Parents hit day school facilities

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Writer
TWIN FALLS — Trustees of Twin Falls School District No. 411 heard complaints from a number of parents Monday night who said training and facilities at the Happy Day School for retarded children is inadequate.

"We are all parents of retarded children and we are here to request better facilities for our children at Happy Day School," one man said, as spokesman for the large group of parents.

Dr. Fred J. McCabe, a psychologist affiliated with the Child Development Center on Harrison Street, discussed the problem of training and educating the retarded child. Two major classifications of retardation help in treatment, Dr. McCabe said. The trainable child is one who is able to be trained in simple tasks, while the educable child is able to be educated to a limited degree.

The Happy Day school is designed only for the trainable retarded child, while the educable children are taught in a special series of classes, at Robert Stuart Junior High School.

for their trainable retarded children as are provided for the special education classes at Robert Stuart.

Dr. McCabe said he had been observing training for the retarded at a school in which each staff member is responsible for only two children. "Thus, with 200 children, they have 100 staff members," he said.

By contrast, the Child Development Center, which seeks to help the retarded and handicapped child, has only 15 staff members but must serve an eight-county area in south-central Idaho, Dr. McCabe said.

Merle Stoddard, director of the Easter Seal Center, discussed her work with handicapped children, emphasizing her belief that "We have to start with the retarded child as an infant."

"You can't take a child at 6 or 7 and hope to get anywhere with training or educating him," Mrs. Stoddard said. "We need new educational thinking."

The trustees took exception to this point of view, saying that by law the school district cannot accept children in a class until they are 6 years old.

Mitchell said the department will seek a temporary restraining order to block publication of the Defense Department study on the Vietnam War pending a hearing on the request for an injunction. The action will be filed in U.S. District Court in New York City.

Southerners ask pullout

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Two Southerners, both long-time backers of the U.S. efforts in Vietnam, reversed their positions today and called for total U.S. withdrawal from the war.

Ambush kills 4 Yanks

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist artillerymen bombarded a South Vietnamese outpost near the abandoned U.S. base at Khe Sanh in an attack that killed five Saigon government troops and wounded 15 others, military spokesmen said today.

A communique from Phnom Penh said a terrorist threw a grenade at a truckload of GIs but it missed them and injured two Cambodians.

Allied spokesmen also reported heavy fighting near the South Vietnamese Artillery Base 5 in the Central Highlands. They reported 68 Communists killed in Monday clashes.

The Communists fired more than 200 rounds of 82mm mortar Monday afternoon and evening eight miles east of Khe Sanh. Five South Vietnamese marines were killed and 15 wounded in the shelling.

The North Vietnamese were reported to have moved more than 10,000 men into the mountainous region in the northwestern corner of South Vietnam, below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

U.S. B52 bombers flew four missions over the area in the 24 hours ended at noon today, command spokesmen said. The B52s have dropped nearly 1.5 million pounds of bombs over the area since Saturday in the heaviest concentration of B52 raids in South Vietnam since the Laotian operation in February and March.

At the port of Qui Nhon on South Vietnam's northern coast, an explosion rocked the U.S. merchant ship "American Hawk" early today. The 492-foot, 12,900-ton vessel was carrying military supplies but no munitions or oil, a military spokesman said.

The ship, owned by the New American Foreign Steamship Co. of New York, was listing 10 degrees to port.

Ga., and B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., issued unequivocal calls for the withdrawal of all American forces.

Jordan said Monday he would vote for the Vietnam disengagement act Wednesday. The legislation would require an end to U.S. combat in Indochina by Dec. 31.

Talmadge said he could not vote for the measure on constitutional grounds. But, in a speech prepared for delivery today, he denounced the war as a drain on U.S. manpower and resources and implored President Nixon "From the floor of this Senate to negotiate a release of our prisoners and announce a policy of complete and total disengagement to begin now, and to terminate one year from today."

"The American people," Talmadge said, "are weary to the bone and fed up with this ill-conceived conflict. It has placed a dangerous drain on a precious reservoir which we once thought bottomless—the unity of spirit and purpose which has made this nation great.

"Americans have reached the end of their patience. There is a rising tide of sentiment in our land against this war. We have honored our commitment to the South Vietnamese many times over, at a cost which is staggering. Families are shattered and torn apart by the war and the ideological divisions it has created."

Riots grip city

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — Youthful militants smashed storefront windows, overturned cars and hurled rocks and flaming bottles at National Guard troops Monday in the city's second day of civil strife.

Scattered fires were set early today but the National Guard ended its patrol of the city's streets before dawn.

The second all-night curfew ended at 6 a.m. and the city commission called a meeting today to revise city statutes to possibly extend the curfew for a third day. City law says declarations of civil emergency are limited to 48 hours.

"Everything has been pretty quiet since about 3 a.m.," Police Lt. Frank Becerra said. "Until then, there had been a small fire here and a small fire there — nothing serious."

Fire officials said 61 fires were set in the city since the trouble began Sunday evening. Police said 460 persons have been injured, including 13 hit by gunfire.

Some sniper fire was directed toward National Guard troops Monday when Guardsmen dispersed a crowd of jeering, rock-throwing youths from two city parks. No one was hit by the gunfire.

The outbreak was less extensive than the previous day when 1,500 whites, blacks and Mexican-Americans marched on police headquarters demanding the release of minors arrested for drinking in a crowded city park.

Publication halt sought

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Attorney General John N. Mitchell said today the Justice Department will seek an injunction later in the day to stop The New York Times from publishing top secret documents because this could "result in irreparable injury to the national defense."

able injury to the national defense."

The affidavit was signed by Fred Buzhardt, general counsel of the Defense Department. The complaint charges that the newspaper and a long series of its officials and reporters obtained "without lawful authority and at a time and place and in a manner unknown" to the government certain documents consisting of 47 volume entitled "History of U.S. Decision Making Process on Vietnam Policy."

Document disclosure attacked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today that publication by The New York Times of secret Johnson administration documents on Vietnam was a "very serious matter."

Suez forces on alert

By United Press International
Political sources in Cairo said today Egypt had placed its Suez Canal defense forces on maximum alert following Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan's warning that "the resumption of war may be imminent" in the Middle East.

The Egyptian political sources said the Egyptians would not fire first but would react vigorously to any Israeli provocations along the waterway.

The new crisis blew up Friday when Arab guerrillas opened fire with bazookas on an Israeli-chartered tanker in the Red Sea. Israel saw the attack as a threat to its sea lifelines. Egypt's closing of the Tiran Strait entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba in 1967 helped precipitate the 1967 war.

Dayan, who has been taking a public soft-line attitude in recent months, changed his tone sharply in a speech to Hebrew University students in Jerusalem. His words apparently were prompted by the Arafat guerrilla attack against an Israeli-bound oil tanker in the Red Sea Friday.

7th infant dies

SYDNEY (UPI) — The seventh of the nine infants born Sunday to the wife of a wholesale meat salesman died today, leaving only one boy and one girl alive, doctors at the Sydney Royal Women's Hospital reported.

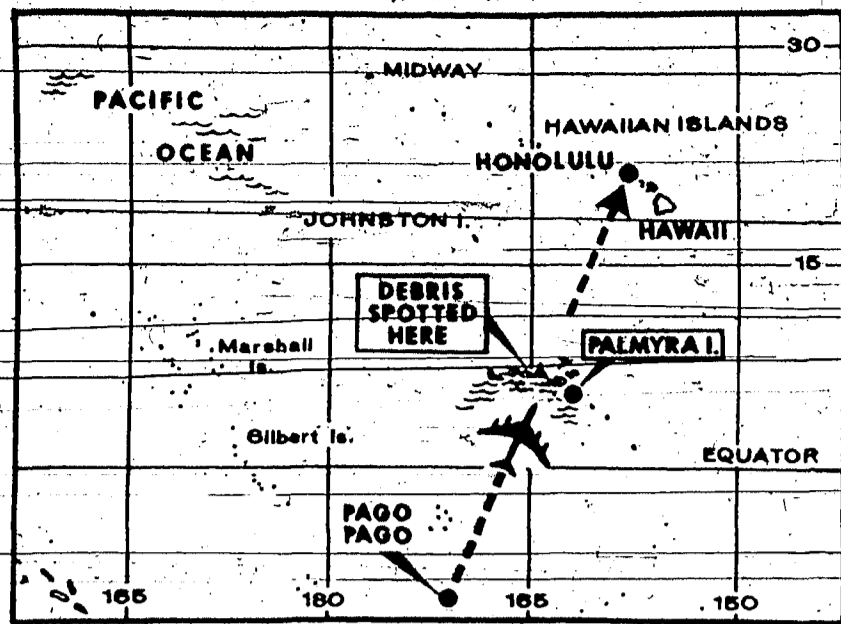

The latest death was that of Geraldine Brodrick's firstborn, a girl. Attending doctors had held the greatest hope of her survival until her condition suddenly deteriorated. She died at 11:15 a.m. (1:15 a.m. EDT), less than 56 hours after delivery.

Mrs. Brodrick, 29, the mother of two other girls by Caesarian section, gave natural birth to five boys and four girls in what medical experts say was a world record number for one pregnancy. Doctors said delivery was almost three months premature. She had taken pills to promote natural childbirth before her pregnancy. Doctors had told her the drug could increase fertility as a side effect.

Trustee board seeks access road near T.F. High School

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls School District will seek the help of the city of Twin Falls in reconstructing an access road east of the high school, trustees agreed during a lengthy board meeting Monday night.

Dale Riedesel, of the engineering firm of Riedesel and Straubbar, suggested that the city and school district cooperate to "totally reconstruct" Madrona Street from Filler north to Stadium Boulevard, east of the high school.

Madrona's extension north of Filler would parallel the access road leading to the "horseshoe" around the east side of the high school, Riedesel said. If Madrona could be linked to the access road, this would facilitate traffic flow to and from the school.

The access road is presently in poor condition, with many areas completely broken up and needing replacement, Riedesel said. Complicating the problem is the fact that rainwater and sprinkling water from lawn watering flows into the street and pools there, causing excessive deterioration.

Trustees agreed to authorize a representative of the district work with Riedesel in conferring with the Twin Falls City Council on the problem.

In other school board business, trustees discussed a plan to seal-coat school playgrounds and the high school parking lot with a protective coating for longer wear. Two alternatives were discussed, including spraying with Reclamite, a water-based emulsion, and a new product advocated by Jim Durham, representing the firm of Ecology, Inc., Twin Falls.

Durham said his product is composed of liquidized gilsonite ore, a liquid plasticizer and a solvent to provide a secure bond with existing asphalt. The product is applied while hot — it solidifies below 190 degrees — and assures a durable new surface which will last for several years with no further treatment needed, Durham said.

Durham said the Reclamite, a pink liquid that is sprayed on asphalt surfaces, must be renewed every year, whereas his gilsonite product will insure at least three to six years of durability.

Dr. Ernest H. Ragland, superintendent of schools, suggested both products be tried as a comparison test. Trustee John Wolfe advocated application of the two products side-by-side on the high school parking lot to provide a test of both under identical traffic and weather conditions.

The trustees authorized district officials to proceed as they saw fit on ordering the products.

In other district business, school lunch supervisor Mrs. Bernice (Bernie) Holladay opened four bids on purchase of dishwashing equipment to be installed at Robert Stuart Junior High School and Bickel School, "new ovens for morningside, Harrison and Bickel and a "proofing box" for raising bread and rolls to be installed at Harrison.

The Idaho Department of Education will pay 75 per cent of the purchase and a portion of the installation of the equipment, Mrs. Holladay said. The school district must plumb them in and provide wiring at district cost. Her budget contains a contingency fund which will cover the cost, she told the trustees.

Trustees accepted a bid from Restaurant and Store Equipment Co., Salt Lake City, who bid a total of $8,720.00 for the equipment. Other bidders included Interior Trends, Boise, quoting $8,938; BS&R Equipment, Twin Falls, $9,135.92, and Ifeco, Boise, asking $9,836.

Report due soon on state agency

BOISE (UPI) — Legislative Auditor James Deffenbach said Monday a "very complete report on activities" of the Idaho Personnel Commission will be submitted to the Legislative Budget and Finance Committee June 25.

Deffenbach said the committee would also receive a requested study of the impact of the 1971-72 appropriation for the state parks department. The department has laid off 34 employees, citing the lack of funding as the reason.

Public defender dismissed

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI) — The family of accused mass murderer Juan V. Corona abruptly dismissed the public defender Monday in a surprise courtroom move and hired a private attorney.

Deffenbach termed the report on the personnel commission an "evaluation" of its performance, management and fiscal operations.

He said the report would consider whether the commission has met the intent of the legislature and statutes defining its responsibilities.

EVERY FATHER'S DAY GIFT SHOULD CARRY TWO NAMES... YOURS AND STERLINGS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., the chief of naval operations who brought beer and beards to the "mod" Navy, Monday abolished bell bottoms and sailors' round hats in the most sweeping uniform change in U.S. naval history.

The enlisted man's entire dress blue uniform — with its jumper, neckerchief, flap at the back of the neck and wide bottom trousers — will be cast overboard and replaced in two years by the same dark blue double-breasted suit, white shirt, black tie and white standard peaked military hat long worn by commissioned officers and chief petty officers.

Zumwalt's action brought the Navy into line with Army, Air Force and Marine Corps, dress codes under which only minor trim and caps are different on the uniforms of officers and enlisted men.

Navy enlisted men will have silver buttons while chief petty officers and commissioned officers wear gold. The enlisted man's cap ornament will be an eagle with the letters "USN" in silver. Chief petty officers and commissioned officers wear gold anchors rather than eagles.

The Navy surveyed its men in 1956 and 1962 and found them happy with the existing sailor's suit. But a similar survey in December showed "a considerable sentiment for change," Zumwalt said.

