Senate backs Army pay hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate approved a military pay raise Tuesday that would up the basic pay for a raw recruit to $301.50 per month and, with other allowances, swell his annual income to $5,328.43.

The $2.6 billion pay increase is designed to attract enough volunteers into the service to eliminate the draft.

The House version differs in the way the money would be divided, however, with lower grade servicemen getting only about 60 per cent of the total increase.

Tuesday's 51 to 27 Senate vote was in the form of an amendment to legislation that would extend the draft for two years beyond its scheduled June 30 expiration date. It was a victory for volunteer Army advocates, who only last week lost a similar vote.

The Senate's action practically guarantees that Congress, despite its advertised mood of holding the line on defense expenditures, will have added $1.6 billion to the defense budget for the business year which starts July 1.

This means that the $76 billion defense budget—which included Nixon's original $1 billion military pay increase request, becomes a $77.6 billion budget before Congress starts examining it for areas to trim.

First and second year men would be the primary beneficiaries of Tuesday's action. A recruit, who now gets $3,245.87 a year in pay and allowances, would receive $5,328.43 a year when the new raises are in full effect, exclusive of regular cost of living allowances now granted to all U.S. employees.

Hanoi holds to POW condition

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House says Communist negotiators in Paris were sticking "very hard" to the official position that they would only agree to discuss—not to pledge—release of American POWs in response to a firm date for U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

Clifford based his statement on various persons whom he declined to identify. He did not say whether he had contact with Communist negotiators.

Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., told a news conference he conferred in Paris with the second-ranking member of the Viet Cong delegation to the peace talks and was told that the Viet Cong would release the American prisoners.

President Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, made the comment in reply to reporters' questions about separate reports Tuesday that the Vietnamese Communists might be willing to promise to free prisoners of war quickly after a U.S. pullout announcement.

Clark M. Clifford, defense secretary in the latter part of the Johnson administration,

TEMPERATURES soared into the 90's in St. Louis early this week, but these children utilized the spraying geyser from a fire hydrant to cool off by spraying themselves and the surrounding area with water. In marked contrast to the humid, hot city on the banks of the Mississippi, the Magic Valley had cool temperatures and at least partly cloudy skies today. (UPI)

U.S. lags on stations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is at least a year and a half away from matching the current Soviet space station feat, but there has been very little apparent outcry or pressure to speed the U.S. space timetable.

The space agency is not particularly excited about the Soviet project since it knew for some time Russia's program was headed in that direction. The general feeling in the space bureaucracy seemed to be a shade higher than ho-hum, and there was a notable lack of comment on capitol hill as well.

Interest rate hikes readied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Evidence mounted today that the Federal Reserve system was prepared to tighten its money policy in an effort to head off a new escalation in inflation. One result would be rising interest rates.

The decision may have been made already. The agency withholds announcements of many of its most important decisions for 90 days to cushion the impact on the stock market and other financial markets.

Mining buffer assailed

BOISE (UPI) — Secretary of State Pete T. Cenarrusa today accused Gov. Cecil D. Andrus of dragging the State Land Board into environmental politics.

Cenarrusa, lone Republican on the five-member board, took the chief executive to task for bringing up a proposal for in lieu land selection near the White Clouds without advance notice.

At Andrus' suggestion Tuesday, the board voted unanimously to look into acquiring 1,900 acres of Federal land along Little Boulder Creek about five miles downstream from American Smelting & Refining Company's controversial molybdenum claims.

After the board meeting, Andrus told newsmen he felt this would help to prevent any pollution of the creek by mining interests.

"I'm tired of board members bringing up items that are not on the agenda and which haven't gone through the land department," Cenarrusa said, reviewing the board action.

He said he would move at the next meeting to block consideration of any significant items not on the advance agenda and which have not been considered by the land department professionals. He excepted from this what might be classified as truly "emergency" matters.

Cenarrusa noted that Andrus discussed mining after the board meeting and that the detail given newsmen by the governor had tipped the hand of the land board to the federal government and others involved in the matter.

"In order to be effective in acquiring in lieu lands the state's hand should not be exposed prior to investigative work being done," Cenarrusa said.

"The state has exposed its hand to the BLM (Bureau of Land Management) and to interests involved."

Wine sales vote mulled

By RUTH KOONCE MILLER, Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Voters in Twin Falls County will be responsible for determining whether the county will have retail wine sales, Twin Falls County Commissioners said after a meeting Tuesday with commissioners from four other Magic Valley counties.

Whether the vote will be at the next regular election in 1972, or in a special election remains to be seen, however, depending on petitions being passed in the county.

Meeting with the Twin Falls board were commissioners from Camas, Gooding, Jerome and Minidoka counties. They indicated that they were waiting to see what Twin Falls County does on the issue.

The boards of commissioners also discussed the establishment of a regional airport authority and indicated they are in general agreement over how to handle the two issues.

Both issues require a special election if the commissioners are petitioned by a sufficient number of registered voters. In Twin Falls County there are 22,000 registered voters.

Petitions calling for the retail wine sales election are required to carry the names of 20 per cent of 4,400 qualified voters, while the regional airport authority issue requires only 5 per cent or 1,100 signatures.

The Twin Falls commissioners said that if petitions carrying the required number of signatures are turned in, a special election will be set on the issue involved. If the petitions demand a county-wide election on the regional airport, the commissioners said the wine issue will be placed on the same ballot. In any event, they said, the retail wine sales issue will be placed on the next county-wide ballot during the primary election in August, 1972.

Cost of a special election would be about $10,000. If the two issues are combined on a special election ballot, rather than having two special elections, the cost would remain $10,000, instead of $20,000 for two special votes.

The vote of the Twin Falls Commission was not unanimous in deciding whether retail wine sales should be approved by resolution, but the commissioners unanimously support the concept that the county should not be put to a cost of $10,000 for a special election where the issue is scheduled for election 14 months from now.

Viets break siege

SAIGON (UPI) — A battalion of South Vietnamese paratroopers landed by helicopter today at Fire Base 5 in the Central Highlands, relieving the two-month siege of the base near the border of Laos. They were supported by U.S. and South Vietnamese aircraft using napalm and bombs.

B52s had delivered heavy blows a few hours earlier at the North Vietnamese troops grouped around the base 190 miles north of Saigon after the Communist troops launched a heavy mortar assault which killed six men of an overland relief force which has been blocked for days.

Some of the most intense fighting of the war in Cambodia was reported 11 miles northeast of the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh where heavy North Vietnamese forces were trying to set up rocket bases before the monsoon rains begin. Cambodian spokesmen reported 100 Communists killed and 80 Cambodians killed or wounded in fighting there.

Field reports said the 300-man relief force met only light resistance from the Communist gunners and mortar crews in the dense jungle following the B52 raids and strikes by allied Cobra helicopter gunships which bathed the Red positions in napalm and saturated them with cannon and rocket fire.

Blast levels house

BELLEVUE — The Carroll Williams home on Broadford Road west of Bellevue was demolished Tuesday when an electric water heater exploded. There were no injuries.

According to Deputy Sheriff Don Norton, there was no release valve on the heater and the pressure built up, causing the heater to explode. Force of the explosion blew the back room of the house several feet from the rest of the structure and blew the walls down in that room.

Walls in the remainder of the house were buckled by the explosion and debris was scattered for yards around, the deputy said.

The water heater was found 200 feet from the house, Norton said, completely flattened.

Lockheed plea 'endorsed'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard today gave a distinctive cool endorsement to the administration's proposal to save the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. from bankruptcy. He called it a dangerous precedent.

Packard said the successors to Lockheed's present management—court-appointed trustees—probably could complete the firm's projects. These include the construction of the C5A transport and the Cheyenne helicopter, as well as missile and shipbuilding programs.

Sen. Robert W. Packwood, R-Ore., said Wednesday he had a "queasy feeling" about refusal of 24 banks to invest any more in Lockheed's TriStar jumbo jet after having risked $400 million on the project.

Because the banks insist upon it, the Nixon Administration has asked Congress to guarantee that the treasury will repay the banks any losses they suffer if they invest an additional $250 million in the TriStar project.

In effect, the banks have asked the taxpayers to assume the risk that would otherwise be theirs. And Treasury Secretary John B. Connally says refusal of Congress to go along would plunge Lockheed, a firm with sales of $2.5 billion a year, into bankruptcy and "thwart" the nation's economic recovery.

The banks involved are a consortium of 24 of the nation's largest, including California's Bank of America, New York's Chase Manhattan and First National City and Chicago's Continental Illinois, the bank that Connally's predecessor, David W. Kennedy, headed before he joined the Nixon administration.

All this, Packwood told Connally Wednesday at a hearing of the Senate banking committee, troubles him. "I can't put my finger on what bothers me," he said, "But I have a queasy feeling about the banks involved in this."

Packwood's qualms drove home the point Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., sought to make.

He said he suspected that the banks' motive was to involve the government in Lockheed's well-being. The government, Proxmire said, "will be forced to save Lockheed."

Proxmire's suggestion was heatedly denied by Connally.

"You are 100 per cent completely and totally wrong," he said.

... and of course you'll bail us out!

Testimony backs Salmon Falls unit

WASHINGTON — Sens. Frank Church and Len Jordan joined forces today in urging the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs committee to approve their legislation authorizing the construction and operation of the Salmon Falls division, Upper Snake Reclamation Project.

Sen. Jordan, in a statement at the hearing on the legislation, explained that S432 will provide irrigation for 64,000 acres of land in two adjacent units on the south side of the Snake River near Twin Falls. Of that tract, 29,000 acres now receive an inadequate supply of irrigation water.

Sen. Church said the project area "has always suffered from three major sources: an insufficient water supply, existing ground and surface water in the service area; Snake River flows when available, and ground water pumping from an auxiliary well field in the aquifer north of the Snake River," he said.

The new facilities required for operation of the project include a pumping plant near Milner Dam and a main canal and distribution system," he said.

Jordan also said the Bureau of Reclamation plan would "enhance the ecological and environmental resources of the area in addition to providing substantial social and economic benefits."

Sen. Church said the project area "has always suffered from three major sources: an insufficient water supply, existing ground and surface

Salmon River Canal Co. in spite of repeated and costly measures to conserve water and develop new supplies, has never had an adequate supply for its entire service area, Church said, and in great many years, less than half of the area can be adequately served.

Church said farmers in the Milner-Cottonwood area "are faced with the problems of withdrawals from ground water exceeding the recharge to it. Steps are not taken to achieve a balance these irrigators have a very uncertain future," Church said.

In a statement presented at the hearing, Rep. Orval Hansen described the case in favor of passing S432 as "clear and compelling."

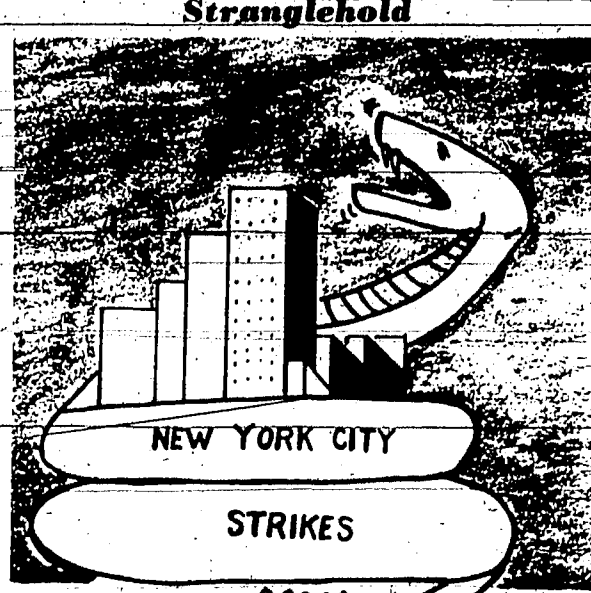

New York battles way back to normal

NEW YORK (UPI)—The nation's largest city—its traffic snarled, sewage dumped in its waterways and hundreds of daily services stopped by a two-day municipal employees strike—struggled back to normal today.

The wildcat strike by 8,000 city employees ended Tuesday night when union leaders accepted a four-point plan by the office of collective bargaining to resolve a pension dispute and ordered the men back to work.

The plan called for resubmitting the pension proposal, calling for full pay for employees retiring after 40 years of service—to the 1972 state legislature. The legislature's refusal to act on the pension issue in the closing days of its 1971 session set off the strike Monday.

Supreme court Justice Harold Baer enjoined the city employees from striking Tuesday but Victor Gotbaum, leader of the municipal workers, and Barry Feinstein, president of the Teamsters local, did not call off the strike until after the agreement on the pension plan.

Improved flow goal of project

TWIN FALLS — Traffic signals will be changed to allow smoother traffic flow at the intersection of Filer Avenue and Blue Lakes Boulevard North, under an agreement between the city of Twin Falls and the Idaho Department of Highways.

Noncom's case out to jury

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI)—A panel of five officers begins deliberation today in the court-martial of M. Sgt. William E. Higdon, accused of accepting bribes and kickbacks while operating a servicemen's club in Vietnam.

Col. Kenneth Howard, presiding military judge, was to charge the panel this morning in the 22-day-old trial at the Army's Redstone Arsenal.

Higdon, 41, a veteran of 24 years in the Army, was described by the prosecutor during final arguments Tuesday as "an unscrupulous club custodian" who is "guilty beyond doubt."

