Crowd control

MOUNTED POLICEMEN wield night sticks as they break up unruly anti-war demonstrators in San Francisco's financial district Wednesday. An estimated 1,000 persons staged the "May Day 1971" rally as an effort to shut down the district and businesses which "profit" from the Vietnam war. (UPI)

Dissidents extend acts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Anti-war protesters, rebuffed by the courts in their efforts to have arrests at the U.S. Capitol declared invalid today extended their "spring offensive" for marches on the South Vietnamese Embassy and the Metropolitan Police Department.

The 17 days of demonstrations planned by the May Day Tribe and the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice had been scheduled to end Wednesday. But 12,800 arrests including 1,300 on the steps of the U.S. Capitol Wednesday prompted the demonstrators to stage another round of activity.

Gem court hears church-tax appeal

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI)—The Idaho Supreme Court heard arguments on a district court ruling exempting taxes on 11.5 acres of church-owned property on Coeur d'Alene Lake today during the final day of its three-day stay here.

In its arguments, Kootenai County contended the lake property in question is subject to taxes since it is not used exclusively for religious purposes.

The North Idaho Jurisdiction of Episcopal Churches, Inc., owns the property in question at McDonald point 10 miles south of here as part of a church camp.

Road link set

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States today signed an agreement with Colombia and Panama to construct the final link in the 14,000-mile Pan American Highway which will connect Alaska to the southern tip of South America.

The agreements call for construction of a 250-mile stretch across the Darien Gap in Colombia and Panama. The Darien Gap is an area of forest, jungles and swamps until

Bombers harass N. Viets

SAIGON (UPI)—Thailand-based B52's of the Strategic Air Command bombarded Communist positions around the A Siau Valley in four new raids late Wednesday night and early today.

In the 40 hours ending at dawn today, the eight-engined Stratofortresses had blasted jungle-concealed North Vietnamese base camps and supply dumps with more than 500 tons of explosives in seven separate raids, military sources said.

Spokesmen for the Army of the Republic of (South) Vietnam (ARVN) said more than 10,000 South Vietnamese and nearly 4,500 American troops remained poised at rear bases for a drive into the 35-mile long valley 375 miles northwest of Saigon.

This has given the North Vietnamese ample time to build up their own forces in the valley.

FBI seeks 150 for gambling

WASHINGTON (UPI)—More than 400 FBI agents and local police began a roundup today in Michigan of 151 persons including a Detroit police inspector and 15 policemen indicted on federal gambling charges.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell announced action in 37 Michigan cities, including Detroit, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Flint, Saginaw, Battle Creek and Kalamazoo.

Mitchell said a federal "strike force" in Detroit coordinated raids. The operation was described as one of the largest on record in terms of the number of arrests in a single round-up.

Germany to consult on dollar's future

BONN (UPI)—The West German government said today it was postponing its decision on the monetary crisis involving marks and dollars until it could seek joint action with France and the other four members of the European Common Market.

The money crisis spread to Japan where banks suspended trading in the German mark because of its strength against the dollar. Between $300 and $350 million flooded in to buy Japanese yen and the Bank of Japan intervened with massive purchases to keep the dollar within one per cent of the official exchange of 360 yen. Tokyo's foreign exchange banks awaited government guidance on whether to resume dollar exchanges Friday.

Government sources expressed pessimism on changes of Paris joining in a common move to stem the flood of dollars inundating Germany, and other West European nations. France under Charles de Gaulle attacked the dollar but in recent months has tried to support it. Official money markets in Germany remained closed for the second day. Unofficial trading in dollars was sparse and nervous, commercial banks reported. At noon a dollar was bringing only 3.57 marks compared with the official exchange rate of 3.66 marks. This meant a mark was worth 28.2 cents instead of 27.3 cents.

Initially Chancellor Willy Brandt's government planned to make and announce a decision after Friday's cabinet meeting. But spokesmen said the cabinet would meet instead on Saturday or Sunday after the crisis is discussed by the Common Market ministers of economics and finance in Brussels on Saturday.

The government was inclined towards ending the mark's fixed exchange rate and letting it float to its natural level as at least a temporary way out of the crisis, parliamentary sources said.

Government sources said either an upward revaluation of the mark to a new fixed parity, or some form of exchange controls was not excluded.

New plan Rogers carries Egypt proposal

TEL AVIV (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers flew in from Cairo today with a new Egyptian peace plan and told the Israelis they had met the agencies of war and now must meet the agony of making peace.

It was a tough statement from Rogers who had conferred earlier in the day with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, and he quoted President Nixon as saying Israel's security can come finally only from peace with the Arabs.

The Israelis were being equally tough in their statements. Tel Aviv newspapers and officials made it clear Israel would resist any efforts Rogers made to soften Israel's policy toward the Suez Canal and other issues during this last and most crucial stage of his Middle East mission.

"Israel has experienced and met the challenge and agony of waging war," he said in an arrival statement in the 90 degree heat at Lod International Airport. "I am confident that Israel will equally meet the challenge and indeed the agony of making peace." He left immediately for Jerusalem and talks with David Ben-Gurion, one of Israel's founders, and with Prime Minister Golda Meir and other Israeli leaders.

Rogers, carrying a letter from Nixon to Mrs. Meir, said he was convinced there may not be a "better opportunity for a long time to come" to settle the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Nixon's letter, he said, "states his conviction that Israel's security in the long run can only come from a binding peace settlement with her Arab neighbors ...

"This search for peace will be the central theme of the talks I look forward to having with your prime minister, with and with others of your government, as well as with members of the Knesset. "I expect the talks to be frank but friendly."

The secretary came away from his visit with Sadat saying in a departure statement Egypt and Israel held "parallel views."

ALBERT CARLSEN
Idaho Power Chairman

Carlsen to head utility

Albert (Al) Carlsen, president and chief operating officer of the Idaho Power Co. since early 1967, will be the new chairman of the board, the Times-News learned today just before press time.

The selection of Carlsen to succeed the retired T.E. Roach was to be announced late this afternoon at a directors meeting in session at Boise.

Army still needs draft

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Armed Services Committee predicted today that attempts to end the draft in the near future would fail because of a striking and serious deficiency in Army combat volunteers.

The committee opened the case for a two-year extension of the draft as the Senate plunged into a debate over conscription and the Vietnam War—a discussion that could last all spring.

The panel, headed by Sen. John G. Stennis, D-Miss., filed a lengthy report warmly recommending approval of President Nixon's $1-billion proposal to raise military and pay benefits. The administration hopes the release will produce enough volunteers to end draft calls by mid-1973. But the committee report was skeptical.

It said only 4 per cent of Army combat GI's are volunteers and it said this was a major reason "why attempts to acquire military manpower without the draft in the near future are likely to be unsuccessful."

In addition, the panel estimated 50 per cent of those who volunteer for any military service are motivated by the draft.

Three members of the committee filed a minority report disagreeing with the conclusion.

Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., and Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, said the draft should be extended for only one year and the $1-billion pay and benefits "doubled in an effort to produce an all-volunteer Army by next summer."

The three senators said forcing low-ranking servicemen to accept low pay rates, was "imposed a heavy hidden tax on our young men at the very time they are forced to carry the burden of combat."

War toll up

SAIGON (UPI)—Sixty-eight Americans were killed in action last week, the highest death toll in four weeks, the U.S. command announced today. It said 592 Americans were wounded.

The command said continuing U.S. withdrawals, coupled with Vietnamization of the ground war, had cut the American casualty rate in half.

During the first four months of this year, 870 American servicemen were killed in action, spokesmen said, and 5,857 were wounded. During the same period last year, there were 1,754 U.S. battle deaths and 13,198 wounded.

But last week's death toll of 68 was the heaviest since the week ending April 3, when 88 Americans were killed.

The casualties suffered by U.S. troops last week pushed the total for the Vietnam War to 45,067 killed and 298,881 wounded since Jan. 1, 1961, spokesmen said.

Houses teeter on brink of clay crater

Giant cave-in prompts exodus

ST. JEAN VIANNEY, Que. (UPI)—The French called it the Riviere des Terres Rompues—the River of Broken Lands. Today it is the land of broken lives.

Residents by the hundreds, with mattresses, televisions and even baby tricycles strapped on top of their cars, left the area, some sobbing when told that 31 of their neighbors were feared dead. Many said they never would come back.

"I'll be damned if I will raise my children in this rotten town," said a worker for the Aluminum Co. of Canada, one of the major employers in the area.

St. Jean Vianney, a quiet village of 2,000 persons on a clay bed along the river, has a history of landslides. But the cave-in Tuesday night was the worst. It created a pit a mile long and 300 feet deep and swallowed 40 homes in tons of mud described as "cold lava."

Three persons have been confirmed dead, 28 are still missing and more than 1,000 residents of the northern Quebec town were evacuated. The slides continued through Wednesday night and there was the possibility of more.

Royal Canadian Air Force officials Wednesday ordered the evacuation from the so-called "new town," a section consisting mostly of relatively new four-room bungalows stretched in rows across a street which abruptly ended in a 300-foot abyss.

Officials said that in all probability the evacuees would not be allowed back into the town, about 200 miles north of Quebec City, for at least four months—if at all. The trouble was not over. Small tremors still were being felt and natural resources engineers fear another 800 feet of the town may sink below the surface.

Queen Elizabeth, visiting Canada, sent her condolences.

Shaping up

THE NEW VO-TECH building at the College of Southern Idaho begins to take shape, as workmen erect vertical forms for pouring concrete walls. The horizontal wires in the form are "tie-down" wires which will hold the other side of the form against the pressure of the concrete. This room will become the mechanical headquarters of the new building, containing heating and air-conditioning links with the rest of the campus.

'Starving' baby now healthy because of Mothers Milk Bank

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brown's newborn son, Jonah, was literally starving to death in the hospital.

The doctors tried everything they knew to overcome the intestinal disorder which made it impossible for the infant to digest any prepared formula.

But Jonah continued to lose weight and strength. After a month and a half he weighed less than five pounds.

"He couldn't absorb any food," his mother recalled. "But after we started getting the breast milk from the Mothers' Milk Bank he started getting fat and healthy."

Jonah, now five months old, is only one of more than 1,000 healthy, happy children, some of whom would not have survived if it had not been for the human breast milk donated through the San Francisco Mothers' Milk Bank.

Modern medicine does not yet fully understand the remarkable health-giving power of breast milk, but the doctors and parents of certain premature or sick babies who have been saved by it know the value of such organizations as the Mothers' Milk Bank here.

The San Francisco milk bank, like a similar one in Wilmington, Del., provides pasteurized breast milk for babies who need human milk to survive but cannot obtain it from their mothers.

Dr. Richard Leonards, a San Francisco pediatrician and chief medical advisor to the milk bank, explained that human milk is often the only food which can be assimilated by some sick or premature infants.

"Some infants are so highly allergic to other types of proteins that they can tolerate only human breast milk," Leonards said. "Some premature babies usually progress better on breast milk than on any other formula, and infants who have gastro-intestinal surgery seem to do better also."

"Babies who are on breast milk generally have a higher tolerance for infectious diseases."

Human milk contains not only the basic nutrients, vitamins and minerals ready for immediate absorption, but it also contains disease-fighting antibodies, said the doctor, who predicted that more mothers' milk banks will appear across the country in coming months.

"There has been a major swing from formula feeding back to breast feeding," he said.

Although numerous hospitals have collected breast milk when it was needed for emergency cases, the mothers' milk banks here and in Wilmington are the only centers in the country where human milk is continually processed and available.

Mrs. Helen Fell, a past president of the milk bank here and one of its founders in 1948, hopes the San Francisco operation can serve as "a model for similar centers across the country."

Mrs. Sophie Beck, the milk bank's fulltime nurse, handles the refrigerating, straining, pooling, pasteurizing, freezing and storage of the milk which is brought to the bank from the donor mothers' homes by volunteers.

Mrs. Beck prepares samples for testing by the San Francisco Department of Public Health and for research in several hospitals and medical schools.

The nurse and a secretary are the only fulltime paid employees. The milk bank relies on volunteers for most of the day-to-day work.

During its 23-year existence, the bank has helped about 1,350 babies with milk donated by more than 1,000 mothers.

Kimberly senior banquet slated

KIMBERLY — Graduating seniors of the Kimberly High School will be honored in a chamber of commerce sponsored recognition banquet Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the grade school auditorium.

Featured speaker will be Larry Klesler, Boise, president of Norco, who will speak on "The Wonderful World of Cryogenics," the science of using extreme cold in food processing, farming, aerospace and electronics.

Klesler's firm supplies medical gases, safety equipment, industrial gases and welding products to the local area.

In addition to Kimberly seniors, the chamber of commerce will honor Supt. and Mrs. Clinton Bugg, and Principal and Mrs. William Box and Mrs. Mae Chatterton, class sponsor. Families and friends of the class members are urged to attend and participate in the tribute to graduates.

Holland Houburg will be master of ceremonies and Lewis Porter, chamber president, is in charge of arrangements. Committee members include Phillip Arnold, Robert Bradshaw, Charles Johnson and Mrs. Don Whitehead. Tickets are available from chamber members and Kimberly Booster Club members.

Idaho's share in revenue plan told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, said today Idaho would receive nearly $65 million in federal funds under the Nixon Administration revenue sharing proposal.

"More than $20 million of this would be new money without strings attached," McClure said. "Local units of government will all share in the distribution with Boise city receiving nearly $700,000 annually."

McClure made the announcement as he was preparing to leave his Washington D. C. office for Portland, Oregon, and Boise, Idaho as a member of a congressional task force. He will be in Boise May 7-8 to explain the effect of the Nixon revenue sharing plan. McClure said there would be a reception at the Hotel Boise Friday evening followed by a dinner meeting starting at 7:30 p.m.

The congressional team is one of 17 that is criss-crossing the country to discuss the administration proposals.

Question...
I am caring for my granddaughter born out of wedlock to my daughter who was killed in an automobile accident. Is it true that illegitimate children may not sue for damages in the death of a parent?
Answer...
There was a time in several states when the right to sue for damages in the wrongful death of a parent was based upon the legal rather than biological relationship they bore to each other. In these states an illegitimate child was denied the right to sue for damages.
As a result of a 1965 Supreme Court decision this was changed and now all states have been made uniform. Justice Douglas delivering the majority opinion for the Court said, "Illegitimate children are not non persons, they are humans, live and have their being."
Some state laws restrict the right of illegitimate children to inherit from their parents, very possibly the Supreme Court's decision will now equalize their rights with those of legitimate children.

T.F. garage gets truck franchise

TWIN FALLS — Ace Hansen Chevrolet of Twin Falls has been awarded the heavy duty truck franchise for this area by Chevrolet Motors.

Ace Hansen, owner of the firm, announced that Winston Morris, who has been heavy duty truck manager for Standard Ford in Idaho Falls for 15 years, will be manager of the dealership's new line.

Hansen said truck sales for the present will be operated at 213-Fifth-Ave.-W., separate from the car dealership on Main Avenue West.

Ace Hansen Chevrolet will start construction on a new building within a month and will be operating out of the new location by October. The location is on Blue Lakes Boulevard North, north of the Holiday Inn.

Student talks to Rotary

TWIN FALLS — Stephen Thompson, Australian student who is studying in Twin Falls as an American Field Service exchange student, described his homeland for the Rotary Club Wednesday.

Thompson told of the Australian continent, the nation's history, and about the political system. He also compared the American and Australian systems of government.

Madrigal singers from Twin Falls High School presented several numbers at the meeting. The ensemble was introduced by John Lawrence, principal at the school.

Half mast

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus authorized Idaho's four institutions of higher learning Wednesday to fly American and Idaho flags at half-staff.

A spokesman for Andrus said all four institutions asked permission to lower the flags in commemoration of the deaths of four Kent State University students a year ago.

The governor's office said Andrus simply reacted to the request and gave his permission and that the idea did not originate with him.

Record price paid

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American record for a single session auction of art work was set Wednesday night when 73 paintings and sculptures from Los Angeles tycoon Norton Simon's collection sold for $6,506,300.

The sale at Parke-Barnett galleries set a world auction record of $380,000 for a sculpture—a Degas bronze of a baller—dancer—and another world auction record of $420,000 for a Gauguin oil, a self-portrait painted just before the artist left Paris for Tahiti.

The previous auction record, set last year, was $5,852,250 for another 73-lot sale of the same 19th and 20th century masters at the same gallery. It also featured works from a west coast collection that of the late San Francisco banker, W. W.

Crocker. Even auctioneer Peter Wilson, who conducted the Simon sale, lost his usual British cool. He had come from London to conduct the sale which the gallery's experts had estimated would bring a little over $5 million.

"We went way above 20 per cent more than the estimate," said Wilson after the sale. "This really demonstrates the strength of art at a time when the world monetary market is still questionable. It shows the faith people have in investment in first rate art."

