Nixon gives Congress secret war documents

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon today sent to Congress the secret Pentagon report on the Vietnam War.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon informed Senate Democrat leader Mike Mansfield of his decision at a breakfast meeting.

Ziegler said Nixon decided to take the step because partial publication of the 7,000 pages of documents would necessarily lead Congress to make judgment "on the basis of incomplete data which he felt could give a distorted impression of the report's content."

The 47 volumes were taken to the Senate by messenger and turned over to the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The papers arrived at 11 a.m. EDT.

Ziegler said Nixon told Mansfield he could not vouch for the accuracy or completeness of the documents since they related primarily to events in the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

Nixon also told Mansfield the documents would retain their top secret classification pending completion of a declassification review the President already has ordered, Ziegler said.

Chairman backs Lockheed

Lockheed support 'likely'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Confident he carries a majority of his 17-member Senate Banking Committee, Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., says the remaining question may be how—rather than whether—the government can assist the financially strapped Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

Sparkman favors a broad, general bill creating machinery for government loan guarantees for many corporations who face collapse because they are unable to raise cash.

The Nixon Administration first wants a bill geared specifically to Lockheed.

The committee will begin a series of closed meetings in about one week to decide whether the government will come to the aid of the nearly bankrupt aircraft giant.

Senate pushes pullout

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate told President Nixon Tuesday it wants a swift U.S. exit from Indochina, regardless of what happens to South Vietnam's government.

The President in response said that his policy—which includes giving the Saigon government a fighting chance to survive—is unchanged, and anyway he does not regard the Senate's action as binding.

On a roll call of 57-42, Senators called for total and prompt withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam with only one condition: the release of all U.S. prisoners of war held by the Communists.

But Nixon's other condition for getting out—that South Vietnam be left with a chance to survive—was pointedly left out of the Senate's first official policy declaration on Vietnam since the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution.

The measure, sponsored by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, was approved as an amendment to the draft extension bill. It "urges and requests" the President—with no penalty if he does not—to negotiate release of the war prisoners and to withdraw no later than nine months after the measure is signed.

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald Ziegler, said "this is not binding legislation and the full legislative process is not concluded." He called it "the view of what 57 Senators think our view should be... it is not the view of Congress as a whole."

"The President will of course continue the policy he has set forth—that is the policy of withdrawal of forces from Vietnam and our efforts to get the other side to enter into serious negotiations with us," Ziegler said.

If the House approves the proposal and Nixon signs it, the out-in-nine-months declaration would become official national policy, difficult for the President to sidestep.

Should the House refuse to incorporate the measure into the final version of the Selective Service Act, it would face a certain Senate filibuster that could cut off the manpower for the Vietnam war.

Britain permitted into Common Mart

LUXEMBOURG (UPI)—Britain and the European Common Market—after 10 years of talking and two French vetoes—agreed today on terms for British entry into the booming continental trading bloc.

With a pre-dawn champagne toast British negotiator Geoffrey Rippon and the foreign ministers of the six Common Market nations—France, Italy, Belgium, West Germany, Holland and Luxembourg—celebrated their success in clearing the major obstacles to Britain's plan to enter the European Economic Community Jan. 1, 1973.

The agreement came at 4:30 a.m. after a 14-hour negotiating session in the gleaming Kirch Erg European Center overlooking the capital of the smallest common market member—Luxembourg.

"We have done it," Rippon said as he came down from the first-floor conference room. "It is an historic day for Europe." French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann, whose government under President Charles de Gaulle twice vetoed British entry in 1963 and 1967, beamed as he announced the terms of the agreements.

The final package deal agreed to between Britain and the six included New Zealand butter and cheese, financing the Market's agricultural fund, a fisheries policy, interim arrangements for consultation between now and 1973 and hill farming regulations.

"There are a number of problems still to be solved but they can be solved," Rippon said. "There is no doubt of the successful outcome of the negotiations."

Decisions on the specific issues included:

New Zealand dairy products—The Common Market agreed to allow New Zealand's exports of butter and cheese to remain as high as 71 per cent of their current levels five years after Britain attains membership.

Agricultural fund—in return for the concessions for New Zealand, Britain agreed to pay nearly three times its original offer for the Common Market's agricultural fund. It will pay 8.5 per cent of the fund the first year after joining—$297.5 million—to help keep Europe's inefficient farmers solvent. It originally had offered 3 per cent.

"There are a number of problems still to be solved but they can be solved," Rippon said. "There is no doubt of the successful outcome of the negotiations."

Burley child drowns

By GEORGIA LAYTON Times-News Writer

BURLEY — A 17-month-old boy drowned Tuesday evening at his farm home after a car parked on a dirt road rolled down an embankment and pushed him into a pond of waste water.

Mark Jarolimiek, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Jarolimiek, Burley, was playing in the water at the edge of the pond, according to family members, when the car, owned by Mrs. Gary L. Waters, rolled down the 33-foot embankment into the pond which is in the bottom of a steep gully.

The car struck the boy in the back and then dragged him into the pond underneath the front of the vehicle, according to State Patrolman Gordon Mills, who answered the accident call at 8:40 p.m.

All other county officers were at the Oakley reservoir searching for the persons drowned there Sunday in a boating accident.

The officer said Mrs. Waters had driven to the pond while the victim's mother, Karen Jarolimiek, 23, and her sister-in-law, Peggy Jarolimiek, came to the site on a motorcycle.

Passengers in the Waters' car were Kent Waters, 20 months; Mark Jarolimiek, the victim, and Sharla Rutledge.

Mrs. Waters told Patrolman Mills she parked the car on the dirt road above the pond, took the keys out and left her son, Kent, in the car to play. He was pulled out of the car after it went into the pond by one of the women.

The car traveled out into the pond about 30 feet and was half submerged when it came to a stop. Rocky Duncan, 17, a neighbor, used his father's tractor to pull the car out of the pond.

When the car was pulled onto the shore the victim rolled out from underneath the front part of the auto. He was taken to Cassia Memorial Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Payne Mortuary.

Hunt cause

HOME-MADE BOMB shattered this security police vehicle on campus of California State College, Los Angeles, Wednesday. Police seek fragments of the bomb, which ripped the car apart. It burned after the blast. Two other bombings in less than two hours after the blast on the college campus wrecked another police car and damaged a high school. (UPI)

How U.S. was urged to aid anti-Diem coup

By Morton Kondracke

TEXT OF THE MEMO

New tale of Viet entrapment

JFK linked with fatal Diem coup

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Sun-Times, in today's editions, said "top secret State Department and Pentagon documents" show the late President John F. Kennedy and his advisers "were intimately involved in the maneuvering that led to the downfall of South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem."

The documents, the Sun-Times said in a copyrighted story, included State Department memos declassified in 1968 and documents included in the still top-secret Pentagon study of the war.

The Sun-Times printed the text of one State Department memo and a partial text of the other.

"The documents show," the Sun-Times story by Morton Kondracke and Thomas B. Ross said, "the Kennedy decided at a National Security Council meeting on Sept. 17, 1963, to put 'escalatory pressure' on Diem to get rid of his brother Ngo Dinh Nhu, chief of the secret police."

"The documents also recommended action against any Diem moves to counter his generals or negotiate with North Vietnam."

The text of a memo allegedly written Aug. 30, 1963, from Assistant Secretary of State Roger Hillsman to Secretary of State Dean Rusk accompanied the article.

The text, as printed in the Sun-Times, included Hillsman's assessment of 11 moves "which Diem and Nhu could take to maintain themselves in power and the United States responses thereto..."

To many of Diem's possible moves, the text said, the best United States response would be encouragement to the South

Vietnamese generals to hurry their coup. In advising on how to meet one such move, the text said, "this situation again shows the importance of speed on the part of both the U.S. and Vietnamese sides."

The coup was carried out Nov. 1, 1963. Diem was assassinated.

Papers muzzled on Viet expose

By United Press International Three newspapers were under orders today not to publish any more of a classified Pentagon report pending further court action, but a fourth paper, the Chicago Sun-Times, printed excerpts from another secret source, a State Department report on Vietnam.

The government, in appealing rulings which gave The New York Times and Washington Post permission to publish the Pentagon report, offered a compromise Tuesday to set up a task force to study declassification of documents. The Post rejected the idea. The Times did not comment.

The Boston Globe, which published its first story on the report in Tuesday's editions, was ordered temporarily to stop further publication and to turn over all documents to the court. The Globe said it would comply with the first order and would decide today on the second.

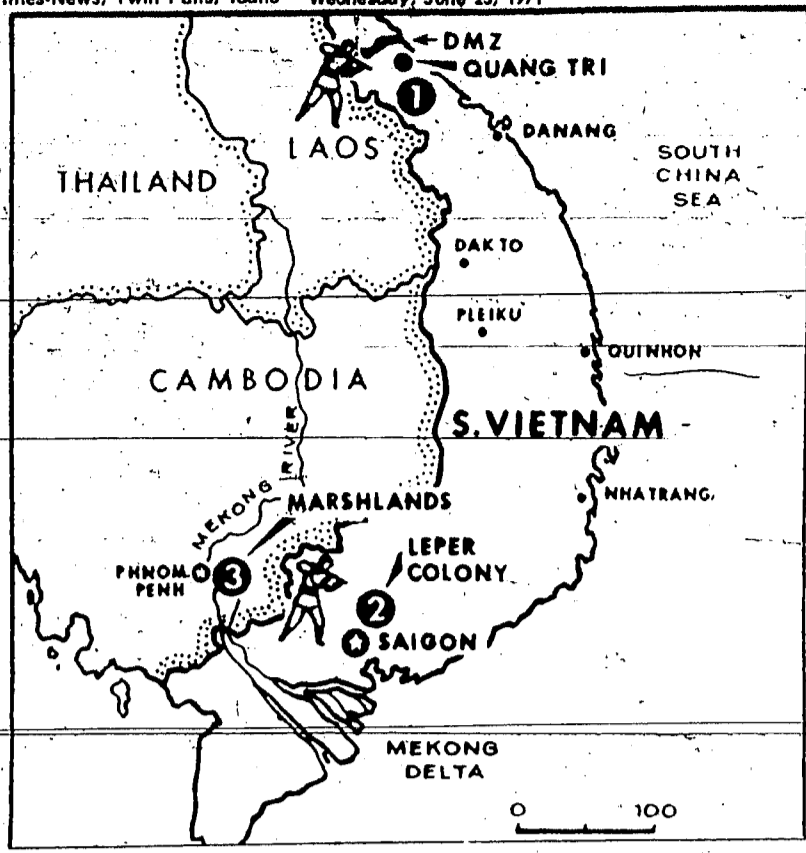

and Times cases under advisement and said they would rule shortly. Any ruling is expected to be appealed immediately to the Supreme Court, which is scheduled to end its current session next Monday. Temporary restraining orders against further publication remain in effect on the Times and Post.

A hearing on the Globe's case was scheduled for 10 a.m. (EDT) Friday in U.S. district court.

The Times published three articles, the Post two and the Globe one, all believed based on the same report—a 7,000-page Pentagon study of U.S. involvement in Indochina from the Truman through Johnson administrations.

Dayan rips canal stand

By United Press-International. Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan charged Tuesday that Egypt does not really want to reopen the Suez Canal but is simply trying to get the United States to pressure Israel to withdraw from captured Arab lands.

In a speech to a group of Jewish Agency leaders in Jerusalem, Dayan said "there is no alternative to holding these (captured) territories until a peace settlement is achieved."

The defense minister said that in its negotiations on the canal "Egypt has not been motivated, it seems, by a desire to open the canal, since she in any case receives compensation for losses incurred because of its closure from Saudi Arabia."

"Apparently the Egyptians' aims in agreeing to a partial settlement were to achieve Implementation of the Rogers' plan by means of American pressure on Israel and not the reopening of the Suez Canal."

The plan put forward by Secretary of State William P. Rogers envisages an Israeli withdrawal from occupied territory to boundaries similar to those that existed before the 1967 war.

Machines impress official

TWIN FALLS — Watching Automatic Voting Machine Co. manufacture those machines has convinced Twin Falls County Clerk Harold Lancaster use of voting machines is the most foolproof and accurate system available.

Lancaster and Russell Wilcock spent several days in Jamestown, New York, where the machines are manufactured. There they were coached in all methods of programming and maintaining the machines.

Lancaster said after the several days there he believes almost any type or combination of votes could be handled on the machines now on a lease purchase contract to Twin Falls County. He said should the 18-year-old vote on national office levels only be conducted in 1972 it can easily be handled by the machines with each 18-year-old voter entering the booth with other offices locked out.

Lancaster said all aspects of the machines were explained during the training course and he felt he and Wilcock are now more familiar with the full scope of the machines.

'Slanders' on Soviets assailed

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet news agency Tass reported today from Kishinev that nine Soviet Jews on trial there for plotting with "Israeli reactionaries" to spread anti-Soviet propaganda had used a common office copying machine to produce their "slanders."

The machine became Exhibit A in the Soviet prosecutors' effort to build a criminal case against the nine. Tass said the prosecution also had mentioned a 1970 hijack plot and secret aid from Israel.

Attack sites

ALLIED BASES at several places in South Vietnam were attacked by North Vietnamese Tuesday night and today. At Quang Tri (1), 600 tons of ammunition were touched off by Communist rockets. Terrorists also raided leper colony at Ben San (2), 18 miles northeast of Saigon, killing 3 persons and wounding 5 more. Government reports from Cambodia said 33 North Vietnamese troops were killed in clash in marshlands (3) northeast of Phnom Penh. (UPI)

Threat tales denied

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (UPI)—Three witnesses denied today they ever threatened a soldier or promised him immunity if he would testify against Capt. Ernest L. Medina, charged with 102 murders at My Lai.

