is worth all the waiting it takes.

FLAGSTAFF, ARIZ.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the girl who said that nice girls don't get dates. She's wrong. Boys don't ask girls out because they want only sex. Sure, if you're giving it away, they'll take it, but they do have other interests. I'll bet that nice Kansas girl is dateless because she lets a guy know right off the bat that she thinks all he wants is sex, and that turns him off.

LOTS OF DATES AND STILL A VIRGIN

DEAR ABBY: About that girl who said boys don't care to date nice girls. You said she was wrong. Well, you goofed. I say she's absolutely right. Face it, Abby, you aren't a teen-ager anymore.

SEVENTEEN

DEAR SEVENTEEN: I know it. They were saying the same thing when I was a teen-ager, and they were wrong then, too.

DEAR ABBY: That girl was so wrong to say that guys don't want to date girls unless they can score with them. I am a 27-year-old bachelor who enjoys the company of a girl I can have a good time with and I assure you I can leave sex out of it. There is so much more to dating and relationships than just heading for the bedroom. I come from the old school where a walk in the moonlight and a kiss at the door is a perfect ending for a wonderful evening. As far as I'm concerned, good girls are in style, and I hope that girl in Kansas doesn't lose her faith in us men.

Training set by Baptists

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls First Baptist Church will participate in a leadership training convocation today through Sunday, according to Rev. James B. Hughes, minister.

The event is under the auspices of Project Winsome Internationale. Rev. Hughes said, and is a contemporary training-action project which involves lay people in effective communications of their faith.

An executive committee, composed of John Massey, chairman; Mrs. Dean Dietrich and Mrs. Don Hine, has been appointed to give organizational leadership to the program.

The weekend event will center around training dinners at which lay persons are taught by another layman how to share their faith in a simple way and develop a continuing outreach ministry within the community. The training will be followed by visitation on persons who have shown interest in the church and Sunday school.

James LaGrone, Castleford, will conduct all training sessions. He will speak at 8:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday services at the First Baptist Church. He is an active and dedicated Christian layman, Rev. Hughes said, and operates a dairy farm at Castleford.

LaGrone was elected president of the five-state American Baptists of the northwest region at a recent Boise convention. As an associate of Project Winsome Internationale, LaGrone gives many weekends to the training of lay persons in the use of Project Winsome methods and procedures.

DREAMS WERE REALIZED with this small scoop of dirt, when construction of a new LDS Church for Carey began officially Wednesday with groundbreaking ceremonies. Participating in ceremonies are Bishop Verd Murdock of Carey, left, and Low Ellsworth of Ellsworth Construction Co., Blackfoot, responsible for construction.

Church's literal wing continues to thrive

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

While many so-called "main-line" churches are losing members, the evangelical wing of Protestantism continues to thrive.

Evangelicals—also known as fundamentalists or conservatives—wear a wide variety of denominational labels. They may be Baptists, Methodists, Lutherans, Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Christians, Nazarenes, or members of a score of smaller Protestant families. But they all have several things in common.

First and foremost is their uncompromising belief that the Bible is the word of God in a literal sense, an infallible record of truths "spoken by God himself through human lips and pens."

Other distinctive traits of evangelicals are derived from this fundamental commitment to the authority of the Bible.

The Bible records that Jesus commanded His disciples to "go into all the world and make disciples of all nations." So evangelicals are ardent supporters of evangelism.

At home, they sponsor preaching crusades and revival meetings to "win souls for Christ." Abroad, they are the backbone of Protestant foreign missions. At least two-thirds of the total U.S. Protestant missionary effort is financed and staffed by evangelicals.

Their zeal for making converts is abetted by the fact that they take seriously the concept of Hell, and believe that human beings can be assured of escaping everlasting punishment only by professing faith in Christ and being baptized. If an evangelical asks you, "Brother, are you saved?" he is not just being nosy about your religious beliefs; he is voicing a serious personal concern for your eternal destiny.

