Germany drops dollar support

LONDON (UPI)—West Germany's Federal Bank pulled the props out from under the ailing U.S. dollar today to let the mark "float" upward in what would amount to devaluation of the dollar.

With the world money market once again in turmoil the central banks of Switzerland, Austria, Belgium and the Netherlands also withdrew support for the dollar.

The crisis was touched off when speculators began panicky selling of dollars in belief the mark and other hard currencies would increase in value and the dollar would fall.

West Germany bought an estimated $1.2 billion Tuesday in an effort to shore up the dollar but it stopped today and gold and money markets were closed "until further notice" to give a breathing space.

The Bank of England and the Bank of France continued buying dollars today but French officials said "we are overwhelmed" with the inflow of dollars. They refused to say whether the Bank of France would withdraw from the dollar market later.

U.S. Treasury Secretary John R. Connally said in Washington Tuesday the U.S. government intends to keep the dollar at its current exchange rate, but the actions by Germany, Switzerland, Austria, Belgium and Holland would make this more difficult.

Tied in with the current crisis is the fact that the price of gold is artificially pegged by the United States at $35 an ounce.

The United States has been under pressure since the last currency crisis 18 months ago to change this rate but has refused since it would mean devaluation of the dollar.

The West German government was under mounting pressure from its own financial experts to revalue the mark upwards in terms of the dollar. The last such revaluation was in October, 1969, when a reluctant Bonn government was forced to push the mark from four to the dollar to 3.35 to the dollar.

Timber-r-r-r Ecoactivist saws down billboards

KETCHUM — Unidentified "eco-activists," apparently protesting "visual pollution" of the landscape by billboards, are mounting an attack on roadside advertising signs in the Ketchum area.

Blaine County Sheriff Orville Drexler said damage estimated at more than $7,000 has been caused by vandals who have severed supports of several large advertising signs along U.S. Highway 93 south of Ketchum. Two of the signs had electrical hookups which were also destroyed, according to a representative of the owner, Cosgriff Outdoor Advertising Co. Inc.

"The sheriff's office said today that several more signs, including some on private property, were cut down last night in the Hidden Hollow area. Deputies are investigating, but no clues have been reported to the vandals' identity.

Many of the signs along the highway are, in effect, illegal.

BILLBOARDS ALONG Highway 93 south of Ketchum are the target of vandals who are trimming the landscape by felling the signs, cutting their supports with a saw. About half a dozen were found chopped down Tuesday morning, and more destruction was reported to the Blaine County sheriff's office.

Antiwar protest finished

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Antiwar protesters climaxed 17 days of demonstrations in Washington with a rally at the U.S. capitol today, demanding that Congress act immediately to end the conflict in Vietnam.

Participants acknowledged they were running out of steam and leaders of the prolonged protest said they had no organized demonstration plans beyond today.

Prior to a midafternoon mass march to Capitol Hill, the demonstrators rallied on the Mall which stretches from the Capitol to the Lincoln Memorial, for an open air "people's press conference."

Strong police contingents were on hand to keep the growing crowd under control.

The House and Senate wings of the Capitol were kept open through the morning and tourists were out in force.

Police Tuesday swept up about 2,000 protesters, most of them participants in a rally at the headquarters of the Justice Department and the FBI.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell, puffing his pipe, watched from his balcony as police, at times using billy clubs, herded demonstrators into buses for rides to jails.

The Tuesday arrests followed Monday's unsuccessful attempt by demonstrators to tie up traffic in the District of Columbia and shut down operations of the government.

Police, backed by Army troops and Marines, made 7,000 arrests Monday.

About 700 of the 7,000 arrested Monday remained in custody early today. Eight judges worked through the night in district courts to process the 2,000 taken into custody Tuesday.

"There were bitter criticisms about the way authorities had handled the demonstrations.

Carcass factory appeals

BOISE (UPI) — A Twin Falls County meat rendering company asked the supreme court Tuesday for a writ of review in an odor abatement case and a writ of prohibition against a district judge and 28 private citizens.

Cascade Commodities Corporation, Carler Packing Company and Melvin W. Carter, applied to the high court for a temporary restraining order issued last month by District Judge James M. Cunningham.

Judge Cunningham issued a temporary restraining order against Cascade Commodities Corporation on March 30 to stop odors allegedly emanating from its place of business. This was done at the request of Russell Lyon and 27 other citizens.

Then, the plaintiffs brought a motion for contempt proceedings against the company, alleging it had not complied with the previous abatement order.

On April 20, Judge Cunningham conducted a contempt proceeding and amended his temporary order to specifically tell the defendants to cease all rendering activities including but not limited to heating, boiling and cooking any portion of animals, tallow or fats or to store any parts of dead animals on the premises.

At conclusion of the proceedings, the defense asked for additional time to present further evidence and offered testimony from a representative of the state air pollution control commission that a new device at the plant had abated the nuisance. The attorney also offered testimony from four neighbors.

Gooding housing dropped

GOODING — Gooding Mayor Harley Crippen said today the American Pacific Corp. has withdrawn its plan to build a 42-unit development east of town.

Mayor Crippen said he telephoned Andy Anderson, Boise, division manager of the firm Tuesday, telling him that in an unofficial plot of city councilmen, all four members had indicated they would not make a motion to accept the plan for the development.

The councilmen's unofficial action stemmed from a public hearing Monday afternoon during which overwhelming objection was expressed for the project on the assertion it would lower property values, especially in the Fink addition which is adjacent to the proposed site, and might bring in "undesirables."

Other objections raised were the cost to the city of Gooding to provide a lift station for water, curb gutters and oil streets. But Mayor Crippen had reported at the Monday night council meeting the firm had agreed to provide those services itself, at no cost to the city.

The development would have included 42 homes in the $16,500 price range which would have been built as they were sold. They would have been available to medium and low income persons, with a sliding scale for down payment and interest rates depending on income.

Perrine grant said lost

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Writer

BOISE — A lengthy search for federal aid to help replace the weakened Perrine Memorial Bridge was torpedoed Tuesday by Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe.

Volpe told Gov. Cecil D. Andrus that since the bridge had not closed to traffic, the project does not qualify for federal aid under Section 125 of the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1970 — the section which seemed to offer the most hope of federal help for the $3-million-plus project.

Volpe told Andrus that the section of federal law under which the Idaho Highway Department had sought aid applies only to bridges which are closed to traffic because of extreme deterioration.

Specifically, the law provides that a bridge must have been closed to "all vehicular traffic" between Dec. 31, 1967, and Dec. 31, 1970. Since the Perrine Bridge was open during that period, the replacement project does not qualify, Volpe said.

However, he held out one slim hope for Idaho highway planners searching for federal assistance. Another provision, Section 204, would allow applications for federal aid — but in competition with all other 49 states many of whom are also desperately seeking highway funds, Andrus said.

"Such a request would be considered, but funds are limited," Volpe said in his letter to Andrus. "Idaho's needs would receive thorough consideration," he pledged.

Gov. Andrus said he would refile his request for funds as soon as possible.

The Perrine Bridge has been restricted to loads under 22 tons about one year.

TF airport gets grant

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — An additional $100,000 for the Twin Falls airport runway project was announced Tuesday afternoon by City Councilman John Christoffersen in a meeting with city, county and airport commission officials.

Christoffersen said the "windfall" came in the form of funds allocated by the Idaho Board of Aeronautics and will mean a major boost for the improvement of the old section of runway which must be undertaken this summer.

Christoffersen, accompanied by Airport Manager Harry Merrick, City Engineer George Michael and Project Engineer Dale Riedesel, flew to Boise early Tuesday after learning at 11 p.m. Monday that state funds were available and were in the process of being allocated to air carrier airports in the state.

Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls, met with city officials following the regular city council meeting Monday to advise that $225,000 was available in Idaho.

A strong appeal for additional funds ended in a vote of the board to earmark $100,000 for the Twin Falls City-County Airport.

Christoffersen said one of the major points in favor of Twin Falls, was the effort the local community has put forth on a city and county combined basis to show unified support of the project. Sen. High told the local officials Monday night he understood Twin Falls was to get about $70,000 and delegates to Boise said they felt exceptionally fortunate in getting the higher figure.