Edward Hopper, civilian attorney for Higdon, used most of a four and a half hour summation in an attempt to discredit the government's three star witnesses, all businessmen who had dealings with the club.

Higdon, a native of East Point, Ga., is charged with bribery, graft and larceny in the operation of a servicemen's club at Long Binh, Vietnam, in 1967 and 1968. He did not testify during 21 days of testimony.

American plan wins

PARIS (UPI)—The United States, long the whipping boy of Western monetary meetings, today enjoyed the position of a country which scored a major success in world economic relations.

The Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) Tuesday approved a Washington-backed plan for a new liberalization of free world trade relations, to be outlined by a special OECD committee.

The decision to create the committee followed a warning by American delegates at the meeting that the heavy outflow of dollars for U.S. military defense of the West must be considered in any appraisal of the American economic situation.

Plane said flying OK

NEWHAVEN, CONN. (UPI)—Federal officials say their preliminary investigations show nothing unusual in the operation of an Allegheny Airlines flight that crashed and killed 28 people just short of an airport runway.

Rudolf Kapustin, an investigator for the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB), said the plane's approach was "similar to that made during normal conditions."

The Convair 580 clipped three chimneys, crushed beachfront cottages, snapped powerlines and then crashed killing all but three of 31 aboard.

Eighteen witnesses to the crash have been interviewed from this resort community, Kapustin said, but investigators are still searching for a man in a small aircraft and another in a boat on Long Island sound at the time of the accident.

Flight tape recorders recovered from the wreckage gave "no indication of any other than routine conversation" with the ground and other checks on aircraft systems disclosed little, he said.

Postman to hang up mail bag

BLACKFOOT (UPI)—A postman in Blackfoot, who has walked more than 80,000 miles in 25 years of service, will hang up his mail bag Saturday.

Postman Holley Manwaring, who will end a quarter century of service with the U.S. Mail, became a regular mail carrier in 1946, after he returned from Australia during World War II.

Patrons and even canines welcome his familiar figure pushing his mail cart in Blackfoot. His secret for getting along with dogs is the same as for getting along with their masters: "I make friends with 'em," he said.

One little dog even tags along behind him during his morning route, goes home to lunch, then catches up with him again on the afternoon's home stretch.

Manwaring has served in the National Association of Letter carriers, holding the offices of secretary, vice president and president of the local branch.

Homedale boy killed in crash

HOMEDALE (UPI)—Richard L. Cooper, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Cooper, Route 1, Homedale, became Idaho's 109th traffic victim of the year in a two-vehicle accident Tuesday night.

A year ago at this time 130 persons had died in Idaho traffic accidents.

Cooper was fatally injured when the car he was driving north on a road toward Homedale and a pickup truck driven by Ernest C. Carranza, 18, Homedale, collided about 3 1/2 miles southwest of here.

Carranza, his wife, Jessica, 18, and his niece, Deborah Ann Villalobos, 3, Homedale, sustained injury. The child was listed in serious condition with a fractured skull and possible internal injuries while the other two were less seriously injured.

Recall vote due for July

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — Bonneville County Clerk F. Keith Long says a special recall election against two Idaho Falls state legislators probably will be scheduled next month.

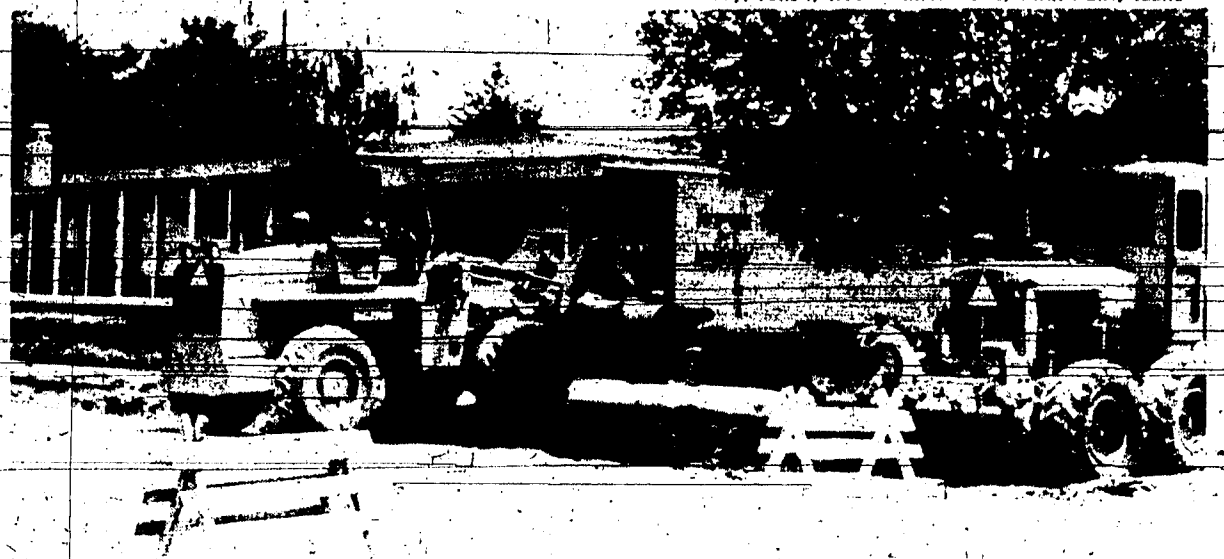

Long made the statement after Seventh District Judge Henry S. Martin ruled Tuesday that Long must accept petitions seeking recall of state Sen. Fisher Ellsworth and state Rep. Aden Hyde, both Republicans.

The clerk said he will proceed to certify signatures on petitions seeking the recall as soon as he receives the official court order from Judge Martin.

He said the petitions contain some 1,200 signatures. But he said he believes a few more may be needed because some of those already presented may be invalid.

Jim Hill, Idaho Falls, and a group of Bonneville County residents calling themselves "We The People" initiated the recall movement against the two legislators.

They took the action because both men voted in favor of increasing legislative compensation during the first regular session of the 41st Legislature last winter.

STREET IMPROVEMENT at the Idaho Department of Employment office corner in Twin Falls is going on by city street crews. The project includes widening of Third Street North to allow for parking and additional traffic safety on the through street. Third Avenue North in front of the office also is being widened. City Manager Jean Milar said widening will allow better movement at the intersection and improved drainage.

Arson probe starts at Ontario

ONTARIO, Ore. (UPI) — The Oregon state arson investigation team was called in Tuesday to investigate a fire which destroyed a produce warehouse owned by Iseri Produce Co. of Ontario, early Tuesday.

The blaze, which broke out shortly after midnight, started in a stack of produce crates, garage, a pickup truck and and smaller outbuildings in the vicinity.

Several other nearby homes were threatened by the blaze at one point.

spoke on plans made for the event, set for Aug. 3-8 at the fairgrounds in Filer.

Anderson said several organizations from throughout Magic Valley are working hard in an effort to make the rodeo one of the best ever in the history of the high school rodeo.

Anderson said each year the rodeo grows and this year's event will be the largest. About 500 contestants from 25 states will be competing for national titles and over $8,000 in prizes, he said.

He said there will be two go-arounds for the contestants and as a result there will be 100 complete rodeos before the national champions in the various rodeo events are named.

Stock for the rodeo has been contracted through Cotton Rosser, well-known rodeo producer, Anderson said.

BOISE (UPI) — Word was received Tuesday the U. S. Department of Transportation will amend regulations which prevented persons under age 21 from driving farm trucks across a state line.

According to Robert L. Henry, administrator of the Idaho Transportation Council, the timing of Tuesday's move by the Department of Transportation came as a surprise. The encouraging development was revealed by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin, who said the new relaxed rules are being published in the federal register.

Henry said a great deal of credit goes to Idaho's congressional delegation for their efforts in securing the revision.

The Idaho Wheat Commission, Idaho Bean Commission, Grange, Farm Bureau and other Idaho groups were also instrumental in opposing the transportation ruling.

Audie Murphy

In many ways Alvin York and Audie Murphy were alike. The two men who emerged from World Wars I and II as the principal American heroes came from humble backgrounds, achieved instant fame on battle fields and experienced difficulty restructuring their lives after leaving the service.

Audie Murphy won every medal and decoration available to an infantryman in the European theater of World War II. He held 24 awards—some of them duplicates—and was credited with killing or capturing 240 of the enemy.

Although he wished to remain in uniform after the war, he was discharged as 50 per cent disabled. Accorded a hero's welcome on his return home, Murphy went to Hollywood to seek his fortune. Although he appeared in many films, most were second-rate action and western movies and his acting career eventually went into decline.

From that point on Murphy's public life was dimmed, limited for the most part to occasional notoriety over incidents in his personal life. It was a sad, but not uncommon, letdown for a man who had received some of the nation's highest honors.

America does not treat its war heroes well, stressing instant glory and ignoring the after effects. Murphy is now dead at an untimely 46, just as new business interests offered new hope and new challenge to the man who demonstrated a high degree of courage when the chips were down.

The Proof

Foresighted students learned during spring vacation what others are discovering now: that the summer job market is very lean this year. Except for such seasonal enterprises as summer camps, resorts, swimming beaches and amusement parks, the jobs simply aren't there for millions of young people who will be seeking them.

There are a number of reasons for this apparent drying up of a traditional source for recharging student bank accounts: Industrial jobs, have in the main, become more sophisticated, and even where they haven't, regular employees have been varying their own vacation calendars so there's less demand for the summer "vacation fill-in."

The young jobseeker who has business machine training or some other vocational skill, will have the best luck, the youth placement people say. They advise the others to lean on family and friends for summer employment.

For those young people who do not find jobs, it needn't be wasted exercise. For here, life size, is proof that industrialists, government officials and school authorities have been giving them the straight goods. They've been advising youngsters to stay in school, to get all the education and special training they can get, before they enter the job market.

This summer's experience should convince doubting students.

The Good Old

Soon it will be summer. The moment of arrival is when the summer solstice occurs, when the earth tilts toward the sun as far as it ever goes, which seems quite far enough.

For most humans summer is a happy time, its benefits and beauties greatly outweighing its discomforts. The poets all like summer.

"In Bartlett's 'Familiar quotations' there are as many approving and laudatory references to summer as to spring. 'Sweet as summer,' wrote Shakespeare, showing how he felt about it. Because of their pleasant associations, Henry James called 'summer afternoon' the two most beautiful words in the English language, but many still insist there is no beauty to match a fragrant, starlit summer's night. And that's about the way that Mr. Spector feels about it.

Summer is a time of flight to faraway places and distant shores. The flight can be made on foot, on a bike, in a bus, in a car, in a plane, on a ship or what have you. It can even be made in the imagination. But summer really is a time for shunning what is laborious or difficult. Informality in dress or manner and simplicity in domestic routine prevail. Life slows down—the pace that is, and ambition just doesn't amount to much.

It is a time of escape and release. The only season of the year when it is respectable for an American to be a lazy loafer.

And that's the way a lot of us in Magic Valley feel — what with summer due to arrive about June 21 or so.

GIVEAWAY DEPARTMENT:
We have eight kittens to give away. They are about eight weeks old and are house trained. If interested please call 733-2658 and ask for Ed Cook.

DISCONNECTION
All parents of teenagers probably at one time or another thought of throwing the telephone out of the house. (We are sure that Ken Mann will love this story and appreciate Mr. Spector's choice of subject).

Well, Caleb Hornbostel, an architect in Hicksville, N.Y., did it last November — and he hasn't regretted a moment's peace since.

Naturally his two teenage children were angry at first. But soon they began to spend more time studying and visiting friends. And there is always a pay phone a few blocks away if the calls seem important enough.

There has been peace and quiet," Hornbostel reports, "a renewal of conversation, a family in the old sense again."

Electronic conveniences can be marvelous time-savers and time-wasters. The question is which outweighs the other. For a certain architect, who seldom was able to use his own phone, the answer was simple.

WASHINGTON — In the intelligence controversy which grew out of the empty-handed Son Tay raid, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird lamely lamented the lack of a camera which could see through roofs and inspect the already vacated prison camps.

Now, with the remarkable psy-satellite cameras looking down unobstructed, the secretary is in the middle of a new intelligence dispute. He is accused of exaggerating—even of misrepresenting—the threat posed by a new generation of missile silos within the Soviet Union.

It is one of those vitally important arguments which cannot be resolved for the present. Are the Russians ominously escalating their force of intercontinental missiles (ICBMs)? Or are they simply modernizing the missile force to increase its survivability?

In the intelligence community the experts are saying it will take six to eight months, given the present pace of activity at Russian missile sites, to have information on which to base a clear and definitive answer.

Meanwhile Laird's critics are free to claim that the secretary has added to the Pentagon's credibility gap. His supporters, on the other hand, will keep saying that the Russians may be opening a gap in land-based missiles.

Contrary to published reports which assert that CIA and the Pentagon are at odds in the matter, it can be stated that the intelligence community is generally agreed as to what is being done at missile sites in Russia. The trouble is that no one knows what the Russians INTEND to do.

Confusion also arises from different appraisals, made at different times, as the work progressed under the camera eye of the spy satellites. Here is how the pictures unfolded:

Early this year, after having abandoned work for months on 18 new silos for their giant SS-9 missile, the Russians were photographed digging holes for a larger and newly configured missile silo. Work went ahead rapidly at test sites and on operational missile fields.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., gave the first warning of the ominous development in March. Subsequently, Laird and his Pentagon aides confirmed the existence of new and larger holes and said they could well mean new and larger missiles.