To all evangelicals, and particularly to Pentecostals, the power of the Holy Spirit to transform lives is as real and present and knowable an experience today as it was in the dynamic early days of the Christian church.

This emphasis on God-here-and-now imparts a vitality and immediacy to evangelical worship, and may account for the attraction it seems to have for large numbers of young people, including college students.

Because they believe no time should be lost in winning a person to Christ, they place heavy stress on Sunday school and youth activities. Campus Crusade for Christ, Young Life and the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship are among the more dynamic evangelical organizations working with young people.

Church begins

Groundbreaking rites held for Carey church

By WARREN GOSSETT
Times-News Correspondent

CAREY — Gathered in a large windy field beneath billowing gray clouds, hundreds of Carey LDS Church members watched Wednesday as their dreams formed with the turning of a scoop of sod in a golden shovel.

After two years of sacrifice, construction on a nearly half-million dollar new church building began with official groundbreaking ceremonies on five acres of land donated to the church.

Numerous church officials participated in the ceremonies, including Blaine Stake President Oral Stewart and two of his counselors, Walter Bowman and Joseph Ivie; Bishop Verd Murdock of the Carey church; Low Ellsworth of Ellsworth Construction Co., Blackfoot, who will build the church; Alton D. Patterson and Millard L. Menea, counselors for Bishop Murdock, and several other church officials.

President Stewart told those present that "this is the day we've all been looking forward to for two years," and reminded church members that only half of the necessary funds for financing construction had been met, with some $65,000 left to be raised in less than one year.

He encouraged members to continue hard work and sacrifice as the church is striving to have the building paid for by the time construction is complete — some 300 days.

"Let's all continue to work together and finish this building as a monument to our heavenly father," President Stewart said.

Total cost of the building will be $432,459, with 70 per cent of that amount, or $302,721, to be provided by the central church building fund. The Carey ward must furnish $129,738 toward the project, half of which has been met.

Ellsworth Construction was low bidder for the project at $385,000. This amount doesn't include architectural fees of $12,200 or church furnishings and landscaping.

The church will be built on land donated to the church by D. E. Adamson and Vera Adamson and located on a lot in the northeast section of Carey.

The church structure will contain 12,600 square feet. Construction officials began layout of the church immediately after groundbreaking ceremonies.

Ellsworth said his firm would begin ground moving operations immediately.

Ross Ellsworth will be resident superintendent for the construction firm. CTA Architects of Twin Falls designed the building.

Crusade to begin at T.F. church

TWIN FALLS — A series of special meetings of a gospel crusade will begin Sunday at the First Assembly of God Church, Twin Falls.

Featured speaker will be Evangelist Lester Summers, Houston, Tex., and will speak at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Sundays and 7:45 p.m. Tuesday through Fridays. Summers has been a pastor in Houston for many years. He recently resigned from his church to enter the evangelistic field. He will speak on world events in the light of Biblical prophecy and on various subjects.

The public is invited, says Pastor L. I. LaMance.

Marriage loses job of priest

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken has suspended a 49-year-old priest after it was revealed he had been married for seven years and had a 5-year-old son named after Pope Paul.

The Rev. Robert Duryea, a priest for a quarter of a century, was removed from St. Peter's Church at nearby Pacifica and his assistant, Father Larry Purcell, 26, was named "temporary administrator."

Father Duryea served his last Mass Easter Sunday with his 30-year-old wife and their son sitting unnoticed among the faithful.

Hansen unit buys furniture

HANSEN — The Hansen circle of the Kimberly Methodist church Women's Society of Christian Service has given the WSCS $100 to purchase furniture for the fireplace room of the church.

It was reported at the circle meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Austin Moore that drapes and two chairs have been ordered for the fireplace room.

Mrs. W. I. McFarland gave the lesson study, "The Woman Who Missed Easter," from Response magazine and each member told what Easter meant to her. Mrs. McFarland gave devotions from the Upper Room.

