Flight record silent

DUARTE, Calif. (UPI)—The cockpit voice recorder from the commercial airliner which collided with a military jet last Sunday was too badly damaged to be playable, technicians said today.

A spokesman for the National Transportation Safety Board, probing the crash which killed 50, said the tape-recording device would yield no clues to what happened in the last seconds before the collision.

The outside of the fire-scarred box, discovered in the shattered remains of the tail section of the Air West DC9, had been damaged by heat and investigators sent it to Washington for examination without opening it.

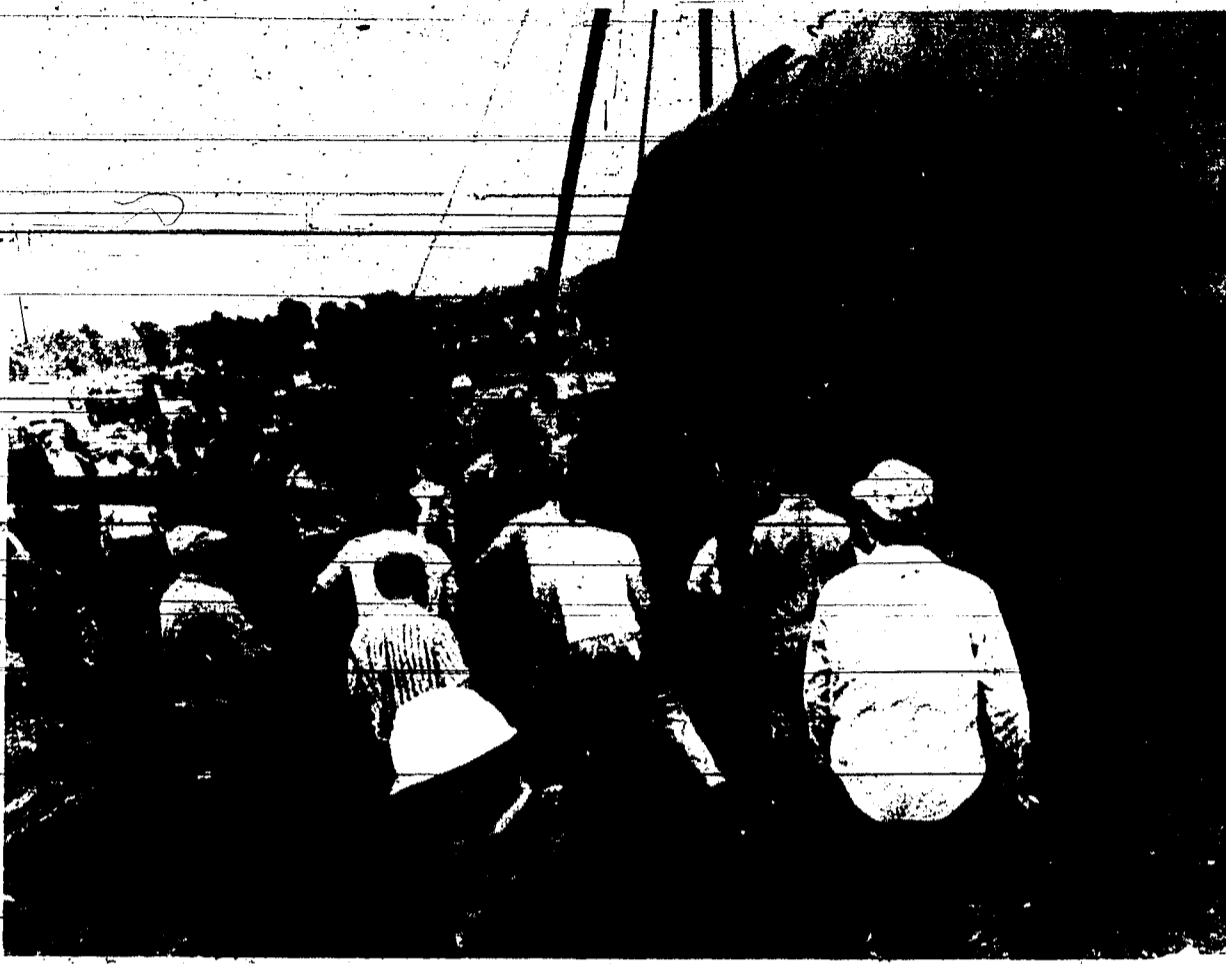

Federal investigators said the device should have recorded every sound in the cockpit of the Air West craft up to the instant it collided with the Marine Phantom F4.

The hunt for the last 11 bodies of the 50 victims continued on a rugged mountainside 40 miles north of Los Angeles. Operations have been hampered by fog which has persisted in the desolate area, accessible only by helicopter.

In other developments, a reliable source at Mountain Home Air Force Base near Boise, Idaho, told UPI the jet stopped for five hours at the field to correct a malfunction in the craft's hydraulic system. The supersonic fighter was en route to its home base at El Toro, Calif., after a training mission.

The only survivor of the crash, the radar intercept officer who parachuted from the Phantom, has told investigators that the pilot of the craft executed a 360-degree roll one minute before the crash at 12,000 feet.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration said U.S. aviation regulation 91.71 prohibits, among other things, aerobatics on federal airways.

Seek victim

WORKMEN attempt to remove body of victim from beneath railroad coach after Illinois Central's "City of New Orleans" derailed near Salem, Ill., Thursday. Rail, left, pierced car, emerging through roof. Dozen persons were killed and about 100 passengers were injured. Train carried 200 passengers.

Arab guerrillas attack workmen

By United Press International
Guerrillas attacked Arab civilians leaving the occupied Gaza Strip for their jobs in Israel today, killing and wounding a number of them.

The commandos threw two grenades at Arabs waiting for buses in central Medina Square in Gaza town, and a third grenade exploded on a packed bus near the Deir El Balah refugee camp. At least two Arabs were killed and 66 wounded. All the Arabs involved were going to their daily jobs in Israel.

On Thursday night, two Israeli automobiles were attacked by Arab commandos but only one person was injured.

In Cairo, diplomatic sources said Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's increasingly hard-line speeches have cast new doubts on hopes for a Middle-East peace settlement.

11 dead in rail mishap

TONTI, Ill. (UPI)—An 11th person died early today of injuries suffered Thursday when the "City of New Orleans" passenger train derailed near here at 90 miles an hour.

Authorities said Mrs. Clara McKinney, 38, died in Good Samaritan Hospital in nearby Mount Vernon. Hospital spokesmen declined to reveal the nature of her injuries.

Nearly 100 other persons were injured as the Amtrak train, operated by the Illinois Central Railroad, jumped the tracks, sending seven passenger cars and 206 persons sprawling along the right-of-way.

IC officials said a locked wheel on the lead diesel caused the derailment. Authorities said it was the nation's most deadly rail mishap since 1962. Three of the dead had not been identified by early today.

James Law, Illinois superintendent for the IC, said late Thursday the derailment was caused by a locked rear wheel on the lead engine.

The malfunction was not noticeable to the engineer, Law said, and the train traveled about a mile and a half with the wheel locked. This built up a "false flange" or ridge on the wheel, he said, and when the engine went over a coupling, the wheels left the track.

Henry Haney, the engineer, then "cleared the clock" railroad parlance for pulling the emergency brake, Law said. But by that time the brown and orange cars were piling up and flying from the track.

11 Yanks detained in Cuba

MIAMI (UPI)—Thirteen Americans are being detained today by the Cuban government for alleged illegal entry into Cuba and eight of them must face a "revolutionary tribunal" to decide their fate.

Radio Havana monitored here gave the first accounts of the arrests Thursday and linked them with the conviction of four young Cuban fishermen this week in Key West.

They are serving six months in jail in lieu of $10,000 fines. Cuba called the sentences one "of so many disgraceful chapters in the history of that imperialist country."

Early today the four Cubans were resting in their Monroe County Jail cell, reading books in Spanish provided by a representative of Czechoslovakia. Thursday the Cuban government ordered defense attorneys not to appeal the convictions, and not to pay any fines.

The fishermen had been accused of fishing within 12 miles of the remote Dry Tortugas in the Gulf of Mexico. Their contention that they were not within 12 miles was held inadmissible in court. Radio Havana said there would be no appeal "because it considers the American judges and courts venal instruments of Yankee imperialism, unworthy of the slightest trust or respect."

Reds overrun Cambodian town

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Hundreds of Viet Cong overwhelmed a Cambodian unit and captured the district town of Srang, southwest of Phnom Penh, for the third time in less than a year, military sources said today.

In neighboring South Vietnam, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong gunners stepped up attacks against allied positions along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

UPI Correspondent Alan Dawson reported the Viet Cong overran the Cambodian battalion, which was under strength because many of the unit's men had been moved north to help in sustained fighting in marshlands east of Phnom Penh.

Srang, 25 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, fell to the Communists after 10 hours of fighting Wednesday, the sources said. The extent of casualties was unknown but "many" Cambodian defenders were killed and wounded, the sources said.

A relief battalion set out from the provincial capital of Kompong Speu early today to try to retake Srang but it ran into a Communist ambush and one government soldier was killed.

The fighting in an area 11 miles east of Phnom Penh has been going on for 13 days and Cambodian spokesmen said the Communists were trying to seize a marshy area in order to get within rocket range of the capital.

In Saigon, the U.S. command reported increased Communist artillery attacks against a string of allied bases near the DMZ.

Field reports said the Communists pounded Fire Support Base Fuller four miles south of the DMZ separating North and South Vietnam with four rounds of 120mm mortar Thursday and a Soviet 122mm rocket fire hit Fire Base Alpha 2 near Gio Linh, two miles south of the demarcation line Thursday night.

Another fire base just south of the DMZ and east of Alpha 2 was hit by several undetermined type shells.

A defensive position of a South Vietnamese infantry battalion a few miles southeast of Fuller was hit with a barrage of 82mm rounds.

Nixon to enforce housing bias law

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon pledged today the government will vigorously enforce laws against racial discrimination in housing but he said it will not force affluent suburbs to accept housing projects intended for the poor.

"A municipality that does not want federally assisted housing should not have it imposed from Washington by bureaucratic fiat," Nixon said in a 15-page review of his administration's housing policy.

The statement, more than a year in preparation, drew a clear distinction between racial and economic discrimination.

"By equal housing opportunity, I mean the achievement of a condition in which individuals of similar income levels have a like range of housing choices available to them regardless of race, color, religion or national origin," Nixon said.

The statement, which emphasized the requirements of existing laws, including the 1968 Fair Housing Act, was a victory for Attorney General John N. Mitchell.

Housing Secretary George Romney had suggested that the government take greater steps to help the poor obtain housing in neighborhoods which are now too costly.

Drafts of the statement were prepared separately in the Justice Department and the Housing and Urban Development Department.

Nixon declared: "We will not seek to impose economic integration upon an existing local jurisdiction; at the same time, we will not countenance any use of economic measures as a subterfuge for racial discrimination."

The President traced housing discrimination back to 1917 when the Supreme Court outlawed local ordinances which banned blacks and other minority groups from residential blocks where they did not already constitute a majority.

Dispute flares on jet report

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Writer

OAKLEY — While an Air Force recovery team worked amid rain, mud and snow to retrieve the wreckage of the RF4C Phantom jet which crashed last November, a dispute flared today over an apparently mislaid report of a "low-flying plane" in the area.

The Mountain Home Air Force Base apparently did not receive reports of the low-flying jet from the Oakley area, even though Civil Air Patrol personnel say the reports were transmitted.

Bill Poythres, information officer at Mountain Home, said today the base has no log of messages received at the time from the Oakley area.

"We have not been able to correlate any of the calls from people who are supposed to have seen it (the crash) with those who called us," Poythres said.

