TEN CENTS

Downtown hotel fire claims elderly victim

By ROBERT VANAUDELN and BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Writers

TWIN FALLS — An early morning fire today destroyed a Twin Falls landmark, caused thousands of dollars worth of damage and killed one man. He died of asphyxiation.

The landmark is the Caledonia Hotel, built in 1909. Now known as the Camera Center Hotel, it is owned by Walt Blaylock, Twin Falls.

The dead man is as yet unidentified, but believed to be Adolph Adour, about 70, from Arkansas.

The hotel register shows that Adour was the occupant of the room in which the body was found. The room is located on the third floor of the three-story building.

The fire, which reportedly started in the back part of the hotel on the third floor in a room called the "TV room," was reported to the Twin Falls Fire Department at 5 p.m. All five fire trucks and 38 men responded to the alarm.

Jack Windsor, fire captain, said firemen rescued five people from the top floor and two from the second floor, using ladders.

Windsor said, "One woman was hanging out the window of one of the back rooms of the top floor, screaming, and saying there was a baby in the room." Firemen rescued her and the baby.

Bill Hill, hotel manager, said the victim of smoke inhalation (Adour) was the first person he woke up. Hill and his family also live in the hotel.

Hill said there were 27 guests in the hotel at the time the fire started. He said eight rooms on both the second and third floors were occupied.

Firemen battled the blaze, which was confined to the top floor, for three hours before bringing it under control. Firemen remained at the scene for another couple hours mopping up.

Windsor said firemen had to wait for a while before battling the blaze because "We had to get the people out first."

Bobby K. Bopp, acting fire chief, said the entire third floor was completely gutted. Fire, smoke and water damage resulted to the second floor.

He said the first floor of the building received extensive smoke and water damage. The main floor of the building houses three businesses, and another is located in the basement.

The three businesses on the main floor are the Camera Center, Hall of Music and the Emporium. Willa Dean Nielsen dancing school is located in the basement.

Blaylock said he values the hotel building about $130,000.

He purchased the hotel from Karl Freeman in 1960. Blaylock said he had several thousand dollars worth of camera equipment in the camera shop and Hill said he had recently put $8,000 worth of stereo equipment in the Hall of Music store he owns.

Equipment in the dancing studio was saved. The dance school will continue in the American Legion Hall until further notice, Mrs. Nielsen said.

The hotel building was one of the Urban Renewal projects which would eventually be torn down. The building was one of the first proposed for Urban Renewal, but Urban Renewal officials did not include that block in the first project two years ago.

Both the Twin Falls Police Department and Fire Department are investigating to determine the cause of fire. The cause was not known at press time today.

Killer blaze

FLAMES LEAP FROM the roof of the Camera Center Hotel as Twin Falls firemen battled the blaze for three hours Wednesday morning. The top floor of the landmark hotel, built in 1909, was gutted as firemen confined the blaze to that floor. One man died of smoke inhalation. The other floors received extensive smoke and water damage as did the three businesses on the main floor and the dance studio in the basement.

Judge issues order curbing Buhl carcass plant stench

TWIN FALLS — Cascade Commodities Corp. of Buhl must halt all rendering operations, and must remove all dead animals "in, on or about the premises" by 2 p.m. Thursday, or be padlocked by the sheriff, Fifth District Judge James M. Cunningham ruled Tuesday afternoon.

The ruling followed three hours of testimony by the plaintiffs and defense in a contempt-of-court hearing against Cascade Commodities. Judge Cunningham ruled that the plaintiffs must post a $15,000 "injunctive bond," which was posted later in the day through a bonding agency.

In what is believed to be the first order of its kind in the Magic Valley, Judge Cunningham issued a "modified injunction" strengthening the terms of the original injunction issued March 19, which ordered the firm to control odors emanating from their rendering process.

The injunction set March 29 as the deadline for control of odors. This was not obeyed, in the eyes of the court, and the firm was ordered back into court to show cause why they should not be cited for contempt of court.

Cascade Commodities installed a condenser designed to condense and remove odor-carrying steam from their cooking pots, according to Gordon Carter, plant manager, who testified during Tuesday's court hearing.

"We believe we have cured the odor problem," Carter testified — to the audible gasps of disbelief from the audience of about 25 Buhl-area residents, most of whom live within a short distance of the plant.

Tuesday's hearing was a continuation of a contempt-of-court hearing which had been postponed several times.

The case started with a suit filed by a number of Buhl residents, asking court action to force the rendering plant to control the odors, described as "extremely offensive," resulting from their rendering of dead animals for tallow. Judge Cunningham issued his injunction on March 19, setting the March 29 deadline for compliance.

Big-unit 'recon' begins

SAIGON (UPI) — Battalion-sized American reconnaissance teams and smaller South Vietnamese units probed the A Shau Valley beneath an umbrella of fighter-bombers today in preparation for a forthcoming Allied campaign in the Laotian border area.

Heavy North Vietnamese resistance was reported for the first time since the Allied scouting missions began in the valley more than a week ago. American B52 bombers hammered areas 20 miles to the northwest of the A Shau.

As the Allied units carried out extensive reconnaissance missions preparatory to the drive in the 35-mile-long valley, Brig. Gen. Vu Van Giai, deputy commander of the South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division, said the A Shau was "not an exclusive target."

"In this operation, we will go anywhere from the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) on down to the A Shau," he said. The area Giai mentioned takes in a 75-mile strip along the Laotian border.

Giai said the idea of the operation was to force elements of three North Vietnamese divisions and four independent regiments out of South Vietnam's northern provinces, Quang Tri and Thua Thien.

"The operation is designed to clear out everything from the DMZ to Hai Van Pass," Giai said.

Benefit package approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee has approved a $1.5 billion package of improved Social Security benefits but cut back on free hospitalization for medicare patients from 59 to 29 days.

The panel also rejected a Nixon administration proposal to have the federal government pay the full monthly premiums that 20 million people over 65 now pay for doctors' insurance. That premium, now $5.30, will go to $5.60.

The panel did limit future increases in the monthly premium to no more than percentage increases in Social Security benefits. Thus a 10 percent benefits boost would mean no more than a 56 cent increase in the monthly premium.

The committee Tuesday took action that would improve monthly cash benefits for widows, provide medicare coverage to the seriously disabled under 65, raise the outside earnings ceiling for Social Security retirees, and add a cost-of-living escalator for future benefit increases.

Members of the committee reduced from 59 to 29 the number of free hospital days.

Expectant dog lives in blaze

TWIN FALLS — Fireman Tracy Hansen carried a survivor of the Camera Center Hotel fire from the charred building about three hours after flames and smoke spread through the building early this morning.

The survivor, a wet and shivering little dog had apparently remained in the room her owners rented for the night and had somehow survived in the hottest part of the fire.

Flames, which resulted in the death of one man and destruction of the old building, spread through the second story of the structure about 5 a.m.

At 8:30 when firemen could safely probe the ruins, Fireman Hansen found the little dog in one of the back rooms hiding in the debris.

A short time later, the owner, John White, arrived and claimed the pet.

"That's my dog all right," he commented, "and she's going to have puppies right away."

White, a resident of Cody, Wyo., checked into the hotel Tuesday night with his wife, three small children and dog.

"We heard someone banging on the door early this morning," he said. "Someone said, 'get out, this place is on fire,' and I grabbed my three kids and headed for the front door," he said.

White added he made two attempts to leave by the front entrance before he got out the back way. His wife also apparently made an unsuccessful attempt to flee the front entrance and was helped from the fire escape by firemen. In the confusion, the dog was forgotten but was reunited with the family a few hours later at the scene.

Manager of the hotel, Nettie Hill, said she believed her own cat and kittens as well as another dog owned by one of the women guests failed to survive the fire.

CSI out-of-district tuition load shifted

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Idaho students attending the College of Southern Idaho next year, who live out of the junior college district, will pay less tuition next year than they did this year, in an unusual reversal of the usual policy of continually escalating college tuition.

CSI trustees adopted a fee schedule for the 1971-72 school year in their meeting Monday night in which out-of-district students will pay $100 per semester, or $200 per year, tuition. This year, they paid $150 and $300.

To make up the difference, and provide a total of $25 per year per student more for the college, the counties in which the students reside must pay $625 per year per student instead of the $500 they paid this year. This absorbs the $100 saving for the student and adds $25 additional tuition.

The "rationale" for the move, according to CSI Business Manager H. W. Van Slyke, is to attract more Idaho students to the college, while allowing counties to make up the tuition deficit from liquor apportionment funds which are allocated to each county for junior college tuition payments.

CSI students living in Jerome and Twin Falls counties, which comprise the junior college district, will pay $25 more for two semesters, or $12.50 more per semester, next year. Tuition of $50 per semester and $100 per year, this term will be increased by 25 per cent to $62.50 and $125, Van Slyke said.

The tuition increases are allowed by legislation passed by the 1st Idaho Legislature, and signed by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus. The legislation was sponsored by Idaho's two junior colleges, CSI and North Idaho College, Coeur d'Alene.

Vocational students will pay the same as the academic in-district students next year — $62.50 per semester and $125 for the year in tuition.

Out-of-state students are now paying $400 per semester and $800 for the year — returning the college the same in tuition as the out-of-district students and their counties pay together — $300 for the students and $50 from the counties. These fees "have not been studied as yet," and the out-of-state tuition for 1971-72 has not been determined, Van Slyke said.

The estimated cost to the college for each full-time student in the current school year is $1,161, according to an outline of college costs. This includes the actual 1969-70 cost per full-time student of $1,065.

Utah firm bids lowest on drilling

TWIN FALLS — The Jensen Construction Co., Springville, Utah, submitted the low bid of $45,053 for foundation core drilling at the site of the new Perrine Memorial Bridge, according to the Idaho Department of Highways.

Three bids, ranging from more than $100,000 to Jensen's low bid, were opened by the board of directors of the highway department on Tuesday. The contract has not been awarded, but will be after all bids are studied and the low bid is approved.

The core drilling is the first concrete step in planning for construction of the $1 million four-lane bridge, to be built upstream of the present bridge north of Twin Falls. The State firm designing the bridge needs data on the rock foundation in order to plan the supports for the structure.

Ward help at hospital eye strike

NAMPA (UPI)—Ward attendants may go on strike at the Idaho State School and Hospital unless the State Health Department meets their demands for higher wages.

Charles Anthony, Nampa, said Tuesday that attendants have formed an informal organization and asked the health department for more pay and reduced working requirements.

"We are just about fed up with the wages that are being paid to ward attendants," Anthony said. "The starting wage here is $280 a month."

"Out of that, the State Department of Health seems to expect trained people who can do everything from psychological evaluations to taking the place of parents," he said. "They just can't expect that at those wages."

He said the group wants to see the basic starting pay boosted to approximately $340 per month.

"Were giving them two weeks to come up with solutions," Anthony said. "If this isn't carried through I don't see where we have any choice but to go out on a walkout."

"I don't like to call it a walkout," he added. "What we propose is two days of all calling in sick to publicize our position."

John Christensen, superintendent of the institution, said pay increases will be one of the major concerns of the State Health Board when it meets in Lewiston, May 6-7 to apportion the health department budget.

Anthony said if the attendants' demands are not met the "walkout" will occur on May 8-9.

New mine laws pose problems

BOISE (UPI) — Because of money problems, State Land Commissioner Gordon Trombley says his office is uncertain how it is going to administer the new Surface Mining Act.

Under the new law, miners must get approval of plans to restore mined areas before they can commence mining operations.

This approval is given by the State Land Board, the policy-making board that runs the Land Department.

But while the legislature gave the Land Department the responsibility for administering the mining law it did not increase the department's budget to cover the additional chores.

"Frankly," Trombley said, "we are at a loss as to how we are going to handle it, how we are going to function."

He said the department had hoped to create an engineering division this year. This would have helped with the Surface Mining Act as well as dredge mining regulation and other work, he said.

But he noted the department's one-year "continuation" budget of $1.7 million was chopped down to $1.4 million by the legislature.

This reduction, he said, has prevented the department from filling four job vacancies — thereby reducing personnel to 130.

NASA team visits Arco desert area

POCATELLO (UPI)—A nine-man team from NASA visited a prospective site in the eastern Idaho desert near Arco Tuesday for the space shuttle launching facility.

Jerry Gaffney, team leader, said that the site chosen will have a large area of flat landscape, consistently good weather and major transportation available.

Gaffney said that the space shuttle facility will launch a booster-stage rocket and an orbital vehicle. He compared the rocket to a Boeing 747 in size and the orbital vehicle to a 707 in size. He said both are returnable and can fly like an airplane after re-entering the earth's atmosphere.

Muskie And The Trots

WASHINGTON — The fact that Sen. Edmund S. Muskie and other prominent Democrats are determined to back any non-violent peace demonstration, without even considering its domination by Trotskyist Communists typifies the cloak of respectability inadvertently provided for the far left by liberals.

In their rising anti-war sentiment, Muskie and other prominent Democrats are determined to back any non-violent peace demonstration, without even considering its domination by Trotskyist Communists typifies the cloak of respectability inadvertently provided for the far left by liberals.

The result puts Muskie in some decidedly strange company. Scarcely a radical himself, Muskie as President would continue—for a time, at least—aiding the Saigon regime. Yet he has aligned himself with left revolutionary forces who do not merely oppose U.S. participation in the war but openly advocate a Communist victory. The situation derives from the fact that Muskie determined his attitude toward the spring anti-war demonstrations on one criterion only: non-violence. Saturday's march on Washington is peaceful in purpose and not likely to turn violent. Therefore, Muskie endorsed it. The series of sit-ins and other confrontations planned between May 3 and May 7, though avowedly non-violent, are likely to become violent. Therefore, Muskie did not endorse them.

At no time did Muskie check the background of the National Peace Action Coalition (NPAC), sponsors of the Saturday demonstration. "There is no way for us to inquire into the ideological beliefs of anybody in this organization," Muskie told us. Therefore, he had no idea whether Trotskyite Communists were or were not running NPAC nor did he show much interest in that question. If he had, he would have found NPAC's staff dominated by the "Trots." An example: Don Gurewitz, a member of both the Trotskyist Socialist Workers Party and its youth arm, the Young Socialist Alliance. Another example: Jerry Gordon, a Cleveland Trotskyist leader.

Their presence in NPAC is no accident. NPAC was formed in June last year during a meeting in Cleveland held by the Trotskyist-dominated Student Mobilization Committee. At that meeting, leaders of the Socialist Workers Party and the Young Socialist Alliance were in dominant positions. What makes all this significant is that the Trotskyists are not the few bedraggled malcontents of a generation ago but the most dynamic, most effective organization on the American far left. Ever since the Socialist Workers Party fully took over the Young Socialist Alliance (then three years old) in 1960, the Trots have undergone an amazing renaissance. The Young Socialist Alliance has replaced the faction-torn SDS (Students for a Democratic Society) as the most important radical organization on college campuses and is now prime mover in national anti-war demonstrations.

Behind this success has been undeviating Trotskyist insistence on two positions: non-violence and sticking to the war. While other left groups (including the Moscow-oriented Communist party) go off on tangents concerning race and class struggle and may flirt with violence, the Trots have amassed support by concentrating on non-violent opposition to Vietnam.