The testimony came during the third day of a pre-trial hearing on a defense motion to dismiss charges against Medina on the ground that improper command influence was exerted in bringing him to trial.

LaCroix testified Monday that he had been threatened with murder charges for his alleged role at My Lai unless he agreed to testify against Medina.

Chinese greet American party

CANTON, China (UPI)—The first group of American scholars invited to visit China in 22 years arrived today in the southern city of Canton and was welcomed with "warmth and enthusiasm," one of the students said.

The 13 young Americans, mostly graduate students, arrived at 3 p.m. by train from Hong Kong and checked in at the Tung Fang (East Wind) Hotel.

The scholars, associated with the Committee of Concerned Asian Scholars, in Stanford, Calif., planned to spend one month in China.

"We were received with warmth and great enthusiasm," Kim Wodard, of Stanford University, said in a telephone interview.

"We have been resting in the hotel since we arrived, and we still do not have any definite itinerary. All of us feel very happy about this (visit)," he said. "At this time, we don't have much to say, since we have been here for only a few hours."

The committee was formed three years ago to influence the United States to exchange political, economic and cultural relations with China.

The admission of the 13 scholars into China was in line with Premier Chou En-lai's remarks last April to American table tennis players that more Americans would be visiting China "in batches."

Downtown project bid call expected soon

TWIN FALLS — Phase Two of the downtown improvement project in Twin Falls is expected to be ready for a call for bids soon, with a bid opening date in late July, City Manager Jean Millar said today.

He said final plans are near completion. Most of the utilities will be placed under ground in the second phase of the project and alleys and parking lots will be paved.

Millar said a meeting this past week with utility companies resulted in a final location of the only utility features to remain above ground. These will include major connection points such as transformers which will be surface mounted on special pads and properly enclosed.

Millar said utility company officials are now working with the final design. It will be completed within the next few weeks with a call for bids on the work then issued.

All phases of the work will be covered in one general contract, with the general contractor providing sub-contract work. This method is expected to save money for the city in the long run, he said, and will make only one bid call necessary.

Parking lots which resulted from demolition of sub-standard buildings during the first phase of the improvement project will be surfaced and wheel guards and meters installed to provide additional downtown parking space.

Lockers in the lifeguard's room had been broken open but loss had not been determined this morning. The burglary was discovered early this morning.

Another swimming area was also entered early Tuesday. Officers said Blake's Big T was broken into and the swimming pool area ransacked. Only one large wrench was reported missing.

Mrs. Larry Bull, 1711 Kimberly Road, told police three valuable hand made quilts and a portable sewing machine disappeared from a rear room of her home. She said the back door had been left unlocked for the convenience of apartment renters as the home includes apartments.

Drug Crisis

Some soldiers who have returned from Vietnam publicly scoff at official estimates of drug abuse and addiction among American troops in Southeast Asia.

Some of the big labor bosses consider themselves above the law. One such is W. A. "Tony" Boyle, President of the United Mine Workers.

district instead of holding free elections by the members led to a suit by the Labor Department in 1964 to stop the practice. The case has yet to come to trial.

WASHINGTON — The dangerous deadlock between two Democrats — Sen. Walter (Fritz) Mondale of Minnesota, a crusader for integration, and Rep. Roman Pucinski of Chicago, who advocates a moderate approach — over President Nixon's $1.5 billion emergency school-integration fund has now prevented Congressional action in time for the new school term.

LET'S SEE, NOW HAVE WE FORGOTTEN ANYTHING?

billions have failed. Richardson is also pressing for a summit meeting between Mondale, Pucinski, and the senior Republicans on the two education subcommittees: Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York and Rep. Alphonzo Bell of California. But even if a summit is arranged, the split between the Mondale bill passed by the Senate April 26 (and endorsed by Richardson) and the version that Pucinski is working on is so deep that they cannot be wedded.

segregation is now sweeping the South, as white children enter private academies. Instead of pushing for more integration, Pucinski's plan is to use the $1.5 billion as an incentive to keep desegregation at least at present levels.

Blood Test?

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any risk or hazard from the effects of sphygmomanometer (blood pressure testing apparatus)? That is, can it possible cause a rupture in the heart area, ballooning of an artery, etc.?

the pressure has fallen to its minimum level, and this gives us the diastolic pressure reading. The momentary compression, shutting off flow of blood in arm or leg, is not sufficient to disturb the pressure in the heart or the rest of the arterial system.

It's Distasteful

WASHINGTON — If J. Edgar Hoover knows what's going on in this town, and he usually does, he must find it ironically distasteful that some of his friends are saying things privately and publicly that undermine his position as chief of the FBI.

by law may not be passed on to unauthorized persons. If, as Rooney told his NBC interrogator, he considers this "proper," he needs a crash course in civics. Meanwhile, Richard Nixon's position vis a vis J. Edgar Hoover could become politically untenable as time passes.

Thus, even if Hoover were to retire tomorrow, the Democratically controlled Senate could make Nixon's job of appointing a successor a miserable one. As one Democratic leader — and Hoover critic — put it: "Hell, we could filibuster that appointment for two years, or forever." Then, with a sly grin, "After all, it's a very important appointment."

About Patriotism

What happened to patriotism? J.A. Cederquist, a Twin Falls businessman, is concerned enough about that question to ask it of all his friends. Not only that, but he is distributing a booklet on the question. It is written by Max Hafferty and illustrated by Carl Bobertz.

Billy Graham

After Billy Graham had preached to 325,300 Chicagoans in 11 days and 12,800 of them had about-faced to follow Christ, a Chicago newspaper referred to the evangelist as "an over-30 who raps with young people, a 20th-century phenomenon." He is that.

public figure stands untarnished, uncompromised. Billy has so ordered his private life that here and hereafter there may be no shadow over his name. "Freely confessing to 'human frailties,' 'mortal weaknesses,'" Billy — of all people — will insist that he must constantly fight the "temptation of laziness."

BERRY'S WORLD

Activities hint Nixon set to run

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon is stepping up his speech making and public appearances in what appears to be a warmup for his re-election campaign.

After months of a low profile, he is showing a new sense of enthusiasm and go-spirit, even though he has not said officially whether he will be a candidate. In a familiar style he rides in his open bullet-proof limousine with his arms outstretched and he is now more apt to stop his motorcade to plunge into waiting crowds.

The signs and placards on his arrivals and departures also seem a bit less hostile, contributing to a more relaxed Presidential manner.

A journey to the Midwest later this week will bring Nixon into contact with more voters in what he likes to call "America's Heartland."

The President flew back from his vacation stay in Florida Tuesday by way of Atlantic City, N.J., where he took time out to speak to the American Medical Association, delivering a tough broadside against federal-operated health plans such as that proposed by a possible future Democratic opponent, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Tuesday night at the White House, Nixon held a stag dinner for a group of potential Republican financial contributors, UPI learned.

Last Monday he made a surprise visit to Miami from his Key Biscayne Villa to tell the new president of the Teamsters Union, Frank Fitzsimmons "my door is always open." It was seen as another Nixon move to bolster his tenuous ties with labor leaders.

Primary balloting moves up

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI)—New Hampshire legislative leaders of both parties today worked on a plan to keep New Hampshire the first state with a Presidential primary by advancing the date one week.

But, despite Florida's decision to hold its primary on the same day next year, Gov. Walter Peterson is giving only lukewarm support to the legislative effort.

Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida signed a bill Tuesday that puts Florida and New Hampshire together on the 1972 Presidential primary calendar next March 14.

House Speaker Marshall W. Cobleigh said he is drawing up legislation to move the primary ahead one week to keep ahead of Florida, even though it means changing more than 150 statutes.

Peterson declined to support the battle to retain New Hampshire's primacy in the primary sweepstakes, but said he was "sorry we may have to share the spotlight with another state."

"I am confident that candidates will continue to come to New Hampshire just as they have in the past," Peterson said.

Mugs 'in' for coffee

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—For the sake of the environment, educators at Syracuse University have decided to use mugs instead of paper cups for their coffee breaks.

University College, the education branch of the university, said Tuesday it has banned use of disposable cups. The 50-man staff estimated it contributed 30,000 cups per year to local dumps. The new mugs were picked up from the Salvation Army.

Talks rejected

ADDIS ABABA (UPI)—The summit conference of African nations today rejected any dialogue with South Africa in a showdown vote on the issue forced by the Ivory Coast.

Conference officials said the roll-call vote was 28 nations against dialogue, six in favor and five abstentions.

Two of the 41 members of the Organization of African Unity (OAU) were absent from the conference.

Conference officials said summit meeting first adopted a declaration rejecting dialogue by acclamation, with seven countries—the Ivory Coast, Togo, Swaziland, Malawi, Mauritius, Madagascar and Lesotho—reserving their position and asking for the floor.

The officials said that when Ivory Coast Foreign Minister Arsene Assouan-Usher took the floor he insisted on a roll-call vote.

They said Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia appealed to Assouan-Usher to withdraw his request for the roll-call vote but the minister refused. Conference delegates then voted.

South African Prime Minister

Balthazar J. Vorster offered on March 30 to open discussions with Black African nations. On April 28, President Felix Houphouet-Boigny advocated such talks with the Pretoria government, a statement which set off continent-wide controversy, including attacks on him by the more militant African states such as Tanzania.

Feud rages

MANILA (UPI)—President Ferdinand E. Marcos sent Defense Secretary Juan Ponce Enrile and Constabulary Chief Eduardo Garcia to the southern Philippines today to try to cool the feud between Christians and Moslems in a province where more than 60 Moslems were massacred.

Enrile and Garcia flew to Cotabato province, 600 miles south of Manila, to investigate the killings and take remedial measures.

Provincial authorities first said 57 Moslems were killed by grenades and automatic weapons fired into a mosque last Saturday. Constabulary officials later revised the toll to 69 and said the dead included 29 women, 27 men and 13 children.

California's Yosemite National Park was established in 1890.

San Diego woos GOP

DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—An ad hoc committee has proposed that San Diego bid $1.4 million to bring the 1972 Republican convention to this city, reputed to be President Nixon's first choice as a site.

San Diego Mayor Frank Curran Tuesday said he would ask the city council to allocate up to $600,000 as the city's share of the bid. Another $400,000 has been pledged from other funds by Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., and the rest will be sought from the county, business community and state and local GOP leaders.

Adoptive parents win latest round

MIAMI (UPI)—Another decision was rendered in another courtroom in another state Tuesday in the long legal battle for the chubby tot known as "Baby Lenore." This time Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas DeMartino, her adoptive parents, were the winners.

A Florida judge denied a request by the 13-month-old child's natural mother, Olga Scarpetta, that the child be returned to her.

New York courts had ruled that Miss Scarpetta should have custody of Baby Lenore, but before the child could be taken from them the DeMartinos moved to Florida.

The legal struggle is not over. Miss Scarpetta, 33, said she will appeal the decision rendered by Miami Circuit Court Judge Ralph O. Cullen.

The DeMartinos wept with joy when Cullen's decision was announced. Miss Scarpetta, her black hair tied in a pony tail, sobbed and said nothing.

Six doctors testified for the DeMartinos, all saying a year-old child could not be taken away from the persons known as "mommy and daddy" and escape side effects later in life.

Miss Scarpetta, daughter of a wealthy Colombian businessman, testified the father of Baby Lenore was a married Colombian she met in New York. She gave the baby to an adoption agency in New York, but less than a month later she changed her mind and asked for the return of the infant.

She sued the agency and New York courts upheld her right to Baby Lenore, but the DeMartinos then moved to Florida.

REP. PAUL N. McCLOSKEY, R-Calif., checks office safe which he says contains secret government documents from Dr. Daniel Ellsberg on study of Vietnam War. McCloskey says documents show United States "was in it up to our eyeballs" in 1963 coup which assassinated President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Vietnam, and he will give it to House Freedom of Information Subcommittee. (UPI)

Senate resumes theft hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate hearings resume today into a suspected mob-controlled racket in stolen stocks, jewels and other valuables. Spokesmen for two of the hardest-hit industries are scheduled to testify.

Robert W. Haack, president of the New York Stock Exchange, was to be the first witness as the Senate investigations subcommittee began the third week of its public probe into such thefts, which have topped $400 million in the past two years.

Haack was to be followed by three representatives of the airline industry—James Landry, chief counsel of the Air Transport Association (ATA), Joseph Sullivan, director of the Air Security Council, and Harry J. Murphy, director of security for the ATA.

Later, Samuel Weiss, named last week by a contested man thief as an underworld "fence" for stolen securities, was expected to appear under subpoena. Weiss answered his subpoena a week ago but was granted a week's postponement so his lawyer could accompany him.

Earlier government witnesses, from Attorney General John N. Mitchell on down, testified that nearly all of the securities that have vanished in recent years were pilfered either from Wall Street financial firms or from unguarded mail sacks at airports.

Witness raises questions

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (UPI)—The top legal officer of the Third Army admitted from the witness stand Tuesday that it was "probable" the government could not prove that Capt. Ernest L. Medina ordered a massacre at My Lai.

The admission by Col. Wilson Freeman, judge advocate of Third Army, came during the second day of hearings on a defense motion to throw out the case against Medina on grounds of improper command influence played a role in bringing the 34-year-old Montrose, Colo., officer to trial.

the air?" Bailey asked.

"It certainly appears to have been, sir," Freeman answered.

