Crime links cited

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A man who admittedly once worked through the underworld to engineer huge financial swindles testified Wednesday that some American banks are "owned indirectly" by organized crime and that many others cooperate with the mob.

Edward H. Wuensche, who said he could "never belong" to the mob because he is of Dutch extraction, said his 10-year career in international money schemes taught him the power of the underworld in the financial community.

"I have always used the method of the 'friendly banker' — a person that is going to set a price on services he renders to you," Wuensche told the Senate Investigations Subcommittee.

"From my own personal knowledge, there are situations where the banks are owned indirectly — by members of organized crime.

"The persons at the top front for them and they don't make a move without consulting someone else."

Wuensche, appearing under court-ordered immunity from prosecution, said he used such "friendly" banks both at home and abroad to obtain loans totaling in the millions of dollars, putting up stolen and counterfeit securities as collateral.

He said that in some instances, the top management of banks he dealt with did not know of the shady schemes operated by their loan officers.

Camas to fight hoppers

FAIRFIELD — Camas County landowners met here Wednesday evening to organize in their fight against an infestation of grasshoppers.

It was decided at the meeting that the county commissioners would serve as co-chairmen of the group of landowners. The commissioners appointed captains for different county areas. They were assigned to get each farmer to sign a contract for the cooperative program.

Mannie Shaw, Corral, said landowners have already sprayed over 2,000 acres of farmland at a cost of $3.25 an acre. He said there has been almost a 100 per cent kill in the project using malathion. The farmers are still spraying he added.

The government program will not cost over 90 cents an acre, a Department of Agriculture spokesman told the group. Spokesmen for the landowners said it will be at least 10 days or two weeks before any cooperative spraying program could begin.

Keith Evans, United States Department of Agriculture Plant Protection Division supervisor, Twin Falls, said the landowners may possibly organize into a cooperative program. He said the group is trying to organize a program covering 50,000 to 60,000 acres, including range land, Bureau of Land Management and Forest Service lands.

Spokesmen for the landowners said the USDA will survey the area to determine the seriousness of the infestations.

Lorenzo Baldwin, county commissioner, chairman said the landowners are trying to form a block of the north range in Camas County, for the spraying program. He said he doesn't know if all the farmers are going to participate.

Baldwin said the south range hasn't been checked for the amount of infestation yet but will be in the near future. He added that the spraying will be for rangelands only.

Bruce ends parley role

PARIS (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador David K. E. Bruce today ended his role as negotiator at the Paris peace talks with an appeal to the Communists for immediate negotiations on a five-point cease-fire throughout Indochina.

In additional remarks not included in his formal speech Bruce accused Hanoi of violating the accords that led to the talks, including road building in and around the Demilitarized Zone separating the two Vietnams and said these activities could threaten the talks.

Bruce, 73, will depart Paris Sunday to make way for William J. Porter, the former U.S. ambassador to South Korea, after serving for a year as head of the American delegation to the Vietnam talks. In his farewell speech the white-haired diplomat said North Vietnam and Viet Cong rejection of previous proposals for a standstill cease-fire was "absurd."

"I see nothing absurd about trying to end the killing now," Bruce said. "This is a serious proposal which does not deserve such a callous response."

He called for immediate negotiations on a cease-fire and said the United States has set forth some general principles it thought should apply to such a cease-fire. He said these included supervision by international observers as well as the parties themselves.

Bruce said a cease-fire should not be used by either side to build up its strength and should cause "all kind of warfare and violence to stop."

Russ strike might grows

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union will have the nuclear punch by the mid-1970s to destroy virtually all American land-based missiles and bombers in one surprise attack, the authoritative Jane's Fighting Ships said today.

It said this leaves America's 41 Polaris and Poseidon submarines as "the most survivable" U.S. strategic deterrent forces for the foreseeable future.

The 1971-72 edition of Jane's painted this grim picture of declining American and booming Soviet naval and ballistic missile strength:

—The size and relative capabilities of the U.S. Navy continue to decline "at an alarming rate". The Soviet fleet now represents "the super-navy of a super-power."

—The Soviet navy has already exceeded the United States in active surface ship and submarine numbers. It has near parity in nuclear submarine strength and a larger nuclear submarine building program.

—The only category of warships in which the U.S. Navy now and for the near future maintains a decisive advantage is the aircraft carrier.

—The Soviets have gained superiority over the United States in numbers of intercontinental ballistic missiles and the megatonnage that can be delivered. Current Soviet construction of six submarines a year could give the Soviet Union parity if not superiority in Polaris type submarines by 1975.

"Soviet progress in the strategic weapons area is of utmost concern to U.S. defense leaders," Jane's said, "because improved guidance and multiple warhead technology (MIRV) could permit the predicted Soviet strategic forces of the mid-1970s to destroy virtually all U.S. land-based intercontinental ballistic missiles in a surprise first-strike attack."

"Simultaneously, Soviet missile submarines could destroy most U.S. manned bombers before they could become airborne."

Escapees

BOISE (UPI) — Three escapees from the Idaho State Penitentiary kidnapped a Boise man this morning on Federal Way, and were reportedly traveling east on Interstate 80, armed with a shotgun and three pistols.

The three prisoners, Phillip Mendy, 31, Kellogg; Jessie Ramero, 18, Denver, Colo.; and Ralph Poindexter, 39, Victor, Mont., walked away from the minimum security area Wednesday night between 6:30 and 7 p.m. They were last seen in the Warm Springs Road area just before 8 p.m. Wednesday night.

US summons rail talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government summoned negotiators for the railroads and the United Transportation Union back to the bargaining table today in a new effort to force a voluntary settlement of the spreading railroad strike.

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson said the government would refrain from again asking Congress to legislate a rail settlement "until we're absolutely convinced that there is an impact of such magnitude on the nation that we cannot contain it any longer."

The negotiators were asked to resume talks starting at 3 p.m. EDT at the Labor Department. While the government feverishly sought to keep the present four-line rail strike from spreading to half a dozen more lines on Friday, as threatened by the UTU, the dual threat of a strike of 350,000 union steel workers loomed larger.

Numerous coal mines have been closed as a result of the rail strike and shipments of grain and produce in the south and far west have been hampered.

Hodgson did not indicate how long he felt the strike and its side effects could continue before the administration would feel the situation warranted asking congressional intervention. Hodgson faced additional pressure because Congress begins a month-long vacation Aug. 6.

"Voluntary solutions are always preferable," Hodgson said. "Compulsory solutions are a last resort."

Steelworkers local presidents attending talks in Washington between the union and nine large companies said they had been told by their national leaders to prepare for a Sunday strike in the key industry.

Steelworkers President I.W. Abel has not disclosed the union demands, but he has stated publicly he expects at least the 31 per cent wage increase the union got from the aluminum and can manufacturing industry.

The White House announced Wednesday President Nixon had sent William J. Usery, assistant labor secretary, to Cleveland to talk to UTU President Luna and attempt to get the rail negotiations resumed in Washington.

The rail talks have been hung up by a long-standing dispute over work rules. Luna said the UTU had made an offer on work rules changes "but nothing can induce them (railroad management) to bargain."

The UTU already is on strike against the Norfolk and Western, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, and Southern Railway.

War toll climbs 13

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. command today reported 13 American battlefield deaths in Indochina. Another 88 GIs were wounded.

U.S. spokesmen said that of the battle deaths nine actually were killed in fighting and three were added to the list of killed from those previously listed as missing.

Pennies returned

HANSEN — Part of Mrs. Elma Bacon's pennies have been returned.

When Mrs. Bacon was away at work last week, someone broke into her home, taking a half gallon jug and a teapot full of pennies.

Wednesday, Roy Hancock was mowing in a hayfield east of Hansen and ran over a glass object, breaking it. He discovered it to be the jug, from which he recovered 1,350 pennies. He did not find the teapot, however.

Agnew completes 31-day jaunt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew returned Wednesday from his round-the-world diplomatic tour of 11 nations and went to the White House where President Nixon greeted him with praise.

"Welcome back," the President said, shaking Agnew's hand. "You did a fine job."

"I had a good trip," Agnew replied.

Nixon posed for pictures with Agnew and Secretary of State William D. Rogers then escorted them to his office to hear the vice president report on his trip. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's foreign affairs adviser, also attended the meeting.

Agnew flew home from Lisbon, Portugal, with his wife, Judy, and their two daughters. He was met at Andrews Air Force Base by Rogers, Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton and Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin.

The 32-day trip was the longest diplomatic undertaking by a vice president since 1963 when Nixon, then vice president under President Dwight D. Eisenhower, toured the Far East for 73 days.

Agnew's voyage covered 30,000 miles. He visited South Korea, Singapore, India, Kuwait, Ethiopia, Saudi Arabia, Kenya, the Congo, Spain, Morocco and Portugal. The chiefs of state with whom he met included kings, emirs, emperors and presidents.

Although Agnew held a series of news conferences with the small group of reporters accompanying him, he revealed little about his discussions.

The vice president strongly praised Emperor Helle Selassie of Ethiopia, President Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya and President Joseph Mobutu of the Congo. In the most startling announcement of his trip, Agnew suggested that U.S. black leaders could emulate the three African strongmen.

That statement drew sharp criticism from several congressmen.

Kellwood studies Caldwell plant

BOISE (UPI) — Depending on results of an area labor survey, a site in the Caldwell area may be picked for construction of a Kellwood Corp. plant which will manufacture mattress cover pads.

Leon McWhite, employer relations spokesman for the Stanfield Group, Summit Division of Kellwood, told a Caldwell news conference Wednesday the labor survey, which will be conducted through the Caldwell office of the Department of Employment, will begin Aug. 25 and should be completed Sept. 1.

If, he said, the company decides the labor situation within a 30 mile radius of Caldwell is satisfactory, the firm will begin searching for a construction site and will then begin construction on a big basis.

McWhite said the firm would at the start employ about 100 or 150 persons, but hoped to expand eventually to between 400 and 500.

He said training of the personnel, about 60 per cent female and 40 per cent male, would begin prior to construction since it takes between eight and 12 weeks to train workers at a cost of between $2,000 and $3,000 each.

McWhite said the survey would determine whether there is sufficient labor available which can be trained to operate the plant.

McWhite said the firm had begun looking in the area because of the response Idaho had already shown to the Kellwood Corp. The Company has a nylon hosiery plant at Twin Falls.

Stalemate may remain

By United Press International. Israel political sources said today Assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco "will have to pull something out of the hat" to break the Egyptian-Israeli deadlock over reopening of the Suez Canal.

Sisco, who arrived in Israel Wednesday and may stay 10 days, was scheduled to meet today with U.S. officials in Tel Aviv for a briefing on the Middle East crisis against a backdrop of Egyptian plans to stage a nationwide mock air raid alert amid reports of maximum security preparedness.

The Israeli newspaper Davar, often a reflector of the ruling Labor party's thinking, said unless Sisco brought U.S. guarantees of further deliveries of F4 Phantom fighter-bombers as requested by Israel "this would cloud" his talks with Israeli leaders.

Sisco's mission, his second to Israel in three months, follows a recent trip to Cairo by two U.S. State Department officials who sought to break the stalemate on the American initiative to reopen the waterway—regarded as an interim Middle East truce prior to permanent peace.

On the Arab front, Libyan Premier Muammar Khadafi planned to host an Arab summit conference in Tripoli tonight, but political sources said less than half of the 14-nation Arab League members would attend.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was scheduled to leave Cairo for Libya today, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram said.

