Murder toll 20

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)—Cigar-puffing deputies, who have unearthed 20 bodies in a crude cemetery along the Feather River, used shovels and trench-diggers today in their grim hunt for more slain farm workers.

A 37-year-old former mental patient, once committed for three months as a schizophrenic suffering "delusions and hallucinations," walked quietly in his cell for arraignment on 10 murder charges.

The discovery of eight more bodies in a peach orchard and in brush along the river Thursday made the Yuba City

British labor gains 3

LONDON (UPI)—A Labor party leader said today Labor's sweep of three special parliamentary elections Thursday was a "massive defeat" for Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative party government and "a great victory for labor."

The Conservatives' loss of Bromsgrove, a commuter suburb of Birmingham, was the first parliamentary election defeat for the Heath government since it came to power in an upset general election in June, 1970.

Hugh Jenkins, the Labor party's deputy leader, said, "The electors have given their verdict on this government's atrocious failure on prices and unemployment and on Mr. Heath's promises of only 11 months ago to deal with both."

Town fight flares

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese infantrymen and tank crews with heavy U.S. air support killed 219 Communist soldiers today in the third day of bitter fighting around the town of Snoul in northeastern Cambodia, military spokesmen in Saigon reported.

Snoul, a market town in a rubber-plantation area, straddles Highway 7 about 115 miles northeast of the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh, and about 90 miles northwest of Saigon.

A year ago most of the town was destroyed by the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment in the allied strike into Cambodia. U.S. tank crews who occupied the town looted it in a widely-reported incident.

ARVN spokesmen in Saigon claimed a "body count" of 99 Communists after a three-hour battle just west of Snoul today.

Only scattered fighting was reported in South Vietnam, but the U.S. command said two Americans died Thursday when an Army AH-1 "Cobra" helicopter gunship crashed near Quang Tri, 400 miles north of Saigon. Cause of the crash was not immediately determined.

War end pressed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An "Lobby of Americans" announced antiwar Thursday it will conduct a concentrated campaign to corral the 11 votes believed needed to pass a Senate amendment requiring total U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam by Dec. 31.

Spokesmen for the lobby said Thursday 39 of the 100 senators had pledged to vote for the amendment sponsored by Sens. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., and George S. McGovern, D-S.D.

They said they believed another 11 votes would pass the amendment when it comes to a vote in mid-June. The issue is expected to be the subject of a two-week debate that will follow a June 4 vote on a House-passed bill to extend the military draft for two years.

Debate over the wisdom of setting a definite date for American disengagement from the Indochina War continued Thursday when H.R. Rainwater, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said the step would be "an act of betrayal" to the South Vietnamese people.

Testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Rainwater wald a premature withdrawal would invite further aggression in Indochina. He said critics of administration policy were "undermining the voice of the President and encouraging the hawks of Hanoi to continue this atrocious war."

Long speeches costly

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The price of all that talk is up again. Each page of the Congressional Record will cost $140—a total estimated cost of $7 million this year.

The public printer, A.N. Spence, says the only cure for it is for congressmen to say what they mean the first time. It's all that "revising and extending" of remarks that helps run up the bill.

Spence conceded in testimony published today that this was only a dream. But while he was dreaming he envisioned one further improvement in publication of Congress' own daily newspaper.

Assuming that House and Senate members no longer were allowed to rewrite their remarks (sometimes as late as 9 or 10 p.m. or even midnight), the official reporters could type their verbatim transcript onto a tape that would drive an automatic typesetting machine fast enough to produce three record pages per minute.

The way it is now, 600 employees of the government printing office work all night getting out the record's 42,000 copies, spending a good bit of their time just deciphering what the lawmakers have handwritten between the type-written lines.

"The other night we were late," he told a House subcommittee. "We had one member in the other house (the Senate) who had intended more material per page than there was on the original typed page. Then we had to call his administrative assistant in. For two hours our production people and his administrative assistant tried to decipher what the member put there."

Egypt, Russia now 'friends'

By United Press International

Egypt and the Soviet Union today announced a 15-year treaty of "unbreakable friendship" that binds them closer militarily than ever before. The Arab world reacted enthusiastically but Israel said it was "a clear threat to upset the balance of arms in the Middle East."

Soviet President Nikolai-V. Podgorny and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat signed the treaty Thursday to climax Podgorny's trip to Cairo which ends today. Political sources in Beirut called the pact unique in the Arab world and "of profound significance."

Tel Aviv dispatches said the scope of the agreement took Israel by surprise and the fact that a formal treaty was signed after so many years without one also was unexpected.

Israeli sources in Tel Aviv said the possible answers were that first, the Soviets are attempting to protect their billions of dollars of investment in Egypt and that the Kremlin wants to make sure Cairo will not lean any closer toward the United States.

"It is a clear hardening of the line for both parties," one Israeli source said.

Israeli sources said Israel would continue pushing ahead with efforts toward peace but with a wait and see attitude that would leave it up to Egypt to make the next move. Israel is still awaiting a reply to the proposals it made six weeks ago on reopening the Suez Canal.

While Israel worried, the Arab world reacted enthusiastically. Cairo and Beirut newspapers splashed news of the agreement on their front pages and Arab radios led their broadcasts with the story. Damascus radio described the treaty as "an historic document."

Lava speeds flow

FORNAZZO, Italy (UPI)—Mt. Etna, pumping and belching molten lava at an increased rate, menaced two additional farming villages today on its heavily damaged southeastern slopes.

Renewed activity from Europe's tallest volcano raised new fears among local farmers and scientists alike. Vulcanologists studying Etna's worst eruption since 1928 said there was no way to forecast the current lava flow or Etna's unpredictable activity.

Columns of dense black smoke spouted throughout the day from craters on the eastern and southeastern sides and scientists said the activity could be the signal for renewed eruption. The current eruption is now in its 54th day.

Two new lava flows boiled down the mountain in the direction of the towns of Sciarra and Glarre and stood about six-tenths of a mile from the former and 2.5 miles from the latter.

Giant ditchdiggers and earth moving machines moved into action on the outskirts of the towns, which along with Fornazzo are the three threatened villages by the lava, to tunnel troughs to hold the lava back from the towns.

Embezzlement discovered at T.F. hospital

By RUTH MILLER Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — An embezzlement of about $18,000 at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital is being investigated by Twin Falls police.

Pros. Atty. Leon Smith said today an arrest or arrests should be made soon.

Smith said the embezzlement was discovered when the annual audit of the hospital books was done during January and February. Since the discovery, members of the Twin Falls Police Department detective division have been investigating.

Officers have several prime suspects, Smith said.

"It is believed a good case is being developed," the prosecutor said.

