Works bill out

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon vetoed today a $5.5 billion public works bill enacted by the Democratic Congress to combat unemployment but promised to sign a compromise approach aimed at putting jobless—particularly veterans—to work.

The vetoed measure called for $2 billion of federal spending to speed up state and local public works projects and $3.5 billion to continue operations of the Appalachian Region Commission and the Economic Development Administration. Some Democrats claimed their proposal would have created as many as 400,000 jobs.

The compromise Nixon said he would accept would provide federal money to hire unemployed for transitional public service jobs, giving preference to recently discharged Vietnam War veterans.

It would create as many as 200,000 jobs a year whenever the national unemployment rate was 4.5 per cent or more in at least three consecutive months. Unemployment has ranged near 6 per cent so far this year and the rate stood at 6.2 per cent in May.

Reds massing force at DMZ

SAIGON (UPI)—Two South Vietnamese generals said today North Vietnam has massed 16,000 troops just north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and they may join the 10,000 Communists who already have infiltrated into the South with tanks, artillery and antiaircraft guns.

The two generals were Maj. Gen. Pham Van Phu, commander of the elite South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division, and Brig. Gen. Vu Van Glial, his deputy, who is running operation Lam Son 720, which was mounted to try to stop the North Vietnamese infiltration.

They said 6,000 North Vietnamese have entered the northern quarter since May 1 but they predicted the 30,000 to 35,000 South Vietnamese in the two northernmost provinces of Quang Tri and Thua Thien would be able to cope with any new Communist offensive.

Evidence of the increased Communist activity in the northern part of South Vietnam was reported today by U.S. spokesmen who said Communist antiaircraft guns in the western end of the DMZ shot down an F4 Phantom jet while others in the DMZ area bombarded two American bases.

The Communists also increased their activities in the Central Highlands midway between Saigon and the DMZ. Communist gunners shelled a South Vietnamese ammunition dump at Quin Nhon early today for the second time in less than a week and destroyed 600 tons of ammunition in a series of rolling explosions that reverberated for hours.

South Vietnamese spokesmen in Saigon reported sporadic fighting continuing at Fire Base Fuller, overrun five days ago in a heavy North Vietnamese assault, and that 13 guerrillas were killed in one firefight with no government losses.

Military sources said meanwhile that the United States has moved more 155mm howitzers and tanks into the mountainous region below the DMZ where more than 10,000 North Vietnamese troops have been fighting allied forces in the heaviest action in three years around the neutral zone.

Pinned down

POLICE PIN the assailant of Joseph A. Colombo, Sr., 48, reputed Brooklyn Mafia chief, to the ground in New York's Columbus Circle Monday. Colombo was seriously wounded during rally there by a gunshot in the head. His assailant, identified as Jerome A. Johnson, 25, was shot to death moments later but it was not known whether police or bodyguards shot him. (UPI)

Council selects Turner

TWIN FALLS — Harry Turner, attorney and former city police judge, was approved in an adjourned city council meeting Monday afternoon to prosecute city cases in magistrate court.

The action was taken following a closed executive session of the council to discuss proposals from Turner and one other law firm as well as a proposal from the county on sharing prosecutor costs.

Turner will succeed Robert Galley, who now handles both city and county prosecuting duties. Galley had advised the county commissioners the work load under the new magistrate court system had become over balanced with most of his time required on city ordinance and other city misdemeanor cases brought into the magistrate court.

County commissioners advised the city some other method must be found to handle the situation explaining if the two were to share prosecutor services additional help would be required and additional city financing.

Richard Reed, of the law firm of Doerr and Reed, met with the council to submit a proposal for handling the city's prosecution. Turner submitted his proposal by letter. Council members met in closed session to compare the county proposal and those of Turner and Reed.

Turner told the council he would handle the work at a rate of $400 per month for the six months remaining in 1971, and was approved on this basis. He becomes a part-time city employee under the agreement, Milar said. Reed had proposed handling the work under a contract basis.

The appointment is effective Thursday, city officials said.

Funds snarled in hot debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A routine resolution providing emergency money for the government to operate until Congress can pass the regular appropriations bills got caught day in a fight over defensespending and Cuban refugees.

Congress has enacted none of the regular appropriations bills for the new fiscal year starting Thursday. Instead, the House adopted a routine resolution permitting the government to continue spending at last year's rate until the new money bills are passed.

But the Senate Appropriations Committee amended the routine measure by cutting off any more money for the Cuban airlift which has brought 250,000 refugees to the United States since 1966.

And Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., proposed an amendment to limit defense department spending in the next business year to $68 billion.

The administration has asked for $75 billion for the Pentagon in its 1972 budget. Congress already has voted to raise military salaries by $1.7 billion, boosting the total to $7.7 billion.

A $68 billion limitation, therefore, would force the Defense Department to make a $8.7 billion cut in procurement and research and development.

"Our figure of $68 billion is a modest and moderate cut which can be absorbed on a timely basis without, in any way, harming our military security," Proxmire and Mathias said in a joint statement announcing their amendment.

The senators argued that the cost of the Vietnam War has been reduced from $24 billion a year at its peak to about $8 billion a year now. They also noted that manpower reductions already voted by Congress in the size of the armed forces will save another $10 billion.

Laird, in a statement issued at the Pentagon Monday, said the effect of the Proxmire-Mathias proposal "would be so extreme as to provoke a crisis in national security."

City purchases hunter rights

TWIN FALLS — Purchase of exclusive duck hunting rights at Dierke's Lake from four Twin Falls residents was approved by the Twin Falls City Council in an adjourned meeting Monday afternoon.

The council agreed to pay $5,000 to the four citizens for their special rights which would have extended about seven more years under special agreement with the former owners of Dierke's Lake area.

The four duck hunters who have enjoyed the special rights in the past are Voy Hudson, Gordon Edgar, Jack Levander and Bob Reese. City officials had proposed a transfer of the duck hunting rights to other city owned land in the canyon. This was rejected by the four hunters and negotiations for the purchase of their rights have been conducted for past several months.

The purchase will give the city of Twin Falls clear title to the Snake River Canyon property including the lakes. Purchase of the area was authorized more than two years ago on a lease-purchase basis.

City plans call for developing the area over a long range period for recreation use.

Police seek slaying key

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joseph Colombo Sr., reputed Brooklyn gang leader shot Monday at an Italian-American rally he helped organize, remained in critical condition today from three gunshot wounds fired at close range.

Police immediately began questioning underworld figures to see if the shooting was caused by a renewal of a feud between Colombo and others over the South Brooklyn rackets he allegedly controlled.

Colombo's attacker, Jerome A. Johnson, 25, a Negro from New Brunswick, N.J., whom police described as "an admirer of Adolf Hitler" was shot to death after wounding Colombo. Police were also investigating the possibility Johnson may have been a member of a black revolutionary group.

At 10:15 a.m., a hospital spokesman reported Colombo's condition was "stable" but said he remained in a coma and was still critical. He was shot in the brain, left cheek and neck while attending the Italian-American unity rally near Central Park. More than 2,000 persons were present when he was shot.

The hospital spokesman said Colombo was being moved to a special respiratory unit just a room away from the recovery room where he has been kept. Policemen were on guard inside and outside the room.

The spokesman said doctors had not been able to determine the extent of damage to his brain.

Four guns were found at the scene of the shooting and police said ballistics tests would be needed to determine who shot Johnson.

Citation approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House Commerce subcommittee recommended today that CBS President Frank Stanton and the network be cited for contempt of Congress for refusing to turn over film material subpoenaed by the group.

The vote was 5 to 0. At issue was Stanton's refusal to give the subcommittee headed by Rep. Harley Staggers, D-W. Va., raw film files used in producing CBS's controversial television documentary "The Selling of the Pentagon."

Agnew in Seoul for ROK rites

SEOUL (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew arrived today at the head of the U.S. delegation to the inauguration of South Korean President Park Chung-Hee, carrying with him President Nixon's wishes of "success and prosperity" for one of America's staunchest Asian allies.

Although the pomp of ceremonial functions for Thursday's inauguration of Park's third term highlighted the beginning of the six-day visit, Agnew also will hold sensitive talks with the president, Premier Kim Jong-Pil and other South Korean leaders.

tion to withdraw about 15,000 troops from South Vietnam before the end of the year. Also expected to be discussed were the recent moves between Washington and Communist China toward better relations and the general situation in Southeast Asia.

The vice president flew to Seoul from Agana, Guam, where he had spent the night. Other nations on the schedule that will put him back in the United States July included Singapore, Kuwait, Saudi Arabia, Ethiopia, Kenya, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Spain, Morocco and Portugal.

Runway, speed pacts OK'd

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — An agreement with the Federal Aviation Administration for a grant of $313,087 in federal funds for improvement of the Twin Falls City-County airport's main runway was signed Monday afternoon by city and county officials.

Nance Early and Cecil Bradshaw, FAA representatives, Salt Lake City, met first with the board of county commissioners and at 4:30 p.m. with the city council to explain the agreement and obtain signatures.

Bradshaw told the council the amount of the grant is based on the low bid of Bannock Paving Co., Pocatello, in the amount of $446,072, for the entire project. The remainder of the cost is provided by city and county funds.

Bradshaw urged the council to go ahead with negotiations on clearance right of way on 19 acres of land adjacent to the airport on the west which he said would be necessary on completion of the project. This would involve height restrictions and controls to protect aircraft using the field.

A pre-construction conference was called for 1 p.m. today in the city hall with Dale Riedesel, project engineer, and contractor representatives.

Bradshaw said the FAA would reserve the right to about two acres of land at the airport site for future construction of a FAA control tower. Construction is scheduled to begin late this summer with a closure of the airport to large Hughes Air West passenger planes for about 40 work days or about two months.

City officials also approved the proposed plat of the Eastland Estates Subdivision as proposed by Gordon Beckstead, contingent upon approval of the city engineering department. A resolution on new speed limits for Blue Lakes Boulevard and Second Avenue East and North in Twin Falls was approved.

City Manager Jean Milar explained the resolution is something of a compromise between the city and the Idaho Department of Highways. The city asked a 25 mile an hour restriction on U.S. Highway 30 through Twin Falls on Second Avenue East and North because of two elementary schools on the route.

The state contended 35 miles per hour was the realistic speed, based on speed checks and highway use.

In the resolution approved Monday, the speed limit will be 30 miles per hour along most of the route and 25 miles per hour between Third Street East and Third Street North. The 30 mile per hour limit will run from Blue Lakes Boulevard on the east to Third Street East and again from Third Street North to Addison Avenue on the west.

On Blue Lakes Boulevard, the new speed limit will be 35 miles per hour from Green Acres Drive on the north to Kimberly Road. It will be maintained at 25 miles per hour from Kimberly Road along Blue Lakes Boulevard South to the south city limits.

This is a reduction from 50 miles per hour to 35 miles per hour in the area between Green Acres Drive and Florence Avenue at the north entrance of the city.

The council tabled action on a long term disability insurance program for city employees, pending a check of city employee views. If the program is to continue in addition to the public employees insurance and retirement program for city workers, costs will increase to both the city and the workers.

Catholics react to decision

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Roman Catholic Church appears to be giving a mixed reaction to the Supreme Court's mixed decision on state aid for church schools.

Bishop Joseph L. Bernardin, general secretary of the U.S. Catholic Conference, said Monday's ruling against state payments for parochial-school teacher salaries in Pennsylvania and Rhode Island "does not mean the end of non-public schools in the United States."

He did concede the impact of the decision "cannot be overestimated" and that it complicates the financial problems of the nation's 12,200 Catholic elementary and secondary schools.

Bank names Frye chief executive

BOISE — Thomas C. Frye was named chief executive officer of The Idaho First National Bank by the bank's board of directors at their June meeting.

THOMAS C. FRYE

Frye replaces Wm. E. Irvin, who will retire from active participation in the bank's management on Wednesday.

A native of southwestern Idaho, Frye graduated from Weiser High School in the class of 1937. During World War II, he served in the U.S. Army field artillery from 1941 to 1946.

He began his banking career with Idaho First National Bank at the Weiser office in 1937, and later served in the bank's Parma and Sandpoint offices before his promotion to assistant vice president of the head office in Boise in 1952.

He was elected to vice president and was elected to the board of directors. He was elected president in January, 1970.

Frye will retain the title of president, as well as assuming the responsibilities of chief executive officer. Frye is active in many civic and professional organizations.

O. Andersen

WENDELL — Otto Andersen, 76, died of an apparent heart attack Monday afternoon at his home. He was born July 18, 1894, in Norris, Denmark. Services are pending at Leeper Mortuary.

Cardinal John Krol, Archbishop of Philadelphia, was more pessimistic, however, saying that an end to partial state funding of teacher salaries "brings into scope a nightmare public problem." He urged "immediate examination by our legislators of possible alternatives so an enactment can be written which meets the test laid down." The archdiocese covers 248,000 students in the Philadelphia area.

Bishop John B. McDowell, vicar for education in the diocese of Pittsburgh, said schools throughout the nation will be "imperiled" by Monday's ruling and many Catholic parents will not be able to afford to continue sending their children to church schools.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger in Monday's decision said "nothing we have said can be construed to disparage the role of church-related elementary and secondary schools in our nation's life. Their contribution has been, and is, enormous."

Talks begin on Phantom Bergus plan on Suez

By United Press International — Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban met in Tel Aviv today with U.S. Ambassador H. Walthor Barbour to seek further details of what the Israelis have begun to call the "phantom Bergus plan" for reopening the Suez Canal under a new Mideast interim agreement.

Israeli political sources said Israel first learned of the plan put forth by Donald Bergus, the U.S. envoy in Cairo, when it was mentioned in the Washington Post two days ago. They said Israel was "dismayed" by the proposals and wanted immediate clarification from Washington.

They called it a "phantom" peace plan because the State Department has disowned it as a memorandum consisting solely of Bergus' personal opinions with no official standing. The personal opinion technique is often used for taking diplomatic soundings.

Washington Post columnist Joseph Kraft reported from Cairo the Bergus plan called for moving the present truce line from the Suez Canal to halfway across the Sinai Desert. Israeli and Egyptian troops would be stationed 15 miles apart with United Nations troops in between.

Israel was reported dismayed because Israel is resolutely opposed to any Suez crossing by Egyptian troops and is opposed to a U.N. peace keeping force on its borders, recalling that the 1967 war began after U.N. peace keeping teams were abruptly removed from the Sinai.

schools can be squared" with the dictates of the Constitution's church-state separation proviso.