Christoffersen said the decision to go to Boise to appeal for the funds was made hastily and under emergency conditions. As a result the Tuesday meeting was called to inform those concerned with the airport of the latest development.

Delegates were high in their praise of the attitude of new Aeronautics Director, Darrell Manning, Pocatello, and of members of the Aeronautics Board.

Christoffersen said they seemed genuinely interested in allocating the money on a basis of need, local support and preparedness for moving ahead on airport improvement.

Matching fund grants were approved for airports at Elk City for $12,000, American Falls, $8,250, Rexburg, $8,232, Porthill, $7,000, McCall, $8,400, St. Marie's, $6,000, Bear Lake County, $6,000, St. Anthony, $5,000, Sandpoint, $3,147, and Arco $2,452.

US bombers hit targets 40 homes

STE. JEAN VIANNEY, Que. (UPI)—Tons of clay shifted and collapsed into an underground stream late Tuesday, swallowing up some 40 homes housing 200 persons.

Civil protection officials said the presumed toll included 20 dead and at least 16 missing, but police said 36 persons were missing and the death toll could reach that figure.

A civic official estimated that at least 25 of the missing persons may be children.

HOLLISTER — An allotment of 5 acre-foot of water per share was made Tuesday evening at a meeting of the Salmon River Canal Co. directors, Morris Huffman, general manager, announced today.

Labor camp checks promised

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Writer

BOISE — Top level attention to conditions in migrant labor camps of the state was promised by Gov. Cecil Andrus following a closed meeting in Boise Tuesday in which local delegates carried the matter to the governor, attorney general and Idaho Department of Health.

The meeting, held behind closed doors as several participants said they would not attend if the information was made public through the press was attended by members of the Jerome Labor Camp board of directors and two concerned citizens.

Jeane Berain, of the Idaho Human Rights Commission, also attended.

Gov. Andrus said he could not disclose information discussed in the meeting, but told the Times-News after the session those visits will be held in all camps around the state by health department officials and especially sanitarians.

He said he plans a personal tour of camps in the near future.

The governor said the purpose of the meeting was to acquaint his office with camp problems in the light of a ruling from the office of Attorney General Tony Park that standards adopted by the health department regarding camps are not legal but require additional legislation.

"The health department is not completely powerless," the governor said, "and we do have rules to be enforced but need additional legislation to strengthen our position."

He said the meeting was informative and he and other officials now better understand the problems of those living in the camps.

The governor added there is no question but the state has authority in the field of health and sanitation to impose some regulations at this time.

Berain said following the session that one of the major problems in all migrant camps in Idaho is the lack of communication between the occupants and administrators.

"In most cases, he added, the administrators are not competent to inspect the grounds and provide maintenance when needed.

Rep. Jack Claiborn, R-Twin Falls, said today that the living conditions in most agricultural labor camps in Idaho are "acceptable."

"After all, the residents live there for only a few months each year," Claiborn told the Times-News. "Most of them have been updated and modernized until they are fit for living by anybody."

Claiborn is chairman of the House Interim Agricultural Labor Committee which studies agricultural working conditions in Idaho. The committee will meet May 14 and 15 in Boise, with tours of labor camps in the Boise Valley on the agenda, Claiborn said.

The committee will confer with officials of Amalgamated Sugar Co. in Nampa and visit labor camps in the area on Friday, then meet at the Statehouse on May 15 to correlate their findings and determine if action needs to be taken.

Living conditions in labor camps in the Magic Valley have been the subject of considerable agitation in recent years.

Cassia gets Hospital aid

BURLEY — Cassia Memorial Hospital Tuesday was allocated $217,951 in Hill Burton funds by the State Hospital Construction Advisory Council. This is the second grant received on the $792,000 expansion project at the hospital.

Work was begun last fall, but has been delayed until final approval for the federal funds. The comprehensive remodeling project includes construction of a 40-bed hospital wing for patients' close supervision by the nursing staff.

Each patient in the new wing will be housed in a single-bed room equipped with the latest innovations in hospital care, including beds which can be lowered electrically by either the patient or attending nurse.

Some of the rooms in the hospital also will be remodeled for long-term patient care, according to Robert G. Barton, hospital administrator.

The hospital earlier received an initial grant of $177,000 but officials were awaiting confirmation of the second grant. 33rd opening on the project is scheduled for Thursday. The contract calls for a 30-day construction period with completion planned by the end of 1971.

Resident shells parking project

TWIN FALLS — Construction of a parking area at the west end of Harry Barry Park has come under fire.

The parking area was intended to alleviate traffic congestion on Borah and Wiseman avenues which threatened the Knothole baseball program at the park last summer.

Kernell Lier, who resides on Borah Avenue across from the park, asked the city to delay the project until he could mobilize those who oppose it. He said the parking lot would provide a connection between the two avenues and give motorcyclists and teen-age drivers a clear swing around the area, endangering children who play in the streets and cross them to the park playgrounds. He said it would also create a traffic hazard.

Council members said they were besieged by protests last summer because cars parked in front of homes and used private driveways to turn around at the end of the two dead-end streets during city sponsored Knothole baseball games. The parking lot was decided on as a solution to the problem.

Lier told council members Monday night he believed if he were given time to call on residents they would rather have the traffic and parking problem in front of their homes than have the parking lot and opening between the streets making it a "through" street with two 45 degree turns.

He said city crews are removing the grass for the parking area now and asked that work stop until the people of the area could be heard from again. Council members informed Lier they must complete the project in time for next month's park program and feel it has had full public airing.

Mayor Feldtman presented the certificate of appreciation.

Solon caution effects rapped

BOISE (UPI) — Attorney General W. Anthony Park said Tuesday the Idaho Legislature was a "very cautious one" and said the most critical environmental legislation did not even leave committee.

Park, appearing at an Idaho Press Club Headliner luncheon, said for the first time in 25 years the Republican-controlled legislature had to deal with a Democratic governor and he said it took the majority "almost the entire session to become really aware of that fact."

As a result, he said, there was a "great deal of sparring that took up quite a portion of the session" until Republicans determined "how far they would be permitted to go" and the governor found out the "ground rules" for his relationship with the legislature.

The first regular session of the 41st legislature, Park said, did not deal with financial problems "as progressively and as creatively as I thought it would" and he said the lawmakers "chose basically to ignore some of the enlightened suggestions" made by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus for new sources of income.

Park described as most critical a bill proposing a separate department of ecology, which he pointed out did not make it to the floor from committee.

However, he said, the lawmakers agreed to study the proposal during an interim period, adding he was "reasonably confident that in the next session of the legislature it will be approved and passed."

Park said the "steep law" of the session was one controlling building of injection waste disposal wells.

Child hunt continues

CLARKSTON, Wash. (UPI) — The search continued Tuesday without success for Laurel Chase, 11, Clarkston, who disappeared last Wednesday while enroute from her home to school.

Mrs. Ramond Chase, Clarkston, said she last saw her daughter when the girl left home for school Wednesday morning. The youngster failed to arrive at school and officers have been searching without success since last Wednesday night.

T.F. agents cite Mrs. Beth Wickham

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Keith (Beth) Wickham was chosen "Realtor of the year" by the Twin Falls Board of Realtors Tuesday evening.

Bruce Mecham, board president, said selection of the recipient is based on activities in civic affairs, business accomplishments, and activity in state and national associations.

Mrs. Wickham will compete in the state contest later this month, he said. The organization also approved a change in bylaws, allowing election of board officers in July instead of December.

Mecham said Realtor Week will be observed May 23-29. He also announced the spring clinic May 25 will begin with a 7 a.m. breakfast at the Ponderosa Inn in Burley.

Workshop planned

TWIN FALLS — Librarians of the Magic Valley interested in attending a two-day workshop on library cataloging in Twin Falls should register as soon as possible in order to facilitate final plans for the workshop.

Robert Bruce, Twin Falls librarian, said registration should be made by writing Evva Larson, assistant state librarian, Idaho State Library, Boise.

Gale Keizer, assistant librarian, in charge of cataloging at Ricks College Library, will conduct the workshop. No charge will be made, Bruce said, and the program affords practical training in this phase of library work. Those who have registered for a similar workshop in Rexburg need not re-register, Bruce said, but should notify Miss Larson they will be in Twin Falls.

