

Chimney smokes as sale yard burns

Officials probe blaze

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Fire department officials began probing the ruins of the Stockgrowers Commission Co., 538 Maxwell Ave., this morning in an attempt to determine the cause of a fire Wednesday evening.

The building burned less than 24 hours after one of the co-owners, L. S. (Mike) Ullman was killed in a Gooding County traffic accident.

Gene Larsen, Gooding, co-owner, said this morning he has not decided, in view of the loss of his partner, if he will rebuild the livestock sales business. He said, if he does, he may select a new location because of growing traffic congestion and the threat of pollution with stock pens directly above Rock Creek.

Francis E. Horejs, assistant fire chief, said apparently several persons saw smoke coming from the south end of the building as they crossed the Shoshone Street bridge over Rock Creek, but all thought the alarm had been turned in. By the time fire equipment arrived, he said, flames had spread into the interior of the main building and through the two adjoining sheds.

In addition to building losses, 11 head of beef, two hogs and several sheep were killed. All were inside the sheds, attached to the outside of the main building and in the vicinity of where the fire appeared to have started, Horejs said.

Fire Chief Bobby K. Bopp, Horejs and Fire Inspector Fred Higgins were inspecting ruins of the building today, hoping to find a fire cause. They said with the shed area completely destroyed it is doubtful the cause can be pinpointed.

The building, erected by the late Bill Hollenbeck about 1937, was of frame construction and burned rapidly, fire department officials said.

Horejs said reports of explosions were correct but he believed all were caused by pressurized paint cans and spray material stored in the building. Several occurred while firemen battled the blaze, he said.

It was believed most of the firm's records were salvaged as the safe was undamaged and damage in the office area was largely from smoke and water.

Horejs said 23 firemen and four engines answered the alarm and the blaze was out within one hour and 50 minutes from the time the equipment arrived.

Outside corral structures were saved and there was no damage to nearby business buildings. Some sheep were moved out of the fire area to other pens and survived but it was not known if they had suffered from smoke and fire before being moved sufficiently to cause death later.

Larsen said the company was owned by a corporation, with the late Mike Ullman and himself as principal stockholders and listed as co-owners. He said Ullman joined the firm nine years ago.

Jerome youth drowns

JEROME — David Gene Anderson, 14, Jerome, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Anderson, died Wednesday night after being pulled from a pool of water below Niagara Springs near Wendell.

Gooding County Sheriff Earl Brown said the boy was swimming with his cousins at the site southeast of Wendell when he went under about 3 p.m.

He was pulled from the water by a fisherman, David G. Hobbs, Denver, Colo.

The boy's father attempted mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, and the youth was temporarily revived.

An ambulance was dispatched from Wendell and young Anderson was taken to St. Benedict's Hospital in Jerome.

The boy's father gave him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation in the ambulance on the way to the hospital.

Pat Ramsey, a nurse who lives at Niagara went to the hospital in the ambulance with the victim and his father.

They arrived at the hospital at 3:30 p.m. The attending physician at the hospital emergency room said he could not definitely say if the boy died on the road to the hospital or in the emergency room at the hospital.

Emergency personnel gave the boy resuscitation efforts for more than an hour, the physician said.

Don Anderson, who is recovering from a recent illness, collapsed at the hospital after his efforts to save the boy.

Sheriff Brown was unavailable for further report this morning on the accident.

Defiant

HARRY BRIDGES, president of International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, said Wednesday he will not call off West Coast dock strike for President Nixon. It will continue until agreement is reached with employers, Bridges said. Strike started July 1 and has tied up about 150 ships. (UPI)

Freeze includes soldiers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said today soldiers would not be exempted from the 90-day wage-price freeze, Canada probably won't be exempted from the 10 per cent import surcharge, and Lockheed will have to pay the duty on its Rolls Royce jet engines.

Connally, in a wide ranging interview, served notice there would be few exceptions to President Nixon's new economic strategy.

The treasury secretary also talked tough about labor leaders and Democrats who have criticized the President's plan, citing as "sheer malarky" their arguments that the new strategy is a boon to business and discriminatory toward the American worker.

Connally was interviewed on the NBC-TV Today Show.

The Treasury secretary cleared up one of the major questions about the wage-price freeze by saying that members of the armed forces will be treated "like everyone else." He said the freeze would stop armed forces pay increases.

The Pentagon said earlier it assumed that the freeze would not affect the armed forces, but it would await a ruling from the new Cost of Living Council.

The council ruled earlier that teachers and state and municipal workers were covered by the freeze. Teachers can get pay raises this fall only if their contract period began before Aug. 14.

Nixon, on a cross country trip to the Western White House in California, called for a revival of the "pride and energy of America," to make the program he announced Sunday work. He denied provisions of the plan dealing with international trade would erect a wall around this country.

An administration spokesman, Treasury Under Secretary Charles E. Walker, said the economic program of wage and price freeze, tax cuts, import surcharge and de facto devaluation of the dollar had resulted in a "swelling of confidence" at home and abroad. Walker denied the charge of AFL-CIO President George Meany that the program was a "bonanza for business."

Walker said this view ignored the job-creating aspects of the Nixon program, and he predicted a "beauty period" of expansion and growing productivity when the freeze ends.

The Cost of Living Council in a seven-page, question-and-answer statement issued late Wednesday confirmed the freeze on wages would extend to state and local employees; it said school teachers would be covered by the freeze if their contract period began after last Sunday.

The National Education Association (NEA) estimated the freeze would affect about 90 per cent of the nation's 2.1 million public-school teachers. Teachers who have salary increases due this fall must work at least until Nov. 12 at the salaries they received last year.

The administration has left open the possibility the wage-price freeze might be extended beyond the Nov. 12 date.

A Pentagon spokesman said it was the Defense Department's "judgment and interpretation of the law" that the freeze would not affect the automatic pay increases military personnel get every two years, other increases for promotions, reenlistment bonuses and proficiency increases.

Union set to review proposal

HEYBURN — About 30 members of the American Federation of Grain Millers Union Local 298 were still picketing the J. R. Simplot Co. plant in Heyburn pending a closed union meeting at Burley today at 4 p.m.

The terms of the contract negotiated Tuesday with Simplot were to be explained to members and voted on at the meeting.

Union officials would not release the terms of the contract they had negotiated until after the meeting.

Members of the Grain Millers Local 291 in Caldwell were in session this morning at a similar meeting. Officials were unavailable for comment.

Outlawed IRA target

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (UPI)—The British Army today smashed through more barricades in Roman Catholic areas and began patrols through this city's sewer network in a drive against the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA).

Shouts of "We will not lie down under England"—but little violence—greeted the army push through barriers that had been torn down Wednesday only to be rebuilt overnight.

Catholics constructed the barriers of concrete, broken paving stones and household furniture, partly to keep British troops out and partly as a symbol of their defiance of the predominantly Protestant Northern Ireland government and the soldiers sent in to keep peace.

An army spokesman said troops would pull down all the barricades and were patrolling the sewer system to get at IRA extremists, whom the government blamed for the deadliest outbreak of violence in the province in 50 years.

The latest military effort to demolish the barricades began early Wednesday and the fighting throughout the day claimed two more lives, including a deaf mute and brought to at least 28 the death toll since Aug. 9.

An army spokesman said the troops cleared half a dozen barricades from streets in 90 minutes without bringing any of the gunbattles which occurred earlier.

Witnesses said Catholics re-building barricades bulldozed down by paratroops some hours earlier used concrete in some cases to construct the new barricades. Paving blocks, steel pipe, overturned automobiles and hijacked buses have been the traditional building materials for the barriers.

Security forces Wednesday night released on bail two Opposition Members of Parliament, John Hume, 34, and Ivan Cooper, 28, who were held in the Roman Catholic Bogside earlier Wednesday as crowds clashed with soldiers.

Prime Minister Brian Faulkner was meeting today with building barrages bulldozed by paratroops some hours of Britain near London.

Paris trip gift

TWIN FALLS — "You pinch me and I'll pinch you," Mrs. Ray Rostron said to her husband Thursday after $1,700 for a trip to Europe was presented the couple by friends in Twin Falls.

Vern Routy, Twin Falls businessman, who overheard Rostron say Tuesday that he would like to take a trip to Paris but couldn't afford it, started out about 8 a.m. Wednesday collecting money to finance a European trip for the manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and his wife.

By the time of the surprise presentation, Routy had collected $1,700 and said more may come in. He said anyone who would like to contribute can mail contributions to the chamber office.

Rostron, who in capacity as chamber manager is usually extremely outspoken, was rendered almost speechless by the money and accompanying letter.

Besieged base loses artillery

SAIGON (UPI)—Giant American CH47 troop-carrying helicopters lifted all the artillery out of the heavily besieged South Vietnamese Fire Base Sarge today in the face of increasing pressure from a North Vietnamese offensive along the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

A U.S. UH1 Huey military helicopter also took an American combat radio team out of the threatened base.

The removal of all of Sarge's artillery seriously weakened the outpost's main mission of guarding the Quang Tri River valley, a major Communist infiltration route.

Reports from the field said heavy North Vietnamese shelling and ground assaults preceded the airlifting of the big guns and American raddom out of the Sarge base. Heavy rain curtailed U.S. and South Vietnamese air and helicopter counterattacks today. But three waves of U.S. B52s pounded North Vietnamese positions along the DMZ defense line early today, while Communist forces were attacking Sarge and Combat Base Fuller.

Allied military spokesmen said the North Vietnamese carried out their first ground probe of their current offensive toward Fire Base Sarge and hit Combat Base Fuller nearby with 325 rounds of 120mm mortar.

The U.S. command said meanwhile that 13 Americans were killed in battle in Indochina last week.

The North Vietnamese probe toward Fire Base Sarge was halted by South Vietnamese Marines who set up an ambush 500 yards east of the base and killed 11 of the Communists. There were no South Vietnamese casualties.

Break set

GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (UPI)—President Nixon, warmed by the enthusiastic response of 150,000 persons in Illinois, flew to this beautiful mountain wilderness and disclosed today he will ask Congress to give a tax break to donors of property for conservation purposes.

The President interrupted a cross-country swing with political overtones to join thousands of other American tourists in viewing the rugged scenic wonders of Grand Teton National Park.

Before traveling to Dallas, Tex., this afternoon to address the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Nixon booked a boat trip on Jackson Lake, noted for its cutthroat trout.

He timed a statement on the federal government program to promote parkland and recreational areas.

Tokyo stocks mart plunges

By United Press International

The world monetary crisis over the "floating" of the U.S. dollar sent prices plunging on the Tokyo Stock Market today for the fourth day in what a broker called the worst panic since World War II. The Hong Kong Market suspended trading in Japanese Yen in expectation it would be revalued. Most European currency markets remained closed while political and economic leaders met urgently to work out a united policy. West Germany and France were in the middle of a deep controversy over methods of dealing with the crisis.

The economic and finance ministers of the European Common Market met today in Brussels to study the situation and British Chancellor of the Exchequer Anthony Barber flew in from London for consultations with the group which Britain expects to join in early 1973.

As they met, Franco-Maria Malfatti, president of the Common Market Commission, called for a European summit conference on the U.S. dollar—a proposal first made by French President Georges Pompidou.