Monday's opinions referred frequently to a decision made last term upholding the long-time practice of tax exemptions for church property. That opinion implied that taxation—and the administrative functions which attend it—could result in "an excessive government entanglement with religion."

It was that same "entanglement" problem, in reverse, that figured in Monday's cases. Burger added, however, that judicial warnings against such entanglement must recognize that the line between church and state "far from being a wall," is a blurred, indistinct and variable barrier depending on all the circumstances of a particular relationship.

FCC aide warns of drug ads on radio

SUN VALLEY (UPI) — A federal communications commissioner warned Monday that the "pill-popping fantasyland" pictured by drug ads on radio and television could lead to further federal intervention in broadcast advertising.

Thomas Houser, the newest member of the Federal Communications Commission, told Idaho Broadcasters at their summer convention that children's programs and advertising on television tend to provide a "phony portrait of life, and thus destroys a child's perception."

Houser said he would not go that far, but he warned that unless the broadcast industry regulates drug ads, then the federal government may step in as it did when it banned cigarette advertisements from radio and television.

"Further federal intervention is not the ultimate solution," he said, "but may be the alternative to self regulation."

Another speaker at Monday's session also called on the broadcast industry to help in the battle against drug abuse. James Risch, Ada County prosecuting attorney, said the drug problem is a critical one and he urged the broadcasters to develop a statewide program to combat drug abuse, using taped commentaries from doctors and other authorities on the effects of drugs.

exposed to drug advertisements which picture drugs as "playful pals" which can lead children into a "pill-popping fantasyland."

Houser said one other FCC commissioner has already proposed a total ban against broadcasting ads.

Houser said he would not go that far, but he warned that unless the broadcast industry regulates drug ads, then the federal government may step in as it did when it banned cigarette advertisements from radio and television.

Union representatives for workers in the non-ferrous metals industries will gather at 10 a.m. Wednesday to decide on final courses of action, which could include strikes against companies without contracts.

Prospects dim for Anaconda

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The outlook appears dim as contract expiration date of June 30 approaches for the United Steelworkers Union and Anaconda Copper Co.

Al Skinner, chairman of the joint bargaining committee of the United Steelworkers for Anaconda, said, "We're not close," when asked about negotiation progress.

Talks for Anaconda and the steelworkers started about two weeks ago at the Travelodge in Salt Lake City after several months in Butte, Mont., proved fruitless.

Talks are simultaneously going on with other major copper producers, in an effort to reach agreement before the midnight deadline Wednesday.

Contest boosts Blaine over top

By WARREN GOSSETT

Times-News Writer
HAILEY — The last minute donor, Russ Horn, Hailey, enabled Blaine County to meet the bloodmobile quota of 100 pints Monday. According to officials this is the first time in many years that Blaine County has met its quota.

The contest between Hailey and Ketchum Rotary clubs was a great help in filling the quota, noted Mrs. Stan Atkinson, county bloodmobile chairman.

The Hailey club gave 19 pints to Ketchum's 14. A prize of $25 has been offered to the club giving the most pints of blood with the contest to continue to the Sept. 14 blood drawing.

Five first-time donors, all 18 years of age, gave blood. They are Dale Quensell, Richard Kimball, Lois Toner, Rosalie Nelson and James Dorr.

Mrs. Atkinson thanked all who gave blood Monday and said "through the extra efforts the county quota was finally met."

The September drawing will be held in Ketchum.

House plan denied

TWIN FALLS — A zoning request for a meat plant was approved by the Twin Falls County Board of Commissioners Monday, but a request for a housing development was turned down. Commission Chairman W. L. (Bill) Chancey said the commission denied the request of Lynn Hempleman for development of 80 acres three and one half miles southeast of Twin Falls into a housing subdivision and golf course. Hempleman had originally requested approval of a golf course and mobile home park. That request was denied by both the county planning and zoning board and the county commissioners.

Hempleman revised his plans to include medium priced homes surrounding the golf course. He said about 95 homes would be built in the next six to eight years. Hempleman also proposed a sewage treatment facility, which he said had been approved by the Department of Health, as part of the development.

Water would be provided by wells, he said. The developer argued a large cattle feedlot and a dairy in the same vicinity constitute commercial rather than agriculture use and the housing development could not cause any problems to surrounding farm owners or rural homes.

Hempleman said following the hearing and denial of his plan Monday, he has no alternative but to go to court. He said he is no longer able to make a living on a small 80-acre farm and must convert it to other use. He said he feels the county has treated him unfairly and has discriminated against him.

Members of the county planning and zoning board had approved the latest proposal by a five to three vote, recommending county commission approval.

Commission Chairman Chancey said the county feels this would be locating an island of residential property in a first class or prime agricultural area. He said the county is attempting to avoid such islands because they constitute a problem for county administration in protecting agricultural operations.

He said the county is attempting to avoid setting a precedent in such isolated development.

Hempleman said he would be only one-half mile from other housing developments and his proposal is no more isolated than others approved in other parts of the county.

He said his sewage treatment facility would be equal to treatment used by the city and the water would not constitute a health hazard if it were drunk although it might not taste good. He proposed using the treatment plant's effluent for irrigation of the golf course.

Ray Williams, Filer, requested approval of the packing plant located one mile north and three-quarters of a mile west of Filer. He said because of reconstruction of U.S. Highway 30 through Filer, he will have to relocate the meat packing plant he now owns and has selected property northwest of Filer.

T.F. unit reviews duties

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls board of county commissioners began meeting Monday as a board of equalization and will continue in session as such for the next two weeks.

Commission Chairman W. L. (Bill) Chancey said the board is reviewing newly adopted state laws pertaining to board of equalization duties and authority in order to meet all new responsibilities.

BRICK MEMENTOES
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — When the Los Angeles High School Alumni Association learned their old school was being torn down it didn't waste time getting into action. No, the members didn't want to save the school. Instead the association made a deal to sell the bricks as memorabilia. The bricks sell for $1 each. "Mounted" bricks are available for $10.

Rodeo souvenirs

Trade dollars distributed

TWIN FALLS — Souvenir trade dollars for the National High School Rodeo are being distributed to participating merchants in Twin Falls and will be available this week.

The 10,000 nickel-silver "dollars" are for sale or redeemable for $1 in cash. They must be redeemed by Aug. 31, 1971, but Bill Babcock, chairman of the trade dollar committee, said it is hoped the coins will be kept as souvenirs of the national event which will be Aug. 3-8 at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds at Filer.

NATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL RODEO souvenir trade dollars are being distributed this week to businessmen in Twin Falls. Shown from left are Dick Sterling of the Bank of Idaho; Bill Babcock of Idaho First National Bank; Vern Harmer, manager of Penney's, and Fred Ott of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co. Harmer was the first merchant to receive some of the dollars and Babcock is chairman of the trade dollar committee. Ott and Sterling are committee members.

The dollars have a picture of Idaho on one side and on the reverse is the National High School Rodeo emblem and "1971 Finals, Filer, Idaho, August 3-8 1971."

Babcock and members of his committee, Fred Ott and Dick Sterling, are now visiting with Twin Falls merchants asking them to handle the trade dollars through sales.

The trade dollars will contribute a sizable sum to the $80,000 budgeted for the National High School Rodeo.

Filer man heads golden group

TWIN FALLS — Clifford Thomas, Filer, Monday afternoon was elected president of the Golden Anniversary Circle as members met at the IOOF hall for annual potluck luncheon. Thomas succeeds I.T. (Pete) Creed who presided at the meeting.

Speaker was O.A. (Gus) Kelker, editor of the Times-News. He urged members of the organization to compose a personal diary of events during their lives so that these recollections could be handed down to their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren and also be available for historical study.

As an example of the importance of a diary in history he read excerpts from the one composed by Isaac Lewis, founder of Ketchum. Lewis wrote the diary during his later life in 1891 and 1892 and it is now an important link in the life of this individual and the times in which he lived starting with his birth in Connecticut in 1825.

In addition to Thomas, other officers elected were Charles McAnulty, Kimberly, first vice president; Mrs. Vere Grieve, Twin Falls, second vice president, and Mrs. Pearl Buchanan, also Twin Falls, who was re-elected secretary treasurer.

Award of a vase of flowers to the couple married the longest went to Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cleveland of rural Twin Falls who have been married for 63 years.

Entertainment during the afternoon featured old-time fiddle numbers by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Craig, H.F. Waggoner and John Perfect; a reading by David Mitchell and Mrs. William Armga; a recollection composition by Eimer Annis, and a ventriloquist act by Larry Votruba, 14, a special guest.

Fourteen new members were welcomed into the organization, established in 1927 by the late Joe-K E.R. Koehler, owner of the downtown Roxy Theater at that time.

Idaho traffic fatality toll spirals to 125

By United Press International
The Idaho traffic fatality toll climbed to 125 Monday with the deaths in separate accidents of a Boise woman and a Samuels, Idaho man.

The latest victim was identified as L. Marlene Waybright, 33, Boise, who was killed in a truck-car accident shortly after noon Monday on Overland Road, six miles west of Boise.

Idaho State Police said she was traveling west when she collided with a tractor and trailer rig driven by Richard W. Johnson, 53, Mountain Home.

Cpl. Walter Baker said the rig apparently had stopped in the lane of traffic and was backing into a driveway of a home being built in that area. The rig was to be used to drill a water well on the property.

He said the Waybright woman, a nurse at St. Luke's Hospital, apparently did not see the truck quick enough and plowed into the back of the trailer.

She was en route to St. Alphonsus Hospital by ambulance when she died from injuries including a broken neck and a crushed chest.

In an earlier accident Monday, Andrew L. Jensen, 72, Samuels, Idaho, was killed and his wife seriously injured when his automobile entered the path of a Burlington Northern freight train north of Sandpoint.

Investigating officers said Jensen had driven onto the tracks after the caboose of a southbound train passed the crossing.

Officers said Jensen apparently did not see the second train enter the crossing.

Nellie F. Jensen, 63, the victim's wife, was listed in serious condition Monday evening at Bonner County Hospital in Sandpoint. The extent of her injuries was not immediately known.

The Idaho traffic fatality toll on this date one year ago was 141.

Age wins

ALTAMONT, Ill. (UPI)—Age did not prevent Altamont's centennial queen, Mrs. Dora Martin, 91, from outdistancing a field of 29 candidates, including several teen-agers.

Mrs. Martin, a widow who makes her own clothing, was wearing a borrowed dress, a black lace Paris creation, vintage 1921, when she was crowned.

21 freight cars derail in Elmore

MOUNTAIN HOME (UPI) — Some 21 cars of an 85-car freight train, including one carrying explosives, were derailed 10 miles west of here this morning, but first reports indicated no one was injured in the accident.

A spokesman for Union Pacific Railroad who returned from the scene said none of the explosives ignited in the accident, but he said railroad workers and police were warning spectators away from the area.

The wreckage of the west-bound train held up traffic through the area, including trains scheduled to leave from Glens Ferry and another from Mountain Home.

A spokesman for Union Pacific Railroad in Nampa said the incident occurred about 5 a.m. He said wreckers were dispatched to the scene from Nampa and Pocatello.

The spokesman said, however, many of the cars were empty and said neither the caboose nor the engine went off the tracks.

He said he believed it was "something in the neighborhood" of 21 cars, but said wires sent to railroad officials contained only descriptions of freight involved and not of the number of cars.

Merger okayed by two newspaper companies

BOISE (UPI)—The Idaho Statesman said today shareholders of Federated Publications Inc., and Gannett Co., Inc., in separate sessions Monday approved a merger of the two firms effective June 30.

Federated publishes the Idaho Statesman and six other newspapers in Michigan, Indiana, and Washington. It will become a wholly-owned subsidiary of Gannett.

The merger will increase Gannett's daily newspapers to 45, making it the largest newspaper group in the United States in number of dailies with aggregate daily circulation to exceed 1,750,000.

The merger will be effected by the issuance of more than $70 million in shares of Gannett common stock to shareholders of Federated.

A joint statement by Paul Miller, chairman and chief executive of Gannett, and President Al Neuharth said Federated Publications will continue to operate under its present officers and no change in personnel is contemplated.

Official City and County Newspaper Pursuant to Section 40-108 Idaho Code. Thursday is hereby designated as the day of the week on which legal notices will be published. Published daily and Sunday, except Saturday, at 132 Third Street West, Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, by Magic Valley Newspapers, Inc. Entered as second class mail matter April 8, 1918, at the post office in Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, under the act of March 8, 1879.

Deadly Holiday

The long Fourth of July holiday weekend will be a deadly one with upwards of 500 traffic fatalities, judging from past records. Some may be in Magic Valley.

According to the National Transportation Safety Board, the Number One killer is the drunken driver, accountable for an annual toll of possibly 25,000 lives.

Underskilled or careless young drivers, between 15 and 24, kill themselves and others at the rate of about 17,000 a year.

Railroad crossings remain a dangerous hazard and only about 22 per cent have safety improvements.

Walking on or across highways, particularly at night, is extremely dangerous. Pedestrian deaths increased in 1970 although total highway fatalities declined.

Pleasure boating, coupled with inexperience and proper caution, claims about 1,300 lives a year.

These gruesome statistics remain fairly constant despite all the slogans, driver education training, safety courses and the like. A recent tabulation showed 25 deaths in automobile accidents and 13 drownings over an ordinary weekend. The figures always jump over a holiday weekend as people in a light-hearted mood head for mountains, beaches, lakes and rivers for fun and relaxation.

No amount of warnings or the foreknowledge of the risks seems to have any effect on the accident tolls. Most people apparently feel that the percentage of risk favors their safety.

But the grim fact remains that the toll in human life and suffering from "fun weekends" compares with the agony of war. Think about it.

The Dream

The dream of nuclear scientists is to harness the energy of the sun. If and when they accomplish fusion, the source of the sun's fantastic power, they will have solved mankind's insatiable demands for heat, light and power.

Present nuclear reactors, which depend upon fission of atoms, provide clean energy but leave a residue of radioactive waste difficult to dispose of safely.

Fusion derives its energy not from splitting atoms but from forcing them into union under conditions extremely difficult to establish and control. The hydrogen bomb is an uncontrolled fusion reaction set off by fission.

Controlled fusion, once mastered, will pose few environmental problems and its fuel is about as cheap as sea water.

Scientists know what the problem is — the achievement of the awesome heat of 50 million degrees and sufficient compression to fuse the atoms. They do not know yet precisely how to do it but they are working on it.