Bailey asked Freeman if his investigation showed that it was "probable the government could not establish with any credible evidence that Medina ordered a massacre."

"Yes sir," Freeman replied.

Bailey also asked him if he felt it would be harmful to the Army's image if it accused one of its own men of ordering a massacre.

Freeman replied, "it will not be helpful. It's damned if you do and damned if you don't."

Minimum wage rate hiked soon

BOISE (UPI)—Commissioner of Labor Bartlett R. Brown reminded Idahoans Tuesday the minimum wage rate in Idaho will be raised from $1.25 to $1.40 per hour on July 1.

The law approved by the legislature will also boost the minimum wage to $1.60 per hour as of July 1, 1972.

Brown said all workers not presently covered by the federal minimum wage law will be covered under the new state law and will be eligible for the hourly increase in pay.

However, he said, agricultural and domestic employees, outside salesmen, and minors under 16 years of age working at odd jobs or part-time jobs of four hours per day or less are exempt from the provisions of the law.

He said waitresses, bus boys, maids and others receiving tips will not be required under the new law to consider tips and gratuities as part of their wages.

Brown said it was hoped the minimum wage hike would allow Idahoans to meet the rising economic costs of raising families, which he said had increased 17 per cent since October of 1967.

Filipino Moslems slain

MANILA (UPI)—Provincial authorities said Tuesday 57 Filipino Moslems were slain in a mosque on Mindanao Island where they had gone for a peace conference with Christians with whom they had been feuding.

The Philippine constabulary sent 350 government soldiers to the town of Carmen in Cotabato province, scene of the reported massacre, to prevent another bloodbath between Moslems and Christians. The province is in the southern Philippines, 600 miles southwest of Manila.

Col. Carlos Cajelo, Constabulary commander in the province, said by telephone that provincial Governor Dorteo Valencia had relayed the report of the massacre to him.

Cajelo said the Moslems, including some women and children, were in the mosque Saturday for a peace conference when 23 armed men began tossing hand grenades and firing automatic weapons.

Cajelo said the killings appeared to be the latest in a series of reprisal incidents between Moslems and Christians in Carmen, a logging and farming settlement. He said the violence started in mid-May when two Christian settlers were killed.

"If you go far back, the causes of this—all are land disputes between the two groups—the Moslems claiming they were unlawfully deprived of their ancestral lands and the Christians claiming they have legally obtained titles to the land," Cajelo said.

Medina is charged with murdering, or permitting his men to murder, 102 South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai on March 16, 1968. One of his junior officers, Lt. William L. Calley, stood court-martial on similar charges and was convicted of 22 slayings. Calley now has that verdict under appeal.

Another witness at Medina's pre-trial hearing Tuesday, Lt. Gen. Albert O. Connor, commander of the Third Army, denied he knew of, or took part in, any military conspiracy to bring Medina to trial. It was Connor who eventually ordered the court-martial.

Freeman came under intense questioning from Medina's civilian attorney, F. Lee Bailey, who demanded to know whether public opinion had any bearing on bringing Medina to trial.

"That's a hard one to answer. It shouldn't," Freeman said.

"Did it in this case? Did you feel trial was inevitable because of public opinion to clear

Worry over secret

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Both President Nixon and his chief foreign policy adviser, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, were said to be deeply concerned about publication of the secret Pentagon study on U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Their concern stems not so much from the substance of the documents as from the implications of a security leak of the sensitive communications that circulate at the highest levels of government.

White House officials privately concede that the documents themselves do not furnish valuable information to the enemy, and of course, the Nixon administration has no interest in defending the record of the Johnson administration on Vietnam.

But the President was said to feel that he had to order the leaks investigated and halt publication if possible not only to fulfill his obligation to enforce the law but also to discourage any such future disclosures.

Publication by The New York Times and Washington Post of the assessments which shaped the American involvement in Vietnam during the Johnson years and of the documents which outlined in more detail than ever before the clandestine American involvement in Southeast Asia have damaged the Nixon administration to a certain extent.

They have had the effect of eroding the credibility of President Nixon's claims about Vietnam by confirming the suspicions of many that they were not told all they needed to know by President Johnson and feeding the suspicions that the same situation now exists.

But the President's chief concern was said to be that fear of publication would inhibit his key advisers from giving him candid assessments of sensitive situations.

It is a source of embarrassment to the government when its confidential communications with other governments are made public. The White House has emphasized this aspect, saying confidentiality is the basis of diplomatic communications and unauthorized disclosure of secret documents tend to hamper the President's ability to conduct foreign relations.

But the chief fear is that failure to move against the publication would encourage other dissident members of the government to make more such disclosures and tear down the system of confidential communication between the President and his advisers.

Tunney speaks

SENATOR John V. Tunney, D-Calif., criticized former President Lyndon Johnson for being less than candid with the people on the Vietnam War. He made the statement at a testimonial dinner in Chicago for Illinois Lt. Governor Paul Simon, left. (UPI)

Industrial noise said damaging to hearing

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — A Danish ear specialist has reported that he could not prove loud beat music damaging to the hearing, but that industrial noise is more likely to be.

Dr. Harald E. Ewertson of the state Hearing Institute made a report on five years of research involving 80,000 hard-of-hearing who came to the institute, six beat orchestras totalling 26 members aged 14-23, and 59 young beat fans. Neither among the musicians nor fans could he find evidence which proved that loud beat music caused damage, even though the music was often louder than the machine noise. He said that about 1,400 people a year came to the Institute, hard of hearing from noise in industry.

The reason that music does not cause more damage is that it changes rhythm within a single number and there are also short pauses which give the ears a little rest," Ewertson said.

"It is a fact that many youngsters feel a little deaf when they go home after several hours of beat music. That can be dangerous in traffic but after a night's sleep the hearing is fortunately normal again."

But in another article, on industrial noise, he called on authorities to check more often on the new employees at Denmark's 6,000 "noise work sites" with their 50,000 workers. He also attacked the authorities and employers for their mean interpretation of the laws of protection, insurance and compensation for workers.

Help for Lockheed seen after senate hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Banking Committee ended hearings into Lockheed's financial plight Tuesday with its chairman and an uncommitted member predicting approval of a bill to save the giant aircraft maker from bankruptcy.

Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., and Sen. Robert W. Packwood, R-Ore., said the committee might set aside the administration bill aimed specifically at rescuing Lockheed and vote instead for a measure applicable to many firms facing trouble.

Such a bill would create machinery like the Reconstruction Finance Corp. (RFC), created under Herbert Hoover's administration to keep cash-starved corporations in business during the Depression of the 1930s.

In contrast, the Nixon administration seeks a more limited bill under which the government would guarantee repayment from the U.S. Treasury of $250 million in bank loans to Lockheed should the firm go under.

Lockheed testified it cannot borrow the money without the government guarantee. The 24 banks which have loaned Lockheed $400 million for work on the TriStar jetliner have confirmed that they will not invest another dime in the project unless the Treasury underwrites the loan.

Sparkman said the committee would begin its closed deliberations on the bill in about a week. He said he hoped the Senate would act on the measure before it starts a month-long recess Aug. 8.

Packwood, in an interview, said he had not decided how to vote. But he predicted approval of some sort of bill, either an RFC-type measure or a bill to aid Lockheed alone.

He said most of the committee's seven Republicans would support the administration and at least a few of the eight Democrats would provide enough votes to send the bill to the Senate floor, where he predicted it would pass.

Lockheed is a major employer in Georgia and the TriStar is being built in California with a potential workforce of 25,000, plus many more working for subcontractors in 25 states.

Economy said worsening

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany said Tuesday that economic conditions continue to deteriorate despite rosy "blue bird" statements by the Nixon administration that things are improving.

Pointing to the nation's nine-year-high unemployment rate of 6.2 per cent and Monday's report that the cost of living in May took its biggest seasonal adjusted spurt upward in 15 months, Meany said:

"It's obvious that Nixon administration economic policies add up to a miserable failure. Yet the administration stubbornly refuses to see the light and take action to correct the situation.

"Every time an economic indicator report comes out, the administration sees something encouraging in it. They say the San Francisco (UPI) — California wine shipments reached an all-time high in the first three months of this year. The Wine Institute says economy is on the mend and that all will be okay," Meany told the convention of the Seafarers International Union.

"President Nixon said 1971 will be a good year and that 1972 will be better," Meany told some 200 seafarer delegates. "I don't know if he means better for himself or for the country."

nearly 57 million gallons were shipped during the first quarter, more than 19 per cent above the same period last year.

Barbara Ball, outgoing honored queen, was installing officer.

The new queen chose the "23rd Psalm" ceremony, narrated by Mrs. Leah Jones. Laura Brandon was soloist while the queen was being vested with her honors at the altar and Bekki Rosholt was Bible bearer.

Loser named

HANSEN — Mrs. Reed Lyons was best loser of the week, receiving a gift, at the Slim and Trim TOPS Club meeting Monday night at the home of Mrs. Thomas Steelsmith.

Only routine matters were discussed, with Mrs. Paul Bowman acting as chairman in the absence of the leader, Mrs. George Golay.

Mrs. Roy Dopson was program chairman and hostess. She had each member draw a picture of a fat lady with the paper placed above her head, unable to see what she was drawing. She then had each report on what had helped her to lose weight.

DEAR ABBY: Our next door neighbors still have their Christmas decorations up! It's not just a wreath or a Christmas tree. They have a huge Noel sign across the front of their house, and on the lawn there's a life-sized Santa Claus in a sleigh with a woodcut of reindeers.

The flowers have begun to bloom and the grass is green already, and this Santa in his sleigh makes the whole neighborhood look ridiculous. What should we do?

THE FOLKS NEXT DOOR

DEAR FOLKS: In the first place, your neighbors make only themselves look ridiculous, so don't do anything. Besides, it could be to your advantage. When giving directions on how to get to your home, just say, "It's the house next to the one with the Noel across the front and the Santa on the lawn. You can't miss it!"

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column where someone said if a girl in a small town proved to be "easy" for the guys, if she wanted to get married, she had better leave town because guys talk.

Well, girls talk about guys who take them out for only one thing, and if the guys don't have to leave town, why should the girls? JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: Because in spite of all the women's "libbing it up"—it's still a man's world.

DEAR ABBY: I have two very close girl friends. I'll call them "Blondie" and "Red." My problem is that these girls are not speaking to each other. It's not just a little spat that might blow over soon, they have been bitter enemies for a long time. I am going to be married soon and I want them both in my wedding party. I was maid of honor for both of them.

Blondie says if Red is in the wedding party, I can count HER out. On the other hand, Red says she doesn't care if Blondie is in the wedding party or not, but she'll ignore her if she is. Abby, I hate to leave either one of my friends out, so what should I do? IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Don't let Blondie force you to make a decision. Tell her that you want her in your wedding party, but you intend to invite whomever else you want, and if she chooses to accept or decline, the decision is HERS!

DEAR ABBY: It's a cinch that bachelor who would like to marry a woman with children doesn't live in Phoenix! I am a divorcee with three school-age children, a pretty good job and not quite enough support money, but I don't feel that my children need a live-in father, and I am not suffering for need of a husband.

Every time I meet a man and he finds out I have three children, he bolts for the nearest door. What an inflated ego he has to believe that I would want to marry HIM! I don't dislike men (on the contrary!), but the man who can sweet-talk me into trading my new-found freedom for another dunking in the cesspool of marriage will have to be some man! SINGLE BY CHOICE

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69709, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

THIS CAR OWNED by Mrs. Gary L. Waters rolled down a steep embankment Tuesday evening at the Robert Jarollmek farm, 600 west and 225 south of Burley, resulting in the drowning of Mark Jarollmek, 17 months, who was playing at the edge of the pond. He was pushed into the water by the car.

Workman's dismissal supported

By JERRY HERRMANN
Times-News Writer

RUPERT — The Rupert City Council upheld the discharge of city employe Robert Dewhirst after a discussion with Dewhirst and his supervisors during the council meeting Tuesday night.

The dispute over Dewhirst's discharge centered around his reportedly repeated late arrivals to work, according to his immediate superior, Bruno Leoni.

Dewhirst admitted that he came to work "an hour to an hour and a half late" on the morning of March 24, the day he was fired. He said Leoni told him to "go find another job" when he turned up late.

Leoni told the council that his employe had been late to work "about 12 times" during the two months preceding his discharge. He missed work on two separate occasions in the two months, but did not call in to advise his superiors of his absence, Leoni said of Dewhirst.

Dewhirst, in rebuttal, declared that he had been late to work only three times during the two months.

Ron Klebe, a supervisor in the city's sanitary department, told the council that Dewhirst was only a "marginal worker" at the end of his six-month probationary period, but he had been retained in a final attempt to prove himself.

The council voted unanimously to uphold Leoni's decision to discharge Dewhirst.

In other council business, Rupert Mayor Wendell Johnson was directed to investigate reported complaints from Charles Irwin against two city employes who were accused of harassing Irwin's wife.

Irwin told the council that the employes had been making "derogatory remarks" at his wife.

The dispute arose over a sale of furniture to the employes by Mr. and Mrs. Irwin.

In other business, the council: Declined a request to purchase advertising in a promotional pamphlet to be issued by the Snake River Flats Association;

Directed Councilman Chuck Dalry to draft a salary scale for employes in the electrical department in line with other area city departments;

Presented a certificate of appreciation to F. Gary Powell, waste-water supervisor and plant operator for the past five and one-half years, for services rendered to the city. Powell's resignation will become effective on Friday.

Heard a request from city attorney William Goodman to rezone all property annexed to the city since 1957, in line with an Idaho Supreme Court decision.