Mrs. Lavilla Legg was welcomed as a new member. A thank you letter was read from Ann Easter, of the Twin Falls Day Care Center, for the quilts made by members and given to the center.

Youths collecting newspapers

TWIN FALLS — The youth of the Faith Assembly of God Church, Twin Falls, are collecting old newspapers to help the church's missionaries in various countries.

Mrs. Esther Thacker said the youth collect the old newspapers and then sell them to a local business. The funds derived from the sale are then sent to the church's missionaries for use in purchasing trucks, bicycles or other modes of transportation, to take them from village to village.

Anyone wishing to donate old newspapers should call Rev. Clay Stephens at 733-6944, or Mrs. Thacker, 423-5773, and the church's youth will pick them up either after school or on weekends.

Theme given

ALMO — "Biblical witness of the resurrection of Jesus" was the theme of the Easter program in the Almo LDS Church.

Readers were Bishop William Jones, David Boden and Mrs. Wallace Taylor. Poems were given by Della Ward, Laurel Tracy, Kenny Darrington, JoAnn Tracy and Cordell Sheridan.

Mrs. H. E. King spoke and the Junior Sunday School choir sang with Mrs. Bert Tracy and Mrs. King as accompanists.

Revival set in T.F.

TWIN FALLS — Alger Fitch, Eugene, Ore., will be guest speaker at revival services Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the First Christian Church, Sixth Avenue and Shoshone Street.

Dr. Fitch was educated at Northwestern Christian College, Phillips University, the University of Southern California and Claremont School of Theology.

He assumed the position of assistant professor of New Testament at Northwestern Christian College, Eugene, in 1968. He also served as a minister for more than 20 years. He is a world traveler, speaker and lecturer.

Evening services will begin at 7:30 p.m. A no-host breakfast will be held for men at 7:30 a.m., and a no-host luncheon for women at 1:30 p.m. at a local cafe.

Special music will be provided by the King's Harvesters, Twin Falls, during each service. Howard Larsen, minister from Hansen, will lead congregational singing. A nursery will be provided at each service.

Remap bill to become law

BOISE (UPI)—Gov. Cecil D. Andrus Thursday told a news conference he will let the legislative reapportionment bill become law without his signature with the understanding it will be tested in the courts.

Andrus said he was informed by lawmakers in both houses and from both political parties that they want to test the measure on one man, one vote grounds.

He said there also has been a charge of gerrymandering lodged against the measure.

He said it comes from the Arco area but that he is uncertain of the politics of those complaining.

Andrus also told his news conference:

—He has named Pete Henault, Idaho Falls physician, to succeed Dr. Rolland Reid, Moscow, as his special representative on the White Clouds-Interior Task Force Committee.

—He has asked L.B. Day, Portland, field representative for the interior department, to ask the interior secretary to approve a national park management plan for the Sawtooth, White Clouds, Boulder and Pioneer Mountain ranges.

—Despite pleas from pilots to the contrary, Chet Moulton probably will be replaced by the aeronautics commission as state aeronautics director. He said

Darrell Manning, Pocatello, Pete Hill, Idaho Falls, and Melvin Hirschi, Moscow, have applied for the job.

—There may be some personnel laid off by the Parks Department but not as many as announced by parks director, Wilhelm Becker. He said a cut of 32 in the staff was "too deep."

—There will be no state park closures this year although some services may be curtailed because of money reasons.

—He still may press the Interstate Commerce Commission for a reduction in interstate rail freight rates for Idahoans after Railpax goes into effect.

Sirhan guarded on death row

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI)—Two years after being convicted of the murder of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Sirhan B. Sirhan still is being protected from other prisoners on death row at San Quentin prison.

Sirhan was convicted April 17, 1969, and later sent to the special section of the prison that houses 91 other condemned men. Despite the passage of time, prison officials have not markedly relaxed the special precautions set up when he arrived.

"We still view it as hazardous to have him out with the men," said Associate Warden James Park. "A notoriety nut wanting to get his name in the paper might attack Sirhan."