The Russians gave the name Tokamak to an experimental device which achieved higher heat than any previous fusion experiment and announced they were leading the world in the race to produce a controlled thermonuclear reactor.

Two American devices later duplicated the Russian results and three more are being built. One, at the University of Texas, is in charge of Dr. A. E. Robson.

The Texas Tokamak will use a new system to achieve the required temperature but the final step of compression sufficient to cause fusion is the puzzle.

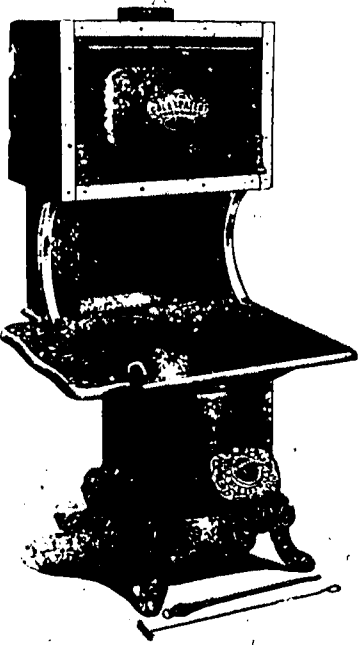

Dr. Robson is hopeful. "We're going to use 200,000 volts, about 1,000 times more voltage than anybody else has done or plans to do." He believes the resulting tremendous turbulence will achieve the ultra-high temperature very quickly.

If it works, he said, only the further step of compression would remain. He believes an actual sustained fusion reaction may be attained by 1975, and, "if all goes well," five to ten years more could bring a fusion power plant into being.

McCloskey Object Of "Blast"

WASHINGTON — Rep. "Pete" McCloskey, militant California Republican dove spearheading the "dump Nixon" commotion, is getting a stinging dose of his own medicine — right in his own ballistics.

A California Republican colleague, in effect, is raising a "dump McCloskey" banner.

Rep. Charles Gubser, whose district immediately adjoins McCloskey's, is doing that in a blistering speech at a meeting of the directors of the influential California Republican Assembly in Burlingame, a GOP stronghold in McCloskey's district.

Gubser's unusual blast amounts to a Republican declaration of war against McCloskey.

That's the real significance of this exceptional event.

What it means is that the GOP has decided to face up squarely to McCloskey's challenge and tackle him head-on.

Gubser, a 20-year congressional veteran and a ranking member of the powerful Armed Services Committee, doesn't speak lightly or idly — especially when it comes to castigating a Republican colleague before important party leaders. In taking this extraordinary step at a gathering of GOP leaders, in a party bastion in McCloskey's own district, it is clearly evident Gubser is speaking for a lot more than himself.

What he is doing is trumpeting the party's call to battle against McCloskey's hit-and-run insurgency.

This is further strikingly demonstrated by Gubser's harsh indictment of McCloskey. He denounces him on a number of counts, foremost among them:

The accuracy and reliability of McCloskey's widely publicized charges and claims regarding the Laos offensive; his political motives and activist ties in pushing the "dump Nixon" agitation; and his remarkable voting record — notable for the frequency with which he sides with the Democrats and his dexterity in recording himself on both sides of hot issues.

Says Gubser: Congressman McCloskey held a news conference after a trip to Laos. At this conference he made a number of charges which he claimed supported his suspicion that this country deliberately followed the practice of destroying villages.

"These and other allegations are simply not true, and anyone who makes them is serving the purpose of the radical New Left. We know the New Left prospers when it destroys the faith of Americans in their leaders.

"Immunity from criticism is not the right of any public official, but it is the obligation of those who criticize to be fair, factual and truthful. McCloskeyism has now become McCarthyism. Now McCloskeyism, only serves the New Left."

A graphic instance of McCloskey's voting both ways was on the appropriation for the House Internal Security Committee — long the target of leftists, ultra-liberals and other militants.

McCloskey sided with the latter in opposing an increase in the committee's funds and in the move to kill the entire budget by sending it back to committee. Then he turned completely around, when those moves were resoundingly defeated, and voted for the increased appropriation.

Thus, within little more than one hour and without saying a word, he achieved the unique feat of being on all sides of this politics-loaded controversy.

His voting record is replete with similar wily instances.

Another Republican colleague who will publicly tangle with McCloskey is Rep. Jack Kemp, Hamburg, N.Y., selected by the administration especially for this job.

An Army veteran and noted football star, Kemp is serving his first term in the House but already has established himself as a highly effective campaigner. In political circles, he is rated as a top TV performer, both in appearance and agility in debate.

Kemp, 36, played professional football 13 years. In 1965 he was proclaimed the Player of the Year, and twice was named All-AFL quarterback. He is co-founder and president of the American Football League Players Association, member of the NFL Players Association executive committee and Players Pension Fund.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

The Pill

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am taking birth control pills of a type that call for taking them for 21 days, then stopping until after the next period.

But what is to prevent ovulation from taking place before the pill is started in each cycle? And what is to prevent ovulation from taking place after you have taken the 21st pill?

Also suppose one had taken the pill regularly for nine days but was unable to take one in the following one or two days? Would pregnancy be probable? — F. N.

There seems, even now, a good deal of puzzlement over use of the pill. Even though women use it successfully, nobody tells them why it works.

It prevents pregnancy by preventing ovulation, but it does this by remote control. The hormones in "the pill" suppress the hormone that stimulates the ovaries to release an ovum.

Since ovulation ordinarily occurs about mid-cycle, taking "the pill" daily before that time, and for an additional time afterward, successfully prevents ovulation from occurring. And, of course, if no ovum is released to be fertilized, pregnancy does not occur.

There is a little — but very little — leeway in the schedule that should be followed. It is generally recommended that, if a pill is missed one day, two should be taken the next day. This seems to maintain sufficient protection against ovulation taking place.

But if the pill is missed two days in a row, then don't depend on the pill to provide protection against pregnancy in that cycle. Resort to some other form of contraception for the rest of the cycle.

It is a little too strong to say that pregnancy would be "probable" under such circumstances, but it most certainly would be possible.

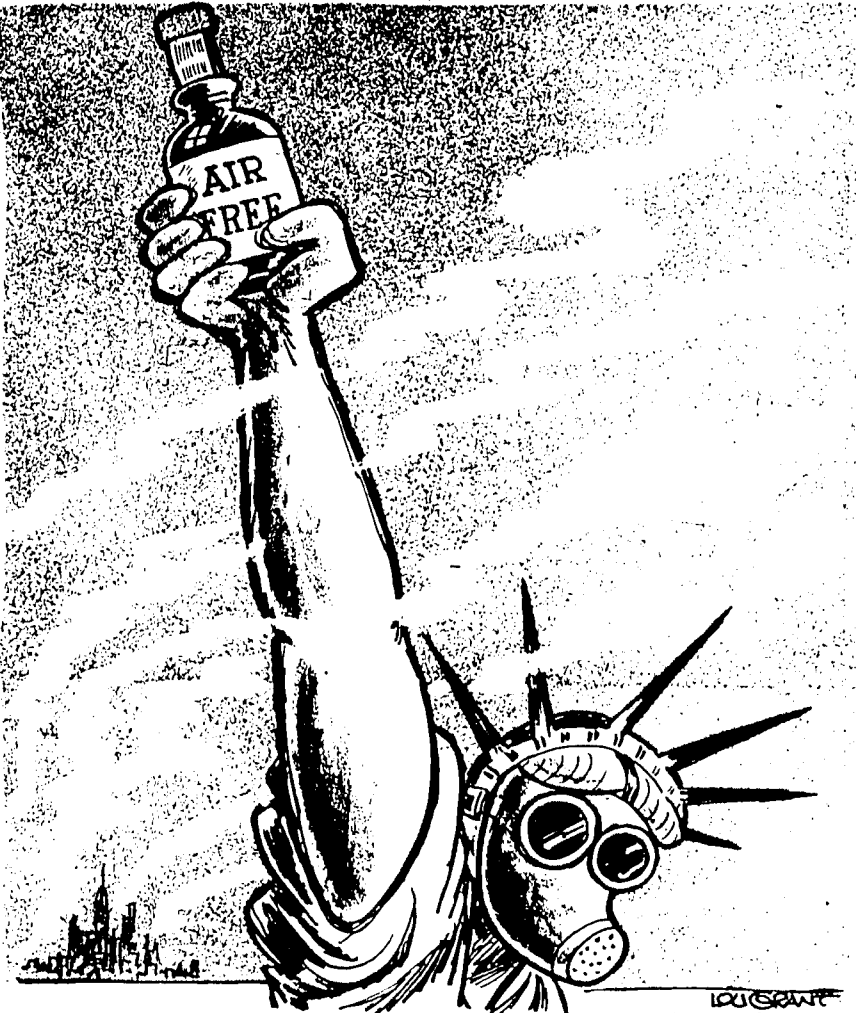

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like your booklet on "Lost Secrets of Reducing" for which I enclose 35 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

I also have another problem. I had only three periods in the last year, and they were more than five months apart. I am 29 and would like another baby as a playmate for my son. — B. S.

Well, too much overweight sometimes can interfere with ovulation — and hence with your menstrual periods, so by losing some weight you may well be on the way to solving your other problem. Since you have had the one child, you certainly were all right to begin with.

Diverticulosis is a bulge in the digestive tract. To become more familiar with the subject, write for Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Crazy Ideas

WASHINGTON — I keep having these crazy ideas, sometimes in the middle of the night when sleep should knit my raveled sleeve of care. One of them is spelled books, and with parents whining that kids are going to the dogs, and even to jail, I wonder whatever happened to reading as an adventurous pursuit for the younger set.

A book was a highly prized gift in the days before the 23-inch screen. Children not only read them, they seemed to enjoy the exercise. Today, however, they are forgotten in a frenetic parental preoccupation with "finding something for the kids to do," especially at night.

Turning a child loose on a book does not guarantee a sudden rise in the literacy rate. But it is an act of exposure with warming possibilities. After all, a book's primary function is to be read and if you leave one around the house long enough there is always a chance some moppet will read it, and never mind whether he moves his lips in the process. The child may even decide that a good book can be almost as interesting as the bathroom jokes on TV.

The problem is that in some childish quarters reading books is considered square. A kid caught reading a book is likely to turn defensive and claim he just happened to pick it up while hunting for a marijuana joint, and besides, the idiot tube was out of whack. He is harassed by the fear that reading is socially dangerous.

Bless his heart, somehow we should try to convince him that reading a book won't do him a bit of harm. He might even grow to enjoy books if exposed to them regularly, and start a new "in" trend among his fellows. Those friends may consider him a trifle stodgy at first, but if he really starts to read seriously he won't notice it. He won't notice anything, which may be the nicest thing about reading.

It might be a good idea to start the child off with a particularly good book — "Hans Brinker or the Silver Skates," for example. "Brinker" is not only fun to read and crammed with suspense, but it gives a sprout a chance to soak up nuggets of information he can sprinkle about the neighborhood with comfortable condescension.

In "Brinker," I first learned about caviar, a nutrient never served in our house. There, in those fascinating pages, the boys were asking for it at the Red Lion Inn in Leyden, with the author tossing in the explanation that it was made from the eggs of sturgeon. Ha! You may be sure I injected the subject of caviar into every conversation for a month until a parental order sentenced me to the woodpile to learn humility.

But the main thing parents should remember about the really good books is that they are so much more fun than any of the tired scripts of television. Can you beat "Kidnapped" for suspense? "Oliver Twist" for pathos? "The Wizard of Oz" for authentic, bottled-in-bond enchantment? They all make television look like the confused murmurings of a pageant offered by a company of retarded third-graders. And, all right, you got "Robin Hood" for violence — but on even terms.

As a citizen who has not spent his after hours in Christian Science Reading Rooms, I am yet capable of wondering why opening a book has fallen into such low esteem by our sophisticated toddlers. Perhaps the trend is of a piece with other examples of modern parental neglect. It never seems to occur to most mamas and papas that a kid might sew a seam of a Sunday night, or help with the dishes, or rent a bulldozer to clean up his room.

But never mind all that. I am an apostle of the art of the possible, and a book will do. Today's kids may demand some rewriting of old favorites and, maybe, more pictures. But even if a book comes out "Tom Swift in an Opium Den," it'll still have to be read to return your money's worth.

PAUL HARVEY

Next President

The next President of the United States will be . . .

Rarely in recent history has it been more fun to speculate as to who'll be our next President because so many want to be.

I suspect that a lot of middleweights are aspiring to the heavyweight championship just from having watched Mr. Nixon come from behind four years ago. They figure if he could anybody can. Of course, not everybody can.

Historically, our country prefers to move governors into the Presidency because, theoretically, they have more of the necessary administrative experience.

Yet Mr. Nixon, with experience only as a member of Congress and as Vice President — defeated as a candidate for governor — sought and got the White House.

So now we have Sens. Hughes and Bayh and Muskie and McGovern and Proxmire and Jackson and Kennedy all hopeful.

And, of course, Humphrey. And none of the others wants to help Humphrey until each has tested his own potential.

One day last January, during lunch in the House dining room, Congressman Jim Burke said, "Look at all those senators with their Madison Avenue images trying to sound like Presidents; why don't we tout somebody from the House half of Congress?" And so they did.

Tongue in cheek, at first, a handful of colleagues began to talk up Congressman Wilbur Mills for President. Each day additional House members endorsed Mills if only because it flattered the powerful chairman of their Ways and Means Committee.

Now dozens of the 254 Democrats in the House are supporting for President a man who could walk down most any main street in America unrecognized.

His most ardent supporters concede that Wilbur Mills is the darkest of the horses in the race, but so was Richard Nixon in 1967.

You understand that most incumbent politicians like to get themselves mentioned for President if only to enhance their prestige with their home-state voters. Few go so far as to establish organizations and solicit financial support for their candidacies. Yet Democrats, staggered by two assassinations, a President scratched and a candidate defeated, are suffering from a dearth of proved leadership. It's a wide open race for the Democratic nomination among a field of unspectacular contenders.

Muskie got away from the post fast, is lagging in the backstretch.

With a year to go it's much too early to speculate intelligently, but watch the party pros — still lying low — and you know they are hoping for a sprinter to move out front in the stretch — but they're putting their show money on Hubert Humphrey.

So as of this moment, 1972 looks like a replay of 1968. The several staying in the race know that on a fast track Nixon will win again. But if it's muddy, he won't.

