Russia plans space 'colony'

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union hailed its Salyut manned orbital laboratory as the first "Cosmodom" (space house) today, and science experts predicted it would become the cornerstone of a colony and an eventual city in space to be named "Cosmograd."

The official news agency Tass, in a report on the progress of Salyut, said the three cosmonauts aboard shifted the space laboratory into a new and higher orbit today about 10 miles farther from the earth. They performed scientific tasks aboard the Salyut, which is the size of a railway car, Tass said.

Salyut may function for as long as a year and become the hub of the first space colony, a cluster of manned spacecraft which one day will burgeon into a virtual space city with permanent orbital structures.

"The station is launched into outer space for work and need not necessarily return to earth," wrote Trofim Borisov, science commentator for today's edition of the trade union newspaper, Trud.

"Science and technology will gradually, successfully approach the development of gigantic institutes in orbit," he said. "In the first stage, orbital stations evidently will have crews of several men and will function in outer space from several months to one year.

"Since return to earth of the orbital station is not planned and it is launched into orbit with a crew, its function is conceivable only in concert with a space ferry craft."

The sources said one or more manned Soyuz space ships may be launched within the next few weeks, all of them possibly docking with Salyut. They said Salyut could be the terminus of a "space train" of several manned Soyuz space craft and eventually develop into a colony and then a Cosmograd, or space city.

The three men blasted off Sunday in their Soyuz 11 space ferry linked up Monday with the big Salyut station already in orbit and began today the second working day aboard the 25-ton orbiting scientific station.

The word "Cosmodom" entered the space vocabulary today when Byelorussian physicist Nikolai Sirota told Tass. "The first Cosmodom (space house) has been founded."

Tass said the three men aboard, after 21 revolutions, began carrying out scientific chores including medical and biological research at 1 a.m. Moscow time.

A few hours later, the cosmonauts shifted the huge, 60-foot-long space vehicle into a new orbit with a maximum distance from earth of 164.3 miles and a minimum distance of 148.41 miles—about 10 miles farther from earth than the Monday orbit. The inclination of 51.6 degrees remained the same. The time of orbit increased from 88.2 minutes to 89 minutes.

Lt. Col. Georgi Dobrovolsky and engineers Vladislav Volkov and Viktor Patsayev docked their Soyuz 11 spaceship with Salyut Monday and crawled into it through a connecting tunnel.

"The laboratory has begun its program of scientific research," Tass said.

Crash site discovered

OAKLEY — The Air Force clamped a security lid on the crash site of a Phantom II Reconnaissance jet crash that took the lives of two airmen last November.

Officials at Mountain Home Air Force Base identified the wreckage discovered late Monday about 2 1/2 miles south of Whitley Springs about 100 feet from the top of Middle Mountain as the one missing since Nov. 12.

The crash site, covering a wide area strewn with small pieces of the ill-fated aircraft, was cordoned off by Air Force guards.

A demolition team arrived today from Mountain Home, reportedly called in because the plane carried explosives.

An investigation panel headed by Air Force Col. B.A. Hurlbert was expected to arrive at the Oakley air strip at noon to begin investigation of the site.

A spokesman for the Air Force said the area had been sealed to leave the site undisturbed until a thorough search for secret materials had been completed.

The jet which had been missing since Nov. 12 was located by Burley rancher Ron Parrish, who had been repairing a fence along Middle Mountain.

The wreckage had been covered by snow until about two weeks ago.

A dispatch from the office of information at the Elmore County air base said the bodies of the two crewmen, Pilot Maj. Carlton K. Sprague, 44, whose family just moved to Alabama, and navigator Capt. Terrence M. Andrews, 25, whose wife lives in Sacramento, Calif., were recovered and identified.

In November, Col. Henry L. Warren, commander of the 67th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, said the RF4C Phantom and its two man crew had been on a training mission.

Search efforts in Idaho, Utah and Nevada had proved fruitless until Parrish's discovery.

The crash brings the total to four aircraft from Mountain Home which have crashed since October of 1969.

Payment due for rights deprivation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court unanimously declared Monday that Negroes are entitled under an 1871 federal law to sue and collect damages from private citizens who conspire to deprive them of their civil rights.

The precedent-setting ruling reversed a decision by a lower federal court judge in Mississippi that such suits could be filed only when the case involved state or local law enforcement officials.

Working toward adjournment later this month, the court took these other major actions:

—Spelled out in cases from

Indiana and West Virginia two exceptions to the one man-one vote principle at the state and local level.

In the Indiana case, the court reversed a three-judge federal panel which had held that at-large or multi-legislator state representation in Marion County was unconstitutional because of the one man-one vote rule and because the system diminished the voting strength of minorities. Virginia has a similar representation dispute at issue in the courts.

In the West Virginia case, the justices overruled the state Supreme Court which had decided that requiring a three-fifths vote of approval for local school bond issues violated the one man-one vote formula. Sixteen other states have similar laws binding on communities which seek voter approval of bond issues that would exceed a state debt limitation.

—Struck down as unconstitutional the section of the Florida loyalty oath requiring state employees to declare they do not believe in the overthrow of the state and local governments.

Agreed to decide next term whether the Wisconsin State Assembly acted constitutionally in jailing militant Catholic priest the Rev. James E. Groppi for contempt without giving him a chance to defend himself against the charge. Father Groppi was cited for contempt after he led a group of civil rights protesters onto the assembly floor.

Securities theft high

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General John N. Mitchell told new congressional hearings into organized crime today thieves got away with upwards of $400 million in securities in the United States in 1969 and 1970.

Mitchell said the theft of securities was a growing problem, spurred by a large increase in the volume of trading in securities, a related increase in the number of investors in brokerage houses, and a realization by members of organized crime that there are "low risks and ... high reward in marketing stolen securities."

Board hikes land rates

BOISE (UPI) — In a move to increase revenue for the state endowment funds, Idaho's Land Board voted today to boost basic rates for land rentals and sand and gravel royalties.

Board members also voted to sell the old Walters Ferry Bridge across the Snake River in Owyhee and Canyon counties to the Reynolds Irrigation District for the sum of $1.

However, the board stipulated that the irrigation district must agree to free the board of any liability of damages resulting from any deterioration of the bridge.

At present, the highway department is building a new bridge across the river near the site of the old one. The irrigation district wants the bridge because the one-time structure has irrigation pipes attached to its underside.

Terms of the sale also will require the irrigation district to put locked gates on both ends of the bridge.

In other action, the board agreed to sell for its investigative expenses three acres of land in an abandoned secondary channel of the Snake river near Blackfoot for recreational purposes.

—Approved sale of 120 acres of land with subdivision potential four miles north of Eagle four separate units.

—Okayed transfer of 9.8 acres of surplus property to the fish and game department from the highway department. A former gravel pit, now filled with sub-surface water on the land is located one mile east and one-quarter mile south of the Middleton Highway 44.

Board members adopted a departmental recommendation to set a minimum lease rate of $35 per year per parcel on state-owned land. They also approved a proposal to classify for sale parcels surrounded by private land and lying outside of a federal grazing allotment.

In addition they adopted recommendations to classify for land exchange those lands adjoining federal land or lying within federal grazing allotments and to permit the land commissioner to negotiate for a lesser rental those lands on which he cannot obtain the minimum fee.

Proposed LID draws debate

By LEE TREMAINE
Times News Writer

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls City Council took the first step toward formation of a local improvement district on Falls Avenue East Monday night after a prolonged, often acrimonious debate with residents of the area.

More than two dozen Falls Avenue residents debated the need for a LID project to install curbs, gutters and pavement along the newly rebuilt and widened section of the street east of Blue Lakes Boulevard North.

While two residents spoke vigorously in opposition to the proposed LID, others supported the project, though questions were raised as to the method of paying for the installation project.

Mayor Frank Feldman said that "We will accept cash," pointing out that a property owner could pay the LID assessment in a lump-sum payment, rather than over the 20-year period or whatever repayment period is adopted.

Alternatively, a property owner could contract on his own initiative to put in the curb, gutter and sidewalk in front of his property instead of participating in the LID assessment, it was brought out during the discussion.

"When this thing all started, we were told we would have to pay for the curb and gutter. They didn't say anything about the pavement. Now we're told we have to pay for the pavement. Is this right?" With this question, Bill McVey opened the 90-minute debate which brought other charges that "You didn't ask us when you ripped out the pavement. Now why do we have to pay to have it put back?"

City Manager Jean Miller explained that city ordinances provide residents must pay $1 per front foot for paving projects for 36-foot-wide streets, after installation of curb and gutters. Falls Avenue, however, will be 44 feet wide, and must have a heavier base and sturdier construction to handle the heavy traffic loads utilizing the street.

The curb-and-gutter costs would be the same as in any residential area, Miller said. However, "our ordinance does not clearly define how we shall proceed due to the extra base and extra width." Thus, the council pointed out, the LID assessment would be necessary.

'No fault' possible in crash

DUARTE, Calif. (UPI) — Neither pilot may have been at fault when an Air West DC9 jetliner and a Marine fighter collided at 12,000 feet, killing 50 persons, a federal investigator said Monday.

George Baker, head of a National Transportation Safety Board team, said the planes "may have collided without any violation" of flying rules.

But the sole survivor of Sunday's collision, a Marine radar man, said the commercial airliner with 49 persons aboard hit his F4 Phantom jet.

Lt. Christopher E. Schless, 24, Salem, Ore., copilot of the fighter-bomber, said he and the pilot sighted the DC9 seconds before the collision.

As Schless spoke at a news conference, helicopters brought the bodies of the victims, including a 3-week-old infant, from the side of a rugged mountain 40 miles from downtown Los Angeles.

The passenger plane was so utterly disintegrated after crashing into a mountainside that no sizable portion except for the tail section remain in a fire-crisped bowl of scrub brush on Mt. Dill less than 40 miles from downtown Los Angeles. All 49 persons aboard the DC9, three of them infants and a 3-year-old boy and his sister, 6, perished. The pilot of the Marine fighter-bomber also died in the wreckage of his plane, but his radarman parachuted and was in good condition.

FBI reveals phone taps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI, according to Director J. Edgar Hoover, currently is tapping 47 telephones and has secretly planted at least six microphones for security reasons or to investigate organized crime. None of them, Hoover said, is being used on congressmen.

The FBI chief provided the information to a closed door House appropriations subcommittee hearing, "to put the record straight" concerning his increasingly criticized agency. The heavily censored testimony was made public today.

House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana charged earlier this year the FBI was bugging congressional telephones. Boggs, however, never produced evidence of his charges.

Hoover cited a newspaper article (Washington Post) which he said raised "suspicion that Sen. Birch Bayh's (D-Ind.) office was bugged during the Judge Clement Haynsworth controversy." Haynsworth's nomination to the Supreme Court was rejected by the Senate last year, with Bayh among the more vocal Haynsworth opponents.

"We, of course, never had any electronic coverage of Senator Bayh or any other senator or congressman," Hoover said. "Furthermore, the charge that the FBI has tapped Central Intelligence Agency phones is absolutely false. At no time in the history of FBI has this ever been done."

"I would like to add, also, we have never tapped a telephone of any Congressman or any Senator since I have been director of the bureau," said Hoover, the first and only FBI director.

Hoover said his testimony on FBI electronic surveillance was cleared by Attorney General John N. Mitchell prior to the director's March 17 appearance before the subcommittee.

"We are operating 33 telephone surveillances and four microphone installations in bureau cases in the security field," Hoover reported, and said two additional telephone taps were waiting to be installed.

He said 14 telephone taps and two microphone surveillances were being used for investigation of organized crime.

Survivors get draft deferrals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate approved an amendment to the draft bill Monday that would grant exemptions to any sons in a family which has lost an immediate member in the armed forces.

The bill would cover those now serving, as well as potential draftees.

The rider, the first added to the bill to extend the draft for two years, won on a 58 to 9 vote despite the strenuous objections of Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., who is guiding the bill through the Senate.

Before the amendment was passed, Stennis had managed to maneuver his bill unchanged through 17 roll call votes on attempts to amend it.

Present law grants an exemption from the draft only to the sole surviving son in a family.

But the amendment, sponsored by Sen. Robert W. Packwood, R-Ore., would provide that no person could be inducted into the armed forces — unless he volunteers — if his father, brother, or sister was killed in action; died in the line of duty; or died later as a result of injuries or disease incurred in service.

Release ordered

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — A federal judge today ordered Edgar Smith freed from the Trenton prison where he has spent 14 years on death row, but gave the state 24 hours to file an appeal.

Judge John J. Gibbons ordered Smith freed on $5,000 bond after an hour-long hearing attended by columnist William F. Buckley Jr., who has championed Smith's fight for freedom for eight years.

State attorneys said they would not only appeal Gibbons' bail order but the judge's order of May 15 dissolving Smith's murder conviction on grounds authorities had coerced him while undergoing questioning for the slaying of a 15-year-old girl.

Bidder for loan firm assets received 'unfair advantage'

BOISE (UPI) — The successful bidder for the Idaho Savings and Loan Association's assets was allowed "an unfair advantage," according to an appellate attorney in a dispute argued Monday.

Theron Roberts made his argument to the state supreme court on behalf of his clients, the American Republic Financial Corp., First Fidelity Thrift and Loan Association, and the Town and Country Realty.

Roberts said a Fourth District Court ruling by Judge J. Ray Durtschi offered, in effect, to Continental Life and Accident Co. and the Western National Corp. the opportunity to match his clients' higher offer and then shut off further bidding.

The Continental and Western offer of $3,278,637 was made before the deadline of July 1, 1970 for the defunct association's assets. Five days later, however, Com-Tech International, Nevada, submitted a lower bid and raised it to $3,450,000.

Sept. 3, Judge Durtschi ruled if Continental and Western matched Com-Tech's offer, the bid was theirs — if not, the bid award would go to com-tech.

The ruling was appealed to the state's high court. Roberts has asked the court to remand the petition of sale to Continental and Western and return the prospective sale to the Fourth District Court where it should be put out for advertisement and bid again. Roberts said the bidding procedure was not done properly and because of failure to follow proper procedure, the state commissioner of finance did not have authority to make the award to Continental and Western.

Attorney for the Idaho Department of Finance, J. Dennis Faucher, told the court that Continental and Western were not given a special advantage by Judge Durtschi.

Faucher said that since both offers are the same, the most logical procedure is to uphold the district ruling so the association's assets can be liquidated and the shareholders can finally receive their money.

Massive traffic blockade battled

NEW YORK (UPI) — City officials and Army engineers worked through the night to keep New York City functioning today and prevent a repeat of Monday's massive traffic snarl caused by a municipal employee strike.

No one guaranteed they could do it. Union leaders threatened an escalation of the strike. Drawbridge operators employed by the city walked off the job Monday morning, leaving 28 of the city's 29 vital drawbridges open and inoperable. Other city employees left trucks stalled in traffic lanes. The result was tens of thousands of motorists lined bumper-to-bumper coming in and out of Manhattan during the morning and evening rush hours. The commuters' plight worsened when the temperature rose to 93 degrees, New York's hottest day of the year.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers worked Monday and this morning to close the bridges—a job made harder because many fuses had been removed and operating devices tampered with. Most of the major bridges were in operation today. As of 7:30 a.m. EDT, the engineers had managed to return eight bridges to normal operation, leaving 20 still inoperable.

Police tow trucks patrolled major roads to prevent union members from blocking them with abandoned trucks, a tactic that helped jam the arteries Monday. Heavy traffic began building up on major roads into the city as early as 7 a.m. A traffic department spokesman said it was "heavier a little earlier than usual."