The embezzlement occurred during the first six months of 1970 at an average rate of $3,000 per month. Smith said the theft, which involved a complicated procedure, occurred in several accounts.

The embezzlement had to be accomplished by "someone familiar with and working in the business office," Smith said. The hospital bookkeeping procedures have been modified since the loss was discovered.

The national auditing firm of Ernst and Ernst of Boise has assisted in the investigation and did the audit which revealed the loss, Smith said.

The county also has employed a special investigator to assist in the case, Smith said. Some of the loss will be covered by personnel bonds, he said.

St. Ed's final class graduates

By LEETREMAINE Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — The last diploma ever to be awarded to an eighth-grade graduating class at St. Edward's Catholic School were presented to 38 students in the school's final commencement exercises Thursday night in St. Edward's Church.

St. Edward's closed for good following the last day of classes on Thursday, ending many years of educational service to the Magic Valley. More than 300 students planning to attend the school next fall will be shunted to local secular schools.

Msgr. Edmund R. Cody, who is himself nearing the end of active service, presented the diplomas to the graduates. Msgr. Cody plans to retire on June 22, ending nearly half a century of active service to the priesthood.

Following the presentation of diplomas, Cody spoke briefly to the graduates, exhorting them to beware of improper attitudes creeping into their lives. The Fourth Commandment, "Honor your father and mother," requires the proper attitude, Cody said.

An improper attitude is usually indicated by ways of behavior or manner of dress, Cody said. He singled out long hair worn by boys as an indication of an improper, rebellious attitude.

He also cited as an example of a bad attitude a teen-age girl who came to Communion wearing only a sleeveless T-shirt and "hot pants." Cody said he was so shocked at her boldness that he told her "never to come here again dressed like that."

Fire escape fall hurt injured man

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Police said Friday that a man who was found injured late Tuesday in an alley in Twin Falls apparently fell from a fire escape.

Capt. Tim Qualls said Clarence E. Dressler, 37, Salmon, was found lying face down, suffering from multiple injuries.

Police completed investigation of the incident Thursday. Qualls said Dressler fell about a story and a half from the fire escape at the Central Rooms.

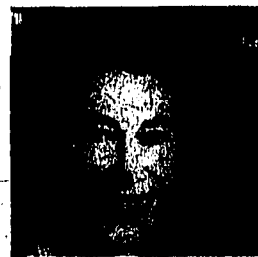

Dressler was taken by ambulance to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital where he remains in critical condition.

College has last ceremony

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Business College presented diplomas to 30 graduates today in the 24th and final graduation exercises in the college auditorium.

The college will close its doors for good, following a six-week summer session.

Diplomas representing one and two years of college work were presented to the graduates in six fields of study.

'Regal cheek'

Magazine said queen inherited an estimated $120 million fortune, which has expanded because of tax privileges.

Editor of magazine is Richard Crossman, Laborite member of Parliament and also acts as personal adviser to Queen Elizabeth.

killings one of the worst mass slayings in the United States during the 20th Century.

Juan Corona, 37, a farm labor contractor and father of four small girls, was arrested early Wednesday after authorities unearthed nine bodies.

Court records show Corona was committed by his brother to a state mental hospital for three months in 1956 as being "confused and disoriented . . . (suffering) delusions and hallucinations."

Psychiatrists diagnosed him as a schizophrenic. He was released from Dewitt State Hospital at Auburn, Calif., as "recovered" on April 18, 1956.

Officials have not disclosed any apparent motive for the slayings.

Deputies, using a trench-digging backhoe at times and puffing cigars to kill the stench of dead bodies, removed the hacked remains from shallow graves into hearses for transport to a mortuary in neighboring Marysville.

Sheriff Roy Whiteaker, who ordered the 10 officers back into the lush orchards and river bottom today, said the search would continue "until we stop finding bodies." Whiteaker, who barred newsmen from the gravesite here, said five of the victims have been identified.

But only two names were released. He said one body might be that of a Negro. The others were middle-aged whites.

Identifications have been hampered by the transient life of the farm workers, many of whom had not been in touch with their families for years.

The victims were hacked in the back of the head with a heavy, sharp instrument, possibly a machete or meat cleaver. All were buried on their backs, with arms raised in a supplicating position and shirts pulled over their bloody heads.

The worst mass slaying in the United States occurred in the late 19th Century in Chicago. Herman Webster Mudgett was hanged on May 7, 1896, as the slayer of some 150 young women during the 1890's. Parts of their bodies were found in his castle-like home after a fire. The house contained an acid bath and dissecting table.

Town fight flares

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese infantrymen and tank crews with heavy U.S. air support killed 219 Communist soldiers today in the third day of bitter fighting around the town of Snuol in northeastern Cambodia, military spokesmen in Saigon reported.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said Communist troops were driven out of Snuol Thursday but had counter-attacked with mortars and infantry to within 500 yards of the town.

The fighting cost the Army of the Republic of (South) Vietnam (ARVN) at least eight dead and 18 wounded, ARVN spokesmen said, for a total of at least 12 over the three-day period.

Other military sources said more than 30 South Vietnamese have been killed in three days of the heaviest combat around Snuol since the allied invasion of Cambodia 13 months ago.

Food asked for ransom

ROSARIO, Argentina (UPI) — The leftist kidnapers of British Consul Stanley Sylvester demanded today that $80,000 worth of food be distributed among Rosario's poor in exchange for his release.

The "People's Revolutionary Army" (ERP) also demanded the Swift & Co. meat packing plant in Rosario take back the 4,000 or so workers it suspended for economy reasons. Sylvester is the plant's manager.

The ERP, in its fifth communique on Sylvester, said it would put the 58-year-old diplomat-businessman "on trial" if its conditions were not satisfied by 5 p.m.

The organization abducted Sylvester outside his home last Sunday and has denounced him and Swift & Co. in previous communiques as exploiters of the Argentine workers.

The latest note was sent to the newspaper, La Capital. Among the other conditions to be met before the 12-hour deadline, the message said, were:

Restoration of all back pay to the workers and improvements in the plant's labor policies, working conditions and social benefits.

The communique called the demands "indemnification" for the workers for the management's "prejudicial attitude" towards them.

It enumerated the provisions for the poor as sugar, cooking oil and other foodstuffs and blankets.

FDA improves shortcomings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) says it already is improving practices sharply criticized by a scientific advisory committee and is screening out political and economic pressures that impaired consumer protection.

But FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards said taxpayers probably would have to double the agency's present $85 million budget to get the full assurance of food and drug safety recommended by the advisory panel.

"sound and helpful" report.

"The report has some 50 recommendations, many of which FDA has already adopted, and implemented," Edwards said. "Others we agree with and are in the process of implementing."

The committee strongly urged that FDA base its decisions on scientific knowledge. It said agency scientists are poorly regarded in scientific circles and their advice often is not heeded by FDA itself.