State Auditor Joe Williams will appear before the committee to present a review of his department's new accounting and management information system.

Also on the agenda is a discussion with the state tax commission concerning whether the position of executive secretary is covered in the commission's appropriation for this year.

Corona, the only suspect in the killing of 25 itinerant farm workers, was present for the brief 10-minute court action.

Also on hand were Corona's wife, mother, a sister and a brother, Pedro, who made the decision to dismiss public defender Roy Van Den Heuvel and replace him with Hawk.

No immediate reason was given for the change in attorney. Pedro Corona, who speaks little English, told a reporter, "There's no way I can say."

Van Den Heuvel commented, "I only learned late yesterday (Sunday) I was being replaced. I have nothing more to say."

Attorney Richard Hawk of Concord, Calif., was named by Corona's family to represent the defendant in America's biggest confirmed mass slaying.

—Clyde Koontz, Twin Falls, had been appointed to the post by former Gov. Don Samuelson.

Facilities for retarded children said inadequate

Dr. McCabe said current thinking in the field of training the retarded child involves placing him in a social situation with normal children during part of the day, instead of total isolation in a school for the retarded.

The psychological definition of a retarded child, Dr. McCabe said, is one who is "socially incompetent."

"We try to enhance his social skills, but we need to teach specific skills. We try to put him into a home-type situation if we can find the proper environment for him." With exposure to a normal home situation, it is hoped the retarded child will "transfer" some of the social training to his own situation, gaining a limited amount of understanding on his own.

Dr. McCabe said a Denver psychologist, Dr. Hap, has proven that the trainable child can go farther in learning educational basics than has been thought possible.

"I saw children with an intelligence quotient of 45 to 50 reading first-grade materials," Dr. McCabe said. "Many specialists believe that a child with an IQ of up to 56 can only approach the first-grade material, but cannot read at that level."

Children need "gross motor training" of muscles, as in a gymnasium, to stimulate training in other areas, Dr. McCabe said.

Duck hunters to organize

Legislative meet slated on ecology

TWIN FALLS — A "voting profile" of legislative action on environmental protection will be discussed by the Gem Environmental Liaison (GEL) in a public meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the Holiday Inn.

Vernon Clinton, GEL founder and current chairman, said the program is aimed at showing the need for well-organized activity by citizens in the matter of environmental action, both at local and state levels.

Clinton said the federal Clean Air Act will be reviewed and the latest amendments will be presented for discussion.

Postal changes planned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Postal Service announced Monday international rate changes which will boost revenues by $20.6 million a year, but permit some reductions in air mail postage.

The new rates will not affect mailings to servicemen overseas, or first class and airmail letters to Mexico and Canada, all of which remain the same as U. S. domestic rates.

International rates are set administratively by the Postal Service and are not subject to approval by the Postal Rate Commission, which must approve proposed domestic changes.

The principal provisions of the new rates, effective July 1: —Airmail letters to Central and South America, the Caribbean, Bahamas, Bermuda and St. Pierre and Miquelon will increase from 15 to 17 cents a half ounce.

—Airmail letters to other countries will be 21 cents a half ounce — a 1 cent increase over the present rate for letters to Europe and North Africa, but 4 cents less than those now prevailing for other countries.

U.S. troop movement kept secret

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Lyndon B. Johnson on April 1, 1965, ordered his decision to use offensive ground troops in South Vietnam be kept a secret so that there would not appear to be a sudden shift in U.S. foreign policy, according to a Pentagon study of the war printed today in the New York Times.

At the same time, the possibility of greatly increasing the range and scale of bombing was rejected because such action might bring the Communist Chinese into the conflict, The Times said.

The statements were included in a third article in a series published by The Times on a secret study ordered in 1967 by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to study U.S. involvement in Indochina from the Truman administration to the Johnson administration.

The Pentagon report took one year to complete by a team of 30 to 40 writers and is contained in a 40-volume, 7,000-page work.

The decision to commit 18,000 to 20,000 ground troops came when optimism that an earlier decision to increase bombing in North Vietnam would end hostilities began to wane, The Times said.

The U.S. was presented essentially with two options: (1) to withdraw unilaterally from Vietnam leaving the South Vietnamese to fend for themselves or (2) to commit ground forces in pursuit of its objectives.

New hearings ordered in 'Black 14' lawsuit

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI) — The U.S. 10th Circuit Court of Appeals Monday ordered new hearings on disputed issues of the "Black 14" lawsuit involving former University of Wyoming athletes.

The court said damages could not be awarded because the athletes were attempting to sue the state and agents of the state without the permission of the state, as required by law.

The suit stems from October 1969, when 14 black football players were suspended from the Wyoming team by Eaton after a disagreement over the wearing of black armbands in protest over the racial policies of the Mormon Church, which operates Brigham Young University, which, along with Wy-

Police patrol streets in wake of vandalism

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (UPI) — City police and deputy sheriffs patrolled the streets here today to guard against the possible renewal of the sporadic window breaking, vandalism and fighting by small groups of young people Monday.

The outbursts Monday followed similar, though somewhat smaller, disturbances Friday when groups of young people, apparently upset over cancellation of a high school play began roaming through the East Side of this city of about 32,000 persons.

12-member police tactical patrol force moved into an area around South and Chambers Streets and dispersed a group of about 50 blacks with tear gas.

Beirne spoke with newsmen following an address to more than 2,000 delegates to the CWA convention here in which he announced that the membership had voted by a 340-1 margin to strike.

Beirne said the strike vote was 205,431 to 82,000.

BOISE (UPI) — In an executive order Monday, Gov. Cecil D. Andrus ordered that the Idaho State Board of Pharmacy and its Bureau of Drug Control and the Department of Law Enforcement fully cooperate with the office of the Idaho Attorney General's Office.

Andrus said that the attorney general, Anthony Park, was directed to work closely with the board of pharmacy and department of law enforcement and shall coordinate activities of the board and department and their officers and agents in the enforcement of the Uniform Controlled Substances Act.

The board of pharmacy has applied for federal grants with the Idaho State Law Enforcement Planning Commission to obtain financial assistance to effectively administer the act.

Union sources indicated the strike date would be sometime after July 1, but Beirne did not mention the date in his address.

Art thieves score high

ROME (UPI) — Compared with modern Italian art thieves, barbarian and Nazi looters were pikers.

Thieves got away with millions of dollars in art treasures in 1970 alone and it looks as though 1971 will be an even bigger year for them.

Authorities announced recently that thefts of paintings, sculpture and other precious objects were running at nearly one a day with private collectors hardest hit of all.

Most of the missing pieces, although valuable, were executed by artists not known to the general public. But other works were signed by Rembrandt, Rubens, Utrillo, Manet, Renoir, Picasso, Holbein and Modigliani.

Most of the art left Italy, following the traditional northward routes of stolen treasures from the times barbarians sacked villas museums and public buildings during the decline and fall of the Roman empire.

The Nazis took art away by the truck and train load from 1937 to 1945 and the barbarians smashed or stole thousands of art works. But experts say the current hauls are unprecedented.

Italy is an easy target for thieves for one simple reason. The country is a vast art gallery with unlocked doors and sleeping watchmen.

Museums and galleries are dangerously understaffed. Churches and convents are negligent or naive in guarding their treasures. Security measures are antiquated or completely lacking in even the most famous museums and galleries.

Private collectors are woefully careless. The government is stingy with money and advice.

The government finally is seeking international help, but experts describe it as too little too late.

One major step is an Italian move, in cooperation with the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), to bring about a comprehensive census of all European art and to seek laws requiring art buyers to prove where and how they obtain paintings, sculpture and other precious objects.

But Italy is lagging behind on its own plans to catalog all of its art.

And at the same time, art sleuth Rodolfo Siviero, who as minister for the recovery of works of art has returned 2,500 paintings and other objects from Germany alone since World War II, has been handcuffed by red tape and a budget cut to 20 million lire ($32,000) a year.

The bureaucratic snarls of Rome and the lack of an overall international art law, plus what amounts to slap-on-the-wrist penalties in Italy for stealing, possessing or smuggling art, makes the country a natural and inviting target for thieves.

Art owners do not help much by the way they watch over a treasure so valuable that Venetians estimate their collection alone brings in tourist earnings of $82 million a year.

A restaurant owner showing his father's collection lost 22 paintings, among them works by Renoir, Manet and Brueghel, when he took no more than usual precautions when closing for the night.

A private museum in an unguarded greenhouse was looted of dozens of objects, including a bust of Michelangelo. Villas and churches are raided frequently because thieves know they are often unguarded even by maids or sextons.

Paintings by Rembrandt and Rubens, valued by some experts at $1.6 million, were taken from a nobleman's home.

These are only the most publicized and recent cases. Dozens more thefts go unreported and unnoticed.

Historic art detective story provides intriguing TV hour

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The Jacques Cousteau underwater documentaries have proved the tremendous appeal of well-done scientific detective stories on television. And Sunday night CBS-TV began a new series of similar appeal with an hour about a woman's controversial archaeological search for the most famous statue of ancient times, the long-lost Aphrodite, goddess of sensual love.

The broadcast was the first of a number of occasional hours to be produced by CBS-TV in conjunction with the Smithsonian Institution. "Search For the Goddess of Love" was the provocative title of Sunday's program, and it was narrated and guided by former astronaut Wally Schirra, who will also carry out these duties on future broadcasts in the series, which is called "Smithsonian Adventure."

Aphrodite, the first nude statue of a woman in Greek art, was carved in Athens by Praxiteles about 350 B.C., but disappeared some 1,500 years ago, in the Fifth Century A.D., and it is the consuming passion of Iris Love to find it. Miss Love is an archeologist, and the focus of the Sunday hour was on her efforts as they have taken her to the western coast of Turkey, at the site of the ancient, buried city of Knidos.

Says Schirra: "Miss Love stoutly maintains that five pieces she has unearthed—two marble fingers, a wrist section of a hand and two pieces of drapery carved in marble—are proof that Aphrodite became buried at Knidos centuries ago and that she has solved the mystery."

'Saloon singer' ends stage career quietly

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Frank Sinatra made his curtain call Sunday night saying, "I've been a saloon singer all my life and it's appropriate that I started quietly and I end quietly."

Then the 55-year-old crooner sang an emotional "Angel Eyes."

The singer, who announced his retirement last March, said, "Yes, I'm serious about my decision. There are lots of things I want to do that I haven't done before. I want to meet some girls and build a house some place."

But there were tears in the eyes of several thousand of the Hollywood faithful at the motion picture-television relief gala as the kid from Hoboken, N.J., made his adieu. He was accorded three standing ovations during his appearance.

He was preceded on stage by Barbra Streisand, Bob Hope, Jack Benny, Jimmy Stewart, Pearl Bailey and a dozen other top stars.

Princess Grace Kelly of Monaco gave a brief speech in which she said she has always felt close to Hollywood—and, "Hollywood will always be close to my heart."

The former actress, dressed in a white evening gown, also received an ovation.

LDS road show set tonight

TWIN FALLS — A collection of shows from "Fractured Fairy Tales," will be presented by the Twin Falls West LDS Stake MIA tonight in the stake center and at the Second-Fourth Ward's cultural hall.

Six wards are participating in the "road shows." As soon as each ward performs, the cast gathers the props and costumes and goes to another location for another performance.

The shows will start at 7:30 p.m. at both locations.

Wednesday the "road shows" will perform in the Buhl Ward's cultural hall. Following this, each ward will receive a certificate of achievement.

All performances are free to the public.

Ratified

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Missouri Monday became the 33rd state to ratify the U.S. constitutional amendment to lower the voting age to 18. A total of 38 states must approve the amendment for it to become law.

Persons between the age of 18 and 21 now have the right to vote in federal elections. The constitutional change would make it apply to all elections, including state and local races.

Cast members

Yank numbers drop

SAIGON (UPI)—The American fighting force dropped by one-third of President Nixon's order to reduce troops by 100,000 to no more than 184,000 by Dec. 1.

The GI level is at the lowest since March 31, 1966, when strength was 247,200. This 231,000 were in the war zone.

While there still was general concern about rising interest rates, analysts said traders were encouraged by some reports of higher early June car sales and by Monday's Federal Reserve Board (Fed) report that industrial production increased 0.7 per cent in May.

The report by the Fed was regarded as evidence that the economy is recovering from last year's recession.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was ahead 0.29 at 100.51 after three hours of trading, while the Dow Jones industrial average showed a gain of 2.41 at 910.12.

Volume at 1 p. m. amounted to 8,490,000 shares, up from 7,120,000 shares traded at a comparable period Monday.

Mostly fair... DURING the night showers will be found in parts of the Tennessee Valley, the mid Atlantic states and the southern plains.

Typical June weather expected. Twin Falls, Northside, Burley-Rupert area: Fair and a little warmer night and Wednesday.

Thursday through Saturday calls for fair skies and warm temperatures through the period.

Among the day's most active stocks were Chemway Corp. up 1/4 on 206,000 shares, United Utilities unchanged on 194,500 shares, Tenneco off 1/4 on 153,100 shares, and Xerox 2 1/4 higher on 96,800 shares.

Less active General Motors was up more than a point, as was Flying-Tiger-Superior Oil lost 2 1/4.

Probability of measurable precipitation is near zero tonight and Wednesday.

Nationally the highest temperature yesterday was 108 degrees at Palm Springs with 107 at Blythe and Needles, all in California.

Daytime temperatures are expected to warm a little Wednesday. Temperatures tonight should be near those registered this morning.