Today, he said, "we have a report that there may be eyewitnesses." An accident investigation team will interview several Oakley area residents who reported hearing either a "low-flying plane" or, in at least one case, "an aircraft in trouble."

Hyrum Craner, a rural Oakley resident, said he saw a jet fly low over the area on Nov. 12 toward the seven-mile-distant Middle Mountain. "I didn't think he was going to make it," Craner said. He did not see the plane hit the mountain, however.

The Civil Air Patrol received a few reports from Oakley area residents who reported the low-flying jet on Nov. 12, the date of the crash. Kenneth Rosecrans, Burley, a senior member of the CAP, said he relayed a report from one resident to "air base operations" at Mountain Home.

Lee Peirce, manager of the Federal Aviation Authority Flight Service Station at Burley, said records of calls received and transmitted are retained for only six months. Records of last November were destroyed the first of June, Peirce said.

An FAA employee called Peirce said today, that one report — of the low-flying aircraft — was received, and was relayed to an Air Force mobile radio unit set up in the area to coordinate search missions.

Ray Crandal, Idaho Wing information officer for the CAP, said "no eyewitness reports" were received by CAP personnel during the search for the missing aircraft.

"If we had received any reports, we would have had a search party in the area immediately; you can bank on that," Crandal said. His declaration was echoed by Lt. Poythres and Col. Whitey Hurlbut, assistant wing commander at the air base. Both said if any reports had been received of the crash, a search-and-rescue party would have been dispatched immediately to the site.

Civilian 'troops' fire on students

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—A demonstration by 20,000 students turned into a battle Thursday night when "shock brigades" of apparent plainclothes police opened fire on the demonstrators. Sporadic shooting continued early today.

The rioting was the worst in Mexico City since the violence that preceded the 1968 Olympics.

Police said four persons were killed and 26 hospitalized and 139 arrested.

"Four snipers have been arrested and 16 abandoned weapons have been seized," a police spokesman said. "There are still some sporadic shots from snipers in the area."

Earlier, UPI cameraman Tony Hallik said he saw six persons lying in a street "being treated and handled as dead persons—I assume they were dead."

Mayor Alfonso Martinez said no plainclothesmen fired at the student demonstrators who were calling for labor union reform, university reform, and the release of "political prisoners."

However, news and photo reporters who saw the action, including a number of UPI correspondents, said the unidentified men arrived in city trucks and buses, addressed each other with such titles as "sergeant" and "lieutenant," and gave and received orders like policemen or soldiers.

Uniformed police on the scene referred to the men as "shock brigades."

The Presidential Palace said the rioting began with students of different political groups brawling. A spokesman said Communist, Trotskyite and other leftwing groups were mounting a protest march and a confrontation occurred with the rightwing political student organization known as MURO.

The protest march began at the 70,000-student National Polytechnical Institute—the scene of the 1968 demonstrations that brought 78 deaths, 40 of them in a gun battle in the courtyard of a housing development.

Thursday's protest march had only just begun when city police fired tear gas bombs to disperse the estimated 20,000 marchers. A UPI correspondent reported from the scene that "then groups of men jumped from state trucks and buses bearing no labels and charged the students scattered in all directions. I heard four shots."

He said "the men in plain clothes were very well organized."

CAP chief's statement hit

By RICHARD HIGH
Times-News Managing Editor
TWIN FALLS — The information officer of the CAP's Idaho Wing said late Thursday that statements made by his CAP boss regarding the Oakley crash of an Air Force jet were "unauthorized."

Information officer Ray Crandal said "all information" regarding the crash of the jet is "classified," and that statements by Civil Air Patrol Idaho Wing Commander Col. George Faulkner, Rupert, were "not cleared."

Col. Faulkner had told the Times-News earlier Thursday only that a "senior member" of the CAP who was an adult instructor had received a report of the crash from a person Faulkner had declined to identify. The senior CAP member's identity was not disclosed.

Crandal said he was "skeptical" that Col. Faulkner had made any statement to the Times-News.

Crandal said that he would order on his own initiative that a news blackout be imposed on the Times-News for reporting Col. Faulkner's statements without first receiving "clearance" from Crandal.

"I will recommend and order that absolutely no information from Civil Air Patrol personnel be given to the Times-News on any matter," Crandal said.

Crandal said he had not yet contacted Faulkner regarding Faulkner's statement.

Crandal said the report was forwarded to officials at the Mountain Home Air Force Base, and a search launched by Idaho CAP units.

Crandal said the late hour of the sighting prevented a daylight search, and that heavy snowfall during the night prevented searchers from locating the crash site on Middle Mountain the next day.

Crandal confirmed reports that officials at the Mountain Home base had been displeased after Cassia County Sheriff's officers reportedly permitted television film crews to visit the crash site this week, before an Air Force team could cordon off the area.

Crandal said there was no disagreement between the base officials and the local CAP officials.

He said there had been "good reason" for cordoning off the crash site, but would not elaborate.

"A reporter could be shot for going up there," he said.

Annulment path eases

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI today announced reforms making it quicker for Roman Catholics to obtain marriage annulments in church courts.

The reforms, contained in an Apostolic letter dated March 28 and issued today, will go into effect Oct. 1. The reforms have been in experimental use in the United States since July 1.

They allowed laymen—even women—to hold office in church courts, permit a single judge to hear cases under certain circumstances and turn virtually all marriage cases over to local diocesan courts.

Only cases involving monarchs, heads of state or their heirs still must be dealt with by the Vatican.

Officials at the Sacred Roman Rota, the church's highest appeals court, said the reforms could slice the time needed to obtain a declaration of annulment to less than a year instead of two years or more as at present.

In his letter, the Pope said the increasing number of marriage breakups is causing "deep, preoccupation" in the church, although only 812 annulments were granted last year, including 180 by the rota.

The Roman Catholic Church does not recognize divorce. But it grants declarations of nullity in cases where a marriage is judged to have been invalid from the start.

Invalidity often is ruled in cases involving impotence or nonconsummation, usually proved by medical examination. Other causes include coercion, lack of free will, a refusal by one partner to have children or to bring up children as Roman Catholics, and a close blood relationship between spouses.

President joins in practice

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon planned to break away from official duties today to rehearse his role as father of the bride and to join in festivities for his daughter Tricia and her fiance Edward Finch Cox on the eve of their wedding.

The bridal party planned two separate rehearsals, starting around mid-afternoon, one in the Rose Garden where Tricia hopes to be wed and the other in the gold and white crystal chandelied East Room, in case it rains on Saturday.

Tricia was to practice marching down the 95-foot aisle outside her father's oval office with a long makeshift court train. Pacing her and her bridesmaids and eight groomsmen was to be Priscilla Kidder, designer of Tricia's wedding gown.

Filtering unit set at pool

TWIN FALLS — The new filtering system for the Harmon Park swimming pool is being installed today.

The system, complete with filtering tank and water heater, was supplied by Globe Seed and Feed, Twin Falls. That firm had the low bid of $15,858 for the project.

Larry McElliott, Globe Seed and Feed, said the round filtering tank is about nine feet deep and nine feet across. When completely installed, it will have 66 cubic feet of concrete, 10,000 pounds of gravel — four grades — and 11,000 pounds of high grade sand for filtering the water.

Howard Johnson, superintendent of the Twin Falls Parks Department, said the capacity of the pool is 453,804 gallons of water and this new filtering system will turn over that amount six times each day.

The general plumbing work in installing the system will be done by Forshler Plumbing, Burley, McElliott said.

The tank, heater and other equipment arrived in Twin Falls Thursday afternoon.

A similar filtering system, but slightly smaller, has been installed at the Thousands Springs Resort pool, McElliott noted.

Johnson said the pool is expected to be in operation by June 19, depending on the weather.

Mineral land return asked by Cenarrusa

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Editor
TWIN FALLS
Congressional action to return to Idaho the mineral rights on 120,000 acres of land in eastern Idaho — in the state's phosphate belt — was urged Thursday by Pete Cenarrusa, Idaho secretary of state, when he spoke to members of the Twin Falls Kiwanis Club.

Under the provisions of the admissions act, the state official said, Idaho "did not get a fair shake" when the government took back some of the lands which it had previously given to the state. The lands which Idaho was permitted to select at that time were not as valuable as those which the federal government took back. He said that passage of a law by Congress giving back to Idaho the mineral rights of the southern Idaho land would, in part, repay the state for the unfair treatment received when the switch was originally made. The secretary of state also asked that the state land board, of which he is a member and which is headed by the governor, be removed from politics. He said that board members should not "administer and manage" state lands, something they really know very little about. Rather, he said, this should be done by people trained in this field and board members should only form policies. The speaker, during his talk, also explained the origin of public domain land and homestead provisions.

Hansen endorses Salmon project

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, has called "clear and compelling" the case for passage of legislation authorizing the construction and operation of the Salmon Falls Division of the Upper Snake River Project. In a written statement to the Senate Subcommittee on Water and Power Resources, which held hearings this week on the bill introduced by Idaho Senators Frank Church and Len B. Jordan, Hansen emphasized the hardship faced by farmers in the Salmon tract each year because of a short and undependable water supply.

The Idaho Congressman said the proposal is the product of years of painstaking effort and planning on the part of the affected Idaho farmers. "The irrigation benefits which would flow from the proposed project are estimated by the Bureau of Reclamation at $5.2 million annually, $3.1 million of which represents increased net income to farmers," he said. Hansen emphasized to the committee that following a five-year development period, the bulk of the cost of constructing the $46 million project will be repaid to the government over a 50-year period.

Accountability measure looms

BOISE (UPI) — A legislative proposal citing specific areas of school system accountability is a certainty in the next session of the legislature, Mrs. Louise Jones, New Meadows, president Thursday.

Other basic skills which many parents do not think their children are getting.

Mrs. Jones said the upcoming legislation may be in the form of a committee proposal or a committee of the concepts already being considered. "Idaho schools have never really stopped to look at themselves and try to determine what they're doing right or what they're doing wrong. We feel our study and recommendations will help to fix the area of responsibility where it belongs, whether it be the classroom administration, legislation or parents," Mrs. Jones said.

Mrs. Jones said the upcoming legislation may be in the form of a committee proposal or a committee of the concepts already being considered.

A member of the committee, Lou Gourley, Idaho Falls junior high principal, defined the committee's version of accountability this way: "Looking at ourselves and stripping away what is no longer needed in public education. We need to gear up to do more with the same dollars we've had before. We must look at legislation which would direct the State Department of Education to take more of a leadership role in accomplishing these needed changes."

We feel our study and recommendations will help to fix the area of responsibility where it belongs, whether it be the classroom administration, legislation or parents."

Rep. Ernest Allen, R-Nampa, another committee member, agreed that the committee should consider school problems as the parents see them — the teaching of com-

Troop B top unit in state

BOISE (UPI) — For the third time, Troop B of the 116th Armored Cavalry of Nampa has won the Eisenhower Trophy for the outstanding National Guard unit in the state. Maj. Gen. George B. Bennett, Idaho adjutant general, presented the trophy in ceremonies at Gowen Field.

Troop B was chosen for the honor because of its safety, training, supply economy, percentage of personnel who completed Army service courses and percentage of members qualifying in arms use during the past calendar year. The 170-man unit, which completed summer training Wednesday, is led by Capt. Gerald G. Cecil, Boise. First Sgt. James R. Fallowell, Marsing of Troop B, was awarded a certificate of achievement and named outstanding first sergeant.

Camping limits studied

TWIN FALLS — A 16-day limit on camping in any one location in undeveloped Sawtooth National Forest camping areas is one of several new regulations under consideration.

Foresters said the regulations are being considered to help control recreation use and abuse, and to protect environmental quality. Many favorite undeveloped camping areas are being overused and could be destroyed if camping is not controlled.