But adopting this tactic does not mean they have abandoned their dream of a revolutionary takeover. Rather, the war opens a magnificent new avenue to an old goal.

Swedish Utopia

The experience of Sweden, long paraded as a model welfare state, proves that too much welfare can become unbearable.

"We simply can't afford to live in paradise any longer," says a Swedish civil servant. "The idea is nice but the reality is too costly."

It is easy to see why he feels the way he does. Cigaretts cost $1.20 a pack. The Swedish value-added tax, which is a broad sales tax variation, amounts to 17.65 per cent and it applies to everything, even groceries.

He is one of 47,000 workers who struck for a 23 per cent wage raise "just to get us back to where we were three years ago."

The government stopped the 38-day strike by emergency legislation, but the crisis recurs April 23 upon expiration of the ban.

Sweden's regressive sales tax is only part of the story. Sweden also has the world's highest income tax rates - 43 per cent for a man earning $10,000 a year and up to 65 per cent on higher incomes.

As a result, there has been an accelerating exodus of professional people to other countries, along with an increasing transfer of industrial operations out of the reach of the tax-hungry paradise of social democracy.

For years, neutral Sweden enjoyed a long period of prosperity and freedom from labor strife. But in 1969, the first strike in years occurred. Since that time, there have been more than 150 strikes as workers painfully learned the high cost of government's promises to do everything for them.

Sweden's treasury has gone into the red three years in a row and yet, despite the threatened strike and the disillusionment of the people, the government is pressing more socialistic reforms.

What price Utopia? Far too high. The American free enterprise system remains the most viable yet devised, providing the greatest good for the greatest number, and don't you forget it.

As for equality in Sweden, forget that, too. "They are leveling us down," said one Swedish worker. "None of us can afford the cost of the welfare benefits."

These simple facts carry a warning to America's law-makers and tax gatherers and underscore the urgency of action on President Nixon's welfare reform proposals.

Doors Opening

Dr. Edward Teller, the eminent scientist, long has maintained that the world's best hope for peace lies in openness, the free exchange of information and goods between open societies being the road to understanding and security.

There is evidence that secrecy is the breeding ground of fear and suspicion, so the world must welcome the eagerness with which the leaders of China and the United States are embracing their newfound opportunity for a resumption of friendly relations that characterized their history until the Communists seized power in China 22 years ago.

Premier Chou En-lai gave a warm welcome to the first American invited to China, telling the American table tennis team and accompanying newsmen they "have opened a new page in the relations of the Chinese and American people." He told one reporter, an old acquaintance, he had opened the door and more American correspondents would be coming to China in the future. Some are already on the way.

President Nixon, who had previously stated his desire for closer ties with the People's Republic of China, lost no time in relaxing restrictions on trade with China, preparing to welcome visitors from China, and promising further steps toward friendlier relations.

We need news of China, from American correspondents, and China needs news of America, which it can have for the sending of its newsmen. This is a vital first step toward better understanding.

President Nixon acted without direct contact with the Red regime but with the obvious hope there would be a positive response "in practical terms."

Whether China reached its momentous decision because her leaders have concluded that President Nixon is genuinely winding down the war in Indochina and preparing to remove American troops from China's doorstep, or because of their concern about the disputed border with Russia, or for other reasons, seems of secondary importance.

The big thing is that China has taken a friendly stance and we have replied in kind.

Our losing ping pong team may have been merely an amiable pawn in the big game of world politics but they were winners in diplomacy.

ART BUCHWALD

All Tapped

WASHINGTON — Washington is a status town, but the trouble is that status has a way of changing all the time. A few months ago, you rated in the capital if you received a telephone call from Martha Mitchell after midnight.

But that's old hat now because almost everyone in Washington has gotten a midnight call from Martha Mitchell. The new status symbol is to have your phone tapped by the FBI.

While senators and congressmen, newspapermen and even Administration officials have shown great public indignation over the FBI tapping lines, secretly everyone hopes he is important enough to have J. Edgar Hoover's men listen in on his calls.

The other day I put in a call to Broadbeam, who writes a Newsletter on Tropical Fish for pet stores all over America.

As soon as Broadbeam picked up the phone, he said, "I told you never to call me at the office."

"Where should I call you?" I asked him.

"I'll give you the number of a telephone booth at Wisconsin and O Streets. I'll be there every night between 5 and 6. Let the phone ring three times and then hang up. I'll call you back."

"But, Broadbeam. Why all the mystery?"

"I'm sure the FBI is tapping my phone. Listen. Do you hear it?"

"I don't hear anything."

"Exactly. Most phone lines in this country are filled with static. Don't you think it's odd that we have a perfect connection?"

"Well, now that you mention it, it does seem odd. But why would the FBI want to tap the line of someone who puts out a Newsletter on Tropical Fish?"

"Why would they want to monitor the speeches of Sen. Ed Muskie and the other people who spoke on Earth Day? Who knows why the FBI does things?"

"But Broadbeam. All I called about was that my guppies have been getting sick and I thought you might know why."

"I can tell you why," Broadbeam said. "The quick brown fox jumped over the white fence."

tapping your line?"

"That's a dirty thing to say," Broadbeam said angrily. "Don't you think I'm important enough to have my phone tapped?"

"I didn't mean that. But I just never thought the FBI would have much interest in someone who writes a newsletter about Tropical Fish."

"That's how much you know. Just yesterday I was followed for four blocks by two men wearing raincoats."

"What's so strange about that?" I asked.

"It wasn't raining," he shouted.

"Oh, I didn't know that. I guess they are interested in you after all."

"Listen, about your guppies," he said, "I'll leave a message for you under the fifth column of the Jefferson Memorial facing the White House."

"Thanks Broadbeam." I hung up.

A few minutes later, my wife called. "Do you know what your son Joel did with my car this morning?" she said.

"For God's sake," I cried, "don't tell me on the phone. They're tapping Broadbeam's phone and now that I called mine, they're probably tapping mine. Put a note in a sealed envelope and hide it in the cherry tree and I'll read it when I come home."

ANDREW TULLY

To Stay?

WASHINGTON — At this writing, it is not known whether John Tannehill, a 19-year-old University of Cincinnati sophomore, has extended his stay in Communist China — "maybe forever" — but if he has it serves him right.

Tannehill went to Mao's Paradise with the visiting American table tennis team, and judging from his utterances became an instant expert on virtually every facet of Red Chinese life and philosophy. It took Tannehill only three grovelling days to decide that Mao Tse-tung "is certainly the greatest moral and intellectual leader in the world today," and that living under Mao's rule would be an exhilarating experience in true freedom.

Of course it must be remembered that Tannehill is a sociology major and thus uniquely equipped to appraise the quality of Red Chinese life, even after only 72 hours of regimented sightseeing. How else is it possible to explain those apparently sixth (or seventh) sense emanations that today must be the envy of veteran China watchers around the globe?

Like so many newly-born experts, Tannehill is at home with paradox. In one breath he can note that "I haven't seen much individuality in the (Chinese) people yet — their dress and appearance are conformist" — and in the next he can declare unselfconsciously, "but I am sure it's there. I think there is more individuality here than in the United States."

The boy may have a point. His sociological intelligence may have discerned that the Chinese people have achieved the apex of individuality simply by shrugging off the superficial trappings of phony, bourgeois-capitalist freedom and deciding for themselves to do what Mao tells them. I expect it is mere coincidence that this decision was reached simultaneously by Red China's 720 million souls.

At any rate, it must be wonderful to be 19 and discover Eden with a minimum of research. I know my little mind would be incapable of concluding after 72 hours that "In China there is no exploiting class. The workers have power. I would need at least of couple of more hours to decide that Mao's philosophy "is beautiful," and I would be tempted to seek just one more opinion before deposing that I was "impressed by the way the women work with men in factories." Tannehill apparently was satisfied when "A Chinese woman told me they (the women) had been liberated by Mao."

The boy has been a perfect treasure house of reasoned judgment. He was "impressed with Chinese discipline. Discipline means beating a kid in America. I'm sure you don't beat kids in China." Well, I suppose Tannehill must know. He's been to Red China, and I haven't.

In the course of the visit, we also have been favored with a dispatch quoting one Mrs. Errol Resek of New York's Fun City on her impressions of the Great Wall. "If this had been in the United States," said Mrs. Resek, bowing and scraping, "it would have been a great tourist attraction and it would be mutilated and cheapened by discarded paper and garbage." I bet Mao loved that one.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Potassium

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What does potassium do for the body? The doctor handed me a list of foods containing potassium and said I should include them in my diet. Since then I have heard of four people taking potassium, but they don't know what for. J.S.

Potassium, an element very similar to sodium, is, like sodium, one of the necessary minerals.

A proper balance of (chiefly) these elements is called the body's electrolyte balance.

Ordinarily this is something we don't have to worry about — sodium and potassium are common in many foods, and the body gets all it needs.

On a temporary basis, loss of fluid (and these minerals) can result from diarrhea in a small baby, or, for another example, loss of fluid because of being severely burned — serum oozing from the burned areas carries away the minerals too.

In either case (and some others not common enough to mention here) — the first necessity in treatment is to restore fluids AND the lost minerals. Technically it's called restoring the electrolyte balance.

The correct electrolyte balance is important to the body in general. As for one important aspect — the potassium has much to do with what is called the excitability of muscle tissue. That is, a lack of potassium results in a weakness of all muscle tissue — including such vital muscle tissue as the heart muscle, along with others. Obviously important!

However, potassium deficiency isn't the sort of thing that is often encountered, the concern over it being primarily related to the use of diuretics, to rid the system of excess water.

With excessive use of these drugs, a loss of potassium can occur. It can be supplied either through diet or in tablet form — foods especially rich in potassium are, among others, prunes, citrus juices, bananas, potatoes, raisins, and figs.

Why your four friends all should be taking potassium would be only a guess unless, perchance, they have all been on diuretics for a long time.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: About eight years ago my brother was hospitalized as the result of heavy drinking. His liver and pancreas were severely damaged.

He was told alcohol would cause a recurrence. Please tell me what will happen now that he is consuming something like a quart of wine a day. It is a sherry and only 20 per cent alcohol content, but alcohol is alcohol. — Mrs. M.W.

It's the old sad story. A drinker is scared into giving up alcohol. His liver recovers somewhat, and probably so does his pancreas.

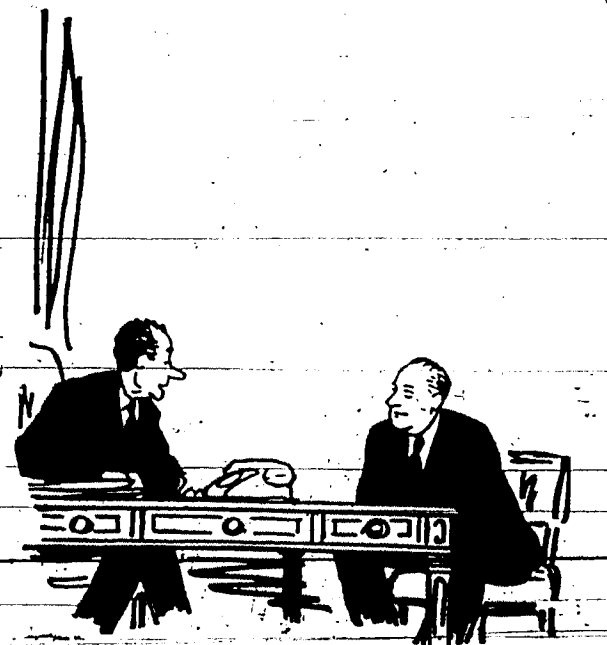

Then, feeling better, he goes back to drinking. And what ultimately happens is just what you think will happen.

His sherry may be "only" 20 per cent, but most whisky is "only" about 45 per cent (86 proof equals 43 percent) and, just as you say, alcohol is alcohol.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard that people who have fever blisters can be helped by having a smallpox vaccination. Please inform me if this is true. — A.A.F.

Sometimes it seems to help, and sometimes a series of such inoculations is used. It is not a remedy in all cases, though.

"Tell me, Bill, how is the State Department Ping-Pong training program coming along?"

MR. SPECTATOR

International Travel

International travel is often amusing. Going to Mexico over a weekend is no exception.

Mr. Spectator, as one of more than 50 editors, flew to Guadalajara as a guest of Hughes Air West. The airline is the first United States line to gain permission to tap the Guadalajara market — the second largest city in all of Mexico. But that's another story. Our story today just must deal with a rather amusing situation.

Mexico requires entry permits. All the editors received them and were instructed to sign them in two places. This, we did.

Then as the big jet approached the Mexican city's big new airport, an Air West official said a call from officials at that airport said a third signature would be necessary. So we all signed once more.

Then came the announcement we would take the permits with us and they would be checked when we went through Mexican customs. So we all held our permits. Then came another radio message. A representative of the Mexican government would board the plane after we landed and he would collect the permits.

We landed. He came aboard. He asked that we please sign our permits in another place. We did that — bringing the signatures to four. Then he collected the permits and Air West announced they would be returned to us after we cleared customs. We MUST have them with us at all times while in Mexico.

Well, they let us enter without clearing customs. We climbed in the busses for the trip into the big city. Our luggage came in other transportation.

We were there two nights and a day and a half.

We were taken everywhere — two "state" banquets, included. We checked out of the Guadalajara Hilton, went to the airport, climbed aboard the Air West jet and took off for the re-entry into the U.S.A. through Phoenix.

Come to think of it — we never did see those pesky entry permits!

Ford backs FBI

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford defended the FBI Tuesday against charges of impropriety in its electronic surveillance in a criminal investigation that led to indictment of Rep. John Dowdy, D-Tex., on bribery charges.

Ford told newsmen the surveillance in Dowdy's Capitol office last year, involving an FBI informer with a hidden tape recorder, was authorized by court order. And in a criminal investigation, said Ford, "I am not sure we should differentiate in a case like that between a citizen and a member of Congress."

The Dowdy case is the latest in a continuing controversy over the FBI. A source close to House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs said Boggs would charge in a floor speech Thursday that the FBI had obtained telephone company records of long distance calls from Boggs' office.

According to the source, Boggs will not argue that members of Congress should be immune from criminal investigation, but that to subpoena telephone records without a legislator's knowledge is an improper intrusion by the executive branch of government.

Boggs refused comment on the matter Tuesday. Ford said Boggs should present any evidence he has "to a responsible committee ... so that Congress and the public will see it in black and white."

The Boggs associate conceded that the Democratic leader's complaint about FBI checks of the informant's calls fell short of establishing proof of Boggs' original charge that the FBI had actually tapped his telephone and those of other legislators.

Boggs was expected to establish that the FBI not only subpoenaed records of his long distance calls but that agents then dialed some of the listed numbers to confirm that Boggs had made the calls.

Ex-bank president indicted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former president of a New Jersey bank was indicted today along with four stockbrokers in connection with an alleged scheme involving the purchase — partly with bank funds — of more than $200 million worth of stocks.