The one man prison officials don't view as a threat to the killer of Kennedy is Ronald Fouquet, convicted of beating his common-law wife's 5-year-old son to death.

Sirhan lives a quiet life in a cell screened off from the other men, Park said, and Fouquet shares a similar cell next to him.

"He can talk to Fouquet through the screen but I don't know if they talk much," he said.

Sirhan can converse with the other condemned inmates when he is let out into a small exercise area on the row but that, too, is screened off.

Park said most of the trouble authorities have had with Sirhan, 27, stemmed from the restrictions placed on him.

"But the possibility of an attack is real," he said. "We got a picture of Sirhan in 1969 that had a black hand drawn on it. It came from a row inmate but I can't say which one."

During his first year here Sirhan, who entered the prison on May 23, 1969, went on a 13-day hunger strike to protest what he called "Nazi concentration camp-like treatment."

After that the other inmates were allowed to talk to him through the screen.

Last September Sirhan was subdued with teargas when he threw a tantrum in his cell. Park said he was upset at the time because the State Department wouldn't let his mother go to Jordan.

Sirhan is visited occasionally by his mother or lawyers.

Attorney Russell Parsons, one of Sirhan's lawyers during his trial for the June 5, 1968, slaying, said he visited him about three months ago.

"I thought he was pretty sick, agitated and nervous," Parsons said. "Of course that's not unnatural for a man on death row."

Money guards slain

CHICAGO (UPI)—Two Brinks, Inc., guards were shot to death Thursday while making a pickup of money at the Southway Hotel on the city's South Side.

The victims were identified as Gerald T. O'Connor, 40, of suburban Lombard, and Gerald Creaney, 27, Chicago. Creaney was shot four times, and O'Connor twice in the heart. One body was behind the wheel of the truck, the other half in and half out.

William Hudson, a patrolman who reached the scene first, said that the hotel staff said one guard had remained inside the cab of the truck while the second entered to get the receipts.

Air riders win relief

WASHINGTON (UPI)—United Air Lines will separate smokers from other passengers in first class and coach service beginning next Wednesday.

The nation's largest airline says it will seat non-smokers in the front and smokers in the rear. In case the smoking area is filled, any smokers seated in the non-smoking area will be asked to step to the rear before lighting up.

Edward E. Carlson, United's President, cordoned off a section of a jetliner bound to Miami from Cleveland last week when he was told a passenger - Dr. David Gitlin - might suffer heart trouble because of smokers.

United is the second major airline to separate smokers on every flight.

Southern Idaho reservoirs emptied

BOISE (UPI) — Reclamation Bureau reservoirs in Southern Idaho are being emptied in preparation for large-scale flood control operations this spring, Regional Director H. T. Nelson said today.

"This action has been taken because of the near-record snowpack which has accumulated in the mountain areas of Southern Idaho," Nelson said.

as required," he said. "The flood potential in these other areas, however, is only moderate compared to that in Southern Idaho."

On March 31, Nelson said, the storage content of six reservoirs on the upper Snake River in Idaho and Wyoming — Jackson Lake, Island Park, Grass Lake, Palisades, American Falls and Lake Walcott — was 3,129,000 acre feet.

the storage was 3,523,000 acre feet. Total storage capacity is 3,985,000 acre feet.

Nelson said planned flood control operations are in progress at Palisades and Jackson Lake reservoirs. He said about one million acre feet of reservoir space is empty at this time.

to make additional reservoir space available for regulation of possible flood waters later.

Streamflow potential, as indicated by measurements of the mountain snowpack, is much above normal and similar to that which occurred in 1965, Nelson said. No major flood problems are expected in this area although flood control operations probably will be required until late June or early July, Nelson said.

Flood control operations are continuing at Little Wood River Reservoir on the Little Wood River near Carey and readjusting of space for flood control essentially is complete, Nelson said.