Mining reaction mixed

BOISE (UPI) — Representatives of the mining industry generally applauded plans to reclassify the Sawtooth primitive area as wilderness at a hearing Tuesday but deplored withdrawal of mining rights there.

A.J. Teske, executive secretary of the Idaho Mining Association, said his group is satisfied the Forest Service proposal reflects the spirit and intent of the wilderness law except in one respect.

"The one significant departure from the law in this proposal," in our "considered" view is the recommendation to withdraw the entire proposed wilderness area from mineral location and mineral leasing on the effective date of the bill enacted to establish the area," he said.

Teske said the wilderness act of 1964 specifically extends applications of the mining and mineral leasing laws to Dec. 31, 1983.

"We question the need for this provision in the proposal," Teske said. "If it has not been found necessary in the wilderness areas in other states, why in the Sawtooths in Idaho?"

"We are deeply disturbed by this provision because we fear it would establish a strong and for our industry, a highly unacceptable precedent for future primitive area reclassifications."

"If there are sound and sufficient reasons for deviation from established practice in this particular proposal, we respectfully request that these reasons be explained," he said.

John H. La Grange, Salt Lake City, land and public relations coordinator for Bear Creek Mining Company, the domestic exploration subsidiary of Kennecott Copper Corporation, also endorsed the reclassification.

"The Forest Service is to be commended in its attempt to provide for the judicious use of our mineral resources by classifying approximately 19,000 acres within the primitive area as unsuitable for wilderness classification," La Grange added.

But he, too, objected to the apparent attempt to "frustrate the intent and spirit of the wilderness act."

"It was congressional intent that mining be allowed in wilderness areas on valid mineral locations and that location be allowed until 1984," La Grange said.

Backing the proposal exactly as suggested by the Forest Service was Theodore Hoff Jr., Harshaw Bend, president of the Idaho Resource Development Council. This backing included the five areas the Forest Service proposes be excluded for mining and other reasons.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus also supported the proposal but he asked that the five areas proposed for exclusion be put back into it.

Robert S. Nobis, Coeur d'Alene, executive secretary of Outdoors Unlimited, endorsed the proposal of the Forest Service, calling it "the most logical in the interest of nature's ecological balance and the nation's concern for maintaining quality total environment."

But he asked that the boundaries be made identical to boundaries suggested in the Sawtooth national recreation area in bills introduced by the Idaho congressional delegation. Nobis also asked strict adherence to the wilderness concept of "land retaining its primeval character and influence, without permanent improvements or human habitation."

Site purchase under scrutiny

JEROME — The Jerome school trustees will consider a proposal by Supt. John B. Campbell to purchase the 79-acre land on North Fillmore and construct a new high school, when the school board meets Monday.

Campbell told the school board in the special meeting Monday that with the construction of a new high school, they could eliminate the Lincoln School.

Under Campbell's proposal, Washington School would be for first grade classes, which would allow for 50 per cent growth and could also accommodate the mandatory kindergarten program should it be enacted by the legislature. Jefferson elementary school, which now has fifth and sixth graders, would be used for second and third grade and will have adequate play area inside and outside and room for growth. The high school and junior high school, which presently handles six grades, would be reduced to five grades and used for the fourth through eighth grades.

And the new building would accommodate ninth through 12th grades.

In other action the board approved the 1971-72 school calendar, which is about the same as the current year, with starting date of Aug. 30.

Earth week gleanings discarded

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Ira W. Pitts, Twin Falls, have found some people get rid of the rubbish cleaned up during Earth Week activities by throwing it on someone else's property.

Monday night, an unidentified person threw a large grocery box containing old whiskey bottles, beer cans, and an assortment of other trash items on the Pitts' property southeast of town.

Whoever deposited the rubbish managed to toss the box over the six-foot rock wall around the old county farm, now used by the Pitts.

The box of trash also contained an old Idaho Power bill dated 1970. It has been turned over to the sheriff's office to be traced.

Loan OK seen due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is expected to ask Congress soon to approve a government-guaranteed, $250 million loan to the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. to help it survive a financial crisis over its civilian TriStar passenger plane, Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Tuesday.

Scott told newsmen after a White House meeting of Republican congressional leaders that Treasury Secretary John B. Connally had recommended the guaranteed loan as the only proposal that would "satisfactorily accomplish the purpose" of helping Lockheed.

The GOP leader said such legislation "ought to pass" the Democratic-controlled Congress. "I don't know of any bill which would do a better job preventing unemployment," Scott said.

TOP STATE WINNERS in an industrial arts competition held over the weekend in Boise are all students at Robert Stuart Junior High School, in the industrial arts class of Fred Carlson. They include the state's top winner, Nina Hansen, on left, who won a wrist watch for her two metalwork plaques of lively youngsters; Betty Mable, who claimed second place for an attractive leather pocketbook she made, center, and Karen Cook, statewide third-place winner with a clever "Smile" motto worked into a metal plaque.

Humane awards slated

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The American Humane Association is beginning with activity these days preparing for the 21st annual Patsy Awards, concerning bullfights and objecting to specific movies.

In a veritable rain of cats and dogs, the AHA gave the equivalent of its "Oscar" rating to four motion pictures: "A Gunfight," "Waterloo," "The Lawman" and "Hunting Party."

On a happier note, the humane people have prevailed upon Rudy Vallee to record a song titled "Be Kind!" It is a one minute and 27-second ditty dedicated to the animal kingdom.

The lyrics may come in handy on hunting trips next autumn.

But the big news this spring is the Patsy Awards. Patsy is an amalgam for picture animal top star of the year and performing animal television star of the year.

This year presents a lackluster field of nominees with only a wolf, an elephant and a cougar representing exotic animals.

Nominated for best movie actor is Old Folger, the horse in "Flap"; Sancho, the wolf in "The Wild Country"; and Twinkles, the dog in "Move."

In the running for best animal actor in a video series: Arnold, the pig in "Green Acres"; Bozo, the dog in "Nanny and the Professor"; Lance Link, a group of chimps in "Secret Chimp"; and Scruffy, the dog in "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir."

Raft trip to Tahiti planned

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Four young Americans, fed up with punching time clocks, are planning an epic 9,000-mile round-trip voyage between Ecuador and Tahiti on a homemade balsa raft.

The members of the expedition have less than 1000 among them. They are traveling south in a battered stallion wagon and are keeping expenses at around 50 cents a day by sleeping in parks and eating fruit and peanut butter.

If their health and luck last, they hope to build the raft in the jungles of Ecuador and begin the dramatic journey across the Pacific in December.

"We got fed up with punching time clocks back home," said Wesley R. Clark, 32, of Nogales, Ariz. "We have been gripped with the idea of this adventure and we haven't been able to shake it off."

Clark took a year's leave of absence from his job as a tool room supervisor. David W. Pluth, 25, of Bend, Minn., dropped out of Simon Fraser University in Vancouver, B.C. John E. Wynn, 25, of Mesa, Ariz., quit Arizona State University. George Root, 25, left the Thunderbird Graduate School in Phoenix.

The four said they were strangers until they answered a Wall Street Journal advertisement last month for crew members for a projected Ecuador-Tahiti raft crossing. The original backers pulled out, however, and the four decided to go it alone.

They entered Mexico early last month aboard Clark's station wagon.

Advocate chosen

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Postmaster General Winton M. Blount announced the appointment Tuesday of a postal ombudsman—a man to listen to public complaints of poor mail service.

David L. Ordway, 38, will have the title of consumer advocate at a salary of $32,700. Blount said mail patrons can write him at the U.S. Postal Service, Washington, D.C., 20260.

"For the first time, the individual customer will have an exclusive advocate who will actively participate in top management decision-making," Blount said.

Before passage of the 1970 Postal Reorganization Act, removing the post office from congressional control, customers unhappy with mail service complained to congressmen who then pressured the post office.

Reds test new craft

LONDON (UPI)—Soviet pilots based in Egypt are testing secret new high performance "superjets" that have not been given even to Russia's closest Communist bloc allies, diplomatic sources said Tuesday.

The sources said the planes were probably MIG23s, under development to be capable of flying at altitudes of 70,000 to 80,000 feet and speeds two and one-half to three times the speed of sound, outmatching the American Phantom F-4s used by the Israeli air force.

