Viets retreat after battle for key city

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese troops were driven out of the key Cambodian town of Snuol on Monday and they abandoned scores of burning tanks and armored cars as they fled, military sources said today.

The South Vietnamese command in Saigon claimed its 2,000-man 8th Task Force that pulled out of Snuol was outnumbered five to one by the Communists.

As the Saigon troops pulled out, the remaining tanks plus allied fighter-bombers covered their retreat with air strikes.

According to Saigon spokesmen, the tanks and planes killed 700 Communists.

However, the U.S. military command said it had not received any report of bomb damage assessment from the area.

Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, deputy commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, and Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh, military governor of Saigon and commander of South Vietnamese forces in the 11 provinces around the capital, made a hurried trip to a border area near Snuol today to confer on what to do next, military sources said.

Spokesmen for the Army of the Republic of (South) Vietnam (ARVN) denied a report by allied military sources that their 8th Task Force had withdrawn 14 miles south of Snuol to Loc Ninh, seven miles inside the South Vietnamese border.

The task force pulled back at least six miles southeast of Snuol—which would put them within a mile of the border—but they are still in Cambodia, ARVN spokesmen in Saigon declared.

Other military sources had said earlier, "The government forces are no longer around Snuol. Everybody is back in Vietnam now."

An ARVN spokesman said South Vietnamese troops destroyed "a number of vehicles" when they pulled out and "possibly there were some tanks and armored personnel carriers among them."

"They had been damaged in combat and we were unable to bring them back with us," the spokesman said.

Turks seize pair

KARTAL, Turkey (UPI)—Turkish security forces shot it out today with two gunmen and rescued the bruised and weeping 14-year-old girl they had held as a hostage in a Kartal house since Sunday. One gunman was killed and the other gravely wounded.

Soldiers and security agents dragged the two fugitives from the house and guarded them from an angry crowd that pushed forward and yelled that they be lynched. One man died in an ambulance and the other was rushed to a hospital where angry Turks demanded:

"Kill the vermin! Don't save him!"

The man killed in the brief gunbattle when soldiers and security forces scaled iron ladders to the third-floor window was Huseyin Cevahir.

The grave wounded man was Munir Cayan, thought to be the young leftist who shot and killed Israeli Consul General Ephraim Elrom, 52, who was beaten unconscious and abducted from his Istanbul apartment last month. Elrom was found dead six days later.

The girl, Sibel Erkan, was in tears and bruised about the face but otherwise unharmed, police said. She was reunited with her father, a Turkish army major, who had stood vigil outside the house armed with a machinegun.

Security forces established a protective cordon around the hospital where the wounded gunman, Huseyin Cevahir, underwent surgery. Angry crowds gathered outside the hospital as they had outside the house where the girl was held.

The drama began Sunday when a woman recognized the two men from wanted posters and began screaming. The gunmen, armed with a machinegun and an automatic pistol shot and wounded her and a man bystander and fled into the house of Maj. Diner Erkan.

They seized the 14-year-old girl and barricaded themselves in the third floor apartment of the white and yellow three-story apartment house and said they would not release the hostage unless they were allowed to fly to Cyprus, Russia or Jordan.

Throughout Sunday and Monday security forces and police ringed the building and demanded the men surrender.

WRECKAGE of plane which carried six men to their deaths is inspected by Virginia highway patrolman after it was found on wooded mountain near Roanoke, Va. Among dead was Audie Murphy, actor and most-decorated American soldier during World War II. Flight from Atlanta, Ga., to Martinsville, Va., was reported missing May 28. (UPI)

Hero's remains found in wreckage

ROANOKE, Va. (UPI)—Actor Audie Murphy, the tough "little boy" soldier who won every medal available to infantrymen in World War II, has been killed in the crash of a small plane into a Virginia mountain side.

The body of the man who cheated death often on the battlefields of Europe was found on Memorial Day on the side of rugged Brush Mountain.

that crashed on a flight from Atlanta to Martinsville, Va., Friday were removed from Brush Mountain Monday night and taken to the Community Hospital morgue in Roanoke.

Dr. John Josko, a hospital official, said dental records and X-rays would be used to establish positive identification.

"All the bodies have been terribly dismembered," he said.

The 46-year-old actor, whose Hollywood career faded in recent years, was flying to Martinsville, about 35 miles south of Roanoke, on a business trip. The pilot overflew Martinsville in a thunderstorm and crashed into the mountain.

Positive identification was withheld pending a check today of X-rays and dental records, but Murphy's wife Pamela was notified Monday afternoon that the war hero-turned-actor was "presumed dead."

30% hike Aluminum workers get large pay hike

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four of five major aluminum firms signed new contracts with the United Steelworkers of America (USW) Monday involving wage increases which the White House has indicated in the past are inflationary.

There was no immediate administration reaction to the new three-year contracts but the Aluminum Co. of America (ALCOA) announced a 6 percent increase on most of its fabricated products, citing "sharply higher labor costs" resulting from the newly negotiated agreements.

ALCOA is the largest of the companies involved in the six-week-long negotiations and the first to announce settlement with the USW. The other companies reaching agreement were Reynolds Metals, Kaiser Aluminum and Ormet Aluminum.

The only holdout was Olin Aluminum, where some 1,500 employees of the company plant at Hannibal, Ohio, began picketing at the start of the 4 p.m. shift.

A USW spokesman said he expected the strike at Hannibal to be brief although no new talks were set.

For the approximately 32,000 workers involved, the new contract means an estimated 30 percent wage increase and fringe benefits similar to those reached between the USW and major can companies recently. Present wages average $3.60 an hour.

Holiday toll tops prediction

By United Press International

The Memorial Day holiday traffic death toll finished above the National Safety Council's estimates, a final United Press International count showed today.

The council had estimated between 475 to 550 persons would be killed in the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. local time Friday and midnight Monday.

The final UPI count at noon EDT showed 557 persons killed in traffic accidents.

A breakdown of accidental deaths showed:

Traffic	557
Drownings	77
Planes	13
Other	74
Total	721

Egyptians play down new pact

CAIRO (UPI)—Authoritative diplomatic sources said Monday that Egypt had assured western and other countries that its new 15-year friendship treaty with the Soviet Union would not influence its efforts for peace with Israel in the Middle East.

The sources said that the assurances had been sent through Egyptian embassies and missions all over the world, including Washington. In addition, Mohammed Riad, director of the Foreign Ministry, gave them personally Sunday in meetings with the British and French ambassadors, Sir Richard Beaumont and Francois Puaux.

2 injured in 3-car mishap

TWIN FALLS — A three-car collision about 10:30 a.m. Tuesday sent two people to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital by ambulance.

The accident occurred at Kimberly Road and Eastland Drive between a car, a car pulling a trailer and a Van Gas truck.

Details of the accident were not available at press time. The driver of the car which landed on the median strip was identified as Jerry Stiles, 25, Kimberly. He was being kept at the hospital for observation.

Also taken to the hospital was Stanford L. Myers, 31, driver of the truck. Driver of the car pulling the trailer was John H. Hamlow, 55, Hawthorne, Calif. He was not believed to be injured.

Telegram system silenced

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two unions representing more than 20,000 workers struck Western Union today, stopping most public services such as telegrams but not affecting private and governmental services.

Federal mediators kept in touch with both sides Monday night but failed to stop the 12:01 a.m. walkout. There were no meetings scheduled between company and union officials.

The issues of wages and job security remained unsettled.

A spokesman for Western Union said in a statement today the company would curtail its public message services and would not handle telegrams, money and gift orders. Telegrams recently have become a secondary service of Western Union.

Court empowered to halt strikes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court armed federal judges with wide latitude today to stop strikes by railway and airline employees where they find no "reasonable efforts" have been made to negotiate labor agreements.

The court split 5 to 4, with dissenters warning that the ruling would destroy the careful bargaining machinery of the National Railway Act and inflict a "mortal wound" on the role of economic pressure in such labor negotiations.

Its effect, according to dissenting Justice William J. Brennan Jr., will be to require a federal court to enjoin strikes where it determines that a party had not exerted sufficient effort to reach settlement.

The majority opinion itself acknowledged that the ruling "creates a not insignificant danger" that parties in such labor disputes will conduct their negotiating positions and tactics with an eye on the courts, rather than restricting their attention to the business at hand.

"These weighty considerations indeed counsel restraint in the issuance of strike injunctions based on violations" of the Railway Act, Justice John M. Harlan said for the majority.

"Nevertheless, the result reached today is unavoidable if we are to give effect to all our labor laws," he declared.

The opinion came in a case involving the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Co. and the United Transportation

Union. Harlan was joined by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, and Justices Potter Stewart, Thurgood Marshall and Harry A. Blackmun.

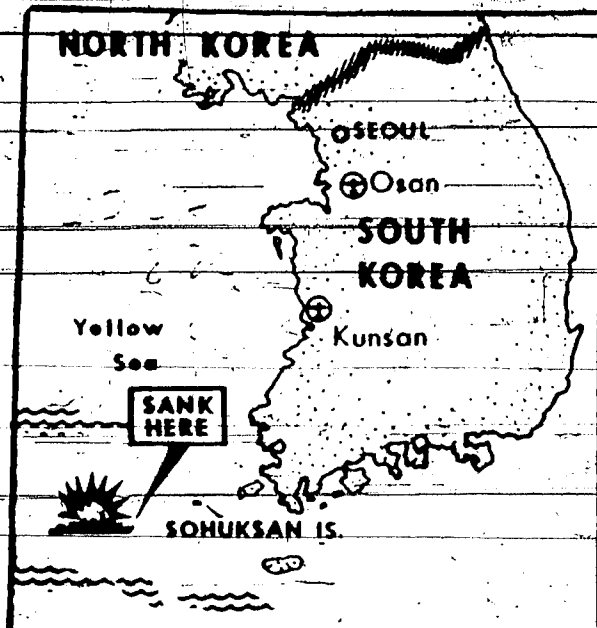

Dissenting with Brennan were justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and Byron R. White.

In essence, the court held that a federal judge may issue an injunction to block a strike if he determines that one side or the other had not made a reasonable effort to reach a settlement of a dispute even though the regular process had not been exhausted.

The 1906 Railway Labor Act covers both railway and airline employees. The Chicago and Northwestern dispute arose from a controversy over how many brakemen each train should carry.

Korea sinks Red warboat

SEOUL (UPI)—South Korean naval and air units sank a North Korean patrol boat early Tuesday in a four-hour Yellow Sea battle off South Korea's southwestern coast, the Defense Ministry announced.

The ministry said the 70-ton, heavily-armed North Korean craft was spotted by a South Korean patrol boat off a southern island 225 miles south of Seoul at 2:25 a.m.

South Korean air force jets sped to the scene and joined the naval units in attacking the fleeing Communist boat, spokesmen said.

They said the North Korean vessel, moving at about 40 knots, fired antiaircraft guns.

The planes stopped the craft when bombs hit its engines.

The boat burst into flames and sank at 6:15 a.m. about 60 miles southwest of Sohuksan Island, located 270 miles southwest of Seoul, the ministry said.

The ministry reported a C46 transport plane that took part in the battle was missing. An air force jet sustained a damaged left wing, but returned to base safely.

An estimated 15 to 17 man crew was aboard the North Korean vessel when it sank, they said. There was no report of survivors.

It was the third naval incident in recent weeks. On May 4, a four-ton North Korean boat fired on a South Korean coast guard patrol boat off Incheon, killing one policeman and wounding another.

Loiter statute stricken

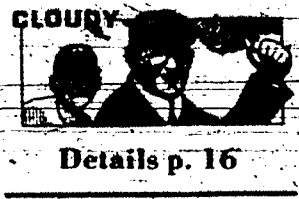

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court threw out today as unconstitutional a 115-year-old Cincinnati law against loitering which was used to arrest an antiwar protester.

Justice Potter Stewart, speaking for the court majority, said the statute subjected the constitutional right of assembly "to an unascertainable standard."

Potter also said the ordinance—on the books since 1856—was "unconstitutionally broad because it authorizes the punishment of constitutional protected conduct."