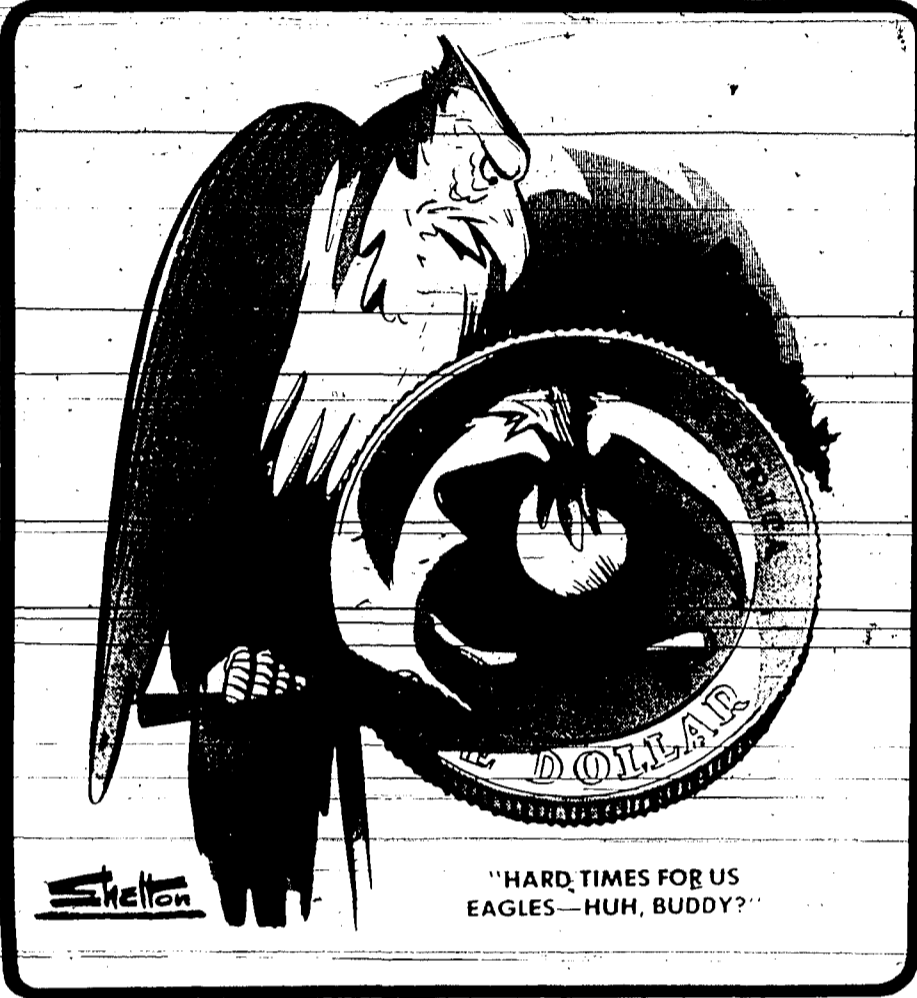

Recently, however, the photographs have shown that the larger holes were dug to accommodate reinforcing liners to make the silos more resistant if attacked.

Now Laird's critics are saying that, since the new silos are mostly in missile fields which harbor the smaller SS-11 missile, the Soviet activity is just a hardening program addressed largely to the SS-11. They note that Russian participants at the SALT talks have informally described the work as a modernization program.

Both sides in the controversy get some support from related information. Supporting the modernization thesis, for example, are indications which suggest that the Russians are also removing some of their older ICBMs from the operational fields.

On the other hand, there is evidence to suggest that the Russians are planning for a series of missile tests. So Laird and his Pentagon experts are still inclined to think that a new missile, or perhaps a couple of them, are eventually to be deployed in the new silos.

There is, in short, an argument to be made that the Russians are about to install new missiles, perhaps with MIRVed warheads. There is also an argument to be made that the Russians are simply acting to protect their missile silos much as we have acted to protect ours.

PAUL HARVEY

When The War...

President Nixon aims to have us disengaged in Vietnam NEXT year. Senate Democrats are seeking for themselves by forcing disengagement THIS year. Either way, we are enroute out.

Then what will we demonstrate, protest and shout about?

The new generation cannot know that America has never been divided internally over any war heretofore.

"Some were resisted by some until the whistle blew, but after that, and unanimously, we closed ranks."

The latest Gallup Poll shows 56 per cent of Americans questioned believe we should get all our troops altogether out of Indochina this year.

And a cynical 54 per cent believe that we will NOT get out altogether until just before next year's election.

The unpopular war has been a handy handle for those who would overthrow our country. Others have used a valid grievance to promote themselves and to build contribution-supported organizations around such assorted causes as "gay lib," "Women's Lib," "black power" and "more for the poor."

Each such organization is likely to include some sincere contributors and some "crazies." Let's not imagine that when the war is over they are going out of business; they won't.

For one thing, organizations which collect checks from the rich and cash from the poor are highly lucrative businesses.

For another, easy money is as narcotic. Handouts of public money create an insatiable appetite in those hooked on it. They will demand more — and more. Rather than face the agony of withdrawal, they may lie down in the street and kick their feet and scream for more.

And some students will demonstrate for the sake of demonstrating.

Aside from the war, there are needed reforms on the home front which no Administration can effect fast enough to please everybody: dying cities, shriveling dollars, decaying environment, misuse of drugs. But Americans who will continue to gang up on these problems will likely be less vociferous, surely less violent.

A nut can bomb an ROTC building and convince himself and others he's "Stopping the war."

But it's doubtful he would get any sympathy from anybody other than an arch-revolutionary if he were to resort to destruction as a solution to domestic problems.

The so-called "poor people's march" on Washington last year—discredited its own objective, engendered resentment and resistance in Congress and out.

Ending the war will not put demonstrators out of business; it will pull their teeth.

ANDREW TULLY

Few Of Us

WASHINGTON — Let us — a few of us, anyway — welcome the new national organization of Vietnam veterans formed to support President Nixon's policies in Southeast Asia and to counter publicity lavished recently on a bunch of anti-war vets.

We should greet this new outfit, purportedly 5,000 strong, not necessarily because it is pro-Nixon, but because it promises not to annoy the bitches off us with noisy, disruptive and destructive demonstrations. Rather, say its leaders, the Vietnam Veterans for a Just Peace hope "to blanket the nation through speakers, debates, articles and our literature."

This is a real breakaway from the banana-republic strategy of the anti-war crowd. I dare even to call it the democratic way of doing business, if only because it infringes on NO citizen's right to work down a street or get to work in the morning. It also strikes a long overdue blow for reason in a country where too many of us stiffly unfortunately are stupid enough to be impressed by bellowed obscenities and naughty-bo violence.

I do not go much for protest and other special interest organizations, but the VVJP seems to have had no choice but to go public, as it were. One of its leaders, a Navy veteran of Vietnam from San Antonio named John O'Neill, notes that he got a flat refusal when he sought to testify before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee during the April sessions, when the committee showed such solicitude for the anti-war Navy vet, John F. Kerry.

A spokesman for Sen. Bill Fulbright's tame committee replied that the panel recently heard from two witnesses who supported the administration's policy. Big deal. Both witnesses testified after the smoke had cleared from the April-May disturbances, and thus were deprived of the publicity their words might have received during the height of the turbulence.

When Kerry and his pals were in town, there was much talk on Capitol Hill about freedom of speech and, especially, the freedom to be heard. Fulbright & Co. applied these noble principles only to their friends.

I do not know if O'Neill is correct when he claims a majority of present and former Vietnam veterans support Nixon's phased withdrawal of troops from Indochina. But the 5,000-man membership claimed by VVJP outnumbers the 1,000 claimed by Kerry's Vietnam Veterans Against the War. Moreover, some 500,000 Vietnam vets have joined the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, neither of which is madly pacifist. However, this is not a numbers game, but a question of the fair distribution of civil rights.

The media may not have given Kerry's boys what O'Neill calls "undue prominence," but it sure as hell gave them a lot of prominence. During the recent demonstrations, a visitor might have concluded that not a single American supported Nixon's Vietnam policy.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Scabies

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please write about scabies. I know a man who has had them for two years. When asked to go to a doctor, he goes to a small town doctor and says, "He doesn't see anything."

His wife works herself black and blue trying to keep them down. (She has had treatment, and by using medicine and being careful she doesn't have them.)

But others get them from sitting in his chair or even in his car. How contagious are they? — Mrs. C.B.

Scabies is due to a mite — the female that does the damage. She burrows into the skin and lays eggs, and when they hatch a vicious cycle is in progress. A red, itchy streak shows where the mites have burrowed.

The ailment is readily contagious, as the mites spread easily from person to person. Recent reports indicate that scabies is very much on the increase, along with body lice of various types, and if I knew anyone who had either and didn't get effective treatment, I'd stay away from him.

With scabies, exposed skin is mostly involved, especially the hands and arms, but the mites can burrow anywhere in the skin. The itching is worse at night.

Various sulphur preparations used to be employed, but more recently a solution of gamma benzene hexachloride has proved very effective. It is known as "Kwell," but it requires a prescription, so you'll have to get it through your physician.

For scabies, the patient bathes thoroughly, applies the lotion and leaves it on for 24 hours. Then another bath.

Clothes should be changed daily until the infestation is ended. Laundering kills the mites, but they can stick to bedclothes or other fabrics.

Quite often a single treatment (along with adequate baths and daily changes into fresh clothes) ends the trouble. If not, a second treatment can be given four days later.

Getting rid of the pests is one thing; protection against getting them again depends on others, whether there is someone else around who hasn't been cured and is still spreading the pests.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there a specific blood test for general infections or does the V.D. germ appear in any type of blood test? — C.A.K.

The V.D. germ does NOT appear in most of the types of blood tests in use; it can be found only in a test specifically for that germ.

Furthermore, while the blood test for syphilis is in wide (and effective) use, there isn't any blood test at all for gonorrhoea yet, although there is work in progress trying to develop such a test.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For weeks my child, 4 years old, has had a thick, yellow discharge from the nose. What can this be? — Mrs. P.M.

It obviously isn't a cold, but it could be a secondary infection from bacteria that got a start while the youngster did have a cold. When it has continued like this, you certainly better get the boy to the doctor. One possible consequence might be a sinus infection which he'll have to struggle with in future years unless you get that infection cleared up. Yellow discharges means pus-forming germs are at work.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is the name "Thosteson" Scandinavian? — R.G.

Of Danish origin, but spelled wrong. Somebody changed the "e" to "o."

"Tips on How To Stop Smoking," by Dr. Thosteson, will help you give up the habit. If you are a regular reader, write to him in care of this newspaper, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Board sets bid review

KING HILL — A recessed meeting of the King Hill Irrigation District board will convene at 2 p.m. Thursday at the district office, to consider bids for replacing the Glens Ferry siphon.

T.F. job force up in April

TWIN FALLS — The April labor force in Twin Falls increased from the previous month and from the total a year ago, according to the Idaho Department of Employment. The department reports that despite a sluggish trend in spring job opportunities, April data indicate an active local job market. Employment was up 770 from March, largely because of heavy agricultural hiring. A 440-worker growth from last year was attributed to a variety of non-agricultural gains.

Unemployment, however, remained relatively high in April, the department reports, with 710 workers without jobs. This and a total labor force of 10,400 produced an unemployment rate of 3.6 per cent, down from 4.4 per cent for March, but above the 3.4 per cent in April, 1970. Food processing showed a mild dip from March, while service, construction and trade boosted non-manufacturing employment by 230 workers. Employment in the agricultural field jumped with the season from a March figure of 2,280 to 2,860 and exceeded the 1970 figure by 60 workers as growers attempted to make up for weather-caused delays. Average wages for seasonal workers varied from $1.50 to $2 an hour. The mid-May report showed 200 people involved in sugar beet thinning and hoeing. Building permits issued in April by the city of Twin Falls showed 42 projects with a combined estimated value of $218,117 while last April's figure was $322,623. Big construction news in Magic Valley, according to the department report, includes the Tupperware plant at Jerome, an addition to the Cinema Theatre (now completed); a scheduled improvement to the Twin Falls City-County Airport, and core drilling for preliminary engineering studies at the Perrine Memorial Bridge.

Auction set for ranch

TWIN FALLS — Area trustees of the Idaho Youth Ranch will sponsor an auction at 10 a.m. June 17 at the Snake River Auction House, 1979 Kimberly Road, to raise funds for the Ranch. Trustees, including Eli W. Boring, Shelby Williams and Milo Davis, all Buhl, said donations of all usable and saleable items are sought, including household furniture, appliances, tools, electrical equipment, machinery and even livestock and pets. Lunch will be available at the auction site, with a request made for donation of pies from Magic Valley housewives. All proceeds will go toward the Youth Ranch building fund.

worn out, district secretary-treasurer Barbara P. Crane said. The bridge was completed in 1908 and belongs to the Irrigation district. The new siphon will be on the deck of the old bridge, and the call for bids asks for four inch pipe installation. Actual work on the installation will not begin until about October 15, and specifications call for completion by April 1, 1972, before the irrigation season begins next spring. Other portions of the Glens Ferry siphon were put in by Hood Construction Co., Inc., Boise, during the winters of 1967-1968. They were on the east and west sides of the river. The siphons allow the water passage for irrigation to Glens Ferry and Hammett and lands between. The five-member King Hill Irrigation Board, headed by C.J. Russell, met June 4 to consider bids, but did not accept any of the three bids presented at the time. Bids received were from Ray E. Lynch Company, Boise; A & J. Construction Co., Inc. Hometown, and Galey Construction Co., Inc., Boise. The meeting Thursday was called to further consider bids. Mrs. Crane said "they hope to let the bid at that time."

