TEN CENTS

NATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL Rodeo Queen Cindy Hagen, East Grand Forks, Minn., received a new saddle from Armour Anderson, chairman of the Twin Falls committee sponsoring the rodeo, following her coronation. The 17-year-old high school student received a second saddle Sunday when she won the cow cutting event at the rodeo.

Double winner

Moonstruck crew home

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Happy to be back but a little homesick for the moon, Apollo 15's astronauts returned to the routine of life on Earth today and underwent a medical exam before starting two weeks of reports on man's most productive lunar expedition.

"Boy, I'll tell you, it's really great to be back," said David R. Scott, the 39-year-old commander of the nation's fourth moon landing mission. "But that was a super fine trip and we really enjoyed it."

Scott, Alfred M. Worden, also 39, and James B. Irwin, 41, free from the quarantine imposed on earlier lunar explorers, began their day at 9 a.m. EDT by reporting to the clinic at the Manned Spacecraft Center for detailed tests.

Physicians wanted to see if their long exposure to weightlessness had caused any physiological changes. Results of today's testing will be compared with tests made at Cape Kennedy before Apollo 15 took off July 28.

The astronauts returned home late Sunday night to a warm welcome from their friends, families and some of the people who made the 1.2 million mile journey possible.

They spent the night at their homes and returned to their regular routine on schedule today. After their medical checkup, the astronauts were to start a long series of debriefings covering all aspects of the 12-day flight.

The astronauts' extraordinary 171-pound collection of rocks and soil from the Apennine Mountain valley they explored for three days is safely in the Lunar Receiving Laboratory being prepared for analysis. The 42 bags of samples will be opened later this week.

The spacemen, well-rested and chipper after a good night's rest following Saturday's Pacific Ocean splash-down, flew to Houston from Honolulu and arrived in a rainstorm. The weather didn't dampen the enthusiasm of the astronauts or the 5,000 persons out to greet them.

Scott and Irwin each gave their wives Hawaiian leis and embraced their children at planeside. Worden is divorced but he was greeted by his two daughters and parents.

Scott told the cheering crowd that he watched the bright, full moon as he flew home, "and as I looked out I felt a little homesick."

"If you go to some place as beautiful and fascinating as that, and you spend three very intense, interesting days, you really get attached to it, you really do," Scott said.

Irwin, who like Worden had shaved his beard after splash-down, said he thought a lot during the flight about the thousands of people who worked on Project Apollo to make it a success.

New range fire roars near Carey

CAREY — A 15,000 acre fire about 13 miles south of Carey — the second started by lightning in that area in as many days — remained out of control today.

The new blaze is about two miles west of a blaze ignited by a lightning bolt Saturday afternoon, according to officials of the Shoshone District, Bureau of Land Management.

Wallace Fixsen, fire control officer, said crews hoped to have the new blaze under control this afternoon.

Fixsen said crews were leaving the scene of the earlier fire — 31 blackened 5,000 acres before being contained — when the second fire broke out.

Another grass fire erupted immediately north of the Perrine Bridge Sunday afternoon, sending clouds of smoke into the air above Twin Falls.

The new fire near Carey, runs southeast and measures 12 miles long and 2 miles wide. The BLM has 156 men on today's fire from the Shoshone office, the Boise Interagency Fire Center and one forest service crew from Twin Falls.

The blaze is in rough terrain with heavy sagebrush growth which has made it difficult to bring under control. Fighting the fire are four tankers, four bulldozers, 210 men from the Twin Falls Forest Service office and four crews from the Boise Interagency Fire Center.

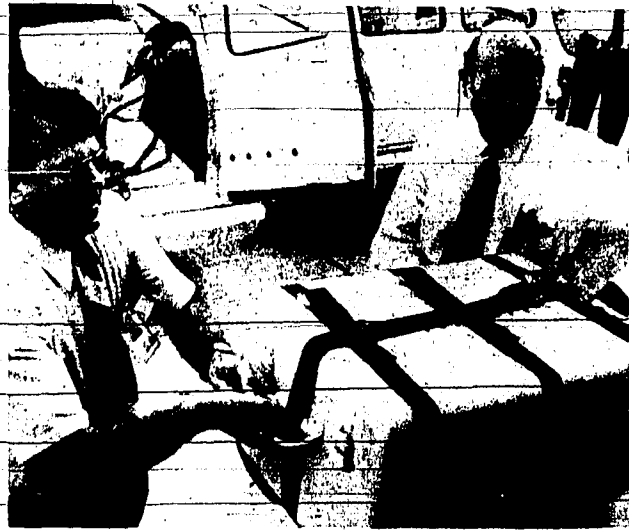

On the 5,000 acre fire Saturday were about 100 men, five tankers, two tractors, one six-man crew and one five-man crew from the Twin Falls Forest Service office and a 19-man crew from the Boise Interagency Center.

In another blaze north of Twin Falls west of the Perrine Bridge, about 250 acres were destroyed by fire Sunday. The cause of the fire was not determined, Lawrence Barsley, BLM spokesman said.

Tankers and men were diverted to that location as they came off the Carey fire. Barsley said fire weather remained critical over the Shoshone District today.

Sixty-five acres of rangeland near Three-Creek on the Nevada state line, 40 miles southwest of Buhl, burned Saturday night. Crews declared the blaze out Sunday. Four BLM fire fighters were brought to the scene and a tanker was transported from the Hollister district in Burley.

The only fire over the weekend in the Sawtooth National Forest was a small one on Deadman-Creek above Muldoon in the vicinity of the Challis-Sawtooth Forest boundary. Officials reported the fire was extinguished.

Rocks arrive

NASA TECHNICIANS lift container of lunar material gathered by Apollo 15 crew onto dock at receiving laboratory at Space Center, Houston, Tex., Sunday. Shipment was first of two to arrive after mission. Second portion arrived with crew of astronauts, following NASA policy that all lunar material is not flown to Houston on same plane with crew. B-52's hit Red troop buildup SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. B52 bombers ranged over the border of Laos and the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) Sunday night and today in massive strikes against North Vietnamese troops believed ready to move into South Vietnam as U.S. troops withdrew.

At one point two U.S. F4 Phantom jet fighter-bombers, protecting the B52s, dove-bombed a North Vietnamese antiaircraft battery which opened fire on an unarmed U.S. photo reconnaissance plane.

The bombing left a column of flame and smoke in what the Air Force calls a "protective reaction" strike.

North Vietnam has massed thousands of soldiers in areas around and in the DMZ and both U.S. and South Vietnamese officials have warned the Communists may try to capture the four northern provinces of South Vietnam as U.S. troops withdrew.

They also warned that the Communists may launch major offensives below the DMZ late this summer to try to disrupt the Oct. 3 presidential elections. U.S. Marines and many other American units have withdrawn from that immediate area.

The U.S. Command reported today American troop strength dropped last week to the lowest level in five and a half years despite a tapering off in withdrawals. A communique said strength decreased from 228,300 to 224,400 during the seven-day period ending Aug. 5.

The drop of 1,900 was below the average 2,912 weekly reduction carried out during the past six weeks but brought troop strength to the lowest level since February, 1968, when there were 208,000 Americans in Vietnam. The peak strength was 543,000 in April, 1969.

The ground fighting in South Vietnam consisted only of minor skirmishes throughout the country. U.S. infantrymen and artillery of the Americal Division which still has men in the northern provinces reported killing 10 Communists Sunday. South Vietnamese Rangers, infantry and militia killed 38 more in a series of small clashes.

The U.S. Command reported the B52s swarmed out of their Thailand bases Sunday night and early today.

Dollars decline in value

LONDON (UPI) — Fears about possible devaluation of the U.S. dollar sent the dollar plunging to its lowest level in 22 years on the Frankfurt money market today. Gold climbed sharply higher on European markets, rising 80 cents an ounce in Zurich over the Friday rate.

The rate in Frankfurt of 3.424 marks for the dollar was the lowest since 1949 when West Germany revalued the mark upwards for the first time after World War II.

Reflecting the uneasiness in world money markets, the gold price shot upwards to $43.90 a ounce from $43.70 an ounce on Friday. It was artificially pegged at $35 an ounce in Zurich over the Friday rate.

Stock death hearing due

GOODING — A hearing by the Idaho Attorney General's office will be called in the death of 27 cattle which died July 28 at a ranch near here.

Al Miller, Idaho Department of Agriculture pesticide investigator said Warren Felton, of the attorney general's office, will conduct a hearing in Gooding as soon as possible to attempt to determine why the cattle belonging to Martin Sabala, Gooding, died.

The hearing will also investigate reports of "bulking out" of insecticide by the Gooding County Weed Control office. Findings of the hearing will be given to Oscar Arstein, Idaho Commissioner of Agriculture who will decide what action, if any, will be taken against the weed control office.

No date for the hearing was set.

Miller said earlier that selling pesticide in a container which is not marked with a U. S. Department of Agriculture registered label is against state and federal laws.

Walter Higgins, manager of the weed office, said that the container of stock spray which he sold Sabala was not labeled but was marked in ink "stock spray."

Miller said that he and Willard Nelson, Department of Agriculture veterinarian, will review the facts of the case today to try and get a clearer picture of what actually happened to the cattle.

Council scans funds

TWIN FALLS — Methods of financing Department of Commerce and Development programs and new concepts in advertising Idaho's recreation and tourist resources highlighted discussions here this morning by department advisory council members.

The seven member advisory council, headed by Alex Creek, Idaho Falls, met at the Holiday Inn for their first Twin Falls meeting this year. The council was scheduled to adjourn this afternoon.

Executive Director Lloyd Howe said the major item on the agenda would be presentation of an advertising program proposal by Belcher-Bagley and Wehren Advertising Agency, Boise.

Also on the agenda were discussions of travel shows, a new Idaho color brochure, the new highway map and a budget for 1972.

Creek asked members for their views on increasing the present Department of Commerce and Development small business license fee from $4 to $20 to help finance programs of the department. It was suggested a committee be named by the chairman to ask other states about their financing.

For example, one advisory board member said, Wyoming, with half the population of Idaho has about twice the budget for promoting tourism.

Creek said he felt better communication between the small business license holder and the department would be necessary even if the fee is not increased. Most businessmen feel they are not getting anything for the fee they now pay, another board member said.

Other possible financial sources discussed included a large share of sales tax revenue since tourism provides much of the sales tax revenue for the state or some other legislative appropriation.

Panther freed in mistrial

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Huey Newton's manslaughter trial jury deadlocked, 11-1, and the Black Panther Party leader says that shows "that with at least one black person on the jury, there is at least one fair person on the jury that will grant me a fair trial."

Newton, smiling broadly and with his arms folded across a black leather jacket, also told newsmen Sunday: "A hung jury keeps me out of jail."

There was one black woman on the jury but how she voted was not made public. Nor was the court told whether the jury's majority voted for acquittal or conviction.

Charles Garry, the defense attorney, expressed "keen disappointment" that his client was not acquitted of a charge he killed patrolman John Frey during a shootout between Panthers and Oakland police.

"This shows that racism permeates through the courts and there is no question but that Black Panther members, especially the minister of defense, cannot get a fair trial," Newton, the Party's co-founder, said in his minister of defense.

Soviets, Indians sign a treaty

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The Soviet Union and India signed a 20-year friendship and cooperation Treaty today pledging to consult on "appropriate effective measures" if either is attacked. It was seen as a show of solidarity in the face of India's deteriorating relations with Pakistan.

Singh presented the treaty to Parliament two hours after he and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko signed it. Sing told Parliament it would "provide a stabilizing factor in favor of peace, security, and redevelopment not only of our two countries but of the region as a whole."

between the Soviet Union and a non-Communist state unprecedented since World War II. Moscow Radio and the news agency Tass announced the signing to Russian citizens.

Murder suspect crosses border

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Clarence Otis Smith, 43, a suspect in the "sickle murders" in a California campground last month, Monday will begin the first step in an apparently cautiously arranged procedure to get him back to California for trial.

after two campers were hacked to death with a sickle at a Sierra Nevada campground near Nevada City July 12. The persons killed were Mrs. Donna Fitzhugh, 28, of Ontario, Calif., and John Summons, 20, of Welmar, Calif.