Street plan considered

TWIN FALLS — Plans are under consideration for forming a local improvement district for streets in the Twin Falls Industrial Area southwest of the Shoshone Street bridge over Rock Creek, City Manager Jean Miller said today.

The plan would give property owners an opportunity to finance their participation in the program and could set a new pattern for street improvement in Twin Falls, the city manager said.

Over the past 25 years, he said, city streets have been neglected in many parts of the city because of the high cost of improving them, lack of good drainage to insure expenditures would not be wasted and tight city work schedules.

Miller said if local improvement districts can be formed to help with financing, the city can, with additional annual highway users revenue now available, let contracts for the work and insure it will be properly handled.

Because of attempts by city councils over the past years to hold spending to a minimum each year, street work has been done on a "stop gap" basis, the city manager said, and many city streets have been too long neglected.

City council members have discussed local improvement district formation during informal meetings and had planned to bring the matter up in the public meeting Monday night. The subject was tabled until the May 17 meeting.

Cleaning products agent set

TWIN FALLS — A new approach to the pollution problem is promised by Geoffrey (Jeff) Dahlberg, Twin Falls, with the introduction of "Bestline" cleaning products.

Dahlberg and his wife Christine will distribute the line of products in the Twin Falls area, working on a personal, word-of-mouth basis instead of through retail stores.

The cleaning compounds avoid all phosphates, fillers and other river-polluting substances, and are completely biodegradable, Dahlberg said.

"While everybody is talking about pollution but few are doing anything about it, Bestline is taking a sensible approach to the problem by offering a completely safe product," Dahlberg said.

The cleaning products include a perfumed dishwashing compound that doubles as an efficient hand cleaner, a floor-cleaning product, laundry soap and others. Each is highly concentrated; the laundry soap, for example, requires only about one-fourth of a cup for a full load, while "ragular" compounds take up to a cup and a half, Dahlberg said.

Dahlberg may be reached at his home, telephone 733-6642, by anyone wishing to acquire Bestline products, or by prospective salesmen.

Kent State official calls student deaths 'senseless'

KENT, Ohio (UPI)—Kent State University President Robert I. White said Tuesday four students killed by National Guard bullets during a campus demonstration last spring died "senselessly, early, cruel death."

White, in an address to about 10,000 students during campus memorial services on the first anniversary of the killings, said "If one thing unites us, that desire for memorial does just that—that and a craving for peace."

"Sadly we grant to them their green peace and rest, and offer a legacy of commemoration by those left behind," White said.

"There be those of us who have lost brothers or sisters, parents, husbands or wives, and their absence becomes partially—only partially—filled with growing memories. These memories often come to a focus and we grieve for that focus."

Dean Kahler, 19, Canton, Ohio, wounded by the gunfire that crippled him for life, also addressed the students.

"The four people who died here were part of you," Kahler said in a highly emotional speech. "I want you to remember the four students who died here. I want you to remember them forever."

"The war caused the four deaths here. This proves that non-violence is the only way to work against this war. I think that Kent State University has an important role to play in ending the war in Vietnam."

Minutes before White and Kahler, who spoke from a wheelchair, started their addresses, a large bell was rung once for each Kent student killed, again for each of the two students killed at Jackson State College in Mississippi and once for the American servicemen killed in Indochina.

Murder counts name soldiers

SAIGON (UPI)—Murder charges have been filed against eight U.S. Army soldiers accused of shooting at a group of Vietnamese civilians from a helicopter, killing one and wounding 16, an Army spokesman announced Tuesday.

The spokesman said the eight—four warrant officers and four enlisted men—fired on the civilians from two helicopters Sept. 10 while on a flight from Dong Tam, 37 miles south of Saigon, to Rach Gia, 115 miles southwest of the capital.

The defendants were identified as CWO2 Michael A. Nicholaou, 21, Jersey City, N.J.; CWO2 Stephen J. Becker, 23, Jersey City; WO Roland E. Linstad, 21, Chelmsford, Mass.; WO Camille A. Perrot, 20, Jacksonville, Fla.; Spec. 5 Dominic Fino, 20, Baltimore; Spec. 4 James L. Dunston, 21, Birmingham, Ala.; Spec. 5 John N. Enos, 20, Los Angeles and Spec. 4 Charles R. Thompson, 22, Columbus, Miss.

Hilliard charges dismissed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A federal judge Tuesday dismissed charges against Black Panther leader David Hilliard who was accused of threatening to kill President Nixon.

The government gave up its case against Hilliard rather than turn over to the Panther's attorney its wiretap evidence.

U.S. District Judge William P. Gray ruled that there was no national security issue involved and therefore wiretap evidence of the government violated the Fourth Amendment of the Constitution.

Woodworth to federal agency job

BOISE (UPI)—John H. Dick Woodworth, 45, Boise, has resigned as director of the State Fish and Game Department to take the post of regional environmentalist for the U.S. Reclamation Bureau.

Woodworth confirmed he had resigned, effective in about two weeks, and a regional spokesman confirmed Tuesday that he was "nominated" for the federal job.

Later, Sen. Len Jordan announced that Woodworth would get the newly-established position of environmental specialist. Gov. Cecil D. Andrus said the Veteran jobless rate up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Unemployment among discharged servicemen continues to climb and stay well above the jobless rates for other workers.

But a turnaround may be developing, or at least so hope officials directing President Nixon's jobs for veterans program. The jobs program is a promotion effort launched in November to encourage employers to hire young veterans getting out of service.

The unemployment rate for veterans 20 to 29 years of age rose to 10.8 per cent during the first three months of 1971, with 372,000 vets out of work. This compared with 10.2 per cent during the three-month period ending Feb. 28 and only 7.9 per cent during the last three months of 1970.

The jobless rate for nonveterans of the same age during the first quarter of 1971 was only 8.4 per cent. The overall unemployment rate for the nation was 6 per cent in March.

The situation is even worse for the veterans 20 to 24. Their unemployment rate in the first quarter was 14.5 per cent compared with 10.8 per cent for nonveterans the same age.

Fiscal year deficit up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—George P. Shultz, director of the office of management and budget for the Nixon Administration, predicts the federal deficit for the business year ending June 30 will be more than $19 billion—a figure that would be the second largest since World War II.

In January the administration had projected a $18.5 billion deficit for the current fiscal year. The largest red ink year since World War II was 1968, when the deficit was $25.2 billion.

Trail rider unit clarifies stand

TWIN FALLS — "You can't water ski behind a canoe, or backpack a camper into a campground — and this is just what would happen if some people have their way."

This statement came from Mel Quale, representing the Magic Valley Trail Machine Association, speaking of proposals to enlarge the boundaries of the proposed Sawtooth Wilderness Area. Quale said "not many folks" are aware that one proposal would include the entire Redfish Lake resort in the wilderness area, thereby banning all motorboats, campers, and even cars from the lake or nearby campgrounds.

Quale said his association protests the proposed boundary lines of the wilderness area, some of which would cut off favorite bike-riding trails. One in particular, he said, would sever a trail leading from the Sun Valley area through back country to Lowman and the South Fork of the Payette River.

"With that trailcut, we'd have to truck our bikes clear around by Mountain Home and go in the back way," Quale said.

The association, formed in 1962 and now listing more than 100 active members, lists its aims as "conservative," saying that any planning for the Sawtooth area should "insure the best use of available resources for the maximum benefit of the most people now and in the future."

Quale assailed the "preservationists," who would "lock-up-the-whole-area-for-themselves alone, and not allow any usage by sportsmen, other than those who can pack in."

Specifying his group's objections, Quale said the new wilderness area "should not cut off, block or restrict current access routes between the Salmon and Payette-Boise River drainage." The wilderness area should not require nearby "buffer zones" in adjoining areas, and use of the adjoining areas should not be affected by the designation of the wilderness area.

Legal aid firm creation asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon asked Congress today to create an independent legal services corporation to replace the controversial legal service department of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Nixon said such a move would make the organization "immune to political pressures" in its efforts to aid the poor and would help to "secure justice within the system and not on the streets."

In a message to the House and Senate, the President proposed to establish an 11-member bipartisan board of directors, most of them lawyers, to run the corporation.