The strike came as a result of the State Legislature in Albany declining to consider a pension plan for city employees that would bring pay to those retiring after 40 years of service. Victor Gotbaum, executive director of District 37 of the Municipal Employees Union, and 400 delegates of striking employees voted unanimously Monday to continue and escalate the strike.

Mayor John V. Lindsay met Monday night with Gotbaum and Barry Feinstein, head of Teamsters Local 235 representing the drawbridge operators. Gotbaum told Lindsay the city could expect an escalation of the strike but did not say what form it would take.

"And I said, 'This is no way to behave,'" Lindsay told the news media after the meeting. Lindsay, who earlier Monday called the strike "immoral, illegal and outrageous," said at one time the National Guard might have to be called in to help but said today there was no immediate need for the guard since police and other agencies "have the city under control."

Gotbaum and Feinstein were ordered to appear in State Supreme Court at 2 p.m. today to answer temporary restraining orders issued Monday against the strike. Gotbaum said he would ignore the court order.

Washington (UPI) — An aide to Gen. George S. Patton Jr. says the controversial World War II commander decided to resign from the Army "with a reverberating blast of indignation" at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and other superiors shortly before he was fatally injured in an auto crash in 1945.

Outraged and deeply hurt because he lost command of his beloved Third Army after an outspoken comment at a news conference, the aide said, Patton wanted to cut all his military ties so he could live and speak freely.

Robert S. Allen, who was Patton's chief of combat intelligence and who now is an author and columnist, gave the account in an article written for the June issue of Army Magazine, published by the Association of the United States Army, a private group.

Allen said retirement would have left the 61-year-old West Pointer still subject to military control, so he decided to quit outright. He said Patton also wanted to "strike back" at Eisenhower, who took away his command, rebuked him privately, and at the army hierarchy he felt had let him down.

Had he not made up his mind to quit with a reverberating blast of indignation, it is highly unlikely the trip on which the auto accident occurred would have been made," Allen wrote. The columnist said the article was an effort to lay to rest rumors that there was something sinister about Patton's death.

Gem flood threat ebb continues

BOISE (UPI) — The major flood threat on most Idaho streams has passed, the State Civil Defense Office said today. The Kootenai River at Bonners Ferry in the extreme north is the closest thing to flood level and it is more than two feet below the official flood stage and eight feet below the real danger point. Deputy Civil Defense Director Charles Rountree said the Kootenai was listed at 28.84 feet Monday. That is about three feet below the crest of two weeks ago and one foot below Sunday's reading. Official flood stage is 31 feet but the area is diked to 37 feet. Rountree said floods could be a possibility in the Mackay area if there is the right combination of hot weather and rainfall to swell the Big Lost River drainage.

Falls LID hearing draws big turnout

LID stirs hot debate

"We will have to negotiate this contract, and the cost will be determined by the bids," Feldtman said.

Keith Evans, 1404 Falls Ave. E., voiced the first formal opposition to the LID, declaring that he had asked Milar to investigate the possibility of "getting some bids as a group for us," on the "west end of Falls Avenue."

"The first thing we heard was this meeting tonight," Evans said. "I personally want no part of an LID. I don't want to force anybody to do anything he doesn't want to do there on that street. We had paying that was sufficient to handle wagons and trucks before, and when the sewer system and water system was put in, they tore up the street. Now, we've been living with this thing for 10 years in a heck of a mess," he declared.

"This has been a mess since they started working on the water system. They took out a good base when they took out that other road. It was strengthened by the city and county so it would take stock trucks. I think it should be returned to that, and I don't think we should be charged for the cost of it."

"I was voted into the city without an aye, yes or no," Evans declared. "This is just one of the other things. I don't want to be bullied into a LID without some recourse. I prefer to go get my own contractor to put in my curb and gutter."

To the question from a councilman, "Will you do so?" Evans said he had petitioned Milar and the city to "get us a bid on that," but received no answer.

Feldtman pointed out to the residents several times during the lively debate that "The reason this meeting has been called is because we recognize you folks on Falls Avenue do have a problem. We've asked you to come down here and make your comments because we're seeking a solution that everyone can live with. Obviously, we're well aware that we can't please everybody. We're going to have to come up with a solution that seems to meet the desires of the majority of people involved."

To this plea, Evans replied, "Just don't put us in a LID."

Gordon S. Bjorn, 1735 Falls Ave. E., declared that "I am strictly opposed to being forced or intimidated to pay for any curb, gutter or sidewalk. I do not wish it. I do not want it. We fought to stay out of the city, and now we're in and so now we have to pay more, and I don't appreciate it."

Bjorn admitted that "These are just my thoughts," in opposing the LID proposal.

Feldtman answered a resident only as "Mr. Brown," who said the city "ripped up the pavement" without consent of property owners, that the street surface on Falls Avenue East was "in deplorable condition" and had to be completely redone.

"This is a major thoroughfare in our community," Feldtman said. "The quality of that pavement out there I don't think justified any sentimentality as to being torn up or removed, because there were great chuckholes in it. I had occasion to travel it frequently."

Feldtman was interrupted by a sardonic comment that "You ought to live on it, my friend," from the audience, to the evident amusement of the Falls Avenue residents.

Robert Willis, a housing contractor and developer, countered the criticism with a comment that "I think we're a little bit rough on the council. I think their intentions are the same as ours. As a developer who has more frontage on that street which will be developed, and I of course planned on curbs and sidewalks along it, I think it's just one of those things that happen with time. I think there are some beautiful homes on Falls Avenue, and I think it's been deplorable that there weren't curbs in existence."

Voicing endorsement of the proposal, Willis pointed out that curbs and gutters must be installed before the asphalt blacktopping is laid down, to protect the edges of the paving.

"I've opened a number of subdivisions in Twin Falls, and I've always put in curbs and sidewalks because I think it enhances the value of the property."

Willis urged his fellow property owners to "dig down" and support the council's proposal, emphasizing that a properly constructed street would increase property values.

Other residents voiced varying degrees of opposition and support in the lengthy debate. Many protested the fact that "none of us was told a day in advance that the paving was going to be torn up. We had to slop through the mud all winter long."

Councilman Paul Ostyn protested vociferously that "What's done is done. Maybe it wasn't the best public relations, maybe it wasn't done the right way. But it's done and we can't change that. The problem now is to go ahead and put in the curbs and gutters along with the new paving."

Feldtman said the council will "set up a policy that will apply not only to Falls Avenue but to any street in the city," on repaving and reconstruction.

"We are faced with a rebuilding program in our street system. A great many of our streets have lasted years beyond their contemplated life at the time of installation."

Following the debate, the council voted a "resolution of intent" to form the Falls Avenue East LID, instructing the city attorney to draw up the necessary papers to be presented at a subsequent council meeting.

Andrus terms scenery protection 'image'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus of Idaho said Monday legislation to create the Sawtooth National Recreation Area would merely create an "image of protection" for the state's most scenic area.

Contending the pending legislation would permit "exploiting uses" to continue, the Democratic governor called for amendment of the bill to provide for a national park as well as a recreation area.

The governor's statement was read to the House national parks and recreation subcommittee by state Fish and Game Commissioner Jack B. Hemingway, who said he could not speak for the governor beyond the statement.

But Hemingway, pressed by committee members, conceded that he — unlike the governor — would favor a national recreation area over a national park if an exception were not made to permit hunting in the latter.

Hemingway said he had no wish to "embarrass the governor" by opposing Andrus' views while appearing in his behalf, but he wished to answer committee members' questions honestly.

Chairman Roy A. Taylor, D-N.C., said he had many questions to ask Andrus and requested the governor respond to them in writing.

The governor's statement said the pending proposal — backed by all four members of the state's congressional delegation — favors commercial users and gives "only vague promises" to those seeking to preserve mountain peaks in the Sawtooth, White Clouds, Boulder and Pioneer ranges.

Andrus called for establishment of a Sawtooth Valley National Recreation Area to include lowland valleys in the Upper Salmon River Basin and a national park to preserve high mountain areas.

One speaks at hearing

TWIN FALLS — Two brief public hearings on zoning matters brought no protests during the Twin Falls City Council meeting Monday night, and only one man spoke in favor of the request from the Farm Bureau to enlarge its building on Jefferson Street.

Councilmen approved both requests, including the Farm Bureau request for a variance to allow expansion of its offices at 191 Addison Ave., along the Jefferson Street side, and a petition from Audrey Walton to rezone a tract of land from residential low density to residential medium density.

Walton's request involves construction of housing along Hayburn Street near Madrona Street, Mayor Frank Feldtman explained. Councilman Paul Ostyn said the development would be an improvement in the area. No protests were heard.

A lengthy protest was voiced to another proposal, to move the present building housing the One-Hour Martinizing outlet on Washington Street North, near West Five Points, to a new location at Washington and Wiseman. A resident of the area said the business would pose a threat of being a nuisance with its "odors and all."

Councilmen said the request has been approved by the zoning commission, and, since the area is zoned to allow the business in that location, the council has no choice.

The council also passed an ordinance prohibiting the dumping of septic tank "debris" into the city sewer system. On a question from a Falls Avenue resident, Feldtman said plumbing firms who pump septic tanks will have to dump their loads at the sanitary landfill 11 miles from Twin Falls, where facilities have been prepared for the purpose.

In other routine business, the council:

- Authorized adoption of the articles of association of the South Idaho Resource Planning and Development Association.
- Heard a protest from attorney H. N. Jewell to a request to transfer a beer license belonging to the Blue Lakes Service Co.

the Idaho Environmental Council, who expressed fear that progress toward a national park might halt with approval of a recreational area.

Davis, pointing to a 1969 controversy over proposed open-pit mining in the White Clouds mountains, noted that some political analysts had credited Andrus' 1970 victory over former Gov. Don Samuelson to their positions on the issue.

John A. Rosholt, a Twin Falls attorney, appeared for buyers of lots in a sub-division developed on state lands and urged they be allowed to keep their land in the Stanley Basin.

In earlier testimony, Deputy Chief John R. McGuire of the Forest Service said first priority would be given to acquiring land in the Stanley Basin and to land providing access to certain areas.

Vernon Ravenscroft, owner and manager of a wood-processing plant at Tuttle, testified as president of the Idaho Public Land Resource Commission, and said condemnation should be limited merely to access and scenic easements.

L. N. "Bud" Purdy of Picabo, appearing for the Idaho Range Use Coordinating Committee, said cattlemen and wool growers oppose a national park because it would eliminate grazing in the park and bring too many people into the area. Purdy also backed retention of hunting in the area, permitted in a national recreation area but prohibited in national parks.

More than two dozen witnesses were scheduled to appear before the subcommittee and hearings were expected to continue Tuesday.

Arraigned

TWIN FALLS — Ralph O'Neil Young, 44, was arraigned Monday in Fifth District Court before Judge James Cunningham.

Young entered a plea of guilty to the charge of issuing an insufficient fund check.

Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, also called for speedy approval of the bill because of "serious and immediate" threats to scenic values from development and mining activity.

Support for a national park was voiced by Tom Davis, a Boise engineer appearing for

War aim assailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Monday accused President Nixon of prolonging the war in Indochina to gain maximum political impact for his reelection bid in 1972.

Kennedy said the only reason Nixon continues a "discredited" policy of Vietnamization is the President's "intention to play his last great card for peace at a time closer to November, 1972, when the chances will be greater that the action will benefit the coming presidential campaign."

The Massachusetts Democrat spoke to a band of high-level lobbyists in town in an effort to talk Congress into ending the Vietnam war this year.

"What has the President to fire?" Kennedy asked the lawyers involved in the "Lobby of Americans" activity. "Surely not the loss of office. Surely not the judgment of history."

"The loss of office is a fear that can never justify the sacrifice of a single human life. And the judgment of history should not be feared at all, since it is a judgment made long ago on Vietnam by people throughout the world."

There were about 1,500 lawyers at the meeting, most of them conservatively dressed. They along with business, religious, civil rights and other contingents of the "Lobby of Americans" planned to rally on the Capitol steps today and to spend much of the week visiting Congressional offices.

Fire sears Jerome home

JEROME — Quick action by the Jerome Fire Department Monday afternoon prevented extensive damage to a house owned by George Jacobs at 512 W. 7th Ave.

According to firemen, Jacobs was burning weeds along the west side of the house when rags under the house caught fire about 5 p.m. The rags apparently were soaked with kerosene from a barrel which also was outside the house.

Firemen arrived before the fire had gained momentum and only smoke damage occurred.

Independents

Eighteen year olds having won the right to vote in federal elections, have been polled as to their political affiliations or intentions. The sampling by the Gallup organization of the eleven million new voters revealed a liberal bent, idealism and a lack of political sophistication. Nearly three times as many planned to register as Democrats as Republicans. Forty-two per cent against sixteen per cent. But, equaling the Democrats were those who called themselves Independents, who presumably intended to weigh the issues and the candidates and decide on merit rather than political party—an idealistic position. Political savvy, however, recommends use of the all-important primary ballot by choosing a party affiliation and choosing the best nominee of several hopefuls. Independence suffers not at all because after the parties have picked their nominees, the independent voter regardless of party can vote for his choice. The high percentage of self-styled independents among the young voters could be attributable to reservations about the policies of both major parties: Both have been subject to many changes and sometimes they have reversed their position. Democrats, once the exponents of home rule, have favored centralization in recent years and the Republicans have espoused the cause of stronger local government. Another possibility is that the youngsters just didn't want to tell the pollsters where they stood. They are advantages in our two-party system which more often provides a real choice between candidates than a multi-party system which can result in instability and compromises of the kind likely to raise to leadership a candidate who lacks majority support. You can be sure both parties are going to go after the votes of that large group of independent youngsters.

Protection

Lookout towers and observation planes, the traditional methods of forest fire detection, may soon be obsolete. U.S. Forest Service researchers from Montana recently reported to a University of Michigan symposium that a new remote sensing forest fire detection system worked so well in a test last year that it is scheduled to replace 25 lookout towers in western Montana and northwestern Idaho. The system, called "bispectral forest fire detection," involves an airplane equipped with Doppler radar, heat-sensitive infrared instruments and a rapid film process or to provide in-flight maps of surveyed areas. The entire operation is contained in the aircraft. The information gathered is simply radioed to ground stations, which take appropriate firefighting action. Tested for two months last summer in daily flights over an 8,000-square-mile area in Montana and Idaho, the system spotted small campfires from as high as 15,000 feet. Because it detects heat radiation, it discovered 44 wildfires before there were any visual signs of smoke or flame.