Malfatti said short term solutions to the dollar crisis would not be enough.

The Tokyo market plunge followed reports from Washington that U.S. Treasury Secretary John Connally met with Japanese Ambassador Nobuhiko Uehara and talked about possible revaluation of the yen. Japan denied it was planning to do so but rumors persisted and were also heard in New York.

Events in Japan began giving American tourists a taste of what they already had experienced in Europe with closing of the currency exchanges there. Some hotels limited tourists to $10 purchases of yen.

BOISE (UPI) — Conflicting testimony of an Idaho State Penitentiary administrator and a prison guard illustrated a breakdown of communication among the prison staff in the second day of hearings Wednesday by a governor's special committee investigating conditions that led to the riot.

Glen R. Jeffes, associate superintendent for programs, categorically denied an allegation by Lt. Josef Munch that he had told the officer he was expecting trouble before the riot.

Munch had testified earlier that Jeffes made the remark when Munch requested an additional guard for duty and the request was denied by Jeffes.

Jeffes also denied under oath other guards' allegations that the administration had given the order not to shake down the honor dorm where contraband weapons and tools were found after the riot.

Over half of the inmates who had occupied the "honor dorm" have now been placed in maximum security and identified as "aggliters" in the prison riot last Tuesday.

Jeffes said "there was never a written or oral statement issued" for guards not to inspect cellhouse five, the so-called honor dorm.

Under sharp cross-examination by the committee, Jeffes admitted that there might be a problem of interpretation of orders issued by him to the line officer staff but said to his knowledge his orders had always been carried out by the staff.

Munch had testified that guards didn't follow Jeffes' directives "because we were fed up with him."

Munch said Jeffes was called "Santa Claus" by the inmates for his permissive attitude.

Jeffes admitted under questioning by State Sen. H. Dean Summers, R-Ada, that a staff meeting for control of the honor dorm never materialized because guard attendance was voluntary and the guards chose not to show up.

Another associate superintendent, William Anderson, told the committee that "if the staff had participated as requested in the honor dorm program, it would have been the tightest place in the prison."

He admitted, that in retrospect, the cellhouse where the escape tunnel was discovered, had been a failure and had to be closed.

Anderson also objected to the use of the term honor dorm, calling it "baloney," and said it was really a separate living facility for long-term offenders.

multiple injuries. Damage to the truck was heavy, officers said.

They estimated the time of the accident as shortly before 1 a.m., with the Gooding County sheriff's office notified at 12:59 a.m. Assisting with the investigation were State Patrolman James Finch, Gooding Sheriff Earl Brown and Deputy Bill Bunn.

Deputy Bill Bunn said he believes the Idaho Department of Highways should provide better signing for the detour area as a number of accidents have occurred at this same site in recent weeks including one in which five persons were injured fatally. He said with all traffic funneled into the westbound traffic lanes, drivers are in the detour area before they realize they are going to be meeting oncoming traffic without a safety divider.

Driver dies in head-on crash

GLENN'S FERRY — Funeral services for L. S. (Mike) Utlican, 52, Glenn's Ferry resident and Twin Falls businessman who was killed early Wednesday in a car and truck accident near Wendell, will be conducted Friday at 2 p.m. in Glenn's Ferry.

Utlican was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Benedict's Hospital, Jerome, where he was taken by ambulance at 1:30 a.m. He had operated the Stockgrowers Commission Co., Twin Falls, for a number of years.

Investigating Gooding County officers said Utlican was driving west on Interstate 80-N at the construction site about two miles east of Wendell when his vehicle went out of control as he entered a construction site detour. Deputy Sheriff Dale Bunn said it appeared the front wheel dropped from the narrow pavement on the detour road and he pulled the late model sedan back onto the highway and into the path of an oncoming semi-truck and trailer driven by Charles Fowler, age unknown, Fremont, Neb. Officer Bunn said Fowler was east bound on the detour section and was accompanied by relief driver James Wheeler, 45, Council Bluffs, Iowa, who was asleep in the sleeper of the truck.

Fowler escaped injury and Wheeler was treated for a knee injury and released at the Jerome Hospital. Bunn said the Utlican vehicle was demolished but neither the car or truck overturned from the impact. Utlican was thrown from his automobile and suffered

Auto makers follow suit

DETROIT (UPI)—One by one, the big three auto companies fell into line by announcing they would sell their 1972 model vehicles at 1971 prices during the wage-price freeze—only to be upstaged for the second time in two weeks by American Motors Corp.

Chrysler Corp., following the example set Monday by General Motors Corp. and Tuesday by Ford Motor Co., issued its expected announcement Wednesday with company President John J. Riccardo saying that despite its financial situation Chrysler would "live up to the letter and spirit of the President's new economic policies."

"During the 90-day wage and price freeze, our 1972 model prices will remain at the 1971 model levels," Riccardo said.

However, AMC, Detroit's smallest auto maker and the only one which has not disclosed its price policy for 1972 models sold during the 90-day span, preceded Chrysler's move with the announcement in Minneapolis that it is rebating an average $155 in excise taxes to those buying the company's remaining 1971 model cars on or after Aug. 18.

But a company spokesman said no decision had been made on the 7 per cent excise tax on 1972 models, which go on sale in late September.

It was the second sale scoop pulled off by the company in as many weeks.

Health care is studied

BOISE (UPI) — The chairman of a task force formed to study "certificate of need" legislation said today the primary purpose of such a measure would be to hold down the cost of health care.

Alvin Joslyn, Glenn's Ferry, said the legislation would provide for orderly development of medical care facilities and services.

Joslyn said competition in the health care business does not result in stabilization. He said the competition too often means duplication of hospital and equipment services.

"A cobalt machine that is not fully used," Joslyn said, "means higher cost to the patient, and unlike business, you cannot put on a sale advertising cobalt treatment."

The task force meeting at the Rodeway Inn is sponsored by the governor's advisory council on comprehensive health planning through the state department of health.

Welcome to Idaho

IDAHO GOV. Cecil D. Andrus, right, greets President Nixon on arrival at Idaho Falls airport Wednesday. Crowd of some 5,000 greeted President and cheered short speech in which he said Idahoans are "lucky to be living where there's clean air and beautiful scenery all around." President flew to Grand Teton National Park for overnight visit. (UPI)

Sealcoating slated Sunday

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls residents and business firms located along Second Avenue East and North from Blue Lakes Boulevard to Addison Avenue must refrain from parking on the street early Sunday, to allow an Idaho Highway Department sealcoating project.

Harry Hubbard, Shoshone, district maintenance superintendent, said the crews will require about four hours to sealcoat the street, beginning about 9 a.m. Sunday and, unless unforeseen difficulties develop, finishing about 1 p.m.

The work is being scheduled on Sunday because of the lighter traffic at that time, Hubbard said.

Travelers should also avoid using the street when possible during the sealcoating work, though a pilot car will be provided to guide motorists around the work crews.

"Parking is our main problem," Hubbard explained. "Parked cars have to be moved, either by the owners or with the help of a tow truck."

Americans accept freeze, aide says

By LEE TREMAINE Times-News Writer SEATTLE, Wash. — The "overwhelming majority" of Americans are doing their best to cooperate with the Presidential price-wage freeze, according to a spokesman for the Seattle regional office of the Office of Emergency Preparedness (OEP), designated by President Nixon to handle details of the inflation-war measure.

The OEP office in Seattle has been handling an average of 150 telephone calls every hour over 10 lines with "a very minimal staff," but have received very few complaints of apparent violations, the spokesman told the Times-News.

Answering several questions from Times-News readers, the OEP spokesman said the price freeze specifically exempts all fresh fruits and vegetables. These prices may fluctuate in the grocery stores, but "the minute a product enters the first stage of processing, its price is controlled." The "processing" includes all meat and meat products, and their prices must remain stable during the 90-day freeze, according to the OEP.

The OEP spokesman could not say why President Nixon exempted fresh produce, except that its perishable nature makes prompt sale important. The 10 per cent import tax imposed by President Nixon may be passed along to the consumer without violating the price controls, since the increase is a tax. The "base price" must remain the same, however.

A more complicated calculation is required with individual sales of homes, cars and other personal property, which also come under federal controls.

Old buried chest produces needles

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — An archaeologist succeeded Wednesday in opening an old Spanish "treasure chest" which he found jammed with sail-makers needles.

"It's not a mixed consignment — it's probably 58,582 needles," marine archaeologist Carl J. Clausen half jokingly told Foy Jordan, a stockholder in the Doubleloon Salvage Company which found the chest buried under eight feet of sand off the Florida Coast.

The 410-pound chest, largest such box raised from the ocean depths intact, was believed to have been aboard the Spanish vessel "San Fernando" when it went down in a hurricane off Marathon, Fla., July 16, 1798.

Between 17 and 22 ships of the fleet, which reportedly was returning from Mexico with 15 million pesos in silver, were lost in the storm.

Jordan said further digging into the delicate box will probably turn up other sail-making materials, such as wools and thread, but Clausen said he apparently was not the "San Fernando's" sail repair kit.

"It's got too many needles for one ship — too many needles for one whole fleet," he said.

The needles might have been unwanted merchandise returned from Mexican markets, then dominated by the French, Clausen said, or perhaps was a shipment bound to Spain from China.

Old documents indicate the fleet had 1,300 boxes of silver aboard when the storm hit, but within three months after the disaster all but 200 of them had been recovered.

Jordan said Doubleloon Salvage still wants its 75 per cent of the treasure, as provided by law. He said the stockholders want the needles for their own collections and for museums, not for sale.

Returns

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth C. Bunker returned to Saigon early today from the United States and 10 days of consultations with President Nixon and other administration officials.

Speculation persisted that Bunker soon will be replaced as ambassador by either William E. Sullivan, head of the Washington Vietnam Task Force, or Leonard F. Unger, U.S. ambassador to Thailand.

Primitive area regulations told

TWIN FALLS — Visitors to the Sawtooth Primitive Area were reminded Wednesday by Supervisor Edwin A. Fournier of regulations imposed on all persons using the back country of the Sawtooths.

Forest officials said all trails in the Sawtooth Primitive Area are now open with the exception of two high divides, Mount Cramer and the Imogene Pass. Here some snow remains and officials say it may hamper horseback travel. All mountain lakes are open except those above the 10,000 foot elevation and fishing is listed as good.

Regulations primitive area users must adhere to, Fournier said, include packing out any trash and litter such as bottles, tin cans, foil or other unburnable items. He said it is no longer permissible to bury these items as has been the previous practice.

No motor vehicles of any type are permitted in the area and trash must be packed to disposal areas at the transfer camp or roadhead.

Visitors with pack and saddle horses must take supplemental feed such as hay pellets. This has become necessary, he said, because of the increased use on fragile topsoil and the limited amount of forage in heavily used areas.

Visitors are urged to build campfires only in designated fire circles or where previous campfires have been built as a further precaution to protecting fragile soils. All fires must be out before being left.

Large groups should check in with the district ranger's office to plan travel routes and prevent several large groups camping in the same area to minimize the impact on wilderness environment.

Additional information may be obtained from the Sawtooth Valley Ranger Station, Ketchum; Stanley Ranger Station, Stanley; Lowman Ranger Station, Lowman, or Dutch Creek Ranger Station, Atlanta.