Three other persons wounded in the attack said the killer was "laughing and growling like an animal" as he slashed with the weapon.

Mexican police, who had Smith in custody for several days, turned him over to FBI agents at the Gateway International Bridge between Brownsville and Matamoros, Mexico, at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

The transfer was made without any publicity. Smith was taken immediately to the Chimeron County Jail where he was kept through the weekend.

The FBI office in San Antonio through J. Myers Cole, the special agent in charge, said in a brief statement Smith would appear before U.S. Magistrate William M. Mallet in Brownsville.

Singer's heart fails

LANSING, Ill. (UPI) — The country singing, guitar picking and down-home comedy of Homer and Jethro was silent Sunday.

Henry T. Haynes, known to two generations of fans as Homer, died Saturday shortly after suffering an apparent heart attack at his home here. He was 51.

Haynes was preparing for a performance at the Great Midwest Fair in nearby Crete when he complained of chest pains and shortness of breath. He died a few hours later at a Hammond, Ind., hospital.

Question

My son was a civilian employee of the Army when he died. I must have a copy of the death certificate; where can I get this?

Answer...

If your son's death occurred outside of the United States you can get an official copy of his death certificate by writing the Division of Protective Services, Washington, D. C. If death occurred in a military installation in this country you should write the Adjutant General, Department of the Army in Washington. Deaths which occur in United States Naval, Coast Guard or Marine installations are recorded in the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, Department of the Navy, Washington, D.C. We maintain an up to date list of these sources and the Registry of Vital Statistics throughout the United States. Please contact us if we can help.

Marines charged with corruption

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional subcommittee Sunday charged a handful of "corrupt" Marine Corps officials with accepting favors from defense contractors and purchasing faulty equipment that may have produced casualties among soldiers in Vietnam.

Although the panel described the activities as "petty corruption in low places," it said the influence of the participants stretched high in the Corps and apparently provided them with a virtual cloak of immunity. Emphasizing that most of the irregularities were by civilian employees rather than uniformed officers, the subcommittee said the disclosures should not tarnish the reputation of the Marine Corps.

A House Armed Services investigating subcommittee claimed that in one case the Marines bought approximately 7,000 defective generators from a favorite dispensing contractor. Once in Vietnam, the generators broke down, reduced the combat capability of the units that received them "and may have contributed to combat casualties," according to a report issued by the lawmakers.

Entwined in this episode and others, said the subcommittee, was a "tangled web of contractor influence over Marine Corps personnel" assigned to deal with the Corps' suppliers.

At the center, the subcommittee said, was Washington lawyer, Daniel Ross, who represented the firms doing business with the Marines. He was described as an ex-Marine officer, a member of the District of Columbia Marine Reserve battalion and a man who maintained social or business relationships or both with four key Marine procurement officials. He was, the subcommittee commented, "reputed to have influence at high levels in the Marine Corps."

The evidence gathered by the subcommittee included further allegations of Corps officials using a contractor's credit cards, holding stock in firms with which the Marines were doing business, permitting contractors to pay their hotel and entertainment bills.

Sloppy reporting blamed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Victor Gold, Spiro T. Agnew's press secretary, charged publicly Sunday that some accounts of the vice president's recent world tour amounted to "sloppy, rotten reporting."

Slingshot out Life and Newsweek magazines, Gold ticked off what he called journalistic "cheap shots" at the vice president at every stop — including a visit to an African game preserve where he observed two rhinos copulating.

Gold initially made the criticism in an interview Friday with the Washington Star, set up at his request, and published in the Star's Sunday editions.

The Agnew aide told UPI that the Star account of the interview was accurate but did not elaborate on his remarks.

Declare intention, McGovern urges

HOLLIS, N.H. (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., the only announced presidential contender, challenged his fellow aspirants Sunday to declare openly their candidacies for the Democratic nomination in 1972.

McGovern, one of three of his party's hopefuls who attended the Hillsborough County Democratic picnic on a bright summer's day, needed the absent Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, for sending Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis of Maine to substitute for him at the picnic.

"I think in the interest of candor and openness I might give my fellow aspirants a little advice and suggest to them that before they leave Hollis, N.H. today—all of them drop all signs of pretense and flatly announce their candidacy for the presidency," McGovern said.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., talked about the economy instead.

Jackson predicted President Nixon's economic policies will be "the overriding issue" of the 1972 campaign. "Anyone riding over the stomach of the American people is going to get the worst case of political dyspepsia possible," he said.

Bayh said Nixon's economic policies have produced "the worst of both worlds"—inflation and rising unemployment.

"The game plan with which the administration began has been an utter total failure," McGovern agreed.

The South Dakotan quipped, regarding Muskie's absence, that "apparently it is a lot harder to get to Hollis, N.H., from Kennebunkport in Maine than it is from Mitchell, S.D."

Kennebunkport is Muskie's home town and Mitchell is McGovern's.

County Democratic Chairman James A. White, who supports Bayh, said he was disappointed at the beer and burgers picnic turnout of about 500 persons. The outing was billed as a chance for the presidential hopefuls to gain public exposure toward the March 1972 New Hampshire primary, the first in the nation.

N. Ireland has violent weekend

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A British soldier died today of wounds inflicted by a sniper in a violent weekend reaction to killing of a Roman Catholic truck driver by an army sentry. Crowds roamed the streets beating on garbage cans lids and erecting barricades of burning cars and buses.

Thronging took to the streets with the first light of dawn only hours after the soldier died. The new outbreak of trouble coincided with joint searches by troops and members of the Royal Ulster Constabulary.

The crowds of protesters set fire to vehicles and piled them into barricades, keeping up a clamor by hammering on garbage can lids.

A spokesman for the troops who conducted the searches said: "As on previous occasions, the action of the security forces is not designed primarily to seize illegal arms and ammunition but to disrupt the activities of terrorists."

The soldier shot was the 11th killed in North Ireland violence this year.

He was shot in the head late Sunday night as he crossed a road in the Catholic Ardoyne area, an army spokesman said. He died today in Royal Victoria Hospital.

Gunmen also shot two other soldiers during the evening. Neither of their wounds was serious. Saturday night snipers wounded four soldiers in hit and run attacks on patrolling troops.

While the gunmen took their toll, mobs pelted troops with paving stones and bottles and overturned and burned several vehicles. By 3 a.m. all was quiet.

Veteran observers said the rioting was among the worst since the August, 1969, disturbances.

The trouble flared after Saturday's killing by an army sentry of truck driver Harry Thornton, 28, a Catholic, while he waited at a traffic light. The sentry said, shots were fired from the vehicle. Witnesses said they were not shot but motor backfires.

Drugged On Drugs

Christian Science Monitor One of the marvels of Washington is that one never knows from which legislative or agency or department...

"Up to date with current trends, the advertisements incorporate women's liberation rhetoric. The housewife is depicted as oppressed, unfulfilled, and imprisoned. She is overwhelmed by the onerous and menial tasks of washing dishes or vacuuming the rugs. Yet the solution for her is neither liberation, psychological help, nor social action but, predictably, psychoactive drugs."

The issue is carried further by Dr. Richard Feinbloom of the Harvard Medical School, who spoke about women having to fight through the dominance of druguse in childbirth. "The capacity of enlightened women to demand alternatives to the exclusive use of drugs and thereby humanize the overly technological medical practice is well precedented in the natural or prepared childbirth movement. The pendulum in obstetrical care is swinging away from high levels of pain medication and anesthesia and towards self-understanding, mastery, and psychological growth."

These changes in the thinking of the medical profession itself must be shared more widely with the general public before the drugged-on-drugs condition of society will be improved. But in itself, such ferment and healthy rising up, as Dr. Feinbloom manifests in the following statement, is cause for hope:

"Like the public, we (physicians) are bombarded with ads for drugs and hear no opposing argument. Our journals and meetings, heavily subsidized by drug companies, are devoid of critical debate on the issues of using psychotropics (mood-affecting drugs). We are a very conservative force in society. Adjust the patient to his reality, don't question it or rock the boat. Anxiety can be a potent stimulus to reform action. Tired mothers might do better in working in the National Organization for Women than in taking antidepressants... It was gratifying to read recently of the moratorium in the prescribing of amphetamines declared by a group of physicians practicing in Long Island. Much more of this kind of action is called for."

And so is more discussion elsewhere, we might add, on the drug-use issue, on the order of the recent hearings before the Senate monopoly subcommittee.

Fishing Licenses

Lewiston Tribune It might seem rather inhospitable of the state of Idaho to refuse free fishing licenses to the Green Berets who are now following the 167-year-old trail of Lewis and Clark through this state. In other circumstances it might be. If the state chose in very special situations to grant free fishing licenses to a Boy Scout jamboree, to some large church picnic or to some other gathering made up largely of those who can afford only so much extra expense, it might be in order to ease their financial burden in return for the large-volume tourist business they bring to Idaho. But granting licenses for this small group of special visitors could set an expensive precedent. If you extend this courtesy to the Green Berets, do you also extend it to travel writers, to the Interior secretary and to every other visiting fireman who could easily afford the small cost in return for the priceless pleasure of drowning a worm in Idaho waters? If there are to be any free fishing licenses at all, their issuance, should at least be based on need. The U.S. Army is hardly bankrupt. Let the Army buy the Green Berets a fishing license. It might seem a little picky to the Pentagon, but let them regard it as an indication of this state's support for one of President Nixon's programs - an early start by Idaho on federal revenue sharing.

India's Anti-Paki Lobby

WASHINGTON Self-righteously "neutralists" India is pursuing not uncharacteristic artful tactics, regarding: strict-torn Pakistan. While Delhi indignantly berates and condemns the U.S. for "arming" Pakistan, Indian officials in Washington are suavely sounding out members of Congress and others on taking expenses-paid trips to view the "heart-rending" camps of Bengali refugees.

Patent purpose of these proffered junkets is to promote hostile propaganda against Pakistan and, indirectly, the U.S. for shipping weapons there. It goes without saying that these covert Delhi lobbyists carefully do not mention the fact that India gets most of its planes, guns and other military hardware from Russia. India actually is about as dependent on the Soviet for armaments as Egypt and other Arab countries. Among those propositioned for such free tours to India are: Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., chairman of the Banking Committee and a ranking member of the prestigious Foreign Relations Committee; and Reps. Peter Frelinghuysen, N.J., second-ranking Republican member of the Foreign Affairs Committee; Vernon Thomson, R-Wis., another senior member of that committee; and William Moorhead, Pa., a ranking Democratic member of the House Banking Committee. All declined. They sidled away from this crafty scheme like a red-hot stove. This latest instance of subtle backstage Indian lobbying is nothing new. It's an old story in the capital. Also characteristic is that while such undercover pressuring is going on, Delhi at the same time fulminates and spitters against U.S. foreign policy for one reason or another - but always, of course, for India's own interests.

Example: A few years ago when millions of Indians faced dire famine and the U.S. gave and sold (for Indian currency that remained in that country) immense quantities of what and other products, Delhi, vigorously siding with the Arabs, denounced the U.S. for supporting Israel and, championing the Vietcong, assailed the U.S. for intervening militarily against the Communist aggressors.

In the past several decades, India has received more economic aid from the U.S. than any other country in the world - and given less thanks for it.

In fact, about all the U.S. has gotten in return for the more than $7 billion poured into India is disdainful censure and reproofs - and sometimes outright animosity and hostility.

The "gold dust twins" of the U.S. Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia are at it again.

