

Newspaper claims POWs on way home

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter said today North Vietnam will release 183 American prisoners-of-war Aug. 12 and fly them to New York. Scandinavian Airlines System (SAS) confirmed it has been asked to provide a jetliner to return the POWs to the United States.

Senator joins colleagues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Len Jordan, R-Idaho, joined other Republican senators Wednesday to introduce legislation which would establish a national commission on wages and prices.

For the time being in view of President Nixon's attitude to the seven-point peace plan recently presented at the peace talks in Paris, he said. Charge d'affaires Nguyen Viet at the embassy. He said a communique on the matter was in preparation.

The newspaper quoted "confidential sources" as saying the imminent release of the POWs was the result of negotiations late last month between the U.S. "headquarters in Europe" and North Vietnam. The report said the repatriation originally was to have taken place Aug. 6 but for reasons not stated it was postponed until Aug. 12.

The newspaper said the first contacts between Washington and Hanoi were in late July when the U.S. Supreme Command in West Germany cabled SAS and asked the airline to provide one of its largest planes for the repatriation.

"We have not yet received a formal request but we have been asked if we could arrange a charter flight from Vientiane to Rome via Bangkok," he said.

In Copenhagen, SAS press officer Soeren Berthelsen said, "A request was made by American military authorities within the last 24 hours through the SAS office in Frankfurt."

"No contracted agreement has been signed and no date has been set for a possible charter flight," the spokesman said.

General Seen... to visit Boise

BOISE (UPI) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, chief of staff for the United States Army, will visit Boise Aug. 20 and 21 while en route to Wyoming from Alaska.

This will be the second Idaho visit for the former commander in chief of military forces in Vietnam. He attended the National Boy Scout Jamboree at Farragut State Park in 1968.

While in Boise, General Westmoreland will attend a dinner Aug. 20 sponsored by the Armed Forces Committee of the Greater Boise Chamber.

Kiln fire investigated

PRIEST RIVER, Idaho (UPI) — Investigators sifted through the ashes of a dry kiln at the Merritt Brothers stud mill here Wednesday in hopes of finding cause of a fire Tuesday afternoon that destroyed the structure.

Although the kiln was destroyed, fire crews managed to keep the blaze from spreading to the main sawmill and new planer mill.

Boats search for boy

PAYETTE, Idaho (UPI) — Boats from Malheur County, Ore., and Washington and Payette Counties in Idaho joined the search Wednesday for Russell "Rusty" Nelson, 15, Meridian, missing and presumed drowned in the Snake River.

Nelson and a companion, Harold Sevey, were wading in the river after working on a farm. Sevey apparently got into water over his head and called for help.

Nelson, who apparently tried to save his friend, was swept away. Sevey made his way to the bank and went to a nearby home to see if Nelson had gone for help. Unable to find his friend, he returned to the river, searched again, then summoned authorities.

The Cambodian military commander went to Saigon to protest what he said were South Vietnamese atrocities in the area.

The reports said nine Communist soldiers were killed. No ARVN casualties were reported.

Film retrieved

White Worden walks in space, Irwin and Scott will remain in the Endeavour and televise the walk and fly the ship.

The film was under insulation covers in Apollo 15's new Scientific Instrument Module (SIM) bay in the part of the rocket they will jettison before re-entering Earth's atmosphere.

Handrails were installed on the spacecraft, from cabin hatch to the camera compartment 18 feet away, to aid Worden's walk. A special foot restraint is mounted in the open bay.

The astronauts went to bed about 10 p.m. EDT to rest for Worden's spacewalk. Before sleeping, they struggled to retract the mapping camera, but were told to skip it until morning after ground controllers decided the precious film would not be damaged by the extremes of hot and cold the spacecraft experiences while rotating slowly in space.

"Houston is out for the evening," ground communicator Robert Parker told the astronauts as they prepared for bed.

"Don't go too far out, though," Scott replied.

"Every watchful eye will be on you while you sleep," Parker said.

The astronauts swung into lunar orbit last Thursday and left it just as smoothly Wednesday, prompting Scott to say, "you can't beat these rocket engines for traveling."

"Endeavour is on the way home," he radioed mission control. "It was really a great trip."

Scientists were ecstatic. Dr. Paul W. Gast, chief of lunar sciences at the Houston Space Center, said "We've seen in the past few days some of what I think are the great moments in the history of science and exploration."

"We know we've got 170 to 180 pounds of rocks, but 170 to 180 pounds in no way describes the richness and the information and the detail that we expect to find in these rocks," he said.

Besides recovering valuable data, the space walk was an important trial for future missions. The next two Apollo missions will require similar film retrievals and so will the Skylab space station set for launch in 1973.

Family has one big day

TWIN FALLS — Wednesday was a day the John Breckenridges will — long remember. But while the events were primarily bad — fire destroyed their big barn and four sheds — some of the news was good.

While Times-News reporters were covering the fire at the family ranch north of Twin Falls on Pole Line road, Sen. Jordan's office in Washington, D. C. called the newspaper to announce that Mrs. Breckenridge has been named to the newly formed Regional Archives Advisory Council.

Sen. Jordan said the council, which has been formed by the General Services Administration, will advise the agency's administrator Robert L. Kunzig and the archivist of the United States, James B. Rhoads, on archival practices and policies in the four states comprising the agency's region 10—Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Alaska.

"Persons knowledgeable and interested in the history of the area have been selected for membership on the council," Jordan said. "They will help meet the research needs of scholars, students and other users of archives and promote close cooperation with historical and educational institutions."

A. W. Naegele, Idaho Falls, also was named to the council.

Rancher holds eagle comment

CASPER, Wyo. (UPI) — Wyoming rancher Herman Werner, accused during congressional testimony of hiring a helicopter from which hunters shot down an estimated 600 eagles, is waiting for some of the "hysteria" over the issue to settle down.

"I've had quite a few requests to make some kind of comment, but I'm not going to until this thing quiets down and people get over the hysteria of the thing," the cattle and sheep rancher said Wednesday.

"Then I'm going to make a pretty good report on my side of it—what I had to do with it and how it concerns me and others—and enlighten the public about it."

Werner, who is the largest sheepman in Wyoming, was mentioned earlier this week in testimony before a U.S. Senate subcommittee.

James D. Vogan, 43, of Murray, Utah, told the Senate Environmental Appropriations subcommittee that nearly 800 bald and golden eagles were killed illegally from the air over Wyoming and Colorado since last September.

The helicopter pilot said 570 eagles were killed over Werner's ranch alone.

Vogan testified Werner made at least two payments totaling $15,000 to the manager of the Buffalo Flying Service for which he once worked. He said the payments were based on a rate of $25 per eagle and $50 for each coyote.

Earlier this week, federal agents discovered an undetermined number of eagle carcasses buried deep underground near Werner's ranch, 17 miles northwest of Saratoga in Carbon County.

Werner, who controls about 250,000 acres of land between Saratoga and Rawlins, also declined to say whether the eagles posed a problem to his livestock.

"I'm not going to make any sort of comment on the eagle business," he said.

Manwhile, Bruce Von Forell, the president of the Wyoming Stockgrowers Association said the latest testimony in Washington would detract from the cattlemen's already tarnished image.

Wyoming livestock men came under intense criticism earlier this year after numerous eagles, which are protected by federal law, died from eating poison set out in predator control programs.

"It (the latest testimony) is going to hurt us a lot," Von Forell said. "We haven't had the best image in the first place. I don't know if they are going to be able to prove it, but it's going to hurt every cowboy in the state of Wyoming."

"I would say it is a very unfortunate thing," he said. "I certainly wouldn't want anyone to think I condone it."

Denver, Colo., was founded primarily by gold seekers in 1858.

Utah power rate boost defended

BOISE (UPI) — E. Allan Hunter, president of Utah Power & Light Co., testified Wednesday an increase in electric service rates to Idaho customers is "essential."

Hunter appeared before the Idaho Public Utilities Commission to outline reasons for the firm's application for an average 13.5 per cent increase which would apply to all classes of customers.

The maximum increase to any one class of customer would be 15.9 per cent and, if granted, the increase would amount to additional revenue of $1,861,476.

Hunter said inflationary pressures, higher money costs, and other increased costs required to make the company's facilities compatible with the environment had made a rate increase mandatory.

Without the increase, he said, the company within two years would be unable to secure money from customary sources or at reasonable costs to finance the expanded electric facilities.

Mow off weeds, residents told

TWIN FALLS — Residents of Twin Falls were reminded today by city officials they are responsible for removing weeds from all property they own.

Residents are also responsible for cutting or killing weeds on alleys and street right of way adjacent to their property, City Manager Jean Milar said.

Those who do not take care of weeds on their vacant lots or other property within the city are generally the object of neighborhood complaints, he said, and this is the time of year such complaints are pouring into city hall.

Under the present program, he said, complaints usually result in a warning to the property owner. If nothing is done, the city contracts for removal of the weeds and will assess the cost for the work against the property owner through the county assessor's office, Milar said.

Milar said the city does not maintain weed crews now but handles the work through contract with a business of this type. This costs the property owner more than when the city was able to do the few mowing jobs needed each summer.

Joe Koon, city sanitation officer, at city hall, is in charge of the weed clean up. He receives numerous complaints on unkept property during the late summer.