MIAMI (UPI) — The battle of the 1971 Cuban sugar harvest has entered its final stage and there are indications of a new setback for Premier Fidel Castro and the island's struggling economy. With less than six weeks left before the Communist-style "Carnival" holidays marking the end of the harvest season, the goal of 6.65 million tons set by Castro now appears out of reach. Nearly a hundred mills are crushing the sweet juice out of the island's ripe cane as fast as it can be hauled from the fields where machines and machete-wielding workers fell the stalks. But about 50 other mills have already shut down as the surrounding cane supply is exhausted. Rain is hampering operations in areas still producing. Castro announced in a May 1st speech that the harvest was three weeks behind schedule and knocked 350,000 tons off the goal of 7 million metric tons of sugar he had set last December. Since then, daily production figures announced by the Cuban radio and monitored in Miami have charted a steady decline. By June 1, the announced total was still one million tons short of the reduced goal. Less than 20,000 tons a day were being ground out by the island's mills on some days as little as 11,000—and time was running out. Carnival, once a pre-Lenten celebration linked to Catholic traditions and occurring in February or March at the height of the harvest, has been moved to July 17-25 this year by the Castro government. This places it at the end of the harvest and coincides with the July 26th anniversary of the birth of Castro's revolution. Whatever the final total for the 1971 harvest, it will not reflect any lack of sweat and toil by the populace. Thousands of Cubans were mobilized again this year in "volunteer" brigades of cane-cutters, leaving factories, schools and offices to labor in the sun, along with sizable contingents of soldiers. Neither is the weather to blame for the lagging sugar production. Dry weather well into normally-wet May facilitated harvesting and raised the sugar yield of some of the cane. However, the prolonged drought and delayed start of the rainy season are expected to hurt next season's crop. Cuban Radio broadcasts have blamed various factors for the drop in production.

Machinery firm moves shop site

TWIN FALLS — Arnold Machine Co. has moved to a new business location on Washington Street South. According to Richard Jordan, service manager, the move has provided much needed space and is part of an overall expansion of service the business now offers customers throughout Magic Valley. The new building is leased, as was the former office at Curry Crossing. First office-business location for the company was opened on January 1, 1970, though the business was handled out of the Idaho Falls branch office for about 12 years prior to that. Sales, service and parts on fork lifts and loaders are provided. An additional truck and man have been added to the firm, Jordan said. This provides quicker service to customers, he said.

BOISE (UPI) — Construction of a new municipal golf course may begin soon, according to J.D. Evans, chairman of a special committee developing the course. Evans told directors of the Boise Chamber of Commerce Monday that specifications and bids on the project have been completed and presented to the Small Business Administration for final consideration.

Indonesia dates initial election

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Indonesia will hold its first general election in 16 years on July 3, and not one of the country's nine political parties is expected to emerge as a winner. Instead, the winner will be something called the Sekber Golkar which the government says is not a party at all.

The Sekber Golkar is a loose confederation of labor unions, intellectual organizations and other basically nonpolitical groups which by something less than coincidence also includes government civil workers.

Government workers are forbidden from maintaining political affiliations "but" are ordered to join the Golkar.

With an unlimited treasury, army support and government workers down to village chiefs on its side, the Golkar indeed becomes a formidable opponent.

Opponents claim the village chiefs have been ordered to produce a certain number of votes or lose their jobs.

Big loser in the election which is to name provincial and city councils and 360 members of the house of representatives, is expected to be the Nationalist party of the late former president, Sukarno.

Especially in teeming central Java, the Nationalists formerly were easily the most influential among the political parties.

But the bloodbath which followed the attempted Communist coup in 1965, convincing many that politics was an unhealthy occupation, plus the years of political silence that followed, could mark the beginning of the end for the Nationalists despite strenuous efforts by its remaining leaders.

In addition to public apathy, other factors also work in favor of the government in these elections which are to prepare the people for a return to civil rule.

Declared one Indonesian politician:

"The simple Javanese gives his loyalty to respected personalities, not to political ideas."

That means that the peasant who once looked up to Javanese nobility now looks up to the military government and will vote the way he thinks the government wishes.

Other factors are the rules under which the campaign is being waged.

These rules forbid criticism of President Suharto or the government's program. They also forbid criticism of the way the program is being carried out.

Also banned are any words or deeds that might contribute to a comeback of the Communist party or any attempt to exploit Sukarno or a candidate's association with him.

One exception to general apathy among the voters despite a wealth of campaign posters and speakers addressing themselves mostly to children too young to vote, is a new group of angry young men calling themselves the Golput or "White Group."

Angered by government tactics they are telling uneducated Indonesians that "not to vote is your right."

Prosecutor joins firm

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Aubrey M. Daniel, who successfully prosecuted Lt. William L. Calley Jr. and then admonished President Nixon for intervening in the My Lai massacre case, has joined a Washington law firm.

Daniel, 29, accepted a job last week with the prestigious firm of Williams, Connolly and Califano and will go to work Aug. 1, a spokesman for the firm said Monday. Daniel was discharged from the Army with the rank of captain last April.

The law firm is headed by the well-known trial lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams; Joseph A. Califano, a close aide to former President Lyndon B. Johnson, and Paul R. Connolly, a specialist in antitrust and corporate law.

Guard changes in TV rankings

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A changing of the guard is obviously taking place among the top-ranked weekly shows in the national television ratings.

With such longtime leaders as "Laugh-In" and "Bonanza" slipping a good bit.

It is true this is the rerun season, and that programs like "Bonanza" undoubtedly would do better in their first showings. On the other hand, other weekly series that did well in their initial outtings—for example, "Ironside" and "Mannix"—continue to hold up steadily, as witness the national ratings for the seven days ending May 23.

The leader of the new guard in television shows continues to be the situation comedy about a big "All in the Family," which once again ranks higher than any other weekly series, proving it is no fluke success and is a pacesetter. This show finished second in the ratings, behind only CBS-TV's "Miss U.S.A. Pageant."

Third and Fourth, respectively, were "Hawaii Five-O" and "Mannix," both long-run hits, yet new guard in the sense that only in the last season or so, have they really asserted themselves as consistent powerhouse attractions in terms of audience appeal.

"Marcus Welby, M.D.," which has slipped just light from its top rung since "All in the Family" took over the No. 1 series spot.

Mary Tyler Moore's comedy show, another new entry this season, finished sixth in the latest ratings. And several law enforcement series that have become potent audience-getters after a number of seasons on the air, "Ironside" and "Adam 12," ranked seventh and eighth.

Like "Hawaii Five-O" and "Mannix," they have blossomed as ratings powerhouses after being around for a while.

Another late-bloomer, "Medical Center," continues to be strong, finishing 10th.

When taking a car trip, pack in one bag the things you'll need along the way.

Director finishes life tale

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Frank Capra, who may very well be the best film director who ever lived, has written far and away the finest autobiography to come out of Hollywood in all its decades.

His book, "Three Years in the White House," is as vividly charged with electricity and suspense as any novel.

It might even be compared with his pictures for vigor and power.

And that's saying a good deal considering Capra's film: "It Happened One Night," "Lost Horizon," "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," "You Can't Take It With You," "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" to name a few.

Winner of three Oscars for best director, Capra is pleased that his book—"Frank Capra: The Name Above the Title"—has been selected by the Book of the Month Club for midsummer.

"I wrote the book because I have a strong love affair with motion pictures," the 74-year-old Capra said.

"When I retired I decided I'd like to write about that love affair and the people who made films."

None was more colorful than Capra, a Sicilian immigrant at age five who became a Los Angeles newsboy, honors graduate from Cal Tech in chemical engineering, gag writer for Mack Sennett and finally the man who battled daily with Harry Cohn to make Columbia a major studio. He was tough, brash, arrogant and a genius whose films are timeless.

They called him "Dago" in the studios. But it had the ring of fond respect and awe. He was an imperious Dago who ran his own show.

Throughout the book Capra's recurring theme is "one man, one movie."

"I believed then and I do now that a producer-director should be in full command of his film from the writing to the final editing," he said. "Stars never could pull people to the boxoffice. They still don't."

"It's the pictures themselves that attract people. If you've got a good picture with stars in it, then you will have a big success."

Capra writes straightaway and, unlike most Hollywood authors, in a literary style that makes his book difficult to put down.

"So far only actor Glenn Ford is upset by Capra's observations."

Asked about Ford, the master director shrugged. "He was the one who made me change my policy for making films. But if it hadn't been him it would have been another actor."

Capra, a short, dark man with blazing eyes and bottled energy was one of Hollywood's great natural resources.

Cholera hits hundreds of civil war refugees

EDITORS: A cholera epidemic continues to sweep through East Pakistani refugees who fled to safety in India. Correspondent Robert Kaylor filed this report from one Indian village where 900 refugees have died in 10 days from cholera.

By ROBERT KAYLOR
KARIMPUR, India (UPI)— Their road began in East Pakistan and ended in a lush green field a few miles inside India, where cholera struck them down.
About 900 civil war refugees from Pakistan lie here in mass graves dug during the past 10 days as the disease ravaged the men, women and children fleeing to safety in India.

Some of them were brought to the improvised graveyard from the town dispensary. But most of the corpses were picked up along the road where they collapsed from weakness and died as their relatives continued to plod along in search of shelter.

Gray monsoon clouds scudded overhead one recent day and the wind brought an occasional whiff of the disinfectant poured into the graves. The local police commandant, Sgt. Inspector Amal Bhattacharjee, has the job of collecting the bodies and supervising their burial. He has had time for nothing else.

"You can't imagine what it was like," he said. How many bodies in each grave? "Thirty here," he said. "Maybe 50 there. We just put them in as the trucks brought them."

The only sign to mark the graves was a bamboo tripod atop one of the piles of earth with a chunk of wood dangling from a string in the middle. It was, Bhattacharjee explained, a sacrecrow-like device to keep animals from digging into the graves.

In one case along the highway, said Bhattacharjee, "a mother had already died from cholera and we found a baby still sucking milk from her breast." The child was taken in by Indian villagers near where the mother had fallen, he said.

The epidemic the refugees brought with them appeared to be on the wane in Kallampur, but nevertheless Bhattacharjee had to pick up 17 bodies from the dispensary and 20 more from along the roadside during the morning.

At midday, there still were five bodies left along the stretch from Kallampur to Bettal, 15 miles to the south. Two were sprawled under a tree in one place. The others, shrivelled from the body dehydration which kills when cholera strikes, lay in the open. Wisps of discarded bedding and clothing lying in the mud showed where others had fallen.

The 900 victims were a small part of the 200,000 refugees who have entered Kallampur since the start of the exodus from East Pakistan. They were moving on the road, sitting in improvised camps along its shoulders and taking shelter on the porches and verandas of every house at its side.

In Krishnagar a group of about 50 persons moved along the road, chanting and beating drums. A young girl at the head carried a plate to collect donations of money.

The money was not for the refugees but as an offering to pacify the Hindu goddess Maa Sitaala, for when Maa Sitaala becomes angry, cholera and smallpox strike.

Hair barriers start to slip

NEW YORK (UPI)—The growing toleration for long hair, bearded males in all walks of life is expected to generate millions of dollars of new business yearly.

It also may trim sales of razor blades and shaving creams, but not drastically. Even a luxurious beard requires some shaving.

The total hair care market in the United States hasn't been precisely calculated, but shampoos alone go for $300 million a year retail. The broadcasters say they garnered $109 million in television advertising of hair care preparations last year and they had less than half of all the industry's advertising outlay. Since about 25 per cent of the retail price of such preparations usually represent advertising cost, that could mean a total market of well over $900 million, with the major share in preparations for feminine hair care.

The barriers against longer hair and neat beards are going down slowly almost everywhere in business, although reluctantly on the part of employers, and in the armed forces and professional sports.

Nor are long hair and a beard the barrier to obtaining a good credit rating they were a couple of years ago, according to J. W. Goss, a Boston mortgage insurance man. His firm insures loans. Goss said he found lenders and credit managers in the Boston area no longer pay much attention to beard and long hair.

Reagan bid seen

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — California Democrat Jesse Unruh said Monday there is a "strong possibility" that Gov. Ronald Reagan will be the Republican candidate for the Presidency in 1972.

"If Nixon falters he may well play the same game as Lyndon B. Johnson and decide not to run," he said.

Unruh, former California Assembly and unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1970, said Reagan would be "much stronger than most people think."

"I feel he would have a hard time winning another election in California but — in traveling around the country — I find he has a lot of support in the Midwest and the South, two pretty powerful voting areas," he said.

Unruh was in Salt Lake City to participate in the annual Robert A. Taft Institute of Government seminar at the University of Utah.

He told 35 elementary and secondary grade high school teachers Monday morning, politicians "do a pretty good job" considering the structures they work under.