On Inflation

WASHINGTON — On the inflation front, President Nixon's political game plan is based on the belief that there's no hurry. It is not yet 1972, and a President has the power to turn things around almost at will, at least for a short period of time preceding Election Day. To be specific: There are those White House advisers on the economy who are predicting privately and not for attribution, that if all else fails and next year arrives on schedule, Nixon is quite prepared to invoke wage and price controls — even including a wage-price rollback. The administration could be kidding itself. There are still things a President seeking reelection dare not do and one of them is suddenly to take money away from people. He can win without labor's support or without business support, but he can't win if he has neither. Moreover, everything now points to a massive new round of inflation, and even the most drastic of measures cannot measurably reduce the cost of living overnight. Following the aluminum industry's settlement with labor for a 31 per cent pay increase over a three-year period and the prompt announcement that prices of "nearly" all fabricated products would be increased an average of 6 per cent, the stage is set for the really big one. It is called steel, and where steel goes others follow. Steel will go far. The United Steelworkers of America announced long ago that it would not accept wage settlements that were not at least as good as those won by the can and aluminum workers. And not only the 350,000 steelworkers are involved. The steel union also is negotiating for 116,000 copper workers. In this realistic context, Richard Nixon's after-the-fact "inflation alerts" are a sick joke. In short, it may be admirable to denounce inflationary wage and price developments, but these "inflation alerts" accomplish nothing, unless one happens to be a connoisseur of the art of striking a pose. In board rooms and union halls, the reaction is apt to be a complacent yawn. Because Richard Nixon is one of the ablest and shrewdest politicians ever to sit in the White House, it is hard to accept his persistence in following a do-nothing policy. The wild, almost uniquely premature scramble for the Democratic Presidential nomination is much more than a reflection of individual ambition. It tells everybody, including Richard

Nixon, that the nomination is worth something, that the Democrats are confident they can win in 1972. And why not? While the President moves to defuse the Vietnam War issue, his inaction on the economic front builds up the issue of the voter's pocketbook, traditionally the Waterloo of the White House incumbent. Voters with fixed incomes are not the only ones affected by inflation. Those wage increases won by labor will buy no more — and conceivably less — under the new price tags for living. This is the big reason Hubert Humphrey, another smart politician, all but announces, gleefully, that he'll run again. It is one reason veteran professionals such as Pierre Salinger, press secretary to President Kennedy, and Frank Mankiewicz, Bobby Kennedy's press agent, have thrown in their lot with Sen. George McGovern. Salinger and Mankiewicz do not enlist in lost causes. Besides, they can always switch if a well-managed "draft" develops for Sen. Teddy Kennedy. They are all in there running because time is running out for Richard Nixon — Ed Muskie, Birch Bayh, Scoop Jackson, Harold Hughes and even Arkansas Rep. Wilbur Mills. They do not mention that it was Democrat Lyndon Johnson who launched the country on its inflation kick. That was yesterday. They savor, instead, today's knowledge that Nixon has less than a year to do something about the cost of porkchops. No wonder Gene McCarthy is making political speeches again.

RAY CROMLEY

We Grope

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The virtual impossibility of foretelling what the Russians will do next in strategic weaponry is illustrated by the argument between intelligence analysts over what missiles Moscow will put in its new "super" silos. Will they be the big SS-9s, which used as a first-strike weapon could endanger our Minuteman defenses? Or the smaller SS-11s, now powerful or accurate enough to be a threat to the Minuteman force? The difference of opinion demonstrates the limited — and late — nature of most intelligence data available on new major Russian systems. This is despite orbiting satellite "spies in the sky," our sophisticated electronic intelligence sensors and our battery of computers. Take a new development in any of the most crucial weapons systems — ICBM missiles, aircraft, submarines and ABMs. Frequently all that intelligence can indicate is a wide range of possibilities, from mild to ominous. A long lead time is necessary to develop major weapons. By the time we have certain knowledge of what the Russians are doing, it can be too late to catch up without a serious defense gap. Cautious men, assessing the possibilities revealed by intelligence, assume the worst. And others, looking at the same possibilities, assume the best. The data is often so sketchy that even completely objective analysts (of which there are few), cannot determine whether the cautious or the noncautious answer is right. Sometimes it doesn't matter. The United States has enough nuclear weapons to devastate the Soviet Union many times over. The Russians could make great breakthroughs and get ahead in some very significant areas with no catastrophic results. U.S. reserve strength would still be great enough for this country to hold its own until we caught up. But there are other Russian breakthroughs that could upset the strategic balance and possibly endanger the very life of this country. The U.S. government could regularly assume the worst and act quickly to match everything the Russians might possibly be developing. But the nation could spend itself to death producing expensive new weapons systems which might then turn out to be useless and obsolete. So what to do? Arm control agreements will not solve this problem, short of comprehensive on-site inspection arrangements which are unlikely to be acceptable to either side. Scientists will always discover new and more destructive weapons in areas not covered by the bans and the ceilings.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Breast Problem

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You are my last resort, and maybe other women have the same problem I have. Three years ago I had one breast removed, and haven't felt comfortably dressed since. No one seems to know what kind of bra to get for this, or where to get it. An ordinary bra does not stay put in the right position. — N. L. M. I'd rather not be the "last resort," because I think better sources of information are available. I have friends with the same problem. The cost surgery is not by any means an unusual (necessity) and they get along very well. For what I can tell you, it depends on the size you need. If relatively small, I am told that foam rubber "falsies" can be bought in the dime stores. Sewing into a bra kept it in position. For larger sizes, most department stores (or corsetiers, if there are any left) can supply a filled-out bra that will stay put. I'm told this is a matter of shopping around to find what you want. If you are in a small community, you may very likely have to go to a larger city. If you still have trouble, I'd suggest getting in touch with one of the cancer societies — a branch of the American Cancer Society, or some of the others — since a considerable proportion of such surgery is because of cancer. Therefore, these groups can put you in touch with others who have solved the problem. Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the cause of constant ringing in the ears? My doctor sometimes gives me a shot that makes me feel warm all over. What is it, and what is it for? — S. R. There are various causes of ringing in the ears, but not just one single cause. Best I can suggest is that you read my booklet, "Ear Noises: Their Causes and Cures." Send 15 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for an copy. Second question: It could be a vasodilator — a medication that increases circulation temporarily by letting the blood vessels expand a bit, but that's a pretty far guess. Let me suggest one way of finding out what he is giving you and what for. Ask him. Headaches? You can beat them! Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper for a copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

MR. SPECTATOR

Her Name Is Ruth

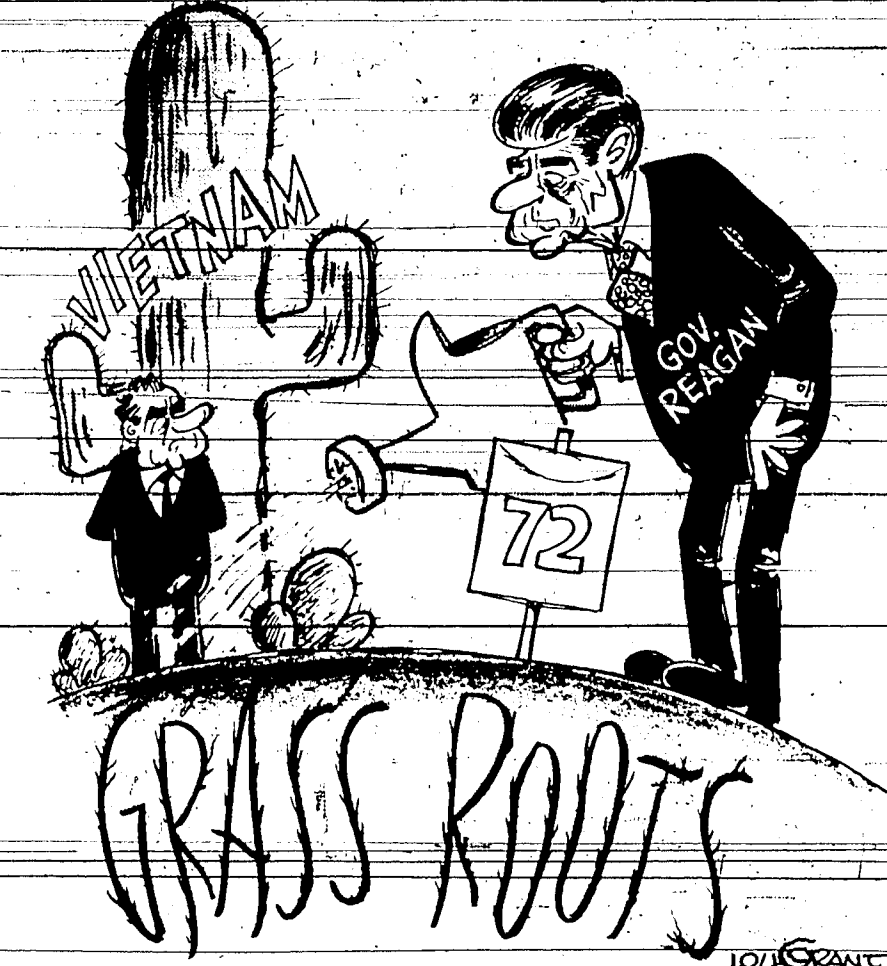

The editorial office "speed queen" at the Times-News just has to be Ruth Koonce Miller. We'll call her Ruth for short — and in the interest of time. A few weeks back Ruth acquired a set of those contact lenses which are so popular among the gals. She appeared at work one bright morning and we all thought she was a stranger. Then, the next day, she looked like her old self again. Seems as though the new lens were killing her so she left them home and put on a pair of glasses which just had to be from downtown San Francisco. They were big and round. Well, this kept up for a week or two — one day the new ones, next day the old ones. Some days we actually believe she was so confused she wore both of them. However, here's the secret. We learned on good authority that (1) one of the new ones popped out one day and into the garbage. Quite a task but it was finally found. (2) Another day, popped once more, this time down the kitchen sink drain. (3) Popped out on the rug. Ruth still works at the Times-News. She still changes from one set of "viewers" to the other. The new ones still kill her. But she's determined — so if you see a rather slim reporter with tired old eyes — that's Ruth. What girls won't do to keep up with the fashions!

— AND HOW DOES YOUR GARDEN GROW? —

Washington — Russia is forcefully engaged in systematically changing the balance of military power in our own backyard — the Caribbean Sea. While garnering worldwide acclaim by indicating seeming willingness in the SALT talks to do something about controlling nuclear missiles, the Soviet at the same time is aggressively strengthening its military forces and capabilities within a relatively few miles of the U.S. coast. For that purpose, "since 1969, the Soviet has systematically gone about establishing bases in Cuba for a continuing naval presence in the Caribbean Sea." Moscow also is spending more than $1.5 billion a day to feed, arm and innumerable other ways keep the Castro regime in power — which has made an economic shambles of Cuba. Before the burly dictator seized control, the island had the highest standard of living in Latin America; now it is one of the very lowest. Those are the flat charges of Rep. Dante Fascell, D-Fla., chairman of the House Inter-American Affairs Subcommittee, and a leading authority in this field. Fascell's foreboding accusations are based on a series of secret hearings he conducted last fall, during which military officials and other experts testified. In the nine months since then, Fascell has been trying to get this highly revealing testimony released for publication. Repeated requests to the White House for such permission have gone unanswered. In a May 10 letter to President Nixon, Fascell bluntly warned "this situation is becoming increasingly serious," and renewed his urgent plea "that you declassify information submitted to our subcommittee on September 30 and November 24, 1970, relating to Soviet naval activities in Cuba." That testimony reported, extensive Russian naval construction at Cienfuegos on the southern coast of Cuba. Also, that the Soviet now has vastly improved nuclear submarine capacity "in the vicinity of our southern shores." In seeking publication of the secret testimony, Fascell sharply pointed out it revealed nothing not already fully known to the Russians and their Cuban "lackeys." "The only ones being kept in the dark," Fascell said caustically, "are the American people. The Russians know what they're up to in this area, so why shouldn't our people know I see absolutely no reason for secrecy. But so far, I have been unable to get this testimony declassified." In grimly maintaining this situation is becoming increasingly serious," Fascell spells out two "major reasons" in his letter to the President, as follows: "First, on the basis of my long-time observation of Soviet activities in this hemisphere, I am convinced the Russians have attained vastly improved nuclear submarine capacity in the vicinity of our southern shores. The availability of facilities for servicing such submarines would be an important element in such conclusions. "Second, I find it exceedingly difficult to accept our government's assertion that there exists 'an understanding' between the United States and the Soviet Union — an understanding which binds the Soviet Union NOT to establish any strategically significant naval facility on Cuba. It seems to me that our government officials are whistling in the dark when they point to a brief passage in a Soviet newspaper as proving the existence of such an understanding. If that brief quotation is all that supports their case, then it seems to me they are indulging in most dangerous self-deception." It is Fascell's view that the time has come "to clarify these issues" because it is crystal clear today's government in Cuba is anything but a government by and for the people. "Increasingly, it is a government for and by its Soviet masters," says Fascell. "They prop up the Castro regime with everything from guns to food in order to use Cuba for their own ends. And one of those ends is the establishment of Soviet naval power on the very borders of our country. That is a reality of tremendous consequence to the United States."

Fund gain door open

BOISE (UPI) — An attorney general's opinion on investments appears to have opened the door to increased endowment fund earnings, acting Finance Commissioner Tom D. McDowney said Monday.

McDowney said an opinion written by Chief Deputy Attorney General Clarence D. Sulter for Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon will enable the Endowment Fund Investment Board to reinvest earnings before distribution.

Not only does it permit the board to reinvest the earnings so that they will accrue to the endowment funds, but it also allows the board to limit distribution of earnings to once or twice a year. At present, the Public School Endowment Fund earnings, for example, are distributed on a quarterly basis.

"If we only distribute to the public schools once a year we could conservatively increase their income by $20,000 a year," McDowney said.

Public Instruction Supt. D. F. Engelking said he felt McDowney's estimate was quite conservative and that he felt the earnings could be increased by as much as $40,000 per year.

"I've been pushing them to get a decision on it," Engelking said, adding that he is all for the idea and, "I initiated it to start with. I think it's a good idea and we should get the extra earnings where possible."

Engelking said his department is checking with school districts and attorneys to find out if it will be possible to hang on to the earnings, reinvest them and then distribute them perhaps only once a year.

Miss Moon, who asked for the opinion, expressed some concern about its effect on the General Fund income. At present, Endowment Fund earnings go into the General Fund and accrue interest to it until distributed.

"It's going to be very damaging to the General Fund if it's done this way," Miss Moon said. "It's going to make a difference in the General Fund... this could be even more far-reaching and I want to study it further."

Miss Moon declined to say, pending further study of the opinion, whether she planned to challenge it.

Meantime, McDowney said his office is working with Engelking's staff and with Deputy Budget Director D. E. (Skip) Chilberg on implementation of the reinvestment plan.

"This will be coordinated so as not to be detrimental to any budgeting agency or General Fund budget of the state of Idaho," McDowney said, adding nothing will be done until after the next fiscal year.

"We're going to work this out so there is no problem for any one on this."

But he said the Investment Board feels very strongly that it is charged by law with investing the Endowment funds and any investment of those funds prior to distribution to the endowed institutions "should be done by the investment board so the income comes back to the endowed institutions rather than the General Fund."

Chilberg said it appears the plan will result in some loss to the General Fund, but that "I don't think it will be significant enough to hurt the General Fund any."

"It appears from the opinion of the attorney general this was money coming to the General Fund that shouldn't have been," Chilberg said.

In his opinion, Sulter said the legislature gave the Endowment Fund Investment Board authority to formulate the manner and method of investing and reinvesting the endowment funds.

"Additionally, the legislature has expressly authorized the Endowment Fund Investment Board to contract with trustees who may exert control over the endowment funds as though the trustees owned the funds," Sulter said.

Judge's order seals warrants

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI) — Two search warrants pertaining to mass murder suspect Juan V. Corona were withheld from the public and news media today.

Judicial Judge J. J. Hankins Monday granted a motion to seal the warrants by Corona's attorney Corona, a farm labor contractor, is the prime suspect in the murder of 25 transients whose hacked-up bodies were dug up from farmland near the Feather River.

Hankins argued that the release of the information "could be prejudicial to the defendant's having a fair trial."

The judge apparently was unhappy over the furor last week when he allowed newsmen access to the contents of an earlier search warrant, which revealed that deputies had seized a bolo machete, numerous knives, a meat cleaver and a crowbar, post-hole digger and wooden club, all "with possible blood stains," from Corona's home and garage.