House OK's big reward

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House subcommittee approved a bill Wednesday that would reward long-term congressmen who voluntarily quit before 1973 with pensions that could under current projections reach $48,000 a year—more money than they now make for working.

Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., author of the bill, said the provision was a one-time measure designed to encourage older congressmen to retire.

Besides reaping the high-level pension benefits, eligible congressmen who retired under the provision would be able to continue their $45,000 life insurance protection at the same cost as now, about $40 a month.

Congressmen now make $42,500 a year and if they have the requisite minimum of 10 years' government service, which includes both tenure as a congressman and any other job on the federal payroll, they are eligible for congressional pensions.

Metric use recommended

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration recommended today that the nation begin at once the process of switching its measuring standards to the metric system.

The aim, Commerce Secretary Maurice R. Stans said, is to bring about a substantial changeover in 10 years to measuring in terms of meters in place of yards, kilometers for miles, grams in place of ounces and liters in place of quarts.

The United States is the only major country in the world that has not made a decision to adopt the metric system.

Congress must make the final decision to proceed with the changeover. It authorized a study of the matter in 1968 by the U.S. Bureau of Standards and the bureau concluded that the changeover should be made despite high costs to many affected industries.

The bureau estimated the process of converting measuring and manufacturing equipment to the metric system would run anywhere from $10 billion to $40 billion over 10 years.

But the bureau researchers concluded that the cost would be much greater to the United States if it continued to be the sole major nation among nations that have adopted the metric system.

Director Lewis H. Branscomb, said: "After nearly 200 years of national debate, the time has come for a national decision on a positive course."

Under the metric system, one meter is equivalent to 39.37 inches, a kilometer is 0.62 miles, a gram is equal to 0.035 ounces and a liter is the same as 0.908 quarts.

Plant auction Friday

TWIN FALLS — Bids for a third attempt of sale of the old Twin Falls City filter plant will be opened at 11:30 a.m. Friday in the city hall, and this time City Manager Jean Millar says three firms have expressed an interest.

The 15 acre site, the old brick filter plant building and a home will be offered at the appraised value of $23,500, the lowest amount the city can accept under law. Millar said all three inquiries have come from persons planning to use the building and land for light industry. Two would use it for an assembly plant while the third plans rabbit production, he said.

Twice before the city has advertised the property for sale and has held auctions without a single bid being offered.

'Weeds' really aren't

TWIN FALLS — Those "weeds" in the downtown mall planters some merchants have been complaining about are not weeds at all but a costly ground cover, City Manager, Jean Millar said today.

The 6,736 plants are part of the downtown mall design and were specified by the design architect. They carried a price tag of 50 cents each, the city manager said, and in light of the cost their aristocratic title is eponymous radicals but they are also known as winter creepers.

Millar said planting areas have been weeded twice recently but downtown merchants continue to call in and complain about the "weeds."

Idaho Young GOP's planning '72 convention in Twin Falls

TWIN FALLS — Selection of Twin Falls as the site for the 1972 convention of the Idaho Young Republican League, was announced here today by Kimber Ricks, Rexburg, state chairman.

Ricks met in Twin Falls with Benny Glick, Castleford, district and county chairman, and John Cato, Buhl, vice chairman of the county organization. Plans were discussed for Fifth District and Twin Falls County participation in convention plans. The convention will be held April 21 and 22 in the Holiday Inn with between 150 and 200 persons attending. Of these, up to 100 will be official delegates from Idaho Young Republican clubs. Glick said since 1972 is an election year, there will be a good array of candidates from the county, state and possibly national levels participating. Ricks said all national Republican leaders have been invited to attend and efforts have already begun to have a nationally-known figure as principal speaker for the Saturday night dinner.

Ricks said Twin Falls was approved as the 1972 convention site earlier this month during an executive board meeting in McCall. A bid for the convention was submitted by Twin Falls delegates during the 1971 state convention. Glick and Cato said persons interested in joining the Twin Falls County Young Republicans and in assisting with convention plans should call them in the near future. Glick can be reached by calling 537-6674 and Cato, 543-4471.

Plan Gem meeting

YOUNG REPUBLICANS from Idaho will meet in Twin Falls for the 1972 convention, Kimber Ricks, Rexburg, left, state Young GOP chairman, tells Twin Falls County officials, Benny Glick, center, standing, and John Cato. The two are chairman and vice chairman respectively of the Twin Falls Young Republican organization, and will head state convention plans.

FAA, Elmore aides probe fatal crash

MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho (UPI) — Federal Aviation Administration and Elmore County authorities have begun investigation of a Tuesday-night crash that took two lives and left three persons in critical condition.

Those killed in the single-plane crash at an airstrip 27 miles north of here were Paul Roberts, 32, Lebanon, Ore., pilot of the plane, and his son, Douglas, 3. The child was dead at the scene, and Roberts died enroute to a Boise hospital.

Hospital spokesmen said today Roberts' wife, Betty, 38, and the other two children, Sharon, 8, and Bryan, 6, remain in intensive care.

Elmore County deputy sheriff Robert Mendola said the family planned to land at an airstrip near Anderson Ranch, Dim, to tour the dam with A. J. Heath, superintendent of the facility. Mendola said a sudden power failure may have caused the mishap.

Purse taken

TWIN FALLS — Kathryn Stephenson, Twin Falls, told Twin Falls police someone stole a small purse containing $10 and her contact lenses from the Harmon Park Swimming pool locker rooms. She said the lenses were valued at about $200.

CSI slates registry

TWIN FALLS — Pre-registration for the fall term at the College of Southern Idaho will begin Aug. 2 and continue through Aug. 20 at the Commons Building, Jerry Meyerhoefer, director of admissions and records.

Pre-registration will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on those days, he said. Final registration is planned for Aug. 25-27.

He said photographs for student identification cards will be taken during pre-registration. Meyerhoefer said the pre-registration period gives students a chance to discuss plans with counselors, tentatively select courses and complete enrollment forms.

Sugar And Arms

Generosity is a noble virtue but it can be carried to the point of being foolish. We think that is just what Uncle Sam, or Uncle Sugar as he is becoming known, has done in foreign arms aid and sugar quotas.

lose by the deal. Yet we plan to give Chile $5.8 million for defense out of our next deficit budget. Defense against what? American fishing boats? Or non-Communist Chileans, many of whom have fled the country?

Peru has taken over properties of International Petroleum Company and W. R. Grace without payment thus far. Under the bill approved by the committee, $20 a ton of sugar payments for Peru would be withheld and turned over to the companies until they have been paid.

WASHINGTON — Somebody — perhaps that hard-boiled pragmatist, Atty. Gen. John Mitchell — should warn President Nixon of the very real danger of losing the 1972 election to a very smart and very tough baby named Wilbur Mills.

Greece's Delphic Paradox

ATHENS — George Rallis, a hard-right conservative who used to be minister of interior during the old days of democratic government in Greece, finally got his passport and took a four-week trip to Europe last winter, stopping off to see King Constantine in Rome and former Prime Minister Karamanlis in Paris.

When he went to the airport to leave Greece for a second trip abroad, the police refused to stamp his passport, thus blocking his departure. When all appeals were rejected, Rallis, one of Athens' leading lawyers, brought a daring legal suit against the police for a violation of the constitution. He sued before the public prosecutor of the court of misdemeanors in Athens.

The calculated result: to convince opponents that the regime has eyes and ears everywhere and that they risk prison if they speak out, thus preventing any serious conspiracy against the regime from getting organized.

25 MPH Limit

The state of Idaho and the Twin Falls schools have crashed head-on, with schoolchildren caught in between. The youngsters stand to lose the most, their lives. The issue is the speed limit past Lincoln and Bicket schools. Both schools unfortunately are located on the westbound half of the Highway 30 couplet through Twin Falls.

The school. So the state set the speed limit at 30. The root of the problem is this. The State Department of Highways is improperly applying a method of setting speed limits which was designed for traffic situations in which the major safety hazard is to drivers, not pedestrians.

Your Hair

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My problem is my hair. It is slow in growing in — in other words, the falling is greater than the growing. Probably that is due to my age; I am 65 but healthy and love life.

This includes more women that you might think, become bald. And there's nothing to do about that, either. Within limits, you can do what is good for your hair, but in the broad picture we have to be satisfied with our natural endowments.

METAL PANELS are being put into place at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds at Filer to construct a cow cutting arena and to divide the main arena for two simultaneous shows which will start Tuesday during the National High School Rodeo. The rodeo will have two shows daily, at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. through Saturday, with the finals scheduled at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Purple water kills fish

STANLEY — Extermination of trash fish will involve application of fintrol, a fish toxin made from a cultured mold similar to penicillin. The material will be dropped into the lake by helicopter because no vehicular traffic is permitted to the wilderness area lake.

In addition, potassium permanganate will be applied to Hell Roaring Creek downstream from the lake to neutralize any of the fintrol leaving the lake and to prevent fish kill below the lake.

This substance may turn the water to a grape juice shade in the creek and some portions of the Salmon River. Corley said persons observing the purple water should not be concerned as the chemical does not affect the fish adversely. The control program, he said, is in cooperation with the U. S. Forest Service.

When treatment has been completed, he said, planting of grayling obtained from Wyoming is planned. These fish have been placed in a number of high mountain lakes in Idaho to add variety to fishing in these areas, he said.

New tires, rims stolen

TWIN FALLS — Investigation is being made, Twin Falls City police said today, in the theft of four tires and rims from a 1957 vehicle parked behind the Standard Oil Service Station operated by Gerald Devlin on Main Avenue North. Officers said someone set the automobile on cinder block supports and removed all four new tires and wheels. The tires were valued at $50 each and the rims at $25, for a loss of $300, officers said. The vehicle is owned by Fred Wilson, 65 Balboa St., Vallejo, Calif., officers said.

SHOSHONE — Leon Greive has purchased the Shoshone Laundromat business here from Robert Winterholder. Greive, who is manager of the Big Wood Canal Co., said he will operate the business in his spare time with hired help as needed. Latrines remain unfilled

FARRAGUT STATE PARK, Idaho (UPI) — Open latrines constructed for use by those attending the Universal Life Church picnic here over the Fourth of July weekend remained uncovered here Tuesday.

Asked to comment on the fly-infested open ditches, Idaho State Parks Director Wilhelm M. Beckert said, "I don't know anything about it."

Park Director John Greig could not be reached for comment. Organizers of the picnic, dubbed by opponents as a rock festival in disguise, had pledged to completely clean up the site prior to their departure.

They did, but the open holes have not yet been filled.

Irrigation planning set Nov. 1

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, says preliminary planning will begin this fall on the east greenacres irrigation project north and west of here.

McClure said the planning is scheduled to start Nov. 1 on the $4.9 million project.

When completed, the project will provide irrigation water for more than 5,200 acres of land on the Rathdrum Prairie, which currently is without an adequate water supply.

Suit filed by J.C. Penney Co.

BOISE (UPI) — A suit filed in U.S. District Court by the J.C. Penney Co. Tuesday sought an injunction against alleged patent infringement and other practices of a Pocatello department store.

But, the suit alleged, the merchandise is sold and advertised at top quality, even though it is damaged and defective.

The suit alleged Parrish Co., Inc., handled "distress" and "salvage" merchandise with Penney brand labels at much lower prices than similar merchandise in Penney's Pocatello store.

Initial hurdle raised

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — New Hampshire, aided by a bit of legislative nimbleness and 20 years of tradition, is still the first high hurdle in the long run to the presidency, Sorny Florida.

Florida set a March 14 primary date to coincide with New Hampshire's. But New Hampshire, whose legislature adjourned later, quickly advanced its primary to March 7.

