Nixon asks funds for drug curbs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon asked Congress today to vote an additional $155 million to launch a broad new worldwide battle against illegal narcotics addiction which now afflicts both the body and soul of America.

In a special message to the House and Senate, the President compared the dimensions of the addiction problem to "wars and depressions and divisions among our people."

Every day, we lose compounds the tragedy which drugs inflict on individual Americans. The final issue is not whether we will conquer drug abuse, but how soon.

Most of the emergency new funds—$105 million—would go to treating and rehabilitating drug addicts and creating a new special action office of Drug Abuse Prevention directly under the President.

Nixon asked for legislation establishing the office for a three-year period with the option for a two-year extension. Because of the emergency nature of the problem, he issued an executive order setting up an interim office pending congressional action.

Nixon also ordered immediate testing of U.S. servicemen in Vietnam for signs of heroin addiction and the establishment of rehabilitation programs for those who need help. He requested legislation to permit retaining narcotic addicts in service beyond their normal discharge date for treatment.

He also spelled out a determined U.S. effort to win cooperation from foreign governments to choke off the illicit manufacture and shipment of heroin and other addictive narcotics. The President suggested that international sanctions be used if other governments fail to do their part.

Consumer income said up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The president of an aerospace corporation called on Congress today to reject "expediency" and turn down the Nixon administration proposal to save Lockheed from bankruptcy.

Jack H. Vollbrecht, president of the Aerojet-General Corp., a Lockheed competitor, said approval of a proposed $250 million government loan guarantee would remove "the only significant competitive discipline in the aerospace industry—the threat of ultimate fiscal failure."

"We do not want to fail," he said in testimony submitted to the Senate Banking Committee. "But we see the prospects of failure if we have to compete with any company that is allowed to believe it is failure-proof."

Under the administration bill the government would absorb the loss if Lockheed receives $250 million in government-guaranteed bank loans and still goes bankrupt. Lockheed officials have said the company must have the guarantee to survive.

Teacher charges slander

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News Writer
JEROME — A Jerome Junior High teacher who claims he was forced to resign last spring is seeking $141,400 in a lawsuit filed in district court against Supt. John Campbell and Jerome school district trustees. The teacher alleges "false, defamatory and slanderous" statements had been made about his professional competence.

Orrin M. Gardner says Campbell asked him to sign his resignation last Feb. 26. Gardner did this, but without consulting an attorney.

On March 31, Gardner notified the school board he was withdrawing his resignation and wished to seek renewal of his contract.

But the board accepted the resignation and refused to set a time and place for a hearing on his request, Gardner claims in his suit.

In the complaint, the teacher says Campbell told the trustees Gardner was not competent as a school teacher and advised the board not to renew his contract.

He is suing Campbell and trustees for $70,200 in general damages for alleged injury to Gardner's reputation, and seeks another $70,200 from Campbell for punitive damage for the alleged false statements, plus $1,000 attorney fees.

300,000 wounded in Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — American battlefield deaths rose to 25 last week while the number of GIs wounded in the war climbed above 300,000, the U.S. command reported today.

Combat deaths jumped from the previous week's toll of 19 soldiers killed which was the lowest for a weekly period in five and a half years.

Command spokesmen said 199 soldiers were wounded last week bringing the total of 300,123 since Jan. 1, 1961.

Another 13 American soldiers died last week from non-hostile causes, spokesmen said.

Command figures showed 45,275 GIs have died in Indochina fighting, while 9,596 have died as a result of non-combat causes.

Indians ejected at site

RICHMOND, Calif. (UPI)—Soldiers and police, with helicopters hovering overhead, moved in and ousted about 85 Indians early today from an abandoned Army missile base they seized four days ago.

It was the second time in less than a week that authorities removed Indians from disputed government land. On Friday, federal marshals ejected about 15 Indians from Alcatraz Island, ending an occupation of 19 months.

In today's dawn raid, officers arrested about 75 of the 85 Indians at the base here, physically removing them and placing them in temporary housing at the installation, according to an Army spokesman. He said there was no violence.

The entrance to the canyon leading to the missile site was blocked off by authorities who kept newsmen from the scene.

"I'm under orders of the Army and the Richmond police" to keep you out, chief forest ranger Larry Olsen told waiting newsmen.

A crowd of about 20 hippie-type youths waited with reporters and shouted encouragement to the beleaguered redmen.

The arrests reportedly came after a police lieutenant gave the Indians a chance to leave the area without being arrested.

Soldiers stood guard after the arrests at the base which was abandoned about 10 years ago. Four of the Indians at the abandoned base in rugged country near here were seen running from the installation.

Reds attack with flame

SAIGON (UPI)—A battalion of North Vietnamese troops using flame throwers, machine guns and rocket grenades attacked a company of South Vietnamese marines just below the Demilitarized Zone DMZ, today. The outnumbered Saigon government soldiers killed 63 of the attackers.

Communiques from Phnom Penh said North Vietnamese gunners kept up mortar and rocket barrages on the eastern edge of the capital. The firing could be heard in downtown Phnom Penh. Cambodian units fought back from river gunboats and from the air.

The South Vietnamese command said the North Vietnamese battalion of some 600 troops attacked the South Vietnamese company numbering 180 men in hilly jungles 12 miles northeast of the abandoned Khe Sanh base and six miles south of the DMZ.

The Saigon government unit called in artillery and air strikes in driving off the attack. The South Vietnamese casualties were described as light. Military sources said nine of the marines were killed and seven wounded.

The U.S. command report meanwhile that 25 Americans were killed in the Indochina war last week, up six from the previous week. American wounded were listed as 199, a drop from 281 the week before.

Critics turn to war draft

WASHINGTON (UPI)—War critics in Congress, defeated again in their latest attempts to legislate peace, were left today with a "symbolic" end-of-war effort in the House and a Senate move to kill the draft.

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, urged antiwar forces to join his campaign to talk the draft to death by filibustering until the current draft law expires at the end of this month. Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., added "ending the draft may be our last chance of speeding our exit from the war."

The house was voting today on an amendment that would express its desire, without the force of law, to pull all U.S. troops out of Vietnam by Dec. 31. That proposal was expected to be soundly defeated.

Senate war critics, led by Sens. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., lost 55 to 42 Wednesday on their amendment to cut off further appropriations for U.S. combat in or over Vietnam after Dec. 31.

A compromise proposal by freshman Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., to fix the deadline at June 1, 1972, also lost, 52 to 44.

The votes represented a thin foreign policy victory for President Nixon. But they also indicated the Senate, while not yet willing to take the unprecedented route of cutting off funds for an ongoing war, was losing patience with the administration's Vietnamization policy.

Paper's expose mullied

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal court judge today reserved decision on whether to order the New York Times to turn over to the government its copy of a top secret Pentagon report on U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Michael Hess, chief of the government's civil division, contended that the government was not on a fishing expedition but "simply demanding property stolen from the Pentagon."

"We have a right to identify what they took from us," Hess said. "They have admitted they have a number of papers in their possession. We merely ask for an inspection of the documents they hold."

Federal Judge Murray I. Gurfein, trying to expedite matters, asked Floyd Abrams, attorney for the Times, if his clients would submit a list of the documents they had with a short summary on each subject. Abrams hesitated and said he could produce such a list but would first have to discuss it with the Times management.

During a three-day discussion between the judge and the opposing lawyers, Hess insisted that the government was entitled to examine all documents in the Times which had been stolen or received without authorization rather than just a list.

Abrams introduced a certified letter from James L. Greenfield, foreign editor of the Times, which stated that he had examined the documents which were Xeroxed copies and that many of them had written notations on the margins which would reveal the confidential source of the material to the Times.

Gurfein asked if they would submit the material excluding the marginal notes. Abrams made no reply. Hess said it would be agreeable to the government.

Sen. Church supports war report

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Wednesday the "motivation of the Nixon administration" must be questioned after its action to stop publication of a Vietnam report.

Church referred to the injunction that Attorney General John Mitchell sought and obtained from a federal court to prevent The New York Times from publishing a report of the Vietnam War assembled by the Department of Defense.

Church said the documents "belong to history" and that the administration's action is unprecedented. "This has never happened before in the history of the republic," he said.

Church said publication of the report would not damage American security interests, as the White House maintains, and he said, "to stop publication of these historic documents amounts to nothing less than censorship of the press."

XXX case delayed for week

JEROME — District Judge James Cunningham has postponed until Tuesday action on a motion for a new trial for DeWayne Foust, Jerome theater operator, convicted of allowing 15-year-olds to see previews of X-rated movies.

The judge said he delayed action on the motion because Golden Bassett, Foust's attorney, did not present the necessary affidavits to support the motion for the new trial. He instead, attempted to put witnesses on the stand during Thursday's court appearance. Sentencing of Foust was also continued, pending decision of the motion for a new trial.

Strike set

EFFIGY labeled "Ma Bell" referring to Bell Telephone Co., hangs above Joseph A. Beirne, president of Communications Workers of America, in Kansas City, Mo., as he announces union will strike Bell system July 14 unless agreement on new contract is reached before then. (UPI)

Telephone strikers set date

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—The Communications Workers of America (CWA) have set July 14 as the date half a million workers will strike Bell Telephone system, unless a contract is agreed upon in the meantime.

"The poor service that the people of New York experience and are still experiencing will be mild compared to what will happen in the total industry," if a strike occurs, said Joseph A. Beirne, CWA president.

"We want an agreement," he said, and pledged to 2,500 delegates meeting at the union's convention Wednesday to come to terms with Bell. "If we don't get the agreement, then I sleep well at night knowing everything possible was done to avoid the battle," he said.

Reds claim 'lies'

PARIS (UPI)—Communist negotiators at the Vietnam peace talks said today President Nixon has sought to "hide the truth" from the American people. But the Communists made no direct comments on publication of secret Pentagon documents in the New York Times.

Entering the 117th session of the talks, Hanoi's Xuan Thuy told newsmen "since he entered the White House, Mr. Nixon has not stopped to further speed up the escalation of (American) aggression and to hide the truth from the eyes of the American people and to trick the American people."

They said the policies followed by Nixon and his administration "can serve only to tarnish and prejudice the image of the American people."

That was the only delegate to speak on arrival at the conference room near the arch de triumph. Inside, Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, chief negotiator of the Viet Cong, opened the session with a short prepared text that likewise failed to mention the controversy over the publication of Pentagon papers detailing U.S. involvement in Indochina.

Madame Binh repeated the longstanding Communist demands for a rapid U.S. and allied troop withdrawal and overthrow of the Thieu government in Saigon as the conditions for peace.

Terrorist takes life

SANTIAGO (UPI)—A terrorist wanted for the assassination of a former vice president walked into a police station with a submachinegun Wednesday, opened fire on police and then blew himself up with dynamite. He killed two policemen—and critically injured another.