The former bank president named in an indictment by a federal grand jury was Douglas James Schotte, 39, Lincroft, N.J. He formerly was head of the Eatontown (N.J.) National Bank. He was accused of illegal use of more than $10 million in bank funds to purchase stock in 28 corporations.

According to the 177-page indictment, returned at Newark, N.J., and announced by Attorney General John N. Mitchell, the scheme involved the purchase of more than $200 million worth of common stocks over a 13-month period from July 1, 1969, to August 7, 1970. The Eatontown National Bank was closed Aug. 8, 1970, by federal bank examiners.

The stockbrokers indicted were:

William A. Certilman, 35, Searsdale, N.Y., formerly employed by the brokerage firm of T.P.O. Inc., New York City, as its supervisor of branch operations.

Bertram E. Cutler, 44, Bricktown, N.J., and James Perry, 30, Paramus, N.J., both former employees of T.P.O. Inc. Emmett W. Cox Jr., 49, Oakhurst, N.J., employed by the brokerage firm of Thompson, McKinnon and Auchincloss of Asbury Park, N.J. Cox was an under sheriff of Monmouth County in 1946 and 1965.

All five defendants were charged with conspiracy and with 168 counts of misapplication of funds.

The grand jury charged that they conspired to misapply $10,260,999 in funds of the Eatontown bank by having Schotte purchase common stocks in the name of the bank and then issue cashiers' checks to pay for them.

The indictment also charged more than $1 million were that illegal bank loans totalling made to the brokers.

Scrip found

ATLANTA (UPI) — Four big boxes of scrip issued by the Western and Atlantic Railroad in 1862, in the amount of 25 and 50 cents, used to give change to customers without exact fare, have been discovered in vaults of the Georgia State Treasury. State Treasurer Bill Burson said the scrip could only be redeemed with Confederate money. It will be turned over to the state archives for preservation.

White Cloud spring far in future

CLAYTON — Spring appears to be a long time off in the White Cloud mountains, says Dan Pence, Clayton district ranger following a trip into the area a few days ago.

He said the snow depth at Frog Lake is estimated at seven feet, with six feet on the level in the meadows on Little Boulder Creek below the ASARCO mining camp.

Ranger Pence said winter recreation use this winter including ski touring, snowshoeing and snow camping was evident, especially in the Little Boulder Creek drainage. He said several snow caves were found where campers had spent the night.

Lockheed loan said solution

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said today a government-guaranteed loan "may well be" the only solution for the financial troubles of the Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

But Connally told an impromptu news conference that President Nixon had not yet made up his mind whether to recommend government help for the firm. Asked if he had suggested such action to the President, Connally replied, "I'm not prepared to say."

The secretary talked to newsmen after meeting earlier with Daniel Houghton, president of Lockheed, and with representatives of major banks to discuss the company's problems, aggravated by the bankruptcy of Rolls Royce, producer of engines for Lockheed's new L1011 air bus.

"Progress is slower than I had hoped that it would be," Connally said of the discussions. "But progress is being made."

Asked if a government loan guarantee was the only solution to Lockheed's troubles, Connally replied, "I'm not sure of that. It may well be."

Boise Cascade earnings down

BOISE (UPI) — Boise Cascade Corporation announced today net sales in the first quarter of 1971 declined nine per cent to $372,030,000 from the comparable period a year ago.

Net earnings for the first quarter of the year were four cents per share, compared to the fourth quarter deficit of 16 cents per share in 1970, but were far below the near-record earnings of 59 cents per share achieved during the first quarter of 1970.

Net income for the first quarter of 1971 totaled $1,250,000, compared with $18,040,000 during the same period a year ago.

Included in last year's first quarter results were gains of four cents per share from the company's securities portfolio, while none were recorded in 1971.

William M. Agee, senior vice president, said despite the showing in the first quarter of 1971 the company "has gradually begun to improve its profitability."

He said although homebuilding activity has increased the improvement began too late in the first quarter to improve significantly the performance of the company's housing operations.

Paula stars as producer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Female motion picture producers are among the true minorities in Hollywood.

Only Harriet Parsons ("Enchanted Cottage" and "Susan Slept Here") and Gall Patrick, who produced "Perry Mason" for television come to mind.

Enter Paula Stewart, actress-singer, former wife of Burt Bacharach and Jack Carter, who has completed her first film as a producer. Title "Dinah East."

Paula is blonde, leggy and constructed along the lines of Raquel Welch.

This is how she defines a producer:

"A producer is a person who knows where to get money."

Paula began with a script brought to her by co-producer Gene Nash. Then, learning as she went, Paula called on friends and acquaintances raising the wherewithal.

"It helps to put a budget together, recognize talent, having taste and ability to combine all these talents," Miss Stewart said. "It also takes a strong stomach to handle performers," the actress-producer added. "They're all temperamental and always feet slighted."

"I've been on Broadway in 'Wildcat,' 'What Makes Sammy Run' and 'Let It Ride.' So I know what actors think and feel."

From her vantage as a producer Paula understands performers but apparently has little compassion for them.

Paula expected resentment from male members of the cast and crew who had to take orders from a female. She found the reverse to be the case.

"I was nervous about how the men would react," she said. "But they were cooperative and helpful in every way."

"The women were just the opposite. They like to take orders from men, not from another female. I would say the same things to a man and woman in the company. The man would accept the situation, but the females would get emotional and uptight."

Paula said her picture deals with a glamor girl who is a composite of Mae West, Lana Turner, Ava Gardner, Joan Crawford and Doris Day—no mean composite in itself—who dies. After her death it is learned the star was, in fact, a man.

"Wild, huh?" Paula asked.

"It has an 'X' rating, but I'm already thinking about my next production. It will be a comedy with a 'GP' rating."

Paula said some of her friends were flabbergasted that "Dinah East" has received praise from some critics.

"I think it's a good picture," she said.

'Papa Doc' seems in fair way to beat odds, die peacefully

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Take a year, almost any year since the end of 1967, and you will find that someone tried to assassinate "Papa Doc," Francois Duvalier, lifetime president of Haiti.

Yet in an atmosphere of unrelieved violence and intrigue he has managed to continue to survive and as he observed his 64th birthday on April 14 seemed in a fair way to beat the odds and die peacefully in bed with his boots off.

At 64 Papa Doc already had nearly doubled the life expectancy of most of the other 4.5 million persons living under the harshest dictatorship in the Americas on the western third of the island of Hispaniola. The other two-thirds is occupied by the Dominican Republic.
In the first 10 years of his regime, Papa Doc survived nine invasion attempts by small guerrilla bands and as many bomb plots.

It was small wonder then that on his birthday the subject of his health should be of paramount importance among his subjects. A signal, it was said would be his appearance or lack of it on the reviewing stand for his birthday parade.
He did not appear. Instead stood his 20-year-old son and proclaimed heir, Jean Claude.
The watchers decided it meant the dictator was in bed shape from a stroke presumably suffered in March.
Day-to-day decisions, it was said, were being made by his 29-year-old eldest daughter, Marie Denise Dominique, herself a survivor of the intrigues surrounding her father.

men killed four bodyguards escorting Jean Claude and his sister, Nicole, to school. The children fled into the school unharmed.
President John F. Kennedy, disgusted by the Duvalier regime, cut off U.S. aid in 1962. It has not been resumed. Some medicines and food supplies from the United States have been distributed but by other than U.S. government agencies.
Operating for years on the verge of bankruptcy, some small improvement has been noted in Haiti's economy. Some light industry has been moving in to take advantage of low Haitian wages and tourism has been picking up.

Golden spike site lists longer hours

BRIGHAM CITY, Utah (UPI)—New visiting hours are in effect at The National Golden Spike Historic Site in preparation for the 102nd anniversary of the driving of the golden spike.

Officials at the site, 32 miles west of Brigham City, have set the hours from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. for Saturday and Sunday.

William Krueger, site superintendent, said workers have also removed the protective plastic winter coating from Jupiter and 119, replicas of the two locomotives that met at Promontory Summit, May 10, 1869, when the nation was finally spanned by rail.

Krueger added that warm weather and increased tourist interest during March and April were the deciding factor in opening the Box Elder County facility early this year.

However, the daily re-enactments of the driving of the golden spike may have to be terminated unless an additional $4,000 can be raised. The Box Elder County Commission claims it will allocate $2,000 if the cities in the county can raise the other $2,000.

A thought for today: French novelist Andre Maurois said, "Housekeeping in common is for women the acid test."

Benny looking for work once again with TV spots set up

NEW YORK (UPI)—Here is this fellow, Jack Benny, passing through town again looking for television work, a quest that no retirement-aged 39-year-old should have to undertake. But that's the way life is—callous. Meanwhile, to shore up his shaky financial situation and carry himself through the summer, this walf of Waukegan—that's in Illinois—has indentured himself to a grasping impresario named James Nederlander, who will pay the comedian a mere umpteen thousands of dollars a week for personal appearances at two Eastern theatrical emporiums. And before that pittance begins to come in, Benny is even now earning coffee-and-cakes money in London by taping two of the "Kraft Music Hall" summer video shows hosted by British entertainer Des O'Connor for NBC-TV.

"I was to have had a theater engagement in London," Benny said before he started across the Atlantic, "but a hitch developed in getting the right theater at the right time, so I'll have to settle for the two television shows and some sightseeing.

"I just might manage to eke out enough to get back home." Benny had better get back because this Nederlander, a distant descendant of Simon Legree, holds contracts for the comedian's appearance Aug. 2-7 at the Garden State Arts Center in Holmdel, N.J., and at the Merriweather Post Pavilion in Columbia, Md., Aug. 9-14.

In both engagements, Benny will be appearing with composer Henry Mancini and his orchestra.

Circle K unit tops in service

TWIN FALLS—Members of the Circle K Club at the College of Southern Idaho have added another trophy to their showcase as a result of attending the Utah-Idaho District Convention last week in Salt Lake City.

Floyd Hardesty, Pocatello, International Circle K president, announced today the Twin Falls club has been awarded the top honor in the district for outstanding single service during 1970-71.

The club won the coveted award for its work with retarded teenagers at the Twin Falls Child Development Center. The CSI Circle K club was also named outstanding junior college club of the district and was runner up to the Idaho State University Club for outstanding over-all club of the district.

Clubs attending the meeting in Salt Lake City included those from CSI, ISU, Boise State, College of Idaho, Northwest Nazarene, Ricks, BYU, University of Utah and Southern Utah State.

In addition to Hardesty, the convention speakers included

Ted Johnson, Kiwanis International president. Delegates voted their support to establishing girls' auxiliary clubs and co-educational Circle K Clubs.

Opening set at Jerome

JEROME—Jerome will soon have a new fabric shop, according to Bud Hansen, owner of Bud's Duds, Twin Falls.

He said the contractor is remodeling the former Vinyard television repair store on South Lincoln. "As soon as the renovating work is complete we will open," Hansen said.

Mrs. Lyle Moncur, Twin Falls, will manage the shop here. Mrs. Moncur's husband is assistant manager of Bud's Duds.

Hansen said the new firm will feature polyester knits, a complete line of sewing needs and patterns to appeal to all tastes.

He said plans call for opening the new store later this month.

Probate court power upheld

BOISE (UPI)—Idaho's Supreme Court held Tuesday that the probate courts have power to appoint a co-administrator of an estate after a single administrator has been named.

In a unanimous opinion written by Justice Clay V. Spear, the Supreme Court upheld a Fourth District Court decision by Judge J. Ray Durtsch.

Harlow H. Oberbillig put the question before the high court in appealing the appointment of a co-administrator for the estate of J.J. Oberbillig.

J.J. Oberbillig died without leaving a will Jan. 7, 1958. Harlow H. Oberbillig was named administrator of the estate in May 1958.

Ernest E. Oberbillig in September 1967 petitioned to be named co-administrator and the probate court so appointed him.

In his appeal from Durtsch's decision affirming the Probate Court action Harlow H. Oberbillig contended the Probate Court lacked authority to pick a co-administrator once a single administrator has been appointed.

But Spear wrote that separate sections of Idaho statutes provide for appointment of co-administrators and for removal of an acting administrator when there has been delay in settling an estate.

Since removal of an administrator for delay is provided for, he said, the power of the probate court to take a lesser action by appointing a co-administrator also is included in the statute.

ROK's to go

WASHINGTON (UPI)—South Korea plans to withdraw soon up to 15,000 of the approximately 50,000 troops it has in South Vietnam, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Senator mourns slain officer

WASHINGTON (UPI)—His face pinched and his voice drawn, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield took the Senate floor Tuesday to mourn the death at the hands of a fellow soldier of a young Army lieutenant from his home state of Montana.

Mansfield said 209 such "fragging" incidents occurred last year in Vietnam, "a grim statistic of this war and I shall not lose sight of it."

"In every respect, this young man had every right and every reason to live," Mansfield said. "This young man was killed, not the victim of communism, not the victim of a helicopter crash. He was fragged to death as he lay sleeping in his billet."

"He was murdered by a serviceman—a fellow GI."

The term "fragging" is derived from the name of fragmentary grenades. In an increasing number of incidents, GIs with a grudge against their leaders have rolled grenades into the barracks of their commissioned or noncommissioned officers.

So commonplace has this become, Mansfield said, that the Army has had to take the weapons away from soldiers after they leave an area of combat.

But that will not remove the "atmosphere that drives an American GI to kill his fellow GI or superior," Mansfield said.

"Fragging, I fear, is just an outgrowth of this mistaken, this tragic conflict," which has caused a "disregard for life and limb."

Mansfield declined to disclose the young man's name. He said he did not want to bring further pain to his family.

He read from a letter from the young man's mother. She asked his support for legislation ending the draft. She said her son a few weeks before his death had written that "he didn't think anyone should be forced to serve."

Programs at Jerome in office

JEROME—The Senior Citizen and Emergency Fund programs have opened an office at the Jerome Presbyterian Church in the basement, according to Mrs. Mariene Butler, senior citizen representative.

Mrs. Butler will operate the office that will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mrs. Jennie Hite and Mrs. Nettie Watson, both from HOPE, and others will assist at the office with phone calls and relieve Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Larry Drake, emergency food chairman, for other duties.

Mrs. Butler invites the community to stop by and become better acquainted with the programs that are offered through the agency.

Entrance to the office is at the rear of the church.

Mrs. Butler thanks Rev. William Barrett and the congregation for their concern with the welfare of the community and making the office space available.

Aid plan revamp asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon today proposed a reorganization of the U.S. foreign aid program and asked Congress for $3.2 billion to provide economic and military assistance to America's allies. He said the changes were necessary to implement the Nixon Doctrine of helping other nations "increasingly shoulder their own responsibilities so that we can reduce our direct involvement abroad."

would abolish the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID) and transfer most of its functions to a new U.S. International Development Corporation and a U.S. International Development Institute, which would be supervised by one coordinator. Other facets of the aid program would be handled by the Overseas Private Investment Corporation and the Interamerican Social Development ment Institute, two existing agencies. One of the aims of the reform is to draw private American resources more closely into the U.S. foreign aid program, which over the years has been steadily reduced by Congress. The President's 8,000-word message to Congress called for $1.993 billion in international security assistance programs for fiscal year 1972 and $1.245 billion in economic assistance programs projected over a three-year period. Military aid for fiscal 1972 includes $705 million for military assistance, $778 million for economic security assistance and $510 million for foreign military credit sales. The economic portion of the program would budget $1.24 billion for development loans, technical assistance, aid to multilateral organizations offering technical assistance and similar projects.