Vicki Briggs, Nelson marry in local June ceremony

TWIN FALLS — A candlelight ceremony June 4 at the First Presbyterian Church, Twin Falls, united in marriage Vicki Lynn Briggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren G. Briggs, Twin Falls, and Bradford A. Nelson, son of Mrs. Dorothy Nelson, Rigby.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. David Turnmire before a golden arch decorated with greenery and flanked by candelabra and baskets of white gladioli and green-crysanthemums. The church pews were decorated with candles and accented with mint-green satin ribbons.

Guests were greeted by Patricia Nelson and Paul Nelson, sister and brother of the bridegroom. Candelighters were Steve Briggs, brother of the bride, and Martin Florence.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of imported white organza, trimmed with Venice lace flower appliques on a bateau neckline, on the shoulders of bishop sleeves, the front of the "A" line silhouette skirt and on the chapel-length train.

Her elbow-length veil of nylon illusion was held by a crown with scalloped Venice lace motifs trimmed with pearls and beads. She carried a white Bible and a bouquet of white Phalanopsis orchids and stephanotis with ivy accent leaves. Her only jewelry was a drop pearl necklace, a gift from her parents.

Cheri Briggs, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Debby Miller and De Ann Bryant, sorority sisters of the bride were bridesmaids.

Dennis Clement served as best man, with Kim Howard and Ronald Skinner as ushers. Connie Hicks, sorority sister of the bride, was soloist, with Mrs.

MR. AND MRS. BRADFORD A. NELSON (Mike's photo)

Charles Allen at the organ. Immediately after the ceremony a reception honoring the newly weds was held in the church Fireside Lounge. The bride's table was covered with an English organoid cloth. Garlands of smilax encircled the table and draped over the cloth. The wedding cake was topped with an arrangement of white snowflake pompons and yellow Garnet roses with the traditional miniature bride and bride groom. Mrs. Robert Stephan and Mrs. Bryce Bowen cut and served the cake with Patricia Stephan at the punch Bowl. Special out-of-town guests attended from Utah, Nevada and Washington.

The bride was honored at a luncheon by Mrs. Robert Stephan and Mrs. William J. Peters at the Blue Lakes Country Club; a bridal luncheon at the Golden R., and a champagne dinner for the couple was given by the bride's parents at the Turf Club.

After a honeymoon trip to Yellowstone National Park and Jackson Hole, the couple will reside in Boise.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: The mother of a friend of mine is a lovely lady of 85. She is sweet, gentle, alert and is not ailing physically. She takes turns living with her children who love her dearly, but she is very unhappy.

She feels that she is "in the way," but whenever she mentions going to a retirement home, her children insist that elderly parents belong with their families, not in "institutions with strangers."

The little lady appreciates everything her children do for her but she says she would like a place of her own; however tiny. She wants to feel "independent." Her children are well-to-do and could afford to keep her in a very nice retirement home, but they refuse to consider it. Will you please comment, Abby? The elderly lady says her children read your column. AN ADMIRER

DEAR ADMIRER: Aging parents who are in good health and sound mind "belong" where they want to be, if they have a choice. The children may be well-intentioned, but they are selfish. [They also may prefer to keep Mamma at home because they fear their friends will say, "they put the poor old soul in a home to get rid of her." I hope the children reconsider.

DEAR ABBY: This is in reply to "FAT FANNY," who complained about chairs in restaurants being too small. I am also fat and have been for several years. Instead of complaining about the chairs being too small for big me, I am now trying to make myself fit onto chairs. After being a glutton, it suddenly struck me that there was more to life than food. Without the help of one diet pill, I lost 28 pounds in 10 weeks.

Fat people always have an excuse for overeating/They're lonely, unloved, depressed, etc. Well, I'm divorced and have two children whose father refuses to support them. I live on welfare, have no job and my future looks bleak, but I am determined to make it a bright, skinny future.

"Fat Fanny" should shape up and slim down, and quit complaining about restaurant chairs that are made for the average person, not elephants. If I can do it, she can do it.

73 POUNDS TO GO

DEAR "73": Good for you! I want to hear from you 73 pounds from now. I have a hunch you'll make it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a shoplifter. I started out as a teenager. I always took small things and got away with it. I kept telling myself it would be the last time, but I just couldn't stop. I prayed to God to help me stop and I thought I had because I didn't take anything for over a year, then tonight it happened again. I just had to take something, and just as I was walking out of the store they came after me. They caught me with less than a dollar's worth, but I ended up paying a $40 fine plus the hurt to my family, myself and mostly to God.

I have promised God and myself that I will never again steal as much as one bobby pin, and I think now I can keep that promise.

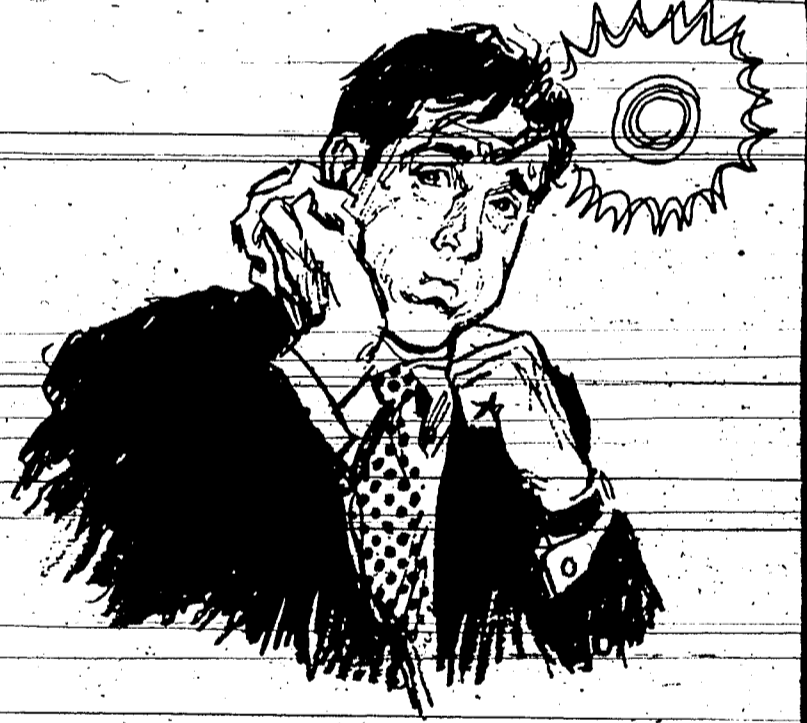

This letter is for everyone who thinks it is not so bad to shoplift an item or two. Never Start! It can get to be a habit, or a game, and it's hard to stop. Please correct my mistakes in spelling, Abby, but print this. It may help someone. Thank you. Sign me. SHOPLIFTER

DEAR FORMER SHOPLIFTER: You have paid the price, so drop the label. There is a lot of good in one who wants to help others thru his own sad experiences. Thank you for writing. God Bless.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TOO MUCH PRIDE" IN EL PASO: You are being foolish. If he doesn't ask you — you ask him!

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69768, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

McEwen, Wageman wed

TWIN FALLS — Julie Ann McEwen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McEwen, Twin Falls, and Virgil M. Wageman, son of Lola Wageman, Burley, were united in marriage in rites May 28 at Twin Falls Sixth Ward LDS Chapel.

Bishop Hugh Call performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked with cathedral baskets of white chrysanthemums and yellow and white carnations and and pearls. She carried a cascade of yellow daisy pompons.

Maid of honor was Kathy Ascraft, Hailey, with Ellen Sprague, Burley, as bridesmaid. Lisa McEwen, sister of the bride, was flower girl.

Kirk Buckley was best man, with Dave Kloer, Gayle Wageman and Bob Wageman, all Burley, as ushers.

Organist was Mrs. Byron Wright. Soloist was Mrs. Gary Lee, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Peugh.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the Cultural Hall under the direction of Mrs. Ivan Alfred of the Carillon. The bride and bridegroom greeted guests before an Austrian backdrop accented with tiny green twinkling lights on each side. A yellow and green daisy theme was used over all. The bride's table was skirted with yellow satin and enhanced with table corsages draped with yellow ribbon.

The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated with yellow daisies and topped with a sugar basket filled with sugar daisies and butterflies. The cake was encircled with fresh chrysanthemums, and flanked by a memory candle.

The gift tables were covered with white acrylic skirts centered with cherub statuary holding green and yellow daisies in front of a gold and white velvet flopped backdrop.

The quartet tables, covered with alencon lace with yellow liners, were centered with brandy snifters containing fresh floating daisies. Topiary trees led from the receiving line to the serving area.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Jim Henson, Burley, and punch was poured by Mrs. Gary McEwen, Provo, Utah, aunt of the bride. Presiding at the round decorated guest book table was Karen Thurston. In charge of gifts were Mrs. Kendall Syverson, Kimberly, and Mrs. Les Pickel, Hansen, aunt of the bride. Marsha Wasden assisted with refreshments. Mrs. Donald Conn pinned on the corsages.

Guests of honor were the grandparents of the bride and bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Rathbun, Twin Falls,

Mr. and Mrs. Orlo McEwen, Kimberly; Mrs. Pearl Rathbun, great grandmother of the bride, Twin Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Dell Mallory, Burley, and Mrs. Adolph Koch, Paul.

Other out-of-town guests attended from Provo, Dugway, and Salt Lake City Utah, Jerome, Burley, Hansen, Kimberly and Caldwell.

After a wedding trip to Sun Valley, the couple will reside at 459 Walnut St., Twin Falls. The bridegroom is employed with Kenneth Marshall Farms, Castleford, and the bride with Mountain Bell Co.

Golden Age Reports given for supper held T. F. War mothers

TWIN FALLS — A potluck supper was enjoyed by members of the Golden Age Club during a social at the DAV Hall the past week. John Henderson, president, was general chairman, assisted by Louise Harra, secretary.

Floral decorations were roses from Henderson's garden. Cards and dancing followed the dinner, with music by Fred and Hattie Craig. Mrs. Craig also accompanied the group singing.

The Soroptimist Club will serve the refreshments for the next meeting set for June 25 at the DAV Hall.

TWIN FALLS — Lillian Armga, state recording secretary, reported on the American War Mothers State convention at Malad City, during the regular meeting last week.

Mrs. Armga gave the highlights of a speech by State Sen. John Evans of Malad. Sen. Evans told of receiving an invitation from Vice President Spiro Agnew to meet with President Nixon at the White House to discuss matters of national importance.

Convention reports were also given by Mary Taylor, delegate to the convention, and Lora Doss who attended the convention as chapter president.

Mrs. Doss served as chairman of the resolutions committee and reported on resolutions passed during the event.

Sue Pratt, second vice president of the chapter, was advanced to the office of first vice president and Lula Shumway was elected as second vice president.

It was announced the War Mother's will hold a rummage sale July 16 and 17 in the vacant building across from Sears.

Helen Mills was a guest and Mary Taylor was awarded the gift for the afternoon. Hostesses were Ruth Linderman, Clara Schultz and Louise Barron. The lace covered table was centered with an arrangement of peonies.

Visit slated

SHOSHONE — The Handy Helpers 4-H Club will visit a bakery in Gooding as part of a project of this spring, members decided at a meeting held this week.

Members of the West End 4-H Club have decided to meet twice a month until a month prior to the county fair, when they will then meet weekly. A new vice president will be elected at the next meeting, to replace Charlotte Davis, who resigned.

B. S. degree

DIETRICH — Ronald Lauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lauer, Dietrich, has received his bachelor of science degree in business from the University of Idaho. He has a position as accountant at Lewiston with the Pollatch Lumber Co., and he and his wife will reside at Lewiston.

Magic Valley Favorites

MRS. ELSIE SEARS Hansen

ONE-BOWL SPONGE CAKE
Beat four whole eggs until fluffy. Add one and one-fourth cups sugar. Beat again. The secret of success in this cake is beating the eggs and sugar together until the mixture is very light, thick and creamy.

Add all at once:
1/4 cup orange juice
1/4 cup water
1 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon almond extract.
Mix until the flour has disappeared and the mixture is smooth. Bake in an ungreased tube pan for 45 minutes at 350 degrees.

Can be baked in muffin pans if desired.

The Times-News will pay $5 each week for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.

A Lovelier You

ABOUT ANTI-PERSPIRANTS

By Mary Sue Miller.

Intended solely for underarm application, anti-perspirants check and deodorize perspiration. This not only saves you double doses of embarrassment, but also saves your clothes from stained residues. Let's update our know-how.

The choice of anti-perspirants now reaches from here to there. It can be liquid or cream, dispensed from jars, sprayed on or rolled on. A few may be applied immediately after shaving. Another type has a "time release", an application reacts when you react to renew protection, much like a spasmule capsule. Extra control exists for excessive flow. Both scented and unscented products are available.

At this writing no anti-perspirant can claim to be truly hypo-allergenic. Hence the main value here of a scent-free product is avoidance of a possible mix-muss with your perfumes and colognes.

The common ingredient of anti-perspirants is some form of aluminum salts, such as aluminum chlorohydroxide complex. Labels supply this information.

Use is wasted, however, unless the underarm area is fuzz-free and freshly bathed. The method and frequency of application differs with brands. You must therefore follow instructions on containers to the letter. Carelessness can cause discomfort and clothing discoloration.

It is no toy to play with. Should a rash develop, seek medical advice on brands. It is possible to build a resistance to a brand after long use. Then simply switch to another. But let nothing come between you and adequate protection.

STRICTLY PERSONAL

Everything you need to know about deodorants, anti-perspirants and depilatories is contained in my booklet, STRICTLY PERSONAL. All doubts are cleared up about why, what, when and how to use these safeguards of femininity. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Forum slated at S.V. on health meet

SUN VALLEY — The Sun Valley Forum on National Health, Inc., a non-profit organization dedicated to improving the quality of health care systems in the U. S., will hold its first annual conference here, June 20-27.