Theft of rings reported

TWIN FALLS — Mike Marrinez, Twin Falls, told city police someone took two diamond rings from the glove compartment of his automobile while it was parked at his place of work.

He said the rings were valued at $405 and were in a small jewelry box locked in the glove compartment. He noticed they were missing when he left for work Tuesday night. The vehicle had been parked at the service station where he works at 306 Blue Lakes Blvd. N.

Two cars crash in TF accident

TWIN FALLS — Damage was estimated at $300 to one vehicle and $400 to another in an accident late Wednesday at the intersection of Walnut Street and Second Avenue East.

Officers said vehicles driven by Kevin F. Mullins, 16, Mountain Home, and Martina Koch, 35, Wendell, collided. Mrs. Koch was charged with failure to yield right of way.

Sportman — Forest fires each year destroy thousands of acres that could provide you with good hunting and fishing. Help preserve your own sport. Use caution in the woods. Prevent forest fires and help keep Idaho Green.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband and I have a running argument about colds. I realize there is scientific evidence that chilling or getting wet does not cause one to "catch cold," and that colds actually are caught from germs passed from person to person.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How many times can a person catch the mumps? If you had them only on one side, can you catch them again? Two pediatricians have told me no, regardless of whether on one side or both.

When you have the mumps, you have the disease; whether you swell on one side or both or whether the disease affects the breasts or the genitals has no bearing on future immunity.

Tickets available for Jerome show

JEROME — Tickets are still available for the County Western music and comedy program which will be held in conjunction with the Jerome County fair events. The show will be held at 8 p.m. Aug. 27 at the fairground and was arranged by the Jerome Booster Club with assistance of the fair board. Proceeds from the sale of the tickets, which may be obtained from Booster members, KART Riallo and many stores in Jerome, will be used by the Boosters for various Jerome School District programs. The program will feature Hank Thompson and his Brazos Valley Boys, singer Mary Taylor and comedian Archie Campbell. Thompson has been said to be one of the few names active in country music that commands much respect and admiration. Whether as a song writer, music publisher or businessman, he is always included on the list of leaders in the country-western music field. Thompson has sold over 30 million records and he and his Brazos Valley Boys were voted country music's number one band for 13 consecutive years. Miss Taylor, who will appear with Thompson, is a dynamic song stylist as well as prolific song writer. She also has a flair for comedy and uses one of the few electric tambourines in existence. Archie Campbell has recorded several records and is best known for his role in the popular television show "Hee Haw."

Freeze called unfair

BOSTON (UPI)—United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock, describing President Nixon's wage-price freeze as "grossly discriminatory against workers," said today the UAW will "strongly consider" terminating its contracts with the nation's car makers if the freeze is extended beyond 90 days.

Woodcock, here to attend a UAW Skilled Trades Conference, told a news conference the freeze is weighted in favor of industry.

"We are asking our legal department to investigate the possibility of suits," Woodcock said, "because we don't understand how the government can tell companies not to pay money already contracted to workers and, instead, tell the companies they can keep that money in their private coffers."

Woodcock predicted the freeze on prices would be ineffective because there is no machinery for enforcement.

"The wage freeze, in contrast, will be enforced by employers who will welcome an opportunity to increase their profits by denying justified wage increases to their workers," he said.

"President Nixon has now sprung into action with a program that is grossly discriminatory against workers, that will have little or no effect—and more likely a negative effect on the economy—because of intolerable level of unemployment and that reflects a perverse order of priorities fully in keeping with traditional Republican adherence to the trickle-down theory," Woodcock said.

Woodcock called the proposed investment tax credit "a huge windfall to industry although it is labeled, in part, as a job development measure."

He said unemployment would not be aided by the President's action because industry would move to utilize more automated equipment rather than hiring more workers.

"The only significant positive element of the program, from the standpoint of employment, is the proposed ending of the excise tax on autos, which we support, provided the tax savings are passed on to consumers," Woodcock said.

"But the President's 5 percent cut in government employment will wipe out more jobs than would be provided even if the combination of excise tax cuts and the import levy were to increase demand for domestically produced cars by as much as 500,000 units," he said.

He added, "If it is the intention of the administration to carry the freeze beyond 90 days, we will seriously consider declaring contracts already negotiated null and void. General Motors and other companies stand to benefit from the concessions they have won (in negotiations with labor)."

"The UAW will postpone until Nov. 20 a special convention it had planned for Sept. 11 in Detroit," he said, in order to expand the agenda to include "all necessary action to protect the integrity of our contracts. The collective bargaining rights of our members and the economic future of both the U.S. and Canada."

"But the President's 5 percent cut in government employment will wipe out more jobs than would be provided even if the combination of excise tax cuts and the import levy were to increase demand for domestically produced cars by as much as 500,000 units," he said.

He added, "If it is the intention of the administration to carry the freeze beyond 90 days, we will seriously consider declaring contracts already negotiated null and void. General Motors and other companies stand to benefit from the concessions they have won (in negotiations with labor)."

"The UAW will postpone until Nov. 20 a special convention it had planned for Sept. 11 in Detroit," he said, in order to expand the agenda to include "all necessary action to protect the integrity of our contracts. The collective bargaining rights of our members and the economic future of both the U.S. and Canada."

Woodcock predicted the freeze on prices would be ineffective because there is no machinery for enforcement.

"The wage freeze, in contrast, will be enforced by employers who will welcome an opportunity to increase their profits by denying justified wage increases to their workers," he said.

"President Nixon has now sprung into action with a program that is grossly discriminatory against workers, that will have little or no effect—and more likely a negative effect on the economy—because of intolerable level of unemployment and that reflects a perverse order of priorities fully in keeping with traditional Republican adherence to the trickle-down theory," Woodcock said.

Woodcock called the proposed investment tax credit "a huge windfall to industry although it is labeled, in part, as a job development measure."

He said unemployment would not be aided by the President's action because industry would move to utilize more automated equipment rather than hiring more workers.

"The only significant positive element of the program, from the standpoint of employment, is the proposed ending of the excise tax on autos, which we support, provided the tax savings are passed on to consumers," Woodcock said.

"But the President's 5 percent cut in government employment will wipe out more jobs than would be provided even if the combination of excise tax cuts and the import levy were to increase demand for domestically produced cars by as much as 500,000 units," he said.

DETROIT (UPI)—Ford Motor Co. spent two days "looking at this situation" before falling in line behind General Motors Corp. and rolling back its tentative 1972 model price to 1971 levels in accordance with President Nixon's 90-day wage-price freeze.

Ford's initial hesitation to follow the example set by GM Monday stemmed from a reluctance to retract price hikes on five of its 1972 models which had involved increased production expenditures, company spokesmen indicated.

The announcement of the Ford price rollback came Tuesday night in a one-sentence statement issued by company President Lee A. Iacocca.

Some seven hours earlier, John Naughton, a Ford vice president and general manager of the Ford division, told newsmen at the company's new model preview that the firm would not retract the price hikes on its Pinto, Torino, Thunderbird, Mustang and Continental Mark IV models until "a lot of things get sorted out in Washington."

Naughton's remarks took observers by surprise as Iacocca had indicated at a news conference preceding GM's price rollback announcement Monday that all of Ford's new cars would be sold at 1971 prices during the 90-day period—even if the company would be forced to "eat some heavy costs" as a result.

President Nixon issued a statement in Washington shortly after Naughton's news conference—praising the auto makers for agreeing to sell 1972 model cars at 1971 prices, saying the auto companies' kind of voluntary cooperation needed to "break the back of inflation."

"The automobile manufacturers have acted with laudable respect for the national interest and with a high sense of responsibility," the President said without mentioning Naughton's remarks.

Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp. have thus far maintained an official silence on the 90-day wage-price freeze but were expected to retain 1971 prices during the period.

Economic policies a 'gift'

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)—Ralph Nader has lent some support to President Nixon's 90-day economy freeze by saying it's "probably a plus" given all the administration's prior defaults and mistakes. But he said it's still so error-laden the plan will do little to help the average worker.

"The President's economic policy amounts to a giant Christmas gift for industry that he hopes will somehow drift down to the working man," Nader said Tuesday night.

"It's hard to measure the impact of Nixon's plan because nobody knows what he will do after the freeze is lifted," Nader said. "But a number of problems are already evident."

Nader said the 10 percent hike in the price of imported goods will "particularly hurt poor people accustomed to buying lower priced, foreign-made products" and said the move might lead to a "retaliatory trade war."

The Nixon policy to cure the ailing dollar "really is a psychological trick," Nader said since it's "wholly memorable, its enforcement would make prohibition, look like kindergarten."

Nader said any economic freeze should be applied across the board if it is to be effective. "Why is there no freeze on profits?" Nader asked. "Why is there no freeze on interest rates? Why are tuition fees in some areas allowed to go up even as the freeze is in effect?"

Nader said an economic plan designed more sincerely to help the consumer would cut taxes at the "lower levels, impose excess-profit taxes on industry and apply many more sharply the antitrust laws."

Irish refugees seek peace

Stable crop grown

GORMANSTOWN, Ireland—Peace of mind does not come easy in Northern Ireland. To find it, thousands have swapped their homes, their jobs, and all they own for little more than a pallet on the floor. To escape her Protestant neighbors, and the sudden gunfire which seemed to come from nowhere, or just to give her four children a night's sleep, Mrs. Kathleen Hodgson, a Roman Catholic, crossed the border into an Irish army camp.

She is one of an estimated 5,000 refugees—Catholic and Protestant alike—who have fled their homeland, leaving behind a heritage of violence and distrust. Since 1969, sporadic outbreaks of trouble have forced the Hodgsons to shuttle back and forth between Belfast and southern refugee camps. Last week more than 2,000 families like the Hodgsons passed into Gormanstown, an air force training base which was hastily converted into an emergency transit camp for refugees on their way to other centers in the south. On Saturday, after a week of disturbances, the Hodgsons took a refugee train from Belfast to Gormanstown. They arrived at the camp tired and dirty, carrying a large plastic bag stuffed with all the clothing they owned.

The conditions were grim. Dinner consisted of one greasy sausage and a cup of tea each. Their accommodations were a cupboard army hut, a row of dusty mattresses on the floor and a few wool blankets, sprinkled with DDT to combat the insects. The Hodgsons were one of 300 Protestant and Catholic families in Belfast's Ardoyne area who were intimidated, burned or flooded out of their homes by gangs of youths of the opposite religion.

The Hodgsons could have stood their ground and refused to leave their house, perhaps even salvaged it, but they had had enough. The two older girls quit their jobs in a clothing factory and son James gave up an opportunity to be an apprentice in carpentry. Mrs. Hodgson gestured around the hut. "I'd rather live like this. I'd rather live on five pounds ($12) a week than have my neighbor call me dirt." "You feel like there's nothing to brighten things, nothing to keep you up."

Lounges in Vegas emptying

LAS VEGAS, Nov. (UPI)—Movie stars and television personalities short on, cash or too long between pictures could always turn to Las Vegas with a nightclub act and earn a bundle to tide them over. Not any more. The national economic dive has all but emptied the immense theater restaurants of the gaudy Las Vegas Strip. Only two or three years ago the Sahara, Dunes, Sands, Tropicana, Stardust, Caesar's Palace, Desert Inn, International, Riviera and the Flamingo packed in tourists and gamblers no matter who was on the bill. Today the boom is over. The Howard Hughes-owned hotels six in all have a $50,000 per week limit on entertainers' salaries. And most of them aren't worth it. One Strip executive said, "The big stars don't draw like they did. The first time Barbra Streisand appeared up here she had a full house. On her second time around you could shoot antelope in the joint."