The corporation would make grants or enter into contracts with law firms to provide legal assistance to the poor.

It also would represent the poor as a group before federal agencies in attempts to resolve broad issues and possibly to avoid a multiple of suits on the same subject.

Nixon said attorneys working for the corporation on a fulltime grant or contract would not be allowed to practice private law and would be prohibited from participating in lobbying activities and partisan political action.

Nixon said if those restrictions were not included, the corporation would be placed "squarely in the political arena where it does not belong, thus inviting those political pressures from which its independence is designed to insulate it."

The new corporation would be limited to noncriminal cases.

The legal services division of the OEO, which the corporation would replace, has been criticized in several states for lobbying and political action.

Nixon said the OEO's legal services program began six years ago as an experiment and grew so rapidly that now 2,000 lawyers work for the poor in some 900-neighborhood law offices.

Escapes in crash

BOSTON (UPI)—Lawyer F. Lee Bailey escaped without injury Tuesday night when his helicopter lost power and crashed shortly after takeoff from Logan International Airport.

Bailey, the only one aboard the two-seater, walked away from the scene and went to his downtown office after the craft fell 60 feet onto a circular driveway near the general aviation administration building at the airport. The helicopter, which narrowly missed the building, sustained damage to its underside, blades and tail section.

"I feel fine, I'm not injured," Bailey said. He said the copter began "to spin and I lost it."

The helicopter is owned by the Estrom Corp., a firm of which Bailey is president. He was using it to fly to his home in Marshfield, Mass.

Bailey is currently representing Army Capt. Ernest Medina, who is charged in connection with the My Lai massacre.

New sky satellite aloft

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The Air Force launched the second in a new series of large early warning spy satellites today to give the United States more time to retaliate against a missile attack from Russia or Red China.

The secret 1,800-pound spacecraft was designed to soar into a stationary orbit high over Asia and replace the initial satellite that was stranded in the wrong orbit last November by rocket failure.

In addition to providing an almost instantaneous alert of a missile attack, sources close to the program said the spy satellite was expected to be able to monitor tests of the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile (ICBM) under development in Communist China.

The big cylindrical spacecraft also will be able to detect submarine launched missiles and help distinguish between the launchings of orbital bombs and ordinary satellites.

The surveillance spacecraft, part of a project code-named "647," was launched at 3:43 a.m. EDT by a triple-barreled Titan 3C rocket, mightiest launcher in the Defense Department's inventory.

The launch and mission were classified secret by the Air Force, but the program has been discussed publicly in the past and it was common knowledge that the shot was imminent. Searchlights illuminated the launch pad several hours before blastoff and shined high in the sky over the cape, forming a huge "V" with the rocket staffling at the base of the "V."

Informed sources said the Titan's top stage was programmed to propel the satellite into a near stationary orbit 22,300 miles high after 6 1/2 hours of maneuvers.

The sources said the spacecraft carried a powerful telescope.

Vote code printed

BOISE (UPI) — A 140-page preliminary copy of an Idaho election code compilation by the Secretary of State came off the presses Tuesday.

Secretary of State Peter T. Conrussa said he will take it to Salmon Thursday to display to the Association of County Auditors for their comments and suggestions.

Conrussa hopes to publish an official copy of a code compilation by this fall.

He said it was done at a cost of less than $100 by the use of Planting's printing equipment for which the Secretary of State supplied the paper.

Copies of the preliminary compilation, which includes election laws passed this year, were given to the legislative council, the attorney general and the governor's office.

Hedging is a way to protect your business against unfavorable prices whether you're a seller or buyer of cattle, hogs, beef, pork, potatoes, eggs, lumber or wool.

Hedging is the manly art of self-defense, applied to economics.

Hedging commodity futures is what the Chicago Mercantile Exchange offers you—and it's very inexpensive. For instance, you can hedge a carload of live hogs (30,000 pounds) for a minimum commission of $35. Other commissions are similarly low.

If your business involves any of the commodities mentioned above, call the commodity man at your broker's. Ask him how you can defend yourself.

Senior citizens seminar planned

TWIN FALLS — An opportunity for the area's senior citizens to have a voice in their own programs will be offered in Twin Falls May 18 during a seminar at 2 p.m. in the Room 115 of the Academic Building, College of Southern Idaho. Ray Pruett, director of the local Senior Citizens Agency, said Sen. Len B. Jordan (R-Idaho) and Rep. Orval Hansen (R-Idaho) will be in Twin Falls to conduct the session, one of three being scheduled around the state this month.

During the meeting they will confer with local agency representatives and with senior citizens themselves to discuss new programs available to these special residents and to obtain their ideas on improvements and new programs needed.

Idaho's Congressional delegates noted the local conference will provide basic information for the White House Conference on Aging to be held in November in Washington, D. C.

"Because only a small segment of the millions of senior citizens in the country will have an opportunity to take part in the actual conference, we believe these seminars in Idaho will provide us with information to transmit to the President," the two said.

Pruett said plans have also been made to bring regional and state officials involved in agencies serving the aged, to the meetings for "additional information."

Other residents of the area are urged to attend and express ideas or ask questions concerning Social Security, health care, employment, housing and transportation.

Other meetings will be held in Blackfoot and Idaho Falls, May 17 and Pocatello, May 18.

Mind Your Money

Q—What's the difference between American vodka and Russian vodka? Are there any basic differences between American vodka brands that account for the differences in price? — I.B., New York, N.Y.

A—The main difference between American vodka and Russian vodka is the claim that Russian vodka has some slight flavor (sometimes a lot of flavor), while American vodkas, by law, are supposed to be "equally without distinctive character, aroma or taste."

To learn more, I assigned reporter Wendy Van Braklo to interview American and Russian vodka experts and to check with Internal Revenue Service which regulates the distilling and sale of American vodkas. Here's her report:

Smirnoff is the most expensive American brand. The process for filtering neutral spirits and the name was purchased by Heublein, the distiller, from a little old Russian vodka maker, Pierre Smirnoff. The filtering is supposed to make Smirnoff "more neutral, more tasteless."

Curiously, you pay more for Russian-sounding Smirnoff because the company claims it has less of an aftertaste, yet you pay even more for real Russian vodka because it's supposed to have a smooth, distinctive aftertaste. Connoisseurs claim it's difficult to tell the difference between Smirnoff and other American brands, but it's easy to tell the difference between American and Russian brands.

Russians often like their vodka flavored with herbs, roots or berries. In fact, a brand called Pertzovka, flavored with red peppers, was Stalin's favorite.

Q—Are raincoats washed after they go through the drying process? I've been using the small packages with school lunches and wonder if the raincoats are really clean.

Another question. Are butchers allowed to add fat to ground meat? Is the price difference between paying, say $1.19 a pound and 98 cents a pound due to the difference in fat content? — Mrs. G.M., Pasadena, Calif.

A—According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, raincoats are washed before packaging and are ready to eat. The price differences in ground meat have to do with the quality and cut, not the fat content. If a package is marked "ground beef" then only the fat from this particular piece of meat is included. However, if a package is marked "hamburger," fat may be added. Inspectors say ground meat may not contain more than 30 per cent fat.

Q—We are ice fishermen and hunters who own Jone hand warmers. We didn't mind the original price we paid for the warmers last winter, but we do object to the price of the burner replacements we need for use next winter (75 cents for the small, $1.50 for the large). Is there any cheaper way to do this? — A.B., Chicopee, Mass.

A—According to sports equipment distributors, the Jone burners and wicks are supposed to last for years if they're treated with care. Next winter, the buyers say, you should not touch the wicks with your fingers. The oil in your skin ruins them.

Q—Why is my government pension considered taxable income when Social Security is tax exempt? — A.J.H., Jenkintown, Pa.

A—Government pensions are taxable as income like any other pensions. If you're over 65, you can get a tax credit on any pension income. If you're under 65, you get a tax credit for income received from government pensions.

Congress is working on a new law which would increase the maximum allowable retirement income credit from $228.00 to $280.00 for single persons and from $342.00 to $421.20 for married couples.

He was riding a motorcycle north on Overland Avenue when it collided with a car driven by Mrs. Opal L. Morton, 66, Burley, who made a left turn. The car hit the motorcycle broadside, police said. The youth was thrown from his motorcycle and landed under a parked car in the Elliott Inc. parking lot.