Checked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, 63, underwent a day-long physical checkup at Bethesda Naval Hospital Tuesday, the Supreme Court said. A spokesman said it was a regular checkup and that Burger would be released from the hospital Wednesday.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: What can you say to a 25-year-old daughter who has decided to live with her boy friend?
We brought Maria up as a moral Catholic. Her boy friend is of the same faith. He and his wife are legally separated. They have three children.

I have tried to tell Maria that if her friend really loved her he would get a divorce and marry her. We have other children, but Maria is the oldest and the apple of her father's-eye. This affair is just about killing us. Until this happened Maria never gave us any trouble. We were so proud of her. She graduated from college with honors. Now she teaches retarded children.

We are so ashamed to face family and friends, we refuse all social events. I know Maria reads your column. Maybe there is something you can say to her. I've tried everything I know. Thank you. MARIA'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I have nothing to say to Maria because she didn't ask me for any advice, but I have something to say to you. Mother, you reared your daughter to the best of your ability, and from your letter I would say you did a commendable job. Maria is an adult now, and you are not responsible for her decisions. Those who know you and love you will not think less of you because of your daughter's actions. Hold your head high, and if anyone attempts to needle you, say: "She is our daughter and we love her, even tho we disagree on many things."

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have six daughters. Never had any boys, but all the girls are nice. My wife gets along fine with everybody. She has never said a mean word about anybody, and she won't listen to gossip. I have a pretty good job, and our home is paid for. So what's my problem? Our eldest daughter got married and she had a baby boy. When our son in law called and told us we had a GRANDSON I had to help my wife sit down.

The baby can't even sit up yet and my wife has bought him shirts with "I love grandma" on the front. She also went to the jewelry store and had them put her grandson's picture on some earrings and a pin. [Have you ever seen earrings and a pin with a fat boy's picture on them?] This may seem petty to you, but I wonder if she hasn't lost her mind? GRANDPA

DEAR GRANDPA: After six girls, I don't blame her.

DEAR ABBY: I have seen several letters in your column lately about an operation called the "vasectomy" which is done on a man in order to prevent him from getting a woman pregnant.

As a male, I object! If a woman doesn't want to get pregnant, let HER have an operation.

We men sacrifice enough, fighting wars and supporting kids and females, without submitting to castration. Very truly yours, ALL MAN (FOREVER)

DEAR ALL MAN: It takes more of a "man" to submit to surgery than to ask his wife to do it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a domestic employe for a very prominent family and I realize that I must keep myself clean and tidy at all times, which I most certainly do.

I am a member of a church club and every Christmas the women swap gifts. Last Christmas I got a bottle of deodorant! The lady who gave it to me is a very nice person and I can't imagine why she would give me such a gift. I would never give a gift like that to anybody.

Will you please tell me what to do with the deodorant? PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: Use it.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 6700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Nancy Hanks will speak at Sun Valley arts seminar

SUN VALLEY — Nancy Hanks, the chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts who is coming to Idaho in June, was once summed up by New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller as "a rare combination of sensitivity and competence who has a surefooted knowledge of how to move men and governments to action."

Miss Hanks is the soft-spoken, unassuming "queen of the arts" who, in a king-size effort to bring the arts down to the grassroots, last year convinced Congress to double its appropriation for the National Endowment.

As part of the effort to aid and encourage the arts in America, Miss Hanks has accepted the invitation of Idaho Sen. Leh B. Jordan and Representative Orval Hansen to keynote their first Congressional Arts Seminar and Festival scheduled for Friday at Sun Valley.

During the event, the Idaho legislators plan to aim the spotlight in two directions: first at the endowment, with emphasis on the federal-state partnership in advancing the enriching arts by helping states such as Idaho bring in or develop artistic talent through grant programs; and secondly at Idaho, to underscore for Miss Hanks the outstanding talent and tremendous potential already possessed by the state in the creative and performing arts.

In addition to Miss Hanks' keynote address, the Arts Seminar and Festival activities will include panels and talks by several out-of-state guests and Idahoans prominent in the arts. Idaho works of art will be displayed during the day on the green at Sun Valley.

All Idahoans interested in the arts are invited to attend.

Miss Hanks is scheduled to arrive in Boise today to appear at a press conference at the Boise Art Gallery and to meet members of the Boise Art Association and the Idaho Arts Commission.

Nancy Hanks, a presidential appointee, will bring with her to Idaho the enthusiasm and determination that illustrate clearly why the Nixon administration has given its all-out support to the nationwide cultural explosion.

The arts are not something remote and esoteric to be enjoyed only by a select few with rarefied tastes, Miss Hanks believes, but are for the pleasure of all. They are directly related to the quality of life. It is a principal objective of the endowment to get the arts out of the stuffy environment of concert halls and into the parks and streets — to help relieve the boredom, the vacuum often experienced, in today's mechanized society.

Miss Hanks' accomplishments during her first year and a half as chairman of the National Endowment are noteworthy, if not phenomenal. In cooperation with the U.S. Office of Education, a nationwide program has been instituted for poets, painters, sculptors, writers, dancers, musicians and actors to bring their art to elementary and secondary school students and teachers.

Aid has been extended to symphony orchestras, theater and ballet groups, modern dance companies, opera and choral institutions, and jazz groups to tour communities around the country. Under her direction, the first program of assistance to the nation's museums has been instituted. She hopes this year to pursue programs to aid creative artists in music, drama, dance, literature, films, architecture and folk arts.

Much of this has been accomplished because of her conviction that government shares with industry, private endowments and individual citizens the responsibility for sustaining artistic and cultural life in America — a conviction that helped induce Congress to grant President Nixon's request that the endowment's appropriation be doubled.

Success is not new for Miss

Coming to Idaho . . .

CHAIRMAN Of the National Endowment for the Arts, Nancy Hanks, will be a featured speaker during the Congressional Arts Seminar and Festival scheduled Friday in Sun Valley. Sen. Len B. Jordan and Congressman Orval Hansen are hosting the event.

Hanks, who serves as chairman of the National Council on the Arts in addition to the National Endowment. She is a Phi Beta Kappa, magna cum laude graduate of Duke University.

Miss Hanks is descended in a line from the Nancy Hanks who was Abraham Lincoln's mother, but often likes to tell people she was named after a horse, Nancy Hanks, which for 20 years was the Grand National trotting queen and a legend throughout the South.

The Recording Industry Association of America has called her the nation's "First Lady of the Arts." Harpers Bazaar has honored her as a woman "in touch with our times." Idahoans will have the distinct good fortune of meeting and greeting Miss Hanks Friday at Sun Valley.

Before taking on her present responsibilities, Miss Hanks was executive secretary of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, where she directed publication of "The Performing Arts: Problems and Prospects," a landmark study of financing the arts.

A Lovelier You EASY COLOR CARE OF HAIR

By Mary Sue Miller

From head to toe the fashion trend for summer is spelled "Au Naturel." But nobody ever said a gal can't give nature a nudge, particularly when it comes to a head of hair.

Exactly what's wanted is vibrant color and sheen, all with the look of nature. The real thing! It must be achieved, moreover, with a lazy summer amount of effort. Well, let's see how that can be worked out.

New permanent, foam-in hair colorings promise to lighten as much as two shades, to darken as deep as you like, and to blend-in-or-cover gray. With absolutely natural effects!

Applications are almost effortless. No pre-shampoo is required. There is no mixing, stirring, dripping or dabbing. One step aerosol applicators supply all the necessities.

You simply turn the gadget upside down, press the lever and, presto, color begins to foam directly into dry locks. It starts off almost white; after 20 minutes the full color develops. A rinse, a shampoo and you're finished.

That's all for about four weeks until the hair grows out. Meantime color clings to the hair without rub off. Built-in conditioners work to promote luster and manageability.

In these days of hair styling revolutions, manageability is an added asset to color. Think how in a short span hair got long, short, curly, Afro, permed and ironed. It's a wonder it stayed on the head. Surely it needs all possible coaxing.

HOW TO HAVE LOVELIER HAIR

Overcome your hair problems? Send for my booklet, HOW TO HAVE LOVELIER HAIR. Advice includes: corrective care of dry, abused, oily and hard-to-manage hair; expert coloring methods and treatment of tinted hair; hairstyle formulas; tips on perfection cutting, permanents, straightening and grooming. Write to Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper for your copy, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Freedoms Foundation award given

TWIN FALLS — The Order of the Golden Rule, a non-profit organization of funeral directors, has been nominated to receive a Freedoms Foundation Award.

In Twin Falls the Twin Falls Mortuary is the order's member.

The order will receive the award because of its introduction of a patriotic flag promotion nationwide.

Dale Patterson and William Boyd, owners of the Twin Falls Mortuary, sponsored the flag promotion locally and said more than 250 requests for plastic lapel pins of the American Flag and a booklet concerning the history and proper display of "Old Glory" have been received from area residents.

Nominating the order for the award was Mayor Nelson O. Howarth, Springfield, Ill., which is the city where the order's headquarters is located.

Mayor Nelson said since the program was started in the spring of 1970, more than 300,000 booklets have been distributed and nearly a million American Flag lapel pins have been given out by Golden Rule members.

Market Review

Idaho Valley Weather Report

National Temperatures

Temperatures

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks were lower, but a little above morning levels as trading rounded the halfway point Wednesday.

Analysts attributed some of the comeback to a technical bounce from Tuesday's sharp decline, but they noted that the market in general was weighed down by concern over rising interest rates and speculation the Federal Reserve may tighten the reins on its monetary policy.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 1.68 at 913.33 after more than three hours, while Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.08 at 100.24. Declines outscored advances, 706 to 514, among the 1,543 issues crossing the tape.

Volume at 1 p.m. amounted to 8,630,000 shares, versus 8,360,000 shares traded at a comparable period the previous session.

Among the day's most active issues were Great Western Financial down 1/2 on 178,100 shares, Gulf States Utilities off 1 on 124,400 shares, Delta Air Lines off 1/4 on 109,700 shares, IBM 2 1/2 higher on 99,000 shares, American Telephone unchanged on 90,900 shares, and Dover Corp. unchanged on 90,600 shares.

Less active Alberto-Culver and KLM Royal Dutch Airlines lost more than a point each. But Natomas gained 1 1/2. Flying Tiger, 1 1/2, Control Data 1 1/2, Honeywell 2 1/2, Intel Corp. 1 1/2, and Bausch & Lomb 1 1/2.

Steels and motors were fractionally irregular. Chemicals were mostly higher.

Successful Investing Wall Street Chatter

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—I purchased shares of Kentucky Fried Chicken at 48 1/2. Even if I exchange them for Heublein shares, I will realize a loss. Should I sell or hold for the exchange offer?—H.C.

A—If you sell your shares of Kentucky Fried Chicken, at current quotes you would receive $21.75 per share. However, should the revised merger terms between Heublein and Kentucky be approved by directors and shareholders of both firms, you would receive $33 Heublein share for each Kentucky share, equal to $25.63, a 17 per cent premium based on Heublein's recent price. Moreover, not only would you be further ahead financially, but your new shares in the merged company would represent a more attractive investment.

Heublein dominates the U.S. vodka market and is the leading producer of bottled and canned cocktails, while Kentucky Fried Chicken is a major fast food franchiser. Aided by four mergers since 1964, Heublein's sales and earnings have increased significantly in each year of the past decade. Prospects for a continuation of this trend are enhanced by KFC's established growth pattern and strong market penetration. Hold for the exchange.

Q—I plan to retire next year at 65 on Social Security of $210 monthly. I have $30,000 in savings, part of which I would like to invest to help cover 2 years' college tuition for my son and for retirement income afterward. What do you think of high-coupon-BB-rated bonds?—M.Z.

A—The risk inherent in this class of bond is apt to be greater than you should assume under the circumstances. However, there are other better quality high coupon bonds available which would be suitable.

Boise Cascade Credit 10 1/2 of 1975 and Walter Heller 9 1/2 of 1989, rated BBB and A respectively, would serve your purpose. Both sell at a premium, pay interest in June and December and would return $1,950 on a $21,000 investment, the maximum I would advise you to invest. ### 'Witness' held

MAN identified as Juan Mosqueta, left, arrives at Sutter County Jail in Yuba City, Calif., escorted by Harold Cochran of sheriff's office. Mosqueta was described as "material witness" in mass slaying of 25 farm workers. Officers declined to say how Mosqueta is linked with case in which Juan V. Corona has been charged with murder. (UPI)

Chile seeks 3 assassins

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—The Marxist government of President Salvador Allende imposed limited martial law on Santiago today and began a widespread search for three extreme leftist suspects in the assassination of an extreme right-wing political leader with a machinegun on Tuesday. Allende called the killing "an attempt against Chile, her people and her government." He said former Vice President Edmundo Perez Zujovic was slain in a deliberate attempt to spread chaos in Chile. But police called it a revenge slaying.

Perez Zujovic, 57, was the headline interior minister in the Christian Democratic government of former President Eduardo Frei and was hated by both the leftist extremists and the Marxists now in power. Frei, in Belgium on a visit, said he was "deeply shocked" at the assassination carried out by a blond man who broke out the windows of Perez Zujovic's Mercedes Benz and shot him at close range. The blond man was accompanied by a dark man with a mustache and a third man who remained in the back seat of their red getaway car. Perez Zujovic's daughter, maria Angelica, 22, was in the car with her father at the time of the murder.