"The nation's physical and mental health," observes Bayless A. Manning, Sun Valley forum chairman, and-dean of the Stanford University Law School, Stanford, Calif. "is an issue of prominent public concern, which has not yet received adequate study and discussion. The forum intends to provide the vehicle for study and discussion by sponsoring lectures, institutes, conferences and symposiums."

Discussion and analysis of health care financing will dominate the conference agenda. Papers related to the subject will be presented by five noted health and economics authorities, including:

Dr. Herbert E. Klarman, professor of economics, graduate school of public administration, New York University; Dr. Lester Breslow, chairman of the department of preventive and social medicine, school of medicine, University of California; Dr. John R. Hogness, director of health services center, University of Washington; Dr. Victor R. Fuchs, vice president of research, National Bureau of Economic Research, New York; and Dr. Herman M. Somers, professor of politics and public affairs, Princeton University.

Howard R. Bowen, forum president, and chancellor of Claremont University Center, Claremont, Calif., said a group of 21 men and women, representing medicine, education, government, business and finance, labor, law and the press will participate in the conference.

First: the food!

Patriotic duties

Stallings heads board

By JERRY HERRMANN, Times-News Writer

RUPERT — Sherrill Stallings was elected chairman of the Mindoka County school board Monday night. He succeeds David Spreler who was defeated in last month's trustee election by Mrs. Fern Hunter.

Mite Maricle was elected vice president and Mrs. June Jensen, who has served as treasurer, was also named clerk. Doyle Lowder, assistant superintendent, previously has served as clerk.

Other board members who were sworn into office included Mrs. Hunter, Leonard Martin and Leo Moore.

Trustees decided the Pony League can no longer use the Minico High School baseball diamond after Dick Warburton, high school baseball coach, said the infield is being damaged by the league because they use shorter pitching distances and only .75 feet between bases.

The diamond is laid out with 90 feet between bases, Warburton said. Glen Maughan, high school principal, said he had granted the Pony League permission to use the field for one day for tryouts.

The board voted, in a three to two decision, to allow only regulation play on the field. Spreler voted to break the tie after Leonard Martin and Leo Moore voted non on the motion and Stallings and Maricle voted yes.

Trustees approved final payment of $10,000 to the Mitchell Construction Co., Pocatello, for building the East and West Minico Junior High Schools after being advised by Roger Ling, district attorney, the firm intended to file suit. Trustees have not been satisfied with the project and the final payment is pending receipt of a waiver stating all sub-contractors have been paid.

Trustees also:

- Heard a report from Dale Tranthan, transportation supervisor, that 10 of the district's 54-passenger buses are beyond repair and 10 others usually are tied up with extra curricular runs, so at present the fleet can transport only 3,211 students on any one day. This means the district is 13 buses short. When the new buses arrive, the fleet can haul 4,411 students.
- Authorized Lowder to check with dealers handling copying machines for a trial run on this equipment.
- Authorized Maughan to find suitable adults to supervise training of the drill team and to accompany members on summer trips.
- Approved teacher contracts for Maurine Burrows, third grade at Heyburn; Marilyn McKin, fifth grade at Heyburn; Keith Merrill, vocational-agriculture at Minico High School; Janice Hatch, first grade at Acequia; Lois E. Cummins, sixth grade at Paul; Constance Coll, fourth grade at Pershing, and Val Harrison, music and math at East Minico Junior High School.

Day camp opens run at Jerome

JEROME — The annual summer day camp at the Jerome County Fairgrounds for Girl Scouts of Neighborhood 18, which consists of troops from Twin Falls, Wendell and Jerome opened Monday with a flag raising ceremony conducted by Diana Greenawalt, Candy Tholman, Laura Sullivan, Diane Bennett and Martha Dyer.

After the opening ceremonies, the youngsters were divided into camp troops according to their ages. The girls' activities included cleaning the area and building their outdoor cooking facilities where they will learn to prepare meals over an open fire during the week.

About 200 Girl Scouts and Brownies are attending the week long program which will include daily activities and a campout Friday night. The camp will close before noon Saturday. The theme of this year's camp is "Eco-Action," with emphasis on ecology.

Last year, a "pixie unit" was organized by Junior Troop 41 for 3, 4, 5 and 6 year old daughters and sons of camp volunteers. The unit was formed again this year under the direction of Mrs. Clay Harty, Twin Falls, with the help of senior troop members. These children will learn some of the activities of scouting.

A new innovation this year was the forming of a troop composed of the young sons of volunteer workers between the ages of 3 and 6. Between 12 and 15 boys are taking part in the activities under the supervision of Jim and Martin Wiseman, Bob Smith, Lyle McClimans and Marvin Thompson from Boy Scout Troop 141.

Dr. L. D. Ruebel is the troop leader. They are sponsored by the United Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Keith Stein, cadette troop leader, formulated the activities for the new troop.

Friday afternoon an open house is scheduled and parents are welcome to visit and see what their children have been doing. Friday evening the Girl Scouts will present a short program and crafts made during the week will be on display.

Day camp offers every Girl Scout a progressive experience in the enjoyment of outdoor living close to home during the day under the supervision of a trained volunteer staff. The objective of this year's camp is to give the scouts an appreciation of the out-of-doors, a new opportunity for group participation, the learning of camping ways and the development of resourcefulness.

Dr. Saras heads Shoshone trustees

By MELBA THORNE, Times-News Writer

SHOSHONE — Dr. E. D. Saras was elected chairman of the Shoshone school board Monday evening.

Waldo Jones was named vice-chairman, and Mrs. Claude Chess was re-appointed clerk-treasurer of the board. Oaths of office were administered to new trustees Donald Runberg and Bennie Ray Webb.

In other business, the trustees voted to initiate as much as possible physical education programs as suggested by representatives from the Idaho Department of Education. An evaluation of the physical education program was completed earlier this year by the state department.

Improvements are planned in physical education training beyond the ninth grade; providing more time for Edward Sandy, a coach, to work with students at Lincoln School; emphasis on "lifetime" sports, including golf and bowling and general physical development; and improvement of outside facilities at Lincoln School.

Non-certified employees of the school who were re-hired include Mrs. Jess Lecurtus, secretary; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Leuder and Joseph (Joe) Gonzales, custodians; Mrs. LaVaughn Sturgeon and Mrs. Lawrence Rands, cooks; and Mrs. Frank Lequerica, school lunch supervisor.

Superintendent Kenneth Crothers was authorized to secure bids for installation or insulation in the old part of Lincoln School, and to determine cost of construction of a ramp for entrance to the high school for wheelchair students.

Notification was received from state Superintendent of Public Instruction D. F. Engkeling of approval to transfer most of two sections of land belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bingham from the Shoshone district to the Dietrich School District. The Bingham had petitioned for the transfer to cut down traveling distance for their children to attend the Dietrich School.

The board approved attendance of the FFA supervisor and several students at a state competition in Moscow June 22-25.

Jerome trustees re-elect Vining

By CHARLOTTE BELL, Times-News Writer

JEROME — Jerome school trustees re-elected Dale Vining chairman during a reorganization meeting Monday night.

All officials were retained, including Gordon Hollifield, vice chairman; Clare Fife, treasurer; Warren Kays, clerk, and Frank Rettig, attorney.

LeRoy Weigel was sworn in as a new trustee, replacing Gordon Hagler, who did not seek re-election this spring.

Trustees approved the hiring of seven new teachers, pending receipt of their certification. The teachers, the grades or subjects they will teach and their degrees include Patricia G. Brantly, Twin Falls, second grade, B. S. degree from Lee College, Cleveland, Tenn.; Noel K. Rutherford, Filer, high school physical education and history, ISU; Judith Ann Enos, Jerome, second grade, Concordia Teachers College, Seward, Neb.; Sandra Kay Hight, Boise, junior high science and physical education, Boise State College; Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Belliston, both Burley, junior high science and second grade, University of

Cassia trustees seated

By LePAGE LAYTON, Times-News Writer

BURLEY — New trustees of Joint School District 151 were sworn in during the meeting Monday evening. The new board was appointed due to a recent rezoning of the Cassia County School District.

Board members include W. B. Whiteley, Zone 1; Norvel Wildman, Zone 2; Dale Smith and Albert Clark Jr., Zone 3; Bill Matthews, Zone 4; and Charles Ward, Zone 5.

Whiteley, Wildman and Matthews were incumbent trustees in their zones before the rezoning issue.

W. B. Whiteley was appointed chairman, with Bill Matthews vice chairman and Matt Warr, clerk-Supt. Harold Blauer was appointed assistant clerk.

In other business, trustees:

- Canvassed the votes of the rezoning election held June 7 with 560 yes votes and 259 no votes. The rezoning issue passed with 68.29 per cent of the votes.
- Approved the building of a 30 foot addition to the west wing of Burley high school. The addition will provide ample space for two classrooms. The board issued a call for bids on construction of the addition.
- Approved the purchase of a wrestling mat for $2,800 on a 50-50 basis, with the school district paying half the costs and Burley High School paying the second half. The request for the mat came from Burley wrestling coaches Victor Jackman and Tom Gruwell.
- Discussed resurfacing the parking lots at Burley High School. It was decided to gravel the lot at the present time.
- Approved Blauer's request for new typewriters and text-books for the coming school year.
- Issued a call for bids for gas and oil for transportation purposes in the district and a call for bids for coal for heating district schools.
- Awarded contracts to Bob Thompson of Bluebird Coach Sales, Pocatello, for four 66-passenger school bus bodies in the amount of $13,901.40 and to Frank Motors, Burley, for $15,926 plus freight, for four chassis.

Wendell trustees lift ban

WENDELL — The Wendell School District board of trustees abandoned a long-standing tradition Monday night and eliminated a ban against married students participating in extra-curricular activities.

School Superintendent Lawrence LaRue said today in explanation that more and more students are getting married and remaining in school, and the general feeling is that they should not be discriminated against. The new policy will allow all students, married and single, the same privileges.

In other board business, new trustee Joe Leeper and re-elected trustee Frank Orth took the oath of office. Orth and Robert Smith were retained as chairman and vice chairman, respectively.

Bridge repaired

TWIN FALLS — A bridge leading to a tract of homes along Snake River Canyon east of Twin Falls which was broken down late Friday has been repaired.

The bridge was bowed when an empty concrete truck went over the one-lane wooden structure.

Officials of Regdy to Pour Concrete Co. in Twin Falls said they repaired the bridge within three hours so residents of the area would have access to their homes. Company officials said the repairs to the bridge on the private road are not strong enough to handle trucks, but that car traffic over the span is safe.

The company was hauling loads of concrete to a new home site and was returning empty when the bridge bowed in.

Company officials said they were concerned about repairing the bridge because of inconvenience to residents of the area and also because of fire protection being cut off.

Idaho Lynda Reid, Jerome, junior high school literature and social studies, Brigham Young University.

Before the reorganization meeting, members of the old board heard a report from Architect Ivan Stone on plans for the proposed new grade school. Stone said the plan was designed for future expansion.

Trustees accepted the resignation of Judy Dials and LeRoy Dials as the couple is going to teach in Oregon next year. Contract for Mrs. Eleanor Benson was not renewed.

Crash in T.F. puts out power

TWIN FALLS — Power in the southeast section of Twin Falls was out for about 40 minutes Monday night, after a vehicle struck a power pole at Osterloh and Eastland, Twin Falls County Sheriff Paul Corder said.

The sheriff said a vehicle, driven by Conley Mallonee, about 35, was traveling east on Osterloh. It was apparently going too fast to make the turn onto Eastland Drive, Corder said. The vehicle struck the power pole, then went into a field.

Mallonee was not injured, the sheriff said. The accident occurred at 9:50 p.m. and power was out in some sections until 10:30 p.m., according to an Idaho Power Co. spokesman. He said lights all over Twin Falls flickered.

The sheriff said arrests are pending.

The accident occurred just a quarter mile east of the Twin Falls City limits and power in that general area was affected.

Mrs. Webb elected at Richfield

RICHFIELD — Mrs. Marvin Webb was elected to a five year term on the Richfield Library Board Monday.

She received 16 votes in the balloting. She was the only candidate for the lone vacancy on the board. Mrs. Webb succeeds Mrs. Clive Capps, who did not seek re-election.

There are five members on the board. John Lemmon is chairman and Mrs. Carl Paulson is secretary-treasurer.

Lincoln sets tax session

SHOSHONE — The Lincoln County commission will meet July 28 in Shoshone as a board of equalization on real property taxes.

The board set the date during their weekly meeting Monday at the Lincoln County Courthouse.

In other commission business, a bid of $95 from Lyle R. Piper was accepted to buy a tract of land in Richfield from the county. The commissioners named Monte Johnson, Richfield, and Glenn L. Sorenson, Dietrich, as Lincoln County representatives to the state land board.

A group of citizens met with the commission to discuss the re-evaluation program being carried out in the county. Some property owners said they wished to question the valuation of land.

Air pollution 120 index

The pollution reading was taken by the fall of the South Central Health District at the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is expressed as the number of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today.

Federal pollution regulators say pollution levels should be kept below 75 micrograms over any 24-hour period, and should not be permitted to rise above 260 micrograms for even a short period of time.

This forecast provided by the Idaho Department of Health indicates the ability of the atmosphere to disperse pollution. Burning as permitted by law should be curtailed when the air is poorly able to disperse air pollutants.

P. Hill, Idaho Falls, airport manager, presiding; Idaho Traffic safety coordinators with Herbert Mayer, president, and Marvin Wagner, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, will discuss "State and National Legislation for Traffic Safety."

Leonard Ellis, Lewiston fire chief, will conduct the Idaho Fire Chiefs Association business meeting. The mayors of the larger cities in Idaho will meet under the direction of Ronald F. Jones, Lewiston mayor, and a topic of discussion will be "Uniform Contracts for Collective Bargaining."