The price at the sale was $1.2 million for Van Gogh's "St. Paul's Hospital at St. Remy," where the artist was a mental patient in 1889. It was a $100,000 short of the record auction price for a Van Gogh.

But the sale set world records for paintings by Boudin, Signac, Daubigny, and Delacroix and sculpture by Matisse.

Post set for past governor

BOISE (UPI) — Former Idaho Gov. Don W. Samuelson is expected to be named the top U.S. transportation department official in the Pacific-Northwest, the Idaho Statesman reported today.

In a story from its Washington bureau, the newspaper said Samuelson will be named regional representative of the transportation secretary at Seattle. The White House is expected to announce the appointment by the end of the week, the paper said.

The newspaper said the Seattle post has been vacant since former Iowa Gov. Norman Erbe was moved to Chicago to direct the Midwest region.

Spend more, Nixon told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic economist Arthur M. Okun said Wednesday that if President Nixon wants to pull unemployment below 6 per cent by the time the 1972 election rolls around he must now decide to tax less, spend more and damn the deficits.

Okun, the chief economic adviser to President Lyndon B. Johnson, offered his advice at a hearing of a subcommittee of the House-Senate Joint Economic Committee, whose Democratic majority already is on record recommending similar policies.

President Nixon hinted Saturday that he may adopt part of Okun's advice, which has become standard liberal economic dogma.

He told a news conference at San Clemente, Calif., that if the economy does not show a spurt in May, June and July "then we will act — on the tax front" — hinting that he had a quickie tax cut in mind.

Okun said the government should pump up to $10 billion into the economy by spending $5.5 billion more than was planned in January and by putting into immediate effect the $4.5 billion worth of income tax cuts which are scheduled for 1972 and 1973.

Those cuts will increase the personal exemption to $750 and the standard deduction to 15 per cent by 1973. The exemption was $625 and the standard deduction was 13 per cent or $1,400 last year.

A one-shot tax cut, Okun testified, would be "self-limiting and self-terminating" and thus would not "become an engine of inflation in future years" when unemployment and business sluggishness is no longer the problem.

In recent days, Democratic Sen. Henry M. Jackson, Wash., William Proxmire, Wis., and Walter F. Mondale, Minn., also have called for immediate enactment of the future tax cuts, a step that would require congressional approval.

An increase in spending, a tax cut or both would add billions to the $11 billion deficit Nixon projected in January for the new fiscal year beginning in July, but Okun and others argue that the stimulation of deficit spending is what the economy now needs.

Mining firm has stormy session

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — A stormy meeting of the shareholders of the Sunshine Mining Co. ended here late Tuesday with the board of directors re-elected to their positions.

Irwin P. Underwiler, New York attorney and president of Sunshine, said 3.9 million of the company's 5.3 million shares were voted in favor of the present slate of officers.

Cries of mismanagement were heard from dissident shareholders including former President Thomas F. McManus, New York, who was ousted last year.

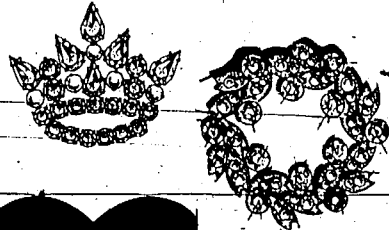

Milton Altschul, New York investor, claimed the management was wasting and dissipating company property, especially with the purchase of Renwell

Industries, Inc., a small eastern electronics firm which Altschul claimed had a "negative worth of several million dollars."

"What a bomb to buy," Altschul said. "It resulted in significant dilution of our stock." Company officials reported first quarter output was 66,000 tons of silver ore compared with 65,100 tons for the same period last year.

Marvin C. Chase, Kellogg, vice president and general manager, said completion of the new $1.5 million antimony plant last month will raise the firm's output of that metal from two million to 4.5 million pounds per year. Sunshine already is the country's leading antimony producer.

Of A Viet Vet

Not all Vietnam veterans took part in those get-out-of-the-war demonstrations in Washington, either in person or in spirit.

"Having just returned from 14 months of duty in Vietnam it is agonizingly depressing that the great sacrifices made by so many may yet be negated," writes an ex-GI named Jeffrey B. Gayner of Brecksville, Ohio, in a letter to a local newspaper.

President Nixon, he says, has been wise in ignoring the pleas of his critics and courageous in continuing his program of gradual Vietnamization.

"The really important issue being decided in Vietnam is whether we as people have as much fortitude in pursuing our ideals and beliefs as do the Communists in pursuing theirs.

"It would be especially tragic if our open society, by exposing us daily to the horrors of war, should thereby cause us to refuse to halt the advance of a rigidly closed totalitarian society."

This is only one veteran's opinion. Or is it?

Hippie Styles

Take a second look at that disgusting, shaggy, unshorn, social parasite of a hippie you just passed on the street.

That's no hippie. That's a fine example of affluent modern youth, a solid, free-spending American consumer.

If you don't believe it, consider the hair, for instance, writes Barry Newman in the Wall Street Journal.

It may look unshorn, but that young fellow just paid a razor-wielding tonsorial artist $7.50 to get every strand carefully whittled into the right degree of shagginess. Then he sprayed it with a $1.50 can of stuff guaranteed to leave it looking as if nothing had been put on it.

As for the clothes, if you check the label you'll find the "surplus" jacket just came off a rack at a hip little boutique. The tie-dyed T-shirt is new, too, and cost $2 more than the regular kind. The jeans are also brand-new, and you have to pay extra to get them prefaded and pretattered.

Those Army boots were never on any quartermaster's inventory, and those sandals that look as if they had been cut out of an old tire cost $10.

For the girls, there are whole lines of "natural look" cosmetics, whose main appeal is that they are invisible. And for both sexes, there has been an avalanche of products like leather goods, jewelry and pottery that look rough-hewn and handmade but are actually mass-produced by machines.

In short, the moral, says Newman, is that once again industry figured out how to profit from a trend. This time it just happens to be a trend toward anti-materialism.

All of which must be quite upsetting to genuine hippies and bonafide members of the counter-culture. Their life-style is being capitalized on by the very society they reject.

It's enough to make you turn in your peace pendant.

BRUCE BLOSSAT

Waste Of Funds By Cities

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Not many people of influence in government think you can trust the cities with money any more.

That's the overriding reason why proposals to have the federal government share revenues with the states and cities are stirring such controversy today.

In the next month or more, powerful Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills may come up with a plan which might be loosely labeled "revenue-sharing." It is not likely to resemble any program thus far presented.

During a descent of mayors upon Capitol Hill some weeks ago, New York Mayor John Lindsay called on Mills. The chairman asked:

"Mr. Mayor, if we voted New York City $300 million tomorrow, what assurance could you give us that the money would really be spent for the city's pressing needs?"

Mills had in mind the prospect that a considerable part of such a sum might be deflected into higher wages for city employees. The private word is that he found Lindsay's assurances unconvincing.

At a recent conference here dealing in part with drug abuse, a participant ticked off a sizable list of remedial programs which have been launched in states and cities with good financial backing.

The stunning thing, he indicated, is that no one really knows what these programs are accomplishing. In other words, there is no gauge at all on whether the money is being effectively spent.

These episodes point up the huge dilemma that underlies the controversy over revenue-sharing. Mills and other lawmakers know the cities need more money. But they have no faith in the cities' present ways of spending it.

For the advocates of revenue-sharing, this situation provides a painful twist. On the surface, the idea has seemed to be coming into its own in the past two years. In fact, its strength has been ebbing.

From 1964 on, the governors of the several states gave increasing support to revenue-sharing. Yet by their mid-winter conference this year, many had turned off on it.

For long years before the governors generally were attending to their urban problems, the country's mayors came to Washington with direct appeals to Congress money grants and were rewarded. Now many lawmakers in both parties are cool.

It is hard to nail down the turning point. The cities' miserable performance with money has built a cumulative impression. Revenue-sharing undoubtedly got a big negative shove when proposals began to include the proviso that 50 per cent of the shared monies be "passed through" the states for the direct use of cities.

Designed obviously to assure the desperate cities of needed funds, it is instead hurting them.

We get back always to the critical reason: The cities are seen by many today as mislabeled swamps where money disappears without trace or effect.

Economist Paul Samuelson dismisses as a "sentimental notion" the idea that the grassroots governments are most efficient.

"Every fact we know is against that," he says. "The broom that cleans is the federal government."

This view is broadly shared and growing. The old call to get government back to the local scene, "where people know the problems," doesn't have a very strong ring today. It is agreed they may know the problems. In grave question is whether they know how to spend wisely the money they need — so desperately.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

In Shock

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In some accidents, the aftermath of shock is a contributing cause of death. Would you explain how a layman can determine shock, and what he might do to help the victim until professional help arrives? — V.S.

Shock is serious. It may be more than a "contributing cause." It can, in fact, be fatal.

But it is also a condition which a layman cannot be expected to diagnose, nor can he give specific treatment for it.

He can, however, suspect it — and give appropriate first aid. There are various causes of shock other than accidents, but in accidents shock occurs from extensive bleeding (internal or external), extreme pain, head injury, or sheer fright — or some combination of them.

The victim is dazed, his skin pale and moist, pulse rapid and very weak and thready. Blood pressure is low, but this cannot be determined without instruments.

There isn't very much to do in the way of first aid, but what there is can be important. Keep the patient lying flat. Keep his head down; even elevate feet and legs a bit.

Keep him warm with a blanket, jacket, or anything that's available.

Do not try to give him anything to drink.

If his breathing is impaired, his tongue may have fallen back. Gently roll his head to one side.

Do not try to move him except to get him to safety from some real hazard, i.e., fire, moving traffic, etc.

If you must move him at all, do it gently, but be careful to keep him flat. Obviously, professional help should be summoned as soon as possible; the earlier treatment for shock begins, the better the prospects.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please tell me if four highballs, an ounce and a half of bourbon each and water, is too much for a mild diabetic in his 50s to drink each evening?

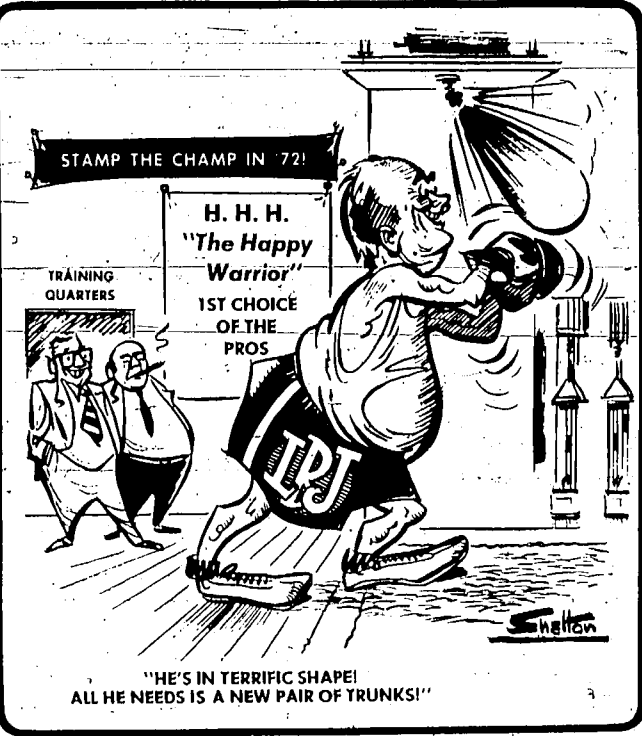

He never drinks anything else, is not on medication for the diabetes, only diet, and tries to cut down on everything and eliminates sweets altogether.

His blood pressure recently has been high, but the doctor will not prescribe anything to lower it, and says it will go down if he can lose some weight. He is about 30 pounds overweight. — Mrs. J. M.

Six ounces of whiskey every night? Yes, it's too much. It also is helping to build up those 30 excess pounds which he ought to lose both because of the diabetes and his blood pressure.

How does VD start? Why are teenagers among its most frequent victims? Will it cure itself? Dr. Thosteson has the answers in his convenient, layman's-language booklet, "Venereal Disease: How to Avoid It; How to Cure It." For a copy write him in care of this newspaper, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Space Lead

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Soviet experiments with a space station bring to mind how Moscow made a mammoth strategic error in deciding to go to the moon by way of earth orbit — and thereby lost the race.

But that error, in turn, led to the space station — which may put Moscow ahead in the practical utilization of space and could give the Russians a boost toward missile superiority.

If all this should prove true, it would be the second time in this generation that Russian misjudgment led to a major Soviet leap forward in missile-space technology.

The first instance, of course, was the development of the giant Soviet booster and an edge in the space race. This booster was developed because the Russians found it technically impossible (or impractical) at that time to achieve a small practical nuclear war warhead.

The Russians were forced, therefore, to build a large booster to loft their large warheads.

American scientists, ahead in the expertise required to build small effective warheads, had no need then to develop a huge booster. So the Russians forged ahead, for awhile. Catching up proved a major task.

The space station resulted from another Soviet mistake.

In calculating how to get to the moon, American scientists at first were inclined to follow the more conventional approach. That is, they planned to put the astronauts and their vehicle into an earth orbit, then blast off for the moon in another vehicle. A brilliant new approach, circling the moon and then descending to the lunar surface in a separate landing vehicle, led to U.S. victory.

The Russians, using less imagination, stuck to the orbit earth-orbiting approach. In doing this they forged ahead of the United States in their ability to produce an earth-orbiting space station.

That space station has many advantages which the Russians certainly will not be slow to capitalize on.

It will enable the Russians to push rapidly ahead on a wide range of practical economic projects in geological exploration, agricultural monitoring, communications, water use and flood control, weather prediction and education.

It will make possible more efficient unmanned space exploration to Venus, Mars and the more distant planets.

It could lead to the development of intercontinental missile systems capable of evading U.S. radar for crucial portions of their journey and so accurate in delivery that they could make obsolete the new superhardened U.S. Minuteman missile sites — the ones just now being built.

ANDREW TULLY

Those Girls

WASHINGTON — Some of those girls who have been demonstrating against the war (and practically everything else) actually look like females and might even get invited to a prom if they took a bath and combed their hair. But they all need a crash course in contemporary Russian life, lest they do something rash.

For, almost unanimously, these somewhat overripe tomatoes sport the conventional Women's Lib line about how much better the Soviet Union treats members of their sex and how badly it would be to live under the system installed by Lenin, Stalin and Co. They've got to be kidding, because although everybody is equal in that slay paradise, men are more equal than women.

That is not what the Soviet Constitution says. It states that "Women in the USSR are accorded equal rights with men." The possibility of exercising these rights is assured by women being accorded an equal right with men to work, payment for work, rest and leisure." Label those words Catch No. 1.

In fact, except for some artists, some highly skilled and highly educated women, plus those who know some man rather well, women in Russia lead lives that would cause the American female willingly to retire to one of those unsanitary loony bins Moscow maintains for folks who take the Soviet Constitution too literally. More than 50 years after the revolution, the majority of Russian females are tethered to chores that Lenin described in 1919 "crush, strangle, stultify and degrade her..."

Lenin was talking about women under the czars, of course. But with a few exceptions, his words apply to the plight of Soviet women today.

Latest statistics show that, as in the United States, women outnumber men in the USSR — by about 11.3 million bodies. Unlike American girls, most Russian females do as they are told by men. Of the approximately 60 million women in the Soviet labor force, four-fifths are officially admitted to be engaged in physical labor.

Moreover, jobs performed by women include some of the most arduous and disagreeable. They mine coal in violation of a 1923 labor code. They sweep the streets, shovel snow, haul concrete, dig ditches, collect garbage and lay bricks. They do the dirty, unskilled work in heavy industry. Russia's own propaganda handouts praise women as constituting the backbone of the nation's unskilled labor force.

Femiles tempted to run away from home to seize opportunity by the forelock in Minak should think twice, or even 33 times. As an unskilled worker, the Russian woman is lowest on the pay scale. Both the straw bosses and the executives in that singular citadel of hypocrisy are mostly still males; while one out of every seven workers in the industrial force is a woman, only one out of every seven becomes a foreman or shop leader.

Bridge, Bridge!

This, dear readers, is a picture of a bridge. Right now it ain't much because water is going over it as well as under it.

Awhile ago the Times-News news department ran down to Milner to take a picture of it. When it was printed the reporter-photographer got his wires crossed and had it going from the wrong place to the wrong place.

Well, Mrs. Alton Hansen, who lives on Route Two at Burley, wrote in to tell us we were wrong. And she pointed out that the bridge, was, in fact, in Cassia County. We believed her and published it.

Then we received a note from Ted Schwartz, of Eden. He said that someone goofed again when they said that the Milner bridge in question was maintained by the Murtaugh Highway District. He said the Milner bridge and the Murtaugh bridge are both maintained by the Murtaugh and Hillsdale Highway District because he has served on the Board of the Hillsdale Highway District for more than 31 years.