"It's nice to be Number One," said one legislator, "but the candidates would have come anyway. The Florida population simply is not as representative as New Hampshire's."

Most state political leaders feel the same, although Republican former Gov. Sherman Adams, who created the original New Hampshire primary in 1952 and masterminded the state campaign of Dwight D. Eisenhower, says its value has been overrated and blunted by lavish spending campaigns.

No fewer than six 1972 Democratic hopefuls, headed by Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine and George S. McGovern of South Dakota, already have toured the New Hampshire landscape.

McGovern, the only announced Democratic candidate, promised to end the Vietnam War "within weeks," then approached rural residents in a whirlwind second visit with a check for welfare, defense spending and unemployment.

Muskie, still unannounced but the acknowledged frontrunner, confined his three visits to bigger Southern cities, but has the support of 40 top state Democrats, including the backers last time of former Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota.

Los Angeles' third-term Mayor Sam Yorty has entered the state twice behind big advance publicity.

Sens. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Rep. William R. Anderson, D-Tenn., former commanding officer of the nuclear submarine USS Nautilus, have made visits but have not committed themselves.

Democratic State Chairman Harry P. Makris vows the state committee will not endorse any one candidate, to avoid the disastrous 1968 campaign rift when the committee gave Lyndon B. Johnson its backing.

McCarthy won the bulk of delegate votes to the 1968 Democratic National Convention in a primary victory that rewrote political primers.

But Makris said there is not enough of a gap to exploit between President Nixon and those who seek the presidency. "The war, the way it is going today, will not even be an issue in 1972," he said.

"Don't look for another Children's Crusade in 1972," said Republican State Chairman Robert E. Whelan. "There are no riots, burning or bombing. The mood has changed, and this is Nixon's advantage. He is always popular in New Hampshire."

Although the primary ballot has been extended to 40,000 in New Hampshire (over age 21, Whelan said, neither party had any success in registering them.

"The youth vote will not be a factor," he said. "It's a fact it's only a small percentage in the 21-26 age group even bother to register."

A 45-year-old ex-Marine, Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., contends the President will continue the war until November, 1972, and said he intends to challenge Nixon in the New Hampshire primary.

With a minimum of fanfare and no visible support from state political chieftains, McCloskey has talked informally with groups of students and promised to drop the matter only with what he considers a satisfactory resolution of the prisoner of war issue.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, both Republicans, each has made one appearance in New Hampshire.

The American Party, which polled 11,173 votes in the 1968 election in New Hampshire as the George C. Wallace Party, is eligible to field candidates next March.

Under new legislation, all candidates must produce 500 signatures from each of the two congressional districts and a $500 filing fee. The state hopes "crank candidates" will be fewer.

Mind Your Money

By PETER WEAVER

Q—We are shopping for an air conditioner (window or casement type) and want to know whether it's better to get one big one for a central location or three smaller ones for separate locations? — Mrs. E.B., Buffalo, N.Y.

A—Refrigeration engineers say you're probably better off with three smaller air conditioners. As for proper spacing, house and apartment plans vary. An easy rule of thumb is: If you can't see the unit, it won't cool where you are.

In buying window or casement air conditioners, you should have the following information with you: 1) dimension of the room you want to cool; 2) number and locations of windows; 3) correct house voltage (120-208 or 220-240).

You don't have to run the air conditioner all the time. Unused rooms can have them turned off. Actually, if you have to buy three air conditioners, you should consider a central unit. With a "through-the-wall" heating duct, a central unit will be cheaper in the long run.

Window units should have a multiple speed fan with adjustments for both fresh air and exhaust. Make sure the unit has a thermostat (cheap ones sometimes don't). Plug in the machine at the store and listen to it. Some are quiet, others make a terrible racket.

Q—I have a window air conditioner and want to know if it's a good idea to have the "exhaust" on while it's running. One of my friends says I should leave the exhaust on all the time. Is this correct? — Mrs. L.T.M., Taunton, Mass.

A—You should only use the exhaust to get rid of stale air, smoke or odors. It can also be used to get the hot air out quickly. Continuous running of the exhaust would make your unit work much harder by pulling the cold air out.

Turn it off, except for the special occasions I mentioned.

Q—I saw an ad in Better Home and Gardens magazine for exercise equipment and sent in my check for $13.95. My check was cashed right away. Three months have gone by and I have received no equipment and no answer to my inquiry letter. What can I do? — Mrs. H.M.L., Succasunna, N.J.

A—Better Home and Gardens has a unique service. They back up their advertisers. Many publications do not. Write Dorothy Hasley, Reader Service Department, Better Home and Gardens, 17 Locust St., Des Moines, Iowa 50303.

They put pressure on the advertiser. If you don't get your equipment, the magazine will mail you a refund check and then settle with the errant advertiser. Whenever you order anything through the mail as a result of an advertisement, and don't receive anything for your money, be sure to send your complaint into the publication or broadcaster. It's a good way to put pressure on the advertiser.

Q—We have a lot of centipedes in our house. They're in the basement mostly but some get into the kitchen and bedroom. I've read that they bite and can be painful. How do I get rid of them? — Mrs. L.J., Hartland, Wis.

A—They usually come in from the yard where they live under rocks and feed on other insects and decaying organic matter. According to the Department of Agriculture, an insecticide containing "cyfluthrin" is the best way to handle centipedes.

You might want to check with your local county agriculture extension office before killing off all your centipedes. There's another creature that looks like a centipede but is harmless and eats up fleas and silver-fish bugs. At any rate, you'll be given instructions on where to buy and how to use the proper insecticide.

Space agency spokesman said Tuesday cameras in the command module of Apollo 17 will be used to photograph the lunar surface and other space objects.

Red ink flows deeper

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal spending exceeded revenues by $2.2 billion in the fiscal year which ended June 30, the second highest budget deficit since World War II, the government reported Wednesday.

The deficit was $4.7 billion higher than President Nixon estimated last January. Outlays totaled $211.67 billion during the fiscal year while receipts totaled $188.3 billion.

The deficit came within $2 billion of equalling the $25.2 billion deficit recorded in the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1968, the highest red ink total since 1945. It was to sharp contrast to President Nixon's pledge, when he submitted the 1971 fiscal year budget to Congress, to keep the books in balance.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally Jr. issued a joint statement with George P. Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget, which said the budget would have shown a $2.5 billion surplus had the nation's economy operated at full employment throughout the fiscal year.

Connally and Shultz said the existing tax system would have produced $214.2 billion in revenue if the economy had been operating at full blast during the 12 months. Actual revenues were $25.9 billion less than the full-employment level because of the effects of last year's recession.

Total spending in the fiscal year was $10.8 billion more than the $206.8 billion Nixon requested when he sent his budget for the fiscal year to Congress Feb. 2, 1970.

"I have pledged to the American people that I would submit a balanced budget for 1971," Nixon said in his budget message to Congress. "The budget I send to you today—the first for which I bear full responsibility—as President—fulfills that pledge."

As originally submitted, the 1971 fiscal year budget showed a surplus of $1.3 billion. That was revised to an estimated deficit of $18.6 billion last February.

The final figures showed that defense spending grew by $991 million over the $74.5 billion estimated last January. The increases largely reflected higher spending for personnel and procurement partially offset by lower outlays for research, development, testing, evaluation, construction and military assistance.

Higher than anticipated outlays for unemployment compensation and manpower training added $102 million to the budget.

Social Security outlays were increased $337 million over the January estimate, mainly because a 10 per cent increase in benefits enacted retroactive to Jan. 1 exceeded the 6 per cent boost Nixon requested in the budget.

The Joint Congressional Committee on Reduction of Federal Expenditures has predicted the deficit for the current fiscal year will reach $21.3 billion. That committee overestimated the deficit for the 1971 fiscal year by only $1.1 billion.

Horses win Wendell trainer scoring wins

WENDELL — Jim Gibbs, former rodeo bull rider from Wendell, who turned to training race horses two years ago and last year was named top Quarter Horse trainer in the nation, has scored a sizable number of wins on western tracks this year.

Gibbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Gibbs, trained through last winter at Jerome and started the racing season at Keganwick, Wash. From there he went to Bay Meadows in San Mateo, Calif., where his horses won five races.

Gibbs is now at Los Alamitos in southern California, the top Quarter Horse track in the nation.

A two-year-old filly, Oange Rocket by Rocket Bar out of Oange Lamb and owned by Floyd Williams of Pasco, Wash., has been doing well for her young trainer. While at Bay Meadows she qualified for a $100,000 futurity and at Los Alamitos she made the fastest

Gas gains

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Gas processing in the United States and Canada has reported steady gains in capacity, throughput and liquid production through the first half of this year, says the Oil and Gas Journals.

U.S. plant capacity stood at 74.2 billion cubic feet daily on Jan. 1, up from the 1970 mark by 6.2 billion. Canada was up by 1.8 billion cubic feet daily to 9.9 billion.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Thursday, July 29, the 210th day of 1971.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Leo.

American novelist Booth Tarkington was born July 29, 1860.

On this day in history:

In 1914 the first transcontinental telephone was completed with a conversation between San Francisco and New York City.

In 1967 fire swept the aircraft carrier USS Forrestal off the coast of Vietnam, killing 129 men.

In 1968 Pope Paul VI upheld the prohibition of all artificial means of birth control for Roman Catholics.

In 1969 the first photos taken by men on the moon were shown, including graphic shots of footprints on the lunar surface.

A thought for today: Latin writer, Seneca said, "A good reputation is more valuable than money."

Smugglers crack center

SAIGON (UPI) — American soldiers being treated for heroin addiction at the U.S. Army's drug detoxification center are receiving narcotics smuggled to them through the center's elaborate security cordon, United Press International learned Wednesday.

Military sources said a report on the narcotics traffic into the center at Cam Ranh Bay was delivered Tuesday to Ambassador J. Swarth C. Ranker by the U.S. command.

"It almost did the ambassador in," said one source.

Military authorities reportedly were basing an investigation of the smuggling on a theory that the center's staff members were obtaining heroin and other narcotics for the addicts there.

Actual source of the smuggled narcotics has not been determined, however, the military sources said.

In other developments Wednesday involving narcotics: —South Vietnamese police reported breaking up a narcotics smuggling ring involving persons and confiscating opium and heroin worth $3.6 million.

—Adm. Bernard A. Clarey, commander of the U.S. Pacific Fleet, said in an interview following a visit to the Navy's drug treatment center at Nha Be that he believes the narcotics addiction rate among Navy personnel is "probably a little lower" than that of the U.S. civilian population.

Box boom

NEW YORK (UPI)—More than 18.25 million tons of fiber and 7.5 million tons of containerboard will be required to meet domestic and export demands by 1980, says the Fibre Box Association.

Industry loss cited

BOISE (UPI)—Gov. Cecil D. Andrus has sent a telegram to Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe stating that continuation of the rail strike will cost Idaho industries losses that cannot be recovered.

The telegram is in response to a request by Volpe for specific information and an assessment of the impact of the rail strike in Idaho.

In the telegram Andrus said "Idaho is troubled by serious challenges to its economic stability" due to the strike.

Andrus listed several industrial operations that have been closed as a result, including closure of the Hoff Lumber Company in Horseshoe Bend and a Boise-Cascade finishing mill at Emmett.

In addition Andrus cited the threat to northern Idaho grain growers who are just beginning their harvest.

Andrus said the strike has caused over 800 secondary layoffs in the Pocatello area with the principal fertilizer plants of Simplot and FMC companies being unable to move their finished products.

Andrus said in the telegram that "pyramiding all along the economic spectrum will continue as long as the rail strike lasts."