District Four will host the 7:30 p.m. banquet Friday and J. N. Christianson, Scottsdale, Ariz., will give evening address, using the topic "Who Does What To Whom?"

Mayor's Prayer breakfast is set for 7:30 a.m. Saturday and Charles B. Gill, Jr., general manager, Oregon State Accident Fund, will be the speaker.

The general session for all delegates will open at 9 a.m. with Everett Perry, Idaho Department of Health; Robert W. Fraunder, state insurance department, and Curtis Raysten all scheduled to make presentations to the association.

At 10:45 a.m. the small cities will hold their session. A panel discussion is planned on the topic "Transfer of responsibility for streets in cities of 1,500 or less to counties or highway districts." Harold Wilson, Mayor of Paul, will be the panel moderator. Panel members include L. D. Seppi, Lava Hot Springs; Ellwood R. Werry,

Shoshone; Marcy Laragan, and Norm Crossley, both Idaho Department of Highways. Another panel discussion will be on the topic "County-wide Solid Waste Disposal System."

Panel members include Harold Hurst, mayor of Heyburn; Robert Olson, Idaho Department of Health, and John Clark, Cassia County Commissioner. The large cities open forums will begin at 10:45 a.m. with discussion topic: "Source of State Funding for Sewage Treatment;" "Industrial Revenue Bonds;" "Highway District Consolidation;" and "Collective Bargaining for all public employees."

Panel members will be Arthur Smith, Idaho Falls city attorney; H. Fred Koch, Boise, state representative; Jean Miller, Twin Falls city manager; Ray Lincoln, Twin Falls, state representative; Richard High, Twin Falls, state senator; Richard Eardley, Boise councilman; Patricia McDermott, Pocatello, state representative, and Vernon Ravenscroft, Tuttle, state representative.

State Sen. Wayne Kidwell, Boise, will be the speaker at the Saturday luncheon.

The business meeting after lunch will include report of policy and resolutions committee; election of officers and directors and final committee reports.

The annual president's banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and Dr. John Gillespie will be the featured speaker using the topic "How to be Obsolete 24 Hours a Day."

New officers will be installed and awards will be presented.

Prepares for meet

IDAHO'S ALL-AROUND high school rodeo cowboy last year is Bill Patterson, Richfield, shown here atop "Little Bill" at last year's Idaho State High School Rodeo finals in Burley. The finals this year begin Thursday at Burley.

Gem high school rodeo opens at Burley soon

BURLEY — Idaho's top high school rodeo contestants will converge on Burley this week for the Idaho State High School Rodeo, Thursday through Saturday.

Joe Sagers, Gooding, president of the Idaho High School Rodeo Association, said the first performance for the state championships will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Burley rodeo grounds.

Sagers said contestants in the state event are the top three in each event from the five districts in the state. The top three in the each state event will advance to the national finals to be held in August at Filer.

Sagers said both high school boys and girls participate in the events as there are events only for girls, some for boys, and one for both.

The top three state contestants will be named after the final rodeo performance Saturday evening. All performances are at 8 p.m.

Boys' events include bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, bull riding, steer wrestling, calf roping, team roping and cow cutting. Girls will take part in barrel racing, pole bending, breakaway calf roping, goat tying, team roping (mixed event) and cow cutting. The cow cutting events will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday, Sagers said.

Moe Sagers, Gooding, adult president of the Idaho High School Rodeo Association, said judges will be two former local national rodeo champions; Bob A. Robinson, Tuttle, and Bud Godby, Gooding.

Producing the state high school rodeo will be Haslam's of Ovid, Idaho, which has rodeo stock going to the nationals the past few years.

Ten queen candidates are seeking the state title and the Idaho High School Rodeo Queen will be named during the Saturday evening performance, who will then try for the national title.

The Burley Kiwanis Club is sponsoring the state contest. Jay Whittle is chairman of the club's rodeo committee.

Both Moe and Joe Sagers invite everyone interested to attend either or all of the three performances at Burley.

3 youths return from Alpine camp

BURLEY — Three local youths have returned home from attending the week long 4-H Alpine Camp, Alpine, Wyo., sponsored by University of Idaho Environment Workshop. Attending were Mark Kuwana, sponsored by East Side Soil Conservation district; Kenny Stamm, sponsored by Raft River Lion's Club and Bennett Robinson, sponsored by Raft River Electric.

The youths spent the week studying soil, water, range, forestry, fish and wildlife and the environment. They attended classes on each of the subjects during the day and in the evenings panel discussions and illustrated talks were held.

They visited different locations for study on each subject. The last day of the camp tests were taken to evaluate what they had learned and awards were presented.

Camp Alpine has been operating for the past 12 years. Also attending the environmental workshop was Wayne Thiessen, Twin Falls, soil specialist for cooperative extension service. Thiessen welcomed the boys at 4-H Alpine Camp.

Travelogue given for Cowbelles

DECLO — Mrs. Keith Merrill, Rupert, was guest speaker at the annual luncheon of the Mini-Cassia Cowbelles held Saturday afternoon at Min's Cafe in Declo.

She related her experiences and explained the living conditions and customs of the people in Afghanistan, India, the Philippines and other countries which she had visited, and displayed many souvenirs from these countries.

Mrs. Esther Eastman, president of the organization who conducted the meeting, announced a picnic for the group to be held in July at the home of Mrs. Shirley Estes near Rupert.

Works for agency

POCATELLO — Lynn D. Cameron, Rupert, and David F. Mills, Coeur d'Alene, seniors majoring in recreation leadership at Idaho State University, are the first students to be hired by the U.S. Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture to fulfill practice required for their bachelor's degrees.

Students completing degrees in recreation leadership at ISU must obtain six credits through practical experience in a civic organization such as city or state government, or in some private institution of social welfare.

Mills explored the possibility of working in the forest service, and with the help of Gilbert "Tommy" Farr, Pocatello district forest ranger; David Blackwell, director of financial aids at ISU, and Dr. Robert Gregory, associate professor of recreation, a program was set up for the two students to work full time during the summer in Caribou National Forest.

Both men are majoring in park and recreation management. Federal work study funds provide 80 per cent of their pay, and Region 4 Forest Service (based in Ogdén) makes up the balance.

Part of the students' work is organizing a project whereby Pocatello Boy Scouts and Explorers are assisting in rehabilitating a 25 seat amphitheater on Scout Mountain.

The first slide show sponsored by the forest service is scheduled for the last week of June, and will be dedicated to the scouts and explorers who are working so energetically to rejuvenate the facility, Cameron said. A regular program of slide shows will then be open to the public, he added, with the two students as commentators. The programs will studying and to learn from people who have spent years in resource management," Cameron said.

"It is giving us a sound base to see the validity of what we have learned," Mills added. "It is extremely valuable, for example, to have been exposed to an in-service workshop on environmental education for forest service employees which was designed to teach teachers how to present environmental subjects to the public outdoors and students in high schools."

Earlier in the spring, Mills and Cameron represented ISU student recreation majors at the Pacific Northwest Recreation and Park Conference sponsored by the National Recreation and Park Association at Portland, Ore. There, they heard prominent speakers in the park and recreation field discuss subjects such as "Renaissance for an Old Sport — Bicycling"; better coordination of channels of communication among students at institutions offering park and recreation curricula, and a host of problems associated with environment and ecology.

Cameron is scheduled to graduate from ISU in December. He will pursue a master's degree in guidance and counseling in the fall and work part-time in ISU's Counseling and Guidance Center in the college of education, Prominent in ISU's Eco-Alliance Committee which launched environmental teachings on the campus in 1970, Cameron was 1969-70 president of the Wilderness Club and is currently president of the ISU Student Park and Recreation Association. He was named 1970 Outstanding Recreation Leadership Student of the Year at ISU by the Idaho Recreation and Park Society.

Dealers set meet

SUN VALLEY — The 37th Annual convention of the Idaho Automobile Dealers Association will convene in Sun Valley, Thursday, according to Norman C. Lodge, Jr., Caldwell, president.

Frank Bevington, Nampa, convention chairman, announced there would be over 300 dealers and guests registered.

Heading the list of speakers will be Gov. Cecil D. Andrus; Edward G. Whitaker, Denver, western manager, Automobile Manufacturers Association; L. R. Freeman, Oil City, Pennsylvania, vice president, marketing, Quaker State Oil Co.; R. J. Cisek, Oil City, head of the technical service laboratory, Quaker State Oil Co.; John Hinckley, Ogdén, Utah, treasurer, National Automobile Dealers Association.

Player says Nicklaus over rates practicing

ARDMORE, Pa. (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus may be proof that practice makes for near-perfection, but he can't convince Gary Player.

Nicklaus, who practices with passion when he sets his sights on a major golf championship, has been preparing since last Wednesday for the U. S. Open which begins in two days.

He says he was "just truly amazed" that none of the other 149 Open-qualifiers joined him last week at the Merion golf club.

Player, however, thinks the extra practice time means nothing. "Some of the best golf is shot by players on courses they've never even seen," he said.

Royals top Yanks for sixth win

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Bob Oliver, benched six days ago for weak hitting, crashed a two-run single Monday night, capping a four-run sixth inning as the streaking Kansas City Royals won their sixth straight game with a 4-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

Kansas City, which has lost only once since May 26, recorded its 12th victory in its last 13 games.

Yankee left-hander Mike Ketchik sailed into the sixth with a three-hit shutout, but left after consecutive singles by Paul Schaal, Amos Otis and Chuck Harrison tied the score at 1-1.

Lou Piniella greeted reliever Gary Waslewski with a bunt single, leading the bases. Otis scored and the other runners moved up when Waslewski uncorked a wild pitch to Oliver and Oliver stroked a sharp single up the middle, scoring Harrison and Piniella.

Fish story evidence

TWO PROUD FISHERMEN hold these two large American paddle fish they caught in the Yellowstone River near Glendive, Mont., this past weekend. These two weigh 50 and 55 pounds. Curtis Smith, left, and Harlan McMillan caught eight of these fish and the largest was 65 pounds. They threw back an 18-pounder. The others averaged about 30 pounds.

If it isn't 50 pounds, throw it back

TWIN FALLS — Would you have hold of the fish's head that was in its tail. Some fishermen might not believe this "fish story" but when he was attempting to cast his line out into the river, he snagged Smith with the hook and stung a man who was behind him.

Reds pin seventh straight defeat on Cardinals by 7-2

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Lee May drove in four runs with a homer and a double to lead the Cincinnati Reds to a 7-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Monday night.

May's homer, his 13th of the season, went into the lower right field deck in the first inning to score Tommy Helms who walked with one out. His double in the ninth drove home Pete Rose, who walked with two out and Helms, who had reached first on an error. Pat Corrales started the ninth with a leadoff single to right and scored on an error by Ted Sizemore at second.

Astros 5, Pirates 4

Joe Morgan walked with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning to give the Houston Astros a 5-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates, ending a four-game Pirate winning streak.

Morgan forced in Jim Wynn, who walked to open the ninth, and moved to third on a one-out walk to John Mayberry. Loser John Nelson retired Norm Miller but walked Jesus Alou to load the bases. Dave Giusti relieved for the Pirates and walked the 5-foot 7 inch Morgan on four pitches.

Padres 2, Expos 1

MONTREAL (UPI) — Clarence Gaston doubled home two runs with two out in the ninth inning Monday night to lead the San Diego Padres to a 2-1 victory over the Montreal Expos on Clay Kirby's three-hitter.

The Padres trailed 1-0 in the ninth inning when Bob Barton opened with a single. Don Mason, who went in to pinch run for him, was caught stealing, but Angel Bravo pinch-hit for Kirby and drew a walk and Larry Stahl got a pinch-hit single. Dave Campbell hit into a fielder's choice with Bravo going to third base and Gaston's double to deep center field scored both Bravo and Campbell.

Montreal's losing pitcher, Carl Morton, now 3-9, then struck out Nate Colbert to retire the side.

Every golf course has got a bunch of little idiosyncracies and particularly an older style golf course like this one. When you're playing one of these courses it's a different game.

Player said he used to agree with Lee Trevino's theory that tournament competition is the best practice. "Look at all the great scores every week in tournaments, when some players just come to the course the day before the tournament starts," Player said.

"If Jack figures he needs a whole week to get ready, then that's what he should do. The year I won the Open (1965), I did this, but I've since changed my whole opinion about practicing for a championship. The big thing is how you're playing at the moment."

Player is playing well. He already has won two tournaments this year and was a near-winner in the last two. "We put too much pressure on ourselves," he said. "You have to treat this as just another tournament. Then I'm sure you'd be more relaxed and play better."

Trevino, like Player beaten in a playoff for the Kemper Open title Sunday in Charlotte, N.C., believes too much practice can detract from tournament readiness.

"If you're hitting bad iron shots, for example, the time to straighten it out is in competition," he said. "You can always hit good shots in practice. In competition, that's when you know how you're hitting."

Favorites win in city meet

The Turf Club and Coors-First Federal, newly crowned invitational champions, led the way through the first round of the Twin Falls city slowpitch tournament Monday night.

Turf Club bounced Olympia Beer-Ford Transfer 18-6 while Coors, after falling behind in the first two innings, closed with a rush to defeat L. and L. Roofing 20-5 with Kirk Williams and Tim Bassett homering.

In what was regarded as an upset, Culligan-Caswell dropped Lynwood Chevron. Sellers Electric overpowered Haney Seed Company 24-1 and the Alley-bounced Master Sheet Metal 10-4. Varsity Barbershop defeated Keebler Cookies.

Action continues Tuesday night with Depot Grill meeting Royal Lounge and Culligan-Caswell taking on Lucky Lager in 6:45 games. At 8 p.m., Blitz Beer meets Independent Meal and Haney Seed plays Master Sheet Metal.