Rifle taken from closet

TWIN FALLS — Steve Teljan, 145 10 Ave. E., told city police someone entered his home between July 18 and Aug. 3 and took a .22 caliber pump action rifle from a closet.

He said he missed the rifle Tuesday and had last noticed it in the closet July 18.

Girl organizes Oregon's rodeo

FILER — How do you start a state high school rodeo association?

Connie Morcom of Harper, Ore., did it for her state while representing Idaho at the National High School Rodeo in Texas in 1969.

Miss Morcom, who looks young enough to still be in high school rodeo, was allowed to compete in Idaho before Oregon had a state association.

She talked an Oregon association up at Nationals while she was queen of Idaho High School Rodeo, went back to Oregon, gathered several people for a meeting in Bend, Ore., and set up an election.

She said the association was off to a bad start because the weather was "terrible" for the first meeting, but in two years Oregon high school rodeos have done well.

The first rodeo was held there in 1970. Oregon still only has a state championship rodeo instead of district rodeos leading up to the state finals, but Miss Morcom is satisfied with its progress.

Although only 20, Miss Morcom serves as secretary of the Oregon High School Rodeo Association as well as competing in barrel racing. She currently stands second in barrel racing in the Idaho Cowboy's Association.

Miss Morcom was runner-up to the national high school rodeo queen in 1969. During 1969-70 she served as Miss Rodeo Oregon, placing sixth in the Miss Rodeo America contest.

No 'instant detente' on Viet, Nixon says

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon said Wednesday his discussions in Peking would improve prospects for world peace but would not produce "instant detente" on Vietnam or anything else.

Nixon said the United States was pushing for peace through existing channels. He said the war already was wound down to such an extent that the enemy had lost much of its punch and the United States was merely defending positions

It already holds. At an unscheduled news conference in his office, the President said a date for his trip to mainland China would be worked out within two or three months.

He ruled out a prior summit meeting with Russian leaders, but said U.S. and Soviet negotiators "are making very significant progress on Berlin" and "good progress on SALT" — the strategic arms limitation talks.

Nixon said the United States was strictly neutral in the South Vietnamese presidential elections this fall. He acknowledged that North Vietnam feels "it will be very difficult for them to have a negotiated settlement" unless President Nguyen Van Thieu is replaced by someone more to Hanoi's liking.

Nixon said the U.S. economy is sound and growing. He said he would keep an open mind on price and wage guidelines, proposed by a dozen Republican senators Wednesday, but added that "guidelines in this country have always failed."

In response to indications that he is miffed at the economic policies of Arthur Burns, Nixon praised "the Federal Reserve Board chairman for following "a course that I think is the most responsible and statesmanlike of any chairman of the Federal Reserve in my memory."

Nixon said he would be accompanied to Peking by "a small working party" including Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, the President's foreign affairs adviser.

"This will be a wide ranging discussion of issues concerning both governments," Nixon said of the Peking talks. "It is not a discussion that is going to lead to instant detente.

Israel keeps stand

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Israeli leaders did not budge during their talks with Assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco from their public hardline stand on conditions for reopening the Suez Canal, a government source said today.

"Essentially, Prime Minister Golda Meir stuck to the position she has already publicly declared," the source said.

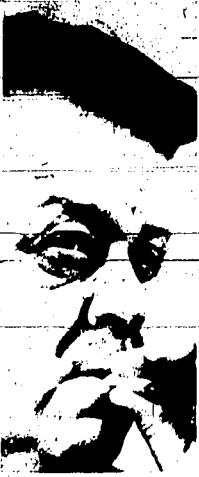

That position, which newspapers and some government circles said Sisco had tried to soften during his visit, called for guarantees Egypt would honor an unlimited cease-fire and would not send troops across the canal if Israel agreed to its reopening and a partial withdrawal of its own troops. Egypt has rejected these conditions.

Sisco held his third meeting Wednesday with Mrs. Meir and her top advisers on an interim Middle East peace settlement based on a canal opening.

Following the meeting, Foreign Minister Abba Eban described the Sisco talks as part of a "continuing discussion on a partial Middle East settlement." Israel television said Washington would continue talks with Israel and Cairo in hopes of achieving an interim peace.

Officially, neither U.S. or Israeli officials would comment on the results of Sisco's visit here.

He was scheduled to meet Eban today for a discussion of "international affairs," attend a reception by U.S. Ambassador H. Walworth Barbour tonight and return to Washington Friday, government sources and Israeli television said.

Lockheed income up

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI)—Lockheed Aircraft Corp. had earnings of 99 cents a share for the first half of this year—more than during the same period last year—while it was beseeching the government to come to its financial rescue.

Board Chairman Daniel J. Houghton and President Carl A. Kotchian revealed the figures in an earnings report Wednesday.

They also said Lockheed will put up $100 million worth of land and equipment and its missile division as collateral for the $250 million loan the government will back so the company can build the TriStar Airbus.

The government plans to guarantee repayment of the loan if the aircraft company, the nation's largest defense contractor, cannot do so. Lockheed said it would go bankrupt and be unable to build the Airbus unless it got the bank loans. The banks would not lend the money unless the government guaranteed they would be repaid.

The request for the government guarantee set off a bitter political row, ended by a one-vote victory for the pro-loan forces in the Senate Monday.

Howe named to Gem job

BOISE (UPI)—Gov. Cecil D. Andrus appointed Lloyd Howe Wednesday as director of the Idaho Department of Commerce and Development, a post that has been vacant since Andrus took office in January.

Howe, who has been serving as acting director—is the former industrial developer in the department. Andrus said he searched for a new director, but said at no time was a candidate found whose qualifications exceeded Howe's.

Howe was elevated to the director's post for what Andrus termed "outstanding service to the state of Idaho" through his efforts to secure the new Tupperware plant for Jerome and the expansion of Kellwood Company manufacturing into the Caldwell area.

Andrus said Howe will continue to play a major role in attracting "clean new industry" to Idaho, but said he hoped a new industrial developer could be found to take Howe's old job.

Howe has worked in the department since 1962.

The United States already is destroying on a unilateral basis its stockpile of biological weapons—a supply large enough to kill all mankind if they could be used under perfect conditions.

The Soviet Union always has denied having developed, or stockpiled, biological weapons. The joint draft largely was based on a British proposed treaty submitted to the conference in July, 1969.

Houghton said in the report Lockheed had net earnings for the first six months of this of $11.3 million, or 99 cents a share, an increase over the $8.2 million and 73 cents a share earned in the same period last year.

The report said the "results are based on assumptions that we will be successful in making necessary financial arrangements—and continue as a going concern."

The earnings included $3.8 million, or 33 cents a share, in "extraordinary income" from the sale of real estate, the report said. This accounted for the rise from the previous year, the report said.

President, wife dine with Coxes

NEW YORK (UPI)—President and Mrs. Nixon were the dinner guests Wednesday night of their daughter, Tricia, and her husband Edward Finch Cox, then they treated their hosts to a little nostalgia at a Broadway performance of "No, No, Nanette."

The Nixons went to Essex House, an apartment hotel, where the newly married Coxes have a fifth-floor apartment, and had a lobster dinner cooked by their daughter.

"She should have started a long time ago," Nixon said. "I ate all the things I'm not supposed to."

After dinner, the First Family drove to the 46th Street Theatre to see the Broadway revival of "No, No, Nanette," and were given a "standing ovation" when they walked in.

Jury set to try colonel

MEADE, Md. (UPI)—After four months of pretrial argument, Army and defense lawyers took only two hours Wednesday to select a jury of seven officers—only one a Vietnam combat veteran—for Col. Oran K. Henderson's court martial on charges of covering up the My Lai massacre.

Moments later, in formal arraignment before the court, Henderson pleaded innocent to the charges that he was derelict in investigating the conduct of his troops during their sweep through My Lai and that he later lied about his role to an Army board of inquiry.

The company that swept through My Lai on March 16, 1968, was in the American division's 11th Brigade. Henderson assumed command of that brigade one day earlier.

"Col. Henderson, how do you plead," asked Col. Peter S. Wondolowski, the military judge, as the defendant stood facing the jurors with his hands on his hips.

"To all specifications and charges, not guilty," replied Henderson, 50, in a low voice.

Wondolowski then set Aug. 23 as the opening day for prosecution arguments.

Maj. Carroll J. Tichenor, the Army trial counsel, said he thought the trial could run three months.

If Henderson is found guilty, the jury could drum him out of the service, without pay or allowances and sentence him to a maximum of six years and three months at hard labor.

A BM funds cut

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Armed Services Committee slashed $161.4 million Wednesday from President Nixon's request for the Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

The committee unanimously approved a $21.1 billion military procurement authorization bill, but denied Nixon's request to begin deploying the ABM at a third site at Whiteman Air Force Base, Md.

Instead, it confined actual deployment of the ABM to two existing sites in Montana and North Dakota, approving only advance site preparation and procurement for Whiteman and a fourth location at Warren Air Force Base, Wyo.

The committee denied funds for an ABM site in the Washington, D.C., area to protect the National Command Authority.

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., announced the committee's decision. He said the 11-5 vote to cut back on the ABM was a result of construction delays at existing sites at Malmstrom Air Force Base, Mont., and Grand Forks Air Force Base, N.D.

Stennis said the Washington site was eliminated because it would have been impossible to initiate work there in the current fiscal year.