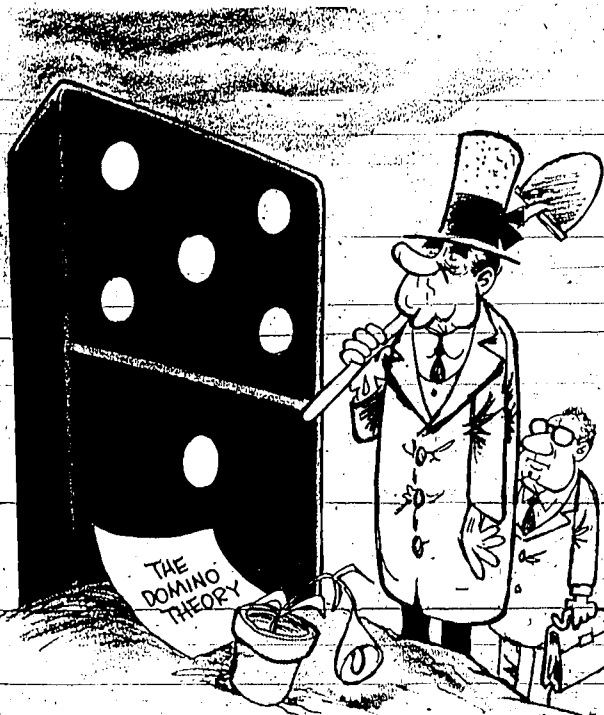

Chief Judge David Bazelon and Judge J. Skelly Wright, ultra-liberal, ultra-libertarian, ultra dovish and ultra-protective of defendants charged with crimes, ditched a contempt citation of two May Day anti-Vietnam rioters on technical grounds - a pronounced characteristic of these two jurists.

Circuit Judge Malcolm Wilkey, third member of the special panel that heard this case, scathingly blasted the ruling in a 40-page dissent which held it was based on the "flimsiest of allegations that unlawful wiretapping had been used."

"There is no allegation in any of the court papers," declared Wilkey, "that (the defendant) had been subjected to wiretapping; there is no allegation that any government agency was responsible for the electronic surveillance; nor is there any specification of the person with whom (the defendant) believes her conversations were wiretapped; not in what city in America or abroad, nor on what dates, not even as to what years."

Judge Wilkey concluded his extraordinary exhortation by indignantly characterizing the majority decree as "making the conduct of the government's business and administration of justice a nightmarish absurdity."

It's For Us

South Vietnam will vote on Oct. 3. For better or worse. Which is it likely to be? Big-hearted, well-intentioned Americans - so properly proud of the bountiful harvest from our own representative government - now want the whole world run "our better way."

restiveness in the military ranks. A recent private poll showed 60 per cent of South Vietnam's military officers dissatisfied with Thieu's leadership. In '63 and '65 it was military men who managed almost casually to overthrow the Saigon leadership. The United States presence on the scene cannot allow that. We are over there ostensibly to guarantee "self-determination" for the Vietnamese peasants whether they want it or not. We have to stage elections. And to make it look like what it isn't, there has to be somebody running against Thieu. Neither Vice President Ky nor popular General Minh has the political clout to win, even if the elections were entirely fair. Seeking to superimpose our form of government on Southeast Asians is rather like throwing a wagon harness on an unbroken horse. You are likely to end up with a smashed wagon and a horse that's wilder than ever.

Tuberculosis

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Several years ago I visited an aunt in Europe. A year later she died of tuberculosis.

My mother has since feared that I could have acquired the disease on my visit. I recently had a chest X ray which showed nothing. Could it still be possible that I have or may get T.B.? - D.R.

Yes, possible, although the X ray report is good news. The T.B. germ can cause small lesions which heal over, then can break out years later into major infection.

To be more sure in your case, I would suggest that you have your doctor give you a tuberculin (skin) test. If it is negative - meaning that you never have picked up the germ - you can relax and your mother can stop worrying.

If the test is positive, your doctor may elect to prescribe isoniazid or one of the drug combinations now more and more being used to suppress any lingering germs.

Another chest X ray in six months or a year is in order, too.

The above also will answer the following letter.

Dear Doctor: What are the chances for children EXPOSED to tuberculosis and have active T.B. skin tests? The X rays were negative, but they have to take a pill for one year. How effective are the anti-T.B. pills? What are the percentages of children, exposed to T.B. when young, getting T.B. when they are 30, 40, or 50 years old? Is it inevitable that they will get it, even with the drug? - T.Y. I can't give any exact percentages; I don't think they exist. But it is known that youngsters can get the disease, overcome it without even knowing it, but have the germs survive inside some scar tissue for many, many years. Then, when they are old, and perhaps in feeble health, the germs can become active again and lead to a full-blown case of T.B.

This is a risk, but it is NOT inevitable. Modern drugs are extremely effective and are being improved still further. (One - new medication was announced only a couple of months ago.)

A person who knows he has been exposed should be on guard. I don't mean worried or frightened, but just on guard.

Proper medication vastly reduces the risk, but nobody can guarantee absolute, total safety for life.

A periodic chest X ray will give warning if or when further treatment is needed.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband was an ideal husband until he started fooling around with drugs.

Is there some kind of medicine he could take that would either stop the craving or make him so ill it would make him lose his desire for them? - Mrs. T.J.

I know of no such drugs, except that methadone, which you must have read about, will control the craving for heroin. But methadone itself is addicting, so there's still the necessity for breaking the addiction.

Drug addiction is so much easier to acquire than to break, and I cannot understand why anyone would start taking drugs. But they do, alas, they do.

Humphrey's Gang

WASHINGTON - A recent low-key attempt to reassemble the bright young men who hunted delegates for Hubert H. Humphrey in 1968 for one last hurrah in 1972 ran into a disappointingly mixed response, including candid suggestions that Humphrey's time had come and gone.

The effort was made by Dr. Edgar Berman, one of Sen. Humphrey's closest friends and advisers, with a party July 27 at Berman's Lutherville, Md., estate. The pretext was the 34th birthday of Robert McCandless, chief of Humphrey's highly successful delegate-hunting operation in 1968, and McCandless' key delegate hunters were among the 25 or so guests from around the country. But as many soon concluded, the birthday party was really intended as a coming-out party for the 1972 Humphrey campaign.

Such, it fizzled, pointing up a fact of life pot widely understood: although Humphrey's money men are sticking with him and promising generous contributions, defections are numerous among his political operatives. From the standpoint of a new delegate-hunting operation, that old Humphrey gang has broken up.

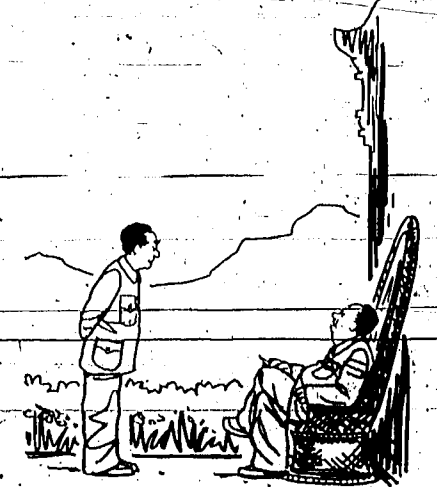

The pitch for Humphrey was made by host Berman after roast beef and a great deal of liquor drinking. Humphrey, he said, had $4 million pledged, unsolicited, for 1972. Support was developing, Berman added, in New York, California, Texas, Maryland and elsewhere. Berman next delivered the argument both he and Washington lawyer David Ginsburg make privately in Humphrey's behalf. What cost Humphrey dearly in 1968, he said, was his staff. This time, said Berman, there would be a different staff - implicitly, a more liberal staff, though he did not mention names.

The birthday guest of honor, Washington lawyer McCandless, chimed in to make clear he is all for Humphrey. Claiming Humphrey would have a "ton of money" for 1972, McCandless suggested a Humphrey for President headquarters be established immediately in Washington's Mayflower Hotel by one of the brightest lights of the 1968 Humphrey gang: Richard McLaughlin, former general counsel of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service who ran unsuccessfully for Congress from Youngstown, Ohio, in 1970. McCandless told McLaughlin, who was present, he could develop his own staff at the Mayflower and Humphrey would accept it.

McLaughlin declined on grounds he could not desert business interests back home in Youngstown. But he later told other guests he was unpleasantly surprised by the sales pitch and puzzled that Oklahoma's McCandless, a protégé of Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, was backing Humphrey instead of Harris. Indeed, McLaughlin confided he leaned toward Harris for President as a fresh new face.

Police business up 63 per cent

TWIN FALLS — Police business in Twin Falls increased 63 per cent in 1970, Chief of Police Frank Barnett said in reviewing the annual report of his department.

There were 1,176 cases of crime handled by the department, compared to 744 in 1969. The department cleared 427 cases in 1970, and 268 the previous year. There were 749 pending at the close of 1970 and 430 pending at the close of 1969.

Stolen property during the year represented $98,963.80 in value compared to $150,384.69 for the previous year. Recovered stolen property amounted to $40,167.65 in 1970 and $103,793.34 for the previous year.

Barnett noted there were more crimes solved and a greater value of property recovered, but said this must take into account the 63 per cent increase in police work load.

During the past year the Twin Falls Police Department solved 50 per cent of the grand larceny cases compared to 69 per cent last year and an 18 per cent national average.

Other classifications of crimes with the percentage of those cleared by the Twin Falls department this year, last year and the national average includes: petit larceny, 36, 49 and 18 per cent; burglary, 25, 25 and 19 per cent; check cases, 93 and 91 per cent, no national average listed; sex crimes, 75, 85 and 56 per cent; assault cases, 90, 75 and 65 per cent; destruction of property, 6, 9 and 0 per cent.

The Twin Falls Department solved 36 percent of all cases this year, compared to 41 per cent the previous year.

Enforcement of the dog leash law in Twin Falls involved 2,580 cases this year, 443 more than in 1969. There were 2,094 animals impounded, 231 warnings issued and 255 citations issued. In 1969 there were also 231 warnings but 224 citations.

Total arrests by the department in 1970 were 1,140 compared to 952 in 1969. Most popular offenses were fraud which increased from five cases in 1969 to 51 in 1970, and petit larceny with 59 adult arrests and 90 juvenile arrests compared to 42 and 104 arrests in 1969.

Twin Falls had two arrests for murder in 1970 compared to one in 1969. There were four adult and two juvenile robbery arrests and only one adult arrest for robbery in 1969.

Drug arrests increased with 16 adult and 12 juvenile in 1970 compared to six adult and seven juvenile in 1969. There were no arrests for prostitution in Twin Falls in either year.

The police department made 74 adult arrests for driving while intoxicated compared to 73 the previous year. Nineteen adults and 43 juveniles were arrested for burglary. There were seven embezzlement arrests, the same number as in 1969.

No arson arrests were made in 1970 but 10 juveniles were arrested for arson the previous year. There were 39 adults and 56 juveniles arrested for violation of the liquor law compared to 30 adults and no juveniles in 1969.

There were 614 juvenile arrests during the year compared to 640 for the previous year. Of these four were auto theft, 15 traffic violations, seven forgery, 16 illegal possession of tobacco and smoking, five grand larceny, two armed robbery, seven drunk, six narcotics violations and five for safekeeping.

Juvenile arrests also included 43 burglary, 75 runaways, 65 unlawful consumption and possession of liquor, 99 petit larceny which includes shoplifting, six glue sniffing, 15 destruction of property and 17 parole and probation violation.

Two T.F. men hurt at falls

TWIN FALLS — John Lamar Miller, 27, was listed in fair condition and Richard Morino, about 36, in good condition today at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital where they are being treated for injuries suffered in an accident Sunday at the Top of Shoshone Falls grade. Both are from Twin Falls.

Sheriff's officers reported the two were riding in an open top jeep owned by Miller and driven by Morino. They were coming up the grade from Shoshone Falls Park and officers said apparently the driver failed to slow his speed sufficiently to negotiate the curve at the top of the grade.

The right tire dropped onto the gravel from the pavement, causing the driver to lose control of the vehicle. It skidded across the pavement and went into a gully at the side of the road, then rolled over. Both occupants were thrown out as the vehicle rolled.

Both men received shoulder injuries and were taken to the hospital by Magic Valley Ambulance Service.

Sunday safest time to drive

TWIN FALLS — City police officers in Twin Falls investigated 1,594 traffic accidents in 1970, issued 1,427 traffic citations and found the hours of 4 a.m. to 8 a.m. on Sunday the safest time to drive an automobile in the city.

These were among the statistics announced today by Police Chief Frank Barnett in the 1970 annual police department report.

Statistics collected by the department over the year also show there were 1,635 men drivers compared to 963 women drivers involved in traffic accidents in the city.