Air cleaner equipment costs said set too low

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A copper industry survey released Tuesday said the government greatly underestimated the amount of money companies will have to spend to comply with air pollution control standards. The study, commissioned by Flour Utah Corp. based in Burlingame, Calif., said copper smelters will have to spend between $80 and $200 million a year in investment and operating costs to meet clean air standards. However, the report said the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) which monitors the government's clean air effort, estimated in its own study that metallurgical plants could meet their obligations with an average $107.9 million expenditure. The report admitted that the two studies were not exactly comparable but said the difference was still so large that EPA should reassess its figures. "The copper industry and every company in it will be severely hampered by the government's failure to take a realistic, factual view of the enormous outlay of money involved in this undertaking," the report said.

Under provisions of the Clean Air Act of 1971, most companies will have to bring emissions from their smokestacks within federal standards by 1976.

The report said an enormous amount of sulphur dioxide, one of the targets of anti-pollution laws, exists naturally in the atmosphere.

"Only about 12 million tons of SO₂ (sulphur dioxide) is added per year to the atmosphere by natural and man-made sources, such as industrial plant and internal combustion engines," the study said. It also noted that sulphur dioxide reacts with other chemicals in the air within 48 hours and quickly returns to earth. Thus "negligible quantities of the gas actually leave the area where western smelters are situated or cross the Rocky Mountains." The report was based on figures from 12 western smelters which represent 88 per cent of the nation's copper smelting capacity. The smelters are located in Montana, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.

It was compiled by David Swan, vice president of Kennecott Copper Corp. and chairman of the Environmental Matters Committee of the American Mining Congress.

Demos push works plan in House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Democratic leadership pushed today for a $2 billion program of public works projects for high unemployment areas, brushing aside Republican objections that the measure would feed the fires of inflation. House debate on the big "accelerated public works" bill opened even as a House Labor subcommittee met to try to get agreement on another jobs bill that would authorize $4 billion over five years to create public service work for the unemployed.

Both job creating measures were introduced earlier this year at news conferences called by Speaker Carl Albert who attacked Nixon administration policies which he said created a recession in the face of growing inflation.

Republicans, led by Rep. William H. Harsha, R-Ohio, ranking GOP member of the House Public Works Committee, claimed the public works projects bill would only feed inflation and would not provide the jobs Democrats claim it would because of expected delays in implementing the plan.

The projects measure would provide 80 per cent federal funding to build sewer and water treatment plants, hospitals and other public service structures.

House demands material

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House subcommittee has given the Columbia Broadcasting System 10 days to comply with a subpoena to give it the materials used to produce the controversial documentary, "The Selling of the Pentagon." CBS asked for more time to consider the request Tuesday at a meeting between lawyers for the network and the special subcommittee on investigations of the House Commerce Committee, chaired by Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va.

Pay boost studied for state workers

BOISE (UPI)—Gov. Cecil D. Andrus is considering pay raises for state employees in the low salary brackets, according to his administrative assistant, Edward V. Williams. Williams said Andrus met with the State Personnel Commission to discuss the various pay problems in the state. He said some state starting salaries are as low as $254 a month. He said the governor is considering raising this to $323. "It is contemplated to bring this lower end of the state employee pay scale up to poverty level," Williams said. The State Personnel Commission asked the legislature for $2.1 million for pay raises but the lawmakers did not appropriate the money. Should the governor call for pay increases, Williams said, these will be accompanied with a quota of reductions in the number of jobs in each agency. Such a reduction would be made by the "normal attrition" of employees quitting the jobs and not being replaced, he said.

Ski award to former T.F. man

TWIN FALLS — Garcia's Ski Instructor of the Year award for 1970-71, national recognition for outstanding records in ski school work, has been awarded Phil Jones, Salt Lake City, Utah, formerly of Twin Falls. Jones was nominated as the candidate of the Intermountain Ski Instructor's Association and selected winner from nominees from each of the other divisions of the United States. The award was announced Monday by Clark T. Parkinson, ISIA president and selection was made during the meeting of division presidents of the national organization in Vail, Colo. Jones is co-director of the ski school at Park City, Utah, and is the son of Claude F. Jones, owner of the Magic Mountain Ski Resort, and Lucile R. Jones, both Twin Falls. He is a graduate of Twin Falls High School. The Garcia Co., importers of ski equipment and clothing, sponsored the annual award.

Kidnap-bomb plot probe halt asked

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—A team of defense attorneys told a federal court Tuesday that a grand jury investigation into an alleged kidnap-bomb plot should be halted because the government used illegal methods to gather evidence.

fore Judge R. Dixon Herman to argue on a series of defense motions seeking to dismiss subpoenas against 23 new witnesses and asking that evidence obtained by illegal wiretaps be turned over to the defense.

indicted six anti-war activists, including the Rev. Phillip Berrigan, on conspiracy charges in an alleged plot to kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and blow up the heating systems of government buildings.

Addison Bowman, a member of the 13-man defense team, cited court decisions which he said had set a precedent that a grand jury may not seek additional evidence against persons once they were indicted.

He said even if the government sought additional information against other persons who may be indicted in the future, issuing the newest subpoenas constituted "misuse of the grand jury process."

The attorneys appeared be-

Base pay drive hike opens

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, opened a drive by House Democrats Tuesday to raise the hourly minimum wage from $1.60 to $2 for nine million workers as early as 1972.

Mills got the jump on Speaker Carl Albert by introducing legislation for the higher minimum effective Feb. 1 1972—a year earlier than previously proposed by House Democratic leaders.

The legislation went to the House Labor Committee which opened hearings on a higher federal wage floor under the chairmanship of subcommittee Chairman John E. Dent, D-Pa., who also has proposed a 1973 date for a $2.00 wage.

Mills gave two reasons for proposing an earlier date. He said it would give a boost to the economy by creating more spending power and cut back on the proposed federal costs of assisting low income working families under the welfare reform bill now being written in Mills' committee.

House Democratic leaders support a bill to raise the $1.60 wage to $1.80 in January and to $2.00 in 1973 for non agricultural workers. For farmworkers, the minimum would go from $1.30 to $1.50 on Aug. 1, 1971, and to $1.60 on Jan. 1972 under their plan.

Mills' plan would boost farm workers to $1.50 Feb. 1.

The administration has not proposed a higher minimum wage and opposed an increase last year when it was considered but not passed.

Three seek post on school board

WENDELL — A three-way race in Zone 1 for the post currently held by Dr. Richard Hagerman has developed for Wendell school patrons in the May 4 trustee election.

Seeking the post are Joe Leeper, owner of Leeper Mortuary; Lawrence Adams, operator of Wendell Implement Co.; and Jim Campbell, who is associated with his father, Everett Campbell, in the sheep business.

Also to be elected will be a trustee in Zone 5 where Frank Orth, incumbent, is running unopposed.

Science fair set Friday at Wendell

WENDELL — Mrs. Gay Peterson, science adviser, announces the annual Science fair is scheduled for 7 p.m. Friday at the Wendell High School gymnasium.

She said there will be about 100 projects entered. The Wendell School district and Wendell Chamber of Commerce are donating trophies for first, second, and third prize in each division, as well as a grand prize.

Nixon opposes any forgiveness bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration today strongly opposed any type of "forgiveness" legislation that would nullify the Supreme Court order requiring El Paso Natural Gas Co. to divert a competitor it acquired illegally for $360 million in 1957.

El Paso of Pacific Northwest, a pipeline company it acquired. The court's most recent order remanded the case to a federal court in Denver to work out details.

"A legislative overruling of the court's order would do serious injury to the public interest in effective competition in the natural gas industry and, more broadly, to the entire program of anti-trust law enforcement," Assistant Attorney General Richard W. McLaren declared.

McLaren said the Justice Department "strongly opposes the enactment of legislation which would relieve El Paso of the obligation of divesting properties acquired from Pacific Northwest and remedying the injury to competition resulting from the merger."

He said the department's proposed plan would require the setting up of a new company to receive the divested assets of the pipeline company it acquired.

El Paso delivered $578 million worth of gas to local distributors across the West last year, about $122 million of it through the pipeline acquired from Pacific Northwest.

Chairman Warren D. Magnuson, D-Wash., said government and business leaders from the Northwest had pleaded with him to introduce legislation nullifying the order on grounds it would lead to economic chaos and an energy supply crisis in the Northwest.

McLaren, the Justice Department's antitrust chief, made the administration's view known at Senate Commerce Committee hearings held in Seattle to assess the consumer impact of the divestiture order in the 14-year old case.

Fete career woman

Mrs. Fletcher will receive an engraved silver bread platter from Mrs. Daria Jean Egbert, president of the ISU Gamma Eta chapter of Phi Chi Theta, national professional fraternity for women students in business and economics.

In addition to local civic work, Mrs. Fletcher is serving her second term on the board of the Idaho State Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association and is currently a vice president.

Ted Smith honored by DeMolay

TWIN FALLS — The International Supreme Council, Order of DeMolay, has elected A. D. (Ted) Smith, Twin Falls, to receive one of its highest awards for service to the organization, it was announced today by Frank J. Kester, executive officer in Idaho.

Smith is the recipient of the Cross of Honor, presented to adult leaders who have rendered "conspicuous and meritorious service to a chapter or the order for more than three years."

Plans for hatchery suspended

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Soaring financial costs have forced a suspension of plans to build a hatchery on the Utah side of Bear Lake, John E. (Bud) Phelps, director of the Utah Division of Fish and Game, said today.

"We regret that we must drop this project," Phelps said, "but we had no other choice when our engineers revealed that the final cost would be more than double our original estimates."

The hatchery was planned originally to restore the native cutthroat population in Bear Lake. Water would have been pumped from the lake and circulated through ponds and troughs.

Phelps said money earmarked for Bear Lake will be used to continue development of the Mantua Hatchery. He said cutthroat eggs from Bear Lake stripping stations will be taken to Mantua for hatching and subsequent return to Bear Lake.

Wendell

Wendell starts cleanup drive

WENDELL — The Home Improvement Club of Wendell, with the cooperation of the Wendell City Council, is working on the annual city cleanup campaign, with work started April 19. The campaign will continue through May 1.

Clean-up officials are asking each resident to rake his yard and the alley which joins his property; then place the trash on their property next to the alley so it will be easy for the city crews to pick it up.

Club officials said they have been pleased with the fine cooperation they have received in the past and hope everyone will do his best to help make Wendell a more attractive place to live.

Mrs. Hugh Caldwell, chairman of the project, said in the past nine years the club had conducted the annual cleanup campaign, most of the alleys have been cleaned and open irrigation ditches have been covered.

She said there still are a few outhouses within the city limits and it is hoped they can be removed. She said many complaints have been received by club members about vacant lots being overgrown with weeds, many blind corners and too many dogs running at large.

Two get awards

HAILEY — Two Wood River High School seniors each received $100 scholarships after being voted outstanding school citizens by area residents, it was announced today.

A number of other students were also recognized during the event which drew a large crowd, including James Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Patterson, and Marilyn Stapleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Stapleton, all Hailey. Both are seniors.

Two sophomores were also applauded, including David Bergin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bergin, Bellevue, and Julie Dorr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dorr, Hailey.

The high school chorus, directed by Alan Bixby and accompanied by Barbara Vernon, sang a number and then Steve Rainey and Marcus Beresford, accompanied by Barbara Vernon, presented "Two Lost Souls."

Freshmen honored were Tim Scharff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scharff, and Elizabeth Richards, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Art Richards, all Hailey.

"Supper Time," by Bill Napel and Tony Jefferson, accompanied by Barbara Vernon, drew praise from the crowd, as did a medley entitled "Now," directed by Joan Bedford and accompanied by Bessie Bentley. Participating were Emily Packer, Laurie Dale, Kim Johnson, Gretchen Thompson, Lois Toner, Pat Stephans,

DEAR ABBY: A while back you had a letter in your column from a woman who had a baby boy, but she had wanted a girl so desperately that she couldn't love the baby no matter how hard she tried. She confessed she even had thoughts of killing herself and killing the baby.

I am in a similar situation. After four years of marriage and a baby boy, now 3, my husband and I decided on a trial separation. While we were apart, I lived with another man and became pregnant by him. While pregnant I went back to my husband, told him the truth, and now we are reunited and happy again. My husband said he would let me decide whether I wanted to keep the baby or adopt it out. I first decided to adopt it out, but at the very last minute I changed my mind and kept it.

The baby is 3 months old now. He is very pretty and advanced for his age, but I just can't love him. My husband treats him like his own true son, but I hold so much resentment against the boy I can't stand to hold him or feed him. Now I wish I had given him away while I still had the chance. I know he deserves to be wanted like my first son is, but I keep wishing he would die, so I wouldn't have to raise him.

You recommended an adoption agency for the other mother. Can you do the same for me? I live near Worcester, Mass. Thank you.—WISH I WERE DEAD

DEAR WISH: Yes. Please send me your name and address. It will be held in the strictest of confidence.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl. I have gone with boys since I was 12 and I have fooled around a lot but I am still a virgin (technically) and of that I am very sure.

I recently went to a clinic and the doctor there told me I had syphilis. I am being treated for it now. Abby, if you think this will help other girls who think they can't get syphilis unless they go all the way, I am telling you THEY CAN! I did. Maybe I should explain that I did some real heavy petting, and that is how I got it.—NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Your letter is well worth printing, and I thank you for wanting to share with others a lesson you learned the hard way.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I belong to a card club which meets once a month on Saturday night. We play bridge and then the hostess serves. We are thru with refreshments at about 1 a. m. which should be late enough for anyone, right? Not this group! The men sit down again and play cards for another two hours while the other three women gossip, and I fall asleep.

There are only four couples, so without us there wouldn't be any club. If I stay up until 3 a. m. I am no good the following day. It's my turn to have the party next. How can I get them to go home at a reasonable hour?—SLEEPY

DEAR SLEEPY: You can't, without making yourself very unpopular and inhospitable to boot. Obviously you're mixed up with a bunch of night owls, so since they're rarin' to go, let 'em, and YOU go to sleep.

Martha Eilers, Settles wed

KIMBERLY — Redeemer Lutheran Church, Kimberly, was the setting April 3 for the wedding of Martha Christine Eilers, daughter of Irvin Eilers, Kimberly, and Gordon D. Settles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Settles, North Bend, Neb. Rev. Keith Eilers, brother of the bride, Springfield, Ill., performed the ceremony before a setting of candelabra and baskets of white chrysanthemums.

The wedding sermon was given by Rev. Fredrick Huscher, uncle of the bridegroom, Seattle.

The bride designed and made her floor-length gown of white velvet and crepe. The design was one to resemble that of her mother's. She also wore a heart locket that her mother wore at her wedding. A lace mantilla, sprinkled with pearls, held her floor-length veil of lace. She carried a bouquet of roses.