Stennis said construction at the Malmstrom and Grand Forks sites had fallen one full year behind schedule—meaning it will be 1975 before they will be operational. He said this was a result of bad weather and labor difficulties, rather than a deliberate slowdown as a result of the SALT talks.

Stennis predicted "a very rugged trip" through the Senate for the procurement bill, even though it is $1.1 billion under Nixon's $22.7 billion budget request.

Salmon funds OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, said Wednesday a $2.2 billion appropriation bill approved by Congress this week contains the full $200,000 budgeted for the watershed rehabilitation project on the south fork of the Salmon River.

McClure said the forest lands along the south fork drainage contained extensive, valuable resources but said since late 1963 little production had occurred there.

"At that time the untimely combination of heavy rains, storms, logging operations and lack of experience with the soil there forced large quantities of sediment into the south fork," he said. "Funding of the rehabilitation program will serve to restore and maintain this resource of national significance."

He said the project would include installation of gully plugs and reseedling, restoration of the roads in the drainage area and removal of the sediment which is destroying the spawning beds.

He said the rehabilitation will take five years to complete and cost a total of $6.5 million.

24 queens start path toward crown

FILER — The 24 state queens vying for the National High School Rodeo Queen title attended their first official judging session Wednesday morning.

The queens, judges and guests, met at a breakfast meeting at the Tom Parks Pavilion at the fairgrounds.

Each of the queens introduced herself and gave a short resume on her activities.

Half the queens from Nebraska to Wyoming, were then interviewed by judges. The remaining half will be interviewed following a breakfast Thursday morning.

The Thursday morning session will include modeling by all contestants.

Friday the queens will be judged on horsemanship during competition in the arena at 9 a.m.

Today, the queens were guests of the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon at the Turf Club in Twin Falls.

The new queen will be named Saturday night. She will succeed Neida Robinson, Helin, La., the 1971 queen.

The queen's congeniality award, voted on by the 24 girls involved in the show, will be given at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Judging the contest are Carolyn Harvey and Ruth Miller, both Twin Falls, both personality and appearance, and Loren Butler, Jerome, and Mrs. LaRae Monroe, Twin Falls, horsemanship. There also are four other judges, two in personality and appearance and two in horsemanship, who will remain unknown to the contestants.

Rick Prince, Sulphur, La., is new student president. He replaces Joe Sagers of Gooding as head of the youth side of National High School Rodeo.

Phyllis Coy, Torrington, Wyo., replaces Ratsy Blissett of Morton, Miss., as vice president. Blissett was unable to attend the National High School Rodeo even though he qualified to attend. He was injured over the past weekend in a rodeo.

Jill Culham, the Wisconsin queen, was elected secretary, replacing Renee Cladwick of Casper, Wyo.

The adult board of National High School Rodeo will elect new officers Friday. Dave Campbell, New Meadows, currently is serving as president of the organization.

Visits up

ARCO — Visits to Craters of the Moon National Monument for the seven months ending July 31, totaled 145,222. Superintendent Paul Fritz said. This is a 20 per cent increase over the 120,827 recorded during the same period in 1970, he said.

However, camping has decreased from 14,194 in 1970 to 11,794 during the same seven month period this year. Picnicking has increased from 18,700 in 1971 compared to 8,630 in 1970. Wilderness backpacking shows a fourfold increase since establishment of Craters of the Moon Wilderness in October, 1970, he said.

Andreason affair focuses on merit system

(Editors: By request we are resuming on an experimental basis our Idaho political column, "Political Echoes." We plan to offer the column for the next three weeks on at least a weekly basis. We will appreciate your comments.)

By RICHARD CHARNOCK, BOISE (UPI) — Whether Gov. Cecil D. Andrus was aware of it at the time or whether it was a built-in reaction in his administration he has everything to gain and nothing to lose from the John Andreason affair. When Andrus' acting director of administrative services, Robert Lenaghan, questioned the appointment of Andreason as a $13,000 per year "budget analyst" for a legislative committee he hit a nerve.

Not only does this open up comparisons between what legislators want to pay their own employees and those in the executive branch of government it focuses attention on the state merit system.

Now, Lenaghan, an erstwhile labor leader, will tell you if you ask him for the record that he thinks the merit system should be expanded — to include more state personnel.

This, of course, is a smart answer for a key official on the first Democrat state administration in a quarter century. Once the house is cleaned why not set up permanent quarters for good Democrats?

It also is good public relations in Idaho's thousands of merit-system-covered state employees and their families — especially those of voting age.

By calling attention to discrepancies between what the merit system what folk are paid and the non-merit system personnel, yet Lenaghan also brings into question — without his personal aspersions on the system — the value of the merit system.

Since the legislature first established the present Personnel Commission-operated merit system it has been picking away at it. Yet, from the standpoint of a newly-elected governor of a political party on the outside for 24 years it could stand a little more picking. Bluntly, there just aren't the jobs to pass out to the faithful that there used to be.

So, if the inequities lead to a legislative change in the system — one that further erodes it in favor of patronage — the governor stands to win by that move, too.

Additionally, the Andrus administration has caught a little flak of late for some of the salaries paid its key personnel. This is not to say those salaries are out of line. They are simply higher than some paid the office holders' predecessors and, at a time when state finances are a bit strapped, it could be embarrassing.

But, here again, Lenaghan's little letter to Legislative Auditor James A. Defenbach about the Andreason appointment scores another point for Andrus.

Under the merit system, Lenaghan cannot pay a "budget analyst" more than $10,200 per year to start — nearly $5,000 less than Andreason, who, incidentally, is a former GOP legislator. Since this all came to light Defenbach has stated that Andreason's duties will be considerably greater in scope than those of a normal "budget analyst" — greater enough to require the greater salary.

Nevertheless, there are some observers who are bound to stress the difference — nearly one-third — in the size of the salaries and make unpleasant comparisons between what Republican lawmakers pay their help and pay the aides to the Democrat administration.

By opening up the question and forcing the Budget and Fiscal Committee to call for a little change for Andreason to head off a fight over paying the new employee — Lenaghan also has "opened the door" to later attacks on legislative employee hiring practices.

At the least, he may stir up interest in hiring such employees on a non-partisan basis — and that cannot hurt Democrats when Republicans run the legislature. At the most, though unlikely, he could win a voice for the executive branch in legislative affairs.

As a former legislator and lobbyist, Lenaghan will tell you he wouldn't dream of "tampering" with the legislative branch while he sits there as an appointee of the executive wing.

War 'thwarts' China drive plans

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in a television interview broadcast Wednesday theorized the Vietnam War may have thwarted Communist Chinese plans to "dominate all of Asia and the Indian continent and move on to Africa."

In a 90-minute taped interview on the David Frost Show, Rockefeller also:

- Warned that President Nixon's forthcoming China trip may open "a door which is dangerous."
- Predicted the disclosure of the "Pentagon papers" by Dr. Daniel Ellsberg to The New York Times may force the United States to "re-examine the whole use of secrecy."

—Ruled out his candidacy for the presidency next year should Nixon seek re-election and said he "wasn't built" for the vice presidency.

—Rockefeller said one theory was that a Chinese "push into Southeast Asia" was probably "turned inward" by the strong American commitment in South Vietnam.

—You're saying really that the war in Vietnam served a useful purpose?" asked Frost.

"Well, I'm wondering whether historians, looking at it from a world point of view, might say maybe there was some merit in this thesis," replied Rockefeller. "I'm putting it out only as a thesis because you asked me the question."

"Now maybe that will be the decision of the historians," the governor added. "I think maybe history is going to say that this did have an impact far greater than anyone realizes on the course of the history of the world."

Commenting on Nixon's planned journey, Rockefeller cautioned that Russian reaction to the trip, sparked by the Soviet Union's intense, sometimes bitter, rivalry with China, could be dangerous.

"I think we don't want to take things for granted," he said. "But this is a sort of a three-cornered operation that could be very exciting."

Asked by Frost if Ellsberg, who disclosed the "Pentagon papers," was a man to be admired or to be criticized, Rockefeller said he could see some good results from the publishing of the papers.

He said he foresaw a reappraisal of the length of time information should be held secret. "It's very difficult for a democracy to function effectively if the important facts are not known by the people who are supposed to make the decisions," he added.

However, the governor said a certain amount of secrecy may be necessary.

An unsuccessful aspirant three times for the Republican presidential nomination, Rockefeller all but ruled out a fourth try.

—Nixon seeks re-election, Rockefeller told Frost he would support him. "If he didn't," said Rockefeller, "then that's a different ball game."

Some 40,000 Americans are expected to leave the U.S. this year to take permanent residence in England, Australia, Ireland and Canada. Last year, 24,424 U.S. citizens moved to Canada alone.

Required publication bill stirs Latin uproar

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (UPI) — A bipartisan bill now before congress and supported by 35 of the 57 deputies has caused an equally bipartisan uproar of protest on the grounds that it would dangerously impair freedom of the press in Costa Rica.

The bill would compel all newspapers to publish within 48 hours and free of charge any material sent it by a member of the executive power, under pain of a fine ranging from the equivalent of $12,500 for the first offense to $32,500 for subsequent offenses.

The term "executive power" is defined as members of congress, the president of the republic and vice-presidents, cabinet ministers, judges of the supreme court and of the election tribunal, and assistant judges. Each of these would be entitled to a maximum of half a page of space.