If he keeps us prosperous and gets us out of Indochina nobody can beat him. If he doesn't, anybody could.

Hearing held at Boise

BOISE (UPI) — Only minor changes in proposed standards for individual sewer disposal systems were offered at a formal hearing Monday by the water pollution control section of the Department of Health.

Primary purpose of the standards, which govern septic tank and privy installations, is to protect the health and promote the safety of Idaho's citizens, Dr. Lee Stokes, chief of water pollution control, told the group.

Recommended adoption of the regulations. He also urged the Board of Health initiate studies into related environmental problems, and suggested the board request funds to properly administer the new provisions.

which are mutually concerned with environmental matters," Hummel said. A representative of the League of Women Voters and a staff member of Boise Cascade both supported the regulations and asked for stiffer regulations on septic tanks for multi-family dwellings.

Lockheed facing 1st test

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Nixon administration's effort to save Lockheed Aircraft Corp. from bankruptcy faced its first test in Congress today with Lockheed supporters confident of success.

The issue went before a closed meeting of the Senate Banking Committee, whose vote either will doom the rescue operation or send it out to the Senate floor, where stiff opposition awaited it.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., felt sure he had enough votes to save the firm and the 17,000 jobs involved in Lockheed's first attempt to re-enter the commercial jetliner field since it built and abandoned the money losing Electra in the early 1960s.

Lockheed says it is certain of bankruptcy unless Congress approves a bill under which $250 million of public funds would be risked on the success of Lockheed's new jumbo plane, the L1011 Tristar.

Even if Lockheed were to collapse, its defense activities would be kept going under a court-appointed trustee. But the Tristar, which ran into trouble when Rolls-Royce, its engine maker, went broke, would have to be abandoned.

Cosmonauts healthy

MOSCOW (UPI)—The three Salyut cosmonauts have undergone a detailed physical examination and indications are they remain in perfect health after 23 days in space.

The Soviet news agency Tass reports Monday night "all well" on board the station where Georgy Dobrovolsky, Vladislav Volkov and Viktor Patsayev have lived and worked since June 7.

It said they underwent detailed physical examinations — apparently examining one another — and pulse rates and blood pressures showed they were in fine shape.

Cabinet reviews economy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon today summoned his cabinet for a review of the still-troubled economy but administration spokesmen said no dramatic changes in policy were expected.

"This administration has confidence in the course of action we are pursuing," White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said. "We think it is working."

Ziegler said the President has no plans to ask for a speedup of the effective date of tax cuts now scheduled to take effect in 1972 and 1973. Some economists outside of the government have suggested an immediate tax reduction to spur the economy and ease the longest siege of high unemployment in 10 years.

The unemployment question figured in another decision facing Nixon today: Whether to veto a $5.4 billion measure that contains $2 billion for public works jobs such as sewer and hospital construction. The legislation, which includes money for keeping alive the Appalachian Regional Commission and other similar commissions, will become law at midnight unless Nixon vetoes it—and he was reported about to do so.

In addition to the cabinet meeting, Nixon called in his year-old National Commission on Productivity, a group of business, labor and government leaders headed by Director George P. Shultz, of the Office of Management and Budget. The commission has the job of suggesting ways to increase the productivity of the work force and thus increase output without boosting inflation.

Both meetings were private.

In a related development, the Commerce Department reported Monday that imports exceeded exports in May for the second straight month, the first back-to-back monthly trade deficit in 20 years.

Imports last month totaled $4 billion while exports amounted to $3.8 billion. The $205 million deficit followed a $214.7 million deficit in April and virtually wiped out the trade surplus recorded during the first three months of the year.

Pick site

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic leaders met today to pick a city for the 1972 national convention and to attend a dinner they hoped would net almost $800,000 for their House and Senate campaigns next year.

The convention sites under consideration already had been narrowed to Miami Beach, Fla., and Louisville, Ky. Miami Beach was viewed as the probable choice because of its hotel facilities, although both cities were reported to have votes in the site selection committee meeting at 10:30 a.m. EDT.

Lawyer claims slavery

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI)—Ruchell Magee, Angela Davis' co-defendant, said Monday if he can't prove he has been held in "illegal slavery" for the past eight years he will plead guilty in the Marin County shootout.

The 32-year-old San Quentin convict again dominated pre-trial proceedings which resumed Monday after weeks of suspension caused by his attempts to get the case transferred to the federal courts.

He called the prosecutor and two defense attorneys "buz-zards" and accused Superior Court Judge Richard E. Arns-on of being in "direct conspiracy with a bunch of loose, sorry, sick racist dogs."

And he told Prosecutor Albert W. Harris Jr.: "You need to be dead, Harris. You have hundreds of thousands of people illegally enslaved in jail."

Magee filed another series of motions, including one claiming he was fraudulently convicted of robbery and kidnap eight years ago and held illegally ever since.

Activist pleads innocent

NEW YORK (UPI) —Peace Activist Leslie Bacon pleaded innocent Monday to federal charges that she conspired to make firearms and incendiary bombs in connection with the attempted bombing of a Manhattan bank.

The 19-year-old Californian, first arrested as a material witness in the bombing of the capitol in Washington, pleaded innocent to all eight counts of the indictment.

U.S. District Judge Dudley B. Bonsal continued her in $10,000 bail and granted her request to travel to New Jersey to consult a lawyer. He referred the case to Judge Sylvester J. Ryan for trial but set no date.

"This is a nonsensical charge," Miss Bacon, a long-haired blonde girl who wore a red robe and blue jeans, told newsmen outside the courthouse in Foley Square.

"The government was trying to save face because they blew the other one," she said, referring to the investigation of the Capitol bombing by a grand jury in Seattle.

Common missions eyed for space

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Soviet and American command modules and space stations with mixed crews could be locked in earth orbit on common missions in the next four years, Dr. Robert R. Gilruth, manned spacecraft center director, said Monday.

"The name of the game would be to prove out the compatible docking systems," Gilruth said at a news conference on the results of a technical meeting last week at the space center with 19 Soviet space experts.

"There would be Soviet crews on one side and Americans on another, and they would no doubt, if they docked, they would want to open the hatches and visit with one another," Gilruth said.

He said scientists and engineers at the joint docking conference agreed to study missions which would dock American and Soviet command modules with space stations from the other nation to test the new docking system.

The announced purpose of the meetings was to develop compatible hardware and communications systems to link U.S. and Soviet spacecraft in emergencies.

Gilruth said the surprise study to determine if joint missions were feasible to test the system was proposed jointly.

"We discussed the possibility of joint operations between Apollo-type and Salyut-type spacecraft and between skylab stations and Soyuz," Gilruth said.

The Soviets already have a Salyut station orbiting earth. The first skylab space laboratory is scheduled for launch in 1973.

"I would say the mid '70s would be a reasonable time frame to think about," Gilruth said.

Young rocks

LUNAR ROCK found to be "surprisingly young" is indicated by Dr. Gerald J. Wasserburg of California Institute of Technology at press conference in Seattle after presenting paper at space science meeting. He said Apollo 14 collection of rocks has been dated at 3.85 to 3.95 billion years old, about half billion years younger than was hoped. He said dating apparently shows Moon was still being hit by planetary bodies 60 miles in diameter or larger at later time than was originally thought. (UPI)

Lower voting age seen Nixon danger

NEW YORK (UPI)—Samuel Lubell, the political analyst, reported Monday that his survey in high schools and colleges indicates that lowering the voting age to 18 may spell disaster for President Nixon's re-election bid in 1972.

Writing in Look magazine, Lubell said the survey was based on two months of interviews at 42 colleges and high schools in 17 states, and showed that more than a third of the students with Republican parents do not want Nixon re-elected. He said less than 10 per cent of the children of Democratic parents said they would defect to Nixon.

Moreover, Lubell reported, half the youth breaking away from Nixon said their parents will follow suit. Only in the South, he said, does Nixon show some gain over 1968 and this mainly from the offspring of the supporters of Gov. George Wallace of Alabama.

"Overriding impatience for quick withdrawal from Vietnam" dominated the political feeling of the new, youthful voters, Lubell concluded, adding that none of the possible Democratic-Presidential hopefuls has stirred any surge of enthusiasm among high school and college students.

They survey showed that 74 per cent of those interviewed want the United States to pull out of Vietnam now, 22 per cent would continue Nixon's plan of gradual withdrawal, and only 4 per cent would escalate the conflict.

Pioneer saga slated July 10

BURLEY — Plans for the presentation of "Saga of the Silent City of Rocks" near Almo July 10 have been completed. Leo Henschel outlined the plans for the event, to be presented at the City of Rocks, at a meeting of directors of the Cassia County Historical Society Friday. Don Whittle, a member of the Idaho Rangers, suggested the name for the celebration.

Tours are planned from 10 a.m. to 12 noon of the various famous rock formations and of the sites where five early day trails cross in Cassia County. Members of the Cassia County Historical Society will serve as tour guides, and be stationed at the points of interest.

At noon, Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy will address the group. Robert Saxvik, Cassia County senator, will be Murphy's guide for the day.

Following Murphy's address, members of the Idaho Rangers will stage a "Shoot Out at O. K. Corral."

Several covered wagons are scheduled to drive through the City of Rocks at 12:30 p.m. and the Idaho Rangers will re-enact a wagon train massacre. Boy Scouts holding the rank of Order of the Arrow will take the roles of the Indians.

At 1 p.m. a stage coach, which is being brought to the area from Ketchum, will roll down the trail in the City of Rocks and the Idaho Rangers will re-enact a stage robbery. The Oakley Vigilante members will serve as the posse to round-up the "bad guys."

The Sweet Adelines will sing several western and barbershop songs beginning at 1:30 p.m. under the direction of Clifford Mullikin.

The Ponderosa Little Theatre group will present "The Chips are Down" at 2 p.m. The setting is the front yard of the Blueberry Ranch in the 1890s. The play also is known as "Virtue Triumphant O'er the Laws of Chance."

At 3 p.m. the program will resume with the Idaho Rangers shoot-out at O. K. Corral, followed by covered wagon massacre, stage coach hold-up and at 4:30 p.m. the Singing K's are scheduled to sing several numbers.

Other attractions during the day will be the Old Time Fiddlers and square dancers.

There will be food booths set up in the City of Rocks and groups interested in putting up a booth should contact Jerry Herrmann, 678-3311.

Bill Yarger, Salt Lake City, will be the master of ceremonies.

Scribe avoids violence critique

By RICK DU BROW HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—There are certain things I expect to go through life without ever knowing about. One of them is Gloria de Haven's telephone number. Another is television violence.

Beyond knowing that there is indeed mayhem on the home screen, and that it undoubtedly affects some people one way and some other people another, I really don't expect to learn anything definitive about it.

There are periodic reports, and periodic studies, and periodic statistics—and probably everyone agrees that too much violence in children's shows is not desirable—but inevitably all this comes down to individual interpretation, and just horse sense in many cases.

Like politics, sex and religion, television violence seems destined to be an unsolvable matter in the sense that it is many things to many people.

It is also a very boring subject, really, once the obvious fact is stated that television would be better off with the least possible amount of unnecessary violence.

There are other video matters probably more worth being concerned about. For instance, the simple fact of its general mediocrity as an entertainment medium. Violence can be creative and have a point (note "Bonnie and Clyde"), and there are times when it can be entertaining simply for its professional excellence as a film endeavor (note "The Untouchables"). But mediocrity is unenjoyable under any conditions.

I was at the home of some friends on a recent Saturday morning, and I wondered whether their little son got more upset from the violent video cartoon he was watching or from hearing the nasty bickering of his parents across the breakfast table. I don't know. It was just a thought.

My six-year-old daughter is allowed to watch virtually anything she wants on television. Like everyone else, I'd like better programs but I don't figure it's video's responsibility to raise her anyway. I may criticize the boys at the networks for a lot of things, but I don't think it is written anywhere that they are to be held responsible for bringing up children.

Wreck victims located

EUREKA, Calif. (UPI)—Rescuers closed off a leak of poisonous chlorine gas Monday and recovered two more bodies of the 16 persons killed when a twin-engine DC3 clipped a sewage treatment plant, smashed against a jagged rock and sank in the Pacific Ocean.

The latest bodies were found floating in the ocean not far from where the plane, carrying 23 persons including a real estate salesman from a sea-coast development, plunged into heavy surf on takeoff Sunday night. The crash scene is 50 miles south of Eureka and about 200 miles north of San Francisco.

Gas was discovered escaping from the sewage plant early Monday, and the area around it evacuated while it was sealed.

Working in heavy seas and a 5 to 7-knot wind, helicopters, Coast Guard and sheriff's deputies searched for more bodies. The seven survivors were hospitalized and expected to recover. Four bodies had not been recovered.

Swells up to 5 feet pounded the cove, which is dotted with jagged rocks, including the 20-foot-high rock the plane struck before it plunged into the ocean.

Divers descended to the wreckage Monday to try to haul it to the surface with grappling hooks and cables.

"I could hear people yelling for help," said William Pass who witnessed the crash. "The plane had broken into pieces when it hit the rock and people were clinging to them."

Among the victims were the pilot, Merl Bassler, and copilot Lester Hall. The stewardess, Elizabeth Deauville of San Francisco, was injured but survived.

The plane was en route to San Jose, about 65 miles south of San Francisco, and then to Los Angeles.

Red Chinese boost African economy

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst
As Mainland China moves to re-establish ties with the outside world, one of her most fruitful areas of endeavor has been Africa.

Nigeria and the republic of Cameroon are among the more recent states to grant recognition to the Communist regime, giving Peking a 21 to 20 edge on the African continent over the Chiang Kai-Shek government on Taiwan which also has waged a determined campaign for African friendship.

Numbers become important in light of Peking's hopes for a seat in the United Nations.

In Africa, several elements work in favor of Peking. An important one has been the general lack of stability among new African nations, affording Peking a chance to win influence among insurgent groups it regards as voices of the future.

Another is a desire among African leaders to balance off or to play off Peking against Moscow. No African leader can be accused of being ready willingly to surrender national independence to any outside nation, including the Communists.

In the same pattern, recognition of Peking may be offered as proof of independence from the Western powers, most especially the United States.

One or more of the above elements play a demonstrable part in Mainland China's relations with all African nations.

The railroad which the Chinese are building to link Zambia and Tanzania provides an excellent example.

The objective is to make Zambia independent of white-ruled South Africa, Rhodesia and Portuguese Africa in export of its copper to the outside world.