Boy killed

BOISE (UPI) — A 2-year-old Boise boy was killed Tuesday evening in his home when accidentally struck by a stone from a newly-built fire place, according to Ada County deputy coroner Chuck Palmer.

Palmer said Glenn Wright was playing on the fireplace when one of the stones on the face of it loosened as he clutched it, fell and struck him.

The child was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Wright.

High court denies writ

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Supreme Court has denied a writ of prohibition in the case of Karl R. Lewis against Gus Carr Anderson, Sixth Judicial District, Pocatello, in which Lewis, former Buhl Justice of the Peace, asked dismissal of criminal charges against him on a basis of double jeopardy.

Douglas Kramer, special prosecutor in the case, said the high court's ruling will mean Lewis must face criminal charges of misuse of public funds brought against him by Twin Falls County. The ruling, received today, Kramer said, will allow the trial to resume in Judge Anderson's court when the court calendar can accommodate it.

Attorneys May, May, Bennett and Sudweeks, Twin Falls, filed the writ on behalf of Lewis, asking dismissal because of double jeopardy arising from a decision by Judge Gilbert Norris, third district, to disqualify himself to hear the case against Lewis because of a newspaper story the day the trial opened in his court. The story carried an account of a suit filed by the defendant against one of the key witnesses for the prosecution in the case.

Attorneys for Lewis contended double jeopardy was constituted after the jury was impeached in third district court to hear the case which was then transferred to Judge Guss Carr Anderson's sixth district court for trial.

Lewis was charged with four counts of misuse of public funds in connection with his position as justice of the peace in Buhl in 1969.

The criminal complaint was filed against Lewis June 9, 1969 and a preliminary hearing was held June 16 and 17 in Twin Falls in which he was bound over to district court for trial.

He asked for a change of venue on a basis of adverse publicity given the case. The change of venue was granted and Judge Norris, Gem County, selected to hear the case.

Report presented

TWIN FALLS — Members of the National High School Rodeo executive committee heard a report from Mrs. Shirley Jennings, Ontario, Ore., executive director of the National High School Rodeo Foundation, when they met Tuesday in Twin Falls.

Mrs. Jennings was in Twin Falls for a brief visit to discuss the rodeo with board members and to visit the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds at Filer where she and fair secretary-manager Tom Shouse went over requirements of the rodeo, relative to quarters for a press bureau and an office.

It is planned to house all office type operations at the art building during the rodeo. This also will include registration desks required by the local committee.

Ewil Garrett and Joanne Chaffin of the housing committee; Warren Barry of the concession committee, and other committee heads gave reports. It was reported that billboards at the arena are selling well. James Sinclair and Otto Florence are in charge of selling advertising for the billboards and report a tremendous response.

It also was decided to set up a committee to handle the sale of commemorative coins.

Sun fells hiker

SUN VALLEY — A young Shipman flew into the area by helicopter after his office was notified by the Custer County sheriff's office.

The girl was flown out of the Boulder Creek area to the Sun Valley Hospital. Miss Griffin was one of a party of young hikers in the area at the time. Another member of the party biked out to call for help after she was stricken.

OAKLEY — The 130-foot-deep Lower Goose Creek Reservoir may hide the bodies of the six victims of Sunday's boating tragedy forever, unless they come to the surface by themselves.

Cassia County Sheriff Ray Mitchell admitted as much today when he said that the reservoir may be too deep for grappling efforts to recover the bodies.

Bodies of drowning victims usually bob to the surface about 72 hours after they enter the water, Mitchell said he was told by Cassia County Coroner Dr. Leslie Fillmore.

"I can't figure out why we can't locate them or the boat," Mitchell said. "However, if they are in the deepest part of the reservoir, as an eye-witness told us yesterday, I'm afraid we can't get down to them."

Mitchell said he was told on Tuesday that the reservoir is more than 130 feet deep in the "old channel," about an eighth of a mile from the tower by the dam where the search was concentrated.

The 50-foot-long grapples were extended to 100 feet on Tuesday in an attempt to reach deeper into the cold waters of the reservoir.

The bottom of the reservoir is heavily cluttered with waterlogged trees and other debris, including sagebrush and rocks, hindering grappling efforts, Mitchell said.

In reviewing the accident, Mitchell said one of the men in the Goodine party who didn't go out in the boat on the fatal last trip said the group went down by the dam the first trip, then came back to camp. On their second trip they headed up the Goose Creek branch of the reservoir.

If the eyewitness report on the location of the mishap is correct, Mitchell said, the bodies of the women and the dog had floated about three miles before they were located.

Major unanswered questions, in addition to the dilemma over the missing victims include:

— Why did the bodies of the two women float, while the other six victims apparently sank to the bottom of the reservoir?

— Why has no debris from the boat appeared? The wooden portion of the craft, even if smashed in an explosion, would float.

— Why has no oil slick appeared from the large motor of the power boat? One oil slick was reported in the upper reaches of the reservoir, but a diver said he believed that came from one of the searchers' boats.

— Why was the dog killed? A dog will swim when dumped into the water, unless he is injured or unconscious.

— Where is the dog's body? Mitchell said "no one seems to know" whether the Goodine family's pet was buried or held for further investigation.

— Where is the man's hat reported found floating on the surface of the reservoir? One of the searchers said earlier in the week he found a hat, but it has apparently been mislaid, according to the sheriff.

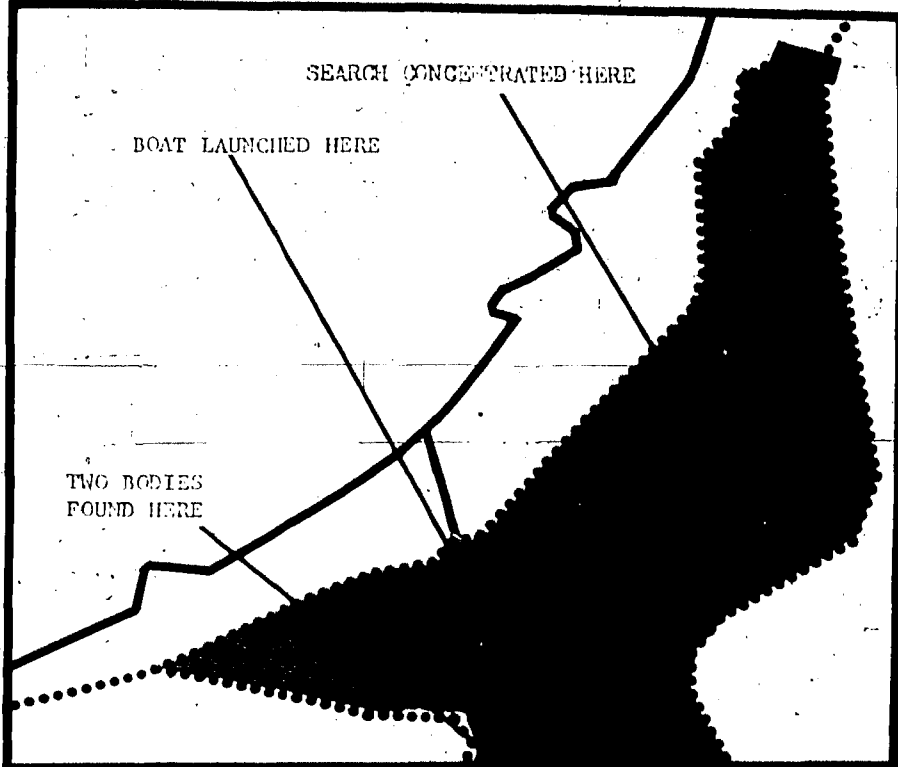

— What killed Mrs. Goodine and her daughter Tammy? The coroner, Dr. Leslie Fillmore, has decided against autopsies, but cannot say whether they drowned or died from other causes.

— What was the "object in the water" seen by Mrs. Griffith (Louise) Jones? She reported seeing the "object" with people swimming nearby while driving along the road near the reservoir Sunday afternoon.

— Were there any cries for help? Mrs. Jones and her husband both saw the people in the water but did not hear any indication they might have been in trouble.

— Finally, if the boat's motor exploded, as has been reported, why did no one hear the blast? A number of people were in the vicinity of the reservoir on Sunday, yet none reported hearing an explosion such as a 40-horsepower motor would have made.

Gasoline burns found on body

OAKLEY — Eight-year-old Tammy Goodine, victim of a boating tragedy which brought death to eight people on Lower Goose Creek Reservoir Sunday afternoon, had gasoline burns over most of her body, according to Cassia County Coroner Dr. Leslie Fillmore. However, Dr. Fillmore has ruled out foul play and will not perform autopsies on the bodies of Tammy and her mother, Mrs. Andy Goodine.

Dr. Fillmore, who has been unavailable for comment until Tuesday, said the two died "of injuries received during a boating accident." He would not say, however, whether the victims had drowned or died from other injuries.

Dr. Fillmore said in a brief statement on Monday that he believed the victims "had been thrown forward and struck something." He did not elaborate.

On Tuesday, Dr. Fillmore said he had been "busy in surgery" when newsmen attempted to question him. He also admitted that he had refused to go to the reservoir when contacted by sheriff's officers on Sunday.

"I haven't been to the reservoir and don't plan to go up there as there is no need to," he told newsmen on Tuesday.

When asked if his normal policy was to refuse to go to the scene of an accident when requested by law enforcement personnel, he refused to comment, adding only that "I go if I think it is necessary. If not, I don't go."

Fires held

SHOSHONE — Two small fires were controlled by Bureau of Land Management crews, Wallace Fixen, district fire control officer reported today.

He said the first fire, reported about 5 p.m. Tuesday covered only four acres. It was reported one mile west of Bliss and was quickly controlled by one tanker crew and two-hand crews from Shoshone.

Jerome chamber elects

JEROME — Jerome Chamber of Commerce members Wednesday afternoon elected Mike Sullivan, manager of the Bank of Idaho, as chamber vice president, and William J. Bubak, manager of Motor Merc, as new director.

The two men replace Jerry Johnson, who held both posts and resigned when he was transferred to Hailey as a representative of Intermountain Gas Co.

Vincent Alberdi, Jerome, will replace Johnson in the Jerome office of the gas firm. He previously was employed by the North Side Canal Co.

Jim Keith, chamber president, said the Jerome Recreation Association, which is a committee of the chamber, has decided to give $300 for a saddle to be given at the National High School rodeo, Aug. 3-8, at Filer.

It is planned to have as many Jerome organizations as possible participate in contributing the money for the saddle, Keith said.

One-third done

ADVANCED WASTE treatment facility being built by the J. R. Simplot Co. at the Burley-Heyburn potato processing complex is about 25 per cent complete, a spokesman said today. The partially completed aeration basins which are adjacent to the clarifiers can be seen in the background. The black posts set in the bottom of the basins will be used to anchor twelve 75-horse power floating mechanical aerators.

Air pollution index 111

The pollution reading was taken by the staff of the South Central Health District at the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is expressed as the number of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today.

Forecast
Today: Excellent
Tonight: Good
Tomorrow: Excellent

This forecast provided by the Idaho Department of Health indicates the ability of the atmosphere to disperse pollution burning as permitted by law should be curtailed when the air is poorly able to disperse air pollutants.

Burley natives on Ricks staff

REXBURG — Two natives of Burley will join the faculty of Ricks College for the 1971-72 school year.

Blaine R. Bake, now Orem, Utah, will teach genealogy at Ricks. He is currently branch library coordinator for the Genealogical Society of the LDS Church.

Clyde E. Luke, former choral director of the Madison School District in Rexburg, will teach music at Ricks. He taught private voice instruction at Ricks for two and one-half years.

Bake has received his degree in genealogy technology from Brigham Young University, is working on a master's degree in library science, and has taught, for adult education, genealogical research in United States and Canada, genealogical research in England and Wales, in Scotland and Ireland, and the use of branch genealogical libraries. Bake is an accredited researcher for England and Wales and was a guest-instructor at the annual genealogical research seminar at Ricks College earlier this month. He has authored a Family Group Sheet Program for all BYU stakes and a Branch Genealogical Library Policy and Procedure Manual.

Luke received his bachelor of music degree from BYU in music education and has been affiliated with the Music Educators National Conference and the National Education Association. He was director of choral music at the Ricks Summer Academy of Fine Arts in 1969.

Both teachers have completed LDS missions. Bake to the East Central States Mission and Luke the Western States Mission.

Qualifying races set for weekend

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — Approximately 35 boats are expected to compete this weekend in the regional qualification races here for the Star-Class Sailboat World Championships later this summer at Seattle.

Among the favorites and already qualified for the world finals is William H. Cowles III, Spokane, who will lead a contingent of five local boats against the top star racers in the northwest on Lake Coeur d'Alene Saturday and Sunday.

The racers will chance the flukey winds of the northern Idaho lake in attempts to round the 12-mile course in less than the three hour time limit per race. Two races are scheduled Saturday with the third Sunday. Total points will decide the winners.

If the racers are becalmed, and there have been several windless days lately, the competition will be concluded Monday.

Qualifiers will compete in the world Star-Class championships Sept. 8-18 at Seattle. Last year's world championships were held in Denmark.

The Star is an Olympic-class boat weighing at least 1,460 pounds. It has a solid keel and a single mast carrying a mainsail and jib totaling 187 square feet. Two men crew the 23-foot long boats.

Competing for the right to go to the world championships will be boats from here, Seattle, Vancouver, B.C., Portland and Eugene, Ore.