Other regulations under consideration include possible complete closure to camping in some areas to protect environmental values, a requirement that campers remove their own trash, and a prohibition against construction of permanent improvements without permission.

War Ghosts

Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., the California Republican who intends to take on President Nixon in the 1972 primaries over the issue of the Vietnam war, has compared that war to the American Revolution.

The comparison is particularly odious since it is the Americans who are the redcoats in this case, according to McCloskey, and the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese Communists who are the Minutemen, the patriots who are attempting to win independence from foreign tyranny.

McCloskey is not the only one who sees parallels between the two wars. One columnist recently suggested that the Laos operation was an "Asian Yorktown."

"This spring's Laotian foray seems to have written finis to our war aid to Indochina in much the same way as Lord Cornwallis' capitulation at Yorktown in October 1781 collapsed British homefront support for the war against the American rebels," thinks Kevin P. Phillips.

In his estimation, the South Vietnamese are like the American Tories or Loyalists, who, he says, flocked to the rebel side when the British began withdrawing.

Many other supposed parallels could be drawn between the Vietnam conflict and the American Revolution — just as parallels could be drawn between either war and any other war that was ever fought.

Unfortunately for those who seem to take some sort of masochistic delight in the contemplation of American villainy, the comparison of the Vietnam war with the War for Independence fails in every essential point.

In the first place, the Vietnamese are not the descendants of Americans who discovered and pioneered Vietnam. The Vietnamese had not been considered subjects of the United States for 150 years prior to the rebellion, nor had they so considered themselves. They had never been ruled by governors appointed in Washington.

The United States had not fought several wars in the past century and a half against a rival power to secure its colonies on the Asian mainland. It had never sought to impose taxes on Vietnam or regulate its commerce and industry. It does not seek to do so now.

To look at the other side of the comparison, the American colonies were not divided into two separate countries, with the government in the north attempting to take over, by force, the government in the south.

Great Britain did not recognize the south as a sovereign nation nor have a treaty relationship with it. British troops were not sent to America to aid the southern Americans to suppress subversion and invasion.

As for Laos-Yorktown, an American army did not participate, much less surrender, in Laos. Withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam began long before Laos, not after it.

The thing could be carried on to ridiculous lengths.

Suffice it to say that those who perceive Ho Chi Minh to have been the George Washington of Vietnam would be hard put to come up with modern equivalents of Lafayette, Von Steuben, Kosciusko and Pulaski, international lovers of liberty who fought alongside Washington; or North Vietnamese equivalents of Thomas Jefferson, John Adams or Patrick Henry, or anything remotely resembling the Declaration of Independence.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It looks pretty likely now that Miami Beach will get the 1972 Democratic convention to be set in early July. If that's it, the people in Miami Beach may come to wonder why they ever wanted the thing.

There's bound to be at least a minor explosion of emotion, though the intensity of Chicago in 1968 almost certainly won't be matched.

One reason difficulties are predictable is that the party's ardent left consistently takes the position that if its narrow minority doesn't win, that means the whole setup is busy and illegal. Barring some freakish combination of events, the arch left isn't going to win. It will lose because most of the people they want to "give power to" are in the middle, where they are not. The cries of pain, signifying "injustice," will be loud. Action will be, er, vigorous.

Another factor forecasting trouble looms larger with the passing weeks. Reformers who have labored hard and earnestly to open up the convention delegate selection process probably imagine they're going to get an amazingly "wide-open" convention.

Yet one of the big things happening in the name of reform appears to point the other way. So far, eight new primaries have been added to the rolls, for a total of 23 against 15 in 1968. It might go to 26 if Delaware, Michigan and Louisiana all convert present interest into law.

What does this do for the "wide-open" convention? It means, above all, that — on the day the convention first meets — a higher proportion of the total delegate roster will be legally bound to one candidate or another than ever in U.S. political history. Just on the basis of present primary status, 744 delegates would thus be bound, and another 416 could be bound under certain circumstances. That comes to 1,160, roughly two-thirds of the 1,509 needed for nomination and somewhat more than a third of the 3,016 grand total.

The figure could be altered upward by new primary additions. It could be moved downward by action in Massachusetts (102 votes), where major change in the law is pending. But the "bound" total will stay high.

It is interesting to note, against the "reform" backdrop, that voting results will bind delegates in five of the eight new state primaries — Maryland, Tennessee, North Carolina, New Mexico and Alaska. They MAY be binding in another — Rhode Island.

Altogether, 30 states presently have legally binding primaries and in six more the delegates may be bound. You will sometimes hear it argued that, yes, these delegates will be bound, but only for a ballot or two. Silly argument. Beginning in 1932, the two major parties together have held 20 conventions. Exactly 16 of the 20 were decided on the first ballot. Two went three ballots, one went four and one, far back in 1940, went six.

Now this entire business, greatly magnified by the new primaries, points up a terrible contradiction in the arguments of "open convention" delegates. At least since the 1960 nomination of John F. Kennedy, they have been shouting "rigged!" whenever a large proportion of the delegates seemed committed before the first gavel fell.

Rigged? Really? The changes for 1972 mean that millions more voters than ever before will have a hand in the nomination decision. The voters involved will include those in possibly nine of the nation's 10 most populous states with the largest convention delegate totals.

Is it more democratic to ignore these voter choices (and even those made in state conventions where no primaries exist), in favor of delegate decisions rendered in the frantic, artificial, pressure-cooker atmosphere of a no-sleep national convention?

"A SIMPLE 'NO' WILL SUFFICE, MR. MILLS"

PAUL HARVEY

Not So Bad

Outgoing commissioner of the IRS is pleading for more money from Congress. He says every tax examiner finds enough "mistakes" in enough returns to save other taxpayers six times his own salary.

The commissioner says if Congress cuts his budget by $250 million, our own Treasury will lose $1.5 billion. In defense of the IRS: Our graduated income tax system is the most cumbersome, the most confusing, the least efficient — only until you compare it with other systems in other countries.

In France and Italy and most of Latin America, tax laws are ignored by most and laughed at by political insiders.

It's when you compare ours with theirs that the U.S. system appears fair, equitable and efficient. Everywhere else in the enlightened world the U.S. tax system is regarded as the best.

Nonetheless, the most recent Louis Harris Survey indicates that most Americans — 60 per cent of all those questioned — feel they have reached "the breaking point" on the taxes they pay.

President Nixon has said that we have reached the "breaking point." He says when 35 per cent to 37 per cent of our total income is recaptured as taxes — as is presently the case — that's enough. He says beyond that "a nation loses its character as a free, private enterprise economy and becomes primarily a state controlled and oriented economy."

Principal grievance against the U.S. tax system derives not from unfairness but from a resentment of the cumbersome patchwork complexity of the laws that tend to make it fair.

Outgoing and outgoing IRS commissioners have most perceptive hindsight. Since T. Coleman Andrews, each in turn has agreed that our tax laws can and should be simplified.

Yet each such effort is sidetracked by special interests demanding special consideration.

If we should levy a flat 20 per cent tax on everybody's gross income with no deductions for anything, the system would indeed be simplified. It would hike the government's tax take and it would save most all taxpayers the time, tedium and money it costs to hire accountants to compute allowable deductions.

Nobody, however poor, would be encouraged to stay on unemployment pay (where income is tax free).

Industriousness would be encouraged if each of us knew that the more he earned the more he would keep, whereas as is the reverse may be true.

Yet each effort to advance such a proposal in Congress has been stillborn because each organized pressure group wants more of the load shifted to the shoulders of others.

So where the Form 1040 once contained only 200 words of "instructions," the present return requires 3,238 words of instruction.

Yet for all that superfluity, the IRS last year collected $123.2 billion at a collection cost of 5 per cent.

The system is not good — but at the present it's the best in this world.

RAY CROMLEY

Missiles

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Even assuming that everyone concerned has been completely honest in his appraisal of the Soviet missile threat, it is now quite clear that Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and his department have been somewhat less-than-candid in what they have told the public.

If Laird wants support in these days when national defense requests are being questioned in so many quarters, then he must merit confidence by telling the whole truth, not just what he may personally believe to be the truth. He must also reveal the reservations and questions raised by those among the government's respected analysts who disagree with his interpretations.

It is clear that the first photographs of the super missile silos Moscow is building made it seem probable to Laird and the majority of his senior photo interpreters and scientific advisers that they were being built for improved SS-9 or weapons even more sophisticated and more dangerous.

Even after the cement casings of these silos were in place and this was data fed into the intelligence analysis, it is probable that a majority of Laird's own senior analysts believed these silos were being designed for superior missiles. But it is also clear that a number of senior analysts within the intelligence community believed that another interpretation was possible. In their minds, it was more reasonable to assume that a majority of these new silos were designed to give the smaller SS-11s "harder," more-protected sites and therefore more security against American missiles. This is the procedure being followed in the United States to protect Minuteman missiles against Russian strikes.

Now it is possible, even probable, that Laird, after evaluating the new evidence, still held to the more pessimistic conclusion. He may well have still believed that the preponderance of evidence pointed in this direction.

But in view of the differences of opinion among the intelligence analysts, Laird could not have been certain his reasoning was correct. As a responsible public servant, Laird had the obligation to announce his own conclusions, backed by the majority view among his senior men. But he also had the obligation to announce that new information (cement in the silos) had raised questions in the minds of other competent analysts.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

About Moles

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to know the cause of moles, and the cure, if possible. Many have developed over my body, especially on my back. Is this a disease or an inherited trait? — Mrs. W.S.

Usually they are an inherited peculiarity in the skin. You may be born with moles. However, the cells that make up the moles may not be visible at first. They are there, but may take years before you can see them; almost everybody will have at least one, however tiny.

Most moles are colored with pigment of various shades of brown and black, although occasionally some may be virtually colorless.

Some are flat, others have a crinkly surface; some small, some large and ugly; some with hair, some without. Most are innocent, the big thing to watch out for being irritation from a belt, bra strap, or whatever. Continued irritation can turn them malignant. That is, cancerous.

If a mole begins to change in any way, color, shape, size, texture, or if it bleeds easily if irritated, report it to your doctor so he can remove it.

If hair grows in a mole, do not pull it out. There's a risk of infection. If you don't like the hairs, clip them off with scissors. And, by the way, never try to dig a mole out with fingernails.

There is no do-it-yourself way to prevent or remove moles, but removal is a simple task for a dermatologist.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read your answers every day about health, hoping someone will ask about colitis. Is there a cure for it, what causes it, what is the treatment? Have they come up with any new drugs? How often should one have a checkup with colitis? Please give all the information you can. — D.D.

Gee whiz, or words to that effect! I don't see how you could have missed questions about colitis. There are different kinds of colitis and, therefore, different methods of treatment. So many questions came in about these problems that I finally had to assemble the answers in a booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints," so sent 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for the booklet — causes, treatment, symptoms, etc.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I remember reading about not eating raw eggs. My son has nervous trouble. He is 50 and very thin, and although the doctors do not tell him to eat raw eggs, he mixes about four of them with instant breakfast. — Mrs. C.H.M.

I don't make a big thing of it, but raw eggs can be harmful — not because they are raw eggs, but because raw egg is one of the best materials for raising germs. They are, for example, used in large numbers cultivating germs later used for vaccines.

Therefore, if a shell is cracked, such germs as salmonella can get in and flourish. It may not happen often, but it can happen, and as an ordinary precaution, I just don't eat raw eggs. Or if it's egg nog, I buy the pasteurized kind.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Do you think it would be unnecessary or unwise for me to have a circumcision? Perhaps I'm too concerned, but I do feel ashamed because I was never circumcised. It might present a problem if I got married. I am 21. — R.R.