Five accidents resulted in deaths, compared to no traffic fatalities in 1969. There were 228 injuries and damage estimates reached $45,688.

Of the 1,427 moving violation citations, compared to 1,108 for the previous year, 657 resulted from accidents while in 1969 accidents resulted in 559 citations and 221 injuries.

More accidents occurred on Mondays than any other day with 268. Thursday ran a close second with 267. Friday was third with 250 and Sunday had only 119 accidents.

During the hours of noon to 4 p.m., 481 accidents occurred and from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m., 479 accidents were recorded. Only 63 were investigated from midnight to 4 a.m. and 40 from 4 a.m. to 8 a.m.

Other statistics show failure to yield to another vehicle caused the most accidents, 346, compared to 268 in 1969.

Total traffic citations included 180 speeders and another 350 radar citations for speeding. There were 74 persons charged with driving while intoxicated, 59 stop sign violations and 65 traffic light violations.

Only five persons were cited for traveling the wrong way on one-way streets and nine each for reckless driving and improper passing. Another 80 were charged with following too closely while 43 violated the basic rule.

Boise man, 60, drowns in fall

IDAHO CITY (UPI) — A Boise resident drowned Saturday when he apparently fell head-first into a creek northwest of Idaho City.

Boise County Sheriff Jack Williams said F. W. "Bill" Urry, 60, was found dead at Hayfork Creek near Highway 21, 10 miles northeast of Idaho City.

Urry was apparently walking down a steep embankment when he stumbled and fell into the water, Williams said.

Car hits train in Hansen

HANSEN — Two persons escaped with minor injuries Sunday when the vehicle in which they were riding collided with a Union Pacific freight train in Hansen.

Idaho State Police reported Fred Walter Towes, 16, Route 1, Kimberly, driver of the vehicle and his passenger, Gene Schaeffer, 15, Hansen, were treated for minor injuries and released from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

The accident occurred at 6:10 p.m. Sunday at the crossing of the railroad tracks on Main Street in Hansen. Officers said the train, operated by F. C. Knighton, Pocatello, was traveling west and Towes was driving north. The driver and passenger both said they failed to see or hear the train, officers reported.

Officers cited Towes for inattentive driving.

Astros say flight worth total cost

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Apollo 15's astronauts have no doubts their mission was worth the $445-million it cost.

In a news conference Friday afternoon, while still in space, the astronauts were asked by newsmen covering the flight to "tell us what you gave the American taxpayers besides a few hours of good television."

David R. Scott: "I think the magnitude of the scientific data we've returned will speak for the taxpayers' money. The small amount of time they had for television, I think, is rather insignificant relative to the amount of return we gathered in the SIM (Scientific Instrument Module) bay and the lunar samples we have on board right now."

"I think these data will not only enhance the progress of science, but it'll reach the common man in the street directly by the byproducts of what we learn. I think man must extend himself, that new frontiers must be opened in order for us to propagate mankind, and I think this is one way in which we do it."

"I feel the taxpayers got probably, as a matter of fact, I hope they got more than their money's worth out of the flight. And if you could see the size of the film magazines that Al brought in yesterday (Thursday) from those cameras, why you'd see we have at least a great deal of data on film film."

Alfred M. Worden: "There's not much more to add to what Dave said. He expressed my sentiments exactly. The knowledge that hopefully we added to our store of information about the moon and about ourselves will be increased (and), in our estimation, will be greater than the capital which was spent on the flight itself."

James B. Irwin: "I can only add that we're bringing back just a lot of data and lots of material."

SBA lists lending records

BOISE — Federal lending to assist small businessmen hit a new high in the Small Business Administration Boise district in the past fiscal year, Oliver Davis, district director reported today.

He said a large block of loan commitments went to 37 south central Idaho businessmen. These commitments were processed for funding of $1,767,600 to those businessmen. Davis said this represents "new dollars" not otherwise available through normal lending channels went to assist in expanding the economy of the district.

The Boise district approved funds for 193 firms, he said, an increase of 6 loans over the previous year's totals. Total dollars committed climbed to $11,668,800, an increase of about 35 percent over the previous high which was recorded in Fiscal year 1970.

and how it was stored.

"The core step should be in the sleep restraint," Parker said. "We understand it's now stored in the bags on the side of A-1 (a storage compartment)."

"It's still three sections long," Scott replied. "We can't put it in the sleep-restraint. It (A-1) just seemed like a convenient place to keep it."

Sleep restraint is in hammock-like bag the astronauts can zip themselves into to avoid floating around the cabin while they sleep.

Scott and Irwin spent more than an hour retrieving the stubborn core sample and unscrewing sections welded during drilling on the moon.

They were unable to separate three of the sections measuring four feet.

Parker asked how the crew got a 4-foot section into a 36" storage bag.

"Well, it's sticking out a little bit, I guess," Scott said. "We'll have to admit it. But, it's pretty well cinched down."

Core caused trouble coming home

Almanac

By United Press International Today is Monday, Aug. 9, the 221st day of 1971.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Leo. British writer Izaak Walton was born Aug. 9, 1633.

On this day in history: In 1831 the first train in the United States to be powered by steam, made a run between Albany and Schenectady, N.Y.

In 1082 the king of Wales was crowned King Edward VII following the death of his mother, Queen Victoria.

In 1945 more than half of the Japanese city of Nagasaki was destroyed when the United States dropped its second atomic bomb.

In 1971 an airliner crashed in Peru, killing 99 persons, 54 of them Americans.

A thought for today: British philosopher Herbert Spencer said, "No one can be perfectly free till all are free; no one can be perfectly moral till all are moral; no one can be perfectly happy till all are happy."

WET THE BED?

The N.E.C. method may be the answer. It has proven in over 450,000 cases that it can stop bed-wetting (enuresis) which is not caused by organic defects of disease. In just two to four weeks. Not a drug or diet, just a simple conditioning technique. The N.E.C. method was developed by a doctor — prescribed by many doctors. A recognized family service for more than 22 years.

"AN ACCREDITED PERSONAL SERVICE"

Club observance marks 50 years

Mary Brooks to speak at symposium

BURLEY — An achievement of 50 years was packed and celebrated this past week at a reception hosted by the Ladies Literary Club of Burley at Ponderosa Inn.

The group was organized Aug. 5, 1921, at the home of Mrs. S. E. Sessions and has been active since.

The young mothers and homemakers met in the afternoons twice a month in the beginning. Today they hold their meeting in the evening because of their members work. Charter members were Nell Barlow, Zettle Sessions, Brata McBride, LaTue Jer, Irene Barlow, Rebecca Wilson Smedley, Eliza Jones and Edith Sessions. Mrs. Ella Toolson was asked to join at the first regular meeting.

Mrs. Smedley is the only charter member still active and Mrs. Toolson is also still active with the group.

During the early years, it was the group's desire to use this meeting time to study and learn, to enrich their lives in the enjoyment of a social, yet educational afternoon.

The first year programs included music, short stories, literature of the Bible, child health and entertainment.

Later they had programs on Shakespeare, poetry and the novel were presented. Class leaders studied diligently and the club members gained much from courses in modern and American art.

Several correspondent courses were followed from the University of Utah and Brigham Young University. College credit was received the year they studied World Literature Course I and II from the University of Pennsylvania.

In 1933 the club studied the comparative conditions of the Renaissance in different countries. Another year members presented an executive course in Russian literature.

The early years were fruitful ones, not only in providing a social afternoon for the women, but in giving them a liberal education in literary culture.

For many years, the club has made a sizable donation to the Burley Public Library. During the early 1930's they sold tickets to special movies in order to raise money for this project.

In past years they have donated to the library book stacks, Book of Knowledge, paper cutter and many other items that were not included in the library budget.

The year of the centennial in Idaho they had all of the books on Idaho reconditioned. The year they were 45 years old they gave tables and chairs to the children's section.

Each year the list grows in donations to the library of usable items.

Although members no longer study planned literature courses, they have a varied program. Book reviews, plays, musicals, current events and special speakers during their year.

A custom through the years include two annual social events, the Christmas party and the May breakfast.

Former members returned for the special anniversary event from Bountiful and Salt Lake City, and from throughout southern Idaho. Other study clubs in the Mini-Cassin area also attended the reception.

Guests signed the register at a round table covered with a pink floor-length cloth, centered with a gold picture frame holding the names of the eight charter members.

The long refreshment table was covered with a pink cloth, centered with an arrangement of pink gladioli. White pillars topped with arrangements of gladioli flanked the refreshment table.

Guests were seated at quartet tables covered with white lace over pink and centered with small pink floral arrangements.

New officers include Mrs. Ina Starley, president; Mrs. Lucille Nielson, vice president; Mrs. Ida Horn, secretary, and Mrs. Bee Allen, treasurer. Mrs. Mary Hencher is the retiring president.

Direct dial

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—University of Michigan students living in residence halls will be able to save some money beginning this fall when the university begins allowing them to dial long distance calls from their room telephones.

This will enable the students to bypass the services of a call operator and pay less for a call. At present, students have to use pay telephones to make long distance calls and need the aid of an operator. About 5,400 room phones are involved.

Golden year . . .

LOOKING OVER program books of the past 50 years are, top picture, from left, Mrs. Leona Hall, Burley, and Mrs. Frank (Evelyn) Monson and Mrs. Golden (Melba) May, both Blackfoot and former members, during the Burley Ladies Literary Club's Golden Anniversary observance. The event was held at the Ponderosa Inn. The club's only active charter member is Mrs. Rebecca Wilson Smedley, bottom picture at left, with Mrs. Ella Toolson who joined the club during the first meeting after organization.

Former resident to speak at BSC commencement

BOISE — Dr. Gerald Wallace, dean of the school of education at Boise State College, former Twin Falls resident, will be the graduation speaker at Summer commencement exercises Aug. 13.

The ceremonies will begin at 4 p.m. in the Snack Bar of the Student Union building. Boise State is graduating 211 students at the end of summer session.

"Cybernetics, Clay and Callipers" is the topic of Dr. Wallace's speech to the graduates. The students will assemble in the Liberal Arts building to don their graduation caps and gowns, and the Treasure Valley Highlanders will lead the graduation procession and pipe them to the SUB for the graduation ceremonies. Prelude program music will be provided by David C. Runner. The invocation, scripture readings and benediction will be given by Stanton Tate, Boise State College coordinator of religious activities. Following Dr. Wallace's commencement address, Boise State president

Dr. John B. Barnes will present the various degrees, diplomas and certificates.

Acting as faculty marshal will be John Best, associate professor of the music department. Student marshals will be Patrick Eblright, Martell Miller, Mark Litteras and Robert Francis.

A reception honoring the graduates will follow in the foyer of the SUB.

Art, sewing demonstrated for 4-H unit

BOHL — Cindy Jagals and Kathy Eggleston gave a demonstration on art and sewing when the Heartaches and Heartburn 4-H Club met at the home of Miss Jagals this past week.

A report on the art meeting was given, noting members of the 4-H Club were invited to the home of Mrs. Victor Crismer to view her paintings and experiment with felt point pins on different types of paper.

Members worked on record books. Refreshments were served by Miss Jagals and her mother, Mrs. Lowell Dean Jagals.

The next meeting is at 2 p.m. Aug. 10 at the home of Sherry Mueller, 4-H leader.

Painting by local youth will be displayed at J.F. Kennedy Center

TWIN FALLS — Andy Inkley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn B. Inkley, Twin Falls, will have one of his paintings representing Idaho at the September opening of the John F. Kennedy Center for Performing Arts.

Inkley's art work was selected to join those from the other 49 states in a student exhibit at the center. He won first place in junior high school competition sponsored by the Idaho Art Association. He attended O'Leary Junior High School.

State winners were selected in three divisions: elementary, junior high and high school. Each winner will have his work displayed for a month at the center, then the painting will be part of a nationwide tour for a year.

Inkley's painting was an impressionistic print of a human face. He used a medium of graphics employing oil-base printer's ink, under the direction of Gordon Bybee, O'Leary art instructor.

Three national winners will be chosen and will receive an expense-paid trip with their family and art teacher to Washington, D.C. Other winners in the state contest were Deborah Ducek, first grade, Post Falls Elementary, and Marilyn-Layton, Capital High School, Boise.