To build it, the Red Chinese are lending Zambia and Tanzania $402.2 million, interest-free and giving them some 40 years to pay it back. The terms are impossible for the Nationalist Chinese on Taiwan to match and were rejected by both the United States and the world bank.

Chinese penetration of Africa is of concern to the United States.

But since Africa as a whole is one of those areas affected by a sharp cutback in U.S. aid, there is little the U.S. can do except sit back and watch.

Reading program under way

SHOSHONE — A summer reading program is under way at the Shoshone Library, reports Mrs. Marx Nielsen, librarian.

This year the program is based on the theme "Mission Possible."

Each youngster is invited to become a super sleuth and check the books he desires to read, keeping his own record. The casebook will be kept in secret file until the program is completed.

All children of the community are invited to participate.

Further details are available by contacting the librarian.

Soroptimists entertain

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Soroptimist Club entertained members of the Golden Age Club this past week at a gathering at the DAV Hall.

Soroptimists attending include Lora Doss, representative to the Golden Age Club, Ruth Guyer, Ina Howard, Nedra Greene, Greta Higgins, Helen Brown, Maida Olsen and Margery Hoops.

Lillian Sullivan was pianist for community singing led by John Henderson, Lillian Armga and Nellie Horejs. Mrs. Sullivan was soloist.

Dave Mitchell gave a reading, "I Had But Fifty Cents," assisted by Mrs. Armga. He also presented "Articles of Richard Armour," assisted by Margaret Huddleson, who showed drawings during the readings. Ivy Mitchell prepared the drawings.

Dancing and cards completed the evening entertainment.

MR. AND MRS. ROGER E. PARVIN

Miss Hill, Parvin recite promise

KIMBERLY — The First Christian Church, Kimberly, was the setting for the June 10 evening wedding of Bonnie M. Hill, daughter of Mrs. Agnes Hopkins, Santa Monica, Calif., and Roger E. Parvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Stumpf, Kimberly.

Rev. James Keefe performed the double ring ceremony before a setting of yellow and white chrysanthemums in tall baskets enhanced with white tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her mother, wore a white satin gown fashioned with a lace overskirt. The bodice featured a high neckline with pearl buttons down the front and long lace sleeves. She wore a ruby necklace belonging to the bridegroom's grandmother. Her veil of bridal illusion was held by a lace and pearl-trimmed bow. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and white daisies enhanced with yellow streamers.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Donald Stumpf, aunt of the bridegroom, Twin Falls, Mrs. Winston Kennedy, Kimberly, served as bridesmaid. Ernest Stumpf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stumpf, was ringbearer.

Best man was Winston Kennedy. Ushers were Mike Stumpf, brother of the bridegroom, and Donald Stumpf, uncle of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Wayne Eilers was soloist accompanied by Mrs. James Keefe. Mrs. Keefe also played background music and traditional wedding music.

The wedding reception was held in the church basement. A white cloth and organdy skirt covered the reception table. The wedding cake was decorated with yellow roses and cherubs. A miniature bride and bridegroom under white lace wedding bells, topped the cake. The cake was flanked by yellow tapers.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Albert Hall, Gooding, Mrs. Kenneth Pierson presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Harold Kennedy served the coffee.

Jeanne Pierson, Pocatello, presided at the guest book. Mrs. Lewis Huether and Janet Pierson were in charge of the gift table. The Christian Women's Society was in charge of the kitchen.

Special guest at the wedding was Mrs. Susan Jones, Gooding, grandmother of the bridegroom. Other guests attended from Jerome, Gooding, Twin Falls, Filer and California.

After a short honeymoon trip to Sun Valley, the bridegroom returned to his unit in Vietnam with the 101st Airborne Division. The bride will continue to make her home in Kimberly.

Valley couple observes 50th wedding anniversary

KING HILL — The 50th Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moore was held Sunday afternoon on the lawn and patio of their home with their children, Paul Moore, and Mrs. Rebecca Montague, Glenns Ferry, and Mr. and Mrs. Verne Moore, Boise, as hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore were married on the Owsley Bridge near Hagerman on June 22, 1921 at the time of the dedication of the bridge. Then, 10 years ago they were present for the dedication of the new bridge, near the location of the old one.

Mrs. Montague baked the wedding cake which was decorated by a granddaughter, Mrs. Chester Carpenter, Boise. Punch was served by granddaughter Cheri Moore, Boise. Michelle Moore, Boise, granddaughter, was in charge of the guest book, which was a diary started by Moore in 1914.

Three of the guests at the anniversary party Sunday attended the wedding ceremony in 1921.

Moore was a barber until his retirement. He had served as mayor of Glenns Ferry from 1946 through 1954, was a member of the school board for three years, a member of the ration board during World War II, and taught first aid classes. He was an active member of the American Legion for many years. Since retirement he has served as maintenance man at the Idaho State Bank, Glenns Ferry.

Moore was born in Utah in 1896 and Mrs. Moore in Wyoming the same year. They came to Hagerman in 1918 and to Glenns Ferry in 1944.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore have five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Guests attended from Nyssa, Ore.; Boise, Caldwell, Nampa, Jerome, Twin Falls, Gooding, Hagerman, Wendell and King Hill.

Since retirement, Moore has enjoyed working at cabinet work and painting. Mrs. Moore works with her flowers.

Magic Valley Favorites

JULIE MARTIN
1651 Miller Ave., Burley

LEMON MERINGUE PIE

7 tablespoons cornstarch
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups hot water
3 egg yolks, beaten
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1/2 cup fresh lemon juice
1 9-inch baked pie shell
3 egg whites, room temperature
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
6 tablespoons sugar

Mix cornstarch, one and one-half cups sugar and salt in saucepan. Gradually stir in water. Cook over direct heat, stirring until thick and clear, about 10 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir one-half cup hot mixture into yolks. Stir this back into hot mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring two to three minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in butter, lemon peel and juice. Cool. Pour mixture into baked pie shell.

Beat whites with cream of tartar until frothy. Beat in six tablespoons sugar, a little at a time. Beat until meringue stands in firm peaks. Spread on filling, making sure it touches crust all around. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 15 minutes or until brown. Cool.

The Times-News will pay $5 each week for Magic Valley Favorites. If you have a favorite recipe, just mail it to the Recipe Department, Women's Page Editor. The recipe becomes the property of the Times-News and cannot be returned.

Valley Living

DEAR ABBY: My husband [I'll call him "Joe"] spent six weeks in the hospital with a coronary and emphysema, but thank God he is going to be all right. His doctor told him he had to lose 45 pounds and give up cigarettes. Joe lost 26 pounds in the hospital and he didn't have one cigaret, which isn't easy for a three-pack-a-day man.

When I was at the hospital to take Joe home, his doctor walked into his room smoking a cigaret! Joe kiddingly asked the doctor for a cigaret, and would you believe, the doctor gave him one! [I could have strangled that doctor!]

Joe has been home for three weeks and he's smoking again. I just know if that doctor hadn't given him a cigaret Joe would have quit for good.

When I told the doctor what I thought of him he said, "I didn't think one would hurt him. Besides, I knew how much he wanted one because I can't quit either."

What do you think of that, Abby? If I hadn't witnessed this I never would have believed it. DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: So what else is new? That doctor used inexcusably poor judgment, but if all the doctors who are hooked on nicotine were laid end to end, they would reach the Sloane Kettering Institute—which isn't a bad idea.

DEAR ABBY: I have no problems [ha!], but I read about the lady who wanted to give her two poodle pups a birthday party but was afraid people would think she was "nuts."

I think she should. I have a Spanish radio program in Rosenberg, Tex., and when my poodle, Louie Bon Bon III, was a year old, we had a contest limited to children up to 12 years of age. The one who drew the most original birthday card for the dog would win a transistor radio. There were other prizes, too.

The winners came with their parents and we had birthday cake, and hot chocolate. We all sang "Happy Birthday" to Louie Bon Bon on the air. It was wonderful! MARUCA TIJERINA

DEAR MARUCA: Usted esta "arf" tambien.

DEAR ABBY: I take care of children, and in one of the places where I work I saw something I never saw before. There are pictures of nude women in the bedroom of a 7-year-old boy. I was shocked! I think 7 years old is too young for looking at naked ladies, if you ask me.

Otherwise, they seem to be nice people. I can't understand this. Should I tell the mother how I feel about those indecent pictures, or isn't it any of my business? I am no kid, Abby. I'll soon be 40. Please don't disclose my name or town. SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED: Obviously that mother doesn't look upon nudity as "indecent," which is her right. Tell her how you feel about those pictures if you wish. [She may appreciate knowing.] But in answer to your question, it's none of your business.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the girl who is engaged to a man who finds it impossible to say, "I love you," or pay his fiancée a compliment. Then he tries to excuse it by saying he just isn't the "demonstrative" type:

Run fast, dear, in the opposite direction. A man who is stingy with his compliments is stingy with his money, himself, and everything else. I married one of those "undemonstrative" types, and one day he got angry with me and he calmly knocked me halfway across the room—with practically no demonstration whatsoever. EXPERIENCED

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Baby quilt presented

SHOSHONE — A baby quilt was presented to Mrs. Duane Stigall for her new baby son, Gregory, when members of North Shoshone Home Improvement Club met this past week at the home of Mrs. John Stutznegger, Gooding. The gift was made by members.

During the business meeting, members voted not to enter a game booth at the July 4 celebration in Shoshone.

Mrs. Ladore Jones was reimbursed for expenses in purchasing Christmas gifts for an adopted patient and Mrs. Dean Guthrie for her crochet thread and pillow cases she has purchased for the club.

Mrs. Jones acknowledged a sympathy card sent her at her father's death.

Members displayed their wedding pictures and answered by telling where they began school. Mrs. A.H. Haigh won the hostess gift.

Mrs. Rachel Powers was a guest.

In absence of officers, Mrs. Clifford Stutzman acted as president and Mrs. Stutznegger served as secretary.

Valley Briefs

SHOSHONE — A special program will be held at the 7:30 p.m. Wednesday MIA meeting at the LDS Church for all young men and their parents. The program entitled "A Career in the FBI" will be presented by an FBI agent from Montana.

TWIN FALLS — Among those receiving scholarships for the Boise State College Band is Sarah Stobaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stobaugh, all Twin Falls. Sarah is a music major.

TWIN FALLS — Mary McClusky, Twin Falls, is a June graduate of the two-year X-ray technician course at Chicago Wesley Memorial Hospital School of Radiologic Technology. The graduates received their certificates on June 25.

SHOSHONE — Sonja Runberg celebrated her 6th birthday Saturday with a special shopping trip and entertainment of family and friends. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Runberg.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Harold H. Nussbaum, Twin Falls, is among the 750 students who were awarded bachelor degrees from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in June. Nussbaum is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Nussbaum, and he received a bachelor of science degree in political science.

LAWRENCE, Kans. — Three Magic Valley students are among the 56 selected high school students from 25 states that are attending the 1971 Science and Mathematics Institute at the University of Kansas June 13 to July 23. They are Alan W. Biggs, Jerome, and Gene Deahl and Michael L. Frey, both Twin Falls.

HOLLISTER — Persons attending the Hollister High School reunion potluck picnic July 4 at Nat-Soo-Pah, are asked to bring a covered dish and their own table service. Chicken, rolls, ice cream and punch will be furnished.

Trip report presented at club meet

SPRINGDALE — Mrs. Harvey Freestone reported on her recent trip to Southern Utah during the meeting this past week of the Happy Homemakers Club, with Mrs. Pearl Crofts as hostess.

Mrs. Camilla Bronson reported her travels to the East Coast, mentioning several points of interest in Baltimore and Washington, D.C. Other comments on travels were given by Mrs. Hartell Woodland and Mrs. Ray Zollinger.

Saving seniors

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Dr. Idabel Burns Lindsey of the President's Task Force on Aging believes "society's view of the elderly must be changed." Dr. Lindsey said that once old people are viewed as lost causes, they often withdraw from society and become candidates for premature death.

Swimming party slated

TWIN FALLS — The Shamrock Busy Bees 4-H Club held a meeting this past week. Jeanette Annis, president, reported that there would be a swimming party-picnic Aug. 2 at Nat-Soo-Pah if projects are completed.

About 135 high school students attended the camp this summer, performing in band, orchestra, choir and stage band.

Nathan was a member of the camp choir, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nathan, Pocatello.

A Lovelier You

BAREFOOT GIRL, LEG OF TAN

By Mary Sue Miller

Summertime makes special demands on feet and legs, their appearance and comfort. Special attention is a must. You are reminded of neglect with pains and pained looks.

Care is cinchy. The same procedures result in frisky feelings and attractive viewing. See for yourself.

Foot Department: Feet require a daily scrub with a stiff brush, a weekly pedicure and, if plagued by corns and bunions, regular visits to a podiatrist. When encased in shoes, feet respond to additional pampering: A massage with foot lotion before donning stockings, foot powder dusted into shoes, rotation in wearing of shoes, and several changes of stockings each day.

Leg Department: No getting around it, legs must be defuzzed regularly. There's nothing like a loofah sponge at bathtime to keep the complexion smooth. Several lotion massages, daily, aid the cause.

A film of suntan lotion is essential whenever you go bare-legged. Legs that need makeup for any reason should have it. But the job must be run-proof and expert.

Grace Department: A bathing suit brings the grace of a leg to the fore as nothing else can. Let those who will stand spread-eagle and display their awkwardness. You stand tall and keep your knees in close formation. Stretch straight when you stretch out to sun. Sprawling is not for the likes of Lovelies.

STRICTLY PERSONAL

Everything you need to know about deodorants, anti-perspirants and depilatories is contained in my leaflet, STRICTLY PERSONAL. All doubts are cleared up about why, what, when and how to use these safeguards of femininity. # Harbor House bid call July 7

TWIN FALLS — Bids for construction of a permanent Harbor House of Magic Valley will be opened July 7 at 5 p.m., Duane Wubker of the architect firm of Ivan Stone, Twin Falls, has announced. Judge Daniel Meehl, Magistrate Court, chairman of the Harbor House board of directors, said the call for bids was issued by the architects upon completion of plans for the building. The structure is being built with funds donated by individuals and organizations of Twin Falls including major contributions from the Country Music Association and Junior Club over the past several years. These funds will be matched with federal money under the Law Enforcement Planning Commission. The building will be located at the north end of Fillmore Street on what will be Caswell Avenue when the two streets are continued. Land for the structure was donated by Our Savior Lutheran Church, Twin Falls. Architects have designed the building to meet current immediate needs of the youth foster home facility, but with a possibility of easily expanding the structure at some later time if needed. There will be separate wings for boys and girls with central living quarters for the house parents. Harbor House opened two years ago at 217 Shoshone St. N., in rented property. The present facility, now listed for sale by the owners, could be sold at anytime leaving the institution without facilities, Meehl said. It is also poorly adapted to the need of Harbor

House and in need of rewiring and other costly improvements if it is to meet standards for such foster home care. Harbor House provides a temporary home for children who become wards of the court or for some other reason are removed from their homes or left without parent care by emergency or accident. Children from infants to 18 years of age are cared for in the home.