Forget it — unless your doctor says you need it. No reason why it should cause any problem in marriage, and there are so many millions who are uncircumcised that there's absolutely no reason to feel ashamed.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read your answers every day about health, hoping someone will ask about colitis. Is there a cure for it, what causes it, what is the treatment? Have they come up with any new drugs? How often should one have a checkup with colitis? Please give all the information you can. — D.D.

Flag Day

Old Glory, the national emblem of the United States, is a symbol of hope to millions of oppressed and endangered peoples all over the world. Flag Day, June 14, is the anniversary of the adoption by Congress of the Stars and Stripes on that day in 1777.

While the United States flag is recognized in all freedom-loving lands as the emblem of freedom, many Americans fail to give it proper recognition when it is on display. Every American should learn, remember and appreciate the full meaning of the Pledge to the Flag:

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United State of America and to the republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

The hope of the world lies in Americans making that pledge with the heart as well as the lips.

MR. SPECTATOR

When It Rains

A group of medical men recently held a clinic on rain. Really! This is what Mr. Spectator found out.

Its conclusions may have been scientifically accurate, but they are hardly in keeping with normal human reactions.

They declare rain dampens enthusiasm, tends to invoke low spirits and in other ways takes the joy out of life. There will be wide disagreement with these conclusions, and Mr. Spectator joins the crowd.

On the Great Plains, for instance, July rains are most welcome. The air is cooled, a thirsty soil replenished. Of course, it isn't welcome at harvest time but even then the benefits can outweigh the harm.

Here in Magic Valley there's nothing like getting your face wet once in awhile by looking up. Really, we can think of nothing more exciting than a brief mountain thunderstorm. When it is over then life is all fresh again and ready to go.

Even in the big city, nothing but the heaviest downpour will keep the citizens indoors. Children love to play in the rain. Thousands will sit in it just to see a football game. Who said rain takes the joy out of life? Without it you wouldn't have any life.

Give facts, FTC says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers will be given access to the facts or fantasies behind advertising claims under a new Federal Trade Commission (FTC) policy.

The FTC announced Thursday it would require major advertisers, starting with car makers, to disclose the tests or other data behind claims regarding a product's safety, performance, effectiveness, quality or comparative price.

The information will go to the FTC, which promised to release it to the public. If the data fails to support the claim, the FTC could charge the firm with false advertising.

A bill to similarly require disclosure is before Congress and has been endorsed by Howard Bell, president of the American Advertising Federation, and Advertising Age, a leading trade publication.

Lake cleanup plans adopted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three big cities charged with illegally dumping sewage have agreed to a $1.2 billion cleanup program aimed at saving Lake Erie and reviving Georgia's Chattahoochee River.

The Detroit River, which feeds into Lake Erie, and the Cleveland wastes going directly into the lake.

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), which filed the charges six months ago and announced the settlement Thursday, said the federal government would pay $494.6 million.

The Detroit agreement calls for $951 million in new sewage treatment and sewer facilities, with the federal government paying $325 million.

The cities — Detroit, Cleveland and Atlanta — must share the remainder of the cost with their respective state governments, the EPA said.

Cleveland's program, which needs City Council approval, will cost more than $500 million including $148.5 million in federal funds, the EPA said.

"We hope these settlements will mark a turning point in the efforts to save Lake Erie and reverse the trend that has turned the Chattahoochee at Atlanta into an open sewer," EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus said in a statement.

Atlanta would build two big sewage treatment plants at a cost of $62 million. The federal share is $21 million, but would climb to $34 million if the Georgia legislature approves a state-city matching grant program.

The EPA on Dec. 10 charged all three cities with dumping inadequately treated sewage in violation of federal-state water quality standards.

The new Detroit and Cleveland facilities are scheduled to be operating within six years. Both cities would stop dumping sewage and also would remove from wastes 90 per cent of the phosphorus, which feeds algae growth and hastens a lake's eutrophication, or death.

"Lake Erie's two largest polluters," the EPA said, with Detroit dumping its sewage into Ruckelshaus said Atlanta's treatment plants should be completed in 2½ years. The city raised its sewage rates about 50 per cent to pay the cost, the EPA said.

Other advertising leaders have endorsed the idea that claims should be factual, but have indicated preference for a system of self regulation under which the supporting data would not be made public.

The FTC's policy was adopted unanimously by the five commissioners in response to a petition filed Dec. 14 by Ralph Nader. Nader said he asked 58 companies to document certain claims and got few satisfactory replies.

The high school band was one of the top school bands invited to compete at the Canadian Stampede. A first prize of $500 is to be awarded to the winning unit.

Private donations have been received for the trip, which may total $1,000.

The students have raised $5,700 of the $8,000 needed for expenses. The District 55 board of trustees agreed Tuesday to help the band by authorizing Superintendent I. T. Stoddard to make

New Berlin 'deal' with Reds likely

BONN (UPI) — Chancellor Willy Brandt expressed confidence today the Soviet Union will guarantee an improved arrangement on access to West Berlin and grant its residents more freedom of movement.

Brandt leaves Bonn Saturday morning and meets with Nixon Tuesday.

Brandt said he thought the new deal for West Berlin was possible only because he broke with the policy of his predecessors and signed a nonaggression pact with Moscow nine months ago.

He took time out from a two-day cabinet meeting on the sensitive question of tax reform to make written replies to five questions concerning matters he will discuss with the American chief executive.

Trustee appointed

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and Chairman Steve Meikle of the Endowment Investment Board Thursday announced appointment of William G. Hepp, 43, as the board's investment trustee.

Brandt's remark came after a meeting Monday of American, British, French and Russian ambassadors who reported "encouraging progress" on the Berlin question. Western sources later reported the four diplomats were nearing agreement on a system for simplifying and accelerating handling of cars, buses, trucks and trains crossing the demarcation line to transit Communist-ruled East Germany en route to West Berlin.

Hepp, who has been involved for 13 years in California in institutional bond buying and selling, begins his new, $20,000 per year job July 1. The post was created by the last legislature.

"The reason (for my confidence) lies in the continuation of the Berlin negotiations, which appear to be opening up the possibility of an agreement on the difficult problem of guaranteeing access and improving freedom of movement for the population of West Berlin and the Federal Republic of (West) Germany," Brandt said.

Hepp, whose position is exempt from the state personnel system, served for five years as an investment officer for the California public employees' retirement system.

But he refused to make any prediction as to when such an agreement might be signed and put into effect.

Baltimore, Md., was the U.S. capital for about two months, when the Continental Congress fled there as British troops threatened to capture Philadelphia.

War end soon?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., says the Vietnam War will be over "long before the snow falls this year."

the 100 Senate seats were empty when discussion of the measure began.

Dole, who is the Republican National Chairman and a close ally of President Nixon, made his prediction of peace before winter Thursday as the Senate opened debate on legislation that would force an end to U.S. involvement in the war by Dec. 31.

"I think he (the President) knows when he thinks he can terminate all activity over there ...," Dole said. "I think the war will be virtually at an end long before the snow falls this year."

The war-ending amendment is being sponsored by Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D. and 28 other senators. But 57 of

Dozen enter camper course

TWIN FALLS — A class of 10 students and two instructors is studying the elements of camping and getting around in rough-country this week in the wilderness Pursuit courses sponsored by the College of Southern Idaho.

Marvin Glasscock, director of adult education at CSI, said more enrollees would be welcome in subsequent classes. Ben Johnson, Denver, Colo., and William Scroggs of Twin Falls are the instructors for the courses.

The objective of the series of camping and survival experiences, Johnson said, is to allow each student to "enjoy himself as he learns the skills taught that week and, at the same time to give the students a basic understanding of environmental appreciation. As a by-product, we can expect each student and instructor to develop himself in a social sense also."

The class began with a trip to Decker Flats in the Sawtooth Valley for a course in camping and map-reading. Skills learned each week will be necessary for subsequent weeks.

Subsequent weeks will cover techniques of backpacking, meeting June 14 to 18; canoeing and water skills, June 21-25; rock-climbing techniques, July 3-9; mountaineering, July 12-16; survival techniques, July 19-23, and the final culmination, the week-long "expedition," July 26-30, in which students must make their way over a rugged course in a five-day journey, living off the land.

Students may enroll in any of all classes by contacting the admissions office at CSI.

T.F. Public Library adds new books

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Public Library has added several books to its shelves. "Penmarrie," by Susan Hawatch is a sweeping portrait of a family turned against itself in Penmarrie. The "inheritance," the great house exerting a magnetic destructive force over generation after generation of the Castallock family. The book centers in England's Cornwall. "Rap on Race," by Margaret Mead and James Baldwin, is a dialogue between Margaret Mead and James Baldwin on the subject of race and society concludes that the problem of racism does not admit simplistic solutions. Another new book is "Adventure of Being a Wife," by Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale. This is a story of Mrs. Peale's happy married life, with plenty of sound advice for other wives. "Death of the Great Spirit," by Earl Shorris, is a haunting portrait of the American Indian in contemporary life. "Murder in the Walls," by Richard M. Stern, is another good book. In this book police Lt. John Ortiz discovers the connections between a house of prostitution, a robbery of a museum in Mexico City and a dead man in the desert. "Passions of the Mind" is by Irving Stone. Stone has spent eight years researching and writing his new biography of the life of the medical giant, Dr. Sigmund Freud.

Richfield woman concludes 43-year teaching career

RICHFIELD — A teaching career of 43 years ended this spring for Mrs. L. E. (Mary) Browning, a Richfield teacher for the past 18 years. Born and reared in Bellevue, Mrs. Browning received her college training at the Pocatello Technical Institute, Greeley, Colo., State Teachers College, and Idaho State University. She came to Richfield with her husband when they purchased a ranch now owned by the Odell Shelton family. Retirement honors given to Mrs. Browning included a party by her fifth grade class and a group gift, the designation of being guest of honor at the Richfield faculty, school trustees and school personnel banquet concluding the school year. She was presented a gift there also, with Supt. Neil Andreason officiating. A life membership certificate in the PTA was given Mrs. Browning this spring, with State PTA President Mrs. Floyd Kislung, Dietrich, making the presentation. Mrs. W. T. Flavel, Richfield elementary school principal, gave a history of Mrs. Browning's school career. Mr. and Mrs. Browning moved from Richfield to Twin Falls this week to make their home.

Dear Abby DEAR ABBY: This is not a letter seeking advice, it is a statement of horror at the vulnerability of the female species. After reading a best seller which instructs women on how to be "sensuous," I have concluded that I am certainly not sensuous, nor do I want to be! If a man has to take a woman for a "trial run" as if she were an automobile, I'll probably be called back to the factory due to a leaky fuel pump. And according to the author's more descriptive passages, I'd say she is well on her way to her 50th six-thousand-mile check-up. I hope her muffler falls off! It gives me a pain in the pocketbook to realize that I spent $1.25 for that book. Sign me SENSIBLE, NOT SENSUOUS

DEAR SENSIBLE: You're beautiful!

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I were married, we agreed that we would have no children. We were both in our early twenties at the time. He came from a poor family and struggled thru college and medical school on scholarships. I came from a broken home and wanted to be certain our marriage would work before bringing children into the world. My husband is now a physician and I am teaching, and we could easily support a family, but my husband doesn't want children. He feels that they would tie us down. He is a devoted husband and I'm sure he'd make a fine father. We are good friends as well as lovers and enjoy traveling and a sense of freedom only childless couples know. When I mention children, he says he is happy without them. I have considered getting pregnant and then facing the issue. Should I honor his wishes and my promise, or become pregnant and hope that he will be as happy as I, once the baby comes? I am 31 and time is running out. SOMETHING MISSING

DEAR SOMETHING: Don't trick him into fatherhood. He may never forgive you—or, the child. If you can't persuade him that children would enrich your lives, better to content yourself with "something missing" than to betray him with "something added."