Proud pair O'LEARY JUNIOR HIGH school art instructor, Gordon Bybee, right, proudly displays some of the art work done by Andy Inkley, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn B. Inkley. Inkley just placed first in the junior high school state competition, sponsored by the Idaho Art Association, and one of his paintings will be representing Idaho at the September opening of the John F. Kennedy Center for Performing Arts.

MRS. PAUL GROSJEAN

POCATELLO (ISU) — Mrs. Mary T. Brooks, director of the U.S. Mint, will be featured speaker at the fifth annual High School - Business Symposium to be held at Idaho State University Thursday, Nov. 11.

"We expect about 300 high school students to attend," said Rodney Lind, Rockland, a senior accounting major at ISU who is one of the co-chairmen for the symposium. The other is Diane Roemer, Hazelton, a junior business-education major.

The symposium will be held in the ISU Student Union Building with registration beginning at 8 a.m. ISU President William E. Davis will give a short talk beginning at 9:30 a.m. and at 9:40 a.m. Mrs. Brooks will speak.

Scheduled for 10:10 a.m. is a panel discussion featuring three executives of Mountain Fuel Supply Co., Salt Lake City. They are D. E. Anderson, director of safety and training; W. R. Hinda, director of industrial relations; and M. V. A. Megeath, director of public affairs.

Dr. James M. Kelly, Dean of the ISU College of Business, will present a talk at 11:20 a.m. At 11:30 a.m., there will be a question and answer period.

Alpha Kappa Psi national professional business organization is the sponsor of the event. In the afternoon tours of the ISU campus will be conducted for the high school students by Alpha Kappa Psi and by Phi Chi Theta women's business organization.

Couple recites vows at Alturas Lake

TWIN FALLS — Clare Marie Emerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Emerson, Twin Falls, and Paul Grosjean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Grosjean, Aron, Wyo., were married July 28 in an outdoor ceremony at Alturas Lake, with Rev. Herbert Morris of the Methodist Church, officiating.

The couple also participated by reading from appropriate literature.

The bride wore a peasant-styled gown of off-white eyelid embroidery with a smocked bodice and full-length skirt trimmed with two rows of purple fringe. A deep purple velvet cummerbund, laced with white velvet cord, completed the gown.

She carried a bouquet of white daisy chrysanthemums and miniature pink carnations. Her bouquet and the one carried by the matron of honor, Mrs. Gene Bollinger, cousin of the bride, were fashioned by the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Hyrum Hirschel, Aron.

Serving as best man was Tom Rickers, Salt Lake City.

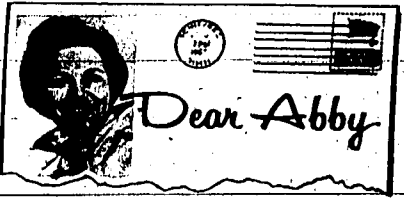

After the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts at an outdoor lunch at their campsite. An outdoor reception was held for the newlyweds at the home of the bride's parents Aug. 7.

The bride's table was covered with a lavender undercloth with a lace overcloth and centered with a lavender and white wedding cake. Individual tables were covered with white cloths and centered with brandy snifters containing floating gladioli.

Assisting at the bride's table were Mrs. Howard Lawrence and Mrs. June Emerson. Mrs. Tom Barton was in charge of the guest book and Lana Emerson received the gifts.

A pre-nuptial shower was given the bride at the home of Mrs. Howard Lawrence, with Mrs. June Emerson, Mrs. Gene Bollinger, Mrs. Tom Barton and Mrs. Kerry Kamamoto as co-hostesses.

The couple reside at Logan, Utah, where they plan to resume studies at Utah State University this fall.

DEAR ABBY: Some neighbors of ours have a swimming pool behind their house. They also have a pair of 11-year-old twin boys and two daughters, 9 and 13. These neighbors allow their boys to swim in the raw at the same time their daughters use the pool, but the girls wear swim suits. That's their business, but it presents a problem to us because the twin boys have invited our son to swim in their pool.

Our son says swimming in the raw doesn't bother him, girls or no girls. [Can this be?] He also says that the neighbor boys were raised to believe that it is proper for girls to see what boys look like, but it is not proper for boys to see what girls look like. How do you feel about this, Abby? And should we let our boy swim at the neighbors?

—COLORADO READERS

DEAR READERS: Since your son already knows what boys look like, why not? And I don't know why it's any more "proper" for girls to know what boys look like than for boys to know what girls look like.

DEAR ABBY: My mother in law is a "good" person. That's the trouble. She's TOO good. She offers to baby-sit, and while we are gone she cleans my house, does the laundry and rearranges cupboards and closets.

My husband and I have asked her to please just leave things as they are, but she doesn't listen. It is not only impossible for us to find things after she has "rearranged" everything, but she gripes to our children about how "disorganized" the place is.

One time she washed red with white and we all had pink underwear and socks. Last night she WASHED my best wool knit slacks and today my 8-year-old daughter can wear them.

She has a key to our house. [Big mistake.] Whenever we are gone and she has nothing else to do, she comes over and gets busy.

I don't want to hurt her feelings, but I have had it. Any suggestions?

—NO HELP NEEDED

DEAR NO HELP: First, manage to get the key back. Then have your husband tell her that you can't allow her to "help" you by baby-sitting unless she promises to stop helping you to keep house. Tell him to be firm, but gentle—but let her know he means business.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to a very kind and gentle man for over 25 years. We have raised five children. The youngest, and only one home, is 17.

My husband has become interested in a very attractive woman who is slightly younger than I am. They are a present only "eyeing" each other. All my life I have been a very perceptive person, and I know they are attracted to each other.

My question: Should I confront him with my immediate, or remote, or recent past? He, of course, will tell me that I am mistaken, but I do believe in him as he does love me and my family.

I fully realize this happens to many women. I know if I would be doing the same thing, I would be doing the same thing.

DEAR MRS. HEARTACHE: I know you are a very perceptive person. And the answer is...

Current Cues

By HELEN WALKER
TWIN FALLS — In general home freezers fall into two classes — chest and upright. The chest freezer is low with the top opening; the upright is tall and opens at the front. If well built, the two types will operate equally well. The choice depends chiefly on the preference of the family.

The chest type has a natural advantage in keeping temperature low. When its lid is lifted, there is very little exchange of cold dry freezer air with warm moist outside air, since cold air is heavier than warm. With an upright freezer, cold air tends to spill out when the door is opened and warm air comes in to take its place.

Space — An upright freezer occupies less floor space than a chest freezer of the same capacity, but space must be allowed for the door to swing open. Chest freezers provide work space — often an advantage.

Cost — An upright may cost a little more than a chest model of the same storage capacity.

Convenience — Whether one type is more convenient than the other is largely a matter of personal opinion. In general, frost collects more rapidly in an upright than in a chest freezer; however, the upright is easier to defrost, especially when the shelves are refrigerated. The "frost-free" principle is a popular feature of many upright models. Because there is no frost deposit in the food-storage space food packages never stick together, their labels are easily seen, and the volume of storage space is never reduced by frost accumulation. Since the coils are not located in the same compartment with the stored food, a fan is used to blow the cold air into the storage compartment. For this reason, a more uniform temperature throughout the storage space (including the door) can be expected. Because of this forced-air circulation it is imperative that you have food properly packaged to avoid "freezer burn" (drying).

Points of construction — Generally the cabinet is a metal base coated with porcelain or synthetic enamel. The base metal is most often steel but sometimes it is aluminum or an aluminum alloy. All these materials have proved satisfactory. A point for the buyer to check is whether enameled steel has been treated to resist corrosion in case the coating is scratched or chipped. Liners are porcelain enamel, aluminum with nonoxidizing finish, or an aluminum alloy. Rounded corners make for ease in cleaning. You will find more plastic parts being used and these are often superior to the materials previously used. An inside light may be a desirable feature, particularly if the cabinet is in a poorly lighted place.

Insulation — Adequate insulation is essential for efficient freeze operation. Several kinds of insulating materials are suitable for home freezers. The thicker the insulation, the more economically a freezer will operate. However, thicker insulation means either a decrease in food-storage space or an increase in the overall size of the cabinet. The purchaser should ask whether the outer shell is vapor-sealed. This is very important because if water vapor gets between the freezer walls, it will freeze into ice and destroy the effectiveness of the insulation.

Doors and door seals — Check to see that the doors are well built and tight fitting. All have a door seal, usually a flexible rubber or plastic gasket. Some manufacturers use a double seal. The double seal is more effective than the narrow single seal for keeping heat out of the freezer.

The hardware should be rugged to stand up under the use to which it is subjected and should also be rust resistant. A lock is a good idea if the freezer is kept in a garage or on a porch.

The refrigeration mechanism, compressor, condenser and evaporator may be confusing terms and of little interest to the homeowner, but these are what make the freezer do its job. If you don't understand such things, take along your husband, son or brother to get the information on these items. Continued next week.

Connie Bauman, Gartner marry

FILER — A double ring ceremony Aug. 1 in the Clover Lutheran Church united in marriage Connie Louise Bauman, daughter of Mrs. Helen Wight, Victor, Mont., and Terry William Gartner, Lendore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gartner, Filer.

Rev. T.D. Johnston officiated at the rites before a background of altar vases filled with pink flowers and flanked by large baskets of pink and lavender gladioli. The gold candelabra held purple tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Donald Davidson, Parsons, Kan., wore a floor-length gown of white brocade fashioned in an A-line and featuring a scooped neckline and short puffed sleeves edged in brocade. Her wrist-length veil of illusion was held by a beaded headband. She carried a nosegay of pink and white roses and gladioli tied with pink streamers. The bride designed and made her wedding dress.

Leona Howick was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Ann Aikens and Sue Bauman, sister of the bride, Barbara Bauman, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Tammy Gartner, sister of the bridegroom, and Kathy Eggleston, niece of the bridegroom, were taper lighters.

- SURPRISE DESSERT
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 - 1 cup unsifted powdered sugar
 - 1 cup boiling water
 - 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
 - 3 egg whites, unbent
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 graham crackers, crumbled
 - 1/2 cup finely chopped nuts

Mix gelatin and sugar in large bowl. Add boiling water and stir until gelatin completely dissolves. Add vanilla, egg whites and salt. Beat until fluffy and creamy. Pour into shallow 13 by 9-inch pan. Chill for several hours. Cut into 1-inch squares and roll in graham cracker crumbs mixed with finely chopped nuts. Heap cubes in sherbet glasses and serve with No-Cook Lemon Sauce. Makes eight servings.

NO-COOK LEMON SAUCE
 Beat three yolks until creamy. Beat in one cup powdered sugar. Add one-half cup melted butter or margarine, two teaspoons grated lemon rind and one-fourth cup lemon juice. Beat well. Just before serving, whip one-half cup cream and fold into egg mixture and spoon over heaped cubes.

the names of the couple. The cake was served by Mrs. Earl Douglas and Mrs. Bernard Hoffman.

Guests were seated at tables covered with white cloths and centered with candles and pink roses. Reception assistants were Mrs. Reuben Lierman, Mrs. Martin Rooster, Mrs. Martin Lierman, Mrs. Edwin Lierman and Mrs. Arthur Hong.

The couple will reside in Lendore, where the bridegroom is teaching and coaching at the high school.

Special guests at the wedding included Mrs. Clover Aikens and the Garner family, all Lendore.

The bride was honored by a shower given by friends in Victor; by a shower hosted by Mrs. Clover Aikens, Lendore, and by one hosted at the Roy Gartner home and given by Mrs. Eggleston, Mrs. Tanning, Mrs. Hatfield and Mrs. Ricky Gartner.

Since the wedding day also marked the 34th Anniversary of the bridegroom's parents, a small lace-covered table held a pair of bell-shaped cakes decorated with blue flowers and bearing SHOSHONE — Wednesday afternoon bridge club met at the home of Mrs. Frank Carothers with Mrs. Reid Newby as hostess.

Prizes were won by Mrs. J.F. Christensen, Mrs. Richard Baumann and Mrs. Newby.