Care asked

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus urged state residents to drive defensively over the holiday weekend, noting that statistics indicate 4.66 persons may die.

The Memorial Day weekend period begins at 6 p.m. Friday, May 28 and ends Monday, May 31, at midnight. Last year three Idahoans died on state roads during the same period.

Army ends case against noncom

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — The Army rested its case Thursday in the court-martial of M.Sgt. William E. Higdon, charged with bribery, graft and larceny in the operation of a servicemen's club in Vietnam.

Edward Hopper, Higdon's civilian attorney, about remarks he had made.

"I resent your implications before this court that I am trying to buttress the government's case," Howard said. "The government is either going to win this case or it is not."

"We're only looking for the truth."

The admonition came after Hopper objected to testimony from Carl A. Sensi, a retired Army officer who had been a handwriting expert with the military investigation division.

The best idea to come out of Detroit in years.

Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, someone once said.

And never before has our modest car been on the receiving end of so much flattery.

What with the Big 3 auto makers coming out with a little 3.

And one even promising not to change designs for five years.

Of course it wasn't always like this.

Take 1949, for instance.

The only people who liked the Beetle then were the two who bought it.

But being first with an idea also has its advantages.

Nobody, for example, has the experience we have working on a single small car.

We've had the time to test our idea.

And improve it thousands of times. And refine it thousands of times.

Every step the others take, we've been through before.

In fact, it's kind of funny now.

Burley driver killed

TWIN FALLS — A Burley motorist, Richard Heater, 31, 331 W. 5th, was killed instantly in a single vehicle traffic accident 13 miles south of Twin Falls at about 10 p.m. Wednesday.

State Patrolman Bill Green said the man was traveling north when he lost control of his 1957 pickup truck on the Nat-Soo-Pah road. The vehicle went through a borrow pit, crossed through a fence and traveled about 200 feet in a field before crashing into a small irrigation lateral embankment.

Patrolman Green said he believed a seat belt would have saved the man's life. He said the final impact apparently threw him onto the floor of the vehicle and into the side wall.

Coroner Cloyce Edwards pronounced the man dead at the scene and said he died of apparent internal injuries.

Officers said the vehicle did not overturn and damage was only $125 to the undercarriage. Heater was alone in the pickup truck, traveling from the Jackpot, Nev. area toward Twin Falls, officers said.

Jaycees launch project

JEROME — The Jerome Jaycees have started a special fund-raising project in conjunction with Featherston's Clover Farm Market's grand opening June 17-20.

Proceeds will be used for chapter members to attend the annual Jaycee summer board meeting at Sandpoint and the national convention at Portland, Ore. Both events will be in June, according to Bob Downing, who can be contacted for information about the fund-raising drive.

Jerome Jaycees are also seeking sponsorship for the National High School Rodeo program slated for Aug. 3-8.

An area Jaycee project, the rodeo will involve high school contestants from 25 states.

A portion of the proceeds will be donated by the Jerome group to the Soldier Mountain Ski Patrol.

The local chapter is presently making arrangements to build restrooms at the Little League baseball field by the high school.

Students injured in mishap

TWIN FALLS — Two Twin Falls High School students escaped serious injury Wednesday afternoon when the vehicle in which they were riding skidded out of control at Shoshone Falls Park and crashed into a tree.

Deputy sheriffs and city police who investigated said Virginia Tucker, 17, was the driver of a 1958 sedan. She and her passenger, Debbie Whitmore, 16, were treated for lacerations and possible fractures.

Miss Tucker was released following treatment in the emergency room of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and Miss Whitmore was released Thursday.

Officers said the accident occurred when a group of students were in the park during their lunch hour Wednesday.

Academy bound

T.F. pair set Naval course

TWIN FALLS — William H. Malone and George W. Merkle Jr., two 1970 graduates of Twin Falls High School, will leave in late June on appointments to the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.

The two were chosen from among 15 Magic Valley candidates by congressional appointment in Idaho's Second Congressional district.

Malone, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Malone, Twin Falls, received his appointment to the academy from Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho. He plans to study aerospace engineering at Annapolis.

Mathematics is the field of study chosen by Merkle, who was appointed by Congressman Orville Hansen, R-Idaho. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Merkle Sr., Twin Falls.

According to David Mead, area Naval Academy information officer, Twin Falls,

the two will report to the academy June 30 for "plebe summer," the "boot camp" of the academy. He said that they will be part of a class of over 4,000 appointees. Mead said it is highly unusual to have two appointments to Annapolis from the same high school at the same time.

Wise use of vote advised

MONTPELIER (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, told the graduating class of Bear Lake High School Thursday night that one vote does matter and "not to be shy about putting your ballot to use."

Church said, "above all, young voters should not be intimidated by the notion that public questions are too complicated or their solution too complex" to be solved.

"When all is said and done," Church said, "good public policy comes down to good common sense."

Church told the young graduates not to be taken in by the voices of skeptics who complain that one vote doesn't make any difference.

"You can bet your free life, one vote does matter," Church said, "if you put it to use."

Rate hiked

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Times said Thursday rising costs were forcing it to increase advertising rates an average of 13 cents an agate line beginning Aug. 1.

First quarter earnings for the Times were down to $1.8 million from $3 million a year ago.

Poison admitted

CASPER, Wyo. (UPI) — A federal official said Thursday he questioned four men who admitted using the poison thallium, blamed for the deaths of at least 10 of the 48 golden and bald eagles discovered in Wyoming since May 1.

"I'm not saying these prospects put the poison out intentionally to kill eagles, but they did put it out to kill something and the eagles got it," Charles Lawrence, chief of the U.S. Bureau of port Fisheries Management and Enforcement Division, said.

Lawrence said the four were among six men he questioned about the use of thallium. Two others purchased the poison, four times more potent than arsenic, but had not used it.

"It is really interesting that of the six men we interviewed, only one really knew how to use the poison," Lawrence said. "I'm convinced there is a lot of the stuff around."

Of the four men who baited traps with the poison, banned from federal use since 1967, three were from Natrona County and one was from Converse County, all near where the bulk of the dead eagles were discovered.

Lawrence said the men who baited the traps with thallium did so to kill coyotes and foxes.

The eagles that ate the poison probably lived for three or four days after swallowing the thallium, Lawrence said. "They had plenty of time to get to their roosts and then get sick."

Taps On SST

Any hope for revival of federal subsidies for the supersonic transport plane apparently died with the statement of a Boeing official that a great deal more money would be needed than the $835 million the House was willing to switch from termination of the project to its continuation.

The Senate, instead of going along with the House, voted to kill the development appropriation and to increase termination payments to reimburse the airlines as well as the manufacturers which had invested in the SST.