Sheriff Roy Whiteaker, meanwhile, said a group of deputies went to Stockton, Calif., to talk to some former Yuba City residents and that Tehama County authorities were investigating the case of a body found New Year's Day, 1970 with marks similar to those on the bodies found in Yuba City.

The full-scale digging for bodies ended during the week end, but the sheriff said digging would resume if good leads were turned up after further study of aerial photographs taken last week.

Corona has pleaded innocent to 10 counts of murder, filed after the first 10 bodies were found.

Connally view hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate opponents claimed today that a study exists which punches holes in Treasury Secretary John B. Connally's bleak picture of what will happen to the nation's economy if Congress lets the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. go bankrupt.

They said the study comes from a biased source—the McDonnell Douglas Corp., one of Lockheed's two competitors—but they insisted its conclusion was valid.

The conclusion is that Lockheed's collapse actually would generate more American jobs than would be lost if Lockheed were allowed to go into bankruptcy, with court-appointed trustees taking over management of the firm.

The study reasons that with Lockheed's L1011 Tristar Airbus no longer in the picture, "The American and world aviation markets would turn to the only existing comparable plane, McDonnell Douglas' DC10."

Since the DC10 is powered by an American-made General Electric Co. engine while the Tristar is to be powered by a British-made Rolls-Royce jet, the study asserts, the demise of the Airbus would create American jobs.

With Connally back on the witness stand before the Senate Banking Committee for a second day today, the economics of McDonnell Douglas' argument were expected to be explored closely.

Connally wants Congress to pass a bill guaranteeing repayment of $250 million in bank loans for Lockheed to save the firm and to allow the Tristar project to go forth.

Washington, D.C. 20554, not later than August 2, 1971. Letters should set out in detail the specific facts which the writer wishes the Commission to consider in passing on the application. The officers, directors and persons holding 10 per cent or more of the stock of the license corporation are: Clarence N. Layne, Virgil Wilson and Holland Houburg. A copy of the application and related material will, following filing, be available for public inspection during normal business hours at main offices, corner Eastland Drive and Elizabeth Blvd., Twin Falls, Idaho.

Only 3 survive

Aid lack figures in crash

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — The crash of an Allegheny Airlines propjet which killed 28 persons could have been prevented if a requested instrument landing system had been installed at the Tweed-New Haven airport, according to the airport's manager.

Only three persons survived the disaster Monday which occurred while the plane's pilot tried to fly visually through fog, flew too low, and crashed.

Visibility was about 200 feet at the end of the runway near New Haven harbor at 9:52 a.m. EDT when the Convair 580 struck chimneys of three empty beach cottages and high tension power lines before it crashed in sandy marshland and exploded.

John Reed, chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board, said the plane was flying too low and hit the chimneys of the cottages.

James Mlarky, manager of Tweed-New Haven, said after the crash an instrument landing system (ILS) could have prevented the accident.

"If an ILS were there, I feel confident... that the pilot would not have been down at that altitude," Mlarky said.

The Federal Aviation Administration said the ILS was not installed because of lack of funds.

Supreme Court alters one-man, one-vote policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court in a pair of decisions spelled out today several exceptions to the one-man, one-vote principle at state and local voting levels.

In an Indiana case, the court reversed a lower three-judge federal panel which had struck down the at-large election of state representatives in Marion County, which includes Indiana.

The lower court, on grounds the at-large procedure diminished the voting strength of Negro residents and violated the one-man, one-vote requirements, ordered the entire state redistricted with each voting district electing one representative and one senator.

In another opinion, the court overturned 7 to 2, a decision by the West Virginia Supreme Court which struck down the state's requirement that a three-fifths majority vote was needed to approve school bond issues which would exceed a state constitutional debt limit.

Sixteen other states have similar provisions in their constitution.

The West Virginia court ruled that requiring approval by more than a simple majority was in violation of the one-man, one-vote concept.

Similarly, the decision in the Indiana state representation case could have impact in other states, particularly Virginia where a suit affecting this year's election is in progress.

Two weeks before adjourning for this term, the court took these other actions:

Voted 5 to 3 that a private individual who becomes involved in a matter of public interest has no more protection against libel than a political or public figure. The decision said in such instances, the person must prove there was knowledge a libelous statement was false or with reckless disregard of whether it was false or not. This is the same yardstick the court applied to public and political figures in past decisions.

Threw out a portion of Florida's loyalty oath which requires state employees to foreswear belief in the violent overthrow of the state and federal governments. The court said, however, a requirement that employees must pledge allegiance to state and federal constitutions was permissible.

Declared unanimously that an 1871 so-called Ku-Klux-Klan federal law allows Negroes to sue and collect damages from private citizens who conspire to deprive them of their rights. A lower federal court in Mississippi had held that the law authorized damage suits only against state or local law enforcement officials.

Agreed to decide next term whether the Wisconsin State Assembly acted constitutionally by ordering the jailing of the militant Catholic priest, the Rev. James E. Groppi, on charges of contempt without giving him opportunity to defend himself from the charge.

Let stand a lower court ruling that a rail union may call selective strikes against a few railroads in an effort to achieve a national agreement. The action opens the way for a possible strike against the Burlington Northern and the Seaboard Coast Line railroads in possibly two weeks by the United Transportation Union.

In the Indiana districting case, Justice Byron R. White spoke for a five-member majority. Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan and Thurgood Marshall dissented.

Anti-war drive launched

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A high-level campaign designed to pressure Congress into ending the Indochina war opened Monday. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield gloomily predicted it would fail.

"The vote you would get a week or two from now is the vote you would get today,"

Mansfield said. "I think the people have their minds made up."

But the lobby of Americans, 2,500 strong and including such notables as the Johnson administration as Clark M. Clifford, Cyrus R. Vance, and Ramsey Clark, hope to rally support for an amendment which would cut off funds for the deployment of troops in Vietnam after Dec. 31.

The lobbyists feel they have 40 solid votes for the Hatfield-McGovern amendment and a dozen possible prospects.

Although no firm date has been set for the showdown vote, there are some indications it will come around June 22. Asked about the prospects of victory on the Hatfield-McGovern amendment, Mansfield said "it will do as good as last year, perhaps better, but whether it can win is probabilistic."

In again calling for a withdrawal deadline, Mansfield told reporters "we have to set a date certain to increase the possible release of the prisoners of war ... otherwise they will remain hostages, their period of incarceration will be increased, and their numbers added to it."

But the Democratic leader conceded that "the only one who can really do it is the President." With little chance of House approval, Mansfield said "all we can do is express an opinion."

Although Nixon does not think it wise to set a deadline, Mansfield said, "I do believe he intends to get out. The trend is irreversible. The question is when and under what circumstances."

Hatfield-McGovern is one of the many amendments proposed as additions to a two-year extension of the draft, legislation that is seriously threatened by a filibuster.

Mansfield said it was "touch and go" whether Congress can

Summer travelers should take time to prepare car

By PETER WEAVER
Planning a summer automobile trip?

Whether it's for three weeks or three days, getting away from it all in your own car can be a delightful and inexpensive experience.

If things go wrong, the experience can be expensive, even dangerous. By investing some time and thought in advance preparations, you can find many a safe and sane vacation bargain along the open road.

Start arming yourself with information: The major oil companies are in hot competition to see which one can give the best tips and trip tickets. Humble (Esso), for example, has a "touring service" which includes custom-marked maps, route information and even sightseeing brochures.

There are no charges for these services and you don't have to be a credit-card holder. Gulf, Texaco, Sunoco and most others have similar services. Just ask your local gas station attendant for "request cards" to be filled out and mailed into touring headquarters.

Local automobile clubs have all kinds of touring information and regional vacation handbooks, but they're usually reserved for members. Hertz has a series of "How to Survive In" booklets covering every conceivable kind of recreational and emergency detail for 28 major cities. They're free, if you can get a friend to pick them up for you at Hertz offices in the cities you plan to visit.

After getting regions and routes mapped out, check with your auto insurance company. Some states have higher liability limits. California has $15,000, $20,000, $5,000 (individual liability, total liability, vehicle damage). New York has $10,000, $20,000, $5,000.

For Canada, you need a "financial responsibility card" and you can get special, short-term insurance. For Mexico, you need a Mexican liability policy. Your insurance company or agent can spell out the details.

To guard against theft or loss of belongings, check your homeowners' (or renters') policy. You might need extra coverage for expensive items like cameras. Also, more than $50 million worth of stereo cassettes and tape decks are expected to be stolen from cars this year. You can get special stereo insurance for around $10 a year (covers up to $200 in losses). Otherwise, you're not covered.

Now, for the car itself. Get a thorough inspection and necessary repairs. According to the National Automobile Dealers Assn., the things most likely to go wrong on a vacation trip are: water pump, air conditioner, electrical system and tires.

Underinflation ruins many a tire and many a vacation. You can get a "Tire Safety and Mileage-Kit," containing a maintenance manual, air-pressure gauge, tread-depth gauge and four spare valve caps, by sending $1.50 to: Thresafety; Box 726; New York, N.Y. 10010. For $3.50, from the same place, you can get a "heavy duty" kit for trailers and campers.

Make sure luggage racks are fastened down tight. Wind pressure can blow loose racks and luggage right off the top of your car. To take the strain off your air-conditioner, drop all windows an inch when starting it up. Let it run for a few minutes to push the hot air out, then roll the windows shut.

For safety's sake, headrests should be behind the head (not neck) and seatbelts and shoulder harnesses should be worn. You may need special safety equipment for small children. Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: A girl signed "WONDERING" asked you how men felt about marrying an unwed mother, and you invited men to write in and tell her. Here's my story:
When I met my wife, she was 18 and five months pregnant. She told me all about herself and even who the baby's father was, but it didn't make one bit of difference to me. We were married a month before her baby was born, and I couldn't love my own flesh and blood more.
I admired this girl for being absolutely truthful from the start. A girl with two strikes against her tries as hard to show her appreciation for being treated with love and respect. I have been married to this wonderful girl for six years and we have had two other children, and I love them all the same.
LUCKY IN WENATCHEE

DEAR ABBY: In starting married life with another man's child, I would consider myself fortunate to have an unwed mother as my intended.
There would be no sessions of private grief for a killed-in-action husband, no trying to keep his memory alive in the child. No problems with previous in-laws or doting grandparents. And there would be no emotional hangovers from a previous marriage that misfired or helping her live down her first love.
As far as I am concerned, unwed mothers are definitely choice material.
FRANK IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR ABBY: I would advise an unwed mother to keep the story of her mistake to herself. I married a girl who had had a child out of wedlock. She told me who the baby's father was and all the details of the whole rotten mess, and I have wished a thousand times that she hadn't told me. If she had made up a story about having been "raped" I would have been much happier.
CAN'T FORGET IN MINNESOTA

DEAR ABBY: Please tell WONDERING not to wonder any more. No man of quality will think less of her for one mistake. I know. I met a lovely little woman, and I fell hard! She knew I was getting seriously, so she confessed that although she had never been married she had a child 6 years old. I met the child, and she was my heart! In less than a year I married the unwed mother and adopted her child. We subsequently had five other children and now have a grand total of 21 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. We have had 55 beautiful years together, and I consider myself the luckiest man in the world.
NO REGRETS IN PENSACOLA

DEAR ABBY: I married an unwed mother 15 years ago, and we now have the most beautiful 16-year-old "mistake" in the world.
PROUD IN ALLENTOWN, PA.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe "WONDERING" would like to hear from a mother whose son married an unwed mother. To me there is no finer lady than my new daughter, Barbie. I also got a beautiful grandbaby in the bargain, which I love as much as my other grandbabies.
When my son married Barbie her baby was 5 months old. There was some ugly talk, but my whole family held their heads high and paid no attention. My new daughter showed her true character by accepting her responsibilities and not lying about her mistake. This has made us love her all the more.
I am proud of my son for being able to accept an unwed mother without shame. I have another son, and if he chooses to marry an unwed mother who is as sweet and nice as Barbie, I would be as proud of him as if he had married a virgin.
HAPPY GRANNY: ATLANTA, GA.
What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

POLLY'S POINTERS
Clean Tube Tops
Are Easier to Remove
By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY: Donna cannot get the lids off her plastic bottles of oil paint because the tops were not cleaned after using. When this happens to me I simply hold the bottle in one hand and with an adjustable pair of pliers in the other gently remove the lid. Once it is off, clean the top well before replacing it.—CLIFFORD

DEAR POLLY: Donna could try submerging the cap and upper part of the plastic oil paint tube in turpentine until it loosens the hardened paint around the cap. This always works for me.—CHERYL

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY: My fingernails tend to snag and break off when I am washing my hair. I have tried many ways to prevent this but without luck. Can anyone suggest a way I can get my hair clean and still save my fingernails?—D. H.

DEAR POLLY: My Pet Peeve concerns package labeling. Now that companies are required to list ingredients, they use blue print on a black background, purple on red or other combinations that are almost impossible to read. Those of us who must know the ingredients for health reasons find this very aggravating.—FLORENCE

DEAR POLLY: I found a wonderful use for a clothes sprinkler. I no longer use as such. It is great for watering plants, washes all the dust off the leaves and makes them look fresher and healthier. Also I use carrot tops instead of ferns when making flower arrangements in the summer. I think they look very pretty and stay fresh for about a week.—MRS. J. O.

DEAR POLLY: I discovered that my husband had washed his work cap and put it on my wig stand to dry. It dried without wrinkles and the cap bill was perfect. With wigs so popular, most people have a Styrofoam head which certainly beats a pan or bowl when washing caps. My son came home on leave from the Marines with work hats to be washed and starched. I put them on the block and they used spray starch which was also great. Our thanks to my husband for thinking of this.—BONNIE

Under water niche for sun bathers

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Think you know the best places for soaking up sun? Think again.
Under water is the newest niche for sun bathers. According to a report on sun tanning in June Harper's Bazaar, even scuba divers can capture the sun's rays and rub the risk of burning without proper skin protection.
The magazine unmasks the myth that water reflects radiation from the sun. Actually, the sun's rays penetrate into the water, reaching underwater swimmers as easily as the bathers on the beach. Surface swimmers and boaters should take special precautions because water offers none of the distractions to radiation that land does.
Where you take the sun governs the time it takes to tan. Atmospheric pollution acts as a sun screen and makes tanning on city rooftops generally slower than in the country or at seaside.
Geography is just as important. Tanning is swifter in the Caribbean, for instance, where the sun passes almost overhead, than in Canada where it pierces the atmosphere at an angle. In any location, noontime tanning works quicker than late afternoon sunning.
Most women devote themselves to a deepened complexion in the summer months, while skin specialists issue annual warnings on the burning and aging effects of the sun without proper care.
A good tan takes time, say the beauty authorities. They advise allotting no more than 20 minutes to the season's first sun bath, with increases of 10 minutes each day.
To some degree, the body provides its own protection to the sun. Ultra violet rays first activate circulation in the skin's lower layers. This causes the skin to thicken and become less susceptible to burning. Next, a darkened pigment, called melanin, is produced and slowly rises to the surface. When it gets there, your tan has started.
Protection produced by the body makes sunning only partially safe. The proper suntan lotions or screens should be selected, according to the experts, for both initial exposure to the sun and for deepening a tan that's already started.

Sweaters

High-necked sweaters are great with the long-tail jumper. Monet suggests topping the sweater with a striking scalloped-plate necklace. Companion drop earrings and a wrist of bright burnished bangles complete the look.