Task force okays action plan

BOISE (UPI) — Byron Johnson, Boise, the chairman of the Legislative Task Force Committee, outlined a 12-point action program Tuesday which was unanimously adopted by the committee.

The points included assignment at the next committee meeting, scheduled for Aug. 24-25 in Boise, of task force members to make personal contact with legislators in their respective areas. The meeting is to disseminate information about the task force and to form personal lines of communication with the legislators.

In another point, Johnson and each task force member will make personal appearances at civic, fraternal and educational groups in their home communities before the first of the year.

The coordination of the educational efforts of such groups as the PTA, trustees, Idaho Education Association and Superintendents Association is another point in the program.

In addition, regional workshops are scheduled for the latter part of this year which legislators and other interested persons will be invited to participate.

One full task force meeting will be conducted in early January as part of a reception for all state legislators.

The program also asks attendance by a task force member at each meeting of the House and Senate Education committees on a day-to-day basis.

Johnson said if the task force does not launch an action program of this type, it might as well fold up its tent and call it quits.

Rep. Ernest Allen, R-Nampa, a member of the Legislative Task Force, said it will "really be a great thing" to let the education committees know there is a real force going for the betterment of Idaho education.

In other action, Calvin Osborn, Boise, chairman of the vocational education subcommittee, said, "Vocational education seems to be a fine idea for the other guy's kids, but not mine."

He said his committee is recommending schools adopt a career development program at the elementary level and continue it through the junior and senior high programs.

"Something needs to be done to change the image of vocational education," he said.

He added, "Work needs to be done with regard to the teaching in the classroom being occupational and career oriented. It is the consensus of the committee that prejudices run very deep with regard to vocational education."

The committee further recommended the State Board of Education instruct the State Department of Education to set up the program and carry it out in every junior and senior high school in Idaho to further the "vocational maturity" of every student.

Mrs. Louise Jones, New Meadows, chairman of the subcommittee on accountability, said the issue "is tied up in the lack of confidence in the education system to solve the problems of the world" as well as an economic problem of what actually will more money do for our schools.

She said her subcommittee is prepared to write a bill or take a position on someone else's bill "that will make us look more forcefully at ourselves. Part of what we are talking about is stripping away what we find is no longer needed in schools and finding a way to change enough to do the things we know we should do."

The chairman of the task force finance subcommittee, Supt. Jerry Evans, Caldwell, said his committee has been working with the combined financed committee of the State Superintendents and the IEA.

He said its work is revolving mainly around legislative House Bill 249, which was defeated in the last session of the Idaho Legislature.

He said the bill has many good features, but some weaknesses need changing. He added he felt that "whatever new formula is presented to the next session of the legislature will be an improvement over what we have now."

Mrs. Jan Koch, chairman of the kindergarten subcommittee, said her committee members felt the concept of early childhood education has not been thoroughly sold to the public and to the legislature. She said this will be the main preoccupation of her committee.

She added their efforts will be expanded more on a statewide basis this coming legislative year.

In earlier action Tuesday, Robert Montgomery, Boise, chairman of the school district organizations subcommittee, said his study committee will not have final recommendations until July on plans to change Idaho's present 116 school district organization.

Montgomery said committee members feel there is a "wealth of information" now on reorganization plans. He added it is now just a matter of forming a plan "politically acceptable" which would be approved by the legislature.

Mrs. J.P. Munson, Sandpoint, urged subcommittee members not to discuss a political plan, but to act "boldly" to come up with a plan ideally suited to a "better educational system for Idaho school children."

Theta Rho meet set at Burley

BURLEY — The Idaho State Theta Rho Girls convention will be held Friday and Saturday in Burley with the Burley Theta Rho girls chapter as hosts.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. Friday at the Ponderosa Inn Convention Center.

The Friday luncheon will be served at 1 p.m. at IOOF Hall by the women of the Ruth Rebekah Lodge.

Saturday morning a breakfast will be served at IOOF Hall by members of the Odd Fellows Lodge.

The business sessions will open at the IOOF Hall Saturday morning. Mrs. Norma Grube, Ashton, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Idaho, and Bill Boyd, Twin Falls, past grand master of the Odd Fellows Lodge, will both be featured on the program set for 1 p.m. Saturday at Ponderosa Inn.

A banquet is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Saturday. The initiation ceremonies will begin at 8 p.m. also in the convention center.

School plans said efficient

BOISE (UPI) — The chairman of a subcommittee studying school district reorganization said today such a plan would mean increased efficiency, better use of funds and ability to offer a wider range of educational services.

Robert Montgomery, Boise, chairman of the organization group, told the public school legislative task force his study committee won't have final recommendations until July on plans to change Idaho's present 116 school district organization.

Montgomery said committee members feel there is a "wealth of information" now on reorganization plans, and said it is now just a matter of forming a plan "politically acceptable" which would be approved by the legislature.

Rep. Ernest Allen, R-Nampa, said, however, he felt the legislature had moved "much closer" to the idea of reorganization. He said he felt such a plan would pass if the subcommittee came up with a good proposal.

Mrs. J.P. Munson, Sandpoint, urged subcommittee members not to discuss a political plan but to act "boldly" to come up with a plan ideally suited to a "better educational system for Idaho school children."

Suspect sought in shooting

BLACKFOOT (UPI) — Blackfoot Police and Bingham County Sheriff's officers were looking Tuesday for Vincent Miera, 56, Pocatello, in connection with the shooting death of Mabel Lopez, 53, Blackfoot.

The woman died Monday night at the Bingham Memorial Hospital from an abdominal gunshot wound inflicted June 1. First degree murder charges have been filed against Miera.

Miera had been released from the Bingham County Jail on bond on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. The charge was changed to first degree murder, according to Bingham County Prosecuting Attorney Kenneth F. Clarke.

The woman was shot through the abdomen with a .38-caliber revolver at her residence in Blackfoot.

Search slated at site

IDAHO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — A posse of 20 men will examine a Colorado mountain site Sunday where a chartered airplane carried 31 Wichita State University football players and school officials to their deaths last year.

Clear Creek County Sheriff Vernon Turner said he ordered the action after a free lance photographer reported spotting human remains near the site. The photographer said he also found some personal belongings thought to be from persons aboard the flight.

The plane went down in the mountains west of Idaho Springs Oct. 2, 1970. The plane had been carrying the team to Utah for a football game.

Turner, who became sheriff a month after the accident, said he had never been to the crash site, but planned to go into the area to check out the report.

"I don't know just that we will find up there," Turner said.

Woes eased

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Airline passengers complain more about lost and damaged baggage than anything else, and something is being done about it.

Twenty-one of the world's leading airlines flying the Boeing 747 now load passengers' baggage into protective containers that carry the luggage until it is unloaded at destination, says Goodyear Aerospace Corp., maker of such containers. As well as reducing complaints, the system also speeds up passenger baggage service, the company says.

Boise insurance firm sues Hartford Fire Co.

BOISE (UPI) — A $109,000 law suit was filed in District Court Tuesday against Hartford Fire Insurance Co., and Hartford Accident and Indemnity Insurance Co.

The complaint brought by Don Chance, a Boise independent insurance agent, alleges that the Hartford group, since stock control was secured by the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. in May 1970, has embarked upon a program calculated to divest itself of its personal lines of insurance business.

It is alleged that the company, since September 1970, has failed to abide by Idaho's auto cancellation law; that it has failed to renew policies when it was requested to do so by Agent Chance.

The complaint further alleges that the Hartford, through its employees — while disregarding the agent's rights as an independent contractor — have contacted the agent's clients directly in the solicitation of the agent's business to place same with another Hartford agent.

The complaint also alleges that the president of Hartford, at the time of its becoming controlled by the ITT conglomerate, stated to the agents that there would be no change in the Hartford methods for at least five years; that in wanton disregard for economic loss to its agents, Hartford, since July 1970, has terminated 26 agents alone in Idaho.

Further alleging in his complaint his reason for seeking $109,000 in damages, Chance sets forth several instances when the Hartford has allegedly breached its agreement: that Chance was led to believe the Hartford-ITT control would strengthen the company-agency relationship.

That rather, four months after ITT obtained control, Hartford refused to write any more personal lines for him, and he was given only 15 days notice of termination. That since termination, the company has failed to send out notices on direct bill auto policies, causing an economic loss to the agent, the suit alleges.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks continued in high gear as trading rounded the halfway mark Wednesday.

After plunging around 34 points during the past four sessions, the Dow Jones Industrial average showed a gain of 6.13 at 880.55.

Analysts attributed the comeback to bargain hunting rather than any particular news development.

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson predicted a sharp drop in unemployment by the middle of next year and enough improvement in the economy that the Democrats will not be able to make it a campaign issue.

Hodgson told a news conference Tuesday that unemployment will drop from the present rate of more than 6 percent to about 4.5 to 5 percent by the middle of 1972.

Volume at 1 p.m. amounted to 8,050,000 shares, down from 9,650,000 shares traded at a comparable period a day earlier.

Cudahy Co. was the day's most active issue. It rose 4 3/8 on more than 200,000 shares. The firm's directors voted to submit to stockholders a proposed tender offer from General Host of 22 for Cudahy common and 25 for the preferred.

Other active stocks included Bethlehem Steel 1/4 higher on 14,200 shares, Detroit Edison down 1/2 on 84,100 shares, American Telephone up 1/8 on 75,100 shares, and Lockheed up 3/8 on 71,900 shares.

Gooding women named 'artists of month'

WENDELL — Mrs. Charlotte Harding and Mrs. Nadine Conrad, both Gooding, members of the Gooding County Sagebrush Artists, are showing a number of their paintings done in oil at the Wendell branch of the Idaho First National Bank and are being honored as "Artists of the Month" for June.

Enjoy painting

MRS. CHARLOTTE HARDING, left, and Mrs. Nadine Conrad are being honored as artists of the month at Wendell and their paintings are displayed at the Wendell branch of the Idaho First National Bank.

Angela. She has worked for the past 14 years at the tuberculosis hospital in Gooding and when it closed she decided to attend an art class that was taught by Lee Parkinson, Salt Lake City, in Wendell during the summer of 1970. She later studied for a time under the direction of Mrs. Charlotte Duggan, Wendell, and Mrs. Marilyn LaCroix, Gooding.

She says, "Even as a child I liked to draw but never had the opportunity to dabble in oils — it's fun, it's relaxing and so rewarding."

She likes to paint florals and landscapes and has shown at the Lincoln Inn, Gooding, and at the Gooding County Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Conrad, a cosmetician, says she has always enjoyed the beauty of the world and has felt a great urge to paint. During her school years art classes were always her favorite.

She says, "I learned the importance of perspective, balance and detail. Color has also been important and these are all fundamental and necessary in painting."

She began her classes in November, 1970, under the supervision of Mrs. Duggan and in January of this year attended a class taught by Mrs. LaCroix in beginning oil.

She stated the encouragement and interest of the members of the Art Guild were very helpful; however, she finds that her family are her firmest supporters and also her greatest critics.

Beginning to paint with oils is challenging and she urges anyone who has the desire to try.

She states presently she feels that as she progresses that her favorite subject will probably be florals but she is showing florals, mountain scenes and seascapes. She has shown at the Lincoln Inn and the Gooding Memorial Hospital.

Wendell has new homes

By MYRTLE SCHRENK Times-News Writer

WENDELL — Since February, $139,000 has been spent in the city of Wendell to build new homes and improve existing ones, according to Earl Wood, building inspector.

The Uniform Building Code adopted by city councilmen in January became effective in February, thus making it possible to keep complete records of improvements and construction in the city since that date.

In addition to the $139,000, four new mobile homes have been built in the city in recent months, but cost records of this construction is not available, Wood said.

He says, "If the first five months of this year are any indication, Wendell should continue to experience an orderly modest growth."

He said there has been concern and controversy over the influx of mobile homes. He stated as far as he is concerned there should not be a problem as mobile home owners must abide by the same rules as any other homeowner.

A homeowner first must obtain a building permit and follow the Uniform Building Code which states all homeowners must provide parking space for at least one car off-the-street parking.

Also all homes must be installed in an area of 6,250 feet or a 50 by 125 foot lot, it must be placed at least 20 feet back from the street and seven feet from all property lines, sewer systems must comply with State Health Department regulations and each home must be hooked into the city waterline and each must pay the garbage assessment.

Woods said a mobile home is regarded as any other dwelling in the city and in his opinion they have added greatly to the beauty of the city. He emphasized that all residents who wish to build, remodel or establish a home in Wendell must first present a plan to him and on approval, usually the same day, a permit will be issued.

Recipe book aids children

NEW YORK (UPI)—If London models stay slim on the favorite recipes 50 of them contributed to a new cookbook, they could make a fortune telling the world how they manage it. Few of their recipes are low-or even middle-calorie.

The paperback book was compiled to raise money for The Save the Children Fund, a half-century old independent voluntary organization dedicated to helping children, regardless of race and religion, in almost 50 countries. All authors' royalties for "Not Just a Pretty Face" (Corgi Books) will be donated to the fund.

The recipes are as international as the children who will benefit. They include Spanish roast duck, Italian bollito misto (stew), French coquilles St. Jacques (scallops), Algerian cous cous (stew), creme au chocolate Portugaise, Mexican Guacamole, Japanese miso soup, Indian curry, Irish stew, Middle Eastern tabouleh (salaad) and American hamburger.

It's hard to see how Hannelie Dehn, a wide-eyed blonde, stays slender on the foods she chose as favorites—grapefruit and prawn cocktail with a mayonnaise-base sauce, baked ham with orange, lemon and cranberry sauce, mornay potatoes (baked with onions in a creamy cheese sauce) and orange snow, like cheesecake without crust.