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you about my sister. She is 13 years old and she hasn't had one date yet. She's no beauty, but she's not a mess either. She's tried the most exotic perfumes and she gresses in the latest styles, but it hasn't helped her. I am thinking of asking some of the boys at school to please date my sister to get her started to lift her spirits. I would even be glad to give the guy five bucks. What do you think of this approach? HER 15-YEAR-OLD BROTHER

DEAR BROTHER: A 13-year-old girl who hasn't had one date yet is hardly an "old maid." Don't offer to pay a guy to date your sister or he'll wonder what's wrong with her. If she hasn't had a date by the time she's 18, you might arrange a "blind date" for her. But don't ask anyone who knows her to take her out at 13. [It's unlucky!]

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LUCKY" IN OMAHA: Thanks for letting me know that all is well. Sometimes a good scare can do more for a girl than 10 lectures. What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 9700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90009. For a personal reply, enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

A Lovelier You THE BACKDROP OF YOUR TAN

By Mary Sue Miller

A tan changes your color type. Are you aware of it? The blond who looks so striking all winter in black and murky blues may need to adjust her color schemes to her tan. The idea holds even for olive-skinned brunets.

The tanned blond is able to wear stronger shades than is her winter-time custom. For instance, ripe peach, true lime and tropic aqua. Creamy white, amber brown and golden reds also form a beautiful backdrop for fair hair and sun-kissed complexions. To set off a tanned brunet, colors must have a very high or a very low degree of brilliance. Her name is on intense yellows and reds, peacock green and sky blue; the palest water green, gray, beige and powder blue; stark white. What about a redhead? If she's a natural redhead, she may never be faced with the problem. The chances are she cannot get a good tan and will not try for one. However, if the skin darkens, she must be fussy about the shades she elects. Light pastels, like a whited mauve, offer generous dollops of flattery.

Color switches of course call for a reassessment of your cosmetics. Foundation needs must keep pace with deepening skin tones. A step-up may be required in the intensity of lipstick shades, too. Heaven forbid that any detail should detract from a hard-won tan. YOUR GROOMING—A TO Z Put aside your grooming doubts and worries! ## Sing in German

THESE 12 MEMBERS of the German Choir are part of the Choralliers, a choral group from the St. John's Lutheran School, Napa, Calif., which will present a concert June 15 at the Clover Lutheran School. The German Choir will sing a number of sacred and secular selections in German.

Choralliers slate concert June 15

FILER — The Clover Lutheran Church will present The Choralliers of St. John's Lutheran School, Napa, Calif., in a special concert at 8:30 p.m. June 15.

The children's choral group, composed of young people ages 8-14, has become well known in recent years for the variety of musical talent displayed in the concerts. Last summer the group took an extended tour of over 2000 miles through central California and western Nevada.

The concert of sacred and secular songs will feature the German Choir which will be dressed in native costumes and will sing both sacred and secular selections in German.

The musical accompanists for the groups are a guitar trio which will also present selections of their own, including well known folk sacred melodies.

The music of the entire program is light in nature and should appeal to all ages. There is no admission charge for this concert although a free-will offering will be taken, stated Rev. T. D. Johnston, pastor of the Clover and Peace Lutheran churches.

Both groups are directed by Henry J. Aschbrenner. They are accompanied on the organ and piano by Mrs. Marie Mueller.

Niebuhr examined nature of man

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Senior Editor

Most people think of theologians as people who spend their lives trying to comprehend the nature of God.

But that definition is too limited. Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr, the great American Protestant theologian who died last week at age 78, devoted most of his long and brilliant career to examining the nature of man.

His conclusions are not flattering. They are devoid of the sentimental optimism which once led liberals to believe men could build Utopia on earth by their own efforts.

Niebuhr's theology, which he called "Christian realism," takes seriously the long-unfashionable doctrine of original sin. Niebuhr was no biblical literalist, and in his voluminous writings the term original sin does not mean that Adam and Eve landed us all in the Garden of Eden. It means that human nature, in all persons of all ages, is flawed by egotism, the tendency to put self-regard above all other considerations.

This universal disposition toward selfishness would lead to enough mischief if men were honest about acknowledging it. But in actuality, Niebuhr said, most men — and especially those who consider themselves pious — are adept at self-delusion. They pretend not only to the world but even to themselves that they are more generous, more tolerant, more forgiving, more thoughtful of others than they really are. This is what Jesus meant by pride, which he singled out as the deadliest of human sins.

Suicide not always result of selfishness

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Senior Editor

Does a person have the right to end his own life?

The traditional Christian answer is a flat, unqualified no. Life, according to Christian teaching, is a gift of God over which man has no proprietary rights. Suicide, therefore, is morally equivalent to murder.

The Roman Catholic Church is so categorical in its condemnation of suicide that it refuses in principle at least to permit Christian burial of anyone who takes his own life. In actual practice, the church frequently gets around this harsh rule by assuming that a suicide resulted from "mental aberration" so the victim was not morally responsible for his act.

Protestants almost universal-ly feel that a person driven to self-destruction deserves sympathy, not censure. But Protestantism shares with Catholic Christianity the view that suicide is a grave sin, in which man proudly asserts his own will against God's will.

Implicit in this traditional Christian attitude is the belief that suicide, when not the result of madness or selfishness, is motivated by cowardice or selfishness. A person kills himself because he lacks the courage to face a danger or disaster that seems to impend in his life, or because he wants to spare himself from torture or protracted suffering.

But suicide is not necessarily motivated in every instance by self-concern.

At least three examples of what might be termed unselfish

'Americanism' instead of God?

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Senior Editor

Twenty years ago, a kind and self-effacing Christian gentleman, Dr. Harold Dudley, formed an organization called "Religious Heritage of America."

Its purpose was to remind Americans that this is supposed to be "a nation under God" — a status that confers not special privilege but special responsibility upon the people who lay claim to it.

Dr. Dudley is dead now, and that may be a merciful fact. He would not be very happy about what has become of his organization.

Religious Heritage of America has been taken over by a group of rich men who are using it to promote their brand of "Americanism."

They held their annual meeting in Washington, D.C., this week. Presiding was W. Clement Stone, a Chicago insurance magnate whose personal fortune has been estimated at $500 million. Stone is president of Religious Heritage of America and one of its chief financial angels.

Chairman of the executive committee is Wallace E. Johnson of Memphis, Tenn., founder of the Holiday Inns system. Johnson is not as rich as Stone. His fortune is estimated by associates at a mere $250 million.

Other members of the executive committee include Houston oilman Eddy S. Scurlock; St. Louis industrialist Lisle M. Ramsey; and movie star Pat Boone.

Back in the days when Dr. Dudley was running Religious Heritage of America on a shoestring budget, the organization started passing out annual awards to churchmen and journalists who were deemed to have made outstanding contributions to preservation of the Judeo-Christian ethical principles which are woven so deeply into American history.

That practice is being continued by the new management, but something new has been added. Awards now are handed out to "business men of the year" who "have made an outstanding practical application of the principles of their religious heritage in their business lives."

This year's honor roll included movie maker Spyros P. Skouras; musician Lawrence Welk; Michigan home builder Robert P. Gerholz; motel tycoon J. Willard Marriott; and railroad executive William J. Quinn. The keynote speech at the presentation luncheon was made by F. Ritter Shumway, chairman of the board of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

A major focus of attention at the meeting was a 10-point "program to unify America" which has been adopted by the new leaders of the organization.

It calls for a national campaign to get people to wear U.S. flags in their lapels and adorn their cars with bumper stickers proclaiming, "I Love America." A national speakers bureau is being set up to provide speakers to "address civic and service clubs on patriotic themes."

Plans also are underway to invite "selected students" on expense-paid trips to Washington to meet President Nixon and other administration officials. RHA also plans to "lend encouragement and support to those student movements and organizations that are fighting subversive student and youth groups."

And it hopes to arrange "a 24-hour nationwide television marathon on patriotism."

All of these may be noble and useful activities. But with so much emphasis on country, one is tempted to ask Religious Heritage of America: "Whatever happened to God? Has piety become merely a prop for patriotism?"

Harold Dudley wouldn't like that. Nor, the Bible plainly indicates, would God.

suicide come readily to mind: A secret agent takes a poison capsule when he is captured by the enemy to make sure he won't break down under torture and betray his colleagues.

A Buddhist monk turns himself into a human torch in order to dramatize his opposition to a war that is destroying his homeland.

A patient in the terminal stage of an incurable illness takes an overdose of sleeping pills to spare his family from the emotional ordeal and the huge medical bills that attend a slow dying.

The first two examples reflect exotic situations with which the average person cannot readily identify. But the third could happen to anyone at any time.

A noted Anglican theologian, Prof. D.M. Mackinnon of Cambridge University, discussed the moral dilemma of the terminally ill patient in an article published by the Church of England's monthly journal, Crucible.

He said that a person debating whether he must endure the horrors of a prolonged terminal illness should take account of "the weight of suffering this heroism must necessarily impose on relatives, friends and nurses."

Rummage sale set June 18

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly Woman's Society of Christian Service will hold a cooked food and rummage sale June 18 in the former Idaho Power Co. building in Kimberly from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Plans for the sale were made at the meeting of the Hansen WSCS circle. Proceeds from the sale will be used to send two girls to the School of Missions in Nampa in July.

The lesson was presented by Mrs. Hugh Sanderson who gave devotions from Response magazine. She reported on "New Ministries in Hawaii" and reviewed an article on problems of missionaries in South America.

Members decided to contribute 75 cents each to purchase toilet articles for dental care to be put into bags for migrant children.

Clifford M. Hardin says larger cotton crop needed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin said today his department will join industry leaders in a campaign to promote expanded cotton production this year. Hardin said a bigger cotton crop is needed to help meet expanding demand both in the United States and abroad. Unless cotton growers produce an adequate crop, he said, man-made fibers will replace cotton goods and cotton farmers will lose the chance to regain lost customers. Hardin made the announcement at a news conference with Dr. C. R. Sayre, president of the National Cotton Council, which had asked for government help in promoting extra production. Sayre and Hardin agreed that almost all 1971 cotton acreage has already been planted. "It thus becomes of paramount importance that cotton growers do all they can to bring their crops along and attain the maximum possible yield and quality," Hardin said. All Agriculture Department agencies, Hardin added, are being told to encourage (farmers to use) every economically sound cultural practice that increases cotton yields consistent with good quality. These steps include insect management, weed control, irrigation and harvesting techniques. Sayre said cotton industry groups will set up their own strategy committee to help push the joint effort to boost cotton production. The effort comes at a time when a series of small cotton crops has pulled the prospective national cotton carryover stock this summer down to about 4.5 million bales, lowest in nearly two decades. Farmers had indicated plans to boost 1971 plantings to about 12 million acres, and cotton leaders had been hoping for a 12 million bale crop compared with 10.1 million bales last year. But Hardin and Sayre noted that planting in many major producing regions had been hampered by weather — drought in the southwest and too much rain in some other areas.

Spare the beneficials

DYLOX selective insecticide effectively controls western bean cutworms and a wide range of other insects attacking beans. But when used as directed, DYLOX will not destroy beneficial pollinating and predatory insect populations. Either DYLOX 80% Soluble Powder, or new DYLOX Liquid Solution, is easy and economical to use. Just mix with water and apply with any conventional sprayer. In some areas, baits containing DYLOX are also available. Now is the time to order DYLOX from your dealer. Contact him right away! This year, spare the beneficials while you control the harmfuls — the selective way with DYLOX.