A fork lift was used to lift the parked car off Allred so ambulance attendants could get him out.

Mrs. Morton and her passenger, Franklin Morton, 68, were not injured, police said.

Program slated

Changes made in agency

BOISE (UPI)—Public Instruction Superintendent D. F. Engelking Tuesday announced reorganization of the state education department "to better meet the changing needs in Idaho education."

Engelking said the main change in the departmental structure involves the offices of the assistant superintendent and three deputy superintendents. They have been incorporated into two bureaus.

Deputy Superintendent Harold Farley will head a new bureau of finance and administration. There will be three divisions — Planning, Development and Information; Finance; and General Services.

Deputy Superintendent Reid Bishop will head up a three-division bureau of educational services.

Patrolman recovers from crash

BURLEY — State Patrolman Charles Pough is convalescing at his home from injuries received April 16 in a three-vehicle accident south of Rupert on Highway 24.

He was a patient at Cassia Memorial Hospital for several weeks. Juan Madarieta, Rupert, also injured in the crash, is listed in good condition at Cassia Memorial Hospital.

Madarieta was the driver of a truck which the patrolman had stopped. Pough and Madarieta were standing between the two vehicles checking lights when a pickup truck driven by Willard V. Barnes, Rupert, struck the parked vehicles.

Barnes posted $250 bond after pleading innocent to a drunk driving charge and is awaiting trial.

Chevrolet's Summer Sale is on.

White stripe tires.

AM FM radio or any stereo equipment.

Wheel covers.

Deluxe seat belts.

Order any Chevelle or Camaro with these four features and we'll help save you some money.

Our Summer Sale. It's a simple sale. And it works like this. You simply order America's most popular mid-size car, Chevelle. Or America's best-looking, best-handling sportster, Camaro.

You equip either car with white stripe tires, wheel covers, deluxe seat belts, and AM FM radio (or any stereo equipment). Do this—and we'll help save you some money.

And what's just as nice, we'll be helping you save money on two of America's more popular cars. You get great deals on cars that give you more for less even when they're not on sale.

Except now they are on sale, and during May and June—the two months more people buy cars anyway. Which isn't the most likely way of doing business.

But then, "Buying you first" doesn't mean doing things from our point of view. It means doing them from yours.

Buckling your seat and shoulder belts is an idea you can live with.

Industrial cleanup drive broadens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With praise from President Nixon, Keep America Beautiful, Inc. (KAB) announced a nationwide advertising campaign Tuesday to urge more individual anti-pollution action and less criticism of business and government.

KAB is financed by industry and headed by William F. May, chairman of American Can Co. The new campaign was sharply criticized by an environmental group as a Madison Avenue device to still public protests against industrial pollution.

The campaign broadens KAB's 11-year-old antilitter campaign to urge citizen efforts against other types of pollution as well.

Thomas B. McCabe Jr., vice president of Scott Paper Co. and chairman of the Advertising Council which solicits free advertising space for worthy causes, predicted media would contribute about $450 million a year in free airtime, publication space and signboards for the KAB ads.

The campaign's theme is "People Start Pollution, People Can Stop It." An advertisement displayed at KAB's news conference said statements blaming business and government for pollution were "all but" for lack of individual action. It suggested regular car tuneups, using detergents in recommended amounts, better home incinerators, support for improved municipal waste treatment, and use of trash baskets for trash.

Nixon's letter was read aloud by William D. Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

"I highly commend the public spirited members of KAB who, together with the Advertising Council, have made this encouraging civic effort possible," the President said.

A contrary view was expressed by Peter Harnik, an official of Environmental Action Inc., a private group which lobbies for stronger pollution control laws, opposed the supersonic transport (SST) and urged action against detergent phosphates on grounds they hasten the death of lakes and streams.

"They're talking about shifting the blame and it looks like they're shifting the blame from themselves," Harnik said. "I would have liked to see something in — the Madison Avenue promotion about recycling, about cutting down on products that make up most of our litter. Keep America Beautiful is sort of a front for keeping America quiet."

High landing

LIGHT PLANE with two men aboard landed in top of tall trees near Hancock, Mass., after flight from Niagara Falls. Pilot Antonio Dorazio 54, North Providence, R.I., and passenger climbed down trees with only slight ankle injury to Daniel McDade, Lincoln, R.I. (UPI)

Explorer Scouts to meet

TWIN FALLS — Thirteen Explorer Scouts from the Snake River Area Council will leave June 2 to represent this area in the first National Explorer President's Congress.

Darl Gleed, council Scout executive, said President Richard M. Nixon is honorary chairman of the five-day congress which will be at the Sheraton Park Hotel, Washington, D. C.

The 13 Magic Valley Scouts will join 2,500 other Explorers to have a voice in the nation-wide Exploring program by participating in elections, leadership seminars and exchange sessions with top government leaders.

Leaving by charter flight from the Salt Lake City Airport will be Mark Herzinger, J. Vaun McArthur, Scott Jensen and Walter Whitaker, all Twin Falls; Steven Blingham, Bart Robbins, both Burley; David Coats and Brian Mackay, both Rupert; Gregory Morgan, Heyburn; Stuart Tolman, Murtaugh; Tim Ellsworth, Halley; Mark Cutler, Wendell, and Dennis Barrow, Declo. Doral Fitzsimonds, council executive, will also be going to Washington as an Explorer adviser.

Several of the Explorers are being financially aided by their sponsors and Explorer posts. The Explorer presidents will participate in a variety of training programs, to make them more effective leaders. They will have sessions with Attorney General John Mitchell, satirist Al Capp and Walter Washington, mayor of Washington, D. C.

Observance hit

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus proclaimed the week of May 16 as "world trade week" Monday, but Secretary of State Pete Cennarus, who signed and affixed the official state seal, said he did so with "reluctance."

The governor's staff said Andrus made the proclamation at the request of President Richard Nixon. Nixon made a similar proclamation and asked that appropriate federal, state and local officials cooperate in observing the week.

Cennarus is a Republican as is the President, while Andrus is a Democrat. Nevertheless,

Cennarus said he disagreed with the proclamation and signed it "with reluctance."

"The secretary of state said, 'a lot of bad things have happened since 1960 and the Kennedy round on trade agreements.'"

He added they have "tended to make America a consuming nation instead of a producing nation." He said this has had an adverse effect on employment.

"I've seen it in the textile business," he said, as a former sheep rancher before becoming secretary of state.

Lunch trade proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate subcommittee made public today a letter from a Nebraska school superintendent offering free school lunches for two children if their parents would sell certain property to the school.

"If this is not in agreement with you, there will be no free lunches," the letter said.

The Senate Hunger subcommittee, headed by Sen. George McGovern D-S.D., has been hearing testimony concerning the problems the poor have in obtaining school lunches.

The subcommittee released a letter signed by Darrel E. Schilz, superintendent of the Lyman, Neb. public schools, written Jan. 20, to Juan Ballesteros, who had applied for free lunches for his children, Viola and Leo.

Schilz said the children were ineligible for the lunches because their father's income did not meet state criteria.

"I have one other offer," the letter said. "The school will offer to give free lunches to Viola and Leo for the rest of this year at no cost. In addition we will give Leo free lunches next year at no cost — if you will take $300 for the lots that we have been trying to obtain for the schools.

news about the people you know

Valley Living

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to you with a problem two years ago. I had a pretty young neighbor who wore short shorts and a halter top to do her housework in. She also went outdoors to hang her laundry in that outfit. I used to feel badly because my husband would always find some excuse to go outside and talk to her.

I asked you what I should do, and you wrote me a personal reply saying, "If that's what your husband likes, buy some short shorts and a halter top and give your neighbor a little competition."

I followed your advice, feeling a bit self-conscious because I have a slightly crippled arm, but I soon got over my shyness when I saw how my husband reacted. He just loved seeing me in that outfit and became so much more demonstrative and affectionate toward me.

Abby, the last two years of our marriage have been the best in all the 10 we've been married. I think you should have put my first letter and your personal reply in the paper. It might have helped other timid wives overcome their shyness and put more happiness into their lives.