Final defeat of the SST was a victory for Senator William Proxmire, Wisconsin Democrat, who contended the SST was too costly, not practical, should be developed finally, that it would threaten the environment.

Proponents maintained the project should be kept alive to keep up with Russian and Anglo-French development of their own versions of the SST, to avoid unemployment in the industry, and the dollar drain overseas which a successful SST might be expected to ease by keeping the U.S. leadership in the flight industry.

Boeing and General Electric, the prime contractors, having gone through the ordeal of layoffs, stated the whole situation would have to be reviewed and any new development contracts would have to be at realistic levels of expense, that is much higher. This squelched support for the SST.

Financial difficulties of major domestic airlines, caught in the bind of paying for new jumbo jets, the Boeing 747's, and flying too many of the 350 or more seats without occupants, raised serious questions about the economic viability of the SSP, its higher speed and greater seating capacity.

Should the Russian and Anglo-French superjets prove successful, Congress will be open to charges of having been short-sighted and timorous. Overtaking the foreign lead then would be extremely costly and difficult, even impossible.

Should the superjets prove a failure, Congress will be hailed for ending the eight years and billion dollars invested in the SST.

Only time will tell if the gamble was wise.

MR. SPECTATOR

On Teen-Age Jobs

Teenagers looking for summer work or part-time jobs the rest of the year ought to be encouraged in their efforts. Not only does such employment keep idle hands busy, it provides valuable training and a practical insight into the business world.

Frequently, however, teenagers looking for work find themselves thwarted by conditions established for full-time adult employment. One of these is the minimum wage.

Minimum wage laws have the effect of raising the standard of living for employes in lower pay scale classifications — providing the work they are able to perform is worth the cost to their employers. Where it is not, they will remain unemployed.

In the case of young Americans with few skills and little or no experience, too often they fit into the latter category. Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson has suggested to Congress that a lower minimum wage be established for teenagers.

This is a suggestion which could determine whether millions of young people are able to begin an early start as productive members of society.

A Good Deed

WASHINGTON — The little old lady was standing at the street corner nervously waiting to cross when the boy scout came up to her. "Can I help you across the street, ma'am?" the boy scout said.

"I know, sir. I dream about it every night. We're almost across the street." "Keep holding onto my arm. Does the name Hale Boggs mean anything to you?" "No, sir. Should I look him up in my scout manual?" "Let it go. Okay, we made it," Harrigan said. And then in a loud squeaky voice he added, "Thank you very much, young man, for helping a poor little old lady."

PAUL HARVEY

X-Rated

Hollywood's hypocritical system of rating movies has been challenged. Now both the Catholic and Protestant churches will presume to decree what's good for you; I don't trust them, either. Here's why: The motion picture industry's system for rating movies is supposed to protect young people from sex and violence. If the movie is rated "G," anybody can go. "RP" means "all ages with parental guidance." If it's rated "X," then it's too dirty for children but all right for adults.

But you and I are not going to respect their recommendations any more than we respect Mr. Valenti's — and maybe less — so long as they persist in the patently hypocritical stance that bad words become good words at the age of 18. "X-rating" on a movie means it's too dirty for anybody under 18 to see. If it's dirty, it's dirty, however young or old you are. Little wonder so many young people sneer at the establishment and the churches with equal disdain when both lend themselves to such transparently excruciating standards for misconduct. These old men on the Supreme Court of the United States cannot agree on standards for pornography which are obvious to women. That's confusing enough to our enlightened young. But when churches — custodians of the national conscience — persist in the specious pretense that nobody must be allowed to watch lurid, prurient, bedroom and bathroom behavior by others until he has grown up — Little wonder they can't wait to grow up and turn rotten.

The Democrats must be aware of an obvious development. It is that the Russians have decided it is possible to negotiate with Richard Nixon. They may not like him, on his anti-Communist record, but they also are practical politicians and their agreement to push disarmament negotiations is an acknowledgment that — at this point at least — they are satisfied with the concessions Nixon has made.

Presumably, too, the Russians believe they can wring further concessions from the President. On this score, they may be kidding themselves. But they can see that Nixon is willing to take a gamble on peace.

Nixon's biggest gamble was in accepting a vaguely worded "hope" that the U.S.-Soviet conferees also can conclude some form of agreement on some offensive nuclear weapons systems. Here, the President lowered his demand for limitations on Soviet missiles, land-based and sea-based. This will permit the Soviets to expand their existing ABM system around Moscow from four sites to six, while the U.S. cuts back to two its

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Impetigo

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please explain impetigo to me. I would like to know what it looks like and what to do about it. — C.E. Impetigo, while it is "only a skin disease," should not be taken lightly. It is a highly contagious infection of the skin, caused by either streptococcus or staphylococcus germs.

A few months ago I began to have pressured feelings and found life so difficult for about five days before my period. The period cut down to a day and a half.

It appears as multiple small blisters which change into pus-filled lesions and then become crusted over. (These lesions are usually on exposed parts of the body, particularly face and scalp.)

My doctor says it is the beginning of the change of life. My friends don't seem to believe it is. At how young an age can change of life symptoms begin?

Treatment is with antibiotics taken by mouth, usually those of the tetracycline group. Because the disease is so contagious, children with impetigo should be kept home from school, and contact with playmates should be stopped until the condition clears up.

Also, please send me your booklet, "Make Menopause Easier." Enclosed is 35 cents, with a stamped, self-addressed envelope. — Mrs. J.A.

It is essential to practice scrupulous hygiene. The child should have his own towels and washcloths, and should not touch those belonging to anyone else. Wash hands frequently; fingers can pick up germs from the pussy lesions and transfer them to other skin areas.

I can't see much significance in what your friends "don't seem to think." While symptoms of menopause (the change of life) can vary a great deal from person to person, yours all fit into the picture, and I'd take it for granted that your doctor is right.

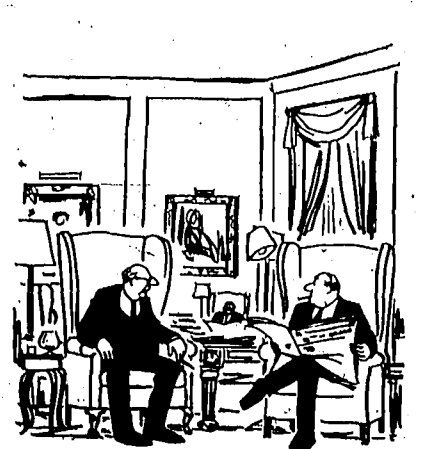

For the same reason, the child should not play with toys that are likely to be used or touched by others. It's an unpleasant, ornery disease, and if it gets out of control it can be dangerous.