Canyon studies road bond vote

CALDWELL (UPI)—The chairman of the Canyon County Commissioners said Wednesday a bond election may be necessary to repair damaged county roads in the near future.

Ira Graven said meanwhile, county roads will be ripped up and treated as gravel roads until funds are available to rebuild them.

"The only way I can see that we can rebuild these roads fast and build them the way they should be built is to hold a bond election and let the people decide if they want these roads now and pay for them over the next 20 years," he said.

Graven said the extensive breakup of county roads resulted from the poor road policy several years ago and the present lack of funds to do extensive repair work.

A few years ago, he said, the policy was to place a thin oil coating on the roads without prior grading and without pit run or base materials.

He said heavier trucks and increased road usage had caused the break-up, adding the earlier expenditures appeared to be a waste of taxpayers' money.

Indictments shake Seattle

SEATTLE (UPI)—Seattle was shaken Wednesday by corruption and conspiracy indictments against a score of present and past political leaders and police officials.

"I am innocent of all charges," insisted City Council President Charles M. "Streetcar Charlie" Carroll, one of those indicted by the King County grand jury after more than three months of secret sessions. He said the indictment was politically motivated.

The jury charged 19 persons under a blanket conspiracy indictment with "non-enforcement of certain statutes" in order to protect "the policy of tolerating the operation of gambling and other illegal activities." The other illegal activities cited included bribery, extortion, blackmail, prostitution and "other schemes whereby members of the conspiracy sought to enrich themselves by unlawful means."

The grand jury issued 13 individual indictments, but most were not made public along with the conspiracy indictment Tuesday night. Those which were made public included two former policemen accused of bribery.

Among those charged besides Carroll were former Sheriff Jack Porter; former County Prosecutor Charles O. Carroll; retired Seattle Police Chief Frank Ramon, County License

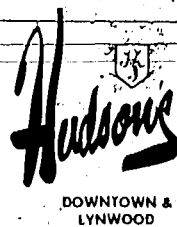

Director Charles K. Wight, "Buzz" Cook, two police Assistant City Police Chief captains, a major and a lieutenant and three retired Charles R. "Ray" Connelly, retired Assistant Chief M. E. police captains.

Sample set

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, announced Wednesday NASA's Ames Research Center at Moffett Field, Calif., has arranged for a moon sample to be displayed at the Kootenai County fair at Coeur d'Alene Sept. 9-12.

MONROVIA, Liberia (UPI)—Heads of state and tribemen alike paused today to pay respects to President William V. S. Tubman, who was known to millions of Liberians as "Uncle Shad" during the nearly three decades he governed this West African nation.

Dignitaries in formal attire and heavily decorated army uniforms and tens of thousands of ordinary Liberians, some in loin cloths and leaves, brought this capital to a standstill for the funeral.

Tubman, 75, died Friday in a London clinic following prostate surgery.

At least nine African heads of state were attending the funeral at the Centennial pavilion. Robert Finch, counselor to President Nixon, headed a nine-member American delegation that included Roy Wilkins, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), Rep. Charles C. Diggs, D-Mich. and W. Beverley Carter, deputy assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

Thousands of Liberians, many of whom streamed into the capital to view Tubman's body lying in state, gathered outside Centennial Pavilion. Among them were members of the Grebo tribe from Tubman's home country. They wore loin cloths and leaves and their bodies were daubed with white and grey paint. They earlier performed ritual dances of mourning for their departed leader.

Parole bid denied

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Pacifist priests Philip and Daniel Berrigan have lost a bid for parole from their jail sentences for destroying draft board records.

The U.S. Board of Parole meeting Wednesday turned down, without explanation, the Berrigan brothers' try for parole.

The Berrigans who are confined in a federal prison at Danbury, Conn., were not present at the hearing. Board Chairman George J. Reed ordered Daniel Berrigan's case continued to the end of his term, minus time off for good behavior, allowing him to be released Nov. 23, 1972.

Reed said Philip Berrigan, also facing charges of plotting to kidnap Presidential aide Henry Kissinger and planning to blow up underground heating systems in Washington, would also be required to continue his sentence.

Philip, 47, was sentenced to a six-year term May 24, 1968 for destroying draft files in a raid on a Baltimore selective service headquarters.

Trade deficit seen this year

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans has said there is a "probability" the United States will record a trade deficit this year for the first time in the 20th century.

Appearing before the House science subcommittee Tuesday, Stans did not estimate how much of a trade deficit he expects.

He noted, however, that the $5 billion to $7 billion annual U.S. trade surpluses of the early 1960s had dwindled to the $1 billion to $2 billion levels since 1967 and were still declining.

The last time the United States had a trade deficit was 1893.

The deterioration of the American trade position was attributed by Stans to increased expenditures by industrial rivals for research and development in technology.

He pointed out that from 1870 to 1959, the rate of growth of U.S. productivity exceeded that of Europe and Japan by substantial margins.

The situation since has reversed itself. Stans said in the past five years, the growth rate in American productivity has lagged behind Europe's by 64 per cent and behind Japan's by 84 per cent.

To regain the lead, Stans said, "the United States will have to improve its innovative technology."

The cost of educating public students is increasing. Estimates are that by 1979-80, the expenditure per pupil will be $386, compared with $283 for the 1967-70 school year.

DACCA (UPI)—Through a combination of official apathy, poor communications and the operations of rebel insurgents, East Pakistan is headed for a food crisis that could see millions starve to death by the end of the year unless immediate action is taken.

That is the view of foreign aid experts here, who say East Pakistan will need up to 4 million tons of extra food in order to keep its 70 million residents at their present inadequate level of diet. But, the experts say, the country's ports and patchwork transportation system will be able to handle only half of that total even if operated at peak efficiency.

"I don't think that there's anything we can do to save East Pakistan from the catastrophe that's coming, but we could make it a little less severe," said one expert who has made a recent study of the situation.

So far, however, according to this and other experts, the government has done little to mobilize itself to meet the crisis, which is expected to reach a high point just before the next rice harvest from mid-September to mid-November.

The experts said the problem is similar but on a bigger scale than the one which followed November's cyclone in East Pakistan, in which several million persons were left without food while government inertia caused a lack of response to the situation by officials.

Added to the problem of governmental inefficiency, diplomatic sources here say, there are the operations of Bengali rebels, who have interdicted road and rail transportation routes in many areas.

According to studies made by U.S. aid experts, East Pakistan normally needs about 1.5 million to 2 million tons of imported food each year to help feed one of the densest concentrations of human beings on earth.

This year, however, many farmers have fled their home areas completely or stayed away from their fields because of violence that followed the civil war between the West Pakistan army and the Bengali autonomy movement March 25.

As a result, the grain crop is expected to fall short of a normal year by about 1.5 million to 2 million tons. The total crop estimate for the year ending June 30, 1972, is 6.64 million tons.

Studies of the nation's crippled rail and road transportation system by U.S. experts have indicated that at most, 1.5 million tons of rice and wheat could be moved into the outlying areas where they are needed, mostly by water transportation. The result would be a food shortage of 2 million to 2.5 million tons, these experts say.

Same animal

CHICAGO (UPI)—A big cat by another name might be the same animal.

The leopard and panther, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, are one and the same. The confusion in names apparently arises because of the great variation that occurs within the species.

In America the panther is the name for the puma. The puma is also known as the mountain lion and the cougar.

Hospitality Day queen contestant

TERRY CHRISTENSEN

MURTAUGH — Terry Christensen, 17, is another contestant who has entered the ranks of young women competing for the Murtaugh Mavericks Riding Club's Hospitality Day queen during the celebration July 31.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Christensen, Murtaugh. She is a member of drill team, pep club and track team at Murtaugh High School, but lists horseback riding as her favorite.

Her sponsors are Eclahaw Morgan Horses, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Buel and Louis Sixty-Six, all Murtaugh, and the Rock Creek Trading Post.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES R. GARNER (Shig Morita photo)

Miss Snow, Garner wed in local rites

TWIN FALLS — The first Christian Church, Twin Falls, was the setting for the July 20 wedding of Evelyn Marie Snow and James R. Garner, Gering, Neb., former Twin Falls resident.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Snow and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Helen Garner, all Twin Falls. The double ring ceremony, written by the bride's great-grandfather for the bride's parents, was performed by Rev. Ray Jones of the First Christian Church.

Largé white pompon feather flowers, with accents of smaller blue flowers, were held in place by two large white cupid's at the altar. White satin pew bows marked the aisle.

Debra Stantny, Murtaugh, was soloist, accompanied by Martin Wright, Murtaugh, who also played the traditional wedding music. Both are close friends of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of embroidered organza over satin, fashioned with long puff sleeves with pointed cuffs over the hands, a scooped neckline and fitted bodice. The train was attached at the waist back. The gown was made by the bride's mother.

Her shoulder-length veil of bridal illusion was held by a headpiece of fabric rose petals and pearls. The veil was borrowed from her sister, Margaret Stephens, and made by her mother. She carried a cascading bouquet of blue and white feather flowers accented with blue lace ribbon. It was made by the bride.

Charlotte Brake, roommate of the bride, was maid of honor; with Linda Lee, friend of the bride; Margaret Stephens, sister of the bride, and Rhonda Snow, sister-in-law of the bride, as bridesmaids. Gowns for the attendants were made by the bride's mother.

Donna Snow, niece of the bride, Twin Falls, was flower girl. Stan Sorenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Sorenson, Twin Falls, was ringbearer. Tom Lyons, Twin Falls, friend of the bridegroom, served as best man, with Jim Lee, friend of the couple; Bruce Stephens, brother-in-law of the bride, and Gary Snow, brother of the bride, all Twin Falls, as groomsmen.

Candlelighters were Gary Snow and Bruce Stephens. Ushers were Douglas Wright and Rob Wright, Murtaugh, friends of the bride.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony, with Janice Ford and Kathy Whitehead registering guests. Gifts were arranged by Jamie Allred, Dorothy Nutting and Wilma Silvers.

The bride's table was centered with a heart-shaped tiered wedding cake made by Mrs. Charles Robinson, Twin Falls. The all-white cake was accented with blue trim and topped with white bells, white doves and a heart of pale blue net made by the bride and her mother. The bride's table and gift tables were covered with satin draping over floor-length skirts. Blue and white feather flowers held the draping in place.

Cake was served by Bonnie Turner, Murtaugh, and Dorey Wright, Murtaugh. Coffee and punch were poured by Helen Markham, Burley, and Dortha Wold, Payette.

Guests attended from Twin Falls; Burley; Murtaugh; Payette and Kimberly.

Director named

OAKLEY — Brent G. Lundgren, principal of the Oakley LDS Seminary for past four years, has completed a workshop for new institute directors on the campus of Brigham Young University, Provo.

Lundgren has been assigned as director of the Dillon Institute, Dillon, Mont., announced Dr. Joe J. Christensen, church associate commissioner of education responsible for seminars and institutes of religion.

Lundgren was also a faculty member at the Oakley High School during his four years in Oakley.

He was born in Vasteras, Sweden, and was graduated from Jonkoping High School, Sweden. His bachelors degree was received in 1964 at Utah State University, with a major in history and a minor in English. Presently he is completing his masters degree at Brigham Young University in religious education.

Church activities have included a mission for the LDS Church, teacher and leader in ward auxiliaries, bishop and member of the stake high council.

He and his wife, Mildred, and nine children will be moving from Oakley to Dillon prior to the fall school term.