Police identified the man as Heriberto Salazar, 45, a member of the leftist terrorist group known as the Organized Vanguard of the People (VOP). He was wanted for the assassination June 8 of former Chilean Vice President and Interior Minister Edmundo Perez Zujovic.

Two brothers also wanted for the killing—Ronald and Arturo Rivera Calderon—were killed Sunday in a gunbattle with police.

The white-haired Salazar walked into the police headquarters with a submachinegun that was found to have been taken from a policeman killed in a supermarket robbery Sunday.

Salazar opened fire, killing policeman Carlos Perez Bretti and critically wounding Gerardo Romero. He then began walking through the corridors of the building, tossing lighted dynamite charges right and left. There were no injuries caused by the dynamite explosions.

When police closed in and detective Mario Marin grappled with Salazar, the VOP terrorist shouted "kill me now, you sons of bitches" and touched off a dynamite charge strapped to his body. Both Salazar and Marin were killed in the blast.

Mine union considers strike end

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—United Mine Workers (UMW) locals called meetings today to decide if they would heed a call by union President W.A. "Tony" Boyle to end a strike by 85,500 coal miners in six states.

The strike, which began Monday in West Virginia, protests a federal court's removal of Boyle as a trustee of the multimillion-dollar UMW welfare and retirement fund.

Boyle asked all UMW locals by letter Wednesday to urge their "Loyal-to-Boyle" members to end "any unauthorized work stoppage" and let the trustee matter be decided in the courts.

Lobbyists' campaigns attacked

TWIN FALLS — Industrial lobbyists, "well-paid and experienced," work continually during legislative sessions to "gut-shoot every piece of environmental legislation that would restrict their unlawful operations," a spokesman for the Idaho Tuberculosis Association charged Tuesday night in Twin Falls.

Paul Teschner, Boise, spoke during an ecological seminar sponsored by the Gem Environmental Liaison (GEL), at the Holiday Inn. Other speakers on the problems of controlling pollution and other environmental devastation were Vernon B. Clinton, founder and current chairman of GEL; Jerry Brown, Boise, also representing the tuberculosis association, and Franklin Jones, president of the Idaho Wildlife Federation.

Teschner charged that "large industries in Idaho pay lip service to the environment, outwardly appearing to go along with pollution standards, but doing so only out of fear of enforcement procedures that arouse public sentiment against them."

He added, "Public support is now behind the air pollution agency instead of industry because until recently they have never had the proper laws which would permit them a 'get-tough' attitude."

"The most important single thing that needs to be done in Idaho is the establishment of a single comprehensive environmental control authority," Teschner said.

Jones told the group that Idaho counties are given the right to maintain solid-waste disposal systems. In north Idaho, more than 200 disposal sites are in operation, but only two people have been employed by the state to help local areas plan proper disposal systems.

"To date, counties have been reluctant to institute any changes," Jones said.

The Idaho Air Pollution Control Commission "is on record as saying the control of open burning is up to local government," Jones said. He said the commission, with only nine employees to cover the entire state, cannot carry out enforcement "of every little trash fire."

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho needs help. There'll be a lot of homeless students come fall unless housing can be found between now and mid-August, according to Dr. Adele Thompson, dean of women.

"We have no listings at all, and we've got a lot of students wanting housing already," Dr. Thompson said. One of the most desperate needs is that of a family man who plans to attend CSI next fall. He wants to bring his family to Twin Falls — including six children.

"He said he could squeeze by with four bedrooms, but he really needs five," Dr. Thompson said.

Librarian pay terms approved

TWIN FALLS — Trustees of the Twin Falls School District approved a recommendation from Superintendent Dr. Ernest H. Ragland during Monday's meeting to pay elementary-school librarians by the month.

For the past six years, the librarians have been paid on an hourly basis, Dr. Ragland said. The five librarians had asked for the change. The pay scale will run from $210 to $250 per month, depending on seniority and other factors.

S.S.T. STINKS

SWENSEN'S DIDN'T THINK THE AIRPLANE WAS A BAD IDEA, SWENSEN'S ARE TALKING ABOUT THE S.S.T. THAT REALLY STINKS... SOCIAL SECURITY TAXES... Social Security taxes are a rotten deal for the people who are paying in and they stink for the people who are getting the small payments (Called benefits by politicians and S.S.T. bureaucrats.)

S.S.T. STINK FOR FORCED CONTRIBUTORS

- How can you plan your retirement if you have no idea of what you're going to get.
  - Judging from past benefits paid, how can you possibly afford that kind of retirement, — if you weren't forced to buy it.
  - S.S.T. is much too expensive. No one would buy it if they had a choice. It's like paying a dollar for a quart of milk. Soon even though we're paying much more than it's worth for a program that won't nearly do the job for us when the time comes, soon, S.S.T. will drain us so badly the average person won't be able to afford any other insurance or program or investment that would make up the difference. FOR EXAMPLE
- The extremely conservative Swensen's Projection:
- In 1966, the amount contributed to each individual's social security account was 8.4% of each paycheck until a certain maximum for the year was reached. Half (4.2%) came from the individual and half (4.2%) from the employer which has to be considered as all coming from the employee since the employer figures the matching amount he contributes to each worker's S.S. account is going to the worker himself and thus the employer is paying each employee that much more.
- At any rate, if Social Security increases continue only at the same rate per year which they have obtained since 1966, by 1989, only 18 years from now each person will be paying 18% of his total earnings into the famous Social Security "Trust" funds. That figure doesn't include federal or state income taxes or sales tax or excise tax or (woops — ran out of room again) the only "if" in this projection is whether or not the rate increases.

S.S.T. STINKS FOR "BENEFICIARIES"

- How can you plan your retirement if you have no idea of what you're going to get.
- Benefits have no relationship at all to what you have paid in. Benefits depend entirely on the whim of the Congress and it's decree. Each person who receives S.S. is in effect reduced to eating out of the collective political hand, grabbing at whatever crumbs the politicians feel are worthy of your next vote. Each election time, people on Social Security are forced to beg for the type of benefit that should have been programmed from the very beginning according to the amount of money paid in.
- People who contribute all their life to Social Security (up to $60,000.00 for a couple at present rates) have no say about who their money should be paid to. Beneficiaries are arbitrarily chosen by the government. In many cases absolutely no one in a family benefits when the parents die. All the Social Security Insurance (Taxes) they were forced to pay (up to $60,000.00 during their life) goes directly to the government.
- Lock of time and space does not permit other foul smelling characteristics of S.S.T.

It's possible that S.S.T. could become so bad that nobody could afford to live on Social Security after they retire and no one will be able to live on what is left of their pay checks after social security taxes have been taken out, before they retire. Sounds kind of funny doesn't it? Swensen's aren't laughing anymore — there aren't any tears left!!

Probably the worst thing about this whole thing is that S.S.T. could be so bad that nobody would have any money left over to buy groceries with — at Swensen's Markets that is, but until that happens you can still count on getting great bargains for your money this week and every week at Swensen's Magic Anti-S.S.T. Markets.

Cadets tackle military life

MOUNTAIN HOME — A group of 45 Civil Air Patrol cadets, including 19 from the Twin Falls area, spent a week living the military life at Mountain Home Air Force Base, rising daily at 5:15 a.m. and working until nearly midnight.

Dennis Thaele, cadet information officer for the Twin Falls Squadron of the CAP, said the cadets completed two hours of military drill each day, then worked at on-the-job training for four hours.

The cadets learned intricacies of jet aircraft maintenance, including fueling, mechanics, safety precautions and other details involved in operation of the RF4C Phantom jet.

At the close of the encampment, the cadets chose a "tiger cadet," as the cadet who best exemplified the true military person, able to stand up to the rigors of military life. Cadet I.C. Kay Koto of Twin Falls was named "tiger cadet" by his fellows.

Honor cadets for each flight included Cadet Sgt. Danny Thornton, A Flight; Cadet Tech. Sgt. Dave Hammond of B Flight, and Cadet I.C. Mary Tjarks, representing C Flight. The cadets ended their tour of duty with a review before Col. W.E.Y. Paxton, commander of the air base, and Brig. Gen. James Trull of the National Guard.

About Drugs

President Nixon's call for a massive national drive against the abuse of drugs and drug addiction should get the urgent attention of Congress because it is overdue and the cost in human misery and crime already are astronomical. The sorry plight of American soldiers in Vietnam who started smoking marijuana and wound up heroin addicts is a tragedy that will continue for years to come. Heroin addiction among our troops is a tragedy that will continue for years to come. Heroin addiction among our troops is reported to have reached epidemic proportions. President Nixon in his televised news conference said drug addiction among soldiers in Vietnam would have "highest priority" and promptly conferred with Defense Secretary Laird and the service chiefs on what to do to curb drug use and the treatment of the victims. Cutting off overseas sources will be one of the drives outlined by the President, along with prosecuting pushers, treating addicts and beginning a massive educational campaign to inform Americans on how drug problems begin. Smoking marijuana, while not addictive, has been the usual initiation of "hard drug" users. "I can see no social or moral justification whatsoever for legalizing marijuana," Nixon said. There have been recommendations for its legalizations on the grounds that it is not a narcotic and is not addictive. In the background are the tragic consequences to young offenders, and the feeling on the part of many that penalties for first offenders have been too severe. A growing number of states have followed the example of recent federal law that reduces possession of marijuana for personal use from a felony to a misdemeanor. The best advice to young experimenters is to "stop before you start." The advice came from a pitiful wreck of a man dying from drugs. In the Magic Valley the Sierra Life Insurance Co. is doing an outstanding job of public service in sponsoring a series of advertisements on drug abuse. We are sure you have been reading these in the Times-News. The contention of the insurance firm is that knowledge is important. They are so right. Among other things they are offering an informative, educational packet to all persons or organizations wanting it. If you have a problem or are concerned then write Sierra Life in Twin Falls. Knowledge of the problem could be the first step toward ending it.

Our Exports

A study underway in Washington to see what can be done to stimulate American exports is timely for two reasons. Increasing exports offer both short-range and long-range opportunities to correct the deficit in international accounts. Focusing national attention on the export problem provides a better understanding of what America has to offer in world trade. It has been noted that a clue to a nation's best exports can be found in its most rapidly growing domestic industries. In the United States it is the service industries which are outpacing the manufacturing industries. Service industries now employ almost twice as many persons as those engaged in manufacture.

How can this fact be translated into increased exports? In a sense it already has been by the rapid growth of overseas American subsidiaries. The foreign subsidiaries now are selling twice the volume of manufactured goods as are exported from the United States. What this indicates is that American management know-how is a valuable commodity in overseas markets. Selling this commodity — technical services — requires more sophistication than in the selling of hard goods, where price is the primary consideration. But it is a lucrative field, as experience indicates, and a good place to begin in any export sales campaign.