The age when the symptoms start also varies. For most women, they start in the 40s — most any time from 40 on. In a few cases, it may be postponed until the early 50s. From time to time it can happen in the 30s, and in rare instances (usually when a severe health problem is involved) it can even be before 30.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 40 and have seven children. Last year my periods cut down to three days, and in the middle of the month I would have a day when I would push tears all day for no reason.

So at 40 you have no reason to be surprised.

Forest routes poor

TWIN FALLS — Residents planning camping trips over Memorial Day weekend are advised by Sawtooth National Forest officials most high elevation roads and back country roads are still closed or in poor condition.

Many higher elevation roads are blocked by snow drifts, while some lower area roads are muddy or flooded. A district by district report of campgrounds and roads shows:

Halley District, only two campgrounds open. These are the Deer Creek and East Fork campgrounds. The road to Deer Creek is muddy in spots. Beyond East Fork, the road is blocked by snow with water in spots from Deer Creek to Greenhorn.

Ketchum District, all campgrounds open and water available. All main roads are open. Trall Creek Summit is closed by slides. All campgrounds around Red Fish Lake are open but some have flooded roads. Nothing is open in the Alturas Lake area. Forest officials say a new ruling is in effect this year. No reservations will be accepted for camping in Red Fish Lake campgrounds except on the north shore, which is for day use only.

Fairfield District, roads generally open but narrow, rough and ungraded. Couch Summit road is open but rough and narrow. The road from Worswick to Dollar Hide is closed due to bank erosion. The South Boise Campground is open but the road is rough.

Shake Creek District, the Ketchum to Featherville road is open to the Big Smokey area, but rough. No side roads or back roads in the area are open. All campgrounds in the district are open and water is available. The pool at Bumgardner is open. Improvements have been made this year on the boat ramp at Anderson Ranch Reservoir.

Twin Falls District, all campgrounds below Third Fork of Rock Creek (end of the paved road) are open. Higher elevation and back roads are still closed.

Burley District, all campgrounds in Howell Canyon are still snowbound. Bostetter area is not open and will remain closed another two weeks. City of Rocks is open but the road is poor by way of Birch Creek and passable by way of Almo.

Malta District, all campgrounds open including Sublett, Lake Fork and Deer Creek. Main roads are reported fairly good but back roads and those in higher elevations are closed.

President to visit West Point

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said Thursday that President Nixon would visit the U.S. Military Academy Saturday and make a short speech to the cadets.

"The President has wanted to visit West Point for some time," said Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler. "He has visited the Air Force Academy and plans to visit Annapolis some time in the future."

Nixon, who will spend the rest of the Memorial Day weekend at the Camp David presidential retreat in the Maryland mountains, plans to fly to West Point Saturday morning and review the cadet corps at noon.

In issuing his annual Memorial Day proclamation Thursday, Nixon urged prayers for world peace be offered at 11 a.m. Monday and directed that flags be flown at half staff all day Memorial Day instead of just during the customary morning period "as a special mark of respect for those Americans who have given their lives in the tragic struggle in Vietnam."

Road open

STANLEY — State Highway 21 between Lawman and Stanley will be open to two way traffic for the Memorial Day weekend, William W. Sacht III, Boise, district highway engineer, said today. Sacht said Idaho Department of Highways crews will remove barricades, opening the road to public travel, by 5 p.m. today.

The Andy Russell recording career is climbing with these releases... the albums, "It's Such a Pretty World Today" which was number one of the "Easy Listening" chart of Billboard Magazine for 9 weeks... "More Amor"... "Spanish Eyes"... and such singles as "Bring Me Sunshine" and "Genesis".

Always a welcome guest of television hosts, Andy has been on Johnny Carson's "Tonight" show; on NBC's "Today" show; the shows hosted by Merv Griffin, Steve Allen, and Della Reese.

Blessed with a natural wit and a flair for showmanship, Andy's sensitive interpretation of ballads plus his vitality with up-tempo music has made countless U.S. fans true "Aficionados" of Andy Russell!

Featuring: CAROL KAI

A serious contender for the top solo attraction. The biggest thing going for Carol is a naturalness and simplicity which makes for eventual communication with a mass audience. Poised, assured, booming tuneful voice seems of comedy and energy that won't stop. All-Hawaiian. All-American in a class of what the medium considers showstoppers. Unbelievably talented.

Power plants delayed year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton said today construction of any power plants in the four corners area of the southwest would be delayed about a year.

Morton said at a news conference that he would push for "big new water" through construction of two to three new desalting plants with a capacity of 10 to 15 million gallons of fresh water daily.

The secretary announced formation of a departmental task force to study power needs of the southwest and the impact of power plants on the environment.

The one-year delay in construction of new plants, Morton said, would not affect plants already in operation or for which contracts had already been awarded.

However, Morton said, the task force to be headed by under secretary William T. Pecora will look into equipment being installed in plants such as the Four Corners power plant near Farmington, N.M.

The study, he said, would also include Indian rights and the impact on the coal industry, which supplies fuel for steam-generating plants in the area.

The study apparently will delay construction of the Kaiparowitz power plant on Indian lands near the Colorado River.

In saying he would push for stepped-up desalting program, Morton said the department had "two big jobs" in the southwest.

These, he said, were the construction of big desalting plants and going ahead with reclamation projects that would provide water for municipal and industrial uses as well as for irrigation.

The secretary also said President Nixon was "extremely interested" in desalting and that he had discussed his plans for big new plants with the President.

Morton said the United States now has the technology to move up to larger desalting plants and that "we're beginning to see daylight" so far as economic factors are concerned.

HHH beckons Demos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey gave strong signals Thursday that he would be interested again in the Democratic presidential nomination.

The Washington Star reported that at a breakfast meeting with a group of newsmen on his 60th birthday, the former vice president said:

"I've got the sails up. I'm testing the water. I'm not salivating but I'm occasionally licking my chops."

Humphrey also suggested he might enter next year's primaries in California and New York if no clear front-runner had emerged among the other Democratic prospects.

"Of his loss to President Nixon in 1968, Humphrey said: 'I've often thought that what happened in 1968 was the best for everyone concerned. I seriously doubt I could have created my own identity, especially in the early days.'

"The country wanted a change—in style, in personality. They got it and now after four years of the Nixon administration, I think the country is ready to go back to the Democratic party."

Location signs slated in Shoshone

SHOSHONE — Members of the Rotary Club will provide six signs to locate at various entrances to the city advertising the Mary L. Gooding Park and giving directions to it.

In other business Wednesday noon, members of the club voted to operate the snow cone machine at the county fair in August.

Penny Fixsen was introduced as a guest and told of having been born in Alaska and that her grandmother still lives there. She read a story by her grandmother.