Although the bill is apparently intended to enable public figures to be sure of an outlet for defense against derogatory charges, there seems to be nothing in its wording which would confine them merely to defense against previously published criticisms. As it stands, the bill would permit publication more than once in the past and has in turn drawn acerbic remarks from President Jose Figueres.

The situation was exacerbated from the newspapers' standpoint by the fact they were already in protest against the action by the Central Bank a week previously, when it imposed "exchange surcharges" on imports and included newspaper in the category carrying a 15 per cent surcharge.

With regards to the fresh blow delivered to press freedom by the assembly, President Figueres, as a life-long defender of civil liberties, was urged to intervene. He promised to study the projected law closely and to deliver his opinion on it.

Opinion Finally Aired

When the opinion was finally aired on July 17, it appeared that Figueres had nailed his colors to the fence.

"On reading the project, I do not find that it involved the damage to press liberty that has been proclaimed," he said.

Figueres suggested that the deputies take under their consideration an already existing project, which has been in committee for some time, and which deals with "the right to reply" in press or radio and which could be modified to suit the needs of all "legitimate interests" in floor debate.

This crumb of comfort has been seized upon by those opposing the present measure as "advice—albeit somewhat lukewarm—to its proponents not to go ahead and steamroller it through in its present form.

Senate okays program funds

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The U. S. Senate has given an appropriations boost to district-related programs for agriculture, resource development, and the environment.

Voting on appropriations for the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the 1972 fiscal year, the Senate acted to increase Soil Conservation Service funds for technical assistance to conservation districts, the Great Plains Conservation Program, and the Resource Conservation and Development Program.

Humphrey accepts challenge on plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, a chief sponsor of a multi-billion dollar credit bill to boost economic growth in rural America, has accepted a White House challenge to a showdown on another plan which President Nixon favors.

Humphrey heads a Senate subcommittee on rural development. He has scheduled sessions beginning Sept. 20 to wind up hearings on Nixon's proposed $1.1 billion rural development revenue sharing program — part of a package administration plan for reorganizing the federal government and sharing its revenues with states.

Aides said Humphrey feels the subcommittee and the full Senate Agriculture Committee will reject Nixon's rural revenue sharing plan. This would clear the way for further action on the credit bill which Nixon has opposed, but which has already attracted 46 Senate sponsors headed by Humphrey and Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, Ga., chairman of the Agriculture Committee.

Humphrey scheduled action on the Nixon bill because, he said, it had become obvious the administration was not interested in talking about any rural development plans until

Supply adequate. Guidelines needed on aphids, official says

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Transportation Council said Tuesday an adequate supply of rail cars on Union Pacific lines can be anticipated on resumption of service following the rail strike.

Council Administrator Robert L. Henry said it appears a good supply of cars will be immediately available to move Idaho agricultural produce, but shortages may become apparent later in the harvest season. He added there may also be a problem with locomotive availability.

"The rail strike added problems to an already bleak outlook for Idaho agriculture," Henry said. "It is almost impossible to immediately assess the loss, since we have no idea yet how much production moved by trucks during the strike. We can safely assume the loss to Idaho farmers was sizeable."

Henry said the new railroad labor contract is highly significant because about 60 per cent of railroad operating costs are for labor.

"Over the long term, we are looking at a basic increase in crew costs of one per cent per month for 42 months," the council administrator said.

"But nobody knows how much of this increase will be saved by new operating efficiencies."

FFA results reported

RUPERT — Results of the recent farm mechanics contest hosted by Minico High School for five Future Farmers of America chapters are announced by Vernon MacNeil, advisor of West Minico Chapter.

Placing first in the competition was the East Minico Chapter, with a total of 478 points. Burley followed with 477, Valley with 423; West Minico, with 387, and Declo with 261.

The 15 boys competing were drilled in farm mechanics, welding, sharpening tools, acetylen welding, soldering, making rafters, and identifying tools.

Party held for officers, chairmen

TWIN FALLS — The Friendship Circle of the Women of the Moose met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Kelley for a party in honor of the new officers and chairmen.

Mrs. George Klundt, friendship chairman, presided at the business session, with Mrs. Lloyd Smith leading the flag salute and Mrs. Clyde Greenup offering prayer.

It was announced the friendship girls are making a salad and cake for the Moose booth at the fairgrounds for National Rodeo Week.

Ruby Murphy is chairman of efforts for the November Moose convention and is to see that favors are solicited from local merchants.

The white elephant gift was on by Flame Klundt and Orla Hamilton. The thought for the day was given by Sannette Kelley.

A Chinese auction was featured after the business meeting. Sandy McCollum was guest.

Washington visitors

A Lovelier You

MUSIC FOR A SUMMER NIGHT

If you have ever sat on the veranda of a resort hotel, you will appreciate this quote from Somerset Maugham: "The human race would soon lose the use of speech; if nobody spoke unless he had something to say."

Of course, the hotel veranda does not have a corner on the looks-like-rain brand of conversation. There's at least one person in every gathering who sounds like a broken record. You wonder about her repertoire of ideas and tune out.

The problem can of course be a lack of ideas. It can also be a lack of word-power, the ability to express oneself in interesting terms. Speech experts have found that Americans are exposed to 25,000 words in the course of ordinary schooling, but use only 1,000. Slang, colloquialisms and lazy habits are to blame. Most of us would benefit from digging into the old schoolbag for those unused words.

In addition to banal conversationalists, listeners avoid the non-stop talker. Particularly the male contingent. Incessant chatter, however entertaining, tires the ears. But it seems that some women dread a pause in conversation, finding it awkward.

Well, my Lovelies, a period of quiet is ideal music for a summer night — for a beautiful evening at any season. Listen, and you shall hear!

Official entry forms available

FT. WORTH, Tex. — Official entry forms for the Miss Teen-age America competition will be available in cartons of Dr. Pepper in this market area, Charles R. Meeker, Jr., president of Miss Teen-age America, Inc., announced today.

Dr. Pepper, a national endorser of the pageant, will supply the colorful yellow and orange entry forms to local bottlers as a service to girls wishing to enter the Miss Teen-age America Candidate-At-Large program. Since there is no local pageant to enter, the candidate-at-large program enables girls from this area to enter the competition.

Rewa Colette Walsh, Anaheim, Calif., current Miss Teen-age America, is youth spokesman for the Dr. Pepper Co.'s national anti-litter campaign. The titleholder has presented talks on ecology before both youth and adult groups across the nation during the past few months.

Two of the ten title holders Sandy Roberts, Milpitas, Calif., and Debbie Patton, Odessa, Tex., entered the competition as candidates-at-large.

Miss Teen-age America 1972 will receive a $10,000 four year scholarship to the college or university of her choice; $5,000 in guaranteed personal appearance fees; 50 shares of Dr. Pepper stock; 50 shares of stock in Cedar Point, Inc., parent company of Miss Teen-age America, Inc., and a year of travel throughout the United States.

Loss of timber, death of wildlife, and destruction of valuable watersheds are sad results of human acts of carelessness. Yet today, nine out of ten forest fires are caused by thoughtless human beings. Keeping our forests from being everyone's job. If you don't prevent forest fires, who will?

Classes

POCATELLO (ISU) — Thirty-five children who are experiencing academic problems in grades one through five in Pocatello public schools are attending special classes this summer at the Idaho State University College of Education.

The classes comprise a new program designed to train teachers and prospective teachers in techniques to help children with learning problems. Five ISU graduate students and 12 certified teachers are attending this summer's practicum.

In three separate classes held from 9 a.m. to noon daily the children receive highly individual attention according to the instructor, Dr. Gerald J. Spandorf, assistant professor of education. The adults in the program are being trained to turn to new teaching approaches — and perfect known techniques that will help motivate children with academic problems," he said.

The children are charged $15 for tuition. Classes are held in the Lorene Hendricks Laboratory School, Spandorf said, the college of education hopes to expand the course next summer.

Conspicuously absent from the fall and winter fur collections are furs from animals on the endangered species list. Most furriers, who are more than a little sensitive to the matter of conservation, are unanimous in supporting programs balancing the use of natural resources with wildlife management. So says a story on the Maximilian fur collection for the new season.

WICHE program outlined

BOULDER, Colo. — Many Idaho students will be able to trim their tuition expenses this fall when they attend community colleges in Wyoming and Montana under a new program coordinated by the Western Interstate Commission for High Education (WICHE).

The savings for certain Idaho students will amount to the difference between paying in-region or resident tuition, and paying the more expensive out-of-region or non-resident tuition.

In this first year of operation, the WICHE Community College Student Exchange Program includes 12 member community colleges in Montana (7), Wyoming (7) and Idaho (2). Other western states and their community colleges are expected to join in the coming year.

Under the WICHE program, an Idaho student can qualify for tuition savings in either of two ways.

First, if a student lives geographically closer to a participating community college in Montana or Wyoming than he does to an Idaho college — he qualifies.

Second, the student qualifies if he studies certain subject matter which the member colleges have defined as "regional curricula." Each community college has its own list of these subject areas.

Idaho residents interested in the out-of-state tuition savings should contact directly the member community college of their choice and request eligibility under the WICHE Community College Student Exchange Program.

Member colleges and their "regional curricula" in Montana are:

Miles Community College, Miles City, with reg. cur. in associate degree nursing and electronics technology; Flathead Valley Community College, Kalispell, with reg. cur. in forest technology and land surveyor; and Dawson College, Glendive, with reg. cur. in police science and civil technology.