With Frank Sinatra in retirement, only a handful of stars continue to draw the customers: Elvis Presley, Red Skelton, Johnny Carson, Sammy Davis, Dean Martin, Danny Thomas, Don Rickles with Engelbert Humperdinck and Tom Jones doing better than most.

TV, movie changes drastic

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The juxtaposition of motion pictures and television has undergone a subtle change that eventually will produce considerable impact on movie buff and video viewer alike. From the beginning theater and film stars have been slipping into television.

The switch is obvious because actors are highly visible. Now the creative, behind-the-scenes individuals are invading television. And it is indeed an important trend. ABC-TV announced it has signed such producers and directors as Ray Stark, Frank McCarthy, Francis Ford Coppola and Otto Preminger to make films for the network.

Each film will be a potential pilot for a series. The import of the move is that each man has enjoyed immense success in motion pictures. But with younger directors and producers skimming the celluloid cream, older ones are turning to the tube. One may note that Mike Nichols, Norman Jewison, John Frankenheimer, Alan Pakula, Robert Mulligan and Larry Turman—to name a few—are not among those signing television contracts. It is a curious and confounding situation. At one time television was supposed to supply motion pictures with talent, much as minor league baseball teams served as farms for the major league clubs.

Right program exists, moguls say

NEW YORK (UPI)—Somewhere there must be the perfect children's TV program. The networks wish they knew what it is for the right answer is as rich in rewards as it is in opportunity. You can't rely on the little lighters to tell you what they themselves would consider meets all their hopes and needs. For reasons buried deep in their innocent little minds they will often mislead interviewers by giving them the answers they think they would like to hear. This is charming, but not much help to a producer who really wants to contribute something valuable to children and, at the same time, tap the golden seam of commercials that lies open for those who attract a young audience. If anyone has the right answer this season it might well be George Heilmann who is not only vice-president of children's programming at NBC-TV but moonlights as a college professor and served as chairman of the White House Conference on Children that crisscrossed the country questioning teachers. Out of this wide experience, and an award-studded broadcasting career, Heilmann has conceived "Take A Giant Step" which premieres live on Saturday morning Sept. 11. As he explained it in an interview, today's 7-to-14-year-old age group absorbs more information than any similar generation in history. It is rich in information—but it is poor in experience. It also has its aspirations. "That's something called 'reach,'" he said. "Every child wants to reach for something. That's part of their conditioning. The world prompts them to grow up as fast as possible. They put a boy in long pants as soon as they can, and a girl in grownup dresses with fake fur pieces. But that doesn't mean the kids want adult programs. It doesn't mean they can make value judgments. But if you give them programs one peer group ahead of themselves, they are vitally concerned and can share in the experience. If you are around 10 or 11 you would give anything in the world to be 15 or 16. You don't want to be 20 or 25; you want to be in the next group up." So Heilmann has five 13-to-15-year-old hosts who will conduct the topic of the week—family, machines, beauty or whatever. They will use video tapes, film clips and a fact-filled computer in what will be a largely unrehearsed discussion. Scholastic Magazine and 1.3 million teachers of the National Education Association will, Heilmann hopes, help link-home viewing and classroom discussion of items on the program. "But," he emphasized, "I'm not in education. You might say I'm in entertainment-education!"

Sales soar

HONG KONG (UPI)—The government's revenue from land sales increased to $20 million (U.S.) in fiscal 1969, a jump of more than 300 per cent compared with fiscal 1968.

Hobbies invited for fair display

JEROME — Dr. I. V. Ruebel, superintendent of hobbies at the Jerome County fair, urges area residents to make plans now to enter their hobbies in the competition or for display. The department is open to both adults and juniors and three prizes will be paid along with ribbons issued. Dr. Ruebel noted that all collections and displays will be placed in glass cases. The area will be patrolled each day, the building locked at night and the fairground patrolled. Entries must be in Tuesday, Aug. 24, and will be judged Wednesday, Aug. 25. He stated that there is a wide field including models, dolls, wood carving, antiques, biological sciences, sea shells, coins, glassware, stamps, arrows, guns, cartridges, driftwood, rocks, artifacts and many others. Crafts include models, weaving, woodworking, wood carving, basketry, photography, needle work, leatherwork, taxidermy, physical sciences, sparkle pla, plastics, purses, mosaics, burlap plaster molds and others. Due to the number of avid fly tyers in the county, a hand tied fly class has been added in the crafts division. Entries should not exceed 20 files in this class, Dr. Ruebel said.

If there is not a class for your hobby or craft, bring it for display to encourage others to take advantage of their spare time by creating or gathering items of interest, Dr. Ruebel stated. Sam Eakin has an outstanding photography display; Mrs. Ted Chambers, collection of miniatures; Mrs. Lawrence Moore, collection of miniature nurses; Dr. Robert Thackeray and Mr. Dobbs, wood carving; C. K. Ricketts, collection of artifacts including Folsom points and also wood carvings; Elliott Rice, woodworking, pieces, and Ralph Peters, collection of rock spheres.

Signs of the times

200 Idaho families asked to help in study

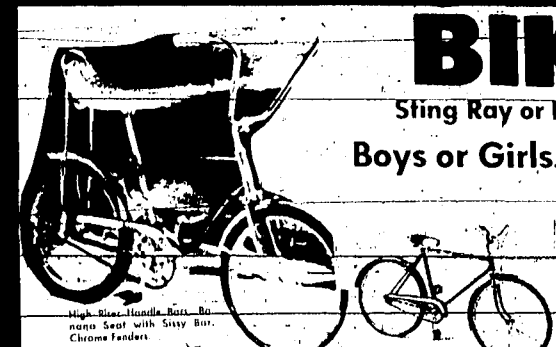

BOISE — Two hundred Idaho families are receiving letters this week from Gov. Cecil Andrus' office outlining a project being conducted by the Idaho Department of Parks. The governor said the families will be asked to participate in a continuing study of the state's recreational resources and needs by recording their own recreational interests and preferences. Merle Derdall, park planner with the state parks office, heads the study which is part of the statewide comprehensive outdoor recreation plan. He said this plan will be used by the Federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation as a guide in selecting local and state projects which will be given federal financial assistance under the Land and Water Conservation Fund. In the last five years, the Land and Water Conservation fund has totaled nearly $5,000,000 and has assisted the state in undertaking 105 recreation projects, ranging from acquisition of the Boise Greenbelt lands and other city parks throughout the state, to the development of the Bruneau Dunes State Park and the recently-opened Three Island Crossing State Park at Glenns Ferry.

Labor leaders defiant over freeze on wages

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration's pleas for a moratorium on strikes continued to draw defiance from organized labor today. There was even a suggestion from one union chief that all American workers should strike for one day to protest the freeze on wages.

The AFL-CIO executive council today scheduled a closed meeting with administration representatives who hoped to explain President Nixon's new economic policies and stem the growing union rebellion.

But the administration's request that all current strikes be ended and that no new ones be initiated during the 90-day economic freeze provoked more criticism than cooperation.

Leaders of the United Auto Workers urged that the AFL-CIO and the Teamsters union join the UAW in "action to mobilize the entire American labor movement against the Nixon order." The UAW and the Teamsters do not belong to the big labor federation.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock said Wednesday his union would cancel its contracts with the automakers if Nixon extends the wage-price rent freeze beyond its scheduled Nov. 12 expiration date. Such a cancellation would presumably mean an economically disastrous auto strike.

"We don't understand how the government can tell companies not to pay money already contracted to workers and instead tell the companies they can keep that money in their private coffers," Woodcock said.

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson said, "we intend to continue our policy of urging strikers to go back to work and negotiate, but we have no intention at the present time of using sanctions." His reference to sanctions involved a hint the government made Tuesday that it might seek court orders or fines to stop strikes which it feels threaten economic stability during the 90-day period.

Administration officials said Wednesday the government had only limited authority to actually end strikes.

Nixon welcomed by big I.F. crowd

IDAHO FALLS (UPI)—President Nixon told a cheering and sometimes laughing audience of more than 10,000 during a 35-minute airport stop Wednesday of his hopes for peace and prosperity and asked their help to build a stronger America.

Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, a Democrat, led a protocol party greeting the President when he touched down at Fanning Field in Air Force One.

Other key officials to welcome the President and his daughter Julie Eisenhower included Idaho Sens. Frank Church and Len Jordan, Rep. Orval Hansen, and Idaho Falls mayor S. Eddie Pedersen.

Idaho's other Congressman, James A. McClure, was in McColl and unable to arrange for last-minute transportation to Idaho Falls.

Nixon introduced his official greeting party to the crowd, cracking jokes about most of them, and then made a hand-shaking tour along the wire fence, stopping once to be serenaded by the "Freedom Singers" of Ricks College at Rexburg, Idaho.

After listening to a rendition of "We Are America" Nixon warmly applauded the glee club and shook hands with many of the members reaching up above his head to a platform to do so.

Throughout his airport visit Nixon received warm applause and a reduction from a shirt-sleeved crowd that stood in 90-plus temperatures more than two hours and created two-mile traffic jams leading to the airport.

Before he took off in a helicopter for Grand Teton National Park in Wyoming the President told the crowd of his trip west from New York City through Springfield, Ill., and across the cornbelt, the plains and the mountains.

He recalled the rugged pioneers and frontiersmen who came west 100 years ago to build a new life in the American tradition and said this is a success formula the nation needs to reassert today.

"That's the kind of spirit that developed the west—that's the kind of spirit America needs today," he said.

Addressing himself to the young in the crowd he said he hoped to build for a whole generation of peace and said his forthcoming trip to Peking will be a step in that direction.

Nixon started off his remarks with a quip when he introduced Andrus, saying "He's from Boise, treat him real nice." While the crowd was still chuckling he brought Church up on the platform with him and noted he also was from Boise.

When it came time to introduce the mayor of Idaho Falls he said, "The mayor I know is from Boise," and then Pedersen responded by saying, "It's really something to go to Boise for a mayor of Idaho Falls."

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton, who came in on a Lear jet 41 minutes ahead of the President, was also in the official welcoming party and spoke briefly to newsmen, commenting on his efforts to stop pollution threats in the Four Corners area of Arizona, Utah, New Mexico and Colorado.

He said his hope was for non-polluting industries in the area and said if they are not clean by New Mexico standards it will be up to New Mexico to shut them down.

"If they can't meet federal standards, it's up to us to shut them down," Morton said.

Nixon, the sixth President in history to visit Idaho Falls, was making his second stop in this East Idaho city of 30,000.

He spoke here in 1954 while he was Vice President and he said the reception was considerably less exciting than Wednesday's.

Egypt, Libya, Syria set political pact

DAMASCUS (UPI)—The leaders of Egypt, Libya and Syria have agreed to sign a constitution Friday linking their nations in a federation.