Mrs. Hansen said that Oliver W. Johnson, secretary of the Murtaugh Highway District for 34 years, sent her a map of the place so she would know that the bridge is in Twin Falls County.

Well, like we said, we went down and took another picture of the bridge just so you dear readers would know the one we — all of us — are talking about.

We hope that the matter of the bridge and its whereabouts and who takes care of it are now settled because unless the thing gets washed away, we are not going to mention it ever again!

BERRY'S WORLD

"What would be your reaction if I told you I want to invite Buffalo Bob and Howdy Doody to the White House?"

Stop eating swordfish, U.S. government warns

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In a virtually unprecedented warning, the government today advised Americans to stop eating swordfish because of widespread mercury contamination.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) announcement also singled out swordfish as the one item to be eliminated so far from the American diet as a result of the mercury scare which surfaced a year ago and prompted crash testing programs by government and industry.

Compared with tuna and other seafoods about which fears were raised, swordfish is a minor item. FDA said U.S. swordfish consumption totals about 28 million pounds a year, or two ounces per person.

FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards expressed regret for the swordfish industry which was designated a victim of "economic disaster" by the Small Business Administration May 1 because of the mercury problem.

But Edwards said 811 of 853 swordfish samples tested were above the FDA's safety limit of 0.5 parts per million mercury, with the average more than double the limit.

Technically, swordfish with one mercury safety limit still can be sold, although the FDA acknowledged it was unlikely such fish could be found. The agency offered the possibility swordfish might return if the industry can work out a safety certification system satisfactory to the government.

FDA spokesmen said the blanket warning against consumption of a particular food was unprecedented except for a warning of several months duration against cranberries in 1959. The cranberry hazard was caused by a hazardous weed killer, use of which quickly was stopped.

Draws cheers

THOUGH most of the demonstrators at the U. S. capitol were young, white and with long hair, there were exceptions. This little old, grey-haired lady, who gave her age as 84, drew a cluster of cheers from the anti-war demonstrators when she was arrested. (UPI)

Agnew promotes revenue plan

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew stumped for the Nixon administration's revenue sharing program in the South Wednesday and took potshots at war protesters and segments of the national news media.

"I'm not here to be a slick huckster," Agnew told the Tennessee Legislature. "I'm here to explain this program as best I can."

He said revenue sharing would mean $87 million in "unfettered" funds for Tennessee, allowing Gov. Winfield Dunn and legislators to establish their own priorities on how the money can best be spent.

Agnew spent more than an hour with the 87th Tennessee general assembly Wednesday and was to leave for Raleigh today for a similar appearance before the North Carolina legislature.

The vice president called on Tennessee lawmakers to urge the state's congressional delegation to support the program and try to get it approved by a reluctant congress.

"We want to give you the resources," he said, "but we are losing this fight unless we can dramatize the need in greater fashion."

At a brief airport news conference following his arrival from Washington, Agnew called anti-war protesters in the nation's Capitol "outrageous and juvenile."

"It's harmful to the point of view they are trying to express," he said. "I'm tired of demonstrations. I would like rational discourse."

GOP gets blame on railroads

CORRAL, Idaho (UPI)—Democratic State Chairman Joe McCarter charged today that it was a "boycott of Republican members of the Senate which sold rail passenger service down the track in Idaho."

McCarter said a proposal by Democratic Senators Frank Church of Idaho, and Mike Mansfield, of Montana, to extend rail passenger service in Idaho through December of this year was in effect killed when the Senate could not muster a quorum for the vote.

McCarter said "the figures tell the story. Fifty per cent of all Democratic senators were present when the roll was called. Only 27 per cent of the Senate's Republican members were present for the crucial roll call."

McCarter said the boycott was "obviously a concerted effort" on the part of the Nixon Administration to get Republican Senators to defeat the proposal by not being present for a quorum.

Senator punches police in hassle

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Leo Metcalf, D-Mont., a robust 60 years old, punched a policeman in the chest Wednesday when he stopped him from crossing a police line during antiwar demonstrations at the Capitol.

Two other city police officers grabbed Metcalf after he threw his straight right to the chest of officer M. J. Van Fossen, but the chief of the Capitol police interceded on his behalf and they let the senator go.

Metcalf shouted that he was a United States senator and couldn't be prevented from going anywhere on the Capitol grounds when Van Fossen, wearing a riot helmet and holding a nightstick with both hands, told Metcalf he could not cross the line of policemen.

Metcalf then jabbed out his right fist and hit Van Fossen in the left upper chest. The officer took the punch easily and did not swing back. But two other policemen grabbed Metcalf's arms and started leading him toward buses where demonstrators were being arrested.

"You assaulted an officer," they said to him. "I'm not going to stand ..." Metcalf said, his voice quivering. "I'm a United States senator."

As they walked, however, Capitol Police Chief James Powell became aware of the commotion and hustled over, recognized Metcalf, and ordered him to be released.

Metcalf, still enraged and face flushed, grabbed a UPI reporter by the arm to get his ear.

"My name is Leo Metcalf. I've been stopped." He then quickly left without commenting on his little fracas with Van Fossen.

Police tried to downgrade the incident, and a higher-ranking officer admonished Van Fossen and the other officers not to discuss it with the press.

Launching marks date

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—America marked the 10th anniversary of its first manned spaceflight Wednesday by launching a new spy satellite designed to flash an early warning of a missile attack from Russia or Red China.

The new breed surveillance spacecraft was expected to give the nation's military forces more time to mount a counter strike in the event of a missile attack. Informed sources said it also will be able to monitor Soviet and Chinese rocket testing.

Six hours after the pre-dawn launching, Alan B. Shepard returned to the site of his and the nation's first spaceflight on May 5, 1961 and reminisced with some of those that made it possible. A recording of the launch countdown was played from the refurbished blockhouse and a replica of the slim Redstone rocket and its Freedom 7 capsule stood in the background.

"When they were playing that tape, I looked around and saw that cherry picker (rescue tower) and the original fire truck and, pardon the expression, the ambulance over there.

and a pretty good looking bird and ... I was really getting nervous," said Shepard, who was commander of the nation's last moon flight.

The spy satellite launching on the anniversary of Shepard's 15-minute hop into space was a coincidence. The mission was classified secret and the Air Force refused to acknowledge that it was preparing a rocket for flight even though the big Titan 3C missile was illuminated like a huge neon sign before blastoff.

The 1,800-pound satellite was programmed to maneuver into a stationary orbit 22,300 miles above Southern Asia and substitute for a sister satellite that was left in the wrong orbit by rocket failure last November. The outcome of Wednesday's mission was not known, but sources said the early stages of flight appeared to go well.

The shot will be followed Saturday night by the launch of the first of two space agency television satellites toward the planet Mars. They are to attempt to orbit the red planet next November.

Steel price upped

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The U.S. Steel Corp., taking the industry lead, has announced a 6 1/2 per cent increase in the price of the steel used in autos, appliances and other durable consumer goods.

The nation's largest steel producer said Wednesday prices for large volume steel sheet and strip products would go up $8.50 to $13 a ton, beginning with shipments June 16 and July 1.

American tourists weather money crisis

LONDON (UPI)—While the European cold shoulder to U.S. dollars hit many American tourists in their pocketbooks, most were easily able to overcome the difficulties. Their pride suffered the biggest blow.

It was inconceivable to many Americans' flooding European capitals at the start of the heavy tourist season that Europeans were rolling in the welcome mat for the almighty dollar. Some reacted with open resentment and anger.

"We may cut our trip short and may even be prepared to say to hell with Europe and God bless America," Ted Markovic, a film editor from Glen Rock, N.J., said in Paris.

While banks in Paris and London continued to accept dollars, their counterparts in West Germany, Switzerland, the Netherlands, Austria, Belgium and Portugal closed their doors to American money. Some hotels also refused dollars.

But Americans generally were able to make other arrangements with sympathetic hoteliers.

Aid to vets proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sens. Len B. Jordan and Frank Church Wednesday introduced a bill to provide more equitable treatment to veterans enrolled in vocational education courses.

"It has been brought to our attention that veterans studying under the GI bill are subject to being counted absent from their courses on some days when the school is not in session," Jordan said.

The present law provides that vocational students may have 30 days of excused absences during a 12-month period, not counting weekends and legal holidays established by federal or state laws. If the student is absent in excess of the 30 days he does not receive compensation during any of such days.

"The difficulty is that most schools have vacation periods which do not consist solely of weekends or legal holidays," Jordan said. "Hence a veteran of an institution where a two-week vacation period is allowed at Christmas time may be given unexcused absences for up to 10 days during such a vacation."

Jordan and Church said their bill is designed to correct this inequity.

Racial quotas slated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government has decided to impose racial hiring quotas on contractors with federal construction jobs in Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco and Atlanta, Labor Department sources said Wednesday.

First adopted in Philadelphia and Washington, the quotas would require contractors on government projects to meet minimum levels within specific timeframes for hiring blacks and other minority group members. The quotas would apply to any private work they were doing as well as to those jobs involving federal funds.

Contractors who failed to make a good-faith effort to meet the quotas could be barred from future federal contract work and their current contracts could be taken away.

Assistant Labor Secretary Arthur Fletcher, the department's highest ranking Negro official who is in charge of federal contract compliance, made the decision to impose the hiring plans, the sources said.

In Chicago and St. Louis, contractors, labor unions and minority groups had worked out voluntary "homestead solutions" for the hiring of more minority group members, but these plans have not been effective, Labor Department officials said.

As for San Francisco and Atlanta, months of negotiations on voluntary hiring plans have been unsuccessful.

Doomed bomber

STRATEGIC Bomber B1 should be scrapped, bipartisan coalition of defense critics has recommended, adding that Air Force should go back to drawing board and plan for subsonic missile launching platform. ## Public agency wins 4 picks

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Four of the five nominations for 1970-71 Emmy Awards for directing achievement in news and documentary programs went to the Public Broadcasting Service.

The fifth went to CBS, according to Robert F. Levine, president of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

Nominations announced Tuesday included two categories in which PBS films were the only candidates: "Outstanding achievement in individuals in magazine-type programs" for "The Great American Dream Machine," an animated film directed by Elinor Bunin; and "Outstanding achievement in individuals in news documentary programs" for "Trial; The

Bond plan voted down at Salmon

SALMON, Idaho (UPI)—Possibly the largest turnout of voters in the history of the Salmon School District rejected a $800,000 school bond proposal for a new high school Tuesday.

Superintendent Robert Banks said the turnout was the largest he has seen in any school election at Salmon, adding it possibly was caused by the fact that everyone and not just property owners could vote.

Banks said the vote of 615 for and 741 against was pretty decisive to show the community does not want a new high school. But he said within a year the school district will have to look for temporary classrooms somewhere in the community.

Laboratory findings spark speculation about Mars

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Recent laboratory findings have added fuel to the intriguing scientific speculation that earth is not alone in harboring living things.

If there is life elsewhere in our solar system, scientists say the planet Mars is the most likely habitat.

The first opportunity to search for life there will come in 1976 when two Viking spacecraft are scheduled to land on Mars with biological detection instruments.

However, new clues to the possibility of life forms on the Red planet may be forthcoming late this year from two new Mariner television satellites scheduled to be launched toward Mars—one Saturday, the other 10 days later.

Three U.S. spacecraft already have explored Mars from afar and their photographs showed a planet that looks surprisingly like the moon. Mars, however, does have an atmosphere, mostly of carbon dioxide with a little water vapor, and its poles are capped with what appears to be dry ice.

Since Mars is farther from the sun than the earth, it is cooler. But scientists say it is not too cool in equatorial regions for life to survive.

The chances of primitive life on Mars improved with a report in March that tests at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif., showed that organic material may be produced by sunlight on Mars.

"This is the most favorable indication for a Martian biological evolution that we have had in the last five years," said Dr. Norman H. Horowitz, one of three biologists who issued the report.

The recent detection of amino acids in a meteorite also increased the probability that life forms can evolve elsewhere in the solar system. Amino acids are the building blocks of life.

One of the phenomena on Mars that has been considered a possible sign of vegetation is a wave of darkening that spreads from the polar regions to the Martian equator during the spring and summer. The two Mariner satellites will swing into Mars orbit in November and one of their main objectives will be to map the Martian surface and look for the most promising areas to be explored by the life-hunting Viking robots.

Soap opera actress happy

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—What ever happened to Anne Jeffreys and Robert Sterling, the charming ghosts of television's "Topper" series way back in 1953-54?

Sterling took some smart pills and abandoned the acting dodge to become a singularly successful businessman with diversified interests in computers and manufacturing.

Anne has chosen to stay with grapefruit and currently is starring in the daytime serial, "Bright Promise."

When other performers ask in shocked voices why she is appearing in a soap opera, Anne responds: "And what are you working in?"

Other Considerations
Anne could earn as much money in eight weeks in road company tours of plays as she does in a full year of daytime television, but there are other considerations — her husband, three sons and family pets.

"I love the theater, but my boys need a mother right now," Anne said. "Tyler is 11, Robert 12 and Jeffreys, 18. Then there's the parrot, the cats and the dog."

"The nice thing about working in this series is that I go to the studio only twice a week. The rest of the time I shop, cook, clean house and look after my family."

"The show is on the air five days a week, but we have 14 running characters. It's something like ' Peyton Place' inasmuch as it's the story of a town and all the people involved in it."

characters before returning to a dramatic situation. Some problems go on for months.

"I've watched other soap operas and they do the same things. I just hope we do them better."

In-between Role
Anne finds herself somewhere in the vague category between leading lady and character actress. On the NBC series she plays the widow of the town founder, with a 21-year-old daughter. Predictably mother and daughter are ready to scratch each other's eyes out.

"My character was introduced last March," Anne said. "Dana Andrew began with the series more than a year and a half ago. He's left the cast and others have come and gone."

Anne looks as youthful and beautiful as she did when her television hours were devoted to haunting "Topper" and preventing her St. Bernard from guzzling Martinis.

ANNE JEFFREYS

"Best of all I have a career without pressures," Anne concluded, "And I'm not trying to become the biggest star in the world."

Failure brands children

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Your 7-year-old boy or girl comes home from school and says, "Mommy I failed."

Could that mark the child for life if it is repeated as it is so many times in schools throughout the nation?

Dr. William Glasser says the answer is "yes" and he is on a one-man crusade to get rid of the "failure" label in schools.

Glasser, in his mid-40s, started in Cleveland to become a chemical engineer at Case Institute, switched to medicine at Western Reserve University, specialized in psychiatry at UCLA, and has wended his way into education.

He has put his thoughts and practices as an educator into a book called "Schools Without Failure," and he also addresses PTA and similar groups on the subject. Basically, he tells his audiences of mothers, fathers and teachers, children don't like school and drop out because they are made to feel worthless, they are made to feel unwanted.

Another point he makes is that he feels the schools stress too much accumulation of sometimes useless information and they do not do what he feels is their No. 1 job—to teach a child to think.

In discussing his own method of teaching, he says:

"Suppose at the end of the year, you're one of the lower readers in your class. We would not say, 'you failed.' We are not going to rate you at the age of seven as a failure and a dud. 'Schools have no right to make a child feel badly about himself. The schools should say, 'We want to teach you. If you learn a lot, we will give you a lot of credit.'"

Atom blast gas marketing plan studied by AEC, firm

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—Natural gas produced from the Project-Rullison nuclear test experiment on Colorado's Western Slope will be marketed for commercial use if the Atomic Energy Commission gives approval, an official said Tuesday.

Thomas Pelican, president of Colorado Interstate Gas, said his firm now was working with AEC representatives on a marketing plan for the sale. The Project Rullison nuclear test near Grand Valley involved use of a 40-kiloton nuclear explosive deep underground. The explosion, which was touched off in September of 1969, loosened up light rock formations.

The blast carved an underground chimney, 270 feet high and 140 feet across, and capable of holding more than 200 million cubic feet of gas. If the gas is harvested, it will mark the first commercial return from the AEC's Project Plover—a program designed to uncover peaceful uses of nuclear energy.

Pelican said tests on the gas indicate it is safe for use and he predicted a marketing plan would be ready by fall. The Environmental Protection Agency in Washington will make a final review to determine whether to go ahead with the sale of the gas.

The businessman said current plans call for the Austral Oil Co. of Houston, Tex., which did the drilling for the project, to sell the gas to Colorado Interstate. Colorado Interstate in turn will wholesale it for retail distribution by Rocky Mountain Natural Gas.

Pelican said the gas would be used only in the immediate area because there was not a sufficient production for shipment elsewhere.

Earlier this week in Los Angeles, Austral president C. Wardell Leisk said more than 400 million cubic feet of gas had been released safely from the $6.5 million experimental well.

Last log drive off down river

LEWISTON (UPI) — The nation's last whitewater log drive is underway in north Idaho several days ahead of schedule.