Maid of honor was Darlene Eilers, Kimberly, sister of the bride. Vikki Koenig, Terra Bella, Calif., and Christine Eilers, Seattle, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids. Flower girl was Natalie Eilers, Kimberly, niece of the bride.

Candlelighters were Denise and Dallas Settles, North Bend, sister and brother of the bridegroom.

Organist was Hebert Einspahr, Twin Falls.

Keith Settles, North Bend, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Jerome Settles, Scribner, Neb., cousin of the bridegroom, and Steve Settles, North Bend, brother of the bridegroom, were groomsmen. Lewis Eilers, Kimberly, brother of the bride, and Larry Steifel were ushers. Ringbearer was Lynn Grant, Lincoln, Neb., nephew of the bride.

A reception was held in the church parlors after the ceremony. The serving table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Guest tables were centered with single lavender candles in lace candleholders, made by the bride's stepmother.

Carol Settles, Lincoln, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Bill Grant, Lincoln, sister of the bride, served coffee and Mrs. Louis Reinke, Twin Falls, aunt of the bride, served punch.

Mrs. Herb Eilers and Mrs. Fredrick Huscher, both Seattle, aunts of the bride and bridegroom, cut and served the cake. Others assisting were Mari Huscher, Nancy Eilers and Marion Reinke, opening gifts. Curtis and Chris Huscher carried gifts, with Heidi Huscher and Marlis Grant serving bridegroom's cakes.

The couple will reside in Kent, Wash. The bridegroom is stationed at Ft. Lewis with the Army. The bride will continue teaching in Seattle.

They plan to reside in the North Bend, Neb., area after Settles' discharge from the service, where the bridegroom will be employed by Weldon Industries, North Bend.

Pre-nuptial showers were given for the bride by her first and second grade class at

elna speaks out

WE INTRODUCED "STRETCH" STITCHES 18 YEARS AGO. NOW SOMEONE ELSE IS SINGING ABOUT THE "NEW" STRETCH STITCHES. DON'T LET ANYBODY KID YOU.

You can't believe everything you read. But, you can believe this. Those "new" stretch stitches may be new to some but not to Elna.

Elna introduced "stretch" stitches almost 20 years ago! In 1952 Elna introduced the multiple stitch zigzag. In 1960 the triple-reinforced stretch stitch. In 1963 the overlock stitch. And recently more stretch stitches have been added. Who's kidding whom?

Elna delivers seven different and practical stitches. Not just decorative patterns with reverse stitching action. If Elna counts all stitch patterns with reverse action then there is no question that "Elna out Stitches Them All!"

The Name Elna is your assurance of Swiss precision, quality and dependability.

Valley homemakers view fashion show

RUPERT — Members of the Minidoka County Extension Homemakers held their annual spring luncheon and fashion show at the Methodist Church, it was announced today.

A covered dish luncheon was held prior to the fashion show. Mrs. Margaret Merrill, who recently returned to the Rupert area from Afghanistan, told of the living conditions there. Mr. and Mrs. Merrill spent two years in Afghanistan, where he was a farm machinery adviser.

"The homes are mud huts, all water must be boiled for drinking, washing vegetables and for any use. Women are very seldom seen," Mrs. Merrill said. The girls are married as soon as they are mature, about 12-13 years. All females wear shrouds which cover them from head to foot, and are never seen by anyone but their husband and family," she said.

"There are no radios, no telephones, no TV and no place to go. Camels are the main mode of transportation."

Mrs. Ida Nielson was narrator for the fashion show. Models were Ella Mae Moller, Mrs. Stella Schofield, Janet Bennett, Helen Knoblauch and Connie Baughan. The latest in spring fashions were furnished by Ropers, Jane's, Hoggans, Hirsch Values and Penney's.

Modeling spring outfits which they had made were Mrs. Norma Charles, Trudy Charles, Teresa Charles, Genevieve Ryan, Nillie Reed, Verna Hanks, Lois Dawson, Rose Emerson, Agnes Kraus, Lucille Vaughan, Joann Nulenson, Joyce Rogers, Mrs. Sara Rauser, Mrs. Kate Sear, Mrs. Martha Saven and Mrs. Mary Fell.

Members of the Paul Planners Club were in charge of the program, with Mrs. Sear as chairman.

Rupert council denies 3 lot zoning changes

By JERRY HERRMANN
Times-News Writer
RUPERT — City council members debated two hours and 27 minutes Tuesday before voting to deny three zoning requests by Trevino Equipment Co. for a change of zoning from residential to commercial.

Residents of the surrounding area, all owners of residential property, opposed the zoning request, questioned the authority of the Rupert City Zoning Commission and asked the council members why they needed to take any action at all. The property on which Trevino operates his farm machinery business has been listed as residential zoning but Trevino asked for a commercial zone on three separate parcels in order to expand and improve the business.

On the first parcel, located north of the E. Rolla home, 104 E. Sixth St., the zoning commission recommended the council deny the requested change to commercial because use of adjacent lots and need for the change had not been clearly shown.

Councilman Grover Newman suggested the council take no action but was told by City Attorney William Goodman the council must either approve or deny the matter. Throughout discussion of all three zone requests, Newman insisted the council could let the matter stand by taking no action at all. During debates both Trevino's attorney and the city attorney admitted the matter would probably end in court regardless of the stand taken by the city.

Councilmen agreed in a vote on the first parcel to go along with the zoning commission's recommendation to deny the requested zone change.

On a second parcel where the equipment company has a commercial building located and which is on the corner of A and 6th Streets, the zoning commission has approved a commercial zoning because of existing use. This use, it was noted, had been established before the city of Rupert had a zoning ordinance.

Residents and council members discussed the fact if the residential zoning on the commercial property would not allow Trevino to expand his present buildings. They also pointed out should Trevino move to another location and a new owner take over the council could veto any other commercial use. If the zone were changed to commercial, however, it was explained any heavy commercial operation could move in.

Council members, by a vote of three to one voted to deny the commercial zone for this property as well, thus allowing the present owner to operate his business, but protecting the area against later commercialization. Councilman Charles Dairly voted against the motion of Councilman Newman to deny the change and others joined in supporting the motion.

On the third parcel, used by Trevino to store farm machinery and equipment, the zoning commission had recommended a zoning variance rather than zone change. Zoning officials had also stipulated a fence to hide the storage area from residential property in the vicinity.

Councilman Newman moved the denial on the third parcel and another three to one vote resulted in denial, leaving the property residential at the time. The mayor did not vote on the questions and Councilman Dairly continued to vote against denial.

Cassia cleaners named

By GEORGIA LAYTON
Times-News Writer
BURLEY — Coordinators for the various districts throughout Cassia County in the May 8 Johnny Horizon cleanup were named Tuesday night.

The planning meeting at the Cassia County courthouse drew a capacity crowd, with all parts of the county represented, according to John Clark, county commission chairman. He announced nine sites for sanitary landfills where the refuse is to be taken.

Coordinators who will work under the direction of Lewis Martindale, BLM official, are Bernard Bradshaw, Milner, and workers there will meet at his home May 8; Dick Fuqua, Declo, with workers to meet at the city park; Jim Chatburn, Albion city park; Elwood Rich, Jackson district, workers to meet at the substitution.

Dallan Elquist, Oakley city park; Don Carson, Malta, workers to meet at the REA parking lot; Jack Erickson, Almo school, and Lyle Durfee, Elba park.

Clark said the use of the landfills is in accord with state health laws. Bob Olson, Idaho Department of Health, said Idaho and other states are lax in disposing of sewage and waste products. New legislation puts the responsibility on county groups with the county to cooperate with the BLM, U. S. Forest Service and ASCS.

He displayed a large map prepared by the BLM showing the dumping grounds which have been in use. This includes 52 locations, all unauthorized; scattered over the county.

Merl Laraway, of the Idaho Highway Department, explained the department's policy regarding individuals or groups doing cleanup or beautification work along highways.

1st Richfield sewer backed

RICHFIELD — A public meeting to discuss the proposed Richfield sewer system was attended by over 160 Richfield residents Tuesday night at the high school.

At the conclusion of the meeting, most of the residents indicated support for the project. Steps in the procedure of developing the sewer system were outlined, including application for a federal grant and calling a bond election.

Mayor Clifford Ward officiated at the meeting. Elwood Werry, Shoshone, told of the "double cost" to his city, now installing a sewer, because of a delay in planning. Jack Straubhar, of Riedesel and Straubhar, Twin Falls, outlined details of the proposal, saying that the project would cost $245,000.

A representative of the Federal Housing Administration from Boise, Elwood Thueson, detailed assistance provided by his agency, indicating that the city might obtain the federal grant.

The cost to individual and placement of the main lines was discussed.

Mayor Ward told those present at the conclusion that some decision was essential in the near future. If the project is completed, a local industry, C. W. & C. J. Ward, Inc., will pay a portion of the cost.

600 scouts ready tests

TWIN FALLS — About 600 Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts from the South Side District of the Snake River Boy Scout Council are making plans for displays and demonstrations to be featured in the annual Scout-O-Rama Saturday in the Twin Falls High School gymnasium.

The event will be open to the public from 3 to 9 p.m. Saturday. Tickets are now on sale by Scouts and also will be available at the door during the event. Interested persons are invited to visit the various displays and booths and to remain for special demonstrations the Scouts have planned for the afternoon and evening.

Roger Marsh, chairman, said some of the highlights of this year's program will include the authentic war dances complete with tribal war paints of the Maori Indians. This will be presented by members of Troop 81, under the leadership of George Clawson, CSI instructor, who spent several years with the Maori tribes and has learned their customs and dress. He will apply war paint to each of the participating Scouts prior to the night's performance.

Another highlight will be the desert survival demonstration of Troop 62 while Troop 74 plans a drug display. Cub Scout Pack 42 will demonstrate American Heritage and Pack 100 will feature demonstrations on polishing rocks. Members of the Order of the Arrow will display Indian artifact collections.

Working with Marsh as assistant chairman will be Arnie Green. The two said Scouts will be working in the gymnasium beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday to prepare their booths and displays.

Funds from the event are used to purchase Scout uniforms and for other benefits for the Scouting program in South Side communities. Prizes will be awarded Scouts selling the most tickets. Communities in the South Side District include Twin Falls, Eden, Hazelton, Hunt, Murtaugh, Kimberly, Hansen and Filer.

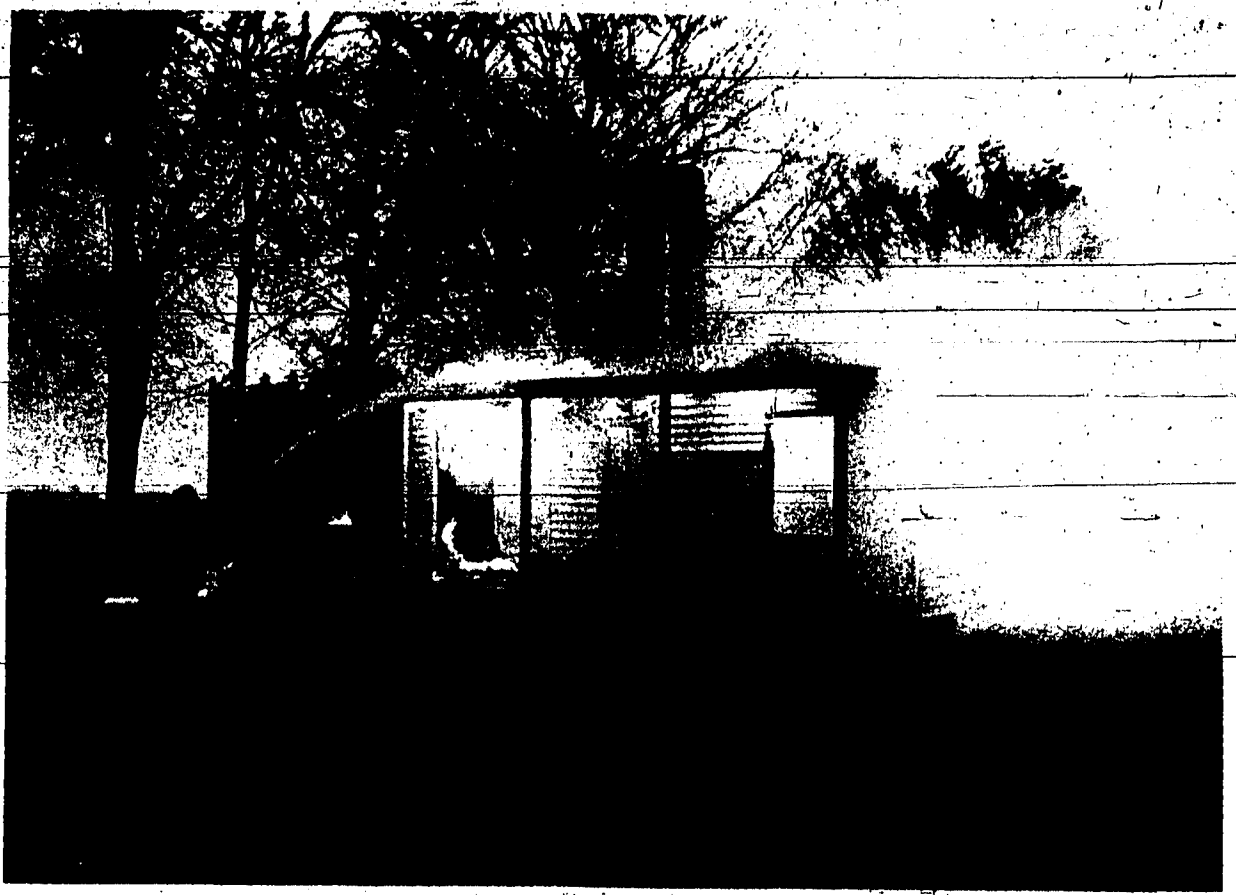

All seats for final ride taken

BURLEY — All 50 seats for the "Last Train Ride," sponsored by Cassia County Historical Society, Saturday from Minidoka to Boise and back are taken, Al Dawson, president of the historical society, said today.

Persons having reservations for the historical trip are asked to be at the Minidoka train station no later than 7:30 a.m. Saturday. They will arrive at 11:20 a.m. in Boise.

A bus tour to Idaho City will leave the Union Pacific Train depot as soon as the passengers can board the bus. All persons taking the bus tour are requested to bring a sack lunch. The tour group will stop at King's Table, Boise, for the evening meal prior to departure by train for the return trip home.

Interested persons wishing to take the bus tour who were unable to get train tickets may meet the group at the Boise railroad station, Dawson said.

BURN IT DOWN If you can't sell your house or give it away when you want to replace it, is the philosophy of Kemeth Beecher, Twin Falls. Beecher had this old house on East Kenneth Road, Twin Falls burned down by a contractor Tuesday night. The demolition was conducted under state regulations and was completely controlled, according to a Twin Falls Mutual Fire Department spokesman.

42-home project set for Gooding

By PEGGY CHU
Times-News Writer
GOODING — A housing development of 42 homes, to be financed by the Farmers Home Administration's low income program to upgrade living standards in small communities, is planned east of the Gooding city limits.