DEAR ABBY: I am a wife and the mother of teenagers, but my biggest problem is my parents! They have never got along, and I hear it every day from both sides. Especially my mother. If she isn't here complaining in person, she's on the phone. She starts out with, "Now I don't want you to think less of your father, but as our daughter you have a right to know what's going on." Then she proceeds to tear him to shreds. (I'm not the only one in the family she complains to, but I am the favorite wailing-wail.)

I have sat them both down and begged them to get professional help and quit running to relatives, but they don't want help. They'd rather complain and make everyone else as miserable as they are.

Abby, I may lay awake nights worrying about my teenagers, but my parents will never hear a word. Why should I burden them with my problems? They aren't going to solve them for me. On the other hand, I try to keep my parents' problems from my husband and children. I feel like a sponge being sopped from both sides and never allowed to drip.

I know a daughter can't disown her own parents, but if only they realized what they were doing to me, maybe they would let up. In the meantime, how can I keep my sanity—or what's left of it? DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: If you really want to preserve your sanity, you will shut off your parents' complaints in whatever ways are necessary. And don't feel guilty!

DEAR ABBY: With so much talk about controlling the population by means of the men having vasectomies, I want to ask you a question: How come I had this simple little 15-minute operation done in a doctor's office in 1952 and it cost me only $25, and today they are charging $250 for the very same operation?

Just because doctors have a license to practice medicine doesn't mean they have a license to steal.

DEARBORN, MICH.

DEAR DEARBORN: Nothing is as cheap today as it was in 1952. But if the doctor who performed your surgery for $25 is now charging $250, why don't you ask him?

DEAR ABBY: Because it is a habit to read the death notices in my hometown paper, I turned to the obits in the newspaper while traveling thru that city.

In funeral notices I saw someone I had known died at the home of a "Sally So and So," a very dear friend, after a lingering illness.

Not that it's any of my dang business, but is it now considered proper to announce to the world that one's sleeping partner has succumbed? Or do you suppose "Sally So and So" was using the obits to let the local townspeople know that she was looking for a relief pitcher? TEXAN

DEAR TEXAN: How do you know what the sleeping arrangements were? Perhaps "Sally So and So" was indeed a "dear friend" and nothing more.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 62760, Los Angeles, Cal. 90060. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

CARE OF SUMMER-DRY SKIN

By Mary Sue Miller

A Lovely writes: With the summer only half over, my skin looks like a prune. All over. It's my fault. I've been sunning constantly — on the terrace, the boat, the beach — in spite of all advices given against it. I really need help. How can I get rid of the dryness and scuff?

The Answer: When a girl owns up to an error, far be it from me to rub it in. "Tut-tut" comes forth, involuntarily.

The place to start treatment for acute dry condition from weathering is with cleansing. Salt and chlorinated water must be rinsed off as soon as possible after contact. A thorough-going shower tops off the day. The cleansing agent used is a matter of taste, so long as it suits dry skin.

If in doubt, consider natural protein bath gel. You are probably aware of hair and nail treatments with protein formulas. Now natural protein has been found useful in the bath or shower for softening and refreshing the skin.

Why not — proteins are the building blocks of the entire body.

Just before retiring, a rubdown with a rich, dry-skin body lotion is another indispensable. An application of sunscreen or sunblock must be made to all exposed areas every morning before you go outdoors. Otherwise, the situation can only worsen.

NEW BEAUTY FOR DRY SKIN

For ways to keep post-30 skin smooth and dewy, order my latest, NEW BEAUTY FOR DRY SKIN. It tells in personalized steps how to cleanse, correct, protect and make up for dryness. Bases evacuated

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States evacuated dozens of helicopters and other major support units from two big bases north of Saigon and near the Cambodian border today because of poor South Vietnamese security around them, field reports said. The reports said the evacuations were ordered by Lt. Gen. J. J. Wagstaff, U.S. commander of Military Region III around Saigon, following Communist commando attacks on the two bases that resulted in six U.S. helicopters blown up and six Americans wounded. One attack was at Tay Ninh West, 65 miles northwest of the city, where the commandos penetrated the wire July 23 under cover of a mortar barrage. But at Lai Khe, 30 miles north of Saigon, the Communists walked unopposed through the perimeter to inflict heavy damage. Correspondents at Tay Ninh West said more than 400 American soldiers worked through the night Tuesday and early today, hurriedly packing military equipment and their personal gear into shipping crates. The material left aboard a convoy of 30 trucks today for Phu Loi, a major U.S. airbase 13 miles north of Saigon where the perimeter is still guarded by American troops. In the meantime pilots flew more than 70 helicopters and eight light planes belonging to the 74th Aviation Company and the 187th Assault Helicopter Squadron to Phu Loi and Bien Hoa, a big U.S. Air Force base 10 miles west.

In Cambodia itself, Phnom Penh dispatches said U.S. planes were called in to help a 5,000-man Cambodian operation trying to cut a Communist supply corridor 45 miles northwest of the Cambodian capital.

McGovern claims freeze right act

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., said today President Nixon could cure the nation's sick economy this afternoon simply by imposing a selective six-month wage and price freeze.

"We've got to have that to break the inflationary habit we've slipped into," he said. McGovern, candidate for the Democratic nomination for President next year, said this was the cure for "our sick economy, aside from a change in administration."

He offered his remedy in an address to the International Platform Association here.

Besides controls, McGovern said the administration must "end the damnable war in Indochina now," reduce the overall size of the military, and make America's European allies maintain their own military manpower.

He also would trim billions from "unneeded newly proposed weapons," and reform the tax structure.

DE honors Gem hero

BOISE (UPI) — A destroyer escort named after the late Lt. Frank S. Reasoner, Kellogg, the first Medal of Honor winner in the Vietnamese conflict, will be commissioned Saturday at Bremerton, Wash.

Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy and former attorney General Robert Robson will be on hand for the ceremony.

Reasoner was killed in Vietnam July 2, 1965.

Murphy and Robson will present the officers and crew of the ship with a silver plate bearing the seal of Idaho and inscribed "From the people of Idaho."

Reasoner's widow and his son, Michael, 7, will attend the ceremony.

Lost fish

HONOR, Mich. (UPI) — Approximately 1.1 million coho salmon fingerlings were lost when a pump delivering fresh water into their tanks broke down at the Department of Natural Resources' Platte River Fish Hatchery near here.

The young fish, measuring about three inches, represented about one-quarter of the coho being raised by the DNR for planting in Great Lakes waters in the spring of 1972. Their loss will be offset by releasing an additional 1 million steelhead and brown trout next spring.

No-burn clothing due

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Commerce Department ruled Wednesday that little children's sleepwear must be flameproofed by manufacturers beginning July 30, 1973.

The ruling, first for any clothing item under the 1967 Flammable Fabrics Act, was immediately criticized by the law's sponsors as tardy and deficient.

"It appears weighted in favor of industry at the cost of burned and scarred children," said Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash. He and Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, threatened to switch authority for the law's enforcement from the Commerce Department to some other agency.

However, Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans said the two-year grace period was considered too short by textile firms. "Industry has felt it would take 30 to 36 months" to meet the requirement, Stans told a news conference. He said flameproofing would increase the price of little children's pajamas, nightgowns and robes, probably by less than 1%.

"These are serious standards and they take into consideration the utter helplessness of children," Stans said. To demonstrate the rule's effectiveness, he touched a match to nightgowns on two dolls. Within three seconds, the untreated gown was ablaze. The treated one scorched but failed to light despite three attempts.

The sleepwear standard covers sizes through 6X, worn by children up to 5 or 6 years old, plus yard goods "promoted or intended" for sleepwear use.

Effective July 30, 1972, items failing to meet the test must carry this label:

"Flammable (does not meet U.S. Department of Commerce standard DGC-FF-3-71) Should not be worn near sources of fire."

A year later, on July 30, 1973, items failing the flameproofing test would be banned.

Gorilla aided

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Cincinnati Zoo veterinarians gave a blood transfusion to a gorilla Tuesday night.

Pepper Wilson, spokesman for the zoo, said the transfusion may have been the first ever given a gorilla. The patient was "Sam," 18 months old, the first gorilla ever born at the Cincinnati Zoo. The blood donor was his father, Hilari.

Wilson said Sam has suffered from anemia since he was seven months old, and recently veterinarians discovered his blood was too thin and not clotting properly.

"Laboratory tests are being made to determine the cause, but in the meantime his condition was getting so poor that it was decided a transfusion was in order," Wilson said.

The treatment, undertaken at an animal hospital at the zoo, "can be important for future research," no matter what the outcome, Wilson said.

Water draws

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (UPI)—The "health vacation" has been reborn. Increasing numbers of tourists are flocking here to drink the water and take the baths of America's only European-styled spa.

Hernando DeSoto is believed to be the first European to drink from the famous Mountain Valley mineral spring in 1541, according to records of his explorations. He found Cherokee, Ouachita and Osage Indians living at peace drinking the healthful waters. By common agreement, DeSoto and the Indians shared the spring.

Bill rejected

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—City voters have overwhelmingly defeated a controversial ballot measure to allocate 2 percent of the city budget for anti-poverty programs.

Disney requests cleanup

CHICAGO (UPI)—Attorneys for Walt Disney Productions have filed suit to stop reproductions of Disney cartoon characters on posters and tee shirts in a "low, drug-addictive manner."

One poster, the attorneys said, showed Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and Goofy sitting around a water pipe (often used for smoking drugs) with dazed looks on their faces.

Another portrayed the seven dwarfs, Dumbo the elephant, Tinker Bell, Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck in poses suggestive of a "love-in," the attorneys said—and another showed Mickey Mouse using a hypodermic needle.

The suit said Disney productions has worked "to acquire the image of innocent delightfulness known and loved by people all over the world, particularly, but not only, by children."

"Some of the cartoons portrayed by these people are pornographic," a Disney attorney said.

Names in the suit were the operators of several stores in Chicago's Old Town area, other local business firms and Specialty-Products of Memphis, Tenn.

Bee plea told

TWIN FALLS — "Sprayers must exercise caution," Charles Miller, Twin Falls beekeeper, said today. He said insecticide spraying endangers bees and has killed many in the area.

Miller said the increased spraying for grasshoppers has added to the danger for bees. It was necessary to move bees off the Hansen Butte before spraying began or they would have been killed, he added.

Miller said bees are important for a certain amount of pollination to plants. It is important for farmers to notify beekeepers so they can protect the bees during spraying.

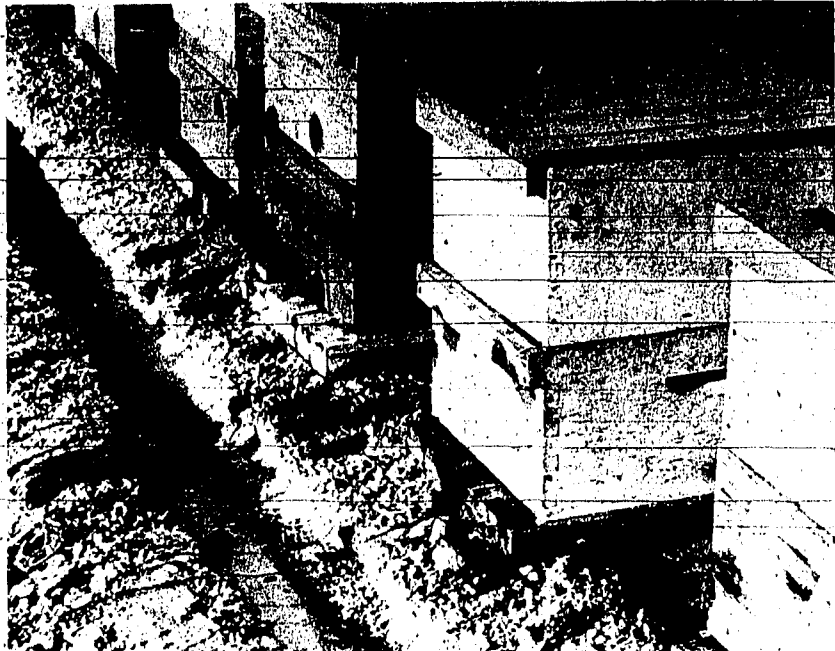

In many cases the bees can be saved if they are covered, kept in their hives, or moved. "My basic hope is for sprayers to be cautious in their spraying," he said. The honey bees are a living for many beekeepers and if they are killed it takes a while to recover from the loss, Miller said.