Pollatch Forests Inc., officials said Tuesday the firm's 40th and final annual log drive on the north fork and main Clearwater Rivers in northern Idaho began in earnest Monday. Some small amounts of logs had been dumped into the rivers during the last two weeks but no major amounts had been sent on their way to the firm's mill here.

The main drive had not been scheduled to start for several days yet, they said, but was forced by rising water in the rivers which threatened to wash away the decks of logs and cause jams.

For this reason, the company said, it began seriously dumping logs into the rivers in a controlled manner Monday and put a 20-man rearing crew to work at Isabella Creek about 90 miles east of here to make sure all the logs are moving downstream.

The company said it expects the drive to move 51 million board feet of logs to its ponds here during the next few days. It takes an individual log about 18 hours to travel here from the north fork of the Clearwater.

This year's drive will mark the end of the classic way of moving logs because by this fall the bypass tunnel at Dworshak Dam on the north fork of the Clearwater will be closed as the pool behind the giant dam is filled.

Policy opposed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Lawyers who earn their living fighting auto liability cases in court argued today against "no fault" auto insurance legislation.

In testimony readied for the Senate Commerce Committee, the lawyers, through their professional organizations, opposed a bill by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., establishing nationwide "no fault" insurance.

Under Hart's bill, bodily injury claims would be paid by the insurance company which covered the injured person or the car in which he was riding rather than by the company which insured the person found to be at "fault" for the accident.

Hart contends this reform would result in lower insurance costs, faster payment of benefits, assurance of the availability of insurance and relief of court congestion.

District OK's bonds

MOSCOW (UPI) — Voters in the Moscow School District Tuesday approved two bond measures by large margins and the White Pine District overwhelmingly passed a third levy.

The Moscow district voters favored a 19-mill maintenance and operations levy by an 81 per cent vote and a three-mill levy for school buses, equipment and remodeling was approved by 75 per cent of those casting ballots.

The White Pine district got a resounding 90 per cent favorable vote on its 34 mill maintenance and operations levy.

Bonds pass

MERIDIAN, Idaho (UPI) — A whopping 84.1 per cent of those voting approved a proposed $1,885,000 school bond issue for the Meridian School District Tuesday.

Monday from the bonds will provide funds for a new junior high school and a new elementary school. The bond issue won approval 1,467 to 276.

Manager exams set

BOISE — A competitive examination has been ordered by the State Personnel Commission for a liquor store manager at Kimberly and American Falls.

Personnel Director George Murphy said the examinations are written, and a physical examination may be required.

Salary range for the posts is $374 to $456, the same as top pay for liquor store clerks in the Idaho Liquor Dispensary.

Murphy said requirements are any combination of education and experience equivalent to graduation from high school and two years of sales or clerical experience. Applicants must be 21 years of age.

Steel maker boosts prices

NEW YORK (UPI)—U.S. Steel Corp. Wednesday increased its prices for large volume steel sheet and strip products by $8.50 to $13 a ton, effective with shipments June 16 and July 1.

The increases, which U.S. Steel said averaged 6 1/2 per cent, affect products used by the auto, appliance and other industries. They generally had been expected because the steel industry has been boosting prices on most of its products this year as fast as the 12-month price freeze guarantees attached to the 1970 price hike round expired.

In Washington, a spokesman for the President's Council of Economic Advisers said the price increases were "not particularly surprising" and the steel industry "apparently considers this their annual increase."

He said a much greater worry to economic planners is the possibility of further increases this year to offset higher wage costs.

The price boosts on flat rolled products are close to the level which the Nixon Administration apparently found acceptable when construction steel products went up last March. One producer had posted increases of $16 to $17 per ton on construction steels, but later substituted increases of $9 to $12 per ton after U.S. Steel came in at that level.

The price freeze guarantee on most flat rolled steel products was due to expire June 1, but major producers extended it for 15 days, reportedly at the request of the auto makers to give them more time to lay in stocks at the old prices.

Although the steel industry is preparing to negotiate new wage pacts with the United Steelworkers of America to replace a contract expiring Aug. 1, steel industry officials have emphasized that the price boosts posted so far are a "catching-up" operation and are not designed to compensate for any additional wage cost increases they may incur.

Steel producers this year already have increased prices for railroad steel products.

Maturity extension sought

BOISE (UPI) — State Agriculture Commissioner Oscar Arsteln asked the U.S. Agriculture Secretary today to extend the maturity date on Commodity Credit Corporation loans on dry edible beans.

Arsteln sent wires both to Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin and Director Truman Cunningham of the oilseed and special crops division of the Department of Agriculture asking for a 30-day extension.

Arsteln told newsmen he had received wires requesting such action from representatives of the Farm Bureau, the Farmers Union and the National Farmers Organization.

"We feel this will prevent a market drop and create a more orderly marketing climate for Idaho bean stocks on hand," Arsteln said in his wires.

Life term pronounced

BOISE (UPI) — Fourth District Judge Marion J. Callister has sentenced Robert A. Atwood, 24, to life imprisonment for the death of John William Jacoby, 21.

Earlier, Judge Callister sentenced Atwood's companion, Michael L. Williams, 21, to life in prison. Both pleaded guilty to murder charges in the Jacoby death.

Police said that Jacoby was killed after he surprised the two burglarizing his apartment. Officers said investigation allegedly disclosed that Williams wielded the knife and that Atwood helped subdue the victim.

Albertson sets marks

BOISE (UPI) — Albertson's Inc., experience both record sales and earnings for the fiscal year ended April 3, 1971, President J. L. Scott said today.

Scott said the increase in earnings was significant in light of the heavy write-off costs associated with the conversion of a number of stores to a full-discount operation.

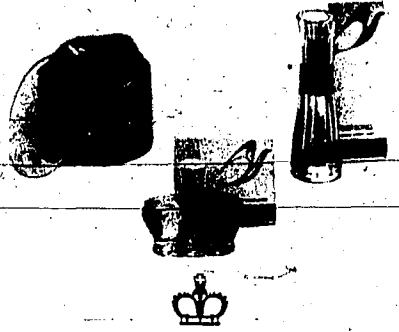

He also said the sales increase was hampered by the closure of 11 older stores during the year.

Earnings for the 53 weeks totaled $5,276,000, or 91 cents per share, an increase over the same period last year.

Sales of $487,932,857 for the year represented a nine per cent rise over last year's $449,313,324.

Investing rule asked

BOISE (UPI) — State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon has asked the attorney general whether she or the Endowment Fund Investment Board has the constitutional responsibility for investing endowment fund earnings.

At the same time, Miss Moon asked whether endowment funds are "public funds" within the meaning of a state law limiting the maturity on time certificates to a minimum of 30 days.

Miss Moon raised the questions after a conference with acting State Finance Commissioner Tom McEldowney, a deputy attorney general and other officials.

McEldowney said the investment board wants to set up a long-range program whereby it will invest earnings of the endowment funds until they are to be disbursed to the schools or institutions for which they are earmarked.

Endowment funds earnings at present are placed in the general fund and held by the treasurer until the time when, by law, they must be disbursed.

During the interim the treasurer invests the endowment earnings and the interest goes to the general fund.

"The board contends the income should go to the endowment and not the general fund," McEldowney said.

He said the board recognizes that an immediate change could work a hardship on some state agencies if it were tried at a time when general fund budgets already had been set because it would deplete general fund revenue.

With that in mind, he said, he has been working through the budget office so it will not have an adverse effect on anybody.

"We're trying to set this up so we can change over a year from now," he said, adding he was working with the Education Department to determine the best time for disbursements.

"If we only disbursed it to the public schools once a year, we could increase their income conservatively $20,000 per year," McEldowney said.

Miss Moon said she felt the "purpose is quite laudable — they want more interest for the endowment funds."

"But to do it they would be taking interest away from the general fund," Miss Moon said.

She also contended that investment of the income from the endowments, now put into the general fund, was a constitutional duty of the treasurer and cannot be usurped by the investment board.

In a letter to Attorney General W. Anthony Park, Miss Moon asked whether "all income for any fund in the state treasury must be deposited to the treasury immediately upon receipt, or whether it may be held and reinvested by the department or board involved and only deposited in the treasury once or twice a year at some specified period."

She also asked whether the investment of endowment fund interest falls within the duties of the investment board as spelled out in the code or whether that investment is part of the general investment duties of the state treasurer.

If it falls within the duties of the investment board, she said, she also wants to know whether that law giving the board that authority is in conflict with the constitutional duties of the state treasurer.

In asking about investment of endowment funds in time certificates Miss Moon said she was referring to a practice of the board of putting some funds into 30-day certificates when they can draw more than way than through commercial paper.

Other funds of the state she said may not be invested in any time certificates with less than 60 days maturity.

McEldowney said he feels the board can invest in 30-day certificates because "they are not public funds." He said public funds as those arising from taxation.

The endowment funds don't levy any taxes, he said.

Veteran aid bill offered

WASHINGTON — A bill to provide more equitable treatment for veterans enrolled in vocational education courses was introduced Wednesday by Sen. Len B. Jordan and Sen. Frank Church.

Immunized

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Scientists at the University of Tennessee reported Tuesday they have succeeded in immunizing hamsters and mice against several forms of cancer.

Dr. Joseph H. Coggin, the head of the team of researchers who presented their findings to the American Society for Microbiology, said they worked on the theory that cancer cells are forms of adult cells reverting partially to the fetal stage.

"It has been brought to our attention that veterans studying under the GI Bill are subject to being counted absent from their courses on some days when the school is not in session," Jordag said.

The present law provides that vocational students may have 30 days of excused absence during a 12-month period, not counting weekends and legal holidays established by federal or state laws.

If the student is absent in excess of the 30 days, he does not receive compensation during the excess period.

"The difficulty is that most schools have vacation periods which do not consist solely of weekends and holidays. Hence, a veteran at an institution for a two-week vacation period is allowed at Christmas time may be given excused absences for up to 10 days for such a vacation," Jordan said.

"The bill which Sen. Church and I are introducing today is designed to correct these inequities. Veterans enrolled in vocational courses have served their country just as well as those enrolled in academic courses and should not be subjected to this unfair treatment as they pursue their educational goals," he added.

THIS WEEK AT SWENSEN'S MAGIC MARKETS YOU'LL FIND:

MUSICAL GROCERIES

This week is NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK with a happy theme "Joy of Service Through Music" and Swensen's Magic Markets are delighted to celebrate music's anniversary with some money saving prices that will make you want to sing whether you like music or not.

No one knows just exactly how old music is: some say music began with Beethoven, but others say music began even before that. Some authorities believe in a musical theory of evolution and that music began in Central Africa - even before Beethoven.

Other people believe the Angels have been enjoying music for millions of years even before Africa was invented or Beethoven was born. There are people today who listen to the radio a lot who swear that music is extinct. SWENSEN'S MAGIC MARKETS AFFIRM: MUSIC IS NOT DEAD — For Proof That Good Music Still Abounds, Swensen's Magic Markets Invite You to Attend Any of the Fine Musical Productions During National Music Week.

Idaho potato future market said periled

By LEE TREMAINE

Times-News-Writer

TWIN FALLS — The three-year-old Idaho potato futures market may be in jeopardy, and many Idaho potato growers face heavy losses from an apparent attempt to manipulate the market, according to informed sources.

The reports have brought a promise of federal action and a request by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus to postpone delivery of May contracts, due May 31, until June 15. Gov. Andrus forwarded a request to the Chicago Mercantile Exchange on Wednesday, requesting immediate action. Idaho potato futures are traded on the Chicago Exchange.

Idaho Sen. Len B. Jordan and Rep. Orval Hansen, contacted by concerned growers and shippers in Idaho, contacted the ruling Commodities Exchange Authority, an arm of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, for action.

The authority has pledged to keep a "close eye on the May futures trading," the Congressman said.

The futures market gives the potato grower a chance to "hedge" by contracting to sell a given amount of potatoes for a specific price at a future date.

Should the price drop, the hedger stands to gain, as the contracted price will guarantee him a profit. However, should the price increase, the farmer can still sell his potatoes at the original price if he can deliver them to the marketplace as called for in his contract.

Informed sources say the market in jeopardy because of a reported "power play" in which certain buyers have contracted for delivery of more potatoes in the May 10-21 period than can be physically delivered by sellers.

In the event the channels of delivery are choked by more potatoes than can be processed and delivered, the person selling the potatoes can be forced to make very expensive settlements in lieu of delivery.

Should such a situation develop, as some fear, the Idaho potato futures market could be damaged as a usable tool for marketing Idaho potatoes.

Sen. Richard S. High, R-Twin Falls, requested the investigation by the USDA following reports that the "power play" was developing.

He told members of the Congressional delegation and Gov. Cecil Andrus that there is "strong evidence of market manipulation."

He urged an investigation of trading practices to determine if there were current violations of USDA trading regulations affecting speculation.

The USDA limits a speculator to 150 cars in market trading, whereas a person who either grows or buys for use has no such carlot limitation.

Following High's request, Sen. Jordan and Rep. Hansen said in a joint statement that they had been assured that the USDA would investigate the Idaho futures situation to "keep a close eye on the May futures market during the last contract week of May," which ends on Monday.

Sen. High said "I am concerned that the Idaho futures market must operate legally under established rules and regulations. Otherwise it is a danger rather than a help to Idaho farmers and processors. "If it cannot be properly controlled," he said, "I would favor elimination of the Idaho potato futures market."

Andrus, who said he was trying to improve the potato market for Idaho producers, said the two-week extension will permit them to sort, load and deliver spuds at today's favorable price.

That way, he said, they will not become "victims of the potato futures speculators who attempt to control the potato market in the United States."

Andrus' wire to President Everett-Harris of the Mercantile Exchange said he was encouraged by the current price of $5.55 per sack.

"The Idaho potato farmer has a bumper crop of these fine Idaho potatoes," he said.

In asking for the extension he said that "a favorable decision on your part would greatly help the depressed farm economy in our state and give millions of Americans the additional chance to enjoy our great product."

Budget adopted

HANSEN — The Hansen School District trustees have adopted a $203,424 budget. The budget, 7.9 per cent increase over the 1970-71 school budget, was adopted after a public hearing Tuesday evening.

Supt. William C. Barnard said the budget breakdown is:

Administrative costs, $18,310; instructional costs, $135,873; transportation, $11,300; operation of plant costs, $14,720; maintenance, $11,340; fixed charges, $7,700; food service costs, $1,990; capital outlay expenses, $4,175; and secondary tuition, $1,000.

Supt. Barnard said although the budget is up nearly eight per cent, the mill levy has been decreased from 37.68 to 35.5 mills.

Youth can't seek office

HANSEN — A student at Hansen High School has been prevented from running for student body vice president because of his alleged "poor attitude" toward teachers and the school superintendent, Superintendent William Barnard said today.

The student, Jerry Gunter, had been nominated for the post by students.

Barnard said that despite the student's good grades, he had been prevented from seeking the post because a student must be in good graces with his teachers and superintendent in order to hold the class position.

If a student is not in such good graces, his name is automatically removed from eligible candidates, he said.

Barnard said the fact that Gunter wears long hair was not related to the school's action. The elections will be held Friday.

3 youths charged in case

JEROME — Three Jerome youths, ranging in age from 13 to 15 years, have been petitioned into Magistrate Court here under the youth rehabilitation act as a result of an investigation into a series of break-ins and burglaries which officers say extend over several months time.

The three were arrested after officers set up a stake-out at a barn located on West F. Street. Officers said the three arrived at the barn with a golf cart, which had been reported stolen, and were attempting to get it through a narrow door when arrested.

Loot from numerous burglaries including several homes and one school has been recovered, officers said.

Police Chief C.H. Puntny said petitions will probably be filed in the near future naming several other young people in the area.

Plan given Paul council

PAUL — Dale Milton presented his plans for his latest subdivision, Lucille's First Addition, at the Paul City Council meeting Wednesday evening.

He told the council he wanted to know exactly what the city would require of him in this subdivision and if it would annex one block of it into the city at this time.

This section of the subdivision is bordered on the north by Idaho Street and by North Fifth Street on the west side. There are 12 lots in this section and 20 in the part that will be developed in the future.

Milton told the councilmen he wanted to know exactly what was required of him on the streets. He said he was prepared to cut the streets and install the sewer and water lines.

"I feel I shouldn't have to curb and gutter the existing roads bordering the property," he said.

The council, however, didn't quite agree with him. It approved a motion that if the city was going to annex block one into the city, all roads would have to be curbed and guttered.

It also agreed the city would cut the alley ways and gravel them.

City attorney Larry Duff was then authorized to work up an agreement with Milton to enable him to proceed on this subdivision.

If this agreement is fulfilled by Milton, his property will be annexed at a later date.

In other business the council: Authorized Floyd Clark, maintenance supervisor, to get quotes of costs for laying sewer and water pipelines the city plans to install.