GRATEFUL

DEAR GRATEFUL: It's still not too late. Thanks for writing. Your letter made my day.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow and I live alone. Nearly every Sunday a cousin comes to visit me for a few hours, and she always brings a lot of gossip about the rest of the family. I am really not interested in hearing about the marital woes of this niece and that nephew, or the financial struggles of other relatives, or which relative is on the outs with another relative, and that's all she ever talks about.

How can I avoid having the family garbage dumped on me week after week? I try to change the subject, but she gets right back on it again. If I tell her plainly I don't care for family gossip, she will berate me for my "holier than thou" attitude. She is vicious. Can you help me?

ANTI-GOSSIP

DEAR ANTI-GOSSIP: You'll need an accomplice for my solution. Invite a friend or neighbor over. Even the most vicious gossip will refrain from washing the family linen in the presence of a third party.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a wonderful man, and we have four children. Elmer (not real name) and I are very happy, but my problem is my mother-in-law.

She never comes over unless specifically invited. I can't understand this as we try to let her know that she is welcome to drop in anytime. Elmer feels neglected because he has a sister, whom his mother talks to daily, and to whose house she goes often. This sister doesn't live any closer to his mother than we do.

Elmer stops in to see his mother at least once a week, but he feels hurt that she never comes here. Is it true that "A son is a son until he takes a wife, but a daughter is a daughter all her life"?

NO TOWN PLEASE

DEAR NO TOWN: Not necessarily, but the mother-daughter relationship is usually closer than the mother-son. There are many exceptions, however. Tell Elmer to quit sitting around wondering what's wrong, and to ask his mother straight out if there is some reason she doesn't visit more often. And if she assures him that all is well he should quit pouting, and continue to call on HER to keep in touch.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JUST PLAIN UNLUCKY"

A word about "Isk." my friend: The harder one works, the luckier he gets.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 6700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90060. For a personal reply enclose STAMPEL, addressed envelope.

A Lovelier You

NO PLUCKED-CHICKEN LOOK!

By Mary Sue Miller.

A teen Lovely writes: my eyebrows are too dark and thick, almost covering the space above my nose. Mother says she would not frown on plucking if I learned to do it properly. Please help.

The Answer: Plucking your eyebrows is a tricky business. A drastic removal of strands leads to a plucked-chicken effect. Sometimes the strands never grow back.

Even when brows are overgrown to the bushy point, only the hairs that fall below the general outline and above the nose should be drawn. To make sure you know what the general outline is brush groom your brows straight up then smooth off the top line. Always brush groom before plucking and, if you feel shaky about the outcome, fix the outline with quick strokes of an eyebrow pencil.

For the operation you need a magnifying mirror, good quality tweezers and mild antiseptic. Dip your tweezers in antiseptic before using. Swab your eyebrows with antiseptic when the process is completed. Should plucking prove painful, soften hairs at the outset with warm-water compresses or a film of petrolatum jelly.

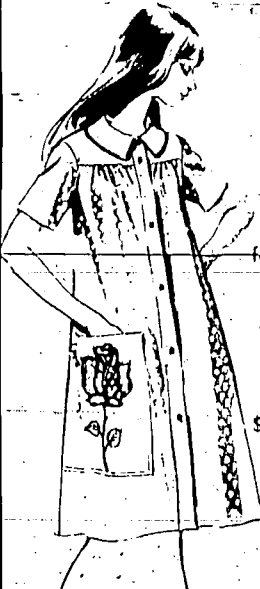

As to your brow color: There is a makeup trend toward less prominent shades. If you wish a lighter color, apply an amber brush-on brow powder. Or try a whisk of plain face powder and brush.

But no matter what the fashion, following extremes is a beauty risk.

SIGHT-TESTING PROGRAM will be held May 10-15 in conjunction with a hearing testing program at the Magic Valley YM-YWCA. Here Mrs. Robert Alexander works with Jamie Fitzpatrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fitzpatrick, at right, and Jason Meyerhoeffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Meyerhoeffer. Sponsors of the clinic are Delta Gamma Alumnae, Welcome Wagon Club and Junior Club. The clinic is free to all area children ages 4 to 6.

Look here

Vision, hearing clinic planned by 3 Twin Falls organizations

TWIN FALLS — Because organizations feel that it's up to someone else to determine if a child does have a sight or hearing problem, and will be doing something about it during a free clinic in May. Teams of trained volunteers from Delta Gamma alumnae organizations and Junior Club will conduct lazy eye examinations for pre-school children. Women from the Welcome Wagon Club will be conducting the pre-school hearing screening center.

The clinic will be conducted on five full days and half a day on Saturday, from May 10 to 15 at the YM-YWCA. Hours will be 9 a.m. until noon and 1 to 4 p.m. May 10 through May 14, and half a day on May 15.

Children between the ages of 4 and 6 may take part in the clinic and do not need an appointment. Mrs. Dale Leslie said it is hoped parents will bring their children to both clinics at the same time.

Members of sponsoring groups said there is no charge for the clinic and that if any hearing or sight difficulties are detected, parents will be advised to take the child to a physician or expert in sight or hearing.

Equipment for the testing has been donated by Malco Hearing Aid Center. An audiometer, which the club members have been trained to operate, will be used to assist in hearing tests.

Members said that 4 years is a vital age and is the earliest age at which vision and hearing defects can be detected. It is also the age, they said, at which children begin to form permanent patterns and at which they are about to embark on educational years.

A child that is treated early for a minor defect has a better chance of success in treatment and a better chance of overcoming emotional, psychological or educational handicaps that result from poor sight," said Mrs. E.W. McRoberts, president of the alumnae association.

Contact with parents is being made through kindergartens, child care center and local schools. Many will not be reached, sponsors of the clinic said, but all who are aware of the clinic are urged to bring their children in for a check-up. The sponsors said every child should have a sight and hearing test before entering school and that the clinic provides a free opportunity to have a check-up.

Mrs. Paul T. Smith is chairman and Mrs. James Fitzpatrick, publicity chairman for the Junior Club; Mrs. Robert Alexander, chairman for Delta Gamma; Mrs. Leslie, chairman of the hearing clinic for the Welcome Wagon Club, assisted by Mrs. Daniel Neu, testing chairman; Mrs. Lowell Hurah, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Tom Nelson.

make an overtrick, but his contract is sure.

Let's see what happens if North makes his inferior opening bid of one spade. South will respond two clubs. If North rebids two diamonds, South will have to decide between a jump to three spades and a bid in no-trump. If he bids no-trump everything will be fine. If he jumps in spades North will be playing four spades or three no-trump. He won't make four spades. He may not make three no-trump.