Deborah Romano chose equally rich recipes—avocado and crabmeat with sauce containing both heavy cream and mayonnaise, fillet of veal stuffed with — among other things—ham, pate de foie gras, frankfurters and crackers, and the aforementioned Portuguese chocolate dessert, which starts with heavy cream and ends with dark chocolate.

The book was compiled by Gaynor Millington at the suggestion of Sevilla Glass-Hooper, who moonlighted as a professional cook after modeling hours.

In the introduction, Miss Millington writes that "...many people will remember wonderful meals transported in her (Sevilla's) mini-van, especially the man who ran into it when she was delivering a tureen of gaspacho."

Miss Glass-Hooper contributed her gaspacho soup recipe, along with one for Latin American duck, which is a spicy main dish of duck and rice with spices, peas, nuts, wine and lager, and a dessert of lemon soufflé.

A photograph of each model accompanies each set of recipes, as do charts of the models' preferences in other areas — including restaurants, magazines, shops, authors, animals, hairdressers and pet hates among foods.

Their food phobias are as varied as those of the general population. A few voted against all meat but most objected to such things as suet pudding, pigs' trotters (feet).

LaRue heads Lions club at Wendell

WENDELL — Lawrence LaRue was installed as president of the Wendell Lions at a dinner meeting held in the Woods Cafe, Jerome, Monday night.

Other officers for the coming year are Joe Leeper, vice president; Will Spalding, secretary; Jim Freeman, treasurer; Jim Campbell, talltwister, and Doug Schrank, lion tamer.

Dr. M. E. Scheel and Bill Grout were elected to the board of directors.

Don Zuck, Twin Falls, past district governor, served as installing officer. As speaker of the evening he outlined the responsibility of officers and talked about the organization and its goals.

Dr. Scheel presented a program which consisted of color slides and a travelogue concerning scenic spots in Canada.

LaRue said the group will have a social.

Wendell dog nearly dies because of litter

WENDELL — Morris Perkins, Wendell, says his German shepherd dog, Milo, is an anti-litter symbol.

He said the dog nearly lost his life because of litter beside a highway in Montana. The Wendell man was traveling in Montana when he stopped beside the highway for a rest and to let his two dogs exercise. Milo jumped onto a piece of jagged glass carelessly left in the rest area and severed an artery in his leg.

The owner made a tourniquet to stop the bleeding and drove 75 miles to Idaho Falls to find a veterinarian. He said when he arrived the dog was in poor condition and he held little hope for his recovery but he is now home and well.

Perkins said he is sure if the dog could talk he would testify to the dangers of littering.

Navyman stresses need for help to Vietnam

WENDELL — Ken Hulet, U.S. Navy, recently returned home from a tour of duty in Vietnam where he served as a hospital corpsman with the Civil Affairs office, stresses the need for clothing and supplies there.

His duties during his 21 months there were to help the Vietnamese people develop self-help programs. He worked in a Catholic orphanage where he gives medical care to the 200 children who lived at the home.

While still in Vietnam, Hulet asked the assistance of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reed

Hulet, Wendell, who with the help of the Wendell Ward LDS Church, sent supplies to the village and orphanage where he was stationed.

Hulet, who is presently stationed at a hospital in Bremerton, Wash., is still concerned about his charges and says even though he is home the need continues.

In order that Magic Valley citizens could see the recipients of their gifts he took pictures before he returned home.

He said, "Perhaps my reasons were selfish, as I hope the pictures will inspire

Youths wearing military garb

NEW YORK (UPI)—One of the paradoxes of the 18-25 age group in the United States is that the anti-war and anti-military groups wear a lot of military uniform items to their protest demonstrations. Sol Walden saw a demonstration in Washington and said, "I thought I was at Fort Benning."

"But it is really a fascinating thing. I had occasion to visit a lot of colleges with my daughter who was looking to enter one and we walked around the campus. Solid green — so much GI stuff it had to be uniforms cast off by their fathers."

They wear them on college campuses as well, including Harvard, a one-time bastion of the Ivy League Look. Walden visited there, too, and said, "I saw a lot of those self-congratulatory 'Gee, I made it!' kids wearing ankle length olive drab army coats their fathers used to wear in World War II."

Walden, who is president of the Fox-Knapp Manufacturing Co., says he is delighted by the whole thing, though puzzled. He has sold more than one million peacoats since the end of World War II and says he hopes the current craze will last.

"I can't explain it," he said. "Is it a 'Hey, look we're different' thing? I don't know. I think it has something to do with economic status. I think well-to-do kids want to look poor, not to flaunt their moneyed status. The kids go out and spend $60 on a military garment so they can look poor."

"After Vietnam will they go back to the staples we used to wear? Sweaters for the boys? Sweaters and bobby socks for the girls? I have to keep my ear to the ground about those sort of things if I'm going to stay in business."

Fox-Knapp is the largest American producer of civilian peacoats, chief petty officer shirts and other military-style clothing. The hottest item of the moment is an Air Force blue bombardier jacket which zips, snaps, buckles and buttons and has a wolf fur hood.

The jacket fastens with a zipper and button loops, has four flap pockets that snap shut and is lined in international safety orange which can be seen forever, as they say in the song. The zip up hood makes a "snorkel," which is sort of a tunnel where you breathe through the wolf fur when it is 40 below. It comes in nylon sateen for poor kids trying to look rich and in cotton for rich kids trying to look poor.

Walden also makes that staple of Army life, the green or camouflaged fatigue jacket, worn with such accessories as paratrooper jump boots, faded, frayed dungarees and garrison belts to hold them up. Young women who wear the same thing often carry ammunition pouches for handbags.

But the staples are the CPO jackets and the peacoats, with both boys and girls wearing them to the tune of more than a million each in the past 25 years.

"The peacoat is one garment that seems to show up in the substantial suburbs," Walden said. "On one Saturday afternoon in a suburban shopping center at least 80 per cent of the girls seemed to be wearing them." They cost about $18 to $25 and mothers seem to have no objection to them as long as they are warm and 'look nice' and aren't wild like all of those hippie things."

"If the girls can't find them in their own stores they go to men's stores. It used to be only the Army and Navy stores which sold them."

Help still needed

MEALTIME for children in Vietnam has eager takers. The dishes are surplus items from the U. S. Armed Forces. Continued need for school supplies, bedding, garden seed and soap is stressed by Ken Hulet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Hulet, Wendell, who is now at Bremerton, Wash., after serving 21 months in Vietnam.

She likes to paint florals and landscapes and has shown at the Lincoln Inn, Gooding, and at the Gooding County Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Conrad, a cosmetician, says she has always enjoyed the beauty of the world and has felt a great urge to paint. During her school years art classes were always her favorite.

She says, "I learned the importance of perspective, balance and detail. Color has also been important and these are all fundamental and necessary in painting."

She began her classes in November, 1970, under the supervision of Mrs. Duggan and in January of this year attended a class taught by Mrs. LaCroix in beginning oil.

She stated the encouragement and interest of the members of the Art Guild were very helpful; however, she finds that her family are her firmest supporters and also her greatest critics.

Beginning to paint with oils is challenging and she urges anyone who has the desire to try.

She states presently she feels that as she progresses that her favorite subject will probably be florals but she is showing florals, mountain scenes and seascapes. She has shown at the Lincoln Inn and the Gooding Memorial Hospital.

Recipe book aids children

NEW YORK (UPI)—If London models stay slim on the favorite recipes 50 of them contributed to a new cookbook, they could make a fortune telling the world how they manage it. Few of their recipes are low-or even middle-calorie.

The paperback book was compiled to raise money for The Save the Children Fund, a half-century old independent voluntary organization dedicated to helping children, regardless of race and religion, in almost 50 countries. All authors' royalties for "Not Just a Pretty Face" (Corgi Books) will be donated to the fund.

The recipes are as international as the children who will benefit. They include Spanish roast duck, Italian bollito misto (stew), French coquilles St. Jacques (scallops), Algerian cous cous (stew), creme au chocolate Portugaise, Mexican guacamole, Japanese miso soup, Indian curry, Irish stew, Middle Eastern tabouleh (salad) and American hamburger.

It's hard to see how Hannelore Dehn, a wide-eyed blonde, stays slender on the foods she chose as favorites—grapefruit and prawn cocktail with a mayonnaise-base sauce, baked ham with orange, lemon and cranberry sauce, mornay potatoes (baked with onions in a creamy cheese sauce) and orange snow, like cheesecake without crust.

Deborah Romano chose equally rich recipes—avocado and crabmeat with sauce containing both heavy cream and mayonnaise, fillet of veal stuffed with — among other things—ham, pate de foie gras, frankfurters and crackers, and the aforementioned Portuguese chocolate dessert, which starts with heavy cream and ends with dark chocolate.

The book was compiled by Gaynor Millington at the suggestion of Sevilla Glass-Hooper, who moonlighted as a professional cook after modeling hours.

In the introduction, Miss Millington writes that "...many people will remember wonderful meals transported in her (Sevilla's) mini-van, especially the man who ran into it when she was delivering a tureen of gaspacho."

Miss Glass-Hooper contributed her gaspacho soup recipe, along with one for Latin American duck, which is a spicy main dish of duck and rice with spices, peas, nuts, wine and lager, and a dessert of lemon soufflé.

A photograph of each model accompanies each set of recipes, as do charts of the model's preferences in other areas, including restaurants, magazines, shops, authors, animals, hairdressers and pet hates among foods.

Their food phobias are as varied as those of the general population. A few voted against all meat but most objected to such things as suet pudding, pigs' trotters (feet).

Navyman stresses need for help to Vietnam

WENDELL — Ken Hulet, U.S. Navy, recently returned home from a tour of duty in Vietnam where he served as a hospital corpsman with the Civil Affairs office, stresses the need for clothing and supplies there.

His duties during his 21 months there were to help the Vietnamese people develop self-help programs. He worked in a Catholic orphanage where he gives medical care to the 200 children who lived at the home.

While still in Vietnam, Hulet asked the assistance of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reed

Hulet, Wendell, who with the help of the Wendell Ward LDS Church, sent supplies to the village and orphanage where he was stationed.

Hulet, who is presently stationed at a hospital in Bremerton, Wash., is still concerned about his charges and says even though he is home the need continues.

In order that Magic Valley citizens could see the recipients of their gifts he took pictures before he returned home.

He said, "Perhaps my reasons were selfish, as I hope the pictures will inspire residents to continue to send clothes, sewing notions, first, second and third grade textbooks, other school supplies, bedding, layettes, garden seed and soap."

Any organization or individual who wishes to take part in the program should send items to Civil Affairs Officer, Attention G 5, 1st Marine Division, F.P.O. S.F. Calif., 96602.

Hulet reports that many servicemen who serve overseas are doing this kind of work and they are always in need of supplies.

Help still needed

MEALTIME for children in Vietnam has eager takers. The dishes are surplus items from the U. S. Armed Forces. Continued need for school supplies, bedding, garden seed and soap is stressed by Ken Hulet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Hulet, Wendell, who is now at Bremerton, Wash., after serving 21 months in Vietnam.

Wendell

Wendell has new homes

By MYRTLE SCHRENK Times-News Writer

WENDELL — Since February, $139,000 has been spent in the city of Wendell to build new homes and improve existing ones, according to Earl Wood, building inspector.

The Uniform Building Code adopted by city councilmen in January became effective in February, thus making it possible to keep complete records of improvements and construction in the city since that date.

In addition to the $139,000, four new mobile homes have been built in the city in recent months, but cost records of this construction is not available, Wood said.

He says, "If the first five months of this year are any indication, Wendell should continue to experience an orderly modest growth."

He said there has been concern and controversy over the influx of mobile homes. He stated as far as he is concerned there should not be a problem as mobile home owners must abide by the same rules as any other homeowner.

A homeowner first must obtain a building permit and follow the Uniform Building Code which states all homeowners must provide parking space for at least one car off-the-street parking.

Also all homes must be installed in an area of 6,250 feet or a 50-by-125 foot lot. It must be placed at least 20 feet back from the street and seven feet from all property lines, sewer systems must comply with State Health Department regulations and each home must be hooked into the city waterline and each must pay the garbage assessment.

Woods said a mobile home is regarded as any other dwelling in the city and in his opinion they have added greatly to the beauty of the city. He emphasized that all residents who wish to build, remodel or establish a home in Wendell must first present a plan to him and on approval, usually the same day, a permit will be issued.

Close call

MIL0, A GERMAN shepherd dog owned by Morris Perkins, Wendell, hopes he won't step onto any more glass. He nearly lost his life when such a mishap in Montana severed an artery in his leg.

LaRue heads Lions club at Wendell

WENDELL — Lawrence LaRue was installed as president of the Wendell Lions at a dinner meeting held in the Woods Cafe, Jerome, Monday night.

Other officers for the coming year are Joe Leeper, vice president; Will Spalding, secretary; Jim Freeman, treasurer; Jim Campbell, talltister, and Doug Schrank, lion tamer.

Dr. M. E. Scheel and Bill Grout were elected to the board of directors.

"Don Zuck, Twin Falls, past district governor, served as installing officer. As speaker of the evening he outlined the responsibility of officers and talked about the organization and its goals.

Dr. Scheel presented a program which consisted of color slides and a travelogue concerning scenic spots in Canada.

LaRue said the group will reconvene this fall.