Agreed to establish a hookup fee for irrigation water lines.

Authorized the city to purchase a transit if the purchase price is under $100.

Sold an old truck that would no longer work for $25.

Accepted the audit of the city as presented by Helen Cannon, Twin Falls.

Cassia clean-up plans discussed

BURLEY — Final plans for the Cassia County clean up project were discussed Tuesday in a meeting at the courthouse. The Johnny Horizon Cassia County cleanup project will get under way at 8:30 a.m. Saturday in all parts of the county.

The project is being directed by BLM officials and county commissioners.

Lewis Martindale, BLM director for the project, reminded area coordinators a list of the number of workers in each area is needed so the food details can be completed. Hot dogs, pop and potato chips will be sent to each area for the workers.

Each coordinator will be responsible for drinking water in his area.

Car bodies in Elba, Almo and Alphon area will be taken to the large gravel pit near Malta. All other areas will bring their car bodies to Burley. A company has volunteered to take all car bodies, so they will be hauled to the lot on the southwest side of the city of Burley's landfill.

All persons were reminded to stress safety to their workers. A red flag to halt traffic and warn traffic of workers or equipment will be used.

Coordinators expressed that persons are volunteering in the various areas for the work day in cleaning up the county.

Burley aide said better

BURLEY — Rex Stanley, Burley city councilman who was injured in a motorcycle accident March 12 which claimed the life of Dennis Jackson, is now home.

Stanley was hospitalized in Twin Falls for about a month before being transferred to Cassia Memorial Hospital. He was released from Cassia Memorial Hospital Wednesday.

He is however, still confined to bed at home, doctors said.

Richfield tutor quits

RICHFIELD — The resignation of Richfield High School math and chemistry teacher, Gary Kinsler, has been reported by Supt. Neil Anderson.

Applications for a new teacher are being solicited. This is the only present vacancy in the Richfield school system.

Trail group joins council

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Magic Valley Trail Machine Association voted unanimously Wednesday night to join the Idaho Public Land Resource Council, Inc.

The council was formed about a month ago in Gooding and included on the board are members from all facets of land users in the state.

Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, Tuttle, one of the organizers of the council, was at the trail machine association's meeting in Twin Falls Wednesday to talk about the council and to accept the association's membership check.

Victor Deahl, newly elected president of the association, said the land council's objectives regarding multiple use of public lands are in line with the feeling of his group. He said that the two groups can work together to promote multiple use of Idaho's public lands. The trail machine association opposes creation of a national park in the Sawtooths.

The land resource council was set up to promote the general welfare and property of the members and all public land users in the state; to promote broad-based support for multiple use as opposed to special or single use; to inform the people of the state and the nation of the ultimate value of public use; to resist attempts by government agencies to play one user group against another in manipulating public lands, and to refrain from partisan politics, but to support or circulate the views of any elected or appointed representative whose actions are consistent with the goals of the council.

Burley high's top scholars selected

BURLEY — Peggy Searle has been named valedictorian of the senior class of the Burley High School. Wayne Blauer has been named the class salutatorian.

Baccalaureate services are planned for 2:30 p.m. May 23 in Burley High School Gymnasium. Featured speaker will be Dr. Floyd Peterson, University of Idaho, Moscow. Commencement exercises will be at 8 p.m. May 28 in the Burley High School Gymnasium.

Shoshone buys new police car

SHOSHONE — A new police car is being purchased by the city of Shoshone.

At the Tuesday night city council meeting, the bid of Harbaugh Motor was accepted for the purchase in the amount of $1,995. Other bids were received from Bob Reese and Leo Rice Motor Co.

Burrell Williams, Lincoln County commissioner, met with the council to discuss the problems at the sanitary landfill operated jointly by the county and city. Notice was made that the garbage and trash dumped there is covered once each week, but though there is improvement from the former method, prior to the landfill, there is a problem of small papers and napkins blowing away when being dumped and also a problem getting the general public to use the landfill area.

Suggestion was made by the council the public put their napkins and small papers into either plastic bags and tie the bags or into cardboard boxes and tie them. The landfill area is also burned at dumping, but with a high wind, the loose material such as papers, blow away and are causing trouble this way.

Williams said he and Gary Kinghorn will be in charge of the Pony League recreational program this summer. Vern Johnson will have the Legion team to direct and directors and coaches are yet needed for the Little League.

The summer recreation program could include softball for girls if leaders could be obtained, the city officials noted.

Councilmen Paul Jacobsen and Wilson Churchman will select a director for the Little League program, Mayor Elwood R. Werry said. As recreational committeemen, they will also select a chairman for the summer swimming program.

Police Chief Jerry Conklin reported the past month's activities and a total of $112.50 was received from the Magistrate Court of C. M. Wilson as the city's share of fines and costs for the month of April.

Police Chief Conklin reported a bike safety school will be held at Lincoln school within the next two weeks.

Richfield Lions tag Pelley

RICHFIELD — Albert Pelley has been re-elected president of the Richfield Lions Club. New officers were named during the club's Tuesday meeting.

Other officers elected were Melvin Pope, first vice president; Lyle Piper, second vice president; Charles Buttane, secretary; Carl Paulson, treasurer; John Lemmon, sight and civic committee chairman, and Norman Albrethson, chairman of the tree and community beautification projects.

Marvin Webb was elected Lion tamer and Bill Twister to replace Dale Ellis, who moved out of the community.

Announcement was made of the June Lions Club Convention at Sun Valley with Dick Bryant, Lions International past president, to be a featured speaker. A September meeting is scheduled with a program on Highway 93 to be given by Dick Ranson.

Lyle Piper was named to contact legislators concerning placement of road signs at the ice caves and in Shoshone.

It was noted the Boise Lions had stolen the Richfield club gavel and had given it to the Twin Falls club.

A work day on community tree project was set for Monday. The 4-H club also will finish the city trash barrels at that time.

State liquor law changes reviewed

JEROME — Area liquor retailers and Jerome Police Chief C.H. Puntny met Wednesday night in Jerome with Ed Robinson, liquor law enforcement officer, Department of Law Enforcement, to review changes in state liquor laws.

Robinson told the group the law which becomes effective May 19, allows the sale of liquor by the drink during conventions, receptions and similar large gatherings. This will not require any major change in this area, he said but added officers and retailers should be aware of all provisions of the new regulations.

He also noted the law now makes it permissible for musicians 18 years of age and older to provide entertainment in an establishment where liquor is sold.

Jerome gets jury procedure

JEROME — Mrs. Ella McVey, Jerome County Clerk, announced today she has received an order from the Idaho Supreme Court amending procedures of jury selection as outlined in Senate Bill 740.

On Friday, April 24, Mrs. McVey mailed out questionnaires to registered voters. At that time she said she felt this would meet all requirements.

The orders received yesterday state the list of registered voters must be supplemented by driver's license holders over voting age, and public utility customers.

Therefore, she said, no one will be relieved of the opportunity to serve as a juror. Mrs. McVey said once the lists are prepared they will be submitted to the Juror Commission who will review the lists and names of qualified jurors will be placed in a jury wheel to be drawn as needed.

RUPERT — Steve Balch has been named valedictorian of the Minico High School Senior Class and Sharon Phillips has been named salutatorian.

Balch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Balch, Rupert, and Miss Phillips is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Phillips, Rupert.

Baccalaureate services will be May 23 in Minico High School gym. Guest speaker will be Leigh Ingersoll, former principal of the Minico High School. Ingersoll is presently counselor at East Minico Junior High School.

Commencement exercises will be May 24 in the school gymnasium.

Child hurt

TWIN FALLS — One minor injury was reported in an intersection collision Wednesday afternoon in Twin Falls.

City police said a car driven by Alice May Hine, 59, Twin Falls, and one driven by Steven Glenn Davis, 14, Twin Falls, collided at Shoshone Street and Fifth Avenue West.

Police said Davis was traveling east on Fifth and Mrs. Hine was traveling south on Shoshone Street when the accident occurred about 3 p.m.

Officers said Davis was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

BURLEY — The Burley Toastmistress Club conducted a symposium on the school situation in Cassia County Tuesday during its meeting at Unity Light and Power Conference room.

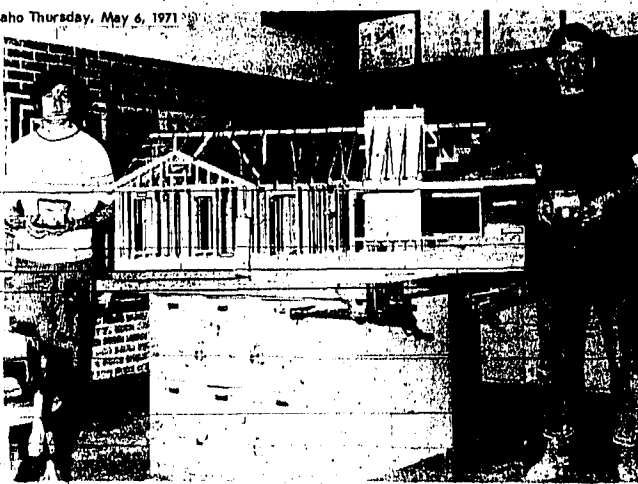

Panel members were Mrs. Blaine Jensen, who was assigned the topic two high schools in the county; T. Wayne Woodland spoke on maintaining the schools as they are with improvements as her assigned topic, and Mrs. Wallace Sharples, deconsolidation of the district as her topic. Mrs. Harlow Cheney was moderator.

Mrs. Jack Box was table topic chairman, using a subject of psychiatry. Mrs. Manning was table topic winner.

Mrs. Walter Povlsen, reported slate of officers for the nominating committee and officers will be elected May 25 during regular meeting and installed in June.

Mrs. Manning reminded members of the Council Seven Toastmistress meeting May 22 which will be hosted by the Burley Club. Mrs. Box was appointed chairman of the arrangements.

The Burley Toastmistress Club will meet with the Minico Toastmistress Club at 8 p.m. Tuesday, at Ponderosa Inn. The two clubs will work on favors for the Snake River Regional Toastmistress Conference planned for June at Twin Falls.

Minico students get 5 awards at Nampa show

RUPERT — Students from Minico High School have returned with five prizes from Nampa where they exhibited projects in the Second Annual Industrial Arts Exhibit. There were 60 schools represented and 365 entries, in three age classifications. Minico students entered 11 projects and returned home with three first places in wood turning and one first place in open class and a fifth place in master products.

Students who attended and paid their own expenses for the two-day exhibit were John Clark, Ray Griffen, Dorlan Duffin, Ernie Tuckness, Tom Nichols, Dan Dennis, Jerrald Anderson, Ken Pincock, Joe Clark and Fred Surr. William Clayton, instructor and adviser of the class, also attended the exhibit.

John Clark and Ray Griffen entered their joint project of a house and Dorlan Duffen entered a water pipe system in which all received blue ribbons and each received a wrist watch.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks were mixed but fairly heavy trading Thursday.

Near 1:15 p.m., the Dow Jones Industrial average was ahead 3 1/2 points at 843.44.

Of the 1,595 issues traded, however, 640 declined, while 699 advanced. A three-hour turnover of 11,630,000 shares was a million shares ahead of Wednesday's pace.

Motors and gold mining stocks declined, but oils and steels attracted demand. Republic Steel, the nation's third largest steel producer, announced price increases averaging 8 1/2 percent on big volume flat rolled steel products used by the auto makers, appliance manufacturers and a wide range of other industries.

The increases, which take effect with shipments June 16 and July 1, follow the pattern established by U.S. Steel Corp. and announced a day earlier.

Among the day's most active issues were General Foods Corp. up 1/4 on 405,700 shares, Alcan Aluminum off 1/4 on 218,700 shares, American Standard down 1/2 on 187,600 shares, Eastern Air Lines down 1/2 on 127,400 shares, and Great Western Financial off a full point at 121,000 shares.

Du Pont rose more than 2, but Dow Chemical lost 2 after spurring a Wednesday, when it declared a 3-for-2 stock split and boosted its dividend.

Stars rip Colonels for 2-0 ABA lead

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Center Zelmo Beaty bucketed 40 points Wednesday night to pace the Utah Stars to a 138-125 win over Kentucky to give the Stars a 2-0 bulge in the championship finals of the American Basketball Association.

Shooting a scizzling 57 per cent from the field, the Stars broke from a 65-62 halftime advantage to an 88-78 bulge with 3:41 remaining in the third period. Beaty, running more than he has all season, balanced his scoring in each of the four periods.

Dan Issel matched Beaty's output by scoring 40 points for the Colonels. Utah moved out to a 37-28 lead at the end of the first quarter. But the Colonels came roaring back in the second period behind the shooting of Darel Carrier, Issel and Walt Simon to take the lead 40-39 with 8:55 left before intermission.

The score then changed hands seven times and was tied four times before the Stars began to pull away in the final four minutes of the opening half.

Utah moved steadily ahead of the Colonels in the second half by tightening its defense and shutting off the inside shots of Carrier and Issel.

Carrier and Simon each scored 25 points, Willie Wise and Glen Combs hit 28 and 22 points, respectively, for the Stars.

Kentucky's Les Hunter fouled out early in the fourth period. Kentucky managed to connect on 48.5 per cent of its shots from the field.

The two clubs now move to Louisville's Freedom Hall for the third and fourth games Friday night and Saturday afternoon.

O'Leary sweeps Stuart
O'Leary's track teams made a sweep of the annual Red-White and Green-White competitions Wednesday, the boys taking an 85-52 decision and the girls winning 62-52.

The O'Leary boys got a sprint double from Pat Keegan and good distance effort from Mike North who won the mile and was second in the half. Gillenwater aided Stuart's effort by winning the pole vault at a sub-par 8-9 and running on two winning relays.

For the girls, April Arrington of O'Leary won the 50 and 100-yard dashes and Miss Thompson took the hurdles and won the broadjump in a district best of 16 feet, 10 inches. Miss Tickner paced Stuart with a win in the 75-yard dash, second in the 50 and a leg on the winning medley relay team.

Idaho and Idaho State signed four top athletes out of Magic Valley Wednesday which was "national letter" of intent play throughout the nation.

University of Idaho, represented by professional split end and holder of most of the Vandal receiving records, Jerry Hendren, signed Kirk Dennis of Wendell and Rich Brown of Glenns Ferry. Idaho State inked Steve Torix of Minico and pole vaulter Billy Miller of Twin Falls.

The signing of Brown and Dennis by Idaho keeps together a lifelong tradition. Although they certainly wouldn't remember it, Rich and Kirk were born the same day, April 17, 1953, in Gooding Memorial hospital a few hours apart.

Hendren, who plays wide receiver for the Denver Broncos and is assisting in coaching wide receivers this spring, said currently the Idaho staff plans to install Brown as a wide receiver. Both went both ways for their high school teams, Brown as a linebacker and Dennis as safety.

"We believe both men have a tremendous future ahead of them," Hendren said. "Brown is 6-2 and 185 pounds with all that speed and Dennis is fast with good hands and good size and has proved he can run with the ball."

Hendren also noted Dennis is bigger, faster and had better grades than Hendren in high school and predicted Dennis could break a lot of his records at Vandaville.

Torix, who is 6-3, 215 pounds, played defensive tackle for Coach Corky Hill at Minico and a lot of Idaho State's excitement in signing the young giant in his youth. Torix is a year behind his graduating class in age and won't turn 18 until next October.

Although he has slimmed down some for track and wrestling purposes, Torix played at nearly 230 pounds last year and should get easily into that weight class with another year or two of maturity.

Miller will bring instant help to Idaho State, his 15-foot vaulting already on a par with most of the competition the Bengals will ever meet and freshmen are now allowed to participate on the varsity level. Facilities, reputation and logic dictated Miller's decision to go with ISU and decline scholarship bids from Arizona and Colorado plus feelers from several national tracks powers including Kansas.

The mindome gives Miller year-round training and practice facilities, Idaho State is sufficiently track conscious to provide funds that will enable him to compete at every level of competition his eventual capability will carry him. And in the event his promise of attaining world class in vaulting is never realized, he already has achieved a level that will give him success on the conference and ISU level.

Miller's taste of national competition already is set up the youngster receiving bids to participate in the Golden West track meet in San Francisco in June and in the U.S. Federation meet later in the summer.

Hendren, who plays wide receiver for the Denver Broncos and is assisting in coaching wide receivers this spring, said currently the Idaho staff plans to install Brown as a wide receiver. Both went both ways for their high school teams, Brown as a linebacker and Dennis as safety.

"We believe both men have a tremendous future ahead of them," Hendren said. "Brown is 6-2 and 185 pounds with all that speed and Dennis is fast with good hands and good size and has proved he can run with the ball."