In Jerome

SVEN BJORK, Swedish tenor, will appear at the Jerome Assembly of God Church at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, the Rev. Sheldon Slagel, pastor, said today. The concert is open to all interested persons. Bjork is currently touring the United States. He has been featured as a gospel singer on the Swedish radio network and in Stockholm churches.

Media interest in papers high

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (UPI)—A member of the Federal Communications Commission told Idaho broadcasters Monday he felt the government would have moved more rapidly had a broadcaster, instead of a newspaper, broken the story on the Pentagon papers. Commissioner, Thomas J. Houser said however he felt there was more interest among the news media than the general public in the Pentagon papers incident.

The FCC in getting their licenses renewed.

He said a good indication of this is the history of license revocation, which shows that few licenses have been revoked.

During a panel discussion on community affairs newsman Sal Cieski of KTVB, Boise, said he felt broadcasters must earn the respect of their news sources.

If they show up just once a year at news conferences, he said, they should not expect to be recognized by the persons conducting the conference.

Most broadcasters agreed that to be effective in their communities they must take part in community affairs.

Grange meets in new hall

SHOSHONE — Magic Grange members met for the first time in the new Grange Hall Friday, although the structure has not been completed.

The hall replaces the original facility, which burned this past December.

Plans for two coming events were announced. One is a grassman tour on July 8, and the other is the presentation of a scholarship July 1 at Dietrich to Donald Price, north Shoshone. Ed Harper, Flier, will make the presentation.

Dan Faught and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Farnworth were obligated as members.

A committee to purchase furniture for the new hall was appointed. Members are Mrs. George Horn, Mrs. Paul Bancroft and Mrs. Farnworth. Mrs. Ed Sheer, women's activity chairman, said women of the home economics club will buy 50 cups for the kitchen.

A Father's Day program was presented. Mr. and Mrs. Dean Barney were guests.

News Of Servicemen

Demos will hear Andrus

TWIN FALLS — Democratic party leaders and members from eight Magic Valley counties will meet in Twin Falls Thursday at 8 p.m. with Gov. Cecil Andrus and several other state officials, Vincent Smazal, district coordinator, announced today.

He said this will be the first of several eight-county meetings called to make plans for the 1972 elections and to discuss party plans and to review state issues.

Smazal said Gov. Andrus should have some interesting conclusions about the past session of the Idaho Legislature to discuss with local Democrats. In addition several legislators including Ed Williams, Lewiston, state representative, and John Evans, Malad, state senator; Vernon Ravenscroft, Gooding County representative; Attorney General Anthony Park and others are expected to attend.

Smazal said an informal meeting will be held in the Holiday Inn at 8 p.m. followed by refreshments. Party members from all surrounding counties are urged to attend the meeting, Smazal said, and contribute ideas and hear discussions in order to coordinate efforts to increase the number of Democratic officers elected in the 1972 election. Counties indicating plans to participate include Twin Falls, Jerome, Gooding, Lincoln, Camas, Blaine, Minidoka and Cassia. In addition other interested persons are invited to attend, the coordinator said.

Cassia changes high school plan

By LePAGE LAYTON
Times-News Writer

BURLEY — Trustees of School District No. 151 reversed a building program decision made earlier and voted to change plans for construction of classrooms at Burley High School.

Monday night, trustees voted to add more classrooms on the vocational building, with the number determined by the $40,000 available for the work. During a meeting two weeks ago, trustees had voted to add onto the high school's west wing. It was pointed out that $40,000 is available for construction and that if the classrooms are not needed later, they can be converted to vocational use if they are added onto the vocational wing. It is on the other side of the school.

They also viewed a film, "Whisper of Dissent," which portrayed teacher association versus school board conflicts.

Weekend sentence given

TWIN FALLS — Darrell Jay Blevins, 29, Burley, was sentenced by Fifth Judicial District Court Judge James Cunningham Monday afternoon to serve 40 days in the county jail following his earlier conviction on a charge of resisting an officer.

Judge Cunningham ordered Blevins to serve the sentence in 48-hour periods on weekends over the next five months. Blevins was originally charged with resisting an officer by means of violence, a felony, and was brought into court under the felony charge. A district court jury found him guilty of this charge June 16.

Wendell awards contract

WENDELL — A contract to convert the coal furnace at Wendell High School was awarded to a Gooding firm Monday night after bids were opened during a special meeting of the Wendell School Board.

Petersen's of Gooding was the apparent low bidder with $3,120, while the Bradley Boiler Co., Inc., of Twin Falls submitted the only other bid in the amount of $3,267.

The conversion will begin immediately, according to Lawrence LaRue, superintendent, and will be complete when school opens this fall. Trustees also rehired district custodians.

Shoshone Falls grade in high." Nelson, now on his way home, also visited with his son, Don Nelson, Idaho Falls, who brought him here to visit with the Tom Nelson family.

Picabo man named to pilot unit

BOISE — Leonard Purdy, Picabo, has been named one of the directors of the newly organized Idaho Pilots' Association.

Shoshone rider honored

SHOSHONE — Trudi Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Smiley Wilcox, Shoshone, won the horsemanship award at the Intercollegiate Rodeo Finals at Bozeman, Mont.

First meeting of the board is set for July 10 in the Simplot Hangar at Gowen Field, Boise, reports A. J. Gaige, Boise, president. Workshops on mountain flying will be conducted in August.

She was one of 25 girls from across the nation to enter the contest there and was also named one of two attendants to the girl chosen as queen. Selected as queen was Claudia Baroni, Fresno State College, now the 1971 Miss College Rodeo Queen.

News Of Servicemen

TWIN FALLS — Navy Seaman Apprentice Terry D. Kennedy, Twin Falls, is aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Oriskany, now deployed with the Seventh Fleet in the western Pacific.

The other attendant was Sandra Humphrey, University of Kansas.

GOODING — Petty Officer First Class Robert VanBeuge, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Evans, Gooding, has been graduated from electrician's mate "B" school at Great Lakes, Ill., Naval Training Center.

Miss Wilcox and her mother returned home Sunday. She received a silver bowl, engraved, and a hat and pair of boots as prizes for her honors. She was sponsored by the Treasure Valley Community College, where she just completed her freshman year in school. She represented the Northwest Rocky Mountain Region, composed of Washington, north Idaho, Montana and Oregon.

Project ok'd in Minidoka

By Jerry Herrmann
Times-News Writer

RUPERT — Minidoka County School District trustees were brought up to date Monday on the summer migrant student program which the district is operating.

Gene Snapp, principal in charge of the program, told the board there are 90 children enrolled in the program. These children range in age from 6 to 12. Snapp said any students who are migrants are eligible for the program. Usually the program is held to bring the migrant students up to par with the regular students. He said they usually miss out on about half a year of school.

This year the emphasis has been on oral language development and the use of English through studying Idaho history. Snapp told the board some of the children speak English but the majority speak no English.

In other business: —The board approved a resolution permitting the school district to get a tax anticipation note for $150,000 at 3.45 per cent interest from Idaho First National Bank. The board will have a total of $318,000 in tax anticipation notes outstanding when this one is purchased. The last note was needed to pay the payroll for June, and May bills.

—The board tabled decision on the gymnasium floor problem at the East Minico Junior High School.

—A request for a raise in salary for Grant Williams, custodian, was tabled until the next meeting.

—The school district's central office staff was instructed to have the principals of the junior high schools present to explain if they received 70 football uniforms for which the district has been charged.

2 Patrol boats continue search

OAKLEY — Cassia County Sheriff Ray Mitchell is at Lower Goose Creek Reservoir today directing patrol operations on the reservoir which claimed eight lives June 20.

Two patrol boats remained at the reservoir near Oakley today, searching for six bodies which are still missing. Officials at the Oakley Canal Co. said a temperature reading at the bottom of the reservoir was taken after the accident, showing a temperature of 39 degrees. This cool temperature could indicate that it will be some time before the bodies will surface.

Two of the bodies were located floating in the water several hours after the accident, but no sign of the boat or the other six bodies has been found.

Celebration set

GLENN'S FERRY — The annual July 4 celebration here will be staged on Monday, July 5, at Hull Memorial Park.

beginning at 4 p.m. with a girls softball game at 5:30, men's slow pitch softball at 7 p.m., fireworks at 9:30 p.m. and a dance at the city hall at 10 p.m.

The parade is to begin at 10 a.m. and among the entries will be a covered-wagon train assembled for the Three-Island Park dedication parade.

General chairman of the committee is James Carpenter, Neal Carson is in charge of the parade; Charles Farris, park security and readiness; Mrs. Gerald Bybee, flag ceremonies; K. Clark, airplane and ping-pong ball drop.

Other activities on the agenda are gymkhana at 11 a.m.; flag-raising at noon; kids races at 2 p.m.; ping-pong ball drop 3:30; Little League baseball games

Former resident notes changes in Twin Falls

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Main Avenue doesn't look much like it did in 1917, Fred Nelson, 91, Griswold, Iowa, found during a visit here.

The former resident, grandfather of City Councilman Tom Nelson, once operated a King automobile agency on Main Avenue North, where the Syder Office Machine Co. is now located.

He said the business only lasted about a year because the manufacturers of King automobiles went out of business.

Auto caravan to boost event

BUHL — An auto caravan with the Sagebrush Days queen and junior princess contestants will tour all Magic Valley cities Thursday to advertise the rodeo and the annual celebration, Friday, Saturday and Sunday in Buhl, according to Jim Hopkins, queen contest chairman.

queen, Mackay Rodeo queen and queen of Salmon River Days.

SUN VALLEY — A Twin Falls girl who was injured Sunday night in a one-vehicle accident south of Stanley remains in critical condition at Sun Valley Hospital.

Queen contestants include Genny Peterson, Melody Brown, Deanne Ricketts, and Sue Ellen Smith. Junior princess contestants are Shelley Van Ostran, Janice Novak, Kay Birdwell and Justine Novak. Winners will be announced during the final rodeo performance Saturday evening.

Melody Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Birchie Brown, is 18 years old and was named junior princess at the Gooding County Fair and Rodeo.

Michelle Hmelevski, 16, was a passenger in a car driven by James H. Couch, 18, Twin Falls. Others in the vehicle were John Jensen, 18, Twin Falls, and Leona Wright, 16, Filer, who are hospitalized in fair condition. Couch was released from the hospital Monday.

Miss Peterson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson, Lemhi. She is 20 years old and was named War Bonnet Sue Ellen Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Smith, Boise, has been active in the Boise State college Rodeo Club.

Idaho State Police said the Couch vehicle was traveling south on U.S. 93 about two and a half miles from Stanley when it passed a car and lost control, rolling twice. All four occupants were thrown from the vehicle.

Credit code effective July 1

(Editors note: If you buy or sell goods or services on credit or borrow and repay loans from banks or other lending institutions, Thursday will be an important day for Idahoans. One July 1, a far-reaching state law goes into force to regulate credit activities in the state. The New Idaho Uniform Consumer Credit Code will provide regulations in areas which do not now have statutory regulation, provides some consumer protection in several areas and extends to state enforcement areas which have previously been enforced by the federal government.

$100 for 30 days and be asked to pay back $105 — but that would be a 60 per cent yearly interest rate.

traordinary circumstances. There are two kinds of consumer purchases of goods or services covered by Idaho's UCCC: the conditional sales contract and the revolving account.

rates, although they are usually one to 1 1/2 per cent per month. Under the new UCCC, the allowable maximum finance charge is made if the payment is made within 30 days.

On the other hand, discussions of 18 per cent per year interest raised much debate during legislative sessions, yet on the same $100 loan that rate would mean a payback of only $101.50, barely enough in some instances to handle the cost of the loan.

The complex code will regulate credit sales of both goods and services, provide protection for consumers using credit and provide for maximum allowable interest rates on credit transactions.

Those who extend credit or charge a credit service charge or receive payments in installments must register this year with the commissioner of finance. The annual registration fee is $25 — plus a graduated fee on the amount of credit extended — but this year will be only $12.50 to cover the last six months of 1971.

In a "conditional sales contract" or "closed end account" which usually covers larger purchases such as appliances, furniture or automobiles — equal monthly installments are paid on the total cost of the item and the finance charge is determined by the length and amount of the contract.

A growing number of persons are using "lenders" or bank credit cards to make their purchases. Merchants who allow use of such cards pay the banks a percentage of the amount of purchase to cover the cost of handling the credit-transaction.

This is the first of four dispatches on the new Idaho UCCC. Today: consumer credit sales. By LINDY HIGH

With the exception of some amendments, Idaho's UCCC is almost identical to the model code drawn up by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws in 1968 following five years of study. The code was introduced in almost every state in 1969 or 1970 and was enacted in Utah, Oklahoma, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado and Indiana.

Generally, the consumer credit sales provisions apply only to the day-to-day purchases of individuals and not to transactions made for business purposes and not to purchases for re-sale by businesses.

Currently, finance charges on these "closed end" accounts are not regulated by statute. Under the UCCC the maximum legal rate on "closed end" accounts will be 36 per cent per year on the part of the unpaid balance $300 or less, 21 per cent from $300 to $1,000 and 15 per cent above $1,000 — or, as an alternative, 18 per cent per year on the entire amount.

Idaho's UCCC will limit finance charges on such cards to 1 1/2 per cent per month, or 15 per cent per year.

Credit — and the use of it — is one of the more confusing aspects of financial transactions for many persons. It may not seem unreasonable to borrow

The "consumer credit sales" portion of the measure applies to day-to-day sales or to services (such as medical) if credit is

Retailers who do not come under the provisions of Idaho's UCCC — and who do not have to register — include those who accept only "lenders credit cards" such as bank cards and do not carry their own credit; retailers who use only the traditional 30 day open account, and retailers who do not in the normal course of business extend credit but may do so under ex-

The revolving or "open end" account — usually used for household purchases such as clothing — provides for a finance charge applied to the monthly balance. There is now no statutory provision for the

He said while he did not think Idaho's legislature meant to cover traditional 30-60-90 day accounts, he would have to strictly enforce the act's provisions to protect merchants from lawsuits by consumers.