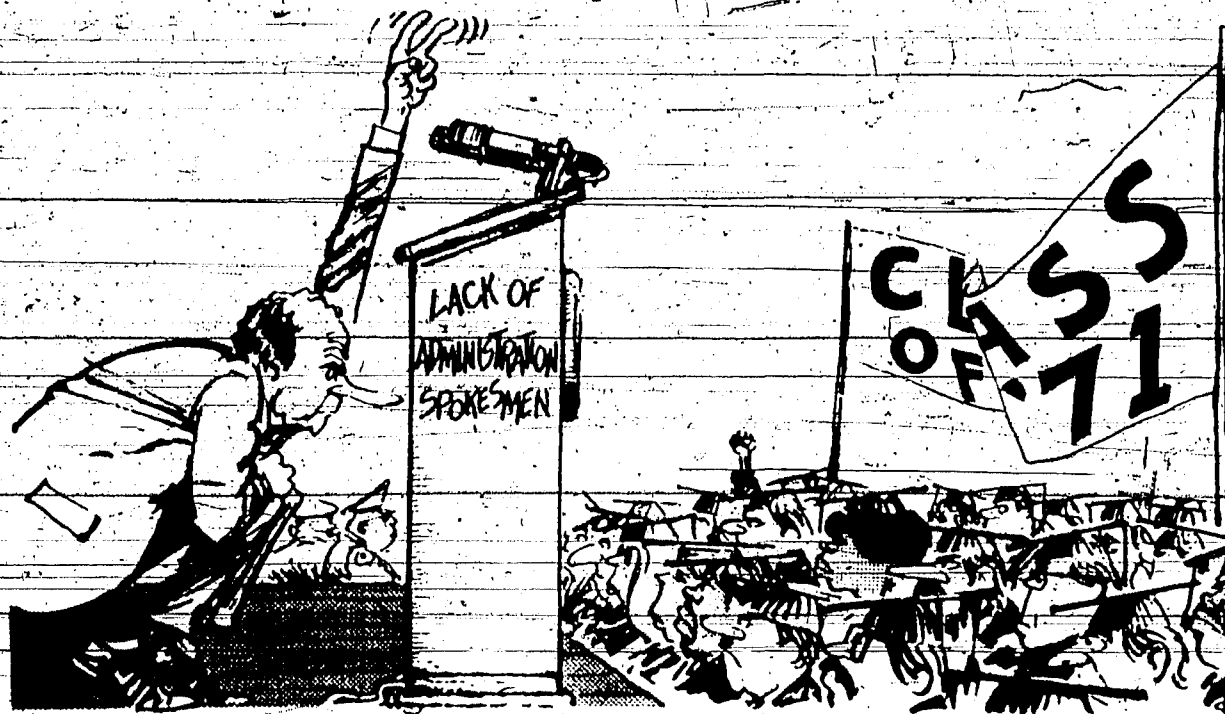

In other actions, the court refused without comment to hear an appeal by Donald R. Allen, a combat Marine who is under 10-year sentence for the slaying of five South Vietnamese civilians. The action left standing decisions of lower federal courts against his claim that the military court martial process was unfair to him.

Protests, praise mix at rites

By United Press International — Some of the thousands of Americans who flocked to parades, marches and speech gatherings Monday came to honor and praise the men who have died in this country's wars. Some came to protest the wars in which the men died, and the Vietnam War in particular.

Adm. Bernard A. Clarey, commander in chief of the U.S. Navy in the Pacific, said, "as grateful but sorrowing Americans have done for 103 years, we are gathered here to honor our fallen heroes for all wars."

Clarey spoke to about 200 military and civilian leaders at the U.S.S. Arizona Memorial in Pearl Harbor.

At the other end of the continent, 8,000 to 10,000 persons gathered on Boston Common for a "celebration of life." The convocation culminated a four-day march through Boston-area historic battlefields by several hundred Vietnam veterans.

Iowa Gov. Robert D. Ray spoke at a National Guard memorial building dedication at Camp Dodge in Des Moines. He told his audience Americans must dedicate themselves to the cause of peace.

"This Memorial Day serves as a reminder as to how stupid war really is," Ray said. In Waterloo-Cedar Falls, Iowa, crewmembers of a National Guard helicopter dropped a wreath into the Cedar River in memory of the war dead.

A four-star general, a U.S. senator and a soldier who escaped from a North Vietnamese prison camp spoke to an audience of 2,000 at the Veterans Administration Cemetery in Los Angeles.

In Milwaukee and Media, Pa., peace demonstrators added their own parades to the regularly scheduled Memorial Day parades. Four persons were arrested in Milwaukee after allegedly shouting obscenities.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Joseph Payne Memorial Chapel with Rev. Dr. David E. Buzza officiating. Final rites will be in the Pleasant View Cemetery, Burley. Friends may call at Payne Mortuary Tuesday afternoon and evening and Wednesday prior to time of services.

Medical problem near end

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Utah's rural areas suffer from a lack of trained medical personnel which may soon be reversed under a new program at the University of Utah Medical School.

Utah's version of MEDEX, a program designed to help rural doctors by employing former military medical corpsmen, is expected to get underway immediately, with classes scheduled for the coming year.

William M. Wilson, acting deputy director of the university's MEDEX program, said the funding is expected within the first two weeks of June, "then we can really get the program going."

"We expect to train two classes of up to 12 men each during the next two years, in hopes of reducing rural doctor's work loads. Sometimes one physician will see up to 85 patients per day," Wilson said.

Training consists of three months at the school and a year of on-the-job training with a physician in the rural setting, and normally the doctor will ultimately hire the MEDEX.

Church 'misses' message

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — The church has "missed the whole message of the cross" and turned its back on the central city, a New York minister told the Southern Baptists Pastors' Conference Monday night.

The Rev. Jon F. Meeks, Jr., director of the missions division of the Baptist Convention of New York, addressed about 5,000 persons at a conference, preceding the 114th annual meeting of the Southern Baptists Convention, which began today.

The convention is the largest Protestant denomination in the nation with about 11.6 million members. "Because the city frightens us so terribly," Meeks said, "many of us have turned our backs on the city... we look at the city and see all of its ugliness and turn our faces in horror."

He said, "Somehow, we seem to have missed the whole message of the cross. Somehow we seem to feel that the Christian gospel is no longer a gospel for the street; no longer a gospel for the man in the gutter; for the woman in the brothel; for the man writhing in the agony of his fix or his alcoholism."

Question...

I am a peacetime veteran, do I have entitlement to any veterans' burial benefits?

Answer... As an honorably discharged peacetime veteran your entitlements are limited to a grave-space in a national cemetery, a grave marker and a burial flag unless you qualify for a death benefit.

- The $250.00 statutory death benefit is payable to those peacetime veterans who: 1. Were discharged or retired for a service connected disability. 2. Were receiving or entitled to receive disability compensation. 3. Were eligible for a disability discharge. 4. Die of a service connected disability.

TWINFALLS—Twin Falls High School students, who wound up the 1970-71 school year only last Friday with the handing out of report cards, turned to textbooks again today as the summer session opened. One hundred sixty-five students have enrolled.

College of Southern Idaho students are also preparing for their summer session, which starts with registration on Thursday and Friday, with classes to begin Monday, June 7.

A large number of classes are offered at both the high school and college levels during the summer session for students needing to make up needed classes or add additional credits toward graduation.

At Twin Falls High School, classes run from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. in two-hour segments, with only five days of classes each week instead of the traditional six days. Students and faculty members chose the longer class periods for the summer session to allow shorter weeks.

At CSI, a wide variety of classes will meet throughout the day and well into each evening, offering many academic subjects and a new series of outdoor survival and camping courses offering two credits for each one-week, full-time class.

The survival series will conclude after eight weeks with a cross-country living-off-the-country ordeal lasting five days which offers a rugged "final exam" unique to college work.

Early registration figures at CSI pointed to an enrollment of at least 700 academic and vocational students, according to the college admissions office.

GIARRE, Sicily (UPI)—Hundreds of tourists flocking to the slopes of erupting Mt. Etna created new woes for harried peasants Monday when they trampled some of the remaining crops untouched by the flowing lava.

An 11-year-old boy from nearby Catania fell 26 feet from a bridge crowded with onlookers and was taken to a Giarre hospital where he was in critical condition.

Europe's highest volcano, erupting for 58 days in its worst fury since 1928, has caused an estimated $7.2 million damage to orchards, vineyards, crops, roads, bridges and isolated buildings on the slopes where the lava has snaked as far down as 1,800 feet above sea level.

Scientists said the molten mass slowed somewhat and said it appeared likely to bypass mountainside communities in its winding course toward the Ionian Sea.

LONDON (UPI)—Britain appealed to Spain Monday to return three electronic buoys picked up by a Spanish trawler in a bizarre, comical confrontation with a British submarine. Each vessel thought the other was Russian.

The Foreign Office acknowledged that the British submarine Otus opened fire with a machine gun when the Spanish trawler Maria Victoria Moyana fished the buoys from the Atlantic the night of May 20.

The trawler's skipper, Antonio Diaz Milla, said his vessel was heading for its home port in Corunna in Northwestern Spain when a Royal Air Force reconnaissance plane buzzed the vessel off Southwest Ireland.

Diaz said the plane ordered the trawler to change course and proceed to a spot nearby to recover "three floating objects."

As his crew hauled the orange buoys aboard, Diaz said, a "black submarine" surfaced nearby and "three blonde men" hailed him in "Russian" from the bridge of the submarine. Then, he said, the submarine opened fire with a machine gun from the conning tower.

"We took the machine gun fire to be a salute," Diaz told newsmen in Corunna. "It was not fired at us. At first we thought the submarine was Russian. We thought the firing was a gesture of thanks for recovering the objects."

At that time, a Texas Treasury Secretary, John B. Connally, comments from within D. Mills, D-Ark., in the unfriendly arena of Mills' Ways and Means Committee.

Each says he is wearing the white hat. Both are armed to the teeth with arguments.

At stake is Nixon's proposal to share $5 billion with states and cities. The local governments would spend the money for whatever they want with little dictation from Washington.

Democrat Connally is clearly the underdog. Mills says the revenue sharing plan will be killed by his committee. He rarely loses, especially when he's got Republican friends on his side. In this case, Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., is as strongly opposed as Mills.

Connally will say that revenue sharing is necessary to lift the cities out of their financial doldrums. He will say that local governments should determine where the money will be spent. He will repeat Nixon's argument that local control is the way to return the "power to the people."

Many governors and mayors support the Nixon argument. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has been campaigning around the country in behalf of the Nixon plan.

A national committee, called "National Citizens Committee for Revenue Sharing," has set up a Washington office to lobby for the proposal.

Mills has been just as active.

He has followed Agnew's footsteps to several state legislatures and argued vigorously against revenue sharing.

In Illinois, Tennessee, North Carolina and South Carolina, Mills has hammered away at the same theme in opposing revenue sharing. He argued that the spending plan with "no strings attached" is merely an imposing strings in the future, weakening the independence of local and state governments.

Mills contends that once the federal government starts dishing out funds it will start

"Revenue sharing is not a revolutionary tool to bring new vitality and financial independence to government officials at local and state levels," says Mills. "It is more in the nature of a Trojan horse from which at the appropriate time will spring new rules and structures on the activities of those very governmental bodies who are being wooed by this gift to Troy."

Bill support pleases Demos

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Democrats are hoping cards and letters from constituents have convinced House members to pass a $5 billion job-making bill. President Nixon probably will veto it if it gets through Congress.

At issue was the "Emergency Employment Act" designed to create 150,000 public service-type jobs. Part of the Democratic strategy to push the bill has been to get local pressure groups, including mayors and labor organizations, to mail cards and letters to House members urging immediate passage of the measure.

The bill would authorize the money over five years for cities and states to hire people in such fields as crime and fire protection, health, education and recreation.

Nixon successfully vetoed a bill last year that included the same jobs provision and a White House source said "it's 90 per cent certain he'll veto this one too."

Republicans, led by Rep. Marvin Esch, R-Mich., want to substitute Nixon's special manpower training plan for the Democrats' bill which they say would create mere "leaf raking jobs" that would solve at best only 3 per cent of the unemployment problem.

The substitute would provide

$2.5 billion in two years for cities and states to spend as they please on manpower training, including use of the money to create public service jobs if they wished. It would also consolidate the 12 different manpower training programs now in existence into a single system with mayors and governors having a greater voice in its operation.

Gem Elks meet set in T. F.

TWIN FALLS—The summer convention of the Idaho State Elks Association will be June 10-12 in Twin Falls.

John Leinen, Twin Falls, is president of the state association and a member of Twin Falls Elks Lodge No. 1183 which is host lodge for the convention.

Exalted Ruler Don Granzow, convention chairman, and committee members are completing plans for the three-day convention.

Keynote speaker will be Frank Hise, past grand exalted ruler.

Program starts tonight

TWIN FALLS—Opening of the summer recreation program by the Twin Falls Parks and Recreation Department was announced today by Chad Browning, director.

The basketball clinic starts tonight with fourth through sixth graders at 6 p.m. in the CSI gymnasium and the seventh through ninth graders at 7-30 p.m. Conducting the clinic is CSI Coach Jerry Hale.

The youth golf clinic starts June 8 and those interested can register all this week at the city's municipal golf course.