Battle looms in House on sugar

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Opponents of South Africa's racial segregation policies mounted an uphill fight in the House today to exclude that country from the "bonanza" of guaranteed bonus-priced sugar sales in the United States. South Africa would get a 60,000 ton allotment under a bill up for House action extending for three years legislation under which this country apportions the U.S. sugar market among foreign and domestic producers. The bill came to the House ordered by the Rules Committee on an 8 to 6 vote. Reps. John G. Dow, D-N.Y., and Ogden Reid, R-N.Y., were asking the House to reverse that rule before taking up the bill. The bill, as drafted by the Agriculture Committee, would increase supply quotas for U.S. producers, who get a price subsidy in addition to their share of the protected sugar market. It also would reshuffle quotas for many of the 31 foreign nations sharing in the right to sell in this market.

Permanent grazing fee system asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, joined with other members of the House and Senate Interior Committees in proposing legislation for a permanent method of determining public land grazing fees. The new formula is based on conclusions of the 1966 Western Livestock Grazing Survey and sets 1968 as the base year. After making allowances for land investment, it sets 50 cents per month animal unit (AUM) as the fair market value for grazing privileges during the year. Adjustments would be made in market variations for the price of beef and fluctuations in the average number of AUM's per section grazed in the past. McClure said the bill offers a solution that is fair. "As a permanent plan, it would free the farmer from the uncertainties he has experienced in the past," he said.

QUOTATIONS ARE provided as a service to both farmers and buyers. Quotations are given the Times-News daily by each buyer. The newspaper, in addition, re-checks each firm twice weekly. Responsibility for the price listed is solely the buyer's. NQ indicates the buyer does not wish to quote a price.

Irrigation dam washes

FRUITLAND, Idaho (UPI) — An irrigation dam on the heights above Whitley Bottom, Idaho, south of Fruitland washed out about 1 a.m. today, sending tons of water down a gully and onto the Russell Hyatt farm. No immediate estimate of damage was available but officials expected it to be in the thousands of dollars. The small earth-filled dam was located at the head of a gully above the bottom. The cause of the washout was not immediately determined. However, several weeks ago a leak around an outlet pipe was discovered and skindivers sandbagged it. Today's farmer, using an automatic bale wagon can pick up, stack and haul as many as 3,100 hay bales in an eight hour day, according to engineers.

Crowd control measure drafted

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS—The Twin Falls County Commission has taken the first formal step toward adoption of Idaho's first comprehensive crowd-control ordinance.

The commission has ordered the ordinance, specifically "related to large public assemblies" in its composition, legally advertised for the required time. The commission will then adopt and enact the legislation formally.

The ordinance is patterned closely after one adopted by the Weber County, Utah, commission, to control crowds of 1,000 persons or more. The ordinance was adopted also by Box, Elder, Cache, Davis, Tootle and Rich Counties in Utah after word was received of a contemplated "rock festival" in the Cache National Forest.

The Twin Falls County ordinance will be applicable to crowds of 250 people or more remaining in one location for 18 hours or more, with certain exceptions. County fairs and church groups are specifically exempted, according to Commission Chairman W. L. (Bill) Chancey.

Sponsors of an assembly falling under the provisions of the ordinance must file a $500 cash or surety bond to indemnify and hold harmless Twin Falls County or any of its agents, officers, servants and employes from any liability or causes of action which might arise by reason of granting this license, and from any cost incurred in cleaning up any waste material produced or left by the assembly.

The strictly worded ordinance requires that a license costing $100 per day be purchased from the county commission at least 30 days in advance of an assembly or gathering, and specifies that the ordinance holds good "whether on public or private property."

The ordinance, drafted to avoid all possible loopholes, declares that "No person shall permit, maintain, promote, conduct, advertise, act as entrepreneur, undertake, organize, manage, or sell or give tickets to an actual or reasonably anticipated assembly of 250 or more people which continues or can reasonably be expected to continue for 18 or more consecutive hours, whether on public or private property unless a license to hold the assembly has first been issued by the Twin Falls County commissioners, application for which must be made at least 30 days in advance of the assembly."

The assembly sponsor must "determine the maximum number of people which will be assembled or admitted to the location of the assembly . . . before the license will be issued. In addition, the applicant must furnish at his own expense a variety of safety and health factors, including a sturdy fence "completely enclosing the proposed location, of sufficient height and strength to prevent people in excess of the maximum permissible number from gaining access to the assembly grounds, which shall have at least four gates, at least one at or near four opposite points of the compass."

Ample water "must be provided at the site, including a minimum of one gallon per person per day for drinking and 10 gallons per person per day for "bathing" and sanitary purposes.

Enclosed toilet facilities must be "conveniently located throughout the grounds," along with solid-waste disposal, a lavatory with running water and "a continuous supply of soap and paper towels." The solid-waste disposal system must be able to handle "at least 2.5 pounds of solid waste per person per day."

Physicians and nurses "licensed to practice in the State of Idaho" must be on hand, as well as an enclosed treatment facility and "one emergency ambulance available for use at all times."

If the assembly is to continue at night, ample nighttime lighting levels must be maintained, but which will "not shine unreasonably beyond the boundaries of the enclosed location of the assembly."

The ordinance will take effect 15 days after it is formally adopted by the county commission.

Siphon project okayed

KING HILL—Contract to replace 735 feet of 48-inch steel and concrete pipe across the old bridge over the Snake River near Glenns Ferry was awarded to a Boise firm Thursday afternoon.

Jim Russell, chairman of the board of directors of the King Hill Irrigation District, said the contract was awarded to Galey Construction Co., for $119,588.50 for 165 feet of concrete and 570 feet of steel pipe.

Russell said bids were opened earlier and were not accepted because they were so high. The current contract calls for 285 calendar days completion. Work is scheduled to begin between Oct. 10 and 15 when the water is turned out of the irrigation system.

New siphons previously have been installed on either side of the bridge but this current contract is for installing new siphon across the deck of the old bridge, which is no longer used.

Circus changes location

TWIN FALLS—The site of the Carson and Barnes Circus has been changed from Harmon Park to the South Park Recreation Center, according to Ernest Burby of the Twin Falls Third Ward LDS Church.

Burby said the sprinkling system at Harmon Park is about six inches below the turf and city officials are fearful that the weight of the elephants and other heavy circus animals may damage the system because the ground is soft from rain.

He said the elephants will be putting up the big top at 8 a.m. Saturday in South Park and the public is invited to watch the work. The circus, sponsored by the LDS Third and First Wards, will be at 4 and 8 p.m. Saturday. Advance tickets are on sale, but if seating is left in the 4,500-seat rain proof tent, tickets will be sold at the gate.

State posse meet slated

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Writer

JEROME—The annual state posse meet will be held Saturday and Sunday at the Jerome County Fairgrounds, with the Jerome County Sheriff's Mounted Posse as hosts.

The entire program is open to the public and there will be no charge, according to John Van Orman, president of the Jerome posse.

Groups participating will be from Twin Falls, Canyon, Ada, Payette, Gooding, Cassia, Bingham and Bannock counties.

Debbie Scheer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Scheer, is the Jerome posse's candidate for the title of state posse queen. Other queen candidates include Marlene Varin, Gooding, and Mary Van Zante, Ellix.

Jim Davis, leader of the Jerome Junior Posse, said that when the out-of-town posse groups register here, they will announce their candidates.

Registration is scheduled from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, with inspection at 3 p.m. A parade is planned on Jerome's Main Street at 5 p.m. and the grand entry and drill competition will be held at 8 p.m., with the queen competition also in the evening.

A breakfast from 7:30 to 10 a.m. will open Sunday's events at the fairgrounds. The queen contest is scheduled for 11 a.m. followed by racing events.

There will be a small admission charge for Saturday's grand entry and Sunday's racing events, Van Orman said, but all other portions of the program are free.

Special events at the gathering also include a trailer competition. The Sunday races will feature one-eighth mile, potato, one-quarter mile, flag, baton, three-eighths mile, three-leaf clover, baton relay, 10-barrel, keyhole and half-mile.

An Olympic scoring system will be used in evaluating event results.

Oakley rodeo set

OAKLEY—An amateur rodeo and beef barbecue sponsored by the Burley Moose Lodge will be held at the Oakley Veterans Rodeo grounds Saturday beginning at noon.

Spokesmen for the group say that participants must belong to the Moose lodge throughout this area and those under 18 must have a release slip from their parents in order to take part.

Eight events will be featured, including saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, bull riding, calf roping, team roping, barrel racing and a pig scramble for the children.

Proceeds from the event will be used for the Moose Lodge building fund in Burley where members are working to build their own lodge hall.

Splashing through

A SHEET OF WATER splashed up by a fast-moving car at an intersection near Vera C. O'Leary Junior High School in Twin Falls testifies to the flooding caused by a near-torrential rain-storm that drenched Twin Falls Thursday afternoon. Over-taxed storm drains backed up, flooding many intersections, particularly at Shoshone and Sixth Avenue North, at the corner of O'Leary.

Stand enlarged for celebration

OAKLEY—The cook stand at the Oakley Vigilante Posse grounds has been enlarged in preparation for the Pioneer Day celebration July 24, John Martin, president of the group, said today.

The stand has been increased by one-third its original size, with cement floor poured. Work was donated by members and the high school agriculture class under the direction of Dick Swan.

Tryouts for the annual Vigilante Queen contest will be held 8 p.m. June 22, at the rodeo grounds for any girl who is 18 and over. The winner will be a contestant at the Cassia County Fair and Rodeo in August and could work her way to Miss Rodeo America, Martin states. Anyone interested should call him at 862-3404.

Improves Potato problems probed

TWIN FALLS—Gary Marsh, 17, Twin Falls, who has been hospitalized since an automobile accident March 13 in Blaine County, is reported by family members to be in improved condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

The teen-ager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Marsh, reportedly has regained consciousness and knows and recognizes people now.

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI)—Jay Connally, newly elected president of the Potato Processors Idaho, cited the major problems in the Idaho potato industry Thursday.

They are an unhealthy attitude and an absence of concern about quality, image and reputation.

Connally said, "my fear is that a misguided effort to save a marginal farm may cost us an industry." He was speaking to conventioners attending the 43rd annual Idaho Grower-Shipper Association meeting Thursday at Sun Valley.

Connally, from Boise, is vice president-promotion and distribution, for the Ore-Ida company.

He said the potato industry has been plagued by widespread adverse publicity stemming from last year's potato burns, the talk of depressed markets by growers.

He said all of this took place during the time when progressive growers in Idaho were enjoying strengthening markets and increasing prices.

"Responsible Idaho growers," he said, "know they are getting a premium price. They know they are not competitive unless the Idaho processor and shipper can also get a premium price for his product."

He said the emphasis in Idaho seems to have switched from quality to quantity. He blamed the change on the increasing demands of processors who do not care about quality.

"Both land and growers that should not be in potato production annually after their marginal crops," he said.

Conversion bids asked

WENDELL—Wendell school trustees will accept bids for the conversion of one steam boiler from coal to natural gas at Wendell High School until 4 p.m. June 28.

Specifications and bid requirements may be inspected at the high school and additional information may be secured from the superintendent's office.

Trustees reserve the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any technicality, according to Barbara L. Hosack, school board clerk.

Wounded

BURLEY—Mrs. Donna Jordan, 32, Paul, was listed in good condition today at Cassia Memorial Hospital after being accidentally shot by a pistol carried inside her car.

She had taken her car to the Roba Carwash at 21st Street and Overland Avenue here and was vacuuming the inside of the car. Burley police said she moved the pistol from under the driver's side of the front seat and it fell out of the holster and discharged, striking her in the chin.

She was rushed to the hospital by ambulance.

BURLEY CITY employees installed a redwood sign Thursday in the newly built monument honoring George H. Scholer at the park named for him. The park is located between the Snake River, Highway 36 and the Burley golf course.