LEATHER'S CHALLENGE
Someone in the business figured once that through the years leather has been challenged by about 300 substitutes. Competing materials have made inroads on leather's traditional use for items ranging from checkbook covers to furniture and automobile upholstery. But leather also has regained some of its lost growth, particularly in the footwear industry where one highly promoted synthetic has been phased out as unprofitable. Other challengers remain in the field, and the footwear battle is not yet decided. The tanning industry is a billion-dollar-a-year business, and obviously an important one. Its lofty status, however, provides no immunity from man's ingenuity and constant drive to find a substitute to do the same job efficiently, with less expense and greater durability. As with steel, glass or any of the other basic materials, in the final analysis it will be the public who decides if the original remains king, or in turn is replaced by what was once a substitute.

ANDREW TULLY

Some Things Sound Logical

WASHINGTON — In the esoteric area of political rumors, some things sound logical enough to be true. One such is the message from one of New York Mayor John Lindsay's principal advisers that Pete (Stop the War) McCloskey have met privately and agreed that the mayor will challenge President Nixon for the Republican nomination next summer. The meeting, according to the informant, took place after Lindsay and McCloskey made separate political speeches in New Hampshire, where the nation's first primary will be held next March. McCloskey, who keeps saying he'll run against Nixon unless the President changes his Indochina policy, addressed a Unitarian gathering in Concord. Lindsay gave the commencement address at St. Anselm's College in Manchester. This is the strategy agreed upon by the two men, according to the source quoted: "McCloskey will continue to 'run' against Nixon, heating up the issue to prepare the ground for Lindsay's entrance into the race by early next year at the latest. Fat-cat contributors favorable to Lindsay will be assured privately that their tiger will announce his candidacy at a propitious time. McCloskey, who calls himself a regular Republican, will concentrate on winning support within the GOP. Lindsay, a registered Republican who goes his own way, will secretly plow Democratic fields. It is always well, of course, to be skeptical of a source — especially political — who denies use of his name. The boys like to play games. But this particular informant explains that his desire for anonymity is prompted by fear of losing his job, which is reasonable. However, he is sticking his nameless head out, he says, because he disagrees with the Lindsay strategy of keeping the agreement with McCloskey quiet. "I think the secrecy bit is a mistake," he says. "The sooner John publicly announces the better his chances will be. There's a lot of work to be done — out in the open — and there's not much time."

At any rate, a Lindsay-McCloskey pact is in line with McCloskey's announced game plan. He has said he will gladly step aside if an anti-Nixon candidate of "national stature" enters the race for the nomination. He has also promised to campaign for such a candidate "to the bitter end." Indisputably, Lindsay fits McCloskey's specifications. His name is close to being a household word around the country. He is the darling of liberal Democrats who are unimpressed with their own potential candidates. He has credit with Republicans, many of them influential, who are either anti-war, anti-Nixon, or both. Big-city mayors love him for leading the fight to get more financial help for their beleaguered principalities. Most significantly, Lindsay is in a position to make the fight. As a maverick Republican, he has nothing to lose — indeed, he has nowhere else to go. He has been mentioned as a Democratic Presidential candidate, but forget that. The Muskies, McGovern, Humphreys et al are not about to let that happen. Lindsay's only hope of escaping from New York City is to run as a registered Republican who wants to turn the party around. There is one important complication in the scenario. Lindsay's credits with Democrats will win him no votes at the Republican convention. He is in fact anathema to most regular Republicans. Even if his campaign gets off the ground and stirs up the delegates, he runs the risk that the regulars will turn instead to one of their own — New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller or California's Gov. Ronald Reagan. Both will be in the wings, ready to step forward if things get sticky. Unless he has turned suddenly stupid, Lindsay knows this. But I don't believe it troubles him. His goal, after all, is to beat Nixon, and if his try for the nomination fails he almost surely will switch to the role of wrecker, endorsing the Democratic candidate and taking his people with him. This, it must be remembered, is the man who had the guts — or foolhardiness — to endorse Democrat Arthur Goldberg for governor against Rockefeller. And he would not find it unappetizing to serve a Democratic President as, say, Secretary of State.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

On Protein

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I wonder if you have heard of the "organic vegetable and fruit diet" many young people are taking up. My 19-year-old son announced that he was never eating fish or meat again and recently eschewed all dairy products as well. Since he has an apartment of his own and is doing fairly vigorous work, I fear he will damage his health. He won't eat eggs, butter, or milk because he says the cow's cells are the same as those of the steer which is killed for food. He has lost 25 pounds in about two months, and could afford to lose this much, but if he continues losing at such a rate it would seem he would undermine his energy and resistance to disease. We have tried to talk to him. I could go along with his relinquishment of meat, since he has always been very tender-hearted about animals, but when he refuses to get needy protein through fish, cheese, etc., it is a great worry. If you have any knowledge of this fad (my son says it is a "way of life") we would appreciate an answer. Is there danger in such a rigid diet, or are we magnifying the possibilities? — M. M.

I've had some reverberations about this in letters from readers, but yours is the closest to any explanation. It still leaves some questions in my mind. The human body needs protein. Protein (the amino acids of which it is made up) is the principal material of which the body's cells are composed. Deprive the body of protein, and the body wastes away and becomes vulnerable to disease. That's precisely why so much attention is being paid to find ways to provide more protein in the "hungry" parts of the world, where malnutrition is robbing the inhabitants of the will and energy to improve their own condition. There are vegetarians who refuse to eat meat, but they get protein from other sources: milk, cheese, eggs, nuts, small amounts in some vegetables. If your tender-hearted son doesn't want to eat meat, he can be tolerably healthy getting his protein from other sources, but it sounds to me as though he has gone much too far. You might remind him that nobody kills the chickens to get eggs, nor cows to get milk. In fact, if he were a farm boy, he'd know how unhappy cows get when they aren't milked regularly. Cheese is an excellent source of protein. Milk is fair. Or isn't it in his "way of life" to consider such things? If he has lost 25 pounds in two months, I'd guess that he isn't going to be able to continue his fad indefinitely. It probably hasn't hurt him so far, and doubtless losing the weight was good for him, but I rather imagine that in time nature is going to have something to say about things. He's going to get so hungry for protein foods that he'll have some second thoughts. Meantime, I guess his "way of life" — so long as it is temporary — is certainly preferable to the lust for destruction and hatefulness that some of our other young ones find so absorbing. Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is leukemia or cancer catching, especially when the cancer is under the dentures? I'm wondering if it is safe to eat in the person's home or for that person to eat in mine. — Mrs. M.

It is not catching. It is safe for you to eat there, or vice versa.

PAUL HARVEY

Dirty Words

Now that our highest court has decreed that anybody may display those four-letter words in public soon many will wonder if you and I shouldn't try to discuss this subject dispassionately. Five-to-four the Supreme Court ruled in favor of Paul Robert Cohen of Los Angeles. On his jacket he had stitched a slogan objecting to the military draft and it included a four-letter profanity. He'd been sentenced to 30 days in jail for "offensive conduct," but the High Court let him go. The Court decreed that he is protected by the First and Fourteenth Amendments of the Constitution; that "we cannot forbid particular words without risking suppressing ideas." Besides, Justice Harlan added, "One man's vulgarity is another man's lyric." I think we should let the record read that Mr. Nixon's appointees to the High Court did not agree with this decision, but they were outnumbered; the decision is law. We've all seen this coming. As moral absolutes were dissolved even within the church, and as gutter language was adopted first by prurient men-only publications — then by the desperate Broadway stage — then by the so-called "ladies' magazines," we've all been approaching this day when anything goes. This generation did not invent these words, of course. Indeed, some of them enjoyed common usage in ancient Saxony. But with the refinement of intellect and the increasing sensitivity of emotions, men sought to emerge from primitive barnyard behavior and to separate the parlor from the bedroom and the bedroom from the bathroom. So if now we are going to move everything back into one room, or out into the front yard, whatever it is it's not "progress." On a related subject, there is nothing inherently indecent or impure or morally offensive about the saliva which issues forth from your lips — else no nice person would ever kiss. Nor is the expectation of said, saliva offensive in the dentist's spatium cup. But on my parlor rug it is. Anywhere that to spit may offend others, then the rights of others are involved and there should be and are laws against it. But in the instance of barracks language, the Supreme Court has spoken. And I expect the four-letter words soon will appear on theater marquees and be uttered on TV. Not by me. When young Paul was much younger, I responded to his first "hell" or "damn" with nothing more than a reminder that "any durn fool can swear." And that reminder was enough. When he parroted some schoolyard word used to categorize some ethnic minority, it was enough to remind him that mud is not dirty until you throw it at somebody. I think if I had a very young son today I'd have to explain that in recent years the Supreme Court has been overzealous in protecting the rights of wrongdoers. And that we the people who want to rise above the slime whence we came will have to do so on our own.

RAY CROMLEY

Soviet Lesson

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Before the Soviet Union invaded Czechoslovakia in August, 1968, there were long discussions within the Kremlin and between Moscow and the East European capitals which were to cooperate in the action. The story, as learned from a contact close to high-placed East European government officials, is that in these discussions the party secretary for the Ukraine urgently argued for the invasion, saying that if the Czechs were allowed to get away with democratization the "virus" would inevitably spread. The same arguments were used by East Germany's Walter Ulbricht. What they were arguing, of course, was the domino theory in reverse. It was this argument, it is reported, which convinced Soviet officials they must act. Opinion began to grow in the West after the invasion that the Soviet Union had made a most serious mistake, that it later came to regret this blatant use of force in a friendly country. It was argued in high places in the United States and in Western European capitals that the Czech invasion had brought new dissension and new divisiveness to the Communist world. But an analysis by Kremlin watchers of the recent 24th Congress of the Communist party of the Soviet Union makes abundantly clear that in Brezhnev's eyes and in those of his chief party colleagues the invasion of Czechoslovakia was in retrospect a major success. As these Soviet leaders view the invasion: — It taught the world a lesson. It warned the West and dissidents within the Soviet Union and the Soviet bloc that Moscow would not permit divisions and would suppress any attempts with strong military force. — It helped establish the "class duty" of all Communist countries to socialist internationalism as defined by Moscow, which means that as a matter of principle the Soviet Union must be accepted as the final arbiter of what are correct internal policies in any part of the Soviet bloc. — It was a major factor in leading the West toward acceptance of the status quo in Eastern Europe.

Department cuts mulled

BOISE (UPI) — The state board of health took under advisement a plan to reorganize the State Health Department at its meeting in Boise Wednesday. The plan, submitted by Health Administrator Dr. Terrell O. Carver, would reduce the current nine divisions to six and place a "program performance unit" and a "comprehensive health planning unit" in the system, which he said were critical to overall operations of the Health Department.