The tennis clinic starts June 7. Registration is all this week at the Harmon Park Recreation Building.

Browning said there are still some vacancies for swimming lessons.

About The Wallace Problem

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Operating in an atmosphere of high secrecy, a tenuous line of communication has now been opened between agents of President Nixon and Gov. George Wallace...

Moreover, removal of Postmaster General Winton Blount (a probably Republican Senatorial candidate against Democratic Sen. John Sparkman next year) that he and the Nixon administration have a common interest — to keep a liberal Democrat out of the White House.

To the contrary, given Mr. Nixon's questionable popularity outside the South and the consequent prospect of an extremely tight 1972 Presidential race, a Wallace repeat of 1968, when he captured 45 electoral votes, could be fatal to Mr. Nixon. Nevertheless, the word from Wallace is that he and the President have the same goal — to defeat a liberal Democrat in 1972.

TV Appeal

An unusual — and expensive — effort to build up a head of steam for a nationwide strike of Bell Telephone employees was used by the executives of the Communication Workers of America in a telecast on May 23, over 65 stations.

One by one, members of the executive board of the union voted before the TV camera to call for a strike vote after rejecting the company's offer of a basic wage increase of 11 percent as "inequitable."

Joseph A. Beirne, CWA president, asked: "When the Congress orders a national 13-1/2 percent increase to signalmen on the railroad, how can our people be asked to accept an 11 percent offer?"

Telephone workers may feel the same way about it but the argument begs the question. Congress obviously did not consider that it was establishing a pattern for all unions, nor were the signalmen too pleased with what they got. They wanted 52 percent raises.

Berine said the union's economist urged an immediate 25 percent wage hike. He also called for elimination of geographical differentials among Bell's employees and for a cost of living increase over the life of the proposed three-year contract.

An increase of 25 percent would appear to be inflationary and the proffered 11 percent raise not so inequitable as to justify a nationwide strike. The difference in the size of the unions also has some relevance as to the inflationary effect of the raises — 13,000 signalmen compared to Bell's 500,000 workers.

One of the dangers inherent in a Congress ordered raise is that other workers may consider the percentage a base to build on, and guidelines only something to go beyond.

Telephone and railway services are essential to the functioning of the American economy and some way must be found to avoid strikes and threats of strikes at every contract negotiation.

Surely there will be cries of public outrage if the country is denied vital services by powerful unions in order to obtain exorbitant wage increases.

The Office

For the harried executive who simply can't take time off for a vacation, a French office rental firm offers a unique solution — take the rat race with you.

The plan is called the "Ultimate Working Vacation" and works like this:

First, have your travel agent book a European vacation for wherever you and your family wish to go.

Second, have him book YOU to centrally located Paris sometime in the middle of the trip for a week of catching up on business. That's where the rental firm, International Business Office Services, comes in.

To handle your complete business needs, the firm will provide office space by the day or week just a few steps away from the Arc de Triomphe in the heart of the city; trilingual secretaries; complete communications service, including Telex and an international telephone switchboard; conference rooms, and even typewriter with American keyboards.

And if you ask, they'll probably throw in a vacation's supply of your favorite ulcer medication.

ANDREW TULLY

In High Gear

WASHINGTON — While — as it were — nobody was looking, Big Labor has shifted into high gear its campaign for compulsory unionization of our 12 million government employees, including three million in the Federal Factory, and nine million at the state, county and municipal levels.

Well, I'll take a look, because it is already becoming a chore to get garbage collected, a letter delivered from Aix to Ghent and a kid educated in the public schools. Wrap-up government employees in a union package, and we can kiss goodbye to what remains of representative government.

Quite simply, what Big Labor wants is the power to shut down the country at will. Unfortunately, we are a people who like to kid ourselves, and that puts such a 1964 development well within the realm of possibility. Consider a couple of glaring examples.

New York State for years has had a statute forbidding strikes by public employees, but it sometimes seems that hardly a day passes in Mayor John Lindsay's Fun City without an illegal walkout. Not a soul was charged with as much as a misdemeanor after last year's criminal postal strike.

Union leaders get away with this kind of thuggery because too many of our politicians are beholden to the union hierarchy for campaign contributions. Thus, in seeking to force government workers into their fold, they see an opportunity to strengthen their power by tapping millions of dollars in dues money for use in "political education" on behalf of hand-picked candidates.

At any rate, the reason Big Labor has stepped up its drive among government workers is that it suffered a curious defeat during the maneuverings preceding enactment of the Postal Reform bill. The Nixon administration bowed to labor pressure, for a provision authorizing compulsory unionization of Federal employees because it was believed the bill couldn't pass without that provision. But Rep. David Henderson, D-N.C., led a Capitol Hill revolt that forced passage of a bill containing an outright ban on the closed shop.

Unfortunately, that's not the end of it. Indeed, Big Labor might well find an ally in Big Business for its latest power push. Over the years, many corporations have found the compulsory union shop a useful tool. They see it as an economy measure because it enables them to trade a closed shop for dollars-and-cents savings in wages. Negotiations with the union are "simplified," and besides, any added costs are merely passed on to the consumer.

All this is not to argue that a closed shop is, per se, bad, although I remain suspicious of a setup that peddles jobs in a steel plant for a price. What is bad about the theory of compulsory unionization of government workers is that it would give Big Labor the power to decide whether the government should continue to function. No lunatic would be Hitler could ask for more.

PAUL HARVEY

All Fed Up

Americans are fed up with lawbreakers. Never before have Philadelphia's voters turned out 50 per cent to vote in a primary election. They turned out 67 per cent to nominate a tough cop for mayor.

And that's not all. How about that recent ruckus involving the Boy Scouts of Rochester, N. Y.?

Caustic commentators and self-righteous defenders of the rights of wrongdoers — claimed stolen FBI documents — revealed that Rochester's Boy Scouts were actually helping the police of that city. I should hope they would!

How about that? Now about that! Now the smoke's settled, here's the rest of the story of what was represented to be a sinister conspiracy by police to misuse our youngsters.

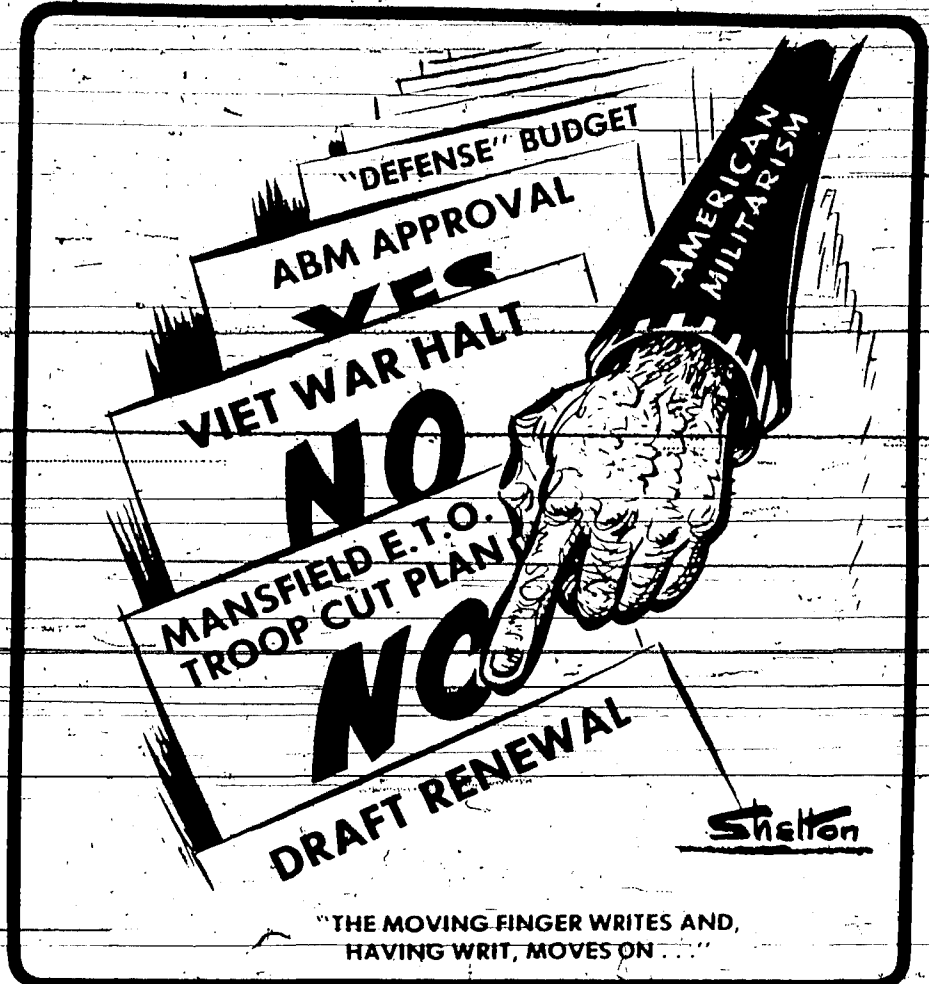

It was two years ago that Rochester's Boy Scouts were instructed in the responsibilities of good citizenship: to deal with emergencies, accidents, fires, thefts. The scouts of the local council were instructed to report emergencies or crimes to police — as any good citizen used to.

The boys were provided with a list of emergency phone numbers. The program was called "Operation SAFE"; the S-A-F-E standing for "Scouts Awareness For Emergency."

It is very difficult to imagine a more useful function for Boy Scouts — or anybody else — to perform than to report to proper authority any accident, any crime, any suspicious behavior. Yet you heard the sarcastic and vitriolic reaction of the so-called American Friends Service Committee. The revelation was seized by one Citizens Committee as justification to investigate the FBI; the same committee, by the way, which claims to have burgled this "secret document."

This organizations such as this manage to keep their names and protestations in the news; but when it comes down to a public referendum, the American people still rally to the support of the good guys.

Philadelphians were so reassured by the effectiveness of Frank Rizzo as police commissioner that they ran him for mayor. A black lawyer and a Kennedy-type congressman mustered the forces of opposition. Ted Kennedy, personally, campaigned in Philadelphia to try to defeat Frank Rizzo, yet Rizzo won.

THE MOVING FINGER WRITES AND, HAVING WRIT, MOVES ON

Possible elements of a sub rosa Nixon-Wallace deal are far from clear, but there are some clues. For example, statehouse politicians here have been quietly informed that Mr. Nixon will request at least $36 million next year for the waterway project he dedicated in Mobile on Tuesday. That project could make Mobile the most important port on the Gulf Coast.

Morever, Wallace is hearing some arguments from his own inner circle against running. As one aide told us: "All we are asking George to give up is six months of those big, frenzied crowds." Wallace is also hearing warnings that he might not run nearly so well as he did in 1968 — warning that, although he privately ridicules them, may have an impact. That Mr. Nixon's assiduous wooing of the South has been highly successful was clearly evident in the President's very friendly reception last Tuesday during his visits to Mobile and Birmingham. Even with the Supreme Court's busing decision an ominous backdrop, Mr. Nixon's motorcade through Alabama's two largest cities and the private remarks of Southern politicians of both parties left no doubt that Mr. Nixon's magnolia courtship is now paying off.

In fact, some Southern politicians we talked to think that as of today the President could actually give Wallace a close run even in his own state of Alabama, with a moderate liberal like Maine's Sen. Edmund Muskie sharing a three-way split. For Mr. Nixon, overt signs of an arrangement with Wallace could boomerang in the North and thus the Wallace problem must be handled with consummate delicacy. As for Wallace, despite grave political problems at home, he is looking very much like a 1972 Presidential candidate, the subject for a subsequent report.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Your Arteries

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband is 71 and was recently diagnosed as having Burger's disease. How frequently does this occur in men of that age?

He has been a heavy smoker, 2 1/2 to 3 packs of cigarettes a day. With this diagnosis he has entirely stopped smoking. We know that such patients have to stop smoking, but has smoking been found to be totally responsible? — G. B.

Burger's disease is inflammation of the small arteries which, as you might well suspect, results in disturbed circulation in the extremities. This can cause cramping, a feeling of coldness, and sometimes other symptoms.

No definite cause of the disease has been determined, although most victims have been heavy smokers for a long time, and it is very well established that smoking aggravates the disease. Smoking, you know, constricts the small arteries, and when this has occurred constantly for many years, it is not surprising that the inflamed condition of the arteries can result.

However, we still cannot say that smoking is totally responsible for Burger's disease, because it sometimes afflicts non-smokers, too — but not nearly as often. Once the disease has developed, giving up smoking is positively the first rule of treatment.

I cannot give you any detailed statistics on the incidence of Burger's disease, but men are affected more often than women, and it has been observed that Jewish men, for whatever reason, seem more likely to develop it.