Major stays loyal to service role

NEW YORK (UPI)—When she was a major in the Army Nurse Corps during World War II, Edith Aynes did public relations, working under the direction of the top Army nurse, Col. Florence A. Blanchfield.

Though retired from the service, Maj. Aynes, now administrator of an old folks home in New York, is still loyal to her service role—and especially her old boss, Col. Blanchfield, who died early in May and was buried with full military honors at Arlington National Cemetery.

The former public relations officers, still a nurse, complains that not enough notice was made of the passing of Col. Blanchfield.

Of course, the former head of Army nurses was 88 at the time of her death. For two years she had been confined pretty much to her home, getting about with the aid of a walker. Two broken hips limited her.

She had a chair elevator to get up the little staircase in the home she shared with her widowed sister, Mrs. Ford Orloff, in Arlington, Va., and, after all, she retired many years ago. People do tend to forget one's achievements as the post-retirement years pass. Aging catches up.

Even so, Maj. Aynes repeated that "no one paid enough attention" to the fact that on a recent sunny Monday in May, Col. Blanchfield became what is believed to be the first American woman given full military honors at Arlington.

The band, the volleys in a gunpower salute. The horse-drawn caisson. The officials who came out. The new young nurse officers enthusiastic about their futures. The flag-draped casket, looking majestic as the sun made the scene brighter than the official mourners feel.

Maj. Aynes had her slide projector with her, and showed the pictures—ones she took at the funeral. She also had pictures showing the retired colonel in her chair elevator—a year ago.

HotPants

THIS "HotPants" wedding gown with lace boots may be what many a prospective bridegroom would like to see the bride-to-be dressed in on the day of days. Debbie Friedman who models the outfit here at Norman Wasserman's Bridal Suite, Cincinnati, says the store has yet to sell its first ensemble although they have had the new look for several weeks. It doesn't cost to look, but if it did, Debbie would have a sizable dowry by now. (UPI photo)

Mrs. Osborne heads area wool contest

TWIN FALLS — Director for the District No. 3 of the 1971-72 Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool Competition in Idaho has been named, according to Mrs. Richard Peterson, Idaho Falls, state competition director. Mrs. Allen Osborne, Twin Falls, will head this youth education program directed toward promotion of 100 per cent American Wool fabric and yarn in the District No. 3 counties of Blaine, Camas, Cassia, Elmore, Gooding, Jerome, Lincoln, Mindoka and Twin Falls.

For the first time in the history of the contest, hand-knit and hand-crochet fashions will be admitted in the same categories as the hand-sewn garments, coats, suits and dresses. To enter Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool, a girl must make a wool suit, coat, dress, or pants outfit from wool fabric loomed or knitted in the United States, or from wool yarn spun in America. She must model her own garment before judges and appear in fashion shows beginning at the district level.

The competition is open to all girls regardless of race, creed, or color with the exception of professionals in the field of fashion or clothing construction. Girls always compete with others in their own age group, Sub-Debs, 10-13; Juniors, 14-16, and Seniors, 17-21.

College scholarships, Singer sewing machines, savings bonds, wool fabric lengths, sewing aids and expense paid trips to state and national competitions are awarded to those contestants selected in each competition for excellence of sewing and fashion selection.

June 1 marked the opening of the district contests. Any girl residing within the above mentioned District No. 3 counties can contact Mrs. Osborne, director, for entry forms for MIYWW. Entry forms are also available at fabric stores in the area selling 100 per cent American Wool fabrics and yarns, from school home economics teachers in the local high schools and from county home extension agents.
District No. 3 MIYWW competition will be held Oct. 30 at the Rogerson Hotel, Twin Falls.
Planning a vacation, asks the Idaho State Police. It's a good idea to check your vehicle carefully for equipment defects before starting out. Drive a safe car and drive safely.

A Lovelier You

UPLIFT FOR THIN FIGURES

By Mary Sue Miller

The main factor in an ideal bosomline is uplift. Measurements have to be way out of proportion before the line is lost to beauty, as long as the supporting muscles have firm tone.

Overthin, young figures are often more in need of muscle-building than the plumper types. White exercise seldom increases measurements at the bosomline, it does encourage uplift.

The routine below acts to build a firm, lifted line. To perform you need a sturdy leather strap or belt about two inches wide. This is the routine:

1. Hold the strap high overhead, with your hands slightly more than shoulder-width apart; pull the strap taut and keep it so. By bending your elbows, draw the strap down behind your head to touch your shoulders.

Then fling your arms back to starting position. Go slow on the down-pull, punch the air hard on the upward fling. Repeat 10 times daily for a week and then gradually add 10 more counts.

2. Start as before, with strap taut overhead. Slowly swing your arms in a forward arc until the strap touches your legs. Swing back to starting position; reaching well behind your body. Ten to twenty times should do it.

Do work exactly as directed. Never overdo or you undo your efforts.

YOUR GAIN

Are you too, too thin? And you never can gain an ounce? Send for my leaflet, YOUR GAIN. It shows you how to gain a pound a week by eating the right foods, working with spot increasing routines and having fun. Plus tips on your most flattering clothes. # More wells asked

BURLEY — Supplemental wells for emergency use or further city growth were suggested to the Burley City council Monday night.

Leon Bedke, city engineer, told councilmen that Summer Johnson, of the JUB engineering firm, Boise, recommended a deep well in North Burley on the north side of the river. The engineer was asked to inspect the water system and thought additional water supply is needed for adequate fire protection.

The engineer also recommended pumping water from the suggested north side well to supplement North Burley's water supply in case the pipeline which crosses the bridge from the main part of town should be broken.

He also suggests a well at the south edge of Burley, with overhead storage. There now are three wells which in the summertime are used to near capacity, the report said.

Johnson said the proposed well at the south end of the city, if overhead storage were provided, could be used to fill at night and supplement the daytime use.

Plans were approved for a parade on July 14 during the state posse meet in Burley and on July 18 during the State High School rodeo meet.

Councilmen approved hiring a temporary lineman at $500 per month during the summer to assist John Christian, city electrical engineer. A new foreman will be hired for the parks department, but the selection has not yet been announced.

Councilmen took under advisement a request to make a housing subdivision on a seven acre tract between Burton and Miller Avenues on 24th street, presently owned by the Zion Lutheran Church. Presently there are four homes on the site.

Police Chief Ken Barry was instructed to investigate cost of getting bullet-proof covering for the window in the police station after he told councilmen he feels protection is needed for the desk sergeant.

Multiple use gets support

WENDELL — Majority of residents of four south central Idaho counties favor multiple use of the Sawtooth and White Clouds, according to report by Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, D-Tuttle, Monday.

Ravenscroft based his statement on results of a survey recently completed by the Wood River Resources Area Association, composed of Gooding, Lincoln, Blaine and Camas counties. This survey was made earlier this year by the Resource Association in conjunction with a questionnaire on various topics aimed at use and development in the south central area of the state. Of the questionnaires sent out, 42 per cent were completed and returned to the office of extension leaders in Boise.

According to the tally from the 42 per cent vote cast, only 2.5 per cent of the residents of the four-county area want national park status for either mountain range, Ravenscroft points out.

"Instead," he said "70.7 per cent favor multiple use of the Sawtooths and 63.3 per cent favor multiple use of the White Clouds.

A tour of the Sawtooth Valley is set for Sunday, June 13, to begin at 10 a.m. at the Galena Store. Anyone interested in multiple use of the area is urged to attend. Rep. Ravenscroft will speak at a luncheon at 1 p.m. at the Redfish Lake Picnic area. The tour will continue into the afternoon also.

National forest land, state land and privately owned land will be toured.

For further information, contact may be made by calling Mrs. J.G. Nicholson, secretary, phone 774-3543.

BLM crews readied for fires

SHOSHONE — The Bureau of Land Management fire crews will be activated on Wallace Fixsen, fire control officer, said Monday.

Range is curing and fire danger is expected to increase rapidly in the near future, Fixsen said. Cool weather has held the fire danger quite low so far this spring.

The fire crew will be somewhat smaller this year. The public is requested to be extremely careful with fires, he said.

In the interest of better pollution control, trash burning should be avoided wherever it is possible to use other means of disposal, he said.

Woman hurt in mishap

SHOSHONE — Mary K. Donaldson, Ketchum, escaped serious injury Monday when her station wagon left U.S. Highway 93 about 18 miles north of Shoshone and fell over a 15-foot ledge into rocks.

Mrs. Donaldson had turned to check on her two children riding in the back of the wagon on a mattress. She lost control of the vehicle.

Her husband was driving another vehicle with a trailer, following the station wagon and witnessed the accident. They were moving to the Ketchum area.

The children, Robert, 2, and Jennifer, 1, were not injured. Mrs. Donaldson was taken to Hailey by a passing motorist, treated by a physician and released.

Sherril Thomas W. Conner, who investigated the accident, said the station wagon was completely demolished.

Rupert schools eye levy

RUPERT — By its July meeting, Minidoka County School District's board hopes to have made a decision on whether or not it will ask the district's patrons to approve a five-mill levy.

At its meeting Monday evening, Doyle Lowder, assistant superintendent, told the board if there is to be another levy election, it must be done by the second Monday in September.

He also pointed out that with its advertising requirements, the board would have to make a decision no later than its July meeting on what action it will take.

District's patrons rejected the board's request for a five-mill migrant levy on May 25.

In other action the board: —Decided to let Dr. Darell Hatfield, incoming superintendent, and Garth Baker, meet in July to decide in Baker will be used as part-time teacher and part-time principal at Washington Elementary School. Or if he will be a full-time principal or teacher.

—Agreed to let the district's superintendent handle the problem of who will teach the district's education instead of having the board policy set down on this matter.

—Tabled until July Earl Griffin's request he receive the same salary provisions as last year.

—Were informed by Camden Meyer, superintendent, that so far the district has two teachers in secondary staff they won't have to replace. However, other than that, he said he didn't see how the district was going to reduce its staff.

—Also discussed briefly if the district should cut out or add to its music and sports programs, especially in the seventh and eighth grades.

Trustee zones OK'd in 2nd vote

By GEORGIA LAYTON Times-News Writer

BURLEY — Cassia County School District voters approved a second proposal to realign trustee zone boundaries in a special election Monday by a 560-259 margin.

The vote showed 68.29 per cent of those casting ballots favored the proposal, intended to provide more equal population within the trustee zones.

The next step will be for the board to appoint someone to represent each of the new zones to the board. Supt. Harold Blauer said trustee will meet Monday night for this purpose.

If present members live in the boundaries of the new zones they can be re-appointed, he said, but no current member resides in the new Zone 3, and two members, Bill Matthews and Gene Sorensen, both reside in the new Zone 4.

The vote by precincts, with "yes" ballots listed first:

Almo, 3-57; Albion, 15-8; Declo, 146-12; Burley Junior High School, 88-41; Burley High School, 100-34; Raft River, 28-25; Oakley High School, 75-29;

Southwest Elementary Burley, 79-42, and Beangrowers Warehouse, Milner, 23-9.

Five absentee ballots were cast, with three of those favoring the proposal.

The lawsuit filed this spring by five Burley men, representing other patrons, to force re-zoning of the countywide district, will still be continued, Richard Smith, one of the attorneys for the group, said today.

While the immediate goal of obtaining re-zoning has been obtained, Smith said the long range goal of the suit is to test the constitutionality of the state law on re-zoning. The defect is that the law calling for re-zoning—to equalize population also says the plan must be submitted to the voters.

"You could have a district properly re-zoned, but have voters continually turn it down," Smith said. "Voters could defeat the intent of the law. It is like having citizens vote on an individual's constitutional rights."

Rupert 'Low cost' bus run pondered plat OK'd

By JERRY HERRMANN Times-News Writer

RUPERT — Whether the Minidoka County School District will have a one-bus-run or two-bus-run plan next year is still uncertain.

The district school board at a meeting Monday night tentatively agreed to the district's incoming Supt. Dr. Darell Hatfield's request that it stay with the present two-run system and let him study it and come up with a better one for the following year.

He told the board that if it went with the one-bus system, the elementary student would be in school longer than the secondary school student.

He said also there would be a need for six more buses if the district went to a one-run system. "You are talking about cutting the budget, so I don't know where the money would come from to buy the additional buses that would be needed for the one-run system," he said.

Dave Spreter, told Hatfield the board felt the one-run system, the miles put on the district's buses would decrease. Hatfield then asked, "Do you want to provide a service or economize?"

He also told the board that once he gets here, he wants to take a run over each bus route and have someone show him where the students are picked up on each route. Once this is done, Hatfield feels he will be in a position to make some recommendations to the board on the problem.

The board was reminded by Hatfield that it is always going to have problems with transportation system as it can't please everyone.

Mrs. Leonard Sheets, representative of the bus drivers, told the board if it does decide to go to the one-run system, it will lose half of the drivers.

Spreter then pointed out the time clock the district has put in this year has cost the district $6,000. Mrs. Sheets also told the board the bus drivers feel if they do get the five per cent raise, they still need a new salary schedule to make their salary equitable.

Camden Meyer, superintendent told the board if it wants to go to a one bus run system, it should be put up before the district's patrons for a vote.

Board member Leonard Martin, said the board should follow Hatfield's suggestion. However, he felt something could be done to reduce the number of buses going by several places.

Hatfield also said he feels the students in the outlying area should be picked up at one time and not have two routes.

Spreter then asked Hatfield if it would help him to have a person in the central office to act as transportation superintendent. Hatfield pointed out the district already had one transportation superintendent and with a large fleet the district has, he might need a helper.

It was then decided the board go along with Hatfield's recommendations and see if some of the routes couldn't be changed for this year.

KETCHUM — A plat plan for construction of a 72-unit apartment complex was approved by the Ketchum City Council Monday night.

The complex will include six central units, each housing 12 studio and one-bedroom models and is to be located in the Parkwood Subdivision.

The project, projected by Kon Development Co., San Francisco, is designed for low cost rentals, about $145 per month.

Councilmen also approved issued wine sale licenses to the Golden Rule store in Ketchum and the Sun Valley Shopping Center. The two businesses are the first to receive wine licenses under legislation passed last winter by the state legislature allowing sale of table wine in grocery stores.

A question of liability concerning city sewer maps was raised during the council meeting by Don Bowen, Ketchum. He said he had to extend a sewer ditch some 30 feet to connect with a sewer line which had been placed incorrectly on sewer maps.

Councilmen advised Bowen City Attorney Steve Boller, will check to determine if contracting engineers were liable for the $200 bill Bowen incurred because of the error.

Chris Christensen who plans to construct a home on Lot 5 of Block 28 asked councilmen what steps must be taken to provide him an access road on his property. He was told that a 60-foot wide road could be widened and filled, if he wants to do so.

Several questions were raised by Ross Fitzpatrick, including city plans for street improvement. Councilmen told him the city street department will dust coat most of the streets this summer.

The problem of noise from motor bikes also was pointed out by Fitzpatrick. He raised the question of legality of large numbers of people living in single dwelling units.

He was told the police chief has been instructed to issue citations for motor vehicles creating undue noise and the city attorney will check ordinances regarding laws governing single dwelling units.

Janitors ask wage increase

RUPERT — The proposed salary schedule for the custodians in the Minidoka County School District was accepted by the school board and tabled at its meeting Monday evening.

The salary schedule was presented by Bill Hellewell, district maintenance supervisor, as requested by the board at its last meeting.

Hellewell pointed out to the board the proposed salary schedule for the custodians doesn't have insurance or retirement fees included in it as the districts in the area have.