Twin Falls favored to repeat as SIC champion

The Twin Falls Bruins waited 20 years for a Southern Idaho Conference track and field title before accomplishing it in 1970. When the league gets together again Friday night at Brun Stadium, the Bruins will probably make it two straight.

Coach Jerry Kleinkopf's charges lead in number of entries and should pull points out of 13 of the 17 events and maybe 14. Overall the Bruins should score from 60 to 70 points while Borah and Highland look like the teams to battle it out for second, somewhere in the 40s or high 30s.

For the first time the SIC will spread its championship meet into sufficient time to let qualifiers and field men rest up. The preliminaries for the hurdles and two short dashes will be held at 3:30 p.m. All field events begin at 5 p.m. and the running finals will start at 6:30 p.m. Only two individuals are returning as defending champions. Paul Shaber, Idaho Falls, who currently holds a share of the hurdle record of 14.8, is back in the high and favored to win both timber events. The other is Twin Falls' Billy Miller who became the best junior pole vaulter in the nation in this meet last year when he soared to a record of 15 feet, 3 inches. Miller eclipsed that by one inch last week for an all-time Idaho best and this week has been working extremely hard on his pull ups.

Other records that are in jeopardy come in the 880-yard relay where Twin Falls, Borah and Highland have been at 1:32 against 1:31.8. Twin Falls has held its quarter up by inserting senior sprinter Robert Warner and should, with any kind of weather, top the record.

Beating the other two might be harder. Highland and Twin Falls have bettered the 3:40.8 medley mark with Highland the best at 3:38.3. Bruin Mark Miller has been 22.1 in the 220-yard dash against the 22.3 standard.

All the races will feature great duels. Miller will be meeting Price of Caldwell, Wakeman of Borah and Diest of Skyline in the century with the Bruin kicker being sophomore Bill Woodson. Miller and Reece pose a tough Bruin duo in the 220-yard dash with Woodson also along. The quartet will pit Wilcox of Minico who had 50.9 against Orcutt of Meridian who turned in a 50.3 Wednesday night. The halfmile could end up a two-team duel among Bruins Jack Cooper and sophomore Gary Sears and Saul and another Highland Ram.

The mile could well be the poorest race of the night with Gillette of Nampa a heavy favorite. But the two-mile has four sub-10 minute men in Stan Doten of Twin Falls, Simmons of Borah, Towle of Boise, and Parker of Idaho Falls.

Twin Falls figures heavily in the relay races with Minico showing best in the half and mile quarters. The other really competition should come largely from Borah with Boise sending a good medley crew.

In the field events, Borah rates the favorite in the high jump and Girdner of Boise appears too strong in the shot and discus. Steve Torix of Minico and Mike Keegan of Twin Falls in the shot, and Trux and Rich Borah of Twin Falls, in the discus, should battle for two and three with Torix holding the edge.

The fickle broadjump could be won by anyone but Bruin junior Alan Conner sailed 21-9 last week and Highland had 21-5 to head the efforts. Allen of Borah will lead the west division attack.

The pole vault should see fifth place cleared 13-6—and it was only six years ago that the SIC meet became the first in Idaho to have two men clear 13 feet on the same day.

Although the individuals have been qualified down to the final 12, all teams will bring a relay. These will be divided into heats with the three fastest from each side competing in the first and six alongside in the second.

Borah won the west division title Wednesday night with 80 points, followed by Nampa 40, Boise 41, Capital 38, Meridian 30%, and Caldwell 30%.

Brewers lose row but beat Senators

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—A barge-loaded single by pinch-hitter Andy Kosco in a rhubarb-filled seventh inning propelled the Milwaukee Brewers to a 4-3 victory over Denny McLain and the Washington Senators Wednesday night.

Kosco's hit came after Brewers manager Dave Bristol was ejected from the game for potting too vehemently when home plate umpire Dave Phillips refused to allow Bristol to re-insert starting outfielder John Briggs into the lineup. Bristol had announced Kosco was a pinch-hitter for Briggs and when Washington manager Ted Williams switched pitchers, Bristol attempted to have Briggs step to the plate anyway.

Bristol claimed that Kosco had never been in the batter's box and after being thrown out, announced that he had protested the game.

boosted his record to 7-1 with his fourth shutout in the remarkable string in which the 21-year-old has not allowed more than six hits in a contest.

Blue struck out 11 and walked four—recording five of his strikeouts in the first and fourth innings.

Twins 5, Yanks 3

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI)—Shortstop Leo Cardenas drove in all five Minnesota runs Wednesday night, three on his first home run of the year, to give the Twins a 5-3 victory over the New York Yankees.

Jim Perry went 7 2/3 innings for Minnesota before being taken out for Ray Corbin. Perry struck out one and walked seven for his fifth win of the year against two defeats.

After Steve Braun singled to left and Brant Alyva walked, Cardenas homered 387 feet over the right field fence to put the Twins ahead, 2-0, in the second.

Royals 4, Indians 2

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Amos Otis smacked a two-run homer to trigger a four-run sixth inning and Dick Drago picked up his fourth victory with ninth-inning relief from Tom Burgmeier Wednesday afternoon as the Kansas City Royals defeated the Cleveland Indians, 4-2.

The Royals, who were held to only one hit over the first five innings by Cleveland starter Steve Dunning, banged out five hits to wrap up the game in the sixth.

Joe Keough led off with a bloop single and Otis belted his fourth homer of the season over the centerfield fence. After Ed Kirkpatrick grounded out, Bob Oliver singled, took second on Carl Taylor's single and scored when Cookie Rojas doubled to left.

Pro cage merger talks resume today

NEW YORK (UPI)—Merger committees of the National and American Basketball Association met separately today to discuss the feasibility of an immediate amalgamation that could end the escalating money war for college players.

An NBA committee headed by Abe Pollin, president of the Baltimore Bullets, and its ABA counterpart, chaired by Wendell Cherry, Kentucky Colonels' owner, have been meeting for the last four weeks in an effort to secure peace in the pros and present a united front that would bid for congressional approval of a merger.

It was reported several weeks ago that all but two of the NBA owners were gunning for a merger. Their pocket books were emptying because of the telephone number contracts being signed and they are all aware of the uproar that will be created when fans hear mention of ticket price increases to make up the deficit in the club treasuries.

Sam Schulman, owner of the Seattle SuperSonics—and a member of the NBA merger committee, has been predicting all along that a merger was forthcoming, now and not in the distant future.

All the ABA owners are for the consolidation that, if effected, would create a 28-team league—17 from the NBA and 11 from the ABA.

"Frankly, we're not far apart from that I hear, said an ABA spokesman.

The one huge roadblock that must be circumvented is the players' feelings that a merger would cut into their chances for fat salaries. The NBA Players Association contends a merger would be an anti-trust violation and injurious to their livelihood.

For a time, the Boards of Governors of both leagues were sympathetic to the players' charge and if the situation were presented before the legislature it would not grant basketball the immunity from anti-trust laws that pro football and baseball enjoy.

Apparently, the owners are prepared to risk congressional disapproval since it may be their only chance for many of them to emerge from the red.

Only a few of the NBA clubs are said to be making money, including the New York Knicks and Milwaukee Bucks who played before sellout crowds all season. The ABA is hurting, too, at the gate and trying desperately to recover through the signing of big name celebrities.

ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph refused to portray a positive viewpoint today over a possible merger. He did say, "I have always felt that a consolidation of the NBA and ABA was inevitable and I anticipate a move in that direction in the near future."

An indication that merger committees are working overtime toward a common solution was emphasized by Ben Kerner, owner of the old St. Louis Hawks, who said he had an opportunity to buy into one of the top attendance-drawing NBA teams but shelved a decision because, "if a merger comes about, I may not want any part of it."

"If I owned a franchise, I'd vote against the merger," Kerner said. "I just can't see a 28-team league."

In addition to paying big prices for college players, both leagues have been hurt by player-jumping.

Big ag show planned

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration farm officials don't like to talk about it, but they will spend $75,000 to set up an exhibit— including hogs, sheep and a steer— on the White House lawn this week.

The unusual exhibit, with some of the trappings of a small-scale county fair, was designed as one of the highlights of the Salute to Agriculture program President Nixon will stage May 7.

Agriculture Department officials, at a briefing for newsmen on plans for the salute events Tuesday, shied away from any estimate of the exhibit costs. But other government sources confirmed the department— which is paying for the show— will spend about $75,000.

The day-long salute program, including briefings on domestic and foreign affairs by top administration officials, was announced by Nixon as a move to get national recognition for the contributions of agriculture to the nation's well-being.

Herb Plambeck, an Agriculture Department spokesman, told newsmen Nixon decided on the event after staging a similar tribute to labor last fall.

In response to questions, said he did not know whether the farm event was proposed before or after last fall's Congressional elections in which Republicans suffered a series of defeats in rural areas.

Administration leaders and Congressional Republicans from farm areas have been concerned since then with improving the GOP's popularity rating in farm areas.

Some phases of the festival program remained vague, but Plambeck Tuesday filled in a number of details.

The official said farmers, farm leaders, agri-business officials and their wives, along with several media representatives, have been invited to attend most segments of the May 7 program— not 60 couples as had been announced earlier.

However, only half the group of 120 couples were invited to the prime item on the program— a black-tie dinner at the White House Friday night.

The 60 guests and wives who didn't get the prized dinner bids were invited, with some other guests, to an after-dinner music program on the White House lawn featuring singer Glen Campbell.

Plambeck said the White House did not plan to release any of the guest list until Friday, although portions of it already have been disclosed by people who received invitations.

Plambeck said Nixon would open the program in the Agriculture Department's auditorium Friday morning. Later, the guests were to hear briefings by Attorney General John N. Mitchell on crime and narcotics and on foreign policy by White House Advisor, Dr. Henry Kissinger.

Those talks were to be followed by a lunch at the State Department featuring speeches on rural revenue-sharing by HUD Secretary George Romney and on agricultural exports by Agriculture Secretary, Clifford M. Hardin.

Friday afternoon, the salute guests were to tour the White House lawn exhibit now being constructed by the Agriculture Department. That show was designed to show American agriculture's contributions to the nation's consumers, economy and environment and to world food needs.

Some of the 21 segments of the exhibit will include livestock showing results of breeding improvement programs and machinery labeled to show how much farmers have to spend on modern equipment.

One segment will highlight the Nobel prize-winning wheat breeding work of Dr. Norman Borlaug, who will be specially honored in the program.

A Lovelier You

IT GOES TO YOUR HEAD

By Mary Sue Miller

Be it sn(n)-smooth or a toss of curls, your hairdo is certain to gain point from a bit of adornment. New hair accessories are really nifty and, what's more, they give a sneaky assist to tress control when summer breezes blow.

Butterflies flutter by in hair fashions as in all others. One goody locks a topknot in place with a glass butterfly buckle barrette of brightly colored mock tortoise. In smaller versions there are cowhide-filters threaded an elastic braid to cinch a little tendril at the ear or a fat braid down the back.

To fit a niche, an individual one in your hairdo, buckle barrettes come in all shapes and sizes. And to compliment what you wear, materials range through wood, leather and reptile for day, through gold and silver after dusk.

Added to the largesse are "tiebacks" and bows of lovely ribbons—perky taffetas and sarahs, cotton brocades, sheer embroideries and glowing metallic cloths. Enjoying a revival, flowers blossom as hair accessories. A single carnation, rose or gardenia worn at the eyeline is a come-hither secret of the '60s glamour girls. And worth repetition, they did fine.

Placed low, a posy will even fit with a hat. What an eye-catcher when the hat comes off but not the flower! All those little touches that go to your head are on the feminine wiles side.

TEEN TRESSES, MODEL TYPE

Is your hair a problem, Miss Teen? Then send for my leaflet, TEEN TRESSES, MODEL TYPE. It tells how to correct such ailments as oily hair and flaky scalp; fly-away, unmanageable, lackluster locks. Included, too, are styling tips and model-grooming quickies. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin.

1971, Publishers-Hall Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this, doubting that I'll ever mail it. It's been on my mind for 18 years. Before my husband and I were married, he was married briefly to a raving beauty. They had one daughter. There were a lot of hard feelings, and he didn't see his daughter until she was 10 years old. She's a grown woman now.

My complaint: My husband has a large insurance policy. The beneficiary is his daughter. For the first 15 years of our married life, the beneficiary was his first wife, then he changed it.

This just eats me up. We have a family of our own, Abby. What about them? And what about me? When I mention this to my husband, he says, "Don't worry, you'll be taken care of." I know better. We don't own a business, or a house, or even a car.

I have tried to be big about it, but I can't. If I were to make a scene and force him to change the beneficiary, he'd do it only because I forced him to. So what would I gain except the money?
SAVANNAH

DEAR SAVANNAH: What do you mean if you forced him to change the beneficiary all you would gain is "mosey"? That money is the difference between your being left a widow without a dime or one whose husband has left her and her family provided for. If I were you, I would make a scene! You're entitled to it.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been happily married for over a year now and we love each other very much. We have a good relationship with our in-laws considering we are both only children and live in the same town with both sets of parents.

My problem is a bad habit my mother in law has. She is always talking about what my husband did when he was a baby, the cute things he said, the toys he had, and even the cute clothes he had. I realize that those childhood memories are precious to her, but she bores me and everyone else to death with that kind of talk.

I don't want to hurt her feelings by asking her to cut it out, so maybe if you print this letter she will see it and it will hit home.
CHILDHOOD BLUES

DEAR BLUES: If she doesn't see this, or if she sees it and it doesn't hit home, don't worry. Your problems will solve themselves as soon as YOU have a baby. Then she'll bore everybody with talk of her grandchild!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for five months and the only problem we have is with our landlady. She lives downstairs and says she has to have a key to our apartment in case it rains while we are gone and she has to close our windows. Or if she smells a gas leak or smoke from our apartment.

Well, we have proof that she comes in and snoops around in our drawers and closets. She never rings the bell or knocks. She just lets herself in with her own key. Several times she scared me half to death because I didn't even know she was in my apartment until I turned around and saw her.