The alfalfa leaf cutter bees are even more susceptible to spraying and must also be watched carefully, Miller said. He said many keepers in the area have lost their bees to insecticides.

The bee protection laws in Idaho don't have sufficient strength to protect them, he said. "There is only one agriculture inspector in the state to take care of the bees," Miller added. Malcolm Stuart, Jerome, is the inspector for Idaho.

Miller said he moved his bees from California in 1969 because insecticides were destroying them. "At one ranch, I had 2,000 colonies of bees and in one spraying, 1,112 colonies were wiped out," he said.

The problem with insecticides was evidenced with the mercury problems in pheasants last year, Miller said. Miller said the most important thing landowners can do is to notify beekeepers of spraying in order for them to take precautionary measures.

Sports equipment sparks controversy Council members respond to story

By GEORGIA LAYTON Times-News Writer

RUPERT — Several items of baseball equipment, found at the side of a road by Councilman Bill Whitton, have sparked another round of a controversy stemming from a split in the Rupert City Council relating to operation of the town's recreation program.

Terry Duffin, Rupert recreation director, said the equipment has been put back into use. Whitton found the items lying at the side of a road this past Thursday night.

"There is something wrong with city property is not marked, there is something wrong when equipment is left out overnight and I will do my best to see that the situation is corrected," said Whitton, "for it is taxpayers' money that purchased this equipment for the recreation department."

Duffin said "Persons in the recreation department assigned to equipment for checking it out for use and returning it to the department at night. I have no knowledge of any equipment being missing over the weekend, but I will check into the matter."

"The person who keeps score for a league play at one of the lighted parks in Rupert is the one who usually picks up the equipment at Johnson Park," stated Duffin. "There are no lights at Johnson Park and play there stops at dark or dusk," he added.

"It is my guess that the equipment was left unattended only from the time the play stopped at Johnson Park until the game was over at the lighted field which could have been from a few minutes to half an hour," he said.

"I have no way of checking the time but from past experience the equipment must have been picked up by Councilman Whitton about 10 or 10:30 p.m. and not around midnight," Duffin said.

When Duffin was questioned on the fact that the baseball equipment had no identifying marks except for about four items he replied, "Anyone can mark equipment and that is the reason the equipment is assigned to people in the recreation department and they assume the responsibility for the equipment."

"In the past there has been no problem in getting the recreation equipment checked out and checked back in at night," he added.

RUPERT — Two Rupert city councilmen today answered a story in Wednesday's Times-News quoting Councilman George McDonald as saying other councilmen "introduced error and incorrect implications into the (Sunday Times-News) article."

The "other" councilmen, Bill Whitton and Grover Newman, today said "The statements and facts which were quoted by us were correct and true and we have documents to back up our statements."

The Rupert council, which has reportedly "split" with Newman and Whitton pitted against McDonald and George Dalry, has disagreed on a number of issues, including sanitation and recreation department operations.

"It is not our fault that Councilman McDonald does not understand the language used in Idaho and answered questions from a philosophical viewpoint in an interview. People are tired of haphazard facts, figures and answers. They want some straight, forward concrete answers," the Whitton-Newman statement said.

McDonald referred to a split in the council and Whitton and McDonald said that the only split as such are the items in the city budget-appropriated measures, including annual increased budget asked for in the recreation department which McDonald heads.

"McDonald's figures of $40,000 as budgeted by the garbage department are wrong. The budget is $45,500. To run the garbage department will cost from $39,500 to $40,000 and McDonald is completely off base in figuring the fees at $35,000 for the garbage department."

"He (McDonald) should be interested enough to investigate before making wild accusations and he would find the revenue should be around $39,000 for 1971 and considerable more revenue for 1972 due to adjustments that were made in the commercial and industrial rates. It is fine to quote facts and figures but proper facts and figures should be used. The $19,000 spent so far this year in the garbage department includes the spring work load, which is the expensive part of the year," they said.

"The figures spent in the garbage department is available due to accountability set up in the garbage department and every cent spent is accounted for in the department."

"Recently I (Whitton) asked for not more than $5,000 to purchase a truck in Nampa from a firm which was going out of business. McDonald was strongly opposed to making this purchase. If purchase of the truck had been made, it would have saved the taxpayers at least $72,000," Whitton and Ron Klebe both checked over the truck and both requested it be purchased.

"The city appears to be headed for a deficit. Requests have been entered to appropriate figures downward

Wood River dam talk nets split

HAYLEY — Conservationists and farmers took opposite positions at a public meeting on the Big Wood River and its tributaries Wednesday evening.

The division stemmed from discussion of the possible construction of a dam or dams on the Big Wood River.

Don Fredericksen, chairman of the Wood River Resources Board, opened the meeting for questions. Ken Hoyt, Army Corps of Engineers representative, gave a brief outline of flood control accomplishments on the Wood River. Hoyt showed slides of work on the river.

Discussion of dam construction did not mention specific sites but developed many alternatives including better flood planning management, stabilizing the river bank on the outside and raising Magle Reservoir 27 feet.

Hoyt said dam building would be determined by feasibility and cost-benefits of the construction. He added cost benefits are determined by comparing possible use with dollar value per visitor day.

Hoyt said there is not an estimate for the cost of new dams but it is being studied and possible figures will be presented at the next meeting of the group.

Hoyt said the efficiency and economy of projects have not always gained approval for up with would have to meet stringent ecological tests, be economically feasible and receive the governor's approval.

Fredericksen said he felt most people were in favor of the Corps study on the river. Most were also in favor of the water being stored, used for multiple purposes and that the stream bed not be disturbed, he said.

At a similar meeting in Gooding Tuesday, Mayor Harley Crippen asked the Army Corps of Engineers for possible help in clearing willow growth on the Wood River through parts of the city. There was same question that approval could be secured by the end of 1971.

Fredericksen said the results of a four-county general attitude survey by the board showed most of the people wanted some kind of dam built. He said they all wanted a minimum flow below the dam for recreation.

Hoyt said any proposal the Army Corps of Engineers came

Wreck kills Idaho men

COLUMBIA, FALLS, Mont. (UPI) — Two Idaho residents were killed and several others injured late Tuesday in a head-on collision on U.S. Highway 2 near here.

Hank Mohland, 39, Lewiston, Idaho, and a 38-year-old Idaho man, whose identity is being withheld pending notification of next of kin, died in the collision. Mrs. Mohland and the couple's two children were taken to a Missoula hospital for treatment.

Investigating officers said apparently the unidentified man swerved across the centerline and struck the Mohland car head-on.

Mail box blown up

TWIN FALLS — Another mail box was blown up in Twin Falls County Wednesday, according to reports at the police department and sheriff's office.

James Williams, 366 Eastland Drive, told officers that firecrackers or a cherry bomb was thrown into his mail box sometime Wednesday. The mail box was extensively damaged, it was reported.

Released

TWIN FALLS — Nathan Gall Jones, 32, Twin Falls, who was arrested Tuesday on a charge of indecent exposure, has been released on a $300 bond.

He appeared in magistrate court and requested a delay of five days before entering a plea to the misdemeanor charge.

The complaint against Jones was signed by Geraldine Berlin, Twin Falls.

Bad pollution

NEW YORK (UPI) — The death rate in New York City rose as much as 10 per cent during period of dense air pollution in 1970, according to Funk & Wagnall's 1970 yearbook.

Leahy said improved

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Former Notre Dame football coach Frank Leahy, who now lives in Lake Oswego, Ore., was taken off the serious list Tuesday and his condition was reported much improved.

Leahy, 67, underwent surgery here July 15 for removal of fatty tissue interfering with the function of the kidneys and liver.

Rural depopulation to be studied by team

GOODING — The economic and social impact of rural depopulation in Camas, Gooding, Jerome and Lincoln counties is being studied by a team from the regional studies center at the College of Idaho.

The team, headed by Professor W. Lamar Bollinger, head of the economics department, is assessing the impact of depopulation upon several economic and social variables. The variables include income, demographic characteristics, labor force, family stability, power and leadership structure, viability of the business community, employment opportunities, and the "push" and "pull" factors of migration, Bollinger said.

Two College of Idaho undergraduate students Marilyn Bauscher, Fairfield and Karen Capral, Emmett, will be in-

LAMAR BOLLINGER interviewing residents of the area. Their questions will concern migration patterns and values and underlying residential choice. Miss Bauscher has already assembled a list of addresses for 800 high school alumni of the four-county area. It represents a 20 per cent randomly selected group of graduates for the decade 1957-1966.

From the representative sample, information concerning the advanced education, present occupation, and migration history and motives of former youth in the area should become available.

Ron Barozzi, a graduate student in sociology from Utah State University, will analyze the consequences of depopulation upon the power and leadership structure. The report is being prepared for the U. S. Commission on Population Growth and America's Future.

Buhl plant starts run TF district gets Rock Creek route

BUHL — Operation at the Green Plant plant began this week in the 1971 corn pack with full scale production expected during the coming week.

Dexter Rogers, office and personnel manager for the plant, said the cool nights in late June and early July caused some delay in corn maturation. Ideal growing conditions since then indicate a good corn crop for this year, he said.

Acres is above 1970's with over 9,000 acres of corn under contract to the Green Plant Co. The growing area includes part of Elmore County, Gooding, Jerome and Twin Falls counties.

Rogers said there were no insect problems in this year's crop, and with normal conditions during the remainder of the growing season the pack should end about Sept. 25.

TWIN FALLS — Approval of a consent agreement to transfer 12.5 miles of road in Rock Creek Canyon from the Oakley Highway District to the Twin Falls Highway District was announced Wednesday.

Kelth Andersen, Twin Falls Highway District engineer, said the agreement had been approved by the two highway district boards, and county commissioners in Twin Falls and Cassia counties. The pact now goes to the Idaho Department of Highways for final acceptance.

The road, part of the route south of Hansen into heavily used summer and winter recreational areas has been part of the Oakley Highway District but maintained by the Twin Falls Highway District. It is closer and more accessible to

Twin Falls Highway District equipment. Andersen said it had been necessary to adopt special legislation, permitting the transfer without a vote of property owners involved since the road is in the Sawtooth National Forest where there are no adjacent property owners.

The bill was approved by the Idaho Legislature.

In addition to assuming legal responsibility for the road maintenance, the Twin Falls Highway District can now receive the portion of Highway Users revenue allocated to help cover maintenance costs.

Air pollution index 142

The pollution reading was taken by the staff of the South Central Health District at the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is reported on the number of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today.

The federal pollution regulation for any pollution level should be kept below 75 micrograms over any 24-hour period, and should not be permitted to rise above 760 micrograms for even a short period of time.

Forecast
Today: Good
Tonight: Poor
Tomorrow: Good

This forecast provided by the Idaho Department of Health indicates the ability of the atmosphere to disperse pollution. Burning as permitted by law should be curtailed when the air is poorly able to disperse air pollution.