It ordinarily is detected at an earlier age than in your husband's case, usually somewhere between the ages of 20 and 45, but it can begin in patients who are in their 70s.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A relative of mine, a young mother, has an overactive thyroid and a noticeable goiter but refuses to take treatment prescribed by her doctor because she can "eat all she wants and not gain an ounce." What are the results of such conduct? — J. S.

Consequences may be, so-called "Nervous breakdown," extreme irritability, thyrotoxic heart disease, and various symptoms stemming from pressure of the goiter. I hope she won't get into as much trouble as she most likely will.

MR. SPECTATOR

Lo! The Indians

In a letter to Volunteer, the magazine of the Peace Corps, former volunteer Ella Doran recalls that when she was sent to Bolivia in 1964, she and other corpsmen were instructed to try to motivate and educate the Indians to do the following things:

- 1. To wear shoes or sandals so they wouldn't get worms.
2. To cut down on their chewing of cacao leaves because it dulled their initiative.
3. To be sanitary in order to eliminate disease.
4. To learn better nutrition.
5. To respect other people's property so that there would be no need for vicious dogs, adobe walls with broken glass encrusted on top, etc.

Three years after her Peace Corps service she became a resident director in a girl's dormitory at Kent State University and encountered educated students in a highly civilized country who do the following:

- 1. Go barefoot everywhere but to class.
2. Smoke pot.
3. Throw garbage out the windows.
4. Eat mostly hamburgers, pizzas and French fries.
5. Steal university property and from each other without any real personal need. "My question is," she writes, "Can we tell other people in other countries, 'Do what I tell you, not what I do?'"

A rock formation in Meramec Caverns near Stanton, Mo., has for years been known as "Mother-in-law's Tongue" because of its resemblance to a huge human tongue. BERRY'S WORLD

"Today, we predict rain — my arthritis is killing me!"

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a nagging husband? We've been married for 15 years and have five children ranging from 6 to 13. This man nags me from the minute he gets home from work until I go to bed at night. I have suggested he take up golfing, fishing, boating, reading—anything, but he says he doesn't care for hobbies. He nags me about a "speck of dust" I may have overlooked, the seasoning I put in the stew, the dirt the kids bring in on their shoes, the way I drive (I go too slow, travel the wrong streets and let the gas tank get below the half way mark). You name it, he'll nag it to death. I've cried, tried, apologized, reasoned and failed. Right now I'm on tranquilizers. Does his job make him this way? He's an auditor with a large firm. What can I do about him? NAGGED

DEAR NAGGED: Nothing. But you can do something about the way you react to him. Tune him out. When he starts nagging, concentrate on the words to the "Lord's Prayer" or the "Star Spangled Banner." Look attentive, but keep quiet. When he's all talked out, change the subject without uttering one word about what he's said. Most men nag their wives at night because they're all bottled up during the day time. When he realizes that he isn't getting to you, he'll give up. (I hope.)

DEAR ABBY: How do you know if you are really in love? KEN

DEAR KEN: If you have to ask, you aren't.

DEAR ABBY: I recently inherited some money ($18,000) and it caused a big row between my husband and me. He thought I should put it in our joint bank account, and I felt I should be able to do whatever I wanted with it. I finally gave in and put it in our joint account. A week after the money was deposited, I asked for $5 to give my nephew a graduation gift, and my husband refused to let me have it. What gets me is I have worked all my married life, and always handed over my check to my husband. I have always had to account for every penny I spent, but he could use our money any way he pleased. What do you think of a husband who acts like this? RIGHT OR WRONG?

DEAR RIGHT: If you put $18,000 into a joint account, and a week later your husband refused to let you have $5, you need more help than I can give you in a letter.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HADET" IN MEDINA, OHIO: The next time your wife threatens to go home to mother, call her bluff and offer to help her pack. I'll bet she backs off and reconsiders because "Mother" is probably hard to get along with, glad to be finally free of her children and their problems, and will be quick to say, "I told you so."

Sharon Maddox heads area Candystripers

JEROME—New officers for the Jerome Junior Volunteers (Candystripers) at St. Benedict's Hospital are Sharon Maddox, president; Vicki Turner, vice president; Carrie Rediker, secretary; Susan Silver, sergeant-at-arms, and Barbara Larson, reporter. Sister Mary Matthew is the director for the Candystripers. The girls, who range in age from 13 to seniors in high school, donate part of their time each week to help out at the hospital after school. This year seven girls from the Candystripers will attend the state convention to be held in Boise June 10 through 12 at the Downtowner. The girls are chosen from the number of hours they have served and by a written paper on a subject chosen by Sister Matthew. During the year, the girls held pop bottle drives and cooked food sales to raise money for their trip to Boise. They also pay the way for Sister Matthew. This year two of the girls will be sponsored by the hospital guild. While in Boise, the Candystripers will stay at the homes of junior volunteers in the Boise area. The girls chosen this year are Let Ann Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Boyd; Mary Chojnacky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Chojnacky; both sponsored by the guild; Kellie Bartholomew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bartholomew; Susan Silver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Silver Jr.; Sharon Maddox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thane Maddox, and Becky Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morgan. The seventh girl has not been chosen yet.

University art shows scheduled

POCATELLO (ISU)—The schedule of shows for 1971-72 in the John B. Davis Art Gallery at Idaho State University has been announced by June Hall, gallery director. Although all exhibits have not yet been named, tentative shows are: Sept. 15 to Oct. 3, "Eskimo Graphics." Oct. 4 to 31, "Jane Gehring Textiles" and "Ceramics from the Archie Bray Foundation." Nov. 1 to 24, "Montana-New Mexico Artists," a show by faculty artists from the Universities of Montana and New Mexico, including Donald Bunce, printmaker; Theodore Waddell, sculptor; and Frank Boyden, painter. Nov. 28 to Dec. 20, "New and Familiar," works of two former ISU art teachers, Paul Hayes and Ray Obermayer, and of Norman Taylor, who teaches sculpture at the University of Washington, Seattle. Feb. 2 to 28, 1972, Annual ISU Faculty Show, works by Don Brown, Dennis Snyder, Herb Nettel, John Morgan and Miss Hall. March 1 to 27, "Contemporary Artists," drawings and prints by Nathan Oliveira with other contributions to be announced. April 18 to 30, ISU Graduate Art Student Show, work of candidates for the Masters' Degree in art. May 2 to 20, Annual ISU Art Student Show, undergraduate and graduate art students' work. The gallery is located in the basement of the Fine Arts Building.

Leg expose

MONTVALE, N.J.—All winter long, legs have been covered with slacks, boots or midi skirts, but now, with the advent of hot pants, bathing suits and sexy slit-up skirts, legs are back in full view. So be sure they look their best. One of the most important beauty aids for these lovely limbs is a depilatory. It leaves legs hair free longer than shaving and eliminates any chances of unsightly razor cuts or burns. Dorothy Gray offers two safe, comfortable hair removers—Better-Off, a cream depilatory that you just apply from the tube, leave on for a few minutes and rinse off; and Depilatory Wax, which comes in its own little warmer so you just heat until soft, then smooth on with applicator stick. Let cool and strip off in the opposite direction of hair growth. Both have their distinct advantages so it's really a matter of individual preference.

A Lovelier You FROM THE BROADSIDE VIEW

By Mary Sue Miller

A Lovely writes: My figure is broad from side to side, rather than from back to front like most. I see exercises for reducing the abdomen and buttocks, but nothing that has to do with side-hip and side-thigh bulges. Please print some I'm depending on it.

The Answer: Challenge accepted. Here's what to do to trim a broadside view:

1. (a) On carpeted floor, lie on left side with legs together and head resting on arm. Raise legs about 2 inches. Holding raise, center weight on side hip; swing legs forward and backward for 20 counts; lower legs, rest and repeat 20 counts more. (b) Still on left side, try to touch knees to chest. Then briskly slide legs down floor to full extension, concentrating weight on side thigh. Ten times. (c). Turn to give right side same workout.

2. Stand with heels together, toes pointing outward to opposite sides. Arms to shoulders level. Stretching right leg, touch tiptoes to far right side and, at the same time, raise arms over head and clasp hands. Come back to starting position and repeat 10 times. Then switch action to left leg, same count.

You'll know you've had a workout that is good for what ails you. While awaiting improvements, four weeks plus - wear girdles with firm side panels and easy skirts.

SPOT REDUCING EXERCISES

Spot reduction—key to a proportioned figure. Exercise is the only way to trim those stubborn bulges... to lose inches exactly where you wish. My new leaflet, SPOT REDUCING EXERCISES, gives easy routines—40 in all—for slimming the upper back, arms, midriff, hips, legs, ankles... Plus ideal measurements... other figure-reducing tips. Red terrorists blast Yank military homes

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Communist terrorists, calling on Cambodians to revolt against the government and punish American imperialist aggressors, set off two bombs at U.S. military residences today. One American was slightly injured.

The first explosion ripped through the ground floor of the home of members of the U.S. Military Equipment Delivery Team (MEDT), where about 20 Americans live who are monitoring the arrival of American aid. The blast damaged a ground floor wall, destroyed one jeep and damaged two others, and damaged one upstairs room. Fifteen minutes later another bomb went off at the residence of the five U.S. Marines who are guards at the American embassy. M. Sgt. Harry Lock 47, of Quincy, Ill., said it was very lucky none of the Marines were hurt. The explosive charges had been set against the outside of the residence and were so powerful they shattered windows on the other side of the building. The injured man, who was not identified, was a member of the MEDT team.

The bombings were the first such incidents directed at Americans since the U.S. embassy was rocked by an explosion in December. The Vietnamese embassy and the Thai embassy both have been bombed since then.

A third bomb was found at the MEDT building, but it did not go off. Handprinted leaflets also were found there saying "American imperialist aggressors have extended the war in Indochina and have made neutral, peaceful Cambodia burn with the fire of war."

The leaflets called on Cambodians to overthrow the government of Premier Lon Nol and said "today is the day that the aggressors, the imperialists must be punished without fail by Nationalistic people."

Cambodians should "crush the American imperialist," the bills said. They were signed by the United Front of Cambodia, which has ousted Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Heroin 'haul' seized

SAN JUAN (UPI)—U.S. Customs officials announced Monday the seizure of 201 pounds of pure heroin—worth $30.3 million in "street prices"—and the arrest of a man and a woman in connection with a smuggling operation.

Customs Commissioner Myles J. Ambrose put the "street" value on the heroin in a statement in Washington.

It was the second major seizure in three days. On Saturday, the bureau announced the seizure of 156 pounds valued at $23 million in Miami. Nine persons were arrested in Miami and New York in connection with that seizure.

The latest seizure involved heroin hidden in compartments of a used automobile shipped to San Juan aboard the Spanish freighter Satrústegui. The bureau did not say where the car was shipped from.

Arrested were Jean Joseph Teonarelli, 37, an electrician in Menasque, France, and his traveling companion, Miss Andre Joesette Gayraud, 36, also of Menasque.

Ambrose did not say in his statement how customs agents discovered the hidden heroin. He indicated, however, that intelligence work was involved.

Ky backs political solution

SAIGON (UPI)—Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, once a leading hawk, told newsmen Sunday he now advocates a political solution to the Indochina War because of "circumstances and changes of public opinion in America."

Ky is a candidate for president in the Oct. 3 elections and is expected to oppose President Nguyen Van Thieu although Thieu has not formally announced plans to seek a second term. A third candidate may be Gen. Duong Van "Big" Minh, hero of the 1963 coup that overthrew the late President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Essentially Thieu advocates a military victory. Ky asks for political settlement and Big Minh wants peaceful coexistence, although not a coalition, with the Communists.

"Six or seven years ago, when altogether—Americans and Vietnamese—we had the best conditions to win the military war and I think (win) American public opinion... I told President (Lyndon B.) Johnson and all American officials: If you want victory, then you must fight the enemy in North Vietnam, and if not, then we will never have a military victory."

"And the situation today proves what I said. Now it's too late. There has been a changing of public opinion in America. Circumstances changed."

Ky said the objectives of his country "are still to keep South Vietnam free... If we cannot achieve it by the military way, then we have to go a different way."

"I think I can be most useful helping to organize campaign teams in the states where he's going to run in the primaries," Sallinger said. "There are too many primaries with the new ones this year to run in all of them but there are some you have to go in."

"New Hampshire because it's always been the first; Wisconsin, a major test; Indiana and Nebraska also; Oregon because you can't get out of it; Maryland the same, California will be very important," he said.

Sallinger expects Muskie to win New Hampshire. "He's from the neighboring state of Maine and if he can't win in New Hampshire, he's in trouble," Sallinger said.