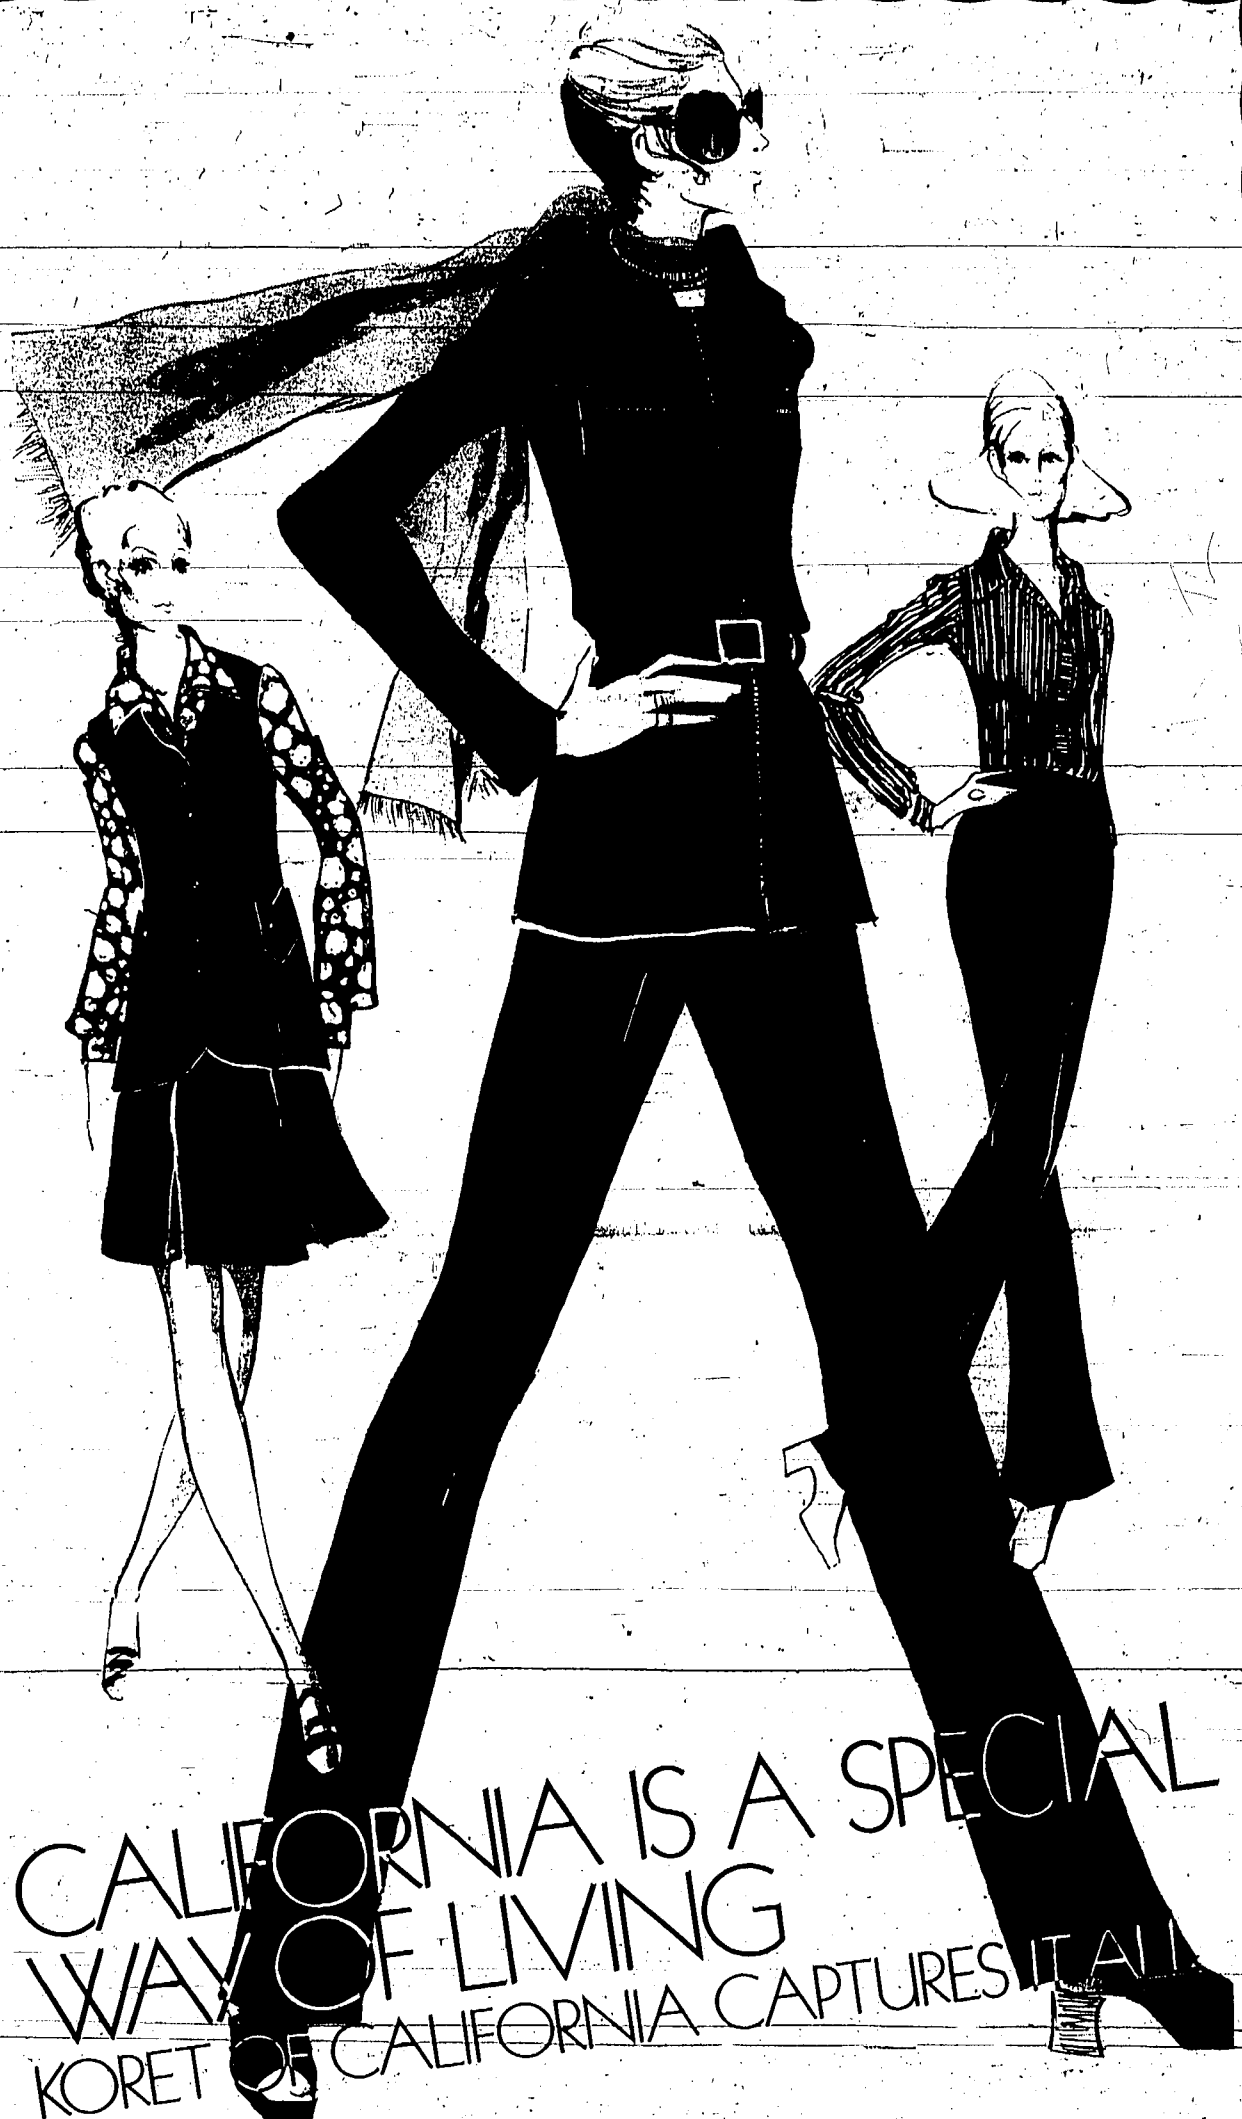

Our door key fits our mailbox, so now she brings me my mail, saying she wants to save me the trouble of getting it myself. Abby, I prefer to get my own mail!

Once she let herself in and opened our bedroom door when my husband and I were IN bed. Can you believe it? What do you advise us to do?
NO PRIVACY

DEAR NO: Have a chain lock put on your door so that she can't enter while you are inside. That will insure privacy. Change the lock on your door and don't give her a key. Tell her you'll close the windows before you leave, and if she smells gas or smoke from your apartment to break the door down with an ax and you'll pay for it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "OVER 21 AND THINKING IT OVER": Silicone implants (not injections) are legal in this country, and there are many fine plastic surgeons who perform this type of operation for women who wish to increase the size of their breasts. It's called mammary surgery. (Many consider it the "booby prize.")

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 60799, Los Angeles, Cal. 90060. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

3 Explorer Scouts will compete in national rally

TWIN FALLS — Three Explorer Scouts from Rupert Post 153 will be competing for an opportunity to go to Dearborn, Mich., in October for the Grand National Rally, a safe driving program sponsored by the Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor Co. and the Boy Scouts of America.

The Rupert team consisting of Steve Young, driver; Ray Young, navigator, and Richard Hansen, observer, finished in first place Saturday in a road rally in the Magic Valley area in which 24 teams of Explorer Scouts competed on a 123 mile course between Twin Falls and Burley.

The local rally climaxed several weeks of training and preparation to develop safe driving skills among Explorer Scout in the area. The Exploring Committee of the Snake River Area Boy Scouts and Lincoln-Mercury Division, Ford Motor Co., began the program with a rally clinic held April 28 and 27. Drivers were required to participate in one of the two days. Here they learned rules, regulations, driving techniques and basic road rally procedure. In addition, a rigid vehicle inspection was conducted by the Idaho State Police and Jerome police officers.

During the clinic each driver was given an opportunity to take part in a mini-rally. The 24 cars, each with a three man team, left Saturday from the College of Southern Idaho and followed a prescribed course Saturday. For each minute the car arrived at the Burley designation either late or early, one point was deducted from his score.

The Rupert team score will be sent to North Brunswick, N.J., where it will be listed with other scores from throughout the country and the top 30 teams will be selected for invitation to Dearborn, Mich., in October for the Grand National Rally. Here winners will have an opportunity to win a college scholarship, travel as a "youth safety spokesman" for Lincoln-Mercury and drive a Mercury product of their own for one year.

Second place winner here was Post 10, Burley, Robert Sorensen, Driver; Navigator, Jim Bunn and observer, Kevin Hamblin. In third place was Post 60, Twin Falls with Mike Cook, driver, Dave Kleig, navigator and Scott Hansen, observer.

The DLBF (dead last but finished) award went to Post 49, Rupert.

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Ray McBride was installed as president of the Ladies of the Elks of Twin Falls during a dinner Tuesday night at the Elks Club.

Others installed were Mrs. H. E. Cheney, president-elect; Mrs. Duane Serpa, second vice president; Mrs. David McKinster, recording secretary; Mrs. Ray Crumbliss, corresponding secretary; Mrs. G. Lee Gates, treasurer; Mrs. Gary Roland, historian; Mrs. Larry Groves, auditor, and Mrs. Kleth Burgess and Mrs. Don McKinster, directors. Mrs. E. M. McCurdy is outgoing president and Mrs. Weldon Haskins and Mrs. Edwin Barker are carry-over directors. Mrs. John Leinen was installing officer.

Mrs. Don McKinster served as toastmistress and Mrs. Damer Bertsch gave the invocation.

"To Dream the Impossible Dream" was the theme of the evening. Mrs. Alfred Empey played background music and tables were decorated with May poles with featured colored ribbon streamers with flowers at the base and small rosettes on each ribbon.

A large May pole with streamers leading to each officer was centered on stage. Each officer carried a white candle which was lighted as she was presented with her jewels of office.

Officers who served under Mrs. McCurdy were given gifts by the past president. Mrs. McCurdy was given a silver tray by Mrs. McBride on behalf of the members.

Miss Twin Falls, Farla McKinney, and her mother, Mrs. S. R. McKinney, were guests. Miss McKinney sang several songs and guitar player Mike Norris played and a group of eighth grade girls, Susan Bonfield, Judy Janson, Jan Casperson, Laurie Beal, Kay Thompson and Liz Russell, all of Robert Stuart Junior High School, gave a song and dance skit from their forthcoming talent show.

Mrs. Roy H. Russell was chairman of the event. She was assisted by Mrs. Sam Huck and Mrs. Clarence Hollifield.

Door prizes were donated by Jensen Jewelers, Juan's Holiday Inn Beauty Salon and Jules Flowers and Gifts.

Make a play table for tiny tots from a discarded card table. Cut the legs down to size and tie on a cover of washable, bright plastic.

Installed leader

LADIES OF ELKS of Twin Falls installed new officers Tuesday night during an installation dinner at the Twin Falls Elks Lodge. From left are Mrs. Ray McBride, president; Mrs. E. M. McCurdy, retiring president, and Mrs. John Leinen, installing officer.

GOODING — The Gooding Jaycees will sponsor a dance May 4 at the National Guard Armory, according to Brent Brocksome, Jaycee treasurer. Senior citizens will be admitted to the dance free and a western band will provide music. Proceeds will go toward purchase of a sign proclaiming "Gooding High School Seniors State Basketball Champions." Any additional money will be given to the high school athletic department.

National officer plans trip to T.F.

TWIN FALLS — Frank G. Wood, national assistant adjutant will be in attendance during the three-day Department Disabled American Veterans convention June 17, 18 and 19. It was announced today by unit officials.

The announcement was made to auxiliary members during their April meeting at the DAV Hall. There will be a work day May 25 at the hall to prepare the hall for the Flag Day Tea and convention.

Opening prayer was given by Mrs. Arthur Patterson and the pledge led by Mrs. Roland Christensen. Mrs. Addie Radakovich was in charge of the business session.

Mrs. Ruth Sievers thanked the auxiliary for the flowers sent her when she was in the hospital and it was announced a wedding gift will be sent to Mrs. Jackie Smith, the former Jackie Rehwalt.

It was announced the chapter and auxiliary held a surprise housewarming for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horejs in their new home in Filer. The evening was spent playing cards and visiting.

Officers elected for 1971-72 include Mrs. Patterson, commander; Mrs. May Gardoski, senior vice commander; Mrs. Roland Christensen, junior

New members honored by WOTM circle

TWIN FALLS — The Friendship Circle of the Women of the Moose met at the home of Mrs. Charles Mattice for the annual Friendship dinner for the new members coming into the circle. It was announced today.

Mrs. Gene Hamilton, friendship chairman, presided during the business meeting, with Mrs. Jack Atkinson leading the flag salute and Mrs. Paul Carlson the prayer.

Circle members voted to buy enough paint to redecorate the kitchen cabinets at the Moose Hall and to purchase a large coffee pot for the outgoing senior regent.

A gift will be presented to Mrs. Virgil Malone as she is going to Mooseheart to receive her cap and gown in June.

It was announced members of the Friendship Circle will serve both meetings in May for Moose members and guests. The Ring Ceremony for new Friendship girls is set for May 11.

Mrs. Lloyd Kelley gave the household hint and white elephant gifts were received by Dorothy McGinnis, Betty Greenup and Gloria Hamilton.

Application deadline set May 10

TWIN FALLS — Deadline for applications for the Idaho State Finals of the Miss American Teen-ager Pageant has been moved up to May 10.

All interested girls between the ages of 13 and 17 are eligible. Entrants must be no older than 17 by Sept. 11, 1971. Contestants will be judged on scholastic achievement, civic contributions, poise, personality and appearance.

The winner will be selected June 25 and 26 at the grand ballroom of the Boise Hotel in Boise during the state pageant. The winner will receive an expense-paid trip to the grand finals in Palisades Park, N.J., in September.

Applications can be obtained by writing to the certification headquarters, 126 Bunn Drive, Rockton, Ill., 61072, or by contacting the state chairman, Mrs. Jerry Gonzales, 1808 1/2 North 30th St., Boise. Her telephone number is 343-5706.

Losers named

TWIN FALLS — Beat losers for the week for the This Twin TOPS Club are Shelley James and Ella Orr. It was announced at the group's Tuesday meeting at the YM-YWCA.

Shelley James was crowned "Queen of the Month."

Marge Ward was assigned for ideas for contests for May and Pat Wolfe spoke on ideas obtained from the convention.

Guest speakers are scheduled for next week's meeting. The group noted a loss of 16 pounds.

SOMETHING LONG... OR SOMETHING SHORT?

Both are perfect for MOTHER'S DAY

VanRaalte presents two dreamy ways to make Mother smile with delight. Both are designed in filmy opaque Antron nylon. Elegant Colura lace highlights the high line of the double sheer bodice. One is skirted to cascade to the toes. The other just to the top of the knees. Both are designed to charm in pretty pastel colors.

Graduation announcement etiquette

INDIANAPOLIS, Inc. — Springtime means graduation time in high schools and colleges. But Herff Jones Co., a leader in class rings and graduation products, points out that—receiving an announcement is not a solicitation for a gift. In no way should the person receiving the announcement feel obligated to send a gift.

For the graduation announcement is just what its name says — an announcement that an acquaintance is being graduated from school. Since this event is one of the most important in a person's life, he wants to share it with others. The announcement is a perfect way to do this.

If the graduate is a relative or close acquaintance of course, you may wish to send a gift. For a high school graduate headed for college, a typewriter, pen and pencil set, alarm clock, luggage, and similar school and travel items may be handy. For a college graduate, practical things for setting up living quarters may be better as gifts. In either case, savings bonds, stocks, or cash are always appreciated.

Graduates receiving gifts, of course, should acknowledge them with personally written, hand-addressed thank-you notes as soon as possible.

sored by Sigma Nu Fraternity. Finalists for Father of the Year are Jack Newell, Twin Falls, sponsored by Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity; Marcus J. Ware, Lewiston, sponsored by Delta Delta Delta Sorority, and John R. Woodworth, Boise, sponsored by Aphia Tau-Omega Fraternity.

Nuclear machine built

BERKELEY, Calif. — Not far from the University of California, where 30 years ago a team of scientists used an "atom smasher" to discover the 94th element, a team of high school students have built their own "atom smasher" in the backroom of a school physics lab.

While the three young men may not discover any new elements, their work is no small thing. It was 30 years ago that the present chairman of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, and his associates Arthur Wahl and Joseph Kennedy discovered element 94 in Room 307, Gilman Hall, Berkeley Campus.

Using a deuterium cyclotron — commonly called an "atom smasher" — Dr. Seaborg and his team bombarded uranium with accelerated sub-atomic particles. The result — plutonium, an element which promises to reshape society. Used as a fuel it may someday supply clean power to light homes, recycle wastes, operate artificial hearts, and power spacecrafts to the stars.

More recently, at Lowell High School, San Francisco, Jeff Forst, Al Czervinski and Jack Goldstone began bombarding copper with sub-atomic particles from an accelerator they built themselves.

According to a veteran engineer from the AEC's Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, Berkeley, the homemade accelerator, although not too attractive, is a major achievement. It is capable of accelerating atomic particles to over 100,000 electron volts, which is not too much lower than the levels Dr. Seaborg's team achieved when they discovered plutonium.