Mrs. Carothers entertained the Monday night bridge club this week also. Prizes were won by Mrs. Joe Berriochon, Mrs. Jack Morris and Mrs. Oola Porter.

Black cars, say New York traffic officials after a two-year study, are more likely to be involved in accidents. Light colors, such as white and yellow, are easier to see at night and against dark backgrounds during the day.

Wyoming poke repeats as all-around choice

FILER — John King, the deaf cowboy from Sheridan, Wyo., won his second National High School Rodeo all-around cowboy championship Sunday, clinching the title with a first-place in the saddle bronc riding competition.

King, who also won all-around honors last year at Fargo, N.D., won on total points on the strength of the saddle bronc performance plus placement in the bareback competition.

Runnerup for all-around cowboy honors was Dode Givens of Arapahoe, Wyo. All-around cowgirl was Deb Frasier of Imperial, Neb., and second place among the girls went to Janet Stover of Ellensburg, Wash.

High-point Idaho cowboy was Bill Patterson of Richfield, and the top Idaho cowgirl was Helen Park of Malta.

Wyoming won the team title with 1,346.36 points, followed by Idaho with 1,284.74.

More than 450 youths competed in the six-day event which had prizes worth $20,000. Cindy Hagen of East Grand Forks, Minn., was crowned rodeo queen.

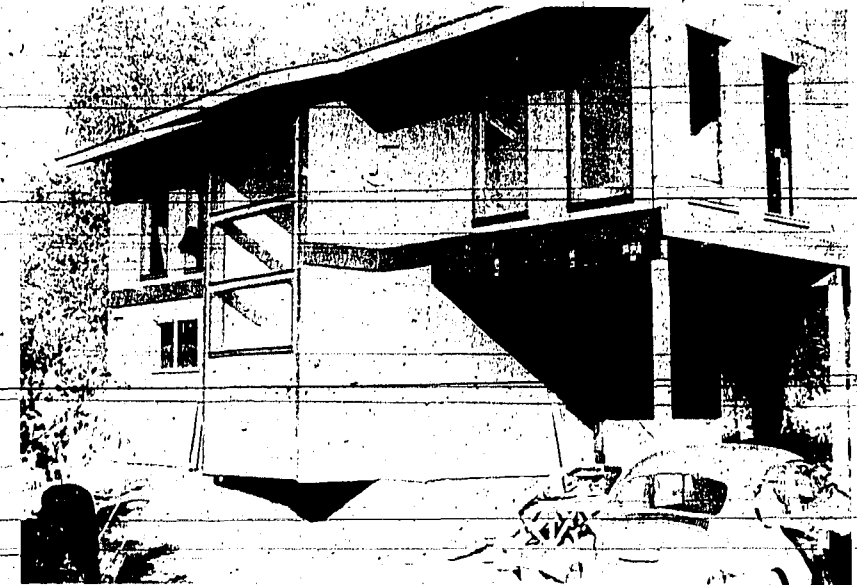

The results, with top four contestants listed in their order of finish in each event:

Bull riding — Bill Patterson, Richfield, Idaho; Paul Gropper, Long Valley, S. D.; Butch Bratskey, Bridger, Mont.; Pace Merrill, Baraboo, Wis.

Calf roping — Bob Watkins, Kim, Colo.; Dudley Little, Chandler, Ariz.; Paul Hughes, Olney Springs, Colo.; Jack Purchase, Pendleton, Ore.

Girls cow cutting — Cindy Hagen, East Grand Forks, Minn.; Jan Bartlett, Hermiston, Ore.; Helen Park, Malta, Idaho; Jane Maggard, Caldwell, Idaho.

Barrel racing — Deb Frasier, Imperial, Neb.; Jan Stover, Ellensburg, Wash.; Lorri Davis, St. Anthony, Iowa; Sheryl Van

Hailey home rising

By WARREN GOSSETT
Times-News Writer

HAILEY — Much is said about today's young people and how lazy they are, but Jerry Kirkman has proven to be just the opposite.

Kirkman, 22, is building his own home, by hand.

He started building his dream home for himself, his wife and son in April of this year, working in his spare time.

After several months of planning and borrowing money from a local bank, he began building the family home on a lot situated in scenic Gimlet next to the East Fork of Wood River.

It has taken Kirkman only five months to complete 90 per cent of the house and it is a very modern and impressive piece of one man's ingenuity.

The upper floor of the two-story house contains the living room, dining room, kitchen, master bedroom and bathroom. On the bottom floor are two bedrooms, another bathroom and a utility room.

Kirkman estimates he has spent a little over $20,000 in constructing the house, with most of that cost going for materials. Since he did most of the work himself he feels he saved about that amount for labor costs.

He wired the house himself and also installed the electric heating units. The home is all-electric.

The house features a cantilevered staircase which is almost completely glass. In time the Kirkmans plan to place a swinging loveseat at the top of the staircase.

To the rear of the house and facing the river are two balconies, one off the master bedroom and the other off the dining room.

The interior of the house has been finished in white plaster with a dark brown wood trim. Boulders having a transplanted lawn, the surrounding landscape has been bolstered by the planting of 500 pine trees. Quaking aspen also surround their home.

Owner builds

NEARLY FINISHED is this home in Gimlet near Ketchum. The house has been the dream of Jerry Kirkman, 22, who has done most of the construction work on the house himself.

Youths eligible

SHOSHONE — The 4-H and FFA youths who received highest awards at the Lincoln County Fair will be eligible to enter their projects in the district fair to be held in Jerome in early September.

Clothing awards from Hansen's Department Store, Shoshone, went to Carla Hahn, Deann Sorensen, Lorna Thorne, Patty Fought, June Dixon, Brenda Astle, from Lincoln County Fairboard, Deann Kinney, Wanda Fought, and June Dixon.

Food awards, also from the fair board, were won by Carla Kinney, Sue Heith, Cathy Churchman, Tammy Kinney, Christine Jones, Deanna Braun and Carol Williams.

4-H Home Improvement award, from the fair board, Dawn Jacobsen, 4-H canning award to Peggy Ralls and 4-H gun safety, also from the Fair Board, to Penny Pizzen.

Tammy Kinney won the 4-H junior leadership award presented by the Harrell Thorne Agency and Debbie Scott received the 4-H child care trophy from Shaw Electric. The fair board also provided the trophy for Camille Kernelson in 4-H Handicraft. David Ross, 4-H weeder; Terry Hopkins, 4-H rocketry; Leah Fixsen, 4-H Forestry; Terry Hopkins, 4-H Entomology and Penny Pizzen, 4-H bicycle.

The Ida-Gom Dairymen trophies and rosettes went to Sydney Durfee, first year; Kim Pugh, second year and Jenea Swainston, third year.

The home economics team demonstration trophy, presented by the fair board, went to Kathy Churchman, junior division; Dale Ralls, agricultural demonstration, and in the intermediate and senior divisions, Terry Hopkins and Sabrina Pugh received the trophies.

From the Shoshone Sale Yards, trophies went to Roger Golcochea, beef animals; Jenea Swainston, dairy; Cherie Braun-sheep; Mike Robinson-horse.

Fitting and showing contest winners were Kent Green, award for beef from Gem State Trophies; Jenea Swainston, dairy, award from Strunks, Shoshone, and Roger Golcochea, sheep, award from Lincoln County Marketing Association; Rick Wilcox won the horse and round robin awards, presented by the Beakon Bean Co. and fair board.

Zelma Bingham received the outstanding dairy-fitting and showing award from Kraft Foods, first division, while Kim Pugh received the same award in the second division.

In the PFA Livestock judging teams, Larry Webb, Allen Stowell and Dale Kerner received the top honors while Larry Webb was named the Livestock judging contest winner.

Junior team winners in the 4-H Livestock section were Kim Pugh, Chad Dixon and Dale Ralls. Senior winners were Debbie Johnston, Bonnie

Air Force men protest

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — Three dozen U. S. Air Force personnel were back at their base today after completion of a two-day trek across the Idaho desert in protest of the war in Southeast Asia.

The left Saturday at 6 a.m. on their 40-mile Journey from Mountain Home Air Force Base and reached here Sunday morning in time for a religious service at the Immanuel Methodist Church.

At the service, the marchers appeared tired and haggard amidst clicking cameras and blinding light equipment.

The protest took place on the anniversary of the atomic bombings of Nagasaki and Hiroshima, Japan, as Aug. 6-9 was set by the "People's Coalition for Peace and Justice" group to commemorate those incidents.

Rev. Bill Hopper, who delivered the sermon, said the Hiroshima bombing was a symbol of the destruction in which all U. S. citizens share the sins of guilt, and the continuing guilt for the war in southeast Asia.

He said the march itself was a symbol and added, "We are demonstrating for the guilt of Hiroshima, and the hope that it will not continue."

One member of the marching Air Force contingent, Capt. Steven Miller, a Vietnam veteran, addressed the congregation.

"Opposition to the war is a majority thing now," he said. "Some end up like L. I. (William) Calley Jr. — and we wonder how it happened."

Following the service, the group moved to the Morrison-Knudsen building, where they hoisted three flags up empty flagpoles, the final effort of the protest.

The flags were inscribed with "Bring our brothers home," "We are taking the GI out of Genocide" and "Bring 'em Home."

The group had charged Morrison-Knudsen was a "war profiteer and directly involved in the genocide being practiced against the people of Southeast Asia." Morrison-Knudsen is a worldwide construction firm.

Air pollution index 76

The pollution reading was taken by the staff of the South Central Health District at the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is expressed as the number of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24 hour period.

Federal pollution regulations say pollution levels should be kept below 75 micrograms over any 24 hour period, and should not be permitted to rise above 260 micrograms for even a short period of time.

Today: Excellent
Tonight: Poor
Tomorrow: Excellent

This forecast provided by the Idaho Department of Health indicates the ability of the atmosphere to disperse pollution burning as permitted by law should be curtailed when the air is poorly able to disperse air pollutants.

House members, wives leave on Asian jaunt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate had not even rung its final bell last Friday when an Air Force plane loaded with House members and their wives, headed by Speaker Carl Albert, took off on a tour of Korea, Taiwan, Hong Kong and Manila — and "bitch" popular viewpoints as Honolulu, going and coming.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has his bags packed for a visit to India and Pakistan. Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., had tickets for Hong Kong, Japan, Thailand, Vietnam and Russia.

They and other lawmakers today were scattered around the globe, and back across their home districts, in a congressional recess that will last until Sept. 1. They left behind legislation in various states of incompleteness with little prospect for any quick action when they come back.

It appeared that various antiwar debates would keep Congress working until Christmas, even though the official schedule is geared for a late fall adjournment.

The month-long vacation — for practical purposes stretched to five weeks since the first post-recess week in the House and Senate faced heavy absenteeism — was the first of its kind decreed under a reform law Congress passed for itself last year.

Leaders split along party lines as to how much had been done since the 92nd Congress convened on Jan. 20. They all agreed that plenty had not, and that some of the stickiest problems remained to be solved.

Among them was a two-year draft extension including an amendment expressing Congress' desire to negotiate peace in Indochina and bring home the troops in return for an exchange of war prisoners.

The real fight will still be ahead — on two other key pieces of military legislation: a $60-billion defense procurement authorization and the annual defense money bill of some $70 billion; the first of which has passed the House unamended and awaits Senate action and the second of which has not yet cleared its first hurdle, the House Appropriations Committee.

Senate doves will use both bills as vehicles for attempted amendments to order an end to the war or to bar spending in Indochina by a specified date.

Parades open fair

GOODING — The Gooding County Fair opened today with a children's parade this afternoon, followed by the adult parade.

Judging was under way on 4-H and FFA livestock projects, flower and art exhibits, according to County Agent Ed Koester.

The Gooding County Sheriff's Mounted posse is scheduled to present precision drill competition at 8 p.m. today.

Rodeo performances are slated for 8 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

Door on GI club smashed

MOUNTAIN HOME (UPI) — "The Covered Wagon," a GI club in Mountain Home supported by U. S. Air Force Personnel was vandalized early Sunday morning while 30 Air Force war protesters were marching to Boise to protest the southeast Asian conflict.

Police officials in Mountain Home said the front door of the club was "kicked in," but nothing else was taken or damaged.