Modeling items of clothing from Alaska were Donna Pierson, Shirley Gaskell, Carma Kinney and Tammy Kinney.

Gilbert Pierson was program chairman. LaMar Duffin was a guest.

The oldest printed book still extant is a Buddhist scroll, Diamond Sutra of A.D. 868, 16 feet long, in the British Museum.

DEAR ABBY: This is a long story, but I need advice. Tom (not his real name) was 17 and I was 15 when we started going steady. We kept getting closer and closer, so what happened just had to happen. Well, it happened one night in a room over their garage. That place became sort of our hideaway until his mother caught us in the act. She called my mother and made a big stink. They made Tom and me break up, and from then on I was watched like a hawk and treated like a criminal.

Pretty soon I started getting calls from the most popular guys at school. I soon found out they wanted only one thing. I had a tooth missing in front so I thought it was kind of funny that the most popular guys in school wanted to date me. Then I found out that Tom had told them I was a pushover.

All the boys I go out with think I have to let them do whatever they want because I have a tooth missing in front. I am going to have a tooth put in on May 24th, then I'm turning over a new leaf and I'll show them they are wrong.

Please tell me, Abby, how does a girl clear her name after it's been dragged in the mud? MISSOURI GIRL

DEAR GIRL: A girl clears her name the same way she mended it up. By the way she behaves. Don't expect to change your image overnight, but if you behave like a good girl consistently, the word will soon get around. [P. 8. There is another valuable lesson to be learned from your experience. Boys talk!]

DEAR ABBY: I am a 32-year-old divorcee and the mother of two. I am deeply in love with a 33-year-old man. He is kind and gentle and my children love him and he seems to love them. The problem is that he is not an American citizen and has been in this country for almost two years. He wants me to marry him in September, and I would like to marry him, but my friends have told me to be careful because he may be marrying me just to become an American citizen. He has told me that he loves me and I believe him, but I don't want to marry him if there is any doubt about his motives. Can you help me? LOVES HIM

DEAR LOVES HIM: If you love him and you believe that he loves you, don't let the doubts of your friends influence you. Your doubts are the only doubts you need consider.

DEAR ABBY: Do mixed marriages ever work? CAL

DEAR CAL: Yes. But they work better if bigots don't mix in.

DEAR ABBY: Mike's letter telling you he might bait his wife for using his razor to shave her legs made me smile, a little sadly. I used to use my husband's razor, too. And even though I always carefully washed and dried it, he always knew when I had used it. And he hollered too, because I had my own razor.

I used to slip into my husband's robe and house slippers in the mornings, even tho' my own robe and slippers were within easy reach. Why? Because it made me feel close to him. As tho' his arms were around me.

Maybe Mike's wife is trying to tell him something? My husband is dead now, but I still remember the warmth of his robe. And the sharpness of his razor. His razor was always so much better than my own. H. M. M.: CHICAGO

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90029. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

A Lovelier You

HELP FOR SELF-HELPERS

By Mary Sue Miller

Were you a plump, dimpled darling of a little girl? People cooed over you and called you cute?

That kind of admiration is nice up to a point — the point where you're in your teens or any adult decade. Unless things have changed and you've trimmed down, no one now terms you as cute. There are other words for it, not very polite ones.

But the chances are you really do not deserve all the blame for figure failure. You are doubtless a victim of family eating habits — overeating habits. Your diet should have been tailored to your health, height and growth some years ago. Well, it wasn't. Last question: Are you going to play resentful — or get your head straight and beat the problem?

For determined reducers, extra help takes the form of hunger-control aids. Consider a first course of bouillon, vegetable salad or fruit yogurt to take the edge off your food-craving. To make a limited amount of food seem a lot, season it delectably with spices, herbs, vinegars and citrus juices. Eat slowly, the better to savor flavor.

Unless you live all alone, those around you can do more to stimulate your resolve than they know. Their part is psychological. For instance, they would never take a superior attitude. Never nag or display reproach. Never suggest moral weakness for "foodaholism."

It takes two to diet!

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks continued to move in a narrow range as trading passed the halfway mark Friday. The Dow Jones Industrial average of 30 selected blue chips stood slightly higher at 906.48, up 0.70. Among the 1,528 issues traded, 677 advanced and 573 declined. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index at 1 p.m. stood at 99.11, up 0.11.

The three-hour volume of 7,440,000 shares nearly mirrored the 7,550,000 shares traded in a comparable period Thursday.

One analyst said the market's dull performance reflected the lack of thrust from economic news, the usual lightning of activity before the Memorial Day weekend and uncertainty over whether the correction has run its course.

Telex off 1/4 and Memorox off 3/4 led the active list. Fractional gainers on the active list included American Telephone, Pfizer, Teledyne and General Telephone and Electronics.

decrease from the west as the upper low moves eastward. This will continue variable clouds and the chance of showers and few thundershowers over the area tonight but improving weather from west on Saturday. None of the reporting stations showed any 24 hour precipitation this morning but the radar showed numerous showers and a few thundershowers over the area yesterday. Precipitation will be shower type again in the next 24 hours with southern areas the likely spots for any accumulation. Totals could run between one tenth and two tenths of an inch over southern Idaho mountains during the next 24 hours with the higher amounts over southeastern sections. Winds tonight will be variable in direction between 10 and 20 miles per hour gusting to near 30 miles per hour or so vicinity of showers or thundershowers.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The shrinking volume that has accompanied the easing prices lends credence to the supposition that the correction is a temporary adjustment within a basically bullish longer-term framework. Spear & Staff, Inc., believes. But the firm adds the market is showing no sign of ending its downward adjustment phase and predicts "more subdued trading as confidence is rebuilt."

Space budget cuts base hunt

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Some areas that have a big push on to be chosen for the space shuttle base can find little heartening news in the latest congressional document on the matter.

Testimony to the House subcommittee that considers the national space budget was released Thursday.

It has bits and pieces of what things an area might have to catch the space planners' eye, but mostly the discussion is of a tight budget and the need to make use of what facilities already exist.

Several areas in the Rocky Mountain West are seeking designation as a shuttle base.

Dr. George M. Low, deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), had words that could give encouragement to almost all the contenders—in the West, Southwest or on the East Coast. But he seemed to emphasize the efficiency of having various facilities near each other.

"Our present planning indicates that we will select a launch site in the fall of 1971," Low told the subcommittee. (The hearing was March 22.)

"The proximity of launch and landing operations to the design and manufacturing facilities may have definite advantages, savings in time and transportation costs as well as the on-hand engineering support for servicing and maintenance would provide program benefits."

But that is not all, he said: "Other program elements that must also be evaluated include launch azimuth (angle), abort, recovery, and other mission characteristics as well as climate, population densities, flight corridors required, transportation available, and traffic density."