The storage content in the reservoir was 2,000 acre feet April 9, thus providing 28,000 acre feet of vacant space for regulation of flood inflow later. No serious flooding is expected along the Little Wood River below the dam although flood control releases equal to bankful capacity of the channel downstream probably will be required for extended periods.

The streamflow potential on the Boise River is extremely high and comparable to that in the spring of 1965, Nelson said. Flood control operations of the three reservoirs in the system — Anderson Ranch, Arrowrock and Lucky Peak — were started in January.

Flood control releases at Lucky Peak dam have continued at rates which have caused minor flooding downstream since early February. Approximately 540,000 acre feet of reservoir space is available at this time. The usable capacity of the reservoir system is 988,000 acre feet.

Cassia tops list on barley

BOISE — Cassia County topped the production list of barley during 1970 in Magic Valley, James Olson, Boise, agricultural statistician with the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, said today.

He said Cassia County produced a total of 1.9 million bushels of barley this past year. Second on the list in this area was Minidoka County with 1.5 million bushels and Twin Falls was third with 1.2 million bushels.

Olson said this total production includes both irrigated and non-irrigated crops.

The breakdown, by counties, listing harvested acres, yield per acre and total production, is:

Blaine County, 2,900 acres, 64 bushels and 186,600 bushels for irrigated land; 700 acres, 30 bushels and 21,000 bushels for non-irrigated land.

Camas County, 600 acres, 52 bushels and 31,300 bushels for irrigated land; 5,600 acres, 37 bushels and 201,200 bushels for non-irrigated land.

Cassia County, 25,500 acres, 71 bushels and 1.8 million bushels for irrigated land; 2,900 acres, 30 bushels and 87,000 bushels for non-irrigated land.

Gooding County, 2,700 acres, 68 bushels and 183,600 bushels for irrigated land; no non-irrigated land planted.

Jerome County, 9,000 acres, 74 bushels and 666,000 bushels for irrigated land; no non-irrigated land planted.

Lincoln County, 5,300 acres, 70 bushels and 385,000 bushels for irrigated land; no non-irrigated land planted.

Minidoka County, 20,000 acres, 73 bushels and 1.46 million bushels for irrigated land; 300 acres, 35 bushels and 10,500 bushels for non-irrigated land.

Twin Falls County, 16,000 acres, 74 bushels and 1.18 million bushels for irrigated land; 300 acres, 31 bushels and 9,300 bushels for non-irrigated land.

New beef carcass evaluation plan set

FAIRFIELD — The Department of Agriculture Federal Meat Grading Service has initiated a beef carcass evaluation program, according to Camas County Agent William Hazen.

Until recently the calf producer had to keep close tabs on where his cattle were being fed and slaughtered or had to go into expensive progeny testing programs to receive any carcass information. A much cheaper and easier reporting service is available, Hazen said.

For a producer to get carcass information returned to him from any meat packing plant that employs a federal grader, all he needs to do is purchase a special numbered ear tag. These tags cost 30 cents each and are sold in lots of 20. Federal graders in local meat processing plants can give more information of procuring the tags, he said.

The procedure for grading is as follows: The inspector on the kill floor removes the ear tag and places it on the carcass and informs the grader that the tagged cattle is coming through. The grader then records all data that is used in determining the quality and cutability grades in beef carcasses. This information is sent

Panthers charged with raid

DETROIT (UPI)—Four Black Panthers were charged Thursday with ransacking a commune for drugs and money, forcing the 18 occupants to strip and fatally shooting one who tried to quiet his barking dog.

Two of the Black Panthers—Ronald K. Irwin, 19, and Larry Powell, 19—had been charged earlier with the kidnap-torture of a fellow Panther. Irwin also was charged Thursday with torturing a black soldier.

Anthony Norman, 21, the third Panther charged with first-degree murder, was released after a pretrial examination of assault and battery charges stemming from a confrontation between Black Panthers and police last August. Irwin faces trial on the same charges in that incident.

The fourth Panther was Ronald Smith, 20, who had no record of being involved in confrontations between the radical group and police.