Carver said the heads of the new bureaus proposed should be exempt from Personnel Commission rules.

The new divisional alignment would be general services, preventive and special health services, child health and development, mental health, environmental improvement services, and youth rehabilitation.

Dr. John Marks, director of the Mental Retardation and Child Development Division, outlined for the board personnel cuts he is making at the Idaho State School and Hospital in an effort to stay within his budget.

But, he warned, "We just can't reduce our staff any further and continue."

Marks said to stay within his budget and pay the salary increases ordered by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus to some of the lower classifications, he will discharge 31 employees at the Idaho State School and Hospital at Nampa as of July 1, pick up more through normal attrition and a lag in hiring and cut his capital outlay budget to $10,000.

Describing it as a "survival budget," Marks said if the cuts do not meet his budget he may ask the board to seek a supplemental appropriation from the 1972 legislature.

Cuts at the school include clinical director, chief of the metabolic laboratory, one laboratory helper, one vocational counselor, one beauty operator, one therapy aide, one therapy technician, two psychologist trainees, one nursing assistant, 11 ward attendants, chief security officer, one senior clerk, one cook, two utility men, one maintenance craftsman and one maintenance assistant and two laundry workers.

In addition, he said, a work-study program for college students would be cut in half.

Rites open Gem DAV convention

TWIN FALLS — Committee assignments and a memorial service opened the annual Idaho Disabled American Veterans convention today in the Twin Falls DAV Hall.

Arthur W. Patterson, convention chairman, said more than 100 delegates from the nine Idaho DAV chapters registered for the three-day meeting. Patterson said that during the convention, delegates will observe the 50th anniversary of the national DAV.

This afternoon, delegates heard reports from various committees.

Tonight a smorgasbord is planned for 6 p.m. at the DAV Hall.

Friday, the delegates, including the auxiliary members, will be in business sessions most of the day. Some of the topics to be discussed are legislation, publicity, history, veterans administration and national DAV activities.

Several state and national officers are scheduled to speak during Friday's sessions. At noon Friday a past commanders' luncheon is planned at the Turf Club where all past commanders are to be honored. A trip to Jackpot is planned Friday evening.

Saturday morning resolutions are scheduled to be approved in addition to several reports. New state officers will be elected Saturday afternoon with installation that night at the annual dinner in the Rogerson Hotel Roundup Room.

Real 'cat' burglar

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Police surprised a "cat burglar" this week when they responded to the ringing of a burglar alarm at a bar.

Officers said when they arrived, a large black cat was ambling down the bar at the lounge. The feline intruder apparently tripped the burglar alarm during its prow through the building.

The alarm was reset, the cat was removed from the premises and released from "custody."

Firemen checking hydrants

TWIN FALLS — It's fire hydrant testing time and Twin Falls Fire Department personnel are busy this week checking more than 500 hydrants within the city limits.

Francis Horejs, assistant fire chief, said these hydrants are checked every year for leaks and working order. Pressure also is checked and the water lines are flushed out as silt and other debris sometimes collect in them. Valves also are checked, he said.

Usually the testing is routine work. However, one unusual incident occurred Tuesday.

Horejs said in openings the valve of a hydrant at intersection of Madrin and Highland Avenue, the valve stem broke, thus preventing them from shutting off the water. They had to wait until a city water department employee came and shut it off, before replacing the stem.

Officers explain drug law

TWIN FALLS — Difficulties of obtaining convictions under the new drug legislation was explained to Twin Falls Rotary Club members Wednesday noon at the Park Club.

Prosecuting Attorney Leon Smith said under the old drug bill officers could use the threat of a felony charge to obtain cooperation from a person experimenting with drug use and gain information leading to conviction of pushers.

But under the new legislation, possession of any type of drug, from marijuana to heroin, is only a misdemeanor. Also, under the previous legislation, medical treatment could be financed with state funds, but now since the offense of possession is only a misdemeanor, no funds are available for treatment.

Smith urged Rotarians to use their influence with state legislators to get "more teeth" back into the state drug bill which was passed to conform with federal legislation.

Income rises sharply

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government today reported a sharp increase in the personal income of all Americans coupled with another advance in the buying power index. A Nixon administration economist labeled the reports as further evidence of economic recovery. Personal income last month reached a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $274.4 billion, up $6 billion from April, the Commerce Department said. The agency also said private housing starts in May were at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1.93 million, up from April's 1.88 million and the third consecutive month in which the figure has increased. The administration's goal for the year of 2 million new homes. Harold C. Paster, assistant Commerce secretary for economic affairs, said the reports reflected a "brightening" of the economic expansion.

The administration has been counting on a sharp increase in consumer spending to spur the economic recovery from last year's recession and to produce the jobs needed to reduce unemployment which has been at the highest level since 1961. The increase in personal income was half again as fast as the advance in April, and equaled the average monthly increase recorded so far this year.

Wages and salaries totaled an annual rate of $571.2 billion in May, up $4.3 billion from April. Manufacturing payrolls increased at an annual rate of $1.5 billion, the largest monthly gain since last December when wages were swollen by the return to work following the 10-week General Motors strike.

Mind Your Money

By PETER WEAVER

Q — I'm worried about hair sprays. I've heard that they might be a health hazard if used improperly. Have any studies been done to determine whether these sprays are dangerous? — Mrs. J. G. Lincoln Park, Mich.

A — The Food and Drug Administration recently checked chest X-Rays of a group of beauticians who used plenty of hair spray in beauty parlors. There were some signs of temporary problems, but the tests were inconclusive.

Dr. Willard S. Harris, working on a research project through the University of Illinois, wanted to know how massive overdoses of aerosol propellants killed teen-agers who used the spray to "get high." It was learned that overdoses of aerosol propellant (a fluorocarbon) affected the heart and caused death in test mice.

No study has yet been made to determine whether smaller doses of aerosol in regular home use have any long-term effect on the heart. There have been no clinically checked reports of any problems.

Still, Dr. Harris advised that aerosols shouldn't be used heavily in close quarters. If the user, or anyone else nearby, gets short of breath, the window should be immediately opened. He says some people are more sensitive to aerosol spray propellants than others.

Q — I returned from Puerto Rico and found that a package was missing. It contained five bottles of liquor. The airline said nothing could be done. Is there any action I can take? — P. J. Conagher, St. Louis, Mo.

A — Most airline tariffs (in fine print) say that they're not responsible for such fragile packages—unless extra insurance is purchased. The Civil Aeronautics Board advises carrying this kind of package on the plane with you.

Q — We are considering buying a "plaster pool, 20 to 24 inches deep, for our children. As the water capacity is more than 1,000 gallons, we would like to know if there's any way to clean the water without buying a filter pump. The pumps are more expensive than the pool. Mrs. D. C. F., Dubuque, Ia.

A — The Swimming Pool Institute says you can't keep a pool this size in a sanitary condition without using a pump. You'll also need chlorine and a test kit sold by swimming pool suppliers. Otherwise, your children could pick up some nasty infections.

Q — You wrote about mail-order companies cashing checks and not delivering the goods. What about mail-order customers who purchase items and pay for them with worthless checks?

Postal inspectors say this must happen several times before anything can be done. In other words, it isn't a fraud if you steal from a mail-order house just once or twice. — H. E., Nationwide Plan Book Co., Northridge, Calif.

A — Why don't you wait until checks clear before sending out books? Mail the customer a form card which states that it will take a few weeks before the order can be fulfilled.

Most consumers are accustomed to waiting a few weeks for mail deliveries.

Hollywood dads net few prizes

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—What with divorces, separations, location shooting and chasing starlets around, Hollywood fathers have seldom won prizes for parental excellence on Fathers Day.

But it's not as bad as it was. There are some outstanding fathers in Hollywood. Frank Sinatra is one. Charlton Heston and Gregory Peck are two other examples of men who took time out from dazzling careers to be attentive parents. One of the most devoted fathers of the bunch is Joe Campanella, who plays lawyer Brian Darrell in television's "The Bold Ones."

Married only once, and into his 30s at that, Campanella is the father of Phillip, 6; Robert, 5; Joey, 4; and Dominic, 16 months.

He and his wife Jill would like to adopt four or five children to fill up their Toluca Lake home, nestled in a suburb bordering Hollywood.

"Every day is Fathers Day in our house," the actor said. "Sure, I have my work and goals to reach.

"But first, I'm a husband and father. And I think that feeling is growing stronger these days—the ties between a father and his children.

"Nobody can tell me a man doesn't feel fatherhood. I was a bachelor longer than most guys, so I know the difference."

A former athlete, Campanella likes the rough and tumble activity with his four sons. He is a constant visitor to nearby St. Joseph's Hospital where his boys are stitched up, patched up and suffer through having their broken bones reset.

Campanella is an old-fashioned father. He believes in discipline.

"My boys appreciate the fact that I've set down rules which they must follow," he said. "It gives them a sense of security, knowing what's right and wrong."

"I look on my sons as friends, which is something different than being their pal. First and last, I am their father."

The actor looked at his watch and said it was time to pick up his three eldest sons from school, a chore he happily accepts.

"As far as I'm concerned the best compliment ever paid me was the response of two of my boys when someone asked them what they wanted to be when they grew up. They said, 'We want to be a daddy.'"

Medina case end sought

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (UPI)—Defense counsel F. Lee Bailey asked today that the My Lai mass murder case against Capt. Ernest L. Medina be thrown out and accused the Army of "trying to have its cake and eat it, too."

Medina is charged with murdering 102 Vietnamese civilians during an American infantry sweep through the village three years ago. He was called as a witness in the court-martial of Lt. William L. Calley, who was convicted of 22 murders, and denied ordering any massacre at My Lai.

"In order to present Capt. Medina as a witness in the Calley case, the government had to vouch that he was telling the truth," Bailey said in his opening remarks at Medina's pre-trial hearing. "In order to prosecute him in this case, the government will have to say it knew all along that he was lying. The government can't have its cake and eat it, too."

Bailey charged that Medina could not get a fair trial because of fresh memories of the Calley court-martial. He said Medina was "in danger of being tried subconsciously."

Union asks job guard

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The head of the union representing most of Lockheed's work force said today Congressional refusal to save the firm from bankruptcy would destroy 30,000 jobs and throw as many as 90,000 other people out of work.

Coming atop of Congress' deathblow for the supersonic transport (SST), which led to heavy layoffs in Seattle, Lockheed's collapse would be disastrous for members of the International Association of Machinists, Floyd E. Smith, IAM President, told the Senate Banking Committee.

He aimed his arguments directly at Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who led the battle against the SST and is now leading the fight to deny a Nixon administration-backed $250 million loan guarantee for Lockheed.