Phils 9, Giants 4

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Rick Wise pitched a six-hitter and hit a three-run homer in a six-run second-inning outburst Monday night to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to a 9-4 romp over the San Francisco Giants.

Wise, winning his seventh victory, hit his homer off Gaylord Perry in the big second and also scored in the sixth after leading off with a double.

Willie Montanez began the assault on Perry when he homered in the first to tie the score after the Giants scored in the opening inning when Rodger Freed played a Chris Speier drive into a triple and Willie McCovey blooped a double to left.

Cubs 3, Braves 2

CHICAGO (UPI) — Joe Pepton's three-run homer with two out in the eighth inning carried the Chicago Cubs and pitcher Phil Regan, starting for the first time in almost four years, to a 3-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves and Phil Niekro Monday.

Niekro held the Cubs hitless until two were out in the fifth and had them shutout until the eighth. Then Don Kessinger walked with one out and reached second on Glenn Beckert's single. First baseman Orlando Cepeda stopped Billy Williams line shot and forced Beckert at second as Kessinger reached third and Williams was safe at first.

Pepton then leveled a Niekro 2 and 1 pitch, driving it into the right field bleachers for his ninth homer to win the game.

Niekro, who allowed only five hits, took his seventh loss against four wins. HE walked two, struck out five and hit two batters.

Four added for King game

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Four more players have agreed to take part in Sunday's Martin Luther King Jr. benefit basketball game here.

They include Billy Keller of the Indiana Pacers; Elvin Hayes of the San Diego Rockets; ABA co-rookie of the year Charlie Scott of the Virginia Squires; and Mack Calvin of the Floridians.

Players from both the National and American Basketball Associations will be divided into two teams for the nationally televised game.

Tigers nip Sox 4-2 in 10 innings

DETROIT (UPI) — New Tiger Tony Taylor sliced a double to right to score Al Kaline from second base with two out in the 10th inning Monday night and give Detroit its fifth victory in six games, 4-3, over the Chicago White Sox.

Vincente Romo got the first two batters easily enough in the 10th but then walked Kaline.

Gates Brown batted for winning reliever Fred Scherman, now 5-0, and Don Eddy replaced Romo. Ike Eddy came up for Gates Brown and walked and Steve Kealey was brought in to face Taylor.

Dodgers 3, Mets 2

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bobby Valentine's two-run double in the fourth inning, one of only three hits Los Angeles collected off Tom Seaver and Ron Taylor, enabled the Dodgers to defeat the New York Mets, 3-2, Monday night for their fourth consecutive victory.

Valentine's hit, which came off Seaver and tagged the Mets' right hander with his third loss in 11 decisions, came with the bases loaded after an error by second baseman Ken Boswell prevented the Mets from getting out of the inning.

Richie Allen opened the fourth with a walk and Boswell booted Wes Parker's potential double play grounder, putting runners on first and second. Jim Lefebvre then laid down a bunt, but Seaver's throw to third for an attempted force was late and the bases were loaded. Valentine then lined a double to left to score two runs.

Tulsa stays undefeated, USC eliminates BYU 8-6

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—The Tulsa Golden Hurricane, fourth-ranked in the nation, blasted the third-ranked Southern Illinois Salukis, 9-4, Monday night to remain the only unbeaten team in the College World Series after three rounds of play. Earlier Monday, Southern California's Trojans, the defending champions, eliminated Brigham Young University, 8-6, and Pan American ousted sixth-ranked Harvard, 1-0, to narrow the field of eight clubs in the double elimination playoffs to four. Tulsa's opponent Tuesday will be Southern California, while Southern Illinois will clash with Pan Am. Tulsa racked Southern Illinois pitching for 14 hits, including a two-run blast over the left centerfield wall by Jerry Tabb in the first inning.

Southern Illinois tied the score 3-3 in the 4th, but Tulsa scored twice in the 5th and four times in the 6th to fashion a commanding 9-4 lead. Tulsa pitching ace Steve Rogers won his second game of the series and ran his record to 12-2. He struck out 13, including the last seven batters he faced.

Steve Randall, first of a parade of Salukis hurlers, took the loss, his second in 11 decision. The Southern Illinois defeat was only the eighth in 50 contests. The win for Tulsa ran that team's mark to 35-10. Back to back doublers in the 6th inning by Bo McNurlen and Jesse Banda produced the only run in the game when Pan Am nipped Harvard. Andre Rabouin, a junior righthander, hurled the shutout.

No. 1 rated Southern Cal had to win in order to continue in defense of its national title. The Trojans took a 4-0 lead after two innings and, after Brigham Young narrowed the margin to 4-2 with singles in the 4th and 5th innings, punched across four runs in the 6th for an 8-2 lead.

Brigham Young got back into the contest with a four-run 8th inning rally. Tim Coffin, who relieved Trojan starter Eric Raich in the 5th, went the rest of the way despite being cuffed for four hits during Brigham Young's late game rally. Coffin's record is now 2-0.

The loss went to BYU starter Steve Pitts, whose record is 7-2. Pitts was knocked out in the 2nd inning. The loss gave seventh ranked BYU a final 1971 season record of 32-16, while the victory boosted Southern Cal's record to 50-13.

The loss for Harvard, its eighth against 27 wins this year, came despite the four-hit pitching of left-hander Roz Brayton. The defeat was his second against three victories. Until McNurlen and Banda connected for those sixth-inning doubles, Brayton had not allowed a hit.

Rabouin, a hard-throwing right-hander, was equally as effective for second-ranked Pan American, although he had some control problems and was frequently behind the hitters. He struck out 11 and allowed only four hits in running his record to 8-2. Pan American's record is now 44-8.

Harvard defeated Brigham Young, 4-1, in an opening round game, but lost 9-8 Sunday night to Tulsa. Pan American dropped a 5-4 decision to Southern Illinois in the first round, then defeated Seton Hall, 8-2, Sunday.

FAMOUS FOOTBALLERS The late Vince Lombardi, Jim Brown, Norm Van Brocklin, Y. A. Tittle, Andy Robustelli, Bruiser Kinard and the late Bill Hewitt will all be inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame July 31.

USC grabs lead in net meet

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Southern California, attempting to regain the NCAA tennis title it lost to cross-town rival UCLA a year ago, grabbed an early lead in the opening round of the 87th annual championships Monday.

A record field of 57 schools played 132 matches during the first and second rounds. Third and fourth round matches were scheduled Tuesday.

Southern Cal, which was seeking a fifth straight title when it was upended last year by UCLA, had 10 points. Trinity of Texas was close behind with nine points.

The Bruins, anchored by three of the top four seeds in the tournament, breezed through the first day without a loss. They finished with only eight points, making them part of a three-way tie for third place, because the two seeded Bruin doubles team did not play.

Rice, which tied with Trinity for runners-up honors in 1970, and newcomers Corpus Christi also had eight points each. Miami, Fla., Utah, California-Irvine and Southern Methodist each had seven points.

Dirk Dugan of Cornell pulled off the nearest thing to an upset in the first two rounds of play, defeating Stan Pasarell of Stanford, the younger brother of touring tennis pro Charlie Pasarell. Dugan also won his second match of the day against Kent Woodward of Utah.

Proliferation sets record

NEW YORK (UPI)—Proliferation equaled the track record for 1-1/8 miles at Belmont Park Monday in capturing the $25,000 First Landing Handicap before a crowd of 24,849.

Racing over a sloppy strip, the 5-year-old gelding was clocked in 1:46 4/5 under Jorge Velasquez. Never Bow was second, 1 1/4 lengths back of the winner, with Knight-In-Armor another length behind in third place.

Proliferation was winning his second race in three attempts this year and returned $9.00, $6.00 and $3.00. Never Bow, coupled with Paraje, paid $5.40 and $2.80. Knight In Armor, running as an entry with Duck Dance and favored at 6-5, paid $2.20 to show.

Angel Cordero, Jr. and Eddie Belonte each rode triples.

Johnson maintains teammate Chico Ruiz pulled gun on him

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—Controversial American League batting champion Alex Johnson of the California Angels accused teammate Chico Ruiz Monday of pulling a gun on him in the team's clubhouse.

The report was vehemently denied by Ruiz, who said he doesn't own a gun, or even a cap pistol, and would never have done such a thing.

The incident, as related by Johnson, took place Sunday during the ninth inning of a game with the Washington Senators. Both Ruiz and Johnson had been pinchhitters in the game and no longer were available for duty.

"He brought a gun to the clubhouse," Johnson told UPI. "He had been talking all year that he was going to bring a .38 to the park and kill me. You can take it from me, he threatened me with a gun. He's crazy."

Asked if he reported the incident, Johnson said he told a security officer and left.

Sgt. Jerry Lerner of the Anaheim police detail stationed at the park said no report had been made to his units of such an incident.

The incident was not reported to club officials, General Manager Dick Walsh said, adding he was investigating the report.

"That's the most ridiculous story I have ever heard," said Ruiz. "I don't own a gun, not even a cap pistol. I was in the dugout until the last out was made, not in the clubhouse."

Both Ruiz and Johnson came to the Angels from the Cincinnati Reds, and utility player Ruiz admitted he and Johnson had not been on good terms for more than a year. He said they had a fist fight last year but it was in the open and resulted from profanity Ruiz claimed Johnson directed at him.

McCovey may face operation

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—An X-ray examination and a possible surgeon's scalpel may decide this week whether a brash youngster by the name of Willie Mays will finish out the season on first base for the San Francisco Giants.

The X-ray and the possibility of surgery aren't for Willie Mays. They're scheduled for Willie McCovey of the arthritic knees who is limping through a painful season, shuffling in and out of the lineup when his aching joints permit.

McCovey is scheduled for the examinations Thursday when the Giants return home after their current road trip ends here Wednesday night.

The X-rays will decide whether surgery is necessary—and whether the other Willie will settle down for a season playing first base.

Giants Manager Charlie Fox told a luncheon forum of the Philadelphia Sports Writers Association tabbed by the Philadelphia Phillies of the medical plans for McCovey. "We have X-ray examination scheduled for Thursday for McCovey," Fox said.

"Then, if they decide an operation is necessary, we'll have to go with the rookie kid, No. 24. We've had our eye on him for a long time. He has the spirit, and looks like he can pop one once in a while when it's needed most. Oh yes, his name is Mays."

Willie has been filling in for McCovey at first when the big guy lamed up. Fox said if surgery is decided on for McCovey, the Giants will bring back outfielder Jim Ray Hart and added with satisfaction "he can pop one, too."

It wasn't known at the moment when McCovey, plagued so greatly that there were games this season when his playing was almost a matter of inning to inning, would undergo the physical. Its necessity was a matter of conjecture for some time.

All-star catch battle tightens

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ray Fosse, Cleveland's firebrand receiver, moved to within 510 votes of Detroit's Bill Freehan for the American League starting All-Star catching post Monday in fan balloting released by baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for the July 13 classic in Detroit.

Freehan leads with 64,518 votes to Fosse's 63,908 after the second week of balloting by fans in major and minor league parks and 85,000 Gillette voting stations.

Carl Yastrzemski of Boston remained the top vote-getter as he leads A.L. outfielders with 156,279 of the 275,000 ballots cast. Tony Oliva of Minnesota drew 93,568 votes in quest of an outfield position and Frank Robinson of Baltimore has 72,191. New York's Bobby Murcer is closing fast with 59,107 votes.

There were no leader changes this week. Rod Carew of Minnesota continues the top choice as starting second baseman with 81,930; runner-up Dave Johnson of Baltimore has 41,096 votes.

Boog Powell of Baltimore leads among first basemen with 105,788 to 54,585 for Norm Cash

Sox need 15 innings to top Cal

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—Doug Griffin singled home pinch runner Luis Aparicio in the 15th inning Monday night to bring the Boston Red Sox a marathon 4-3 victory over the California Angels.

With one away, Rico Petrocelli singled in the 15th and advanced to second on a wild pitch. Griffin then stroked a single to left field to drive in Aparicio, who had taken over as the runner at second base.

Oliva and Twins belt Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Tony Oliva banged out two hits, including a three-run homer in the first inning, to up his season average to .375 Monday night and Jim Perry tossed a six-hitter leading the Minnesota Twins to a 3-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Oliva, who also ran his RBI total to 36, got Perry all the runs he needed when he drove an Alan Foster fastball 400 feet into the right field stands following a single by Cesar Tovar and a walk to Rod Carew.

Perry, who had not struck out more than six batters in a game this season, fanned nine in the first five innings and finished with 11.

Cubs' Jenkins hospitalized

CHICAGO (UPI)—Chicago Cubs pitcher Ferguson Jenkins was admitted to Wesley Memorial Hospital late Monday night suffering from fever, headache and a generalized malaise, a team spokesman said today.

"Team physician Dr. Jacob Suker said, 'Our impression is it is acute viral syndrome. He has been placed in isolation pending further tests.'"

Jenkins, currently leading Cubs' pitchers with a 10-6 won-lost record, is the second of the team's four starters to be sidelined with virus infections. Milt Pappas has been undergoing treatment for a similar ailment for the past two weeks and it is uncertain when he will be able to play.

Suker said there is no indication of a connection between Pappas' and Jenkins' ailments.

USC grabs lead in net meet

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Southern California, attempting to regain the NCAA tennis title it lost to cross-town rival UCLA a year ago, grabbed an early lead in the opening round of the 87th annual championships Monday.

A record field of 57 schools played 132 matches during the first and second rounds. Third and fourth round matches were scheduled Tuesday.

Southern Cal, which was seeking a fifth straight title when it was upended last year by UCLA, had 10 points. Trinity of Texas was close behind with nine points.