Political sources said today that after the signing establishing the Federation of Arab Republic, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat will go to Saudi Arabia for talks with King Faisal in the first visit there by an Egyptian leader since Gamal Abdel Nasser went to Jeddah in 1964.

Omar Sakkat, Saudi Arabian minister of state for foreign affairs, drove to Damascus from Beirut Wednesday night and delivered an "important message" from Faisal, the sources said. There was no indication of its contents. Faisal was in Cairo in June to discuss the Jordanian-Palestinian guerrilla crisis.

Sadat, head of the Arab world's farming state, opened a summit conference in the Syrian capital Wednesday night with Libyan Premier Muammar Khadafi and Syrian President Hafez Assad. Their talks were continuing today.

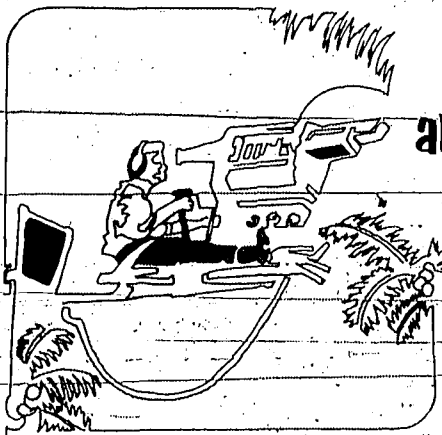

Political sources said the tense border situation between Jordan and Syria, which engaged in brief tank duels last week, and the crisis between Jordan and the Palestinian guerrillas there also was discussed during the 90-minute first round.

Violation of freeze reported

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—One of the first reported violators of President Nixon's wage-price freeze is an elderly coin laundry operator who says "It's either this or welfare."

Edward Sullivan, 70, of suburban Fairmount, was reported to the Office of Emergency Preparedness in New York City Wednesday by a couple who objected that Sullivan raised his prices a nickel on some machines and 15 cents on others.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stanbury of nearby Solway complained that the price hike at the Jolly Washer, Inc., would cost them another $8 over the 90-day freeze period.

A Lovelier You

MISS TEEN GIVES A PARTY

By Mary Sue Miller

A Teen Lovelier writes: I am going to give a party for my friends before we go our separate ways back to school. Mother says I have to do it all myself and it will be a first. I'm nervous. Have you any suggestions?

The Answer: The secret of entertaining, and many adults wish they knew it, is a light-hearted approach. If you fidget over the outcome, you get a case of party-giver's jitters. And the ailment causes you to act nervous with your guests, like a mother hen with chicks. This puts a pall on a party at the outset. Guests cannot be pecked into enjoying themselves. They can relax and have fun only if you relax and have fun.

To give a real bash, let your sense of fun come to the fore. There's nothing like it to spark clever planning and the maneuvering of guests. Here's an entertainment scheme, just to get you in the swing:

Aim to make the party simple, with an imaginative touch. For instance try hamburger lollipops on bamboo sticks. . . . Make all possible preparations in advance with regard to refreshments, decorations and table service. . . . Have a flexible plan of entertainment with some new records on tap.

On the day before the party do your hair and nails. . . . Dress for it, so that you have 15 minutes to spare before guests arrive. . . . Greet guests as they arrive, and introduce strangers at once. . . . Shure your attentions, never huddle with a chosen few. . . . Get the shy to mixing.

That way you're sure to have a 4-star party.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The women's liberation movement has opened fire on colleges and universities having quotas on the number of females admitted.

Many males admitted have lower college board examination scores than females who were denied admission because of the "quota system," says National Education Association task force on students rights and responsibilities. The task force called for an open admissions policy, demanding that no institution of education at any level deny admission or access to any applicant because of "race, age, marital status, national origin, physical handicaps, previous criminal record, previous political activity, or sex."

BUHL — The Buhl First Baptist church was the scene for the Aug. 7 double-ring wedding rites of Connie Lea Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Hicks, Buhl, and Alan R. Kinyon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Kinyon, Castledorf.

The afternoon candlelight nuptials were solemnized by Rev. John Garrabrant, Jerome Methodist minister. A three piece candelabra enhanced by lavender gladioli, orchid pom poms, turquoise carnations and purple statice and ferns, with lavender candles graced the altar. The three front pews were marked with lavender bows centered with orchid gladioli.

Mrs. Tom Fleming, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. John Forland, Moscow, sorority sister of the bride, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and the bride, who sang "For All We Know."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of white satin peau de soie. A scooped neckline detailed with lace applique and seed pearl highlights, and petit point sleeves were features of the fitted bodice. Miniature self-covered buttons accented the wrists and back of the gown. Lace appliques with seed pearl trim are repeated on the front of the softly pleated skirt. The back waistline plunged to a V releasing a train of split panels adorned with lace applique and pearls. The gown was the one worn by the bride's sister, Mrs. Owen D. Pipal, Boise, on her wedding day.

Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion cascaded from a satin bow adorned with lace and seed pearls. She carried a crescent cascade bouquet of orchid pom poms variegated phloxendron centered with lavender glamelas.

For a token of sentiment, the bride carried a handmade linen handkerchief, a gift from her great-grandmother, Mrs. Alberta Ewing.

Mrs. Owen Pipal, Boise, sister of the bride was matron of honor. Vicki Hall, Caldwell, Diane Dishman, Boise, sorority sisters of the bride, Lisa Kinyon, Castledorf, cousin of the bridegroom and Raylene Kinyon, Castledorf, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids.

DEAR ABBY: Our son [I'll call him "Rick"] is in high school. Rick and a classmate are best friends. This friend has always been extremely courteous and seemed to be a model lad in every respect. My husband and I were pleased that Rick had chosen a boy of such fine character to pal around with.

Rick's friend went away for a vacation and yesterday Rick received a letter from him. While straightening Rick's room I saw the letter lying on his desk. Without meaning to pry, and because I had a genuine interest in knowing how the friend was getting along, I read the letter and now I wish I hadn't.

Such foul language! I was shocked and revolted. I actually felt contaminated. Could this be the same young man I know and admire? Is this the boy the boy and our son use together? Why do young people feel they have to use dirty words to express themselves?

Altho' I know I am prejudiced, I don't think I will ever feel the same toward that boy again. However I don't want to alienate my son.

How do I handle this situation? RICK'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: What's to handle? The offensive language was not intended for your eyes. Young people, and some older ones, talk "dirty" because it makes them feel unrestricted and "grown up."

Say nothing to your son about it. And in the future, Mother, if you want to know how any of Rick's friends are getting along, ask Rick.

DEAR ABBY: Would you believe that my wife got an overdraft notice from the bank informing her that she was $17.88 overdrawn in her checking account, so she sat down and wrote out a CHECK for $17.88 to cover it and mailed it to the bank? LOVE HER ANYWAY

DEAR LOVE: With some of the mail I get, I can believe anything.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "INDEPENDENT WIDOW" whose big beef was "stupid" waitresses who ask two women who are traveling together, "Separate checks?" The waitress should KNOW that under the circumstances each lady pays her own way, so why embarrass them by asking?

Look lady, I've been slinging hash for 17 years, and I'm still not able to read minds.

How am I supposed to know if you are "travelling together"? For all I know, you could be sisters!

How would YOU like to wait tables when it's 102 degrees outside and the air conditioner breaks down, the bus boy doesn't show up, the new girl is crying in the back because some creep chewed her out because he found a piece of tin foil in his baked potato, people are waiting at the cash register, and to top it all, two little old ladies tell you they wanted separate checks after you already put everything on one?

I say, "Ask-and-you-shall-receive!" DEAD TIRED AT BIG DADDY'S

DEAR ABBY: You answered an inquiry by stating, "—in spite of all the women's 'libbing it up' it's still a man's world."

I maintain that just the opposite is true, and here's proof:

When a MAN is born, everyone asks, "How is the mother?"

When a MAN marries, they ask, "How did the bride look?"

And when a MAN dies, they ask, "How much money did he leave her?" NUF SED

TWIN FALLS — Too many excessive rate and depth of under water before diving can cause a blackout and possibly drowning, warns the American Red Cross.

"Deep breathing can cause hyperventilation," according to Robert M. Oswald, national director of the Red Cross safety program. Hyperventilation, he said, is a term used to describe the condition created by an under water for a long period after hyperventilating, a considerable amount of time may elapse before the carbon dioxide level, which has been reduced by deep breathing, will provide a strong stimulus to resume breathing. The oxygen level in the body may also be lowered to a point where the swimmer will lose consciousness before he feels the urge to breathe, Oswald said.

When a blackout occurs after hyperventilation, warns Oswald, the swimmer will drown unless there is someone around to assist him to the surface.

Particular concern is voiced by Oswald that this same physiological condition can occur when adults or children compete to see how long they can stay under water.

Magic Valley

TWIN FALLS — Petitions calling for a regional airport authority election in eight Magic Valley counties were presented Wednesday to Idaho Director of Aeronautics Darrell Manning.

George Forschler, Burley, chairman of the Interim Airport Commission, presented the petitions collected from Twin Falls, Jerome, Cassia, Minidoka, Lincoln, Gooding, Blaine and Cassia counties.

Forschler said he did not know the total number of signatures from each county as some counties had not listed the totals, but each county has checked the petitions and verified the minimum five per cent of registered voters and certified them as authentic.

In addition to Manning, the Wednesday lunch meeting at the Holiday Inn, Twin Falls, was attended by John Croner, assistant attorney general, and Ron Stephens, assistant secretary of state, both Boise. Both are specialists on Idaho election laws.

Representatives were present from all eight counties and while no specific date for the election to establish the regional airport authority was recommended, Twin-Falls County Commission Chairman William Chancey asked for a chance to prepare for the election. The election must be set by the director of aeronautics within 60 days after filing the petitions.

Croner said there is nothing legally wrong with holding the elections on the same day as the municipal elections, Nov. 2, but said it would be confusing to say the least. Several county and city officials have already objected because county and city voters would be voting at the same time on separate issues and through separate election boards.

Manning said he will call the election for a Tuesday, giving county officials about 60 days to prepare for the election. He will announce a date soon.

Interim Airport Commission members stressed the first step toward regional airport concept is to get the election to carry in all eight counties which will give the area a permanent commission with operating funds to further efforts toward the regional airport.

Forschler said the initial election does not mean any financial obligations for the counties but paves the way for a feasibility study of the situation by the regional airport authority to determine if the project shall be carried to fulfillment and how financing shall be assigned.

A second election would then be held for a bond issue to finance the construction, he said. A study in 1967 estimated costs of a regional airport at the site just north of the Snake River in Jerome County and Near Interstate 80-N and U.S. Highway 93 at $5 million.

Forschler said a more accurate cost estimate would have to await engineering studies.

Clayton Stewart, South Idaho Chamber of Commerce, said this group has endorsed the proposal and the Sun Valley Resort will be in full support of creating the authority through the coming election.

Twin Falls County Commission members questioned the project financing as did Cassia County officials. Chancey said it is his understanding as a result of a county legal opinion the counties can be assessed one mill each if the coming election carries, "just for financing the authority's existence." An attorney general's opinion was requested of Croner and will be provided soon.

Levy defeat result eyed

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News Writer

RUPERT — The defeat of the five-mill maintenance-and-operation levy in the Minidoka School District could have wider implications than most voters realize, according to Dr. Darrell J. Hatfield, district superintendent.