In Wyoming the colleges are: Casper College, Casper, with reg. cur. in petroleum technology; Central Wyoming College, Riverton, with reg. cur.

in electronics, radio-TV communications, drafting technology, computer programming and business education; Eastern Wyoming College, Torrington, with reg. cur. in agriculture; Taramite County Community College, Cheyenne, with reg. cur. in auto body repairmen, welding and automobile mechanics; Northwest Community College, Powell, with reg. cur. in agriculture (with options), accounting, art, commercial art, computer science, data processing, diversified occupations (only on-the-job training included), drama, education (elementary, secondary, vocational), engineering (with options), environmental science, journalism, music, printing, professional programs: child health association, law, medicine (with options), veterinary medicine, secretarial science (with options), social work, wildlife management and welding technology; Western Wyoming College, Rock Springs, with no regional curricula, and Sheridan College, Sheridan, with no regional curricula.

Consumer information available

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Could you use advice on the selection and care of automobile tires or on selecting and financing a home? Do you know how to avoid being misled by unscrupulous advertising when buying "bargain" freezer meals?

This information, and much more equally valuable to consumers, is now available in the low-cost booklets listed in the Federal Government's new Index of Consumer Product Information.

The publishing of the index of 211 selected publications by 11 federal agencies is one of the first steps in President Nixon's new program to share more product information with consumers. Never before have existing consumer-product publications produced by various federal agencies been listed in one convenient index.

Free copies of the index may be obtained by writing to the Consumer Product Information Distribution Center, Washington, D. C. 20407.

The index was developed by the General Services Administration's new Consumer Product Information Coordinating Center with the cooperation of the President's Office of Consumer Affairs.

Included in the index are titles of 25 publications already stocked at Federal Information Centers across the nation. All 211 publications may be obtained by filling out and mailing the order blank in the back of the index. As new relevant publications are issued, they will be included in subsequent editions.

The subjects in the 15-page index range from A to Z — from appliances to zippers. The publications cover many areas.

Among the most popular booklets are Money-Saving Main Dishes, Fish and Shellfish over the Coals, Selecting and Financing a Home, Roses for the Home, Fibers and Fabrics, Buying Your Home Sewing Machine, and Tires — Their Selection and Care.

The Consumer Product Information Coordinating Center, created by President Nixon as part of GSA, is responsible for encouraging the development and publication of meaningful and relevant product information, accumulated as a by-product of the government's research, development and procurement activities.

Carelessness leaves mark

NEW YORK (UPI)—Add a diabolical ingredient—carelessness—to summer fun and chores and you may be a candidate for an ambulance headed for a hospital—or a morgue.

Marjorie May, accident prevention specialist with the Greater New York Safety Council, said in an interview that carelessness more than anything else sinks summer fun. Showing off also can have lethal results.

Careless was the word for the man who poured gasoline into the hot tank of the power mower when it ran out of gas half-way through the lawn-cutting. The resultant explosion blinded him.

Showing off was the phrase for the young man who dove into the water backwards to impress his girlfriend. He lived. But he'll never swim, walk or even drive a car again. He broke his back and can't use his arms or legs.

Mrs. May, an accident fighter for 25 years, offered these additional specific tips on summer situations:

Cookouts. Keep small children away from the fire. Place the grill in a place free of debris, overhanging branches or dry grass that could burn. Don't squirt flame-starters on an existing fire to build it up. The fire can follow the stream into the can—which can explode in your hands. And don't use gasoline to start any fire. Gasoline explodes worse than the commercial fire-starters.

Wear an apron over a bikini if you're doing the cooking. Grease splatters on the tummy hurt as much as grease splatters on any other part of the anatomy. Don't put anything in aerosol cans near the heat from the grill. The can may explode if it gets too hot.

Make it a cookout and outdoor rule: shoes or something protective on feet, please. Broken glass, twigs, tree roots and you name it can cut and otherwise injure feet.

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter signed "WEAK AND TEMPTED" from the man who was hooked on prostitutes. He claimed he was happily married and his wife lacked nothing in that department.

I agree with you, he needs a head doctor, but I have a better solution that could solve his problem and save his marriage: If he gets pleasure out of paying for his sex life, tell him to hand his wife the usual fee. She will be happy and he will be satisfied. Some people don't place any value on something unless they pay for it.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. READER

DEAR READER: That might solve HIS problem, but what if his wife prefers to maintain her amateur standing?

DEAR ABBY: Why are you so fair in everything else, but when it comes to the subject of OBESITY, you are completely without mercy!

A mother wrote she was "heart sick" because her 21-year-old son brought his 20-year-old fiancée home, and she was fat!

Why didn't you tell that mother to encourage her son to stick with pride by the girl he loved, no matter what, even if she had one eye in the middle of her head? Instead, you recommended the mother get her son aside and instruct him to tell the girl she should do something about her weight while she was still young.

If I were that young man, I would be more concerned about my mamma's set of values than my girl's bulk.

DISAPPOINTED IN YOU

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Aw, come on, now. No one can help being born with one eye in the middle of his head, but a girl who is so fat she can hardly fit into the largest chair in the room, and then eats as if there's no tomorrow has a problem. And someone who loves her should encourage her to solve it.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the heart sick mother whose son brought home a fat fiancée. Some men prefer fat women. To them fat is beautiful.

Mamma should leave her son alone. Some of the happiest marriages I know are those of thin men and fat, jolly wives. Heart sick mother should rejoice. Her son is getting at least twice as much woman!

CECILE

DEAR ABBY: Why didn't you tell "HEARTSICK MOM" to mind her own business when her son brought home a fat girl and introduced her as his fiancée?

That's the trouble with everybody today. All they care about is what a person looks like on the outside. So what if she didn't have a nice shape, maybe she's a wonderful person with a good heart. Besides, fat girls make the best wives. They are usually the best cooks, and they know they can't get by on their looks so they try harder.

Judge ponders motion of jurors' background

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI) — The judge hearing the Angela Davis case had an unprecedented motion to ponder today — a defense demand that the grand jurors who indicted her be questioned in court about their backgrounds.

The extraordinary request by defense attorney Howard Moore Jr. led to a sharp exchange Wednesday between him and prosecutor Albert W. Harris Jr., who labeled the proposal "outrageous."

Superior Court Judge Richard E. Arnsperger, who is hearing the lengthy pretrial proceedings in Miss Davis' murder, kidnapping and conspiracy case, said he would study the issue before deciding. He recessed the hearing until next Tuesday.

The demand that the 19 grand jurors who indicted Miss Davis last October be questioned in court "about their age and economic and religious backgrounds" was made part of the defense's attempt to show that the jury was improperly selected. Miss Davis' lawyers charged that blacks, the young and the poor were systematically excluded.

Miss Davis, acting as her own attorney, and her lawyers this week questioned the Marin County judges who nominated 30 persons as grand jurors. Nineteen of the 30 were appointed to the panel.

Harris jumped to his feet and interrupted Moore as the defense attorney made his motion. "Shocking," the prosecutor said.

"To deprive these people through the courtroom would create a precedent that would make it impossible to get grand juries in the future," Harris said.

Miss Davis, 27, Communist and former UCLA instructor, was charged with helping plan and providing the guns for an abortive escape and kidnapping attempt last Aug. 7 at the county courthouse. A shootout erupted in which four persons were killed, including a judge.

Florida has team at national rodeo

Arizona team has champion

FILER — A member of the Arizona State team to the 1971 National High School Rodeo at Filer is a 1970 national champion.

Mike Mowery, Scottsdale, was last year's boys' champion cow cutter and earned his right to return to the nationals again this year.

He is among 10 members of the Arizona team who are repeat performers at National High School Rodeo. They include Jim Gibson, Tolson, who is this year's all-around cowboy from Arizona; Ann Bombardieri, this year's Arizona all-around cowgirl, and Dudley Little, Chandler, who was the 1970 state all-around cowboy.

Other returning members are Charlie Gosin, Tucson; Ronnie Graves, Douglas; Brent White, Eloy; Jill Paddock, Tucson; Bonnie Martin, McNeal, and Jan Paddock, Tucson.

Other students from Arizona who will be contenders at Filer are Pat Kirby, Tempe; Ted Morale, Tucson; Dennis Bellmeyer, Tucson; Terri Lasso, Many Farms; LuAnn Graves, Tucson; Debbie Earnhardt, Chandler; Suzie Newby, Oracle; Cathy Black, Mesa; Laurie Searle, Tucson; Cecil Lasse, Many Farms; Mike Brock, Scottsdale; Ben Penrod, Scottsdale; Matt Martin, McNeal; and Judy Wales, Queen Creek, the 1971 state queen.

From the southeastern seaboard of the United States, the sunny state of Florida, a team of high school students has come to Filer for the 1971 National High School Rodeo.

Florida, which has been a member of the association since 1969, got its start in high school rodeo in 1966 when a rodeo for FFA chapter members was held at Ocala. The rodeo was broadened until the show was open to all high school students and the state held its first finals in 1969 — the year Florida joined the national association.

Seven of the 22-member team are repeaters in National High School Rodeo. They are Guy Masters, Palatka, who was the 1970 state all-around cowboy; Rick Lovering, Lakeland; Gary Williams, Okeechobee; Eddie Langford, Oxford; Dickie Wetles, Arcadia; Terry Langford, Oxford, and Beth Crosby, Ocala, who was last year's Florida all-around cowgirl.