The unique gathering of talent and facilities already in the "established NASA centers" will be no small consideration," he said.

Rep. Burt L. Talcott, R-Calif., one state much in the running for the shuttle site, said, "If you build the facilities in Houston or Florida, when you may not operate the space shuttle from there, then there may be some error in where you are locating the facilities in the first place."

The space shuttle is to be a reusable space vehicle put in space by a reusable launch vehicle. The two major studies are being done by North American Rockwell and McDonnell-Douglas. NASA expects the studies to be completed in a month or two.

Suborbital test flights are set for 1976, with first shuttle orbit flights in 1977 or 1978. The program will cost $8 to $10 billion, but NASA considers the shuttle "the mainstay of the future of the space program."

Low said NASA is requesting $100 million for fiscal 1972 for research and development on the shuttle program and $20 million for shuttle facilities. He was asked where the facilities would be.

"That is not yet fully determined. We have recently made the decision that engine testing for the space shuttle will be carried out at the existing facilities at the Mississippi test facility for sea level testing, and at the Arnold Engineering Development Center (in Tullahoma, Tenn.) for altitude testing," Low said.

The $20 million has money for small engine testing, to be done at the contractor's location, he said. And there is money for thermal heating tests at the Langley (Va.) and Ames (Calif.) NASA facilities.

'Family' member due term

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A Superior Court judge called Susan Atkins "a danger to any community" and sentenced her Thursday to life imprisonment for the slayings of musician Gary Hinman.

Miss Atkins, 23, a member of Charles Manson's "family," pleaded guilty to first degree murder in Hinman's death, one of nine killings authorities have attributed to members of the Manson cult.

Manson and Miss Atkins, both condemned to die for the seven Tate-LaBianca murders, had been scheduled to go on trial along with two other cult members for the August, 1969 stabbing of Hinman, and the killing of another man, Donald "Shorty" Shea.

The slender young woman appeared in court with her head shaved and showed no emotion when Judge Raymond Choate read the sentence.

3 suspects jailed

DREW, Miss. (UPI)— Authorities today moved swiftly to seek indictments against three young white men accused of killing a teen-age Negro girl in this small Mississippi delta town.

Frank O. Crosthwait Jr., prosecuting attorney for Sunflower County, said he would present the case to the next term of the grand jury which convenes June 7.

The three men were being held in a maximum security unit at the state penitentiary following their arrest a few hours after Jo Etha Collier, 18, was shot down Tuesday night on a Drew street. They were charged with murder.

The three were identified as Wayne Parks, 23, a cotton farmer from Drew; his brother, Wesley Parks, 26, a mechanic at Memphis, Tenn.; and their nephew, Allen Wilkerson, 19, a recent high school graduate from Memphis.

Investigators said no motive had been established for the shooting, which brought bitter reaction from black leaders and touched off protest marches Thursday afternoon at Drew and neighboring Ruleville.

FBI agents, acting on orders from President Nixon, have joined in the investigation to determine whether any federal law was violated in the killing.

Court says Shaw probe 'baseless'

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A federal court Thursday ruled District Attorney Jim Garrison, for personal gain, used unreliable witnesses to build a flimsy case against businessman Clay Shaw during a "baseless investigation of the John F. Kennedy assassination."

"This court, considering all of the evidence, finds that Garrison undertook his baseless investigation with the specific intent to deprive Shaw of his rights under the ... Constitution of the United States," said U.S. District Judge Herbert W. Christenberry.

Christenberry ordered a permanent injunction barring Garrison from further prosecution of Shaw on a perjury charge in Louisiana courts. The order, for a while at least, ended Shaw's four-year, 87-day ordeal as a man implicated in the assassination of President Kennedy.

Shaw was arrested March 1, 1967, and charged by Garrison with conspiring with Leo Harvey Oswald and others to assassinate Kennedy. Garrison, at the same time, denounced the Warren Commission report which found Oswald was the lone assassin.

Bound over

BOISE (UPI)— Jose Golri Garmendia, 50, Boise, was bound over to Fourth District Court on a first-degree murder charge Thursday in connection with the death of a Boise barber.

Garmendia waived his right to a preliminary hearing. He is accused of killing John B. Garechana, 76, owner and operator of the Blue Bird Hotel and barbershop, last Friday.

Police said Garechana was shot in neck, head and shoulders at least seven times.

RUCHELL MAGEE, codefendant with Angela Davis in murder-conspiracy case, is shackled to chair in San Rafael, Calif., court room on arriving for hearing. Later he threw court into uproar, kicking attorney in neck and shouting that Miss Davis' lawyer "should be dead." (UPI)

Davis case gains despite tantrum

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI)— After three months of delays, the Angela Davis case finally got going Thursday—despite a kicking and spitting tantrum by co-defendant Ruchell Magee.

Magee, who had repeatedly delayed pretrial proceedings by demanding removal of judges and challenging his own lawyers, kicked and spit on his court-appointed attorney and called the new judge "a Ku Klux Klan man in disguise."

Superior Court Judge Richard E. Aranson eventually ordered the 32-year-old San Quentin convict, who faces a mandatory death sentence if found guilty, removed in chains to a cell near the courtroom.

The judge then heard arguments on a motion to dismiss the indictment against Miss Davis, 27, an avowed Communist and former UCLA instructor charged, like Magee, with murder, kidnaping and conspiracy.

Aranson took the motion under submission and scheduled another hearing on pretrial requests by both prosecution and defense for next Wednesday.

Magee launched into a tirade against Aranson and all the lawyers after the judge refused to recess the hearing. The convict wanted a delay to appeal an Appellate Court justice's rejection of his effort to disqualify Aranson as biased.

The convict, whose hands were shackled to his waist and who was chained to his chair, raised his shackled feet and kicked attorney Ernest W. Graves so hard the lawyer fell to the floor. Later in the proceedings, Magee spat in Graves' face.

Miss Davis and Magee were indicted by the Marin County Grand Jury in connection with a courthouse shootout last Aug. 7 in which four men, including a judge, were killed.

The prosecution and defense presented capsule summaries of their cases during an afternoon of argument on the motion to dismiss all charges.

Albert W. Harris Jr., a deputy state attorney general assigned as special prosecutor, said that under California law Miss Davis, who was not at the scene of the shootout, was equally responsible if she aided another in the crime.

"The people's case has four legs to it," said Harris. "One, that she furnished the weapons; two, that she participated in planning and preparations; three, that she shared the motive, which was to free George Jackson and the other 'Soledad Brothers' by any means, and four, that she fled the scene of the crime."

Michael Tiger, one of Miss Davis' attorneys, called the indictment "incredible" and "a monument to Albert Harris and Ronald Reagan—a monument to the lengths ambition will go."