District voters defeated the levy by a margin of 57.48 per cent opposed to 42.52 per cent in favor in Tuesday's election, Dr. Hatfield said.

One precinct, voting at the Haslam residence, however, approved the levy by a margin of 15 in favor to 13 opposed. The Lincoln School precinct, by contrast, was strongly opposed, casting 216 votes against the measure to 161 in favor, while the Acequia precinct tallied 56 votes in favor and 56 votes against the levy.

trustees for Monday evening to discuss the problem.

The levy would have allowed reduction of the district's deficit which is as high as it can go under state law at the present time. "We have been running about $160,000 behind, borrowing on tax anticipation notes, for the last 10 years, but the total is up to nearly $200,000 now," Dr. Hatfield said. State law sets the maximum for the district at $100,000.

Should the district need to borrow again, for unexpected expenses, some other route would have to be found.

In addition, reduction of the district's debt could have allowed a salary increase for teachers during the 1972-73 school year, Dr. Hatfield said. Defeat of the levy closes this avenue, he added.

The voters "voted themselves a two-mill decrease in taxes, and maybe a five-mill decrease," the superintendent added. The district's two-mill levy for bonded indebtedness has expired, with repayment of the debt. In addition, the three-mill emergency levy "may not be levied," depending on further consideration of the financial picture.

Dr. Hatfield said he had no idea why the voters defeated the levy, other than the usual complaint about tax increases.

Recall considered on Orofino city council

OROFINO (UPI) — The stage has been set for the possible recall of most of Orofino's City Council, including the mayor. District Judge Tom Felton recently validated the December, 1969, annexation of the Riverside area into Orofino.

Recall petitions for city officials, including Mayor A. B.

Curtis, have been on file in the city clerk's office since March, 1970, but have remained dormant waiting for a decision whether the petitioners were citizens of Orofino.

The situation is very similar to the one in Lawiston in which six of the seven council members were recalled last year following annexation of the Lawiston Orchards area. Both annexations took place at about the same time — December, 1960 — just under the gun to get the annexed areas counted as part of their respective city's population during the 1970 census.

Event draws crowd

BURLEY — Buck Owens and other country and western music stars drew a turnout of more than 4,400 persons to the jamboree which wound up the opening night of the Cassia County Fair — Wednesday.

Owens and the group received a standing ovation at the close of the performance and responded with a couple of encores.

Today, the first 10 race parmutel horse races were run during the afternoon. The races will continue through Saturday, with post time at 1 p.m.

The first performance of the annual rodeo is set for 8 p.m. today. It will continue through Saturday, when the selection of a new rodeo queen will be a highlight of the program. Friday evening will be "kids night" at the rodeo.

Another highlight of today's activities was the annual fair parade, conducted this morning.

Other major events during the fair are the 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America (FFA) stock sale, scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the little arena on the fairgrounds, and the grand-champion competition in all divisions of livestock, set for 3 p.m. Friday.

Wide area blackened

SHOSHONE — Between 12,000 and 13,000 acres of range land burned Wednesday afternoon five miles west of Eden.

Pete Arrossa, assistant fire control officer for the Bureau of Land Management in Shoshone, said the fire started at 3 p.m. and was apparently man-caused. BLM crews put the fire out by 5:30 p.m.

Arrossa said this is the only major fire of the past week. There have been about three small fires since Monday.

Air pollution 121 index

The pollution reading was taken by the staff of the South Central Health District at the Twin Falls City Hall. The reading is expected at the number of micrograms of particulate material per cubic meter of air for the 24-hour period.

Federal pollution regulations say pollution levels should be kept below 75 micrograms per cubic meter per 24-hour period, and should not be permitted to rise above 260 micrograms for even a short period of time.

Forecast

Today: Good

Tonight: Poor

Tomorrow: Good

This forecast provided by the Idaho Department of Health indicates the ability of the atmosphere to disperse pollution. Burning as permitted by law should be curtailed when the air is poorly able to disperse air pollutants.

MAKING PLANS for an art show Friday through Monday at Giacobbi Shopping Mall in Ketchum are, from left, Bonnie Kelm, chairman of the show, and Mrs. Araceta Ratto, assistant. Entries will be accepted from 10 a.m. Friday through the exhibit closing Sunday. Even though the wagon day parades for this weekend have been canceled, the art show and American Quarter Horse show will be held Sunday as scheduled.

Child aid role set for center

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Len Jordan, R-Idaho, announced Wednesday that the land formerly used for the Mountain Home Job Corps Civilian Conservation Center is to be turned into a special facility for rehabilitation of emotionally disturbed children.

The 150 acres of land near Mountain Home includes a residential treatment center, medical facilities and academic and vocational classroom space.

Jordan said that the general services administration has turned over to the property to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for operation by the director of Edgemont Centers.

Agency marks time on plan

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission is marking time until it finds out whether utility rate increases proposed by the Idaho Water Co. will be permitted during the federal government's 90-day price-wage freeze.

Idaho Water Co. has proposed increases of about 100 per cent for local residents.

However, Harry Nock, Boise, a member of the commission, said clarification on the wage-price freeze as it applies to utilities is expected within a few days from Washington, D.C.

Elmore fair set for Glens Ferry

KING HILL — The Elmore County Fair is set for Aug. 26-29 in Glens Ferry.

Mrs. Marilyn Jordan, Elmore County home extension agent, said all fair superintendents should arrive by Aug. 24.

They will receive instruction on checking and judging items. All items except baked foods, flowers, grange, garden and farm produce should be checked in from 2 to 8 p.m. Aug. 25. Judging will begin at 9:45 a.m. Aug. 26.

Flowers, garden and farm produce, and grange booths must be registered from 9 to 9:30 a.m. on August 25 and judging will begin at 9:45 a.m. that same day.

The fair will include livestock, open class exhibits, horsemanship presentation, 4-H exhibits, carnival and commercial displays.

Parimutuel horse races are scheduled the final three days of the fair. Post times will be 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 1 p.m. on Sunday.

Questions, answers on freeze

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Office of Emergency Preparedness has provided its regional offices with the following questions and answers to help settle queries from the public about the wage-price-rent freeze:

Q. Are prices of used commodities, such as used cars, antiques, and resales of housing included in the freeze?

A. Yes.

Q. Are fees for professional services such as doctors and lawyers included?

A. Yes. No increases in rates or fees for particular services are permitted during the freeze.

Q. How does the freeze affect people who work on commission or piece rate?

A. The commission rate or piece rate cannot be increased over that existing in the base period (the previous 30 days).

Q. Will the wage-price freeze apply to insurance rates?

A. Yes.

Q. Are rates charged by common carriers and public utilities included in the freeze?

A. Yes.

A. Yes.

Q. Are stock and bond prices included in the freeze?

A. No.

Q. Are interest rates included in the freeze?

A. No.

Q. Are price increases that have already been announced to take effect in the future subject to the freeze?

A. Yes. All price increases must be controlled.

Q. Are deferred wage or salary increases which have been negotiated to take effect in the future permitted by the freeze?

A. No.

Q. Are future cost-of-living increases built into wage contracts or provided by management exempt?

A. No. There will be no cost-of-living increases during the 90-day freeze.

Q. Are increases in pensions permitted to take effect?

A. Yes, these are not payments for services rendered.

Q. Are previously announced increased tuition rates for the 1971-72 school year permitted by the freeze?

A. Yes. These are considered transaction prices, since commitments have been made and there are a number of cases where payments have been made.

Q. If farm prices of "raw agricultural products" are exempt does this exemption of raw products follow through to retail?

A. Yes.

Q. At what point do controls apply to agricultural products?

A. At the point of initial processing.

Q. Are state and local tax rates frozen during this period?

A. No.

Q. In cases where surcharges or other sales or excise taxes have been increased, is the ceiling for the price paid by the customer (including these taxes) raised by a like amount?

A. Yes. The price the customer pays is equal to the base, which remains unchanged during the ceiling, plus these taxes.

Q. Are wage increases under apprenticeship contracts approved by the Department of Labor frozen?

A. Such increases may be permitted only in accordance with the terms of the apprenticeship agreement up to and including the top step of the agreement. Increases beyond that step are prohibited under the freeze.

Q. How will rent ceiling be determined for units not previously rented before freeze dates?

A. Standard should be general prevailing rents for comparable units in the immediate area.

Q. How do you price new products?

A. Use the price of the most nearly comparable product sold by your closest comparable

US-Japan relations deteriorate

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Analyst
A measure of deteriorating relations between the United States and Japan may be drawn from increasing comparative references to Pearl Harbor.

An American businessman may use it in a discussion of Japan's mammoth trade advantage in dealings with the United States.

Until announcement of President Nixon's new economic program the U.S. unfavorable balance-of-trade with Japan was expected to come to around $2.5 billion in this year alone, twice the total in 1970.

A Japanese may use it in melancholy reference to a mounting wall of misunderstandings and suspicion.

That the tragic events of 30 years ago should now be recalled between the two nations that have become the chief guardians of peace in the Pacific is in itself a warning signal to both.

Japan, as the world's third greatest economic power, has been remarkably insensitive to

United States problems brought on by a stumbling economy and mounting unemployment.

On the other hand the United States showed little regard for the government of Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato when with virtually no warning at all it suddenly announced President Nixon's plan to visit Peking sometime between now and next May.

A second unpleasant surprise came in the announcement of the new economic program permitting the U.S. dollar to "float" and erecting a 10 percent surtax wall against foreign imports.

The first action could cost Sato his job. It gave new voice to powerful forces in Japan long in favor of closer ties to the Chinese mainland and undercut Sato who had given unwavering support to the previous U.S. policy favoring the Formosa government of generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

On the economic side is the still unsettled question of Japanese textile exports to the United States and attempts by the Japanese government to work out a system of voluntary cutbacks by an industry largely independent of government influence.

A Japanese promise to work out an eight-point program of liberalization of its trade policies so far has met with indifference success, mostly because of opposition within Japanese industry.

While Japan anticipated going upward, U.S. action to bolster the economy, the severity of the Nixon program came as a surprise. In the first two days after the President's announcement, the Bank of Japan put out around $1.5 billion in support of the U.S. dollar.

Official estimates placed the cost of U.S. surcharges to Japan at $2.5 billion or more. New problems lay ahead. One concern anticipates new pressures from European Community Market countries that Japan revalue its currency.

Another was next month's scheduled Cabinet-level meeting in Washington to discuss economic problems to which new issues have been added.

Banker supports socialism

By LEROY POPE
UPI Business Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — Of all persons, a banking economist has come out in favor of socializing the nation's water resources.
Dudley D. Johnson of First National City Bank in New York isn't even bashful about it. He boldly urged in an article in the Virginia Law Review that all water rights be appropriated by the states and allocated by public authorities.
Far from being irritated by their economist's venture into the wet fringes of Marxism, Johnson's superiors at the bank publicized his views.

Johnson does believe present private owners of valuable water supplies should be compensated but he says, in the future no one but the national and state governments should own water and everyone who uses water should pay for it.
That includes barge lines and other operators of commercial vessels, farmers who draw clean water out of streams for irrigation and perhaps return it to the stream with polluting fertilizer traces in it and all industries that consume or damage water and of course all the homeowners and other ordinary consumers.