Other members of the 1971 Florida team are Debbie Perdue, Winchula, all-around cowgirl; Diane Wallace, Sarasota, state queen; Kiri Crabtree, Fort McCoy; Jeff Alday, Sarasota, state queen; Kiri Crabtree, Fort McCoy; Jeff Alday, Sarasota; Jimmy Brownlee, Cocoa; Ricky Rumore, Plant City; Morgan Grainger, Hawthorne; Gary Gatliff, Plant City; Rick Faircloth, Trenton; Tim Best, Polk City; Gene Fulford, Avon Park; Bushrod, Duncan, Arcadia; Leland Hale, Lake Wales; Margaret Skipper, Zolfo Springs; Lola Ward, Oxford.

Idaho music clubs set session at Sun Valley

BURLEY — The Idaho Federation of Music Clubs will hold its state board of directors meeting this weekend at Sun Valley.

"The 10 Idaho Federated Music Club officers and members will observe first hand how their scholarship money is spent, according to Mrs. Clifford Mullikin, Burley, Idaho Federation of Music Clubs president."

"The directors meeting coincides with the final days of classes at the Sun Valley Music Camp.

"Every music club contributed a portion of funds to allow young people the opportunity to attend the six week concentrated courses in opera, orchestra, ballet, pointe, jazz and character dance classes."

Mrs. Donald Youtz, Twin Falls, IFMC Scholarship

chairman and music camp coordinator, will welcome the federated representatives Saturday at a coffee hour at Dollar Cabin.

A tour of classes and workshops will precede the luncheon at the Challenger Inn.

Business sessions will be interspersed with concerts. Members are invited to attend the Sun Valley Festival Orchestra performance at the Opera House Saturday afternoon.

Concerto contest student winners will be featured under the direction of Jacques Brouman, conductor and director of the annual music camp. Brouman is conductor of the Charlotte N. C. Symphony Orchestra.

Activities for Sunday include a session "National Recommends," directed by Mrs. Ralph J. Comstock, Boise. Mrs. Comstock is the IFMC board member from Idaho. Others who will take part are Mrs. Charles L. Wilson, Nampa; Mrs. J. Grant Bickmore, Poentello, immediate IFMC past president; Mrs. Humbert M. Valenti, Boise, and Mrs. Youtz, Twin Falls.

Mrs. Eli Weston, Boise, promoter of Idaho's first opera group, will conduct a workshop dealing with Boise's enterprise.

The Sun Valley Music Camp, Inc., will be hosts for the Saturday evening dinner and musical entertainment during the two-day event.

Sponsors of the music camp are individuals, industry management and the Idaho Arts and Humanities Commission.

Buck Owens slates Burley performance

BURLEY — Buck Owens and his All American Music Show will appear at 8 p.m. Aug. 18 at the Cassia County Fairgrounds.

In addition to hosting a weekly television show and making more than 100 concert appearances yearly, he writes and records a steady flow of singles and albums.

Since he made his first single on Capitol Records in 1963, he has recorded hit after hit, each one helping to earn him the title Country Artist of the Decade.

He tries to bring new talent into the country scene in his All American Music Show and during an appearance at the Now Grove last January he spotlighted some of his new talent including: Susan Raye, Buddy Alan and the California Brass.

Born at Sherman Tex., and the son of a Texas sharecropper, who now runs his cattle ranch, Owens had to quit school at 13 after the eighth grade and go to work harvesting crops and hauling produce. He taught himself to play the guitar and when the family moved to Mesa, Ariz., he started his climb to fame on a nightly radio show when he was 15.

Cut down on X-rays, U.S. doctors asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Public Health Service (PHS) today urged the nation's doctors to voluntarily reduce the use of X-ray examinations because their impact might not be evident for many generations.

The PHS, cooperating with the American Medical Association and the American College of Radiology, made the recommendation in a publication sent to 300,000 doctors and to medical students, podiatrists, veterinarians and radiologic technologists. The booklet was released today by the government.

"In some instances... as much as two-thirds of the present exposure may not contribute to diagnostic information and therefore may be unnecessary," the booklet said.

Surgeon General Jesse L. Steinfeld said "exposure should be given only when the potential benefit clearly outweighs the potential hazard, and... all unnecessary exposure should be avoided."

The booklet cited what it said was evidence of unnecessary radiation from medical X-rays.

"No cause for alarm is seen at the present level of genetically significant dose (the effect on future generations) from medical diagnostic procedures," it said. "Still, there is evidence that the dose could be further reduced without interfering with the very substantial benefits the public now derives from medical X-rays."

The pamphlet — "X-Ray Examinations — A Guide to Good Practice" — said the medical use of X-rays is increasing 7 percent a year, a trend that is likely to continue.

Pats return Thomas, get 2 men, Garrett in settlement

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI) — The New England Patriots patched up their Duane Thomas-Carl Garrett deal with the Dallas-Cowboys Wednesday, returning Thomas, getting back Garrett, and keeping the two other players the Pats received.

confirmed in the brief practice that followed. Mr. Thomas has since withdrawn from training camp after declining to complete his physical examination.

General Manager Upton Bell said the Patriots would keep offensive lineman Halvor Hagen and wide receiver Honor Jackson. They also got back their 1972 No. 1 draft pick but agreed to give the Cowboys "two high draft choices next year," Bell said.

Garrett, who had returned to Boston from Dallas' training camp at Thousand Oaks, Calif., to attend an Army reserve meeting, was reported heading to the Pats' training site at the University of Massachusetts.

Cowboys feel swap settlement ethical

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (UPI) — Dallas Cowboy President-General Manager Tex Schramm said Wednesday he felt morally and ethically bound to call off the Carl Garrett-Duane Thomas trade.

Thomas "gained 803 yards during 1970 in helping lead the Cowboys to the Super Bowl. Last month, however, he demanded the club tear up the remaining two years on his contract and give him an $80,000 pact. He also blasted management for its policies.

Duke also was expected to attend the meeting next week of the Big Ten directors and faculty representatives at Boyne Highland, Mich., an annual affair at which there is discussion of various problems confronting the conference.

Garrett, American Football League rookie of the year in 1969, was happy to be back in Boston.

U.S. garners 16 gold medals for Pan-Am day

Call, Columbia (UPI) — The United States Pan-American team won on a fantastic gold medal sweep Wednesday, winning 16 of the 17 gold medals at stake to leap into a huge lead in the Games' unofficial but hotly contested team competition.

The only gold medal that escaped the Yanks on this alternately rainy and sunny day high in the Andes Mountains was in one lift in one class in weightlifting.

And the list of U.S. winners included record smashers like 41-year-old Al Hall of Charlton City, Mass., in the hammer throw with a heave of 216 feet, 0 inches; Jan Johnson of Chicago in the pole vault with a leap of 17 feet, 4 3/4 inches; Lynn Graham of Fresno, Calif., in the women's shot put with 51 ft., 8 in.; Russell Knipp of Fullerton, Calif., who won three gold medals and one silver in weightlifting; and Roxanne Pierce who won her third and fourth gold medals in gymnastics.

Miss Pierce also is the top U.S. winner so far in the Games in total medals with six.

All this gave the United States 36 gold medals against 12 for Cuba, and a total of 78 against 51 for Cuba.

Other U. S. gold medal victories were in men's and women's team foil fencing, skeet shooting individual and team, and English match rifle individual and team.

The U. S. baseball team also bounced back from its defeat at the hands of Cuba to beat Mexico, 8-4, keeping its 11th holes alive in case some other nation can pin a loss on Cuba.

The United States made a clean sweep of the seven gold medals available in women's gymnastics as Kimberly Chace of Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., won the balance beam and Linda Jo Metheny of Tuscola, Ill., winner of four gold medals here in the Pan-Am games at Winnipeg four years ago, took the floor exercise.

On Tuesday, Miss Pierce had won the overall gold medal, leading a 1-2-3 U.S. sweep, and shared in the team gold medal.

In all, the girls accumulated 16 medals — seven gold, three silver and six bronze — in gymnastics.

The banner day for the U.S. forces also included four gold medals and one silver in shooting and an 8-4 victory by the rebounding baseball team over Mexico.

Miss Pierce, a slight, 16-year-old high school student, also finished in a tie for third place in the balance team event and in a three-way tie for third in the floor exercises.

Miss Metheny wound up with one gold, two silver and one bronze medal as she was second in Tuesday's all-around, second in the uneven parallel bars and tied for third in the balance beams. Miss Chace had a silver and two bronze to go with her gold, finished second in the floor exercises and third in the all-around and uneven parallel bars.

Adele Glaves of Louisville, Ky., the fourth member of the U.S. team to qualify for the individual events, won a bronze medal in the horse vaulting to complete the U.S. rout.

Two of the gold medals in shooting were individual and the other two come in team events.

Robert Scheile of Elmwood Park, Ill., won the gold medal in skeet shooting after a second shoot-off with teammate Anthony Rosetti of Biloxi, Miss.

The two Americans and two Cubans, Servilio Torres and A. Castillo, had been tied with near record scores of 195 city targets of a possible 200 after three days of intense competition.

Scheile, Rosetti and Torres remained tied with perfect 25's after the first shoot-off, and scheile won the gold medal with another perfect score in the second shoot-off.