Andy Anderson, Boise, Idaho division manager for the American Pacific Corp., Seattle, met in special session with Gooding city councilmen Tuesday afternoon to present blueprints for the development, to be known as Wood River Estates.

He said the homes, which will cost about $16,500 each are particularly designed for persons with incomes under $8,000 per year. Construction can begin in 60 days, he said, providing the city will provide water and sewage facilities.

"The council is anxious to have this housing project," George Silva, city clerk, said today, but councilmen are trying to find ways of obtaining the $12,000 necessary to build a lift station which is needed to get the water to the site which is east of the Fink addition.

Anderson asked the council to bring the water and sewage lines to the edge of the subdivision and requested the city do the top surfacing on the 32-foot wide paved streets which will be laid in the sub-division.

Cecil Hobday, city attorney, suggested the council make no further commitments until he studies ordinances pertaining to the extension of city services. He said the city will notify Anderson of its decision by April 27.

"There is no question but that the city wants this new housing development, Silva said, "and the council will try somehow to get the money to provide the water and sewage facilities."

There are no funds in the budget for the construction of the lift station, Silva said, because the firm's plans were not known at the time the budget was adopted.

Councilmen plan to meet again soon to explore all possible methods of financing the extension of the utility services.

Calley affair said 'disaster'

MC CALL (UPI) — Valley County Prosecutor Ward Hower said Tuesday President Nixon's "expedient" intervention in the Calley affair indicates the country has suffered a "moral disaster without precedent."

In an address concluding the 71st annual Second District convention of the Idaho Federation of Women's Clubs, Hower said the climate of national opinion enabled the President to "drape the protective mantle of his office around Calley."

The Cascade lawyer, a former top aide to Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said the Vietnamese

War has left the American people "baffled and confused, our moral sensibilities numbed, our values corrupted and our judgment warped."

"Otherwise how could it be that an officer of the United States, convicted of crimes sickeningly similar to those for which German officers acting under orders were held criminally responsible before international tribunals, is singled out for special kindness from a President whose political sensitivity can scarcely be questioned?" he asked.

Hower said the time may come when it will be politically disqualifying to have held high office and allowed the Vietnam War, just as it is politically disqualifying now in Germany to have held office in the Nazi years.

Rupert man hurt in wreck

BURLEY — Larry H. Schneider, 20, Rupert, is listed in good condition at Cassia Memorial Hospital with injuries received in a one car accident this morning.

He was driving east on Main Street at 12:15 a.m. The vehicle reportedly jumped the curb, traveling 85 feet. It collided with a double railroad signal light, knocking the signal light post out of the ground, Burley police said.

The vehicle then rolled over and came to rest on its left side.

WEISER (UPI) — A 5-year-old boy died in Weiser Memorial Hospital Tuesday from head injuries he suffered when he fell from a horse while riding on his grandfather's ranch.

Eddy Curry, son of Mrs. Sandra Curry, fell from the horse and hit his head while at the ranch of his grandfather, Elton Tartar, at Mann Creek.

Minidoka men win honors

RUPERT — Jewell Craven, Paul and Pat O'Donnell, Rupert, were presented life memberships during special ceremonies at Rupert Elks Lodge.

Dick Groesbeck, exalted ruler, said today.

O'Donnell has been an Elk for 30 years. He joined the Burley Lodge in 1941 and transferred his membership to become a charter member of the Rupert Lodge when it was organized in 1961. He is semi-retired and has operated a farm south of Rupert for several years.

Both men have been active in their lodge work and served on various committees and participated in lodge functions.

Highway aides set conference

JEROME — Members of the Idaho Highway Traffic Safety Commission will meet with the Jerome Traffic Safety committee and driver's education personnel at 9 a.m. April 30 in the city hall to outline the commission's activities.

Jerome police chief C. H. Punney asked city councilmen to attend the session during the city council meeting Tuesday night.

Elwin Tinker, councilman, said water department has been turning the water into irrigation ditches and residents are urged to check with city hall to learn the irrigation schedule for their street. He said a trouble shooter will be on call at all times.

Street repair also is expected to start this week, Tinker said. Councilmen gave approval to Walt Thueson, scoutmaster for the LDS Church, for his troop to sell "safe and sane" fireworks at a booth at the Circle K Store on East Main in Jerome prior to July 4.

Walt Bentzinger, councilman, received approval to hire Marvin Standlee as volunteer fireman on a probation status. He now works for the Big-O tire store.

Councilman Marshall Eberhart received approval to get Bill Taylor on as a regular employe with the sewer department. His three-month probation status ends May 1. Councilman approved transfer of a beer license from Van Morley to the Featherton Clover Farm Market.

Buhl company shutdown ordered

When residents continued to complain of the odor problem after March 29, Judge Cunningham issued a show-cause order, requiring the firm to explain why they should not be cited for contempt of court for violating the March 19 injunction.

Tuesday's hearing developed into a trial of the case, despite the repeated objections of Ron Carter, Boise, attorney for Cascade Commodities.

Theodore Behm, Buhl, attorney for the plaintiffs, told Judge Cunningham he was ready to present witnesses to back up his contention that the plant was continuing to produce an "offensive" odor. Carter objected, saying that he was prepared to "argue" only from the affidavits, "referring to statements signed by the plaintiffs stating their objections."

"We are not prepared to argue from allegations," Carter argued, but in vain; he was overruled and the "trial" began.

Behm presented four witnesses, all living close to the rendering plant—Russell Lyon, Cecil Lyon, Wade Quigley and C. L. Cramer. Each testified that he lives close to the Cascade Commodities Corp. plant; that the odor had been a problem prior to and after March 29, and that the problem is continuing. Russell Lyon, speaking clearly and with suppressed anger at the situation, declared that the odor from the plant "ain't very comfortable" to breathe. "It has been 'pretty nauseating; worse than dead ewes and flesh burnin'."

Carter, in cross examination, attempted to refute the testimony of all four witnesses, asking each if he knew "what the plant did to produce the odor." All insisted that the odor was coming from the plant, and that there could be no mistake about the source of the odor.

Referring to the plant's supply of dead animals, Carter asked once, to the audible amusement of the audience, "Did you go down (to the plant) to smell them?" "They won't let us go to the plant to smell them," Russell Lyon replied—again to the amusement of those in the courtroom.

At one point, Carter told Judge Cunningham that he wanted to object "just for the record. I know I'll be overruled, but I want to make the objection anyway." He objected to the line of questioning taken by Behm, but Judge Cunningham replied that "Since you've made both the objection and the ruling, we'll go on."

In defense, Carter presented his brother, Gordon Carter, who identified himself as plant manager and part owner of the rendering plant. The witness detailed the ownership and operations of the facility at length. The process of rendering animals for "tallow" involves removing the water from the carcass by cooking. The water is given off as steam, which was formerly allowed to escape into the air without treatment.

After the court injunction was issued, Carter said, the firm installed a condenser to control the steam and flush it into a settling pond. The equipment was recommended by other firms and individuals acquainted with rendering operations, and "is in use all over the west with no complaints."

Following Carter's testimony, when both attorneys said they had no more evidence, Judge Cunningham issued his ruling, declaring that the previous injunction was apparently ineffective. He said that it was evident that there is a continuing odor problem at the plant, and, pending further presentation of evidence by the defendants, all rendering operations at the plant must cease. In addition, the plant is enjoined from keeping any dead animals "in, on, or about the premises" at any time, until the order is lifted.

The order is temporary, Judge Cunningham explained. The contempt-of-court citation is still pending, and the lawsuit pressed by the plaintiffs has not been heard. But until a final decision is issued, Cascade Commodities must halt all rendering.

Have question? Burley librarians can answer

By JERRY HERRMANN
Times-News Writer

BURLEY — A wealth of information on just about any subject imaginable awaits residents of Burley and surrounding area at the Burley Public Library at 1300 Miller Ave.

The library has been in its present building since 1959 and the number of books on its shelves have continued to go up each year.

"We add about 800 books a year to the library's collection," Mrs. Darlene Babbitt, assistant librarian, said.

She stated that 10 years after the library was built its collection had grown to 27,427 volumes. The total number of books checked out during 1969 was 38,763. Figures for 1970 were unavailable as Mrs. Lorena Warhke, head librarian, was injured in a car accident and not available.

Mrs. Babbitt pointed out that during this week, which is National Library Week, the Burley Public Library won't have an amnesty period for the books overdue.

"It just hasn't proven successful in the past," she said. However, this week is a good time for organizations or schools to plan tours of the library to see what the library has to offer them, she said.

Mrs. Babbitt also stated that children, especially school children, use the library the most. They use magazines and encyclopedias for aid in research or school projects, she said.

The senior citizens are also starting to use the library more. "What is needed now is for the rest of the people in the area to start using the library more. And this week is a good time to begin," she said.

A good magazine collection is to be found at the library. Mrs. Babbitt said they have all the periodicals listed in the periodical catalogue and keep a back file of magazines for five years.

During 1969, 600 magazines and pamphlets were checked out. Mrs. Babbitt said that the recent issues of the women's magazines are the only ones that can be checked out of the library.

Some of the encyclopedias in the library can be checked out for three days at a time but

Minidoka IEA OK's sanctions

RUPERT — The Rupert chapter of the Idaho Education Association favors the sanction proposed by the IEA against the state of Idaho. Minidoka County school trustees were told Monday Kest Severe, spokesman for the Minidoka County IEA chapter, reported on the recent IEA state meeting at the trustee meeting.

"We are quite concerned what the legislature didn't do for education. It is greatly underfunded in this state," he said.

Other points covered were: — Non-tenure teachers. The IEA non-tenure teachers should receive a letter from the local school board stating his standing.

— Holidays. The IEA wants all days that are declared legal holidays to be school holidays. Camden Meyer, superintendent, said this would mean students would have to go to school longer in the spring to make up for these days. "Is it worth it?" he asked.

— Legislative day. The IEA wants a day set aside when teachers can meet and attend the legislature one day during its session.

— Kindergarten. It endorsed the inclusion of kindergarten in the public school program and the expansion of school curriculum.

— Drivers' training. Wants the state to reinstate its full school trustees were told funding of the program.

— Fall conferences. Will sanction only subject matter conferences after 1972. It feels not enough teachers are attending fall conferences now.

— Funding. The IEA wants the state to hit towards 100 per cent funding of its education.

— Quality of education. It wants schools to be able to operate a quality education program until funds run out and then close doors.

— Substitutes. It wants all substitutes be certified personnel as required by law.

The board also was asked by the high school booster club for help in paying the cost of putting up a fence around the baseball park.

This was taken under advisement by the board.

The board also granted permission for new student body officers at the high school to attend a student government training school April 29 — May

The JETS were also granted a request for a field trip to Mountain Home Air Base.

Ruling given on drivers

BURLEY — A ruling on what age youths must be to drive trucks interstate was handed down recently, according to Rep. Steven Antone, R-Rupert. Antone said in an interview that a youth must be over 21 if he is driving a commercial truck interstate.

Youths driving farm trucks interstate must be over 18 under the new law, he said.

McClure asks aid on trains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, suggested Tuesday Congress consider giving the Railpax system additional funds to provide services to states such as Idaho which were left out of the original plan.

In a letter to the chairman of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, McClure said additional funds "should be supplied only with the stipulation that certain specified routes (including two in Idaho) be designated as mandatory routes."

The committee will begin hearings on the Railpax system Wednesday.

Improvement predicted in plight of farmer

By JERRY HERRMANN
Times-News Writer

RUPERT — The plight of American farmers is going to improve. At least this is what the United States Department of Agriculture anticipates.

The 41st Legislature during its regular session sent a joint memorial to President Nixon, president of the Senate, Idaho's members of Congress and to the secretary of the USDA. It was sponsored by Rep. Steven Antone, R-Rupert, and Rep. J. D. Claiborn, R-Twin Falls.

In this memorial the legislators asked the President, Congress and Secretary Hardin "to recognize the problems facing agriculture and undertake to provide solutions for the great disparity between the prices paid to the farmer and the prices paid by the consumer for agricultural products."

In reply, W. B. Sundquist, USDA deputy administrator, said, "We hope a combination of continued stronger markets and a decline in cost escalation due to inflation will ease the financial burden on our nation's farmers."

The Idaho legislators pointed out that "a majority of the world's population does not receive adequate foodstuffs to maintain a balanced diet."

"Many people are actually starving while the American farmer has been encouraged to increase production to help

4 seeking posts on Minidoka board

RUPERT — Four persons have taken out petitions for positions on the Minidoka County School District's School Board. The election is May 18.

A district spokesman said Tuesday afternoon that two petitions had been filed with the office by Fern Hunter for Zone 3, and Ferrell Catmull for Zone 3.

The other two petitions have been taken out by Sherril Stallings, present board member for Zone 5, and Bill Shaeffer for Zone 3.

It is anticipated that all of the present board members will take out petitions for another three year term on the board, the district spokesman said.

Each petition, according to the spokesman, must have five signatures of registered voters from within the zone they will represent.

Petitions can be picked up at the Central School Office at 633 Fremont, Rupert, during office hours. They must be returned to the office no later than 5 p.m. on April 30.

More snowmobiles registered in '71

BOISE (UPI) — More snowmobiles were registered by the end of February, 1971, than were registered in all of 1970, according to the motor vehicle division of the Department of Law Enforcement.

A total of 2,286 more privately owned vehicles have been registered in the first two months of 1971, resulting in an additional $11,520 in registration fees.

The money goes into the state aid and rescue fund, the motor vehicle fund and respective counties' snowmobile fund.

County shares will increase on May 19 when an amendment to the Snowmobile Act approved by the legislature hikes the ratio of disbursement from 50 to 80 per cent. At the same time, the search and rescue share will decrease from 40 to 10 per cent.

meet the demand of the world's population while still sustaining the health of the citizens at home.

"While the farmer has increased production, he has also paid higher prices for the products and services he has utilized including higher wages to labor, higher rates for transportation, and higher prices for equipment."

"The farmer is now receiving proportionately less for the products of his labor than he has received at any time in the last two decades, and many farm families are being forced to abandon their livelihood in agriculture."

"This plight of the farmer has not improved and has actually deteriorated despite the higher prices the consumer is paying for farm prices."

In his reply Sundquist said, "The farmer's share of the consumer's food dollar spent in grocery stores, after a sharp drop in late 1970, increased in recent months as some farm prices improved."

"The share may increase a little more as farm prices rise to a seasonal peak in the summer. Usually rising farm prices lead to a higher farmer's share."

"Part of the reason for a declining farm share in 1970 was the rapid rise in processing and marketing costs for labor and other items while some farm prices, particularly for livestock, were moving down."

"The Agricultural Act of 1970 represents an attempt to boost the level of farm income," Sundquist said, "while at the same time giving individual farmers more freedom in their individual farming operations."

He also stated that the low prices the farmers have received for potatoes, chickens, eggs and hogs was due to overproduction in these commodities.

However, he said, "Prices of most other livestock and wool also are down."

"The severe drop in hog prices in late 1970 combined with higher feed prices due to the corn blight and drought in some areas put many farmers in a special cost-price squeeze," he stated.