The only persons who wouldn't have to pay more for water under Johnson's proposal would be the bathers, campers, pleasure boaters and sport fishermen. He thinks they pay enough now.
He is convinced that, under the present antiquated federal state and local laws governing water, the cost is so badly apportioned that there is no practical way to finance decent water control and clean up stream-and-lake pollution.

Although his article was concerned with only the nation's fresh waters, Johnson said the problem exists in tidal waters along the coasts and the same drastic solution probably should be applied — rigid state control and making everybody who consumes tidal water or damages it pay.
"Polluting the water is qualitative consumption," he said. "Drinking it or using it for sanitation is quantitative consumption."

Johnson concedes that his plan is a bit staggering in scope and is expensive to enforce. It also would run up the cost of water for industry.
"But it provides a way to make the polluters and reckless users pay," he said. "Since it is based on seeking to put a natural price on pollution and water consumption on the basis of sound economics, it is better than arbitrary laws designed to eliminate all pollution."

Sewer bond vote slated

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — The Coeur d'Alene City Council has voted to hold an election Sept. 21 on the issuance of $400,000 worth of general obligation bonds to finance improvements to the city's sanitary sewer system.
If the bond issue passes, the city will sell the bonds to raise its share of the cost of the project. The Idaho Health Department and the federal government will provide the remainder of the funds for the $1,356,900 sewer project.

Aid effort starts

HONG KONG (UPI) — Authorities launched relief operations Wednesday for thousands of homeless victims of Typhoon Rose which blasted Hong Kong with winds of up to 155 miles per hour and wreaked death and destruction throughout the British crown colony.
At least 123 persons were feared dead. Another 286 persons were injured and at least 6,600 lost their homes or were evacuated during the storm Monday night and Tuesday morning.
Marine police recovered four more bodies from the S.S. Fatsan, a British ferry on the Hong Kong-Macau run, which went down Monday night near the island of Lantau. Four bodies were picked up earlier and four crewmen were known to have survived the disaster, leaving 54 still missing and feared dead. They included four British officers aboard the 2,600-ton Fatsan.

Thirty-seven vessels were driven aground by the storm, including the USS Regulus, a supply ship of the U.S. 7th Fleet.

Mordred Is Foiled Again

Table with bridge scores for North, West, East, and South (D) across various deals.

The 10 and eight of diamonds. He led a heart the first time. There was no way for Mordred to avoid the loss of a heart as well as the two diamonds and the ace of clubs.

"If I had all of Merlin's magic, I could not have made the hand," growled Mordred.

"Foolish!" said Lancelot. "Anyone but you or Mordred (the worst player of the round table) would have won the battle. Let the jack of diamonds hold that first trick and you would never have to lose a heart."

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

CARD Sense

The bidding has been: West North East South Pass Pass Pass Pass. You, South, hold: AKK7 VA2 HKQ9 AK643. What do you do now?

A—Bid five hearts. You have already limited your hand by just going from three to four spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION: Your partner continues to five spades. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Everyone has heard of King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table. What is not generally known is that there were a couple of square tables in the corner where the knights used to play bridge. It was the type of game where it was important to be nice to your partner. Otherwise a partnership argument was likely to wind up in combat with swords and other lethal weapons.

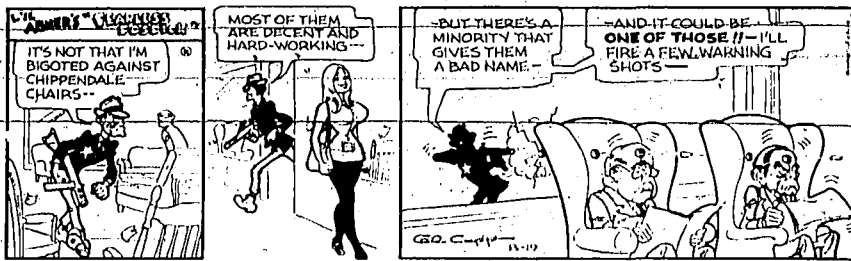

Today's hand finds the peerless Lancelot sitting North with the villainous Mordred, South.

Mordred played dummy's queen of diamonds at trick one. EAST BID an "ace" and Mordred the ace. Eventually East got in twice with Remember that, next Mother's Day.

THE OLDTIME MARINERS figured no cannon could shoot farther than one league. Technically, a league is any distance from 2.4 to 4.6 statute miles. But it came to be recognized as three miles. A Dutchman named Bykershoek in 1703 set down the reasonable notion that any nation ought to be allowed control over all the sea it could cover with cannon shot. Optimistically, maybe a league's worth. A customer asks how we came by the traditional three-mile limit as a boundary around our territorial waters. That's how.

"GETTING MARRIED is a reasonably simple procedure. You get a blood test, go down to the license bureau, pay maybe $5, and that's it. I don't see why when a marriage is on the rocks and every effort to save it has failed you shouldn't go down to a divorce license window and pay $5 for a license signifying your marriage is ended." So writes Clark W. Blackburn, general director of the Family Services Association of America.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: Q. "Which is brighter, a waxing quarter moon or a waning quarter moon?" A. The waxing. But I don't know why. Q. "What's the average age of the married men nationwide?" A. 43.2 years. Average age of the married women is 39.5 years. Q. "Don't lobsters walk backward?" A. They walk forward, swim backward.

THAT G. K. CHESTERTON claimed high heels were invented by a woman who had been kicked on the forehead has been reported. However, Mr. Chesterton was in error. High heels were invented by a man, actually, King Louis XIV—I think—that's debatable—maybe. What's not debatable is men wore high heels before women did so. Such was customary in the royal courts a few centuries ago. Women then wore heels mostly.

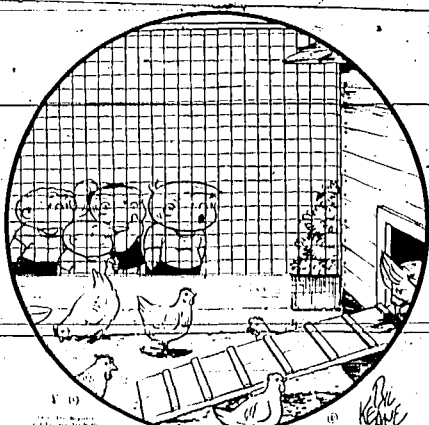

WERE YOU MARRIED in January, February or March? If so, look out. Couples married in those months have the highest divorce rate, according to the Health Insurance Institute. Lowest divorce rate occurs among couples married in June.

Packers place Grabowski on waiver list

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—Jim Grabowski, one half of the Green Bay Packers' million dollar rookie backfield of 1966, was placed on waivers Wednesday after an injury-studded career.

Volleyball team tops Mexico

MIAMI (UPI)—The United States scored its second straight victory in the Olympic volleyball elimination in Havana Wednesday night, defeating Mexico in a match much tougher than the 3-0 score indicated.

"It was just a move we had to make," Packers Coach Dan Devine said. "I was just afraid he was going to get hurt."

Also waived by the Packers were wide receiver Jack Clancy and rookie linebacker Curtis Jones of Missouri.

Grabowski and Donny Anderson were signed by Green Bay in 1966 and estimates on the value of the two contracts combined was more than $1 million. Grabowski was a No. 1 choice in 1966 draft and Anderson had been taken the year before as a junior eligible. The late Vince Lombardi had hoped the two would team as replacements for Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor.

The 6-foot-2, 220-pound Grabowski had broken all of Red Grange's records and six Big Ten records while playing for Illinois.

He won a starting berth with the Packers in 1968 and in the eighth game suffered the first of a series of knee injuries that was to plague him for the rest of his career.

Despite missing the last six games of the season, Grabowski gained 518 yards to lead the Packers runners that season.

Grabowski was acquired on a draft choice obtained from the Detroit Lions as a payment for Detroit's signing of Packers end Ron Kramer, who had played out his option.

Grabowski was acquired on a draft choice obtained from the Detroit Lions as a payment for Detroit's signing of Packers end Ron Kramer, who had played out his option.

Caddy, Clancy was obtained from Miami in a similar deal.

Merv Fleming, who replaced Kramer at tight end, played out his option and signed with the Dolphins. Clancy was given to Green Bay as payment for Fleming. Clancy had shared starting duty with John Spillis last year.

Devine praised Grabowski and his attempt to come back. "We are well aware of the contributions he made to Green Bay football," Devine said. "I like him personally and he's the kind of a guy you like to have playing for you."

The Packers take on the Dolphins Saturday night at Milwaukee and will be trying to snap a two-game exhibition losing string.

LINEBACKER Dennis Blackwood and quarterback Jerry Harbour rank as two of the key cogs in Twin Falls' football hopes this fall. Blackwood earned all-conference honors last year and has grown 10 pounds. Harbour has the quarterback job with his competition last year, Kevin Nelson, being moved to running back first unit.

Orioles erupt for six runs in sixth to overhaul Brewers

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The Baltimore Orioles scored all their runs in the sixth inning Wednesday night with the key blow a bases-loaded double by Dave Johnson to beat the Milwaukee Brewers, 6-4.

With the score tied 3-3, Dave Nelson doubled. Dan Mincher walked and Frank Howard lined a two-bagger to left for a go-ahead run.

After Bernie Allen walked to fill the bases, Jeff Burroughs singled in two runs, Paul Casanova doubled in another and Tim Lincecum tripled in the fifth and sixth runs of the inning. Cullen scored on an infield out and Nelson contributed another triple before the outburst ended.

Milwaukee, playing without manager Dave Bristol who is sitting out the first game of a four-game suspension, tugged Mike Cuellar for single runs in the first and third innings and Brewer pitcher Jim Slaton apparently had things under control until the sixth.

Merv Rettenmund started things with a single and Paul Blair was safe on Andy Kosco's error. After Boog Powell fouled out, Frank Robinson walked, leading the bases. A single by Eliee Hendricks brought home the tying run and Brooks Robinson was walked to set the stage for Johnson's key hit.

The rain came in the last half of the first inning and caused a delay of two hours and nine minutes and the game did not finish until 12:30 a.m. CDT.

Johnson's key hit. Two runs scored on the hit and the bases were loaded again when Mark Belanger was intentionally walked. Cuellar drove home the fifth run of the inning when he was safe on a fielder's choice as Brooks Robinson slid under the tag at home. Rettenmund's groundout scored the final run.

With one out, Jake Gibbs singled and Dick Drago walked. Bobby Murcer. Roy White flied deep to centerfield and both runners advanced before Blomberg lined the first pitch to him for the decisive run.

Minnesota took a 3-0 lead in the third inning when Steve Braun drew a walk and moved to third on a single by Jim Nettles.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Washington Senators ripped off three doubles and a triple before anyone was out in a seven-run eighth inning Wednesday night to defeat the Oakland Athletics, 10-3.

With one out, Jake Gibbs singled and Dick Drago walked. Bobby Murcer. Roy White flied deep to centerfield and both runners advanced before Blomberg lined the first pitch to him for the decisive run.

Minnesota took a 3-0 lead in the third inning when Steve Braun drew a walk and moved to third on a single by Jim Nettles.