He said he may ask for "clarification" from the next legislature.

National Guard band sets Rupert concert

July 4 fete to include band

RUPERT — The Idaho National Guard 25th Army Band, Caldwell, recognized as one of the finest military bands in the nation, will be featured during the 11 a.m. parade, July 5 at Rupert.

This will be during the final day of the July celebration and the band will present a concert at 3 p.m. in the city park. Theme of the parade is "Happiness Is."

The band was organized in Caldwell as the band section of Headquarters Troop, 116th Cavalry, Idaho National Guard, in 1925, and except for periods of active federal service during World War II and the Korean War, has been an integral part of musical activity in Caldwell down through the years.

The original band leader was Warrant Officer J.J. Smith, who served until the late 1930's. Prior to a 57-month tour of duty in World War II, other leaders were Earl Tunison, now of Boise, and Goren E. Christensen, now of Los Angeles.

In 1940, the unit's designation was changed to regimental band, 183rd Field Artillery. At the end of World War II, the band was re-activated as the 25th Army Band and in 1947 Bill Rankin was a appointed band leader. He has been succeeded by Don Roblyer.

The band spent considerable time in radio and television work, and gained a national reputation when stationed at Camp Carson, Colo., and Camp Kilmer, N.J., after it was ordered into federal service in October, 1950, during the Korean War.

Returning to Caldwell in late 1952, the band then started producing a 15-minute taped radio show which ran for more than 10 years throughout the state. The band appeared monthly on TV, in parades, at military functions and made personal appearances. In 1967 command and direction of the band went to Roblyer.

Roblyer was born and reared in Caldwell, has been a musician since the sixth grade in school. In World War II, he served in field artillery units, entering the Army band shortly before his discharge.

After World War II, he returned to Caldwell, entered the College of Idaho and became pep band director, later joining the 25th Army Band. Between 1950-1952, when the band was in active federal service, Roblyer devoted full time to playing and musical arranging. Many of the band's successful arrangements were made during this time.

When the band returned to Caldwell in 1952, Roblyer returned to his employment at the post office and continued to serve in the National Guard band. He also started a dance band, "The Idahoans," with a nucleus of the 25th Army Band members and played regularly at the Miramar Ballroom, Boise.

After disbanding "The Idahoans," he played and arranged for the Jim Baker band, Boise. Then he organized as the "Don Roby Group," which performs in the Treasure Valley.

He and Mrs. Roblyer have two sons and one daughter.

Rupert holds horse clinic

RUPERT — The Ralph Casad Training Stable has been the scene of a horse clinic for several days, with Monte Foreman, Elberta, Colo., the instructor.

Mini-Cassia area residents who attended the eight sessions were Marshall May, Grant Matthews, Shelly Matthews, Gary Uhrich, Pat Howe, Anna Christ, Colleen Pate, Dianne Bromeschenble, George Welch, and Carmen Cutler.

Casad has been training horses for many years, starting as a hobby and a liking for horses. Two years ago, he built a horse barn with a large indoor arena for training. North of the barn is a large outdoor arena which is also used regularly.

Seeing the need for additional training, Casad arranged for Foreman and his helpers to conduct a horse clinic at his stables.

Foreman travels with five horses and two assistants. He has conducted some 669 clinics in 40 states in past 20 years. The clinic at the Casad Stables, Rupert, is the second time

Foreman has conducted a clinic in Idaho. The first time was at Rupeft about 10 years ago.

Horses that he has trained have won over 16 national horse show performance championships in Arabian, Pinto-Paint, Appaloosa, and Quarter Horse Association in reining, pleasure, western riding, stakes and barrel racing events.

He has taught 20 Miss Rodeo America contestants, many rodeo queens, three national champions in reining and western riding, reserved national champion and regional champions in cutting, roping and other events.

Cassia reports mailbox damage

BURLEY — The Cassia County sheriff's office has received complaints of mailboxes being blown up. Anyone having information or description of the car involved is asked to phone the sheriff's office.

Mailbox damage has been reported by Jim Hanzel, 200 South 325 East; Henry Weber, 150 East and 100 South; Robert Hilliard, 100 South 70 East; Henry Neiwert, 360 South 50 East, and Charles M. Wilson, 350 South and 50 East.

Monday about 4 a.m. the mailbox of Jerry Hirai, Idaho, as blown up, he reported to the sheriff's office.

At one of the mailboxes an "Eight M. Firecracker" was found which was a dud and officers believe this is what the person or persons are using to damage the mailboxes.

"Upon arrest for destroying mailboxes the person or persons will be prosecuted," reported Sheriff Ray Mitchell.

Joins suit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Monday allowed Idaho to become a party to an anti-pollution suit being pressed by 16 states against the big four automobile companies.

Arguments are scheduled for next fall on whether this and two other anti-pollution suits may be filed directly in the high court.

Homecoming slated at Albion campus July 3

By GEORGIA LAYTON Times-News Correspondent

ALBION — A homecoming is planned for July 3 at the Campus in Albion for alumni of the former Albion State Normal and Southern Idaho College of Education.

Last year more than 200 alumni and former faculty members attended the homecoming and it was decided to hold the second homecoming around July 4.

Since the Fourth of July is on Sunday this year the officers have scheduled the homecoming Saturday, according to Keith Amende, Albion, president of the alumni. Registration and coffee hour will begin at 11 a.m. in Bocoek Hall Library.

Dinner will be served at 12:15 p.m. and the business meeting and program will be from 1 p.m.

to 3 p.m., according to alumni officers.

The Oregon Trail Festival of Arts who presently occupy the Albion Campus will present the play "Fanny Girl" free to alumni at 3 p.m. if dinner tickets are purchased.

The city of Albion, which purchased the campus from the state, has leased the property to a group who have incorporated as The Oregon Trail Festival of Arts. They plan to offer special courses of various phases of the arts. A representative from this group will tell alumni at the homecoming more about their plans.

There will not be a celebration in Albion this year as was held last year, so the alumni will be able to concentrate on making this homecoming one of the best ever held, Amende said.

The mailing list of alumni is incomplete, according to the alumni officers, but anyone who is an alumni of the Albion State Normal or Southern Idaho College of Education is invited.

Reservations may be made by writing to Keith Amende, president, Albion State Normal and Southern Idaho College of Education Alumni Association, Albion, Idaho, 83311. Reservations may also be phoned to 673-2265.

Officers of the alumni association are Amende, president; Mrs. Joy Cagle, Albion, vice president, and Shirley Clark, secretary-treasurer.

Idaho-Oregon grant okayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Len Jordan, R-Idaho, said Monday the Economic Development Administration had approved a $45,000 grant to help plan for economic growth in a 12-county area of Idaho and Oregon.

The grant to the Idaho-Ore Economic Development Association, Inc., Weiser, will serve Ada, Adams, Boise, Canyon, Elmore, Gem, Owyhee, Payette, Valley and Washington counties in Idaho and Harney and Malheur Counties in Oregon.

Jordan said Ida-Ore is providing $15,000 to meet the $60,000 total cost of the planning program for a year.

Grass tour on tap

FILER — The public is invited to attend the annual Idaho Grassman Tour Thursday, Don Youtz, county extension agent, said Monday. The tour will begin at 9 a.m. at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds at Filer and will conclude with a no-host luncheon at noon.
Speakers will include Gene Thomas, John Thomas; Wayne Thiessen, extension soil specialist; Dorrell Larsen, extension irrigationist, and Harold Harris, plant materials specialist from the Soil Conservation Service, as well as Alan Humphries, Kimberly, Agricultural Research Service official.

Maximum beef production from irrigated pasture on the farm of Gene and John Thomas, Idaho's 1970 Grassman of the year winner, will be featured, according to Ed Novacek, Buhl, chairman of the grassman committee.
Also serving on the tour committee are representatives from the Twin Falls Balanced Rock Soil Conservation District, the Snake River Soil and Water Conservation District, Clarence Hedrick, Doug Bishop of the Soil Conservation Service, and Donald Youtz, extension agricultural agent, who is committee secretary.

Soil conservation needed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In spite of nearly four decades of growing attention to soil conservation, nearly two-thirds of the nation's nonfederal rural land still needs some kind of conservation treatment.
That summary emerges from a newly updated national inventory of soil and water conservation needs as of 1967 just published in Washington by the Agriculture Department's Soil Conservation Service (SCS). The inventory was the first since 1958.
SCS technicians said the inventory covers all privately owned rural land, plus land owned by state and local governments, in 3,087 counties in the 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. The 1.438 billion acres of land covered represents 63 per cent of all land in the nation, including 75 per cent of all land in the 48 mainland states, 90 per cent of the land in Hawaii and less than 1 per cent of the land in Alaska.

The report showed that 44 per cent of the inventory land — about 631 million acres — is classed as suitable for cultivation. This is more than twice the amount of land currently being used for crops.
However, the report added, 63 per cent of all the inventoried land needs some kind of conservation treatment. This includes 64 per cent of the cropland, 71 per cent of the pastureland, 66 per cent of all rangeland, 62 per cent of the forest acreage and 28 per cent of other land.

Also, the report estimated, nearly half of the nation's small watersheds still need protective measures to reduce flooding and cope with other environmental problems.
The massive new summary, including state by state estimates of the various classes of land and their conservation needs, said the 631 million acres classed as suitable for conservation included 365 million acres currently rated as cropland.
The remaining "suitable for conservation" acreage included

117 million acres used as pasture or range, 128 million acres currently in forests and 23 million acres as "other" land.
In addition, the report noted there was another 180 million acres listed as "marginal for cultivation." About 50 million acres of this marginal land was actually in crop use.

The report said conservation measures needed included a wide range of practices including terracing, grass cover, drainage and improved water management.

Many children miss free lunch

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Estimates from state educational agencies indicate that 500,000 needy children eligible for free or token-priced school lunches in April were not getting them, an Agriculture Department report showed today.
Officials said the state estimates, covering 79,760 schools participating in the National School Lunch Program in April, showed that: —The participating schools had total average daily attendance of 39.9 million children, with 24.3 million eating lunches at school.
—About one fifth of the total attendance, or 7.9 million, were classed as needy and thus eligible for free or token-priced lunches.
—And about 7.4 million children, or 94 per cent of those eligible, actually were eating lunch free or at specially reduced prices of no more than 20 cents a meal.
Richard E. Lyng, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, said in an interview the apparent gap between the number of eligibles and those actually being fed may not be entirely accurate. In some cases, he said, the school estimates of enrollment of needy children may be too high.

However, Lyng added, part of the gap may be due to the fact that some schools "are not doing their job," and another part to the failure of some needy children to apply for help.

Chicago exchange to list revised potato futures

CHICAGO — Revised futures contracts for Idaho Russet Burbank potatoes and for frozen skinned hams will be listed for trading on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange Thursday, Everett B. Harris, president, announced.

The major change in the Idaho potato contract calls for par delivery for carlots on track FOB at Pocatello and Nampa, Idaho, with an allowance made to the buyer of freight charges published and recognized by the Interstate Commerce Commission between the point of origin and Chicago.

The former contract called for par delivery of carlots at Chicago or on track at Kansas City, Mo. or FOB Idaho with an allowance made to the buyer of the difference of freight charges between point of delivery and Chicago.
The major change in the ham contract was an increase in the permissible size of the collar for 50 percent to 55 percent of the ham.
Trading in the ham contract will terminate 10 business days prior to the end of the month with deliveries beginning on the first business day and terminating five business days prior to the end of the month. The length of permissible storage time was raised to eight months from six months.
The potato contract calls for deliveries in November, 1971 and January, March, April and May 1972. The frozen ham contract is for November, 1971 delivery.

Survey charted on Gem wheat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Department officials report they are making a special survey in 14 states to find out how much acreage farmers intend to plant to the 1972 winter wheat crop.

The survey, officials say, will be used to help them determine operating details of the government's 1972 winter wheat program. Most members of a government advisory committee discussing the 1972 program at a meeting last month suggested an increase in acreage retirement to head off surplus production.
The 14-state survey will cover Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon — states which account for about 87 per cent of the crop.
Officials said the results will be reported July 9 in the regular monthly crop report. Estimates will be reported in three regional groups for the corn belt, Pacific northwest, and the plains, including Montana.

San Diego blamed for transfer

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—If the city of San Diego had offered something tangible Robert Brietbard would not have sold his National Basketball Association Rockets to a Houston group, Trietbard said Monday in his first public appearance since the sale.

"I never wanted to sell the Rockets," he told the sportscasters and sportswriters association. "If I had something I could hold in my hands I wouldn't have sold. Three years ago they (the city) knew I was having a difficult time and I made my position clear. They thought it was a laughing matter."

Chastised for not advising anyone of the impending sale, Brietbard pointed out he had made other prospective sales known and was accused of "negotiating with a gun at someone's head."

"I wasn't going to crawl on my hands and knees again. I've been there too often," he said. The problem has been that high possessory interest taxes on the sports arena Brietbard built plus no revenue from parking has caused Brietbard to lose money with no solution in sight. He received a tax bill for $141,000 to be paid by June 29 last week and said that was the straw that broke the camel's back.

He said the Rockets lost money their four years in San Diego but were pulling up fast. He feels they now have the personnel and coaching to be one of the great franchises in the NBA.

Griffith to meet Monzon

NEW YORK (UPI)—Five-time champion Emile Griffith signed Monday for a 15-round title fight against middleweight titleholder Carlos Monzon in Buenos Aires on Sept. 11 or 18.

Griffith will receive $25,000 tax free for the bout, which will be refereed by an official from outside of Argentina. The fight will be promoted at Luna Park Stadium by Tito Lectorre.

Monzon won the title last year with a knockout over Nino Benvenuti and retained it with another knockout over Benvenuti last month.

Once nearly immortal, McLain now challenges loss streaks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Denny McLain, whose name was linked with Hall of Famers Cy Young, Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson when he won 31 games three years ago, is now courting the dusky records of Bennie Daniels, John Townsend and Bob Groom.

Daniels, Townsend and Groom? Bennie lost a club record 10 straight games for the Washington Senators' expansion team that succeeded the club Cal Griffith moved to Minnesota in 1961.