Scholer park gets monument

BURLEY — A monument recognizing service to the city of Burley by the late George H. Scholer was placed Thursday at the Scholer Park.

The park is located between the Snake River, Highway 36, and the Burley golf course.

The monument is topped by a redwood sign. Of Oakley stone, the monument measures 7 feet by 12 feet at the base. A plaque is engraved on the stone portion of the monument, acknowledging service to Burley by the late Mr. Scholer.

Mrs. June Scholer Otter, Boise, daughter of the late Mr. Scholer requested permission from the city council to erect a monument in the park bearing her father's name. The request was granted.

The development of the park started in 1956 with the Burley Jaycees clearing the land and sowing grass. After the grass was growing the Jaycees started building cinder block fireplaces. Presently there are five fireplaces in the park.

There are two eight-foot picnic tables available for each fireplace. Drinking water has been piped to the park and modern rest rooms have been built.

The Burley Parks Department has maintained the park since 1962.

her childhood, and speaks and writes Spanish fluently.

Last summer she worked in Burley and did her "September Experience" toward qualification for teaching at the Southwest Elementary School here.

Miss Hunter has accepted a teaching position in kindergarten at Grand Coulee, Wash., and plans to spend this summer at home in Burley.

Collectors

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's a rare individual who isn't a collector of something these days. Whether it's rocks, shells, wood carvings, sculpture, books, coins, glass or fine china, people are travelling and collecting more than ever.

What happens to those collected items once they get in the home is something that concerns Rita Harrold, Westinghouse residential lighting director. She recommends that individual pieces and collections be displayed and lighted so they can be appreciated. "Don't hide away an art object or collection on a shelf and just hope that someone notices it," she said.

John Trevino, general chairman of the July 4th celebration, reported persons or organizations who plan to enter floats in the parade are urged to notify Larry Edgar, parade chairman, or the chamber office.

It was announced that at least two items of western wear are expected to be worn starting June 21 through July 4 and the Jaycees will be acting as the "police" on the western garb.

Art students are being contacted from the schools to paint western type drawings on the merchants' windows.

Lynn Bradshaw, Minidoka County-FHA supervisor, was guest speaker at the chamber luncheon. He told the group that some $23 million had been spent in Idaho last year on housing

Swimmingly

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — Mathematics professor Henry Minc, 51, has swum more than 1,700 miles on his lunch hour.

The 51-year-old teacher at the University of California Santa Barbara figures he has averaged about 270 chlorinated miles annually since he began his noon-time swimming at the school recreation department's outdoor pool in 1963.

programs, and for the coming year that figure is expected to be up. Loans on the housing program can be made in any city under 10,000 population.

There is a three member committee board which meets at least once a week and studies the eligibility of the applicants. The applicant must have a dependable income, good credit to be considered for the housing loan.

Interest rate is 7 1/2 per cent and can be figured over a period of not more than 33 years, he said.

Interest credit loans are made on income of $5,000 and below and most of the homes average 1,200 square feet while most of the homes in this area have 1,040 square feet. A basic house costs about $13 per square foot.

Loans are figured on 100 per cent of value of house, lot and well. Taxes and insurance are not included, he said.

Transfers may be made to another party if the applicant meets the requirements.

A question period was held following Bradshaw's report on the housing project.

It was announced that next Thursday the queen candidates for the July 4th celebration will be guests at the chamber luncheon.

You can go either way, but decide to lead through West because he just might hold five diamonds and you don't want him winning that first spade trick.

So South leads a spade to dummy's eight spot at trick two. East takes his jack and the defense cashes three diamonds before knocking out the ace of hearts. South then plays dummy's king of spades, comes back to his hand with the ace of clubs, lays down his ace of spades and claims his contract when the queen drops.

CARD SENSE

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1♥	1♠	1♠	1NT
2♥	2♠	2♠	2NT
3♥	3♠	3♠	3NT
4♥	4♠	4♠	4NT

You, South, hold:

♠K732 ♥54 ♦K93 ♣QJ62

What do you do now?

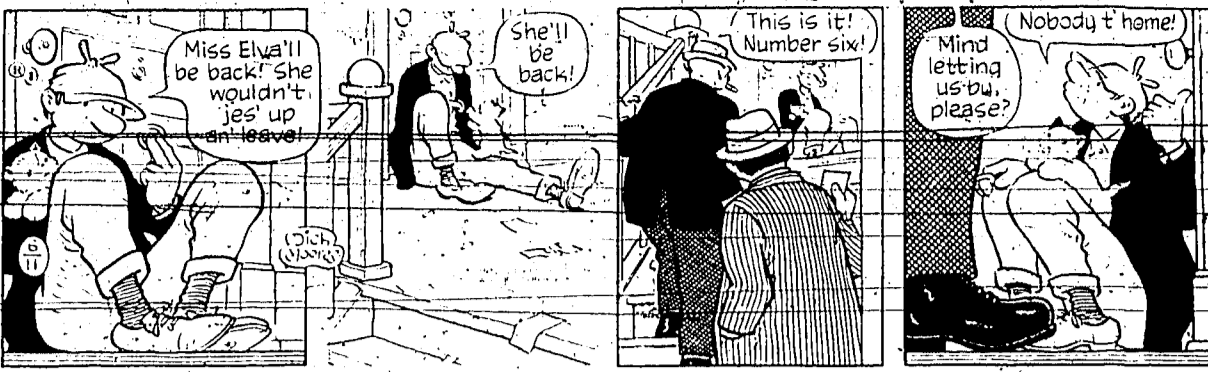

A—Pass. You should make this contract but a redouble would cause East or West to run out to diamonds or spades.

Weiskopf beats rain and par to lead Kemper open

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)—Tom Weiskopf, looking for his first PGA win since 1963, captured the first round lead in the $150,000 Kemper Open Thursday with a six-under-par 66 on the rain-soaked Quail Hollow Country Club course.

Weiskopf, of Bedford, Ohio, fired six birdies and never bogeyed, saving a par on the 18th hole with a shot from the bunker two and a half feet from the pin.

The round, just one stroke off the record for the course, gave Weiskopf his first tournament lead of the year. Miller Barber, Jim Colbert, Charles Sifford and Tom Siskolak finished at four-under-par 68 to tie for second.

Nine golfers, including Lee Trevino and Larry Hinson, who tied the course record of 65 in Wednesday's pro-am, were three under at 69.

Arnold Palmer was one of half a dozen at 70. Defending champion Dick Lotz had a 72 and U.S. Open champ Tony Jacklin was one over at 73.

"I putted exceptionally well," said Weiskopf. "I didn't come close to three putting. I made just about every makeable putt I had to make."

Weiskopf turned the corner on the first nine four under par with one-putt birdies on the second, fourth, fifth and sixth holes, including a 25-footer on No. 4. He sank a 15-footer on No. 14 and an eight-footer on No. 18 for the final two birds.

Weiskopf saved par on the 360-yard 16th hole, a slight dogleg with four traps guarding the green. "The only time I got in trouble was on the 16th hole, when I landed in the rough and then fell short of the green," Weiskopf said. "I drove the ball real well. You don't have to be too accurate. The fairways here are pretty wide."

He said the soggy course was playing longer than usual and the wet conditions and the par three and five holes favored the long hitter.

Mile, shot, mile relay grab spotlight in USTFF carnival

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI)—The mile relay, mile run and shotput draw top attention Friday and Saturday at the ninth annual United States Track and Field Federation (USTFF) Championships.

Some of the top track and field performers in the country will compete at Wichita State University's Cessna Stadium which has an artificial track.

Rice University's mile relay team has been tagged No. 1 in that event, although having only the fourth best time of teams entered. Three of the four runners this year were on the winning team at the USTFF here last year.

Orioles rip Twins for eighth in row

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Frank Robinson drove in five runs with a homer and two singles to help Jim Palmer to his ninth victory of the season Thursday night as the Baltimore Orioles routed the Minnesota Twins, 12-0, for their eighth consecutive triumph.

Palmer, now 9-3, hurled his ninth complete game and first shutout behind a 16-hit attack that included two triples by Don Buford. He struck out five and walked one.

Loser Jim Perry, 8-5, got tagged for seven hits and six runs in two innings climaxed by Robinson's eighth homer.

Tigers 3, Brewers 2

DETROIT (UPI)—Norm Cash hit his 310th career home run and 13th of this season with a man on in the sixth inning Thursday night—his second game-winning homer in two nights—to spark the Detroit Tigers to a 3-2 triumph over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Running on the Rice team will be Steve Straub, Dennis Dicke, Chip Grandjean and Mike Cronholm or Lin Bingham. The Texas school won the Texas and Kansas Relays event as well as the Southwest Conference title.

However, another Texas school, Abilene Christian, offers the best qualifying time, 3:05.6 to Rice's best of 3:06.7. Abilene Christian won the Drake Relay mile relay event over Rice.

Indians 9, Sox 0

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Ray Fosse belted a three-run homer and Ted Uhlaender doubled home two runs to help Ray Lamb to his fourth victory of the season Thursday night as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Chicago White Sox, 9-0, to sweep their three-game series.

Fosse, who drove in 61 runs last year, ran his season RBI total to 24 with a smash into the left field stands in the second inning, following a walk to Lamb and a single by Graig Nettles.

Lamb, who won his third straight game, went the distance for the third time.

Yanks 3, Angels 2

ANAHEIM (UPI)—Yankee catcher Thurman Munson scored the deciding run Thursday night when his opposite number John Stephenson threw wildly trying to pick him off third and New York beat the California Angels 3-2.

Lamb, who won his third straight game, went the distance for the third time.

Youngsters seize LPGA tourney lead

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI) — A couple of youngsters, Janie Blalock and Kathy Ahern, braved stiff breezes and tough pin placements Thursday to share the first round lead in the $55,000 LPGA championship but were only a step ahead of two veterans.

Miss Blalock, the local favorite from Portsmouth, N.H., shot 36-34-70 and Miss Ahern, who had skipped the last two tournaments, to work on her game, had the exact same score to share the lead.

Miss Ahern, who celebrated her 22nd birthday just a month ago, was even par on the front nine but three under on the backside to make an unexpected move in overtaking Miss Blalock.

Tied for second were two veterans, tournament favorite Kathy Whitworth and Donna Caponi.

Another ranking entry in the tournament, which is sponsored by Eve cigarettes, was forced to withdraw. Shirley Englehorn, winner in three of seven earlier LPGA tournaments at Pleasant Valley, was forced out after shooting a 4-over 40 on the front nine. Shirley was knocked out by the recurrence of an old ankle injury and estimated she would be off the tour for at least four months.

Miss Englehorn, 30, who will return to her Caldwell, Idaho, home for treatment, said she had received injections for the ankle ailment before the round but that her left leg had gone numb and she had to quit.

Miss Blalock, rated the most improved young pro on the tour a year ago, noted it was "easy to miss" putts because of the difficult pin placements.

Silvester betters world mark

YSTAD, Sweden (UPI) — Jay Silvester of the United States Thursday night hurled the discus 229 feet, 10 inches, 5 feet, 5 inches better than his previous world mark.

But Arne Ljungqvist, chairman of the Swedish Track and Field Association, said the throw could not be recognized as a world mark because the contest pitting Silvester against Sweden's Ricky Bruch — was not officially announced as an international contest.

"It was only registered as a national event which means that Silvester's throw can not be recognized," Ljungqvist said.

Being a foreigner, Silvester's result in a national contest does not count as a world record, Ljungqvist said.

The new World Record exceeded the old one of 224 ft, three inches. Silvester also has a record pending of 230-foot 11 inches set at Antelope Valley, Calif. May 17.