"If McGovern does well in New Hampshire, say 20 per cent of the vote, then goes on and wins in Wisconsin and Nebraska, then I think he's moving and he's got a shot at it," Sallinger said. "But I think he has to win one of them."

If McGovern were out of the running Sallinger said, "There is no candidate I wouldn't back as the nominee. I think beating Nixon is the important thing and I think he will be very tough to beat."

Signing set

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan and the United States will sign the Okinawa Reversion Treaty simultaneously in Tokyo and Washington June 17, the Mainichi-Shimbun newspaper said in an exclusive story Tuesday.

It quoted high government authorities as saying that the signing ceremony will be telecast via satellite.

Salinger enters McGovern effort

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pierre Salinger, who was in the thick of John and Robert Kennedy's primary battles, will join the presidential campaign of Sen. George McGovern this week—convinced McGovern is a far stronger candidate than the polls indicate.

"He's best in a confrontation situation," Salinger said. "Remember him in the debate before the California caucus at the 1968 convention when he absolutely demolished Hubert and Gene? And don't forget that he has won Senate elections twice in South Dakota which is rural Republican heartland."

The most recent Gallup Poll, published May 15, gave McGovern only 5 per cent of the Democratic vote and 8 per cent of the independent vote. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy was the leader, but Salinger said he believed Kennedy is sincere in declaring he is not a candidate.

McGovern, the first Democrat to announce his candidacy for the White House, won't get a real chance to prove himself against Sen. Edmund S. Muskie and Hubert H. Humphrey, also high in the polls, until the primaries begin next spring, Sallinger said in an interview.

"That's a confrontation situation and you have a truer test of strength among the candidates," he said.

Sallinger, who was President John F. Kennedy's press secretary, will meet this week in Washington with Frank Mankiewicz, the columnist who was Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's press secretary and now is a top McGovern man, to discuss his role in the campaign.

Viet prisoners vote for south

SAIGON (UPI)—The International Red Cross screened 660 sick and wounded North Vietnamese prisoners of war and found that only 13 wanted to be repatriated to North Vietnam on June 4 as planned, U.S. sources reported Monday.

The decision of the prisoners to remain in the South was something of a propaganda coup for the Saigon government, but both U.S. and South Vietnamese officials had expressed hope Hanoi's agreement to accept the POWs might lead to eventual repatriation of American and South Vietnamese POWs.

The repatriation would have been the largest group of Communist prisoners to be returned north during the Indochina War. The ceremony will still be held at the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) dividing Vietnam if the North Vietnamese agree to accept the reduced number of men, the sources said.

The decision of 647 prisoners to remain in the south surprised American, South Vietnamese and Red Cross officials alike. It was unclear what would happen to the 647 but most of them hospitalized in half a dozen POW camps around the country.

The move to repatriate the prisoners was first made in an offer April 29 at the Paris peace talks and called for the return of 570. The Saigon delegation also offered to transfer another 1,800 North Vietnamese prisoners to a neutral country if Hanoi would do the same.

President Nixon in hopes American prisoners might be sent to a neutral country, also supported the offer. The Communist delegations in Paris rejected the neutral country idea but Hanoi radio on May 13 agreed to receive the 570. The Red Cross later added 90 more.

South Vietnam has reported holding 9,389 North Vietnamese and nearly 20,000 Viet Cong. North Vietnam said last December it was holding 368 American POWs but has given no figures for South Vietnamese held.

Audie Murphy — as he appeared in TV western role

Murphy's hunting eye served well in battle

By United Press International Audie Murphy was born June 20, 1924 to a poor farming family in Kingston, Tex., and as a youngster had to hunt for rabbits and other small game for the table. The family was so poor, he said, he frequently could afford only one cartridge at a time.

"I just couldn't afford to miss," he said later of his training on Texas jackrabbits. The training paid off during more than three years of combat against Germany with the 3rd Division. Murphy won every medal available to an American infantryman, some of them several times over. He had 24 decorations in all, including the Congressional Medal of Honor, the nation's highest award for military valor. He was credited with killing, wounding or capturing 240 Germans.

Turned down by the Marines as too small, and failing in his hope to become a paratrooper, Murphy was sent to North Africa as a replacement trooper. He was assigned to Company B, 15th Regiment, of the 3rd Division. He arrived a private, stoutly refused any promotion or transfer that would take him away from that company, and ended the war still in Company B, as a captain and company commander.

He turned down a chance to be flown back to the United States to receive the Medal of Honor. When he did return after the war was over, he fell asleep in a hotel room, missing a large banquet in his honor.

He tried to become a career soldier, but was classified as 50 per cent disabled because of his many wounds, and mustered out with a pension.

He turned down the first offers of movie contracts, returning home to Texas. It was Jimmy Cagney who persuaded him to make a try at the movies.

A horseman since his boyhood in Texas, he wound up in grind-out Westerns. He also wrote an autobiography, "To Hell and Back," and then played himself in the movie version.

Strapped for money, Murphy appeared in one bad movie after another.

The luck that kept him alive on the battlefields faded with the years. He lost $260,000 in an Algerian oil venture. Residuals from TV showings of his old movies were attached by the Internal Revenue Service for back taxes.

He and his second wife Pamela separated and reconciled. They had two sons, James and Terry.

Bunning baseball's No. 2 all-time strikeout artist

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Jim Bunning became baseball's No. 2 all-time strikeout artist Sunday as Philadelphia beat San Diego 3-1 in the first game of a doubleheader, but the Padres bounced back to take the nightcap 6-3.

Bunning moved ahead of Cy Young into the runner-up slot behind the great Walter Johnson with five strikeouts in eight innings. The 39-year-old right-hander ran his 17-year total to 2,823 strikeouts. Johnson had 3,508 in 21 years for Washington. Ivan Murrell's three-run homer in the first inning and Bob Miller's relief pitching enabled San Diego to win the second game.

In the opener, Bunning got his third win against eight losses when Willie Montanez doubled in a pair of runs in the ninth inning off Dick Kelley. Murrell's third homer of the year capped a four-run inning against starter and loser Harry Lersch, now 4-4. Miller, giving up only three hits in 5 1/3 innings, gained his second triumph in three decisions after relieving starter Al Santorini in the fourth inning. Deron Johnson led off the fourth inning off Santorini with his fifth homer of the year to bring the Phillies to within 4-2. Philadelphia scored one more run before Santorini was taken out.

Orioles, Chicago split two

CHICAGO (UPI)—Don Buford drove in three runs with a pair of homers and knocked down pitcher Bart Johnson during a free-for-all in the eighth inning Monday in leading Baltimore to a 11-3 victory after the Chicago White Sox blanked the Orioles, 1-0, on a five-hitter by Tommy John.

Buford, who scored four runs, raced to the mound after being hit for the second time and landed a hard right to Johnson's chest. Buford flew into a rage after being hit in the back and did not toss away the bat as Johnson retreated.

After Johnson got knocked down by the chest blow he got up and landed a right on Buford's face. As the benches of both teams emptied, Oriole outfielder Curt Motton jumped on Johnson's back but the umpires quickly restored order.

Nobody was tossed out of the game then but Buford was ejected in the ninth inning as the Orioles were scoring five runs. With relief pitcher Tomi Dukas batting, Buford who was being razed by the fans suddenly raced behind the plate where he engaged in a shouting match and again the Orioles dugout emptied. Buford then was escorted off the field by

In the opener, the White Sox broke a scoreless tie in the sixth against Jim Palmer. Rich McKinney singled after one out and reached second safely and went to second after first baseman Frank Robinson could not come up with Lee Mays's ground ball. Ed Herrmann hit a sharp grounder to right to score McKinney with the only run of the game.

'Strike' artist
JIM BUNNING of the Philadelphia Phillies throws a third strike to Clarence Gaston of the Padres in the first inning of the first game Monday at San Diego. The strike out was Bunning's 2,823rd strikeout which makes him the second all-time strikeout pitcher. He is behind Walter Johnson (3,508) and just passed Cy Young. (UPI)

Willie Mays hits 639th homer; Giants beat Mets

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tommy Davis singled home the tie-breaking run and ignited a three-run fifth inning in the nightcap Sunday to pace the Oakland Athletics to a 6-3 victory over the New York Yankees after the opener, 5-3, on Johnny Elliott's three-run fifth-inning homer.

Davis, who collected five hits in the doubleheader, singled home Oakland's second run in the third inning, then snapped a 2-2 tie in the fifth by singling home Bert Campaneris, who had reached base on an error and moved to third on a single by Joe Rudi. Davis' hit chased starter Mike Kekich but Sal Bando and Angel Mangual greeted reliever Gary Waslewski with run-scoring singles to cap the inning.

Reggie Jackson cracked his 10th homer of the season in the ninth inning for the Athletics' final run. It marked the 12th straight game in which the Athletics have homered, tying the club record set by the Philadelphia Athletics in 1951.

Elliott, starting against a righthander for only the second time this season, delivered the decisive blow with two out in the fifth after Roy White tripped and Bobby Murcer was walked intentionally.

Willie Mays hits 639th homer; Giants beat Mets

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco defeated New York 2-1 in 11 innings Monday and both managers—Charlie Fox of the Giants and Gil Hodges of the Mets—agreed one man made the difference.

That man, of course, was 40-year-old Willie Mays who hit his 11th homer of the year and 639th of his career in the eighth to tie the score. Then he tallied the winning run in the 11th on a sacrifice fly by Tito Fuentes.

In between, Mays kept the Giants, who gained their fifth straight victory, in the game in the late innings with four sparkling plays at first base and outfoxed rookie third baseman Tim Lincecum.

In the 11th, Mays walked leading off the inning to finish Jerry Kosman, who had held the Giants to just five hits. Dick Dietz moved Mays along with a sacrifice and then Willie maneuvered in front of Folli to tap to third by Al Gallagher and completely befuddled the rookie.

Folli fielded Gallagher's high chopper about 10 steps to the left of third as Mays dashed in.

Cards 3, Braves 2
ST. LOUIS (UPI)—A clutch eighth-inning single by Jose Cardenal, driving home Joe Torre enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to win their seventh game in a row, edging Atlanta 3-2, Monday night.

Cardenal's hit came after Torre's two-out double into the corner in right field. The victory gave the Redbirds a four-game sweep against the Braves and raised their National League Eastern Division leadership to 2-1-2 games over Pittsburgh.

front of him and then suddenly stopped. Folli made a stab at Mays and missed. By the time he threw to first it was too late to catch Gallagher and Mays wound up on third.

"It was a case of experience versus youth and experience won," Hodges said unhappily. "What is there to say about Mays which hasn't been said 100 times before. He's simply the best."

"He dominates a game like no other player in the history of the game," added Fox. "I don't think there is any play in the game he can't make. I wake up every morning and thank God he plays for me."

Harvard wins
CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—Harvard University beat the University of Massachusetts, 2-1 and 4-2, Monday and won the NCAA District One baseball championship.

Peter Bernard singled in Peter Varney with the winning run in the seventh inning of the second game after Varney had tied the game 2-2 with a run-scoring double. The runs climaxed a come-from-behind effort for Harvard.

Pirates 6, Cubs 0

Ashe, Froehling going into quarter-finals of French Open

PARIS (UPI) — Arthur Ashe, the cool Virginian from Gum Springs, turned in an elegant performance and Florida's Frank Froehling provided the big upset Monday as both players swept through to the quarter-finals of the $100,000 French Open tennis championships.

Ashe, seeded second in the men's singles, beat France's chief hope, Georges Goven, 6-4, 7-5, and the Fort Lauderdale-based Froehling, returning to international tennis for the first time in five years, staged a great comeback to sideline fourth-seed Marty Riesen of Evanston, Ill., 1-6, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

Three more American players will get a chance to reach the quarter-finals Tuesday as the U.S. bids for its first men's title here since Tony Trabert won in 1955. Sixth-seeded Stan Smith of Berkeley, Calif., will resume his match against France's Patrice Dominguez, which was tied at 4-4 in the first set when rain forced a halt Monday, and Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., and Bob Lutz of Los Angeles also are scheduled for action.

Joining Ashe and Froehling in the quarter-finals Monday was Romania's Ilie Nastase, a 6-1, 3-6, 7-5 winner over Tadeus Nowicki of Poland.

Wins match

ARTHUR ASHE OF THE U.S. slaps one back to Georges Goven of France on his way to a 6-4, 6-4, 7-5 defeat of Goven during qualifying round of the French Open Tennis Championships in Paris Monday. (UPI)

Ashe, playing with deceptive nonchalance which marks his game, adapted well to the slowness of the clay center court at Roland Garros Stadium. He only let Goven lead him at the beginning of the first set. But he soon fought back from being 0-2 down to go ahead 3-2 with some glorious crosscourt passing shots that had the French crowd gasping with admiration.