Eduardo Parades, chief of the investigative police, said the prime suspects were Ronald Rivera Calderon, 24, a potter craftsman, and his brother Arturo. Both are or were members of the extremist organization Vanguard of the People, which police described as a fusion of Marxist dissidents and common criminals.

Parades said the two men were identified through photographs shown to witnesses including Perez' daughter, and by fingerprints.

Under the state of partial military law imposed on Santiago Province today, zonal commanders can order troop movements, make free searches, evacuate civilians and censor news. Civilians were prohibited from bearing arms and police established a 1 a.m. to 6 a.m. curfew.

All commercial flights out of the province except by scheduled carrier were grounded.

Rail tieup looms anew

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Although Congress last month legislated a summer-long moratorium to block a national railroad strike by one union, the spectre of a shutdown of the rail system stemming from a walkout by another union may arise in a couple of weeks.

The United Transportation Union now is free to call a "selective" strike against a few rather than all railroads as part of its effort to obtain a better contract for members. It needs only to give two weeks' notice to the targets of such a strike.

The practical effect of that, however, would almost certainly be the same as a national strike, because the railroads have made it clear in the past they would not permit what they call "whipsaw" strikes, and all would shut down if a few were struck.

The union has not announced yet whether it will use what amounted to a go-ahead Monday by the Supreme Court to resort to the selective strike route. The court cleared the way by refusing to interfere with a lower court decision upholding such strikes provided they were aimed at getting an industrywide agreement and not at winning contracts from individual lines. The UTU and the railroads have been negotiating off and on for many months, without reaching agreement. Some other rail unions have settled.

Another that hasn't is the signalmen's union, which staged a brief strike last month that was ended by an emergency law approved by Congress imposing a moratorium until Oct. 1.

Now, the tangled rail labor-management conflict once again may force the White House, the courts or Congress to intervene to halt a shutdown because all agree that the nation cannot afford a complete railroad stoppage.

Pakistan aid halt endorsed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho and William Saxbe, R-Ohio, have urged all economic and military aid to Pakistan be halted until refugees in India are repatriated and food distributed throughout East Pakistan.

Church acknowledged in making the proposal Tuesday such a measure would amount to economic pressure against Pakistan.

"The whole idea of withholding is to bring pressure to bear. Our purpose is to do something to open the gates of international relief."

Saxbe said he would introduce an amendment to the foreign aid bill "which would cut off United States military and economic assistance plus all sales of military equipment and weapons, by credit, license or any other means, to Pakistan."

Saxbe also said "No new commitments, including the provision of debt relief, may be undertaken until the distribution of food and other relief measures supervised and operated by international agencies, takes place throughout East Pakistan and the majority of refugees in India and repatriated to East Pakistan."

Anti-fire week set

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Citing annual losses of $2 billion and 12,000 lives, President Nixon Tuesday proclaimed the week beginning Oct. 3 as National Fire Prevention Week. "The most shameful aspect of this terrible waste is that it is so unnecessary," Nixon said. "Most fires are caused by carelessness, by lack of knowledge or by hazardous conditions, all of which can be eliminated."

Monotonous

NEW YORK (UPI)—One acre of seaweed could nourish a human for a lifetime, according to Ethel Diedrichsen, extension food and nutrition specialist, University of Nebraska.

Laird outlines opportunities

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI)—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird today told graduating cadets of the U.S. Military Academy they are entering the Army at a time when it is working on ways to revolutionize land warfare.

Laird told the graduates "never be defensive about your profession," despite strong anti-military sentiment throughout the United States as a result of the Vietnam war.

He also said he hoped they would end their careers without ever taking part in another war. Because of this, he said, his graduation address centered on "the tasks of military leadership in a peaceful world." "There are great opportunities for a young officer today," Laird said in his prepared text. "The new concepts which are being explored in the Army's Tricorp Division may lead to a revolutionary approach to modern ground forces."

Tests of the Tricorp Division combining for the first time in a single unit tanks with helicopter gunships and troop carriers in the air—started this spring at Ft. Hood, Tex. Techniques developed there are designed primarily for use in Europe.

Space lab

MODEL of Soviet Salute-Soyuz manned orbital laboratory is shown in photo released by official Soviet news agency Tass. Russia said craft is first Cosmodom or space house and predicted it is cornerstone of first space colony and eventual space city to be called Cosmograd. (UPI)

Spiro cites preparedness

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew told 690 U.S. Air Force Academy graduates today they faced a world where their military service probably will be disparaged. But he said they would find strength "in the inherent goodness of your country."

Delivering an address at the academy's 13th commencement,

Agnew said history has shown that unless a nation is prepared to fight to defend its rights and resources it has usually been forced to surrender them.

He decried a current "drive to disarm America" that has given birth to "outrageous assaults and ridiculous charges" against American institutions.

"You are facing a world where your efforts, your patriotism, your sacrifice will probably be denigrated," Agnew said. "Some of you will even be tempted to lay aside your blue suits."

"But others of you will never lose sight of the fact that our nation, offering the single greatest hope for today's world, faces formidable enemies; that aggression historically has been halted only by the sword, or a convincing willingness to use it; that there will be no time for leisurely rearmament in the future; and that the consequence of nuclear war is death."

Russ robot rambles

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union's Lunokhod moon robot rambled across 1,500 feet of rugged terrain on the lunar Sea of Rains during its latest journey, the news agency Tass said today. The eight-wheeled robot began moving northeasterly across the dusty surface Tuesday night, Tass said.

Election slated at Richfield

RICHFIELD — Richfield City councilmen were told Tuesday night the next step in the process of getting a sewage system for the city is passage of a city ordinance prior to calling a bond election.

Mrs. Ruth Swainston, Richfield City clerk, said John Doerr, Twin Falls attorney, is assisting with the legal aspects of the ordinance which will be presented at a future council meeting.

Councilmen accepted the 1970 audit report as submitted by Mrs. Helen Cannon, Twin Falls accountant.

Local beer and liquor licenses were renewed for the third quarter for Piper Shopping center, Peterson's Market and the Pheasant Club and Cafe.

House burns

KING HILL — A three-room cinderblock house belonging to Wesley Fink was destroyed by fire Tuesday.

He said the building was not insured since it was not occupied. Fink was irrigating on his farm on the south side of the Snake River when he saw the building burning. He and his sons attempted to fight the blaze but were unable to stop the flames.

Fink estimated the damage at about $1,000 and said while he did not know the cause of the blaze, there was evidence children had been playing in the area.

Sentencing of Foust delayed

JEROME — Fifth District Judge James Cunningham Tuesday delayed sentencing of Dewayne Foust, Jerome theater owner, and set June 17 to hear a motion for a new trial. Foust was scheduled to be sentenced on a charge of allowing minors to view films depicting nudity, for which he had been convicted earlier. Pros. Atty. Gene Fredericksen said at the Tuesday court session the girls were not employed by Foust at the time they saw the films.

Golden Bennett, Twin Falls defense attorney, attempted to present a motion for the new trial Tuesday, but was informed he had not gone through the proper procedures. Judge Cunningham will hear the motion for the new trial June 17.

The indictment is one of which Foust has been convicted carries a maximum sentence of one year in the county jail and a $10,000 fine.

Bennett said he has new evidence which was not submitted in the first trial.

Group hears resolutions

RUPERT — The traffic safety and law enforcement resolutions that will be presented at the Association of Idaho Cities State convention were read to the Rupert Traffic Safety Commission at its meeting Tuesday night.

Bill Whitton, chairman of policy and resolutions subcommittee of the AIC, told the commission that this year's committees have already met and decided what resolutions will be introduced at the state AIC convention. In the past, these were decided on during the first day of the meeting, he said.

The three traffic proposed resolutions that will be introduced are as follows:

- Commend the governor, legislature, and state traffic safety commission for their efforts to reduce the loss of life and money and for the various actions they have taken in this field.

traffic hazards and remove drunken drivers from the highways.

— Advocate the expansion in state funding for driver's education and retraining courses for law-breakers, and to induce every driver of an automobile to become fully aware of his responsibility to the public and himself when he is behind the wheel.

The four law enforcement resolutions as proposed are:

- Each city states that law and order will prevail and its residents will be protected.

- Unlawful eruptions won't be tolerated and law and order will be maintained.

- The AIC pledged support to the state to support the provisions of the omnibus crime bill of 1968.

- AIC encourages legislature to have all law enforcement personnel certified.

- The AIC recommends that more be done to eliminate the

Gooding gear bid rejected

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's State Land Board denied Tuesday a request to give the State School and Hospital at Nampa some of the equipment in the unused State Tuberculosis and Chest Disease Hospital at Gooding.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus was among board members recommending the Land Board retain control of the equipment in the Gooding hospital. He said if some of the better equipment is removed the board may have difficulty in disposing of the hospital—especially if a potential purchaser wanted the building and grounds for hospital purposes.

Auditor Joe R. Williams noted that the State School and Hospital has "taken three truckloads out of there" already.

Declo hires treasurer

DECLO — The Declo City Council hired Mrs. Nadine Maravilla as the new treasurer at a meeting Tuesday night.

Mayor Schrenk stated that residents of Declo will continue to pay their light bill and handle business pertaining to the city at the usual places.

At the Tuesday night meeting, the council also decided to try to get the new garbage ordinance into effect by July 1.

Grant launches CAA 3-year plans

TWIN FALLS — A $120,421 grant to the South Central Community Action Agency from the Office of Economic Opportunity this week has launched the first phase of a new three-year program in the three county area, reports Royal C. Slotten, president of the local board.

The appropriation, the same amount as was granted for last year, guarantees continuance of the action agency for the tri-county area, and though the funds are not used specifically to purchase food, housing or medical needs of needy, it does guarantee that the coordinating services of the agency will be able to continue with its present 15 staff members.

"The work of the agency," Slotten said, "is to bring to attention of the community the many services and funds available to them for development in needed fields in their respective areas."

The $120,421 grant is broken down in the local office budget to show $18,234 for administration; $22,568 for neighborhood center services at Twin Falls and Burley; $17,395 for man power priority work; $14,218 for educational work; $12,213, health; $12,345 for housing and $23,477, senior citizen opportunity.

It is within the four area priority field that the new three-year program will be carried out, Slotten said. He lists them as:

- Manpower, finding work or training for the people in need, with an aim to help them help themselves.

- Education, a particular problem to provide adequate

Times-News Writer
OAKLEY — The RF4C jet which disappeared Nov. 12 while on a training mission from the Mountain Home Air Base, exploded on impact when it struck a rocky cliff near here, Maj. Bill Bradley, Mountain Home safety adviser for the investigating team, said Tuesday.

The wreckage of the jet was found late Monday afternoon about nine miles south of Oakley and about 120 feet from the top of Middle Mountain. Maj. Bradley said the plane was flying south and struck the cliff at about a 180 degree angle. Upon impact, he said, the plane was scattered over the mountain with portions of the jet coming to rest over the top of the mountain on the other side. He said the largest pieces are about three feet in diameter. Maj. Bradley said the two pilots flight plan included the area of the crash site. But at the time of the crash the mountain was snow covered and photographs of the area didn't reveal any such crash as it had snowed the night of the crash. Maj. Bradley said after he was notified the wreckage was found, he looked at the photographs again, but still nothing showed up as to the wreckage site. He said a team of investigators from the Mountain Home Air Base were moved into the area Tuesday morning and are looking over the wreckage to determine what the problem was prior to the crash. They are checking through the debris and taking instrument readings, air speed and altimeter readings and other essentials that will assist them in their investigation. Maj. Bradley said after the investigation is completed — it usually takes from a week to 10 days — "we will be able to determine what part of the plane hit the ground first, what the problem was and why the pilots were flying so low."

A demolition team also was moved into the area Tuesday because explosives on the plane which are used to eject the pilots' seats and to jettison exterior tanks are dangerous if they didn't explode on impact. The status of the explosives has not yet been released by the major. The Mountain Home Air Force Base was notified of the wreckage about 4 p.m. Monday by Ron Parish, Burley, a ranch hand for Gerald Marchant, Burley, who was riding fence. Parish had recently been discharged from the Air Force. Maj. Bradley said a helicopter team was flown in Monday evening and recovered the two bodies and the Civil Air Patrol was then asked to post guards at the site.

Banner to greet fiddlers

SHOSHONE — Approval was given by Shoshone Chamber of Commerce members at their Tuesday noon meeting at the Manhattan Cafe for a new banner to display across Highway 93, in the town center.

The banner will advertise the Old Time Fiddlers Jamboree to be held July 11 at the city park, and the July 4 celebration to be held on July 5, at Shoshone. T.V. Strunk, a member of the fiddlers association, will paint the sign.

The food booth at the jamboree will be handled by women of the Baptist Church. The Prescott Rides will be in Shoshone for the July 4 celebration. These are ponies for children to ride.

There will be prize money given for parade winners at the July 4 celebration. They will include the children's division and floats.

Plans are not yet completed but there will be baseball games in the afternoon and fireworks in the evening.

Myron Johnson, chamber president, read a petition which is being circulated concerning a regional airport. Five per cent of the voters of the last general election are required to sign the petition which will then call for establishment of a committee for further action toward establishing a regional airport.