Lockheed said its bankruptcy is imminent if the government declines to guarantee repayment of bank loans it needs to complete work of its L1011 TriStar jetliner. The firm says it can complete its defense contracts in bankruptcy but would have to jettison the TriStar.

"When Congress in its wisdom decided to kill the SST it dealt the aerospace industry and aerospace workforce a damaging blow," Smith said in testimony prepared for the committee. "A followup refusal to help Lockheed would compound the injury."

Germans promised Consumer goods

BERLIN (UPI) — East Germans received promises of higher incomes and more consumer goods today — the 18th anniversary of the 1953 "bread and freedom" revolt.

A five-year economic plan for 1971-1975 submitted to the June 15-19 Communist party convention in East Berlin called for an increase in real wages of from 21 to 23 per cent and a higher standard of living.

The plan envisaged increased production of everything from milk to beer and a 36 per cent increase in the production of industrial goods.

At the same time it provided for an increase in exports, termed vital for the East German economy.

The plan was designed to meet the demand of consumers for what Erich Honecker, the new Communist party first secretary, called "one thousand things."

It reflected the change in the economy since workers throughout East Germany revolted on June 17, 1953, against an industrial speedup and harsh living conditions.

Soviet troops and tanks crushed the revolt as they did a similar one three years later in Hungary.

Greeks hint ties with Reds studied

ATHENS (UPI) — Greece made goodwill gestures today to Albania and Romania, Peking's closest friends in Europe, and said it might consider setting up diplomatic relations with Communist China, itself.

A government spokesman announced the appointment of Greece's first ambassador in more than 30 years to its neighbor and traditional enemy, Albania.

He announced Premier George Papadopoulos has accepted an invitation to visit Romania at some future date — his first trip outside Greece since the military takeover in 1967 — and he said he did "not rule out" the possibility of diplomatic links with Peking.

Christian Xanthopoulos Palamas, undersecretary for foreign affairs, told a news conference the ambassador to Albania was Dennis Carayianis, 52, a career diplomat who requested the job.

Albania and Greece agreed to resume diplomatic relations last month after a break that began when fascist Italy invaded Albania in 1939 and used it as a springboard for its 1940 attack on Greece. Border disputes and Albanian support for Communist guerrillas in the Greek civil war of the 1940s added to the two countries' enmity.

Babies take food

SYDNEY (UPI) — The two surviving babies of the nine born Sunday to a Canberra housewife passed their 100th hour of life today and began feeding for the first time, a hospital bulletin said.

The notice from the Sydney Royal Women's Hospital said the boy had required a blood transfusion Wednesday night. Otherwise, it said, his and his sister's conditions had not changed in the past 24 hours.

On Wednesday, his parents, Leonard and Geraldine Brodriek, spent a half-hour with their babies. A Roman Catholic priest blessed the infants and gave the Brodrieks communion, the Sydney Morning Herald said. The Herald has exclusive Australian newspaper rights to reports from the family.

Mrs. Brodriek, 29, delivered nine children Sunday in what medical experts say is a record for one pregnancy.

'Picnic' control to county

MOSCOW (UPI) — Gov. Cecil Andrus said Wednesday he believes the proposed gathering scheduled at Farragut State Park in Northern Idaho over the fourth of July weekend will be a church picnic as advertised.

There have been rumors that the gathering, expected to attract up to 50,000 persons to the park 28 miles north of Coeur d'Alene on the banks of Lake Pend Oreille, would result in a rock festival.

"I don't believe this gathering could be classified as a rock festival," Andrus said Wednesday before meeting with Kootenai County officials on the subject. "I believe it is just what they say it is — a church gathering."

Andrus noted, however, it was up to Kootenai County authorities to determine whether the Universal Life Church should be allowed to hold their meeting at Farragut State Park.

The governor said, "The Idaho constitution gives control of meetings and gatherings to the counties in which these gatherings are held, and the Kootenai County commissioners will have to say on whether this gathering may be held and how it will be handled."

Andrus said the main concern of state authorities is for fire protection in the timbered areas of the 5,000-acre park during a normally dry period and for medical facilities for a large number of people.

County officials have discovered that although a county ordinance restricting rock festivals is enforceable on the state park property there may be no way to prevent the "church picnic" they feel is a rock festival in disguise.

Ad Case settled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A false advertising case against Swift's baby foods was settled today by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC).

The FTC said it was provisionally accepting a consent order under which Swift and Co. promised not to falsely advertise the nutritional and health benefits of its baby foods.

The complaint had charged Swift with falsely advertising that its baby foods were uniquely nutritious, helped fight germs and even helped babies sleep.

Swift issued this statement regarding the settlement: "Swift's Grocery Products Co. voluntarily agreed in December of 1970 not to use any of the approaches which the FTC found objectionable and none of the advertisements attacked in the complaint have been used since October, 1970. "The agreement is in no way an admission of violating any laws or regulations. Rather, it was a cooperative and expeditious way to finally settle the matter."

At hearing

ARMY CAPT. Ernest Medina, right, accompanied by wife, arrives for pre-trial hearing at Ft. McPherson, Ga., Wednesday. Medina is charged with responsibility for murder of civilians at My Lai in 1968. Defense is expected to file 17 motions in behalf of 34 year old officer at hearing. (UPI)

Advisory choices looming

BOISE (UPI) — Some 100 positions in various advisory councils, committees and boards will terminate July 1, leaving Gov. Cecil D. Andrus with a lot of choices to make.

But Edward V. Williams, administrative assistant to Andrus, said, the governor does not have to worry about immediate appointments since all those currently on such boards or committees will continue until re-appointment or until replacements are chosen.

Some 21 persons must be appointed by the blue ribbon Water Resource and Development Council and another 13 to the Sugar Beet Advisory Committee.

Others whose appointments will expire include such diverse gatherings as the engineering examiners, the hearing aid dealers and fitters, the Army board of trustees, the North Idaho College Dormitory Housing Committee, the psychologist examiners, the Collection Agencies Board, the Beautify Idaho Committee, the Management in State Government Advisory Committee, and the Motor Vehicle Dealers Advisory Board.

Pays tax

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Power Co. paid $2,756,579 to 28 Idaho counties this week in property taxes for the second half of 1970.

Rite set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, said Wednesday a ceremony designating Weippe Prairie as a national historic landmark has been scheduled June 27 at the state highway historical site in west Weippe.

McClure said Jack R. Williams, superintendent of the Nez Perce National Historical Park, will present the landmark certificate to Normal Steadman, mayor of Weippe.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Kellogg, Filer, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Boerner, Herman. The background decorations featured altar vases filled with white chrysanthemums tinged with blue and white gladioli with blue ribbon bows. Gold candelabra held lighted tapers. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of slipper satin featuring a high lace-trimmed neckline. The sleeveless gown was covered with a long-sleeved Chantilly lace coat and a floor-length veil of illusion held by a lace cap. The bride and her sisters designed and made the bridal ensemble.

She wore a necklace containing a pearl encased in a horseshoe, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a cascade bouquet of roses and carnations centered with an orchid corsage.

Shirley Bryant, California, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Anita Nielsen, sister of the bride, Gloria Krum and Glens Kessler. Mark Orme, Idaho Falls, was best man. Delwyn Kellogg, brother of the bride, and Rick Romack lighted the tapers and also ushered, assisted by Don Frank, Homedale.

Gene Hartwig and Mrs. Vernon Lassen provided wedding music.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Guests were seated at small tables covered with white cloths and centered with white candles and blue roses which had been made by the bride.

The large refreshment table was covered with a hand-crocheted white lace cloth over blue satin and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with blue flowers, white bells and a pair of miniature wedding rings. A tiny "Bluebird of Happiness" perched in front of three white bells trimmed in blue and white before an archway of white flowers.

Mrs. Reuben Lierman arranged the bride's table and also decorated the cake. Serving at the reception was Mrs. Bob Boerner, Mrs. Ed Watts, Mrs. Vernon Fischer, Idona Kellogg and Mrs. Gilbert Kellogg. The Lutheran Women's Missionary League assisted in the kitchen.

Picnic, square dance set in Glens Ferry

GLENN'S FERRY — A potluck picnic and square dance will be held at the Glens Ferry City Park at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Bliss have annually hosted a picnic for square dancers and in connection with the dedication of the State Three-Island Park, moved the date forward this year so more square dancers would have the opportunity to participate. This is a family affair. Mr. and Mrs. Bliss have called for the Melody Square Dance Club at the Gooding Grange Hall for 21 years. It is something of a record in square dance circles to have called for the same club in the same hall for this length of time.

Recently a beginners group started in Glens Ferry that is instructed by Bliss Members have chosen the club name of Three Island Dancers.

Snake dam block approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Interior Committee today approved legislation to block construction of any more dams on the Snake River between Idaho and Oregon.

If finally passed by Congress, the measure would declare a seven-year moratorium on dams in the stretch of river below the existing Hells Canyon Dam.

During the moratorium a study would be made to determine whether the river should be preserved in its natural state.

The bill was sponsored by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho.

The legislation, which now goes to the Senate floor, would throw another road block ahead of a controversial dam-proposal now pending before the Federal Power Commission.

The Pacific Northwest Power Co. and the Washington Public Power Supply System are seeking an FPC license for joint construction of a huge hydroelectric project above the mouth of the Salmon River.

An FPC examiner has recommended approval of the license on the condition that construction not begin before September 1975. Examiner William Levy said such a delay would give Congress time to consider other plans for the river.

The Church-Jordan bill would provide for a moratorium until Sept. 30, 1978.

Jordan said later the legislation was "a middle-of-the-road position" between those seeking immediate development and those seeking immediate preservation.

"It postpones development without adversely affecting long-range decisions that may be made after all the facts are in concerning future land and water resource plans. The bill would involve only a three-year extension of the planning delay recommended by the FPC examiner."

Church said passage of the bill was "crucial if the Federal Power Commission is to be prevented from licensing a dam in the Hells Canyon stretch of the river."

The senator added the bill was passed unanimously by the Senate last year and has administration support.

"This legislation stands the best chance of getting through Congress and being signed into law this year."

The committee also approved a bill to authorize the $51,698,000 Salmon Falls irrigation project in Idaho.

Road work bids asked

IDAHO FALLS — The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission has issued a call for bids on the 1971 road maintenance program at the National Reactor Testing Station.

The estimated cost of the work is $175,000. The project will include placing 3,750 cubic yards of aggregate base coat; 23,100 square yards of Type B surfacing; 62,560 square yards of seal coat and 15,000 tons of plant mix; applying 20 cubic yards of blotter material and excavating 10 cubic yards for shoulder and side slopes of roadway sections. The work is to be completed within 110 calendar days.