Lockheed foes seek new ally

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congressional opponents of President Nixon's plan to save the ailing Lockheed Aircraft Corp. from bankruptcy are turning to an unlikely ally—the business community.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., leader of the opposition, is writing to the presidents of the nation's 100 largest corporations and of the 20 largest aerospace firms in search of prominent witnesses who will come to Washington to testify against the plan.

His pitch is that free enterprise is threatened and government control inevitable if Washington starts bailing out firms which run into trouble.

The Senate Banking Committee will open hearings June 7 on Nixon's bill under which the federal government would guarantee repayment if Lockheed fails to make good on $250 million worth of bank loans.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., is the chairman of the committee and the chief sponsor of Nixon's bill. Four other committee members are co-sponsors.

But Proxmire counts himself and four other members of the 15-man committee as opponents. He hopes to swing over three of those in the middle and kill the bill in the committee.

Toward that end, Proxmire hopes to show that the business community itself is cool to Nixon's plan.

He is trying to convince Jack H. Vollbrecht, president of Aerojet-General Corp., to testify against it.

Vollbrecht, something of a haverick in the aerospace industry, argues, "it is wrong to protect an environment in which a company makes a bad bid and is not forced to live with the consequences of it."

Acting out of an economic motive, General Electric Co. also opposes the proposed "departure from our competitive enterprise system." GE makes engines for planes which will compete with Lockheed's airbus, the L-1011.

Test plan scored

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The director of a scientific organization said today a nuclear test planned this fall in the earthquake-prone Aleutian Islands were neither necessary nor safe.

He called the test, code named Cannikin, "a bureaucratic oversight" which should have been canceled long ago.

The criticism came from Dr. Jeremy J. Stone, a Stanford University mathematician, director of the Federation of American Scientists, in remarks prepared for an Atomic Energy Commission hearing in Anchorage, Alaska.

The AEC, subject to White House approval, plans to explode a test weapon of about five megatons (five million tons TNT equivalent) at a depth of 6,000 feet in the lava rock of Amchitka Island in the far end of the Aleutians, which stretch out to sea from mainland Alaska.

The hand really belongs to East and West, but the players we watched did.

The bidding in the box is that at the first table we watched. South put in one of those non-vulnerable preemptive jump overcalls and bought the hand at three diamonds. He had no trouble making his contract with an overtrick.

At the next table we went to, East decided to open with one heart. South passed. West raised to two hearts and when that was passed around to South he refused to sell out and bid three diamonds. West went to three hearts. North bid four diamonds and East who must have been a trifle hungry elected to double.

South made the same four diamonds but scored 510, instead of just 130, for a real top score.

President wins Senate battles

By ROY McHEE
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon hasn't yet won the war on inflation (prices are still going up) and he is not bringing home GIs from Vietnam fast enough to suit a lot of people (the opinion polls and antiwar demonstrations attest to this).

But he has won an impressive string of victories in the Senate recently on foreign policy and national security issues, and has carried some of his most vocal critics inside his own party with him in increasing numbers.

If that accurately signals a growing unity within Republican ranks, it is bad news politically for the Democrats.

And the President largely has a senior, establishment Democrat in the Senate to thank for this.

It was Sen. John C. Stennis of Mississippi who fended off administration critics attempting to change fundamental American foreign policy vis-à-vis Europe, and the military manpower requirements to back up those policies.

In the Senate cloakroom and on the floor, Stennis was far more effective than administration lobbyists in finally defeating the proposal by the highly respected Mike Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader.

When the Senate moved to the basic draft issue itself, the President won impressively again. And again Stennis played a major role in behalf of the President.

Only five Republicans voted with Sen. Gaylor Nelson, D-Wis., to forbid the use of draftees for Vietnam combat without their consent.

Not a single Republican defected on an amendment by Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., to bar use of draftees for combat anywhere in the world.

On an amendment by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to bar bonuses for combat duty, only four Republicans voted against the President.

It would be phenomenal if the President could hold mavericks in his own party to those low levels on future major issues.

But if he were able to pull it off, he would go to the voters next year with a party far more unified than the fragmented Democrats.

Writers' award to Webb

MADRID (UPI)—The Spanish War Correspondents Association Thursday awarded UPI Phnom Penh bureau manager Catherine M. "Kate" Webb its honor bow of the world peace crosser for bravery during the 23 days she spent as a Communist prisoner in Cambodia.

Miss Webb, 27, is the first war correspondent to have been awarded the honor bow. Previous winners included Sir Winston Churchill, Cardinal Francis Spellman, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, former Argentine President Arturo Ullia and Juan Carlos Onganía and Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Domingo Navarro, president of the Spanish association, presented the award to U.S. Ambassador Robert C. Hill in a ceremony in the envoy's office. Miss Webb was not present.

"Our association, which is a nonpolitical organization, decided unanimously to award Miss Webb for her bravery," Navarro said. "We were elated to learn she was alive, sound and free after 23 days in Communist captivity and after she was given up for dead."

The award consists of a ribbon with the reds and yellows of the Vallican and Spain. From it is suspended a Maltese cross with a medal depicting Pope Paul VI carrying the world peace crozier, a $71,000 solid gold staff presented to the Pope by the association in 1968. A golden eagle clutching a pen stands above the cross.

Hill said he was honored to receive the award on behalf of Miss Webb and said he planned to forward it with a personal letter of congratulations.

High bottle bidder

BOSTON BROKER Laurence Bender bought single bottle of Chateau Lafite wine, 1848 vintage, for record price of $5,000. Price was world record. Bender was believed to have made purchase for client. Previous high price for bottle of wine was $480, paid in London in 1970 for double magnum of 1885 vintage. (UPI)

3 receive CSI drama awards

TWIN FALLS—Three Magic Valley students have received drama scholarships to attend the College of Southern Idaho next fall.

They include Robert Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Haynes, Hansen; John Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey, Twin Falls, and Charles Rodriguez, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Rodriguez, Wendell.

The scholarships have been awarded by Delta Psi Omega, the national drama fraternity chapter at CSI, and the Magic Valley Dilettantes. Scholarships will apply toward first-semester tuition and fees.

Haynes has been active in theater work at Hansen High School, where he took roles in "Li'l Abner," "Calamity Jane," and "Box and Cox." He was also in the Dilettantes' production of "Oliver," as a member of the boys' chorus, participated in all-state band and was selected for the all-nation band.

In his school activities, young Haynes served as editor of the school yearbook and was production editor of the school newspaper.

Bailey appeared in the Twin Falls High School production of "J. B." and served as student director of "East Lynn." He is a member of The Splun Troupe 356, and the high school debate team.

Bailey also has been active in the Key Club and school athletics, and received a nomination to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. Rodriguez played the lead in "Flowers for Algernon" at Wendell High School.