Camden Meyer, district superintendent, said if the district give the custodians a raise and none to the teachers, they will be worse off than the custodians.

Hellewell disagreed, pointed out that some of his men only take home $300 a month after deductions. Off of this they have to support a family of four or five.

He also pointed out it was very hard to get and keep good men in these positions as they are able to find better jobs and move on.

Board member Leo Moore told Hellewell, "I think you have a good salary schedule here, but don't see how we can take any action on it at present."

The rest of the board agreed and the matter was tabled.

Gooding pays bills

GOODING — Members of the Gooding City Council met Monday night in regular session at the City Hall.

Routine business, including approval of monthly bills, was conducted.

George Stiva, city clerk, said a few building permits also were approved. The largest, he said, was a $12,000 permit for a mobile home and the remainder were for remodeling projects.

Burley fireman fixed up

BURLEY — A former fireman at Burley has rejoined that department as a bookkeeper.

Jay Drussel, who served as a fireman for 20 years, resigned for health reasons. The Burley City Council hired Drussel to work part-time as a bookkeeper Monday evening.

Mayor Garis Robertson said Drussel will receive his full retirement pension of $240 a month. He will also be paid about $280 a month for assisting Fire Chief Otis Williams.

Drussel has paid about $30 a month into the retirement fund over the years, according to the mayor. His combined salary will be slightly less than a full-time fireman's salary, which is $514 a month.

Robertson said Drussel earned his retirement pension, and has paid into it during his 20 years of service.

Mayor Robertson said the fire chief, in addition to his regular duties, also is inspector and issues permits for buildings, gas and plumbing and has long needed an assistant.

"Mr. Drussel is a very capable man and while he cannot handle a fireman's duties because of his back, the city can certainly use his services in helping Mr. Williams in his variety of jobs," the mayor said.

Air pollution index

88

The pollution reading was taken by the staff of the South Central Health District at the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is expressed as the number of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today. Federal pollution regulations require that readings should be kept below 75 micrograms over any 24-hour period, and should not be permitted to rise above 260 micrograms for even a short period of time.

Forecast
 Today: Excellent
 Tonight: Good
 Tomorrow: Good

This forecast provided by the Idaho Department of Health indicates the ability of the atmosphere to disperse pollution. Burning as permitted by law should be continued when the air is poorly able to disperse air pollution.

Air policy assailed by foes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nationwide clean air standards issued by the Environmental Protection Agency April 30 are under attack by other federal agencies seeking to ease their impact on industry.

Administration sources told UPI that officials of the Commerce Department, the Federal Power Commission and other unspecified agencies sharply criticized the standards at a recent White House meeting with EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus.

Asked about the meeting, Ruckelshaus declined to comment. He acknowledged, however, that "we make every agency in government mad" by imposing air and water cleanup rules affecting industries regulated or overseen by Commerce, the FCC, the Atomic Energy Commission, the Transportation Department and the Interior Department.

At the White House meeting, sources said, Commerce officials criticized the clean air standards on grounds they were too strict and would cost business too much.

The FCC argued that there would not be enough "clean" fuel to go around, and said some power plants might have to shut down, cutting off electrical supplies.

The sources said Ruckelshaus defended the standards by pointing out that the 1970 Clean Air Act required them and stipulated that EPA must base them solely on public health needs, not economic factors.

Navy to buy fewer jets to cut cost

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Navy Secretary John H. Chafee, reacting to the soaring costs of the new F14 fighter, will save money by buying fewer planes than originally planned, the Navy said Monday.

The Navy had hoped to get 710 F14 Tomcats, but a Navy spokesman quoted Chafee as saying in an interview, "I would anticipate that the buying of F14 fighters in the next five years would not be as high as originally planned because of the costs."

He did not indicate how many planes would be cut from the order, but Pentagon sources have said the cost overrun is about 25 per cent. Therefore, to stay within the planned $6.3 billion cost for the F14 program, the Navy would have to cancel about 140 planes.

The cost per plane then would rise from about $11.5 million to $14.3 million per plane. The planes will replace carrier-based F4 Panthers, which cost about $3.4 million each.

sponsored Saturday evening banquet with Mrs. Anna Laura Westrum, presiding. Mrs. Harmon, as guest speaker, discussed "Women's Real Liberation."

She said the national organization is striving to gain Congressional endorsement of "equal rights for women." Idaho legislators in Washington have not yet taken a stand, except for Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, who is a co-sponsor of a Senate equal-rights bill, Mrs. Harmon said.

"You in Idaho have a lot of work to do," she emphasized. "Write your Senators and your Representatives, and talk to them in person when they are at home in regard to the proposed bill for equal rights for women."

Women must become educated in order to be "liberated," she added. "Encourage young girls who are finishing high school to enter college, increase their knowledge and develop their skills."

Professional women must "take additional" training courses, learn the latest new skills in order to be prepared and ready when that advancement in position is opened up. There are still many positions in business that are not open to women due to prejudice no matter what degrees you hold. We must work all the time to overcome that prejudice," she said.

The national BPW organization has established a "talent bank" in the Nation's Capital, staffed by paid employees, to compile qualifications, training and work experience of professional women throughout the nation.

At present, Mrs. Harmon said, 22 women's organizations are cooperating in the effort.

New state president Mrs. Ann Wilson told the delegates that "we are as strong as our membership. For the coming year, membership increase is a goal. The career girl is needed in the organization."

"We will progress through work at the club, district and state levels. This in turn assists the national organization," she said.

An Emblem breakfast and memorial service was sponsored on Sunday by the Sun Valley chapter, under the direction of Mrs. McKercher.

Pakistani leader nabbed

CALCUTTA (UPI)—The rebel East Pakistani government confirmed for the first time Monday that its leader who kicked off the secessionist revolt, Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, has been captured and imprisoned by West Pakistani troops. It outlined four conditions for a political settlement of the civil war.

In the growing concern in India for the East Pakistani refugees flooding into the country and the spread of cholera among them, Indian Health Minister Uma Shankar Dikshit told Parliament 1,250 evacuees have died of the disease and 9,500 cholera cases have been reported from the refugee camps as of last Friday.

He said 4,370,000 refugees have crossed the border into crowded India since civil war broke out in predominantly Bengali East Pakistan March 25 when troops from mainly Punjabi West Pakistan entered to put down the secessionist movement aimed at declaring a sovereign nation of Bangla Desh (Bengal Nation).

(In Geneva, the World Health Organization (WHO) announced an emergency airlift of 30 to 40 tons of medical supplies to India for the next eight to 10 weeks to help its fighting against the cholera epidemic. More than two tons of vaccine left Geneva by Air India over the weekend.

The clandestine rebel radio broadcast a statement attributed to acting secessionist President Syed Hazrat Islam admitting the arrest of Rahman, the leader of the Awami League which captured virtually all seats in December's first popular election in East Pakistan.

Until the broadcast, the rebels maintained Rahman had escaped when West Pakistani forces entered the country. It had generally been believed, however, that he had been captured by government troops at his home and imprisoned in West Pakistan.

Rahman was named president of the rebel government when it was formed in April. Islam, the acting president, outlined four conditions for a political settlement to the war: unconditional release of Rahman and other members-elect of the National Assembly who have been arrested; withdrawal of West Pakistani troops; recognition of East Pakistan as the sovereign republic of Bangladesh; and compensation "for losses suffered by the people during the two and a half months of barbarous atrocities by the West Pakistan army."

Grim search ends in Yuba City

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)—Aerial infrared and classified photographs indicate more gravesites, the search for more bodies in the bloody Feather River mass murder has ended.

So far, 25 bodies—all itinerant caucasian farm workers—have been uncovered in a 16-day search along the banks of the river which winds through the irrigated orchards of northern California called the "Peach Bowl of the World."

"We consider the search to be ended," Sutter County Sheriff Roy Whiteaker said Sunday. "We don't plan to do any more digging unless something comes from the infrared photos."

Western Aerial Photos of Redwood City, Calif., took infrared photographs of the 600-acre Sullivan ranch, where all but one of the bodies have been found, and adjacent ranchland. The infrared photos indicate variations in ground temperatures such as those caused by decomposing bodies. In addition, Navy planes took pictures of the area Friday and Saturday. Whiteaker said the pictures were better than infrared and were classified but he would not receive the photographs for several days.

Juan V. Corona, a stocky, handsome, 37-year-old farm labor contractor with a history of mental illness, has pleaded innocent to 10 counts of murder.

Corona had no visitors Sunday to his maximum security cell in the Marysville jail across the river from Yuba City. Guards said he spent the day reading magazines.

On Saturday, Dr. Walter Bromberg, a psychiatrist who examined Jack Ruby, slayer of the assassin of President John F. Kennedy, spent 90 minutes talking to Corona. Bromberg declined comment on the session.

Fruit spray urged

TWIN FALLS—Now is the time to start spraying apple, pear and cherry trees to prevent wormy fruit, according to county extension agent Donald Youtz.

Youtz said that emerged Codling Moths have been trapped by state-federal inspector Dale Tauté, and that the cherry fruit fly is expected to be found any day now. Both insects lay eggs in the fruit which develop into larvae or worms.

Home fruit growers can use malathion or diazin for apples and pears, and perthane for cherry trees. Other chemicals may be used which are registered for control of these insects. The directions on the label should be followed regarding precautions, amount of the chemical to use, and recommended intervals between chemical applications.

Spray schedules for fruit trees may be secured by calling the county extension office in the old hospital building.

Aged man swindled of $2,800

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — An elderly Idaho Falls resident was swindled of his $2,800 savings account by a supposed "bank examiner" May 28, it was learned today.

It was one of four such plays in the Oregon-Idaho region in the past two weeks.

According to Capt. Ralph Hutchins, Idaho Falls police, the man representing himself as the bank examiner told the elderly resident there had been a "manipulation of funds" at the Idaho Falls bank and he wanted to use the victim's savings account to "catch" the guilty party.

The old man was told to withdraw his money and return to his home. Once there, the bank examiner interchanged an envelope containing paper shreds with the envelope containing the $2,800 and left. The elderly man was told "his money would be returned" by the "bank examiner" as soon as the manipulation scheme was settled.

On June 3 the old man reported the case to the Idaho Falls police.

A would-be extortionist failed in a similar ruse at a Portland bank on June 5. Bank officials learned of the scheme and when an elderly depositor showed up accompanied by an unidentified man and began making withdrawals, the bank officials asked the man to step into an office.

The man fled from the bank in a car bearing Washington license plates.

There have also been reports that an extortionist operated in the La Grande and Ontario areas earlier last week.

Tribunal vetoes ban on 'word'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled Monday that display of a common four-letter vulgarism favored by antiwar demonstrators is constitutionally protected speech and may not be made a criminal offense.

Addressing itself for the first time to the use of the word, the court voted 5 to 4 to overturn the conviction of a man for wearing a jacket with the words "Fuck the Draft" on it in a corridor of the Los Angeles courthouse.

Justice John M. Harlan said in the majority opinion. "While the particular four-letter word being litigated here is perhaps more distasteful than most others of its genre, it is nevertheless often true that one man's vulgarity is another's lyric."

He was joined by Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan, Potter Stewart and Thurgood Marshall. Justice Harry A. Blackmun dissented, joined by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice Hugo L. Black. Justice Byron R. White dissented in part.

Yanks end 'active' war role

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. Marines, first American combat troops in Vietnam, have ended their role as a fighting force in the war, military spokesmen said Monday.

American troop strength in Vietnam coincidentally dropped unofficially below 250,000 for the first time in more than five years. The high point was 543,400 in April, 1969, and the official level given Monday was 250,900.

Withdrawals are at the rate of about 14,300 a month. The U.S. command announced the 3rd Marine Amphibious Brigade headquarters, along with support units totaling 1,240 men began packing up Monday. The units included a 585-man military police battalion.

Fewer than 3,000 Marines will remain after the latest withdrawals, most of them in advisory groups. The Leathernecks first arrived in the war zone March 8, 1965, splashing from landing boats onto a beach at Da Nang.

They were met by girls bearing garlands of flowers. Marine strength peaked at 87,000 in March 1969. Based at Da Nang, 360 miles northeast of Saigon, they commanded all U.S. forces in South Vietnam's five northernmost provinces until early last year when command switched to the Army.

Andrus shuffles agency

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus by executive order put the Idaho Human Resources Development Council directly under his office Monday and named Martin L. Pettiford its executive director.

Prior to Andrus' executive order the council was under the State Department of Employment and its executive director was George Blakley.

Blakley will be assigned to another post in the Department of Employment, Andrus announced.

Roy Haney, federal state coordinator for the governor, said Andrus wanted a change of philosophy in manpower programs administered under the totally federally-funded council.

Only Florida still lacks ample agricultural water

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's grain belt apparently has enough water for the time being, a survey indicated today, but the Florida Everglades and the Southwest remain parched. Less than half the normal rainfall has fallen in southern Florida in the past year in what is the state's worst drought. Nearly 10,000 acres burned in a single fire a few days ago and the ecology of the Everglades seriously is threatened.

About three-fourth of Texas is in "severe to extreme" drought and winds and 100-degree temperatures may burn the parched land even more. The spring started out dry in Iowa, and by mid-May much of the seed corn and beans lay dormant in dry clods of dirt. But several days of rain restored the crops to normal. That's what's happened over much of the country. The Agriculture Department and the Weather Bureau said in their latest weekly crop and weather report that soil moisture conditions in the corn belt are good. The soil conservation service said water supplies in the west are "good to excellent" except for parts of the Southwest. In a report on streamflows, the U.S. Geological Survey said water levels returned to normal in Indiana, Missouri, Ohio, West Virginia and most of Arkansas, Louisiana and Illinois. Streamflows there had been unseasonably low.

Nixon pledges interest curb

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon assured housing industry leaders Monday he would try to hold the line on interest rates and provide an adequate supply of mortgage money at rates people can afford.

George Romney, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, told newsmen at the White House that some financial interests were trying to create a false psychology that would drive up the cost of money. He said he planned to keep the ceiling on Federal Housing Administration loans at the current level of 7 per cent. "There has been a lot of speculation in recent weeks that has had unfortunate effects on mortgage interest rates and mortgage-lending activities and which threatens to cut short the current expansion in housing starts," Romney said.

Nixon, Romney and Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson met for more than an hour at the White House with representatives of the National Association of Home Builders to discuss recent increases in mortgage rates. The cost of conventional mortgages has now risen to about 7.5 per cent. John Stastny, president of the association, cited the figures indicating that principal lending agencies for housing construction now have ample funds—an inflow of $18 billion this year compared to $6 billion last year—and said the creeping interest rates were "an aberration in the money market."

He pointed out that housing starts, a key indicator in the general economic picture, had increased from about 1 million last year to a projected annual rate of 1.9 million this year.

Romney quoted the President as saying that a strong homebuilding industry was essential to the "continuing upturn in the economy" and "interest rates at levels that people can and are willing to pay" must be maintained.

Hockey players to get stiffer penalties

MONTREAL (UPI)—National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell has been given a stiffer hand to deal with bench-clearing incidents that occur during major altercations on the ice. This was one of the new rules changes announced Monday at the opening of the 1971 NHL meetings.

Campbell clearly indicated to the joint rules committee that past penalties were not severe enough and he wanted more teeth in the legislation. Now, the first player who leaves his bench while the players already on the ice are involved in a fight also will be handed a game misconduct penalty by the referee, and the team to which the identified player belongs will receive a two-minute bench penalty.

In addition, any other player who leaves the bench to join in the brawl and picks up any penalty from the referee for fighting or roughing as a result of his entering the scene will also be thumbed from the game. In reality, it could be the expulsion of the entire squad except for the six players who were already on the ice.