Mayors endorse pullout

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The U.S. Conference of Mayors by a voice vote today adopted a resolution urging a pullout of all American troops from Vietnam by the end of the year.

The voice vote on the resolution, submitted by Mayor Jack Maltester of San Leandro, Calif., appeared close, but conference President Mayor James H. J. Tate of Philadelphia declared it carried.

Many of the mayors and delegates were dismayed because the voice vote was taken instead of an individual count.

The delegates earlier defeated by a narrow margin a proposal to take the Dec. 31 date out of the resolution and substitute it with a clause saying "as soon as national security permits."

Printed texts may aid decoding

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. officials are worried that the New York Times' publication of secret government messages about American involvement in Vietnam might make it possible for the Soviet Union to decipher other coded transmissions sent during the 1960s.

"You may rest assured that no one is reading this series any more closely than the Soviet embassy," said one official in commenting on the Times' publication of a secret chronology tracing the full-scale U.S. participation in the Indochina War.

numerous texts of high-level memos and cablegrams, which it said were "printed verbatim, with only unmistakable typographic errors corrected." Many were messages, transmitted in code, between Washington and Saigon or other U.S. diplomatic and military outposts in Indochina.

Orofino intensive treatment plan approved

BOISE (UPI) — The State Board of Health voted unanimously today to adopt a funding plan for State Hospital North at Orofino that will allow for a 60-bed intensive treatment program at the institution.

The plan, supported by the Idaho Mental Health Advisory Council, State Health Administrator Dr. Terrell O. Carver, and Division of Mental Health Director Dr. Myrick Pullen, was approved only with the provision the division come up with a plan for full utilization of the Orofino hospital.

The provision came after board members, examining various ways to divide up the $4.6 million for the division, indicated fears the cut back to 60 beds was merely the first step in a move to close the institution.

But Pullen told the board even without budget pressures he would still favor the plan and said he saw it not as a "retrenchment" prior to finding future new uses for the hospital.

The board heard four plans for the northern institution, including a last-minute plan presented by State Hospital North Supervisor, Dr. William Van Duyn.

Van Duyn's plan—which was not seen by the Mental Health Advisory Council at its meeting Tuesday—would have allowed for 90 acute treatment beds, 10 long-term care beds and 10 geriatric or chronic care beds.

Plans outlined to the Health Board included:

- One to maintain State Hospital North at a maintenance level, with a budget of $1.3 million for the institution which would have taken away or drastically cut back funds from regional mental health centers.

- One which would have allowed $700,598 for the institution to begin a phase-out to closure, which would have given more money to State Hospital South at Blackfoot and more to the regional divisions.
- The one adopted which will fund the north Idaho institution at $1,002,220, State Hospital South at $2,175,988, the division central office at $271,836 and also fund the seven regions.
- And the plan outlined by Van Duyn, which would have cost $1,296,000 for the northern institution, cut back slightly from the maintenance budget by disallowing payments for out-patient drugs.

Bob Stelling, executive director of the Idaho State Employees' Association, asked whether the cut back at Orofino was a "response to pressure by the tight budget of whether it was a move with the best interests of the patients being considered."

But Fred Humphreys, Boise, board chairman, said for a long time the board had backed regional health centers as a means of "providing local service on a much, much better basis."

"We're forced to choose now," he said. "Obviously nobody wants to turn the clock back on regional services."

"This is a little premature to make these decisions now, but I think the move is to get away from institutionalized care as soon as possible."

Van Duyn warned that with the cut-back to 60 patients the hospital would have to refuse some admissions and would have to pick on "some priority" basis.

He said because of the jump in per-patient costs, within six months to one year there would be "good documented reasons" for closing the institution.

Dr. Carter Beghtol, Orofino, warned it would be "foolish" and a "mistake" to close down the institution.

He said he favored the maintenance plan and, when asked if he realized it would mean a cut in regional center funding, replied the budget was for only one year "and we're having a tough year."

He said the board had professional advice recommending maintaining the Orofino institution.

Rock festival double barred

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Law officers and politicians in Louisiana and Mississippi said Wednesday they will not allow on their soil the "Celebration of Life," an eight-day rock festival which boasts of voodoo workshops, ferris wheels and men on a flying trapeze.

Louisiana Gov. John McKeithen vowed to personally evict any "long-haired, dope group, anarchists" who try to stage the festival in his state.

Mississippi officials branded the event, scheduled to begin Monday, as a refuge for narcotics addicts and pushers.

Festival promoter Steve Kapelow of Gretna, La., said he had at least a half-dozen sites planned, but state and local officials kicked him out. He said he would announce Thursday a definite site.

"The worst thing about them," McKeithen said on Wednesday, "is that there isn't a black face in the crowd. It's all the white trash of the nation."

The only information given to purchasers of $28 festival tickets so far were directions to go to a parking lot off Interstate 55 in the heart of Mississippi, and from there further directions would be issued as to how to find the festival site.

Kapelow said he expects 60,000 persons at the event he bills as "a week in the country, an escape for the soul, a country fair, a bizarre bazaar."

He originally planned to hold it on an island in the Mississippi River.

Rock groups advertised include Sly and the Family Stone, Country Joe and the Fish, Bloodrock and Canned Heat.

But there are those who doubt the festival will come off.

"Anyone sending in $28 and expecting to attend such a thing on any island in the river is a fool," said Sheriff Bill Farrell of Adams County, Miss.

LESLIE BACON, teen-age anti-war activist, is to be freed on bail during questioning by federal grand jury in Seattle, Ninth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Tuesday. Miss Bacon must still post $10,000 bond before being released. (UPI)

Airport thievery take big

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A convicted mail thief told Senate investigators Wednesday how easy it was for his gang to steal more than $100 million in loosely guarded jewelry, furs, securities and cash at major U.S. airports.

"Anyone dressed as a ramp man or airline employe can come along and grab any or all of the bags without being questioned," said Robert F. Cudak, now serving a seven-year federal prison sentence for mail theft.

Testifying under immunity from further prosecution, Cudak said that at most airports anyone wearing coveralls, hard hat and ear muffers can move freely without challenge.

He said the Atlanta airport "had no security at all."

City aide calls new tax illegal

By JERRY HERRMANN
Times-News Writer

RUPERT — Minidoka County Commissioners have placed an unlawful tax on Rupert citizens who own real property, Bill Whitton, Rupert City councilman charged Wednesday. He urged Rupert residents who have not paid the last half of real property taxes for 1970 to pay tax under protest. The deadline for the last half of 1970 property taxes is Sunday. The tax in question is the levy for the sanitary fill which was levied under the 1970 solid waste disposal law. "Under that law," Whitton said, "the county could not tax the citizen of any city for the maintenance and operation of the solid waste disposal sites and the city of Rupert has its own solid waste disposal site. "However, when the Minidoka County Commissioners levied the taxes for 1970, they included the solid waste disposal tax levy on each real property holder who lives in Rupert. "This tax was 19 cents per $100 of assessed valuation of property. Based on 15 per cent of market value, a $20,000 property would be taxed $5.70. Whitton approached the commissioners concerning the tax in February, 1971, but they haven't done anything to correct the situation since, he said. He said that last Monday the Rupert City Council met with the commissioners and proposed the county pay the city the taxes already collected and then the city would not have to increase the service charge for collection of garbage. "However, to this date the county has done nothing," he said. "They have not announced to the public they levied an unlawful tax." Whitton said he was one of the unfortunate property owners who paid his full property tax before the error tax was discovered. He said citizens who have already paid the tax should demand a refund. However, this procedure is very cumbersome, he said. Whitton added the amount may seem small, however, the citizens have a right to pay only the taxes that are lawful. "Taxes already are too high without having an unlawful tax levied on the citizens' property and then having to go to the county to demand a refund when and if the unlawful tax is discovered," he said.

Blevins found guilty

TWIN FALLS — After nearly eight hours of deliberation Wednesday, a Fifth District Court jury returned a verdict of guilty in the case of a Burley man charged in connection with striking a Twin Falls police officer last January.

Darrell Blevins, 29, is scheduled to be sentenced on the charge of resisting an officer by means of violence at 2 p.m. June 28. He was accused in connection with an incident in January in which Capt. Kenneth Johnston was injured while answering a call to the Trophy Lounge in Twin Falls.

The state rested its case when court resumed Wednesday morning, second day of the trial heard by Judge James Cunningham. Defense witnesses called Wednesday included the defendant, his brother, Delbert Blevins, and his uncle, Vernon Holston, Burley. Also called were Leon Lewis and Roy Lewis, both Twin Falls. The men all were with Blevins when the incident occurred.

Tuesday, Capt. Johnston testified that he had placed Blevins under arrest for being drunk in public and that Blevins had struck him with his fist, knocking him to the ground. Capt. Johnston said when he got to his feet, he struck the defendant, knocked him to the ground and placed handcuffs on him.

The jury retired at 2:55 p.m. About 10:30 p.m., it notified officials it had reached a verdict. It was about 11 p.m. when the jury entered the courtroom and announced its decision in the case.

Aide says water rule board task

BOISE (UPI) — Director of Water Administration R. Keith Higginson said Wednesday further action concerning appropriations of waters in the Thousand Springs area will depend on actions of the state parks board. Higginson said testimony was taken at a meeting Wednesday regarding legislation approved by the last legislature authorizing the parks board to appropriate all unappropriated waters in the Thousand Springs area of Hagerman valley to hold for beneficial public use. Higginson said those at the meeting appeared to agree there is need for a test case on uses of the water, but said nothing could be done until the park board at its meeting next month decides what course it will pursue. Higginson said the parks department would have to file for an application for the waters in the spring.

Air pollution 118 index

The pollution reading was taken by the staff of the South Central Health District at the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is expressed as the number of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today. Federal pollution regulations say pollution levels should be kept below 73 micrograms over any 24-hour period, and should not be permitted to rise above 750 micrograms for even a short period of time.

Forecast

Today: Good
Tonight: Good
Tomorrow: Excellent

This forecast provided by the Idaho Department of Health indicates the ability of the atmosphere to disperse pollution. Burning as permitted by law should be curtailed when the air is poorly able to disperse air pollutants.

Top young rider in state finals

BURLEY — Joe Sagers, who is current youth president of National High School Rodeo, will be competing today through Saturday in the Idaho High School Rodeo finals at Burley.

The Gooding High School graduate is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Moe Sagers, Gooding. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Sagers, live at Oakley.

He was runner-up last year for the state all-around cowboy title. Winner of that honor was Butch Edwards of Richfield. Karen Crowder of Boise was all-around cowboy and Nancy Ellis of Nampa was runner-up for that spot.

Young Sagers also is state youth president and his father is adult president of Idaho High School Rodeo. Mrs. Sagers is state secretary.