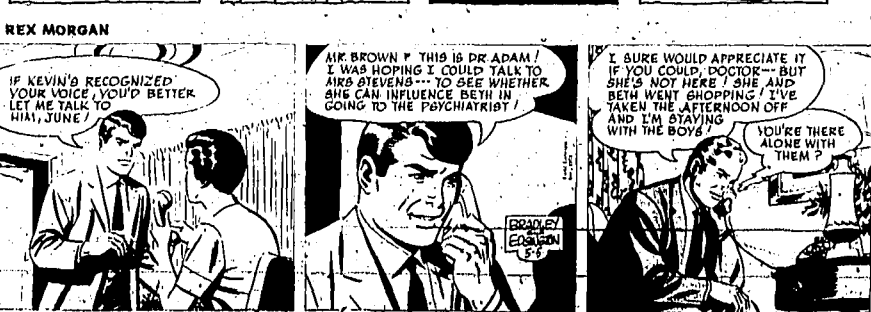

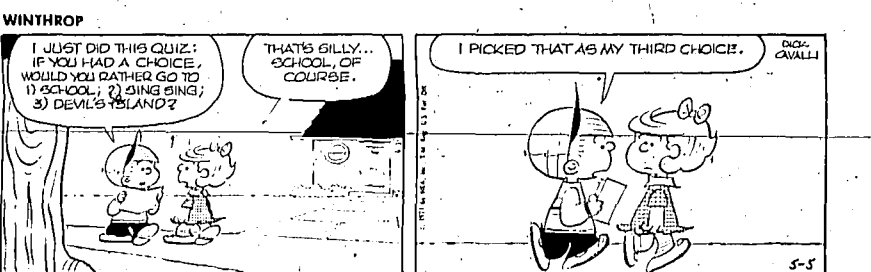

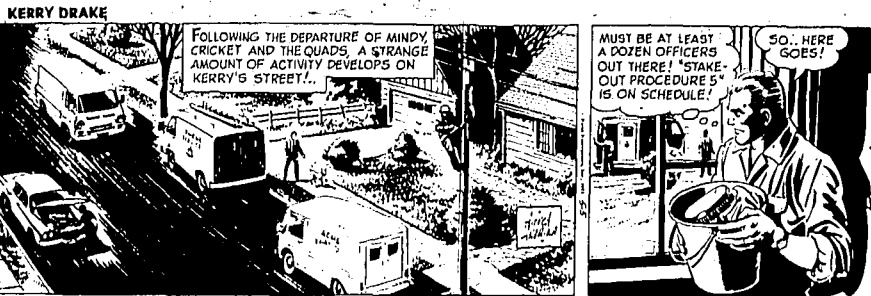

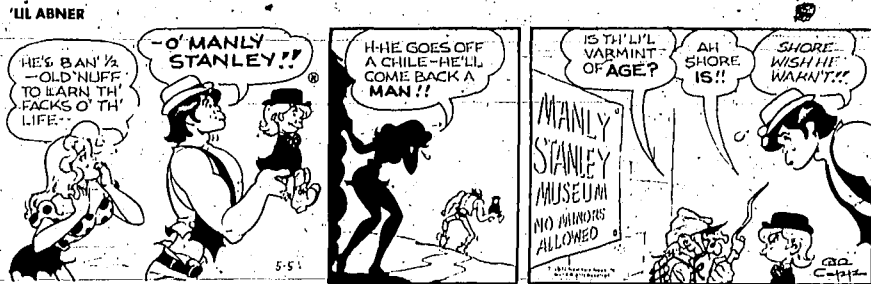

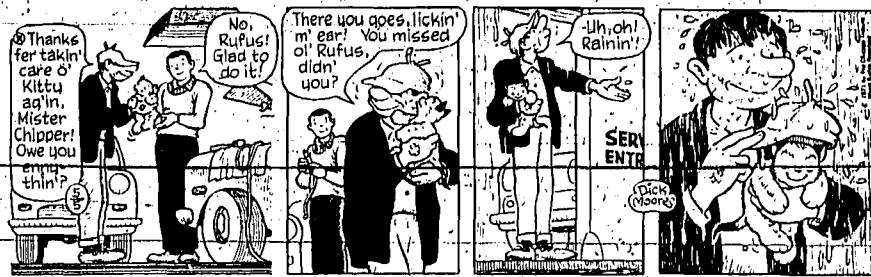

When North opens one spade and rebids two diamonds and South knows that he may have opened a four-card suit, then South has terrific problems. But when North opens one diamond and rebids in a spade, his partner will play him for only four cards in that suit.

DIVORCE INSURANCE, ever heard of that? Newlyweds would be required to take it out when they got married. If they divorced then, the ex-wife would draw payments, but the ex-husband would be free of any obligation to support her and the youngsters. Such was recently proposed in a British legal journal known as the Law Guardian. Interesting. All the happily married couples would be responsible for the support of all the disconsolate divorcees. No, our Love and War man isn't ready for it, yet.

LATEST FIGURES indicate more husbands run away from home in May than in any other month... DID I TELL YOU loads originated in South America?... STATISTICALLY, that time of a woman's life when she's most apt to hold down a salaried job now is age 49... COCA COLA was invented as a headache remedy, remember... IN THOSE CASES where the men divorce their wives in Russia, the most commonly used legal ground translates "loss of affection."

WENT TO LUNCH the other day in one of those snazzy rooms that puts on a noon fashion show. Numerous young ladies in bikinis, barely legitimate, siddled here and there between the tables, whispering price tags. It is a sweet and gentle thing to view the beauty on the beach where the hair and hip and ankle all are one. But when some inflated girl with hardly any clothes on eases up to within six inches of the napkins, that's odd. Certainly heightens your concentration on a pork chop. Finally mastered the moment, however. Trick is to lock your eyes on her eyes, and hang on, no matter what.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: Q. "Don't the people in San Francisco buy more liquor than anybody?" A. Except for the people in Washington, D.C., they do. Q. "Did I understand you to say I should expect 40 cupsful out of a pound of coffee? How many out of a pound of tea?" A. About 200. Q. "Where's the windiest spot on earth?" A. Must be Commonwealth Bay in Antarctica. It's said 200 mph winds zip around there fairly often.

"IF THE MAN who is about to cut your hair asks you which side you part it on, he's inexperienced," contends a barber of long service in the trade. "Any good tonsorialist can figure out the proper part by finding the whorl on the back of the head. The part should go forward from the center of that."

IT'S NOT GENERALLY known that the great Benjamin Franklin much of his grownup life slept in two different beds each night. Intermittent insomnia was his problem. He got the odd notion that rumpled bed clothing caused it. So when he woke up in the dark, instead of just lying there, he crawled into his extra bed and promptly dozed off again. His wife Deborah really loved the old boy. Must have.

2 trees planted by pupils

WENDELL — Wendell sixth graders have planted two Colorado blue spruce trees which were dedicated at a program, according to Mrs. Opal Dixon, teacher.

Members of the two-sixth grade classes presented several choral readings which included "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer; "Trees" by Harry Behm, and "Planting a Tree" by Nancy Byrd Turner.

Original poems were ready by Cheryl McCloud, Barbara Crosby, LaDella Smith, Diane Hendrix, Clint Betson, Kelly Holmes, Steven Peters, David Koch, Rocky Frith, Frank Smith, Deanna Vennard, and Donita Wert.

The entire elementary school student body and staff attended the dedication ceremony. Twelve trees and eight shrubs have been planted in the last six years under the supervision of Mrs. Dixon and Tom Vaughn.

Wendell eatery bought

WENDELL — Ted and Esther Barnes of the Appleton area of Wendell have purchased the Taster Treat, located on Main Street across from the post office, from Mr. and Mrs. Gene Barrus who started the business 14 years ago.

The Barnes, former Twin Falls residents, have lived in Wendell since 1961. Their daughter, Mrs. Jan Seegrist, will work for them.

Barnes is a member of the Thousand Springs VFW Post and a veteran of World War II. He served in Europe.

He has worked as a chef in a number of cafes and before purchasing the business was employed by J.C. Palmers, Gooding, as a meat cutter.

The Taster Treat is open seven days a week from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., but Barnes stated during the summer months the evening hours will be adjusted to accommodate the customer's need.

No formal open house is being planned.

Open house scheduled

WENDELL — Open house is scheduled Saturday and Sunday on a new subdivision of pre-built homes which is being developed on Sixth Avenue East in Wendell.

Guests will be given a guided tour of the first homes in the project, which will be completed over a two-year period, according to Lyle Frazier, operation manager of Regal Manufacturing Co., Kimberly.

The Bailey Roberts Realty, Twin Falls and Burley, is handling arrangements for the project and the homes are pre-built at the Kimberly firm's plant and then assembled on the subdivision site at Wendell. The homes feature country size kitchens, breakfast bar, carpeting throughout, utility rooms, thermal pane windows and are all electric.

They will vary from two to four bedrooms, Frazier said, but the homes now being completed all are three bedrooms.

Financing can be arranged either by the FHA or through conventional lending institutions such as banks.

Russel Rost heads Wendell students

WENDELL — Russel Rost, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rost, was elected president of the Wendell High School student body, Willard Spalding, principal, announced today.

Other officers include George Ambrose, vice president; Mark Cutler, student body manager, and Mary Ann Miller, secretary-treasurer.

Balloting was made one week following the nominations from the student council. People other than those nominated by the council were given the chance to have a petition signed by 25 student body members to enter in the competition.

Campaigners were not allowed to display posters outside of the school area and each candidate was allowed to decorate a car sporting his slogans.

The new president spoke to members of the student body and stated that the student lounge, which is presently in the library, will be moved downstairs to Room 11 where it can be furnished with couches, TVs, pop, fruit and candy machines. He stated that if any student feels he has a problem he should talk to Rost or to Spalding.