A few other minor rules changes will come into effect for the 1971-72 NHL campaign. If a goalkeeper receives a penalty during the game his infraction will have to be served by another player already on the ice rather than a player designated from the bench by the coach.

Linesmen have had their powers broadened. They have been given permission to report to the referee any infraction of deliberately delaying the game by the removing of the goalposts. This incident occurred several times this past season but the referee had his vision blocked by a melee of players and he was unable to call the play.

The rules constitution concerning the deliberate removal of the net was made tougher. The referee will now be able to award a penalty shot if the defending goalie pushes his cage from the posts while an opposing player has a clean shot at him.

A proposal was also made to the rules committee to ban curved sticks but the motion was defeated. Two other ideas were left for the Board of Governors and a later meeting. One concerned the number of players allowed to dress for a single contest while the other dealt with penalties against goalies who leave their net when a fight breaks out, even if the netminders just stand around and watch the brawl without actually getting involved.

The sessions continue Tuesday with the intra-league draft when NHL teams can pick off unprotected players from their brother teams at the just-raised price of $40,000 each. Last year, the drafting price for major league personnel was $30,000.

3 grabbed in NHL intra-league draft

MONTREAL (UPI)—Four players, including three goaltenders, were grabbed by National Hockey League clubs Monday in the intra-league draft, conducted as part of the annual NHL meetings being held here.

The California Golden Seals took Gary Kurt from Cleveland of the American Hockey League, the Detroit Red Wings plucked Andrew Brown from the AHL Baltimore Clippers and the St. Louis Blues took Jim McLeod from Portland of the Western Hockey League. The Vancouver Canucks chose forward Irwin Spencer from the new Tidewater club in the AHL.

Players were made available to NHL clubs by AHL and WHL reserve lists for the price of $30,000 each.

In a side deal conducted during the proceedings, Detroit put goalie Roy Edwards on waivers and he was taken for $30,000 by the Pittsburgh Penguins.

Seattle Pilots to pay PCL $150,000

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Owners of the ill-fated Seattle Pilots have been ordered to pay $150,000, plus interest, to the Pacific Coast League, it was reported Monday.

The award was made by federal judge Sidney Vilnius, referee in the Pilots' bankruptcy case, during which the baseball franchise was sold to Milwaukee Brewer interests.

Pacific Northwest Sports, Inc., operator of the Pilots, had promised to pay the league $300,000 for the Seattle territory when the American League team was created in 1969.

The club made payments totaling $150,000. But, when the Pilots were sold, the owners said they should be free of the obligation.

The judge's ruling meant the $150,000 difference, plus between $10,000 and $20,000 interest, depending on when it is paid, would go to the Pacific Coast League.

The Pilots were sold to Milwaukee for $10.8 million last year.

"Justice was served," was the reaction of Bill McKechnie Jr., president of the league, when told of the decision at his Phoenix Ariz., headquarters.

"Our claim was just to complete the original deal and had nothing to do with the Pilots being sold," he said.

Attorneys for the Pilots said that legal entanglements over the selling of the club are now nearly 90 per cent straightened out.

5 agree to play for benefit

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Five more professional basketball players have agreed to play in the third annual Martin Luther King Benefit game here June 20 as part of Black Expo '71.

The five players are Zelmo Bealy and Willie Wise of the American Basketball Association champion Utah Stars, Walt Hazzard of the NBA Atlanta Hawks, Jimmy Jones of the ABA Memphis Pros and Cincy Powell of the ABA Kentucky Colonels.

The additional players bring to 14 the number who have agreed to participate in the game, scheduled for the Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Other participants previously announced include ABA players Mel Daniels, Freddie Lewis and Roger Brown of the Indiana Pacers, Steve Jones and Don Freeman of the Texas Chaparrals, Rick Barry of the New York Nets and Joe Caldwell of the Carolina Cougars plus NBA players Walt Frazier of the New York Knicks, Earl Monroe of the Baltimore Bullets and Connie Hawkins of the Phoenix Suns.

Ex-player found dead

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Bruce Gardner, voted the most valuable college baseball player of 1960 for his 40-5 pitching record, was found dead of an apparent suicide Monday, 15 feet from the pitching mound at his alma mater, the University of Southern California.

Clutched in his right hand was his USC degree and near his body was a plaque proclaiming him NCAA All America, police said. A .38-caliber revolver was gripped in his left hand. There was one bullet hole in his left temple.

Detectives said a suicide note was found. Its contents were not made public.

Gardner, 32, who played four years for the Los Angeles Dodgers minor league clubs, was single. For the past six months he had been a physical education teacher at Dorsey High School where he coached the junior varsity to the league championship.

Laver survives in tennis event

BRISTOL, England (UPI)—Rod Laver, looking sharp after a three week rest at his Californian home, needed just 37 minutes Monday to beat fellow Australian Fred Stolle in the first round of the $48,000 Willis Open tennis tournament.

Laver, the third seed for a tournament he never has won and which carries a $10,000 top prize, whipped Stolle 6-1, 6-2. He allowed his opponent 15 points in each set.

Included in the field for the World Championship Tennis tournament were Nikki Pilić, the defending champion from Yugoslavia; Tom Okker of the Netherlands and Ismael El Shaefi of Egypt. There were among six players suspended at the weekend from International Federation events for failing to show up for the French Open in Paris.

Pilić's first round match against top seed John Newcombe of Australia was postponed 24 hours because he was late arriving from Germany where he was taken ill over the weekend.

El Shaefi bowed 4-6, 6-4, 6-4 to fourth seeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, while Okker, the fifth seed, beat Australia's Bill Bowrey, 6-2, 6-2.

Dennis Ralston, one of five Americans in the 32-man tournament, had an in-and-out match in turning back Brian Fairlie of New Zealand 6-3, 1-6, 6-3, in 75 minutes.

The big-serving Californian from Bakersfield, who won the title in 1965, seemed to have the measure of his 22-year-old rival when he won the first three games and went on to take the set without any resistance.

But Ralston suddenly lost his touch and Fairlie stepped in to reel off five straight games for the second set and the loss of only seven points.

Ralston, 29, looked rocky in the opening stages of the decider but a service break in the fourth game gave him the initiative and he held on for victory.

The first round losers earned $500 each.

Big-serving Charlie Pasarell of Sanituce, P.R. and sixth seeded Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill. were two other Americans to win, while Bob Lutz led his Californian teammate Roy Barth by a set when their match was called because of a damp court.

Pasarell turned back Frew McMillan of South Africa, 7-5, 7-5, while Riessen disposed of Australia's Phil Kent, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Riessen ran through the first set and stood at 3-0 in the second, but then his form suddenly deserted him and he was broken in the eighth game, to lose the set and leave the match square.

It was nip and tuck in the decider, but Riessen got the vital break in the eighth game when Dent served two double-faults.

Lutz found difficulty in switching from clay to grass and trailed 0-3 and 3-5 against Barth. He then found his touch and allowed his opponent only six further points in wrapping up the set. They'll resume Tuesday.

Mexico still in contention

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Mexican national tennis champion Joaquín Loyo Mayo dazed New Zealand's Jeff Simpson with a combination of dropshots and lobs Monday to propel Mexico into the final of the American Zone in Davis Cup competition.

Loyo Mayo needed just over one hour to turn back Simpson in three straight sets 6-3, 6-3 and 6-2 in the last and deciding match of the New Zealand-Mexico series to give the home team a 3-2 victory.

Man hurt at Indy improves

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Dr. Vincente Alvarez of Buenos Aires, injured critically in an accident at the start of the Indianapolis 500-mile race May 29, took a turn for the better Monday.

Dr. T. A. Hanna, physician for the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, described Alvarez' condition as "definitely improved" and said he had regained consciousness after being in a coma for about a week.

"The outlook for his recovery is very hopeful," Hanna said.

Alvarez was one of more than 20 persons hurt when the race car hit a three-tiered temporary stand for photographers as it swung into the apron after leading the 33 cars around the track for the ceremonial laps.

Eldon Palmer, an Indianapolis auto dealer driving the car, said he failed to brake in time because a landmark pole he had used in countless practice sessions was missing on race day.

Indianan leading for U.S. Open

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Sam Carmichael, a golf course operator at Martinsville, Ind., led the field of qualifiers for the U.S. open with a three-under par 130 over the Cloverbrook Country Club here Monday.

One stroke back was Steve Wilkinson of Columbus who shot a pair of 70s as four men qualified for the tournament to be held June 17-20 at the Merion Country Club in Philadelphia.

Carmichael, a former member of the pro tour, fired rounds of 60 and 70. Other qualifiers were Jim O'Hern, a pro from Goshen, Ky., who had a 72 and 69 for a 141, and Harcourt Kemp, a stockbroker from Louisville, who carded rounds of 73 and 60 for a 142.

$1919***
Pinto 2 door
$66 less than VW 113

$2175***
Maverick 2 door
$176 less than Nova 2 door

The little carefree car. Pinto is sized small, like the economy import, but it's bigger on value. And price is only the beginning. Pinto calls for only half as many oil changes as VW. One-sixth the chassis lubes. So easy to service that you can do most routine maintenance yourself. And Pinto is bigger on performance. It has a 75-hp engine that has averaged over 25 mpg in simulated city/suburban driving. Sports-car type rack-and-pinion steering. Wider stance and lower silhouette.

The Simple Machine. Maverick's price makes it simpler to own than Nova. But that's not the only reason we call it the Simple Machine. Maverick's simple to drive and park because of its shorter wheelbase and smaller turning circle. Simple to service because it's been designed that way. Maverick offers a 4-door sedan for a low price of $2235* ($145* less than Nova 4 door). Or choose the sporty Grabber model. A choice of an economical V-8 and three thrifty Sixes.

*Ford's suggested retail price for Pinto and Maverick. However, the models shown are equipped with accent group (Pinto $60; Maverick $52) and white sidewall tires ($29). Destination charges, dealer preparation charges (if any), state and local taxes are extra.

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A bases-loaded walk to Ted Ford in the fifth inning Monday night gave the Cleveland Indians a 3-2 exhibition victory over the Cincinnati Reds in a game called because of the rain with the Reds at bat in the sixth inning.

After Cincinnati tied the score with two unearned runs in the fourth inning, starter Milt Wilcox gave up singles to Lou Camilli and Ken Harrelson in the fifth. The 21-year-old right-hander walked Ken Suarez with two out to fill the bases and followed with a free pass to Ford.

Roy Foster singled home Chuck Hinton with the first

Cleveland run in the second inning a throwing error by second baseman Woody Woodward allowed Camilli to score from third in the third.

Cards beat Braves 7-6 in 10 innings

ATLANTA (UPI) — Matty Alou, hit by a pitched ball on a controversial call, stole second and then scored on Ted Simmons' single with none out in the 10th inning Monday night to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 7-6 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

The triumph, which kept St. Louis in first place in the National League East, a half game ahead of Pittsburgh, went to Moe Drabowsky who worked the last two innings in relief. Bob Priddy took the loss.

St. Louis, trailing 6-2, rallied for four runs in the ninth to tie the score. Simmons, Joe Torre and Joe Hague all singled to load the bases before Ted Sizemore and Gerry McNertney each followed with two-run doubles.

The Braves snapped a 2-2 tie in the seventh with a three-run outburst. Zolo Versalles, recently called up by Atlanta from the Mexican League, started the rally with his second double and fourth hit of the game. He scored when Hague overthrew third base on a sacrifice bunt by pitcher Ron Reed.

Reed went to second on the misplay, advanced to third on Ralph Garr's fourth hit of the game and scored on a wild pitch by reliever Frank Linzy.

Garr tallied the final run of the inning when Hank Aaron, who also collected four hits, doubled him home.

The Braves jumped out in front in the first inning when Garr doubled with one out and scored on Aaron's first double. The Cards, tied in the fifth when pitcher Mike Torrez doubled home Sizemore who had singled with two out.

St. Louis moved ahead in the sixth when Torre singled home Alou. The Braves tied in the bottom of the sixth when Garr led off with a double, moved to third on Aaron's single and scored on Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly.

The Braves added their sixth run in the eighth when Versalles, who led off with a single, scored on a wild pitch by Rudy Arroyo.

Lou Brock 'Player of Month'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — St. Louis Cardinals outfielder Lou Brock Monday was named National League Player of the month for May.

The league office said Brock was chosen by a panel of 60 baseball writers and broadcasters who participate in the monthly poll.

In one of the most competitive polls in the 13-year history of the award, Brock received only 24 of the 60 votes cast as the panel recognized 12 players for their performances.

But Brock had a comfortable margin on Larry Dierker of Houston who was runner-up with eight votes. Willie Davis of Los Angeles was third with seven.

New York, Milwaukee make trade

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Yankees obtained outfielder Danny Walton from the Milwaukee Brewers Monday for first baseman-outfielder Frank Tepedino and minor league outfielder Bob Mitchell. Mitchell will remain with the Yanks' Syracuse farm club on option to the Brewers. Walton and Tepedino are both 23 years old and both had been considered top prospects. Walton was the minor league player of the year in 1969 at Houston's Oklahoma City farm team when he hit .332 with 25 homers and 119 RBIs. He was traded on Aug. 31, 1969 to Seattle with Sandy Valdespino for Tommy Davis, who went to Houston. Walton hit .217 at the end of that season with Seattle and then was an immediate star with the Brewers at the start of 1970 when the franchise was shifted to Milwaukee. But he faded at the end of the year and wound up with a .257 average and 17 homers. This season his average had tailed off to .203. Tepedino was called up from Syracuse last Wednesday by the Yanks. He had batted only six times this year with the Yanks and had failed to hit. Tepedino hit .316 in 16 games with the Yanks last year and .355 in 31 games with Syracuse. He had been considered one of the top hitting prospects in the Yankee organization.

Freddie Steinmark, ex-defensive back for Texas, dies of cancer

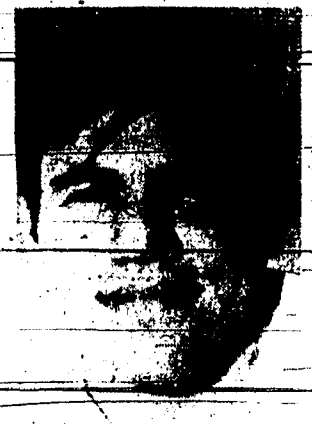

HOUSTON (UPI)—The body of former University of Texas football player Freddie Steinmark was flown home to Colorado Monday for burial. Steinmark, the 5-10, 166-pound man who played defensive back on the 1969-70 national champion Longhorn team, died Sunday of cancer. He was 22. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Steinmark of Wheat Ridge, Colo. His father is a detective in the Denver Police Department. Funeral arrangements have not been completed. Steinmark lived for about a year and a half after he reached the height of his college football career, a win over Arkansas before President Nixon and a national television audience which gave the Longhorns the national championship. A week after that game Steinmark asked team doctors to find out what was causing pain in his left thigh. X-rays revealed a tumor and the leg was amputated. Just after the amputation, Steinmark recovered rapidly and returned as a student and assistant coach on the UT-Austin campus. He returned periodically for checkups at M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston and until seven weeks ago had successfully fought the malignancy. On April 20 doctors found indications the disease—called a malignant sarcoma tumor—had spread above the thigh and Steinmark was readmitted to the hospital. He had been listed in critical condition from April 20 until his death. Texas Coach Darrell Royal said he will be in Colorado to pay last respects to his former player, of whom he once said: "I suspected he had 150 pounds of heart. My suspicions were correct." Monday Royal said he will be at the funeral "wherever or whenever it is. Freddie was a courageous young man, and the example he set while on the campus of the University of Texas will be a guideline for others to follow for many years." Fred Akers, defense secondary coach at Texas, said Steinmark's family asked that friends not visit him in the hospital during the last few weeks "because it might alarm people."