Members of the Sagers family have won many rodeo championships and competition begins at an early age. Lisa Sagers, 14, is too young to enter high school rodeo events so she competes with adults on the Rodeo Cowboys Association circuit. Last year she placed in barrel racing at the Gooding County Rodeo.

Joe has been in the nationals for the past three years, placing in the nationals held in Fargo, N.D., last year.

The high school state barrel racing championship went to his sister Janie, 19, two years ago. She attended the nationals every year and also took the district barrel racing championship all four high school years. Sandi Sagers, 23, who also participated in rodeo competition, was Gooding County's youngest rodeo queen when she was 16.

Making the footsteps for the Sagers children is the father who is 48 and still rodeoing. He has been a member of the professional RCA for almost 25 years and has won calf roping events in the Evanston and Pendleton rodeos.

Living with a rodeo family can sometimes be difficult, admits Mrs. Sagers, who has opened her refrigerator or oven door many times and found pigging strings being treated because they were either too stiff or too loose. In addition rodeoing means traveling and lots of hard work. Rodeo events take the Sagers family to all the neighboring states.

The children, who train their own horses, practice about two hours every day after school, half days on Saturday, and all day during the summer.

This kind of rigorous training will be necessary in order to compete with the 538 high school rodeo buffs in Idaho this year, of which only 20 will be eligible to compete in the nationals to be held in Piler Aug. 3-8.

Gooding County has been represented at the nationals every year since 1957 when Idaho first joined the High School Rodeo Association.

Ineligibility rulings to coast powers turn NCAA into open chase

SEATTLE (UPI)—With West Coast Powers UCLA, Oregon and California hit by ineligibility rulings, the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Track and Field Championships which start Thursday look like a wide open chase.

Expos' Stoneman blanks Padres 2-0

MONTREAL (UPI) — Bill Stoneman allowed one hit — a single by Clarence Gaston with one out in the seventh inning — and struck out 14 batters Wednesday night to hurl the Montreal Expos to a 2-0 triumph over the San Diego Padres.

Stoneman picked up his ninth win of the year against four losses as he issued only one walk. The only player except Gaston to reach first base off Stoneman, who pitched a no-hitter two years ago against the Philadelphia Phillies, was Lerone Lee who was safe when Clyde Mashore dropped his fly in the second inning.

Reds 1, Cards 0

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Don Gullett yield just four hits Wednesday and was backed by Lee May's run-producing single in the first inning as the Cincinnati Reds posted a 1-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Mets 7, L.A. 2

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mike Jorgensen, batting in his first game since being recalled from the minors, belted a pair of home runs Wednesday to pace the New York Mets to a 7-2 victory over Los Angeles which snapped the Dodgers' five-game winning streak.

Phil 6, Giants 3

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Alan Gallagher's throwing error opened the door for four unearned runs in the second inning Wednesday night and the Philadelphia Phillies took advantage to coast to a 6-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

UCLA, the Pacific-8 Conference champion, was the favorite to take the NCAA crown in a close fight but with star long jumper James McAlister (26-6 1-2) declared ineligible on a scholastic technicality, the Bruins suddenly aren't so formidable.

The same goes for the University of Oregon Ducks, who along with Kansas and Brigham Young were declared the 1970 NCAA champs after the University of California, which won the title on the field, was set back, also on a scholastic technicality.

Knut Kvalheim, a miler from Finland who has a best this year of four minutes flat, was being counted on by Oregon coach Bill Bowerman to pick up some big points but Kvalheim was knocked out by the NCAA because of ruling involving foreign exchange students.

California got the bad news from the NCAA on sophomore sprinter Isaac Curtis, the man who cost the Bears the title last year, and for the same reason — scholastic ineligibility.

With Curtis unable to compete in the sprints, California coach Dave Maggard also scratched the team's 440 relay team, which reduces the Bears' chances to zero.

Pirates 6, Astros 4

HOUSTON (UPI) — Roberto Clemente's two-run homer in the seventh inning broke a 4-4 tie and gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 6-4 triumph over the Houston Astros Wednesday night.

Braves 6, Cubs 5

CHICAGO (UPI)—Hank Aaron batted in three runs with a double and a single Wednesday to lead the Atlanta Braves to a 6-5 win over the Chicago Cubs, breaking Ken Holtzman's four-game winning streak.

Fish movement

PORTLAND (UPI)—The Columbia River system fish-count for June 15: Bonneville — Chinook 1,117; steelhead 143; shad 115; blueback 63.

The Dalles — Chinook 917; steelhead 28; shad 89; blueback 17. McNary — Chinook 653; steelhead 1. Ice Harbor — Chinook 527; steelhead 9.

That action is pretty well outlined in the NCAA regulations. They call for the institution to vacate its standing in the national college basketball championships and also provides that the institution shall return any award to the NCAA.

After signing with Pittsburgh, Porter got a better offer from the Chicago Bulls and signed with the rival club.

The ineligibility rulings were greeted with joy by the University of Southern California, Texas-El Paso, Brigham Young and Villanova, schools which didn't figure as favorites before but certainly are in the running now for the title.

The collegiate championships start off with the first five events of the decathlon on Thursday and a flock of trials and qualifying rounds. There are finals in the hammer, long jump, shot put, 120 hurdles and six mile run as well as the windup of the decathlon on Friday's show. The three-day event winds up on Saturday with 14 finals.

Site of the championships is the University of Washington's Husky Stadium, which has a seating capacity of 55,000. The weather outlook is for possible showers Thursday but the stadium is equipped with an all-weather synthetic running strip.

UCLA to fight for grid star

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Somewhere to be James McAlister, a sensational running back for the UCLA Bruins freshman football team and a potential Olympic candidate in the long jump, has been ruled ineligible in both sports by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, UCLA said Wednesday.

The ruling came on a technicality based on the date which he took his National Scholastic Test. Under the rules, an athlete must be able to show in the test, that he will be able to attain a grade point average of at least 1.6.

Lawmakers guilty of conspiracy

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—A Federal Court jury, deliberating for four hours, found two Erie County legislators guilty of conspiracy and innocent of bribery charges Wednesday.

Fish movement

PORTLAND (UPI)—The Columbia River system fish-count for June 15: Bonneville — Chinook 1,117; steelhead 143; shad 115; blueback 63.

No doubt now—cage star signed

NEW YORK (UPI)—Villanova All-America Howard Porter signed a $350,000 contract with the American Basketball Association on Dec. 16, 1970 early in the Wildcats' 26-7 season, it was revealed Wednesday in Federal District Court.

Porter signed and had his contract initiated by ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph on Dec. 16, and the contract was later assigned by the ABA to the Pittsburgh Condors.

A National Collegiate Athletic Association spokesman said in Kansas City Wednesday, "That information has not been substantiated as far as we're concerned. If it is substantiated at a later date, we will take immediate and appropriate action."

That action is pretty well outlined in the NCAA regulations. They call for the institution to vacate its standing in the national college basketball championships and also provides that the institution shall return any award to the NCAA.

After signing with Pittsburgh, Porter got a better offer from the Chicago Bulls and signed with the rival club.

Idaho's anadromous fish face crisis situation

A crisis situation exists for Idaho salmon and steelhead runs because of the recent nitrogen problems caused by dams on the lower Snake and Columbia Rivers.

Jerry Mallet, anadromous fish supervisor, and Don Corley, regional fishery biologist, explained the problems and possible fishing season restriction at public meetings in Challis and Salmon. It appears there are feasible solutions to the excessive nitrogen gas caused by spilling at dams, but they will take several years to implement and test their effectiveness.

The runs will be watched closely and returning salmon examined at Rapid River Hatchery and Lewiston Dam to see what percentage have symptoms of nitrogen gas poisoning. Last year it was estimated about 50 percent of the salmon died before spawning even though they reached Idaho. Counts of spawning areas showed a 23 percent reduction last year after a good run arrived and the sport catch in the state was low with about 5,700 fish taken.

It is believed the delayed deaths were caused by passing through high nitrogen areas in the lower river. If studies show a large number of our returning salmon exhibit signs of nitrogen gas poisoning, further restrictions may be placed on salmon fishing in Idaho.

Idaho has also lost about 80 percent of the small steelhead and salmon migrating to the ocean in 1970 and '71. Therefore, reduced runs can be expected in the next two years.

Mallet and Corley indicated the Fish and Game Commission may shorten the Salmon River spring chinook season if the runs over the dams do not improve. They presented to the groups a proposal to reduce next year's salmon bag limit to one fish per day, two per seven day possession period, and ten for the season. A comparable reduction in the steelhead season was also discussed. Bag limits were suggested of one steelhead per day, two during the seven day possession period, and ten for the season. Many of the people at the Challis meeting indicated they would much prefer to see the bag limit restrictions on salmon begin this year but leave the season length the same as originally planned, which was July 31.

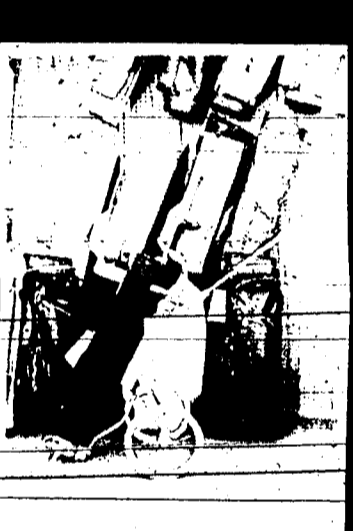

The nitrogen problem is being attacked from several angles.

Idaho anglers are going to have to tighten their belts during the next few years to do their part in maintaining these runs. Idaho will also ask Washington and Oregon to make similar cutbacks in their commercial and sport fishing regulations since they are dependant on Idaho's spawning areas.

These include trapping downstream migrants at Little Goose and trucking them to the ocean around the dams. Idaho is stepping up its hatchery channel and hatchery production program of salmon and steelhead during this critical period. Finally, the most promising solution is the installation of slotted-gates in the open turbine holes to allow the water to pass the dams without going over the spillways; thus reducing the nitrogen problem. Three of these gates have been installed at Little Goose and appear to be successful. It will take about $9 million to install them at all the lower river dams and the Idaho Congressional delegation has asked for an emergency appropriation from Congress to complete their installation by next spring.

presented by the two leagues to Congress for approval. Zelmo Beatty, president of the ABA Players' Association, said the plan calls for the 11 ABA teams to join the 17 NBA franchises, and he stressed that without a merger it might be impossible for some of the ABA teams to continue.

"The minimum salaries, per diem and pension benefits we have achieved in the ABA are not presently comparable to those achieved by the players in the older league and would not be attained as quickly without the stability of merger," said Beatty, who jumped from the NBA to play with the Utah Stars of the ABA.