Ashe went on to win the first two sets in similar fashion, breaking through in the 10th game each time, but the third set provided a disjointed pattern.

After eight service breaks, the pair were locked 5-5 before Ashe sent two passing shots screaming down the line to wrap up the 11th game. Missing only one match point, he iced the win with his service to take the set 7-5.

"On this surface," said Ashe afterwards, "service breaks don't make much difference."

Froehling bounced back with a wonderfully controlled game to beat the powerful Riesen.

"I thought he was unbeatable in the first two sets," said Froehling, at home on the red clay. "All I could do was laugh. But I wasn't going to give him the match — a lot of players do that, you know."

Riesen bulldozed his way to the lead with a serve and volley game that had Froehling hopelessly outclassed, but then the lanky Floridian changed his tactics and began forcing Riesen back on the base line.

Riesen immediately lost his rhythm and his dislike of the clay court became apparent.

"I've never beaten Froehling," the fourth-ranked American revealed afterwards. "It seems I always lose to Americans."

As Riesen's play disintegrated, so Froehling's gained in confidence and he took the final three sets with an ease that made his earlier efforts look insignificant.

Froehling, missing from the international scene since his Davis Cup days in 1965, found his more delicate game flowering on the slow surface, while Riesen's energy was soon sapped up by it.

On an outside court, meanwhile, Romania's Ilie Nastase was making sure of his quarter final berth, dropping only one set to Poland's Tadeus Nowicki, 6-1, 6-1, 3-6, 7-5.

The top ranked Pole could not put two shots together as the more aggressive Romanian bored in at the start of the match. But when the mope-haired Romanian let off the pressure in the third set, Nowicki was quick to break through and win the set.

Douglas led the field through three laps in 3:00.6 but he had nothing left when the tiny 26-year-old Wilkinson, who is coached by former world record holder Derek Ibbotson, attacked about 330 yards from the wire.

Wilkinson soon opened up a three-yard lead and Stewart, who was fourth at this stage, was the only man able to respond. The two battled it down the stretch but Wilkinson maintained his advantage to win going away.

Conditions were ideal for a fast run — overcast but dry.

Indians nipped by Brewers

Wilkinson third fastest miler

LEICESTER, England (UPI) — Walter Wilkinson led three other runners through the four minute barrier Monday when he recorded the world's third fastest time of the season in winning the mile at the Inter-County track and field championships.

Wilkinson, aided by a last lap of :56.0 seconds, went through the tape in 3:56.6 to equal the championship record.

Behind him came Peter Stewart, 3:57.4; Brendan Foster, 3:58.8; and Norman Morrison, 3:58.7. Royal Marine Jim Douglas just failed to get inside four minutes with a time of 4:00.1.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Dale C. Cameron, chief medical officer of the Drug Dependence Unit of the World Health Association (WHO), reports that five important motives probably figure in drug use. As he lists them in WHO's journal, "World Health," they are:

- To escape from something;
- To have a new, pleasurable or thrilling experience;
- To achieve improved understanding or insight;
- To achieve a sense of belonging;
- To express independence and sometimes hostility.

Driver killed

LEICESTER, England (UPI) — American racing driver Leigh Gaydos was killed Monday when his Merlyn car crashed during a Formula Ford race at Mallory Park track in Leicestershire.

Gaydos, a 20-year-old bachelor from New York City, crashed into a marshal's post on the 13th lap of the 15-lap race.

Clippity clop ...

Canonero continues to drill

NEW YORK (UPI) — Canonero II, who will attempt to become the first horse since 1948 to win the coveted Triple Crown of racing in this Saturday's 103rd running of the Belmont Stakes, put in a pair of busy morning drills Monday around the dogs of the Belmont Park-finer turf course.

The 3-year-old Venezuelan colt, who already has captured the Kentucky Derby and Preakness — the first two legs of the Triple Crown, covefed about two and a half miles in easy style, pulling hard on the bit in his two turns around the course.

Trainer Juan Arias was pleased by Canonero's showing and it was apparent that the colt was ready to run after having been held down to two days of walking around his shed row in Barn 7A.

"He is a fit horse and he went very well this morning," Arias said.

Meanwhile, Pedro Baptista, owner of Canonero II, denied a report that the horse had been sold and said that negotiations were still going on with a New York syndicate.

"There are too many things involved," Baptista said. "Things like advertising, films etc., that all this will go on for some days I think."

Divide and Rule wins U.S. race

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — New Zealand's Divide and Rule raced to his first United States Stakes victory Monday when he captured the $81,400 Lakeside Handicap at the turf course at Hollywood Park by better than a length.

The 5 year old Divide and Rule held off the closing bid of Argentina's Fignora in the stretch while favored Pinjara was third and Advance Guard finished fourth in the field of 10.

Major design changes planned for Indy cars

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Major design changes were planned today by the Indianapolis "500" auto racing drivers fraternity in an effort to achieve the right combination of aerodynamics and power.

None of the highly publicized McLaren machines won Saturday's record smashing, wreck-marred race, although one of the three new British creations came in second behind winner Al Unser after the McLarens virtually stole the show in practice.

Unser won the speedway's second consecutive million-dollar event in a car basically the same as last year's model, at a record speed of better than 157 miles per hour, but his crew already is thinking ahead to next year.

"We've gone about as far as we can go with the design," said former "500" winner Parnelli Jones, Unser's car owner. "Next year we're going to have to change our design completely."

Wings, or airfoils — used by three-time speedway champ A.J. Foyt this year and by Mark Donohue, the latter in a McLaren and also the fastest man in practice — are the new design features with which some leading teams plan to experiment.

Veteran Dan Gurney, conceded the design of the M16 McLarens afforded the car superlative stability at high speeds. But others felt the eight-cylinder Ford engine used by Unser and Foyt, was more reliable although not as powerful as the four-cylinder Offenhausers in the McLarens and other machines.

Neither power plant had a clear edge in the race. The Offys had an 18-15 advantage among the 33 starting cars and a 7-5 margin among the 12 cars running at the finish.

Aerodynamics experts said the Offy engine was a more suitable design to cope with the air flow at high speed driving, particularly in the turns where handling is important. However, Donohue's car developed handling problems during qualifications and pole sitter Peter Revson, runner-up to Unser in the race, encountered steering problems in his McLaren during the three-hour grind, yet trailed the winner by just 23 seconds at the finish.

The shamrock is a symbol of loyalty. It is also a Christian symbol for the Trinity.

Stater heads party

BOISE (UPI) — A Kimberly youth, Mac Knight, was elected chairman of the Silver party Monday during the American Legion 'Gem Boys' State at Boise State College and Fred Florence, Twin Falls, was named mayor of Roosevelt City.

Delegates were to hear from state officials today, the third day in their week-long course in government procedures.

Speakers today included Attorney General W. Anthony Park, State Auditor Joe R. Williams, State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon and Dr. Roy Truby, administrative assistant to D. F. Engelking, state superintendent of public instruction.

Monday, Ada County Commissioner Rulon Swenson said Idaho should reduce the number of counties in the state from the present 44 to 16, the number at statehood.

He said 44 was "too many counties" and said county commissioners are "blamed for everything that happens" but are responsible for more than 600 specific duties.

Monday the 350 delegates elected party leaders for the Silver and Gold parties and chose officials for 10 cities.

Mayors of the cities, named after old mining camps and other pioneers settlements, include Kenneth Ochi, Idaho Falls, elected Mayor of Soda Springs; Darrell Perry, Pocatello, Mayor of Mt. Idaho; Paul Neely, Mountain Home, Mayor of Dempsey City; Brad Lancaster, Coeur d'Alene, mayor of Elk City; Patrick McBride, Rexburg, mayor of Millers Camp; Fred Florence, Twin Falls, mayor of Roosevelt City; Ken Brooten, Coeur d'Alene, mayor of Warren City; Dave Lyman, Sugar City, mayor of Spaulding City; Mark Shaber, Lewiston, mayor of Newsome City; and Klemens Menapace, a foreign exchange student from Austria living in Boise, mayor of Ruby City.

MacKnight, Kimberly, was elected chairman of the Silver Party, and Bruce Hough, Coeur d'Alene, was elected chairman of the Gold Party.

Wood flood danger down

SHOSHONE — Cool temperatures for several days at a time during the current run-off season have resulted in "ideal" conditions for flood prevention and conservation of runoff water. Arnold Bridge, assistant manager, Big Wood River Canal Co., said today.

Despite heavy rains during the past few weeks and an all-night storm Monday continuing today, he said there has been no flooding on either Big or Little Wood rivers.

Several boards were removed from the spillway at Magic Reservoir Monday, Bridge said, and this will lower the reservoir level slightly but will not create any downstream flooding. This has been done from time to time during the past month as the reservoir reaches capacity and room is needed for the inflow.

He said rains had not raised the level in either river by any major amount as of Tuesday morning as cool temperatures accompanied the rains.

Most of the snow pack yet to melt is in higher elevations, Bridge said, and should be coming down rather slowly. He said he believes the flooding threats are pretty well over barring any extreme conditions.

Bridge said this combination of heavy snow pack, spring rains and intermittent cooling during the runoff season will provide one of the best water years on record for the area. He said the high snow pack will be coming down as the reservoir level drops with irrigation demands and should mean a good supply of irrigation water throughout the season.

In the Wood River Valley area, Reuben Bradshaw, snow survey director for the Blaine Soil Conservation District, said flood threats have eased and it appears Big Wood River and other streams have created. Bradshaw said he plans to go to Galea Summit today to measure snow depths and water content.

Measurements, he said, will probably confirm his contention the high point of the season's runoff was reached last week.

Rain, he added, does not pose any threat at this time but the situation could change if it continues and the ground saturation increases. Bradshaw said he feels the valley came through the runoff in good shape with little flooding or damage this year.

The water picture is optimistic for the coming irrigation season, he said.

Most reservoirs along the Snake River are also reported full or nearly full but irrigation use will drop the levels as fast or faster than the snow melt will bring in more water as soon as warm weather and sunshine returns, irrigation officials report.

Al Peters, manager, Twin Falls Canal Co., said irrigation demands this year in the local company have been less than usual because of the heavy rains. He said at two different times the company has been running a full head of water but had cut back at Milner today because of rain. He said normally when the irrigation run begins it continues through the season but has cut back twice this year due to heavy rain and interruption to irrigation by farmers.

This week at Milner Dam there is between 12,000 and 14,000 second feet of water going into Snake River. A year ago about 13,000 second feet was passing the dam, or about the same amount. The heavy flow has continued much longer this year, Peters said.

LaRON SMITH

Teacher receives grant

TWIN FALLS — LaRon Smith, a math teacher at Twin Falls High School, has been awarded a Shell Merit Fellowship for study this summer at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.

Smith, who lives on Heyburn Avenue East, Twin Falls, is one of 35 science and mathematics teachers from throughout the United States selected by Cornell for the 1971 program.

During the seminar, he will study, develop and prepare self-operated instructional systems for use in classes next fall. The systems, using tape recorders and film projectors, are designed to help students master routine assignments thoroughly and at their own speed.

The Shell Foundation pays tuition, fees, campus living expenses and a travel allowance, in addition to a cash stipend. Smith earned his B.S. degree in 1968 from the University of Utah and has taught at Twin Falls High School since then.

Air pollution index 25

The pollution reading was taken by the staff of the South Central Health District at the Twin Falls City Hall. This reading is expressed as the number of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24-hour period.

ending at 8 a.m. today. Federal pollution regulations on pollutant levels should be kept below 75 micrograms over a 24-hour period, and should not be permitted to rise above 260 micrograms for even a short period of time.

Forecast

Today: Excellent
Tonight: Good
Tomorrow: Excellent

This forecast provided by the Idaho Department of Health indicates the ability of the atmosphere to disperse pollution burning as permitted by law, should be controlled when the air is poorly able to disperse air pollutants.

Today, rain ...

ALTHOUGH swings were idle during today's rain, watering continued at Harrison Street Park in Twin Falls. The storm water moved into the Magic Valley Monday evening brought .35 of an inch of rain today. Since Friday, almost an inch has fallen at Twin Falls, according to the National Weather Service at Kimberly. So far this year, Twin Falls has received 7 inches of moisture, compared to 6.31 inches in 1970 and a 4.54 inch average for 15 years.

Solon boosts canyon

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — Sen. Robert Packwood, R-Ore., said here late Sunday he would be willing to risk his political future in order to preserve a section of the Snake River he considers one of the major wonders of the world — Hells Canyon.