The incident occurred about 7 a.m., according to police Sgt. Cliff Grossman, who noticed the smashed door while on morning patrol.

He said there were no other signs of anyone trying to make entry into the establishment.

In Boise at Julia Davis Park, where the war protesters were treated to a picnic lunch by the "Valley Peace Action Committee," marchers said there have been other such incidents at the club.

Mark Lane, a civilian supporter of the "Covered Wagon" and attorney and author, said there had been "a lot of hostility" toward the GI club since it opened.

"It's just a physical attack on the place. We're tired of it, and we will take action against the town of Mountain Home if it happens again," he said.

He said other related incidents have included doors "smashed in, windows broken, and paint poured all over it."

25 acres burn

SALMON (UPI) — The largest fire of the season in the Salmon National Forest burned 25 acres of ponderosa pine Sunday above the Salmon River near the mouth of the Middle Fork River.

The forest service put 125 men on the blaze, and used four planes to drop fire retardant, and two helicopters for smoke-jumpers.

The fire reportedly started Saturday from lightning strike on Cramer Creek, one mile up from the river.

Travel up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Domestic travel by air, bus and rental cars is running about the same as last year and 1971 will show a possible growth of not more than 2 to 3 per cent, says a report by the Discover America Travel Organizations.

Best results are being shown in short-range travel to beaches, sightseeing attractions and resort areas within 300 miles of home, the report said.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks were lower in light trading throughout Monday.

Among the factors weighing on the list were pressure on the dollar on world money markets, and concern about the economy and related inflation.

The U.S. dollar plunged to its lowest level in 22 years on the Frankfurt money market, reflecting fears about possible devaluation of the dollar. A House-Senate economic subcommittee has suggested the U.S. dollar may have to be devalued, but the treasury said it has no plans to seek such a change.

On the NYSE, the Dow Jones industrial average was off 6.35 at 844.26 after more than three hours. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.55 at 93.70, while declines topped advances by more than a two-to-one margin.

Turnover at 1 p.m. amounted to 4,810,000 shares, down from 6,530,000 shares traded at a comparable period last Friday.

Among the stocks on the most active list were American Telephone down 1/4 on 3 1/4, 7/8; SHARES, Borden off 1/4 on 63.600 shares, Leeds & Northrup off 1/4 on 52,800 shares, International Telephone 1/4 lower on 43,200 shares, and Occidental Petroleum unchanged on 37,800 shares.

Gold mining stocks were firm. This group normally runs opposite to the market's trend, especially during a monetary crisis.

Over the counter rates were firm, with a rate hike feared. The announcement by the First Pennsylvania coincided with a sharp plunge in the stock market Tuesday. Later the same day, the bank called the market reaction "totally out of proportion," and backed away from a prime rate increase in the near future.

New York bankers expressed surprise over the action by the Detroit bank, but they conceded the trend has been upward in recent weeks. One banker said he had expected a move, but not until after the summer.

The administration's battle against inflation was dealt a further blow when the Labor Department reported prices of industrial raw materials and manufactured goods in July registered the sharpest monthly increase in 15 years. The White House conceded the report was bad news, but said President Nixon has not lost confidence in his economic policies.

Many Wall Street analysts, however, were not as optimistic as the administration. "People are dubious about the extent of recovery in the economy," said Ronald Cooper of W.F. Hutton & Co. He said most of the news is bearish.

Negative news factors cited by Cooper included pressure on the dollar on international money markets, rising interest rates, persistent inflation, and signs the United States is facing its first trade deficit since 1893, which indicates that our products are being priced out of the world market.

"All these are negative factors," Cooper concluded, "and this doesn't encourage you to buy stocks."

Bradbury K. Thurlow, vice president of research for Hoppin, Watson & Co., said there is a feeling among investors—the economy has not responded to the administration's stimulative measures, and that it may in fact be turning down again.

Fred Ansel, first vice president of Seaton, Hamill Co., commented that market psychology has deteriorated to such an extent that "we are no longer in a bull market." He said it is a neutral market, and he doesn't see any upward trend developing until there is strong evidence that inflation is slowing.

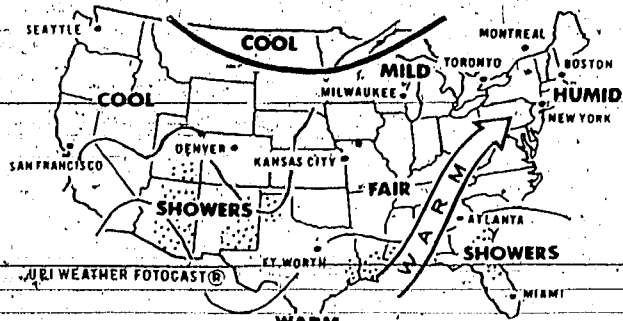

Report of a small rise in the unemployment rate last month had negligible impact on the stock market.

Unemployment moved up to 5.8 per cent in July from 5.6 per cent a month earlier.

Mostly fair skies

DURING tonight, scattered showers and thundershowers will be found along parts of the Gulf Coast and across the lower Rockies. Fair to partly cloudy skies elsewhere. (UPI)

Temperatures will remain in 90s

Twin Falls, Northside, Burley-Rupert areas: Fair through Tuesday. Continued hot. Highs today in 90s. Lows tonight 55 to 65. Outlook for Wednesday, fair and not quite so hot.

Probability of measurable precipitation five per cent tonight and Tuesday.

Camus-Prairie, Halley and lower Wood River Valley: Mostly fair through Tuesday except chance of widely scattered late afternoon and evening thundershowers. Gusty winds with thundershowers. Continued quite warm. Highs today 85 to 95. Lows tonight 45 to 55. Outlook for Wednesday, fair and slightly cooler.

Central Idaho Mountains south of Salmon River: Variable cloudiness through Tuesday with widely scattered thundershowers mainly afternoons and evenings. Gusty winds near thundershowers.

Synopsis: A massive warm and rather dry high pressure system in the upper levels of the atmosphere was centered over western Nevada this morning. This high will continue to dominate the Intermountain region weather for the next few days producing mostly fair skies and quite warm afternoons.

Rain from isolated thundershowers was rather sparse in the valleys Sunday and Sunday night with Mainz reporting .05 and Pocatello a trace.

Again the forecast fair with a few afternoon and evening thundershowers mainly in southeastern Idaho and continued hot.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Present stock market woes reflect the anxieties of the portfolio manager rather than the small investor, says Hoppin, Watson. While the small investor has largely "sat this one out," the portfolio manager, in many cases, tried to recoup 1970 losses too soon and is now "bugged with heavy short-term losses in hot groups he should have been selling last spring," the firm says.

The possibility of an advance to 6 1/2 per cent in the banks' prime lending rate is perhaps being taken too seriously by investors, says Abraham & Co. The underlying pressures arise not so much from an increase in loan demand from business as from the Federal Reserve's recent attempt to strengthen the dollar, the firm says.

Most equities have been hit hard and are unlikely to go significantly lower without first rallying over a two-to-five-week period, TPO, Inc., believes. Therefore, investors have little to gain by selling at this point, but should consider selling questionable holdings during such a rally.

"This is our fourth electric heat home"

Thinking electric heat? You can get full information and planning assistance at your local Idaho Power office.

"We wouldn't have anything else but electric heat," says the Bollingers. "The fact that this is our fourth home with electric heat indicates the truth of that statement. Electric heat is a good heat, and has been cheaper for us than other heating methods. Also it's cleaner and quieter. It's the answer to comfort and economy."

Boat race

PAO PAO, American Samoa (UPI)—One of the sports highlights of American Samoa is the annual race of the faatausi, 80-foot-long boats with 40 oarsmen. Boat captain and crew must go into training one month before the two-mile race. They live together in a house near their boats, where they maintain strict diets and abstain from alcohol, tobacco and the company of their wives.

Heard staggers to 74 but claims first win in American Classic

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Jerry Heard, staggering to a four-over-par 74 after three brilliant sub-par rounds, held on to win the $150,000 American Golf Classic by three strokes Sunday for his first victory as a pro golfer.

Heard, a 24-year-old Californian in his third year on the tour, carried a five-stroke lead into the final round and nervously frittered away two shots before regaining his composure.

He had a 72-hole total of five-under-par 275 with rounds of 67, 66 and 68 before Sunday.

Cubs and Giants split doubleheader

CHICAGO (UPI)—Glenn Beckert and Billy Williams collected seven hits to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 2-0 victory in the second half of a doubleheader Sunday after the San Francisco Giants captured the opener, 4-3, on a two-run single by Chris Spier.

Beckert got three hits in the first game and four in the second to raise his batting average to .358 and take over the National League batting lead from Joe Torre of St. Louis.

Veteran right-hander Milt Pappas picked up his 13th win against 10 losses and beat the Giants for the first time since last August 13. He had dropped four straight to San Francisco including three this season.

Braves 5; Mets 0
ATLANTA (UPI)—Knuckelbender Phil Niekro scattered four hits Sunday while pitching the Atlanta Braves to a 5-0 victory over the New York Mets to gain a split in the four-game series.

Niekro, now 12-8, allowed only one hit through the first 4-1/3 innings and brought that to a blooper pitch past Duffy Dyer.

Padres 3; Astros 2
Note Colbert drove in two runs with his 21st homer and a single and Fred Norman and Bob Miller combined to pitch a five-hitter to pace the San Diego Padres to a 3-2 triumph over the Houston Astros.

Colbert led off the fourth inning with his first homer since July 16 to put the Padres ahead, 2-1. He had driven in a first-inning run with a single after Enzo Hernandez led off with a single and stole second.

Reds 6; Expos 3
CINCINNATI (UPI)—Lee May's three-run homer being one out in the ninth inning, his second of the game and 32nd of the season, gave the Cincinnati Reds a 6-3 victory over the Montreal Expos Sunday.

May's game-winning homer came after singles by Pete Rose and pinch-hitter Jimmy Stewart. The victim was Expos right-hander John Strohman.

L.A. 4; Cards 2
Jim Lefebvre's three-run homer in the eighth inning spoiled the strategy of St. Louis manager Red Schoendienst and launched the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 4-2 triumph over the Cardinals.

Mauri Willis led off the tie-breaking eighth with a single and was sacrificed to second by Manny Mota. After Willis Davis grounded out, Richie Allen was intentionally passed to go to Lefebvre, who spoiled the move by strutting the 11th homer of the year.

Bucs, Phils split
PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Bob Johnson, pitching his first national League shutout, frustrated Philadelphia with an eight-hitter Sunday to give the winning Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-0 victory after the Phillies won the opener on an unearned-run, 3-2.

under-par 275 with rounds of 67, 66 and 68 before Sunday.

Dale Douglass and Gary Brewer, who were tied for second at the start of the day, made the youngster's path considerably easier by having problems of their own. Douglass unable to make a birdie until he sank an 18-foot putt at the 18th-hole shot a two-over-par 72 and took second place at 278. Bob Murphy shot a 67 Sunday for a 279 total and third place.

Brewer tallied all the way to 77 and finished at 283. Jack Nicklaus, with an even-par 72 Sunday that included four birdies and four bogys, finished fourth at 280 and Steve Hait was at 281 with a 71 Sunday.

Arnold Palmer had a final-round 67 and tied for sixth at 282 with Mike Hill and Chi Chi Rodriguez.

Brad Greene, John Miller, Dick Lott, Phil Rodgers and Johnny Potal were at 283.

Heard, 24-year-old Californian in his third year on the tour, carried a five-stroke lead into the final round and nervously frittered away two shots before regaining his composure.

Cowboys sweep Cubs, return home tonight

CALDWELL (UPI)—Pete Bonifils and Don Stanley combined on a three-hitter for a 2-0 victory by Magic Valley Sunday night as the Cowboys swept a doubleheader from Caldwell after winning the first game 5-2.

and a hit by John Jenkins at the start of the sixth and checked Caldwell the rest of the way.

Indians hang 16th defeat on McLain in beating Solons 6-2

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chris Chambliss drove in two runs and scored another as the Cleveland Indians stopped the Washington Senators, 6-2 Sunday to hand Danny McLain his 16th loss of the season.