Youths wearing military garb

NEW YORK (UPI)—One of the paradoxes of the 16-25 age group in the United States is that the anti-war and anti-military groups wear a lot of military uniform items to their protest demonstrations. Sol Walden saw a demonstration in Washington and said, "I thought I was at Fort Benning."

They wear them on college campuses as well, including Harvard, a one-time bastion of the Ivy League Look. Walden visited there, too, and said, "I saw a lot of those self-congratulatory 'Gee, I made it!' kids wearing ankle length olive drab army coats their fathers used to wear in World War II."

Walden, who is president of the Fox-Knapp Manufacturing Co., says he is delighted by the whole thing, though puzzled. He has sold more than one million peacoats since the end of World War II and says he hopes the current craze will last.

"I can't explain it," he said. "Is it a 'Hey, look we're different' thing? I don't know. I think it has something to do with economic status. I think well-to-do kids want to look poor, not to flaunt their moneyed status. The kids go out and spend $60 on a military garment so they can look poor."

"After Vietnam will they go back to the staples we used to wear? Sweaters for the boys? Sweaters and bobby socks for the girls? I have to keep my ear to the ground about those sort of things if I'm going to stay in business."

"But it is really a fascinating thing. I had occasion to visit a lot of colleges with my daughter who was looking to enter one and we walked around the campus. Solid green — so much GI stuff it had to be uniforms cast off by their fathers."

Fox-Knapp is the largest American producer of civilian peacoats, chief petty officer shirts and other military-style clothing. The hottest item of the moment is an Air Force blue bombardier jacket which zips, snaps, buckles and buttons and has a wolf fur hood.

The jacket fastens with a zipper and button loops, has four flap pockets that snap shut and is lined in international safety orange which can be seen forever, as they say in the song. The zip up hood makes a "snorkel," which is sort of a tunnel where you breathe through the wolf fur when it is 40 below. It comes in nylon sateen for poor kids trying to look rich and in cotton for rich kids trying to look poor.

Walden also makes that staple of Army life, the green or camouflaged fatigue jacket, worn with such accessories as paratrooper jump boots, faded, frayed dungarees and garrison belts to hold them up. Young women who wear the same thing often carry ammunition pouches for handbags.

But the staples are the CPO jackets and the peacoats, with both boys and girls wearing them to the tune of more than a million each in the past 25 years.

"The peacoat is one garment that seems to show up in the substantial suburbs," Walden said. "On one Saturday afternoon in a suburban shopping center at least 80 per cent of the girls seemed to be wearing them. They cost about $18 to $25 and mothers seem to have no objection to them as long as they are warm and 'look nice' and aren't wild like all of those hippie things."

"If the girls can't find them in their own stores they go to men's stores. It used to be only the Army and Navy stores which sold them."

Council to hear change

WENDELL — An amendment to the existing zoning ordinance governing mobile homes will be read for the first time at the regular Thursday night meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at the city offices, said Mayor Eugene Soares.

Wendell dog nearly dies because of litter

WENDELL — Morris Perkins, Wendell, says his German shepherd dog, Milo, is an anti-litter symbol.

He said the dog nearly lost his life because of litter beside a highway in Montana. The Wendell man was traveling in Montana when he stopped beside the highway for a rest and to let his two dogs exercise. Milo jumped onto a piece of jagged glass carelessly left in the rest area and severed an artery in his leg.

The owner made a tourniquet to stop the bleeding and drove 75 miles to Idaho Falls to find a veterinarian. He said when he arrived the dog was in poor condition and he held little hope for his recovery but he is now home and well.

Perkins said he is sure if the dog could talk he would testify to the dangers of littering.

Retirement community notes individual value

NEW YORK (UPI)—In a world that seems to many persons increasingly impersonal, there is, in Florida, a community developed by a man who puts high value on the needs of the individual.

The community — for retirement living — is Beverly Hills, in the high, wooded, somewhat remote area of Citrus County, some 11 miles northeast of Homosassa Springs.

The man is Sam Kellner, 62, born in Hicksville, N.Y., son of an immigrant harness maker. Of necessity a high school dropout, Kellner made his first million by age 40 as the largest auto tire retailer in the world, went on to build homes and shopping centers on his native Long Island.

A man who seems genuinely to appreciate his "luck and good fortune," Kellner's very personal mark is all over the 1,900-home community of 4,000 persons, expected to grow eventually to a population of 38,000 in the 5,000-acre development of 17,000 homesites.

Kellner donated sites for several churches and has just given the community a new synagogue — "probably the only one with no mortgage," he jokes. He donated a fire engine and the community organized a volunteer fire department. He bought an ambulance and the residents organized a volunteer crew to man it.

"money to tide them over until the Social Security check arrives."

There is free bus service to nearby communities for residents who don't drive and Kellner is building a shopping center.

In 1972, Kellner said, the community will have its own 100-bed hospital. It will be a hospital with some very personal touches. Situated on a 30-acre site, it will include a bungalow colony for those with health problems that might require close medical supervision or emergency care.

Kellner says he wants to "free retirees from worry." He does not, however, paint himself a philanthropist. "We're making money. We're in good financial shape," he said. The entire operation is free of debt — "no mortgages. I hate to pay interest money."

Kellner owns his own lumberyard, his own hardware supply, his own cement plant. All his homes are built of his materials by his construction firm. He also owns the sewer and water utilities. It gives him, he says, "a big price edge. It eliminates the middle man."

The Beverly Hills homes range in price from $10,490 for a one bedroom, one bath model with carport, to $21,990 for a two-bedrooms, two-bath air conditioned home with Florida room and enclosed garage. This summer Kellner expects to have his first modular homes available, furnished, for under $12,000. He will operate his own factory.

Kellner says a couple can live comfortably on $300 a month (the minimum required income) if their home is free and clear — and he says 85 per cent of his buyers pay cash, "usually the money from the sale of their former home." He estimates weekly food costs at "perhaps $25, with another $10 to operate a car and $2 for taxes which are $88 annually for the lowest cost model."

The majority of Beverly Hills residents are from Detroit and New York's Long Island and Brooklyn areas. To promote the development Kellner has relied on advertising in Detroit and New York area newspapers and on model homes — one in Hicksville, L.I., and one in the Detroit suburb of Livonia. He picked Detroit, he says, because retiring automotive workers have an outstanding pension plan.

To induce prospective buyers into on-site inspection tours, Kellner provides free lodging and meals at his 19-unit motel for three days, but prospects pay their own transportation costs, reimbursed to the extent of $250 if they buy.

"I didn't need the money," he said. "But I enjoy keeping busy and I wanted to do some good. I've had very good fortune."

Latin nations confer in Rome

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In a plus conference room across Rome's Via Veneto from the United States embassy, far from the actual scene of conflict, representatives of Venezuela and Colombia are seeking a solution to one of two border disputes poisoning their relations.

The problem is one of a half dozen or so creating ill-will among Latin American nations, mostly as result of past wars or badly marked borders going back two centuries when most of them belonged to Spain. At issue in the Rome conference is ownership of 7,700 square miles of sea bottom at the gateway to oil-rich Lake Maracaibo.

Three quarters of Venezuelan oil production is concentrated in Lake Maracaibo, and it is suspected its oil deposits may extend into the Gulf of Venezuela and to the sea beyond. Neither has yet undergone extensive development or research.

Two peninsulas enclose the Gulf of Venezuela, one belonging to Colombia and the other to Venezuela. The Colombian portion occupies only about 10 per cent of the shore line and the Venezuelans have said flatly they will recognize only a narrow strip of the gulf immediately in front of the Colombian shore line.

Despite frequent protests of friendship and the fact that both once belonged to a "Gran Colombia," wrested from Spain by Simon Bolivar, relations between the two countries have become more tense in recent months.

Between the two countries there are other aggravations. Venezuela bowed out of the "Andes Pact" looking toward a lowering of tariff barriers among Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia and Chile.

Venezuela expressed reservations over a Colombian proposal calling for a cutback in Latin American arms purchases, citing as a reason Colombian negotiations to buy 18 French Mirage jets.

VA opens drug centers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Veterans Administration announced today plans to open 27 new drug treatment centers by the first of October to help carry out President Nixon's campaign against addiction among GIs.

The VA said this will bring to 32 the specialized treatment centers which "will provide capacity for the annual care of an estimated 6,000 veteran addicts in addition to veterans already receiving drug treatment in a regular VA hospital setting."

VA Administrator Donald E. Johnson said in a news release that 14 additional centers will be opened by the end of July, with the other 13 to be in operation by about Oct. 1.

Johnson said the action was pursuant to the President's call on June 17 for "the immediate development and emplacement of VA drug rehabilitation centers which will permit both in-patient and out-patient care of addicts in a community setting."

Reps. Robert H. Steele, R-Conn., and Morgan F. Murphy, D-Ill., reported after a recent trip abroad to study the drug problem that 10 to 15 per cent of American servicemen in Vietnam were addicted to heroin.

The first specialized VA drug treatment center was opened in the District of Columbia in October, and additional ones were set up in January in New York City, Houston, Battle Creek, Mich., and Sepulveda, Calif.

Marines leave war

SAIGON (UPI)—The last unit of a U.S. Marine combat force which once numbered more than 80,000 men hauled down its Vietnam battle flags and prepared to head for home today, closing out Phase VII of President Nixon's troop withdrawal program eight days early.

The 16 men of the Marines' 5th Combat Intelligence team were the last unit remaining from the III Marine Amphibious Force, which had operational control of all American fighting men in South Vietnam's five northernmost provinces until March, 1970, spokesmen said.

No significant rise noted in state layoffs

BOISE (UPI)—The assistant director of the State Personnel Commission said Monday there has been no significant rise in the number of pink slips handed to state employees.

Richard Barrett said most administrative heads seem to be proceeding slowly in paring their work forces as required by Gov. Cecil D. Andrus' executive order.

The governor decreed that five per cent of the number of state employees were to be laid off between July 1 and Oct. 1 with an additional five per cent to be dismissed by Jan. 1, 1972.

Barrett said, "Administrators do not have to act until Oct. 1, so they are not anxious to make reductions now."

phy outlined a point system approach, based on length and type of service, that will govern the layoff of state employees.

The oldest known living trees are the bristlecone pines of eastern California and Arizona, which are approaching 5,000 years of age according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Dialogue with S. Africa said 'waste of time'

ADDISABABA (UPI)—Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie said Monday it would be "a waste of time" to open a dialogue with South Africa so long as that nation continued its policy of separating the black and white races. He called on African countries to "present a common front."

In a keynote address inaugurating the summit conference of the Organization of African Unity (OAU) at Africa Hall, the Emperor's rejection of a dialogue with South Africa supported a ministerial declaration adopted last Saturday.

Haile Selassie said the OAU could not make concessions to South Africa beyond those contained in the so-called "Lusaka Manifesto." This proposed a dialogue provided its aim was the elimination of apartheid and the establishment of majority rule in South Africa, where the ruling whites are outnumbered by blacks. "Inasmuch as the Lusaka Manifesto has been rejected by the South African government and insofar as we cannot concede any further, Africa must persevere on the course of action it has already chosen and must remain undivided" on the dialogue issue, the emperor said.

"This is highly imperative, especially now when world opinion and church organizations in particular are pressing the South African government to change its system. It is necessary that Africa should, more than ever, present a common front, stand firm on its present policies, and must not be divided."

He advocated continued assistance by the OAU to liberation movements in South Africa. (At The Hague, the International Court of Justice ruled South Africa's continued presence in South West Africa to be illegal. South Africa rejected the ruling on the territory, a former German colony mandated to it after World War II.) Zambian President Kenneth Kaunda chaired the opening session and, at his request, the OAU representatives stood for a moment of silence in memory of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser who died last September.

Seeded players return to wars at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, ENGLAND (UPI)—With the traditional opening men and women's rounds out of the way, the real work started today in the 85th Wimbledon tennis championships. At stake was the third round of the world's most prestigious tennis tournament and both men and women's seeded players were back in force.

Not all of them though. Some of the seeds have taken some knocks. In brilliant sunshine Tuesday, more than 2,000 fans visited the courts when seventh-seeded Ilie Nastase of Romania went down in straight sets to George Goven of France, following unseeded Tom Gorman's first day ousting of eighth-seeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa.

Ali certain he'll regain heavyweight championship

NEW YORK (UPI)—Muhammad Ali's Tale of Two Cities continued Tuesday with his prolonged prediction that he would whip Jimmy Ellis, then beat Joe Frazier for the heavyweight title and finally make a lot of black promoters happy.

The Ali-Ellis fight is scheduled for July 26 in Houston's Astrodome over a 12-round route. Both fighters have tasted defeat only once in their heavyweight careers and each is anxious to avenge that loss to Frazier by winning next month's fight and going on for a title rematch.

All said that closed circuit television of the Ellis bout will be viewed in five black neighborhood theaters and that black promoters will benefit from the TV revenue this time.

"They told me they wanted a chance to promote my fights, too, and I agreed with them," All said. "They'll pay the same percentage to us as the white theatre promoters did for my previous fights."

All, asked how it felt to be an ex-champ, said he has a bigger following these days than in his title years.

"When they start visiting the other dressing room instead of yours then it's time to quit," All said. "But Frazier took such a beating it was his friends who asked him to quit. I took his best punches and gave him a bad beating. I'd rather be the loser in my shape than the winner in his condition after the fight."

"But I'm the people's champion. I'll fight anybody. I'll have two more fights before I meet Frazier. And what's he doing? He's attracting some mighty sparse audiences on his European tour and won't fight anybody until next year."

All, shrugging his shoulders, added "I can beat Frazier fighting or singing."