The Bruins, anchored by three of the top four seeds in the tournament, breezed through the first day without a loss. They finished with only eight points, making them part of a three-way tie for third place, because the two seeded Bruin doubles team did not play.

Rice, which tied with Trinity for runners-up honors in 1970, and newcomers Corpus Christi also had eight points each. Miami, Fla., Utah, California-Irvine and Southern Methodist each had seven points.

Dirk Dugan of Cornell pulled off the nearest thing to an upset in the first two rounds of play, defeating Stan Pasarell of Stanford, the younger brother of touring tennis pro Charlie Pasarell. Dugan also won his second match of the day against Kent Woodward of Utah.

Against all of them South will bring home the bacon if he refuses to play trumps until after he is able to ruff at least one spade in dummy.

Some lines of defense make things easy for South. Here is one that is very tough. East overtakes the first spade and leads a trump. South must win and lead a second spade. West takes that and leads another trump. South wins this in dummy and must take an immediate club finesse. Then he ruffs a spade, comes back to his hand with a diamond, plays out his last trump and runs diamonds. He discards his last spade as West ruffs the last diamond.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of passing over your no-trump, West has bid two spades. Your partner has gone to three hearts and East has jumped to four spades. What do you do now?
Answer Tomorrow

By Oswald & James Jacoby

In JACOBY MODERN we do open four-card in a suit when we have no sensible minor-suit call or when our hand is unsuitable for no-trump. With most of these hands we stop at two if partner raises us to that level.

With today's hand we probably would jump right to four after the single raise. We have 19 high-card points—too many for a one no-trump opening.

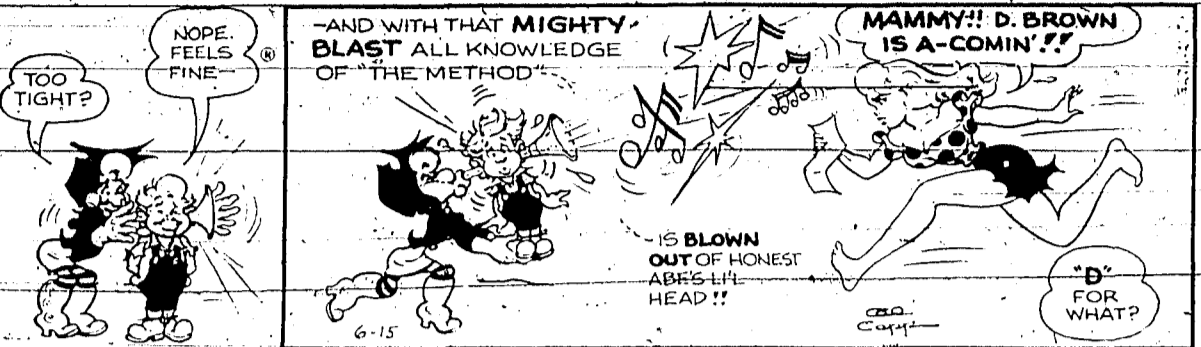

It is well that we steered clear of no-trump. The best a no-trump declarer can do is to bring in eight tricks. A four-heart declarer will make game if he makes sure of ruffing at least one spade in dummy.

There are all sorts of ways for East and West to defend.

The old boys who own these half-empty hives are mightily aware that not much is as worrisome at the moment as the layoffs. There's a small of fear around here, no question. A retired gentleman told me this week he has not sniffed the like of it since 40 years ago.

TWA, 2 banks refuse more TriStar outlays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Trans World Airlines and two of the nation's biggest banks said Monday they will not invest another dime in Lockheed's 400-passenger TriStar jet without a government guarantee to repay $250 million in bank loans if the company goes bankrupt.

C. J. Medberry, chairman of the board of California's Bank of America, one of the 26 banks which have loaned Lockheed $400 million to make the new jumbo jet, said "prudent banking practice" forbids his firm from putting more into Lockheed without a repayment guarantee.

TWA Chairman Charles C. Tillghast Jr. went even further in his testimony on the administration's save-LOCKHEED proposal before the Senate Banking Committee.

He said he would cancel TWA's orders for the TriStar if Congress has not made "satisfactory progress" on the measure by Aug. 8. Congress is scheduled to go on a month-long recess Aug. 6.

He said TWA would cancel its orders for the plane, admitting that action alone would bring down the elaborate rescue operation proposed by Treasury Secretary John B. Connally and would force Lockheed into bankruptcy.

"We have no intention to put a pistol to Congress' head," Tillghast said of his deadline. But, he asked, "What do you

Jerome nun named to head state board

BOISE (UPI) — Sister Mary Agnes Reichlin, director of nursing at St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome, has been elected president of the Idaho State Board of Nursing.

Miss Marjorie E. Shlotterbeck, Boise, executive director and educational consultant for the board, said the board plans to conduct public hearings late this summer on recently enacted legislation which permits professional nurses to perform additional duties.

say to shareholders if you stay too long and the program goes belly-up?"

TWA stands to lose up to $125 million in downpayments on the TriStar if Lockheed fails. A consortium of 24 banks stand to lose $400 million they have invested in the plane.

Nonetheless, the banks and TWA said they would not put the additional $250 million Lockheed needs to build the jet.

Medberry said only a commitment from the government can save Lockheed, even if the money could be raised privately. Senate critics of the proposal say it should be raised from outside the government, which they say has no business underwriting a purely commercial venture.

"If the Congress, in its wisdom and after thoughtful deliberation on all aspects of the situation, turns its back on Lockheed," said Medberry. "... then Lockheed is finished and no subsequent action by private lenders is likely to be of the slightest significance."

Mining law effect hit Census report issued

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Restriction-free exploration embodied in present mining laws could cripple or destroy the national wilderness concept, warns a University of Utah engineer professor.

Dr. Noel deNevers, associate dean of engineering, released a paper Monday in which he said, in part:

"Little can be accomplished toward establishing meaningful wilderness or recreational areas so long as the Mining Law of 1872 remains in effect."

WASHINGTON D. C. — The Bureau of the Census has issued a report showing total resident and civilian resident population estimates for the 50 states and the District of Columbia for July 1 of each year from 1960 through 1969.

The estimates are consistent with the 1960 and 1970 Census counts for the states, according to the Census Bureau. The report also contains estimates of the components of population change, including births, deaths and migration for the 1960-to-1970 decade. The components of population change for Negroes are shown for the first time.

Copies of the report, "Preliminary Intercensal Estimates of States and Components of Population Change, 1960 to 1970," Series P-25, No. 460, may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, for 15 cents.

Gulf gnaws resort isle landscape

GRAND ISLE, La. (UPI) — The sign in front of Aswell Pitre's beach cottage says "private property." But there's not much property there anymore, private or otherwise.

The Gulf of Mexico, oblivious to property rights, has trespassed almost to Pitre's front door.

The sea has been gnawing away at Louisiana's coastline at the rate of about 16.5 square miles a year for several years, disturbing fish, waterfowl and marsh animals, but very few people.

Now, however, the Gulf is washing away large chunks of this populous little resort island, threatening its fishing and tourist industries and endangering several bases for offshore oil operations.

The 2,400 regular residents and another 2,400 summertime island dwellers are frightened, frustrated and mad.

While their land is being swept out from under them, their cries for federal or state emergency aid have often been muffled by red tape.

Worse, they believe the relentless waters will cut them off from the access road to a bridge that is their only link to the mainland, their only escape route in hurricanes.

"One major hurricane could cut that road, and I don't see any possible relief before the hurricane season," says Grand Isle Mayor Clyde Prejeant. "The situation now has become so acute that the road and our utilities are threatened."

The "hurricane season" is now here, being dated as from June 1. Grand Isle's water comes from the mainland through a main running alongside the bridge. Undercutting erosion could cause the man to sag and rupture. A storm would surely break it.

For about 12 years, Grand Isle's seven-mile shoreline has been eroding slowly, but two or three months ago, the process began to increase rapidly.

Neves Terrebonne, an island resident for 13 years, is alarmed by the ravenous quickening of the sea's appetite.

"It eat up seven foot a day," Terrebonne said in the heavy French Acadian accent common to the islanders. He pointed to a crumbling shelf of dirt.

"That wind blow like that all day tomorrow morning that's going to be gone."

Four beach houses that used to be inland now stand on stilts in the gulf, like hulking waterbirds. Two more are in immediate danger. Other houses, a motel and several small businesses are perilously near the retreating shore.

The encroaching waters are now no more than 150 yards from the point where the bridge connects with Louisiana Highway 1—the only road out.

The prevailing theory to explain the erosion speedup is that hurricanes, notably Camille in 1969, changed Gulf currents, diverting them eastward with resulting erosion of the Western end of Grand Isle.

The shifting currents also have deposited sand in Camina-da Pass between Grand Isle and Goat Island, threatening the main access to the Gulf for the small fishermen and shrimpers of the Louisiana bayou country.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers reported that another factor contributing to the erosion is flood control levees on the Mississippi River.

Before the river was tamed, overflowing waters deposited delta-building silt in the alluvial Louisiana lowlands. Now the silt is being dumped over the Continental Shelf into the deep waters of the Gulf.

Additionally, the engineers said, the river can no longer check the steady northward incursion of the sea.

The Corps said the recent increase in erosion is only a variation of a cyclical process of eroding and building that has been observed for at least 115 years.

Maps dating back to 1856 show the water line receding and building periodically.

The Corps has been studying Grand Isle for about 35 years and was instrumental in reshoring it after it was devastated by hurricane Betsy in 1965.

As late as last October, however, the Corps was telling island residents it had no power to help them except in an emergency, and no emergency existed.

Residents had asked for a stone jetty to protect the island's west end. The engineers said this alone would only serve to shoal up Caminada Pass. This May, the Corps said it was considering building a stone jetty, but in a different configuration from the one first proposed. This jetty, the engineers said, would be accompanied by placement of sand and would not extend into the Gulf.

A hearing on this and other anti-erosion projects began this month.

The Corps also told islanders they should put up their own erosion protection bulwarks. Several residents installed corrugated iron or asbestos walls to hold back the surf—then the Corps inquired whether they had permits to erect these structures.

"We're not exactly happy about the permit situation," a Corps spokesman said. "But we have to do it under law."

Gov. John J. McKeithen has asked the state legislature for an emergency $1 million appropriation to save the island.

"The Corps is a very hard outfit to get along with," says State Rep. Richard Guldry. "They find a million reasons why something can't be done instead of trying to find out what has to be done."

In agreement is Mrs. Inez Pecot, a tenacious woman responsible for much of the hall of letters flying between Grand Isle and Washington.

"Nero may have fiddled while Rome burned," she wrote to Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., "but we are being surveyed and studied by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers while being inundated."

Finnish home brews potent

HELSINKI (UPI) — The latest "in" thing a Finnish host entertaining guests can offer is "Daddy's Special"—a potent toast of nearly pure alcohol brewed right in his own home.

But to do so is a violation of the law and may result in heavy fines or even a prison sentence if found out.

Police acknowledge the existence of such "kitchen moonshining" but are unwilling to discuss the problem. They say they are powerless to control offenses of this kind because it would mean searching every home in Helsinki.

There was a time around the Finland's independence in 1917 when parliament passed a prohibition law and drove enterprising brewers with crude home-made factories to the deep forests beyond the reach of the law.

The result was increased smuggling and smuggler barons began ferrying boatloads of spirits from the southern shores of the Baltic to Finland.

also were quick to protest but it took until 1931 and the only referendum in Finland's history before alcohol was "legalized."

The referendum also gave birth to the State Alcohol Monopoly, ALKO, which later used to register all Finns authorized to buy alcoholic beverages. In recent years the number of those Finns was around one million in a nation of five million. The registry was abolished on Jan. 1, 1971.

All the while, however, illegal breweries kept going strong—originally far away in the woods but creeping gradually nearer to the big population centers. Last year police discovered and destroyed up to a dozen such "factories" within Helsinki city boundaries.

It was not until early this year that the practice of "kitchen moonshining" became generally known. Police admit, and people in the know say, the custom already is fairly widespread.

You don't sell garages at a Garage Sale?

No, you don't sell garages at a garage sale!

In fact, some people hold garage sales who don't even have a garage!

Then what's it all about? It's about making some extra money, either for something special for your family (like a really big vacation this year!), or for a pet charity or church project. And it's all a lot of fun!

How do you hold a garage sale? And where? And when? And what do you do to attract a crowd?

You hold a garage sale by gathering together the many useful items you have around your home...things like bicycles, furniture, musical instruments, sporting equipment, clothing, and the like. (You might want to ask a neighbor or a friend to go into this happy project with you!)

You hold your garage sale in your garage...or on your patio, or in your backyard, or on the front lawn, any place where you can display the items you have for sale and can accommodate a crowd of people.

You can pick your date...any day, any time. Many people prefer Saturdays because more people are off work and thus able to attend, but any day is a good day.

And you attract a crowd the easiest possible way, just by picking up your telephone and dialing 733-0931 well in advance of your selected date. A friendly voice will answer your call and help you word and place your crowd-gathering Want Ad which tells the public about your sale.

You're all set! You're sure to have a good time, meet some nice people who will happily exchange cash for the items you have for sale...and you might have a prospective buyer for your garage!

New voters pose stiff GOP test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Already beset by political challenges around the country and around the globe, President Nixon faces another stiff test in courting new voters in the 18-to-21 age bracket if he runs for re-election.

Much can change in the 16 months before the Nov. 7, 1972, presidential elections—especially if Vietnam vanishes as a political issue. But early readings in a 50-state UPI survey indicate that the Democratic party should be the greater beneficiary of the lower voting age.

Republicans can draw comfort from the belief, shared by many Democrats, that new voters will start by following the lead of their parents and that an outsized number class themselves as independents, susceptible to lures from both parties.