Hells Canyon — the deepest gorge on the earth's surface — is nearly 8,000 feet in total depth — 6,000 feet at one point from rim to river. It has been said you could take the entire Teton Range, its length, breadth and height, and drop it into this gorge and still have room to spare.

Following a four-day floating and boating trip down the 85 mile free-flowing stretch, Packwood said his conviction that the area should be preserved has "fortified and solidified beyond my utmost imagination."

Packwood has entered a bill in Congress to make the Hells Canyon stretch of the Snake and 800,000 acres of Oregon and Idaho surrounding it a national river. It would allow limited access by road and boat and be kept primarily in its wilderness state.

A coalition of private and public power concerns has applied for a license to put a dam across the canyon at any of five sites. A Federal Power Commission examiner recently recommended that a dam be constructed at the Low Mountain Sheep site near the confluence of the Snake and Salmon rivers.

The recommendation also contained a provision which said that the construction should not begin until September of 1974.

Packwood said if the FPC acts to pass on the license application, the free-flowing river would be lost forever. The FPC is expected to make a ruling on the recommendation sometime in October.

Monday clear

BEFORE the rain moved in Monday, bright sun and partly cloudy skies combined to make the day perfect for those headed for an outing. Fishermen, campers and picnickers showed up at Shoshone Falls and Dierke's Lake. The calm surface of the latter was rippled by light breezes, waterfowl, and fishing lines.

Rupert sets Council meet

RUPERT — Rupert City councilmen will be presented the keys to the Veterans of Foreign Wars building tonight at the council meeting in the city hall.

Ray Ulrich, VFW representative, will make the presentation. Other business items will include approval of building permits and correspondence.

Searchers continue efforts to find missing Gem toddler

IDAHO CITY (UPI) — The search continued today for a two-year-old Boise boy missing in the Grimes Creek area since he wandered away from his parents' camp early Monday.

Russell Neider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Neider, was dressed only in brown pants and grey shirt, but no shoes. Law enforcement officers, trained searchers and volunteers combed the area Monday, and planned to assemble at Grimes Creek or Mack Creek at 10 a.m. today.

The family was camping in small tents and the child was there at bedtime. The mother was awakened by crying about 4 a.m. Monday, but the child stopped crying. When the family got up later the child was missing.

Searchers walked the hills Monday and floated down the high, and turbulent creek. A helicopter, aircraft and motor-cyclers assisted the ground searchers.

Elmore votes today

GLENN'S FERRY — Elmore County voters are going to the polls today to decide on a $240,000 bond issue to partially pay for an addition to the Elmore Memorial Nursing Home.

County commissioners have asked voters to approve the proposal so the extended care facility can be used in conjunction with the nursing home.

"The health and welfare of county residents will be best promoted by extension and enlargement of the existing county hospital by providing the public general nursing home facilities and necessary equipment," the commissioners' statement said.

Polls will remain open until 8 p.m. today, with voting places located at the King Hill Grange Hall, Pasadena Valley School south of King Hill; Hammett Community Church and the Glenn's Ferry City Hall.

Mountain Home voting places will be the IOOF Hall, junior high school gymnasium, Elmore County Courthouse, East Elementary School, West Elementary School and North Elementary School.

Other polling places include the Atlanta Community Center, Smith's Prairie Community Center, Pine School; Little Camas Recreation Hall; Wilson residence in the Big Camas area; Mayfield Community Hall and the George Bennett home at Chattin Flats.

Burley soldier in scrap

BURLEY — A Burley National Guardsman, Thomas J. Mackley, 43, is reported "doing nicely" in the Public Service Hospital at New Orleans from wounds received in an alleged "skirmish" with police.

Mrs. Mackley told the Times-News this morning she talked with her husband who is a staff sergeant with the 116th Armored Cavalry Division of the National Guard. He told her he had been attacked in a lounge in New Orleans and was shot by police as he was running away from the scene.

According to United Press International, Sgt. Mackley was shot in the arm and leg by Patrolman John Norwood Sunday after the officer said Mackley approached him carrying a blackjack.

Nevada's Governor sets visit

BOISE (UPI) — Nevada Gov. Mike O'Callaghan, who lived in Idaho for several years, will visit Nevada guardsmen today as they bivouac in the desert south of here for proficiency firing and tactical exercises.

Idaho's First Squadron and Nevada's Third Squadron are camped out for the desert training.

O'Callaghan will visit units of the Third Squadron of the 116th Armored Cavalry.

Meantime, the Second Squadron of the 116th is ending a two-week training session at Camp Shelby, Miss. The guardsmen are scheduled to return to Boise June 4, then convoy to their hometown armories in Pocatello, Blackfoot, Jerome, Halley, Burley, Rupert and Preston on Saturday.

Gem race aide dies

BOISE (UPI) — E. R. "Tom" Sheldon Jr., Idaho Horse Racing Commission executive secretary and state steward, died at a Boise hospital Monday from an apparent heart ailment.

Sheldon, 53, collapsed Monday morning at the track at the Western Idaho Fairgrounds. He was taken by ambulance to St. Luke's Hospital, but a team of heart specialists was unable to revive him.

Sheldon and his wife lived in Payette. He was appointed as state steward and executive secretary two years ago.

Prior to his appointment, Sheldon was in the quarterhorse business and worked for Western Horseman Magazine. He was race track field representative for the American Quarter Horse Association.

Swimmer signup Saturday

RUPERT — Registration for Red Cross swimming lessons will be from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday in the recreation office above the Rupert police station.

Registration fee will be $4 per student per session; $5 per student for life saving and water safety aid classes; and $2.50 per student for 4 and 5-year-olds.

There will be three two-week sessions. The first session will be from June 21 through July 2; the second session will be from July 12 through July 24, and the final session will be from July 26 through Aug. 7.

Two special 15 minute classes will be given at 11:30 a.m. and at 11:45 a.m. for 4 and 5-year-old students during both the second and third sessions.

Senior life saving and adult lessons will be from 8 to 9 p.m. Registration for private lessons and swim team will be accepted at this time.

Vacation school set at Rupert

RUPERT — The Rupert Christian Church Vacation Bible School began today and will run through June 11, beginning daily at 9 a.m., according to Mrs. John Otman and Mrs. Warren Heins, co-directors.

Theme this year is "A Search for God's Hidden Treasure." Classes are planned for children age 4 years through the eighth grade.

The Bible school sessions will include Bible-related stories, workbooks, crafts, films and songs.

No enrollment fee is charged, but donations are accepted. A mission offering will be taken with this year's mission project, "Kits to Vietnam."

A double session will be held Friday with the school dismissing at 2:30 p.m. instead of the usual 11:30 a.m. Children are asked to bring a sack lunch for this day only.

A program will conclude the Bible school at 8 p.m. June 18 and will feature Bible school songs, a film starring the students with Rev. John Sinclair as narrator. The public is invited to the program.

MRS. AUDREY VANEK, Mrs. Beth Jones and Mrs. Doris Grimsman, from left, put items into the Goodie bags which will be given to delegates as they register for the State Business and Professional Women's Club convention Thursday at the Ponderosa Inn, Burley.

A tour is planned at 3:45 p.m. Saturday to visit the Minidoka Bird Refuge and other points of interest.

The banquet at 7 p.m. will be hosted by the Burley BPW Club at which time Mrs. Harmon will be honored. She will speak on the topic "Women's Real Liberation."

Minidoka only county to reach cancer goal

RUPERT — Mrs. Delpha Smith and Mrs. Delpha Beeler, co-chairman for Minidoka County Cancer Crusade, have been notified that Minidoka County is the only county in the state which reached its goal during the recent fund drive.

In the announcement from the Idaho division of the American Cancer Society it was noted that Minidoka County had reached 208 per cent of its goal. The goal was $1,147.60 and Minidoka County residents contributed $2,392.36 in the cancer fund drive.

Ranking next in the state was Jefferson County with a 77 per cent of its goal collected. Cassia County residents contributed 18 per cent of its goal with the county goal of $3,133.59 with $570.20 collected.

While in Barcelona in 1965 he starred in "The Wizard of Dreams" for Macian Productions.

Further extending his career, Andy had tremendous success in Australia at the Chevron Hilton Hotel in Sydney, and recently headlined the Siam Intercontinental Hotel in Bangkok, Thailand where his performance was acclaimed as "Terrific... Wonderful... Captivating!" Other stops in the far East included The Philippines, Hong Kong and Tokyo where standing ovations greeted his performances and he was held over for an unprecedented three-week engagement.

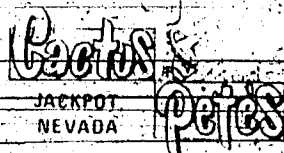

Andy is packing the clubs and receiving rave reviews during his night club appearances in the United States in such clubs as the Fremont Hotel, Las Vegas, Shamrock-Hilton, Houston, Texas; The Regency Hyatt House in Atlanta, Georgia; The Sahara-Tahoe at Lake Tahoe, Nevada and others. And he still makes frequent forays into Latin America having recently completed a series of his own television shows in Buenos Aires, Argentina and Caracas, Venezuela.

The Andy Russell recording career is climbing with these releases... the album, "It's Such a Pretty World Today" which was number one of the "Easy Listening" chart of Billboard Magazine for 9 weeks... "More Amor"...

"Spanish Eyes"... and such singles as "Bring Me Sunshine" and "Genesis".

Always a welcome guest of television hosts, Andy has been on Johnny Carson's "Tonight" show; an NBC's "Today" show; the shows hosted by Merv Griffin, Steve Allen, and Della Reese.

Blessed with a natural wit and a flair for showmanship, Andy's sensitive interpretation of ballads plus his vitality with up-tempo music has made countless U.S. fans true "Aficionados" of Andy Russell!

Andy Russell

Andy Russell is called "The showman of the Americas" in Argentina; "The biggest hits in entertainment history" in the Far East; and "A Dynamo of a Performer who can Move Around a Stage with the Best of Today's Movers" in the United States!

This singing star of three continents, born in Los Angeles, California of Mexican descent began his entertainment career as a band drummer and singer. Early in his career, Andy made a test record for Capitol Records in Hollywood and the tune, "Besame Mucho" was the first of a string of million record sellers. He quickly became one of Capitol's big name artists, scoring with such bi-lingual hits as "Amor," "What a Difference a Day Made," "Magic is the Moonlight," "Without You," "I Can't Begin to Tell You" and "Laughing on the Outside, Crying on the Inside."

Planning to extend his career into other countries of the world, he moved to Mexico and became an instant smash throughout all Latin America.

For a number of years Andy had his own award-winning TV show in Mexico... "The Kraft Music Hall" and he starred in several Mexican produced motion pictures. Meanwhile, his niterly engagements in virtually every city in Central America and South America were all acclaimed successes. He also starred on television in Argentina, Brazil and had recording contracts with Orfeon and RCA-Victor in Mexico.

Andy also found time to entertain in Europe where he played the most famous niteries in Belgium, Germany and Spain. He appeared on television in these countries and also recorded bilingual albums in Belgium and Spain.

While in Barcelona in 1965 he starred in "The Wizard of Dreams" for Macian Productions.

Further extending his career, Andy had tremendous success in Australia at the Chevron Hilton Hotel in Sydney, and recently headlined the Siam Intercontinental Hotel in Bangkok, Thailand where his performance was acclaimed as "Terrific... Wonderful... Captivating!" Other stops in the far East included The Philippines, Hong Kong and Tokyo where standing ovations greeted his performances and he was held over for an unprecedented three-week engagement.

Andy is packing the clubs and receiving rave reviews during his night club appearances in the United States in such clubs as the Fremont Hotel, Las Vegas, Shamrock-Hilton, Houston, Texas; The Regency Hyatt House in Atlanta, Georgia; The Sahara-Tahoe at Lake Tahoe, Nevada and others. And he still makes frequent forays into Latin America having recently completed a series of his own television shows in Buenos Aires, Argentina and Caracas, Venezuela.

Rupert Elks honor leading graduates

RUPERT — Scholarships and savings bonds have been awarded to outstanding members of the Minico High School graduating class by the Rupert Elks Lodge.

Receiving the $100 scholarships were Barbara Hiltbrand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hiltbrand, and DeWayne Mayer, son of Mrs. Fred Mayer and the late Fred Mayer. Both were chosen as Most Outstanding Students.

Receiving $50 savings bonds were Charlie Creason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Creason, and Sandra Fagg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Fagg. Both were selected for their youth leadership.

A new award this year was for an Americanism Essay Contest. Donald Larimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Larimer, Rupert, was awarded a $50 saving bond as the first place winner and Mike Tuttle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Tuttle, Paul, was selected as second place winner and received $25 savings bond.