The next chamber meeting will be June 22, when final plans for the July 4 event will be made.

Loan okayed on 4-H camp

SHOSHONE — A $20,000 loan to the Central Idaho 4-H Camp located in Blaine County will complete construction of sleeping quarters and a caretakers lodge, reports Ivan Hopkins, Lincoln County extension agent, and secretary of the Central Idaho 4-H Camp Association Inc.

Eight new sleeping cabins will be built and actual construction is expected to begin by mid-summer.

Notice of approval of the loan was issued Tuesday by Sen. Len B. Jordan, upon action from the Farmers Home Administration.

The nine counties using the camp each summer include Twin Falls, Elmore, Gooding, Camas, Blaine, Lincoln, Jerome, Cassia and Mindoka. Last summer 720 4-H members used the camp, and family reunion groups were allowed use of it along with some church groups.

The land, about 12 acres, is leased from the U.S. Forest Service, and the camp was first used in 1966 with the main lodge and four sleeping quarters, cook's house and rest rooms built since. Dedication of the site was held during the summer of 1969.

Upon completion of the new cabins for sleeping, the old system of using tents will then be completely eliminated, Hopkins said. The area has provided a floor and tents are erected over these for sleeping purposes.

Prior to leasing the camp site, the 4-H students were taken to the Presbyterian and Baptist Church camps in that area for their summer 4-H camp.

Road link to Picabo half done

SHOSHONE — About 47 per cent of the overall project or roadwork from U.S. Highway 93 to Picabo is now complete, reports E. L. Kidner, assistant district highway engineer at the Shoshone office.

The construction crew, Western Construction Co., Boise, resumed work on April 15 after a winter layoff. They had begun the work last fall.

About five miles of the 8.049 road section of grading is now complete. The entire project, in contract amount of $1,075,093.75, calls for grading, drainage and bituminous surface treatment plus some work on the Timmerman rest area.

At the rest area some dead trees were removed and dead branches will be removed from others.

The project is expected to be complete by this fall, Mr. Kidner said.

Bucking exhibit planned

By NINA BRUSH
Times-News Correspondent

RICHFIELD — Bucking horses belonging to rodeo promoters Dean and Bill Patterson will be used for exhibition rides preceding arena events at Richfield's gala celebration, Outlaw Day, this Saturday. Spectators must come early to not miss these volunteer rides by Lincoln County cowboys.

Horse races at 1 p.m. will precede the exhibition rides. Race horses from Wendell and Gooding are expected to compete with local horses. One outstanding Richfield horse racer is Ronnie Goicochea, who has trained a number of horses.

Arena events of the Outlaw celebration, are always highlighted by the queen's contest when judges make the all important horsemanship choice. Reigning queen Debbie Guthrie, Shoshone, will officially open the arena events with her appearance in a grand entrance. Her mount will perform the figure eight and be followed by the four queen contestants.

Barrel races will be run by both girls and women and numerous youth will try calf riding. A number of novelty events are scheduled as well as calf roping, team roping, and the many races.

The 1972 queen will be crowned at 10:30 p.m. at the Outlaw dance at the American Legion hall. Music will be furnished by Dub and Don Capps' orchestra, The Outcasts.

Three prizes will be given away at the dance including a barbecue grill, 44 quart ice chest, and three gallon picnic jug.

Report given on seminar

WENDELL — Wendell Chamber of Commerce members heard a report on general priorities as determined by the Snake River Basin seminar at a breakfast meeting this morning at the Motor Inn Cafe.

The Boise seminar was sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Idaho, with 10 residents of Magic Valley attending. Mrs. Earl Schrenk, Wendell, chamber member who was one of the delegates, said a meeting is scheduled July 8 in Twin Falls to discuss agricultural pollution in the area.

Purpose of the meeting will be to explore goals for controlling agricultural pollution. Mrs. Schrenk said at the seminar group meetings, it was determined this is the major problem in the Magic Valley area.

Jim Archibald will represent the Wendell chamber at the Twin Falls meeting. Mrs. Royal Slotten, Twin Falls, league member, will be chairman of the July 8 meeting.

John Wert, chamber president, said petitions on the proposed airport are available from chamber members for signature by qualified voters.

The chamber has gone on record favoring the site selected in Jerome County.

The annual October farmers night was discussed. An invitation was read from the Boise chamber inviting representatives to a July 19 seminar at the Rodeway Inn on farm raising.

Benn Ross, salesman for Wendell Printing and Lithograph Co., and Dr. O.M. Thurman, chiropractor, were introduced as new members.

Air Not pollution index available

The pollution reading was taken by the staff of the South Central Health District of the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is expressed as the number of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today.

Federal pollution regulations say pollution levels should be kept below 75 micrograms over any 24-hour period, and should not be permitted to rise above 700 micrograms for even a short period of time.

Forecast

Today: Excellent
Tonight: Good
Tomorrow: Excellent

The forecast provided by the Idaho Department of Health indicates the ability of the atmosphere to disperse pollution during a period of low winds when the air is poorly able to disperse or pollute.

He said the Atlantic coast cities are making a concerted effort to persuade the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) to locate the port there.

Meanwhile, Ken Stearns of the state department of commerce and development distributed a booklet describing the assets of the area for NASA. The information was compiled according to a space agency guideline and includes data concerning work force, population, educational institutions, transportation service, utilities and industrial categories.

ATLANTA (UPI) — Pitcher Darrell Evans drove in the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the bottom of the 10th inning Tuesday night to give the Atlanta Braves an 8-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Rookie Earl Williams, who homered earlier in the game, led off the 10th with a double. Pinch-runner Sonny Jackson was sacrificed to third by Zola Versalles and, after Mike Lum was intentionally walked, Evans hit a high fly to left-center deep enough to enable Jackson to race home from third.

DeMolay sets sport day in T.F.

A special sports day for DeMolay chapters in southern Idaho and northern Utah will be held in Twin Falls Saturday, reports Morrie Roth, event chairman.

Roth said between two and three hundred young men are expected to participate in the program that will include softball, basketball, tennis and swimming.

He added a definite format for the competition could not be established until a nose count Saturday. If the attending chapters have sufficient manpower to provide teams, they will play as an entity. If not, the teams may be chosen by lot.

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Heavyweight Jeff Merritt scored a pounding second round weekday night over Willie McMillian and the winner's manager, Chris Dundee, immediately guaranteed $50,000 to George Foreman to meet Merritt.

Dundee said he wants a Merritt-Foreman fight as part of a closed circuit television card in Miami Beach, which would take place before the Muhammad Ali-Jimmy Ellis bout in Houston, July 26.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Joe Pepitone homered against a 20-mile an hour wind with two out in the twelfth inning Tuesday to give the Chicago Cubs and left-handed pitcher Ken Holtzman a 1-0 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Holtzman, who pitched a no-hitter against Atlanta in his last start, worked the full 12 innings against the Pirates, allowing nine hits. But he struck out 12 and walked none and gave up only two hits in only two innings.

Top choice must make adjustment
PEORIA, Ill. (UPI) — Being the nation's No. 1 selection in the regular phase of baseball's annual summer draft requires 17-year-old Danny K. Goodwin to make some important reevaluations about his life.

Until recently Danny thought of himself as a senior at Peoria Central High School and a "pretty good" catcher on the school's baseball team. His ambition was to become a dentist.

But the perspective changed Tuesday after the Chicago White Sox, as they previously announced they would, selected Goodwin ahead of all other youngsters in the nation in the opening round of the draft at New York City.

Hits by Wentworth and Hanchey in ninth lift T.F. past Billings 2-1

Perry Hanchey opened the ninth inning with a triple and scored on Kerry Wentworth's wrongfield single to HR the Twin Falls Legion past Billings 2-1 Tuesday night and a sweep of the two-game opening series. Hanchey got a second chance when his popped-up foul ball on a 3-2 pitch was dropped by the first baseman. He lined the next pitch up the rightfield alley and belly-flopped safely into third base. Wentworth, who had entered the game only an inning earlier, then slapped a sharp single between first and second to ice it. The victory went to Darrell Groves, who spends his high school springs running the distances for the track team. Groves, who opened at third base, relieved lefty Kevin Nelson when the starter's arm started tightening up in the third inning. With solid control, Groves kept Billings from threatening the rest of the way and got good infield support, especially from third baseman Mike Erickson. The teams traded give-away runs in the early going. Nelson opened the second by living on an error. Three pitches later he broke for second base as Paul Clark hit a soft-pop up toward shortstop. The Billings shortstop, who was moving to cover second, fell down in trying to get back for what appeared to be an easy double play. The ball then trickled onto the leftfield grass as Nelson steamed into third. He scored on a wild pitch. Billings evened it in the third when Chuck Yagan drew a walk, was sacrificed to second and came around on a wild pitch and error.

Stottlemire, N.Y. blank Angels 3-0

ANAHEIM (UPI)—Danny Cater collected four straight hits including his first home run of the season Tuesday night as Mel Stottlemire pitched the New York Yankees to a 3-0 shutout victory over the California Angels. For Stottlemire the win was his seventh straight over the Angels, dating back to June 30, 1967 and raised his record to 7-3. Rookie Andy Hassler, 0-1, making only his second major league start, took the loss, leaving the game in the fifth after the Yankees had scored two runs off him. Cater had a double and two singles in addition to his leadoff homer in the eighth and scored two of New York's runs.

Billings, which now is 0-4, having lost a pair at Pocatello, is scheduled to go on to Mountain Home, Boise, Payette and Lewiston but following the game the Montanans were thinking about "going home and getting in some practice."

String of six birdies lifts Blandford to Dropping title

UNDERHAND TOSS by Twin Falls pitcher Darrell Groves to first baseman Kevin Nelson retires Billings' Yurich as the Montanan tried to beat out a swinging bunt down the first base line Tuesday night. Twin Falls nipped Billings 2-1 to sweep the two game series.

Opening the day with six straight birdies, Jim Blandford, who just graduated from Twin Falls high school, swooped from seven strokes off the pace to win the annual John Dropping tournament at Hillcrest Country Club Tuesday. Blandford didn't cinch the title until the 18th hole when his closest competitors, Dave Molitor of Boise and Jim Zimmerman of Pasco, Wash., bogied the last hole. Blandford, who plans to attend Arizona State University in Tempe next fall, finished the 54-hole test with a six-over 222 score. Zimmerman, who co-medaled in the meet, and Molitor had 223s. The championship flight played 36 holes Tuesday which gave Blandford a little time to overcome the 69-76 deficit he faced against Zimmerman after Monday's opening round. He succeeds former high school teammate Jeff Thomsen as champion. "I birdied the first six holes. Do you believe it?" asked the new champion. "It was mostly my putter," he continued. "I chipped in on No. 5, missed a three-footer on No. 7 and my putt lipped out on No. 9." That added up to 30. "Then I woke up," Blandford smiled. He took his first bogey of the day on the 14th; and his Tigers 8, Brewers 3 DETROIT (UPI)—Mickey Stanley tripled with the bases loaded and scored the fourth run of the fifth inning himself Tuesday night to speed the Detroit Tigers past the Milwaukee Brewers, 8-3.

Boston 5, A's 1 OAKLAND (UPI)—Veteran Ray Culp hurled a three-hitter and struck out 11 Tuesday night as the Boston Red Sox, powered by Duane Josephson's two-run homer, beat the Oakland A's 5-1.

Stanley's third of four straight hits followed a double by Willie Horton, Norm Cash's single and a bases-filling walk to Bill Freehan as Milwaukee starter Bill Parsons started on his way to his seventh loss against five wins. The hit preceded a successful suicide squeeze bunt by Ed Brinkman which gave Detroit a 5-3 margin.

Orioles 8, Twins 2 BALTIMORE (UPI)—Don Buford and Mark Belanger drove in two runs apiece Tuesday night and Pat Dobson yielded nine hits as the Baltimore Orioles posted a 8-2 defeat over the Minnesota Twins.

Frank Robinson opened the second with a single, followed by a walk to Boog Powell and Dave Johnson's single to score Robinson. Belanger doubled to score Powell and Johnson and Buford followed with his homer into the rightfield bleachers.

MONTREAL (UPI)—Twenty-six players valued at $1,010,000 changed hands Tuesday during the annual intra-league draft held as part of the National Hockey League meetings. Before the draft, each club was allowed to protect 17 players and two goaltenders. The Buffalo Sabres were the biggest takers as they drafted seven players. Their choices included Ray McKay of the Chicago Black Hawks, Hugh Harris from the Montreal Canadiens, Danny Lawson of the Minnesota North Stars, Rod Zaine of the Pittsburgh Penguins; Detroit Red Wing Tom Miller and two members of the Toronto Maple Leafs organization, Rene Robert and Ken Murray.

Thomsen misses bid for open

Jeff Thomsen, defending Idaho state amateur champion, failed in his quest for a spot in the U.S. Open during a 36-hole qualifying round at Silverado golf course, Napa, Calif. Thomsen shot a 76-82 to finish 14 strokes off the qualifying pace. "Even par had to payoff," the just graduated youngster said on his return. "There were 68 competing and only seven were from out of state. A 14-year-old kid (Jim Connor) shot a 145 and just missed it by one." "The course wasn't very difficult, just real long. I never

Finding life on Mars would be top discovery

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—If Russia's two large Mars probes land on the Red Planet and find life there, they will have made what some scientists think will rank as the scientific discovery of the century.