Doubts persist that many new voters will turn out on election day, but some state and party officials believe the novelty of the vote may draw them to the polls in greater numbers than usual for young voters. A new federal law reducing residency requirements makes it easier to register and vote.

Some Republicans also feel that attention given to the glamor of liberal activists on college campuses gives too little emphasis to views of the working young, a bloc about equal in size to the students. A Republican worker in Michigan said everyone was watching the students and forgetting "the 19-year-old gas station attendant."

A national Gallup Poll published April 18 showed 16 percent of youths 18 to 21 classed themselves as Republicans, compared with 28 percent over 21; that 42 percent called themselves Democrats, compared with 45; and that 42 listed themselves as independents compared with 27 percent among those over 21.

In the UPI survey, 11 states saw youth voting patterns in line with those of their parents; six viewed the young voters as more independent. Seventeen states saw a larger Democratic than GOP pickup, and a few rival state party chairmen forecast gains for their own parties.

Dr. Max Milam, former head of the University of Arkansas Political Science Department, said there had been a Republican trend among the young in Southern cities in recent years but a significant change may have come in 1970. He pointed to the election of Democratic moderates like Govs. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, Jimmy Carter of Georgia, John C. West of South Carolina and Reuben Askew of Florida.

"That indicates a change is taking place and generally change is reflected more quickly in the young," Milam said.

Tennessee officials felt the trend was going the other way in their state, however. It now has a GOP governor and both its U.S. senators are Republicans.

The Census Bureau estimates that there will be 139.56 million people of voting age in November, 1972, an increase of 25.1 million over 1969. The total includes 11.16 million 18 to 21.

A federal law gave the vote to 18-year-olds, but the Supreme Court held that it could apply only to the election of the President and members of Congress. A constitutional amendment to give them the vote in state and local elections has now been approved in 32 of the needed 38 states and appears sure of ratification before the 1972 election.

Because of the uncertainty, some states have not yet started to register those 18 to 21. Pennsylvania and Texas each have registered about 100,000.

When new registration laws are written, a political quarrel is expected over whether students should be registered at the homes of their parents or in communities where they might be attending school.

Site seized

PARTY OF American Indians pitch tents on abandoned U.S. Army Nike missile site along shores of Lake Michigan at Chicago. Indians took over site, vowing to stay "forever" a few hours after fire routed them from apartment building taken over in March. Army spokesman at Ft. Sheridan said Indians entered grounds after breaking lock on gate. (UPI)

Unique 'Aloha' state attracting Americans

HONOLULU (UPI) — In the year before Hawaii became the 50th state in 1959, it had 243,215 visitors. Last year, 1,586,273 came, most of them Mainlanders. Obviously, Americans are curious about their "Aloha State."

Newcomers learn quickly that in Hawaii they can choose their paradise. In 1970, almost one-third of the visitors traveled beyond the island of Oahu, site of Honolulu and Waikiki, to see the natural splendor of at least one of the other islands in the Hawaiian archipelago.

Waikiki, with its famed beaches, towering hotels, busy streets and sophisticated night life, is usually the first stop. The beach, just across the street from many of the hotels, is popular with bikini watchers and sportsmen who favor surfing, outrigger canoeing and spear fishing in addition to swimming.

Since Hawaii's strongest competition for tourists comes from Europe and the Caribbean, the Hawaii Visitors Bureau, funded primarily by the state for the promotion of travel to the islands, has launched a campaign to inform visitors that Hawaii has more to offer than sun and surf, if that isn't enough.

Hawaii, the only state with a monarchy in its past, has a unique history. Iolani palace, the former royal palace of the kingdom of Hawaii and the only royal palace in the U.S., is only a few minutes from the beach. The mission houses, erected by the New England missionaries in 1821, are still standing across from the palace.

Recent history is recalled by a visit to Pearl Harbor, where the U.S.S. Arizona memorial stands above the partly submerged battleship in which more than 1,000 men have been entombed since the surprise Japanese attack on Dec. 7, 1941.

From the crowded beaches, busy streets and noise of Waikiki, the visitor who wants to see the other Hawaii is transported to island rimmed by long white beaches or black ones, formed from lava. The islands beckon, too, with lush tropical valleys, rugged mountains and waterfalls.

On Hawaii, Maui and Kauai, the most popular neighbor islands to visit, modern hotels are only steps away from the wild, primitive beauty of tropical and semi-tropical plant life.

The island of Hawaii, largest in the 1,610-mile-long chain of 122 islands, is the home of Kilauea, one of the world's most active volcanoes. A well paved road leads through lush fern forests to the 4,000-foot plateau built up by the volcano.

Here, with lodgings right on the edge of the crater, visitors may watch in comfort as Kilauea occasionally pours streams of lava toward the sea and sends fire mountains into the air.

The top of Mauna Kea, a dormant volcano nearby, is covered with snow during the winter months and is becoming a popular skiing spot. The terrain of Hawaii's volcano country and the crater of Haleakala on the island of Maui resemble landscapes from the moon. Within Haleakala, the world's largest dormant volcano, are small crater cones, a lake, caverns, a desert plain and luxuriant meadows. Overnight camping in cabins in the crater is easily arranged.

U.S., Japanese join to build electric car

TOKYO (UPI) — The U.S. and Japanese automobile industries are collaborating in parallel programs to develop a non-polluting electric automobile. Japan sold $13.5 billion worth of cars last year at home and abroad. But the $13.5 billion worth of cars last year at home and abroad. But the $13.9 million for the Japanese end of the program comes from the Japanese government. The aim of the four-year program is to have a prototype of five separate versions of an electric car for city use ready by the end of 1975. The Japanese government had hoped to have the car ready for production by the late 1970's or early 1980's. The Japanese development program is part of a bilateral effort with the United States. Under an agreement reached here last fall by U.S. Secretary of Transportation Jim Volpe, Japan will develop a small electric vehicle, while U.S. manufacturers will concentrate on a larger electric vehicle. Whether the electric car will ever reach the production stage in Japan is uncertain. Government officials say they have met a certain "reluctance" on the part of Japanese automakers to produce the electric auto for fear of a drop in profits.

"We don't expect that electric cars will replace gasoline cars," a spokesman for Daihatsu Motors said. Daihatsu manufactured several experimental electric cars which were used last year on the ground of Expo 70 in Osaka. "Gasoline-powered cars run fast and they are lower in manufacturing costs than electric cars," the spokesman said. "This will be so even in 1975 when the anti-pollution electric prototype cars will be made." There is another electric vehicle on the road, however, and the commercial future of this one is brighter. It is manufactured by the Toyo Kogyo Co., which has just delivered 10 small electric repair trucks to a Japanese communications company. Toyo has spent six years developing the trucks and they currently sell for about $3,400 dollars each.

Black history's landmarks many

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Students of black history will find a variety of interesting landmarks to visit while vacationing this summer. At least five places which played a prominent part in black history have been opened to the public by the National Park Service.

The birthplace of George Washington Carver, is in Diamond, Mo. Born in slavery, Carver struggled to get an education and helped save the southern economy by teaching farmers and businessmen of both races to exploit the economic potential of the lowly peanut.

Carver was appointed as a fellow of the Royal Society of Arts in London, in recognition of his achievements as an agronomist. When he died, President Franklin D. Roosevelt said of him: "The things which he achieved in the face of early handicaps will for all time afford an inspiring example to youth everywhere."

Another National Park Service site commemorates the career of Negro educator Booker T. Washington, founder of the famed Tuskegee Institute in Alabama. Washington's monument is located between Bedford and Rocky Mountain, Va. Like Carver, Booker T. Washington was born in slavery. He believed education was the key to ending the suffering and poverty of Negroes. When he was 25 years old, he found Tuskegee Institute to provide blacks a place to receive higher education. Virginia also is the site of historic Harpers Ferry, where abolitionist John Brown and his band of followers died fighting to free slaves 17 months before the Civil War began. Brown and his followers briefly seized control of the U.S. Army arsenal at Harper's Ferry but were routed out and defeated by then Co. Robert E. Lee and Lt. Jeb Stuart. The site of John Brown's raid is preserved carefully. If western adventure strikes your fancy, you can relive the exciting days between 1854 and 1891 when the black soldiers of the U.S. 9th Cavalry protected the San Antonio-El Paso Road. Indians called them, "the Buffalo soldiers," because of their tufted hair. They fought Indians, bandits, and highwaymen to insure that settlers could live in peace. The headquarters for the all-black cavalry is preserved at Fort Davis, Tex.

If you visit the nation's capitol in Washington, D.C., you can tour the home of Frederick Douglass. Douglass escaped from slavery and became a journalist and articulate spokesman against slavery. During his life he was the first black U.S. marshal in the District of Columbia. He later served as minister to Haiti. His Washington home, Cedar Hill, is at 14th and W Streets Southeast.

Wildfowl area put in trust

TEHRAN (UPI) — Iran has promised to place one of its wildfowl areas in trust for the world—the first time any nation has taken this step to protect migratory birds from unscrupulous hunters.

Other nations are expected to follow suit as a result of the International Convention on the Conservation of Wetlands and Wildfowl, held at the Caspian Sea resort of Ramsar recently. The meeting was sponsored by Iran's Ministry of Natural Resources.

The offer of the wildfowl area was made in the welcoming address read by Prince Abdorreza on behalf of the Shahanshah to the delegates of 28 nations.

To emphasize the depth of our convictions that our natural resources must be protected, the monarch said, Iran is prepared to place one of its internationally important wetland areas in joint trust with a suitable international agency, such as the United Nations, "to conserve and administer for all mankind."

The problem, as the delegates discussed it, is that migratory birds, particularly waterfowl, fly to distant latitudes and back again in a pattern which has not changed in centuries. Some birds return year after year, not only to the same breeding grounds, but to the same nest. These highly predictable habits make such birds easy prey for hunters, who resort to almost every means of mass destruction.

Last month more than 1.5 million waterfowl from the southern Soviet Union flew into the Caspian and Lake Rezaiyeh areas of Iran, seeking refuge from the unusual severity of the Russian winter.

But this huge migration also alerted hunters who use cars, helicopters and even automatic weapons to decimate whole flocks of swans, wild geese, ducks and flamingoes. Not only has this indiscriminate slaughter caused considerable tension among the world's ornithologists and government officials over the past few years, it also has promoted ecological imbalance.

In his welcoming message the Iranian monarch also said the problems of preserving man's environment transcend boundaries and nationalities. The preservation of wetlands and waterfowl aptly illustrate the country's achievements.

Seattle police wives fight marital malaise

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — Divorce isn't a crime, but police wives here are combating it as if it was just that.

When a recent survey of Seattle police indicated that almost two-thirds of the officers were divorced during the first three years of service, the Police Department stepped in to try to cure the marital malaise.

The department sponsored an experimental program to teach wives what their police husbands do on the job and what they can do to become better police wives.

Sixteen women participated in the initial 10-week course this spring. None of them is divorced, or on the brink of divorce, and each rayes about the classes.

The wives received instruction one day each week at such places as the Police Training Academy, Police Headquarters, in courtrooms and even on the firing range.

After each training session, the women would discuss common problems and how they could combat them.

"I think a lot of the problems come from the wife not knowing what to expect when she marries a cop," said Melodie Moffet, one of the wives.

"She thinks it's going to be a five-day-a-week bed of roses and finds out the hours are crazy and he lives his job 24 hours a day.

"The danger is hard for a wife to take, too," she said. "You have to be able to put it out of your mind, not dwell on what might happen to him. If you did you'd go nuts."

Karen Duval was about one-third of the way through the course when her husband, who had been on the force for six months, was involved in a shooting incident.

Richard Duval and his partner shot to death a black man who had fired a sawed-off shotgun at Duval, but missing. The incident has become part of a controversy between inner-city blacks and the Police Department over police shootings. An inquest on the case is pending.

Mrs. Duval said the wives' training course was invaluable in helping to keep their marriage together.

"One of the early lessons especially helped. A sergeant told us that if we were going to sit around biting our nails, it would drive us out of our minds.

"He said we have to be casual about things other wives aren't. If I had not been prepared emotionally for the shooting, I think finding out my husband almost had his head shot off would have driven me up the walls.

"Every day he leaves the house I know he has a chance of never returning. I have to understand this and then take a fatalist's view and go about my daily life normally."

One of the more valuable portions of the course, she said, was learning how to use a gun.

The police instructor told the women he usually only teaches wives "either how to load the gun but not how to shoot it, or how to shoot the gun but not load it." He consented to show them how to do both—but only with blanks.

Several of the wives, including Mrs. Duval, have gone with their husbands to the firing range since, however, to improve their familiarity with a pistol.

"I still can't shoot worth beans," said Mrs. Duval. "I only hit about three out of 50 rounds. But at least now I can appreciate what my husband has to go through."

As well as introducing the wives to the criminal-justice system and delving into problems peculiar to police wives, the classes give helpful hints for happy marriages.

"The classes stressed not sending him off to work while you're still having a fight," said Eloise Steimel, another of the wives. "When you're in a bad mood that can be hard to avoid."

"He's under a lot of pressure on duty and really has to unwind when he gets off. It's tough, because sometimes I can be grouchy and he expects me to be in a warm, loving mood, ready to listen."

Mrs. Moffett said the police wife "often resents her husband's job and how much he cares about it. She has to play second fiddle and she doesn't like it. "Everyone should work at their marriage and maybe a policeman's wife just has to work a little harder."

Added Mrs. Steimel, "I think the classes helped all of us cope with our adjustments. There will be a few divorces anyway but maybe fewer now."

The course has been considered so successful by the Seattle Police Department the city is hoping to extend it to wives of men in all sections of the criminal-justice system.