Townsend and Groom share the American League record for most losses by a pitcher in a season, 26. Ironically, their marks of futility came when they toiled in the uniforms of Washington, which has lost nearly 6,000 games, finished last 14 times and in the second division 50 times in 70 years.

Despite his 4-14 record and nine straight losses for the Senators, McLain still maintains a jaunty air. "I've won four more than last year at this time," says the 27-year-old righthander, who was on suspension from the Detroit Tigers until July 1 last season.

Denny was traded to the Senators along with Elliott Maddox and Don Wert for Joe Coleman, Aurelio Rodriguez and Ed Brinkman last fall. McLain refused to knock his teammates, who have provided him with only 38 runs. McLain says only "this is the most snake-bit team I've ever seen."

At one point there was speculation Vida Blue, Oakland's rookie phenom, would win 20 games before Washington. While the Senators had won 19, Blue had won 13. Some critics say Manager Ted Williams may be resting McLain too long between starts. The pitcher likes to work every four days, but Williams uses him every five and plans to continue the pace.

McLain lost to the Yankees, 4-0, in New York Saturday and is slated to face them again Wednesday night here. But McLain has been hit hard in recent starts, yielding 16 hits in eight innings to Baltimore and seven in five innings to the Yankees. He insists, however, that he isn't losing confidence.

Williams believes McLain has lost some of the zip on his fast ball, and should stop challenging the hitters with the high, hard one. "I don't know," says Denny. "I still feel good. I think I'm throwing good."

McLain has been tagged for 19 home runs, including five by Oakland. His ERA is an unpleasant 4.60, and part of that could be attributed to the wooden fielding behind him. Nearly everything hit on the ground gets through the Washington infield.

Despite the fact that many of his problems came after his rotation was lengthened (he was 3-2 early in the season on four days rotation), McLain still does not question Williams' judgment to reporters, and both men—the great pitcher and the great hitter—speak admiringly of each other.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Willie Crawford and Wes Parker each had three hits and drove in two runs Monday to lead the Los Angeles Dodgers to their fourth straight win, a 6-4 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

Crawford homered, his second of the season, in the first inning and in the third walked and went to third on Willie Davis' single. After Richie Allen struck out, Parker singled to drive in both runners and then scored himself on Tom Haller's double.

Crawford doubled in the sixth to score Bill Buckner, who had singled and advanced on winning pitcher Al Downing's sacrifice.

Jets sign BYU rookie

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Jets Monday announced the signing of two draft choices—Chris Farasopoulos of Brigham Young and Roy Kirksey of Maryland State—to National Football League contracts.

Farasopoulos, the No. 3 pick, is a native of Greece. He set NCAA punt and kickoff return records at Brigham Young and led the nation in kickoff returns as a junior.

Kirksey, who has played both guard and fullback with the Bridgeport Jets of the Atlantic Coast League for the past three seasons, will be tried at offensive guard when training camp opens at Hofstra University in two weeks.

Giants keep Cubs winless

CALDWELL (UPI)—Harold Ingle's double capped a four-hit, three-run ninth inning Monday night for the Great Falls Giants as they beat Caldwell, 6-2, to leave the Cubs winless in the young Pioneer League race.

Hitting singles in the ninth for the Giants were Clyde Jeter, Scott Wolfe and Steve Strouther. Then, Ingle doubled home the last run.

Frank Reyes allowed six hits in six innings to pick up the victory, getting one hit relief from Greg Thayer the final three frames.

I.F. thumps Ogden 8-4

IDAHO FALLS (UPI)—The Idaho Falls Angels opened their home season as they downed the Ogden Dodgers 8-4.

What started out as a great pitchers' duel between David Lanfair and Chuck Gibbon soon turned into a rout as Idaho Falls scored four runs in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Astros win two

HOUSTON (UPI)—Cesar Cedeno drove in three runs with a homer, triple and single and scored twice Monday night to spark the Houston Astros to a 6-4 victory over the Atlanta Braves and a sweep of a two-night doubleheader.

Lanfair had been cruising along with a one-hitter when, with one out, John Balaz and Tom Smith singled for the Angels. Fred Long then drew a base on balls to load the bases.

Darrell Darrow promptly unloaded them with a triple to centerfield. He scored on Dave Christensen's single.

Billings rallies in late innings to drop Cowboys

Four straight walks opening the ninth inning broke Billings out of a 4-4 tie and the Mustangs added four more runs thereafter to whip the Magic Valley Cowboys 9-4.

The Cowboys, behind starter Butch Metzger, protected a 4-2 lead through the middle innings but Billings tied it on Dave Landress' two-run double in the eighth and then won going away from the Cowboy pitching collapsed. Metzger fanned the first man in the then but then walked winning pitcher Bill Jackson; Metzger also was charged with walking Myron Pines although reliever Steve Olsen threw the last two balls. Olsen then walked the next two men to force the decisive run home and gave up singles to George Grett and Rock Craig, each worth a run. Another scored on an error and Landress' long sacrifice fly got the last one home.

The Cowboys started out well with Rafael Amiana, Jerry Remy and Terry Nelson opening with hits which, aided by a wild pitch, got two runs.

Indians sweep twin bill to drop Yankees to fifth place

NEW YORK (UPI)—Combining strong pitching with some sloppy play by New York, the Cleveland Indians handed the Yankees their second double defeat in two days Monday night by sweeping a double-header, 3-0 and 5-2.

The second straight double defeat dropped the Yankees to fifth place behind the Indians in the American League East. Jim Hardin had a 2-1 lead in the nightcap until the seventh when the Indians tied the score and Lindy McDaniel relieved. McDaniel stayed to be the loser.

After starters Fritz Peterson and Ray Lamb held the teams scoreless for eight innings in the first game, the Indians broke through for three runs in the ninth.

A's 6, Twins 4

OAKLAND (UPI)—Bert Campaneris and Joe Rudi each slapped two hits and scored two times apiece Monday night in a 6-4 victory for the Oakland A's over Minnesota.

Campaneris and Rudi contributed to three rallies over the first four innings which netted the A's five runs. Scoreless relief work by Rollie Fingers over the last two innings saved the victory.

Two-run homers by Rich Reese and Tr Oliva accounted for all the runs for the Twins, who fell 14 1-2 games behind Oakland in the American League West.

A's starter Chuck Dobson (6-0) picked up the win, though he left the mound with two out in the seventh inning following Oliva's 18th homer of the year. Darold Knowles pitched the final out of the seventh, then faltered in the eighth and had to be relieved by Fingers.

Minnesota starter and loser Bert Blyleven (7-10) gave up back-to-back singles in the first inning to Campaneris and Rudi. Both scored on a double by Reggie Jackson. Rudi improved the lead to 3-0 in the third inning by reaching base on a fielder's choice grounder and eventually scoring on Sal Bando's single.

MINNESOTA starter and loser Bert Blyleven (7-10) gave up back-to-back singles in the first inning to Campaneris and Rudi. Both scored on a double by Reggie Jackson. # Lindgren named to U.S. team

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Gerry Lindgren Monday was named to replace Frank Shorter in the 10,000 meter race this weekend in the US-Russian-World All-Star track and field meet.

Meet director and coach of the US team Dave Maggard announced the selection of Lindgren, who rose to international prominence as a high schooler when he defeated the Russians in the 1964 US-USSR dual meet.

Maggard also confirmed that miler Ralph Liquori, 400 meter hurdler Ralph Mann, hammer thrower George Frenn and UCLA's two top quartermilers, John Smith and Wayne Collett, will not be in the meet.

Shorter and the other athletes are passing up the competition because of "other commitments."

The Russian team arrived late Sunday night after a 25 hour plane journey from Moscow.

Russian officials said Soviet shot put record holder Eduard Guschin would not be in the meet, but would be replaced by an 8,200 decathlon scorer, Boris Ivanov.

The US team will have 32 of 40 qualified athletes from the AAU championships last weekend at Eugene. Among those committed are world record hurdler Rod Milburn (13.0), sprinter Delano Meriwether and Steve Prefontaine, who ran the fastest three mile (12:58.8) ever by an American last Friday.

Ali thankful for decision, plans no action for revenge

CHICAGO (UPI)—Muhammad Ali, without bitterness, thanked Allah, his religious leader, Elijah Muhammad, and the Supreme Court Monday for his freedom from a charge of draft evasion.

Ali, the former heavyweight champion preparing for a July 26 fight with Jimmy Ellis, said, "I thank the Supreme Court for recognizing the sincerity of the religious beliefs that I have received from the honorable Elijah Muhammad."

"I know that I am sincere," he said, "and I know that I do believe in the Islamic religion and the teachings of it and I always figured that if the eyes in the last resort actually looked at the case for what it was and my actions for what I believed, I just figured that I would be vindicated."

Ali, who ducked away from one scheduled press meeting, apparently fearful of what the court's decision might be, was relaxed after a few moments of conversation about the decision.

"I plan no action against nobody," he said. "I'm just glad it's all over, and that's it. I'm not thinking about it. There's too much on my mind to be bitter and worry about what happened in the past. It's today's condition that counts and I'm not thinking about nothing in the past."

"I don't feel nothing as far as the people who took the title, or the courts for doing what they thought was right. They just at the time did under pressure ... what they believed ... to be right."

"And for me to be angry or have any bad feeling towards them for doing what they think was right and at the same time expecting them to recognize me for what I believe was right would be bad. So they did what they thought was right at the time and I did what I thought was right, so I can't be angry because they did what they thought was right."

Ali said he would "celebrate with a nice long prayer to Allah."

"Thanks to the Supreme Being because I didn't have to be free. I could be in jail for five years and away from my family. So I'm just thankful to the Supreme Being and that's all." Ali said he planned two more fights before a rematch with Joe Frazier, and "immediately after I get my title back from Joe Frazier," he added, he would quit boxing.

"I just want to work with the people and do what I can to uplift the youth and bring more dignity and respect to the black people and use my fame to help make them feel like they're somebody and just whatever I can to help with all the problems."

Ali learned of the Supreme Court decision on Chicago's 79th street when he said "a man ran out of his store and said 'You're free, you're free, the Supreme Court said so.'"

Stars to meet

Knicks, Bucks

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The 1971 ABA champion Utah Stars take on two of the rival NBA's toughest teams this fall in pre-season basketball action in Salt Lake City's Salt Palace.

The Stars announced Monday the Utah club will go against the New York Knicks Sept. 28 and the Milwaukee Bucks Oct. 5.

The Bucks are the current NBA champion, while the Knicks led the older league in 1970.

"While other ABA clubs have announced pre-season games against NBA teams, we hold the distinction of being the only team in our league to play the NBA's past two champions," said Stars president-general manager Vince Boryla.

will proceed to knock out either minor-suit ace. Should East win, East won't be able to do anything about the spade suit. However, West will win and will continue with the nine of spades.

South is not clairvoyant. He finesse the jack this time. East takes his queen but can't lead a spade back to his partner. South will have time to knock out the other minor-suit ace.

What happens if East started with three spades? He takes his queen and leads the suit back to set up the 13th spade for his partner but two aces, plus two spades, aren't enough to beat three no-trump.

Suppose West had opened a doubleton and East held the other ace? Then South would go down. You can't win them all.

IT IS ON HER third date with an eligible bachelor that the average single girl makes mention of that matter of marriage. Or so a survey of unattached men indicates. What's meant by average single girl here is the unmarried lady in her twenties. An unmarried teenage girl is less apt to wait until the third date to bring up the topic of matrimony, the survey shows further. An unmarried woman over age 30 is not likely to bring it up at all, fortunately.

A MICHIGAN SURVEY shows the typical physician in general practice talks to 14 patients a day on the telephone... NOBODY ever improved a tomato by cooking the thing, did they?... NOT ONLY does a sick tree run a temperature, but said temperature is known to be highest in the morning... MOST POPULAR car color now, I'm told, is green... REMEMBER, on a jump, the water skier lands with a lot more impact than the snow skier.

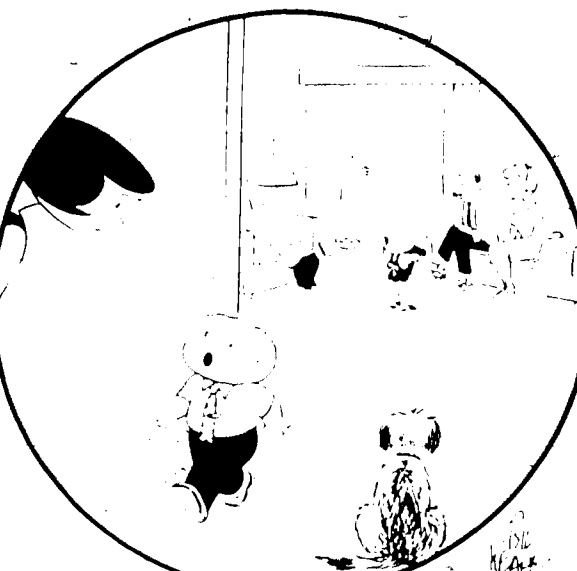

I HAVE A FRIEND named Bob Yates. He's in Zambia, Africa, now. He's a Negro. He retired as a U.S. Army noncom several years ago, having "killed too many silent Asians," as he says, "right before the silent face of God." He's a remarkable photographer, also a truck mechanic. The Zambia government calls him their transportation expert. No, he hasn't abandoned his homeland. I know him to be a devout patriot. He's also the best writer I've known. Not professional. Though he could be maybe. He's sort of a black Thomas Wolfe. When I get a letter from him, turbulent and rolling and rolling it all out and more powerfully poetic than I can explain in this little space, I have to go off by myself for awhile to think about it, always. His wife is Japanese. Their family of six is dandy. Anyhow, his oldest son, Michael, 17, now in Chicago, evidently is turning out to be some kind of genius in Chemistry. The boy has been accepted by numerous scientific colleges, including Massachusetts Institute of Technology. But Bob does not have the money to support Michael there. Partly, yes. And there's help here, too. But it's not enough. But, where there's a will there's a way -- and we sincerely hope Michael is successful in finding a way to continue in college.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: Q. "How many cups of coffee do most men drink every day?" A. Three is still average... Q. "Name the female singer who introduced the most songs." A. That has to be Kate Smith, doesn't it? She has brought in more than 630... Q. "How long can you expect a shingle roof to last?" A. Wood shingles, maybe 35 years.

AMONG GAMBLERS, it's said, the horse player is a completely different breed. Dice tossers and card men get something out of the social scene, too. But the horse player is a loner, always. He is said to be more imaginative, less practical. All horse players are dreamers.