Victor Auer of Los Angeles then picked up the gold medal in the physically trying prone (English) 22 caliber rifle match, besting Gilmore Bon of Canada. Another Canadian, Alfonso Moyer, took the bronze medal.

Team gold for the U. S. came in the skeet, where the Americans defeated Cuba and Chile with a score of 576, and in the prone 22 rifle match, where Cuba again took the silver medal. Canada was third.

Russell Knipp of Fullerton, Calif., won the gold medal in the prone of the middleweight division of weightlifting with a total of 152.5 kilograms (336 pounds). Abel Lopez of Cuba won the silver medal with 142.5 kilograms (314 pounds) and Keith

CHICAGO (UPI)—American League baseball owners heard a dismal report on the future of the Washington Senators Wednesday and owner Bob Short warned them time was growing short to reach a solution of his problems.

Kaline bats Tigers past Senators 2-0

DETROIT (UPI)—Al Kaline tripled and hit his 10th home run of the season his first two times up to score both runs. Mickey Lolich needed for his 17th victory of the season Wednesday night in a 2-0 Detroit Tiger win over the Washington Senators.

Kaline tripled with one out in the first and scored one out later on Willie Horton's single up the middle as Dick Bosman sank to 9-12 despite giving up only four hits.

The U. S. baseball team also bounced back from its defeat at the hands of Cuba to beat Mexico, 8-4, keeping its 11th holes alive in case some other nation can pin a loss on Cuba.

On Tuesday, Miss Pierce had won the overall gold medal, leading a 1-2-3 U.S. sweep, and shared in the team gold medal.

Thomsen in match play phase

Jeff Thomsen, Idaho's lone representative in the national USGA junior golf tournament, fired a two-day qualifying total of 154 over the Rockland Md., golf course to gain the final phase of match play for the championship.

Thomsen went 77-77 Monday and Tuesday and reported alike getting into the finals "now we can let the shafts out a little after two days of trying to steer the ball."

Thomsen is one of 64 in the match play field and will play two matches a day until he either wins it or is eliminated.

Hawk won't remember short putts

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Ken Harrelson, still plagued by miserable putting, shot an even-par 72 Wednesday in the final round of the Little American Golf Classic and described himself as "satisfied" with his first effort as a pro golfer.

"I really am satisfied," Harrelson said. "I'm not gonna let all those little short putts I missed bother me, and I'm not gonna look back on 'em."

"This was my first tournament, and I had some more apprehensions when it started, but it got a little easier as it went along and I think the next one will be even easier."

Harrelson, 29, who walked out on a seven-year major league baseball career when he quit the Cleveland Indians June 21 to pursue a golfing career, had rounds of 76-72-72-221 in the 54-hole tournament over the North Course at Firestone Country Club.

"If I had just putted decent in this tournament, I had a chance to win it," he said. "I just missed so many putts it was ridiculous. I believe this is the worst I've putted in my whole life, since I took up the game."

Palmer shoots for 3rd in row

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Arnold Palmer, already assured of the best money-winning year of his career, guns for a third straight tournament title Thursday in the $150,000 American Golf Classic.

Palmer, the last pro to win three weeks in a row on the tour—in 1962—won the rich Westchester Classic two weeks ago and teamed with Jack Nicklaus to capture the PGA Tenn Championship last week.

"I have to find the solution quickly," he said, "before the winter meetings."

The joint leagues adopted a rules change to prohibit trading of unnamed players within a league and to expand the executive council. They deferred to committee proposals to change the free-agent draft and to limit the spring training period.

Kuhn said the leagues voted to make "every effort" to continue its program of college scholarships and work out an arrangement with the Internal Revenue Service to pay withholding tax on funds expended for the scholarships.

Palmer pushed his earnings for the year to $104,799, surpassing his previous best by $734, and put him in the favorite's role for the Classic which he won twice previously.

Although Trevino is the year's top moneymaker, both Nicklaus, who is second, and Palmer, who is third, can better the PGA's one-year record with a victory at Firestone. First place is worth $30,000.

Others in the field include defending champion Frank Beal, Masters winner Charles Coody, Bruce Crampton, Ray Floyd, Tony Jacklin, host pro Bobby Nichols and Tom Weiskopf and Bert Yancey, who teamed to win the CBS Golf Classic here last year.

Palmer, who has won four tournaments this year, usually has played well at Firestone, a 7,180-yard, par-70 course.

State play opens at Eden

EDEN — Action begins at 5 p.m. Thursday night at the Eden field in the annual State American Legion "B" tournament.

Twin Falls was slated to go against Lewiston in the opener with homecoming Valley taking on the Boise Gems in the nightcap at 8 p.m.

The tournament will continue with doubleheaders Friday and Saturday nights.

Palmer, the last pro to win three weeks in a row on the tour—in 1962—won the rich Westchester Classic two weeks ago and teamed with Jack Nicklaus to capture the PGA Tenn Championship last week.

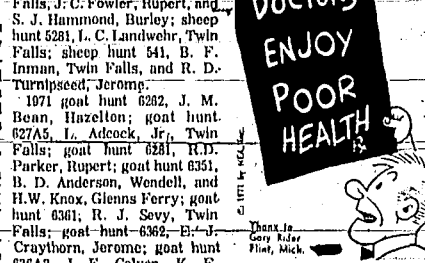

Although Trevino is the year's top moneymaker, both Nicklaus, who is second, and Palmer, who is third, can better the PGA's one-year record with a victory at Firestone. First place is worth $30,000.

Others in the field include defending champion Frank Beal, Masters winner Charles Coody, Bruce Crampton, Ray Floyd, Tony Jacklin, host pro Bobby Nichols and Tom Weiskopf and Bert Yancey, who teamed to win the CBS Golf Classic here last year.

Palmer, who has won four tournaments this year, usually has played well at Firestone, a 7,180-yard, par-70 course.

Palmer shoots for 3rd in row

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Arnold Palmer, already assured of the best money-winning year of his career, guns for a third straight tournament title Thursday in the $150,000 American Golf Classic.

Palmer, the last pro to win three weeks in a row on the tour—in 1962—won the rich Westchester Classic two weeks ago and teamed with Jack Nicklaus to capture the PGA Tenn Championship last week.

"I have to find the solution quickly," he said, "before the winter meetings."

The joint leagues adopted a rules change to prohibit trading of unnamed players within a league and to expand the executive council. They deferred to committee proposals to change the free-agent draft and to limit the spring training period.

Kuhn said the leagues voted to make "every effort" to continue its program of college scholarships and work out an arrangement with the Internal Revenue Service to pay withholding tax on funds expended for the scholarships.

Palmer pushed his earnings for the year to $104,799, surpassing his previous best by $734, and put him in the favorite's role for the Classic which he won twice previously.

Although Trevino is the year's top moneymaker, both Nicklaus, who is second, and Palmer, who is third, can better the PGA's one-year record with a victory at Firestone. First place is worth $30,000.

Mind Your Money

By PETER WEAVER

Q — Please furnish information concerning the many distributorships and franchise which are available to individuals. All they say you need is from $1,000 to $4,000 initial investment.

A — I talked with one representative and the deal looked good. However, he would not permit me to talk with anyone who is operating one of the company's distributorships. He said the operators didn't have time for inquiries from prospective investors. Is this so? R. P., Arlington, Va.

A — When they won't provide names of others, it's a clue to stay away. The National Association of Franchised Businessmen suggests this checklist when you interview a franchise salesman:

Can you get a copy of the complete franchise agreement which can be checked by your lawyer? Always have a lawyer check anything before you sign. How many people are operating franchise?

Can you get a list of franchise operators with addresses and phone numbers? If you can't, check out three or four. Don't be fooled into visiting just the one franchise operator. The salesman suggests. Could be a phony.

For more information on all aspects of franchising, write: National Association of Franchised Businessmen, 122 Washington Bldg., Wash., D. C. 20005.

Q — I'd like to know more about linoleum and vinyl floor coverings. Our linoleum needs replacing and I'm not up to the waxing this kind of floor demands. Is vinyl better? Mrs. G. V., La Canada, Calif.

A — You can certainly cut down on the waxing if you put in a vinyl floor. The toughest vinyl is in tile form and will last many years. Rolled vinyl is easier to install but it won't last as long.

Q — Some hippies and other undesirable characters have moved into our apartment building and I'm worried about the coin-operated washing machine we all use. Do you have the names of chemicals I could use to sterilize the machine? Mrs. L. P., Washington, D. C.

A — All washing machines harbor germs, no matter who is using them. Ask your apartment manager what the water temperature is on your machine. Coin-operated machines often use much hotter water than those in the home. Hot water kills some germs, but not all.

Here are some chemicals the Department of Agriculture says work well for sterilizing home laundry:

In hot, warm or cold water use liquid chlorine bleach or a quaternary disinfectant such as Co-Op Sanitizer or Roccal (available in pharmacies). In hot or warm water, use a pine oil disinfectant (label should say at least 70 per cent steam-distilled pine oil) or phenolic disinfectant such as Pine-Sol.

Q — I read your column about "fake diamonds" with much interest. You said strontium titanate has a hardness of 6 while the so-called YAG (yttrium aluminum garnet) stones have a hardness of 8 which is closer to the hardness of diamonds. Does this mean YAG stones are better? Are there other kinds of fakes? D.W.D., Potomac, Md.