"There is evidence," Sundquist said, "that prices of commodities in most distress will improve later this year." This will come "through cutbacks in production on the part of the farmers," he said.

"In addition, expanding efforts have raised the value of farm exports to new all time high levels in recent months," Sundquist said.

He then said that the USDA is giving extensive support to the "combination of continued stronger markets and a decline in cost escalation due to inflation."

there always is at least one set of encyclopedias on hand for use by the library's users, she said.

She also said that family cards for residents outside the city limits of Burley cost $5. A library card for a resident of Burley costs 10 cents since they pay a library tax. Four books per member of the family can be taken out on the card, she said. City residents are also allowed to take out four books on their library card.

Also, if there is a book a user wants and the library doesn't have, it can be obtained for the user through the Idaho State Library loan system, she said.

The library also has a program set up with the Twin Falls Public Library which loans about 20 books to it for a few months. In this way the Burley Public Library is able to provide more books for its readers.

It also has a rental program set up for its new books. "Due to the demand for our new books there is no renewal allowed on them and 10 cents is charged for each book checked out," Mrs. Babbitt said.

She also pointed out that the Burley Public Library is a government depository library. This means that all governmental pamphlets printed are sent to the library.

At Christmas and Easter the library makes special books available to its users for a three day period.

Some of the other services available to the public at the library are:

— Copying, which costs 10 cents for each copy.

— Reference service. Questions any member of the public may have are answered by the library's staff.

Wild Horse Annie keeps up fight for mustang protection
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Wild Horse Annie" came back to Congress to continue a fight she thought she had won more than 10 years ago.
 Mrs. Velma B. Johnston, a Reno secretary who got her nick-name during a 20-year fight to save the West's free-roaming mustangs, said Monday a 1958 law she helped win had done little to help the wild animals.
 "They have become one of the most relentlessly and ruthlessly hunted of the animal species," Mrs. Johnston Monday told the House Public Lands Subcommittee headed by Rep. Walter S. Baring, D-Nev., a childhood schoolmate.
 It was Baring who helped her win passage of the 1959 law which made it illegal to use aircraft or motor vehicles to hunt down the horses and burros still roaming the 11 western states. That law, she said, was seldom enforced because of the "influence of vested interests" of local officials.
 Mrs. Johnston, backed by horse lovers throughout the country, now seeks legislation to require the federal government to protect, manage and control the estimated 17,000 mustangs remaining.
 The law Mrs. Johnston seeks would prohibit killing of the wild horses and burros, their use to make pet foods or fertilizer, and their capture for use as "bucking broncos" in rodeos.
 Supporters of the bill say the mustangs, descendants from horses introduced into North America by early Spanish explorers, should be preserved as a part of the nation's heritage and a symbol of the Old West.
 At least two Congressmen, including Chairman Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., of the parent House Interior Committee, made it clear they felt the legislation was unneeded — but neither Aspinall nor Rep. Sam Steiger, R-Ariz., showed any inclination to get into a verbal duel with Mrs. Johnston.
 Earlier, however, Aspinall said he saw nothing wrong with using old and sick horses for cat and dog food if they were killed as a way to control the size of the wild herds.
 "It just doesn't make sense that you wouldn't permit such useful disposal," he said.
 Steiger, joined by Rep. John P. Saylor, R-Pa., also opposed the proposed ban on use of wild horses in rodeos. The Arizona Congressman, a rancher himself, said he had seen horses subjected to greater abuse at horse shows in the nearby Virginia hunt-country than in rodeos.
 Saylor said being part of a rodeo was the "best life a horse could lead" because "they only work about 10 seconds a week" — the average length of time he said it took the bucking horse to dump his rider.
 Director Boyd L. Rasmussen of the Bureau of Land Management, which administers the public lands on which the horses roam, proposed an administration bill that would provide five new refuges for the horses and burros.
 Forest Service Chief Edward P. Cliff said no new legislation was needed to protect the horses when they roamed onto the national forest lands. But Cliff said he was not opposed to such legislation.

Research tool
 CHICKENS RAISED in ultra-clean cubicles are used as research tools in man's fight against some forms of cancer.

By DAVID HENDIN
 NEA Science Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(NEA)—Scientists in a private laboratory here are doing research on chickens and other small animals in order to gain a greater understanding of the causes—and possible cures of human cancer.

Current cancer treatments center around removing or killing cancerous tumors with surgery, drugs or radiation.

But, working on the theory that some or all human cancers may be caused by viruses, Dr. Vincent Groupe and his staff at Life Sciences Incorporated (LSI) are conducting experiments designed to overcome the cancer virus rather than merely eliminating its results—cancerous tumors.

Viruses are known to cause cancer in animals but there is still no proof that these, the tiniest of living particles, cause the disease in humans. It is thought that perhaps irritation by drugs or radiation, for example, may trigger dormant viruses and thus set off a reaction that ultimately results in cancerous growth.

Dr. Richard Donovan, LSI researcher, explains that since it is obviously impractical to do basic cancer experimentation in man, "you take the nearest biological model to man for a specific disease."

He explains that every vertebrate species has essentially the same diseases as man. "There are some differences, of course, but they are relatively minor," he says. "The object is to find an animal that has a disease that will mimic, as nearly as possible, a similar disease in man."

In recent weeks the United States Department of Agriculture has announced the licensing of a vaccine that protects chickens against the development of tumors associated with Marek's disease. Scientists here continue study of the disease and viruses associated with it in the hope of applying knowledge gained in this area to human cancer research.

'Clear cut' halt asked by McGee
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., called Tuesday for a two-year halt to what he called the "systematic ravishment" of publicly owned timberlands by the U.S. Forest Service.

The Wyoming Democrat, saying the practice had caused "havoc" in the forests, introduced legislation to ban the "clearcutting" of timber on public lands for two years.

Clearcutting—the leveling of all trees in an area as opposed to the selective logging of individual mature trees—was the subject of recent senate hearings at which most of some 90 witnesses opposed the practice.

The Forest Service and the forest products industry, which actually bids for and cuts the timber on public lands, defend clearcutting as an effective way of managing forests and of preparing logged land for reforestation.

Snake watershed 145% of normal
 BURLEY — The Upper Snake River watershed continues to be about 145 per cent of normal, with little snowmelt at this time, says Glenn Simmons, Burley, Minidoka Project superintendent.

Simmons said the American Falls Reservoir remains full and is passing the inflow of 23,000 cubic feet per second at this time. The recent precipitation has delayed water diversions for irrigation and Shoshone Falls continues to be a major attraction in Magic Valley.

Simmons noted the orderly evacuation of Jackson Lake and Palisades Reservoir is continuing to make needed flood space. Jackson Lake dam is discharging 4,000 cubic feet per second and held 578,000 acre feet of water Monday.

Palisades Reservoir continues to discharge 16,000 cubic feet per second and contained 238,000 acre feet of live storage Monday.

Simmons said both of these reservoirs will begin to fill early in May and will fill steadily as the reservoir discharges are controlled to minimize flood damage in the valleys along the Snake River.

First-quarter blitz carries Utah into 3-1 edge over Indiana

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Willie Wise triggered a first-quarter blitz to lead the Utah Stars to a 126-99 win over the Indiana Pacers Tuesday night and a 3-1 lead in their best-of-seven series for the ABA's

Petrie praises selection

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Geoff Petrie, the National Basketball Association's co-ookie of the year with Dave Cowens of Boston, said Tuesday he believes the University of Oregon made a fine choice in picking Dick Harter of Pennsylvania as its head coach.

Harter resigned at Pennsylvania Tuesday to take over the Oregon job from Steve Belko, who is becoming an assistant athletic director at UO.

"He is a real smart coach and a great recruiter," Petrie told the Oregon Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association. Petrie, who had a 24.8 scoring average with the Portland Trail Blazers and was the seventh rookie in NBA history to score more than 2,000 points, played his college ball at Princeton.

He said Pennsylvania's basketball fortunes were "really down" when Harter, 39, took over five years ago. Petrie said he believed Harter would try to recruit for Oregon the players he has been trying to get for Pennsylvania.

Petrie's selection with Cowens as the NBA co-ookie was announced Tuesday. Petrie, who plans to help run a basketball clinic at nearby Forest Grove this summer, called the entire Blazer season a "great thrill," but added he believes, "the best years are ahead."

Petrie said Portland's number one draft pick, Sidney Wicks of UCLA should be a "great player."

"He fills the needs for a faster, high scoring forward," he said. He said he believed Wicks would help bring out the best in the other players.

O'Conner wins in 5th round

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—Middleweight Pat O'Conner of Rochester, Minn., knocked out Ray Christian in 2:41 of the fifth round of a scheduled eight-round fight here Tuesday night.

O'Conner was in charge throughout the fight and decked Christian in the fifth with a solid right hook. Christian got up at the eight count, but O'Conner again put him down with solid right and left hooks for the knockout.

Christian, originally from Winnipeg, Man., but now fights out of Chicago, defeated O'Conner when the two met before.

Western Division championship. Wise scored 11 of the Stars' first 20 points as they opened a 33-13 lead over the defending ABA champions and continued to pour it on before 12,761 cheering partisans.

The Pacers, outbounded and out-hustled from start to finish, were never able to mount a serious challenge in dropping their third in a row in the playoff series.

Utah outscored the Pacers 19-3 in a first-quarter stretch on the shooting of Wise and Zelmio Beaty to gain a 26-9 lead with five minutes remaining.

Beaty who scored eight straight points in the opening minutes of the second period to widen Utah's lead to 36-9, was Utah's top scorer with 22. Wise finished with 19, all but four coming in the decisive opening half.

Indiana now must win three in a row to save the series, which now shifts back to Anderson, Ind. for a Thursday night game. A sixth game, if necessary, would be played in Salt Lake Saturday night.

Merv Jackson and Glen Combs scored 17 points apiece as the underdog Stars moved to within one game of clinching the series.

Bill Keller, Indiana's 5-10 mite mite guard, led the Pacers with 20 points while Mel Daniels and Roger Brown added only 12 apiece. Rick Mount, in a reserve role, had 17.

Reds 3, Mets 2

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Johnny Bench's two-run homer, his fifth of the season, with two out in the eighth inning off Danny Frisella gave the Cincinnati Reds a 3-2 victory Tuesday night over the New York Mets.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Dick Harter, 39, who capped a five-year term as University of Pennsylvania basketball coach by leading the Quakers into the NCAA Eastern Regional Finals last March, resigned Tuesday to accept the head coaching job at the University of Oregon.

Harter, a member of Penn's stellar 1952-53 quintet, compiled an 88-44 record in five seasons as head coach at his alma mater. The resignation of Harter was announced by Penn Athletic Director Fred Shabel after a lengthy conference between the two men. Harter's resignation had been rumored since he visited the Eugene, Ore., campus a few weeks ago.

Shabel lauded Harter for a "remarkable career" at Penn and described him as an "excellent choice for Oregon." He congratulated Harter on the Webfoots, who were put in the market for the coach when Steve Belko resigned after a 15-year tenure.

Harter's departure came on the heels of one of Penn's finest campaigns on the basketball floor. The Quakers went unbeaten through 26 games last season, sweeping local honors and rolling into the NCAA eastern finals where they were derailed by the Villanova Wildcats, their hometown rivals.

Shabel termed Harter a "talented coach" and praised him for making "excellent use of the assets" of his players.

Shoshone and Twin Falls favored in Friday meets

The Shoshone Indians rank as slight favorites to win the Big Five Conference track and field title at Glens Ferry Friday afternoon while the Twin Falls Bruins are prohibitive favorites to win another Hank Powers invitational at Bruin Stadium. Meanwhile, the Friday track fare offers invitationals at Murtaugh and Gooding State. Shoshone, which has come up with good depth this year, has a couple of pitfalls that could hurt the Indians a lot. But the Indians have good depth in the distance events. The Big Five meet is the first conference title this year and next weekend the Southern Idaho Conference divisions Big Six and Magic Valley conferences. The Little Five meet isn't a real clear picture since the injury to Kimberly's Rod Rudolph is an unknown factor.

If Rudolph can go, he should win the quarter-mile, make the Bulldog 880-yard relay team tough and get second or third in the 220-yard dash. Shoshone will need its usual display of strength in the distances particularly with Wendell's Kirk Dennis back to make Lowe's possibility of a double hurdle-winner appear slim.

Both Glens Ferry and Wendell have fine individuals and those teams will come more to the fore when the business of eliminations during district and regional competition whittle down to depth of the other clubs. Dennis looms as a four-first

Distance power, Quesnell help Wolverines win meet

HAILEY—The Wood River Wolverines swept the half mile and mile and took the top three places out of the two-mile Tuesday afternoon to claim a four-way track victory.

The Wolverines scored 84½ points while Filer had 44, Gooding 25½ and Carey 21.

Quesnell was Wood River's only double winner, taking the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Gooding's Gary Gorrell accounted for half of his team's points by winning the shotput and high jump and placing second in the discus.

Filer's Jim Daniels also won twice, the long jump at 19-3½ and the low hurdles in 21.8.

Dennis Rush of Carey led the Panthers with a first in the discus at a solid 143-4, putting more emphasis on the A-3 district meet in two weeks, and placing second in the shotput and low hurdles.

Canadiens coast to first win

MONTREAL (UPI)—Jacques Lemaire fired a three-goal hat trick and Marc Tardif added two goals Tuesday night as the Montreal Canadiens took the first game of their best of seven National Hockey League semifinal playoff with a victory over the Minnesota North Stars.

Lemaire equalled a playoff record shared by four other players when he scored all his goals in the same period—the second. The Canadiens had tied the score on Tardif's 40-footer at 5:48 of the middle session and it took Lemaire just eight minutes to add the others. Henri Richard moved North Stars' netminder Gump Worsley out of position before setting up Lemaire's first goal at 11:07. Lemaire scored again on a 50-foot shot when Danny Grant was in the penalty box as the Canadiens took advantage of the extra man attack.

The Montreal centerman then upped the lead to 4-1 when he tipped in Frank Mahovlich's shot at 18:57 for the first three-goal performance of his playoff career.

Tardif, a rookie playing in his first Stanley Cup playoff, was set up by defenseman J.C. Tremblay for his second goal of the game at 7:28 of the third period. Tremblay, who had four assists in the contest, fired a perfect pass onto Tardif's stick. Guy Lapointe added a power-play goal for the Canadiens in the final period and Mahovlich collected Montreal's final goal in the closing minutes.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Goalie Tony Esposito earned the second shutout of Stanley Cup Playoffs Tuesday night, stopping 32 shots by the New York Rangers to lead the Chicago Black Hawks to a 3-0 triumph to knot their best-of-seven playoff series at one win apiece. The victory insured a fifth game in the series in Chicago next Tuesday night as the teams will play Thursday and Sunday in New York. The Hawks, who were beaten by the Rangers 2-1 in overtime Sunday, controlled the Tuesday contest from the start.

Chicago gains tie with N.Y.

Participating in the Twin Falls meet will be Filer, Buhl, Minico, Burley and Jerome.