"The ABA has nearly doubled the number of playing jobs in pro basketball, but without merger some teams, I believe, would find it difficult to continue operations, thus quite a few of these opportunities for players to play professional basketball would be eliminated."

Larry Fleisher, attorney for the NBA Players' Association, called the ABA players' decision "insanity or perhaps selfishness on the part of some individuals." He said the NBA players will continue to fight the merger in court.

"I think from the ABA players' point of view that merger is also unattractive," Fleisher said. "I'm surprised by some of the players who said they favored a merger, which would allow the employers to get together and take away their employees' right to negotiate for a salary. Some of the players who are saying they favor merger have benefited the most from having two leagues."

Three other ABA players, Charlie Scott of Carolina, Steve Jones of Texas and Larry Jones of the Floridians, also attended the news conference to voice support for the merger.

USC nips Tulsa to gain finals in NCAA tourney

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—Mark Sogge pitched and batted Southern California past Tulsa, 3-2, Wednesday night to advance the Trojans into the championship game of the college world series against Southern Illinois Thursday night.

Port had reached second base when Tulsa shortstop Phil Honeycutt fielded Port's grounder and fired wildly past first base. In addition to knocking in the winning run Sogge started a wild double play in the eighth inning when Tulsa loaded the bases with one out. Sogge made a smooth move to pick off the runner at third, Roger Adams, and by the time the play was over both Adams and Honeycutt, who had been on second, were tagged out. The victory for Sogge was his 14th in 15 decisions. Tulsa opened scoring in the fifth when Steve Bowling singled and went to third on another one-bagger by John Klahr. Sogge then wild-pitched home. The Trojans went ahead in the bottom of the fifth when Fred Lynn singled with the bases loaded to drive in two runs. Cliff Butcher pitched the distance for Tulsa and lost his sixth decision against 10 victories. Southern California, ranked first in the nation coming into the series, has won 52 and lost 13, and is 4-1 in the series. Tulsa, rated fourth, wound up with a 35-12 mark for the year and a 3-2 series record.

Sox 4, Angels 1

ANAHEIM (UPI)—Pitcher Jim Lonborg singled in a key run in the second and Carl Yastrzemski hit a two-run homer in the ninth Wednesday night, for a 4-1 Boston Red Sox victory over the California Angels.

Losing pitcher Clyde Wright hurled a one-hitter for eight innings but left the game trailing 2-1 as a result of Lonborg's hit. Yastrzemski homered off reliever Dave LaRoche with John Kennedy aboard on a single.

Wright retired the Red Sox in order in every inning but the second and finally was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth to make his record 7-5. Both of the Red Sox runs off him were unearned as the result of an error and passed ball.

Lonborg struggled all the way to score his second win against three losses since his recall from Louisville. He gave up nine hits and allowed six walks but held the floundering Angels to one run.

Yastrzemski led off the Boston second with a walk, advanced when Jim Fregosi fumbled George Scott's grounder for an error and reached third when Billy Conigliaro forced Scott. He scored on a passed ball. After Duane Josephson was walked intentionally, Lonborg singled in Conigliaro.

Lonborg pitched to 10 batters in 7 1/3 innings, allowing three runs, two earned, and one walk. He struck out five.

C. Boyer signed by Islanders

HONOLULU (UPI)—Clete Boyer, who asked for and received his outright release from the Atlanta Braves earlier this month, Wednesday signed with the Hawaii Islanders of the AAA Pacific Coast League.

The 34-year-old veteran of 15 major league seasons came to terms with Islander general manager Jack Quinn and was in the lineup of Wednesday night's game against the Portland Beavers.

Boyer, one of the best glove men in the majors, left the Braves after a feud with Vice President Paul Richards. Within days after he was released, Boyer was fined $1,000 by baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn on charges of betting on college football games during 1968 and 1969.

City meet unbeaten down to 4

The Alley, Turf Club, Coors-First Federal and Royal Lounge battled into the quarterfinals of the city slowpitch tournament Wednesday night while Independent Meat and Curl Manufacturing went to the sidelines.

The Alley, getting solid hitting from McClure, Rowend, Mildon and Cohn, bested Sellers Electric 2-5 while Turf Club, behind Paul Epperson and Chad Browning, toppled Varsity Barbershop 14-8.

Mark Brown, Tim Bassett, Kirk Williams and Gary Quensell all had big hitting nights as Coors-First Federal dropped Lynwood Standard 13-5 and Royal Lounge defeated Del's Distributing 12-8.

In the loser bracket, Capps' homer helped Lucky Lager rip Curl Manufacturing 24-9 and Depot Grill zipped past Independent Meat 13-4.

Thursday night, Alley, with skipper Fred Plankey promising an interesting game, will meet Turf Club and Lucky Lager meets Depot Grill at 6:45 p.m. At 8 p.m. Coors-First Federal plays Royal Lounge and Sellers' Electric meets Varsity Barbershop. The nightcaps sent Master Sheet Metal against Oly-Ford and Lynwood Standard against Blitz Beer.

Yanks 3, Royals 2

000 1/2 Finds Defense Leak

Table with bridge hand details: NORTH 17, WEST 642, EAST 53, SOUTH (D) AQJ107, etc.

000 1/2 drew trumps with three leads and led a heart to dummy's eight. East won with the 10 and played a club. Later, dummy's ace of hearts picked up West's king and I finessed against East's jack to make my contract.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

"Too many contracts are being taken from us," roared the Secretary of Defense. "Agent 000 1/2, disguise yourself as a bridge player and see what is wrong."

Within two days 000 1/2 had infiltrated the bridge club where the contracts had been reported missing. The following day he was arrested and charged with stealing a vulnerable contract.

He was brought before the Secretary. "Sit down, 000 1/2," the secretary said as he reached for a cigar, "and give me a full report."

East overtook the king of diamonds with the ace and returned the suit. Colonel West won and continued I

EXACTLY. 34 out of every 100 infants would grow up to be left-handed, if their parents and teachers would leave them at liberty to do so. Such is the claim of a medical fellow who says he has devoted 30 years to a study of the matter. Maybe, don't know. He insists every baby is ambidextrous until 1 years old.

JUST ABOUT $39,000 a minute, that's the financing cost, the interest, on the U.S. Federal debt. Every minute! Good night nurse! AM ASKED IF unemployment is as high in, say, Great Britain now as it is around these parts. Higher. Not since 31 years ago have so many men been out of work there.

YOU'VE HEARD of housemaid's knees and secretary's spread, but have you heard of stenographer's wrist? That's a swelling, a stiffness, an inflammation that crops up sometimes in the wrists of girls, who type overmuch. Those who come down with stenographer's wrist should be paid merit bonuses to cover medical expenses. Such is the claim of some Women's Liberation advocates who merely want it mentioned. They do not intend to march on Washington.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: Q "When are you going to outgrow the use of that insipid slang you affect? I mean phrases like 'how come' and 'pritner' and 'way back when' and 'over yonder'?" A. If you are referring to the remains of some almost imperceptible western vernacular, you scissorbill, forget it. I'm making the most of what's left of it like a bald man combs his hair. . . . Q. "What's the largest number of cars ever involved in a chain collision?" A. Believe it was that California pileup wherein 234 cars dominoed.

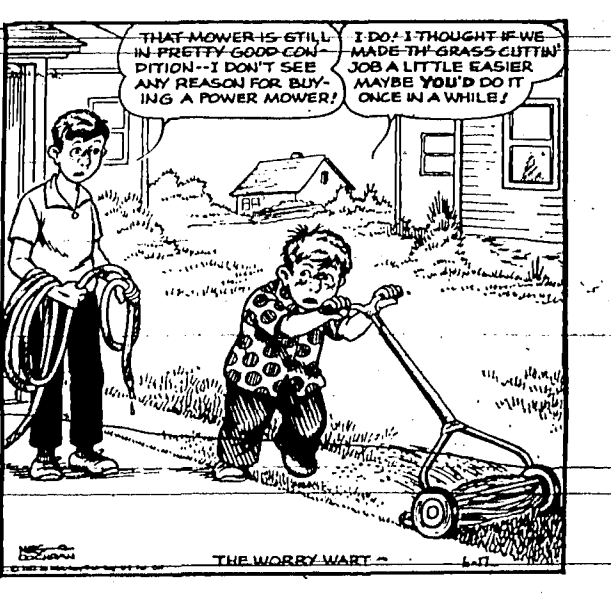

IT'S THE CONTENTION of our Planet man that most Capricorn lads would make good rodeo riders, if properly trained. The Capricorn, he says, is noted for a readiness to try again. In sports, in business, in love. . . . WERE YOU AWARE the pizza now sells better than the hamburger hereabouts -- and the taco better than the hotdog? Hard to believe. But one surveytaker maintains that. By hereabouts, I mean all over the country.

YOUNG FELLOW, IF your boss were to tell you tomorrow your work is unsatisfactory so you must consider yourself on 60 days' probation, how would you react? Scared? Or mad? Or one of the other -- either anxiety or anger -- is inevitable. Or so say the medecinos who study such. They say further your reaction indicates what ailment you may eventually come down with. If scared, you're apt to be a candidate for a heart attack. But if mad, you're more likely to develop a peptic ulcer. More good news coming up. Stand by.

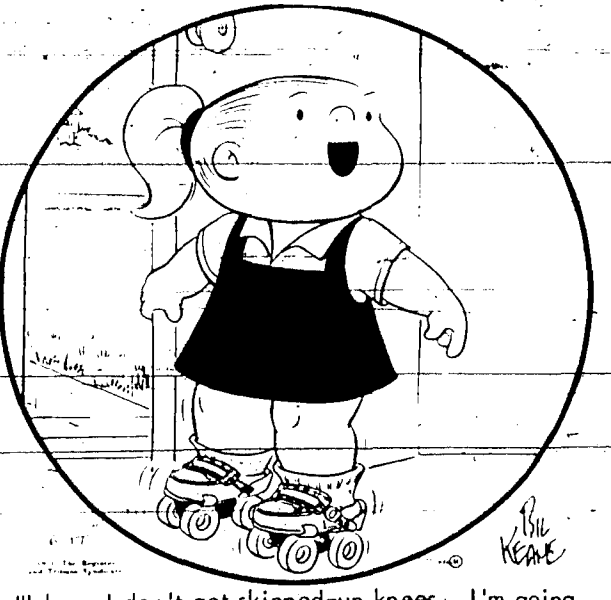

RAPID REPLY: Quite right, madam, any good surgeon will tell you it takes more anesthetic to put to sleep a person who smokes than a nonsmoker.

Your questions and comments are welcomed and will be used in PASS IT ON wherever possible. Please address your letters to L.M. Boyd, P.O. Box 17076, Fort Worth, Texas 76102.