Silvester thus won the marathon race against Sweden's discus star Ricky Bruch. Silvester earlier this year broke through the barrier at Lancaster but his record was not recognized.

The contest between the two giants, in Ystad occurred under perfect conditions and was probably the best discus contest ever.

Silvester exceeded his earlier world record in the second attempt. He jumped over in his first. After his third, Silvester withdrew from the tournament satisfied with his new record.

Bruch made his best performance ever but never had a chance to challenge the world record.

Hooton may get early major start

CHICAGO (UPI) — Bert Hooton, a 21-year old University of Texas pitcher signed a contract Thursday with the Chicago Cubs who said they would try him out for possible immediate major league play when he reports for duty Sunday.

Cub General Manager John Holland announced the signing of Hooton, the Cubs' first choice in the secondary phase of the player draft, but declined to reveal the terms of the pact.

Hooton flew into Chicago less than 24 hours after the Cubs put the finger on him. He said he was eager to start his professional baseball career although he still has a year of college eligibility left at Texas.

"I am real happy to be picked by the Cubs," he said. "I am not going to play any more college ball."

Hooton left immediately for home after his conference with Holland.

Holland said Hooton will report to Cubs Sunday and work out before the game with the Cincinnati Reds.

"He will be placed on the major league roster when (Manager Leo) Durocher decides to make him active," a Cubs spokesman said.

The National High School Athletic Coaches Association adopted for the second year in a row a resolution calling on Congress to forbid pro games on Fridays. Most pro games are played on Sundays but a few contests, mostly in pre-season, are staged on Fridays.

Cliff Fagan, executive secretary of the national coaches group, told 700 coaches in their annual convention that the playing and televising of Friday pro football games cuts attendance at high school contests.

Fagan called on the coaches to "resist the intrusion of professional sports into areas where they don't rightly belong" and urged the coaches to pressure regulatory bodies for protection for high school athletics.

Fagan also complained of "the increasing evidence of curtailment — and sometimes abolition — of high school athletic programs."

Braves 2, Astros 1

HOUSTON (UPI) — Hank Aaron's triple keyed a two-run first inning and reliever Cecil Upshaw stopped a ninth inning rally to give the Atlanta Braves a 2-1 victory over the Houston Astros Thursday night.

Aaron tripled in the first inning to drive in Marv Staehle who had led off the inning with a looping single to right. Aaron scored on a single by Orlando Cepeda and the Braves, behind the pitching of Tom Kelley, protected the lead until the ninth.

Padres 4, Mets 2

NEW YORK (UPI) — Clay Kirby pitched a four-hitter and Nate Colbert hit his 13th home run to break a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning Thursday as the San Diego Padres defeated the New York Mets, 4-2, to salvage the final game of a three-game series.

Kirby, who pitched eight hitless innings against the Mets before being lifted for a pinchhitter in a game last season, handcuffed New York on two hits before pinchhitter Ken Singleton and Don Hahn delivered two-out singles in the eighth inning.

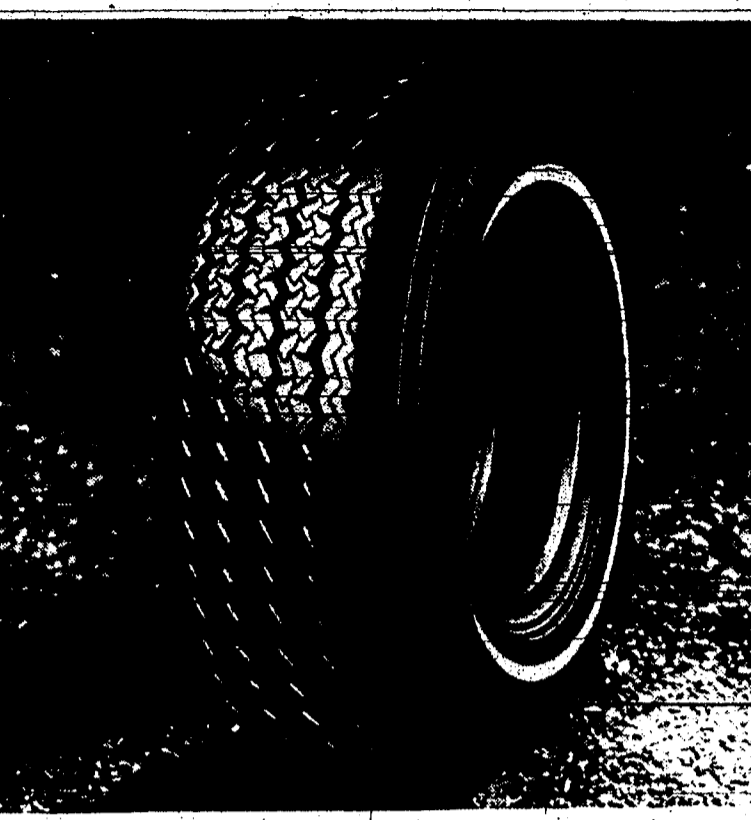

Kirby then retired Ken Boswell on a liner to left field to quell the final Met threat.

Kirby struck out 13, setting a club record, and didn't walk a batter in beating the Mets for the second time this season. Ed Kranepool's two-run homer in the first inning accounted for the only Met runs.

Proper funding need for insurance told

BOISE (UPI) — An attorney for the legislative council told an interim study committee today that successful state self-insurance programs require a fund of $2 million to $5 million. Allen Willis told the legislative interim committee on self-insurance that those states trying such programs have failed unless they have put in proper funds. He said 25 states have had self-insurance programs, funding them anywhere from $250,000 to $4,500,000. Some have had to turn to their legislatures for supplemental appropriations when they have suffered large losses, he said. Council researchers presented the interim committee with background material obtained from reports made by the states of Montana and Arizona on self-insurance studies.

"The Montana study resulted in a recommendation for high deductible self insurance," the council said. "But the Arizona study concluded that their favorable rate schedule coupled with the commercial insurance services did not warrant such a program."

The prepared material indicates that the programs of the states trying self insurance have met with various degrees of success or failure. "In most cases premiums paid into a self-insurance fund have exceeded losses paid," a cover memorandum from the council said.

"But when the losses do exceed the premiums (or at least the amount available in the fund), the results have sometimes been disastrous — as was the case in Michigan.

Stoicheff suggested perhaps there is some central agency which could provide the information from its own bank of statistics. Insurance industry representatives and insurance department spokesmen were asked by the committee for their recommendations. A spokesman for the insurance department recommended that professional advice — not available in the department — be sought if the state decides to become a self-insurer.

Radio wristwatch near reality, Swiss says

NEW YORK (UPI) — Although Dick Tracy has had one for many years, the two-way radio wristwatch only now is close to becoming a reality. However, it appears almost mechanically simple when compared with existing watches and those planned for the future. Henry Altorfer, president of the Watchmakers of Switzerland, predicted people in the future will press a button to get a time reading beam from an observatory. He also said watches eventually will give weather information, news flashes and stock market reports. Some Swiss watches already on the market appear to be anticipating future events. The "space watch" gives the wearer the time on other planets by moving a sliding bar. The "moon watch" keeps track of the moon phases as well as giving the day, date and month and automatically knows when it's the 31st day and adjusts for leap year. Crummed on the dial of the "pilot" are movable rims that calculate air speed, fuel consumption, altitude, distance, arrival time and convert knots into miles and kilometers. For glider pilots, mountain climbers and parachutists, the "bivouac" has a barometer that indicates weather changes and an altimeter. One watch can be used in slide rule calculations.

The "pulsometer" enables doctors to quickly calculate a patient's pulse and the "mareograph" shows tides and records elapsed time for yachtsmen. The latest advance in Swiss watchmaking, Altorfer said, was the quartz watch. "With accuracy up to one minute a year, it is the most precise timepiece in the world," he explained. "But it is still in the early stages of production and considerably expensive." Watchmakers also have been designing timepieces with an eye to fashions. For hot pants, the Sheffield Watch Corp. in New York is offering a jumbo watch which is strapped around the thigh. Altorfer said the Swiss have fashion color-coordinated dials to match attire.

Aircraft builder offers repayment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today the McDonnell-Douglas Corp. has offered to reimburse the $200 million loss three U.S. airlines would suffer if Congress allows Lockheed to go bankrupt. The airlines—Trans World, Eastern and Delta—would lose down payment money they have given Lockheed for its TriStar jumbo jet if the aircraft manufacturer went bankrupt. At a hearing of the Senate Banking Committee, Proxmire said he understood that McDonnell-Douglas would give the airlines a refund if they buy McDonnell-Douglas' DC10 in place of the Lockheed Airbus, which would not go into production if Lockheed fails. Chairman Secor D. Browne of the Civil Aeronautics Board said he could not believe that McDonnell-Douglas would make such an offer.

"This is the first I've heard of it," he said. Proxmire declined to say where he learned of the offer. He said he got word of it indirectly. Browne, testifying in favor of the administration's bill to save Lockheed from going under, stressed the serious consequences for the airlines if they lose the $200 million they have invested in Lockheed's plane, the L1011.

Victim dies

HARDIN, Mont. (UPI) — James Nickerson, 23, Spokane, Wash., died in a hospital here early today as a result of injuries he suffered in a one-car accident near here. The Montana Highway Patrol said Nickerson was alone in his car and apparently fell asleep while driving one mile west of Hardin.

Patrolmen quit jobs at Salmon

SALMON, Idaho (UPI) — Salmon's three city patrolmen have resigned because of differences to the city's new chief of police, Edward Tudor. # Valley men gain bars

BOISE — Four Magic Valley men were commissioned second lieutenants in the Idaho Army National Guard Wednesday after graduating from the Idaho Military Academy.

The four are Lowell R. Shafer, Filer, distinguished graduate and academic citation; Ellis J. Woodward, Paul, and John K. Carlson and Thomas W. Howard, both Twin Falls. Howard received an armor award.

OUR BETTER HALF LOST A LITTLE WEIGHT...

And gained a lot of friends. The new Early Times Half Gallon bottle is now two pounds lighter. And stronger. Which makes it easier to carry, easier to drink. Because it pours, too, because of its unique built-in pourer. What's more, our Better Half is easier to buy because of a bigger savings on the bigger size. Early Times in the new, lighter half gallon bottle. Our Better Half thought you deserved a break.

Mates dine on skate

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Shedd Aquarium Wednesday unveiled the first new exhibit in its 17-year history — an imitation coral reef — stocked with tropical fish.

There were 999 fish on the reef — one fewer than scheduled. The 1,000th, a skate, was eaten by its reefmates earlier in the day.

A survey conducted by a seating company shows most diners eat with two or more companions and prefer to sit at tables rather than in booths or at counters.

Defense law petitions out

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley members of the National Association to Keep and Bear Arms are circulating petitions to the state legislature asking for a "self-defense law" for homeowners.

Wayne Kinney, Twin Falls, chairman of the Twin Falls chapter of the Oregon-based organization, said about 3,000 signatures have been obtained in the Magic Valley on the petitions, which seek passage of a law to enable citizens to protect themselves from assault by marauders.

The law "is needed badly," Kinney said. In Nehraska, a suspected burglar who was shot by a homeowner was awarded $35,000 in damages, despite the fact that he was intruding with allegedly criminal intent.

Never dry a wig made of synthetic hair in a hair dryer. The synthetic wigs don't like heat. Also, don't hang a wet wig near a radiator. Let it dry naturally.

Ambassador

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The fourth annual Welcome a Visitor Week, aimed at making a "good will ambassador" of every American and Canadian, will be observed in the United States and Canada June 14-20, the American Society of Travel Writers (SATW) announced.

Sponsored by the SATW as a public service, the week is dedicated to promotion of friendship among peoples. Americans and Canadians are urged to make special efforts to help travelers, foreign and domestic.