Cowboys maintain Phipps impressive

DALLAS (UPI)—Sophomore Mike Phipps' 44.3 per cent completion average for the Cleveland Browns isn't tumbling Dallas-Cowboys Coach Tom Landry into a false sense of security for Friday night's clash between the old rivals in the Cotton Bowl and an national television.

Phipps has completed 27 of 61 passes for 339 yards and two touchdowns in 38-24 and 17-5 losses to San Francisco and Los Angeles and is destined to start against the Cowboys as veteran Bill Nelsen continues to keep his sensitive knees out of combat. Nelsen, who hasn't played a down, may get in for one quarter.

Landry tends to write off the former Florida Gator's relative inexperience at engineering the Browns' offense, one which perennially dealt the Cowboys misery when the two clubs were old division rivals in the National Football League.

"Phipps is a real fine prospect and showed a lot of poise in the Browns' previous two games despite losing both of them," Landry said.

"Besides, his supporting cast is still there," he said in memory of older Browns like running back Leroy Kelly, wide receiver Gary Collins, tight end Milt Morin, guard Gene Hickerson and tackle Dick Schafrath.

"We played a turnover (now hunda) team in Los Angeles and a young team in New Orleans, but the Browns are a veteran, outfit and can be counted on to throw up more blitzes and varied defenses than we have been used to," Allen said.

"After two losses, they probably feel they have to win and will be doing anything they can to win Friday night."

"Offensively," he said, "the Browns run the draw play as well as anyone since both Kelly and (Bo) Supt run inside as well as they go outside. And, that's a good way to slow down a good pass rush."

"I feel sure we'll be seeing more pressure defense than we've seen in our other two games (45-21 and 36-21 victories over Los Angeles and New Orleans)."

The game will be the first preseason meeting between the two clubs, but the Browns hold a 14-5 edge in regular season and post-season play—including a pair of humiliating 31-20 and 38-14 Dallas losses in 1968-69 Eastern Conference playoff games.

Casper trying to beat blues

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Billy Casper won four golf tournaments in 1970, including the IVB Philadelphia Golf Classic he opens defense of Thursday, but he hasn't won any this year and he sums up his play in one word—"bad."

"My swing is bad, my putting is bad, my mental attitude is bad," Casper said before the start of the 72-hole Classic at the suburban Whittemarh Valley Country Club.

With all this going against him, you would think Casper would be discouraged about his chances of repeating his 1970 victory here, which he won by three strokes over Terry Wilcox with a tournament record of 74, 14 under par.

Great Falls sweeps twin bill from Magic Valley

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (UPI) — The Great Falls Giants increased their Pioneer League lead to three games Wednesday night, taking both ends of a twin bill from the Magic Valley Cowboys, 9-1 and 4-0 in Great Falls.

In the nightcap, Dave Fuqua held the Cowboys to just two hits, with a seventh-inning homer by his catcher Luis Camillo winning the game.

In the first game, the Giants also got a complete game out of their starter, as Greg Thayer went the distance to win his seventh game, scattering four hits. Thayer helped his own cause with a bases-loaded double in the third to drive in two runs. Twin Falls 0-0 0-1 4 4 Great Falls 2-0 3 10 X-9 2 Stumpff, Peterson (3); Olsen (6), and Goldwire; Thayer (7-1); L.P. Stumpff (4-4).

Agee's 10th-inning hit lifts Mets to 3-2 win over Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Tommie Agee doubled in the 10th inning and scored on Ken Singleton's base hit to give the New York Mets a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday night.

Danny Frisella got the victory in relief after entering the game in the eighth, when the Dodgers tied the score 2-2. It was his sixth victory against three losses. Jim Brewer, who came into the game in the ninth, was touched for the winning run. His record is now 5-4. Don Sutton started for the Dodgers but left when the Mets tied the game.

In the Dodgers' 10th, pinch-hitter Willie Crawford doubled and got to third on an infield out but Frisella retied the next two batters to gain the win.

The Mets took a 2-0 lead in the third inning on Clean Jones' triple which followed singles by Ray Sadecki and Wayne Garrett.

The Dodgers tied it up in the eighth on singles by Duke Sims and pinch-hitter Bill Sudakis and Mury Willis' second double of the game plus an infield out by Manny Mota.

Sadecki gave up only two hits in the first seven innings but was lifted in the eighth and did not figure in the decision.

Pirates 3, Astros 2

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Milt May's bases-loaded single with none out in the ninth inning Wednesday gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-2 victory over the Houston Astros.

The victory enabled Pittsburgh to remain 5 1/2 games ahead of Chicago which moved into second place, ahead of St. Louis with a 7-2 victory over Atlanta.

Willie Stargell started Pittsburgh's winning rally with a leadoff double off Denny Lemaster. After an intentional walk to Manny Sanguillen, Jim Ray replaced Lemaster and walked Bob Robertson to load the bases. May then singled up the middle to score pinch-runner Gene Clines with the winning run.

Cubs 7, Braves 2

ATLANTA (UPI) — John Callison, batting 105 as he went to the plate, hit his fourth career grand slam home run in the eighth inning Wednesday night to give the Chicago Cubs a 7-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Cleo James, who had scored the Cubs' second run two innings earlier on a single, stolen base, passed ball and balk, drove in the winning run when he singled with the bases-loaded just ahead of Callison who drove hits fourth homer of the season on a high arc over the center field fence.

The Cubs went into the inning with a 2-2 tie but after one out, Billy Williams, who hit his 23rd homer in the sixth inning, and Joe Peptonone had back-to-back singles and Ron Santo was intentionally walked loading the bases.

DICK DITZ drove in two runs with his 14th homer and Russ Gibson added three with his first homer to back the five-hit shutout pitching of John Cumberland Wednesday as the San Francisco Giants defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 7-0, and stretched their latest winning streak to five games.

Willie McCovey was safe leading off the second when Phils first baseman Deron Johnson dropped a throw from second baseman Terry Harmon and Ditz walked with his homer to stake Cumberland to a 2-0 lead.

Philadelphia: 7 runs, 10 hits, 0 errors. San Francisco: 7 runs, 10 hits, 0 errors.

Commission discusses seasons

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Fish and Game Commission met in Boise Wednesday to discuss game bird seasons and trapping regulations for the 1971 and 1972 seasons.

Officials at the Idaho Fish and Game Department said the final ruling on the seasons would be set by the end of the commission's two-day meeting Thursday.

In other action, the commission held its customary open hearing where half of the 20 persons attending appeared because of a rumor circulating concerning goose hunting boundaries around the national wildlife refuge near Lake Lowell.

Citizens said there were speculations that the goose hunting boundary was to be increased.

Commission members said they had received no recommendation for an increase in the boundary around the refuge, and as far as they were concerned it was just a rumor.

Brewer manager suspended and fined by AL president

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Milwaukee Brewers Manager Dave Mark Belanger, the first batter to face Weaver, bunted and was called safe by first base umpire Art Frantz, bringing Bristol from the dugout to protest.

During a brief shoving session, Bristol was restrained by Brewers' second baseman Ron Theobald and other umpires. Bristol tossed a towel from the dugout as he left.

"I'll continue battling for my players and for this town," Bristol said. "They deserve it."

American League President Joe Cronin announced the suspension in Boston.

Brewers General Manager Frank Lane, after conferring with Bristol, named Cal Ermer as interim manager of the club.

"I have until Monday to pay the fine," Bristol chuckled. "But not the time to miss managing," he said.

Bristol has had numerous run-ins with umpires this year and has been ejected from several games.

Tuesday night's ejection was similar to earlier ones and some of the other ejections were cited in the league report.

He said this was the first time he had been suspended in the major league but he had been suspended twice while managing in the minors.

Cronin, in his ruling, referred not only to Tuesday night's game but to a game on July 31 when Bristol allegedly spit tobacco juice on an umpire.

The Orioles had come from behind with an eighth-inning home run by Boog Powell and a ninth-inning blast by Elie Hendricks to take a 3-2 lead.

Asked what he got as a result of that one, he just smiled and answered, "a standing ovation."

Pastorini has starting nod

KERRVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Quarterback Dan Pastorini, who missed several weeks of summer camp while playing for the college All-stars, gets his first starting assignment for the Houston Oilers Saturday against the Philadelphia Eagles.

Pastorini, 23 and 216, was the Oilers' first round draft choice out of Santa Clara where he completed 53.8 per cent of his passes and had 35 touchdown passes. He is expected to play the first two quarters against the Eagles. He has seen brief action in two Oilers exhibition games.

Veteran Charley Johnson and rookie Lynn Dickey of Kansas State will see action in the second half.

Rupert asks appraiser

RUPERT — The Rupert City Council has agreed to call a professional appraiser to determine the cost of leasing some city land to Speck Woolfson according to the appraised value.

Grover Newnam, city councilman, suggested at the council meeting Tuesday night a professional be called to look at the property being leased to Woolfson. Bob Neilson appeared for Woolfson and told council members that Woolfson is now paying $875 over a five year lease plan to the city of Rupert. He said that he is paying $112 for a similar tract of land from the railroad under the same terms.

submitted a $2.275 and Roberts Roofing Co. submitted a bid of $2,105. All bids are to be held until the next meeting in order to study the specifications on the bids already submitted.

Protest has been received from the school district on the cost of the sewage disposal and the council agreed to investigate and decide upon adjustments in the cost if necessary. Councilman Charles Duper explained that the cost for Rupert's sewage disposal is quite high because the city has to pump the sewage to 12 different places and he added that everybody should pay equally for the city's sewage disposal system.

The council received bids from three roofing companies for the repair job on the old armory building. Pace Roofing Co. submitted the low bid of $1,880. Daniels Roofing Co.

Pete Ford from the Lions Club announced to the council the club would participate in various projects with the city but no particular projects were mentioned.

Program popular

ART FOR LOAN throughout the fourth regional library system of Idaho, comprising most of Magic Valley, is displayed here by Nancy Bonnett and Danny Thornton, pages at the Twin Falls Public Library. Now one year old, the program has proven extremely popular, library officials say.

Paintings can be borrowed

TWIN FALLS — In 1970 the Twin Falls Public Library and several other libraries around the state began making framed reproductions of famous paintings available on a lending basis much as book lending has been carried on for many years.

The program has become increasingly popular with many librarians taking advantage of the loans to change their home decor and to exhibit good art in their homes, Robert Bruce, Twin Falls librarian, said.

Additional paintings are being added to the collection and similar reproductions are now available for regional libraries, Bruce said. The program is made possible through state aid and sponsored by the Idaho State Library. As a result, paintings previously available only to patrons served by larger city libraries are being made available to patrons of smaller libraries which comprise the six regions of Idaho. Residents of Twin Falls, Gooding, Jerome, Buhl, Hagerman and Richfield may now take advantage of the service, Bruce said.

One careless act can turn a technicolor forest scene into a black and white picture of charred stumps and smoke. Use care with all forms of fire during these dry summer days. Help Keep Idaho Green and Colorful.

Helpers thanked

TWIN FALLS — Executive board members of the Twin Falls Chapter, American Red Cross, meeting in the Elks Cafeteria for their first session of the year, voted their appreciation to the many doctors, nurses and first aiders who assisted in providing first aid and medical services during the National High School Rodeo Finals at Pler. Martin Foss, chapter chairman, conducted the meeting.