The Soviets have not said what the two 10,253-pound spacecraft will search for, but repeated hints in the Soviet press suggest their mission is to land softly on the Martian surface with life detection instruments.

The United States at one time also planned an unmanned landing on Mars this year, but a series of cuts in the space agency's budgets downgraded the project and delayed a landing until 1976.

The Russian spacecraft, Mars 2 and Mars 3, were launched last month and are expected to reach Mars sometime next November — about the time when America's 2,200-pound Mariner 9 is scheduled to orbit the planet.

Eisenhower dollars ready

TWIN FALLS — Eisenhower collectors dollars will be available by order June 18, according to Harold O. Hove, vice president of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co. in Twin Falls.

The regular Eisenhower dollar will be available this fall. He said the financial institutions will not directly deal in the collectors coins, but will have forms by which residents may order from the U.S. Mint. He said each person is allowed five of the $10 coins and five of the $3 coins. Orders will be accepted on July 1, he said, but forms will be available about two weeks before then.

16 per cent decline reported by builders

NEW YORK — A sampling of 62 major makers of building materials, representing 14 different construction product categories, revealed a 16 per cent decline in profits during the first quarter of 1971 compared with a year ago.

Profits, however, since 1970's fourth quarter have been rising and an upturn is expected by year's end. F. W. Dodge division of McGraw-Hill Information Systems Co. reported.

According to George A. Christie, vice-president and Chief economist of Dodge, "Profitability among building products manufacturers in 1971's opening quarter showed a distinct improvement over the previous three months, even though profits are still below their strong year-ago level."

Dodge, a leading authority on the construction market, reported that companies in the glass and multi-products groups recorded the largest profit increase for the quarter, 43 per cent; and 28 per cent respectively. Both groups reflected the current housing surge, with a significant increase in sales.

the construction market, reported that companies in the glass and multi-products groups recorded the largest profit increase for the quarter, 43 per cent; and 28 per cent respectively. Both groups reflected the current housing surge, with a significant increase in sales.

"The strongest construction market in the first quarter was residential building," with contract awards 27 per cent above the depressed rate of 1970's opening months. Glass manufacturers, the Dodge economist said, were also favorably affected by renewed demand from the automobile industry.

Nuclear sub may be built

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Communist China might be building its first nuclear powered submarine, the Pentagon said Monday.

Defense Department spokesman Jerry W. Friedhelm indicated the new vessel, still in its early stages of construction, probably would be an attack submarine. This type of sub is designed to fight ships and other submarines rather than to fire ballistic missiles.

Pentagon sources said China now "undoubtedly" had the technical ability to build a nuclear power plant, but it was unlikely China will have a missile-firing nuclear powered sub this decade.

From the shape of the hull, the sources said, it appeared the new sub would not carry missiles.

Construction of the new submarine was detected through U.S. aerial reconnaissance, the sources said. They said the submarine is larger than any others Red China has produced.

Two Chinese submarines are armed with ballistic missiles — three missiles per sub — but they have a range of only about 380 miles.

The United States launched its first nuclear powered submarine 17 years ago. Russia launched its first nuclear sub about 4 years later.

Librarians study plan for state

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho State Library Board has met in Boise and drafted plans for development of the state's libraries for the next five years.

The chairman of the group, Mrs. Marguerite Laughlin, Moscow, said special emphasis was given toward planning services for the disadvantaged, the handicapped, prison inmates, patients, schools for handicapped persons, hospitals operated by the state and expanded interlibrary cooperation.

Among proposals drafted by the group is the creation of a pre-school library program in most public libraries with volunteers, churches, granges, 4-H clubs and schools enlisted to help.

The board also proposed increased state aid until public library facilities reach their goal of $1 million. Of this amount, only $100,000 has been appropriated by the last two legislatures.

Bid Proves Good Mixer

Bridge hand diagram showing North (D) and South hands with suits and cards.

Four hearts would not make and South made 12 tricks at no-trump. East won the spade lead with the ace and returned the eight. West ducked because he would have no way to make any tricks with small spades. This would have been a good play most of the time. This time it was suicide.

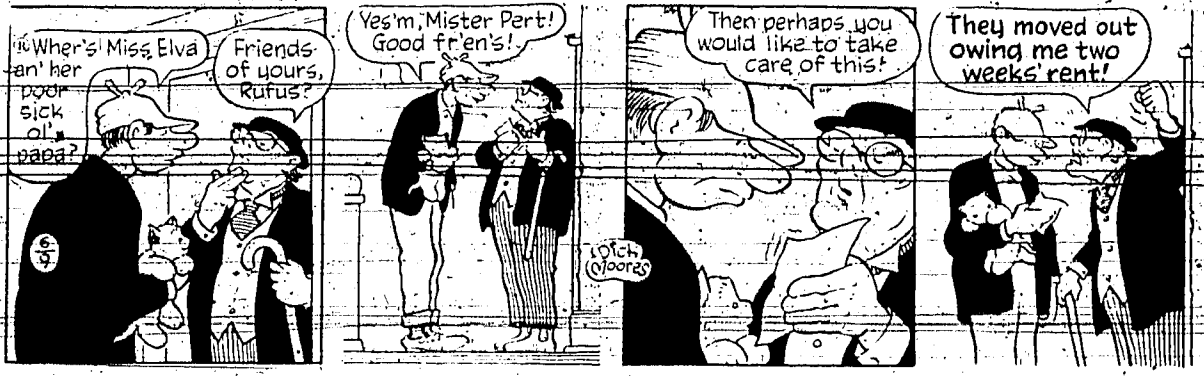

By Oswald & James Jacoby

When you use weak two bids, keep in mind that you have told your partner a great deal about your hand. In most instances he will take charge from then on. One exception to this is when he responds two no-trump and rebids to three no-trump. In this case, he tells you that he prefers no-trump, but that you should go back to your suit if your hand is very suit-oriented.

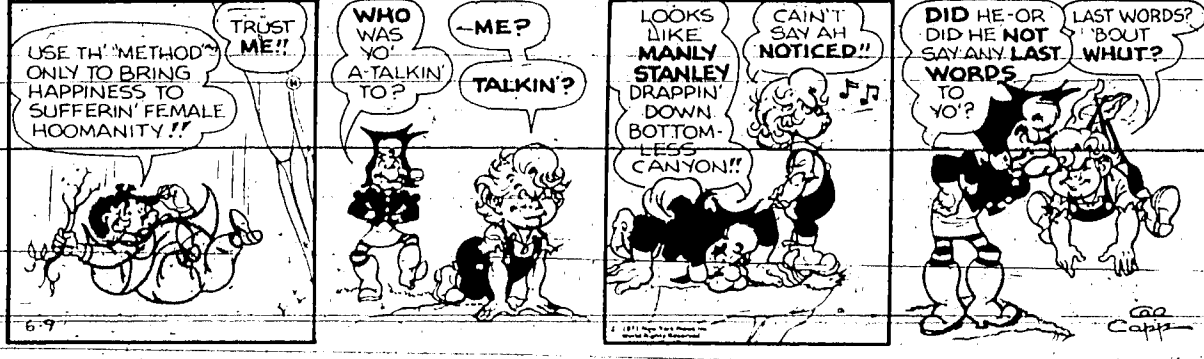

East had gone down to four cards. If all four were clubs his last heart would be gone. If three were clubs then dummy's four clubs would all be winners. The bidding has been: West 1♥ North 1♠ East 1NT South 2♠. Pass 2♠. Pass 2♠. Pass 2♠. Pass 2♠.

TODAY'S QUESTION: West and North pass and East goes to three spades. What do you do now? Answer: Tomorrow

Housing request list boom ahead

TWIN FALLS — Requests for room reservations for participants in the National High School Rodeo scheduled for August 3-8 at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds at Filer are slow coming in, according to a report made Monday during a meeting of the rodeo committee.

Evil Garrett, member of the housing committee, said less than a third of the 24 participating states have written asking for reservations. It was pointed out that state finals have not been held in most of the participating states and that reservations probably will be made shortly after national contestants from each state are picked. The committee voted to send a reminder letter to each state, requesting the reservations be made as quickly as possible.

Tom Shouse, secretary-manager of the Twin Falls County Fair, who is in charge of accommodations for contestants' horses, asked that the letters contain a reminder to state directors to arrange for stalls for horses.

Garrett also said that there will be insufficient space in hotels and motels in Magic Valley for contestants and others connected with the rodeo. He asks that any area residents who would like to have contestants stay in their homes call the rodeo office at the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce to volunteer quarters. This, he said, will provide a quick referral list after public accommodations are filled.

Bob Harvey, ticket chairman, said season tickets for the rodeo are now available and that regular admission tickets should be available by next week. Season tickets, providing admittance during all performances, can now be reserved by calling the chamber office.

It also was reported that matching shirts for executive committee members are now in. The committee also is asking that residents of the area dress in western apparel during the rodeo.

Members of the Jaycees attended the meeting to report on progress in selling patron sponsorships for the National High School Rodeo souvenir programs. The committee also voted to purchase 16,000 souvenir trade coins instead of the 10,000 previously agreed upon. There also will be several hundred $12 silver trade coins purchased for distribution.

Potato farmers on tour

TWIN FALLS — A group of 24 potato farmers from France arrived in Twin Falls Tuesday evening to spend two days touring potato growing and processing operations in Twin Falls County.

The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce has arranged a tour which stretches from one end of the county to the other, according to Ray Rostron, chamber manager.

After breakfast today, the group toured the Idaho Frozen Foods processing plant in Twin Falls. Later, they visited the Snake River Research Center and University of Idaho Agricultural Experiment Station at Kimberly.

On Thursday the French group will visit Acme Machine Works in Filer where they will examine potato harvesting equipment manufactured there.

At 11 a.m. they will tour the Duane Ramseyer farm near Filer. After a box lunch at the county fairgrounds at Filer, they will travel to the Bell Rapids project in western Twin Falls County to inspect the large sprinkler irrigation development.

The group plans to leave Twin Falls Friday morning. While here they also will visit the county's most famous scenic attraction, Shoshone Falls.

KNIFE-HOLDING houseboat owner Russell Grisham is confronted by sheriff's deputies with drawn pistols during water-borne assault by authorities on houseboats in Richardson Bay near Sausalito, Calif. The skirmish was the latest episode in the more than 20 year battle between Marin County and houseboat owners as authorities try to impose health and safety standards on the houseboats. Grisham tried to use the knife to cut the line towing his craft. (UPI)

20-year battle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hoping to choke off the flow of illicit drugs, the government soon will begin closely examining the half million licenses that manufacturers, dealers, researchers and doctors have for handling narcotics, it was reported Tuesday.

Officials in the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs (BNDD) said the virtual automatic renewal process of the past will be abandoned in favor of a hard look at each of the estimated 500,000 licenses.

One-twelfth of the licenses come up for renewal each month starting July 1. Under the 1970 Drug Abuse Act, responsibility for registration was transferred from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) to BNDD, effective on May 1. BNDD is out to get major sources of diversion of legitimate drugs into illegitimate channels—estimated to be more than 20 per cent of all legal production. Such diversions occur somewhere between the manufacturers and the distributors.

"We're going to deny a few licenses and hold hearings," an enforcer said in an interview, "that way we figure we'll begin to get almost automatic compliance with the law."

Doctors have complained that the new law requires them to fill out more detailed forms and costs them more. BNDD said more than half the forms received from doctors were incorrectly completed and when one doctor was asked to list what types of drugs he wanted to dispense he simply wrote: "All the drugs I used to prescribe." Under the new requirements, BNDD must give an applicant an order to show cause why his registration should not be denied, revoked or suspended. The applicant will have 30 days in which to answer at hearings before BNDD examines it.

The attorney general has broad discretion to move against applicants he feels are unqualified. He may simply cite "the public interest" or "public health unsafety."

In the past, IRS issued drug licenses under a now defunct tax law which the Supreme Court said had been unconstitutionally applied in criminal prosecutions. Applicants filled out a short form stating little more than their name, address, occupation, and class of drugs involved.

Puffing declines again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Marking the fourth straight year of decline, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) reported Tuesday that the average American adult smoked 198 packages of cigarettes last year.

By comparison, per capita consumption was 214 packs in 1963, the year before the surgeon general's first report on smoking and health.

The FTC report said 26.7 billion packages of cigarettes were sold in the United States last year, four fifths of them filter brands. This was a new high for filters and menthols, extra-longs and low tar brands also reported gains in their share of the market.

Spending on cigarette advertising hit a record $314.7 million in 1970, the report said, including $205 million for television and $12.4 million for radio commercials in the last year broadcast cigarette commercials were permitted.

In sending its statistical report to Congress, the FTC made one recommendation, outlaw the hailing of sample cigarettes.

New aide assigned T.F. post

TWIN FALLS — Gordon Erskine has transferred from the regional forest service office at Ogden, Utah, to the Sawtooth National Forest in Twin Falls.

Erskine, an accountant, received his bachelor of science degree in business administration from Southern Colorado State College, Pueblo, Colo., in 1966, and his master's degree in business administration from Utah State University in 1967.

He served with the U.S. Army from March, 1968, to March, 1970, and has been with the forest service since October of 1970.

He replaces Bill Frye, who was transferred to the Fish Lake National Forest, Richfield, Utah.