Madison Square Garden will feature a doubleheader the night of the Ali-Ellis fight. In addition to closed circuit from Houston, former welterweight and middleweight champion Emile Griffith is scheduled to meet Nessim "Max" Cohen, France's Jewish middleweight champion, in a 10-round clash in the garden ring.

Griffith, also on a comeback trail since losing his world middleweight crown to Nino Benvenuti of Italy, is undefeated in his last nine fights.

"We're risking Emile's chan-

Bradshaw hero of air plight

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Terry Bradshaw, quarterback for the Pittsburgh Steelers, forced a landing gear into position on a private airplane Tuesday in order that he stricken craft could conduct a normal landing.

Part of the plane's electrical system, including its radio and one engine, failed during a flight from Midland, Tex., to Hereford, Tex., in the northwest corner of the state.

On board with Bradshaw were his girl friend, Debbie Patton, Miss Teen-age America of 1970, pilot James Gentry of Hereford and Gentry's wife.

"I first got scared when the engine started cutting out," said Bradshaw, who along with Miss Patton is participating in a church-sponsored crusade this week in Hereford.

"It started going sput, sput, sput, but no one panicked. The pilot was just as cool as I could be. He said 'we will fix this thing and get it going.' If he had panicked I guess we all would have folded. There was a lot of danger, although we did not realize it at the time."

When one engine of the plane stopped, the electrical system on that side of the plane also went out. That prevented the landing gear from unfolding.

The incident occurred near Lubbock and the plane circled while Bradshaw forcibly knocked the landing gear loose and manually lowered the gear into position.

Astros 4, Padres 2. SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Joe Morgan clouted a three-run two-out triple in the sixth inning and relief pitcher Fred Gladding cut off a San Diego threat in the ninth as the Houston Astros trimmed the Padres 4-2 Tuesday night to deal the San Diegans their seventh consecutive defeat.

Cards 6, L.A. 5. LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Lou Brock tripled for his third hit of the game in the sixth inning to drive in the decisive run Tuesday night that brought Steve Carlton his 11th win as the St. Louis Cardinals pulled out a 6-5 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

McCovey schedules operation. SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Manager Charlie Fox of the San Francisco Giants disclosed Tuesday night his star first baseman Willie McCovey probably would have to undergo surgery on an ailing left knee.

Fox said McCovey had been put on the disabled list and replaced on the Giants roster by Pacific Coast League first baseman Ed Goodson of Phoenix.

McCovey, 31, has been hampered by a bad left knee since spring training. Krays taken Monday by team physician Dr. E. C. Sailor and orthopedist Dr. Gerald Gill revealed torn cartilage in the knee.

McCovey, following San Francisco's 2-0 victory Tuesday night over Chicago, said that he would be examined Wednesday in Los Angeles by Dr. Robert Kerlan before definite approval is given for surgery.

"It's almost definite that I'll have an operation," McCovey said.

Braves 4, Expos 0. ATLANTA (UPI)—Ron Reed pitched a three-hitter and the Atlanta Braves took advantage of three walks and three wild pitches by Steve Renko to score four runs in the third inning Tuesday night en route to a 4-0 victory over the Montreal Expos.

NL gate figures up

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The National League announced Tuesday 1971 attendance through June 20 stood at 6,825,892, up nearly half a million persons over the comparable figure last year.

The New York Mets were the league's attendance leader with 1,003,419 paid admissions for 32 home dates. That rate of attendance was keeping pace with the 1970 Mets total season gate of 2,697,479.

Ryun to miss AAU finals

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—World record holder Jim Ryun, who figured to challenge Marty Liquori a second time in the mile this season at the AAU track and field championships this weekend, bowed out of the meet Tuesday.

Ryun, who moved here this year from Kansas, scratched his name after two days of unsuccessfully battling hay fever in practice runs.

Ryun came in a close second to Liquori at the "miracle mile" earlier this track season at Philadelphia when the Villanova star ran a 3:54.6.

Basketball offered

Addition of a basketball program to the high school's summer physical fitness program is announced by Athletic Director Bob Donnelly.

Donnelly said new Bruin basketball coach Don Haynes will conduct three sessions daily for any youngster in the community interested in participating.

The time periods by age group include 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., grade school youngsters; 2 to 4 p.m., junior high school, and 6:30 to 9 p.m., high school. The sessions will be held Monday through Thursday each week.

Hawk just another PGA rookie

SARATOGA, Wyo. (UPI)—Ken Harrelson is just another pupil to Saratoga golf pro Bob Toski.

Harrelson, who retired from baseball Monday, is due in Saratoga early next week to take golf lessons from Toski before "The Hawk" attempts to become a regular on the PGA tour.

"I'm going to try and spend some time with him and help him get an understanding of what the rigors of the tour are," Toski says. "Ken's got golf in his blood and he's got to play to get it out of his system."

"His success depends on whether or not he has the mental stability to handle the tour," Toski says. "It's a different kind of pressure on the tour than on the baseball diamond."

"I've worked with no less than 50 pros who are on the tour," said Toski, who began playing golf 38 years ago. "I've worked with so many of them it's ridiculous to go through and list them."

But Toski admits Tony Jacklin, Jim Colbert, Hugh Royer and Larry Henson are some of his younger pupils. Toski, who spends his winter months as a pro in Florida, says he travels "everyplace to give lessons."

Washington to row in Pan-Am. SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—The University of Washington beat Penn-Vesper by nearly three seconds Tuesday to qualify to represent the U.S. in the eight-oared rowing contest at the Pan American games in Colombia this summer.

William Tytus of the Union Boat Club of Boston turned back a late challenge by national champion Jim Dietz to win the single scull event by half a second.

The races were over a 2,000-meter course on Onondaga Lake south of Syracuse.

Washington finished in 6:01.2, compared with the 6:03.8 by Penn-Vesper.

Other finishers were a combination squad from Dartmouth, Syracuse and Princeton, 6:05.4; Rutgers, 6:08.1; Brown, 6:09.9; Harvard, 6:10.3.

Cornell, which upset Washington to win the International Rowing Association championships on the lake last Saturday, dropped out of the trials because of a hernia injury to one member.

Tytus won the singles in 7:25.8, although Dietz, of the New York Athletic Club gained about 2 1/2 lengths in the last 50 meters.

Other finishers were Paul Wilson, of Cambridge, Mass., 7:37.4; Ken Foote, of Boston, 7:43.7; Alan MacKenzie, of Seattle, 7:44.0; and Richard Stehlik, of Philadelphia, 7:51.9.

Trevino tops pro money list. NEW YORK (UPI)—Lee Trevino beat Jack Nicklaus in the U.S. Open Monday and displaced golf's "Golden Bear" as the PGA's leading money winner with the $30,000 top prize.

Trevino, who has finished among the top five in seven of his last eight tournaments, shows current earnings of $165,110. Nicklaus, collecting $15,000 in his playoff defeat, lost his money lead for the first time in eight weeks as he dropped to second place with $161,213. Gary Player is third with $119,165.

Rounding out the top 10 are Arnold Palmer, $111,339; Miller Barber, $102,793; Tom Shaw, $85,501; Gene Littler, $84,685; George Archer, $77,775; Frank Beard, $76,474; and Billy Casper $67,114.

Cepeda seeks help for knee. ATLANTA (UPI)—Orlando Cepeda, the Atlanta Braves' $94,000-a-year cleanup man, flew to his home in Puerto Rico Tuesday in hopes of finding a cure for an ailing knee.

Braves general manager Paul Richards gave the 33-year-old first baseman permission to leave the team so he can get the opinion of his doctor in Puerto Rico as to what's causing his knee to buckle in pain.

Cepeda said several doctors he saw in National League cities were unable to agree on the cause of his knee trouble. He recalled that he got effective help from his Puerto Rican doctor for his other knee when it was ailing in 1965.

"That's why I want to see my doctor in Puerto Rico," Cepeda said. "I have confidence in him and I think he can help me."

Although he is the Braves' second leading run producer, just behind Hank Aaron, with 14 home runs and 42 RBIs.

Nixon urges U.S. physicians to help massive drug effort

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Claiming that the nation is in danger of losing a whole generation to drugs, President Nixon Tuesday asked the American Medical Association (AMA) to launch a massive program to educate people on the dangers of the drug culture. He charged that many physicians contributed to the problem by "prescribing drugs too often and too easily."

In a half-hour address before the 120th annual convention of the AMA's House of Delegates, the President defended his own health care program and drew enthusiastic applause when he charged that the compulsory nationalized health insurance program advocated by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., was too costly and inefficient.

"It would eventually lead to complete federal domination of our medical system," he said.

If such a nationalized insurance were adopted, Nixon claimed, it would cost $72 billion or about one fourth of the national budget by 1974 and boost medical care costs to the average family from a current $466 per year to $1,271 per year.

"We cannot simply buy our way to better medicine," he told the group at the Haddon Hall Hotel. "I know that it is very easy sometimes to think that the plan that costs the most will help the most but often the situation is quite the opposite."

Nixon stopped here enroute back to Washington from a long weekend at his vacation home in Key Biscayne, Fla., and was greeted by several thousand persons, boosted by an influx of city employees who were given a partial holiday.

"Rather than freeing the doctor so that he can do more to help his patients, nationalized health insurance would burden him with the dead weight of more bureaucracy, more forms and more red tape," the President said in his sharpest attack so far on the health program advocated by Kennedy.

"I want my doctor to be worrying about me rather than filling forms for the government," he said to thunderous applause.

The President appealed for the doctors' help to defeat the Kennedy program, although he did not mention the Massachusetts senator by name.

Turning to the problem of drug abuse, Nixon pointed out that 13 billion doses of tranquilizers, amphetamines and barbiturates were produced in this country last year—enough to medicate every adult in the United States at very high dosages for more than 11 days.

About half of this output has been diverted into illegal sales, he said, and claimed that one out of every three Americans between the ages of 18 and 74 used a psychotropic drug of some type last year.

House committee endorses full funding for Hoover

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Refusing to be swayed by increasing anti-FBI sentiment in Congress, the House Appropriations Committee Monday made its annual recommendation that J. Edgar Hoover's agency be given all the money it asked for.

The $334.4 million requested by the FBI was part of a $4 billion measure to provide operating funds during the fiscal year beginning July 1 for the Departments of State, Commerce and Justice, the Judiciary and related agencies.

Although the committee cus-tomarily slashes the budget requests of many agencies, it has traditionally and almost without question granted the FBI's request. It maintained tradition this year although more and more members of Congress have joined critics who charge the FBI with violating civil liberties.

The committee also approved the full $698.9 request by the Justice Department's Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, which grants funds to states and cities to help them improve their police forces.

Faring almost as well was the federal subsidy for the Maritime industry, which got $524.5 million, only $1.2 million under what it sought.

But with the committee slicing $188 million off the total requests, all agencies were not so fortunate.

The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission got $5.8 million more than it received last year—$22 million—but this was 20 per cent less than the amount it requested.

The committee eliminated entirely the $8.7 million requested as the U.S. contribution to the International Labor Organization, the $22,000 needed to cover a rent increase for the Waldorf Astoria Hotel resident of the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, and the $11,000 asked by the Supreme Court to rent automobiles for the associate justices and to provide an entertainment allowance for the chief justice.

In approving the full FBI request, the committee endorsed the expenditure of about $30,000 to buy director Hoover a new armored limousine.

'Limey' lore

CHICAGO (UPI) — British sailors perhaps can blame their nickname on a move toward government economy.

To fight scurvy the British navy began dispensing Vitamin C in the form of lemon juice in 1795, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, but perhaps for reasons of economy switched in 1865 to lime juice.

British sailors from that time have been called "Limeys."

Soviet author admits 'mistake'

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Nobel Prize-winning novelist Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn published his first work too soon after the death of Joseph Stalin, an "unforgivable mistake" that cost him the confiscation of his major novel.

This was the assessment of Solzhenitsyn himself in a brief autobiography for the Swedish Nobel Foundation to be printed in the foundation's yearbook being published this week in Stockholm. The copyrighted text of the autobiography was made available to UPI by the foundation.

Solzhenitsyn, 52, also said he believes his university degree in mathematics saved his life at least twice during his eight years in Stalin's concentration camps.

After his brief success in 1962 with "One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich"—the story of a camp inmate's life, the literary thaw suddenly turned into another chill and Solzhenitsyn came under criticism.

"During those months I felt I had committed an unforgivable mistake in revealing my work prematurely and thereby preventing me from completing it," Solzhenitsyn wrote.

The publication of "Ivan Denisovich" ultimately led to the official condemnation of his literary activities and the confiscation of his archives and the manuscript of his novel "The First Circle," he said.

Solzhenitsyn was awarded the 1970 Nobel Award for literature but he chose not to go to Sweden to collect the prize in December because he said he feared he would not be allowed to return home.

Air cargo down

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Air cargo shipments were down 16.5 per cent and air mail shipments down 8.8 per cent at Michigan's 21 air carrier airports during the first quarter of 1971 when compared with the same period last year.

Statistics compiled by the Michigan Department of Com-

Wage offer rejected in strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—Union leaders representing 20,000 telegraph workers Monday rejected the latest Western Union contract offer, sending the nationwide strike into its fourth week.

Western Union management said the union turned down a package which would have brought a 26 per cent increase in wages over three years. The spokesmen said another major hurdle in the contract talks was work rules.

The United Telegraph Workers Union and the Communications Workers of America Local 1177 walked off the job June 1, shutting down telegraph service across the country.

The strike did not affect private wire services for government and businesses, automated services such as mailgrams and teleprinter exchange services.