Dick Groesbeck, Exalted Ruler announced the entry forms for the Youth Leadership and Outstanding Students have been entered in the state contest, and the state winners will then be entered in the national contest with the top winners to be announced in July at the National Elks Convention.

The winners of the local essay contest have also been entered in the state contest, according to Groesbeck.

monds. The second was: What did the clubs lead indicate? He concluded that the six spot was the top of a doubleton.

The third problem is found in the code word ARCH.

How can I make the hand?

Finally the doctor worked it out. He ruffed a club and cashed his three high spades. So far so good. Now if West held no more black cards the doctor could get out with the loss of just two trumps and one diamond.

He led a low trump toward dummy. West rose with the queen and could find no better return than the deuce of trumps. Dr. Divinsky carefully overtook dummy's 10 with his jack, cashed the ace and threw West with his last trump. This time West had to lead a diamond, and Dr. Divinsky had solved his chess problem.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Your partner has bid two diamonds after your one spade. What do you do now?

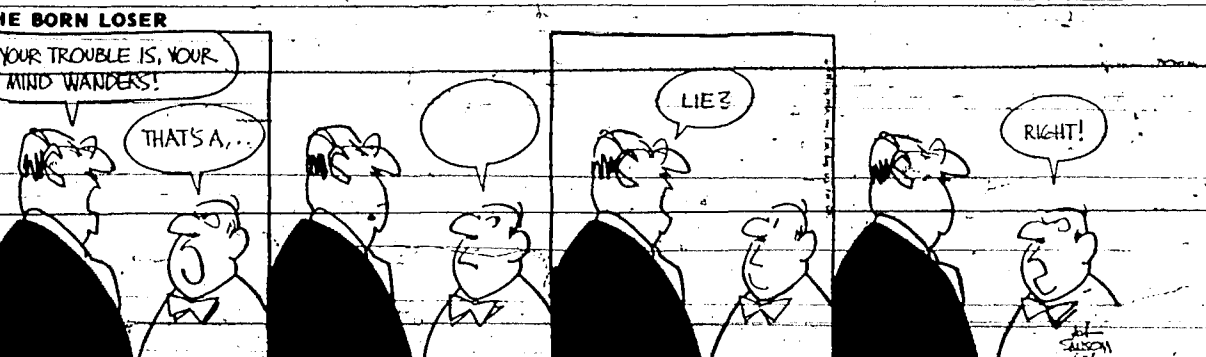

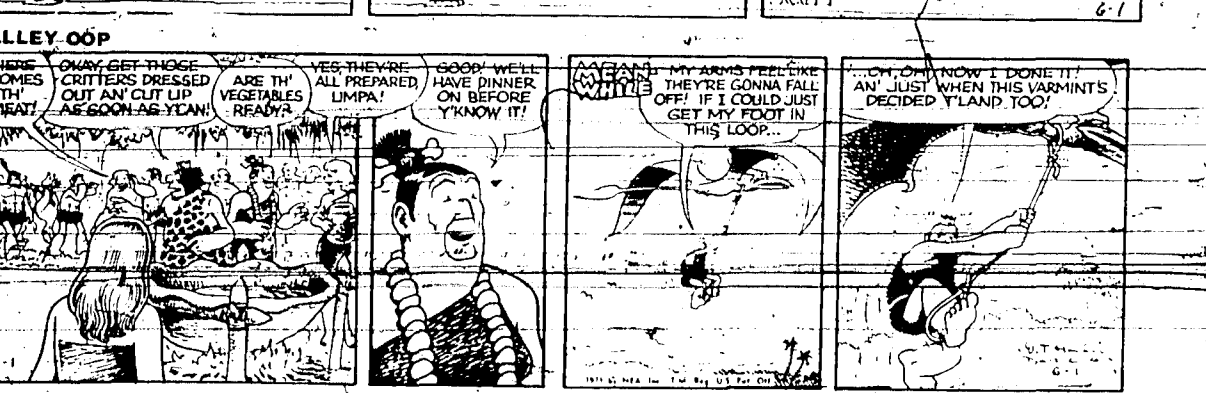

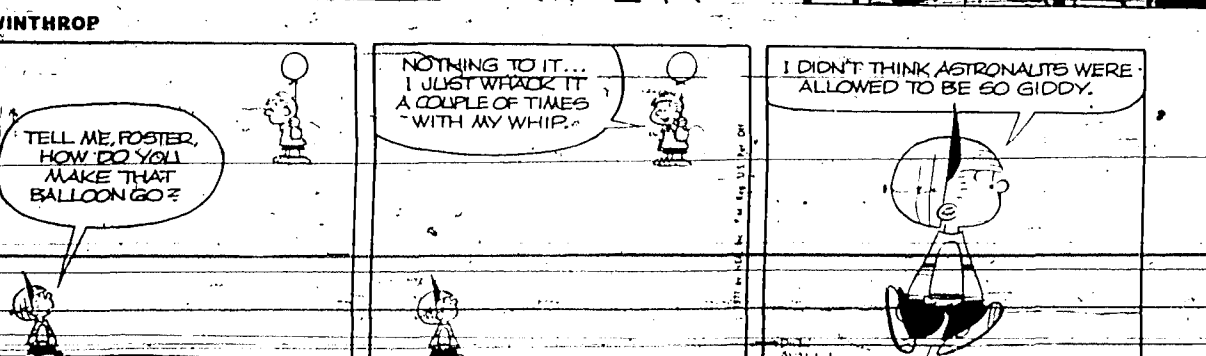

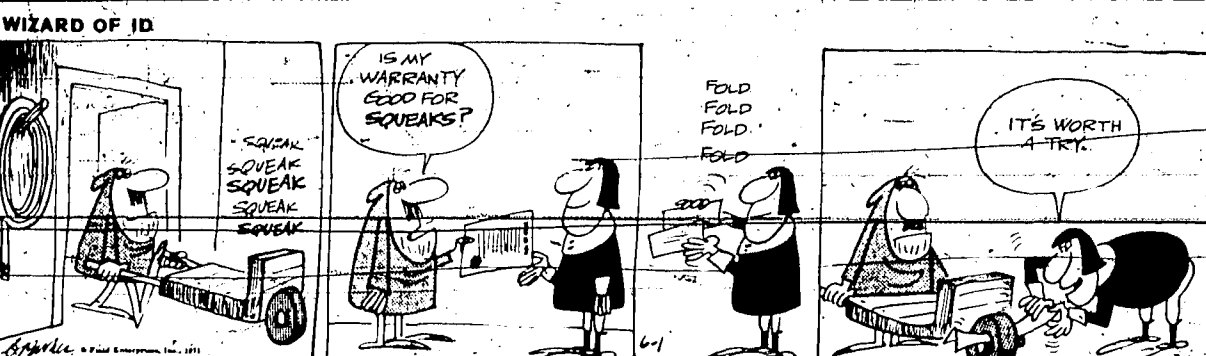

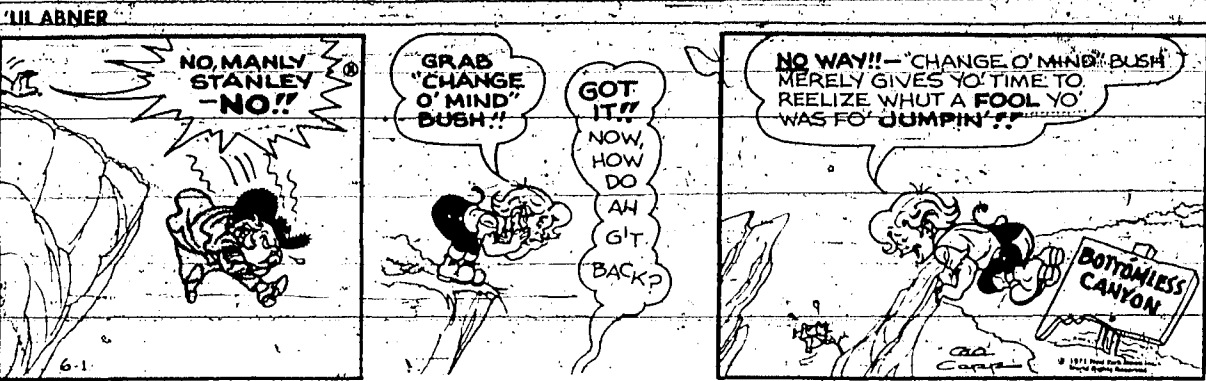

ANSWER TOMORROW

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Dr. Nathan Divinsky, Dean of the Faculty of Science of the University of British Columbia, has two hobbies — chess and bridge.

According to his friends his bridge game is not too scientific, but once in a while he puts his mathematical and chess talents to work to solve a bridge problem.

He went up with dummy's ace of clubs. If there had been no double he would have led a diamond toward his king. The double made this procedure appear to be a losing one, so he set out to solve some problems. The first was: What was the double based on? He decided that it clearly showed three or four trumps to the king-queen and the ace of dia-

PASS IT ON
by L.M. Boyd

THAT FEMINE NAME most admired by freshman and sophomore college students, the surveys now show, is Wendy. Most admired masculine name, they indicate, is Michael.

YOUNG LADY, would you like your gentleman friend to see stars when he gazes into your eyes? All right, nothing to it. The eye specialists now are turning out contact lenses with such stars. They twinkle most disconcertingly, I'm told.

AND SPEAKING of stars, near the "P" on the cover of "Playboy" magazine (there usually are imprinted a number of same Fancy little stars. Or so the older boys say. Am repeatedly asked what they signify. A pretty little piece of promotion, possibly. However, Publisher Hugh Hefner is quoted as saying those stars mark the number of occasions he and the girl on the cover dated or something like that.

APPROXIMATELY four out of five airline stewardesses are dissatisfied, neurotic and miserable. Such is the claim of a French psychiatrist who has made an "extensive study of the young ladies. Fascinating, if factual. But he says he can't figure out why these depressed girls seek out those flight jobs. What bunk! Stewardesses must be good-looking, over 21 and unmarried. When a good-looking girl passes the age of 21 without finding a husband, she gets depressed, brother. Believe this old boy would find that stewardesses who have retired to matrimony are a fairly lively, happy, healthy lot.

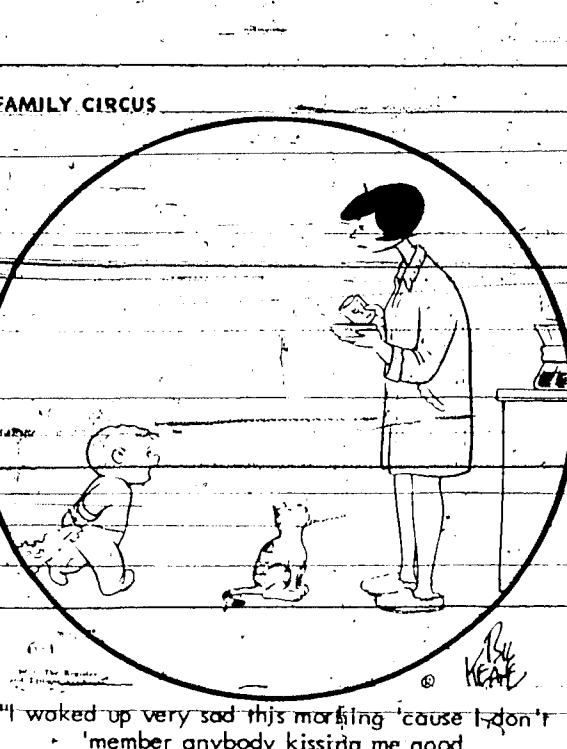

PLEASE NOTE, SINCE 10 years ago, say the computer boys, the United States population is up 13 per cent, Government spending is up 130 per cent, taxes are up 113 per cent, and the number of Federal employees is up 51 per cent.

BEFORE HER 40th birthday, the average woman does not seem to age as quickly as the average man. But in the 10 years after 40, she actually appears to age by about 23 years. This means a 50-year-old woman and a 50-year-old man are about equal again. In physical years. Then from 50 to 60, a woman ordinarily ages just about five times faster than a man. Or so says a team of medical scholars.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: "Is there such a thing as dehydrated tomato juice?" A. Know of none. But our Chief Prognosticator predicts the marketing shortly of powdered ketchup. Q. "In naming a son, what's the difference in calling him, say, Tom, Jr., or Tom II?" A. If old Tom names his son Tom, then young Tom is Tom, Jr. But if old Pete names his son Tom in honor of old Pete's brother, uncle or father Tom, then young Tom is Tom II. Got it? Realize this explanation does not sing like Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, but it's fact.

Your questions and comments are welcomed and will be used in PASS IT ON whenever possible. Please address your letters to L.M. Boyd, P.O. Box 17076, Fort Worth, Texas 76102