A — Strontium titanate stones are "softer" than YAG stones but they have more of a fire-like color. YAG stones wear better than strontium titanate but are still far from the hardness of real diamonds.

Reality sparks change

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst
Among those favoring a change in the U.S. attitude toward Red China the strongest argument always has been that the United States must recognize "reality."

Secretary of State William P. Rogers used it in his news conference statement declaring U.S. support for the United Nations seat for the People's Republic of China while at the same time opposing any move to oust the Nationalist Chinese regime on Formosa from the U.N. seat.

"We think," he declared "the realities of the world require that both be represented. One represents 700 million to 800 million people—in Taiwan (Formosa), there are 14 million or more people. And we think both should be represented in the United Nations."

One of the cruelest things that can happen to a statesman or politician is to have his own words thrown back at him from history. It is done here not to embarrass but to emphasize how far the world has turned since the days of John Foster Dulles when in the 1950s the United States took the lead in isolating the Chinese Communists in support of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Democrats "Lost" China Between the two big political parties, the Republicans profited from the charge that the Democrats "lost" China to Communism in 1949.

It aroused emotions so powerful that it led the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower to warn President John F. Kennedy that he would come out of retirement in opposition to any move to accept Communist China.

It led President Nixon himself to warn after his defeat by Kennedy in 1960 that "eking a submission to the U.N. General Assembly would be a mockery of 'peace-loving nations.'"

Whether there has been any real change in the attitude of President Mao Tse-tung and his followers in the People's Republic of Red China remains a subject open to debate. The President's own change of position began to emerge after enunciation of his Guam doctrine dealing with his vision of Asia after the end of the war in Vietnam.

Asians in Primary Role Included were both a lowered U.S. military stance in Asia with Asians taking on a primary role in their own defense and China playing a responsible part in maintenance of Asian peace.

But as nations join in the heeding rush to realign their China policies, "realities" still must play an important role.

Among them is the clear indication that if changes are to be made in Sino-U.S. relations, the Chinese expect the United States to make most of them.

Premier Chou En-lai has listed six points which he says are necessary to any improvement in relations. The first recognition of Peking as the "sole legitimate government representing the Chinese people."

"Another declares that Taiwan is a question already settled and is an internal affair beyond foreign interference. Another point is flat rejection of the "two China" theory.

Failure to recognize Communist China as a "reality" no longer makes much sense. But some of the other "realities" are going to be tough to swallow.

Nixon sets Maine trip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Margaret Chase Smith said today President Nixon and his family would spend this weekend on Maine's Mino Island in Penobscot Bay.

The Maine Republican said the Presidential party would fly to Bangor late Friday afternoon and then go to Mino by helicopter.

Sen. Smith said she has been urging the President for some time to visit Maine. She said she could not accompany him because of a previous commitment, however.

Sen. Smith said the President and Mrs. Nixon would be accompanied by their daughter, Tricia Cox and Julie Eisenhower and their husbands, Robert Cox and David Eisenhower.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks were higher as trading rounded the halfway market Thursday, but most analysts viewed the gain as nothing more than a technical rebound from sharp losses during the previous two days.

The labor budget generally was negative, and analysts said the lack of volume indicated "traders were concerned about the state of the economy and related inflation."

The Labor Department reported the wholesale price index advanced 0.2 percent in July after adjustment for seasonal factors, below the average for the first half of this year.

Prices of industrial materials, however, spurred 0.7 percent on an adjusted basis, the sharpest monthly rise in 15 years.

Economists consider this a more accurate barometer of inflation.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, meantime, was up 5.11 at 850.03 near 1:15 p.m. after sliding more than 20 points over the two previous sessions.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a gain of 0.38 at 42.7, while advances topped declines by around 25 issues.

A three-hour turnover of 7,870,000 shares was down from 9,640,000 during the previous session.

By ROGER E. SPEAR Q — I am interested in new issues but have missed out on several because I didn't have advance notice. Where can I get this type of information? — A. There are at least three widely circulated financial publications which print lists of security issues in SEC registration. Your public library may subscribe to one of the following weeklies: Commercial & Financial Chronicle, Investment Dealers' Digest and Wall Street Transcript.

Included in each capsule description is information such as: registration or notification data, number of shares being offered, name of the underwriter, maximum filing price — if known — company business and address and target for the offering. From this data you can determine whether you wish to send for a prospectus for full details.

Interest in new issues and the number of such issues being brought to market usually accelerate as a bull market heats up. Frequently the risk involved also accelerates in proportion. Be sure to study thoroughly a prospectus on any new issue before you buy.

Q — I own General Motors at 86 and U.S. Steel, the latter purchased at about 38. I am thinking of selling one of these two stocks and buying White Consolidated Ind. preferred Series C for increased income. Would you recommend such a switch? — S. F. A — No would be my answer.

As far as either of these proposed switches are concerned, in fact, I suggest retention of your General Motors stock which is your selling reasonably close to your cost price. The U. S. Steel $2.40 annual dividend cannot be counted on its being safe with foreign import problems continuing and a possible steel strike in the offing.

The White Consolidated preferred, Series C, paying $3, currently yields nearly 9 percent but does not carry a particularly high rating. Moreover, it is far as either of these proposed switches are concerned, in fact, I suggest retention of your General Motors stock which is your selling reasonably close to your cost price.

More voters. MANILA (UPI)—The Commission on Elections estimates the Philippines will have 500,000 new voters during the 1971 provincial and city elections. In the last national elections in 1969, there were about 10 million registered voters the commission said.

Filer man heads stock sale group

TWIN FALLS — Russell Hall, vocational agriculture instructor, Filer, was re-elected president of the Twin Falls County 4-H and F.F.A. Stock Sale Committee, at a planning committee meeting at the county extension office.

Jack Pierce, Filer, was named vice-president, and extension agents, Donald Youtz and Richard Fuehrer were elected to share secretary-treasurer duties.

Jay Cobb, Filer, will head the beef sale committee, assisted by Pierce and Jack Skinner, Filer. The sheep committee chairman are W. E. McCoy, Buhl and Leonard Fisher, Kimberly. Bill Loughmiller and J. C. Mills will head the swine committee.

Ivan Skinner, Twin Falls, will be in charge of administering the financial aspects of the sale and Merle Sherry, Kimberly, will head the buyer solicitation, and the auctioneer and ring committees. Robert Howard, Murtaugh, will direct the weighing and tagging of beef animals and Mrs. Jim McArthur, Buhl, will supervise a group of 4-H junior leaders making signs showing seller and buyers as the animals are sold.

Jack Claiborn, Kimberly, will again arrange with packers-buyers for the establishment of floor prices for the animals at the sale. Bob Ohlenheller, vocational agriculture instructor, Twin Falls, will head the sale order committee.

4-H leaders attending the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Sobotka, Gary Custer, Raymond Johnson, Don Roberts and Kathy Kasei, all Twin Falls, and David Chadwick, Hollister. Also attending were Clyde Hunter, vocational agriculture instructor, Murtaugh, and Mrs. Merle Cherry, Kimberly.

The group agreed that sale procedure will be the same as in previous years, but suggested that sale animals be ear tagged and identified when they are entered and weighed at the Twin Falls County Fair. The sale is scheduled for Sept. 11, the last day of the fair.

Farm Gooding stock sale planned

GOODING — The 4-H and FFA Fat Stock Sale will be held at the Gooding Livestock Auction at 2:30 Aug. 11, according to Ed Koester, county agent.

Approximately 40 young stockman will participate. The grade good or better and pure-bred animals may sell only two animals.

4-H Achievement Days were held last week in Gooding and Wendell. Club members showed their livestock projects and learned how to fit the animals. Competition in the 4-H and FFA events is expected to be keen this year, particularly in the horse, beef and dairy divisions. Local sponsors will provide trophies and scholarships, Koester said.

Idaho Hereford week proclaimed

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus has proclaimed Sept. 5 through 11 as Idaho Hereford Week in recognition of the Big Western Register of Merit Hereford Show to be held in Filer, Sept. 9.

In making the proclamation, Andrus cited the fact that this was the first Register of Merit show ever held in the state, and noted the importance of the beef cattle industry to Idaho, and the predominant role of the Hereford breed in that industry.

The Big Western is expected to bring show strings from some of the top registered Hereford herds in the country. ROM status means that animals winning premiums in the top five places in each show class will earn points for their sires toward certification as "Super Register of Merit Sires." The show is being held under the joint sponsorship of the Idaho Hereford Association and the Idaho Cattlemen's Association. Co-chairmen for the event are John Pierce, Malta, ICA President, and Kenneth Naugle, Nampa, president of the IHA.

Another Register of Merit show will be held throughout the U.S. during the 1971-72 show season.

Vine crops such as cucumbers, squash, pumpkins and muskmelons need a rich soil containing plenty of organic matter.

Governor calls for strike end

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus Wednesday called for settlement of the five-week-old coast dock strike, saying it is having a disastrous effect on Idaho agriculture.

Andrus wired President Henry Bridges of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union that "Idaho farmers have already suffered unrecoverable losses."

He asked Bridges to begin "serious negotiations" that would lead to reopening the West Coast ports.

"Sales of wheat to Japan, Korea and the Philippines have been lost to foreign suppliers due to this strike," Andrus said in his wire.