The four were arrested Wednesday night at a home on the Northwest Side. Arrested with them but later released were Carol E. Smith, one of 15 Black Panthers charged with the fatal shooting of a policeman during a police siege of the party's headquarters last October, and Barbara Pleasow, 37, the white daughter of a Detroit attorney.

Irwin, Norman, Powell and Smith all stood mute at their arraignment and Recorder's (Criminal) Court Judge James McNally entered pleas of innocent for them. All four were ordered jailed pending a pretrial hearing next Wednesday to determine if they should stand trial.

Later, Irwin stood mute at his arraignment on the charge of kidnaping and torturing the soldier. Visiting recorder's Judge A. R. Debiase entered a plea of not guilty and set a pretrial hearing for April 26. The soldier's name has been suppressed.

Office abolished

BOISE (UPI)—Acting director Robert Lenaghen of Administrative Services has ordered the position of director of data processing management services be abolished immediately.

Lenaghen said there no longer is any need for the $20,520 per year job which was held by Lou Marsden.

He pointed out the Department of Administrative Services now is in the process of transferring personnel and computers to other agencies. He said Von Bolander, acting director of management services, will head up data processing operations until they are phased into the auditor's office, the Highway Department and other agencies.

As of July 1, the Division of Management Services itself will be abolished under the administration's announced reorganization plan.

Lenaghen said it is likely other data processing employees, now working for management services, will be terminated. But he could not say how many.

Some of the present employees will be transferred to "user agencies" and thereby will remain on the state payroll, Lenaghen said.

Less work looms for '80's

NEW YORK (UPI)—Life in the 1980s can and may be beautiful, according to recent research sponsored by Lincoln First Banks Inc. of Rochester, N.Y.

There is more of almost everything—except work—in this profile of Mr. and Mrs. America's lifestyle during the 80s. More money in the paycheck, more protection against rising medical and housing costs, more leisure time, more conveniences, more transportation.

Staff members of the Management Research Center at the University of Rochester on which such conclusions were drawn. They interviewed 150 government, community, business and educational leaders from three New York counties.

By 1980, the median family income is likely to increase 50 per cent to more than $10,000. One family in three may earn at least $15,000 annually, compared to one in 13 today. Benefits provided by employers may include group automobile and homeowner insurance. And the average work week may shrink to about 36 hours.

Housewives should benefit from new kitchen technology. Edible packaging and prepared foods will reduce meal preparation time to seconds or minutes. And the average family may be "smacking" five times per day instead of eating the traditional "three squares."

Traffic snarls may ease or disappear, according to the report. It sees urban mass transportation being revitalized in the next few years through a federal mass transit fund similar to the existing highway fund. Many cities may bar autos in downtown areas, converting central business districts into pedestrian malls. New York City already has experimented with this concept on selective streets on selective holidays.

Despite the optimism about fewer traffic headaches, the number of autos in the U.S. will increase about 30 per cent. By 1975 it is expected that 40 per cent of all American families will own two or more cars.

Bingo law repealed

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI)—Gov. Robert B. Docking Thursday signed a bill removing the criminal penalty for gambling at bingo. Docking said he strongly doubted the constitutionality of the bill, but said the only way to answer any questions about the law would be to sign the bill and allow it to be tested in court. Under the old law gambling at bingo was punishable by a fine of $1,000 and a jail term of six months.

Resisting charge upheld

TWIN FALLS—Fred Hurst, 35, 144 Sidney St., was found guilty Wednesday afternoon by a six member district court jury on charges of resisting a police officer by means of violence.

Fifth Judicial District Judge Theron W. Ward granted a request for a pre-sentence investigation. Hurst, represented by Rudy Barchas, public defender, was charged with biting, kicking and striking officer Don Hamann with his knee while in a police car on the way to the police station after being apprehended on charges of disturbing the peace.

Barchas argued the defendant was illegally arrested on the original charge of disturbing the peace and disorderly conduct.

Robert Galley of the county prosecutor's office represented the state.