"This is a tragic thing. Even though we knew Freddie was serious, we all had as much hope as we could have. If you were around the little guy, you had to feel the same way he did, and he was never without hope. It is a big loss...we loved him very much," Akers said. Steinmark started every game for the Longhorns during his sophomore and junior years, despite his small size. After the surgery on his leg, Steinmark recovered quickly enough to attend the 1970 Cotton Bowl game New Year's Day and stood on the sidelines as his teammates came from behind to beat Notre Dame 21-17. Fitted with an artificial leg, he soon broke 50 for nine holes of golf, something he had not been able to do before the operation. Steinmark became a symbol of courage during his one and a half year fight. A national outpouring of praise for his courage lasted throughout the ordeal. He was praised on the floor of the U. S. Senate and by college and professional football teams throughout the country.

Balloting by fans for all-star team released

NEW YORK (UPI)—Shortstop Luis Aparicio of the Boston Red Sox was a surprise leader Monday in the early balloting released by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for the 1971 American League All-Star team conducted among baseball fans across the nation. The voters seemed unconcerned for Aparicio's batting average which is hovering far below the .200 mark as they gave him 19,434 votes for the shortstop position over 7,062 for California's Jim Fregosi. Another major surprise in the early balloting was the poor showing of Kansas City's Cookie Rojas. Rojas, who has ranked among the top batters in the American League all season with an average of well over .300, was a distant sixth among the league's second basemen, Minnesota's Rod Carew, who has been hitting below .250, was the second base leader with 18,878. Rojas polled only 3,180 votes. Familiar faces dominated the remaining positions. Detroit's Bill Freehan was the leading vote-getter at catcher with 15,181, just over 2,000 votes better than Ray Fosse of Cleveland. The top three outfielders were Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, Minnesota's Tony Oliva and Baltimore's Frank Robinson. Yastrzemski polled 31,645 for a wide margin over Oliva's 19,707. Robinson was not far behind Oliva for the A.L. batting lead, was fourth with 14,993. Baltimore's Brooks Robinson, an All-Star fixture at third base for most of his career, again appeared headed for the starting nod for the American Leaguers. Robinson had 27,818 to Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew's 13,266. Killebrew undoubtedly has been hurt by being submitted as a write-in for first base. Baltimore's Boog Powell held a wide lead over Detroit's Norm Cash at first base with 28,458 votes to the Tiger veteran's 8,047. The 1971 All Star Game will be played in Detroit, July 13 and the pitchers and substitutes will be chosen after the final balloting by managers Earl Weaver of the American League and Sparky Anderson of the National League. Kuhn announced that the first National League returns would be released Friday.

The breakdown of the American League All-Star balloting is as follows: First base: Boog Powell, Baltimore, 28,458; 2. Norm Cash, Detroit, 8,047; 3. George Scott, Boston, 5,182; 4. Danny Cater, New York, 2,821; 5. Carlos May, Chicago, 2,708; 6. Mike Epstein, Oakland, 2,191. Second base: 1. Rod Carew, Minnesota, 18,878; 2. Dave Johnson, Baltimore, 8,759; 3. Dick McAuliffe, Detroit, 8,258; 4. Mike Andrews, Chicago, 4,949; 5. Horace Clark, New York, 3,958; 6. Cookie Rojas, Kansas City, 3,180. Third base: 1. Brooks Robinson, Baltimore, 27,818; 2. Harmon Killebrew, Minnesota, 13,266; 3. Rico Petrocelli, Boston, 3,857; 4. Aurelio Rodriguez, Detroit, 2,560; 5. Sal Bando, Oakland, 2,377; 6. Tommy Harper, Milwaukee, 1,491. Outfield: 1. Carl Yastrzemski, Boston, 31,645; 2. Tony Oliva, Minnesota, 19,707; 3. Fred Lewis, New York, 12,757; 4. Frank Howard, Washington, 12,146; 5. Al Kaline, Detroit, 8,120; 6. Reggie Jackson, Oakland, 6,519; 7. Reggie Smith, Boston, 5,414; 8. Roy White, New York, 3,502. Catcher: 1. Bill Freehan, Detroit, 15,181; 2. Ray Fosse, Cleveland, 12,064; 3. Thurman Munson, New York, 8,707; 4. Elrod Hendricks, Baltimore, 4,759; 5. Ed Herrmann, Chicago, 3,200; 6. Paul Casanova, Washington, 2,104.

Gonzales seeks Wimbledon title

NEW YORK (UPI)—The first thing you notice about Pancho Gonzalez are his eyes. They don't only reach out and grab you, they hold you. They have a hard narrow set about them similar to that you're likely to find in many other professional athletes who keep looking into the sun all the time and merely looking at them you get the idea right away they aren't the kind that figure to gush big crocodile tears if they happen to see something like, say, Love Story up there on the movie screen. Pancho Gonzalez has never pretended to rank with the great sentimentalists of our time. He's a practical man. Generally any time he does something you can bet there's a purpose. He isn't one, for example, to go off on some sentimental journey. Nonetheless Pancho Gonzalez is dragging his somewhat weary 43-year-old bones to London tomorrow on what can only be described as a labor of love rather than any mission for money. Pancho Gonzalez is going over to try to win the Wimbledon singles tennis title. The winner gets roughly $3,000 and there are some pro golfers who don't even change their stacks for pin money like that, but Gonzalez is going over for an entirely different reason. To him the Wimbledon singles crown is what the U.S. Open is to Sam Snead and what the world basketball championship is to Wilt Chamberlain. Pancho Gonzalez has never won the Wimbledon title. Oh, what he'd give to win it now. You may have the vague idea that somewhere along the line you heard Gonzalez say he was retiring from competitive tennis, and really there is nothing wrong with your hearing, but it turns out what Gonzalez actually said was he simply intends limiting his appearances. "I'm at the point now where I'm picking my tournament spots and Wimbledon is one," he said.

There was a time Pancho Gonzalez was the world's No. 1 tennis player. He isn't anymore, Rod Laver is, but there's always the lingering feeling that maybe he can get the adrenalin working sufficiently so that he can knock over Laver the way he did once last year, and that in itself can keep a man going for awhile. Who knows, he says to himself. It could happen again at Wimbledon, couldn't it? Gonzalez doesn't try to hide the fact he has to make certain concessions on the court because of his age. "I have been for the last three years," he says. "The fact I've been able to win certain events surprises me, but I'm always hopeful and I try to get into the best shape I can." There are certain little tricks a man can use. "I lob a lot more than I used to," Gonzalez says. "Most of the young players don't have a technique for lobbing. In a lot of cases it's a tiring shot for the fellow on the other side of the net, lob after lob after lob, and it also keeps your opponent from closing into the net so much. If you can keep him backing up just a little bit, it'll not only keep him off balance but eventually it'll make your passing shot more effective." Pancho Gonzalez used to be almost as famous for his explosive temper as he was for his explosive serve, but those old flare-ups of his only make him laugh now. "As a youngster you do some of those things without realizing them," he says. "Then when you get halfway through your career you may tend to ham it up a little bit, and as you get older you realize you don't have the energy to spend on acting like that. When you get older you have to get less excited. Excitement uses up energy. Nervous tension just works you up, so you try to slow everything down to a medium tempo." Gonzalez can hit more shots now than he ever could. Getting to the ball though is another

Joins 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) Jake Jones, of Assumption College in Worcester, Mass., has signed a contract with the Philadelphia 76ers, it was announced Monday. Jones, a native of Neptune N.J. and the 76ers' sixth draft choice, averaged 18.3 points a game during the past season. Don DeJardin, general manager of the 76ers, also announced the signing as a free agent of Ron Krayl, of Soux Falls, S.D.

Whitewash Kings

Grover Cleveland Alexander holds the National League record for lifetime shutouts with 90. Christy Mathewson had 83 and Warren Spahn 65. Going into the 1970 season, Juan Marichal was tops among active pitchers with 46. matter. "When I get tired physically out on the court," he laughs, "I just look at myself and stay what am I doing out here." The truth is that medium tempo doesn't ever figure to beat Rod Laver. For Pancho Gonzalez the hope now is that... maybe... maybe... maybe it might.

Airport completion date set

TWIN FALLS — Under the present schedule the main runway at the Twin Falls City County Airport should be replaced and ready for use by Hughes Air West Jets and other heavy aircraft no later than October 1 after having been closed to such traffic starting about August 1. It was announced today by O.A. (Gus) Kelker, airport commission chairman.

Kelker said that the runway project schedule was revealed by City Manager Jean Milar and City Engineer George Michaels. Under present plans the bids for the improvement will be reviewed by city and county officials on June 18 and will be recommended to members of the City Council and county commission on June 21, which is a regular council session night. Then the meeting will adjourn until June 28 at which time an agreement will be signed with the Federal Aviation Administration. This would permit the contract to be awarded July 1 with work to start within 10 days.

By starting the project on the west end of the main 25-7 runway, the heavy planes could operate into and out of the field for two to three weeks after work gets underway. After this initial work reaches a point where heavy plane landings are no longer feasible, the runway will be completely closed for a period of some six weeks.

Kelker said Milar "hoped that the runway could be in use again by Sept. 15 and in any event no later than Oct. 1." This schedule would include completion of high intensity landing and runway lights and related projects.

The cost of the improvement of the main runway will total approximately $52,000 in city, county and state and federal funds.

Connally declares Congress must save Lockheed from bankruptcy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Treasury Secretary John B. Connally testified Monday that Congress must save the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. from bankruptcy within 40 days or see the nation's economy go sour.

He said defense costs would soar, unemployment rise, tax collections fall, and competition in the air and defense industries diminish.

Connally opened the Nixon administration's effort to convince Congress to guarantee repayment from the Treasury of $250-million worth of bank loans if Lockheed fails. He ran into a barrage of hostile questions from opponents.

With even some conservative Republicans against it, the proposal is in jeopardy. Even Connally gives it only a 50-50 chance. But the Democrats, who control Congress, are sensitive to being accused of fostering unemployment. That could blunt their opposition.

Under questioning for nearly two hours in a hot and crowded Senate Banking Committee hearing room, Connally indirectly acknowledged that $250 million may not be enough to save Lockheed, one of the big three plane manufacturers and the nation's No. 1 defense contractor.

In a concession his opponents were looking for and may use against him, he said the bill was drafted not "as a general Lockheed relief bill" but in such general terms that the administration could return for another loan guarantee for Lockheed or another firm.

But he also expressed confidence that the $250 million would prove to be enough, that the proposal was "costless" for the government, and that the bank loans would be repaid by September, 1974.

Connally ruled out a suggestion that Lockheed be required to buy engines for its L1011 airbus from General Electric or Pratt & Whitney, the leading U.S. jet engine makers, instead of from Britain's Rolls-Royce Ltd. He said another engine would raise Lockheed's costs by $100 million.

Lockheed said its bankers, who already have advanced the firm $400-million, would lend no more without a government guarantee of repayment, prompting the administration proposal to Congress.

Murder probe expanded

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)—Sutter County sheriff's officers Monday expanded their investigation of the Yuba City mass murders to other communities in Northern California where former Yuba City residents now live.

Sheriff Roy Whiteaker said a group of deputies went to Stockton, Calif., to talk to some former residents he did not identify.

The full-scale digging for bodies ended Saturday with the count of corpses unearthed from the banks of the Feather River standing at 25.

In nearby Tehama County, officers investigated the case of a body found in a river near Corning on New Year's Day 1970 which had marks similar to those on the hacked bodies found in Yuba City.

Whiteaker has said he does not know if there was any connection with the Yuba City slayings.

Whiteaker cut his deputies staff working on the case Monday from a high point of 23 down to 12. He said digging would resume if good leads are turned up but that further study would be required of aerial photographs taken last week.

Included were pictures made by two secret Navy planes, and some infrared photographs taken by a civilian aerial survey firm.

Corona has pleaded innocent to 10 counts of murder, filed after the first 10 bodies were found. He is to appear at a preliminary hearing June 16.

Only 15 of the 25 bodies, all white middleaged farm workers, have been identified so far.

Woman, 24, jailed

POCATELLO (UPI)—Kathy DeLate, 24, Pocatello, was sentenced to six months in Bannock County Jail Monday on charges of drug abuse, possession of LSD and salt of marijuana.

In a concession his opponents were looking for and may use against him, he said the bill was drafted not "as a general Lockheed relief bill" but in such general terms that the administration could return for another loan guarantee for Lockheed or another firm.

Audie Murphy laid to rest

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Audie Murphy, who won every medal the Army gives for gallantry, was buried under two oak trees at Arlington National Cemetery Monday. President Nixon said his heroics symbolized the bravery of all American fighting men.

A film actor and then a businessman after becoming the most decorated soldier in World War II, Murphy was buried with military honors in the sprawling cemetery across the Potomac River from the capital.

His widow, Pamela, and sons, Terry, 18, and James, 16, looked on as an honor guard fired three rifle volleys, a bugler sounded Taps and six military pallbearers removed the flag from his casket and gave it to Mrs. Murphy.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army chief of staff, attended and President Nixon sent his Army aide, Lt. Col. Vernon Coffey, to representing him.

"As America's most decorated hero of World War II, Audie Murphy not only won the admiration of millions for his own brave exploits, he also came to epitomize the gallantry in action of America's fighting men," Nixon said in a statement. "The nation stands in his debt and mourns at his death."

Murphy, 46, killed May 28 in

Cox to work for $60 week in office

NEW YORK (UPI)—Edward Finch Cox, who will marry Tricia Nixon at the White House Saturday, went to work Monday as a $60-a-week assistant in the office of U.S. Attorney Whitney North Seymour Jr.

Cox, was one of 40 Harvard Law School students who reported to the U.S. attorney's office for the Southern District of New York. They will participate in a program which will give them first-hand knowledge of criminal and civil cases.

A spokesman said Cox was assigned primarily to work with Assistant U.S. Attorney Edward Shaw on tax evasion cases. He also plans to explore other areas, including Hudson River pollution, low-income housing problems, and consumer fraud.

Reporters asked Cox when he is going on vacation, and he replied that he will start it right after the wedding and return on the Tuesday following July 4. He said he expects to live on his salary.

Rep. McClure backs plan for Sawtooth area

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, a member of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, said in testimony today he favored a recreation-only proposal for the Sawtooths.

McClure told a hearing on legislation to create the Sawtooth recreational area that he was supporting the recreation-only proposal because "it is absolutely imperative now — and this bill is not surrounded by that controversy which will delay its acceptance."

But McClure also said he believed a "properly formulated" park and recreation bill could gain acceptance among the people of Idaho at some time in the future. He indicated he believed that one day the Sawtooth primitive area and the adjoining public lands to the east would be placed in a national park, protected and supplemented by a national recreational area covering the approaches and the valley floor.

Injuries may cripple cycle rider

POCATELLO (UPI)—An 18-year-old Pocatello youth must have his left leg shortened following a traffic accident here Saturday night.

Charges are pending against two other Pocatellians.

Harley Bergendorf was riding a motorbike on South 4th Ave. about 9 p.m. Saturday when he was struck by a car carrying Clay Roselle, 22, and Roy Bell, 20, both Pocatello.

Police said the car was traveling at least 60 miles per hour at the time of the accident.