Mill blaze fire cause not known

TWIN FALLS — No cause has been determined in a fire Wednesday morning which destroyed a shed containing a sawmill at the Curry Crossing west of Twin Falls.

James Rathoun of the Twin Falls County Mutual Fire Department said the fire was burning so extensively when his men and equipment arrived that it was impossible to tell what might have started the blaze.

He said the fire reportedly started near the middle of the building by the planer. The mill was owned by Jay Huddleston.

About midnight Wednesday the department answered a call northwest of Twin Falls where a tree was burning. Rathoun said the huge tree was beside a road just off of Pole Line Road and it was feared the tree would fall into the road, blocking traffic. Men and equipment from the department were on the scene until 1:15 a.m. Thursday.

Measles break out

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An increase in measles to its highest level in five years and especially among slum children has forced the Nixon administration to revive an abandoned health policy of fighting the disease with special federal funds.

For the first time since early 1969 the federal government is spending money to buy measles vaccine, according to the Center for Disease Control (CDC) in Atlanta.

The government will distribute $4.8 million to states and communities to immunize about 8 million children, with a major focus on inner city youngsters.

The campaign is a direct response to a 78 per cent one-year increase and a 360 per cent two-year rise in the number of measles cases reported to the CDC. In the first 28 weeks of this year, 66,155 cases were reported nationally, compared with 37,322 during the same period last year.

"The problem is a disturbing one because of the trend," CDC Assistant Director Dr. W. Bruce Dull said. His agency reported measles epidemics this year in New York City, New Orleans, Dallas, Little Rock, Ark., Oklahoma City, Waterbury, Conn., Wichita, Kan., Aberdeen S.D., and numerous other areas.

CDC said the rate of measles cases nationally has not been as high since 1966.

"Kids in the ghettos are just not getting vaccine," said Dr. Stanley L. Harrison, secretary of the American Academy of Pediatrics and a practicing child doctor in St. Louis for 30 years. "Immunization programs in the inner city have deteriorated."

Asked why, he said it was a result of a change in federal health policy under the Nixon administration away from seeking money to fight specific diseases in favor of block health grants to states who determine their own priorities.

Black leader asks Nixon pilgrimage

DETROIT (UPI)—The new executive director of the National Urban League said Wednesday night each step the Nixon administration has taken forward in the field of civil rights has been matched by another step backwards.

He called on the President to "make a spiritual pilgrimage to black America."

In his first major speech since taking over the reins of the powerful civil rights organization, Vernon E. Jordan Jr. also joined with Michigan Gov. William C. Milliken in denouncing Vice President Spiro T. Agnew — without mentioning his name — for his recent remarks concerning black leadership in America.

Jordan said black people are concerned "at the way in which minor figures, allowed with only symbolic powers, have gratuitously insulted their leadership and, by implication, all black people.

"To mistake the legitimate and just demands of an oppressed people as 'complaining and carping' is to betray an insensitivity and enthusiasm unworthy of high office," Jordan said.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Measured by seasonal, technical and statistical factors, the market is in a selectively attractive buying zone for many issues, says a TPO Inc. analyst.

The projected target date, the analyst believes, "is sometime in November or December."

As far as the prospects for an intermediate advance are concerned, "little has changed technically," according to TPO Inc. The company believes market issues are consolidating above their "critical" support levels. A move above the 900-910 level on the Dow Jones industrial average may stimulate a massive market influx which, TPO believes, could resolve the technical stalemate that has bogged the list down over the past few weeks.

The mood on Wall Street remains "glum, beaten, and skeptical," Hopkin, Watson & Co. says, because investors are mindful of how the administration stayed with its "game plan" until there was "irretrievable" damage. "A managed economy run by 'sorecerer' apprentices is indeed gruesome to contemplate—better one should go fishing," the company says. The firm believes, however, there is a possible stock-market break in the near future and adds it is "not a serious enough proposition to anticipate by on-balance investment selling."

The Federal Reserve Board probably would have to resort to "gluehammer tactics" if it wanted to retard the rate of money growth, Abraham & Co. says. The company believes, however, that such tactics are "taboo" until after the presidential elections. "The investment markets thus are unlikely to slurve to buying power anytime soon," Abraham believes.

In 1970, 64,000 of the 522,000 apartments constructed were owned on a cooperative or condominium basis—12.3 percent, compared with 7.6 percent in 1969.

Long's hit in 12th lets Cowboys edge Ogden 6-5

Fred Long's buso-loaded one-out single to left field in the bottom of the 12th inning, carried the Magic Valley Cowboys past Ogden's Dodgers 6-5 in a grueling three-hour and 50-minute game Wednesday night.

Long's hit came after Willie Goldwire had opened the 12th with a single that was just a little two tall for the glove of Ogden's leaping second baseman. Gary Guenther was hit by a pitch and Bill John was given a free walk to set the stage of Long's hit.

The two teams met for the third and last time in the current stand at 7:30 p.m. Thursday with the Great Falls Giants moving in Friday night

Trevino would like to win tourney—for vacation money

LIGONIEK, Pa. (UPI)—Joe Trevino already has won just about everything there is to win this year, but he had a special incentive going as the PGA National Team Championship started today.

He said he needs the money to take a vacation.

Trevino, whose non-stop schedule of 14 straight tournaments pushed him to the top of the money-making list but also tired him, plans to take two weeks off after finishing play this weekend.

"Until I missed the cut at Westchester last week, I had played 97 straight days," Trevino said. "I just feel like I need to rest for a while. It's amazing how much better you feel after you're away from it a few days."

For Trevino, who is teamed with Liqueo Johnson—this weekend, victory or second place in the Team Championship would send him on vacation with a PGA money-making record for one year.

He already has earned $197,219, well within reach of the record $205,169 which Billy Casper set in 1958. The winners will receive $20,000 each this weekend, the second place team $12,000 apiece.

Defending champions Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, Nos. 2 and 3 on the money list behind Trevino, were the favorites as 64 two-man teams began competition in the $200,000 tournament where only the better ball on each hole counts toward a team's score.

Trevino, whose victories this year include the U.S., British and Canadian Open championships, said he would go to Acapulco for "four or five days" and then take his family to a lake resort in New Mexico before rejoining the PGA tour at Philadelphia Aug. 19.

"I need to win this weekend to pay for my vacation," Trevino said. "But then, when I get back, they'll have to watch out for Supermax again."

Until a couple of weeks ago, Trevino was confident he could keep up his rugged, week-in, week-out schedule almost indefinitely. But he admits it is getting to him and Palmer, for one, can understand it.

"With the pressures of playing every day, there comes a time when you've got to relax," said Palmer, who comes into this tournament off his third victory of the year, a five-stroke margin in the $250,000 Westchester Classic.

"I've had been playing super golf, but it finally caught up with him. The same thing happened to me about 10 years ago. It's inevitable."

Holub's knee ails hit again

LIBERTY, Mo. (UPI)—Veteran E. J. Holub, who has had nine operations on his legs, has left the Kansas City Chiefs' training camp after suffering another knee injury.

Holub, an All-American Football League linebacker in 1962 and 1963 before being switched to center, has had eight knee operations and another to repair a hamstring.

He left camp Tuesday night en route to Lubbock, Tex., to consult with his doctor. Holub was an All-America at Texas Tech in 1960. He first hurt the knee in practice last Friday, but did not miss any practice until he re-injured it again Tuesday afternoon.

Holub had been the Chiefs' No. 2 center behind Jack Rudny before he left camp.

Starr begins long recovery after operation on his arm

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—Bart Starr—the man Dan Devine felt would help lead him to success in his first National Football League season—was operated on Wednesday. Afterwards Devine said he was happy that "Bart is now on his way back."

But that return trip from the operating table at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., could be a long one, lasting 12 weeks and maybe longer.

Dr. Edward P. Henderson performed the operation, described as a biceps-tendon transplant, on Starr's right arm —the one he uses to throw. Starr was reported in satisfactory condition after the surgery and Henderson said he would remain at Mayo for four or five days.

Henderson said Starr would also have to return to Mayo at times for therapy and removal of the stitches from the rare operation.

"I can't tell you how pleased I am for Bart's family, friends and thousands of followers that he is on his way back," Devine said.

Despite the confident words, there were still questions about Starr's return.

"At 37, Starr is at an age when it takes longer to recuperate and when many pro football players already have retired."

Starr has admitted he considered retirement as long as three years ago, but he keeps coming back, his friends say, because of a sense of loyalty to Green Bay—where he has played his entire career.

Starr, under the late Vince Lombardi, helped the Packers to five National Football League and two Super Bowl championships. When Lombardi quit coaching, Starr considered retirement also.

But he came back, only to be plagued by a string of injuries that limited him for the next three years.

Dr. James Nellen, the Packers' team physician, has said Starr's recovery hinges on a number of factors—one of them "the recovery time of any athlete that varies a little from one to another."

The normal recovery time, doctors have said, should be about 12 weeks and by that time the Packers will be well into the 1971 season.

In Starr's absence, Devine has concentrated on 39-year-old veteran Zeke Bratkowski, second year man Frank Patrick and rookie Scott Hunter of Alabama. The coach says that at the present time, "the quarterback's ability ranks in order of their experience."

"That would make Bratkowski, who sat out the past two seasons, the No. 1 signal caller with Patrick, a 6-foot-7 former Nebraska star who was drafted as a tight end, No. 2."

Twin Falls' regular slowpitch season ground to a halt Wednesday night with Lynwood Standard nipping Lucky Lager 14-13 in the only close game.

Many of the teams will participate in the district tournament. Bill Pargenteu homered to provide the winning margin for Lynwood against Lucky.

L and L Roofing came up with a big defensive effort in shutting out Independent Moot 23-0. Langford's honor topped the attack.

Keelbar Cookie forfeited to Sellers Electric.

T.F. tops Rupert to stay undefeated, Mt. Home ousts Buhl in Legion meet

Buhl.—Righthander Darrell Groves, whose arm was bandaged a week ago, came up with a route-going shutout as Twin Falls topped Rupert 4-0 to remain undefeated in the district American Legion baseball tournament Wednesday night.

Earlier, Mountain Home took the lead from Buhl in the fourth inning and went on to oust the host team 8-3.

Dawson creaks a bit on eve of 16th year

LIBERTY, Mo. (UPI)—This is Len Dawson's 16th pro football training camp. But, for now, it's been one of the easiest so far.

This is because the Missouri weather has smiled favorably on the Chiefs. Temperatures have hovered in the high 70s and low 80s through the first week of practice.

"Oh, Len has all the usual ailments you'd expect a 36-year-old to have playing a game meant for big-talented youngsters. His arm is sore and the only thing he thinks about between practices is how nice his bed is going to feel."

"The weather has been awfully good," he says, "when it gets to 95 degrees out there, you just worry about getting through practice. But with it like it has been, we've been able to concentrate on timing and getting things done."

This will be Dawson's 10th season with the Kansas City Chiefs. He spent six years riding the bench of the Pittsburgh Steelers and Cleveland Browns before jumping to the founding American Football League in 1962.

He's been the quarterback for Lamar Hunt's team ever since. The Chiefs have had their share of pretenders to Dawson's job, but he's beaten them all back.

Such talents as Eddie Wood, Pete Beathard and now Mike Livingston have yet to find a way to unseat Dawson.

Most athletes past the age of 35 are hanging on by their fingertips. But the life of a quarterback is entirely different. Some of the most productive years by the likes of U.A. Tittle, Charley Conerly, Bobby Layne, Bart Starr and Johnny Unitas have come between the ages of 35 and 40.