Buhl wins tight golf match

The Buhl Indians, led by Hopkins eight-over par 76, outlasted Jerome, Kimberly and Gooding to win a tight seven-way Class B golf match over the Twin Falls municipal course Tuesday afternoon.

Buhl nipped Jerome, defending class B champions, 320 to 321 while Kimberly has 323 and Gooding 327. Filer was fifth with 349, followed by Glens Ferry at 358 and Valley with 387.

Frosh John Irwin of Kimberly and Ron Belliston of Glens Ferry shared the medalist honors with 75s while Mike Mickes, Gooding, who won a pair of medal pins over the weekend, shared runner-up honors with Hopkins. Baker and Lowe of Jerome led the Tigers to within one shot with 77 and 79, respectively.

Tropical park may be closed

MIAMI (UPI)—After nearly 40 years, Tropical Park Race Track looks as if it is beginning to die.

W. L. McKnight bought 155 of the Miami track's 200 shares Tuesday and said: "I'd prefer to run the winter dates at Calder Race Course."

McKnight is a partner in the Steve Calder plant which opens for the first time next month, and as retired chairman of the board of Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing, "it's no secret he would like to see the Calder track's synthetic surface become a success.

McKnight said he will wait and see how the first Calder meet goes before he decides what to do about the Tropical dates in November, December, and January.

If the dates are moved to the new Calder track, it is likely Tropical will be sold for its real estate value, estimated at about $14 million.

Calder said in the event Tropical's dates are run at his track, he thinks his plant can handle the greater number of customers expected. He said Calder will seat 7,500 and can handle more than 14,000 persons.

Some horsemen, however, have indicated they are not excited about running their thoroughbreds on the artificial surface at the north Bude County track.

An agent of McKnight was the only bidder for the 155 shares and it is believed McKnight will go after the remaining 45 shares.

The shares had been collateral on various loans to the late Saul Silberman, who was the owner of Tropical. Nobody knows just how much the track—which opened Dec. 26, 1931—is in debt.

Stapleton gets post at Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—Iowa State Athletic Director Clay Stapleton Tuesday was named to that post at Florida State with a five-year, $26,000-a-year contract.

Florida State President Stanley Marshall announced the 49-year-old Stapleton had accepted the position.

Stapleton, athletic director at Iowa State since 1966, steps into the shoes of Vaughn Mancha who resigned.

Mancha has requested reassignment within the university. Marshall said the new athletic director, a former football coach at Iowa State, will report to Tallahassee "within a couple of days" and start work immediately.

"Clay Stapleton will give our department of intercollegiate athletics the strong, stable leadership it must have," Marshall said. "His record at Iowa State is one of the great success stories in intercollegiate athletics in the country."

A native of Jenkins, Ky., Stapleton said from Ames, Iowa: "I am extremely pleased to join what I consider one of the great athletic staffs in the nation."

Wickham's hit lets T.F. edge Minico

Catcher Kent Wickham bounced a single up the middle to score Perry Hanchey from second base in the last of the seventh inning to lift the Twin Falls Bruins past the Minico Spartans 1-0 Tuesday afternoon.

The run decided a pitching duel between Twin Falls junior Kevin Nelson and Minico ace John Fennell.

Hanchey started out the seventh inning by living on an error, moved up to second on a sacrifice by cousin Tyke Hanchey and came across on Wickham's hit.

Fennell, a 6-5 fireballer, was in trouble throughout the last five innings but used his hummer to keep Twin Falls of the scoreboard. Fennell allowed five hits—two of the infield variety—but hit two batters and his infield committed three errors.

Fennell was at his best in the third inning when Twin Falls loaded the bases on an error, single and hit batsman with only one away. But the Minico righthander got out of that trouble.

Nelson, a southpaw, had two innings of work to keep the Spartans from scoring.

Milwaukee figures its bench could be key in playoff with Baltimore

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Five men will start for both the Baltimore Orioles and the Milwaukee Bucks when the two teams square off tonight for the first game of their best-of-seven series to determine the championship of the National Basketball Association.

But as all good fans know there is an important aspect to any championship team that is not found among the starting five. That part of the team is called the bench.

Milwaukee Bucks Coach Larry Costello is very aware of this fact and he says that the key to Milwaukee's beating Baltimore four out of the seven games is the bench.

"We've got to get help from our bench if we're going to make it," Costello said.

The help Milwaukee is going to have to get must come from three men—Dick Cunningham, Lucius Allen and Bob Boozer. Cunningham and Allen have played admirably all season spelling Lew Alcindor or, in Allen's case, either Oscar Robertson or Jon McGlocklin.

Boozer, on the other hand, has had his ups and downs. He has been good and not so good when he has filled in for the two Milwaukee forwards, Bob Dandridge or Greg Smith.

But what has given Costello and all Milwaukee fans hope has been the play of the 33-year-old Boozer in the playoffs.

In the fourth game of the Milwaukee-Los Angeles series, Boozer scored 16 points on 8 baskets in 10 attempts, pulled in 7 rebounds and blocked five shots. He followed that performance with 11 points and 9 rebounds in the final game against the Lakers here.

Boozer could play a significant role in the Bucks' quest for a championship since Baltimore's front line matches up pretty well with Milwaukee's.

At center Wes Unseld has been effective in the past against Alcindor. Especially in Lew's rookie year, Unseld occasionally gave him fits. This year, Unseld has been strong on the boards pulling down an average of almost 19 a game during the playoffs while averaging 12.9 points.

Alcindor has averaged 28.4 points during the playoffs and has pulled down 16.4 rebounds per game.

John Tresvant will play opposite Smith and Smith has a slight edge in scoring—12.2 points in the playoffs to 8.6 points for Tresvant. Smith also has a slight edge in playoff rebounding 8.7 to 7.7.

At the other forward, Baltimore's Jack Marin has the edge over Dandridge. Marin has averaged 21.2 points per game in the playoffs to Dandridge's 18.8. Dandridge has pulled down 9.5 rebounds per game to 9.9 for Marin.

The backup man at forward for Baltimore is Gus Johnson, who has been hobbled by trouble with his 32-year-old knees.

In the backcourt Earl Monroe averaged 23.7 points per game to lead the Baltimore attack and Fred Carter averaged 14.4. Kevin Loughery, the third Bull guard has also averaged 14.4.

McGlocklin hit at a 16.5 clip during the playoffs for Milwaukee and Robertson at a 16.2 pace. Allen averaged 7.2 per game.

Statistically both teams seem pretty even, but in championship playoffs those statistics very often don't mean a thing. It may very well come down to which man can come off the bench and do the job. Both the Orioles and the Bucks have good men sitting on the bench, but the nod has to go to Milwaukee.

Final derby test draws huge field

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI)—So many horsemen want to enter their three-year-olds in the last major test before the Kentucky Derby that Thursday's $25,000-added Blue Grass Stakes may have to be run in two divisions.

Net boss defends actions

DALLAS (UPI)—Al Hill Jr., president of World Championship Tennis, regards his organization as a boon to the sport in general and not a money-hungry ogre which some critics claim could destroy tournament tennis.

World Championship Tennis (WCT), whose principal backer is wealthy sportsman Lamar Hunt, controls 32 of the top players in the world. WCT also operates a $1 million, 20-event tournament tour of its own to which these 32 players are committed.

But for the other 30 weeks of the year these same "name" stars, such as Rod Laver, John Newcombe, Roy Emerson, Ken Rosewall, Tony Roche, Arthur Ashe and Cliff Drysdale, are available to compete in non-WCT tournaments, subject to arrangements with the WCT.

Hill's dander was aroused by recent charges by Houston tennis pro Harry Parten that WCT's mode of operation had impaired the quality of the field for River Oaks Country Club's 37th annual tournament.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Frank Howard scored three runs and hit his first homer at Yankee Stadium since 1967 Tuesday to spark the Washington Senators to a 7-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

Howard walked and scored in the first inning, singled and scored in the third and lined his first homer of the season into the right-centerfield bleachers in the fourth to help lefthander Jim Sheltenback to his first triumph of the season. Howard, who has hit more than 40 homers in each of the past three seasons, had not homered in Yankee Stadium since Sept. 3, 1967.

Boston 4, Indians 1
BOSTON (UPI)—Two run-fifth inning doubles by winning pitcher Gary Peters and Reggie Smith Tuesday powered the Boston Red Sox to a 4-1 victory over Cleveland and broke a four-game Indian hold on Boston.

Peters, driven out an inning after delivering his clutch hit, was boosting his record to 2-1. Ken Tatum took over to pitch 3 1-3 innings of hitless relief.

Sox 7, Brewers 1
MILWAUKEE (UPI)—Right-hander Bart Johnson had to struggle on the mound in the early innings, but he drove home three runs with his hitting Tuesday to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 7-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Johnson, who everted his record at 2-2, doubled in the three run second inning for Chicago and with two men on and sent home another runner in the eighth with a ground-out.

Johnson was helped greatly by the Brewers' fielding which tied a team record with four errors, all of them figuring in the scoring.

The Brewers only run came on Danny Walton's second homer of the season in the sixth inning.

Twins 5, Royals 4
MINNEAPOLIS, St. Paul (UPI)—Reliever Ron Perranoski came to save Jim Perry's second win of the year and put out a Kansas City ninth inning rally as the Minnesota Twins eked out a 5-4 win Tuesday over the Kansas City Royals.

Perranoski came on with nobody out after Perry gave up two singles and a double, then struck out pinchhitter Carl Taylor before giving up a double to catcher Jerry May and walking Dennis Paepke. But he forced Fred Patek to hit into a double play to end the three run rally.

The victory moved Oakland into first place in the Western division by a game over the Angels.

The A's piled up three of their runs in the fourth inning off starter Tom Murphy. Reggie Jackson led off the inning with a double and was tripled home by Don Mincher before Bando hit his first homer.

Murphy left the game after five innings to take the loss, his second against one win.

Briton hews stoneware mart corner

NEW YORK (UPI)—Lionel Simons, Cincinnati money spinner, reads like a character out of Dickens with a happy American ending.

Son of a poor London carpenter, Simons today, at 36, is a millionaire several times over. Ambitious and smart as a youngster, attended the Lonsom School of Economics and then, with the help of his wife, Columbia University Business School, New York.

Simons' is heir apparent, according to London sources, to one of Britain's highest family businesses—Denbyware Ltd., a world leader in tableware, especially stoneware, a big seller among young American families.

Simons' key to the Denbyware family kingdom, for 160 years prior to 1970 known as Joseph Bourne and Son, was his ability to wed England's cultural tradition to a recent switch to practicality in the U.S. Keystone—to it was his belief in the salability of fine, handmade stoneware, which is relatively indestructible. Stoneware had a market of less than $1 million about 10 years ago. Today it is a $50 million retail business in the U.S., and Simons has a big chunk of that action.

Sound grounding in economics and an instinct, backed by hundreds of research projects, convinced Simons that the U.S. family was ready for a change from glamorous items such as Wedgwood to a quality item with practicality. In 1961, he set up the Milnor Company as a distributing army of Denbyware in the U.S.

That first year Milnor sold only $130,000 worth. Last year it sold $3 million in stoneware, 64 times as much. Simons told UPI he projects sales of $8 million five years from now.

Denbyware Ltd., which has its potteries sitting on large stoneware clay deposits near Manchester, England, and thus cuts costs on transportation, had an impressive $1.7 million in profits in 1970. They came on sales of $8 million, half of which Simons and his Milnor operation generated through warehouse and shipping facilities in Cincinnati, Long Beach, Calif., Belleville, N.J., and recently, Dallas.

Denbyware couldn't ignore such a sales tiger and, on March 12, 1970, merged Simons into the family. Actually, it gave him stockholder control by trading 1.06 million shares of stock for Milnor which he still operates. Simons added another 140,000 shares, giving him 28.8 per cent of all outstanding stock, the largest single block.

At the time of the merger, Simons' shares were worth $4.5 million. That has shrunk to $3 million in recent months because of the collapse of Rolls-Royce which had a joint venture with Denbyware in the production of ceramic cores for aero-engines.

Norman Wood, head of Denbyware as had been his father before him, admits his company paid such a price for Milnor to get Simons' marketing expertise. That, in essence, was Simons' sensitivity to the fine line today's U.S. housewife draws between quality and cost.

Denbyware retails on average for about $20 for a five piece place setting. Doulton and other exotic and more fragile English tableware go for from $30 to 200 for such a setting.

Time for living

By ROGERS FRANKLIN

If you spotted a magazine article with the provocative title, "Why Get Married?", wouldn't you turn to it at once? I did, and discovered it's by one of my favorite writers, gerontologist Helen Alpert, who has the gift of conveying thoughts in lively style.

She discusses, I see, several forceful points. In leading position is the sociological fact that all of us in the midyears and up have come to represent no longer the stodgy stereotypes of past days, but a brand-new generation of "independents" endowed with drive and decision.

One such decision is whether or not we should marry or remarry. You probably remember this was a most painful decision for older people following the Social Security Act of 1935 which stipulated that a widow who remarries loses her social security payments. The result gave rise to all sorts of mockery when otherwise fine people were compelled to "live in sin." The law was amended when Congress realized the moral and economic cruelties it imposed.

You know, too about the same strictures by the Veterans Administration which cut off vets' widows from the compensation rolls when they remarried. Also too belatedly, and actually not until January of this year, did the VA relax this heartlessness, and allow widows to regain their place on the compensation rolls if their remarriage ends in divorce or death.

To put it in a nutshell, years ago we had to search our souls to decide whether or not marriage could be personally suitable. Now that we've come of age, so to speak, as the first generation of older people in this country to achieve a measure of financial and emotional independence, many of us, Miss Alpert indicates, think twice before looking for the nearest clergyman and nuptials.

One woman interviewed for the article says that she and her gentleman friend, also in his sixties, have always led such separate lives with separate friends and interests that marriage would "intrude" too many changes and too much readjustment.

Should they consider marriage, however, the first thing they'd do would be not to consult their children. In fact, retiree surveys go even further: they advise avoiding any such discussion with the children.

Shy? The two chief reasons are that children rarely understand an older person's needs; and in turn, they may feel deep guilt that the mother or father had to go outside the family circle to find happiness.

Also impressive is the national background we have today that in itself is a strong force in any decision we make.

Five new characteristics make the new scene.

1. As a population of 20 million, we're a mighty number in this nation;

2. Our size, if nothing else, has given us a sense of group identity so unmistakable that professional sociologists are becoming highly interested in everything we do;

3. Today's able-bodied man or woman rarely ends up, as in old days, in the home of a son or daughter;

4. Our family cycle has so accelerated that by the time the children are grown, although we used to be almost in our sixties before we faced "the empty nest," now we're often in our late forties with a lifetime of living still ahead.

5. And finally, all this earlier ability to live our own life has also initiated our ability to turn to active learning, productive hobbies, and any special interest we seek.

There's lots more of interest. For a copy of "Why Get Married?" send 50 cents to Harvest Years Publishing Co., Dept. 2, 104 E. 40th St., New York, N.Y. 10016.

You may say that you think marriage is the best special interest anybody could want. Maybe it's true, maybe not. What's good to know is that we have a real power of decision on this. And that's the way it ought to be.