It wasn't an easy task for the Lowell trio, but with persistence and ingenuity, and a little help from the staff at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, they built their nuclear machine from scratch for less than $200. Needless to say, it was much to the surprise of their skeptical friends and science teacher.

Spearheaded by Forst, the group spent their nights and holidays looking for castaway equipment. From the LRL, they scavenged, they picked up some equipment and tools, but perhaps, more important they got some valuable advice from Robert Richter, a veteran engineer at LRL.

They continued to scavenge parts, collected old capacitors from local private industries, and even rebuilt an old vacuum pump to complete their nuclear machine.

The three boys will leave Lowell this spring headed for separate engineering schools across the nation. And, while they made no earth-shaking discoveries with their nuclear machine, it is not hard to imagine that the ingenuity they showed at Lowell might be a sign of things to come.

Women voters set meet

TWIN FALLS — Six legislators from Twin Falls County will be guests of the League of Women Voters at a meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Colonial House.

Husbands of legislators and other guests will be invited to hear the legislators comment on the recent session and ask questions pertaining to legislative action.

Mrs. Steve Smith, league president, said Mrs. Laird Noh, legislative chairman, will report on voters' service information which has been conducted for the school board election Tuesday.

Final plans will be made for selection of delegates to the League of Women Voters state convention in Coeur d'Alene May 14 and 15.

Housing up
DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Housing Commission provided low rent housing to 1,478 additional families during 1970, an increase of about 17 per cent over 1969. The commission now operates more than 9,000 low rent dwellings in 15 housing developments.

Village old and modern

HAMPTON, Va. (UPI)—A primitive Indian village and an aerospace missile face each other across busy Mercury Boulevard here. Together they span the history of the oldest continuous English-speaking community in the United States.

The village is one of 12 major attractions on the well-marked auto tour of Hampton laid out by the local tourist office. It is a re-creation of a Kecoughtan settlement that stood here when the first visitors, Captain John Smith and his colonists, stopped by on the way to found Jamestown in 1607.

A few came back in 1810 to settle here. Jamestown was destroyed but Hampton survived the Revolutionary War, War of 1812 and the Civil War and is now a thriving city of about 116,000. It played host to about 500,000 visitors last year. Next door to the Indian village is the Syme-Eaton Museum, where exhibits trace the history of Hampton from its founding. The museum is named after two colonists who established the first free public schools in America (1834-1895) for the "poor children of the poor."

Across the boulevard, 20th century missiles, rockets and jet planes stand in the Aerospace Park surrounding the Hampton Tour Information Center. A special bus—a London double-decker—leaves from here for tours of the NASA Research Center and nearby Langley Air Force Base. (Fare $1 adults, 50 cents for children under 12).

America's first astronaut trained at the Langley-NASA facility. This year the restricted area where they practiced for their space flights has been opened to the public for the first time.

Langley is the nation's oldest active military base. It was from here, in 1921, that Billy Mitchell proved airplanes could sink battleships with bombs. Now, the world's most modern military jet planes can be seen zooming off the gigantic runways.

Except for NASA and Langley, the other attractions on the Hampton Tour are reached by car, with special electric street signs showing the way. Eleven are open year-round. One of the most popular begins operating in April and continues into the early fall. This is the Kicotan Clipper, flagship of the one-vessel Hampton Navy, owned and operated by the city. (Fare $1.25 for adults, 75 cents for children 5-12).

The cruise through the busy Hampton Road Harbor, with its warships, freighters and fishing boats, takes about 90 minutes.

Police officer honored

TWIN FALLS — A plaque recognizing 10 years of service in the Twin Falls Police Department was presented to Darryl Cameron Tuesday night during a regular meeting of the Twin Falls Police Department Benefit Association.

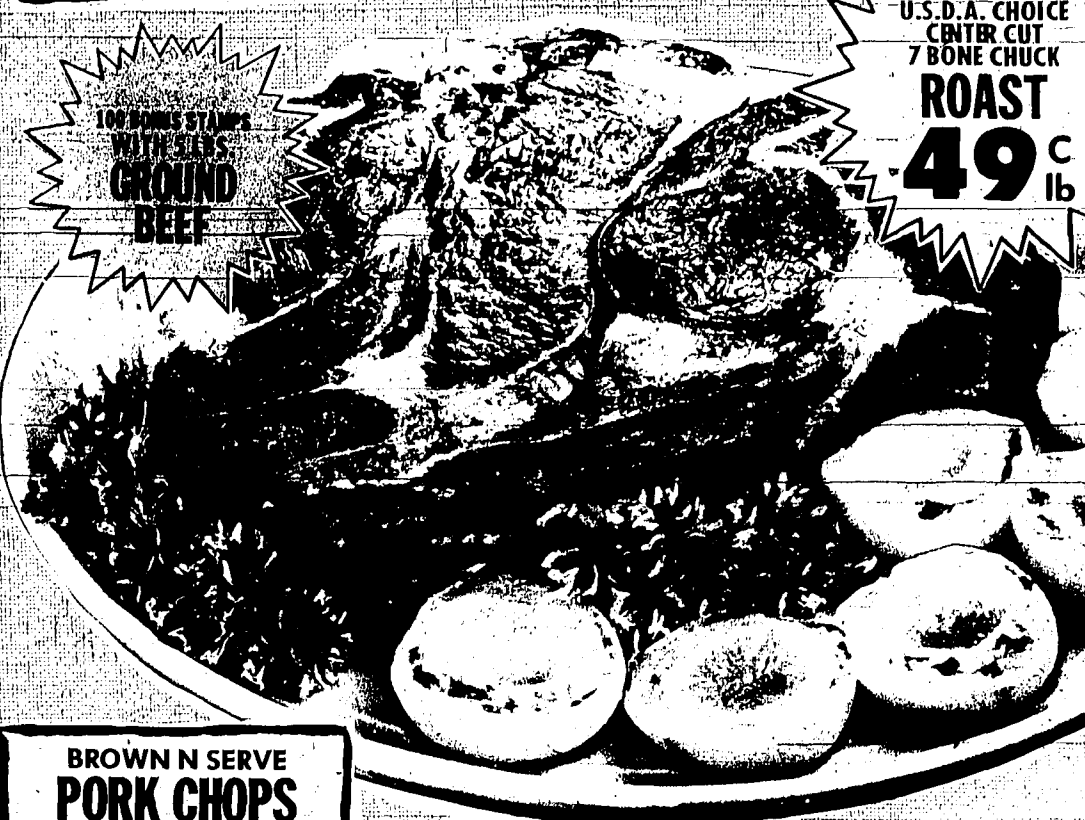

Cameron, who was a sergeant on the force, resigned about two weeks ago to accept a position with Littlefield, president of the association, said the plaque was from all members of the department.

The postlock practice held in Meridian Valley was discussed during the Tuesday night meeting. Members of the association also planned a picnic for this summer.

Store has tools taken

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Police are investigating the theft of an undetermined number of tools from the Firstone Store on Main Avenue South in Twin Falls.

Capt. Tim Quinn said entry was made through the roof of the building. The burglary was reported about 8 a.m. Tuesday.

The student (ducked) the first heart, but had to win the second. It was necessary to develop his clubs so he led a club toward dummy at trick three. West played the seven and dummy's king was put up. The professor who sat East, dropped the jack. When the student led a second club from dummy, West was able to win the trick with the 10 and lead a third heart to clear the suit while he still held the ace of clubs.

The student looked admiringly at the professor. "I would have made the hand against almost anyone else. What a brilliant play!"

"Not at all," replied the professor. "The play of the jack of clubs was routine. It wasn't going to be worth anything if left in my hand and might actually keep my partner from the extra entry he would need to establish his hearts. On the other hand, you had a club for your contract if you had played correctly."

Do you see where the student made his mistake? At trick three he could have spoiled—the professor's fun if he just played a low club from dummy.

East would have to win the trick and could make no better return than a diamond. It would be up to the student to rise with the ace and clear his club suit. The defense would collect one heart, one diamond and two clubs, but the student would collect the nine tricks he needed for his contract.

PASS IT ON
by L.M. Boyd

"ASK YOUR Love and War man what's the quickest way to turn off a boyfriend," writes a feminine Californian. All right, he says, these three techniques, sometimes employed by disconsolate girls to move their lovers off the lot, rarely fail: 1. Chip his wood chisels. 2. Undercook his eggs. 3. Buy him pink sheets with daisies thereon. If these do not drive him away, better marry the old boy. He's in love.

YUGOSLAVIAN businessmen ordinarily schedule their first appointments of the day at 7 a.m. . . IN THREE out of four bankruptcies, the "wiped-out" debts include heavy schedules of doctor bills. You say you know that? . . . AFTER THE AGE of 40, it's now known, about twice as many men as women get married.

TO WRITERS who get knotted up with their own words at the typewriter: Get a dictating machine, then transcribe the stuff yourself in longhand. Such is the council of a highly successful fiction man. That way, he says, you not only catch the original sparkle — wheel! — but you capture the final shine — smile . . . NOTE IT CLAIMED again the best way to locate good eating spots when on the road is to look for restaurants where trucks stop. That's wrong. Trucks pull over where they find parking space. Food has little to do with it. Way to track down the best cafes is to look for those surrounded by local license plates.

A UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS scholar says he has turned up a curious consistency among girls who wear miniskirts. Their handwriting, he says, tends to be cluttered with curlicues. With some exceptions . . . MAYBE YOU'RE old enough to remember when a certain sort of automobile was called a roadster. But surely not when a certain sort of horse was called a roadster. Couple of centuries ago? It was. An ordinary animal without much class.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: Q. "What's the difference between an African rhino and an Indian rhino?" A. African, one horn. Indian, two horns . . . Q. "Quick, name the only two Republican Presidents ever to serve two full terms?" A. Easy, Grant and Eisenhower . . . Q. "How many new car buyers pay cash?" A. Three out of 10, or thereabouts.

MAIN REASON more men than women adore is more men, than women sleep on their backs. Why isn't clear. But studies show the majority of women prefer to sleep face down, or nearly so. With men, it's the opposite. This is only true of grownups, might mention. Before girls reach the age of motherhood, they sleep every which way, and so do boys.

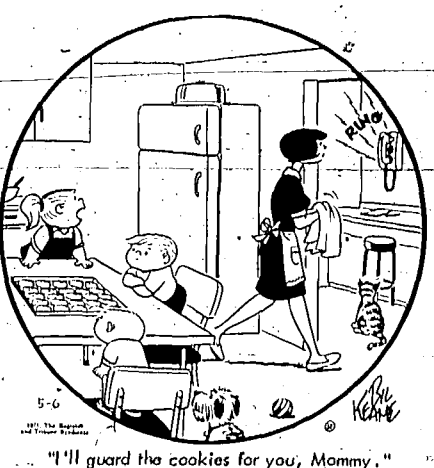

A BRITISH DOCTOR contends that child described as a backward reader most probably has a highly neurotic mother. Quite a charge, what? . . . WHAT HAS THE LAS VEGAS BOYS say they're looking for in the perfect showgirl is a 23-year-old woman who stands 5-foot 9 1/2 inches tall, weighs 134 pounds, and tape-measures 37-25-37.

Your questions and comments are welcomed and will be used in PASS IT ON wherever possible. Please address your letters to L.M. Boyd, P.O. Box 17076, Fort Worth, Texas 76102.

Ceylon chief faces danger no matter course taken

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UPI)—Prime Minister Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike stands at a perilous crossroads in Ceylon and ponders whether to turn left or right or try the middle. She faces danger and almost insoluble problems no matter which way she goes, and there can only be trauma ahead for the 13 million people of this island in the Indian Ocean. For the past month Mrs. Bandaranaike's government—itsself a coalition of leftists, Socialists, Communists and Trotskyites—has been fighting for its life against an enemy that sprang from further to the left than any of them. Youthful Marxist rebels rose in concerted anger April 5 against the slowness of Mrs. Bandaranaike's march toward a Socialist future. Unsatisfied with a cradle-to-grave socialism on a scale that not even the richest countries in the world could afford, youngsters opting for an even "purer socialism" took to the jungles to destroy a leader who already was moving in their direction as quickly as possible. The resulting crisis threatens to force Mrs. Bandaranaike toward the middle road. At the very least, the Ceylonese government will be forced to reduce Socialist benefits in order to pay for its defenses. At the most, the woman prime minister who always has believed in a Socialist solution could be pushed into a rightist partnership with her chief defenders, the army and police establishments. The only other of her possible routes would be for Mrs. Bandaranaike to move over to the very extreme left and push Ceylon into Pekini brand communism in order to co-opt the not entirely unpopular position her youthful enemies have adopted. No matter which way she goes, the people of this resplendent but-poor island nation could be in for months or even years of turmoil, instability and civil war. For almost 15 years Ceylon has offered its citizens more benefits per capita than any other nation in the world. The benefits include free food, free education, free health care and subsidized transport. Every citizen is guaranteed a free weekly ration of two pounds of rice plus the right to buy another two pounds at a subsidized price of less than five cents. Every citizen is guaranteed that his children will receive absolutely free an education up to and including college or university level. From these two guarantees spring most of Mrs. Bandaranaike's present difficulties with her countrymen and their children. She won office in 1970 on a wave of votes that gave her coalition almost 90 per cent of the 151-seat parliament.

Mrs. Bandaranaike fulfilled her foreign policy campaign promises to the letter—breaking relations with Israel, establishing firmer relations with the Soviet Union and Communist China and new relations with North Korea and North Vietnam. Before the election she spoke glowingly of how Communist nations would be happy to leap to Ceylon's economic rescue with millions of dollars in badly needed foreign aid. It has been all downhill for her ever since.

Romania remains nation of contradictions

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
BUCHAREST, Romania —
Herb in this capital of Communist Romania, the youth dancing the frug are just as dejected, the music just as loud, the beat as relentless as anywhere in the West. The mini skirts are just as mini.

In the warm spring evenings, window shoppers throng the streets and at the end of a holiday, automobile headlights gleam in a seemingly endless string along the narrow highway leading across the flat plain to Bucharest from the resorts in the Transylvanian mountains to the north. It is the look of ease and relaxation, and even of prosperity.

In this country of contradictions, it is a picture neither wholly true nor wholly false. In more than 2,000 years of history, the Romanians have learned to live with circumstances, to switch from fascism during the German occupation under Hitler to the Russian communion of Josef Stalin after World War II almost without missing a beat, just as in the past they balanced between occupations by the Slavs, the Austro-Hungarians and the Turks.

The Romanians are used to outside rule and to sacrifices. Today's Romanian rulers have for a decade presided over a determined de-Russification program which has achieved an impressive economic growth rate and a large measure of independence.

Yet as the Romanian economy has advanced at a rate of around six per cent per year, the Romanian people have existed on one of the lowest standards of living within the European Communist bloc.

But as the government has pressed its campaign of independence from Moscow, it also has paid increasing attention to the problem of popular support. If they are wary of expressing a political opinion, Romanians at least no longer fear to visit with an American.

For a decade there have been no political show trials and most if not all political prisoners long since have been released. Police controls have become less obvious.

Shaken by events in Poland where labor unrest led to strikes and the fall of the Wladislaw Gomulka government, the Romanian regime has promised its workers a 20 per cent rise in real wages under its 1971-75 economic plan, an increase in family and other social allowances and an increased voice for labor in the management of industry.

It took the action after prodding from the Governor's office on complaints from Sandpoint citizens that long freight trains block grade crossings there for unnecessarily long periods of time.

Blockade hearing ordered

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Public Utilities Commission has ordered a public hearing for May 26 in Sandpoint on a complaint that Burlington Northern, Inc., may be blocking public highway railroad grade crossings.

The PUC issued the complaint and notice of investigation and therefore ordered the hearing, to begin at 10 a.m. p.m. at the Washington Water Power Company building in Sandpoint.

Imposing News Of Record hardship no right

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Senior Editor
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Constitution guarantees my right to dissent from the policies of the U.S. government. It does not give me the right to inflict hardship or inconvenience on you in order to dramatize my discontent. This important distinction was overlooked or ignored by the people (let's stop calling them "kidds"—the term is wildly inappropriate) who made an abortive attempt this week to shut down the machinery of the federal government. These people believe that the war in Indochina is a wicked waste of human life. That is a perfectly legitimate point of view. It is shared, according to the latest public opinion polls, by a clear majority of Americans.

They also feel—with reason—that President Nixon has been unresponsive, and even openly contemptuous, of peaceful demonstrations of opposition to the war. So, they say, the time has come to resort to direct action to disrupt the functioning of the government and compel it to halt the war. It is this third step in their logic which calls for careful consideration. There certainly may be circumstances in which moral duty may drive a person to take hostile action against his government. Our forefathers felt that such circumstances existed in 1776, and most of us would be highly sympathetic with any Russian, Czech, Pole or Mainland Chinese who felt that such circumstances exist in his country today.