"That's why their knowledge of the game is at its peak and the body hasn't been beaten to a pulp yet."

"They aren't too many 35-to-40-year-old halfbacks around," Dawson said. "But the quarterback is not as involved physically all the time."

Taffoni asks to be traded

HIRAM, Ohio (UPI)—Offensive tackle Joe Taffoni, a starter for the Cleveland Browns last season who left camp Tuesday because he was demoted, said Wednesday he wants to be traded because he is "not happy with the Browns' organization."

Taffoni told head coach Nick Skorich by telephone from his home in nearby Euclid he still had the desire to play football but not with the Browns.

"He wants to be traded and I told him that won't be easy to do," said Skorich. "He said he would think about it some more and would call back again. I said if he still wanted to be traded we would look into it."

Taffoni was a fourth round draft choice from Tennessee Martin five years ago and opened camp this year as the No. 1 offensive right tackle.

At tackle are Ellis (220), Darrell Brown (225), Tim Pereira (235), Bert Sclari (225), Bruce Becker (235), and Larry Torix (222). Ellis and Pereira, J. C. Lineman of the Year in his conference, were the best this spring but Sclari was hurt and Becker is transferring this fall. In addition ISU has a host of in-state prospects in the defensive line including Vince Johnson (Hayden Lake), Steve Torix (Paul), Brent Mulkey (Salmon), Rob Trankle (Shoshone), and Brent Hansen (Pocatello).

Tigers nip Royals on 2 late homers

DETROIT (UPI)—Two-run homers with one out in the ninth by Gates Brown and Al Kaline powered the Detroit Tigers to a come-from-behind 8-7 victory Wednesday night over the Kansas City Royals.

Dick McAuliffe's pinch single off Ted Abernathy started the ninth, and after Kevin Collins fled deep to Axos Ott in left-center, Brown belted his third homer of the season off the rightfield foul pole into the upper deck to cut the Kansas City lead to 7-6.

Dalton Jones walked and Kaline made reliever Jim York's record 55 by slugging his ninth homer off an 8-2 pitch into the left-center field seats. York came on after Abernathy walked Jones.

Los Angeles 7, Twins 1. BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI)—Frank Howards' two-run double in the fifth inning paced the Washington Senators to a 7-1 victory over Minnesota Twins Wednesday night in a game twice delayed by rain.

College stars pin win hopes on pass defense

CHICAGO (UPI)—Pass defense should be the vital factor for the 1971 College All Stars Friday night when they meet the National Football League champion Baltimore Colts at Soldier Field's newly installed astroturf gridiron.

The Colts, favored by two touchdowns to rack up the eighth straight win for the professionals in the 38th annual meeting against the best of the graduated collegiate crop, relied on their passing to win both the American conference championship and the Super Bowl last year.

Mrs. Conigliaro not sure she wants third son in baseball

NEW YORK (UPI)—"I used to love baseball. We all did. But no more."

A mother's anguish and disappointment were woven into Mrs. Teresa Conigliaro's voice.

"Two of my sons have been ballplayers but we kind of discouraged the third one, Richie, from baseball. I couldn't take having another boy in baseball. Not the way it is today. It's too much business now. Business and politics. These are hard words, I know they are, but they're from the heart."

"Tony's troubles are now serious. He's getting his things together in California right now and trying to find himself."

U.S. anxious to beat Cuba in Pan-Am baseball competition

CAJI, Colombia (UPI)—The United States team which will defend the championship in baseball in the Pan-American games opening here Friday makes no secret of the fact that it is anxious to defeat an older, much more experienced Cuban team.

already," U.S. head baseball coach Bob Winkles said today. "The U.S. victory in baseball in the last Pan-Am games, at Winnipeg, Canada, in 1967, was one of the most dramatic highlights of those games."

The U.S. won, 2-1, to silence a noisy Cuban rooting section. "I'm sure they remember 1967 and that they'll be trying hard to make up for that and they'll use their best pitcher against the United States," said Winkles, coach of Arizona State U. "Their team is much older than ours, an average age of 28 against an average 19 1/2 for our players, and I understand they have two or three players, especially the second baseman, who would be in the Big Leagues right now if they could get out of Cuba."

All Star coach Banton Collier, directing the collegians for the first time, believed that his defensive backs, headed by Jack Tatum of Ohio State, Clarence Scott of Kansas, Charlie Hall of Pittsburgh, and Isaac Thomas of Bishop, could give the pro's a good test, despite their reputation.

Walker, Pirates shutout L.A. 4-0

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Luka Walker pitched a four-hitter and Bob Robertson collected his 20th homer Wednesday night as the Pittsburgh Pirates scored a 4-0 win over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The last time Walker faced the Dodgers, July 18 at Pittsburgh, he beat them on a one-hitter.

Wednesday night the Dodgers got two singles off him in the second inning and then he set down the next 10 men in order.

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Dave Campbell walloped a three-run homer in the fifth inning to give the San Diego Padres a come-from-behind 4-2 victory Wednesday night and allow Clay Kirby to beat the Cincinnati Reds for the fifth straight time.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Joe Morgan drove in two runs with a triple and a single Wednesday night as the Houston Astros backed the six-hit pitching of Don Wilson with 12 hits and whipped the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-3.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Al Gallagher drove in two runs with a double and single and Jerry Johnson saved John Cumberland's sixth victory Wednesday as San Francisco defeated the Atlanta Braves 2-1.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joe Torre, the National League's leading hitter, hit his 17th home run of the season with a man on in the fifth inning Wednesday and left-hander Steve Carlton fought off control problems the rest of the way to notch his 14th victory as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the New York Mets 6-3.

Cubs 10, Expos 2

MONTREAL (UPI)—Ferguson Jenkins coasted to his 17th win of the season and helped his own cause by driving in two runs Wednesday night to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 10-2 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Baltimore was next to last in the AFC in rushing, but next to the top in passing with Johnny Unitas the 6th best passer, Earl Morrall a strong replacement, and both Eddie Hinton and Roy Jefferson among the top seven receivers in the league. But for the game against the Stars, Unitas is on the sidelines recovering from an injury to his Achilles tendon, so Morrall, or rookie Karl Douglas, probably will have to keep the serial game going.

Teresa Conigliaro is like all mothers. The thing she wishes her sons most is happiness. She wishes them that more than anything else.

Lately though, her oldest son, Tony, who is 26, and her second oldest, Billy, who is 23, have been unhappy.

eight. It was then the old man produced the Jack of spades.

"You are old, Father William," the young expert said, "and your hair is becoming white, yet you incessantly stand on your head. Do you think at your age this is right?"

"In my youth," said the sage, "I learned how to play from Culbertson, Whitehead and Shoup. If you think I started about yesterday, you are sure to wind up in the soup."

The young welp was in the soup all right. If Father William had played the nine of spades instead of the ace the expert would have fussed the 10 and wound up with three spade tricks, game and rubber. As it was, he went down two while apologizing to Lewis Carroll.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding six spades your partner has bid five no-trump. What do you do now?

Answer: Tommorrow

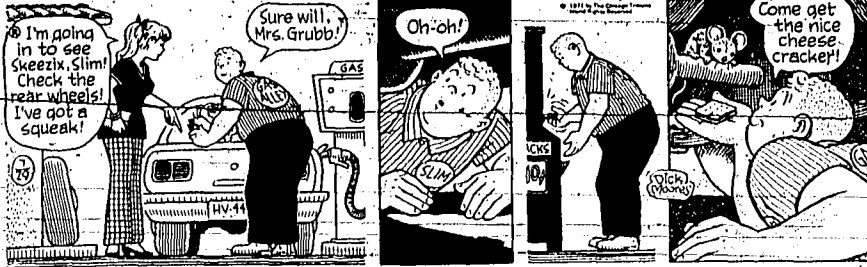

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The young expert took the first trick with dummy's king of hearts and led a spade toward his hand. The old man hopped up with the ace while the young expert carefully dropped his 10. Obviously, the old coot had a singleton ace or doubleton ace-jack.

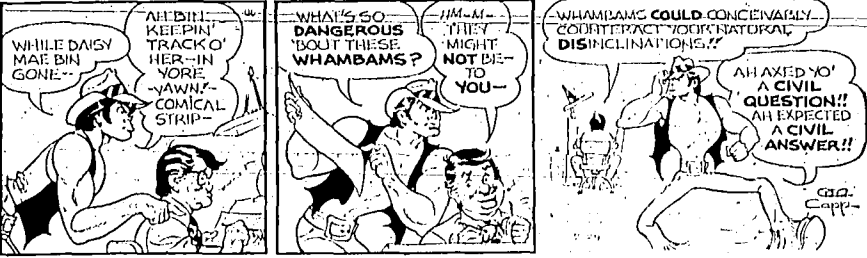

The old timer checked and led back a heart to knock out dummy's last stopper. The young expert led a spade to his queen and burst into doggerel when the old duffer played the nine. Without question, the old fool was senile! How could anyone rise with the ace when he could have played the nine?

The young expert led a spade and fussed dummy's

ARGUMENT CONTINUES as to whether a woman's heart or a man's beats faster. A woman's, that's known. By maybe seven beats a minute. Among infants, however, it's the boy's heart that beats faster. That's how obstetricians predict the sex of unborn babies. With about 85 per cent accuracy. If the thumpy thump is slow, buy pink.

GARMENT MAKERS claim about one out of every 200 men wear girdles. STILL UNEXPLAINED is why you and I get more dental cavities in winter than in summer. WHO WAS IT defined "experience" as "hitting your wife over the head with your mother-in-law." AM ASKED IF the Confederate States of America ever minted any coins. Only four - 50-cent pieces. IN ITEMIZING those progressive words, don't forget Wheat. Heat. Eat. AT.

OPEN QUESTION: Which was the name of the "Our Gang Comedy" dog, Spot or Popt?

"I'M A SCIENTIFIC scuba diver in Puget sound," writes a Seattle subscriber. "And I have developed a secret waterproof box which contains a special buzzer and a particular light to which fish, crabs and clams are irresistibly attracted. On the floor of the sea, a big wire cage containing this box will completely fill up with sea life in about two hours. It's worth $1 million. At least. To fishermen, anyway. But I need money desperately. So I'll send you the complete plans, if you'll mail a check for just $10."

CUSTOMER SERVICE: Q "Remember old Buck Rogers? What century was he supposed to have been living in?" A. The 25th. Q "Did you say 18 out of 100 women get bald?" A. Not totally, not totally. That's just one researcher's claim. Q "What proportion of the cemeteries bury the dead at double depths?" A. All I can tell you is gravediggers insist most of the big ones do. Q "What's the average age of the working-man-now?" A. In this country, it's 39. Q "How many men did General Sherman lose during his march to the sea?" A. Exactly 103 dead, 428 wounded, 273 missing.

PHILOSOPHY: I: "Isn't it strange that princes and kings... And blows that caper in sawdust rings... And common people like you and me... Are builders for eternity? ... Each is given a bag of tools... A shapely mass, a book of rules... And each must make ere life is flown... A stumbling block or a stepping stone." The poet, R. L. Sharpe.

YOUNG LADY, DO not let those disapproving observers chastise you for running-around-all day in your bikini. Tell them it's a matter of health. The closer your skin temperature is to the weather temperature, the doctors say, the better you'll function physically. You do want to function physically, don't you?

Your questions and comments are welcomed and will be used in PASS IT ON wherever possible. Please address your letters to L.M. Boyd, P.O. Box 12076, Fort Worth, Texas 76102.