Cleveland scored twice in the sixth, seventh, and eighth innings as McLain, now 6-16, was knocked out for the 16th time in 23 starts.

The Indians went ahead for good in the seventh inning when Eddie Leon walked to lead off, moved to second on a sacrifice bunt and scored on a single by Ted Uhlendorf, who then scored on Chambliss' two-out double.

In the first game, eight walks off Cub loser Jeff Wehmeier and reliever Gary Brown in the first two innings handed Magic Valley five runs.

Efrain Piza had a two-run single for the only Cowboy hit in those innings.

Coors-Bankers cop district crown

Tim Bassett's inside-the-park grand slam homer in the first inning pointed Coors-Fed to a 7-1 victory over the district's top team, the Coors-Bankers, in the championship semi-finals early Sunday.

Namath may Paterna play by Nov. 15 in Pan-Am

NEW YORK (UPI)—Injury-prone Joe Namath underwent surgery today for torn ligaments in his left knee and the doctor in charge of the case said the flamboyant New York Jets quarterback would be able to play football again, possibly as early as November.

Namath, who was injured Saturday night in an exhibition game with the Detroit Lions at Tampa, Fla., had been expected to be lost for most of the regular season. But Dr. James Nicholas, director of orthopedic surgery at Jervis Hill Hospital and the Jets' team surgeon, was optimistic about Namath's future.

Sox sweep A's

OAKLAND (UPI)—Walt Williams and Mike Andrews each drove in a pair of runs during a six-run fifth-inning rally and Ed Herrmann added two RBIs with a sacrifice fly and homer as the Chicago White Sox defeated the Oakland A's 9-7 Sunday in the first game of a doubleheader.

Vikings pin 17-10 loss on Patriots

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Quarterback Bob Beer, who took over in the second half after Gary Cozzo played the first half, drove the Vikings to the 25. He threw incomplete to Bob Grim on the two, but an interference call against the Patriots' Larry Carwell gave Minnesota a first down at the two. Two-plays-later, another interference call gave the Vikings a first down on the one, and Osborn plunged in for the touchdown.

49ers hit early, rip Cleveland

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco 49ers inaugurated their new quarters at Candlestick Park in style Sunday, getting three quick first quarter touchdowns and holding on to beat the Cleveland Browns, 30-24.

Jim: "Since the normal result was plus 650 for North-South that 10 points difference must have given you a zero."

Oswald: "It did indeed... didn't like what happened but his play was correct. He could see that a score of plus 630 for just four no-trump would be no better than minus 100 for down one and he took a gamble."

Jim: "You sound very philosophical."

Oswald: "I may sound that way but I could chew nails."

Answer: Tomorrow

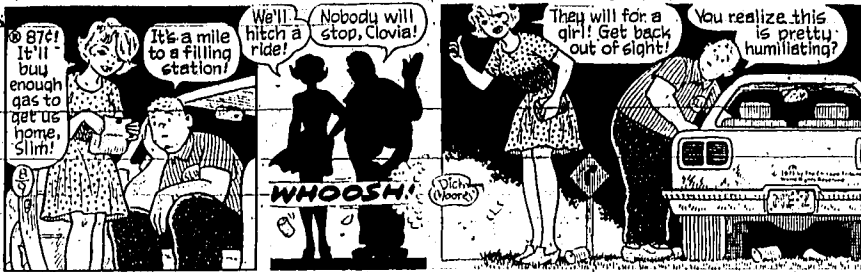

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "Here is a hand for our matchpoint duplet readers. A rubber bridge player would consider it just an absurdity."

Jim: "In one respect it is a trifle absurd for duplicate players. Any good pair would land at four spades. South might open one spade or North might use Stayman."

Oswald: "I was the unfortunate who sat West. I opened the five of hearts. East won with the ace and returned the 10. South was in with the king. He played out the ace of spades and noted that we both followed. He mopped his brow; gazed at the ceiling a while; turned his attention to the floor in case there might be some inspiration there and finally

THE HEART of a chicken, I'm told, is one of the strongest of all organs, a most persistent pump. Remember that, young fellow, if anybody calls you chicken-hearted, that's no insult. And the heart of a lion, old Bob Ripley said, is the smallest heart among predatory animals. So it's obviously no high honor to be called lion-hearted, that's clear.

MAYBE YOU already knew the exact middle verse of the Bible is Psalm 97:8... IT'S CLAIMED more than half the high school girls in the country do not know the meaning of the word "veal"... WHY IS a mystery, but women who get sick on trains outnumber the men who do so by three to one.

CLIENT ASKS whether that song "The Red River Valley" was written about the valley in Texas or about the valley in the Dakotas. Neither, originally. A gentleman named James J. Kerrigan wrote it about New York's Mohawk Valley. Folk singers took the music west with new words. And experts think—but aren't sure—those singers meant the Southwest's Red River Valley.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: "Q: Is it true smoking marijuana dilates the pupils of the eye? A: Nothing to that... Q: Has it been established whether any whale really does have a throat large enough to swallow a man? A: Some do. That has been proved. Some could gulp down a whole fellow neither diced nor sliced... Q: Don't nudist colonies date all the way back to the Biblical days in the Middle East? A: Not at all. Earliest nudist camps were set up in Germany only about 55 years ago.

WOMEN look at things differently from men. Say the word "garden." It'll make a woman think of flowers. But a man will think of weeds. Say "closet." A man thinks of a door. A woman of clothes. Say "religion." A man thinks of God. A woman of church. Such was the claim of Dr. Lewis M. Terman who conducted numerous word-association tests. Decided to try this test on the ladyfriend. But when I said "closet," she replied, "water," so we dropped the matter.

WHAT DO WOMEN resent most? A subscriber inquires. Don't know, don't know. Lack of attention, maybe. Anne Morrow Lindbergh said, "I believe what a woman resents is not so much giving herself in pieces as giving herself purposelessly... YOUNG LADY, when your granddad complains your food is tasteless, don't fret overmuch. It's a scientific fact the average 75-year-old man has only 36 per cent of his original taste buds.

NO DOUBT you know some young lady named Pam, but do you know where the name Pamela originated? A fellow called Sir Philip Sidney made it up about 400 years ago. In England. For a character in his romantic pastoral, "Arcadia."

Dole votes top ACU key rating

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Robert J. Dole of Kansas, the Republican national chairman, emerges in the first mid-summer ratings on Congress with 100 per cent conservative approval for his voting record so far this year.

He was given the perfect score by the American Conservative Union on the basis of his votes on what the ACU regarded as key issues.

ACU, a newcomer in the conservative movement, publishes a conservative monthly, "Battle Line," lobbies on selective issues and, through an affiliate, has helped raise campaign funds for congressional candidates.

In recent years, the organization, Americans for Constitutional Action (ACA), has provided the most-used ready reference manual to the conservative hue of members of Congress. It has not yet issued any ratings for 1971.

ACA has not included Dole among members with the highest conservative batting averages. Its ratings last fall gave Dole a record of 74 per cent for his first two years in the Senate and a cumulative record of 17 for his 10 years in Congress, including eight previous years in the House.

The ACA record for 1969-70 showed Dole somewhat more conservative than the Republican median of 65 per cent. The median was the figure at which half of the GOP senators were on one side and half on the other.

By the ACA count, the Democratic median was 12 per cent. Although he had no active competition for the chairmanship, Dole ran into opposition from the liberal wing of the GOP when he was picked by President Nixon to succeed Rogers C. B. Morton, now secretary of Interior. He still hears complaints.

The Ripon Society, a liberal Republican organization, twice elected the national party headquarters for ignoring House passage of the welfare reform bill in its weekly publication.

After Nixon announced plans for a visit to Mainland China and caused some conservatives to grumble, the publication made sure it would not be accused of a similar misdemeanor. It devoted the cover and four pages to the announcement.

Hargis thinks U.S. tags Chile

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House: First Lady Pat Nixon is going to tear a page out of predecessor Lady Bird Johnson's book in mid-August when she goes on a planned two-day park swing.

Mrs. Nixon is expected to tour benches and park lands across the country from Aug. 10 to Aug. 18 and will wind up in California where she will join the President for another long summer stay at their San Clemente villa.

While Mrs. Johnson stressed her post-national-beautification campaign on such journeys to wilderness areas and national parks, Mrs. Nixon planned to spotlight President Nixon's "legacy of parks" program involving the setting aside of scenic federal lands for recreation and conservation.

The White House insists there has been no decision made whether Mrs. Nixon will travel in the small "working party" accompanying the President on the trip to Peking. But some of Nixon's aides appear flustered these days when asked whether the First Lady will be left out. They say the details are still being worked out.

Speaking of the trip, the President, shortly after announcing his planned journey to mainland China went out of his way to caution congressional leaders and cabinet members against speculation on the possible outcome of his talks with Chinese leaders.

In fact there is a tight secrecy lid on White House planning for his trip, which could take place in November at the earliest.

But while he dampens hopes of instant peace in Vietnam as a result of the trip, Nixon himself has escalated the rhetoric in offering hopes of peace for generations to come as a result of his journey.

Every speech he makes now, whether at an airport or another dam dedication, the President winds up with an eloquent reference to his forthcoming journey.

His remarks at the Rathbun Dam near Centerville, Iowa, last weekend were typical.

He said then to a large crowd "as you have heard, I am planning a journey to mainland China."

Garden crew's work keeps plants blooming

BOISE (UPI)—It's no accident that the gardens at the Boise Statehouse and the grounds of other state buildings bloom from early spring until the killing frost.

George Bousliman, head gardener, and a six-man crew work throughout the growing season to keep it that way.

"If it looks bad, I get criticism," Bousliman said. "But my men receive nothing but compliments from tourists from all over the world."

Bousliman oversees the grounds for the three acres of the Statehouse, the yard at the governor's mansion, the old Army on Reserve Street, the Supreme Court and new state office buildings, the new state library, all annexes and all parking lots.

He begins his planning in the winter, deciding what changes he will make and ordering potted plants from local nurseries.

But other than the huge number of plants he handles, his problems are roughly the same as any gardener working in his back yard.

A major hurdle each year is the Statehouse lawn itself, and Bousliman said "criticism is quickest if the grass is not well-cut and a healthy green."

But, he said, there is no true topsoil for him to work with. An old schoolhouse which used to be on the block was simply leveled when the space was needed and coal from the old furnace was spread on the ground.

"That lawn lives on water and fertilizer," he said, adding that he brings up bricks and coal everytime he digs a hole.

The three acres at the Statehouse require three hours of mowing twice a week, easier now that the Statehouse bought a new mower.

Bousliman said it would cost "millions of dollars" to irrigate the lawn but the Statehouse, fortunately, has its own well and he can order water at will.

"Everyone takes a hand in the weeding," Bousliman said, and each gardener has been told to pull any weed at any time.

"Everyone picks up litter too, although the problem isn't as bad as it used to be."

"In the last few years, every year seems to be getting better," Bousliman said. "You see a lot of little wrappings, but no more packages and no more empty matchbooks."

He said he has drilled his staff so completely to pick up any paper at any time that he has often found himself walking past other public gardens, stopping to stuff bits of litter in his pockets.

Another problem is the shrubs, which he said have been at the Statehouse since it was first landscaped. He plans to remove some of the older shrub beds and replace them with fuses.

"We plan on putting more colors in the corners in the future," he said. "People drive around and see them. These corner beds haven't been changed in over 50 years."

From comments he has received, Bousliman lists favorites as the early-blooming tulips, summertime zinnias and the late fall chrysanthemums.

It was Bousliman who planted a tomato and some lettuce in the gardens to see how they would do.

'Wild river' ranger appointed

SALMON — A "wild river" ranger has been appointed by the Forest Service to handle management of the Middle Fork of the Salmon River.

Richard Estes, recreation assistant at the Flaming Gorge

Reservoir, Ashley National Forest, Utah, will begin his duties Sept. 1. Estes will live in Salmon.

John Emerson, Salmon National Forest supervisor, said that Estes will make a least one trip on the Middle Fork this season—to familiarize himself with the river.

The ranger position was created because of the increased use being experienced on the Middle Fork.
